Consumers Franchise renewed in DeWitt

By BOB CALVERLEY
News Staff Writer

The DeWitt City Council adopted an ordinance to renew the Consumers Power franchise for another 30 years in DeWitt.

A public hearing on Feb. 16 and a special election in April will be held before the franchise can be renewed.

The council also adopted an ordinance to limit the use of snowmobiles in DeWitt. The ordinance will take effect upon publication next week.

Hints that the disagreement between the city and the school board over the sewer rate charged schools may be nearing solution surfaced at the council meeting.

James Ritchie, school superintendent and that final determination of the rate would be made with the school board. "It's pretty well been worked out," said Ziegler.

He later said that he had not determined if the rate would be lowered.

In other action the council:

—Made several accounting adjustments in accordance with recommendations from the year end Report of Audit.

—Decided to remove snow from the bridge on Schavey Road and beyond until the county did so.

—Discussed purchasing a lot on Wilson Street to be used for a future street right of way.

—Discussed the problem of school buses stopping down town and tying up traffic. No action was taken.

—Authorized purchase of fire helmets for the fire department from the lowest bid of $1,452.

—Authorized billing Water-

DeWitt school board reviews gym rental

By BOB CALVERLEY
News Staff Writer

Members of the Merry Mixers Square Dance Group appeared before the DeWitt Board of Education last week asking that the fee they are charged for use of the junior high school gymnasium be lowered.

We honestly feel we should take care of the custodian, and don't feel there should be any additional fee," said Eugene Coin of the group.

Members of the group stated that their club could be forced to disband because of the cost, which is a minimum of $24 per evening.

Most of the school board didn't think the charge was too high. "It's only fair to taxpayers to have a policy," said Dale Farhat of the board. "I don't feel 70 cents to a dollar per person is an unjust charge."

The board appointed Farhat and Harry Wick to investigate the costs of opening the gym for the group.

Supt. James Ritchie reported no progress in the disagreement between the school board and the city of DeWitt over sewer rates.

The board decided to send a letter to the city stating they were withholding payment.

Ritchie reported that the new Middle School construction was progressing on schedule. He said that the rooms were being painted, the ceilings being installed and the lockers were arriving.

In other action the board:

—Granted permission for the junior class to hold the prom at the Capitol Park Hotel.

—Approved payment of $9,034.50 to Grinnell Brothers for musical instruments.

—Decided to check into getting an alarm system for the high school following last week's break-in.

—Decided to buy a plastic binding punch for $89.00

Loose wire?

What TV repairman Ed Cox thought to be a loose wire actually was the tail of a mouse which apparently had crawled into the chassis of this set in search of warmth. Ed, a serviceman at Kurt's Appliance Center, said it is not unusual to find a mouse in such places but each time provides a bit of surprise.

2 Clinton youths held for break-in

Two Clinton County youths were among four arrested by State Police last week on charges of breaking and entering at Ithaca High School in Gratiot County.

All four were arraigned Thursday before District Court Judge J. David Sullivan and were remanded to county jail because they were unable to post $5,000 bonds.

Randy D. DeFeyer, 19, of Bath demanded examination which was set for Monday.

John D. Blankenship, 19, also of Bath, waived examination and will appear in Gratiot County Court Feb. 10.

The other two youths, both from Lansing, were Douglas W. Richards, 18, and Robert L. White, 20.

Richards demanded examination which was set for today while White waived examination and will appear in Court Feb. 10.

The four were stopped by State troopers following a report by a high school janitor that four youths had fled the school when he discovered them about 5 a.m.

Immunization clinic set

A free immunization clinic is being held Thursday at the Clinton County Health Department from 9 a.m. till 11 a.m.

Dr. P. F. Stoller will administer shots for typhoid, smallpox, measles, DPT and BT. In addition oral polio and the tuberculin skin tests will be available.

O-E School Board approves repairs

School repairs and improvements costing nearly $2,000 in the Ovid-Elsie School District were approved by the Board of Education last week.

The board authorized heating repairs estimated to cost $150 for the Bannister School where temperatures reportedly wouldn't rise above 65 degrees.

Roofing repairs costing $1,381 were approved for the North Elementary School in Ovid and the E. E. Knight Elementary School in Elsie.

Also approved was $400 in repairs to the swimming pool at Ovid-Elsie High School. Involved is a heating problem and a high mineral accumulation which causes hard water.

In other action, the board:

—Set a Feb. 23 hearing on the 1970-71 budget.

—Decided to hold off action on a letter from the State Board of Education reporting on a hearing in December regarding transfer of two parcels of property to the St. Johns School District.

Involved are about 140 acres with a state equalized valuation of $16,250.

The property is owned by Arthur H. and Mary A. Cardy and Ralph E. and Lucile Shumaker on Price Road. Three school children live on the property.

Officials indicated they would wait until state authorities act on testimony given at an earlier hearing in support of retaining the property in the Ovid-Elsie District.

Several hundred persons from the St. Johns and Clinton County area are expected to attend the annual Lincoln Day dinner which will feature Gov. William Milliken as main speaker.

The dinner is set for 7 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 17 at the new St. Johns High School cafeteria. Tickets are $5 per person and may be obtained by calling Mrs. William Graef at 224-3513 in St. Johns.

Mrs. Graef, who is ticket chairman for the event, says her committee has mailed 300 notices to people in the area.

Members of the Clinton County Republican committee also may be contacted for tickets.

Mid-Michigan Health Shows supervisors $17,000 balance

By BOB CALVERLEY
News Staff Writer

Clinton County Board of Supervisors Monday heard reports from the probate judge, Mid-Michigan Health Department and county engineer.

Mid-Michigan Health Department finished 1969 with a balance of $17,317.43. Although the department spent $1233.94 more than the $192,311.04 budget, it also took in more money than it estimated it would receive, resulting in the surplus.

Harry McLaren, director of Mid Michigan called housing "one of our big problems."

"So much of this property is owned by unscrupulous landlords," he said, "one year's rent will equal the total cost of the house."

McLaren praised the county prosecutor in helping combat the problem and said that Clinton's prosecutor has cooperated more than the other two counties.

"Without the law behind us, the health department is pretty inefficient," he said.

Tim Green, probate judge, reported that the probate court costs for 1969 were $2946 or 11.7 per cent more than for 1968.

He said most of this increase was due to higher costs of placing juveniles in homes such as Boys Training, which costs the county approximately $6600 per boy sent.

"They take them out of circulation while they're there," Green said about some of the juvenile homes, "we need more halfway houses."

He also stated that the use of drugs was becoming more prevalent and that he had faced three such cases so far this year.

The board discussed hiring a probation officer to be utilized by both the Probate Court and District Court. No action was taken.

Jerri Wilcox, county engineer, said that his department was presently surveying every township in the county to determine land usage. Much useful information had been uncovered such as condemned houses being occupied, and unproductive farm land, according to Wilcox.

Ink White appeared before the board to request that Clinton recognize the Capital Area Comprehensive Health Plan as the coordinating body for health units in Clinton.

"They're not asking for money this year," said White.

While the body does not formally control health units such as hospitals, convalescent homes, and health departments, it can approve or disapprove federal grants.

The supervisors passed a resolution recognizing the body, but without financial support. Supervisors Duane Chamberlain and Gerald Lankford voted against it.

In other action the board:

—Gave approval to Bill Coffey of the Zoning Commission to use the latest State Tax Commission figures to calculate valuations for issuing building permits.

—Went on record as opposing any diversion of gas tax funds for marine safety.

—Moved to hire Timothy Green, a tax attorney to work on collecting taxes from business concerns at Capital City Airport which Clinton claims are not necessary for operation of the airport, and not, therefore, tax exempt.

—Appointed Almond Cressman to succeed Jerry Wilcox on the Tri-County Planning Commission, Cressman is on the County Planning Commission.

—Decided to poll county employees to see if they would prefer being paid bi-weekly instead of twice monthly as is presently done.

—Noted that the ordinance creating the county planning commission still had not been approved by the state.

—Authorized the D.P.W. to apply to the Michigan Department of Highways for permits in DeWitt township to construct a sewer system.

—Approved purchase of $795 worth of carpeting for the education building.

—Approved a billing from the National Association of Counties, for membership fees.

Allen writes board on Galloway case, but letter isn't read

A letter from State Representative Richard J. Allen (R-Ithaca) addressed to the Clinton County Board of Supervisors, dated Jan. 26, and supporting rezoning of the property owned by Albert Galloway has not been read to the supervisors.

It may never be read to them.

Walter Nobis, board chairman, who received the letter from County Clerk Ernest Carter, said that the zoning issue with Galloway had been resolved by the Zoning Commission before the letter was received, and that he and Carter had deemed it unnecessary to read the letter to the board.

Nobis said if the Galloway issue came before the board (important or controversial decisions made by the zoning commission are usually ratified by the board of supervisors) the letter might possibly be read.

However Carter stated that he thought he had thrown the letter out.

A carbon copy of the letter went to Galloway who showed it to the News.

In the letter Allen supports rezoning Galloway's property.

"As a representative of the people and as a citizen, I am very concerned about the obstacles governments have placed in the way of small business. Therefore I like to do whatever I can to encourage small business, when I see an opportunity," he says.

Allen states that Galloway's property seems an appropriate location for a business that supports agriculture.

Allen also says that he is adding his opinion to the debate, as a citizen, and admits that he does not know all of the facts concerning the issue.

Zone board grants special use permit to Galloway on US 27

The Clinton County Zoning Commission last week approved a special use permit for Albert Galloway to operate a farm machine sales on north US-27, ending months of controversy.

The permit specifies that all displays must be set back 50 feet from US-27, that present drives must be used, and that all salvage and inoperable equipment must be screened or located behind buildings.

The permit is valid until July 1, 1971 and Alden Livingston, zoning commission chairman said it would buy time until the new zoning ordinance can be adopted late this year.

There was unofficial indication that plans will provide for commercial development along US-27 with acceleration and deceleration lanes and other safety requirements to control traffic flow.

