St. Johns to participate in mayor exchange

For the first time in recent years, St. Johns city officials will participate in the mayor exchange program held annually as a feature of Michigan Week. Date of the event has yet to be released, however city commissioners, by a 2-1 vote, consented to having their city among those to be drawn. The drawing will be conducted by Lt. Gov. James Brickley at 2 p.m. Feb. 25th.

In other matters discussed during Monday night's meeting commissioners tabled a plan for replacing "yield" signs at intersections along Sturgis Street with "stop" signs. They also tabled action and the purchase of a back-hoe until more information and estimated costs could be accumulated.

The preparation of the city assessor's plat was boosted forward by the commission when they instructed City Attorney Paul Maples and Clerk Tom Hundley to obtain surveying estimates. The pair is to report to the commission at its next regular meeting.

HONORED BY COUNTY GOP

GOP dinner draws 260 guests despite weather

Despite a challenge from mid-Michigan weather, an annual Lincoln Day banquet drew 260 Clinton county Republicans to the St. Johns High School cafeteria last Thursday night where they heard Lt. Gov. James Brickley further the state administration's theme of "New Politics."

In addition to Brickley other speakers on the hour-and-45-minute program were Rep. Richard Allen of the 88th district; Rep. Douglas Trezise, 87th district and State Sen. William Ballinger who served as toastmaster for the evening.

Along with the evening's formalities, county GOP Chairman James Palmiter recognized five party members for long-time service and presented framed certificates of appreciation to Margaret Thingstad, Ink White, Andrew Cobb, Henrietta Prince and Robert Montgomery.

"The politician's main task today should not be just to stir and articulate the desires of the people," he said, "but to be able to satisfy them once he gets control of the machinery of government."

He cited divisions present in the country today but tempered that observation with the statement that "there is generally unanimity on the goals."

Later reference listed those goals as ending the war, use of government to solve social problems, improved quality of education and environmental rescue from high density living and continued pollution.

In attaining goals, Brickley suggested, a political party must allow self-analysis and self-criticism or it will die. New ideas, too, must be sought and new members with divergent concepts must be permitted.

HE ALERTED his fellow party members with a reminder that ideas are the nutrition of a

Vietnam war claims Sgt. Richard Randolph

A third Clinton County serviceman in less than a year was reported killed in the Vietnam war last week.

Sgt. Richard Dale Randolph, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Randolph, 4473 S. DeWitt Road, St. Johns, was killed in action Feb. 1.

He had entered the U.S. Army in November, 1969 and was sent to the Vietnam war zone in October, 1970.

He is survived by his parents, four brothers, Donald Jr., Robert, David, and Kenneth all at home, and one sister Kathlene, also at home.

Funeral services for Sgt. Randolph will be held Friday, Feb. 12 at 12 noon, with burial in Mt. Rest Cemetery.

Prayer services will be held at the Osgood Funeral Home Thursday at 8 p.m.

DeWitt school board, Britsch Construction to seek arbitration

By DEBORAH WITGEN News Special Writer

Wrinkled brows lined the meeting room Monday as the DeWitt School Board discussed construction problems at the Middle School with the Britsch Construction Company.

The School Board is withholding partial payment from the company, claiming the firm damaged the high school driveway when its heavy-loaded trucks drove on it. The board also cites certain items in the Middle School building as being incomplete.

After a secluded parley, the Board passed a motion to proceed to arbitration in an attempt to settle the dispute. Such action will involve selecting an arbitrator, time and place for a hearing.

In another move, the Board adopted curriculums for home economics, mathematics and social studies. DeWitt School's Superintendent James Ritchie commented, "I think DeWitt has a very fine and complete program that will compare to most other schools."

The third major issue regarded adopting a policy towards suspension and permanent exclusion from school. DeWitt High School Principal Donald Mueller said, "I can find no record of ever having to suspend a student permanently from a DeWitt school. Still, such a policy has to be put in the books, just in case."

A policy, as worded by the Michigan School Board Association, was accepted. One of the few changes was from the word "short suspension" to "separation."

Mueller said, "That's what we really do - separate the student from the school for a short time."

Ritchie passed out copies of the percentage changes in government spending since 1966, noting how little education had increased in funds compared to other areas.

He said school boards must start pressuring legislators in order to realize significant gains.

NOW, MY POINT IS...

That seems to be what Lt. Gov. James Brickley is telling Rep. Doug Trezise during a conversation before the Republican Lincoln Day dinner last Thursday. Brickley was featured speaker at the event and Trezise presented the closing remarks.

DeWitt township head

Milton King finds new post a 'full-time job'

By PAT DROUIN News Special Writer

A Democrat in DeWitt Township has to try harder, especially when he is the new supervisor. Milton King, 46, and newly-elected township supervisor, is the first Democrat elected to hold the post. Such a claim, however, doesn't come without a few ribbings from a Republican Township Board and his personal secretary, Mrs. Rhoda Kzeski.

King accepts the post as a challenge, but doesn't feel politics is the major concern. "Rural people tend to be Republican," King said, "but when they are dissatisfied, they look for someone else, regardless of party."

"Despite the fact the other members of the board are Republican, we work as a team for the good of the community," King commented, in an interview.

As supervisor, King entered the job a bit leery of the responsibilities he now faces.

"I ran twice for trustee but failed, so I just keep moving up. If I was going to do something it might as well be for an office where what you say and do counts," he said.

King didn't think he had a chance of winning. But he defeated his Republican opponent with a moderate campaign in favor of just taxation.

With encouragement from friends, King accepted the job and assumed his new position in November.

As supervisor, King is responsible for such jobs as assessing property, sending out personal property statements, presiding over the township board, keeping tabs on the township and its property and dividing this property into school districts.

Besides acting as negotiator between the county and township, King also must plan the budget which, he noted, makes a township "big business."

The area, which accounts for 20 per cent of Clinton County's population and revenue, has more than $150,000 in revenue and $128,000 in expenses for the 1969-70 tax year.

"Unlike the state or federal governments, a township has to operate in the black," King commented.

Desire and determination best describe the soft spoken King. Father of six children and a resident of DeWitt for 20 years. The only preparation for his new post has been on the job training.

A truck mechanic on leave of absence from Oldsmobile, King was a member of the Lansing Planning Commission and a representative to the Lansing Metropolitan Development Authority.

But he discovered being supervisor was a "full time job."

As supervisor, however, King believes it is easier to know the problems since he must learn the area and talk with the people. Facing such problems as lack of storm drains, unpaved roads and the loss of one mill for fire and police protection, King indicated he has a pioneer spirit to face challenges and learn new things.

In attempting to fulfill his campaign promise, King relies on common sense to be just and fair in dealing with people. "I am not a top dollar assessor but rather in favor of the people by giving them just taxation."

King also hopes to present a revised sewer system plan to the people, which he thinks may "bring peace back to the community."

Also on his list of goals, are blacktopping gravel roads and pulling in industrial development along the State Road extension. A parks and recreation program is also under consideration where the state would pay for 8 per cent of the development.

Along with the goals, problems and responsibilities, King sees a number of benefits in being supervisor. "I don't have to punch a time clock," King pointed out, "and even if you are late, the work is always there."

Within several weeks, King will also have his own office in which to conduct business as the first Democratic supervisor settles in for his two-year term.

All leads are being checked in hit and run

Sheriff's office still questioning persons regarding the hit and run accident that claimed the life of Dominic Hurst of Elsie.

Sheriff Percy Patterson thought at one time that they were close, but the paint samples from the car that was under investigation did not match the paint samples the State Police were investigating.

Patterson said the State Police lab was pretty sure they would match but much to our dismay they didn't.

All leads are being investigated. A recent tip led the department to Midland where a man was questioned and subsequently was cleared, said Patterson.

DeWitt wants state funds

Recommendation to do a recreational study of DeWitt Township was approved by the DeWitt Township Board in action Monday night.

The study to be done by Robert O'Boyle Associates, Inc., will examine the areas and needs of DeWitt Township for additional and expanded recreational facilities.

In conjunction with the state recreational bond program to provide the township with 80 per cent of the cost or nearly $30,000, the study will attempt to solve the immediate and future recreation needs of the people.

Jack Kzeski, member of the Township Planning Commission and County Planning Commission, stated that public hearings were held, but with little response.

"Hearings at PTA meetings and board meetings will continue to be held," Kzeski said, "but we have to have public opinions in order to determine what the township needs."

A possible recreation site suggested was seven acres of land adjacent to the township offices presently owned by the Lansing School District.

The study, costing the township $500 plus not more than $100 for printing and distribution, must be presented by March and application to the state must be made before April 1.

Courthouse closed

Clinton County residents were reminded this week that all county offices located in the courthouse in St. Johns will be closed Friday and Monday in observance of Lincoln's and Washington's birthday.

Clinton, Central banks to observe 9-noon special hours Feb. 13

Two St. Johns banks, operating branches throughout Clinton County, will maintain banking hours Saturday, Feb. 13 as part of a public service to break up what otherwise would be a four-day holiday.

Officials of Clinton National Bank and Central National Bank announced Monday that business will be transacted Saturday, between the hours of 9 a.m. and noon.

According to Brandon White, vice president of Clinton National Bank, all walk-up windows and drive-in facilities will be open the special Saturday hours. This includes those in St. Johns, Elsie and Valley Farms.

The branch offices in Fowler and Laingsburg will also be open. Business at all facilities will be confined to cashing checks, making change and accepting deposits.

Ditmer supports revenue sharing

Robert Ditmer, County Commissioner, District four supports federal revenue sharing on a "no-strings" basis.

Ditmer had attended a meeting in Cleveland last month representing Clinton County at the National Association of Counties (NACO) conference.

In his report to the Clinton County board of commissioners, Ditmer said that "the NACO meeting was one of five regional rallies where Nixon administration and County officials discussed revenue sharing legislation."

Ditmer reported that "more than 200 county officials from Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Wisconsin and New York attended the meeting to promote NACO supported legislation which calls for a plan to share large amounts of Federal tax revenues with states, counties and cities on a "no-strings" attached basis.

Governor of Illinois, Richard B. Ogilvie, called on local public officials to "muster a great army" of support for the proposed revenue sharing plan, according to Ditmer.

I favor the adoption of revenue sharing," said Ditmer. "Federal tax receipts are based largely on the income tax, the finest source of revenue, which tends to increase faster than our economy.

"Just the reverse is true at the local level where state and local revenues, based on sales and property taxes do not keep pace with economic growth and increasing demands made upon local governmental bodies," he said.

He stated further that "the proposed revenue sharing program would transfer the responsibility of decision making and money to states and local governments, thereby returning an important measure of power closer to the people.

Ditmer recommended that the Board of Commissioners adopt a "resolution favoring President Nixon's proposed federal revenue sharing plan and copies of the resolution be immediately forwarded to: congressmen Garry Brown and Charles Chamberlain, senators Robert Griffin and Phillip Hart, Gov. William Milliken, Barry McGuire, executive director of Michigan Association of Counties, NACO and all county Boards of Commissioners urging each to give immediate consideration and adoption.

The Board agreed to discuss Ditmer's proposal in the future.

HARVEY WEATHERWAX

St. Johns City Manager Harvey Weatherwax has been elected vice-president of Michigan chapter of the International City Management Association.

Weatherwax, who is the second of four vice-pres, has been city manager of St. Johns since 1968. He was chosen for his new office during a recent annual business meeting held in Ann Arbor. Over 150 state municipalities are represented in the group which will be presided over during 1971-72 by Fred Yockey, city manager of Midland.

