Nickel new assistant to aid rural schools

Walter Nickel, principal at Central School in St. Johns for over 10 years, last week was named administrative assistant to the superintendent in charge of rural schools.

Nickel will not assume his duties until July 1 next year. He will continue as principal until that time.

THE appointment was made last Wednesday night by the St. Johns board of education in anticipation of the annexation of perhaps 32 rural school districts by July 1.

Nickel's immediate responsibilities after assuming the new post next year will be the selection, placement and supervision of teachers and custodians. He will also recommend policies concerning textbooks, television, transportation, special services, etc., during the transition from individual districts to a single St. Johns district.

THIRTY-TWO rural school districts which send tuition students to St. Johns have been told by the St. Johns Board of Education that they must vote to annex to the district if they continue to send high school students here. July 1, 1965, is the deadline for decisions by the various districts.

Nickel's job will be to coordinate the districts and keep them running as individual districts until a building program can be devised to house and educate all the grade school children involved.

IN ADDITION to his immediate duties next year, he'll also be responsible for these long-range plans:

Population studies to determine size and location of community schools; determining bus routes in cooperation with transportation director; appraising equipment and determining which can be used in new buildings.

Appraising teachers and deciding who should be retained; planning education program and working with architect in planning buildings; checking on progress of building construction; and meeting with citizen groups concerning school programs.

NICKEL IS now in his 12th year with the St. Johns school system. He came in 1953 as a math and science teacher, but the following year he was given the post of Central School principal which he has held ever since.

Before coming to St. Johns, Nickel was high school principal at Marlette for 10 years, and for 10 years before that he was teacher-principal - superintendent at Ida, Mich.

HE RECEIVED his college education at Eastern Michigan University, graduating in 1933. In 1942 he earned his master of arts degree from the University of Michigan. Just this last summer he received his diploma in advanced graduate studies at Michigan State University.

He is a member of the Exchange Club of St. Johns and the Methodist Church, where he teaches an adult class. He also holds membership in the Michigan and National Education Assns. and the Michigan Secondary School Principals' Assn.

HE AND HIS wife Cecile live at 502 E. Sturgis Street. They have a daughter, Carolyn, who is a junior at Albion College.

DeWitt to seek status as city

The Village of DeWitt may become a city if residents there vote their approval in a special election Dec. 15.

Over 1,236 persons live in the village limits of DeWitt now. That was the population in 1960 and it has been growing since then. DeWitt would be classed as a fifth class city if voters OK the legal change.

Their approval would make DeWitt the second city in Clinton County. All other communities except St. Johns are classified as villages.

The six-man DeWitt village council called the special election Oct. 31 with the adoption of a resolution. A petition to incorporate was filed with City Clerk Ray Price.

VILLAGE President William Buck explained the village council's action.

"We felt we should go to a fifth class city classification because the advantages outweigh the disadvantages," he said. "This village is growing. We want to keep moving forward and we want to be a self-governing city."

DeWitt, as a city, would be a separate entity from the township. And as such, it would be eligible for two members on the Clinton County Board of Supervisors.

ITS FUNCTIONS as a city would be:

Assessing property as the basis of county and school taxes; collecting taxes for county and schools; conducting county, state and national elections; serving as a district for sending supervisors to the county board; and providing for a local court system.

In changing from a village to the city, DeWitt would merely withdraw through the new city government local services formerly provided by the township. It would also provide whatever necessary and non-duplicating functions were provided by the township government.

"THE SURROUNDING area is growing by leaps and bounds," Buck commented, "and we feel that the services we'll be able to render as a city might make it desirable for folks in the area to annex."

Some of the services he listed were sewage disposal, better lighting, rubbish pickup, possibly police protection, and other such services.

The boundaries of the village would be the boundaries of the city.

AS A HOME rule city, a charter must be written and approved by voters, and so at the Dec. 15

Set public hearing on rezoning request

The request from Larry Karber was referred to the planning commission by the St. Johns City Commission. The request is for rezoning from single family residential to light manufacturing classification.

MAYOR SMIT

VICE MAYOR SERRINE

Name Smit to new term as mayor

Jack Smit of 500 1/2 N. Clinton Avenue was named mayor of St. Johns Monday night in a meeting of city commissioners.

Smit, in his second six-year term as a commissioner, has been mayor the last two years.

REX SERRINE, a veteran commissioner, was renamed vice mayor.

The meeting Monday night was a change from the usual Tuesday night schedule but was one that is spelled out in the city charter. Its main purpose was for organization.

Charles Coletta was sworn in as commissioner for another term following his reelection Nov. 3. City Clerk Jessie Finch administered the oath.

TWO OF the city's four representatives on the Clinton County board of supervisors were reappointed by the commission. They are Coletta, who has been serving as chairman of the board, and Lorenz Tiedt. The others, automatically on the board are the city assessor and city attorney.

Harold Reed was named to the St. Johns Planning Commission to fill a vacancy. Other members of the planning group are William Graef, B. Stanley Pocus, William Morris, Edward Sulka, Mayor Jack Smit, Dorr Anderson, St. Clair Pardee and Coletta.

Recount of Bingham liquor vote sought

A recount of ballots in the close liquor-by-the-glass vote in Bingham Township is being sought, and a petition for the recount has been filed with Township Clerk Alice Heibek.

The liquor-by-the-glass proposal passed by a scant margin of 271 to 266.

THE PETITION for the recount was filed Monday afternoon by Luther Cleland of 3641 Walker Road. The required $5 fee was also filed.

County Clerk Paul Wakefield said he had not received the recount petition yet Tuesday, and he could not say when the counting would be made by the board of canvassers.

IN ST. JOHNS, the city members of the Citizens Committee for a Safer St. Johns area, which had battled the passage of liquor-by-the-glass in Bingham and St. Johns, have made no final decision on their next step. A spokesman said they might decide something within a few days.

The St. Johns city commission, in their organization meeting Monday night, passed a resolution certifying the results of the city election to the state Liquor Control Commission.

THIS WAS A routine procedure, but it started the ball rolling toward the eventual granting of liquor licenses. Liquor-by-the-glass passed in St. Johns by a 928 to 704 margin.

Four liquor licenses will be available in the city of St. Johns, but the city commission will have the chore now of deciding how many to issue and who will get them.

FIVE ST. JOHNS taverns have Class C beer and wine licenses, and all have expressed an interest in getting a Class A liquor license, too.

Whatever number of licenses are issued will be issued to the beer license holders. State law makes this mandatory; no business that does not have a beer license can have a liquor license.

BEER LICENSES are issued according to population; St. Johns has the maximum number it can have with its present population.

The next step appears to be up to the Liquor Control Commission. After checking out the Class C license holders, they will report to the city commission as to the eligibility of each one for a Class A license.

THE FINAL choice of who gets the licenses will be up to the Commission.

Taverns with a Class C license in St. Johns are Bruno's Wonder Bar, 226 N. Clinton Avenue; the Roadhouse on East State Street; the H & H Lounge, 311 N. Clinton Avenue; Frechen's Tavern, 214 N. Clinton Avenue; and the Club Bar, 310 N. Clinton Avenue.

All of the five tavern owners have expressed an interest in getting one of the four licenses available.

IN BINGHAM Township where there are no licenses out now, Al Daley of Daley's Fine Foods said he would be applying for the Class A liquor license.

Liquor - by-the-glass proposals were defeated in two other Clinton townships. Bath turned it down by a 1,126 to 579 vote, and Olive Township voters rejected it 365 to 228.

2 cars collide on median area

Two cars came together last Wednesday in the median strip of US-27 at Clinton Avenue, but neither driver was injured.

They were driven by Ann Brown, 41, of R-3, St. Johns and Clare E. Maier, 38, of 504 E. Higham.

Police said the Brown car had stopped on the median waiting for northbound traffic to clear, then started forward and then stopped again.

Dairy industry honors Richards

William F. Richards Sr. of St. Johns has been named recipient of the Michigan Dairy Manufacturers Award for 1964.

Presentation of the certificate was made last week at the Michigan Dairy Manufacturers Conference at Michigan State University. Sponsored by the MSU Food Science Dept., the honor is given each year to the outstanding leader in a Michigan dairy industry.

RICHARDS IS director of quality control at Dairyland, Inc., at Carson City, a division of Ira Wilson and Sons Dairy of Detroit.

Richards started his employment with the Telling-Bell-Vernon Co. of Cleveland, Ohio. Several years later he was transferred to the SMA Corp. of Mason, where he progressed from chemist to manager during 27 years of service.

HE IS A chemistry graduate of Alma College, and his accomplishments include intensive research on canned sweet corn and other specialty products. He and a co-worker hold a patent on casenettes.

Dr. C. M. Stine, in making the presentation of the award to Richards, noted that he has also been active in many civic organizations, as member and past president of the Mason school board, charter member and past president of the Kiwanis Club and member of the Masonic Lodge.

IN 1944 HE served as chair-

man of the advisory committee of the Milk Sugar Industry. An opportunity to purchase his own dairy plant arose in 1946, and with the cooperation of his son, William Richards Jr., he further developed and expanded it.

UNICEF (the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund) called upon him to contribute his services as a consultant in Europe and South America for the erection and operation of milk processing plants.

"HIS CONTRIBUTIONS to better nutrition for malnourished and underprivileged children in Chile, Ecuador and Greece are among his major accomplishments," Dr. Stine said.

THE QUARTERS in the former Yankee Store building are temporary. The bank has purchased the former C. D. Ebert property at the corner of Walker and Spring. An old home there was torn down to make way for a new bank building, which will be started in the spring.

All construction and repair work at the high school requested by the state fire marshal has been completed, Supt. Earl Lancaster reports. Traffic toll continues to climb

Michigan's 184 traffic deaths in October brought the year's count to date to 1,729, which is 234 or 16 per cent higher than 1,495 for the same 10-month period last year, according to State Police provisional figures.

The October fatalities were five more than 179 in that month a year ago. October's averages were 160 for the five years of 1959-63, and 158 for the 31 years of record keeping, 1933-63. Highest toll for the month was 230 in 1941 while the low of 97 was in 1944.

IT WAS the fourth month in a row to show an increase in deaths compared with the same months in 1963. Only one month in the first 10 this year, June, has shown a decrease compared with corresponding months last year.

Delayed death reports will add somewhat to the October and 10-month provisional tolls.

MORE complete figures for September showed 179 deaths, up 16 or 10 per cent, 12,454 injuries, increased by 2,271 or 22 per cent, and 22,865 accidents, up by 3,105 or 18 per cent compared with the same month a year ago.

Estimated mileage for the first eight months, the latest information available, was 25 billion, a gain of 6 per cent, while the death rate of 5.4 per 100 million vehicle miles was increased by 11 per cent compared with the same period in 1963.

Marten elected

Elmer W. Marten continues as clerk of Riley Township. A typographical error in last week's Clinton County News showed Manley Hunt, clerk of Victor Township elected, as Riley's clerk. We regret the mistake.

49-year-old Valleyside Dairy sold to McDonald

The Valleyside Dairy, a mainstay in St. Johns dairying business since 1905, has been sold to the McDonald Dairy of Lansing, effective Nov. 1.

Donald and William Rice, who have operated as partners since taking over from their father in 1940, made the announcement this week.

THE SALE covers only the processing, sales and distribution of milk. The Rice brothers will continue to operate the dairy farm, on which they have 130 cows and dairy helpers.

The 400-acre farm is located on DeWitt Road just south of Townsend Road in Bingham Township.

DONALD RICE said the sale was made because of poor health on the part of both brothers. They have worked the dairy business since 1929, buying it from the late Calvin Rice, their father, in 1940.

Donald Rice has been mainly in charge of the dairy farm and plant, while William Rice has taken charge of the delivery. William has been driving the milk routes daily, including Sundays, for 33 years.

OTHER DRIVERS have agreed to stay on as drivers for McDonald, and so home delivery customers of Valleyside will keep their same milkman with McDonald.

The drivers are Roland (Marty) Markman, a 12-year driver; Delbert Pung, a 15-year milk route man; and William Bancroft, a driver for five years. William Douglas Rice has worked with his father on the wholesale milk delivery for the past four years.

McDONALD, in taking over the dairy, has agreed to purchase milk from the Rice brothers, process it at their modern dairy in Flint and return it to St. Johns for delivery in the area.

Valleyside home delivery milk routes were maintained in St. Johns, DeWitt, Westphalia, Pewamo, Fowler, Maple Rapids, Eureka and the surrounding rural territory. These included three retail and one wholesale route.

THE HUB OF the 400-acre farm is a modern dairy operation that includes such items as automatic unloading of sealed-storage silage, a 102-foot long feeder, barn cleaning equipment and other such items.

The Rices have seen quite a change in milk prices, as well as equipment. When their father began in the dairy business back in 1905, milk sold for 3 cents a quart, delivered, Donald Rice said.

IN 1912 IT WAS 12 cents a quart for regular and 14 cents for Guernsey.

Legal standards for milk in Michigan say dairymen can't sell milk with below 3.5 per cent butterfat. Donald Rice said Monday the Valleyside Dairy never standardized their milk, that it was always well above that minimum for butterfat content.

