Q-Please find out why there is not a railroad signal light at the railroad crossing at Krepps Road. Krepps Road is a very busy road and it is very hard to see if there is a train coming or not. It would help even if the Road Commission would cut down some of the high brush around there so you could see down the tracks. What would have to be done to get signal lights put there?
WJ, St Johns

A-A call to Grand Trunk in St Johns didn't give us much of an answer, so we tried the Mich Public Service Comm in Lansing. C. E. Magon, director of the railroad division at MPSC gave the following procedure for getting a signal installed: Write a letter to him giving the name of the road the railroad crosses, the railroad name (in this case, Grand Trunk) and location of the crossing. Be sure to include an expression of concern, and suggest that remedial action be taken. The Road Commission didn't exactly go into detail when we asked them about cutting the brush around the crossing. They said they are cutting brush now in all "hazardous" spots and will try to get to it eventually.

Q-I, myself, and some other people want to know if homeowners in a village where a sewer system is being installed are entitled to a deduction on income tax for money paid toward installation, not the cost of dwelling hook-up or monthly charges for upkeep.
JAT, Westphalia

A-Sorry, but no, the cost isn't deductible since most sewers are financed by assessments of homeowners, according to H&R Block. Only interest and taxes are deductible.

Speak Out

LAST WEEK'S QUESTION:

Governor William Milliken has proposed a tax cut. Do you feel it will get the Legislature's stamp of approval?

YES 20%

"At least it would if this were an election year." "I think our government officials are beginning to realize taxpayers have had it up to 'here'."

NO 80%

"What's a tax cut—it's not in the government vocabulary." "I'll believe it when I see it." "What good is a tax cut, anyway, when he's already raised the price on gas?" "If you ever get a break from the government—watch out!"

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION:

As of Tuesday, the St Johns and surrounding area was without ambulance service. Do you feel the County Board of Commissioners should make it a county responsibility to provide an ambulance service or do you feel county government should not take on the financial burden of such a service.
SHOULD SHOULD NOT

Bath votes on new school

BATH - Bath voters are asked to go to the polls Monday, Jan 29, to support a 2-proposal ballot to build a new high school in the Bath School District.

The proposals read:
"Shall Bath Community Schools, Clinton and Shiawassee Counties, borrow the sum of not to exceed $2,800,000 and issue its bonds therefore, for the purpose of erecting, furnishing and equipping a new high school; erecting furnishing and equipping additions to and remodeling and re-equipping the existing high school for middle school purposes, constructing and equipping athletic fields, acquiring additional land for site purposes and developing and improving sites.

Proposition II reads, "Shall Bath Community Schools, Clinton and Shiawassee Counties, borrow the sum of not exceed the $350,000 and issue its bonds there for the purpose of erecting, furnishing and equipping a swimming pool as an addition to the proposed high school.

School officials report the building

Citizens hear pros and cons

Ovid discusses change to city

OVID -- A small group of interested Ovid area citizens attended a village meeting Thursday to discuss the pros and cons of Ovid becoming an incorporated city.

Harvey Darling, for village president, conducted the meeting held at the Ovid Municipal Building. Among those citizens attending, about half were from inside the village limits, almost another half were from outside the village limits with a few from Middlebury Township in Shiawassee County. Tony Sinicropi presented a committee report suggesting the removal of some Ovid buildings and redecorating of others to present a more progressive image in the village business district.

Robert Shinaberry, village president, told the group a private consultant labeled the existing village charter, "antiquated and outdated and unconstitutional in many instances."

Jim Clock reported that in 1966 the village planning commission began a study of becoming a city. Last year, it was again recommended the village council study such a venture.

An informal count following a straw vote found 16-18 persons from inside the village limits favoring becoming city. About the same number from outside the village also favored such action with 1 person verbally abstaining from the vote.

Among the questions asked, 1 concerned city services if the city limits were expanded at the time of becoming a city.

Officials told the audience service would depend on location as far as sewer and water.

Asked what is the purpose of expanding if it is going to cost more money to provide the services, officials said it is recommended city limits be expanded for control reasons. One reason cited was a factory or other business possibly being interested in moving to Ovid. The city would have to have sufficient land and services to attract such a business.

An information circular is to be sent to residents of the area with another meeting to be scheduled to discuss the possibility of Ovid becoming a city.

Harold Schmalz, Clinton County News general manager and advertising director, presents the championship trophy to the St. Johns wrestling team, winner of the 4th Annual Clinton County News Tournament, held Saturday at Pewamo-Westphalia High School. The Redwings defeated Ovid-Elsie, Bath, DeWitt and Pewamo-Westphalia with 110-1/2 points. Ovid-Elsie, winner of the 3 previous tournaments finished second with 86-1/2 points.

Couzens Middle School Building as an education facility.

In a brochure supplied by the school it is stated, "The James Couzens Building has been judged inadequate for a modern educational program by Warren Holmes Architectural Engineers in a survey conducted in 1972; by a research team from Michigan State University in 1967; and by a University of Michigan accreditation committee inspection in both 1968 and 1972.

"Originally constructed in the early 1900s, the James Couzens Buildings was partially destroyed in 1927, modified at subsequent times thereafter and now houses 300 students.

"Crowded conditions and lack of facilities cause junior high students to have to cross Webster Street daily to attend classes, eat lunch, and use the library in the present high school. Science laboratory facilities are inadequate and there are inadequate shower facilities in the Middle School."

THE BROCHURE also explains the high school is inadequate for an expected increase in student population on the secondary level in the next 10 years.

According to school officials, they are now instructing overly large physical education classes (over 50 students), there is no stage for music or drama programs and inadequate art and music practice areas. The cafeteria is too small and athletic areas are inadequate for existing programs.

Industrial and vocational facilities are inadequate and the library is too small and lacks proper amounts of resource materials and audio visual equipment.

School officials also report the counseling room is too small, there are an insufficient number of teaching stations, inadequate office space and inadequate storage space.

To cure those problems, the school system proposes to build a new high school to house grades 9-12.

THE PRESENT high school will be remodeled and equipped to house a complete middle school, grades 6-8.

The present 5th grade will be integrated into the elementary school, making the elementary school consist of grades K-5.

All voters in the Bath School District will vote at the Bath Township Hall, at the corner of Webster and Drumhiller between the hours of 7 am-8 pm.

ST. JOHNS -- The Hobby Lobby of St. Johns "isn't immoral, illegal, or fattening," and that's part of the reason for its origin. The above is the end of Mrs. Joan Rasdale's philosophy of "if you want something bad enough do it, because you only have one life to live." What she and her family have always wanted to do is operate a business and that is what they are. St. Johns now has the booming business known as Hobby Lobby, and that is exactly what it is, a hobby lobby.

Mrs Rasdale has a complete line of hobby needs in her shop. Yarns (Columbia minerva), Crewel Kits, Purse Kits, Beads, Macrame, Decoupage Supplies, Candle Kits and supplies, all kinds of decorative trims, and crochet needs. Plus much, much, more. This is Mrs Rasdale's first business venture. After being a housewife for 23 years and working with children in craft classes at Bible schools and Girl Scouts, she decided to bring her interests to other people. "Housewives have a tendency to have a lot of free time on their hands. I try to help them put something into their hands and make their free time useful," Mrs Rasdale comments. Husband Charles can be found working in the store too. He knows just about all there is to know about the hobby business except for yarns. "He will agree with the women on their first choice of colors in hopes that they won't ask him about more colors," Mrs Rasdale laughs. More help comes from the Rasdale's sons and daughters. Although busy with other work and activities they enjoy helping "Mom and Dad" at the store. Their oldest son Edward 22, is a student at Ferris State; followed by Michael 21, who graduated from Ferris State and is now employed at Bee's Chevrolet and Olds; Thomas 19, is a student and football manager at the University of Michigan; Bob 15, is a sophomore at St. Johns; Ruth Ann 9, is a fourth grader at Eureka; and Mary Ann 5, is in Kindergarten at Eureka.

St Johns graduate studies social service

GOSHEN, IND--Carla J. Snyder, a 1967 graduate of St. Johns High School, has been assigned, as a part of her social service field instruction at Goshen College, to Aux Chandelles, a center for the retarded of all ages. Ms Snyder, a senior at the liberal arts college sponsored by the Mennonite Church, is participating in a 2-trimester program of practical work experience at northern Indiana social welfare agencies.

The main goal of the program is to help students learn techniques and skills so that they are able to move comfortably into full time social service work after graduation. Students spend the equivalent of 1 day per week at the agency carrying a small case load with the aid of a supervisor. Ms Snyder is the daughter of Mr and Mrs Vernon S. Snyder, 1019 Weston, Lansing.

Mothers march Jan 29-31

ST. JOHNS -- The annual Mothers' March on birth defects takes place in St. Johns on Jan 29, 30 and 31. Contributions are used for support of research and medical services sponsored by the March of Dimes at medical centers and teaching hospitals throughout the nation. Mrs Howard Woodbury, Mothers' March chairman, says that approximately 50 volunteers will canvass neighborhoods for prevention and treatment of birth defects. Volunteers can be identified by March of Dimes badges and information materials. "Funds benefit a wide range of Medical Service programs," said Mrs Woodbury. "Prenatal care programs for 'high risk' mothers and intensive care nurseries for the critically ill newborn are 2 of our expanding areas of concern. "Genetic counseling, screening for genetic disorders, such as sickle cell anemia, and public health education about vaccines that can prevent congenital rubella and Rh blood incompatibility, offer unparalleled promise for improving the quality of life at birth.

Airport security discussed at authority meet

LANSING - A special meeting of the Capital Region Airport Authority (CRAA) was held Jan 18 at the airport manager's office. The main topic for consideration was the question of airport security in relation to the FAA's latest anti-skyjacking regulations.

Presently Capital City Airport is using independent security agents from Pinkerton's, Inc. but the Pinkerton agents will be unable to perform in accordance with a new federal order because they cannot be given the police powers of arrest or carry guns, something airport manager Brown terms as "critical item." This leaves only the airport police who may act under this regulation, and they are already putting in a great deal of overtime.

Frank Guerriero moved to rescind the contract, if one exists with Pinkerton for failure of consideration - they can't deliver what was contracted for. The motion carried unanimously.

FAA approval of the airport's master security plan and its amendments was received Jan 11. This puts the airport "square with the world," according to Brown, something very few airports can claim at this time, he added.

However, the issue of an additional fire truck for the airport remains unsettled. The style of truck to be purchased is the decision yet to be made.

Final certification is still to be approved. A team from the FAA must inspect the airport first.

It was also recommended that an addition of 3 people be made to the security force. The move to add these additional authorized personnel was passed unanimously, with the fiscal year budget amended to provide the additional $30,000-$35,000 necessary.

Airport terminal expansion was discussed, with authorization made to architects Charles L Barber and Assoc, Lansing, to begin work upon notification by the airport manager. The Barber firm was chosen over another firm because they have plans already drawn up for the expansion and had the lower bid for the project. They are the same company that designed the present terminal.

