Samples of Midnight Madness

Don't be surprised if somebody dressed like these people comes up to wait on you in the stores of St. Johns next Thursday night, Oct. 1. It's all part of the second annual Midnight Madness promotion by the St. Johns Business Unlimited. St. Johns stores will reopen their doors from 7 to 9:30 p.m. that night, offering special red-hot bargains during that time. The clerks will be dressed in nighttime apparel. Here, for example, are Mrs. Peggy Green, Mrs. Mary Crosby and Mrs. Gerry Crowell seated, and Norbert Rehmann, Bill Barber and Jerry Knupp standing.

5 persons hurt as 3 vehicles hit

Five persons were treated at Clinton Memorial Hospital Sunday for cuts and bruises received in a three-vehicle accident in front of the Aloha Drive-In restaurant on North US-27.

Milburn Grieb, 53, of Mason, one of the drivers, his wife Ila, 52, Julia Brombyk, 44 of Grand Rapids, another driver, David Brombyk, 12, and Marian Warwick, 51, all of Grand Rapids, were the injured.

THEY WERE taken to Clinton Memorial Hospital by Hoag and Osgood ambulances and were treated and released.

City police Officers Robert Ott and Ken Bunge, who investigated, said Grieb's car was stopped in the Aloha drive waiting for an opening in southbound US-27 traffic. Mrs. Bombyk, traveling south, slowed to make a right turn into the drive-in, when

Driver ticketed for bad passing

A rural Laingsburg driver was ticketed for improper passing after his auto collided with another on Round Lake Road a half-mile west of Hollister Road Friday morning.

Ticketed was Everett H. Darling, 38, of R-1, Laingsburg. The other driver was Walter O. Curtis, 77, of 915 First North Street, Laingsburg.

her car was struck in the rear by a truck driven by Delmar E. Warner Jr., 45, of Belding.

THE IMPACT of the crash send Mrs. Bombyk's auto skidding into the Grieb car.

Warner was ticketed by the police for failure to have his truck under control.

Kenneth and Elli Grieb of Lansing were also passengers in Milburn Grieb's car, and George Serdinsky, 77, of Grand Rapids was also with Mrs. Bombyk.

2 businesses at DeWitt robbed

Two burglaries at DeWitt were reported to the sheriff's office Saturday. They took place Friday night.

A basement window of the Dallman Hardware was kicked in, and $50 in change was taken from a cash register.

The Little Nugget Bar was also burglarized. Six cases of beer, money from a juke box and pool table, $21.50 in quarters, halves and dimes, and a 22-caliber pistol and box of shells were taken there.

A REAR window of the tavern was pried open to gain admittance.

Youth fined $100 for speeding, racing

Kenneth Hungerford, 19, of R-2, St. Johns, was fined $100 plus $4.30 costs Monday by Justice of the Peace Robert Wood on a charge of speeding and racing.

Hungerford was arrested Sept. 12 by Deputy Sheriff Ramon Terpening on US-27 south of St. Johns.

Communities Chest soliciting businesses

"A dollar more in '64" is the rallying theme solicitors are using as the annual Clinton County Communities Chest drive begins to pick up steam.

Solicitation began Tuesday in the St. Johns business district following a kickoff breakfast at Walker's Cafe. Jake Wabeke was named chairman of the business solicitation, and Al Allaby is handling professional soliciting.

THE BREAKFAST was an informal event, sponsored by the Clinton National Bank and Trust Co. Solicitation cards, stickers and other campaign material were passed out to 14 businessmen attending. They are hoping to wrap up their particular phase of the campaign by next week.

The "dollar more in '64" slogan is a reminder to workers that if every contributor gives a dollar more this year than he did last year, the Communities Chest drive will reach its goal. That goal for the county is $29,000.

LAST YEAR'S campaign fell short of the same $29,000 goal. Communities Chest President Leon Brewbaker is hopeful the "dollar more in '64" will carry this year's campaign over the top.

One of the recipients of Clinton County Communities Chest donations is the Michigan United Fund. Two of its 17 agencies are the Jackson Memorial Laboratory and the Leukemia Society.

THE JACKSON lab is a major supplier of pure strain mice to researchers the world over. The lab itself attacks research problems with the efforts of 35 re-

Tools taken from body shop

Raymond G. Fleischer, operator of a body shop at the corner of Oakland and Higham Streets, reported to city police Monday that his place had been robbed over the weekend.

Missing were three sets of drive sockets valued at a total of $67.50, wrenches worth $25, a $5 hacksaw, several screwdrivers and a tire and wheel. The tire and wheel were recovered on Railroad Street, but the tire was ruined.

Entrance to the building was made by forcing open doors on the east side.

POLICE reported truck traffic into the stockyards was considerably heavier than the previous two weeks. Trucks were lined up three and four deep on several occasions.

NFO pickets normally numbered about a dozen or so, but there were about 45 pickets for a few minutes at one time, Police Chief Everet Glazier reported.

ALL TRUCKS moving into the stockyards were stopped by the police and the drivers were told to stop again at the NFO picket line. But they were told they could proceed without talking if they wished, once they came to a complete stop.

Glazier commended the NFO for peaceably conducting the picketing.

Youth charged $50 for reckless driving

Gary Webber, 17, of Fowler was fined $50 plus $4.30 costs Monday for reckless driving. He was arrested Saturday by Deputy Sheriff Ramon Terpening on M-21 west of St. Johns. Justice of the Peace Robert Wood assessed the fine.

search scientists and 300 supporting personnel.

The laboratory is dedicated to research connected with such diseases as cancer, leukemia, anemia, dystrophy and sclerosis. This work, consequently, is of benefit to people of all communities.

THE LEUKEMIA Society is the only voluntary health agency aspiring to be national and international in scope. It is devoted solely to finding the cause and cure of a single disease—leukemia.

Its research emphasis is on support of the man, rather than the project. This, in essence, means the support of a senior research scholar, one capable of scholarly research.

This man is, then, so to speak, freed from economic want for a given period of time to devote full attention to following his concept through concentrated investigations.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO the Clinton County Communities Chest will aid in further research by these groups—research in a field that Chest officials point out has touched everyone to some degree.

Continue probe of $610 burglary

City police are continuing their investigation of the breaking and entering of Neller's 3-A Service station, 1107 N. Clinton Avenue, Sept. 8. Over $610 was taken from a metal box in a back room of the station. A window had been broken in the building, apparently to gain entry.

All 1965 autos on display today

This is new car week.

In St. Johns, auto dealers have set today, —Thursday, Sept. 24—as the day they'll show new cars to the public. They'll have available with only a few exceptions, all the cars manufacturers make.

Dealers in other towns of the county are also ready to show the 1965 cars to everyone.

Some models aren't due for release until Friday, but because of the St. Johns promotion, special arrangements have been made for their showing Thursday in the city.

MERCHANTS other than car dealers are excited about Thursday, too, and are helping promote St. Johns as the new car city of Clinton County.

Whatever your favorite car, you'll likely find it in St. Johns.

CA in Buick-Pontiac-Rambler will have those three cars on display Thursday in their showrooms at 210 W. Higham Street. The Rambler will actually be out Wednesday, but most of the fanfare will be Thursday.

POHL BROTHERS at 110 W. Higham Street will have the 1965 Chevrolet and Oldsmobile lines on display and will offer sweet cider and donuts to those who come in.

Hettler Motor Sales, 812 E. State Street, will have the 1965 Chrysler and Plymouth on display Wednesday, but in line with the city-wide promotion, their big fanfare day also is Thursday.

Lundy Motor Sales is the St. Johns Dodge dealer at 200 E. Higham. The Dodge cars will be out the 23rd, too, but the big crowds are expected Thursday.

EGAN FORD Sales Inc. at 200 W. Higham is jumping the gun a little for the benefit of folks in Clinton. The Fords are scheduled to appear elsewhere on Friday, but arrangements have been made for them to be shown Thursday when the big crowds are around to see them. Coffee and donuts will be served.

Stan Cowan Mercury Inc. has done the same thing with the Mercury line of cars. They'll be shown elsewhere on Friday but in St. Johns on Thursday. Cowan's showroom is at 506 N. Clinton Avenue, and they'll have coffee and donuts for those who come in.

AGAIN WITHOUT exception, the new cars have something new in 1965. In most cases they're longer, roomier and more powerful. And there is a wide selection of models to choose from.

Chrysler has 17 models in three series; Rambler has 29 models and seven engines offered in their three different lines; Buick will market 39 models in six series.

Plymouth boasts 60 different models in four lines; Mercury has 15 models in three series; Ford has five different series with 44 different models; Pontiac is available in five series and 14 models; three Dodge series include 43 different models.

THERE ARE expanded lines of trucks, too, by many of the firms. Chevrolet, for example, offers 327 truck models, 131 more than last year.

Certainly not all the models of 1965 automobiles will be on display in St. Johns Thursday, but dealers promise a good cross-section, and they'll have plenty of information on every model they can get.

LENORE ROMNEY

Lenore Romney coming Oct. 13

Michigan's first lady, Mrs. Lenore Romney, will address a box lunch audience at Smith Hall here Tuesday noon, Oct. 13. Her talk on "Politics and Principles" is billed as a nonpartisan presentation.

Tickets for the affair will cost only $1—just enough to cover the cost of the box lunch. Mrs. S. K. Thingstad of Watertown Township is general chairman and Mrs. Robert Miller of St. Johns is in charge of ticket sales.

Those sponsoring the event are advertising it as a "Salute to Lenore Romney." It will be her only appearance in the central Michigan area during the current political campaign.

Jenkins and Sistine pledged at U of M

Two St. Johns undergraduates at the University of Michigan have been pledged to membership in Alpha Delta Phi fraternity on the U of M campus. They are: Charles Jenkins, son of Mr and Mrs C. L. Jenkins, and John Sistine, son of Mr and Mrs Robert Sistine.

Jon White, son of Mr and Mrs Ink White and a senior at the U of M, is a member of the same group.

Businessmen Kick Off Communities Chest Drive

These St. Johns businessmen kicked off the business phase of the Clinton County Communities Chest fund drive Tuesday when they picked up solicitation material at an informal breakfast. In front row, seated, are Charles Huntington, Jake Wabeke, Bill Barber, Lester Lake and Percy Abrams; in back row, Leon Brewbaker, Bruce Lanterman, Jerry Knupp, John Hopko, Jeri Tobin, Bernard Feldpausch, Roy Briggs and Bill Richards Jr.

City approves sale of assessment bonds

More or less forced to do it, the St. Johns City Commission last week instructed the city manager to proceed with the selling of $40,000 in special assessment bonds.

The $40,000 had been planned for in the new fiscal budget already approved by the commissioners. City Manager Ken Greer told them that if the bonds were not sold it would mean at least a $40,000 deficit in the fiscal year.

"OUR BUDGET calls for revenue of $40,000 from special assessment bonds," Greer said, "and I've gone through this budget item by item and cannot in sincerity suggest any areas of major reduction in its proposed expenditures."

The commission felt it was the only way to avoid deficit spending, and they authorized Greer to obtain a bonding attorney to handle phases of the sale of bonds.

GREER POINTED out it will probably be six to seven months before any of the money is received by the city. This is because of red tape.

Americans have the best-fed garbage cans in the world. The average household in this country discards about 200 calories of edible food per day for each member of the family!

MSU course set for St. Johns

Making personal education a lifetime adventure for teachers and others in South-Central Michigan is the aim of 17 courses being offered by Michigan State University's Continuing Education Service in eight Lansing area communities this fall.

One of the courses will be taught in St. Johns. It is "Principles of Guidance and Personnel Services." "Religion, Culture and Society" is the topic of a course at Owosso. "Art for Classroom Teachers," and "Mental Health of School Children" will be taught at Alma.

INFORMATION on the courses, and registration forms are available from Elmer S. Anttonen, regional director of continuing education, 2 Kellogg Center, MSU, East Lansing.

Pleads not guilty to entering charge

Warren Leiby, 33, of 910 Larch Street, Lansing, pled not guilty Tuesday before Justice of the Peace Gordon Willyoung to a charge of entering without permission.

He was arrested late Monday night on the complaint of a Valley Farms woman. He was in jail Tuesday afternoon awaiting $250 bail. A trial will be set later.

Lead F-M Savings Bond Drive

A drive to sign up 50 per cent of the employees of Federal-Mogul's St. Johns plant in the United States Savings Bond payroll deduction plan got under way Tuesday. Monday afternoon officials of the various departments at Federal-Mogul were briefed by John R. Vanderberg, area manager for the United States Treasury, savings bond division for Michigan. He also showed a film. Vanderberg is standing at rear of room with Don Gilson (left), personnel director. Federal-Mogul has had a payroll deduction plan for many years, but an attempt is now being made to increase the number of employees using it.

To reroof municipal building

The roof on the municipal building is "shot," the city commission was told last week, and leaks are causing problems on the interior of the building.

As result, the commission authorized the city manager to take bids on reroofing the municipal building. The roof over the fire hall will only be patched, because it is not in as bad shape.

IN OTHER miscellaneous business last week, the commission:

—Approved the payment of $27,110.44 to the Kenneth C. Roberts firm for work completed on the curb and gutter contract, with the provision that dirt be placed behind the curbs immediately.

—Accepted new standards for physical fitness of firemen.

—DECIDED TO take bids on a new police car. The Dodge police car now has over 50,000 miles on it, and the commission's policy has been to take bids and trade after this mileage.

—Turned over operation of the concession stand at the city park to the high school until next summer.

—Gave the Lions club permission to set up a booth and loud speaker in the downtown area Oct. 1.

Old car meet featured on weekend slate

Antique car fans are extending the invitation to "Meet Me in St. Louis" for the Central Michigan Old Car Meet, scheduled for that community this Saturday. The event is open to the public.

Saturday also marks the final day of the week-long Farm City Week at Mt. Clemens as well as the conclusion of the St. Joseph County Grange Fair at Centreville.

ALSO LISTED in the Michigan Tourist Council's Calendar of Events for Saturday is the beginning of the two-day Michigan Bow Hunters Silhouette Shoot at Howell and the opening of the Hillsdale County Fair at Hillsdale.

The following week's events include the start of the Hiawatha Festival, Sault Ste. Marie, Sept. 28, and the beginning of the Unionville Fair, Unionville, Sept. 30.

Fined $100 for 70 mph in city

Jose L. Cordora, 17, of 817 S. Hosmer, Lansing, was fined $95.70 plus $4.30 costs by Justice of the Peace Alba Wert Friday. Cordora was arrested by city police Officer Lyle French Sept. 12 for speeding 70 miles an hour in a 25 mph zone on North Clinton Avenue.

Plan longer hours to speed Christmas mail

Longer post office window hours, expanded delivery service and large-scale extension of the ZIP-coded parcel post speedup are planned for Christmas, Postmaster Gen. John A. Gronouski has advised St. Johns Postmaster J. D. Robinson.

Gronouski outlined to the St. Johns postal head three major new steps he has taken "for the best Christmas mail service the postal service has ever had":

1) EXPANDED post office window hours Dec. 5 to 26 as deemed necessary by the local postmaster.

2) A six-day week Dec. 7-31 for parcel post deliveries, instead of a five-day week.

3) Completion by Nov. 1 of Phase III of ZIP Code parcel handling at about 130 more "sectional center" post offices (strategically-located mail massing points), providing faster delivery up to 24 hours or more for parcels with ZIP Code.

OK P-W grad for honors school

Matthew Rademacher, a Peewee-Westphalia High School graduate of 1962, has qualified to become a member of the honors college at Michigan State University.

He is the son of Mr and Mrs Louis Rademacher.

The MSU honors college provides a situation in which students of high ability are constantly challenged by the most advanced work for which each is ready. It also offers flexibility in the program of students who have special educational goals.

ALL STUDENTS who have finished their freshman year at MSU with an A-minus average are given the option of entering the honors college.

Doctor treats 2 after accident

Two persons were treated at a doctor's office in Fowler last Wednesday afternoon for injuries received in a two-car crash on Wright Road a quarter mile north of Colony Road.

Drivers of the cars were Kathryn Ross, 35, of R-3 Charlotte, and Peter C. Schrauben, 60, of R-1, Fowler. Schrauben complained of pains, and Frances Toaz, 64, of Mason, a passenger with Mrs Ross, suffered cuts. Mrs Ross and Connie Ross, 5, reportedly were not hurt.

DEPUTY Sheriff Fred Corson, who investigated, said Schrauben's car, going north on Wright Road, was on the wrong side. He ticketed Schrauben for failure to yield the right of way.

Car hits another making turn

No one was hurt Monday in a sideswipe crash at the corner of M-21 and Airport Road west of St. Johns.

Ray Warner, 32, of R-2, St. Johns, was making a left turn onto South Airport Road when a car overtaking his hit the left side of the auto.

THE SECOND car was driven by Eugene S. Hodges, 55, of R-3, Stanton. Passengers were Blanche Hodges, 52, of Stanton and Arerta Vandermyer, 45, of R-1, Sidney.

Hodges told Deputy Sheriff Stanley Kajdas he did not see Warner's left turn signal blinking when he started to pass Warner. Kajdas said the left rear signal was not working at the time he made his report.

BOTH AUTOS were traveling west. The accident happened at 9:36 p.m.

Mrs Gene Hinton hosts Clintonites

The Clintonites Extension Study Group met at the home of Mrs Gene Hinton Tuesday evening for the first meeting of the year. Six members and one visitor were present.

The 1964-65 program booklets were filled out and new projects discussed.

COUNCIL Member Mrs Eugene Rennells, gave a report on the meeting she attended. The rest of the evening was spent making attractive scouring pads from colored net.

The next meeting will be held on Oct. 20 at the home of Mrs Norman Feldcamp. It will be a Halloween party with everyone in costume. Christmas decorations made from tin foil will be the project.

Ovid physician gets 50-year award pin

Forty-five Michigan doctors of medicine—including W. B. Fillingim, MD, of Ovid—received coveted 50-year pins at the Michigan State Medical Society annual meeting in Detroit Tuesday.

Peace Corps in Peru is topic of program

Mrs Dale Anderson showed slides and gave a talk on Peru at the Senior Child Study Club meeting Wednesday evening. The theme was "A Visit with the Peace Corps in Peru."

The program began with a potluck at the home of Mrs Raymond Eick, 408 Meadowview Drive.

Mrs Lyman Struble, president, conducted the business meeting.

Pattersons see new farm tractor

A St. Johns businessman returned Wednesday from a one-day meeting in Lansing where he attended the introduction of a new farm tractor.

Harry Patterson Sr. owner of Patterson & Sons, said the introduction of the new Allis-Chalmers "One-Ninety" tractor was attended by many Central Michigan dealers. It was conducted by personnel from the Allis-Chalmers branch at Lansing and executives from the firm's home office.

ATTENDING the meeting with Patterson was his son, Harry Patterson Jr.

Patterson described the tractor as "an entirely new model from the ground up. It's in the 5-pow class."

He said the One-Ninety had more new operator comfort, convenience and performance features than any tractor he had ever seen.

He said the controls are grouped in console similar to those used on large planes. In easy reach at the operator's right hand are levers that govern tractor speed, range, start and stop forward travel, and hydraulics.

THE OTHER gauges, ignition switch and starting button are grouped in a hooded, automotive-type instrument panel above the steering column.

The 12-position adjustable seat is heavily padded and the steering column adjusts up and down to give a "handy feel just like on a sports car," Patterson said.

He described the operator's platform as flat and "big as a ballroom." Clutch and brake pedals are suspended to prevent bruised shins.

THE HOOD, he said slopes

St. Monica's Guild plans many activities

The home of Mrs Herman Schmitt at 1612 South Krepps Road was opened to the members of the St. Monica's Catholic Afternoon Guild Wednesday. There were 22 members present; one of these being Mrs John Detling who has recently moved to St. Johns and become a member of the guild.

The first meeting of the year was opened by the new president, Mrs William Zuker. Plans for several extra projects were discussed and the group recited the rosary. The St. Joseph Altar Society is planning a bazaar for December and all members were asked to make something for one of the booths.

MOVIES OF the 50th anniversary celebration of Mr and Mrs Herman Schmitt and a trip to California were shown. Mrs Schmitt and her co-hostess, Mrs John Hester served refreshments.

The next meeting will be held on Oct. 21 with Mrs William Zuker as hostess and Mrs John Baumgartner as co-hostess.