ALL MILK delivered in the Clinton area by all dairies is now standardized to 3.5 per cent, he reported.

In the early days, he recalled, milk was delivered in large cans and measured out for customers with a quart container. The dairy started using bottles in 1915.

CALVIN RICE, who founded the dairy firm, died in 1952. His widow, Mrs. C. M. Rice, is now 93 years old.

"Mr Co-ed," junior play, goes on stage Nov. 20, 21

The trials and tribulations of a young man named Lotus who enrolls at an all-girls school is the topic of the St. Johns junior class play, "Mr Co-ed," which will be presented Nov. 20 and 21 at the high school auditorium.

The three-act comedy will begin at 8 p.m. both nights.

LOTUS, PLAYED by Gordon Smith, is allowed to enroll at the girls' college only because the college needs funds and Lotus' wealthy grandmother has promised the school quite a large sum of money if Lotus can attend.

The only difficulty is that the purse-holding grandmother has never seen her "granddaughter" and thinks that Lotus is a gentle, fragile little girl.

LOTUS, THEREFORE, is forced to attempt an impersonation, complete with dress, heels and make-up. He proceeds to stumble his way through a modern dance sequence with the college girls, trips over one of his costumes (a bed sheet) and falls flat on his face.

Other members of the cast include Cathy Matthews as Emily, Lotus' newly found girl friend; Wilma Clark as Miss Pooley, the physical education teacher; Jan Houser as Miss Carr, a dramatic poetry teacher; Nancy Magsis as Colbina Colgate Brewster, the extremely wealthy grandma;

BOB BARBER as Mr Oliver, an ambitious businessman and owner of an academy for boys; Elliott Smith as Gilbert Glycer, a "poet"; Linda Rasdale as Miss Hayworth, president of the girls school;

Alah Johnson as Homer Quackentush, a cranky, lovable custodian who actually runs the whole school; and Barb McKay, Candy Heibeck and Mary Beth Sexton as Carol, Bernice and Ruby, three college girls.

DORMITORY girls include Margaret Cortright, Beth Kuripila, Sue Durner and Diane McQueen. Academy boys include Danny Redman, Richard Cornwell, George Enoch, Dick Irrer, Jim Welsh and Bob Gillson.

The juniors will be the first class to produce a play using the new lighting equipment installed on the stage this summer.

MISS SUE Fulton will direct the play.

36,850,000 gals. of water used during October

Halloween Day was a dry day, by comparison, in St. Johns, with only 918,000 gallons of water being used. Every other day of the month accounted for over one million gallons of water.

A total of 36,850,000 gallons was pumped during the month, the city commission was told last week. This compares to 32,516,000 in October 1963.

THE PUMPING rate averaged 1,188,710 gallons per day compared to 1,048,900 per day last year. The rate per minute in October this year was 826 gallons; this compares to only 728 gallons per minute last October.

The most water pumped on any one day this October was 1,337,000 on Oct. 5.

US Coast Guard quotas raised

Coast Guard enlistment quotas have been raised, and the ranks are now wide open for qualified young men between the ages of 17 and 26 and for men up to 35 with previous military service.

Senior Chief Engineman William D. Meakin, new Coast Guard recruiting officer for Michigan, said information regarding enlistment in the regular coast guard may be obtained at recruiting offices in Detroit and Grand Rapids.

Decision on urban renewal upcoming

St. Johns may find out next Tuesday whether the city will be eligible for federal urban renewal funds in its downtown improvement project.

William Boyd and Peter LaPorte of the Housing and Home Finance Agency in Chicago are scheduled to be in St. Johns Tuesday for inspection of existing buildings and to look over preliminary plans.

BEFORE THEY leave, they will give a verbal commitment to city officials on whether the project would qualify. If the opinion is favorable, the federal government reportedly will pick up the tab on 75 per cent of the cost of the project from that point on. The city will pay the other 25 per cent.

Again, if the decision is favorable, it will be a matter of 18 months to two years before the contract stage is reached. Engineering, legal work and other phases of the project will take place in the interim period.

CITY MANAGER Ken Greer told the commissioners Monday night that federal requirements concerning ordinances and other items are stiff and the city's compliance or non-compliance during that interim could affect the final approval by the federal government.

Governor proclaims Michigan Nurse Week beginning Nov. 15

M. Gaye Rau, RN and Edna M. Conrad, LPN, have been appointed chairmen of Michigan Nurse Week, Nov. 15-21, in the Capitol Area.

The appointments were made by the Michigan Nurses Association, and the Michigan Practical Nurses Association, co-sponsoring organizations. Over 11,000 nurses throughout the state will take part in the week long observance, proclaimed by Governor George Romney.

M. GAYE RAU said the two nursing organizations are sponsoring a combined week, primarily to inform the public of nursing's role in each community. She said the observance also helps the public differentiate between the various categories and strengthens closer relationships and understanding between the two groups.

The local committee for Michigan Nurse Week also includes Vivian Hand, Audrey Dixon, Carol Grams, Pearl Christiansen and Janet Bartlett.

The purpose of the week is to provide better care for Michigan's patients through acquainting the public with nursing needs and progress.

Mazzolini stars in German opera as lead tenor

The opera audiences of Europe are being entertained by a resident of St. Johns.

Joseph Mazzolini, son of Mrs Bruno Mazzolini, 407 South Clinton, premiered as the lead tenor in the opera, Undine, Oct. 25, in Pforzheim, Germany.

AS THE CHARACTER of Hugo, the faithless king, German reviews say he is surprisingly real and "very German." His heroic appearance is reminiscent of Windgassen, a famous German tenor, they say, and audiences are pleased by his singing which is acclaimed as warm and constantly well-controlled.

Mazzolini majored in music at Michigan State University and following graduation he taught voice in Lansing.

IN 1963 HE married Francis Martelli, from St. Johns and they left for Switzerland where he had accepted a role with an opera company.

The present season began Sept. 15 with Mazzolini playing Tamino, the lead tenor in Mozart's, The Magic Flute, and will end June 17 after such performances as Carmen.

Following the close of the season Mazzolini will return to St. Johns.

CMU gets letters written by state's only woman soldier during Civil War

MOUNT PLEASANT— The only known letters of Michigan's only woman Civil War soldier recently were given to the Central Michigan University Clarke Historical Library by K. H. Snow of Concord.

The letters are those of Sarah Emma Edmonds Seelye, alias Franklin Thompson, of Company F, 2nd Michigan Volunteer Infantry, and were written to R. H. Halsted of Concord, Snow's grandfather. John Cumming, director of the library, says the letters are unique in that they are those of the state's only female soldier in the Civil War.

SARAH was born in New Brunswick, Canada, in 1839. She later said, "I think I was born into this world with some dormant antagonism toward men. My infant soul was impressed with a sense of my mother's wrongs and I early concluded that matrimony was not a safe investment for me."

A passing stranger who spent a night at her father's home gave her a book, "Fanny Campbell, the Female Sailor," which gave her the idea of posing as a man to escape what she considered the slavery imposed upon the family by her father. It was not until her father "took it into his head to marry me off and get rid of me" that Sarah borrowed clothing from a neighbor boy to make her escape.

SARAH, having taken the name Franklin Thompson, worked at selling books for a publishing house in Hartford, Conn. In 1860 she appeared in Michigan where she lived for a time in the home of Mr and Mrs Charles Pratt in Oakland County, and in the home of the Rev T. J. Joslin in Flint.

On April 12, Fort Sumter was fired upon and Lincoln issued his call for 75,000 volunteers; on April 17 "Franklin Thompson" enlisted in the Flint Union Greys, which became Company F of the 2nd Michigan Infantry.

"FRANKLIN Thompson" was most successful as a spy because of her ability to pose as a woman and get information from chivalrous Southern officers." At one time, however, "Franklin" was behind the Southern lines in a village occupied by a strong Confederate force.

Unwillingly pressed into Confederate service, "Franklin" suddenly found herself in the awkward position of encountering a party of Federals in hand-to-hand combat. She managed, however, to get on the federal side and was recognized by an officer who signalled "Franklin" to his side.

THIS brought "Franklin" face to face with the rebel captain, and she discharged her pistol directly at him, wounding but not killing him. The shot made her the target of every rebel saber, but also the object of attention to the Union soldiers who moved in with concentrated force to drive back the enemy.

In 1862 "Franklin" was made mail carrier for the regiment. At one time an accident occurred which caused her severe internal injuries. She made no report of the accident, however, for "I dared not report the fact nor apply for medical treatment, for the very first thing would have been an examination of my lungs—which to me simply meant 'dismissal from the Service.'

"CONSEQUENTLY I took the utmost pains to conceal the facts in the case and silently endured all the misery and distress which the unfortunate accident entailed upon me, rather than to be sent away from the Army under guard like a criminal."

The lasting results of this accident led to her desertion from the Army and eventually to her applying for a pension.

SHE LATER said, "It is true that my discharge from the service did not come by the way of the 'red tape' line, but by a more direct route. But from my standpoint I never for a moment considered myself a deserter. I simply left because I could hold out no longer, and to remain and become a helpless patient in a hospital was sure discovery—which to me was far worse than death."

SARAH SEELYE alias Franklin Thompson

While convalescing after her desertion, Sarah wrote a book, "Nurse and Spy," taking great pains to conceal the fact that she had been anything other than a female nurse. After recuperating, she went to work, in woman's dress, for the Sanitary Commission and served in hospitals along the lines, especially at Harper's Ferry, Va., until the end of the war.

LATER SHE went to Oberlin College to study but found the classroom too tame and gave up. In 1866 she made a trip to her old home and apparently looked up the boy who had lent her clothing in which to escape from home. He followed her back to Ohio and in 1867 she and Linus H. Seelye were married in Cleveland. They had three children, all of whom died in childhood, and adopted two boys who grew to manhood.

The Seelyes lived at various times in Charlevoix, Mich., Evanston, Ill., Oberlin, Ohio; Lateche, La.; California, Mo.; Fort Scott, Kan., and finally in LaPorte, Tex.

IT WAS from La Porte that the letters to Halsted were written, some of them dealing with her attempts to get a pension for her war service and her injury. Halsted had signed an affidavit concerning her accident and in one of her letters to him she implored him to add after his statement that "she was my bunkmate considerable of the time" the qualification, "but I never knew that she was a woman."

Mrs Seelye succeeded in getting her pension in 1893. For her "two years, or nearly so, of faithful, hard service," she was granted the sum of $12 a month.

IN LAPORTE, Sarah was mustered into the George B. McClellan Post No. 9 of the Grand Army of the Republic at Houston, the only woman to be regularly received into the GAR. She died Sept. 5, 1898, and was first buried at LaPorte. In Memorial Day services in 1901 her body was moved to the GAR portion of Washington Cemetery in Houston. Under a live oak tree, her limestone marker read, "Emma E. Seelye, Army Nurse."

They all roasted hot dogs and ate together in the evening at the home of Mr and Mrs Howard Waggoner. The Meadows, Witts and Wendell Waggoners all spent Saturday night with the Howard Waggoners and the Randolphs stayed the night with the Gordon Waggoners in their cottage.

Barbara Waggoner from University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Mrs Wallace Huggett and children and Mr and Mrs Dale Randolph were Friday supper guests of Mr and Mrs J. D. Robinson.

Mrs William Young and children of Lansing were Sunday guests of her parents, Mr and Mrs Roy Hyke.

Sunday guests at the J. D. Robinson home were: Mr and Mrs Russell Howe and daughters of Grand Ledge, Mr and Mrs Vern Bendt of Lyons, Mr and Mrs John Martin and Eunice of St. Johns, and Mr and Mrs Wallace Huggett and family of Marlette.

Unhurt in the crash were Roger McCartney, 12, and Barbara Wells, 9, both of Charlotte.

LOVE THAT GLUTTON!

A lot has been said about the indiscriminate table habits of largemouth bass, but when it comes to voracious eating, the bass must take a back seat to the pike. Literally anything and everything looks appetizing to a pike, yet no one gets particularly excited over the wide assortment of vittas that disappear down the gullets of these fish.

Part of this can be explained by his appearance, believe the fishing authorities at Mercury outboards. The pike just naturally looks ornery enough to do the unusual. So when he does, no one is surprised.

As far as pike — or "northern" if you will — are concerned, you name it, they'll eat it.

Even Isaac Walton was impressed by the pike's insatiable appetite and ill temper, calling him a tyrant and "freshwater wolf."

Yet, it is these qualities that makes the pike one of our most eagerly pursued game species. In waters where these fish are abundant, it's possible to produce a strike on nearly every cast. So many, it seems that the same fish is hooked several times — as may be the case.

Though bad mannered, capricious and ugly, a pike of any size means action, conclude the Mercury folks. And they'll fillet out for a dish that compares favorably with walleye.

One last word... neophytes in pike country are often warned to remove their wrist watches before washing up for lunch. Now, no one's ever lost a hand to these toothy brutes. But remember: pike will hit most anything. Why make the headlines this way?

Among early observers, it was the pike that spawned the best legends and perpetrated the tales. Though stories of men and cattle falling prey to his fancies are without foundation, a close examination of his formidable dentures could easily give credence to such yarns.