Land leasing was discussed, but nothing definite decided. Under consideration is the flat rate of 7¢ per square foot per month for all businesses renting land from the airport. This rate is comparable to what other airports in the state charge. However, the possibility of an additional rate for front footage on the runways is being considered by the Facility and Operations Committee. It was decided not to consider any more applications until the issue is settled. The committee set Jan 23 as a date to prepare for the February meeting in order to be able to issue a motion on the matter.

The Hertz Rent-A-Car Co applied for another area to store 150 cars, and build a gas station and garage on leased land. No action was taken.

The next meeting of the CRAA will be held Feb 4 at 11 a.m.

In an attempt to eliminate air piracy, all passengers at Capital City Airport must pass metal detector tests. Luggage and purses carried onto airplanes are now thoroughly searched.

More talk about SJ sewer, water

ST JOHNS - The St Johns City Commission spent most of its time discussing waterlines and sewer problems at the regular meeting Monday night at the Municipal Building.

A proposed new water line on Hurd St was the first topic for discussion. Gary Baker, who is in the process of building a home on Hurd St, had previously asked the commission for an extension from Lansing Rd to Hurd, then to Church St. The commission decided to look into the possibility of running the line only half way due to prohibitive costs involved. An engineer's report was read by Harvey Weatherwax, which stated that it is possible to run a line whatever distance was desired, but that this could lead to poor water quality and maintenance problems. The cost for half of Hurd St would be approximately $3000, according to James A. Augsbury, representing Baker, and an additional $2800 for the entire street.

In the past some developers have paid to have water piped in for a whole street, but were unable to purchase the remaining property, making the costs entirely the developer's own burden.

Baker added that only 1 other homeowner on Hurd St was interested in tapping in on a city water line, something which is not required by city law.

Commissioner Tom Hundley suggested that a special assessment could be used to finance the water line. John Hannah agreed, saying that it seemed to be the only fair route.

Weatherwax then proposed making the line half special assessment and half a public works project. Paul Maples, city attorney, questioned the commission's justification of special assessment for the second leg of the street, only on the strength of the engineer's report, which left some doubt as to the necessity of running the line the full length of the street.

Arnold R. Minarik
Administrator

DeWitt makes appointments

DEWITT - City administrative employees of the City of DeWitt, with 1 exception, now know they will have a job until July, 1974.

After a brief discussion about whether the administrative appointments should be effective from July-to-July instead of January-to-January, Dan Elliott, city administrator told the DeWitt City Council Monday night, "the appointments have been delayed from Jan 1 to Jan 22 - to be fair to the employees, the appointments should be made to July, 1974."

DeWitt voters recently approved moving the fiscal year for the city from January-to-January to July-to-July.

Appointment of administrative appointments will now follow the July-to-July procedure.

According to the city charter, administrative appointments may be effective for up to 2 years.

Following the election of 5 new councilmen and a new mayor, the council had not made the appointments due to have been made the beginning of January.

Re-appointed to their positions were Dan Elliott, city administrator with several subsequent duties; Dorothy Keck, city clerk (previously part-time, now full-time); Marilyn Coin, city treasurer, Arthur Newman, city fire chief; Floyd Fowler, Department of Public Works superintendent; Orlo MacGuire, building and zoning inspector and Daniel Matson, city attorney.

Charles Anderson, DeWitt Police Chief, received an appointment of "acting police chief" for 3 months. His position is to be reviewed at the end of those 3 months.

Ronald Mull, speaking for the police board, explained the temporary appointment of Anderson. "Maybe in the past," he said "the committee hasn't worked that close with the police department. We hope to re-establish communication between the department and the council."

Mayor Raymond DeWitt asked, "He seems to be working out all right?" and Mull gave the mayor an affirmative answer.

In other action the council: -Learned the suit for conflict of interest brought by Margaret Faught and George Moody has been appealed to the Michigan Court of Appeals. The suit was originally dismissed in Circuit Court in St. Johns by Judge Leo Corkin, who ruled he had no jurisdiction in the case.

-Moved to transfer cemetery funds from Farm Bureau and Capitol Savings and Loan to American Bank and Trust to comply with state law prohibiting the investing of such money with non-banking institutions.

Ionia too hot for St Johns Redwings

ST JOHNS - Ionia built a 2d quarter lead of 47-29 and it was just too much for the St Johns Redwings to overcome in the 2d half Friday night as they fell to the visitors 73-59.

The game started at a fast clip with the Redwings trailing by 1 point, 22-21 at the end of the opening quarter.

Ionia continued the hot shooting in the 2d period, zapping in 25 points, while St Johns cooled off with only 8 points.

Trailing 47-29 at half-time, the Redwings found the range again the 3d quarter, but only edged Ionia in that period's scoring 19-18.

St Johns again outscored Ionia in the final quarter, this time 11-8, but were unable to overcome the 1st half margin established by the Bulldogs.

Most of the damage done to the Redwings came from the hands of Kurt Kaeding, the 6-8 Bulldog center, who pumped in 28 points.

Doug Woodhams had a good night in the losing cause for St Johns, hitting for 23 points.

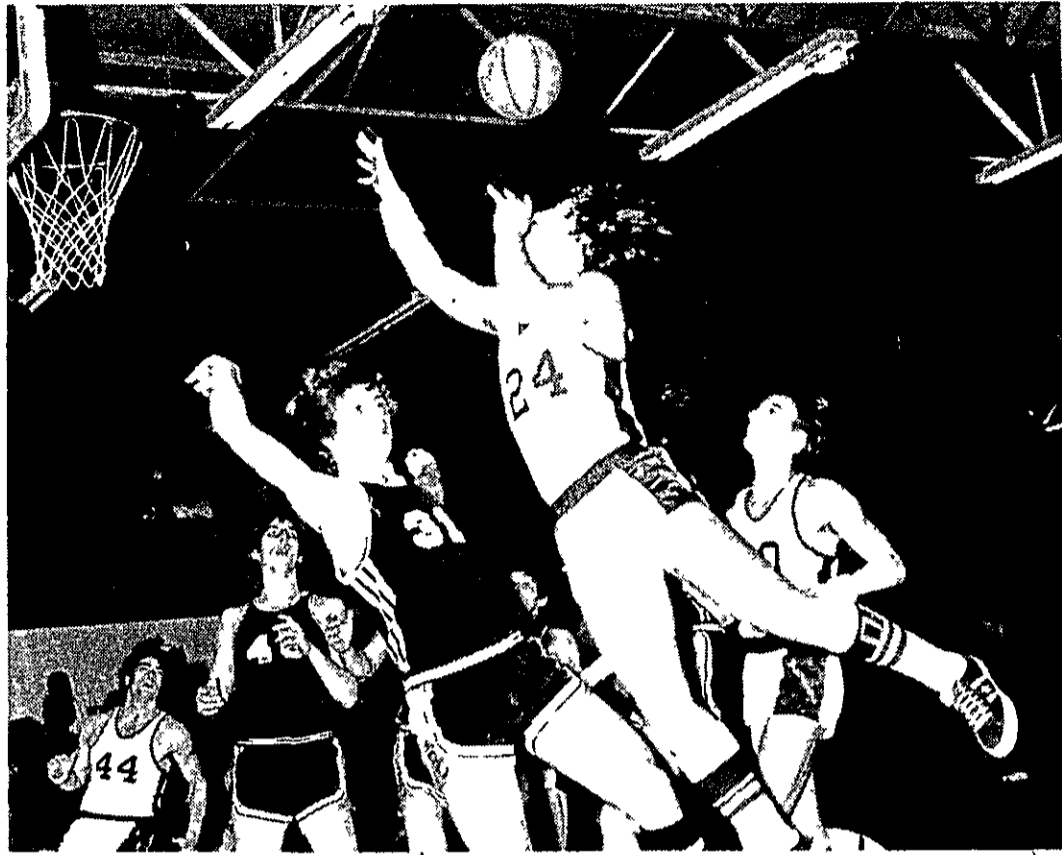

He was followed by Mike Atherland with 18, Charlie Fairvor and Alex MacKinnon with 8 apiece and Dennis Parker with 2.

West Central League. St Johns is 4-3 in conference competition with a 5-6 record for the season. The Redwings travel to Waverly Friday. Waverly had an easy time Friday with Alma 76-66. They led the Panthers by as much as 20 points, with substitutes then getting in for some game experience.

O-E Marauder drives. . . . ball doesn't cooperate.

Doug Woodhams cans 2 for Redwings.

Bullock Creek tops Ovid-Elsie 66-61 for the Ovid-Elsie Marauders Friday night as they fell to Bullock Creek 66-61.

Ovid-Elsie started the game with a narrow 1-point, 14-13 lead and the end of the 1st quarter.

Bullock Creek zipped in 22 points, however, in the 2d period while the Marauders hit for 17. The 22-point 2d period gave the Lancers a 35-31 lead at half-time.

The Marauders cooled off the Bullock Creek scoring spree in the 3d quarter, holding them to 14. It didn't help much, though, as O-E themselves could only post 9 points on the scoreboard.

Trailing 49-40 going into the final period, the Marauders got on the scoring track, hitting for 21 points. But, Bullock Creek held onto the lead with 17 points in the quarter.

Four Marauders carried the offense battle for O-E, hitting in double figures. Randy Loynes and Rich McCreery each had 13, followed by Scott Bashore with 12 and Gary Groom with 11.

Also scoring were Dan Egbert 6, Tom Kirnovic 4 and Rick Staples 2.

Rich Glynn with 18 and Kurt Twining with 17 led the scoring for Bullock Creek.

Ovid-Elsie is now 2-2 in Mid-Michigan B League competition and 3-6 for the season.

The Marauders follow up the Bullock Creek contest with a Friday game at home with Corunna providing the opposition.

Although Corunna has not won a league contest, they offer a strong scoring threat from Chris McMillen and Ted Patal. Both hit for 22 points in Corunna's Friday night 87-75 loss to Chesaning.

Brrr--cold P-W offense falls to Webberville

WESTPHALIA - A cold Pewamo - Westphalia basketball squad took it on the chin Friday night as Webberville trounced the Pirates 63-40.

Both teams were cold in the opening quarter and Pewamo - Westphalia held a mini-lead 6-4.

While Webberville found their shooting eye and hit for 16 points in the 2d period, P-W shooters still couldn't find the range and were held to 8 points.

Trailing 20-14 at the half, things got worse for the Pirates in the 3d quarter as they still couldn't hit and wound up with 6 points again.

Webberville picked up 18 points in the quarter to increase their lead.

Piggot 6, Randy Fedewa 5, Nick Blauwickel 2 and Dan May and Dean Miller 1.

The loss gives Pewamo - Westphalia a 7-3 season record and 5-3 in Central Michigan Athletic Conference competition.

After a Tuesday game with Olivet, P-W takes on Laingsburg Friday in an away game.