City seeks state money to expand park program

Two St. Johns city government groups are in a race with time these days and if all goes according to plan they—and residents of the city—will be big winners.

According to City Mgr. Harvey Weatherwax the city stands a fair chance of receiving approximately $25,000 in state funds for improvement of the city park if 1970 population figures are accepted by state officials.

If not, an estimated $18,000 can be received based on census figures of 1960. In either case, funds will come from a voter-approved bond issue brought into existence as a result of the 1968 general election.

But receipt of any aid for park improvement hinges on the success of the city park board and planning and zoning commission to meet administrative requirements.

And on this score, the park board is ahead of the game, but planning officials are optimistic about meeting their deadline.

THE DEADLINE FOR application of funds for recreational use is April 1, and the park board has been working steadily for almost a full year in preparing documents which present their plans for park areas in the city. Their work is nearing completion and compiled data needs only receive city commission approval before submission to state officials.

Supporting documents from the planning and zoning commission, however, need yet to be compiled. Basic to approval of the park board's request for state funds is a community master plan which outlines anticipated growth zoning, population trends and general land-use projections.

Like the park board, the zoning commission has been working on the document for nearly a year and, while some facets of the plan remain to be updated, commissioners feel they can meet the deadline in sufficient time to aid the park board in acquiring recreational funds.

According to information compiled by the park board, four major proposals are being advanced. The first is improvement and addition of facilities at St. Johns Park. The final three are proposed parks in the northwest, northeast and southeast areas of the city.

Improvements at the city park are listed to include toilet facilities, ball fields, tennis courts, parking areas and lighting equipment.

Plans for added facilities include construction of a new softball diamond with lighting; a new ice-skating area; shuffleboard courts and a new maintenance building.

ALSO ON THE list of future activities is the acquisition of 12 acres of land adjacent to the park for use as a nature study area.

In the three areas where new parks are being considered, land is currently owned either by the city or county. The area in the northwest section of the city being considered lies in the two-block area surrounded by Lansing, Clinton, Gibbs and Lewis streets.

Planned here are tennis courts, ice skating facilities, playground equipment, picnic tables and other additions which are normally part of park areas. This area is currently owned by the city.

Another city-owned site being considered for park use is at the intersection of Traver and Franklin streets. This area is being considered for general playground and picnic facilities along with two basketball courts.

Weatherwax expressed hope that state officials will accept the newer population figure of 6,684 which would assure a $25,000 grant. "We'd be in darn good shape," he said in discussing the park board's plans.

COMPILATION of the city's master plan by the planning commission, while behind schedule, should be completed by the end of March. City Clerk Thomas Hundley established a time schedule for completion which allows for hearings and approval by city authorities in sufficient time for application for recreational funds.

The planning commission has been meeting weekly on Thursday evenings. Throughout this activity City Attorney Paul Maples has been working on a new zoning ordinance. This document will have no bearing on the park board's application for funds, however,

PARK BOARD

The St. Johns city park board is approaching the final stages of gathering material for submission of a request for state funds to be used for improvements and additions to the city's park system. Considering comments by City Manager Harvey Weatherwax, standing, are, from left, Kurt Becker, Charles Langlois, Harold Lundy, Dr. James Grosz and Ed Schmitt. Another member of the board, Lester Lake, was absent at time of photo.

It's conceivable that St. Johns residents may have a new master plan, zoning ordinance and a new source of recreational funds all within a brief span of time.

PLANNING GROUP

Four members of the St. Johns planning and zoning commission consider challenges posed by the updating of the city's master plan. From left are Lytle Huntoon, Tom Hundley, James Moore, and Roy Eberhart. Other members of the commission not present for the work session were Robert Wood, Gerald Wilcox, Charles Coletta and William Morris. Rollin Huard is chairman of the planning group.

Probation works - Corkin

By BOB GAVAN
News Staff Writer

Probation is an effective process in Clinton County.

According to Circuit Court Judge Leo Corkin, 80 per cent of the people on probation cause no more problems.

In his annual report to the Clinton County Board of Commissioners, Judge Corkin said "the Court takes a chance when putting someone on probation, but, if the Court sentences them then the Court can't do anything more."

"However, if a person is on probation they have an 80 per cent chance of staying out of trouble. If they do get into trouble, then the Court can sentence them," Corkin said.

The Circuit Court handled 353 new cases last year, district Court handled over 64 criminal cases, 28 auto negligence, 177 divorces and 76 civil cases.

Explaining the case load, Corkin said that auto negligence causes the most problems, sometimes taking as long as seven days with a jury to settle.

He further stated that the Court attempts to try all criminal cases within 90 days, so the court can keep on top of the situation.

Divorce and civil cases can be tried rapidly, these usually do not require a jury, Corkin said.

He stated that "the biggest problem is administration. Procedures need to be developed that will expedite the Court processes, so far no one has a suggestion as to how to do this. Some consideration must be given to quality as well as quantity."

Corkin who handles Circuit Court matter in Clinton and Gratiot Counties, stated that the case load in Clinton is increasing. "The current 50-80 split will not work in the future, some change will have to be implemented."

According to Judge Corkin, the public doesn't know what really goes on in Circuit Court. He explained that much work is done at night and on weekends preparing for cases. "Just as much time is spent on non-trial matters as well as trial matters."

The commissioners asked Judge Corkin if he could take time in the future to further explain Court procedures, he gratefully accepted the invitation.

Maynard-Allen bank elects new officers

The annual stockholders meeting of the Maynard-Allen State Bank, Portland, was held Tuesday, January 19th at the Main Office in Portland.

Elected to the board of directors were Leo C. Lehman, John Kortes, Walter Kellen, Welland W. Sprague, Malcolm B. Robertson, Melborn E. Sandborn, Clayton E. Kokx, Arthur J. Scott, Richard W. Derby and Perry J. Welch.

Arthur Scott, president, reported that deposits were at an all-time high. At the same time he expressed optimism on the behalf of management for the coming year.

Following a noon luncheon, the board of directors met and elected officers for 1971.

They were Welland W. Sprague, chairman of the board; Arthur J. Scott, president and cashier; Leo C. Lehman, Malcolm B. Robertson and Welland W. Sprague, vice-presidents; Ruth Richards, John Pler, Wayne Brown and Ralph Dravenstatt, assistant cashiers.

Dravenstatt was named manager of the Sunfield branch and Bernard Thelen, manager of the Westphalia branch.

Two Lansing men were bound over to circuit Court on a breaking and entering charge. Juan Toledo, 23, 117 Garden St., Lansing and Armado Orozco, 20, no address, are charged with breaking and entering the home of Edward Robert Degeer, 11025 DeWitt Road, DeWitt Township. Bond was set at $3500 each.

Dean Scott Orweller, 38, 300 West McConnell St., St. Johns, pleaded not guilty to being drunk and disorderly. Case has been scheduled for March 22 in the District Court.

Robert L. Remington, 19, Rt. 2 Howe Road, Portland pleaded not guilty to non support. Case has been scheduled for February 17.

An agreement for joint use of a stairway drawn up in 1868 finally became an officially recorded document recently when St. Johns Attorney Timothy Green filed the hand-written copy with Register of Deeds Willard Krebel. The agreement, entered into for use of a stairway between two buildings in the 100 block of N. Clinton Ave. was signed by George R. Hunt, C. S. Hunt, Giles J. Gibbs and their wives. The signature of Henry Perrin appeared as notary public. Signing of the document, according to its dating, was May 21, 1868 and it was recorded January 28, 1971. Ironically enough, both dates fell on Thursday.

'No way out' of financial straits--Beauchamp claims

By TIM YOUNKMAN
Editor

"I just don't know how we can make this up."
That was the initial comment by Ovid-Elsie's School Supt. Robert Beauchamp last week when he was asked about the proposed two-per cent cutback of state aid sought by Gov. William G. Milliken.
Beauchamp estimated the cut-back would take away about $22-100 from the school's budget.

"We have no fat or contingency fun," he said. "The bulk of our expense money is in wages and personnel. We have contractual commitments to these people and I can't say 'take a two per cent cut in pay.'"
He noted that the cutback has not been finalized and that there is "hope" that the legislature would not confirm the request.

"We're hopeful that they will take another look at it," he said, "and take a different approach." Beauchamp said he felt the percentage cut is unfair.
He said that poorer districts depending on a large amount of state aid would feel the full impact of any cutback since a greater percentage of their funds comes from the state. "This flat percentage is bound to hurt the poor districts," he said.
He said that Ovid-Elsie's district would be hurt more than some others, citing St. Johns, Pewamo-Westphalia and Fowler as districts with higher state valuation and with more local money per student.

He also noted that DeWitt and Bath would be "hit harder" by the plan since these districts have lower valuation.
Beauchamp suggested a fairer approach would be to take a certain amount back from each student rather than on a percentage basis.
The Ovid-Elsie Board of Education has formally voted to write a letter to the appropriations committee of both legislative houses condemning the proposal.
"We are basically a service-oriented business and our product is education," Beauchamp said.
The superintendent stressed the fact that most of the school

TARANTULAS AND HERMIT CRABS

Riley school third graders Eric Ferden and Susan Yallup hold a couple of the "pets" in Jean Alwood's room. The students were doing a nature study unit and the teacher brought these creatures from a pet store. Both are harmless. Activities like this help children learn because they not only read and hear about things but also see them, according to school officials.

Mothers' march planned Feb. 11

The week of Feb. 11-18 has been selected for the annual mothers march, according to Mrs. Beechler, Clinton chairman for the Mothers March of Dimes.

Mothers from St. Johns and surrounding villages and townships will be calling upon county residences during that week.

According to Mrs. Beechler "The March of Dimes Foundation is a vital organization for the fight against birth defects, a major health problem in this county."

"Birth defects can kill or cripple at the beginning of life. They strike the most treasured, most defenseless part of our population, the nation's children."

Mrs. Beechler states that "when giving, please keep in mind that part of the money collected stays within Clinton County and goes for medical treatment and equipment needed for area residents. Also, each year a $500 scholarship is awarded to a young girl going into nursing."

Two Perrinton girls win top Fulton honors
Linda Marie Smalley has earned Valedictorian honors for the 1970 class at Fulton High School, and Rita A. Halsted has been named Salutatorian of the class.
Linda is the daughter of Mrs. Orlo Smalley, 502 W. Fulton, Perrinton. She has been a member of the band and FHA through high school. FHA offices she has held include vice-president of Degrees and Club Vice-President. She also was in the Junior play and is presently treasurer of her class.
Upon graduation, Linda plans to enroll in Lansing Business University to prepare to be a legal secretary.
Rita is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Valgene Halsted, R-1, Perrinton. She has been active in FHA work and was in the Junior Play. She plans to seek office work upon graduation and to enter Lansing Business University this fall in preparation to be a secretary.

Soil conservation important to non-farmers, Ball says

"Soil conservation is more important to the non-farmer than it is to the farmer."

With that statement among his opening remarks, Michigan Agriculture Dept. Director E. Dale Ball set the tone for his address to 130 persons attending the annual meeting of Clinton County Soil Conservation District held Saturday in the St. Johns High School cafeteria.

Principal points of Ball's address credited farmers with important roles in today's advanced technology; refuted much widespread publicity that agricultural activities have been greatly responsible for pollution through use of chemicals and the importance of planned land-use and zoning so that agricultural interests will have an assured development pattern.

BALL BEGAN by telling Clinton soil conservationists that a big difficulty in dispelling the idea that farmers pollute the environment is because of poor press reports.

He cited various uses of agricultural chemicals and told how it has been proven that most are absorbed by the soil, which eliminates runoff.

