Area unit officials form ambulance association

By Jim Edwards
County News Editor

ST. JOHNS — Action Monday night by local government unit officials started the wheels rolling for an area ambulance service.

There were actually 2 meetings, initiating an area service to fill a void created by 2 St. Johns ambulances going out of business.

The 1st meeting, conducted by Darrill Shinaberry, was an information to determine how many of the units present were interested in a per capita financed area operation.

Present were officials from St. Johns, Maple Rapids, Fowlerville, Westphalia, and the townships of Essex, Dallas, Riley, Bengel, Bingham, Olive and Greenbush. An interest pool was conducted by Maurice Gove, county commissioner.

Of those present, Westphalia said they were not interested in such an operation at this time because of an option to use a Portland service. They did say, however, "We would appreciate it if the association would keep the door open."

Earl Barks of Olive said only the northern 1/3 of Olive Twp would be interested presently.

No officials from Lebanon Twp were at the meeting to express that unit's opinion.

An initial organization, suggested by Shinaberry, called for the following representation on the area ambulance board; mayor of St. Johns and his designee, village presidents, township supervisors and 1 director from the ambulance crew.

In the election of officers, Robert Wood, St. Johns mayor, was elected president; Harold Benson, Bingham Twp supervisor, was elected vice-chairman; Edwin "Bill" Cox, Greenbush Twp was elected secretary and George Martin of Dallas was elected treasurer.

Following the election, Shinaberry turned the "running of the meeting reins" over to Wood and said, "I'm in favor of everybody who's not a director get up and leave and let them go about their business."

Besides officers, serving on the board are Roy Evert, St. Johns; Marshall Hicks, Bengel; Norm Thelen, Riley; Earl Barks, Olive; George Ables, Maple Rapids; Robert Pettit, Fowlerville; Vern Upton, Essex and Don Pusch, representing Triple A Ambulance Service.

Several items were discussed by the newly-formed board including location of the ambulance, immediate vehicle needs, organization structure etc.

It was reported that Bernard Fedorpausch of Ben's Chevrolet-Olds said he would furnish a heated location for the ambulance at no cost to the service.

County officials indicated 2-way radios would be supplied by the county.

Regarding the vehicle, the ambulance association could purchase the ambulance owned by Triple A for $2500 plus tax. The vehicle is 3 years old and has 24,000 miles.

Past said, "This big of an organization cannot get by with 1 ambulance. This ambulance should be the 2d vehicle and a new ambulance should be purchased." Past suggested the type of ambulance be a high rise vehicle, with a cost of about $11,000.

Past told the directors, the volunteer Triple A service has 13 volunteers at the present time.

A mini-controversy entered the later part of the meeting when Roy Ebert of St. Johns questioned the representation on the board. "I question," he said, "the representation by area instead of population."

He suggested 1 representative for each 1500 people in a unit with, at least 1 for each unit.

Robert Pettit of Westphalia asked, "Then you think St. Johns should have about 4?"

Ebert answered "yes" and added if the association was determining financing per capita, representation should be by per capita.

Shinaberry, more or less ended the short dispute, by saying, "If a man sitting on this board is worried about representing his district instead of the ambulance association, he shouldn't be on the board. I don't think that representation has a damn thing to do with it."

The successful operation of the Ovid Ambulance Service was discussed and board members were invited to attend an information meeting Wednesday at 7 pm, featuring the city manager of Lapeer, who will discuss that unit's ambulance operation.

Another meeting of the ambulance association has been set for Feb 5 at 8 pm at the county courthouse.

While the association is working toward getting the service in operation, it was reported Triple A has agreed to continue to offer ambulance service temporarily.

FACT finder

Are you concerned about getting the straight facts on a question which arises but don't know where to find the answer?

We'll find the facts for questions submitted by our readers. Just drop us a line at FACT FINDER, Clinton County News St. Johns 48879.

Q—How can our County Commissioners increase the pay for certain county jobs 10 to 15% and the salary for probate judge by 50%, under the wage price rules then in effect?

RS, St. Johns

A—According to Gerald Langford and Maurice Gove, the salary hikes were in accordance with the wage price rules.

Those who received the 10 to 15 per cent raises included a few people whose job titles and work loads changed, so they weren't receiving raises for the same jobs. The rest of the raises were in accordance with the 5.5 per cent average increase allowed—this percentage applies to an entire group of employees rather than for an individual job. Gove added that their average raise amounted to 4.1 per cent.

Gerald Langford, last year's chairman of the Finance Committee explained the raise given Judge Green. He said Green has been "woefully underpaid and has done an outstanding job" and deserves "a fair and equitable wage." The commission, he added, actually turned a profit on his wages the past 2 years. The State of Michigan required that Judge Green be put on full-time status; therefore, he merited a raise from his prior part-time salary.

Q—The Clinton County Intermediate School District has a beautiful new school for the trainable retarded children of our county as well as an excellent staff, but they do need some appliances and tools to make the program truly effective for these children—particularly the older ones. They could use blind tools, scrap lumber, nails, dishes, cookware, etc. as well as a used electric stove and refrigerator.

If you have anything you could contribute, it would be so appreciated. Please call 669-3204 for free pick-up or drop items off at the OEO office. Thank you. RLH

A—We hope passing your letter along will bring some responses from local citizens and businesses. Good luck!

Speak Out

ED NOTE: Since last week, an area ambulance association has been formed. Also, Triple A has agreed to temporarily provide service while the association is in the planning stages for the new operation. (See related story)

LAST WEEK'S QUESTION:

As of Tuesday, the St. Johns and surrounding area was without ambulance service. Do you feel the County Board of Commissioners should make it a county responsibility to provide an ambulance service or do you feel county government should not take on the financial burden of such a service?

SHOULD 25%

"Yes, but you must be crazy if you think they can do that when they can't even keep a probate judge from making $50,000 a year" . . . "If they're the only ones who will do it, I think they owe it to the county."

SHOULD NOT 75%

"Why not let the county finance all fire etc and give up all local rights" . . . "It should go to Clinton Memorial Hospital. They have the facilities for all the bookkeeping right there. It's a hospital function." . . . "It's time that people stop expecting the county to finance everything that comes along."

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION:

Do you support your local business community by shopping at home?

YES NO

Bath principal accepts Akron position

BATH — Bath High School Principal John Parker has accepted a position as superintendent, with the Akron-Fairgrove system in the state's Thumb area.

He served with the Bath system for 11-1/2 years, serving for 6-1/2 as high school principal.

School officials are currently interviewing prospective replacements. Parker leaves the system at the end of this week.

Bath voters turn out to say "no"

BATH — A record turnout of voters defeated both proposals up for consideration in the school election Monday.

Proposal No 1, to build a new high school and remodel the present building for use as a middle school, was defeated by a margin of 482 yes votes to 519 no votes.

The second proposal, which would authorize the building of a swimming pool, was defeated by a larger percentage of voters, with 419 in favor of its construction and 585 opposed.

The propositions were defeated by almost the same percentage as in the election last June 12, but only about 500 voted in that election. The election

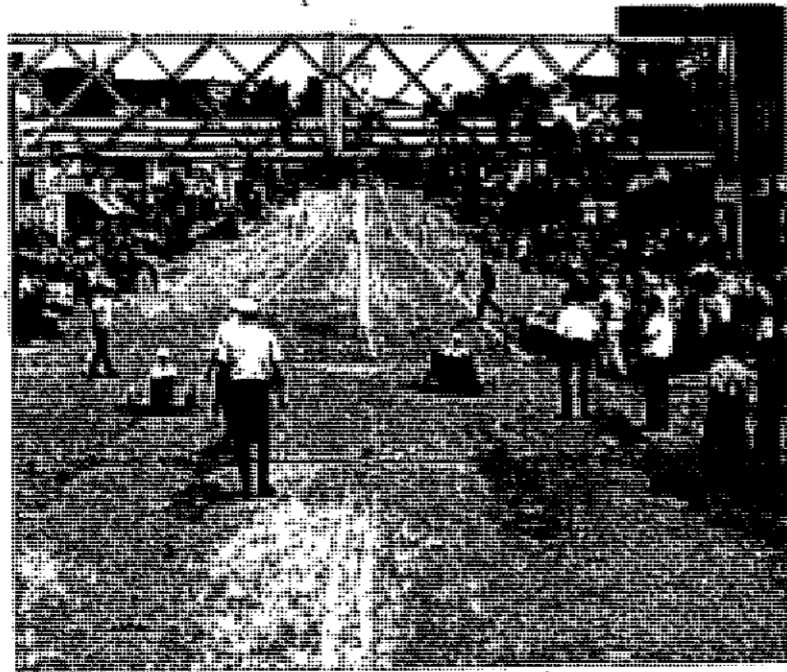

Monday drew 1011 voters, out of the 1130 registered in Bath.

Superintendent Roger Carlson reported no immediate plans for another election, but added, "We have to do something because we are so crowded."

"If we continue," he said, "We will have to remodel the Couzens Building, which has a collapsed floor."

There are presently 407 students using the high school, which was built to accommodate 325. The James Couzens Building houses 275, in addition to use by the high-school. Carlson said, "If there was any one thing that defeated the proposals, it was probably the sewer."

Soapbox Derby alive and rolling in St. Johns

SUMMERTIME FUN TO REMAIN IN ST. JOHNS

ST. JOHNS — The Soapbox Derby is alive and rolling in St. Johns. That's the word from the St. Johns Jaycees who have announced, although General Motors has discontinued their sponsorship of the annual event, it will continue here as usual.

Currently Jaycees are working on the project, to be run May 20, and will be announcing details at a later date.

St. Johns joins the list of at least 90 other communities who have decided to go ahead with the project without the General Motors Sponsorship.

This summer will mark the 11th year the Soapbox Derby has run in St. Johns, drawing crowds of up to 6000 spectators.

Jaycee representatives explained they elected to continue the project because it has always been a locally organized project and they feel the community involvement warranted continuing the Soap Box Derby.

What's all this?

What's all this? Temporarily stored in the garage at the St. Johns Sheriff's Dept are the new ultra-high frequency radios, soon to be installed in all patrol cars. This scene is just part of the extensive remodeling being done at the department.

"The willingness of one of the 10 most powerful men in the country to take time from his busy schedule to address us is both a tribute to the vitalization of our county organization, and an indication of the type of man Congressman Ford is, a man who never forgets the people who elected him," said Palmiter.

"Congressman Ford, who confers almost daily with President Nixon, should provide us with a rare insight of the workings of our government."

"Final arrangements, and the procedure for distribution of tickets have not yet been arrived at." The price of tickets hasn't changed from last year, they are still $10.00 a single or $15.00 per couple. "We will have further information to release as our plans progress," said Gnodtke.

Soil District Annual meeting Feb 3

For the Annual Meeting, Feb 3, Clinton County Soil Conservation District directors have arranged for Verlen Kruger to present his colored slides with sound on tape program.

It is a story of two men, alone, who paddled 7000 miles by canoe and portaged the long way northwest across the North American Continent, following the old historic fur trade canoe route. They began in Montreal on April 17 going by way of Ottawa, Sault Ste. Marie, Grand Portage, International Falls, Lake Winnipeg, Methye Portage, Lake Athabasca, Great Slave, Arctic Red River, McDougall Pass, Fort Yukon, and ending at the Bering Sea on October 10.

Kruger's slide presentation uses multiple projectors with living sound on tape. This is a historic, never before accomplished canoe adventure establishing new long distance endurance records—7,000 miles, 184,999 paddle strokes in 176 days.

At the annual meeting, Feb 3, the directors will present conservation signs to the following cooperators: Allen Cable, Bath Twp; Norbert Pohl, Dallas Twp; Robert F. Oberlin, Duplain Twp; Carl C. Galvin and Herbert Pohl of Eagle Twp; Robert McMillan, Lebanon Twp; David Conklin, Olive Twp; Kenneth Wyrick and Madison Wyrick of Ovid Twp; Gerald J. Thelen, Westphalia Twp. These conservation signs are awarded to landowners who do an outstanding job of protecting their land with conservation practices.

Mrs. Levi Blakeslee and Mrs. Ray Warner are heading up a committee of church women from the Pilgrim United Methodist Church to prepare the dinner for the annual meeting at Smith Hall in St. Johns.

Dinner tickets are $2.25 each. The tickets may be purchased from District Directors Stanley Baird, Clarence Manning, Kenneth Loudbeck, William Mayers, and Robert Moore, or from the office at 100 South Ottawa Street, St. Johns.

ST. JOHNS — The United States Postal Service has announced that all first and second class post offices will make Golden Eagle and Golden Age passports available to the public. St. Johns Postmaster Keith

A. Mishler said the passports are wallet-size, calendar-year permits which entitle the bearer and any person accompanying him in a single, private, non-commercial vehicle to general admission to designated units of the national park system and national recreational areas. "These passports differ in that the Golden Eagle will be available to any person upon payment of a $10 fee," he said. The Golden Age passport will be issued without charge to any person 62 years of age or older who applies for the permit. "The Golden Age passport also will entitle the bearer to utilize certain recreation facilities within the park and recreation areas at a rate of 50 per cent of the established daily use fee," he said. Both permits are non-transferable. Postmaster Mishler noted that the passport program is being conducted in cooperation with the US Department of Interior "and is a fine example of how 2 government agencies can work together effectively to better serve the public."