LAINGSBURG LOST to Potterville Friday 74-51 and is now 1-7 in conference play and 1-8 for the season.

Three victories for O-E wrestlers

O-E defeated Ithaca 45-3 as every O-E wrestler except one won their match. Tony Jelenik, Robin Leslie and Rob Nethaway all picked up pins.

Last Tuesday O-E, who has been hit by the flu, came on strong to defeat DeWitt 45 to 12. Coach Jim Maidlow lost Cayle Reha, who is 15 wins and 2 losses for the season and Paul Tomasek who is 11 wins and 2 losses, with the flu, but the two sophomores who replaced them in the line up both picked up pins to spark the victory. Randy Doyen took Tomasek's place at 145 and Doug Goodrich took Reha's place at 185. Dan Pumford, Frank Enos and Rob Nethaway all picked up pins for O-E.

Fowler continues winning ways against Bellevue

BELLEVUE - None of them have been easy lately for undefeated Fowler and Friday was no exception as Bellevue stayed right with the Eagles before losing 79-72.

Fowler held a 3-point lead at the end of the 1st quarter, 20-17, but Bellevue kept pace with the Eagles into the 2d quarter.

The Eagles barely outscored Bellevue in that 2d period 17-16 and went into the locker room at halftime with a 37-33 lead.

The Eagles pulled away in the 3d period, outscoring Bellevue 26-20 for a 60-55 lead going into the last period. Bellevue outscored Fowler for the only period in the game in the last quarter 19-16, but Fowler maintained their edge for the 7th straight Central Michigan Athletic Conference victory without a defeat.

Mel Pohl again had a hot night for the Eagles connecting for 23 points. Also in double figures were Tony Thelen with 16 and Alex MacKinnon with 11.

Also scoring were Scott Spicer and Glenn Thelen with 8 apiece, John Simon 6, Dan Jandernoa 5 and Brian Thelen 2.

Ranked 6th by the Associated Press in the state, Fowler defends their unbeaten record and the ranking against Springport Tuesday and Portland St Pats at home Friday.

Easy victory for DeWitt

DEWITT - Olivet stood as much chance against DeWitt Friday night as Ed Sullivan would stand in an insult match with Don Rickles. The Panthers rolled an easy 80-48 victory Friday on the home court.

After a close 1st period with DeWitt taking a 13-10 edge, Olivet was blasted out of the game by the Panthers 32-point performance in the 2d quarter.

That 32-point display gave DeWitt a 45-21 halftime lead.

and the last half did little to change the tempo of the game.

Olivet did outscore the Panthers in the 3d period, 16-13, but that was shortlived as DeWitt came back in the last quarter with 22 points, while holding the visitors to 11.

DeWitt's Steve Dalman led the scoring with 21 followed by Chris McNeilly and Mark Colby with 16 apiece, Terry Faust 9, Randy Lankford 8, Rob Reck 7, Randy Pitts and Lonnie Stone with 4 apiece, Mike Ferguson 3 and Tim Marriot and Ron Van-Duesen 2.

Ball appears to wait for sliding Bath Bee.

Bath beats Dansville 69-58

BATH - A 20-point 2d quarter sent the Bath Bees on their way to a 69-58 victory over Dansville in Ingham County League basketball action Friday.

Bath started out the game on the short end of the scoreboard, trailing at the end of the 1st period 18-14. Fritz Ordiway and Dale Cantwell picked apart the Dansville defense in the 2d quarter with Ordiway connecting for 8 points and Cantwell 6 to lead Bath to a 20-9 quarter.

Leading 34-27 going into the 2d half, Bath was outscored by Dansville in the 3d period, but bounced back to outscore the visitors 19-14 in the final quarter for the 69-58 victory.

The Bees hold a 3-4 conference record and 6-6 for the season. Dansville has yet to win a game in 7 conference encounters and are 1-10 for the season.

Ordiway led the Bees scoring with 22 points, followed by Byron, Bath, Don Henry 8 and Doug Kesson 8, Glen Tarrent 6, Robin Tucker 6 and Ted Day 4.

Following a Tuesday home game with Byron, Bath travels to Leslie Friday.

Leslie was upset by Pinckney Friday night, the 1st loss of the season for the Blackhawks.

Crisis Center reflects on progress and problems

The Crisis Center has been in existence since June 1972. It was created out of the concern and efforts of local citizens and is a member of the Comprehensive Drug Treatment Program administered by the Tri-County Community Mental Health Board. A local board of directors, citizens from Clinton County, act in an advisory and administrative capacity. Funds are provided through the Community Mental Health Board and private donations.

During the first 6 months of operation, the Clinton County Common Ground Crisis Center received 315 contacts with the public involving a wide variety of concerns. The peak came this fall when monthly contacts numbered 88. This increase in the number of people using the center is attributed to the center's confidential treatment of all inquiries.

Drug information is one of the most frequent requests by those who walk-in or phone-in, totaling 80 individuals over six months. The fact that over one quarter of our contacts request drug information illustrates a need for public drug education on a large scale. Many people who call the center for drug information do so because they do not know the specific effects of certain drugs.

The other most frequent reason for contacting the center is classified as a "non-drug" problem. Non-drug problems mainly involve personal problems including parent-child, peer group and dating relationships. Additional concerns in the order of frequency are other non-drug crises, problem pregnancy, chronic drug problems, drug analysis, legal problems, medical problems, suicide, overdose, bad trip, withdrawal, flashback, and marijuana.

Depressants, such as barbiturates, tranquilizers, and sedatives, CNS stimulants, speed and cocaine, marijuana, alcohol, and opiates (heroin).

Those who use the center are not limited in age to teenagers. 190 of the contacts were under 18 years of age, 64 were between the ages of 18 and 21, 17 contacts were from 21 to 25, and the remaining 44 were over 25 years of age.

The center is open from 4 to 11 pm daily and longer if necessary. The phone number is 224-6711 and anonymous collect calls are accepted.

DeWitt High School Panther Prints

by Doreen Theroux

This week, the cheerleaders are holding a "Mr Panther" contest. This will become a tradition at DeWitt and each year a Mr Panther will be crowned.

Each cheerleader is representing a senior varsity athlete (chosen on the basis of character and ability) and is carrying around a canister for him. Each penny she collects is equal to one vote. The "votes" will be counted Friday and the athlete with the most votes will be Mr Panther.

Mr Panther will be revealed at a dance given in his honor after the basketball game Friday Jan 19. At this time, he will receive a very special gift as a memento of this occasion. A plaque bearing his name will also be placed in the trophy case which will be added to each year as a new Mr Panther is elected.

Everyone is invited to cast their votes for Mr Panther and to come to the dance in his honor. Donation for the dance is 15¢.

O-E GAA cagers lose to Owosso

Ovid-Elsie GAA cagers battled all the way, but were unable to take the lead over Owosso Jan 18.

From O-E's point of view, all the bounces off the rim and backboard seemed to be in favor of Owosso.

With 4 players fouled out, O-E finished the last quarter of play with 4 players, but still giving Owosso a challenge.

Jamie Bowles was high for Ovid-Elsie with 12 points, followed by Karen Francis and Joanne Galeska with 8 points each.

High for Owosso Marcia Wisecup with 20, Kelly Sawyer with 9.

The junior varsity lost 26-13. High for O-E was Cindy Francis with 7. Jamie Horak with 10 points, led Owosso.

Ovid-Elsie plays the next 3 games, Durand Monday, New Lothrop Jan 24 and Chesaning Jan 31 at home.

St Johns High School SJH Happenings

by Theresa Huard

Students at Riley and East Essex Schools had a real treat Friday, Jan 12 when students from St Johns High School's Introduction to Theatre class performed the play "Sleeping Beauty of the Loreland."

Mr Koger, theater arts instructor, chose and cast the play and his students took it from there working on their own.

The class is a semester course, with the first part of the semester, reading and analyzing the play, and the last six weeks working on the production.

Student director for the play is Jeff Gentry and assistant director is Lee Morriss. Committee heads are: Set construction - Mary Brewbaker; Lighting - Gaving Sanders and Kim Delow; costumes - Tina Shmiko; make-up - Tracy Speers; special effects - Sue Watts; properties - Diane Schomisch and Stephanie Toff.

Main cast members are: Sleeping Beauty - Patty Fox; Prince Charming - Mike Barrett; King - Dave Fitzpatrick; Queen - Nancy Zuker; Prince Rubert - Ralph Shinabar; King Tuffy - Bob Spence; Bumps - Tim Sweeney; Nanny - Karen Pease; Caretaker - Marty Brewbaker and the Black Fairy being portrayed by Ursula Ithener our foreign exchange student from Switzerland.

Students had to design everything on set, to be portable, with the play being the first time that the portable dimmer and lighting system has been used which Drama Club bought.

Sleeping Beauty

Members of Robert Koger's St Johns High School dramatics class present Sleeping Beauty to East Essex Elementary School students. The class presented 2 performances, 1 at the Essex school and a morning performance at Rile Elementary School. Members of the class constructed all sets, made their own costumes and provided their own lighting for the performances. Members of the cast are Nancy Zuker, Dave Fitzpatrick, Karen Pease, Tim Sweeney, Tina Chimiko, Paulette Martis, Lee Morriss, Tracy Speers, Dianne Schmosch, Stephany Toth, Deb Bauer, Ursula Ithener, Ava Cole, Ralph Shinevar, Patty Fox, Mike Barrett, Marty Brewbaker, Kim Delo, Gavin Sanders, Sue Watts, Linda Brya, Bob Oliver and Belinda Mudget. Director was Jeff Gentry, assisted by Lee Morriss. Lloyd Welch handled crew duties.

Fulton High School

On the scene

with Cheryl Snyder

Much to Ashley's dismay, they were beaten in a conference game on Friday, Jan 20, after leading 61-60 with 35 seconds left to play.

Most people would think a game like that would go into overtime, but Parker's men pulled through with 5 points to leave the final score at rest, Fulton 66, Ashley 62.

Pacing the Pirates were seniors Jerry Chovance with 16 points and Terry Donahue and Mark Betz with 10 a piece.

Having a much easier time of conquering the foes was the junior varsity basketball team. Mike Winsor and Dan Nizank netted 22 and 17 to advance their team to a 75-41 victory.

THIS WEEK the JV and varsity teams will be playing Morrice at home in another conference game. THE CHEERLEADERS will be sponsoring a disc jockey dance afterward until 11:30.

Earlier last week on Tuesday night the Pirates traveled to New Lothrop to meet up with the 6th rated Class C team in the state. The opposing forces overcame the Pirates 68-51. Jerry Chovance and Larry Badge added 14 and 10 points respectively.

The powerpacked JV Pirates won again over the Hornets of New Lothrop 69-

60. Boosting their team to victory were Dan Nizank with 18 points and Mike Winsor with 18 points.

FULTON'S MAT MEN saw action on Monday and Wednesday nights last week. Monday, a highly ranked New Lothrop team came to Fulton and walked home with a 40-18 victory. Rick Womble added a solo victory with a pin, while Randy Flegel and Matt Williams won by forfeits.