Speaking specifically about DDT, Ball told of three tests in Michigan agricultural areas which documented no runoff when properly applied.

In contrast, he pointed out that the chemical had been in widespread use for mosquito control and Dutch-elm disease. These two, he said, were among the principal reasons why DDT is present in water.

"If you put DDT in water to control mosquitoes," he said, "obviously it has not been put there by the farmer."

He mentioned other sources of DDT contamination as being from industrial activities and commercial uses, such as mothproofing methods used by cleaning establishments.

"When these cleaning solutions become saturated and can't do the job anymore," Ball said, "they are poured into a sewage system and eventually the DDT is dumped into a river or stream."

"We need more facts," he said. "We must continue research and not condemn the farmer for this problem."

BALL DID not support use of DDT, he merely was defending the farmer against charges of pollution. In addition to DDT his remarks broadened to the subject of phosphates and again he defended rural interests in the use of fertilizers. "There is little phosphorus that gets into streams," Ball said.

"The same is true of potash and nitrogen. Most of the phosphates found in streams today come from detergents and human sewage."

On the subject of soil conservation, Ball's remarks credited Clinton county with being "progressive" and "doing a fine job." "The farmer has long known the value of soil conservation," he said. "He has long known how to control runoff - to save water for times when he didn't have enough."

Ball expressed belief that most sedimentation in streams comes not from farm activities, but from road construction and housing development.

Along similar lines, Ball suggested that farmers must ultimately make a choice of which way they want to go. "The greatest single problem," Ball said, "is not conserving land under a comprehensive land use plan."

He said farm land should be taxed as farm land and not on its potential value as residential property and under systematic planning farmers should be prepared to determine if they want land designated for agricultural or residential development use.

"I don't know that you can have both," Ball said as he mentioned instances of farmers selling pieces of land for housing developments only to find headaches created.

"Farmers are in a position to take leadership," Ball said. "Urban representatives are not anti-agriculture but farmers haven't been too successful in getting the facts to them."

He closed his remarks on a note which encouraged greater and more explicit communications so that the farmer's role is more well understood in the areas of the subjects he discussed.

Clinton SCD members elect two directors at annual meet

Members of the Clinton County Soil Conservation District re-elected one director and chose a new one Saturday during their annual meeting held at St. Johns High School.

Kenneth Loudeneck was chosen as a representative from the county's northwest area and William Mayers was re-elected to his position as a central area representative. Loudeneck replaces Keith Wright who chose not to seek re-election.

Besides these two directors, others serving on the board are Stanley Baird, chairman; Clarence Manning, secretary; Robert Moore and Mrs. Suzanne Pakst, executive secretary.

In other business conducted during the session, Baird reported on current status of the west segment as one complete project which would lower per acre cost and possibly loosen allocation of funds.

CONCERNING projects on Hayworth Creek and Catlin waters, Baird told that state officials suggested Clinton drop Shiawassee and Gratiot counties from participation as all lands included in the projects are now within Clinton county. He added that further information will be passed on as it is accumulated.

Annual reports were submitted by Clarence Manning, secretary, and William Mayers, treasurer. Prizes of $30 and $25 went to Bath FFA and St. Johns FFA, respectively. The money represented awards for the top soil conservation displays.

Bath's entry was based on a theme of keeping our country green through planting trees, while St. Johns' message was to keep our environment in focus. The theme was accentuated by a group of drawings representative of the many activities which tend to harm the environment.

Soil conservation signs for yard posting were presented to Richard Rummel, Harold Armbrustmacher, Herbert Klein, George Martin, J. D. Washburn and Ray Peck.

Entertainment was provided by a group of St. Johns students who presented two string selections. Playing in the group were Barb Spousta, Sue Davis, Anne Davis and Anne Fox.

Election of the new officers was conducted by members of the nominating committee composed of: Dave Conklin, chairman; Ray Mayers, Max Loudeneck, Burton Tabor and Leland Trierweiler.

THE FOLLOWING door prizes were won by:

Earl Greenwood - 80 rods of tile from Jim Burnham.

William Smith - 8 tons of Limestone from Cheney Limestone.

Warren Coffman - Coffee-maker from Michigan Vitrified Tile Company.

Gerald Shepard - 1 bushel seed corn from Moore Seed Farm & Great Lakes Hybrid.

Robert Grams - 1 bushel seed corn from Moore Seed Farm & Great Lakes Hybrid.

Mrs. Ray Mayers - 1 bushel seed corn from Farley Seed Farm.

Duane Chamberlain - 1 pound Crownvetch from Clinton S.C.D.

Mrs. Harold Armbrustmacher - 1 pound Crownvetch from Clinton S.C.D.

He opined that the republican party has much to offer the voter. The lieutenant governor closed by urging county republicans to not lose the current opportunity to gather new membership and expressed hope that should he again address a Lincoln Day gathering in Clinton county a couple of years hence, "we will be the majority party."

Chairman of the evening's activities was Mrs. Paul Nobis.

Curb repairs sought now

St. Johns residents desiring curb and gutter repair or installation during the coming summer should contact city officials now.

According to City Manager Harvey Weatherwax, budgets for the 1971-72 fiscal year are currently being prepared and providing for curb and gutter expenses will be more easily accomplished if the number of projects can be known.

posits. No loan transactions will be conducted.

The main lobby of Clinton National Bank will not be open the special hours.

Vice-president Robert Thompson stated that Central National Bank would also maintain the 9 a.m. to noon hours at its central office in St. Johns as well as at the branch offices in Pewamo and Ovid.

Thompson explained that each location would be operating with a skeleton staff and services at Central National Bank would also be limited to cashing checks, change making and deposits.

The special Saturday hours of both banks were drawn up to provide service in the middle of two mandatory holidays.

Under state and federal laws banking institutions must observe the birth anniversaries of Abraham Lincoln and George Washington, which are commemorated this year on Feb. 12 and Feb. 15, respectively. The two required closings along with normal business hours would have meant patrons would have been without service for four days.

Maynard-Allen State Bank in Westphalia, which is open on Saturday, will maintain normal business hours.

St. Johns KC to sponsor Sweetheart ball

The St. Johns Knights of Columbus will be sponsoring their Annual Sweetheart Ball on Saturday Feb. 13th in the St. Joseph Gym. Paul Henning is General Chairman.

The Music Makers, a local St. Johns group, will be providing the music for the square and round dancing.

The Dance will be from 9 p.m. to 1 p.m. with lunch, ice and mix furnished.

Henning says, "This is a good place to take your Sweetheart for an enjoyable evening". The public is invited.

A typical scene in Clinton County the last few days. Most rural roads were glare ice and virtually impassable. This motorist attempted to reach the top of the hill on Upton Road but slid back into a snowbank and had to be towed to the top.

Clinton's divorce rate soars

Clinton County's divorce rate soared higher than the national average during the past decade, according to figures released Tuesday by the Friend of the Court.

In her annual report to the Board of Commissioners, Agnes Danley, Friend of the Court, reported that there were 177 divorces filed, 111 granted, and 54 dismissed.

This was a decrease over 1969 when there were 178 divorces filed, 120 granted and 53 dismissed.

However, the County figures compared with national figures indicate an increase of almost 50 per cent in the last ten years.

In 1960, there were 46 divorces granted compared with 111 granted in 1970.

According to a survey published by the Census Bureau

In Washington last week, the divorce rate has climbed sharply in the 1960s. It pointed out an average increase of 33 per cent nationwide for the last ten years.

Mrs. Danley reported that collections amounted to $525,359 for 1970 an increase of $33,000 over last year.

The report further stated that "we have 1,125 children under our jurisdiction until they attain the age of 18 or graduate from high school, which ever occurs later. We deal with every type of personality and human frailty. Some cases are constant problems."

Mrs. Danley traveled 4,614 miles last year making investigations and trying to solve the problems.

One notable aspect of the report was that during the strike last fall eight cases reconciled.

Post offices note changes

The postmasters of Clinton County announced today that public finance windows at each post office in the county will be closed on Saturdays, effective Feb. 20, 1971.

Public lobbies will be open as usual on Saturdays, for the convenience of lock-box customers. However, manned windows, providing stamps, money orders, registry, parcel post, information, and other services, will be closed.

Stamps may be purchased from the self-service vending machines, at the post offices which have this service available.

This change in service is a part of a recognition of the change in mailing habits of many postal customers, and is being observed by other post offices in this area.

Mail will continue to be collected, processed, and delivered as heretofore on Saturdays.

for the departments to continue in other action, the Board approved:

-A Paddler ordinance to regulate and control transit peddlers and solicitors through licensing, bonding and stipulation of operating hours. The ordinance will become effective 30 days after publication.

-To pay for two of the eight street lights in the Dohdale Subdivision, if the residents will petition for such action. A resolution by the transportation committee for dust control along a 40 mile stretch in DeWitt Township was tabled pending a check into a $3,800 increase in cost.

-A one-year contract with the city of DeWitt Fire Department for $4,038.64 to make runs for an area east of Airport Rd. to Wood Rd., and north of Clark Rd. to Clark Rd.

-Of a contract with Lansing Mercy Ambulance Service to make runs to the DeWitt Township if desired by the caller.

-Of the sale of Hall No. 1 in DeWitt.

-To obtain another bid for the remodeling of the supervisor's office.

-Of tax and safety vouchers.

County environmental program sought

Community-wide environmental benefits will have first priority when the local development group meets Feb. 16, 1971 to discuss provisions and guidelines for operation of the new Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP) in Clinton County for 1971.

REAP is a conservation cost sharing program of the U.S. Department of Agriculture under which farmers and the government share the cost of conservation practices needed in the public interest.

Formerly known as the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP), it has been restructured to better meet environmental goals benefiting farmers and non-farmers alike.

Environmental problems are caused by all of us, both town and country people, and solutions must come from all of us working together.

For instance, pollution of our streams and lakes comes from many sources, including industrial wastes, city sewage, and farmland drainage. Pollution is caused by the same people who want clean water and unspoiled countryside.

REAP offers a way through which farmers can aid in the environmental cleanup of our county needs. Farmers pay part of the cost, and the Federal Government pays part of the cost for the conservation practices approved by the County ASC Committee and carried out by the farmers.

Special projects may be undertaken under REAP through which farmers, local government agencies or private groups, and the Federal Government all participate in a united attack on a special environmental problem.

A full explanation of how special projects operate will be given at the Feb. 16 meeting of the development, at Central National Bank at 1:30 p.m. since it is anticipated the civic and conservation leaders invited to the meeting will be particularly interested in this aspect of the Rural Environmental Assistance Program.

We plan to consult as fully as possible in the time we have with interested agencies and groups before 1971 provisions of the program are established for Clinton County.

REAP cost-sharing will be available for special projects, pooling agreements in which farmers join their efforts, and for conservation practices by individual farmers.

Newsletters to farmers will give specific details of the program and how they can participate. In addition, a speaker who will explain goals and provisions of REAP will be available for all interested groups and organizations. Request should be made through the County ASC Office.

News About Clinton County

Service Personnel

Army Staff Sergeant DAVID A. SMITH, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Smith, R-3, Atlanta. Recently received the Bronze Star Medal while serving with the 1st Cavalry Division (Airmobile) in Vietnam.

He received the award for distinguishing himself by valorous actions. The Bronze Star Medal, adopted in 1944, recognizes acts of heroism performed in ground combat against an armed hostile force.

Sgt. Smith received the award while assigned as a platoon leader in company E, 1st Battalion of the Division's 7th Cavalry near Phuoc Vinh. He entered the army in May 1969, completed basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky., and was last stationed at Ft. Lewis, Wash. He holds the combat infantryman badge.