In Michigan... after bowling, beer is a natural

After you've bowled a game or two, or when you're winding up the evening at the neighborhood bowling center, it's good to relax with friends and compare scores. What better way to add to the sport and the sociableness than with a refreshing glass of beer? However you take your fun—skiing, skating, or at your ease in the game room—beer always makes a welcome addition to the party.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasurable reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom—and that our right to enjoy beer and ale, if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.

State deer hunters swing into action this weekend

LANSING — Firearm deer hunters, expected to invade Michigan's fields and forests in record numbers approaching 525,000, should tote home more than 130,000 whitetails this November to top their 1963 kill of 124,000.

Although most of the animals will be shot in Michigan's north woods, the southern third of the state will account for a fair share of the total kill.

THROUGHOUT the southern farm belt, where the increasing deer herd totals about 60,000 animals, buck kill is anticipated to go over the 8,000 mark, bettering last season's all-time high of about 6,800.

Also, under the southern region's first major special season, hunters are expected to harvest 1,850 antlerless white-tails—a little more than one deer per square mile—in 12 areas where any-deer regulations have been set to tone down heavy crop damage by these animals.

WITH ANY-DEER regulations more liberal and this year's herd estimated at or slightly above the high 1963 level of about 800,000 animals, the Conservation Department's pre-season outlook points to a fall take of 60,000-70,000 antlerless deer and well over 70,000 bucks.

As always, the big "if" will be the weather. Given good conditions, hunters will have every thing going for them when they swing into action Saturday in the western Upper Peninsula and Sunday throughout the rest of the state.

COMING UNDER this antlerless season are parts of Ottawa, Kent, Ionia, Berrien, VanBuren, Kalamazoo, Calhoun, Eaton, and Livingston counties.

Buck hunters in the north country, who notched their highest kill in 12 years last season, are counted upon to do just as well this fall. Department game officials look for them to harvest 20,000 bucks in the Upper Peninsula and 50,000 in the northern Lower Peninsula.

MEANWHILE, special seasons are hoped to produce an antlerless take of 15,400 deer in the Upper Peninsula and more than 49,000 in the northern lower peninsula. Last season, permit-holding hunters took 12,700 of these animals above the Straits and another 36,570 in the other northern region.

Prospects for this November's bear season, which again dovetails with the deer hunt, shape up about the same as a year ago as far as the animals' populations are concerned. Here, too, much will depend on the whims of the weather.

'Wings win West Central title 1st time since '51

Bump Ionia 28-7; finale Saturday

For the first time since 1951 the West Central Conference football championship rests solely with St. Johns. The Redwings took the title free and clear Friday night with a 28-7 victory over Ionia.

Ironically, it was Ionia who has stood in the way of St. Johns' titles in past years. The win Friday was the first over Ionia since 1952 when St. Johns won 33-13. Last year the Wings lost to Ionia and had to share the title with Grand Ledge.

AS IT turned out, the Redwings could have lost the Ionia game and still backed into the championship. Grand Ledge, who had the only chance to tie St. Johns, lost that when they were tied 6-6 by Hastings.

The St. Johns victory over Ionia came as a result of an early spurge of scoring, after which the Redwings coasted over rough ground to their eighth victory of the season.

Gabriels game Saturday, 7:30

To get to the field stay on US-127 through Lansing and past Reo plant and Mt. Hope Highway. The old Everett High School is at the corner of Holmes and Cedar, and two blocks beyond, Mason Street turns to the right. Follow Mason Street to the Everett Field parking lot.

ST. JOHNS scored once in the first quarter and twice in the second. Ionia scored their only touchdown in the third period and threatened once early in the fourth, but St. Johns turned an intercepted pass into a touchdown drive that put the game on ice.

The victory, which pulled the Redwings within a game of undefeated season, was marked by one milestone, and practically by two.

FULLBACK John Vitek passed a mile in rushing yardage in his high school varsity career with 49 yards in 10 carries. Quarterback Gene Rademacher, a passing wizard all year, completed eight of 10 passes for 94 yards, putting him within four yards of 1,000 yards gained in passing this season.

Fullback John Sickles was the outstanding runner of the game again Friday, picking up 97 yards in seven carries, for an average of 13.85 yards per carry. Lee Hill carried five times for 31 yards—a 6.20 yards per carry average—and Rademacher ran eight times for 52 yards.

IT LOOKED early in the game like St. Johns might run away with it. After taking the opening kickoff, they marched 61 yards, mostly through the air, for a touchdown.

Rademacher hit Dave DeGeer, Hill and Bill Serrine with first-down passes that carried the drive to the Ionia 17, and then Sickles romped around right end for 17 yards and a touchdown. DeGeer's placement kick for the extra point was perfect.

AFTER STOPPING Ionia cold on three plays, the Wings started for the end zone again for their own 34. Sickles paved the way with a 19-yard jaunt to the Ionia 22. The drive moved to the three-yard line, and Hill burst through for a touchdown with less than a minute gone in the second quarter. DeGeer's kick split the uprights, and St. Johns led 14-0.

Ionia couldn't move again, and St. Johns resumed their scoring with a touchdown drive that started on their own 22. Rademacher picked up 32 of the 78 yards with a 32-yard quarterback sneak.

HILL THEN ran to the 19. After

A Mile Rushing for John Vitek

St. Johns fullback John Vitek last week achieved something few high school players get—a mile in rushing yardage. In his senior year so far he has carried 63 times and picked up 353 yards, even though hampered by injuries much of the season. In his junior year, he carried 97 times for 808 yards, and he picked up 620 yards in 72 carries in his sophomore year. That's a total of 1,781 yards in 232 carries—a 7.68 yards per carry average! Vitek has one game remaining in his high school career.

play moved down to the Ionia 8, Vitek cracked up the middle for a touchdown that made the score 20-0. DeGeer made it 21-0 with his kick, and that ended the scoring for the first half.

Ionia caught fire with the second half kickoff. Starting on their own 35, the Bulldogs scored their only touchdown. The big play was a run of 29 yards by Ty Conklin to the St. Johns 14. St. Johns stiffened, but on a fourth down, 19 to go play, Conklin flipped a pass by defender Lee Hill to Gil Moore in the end zone for a touchdown.

JOHN MOWATT passed to Jerry Newman for the extra point. Hill was the hero for St. Johns on Ionia's next series of plays. The Bulldogs were aimed for their second touchdown, using effective end and line plays, when Hill plucked an Ionia pass on the St. Johns 10 and returned it to the 19.

THAT BROKE the Bulldogs' back, so to speak. And it started St. Johns to their "icing" touchdown. Vitek, Rademacher and Sickles picked up good yardage on the ground, and Al Werblich caught a 15-yard pass en route.

A Rademacher to Bob Krumm pass put the final touchdown on the scoreboard. The play started at the 11, Krumm grabbed it on the four and battled and squirmed into the end zone. DeGeer's kicks made it 28-7.

IONIA DIDN'T have time to get started again before Hill made his second interception of the night, wrestling a pass away from an Ionia receiver. St. Johns then ran out the clock.

The Redwings played their usual stout defensive game. Werblich and Vitek led the tackling with seven each.

Maple Rapids fan wins $20

Maple Rapids football fans have dominated the Clinton County News football contest the past two weeks. The latest to get in on the $20 prize money is Les Dean of 232 E. Union Street, Maple Rapids.

Dean missed four choices in the contest last week, but his tie-breaker score of 19—which was just two points away from the correct score of 21—won him the money. Five other entries also had four choices wrong.

THE FOOTBALL contest continues this week, with another $20 waiting for the person who can pick the winners of the most games. This week's contest is on Page 5-B.

West Central fall meeting set Monday

The fall meeting of West Central athletic conference schools will be held Monday night at Lakewood High School at Lake Odessa. It will be a dinner meeting, and the football trophy will likely be presented to St. Johns representatives at that time.

P-W trounces DeWitt 27-7

PEWAMO - WESTPHALIA — Coach Howard Jensen's Pewamo-Westphalia football team chalked up their second victory in eight starts Friday night with a 27-7 decision over winless DeWitt.

The Pirates struck for touchdowns in the last three quarters after DeWitt had taken an early 7-0 lead. Bill Watson passed to Jim Dalman on a 45-yard play and Watson ran the extra point to account for DeWitt's scoring.

THE PIRATES bounced back quickly, taking a 14-7 halftime lead which they expanded on in the second half to win with ease.

Elsie rolls up 53-0 win

LAINGSBURG — The Elsie Big Reds, No. 1 C-D team in the state, sewed up their Central Michigan C Conference football title Friday night with a crushing 53-0 win over Laingsburg.

Elsie has had at least a share of the league championship in 12 of the last 14 years, but this is the first outright title they've had since 1959. Last year they tied with Portland for the championship.

THE BIG REDS are undefeated so far, with only one game, a home contest against Corunna, remaining.

Although beaten in the number of first downs gained, eight to nine, Elsie rolled up an awesome amount of yardage—490 yards on the ground and 52 through the air.

INSPIRED TO protect their No. 1 rating in state class C-D football, Elsie scored in every period, rolling to a 20-0 halftime lead and then improving on it as time went by.

Kerry Reed scored the first touchdown with a 32-yard romp in the first quarter to close out an 80-yard drive. A 55-yard drive in the second quarter gave Gary Basha the opportunity to score from the 2-yard line, and Jim Horak scored the extra point.

TOM EBERT hit Ross Carter on a 49-yard touchdown pass before the half was over, and Herman Kaufman ran the extra point.

Elsie warmed up again with a single touchdown in the third period and then exploded for four more in the last quarter. Reed scored his second TD on a 47-yard run around end in the third quarter, and then to open the fourth he broke away for 65 yards and another touchdown. Ebert passed to Reed for the extra point after the second score.

NOW THE BIG REDS were warmed up. Kaufman made a 25-yard jaunt around end for a touchdown, and Ebert passed to Reed for the extra point. Horak got loose around end for a 12-yard touchdown run to close out a 47-yard drive.

To top off the scoring, Terry Loznak turned the end for 23 yards and a touchdown, and Reed passed to Tom Micka for the extra point.

REED'S RUNNING game was the highlight of the night. He carried 10 times and picked up 186 yards. Joe Guysky picked up 90 yards rushing, much of it when yardage was badly needed. The defensive play of Tom Micka, Mike Cole and Guysky also was impressive.

Laingsburg, which finished the season with a 1-7 record, played an inspired ball game, but Elsie's good depth proved unbeatable. The Wolves ground out 128 yards rushing and 76 yards passing.

Ovid whips Perry 26-0, finishes 2nd

PERRY — The Ovid Romans closed out their Central Michigan C Conference play with a 26-0 whitewashing of Perry Friday night.

Ovid, which finished second in the league race behind Elsie, is now 7-1 for the season and will play its last game of the year this Friday at Fowler. Perry is now 4-4 for the year and wound up in fourth place with a 4-3 conference record. They have one game remaining against Swartz Creek Friday.

THE ROMANS dominated the first half of play, scoring once in the first quarter and twice in the second.

A fumble recovery by Frank Gazda on the Perry 20 set up the first touchdown, with Gazda scoring it from six yards away five plays later. In the second quarter Steve Leonard tallied with a 10-yard at the end of a 37-yard drive in nine plays. Frank Gazda scored the extra point.

GAZDA PICKED up his second touchdown late in the first half with a one-yard plunge.

A 47-yard run by Leonard in the third quarter set up Ovid's last score. Bob Gazda got it with a 27-yard run. Frank Gazda scored the point after touchdown.

Perry, which had been held to 37 yards rushing and one first down the first half, played inspired football the second half, winding up with 10 first downs, 118 yards rushing and 27 yards passing.

LEONARD AND Frank Gazda paced the Romans in the rushing department, as well as in scoring. Leonard carried 17 times and gained 113 yards for a 6.6 yards-per-carry average. Gazda gained 81 yards in 19 carries, a 4.2 yards average.

Ray Chamberlain's fine blocking and tackling contributed much to the victory, Coach Larry Essemacher commented.

3 attend basketball conference this week

Basketball coaches Bill Swears, Frank Rosengren and Doug Japinga of St. Johns High School will attend a basketball coaches conference Friday and Saturday at Michigan State University.

Workshop and other sessions on basketball rules, equipment, techniques and other topics will be held.

Swears is Redwings varsity coach. Japinga handles the reserve team and Rosengren coaches freshmen basketball.

Jr. Wings end year unbeaten

BY GARY BECKER

The Junior Redwings of St. Johns ended a perfect season by defeating the Ionia Bulldogs by a convincing 32-7 score last Thursday night at Ionia.

It was their second conference championship.

Randy Humphrey was the big gun for the Wings, scoring three of the five touchdowns. The first came on a 20-yard pass play from Norm Love. Gary Boyce converted.

HUMPHREY SCORED his second touchdown on a two-yard plunge to give the Wings a 13-0 lead. In the second half, Boyce broke away for 30 yards to give the Wings a 25-0 lead.

With about six minutes left in the game, Humphrey went for his third touchdown, outrunning everyone 30 yards to the goal. Boyce converted.

Ionia scored their lone touchdown late in the second third quarter.