Two Clinton young men receive service academy nominations

WASHINGTON DC — Two Clinton County young men have been nominated as competing alternates to the US Naval Academy by Congressman Garry Brown of Michigan's Third District. Nominated are Gary Allen Bouts, 11490 US-27, DeWitt, son of Mr and Mrs Farley L. Bouts, and Mark Stuart Chamberlain, 2346 Hollister Rd, Ovid, son of Mrs Virginia Chamberlain. Chamberlain is also a competing alternate for the US Military Academy at West Point.

Nomination by Brown is an essential step for academy acceptance, although actual appointment is made by the Academies and not by the Congressman.

In making the announcement, Brown said: "Once again this year our nominees are an outstanding group of young men. If each Third District resident had had the opportunity to get to know these men as I and the Academy Advisory Board have had, I know he would understand and share our justifiable pride in them."

Each year Brown nominates young men to the Military Academy at West Point, New York; the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland; the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colorado; and the Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, New York. ## Blue Star Mothers meets Jan 23

ST. JOHNS - The Blue Star Mother's Meeting was held at the Congregational Church on Tuesday, Jan 23, with 17 present.

The meeting was conducted by 1st vice-president Billie Pierson.

The president's report was read by Billie Pierson. The Chapter report was read by historian Eloise Pease.

Myrtle Tolles received the dues of the Big Dipper and made the report on members.

A thank you note was read by Billie Pierson from the President for having such excellent co-operation from the Chapter Officers, Chairman and members in making the past year such a success.

Because there were elected Officers absent the Chapter voted to postpone installation of officers until the Feb 27 meeting.

The Chapter donated an American Flag to the schools of St Johns and Earl Lancaster notified Edna Eldred that this flag is flying over the high school beginning Jan 11, and thanked the Chapter for thinking of the School.

The Mystery prize was won by Sarah Ross. The committee for the February meeting is chairman Dorothy Steves, to be assisted by Bea Boling, Faye Osgood and Ruth Sirtine.

The Chapter extends an invitation to any mother who has had or whose son is now in service to attend. At this time and until our boys are all back home and safe, there is so much to be done to help them to readjust. Members of the chapter will be going to the Veteran's Hospitals and donating gifts, needs, comforts and treats as well as many words of encouragement.

Jan Elaine Fowler weds Lawrence Cornell

To the strains of Trumpet Voluntary, Miss Jan Elaine Fowler walked down the aisle on the arm of her father to be united in marriage to Acting Sgt. Chris Lawrence Cornell on the afternoon of Jan 20, 1973.

The United Methodist Church of St Johns was the setting for the lovely double ring ceremony performed by the Rev Francis Johannides, uniting the daughter of Mr and Mrs Bruce Fowler and the son of Mr and Mrs Jack Cornell, both of St Johns.

Organist, Mrs Barbara Davis, accompanied soloist Gordon Vandemark as he sang "Walk Hand In Hand With Me" and soloist Tom Fowler, brother of the bride, as he sang "Wedding Song". The two also sang as a duet "I Love Thee" and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride's gown was beautifully simple in silk jersey with butterfly-pleated skirt, long sleeves and high neckline. Her veil of bridal illusion featured a long flowing train and was trimmed with Venice lace. Her only jewelry was a dainty Onyx necklace, a gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of purple Catalpa orchids surrounded by white carnations and fern.

Maid of Honor was Patti Fowler, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Pam candles in hurricane lamps, surrounded by white and purple-lit carnations and fern.

Scott Heibeck served as best man, with groomsmen Steve Gregory, Jim Mead and Bill LeFevre, Ushers were Kevin Smith, cousin of the groom and Tom Fowler. All were attired in purple crushed velvet jackets, black trousers and champagne ruffled shirts. The groom was attired in his army dress-white uniform.

The sanctuary was decorated with baskets of white glads, white pom-poms and large stadium mums of purple, used with fresh cedar boughs and eucalyptus leaves. Eight purple candle arrangements in hurricane lamps graced each window.

The bride's mother chose a floor-length gown in shocking pink brushed nylon jersey with silver accessories. Her corsage contained two palegreen sympidium orchids. The groom's mother wore a floor-length gown of azure blue chiffon with lace bodice and her corsage was also the sympidium orchids.

Honored guests were Mrs Bernice Fowler of Bath, grandmother of the bride; Mr Ross Cornell of Roscommon, grandfather of the groom; Mrs Jenny Bandt of St Johns; Mrs George Hudson of Howell and Mr Chester Smith of Romulus.

A reception for the 225 guests was held in Niles Hall of the church following the ceremony. The purple color scheme was continued throughout the room with large purple ice-candles on each table. The long tea table, with lace cloth, purple liner and tapers to match was centered with a beautiful wedding cake made by the groom's mother. This featured purple flowers, army insignia and tiny replicas of the wedding party. Assisting with the serving were Sandy Cornell, sister of the groom; Mary LeFevre and Mrs LeRoy Martens of St Johns. Also helping at the gift table were Mrs Jim Mead of St Johns and Mrs Steye Gregory Northport. Sandy Cornell was also on the guest book.

Mr and Mrs Walter Cole acted as host and hostess and Mrs Eldon LeBlond was reception chairman.

After a wedding trip to northern Michigan, the new Mr and Mrs Cornell will leave for Ft Bliss, Texas, where the groom will be stationed for a year, after having served in Korea for 13 months.

MR & MRS RAYMOND PINCH

Now you'll see what you're getting

Sharie Cressman bride of Raymond Pinch

New bacon packaging regulations will allow you to see what you're buying, reports Michigan State University Consumer Marketing Specialist Maryann Beckman.

Effective Feb 19, the new law requires windowed bacon packages to expose at least 70 percent of the length of a representative strip of bacon. The window must also be at least 1-1/2 inches wide.

Consumer complaints about being unable to judge the quality of bacon before buying prompted the regulation, Mrs Beckman says.

MARSHALL - Sharie A Cressman, daughter of Mr and Mrs Arden Cressman, St Johns, and Raymond Pinch, son of Mrs Raymond Pinch, Sr, of Lansing were married Thursday evening Dec 21 by Dr Clyde H Wilcox at his home, 421 Forest St, Marshall.

The bride is a member of the Congregational Church in St Johns, which Dr Wilcox served for 14 years.

Attending the couple were Mr and Mrs John Harris of Ionia. Also coming to Marshall were the bride's parents and the groom's mother.

Following a dinner at Schulers for the wedding party, the newlyweds left for a honeymoon in Florida. They are residing on Bond Rd, rural DeWitt, at an old family home, formerly belonging to the bride's grandparents.

Both are employed in Lansing.

Carson City Hospital graduates 4 from Nurse aide training course

Blood pressures, temperatures, making hospital beds, giving bed baths, team nursing, were just some of the subjects covered by In-Service Training Director, Jane Bagby in the recently completed basic training for nurse aides.

The 48-hour course will be offered several times throughout the year determined by the anticipated need for aides.

There is no charge for this course but class size is limited. Anyone wishing more information should contact the Personnel Office.

Legion Auxiliary essay contest in progress

The Edwin T. Stiles Unit 153 of the American Legion Auxiliary met Tuesday, Jan 16, President Ann Walker presiding.

Lynwood St Peter, Director of Nursing Service, instituted this new program so that nurse aides would be better prepared at the time of hire to assume their roll in patient care. This is in keeping with other levels of nursing that require advanced study and preparation prior to becoming a Licensed Practical or Registered Nurse.

Graduating from this first course were - Nancy Speckin, Diane Cunningham, Thelma Litwiler and Glenaburl Boyd.

The Auxiliary Americanism essay contest is now in progress in the local junior and senior high school. Rules are available at Bement Library or from Americanism Chairman Etta Smith.

Child Welfare Chairman Nelda McWilliams reported she had 28 birthday cards ready to send to the American Legion Children's Home at Otter Lake. The unit will also put 25 cents in each birthday card. Yellow TV stamps were collected from the members present however several more are needed to fill the book. Please bring them to the February meeting also bring Betty Crocker coupons, cigarette coupons and all types of commemorative postage stamps.

The unit voted to order a copy of the newly revised Department Constitution and the Unit Constitution also to adopt into the Unit standing rules that "members will pledge allegiance to the flag and pay it proper respect at all times."

The annual Legislative dinner for Governor Milliken and Lt. Governor Brinkley will be held in the Lansing Civic Center, February 13 at 7:00 p.m. National American Legion Commander Joseph L. Matthews will be guest speaker. Members interested in attending can contact Post 153 Commander Bill Acton for tickets. Tickets are $10.00 per person.

It was voted to order 4,000 poppies to sell on Poppy Days May 17-18-19.

Foreign Relations collection for British Crown Colony Hong Kong was taken up.

Formal initiation of new members will be part of the program on February 20. Anyone who has not been initiated into the unit is asked to please contact President Ann Walker.

MMPA asks USDA to boost support

DETROIT -- Michigan Milk Producers Association has called on the US Department of Agriculture to boost government support prices for milk and dairy products.

At the same time, the statewide dairy farmer organization has criticized recent actions by the federal government to expand dairy product import quotas.

In a resolutions approved by the MMPA board of directors and the association's market committee, MMPA noted that tightened milk supplies in many markets throughout the country "has clearly demonstrated the need for the establishment of a realistic price floor for milk and dairy products to ensure that an adequate supply of these products is available for our population."

Glenn Lake, a North Branch dairy farmer and MMPA president, noted that the USDA last year failed to assure dairymen an adequate milk price floor and then recently had to turn to expanded imports to get enough product to meet the domestic demand.

The MMPA resolution urges that minimum dairy price supports for the federal government's marketing year which begins April 1 be set at not less than 85 percent of parity. Law requires the Secretary of Agriculture to establish dairy price supports yearly at between 75 and 90 percent of parity.

Currently, the price support is $4.93 per hundredweight or less than 75 percent of parity. An 85 percent of parity support price would be approximately $5.84 per cwt.

Lake said the increase in price supports was being sought due to the higher and constantly rising costs of production that farmers are being forced to pay to stay in business. "The USDA's own index shows the average of all prices paid by farmers is 9 percent higher than a year ago and all indications are that these costs will continue to rise," Lake added. In the resolution on expanded imports of dairy products, MMPA said the government's action was "in direct opposition to its oft-stated policy of boosting farm income" because the imports "can result only in lower prices for US dairy farmers."

Shepardsville

By Lucille Spencer

The Afternoon Circle of the Shepardsville UMW met at the home of Mrs Karl Smith on Thursday, Jan 11. This meeting took the place of the one that was to have been held in December. There was a small attendance.

Those present voted to complete a layette, to send money for milk to CWS and also to send money for two blankets to CWS. A letter from the District officers was read by the secretary.

Mrs John Spencer had charge of Devotions. The meditation was on Anna's reaction to the birth of the infant Jesus.

Mrs Francis Hall had charge of the program. Her topic was on Key 73 and the part we can all do in promoting this program. She told of several ways in which we could help: prayer, pay attention to people, call on the sick and shut-ins, be sensitive to the needs of others and make ourselves available.

Light refreshments were served by the hostess. Mr and Mrs Charles Walker entertained guests from Detroit on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs Russell Gilbert, Mrs James Besko, Mrs Iwin Reed, Mrs Lawrence Kadolph, Mrs Leta Parker and Mrs John Spencer attended a Friend's Night Program at DeWitt on Tuesday evening, Jan 16. Mrs Parker and Mrs Spencer were guest officers.

Mr and Mrs Dale Squiers attended a churchmanship meeting at Ithaca on Thursday evening, Jan 18.

Mr and Mrs Dale Mannebeck of Warren and Barbara Rensch of Penton were dinner guests of Mr and Mrs Charles Walker and son on January 14.

Improving beef production

Sound management can increase reproduction efficiency of beef animals. Here are some recommendations which can increase reproduction efficiency.

1. Feed heifers to gain a pound a day from weaning through the breeding season. The English breeds should weigh at least 650 pounds at the start of the breeding season.

2. Start breeding yearlings 20 days before the breeding season for the cows. Breed heifers no longer than 45 days. Keep more replacement heifers than needed and cull on the basis of early pregnancy.

3. Breed heifers to a bull that sires calves presenting few calving problems.

4. Separate young cows from the older cows in the herd so they are able to compete for available feed.

5. Have all cows in good condition at calving time. If they gain 100 to 150 pounds between weaning and calving, body weight after calving will equal or slightly exceed body weight at weaning. Cows that aren't suckled down at weaning time should gain more.

6. All cows should gain one-half to three-fourths pound per day, after calving until the end of breeding season.

Beef cattlemen lose money when reproductive performance isn't up to par. They should aim for a high percentage of the herd with normal estrous cycles during the first 20 days of the breeding season. Cattlemen can do this by increasing the interval from calving to the start of the breeding season. This means reducing the breeding and calving seasons to 45 days or less and feeding the cattle to be in good flesh at calving, and gaining in body weight until the end of the breeding season.

To improve first service conception rate, the interval from calving to breeding must be increased to allow the reproduction tract time to recover. Breeding and calving seasons must be short. The cows must be gaining body weight steadily from calving until the end of the breeding season. To reduce calf losses at or near birth, cattlemen should follow an intensive care program during a short calving season.

Mastitis is costly

The average dairyman with a 50 cow herd is losing $2500 to $3500 a year to mastitis.

About half of all the dairy cows have subclinical mastitis infections in one or two of their quarters. Mastitis produces a 5 to 25% decrease in milk production due to udder injury, milk loss following treatment and increased culling rates. When you add it all up, the average dairyman is losing $50 to $75 per cow per year from this disease.

To prevent mastitis, I recommend a combination of a good teat dipping program and dry cow treating. Dairymen should do both, the dry treatment knocks mastitis out of the udder and teat dipping keeps it out.