Witnesses plan movie tonight

A two-hour film entitled "Proclaiming Everlasting Good News Around the World" will be shown by the St. Johns congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses tonight (Thursday) at Kingdom Hall, 1993 N. Lansing Street.

According to Raymond Parker, presiding minister of the St. Johns congregation, the film was produced by the Watchtower Society as part of the Around-the-World series of assemblies held in 1963.

The film is a travelogue, but Parker said its theme draws on the basic influences at work in modern civilization to undermine morale and spirituality of people in all nations.

down toward the front of the tractor for better visibility. "It offers a better view of the ground ahead than anything I've seen yet. They even hid the muffler under the hood. All you've got sticking out is a slim exhaust stack."

He said the One-Ninety is available with a choice of three Allis-Chalmers engines in gasoline, diesel and LP gas.

"We had a chance to operate the One-Ninety in the field and it's got all the power you need," he said.

THE TRACTOR has an 8-speed transmission and a new hydraulically-actuated power clutch. It permits shifting on-the-go into high and low range and offers continuous PTO when in neutral position.

Patterson said the One-Ninety went into production at Allis-Chalmers Milwaukee plant in late August. He said as soon as he receives a tractor, he would publicly invite farmers in this area to view and operate the new unit.

Redwings 'take off', dump Mason 20-7

It took a Mason touchdown to rile them up, but the St. Johns made good on their opening football game. They dumped Mason 20-7 at St. Johns Friday night.

The game was much more even than the score might at first indicate. Statistics showed both teams were fairly close in their play, and the Redwings were never assured of victory until their third touchdown with less than one second left in the game.

THE REDWINGS made some mistakes, and Mason gained most of their yardage up the middle. But despite this shortcoming, St. Johns played a good defensive game, tackling hard and clean. Bob Krumm, an end, led the breathing space, and when Jones fumbled on the 9 after a romp around right end, St. Johns recovered.

Lee Hill, John Sickles and Dave DeGeer worked the ball out to the 20, and then Sickles got away on a 20-yard run to the 40. But a potential Redwing drive fizzled there.

AFTER EXCHANGING the ball once more, Mason whipped up a drive that carried them in the second quarter to their only touchdown of the game. Jones and halfback Mike Lennon were the workhorses this time, with Lennon getting two fine runs of 15 and 9 yards up the middle. That put the ball on the one yard line, from where quarterback Gary Blood sneaked home. Lennon carried for the extra point, and Mason led 7-0.

Seemingly enraged by this turn of events, St. Johns stormed back and in eight plays had scored a touchdown of their own. With fullback Doug Salters exploding up the middle for 22, 16 and six yards at a time, the Redwings reached the Mason 16-yard line with just over a minute left in the half.

DeGEER carried to the 10, a pass fell incomplete, and then Salters again exploded up the middle and went into the end zone standing up. He didn't make it on the try for extra point, however, and the half ended 7-6 Mason.

Halfback Bill Surrine set up the second Redwing touchdown on the fourth play of the second half. On a fourth down and two situation, he rambled from his own 46 yard line to the Mason 14.

THIS STUNNED the Bulldogs. Some good blocking in the line allowed Lee Hill to zip over left tackle for the touchdown on the next play. The score was 13-7 after Sickles carried into the end zone for the extra point.

By now the St. Johns defense was beginning to jell. End Al Werbish pilfered a Gary Blood pass to nip a short-lived drive in the third period. Mason was stopped cold the next time they got the ball.

Quarterback Gene Rademacher (10) pitches football to fullback John Sickles (40) in start of a run around left end in action against Mason Friday night. In front of Sickles and ready for blocking assignments is Bill Surrine (20). Other St. Johns players are Lee Hill (22), Al Werbish (84) and Don Hungerford (63).

Redwings in this department with 11 tackles, even though Mason ran no plays over his position.

It became apparent after the opening kickoff that a good game was in prospect for the fans who turned out in soggy weather to watch the opener. Mason racked up four quick first downs and threatened to score on their first series of plays.

THE BULLDOGS took the kickoff at their own 32 and with halfback Jim Bodrie and fullback Leslie Jones leading the way marched to the St. Johns 9 yard line in eight plays. A five-yard penalty gave the Redwings some

WITH THE score still 13-7 against them, Mason made one last effort with the start of the fourth quarter. Even with a first-and-20 situation in one case, they picked up three first downs but then were turned back at the St. Johns 29.

St. Johns had the ball for the last 5 1/2 minutes. They started with it on their own 29 and moved in impressive style all the way for the final touchdown. Quarterback Gene Rademacher had two good runs in the series, a keeper up the middle for 10 yards and a roll-out to the right for another eight to the Mason 46.

THEN IT was Gary Crowley's turn. He took the ball and romped to the 30. Dave DeGeer ran over right end to the 3 and then caught a Rademacher pass to the five yard line.

Fullback John Vitek made his only appearance of the game then and drove to the goal line, but officials said he was short of the end zone. With just a second left in the game, Sickles took a hand-off from Rademacher and slid around left end for the touchdown. Rademacher added the extra point on a run with time gone on the clock.

Bill Surrine (20), St. Johns halfback, leaps to get a Gene Rademacher pass in the first quarter of the Mason game. But Mason's Ray Tear (81) broke up the play with a jarring tackle that knocked the ball loose for an incomplete pass.

Bath sneaks by Dansville 7-6

BATH — The Bath Bees sneaked home with a 7-6 football victory Friday night over the Dansville Aggies at Dansville.

The margin of victory was Chet McGonigal's run for the extra point in the third quarter. McGonigal had scored the tying touchdown from five yards out to climax a 65-yard drive.

DANSVILLE scored in the first half after Bath muffed a fourth down pass from center in a punting situation. Dansville took over on the Bath two, and Don Daman scored the touchdown.

The Bath defense then toughened up to hold Dansville at bay for the rest of the game.

Redwing JV's win at Mason

The St. Johns Redwing Junior Varsity racked up their 12th consecutive victory Saturday when they dumped the Mason JV's 14-6 at Mason.

St. Johns scored five touchdowns, but three were nullified by penalties. The ones that did count came in the second and fourth quarters.

ELWOOD Self scored the first one when he intercepted a pass knocked out of the quarterback's hands by Duane Downing. Self raced 50 yards to the end zone.

In the fourth quarter Lyn Neller put the game on ice with a one-yard plunge for a touchdown. Both extra points were on perfect place-kicks by Gary Boyce.

Jaycees plan bridge tournament

The St. Johns Jaycees will again this fall sponsor a bridge tournament. All persons interested in playing in the tournament are asked to contact Norman White, 108 S. Oakland, by Oct. 1. A tournament schedule will be made later.

First football contest winner is woman fan

The first winner of the Clinton County News' weekly football contest was Mrs. Helen Wright of R-2, St. Johns. She received a check for $20, the winner's purse each week.

Her $20 wasn't won easily though. She missed four games, and this tied her with four other people who also missed four games. But the total number of points she picked in her tie breaker game was 34—the exact number in Army's 34-0 win over Citadel.

ENTRIES IN THE contest flooded the Clinton County News office Friday and Saturday and even more are anticipated this week. This week's contest page is C-7. Read the ads and pick who you think will win each game. Follow the directions, then send your entry to the Clinton County News. You may win $20.

One of the big upsets in area games last week—at least according to those who entered the contest—was the Ovid-Owosso St. Paul game. Roughly 80 per cent of the people chose Owosso to win. But Ovid did, 20-6.

EVERYBODY was wrong on the DeWitt-Maple Valley game. It ended in a tie. This brings up a point you may want to consider in future contests. If you think a game will end in a tie, say so; otherwise, all tie games will be considered a wrong choice, because neither team wins.

Wings set to open league battles

The Redwings—finished with the preliminaries of the football season—swing into West Central Conference action this Friday at Greenville, where they may have to show their stuff.

Greenville lost to Lakeview last Friday by a 6-0 score. St. Johns scouts who were at the game gave the impression the Yellowjackets can be beaten, but not easily.

REDWING Coach Bill Smiley, reporting Monday night at a dad's night meeting, said Greenville used a good reverse play a lot last week. He warned the Redwings probably will see it a lot this Friday.

While not speedy, Greenville will have several fast men, and their team will be good, Smiley said.

The Redwings early this week were nursing some bruises from the Mason opener. Jim Pope and Bob Krumm seemed to have gotten the worst of the bumps but shouldn't be hampered too much by them by Friday.

THE REDWINGS got a stiff workout Monday, and Smiley said he planned to keep the squad moving hard all week.

Smiley indicated he has a second offensive unit which he hopes he will get to display against Greenville.

Lake Fenton drops Fowler Eagles 18-7

FOWLER—Jon Thelen scored Fowler's only touchdown at Lake Fenton Friday night as the Central Michigan D defending champions tasted defeat 18-7. Lake Fenton is a Class C team.

Thelen scored in the third quarter to make the score then 12-7 Lake Fenton. Another Lake Fenton touchdown left no doubt about the outcome.

MRS. RUSSELL DETLOFF

World's Fair was destination of pair

BANNISTER — Mr and Mrs Russell Henry Detloff are residing at 706 S. Ottawa Street in St. Johns following a honeymoon to Niagara Falls and the World's Fair.

The couple was married Sept. 5, in St. Cyril's Church with Rev Clarence Smolinski officiating. They presented a bouquet to the altar of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

THE BRIDE is the former Margaret Loraine (Sue) Knaus, daughter of Mrs Alma Knaus of Bannister. The bridegroom's parents are Mr and Mrs Henry Detloff of Alma.

The bride chose a floor length gown of organza fashioned with a scalloped lace neckline and cathedral length sleeves. Deep scalloped lace edged the full skirt and matching lace edged the caught-up overskirt. A bouffant veil fell from her lace petal hat which was sprinkled with pearls and sequins. She carried an arrangement of red roses and white carnations with streamers. She was given in marriage by her brother, Walter D. Knaus Jr.

MISS JOYCE Thelen of St.

Johns was maid of honor. Her street length gown of powder blue tate peau was designed with a curved up dome-shaped skirt. Her headpiece was a matching flat butterfly bow with a pout veil and she carried carnations and roses.

Bridesmaids were Mrs James Cerny of St. Johns, Mrs Charles Tabor of Carson City and Mrs Ronald Betts of Elsie. Their gowns of cotton blue were fashioned like that worn by the maid of honor and they carried carnations and roses.

LAWRENCE Pratt of Muskegon was best man. James Libertin of Bannister, Jerry Wenda of Flint, and Joe Lorenz of St. Johns, were groomsmen. Joseph Korinek, Jr. and James Korienek, both of Bannister, seated the guests.

The mother of the bride and the mother of the groom wore blue with white accessories. Their corsages were of white carnations.

Mrs Earl Slagh accompanied the vocalist, Miss Francis Dudash. Gladioli and nuns decorated the altar for the double ring ceremony.

AN EVENING reception for 1,500 guests was held in the Slovak Hall in Bannister. Mrs Joseph Lorenz and Mrs Patricia Thurston served the cake. Mrs Gloria Pratt, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs Gerald Myers were in charge of the guest book and Miss Joan Detloff, Miss Kathleen Detloff, Miss Marjorie Kisanne and Mrs Barbara Minarik opened the gifts.

Mrs Detloff graduated from Elsie High School in 1959. Her husband graduated from Alma High School in 1959 and served four years with the US Navy.

Girls' State delegates give reports

Miss Lorraine Anderson, delegate sent by the American Legion Auxiliary, and Miss Molly Sapp, delegate from the St. Johns Woman's Club to the Wolverine Girl's State at Ann Arbor in June, and their mothers, Mrs Walter Anderson and Mrs Joe Sapp, were guests of the American Legion Auxiliary at the meeting on Tuesday evening.

The girls said they were enthusiastic about the activities of the ten days spent at Ann Arbor. They were taught the principles of good government in the national, state and local levels by participation in them. Each girl was elected to an office. Mrs Leo Hanson is honored by Eastern Star

DEWITT— Over 150 persons were present Sunday from all parts of the state at the tea and reception honoring Mrs Leo Hanson, a member of the youth committee of the Grand Chapter of Michigan Order of Eastern Star, by the DeWitt chapter of Eastern Star.

The Masonic Temple was decorated with blue and gold flowers for the event.

THERE WAS an introduction of distinguished guests by Worthy Matron and Patron Mr and Mrs Charles Shimmis. Mrs Allen Cable sang several numbers by Rogers and Hammerstein accompanied by Mrs Sherman Jones. The Young Brothers played two numbers on the banjo and accordion, and Mrs David Schroder gave a humorous reading.

The guest of honor introduced her family and special guests after which tea and punch were served in the dining room by the Past Matrons' Club. Mrs Arthur Burns was at the silver service and Mrs Cecil Gearhart, mother of the guest of honor, served punch.

The state officers, their husbands and wives, were entertained in the Hanson home in the evening. The hostess was assisted by Mrs Raymond Locher, Mrs Leonard Wellington, Mrs Clara Lincoln and Miss Marcia Detloff.

MRS RUSSELL Sibley, leader, was presented with a black purse from her 4-H'ers.

Floral decorations for the table were made by the members who took Flower Gardening as a project. Guests were families of the 4-H members and winter project leaders.

A clip board is like another hand for the busy homemaker, youngster or man of the house.

For making grocery lists, writing letters, taking information over the phone and for dozens of other jobs it is worth its weight in scratch paper.

The materials for making clip boards are inexpensive and readily available.

Cut ½-inch pressed-wood to the size desired—usually 9 by 13 inches—and attach a metal clip. These clips can be purchased at a stationary or variety store. Round the corners, bevel the edges of the board slightly with a sandblock or file and you're ready to put it to use.

You're Invited to See an Exciting DEMONSTRATION

THE GREAT NEW ALLIS-CHALMERS ONE-NINETY

Next time you're near us, stop in. We've got something to show you that's causing a heck of a lot of excitement around here. A great new tractor from Allis-Chalmers that does more work with less effort than any 5-pow tractor we've ever seen. Come to think of it, you'll find it well worth your while to make a special visit just to see the new One-Ninety. Stop in. You'll be glad you did!

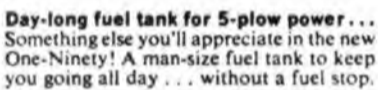

Sounds like no engine you ever heard... Start 'er up... and listen to the sound of new power that comes from an engine-builder's engine. Real 5-pow power!

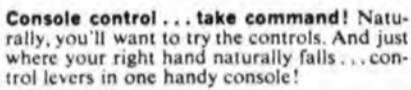

You won't believe you're running a tractor... So many ideas to make your work easier. New comfort in a seat. New convenience all around. New ways to put power to work.

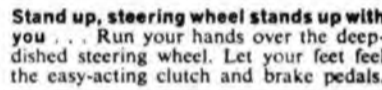

Even looks like a tractor that wants to go... The grille's way out in front of the wheels, breathes in clean air like you do. Sloped hood gives a clear view all around.

Day-long fuel tank for 5-pow power... Something else you'll appreciate in the new One-Ninety! A man-size fuel tank to keep you going all day... without a fuel stop.

Console control... take command! Naturally, you'll want to try the controls. And just where your right hand naturally falls... control levers in one handy console!

Stand up, steering wheel stands up with you... Run your hands over the deep-dished steering wheel. Let your feet feel the easy-acting clutch and brake pedals.

THERE'S A WHOLE LOT MORE TO SEE! THREE SEPARATE HYDRAULIC CIRCUITS • EASY-CONNECTING OUTLETS • 3-POINT HITCH OR SNAP COUPLER • TRACTION BOOSTER • THE... BUT C'MON IN!

THE FAMILY now lives in Ashland, Wis., where he has returned to his position of instructor in the Ashland College, having served there following the years spent in Libya.

Wacousta School

The first graders are divided into four reading groups. The groups are called Red birds, Yellow birds, Robins, and Blue birds. Television language lessons are being used. This is a new experience.

The second grade pupils are keeping diaries. Also, the boys and girls are watching a cocoon, brought in by Jane Shirey.

Don Adams brought a Monarch Chrysalis recently to his third grade room. On Monday a beautiful Monarch butterfly greeted the boys and girls.

The fourth grade room has new desks.

The Life of the Early American is being studied by the fifth graders.

The school gives a special thanks to room mothers, Mrs Clarke Adams, Mrs Donald Dennis, Mrs Albert Craun and Mrs Jack Hegla, who helped the teachers for several days when the school opened.

A special meeting by the Masonic Lodge will be held the evening of Oct. 5.

The Masonic Lodge is holding its first public fish supper this fall on Oct. 9. Serving hours will be from 5 to 8 p.m.

Mr and Mrs Fred Black and daughter spent the weekend at their cottage at Horseshoe Lake.

Mrs Muri Walker of Sunfield, and Mrs Lon Walker of Charlotte, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr and Mrs Edward Kraft.

Mr and Mrs Jim Dennis of Mio, were weekend guests of his mother, Mrs Francis Dennis.

Dr Deane R. Bregal is home after having spent the past several weeks in Kansas.

All officers and teachers of the Wacousta Church school were installed by Rev William Torrey in the Sunday morning worship hour.

The Adult Fellowship group will meet at the home of Mr and Mrs Charles Phillips Sunday evening. Mrs Cecil Stevens will give devotions. Mr and Mrs Ted Snyder will present, "Fun Time."

The first PTA meeting of this school year will be held the evening of Oct. 5.

The Wacousta Circle will meet Thursday, Oct. 1, at 12:30 p.m. for lunch with Mrs Ira Bollinger. Mrs Dale Shattuck will present the program; Mrs Carl Miller, the devotions. A "harvest" auction is to be held.

Mr and Mrs Arlin Summers have returned from an extended trip in western United States. They called on former Wacousta people, Mr and Mrs Donald Forward and family and Mr and Mrs Pat Schavey and son, all in Boulder, Colo. The group were dinner guests at the Donald Forward home.

Kay Oden is attending Central Michigan University this school year.

Terry Edington of Grand Ledge proved an interesting speaker at the WSCS meeting Wednesday evening, at the Wacousta church. Edington, a former IFYE member, spent some time in Thailand. His talk and pictures were on that land's people.

Mrs Andrew Kempf will host the Willing Workers at her home Friday, Oct. 2. Mrs Alta Kebler will give the program, Mrs Grace Chapin the devotions. An auction sale will be held.

Mr and Mrs Clarke Adams and family attended a steak fry at Orleans Sunday held by a group of fellow ham radio operators.

BOWLING St. Johns Area Leagues

The bowling season is off and rolling again with top bowlers and top teams already beginning to assert themselves.

The Night Owl League, at last report, was led by H & H Lounge. High team series for the week was Rivard's with a 2304. Advance Castings had the high game, an 805. High individual series went to Elly Cowan with a 528 and high game to Viola Rossow with a 202.

HIGH INDIVIDUAL game and series in the Tea Time League were by Roste Nuser with a 192 and Connie Cronkhite with a 537. Roste Nuser had a 536 series and Jeannie Amos had a 532. The Jet-A-Ways had an 813 game and the Five Mrs had a 2,190 series, the best of the week.

Beck's Farm Market has taken a commanding lead in the Night Hawk League with an 11-1 mark as of last Tuesday. They had the best single game and series with scores of 857 and 2489. J. Greer had a 253 game and a 612 series. Other 200 bowlers were V. Zeeb 228, D. Anderson 221 and R. Cornell 212.

HETTLER'S leads the First Nighters League by a slim margin as of Monday. Strouse Oil had the high team game and series last week with a 749 and a 2142. Marcia Sehke had a 179 high game and Cecile Ritz had a 469 series.

There's a four-team tie in the City Classic League as of their last report Sept. 10. High single game that date was Chick's Service with a 947, while Rhynard's had a 2709 for best series. Individually, John Petro had a 257 high game, and Bud Michels had a 638 series.

THE SAXTONS led the Industrial League at last report. They had a 918 high game and a 2714 high series to be the best team that week. Paul Martis had the high individual game—a 222—and Keith Penix had a 600 series.

Advance Castings and State Farm Insurance were tied for the lead in the Commercial League as of last Tuesday. Frechens had the high team game and series, 1083 and 2986. T. Silvestri with a 235 and E. Berkhousen with a 589 had the best individual game and series.

THE TEN PIN Keglers had co-leaders at last report. They were the Clinton National Bank and Peterson Shell. St. Johns Tool and Die had the best team game, 796, and Clinton National had the best series that week, a 1211. Ron Feldpausch had a 198 game, and Rosel Nuser had a 550 series.