THE WINGS defensive team turned in its usual fine performance, holding the previously unbeaten Bulldogs to the one touchdown. Terry Thurston played an outstanding game, intercepting a pass and recovering a fumble.

Tim Spitzley led the Wings with seven tackles, and Bob Showers was right behind with six.

AFTER THE game, Gary Boyce was named honorary captain for the year, and Bob Showers was given the award for outstanding defenseman. Gary Slim was given an award for most tackles in one game—15 against Lakewood.

Eagles get 3rd win in a row

FOWLER — The Fowler Eagles evened up their football season record Friday with their third victory in a row—a 25-13 win over Fulton in a non-conference game.

Fowler is now 4-4 for the year. Fulton wound up its year with a 1-6 record. Fowler has one game remaining, a home contest against Ovid.

A GOOD FIRST half allowed the Eagles to almost coast home with the victory. After a scoreless first quarter, quarterback Paul Hufnagel sneaked in for a touchdown on the one-yard line.

Then Jon Thelen ran 57 yards for another TD, and Gale Rowell added a third on a two-yard plunge after he had scampered 40 yards to set it up. Ron Brown's conversion was good.

IN THE FOURTH quarter, Hufnagel hit senior end Clair Armbrustmacher on a 55-yard touchdown pass for the final score.

Armbrustmacher, playing his first year of football, picked off several key passes and had three interceptions in his best game of the year.

meeting topic

Dr Francis Robertson from Central Michigan University spoke to the members of the St. Johns Woman's Club on Wednesday evening, Nov. 4. His subject was "Latin American Affairs."

He said the overall pattern of the Latin American countries shows their agrarian output to be too low and their birth rate too high. For each dollar that Alliance for Progress spent there, two dollars were taken from them, he said.

MRS JAMES Postlethwaite of the department of health and chairman for the club read a recommendation from the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness. Every person over forty should have an eye examination once in two years in order to preserve their sight, she said.

Mrs Clifford Lumbert presented Mrs Duane Davis who played two piano numbers, "Mexican Quarter" by Lily Strickland and "Jalousie" by Jacob Gade.

THE CLUB met at the home of Mrs Oliver Montague. The chairman for the evening was Mrs Louis Plunkett and co-chairmen were Mrs George Brooks and Mrs Marvin Barclay.

Post office girds for big Christmas "Avalanche"

The Post Office Dept.'s battle plan to handle the avalanche of Christmas mail is being issued this week.

The main plea for public cooperation appears on the first page: "Shop early, mail early, use ZIP codes."

THE 56-PAGE special Christmas bulletin covers all contingencies from ABCD mail to ZIP codes. The 1964 special edition is distributed to 100,000 persons, including postmasters and other key post office officials and is available on the bulletin boards of major postal installations for use of all postal employees.

Postal officials estimate a 3 per cent increase in volume over last year's "rush" of about 6.7 billion pieces of mail entering the postal system in the two weeks before Christmas. This year, over seven billion individual pieces are expected to be delivered in that amount of time. Each piece may be handled as many as 10 times.

THE BULLETIN notes that 145,000 Christmas assistants will be hired to help move the mails. In 1963 there were 143,000, and in 1962 approximately 300,000 persons were added to the rolls at Christmas time.

Extra services mentioned in the bulletin include:

—Six-day parcel post service between Dec. 7 and 31.

—Additional window service as local needs justify on the two Saturdays before Christmas.

—COMMAND posts in the 15 regional offices of the department to handle any emergencies or unusual situations.

Mailing deadlines to assure before-Christmas delivery include:

—Surface parcels for overseas members of the Armed Forces and civilians who receive mail through APO's: Nov. 10.

—ALL SURFACE mail to Hawaii and Alaska: Nov. 30.

—Gift parcels to distant US points: Dec. 5.

—Air parcels to APO's: Dec. 10.

—Greeting cards to distant US points: Dec. 10.

—Local gift parcels: Dec. 14.

—Local greeting cards: Dec. 15.

ALL POSTMASTERS are asked in the bulletin to encourage homeowners to avoid covering their home addresses with wreaths and other decorations so as not to hinder temporary mail carriers unfamiliar with the neighborhood.

Mail users are encouraged to use ZIP codes, and those of some of the surrounding communities are listed below.

2 new bridges grace Looking Glass River in DeWitt Township village

Traffic is now moving over the new Wood Road bridge over the Looking Glass River in northern DeWitt Township. The 121-foot span was built at a total cost of $65,331.85, with the federal government paying $30,250 and the county the remainder. The two-lane bridge has a pre-stressed concrete beam deck and replaces a one-lane high truss iron bridge that was over 60 years old. The channel of the Looking Glass was shifted somewhat in order to obtain better footings. Fry Construction Co. of Lansing built the bridge.

Construction of a new pre-stressed concrete bridge over the Looking Glass River in the village of DeWitt reached the point last week where traffic began using it. It is not yet complete, however. The bridge, which will cost a little over $72,000, is being paid for entirely by the Village of DeWitt, with financing being done through the sale of $64,000 in motor vehicle highway fund bonds. The bridge is 72 feet long, two lanes wide and will have sidewalks on both sides. Work is being done by Raff and Dexter Construction Co. of Lansing. Engineers were R. W. Petrie and Associates of Benton Harbor.

Basic freedoms topic of WSCS monthly meeting

ELSIE — The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church is following the lesson book "Summoned to a New Age" for the monthly meetings. The November meeting was held Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Philip West with 36 women in attendance. There has been a gradual increase in attendance, particularly among the younger members. Program leader Mrs. Everett Rule selected "Sharing Basic Freedoms" to emphasize the church's responsibility as Christian citizens in the community of new nations in keeping with the Michigan Outreach program.

SHE REMINDED her listeners of the many freedoms that we take for granted, such as, the freedom to attend the church of our choice, make our home where we please, attend school and choose friends. She said that in sharing our freedoms with others, new nations have developed with a search for freedom. We should praise and help them during this growing stage of development she said. Efforts are being made to raise living standards, improve health, housing and nutrition, to promote human rights, to provide better schools and improve working conditions, in Latin America, Asia, Africa, and the Middle East, she said. MRS. RALPH Stull led the devotional service pertaining to the program theme. This is the number to call today to save money on fuel oil all winter!

- Look at it this way. If you have not been using golden Superheat, you've probably been spending too much to heat your home. Superheat, alone among all the fuel oils you can buy, is "electrofined" to burn cleaner and hotter than any fuel oil ever has before. And that means you get more heat, better heat, with lower heating bills for the season. Switch to Superheat today...and you'll save money all winter!

Next best heat to sunshine!

Each November Catholic bishops sponsor a Thanksgiving Clothing Collection for this cause. Last year the diocese sent 165,700 pounds of clothing.

Chamber in new office

The St. Johns Chamber of Commerce is now in new quarters at Jim's Insurance office at 222 N. Clinton Avenue.

Bernard Feldpausch, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said the new location was decided on because it is more convenient to the public.

The move was made the first part of this week.

THE CHAMBER facilities will occupy about the same amount of space as they did in the Credit Bureau office on Walker Street. Besides being on the main street, the new quarters will be accessible from two entrances, with parking space at the rear.

Each entrance will be identified by a Chamber of Commerce sign. The office will be open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily.

FELDPAUSCH SAID the Chamber is still seeking a man for the post of secretary to replace Percy Abrams. Abrams' contract expired Nov. 1. He was presented with an engraved cigarette lighter from the Chamber as a token of his two years as secretary.

Sincere Thanks...

I wish to thank everyone in Clinton county for their confidence as shown by the fine vote on Tuesday, Nov. 3, and also all who assisted me in my campaign for State Senator.

Planets well placed for easy sighting

Naked-eye planets are well placed for observation during November nights, University of Michigan astronomer Hazel M. Losh points out.

"Rising almost directly in the east around sunset is Jupiter, very much the king of the night skies," Professor Losh points out. "On Nov. 13, Jupiter will be at opposition, or the earth and this planet will be in the same direction as seen from the sun.

"AT THAT time it will be about 373 million miles from the earth, and Jupiter will reach the south meridian point at midnight. On the evening of Nov. 18, the nearly full moon will provide a beautiful sight as it passes south of Jupiter," the U-M astronomer says.

"Saturn is still a fine evening object, observable among the stars of Aquarius. By the end of November it will be setting before midnight. The first quarter moon passes south of Saturn of the evening of Nov. 12.

"MARS, RED in appearance, is a first magnitude object in Leo, rising about midnight and becoming well placed for observation in the eastern sky during early morning hours.

"Venus remains 'Goddess of the Dawn,' rising about three hours before the sun. Through the telescope, it appears as a gibbous disk. As Venus rises in the east as a 'morning star,' Jupiter is setting in the west," Professor Losh says.

Steel Work Forms Variety of Patterns in the New Addition to Federal-Mogul Plant in St. Johns

Identical, and yet different, patterns are formed by this steelwork now in place on the $3 million expansion to Federal-Mogul's St. Johns factory. Plant Manager Kermit Hart said the construction is going along very satisfactorily, even though steel work was about a week behind schedule because of late delivery. The steel is now all in place, with some bolting down remaining to be done yet Tuesday. All footings have been poured and sewer lines and fire sprinkling systems were being put in. Excavating for the employee parking lot is also being done this week. Clark Construction Co. is general contractor for the building, which will add 120,000 square feet to the present 140,000-square-foot plant.

Lions' travelogue series to resume

"Hunza Land," an adventure travelogue, will be presented by Renee Taylor next Wednesday night, Nov. 18, at the Clinton Theater as the second in a travelogue series sponsored by the St. Johns Lions Club.

The program will start at 8 p.m.

RENEE TAYLOR, noted author and world traveler, will narrate her colorful film story of a little-known Shangri-La and its amazing people, the Hunzas. The film was made on a recent world trip to the postage-stamp kingdom within Pakistan, high in the Himalayan Mountains.

She is one of the very few women who have braved the perilous journey over narrow mountain paths, with breathtaking 16,000-foot chasms on either side.

SHE HAS PRODUCED an entrancing documentary film of a "Garden of Eden," and she was co-author of the best-seller book "Hunza Land." Art Linkletter wrote the introduction to it. She has recently appeared on many TV shows, including "To Tell The Truth."

Hunza, a tiny place, has been isolated from the civilized world for over 2,000 years, and few people of the outside world have ever viewed the beautiful valleys or their nearly 30,000 healthy, happy and friendly people.

Men and women in Hunza remain active well past the age of 100—in perfect mental and physical health—prompting outsiders to call Hunza the Valley of eternal youth.

"Ordinary diseases are unknown—no cancer, no heart attacks," Renee Taylor reports. "One finds no jails, no police, no army. Divorces are unknown. There is no juvenile delinquency. Fear, hatred, jealousy, crime and war do not exist. Here is a Shangri-La of love and peace."

TICKETS FOR "Hunza Land—A Shangri-La" are still on sale and may be purchased from any Lions Club member or at the Theatre Barber Shop or Woodbury Flower Shop.

'Education pays dividends,' NEA says in citing statistics

"Education Pays Dividends" is the theme for the 1964 observance (Nov. 8-14) of American Education Week, and officials who represent Michigan in the policy-making council of the National Education Assn. (NEA) can prove it.

Representing the 903,000 classroom teachers, principals, professors, superintendents and specialist teachers in their states, members of the NEA board of directors point out that besides the purely financial dividends education may bring to the student and his community, it can bring others, less tangible perhaps, but nonetheless real.

THE MICHIGAN members of the NEA board of directors are Robert E. Campbell, a teacher at Midland's Central Intermediate School, and Mrs Lucile MacArthur, a teacher at Cheboygan High School.

The NEA directors declare that the individual student may earn more money as his educational level increases, and the governments of which he is a citizen may thus be strengthened through his increased financial capacity to pay taxes.

BUT, THEY add, education can bring the individual a sense of self-fulfillment in realizing more fully his intellectual powers, in understanding the facts and philosophies of the world, in appreciating its culture. And through these changes, they point out, education can help turn the individual into a more active and effective citizen thereby benefitting the entire nation.

But the tangible dividends are indicated by these facts:

—THE better an individual's education, the more he produces, the more he buys and consumes, the more he reads, the more active he is in civic and national affairs, the higher his standards of living. (Source: US Chamber of Commerce.)

—On the average, in 1961, men with less than an eighth grade education earned $2,090; men who finished eighth grade $3,452; men who completed a high school $5,052; men who graduated from college, $7,691. (Source: US Census Bureau.)

—FOR EVERY $1,000 spent building new schools; 212 hours of work are created. The average school job takes 81 persons to complete. At least 38 of these come from the community where the school is built. (Source: Bureau of Labor Statistics.)

—For every $100,000 spent on a new school, $26,000 comes back directly to local merchants. The average school construction cost is $730,000, including $190,000 in wages to local workers—architects, engineers, truck drivers, carpenters, plumbers, and others. School construction provides jobs for 275,000 persons annually. (Source: Bureau of Labor Statistics.)

Road Commission Weekly Report

The Board of Clinton County Road Commissioners is still working on the purchase of a new loader. With so many bids and so many models involved, the board is trying to sort out the machine best suited to needs.