On Wednesday night Fulton's wrestlers journeyed to Vestaburg and brought home a 34-27 victory, assisting in raising the team score were Gerard Reaume, Doug Vanderstow, and John Danforth winning by pins. Terry Detraz added 4 points with his decision match while Rick Womble and Randy Flegel won by forfeits.

FRESHMEN basketball players massacred Fowler Wednesday, Jan 17, 61-39. Leading the scoring were Mike Claeys and Dave Koeppen with 14 and 12 points respectively. This week the team played New Lothrop away and Fowler home on Monday and Wednesday nights.

Ferris band in Washington

WASHINGTON, DC -- Eugene S. Patterson, St Johns, along with the rest of Ferris State College's Bulldog Marching Band, participated in the Presidential Inaugural Parade Jan 20.

One of 45 bands in the parade, the 140-piece organization was the only band representing Mich.

The student musicians left Friday afternoon via chartered plane from Kent County Airport in Grand Rapids, and returned late Sunday night.

Patterson plays tenor sax with the band.

Eat wisely to lose weight

Every year, a dozen new fad diets blaze into prominence and attract legions of faithful followers.

"Some people turn to fad diets to lose weight," says Anita Dean, foods and nutrition specialist at Michigan State University, "because they offer the overweight person a way to escape the harsh realities of dieting."

"There is no way to control obesity except to stick religiously to a diet restricted in calories and balanced in nutrients," Mrs. Dean maintains. "This takes a great deal of self-discipline."

It also takes time, she adds. There will be no 15 pounds miraculously lost in two weeks. Your dress size isn't going to plummet overnight, and your friends will still recognize you next week.

MANY FAD DIETS, on the other hand, promise quick weight loss or inches off in no time.

"It is possible to lose weight on a fad diet," Mrs. Dean says. "But weight quickly lost on such diets is all too quickly regained."

Fad diets fail, she says, because they are not balanced, they depart too radically from a person's normal eating pattern, and they do not provide a good pattern for eating for the rest of your life.

The aim of dieting is to rid your body of excess fat with a minimum risk to your health, the specialist explains. Weight lost through fad diets, however, is usually due to water loss, or to "cannibalism" of the body's own lean tissues for the nutrients you are not supplying in a balanced diet. This type of weight loss will come back as soon as you

BIDDINGER- Words cannot express our gratitude to the St. Johns Fire Department for the wonderful job they did at saving our bulk storage tanks. Also thanks to the Lansing Fire Department for their assistance and to everyone else who grabbed a fire hose and helped. Thanks to Dr. Garapetian and nurses for the excellent care Gary received during his stay at the hospital. Thanks to the Burger Chef for the free coffee and food they served the firemen and to our friends and relatives for the flowers, food and the many, many phone calls of concern for Gary and the fire. To Dad and Mike a special thanks for the work they did Monday p.m. to get us back in operation again. To Clare and Rita Maier and Phyllis Tower a special thanks for all they did. To each and everyone of you our "THANKS". Gary and Linda Biddinger, 39-1p-nc

MERIGNAC - I wish to thank Dr. Grost and Russell and all the nurses and nurses aides for their wonderful care while I was in the hospital. For all the cards, flowers and gifts from friends and relatives. For prayers and visits from all the pastors and sisters, Eva Merignac, 39-1p

St Johns talks about sewer

Dr Grost agreed with the special assessment, urging that it be done as quickly as possible. These things may take months, he added, and Baker has already sold the house.

Commissioner Jean Rand moved that the commission allow Baker to put in a pipe 500 feet, to the end of his property line on Hurd St, immediately. However, his forces must put the pipe in, subject to inspection by city engineers. A hydrant must also be installed, so the line could be flushed out. Dr Grost seconded the motion.

The motion passes, with only Ebert opposed.

Class C liquor license renewal was the next topic for discussion. There were no objections by the police dept to renewal of all licenses, so they are all automatically renewed.

It was decided to allow trailers in the park for the 4th of July celebration as long as they are not in the woods. The Park Board also recommended that chemical sanitary facilities be made available. A motion was made to this effect, and carried unanimously.

Fire Chief Clare E. Maier read the 1972 Fire Report, which was unanimously accepted by the commission.

Among Maier's recommendations was the replacement as soon as possible of truck #30, a 1957 Chevy 500 gal front end pumper with 600 gal tank. "It's the first rig out," Maier said, "and could be classed as the workhorse of the department, both on rural and city fires. Due to its age and general condition we feel it should be replaced."

Maier also stated that the Lansing fire dept will not send its high-expansion foam unit to St. Johns, because it must stay at the airport. He said he called to try to get the truck for the recent St Johns Oil Co fire, but all they sent was a low-expansion foam truck, the same thing they already have in St. Johns. Maier said he would like to discuss the purchase of a high-expansion foam truck at a later date.

When asked if this type of truck would have helped at the oil company fire, he said that it would have made things a lot easier. "We could've lost some men," he added. "We were lucky."

A public hearing by the Water Resources Commission will be held Thursday in Lansing. Weather-wax will attend this hearing, with the authority to speak for the city of St. Johns.

Commissioner Ebert will attend the legislative conference between municipal and state officials Feb 22 in Lansing.

A public hearing on rezoning was set for Feb 12 at 7:45 pm.

The city commission authorized the city to proceed with plans to purchase property on E Walker St, the former Miller Furniture building, at a cost of $21,500 on a land contract basis. Payments will begin Feb 15, costing the city approximately $200 a month, including interest. The building is to be torn down and a parking lot built in its place.

Negotiations in the purchase of the Mathews Building are not yet complete.

The final topic covered at the meeting was a water leak at 402 S Lansing in St. Johns. Commissioner Jean Rand said she had been contacted by the owner of the property, who had contacted the water dept in Sept, Oct and Nov.

Then they finally pumped some water out of a large pit and never returned. There is now an ice patch on the street and a great deal of water on what the owner alleges is city property.

Melvin Warren, Jr, of 402 S Lansing, said the leak may be inside his property, but it would seem logical to him that his water bills would have increased over the past 4 months if this were true. "They haven't changed," he said.

The commission decided to uncover the leak and fix it at no charge to Warren, if it is on city property. However, Warren will have to stand the cost if it is not on city property.

Open Letter from VAN W. HOAG

Dear friends,

It deserves emphasis that the time, the place, the character of the funeral service, the merchandise used, the cemetery selected - these are decisions of the family of the deceased. The funeral director acts only as a representative of the family.

The clergyman should be consulted in matters that concern him before any decisions are made.

Respectfully,

Fowler's Stephen Fedewa

"Chicken feed" isn't small change

Easy does it. Stephen Fedewa spends much of his time handling eggs.

By LAURIE KIPP
County News Writer

FOWLER -- "Chicken feed" doesn't mean small change anymore, at least not to Stephen Fedewa of Fowler. It costs him over $300 a day to feed his 32,000 Leghorn laying hens, which are housed in a coop measuring 36 by 670 feet long.

The coop could be the longest building in Clinton County, and is the equivalent of 2 city blocks. And, the Fedewas built it themselves.

Fedewa and his family began raising chickens about 11 years ago.

"I thought we could make a comfortable living off a thousand birds or so," he said.

His present flock produced 709,322 dozen eggs last year and consumed over 3 million pounds of feed over a 14 month period. But this is only a "drop in the bucket," he said, compared to the really big producers who keep 3 to 4 million hens.

THE FEDEWAS sell approximately 24,000 eggs a day on a contract basis to Cook's Hatchery of Fremont. From his farm the eggs go directly to Grand Rapids and Lowell.

He prefers the contract basis to being an independent producer because it offers a little more security.

"It's better than getting rich one year, and being poor the next," he said.

Fedewa was independent until 3 years ago, just before the "egg Depression" hit. Independent producers were receiving only 23.7¢ per dozen for their eggs the past 2 years, which is at least 5¢ below cost, he stated. These independent farmers lost $1 per bird yearly until Dec of last year.

"Enough producers went bankrupt that eggs have become more scarce," he added, "leveling out the price of eggs."

PRODUCERS NOW get 48¢ per dozen for grade A large eggs.

The middlemen are not significant in the price raise according to Fedewa.

"The relative scarcity of eggs now and the high price of meat are more likely causes," he said.

"The idea of the middlemen being responsible for the price hike is a joke," he said. "Everyone was demanding more money. Actually they are very efficient."

Under the present contract system chickens and feed are delivered to his farm by the hatchery. Fedewa says he mainly just handles eggs, and takes care of manure.

PROFIT-SHARING is another benefit of the contract system. If egg prices are low one year, the producer does not have as much at stake, and if a profit is made he gets a share of it.

Disposing of manure from 32,000 chickens could be a problem, but the Fedewas have an efficient system for that worked out.

First they use a small riding tractor to scrape the manure from under the cages. It is then dumped into 20,000 gallon pits—one at each end of the coop.

A special vacuum cleaner-type device then sucks it up into a tank which holds 1000 gallons, weighing 4 tons. It only takes 5 minutes to complete this portion of the disposal.

Next the manure is spread into furrows in a field and is plowed into the ground, again within 5 minutes. This process keeps the odor down and prevents nutrients from escaping, he said.

THEY ARE presently working on an attachment to plow the waste under the ground as soon as it is applied.

The Fedewas are currently experimenting with a lemon-scented air freshener for inside the coop. This freshener is applied weekly by means of a spray under the cages. The entire process takes about half an hour, and kills bacteria as well as lemon-scenting the coop.

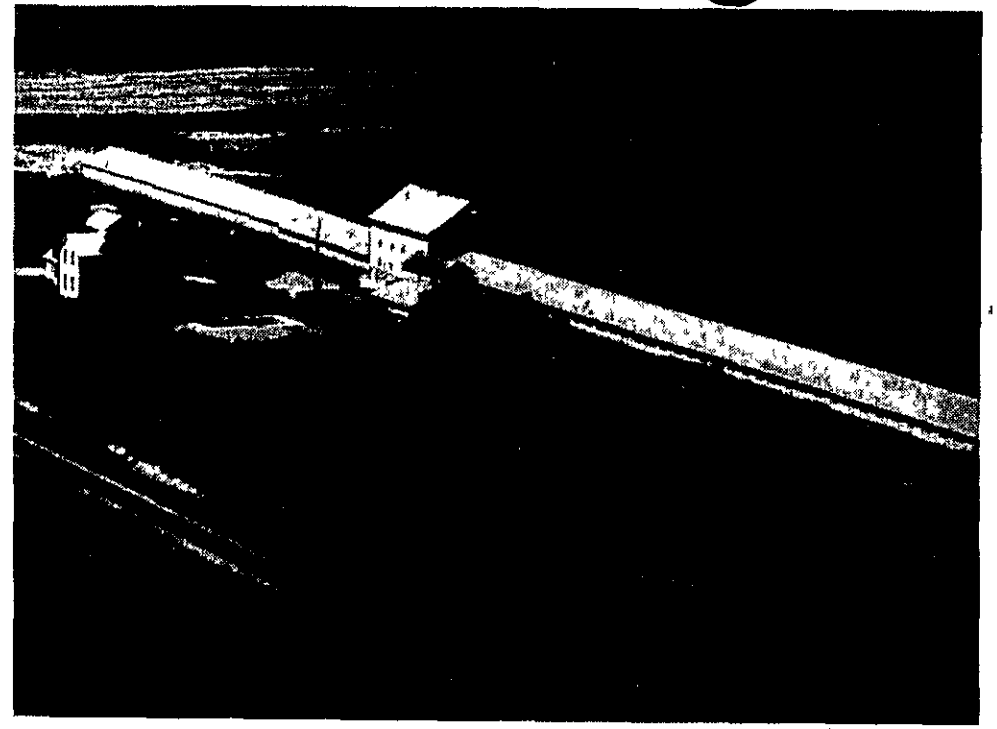

"The process is far from being perfected," he said. "MSU says it takes many kinds of agents to kill bacteria."