For dry cow treating, an antibiotic preparation (such as penicillin) in a 3% aluminum monostearate base which helps hold the product in the udder so it can do its job more effectively.

Dry cow treatment is most effective when given at the last milking. That's because new infections most often occur during the first two to three weeks of the dry period.

For teat dipping Bovadine which contains 10,000 parts per million of iodine or clox bleach mixed at the rate of four parts of bleach to one part of water. Both products are effective, but others will also work. Ask your veterinarian for his recommendations.

According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, most mastitis infections are caused by bacterial infection. Improved sanitation procedures plus careful milking practices (like not leaving the machines on cows too long) can reduce incidences of the disease.

Agriculture in Action

A new look

The 93rd Congress, which convened the first part of January, has been labeled the most urban in the history of our nation.

During most of the history of our nation, the Congress has been made up of rural or rural-oriented persons. This is not so today. The so-called "farm-bloc" is long gone and the present Congress reflects a city and urban upbringing.

Of the 435 members of the U.S. House of Representatives, including 19 from Michigan, there are only five who represent districts where more than one-fourth of the people live on farms. Two of these are from districts in Minnesota, and the other three are from Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota. There are 65 members of the House who represent districts that have ten percent or more of their constituents who are farmers.

On the other end of the spectrum, 77 members of the House, or almost 18 percent, represent districts that have no farms at all. There are 21 New York State Congressmen, 16 members from California and nine from Illinois who represent no farms. Pennsylvania, Michigan, New Jersey, Texas, Ohio and Wisconsin are other states where two or more members of the House have no farm constituents.

This new Congress is expected to consider many bills of importance to agriculture. These may include the federal farm program, marketing and bargaining, strategic reserve, minimum wages, consumer protection and government reorganization. The make-up of the new Congress will inevitably have its effect on agricultural legislation. This impact won't necessarily be unfavorable to agriculture, but it's a good bet that farm bills will have to be presented by their sponsors as legislation in the national interest.

Seek release of storage corn to Michigan farmers

LANSING -- Announcement has been made that the Michigan ASCS committee has requested Washington approval to sell old corn remaining in bin-sites throughout Michigan for farm use.

Edward R. Powell, vice president of the Michigan Elevator Exchange Division of Farm Bureau Services, said the request was made because of the wet, delayed harvest and reports of mold on corn in some areas of Michigan, Ohio and Indiana.

Some farmers and elevators, primarily in southwestern Michigan, already have purchased some of the stored corn for use in hog feeding programs.

In addition, Michigan Elevator Exchange acquired some binsite corn to supply the Farm Bureau Services feed plant at Battle Creek.

"We did not bid in competition with farmers or local feed plants in buying stored corn," Powell emphasized.

Powell said the ASCS request was made so that old corn will be available to interested farmers in Michigan rather than have it shipped out-of-state.

LIVESTOCK feeders who want to buy binsite corn can contact the Michigan Elevator Exchange or their local cooperative elevator for information on supply availability and price.

Milk house drains should be large

Milk house drains should be big and not always underfoot.

Too many dairymen are installing small, six-inch or seven-inch bell seal basement drains in new milk houses and milking parlors. These are not permitted in milk handling facilities, and they are so small that they clog easily.

"Drains should be large -- 9 inches by 12 inches or more

-- and they should be deep water seal types," reports James Boyd, Michigan State University agricultural engineer. "If they are located near a wall or a corner, the wash water can be cornered rather than washing back and forth over the drain."

Floors should slope at least one-fourth inch per foot to the drain, says Boyd. One-half inch per foot will eliminate puddling.

"Do not locate drains under the bulk tank or under the outlet valve of the bulk tank," reminds Boyd.

In the milking pit, locate the drains on the sides under the curbs, he says. This means that the pit floor is sloping to the cow platform.

Advantage: the drain is not in the center, so the milker doesn't have to walk in water.

Farmers must file Social Security reports

DETROIT -- Any farmer who pays an employee cash wages of $150 or more a year must withhold Social Security taxes and report the annual tax withheld to the Internal Revenue Service by Jan 31 according to Thomas A. Cardoza, IRS district director.

Farmers must also withhold these taxes on wages under $150 for any person hired 20 days or more a year, Cardoza said.

Farmers should file on Form 943, "Employer's Annual Tax Return for Agricultural Employees," he added.

For tax purposes, a farm employer includes anyone who pays workers to perform agricultural labor on his behalf or for someone else, Mr Cardoza said. A "crew leader" is an employer under this definition, he added.

The 1972 Social Security tax rate is 10.4 percent of the first $9000 of taxable wages paid a farm employee. The farmer and the employee each pay half the tax.

Farmers must give a W-2 wage and tax statement to every worker listed on their Form 943 from whom they withheld both income and Social Security taxes. The IRS prefers that farmers also use a W-2 for those employees listed on Form 943 from whom they withheld only Social Security tax. However, they may use Form SS-14 or a written statement containing the Social Security wage and tax information appearing on Form W-2 or SS-14.

More information is available in Publication 51 (Circular A), "Agricultural Employer's Tax Guide." Send a post card to the nearest IRS district office for a free copy.

4-H Chatter

By JOHN AYLSWORTH

Leadermete set

A new day — A new way is the theme of Michigan's 17th annual 4-H Leadermete to be held March 3-4, Kellogg Center at Michigan State University. Leaders from throughout Michigan will be participating in this statewide 4-H leader activity. The 4-H Leadermete is planned and conducted by the State 4-H Council and State 4-H Youth Program Staff.

The objective of the 4-H Leadermete is to provide an educational opportunity for discussion of 4-H leader's opportunities and responsibilities as well as to stimulate an exchange of ideas by leaders from every county.

Special events include several outstanding speakers, a visit to the MSU Planetarium for a special program called "Little Green Men", 4-H idea exchange through an "Idea Fair", informal visits with IFYE's and exchange students, Sunday morning worship service and annual Clover Award's presentation.

Clinton County may send a number of 4-H leaders with different lengths of service. The cost is $23.00 for meals, lodging and registration, but the 4-H Council will sponsor $15.00 of the cost, with leaders only paying $8.00. Any leader interested in attending this weekend 4-H Leadermete activity should contact the Extension Office as soon as possible.

The annual Vet-a-visit program at Michigan State University is scheduled for Saturday, April 14. The all day open house will be open to the public from 9:00 am to 5:00 pm. The Veterinary students are providing an excellent opportunity for the public to learn a great deal more about Veterinary medicine. This program would make an excellent club field trip.

The Up John Company of Kalamazoo, Michigan will again sponsor its 4-H Health Understanding Day on Wednesday, April 25. The program will provide additional educational experiences not otherwise available to leaders and members, include tours and demonstrations which illustrate health career opportunities, provide information useful to leaders and members within their own club and show an inter-relationship between veterinary science and animal projects and human health. Members who have attended these previous programs have indicated the Health Day is quite interesting plus very informative. Members must be 14 years of age or older to attend.

The Earl Floppers 4-H Club members have donated $1.89 toward the 4-H Motorcycle Project in Belize. This money was collected by picking up returnable pop bottles along the roadsides. Any 4-H club wishing to contribute to this International project should send their contributions to the County Extension Office in St. Johns.

The 4-H Teen Leaders will be holding their regular monthly meeting on Thursday, February 1, 7:30 pm at Smith Hall in St. Johns. Members working with recreation for the teen leader overnight will be in charge of recreation. Teen leaders planning on attending the 3-county teen leader overnight, February 17 & 18 in Corunna are urged to sign up before February 2. The county quota is 30 members.

The next regular 4-H glass collection day will be Saturday, February 3 in St. Johns. People outside of St. Johns are urged to bring their glass containers to the fairgrounds between 9:00-12:00 noon. The total glass collected for recycling to date includes 417,600 pounds. I hope you will help the 4-H teen leaders with this project by saving your glass bottles.

Local couple attends Hawaii ag conference

Mr and Mrs Albert Schaefer of St. Johns, Michigan, were among more than 400 farm couples who attended a national farm business conference in Honolulu, Hawaii last week, sponsored by Farm Wife News magazine.

The conference consisted of special seminars on farm management techniques, goal setting and agri-estate planning, plus tours of selected livestock and cropping facilities.

The farm couples flew to and from Hawaii in giant 747 jumbo jets, and stayed at the beautiful Sheraton Waikiki Hotel, located right on famous Waikiki Beach at the edge of the Pacific. The conference included a mid-week flight to the island of Maui where the farm group toured the research facilities of a major seed firm, and viewed no-tillage plots especially planted for the conference to show no-till crops in the growing stage. According to the Schaefers, temperatures were in the high 70's and low 80's for the entire week. Just prior to departure, at the end of the week-long conference, the group toured Pearl Harbor and several more of Hawaii's scenic sites.

The conference received such a reception from farm couples that Farm Wife News has now scheduled a second similar conference in Honolulu the week of March 25-31. If any farm couples from this area are interested in attending the March conference, the Schaefers say they will be glad to provide information and an evaluation of the first conference.

Wheat set aside requirements change

The US Department of Agriculture has announced the elimination of the mandatory set aside requirement under the 1973 wheat program except for producers who elect to participate in the voluntary set aside.

Dorn Diehl, State Executive Director of the Michigan ASCS Office said the move was made to assure an adequate supply of agricultural commodities to meet a growing market demand.

Since announcement of the program last July, demand for wheat worldwide has developed following crop failures or reductions in grain harvest throughout much of Asia and in other portions of the world. Demand for other grain crops and for oilseed crops also has increased sharply.

The department also announced that livestock grazing will be permitted on acreage set aside under the provisions of the 1973 feed grain and wheat programs. The decision to permit grazing on set aside was made in order to prevent or alleviate a shortage in the supply of livestock feed.

The grazing privilege will assist livestock producers in meeting increasing consumer demand for meat products by making additional forage available to supplement feed supplies for the production of livestock, Diehl added. Previously grazing of set aside acreage was not permitted during any of the five principal months of the normal growing season.

There will be a reduction in payment for the privilege of grazing the set aside acres. The county set aside payment rate reduction for those producers electing to graze set aside acreage will be available at all county ASCS offices in the near future, Diehl concluded.

Wet weather brings problems

EAST LANSING — With the wet weather we had in 1972, we've created some new problems or intensified some old ones. Here are a few:

1. Compacted soils. An old problem, but much more widespread for 1973 and much more intense on those fields where harvesting operations were carried out in the mud.

2. Abundant surface residue. This resulted from favorable growing conditions during 1972 and because many fields have not been harvested.

3. Pest and disease problems. There are greater possibilities for more insect and disease problems this spring. And, because of higher grain losses, the possibility of more severe rodent problems is in the picture.

4. Weeds. We'll have some problems, including additional ones associated with volunteer crops.

5. In addition to these, we'll probably need to do more spring work, because we didn't get the jobs done last fall.

Plan now for action this spring.

Things to Do this Spring

1. Allow the soil to dry adequately before starting field operations.

2. Forget about deep tillage on deeply compacted soils until fall, when the subsoil is dry.

3. Combine tillage operations to reduce the number of trips over the field.

4. Use minimum tillage.

5. Reduce tillage depths.

6. When plowing, run tractor "on land," if possible.

7. Give consideration to "no-plow" tillage, combined with a good herbicide program. Apply herbicide as a part of the planting operation.

8. On fine-textured, poorly drained soils — if the spring opens up slowly — consider "no-plow" tillable methods.

9. Plant shallow, unless the surface soil is dry.

10. Use dual tires, or "flotation-type" tires on both tractors and implements wherever possible.

11. Work "around" wet spots through wet spots.

12. Use the smallest tractor possible for the job being done.

13. With corn-after-corn or beans-after-corn, be prepared to cultivate or hoe to knock out volunteer corn.

14. If planting in 20-inch rows, plan to equip a tractor with 10-inch tires for emergency cultivation.

15. Consider delaying the spreading of manure until after corn is planted, then applying it as a top-dressing.

16. Use early maturing hybrids.

17. Nextfall — If subsoil is dry — deep-till to break up deep compaction.

18. Be ready to GO when the field is ready.

DON'T'S:

1. DON'T work soil when it is wet.

2. DON'T till deeply in the spring.

3. DON'T apply manure or fertilizer during the winter.

4. DON'T be in a hurry — until the soil is right — then MOVE!!!

Sign-up for farm programs opens Feb 5

EAST LANSING — Sign-up for the 1973 Feed Grain and Wheat Programs is scheduled to begin on February 5 and will end on March 16. This announcement was made by Dorn Diehl, Executive Director of the Michigan State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Notices of farm wheat allotments and feed grain bases with related crop yields are now being completed in county ASCS offices and will be mailed soon to all producers eligible to participate in the 1973 program. With sign up in the 1973 Wheat and Feed Grain Programs due to begin next week, a producer of these grains has several decisions to make.

His first decision will be whether or not he wishes to participate in one or both programs. Participants in the feed grain program will then decide whether to sign up for the 30 percent plan or the 15 percent plan. Under the 30 percent plan a producer will be required to set-aside 30 percent of his feed grain base. His total feed grain acreage will not be limited after he meets his set-aside intentions and maintains the conserving base on his farm. Under the 15 percent plan a participant will be required to set-aside only 15 percent of his total feed grain base. However, under this plan he agrees not to increase his 1973 feed grain acreage above what he had in 1972. The payment rates vary between crops and also between farms because of the different crop yields established on each farm.