The permit will not limit the number of machines which Galloway may display. His original special use permit was withdrawn by the zoning commission after Galloway displayed more machines than allowed in the permit. Since July, when his permit was revoked, Galloway has been attempting to have his property rezoned from agricultural to commercial.

The zoning commission also approved a 66-acre golf course on US-27 between Mead and Marshall Roads, provided the Highway Department approves acceleration and deceleration lanes on the highway.

The move did not involve a zoning change, since recreation areas are allowed in agriculture zones if approved by the commission and board of supervisors.

Gaylord Crowell, owner of the golf course said the facility included two ponds, a club house, and a restaurant for golfers. The course will be completed sometime next year.

The commission approved an auto salvage yard requested by William Wallace on West Hyde Road in Essex Township, providing he tidies up and meets fencing within six months. Wallace had operated a salvage yard since 1966 but approval was revoked in 1968 when officials said he did not meet fencing and other stipulations.

Flu limits hospital visitors

Because of a flu outbreak in the area, officials at Clinton Memorial Hospital are limiting visitors to immediate members of patients' families.

The move is a precaution for the protection of patients, especially elderly people who are more susceptible to the affliction.

Central National Bank assets up by 7 pct.

Assets of Central National Bank increased by $937,588—a seven per cent gain—and reached a total of $13,525,526 in 1969, Harold W. H. Wellman, president, told share holders at a meeting last month.

Net earnings after net security losses were $127,864, compared with $110,220 for the previous year, or a gain of 16 per cent, said Wellman. The earnings were equivalent to $6.63 a share, compared to $5.72 a year ago.

Shareholders approved a 15 per cent stock dividend as recommended by the board of directors, pending approval of the comptroller of the currency.

Wellman told shareholders that the bank's capital funds, including reserves, are $772,475 as compared with $650,948 on Dec. 31, 1968. This growth has been accomplished through retained earnings, he said.

"During the past year the demand deposits in banks have grown rather slowly, whereas those in the time and savings category have shown more of an increase," said Wellman. "At the present time, in the banking industry, it is estimated that over 70 per cent of all deposits require the payment of interest ranging from four per cent to 6 1/4 per cent, and less than 30 per cent are commercial deposits. The same percentage is true in the case on this bank."

The shareholders re-elected the entire board of directors, including Wellman as chairman. Other directors are Harold S.

Beardslee, Timothy M. Green, Edward A. Idzowski, Dr. C. W. Lambert, Gordon McCormick, George E. Manis, Richard Mynsberge, Paul W. Nobis, Arnold M. Schafer, Leon W. Shumaker and Robert E. Thompson.

Wellman was re-elected president and other officers re-elected were Thompson, executive vice president; Robert E. Purtil, vice president; Wayne F. Hicks, from assistant vice president to full vice president; Ovid branch manager, Michael C. Mulder, assistant cashier and Mrs. Clarice Semans, assistant cashier. Named as a new officer was Pewamo branch manager Robert Barker, assistant cashier.

MFC ok's DeWitt Twp. sewer bonds

Att. Gen. Frank J. Kelley, Chairman of the Municipal Finance Commission, has announced that the Commission approved $3,345,000 of "Clinton County Sanitary Sewage Disposal System No. 1 Bonds (Township of DeWitt)".

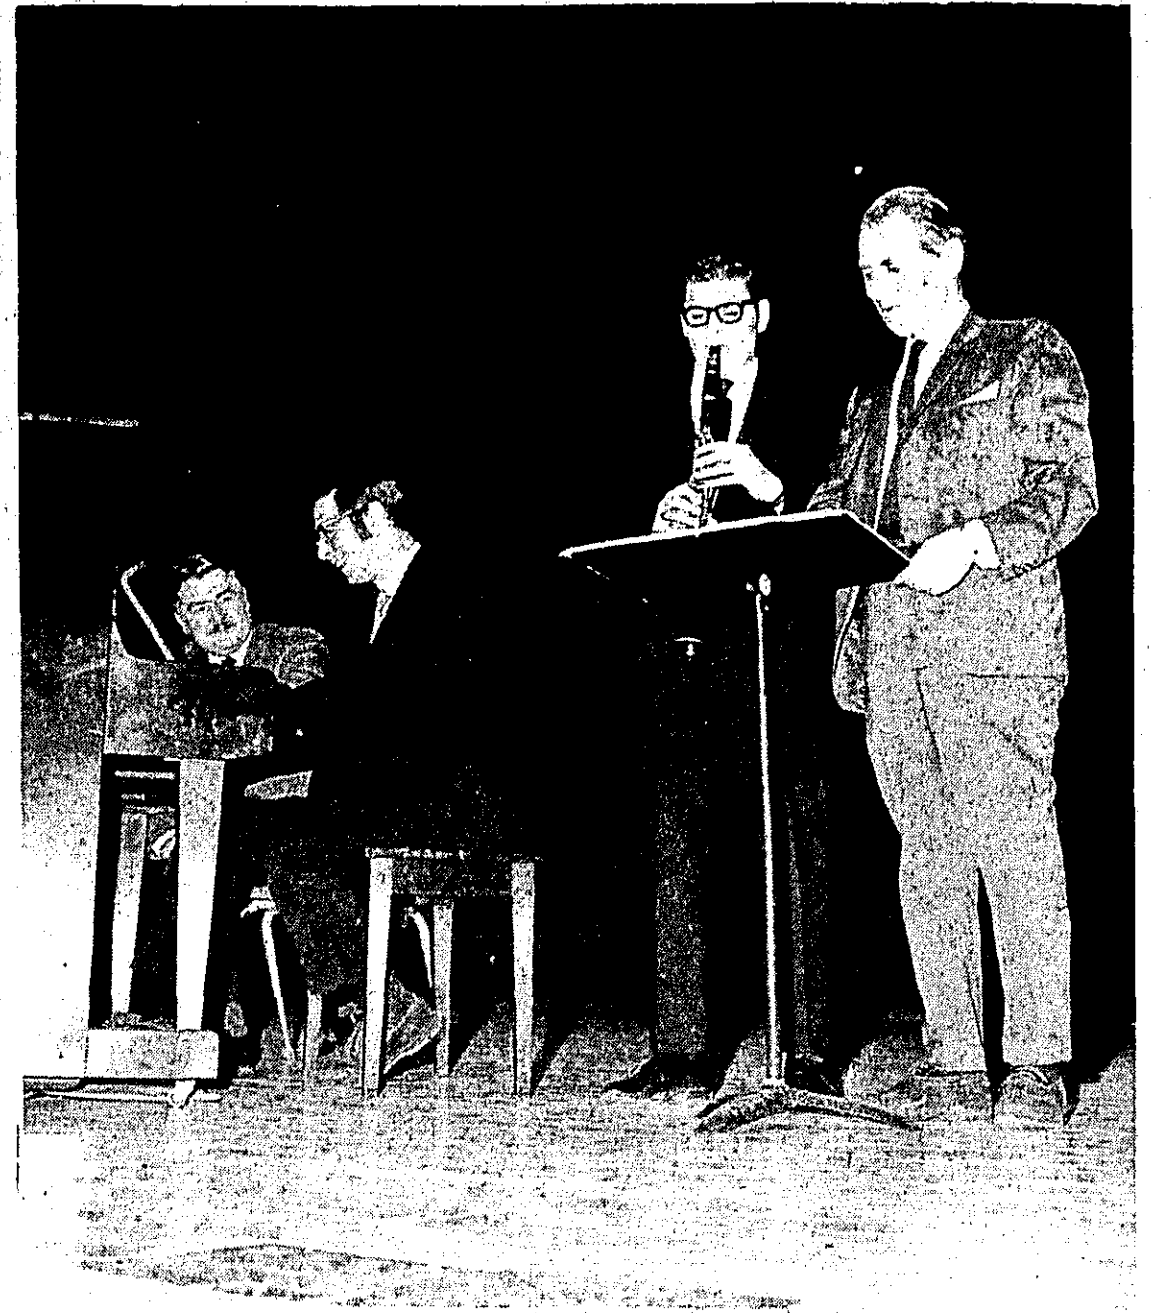

Kelley said, that the proceeds will be used to pay part of the cost of constructing a sanitary sewage disposal system and appurtenances to service the Township of DeWitt.

"The bonds are to be issued in anticipation of the payment of the amounts to be paid to the county under a certain contract dated Oct. 27, 1969 by which the township agrees to pay to the county the cost of the system," he added.

"The full faith and credit of the Township is pledged for the required payments to the County," he said.

"In addition, the full faith and credit of the County of Clinton has been pledged to the payment of the bonds, principal and interest, when due."

Other members of the Municipal Finance Commission are Allison Green, State Treasurer; and John W. Porter, Acting Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Ralph d'Arcangelis, of Flint Northwestern High School, won the clarinet solo contest Saturday and will perform with the Greater Michigan All Star Bands at St. Johns next month. On the left is James Hewitt, Flint Northwestern band director and accompanying at the piano was Myron Aaronson. On the right is Leonard Falconi, of Michigan State University.

CMU, Indiana band directors will perform in St. Johns

Two respected university band directors will contribute their talents when the Greater Michigan All-Star bands perform in St. Johns later this month. They are Frederick C. Ebbs of Indiana University and Norman C. Dietz of Central Michigan University.

Approximately 70 Michigan High Schools will be represented when 226 of the state's outstanding musicians perform at the two-day event set for Feb. 21-22 at St. Johns High School, according to Walter Cole, chairman of the music department.

Ebbs, a graduate of Baldwin Wallace College, received a master's degree in music from the University of Michigan.

Before joining the faculty at Indiana in 1967, Ebbs spent 13 years at the University of Iowa where he led the Hawkeye Marching Band in Rose Bowl performances in 1957 and 1959. He also took the Iowa band on a State Department tour of Western Europe and the Soviet Union in 1966.

In 1968, Ebbs returned to the Rose Bowl for another performance, this time directing the Hoosier Marching Band.