He attended Colorado State University, Fort Collins.

His wife, Barbara, lives at 12469 Kruger Lane, DeWitt.

Navy Petty Officer First Class BRUCE W. WILLIAMS, son of Mr. Kenneth F. Williams of E. Main St. St. Johns, is now serving with Attack Squadron 145 aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Ranger in the Western Pacific.

Navy Petty Officer Third Class AARON L. BISHOP, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Bishop of 5977 Alward Road, and husband of the former Gergette A. Monroe of 5918 Round Lake Road, all of Laingsburg, is now serving at the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla.

He is a 1967 graduate of Laingsburg Community High School.

LARRY J. FELDPAUSCH, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Feldpausch, R-2, Walker Rd., Fowler, was recently promoted to Sergeant E-5 while serving with the 3rd Battalion 21st Infantry of the 23rd Infantry Division near Chu Lai, Vietnam.

Sgt. Feldpausch currently works with Battalion Operations at a fire support base.

He formerly worked with an infantry company in the battalion and holds the Bronze Star and Army Commendation Medal.

Sgt. Feldpausch entered the Army in September 1969 and arrived overseas after completing advanced infantry training in February 1970.

His plans are to return to school after leaving the service in April.

Army Sergeant RUDOLFO A. ROSALES, son of Mr. and Mrs. Evaristo Rosales, 1000 E. Webb Rd., DeWitt, recently received the Combat Infantryman Badge in Vietnam.

The award was originated during World War II to recognize the role of the infantryman. The CIB can be awarded only to a member of an infantry unit of brigade, regimental or smaller size unit who satisfactorily performed in active ground combat against a hostile force for a period of time.

In honor of its singular meaning, the badge is worn above all other awards and decorations, over the left breast. It is a blue rectangle with a silver rifle mounted on it, superimposed over a curved wreath. Subsequent awards are represented by stars at the top center of the wreath.

Sgt. Rosales received the award while assigned as an operations and intelligence sergeant with Company A, 1st Battalion, 52nd Infantry, 198th Infantry Brigade, Americal Division near Chu Lai.

He entered the army in May 1969 and completed basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky.

He is a 1964 graduate of Lansing Eastern High School.

TSGT. R. A. GRIFFIN

Griffin named Clinton air force recruiter

Tsgt. R. A. "Buzz" Griffin, USAF, has been assigned duties as recruiting officer for Clinton County through Air Force offices in Lansing.

Griffin, who recently completed special Air Force recruiter courses at Lackland AFB, Tex., was previously assigned to Chanute AFB, Ill. He was picked for this Lansing assignment as a volunteer with an outstanding military record, according to official Air Force reports.

Griffin said he would be in St. Johns each Monday from 10 a.m. to 12 noon beginning Feb. 15. His Clinton office will be in the current selective service office on Clinton Avenue.

Griffin was trained in 11 areas of study, including the Air Force job classification system, testing procedures and community relations.

He was a 1950 graduate of Hart High School and attended the University of Miami in Florida.

He resides at 3122 Collins Road, East Lansing. He and his wife Sandra have five sons, Steve, Mark, Jeff, Kenny and Lance.

Griffin said interested young persons could contact him through his local office or at the Lansing recruiting center, 300 N. Grand St. or telephone 489-9644.

He added that those interested could also contact another Lansing area recruiter, Sgt. John W. Hedgecock at the same location.

County drains in good shape Chapman says

County Drain Commissioner Dale Chapman reported last week that one drain was completed and nine repaired last year.

Chapman, in his annual report to the Clinton County Board of Commissioners, stated that the Smith and Sutton drain in Dallas and Bengal townships was the only drain completed last year.

Chapman named six drains that are in the process of being completed, Maple River (Inter-County)-Gratiot, Shiawassee and Clinton counties; Smith and Sutton-Dallas and Bengal townships; Gross and Taylor, Lehman, Kramer-Westphalia townships; Mill Branch, Branch 101 and Bath Village Branch of Mead-Bath Township.

Drains that were repaired last year were Brown and Hunt-Bingham; Dean and Dean extension-Ovid; Hamilton-Riley; Big Horn-DeWitt; Stage-Water town; Wieber-Dallas; Upton-Bingham, Greenbush and Ovid; Henderson-Greenbush, Bingham and Essex; Bond and Hansen-Bingham; Kisan-Bingham; Olive, Bath and DeWitt-Olive, Victor, Bath and DeWitt Townships; Catlin-Waters-Lebanon Township.

According to the report, the commission office issued 22 drain orders last year. Some of them were Gross and Taylor $40,650, 12, Lehman $7,625.50, and Mill Branch $3,004.55. The total amount of drain order came to $65,260.60.

political party and if a party is to continue as a viable institution it must "take a good hard look at every function and every role... and modernize by weeding out the unnecessary frivolities or rituals."

Citing consistent membership loss in democrat party ranks, Brickley encouraged his listeners to seek younger persons for GOP membership for, in his words, "the American voter is becoming very sophisticated and is discarding the old voting patterns and displaying a new-found independence."

Federal tax changes affecting 1970 returns

The Tax Reform Act of 1969 will have an impact on every taxpayer in the country. Although some of the provisions of the Act applied to 1969 calendar year tax returns, the great majority of changes will affect 1970 returns. Here is a brief look at some of the more obvious changes.

An estimated six million people will be pleased about the fact that they will no longer be required to file a Federal income tax return. The reason—the filing requirements have been eased.

The tax surcharge was reduced to 5 per cent for the first half of 1970, and eliminated for the last half of the year. Thus, the surcharge is figured at the average rate of 2.5 per cent for the whole of 1970.

A new "low income allowance" eliminates or reduces the taxes paid by many people.

Every taxpayer will benefit from the increase in personal and dependency exemptions from $600 to $825.

A great many taxpayers will find that it is easier to compute their tax this year. The optional tax tables, which take into consideration the standard deduction, exemptions, and the new "low income allowance" have been extended from $5,000 to $10,000. In addition, the IRS will make the actual tax computation if certain requirements are met as well as certain portions of the form filled in.

Because of the many changes brought about by the Tax Reform Act of 1969 it will pay to carefully read the instructions that are included in the tax package, and start the preparation of your return as early as possible.

Weight watching models display program success

By ANNETTE WHITE
News Society Editor

Members of Weight Watchers held open house at the Bingham Grange on Jan. 25 to acquaint possible new members with the Weight Watcher program. Special guest was Florence Lambo, area manager of Western Michigan. The guests were greeted by Mrs. Beverly Archer, lecturer of the local group. Mrs. Archer explained the functions of the organization and presented a sample of what goes on at one of the club's regular meetings. Mrs. Archer pointed out to the group that the first thing that is done when someone joins is that they are weighed and from week to week their gains or losses are recorded so that they may see their progress.

New members are given the program which contains rules and regulations for helping them obtain weight loss. They also receive food lists and menu plans. The lecturer, always a Weight Watcher herself, gives a helpful talk at each meeting. Mostly it is a speech of encouragement but when gains are more than losses Mrs. Archer said, "I may take time out to remind the members that they had better get with it as they are only cheating themselves".

Following the lecture the weight losses are read, never the gains. Often recipes are exchanged and each one may relate an experience or contribute an idea. Questions that may arise, in regard to the program, are always answered.

A fashion show was held by some of the longtime members at the open house to show to newcomers that the program, if followed with the right attitude, really does work. Models for the evening were Betty Fuller who has lost 170 pounds, Florence Lohrer who has dropped 58 pounds, Doris Wilkie who is 55 pounds lighter, Luella Coleman who has lost 40 pounds and Shirley Barrett who has lost 112 pounds. Also modeling were Zelma Helbeck who has lost 83 1/2 pounds and Shirley Craner who is down 103 pounds.

Each model first appeared in one of the dresses they used to wear "before" joining Weight Watchers. They quickly changed to the sizes they are wearing now, since their weight loss.

Mrs. Shirley Barrett was presented a special award during the evening as she had reached her goal and had lost over 110 pounds which enables a member to receive a special brooch, designed with the Weight Watcher emblem. The Weight Watchers program emphasizes serious weight control under pleasant social surroundings.

A PRE-DINNER CHAT

Gathering clouds

Every family has happy times together but there are times when clouds gather. This is life.

Is your family prepared to face the clouds? Recently a death came to our family and I observed grandchildren facing the death of a close relative for the first time. There were many questions. Questions which were difficult to answer.

A child's first encounter with death will be hard for him to understand and hard for you to explain. It is especially important to listen carefully to the child's questions. The answer should be kept at the level appropriate to the child's understanding and development.

It is not enough to give one's own version of death. The child's own ideas of death are often very significant. This may confuse and frighten the child leaving unanswered the very questions which are disturbing him. When the questions are answered the adult should stop.

Quite often adults are too anxious; they may misinterpret the child's natural curiosity as something more morbid and intense.

Often in times of stress, if parents can talk freely to the child with a minimum of anxiety, the child will learn that it is "all right" to think and talk about his troubled feelings.

Hopefully a child's first curiosity about death may arise impersonally—perhaps through questions about a dying flower. With your help, your child can grasp the physical implications of death with minimum emotional conflict.

First he needs to know what death means physically—the end of the body's functioning. It takes time for him to realize that this absence differs from short term absences.

You might explain death in terms of the life cycle of a plant. A seed sprouts; leaves and branches follow; a bud appears, followed by flowering and death. Let your child's concept of death's normal course before selecting another pet. He will be more eager to care for a new pet if he has had time to get over his worry about the fate of the first one.

Your own attitude toward death is also important. A child feels your beliefs in your reaction to death, in your willingness to discuss the event with him. And he may well model his reactions after yours.

Necessary moisture

Do you think the amount of moisture in the air in your home isn't necessary? It is. In winter you need to add moisture to the air, thus increasing the relative humidity during cold weather. Humidity can actually make you feel warmer or cooler regardless of temperature. Your body has a built-in cooling system so the more rapidly moisture evaporates from your skin the cooler you feel. Therefore, when relative humidity is low the dry air absorbs moisture quickly making you feel cooler.

Relative humidity is designed as the ratio of the amount of water vapor air contains compared to the amount of water the air could contain at a given temperature. The ratio is stated as a percentage.

If the outdoor temperature is zero degrees and the relative humidity 100 per cent, Science tells us that at this temperature 10,000 cubic feet of air (the size of an average home), would hold less than a pint of water.

So, if you bring this amount of zero-degree saturated air inside the house and heat it to 72 degrees, this air can hold 1-1/2 gallons of water or almost 18 times as much. As air is heated it also dries out.

Thirsty air isn't particular about where it seeks moisture. The membranes of your throat and nasal passages are favorite targets. When these become dry they are an open invitation to the bacteria that cause common colds and other infections, wintertime coughs and various respiratory infections.

If overly dry air affecting one's health isn't sufficient evidence for checking the humidity in your home, think about this—This same dry air, seeking moisture from your body causes you to feel "cold" so you turn up the thermostat for more heat and thus increase your fuel bill.

Or, have you noticed pieces of furniture, especially chairs, becoming wobbly and in need of re-gluing? Lack of sufficient moisture in the air dries out wood and glue. Does your family budget crying "ouch" encourage you to check into the matter of sufficient humidity in your home?

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT ALDEN KNIGHT

United Methodist scene of double ring service

The United Methodist Church in St. Johns was the setting for the Saturday, Jan. 16 service uniting in marriage Colleen Sue Robinson and Pfc. Robert Alden Knight. Rev. Brian Sheen performed the double ring, 7 p.m. ceremony before an altar decorated with white gladiolus and yellow mums.