A decision to participate in the Wheat Program will be much easier to make, according to Diehl, because of recent announced changes in the 1973 Wheat Program. A producer with a wheat allotment can earn his certificate payment by signing an application and maintaining his conserving base. The 86 percent set-aside requirement initially announced has been dropped. However, the producer wishing to qualify for the additional set-aside payment must divert acreage equal to 86 percent of his allotment plus any other acreage he intends to set-aside within established limits. His acreage of wheat will be limited under this option.

These and other details of the 1973 programs for feed grains and wheat will be mailed to producers and will also be available at all county ASCS offices before the sign up begins.

CNB&T announces growth in real estate mortgages

Ed Note: The following information on mortgage sales in Clinton County was furnished by Clinton National Bank & Trust.

ST. JOHNS—A total of 1548 real estate mortgages were recorded in Clinton County during 1972, reflecting an increase of 1007 transactions recorded during the previous year. Of 5 major lending institutions serving the area, Clinton National Bank and Trust Co. accounted for the greatest number of real estate mortgages and highest dollar volume loaned during the year for real estate mortgages. Of the total recorded transactions, CNB&T issued 345 or 22% with a dollar volume of $7,633,018, which was 22% of the dollar volume recorded total of $34,215,680. The figures, compiled by the Credit Bureau of Clinton County, credited the other major lenders in the county with the following totals: National Savings and Loan Assn., 284 mortgages with a dollar volume of $1,548,454 and both figures represent 5 percent of the totals. AB&T accounted for 67 mortgages, 4% with a dollar volume of $1,159,669, 3% of the total. The balance of the totals was filled in by a number of other agencies and private lenders. Various government agencies accounted for 10% of the year's activities with 149 mortgages with a 12% dollar volume of $4,156,089. A grouping of 114 other lenders issued 437 mortgages accounting for 28 percent on a dollar volume of $10,405,669 which was 30% of the total dollars issued for real estate mortgages in the county during 1972. CNB&T CONTINUED its lending real estate mortgages during the past year by increasing its percentage of the market over 1971 when the bank issued 210 mortgages or 19 percent of the recorded total. Real estate activity in Clinton County has steadily increased in recent years and based on this projected growth, CNB&T established a separate mortgage department in early 1971. Upon completion of a 2-year real estate mortgage course at Ohio State University, Bob Bogdan was assigned to the department as supervisor and under his direction the nearly 2-year-old department has experienced steady growth. Bogdan, assistant cashier with CNB&T formerly served as a loan officer in St. Johns and other offices. CNB&T maintains principal offices in St. Johns with branches in 9 other communities throughout Clinton County and the north Lansing area.

Carson City Hospital receives Kellogg Grant

The Carson City Hospital has received a grant from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation of $15,000.00 to assist in the construction of a new three bed Coronary Care Unit and a two bed Intensive Care Unit. This project has been developing since late 1971 under the guidance of the Michigan Comprehensive Coronary Care Unit and the University of Michigan. The role of the University of Michigan Educational Center was in education. The University sent an instructor to Carson City Hospital, a Miss Belfry, R.N., who along with Dr. William Graves, the internist at Carson City Hospital and Chairman of the department of Internal Medicine, conducted a six week intensive course in Coronary Care. A total of 35 R.N.'s and L.P.N.'s completed the course. Continuing education in Coronary Care is going on uninterrupted at Carson City Hospital. Starting November of 1972, the physician on the staff have been attending education programs semi-monthly concerning cardiac patients. Specialists in Internal Medicine from the Western Michigan Educational Program of Grand Rapids have been conducting the program. The University of Michigan also offered architectural guidance for the design and construction of the unit working closely with the Coronary Care Committee at Carson City Hospital and the hospital architect. The area chosen for the location of the Coronary Care Unit is the former dining room and day room of the extended care unit. The extended care unit has been converted to acute beds in June of 1971. The combination unit is a concept designed to better serve the patient in need of intensive acute care as well as the heart patient unit. It is located in the area of the former dining room and intensive care unit of the former dining room and intensive care unit. The unit will be under visual and electronic observation from a central nursing station. Placement of the central nursing station enables its staff to view every patient in both units. The Kellogg Foundation by providing a financial assistance is enabling small town hospitals to install Coronary Care Units thereby providing a service that has been limited to patients living near larger metropolitan areas. There is a heart attack victim living in a small town to reach a large city hospital with a coronary care unit. The primary construction of the Nurses Station, Medicine Room, Linen Room and Storage Room for the South Unit are nearing completion and construction will begin shortly after the opening of this Coronary Care - Intensive Care Unit. The Board of Directors has contracted for the unit to the Greenville Construction Company, Holwerda-Huizinga of Grand Rapids and Charles Electric of Grand Rapids for the electrical work. The total cost of the unit including equipment will be in excess of $90,000.00.

Yard work in winter?

EAST LANSING—Want to have a yard you can be proud of next summer? January is the time to start working on it, according to Michigan State University landscape experts. Here are some of their suggestions:

- Remove any dead or dying trees. If you don't have the time or the tools to do the job right, or if the tree is tangled with telephone or power lines, hire expert tree workmen. January is an excellent time for this job since professional workmen are not too busy and less damage will be done to the frozen ground. Tree removal is also made easier by the absence of leaves.
- Plan early for any landscaping you may want to do. Visit your landscape architect now for help in deciding where to plant. Then pick out ornamentals and shrubs for your yard from your nurseryman.
- Protect your shrubs and trees from winter hazards. Check plants after heavy storms and carefully brush off excess snow and ice, with an old broom. Heavy snow loads can break off branches or ruin the shape of your evergreens.
- Protect roadside shrubs from salt damage by setting up a low fence covered with burlap or some other heavy material between the plants and the road.
- Use stakes to support tall spindly plants against winter winds.

In summary, your basic objective is to prevent cold, dry winter conditions from drying out newly set plants. You will save replacement costs as well as having more vigorous plants to enjoy next spring.

THOUGHTS THROUGH A TYPEWRITER

The Singing of God Bless America by press officials from all over Michigan, led by the Conti Family was a particularly moving experience Saturday. The singing climaxed 2 days of Michigan Press Association Convention activity and was a fitting tribute.

Although I'm an avid sports fan and watch so many televised sports—my eyes have works in the drawer—2 televised sporting events bore me beyond words. They are golfing and bowling—I enjoy participating in both, but cannot enjoy watching them.

I'd like to thank the dummy who pulled onto US-27 in front of reporter Laurie Kipp the other day. After pulling in front of her, she switched lanes to avoid him, but he then decided to go back over to the right lane. After almost causing an accident twice because of his haste, he proceeded on his way at about 30 miles per hour.

How tall do Colorado Blue Spruce trees grow? I'm the owner of 4 seedlings with orders to plant immediately. But, I need to know how tall they grow. If they're going to be big fellas, they'll be in one area of the yard, but if they're just the short variety they go in another spot. Any help would be appreciated.

Abridged snakes

Editor, Lapeer County Press

By Jim Fitzgerald

My wife was sitting there, flinching as she pasted tape over the pictures of snakes in our American Heritage dictionary.

"Wouldn't it be easier just to avoid the 'S' section?" I asked. "Lies, never that easy," she answered. "There are pictures of snakes scattered all through this darn book. I don't dare open a page."

"If you cannot stand to look at pictures of snakes, how can you look at those long enough to tell whether they should be taped over?" I asked.

"It isn't easy," she shuddered, holding the dictionary behind her back while she pasted over half a "R" page to wipe out a little rattler. "But I figure a few minutes of torture now are worth the future freedom of knowing I can thumb through the dictionary without being shocked to death."

"Readers often accuse me of exaggerating when I write about you," I said. "When I tell the world that you paste tape over pictures of snakes in the dictionary, no one is going to believe me. They are going to say 'Ha, there he goes fibbing about his poor wife again.'"

"Everyone has their little idiosyncrasies," she said. "But only I have a husband who blabs family secrets in a newspaper column."

"The only way I can establish my credibility is to invite readers over to look up snakes in our dictionary," I said. "For directions: IMPORTANT: remove seedling from package before planting.

PUNSARE FUN: A recent purchaser of a lottery ticket complained the ink rubbed off on his fingers. He rubbed his eyes and they became severely irritated. However, he won the big drawing—that's the luck of the Eye Rash.

I don't understand all I know about this: The war in Vietnam is reported ended. The draft is gone. But, our military budget raises by a figure of 1 or 2 billion.

I think that I'll shall never see A billboard lovely as a tree.

Indeed, I'll never see a tree at all, unless those billboards all should fall.

Ogden Nash, or Bennett Cerf or somebody with apologies to Joyce Kilmer.

The above bit of poetry receives an answer from all those red stickers visible on billboards along US-27. They're telling owners of the signs they must come down. I've just one question. A barn, with one outside wall containing a chewing tobacco message, has one of the red stickers. Is the owner of the barn going to have to tear it down?

Thank you Jaycees

Thank-you, St Johns Jaycees. Although General Motors will no longer sponsor the annual Soap Box Derby, St Johns Jaycees are not going to let the popular activity die in St Johns.

Because of the amount of local interest and participation during the past 10 years, the Jaycees have voted to continue the project without sponsorship.

It would be easy to say, "Such an undertaking is impossible without the national program and we will no longer conduct the Derby."

St Johns Jaycees are not taking the easy way out—they're going to stick with it and any help offered would surely be appreciated.

Fine job by ABC

Congratulations to ABC Television for their recent movie "Go Ask Alice."

The made-for-television movie told the tale of a young drug addict through the words she entered in her diary.

There was no glamour or excitement depicted in the life of a drug addict. At no place in the film could the viewer express any feeling but horror at the life resulting from a young person experimenting with drugs.

So many times we have wondered if many of the anti-drug campaigns, didn't actually tempt our young people to think: "they say it's wrong, but it really sounds like a kick."

You couldn't get that feeling from "Go Ask Alice." It's a life of hell and, for once, a television production came through with a loud clear message and one that didn't end on a happy note to please the viewer.

The believed-to-be ex addict died and that's how the movie ended.

A true picture, presented by a network that can honestly say it served the public.

We would hope more television enterprises were capable of such programming.

View from the Senate

By SEN. WILLIAM S. BALLENGER

Why do people lose faith in their state government?

There appears to be no one single reason. It's a combination of things and people—the Governor, bureaucrats, legislators, lobbyists, the press and the general public itself.

It's going to take constructive changes by all of these groups if a present drive in the Legislature to restore faith in government is to succeed as its sponsors hope it will.

In his recent State of the State message, Governor William G. Milliken said:

"The greatest single challenge which faces all of us in government is that of doing the most effective job possible. Our citizens are absolutely fed up with ever-rising taxes. And, quite frankly, they don't think their tax dollar is being well spent. Many people have lost all faith in government; almost all have lost some faith in government."

Let's take a look at a few of the problems, particularly the "credibility gap".

Back in 1967 when the campaign was on to institute a state income tax, then Governor George Romney used as one of his talking points the promise that any state income tax would include property tax relief in the form of credits. But the next year, after the income tax was passed, the Governor's office pushed a bill through the Legislature to reduce the amount of credit a property owner could take on his income tax.

Early in 1971, Governor Milliken announced that he didn't see any reason why there had to be a tax increase for the 1971-72 fiscal year. All the same, he mounted pressure on the Legislature to impose a two-cent gas tax to pay for mass transit in Southeast Michigan. Then the Governor was forced to admit, in mid-1971, that his budget estimate had been wrong and that the Legislature should pass a "temporary" 1.3 percent tax increase on personal income.

Last year, of course, he demanded that the "temporary" tax be made permanent—and the Legislature complied.

Yet, in the first week of this year's session, the Governor announced that the state had so much money in the treasury that he would press for a $370 million tax cut over the next two years. Many legislators and citizens found it hard to follow this reasoning even though they couldn't help but be happy at the possibility of a tax cut.

Two years ago, when the Governor's office first pushed for an income tax increase, it came as a straight percentage increase across the board. Now the Governor proposes an income tax cut—but not by that same straight percentage method. This proposed cut is to be by raising the exemption which, in effect, would graduate the income tax even though Michigan voters soundly rejected the concept of a graduated tax last November 7.

If the Governor's present tax cut proposals are adopted without change, a lot of people again may find their "faith" in their government weakened because they are not in the brackets to profit by the formula proposed.

True, some legislators contribute to this loss of public faith when they do things the public feels are unnecessary or unethical. The practice of "lame ducks" going on out-of-state junkets when they will not be around to use the experience they gain certainly doesn't improve the Legislature's public image. A few bad apples in the whole barrel can despoil a lot of good ones.

Turning to the news media, it's noteworthy to read the parting shot of now ex-State Rep. Jim Brown of Okemos, a man who not only was a legislator for four years, but who was weened on the newspaper business and who served as President of the Michigan Press Association. Listen to Jim Brown:

"The press can often become more intolerant and ruthless than the politicians it attacks."

"It is particularly difficult for me to criticize an industry that has been so much a part of my life. But the press needs to be dealt with in a straight-forward fashion. A few media specialists have brutally abused their power in the affairs of state by 'tarring every governmental official with the same brush.'—by defacing the image of the legislative branch of government through emphasizing the negative actions of a few. Some say that the deliberate nature of these attacks can only be recognized upon the realization that such gestures serve to elevate by coercion the position of the media as a mold of public opinion and political events. In so doing, the Fourth Estate has itself become a tool!"

It's generally acknowledged by objective Capitol observers that last year's session of the Legislature produced a

Go to the Post Office for tax information

ST JOHNS—A booklet that gives information on how to fill out Federal tax returns is now on sale at the St Johns post office at 75 cents a copy.