Dietz, who graduated from Central Michigan in 1941 and received a master's degree in music from Michigan State University in 1946, joined the CMU music staff in 1947.

He holds the rank of professor and in addition to directing the Chippewa Marching Band, is also director of the Symphonic Wind Ensemble.

Among his works are "Suite for Woodwinds," "Book of Job," "Prelude and Scherzo," and "Three Sketches."

In order to accommodate the more than 200 students expected in town for the performance, Cole is asking the help of the community which has responded favorably in the past.

About 200 young musicians will have to be fed and housed on Feb. 21, he says.

Tax deadline is extended for farmers

If the 1969 Rax Reform Bill is any indication, farmers should be saying "the way to Uncle Sam's heart is through his stomach." At least it seems that way, according to Mel Warren, St. Johns manager for H & R Block, Tax Service in St. Johns.

Farmers who did not file a declaration of estimated taxes on or before Jan. 15, 1970, have been granted an extension of the deadline for filing their 1969 farm returns to March 1. This is an extension of the date by which they can file their farm return and be excused from filing the estimated tax declaration, explains Warren.

This new deadline will be effective each succeeding year or until a change is again made

Band gives 'successful' concert

Last Thursday night at Rodney B. Wilson Jr. High parents and friends of 7th grade band students gathered for an informal concert which proved both enjoyable and educational. Band Directors Algie Watkins, William Tennant and John Speck conducted their separate bands through "a day's activities". Mr Watkins' band demonstrated the practical uses of scales and played "Little Suite for Band". Mr Tennant's band played through a normal warm-up session and explained why this is such an important part of each class period. They then played "Symphonette for Band" and "Our Director". Mr Speck's band played the parts of "Prelude and March" and demonstrated how the melody, counter-melody and harmony combine to make a completed tune. They ended their section of the program with "Rat-a-Tat-Too", which is a solo for cornet and drum accompanied by the band. Drew Carpenter, son of Mr and Mrs Doug Carpenter, 502 S. Kibbee played the cornet while Dale Stephenson, son of Dr and Mrs Stephenson, 510 E. Walker, performed on the drum.

The evening ended with refreshments during which time the parents were able to meet the directors. Some favorable comments overheard were: "Now I know how Junior should practice" and "It sure is nice to see where and how my money is spent". It seems the main objective of getting the parents informed and involved was at least partly accomplished.

MRS KENNETH FEDEWA

This pinochle club is anything but routine!

Joining a card club can be a routine activity, but for a group of residents and former residents of St. Johns, putting together a pinochle club has proved to be anything but routine. In fact, for the original members, there's been 22 years of pleasant excitement above and beyond the usual after-game awarding of prizes.

So last month when a dozen members gathered for their monthly meeting at Plant City, Fla., the session, so remote from St. Johns, was typical of the group. Not only were they a long way from home but, to add spice to the occasion, one of the ladies won the man's second place prize.

BUT THAT'S the way the day went Jan. 22 when the twelve got together at the Holiday Inn. There were Fred and Jean Hughes, now of Orlando; Mildred and Wade Olin, from Mesa, Ariz., and Blanche and Lester Houghton. The attendance roster rounded out with others whose addresses (at least some of the time) have a more local ring. There were Mrs Lewis (Rose) Wolf, Mrs Marie Belknap and Floyd and Lela Robinson, all of St. Johns and Stephen and Florence Rennells, now of Greenville, N.C.

A pair of other members, Gayle and Helen Vauconant of St. Johns did not plan their Florida trip in time to make the pinochle club meeting. But three of the four couples who formed the club; the Robinsons, the Houghtons and the Rennells were all on hand for the Plant City meeting and at least two of their numbers gathered in prizes.

BLANCHE HOUGHTON won first prize for women and Florence Rennells was runnerup. In the men's division, Fred Hughes won first place with Marie Belknap, playing as a man, capturing second.

It's for certain that after 22 years these players have shared prizes before and it's a pretty good bet they'll share them again. The big question is where.

Perhaps in Greenville at the home of the Rennells in May . . . and who knows? One of the men just might win the ladies' first prize!

Red Cross Canteen next Wednesday

A Red Cross Canteen will be held at 6 a.m., Wednesday, Feb. 11 at the Central National Bank, Community Room for Clinton County men leaving to take their physical examinations or induction into the Army. There will be 35 men going for physicals and seven men being inducted.

The entrance to the Community Room in the basement of the bank is on the west (Spring Street) side of the building.

Many of the parents and friends of these men are not aware that they too are most welcome to join in an early morning cup of coffee while we wait for the chartered bus to arrive, which will transport the men to Detroit.

Jean Rand, executive secretary for Red Cross in Clinton County, will supply information to each draftee and his family on how to secure the assistance of the Red Cross in an emergency, should the need arise while the men are in the service.

Doris Prowant and Mary Newhouse will be representing the Red Cross as volunteers, they will be assisted by Ruth Barrett, Alberta Brock and Edna Eldred; representing the Blue Star Mothers. The ladies from the Blue Stars will distribute gifts supplied by their organization to the men being inducted.

Rev Averill Carson of the Congregational Church, will represent the ministerial association at the February canteens. The Double N Extension Club will provide cookies.

The canteens are a free service provided by the Red Cross to the community, all other organizations are invited to send representatives to the canteens if they wish.

How To Be A Good Lover

Even if you don't buy our candy Valentine's Day, Barton's brings this heretofore unpublished report as a public service to men of all ages.

- 1 Tell her anything she may have heard about you was exaggerated.
- 2 Once in a while, very quietly, take the garbage out.
- 3 Gasp with delight when she's cleaned the hall closet.
- 4 Admit your mother's cooking always gave you heartburn.
- 5 Tell her you never believed it could be like this.
- 6 Assure her the models and actresses you meet are shallow, cold and much too skinny.
- 7 Bring her one rose.
- 8 Nibble her ear while she's scrambling the eggs.
- 9 Carry her across the room, if you're both in shape.
- 10 Get jealous the day the repairman is coming.
- 11 Tell her she doesn't need any make-up.
- 12 Buy her a bikini.
- 13 Tell her you not only love her, you like her.
- 14 Get romantic in the middle of the afternoon.
- 15 Put the bigger half of the eggroll on her plate.
- 16 Tell her you love her while she's diapering the baby.
- 17 Send her a schmaltzy card on Columbus Day.
- 18 Call her baby, cherie, cara mia, pussycat, lambchop.
- 19 Tell her you need her.
- 20 Say they take after their mother when anybody tells you the children are beautiful.
- 21 Ask her to feed you chicken soup when you're sick.
- 22 Decide her mother is really a sweet woman at heart. Buy her a bikini too.
- 23 Growl when she calls you a tiger.
- 24 Give her a Barton's heart to show you're a Continental lover. Look into her eyes when you feed her the first raspberry creme. Don't hog all the pecans for yourself.

Big Brothers program begins in St. Johns

"No man ever stands so straight as when he stoops to help a boy."

That's the slogan of a new organization in St. Johns—the Big Brothers.

Several local men have been working in past weeks preparing for a successful program devoted to providing companionship for fatherless boys in the area.

One of those men making up the board of directors is John Aylsworth, Clinton County 4-H agent.

"It is felt that there is a need for this program," he says. "Just starting off, we could use five, or six men right now and we will be needing more."

What kind of a commitment is asked?

"A Big Brother would spend about an hour or two each week with a boy, but this could be more depending on how much time he could devote to the program."

Aylsworth.

"What they do depends on the background of the man and his Little Brother."

"It might be camping, sports or attending activities of some kind they're both interested in," he adds.

"The biggest part is having someone the boy can talk to and develop a friendship with—a man image," says Aylsworth. "Not that some mothers can't do a good job, but most boys just need a man to talk to."

"We're looking for men interested in boys who are willing to spend some time with them," he says.

Aylsworth says initially the board of directors would like to keep the program in the St. Johns area starting on a small scale where we can work into a successful program and expand as time goes along.

The Big Brother program, which is more than 65 years old, accepts little brothers between the ages of eight and 16.

Big Brother applicants must be between the ages of 21 and 65.

Factors considered are morality, religious faith (in an attempt to pair up members of the same faith), general stability, available time, economic status, family status and family background. "We want the Big Brother's wife to understand the program," says Aylsworth, "because she may become involved, too."

Local men interested in additional information may attend board of directors meetings at 7:30 p.m. on the fourth Wednesday of every month at the Social Services Building, 1003 S. Oakland, St. Johns.

Or give Aylsworth a call at 224-3288.

Lions to present an evening with Allgaier

Russell Allgaier has played his piano for the State Legislature and thousands at Madison Square Garden.

But that was before he went professional; when he was a kid so to speak.

Now, at age 15, Allgaier has behind him more than 3,000 public appearances and travels of more than 40,000 miles across the United States and Canada.

And now he's coming to St. Johns.

The St. Johns Lions Club is presenting "An Evening With Russell Allgaier" later this month.

But he's been playing the piano since he was two years old and composing since he was four.

He was a 10-year-old veteran when he performed for the State Legislature and a year later played at Madison Square Garden.

Actually, there will be two nights with Allgaier, Feb. 20 and 21, both at St. Johns High School auditorium.

Allgaier, a Kalamazoo high school student, has been blind since birth.

Tickets for the 8 p.m. performances may be purchased from any member of the Lions Club or at Depeal's Music Store, McKenzie's Insurance Agency and Woodbury Flower Shop.

Adults will be admitted for $1.50, children for $1.

RUSSELL ALLGAIER

Funds collected will be used to support club programs which traditionally assist the blind.

Civil defense procedures to be shown in Clinton

Sometime after Feb. 16 all Clinton County homes will receive information in the mail on the new Tri-County Community Shelter Plan.

The mailing includes a map of the area showing where shelters are located and a book, "In Time of Emergency," which will provide advice on home protection procedures.

"I hope they won't have to use them," says Charles Frost, Clinton Civil Defense Director, "but we want people to know this information."