The 4 K's had high team game and series—677 and 1875—in the Industrial Mixed League play recently. Robert Allan had a 259 high game, and Dick Kuhns had a 588 series.

IN THE MIXED League, Guy's Sunoco held a narrow lead at last report. Richard Dairly had a 709 high game for the week, and Cold Stream had a 1968 series. High game for the men was a 245 by Stanley Bunce, while Margaret Turner and Diane Crowley had 182 for the women. Diane Crowley had a 496 series, and Joe Greer had a 576. Six men had 200 games: Stanley Bunce 245, Joe Greer 223, Rollin Dunkel 213, George Smith 203, Bill Burnham 201 and Bob Cowan 201.

The Capitol League had Frechen's Tavern as its leading team last Monday. H & H Lounge had a high game of 898, and Nehl Beverage had a high series of 2517. Joe Trefil had a 228 high game, and Bub Michels' 573 series was best.

IN THE Westphalia Woman's League, the Rose Johnson Seamstress team led the league last Tuesday with an 8-0 record. Freund Lumber had the high team game and series with a 790 and 2169. Aggie Stump had a 184 individual high game, and Carol Martin had a 484 series. Hope Fox converted a 3-7-10 split, and Agnes Smith picked up a 2-7-10.

Glackmore Riders Hold Second Horse Show

The Glackmore Riders 4-H Club held its second annual open horse show Saturday at the James Gallagher farm on Lowell Road in Watertown Township. Rain delayed the start of the show two hours. Seven trophies and two rosettes were awarded. There were nine main judging events. The one shown above is the English pleasure class.

Williamston falls to Elsie, 27-0

ELSIE—The Big Reds of Coach Mark O'Donnell trampled Williamston 27-0 Friday night to open the football season in grand style.

The Big Reds scored twice in the second quarter and once each in the third and fourth. They coupled this outburst with a stout defense that limited Williamston to 66 yards rushing and 33 yards passing. Elsie, meanwhile, picked up 257 yards on the ground and 51 through the air.

JIM HORAK scored the two second-quarter touchdowns. The first was on a run of 21 yards, and the second a run of 70 yards. Ross Carter added both extra points on passes.

Joe Guysky ran 26 yards for a touchdown in the third quarter. Kerry Reed took a 13-yard pass from quarterback Tom Ebert for the final touchdown, and Horak swept the end for the extra point.

TOM MICKA, with nine tackles, led the defense of the Big Reds, which held Williamston to only four first downs. Elsie got eight first downs.

Elsie intercepted four passes and Williamston one. Both teams fumbled the ball twice and both were penalized 30 yards during the evening.

Kentfield wins President's Cup

The President's Cup at the Clinton County Country Club was won by Ray Kenfield Sunday. He had an 81 actual to give him a net of 63, one stroke better than Glen Capen and Ken Munger.

Prizes were presented to Sid Keys for closest to the hole on No. 7; Ace Linman for closest to the hole on No. 6 with two shots; Doug Hankey for longest drive on No. 2; Frank Masarik for fewest putts;

Glen Capen for low medalist (74); Don Low for longest putt on No. 9; Herm Bushman for high score; Bill Aldrich for high putts; and Lester Lake for big loser.

Maple Valley ties DeWitt in opener, 20-20

DeWITT—DeWitt and Maple Valley played to a 20-20 tie Friday night in the opening game of the season at DeWitt.

DeWitt scored in the first quarter, moving 75 yards in five plays. Bill Watson capped it with a 16-yard sweep from his quarterback position.

JIM SCHAVEY plunged one yard for the second touchdown at the end of a 12-play, 65-yard drive in the second quarter. The final DeWitt touchdown was in the fourth period, with Tim Smith running 35 yards to score.

Watson kicked two out of three extra point tries.

After trailing 13-0 at the half, Maple Valley scored once in the third quarter and then tied it up in the fourth. DeWitt's third touchdown sent them ahead again, but Maple Valley tallied a third time.

THE GAME was a costly one for the Panthers. Guard Dick Cain was lost for the season with a broken arm. Jim Smith also broke his thumb in the game but will be able to play.

The game was even in all respects. Statistics show Maple Valley had a 15-14 edge in first downs, DeWitt had 196 yards rushing to Maple's 176, Maple Valley passed for 80 yards and DeWitt for 73. Maple Valley intercepted one pass and fumbled once, while DeWitt fumbled twice.

DeWitt was penalized eight times for 70 yards, while Maple Valley drew 35 yards in penalties.

An experienced man knows good luck must be met halfway—bad luck will chase him.

Name Andy's sale winners

Andy's IGA Foodliner has announced the winners in its anniversary sale give-away during the past two weeks.

MRS. GERALD Gove of R-3, St. Johns; Ray Rademacher, 819 S. Clinton Avenue, St. Johns; Mrs. Marion Wilson, 712 N. Oakland; Mrs. Elline Winsor of Perrinton; Mrs. Etta Smith of St. Johns; Mrs. R. C. Berhousen of St. Johns; Helen Cressman of St. Johns; Norman Bancroft of 306 N. Swegles, St. Johns; E. L. Bravo of McAllen, Tex.; and Mrs. Harry Rosekrans of R-3, St. Johns.

Recreation program queries wanted

Persons wanting to participate in the city's fall recreation program are asked to call the city offices and make their wishes known.

Recreation Director Roger Kowalski said he wants to know how many persons are interested in bridge lessons this fall. He also needs to know the desires of residents concerning arts and crafts, which also will be offered.

Square dance lessons are being planned for the first of the year, Kowalski said.

Stamp winners were: Mrs. Orison Bailey of Maple Rapids; Mrs. M. Hyler of 211 S. Baker, St. Johns; Mrs. Oral Tolles of R-6, St. Johns; St. Clair Pardee of 400 E. Buchanan, St. Johns; and Mable Lambert of Perrinton.

Ovid controls ball, whips St. Paul 20-26

OVID—The Ovid Romans played control ball Friday night in winning the opening game of the season from Owosso St. Paul 20-6.

Typical of their action was the fact that Ovid controlled the ball for all but five plays in the third period. But none of their scoring came then.

THREE of the touchdowns were scored in the first quarter, with Ovid getting two of them. The first one took only four plays and it covered 42 yards. Steve Leonard ran the final 29 yards to score. The extra point was no good.

St. Paul scored next when Jim Kirby intercepted a pass and ran 30 yards. Their extra-point try was no good.

Adrian Huss picked up a St. Paul fumble on the five yard line and scored a touchdown before the period ended, and Frank Gazda added the extra point.

ANOTHER ST. PAUL fumble in the second quarter set up the final Ovid touchdown. The Romans moved from the 33 yard line to paydirt in three plays, with Leonard again scoring the touchdown, from eight yards out. He added the extra point.

Leonard rushed for 100 yards on 24 carries during the game.

Both teams made the ordinary first-game mistakes, but each hit hard on defense, according to Ovid Coach Larry Essensmacher.

OVID PICKED up 10 first downs to St. Paul's 5 and out rushed them 165 net yards to 24 net yards. St.

Paul picked up 57 yards via their passing game. Ovid fumbled four times and Owosso St. Paul six.

Ovid was penalized 65 yards during the game, and St. Paul drew 75 yards in penalties.

Cedar Springs ruins Fulton grid opener

Cedar Springs ruined Fulton High School's football opener when they defeated Fulton 14-6 Friday at Perrinton.

Cedar Springs jumped off to a lead in the first quarter on a pass from quarterback Jon Grannis to halfback Don Haraburda. The play covered 15 yards. The extra point was good on a run by fullback Dale Larson.

LARSON TALLIED the second touchdown when he romped 35 yards to the center.

Fulton broke into the scoring in the third quarter when quarterback Bob Carpenter intercepted a pass on the 40 yard line and returned it to the Cedar Springs 15. On the next play he kept the ball and dashed off tackle for the touchdown.

FULTON Coach Barney Schultheis said Fulton had the breaks of the game but couldn't counter the bigger line of Cedar Springs. Fulton was held to seven first downs, while Cedar Springs had 14.

Fulton rushed for 106 yards, passed for 45 yards and recovered three Cedar fumbles. Cedar Springs rushed for 211 yards and passed for 90.

Introducing Comet 1965:

livelier, more beautiful sequel to the World's Durability Champion

We couldn't make Comet much tougher, so we made it more beautiful. Made the outside sleeker, sportier—from every angle. Made the interiors more luxurious. Made every engine bigger, from the 200 cu.-in. "6" through the hefty new 289 cu.-in. Cyclone Super V-8 (225 hp). Made the ride even smoother, more solid and silent. The one thing not new in this racy '65 sequel is the stamina that made Comet the World's Durability Champion. You wouldn't want that to change, would you? It didn't.

Elsie

By Mrs Neva Keys

Elsie pair returns from northern trip

ELSIE— Mr and Mrs Clifford Dunham spent last week touring northern Michigan. They visited relatives at Clifford Lake and crossed the International Bridge into Canada.

Later, they visited Tahquamenon Falls, the Interlochen Music Camp, the sand dunes at Silver Lake, and Mr and Mrs Peter Peterson at Middleville. That evening they all visited Mrs Emma Hankins at the Clark Memorial Home in Grand Rapids.

Accident hampers Elsie open house

ELSIE— The Meads and Bashores held a family gathering Sunday at the American Legion Hall with 90 in attendance.

Potluck was served at noon after which open house was held for Mr and Mrs Clare Stone, Mr and Mrs Clarence Cartwright and Mr and Mrs Philip Futch and son, all of Florida, but formerly of this vicinity.

GUESTS were present from Midland, Flint, Durand, Barnes Lake, Lum, Beulah, Owosso, Lansing, St. Johns, Ovid and this area.

The afternoon was spent in visiting while the youngsters had pony rides furnished by the Gordon Mead family.

The day's pleasure was marred by an unfortunate accident when Mrs Daisy Bashore tripped and fell sustaining a fractured arm. She was taken to St. Johns where a cast was applied. She was able to return home.

Elsie smorgasbord provides equipment for school band

ELSIE— Committees for next Sunday's smorgasbord at the Elsie High School gymnasium made their final plans Monday morning. The event is sponsored annually by the Band Boosters organization for the purpose of furthering the work of the band with funds toward uniforms, instruments and awards.

MRS Alpha Grubaugh is chairman of the ticket sales and all band members have tickets for sale. They must be purchased in advance.

Serving will begin at noon and continue to 3:00 p.m. The general committee in charge is composed of Mrs Albert Ensign, Mrs Ralph Herron, Mrs Raymond Thornton and Mrs Frank Ladiski.

Maple Rapids

Past matrons begin year's activities with Mrs White

Maple Rapids —The Past Matrons Club of Maple Rapids Chapter 76 OES met with Mrs Glen White Monday evening for the first meeting after the summer vacation. President Mrs Fern Archer conducted the short business meeting.

Roll call was answered by each member telling of an interesting event that took place during the summer. Ten members were present. "Hearts" was played. Prizes went to Mrs Maurice Paine and Mrs Mina Gordanier.

The October meeting will be held with Mrs G. L. Abbott with Mrs Fern Archer as co-hostess.

Church dates set

Maple Rapids—Mrs William Miller, Christian education chairman, will present the program for the meeting of the Women's Fellowship at the Congregational Christian Church in Maple Rapids on Friday, Sept. 25 at 1:30 p.m. Last minute details of the turkey dinner and bazaar on Oct. 1 will be discussed.

Dessert will be served by Mrs David Chapman, Mrs Edward McCloy and Mrs Duane Winsor. The business meeting will follow, opened with devotions by Mrs Vern Craig.

More Flavor

If you saute fresh mushrooms, little of the flavor cooks out. Slice caps and stems, put them into the top of the double boiler, add plenty of butter or margarine, salt to taste then cook over the gently boiling water until done. It should take about one-half hour, but may depend on the quantity.

AGRICULTURE in ACTION

by M. L. Woell

A better price for their products—that's the No. 1 problem facing the "man on the land." Finding the solution to this problem is not easy. The market and its pricing process is a complicated affair, and unwise action on the part of farmers could destroy their future.

The answer currently favored by a small group of farmers is "withholding" their products from the market—a "declaration of war" on the consumer market—to force prices up through strike tactics. The occasional violence, unfriendly feelings between neighbors, threats, and the bad "public relations" between farmer and consumer, resulting from this type of action, has kept most farmers from taking this route.

AMONG THE farmers who shun these tactics are many who meet in monthly discussion groups throughout the state to talk about common problems and to formulate action to solve these problems. Members of these 1,500 community Farm Bureau groups were recently asked how they thought the marketing situation could be improved. They came up with some interesting and enlightening answers.

"Our group firmly agrees that the sooner subsidies are removed and supply-and-demand take over, the sooner things will be better for the farmer," was one conclusion.

"If the government would stay out and let farmers do the farming, things would eventually level off to the farmer's advantage," was the opinion of others.

LESS GOVERNMENT control, top quality, consumer-accepted products, participation in such cooperative associations as Michigan Milk Producers, Michigan Agricultural Marketing Cooperative, Berry and Cherry Growers, Bean Growers, etc.—and a return to the "supply and demand" system, was the consensus of most groups. The farmers felt these to be the best solutions for a fair income for themselves without sacrificing their best customer—the American housewife—through unfair prices.

With tongue in cheek, one group, after reviewing how best to improve the farmers' marketing position, came up with this "solution": "... Nothing can be done unless farm production is reduced or population increased. Perhaps the government should forget about farm programs and subsidize babies instead."

MRS LARRY A. CURTIS

St. Johns man and girl from Capac wed

Miss Judith A. Rhody, daughter of Mr and Mrs James Rhody of Capac, was united in marriage on Sept. 19, to Larry Arthur Curtis, son of Mr and Mrs Arthur Curtis of St. Johns.

The wedding vows were spoken at seven-thirty o'clock in the evening at St. John's Lutheran Church in Capac. Rev. Bruno Brueckner officiated.

THE BRIDE wore a floor length gown of silk organza, with chantilly lace and sequins sparkling at the neckline. Her shoulder length veil fell gracefully from a crown accented by pearls and sequins.

The maid of honor was Miss Nancy Rhody of Capac, sister of the bride. Other attendants were Jan Devereaux of Fowler and Rosemary Curtis of St. Johns.

EVERETT LEE, of Lansing, served as best man.

Ushers were Robert Curtis of St. Johns, Dale Bloomfield of Lansing, Philip Rann of Laingsburg and Gerry Rhody of Ypsilanti.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Rhody chose a light blue lace dress, with beige accessories. Mrs. Curtis chose a brown printed jersey dress with brown accessories. Both mothers wore a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

A RECEPTION was held immediately following the ceremony at the Rod and Gun Club at Yale.

The newlyweds will make their home at 203 1/2 East Shiawassee Street, Lansing.

Willing Workers Circle will meet Oct. 2 with Mrs. Helen Kempf. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 p.m.

Rheubottom

COMFORT is Back in STYLE...

The idea that a mattress must be like a sheet on a board to get proper posture and rest is not only outmoded, but false. The combination of a softer surface of cotton or foam and dacron, usually quilted, and an inside unit that has coils tempered like the finest surgical steel, these two combined make an ideal mattress that lets you sleep as you should. It combines firmness and comfort.

... Aren't all fertilizers alike?
DEFINITELY NOT!

... But I thought all fertilizers were good.
... They are, if you know what they are, like "Wheat Whopper".

... "Wheat Whopper", what is that?
... That is Smith-Douglass' special wheat fertilizer formulated to meet the needs of your growing wheat crop.

... Don't all fertilizer company's make it?
... Smith-Douglass is the one company with "Wheat Whopper". In it they add Trel, its exclusive formula of trace elements, plus added Manganese Zinc. It also has a high water soluble potash for a whopping yield.

'Puppet Ladies' find enjoyment in making other people happy

There are many ways of bringing joy to others. But, in today's rush of living, people just don't seem to take the time to spread the rays of sunshine they once did.

Mrs Carl A. Bair of 1768 Maple Rapids Road, and Mrs Lloyd Ford of DeWitt Road, however, have found a way to bring enjoyment to the people of Clinton County, both young and older, and to give an outlet for their talents of creativeness.

BY school children, they are sometimes called the "puppet ladies."

They have taken their marionettes to nearly all of the rural schools, to high schools, detention homes, churches, and to the Municipal Building in St. Johns to help raise funds for the March of Dimes.

They write the scripts for all of the plays, many of which are religious or revisions of fairy tales. Hansel and Gretel was adapted for music study and Rumpelstiltskin was popular.

THE COW "Hepsaba" which was designed and made by Mrs Ford was utilized in a play to illustrate health facts from the drinking of milk. They have appeared on WJIM television three times with their plays. They have also presented them for Ashley and Wacousta groups.

"We work together so well," Mrs Bair said, "Marie just seems to anticipate what I want or need and I have learned her trend of thinking. It makes producing a play a lot of fun."

THEY WRITE the scripts together designating the characters to be used. Mrs Ford makes all of the costumes and they both work on the heads. Dr C.W. Lambert of St. Johns taught them to work with dental plastic to make the heads for their characters.

Mrs Carl A. Bair and Mrs Lloyd Ford bring much enjoyment to others and rewards from expressed appreciation to themselves in producing marionette shows for schools, churches and other groups. They enact a scene from Rumpelstiltskin for which they made the puppets as well as the scenery on the backdrop.

Everything, including their scenery is homemade and they use some unusual items to get the effects they desire. "We spend about two weeks getting ready for a play," Mrs Bair said. "And, we practice three or four times before we put on a show for an audience," Mrs Ford added. When things don't seem to shape up or there are problems, Mr Bair often steps in and helps save the day. They find designing and making their puppets a lot of fun.

MRS BAIR became interested in marionettes when she was a child. One time when the family was quarantined for scarlet fever and her father who was interested in art went to live at the Scarab Club in Detroit, she developed a clown through a period of effort. Later, her father built a stage in the basement and she gave puppet shows for the children in the neighborhood.

She bought books to learn more about the work but found it to be a closed profession. Books were sketchy and her questions were not answered.

BUT SHE was fortunate in meeting Paul MacFarland of the Paul MacFarland Marionette Co. at the Detroit Conservatory of Music. She later worked with his assistant and learned much about the art of producing a show.

She is working on her degree at Central Michigan University and has been urged to enter the teaching field. However, she likes to write.

SHE HAS had several articles accepted by Presbyterian and Methodist magazines and has been honored with receiving marked copies from the publishers. She has attended writers' conferences at Ann Arbor and Olivet. She is now taking a course in play production at CMU.

She met Mrs Ford at a meeting of the St. Johns Child Study Club. A newcomer to the area, Mrs Ford was lonely. "Meeting Barbara was one of the nicest things that ever happened to me," she said. "I have enjoyed our association and the work we have been able to accomplish immensely."

THE BAIR family includes William of Wisconsin, Mrs Larry (Linda) Foy of DeWitt, Ann, who is a student at Western Michigan University, and Philip, who is a freshman at Rodney B. Wilson High School.

The Fords have a daughter, Mrs Niles (Joyce) Phelps of Owosso, and a son, George, at home, and two grandchildren.

Location of the freezer is important

Where you put your food freezer makes a difference in how well it operates, how convenient it is, and how much it costs to run it.

The most logical place for a freezer is the kitchen, utility room, porch or basement. But are these always the best places?

ACCORDING to Mrs Cleo Cottrell, Extension home management specialist at Rutgers University, a freezer should be located in a cool, dry, well ventilated area out of direct sunlight.

It should never be placed where the temperature falls below 40 degrees Fahrenheit. Or, in a room that's especially hot in the summer or heavily heated in winter. Too hot a spot can add 15 per cent to the cost of operating the freezer.

ALSO, MRS Cottrell warns against placing a freezer in a niche in the wall or in a place with cabinets on three sides. There must be ample space at the back, top and sides so air can circulate around the cabinet, she says. Circulation is necessary for the escape of heat given off by the condenser.

Officers and committee heads joined forces at the church to prepare for the coming fair. They are: left to right, front row, Mrs Fred Larkin, chairman of card committee; Mrs Kenneth Winsor, chairman of kitchen committee; Mrs William Bailey, chairman of rug and quilt committee; Miss Mary Cole, chairman of apron committee; back row, Mrs Willis Berkhausen, program chairman of the day; Mrs Calvin Carey, wife of pastor of the First Methodist Church; Mrs Roy Beck, vice president of WSCS.