"Your Federal Income Tax" was written by the Internal Revenue Service and contains many examples to illustrate how the tax laws apply to actual situations.

A special feature of the booklet is the sample, filled-in return, form 1040, keyed to pages where explanations can be found for each entry on the return.

"By selling this booklet at postal facilities in the St Johns area, we are offering a convenient service to our customers," Postmaster Keith A. Mishler said. "We are participating in a nationwide program to make this authoritative tax booklet available to the public."

Seaman Reaume

PENSACOLA, FLA -- Navy Seaman Recruit Joseph M Reaume, son of Mr and Mrs Elwood H Reaume of Route 1, Fowler, has reported for duty at the Naval Air Station Ellyson Field, Pensacola, Fla.

BORROWED ASSETS

If winter came in like a Lion
And started way back in the fall,
If it gobbled up corn, beans, and soybeans
Without any warning at all;
If the sun failed to shine in November
And the floods found each cranny and crack
Since the weather man borrowed our autumn
We wonder when he'll give it back?

When we lose one more hour to "fast-timers"
Who would constantly tinker the clock
So our kids go to school in the darkness,
Will that put us further in hock?
There must be a time for re-paying
Though far off - alas and alack!
For each valued item that's borrowed
There should be a time to pay back,

The state legislators who junket
On state paid "vacations" and seek
To solve all the riddles of dog tracks
And sun-burn themselves on the beach;
For the "lame ducks" seeking a cure
Who join in this rich "sneak attack"
Just when can we find re-imbursment
Do such funds ever win their way back?

Our now highly paid public servants
Who feed long and well at the trough
Vote themselves shorter hours plus a pension
To further pursue their time off
We can't blame it all on the weather,
So we rate it a borrowing knack,
But the time and the money they "borrow"
Do they ever intend to pay back?

Abortion ruling

Rep. Douglas Trosbe
87th District

When the US Supreme Court recently handed down its ruling concerning abortion, there was naturally a great deal of consternation in Michigan. After all, hadn't we just turned down a referendum changing our abortion laws and wasn't the Supreme Court acting in direct conflict with the wishes of the people of Michigan?

I guess we'd have to answer "yes" to both of those questions. But maybe some background on the whole subject would be helpful.

We are all familiar with the phrase, "the US Constitution is the supreme law of the land". So it is, and every law - federal, state or local - must conform to the limitations set down in that document. Even the constitutions of the states themselves cannot conflict with the US Constitution. When they do, the US Constitution supersedes the state charters and remains supreme. No group, no legislative body, not even the voters of a state has the right to enact laws in conflict with that constitution. The people do have the ultimate power, of course, but to exercise it in opposition to the US Constitution, they must amend the Constitution.

It is the function of the courts of this country to rule on whether the laws enacted by the congress, the state legislatures, the city councils, etc are legal under that US Constitution. The courts do not automatically check every law enacted but give rulings only when cases are brought before them challenging the constitutionality of a given law.

So it was with the abortion case. A Texas law, which made abortion at any time a crime, was challenged as to its constitutionality. It was subsequently ruled that a fetus is not a "person" as that word is used in the US Constitution and that the government had no compelling interest in the life of that fetus until it reached the point at which it could live outside of the womb. The basic decision was that the Texas law violated the 14th Amendment to the US Constitution which prohibits the states from abridging a person's privileges or immunities as a citizen of the United States. In this case, the "person" is the woman. The Supreme Court ruling provides for minimum legal restrictions on abortions during the first 3 months, but allows the states to impose restrictions as pregnancy progresses into the later months.

The principle of recognizing different stages of pregnancy has been present in Michigan law for over 100 years. While abortion has been illegal at all stages except to save the life of the mother, the penalty for performing abortions in the early stages of pregnancy was relatively mild. Only in the case of the "quickened" child (did abortion become a case of manslaughter, carrying a prison term of up to 15 years.

So, where do we go from here?

The Texas law is very similar to our Michigan law. It is apparent that we now have no valid law in this state against abortion at any stage of pregnancy. All we have is the court decision which sets down general

Recycling starts at home.

What are you doing about trash? You're making it, for one thing, and you're making a lot of it. The average trash output per person per year in the United States includes 188 pounds of paper, 135 bottles and jars, and 250 metal cans.

That's a lot of trash. Multiply that by the total population of the country, and you can begin to see the scope of the waste disposal problem.

The entire problem is bigger than those figures indicate for they do not include the thousands of junked cars lying in auto graveyards and along back roads, food and garden wastes and their attendant fly and rodent pests, and the thousand and one other things that find their way into our garbage cans and junkyards.

It's easy enough to put the blame on our affluent, one-way society. But "society" is us, the individual citizens. We're the ones who continue the use-it-once-throw-it-away consumer philosophy. So it's primarily up to us to demand a change from planned obsolescence and convenient disposability to design for long life and reuseability.

Concerned citizens can start by examining their own trash-generating habits and finding ways to cut down their output.

Waste paper makes up 60 percent of all household refuse. Start a campaign against trash by reducing paper consumption as much as possible. Substitute cloth products for paper throwaways whenever possible. Reuse paper bags and send your newspapers to the recycling center. When you read a book or magazine, pass it on rather than burning your friends to buy copies.

Put your creativity to work and turn cards and wrapping paper into decorations, original greeting cards and decoupage items.

Remind yourself that paper has two perfectly good sides - and use them.

Buying returnable rather than throwaway bottles is a good start on the glass problem and support glass collection and recycling.

Find new uses for containers rather than discarding them. Wide-mouth jars with tight-fitting lids are excellent storage and leftover containers. Fancy bottles can be used as decorative items or bases for lamps.

Emptied cans can serve a number of uses. Use coffee and shortening cans with plastic lids to keep sweets and cereal products fresh and shut safely away from prowling insect pests. Three or four such cans in different sizes, with plastic lids on both tops and bottoms, make a very serviceable cannister set.

A coffee can also makes a good charcoal briquet saver. Just drop used briquets into a can of water to cool; then dry and use again. It saves on charcoal and lessens the danger of a small child being burned while investigating a neglected grill full of hot coals.

Whenever possible, cans should be collected and recycled for reuse as steel scrap. Paper is a renewable resource and glass is very abundant, but the world's supply of iron is limited. To conserve it, we must begin to reuse it rather than continue to throw it away.

It is estimated that for every ton of scrap used, 1-1/2 tons of iron ore, a ton of coke and 1/2 ton of limestone are saved. Iron ore, coke and limestone are all limited resources that can be conserved through steel recycling.

Throwing bottles, papers or cans into the recycling bin is only half the job. Citizens must also demand products made from recycled materials and apply pressure to manufacturers and merchants until they get them.

But, recycling will not be effective until it is economically feasible. More private companies are not involved in it now because it does not pay well enough. It will not pay until people produce a market for recycled products. Unless citizens are willing to pay a little extra in direct cost to avoid paying the indirect costs of damage to the environment, depletion of natural resources and disposal of the ever-growing mountains of solid waste this society is generating, widespread, effective recycling cannot become a reality.

He thinks it's a mess

The state of the state MESSAGE and some of what it's all about. To understand its lack of real meaning and the plate of scrambled eggs as was handed to the public, we must go into the past.

In the past 5 years Michigan's tax increase rate has been in the top 8 states at a neat 87% or nearly doubled in this time. The per person tax load comes in the same range, with 42 states lower than Michigan and these states are not the same states as have the top tax increase except in the case of Michigan.

Michigan is second to only Alaska in average teachers and school personnel pay.

Legislatures pay, second highest, most state offices among the top in the nation in pay as are many of the state jobs, in fact private industry is often forced to compete with the state and on federal government to fill their vacancies thus contributing to the spiraling inflation.

This state is top heavy with over payments to far too many useless overpaid workers and political hangers on and could only get that way with weak-kneed lackies in the top offices who allow the state workers to take that what has been built up over the past years by the honest workers and guardians of this state in the past.

Recent statistics doesn't even place Michigan in the top 10 of yearly wage earners, of course as industry

Strong words on ambulance

I would like to express my opinions on the ambulance service in this area. First of all I would like to say that I work for AAA ambulance, but that these are my own personal views and opinions.

The people in this county had better WAKE UP! An ambulance service is absolutely mandatory! There are no "ifs" and "buts" about it! We all know this. The question seems to be, "who should financially support the service?" "the city or the county?"

My answer to this is that everyone in this county who might need an ambulance should help pay for one. That includes everyone in this county. We all travel the streets, roads, and highways and we all face the possibility of being in an accident. Seeing this, we should all safeguard ourselves by making sure the best possible ambulance service is available when we need it.

In order to assure this I propose that 1) the city and the county subsidize AAA dollar for dollar 2) that enough money is made available for the purchase of a second ambulance (in case of a multi-car accident or two accidents happening at the same time.) 3) that enough money is made available to set up two way communication between the ambulance and one of the doctors offices, and 4) that more men volunteer to be ambulance drivers.

I'm sure that if you have ever seen a bad accident and know that there is every possibility that you and your family might be in one, you would not think this extravagant.

Thanks for No. 19 story

Dear Sir: We at the Clinton County Road Commission wish to express our appreciation for the article you published recently concerning #19 and the part it plays in financing work done on Clinton County roads.

An article like this is truly a public service communication and helps greatly in alerting county residents to the importance to themselves of properly registering their autos. This in turn helps us to better perform the services we are charged with doing and are expected to perform by the driving public.

Yours very truly, record of accomplishment seldom surpassed in modern history. But because some embittered newsmen kept their eye on the hole rather than the donut, it's doubtful that the public got this impression.

Turning to lobbyists, the great majority of whom are serious, responsible and helpful people who provide valuable information which legislators need to properly evaluate pending legislation, it's nevertheless true that some overly zealous legislative agents with questionable scruples contribute to a picture of legislative activity that is false and bound to detract from the public's faith in government.

And, last but not least, there's the public itself. It's appalling how little many citizens know of how their government operates. As part of a special interest group, individual members of the general public may exert heavy pressure on the Legislature for funds for this cause or that. But, in the next breath, they lash out at the Legislature for spending so much money and raising taxes all the time.

It's almost impossible to eliminate or reduce a state service once it is started because of the heavy pressures to retain and even enlarge it. And yet, only by eliminating unnecessary or exorbitant spending can appreciable tax cuts be effected.

As many times as the point has been made, people still think legislators can raise their own salaries. Legislators have not been able to do this since 1968 when the people turned this rules which will be used by prosecutors, judges and juries as the basis for considering the guilt or innocence of persons accused of that crime.

It is obvious we have to do something in the Legislature. Temporary rules from the Department of Health may work for a while but we need an effective law in Michigan which will fit within the Supreme Court decision and will give the maximum consideration possible to the wishes of the people as they expressed it in last November's election.

I hope to have more to report on this later and will be looking for serious comments from constituents on the subject.

responsibility over to a citizens' salary commission. Many people still think their taxes zoom precipitously because of legislators' salaries. But the salary of one State Senator or Representative costs each resident of Michigan about two cents a year.

As co-chairman of a newly-designated Senate Committee on Political Ethics, I recognize that my task of enhancing faith in state government will not be easy. There are too many factors involved. But, with a series of public hearings we're holding around the state and some meaningful legislation on open meetings, lobbyist control, conflict of interest, and campaign financing reform that will be introduced shortly, a strong attempt will be made to do just that in 1973.

Viet Nam mental health casualties

There is nothing good about wars, despite the possible wishful thinking of some people.

The Viet Nam conflict, with the dubious distinction of being perhaps the most unpopular fighting our country has ever been engaged in, is no exception. It is true, however, that in some ways the desperate efforts that have to be made in times of war, lead occasionally to scientific, medical and health breakthroughs.

This seems to have been more certain of World War II and the Korean conflict, than it has ever been of the present disaster in Southeast Asia.

PROGRESS IN UNDERSTANDING

For instance, both of those previous conflagrations brought about better and more progressive psychiatric treatment of mental stress casualties.

The rapid treatment of soldiers affected by emotional disturbance, and their quick return to their units during World War II, and particularly in the Korean War, was later transposed to civilian life as the beginnings of community treatment for the mentally ill and the emotionally disabled.

The important discovery that military units which had sound leadership and good esprit de corps produced fewer cases of "battle fatigue" or mental crack-ups helped us understand what happens in civilian life. If an individual lives in a community where others accept and like him; and he senses the support of a network of relatives, friends, service agencies and the like, chances of his ever becoming emotionally upset

Rep. Trezise asks for drug controls

State Representative R. Douglas Trezise, Owosso Republican, has joined in asking the State Board of Pharmacy to bring the substance known as Quaaludes or Methaqualone under the Michigan Controlled Substances Act. Representative Trezise said he was acting on the request of the Shiawassee County Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse (CADE).

According to CADE, the drug which is essentially a tranquilizer can produce severe and even fatal effects when used in combination with alcohol. There is indication that the drug is growing in usage in the mid Michigan area, according to representatives of several organizations working with the drug problem.

In seeking this action by the State Board of Pharmacy, Trezise joins many other public officials, including Governor Milliken, in recognizing the dangers of Methaqualone and its increasing usage. He also indicated his willingness to sponsor legislation if it is needed to bring the substance under closer control.

PIRATE FOWLED ON WAY TO THE BUCKET

Pewamo-Westphalia wins, tied for second place

LAINGSBURG - Pewamo Westphalia put together matching 20 point performances in their 78-62 victory over Laingsburg Friday night.

The Pirates grabbed a narrow 20-16 point lead in the opening period, but held Laingsburg to just 8 points in the 2d quarter for a 40-24 halftime lead.