"It does help, though," he added.

Every year a rumor seems to fly around Fowler that he has sold all his chickens and gone out of business. Actually, Fedewa replaces his hens once a year with fresh ones. He hires 20 kids from town to help carry out the old hens, and off they go by the truckload to the Campbell's Soup Company in Iowa.

AGRICULTURE agents at MSU predict that the Fedewas will be out of business in 5 years because of their "small" size, but they are optimistic.

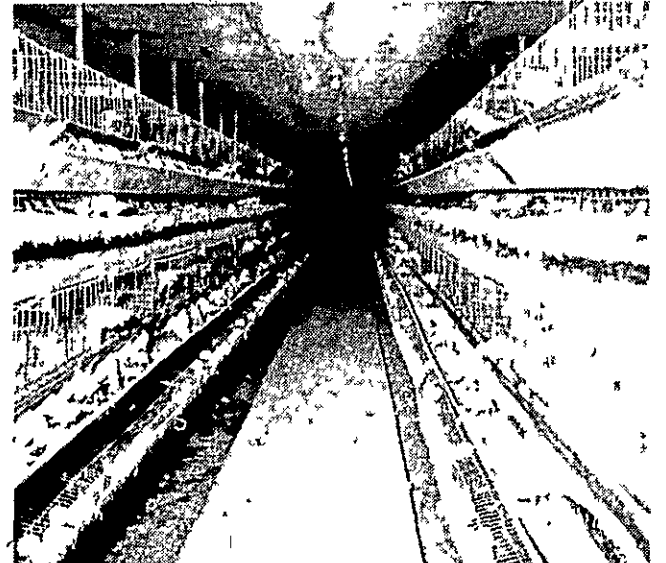

"Those who took the worst beating the last couple of years were the large independents," he said, and Fedewa's coop is nearly 2 city blocks long, as shown in this aerial photograph.

added with a smile, "We've seen all kinds of scares come and go."

Maybe there is hope. His hens produced an average of 255 eggs apiece last year, which is well above the national average of 210.

A total of 31 fans are utilized to keep the chickens cool. A recent power failure stopped the fans until an auxiliary generator was hooked up, raising the coop temperature 15 degrees in 15 minutes.

Fedewa and his wife inspect a day's egg production stored inside a large storage cooler. The eggs are then picked up by a hatchery from Fremont.

State says yes, state says no

Yes you will, no you won't. Sound like a contradictory parental order to a confused offspring?

Well, it's close. The state of Michigan has told Bath Township they must build a sewer.

Some people in Bath are not head over heels in love with the financial picture painted by constructing a sewer, but they, in good faith, voted to proceed with steps to build the sewer.

Keep in mind, they're being told by the government to do so . . . while at the same time they have just been told they are not going to be allowed to finance the project.

The Water Resources Commission says Bath has to have a sewer. The Attorney General's office says Bath can't assume the bonded indebtedness to follow the Water Resources Commission stipulation.

Damned if you don't and damned if you do --there's our state government pitching right in to make things clear as mud.

Meanwhile the situation remains--Bath has to build a sewer . . . but they're not allowed to pay for it.

Perhaps Barry was right

We hate to rain on anybody's parade, but we're inclined to agree with Barry Goldwater's statement Saturday night.

He was asked by network news broadcasters how he felt Nixon's Inaugural Ball compared with others the Arizona senator had attended.

After a few preliminary remarks, Goldwater labeled the many-sided ball "ostentatious."

He added the thousands of dollars spent for the 2d term president's celebration could have been put to much better use elsewhere.

We hate to cast rainclouds over the widespread celebrations in Washington DC Saturday night, but we don't see how the dollar studded displays demonstrated our president's concern for the economic and social problems facing his next 4 years in office.

However, regardless of our feelings--we'll have to admit it was one heck of an office party.

State government re-organization

Rep. Douglas Trovise
87th District

The day following Governor Milliken's State of the State message and his surprising call for a reduction in state taxes brought the Legislature another communication from the Executive Office. This one he called his "Special Message on Reorganization".

This second message did not receive the attention the first one got. Rarely can anything compete in newsworthiness with a tax reduction.

Yet, it's a safe bet that the reorganization plan will generate a good deal of heat around the Capitol during the next few months as the impact of the Governor's plan hits some of the people affected by it.

Simply put, the Governor proposes, by executive order, to make the following changes in the structure of state government.

1. Transfer some of the functions of his office to the various state departments where similar work is being done. One effect would be to cut, by almost one-third the number of employees (presently about 300) in the Executive Office but it is reasonable to assume that some of these employees will merely be added to the receiving department so there may be no great reduction in the total number of state employees. The more important effect is the streamlining of functions.

Michigan Public Service Commission over railroads, truck lines and inter-city bus lines will remain in the Commerce Department since they are not mentioned in the Governor's message.

3. Create a Bureau of Facilities Management in the Department of Administration to coordinate and consolidate activities relating to all state buildings and other state property.

4. Establish a Council on Human Services, composed of the Directors of the Departments of Commerce, Corrections, Education, Labor, Mental Health, Public Health, Social Services and the Employment Security Commission. This group will have the responsibility of coordinating the many state operated human services with an eye to elimination of overlapping and duplicating activities.

5. Establish the Department of Natural Resources as the primary agency for control of environmental matters and transfer some functions from the Department of Agriculture and Public Health to the Department of Natural Resources.

There is no doubt that this last change will be the most controversial. Included in the plan is removing watershed development programs and land drainage assistance from the Department of Agriculture and such functions as air pollution regulation, solid waste management and sewage collection and treatment from the Department of Natural Resources. Another part of the proposal is legislative action to increase the size of the Natural Resources Commission to allow for the appointment of people with agriculture and health backgrounds.

Certainly, these proposals are going to stir up some reaction. Not only are there liable to be howls from the Departments affected, but resistance from the public, which has been accustomed to working the present arrangement, can also be expected. I suggest we wait until all the facts are in before we dig in too firmly with our opposition.

The automotive industry has advanced in 60 years from infancy to adulthood, from infancy to adulthood, bringing with it advanced and no supplier has kept up with the times as well as Sealed Power Corporation. It is the world's number one producer of piston rings, opening its St Johns plant in 1946 and the local operation supplies the vast majority of piston rings for the firm.

"It is our intention to present to you pertinent information - past and present - regarding the non-profit corporation, Clinton Memorial Hospital," Alan R. Dean, president of the board of trustees told persons attending the meeting billed by the trustees as an informative meeting.

Clinton County Pomona Grange voted unanimously Saturday in favor of a resolution approving adoption of the proposed new Michigan constitution at the April 1 election.

Fire left two Clinton County families homeless this week when the efforts of Bath and DeWitt firemen were hampered by the sub-zero temperature, high winds and snow clogged roads.

Nearly 60 St Johns businessmen, members of the city planning commission and Mayor's Downtown Development committee and city officials turned out for a meeting in the Municipal building last Thursday evening to hear representatives of Valcan-Leman and Associates, Southfield urban planners, present the results of a comprehensive questionnaire submitted to local businessmen last summer as the first step in a $12,000 downtown planning study to be made here this year.

TWENTY FIVE YEARS AGO

More people used the facilities of Clinton Memorial Hospital during 1947 than ever before, according to a report given to the hospital associations board of directors by Supt Chester E Teske at their January meeting.

A serious fire was narrowly averted at the Byerly store in St Johns Monday when the entire stock of matches caught fire. Paul Buehler, local store manager, said that the matches must have been ignited by a hungry mouse for at 8:30 a.m. they suddenly burst into flames.

Gaylord Saxon 26-year-old Michigan State College student who was acquitted of reckless flying charges by a justice court jury in Lansing two weeks ago, was back in the hands of the law Friday, this time on charges of flying an unregistered aircraft.

Four hundred excited Clinton County rural school children were aboard the Shrine Circus special train when it pulled out of St Johns at 10:15 this morning for Grand Rapids. It was the first train ride that many children have ever enjoyed.

I'll never read this

Editor, Lapeer County Press

By Jim Fitzgerald

As I grow older, I grow more amazed to my friends who can't believe I have lived so long without once doing so many things other people do all the time.

For instance, I've never been snowmobiling, or skiing. I've always believed strongly that snow is God's way of punishing people for being idiots. Which proves again that God is just. Only idiots go out into the snow unless the house is on fire. I learned in the army there is no worse agony than frozen feet and snow up your sleeves. All my nightmares center around chapped, wrists. Only an idiot would deliberately court the many discomforts and disasters inherent in sliding down a mountain of snow. Only an idiot would desert his heated Chevrolet in favor of a topless machine that hands its passengers on barbed wire fences. Such idiocy-on-purpose is similar to volunteering to take your friends' dentist appointments. I refuse to be such an idiot. Go get em, God.

I've never been to a racetrack. It horse racing is a sport, so is craps. Eliminate the gambling and all horse fans could go to the track in the same cab. But I don't just object to the phonies who blat about loving the ponies when what they really love is doubling their money. I'm also turned off because I've never been convinced that a horse enjoys running around with some guy on his back, whipping and kicking him.

For similar reasons, I avoid animal acts where the trainer slips the animal a hunk of dumb after it successfully performs some dumb trick. If the bear doesn't feel like standing on his head, is he starved until he changes his mind?

I never go camping. If God had intended people to live outdoors, he would never have created mortgages.

Long ago, after taking lessons and giving it a fair trial, I quit playing bridge. The good players are too quarrelsome and the bad players (like me) would rather play poker anyway, so shut up and deal.

I never play Scrabble. As an editor, I don't want people to find out I can't spell.

I have never driven a motorcycle. Motorcycles are God's way of punishing snowmobile owners in the summer.