Mrs. Barbara Davis, organist, accompanied Tom Fowler as he sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Robinson of 407 East Park Street, St. Johns and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Alden Knight of 6788 West Townsend Road, St. Johns.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, approached the altar wearing a white peau-de-sole gown fashioned with an empire-style waistline and Bishop sleeves. Appliques of hand clipped lace trimmed the front panel, neckline and wide cuffs of her gown. Her chapel-length mantilla-style veil, trimmed with matching lace appliques, was secured in place by a small tulle pillbox headpiece and she carried a colonial-style bouquet of white mums and yellow rosebuds.

Michelle Sanders of St. Johns was maid of honor. She wore a gown of ribbed cotton in olive green and a headpiece of matching tulle. She carried a bouquet of yellow mums.

Best man was Philip Knight, brother of the groom and serving as ushers were Jeff Sliam and Tim Durner.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in Niles Hall of the church.

Special guests at the wedding and reception were Mrs. Roy Bailey and Mrs. Floyd Robinson, grandmothers of the bride and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Knight, grandparents of the groom.

The couple are both 1970 graduates of St. Johns High School.

The groom received basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky. and recently completed advanced artillery training at Ft. Carson, Colo. He is now serving a tour of duty with the U.S. Army and is stationed in Europe.

Eureka

MRS. GORDON WAGGONER
Ph. 224-2476

Barbara Waggoner, who was employed in the sociology department at Harvard, spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Robinson, before flying to the Virgin Islands for six weeks training at the Peace Corps Training Center. Following another six weeks training in Africa, she expects to be teaching child care and nutrition to African mothers in the Upper Volta in Africa.

WOMAN'S FELLOWSHIP MEETS
The Woman's Fellowship of the Eureka Congregational Christian Church, met Wednesday evening, Feb. 3, in the church basement with 20 ladies present.

Mrs. John Wickwire gave the devotions.

A Father and Son Banquet is in the planning for later in March. Plans for the new kitchen were shown and discussion centered around the arrangement of appliances and cupboards.

An auction sale was held with Blanch Sutfin as the auctioneer. The sealed bids quilt was bought by Mrs. Roy Speice with the highest bid. The quilt had been tied off at the January meeting at the home of Mrs. J. O. Gower. It had been given to the Fellowship by Mrs. George Hubard.

A Valentine theme was carried out on the serving table. Pumpkin pie and ice cream were served by the hostess, Mrs. Carroll Clark and her co-hostess, Mrs. Gordon Waggoner.

The March meeting will be held on March 3 with Mrs. John Wickwire.

WAGGONER FAMILY DINNER
Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Waggoner and daughters entertained at a Waggoner family dinner, Sunday, Jan. 24 with 23 present.

The reason for the late dinner date was that their niece, Barbara Waggoner was returning from Boston to plan for her trip to Upper Volta, Africa where she will be gone for 27 months as a volunteer in the Peace Corps.

In the later part of the afternoon she was asked to pass out the gifts, which as a surprise to her were all for her. They were gifts she could use on her trip.

Two long distance telephone calls were from her two uncles and aunts not present. The first one came about 3 p.m. from Florida, when Dale and Wanda Randolph called to talk to her. Then about 4:30 p.m. Howard and Ellen Waggoner called her to talk to her from Houghton Lake.

Those present at the dinner were Barbara Waggoner, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Robinson; her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Huggitt, Daniel, Mark, Laura, and Kathy of Marlette; her uncles, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Waggoner, Ron and Russ; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Waggoner, Gloria and Linda; and Terrie and Larry Randolph.

Ephesians 6:10-17 was the scripture reading preceding the Message, "Avoid the Draft" Sunday morning at the worship hour.

Highlights of their trip were an audience with the Pope, a shipping trip in the little shops at Florence where each sells its one thing, not like our department stores of many, a visit to Monte Carlo where they witnessed the changing of the guard and a visit to the casino there.

So ended a long to be remembered fun evening. Then on to France to visit Paris, Nice, Versailles and the Louvre.

At Grasse they toured a Parfumerie where perfumes are made of the flower fragrances in their gardens.

They visited a straw market, much like our flea market, where very unexpectedly they met a friend from the states, Bill Gust, who is a missionary there and owns a Bible Store.

I asked Mrs. Reeves where she would visit if she should make a return trip. She answered, "Rome, because of its beauty in art and statues."

Mrs. Thelma Gee has returned home after spending eight weeks with her brother in Champaign, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reeves are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Jill L. Reeves to Randolph Bodwin of East Lansing. The wedding date is March 20.

Mrs. Mark Oliver entertained the Suburban Bridge Club at a luncheon Tuesday. Mrs. John Nicholson won high score at cards and Mrs. Gladys Bowlin, low.

The Hobby Club met at Windemere View Tuesday evening with 14 members present. Mice were made of art foam under the direction of Mrs. David Hodges.

Members of the 8 at 40 held their January meeting in the home of Parner Nelda McWilliams.

Thayne Miner Jr. of Saginaw spent two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Dean Austin while his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thayne Miner attended a horse show in Florida.

Mary Ann and Burton Ashenfelter spent the weekend with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Miner at Midland.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Fast and mother of Owosso were Friday dinner guests at the Exelby home.

Plans are completed for the annual fish supper to be held at the Price Church on Saturday evening Feb. 13. There will also be a sale of home baked goods.

All who can be urged to attend the dinner of the Stillson Cemetery Association to be held at the Price Church on Tuesday, Feb. 16. Bring own table service and food to pass.

The February meeting of the Victor Civic Club will be held at the Jerald Barrett home on Feb. 19. A silent auction will be held during the business meeting.

The February meeting of Stockman-Horton Grange has been cancelled due to extreme cold weather and road conditions. It will be held at the Arthur Curtis home in March.

Dale Kaufman of South Riley is spending time with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Curtis and assisting with chores.

Mrs. Eva Cortright is spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Richard Curtis and family.

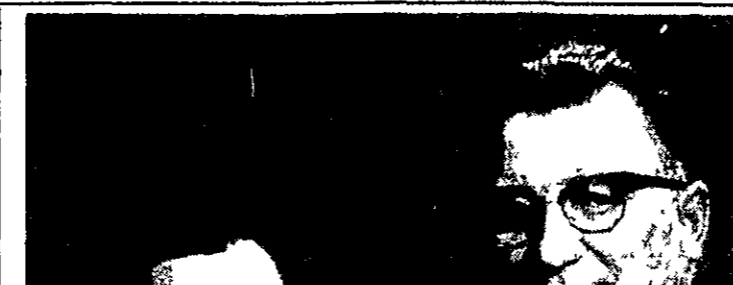

Most exciting was a Toga Party in Rome where everyone dressed in costume. A typical Roman meal was served at low tables. The Film of Ben Hur added to the event and the dessert was served with a flaming sword dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Ferris of Route 2, Portland announce the engagement of their daughter, Florence to Thomas S. Berryson. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Benson of Route 3, St. Johns.

The bride-elect is a 1966 graduate of Portland High School and received a bachelor of arts degree in secondary education from Western Michigan University in 1969. She is employed by the Grand Ledge School system at Sawdon Middle School.

The prospective groom is a 1960 graduate of Rodney B. Wilson High School and received a bachelor of science degree in agricultural economics from Michigan State University in 1966. He operates a farm with his father near St. Johns.

A June 18 wedding is being planned by the couple.

Yellow roses and red candles decorated the dessert table as Mrs. Harold Millman and her committee served as members and guests arrived. Serving at the tea table were Mrs. Winchell Brown and Mrs. Jessie Finch.

Members answered roll call by naming a pollutant followed by Mrs. Lloyd Harris, home, life and religion chairman, reading a prayer on conservation.

Mrs. Helen Judd, literature chairman, presented "Literary Heritage" and then introduced Mrs. Lawrence Fish who gave a mini-report on the Friends of the Bement Public Library.

Chairman of the day, Mrs. Joseph Spousta, introduced guest speaker, William Horton of Lansing Community College who spoke on "Keep America Beautiful". His topic was pollution. He defined pollution as being a lack of management or that the environment is out of balance.

He also stated that most everything has some value, even waste which could be recycled. He mentioned a company which is selling an optical sorter which claims to be 70 per cent efficient to restore environmental balance.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday, Feb. 17 at the home of Mrs. Fraser MacKinnon. Lance Koschtial, park supervisor at Sleepy Hollow State Park will be the guest speaker.

Joe McAninch is under treatment at Ann Arbor Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Herb Batts of Ithaca, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Keys of Elsie and Mrs. Helen Kohler of Lansing were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pfau in Lansing.

Today this entire money-mad world is running a race for a dollar which is worth only about half its face value.

LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY

THE GETTYSBURG ADDRESS

"Fourscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation or any nation so conceived and so dedicated can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field, as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. But in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate—we cannot consecrate—we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or detract.

The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced.

It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from the earth."

Abraham Lincoln once stated: "A little planning will defeat your worries." This still holds true. No financial worry can stand up against a carefully planned savings program. See us today!

We will be closed February 12-13-14-15 To honor Washington's and Lincoln's Birthday

it's a Valentine LOVE-IN

HEY GIRL, the flowers are from me. Did you like the little butterflies? Happy Valentine's Day. Me.

IVAN: Happy Valentine's Day to the most wonderful and most understanding husband in the world. With all my love. Carl

TO MY two favorite Valentines—Kristin and Jeffrey, Have a nice Valentine's Day. I love you both very much. Grana

DEAR GRANDMA, You're very near and dear to me. In every single way, So thought I'd write this little note To say Happy Valentine's Day. Your Grandson, George.

TO JUDY WITT, Happy birthday to our thirteen year old Valentine. With love from Dad, Mom, Grace and Billy.

MUNKEE, Thanks for the past seven months of happiness. Will miss you but won't forget you. Happy Valentine's Day. Weasel.

MY crown is in my heart, not on my head; Not deck'd with diamonds and Indian stones, Not to be seen; my crown is called content; A crown it is that seldom kings enjoy. To my wonderfully understanding wife Alice on our twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. Bill

WILLIAM, People like you deserve the very best, that's why you have me. Happy Valentine's Day. Love ???

DEAR CAMMIE and Chris, Just a little note to say, Happy Valentine's Day! A Friend.

DEAR GLORIA, you're the apple of my eye—Happy Valentine's Day. Love?

KNUTE, This special note is to say, "You're the perfect Valentine" so won't you be my Valentine. Love, Joan SWEETIE, This sure is cheaper than sending you a box of candy all the way down southwest. Happy Valentine's Day. Me.

HAPPY Valentine's Day to Margaret and Pete Crowell, Jim and Jan, Darrin, Alec, Brent Crowell. With love, Kay and Phillip.

DEAREST ARNOLD, Valentines are for February. You said us is forever. I say you're losing. Make up your mind, Amelia.

TOBY CASTNER—Last time we had a date, you left something on Green Lake. Happy Valentine. Lookout Camp Ground (Gang.)

HAPPY Valentine's Day to the Utica Gang—Moe, Mike, Renne and Cels. Same to the Detroit twosome, Jay and Jeff. Also to local twosome, Kelly and Kim. Love Gramps and Gram from St. Johns.

HAPPY VALENTINE'S Day to Grandpa and Grandma Ward from Kimberly Marie Vallo in St. Louis, Missouri. I miss you both.

JIM, Here is a Valentine to represent love and peace and all that is beautiful in our love. Forever, Diane

TO MY SWEETHEART, Describe my love? As well Pour out the ocean, in a shell; Or count the stars.