Laingsburg came back in the 3d quarter to outscore the Pirates 16-15, but could do little to close the gap already established the 1st half.

Against Laingsburg outshot P-W in the final quarter 25-23. But, it was Pewamo Westphalia who set the scoring pace early in the game, who walked into the locker room with the victory.

The win moves P-W into a tie for 2d place in Central Michigan Athletic Conference play with Webberville. Both have 7-3 records, and trail 1st place Fowler who is 10-0 for the season.

RANDY WALTER led the Pirate scoring with 22 points with Jim Hengesbach also hitting in double figures with 19, followed by Louie Thelen with 14.

Allen Nurenburg and Randy Fedewa followed with 8 coming from Jim Cotter 4 and Dan May with 2.

P-W met Webberville Tuesday head-on for sole possession of 2d place in the league. (Results of that contest will be in next week's County News).

The Pirates take on Potterville in an away game Feb 2.

As they notch 10th win-no losses

It's another close one for Fowler

FOWLER - After leading by 10 points going into the 2d quarter, Fowler again faced a squad intent upon breaking their 10-game winning streak.

The Eagles jumped out in front of Portland St Patrick Friday night 21-11 in the 1st quarter.

But, St Pats fought back to outscore the Eagles 16-12 in the 2d period to put the score in Fowler's favor 33-27 at halftime.

St Pats again outscored the Eagles in the 3d period 20-19 to pull within 5 points.

It was a close 4th quarter, but Fowler held off the St Pats offense, outscoring them 18-17 to notch their 10th victory with no losses this season.

THE ENTIRE starting five hit in double figures for Eagles, led by Rob MacKinnon and John Simon with 16 a piece.

Next was Mel Pohl with 14, Tony Thelen 11 and Glenn Thelen with 10. Also scoring was Bill Thelen with 2 and Dan Jandernoa with 1.

Open Letter

from VAN W. HOAG

Dear friends,

It deserves emphasis that the time, the place, the character of the funeral service, the merchandise used, the cemetery selected - these are decisions of the family of the deceased. The funeral director acts only as a representative of the family.

The clergyman should be consulted in matters that concern him before any decisions are made.

Respectfully,

Van W. Hoag

Norway Spruce windbreak on the George Moore farm, Duplain Township. This windbreak is in the Maple River Watershed; it is desirable that each rural home have a conifer windbreak to assist in conserving our natural resources of gas and oil used for heating the home, and to hold the snow for slower release of water to the river.

County soil survey nears completion

By Glenn A. Weesies
Soil Scientist
Soil Conservation Service

"Almost" is the word for the Clinton County Soil Survey. Field work last summer was carried out in the last two townships -- Lebanon and Essex. Only a few areas remain which require field investigation. "As soon as weather permits, we will be out checking the last of these areas. All field work should be completed by June," states Karl Pregitzer, Soil Survey Party Leader.

Pregitzer and fellow Soil Scientist Glenn Weesies make up the field party for the U.S. Soil Conservation Service. During the winter the soil survey field maps will be prepared for reproduction, data collected in the field will be analyzed and interpretations will be developed for use of these soils.

The completed soil survey report will contain detailed soil maps of the entire county mounted on an aerial photo base. It will contain a general soil map for broad, regional planning. It will contain descriptions of the soils mapped in the county. It will suggest use and management of these soils for farming, woodlands and wildlife. It will list the limitations of these soils for highway construction, agricultural drainage, farm ponds, recreation, residential development and use as sewage disposal fields.

According to Pregitzer, the report will be completed by his staff by next fall. It then must be reviewed and edited by various state and national soil scientists and then sent to the U.S. Government Printing Office. "We might expect the Published Report to be ready for distribution in 2 to 3 years," states Pregitzer.

In the meantime, a limited supply of soil map reproductions and soil information will be available at the SCS office in St. Johns. They are also available at various county and township offices. Soil map reproductions of the last two townships will be available by early spring.

Anyone desiring soil information may obtain it at the St. Johns office. Personnel are available to give technical field assistance to anyone desiring help with problems relating to soil and water conservation. To obtain information and assistance, come to the Clinton County Soil Conservation District Office, 100 S. Ottawa, St. Johns; or call 224-4318.

Unique land

Acreage suitable for orchards, vineyards, and the production of truck crops is becoming less plentiful each year because of the spread of non-farm uses of land. This poses a special problem affecting not only the production and availability, but the cost and quality of fruits and vegetables for the consumers. The directors favor legislation that would preserve these unique and limited lands for agricultural use. The directors also support legislation that would protect other types of prime agricultural land against irresponsible conversion to non-farm uses.

Future

It has been said that time is divided into three parts -- the Past, the Present, and the Future. We can do nothing about the past. It is gone and can never be recalled. The present is only an instant. The future is the only period of time that we can do anything about.

Land treatment progressing in Maple River Watershed

JOHNSWANSON
Soil Conservationist

Many people only see or hear about one part of watershed projects such as the Upper Maple River Watershed. This is the channel improvements, dams and other structures that are obvious to everyone.

Controlling runoff where the rain falls is also an important part of watershed projects. It protects and makes the dams and channel improvements more effective. The application of conservation practices not only helps control runoff but the amount of sediment it carries.

Many landowners in the Upper Maple River Watershed are becoming co-operators of their local Soil Conservation Districts. Extra technical assistance is being provided to help them prepare conservation plans for their properties. Others are being assisted in revising or applying existing plans.

Tiling is one of the major practices being applied in the Upper Maple River Watershed. Rain runs off land that is saturated with water. Tiling makes the land like a sponge. Rainwater is soaked up rather than running off to cause erosion and floods.

In some areas tiling allows intensive cropping to be shifted from hilly land to level land that was once too wet. The hilly land can then be planted to grasses or trees to control erosion.

Erosion cannot be stopped completely. However, rotating crops according to the capability of the land will help keep it within acceptable limits. Plowing down crop residues and use of minimum tillage keep the soil in good tilth. Water will soak in faster as a result.

Conservation practices applied also improve wildlife habitat. Wildlife habitat is damaged or destroyed by flooding or sediment deposits just as farmers' crops are.

Ponds constructed for livestock water, wildlife or fire protection help control runoff. Trees and shrubs planted for windbreaks, wildlife habitat or reforestation also help control runoff and erosion.

Watershed projects are thus more than just a system of channels, dikes and dams. They are a complete program for water management. Such is the Upper Maple River Watershed Project. It will help to protect and improve the environment for both man and wildlife.

Do you remember?

By ANTHONY J. ESPER
County Supervisor
Farmers Home Administration

Do you remember the saying, "The soil is the backbone of the nation"? Or, "There is only so much land (soil) and when it's gone there just is no more." These and other similar sayings carry a great deal of truth.

Soil is a natural resource. Our natural resources have been greatly abused and squandered by these creatures called people, that is, you and me. The day of reckoning is at hand, if not already passed.

What can we do in our own simple individual way to preserve one of our greatest heritages, "the land"?

Our ecologists will tell us to stop being so "messy" in our use and misuse of the soil, be it in the productive exploitation of the soil or the pollution and defacing of its profile.

The Farmers Home Administration assists farmers in developing, conserving and making proper use of their land and water resources. Can we help you to "remember" the good earth?

Westphalia's Elmer Rademacher Conservation Farmer of the Year

Elmer Rademacher of Westphalia Township was selected "Conservation Farmer of 1972" by the Clinton County Soil Conservation Directors for the good job he has done of establishing conservation practices on his 390 acre farm.

Elmer has been a farmer nearly all his life. He says that he farmed the home farm for his mother until World War II started. He worked in a factory in Lansing until the war was over and then went back to farming. He started out by farming rented land after the war and gradually bought land until he now owns 390 acres. The Rademachers have been on the present farm for the last 20 years. Elmer also farms on 80 rented acres.

Mr and Mrs Rademacher have 7 children, 5 boys and 2 girls, with only 2 left at home now. Elmer has a 50 cow dairy herd with about 30 heifers and calves for replacements for this herd. He grows corn, wheat, oats, hay, and soybeans, with most of the crops being fed to the dairy herd.

Mr Rademacher was one of the original petitioners to have the Muskrat Creek--Morris Drain become a watershed under Public Law 566. This became the first watershed project completed in Michigan.

Since the watershed project was completed, Elmer has installed about 60,000 feet of tile, 3200 feet of open ditches, with streambank protection on the banks. He has installed 2 erosion control structures for the safe delivery of surface water into open ditches. He has a diversion ditch and 800 feet of grass waterways. Elmer also uses a conservation cropping system on his 306 acres of cropland, using minimum tillage and returning all crop residues and manure to the fields. He has 67 acres of woodland and his whole farm is considered adequately treated because he farms it within its capabilities and planned improvements have been installed.

Mr Rademacher was one of the first cooperators to sign up with the Clinton County Soil Conservation District back in February 21, 1955. He is also a member of the Farm Bureau and of St Mary's Catholic Church of Westphalia.

The neglected crop ... woodlot

The landowner who has a woodlot on his property is managing that woodlot. He cannot avoid managing it. He may do a poor job and get little return or even a deficit or he can do a good job and get a very satisfactory return.

It is surprising the number of farmers today that keep abreast of the latest farming practices that increase their crop yields, improve their efficiency, conserve their fields, and yet neglect their timber crop.

In addition to the above conservation practices, Lee Sheerwood, Conservation Forester, Department of Natural Resources, gave woodland management assistance to several cooperators, marking trees for harvesting or culling, assisting on tree planting sites, varieties, insect, and weed tree control.

Technical assistance was given to 80 farmers who cooperated with the Rural Environmental Assistance Program, which is administered by the ASCS office in St. Johns. Ten pooling agreements or drainage groups were included, with a total of 21 farms in the groups. This assistance included site selection, layout, supervision of installation and certification of these conservation practices. Participation in this program is voluntary, and all farmers are eligible to take part.

During 1970 the Clinton County Board of Commissioners and the U.S. Soil Conservation Service signed a contract to complete the Clinton County Soil Survey. Karl E. Pregitzer, soil scientist SCS was named party leader, assisted by Glenn Weesies, soil scientist SCS. Since that date, they have completed the field work in Westphalia, Dallas, and Essex townships for this soil survey. Work remains to be completed in part of Lebanon Township.

The district employees have colored septic field limitations on advance copies of the soil maps for Bath, DeWitt, Watertown, Eagle, Riley, Olive, Victor, Ovid, Bingham, Bengal, Greenbush, Duplain, Westphalia, and Dallas townships for the Clinton County Planning Commission and town boards of these townships. The County Planning Commission has used these advance copies of the soil survey for their various planning activities. The township boards are using these soil maps to assist them to make township plans.

These accomplishments were made possible by the combined efforts of the cooperating landowners, the directors of the Clinton County Soil Conservation District, and technical staff provided by the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, and other cooperating agencies.

Fellows discusses Maple River Watershed

By ROBERT FELLOWS
Assistant State Conservationist
Soil Conservation Service

Floods have occurred an average of four times per year along the Upper Maple River and its tributaries for the past twenty years. Floods occur annually during the heavy spring runoff, usually in March and April. Flooding and impaired drainage on agricultural lands are serious problems in the Upper Maple River Watershed. Agriculture is a primary industry in this watershed, which contains 1,558 farms that average 125 acres in size. Joint effects of flooding and impaired drainage occur annually on 20,000 acres of cropland.

Several local sponsoring organizations have proposed a plan to alleviate the flooding and impaired drainage conditions in the watershed. Approved applications were submitted to the Soil Conservation Service in 1964, requesting technical assistance under Public Law 566 (Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act). Since that time, watershed work plans have been prepared and approved by Congress.

A watershed is defined as being all the land area, upstream from a point of reference, having a common drainage outlet. The Upper Maple River Watershed includes the Maple River and all of its tributaries upstream from U.S. Highway 27. There is approximately 195,460 acres (305.4 square miles) of land area in this watershed, of which approximately 70 percent is cropland.

In all watershed plans, initial attention is given to possible land treatment measures to reduce runoff, erosion and sediment problems. Assistance is being provided through soil conservation districts for the basic land treatment measures needed on 32,000 acres of cropland, 750 acres of grassland, 2,700 acres of forestland, 535 acres of wildlife land, and 575 acres of recreation land. The proposed land treatment measures are in accordance with the capability of the land and good management. Several structural measures of improvement have also been proposed.

The West Upper Maple River Watershed includes the main stem of the Maple River from U.S. Highway 27 upstream to the confluence with Bear Creek, the Cordray Drain and Ferdun Creek. Proposed structural measures include 3.5 miles of channel improvement, 10.9 miles of levee construction, three pumping station installations, pipe drops, and tile outlets. The plan of work for the leveed area just east of U.S. Highway 27 through the Maple River State Game Area has been revised to construct the levees approximately along the outside edge of the wooded area, leaving the presently flooded game area, the surrounding wooded area and the channel unchanged in this section. The original proposal was for the levees to be placed within the flooded area and for channel improvement along this entire section of the river. The revised plan provides for lands between the levees to be maintained in their natural condition. The distance between the levees will average one third of a mile in width.

After project implementation, all 1,115 acres of the land between the levees will be publicly owned and will be a part of the Maple River State Game Area. This is an increase of 941 acres of publicly owned land which will be managed for wildlife and recreation. The leveed area will provide for protection from a 25 year frequency storm. Structural measures will benefit 110 landowners.