The commissioners rejected two new subdivisions last week, one in DeWitt Township and one in Watertown Township. The plat near Wacousta was subsequently accepted when the developer posted a cash bond for the completion of the roads.

THE COMMISSION voted to install a flasher signal at the corner of Clark Road and Chandler Road, to show red for stop on Chandler and amber for caution on Clark.

Gerald Shepard, supervisor of Bath Township and Fred Culy, supervisor of DeWitt Township met with the Road Commission to discuss this dangerous intersection.

THE WARNING light was decided on when it was pointed out that every major accident on that corner had been caused by someone running the stop signs.

The announcement was made at last week's meeting that Bernard Zeeb had been reappointed to the road commission for another six-year term. Bernard and the Board of Supervisors were congratulated by all present.

LES DRAGOO, county road engineer, is visiting his son in Washington, D.C., this week. Fred Crowell, construction foreman, is also on vacation this week. Many of our crew have requested vacation time for next week, from one or two days to a week for deer season.

DON EWING
Road Clerk

Robert Hammon of the Michigan Alcohol Education Foundation in Lansing presented a program Nov. 2 on the effects of alcohol.

THE OCT. 30 band performance at the halftime of the Pewamo - Westphalia - Bath football game was called by many the best in the history of the band. In keeping with their belief in continual improvement and the use of new ideas, the band used for the first time individual lights on hats and one foot.

The entire seven-minute performance was done without the field lights on. The program opened with Paul Yorder's Locomotive, with the band imitating the starting of a steam engine. After a number of precision drill movements to the tune of "The Navy Blue and Gold," the band executed a new dance routine to "The Twist."

THE CLIMAX of the show was the formation of the US mainland and the playing of Harold Walter's arrangement of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" with the majorettes twirling their lighted batons in the center.

The lights were specially built by James Spencer and Paul H. Miller, music directors. Beth Hogle is drum majorette.

Ovid seniors to present 'Shy Guy'

What happens when a high school boy poses for a cosmetic advertisement is the topic of the Ovid High School senior class play, "Shy Guy," set for presentation Friday and Saturday, Nov. 20 and 21.

The play revolves around Fred Hastings (played by Dennis Borton), who for a couple of hundred dollars holds a beautiful girl in his arms. But then his parents find out he's posed for a cosmetic advertisement for the Glamour Girl Cosmetic Co. And then his steady girl friend finds out.

FRED ASKS his pal Larry Madison (played by Don Fox) to help, and Larry, being a bright guy, comes up with the answer: Fred has been teaching a hard-bitten little old spinster of 80 to play football. The spinster, Miss Melinda Whipple, is portrayed by Suelen Weller.

"Shy Guy" will be presented by special arrangement with the Heuer Publishing Co. of Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Limited publicity for state's MAA program

Usually when nearly $31 million dollars is spent on a relatively new project through a Michigan agency it creates quite a little ripple of publicity. Normally when over 26,000 people receive an average of over $1,100 apiece in services from the new program there is a bit of fanfare.

The publicity and fanfare have been missing from the Michigan Medical Aid to the Aged Program (established under the Kerr-Mills law) now in its fourth year here, which is guaranteeing medical and hospital care to all those people over 65 years of age who are not on welfare but who need help to pay hospital and medical bills. (Those on welfare have their bills paid under other governmental programs).

RECENT FIGURES released by the Michigan Department of Social Welfare, which administers the program even though the recipients are not on relief, reveals that Michigan residents received $30.9 million in Medical Aid to the Aged—Kerr-Mills, during the 1963-64 fiscal year.

The state agency reports that 26,479 beneficiaries received more than $30 million—$28.4 million of which was paid to hospitals, $500,000 to nursing homes and $1.5 million to physicians.

WHY NO PUBLICITY on this obviously successful program? Try these three reasons on for size:

1. The US Department of Health, Education and Welfare is trying to sell Medicare. If people know the present program is meeting the need for hospital and medical care they won't favor a new Medicare program sponsored by an increased Social Security tax.

2. The Medicare program suffers by comparison with the Medical Aid to the Aged program. The latter offers complete coverage. The former offers only limited hospital care, no medical care. This knowledge won't create votes for Medicare supporters.

3. Medicare offers "something for nothing" to all the people under Social Security—whereas MAA discharges the responsibility of protecting everyone over 65 years of age who can't protect themselves. Thus Medicare is a bigger vote getter.

CONCLUSION: The government's propaganda machine turns out bushels of releases on Medicare, none on MAA.

MAA must rely on editorials like this to tell its story.

Taking a walk is best way to get privacy

Next to locking the doors and shutting off the telephone, the quickest way to privacy and solitude in this modern world is to take a walk.

An automobile offers a kind of privacy but the driver must be so alert to traffic hazards that a joyride is no longer relaxing.

IN WALKING, particularly on a Sunday or holiday, you are usually completely alone. Few walk. The autos pile up at crossings, headed one knows not where, but presumably as far away from home as their drivers can get.

The walker enjoys an exclusiveness equal to that conferred on royalty in ancient days, a privilege valued by few in a democracy, alas.

"I just wanted to know how it feels to see one while I was wearing hunting clothes!"

RAMBLIN' with Rink

BY LOWELL G. RINKER

Election Day 1964 was quite an experience—an experience in pride, if you stop and think.

It was quite a thing to watch Americans turn out to vote in such numbers that the line waiting to get into the polls in St. Johns was 2 1/2 hours long. And it was quite a thing that Americans would stand there that long.

THERE ARE many countries, of course, where people couldn't do what we had the privilege of doing last Tuesday. And there are countries where an election means violence and danger to those who do vote.

There weren't many voters in St. Johns last week who cast their ballot much sooner than an hour after they got in line. The line was always long, and at the end of the day it stretched down Spring Street to the Clinton National Bank's drive-in facility.

THOSE WHO got in line at 8 p.m.—the deadline—didn't get to vote until 10:30 p.m., because the line was so long. But they voted, because they're good Americans.

A friend and a reader who loves the great outdoors put the following item on my desk, and it carries a message everyone should read.

"There is an urgent need to educate modern Americans in the art of using and enjoying the outdoors without destroying the very qualities that make it attractive.

"UNDOUBTEDLY, the peculiar appeal of outdoor recreation is largely in escaping from the pressures of crowded city life and enjoying the quiet freshness of open space. Most people today grow up in cities and towns with little understanding of plants, animals, soils, and water. Too often, when they get out in the country, they thoughtlessly deface the scenery with discarded cans and bottles, papers, and other refuse, shatter the quiet with the noises of motors, radios, and other modern gadgetry, and chop down trees and even burn picnic tables for firewood.

"These abuses are generally the mark of persons inexperienced in the outdoors. By and large, they are thoughtless, rather than malicious, acts. But they are a very real and increasing hazard to the outdoor recreation resources of the future.

"YOU AS parents can do a real service by helping your children to learn the right attitude toward the outdoors. Thoughtful conduct, on the part of everyone, will help make people welcome in rural areas and to promote cooperation between landowners and users in the development of recreation facilities."

A mandate for moderation

OF ALL THE comments I've read about last week's election results, I like those best expressed editorially by the Christian Science Monitor. Here's what The Monitor had to say:

The American people, unlike the people in the other great nations in recent days, have given their President a clear and majestic mandate. Lyndon Baines Johnson has achieved a historic electoral triumph. The American Republic is not uncertain about its leadership. This is a great and stabilizing fact in the world.

THE MANDATE is that the American people wish to continue in the path of moderation in their domestic and foreign policies. They reaffirm with impressive majorities the national consensus which both parties for a quarter of a century have normally supported.

Undoubtedly there will be efforts to make the President's victory appear as a mandate for all-out extension of the welfare state.

We do not think this is the case. A very considerable part of President Johnson's support came from those of the center or right of center, who do not support socialistic trends. Much of it was a protest against extremism. We believe the nation is calling for moderation.

THE 1964 CAMPAIGN, with all its disappointments and its intemperance, has served the nation and the world well. For it proclaims what people in self-governing democracies usually proclaim; they know policies and problems are not all black and white; they wish to protect the national interest with vigor but with responsible restraint in the threat or use of the awesome weapons now possessed; they wish to progress prudently in the solution of national problems.

And, perhaps above all, they have said that moral judgments in political matters must be weighed with care and compassion.

THE EMPHASIS which Senator Goldwater laid in the campaign on vigorous resistance to communism, on restraint in the growth of big centralized government, on the importance of moral standards, is far from negated by the outcome.

The American people listened to what he said, and if for many not always relevant reasons they could not adopt him and his program, they gave intense, earnest minority support.

President Johnson, with his desire to represent all the people, should give weight to their views. In one form or another they are also majority views.

THE ELECTION is far more than a personal victory. President Johnson's general approach and broad policies have been approved. He has indicated that he is sobered and challenged by the terms of victory. This should indeed be his conviction.

His appeal to middle-ground support, both Republican and Democratic, should be a commitment to stay on the high ground. If the extreme right has been rejected, so has the extreme left.

The world should be reassured. The search for peace will go on, patiently and responsibly. Communism will be resisted, the free world supported, but in terms which manifest an international as well as a national consensus. It is the conscience of a civilization in elemental danger.

It remains a primary concern that no form of tyranny shall be allowed to scourge the world of today unresisted, but also that the resistance to tyranny must not go over the brink where the fate of hundreds of millions of men, women, and children is directly jeopardized.

THE AMERICAN Republic has shown itself capable of going through a campaign in which the assumptions and practices of decades were severely challenged and reexamined. It has been a rigorous test. It was not an ideal test.

Conservatives should not feel they have been defeated nor liberals that they triumphed. It is alone the middle ground of moderation that has been endorsed.

The defeated in this election should not torment themselves with recrimination. The victors should not intoxicate themselves with delusions.

The opposition party must regain its morale and its unity. The poles of American politics are useful. But there is a point where they are off the map. Common sense and national unity have prevailed.

THE AMERICAN nation can look with healthy and responsible zeal to its tasks at home and in the world. The problems are very great.

A steady people has conducted a national test. It will go forward, learning from the past, building for the future. Its President is responsible to the people and he is responsible to God.

A Matter of Definition

BY W. E. DOBSON

There's quite a tendency, I find, in political give and take, To brand a man with labels
Like there could be no mistake; Yet given representatives
Just as opposite as can be, Surprisingly enough we find,
On most things they agree.

If spending makes a liberal, And conservatives refrain,
Attaching labels should denote, A widely different strain;
Disagreement with a chosen view, Should not be grounds to call,
Someone a term unpopular— To so do involves us all!

Of liberal and conservative I've heard both bad and good,
And which is which so oft depends
On grounds on which I've stood;
Could either one be quite all black,
Or either quite all white?
Since each has power to discern
At times the wrong from right?

Whatever labels we may use, It seems that mortals lean,
From this or that position,
To somewhere in between;
Could one more liberal than I,
Conservative than you,—
Be rated a liberal conservative
And a Conservative liberal too?

Letters to the Editor

'How about some flag etiquette?'

ON OCT. 27, 1964, flags were flown in honor of President Theodore Roosevelt but in dishonor for President Herbert Hoover. Why dishonor, you ask? Because President Johnson proclaimed a 30-day memorial for President Hoover's death. This means the flags are to be flown at half mast.

I accuse the city officials of dishonoring the flag by not having it fly at half mast. On the other hand, they at least put the flag out for President Roosevelt. Did you?

ON THIS SAME day, while walking to school in front of the Clinton County Courthouse, the flag at 8:20 a.m. wasn't even flying. Who's right and what's right when a death and celebration occurs at the same time? Why don't you look up the answer, and then you will be more educated in flag etiquette.

A couple of weeks ago the Michigan Historymobile was parked in front of the Clinton County Courthouse. All the time it was there the school, city and county officials did not have the Michigan flag flying in front of their respective buildings.

DON'T GIVE ME the excuse that you don't have a Michigan flag! Last Spring I witnessed a ceremony of giving Michigan flags to the county, city and school officials, and during that ceremony, I thought I heard promises of flying the Michigan flag every day.

Why aren't you showing the beautiful flag of Michigan along with the grand flag of the United States of America? I bet more than half of you who are reading this can't even describe what the Michigan flag looks like.

WHAT KIND of leaders do we have that break promises? You're making George Orwell's "Nineteen Eighty-Four" come 20 years too soon. You grownups expect us teenagers to be respectful and to be decent citizens. How can we when you lead us like this? Why don't you set a more patriotic example?

New Appeals Court has work stacked up already

Nine men elected to newly-created posts in the Nov. 3 election will have their work stacked up when they take office formally at the first of the year.

Even before the election it was estimated there would be 200 cases filed for consideration by the new state Court of Appeals as a matter of right, a new appellate procedure under the 1963 Constitution.

IN ADDITION to these criminal cases granted automatic right to appeal, many more cases will come before the new court as it attempts to handle some of the heavy load now burdening and slowing the judicial process in the Supreme Court.

Each voter helped select three judges from three state districts, but the bench members will serve the state as a single unit under court rules set down by the Legislature and Supreme Court this year.

COURT sessions will be held in Lansing, Grand Rapids, Marquette and Detroit with three-member panels. The central office will be in Lansing.