Maple Rapids church women ready for fair

MAPLE RAPIDS— The Women's Society of Christian Service met to prepare for the annual fair which will be in the Maple Rapids Methodist Church Thursday, Oct. 15. The church will be open for the bazaar at 4:00 p.m.

Mrs Roy Beck, vice president, announced the committee chairmen for the fair. Mrs William Bailey will be in charge of the booth displaying woven and braided rugs and quilts; Miss Mary Cole will be in charge of the aprons; Mrs Fred Larkin, greeting cards, Mrs Donald D. Allen, fish ponds. Homemade candy and pastries will be available.

CLINTON COUNTY NEWS PAGE for Women . . . AND MEN, TOO

There's help for you if you like to sew

BY BETTY KETCHAM
County Extension Agent
Home Economics

This is the time of year women begin to think about fall and winter wardrobes—and often try their hand at making some of their own clothes.

If you're one of these amateur seamstresses, a US Department of Agriculture bulletin will help you get off to a good start. This bulletin, entitled "Simplified Clothing Construction" (HG-59), is filled with ideas and pictures that show how to sew the easy way.

FOR ONE thing, it tells which fabrics and patterns are easiest to work with.

It also shows how a simple machine attachment, the seam guide, takes the guesswork out of stitching a full seam allowance. This gadget adjusts to any width, and it's a big help in sewing an accurate, even seam.

Another trick that's good to know is how to gather by machine. This helps you attribute the fullness evenly.

IF YOU want fullness at sleeves and waistlines to be soft and comfortable, try using elastic thread. The bulletin says to wind the elastic thread on the bobbin by hand, then lengthen your machine stitches. The thread will gather as you stitch.

And there's a quick and easy way to give your garment that "finished" look. If the hem is slightly flared, machine gather the top edge, then pull the underneath thread to ease fullness in top of hem to fit the dress. A quick slipstitch by hand will finish the job and give a neat, smooth appearance on the right side.

If you'd like a free copy of this handy bulletin, stop in the County Extension Office in the basement of the courthouse and pick up a copy.

IF YOU like to be among the first to work with new material you might be tempted to work with some of the new stretch materials that are just beginning to appear in the yard goods departments.

A simplified sewing leaflet entitled, Stretch Fabrics, will give you some tips on working with these new fabrics. This bulletin is available at the Extension Office.

REMEMBER these fabrics are new—improvements are being made all the time. You will have to experiment sometimes to get the desired results. Adjustments may be necessary in your choice of pattern, thread machine settings and sewing techniques.

Both of these bulletins are in the 4-H leaders clothing kits. These kits are also available at the Extension Office.

MRS ARTHUR WOOD

The new chairman of the Linda Scott Division of the Women's Fellowship of the First Congregational Church is Mrs. Arthur Wood of 607 S. Kibbee Street. She is also a teacher in the Sunday School. Her hobbies are sewing, cooking, reading, sports and traveling. Her family includes Eric, 7, Teresa, 5, Gregory, 3, and of course, Mr Wood.

Convert linens into decoration for your home

Here are some colorful household accessories you can create yourself with stock from your own linen closet. You can take them with you—to the beach, on a picnic, or onto the patio.

Appearing in a towel is no longer a joke. Handmade towel cover-ups will enliven any informal party and they are perfect for a quiet evening at home, or working about the house.

THESE attractive costumes are inexpensively and simply made from bath towels with hand-towel sleeves and wash-cloth pockets. They can be trimmed with a variety of equally colorful cotton braids and fringes.

A reversible towel makes an attractive apron by turning one-third back and sewing the selvages together. Sew in about two inches from the selvage on each side to form a useful pocket all along the bottom. Make a casing at the top for a cotton ribbon or cord tie.

BED LINENS have come out in the open, too. Deep-bordered colorfast patterned sheets make lovely draperies and combination blanketcover-spreads for summer.

Good quality household linens are vat dyed so they are colorfast in the sun and wash season after season. They make a game of turning your linen closet into a decorating treasure trove!

Health Dept. answers
 Sabin vaccine questions

With the announcement of plans for a county-wide Sabin oral polio vaccine campaign, county health authorities have been flooded with questions about the vaccine.

Clinics will be held in the towns and cities of Clinton County for the mass distribution of the vaccine. It will be given on a cube of sugar and is tasteless.

THESE ARE just the preliminary questions being asked of the Clinton County Health Dept., sponsors of the program. Others, and their answers, include:

Q—What is the oral vaccine?

A—It is a live virus which stimulates the body to produce immunity to the virus which produces paralytic polio. Unlike many other vaccines, it is taken by mouth instead of being injected under the skin.

Q—DOES SABIN oral vaccine have other advantages?

A—The oral vaccine acts to produce local resistance in the intestinal tract as well as the production of circulating antibodies. There is reason to believe that the vaccinated person will be prevented from acting as a carrier of polio virus as well as being able to resist infection.

Q—SHOULD I have oral vaccine if I've already had Salk vaccine?

A—Yes, it is wise to take the oral vaccine. It will add to the protection already acquired, and eliminate the need for further booster doses (the series of three shots are for three different types of polio and are not construed as booster shots in the true sense of the term).

Q—I HAVE had the Salk vaccine series. If I don't take the oral polio vaccine, am I endangering anybody except myself?

A—Yes. You may become a "carrier" of polio and pass it on to some of your loved ones.

Q—I had polio in 1957 and it left me with weakness in my right leg. Do I need to take the oral vaccine?

A—Yes, you should take all three types of vaccine because you only had one of the three possible types and so are still able to get the other two types.

Q—I AM A diabetic. Is it safe for me to take the oral polio vaccine?

A—Yes. You may receive it in distilled water instead of on a sugar cube if you prefer, although there are only about eight calories in the average sugar cube.

Q—MY CHILD has been exposed to measles. Should he be given the vaccine now?

A—Yes, as long as he has not developed any high fever or rash.

Q—I am expecting a baby. Is there any reason why I shouldn't take the oral vaccine?

A—No.

If you get caught out in the field during a thunderstorm, get away from the tractor and lie down. Stay away from fences, lone trees, overhead wires, or high-line towers and stay off the tops of hills.

Legion honors Serrine

Rex Serrine was honored last Thursday night for his membership efforts for the American Legion post in St. Johns.

Serrine was responsible for signing up 171 Legionnaires during 1964. He was presented awards from the 8th District and from the Department of Michigan. The honors were bestowed as the Edwin T. Stiles Post 153 of St. Johns kicked off its membership drive for 1965 at the Legion Hall.

A CERTIFICATE telling of his achievement was given to Serrine by Post Commander Dale Robinson.

All veterans with the following eligibility dates are eligible for membership, Adjutant Joe Toth states: World War II, April 6, 1917, to Nov. 11, 1918; World War II, Dec. 7, 1941 to Sept. 2, 1945; Korean War, June 25, 1950, to July 27, 1953.

Today is '65 Pontiac Day.

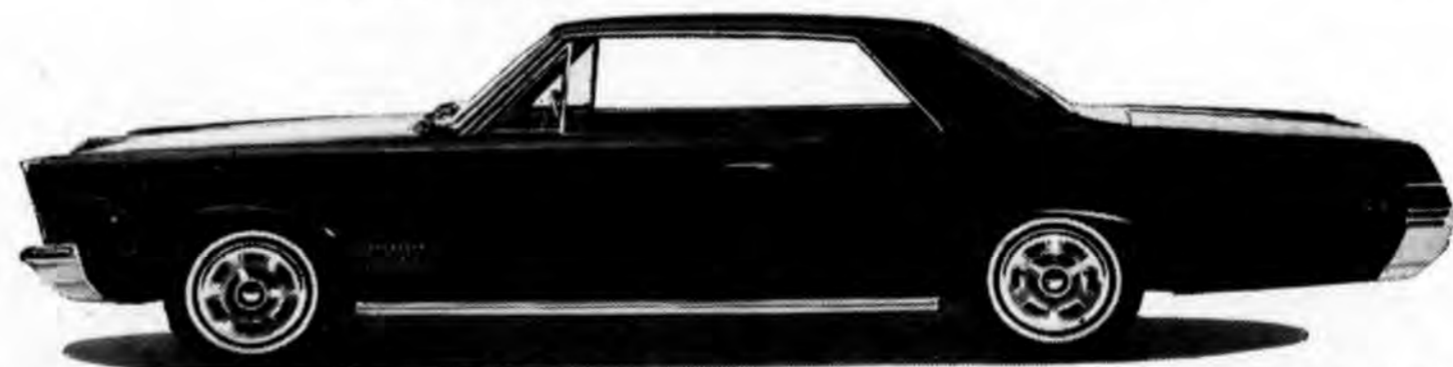

1965: The year of the Quick Wide-Tracks

What do we mean by "quick"? Just this: A new-all-over Pontiac Pontiac offering a new Turbo Hydra-Matic—the silkier, swiftest-shifting automatic transmission you ever touched a toe to; eager new Trophy V-8 power; new steering agility; a surer-footed Wide-Track ride. And a new Pontiac Tempest that's become even more of a Pontiac with new style, new length and Pontiac-quick reflexes to match. You never knew cars could be so beautiful, and so keenly alert to your touch. This is your year to drive a Wide-Track—quick!

'65 Pontiac Pontiac How does the success car outdo itself for 1965? Beautifully, just beautifully. But this Pontiac has no intention of getting by on looks alone, though it could. So there's new quickness, Pontiac style. A new nimbleness. New fuel savings. A smooth, easy new ride. Drive a '65 Pontiac and see how one success leads to another.

'65 Pontiac Tempest Tempest's even more of a Pontiac now, and what more could a car be than that! The '65 Tempest looks like a Pontiac, as you can see. Rides like a Pontiac on Wide-Track. Goes like a Pontiac, too: a 140-hp six is standard. Or you can get a quick V-8, up to 285 hp. You'll wonder how we can keep the price so low on so much car.

2 recognize Gold Awards at Elsie OES

ELSIE— Miss Marium Downie of Williamston and Mrs Ray Smith acknowledged their thanks to Elsie Chapter OES for their gold certificates at the Masonic Hall Wednesday evening.

Both women had served the Order of Eastern Star for 50 years and held many offices.

Miss Downie's visit here was her first in 22 years and she expressed surprise and pleasure at the many improvements in the Masonic Hall.

SHE WAS worthy matron from 1932 to 1934 with William Ferris as worthy patron and also president of the Clinton County Association. She served many years as the Ruth point of the star and secretary of the local chapter until moving to Lansing in 1942.

Mr and Mrs Alex Dunay presided for the regular meeting. Conductresses Mrs Paul Platner and Mrs Robert Kridner draped the altar in memory of Pearl T. Coleman and Hattie Collins, honorary members of the grand chapter. Patron Dunay draped the charter for the late Mrs Amy Litchfield, a life member, and Mrs Dunay gave a reading in tribute to her years of service.

MR AND MRS Alex Dunay plan to attend the Open Heart Session at the Civic Auditorium in Grand Rapids, Oct. 13, 14 and 15. Most Worthy Grand Matron Mrs Mildred Haney Harris of Dallas, Tex. will also visit the Michigan Grand Chapter.

The Triennial Assembly of OES will be held in Dallas, in November.

Mrs Dunay reported on a recent meeting she attended with Clinton County officers and worthy matrons and gave the future dates of installation, initiation and "fun nights" of the county chapters.

THE ELSIE chapter has set Oct. 31 as the date for its installation ceremonies.

Mrs John Hall read the year-end letter from Ann Joyce and Iver Carlson in which they expressed their pride in the work of each chapter and the cooperation of all with the grand chapter activities.

The fall OES rummage sale is scheduled Sept. 18, 19 and 25, 26 at the Masonic Hall. It will be open from 9:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. on Friday and 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon on Saturdays.

A social hour followed with refreshments served at tables centered with autumn flower arrangements.

The committee was composed of Mrs R. D. Martin, Mrs George Blayne, Mrs R. D. Praay and Mrs Lloyd Craven.

District WSCS outlines work at Elsie meet

ELSIE— District officers of the WSCS directed an all-day workshop at the Elsie Methodist Church Wednesday.

This was the third in a series of four such meetings at Evert, Morley, Coleman and Elsie and was the best attended with 113 registered.

The morning session was devoted to reviews of the year's study books. There is a choice of four for this year.

MRS WOODROW Bashore, vice president of the local WSCS presided for the morning session and Mrs Charles Kridner, president, arrived for the afternoon and evening session.

Luncheon was served at noon by the local society in Fellowship Hall. The afternoon session was concerned with clinics for the various officers with the district officers as leaders.

Announcement was made of the fall District Seminar at St. Johns Methodist Church Wednesday, Sept. 23.

Polio clinics set

ELSIE— The Clinton County health office will conduct oral polio clinics in Clinton County with the first feeding on Oct. 11, the second in December.

There will be a clinic held in each village for that community.

Gold Phone for Sales Record

Stan Cowan, left, owner of Stan Cowan Mercury, Inc. of St. Johns, is presented a gold telephone by Robert Moore, zone representative for Mercury Division. The phone was presented for outstanding sales achievement during the 1964 sales year. Moore made the presentation on behalf of Ben Mills, past general manager of the Lincoln-Mercury Division.

Exchange students tell experiences for Elsie PTA

ELSIE— "This is My Country" was the theme of Monday night's Parent-Teachers Association program at Elsie High School.

Mrs A. W. Cobb served as chairman, opening with the national anthem, with Mrs Rodney Tulloch at the piano.

Mrs Cobb introduced Yvonne Bruystens of Venlo, Limburg, the Netherlands, who is living with Mr and Mrs Guy Fenley and daughter, Beverly, of Bannister and attending Elsie High School as a senior, and also Lissa Knight and Maureen Peck, Elsie High School girls who spent the summer in Europe as exchange students. Yvonne responded with a few remarks about her home country.

LISSA Knight told the highlights of her trip abroad. She showed colored slides of her hometown, Hanover, Germany, and her family, Mr and Mrs Ernest Gehrke and daughter, Ursula.

Maureen Peck showed typical scenes of Holland, such as, the beautiful flower gardens, windmills, dairy farms, dikes, and the making of wooden shoes.

She was dressed in a typical Dutch festival costume which she made for herself. Both Lissa and Maureen displayed many mementoes brought from Europe.

MRS RAY PECK assisted the girls by operating the projection machine.

Mrs Cobb commented on the number of local young people who have spent summers in Europe and those from various countries who have lived here for a year attending Elsie High School. All shared their experiences from the Youth for Understanding program, she said, extending their country's boundaries to their "adopted" lands, Holland, Germany, Spain, Finland and Sweden.

A reception and get-acquainted social hour for the teachers and guests followed.

A BRIEF business meeting preceded the program with George Keck in charge. He introduced his corps of officers: vice president, Lyle Acre; secretary, Mrs Raymond Stewart; and treasurer, Mrs Alpha Grubaugh.

The reception committee was composed of Mr and Mrs Leslie Sturgis, Mr and Mrs Phillip West, Mrs Gene Stauffer and A. W. Cobb.

Attend ceremony

ELSIE— Rev and Mrs Walter Easton and Miss Sharry Moore attended special ceremonies at Bronson Methodist Hospital in Kalamazoo Wednesday evening. The former's daughter, Donna, was presented with a black band for her cap following completion of a year in nurses training. The ceremony took place in Truesdale Hall's auditorium.

South Greenbush

By Mrs Stanley Whitlock

World Communion

S. GREENBUSH — Oct. 4 is World Wide Communion and will be observed at the Greenbush Methodist Church. Oct. 11 is Layman's Sunday. This year Price Congregation will be guests at Greenbush.

Mr and Mrs Harry Howard, Mrs Maxine Hunter and Carole visited Mr and Mrs Don Rowley of Muskegon.

Callers at the Hazel and Nora Beebe home this week were Mr and Mrs Paul Ladisky and family of Portland, Mrs Howard Beebe and family of Okemos, Mrs Robert Beebe and Joyce of St. Johns.

Gerald Motz, son of Mr and Mrs Arthur Motz will attend Lansing Community College this year.

Those attending Woman Society of Christian Service workshop at Elsie were Mrs Elmer Swagart, Mrs Eugene Havens, Mrs Harry Rosekrans, Mrs Ellsworth Stockwell, Mrs Vernon Kowalk, Mrs Earl Whitlock, and Mrs Stanley Whitlock.

Mrs Kenneth Jones and Cynthia attended a wedding in Holley, N.Y. They also visited places of their ancestors in New York, Vermont and New Hampshire. Side trips included Saratoga Battlefields, Farmers Museum and the Bennington Museum.

DAR sponsors Constitution Week

River Wabwaysin Chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution has sponsored the observance of Constitution Week in Clinton County Sept. 17 to Sept. 23.

Patriotic observances were made by service clubs, churches and schools.

A display of articles of historic significance was arranged in the window of the J. C. Penney Co. store by Mrs George H. Brooks, chairman of national defense, and Mrs E. O. Prince. Area residents contributed the articles for the exhibit.

MRS PAUL Martis Jr. loaned for display four Early American flags which were found in the walls of their home during a remodeling program. The 38-star flag of 1876 was made when Colorado became a state. A flag of 1889 counted 40 stars when North and South Dakota came into the Union and Wyoming brought the number of stars to 44 when a new flag was made in 1890. A 45-star flag was made in 1896 to include Utah.

Mrs Brooks furnished four early documents including a copy of the Declaration of Independence, the Bill of Rights and a contract between the governor of the Province of New York and King George of England authorizing the operation of a ferry between Hempstead, N. Y., and Connecticut, across the Sound. She also provided some old unmarked dishes that belonged to her great-great-grandmother.

MRS EDITH Rice contributed for the display, a doll which is more than 100 years old, a tilt-top table, and a sugar bowl that went through the Battle of Bennington.

A flax wheel, a high chair of an early era, a rocking chair and a small wooden butterbowl and ladle were loaned by Regent Shirley Pouch and Mrs Leo K. Pouch.

Mrs E. O. Prince brought down a hand-loomed coverlet, a tin candlestick and a Boston rocker.

Mrs Robert Rand provided a large wooden butterbowl filled with fruit.

MRS MANNING Cross loaned for the display a small rocker which was an heirloom of Dr Brooses' great-great-grandfather and a pieced quilt that was handed down in the Cross family. She also provided a doll's trunk of garments with a doll of an early vintage and a replica of the American eagle.

This display can make residents of the modern world aware of the importance of their American heritage and of maintaining loyalty to that heritage.

Girls Brighten Things Up At GOP Chicken Barbecue

This group helped brighten things up last Thursday evening at a Republican Party chicken barbecue at Smith Hall in the city park. Surrounding Mrs Elly Peterson of Charlotte, GOP candidate for U S senator, and State Rep. Andrew Cobb of Elsie were these GOP Girls: left to right, Dottie Bloomer, Kathy Melvin, Pam Loznak, Linda Sturgis, Linda Blied, Marie Rademacher, Penny Sturgis, Cathy Matthews, Mary Beth Sexton, Carolyn Sexton and Christine Zeeb.

State square dance convention Nov. 6, 7

The fourth annual Michigan State Square Dance Convention will be held in Lansing Nov. 6 and 7. Dancing will begin at 11 a.m. and end at 11 p.m. both days. Several halls will be used.

Chefs Prepare Chicken for GOP

Chicken, and lots of them, were prepared for the Republican chicken barbecue last Thursday by these chefs: left to right, Bob Gill, Clyde Peck, Merle Redman, Ed Sulka, Alden Livingston and Larry Sexton. About 350 persons were served during the evening.

Charge 3 minors with possession

At least three minor youths were arrested during the week on charges of being in possession of intoxicating beverages.

Ronald W. Every, 19, of 105 Floral Street, St. Johns, pled not guilty to such a charge Sunday before Justice of the Peace Robert Wood. He was released on $50 bond. Trial was set for 1:30 p.m. Oct. 15. Every was arrested by city police officers.

RONALD TYLER, 20, of Lyman was found guilty of having possession of intoxicants Thursday and was fined $10 plus $19.00 costs and sentenced to three days in the county jail.

The penalty was assessed by Justice of the Peace Gordon Will-young. Tyler was nabbed Thursday evening in DeWitt Township by Deputy Sheriff Ramon Terpening. He served the three days, paid his fine and was released from jail Sunday.