The East Upper Maple River Watershed includes the main stem of the Maple River upstream from its confluence with Bear Creek, the Middlebury-Cravens Drain, the Bear Creek Drain, and Drain 38. Structural measures proposed for the East Upper Maple include 39.8 miles of multiple-purpose channel improvement (flood prevention and drainage), 8.5 miles of channel improvement with levee construction, one pumping station installation, one multiple-purpose structure (flood prevention and recreation reservoir) at Sleepy Hollow. The original proposal has been revised to change the Bear Creek Structure from multiple-purpose flood prevention and recreation to single-purpose flood prevention. Also, the feasibility of amending the plan of work to include 2.2 miles of channel improvement on Drain 181 in Gratiot County is being investigated.

The leveed channel area will contain a 25 year frequency storm. Structural measures will benefit 210 landowners. Approximately 680 acres of land between the levees will be in public ownership and will be an extension of the Maple River State Game Area.

The Maple River Drainage Board and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (sponsors of the project) are preparing to obtain the necessary lands needed to carry out the project measures. Final engineering plans for the Sleepy Hollow Dam, a multiple purpose dam for flood control and recreation, have been completed and construction will start in 1973. The engineering plans for the Bear Creek Dam have been initiated and will be continued throughout this winter. Engineering plans for the pumping stations, levees, and channels will be initiated in January 1973.

Recycling value

Recycling value - or what cost convenience? The pros and cons of recycling glass, paper and cans have often been presented from the standpoint of the environmentalist, the industrialist and the merchant. What of the consumer? A survey of five grocery stores in Ann Arbor last August revealed the following on 72 ounces of beverage in three types of containers: non-returnable bottle - $1.01, can - $.94, and returnable - $.65. Thus compared to buying returnables, it cost 35% more in throw-away bottles, and 31% more in cans. Again, what cost convenience?

Activities under reap terminated

Funds for cost-sharing the and for further contracting Rural Environmental under the Water Bank Program Assistance Program (REAP) (WBP) has been terminated as of December 22, 1972.

These two programs are among those selected after a review of federal programs to identify those of low priority that can be reduced or eliminated without severe economic consequences.

This review was initiated as part of the effort to hold 1973 federal budget outlays to $250 billion.

Farmers in Clinton county received around $70,000 cost-share assistance to establish conservation on their farms in 1972. This represented about 30 percent of the cost to establish the conservation practices.

Eighty-one farmers established 1636 acres of vegetative cover, ten farmers planted 34 acres of trees, fourteen farmers built water impoundment reservoirs, thirty-three installed underground drainage on 649 acres. Fifty-two farmers established cover crops, and one animal waste storage and diversion facility was built with a capacity to handle 145 head of cattle.

Over the years this program has provided many benefits. Acres of vegetative cover have been established reducing soil erosion and sedimentation into streams and lakes. Forestry, wildlife, and other natural resources have been improved. Top soil losses by wind and water erosion have been reduced by stripcropping, terracing, and other soil protective measures. We urge farmers to establish and carry out good conservation practices on their farms, although cost-share assistance will not be available to them.

Soil testing a must

Clinton County farmers may be over-fertilizing their crops, cautions Michigan State University Soil Specialist Dr Eugene Doll.

Soil samples tested by MSU's Soil Testing Laboratory indicate that the amount of phosphorus and potassium used across the state over the past decade has greatly increased, especially during the past 2 years, while crop acreage significantly decreased.

"This means more fertilizer on less land," Dr Doll explains. "By testing your soil at the university's soil testing lab, you may find you can economize and use much less fertilizer than you would ordinarily apply."

Some Clinton County soils have become acid and require limestone applications to prevent the development of nutrient toxicities.

On soils with high phosphorus levels, avoid using additional phosphate, Dr Doll cautions. Sediments in runoff waters from such fields have been shown to contain too much phosphorus.

"Pollution due to excess phosphorus is not yet a problem, but the potential exists," Dr Doll says.

In 1962, about 75 percent of the soil samples taken in Clinton County tested low in phosphorus. In 1971, only half the samples tested low.

Although less marked than phosphorus increases, potassium levels have increased in many areas, again suggesting the need for soil tests.

Use of nitrogen fertilizers in Michigan tripled in the past 10 years. Because unused nitrogen in the soil readily leaches out into ground waters, farmers avoid excessive use of nitrogen fertilizers.

"There are no soil tests for nitrogen, but your extension agricultural agent can suggest the proper amount and time for applying nitrogen fertilizers," Dr Doll says. "You'll maximize loss."

To find out soil sampling procedures, obtain a free single copy of Extension Bulletin E-498, "Sampling Soils for Fertilizer and Lime Recommendations" at your county extension office or write MSU

Bulletin Office, P O Box 231, East Lansing, Mich 48823.

Another MSU publication, Farm Science Research Report 197, "Levels and Changes in Soil Tests in Lower Michigan, 1962-71," outlines changes in soil fertility in various regions of the state.

Also available are Research Report 127, "Phosphorus and Potassium Fertilizers Affect Soil Test Levels" and a recently updated extension bulletin, E-550, "Fertilizer Recommendations for Michigan Vegetables and Field Crops."

Congratulations,
good year

Congratulations to the CLINTON SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT on another successful year.

Many people are concerned about our environment. There are almost countless factors which influence our well-being at any one time. However, most people associate water, land and air conditions with either a good or bad environment. Individuals often judge their environment by its relationship to their special interest. A country resident may be interested chiefly in the scenery about him; a bird lover looks for conditions that encourage bird life; a fisherman may center his environmental interest on water quality and quantity for fish; and a hunter's concern may be directed to the abundance of shootable game. They become concerned and often very vocal about any activity that influences their special interest. Many people forget that some necessities of life, such as food and fiber, are also parts of our environment and are products of land, water and air. In Michigan alone, this means that almost 9 million people have a direct concern for the quality and quantity of these basic natural resources. About 27 million meals are eaten in Michigan each day. Such resource management problems as soil erosion, soil fertility depletion, too much or too little water, use of good food-producing land for non-agricultural purposes and high property taxes which drive good land out of agriculture are vital issues that affect everyone. They are part of the environment for both producer and consumer. Nearly one-third of our people can also make their living producing, processing or marketing agricultural produce. Land, water and air have a double environmental impact on them.

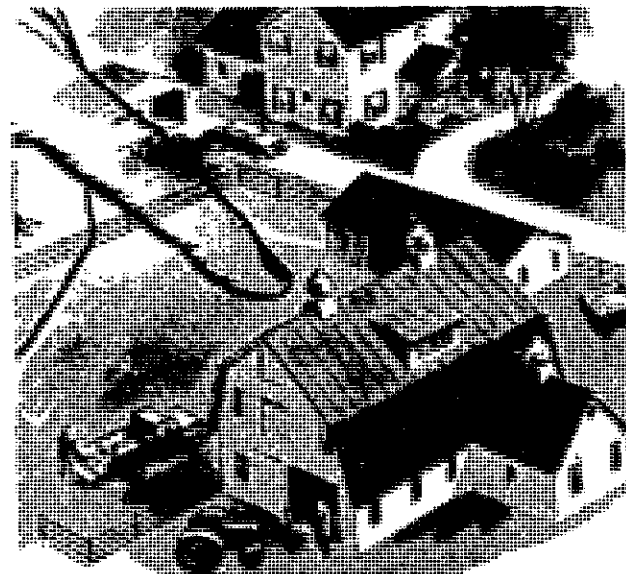

Fortunately, thirty-four years ago, local people decided to take direct action to manage, protect and improve land and water resources on private land. They organized a soil conservation district in Ottawa County. District organization rapidly occurred until the entire land area of the state is now included in Michigan's 85 districts. Over 60 thousand landowners, both

1972 - reviewing the year

During January, the Annual Tree Sales Program got underway.

During February, the 1972 Annual Meeting was held at the Ovid-Elsie High School. It was attended by approximately 147 people. Robert Moore, director, presented a plaque for the 1971 first place newspaper report in Michigan to Robert MacDonald of the Clinton County News. The directors moved to adopt the same Standards and Specifications for Soil Erosion and Sediment Control in ur-banizing areas in the Clinton S.C.D. as the Capitol Area Association of Soil Conservation Districts has adopted. They organized the officers of the district board and Robert Moore reported on his trip to Washington, D.C. for the Watershed Conference. Plans were made to continue supporting Soil Stewardship Week by distributing material to area churches. The Goodyear Contest revisions and the Land Judging Contest were also items under discussion.

In April, plans were started for the Region IV Meeting to be sponsored by the Clinton Co S.C.D. at the Ovid-Elsie High School on August 9, 1972. The Maple River and Stony Creek Watersheds and the Dallas Township Soil Survey were under discussion. A report on the activities of the Capitol Area Association of SCD's was also given. The trees had arrived and were picked up.

In May, a planning meeting for the Region IV Meeting was held. The Annual District Picnic was planned for July. It was announced that George McQueen, County Agricultural Agent, would assume duties in Shiawassee County as County Extension Director as of July.

June brought further planning for the Region IV Meeting and the Annual District Picnic.

In July, the Annual District Picnic for directors and former directors and their families was held on the Clarence Manning farm with a large attendance. The directors toured the Muskrat Creek Watershed and looked at the Kramer Drain after the picnic. The Board of Determination for the Hayworth Creek Watershed was held at the East Essex School on July 25.

During September, two meetings were held by the CAASCD's for all the government officials at the Delta Township Hall to discuss the new Standards and Specifications on Soil Erosion and Control.

In October, the District entered into a Memorandum of Understanding with the Mid-Michigan Health Department.

In November, the District directors selected the conservation sign winners and selected the outstanding conservation farmer. Plans were made for the directors and district aide to attend the MASCD Winter Meeting.

In December, it was decided to continue the F.F.A. Exhibit Contest. Judges were selected to judge the exhibits. Plans were made for the upcoming Annual Meeting on Feb 3, 1973.

Nature treats earth kindly

"Nature treats the earth kindly. Man treats her harshly. He overplows the cropland, overgrazes the pastureland, and overcuts the timberland. He destroys millions of acres completely. He pours fertility year after year into the cities, which in turn pour what they do not use down the sewers. This terribly destructive process is not excusable, the public is waking up just in time. In another thirty years it might have been too late." - taken from the U.S.D.A. yearbook of 1938.

Beware of organic soils

A sunken and broken home foundation, an impassable road, a corroded and leaking transmission pipe are often evidence of organic soils! Over 7,000 square miles of organic soils occur in Michigan or about 12 percent of Michigan's land area. In Clinton County there is approximately 30,000 acres of organic soils according to Lloyd B. Campbell, District Conservationist of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service.

What are organic soils? Why are they problem soils for community development? Organic soils formed in the wet depressions and shallow lake basins left by the retreat of the glacial ice several thousand years ago. These depressions gradually filled with the remains of sedges, grasses, and woody plants which formed our present organic soils. They are naturally very poorly drained, having a water table at or near the surface during most of a year. The organic material of these soils is highly compressible and very unstable. If drained, organic soils will shrink or subside and if the vegetation is removed they are highly susceptible to soil blowing. They vary greatly in thickness, from a few feet to more than 50 feet. The black organic soils often contain buried deposits of white marl, which is an unstable, soft material.

Wetness and poor stability of organic soils result in very severe limitations for most urban, recreational and other community uses. Septic tank disposal fields will not operate properly in these soils. The hazard of polluting ground water is very likely. The organic material must be removed from roads, parking lots, and other types of construction, resulting in high costs for construction. Organic soils will not support intensive foot traffic associated with playgrounds, picnic areas and camp sites.

In Clinton County many areas of organic soils are in the pathway of community development. Some of these areas are covered with washed-in mineral soil material that masks the original organic deposits. "Good land use requires that these areas be avoided for development," says Lloyd B. Campbell. "Areas of organic soils are much better suited for farming, or for wetland habitat for wildlife. If left in their natural state, these areas will provide open space and esthetic beauty for subdivisions, schools, or other intensive developed areas."

If you are planning a community or just buying land on which to build your dream house, check with your local District Conservationist for available soils information. Almost 2-1/2 million acres of organic soils have been identified and located on soil maps in Michigan. Use this information and avoid costly problems! Beware of organic soils.

4-H glass recycling project

Ever wonder how big a pile 200 tons of glass bottles or containers would make? The Clinton County 4-H Teen Leaders aren't sure either but they have saved over 400,000 pounds of disposable glass bottles from being deposited in various landfills or being dumped along the roadside.

The 4-H Teen Leaders got the idea of "Do Your Thing" for environmental quality improvement back in Sept 1970. They decided to collect disposable glass containers for recycling and truck the glass back to the Owens Illinois Glass Plant at Charlotte, Michigan located about 40 miles from St Johns.

The 4-H Teen Leaders have collected, sorted and shipped over 400,000 pound of glass to Charlotte for recycling in the past 26 months. This means an average of about 15,000 pounds less glass per month becoming a waste product and being deposited into our already limited landfill areas. Instead, the glass is being recycled into new glass products.

The first Saturday of each month is collection day in St Johns where glass is picked up if set out on the street curb by 10:00 am or else brought to the Fairgrounds where each month 20-30 4-H Teen Leaders help sort, remove metal rings and break the glass into 55 gallon barrels. The glass is sorted into one of these 3 colors: green white or brown.

The first 200,000 pounds of glass was broken by sledge hammers and now the group has a crusher made by several 4-H leaders from an old hammer mill and elevator. The crusher now makes the operation much safer and efficient than working with sledge hammers.

Enthusiasm for the glass recycling project ran high for the first 2 years and is still high for many of the Teen Leaders as they feel it is an excellent community service project. Many people who save glass and bring it to the collection center express their appreciation for the 4-H's service with this project. Many people have no way of disposing of the glass containers since most dumps and landfills were closed except through this glass recycling project.