Frost emphasized that there are more people than shelters in the county. The plan provides shelters for only 5,873 people of the 46,632 persons in Clinton.

On Feb. 5 and 6 a civil defense program on survival procedures will be held for all county officials in the court house.

The classes will start at 8 a.m. and run until 4:30 p.m. and Frost said the following are expected to participate: the board of supervisors; road commission members and staff; county extension agents; health department members and staff; county defense board members; members of the economic stabilization committee; and heads of townships, villages and cities in Clinton.

CHARLES FROST

The Community Shelter Plan which was developed in the three counties has been used as a model for the entire U.S. according to James Holcomb, Lansing Civil Defense director.

Plans are underway to overcome the public shelter deficit by encouraging new buildings being constructed to incorporate features which will qualify them as shelters.

Dr. Edward Teller addressing the United States Civil Defense Council in Seattle last year expressed the feeling behind the civil defense program. "It has been stated that a nuclear attack may wipe out mankind. This is nonsense. What has to be said is that in a nuclear attack a country like the United States will cease to exist if we are unprepared," he said.

A day at the ice rink and a time to laugh

By BOB CALVERLEY
News Staff Writer

A little girl about five pushed an unwieldy shovel across the ice-skating rink in the city park, until she saw the camera. The shovel dropped, and 30 or 40 young skaters converged on me. "You gonna take my picture?" "Look, I can fall down."

Four boys whizzed by, cart-wheeling around a piece of rope. "Let's see what's the fastest..." Two of them fell down.

Across the ice, Chris Cole was trying to learn to skate. Every few steps (he took steps because his skates were so loose and big, he was skating on his ankles) he fell down, crawled to his feet and stumbled on, laughing all the time.

It was Friday afternoon, there was no school and it was clear and cold. Soon the kids forgot about the photographer and went back to the more routine matters of practicing stopping, falling down, skating backwards, and discovering new rope techniques.

My film was soon gone. "When's our picture gonna be in the paper?" they called after me.

"Wednesday," I said at my car. "We're gonna be the laughin' stock o' the world Wednesday," added another.

The roar of the car engine drowned out the laughter; the crunchy white park roads turned into the dirty slush of the city streets; the air in the office was warm and filled with the noisy clatter of typesetting machines; there was film to develop, stories to write and basketball games to cover.

There wasn't enough time to laugh anymore.

A piece of rope is useful on a skating rink. Here Wayne Petersen, Larry Feldpausch, Mark Grost, and David Lundy have a tog - of - war with their rope.

'Bruised' Redwings battle past tough Mason, Saxons

By RON KARLE
Editor

Everybody was impressed when St. Johns beat Waverly, Everybody, it seems, except Hastings and Mason.

The Redwings, were still physically bruised and battered from that set-to with the Warriors when Mason came to town last Tuesday.

And the boys from Ingham County, showing absolutely no respect for their hosts, were off and running as though they were out to surpass their 111-point scoring effort the week before. But Dave Gaffney must have had a basketball magnet installed in the hoop before the game, because when the night was over he had collected a career-high of 33 points to lead the Wings over the Bulldogs, 94-84.

Then on Friday over at Hastings, the Saxons stayed within a point for two periods before St. Johns, led by 24 points from Dean Eisler, put it together for win No. 10, downing their hosts, 90-75.

Bob Rehman added 18 points while Gaffney contributed 15 and Rich Stoddard, playing for ailing Chuck Green added an 11 more.

"Rich Stoddard did a real fine job," said Head Coach Doug Japinga.

Green was out with a muscle strain in his back suffered in the Waverly game and aggravated against Mason.

"I don't know when he'll be back for sure," said Japinga. "I'm hoping he'll return Tuesday but I'm not very optimistic."

In posting their eighth conference victory against a single defeat, St. Johns took a 23-20 first period lead at Hastings and led at the half by only a point, 42-41.

The Wings opened up in the third period and found the net for 26 points to open an 11-point lead, 68-57.

Bill Feldpausch paced the Saxons with 21 points while Kevin West added 18. Two other Saxons were in double figures, Newell Heath and Bill Bradley, both with 14.

Against Mason, the Redwings were victimized in the first period as the Bulldogs took a 27-21 lead and used a full court press causing several turnovers.

St. Johns cut the deficit by a point in the second period and trailed by five at the half, 45-40.

The Wings began chipping away in the third period and with less than a minute to go in the quarter, Gaffney, who hit on 17 of 18 free throws, finally put St. Johns out front at the foul line.

And at the end of three, St. Johns led, 66-64.

Then with little more than a minute and a half left in the game Gaffney put the Wings out front by 10 points, 92-82.

"The way it started out, it looked like a long evening," said Japinga. "But then we started to put it together."

"It was perhaps as fine a game from the spectator's point of view as we've played all season," he added.

He admitted that "we weren't up as high for Mason as we were for Waverly, especially when the two games were so close to together" but he felt it was a credit to the team "that they went all out."

Following Tuesday's trip to Ionia, St. Johns returns home Friday for a rematch with Grand Ledge.

After Friday's game, only one more regular season game is scheduled to be played at St. Johns. That's Lakewood Feb. 27.

St. Johns JVs fall to Hastings, trip Mason

Leading the St. Johns Junior Varsity both nights, Dennis LeVeck had himself 20- and 19-point nights as the junior Wings split a pair of games last week.

Stands tall

Michigan State football defensive tackle Ron Curl of Chicago, Ill. blocked four punts and one extra point try during the 1969 season.

The loss was Friday against Hastings as the Saxon came from behind in a 21-point fourth period to win, 55-49.

"We sure didn't play one of our finer ballgames," said JV Coach Mike Young. "We made too many mental errors that we shouldn't be making at this stage of the season."

St. Johns took an 18-16 advantage in the first period then fell behind by one at the half, 31-30. The Wings outscored their hosts 10-3 in the third quarter for a six-point lead before the hosts exploded for the 21-point final period.

In a non-conference game against Mason Tuesday, St. Johns fared better as they dumped the visitors 59-53.

"We played very poorly in the first half," said Young. "And then we came back to outscore them 20-4 in the third quarter which made the difference."

In addition to LeVeck's 19 points, two other players were in double figures for St. Johns. Dan Yurek had 13 and Rick Hudson added 10.

By week's end, the JVs were 6-5 on the season and 5-4 in the conference.

Area Golden Glovers boxers lose 8 of 9

St. Johns boxers took a terrible mauling, losing eight of nine bouts, but still managed to hang on to second place in last Wednesday's Lansing Golden Gloves tournament.

The semi-finals will be held tonight.

St. Johns' lone win came in the sub-novice featherweight division when Dick Palmer scored a technical knockout over Burdette Pombier of Albion.

The "big" defeat came when 6-4, 277-pound Dick Blemaster of St. Johns was defeated in the novice heavyweight division by Rick Abel of Dimondale, by a decision.

In the open light-middleweight division Chuck Muckle of St. Johns was knocked out by Floyd Brandt of Charlotte and Dick Padgett of St. Johns dropped a decision to Al Fracker of Michigan Center.

Jose Riojas of St. Johns was battered to a defeat by Lansing's Bruce Boone in an open middleweight fight.

Larry Marshall of Battle Creek scored a decision over Russ Cunningham of St. Johns in the novice middleweight division.

Phil Seybert and Tom Welber of St. Johns both lost decisions to Joe Tietz of Owosso and Jack Worst, of Mason in the sub-novice light middleweight division.

Good record

Michigan State football teams have played seven of the eight members of the Pacific Eight Conference over the years and posted a cumulative record of 19-7-1 in those meetings.

Fowlerville, Panthers victimize Bath's Bees

Bath's Fighting Bees were stung twice in Ingham County League basketball play last week, dropping games to Fowlerville and Stockbridge.

The pair of defeats put the Bees' season record at 7-3 and their conference mark at 5-3 by week's end.

At Fowlerville Friday, the Gladiators stunned Bath 64-58 as two of the Bees' starters, Steve Loomis and Don Koenig fouled out at the end of the third period.

The Bees opened a 15-9 lead in the first period and then fired in 25 points in the second to open a 40-28 halftime lead. But Fowlerville, led by 27 points from Jack Backhuss, outscored the visitors 18-10 in the third period.

The Bees hit a cold streak in the final quarter netting only eight points while Fowlerville pushed in 20 to wrap up the game.

Dave Ankney paced the Bees with 26 points while Paul Stoll added 10.

Against Stockbridge—the No. 1 team in the state—the Bees fell, 72-60, with Jesse Campbell leading the way with 22 points.

In double figures for Bath were Ankney and Koenig with 15 each and Stoll with 14.

P-W sweeps pair in CMAC last week

Pewamo-Westphalia downed a pair of Central Michigan Athletic Conference foes last week to push its league record to 7-3 and its overall mark to 7-5.

The Pirates dumped Laingsburg, 74-57, Friday night and knocked off Webberville, 62-59, Tuesday night.

Again Laingsburg, John Bengel led a balanced attack which saw four Pirates in double figures. Bengel notched 19 while Bill Vance added 17, Jerry Aren 13 and Steve Wirth 12.

P-W took a 16-14 lead in the first period and made it 36-28 at the half. The Pirates outscored their hosts 16-13 in the third period and then put the game away with 22 points in the final period.

Against Webberville, Arens led the way with 24 points in a game which saw P-W pick up its three-point winning margin in the first half as the clubs played even ball in the second round.

Don Pohl was also in double figures for the Pirates with 11. Dan McCoy scored 25 for Webberville and teammate Ed Ancel hit for 20.

Ritchie rides a winner in DeWitt

By BOB CALVERLEY
News Staff Writer

"I'm not in the habit of riding a losing horse."

That's what James Ritchie told the DeWitt School Board when he became superintendent of schools, and the high school football team had been losing for five years.

"We went out and recruited in the halls," he says, "because the kids weren't interested."

"There wasn't much school spirit."