Holding monthly sessions nine months of the year, the new Court will handle most appeals except those dealing with the validity of legislative acts, constitutional questions or major legal principles of statewide concern, and "significant public interest" problems involving governmental units.

The Supreme Court reserved for its own deliberation those special categories as well as any appeal sought from decisions of the intermediate court.

WITH THREE separate court sessions each month, in effect, it is anticipated appeals can be handled much more rapidly than at present.

The four locations for hearings also were viewed by the Supreme Court as a means of lessening costs of court procedures to litigants.

Internal organization of the Appeals Court has been left largely to the nine judges sitting on it, but the Supreme Court retained for itself final determination in the event the case load gets too heavy for even this new unit to handle.

MICHIGAN motorists would be more uniformly good drivers if each met the same qualifications for licensing, according to Secretary of State James M. Hare.

This may sound like a contradiction of present law which sets standards for motorists, but Hare says other factors currently influence driver licensing.

He proposed answer to the problem of licensing is to put this responsibility into the hands of a state agency.

"A SUBSTANTIAL weakness in the system is the political involvement in driver licensing," said Hare. "We unfortunately operate on a fee system and the only way that fees are paid to local law enforcement agencies is if the applicant passes his driver test."

Hare said it appears unwise to continue a system in which the persons examining potential motorists are, in many cases, candidates for political office.

AN EXAMPLE of central, uniform licensing procedure is seen in New York state where, Hare said, up to 40 per cent fall on their first try to a license. "Here in Michigan failures are infinitesimal," he said.

Central control over licensing was one of several recommendations made by the governor's special traffic safety commission two months ago.

BY ELMER E. WHITE
Michigan Press Ass'n.

HARE'S OFFICE currently administers the production and distribution of driver licenses, but examinations are given and fees collected locally, frequently by politically elected officials.

"Certainly a staff of civil servants performing the same chores would be under less pressures to favor the applicant," said Hare. "In short, under our present system it is almost impossible to keep the driver licensing examinations out of the sphere of political influence."

IF YOU think hospital costs have risen in the past two years in Michigan, your observation is correct.

A survey by the Michigan Hospital Assn. showed 1963 patient care costs in state short-term community hospitals averaged $42.66 per day. This was over $3 above the national average and $2.33 more than the average daily cost in Michigan the previous year.

Rising costs were noted during 1963 in all types of Michigan hospitals, including federal, state and county institutions, the survey showed.

TOTAL patient care expenses last year in the state were $538.2 million, a hike of $28 million over 1962.

The rising costs in the past two years were attributed largely to increased salaries, medical specialization and advanced technology. This evaluation was made by Association Executive Director Allan Barth.

"Many hospital specialists and technicians today are performing jobs that were unknown 10 years ago but are commonplace today," he said. "At the same time, the public has increasingly turned to hospitals for more health care, adding to the demand for larger staffs."

One of the greatest mysteries in the history of America was the vanishing of the English colony founded by Sir Walter Raleigh at Roanoke Island off the coast of what is now North Carolina in 1587. One hundred ten colonists men, women and children—came to this island and then disappeared, leaving no trace.

The author, Edison Marshall, who has written many historical novels of early America, has come up with an exciting and plausible solution in his latest book, "The Lost Colony." His characters are real and well drawn and the story moves across oceans and continents. The book is full of excitement and drama.

IF YOU READ Jane Barry's "A Time in the Sun," you will know she is a writer of fine historical western novels. They show a great deal of research and great ability as a story teller. "A Shadow of Eagles," her latest, takes the reader to a ranch in Texas where the action takes place 90 years ago. It is the story of a Spanish rancher and his beautiful daughter who falls in love with a Texan. It has romance, intrigue and violence and it holds the reader's attention from cover to cover.

In contrast to the first two novels described, we have "An Honorable Estate" by Lane Kaufman. This is the story of a fashionable wedding in New York and it is full of sophisticated people living modern lives. In this book we have New York as only New Yorkers know it—its streets, its homes, its traffic, and its atmosphere of excitement.

IN NON-FICTION we have "Rehearsal For Reconstruction" which is a description of The Port Royal Experiment. This experiment took place in Beaufort, S.C. This was shortly after the start of the Civil War. The first attempt of Northerners to help the Negro freed men was made by well-meaning white men and women. These Negroes had fled to the rich Sea Island estates, where they first won, then lost, the rich cotton lands. This experiment is an interesting picture of a changing society. It is a fascinating study of the institution of slavery and the conduct of its masters.

Although a century has passed since this took place, the role of the Negro as a free man is still not clear.

These interesting books have been purchased by the Bement Library and are waiting to be read.

Election workers get extra pay

Because of the extra hours and the heavy pace of voters in last week's election in the city, the St. Johns City Commission decided to pay election workers in the two city precincts $2 an hour instead of the usual $1.50.

The pay rate applied only to last week's election. Election workers were on hand at 6:30 a.m. Tuesday and worked until 6:30 a.m. Wednesday before completing the count of ballots.

The last voter in a long line did not cast his ballot until about 10:30 p.m. The line of voters at times extended to the Clinton National Bank's drive-in facility at the corner of Spring and Higham streets.

City Commission Proceedings

The regular meeting of the City Commission was held on Tuesday, Nov. 3, 1964, at 7:30 p.m. with vice-mayor, Sirrine presiding.

Invocation was by the Rev. Brewbaker of the Church of God. Commissioners present were Sirrine, Coletta, Kentfield, Manager Greer, Attorney Reed and clerk.

Minutes of the Oct. 20, 1964, meeting were read and approved.

Communications included a letter from Michigan Municipal League regarding hearing on tax reform and excise tax for municipalities.

BIDS ON equipment for purification plant were reviewed as advertised by engineers. Manager Greer reviewed the August budget report.

A proclamation for Veterans Day, Nov. 11, 1964, was made. Formal retreat by the honor guard will be held on the courthouse lawn Nov. 11, 1964.

The engineering firm of Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May will meet with the City Commission Nov. 12, 1964, for a formal dedication of the new water storage tower. The city volunteer firemen are holding an alert meeting on Nov. 4, 1964, in the Municipal Building, and the commission was invited to attend.

MOTION WAS made and supported that claims be allowed as audited in the amount of $62,201.73. Clerk was authorized to draw warrants for same from available funds. Motion carried.

Motion was made and supported that a raise for election inspectors in the Nov. 3, 1964, election be approved, but for the election of Nov. 3, 1964, only. Motion carried.

There being no further business, motion was duly made to adjourn.

Low-income taxpayers benefit by new provision

About 1.5 million low-income taxpayers will have no tax to pay next year because of the new minimum standard deduction provision enacted this year.

R. I. Nixon, Detroit district director of Internal Revenue, said this provision will free single individuals of any tax liability until their income reaches $900. Under the old law, tax was due when income was $675.

NIXON SAID that for a married couple with no additional exemptions filing a joint return there will be no tax to pay until their income reaches $1800. Previously these couples had to pay tax on income $1325.

The new minimum standard deduction amounts to $200 for a single person and for a married couple filing jointly plus $100 for each allowable exemption up to a ceiling of $1,000. For a married person filing a separate return, the deduction amounts to $100 for each allowable exemption up to a ceiling of $500.

TAXPAYERS WHO do not itemize deductions must use this minimum deduction if it exceeds the 10 per cent standard deduction.

Tax savings of this new provision are expected to amount to about $320 million. Approximately 13 million taxpayers who earn less than $10,000 a year will benefit.

Distribute motor vehicle funds to county, towns

The State Highway Department has started distributing third quarter motor vehicle highway fund collections to Michigan counties and incorporated cities and villages.

Clinton County's share totaled $133,807. The following amounts were distributed to county towns:

- DeWITT $2,886, Eagle $419, Elsie $2,186, Fowler, $1,998, Hubbardston $1,772, Laingsburg $2,894, Maple Rapids, $1,525, Ovid $3,170, Pewamo $1,520, St. Johns $11,137, Westphalia $1,504.

All state gasoline and diesel fuel taxes and license plate fees go to the motor vehicle highway fund. After collection expenses are taken out and the Waterways Commissions' share is given, 47 per cent of the remainder goes to the State Highway Department for use on state highways.

COUNTRY FLAVOR

November is brown month as year slides to winter

Time is sliding down to Year's ebb tide and the browns take over until snow comes to cover the land. The sun rises reluctantly in the southeast and moves across a low arc to the southwest. Even at high noon shadows run long from silos and corncribs, barns and bar posts.

There are many shades of brown and all are reminders of a season's end. All are part of the last chapter in Year's Book. Along country roadsides the dark blotches of frost-killed ferns are mingled with bent grasses; in field corners the bleached, broken heads of goldenrod and mullein are monotonous points below the candied sumacs. Hill-sides and granite ridges are brown quilts with decorations of gray birches and juniper clumps.

THE BROWNESS of November blends with the weather. Squaw winter usually takes over for a few days and snow and rain squalls pelt the land. An eleventh month wind on a cloudy, raw day lifts leaves into dancing dervishes and whirls them over the fields.

There are days of brilliant sunshine when the sun sends its rays far into the woodlands—days when the Weather Man relents and gives the countryman an opportunity to catch up on his chores.

THERE ARE those who dislike the brown hues, those to whom the end of year is a period of depressed waiting. But November brown is part of the canvas of time. We know that after the times of planting, growth and harvest, the Master Plan calls for a period of rest. And to him who is in tune with life, November brown has a richness of hue that blends with life's basic meaning.

REPETITION Many a man seems to think he can make a long story short by telling it over again.

RUN-AROUND

A good diplomat can successfully substitute a lot of small talk for the real facts.

"Our Wants"

Jesus said, "Beware of covetousness." (Luke 12:15) Do you know what the word means? Simply, the inordinate desire to have things and being discontent with what we already have. Our modern advertising is geared to make people covetous. It is little wonder that the charge of "materialism" is being laid against this present generation. We want everything we see and are little content with what we have. Covetousness is idolatry (Col. 3:5). Thus the desire to acquire things has become a religion to many. How long will it take us to learn that "A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of things which he possesses" (Jesus said this). A life of real joy will not be found in "things". The uselessness of pursuing them is recorded for us in Ecclesiastes the second chapter. Stop and consider—what are you living for? To drive a new model car? (Notice how much of your pay check goes to keep the model current). Translate this into energy, hours of your life, and you will see how this one item drains away our earthly life. To please and serve God through Jesus Christ is the only goal that will bring you the kind of life you really want and a great welcome into eternity when you leave this life.

FREEDOM'S DISCOVERY

There is joy in giving to God. That is freedom's ultimate discovery. And the hundreds of thousands of churches which we have built and supported bear testimony to the fact.

But when there are nations who despise God . . . who tear down churches . . . or forbid their support, how shall we teach this Christian joy to the boys and girls who will be our nation—tomorrow?

Karen and Paul are placing Sunday School "envelopes" at the foot of the children's altar.

Of course, what Karen and Paul and their classmates can give will hardly pay for an altar. But our world of tomorrow cannot be built on Kremlin economics.

A mighty generation must learn to worship in prayer and faith and sacrifice. There is joy in giving to God!

Our children learn this chiefly from our example and encouragement.

"Do I hear a second to Mrs. Dexter's motion that we furnish our new sanctuary by pooling all our books of trading stamps?"

Mrs Roman P. Thelen adds finishing touches to a china cake plate which she is painting. On the table are a candy dish and other objects which she has already completed.

China painting is hobby of Clinton area resident

BY PATRICIA HOLMES

FWLER— A childhood interest in pretty things has held a Clinton County woman to a profitable hobby in china painting.

Mrs Roman P. Thelen has converted a spare room in her Fowler ranch-type home to workshop and showroom for the china on which she paints delicate flowers, greenery and acorns.

Mrs Thelen was lured by a friend to take china painting lessons in Detroit over 40 years ago while she was working there in a dress shop. Although she didn't know it at the time the painting was to become a fulltime hobby.

ONCE SHE started, Mrs Thelen continued painting until World War II when she was unable to obtain the white china which is so necessary for her work.

About 12 years ago her youngest daughter, now, Mrs James Gagnon of Alpena, said to her, "Mother, for my wedding I would like a set of hand painted china."

Mrs Thelen said that she was apprehensive but took on the task. She hasn't stopped since.

SHE HAS painted 10 sets, most of which were settings for 12. Two of the sets were for her other two daughters, Mrs John Parteneo of Muskegon and Mrs Lawrence Botti of Flint.

Mrs Botti also became interested in china painting and took lessons so that she could help her mother out should the need arise.

Mrs Thelen does not limit herself to sets of china. In her improvised showroom she exhibits ash trays, candy dishes, vases, egg cups, toothpick holders, tea tiles and china wall ornaments.

EXCEPT FOR the three years she spent in Detroit, Mrs Thelen is a lifelong resident of the Clinton area and keeps busy with community affairs.

She belongs to the Daughters of Isabella and the Christian Mother's Society, and attends Holy Trinity Catholic Church in Fowler.

Her interest in flowers carries her outside to her gardens during the summer months. But now that the garden days are gone she returns to creating the garden scenes inside on china.

Good eating habits improve appearance and protect health

It is said that food is two minutes in the mouth, two hours in the stomach and the rest of your life on the hips.