DEAREST TOAD, Others may not know you as I do, all the more reason I wuv you. Lovingly yours, Korkie JIMBOW, Do I want you for my Valentine or do bears grow in the woods! Love your Valentine, P.J.

DEAR MARY, Roses are red, violets are blue, If it's color you lack in your appliances, call me, And I'll explain how inexpensively, I can change that for you. Call 224-7581. John.

There are no words to eloquently say, You are my life, My everything Your loving wife, Teala

HOPE, You my love I would gladly die for, For there is nothing greater that I could love more. John BIG MAMA, we wish you something for Valentine's Day that no one ever has. Merry Christmas. E. J. & M.

TONI, TERRI, and Tommy, Roses are red, Violets are blue, If I had more like you, I'd be in the Zoo! Happy Valentine's Day. Your loving Aunt.

VICKI SMITH, May you always be my Valentine. Love to you always, From Georgia.

Remey-Chandler residents to discuss drain problems

Property owners and taxpayers living in the Remey-Chandler drain area will have an opportunity to express their flooding and drainage problems to officials Wednesday, Feb. 17 in DeWitt Township.

The information meeting, called for 1:30 p.m. at the township hall on Welland Street, will deal with the possibility of connecting the drain system to current P.L. 566 watershed project.

The public act, known as the "Small Watershed Act," could be used to correct flooding and drainage problems in the area, according to officials.

The act is unique in that people in the watershed retain control of actions in construction of the drain even though federal assistance share in construction, planning and engineering.

Preliminary investigations have revealed that cleaning the ditch would not solve all of the drainage problems.

Farmers in the flat Chandler marsh lands get too much water with limited potential relief.

Landowners downstream watch warily in case extra floodwaters come down to their properties.

An application for federal aid state assistance under the act has been filed with the cooperation of county drain commissioners and soil conservation districts in Clinton and Ingham counties.

The state soil conservation committee will hold a meeting of landowners in the drain area at a later date.

We hope you enjoyed playing the game with us even if you didn't enter the contest. Now all we have to do is check the entries and next week, we'll announce the winners.

The County News' first annual Valentine "Love-In Corner" (for all the romantic souls who think they can say it better, ourselves included) is in this issue. Now Boss Ron Hurd thinks we should do something similar for April Fool's Day. So this is your warning, if your Valentine isn't suitably impressed with your nice message... you can "get even" in about six weeks.

If you don't like it when a proud poppa brags, we suggest you skip this paragraph. Our oldest boy is a basketball player. This past Friday he was a starting guard in the all fifth grade all-star team that played during the Alma Junior varsity half time. We had never seen him play in competition. We didn't even know if he could. (He's pretty good playing punka-punka with his old man at home. Punka-punka? That's when you pretend a toss pillow is a basketball and the archway is the basket. And since a toss pillow doesn't bounce, you hold on to a corner, pretend to dribble and say "punka-punka".

Anyway, we went to see him play. We didn't get to though. Just as we walked in, the fifth grade all-stars ran out. We still don't know about his basketball, but he runs real good.

During the recent cold wave our little car started right up. No problems. Then last Friday, the warmest morning in several weeks, you can guess what happened. It didn't start. And when the road service man came, it didn't start. We had it towed to a garage. A mechanic tried, nothing. Then another, nothing. Then one of them said, "Hey mister, your car won't start. Whatcha want us to do?"

They had us and they knew it. They gave us the option of 1. starting it but with no guarantees of how long it would run, 2. fixing it right. Fix it right. They did. But we could have done without the "no wonder, lookit here, it shouldn't have run as long as it did, hey, Charly, have you ever seen anything like this? and that will be $34.00. Thirty four bucks, at the time we didn't think the car was worth that much.

Beat Ionia, Grand Ledge

Redwings on verge of West crown

Things looked a bit too even Friday night for the St. Johns Redwings when they traveled to Grand Ledge in an effort to stay on top in the West Central Athletic Conference.

The Redwings started the contest by falling behind the Comets 17-12 at the end of the first quarter, but made up for the lapse in the next frame by outscoring Grand Ledge 20-15 to tie up the game 32-32 by half-time.

The Wings roared out of the locker room to dominate the second half, scoring 27 points in the third quarter and added 26 in the fourth to win by 10, 85-75.

St. Johns shooting ace Dean Eisler neared the 300-point season mark by dumping in 32 points on 11 field goals and 10 free throws. Eisler has a season scoring total of 297 points. Mike Brown added 15 points on seven buckets and one free throw.

Others scoring for St. Johns were Brian Carpenter (2), Steve Mead (14), Fred Root (6), Randy Atkinson (8) and Dennis LeVeck (8).

Both teams struck for 31 field goals during the contest but St. Johns held the power at the free throw line by dropping in 23 of 32 attempts for a slick 72 per cent pace.

Grand Ledge hit 13 of 21 free throws for a 62 per cent average.

The Redwings started looking for the West Central title Tuesday night when they drubbed the Ionia Bulldogs 89-71.

St. Johns took control of the game from the first basket and never lost the lead as Eisler came through with a 37-point performance.

"Dean the Dream" shot at a 50 per cent clip from the floor, hitting 14 of 28 field goals and added nine free throws in 12 attempts for a 75 per cent effort. Steve Mead added 15 points to the Redwing total on six field goals and three free throws, while Mike Brown tossed in 14 points on six field goals and two charities.

Other Redwing scorers were Carpenter (3), Root (7), Atkinson (7), Gregg Lounds (4) and Ken Schueller (2).

The Redwings outscored the Bulldogs from the floor, 30-28 but really pulled away in free throw shooting—29 of 36 for St. Johns compared with 15 of 22 for Ionia.

The Redwing junior varsity defeated Ionia 74-51 but dropped a decision to Grand Ledge 79-74.

Scoring by quarters:
St. Johns 21 24 17 27-89
Ionia 11 21 21 18-71

St. Johns 12 20 27 26-85
Grand Ledge 17 15 22 21-75

Four arms and four legs are more than enough to qualify for high school basketball at St. Johns. Actually, Randy Atkinson has some unwanted competition for a rebound during Tuesday night's Redwing victory.

Free throw power pushes Bath past Fowlerville

Paul Stoll and Lynn Vietzke pumped in 23 points at the free throw line Friday to win over Fowlerville in a double overtime thriller, 67-64.

The victory tied Bath for second place in the Ingham County League with Fowlerville, both 6-3.

Fowlerville led in the first three quarters, but heavy fouling by the Gladiators in the fourth turned the game over to Bath.

The Bees rallied to take a six point lead but a basket by Gladiator Richie Lewis tied the score at the gun 56-56.

In the first overtime, Stoll scored two points but was countered by Lewis who netted two points thus bringing up the second overtime.

Deadly shooting from the line netted Dave Smith four points, Vietzke three and Stoll a pair to outdistance the Gladiators by three points.

Leading scorer was Stoll with 26 points; Vietzke netted 19, Randy Markham pumped in 10, Smith accumulated eight and Tom Mitchell scored four points.

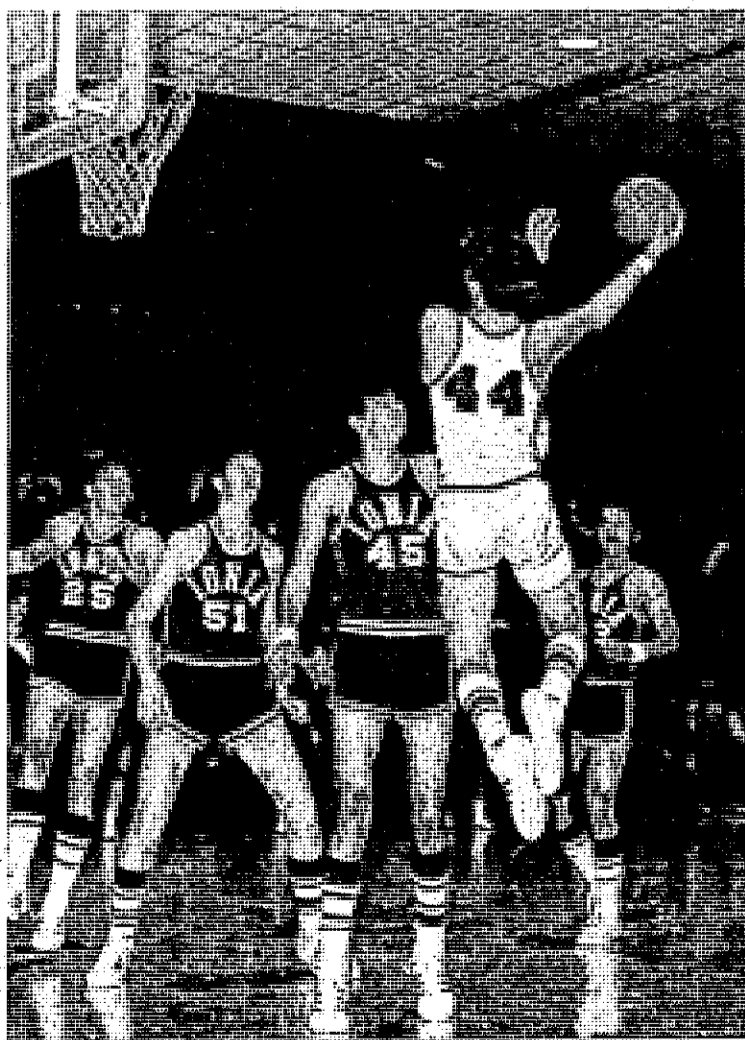

The Bees shot 60 per cent from the foul line.

Fowlerville outscored Bath from the floor by netting 24 buckets while Bath connected on 19. But the game hinged on the free throw power of Bath, as the Bees dropped in 29 charities in 42 attempts while Fowlerville managed 16 in 26 attempts.

Stoll's 26-point output came on seven field goals and 12 free throws while Vietzke hit on four field shots and 11 big free throws.

Bath's J.V. team lost a close one by two points 68-66.

Bath 14 19 8 15 2 9-67
Fowlerville 19 18 9 10 2 6-64

ALL ALONE

Redwing Dean Eisler (44) is surrounded by Bulldogs but managed two points on a hook shot. Looking on are Scott Adams (45), Durt Kaeding (51), Kick Ludwick (25) and Steve Walters 23, all of Ionia.

Top Vikings 90-74

Panthers rip Potterville in wild free throw event

SWISH, ANYWAY

St. Johns Redwing center Dean Eisler (44) is about to swish a jumper from the free throw line despite the efforts of Ionia's Phil Lesky (43).

By TIM YOUNKMAN
Editor

It seems to be the year of the free throw.

Each week several Clinton County teams win or lose depending on their prowess at the charity stripe.

But DeWitt and Potterville decided to do up the foul shooting in grand style during their clash in DeWitt Friday night.

Both teams combined to manage a whopping 107 free throw attempts through a total of 67 personal fouls.

The game marked the return of Loren Ward to the Panther lineup after weeks of watching from the bench with a leg injury. Ward came in to pick up nine points on three field goals and three field goals during the 90-74 DeWitt victory.

DeWitt started the game by taking a healthy seven point lead, 21-14, at the end of the first eight minutes of play but found the lead cut to five by halftime, 43-39.

The Vikings pumped in 25 points in the second quarter against a 22-point effort by the Panthers.

Both teams were even during the third period, when each squad managed 23 points, but the roof fell in for Potterville when foul trouble ripped through the Viking bench, taking out all of the starters leaving only four men to play out the final two minutes.

DeWitt took advantage of the Viking problem by hitting 24 points against 12 for Potterville to wrap up the game.