Last fall the DeWitt Panthers demolished all nine of their opponents in football and the previous spring the track team won the Class C Championship.

"I have a personal interest in the athletic program," says Ritchie. He relates a successful athletic program to school spirit, and level of spirit to the well-being of the entire school district.

Ritchie is in his third year as superintendent of schools at DeWitt.

Since he took over, the district has grown from 1150 students to 1553, or about 11 per cent a year. Surrounding districts have been growing about three or four per cent yearly.

Studies predict that by 1978 the district will have 3,400 to 3,600 pupils.

To meet the influx, new additions have recently been added to the elementary schools and to the high school, and the new middle school will open next September.

"The middle school has the basic facilities for 800 pupils, although it will begin with 400. As enrollment grows all we'll have to do is add classrooms."

Although the school district owns 110 acres behind the high school for future development, Ritchie believes additional sites will have to be considered.

The movement of the Diamond Reo plant could upset our projections he says.

But education isn't all quantity, and the best schools aren't necessarily the largest.

Ritchie is concerned about the quality of education too. "The system isn't large enough to provide anything in type A Special Education," he says.

Type A Special Education is an educational program for mentally retarded children and there aren't enough pupils in a district the size of DeWitt to make such a program practical there. The same is true of other programs.

"For example, we don't have a swimming pool," says Ritchie, "so kids in DeWitt aren't learning to swim."

In the future Ritchie feels more emphasis will have to be placed on vocational training for the large percentage of students who don't complete college.

"We just don't prepare them for anything."

He terms himself a "middle of the road man" when it comes to education philosophy.

"I'd like to be progressive," and he describes a new computer controlled method of teaching reading that eliminates the teacher. The firm selling the computers will guarantee to raise pupils' reading ability.

"But there just isn't enough money for all these things that could be incorporated," he says.

But electronics are creeping into the classroom. The new middle school will have a small closed circuit television system.

The computers aren't far behind.

St. Johns curriculum committee to review findings with board

The St. Johns School Citizens Curriculum Committee, which has been meeting since mid-October, is considering recommendations to the Board of Education in the near future.

Currently, the committee is considering recommendations in the areas of language and communication.

The first areas of the curriculum under consideration by the committee were reading, English and communication arts.

Since its inception, the committee has heard from elementary, junior high and high school teachers concerning the program in St. Johns schools.

Committee members have visited classrooms and have discussed curriculum with teachers.

Elementary teachers who appeared before the committee to explain the program were Dortha Beagle, Kathryn Slagell, S. J. Cross, Jane Knight, Dorothy Bakita and Ella Mae Beck.

Marjorie Phillips discussed the junior high English program.

High School teachers who talked to the committee were: Douglas Japenga, Robert Holzhe and Robert Koger.

After hearing reports from local teachers, the committee visited other schools.

Elementary schools visited were: Jackson Northwest School District, Jackson City Schools, Rochester and Inkster.

High School programs observed were: Charlotte, Flint Northwestern and Trenton.

NARA offers rehabilitation hope in drug cases

FOURTH IN A SERIES

Treating and rehabilitating narcotic addicts successfully has been hampered by the fact that the addict was often treated in a hospital far from his home community.

Usually also, he was not adequately followed up and helped with his problem after release from the hospital.

Means for overcoming these and other deficiencies are provided in the Narcotic Addict Rehabilitation Act of 1966—known as NARA.

Congress established a new national policy through NARA. It calls for the treatment of narcotic addicts rather than solely prosecuting them under criminal statutes.

For the first time, Federal law provides that narcotic addicts may apply for treatment in lieu of prosecution for certain crimes and that addicts not charged with a criminal offense may also be committed to the Public Health Service for treatment and rehabilitation.

NARA thus set in motion a new nationwide program for the supervised treatment and rehabilitation—an aftercare program of three years' duration—of addicts in the community.

The National Institute of Mental Health, Division of Narcotic Addiction and Drug Abuse is responsible for the examination and treatment of patients committed under provisions of NARA.

How is it working? A look at five "case histories" suggests that the program is off to a good start.

Robert J. started using barbiturates in reform school when he was 15. At nineteen, he was a high school dropout—and heroin addict.

Jose H. is 32. He started using heroin at 15 and has been using it intermittently ever since.

John P. has been an addict since he was 19. Now 26, he found his "habit" costing him $35 a day at the peak of his addiction; and he stole checks to support his addiction.

Bill M. is 30 years old and has a 10-year history of drug abuse. Once he was sent to jail to "kick the habit." Merely jailing him didn't work.

Another heroin addict, R. R., had been stealing $25-30 daily to pay for the drug. His family, consisting of his wife and three children, had broken up.

Before NARA, there would have been little hope for the rehabilitation of any of these five individuals. Typically, they would have remained hooked on hard narcotics, stolen more and more, to pay for their drugs, been jailed repeatedly.

Likely, they would have been dead within a few years from an overdose of drugs, which happens frequently among narcotic victims.

Moreover, the five, it is estimated, would have stolen $82,800 in cash or merchandise to support their habits since the time they entered the NARA program.

Now, each of them has been free of drugs since at least May 1968. Two of them have been rid of their habits since the fall of 1967. All are either gainfully employed or receiving training; and one is attending college part-time.

Among the first to receive treatment under NARA, they were given six months of intensive inpatient treatment at an NIMH clinical research center. On discharge, they went into intensive rehabilitation programs established in their home communities. Local agencies were contracted with by NIMH to provide the services.

Currently, 58 such programs have been set up in 55 U.S. cities in 37 states. More are being added almost daily.

Now enrolled in the total program are 268 patients.

The number is growing and by summer of 1970 is expected to reach 2,000 patients, according to Dr. Sidney Cohen, Director of the Division of Narcotic Addiction and Drug Abuse of the National Institute of Mental Health.

Admission to NARA is always through the Federal courts. In some cases, addicts themselves request commitment to treatment rather than face prosecution on Federal criminal charges.

So far, the program has had a low dropout rate. Dr. Cohen attributes this to two factors mainly: the personal attention and intensive service received by the patients and screening out of addicts who show little hope or desire for successful rehabilitation.

The program already is paying dividends in economic savings as well as social ways, according to Dr. Cohen. He estimates, for example, that "for less than $1 million (the cost of the aftercare program to date), thefts of the addicts receiving rehabilitation have been reduced by $1.8 million—a savings of $600,000." The savings are calculated on the basis of findings by the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Justice which indicate how much the average addict must steal daily to support his drug habit.

Far from all addicts will ever be as outstanding beneficiaries of the program as R. R., mentioned earlier, but his case is encouraging and hope-bringing to others.

He was a heroin addict for nine years before entering NARA's program. After intensive treatment at NIMH's Lexington center, he went into his community aftercare program, in Detroit, following four weeks of psychological testing and vocational evaluation there. He took part in self-help group therapy and was placed for employment in an automobile production plant.

Since he began his therapy, he has paid for renovations on his home, purchased an automobile, and assumed full family responsibilities for his wife and three children. He also became an active member of his community's social organizations, helping groups on youth and drug problems.

As do all NARA patients, R. R. will remain in his aftercare program for 36 months. The chances of his completing the program and maintaining his progress are good, say the program authorities.

For a free folder on the NARA program, write to Box 1080, NIMH, Washington, D. C. 20013.

The "Personality Plus 1970" program held last Saturday at Smith Hall in St. Johns was quite successful with 167 girls and their mothers attending. Joan Jewett of the Joan Jewett Career School in East Lansing discussed the importance of a good personal appearance, personal habits to follow, etiquette, how to sit properly and answered the questions the girls asked.

In the afternoon Kathy Davis of the Olive 4-H Club presented a skit on "What's In My Bag" emphasizing the amount of calories in different lunches. Following this presentation the members counted up the calories in their sack lunches. Sue Cerny and Denise Cerny of St. Johns explained and demonstrated various exercises the girls could use to help keep trim. Sue's presentation was called "Fitness 'n' Feelings." A slide-tape presentation of teenage fashions pointed out how a girl can improve her personal appearance.

There were 28 4-H clubs represented at this program with from one to 20 representatives. Most of the girls who attended were in the 11-12-13 year old range but there were a number in the 10-18 year category. Comments from the leaders and members indicated they learned a lot and felt the program was very worthwhile.

The 4-H teen leaders will be meeting Thursday, Feb. 5 with Astronomy as the program subject. The teen leaders are to meet at the Extension Office at 7 p.m. in St. Johns and will go by cars to the Michigan State University Planetarium in East Lansing for the program. The members will be learning more about the solar system and the use of a telescope. All members are urged to attend.

Rex Hoover of DeWitt is the new chairman of the County 4-H horse leaders group and Connie Miner of St. Johns, is the new secretary. The first session on 4-H horse judging was held Tuesday evening at the Central National Bank in St. Johns. Thayne Miner of St. Johns is in charge of the County 4-H horse judging team. Future sessions will be held before the final team of four members is selected to judge at the State Contest at Michigan State University.

The horse leaders have set the date of June 21 for the County 4-H horse show at St. Johns with June 28 as the rain date. Proceeds of the show will go toward the 4-H horse members fair share of $212 to the National 4-H Center Expansion Drive. The horse leaders have agreed to put on the Tuesday evening fair horse fun show at the County Fair Aug. 18.

The Rough Riders 4-H horse club in Shiawassee County has invited any person interested in horses to attend a meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 10, 8:30 p.m. at the East Ovid Elementary School in Ovid. Dr. Boggs, a veterinarian will speak and show a film on Internal Parasites of Horses.

The Nimble Fingers 4-H club members will be holding a Valentine Dance at Smith Hall on Feb. 14. An exchange student from Germany talked about her country and showed slides. Other topics of discussion included the club roller skating activity and the donation by the club to the National 4-H Center Expansion Drive in Washington D.C. Demonstrations were given by Diann, Larry and Russell Kanaski, Lori McQueen, Tom Moldenhauer, Carla Purtil, Lori Goldman, Lori Richard and Rebecca Barnes.