But Mary Coleman, food instructor at Michigan State University, does not agree. By acquiring better eating habits one can improve his appearance and protect his health against diseases caused by overweight, she said.

Miss Coleman stresses that you can lose weight safely and comfortably without starvation methods or drugs.

IT'S THE extra—what you eat, but don't need—that cause the extra pounds, she says. Calories must be reduced, but essential nutrients, such as proteins, minerals, and vitamins, should not be sacrificed.

It is important to start the day with a well-balanced and adequate breakfast, she continues. This will help you to resist that mid-morning snack.

She notes that the American Dietetic Association lists several proposals for better menu planning.

—A pint of whole milk is acceptable for adults. A pint of skim or non-fat dry milk, however, may be substituted since it contains only half as many calories as whole milk.

—Vegetables selected from the following group are especially low in caloric value: Asparagus, broccoli, carrots, green beans, kale, squash, spinach, turnip greens, lettuce, and other greens, tomatoes, celery, cucumbers, beets, cabbage, eggplant, onions, rutabagas, cauliflower and turnips.

Predicts closer federal scrutiny of more foods

More foods than ever before will come under scrutiny of public health officials in the future, a University of Wisconsin bacteriologist predicted recently in an address before a meeting of the Dairy and Food Industry Supply Assn. in Chicago.

E. M. Foster told the gathering of food technologists that new methods of processing and preserving foods have gone way ahead of disease control methods for many foods. Frozen foods, precooked foods, and food vending machines are just a few of the new retailing methods that can bring new problems of food-borne disease.

"FOOD-BORNE illnesses are much like an iceberg which only shows a fraction of itself above the surface," Foster said. "Since it is not a requirement to report food-borne disease in this country, we do not have reliable statistics of the incidence of the disease. We simply do not know what may happen to food when it is produced and distributed in new and untried ways," Foster said.

He listed the foods which are processed and marketed in new ways and some of the hazards they may bring. He pointed out that the new processes are what the consumer has asked for, but along with them have come new food disease hazards.

FROZEN FOODS, frozen precooked foods, and catered foods have the hazard of contamination or bacterial growth during preparation and processing. Improper temperature control during storage, distribution and selling is another hazard. Microbial growth can occur between the temperatures of 50 to 140 degrees. Catered foods are especially likely to be held for a long time at this range and become dangerous.

Some new meat and poultry products, crabmeat, smoked fish and other foods are given mild processing and then stored under refrigeration. The mild treatment destroys most of the natural contaminants that might cause spoilage, but ineffective packaging and storage may lead to further trouble, Foster said. Smoke gives foods flavor but has little preservative effect.

VACUUM packaging is a new process that has been criticized by some food technologists. They say that in the absence of air, the familiar molds cannot grow which are normally warning signs that spoilage has taken place. Botulism organisms, however, can grow and lead to possible contamination in the vacuum packages.

Foster pointed out that the criticism of vacuum packaging is probably unfounded on this basis. Air is absent in the interior of most foods that are packaged by other methods.

LARGE GROWTH of the Federal Food and Drug Administration in the last seven years is another reason for predicting increasing regulatory actions, Foster said. The Food and Drug Administration has increased the size of its staff five times and the size of its budget seven times in seven years.

The Food and Drug Administration can also be expected to shift its emphasis, Foster said. In the past, regulation of food contamination has been largely in the fields of water and fluid milk. These two are now pretty well under control, so regulatory agents will concentrate their efforts in other areas.

FOOD TYPES which can expect increased attention are frozen or dried products where a hazard has already been shown. Foods in this classification are eggs, dried yeast and coconut. Precooked frozen foods of a PRICELESS examples include ceramics, coverlets, furniture, glassware, paintings, quilts, tapestries and wrought iron, dating from the late 18th century through 1900.

Eight furniture alcoves illustrate the transition of Northwest Territory furniture styles from the country craftsmen through the finely manufactured pieces of the Hepplewhite, Sheraton, Empire and Victorian Revival periods.

FIRST opened to the public during the recent Fifth Annual Midwest Antiques Forum, the special exhibit is seen by hundreds of visitors at the Henry Ford Museum every day.

Buying holiday ham? Know cuts, varieties

BY BETTY KETCHAM
County Extension Agent
Home Economics

When is a half not a half? The answer might be when it's a portion. Or at least it could be if you were talking about hams.

As you compare prices for hams, be sure you are comparing the same cut or type of ham.

If you're comparing whole hams, are they regular or skinless? Are they semi-boneless? Or, are they shankless?

When you buy a regular ham the skin is still on. The skin is heavy, wasteful and inedible. You will receive less servings per pound from a regular ham than from a skinless ham.

When you buy a regular ham the skin is still on. The skin is heavy, wasteful and inedible. You will receive less servings per pound from a regular ham than from a skinless ham.

SERVINGS per pound vary according to the type of ham, so does the cost per pound. The more hams are handled before they reach the market the more they cost. But, you also receive more savings per pound in the more processed form.

For example, a bone-in ham, the cook before eating variety, gives you about two servings per pound. The fully cooked, boneless hams will serve four and one-half people per pound.

DeWitt girl doing practice teaching

Marsha Schavey, daughter of Mr and Mrs Ford Schavey of 207 Wilson Street, DeWitt, is one of more than 500 Western Michigan University seniors doing student teaching in classrooms throughout southwestern Michigan this fall.

She is teaching shorthand, typing and office practice at Allegan High School. A 1961 graduate of DeWitt High School, she received the associate in arts degree from Lansing Community College before going on to Western.

THE STUDENT teaching program marks one of the final steps in pre-teaching training. Students spend one semester of their senior year in their subject fields working with experienced teachers.

The on-the-job training helps seniors decide what phase of teaching they're most interested in before they actually sign a contract. It also lets them apply educational theories to practical classroom situations.

Couple celebrate silver anniversary

Mr and Mrs Clarence H. Cook of Bannister, who were married at Ithaca 25 years ago, were honored at an anniversary party on Thursday evening, Oct. 8.

The surprise affair was arranged by their daughters, Miss Carol Cook, and Mrs Janet Krull of Brant. The girls served supper to eighteen guests.

MORE guests arrived later and Mr and Mrs Cook opened gifts of silver for all to see. Several tables of cards were in play that night.

Refreshments were served to guests from Ithaca, Bannister, Brant, Elsie and Ovid.

Film strips shown on bomb shelters

The October meeting of the Town and Country Extension Group was held at the home of Mrs Phillip DeMarais. Eleven members were present and two visitors.

After a short business meeting, the remainder of time was turned over to Mr Charles Frost, civil defense worker, who gave a talk on radio-active fallout, and how to protect ourselves and families from radio-active rays. He then showed a film on fallout shelters and said that every family should have a two week supply of food on hand at all times in case of such an emergency.

Health leader, Mrs Lyle Greenwood, is now showing filmstrips every week for a period of five weeks on this subject. Every member should be well trained as to where to go, what to do, and be prepared for any emergency that should arise, should a bomb fall near us. The meeting was then adjourned.

He is happy whose circumstances suit his temper; but he is more excellent who can suit his temper to any circumstances. —David Hume

Residential standards booklet ready

The third handbook in the series on "Guiding Land Subdividing," titled "Residential Standards," is nearly completed and should be ready for distribution in November or December, the Tri-County Planning Commission reports.

In conjunction with the handbook, the commission staff has prepared a subdivision checklist based on requirements of the Plat Act. The checklist will serve as an aid to local officials by outlining the legal steps which must be taken in approving plats.

THIS TOPIC is one which Clinton County supervisors discussed at length last week. The commission checklist is now being reviewed by the Subdivision Advisory Committee prior to distribution to local officials.

One of the criticisms received to date is that the checklist appears to be too long, even though it has been "refined" to 80 items.

MYLES G. BOYLAN of Ingham County commented that the Plat Act is a complex law and can be simplified only to a point before such a checklist would become meaningless and possible misleading to the official using it.

Facts—not "chin music"...

2,193 cattle furnish
"Built-in Roughage" facts!

An average of 47 actual field demonstrations show the kind of results the average feeder should expect on Purina's revolutionary "Built-in Roughage" Program with milo and cottonseed hulls, barley or ground ear corn.

Cattle (both heifers and steers) in these demonstrations were fed an average of 123 days. They went into the feedlot at an average weight of 593.3 lbs. and finished at an average of 935 lbs.

Their average daily gain for the period was 2.70 lbs. A pound of beef was produced on only 7.99 lbs. of total feed. These are facts—not "chin music."

Regardless of your feeding program—remember the supplement holds the key! Others have tried to duplicate our results—but only Purina Dealers have Special Steer Fatena, designed especially for "Built-in Roughage" feeding.

Purina Special Steer Fatena is the original "Built-in Roughage" supplement. Ask for it at our store with the Checkerboard sign.

Apportionment No. 1 topic for state Farm Bureau

There is plentiful evidence that apportionment and what it means to rural areas is foremost in farmers' minds.

It is the number-one topic at farm policy meetings in all parts of the state as revealed by stacks of apportionment resolutions tallied among all issues discussed at County Farm Bureau annual meetings. This time of year these proposed policies are forwarded to Michigan Farm Bureau headquarters at Lansing for further action by the statewide delegate body Nov. 10, 11 and 12.

ON THESE dates upward of 2,000 farmers, among them nearly 700 official voting delegates, will add to the already crowded campus scene at Michigan State University for the 45th annual meeting of the Michigan Farm Bureau.

Governor Romney has confirmed his attendance to give the traditional chief executive's report on the state-of-the-state.

Other reports will be made by farmer-officers who have been elected to oversee the work of the big farm organization. There will be special-interest conferences and nearly two days of work on a long slate of policy resolutions.

THOSE WHO think of farmers as taciturn—halting of speech and incapable of self-expression, might be surprised by the eloquent wording and smooth phrasing of proposed policy statements.

On the apportionment issue, Ingham County farmers produced this example: "Gone is the 'equal protection' of thinly populated rural areas... the citizens of these areas will be denied effective representation by the factor of distance alone.

"Stuffed is the local initiative and individuality which has so enriched the political thought and ideals of our nation. Forgotten are the lessons of history which have repeatedly shown that majorities can be, and often are, disastrously wrong..."

NEXT to apportionment, property tax relief is the most frequently mentioned policy matter. A state income tax is often suggested as replacement.

Farmers exhibit growing concern about the mushrooming hodge-podge of city income taxes, which they contend add to the burden without giving relief to property owners.

Science finds seeds
'taking a beating'

Processing equipment can give sugar beet seeds—and farmers' pocketbooks—quite a beating.

Recent experiments conducted by Michigan State University scientists show that impacts received by sugar beet seeds during processing can greatly decrease germination and seedling vigor.

IN MAKING their findings, the researchers duplicated the two most common types of impact which occur in commercial processing: 1) when a stationary seed is hit by processing equipment and 2) when a moving seed strikes another object.

To simulate these situations, MSU agricultural engineers O. R. Kunze and Carl W. Hall and USDA plant physiologist F. W. Snyder dropped steel ball bearings through glass tubes onto seeds held rigidly in place. Various steel ball weights plus tubes of different lengths were used to produce impacts like those received by seeds in processing.

THE SECOND condition was duplicated by propelling seeds on a jet of air against a steel plate.

Both kinds of impacts reduced root and shoot development. Impacts of seeds propelled against a steel plate also reduced the percentage of germination.

The impact of the steel ball bearings also revealed information about the different effects of impacts on individual parts of the seed. Greatest damage occurred when seeds were hit on the seed cap. Growth was reduced up to 50 per cent, depending on the degree of impact.

IN THE jet air tests, impacts seemed to have a cumulative effect on germination. When the seeds were battered against a steel plate three times, there was only a slight drop in germination. But the fourth impact cut germination to as low as 79 to 81 per cent.

The MSU tests demonstrated that seed allowed to "free fall" from any height does not produce the speed and impact necessary to decrease vigor or decrease germination. But the speed and impact caused by mechanical processing can produce damage which is not visible to the naked eye.

IN VIEW of these test results, the scientists suggest that a new look at processing equipment may be in order. They recommend using more conveyor chutes, fewer impact points, and slower conveyor belts or pneumatic systems with the minimum air velocity needed to move the seeds.

ASC PROGRAM

Support price for 1964
corn crop established

W. M. SMITH
County ASC Manager

USDA announced on Oct. 6, 1964, the national average support price for 1964 crop corn will be $1.25 per bushel, unchanged from the minimum "advance" support price announced Nov. 6, 1963.

Final county support rates also will remain unchanged from the minimum rates as announced Sept. 1.

LEGISLATION authorizing the feed grain program for the 1964 crop provided that support for corn could be set at a level not less than 65 per cent of parity. The support price of $1.25 per bushel set last November reflects 80 per cent of the October corn parity price of $1.56 per bushel. Since this is above the minimum legal level of 65 per cent of parity, no change is being made in the 1964 crop corn support price as previously announced.

an eligible producer can be placed under price support; no substitution. Eligible farm-stored corn can be placed under price support as soon as stored, no thirty day waiting period.

Application for loans and purchases may be made through May 31, 1965. Loans will be available through June 30, 1965.