DeWitt outscored Potterville from the floor by hitting 30 field goals compared to 17 for the Vikings. The Panthers dropped a bit at the foul line by hitting 30 of 48 attempts while Potterville popped for 40 of 59.

Ron Wilcox led the Panthers with 24 points on seven field goals and a near-perfect 10 of 12 attempts from the charity line.

Andy Cusack hit four field goals and a two-for-two effort at the free throw line.

Ten other Panthers reached the scoring column including Pat Botke (5), Doug Klaver (5), Mike Moody (5), Gordon Keck (4), Pierce (1), Mark Simon (4), Chuck Berkimer (8), Dan Davis (4) and Dan Ruble (7).

The win enabled them to take over second spot in the Central Michigan Athletic Conference behind Fowler, since Pewamo-Westphalia's game with Portland St. Patrick was postponed due to poor travelling conditions. The teams had been tied for the second spot.

The Panthers have three remaining games with CMAC opponents and one non-conference match scheduled before March Madness begins March 1.

DeWitt will face Owosso St. Paul Friday, then travel to Haslett Tuesday. The big rematch with league leading Fowler is set for Feb. 19 at DeWitt. The Panthers wrap up the season against Webberville on the Spartan's home court Feb. 26.

The Panther JV squad topped Potterville 85 to 58 in the preliminary event.

Scoring by quarters:
DeWitt 21 22 23 24-90
Potterville 14 25 23 12-74

HARD WORK. . . .

That's the key to basketball success at St. Johns, according to Coach Mike Young, as his Junior Redwings practice ball handling during a warmup session last week.

JV teams: proving grounds for varsity

By BOB GAVAN
News Staff Writer

Junior varsity teams generally are neglected as far as news coverage is concerned.

However, these "farm teams" have a tremendous impact on the future of any high school's basketball teams record.

The junior varsity slot is the last grooming step reached by aspiring young basketball players. After years of maturing, playing elementary school and junior high ball, the player finally has a chance to be noticed. This is where the future stars of the varsity team begin to show their "stuff." This is their proving ground.

This reporter took a look at three of the JV teams in the county and came up with this evaluation, be prepared for some trophies to come to Clinton county.

Fowler's JV team coached by Steve Spicer has compiled an impressive record, 12-0. Spicer says that his teams major asset is "good defense." They have kept opponents scoring down to a 34-point average, while averaging 60 points themselves.

His team of 11 sophomores and three freshmen is a well balanced unit. Spicer states that "they have played ball together for at least five years, many of them starting in the fourth grade."

The games to watch will be with DeWitt and Pewamo-Westphalia, says Spicer.

Coach Ron Warner, Pewamo-Westphalia, says that fast breaks and running account for a lot of their scoring. Currently 9-3 overall, they are looking forward to meeting Fowler, who, according to Warner, is the team to beat.

Out of the starting five, four are in the double figures with Jim Hengesbach, leading scorer.

Warner thinks the team has great potential, citing the game with Laingsburg, he said, "in five minutes, they scored 33 points." Quite impressive for any team. The team's offense, average is 70 points.

P-W now has organized basketball, on the grade school level, which, according to Warner, will help tremendously in the future.

St. Johns JV's started the season off with a bang winning six straight, but, were blitzed at Waverly and then lost to Mason in one weekend. According to Coach Mike Young, "the team is down somewhat, but will pick up."

Young said that the team's asset is balance, "although they don't have height, I can go to the bench and know that five or six of them can come through for me."

St. Johns lost a close game with Hastings 78-75 to set their overall at 7-6.

All the coaches interviewed indicated that the league is well balanced and that there will be some exciting games in the future.

Next week: a look at DeWitt, Bath and Ovid-Elsie.

Fowler's JV squad has been playing together for more than five years, according to Coach Steve Spicer. Spicer said that some of the players had been together since fourth grade ball. Here the junior Eagles practice with all the flurry of the top-ranked Eagle varsity

Marauders come close in DeWitt tourney

By TIM YOUNKMAN
Editor

The Ovid-Elsie Marauders came within one point of winning their second large invitational wrestling tournament in as many attempts Saturday, but lost out in the final minutes to a strong Mason squad.

The Marauders, competing in the fourth annual DeWitt Invitational Tournament, actually held the lead in points before the final two matches of the evening, and could have topped the nine-team field had Mason's Chris Cochran lost in the 185-pound division.

Ovid-Elsie won the Clinton County News-sponsored Clinton Invitational Tournament two weeks ago at St. Johns to take that second-annual event's trophy back home.

Cochran's win over Shepard's Martin Marshall by a pin at 4:57 finished the hopes for Ovid-Elsie. Mason took the tourney trophy with 77 points, while the Marauders come in second with 76. Other team totals were Union City (57), Shepard (53), Brighton (50), DeWitt (41), Adrian Madison (33), Bath (20) and St. Johns (17). "The tournament went pretty well," commented Coach Gary Roberts of DeWitt, host for the event.

"We had the largest crowd so far," he said. "It was a fairly even tournament since Mason only won by one point."

"There were five teams less than 30 points behind Mason, and that's pretty close," Roberts said. The scores could have been much tighter had one of Mason's finalists dropped a decision. The teams receive 10 points for a finals win.

"We didn't have as many teams here as last year, but we had stronger teams," Roberts said.

He noted that Union City entered the tournament for the first time and made an impressive showing, ending the evening in third place.

The win by Mason allows the Bulldogs to keep the trophy, since the school has won the event more than three times.

Individual standouts for the tournament were 132-pound Craig Kenny of Mason who was named the outstanding wrestler among the nine teams. The award for the most pins in the shortest time went to Mark Dibert of Union City who pinned three opponents including St. Johns' Rick Fisher for the Heavyweight division championship.

DeWITT INVITATIONAL
FINAL RESULTS

98-pound class - Tom Roof, Ovid-Elsie, decided Steve Ley, Shepard, 5-0.
105-pound class - Randy Cooper, Union City, decided Frank Casarez, Adrian Madison, 6-2.
112-pound class - Roger Stalter, Shepherd, decided Ramon Fuentes, Mason, 4-0.

119-pound class - Chef Allen, Brighton, decided Greg McKay, Ovid-Elsie, 3-1.

126-pound class - Roger Boas, Union City, decided Larry Smith, Mason, 4-2.

132-pound class - Craig Kenney, Mason, decided Mike Cole, DeWitt, 2-1.

138-pound class - Kurt Kluge, DeWitt, decided Lupie Parra, Adrian Madison, 6-0.
145-pound class - Mike Buck,

Ovid-Elsie, decided Dan Prescott, Mason, 1-0.

155-pound class - Rick Davidson, Mason, decided Larry Feguer, Bath, 7-1.

167-pound class - Bruce Cox, Brighton, decided Dave Torgeson, Shepard, 4-2.

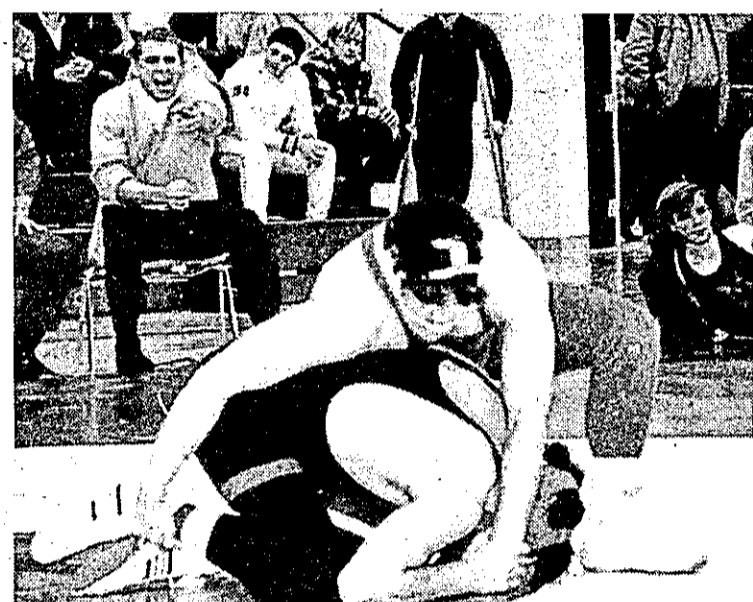

185-pound class - Chris Cochran, Mason, pinned Martin Marshall, Shepard, 4:57.

Heavyweight class - Mark Dibert, Union City, pinned Rick Fisher, St. Johns, 1:31.

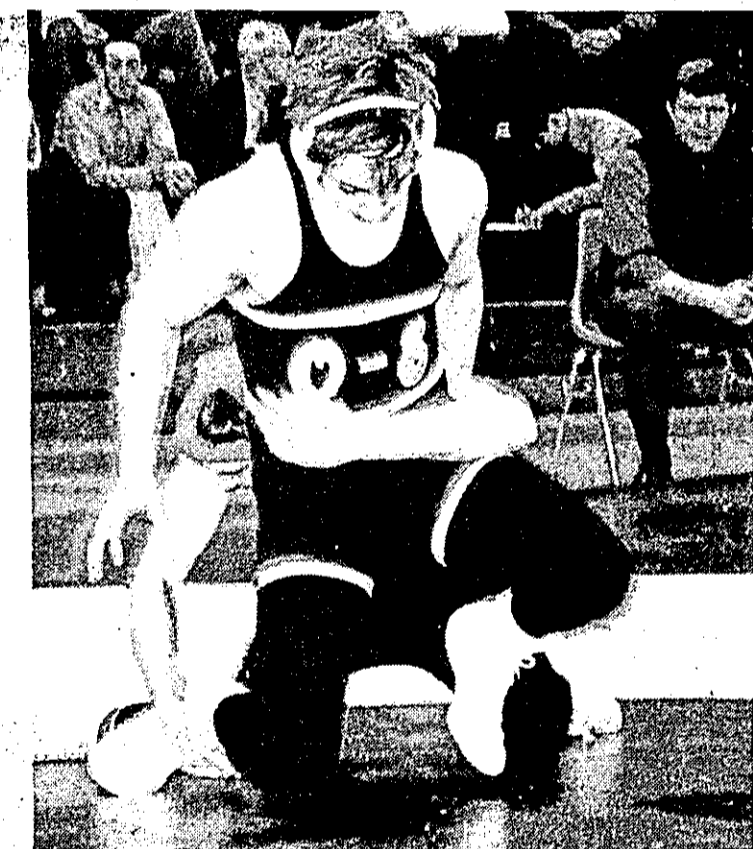

KURT KLUGE

MIKE BUCK

NOW TAKE THIS. . . .

Bath's Larry Fuguer seems to have things under control during his clash with Mason's Rick Davidson. Mason coaches didn't like what they were seeing according to their expressions in the background.

STEP UP AND OUT

That bit of advice worked for Ovid-Elsie's Mike Buck when he met Mason's Dan Prescott in the 145-pound division contest. Buck edged the Bulldog by a 1-0 decision to lift the Marauders into second spot in the DeWitt Invitational meet.

ALMOST A PIN

Mason's Rick Davidson (dark uniform) almost has Bath's Larry Feguer pinned, but the elusive Bee wrestler slipped away only to lose by a decision 7-1, during the 155-pound division clash in the DeWitt Invitational Saturday. Photos by Tim Younkman

Outdoor notes

Briefing sessions with various conservation-minded organizations are being held around the state by the Department of Natural Resources to mobilize broad-based citizen participation in a full-scale study of Porcupine Mountains State Park.

The study, called for by the Natural Resources Commission last December, will lay the groundwork for an exacting, up-to-date management plan covering the 58,000-acre area in Gogebic and Ontonagon counties.