The Jolly Green Giants 4-H Club members have donated $12 toward the National 4-H Center Expansion Drive at Washington D.C.

Kathy Nichols of DeWitt was the guest speaker at the Knit and Stitch 4-H Club meeting where she showed slides and discussed her experiences in Japan this summer on the National 4-H Teen Caravan program. The girls will have their mothers attend their April 1 meeting and model their project garments that they will have completed for Spring Achievement.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

by GARY A. KLEINHENN

Michigan Farm Bureau

Pesticides do have benefits

Did you ever take a big bite of thirst-quenching fruit only to uncover half a worm wiggling to find his other half?

Not a pleasant experience and not uncommon if the fruit grew wild without the intensive care of a grower.

Farmers are the guardians of our food, with their knowledge and skill they help keep families healthy by protecting the food they produce from not only worms, but millions of hungry insects and harmful diseases.

It's the farmer who plants the seed which starts the process of filling each man, woman and child's dinner, lunch and breakfast plate, and the snacks in between.

As our urban centers boom and our populations grow, there are countless numbers of people who have never even been on a farm, and rarely look past the grocery shelf as to the origin of their food. Subsequently there is a lot of inbred misunderstanding about America's largest industry.

With regret consumers have been subjected to an insidious barrage of propaganda claiming that the environment is being systematically poisoned by pesticides, fertilizers herbicides and other modern chemicals.

Seldom is this information balanced or objective.

Farmers in general and Michigan farmers in particular, have been singled out as a target by irresponsible agencies and private organizations such as the Environmental Defense Fund, headquartered in New York.

Teamed with the farmer are thousands of researchers, government and private, who test and retest the ingredients which are utilized for safe and better food.

Such effective methods is one of the major reasons for agriculture's phenomenal ability to produce abundant and high quality food.

Pesticides, for instance, have also helped rid the world of plagues, and continue to control disease. Farmers, in general, have used them judiciously, and only in the quantity necessary to assure control of disease and pests that affect agricultural products.

In fact, thanks to farmers and researchers, many of the pesticides under attack today have been used very little in recent years.

Farmers are now making every effort to properly inform the American public of the safe guards continually taken by farmers as well as scientists and government, all to prevent the "worm" from getting the best of the nation's food.

Only AMIBEN can offer you

TWC

(TOTAL WEED CONTROL)

AMIBEN™ preemergence weedkiller killed grass for more soybean farmers than any other herbicide in 1969. And, it also was the first choice for broadleaf weeds by a wide margin.

This all-in-one, double action, Total Weed Control gives farmers with good management a truly outstanding tool. They can depend upon AMIBEN as the best way to cancel out grass and weeds as a limiting factor when it comes either to growing the beans, or harvesting the crop.

Does it make sense to buy a half-action grass herbicide? One that lets big weeds through, (and yes, even some grasses) but costs a little less, or puts you through the work of soil incorporation? There are several such limited control products on the market. But farmers can easily end up looking at a hefty stand of weeds that "escaped" because of limited capability of the herbicide.

Weed control to be profitable to the farmer should keep everything out but the beans, and do it with ease of use and safety to the crop. Only AMIBEN makes this a realistic goal.

Note: Neither AMIBEN nor any other preemergence soybean herbicide kills cocklebur germinating below the treated soil layer, nor morning-glory, nor perennial weeds. AMIBEN is a Trade Mark of Amchem Products, Inc.

YOUR FAIR SHARE

Be sure to participate in our AMIBEN "Fair Share" Bonus Plan. No other herbicide manufacturer would offer you a share of its profits. No one but Amchem. Don't delay—the earlier you buy, and the more AMIBEN you use, the more you benefit. Come in and get the details from us today.

EXTENSION REPORT

Seed tags

By GEORGE McQUEEN

The farmer concerned with producing high yields of quality crops takes time to read the seed labels carefully.

If your seed is not good, all your land, fertilizer, chemicals and work are wasted on poor seed and inferior plants.

State and federal law requires that all seed be tagged to show quality of the seed, kind of seed, where the seed was grown and the name and address of the seller.

When buying you should look for the pure seed content, the per cent of other crop seed and the per cent of foreign material and weed seed. Germination percentage indicates the number of seeds that have the potential to grow and produce normal healthy plants.

Michigan seed law requires the name and number per pound of noxious weed be listed on the tag. If noxious weed seeds exceed certain limits the seed cannot be sold for planting purposes.

Certified seed must meet the high standards of the Michigan Crop Improvement Association which requires the seed to be of pure variety, have high germination and be free of noxious weeds.

LOOK ALL WAYS
BEFORE CROSSING

Now, in "the quiet years," he has a chance to put the finishing touches on that sooner. When a man's working with his hands, he has time for some thinking, for some looking back.

Our aged friend has a good many years to look back over—some of them good, some bad. But, through all of them, there's been one steady, continuing force, like a thread of steel woven through the pattern of his life.

This force has been the thread of faith—a faith that is sustained and strengthened when a man devotes great time and energy to the Church and its mission.

Now in "the quiet years" he can look back over what has been—he can rejoice because he is able to review a life full of devotion.

You see, it is all important to be able to review the right kind of life. Don't wait until it's too late to start going to church now.

"Wraps and Packs for Food" is the timely topic for classes on Feb. 3, 4, and 5 in St. Johns for Extension Home Economists. Study Group Leaders and other interested homemakers.

Shella Morley, Extension Consumer Marketing Information Agent, has prepared special materials for this program to be presented in cooperation with Extension Home Economist Helen Meach who serves Clinton, Gratiot and Shiawassee Counties.

The meeting time is 1:30 p.m. on each of the three days at Smith Hall in St. Johns.

Mrs. Morley tells us that the best dressed food shoppers wear "brioches" these days. They are reading the wealth of information on the labels of the grocery products which they buy. "This is money saving information for preparation of reports and scrapbooks. Mary Stoneman, local librarian read a poem on "Peace" and the meeting closed with the lighted cross ceremony after which they were invited to the dining room for refreshments.

The tables were decorated in Queen Ruth Ann's colors with green and yellow candles surrounded with miniature yellow roses and a long stemmed yellow rose tied with matching ribbon on each table.

Mrs Lella Wilson poured coffee and Mrs Archie Moore presided at the punch bowl. They were assisted by Mrs Leona Baker, Mrs Carol Watson, Mrs Dortha Platner and Mrs Barbara Baker.

Mrs Stanley Loznak is under treatment at the Owosso Memorial Hospital where she was taken a week ago.

Do you know the answers to the following questions which will be discussed?
—Does it matter whether the label reads "turkey" or "turkey meat?"
—If you get a poor product, what's the most effective way to make your dissatisfaction known?
—How much do the packages you toss out in the trash cost you each year—$100 - $300?
—What's ahead in food packaging?

—Mrs Meach encourages all homemakers to attend one of these informative sessions. She says, "We are all interested in stretching our food dollars. It is important to know the latest food trends and the laws and regulations controlling food packaging. Those attending will see actual samples of tomorrow's food packaging today."

Thoughts of spring . . .

—By LORRAINE SPRAGUE
Extension Home Economist

With Christmas decorations well stored away, the New Year's punch bowl carefully washed and packed and Valentine's Day almost here, our thoughts can't help but turn toward Spring. Spring means a clean new softness in the air, clean green buds, and Spring also means, to most homemakers, a flourish of freshening up the inside of the house, including windows.

Window treatments have an interesting history. We started out by simply cutting holes of various sizes and shapes into houses just to let light and air in and in the very earliest times, to let smoke out. A few years ago glass walls and picture windows won prizes for architects and engineers as the most practical way to bring the outdoors inside. Today with growing populations and all the problems of air pollution, street noises and closeness of neighbors we are back to designing houses to shut out the unwanted. This means smaller windows again. Yes, history seems to repeat itself architecturally also.

Window dressings get their start really because people wanted to add a sense of warmth, color and coziness that interiors in medieval times lacked. Fabric weaving had been developed, so all that was needed was to make larger pieces of fabric to cover windows and even walls. Some of the fabrics were most elaborate—encrusted with threads of colored silk, gold, silver and precious jewels. They were actually valuable and inventoried parts of a castle's treasure house. As the centuries passed, "curtains and draperies" moved to include not only window and wall areas, but even beds.

Such household fabrics have had their "ups and downs" varying from the forementioned elaborate textiles to the almost banishment of window treatments. It was Napoleon, with his eye for finery, who almost revolutionized the upholstery-drapery trade. And in more recent times we've again seen the demand for the elaborate use of fabric.

Modern window treatments are less a preconceived notion of what is "correct" than the result of what the window can "wear" and meet the need of the family. When deciding how to dress the windows in your home the following suggestions may help:

—Investigate new materials, new patterns and new forms that are available.

—Visit model rooms set up by builders, and department stores.

—Study books and magazines that offer possible, useful suggestions.

—Have your personal file of clippings that appeal to you.

—Consider your family preference in color harmonies.

—Please yourself and your family. Let your likes and dislikes be important guidelines.

—Keep in mind the function of the window in relation to your home and family light control, temperature control, privacy requirements, scale and size of window in relation to the rest of the room, and the view.

Local education

The question of public financial support of private or parochial schools is a question which will inevitably be posed in each of fifty states. Like many other social and economic problems in our country today this one is much too complex for a generally applicable policy, however, it is clear that if Michigan is among the first to institute a program it will serve as a guideline for other states.

There is little doubt that private schools are in jeopardy; probably more so than public schools. But unlike the public schools, officials of private schools have an ultimate escape, that being a shutdown of their system. Private school students then would have to be absorbed by public systems and few on either side can speculate objectively on the ultimate results of such a move. Emotions tend to affect considerations.

For the most part supporters of private schools do not wish to see their systems closed, but caught in the spiraling costs of educational demands to meet accreditation standards, the limits of taxation and tuition are fast approaching. It is conceivable that, to some extent, financial support of public systems has suffered because of the pressures of supporting dual educational systems.