All cardboard boxes and grocery sacks brought in with glass containers are hauled out to the Kroger store in St Johns where they bale it up for recycling into new products so very little of the many pickup truck or carloads material each month ends up in a landfill. The group cannot use window glass or car glass in this recycling project.

How can people help with this project? The 1st way would be to save their glass bottles or containers, the 2nd way would be to remove any metal rings or lids, the 3rd way would be to sort by color and the 4th way would be either bring the glass to the Fairgrounds if they live out of town or if they live in St Johns set the glass out on the curb by 10 am on the first Saturday of each month.

People could also help by purchasing beverages in returnable bottles if possible instead of throw-aways or non-returnable containers. The cost per ounce in returnable bottles is usually less than in non-returnable bottles and the consumer has one less bottle for the 4-H group to recycle. The 4-H Teen Leaders are glad they are "Doing Their Thing" for the community environmental improvement. They hope you will help them accomplish it.

Working for the district

By Barbara Rehm
District Aide

Working for the District as District Aide has me very busy. My job has a lot of variety in it. My regular duties include typing and completing conservation plans, maintaining district files, maintaining an accurate bookkeeping system, preparing for district audits, carrying out district correspondence, preparing notices of watershed and other official hearings, and keeping a file of clippings of news stories of district activities. I also supervise two girls, Judy Thelen and Sandy Rademacher, who are working in the District office through the Co-op Program from the St. Johns High School.

Each year I also assist the District in many other ways, such as preparing materials for the Annual Meeting; maintaining a bookkeeping system for the Capitol Area Association of Soil Conservation Districts and recording the minutes of their meetings; distributing Newsletters; and taking tree and crownvetch orders.

Every fourth Tuesday of the month, I attend the regular monthly Board Meeting of the Clinton County Soil Conservation District Directors and record the minutes of each meeting.

During the 2-1/2 years I have worked for the District, I have attended two Training Sessions for District Aides and the Michigan Association of Soil Conservation Districts (MASCD) Winter Meeting on January 26 & 27, 1973.

At the Training Sessions, Mr. Donald Schaner, Assistant Secretary for the State Soil Conservation Committee, introduced many helpful guidelines that a District Aide can use in working for the District. These sessions not only brought me an opportunity to meet with other District Aides, and to learn about what they are doing in their Districts.

The MASCD Winter Meeting held in Flint, Michigan that I was able to be present at was attended by people active in the role of Soil Conservation from all over Michigan. Attending this meeting enabled me to gain further insight into "Soil Conservation Districts in Urban Society," the theme of the meeting.

Meeting with people who are knowledgeable in the area of Soil Conservation Districts has helped me become more aware of the importance of a Soil Conservation District, and how I as a Soil Conservation District Aide can help to make ours better.

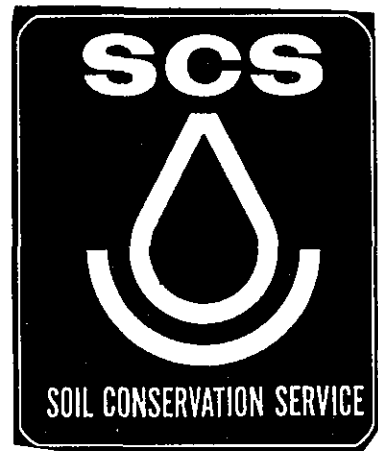

SCS Soil Conservationist Gene Mill and SCS Engineer Frank Cousin examine damaged concrete caused by soil and surface-water problem in the Lansing Mall area. (See Story Page 4)

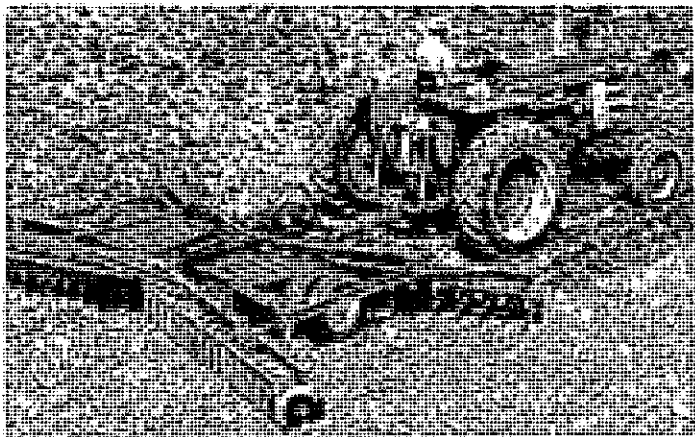

Delta Township Engineer Allen Mellstead (R.) and SCS Soil Scientist Gil Landtiser review soils information. (See Story Page 4)

Cover crops will help prevent leaching

Will winter cover crops help prevent nitrates leaching? Apparently so. Dr. Jones (kan) reports sandy soil receiving both manure and nitrogen under irrigation accumulated "significant" nitrate-nitrogen down to 4 feet. But two fields with fall-planted rye showed much lower nitrate-nitrogen levels down to 2 feet the next spring.

Conservation districts are at crossroads

Soil conservation districts in Michigan are at the crossroads of making yet another significant contribution to the people of the state — perhaps the most significant contribution in the past decade. Soil conservation districts have the opportunity to play an important role in developing a Land Use Plan which encompasses all the land in the district.

When our nation was founded, we had land galore. Presidents were criticized for land acquisitions. The Louisiana Purchase and the "Alaskan Icebox" are notable examples. We had lots of land when there were 10 million of us, and 50 million, and 100 million. Now there are over 200 million of us and we're still growing!

Few, if any, counties in the state have a specific plan for use of the land. There is a good reason for this. Until recently, there was little competition for the several uses of land in most places in Michigan. Today the competition is severe in many locations. This competition forces land prices so high that some uses cannot economically prevail. Thus, land is sold to go into so-called "higher use".

What generally happens is that farm, forest, and wild land is converted into residential, industrial, and commercial land. There is no question that Michigan needs to use land for homes, and factories, and airports, and shopping centers; and lots of other things. The problem is — which land should go into which uses. It is in this area that little planning has been done except within the limits of cities and towns.

A farm is sold to the developer of a large mobile home court. (There is no doubt that we need mobile home courts.) Is this good or bad for the community, county, and state? The sad thing is that in most instances no one really knows if it is good or bad. The relationship of the mobile home location to jobs, schools, roads, fire protection, police protection, and all adjacent land may not be known.

Furthermore, it might be that the very best (prime) agricultural land in Michigan was converted to a site for mobile homes. Unfortunately, this is not just a hypothetical example. It happens frequently. Michigan could easily lose its very best cherry orchard sites because these sites are usually excellent home sites, too. Some cherry orchardists are being offered $2500. and up per acre for their land. Excellent cherry orchard land should be used for cherries. The cherry industry is important to Michigan. We can certainly find other excellent places for homes. Here again it is a matter of land use planning.

The question is really this. How do you want your community, your county, your state, and your nation to look 10 years from now; 20 years from now; and 50 years from now? What happens from now on must not be left to chance and, yes, ignorance. By doing our very best, mistakes will be made. By doing nothing, the result will be tragic.

Soil conservation districts and the US Soil Conservation Service have had 30 years experience in land use planning. It is true that most of this has been related to individual landowners. However, the concepts of land use planning for counties and multi-counties are similar to those for individuals. Soil conservation districts cannot do the job alone. They usually do not have experience in planning cities and for other urban uses. Districts, working cooperatively with planning commissions and other groups, can provide unique inputs to land use planning. The people of our state will benefit from soil conservation district participation in this vitally important task.

County Planning Commission report

The Clinton County Planning Commission has completed only part of its assigned task of preparing a comprehensive land use plan. This master plan should be long range and realistic. It must always be looking ahead 20 or 30 years, and therefore requires periodic review and revision. This means that the Planning Commission's job will be of an ever continuing nature.

The master plan should be general; it is not intended to establish precise boundaries of land use, or provide for enforcement of its goals and objectives. Its function is to guide growth toward long range, broad goals. It establishes the framework required to assure that more detailed decisions can be made in a logical manner in the future.

In addition to these very locally oriented planning purposes, state and federal agencies also require submission of a plan before grants or loans will be made to any community. Clinton County's active planning program has already paid off in additional funds being granted to local units of government.

The Planning Commission cannot perform its role unless it understands and expresses the wishes of the people. For effective programs to be developed, it is essential that two things take place: (1) The Citizens (that means you) of the county must take the time necessary to understand what this Planning Commission is doing and (2) The Planning Commission must constantly work at making understanding possible through meetings, reports, interactions and responses to your questions.

What will Clinton County be like next year, five years from now or in the year 2000? You can help decide the issues if you will express your wishes to your Planning Commission.

Windbreaks offer protection on farm

By ORVILLE BEACHERL
Soil Conservation Technician

Probably the first thing you think of when you hear the word "windbreaks" is a row or two of trees alongside of a field to protect a sandy field or muck field from high winds, as in the photo above, or rows of trees around farm dwellings for protection from cold winter winds. But windbreaks have many other benefits, also.

One of the most recent discoveries by forest researchers are that rows of trees and shrubs are a very good sound barrier. If you live on a busy road or highway, plant a couple of rows of trees, or a row of trees and a row of shrubs and your home will be much more quiet and enjoyable and also the windbreaks will give you more privacy.

Trees and shrubs, as well as grass, are air purifiers. They will help clean and cool the air around your house in summer as well as protect from cold winds in winter.

Another benefit of trees and shrubs is wildlife. Plant trees and shrubs favored by wildlife and you will be rewarded by the sight of various birds and small animals seeking food and shelter in your plantings.

Last, but not least, the benefit of beauty. Trees and shrubs make your home much more attractive and isn't that the benefit we are all striving for, more beauty around us?

The Clinton Soil Conservation District Directors again are offering a variety of trees for sale this spring. Come and visit the District office at 100 S. Ottawa in St. Johns and get help on the variety of trees that would best suit your situation and soil types.

Congratulations . . .

farm and non-farm, are now district cooperators. They are applying over 35 land use conservation practices for reducing erosion, managing surface water, putting misused land to a productive use, making needed land-use changes, and enhancing beauty of the countryside. As examples—during the fiscal year 1971-72, district cooperators planted 13,053 acres to trees, built 1,062 ponds, used 165,000 acres of minimum tillage, constructed 113 acres of grass waterways, 643,000 feet of windbreaks, 3,400 acres of critical area planting.

5,627 acres of strip cropping and contouring, and 52,000 acres of wildlife habitat management. Soil conservation districts and the volunteer directors who administer the districts are not just talking about a healthy environment, they are doing something about it.

Winter salting can injure plants

Salt may be fine on your dinner table, but too much salt in the natural environment can cause extensive damage to plants and trees, according to a Michigan State University horticulturist.

"A major cause of injury to plants is an excess of soluble salts resulting from improper use of salt-containing materials such as poultry manure, fertilizer, de-icing salts or even water," says Dr Harold Davidson.

During the next few months in Michigan and other northern states, tons of salt will be applied to highways, drives, walks and porches to remove snow and ice.

The slush that results will be plowed, shoveled or brushed onto any convenient site and will stay there until it melts. A by-product is the salt that remains after the snow and ice melt.

"All too often the salted ice is plowed onto planted areas along highways and walks, or onto foundation plantings around the home," notes Davidson. "Plants growing at these sites then die from excess salt seeping into their root systems."

In many cases, says the MSU extension specialist, evergreens along highspeed highways are injured by the drift of salt-saturated mist after highways have been salted. White and red pine are quite sensitive to salt splash while Austrian pine and spruce trees seem to be fairly tolerant.

"The best solution to this problem is to plant the more tolerant species," advises

Davidson. "Various types of screens can also protect plants from highway splash."

Excessive amounts or improper distribution of fertilizer can also injure plants. Correct rates and methods of applying fertilizers will assure proper distribution of the material within the root zone of the plants. Solubility of the different chemicals should always be checked when switching from one to another since the salt index per unit of plant food may vary considerably between products.

"Excess fertilizer in the soil should be leached out of the root be lethal with another.

zone by applying large amounts of water," advises Davidson. "Unfortunately, the damage to plants may be so severe that leaching will not save them. However, the soil still should be thoroughly leached or replaced prior to replanting, and a new fertilizer program developed to avoid excess soluble salts in the future."

Davidson points out that the same type of injury can result from applying fresh poultry manure or by irrigating with water that is high in soluble salts.

The Thing To Build A Dream Home On

Be "wide-awake" and know the soil you build your home on

Your dream home can become a nightmare if, while considering your new home, you fail to learn about the soil. Frequently home buyers look at the house only from the foundation up when just as much attention should be given the ground which will support that foundation. Soils — even within a subdivision — can vary greatly so it is wise to get to know the soil you build your home on.

What to look for when considering where to buy or build

- * Will the soil support my house without settling and cracking?
- * What about the water table? Can I dig a basement and keep it dry? Can I use a septic system if one is needed?
- * Is the lot in a flood plain and subject to flooding from nearby waterways during a heavy storm?
- * Is the lot on a hillside subject to slippage or severe soil erosion?
- * Will the soil support grass, flowers, shrubs and trees or is it "fill" or raw subsoil that needs added topsoil or special fertilizer and special care? Are certain parts of the lot best for certain uses — a swimming pool in a depressed area, a flower garden in good soil, a rock garden on poor soil?
- * Look for a reputable contractor who can effectively evaluate the soil on your particular site.

And a good place to arrange financing on that dream home is at . . . . .