I have never been hunting or fishing. But, yes, I do eat hamburger and trout. I know no alternative to killing for food and I'm just grateful there are people who can stomach working in slaughter houses. I'm sure I could learn to do it if I were hungry enough. But I couldn't learn to enjoy it. And I'll never understand the Great White Hunters who patronize hunting preserves and pay some guy to throw a bird in the air so they can shoot it down. Sure, shooting is an honorable sport, but why not shoot skeet or tin cans?

I can't escape the thought that animals can also say: "Ouch, that hurts!"

I never read columns like this because they always make me more mad than glad. How about you?

View from the Senate

By SEN. WILLIAM S. BALLENGER

A little-noticed announcement that the United States Supreme Court will hear a Connecticut case involving out-of-state tuition at state-supported universities could lead to a decision that would cost Michigan taxpayers and/or students more money.

The question involves whether or not Michigan state-supported colleges and universities can charge out-of-state students more than they charge students who have lived in Michigan.

As an example, Michigan State University's student body of more than 41,000 has about 12 per cent from out-of-state. They pay $35 per credit hour while in Michigan students pay only $14.

There is a feeling among many Michigan university administrators that the high court will rule that states cannot discriminate against students from other states and must charge all students the same.

Of course, if such a ruling is made, Michigan students attending schools in other states also will benefit. But Michigan universities have a heavy proportion of out-of-state students, and such a ruling would prove extremely costly to Michigan--either to its taxpayers, who would have to subsidize the visiting students, or to Michigan-resident students, who would have to pay higher tuition rates to make up the difference.

At Michigan State University alone, this would amount to between $2-1/2 million to $5 million a year in lost revenue. Add to that similar losses at the University of Michigan, Wayne State, Western Michigan, Eastern Michigan and the other state-supported institutions and that little-noticed item about the Supreme Court could prove extremely costly.

Turning to another subject, Michigan farmers more than anyone know the truth of the old saying: "never count your chickens before they are hatched."

That's why State Agriculture Department officials aren't taking any chances on reports from Washington that the federal government plans to raise its meat purity standards rather than force Michigan to abandon its regulations at the request of three major national meat packers.

It involves the squabble over whether Michigan must permit the sale of sausage-type meats that contain repulsive parts of animals like eyes, testicles, and esophagi. A lower federal court has ruled that Michigan cannot have more stringent laws than the federal government in such instances.

Director B. Dale Ball of the Agriculture Department and Mrs William G. Milliken are heading a drive aimed at convincing Congress to amend the law to permit states to have stricter standards than the federal government on comminuted meat ingredients.

They are also appealing to the United States Supreme Court to reverse the lower court decision.

They are doing this because they are afraid just a favorable ruling by the US Department of Agriculture may be only temporary and vulnerable to future heavy lobbying by the national meat packers involved.

An ounce of prevention

Helping the heavy smoker

Even those who have been successful in discontinuing heavy cigarette smoking agree that it is not an easy thing to do, if one discards Mark Twain's disdainful comment about quitting not being very hard.

"I've done it many times," he said. Recently a public health team made available, the results of a research project, comparing several methods of helping smokers to abstain.

They make interesting reading, by contradicting some common notions held by people in the field.

COMPARING METHODS
When comparing the various treatment methods, individual counseling showed the highest success rate, 41 percent.

Next comes group treatment, 34 percent.

Finally, medication, either a tranquilizer or a placebo (sugar pill), came in a poor third, 22 percent.

The treatment program lasted for 8 weeks. When the subjects were seen at a 4 month follow-up interview, people receiving group counseling plus tranquilizing medication had the highest dropout rate from the program. Almost 60 percent of those who had initially stopped smoking returned to it.

Of the ones in individual therapy, 40 percent started smoking again; people in group counseling experienced about the same rate of failure, 37 percent.

An intriguing finding was that even though the total number of abstainers as a result of group therapy and placebo, or placebo alone, was relatively small, these individuals were the most likely to remain successful (non-smoking) for the longest periods of time.

Most of those who were not smoking at the time of their first 4 month follow-up, were still abstaining a year later. The project was conducted by Dr. Jerome L. Schwartz for the Institute for Health Research, Berkeley, California. The patients came from the Kaiser Foundation Permanent Medical group.

INDIVIDUAL FACTORS

As part of the research, another large number of smokers who were trying to quit, were quizzed about the ways they had found most helpful in their attempt.

Methods utilized by the individual alone, such as watching TV or reading are more acceptable to the subjects than techniques including other people, such as discussion groups.

Not surprisingly, counselors who achieved the highest success rates were the most aggressive and enthusiastic. They were well informed, especially regarding health hazards involved in excessive smoking, and usually had recently stopped smoking themselves.

OTHER RELEVANT ELEMENTS

In reviewing the research protocol, it became evident that a number of other factors, social as well as psychological, and even financial, were related to a person's maximum success in the program.

The first one was overall psychological adjustment. Those who tended to do well felt content with their lives, and showed little or no evidence of anxiety or nervousness.

Second, the intensity of the tobacco addiction plays an important role. Light smokers had a higher success rate than moderate or heavy inhalers. Non-smoking wives improved a husband's chance of quitting and remaining off cigarettes.

Third, a person's social class had a great impact. A large proportion of professionals and executives were successful; few failed to change or returned to smoking.

Teachers and people in managerial jobs had a low success rate, but also low recidivism.

Clerks and salesmen frequently failed to change their smoking habits.

A fourth and final factor was the community's general attitude. A person trying to stop smoking who lives in a community conducting a strong anti-smoking campaign "would receive more environmental support than a would-be quitter living in an area less active in smoking control."

THE OUNCE OF PREVENTION

It should come as no surprise that as far as improving the general health of the people in our area, we all have an important role to play.

What we as individuals think, or feel, or do, can have an enormous positive impact, if our own attitude is friendly, firm and supportive, in this case, of those who are trying to improve their health by renouncing cigarette smoking.

Plant pest pointers

On Monday, Jan 15, the TV show, "TOWN and COUNTRY" had an interesting program on plant pests. The show was continued to the next day when they gave the control procedures. Here's the whole story in case you missed one or both shows.

Insects and other pests can be a problem to house plant growers. The major pests in Michigan are mites, aphids, whiteflies and lecanium scales. The following descriptions may help you identify these and other pests:

MITES -- These tiny creatures are often found on the undersides of leaves, where they suck juices from the plant. As a result, the leaves may become bronzed and fall off.

APHIDS -- These small insects may be red, pink green or black, with rounded bodies and long legs. They suck juices mainly from the undersides of leaves. This can result in curling or yellowing of the leaves and closed flowers. Aphids also secrete honeydew, a sticky liquid that promotes the growth of a sooty mold which detracts from the appearance of the plant.

WHITEFLIES -- Plants may become unthrifty and even die as a result of infestation by these tiny white pests. They attack in the same manner as aphids, and one of their primary targets is the poinsettia plant.

LECANIUM SCALES -- These insects are often hard to detect because they blend in with the plant. Small, brown and humpbacked, they suck plant juices and secrete honeydew.

ANTS -- Several species of ants feed on honeydew and are attracted to plants infested with honeydew-producing pests. They protect these pests (usually aphids) and carry them from plant to plant. Ants may also damage roots by burrowing in search of food.

CYCLAMEN MITES -- A magnifying glass is required to see these amber colored insects that crawl from plant to plant. Their attacks may result in twisted brittle leaves and deformed, discolored flowers.

FUNGUS GNATS -- The immature stages (maggots) of these tiny flies may injure plant roots. The adults, while a nuisance, do no actual damage.

MEALYBUGS -- This is another pest that sucks plant juices and secretes honeydew. Mealybugs are soft bodies, have a waxy covering and crawl slowly over plant stems and leaves.

CATERPILLARS -- Caterpillars of varying colors and designs may eat the leaves, buds and flowers of many house plants. In most cases they can be controlled easily by hand-picking.

MILLPEDES -- These slow moving, wormlike pests may eat seeds, roots, tubers, bulbs or fleshy stems, and become a nuisance when present in large numbers.

SOWBUGS AND PILLBUGS -- Dome-shaped, shell-like bodies identify these pests, which may eat roots and tender plant parts.

THRIPS -- These extremely small, slender pests suck plant juices, and eat blossoms from the inside, causing streaked, blotched or distorted flowers.

PSOCIDS -- These pests are often found on plants, but do not feed on them. Psocids are soft, oval and light colored, and may cause nuisance problems when found in large numbers.

SNAILS AND SLUGS -- These pests hide during the daytime and chew on plant foliage during the night.

CONTROL
MSU entomologists agree that the best way to maintain pest free house plants is to keep the pests out of the house. Do this by buying only uninfested plants and by sterilizing soil before potting. Another suggestion is to isolate new plants for a month to be sure they are pest free before placing them with other plants.

When pests do get into the house, a vacuum cleaner can be a useful tool. After vacuuming up as many pests as possible, empty the bag into hot water or kerosene or dispose of it immediately.

A malathion solution is effective against several pests, including the four that cause the most problems in Michigan. This can be made at home by adding 1/2 teaspoon of a 57 percent emulsifiable malathion concentrate and 1/2 teaspoon of a mild detergent (not soap) to one quart of water.

This solution can be applied by dipping plants into a pail of solution, by spraying plants with a household sprayer or by brushing it on.

Commercial preparations can be effective against household pests. Follow instructions and recommendations carefully, and be sure to use the right pesticide for the particular situation.

Other methods of pest control, such as hand-picking, drenching, or trimming, may be used in some cases. Get expert advice.

The TV program, "TOWN and COUNTRY" can be viewed everyday. The host, Roger Brown has a great line-up of guests. And the subjects are on every aspect of home life. Since he is associated with the total Cooperative Extension program, any follow up you would want to do is available at, or through, our office at 1003 S. Oakland Ave., St. Johns. Land Bank exceeds billion dollars in loans outstanding

The Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul, exceeded one billion dollars in loans outstanding at the close of business on December 31, 1972, according to a statement by Hans T. Hagen, president of the St Paul Land Bank. At year end, the loan account equaled $1,004,935,309, an increase of $102.5 million during the past year. "The Federal Land Bank Association of St Johns loaned out $7,191,400 during 1972, according to Robert Darling, Manager. Presently, the Federal Land Bank Association of St Johns has over $21,500,000.00 in long-term real estate loans outstanding to farmers and rural home owners in Clinton, Gratiot, and Shiawassee counties. Through the purchase of stock the members own the Federal Land Bank Association of St Johns," Robert Darling reported.

"This is the largest annual increase ever recorded by the St Paul Land Bank in its 56 year history," Hagen stated. "This record year was the result of a continuing trend toward greater use of credit by farmers and ranchers in the four state area. The $259.3 million loaned out during the year was also a new high," Hagen continued.

Presently over 56,000 farmers, ranchers, and rural home owners in the states of North Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Michigan have long-term real estate loans with the St Paul Land Bank. These borrowers are members of the 58 Federal Land Bank Associations in the 4 state area. Through the purchase of stock, the members own the Land Bank System.

The Land Bank System does not loan out government funds, it obtains its funds "or lending from the sale of Land Bank Bonds to the investing public.