TERPENING earlier Thursday evening arrested Clarence S. Clark, 19, of Barryton for having possession of alcoholic beverages. Clark also was fined $10 plus $19.00 costs and sentenced to three days in jail by Will-young. Clark was released Monday.

A PRODUCT OF Ford MOTOR COMPANY • LINCOLN-MERCURY DIVISION

Announcement:

Ford Motor Company introduces an entirely new kind of Mercury for 1965... now in the Lincoln Continental tradition

We predict that many people seeing a 1965 Mercury for the first time will wonder: "What car is that?" Mercury is that new. The look is new. Completely. Low, sleek, beautifully proportioned. (Notice the long, low proportions of the hood, the full-width grille, the unique front pillar lights.) The ride is new. It's smoother, solid, quieter. Inside, there's a wide selection of options for personal customizing—luxury features once reserved only for the most expensive cars. The idea behind all this newness is to bring you the most luxurious, best-riding car in its field... a Mercury that reflects the Lincoln Continental tradition. See how well the idea works—at your Mercury dealer's. No medium-price automobile has ever come so near in luxury to the high-price class.

Call land use plan most important county policy

A University of Wisconsin resource planner termed a comprehensive plan of land use "the single most important document any county can ever possess."

Walter Rowlands, speaking before the annual meeting of the American Soil Conservation Society of America in Jackson, Miss., Aug. 26 said a growing number of counties throughout the nation are actively engaged in land use planning and zoning work.

THIS IS true whether rural or urban counties are involved, and whether the chief resources lie in industrial development, residential development, forest and recreational development, or in agricultural development.

He explained that "planning is a process—a process of developing a land use plan." First, it involves an inventory of community resources. Second, it requires an analysis of present and potential opportunities for development. And third, it demands the establishment of objectives to be achieved in the future.

"LOCAL citizens should actively participate in land use planning both as an exercise of their rights in a democratic society and as a means of enlightenment about land use problems," Rowlands said. He stressed that land use planning should be continuous and forward looking—not just something used in a crisis situation and then forgotten until a new crisis arrives.

Zoning, not to be confused with planning, can result only after a plan has been established on the local level. It is the instrument used to put planning into action and give it force and meaning. Zoning puts the power of the government behind the plan, which means that its use is limited to counties, towns, villages and cities as prescribed by the state legislatures.

"A GOOD zoning ordinance will protect private property and stabilize property values," Rowlands said. It should give assurance to property owners that they can proceed safely in the development of their lands and should serve as a guide to future development. Zoning ordinances should prevent waste of physical and financial resources, and promote order and beauty.

The land use specialist listed 12 basic questions that every local land use planning committee should consider.

ONE—How can rich agricultural lands within a community be conserved for future generations?

TWO—Where will the housing be built for a rapidly growing population?

THREE—How much land will be required for parks and playgrounds?

FOUR—How many business and shopping centers, all with adequate off-street parking, will be needed in the future and where should they be located?

FIVE—WHAT types of industrial development will be needed to serve growing residential areas?

SIX—Will revisions in county educational programs be needed to better serve young people going toward commerce and industry rather than farming?

SEVEN—How can such facilities as sewage disposal, water supply, transportation, hospitals, clinics and nursing homes be provided without placing an undue hardship on present resources?

EIGHT—How can the new and modern developments of planning, zoning and subdivision or-finances and building codes insure orderly development of all our resources for their highest use?

NINE—WHAT is the best way of preserving the low swampy areas for new lake flowage areas or wetlands, and how can their recreational value be improved and increased?

TEN—How can blights on the countryside be eliminated—auto graveyards, garbage disposal dumps, highway litter and disorderly billboards?

ELEVEN—How can the natural beauty of countryside be conserved, protected and enhanced?

TWELVE—How can more cooperation be promoted between the town, the village, the city, and the county to develop our resources?

A ONE-BEDROOM HOUSE

FRAME CONSTRUCTION

Home has add-on convenience

You can start with a one-bedroom house and add a second or third bedroom as the need arises if you use a new plan available from your Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service.

The one-bedroom plan may be suitable as is for an older couple. Or, the young couple that looks ahead to adding bedrooms as the family grows may also find this is a usable plan.

THIS efficient, rectangular house is of frame construction with concrete slab-on-grade and trussed roof, according to Betty Ketcham, Clinton County's extension agent in home economics.

The bedroom is separated from the living and kitchen areas and is sound cushioned from the entrance hall by closet walls. Additional bedrooms can be built alongside the present bedroom and bathroom.

A terrace near the L-shaped kitchen makes it convenient to serve meals out doors in warm weather.

THE PLAN also provides for a spacious work room with modern equipment and storage areas. There is enough floor space for sewing, ironing and children's play. For the older family, the space might serve for hobbies in addition to the normal household activities.

Complete working drawings can be obtained for $1 from Betty Ketcham at the Clinton County Courthouse, St. Johns. Ask for Plan No. 7154.

Road Commission
Weekly Report

The Board of Clinton County Road Commissioners held their regular meeting Friday, Sept. 18, 1964. Bills totaling $23,949.30 were presented and approved for payment.

Bids were opened for this fall's requirements for treated bridge plank. Schaberg Lumber Co. of Lansing was the low bidder and was awarded the contract for one car load of treated bridge plank.

TWO PLATS were submitted and both were rejected pending corrections to roads and drainage.

The tree removal program was discussed at some length.

Rain has suspended or curtailed the work on the bridges. The Wood Road bridge across Looking Glass River has the prestressed concrete beams all placed, ready to complete the deck. The fill and grading of the approaches, however, is lagging behind the bridge construction. The whole project is about 10 days ahead of schedule.

OTHER construction in the county has been slowed by the rainy days. Several summer programs have been finished for this year and some of the equipment stored for the winter.

The dust control program was completed this week, the weed and brush spraying has ended, roadside mowing is finished on county roads and nearly done on State Highways. These projects, along with new blacktops and seal-coating have all set records this year, both for most materials

7 donate rare blood for open heart surgery

Seven residents of Clinton County responded last Wednesday to a special appeal from the American Red Cross to be blood donors for open heart surgery in Grand Rapids.

to give the blood. Now through a special arrangement with the Regional Blood Center in Lansing, the donors for this operation gave blood at the center.

through this program. This announcement has been made by Newman, who is chairman of the Clinton County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

They donated a rare blood—Type AB, Rh-positive. The donors were William Asher, Mrs Robert Gill and Dick Cronkhite from St. Johns and Richard Newman, Dan Martemucci, Lawrence Ward and Harlan Raby of DeWitt.

This blood was then tested in the center's laboratory and delivered to Grand Rapids immediately afterward by a volunteer Red Cross driver.

All hospitals make a service charge for the transfusion of blood, Newman said, but the blood itself is free of charge to the patient.

Thirty pints of blood were needed for the operation which was made last Thursday in Blodgett Hospital in Grand Rapids. The blood was donated in Lansing.

THIS METHOD of collecting blood in Lansing for heart surgery elsewhere is relatively new. Since last November, collections of this type have been made for patients in University Hospital in Ann Arbor on an average of twice a week. Employees of the State of Michigan have been serving as the volunteer donors for these collections.

2 cars collide near stoplight

To provide blood for open heart surgery presents some special problems. Not only must the blood be of the same type and group as the patient's blood, but it must be donated within 24 hours of the time it is used.

Thursday's operation in Blodgett Hospital marks the first time that a collection of this type has been made in addition to University Hospital. Ingham County also provided B-positive donors for the collection.

Two cars collided just west of the traffic light at Clinton Avenue and State Street Friday afternoon. No one was hurt. The drivers were Gerald E. Rhynard, 45, of 1009 Wight Street, and Joseph W. Thelen, 74, of R-2, Fowler.

WHILE THE Red Cross Regional Blood Program has been regularly supplying blood for its regional residents, formerly it was necessary for heart-surgery donors to go directly to the hospital, just prior to the operation, Thelen's car was in the inside lane and when he turned to pull into the outside lane to go around two cars in front of him, his auto struck the left side of Rhynard's.

Thelen was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way. Officer Ken Bunge investigated.

Growers set apple prices

Michigan apple growers have announced a list of basic processing prices for this year's better-than-usual crop.

At the same time they report that apple quality is excellent and that with few exceptions the fruit size is large. Further, the crop has responded to this summer's higher temperatures by maturing about 10 days ahead of last year.

Agreement on a price schedule to be offered processors was recently reached by a producer-marketing committee of the Michigan Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Assn., (MACMA) working with the seven major eastern apple states.

EACH STATE marketing association builds its own price schedule around the agreed upon basic regional price of $2.50 per cwt. for 2-1/2 inch diameter grade of U.S. No. 1 processing apples commonly used for sauer purposes. Each area has certain varieties preferred for canned and frozen slices that command premium prices.

The Michigan price schedule includes: Northern and Red Spys $3; Rhode Island Greenings $2.50; hard sauce varieties $2.25; McIntosh $1.75; juice apples $1.25. All prices are listed per 100 pounds of 2-1/2 inch and up diameter apples FOB orchard. *"Juice apples" includes apples of all varieties below 2-1/2 inch in diameter. These smaller apples are normally pressed for apple juice, cider, or vinegar.

Open seasons vary for ducks, geese, and other migratory birds. See game law digest.

5 more shooting days featured for duck hunters

A later opener, five more shooting days, and the return of canvasbacks and redhead ducks to the legal hunting list highlight changes from last year in Michigan's 1964 duck season set for Oct. 8 - Nov. 16.

The 40-day season, approved recently by the Conservation Commission along with other waterfowl regulations, had its opener pushed back three days to give lower peninsula sportsmen a better crack at peak duck migrations.

It will carry bag limits of four ducks per day and eight in possession, same as a year ago.

GOOSE HUNTERS in the upper and northern lower peninsulas will again have a 70-day season, running from Oct. 1 through Dec. 9. An Oct. 8 - Dec. 9 goose season is on tap for the southern lower peninsula where the opener will be delayed to prevent over-shooting honkers raised in this part of the state.

Both duck and goose hunters will find an area in Luce and Chippewa counties, embracing Whitefish Point, off limits to them as a measure to build up local flocks of geese and to attract migrating birds. For the same reason, geese will be protected on lands ringing the Shiawassee National Wildlife Refuge in Saginaw County.

AMONG LIBERAL changes, the recent hunting ban on canvasbacks and redhead ducks has been lifted. Both species have increased their numbers to safe shooting levels as a result of their complete protection during the last four gun seasons.

This year's relaxed restrictions permit the taking of two canvasbacks or two redhead ducks, or one of each in the daily bag of four. Not more than two mallards and two wood ducks may figure in the daily kill. The two-a-day quota on black ducks has been removed.

HOODED mergansers have been shifted from the regular duck bag to special kill quotas which also cover American and red-breasted mergansers. The daily and possession limits for these birds are five and 10, including not more than one hooded merganser each day.

For goose hunters, the combined daily and possession limit remains at five birds. In keeping with last year's regulation, two of the five may be Canada geese.

COOTS, RAILS, gallinules, and jacksnipe will be legal targets during the duck season. Bag limits for coots have been loosened to 10 per day and 20 in possession, compared with eight and 16 last year.

Waterfowl hunters will have their starting time moved ahead from noon to sunrise for the Oct. 1 and Oct. 8 openers. During the rest of the season, shooting hours on migratory birds will extend from sunrise to sunset, with one exception.

ON OCT. 20, all hunters in the lower peninsula must hold their fire until 10 a.m., same as in the past.

Advise garden plowing in fall

Fall garden plowing in late September and early October will permit earlier planting in the spring.

Plowing down or spading straw, leaves and manure into the soil builds up the organic matter content and increases the moisture-holding capacity, says Clark Nicklow, Michigan State University Extension specialist in horticulture. Rain penetrates soils well supplied with organic matter more easily than low organic matter content soils.

FALL PLOWING or spading of sticky clay soils also permits much pulverization through freezing, thawing, wetting and drying.

Fine-textured soils, such as silt loams and clay loams, present more of a tillage problem because they cannot be plowed, spaded or cultivated when too wet or too dry without forming hard clods which are difficult to pulverize. Plow this type soil in the fall when it will crumble into coarse granules, advises Nicklow.

Band calendar still available

Additional copies of the high school band calendar, published a week ago, are still available, the St. Johns Band Boosters Club reports.

The Boosters sponsored the calendar, with all profits from it going to help pay band expenses at Interlochen each summer and to provide necessary small items during the year.

ONE THOUSAND copies of the calendar were printed, and most of them were delivered beginning a week ago to persons who had ordered them. The additional calendars can be ordered from Mrs Howard Woodbury, chairman for calendar sales, or Mrs Jim Matthews, chairman of the Boosters.

Captains on the sale of the calendars have been Mrs John Bond, Mrs Nelson Showers, Mrs Les Blid, Mrs Wesley Stephenson, Mrs Berlin Kees and Mrs George McQueen. They were assisted by other helpers.

Salem EUB Church plans homecoming

COUNTY LINE— Rally Day and Homecoming will be held in Salem EUB Church Sunday, Sept. 27. Rev Leon Willoughby, former pastor, will be speaking in the morning worship at 11 o'clock and the afternoon service at 2:30 p.m.

There will be a basket lunch at the noon hour. The committee will be Mrs Peter Hankey, Mrs Glenn Schlarf and Parmer Phillips.

The members of the County Line Women's Society served a banquet supper for the Green Tee Club on Monday evening at their club house on Maple Rapids Road.

Guy Barber of Lansing spent Wednesday with Mr and Mrs Harry Patterson.

Mr and Mrs James Fisher and Mr and Mrs James Fisher and family spent Sunday in Saginaw at the home of Mr and Mrs Gerald Brown.

Mr and Mrs Earnie Bontrager have moved into the former Peter Distler home and Mr Bontrager is teaching the Church School.

Mr and Mrs Harry Patterson spent Thursday evening with Mr and Mrs Dorrence Patterson in St. Johns.

Mrs Ralph Conine entertained several little girls on Monday afternoon in honor of the birthday of her daughter, Terrie.

Merrihew School

School opened with an enrollment of 30 pupils. A short time later it was increased to 33. Now back to 31.

The beginners are Bruce Hebelier and Josephine Mueller. The other new children are Ricky, Debra and Dawn Hart; Raye Lynn, Roxane, and Rhonda White.

Norma and Ruth Brya are now attending St. Joseph's Catholic School in St. Johns.

Ricky, Barbara, and Karen were chosen for club officers. Scott, Patricia, Paul, Rosalie, James Harte, and Bill are on safety patrol.

Thursday, Sept. 17, was a busy day. Mrs Reeve came for the first music lesson. At noon the Mother's Club met and served dinner. Later the following officers were chosen for the year, Mrs Shirley VanVleet, president; Mrs Thompson, vice president; Mrs Boling, secretary; and Mrs Hebelier, treasurer.

A summer science project was making a leaf collection. Each one turned in a collection of well mounted and labeled leaves, some from such places as Florida and Hawaii.

The seventh and eighth grade wrote their own history story of the world war. The fifth grade made history booklets.

For art some original pictures have been made and the little folks did work with catisis.

The first ball game was at Merle Beach Friday.

Witnesses attend 3-day assembly

Jehovah's Witnesses from the Clinton area returned from a three-day assembly at Greenville over the weekend.

A two-hour film, "Proclaiming Everlasting Good News Around the World," and a public lecture by J. W. Filson, district supervisor, were highlights of the weekend.

Raymond Parker, presiding minister of the St. Johns congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, said the weekend was beneficial because "it emphasized the importance of speaking God's word with boldness."

E. Lansing pastor heads area Michigan week

The regional chairman of the 1965 Michigan Week for the five counties of Clinton, Eaton, Ingham, Ionia and Shiawassee will be Dr. Wallace Robertson, pastor of the nationally known Peoples church in East Lansing.

Dr. Robertson, a native of Wisconsin, came to Michigan 11 years ago from New York City to the first Presbyterian church in Grand Haven. He accepted a call to the big interdenominational church at East Lansing in 1960.

HIS appointment was announced by Lowell Treaster, deputy general chairman of Michigan Week for central Michigan, who is director of information services at Michigan State University.

Dates of the 12th annual Michigan Week are May 16-22, but Treaster called it a year-around program and emphasized that the effort to enlist all eight million citizens in national and world-wide promotion of the state in connection with the 1965 celebration will begin in earnest immediately after Labor Day.

WORD THAT the annual citizen campaign to promote Michigan will be world wide this time was given recently by Gov. George Romney, its honorary chairman, when he announced that the theme of the 1965 Michigan Week will be "Michigan—Dynamic in World Progress." The governor asked firms, organizations and individuals to use the theme in correspondence and many other ways.

Treaster said Dr. Robertson will select his five county chairmen by the middle of September and that they will be expected to

DR WALLACE ROBERTSON have their county Michigan Week councils in operation soon afterward.

HE HAD high praise for the way Clinton County observed Michigan Week this year under the chairmanship of St. Johns insurance man Jim McKenzie and with Percy Abrams, manager of the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce, as executive secretary of Michigan Week for the county.

"Michigan Week has long since ceased to be a one-week celebration," Treaster said, "but rather has become a great movement bringing Michigan people together for months of special activity each year in the interest of their state."

"THIS YEAR we hope to enlist thousands of citizens in the new Michigan Minuteman program in which they pledge to speak in behalf of their state when they meet people from other parts of the country."

School means drivers should take extra care

With the reopening of Michigan elementary and secondary schools bringing 2.2 million children into weekday traffic, motorists are again reminded by the state police to exercise increased care in protecting the students and rural school buses from involvement in accidents.

Particular alertness should be shown the "first-timers," about 200,000 youngsters entering school initially this fall who still have to learn school safety routines and will not yet be as fully aware of traffic hazards as are older students.

STATE POLICE records show three persons were killed and 419 injured in 569 rural school bus and related type accidents in Michigan in 1963, respective increases of one, 73 and 15 compared with the 1962 figures. The three killed were drivers of vehicles which collided with school buses.

Records for last year also show that 115 of the 351 pedestrians and 24 of the 32 bicyclists killed in traffic accidents were under 15 years of age.

Continuing increases in accident exposure factors add to the concern for the safety of school children. During the 1963-64 school year 590,000 pupils were carried daily in 7,350 buses for a total of 71 million miles. These represented gains of 54,000 children, 150 buses and three million in mileage over the 1962-63 period.

New annual records were set in 1963 as motor vehicle registrations increased to 3,646,000 and total estimated mileage for all motor vehicles climbed to 35.6 billion.

MICHIGAN law requires motorists to stop when overtaking or meeting a rural school bus which is stopped to load or unload passengers. On divided highways where there is a physical barrier or median separating the two roadways a motorist need not stop when the stopped bus is in the opposite roadway.

Continuing increases in ac-

The children of Mr and Mrs Raymond Brown of Wisner Road, Bannister, will sponsor an open house for friends and neighbors Sunday, Oct. 4, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. The event will honor the silver wedding anniversary of their parents and will be held in Slovak Hall in Bannister. Music will be furnished by Eddy Fornusek.

Global trip is discussed for Pomona

Olive Grange were elected Pomona State Grange at Hastings.

FOR THE program, Mr and Mrs John Watling gave readings. A skit entitled "Want a Wife" was given by members of the Senior Citizens Rhythm Band. The band also played several numbers.

Mr and Mrs Ben Gillison of Bingham Grange and Mr and Mrs John Watling of Stockman Grange are delegates to State Grange in October.

The farm population in the United States is estimated at about 13,360,000 persons or 7 per cent of the total population. A census of American agriculture is slated to begin this November.

Mr and Mrs Rolland Sleight were guest speakers when Pomona Grange was entertained by Horton and Stockman granges at the Grove Church.

They showed rural pictures of the countries visited and gave an interesting talk about their trip around the world.

MR SLEIGHT said Southeast Asia is a powder keg and anything can happen there, and that friendship cannot be bought. As an example, he sighted Egypt.

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

The demonstrations and other parts of the continuing struggle for human rights that our country has been experiencing for months will continue to be of significance for some time to come. To help understand today's struggle for human rights, it is helpful to distinguish between two dimensions or phases.

The first phase or first dimension is the drive to eliminate inequalities resulting from deficiencies in PUBLIC policies or accommodations and other areas. This drive is being conducted, and will continue to be conducted, in the courts, in Congress, in legislatures, in local councils. The goal is to close the discrimination gap, and eventually to eliminate it. The goal is to back up public policy with public authority.