It is ironic that in general practice, public school districts and private schools operating within those districts can, in most instances, work out their difficulties and bring about mutual benefit. In this grass-roots game of give and take there is probably a greater exchange of private and public funds that meets the layman's eye but officials on both sides work toward effective education in their respective program and each is mindful of the other's commitments and obligations.

A thought

If you own a home, eat food, wear clothes, drive an automobile, or are elderly and live on a fixed income from a pension or savings, you have a very direct interest in the cost of government. Federal spending, in the memory of pre-World War I citizens, has risen from $1 billion a year to some $200 billion a year.

Total welfare payments alone distributed by federal, state and local agencies, not to mention private giving, would probably be impossible to ascertain, but it would amount to more than the total cost of government a few short years ago. And in the taxing process, government itself has expanded almost beyond control.

When you get right down to it, all the finespun theories, as to the cause of inflation, come back to the uncontrolled cost of government. It is folly to place all the blame for inflation on industry and labor. They have contributed their part to it through price increases and demands for wage boosts. But, these are symptoms rather than causes of inflation. The people themselves and their insistence on new and expanded federal programs and increased spending are the primary cause of inflationary pressures.

Only as the people restrain their desire for government gifts and insist on economy and moderation in public spending will there be any hope for inflation relief, job security and easing of prices and taxation.

HARRISONBURG, Va., NEWS-RECORD: "A report by the U.S. Department of Labor details the nation's estimated manpower and womanpower needs through 1975. Included on the list in terms of annual openings are: Teachers—200,000, secretaries—175,000, retail sales workers—140,000, truck drivers—129,000, electrical engineers—14,700, and advertising workers—8,500. Way down near the end, but still alive and kicking, are blacksmiths—600."

WATERVILLE, Wash., EMPIRE-PRESS: "Our thought is that if economy at home is good for the country it should be even better and at least consistent to reduce foreign aid, consistent with our security and commitments to our Allies. What is sauce for the American goose should be sauce for the foreign gander. And we think if we do some pruning on the foreign spending it might lighten the load for the American Eagle and the hard-pressed taxpayer."

Nothing Seems to Help

Adventure

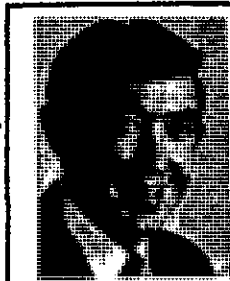

By Warren Dobson

Are you looking for adventure?
Wish a change of atmosphere?
Have your daily tasks lost challenge?
Day by day and year by year?
For a change in your perspective
Why not try it out sometime
Do one thing you've always wanted,
But could never find the time!

Life is full of forms 'n patterns,
And it's hard to change the mold,
Each new day we move in cycles
Getting prematurely old;
There's no call for revolution,
But in your own way 'n clime,
You can do one thing you've wanted
But could never find the time,

Are your New Year resolutions
Getting frayed around the seams?
Are you short on motivation?
Have you ditched those early dreams?
Try a new approach to muster,
Put new bait upon your line!
Do the thing you've always wanted,
But could never find the time!

Many side-roads have main exits,
There's no call for changing goals,
There's new avenues to travel,
If you dare to pay the toll;
If this year you seek new answers
Take just one step at a time!
Do one thing you've always wanted,
But could never find the time!

From the state house

By DICK ALLEN
88th District Representative

A strong, forward looking statement by a strong, forward looking Governor! That's my assessment of Governor Milliken's State of the State address.

The speech differed dramatically from those of recent years. It was long but necessarily so as it addressed itself not just to 1970 but to the 1970's.

Milliken took a uniquely non-political approach in an election year. The speech was inspirational in a manner reminiscent of the way John Kennedy began the sixties. . . . I'm a Republican but I believe at least one line, of his rang true to all loyal Americans. "Think not what your country can do for you, but what you can do for your country."

The Governor addressed himself to the whole range of Michigan's problems. Pollution and environmental quality, crime and drug abuse, industry and agriculture, education and taxation, and so on through a list of recommendations in 35 separate areas.

But even more important than the specific content was the on-going theme that we must look further forward in solving Michigan's problems. Out the window with the year to year, election to election, crisis to crisis approach!

Recognizing that really significant advancement cannot be made overnight, in most areas the 1970 budget is a prudent one. There is no sensational new program designed to carry Milliken or the Republicans to dramatic election victories this fall.

Even in his pet area, educational reform, the Governor now seems content with a slower more orderly approach over the near future.

After a great deal of talk about bold new programs and high new expenditures, it now seems likely that there will be very little increase in expenditure for education. The Michigan Education Association, the school administrators' associations and various parent groups put on a very strong campaign against the proposed school reform. Their basic thesis was they would rather have no increased State expenditure for education than to cut the non-public schools in for some of the increase.

It appears they will get their way. With no significant increase in State Aid we are likely to have a year of increased school crises. But it will be a chance to answer dramatically some of the critical questions brought up during the fall session. Particularly these.

Can school administration safely be left in the hands of local boards and local administrators?

In times of crisis will teachers' groups bargain responsibly with student's needs foremost, even at the expense of badly wanted and probably legitimate teacher goals?

Can a significant level of financial control be left to local voters? Will they respond to legitimate needs if responsibly presented?

Contributing to the difficulty will be a continuation of what I consider to be a heavily repressive reliance on the property tax.

But I still hope the answers are a resounding "Yes!" If not, these questions may not be asked again.

'IF IT FITZ . . .

Mom was a chopper

By JIM FITZGERALD

There's one story I tell about my mother that my kids never believe. "Grandma would never do that," they always say. But she did, honest.

When I was a small boy I had a big sister. I mean big. She was only 18 months older but she was 4 feet taller and a lot tougher. I've written before about how she used to beat me up for lunch every day and I'd rather not go into it again. Just thinking about it raises welts on my nose which is where she used to kneed me if I was standing up straight.

But Jean's size is important to this unbelievable story about Mother. These days it is fashionable for girls to be tall. They can earn $100 an hour being live clothes hangers for Harper's Bazaar. But this was not the case in the 1930's. A tall girl was pitied because it was figured she'd never find a tall boy. She'd never get married and her parents would have to feed her forever.

Mother figured she had to stop Jean from growing. People usually grow at night, while sleeping. So Mother would get up several times every night and go into Jean's bedroom and give her karate chops behind the knees.

"Curl up," Mother would hiss. "Bend your knees or you'll never get married." Chop, chop.

When Jean got up in the morning, she was already sitting down for breakfast. We just had to slip a chair under her.

(In case you're taking notes, Mother's treatment didn't work. Jean became a high-rise, but she found a man even taller. They were married in an old fashioned church with a steeple.)

Anyway, it is ironic that her grandchildren don't believe what Mother did long ago. Her middle-aged children can't believe what she does today.

My four sisters and I grew up knowing one thing for sure: Mother was a lady. She had to comb her hair and paint her nails before she'd answer the phone. She'd change from a housedress to a frilly frock before letting the grocery boy in the kitchen. She didn't just dress for dinner, she went formal to midnight snacks. She wouldn't wear low heels because they were too masculine. Her favorite outdoor sport was closing the window. She was Mary Pickford, frills and lace, the most feminine woman in town.

But last week the family threw a birthday party for Mother and there she was, dancing the frug in a pair of purple slacks. It was like seeing Queen Elizabeth on a motorcycle, wearing a black leather jacket with "The Killers" printed on the back.

Mother has gone mod. If pressed, she will admit she is a great grandmother. But the guy who presses her will get one of her icy stares, the type that my dear father used to feel from across a crowded city. She has apparently decided not to grow old, and that's that.

All of Mother's relatives know she was born Jan. 6, 1900. Even my slowest brother-in-law can perform enough arithmetic to learn her age. But after Mother's birthday party this January, she sent us a thank-you note.

"It was a wonderful party," she said. "If I live to be 70, I'll never forget it."

pink pills and daytime TV

By RON KARLE, Editor

At first, the prospect of a couple of days at home pampering myself with fresh oranges and grapefruit and lots of juices didn't seem like a particularly bad lot.

In between Dr. Grost's pink pills, I drifted off to sleep several times during the day and generally left the world on its own.

I had The Bug.

Not the stomach kind, but the 101.4 temperature kind.

So I still could eat reasonably well which meant lots of chicken noodle soup, toast and tea and coffee cake.

If you had to be ill, it was a delightful way to go.

Except for one thing: bundled in blankets on my couch with pills, thermometer, Puffs and juice close at hand, I was subjected to daytime television.

After 2 1/2 hours of this I've decided that I'm using the wrong detergent. Just when one company had me convinced that it was time for a change another would come along and sound even better.

The next time I get grass stains on my Sunday trousers from sliding into second base I don't know what I'll do.

Do I take Arthur Godfrey's word for it that his product will remove the blueberry pie stain from my Superman T-shirt or should I try the product with all those little heads that devour stains.

The little dears even belch, you know. Just to show they're just like us common folk.

Then there's the aspirin, but-ferin, excedrin thing.

Just when I'm convinced that good old aspirin will do the trick, along comes somebody who says that two of their little pills will do as much as four of the other fellow's. And faster.

By then I've got an Excedrin headache.

More than once I was asked if my peanut butter sticks to the roof of my mouth impairing my ability to whistle at the dinner table.

If this was the case, it was evident I was neglected as a child and it was time to change brands to make up for my parents' errors in raising me.

The only thing was, that I wasn't allowed to whistle anytime at home with a mouth full of food.

Which always seemed sensible to me but probably says something about why I recoil from peanut butter sandwiches today.

And in between the stupid commercials they try to work in stupid programs.

These consist of dumb games, soap operas and ancient reruns.

To give you an idea of how old some of the reruns are, Dr. Ben Casey, who makes his living as a brain surgeon, is still being rewarded at $67 a week for his talents. If he had any brains himself, he'd become a plumber or something and make a buck.