Bean field sprouts building trades house

Instructor John Mellinger, foreground, looks on as students apply what they've learned in class.

This is the house being built in Fowler by building trades as it looked in early stages of construction.

(Editor's Note: This is the final feature on a Clinton County vocational-education program known as shared time being administered by St. Johns High School in cooperation with Ovid-Elsie, Bath, Pewamo-Westphalia and Fowler school districts on an experimental basis this year.)

By LEE PETERS
News Staff Writer

FOWLER - A bean field at 631 S Main St in Fowler is now sprouting a 3-bedroom house.

Farmer-builders responsible for the transformation are 19 boys enrolled in John Mellinger's building trades class. It's their goal to turn the bean field into a saleable home by the end of the school year.

"OUR LOT was a bean field," explains Mellinger, "and so we had to pull 'em out so there wouldn't be any problems with foliage." The harvest came after the students had spent the first 3 weeks building a pole barn waiting for the land purchase to become final.

First step for the class was a survey to locate elevation and find the drop from the road to determine the building height, says Mellinger. The survey, done to insure conforming with zoning ordinances, also enabled the group to begin the structure parallel to the road.

Once surveyed, Gillespie Excavating, St. Johns, removed the top soil and dug the hole. Although the students couldn't take part, as they watched they became exposed to that part of the construction business, Mellinger points out.

"We then layed blocks for the basement wall," continued. A St. Johns block Mason, Dick Kingsbury, helped supervise with students from P-W, O-E and Bath doing the actual work. He instructed them on how to start out modular dimensions during the first half hour daily of the morning class, the remaining 2 hours are spent in actual construction.

These students ready the garage area so that the floor can be poured accurately.

Shepardsville

Mrs Betty George, former resident of the Ovid area, is a patient at Lee Memorial Hospital in Fort Myers, Florida, zip 33901. Her mother has been with her for sometime. Mrs George has undergone surgery within the past few days.

The Administrative Board of the Shepardsville Church met Monday evening, Jan 8 at the church. There was a good attendance. There were the usual reports.

Future happenings pertaining to both churches include a midwinter family program and an evening with Dr Howard Hoffman.

On Feb 4 the youth of the churches will be having charge of the worship service in both churches.

It was also announced that the UMYF meets the 1st and 3rd Sundays at 7:30 at Price and the 2nd and 4th Sundays at the Shepardsville Church.

IT TOOK 2-1/2 weeks to pour the basement floor and put up the wall." We then started right in on our house construction with rough lumber, says Mellinger. Hindered by bad weather, the student workers finally got the walls up and once the tresses were delivered put on the roof. Windows shipped were the wrong size but when the right ones arrived the house was enclosed.

Inside work has been supervised by Smit Electric, St. Johns, and Schaffer Plumbing and Heating, Fowler.

When completed the 3 bedroom ranch home with aluminum siding will have horizontal siding of royal brown and antique gold vertical siding. The interior decor will be colonial, with 1 bath and a 2-car garage.

Mellinger isn't rushing the June deadline. "We want accuracy over speed to make sure the final product is accurate," he adds, "and if we aren't finished by then we'll ask for volunteers to make finishing touches."

"It's a fantastic opportunity for students even if they don't choose to go in the field," Mellinger mentions. "They're exposed to so much - other students, different people in the trades, industry and they learn how they organize their day. We try to teach good techniques and care and handling of tools." And when they're done, they know what to look for in buying a house.

Mrs Ivan Bancroft and Mrs Charles Spencer attended the Memorial Service of a cousin, Burr Spencer, of Haslett in Lansing Monday.

The Kraft family entertained the Wendell family Christmas Sunday.

Congratulations to Mr and Mrs Jerry Metzmaker. Mrs Metzmaker was the former Teresa Dumond. They are working on the ice rink at the Looking Glass Brook Valley Park in the village, but the river rose and spoiled the fun several nights. We hope it will soon be in shape.

Neighborhood Society will meet Thursday, Jan 18, with Mrs Earl Beagle for 12:30 plutuck. Arlin Summers is in Our Lady of the Lake Hospital in Baton Rouge, La.

After a long stay in the Charlotte Hospital, Mrs Veda Forward is home and enjoyed calls from outside community by Ronald Karle of MSU, Mr and Mrs Melvin Gosnell and daughter of Onieda, and Mr and Mrs Matt Stevens of Lansing this past week.

Ed Kraft is gaining each day. Sympathy is extended to the family of Lyle Bancroft who passed away suddenly at his home last Monday morning.

Mrs Charles Phillips and Rodney spent New Years Eve with the Rodney Phillips family in East Lansing. of Wilbraham, Mass and Gary Phillips and sons of Pottsville were Wednesday callers of Leona Phillips.

Elsie

MRS. NEVA KEYS
PH. 662-4901

Mrs. Gerald Carroll was hostess for the January meeting of the Elsie Unit of the Methodist Women's Society. The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Duane Green, president. The group will serve a dinner January 27th to the Clinton County Holiday Ass'n.

Mrs. Lewis Walling gave a report from the remembrance committee on the plates sent to the shut-ins at Christmas and the cards and gifts sent to the ill. A card was signed for the birthday of Frances Pearl of Riverdale and notes were written to Eva Daley, Neva Bouck and Neita Wright.

The program for the evening was "Key 73-Calling Our Continent to Christ" and presented by Mrs. Lyle Dunham and daughter, Miss Sharon Dunham. They began by reading Matthew 28:16-23. There are 3 objectives of "Key-73" which they are: to interest people who are normally outside of the influence of Christ and the Gospel; to introduce people to Jesus Christ; to help Christians to be set free; to help persons who experience this freedom to introduce people to Jesus Christ; to help Christians to be set free; to help persons who experience this freedom to introduce people to Jesus Christ.

A filmstrip was shown emphasizing the 6 major phases of this year of evangelism. They were: calling our continent to repentance and prayer; to the word of God; to Resurrection; to New Life; to the Proclamation; and Calling our Continent to Commitment.

Members of the Women's group can participate in the following ways - united, separate, cooperative and simultaneous. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Lewis Walling and Mrs. Charles Krieger and Mrs. Leonard Tillotson. The next meeting will be February 7 at the home of Mrs. Leslie Sturges. The program will be on prayer and self-denial by Mrs. David Litchfield.

Elsie's Chapter #62 was called by the Worthy Matron Leona Baker Thursday evening for its regular meeting. Initiation was conducted by two pro tem candidates.

Mrs. Dona Couling of DeWitt Chapter and Grand Committee Woman on Membership brought the New Year's message from the Grand Chapter.

One of the projects is the saving of Christmas or greeting cards and giving them to different organizations for therapy. Also the savings of cancelled stamps which are not removed from the envelopes and are sent to Veterans' hospitals. If anyone wishes to donate either, any member of the Eastern Star will see they get to the right place. You may contact Worthy Matron Leona Baker or Secretary, Lella Wilson.

The Sunshine committee reported that cards had been sent and fruit plates delivered for Christmas to the life members and shut-ins. It was reported that Neita Wright was in the Ovid Nursing Home and Mrs. Wanda Liominsky and Mrs. Mable Curtis had fallen on the ice.

An invitation was accepted to attend the Wacousta-Dewitt Friends' Night, Jan. 16. There will be initiation and Elsie's Chaplain Verna Vincent will be guest officer. The chapter closed with Worthy Matron Leona Baker and her family.

There will be a card party with the Masons Feb 17 with a potluck supper with Mr. and Mrs. Archie Moore and Mrs. Jennie Loznak as refreshment committees.

Senior citizens of Elsie met at the American Legion Hall with President Milford Clark in charge and 18 guests present. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Dale Weir, Sr. who was in charge of the potluck supper that was served with plenty to eat. Mr. Clark announced that a State Police would be present at the February 1st meeting to give a talk on "Traffic Laws and Violations." Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kelley will serve as refreshment committee.

Mrs. Waite, Lella Wilson and Marguerite Kelley, presented Mrs. Leslie Sturges who was in charge of a program planned by her daughter, Linda, who was vacationing on vacation. The girls of Linda's Dancing Group entertained with several selections. They were: Paula Clark, Cindy Nicholas, April Hugheson, Cathy Adams, Michele Basse, Gayle and Julia Furstenau, Brenda and Linda Gingrich, Beth Stinson, Doris Thering and welcome. Dinner at 12:30 potluck, and bring own table service. Coffee or tea, sugar and cream furnished. On January 9 at 7:30 pm, Elsie was host to L. L. in g. s. b. Chapter No 105 OES for School of Instruction with Arlene Stacey, Grand Matron of the Grand Chapter of Michigan, OES as the instructor. Thirty eight members were present, 22 from Elsie, 12 from Lansingburg and 2 each from Ovid and Byron Chapters. Mrs. Dorothy Kadolph, Morning Star Chapter of Ovid and Grand Representative of Nevada in Michigan, of the Grand Chapter and Al Mitchell, High Priest of Ovid Chapter #113 were introduced.

Clinton County Association officers presented were: Anna Dunay of Elsie Chapter, secretary-treasurer of the county; Margaret Tobey, 2nd vice president; Beatrice Willard, chaplain of Shiassee County Ass'n; Mrs. Arlene Stacey is also the president of the Shiassee County Ass'n. The Elsie Chapter officers did the opening and closing of the Chapter while Lansingburg did the initiatory degree. During the good of the order, Arlene Stacey was invited to the East where the worthy matrons of Elsie and Lansingburg, presented her with a gift and expressed their appreciation for the school of instruction from which all officers learned much and everyone enjoyed. Lunch was served in the dining room by Mr. and Mrs. Al Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. Elaine Lentz. "Photography and Decoration" was the subject presented by Mrs. Wanda Canfield in her talk before the Woman's Literary Club at the home of Mrs. David Litchfield in Elsie Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Canfield and her husband, Raymond are owners of Canfield's Photography of 2499 North Ovid Road, Ovid and award winning photographers. They specialize in portraits - wedding, family, individual and children. With the aid of many of the portraits, Mrs. Canfield showed how they should be hung, how to group them, and to make them an important part of the room decor. Snowmobilers face more controls

LANSING — The possibility of future tighter regulation of snowmobiling, a recreational activity now mostly unregulated, emerged as the Natural Resources Commission voiced concerns about increasing conflicts with forest and wildlife resource values, the safety of the environment, and the problems of farmers and other winter recreationists.