MICHIGAN'S public policy in human rights is clear. We have had a public accommodations statute since 1885, and a fair employment practices act since 1955. But both of these were superseded by our new state constitution, which was adopted by a majority vote of the entire electorate, and which spells out an unequalled public policy in human rights. Our state constitution contains the strongest, clearest, most direct statement of civil rights principles in the nation.

And our Constitution also creates a bi-partisan civil rights commission, with broad powers to deal with problems in education, jobs, public accommodations, housing and any other problem area that may develop in the future. With our new state constitution plus the clearly expressed attitude of the vast majority of our people, Michigan is in an unequalled position to deal peacefully but promptly and without violence or disorder with all shades of problems of human justice and equality.

THE SECOND phase or dimension is even more important, and even more difficult. The second phase is to eliminate racial prejudice in the hearts and minds of individuals, because such prejudice is the wellspring of discrimination. This second phase is even more important, because until prejudice is eliminated, public policies and practices will be resisted either openly or silently. And if there were no prejudice, then laws and public acts to enforce the spirit and words of our Declaration of Independence and our United States Constitution would be unnecessary.

The aim of this struggle against prejudice must be to destroy the distorted attitudes and feelings which stifle the aspirations and actions of twenty million Negro American citizens.

TO ELIMINATE prejudice requires three basic things:

1. The willingness of all to judge others for what they are as fellow human beings honestly and objectively.

2. The realization of each that respect and recognition cannot be forced, but can only be assured when it is deserved.

3. The readiness to grant this respect and recognition, freely and openly, when it is deserved.

THIS CAMPAIGN against prejudice will succeed only insofar as reason prevails. It will succeed only insofar as hatred, however justified it may seem in the mind of the hater, is subdued. For we need only casually glance back at the train of human events to be assured of the futility of fighting hate with hate.

Above all, the campaigns for equal human rights and against prejudice must be campaigns for a principle, and not campaigns against a people.

1965 BUICK ELECTRA 4-Door Hardtop

BUICK

The influence of Riviera styling, featuring more sloping roof lines, longer, lower hoods, shortened rear decks and high crown rear fenders, dominate the theme of the new line of 1965 Buicks.

The 1965 Buicks represent "a year around forward movement in design", notably in the Electra, Wildcat and LeSabre series, and a year of engineering refinement in the Buick Special, Skylark and Riviera models."

PONTIAC

An entirely new body design is offered on all 1965 Pontiac Catalina, Star Chief, Bonneville and Grand Prix models. An exciting option for 1965 is the 2 plus 2 in Pontiac's Catalina sports coupe and also available in the Catalina convertible. The 2 plus 2 offers such exclusive features as turn paint stripes running the length of the car, front fender lower accents and all new 2 plus 2 identification.

It's an important week for Clinton car dealers

This is a big week for Clinton County auto dealers. The 1965 models are out and for the first time in our memory all the major carmakers have scheduled their showings within a three-day period.

American Motors and Chrysler opened their dealer displays Wednesday. General Motors cars have their public unveiling Thursday. Ford's variety of motor products will be shown Friday.

OPTIMISM IS the keynote among dealers and automakers again this fall. With nearly 6 million older cars going to the junk heap every 12 months, the industry feels it has a new plateau of at least 7 million new car sales a year.

If such forecasts hold up, we can look for a continuation of prosperous times in Michigan—particularly in areas like Clinton County whose manufacturing industry is so largely dependent upon the auto business.

YOU'LL FIND announcements of their showings by most of Clinton area's car dealers in this week's issue of The News. Look them over.

This weekend plan a visit to one or several of the county's showrooms. The men who sell cars in this area are a friendly bunch. They welcome your comparison of the various models and they'll be glad to see you and explain the features of their new products.

Supreme Court Justice posts a warning signal

There has been much criticism, informed and uninformed, of the present Supreme Court on the general grounds that it has been making law instead of interpreting and clarifying law and so has to some extent usurped the prerogatives of the legislative branch.

This is a delicate matter involving the whole division of powers within the national government. But it is worth noting that some of the most thoughtful criticisms of the Court's majority has been coming from one of its own members, the highly respected Justice Harlan. In the past year, he wrote 20 dissents and the year before that 22.

IN ONE OF the recent ones he said, "These decisions give support to a current mistaken view of the Constitution and the constitutional function. This view, in a nutshell, is that every major social ill in this country can find its cure in some constitutional 'principle', and that this Court should 'take the lead' in promoting reform when other branches fail to act.

"If the time comes when this Court is looked upon by well-meaning people—or, worse yet, by the Court itself—as the repository for all reforms, I think the seeds of trouble are being sown for this institution.

This is not a matter in which there is any place for wild charges, recriminations, or unbridled zealotry. But Justice Harlan—among so many others—has erected a warning signal that must not be disregarded.

MIKE HOWE says he isn't trusting Wall Street any more. Henceforth he's putting all his money in taxes. They're sure to go up.

GENERATES ITS OWN SMOKE

RAMBLIN' with Rink

BY LOWELL G. RINKER

A little leaf floated to the ground Monday morning as I went out the front door to go to work. It was the first one I had actually seen coming down, although there were plenty of others on the ground.

I mumbled a few words as I bent down to pick it up and look at it more closely. I wondered where it came from, since there are no deciduous trees in our front yard.

"Leave me alone."

I knew it was early in the morning and that I wasn't really awake yet, but it sounded to me like the leaf spoke. Then it twitched and stood up on its stem (I know you'll say it was only a freakish breeze).

"Let me lie here in peace," a crackly little voice said. "I've had a long summer of work, and I'm tired. I've been making oxygen every day, providing shade and giving protection and resting spots for little birds. I'm bushed."

I STARTED TO protest that he was giving up the ship a little early, but he cut me off.

"I know what you're going to say, and I disagree. It's September, man, almost October. Who do you think I am, Methusalem?"

"I've been hanging on at that tree over there for nearly six months—by my neck. I'm worn out. Done in, I hope I've done some good this summer, but don't bawl me out now that I'm quitting for the year."

I DON'T normally talk to leaves, but I caught myself doing it Monday without even thinking.

"But all your friends. They're still on the . . ." I started to say.

"They'll be along in a week or so. They're real colorful people, and they'll put on a real show for you," the little voice replied.

I SEE THAT color show every fall, and even though I do my share of "oooh"ing and "aaaah"ing at some of the sets on the autumn stage, I guess I still take it pretty much for granted.

I've been thinking about it ever since the little voice became hushed and the leaf fell back on its greenish brown face. Our trees and their leaves do quite a job for us, and we did have a pretty nice summer. It's over now—at least by the calendar—and we can expect the other leaves to be coming down real soon.

THEY'LL BE a little more spectacular in the way they go—more bright and cheerful than was my little friend Monday morning.

I expect it would be fitting and proper if each one of us was to take a special trip this fall to see the color that these leaves provide for us as they go out in a blaze of glory.

Crickets!

BY W. E. DOBSON

A cricket has a lousy voice,
With neither pitch or tune,
If he took music lessons,
He stopped them all too soon;
The mousy squeak he issues
Is never restful quite,
And it gets plum annoyin',
In the middle of the night!

A cricket is a wily thing,
Somehow it squeezes in,
Where all is calm and peaceful
To set up its off-beat din;
It finds a chosen rendezvous,
And from established blind,
It pesters me until I rise
With murder on my mind.

The cricket has good hidden springs,
Down somewhere neath his chops,
And when I seek his capture
He breaks out in crazy hops;
His steering mechanism looks
Quite crude to naked eyes,
But he can turn those corners,
With his motor still in high!

The cricket wears a long black coat,
He's really spick and span,
But when he would invade my house,
I'm after his whole clan;
Since he would be so chummy,
I'll snatch him from his nook,
And when I next go fishin'
I'll drape him on my hook!

A new press and more remodeling

WHAT I HOPE are improvements are continuing at the Clinton County News these days at a rate which is, I'm frank to admit, faster than can be comfortably financed. With the wrinkles straightening out somewhat in our new second-floor "cold type" composing room, we've now begun a renovation of our commercial printing department.

Installed last week was a brand new Davidson automatic offset job press, along with the necessary plate-making equipment. The new outfit brings our total of commercial presses to four and puts us in a position to produce printed matter of all kinds by both letterpress and lithographic processes.

THIS WEEK we expect to let construction contracts for a building remodeling job that will give us a far more attractive exterior and modernized and enlarged downstairs office quarters.

St. Clair and Doug Pardee, local architects, are responsible for the design and we think they've done an excellent job of suggesting an improved face for the 60-year-old News building.

It appears to us and to our bankers, I'm sure, that we're spending money like it's going out of style. The fact is that The News has preached downtown improvement so long that we've sold ourselves a bill of goods. I figured we couldn't keep telling other people what to do without taking a little dose of our own medicine, too.

SO . . . OFF THE deep end we go. I have complete confidence in the future of St. Johns and the Clinton area and I have faith that the new investment will pay off through improved service and products.

Incidentally, have you noticed how Clinton Avenue is perking up these days. Joe Brenke, former Plaza Sales Mart owner at Southgate, has bought the former Wieber hardware store on the west side of the center block. He's refurbishing the place and will soon open a retail establishment there.

The new Central National Bank will be operating from the former Yankee Store on the east side of the center block of the avenue. There's another prospective tenant for the Green building a few doors north in the same block, and, I understand, there's a deal pending which involves a presently-vacant structure just off the main street.

WELCOME VISITOR in our office last week was Harry Addison, veteran Philadelphia newsman, who was in town seeing old friends, the Jim Spoustas. Harry's been on the editorial side of the Philadelphia Inquirer for years.

He started his newspaper career with The Flint Journal back in the mid-twenties. It was in Flint that he first met Jim Spousta and began the friendship which has continued through the years.

Harry has other ties to St. Johns. His managing editor in Philadelphia for a number of years was Guy (Stud) Norton, a former St. Johnsite who learned the trade here at The News under Schuyler Marshall's tutelage. Guy was a son of Mr and Mrs William Norton.

The elder Norton was an attorney and the family lived at 301 S. Clinton Avenue in the house now occupied by the Ernest Bakers and formerly owned by the late L. L. Conn. There was another Norton son, Fane, who spent his later years in California. Both Guy and Fane are now deceased.

Credit for this bit of information about folks who lived here shortly after the turn of the century was put together with the help of Sue and Mabelle Durkee and Mrs. A. D. Lyon. Their memories always amaze me. They were even able to supply the late Mrs Norton's first name—Lillian. She was once active in the local OES Chapter.

IF ALL THIS sounds a little bit like "Old Home Week" maybe it's because Bob Conn handed me a program for just such a week printed in our shop back in August of 1926.

The affair was sponsored by the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce and ran for six successive days—Sunday through Friday. There was a big historical pageant with a cast of 500 local people three of the evenings followed by street dancing.

Events included lectures, band concerts, races, several parades and a St. Johns High School alumni banquet which drew such a crowd that it filled both the school gymnasium and the Congregational church parlors.

Listed among the chairmen of the various programs were: the Rev Howard Blanning, Homer Hanham, Mrs. A. G. Mickels, George W. Bateman, J. W. Fitzgerald, Judge E. J. Moinet, Oliver Spaulding, Harry Hulse and J. E. Crosby.

Bob found the program among the personal effects of the late Mr and Mrs Arthur E. Wilson.

MY APOLOGIES to Miss Dorothy L. Tyler of Detroit for improperly identifying her as a "school teacher" in this column last week. She is a writer and editor. I had supposed she once lived in St. Johns.

In a note this week she reports that she was born on a farm near Hubbardston . . . "My grandfather's farm," she writes. "It would now be a Centennial farm had the house not burned in 1935." Miss Tyler grew up and went to school in Lansing and attended the University of Michigan.

Presently she is working on a book, "Robert Frost in Michigan." She was a student of the famed poet while he was teaching at the U of M in Ann Arbor. Miss Tyler also recalls a former St. Johnsite, the late Delbert Clark, who was also a student of Frost at the U of M.

Clark was long associated with The New York Times and was a highly regarded information officer for General Mark Clark during World War II. He began his newspaper career here on the Clinton County News and wrote a couple of widely read books prior to his death in 1953. Two of his sisters continue to live in St. Johns—Miss Marion Clark and Mrs Florence Newton.

Roof tops were white in St. Johns early today with the season's first frost. The temperature dropped to 34 degrees in the city, but lower readings were reported on the muck lands.

The March of Dimes emergency campaign recently completed in Clinton County was an outstanding success, according to an announcement from Jim Sherman, who was chairman of the drive. Total collections reported were $3,364—more than 65 per cent over the $2,000 goal.

When the Michigan conference met in Grand Rapids in 1869, the bishop appointed J.K. Stark to be the pastor of the new Methodist Church at Bath. This year on Sunday, Sept. 24, the church will observe its 70th anniversary with a homecoming celebration.

Prospects are good for late crops in Clinton County, with the harvest well under way. Bean pulling started a week or more ago, a considerable acreage of corn is already in the shock and sugar beets are about ready to be "lifted."

J.G. Matthews, proprietor of the Matthews Dairy Stores, is the new president of the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce. His election took place Monday evening at the first meeting of the board of directors for the current year. As president, Mr Matthews succeeds L.W. Wolf, cashier of the State Bank of St. Johns.

At the Michigan conference which closed its sessions at Muskegon Monday, Rev. C.J. Kruse was assigned to the pastorates of the Methodist churches of this city and Bengal and will assume the duties in his new field on Sunday.

An auto driven by Alfred Beeson of near Alma turned turtle in a ditch by the roadside near Dutcher's corners, 2 miles south and 1 mile west of St. Johns, yesterday afternoon. Mrs Beeson sustained a double fracture above the ankle.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

Fewer election officer complaints received

Variety from the norm often tends to instill new alertness in workers and such seems to have been the case in Michigan's Sept. 1 primary election.

State elections officials in Lansing received fewer complaints about precinct workers' errors than in any election in recent memory.

This was despite, or perhaps because of, the many changes in districts, several new precinct alignments and the record number of people entered in primary contests.

LOCAL elections officers were credited with doing a tremendous job by Secretary of State James M. Hare, whose department handles the polling problems.

Hare termed the job which faced local people as "one of the toughest and most complicated in Michigan's history."

One member of the state elections office staff said it appeared more local workers were on their toes because they faced new problems. Working with the same districts year after year, some workers apparently were in a routine which lent itself to error but the changes broke this routine.

STILL another, more crucial test faces local election workers Nov. 3 when the new districts will again be used, more people will be voting and in many cases the ballot will be extremely long.

Many people voting in machine districts will face a double-machine ballot or a paper ballot in addition to the machine.

Along with the Presidential, gubernatorial, US senatorial, congressional and state legislative races, voters will decide on three members of the new State Court of Appeals, a referendum question and in many cases local officers and proposals.

NEARLY 1,300 Michigan high school graduates were selected to be the first winners under the state college scholarship program, splitting $500,000 in funds.

More than five times this number applied for the state funds. Some 3,000 of them could have qualified for scholarships if more money was available, said Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn M. Bartlett.

The law enacted by the Legislature creating the program specified winners should be chosen on the basis of academic ability and financial need.

DISTRICTION was further limited by a requirement that three scholarships go to each of the state Senate and House districts. The remainder were awarded among applicants from the state at large.

Final awards averaged $400, although the Legislature placed an $800 maximum on each scholarship, Bartlett said. The grants cover tuition and academic fees, but not dormitory charges or other er fees at Michigan colleges and universities.

Application replies from the 1,292 winners indicated most planned to attend four-year institutions. About 100 indicated they intended to study at junior or community colleges, Bartlett said.

WITH LEGISLATIVE approval to double the appropriation next year, each of the 1964 winners who maintain at least a "C" average could have their grant renewed and another $500,000 would be available for 1965 high school graduates.

Supporters of the scholarship plan in the Legislature this year tried to get an original appropriation of $2 million for the program.

Bartlett implied there would be attempts next year to get more than the $1 million for the program.

"SOME 3,500 of our applicants this year were fully qualified by test score and demonstrated real financial need," he said. "If these youngsters can find no other means of help and are denied the higher education of which they are fully capable and want, we are wasting valuable human resources."

Continuation of the year-old "Lights On for Safety" campaign in Michigan appears a certainty.

During the Fourth of July holiday, State Safety Commission members reported that 40 per cent of the cars on major trunklines spot checked had lights on during the day.

THIS WAS greater than the Memorial Day participation, they said. Over Labor Day the number of daytime drivers with their lights on again increased, to nearly 50 per cent.

"This is an excellent showing but to be really successful we ought to have every one of the many thousands of cars on the road cooperating in the program," said Safety Commission Executive Secretary Gerald Shipman.

The idea behind the lights-on campaign, said Gov. George Romney, is "to focus attention on all drivers that they must stay mentally alert and drive safely" as thousands of cars pack the highways on holiday weekends.

"We're either going to learn how to use automobiles properly and sensibly or they are going to become a worse lethal weapon than some make them already," said Romney.

seedtime and harvest and a peaceful heart.

WHY IS IT, as our nation grows more productive, we grow less secure? Why is it the more wealth we produce with an hour's work, the more live on unemployment benefits or welfare?

Why has automation's bright promise of abundance and created leisure been transmuted into nightmarish mockery of unemployment and mountainous inventories of unsold goods?

Barren, corroding idleness causes sagging moral standards, rowdy delinquents, religious uncertainty and the terrible mess our people find themselves in today.

THERE IS no excuse for wanton destruction of property, to say nothing of pitched battles being incited in our own front yards by people who profess to be your friends. It is far better to enjoy one dollar in peace and love, than to have a thousand dollars which has created hatred in the hearts and minds and souls of your neighbor.

Don't let anyone play on your passions. We Christian Americans must work hard together to earn and keep one another's respect before God and man.

I never dreamed a farmer—a man working hand and soul with God—could fall so low as to produce the evil of what has been happening lately.

SURELY someone is not reading the Bible, for they are following the footsteps of evil prophecy. What happened at Babel or Sodom and Gomorrah and when Noah built the ark?

"Oh Dear . . . Girls are so helpless!"

Do you want this to happen again? Have you soon forgotten the Alaskan earthquake?

God's loving accounting is watching over all and He shall be the avenger in the great day of judgment. Use that Good Book of Laws and repent before it is "later than you think."

Dew paints pictures that dawn highlights

HAYDN PEARSON

Dew is moisture manufactured during the night. There are regions on our planet where the dew is sufficiently heavy to take the place of rain. Through the centuries writers have used dew as a synonym of freshness and purity, and as a symbol of the glory of dawn. Shakespeare spoke of the "golden dew of sleep."

Writers speak of "falling" dew but the countless drops of clear water that shine in the slanting rays at dawn are actually the condensation of water vapor. When the planet revolves away from the sun it cools down during the night by radiating some of its heat. The vapor moisture of surrounding warm air is condensed on the cooling objects.

let of dew in the morning sunshine is a mirror; the images are upside down, but if one uses a hand lens he can see a nearby tree or a white cloud in a blue sky. Those who know the peace and beauty of dawn time know that some of Year's most appealing pictures are painted by dew.

There are beautiful patterns on the lawn with symmetrical webbing; serrated leaves of clovers and strawberries have distinctive arrangements; often a grass blade has one large, gleaming drop at its tip.

IF THE WEATHER Man sends a cool night after a hot day, the countryman knows that dawn will have a gallery of dew paintings. There are language students who claim that dew, from the Anglo-Saxon "deaw" is one of our most beautiful words. That is a matter of opinion, but there are many who know that when the sun strikes the dew at dawn, there are beautiful pictures.

Says farmer plight dealt with lightly

THE NFO DOES not advocate or condone violence and seriously regrets violence from whatever source. But it is evident that the plight of the farmer has been dealt with so lightly by constituted government and by responsible business people that a Wisconsin truck driver felt privileged to drive his stock truck into a group of farmers, killing two men and injuring three others. It's time someone wakes up!

Peaceful farmer members of the National Farm Organization and self respecting people everywhere are shocked at the wanton disregard of human life that was demonstrated in Bonduel, Wis., on Sept. 9, 1964. This was a black day for those of us who believe in the Golden Rule.

FARMERS everywhere are deeply indebted to the memory of the two Bonduel, Wis. farmers who were killed and the three others who were injured. They were engaged in peaceful demonstration to dramatize the plight of the family farm.