I won't go into the games people play on television, such as one in which young married couples are prodded into making fools of themselves for a chance of winning a new ice box.

But the soap operas today are the biggest disappointment. Gone are the days of Stella Dallas and Lorenzo Jones and his wife Belle.

Now we have the antiseptic moralities of General Hospital and the real life sickness of Divorce Court.

Daytime television has to be the greatest aid to a speedy recovery since Dr. Grost's pink pills.

TAKING FIVE Things in the mail

By RON HUARD

Things in the mail that turn me off:

"Dear Mr. Rollin Huard: Congratulations! You, Mr. Rollin Huard, and three others in the St. Johns area—Mr. Clyde Buckley and Miss Prunella Longtongue—have been selected as special recipients of six-yes SIX—numbers in our Seventh Successive Sickenings Sweepstakes."

"With these six numbers, Mr. Rollin Huard, you may win four billion dollars a month for the rest of your life, to be deposited in the bank of your choice just as regular as clock-work. But even if your luck doesn't run high, you, Rollin Huard, can still be in line for any one of millions of other prizes ranging from a round trip for two to Warsaw, three days on Alcatraz to see what the Indians are fighting for or, possibly, an original Mickey Mouse Watch wrapped around a Shirley Temple pitcher. . . . and, Rollin Huard, you know how valuable the last two have become in recent years."

"Yes, you and Mr. Buckley and Miss Longtongue are among our favored people, Mr. Huard, and to show our appreciation for your previous patronage we have given each of you six numbers which may already represent a valuable prize because the winning numbers were drawn last July fourth and kept under armed guard until the riots caused by the Sixth Successive Sickenings Sweepstakes subsided."

"But now they can be revealed and here's how you can find out if you're a winner! Simply return the attached card indicating that you want our special offer of fifty-seven pairs of red flannels at the ridiculously low price of $595 or the Super Special of one Flying Fingers Typewriter with two-way radio attachment and map of Antarctica in living color."

"If, however, you do not want either of these fine offers, you are still eligible for any of our outstanding prizes so hurry! Send back the reply card by three-thirty this afternoon. The quicker you move the quicker we can let you know what, if any, prizes you have won. Good luck!"

Example number two:

"Dear Mr. and Mrs. Huard:

"I'm sure you've never heard of me or my company, but we'd like to take you out to dinner."

"Oh, no. You're wrong. There's no strings attached. All you have to do is appear at the Stomach Turner Restaurant, next Thursday evening and enjoy a delicious steak dinner, complete with wine and candlelight, as our guest."

"As I said, there's no strings attached, but we know we can't fool you, and we want to level with you right here and now. The reason for this is to interest you in making a three-day trip to Florida with us—at our expense, of course—so we can show you one of the fastest growing retirement developments now being established in the United States."

"As you approach your golden years we know this will be valuable information and with the chance for a free meal and Florida flight what can you lose?"

"Send the return card enclosed and we'll be looking forward to seeing you Thursday. . . . If you live that long."

Finally:

"Dear Mr. Huard: While it is merely our business to process your checks and to ask no personal questions, we can no longer play ping-pong with these two checks. Either return the red flannels and typewriter then sell your Florida lot or deposit sufficient funds to cover. "Your friendly banker."

By WILLIAM S. BALLENGER
State Representative

This week I would like to discuss some very deep concerns that I have—concerns about certain subtle and yet far-reaching changes that have taken place in this nation's form of government.

As a legislator, it has become clear to me that the will of the majority is too seldom reflected in the great bulk of governmental decisions that affect our daily lives, the nature of our society, and our very destiny as a nation.

I would have to question whether we can still be called a representative constitutional democracy. The exact nature of our existing form of government defies classification.

We pride ourselves on being a government of laws and not of men.

Yet most of the laws—major and minor alike—that are being written today are not being enacted by the democratic process, in open debate and discussion by elected representatives of the people.

MOST OF THE LAWS being written today are "directives" or "administrative rules" written by non-elected officials and handed down in much the same manner as edicts and royal proclamations were handed down by despots in the days of old.

For example, last summer, it became apparent that we were having a serious ambulance-service problem here in Michigan. Particularly in rural and sparsely-settled areas. An alarming number of small-town ambulance firms were going out of business.

The Legislature had passed an ambulance-licensing act in the previous session. So many citizens, and some newspapers, assumed that our Michigan lawmakers had imposed such strict requirements that ambulance companies were being forced to discontinue service. A lot of legislators were flooded with angry letters. So I checked into the situation and found out what was really driving ambulance firms out of business.

IT WASN'T ANY law passed by the Michigan Legislature, or any law passed by Congress, for that matter. It was a "directive" or rule being imposed by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Washington that ambulance firms were "engaged in interstate commerce" and had to qualify under the Federal Wage and Hour Act in order to receive Medicare payments.

This meant that small ambulance firms could no longer pay their drivers and attendants on a fee or call basis—so many dollars per run. Instead, the men had to be paid on an hourly basis for all the time they were available—a 24-hour basis, in most cases, with time and a half for overtime. The small firms, most of which were sidelines for funeral parlors, simply couldn't afford this arrangement.

I could cite any number of other examples of cases where elected representatives, state and federal alike, have found themselves blamed for directives and administrative rules laid down by non-elected officials in executive agencies and departments.

FOR INSTANCE, time and time again, angry citizens demand to know why we passed a law that prevents their high school aged sons from getting a summer job in a manufacturing plant or in a lumberyard or on a farm.

The answer is that there is no such law in the Michigan lawbooks. But there is a directive issued by the U.S. Department of Labor that our state officials have to comply with in granting work permits. And this directive sets very tight limitations, particularly in regard to working around machinery, on the type of jobs high school boys can be permitted to take.

This rule-making power that has been granted to so many administrative boards and agencies and departments is perfectly legitimate and proper—in theory.

After all, it is clearly impossible for a State Legislature or for Congress, in writing a new law, to foresee every circumstance where the law could apply, or to cover every detail of every procedure that may be necessary to administer the law.

SO IT IS NECESSARY that departments and agencies in the executive branch of government be permitted to establish rules to carry out the intent and the policies set by the legislative branch—by the elected representatives of the citizens.

But to say that this rule-making power has been abused would be the understatement of the decade. Instead of implementing and augmenting the laws that are enacted through the legislative process, administrative rules and directives have become the tail that wags the dog.

We have only one Legislature, one official law-making body, in this state. But we have 19 departments of state government, each with many divisions, and all have the authority to enact administrative rules. In addition, some 30 to 35 separate boards have rule-making power. Altogether, at least 75 boards, agencies and departments can issue administrative rules.

THROUGH THE LAST five years—in terms of pages of the same size print—administrative rules constitute a larger body of law in Michigan than statutes enacted by the Legislature.

The great bulk of these rules become law—written by appointed officials and their staffs and never subjected at anytime to any semblance of the democratic process.

This might be permissible if administrative rules were truly serving their intended purpose of implementing and augmenting the policies set by the Legislature. But all too often, administrative rules are being promulgated that run directly counter to legislative intent.

As a legislator, I say once again—the majority in too many cases no longer governs—in Washington—in Lansing—and even at our city halls and county buildings.

The majority will govern again only when the majority forcefully demands its right to govern—when enough of us, as citizens, demand that the vital decisions affecting our lives and our society be made by men we elect to office and can remove from office—and when we further demand that those elected officials take the word "representative" seriously and reflect our wishes and our best interests with each decision they make.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By ELMER E. WHITE

To the casual observer it might appear raising taxes will bring in a fixed amount of revenue and that each additional penny or percentage of tax would result in an equal increase in revenue.

That, however, isn't the case. This truism of government financing has come to the fore again with the debate over Gov. William G. Milliken's proposal to raise the cigarette tax 5 cents per pack.

If the tax were raised by only 3 cents, his aides say, it would bring in an additional $11 million for each penny raise per year. But, if it is raised by the 5 cents asked for, the yield will be only $9 million for each penny rise, or $45 million instead of the $55 million which would be realized if the $11 million per penny rate were true.

GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS say there are several reasons for this.

The first is the fact that as cigarettes grow more expensive, some people reduce smoking because of the cost. Another factor is that persons living near the state border will drive across the border into a state with a lower cigarette tax to buy large quantities of cigarettes.

When this happens, the state not only doesn't get the increase, it loses what it was getting originally. In Michigan's case this is 7 cents per pack.

The other factor is one that many citizens do not consider: bootlegging.

EASTERN STATES such as New York have long had problems with bootlegging of cigarettes from states such as North Carolina, which had no cigarette tax until this year. New York has a 12 cent tax, and a bootlegger with a car full of tax free cigarettes can undercut the New York price and still make a log of money.

In testimony before the Senate Taxation Committee recently, a New York tobacco dealer said currently more than one million bootlegged packs of cigarettes are sold in New York state every day. Morris Weintraub said this is costing the state of New York $50 million a year in decreased revenues.

Committee chairman Harry DeMaso of Battle Creek has scheduled a meeting for this coming weekend (Nov. 1) with New York officials to discuss the problems of bootlegging and its relationship to higher taxes.

WEINTRAUB, WHO is managing director of the wholesale Tobacco Distributors of New York, told DeMaso's committee raising the cigarette tax would be "opening Pandora's box."

If the 5 cent raise is enacted, it would put Michigan's cigarette tax at double the Indiana tax of

Step Out of the Horse and Buggy Days

DEMAND HIGHER EARNINGS FOR YOUR MONEY!

At Capitol Savings and Loan you don't have to "demand" higher earnings for your invested dollars. You can depend on us to pay the highest allowable interest rates. That's because at Capitol we believe in keeping with modern trends and always offer savings plans that are up-to-date. Remember, regular passbook savings earn from the day of deposit until the day of withdrawal. And, your funds are always available without notice. This is why we say, "If you're not getting the most out of your investment...step out of the horse and buggy days...come to Capitol". Last year (1969) we paid over 5-1/2 million dollars to our savers.

The only thing old fashioned at Capitol is the service!