Cooperators in the 1964 feed grain program are eligible for the average price support loans of $1.10, in our county $1.13, per bushel on their farms production of corn, plus 15 cents per bushel support payment on normal production of their harvested acres. To be in compliance with the 1964 program, cooperators must have diverted a minimum of 20 per cent of their feed grain base acreage to conserving uses.

FEED GRAIN producers who participated in the 1964 feed grain program have been mailed their diversion and price support payments if they have signed their certification. A few wish to receive their payment after the first of the year.

Our county has 820 feed grain producers who earned a total payment of $686,047.25.

JUST another reminder about the 1965 census. Be sure you report your correct crop yields as these reported yields are used in establishing the payment rates for commodity programs.

200-bushel
corn yield

The first corn yield of over 200 bushels per acre in Clinton County was reported Friday to George McQueen, Extension agent for agriculture.

The corn came from the farm of Bruce and Clayton Irish on Taft Road in southwestern Ovid Township. The yield on two hand-picked test plots was 208 bushels of dry shelled corn per acre.

BRUCE IRISH, who operates the farm with his father, said one corn field picked yielded about 180 bushels per acre, harvested by machine. The Irishes have about 175 acres in corn this year.

On their big-yield field they followed recommended practices closely. They plow planted, sprayed with two pounds of Atrazine per acre and cultivated once when the corn was knee high.

THEIR ESTIMATED cost per acre through harvest time was $67.34.

Rodeo highlight of Chicago stock show programs

World championship rodeo will highlight the daily programs of the 1964 International Live Stock Exposition and Horse Show in Chicago Nov. 27 to Dec. 5.

The annual exposition will be held in the 13-acre International Amphitheatre at the Chicago Stock Yards.

HUNDREDS of Rodeo Cowboys' Assn. members will ride in the rodeo for the $7,500 offered in cash prizes.

The 1964 international exposition will mark its 65th annual renewal as the country's leading livestock show. Farmers and ranchers from most every state and Canada will exhibit the finest of their herds and flocks in competitions that will confer supreme show honors of the year among 39 farm animal breeds that supply the nation's meat and milk.

THE EXPOSITION attracts an attendance of upwards of 350,000 visitors annually. They come from all the states and from abroad to study and compare the top purebred farm animals that are on view here to the number of thousands.

All programs will be keyed to spot-lighting the achievements of farm youth in livestock production on the opening day, Friday, Nov. 27.

YOUNGSTERS from 12 to 20 years old will be the center of attention in the International Amphitheatre's main arena that day as they compete in showing beef cattle they have raised as 4-H and FFA projects. They will also demonstrate their skill in producing and showing top quality market hogs and lambs.

Stockmen refer to the International Live Stock Exposition as the "world's series" of animal agriculture, because it is the climax show of the stock show year. It is the windup event and the finals of all the many county fairs and state fairs and the regional shows that are held in the months preceding the Chicago exposition.

Set 1st 4-H automotive meeting

The first regular meeting of a 4-H automotive course will be held Nov. 21 at 8 p.m. at Smith Hall. About 50 boys signed up for the 4-H project last month.

Bernard Feldpausch, St. Johns auto dealer, will be in charge of the group. The boys will meet twice a month.

THE FIRST meeting activities will include showing of two motion picture films, one an animation of an internal combustion engine and the other "The ABCs of an Automobile Engine."

HE SAID he is seeking old motors for the boys to work on, and he asked that anyone who has a motor of any kind laying around consider donating it to the 4-H project.

Feldpausch said the boys will work on the motors and repair them, possibly selling them later to raise money for textbooks. He said he'd like to have the motors to work on in December.

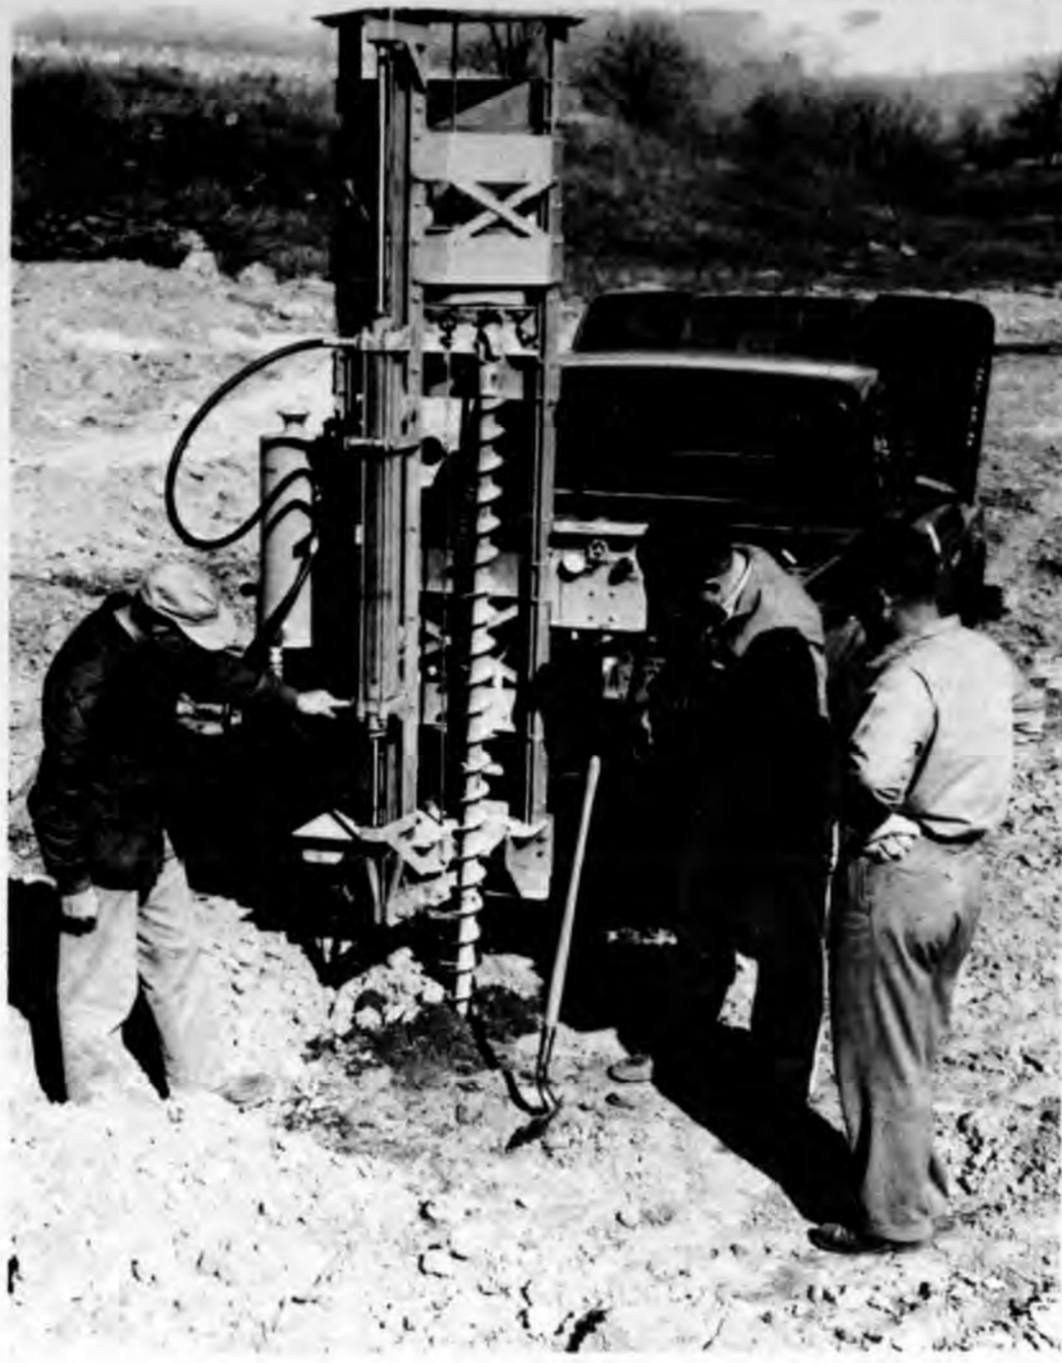

Parents are welcome to attend the meetings, Feldpausch said.

Tours of Olds plant resumes

Public tours of Oldsmobile's main plant in Lansing have resumed. Conducted twice daily at 9:15 a.m. and 1 p.m., Monday through Friday, the 1 1/2-hour tour includes visits to the main plant's engine, pressed metal, paint and final assembly operations.

Tours begin at the Product Delivery Building on the southeast corner of Olds Avenue and Logan Street. Parking facilities for visitors are just east of the Product Delivery Building.

Reservations, whether for individuals or groups, should be made in advance through Oldsmobile's public relations department. In the interest of their safety, children must be at least 10 years of age.

Testing Soil at Proposed Dam Site

This power auger was used recently for testing soil at a proposed dam site on the Keith Wright farm in Lebanon Township. Watching the rig at work are Harry Hardin, left, conservation aide, Homer McGhie, agricultural engineer, and James R. Thompson, geologist with the Grand River Basin survey party. The test was being made to see how well the soil will hold water. A seven-acre lake would be created by a dam, and detailed plans have to be submitted to the Michigan Conservation Dept. before any lake over five acres in size can be made. This same auger was used for testing purposes on the site of a dam on the proposed Catlin-Waters-Reynolds-Sessions drain, also in Lebanon.

Planning can make farm pond most valuable acre

A well-planned, properly constructed pond can be the most valuable acre on your farm, says Carl Winkelblech of Cornell University.

As reported in New Holland's "Grassland News," Winkelblech points out you can use your pond as a water source for livestock watering, irrigation, spraying, recreation and fire-fighting.

THERE ARE two general types of ponds. One is a dam impounding the water above the natural ground surface. The other is an excavated reservoir. In practice, most small ponds use some features of both types. The type of pond you build should be based on two considerations—topography and use.

Usually a dam-type pond is limited to a sloping area with a well-defined short line. This type gives you more capacity in proportion to the amount of earth moved. However, care must be exercised to avoid leakage and washouts.

AN EXCAVATED reservoir is

This farmer is clearing brush away from his pond before fencing it in so his cattle won't contaminate the water and break down the shore line.

the simplest and most economical to construct on flat land. This type is safe from flood damage and requires very little maintenance. However, excavated ponds cost more to build per gallon of storage, and it's not as easy to get water from them.

Winkelblech says the usefulness of your pond depends on its location, capacity and source of water supply.

FOR fire-fighting, the pond should be within 500 feet of the buildings to be protected. An all-weather road should provide access to the pond. The pond should contain at least 100,000 gallons of water, and you'll want to make provisions for getting the water out when the pond is covered with ice.

For livestock watering, you'll want the pond near the pasture or buildings. It's best to pipe the water from the pond to watering troughs so the cattle don't contaminate the pond. Figure at least 35 to 50 gallons of water per head daily. If you're depending on surface water to fill the pond, you'll have to store six times as much water as you'll use, because of normal evaporation and seepage losses.

FOR USE in your home or milk house, you'll need to chlorinate the water for safety's sake and to meet public health requirements.

Irrigation ponds need special consideration. Winkelblech says from 80,000 to 100,000 gallons of water are needed for every acre to be irrigated. When you add normal evaporation and seepage losses to this figure, it's easy to see why irrigation ponds need to be so large. It's

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

We have made exceptional gains in the last two years in Michigan's mental health program.

Our mental health program has profited by the reorganization of the Department of Mental Health resulting from bi-partisan legislation, recruiting of nationally recognized professional leadership, and establishment of a new planning division to draft long-range plans, aided by the voluntary effort of more than 200 citizens serving as task forces.

IMPROVEMENTS in leadership and overall direction have been matched by great improvements in the quality, quantity and variety of mental health services available to our citizens. Examples include:

Day-hospital program for adults, community day care centers both for emotionally disturbed and severely retarded children, community-based social workers employed by the department, the first preliminary legislative approval for a new state institution for the retarded since 1956.

IN ADDITION, after care services, child guidance clinics, children's in-hospital services, research and training all were expanded.

But 1963 will probably be remembered longest . . . as the year in which the community mental health services act became law. In 13 months, 10 counties have official boards, 11 others have study committees at work, and these 21 counties contain about 60 per cent of Michigan population.

ALTHOUGH 1963 was a year of exceptional progress in mental health, we have made even greater advances this year. Examples: a 10 per cent increase in operations funds, across-the-board improvements in existing services; new children's units at Ypsilanti, Pontiac and Northville; and special services for adolescents in Ypsilanti.

Our top priority this year is the accelerated program for mental retardation. This program calls for a network of 14 community day-care centers for severely retarded children; establishment of outpatient treatment services at the eight state institutions for the retarded; and construction of new hospital facilities for retarded children needing full-time treatment.

THE accelerated construction program authorized this year will provide almost 1,100 additional beds. The first 320 beds will be available in December, and the entire program should be completed within 18 months.

I am proud of the record of progress in mental health in the last two years, and I am confident we can move forward even faster in the next two years.

At the close of the evening all the children went to the home of Mr and Mrs Christ Rossow where they were given a treat. In return they presented the couple with a chrysanthemum plant.