Of the 986,000 families in the State of Wisconsin, 129,000 live on the farms. Of these, 50,000 are categorized as poverty families, who earn less than $3,000 money income annually. How are these families to help themselves except by peaceful demonstration in organizations when no one else seems to care about them?

IT IS TIME that all concerned recognize that the National Farmers Organization is a new force in agriculture and begin to try to understand it and its goals.

There is nothing unique or new about endeavoring to attain a price for farm products that is relative to the cost of other goods and services. The difference is that the National Farmers Organization is now for the first time in a half century offering Agriculture a method of marketing that will accomplish this long sought objective.

EVIDENTLY NFO people don't intend to slacken their efforts until this goal is accomplished.

Farm income never stops once it is started until it filters into every nook and cranny of our domestic economy. The time has come for the rural business and professional people to understand that the farmer is only the first recipient of the farm income.

The rural business and professional people benefit on the first turn of the farm dollar. Hence it flows through the cash registers of the rural city service centers who are the primary distributors of goods and services to the rural towns. Then it goes to the farms that surround these rural towns.

FROM THE rural city service centers these dollars flow out to the urban and industrial United States for additional supplies of the widest variety of goods and services consumed by any major segment of the economy. The farm dollar is a dollar with a lot of mileage in it, but it has to be earned by the farmer first.

This is what the NFO is endeavoring to do for the United States — get the farm dollars started through the economy by getting them earned in fair and adequate quantities at the farm level.

NO ONE in the rural United States can safely ignore the dire need for a better price at the farm level that benefits every segment of the economy in increased markets for goods and services on the return trip.

WE EXTEND our sympathy to the families of the Wisconsin farmers who gave their lives in an effort to benefit all America. We very highly respect the members and officers of NFO for their continued and determined efforts to solve the problem in spite of the ignorance and blind prejudice displayed by those people who oppose them.

Urges farmers to control passions

A GOOD farm background through youth is a lifetime blessing. There never will be a surplus of this in all the world—good training depends on parents and teachers. Country living is so taken for granted we don't consider the real value, which is priceless.

Optimism is a great virtue of every farm background. A positive outlook is the best send-off for anyone living on a farm or anywhere. Optimism and humor go hand in hand in good luck or bad, when prices are up or down.

SOME young farm people, after being away awhile, consider the old home a corny sort of place. But they are mistaken. The corny part is in their heart and has placed pride and prestige about love and nature.

Let your young folks know you love the farm and it is your first choice—not a last resort, as some feel. Let farm homework create a feeling of respect for it, not a creepy disrespect for honest toil. You are working with God. No other occupation can bring us closer to Our Creator, for He gives rain and sun,

Soil Conservation District 10 years old

The Clinton County Soil and Water Conservation District will be 10 years old Oct. 7 and is one of nearly 3,000 districts established in the United States since 1937.

Since the first one was formed on Brown Creek in Aason County, N.C., soil conservation districts have grown to where today they include 95 per cent of the farms and ranches in the country.

BUT SOIL and water conservation districts are people — not just an idea or a program. The most important people are the district directors — commissioners or supervisors as they are called in some states.

District directors in Clinton County are: Robert Moore, R-2, Elsie, chairman; Clarence Manning, R-1, Eagle, vice-chairman; David Swanson, R-1, St. Johns, secretary; Loren Van Ostran, R-1, Bath, treasurer; and Raymond Bradley, R-2, St. Johns, director.

THESE DIRECTORS govern the districts. There are now nearly 15,000 of them—all citizens of the districts they serve and usually farmers or ranchers. They are chosen by their neighbors and they work without salary and with little praise. Frequently they pay their own travel and subsistence expenses in managing district affairs.

Soil and water conservation districts are created by local people under authority of State law. The districts are financed by state and county appropriations, by money earned by the districts, and by contributions from private sources. Districts are units of state government.

DISTRICT DIRECTORS, however, have the authority to enter into formal agreements with federal, state, and private agencies. The U.S. Department of Agriculture has an "understanding" with each board of directors after the board has prepared its district program and requested Department assistance. These "understandings" provide for technical assistance from the Soil Conservation Service and the help of other department agencies.

Each board of directors is responsible for soil and water conservation within its district. In addition to deciding on a district program, and planning and arranging for assistance to put the program into effect, they are responsible for making cooperative agreements with farmers and ranchers; seeing that soil surveys needed for sound technical work are made; making the best use of available funds; establishing practical work priorities; cooperating in adopting practices and rates for cost sharing in applying needed conservation; acquainting land owners and operators with sources of credit; and informing all people of the soil and water conservation problems in the district.

More than 95 per cent of the small watershed programs authorized for Federal assistance under the Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act are sponsored or cosponsored by these districts.

Unit spends $480 on crippled

Over $480 was expended during the summer to county residents by the Clinton County chapter of Crippled Children and Adults.

That report was made at the group's first fall meeting last Tuesday at the courthouse. The money was spent for such items as glasses, hand splints, crutches, hearing aids, and repairs to a wheel chair.

THE BOARD of the chapter Tuesday approved the purchase of several pair of glasses.

The chapter's services are given to all county residents and are financed by the Easter Seal campaign.

Gain in fight on cattle disease

A reduction of 41 per cent in the number of dairy cattle reacting to tests for brucellosis, a highly contagious and costly disease of cattle, has been achieved during the past year.

This is shown by a report submitted to Director G. S. McIntyre of the Michigan Department of Agriculture by the state's brucellosis project leader, Dr. George Whitehead, of the Department's Livestock Disease Control Division, which is headed by State Veterinarian Dr. J. F. Quinn.

FURTHER evidence of progress made to eradicate the disease is shown by a July summary that shows only 101 reactor cows. In 1955, a peak year, as many as 2,000 cattle a month were found to be reactors.

Today most of the reactors originate in so called "problem herds." These are herds that have been infected for long periods of time. Most herds respond to increased sanitary procedures and more frequent testing. Some herds apparently seem to defy routine eradication methods.

THE PROGRAM to stamp out brucellosis in Michigan is a joint effort of the Department's Livestock Disease Control Division and the USDA's Animal Disease Eradication Division.

Under the program 30 Michigan counties are certified brucellosis free. This means there has been no significant brucellosis infection in the past 18 months. Work toward certified brucellosis free status is in progress in another 31 counties.

OFFICIAL calfhood vaccination with strain 19 vaccine, an important tool, is a part of the program. Recent research has shown that vaccination of calves between four and six months old results in a decline in the incidence of suspect titres over the vaccination of calves of six months through the eighth month. The law requires vaccination between four through the eighth month of age.

In 1963-64 there were 141,300 calves officially vaccinated, 14.7 per cent more than the year before. The goal is 200,000 calves a year which is about the crop.

About 50 per cent of the total land area of the United States is used for pasture and grazing.

Can consider wheat for feed

Farmers may want to consider feeding wheat to livestock this year in the face of lower cash prices and loan values for the 1964 wheat crop. George McQueen, Clinton County Extension agent, has received this advice from Michigan State University agricultural authorities.

Hugh Henderson, MSU animal husbandry specialist, says coarsely ground wheat may replace up to 50 per cent of the corn in beef cattle feeding rations without any appreciable change in rate of gain or degree of finish. Larger amounts mayyyyyyyyyyy Larger amounts may be fed if ground wheat is fed on top of corn or grass silage. Protein supplement may be reduced by about 10 per cent.

ROBERT HINES, MSU animal husbandry specialist, points out that ground wheat can replace corn "pound for pound" in rations for growing and finishing hogs when price relationships are favorable. He points out that although wheat is higher in protein than corn, the quality of protein it supplies is not different. No change is recommended in protein supplementation when replacing corn with wheat in swine feeding rations.

Graydon Blank, MSU sheep specialist, says wheat for lambs gives best results when mixed with other farm grains. When wheat is used as the only grain, gains will be slower and it is more difficult to keep lambs on full feed. Wheat may be mixed with oats, corn or with both equally by weight. Wheat mixed one-third to one-half with corn or oats is an excellent grain to feed ewes previous to lambing.

DON HILLMAN, dairy extension specialist at MSU, says crushed or coarsely ground wheat is readily eaten by dairy cattle and can be fed as a replacement for corn in the ration when price justifies its use.

However, the dairy specialist cautions that fine grinding may result in some "gumming" of feed managers when wheat comprises more than half of the grain ration. Use of oats, corn or bran in the grain mixture can minimize this problem.

CHARLES SHEPPARD, MSU poultry extension specialist, says it's okay to use wheat in poultry rations providing it doesn't replace more than one-half of the corn requirements.

Any crop that can be made into hay can also be made into silage if cut properly at the right moisture stage and packed thoroughly.

Warn not to plant Gaines wheat

Michigan farmers are being warned by Michigan State University's crop science department and the Michigan Millers Assn. not to plant Gaines wheat this fall.

Field and laboratory trials show Gaines wheat, if grown in Michigan, is low in yield and flour quality.

THE MSU scientists point out that Gaines is a new Pacific Coast variety that has attracted attention because of its widely-publicized short-straw characteristic and its high yields in the state of Washington. But, when grown in Michigan, its yield and quality drop off.

In variety comparisons made this year by farmers in several Michigan counties, Gaines yielded only 75 to 80 per cent as much grain as Genesee and Avon, the white wheat varieties recommended for Michigan. Furthermore, samples of Gaines wheat taken from these fields had a high percentage of badly shrunken grain.

IN TRIALS at MSU, Gaines was found to be poorly adapted to Michigan. It is highly susceptible to mildew and leaf and stem rusts. And it matures 7 to 10 days later than Genesee and Avon, a factor which can result in additional sprout and rust damage.

Michigan Millers Assn. show that Gaines produces a low yield of flour and poor bran clean-up. In laboratory and baking tests, the flour had a higher protein content than the recommended varieties and was deficient in the cookie-spread factor. The premium pastry quality of Genesee and Avon is due in part to the low protein content of the flour and high cookie-spread rating.

Ag regulation changes told

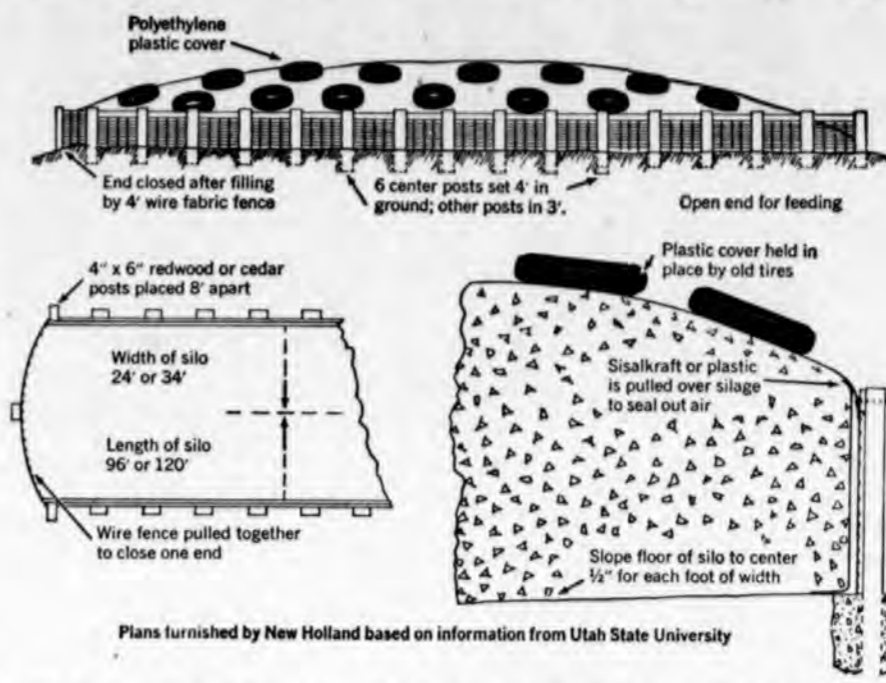

Final approval of two regulations of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, one pertaining to apples and the other potatoes, was given by the Michigan Agricultural Commission with the request they be given immediate effect when the commission met recently.

Amendments to Regulation 530 dealing with Controlled Atmosphere (C/A) storage of apples reflected new developments in C/A storage methods and required C/A storage rooms to be sealed by a representative of the Department's Foods and Standards Division.

Regulation 539 set up standards for potato grades under the Seal of Quality. This was worked out at meetings held previously by members of the potato industry.

The commission also gave preliminary approval to amendments to Regulation 142 eliminating free calfhood vaccination of cattle in herds infected with brucellosis. Public hearings will be held on this before the proposal is resubmitted to the commission for final approval.

Low-cost fence bunk silo can be efficient for storing silage

A fence bunk silo with protective lining can provide you with efficient and economical storage for silage. Flexible and well-suited for varying volumes of silage, it can be built at a low enough cost to justify it for one-time use.

But tests at Utah State University show it can be used for a number of years if you replace the sisalkraft paper lining and plastic cover film periodically.

YOU'LL WANT a silo to suit the size of your herd, since spoilage occurs fairly rapidly when the silage is exposed to air. In most cases, a daily removal of six inches of silage from the exposed face is enough to stay ahead of spoilage if the silo is well-packed at filling.

The fence bunk silo at the Utah State University Dairy Research Farm was 120 feet long, 24 feet wide. The fence on both sides was five feet high. When this silo was filled to a depth of six and one-half feet at the top of the center crown, it held 497 tons of silage. Silage piled to nine feet, three inches in the same silo amounted to 835 tons.

IN A 120-foot silo holding 500 tons, an average of two tons a day needs to be removed to keep ahead of spoilage. If filled to 835 tons, six inches of the exposed face would amount to 3 1/2 tons.

Cereal beetle survey ended

Intensive work by survey crews to determine the perimeters of cereal leaf beetle infestation in Michigan halted when the cereal leaf beetle entered the quiescent period of its life cycle. But inspection and certification of grains and other materials before they can be moved outside the quarantined area continue in 34 counties.

The pest is hard to find in Berrien County, the most heavily infested area, where two years ago it was reported for the first time anywhere in North America. In May badly infested areas in Berrien were aerially treated. Almost 100 per cent kills of the over-wintering adult beetles were achieved with as little as five and four-tenths ounces of technical malathion per acre.

RESULTS WERE only slightly less impressive on the young larvae hatched from the eggs laid by the over-wintering adults. The 1964 treatment program, indicated, however, that repeat applications of malathion may be needed. Malathion destroys the pests it contacts but leaves a short-lived residue to destroy later cereal leaf beetles.

The survey and treatment programs were operated cooperatively between the Michigan Department of Agriculture's Plant Industry Division and the USDA's Plant Pest Control division.

A 500-ton silo should provide enough silage for 100 dairy cows for 125 days if per-cow silage consumption is about 80 pounds. If good hay is fed liberally, much less silage is consumed.

The sisalkraft paper liner and plastic cover helps keep the silage from spoiling, so be sure to "tuck in" your silage when filling the silo. It's also a good idea to keep heavy equipment at least three feet away from the silo sides when filling to help avoid bowing out the sides; this area can be tamped down by walking on it.

ACCORDING to the Utah plan published by New Holland, you'll need the following material for a 120 foot-long silo:

- 20 redwood posts, 4" x 6" x 8'
- 12 redwood posts, 4" x 6" x 9'
- 44 bolts, 3/8" x 6"; 90 washers, 1/2"

- 15 pieces No. 1 fir, 2" x 6" x 16'
- 275 feet electric weld 2" x 4" x 4" mesh 11 gauge galvanized wire
- 3 rolls sisalkraft, 66 sq. ft., or a like amount of 8 mil black polyethylene plastic
- Black 8 mil polyethylene plastic for cover. Be sure to allow extra width to accommodate high crown of silo.

AFTER YOUR posts are placed according to the depth and spacing shown on this plan, attach the fir planks along the top inside of the posts with the bolts. Brad the fencing to the inside of the post, then line the silo with the sisalkraft paper or polyethylene plastic. Be sure to let enough of the liner drape over the top of the fence so there will be enough to fold together with the top cover for a good, weather-proof seal.

Here's how the 9 Purina heifers look today. Some of them are already in their second lactation and getting off to a fine start.

9 Purina Dairy Research Center Heifers that freshened at 22 months

AVERAGED 10,808 LBS. MILK IN THEIR FIRST LACTATION

Here's proof that early freshening pays off! These heifers averaged freshening at only 22 months instead of the normal average of about 31 months... nearly a full lactation early! So each of them produced nearly 10,808 lbs. of "extra" milk in their first 305-day lactation, compared to heifers freshening at 31 months.

No. P 10's first calf was born dead. She started slowly, pulling down the average of the group. She produced only 6,697 lbs. of milk. On May 16, 1963, No. P 10 had a normal calving and she's now off to a much better start.

Projected mature production of these heifers (based on standard U.S.D.A. factors) figures 14,499 lbs. One, P 11, has an estimated mature production of 19,062 lbs. of milk!

Years of research at the Purina Dairy Research Center, Gray Summit, Mo., has built feeding and management programs to help you grow animals fast for early breeding and freshening... for long, profitable milking lives.

$875 million will finish Interstate system here

It will cost an estimated $875 million to complete Michigan's Interstate Highway System.

The State Highway Department has reached agreement with officials of the US Bureau of Public Roads on the estimated cost of 325 miles of Interstate highway that remain to be built.

The agreement was signed by Chief Engineer John E. Meyer of the State Highway Department and Michigan Division Engineer N. E. MacDougall of the Bureau of Public Roads, and forwarded to Washington where it will be presented to Congress.

THIS ESTIMATE, along with those from other states, will be used by Congress to allocate the funds needed to complete the 4,000-mile National Interstate Highway System.

Meyer said the majority of the remaining Interstate mileage to be built in Michigan by 1972 is in Lansing, Flint, Saginaw, Battle Creek and in or near Detroit.

MICHIGAN will have nearly 1,100 miles of Interstate highway when its system is completed. On Aug. 1, 765 miles of Interstate highway were open to traffic. In addition, Michigan has 400 miles of state freeway—most of them built to Interstate standards.

Meyer said that in addition to the $875 million, an estimated $65 million has been requested to build extra lanes on heavily-traveled freeways now open to traffic.

Area couple thrilled with trip to Alaska

BY MRS GERALD POPE

CHAPMAN DISTRICT—After many years of thinking of Alaska and the Pacific Northwest, Gerald and I left Lansing Aug. 25 via train on a wonderful trip.

Canadian railways have made traveling convenient, economical, with good service and excellent meals. We traveled along a series of lakes and after the first night learned to swing and sway with the train, however, the tempo was broke at times.

PASSING through the prairies and wheat area, we found most of the wheat was not harvested because of a very wet season. As we approached the Canadian Rockies, the mountain peaks were tipped with snow. Jasper is a beautiful spot with Mt. Edith Cavell in the background and all the buildings nesting at its base with beautiful flowers, especially the snapdragons which seem to grow in abundance in this colder climate.

Snow was beginning to fly here. After a short stop at Jasper, we were on our way to Prince Rupert, a coastal town in British Columbia not many miles from Alaska.

PRINCE RUPERT is noted for its fishing industry. We were met at the station by Mr and Mrs Husoy, our daughter-in-law's parents.

After experiencing Prince Rupert's hospitality, we will never brag about our southern hospitality. An open house had been arranged for us in the afternoon so we met the rest of the family, some of whom we had never seen before but soon felt part of them.

An afternoon coffee or an excellent dinner was arranged nearly every day we were there.

MR HUSOY has a fishing boat which he uses for halibut. Their season closes Sept. 15 but they can change their boats for herring during the winter. Prince Rupert has very little snow but lots of rain. In fact they reported rain every day this summer until we arrived.

The weather man must have known that Gerald wanted to do some fishing so he really cooperated and so did the fish. That's a story to hear from Gerald as I am sure I am not capable of telling fish stories such as all sport fishermen tell.

WE VISITED the cannery, fish wharves and both the Fredella owned by Mr Husoy and the Lance owned by his son. Each boat has a name and is generally named after some member of the family.

For a boat to make money it must bring in at least 7,000 pounds of fish. A good load is about 70,000 pounds.

The day previous to the Fredella's last trip of the season, it was loaded with 10 tons of ice, 15,000 pounds of cut octopus, 2 1/2 tons of herring, 15,000 pounds of grey cod and groceries of all sorts weighing one ton.

It carries a crew of five men and its captain. When it's loaded on the return trip, its capacity is 35 ton of halibut or 50 ton of herring.