The keynote was sounded by Charles D. Harris, DNR Deputy Director of Resources Management, in a preface to a detailed report on the DNR's snowmobile trail program. "We may need to set speed limits and restrict the number of snowmobilers who can use a trail during a given period of time," he said. "We must also seek funds for management, not only of trails but of the total forest. The cost of management rises steadily and it also gets more important," and he added, "We see the time coming when we will have to confine snowmobilers to trails rather than allow them to travel anywhere in the forest; this is similar to the history of our campgrounds; we now restrict their use." Ned Caveney, DNR staff forester, told the Commission a study of trail traffic, using counters buried in the snow, has indicated that snowmobilers prefer trails which are groomed. "The problem is moguls - icy humps and ridges - formed by use, and they can make a trail rough and difficult," he said. "Grooming shears moguls and smooths the tracks." Michigan now has 1,138 miles of trails, about 95 percent of them built on old logging and county roads in the state's forests. The DNR's nine trail groomers can each cover up to 50 miles a day, with 968 miles of trail regularly groomed. Based on an average of snowmobile use counts on trails picked at random, Caveney said more than 21,000 snowmobiles used state forest trails during the last 21 days in December. Commissioner Charles G. Younglove of Detroit commented, "Because it is a family activity, snowmobiling is one of the most valuable forms of recreation in Michigan. You can see them driving north; the kids in the car and the snowmobilers on the trailer behind. We need more recreation that brings families together." "How are we regulating the use of our resources so as not to ruin them?" asked Commissioner Hilary Snell of Grand Rapids. "Should snowmobiling be subjected to intensive regulation?"

"It looks as if conflict over the use of land is coming into focus," said Commissioner Carl T. Johnson of Cadillac. "If we have these problems with 300,000 registered snowmobilers now, what will they be if we have millions of them five years from now? Snowmobilers pollute with noise, smoke, trash and cans, and they trespass on private lands." The Commission approved that snowmobile sales and snowmobilers to stay away from sensitive game areas and stop polluting the landscape, and it ordered the DNR staff to design trails which avoid game areas and to confer with snowmobile manufacturers about ways to build speed limitations into the machines. The Commission also inquired into the possibility of using abandoned railroad rights-of-way for snowmobile trails, but was informed that such railroad easements are in a state of chaos.

DEVELOPMENT and maintenance of trails now in use - required by the DNR to be not less than five nor more than 50 miles in length (with a standard 10 foot width and a turning radius of 35 feet) - is supported this year by $137,000 from the snowmobile fund and $143,000 from recreation bonds. Next year, costs will be borne by snowmobile fees only. In reply to an inquiry, the Commission was informed that snowmobile sales had slowed last year. In the southern part of the state, 18,000 fewer snowmobiles are available for snowmobiling. DNR officials said there are 18,000 fewer snowmobiles available for snowmobiling. DNR officials said there are 18,000 fewer snowmobiles available for snowmobiling.

One other way of regulating snowmobile use was suggested - a restriction of parking space near trails. Agriculture in Action

TRADITIONAL?

It is almost traditional to complain about the price of food. Since the day of the corner grocery, consumers have said that food was too expensive.

Why? One reason is that food is not a durable item. We eat it and then have to go buy more.

There are other reasons, too. We commit so much of our disposable income to fixed payments for a home, a car, appliances and other items that we often have little flexibility in our budget to cope with with variable food prices.

It is a lot easier to notice a change in food prices. We go to the supermarket one, 2 or 3 times a week. We know when food prices change. We don't buy anything else quite as often, so we're less likely to notice other price changes.

Another reason for consumer complaints results from the practice of today's supermarkets selling many items other than food. In fact, it is estimated a fifth of what we spend at the supermarket isn't for groceries at all. It's for something to wear, read, listen to or clean with.

Twenty-three percent of supermarket purchases include laundry soap, potted plants, tissue, magazines, light bulbs, paper towels, pet food, hair spray, deodorant, shampoo, and other non-edible items. Yet, many persons think of these items as part of their food bill.

According to Secretary of Agriculture Butz, "Farmers are receiving about 40 cents of each dollar spent for food. That figure has gone up modestly, around a penny from last year, but it is well in line with the average over a long period of time, and much less than the 50 cent share of the consumer food dollar farmers received 20 years ago."

Today, we are spending a smaller portion of our take-home pay for food than at any time in this country's history and less than anywhere else in the world.

There will be a handicraft leaders meeting and workshop on Wednesday, January 31, 7:30 pm in Smith Hall in St Johns. This meeting is again open to members, leaders and parents who are interested in knowing more about handicraft projects. Dr Henry Huber from Michigan State University will be present to discuss Wood Veneering and then have each program actually do some veneering. Ray Schneider of St Johns will discuss wood finishes and how you might use different ones with different woods. James Palmiter of Grand Ledge will show some different wood toys that members might make with scraps of lumber and tools you find at most homes. Clinton County has 163 4-H members with handicraft projects and hopes many of them will be able to attend this meeting.

waterproofing, restoration, protective and corrective treatments for masonry and concrete

Wet basements

and what to do about them

The extra usable space a basement provides costs less per square foot than any other room. Today's basement can be an all weather play area for the children, a game room for the teenagers, a laundry and sewing room for mother or a recreation room for all. And it's easy to make a basement dry and attractive with THORO System products. Use...

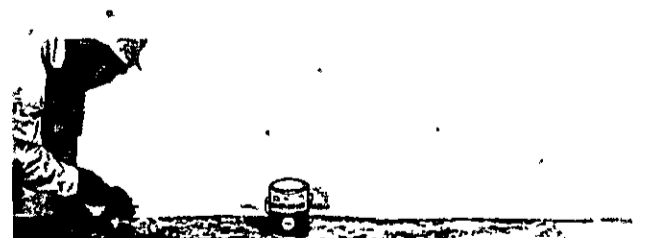

- WATERPLUG to stop leaks and seal cracks
- THOROSEAL to waterproof concrete and masonry walls
- QUICKSEAL for a colorful finish... or
- THOROSHEEN for the real decorator touch
- THOROCON to remove grease and oil spots
- THOROPATCH to repair concrete floors
- THOROLOK to repair concrete floors

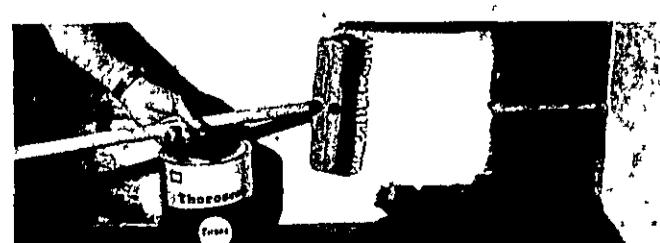

WATERPLUG seals holes, cracks, troublesome wall-floor joints. Cut out these areas first to a minimum width and depth of 3/4". Make weep holes near floor line to relieve pressure. Form cave of WATERPLUG at wall-floor joint. Leave weep holes open.

BRUSH ON a heavy coat of THOROSEAL up about 2 1/2' on walls, for extra protection where water pressure is heaviest. Dampen area first. Then apply a full base coat of THOROSEAL to entire wall, beginning at the top.

HANDSOME waterproofing job is almost finished as weep holes are sealed with WATERPLUG, promptly coated with THOROSEAL. Apply finish coat of THOROSEAL (QUICKSEAL or THOROSHEEN if smoother finish is desired).

TIME-SAVING broad brush more than doubles the amount one man can apply in a day! Specially designed for THOROSEAL (10" wide or 14" wide). Real time and money-saver!

The Ovid Fire Department displays the new fire truck purchased recently by Ovid and Middlebury Townships. Ovid and Middlebury Townships voted in 1971 to levy 3/4 of a mill for 3 years to buy the new equipment. Township officials say Ovid has one of the finest volunteer departments in the area. Many of the men also serve with the Ovid Area Ambulance Service. Michigan Four Win Awards Thru 4-H Work

Jackie Kelly Rebecca Hill Kristine Langkamp Harry Moldenhauer

Four Michigan teens, who have treated their families and friends to tasty dairy products, tasteful needlework, and imaginative room decoration, have won state honors in 4-H.

Jackie Kelly, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerrold Kelly of Norway, in Dickinson County, was named Michigan's best in the 4-H dairy foods program. She attended the 51st National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 26-30, as guest of Carnation Company, donor of awards in the program.

Miss Kelly has only been in 4-H for three years, and already has earned a trip to 4-H congress.

The high school sophomore has also been active in 4-H clothing and Junior leadership projects.

It is surprising to find a group like 4-H existing today," comments Miss Kelly, "where you can accomplish something very worthwhile."

Rebecca Hill, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn J. Hill of Grand Rapids in Kent County, took top honors in the 4-H Dress Revue program. She also attended the congress through the sponsorship of Simplicity Pattern Co. Inc.

A 4-H veteran of 8 years, Miss Hill has worked with all brands of materials - including the very difficult task of sewing a leather raincoat. Foods and nutrition, flower gardening, and entomology have been among her other 4-H projects.

Currently a high school senior, Miss Hill plans a career in education.

Kristine Langkamp, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Langkamp of Caledonia City in Kent County, topped the state in the home environment program. She, too, traveled to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago thanks to The S&H Foundation, Inc.

During six years of 4-H activities, Miss Langkamp has refinished furniture, made curtains and bedspreads, and prepared foods including 101 dozen cookies, 30 loaves of white bread and 13 pies - much to the delight of her family and the county fair judges.

She is currently a senior in high school.

Harry Moldenhauer, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Moldenhauer of St. Johns in Clinton County, was awarded state honors in public speaking. He received a $50 U.S. Savings Bond from Union Oil Company of California, the program donor. Among his other 4-H programs are woodworking and entomology. A high school junior, he plans to follow a career in conservation.

More than 30 Michigan 4-H youths attended the annual 4-H event in Chicago, Nov. 26-30. The 4-H awards program is arranged by the National 4-H Service Committee and supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service.

Planning Commission gets HUD certification

LANSING -- The Tri-County region has been certified by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for attaining a sufficient level of storm drainage planning.

This type of certification is a valuable asset as it is a necessity for procuring storm drainage grants in the region.

William C. Whitbeck, area director for the Department of Housing and Urban Development explained in a recent communication to Herbert D. Maier, executive director of the Tri-County Regional Planning Commission, that the period of certification extends from Dec 1, 1972 to Dec 1, 1973. The basis for certification stemmed from the existence of a storm drainage plan which is synchronized and compatible with comprehensive planning in the Tri-County region and a short range schedule for storm drainage.

Various other planning components in the Tri-County region will be reviewed with HUD staff members in the near future in effort to obtain additional areawide certification.

New cooperative program for area library users

LANSING -- Lansing Public Library is currently cooperating with the public libraries of the tri-county area of Ingham, Eaton, and Clinton counties, part of a one-year pilot project (which may be renewed) with 2 basic services offered by the Lansing Public Library.

1) Borrowing privileges have been extended to all residents of the 3 counties without the usual non-resident fee of $15. Formerly, only residents of the Lansing school district have been issued free cards.

2) Business and reference service departments will provide information on all subjects to libraries in the area through direct telephone, inter-library loan, and photocopy.

Funding for the project for one year is from the Library Services and Construction Act Grants, Title I. The purpose of the project is to encourage coordination of services into larger regional areas than now exist, and to interrelate the services of a large public library system with its suburban counterpart, eliminating unnecessary duplication of materials while improving the overall service of all libraries.