The depth of water for fishing is measured by "skates of gear." Each "skate" has 150 hooks. These hooks are quite large. A sea lion weighing 800 pounds was caught on the Lance. Fishermen have troubles, too, such as the sea lion eating the fish or sea lice consuming the hooked fish so all that would be left was the fish skeleton.

THE CANNERY is a smelly place but I suppose the workers become accustomed to the odor.

The workers wear white coveralls, white boots and white coverings on their heads. In this process the workers are women. They are very adept in slicing the skin from the fish with very little waste. After boning, skinning and slicing, the final worker, before packaging, checks each slice over an infra-red light for any defects.

WE LEFT for Alaska Sept. 4. We had originally planned to spend some time in Alaska and a stop-over in Jasper. But due to the lowering of railway rates and better service, we were informed if we expected to return before another month we had better keep our reservations.

So we just went to Ketchikan. This is a typical frontier town spread along the coast for 131 1/2 miles at the foot of a mountain chain. A great many Indians populate the town and there is not much to see outside of the terrain. We traveled by ferry to Ketchikan which is about a seven-hour trip through some beautiful scenery among many islands.

DURING OUR stay in Prince Rupert we traveled to Kitimat which is a new town made famous by Alcan Aluminum. Fortunately, we had an extensive tour of the plant due to the fact that our host, while there, was an engineer and has been with the company from its beginning. He is the husband of our daughter-in-law's twin sister.

We watched the alumina as reduced to aluminum metal in a number of electrolytic cells or pots. There are at present eight such potlines having 120 to 170 pots each and many more being readied. It would take too much space to describe the entire process. Some of the ingots measured 16 inches by 24 inches by 18 feet. The biggest buyer is United States with United Kingdom second.

WE WERE told wildlife was abundant but we only saw one bear.

Sept. 8, we left for home and arrived in Lansing Sept. 12.

We were very surprised to find the keen interest in our coming election shown by the Canadians. They were quite concerned when we mentioned Goldwater and an immediate discussion followed. The Canadian papers carried more news about our politics than their own.

Bement Library Book Shelf

By Elizabeth Millman

The librarians were pleased to receive a booklet containing the Constitution and By-Laws of the Ladies Library Assn. of St. Johns, the fore-runner of the Bement Library. This was organized in 1871 by a forward-looking group of women who realized the importance of a library in a town.

The initiation fee was $1 and the annual dues were also $1. Fines were 10 cents a week. The ladies association made money at that, as their surplus was bequeathed to the Bement Library when they disbanded, which was about 1920.

ONE BOOK only could be borrowed at a time and the library was open to the members for two hours one afternoon a week. It was the duty of the librarian then, as now, to take charge of the books, but she must notify the executive board of all persons who unduly retained books beyond their allotted time. (Apparently delinquent borrowers are not a product of our times).

We are indebted to Robert Conn for this little booklet. He found it among the effects of his late aunt, Mrs Arthur Wilson, a long-time resident of St. Johns, a longtime resident of St. Johns. It also contains a complete catalogue of the books owned by the association.

GORE VIDAL's first novel in 10 years is a biography of the fourth century Roman emperor, Justin. His attempt to stop Christianity has never been forgotten. He came to the throne in AD 361, sworn to restoring the ancient gods. He persecuted no one but preferred the way of reason and persuasion. He was a philosopher, essayist, and military genius and the story of his career takes him from Constantinople to Paris.

He died at the age of 32 during a military campaign in Persia. Though his dreams of stamping out Christianity died with him, he nevertheless changed the lives of many who came after him. The author has told his story with fire and grace.

"IN THE NAME OF LOVE" by Josephine Lawrence, who writes books of family life, is the story of one family's obsession with sending their sons to college. To them it is a status symbol and their efforts to keep them there lead to many troubles. It is a story of suburban living in which we meet many engaging, often misguided, but likeable people, and their dilemmas came close to home.

Plan Episcopal centennial fete

The rector, vestry and congregation of St. Johns Episcopal Church are planning for the centennial of the founding of the parish Oct. 17 and 18.

Festivities will include evening prayer, followed by an original pageant depicting the history of the church.

THE WEEKEND schedule will include the pageant at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 17; morning prayer at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 18; evening prayer at 7:30 p.m. and repetition of the pageant Sunday evening.

A reception in the undercroft will follow both presentations of the pageant. Open house at the rectory will be held Saturday and Sunday evening.

Social Security man in St. Johns Tuesdays

A representative of the Social Security Administration will be at the Municipal Building in St. Johns every Tuesday from 9:30 a.m. to noon, according to W. Scott Hamlin, manager of the Lansing office.

Anyone desiring information regarding old age and survivors insurance benefits, social security account numbers or other business concerning social security may contact him at those times.

THE ROMANS MOVED RIVERS

In this age of technological wizardry never sneer at the past.

The Roman engineers who designed this aqueduct in Spain were brilliant men. Skill such as theirs, more than the might of Caesar's armies, fashioned the vast civilization of the Empire.

In this age of scientific discovery never overlook the Truths long ago revealed. Christianity was born in a remote province of ancient Rome. It suffered generations of persecution until it converted even its persecutors. And when barbarians overran the Empire, our faith found a foothold in their hearts as well.

In a civilization of modern marvels the Church still raises its towers of truth. And when, next Sunday, we come to our families to worship, somewhere a congregation will be singing:

Oh where are kings and empires now / Of old that went and came?

But, Lord, thy Church is praying yet — / A thousand years the same!

Bible Illiterates

Our generation is fast becoming a generation of Bible and moral illiterates and the two are joined to one another. Allow me just one example. Sometime ago I gave a professor of religion made a survey to test 83 second year college students, of whom nearly all claimed church and Sunday School backgrounds having come from average Christian homes. Out of the 83, 70 could not name the four Gospels, only three could name the book in the Bible that contained the Lord's Prayer (eight thought it was in the Psalms). The average student could not even vaguely quote six of the ten commandments. Thirty four out of the group thought the sermon on the mount was found in the Old Testament. Twenty nine did not know that Genesis was the first book in the Bible. The article from which I gained this information went on to say, "These same students had studied Mohammedanism in the public schools and actually knew more about its fundamental teachings than they did about Christianity. What a challenge this ought to be for every Church and Sunday School to revise their methods and return to teaching the Bible in all classes of the school. Moral decay follows the loss of the knowledge of God and His Word as surely as winter follows summer."

St. Johns Peace Corpsman enthusiastic about Morocco

Morocco, the West African country of "incredible contrasts," is moving over the brink into prosperity with the help of Peace Corps volunteers like St. Johns' Bill Campbell.

Campbell returned Sept. 10 from 22 months of work in the Peace Corps and his enthusiasm about Morocco, its people and its possibilities is hard to miss.

HE IS THE son of Mr and Mrs Lloyd Campbell, 207 E. Walker Street. He will return to Michigan State University as a junior this fall to complete his studies in foreign affairs and economic development.

Campbell brought back many mementos of his stay in Morocco, and more are still en route to St. Johns. But by far the most interesting is the material he has stored in his head and near at hand.

WHAT DID he really accomplish in the Peace Corps?

"We discovered that most Moroccan people think and are working for their country in the same way our founding fathers worked for America," he said.

With a warm to mild climate and abundant minerals and other natural resources, Morocco should have a bright future, Campbell believes. Education of the nation's 11,925,000 citizens is improving so rapidly it is only a matter of time until Morocco solves its problems.

THE PEACE Corps is helping now. Campbell was in Morocco from Feb. 11, 1963, to Aug. 11, 1964. He spent most of his time based in the cities of Marrakesh and Ksar Es Souk as an irrigation technician.

He was a "pick and shovel man with ideas" who served to connect the mainly European engineering staff with the mainly Moroccan field staff. By helping bring together these two elements—for all practical purposes working at odds with each other since Moroccan independence in 1956—the Peace Corps was able to aid development.

Bill Campbell poses with native Moroccan clothing and other items which he brought back with him after his Peace Corps duties. He is wearing a djellabah. At the right are babushes, Moroccan shoes which are pointed, have no heels and no backs, making it easy to slip them off. He is playing a small drum. Other items he brought back to St. Johns include a cookie jar (of metal) and a candleholder.

WHAT WILL it take to get Morocco going at its full potential?

"I noticed the lack in the agricultural area of practical technicians," Campbell said. "Engineering plans are already 50 years in the future. The problem is to get the work done. The lack of finances within easy reach of project supervisors and the lack of decision to do a job try one's patience."

MOROCCO is basically at the point Europe was before its great economic upsurge, Campbell believes. It has all the necessary materials, minimum educational standards, etc., to make it go.

"One of the great problems hoped to be eliminated this year is an agreement with the World Bank for economic loans for development," he said. "There is also a great influx of Moroccan university-level students—many from the University of Rabat—who will be employed. And all classes of Moroccan schools will soon be taught by Moroccan teachers without losing the high educational standards already there."

POLITICS is believed to be another factor influencing Morocco's future. Campbell says the country is a constitutional monarchy similar to England in construction, except that the king retains more control. King Hassan II is extremely popular, Campbell said, and is using his influence in forming a government to build the nation.

The government is stable. It has been independent from France since 1956. Politics such as is practiced in America is practically non-existent. Campbell says there are party tags, but they have next to no meaning. Politics instead, is an arrangement of individuals.

CAMPBELL said he feels Hassan II is maneuvering the government toward a democratic system that will be able to take over the operation of the country in time.

"The trend in Morocco within the last month," he noted, "has been clean, clean government from the king on down." He said most young Moroccan students are dedicated to building a free, democratic and independent Morocco.

BUT MOROCCO is more than politics and people. Campbell has learned much about the geography of the West African nation. It is a country of 171,305 square miles, stretching 700 miles from its southern border with Spanish Sahara to Gibraltar. Across the Straits of Gibraltar it's only eight miles to Spain.

The High Atlas Mountains begin east of Agadir, scene of a tremendous earthquake in February 1960, and run eastward into the Sahara Desert. These mountains support snow almost year around.

THE LESSER Atlas mountains start just north of the High Atlas and angle northeastward toward the Mediterranean coast in Algeria. They are not as high as the Appalachians in the United States, except in the north, but do have snow in the colder months of the year.

The Riff mountains follow the Mediterranean coast of Morocco and eventually hook up with the Lesser Atlas chain in Algeria.

THE MOUNTAINS are a good source of water, and all the rivers flow out of them to the oceans or into the desert. Dams have been constructed to make use of the resource, and more are needed.

The Berkane dam project in northern Morocco will reach its full potential in 1965. It was built for flood control and has resulted in power, industry and agriculture expansion, much the same as in the Tennessee Valley of the United States. Morocco even sells its over-abundance of electricity.

THE LARGE dam at Bine-El-Ouidani in central Morocco overlooks the agricultural provinces of Marrakesh and Beni-Mella. Here the water is used for irrigation.

This area, and much of Morocco, reminds Campbell of California. The country is about the size of California, has the same type of climate and geography. Citrus fruits, grapes, almonds and cork are major agricultural products.

Temperature? The average summer high reading is about 81 degrees F. The average winter low is about 63 degrees.

"AUGUST is the only unbearable month," Campbell said. "All visitors and even the Moroccans themselves head for the seashore."

The seashores are roomy, and the beaches look like those of Michigan before the 4th of July and after Labor Day, Campbell said. They are kept clean and the people are conscious of water safety habits.

CAMPING AREAS are being set up along the seashores and in the mountains. Prescribed tourist routes go over most of the country and are all paved roads—good roads, Campbell said, and well marked. English is widely spoken, he remarked, and the only place the unknowing tourist can get trapped is in the price

See harvest of 130,000 deer

A possible firearm harvest of more than 130,000 deer is being proposed for this November by the Conservation Department.

STATE-WIDE, nearly 200,000 special permits would be issued in an effort to reach the hoped-for harvest of some 66,400 surplus antlerless deer.

The department's recommendations, based on year-long surveys which point to another pre-season herd of about 800,000 animals, are aimed at a fall kill of more than 60,000 antlerless whitetails and upwards of 70,000 bucks.

Under a new law, the firearm season will open Nov. 14 and run through Nov. 29 in the Upper Peninsula west of M-77. Throughout the remainder of the state, the season will fall within the traditional Nov. 15-30 period.

DESIGNED to let hunters take all surplus deer above an adequate "safety cushion" these suggested regulations came up for consideration by the Conservation Commission during its Aug. 6-7 meeting at the Higgins Lake conservation school.

Planners OK freeway recommendation

In a major step ahead, department plans call for the state's first sizeable season on antlerless deer in nine areas of the southern Lower Peninsula where whitetails are causing heaviest damage to farm crops.

The Tri-County Regional Planning Commission has adopted recommendations which urge local units of government within the region to utilize existing laws to help prevent urban development from encroaching upon future planned freeway locations.

UNDER proposed restrictions, antlerless kill should total about 1,800 animals in this part of the state—a little more than one deer per square mile.

The policies and procedures which the commission proposed include the adoption by local units of government of a freeway location plan as a legal basis for local legislative action.

Elsewhere in Michigan, Department recommendations are geared to an antlerless take of 15,400 deer in the Upper Peninsula and over 49,000 in the northern Lower Peninsula. Special seasons would be held in 11 areas above the Straits and 44 areas in the northern Lower Peninsula, covering 15,962 and 13,195 square miles, respectively.

THE POLICIES proposed by the commission will be submitted to all local units of government affected by planned freeways within Lansing, East Lansing, and the surrounding nine township area. The commission urged prompt action on the recommended proposals.

Septic field demonstration help in fighting pollution

A septic field drain demonstration, featuring the regular and Sheldon inverted systems, will be held on the Gerald Shepard farm in Section 5 of Bath Township today (Thursday).

George Amundson, retired MSU professor; Dale Chapman, Clinton County drain commissioner; Gerald Walter, zoning administrator; and George McQueen, Extension agent, will be on hand at 10 a.m. or 7 p.m. to answer questions.

THE AIM of the demonstration, according to the Clinton County Soil Conservation District, is to help keep pollution from some day being considered the number one conservation problem.

Chemical residues in food is one phase of pollution, but other forms include the pollution resulting from dumping of chemical and organic wastes by industries and cities into streams and lakes, spilling of oils on water, killing of wildlife by blanket spraying, use of detergent, sewage problems at lake resorts, and so on.

THE demonstration today, however, is connected most directly with Section 423 of the Michigan Drain Laws. It states:

"It shall be unlawful for any municipality, industry, public or private corporation, individual, partnership, association or any other entity to continue to discharge or permit to be discharged into any county drain or inter-county drain of the state any sewage or waste matter capable of producing in said drain or drains of the state, any objectionable odor nuisance, injury to drainage conduits or structures, or such pollution of the waters of the state receiving the flow from said drains as to injure livestock, destroy fish life or be injurious to public health."

SEPTIC FIELD systems such as those being installed today are Several new booklets out

With the new cattle feeding season rapidly getting underway, beef producers may wish to evaluate the latest methods for figuring profits in advance, maintaining livestock health, treating corn silage or the importance of vitamins and minerals.

Several Michigan State University extension specialists and scientists recently authored new publications geared to provide cattle feeders with answers to many of their commonly asked questions.

IF YOU ARE trying to guess which type of cattle should make the most money in 1965, Leonard Kyle, MSU agricultural economist, may be able to supply some of the answers. He lists the methods of computing a break-even budget in advance which is the best measure of the risks involved in buying and feeding a particular lot of cattle.

Yet cattle feeding problems are just beginning once the cattle arrive at the farm. Dr. Cliff Beck, MSU extension veterinary helping keep streams clear. "All of us, deep in our hearts, would like and want to leave our streams cleaner than they are now for our children," soil district officials said.

"This is the challenge that faces our generation—how to clean up our streams; how to stop pollution of our water; and how to make better use of our water resources."

H. W. NEWLAND, MSU animal husbandry researcher, passes along some valuable information on the need for certain vitamins and minerals in his new publication. He also has authored a publication on the value of adding limestone and urea to corn silage to improve the feeding value. Although both limestone and urea stimulate organic acid production in corn silage, urea is needed if a cattle feeder wishes to increase the resulting protein content.

The bulletins are all available from the Clinton County Extension service office located at the courthouse. Just ask for the following Extension bulletins.

- No. 463, Figuring Profit and Loss Prospects.
- No. 464, Maintaining Health of Newly Acquired Livestock.
- No. 465, Testing Corn Silage with Limestone and Urea.
- No. 466, Vitamins and Minerals in the Ration.

As corn goes, so goes county's farm income

As corn goes, so goes Clinton County's farm income. With about 70,000 acres—over one-third of our crop acres—produce corn. Next in line follows hay and wheat with 35,000 acres each.

Clinton County has been blessed with excellent corn soils. The county leads the state with 90 per cent of its land in farms and a whopping 80 per cent of its farmland being first and second class land. These are level and gently rolling loam and clay loam soils—well suited for corn production.

EVEN WITH 15,000 acres producing silage for dairy and beef feed, the rest provide over 3.2 million bushels for dairy, beef, hogs, and chickens. In 1963 an estimated million bushels were shipped outside the county as cash corn.

This year's corn crop promises to be even better. Favorable weather at planting time, plus thicker planting, resulted in very good plant populations. Reasonably adequate rainfall and temperature hastened it along. Increased use of fertilizer at planting with nitrogen sidedressed provided food for the season. Added together, it looks like a year even better than last year's record yield.

A NEARLY 20-bushel average increase in yield was recorded by Clinton County Corn Club members in 1963 over previous years. A few fields produced over 150 bushels per acre—picked, shelled, dried, and weighed. This year's production remains a guess yet but most producers are confident of record yields.

What of the future? Crop acres growing corn is expected to increase to 100,000 acres or one-half of Clinton County's harvested cropland. Yields should approach an average 100 bushels per acre, with some farmers getting 200 bushels per acre on some fields. More acres will be devoted to silage, but more bushels will be fed as grain or sold also.

CLINTON COUNTY may never be the top corn producing county in the state, but those counties producing more bushels will have to keep moving.

Plumber's Friend

Clogged drains bothering you? While your wife may want to use a commercial substance to unclog them (which is O.K.), try a plunger first.

Rub a thick coating of petroleum jelly along the flat bottom edge of the rubber suction cup. Place the plunger over the drain, partially fill the bowl with water and plug the overflow outlet with a damp rag. Work the plunger up and down a few dozen times.

If that doesn't work try your wife's suggestion and then the plunger again. And, if that doesn't work, you may be in need of a plumber.

Engineer cites land drainage research need

Continued research to improve Michigan's land drainage systems was urged this week by Carl W. Hall, chairman of Michigan State University's Department of Agricultural Engineering.

"About one-fourth to one-third of the agricultural land of Michigan has already been drained," commented Hall. "We are now putting in tile at the rate of 50 million feet per year—enough for about 70,000 acres.

"BUT WE HAVE many acres of our present farm land that needs to be tiled and much more land which can be reclaimed. With our present knowledge and equipment, this would take us another 200 to 300 years."

Hall commented that in a few years it may be economical to place tile closer together and to use the tile in areas not presently considered adaptable for drainage systems.

CONTINUED research will be necessary to develop entirely new drainage methods and to solve any new problems which may arise," commented Hall.

"Industry is already playing a tremendous role in meeting these needs by providing materials as they are needed. The Cooperative Extension Service and the Soil Conservation Service are providing the education and research needed in this area."

THE MSU agricultural engineer pointed out that many of today's developments would have been "impossible or uneconomical without tile drainage." He noted that about one-tenth of the nation's one billion farm acres is in drainage districts and that farmsteads, schools, shopping centers, housing developments, highways and airfields have benefited from drainage research.

We changed the Buick a lot this year. And you may never be the same again yourself.

We doubt you'll want to be the same. Not once you set eyes on our new Buicks. On the Buick Special and the Skylark. The LeSabre, Electra 225, Riviera. And on the sleek, modified fastback of the wild, wilder, Wildcat in the picture.

True, there's a new high-style touch. But that's hardly all. Engineering still has the emphasis. It's a Buick tradition. So are the extras Buick spends a little extra on. Like finned brake drums that do a little better. And smoother drivelines. A tuned suspension to smooth ribcage roads. Now add Buick's Super Turbine transmissions—and you have an idea of what Buick owners have always liked about Buick. We think you'll feel the same.

Wouldn't you really rather have a Buick