It has been triggered by repeated efforts to log, mine, and otherwise develop areas within the park, most of which was dedicated as a nature reservation by the former Conservation Commission in 1954.

Those threats, stirring heated embroilments between conservationists and development interests, have dramatized the need for a clear-cut plan which will enable the DNR to manage resources of the park for the most compatible uses.

In a move to get things rolling on the plan, the DNR is meeting with interested groups and individuals, underscoring the need for their help, backgrounding them on the park's history and problems, and outlining how they can play an important role in the area's upcoming study.

Under its efforts to rally citizen support, the DNR is attempting to draw out the broadest possible representation, running from "conservatives" to those whose views of resource and park management are "liberal."

'St. Johns Six' win big gloves card in Lansing

The six St. Johns boxers who were winners at Lansing's Golden Gloves District competition meet missed the mark by losing all the bouts to decisions in final competition Saturday in Grand Rapids. St. Johns finished third in the district meet.

In the districts open bouts, Dick Padgett of St. Johns gained revenge over Howard Fenske of Lansing in their heavyweight bout.

Padgett who lost a decision to Fenske in 1969, scored a decision with sharp lefts to the head and rights to the body of Fenske. Terry Dean won the light middleweight bout by a TKO in the third over Lansing's Andrew Perkins.

Rick Cole twice floored Lansing Carlos Villin to win the light welterweight crown by a TKO at :30 of the second round.

gave Roberto Rositas a featherweight victory over Len Sleeper of Lansing.

In the novice bouts, Mike San Miguel exhibiting tremendous skill earned a decision over Ron Humphrey of Owosso. The fight brought the fans to their feet.

Dick Blemaster, St. Johns, 270 pound novice heavyweight won his crown by a decision bout over Frank Sebal of Albion.

St. Johns Golden Gloves team is coached by Wayne Beaufore.

Ski-flying Slopes double

Michigan boasts the only ski-flying hill in the Western Hemisphere, and one of only five in the world, according to the Michigan Tourist Council. Copper Peak Ski-Flying Hill, north of Ironwood in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, is as high as a 24-story building, stretching 282 feet skyward, and attracts international competition.

The number of skiers using Michigan slopes has more than doubled in the last 10 years, according to the Michigan Tourist Council. During the 1969-70 season, Michigan attracted a record 350,000 skiers, as compared to 150,000 during 1959-60. Pre-season estimates indicate the 1969-70 record will be surpassed during 1970-71 winter season.

Deeds office uses new file system

A new time-saving file system has been implemented in the Register of Deeds Office, according to Willard Krehel in his annual report to the Board of Commissioners.

Snow weekend advertisement featuring a four-leaf clover logo and a photo of a person in winter gear.

"We had loads of fun, the weekend was terrific" were the words echoed by the 80 Clinton County 4-H members and adults who participated in the annual 4-H Snow Camp weekend at the Twin Lakes 4-H camp near Traverse City.

It snowed both Friday and Saturday providing nearing 18 inches of loose snow. When the toboggans went down hills the front rider looked like a snow plow.

The Bengal Community 4-H members will hold their winter achievement on March 8 at the Bingham EUB Church. All parents are invited to attend and all projects are to be completed by that date for display.

North American farmers devote more acreage to corn than any other crop, according to New Holland, the farm equipment division of Sperry Rand.

Water makes up more than 60 percent of the body composition of a 700-pound steer.

There were 16 adults who attended the weekend camp. They didn't go and just sit on the sidelines as they were involved in planning the activities with the youth committees, clicking their heels on the dance floor, and having fun like the youth.

The CountrySide 4-H members enjoyed an evening of 4-H Roller Skating in St. Johns and are making plans to attend again if possible.

Clinton NFO names officers

New officers were named during the January meeting of the Clinton County NFO held at Central National Bank in St. Johns Jan. 22.

The officers named were Dale Gage, president; Paul Nichols, vice-president; Ann Giffels, secretary and publicity; Lois Miller, treasurer; Stanley Welton, district representative; and Elmo Giffels, trustee.

Named to the meat board were Darwin Smith, Elmo Giffels, Stanley Welton, Cliff Kirkpatrick and Paul Love.

Alternates were Paul Nichols and Don Miller.

Giffels told the group that any hogs to be sold should be phoned to him by Sunday night. They will then be shipped Thursday to Saranac.

PCA announces new officers

The Production Credit Association of Lansing has announced its new board members and officers for 1971.

They are Paul W. Darling, president, Owosso; Harold C. Powell, vice-president, Williamston; Arnold K. Musolf, general manager, East Lansing; Carl E. Bahs, director, Nashville; Milton A. Conine, director, Howell; Weidon E. Brown, director, Sunfield; Clare Ash, Jr., director, Charlotte.

The Lansing Association serves the farmers in the counties of Ingham, Eaton, Barry, Ionia, Clinton, Shiawassee, Livingston, Genesee and Oakland.

The Lansing association loaned over $27 million during 1970 to farmer members for their short term agricultural credit needs.

The branch manager serving Clinton County is Bernard E. Miller in St. Johns.

Early warning system for streams coming scientists indicate

An early warning system to prevent deterioration of Michigan streams and rivers could soon be on the way.

Michigan State University scientists are studying the biological changes that indicate a decline in the water quality of the Red Cedar, Jordan and Au Sable rivers. These biological changes, if identified, could provide water experts with the early warning system needed to head off serious degradation.

"In each case, we intend to look at the total composition of the aquatic community," noted Niles Kevern, chairman of MSU's Department of Fisheries and Wildlife.

"The number of species present is very important because those organisms less tolerant of deterioration start to disappear as such as water quality diminishes," he said.

Funded by the U.S. Department of Interior's Office of Water Resources Research, the project is a cooperative effort between the MSU Department of Fisheries and Wildlife and Institute of Water Research.

The MSU researchers will also investigate the effects of degraded water on the reproductive potential of selected fish species.

This will be difficult to measure, however, since several years' data are needed on such items as age of populations and number of new fish spawned each season.

Human population influences on each of the streams will be recorded, from the headwaters of the Jordan River, which has no resident population, to the Au Sable, which has small towns and cottages, to the Red Cedar, which has a sizable urban development along its banks.

Nutrient loads, pesticide levels, amount of heavy metals in the streams, and property values, will also be considered.

"We're going to try to evaluate, economically, the value of water quality," Kevern said.

We want to find out how much people pay for the use of waters suitable for canoeing, fishing, camping and other recreational purposes.

"The information we compile can be applied to upgrade water quality standards anywhere in the nation. At present, the standards established by the various states can only be set at levels where evidence indicates damage to the environment. More research could result in upgrading or modifying these standards," he said.

According to Kevern, the study now in progress will last another two or three years.

Dairy cattle fertility increased by enzyme

Dairy cattle fertility has been significantly increased by an enzyme added to bull semen.

And this enzyme could be worth millions of dollars a year to dairymen.

Dr. Harold Hafs and Dr. Louis Boyd, Michigan State University dairy scientists, report that the increase was achieved by using an enzyme, beta-glucuronidase, to capacitate (activate) sperm before insemination. The effectiveness of the enzyme had been demonstrated in preliminary trials conducted nearly a year ago.

In the recent MSU test, 3,401 cows that were not inseminated with treated semen averaged 72 per cent nonreturn on first service.

But 1,734 cows inseminated with enzyme-treated semen averaged 77.9 per cent first service breeding.

These inseminations were made with semen frozen in ampoules, but future studies will be made with semen frozen in straws (straw-shaped containers). The latter method is becoming more commonly used because the semen is more concentrated in the straw.

Further studies will be run before the enzyme semen treatment will become a common practice, Hafs said.

Hafs said that one percentage point improvement in the fertility of dairy cows is worth $95,000 to Michigan dairymen alone, and would have a much greater impact on the U.S. dairy industry. He figures a lost heat period—21 days of delayed time to pregnancy—costs the dairyman about a dollar per day in lost milk production.

The enzyme-treated semen works better because the sperm are active and ready to fertilize the egg as soon as it is ovulated.

Without treatment, enzymes in the uterus require six to 10 hours to activate sperm. And if the sperm is not ready to fertilize the egg when the egg is ready, conception will not take place.

"We have no hesitancy about recommending using the enzyme with frozen semen in ampoules, Hafs said.

"Adding the enzyme to the semen will be the responsibility of AI (artificial insemination) studs. Dairymen won't have to worry about it. But enzyme-treated semen will not be made available to Michigan dairymen through AI studs until we conduct further research."

Hafs said best results come when enzyme-treated semen is stored in liquid nitrogen four to six months. But the benefit (increased fertility) seems to be lost after six months.

And Hafs and Boyd want to test other levels of the enzyme. The 77.9 per cent first service breeding was achieved only with the highest level they tested, so more of the enzyme in the semen might be even more beneficial.

They will also want to try the enzyme, beta-glucuronidase in combination with another enzyme, amylase. Amylase increased fertility two to four per cent in earlier trials, so the MSU scientists would like to see if there's any cumulative effect.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

by GARY A. KLEINHENN
MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

If everyone had a flyswatter, do you think the bug problem would fly away?

Doubtful, say some, as the swat part of the stemmed swatter is made of a flat surface for the smash, plus little holes to reduce wind resistance for a quick kill. That's fine, but it doesn't work for the pin point sized bugs which nearly always escape the blow via the holes.

Don't mistake us for destroying bugs for the sport. Farmers have no choice. What do you do when the other guy throws the first punch? And then another and another?

Give a bug an inch and he'll take a yard. If the bugs would, however, mind some other business than food, there would be no problem. But frankly, agriculture is backed up against the wall and is committed to the public to do something about it.

The problem involves all of us. Motivation to support a cure by the public can begin when getting a bug caught between the teeth when eating. The hard shelled ones cause the most discomfort.

The soft ones, you never know anyway. And the other havoc bugs create... food doesn't look good, taste so good, and production isn't as good, besides bugs carry disease.

One expert said when some types of bugs begin to feed off the leaf of a plant, it's instantaneous... the whole plant is infected.

"Mint disease" (peaceful coexistence) is a good example. The party of free Europe you can re-toss the bugs from the tossed salads. Maybe it's the reason cole slaw isn't popular there.

Alternatives? Folks talk about organic farming, but have low production and buggy results. Perhaps it would promise more success if all of us could go back to the land.

But is there room enough? Our land is being used up so quickly. Ottawa County Farm Bureau of the Lake Michigan Shoreline and Grand Rapids area, reported a Mrs. Wilma Cook and Marie Cook were visitors of Mrs. Nellie Fox at the Motz Nursing Home in Fowler Sunday. They also visited Aurelia Cook at the Clinton Memorial Hospital in St. Johns.

California FB head to address farmers

Allan Grant, president of the California Farm Bureau since 1963, will be the featured speaker at the Farm Management Banquet, Thursday, March 25, at Michigan State University's Kellogg Center.

The banquet, which begins at 5:50 p.m., is open to the public. Tickets are $4.25 each.

According to John Doneth, MSU agricultural economist and banquet chairman, Grant has wide experience with situations and agricultural problems similar to those found in Michigan.

"It has been said," Doneth noted, "that if you want to know what Michigan agriculture will be like tomorrow visit California and observe what is happening there today."

Other program highlights include the presentation of awards to Michigan's outstanding farm managers.

Dinner music will be provided by Robert L. Sargeant, featured organist of the daily Martha Dixon television show. The McElheron Octette, billed as today's version of the Trapp family, will also entertain.

Grant will participate in a Thursday afternoon discussion of key issues in agriculture today. The question and answer session, slated for 3 to 4:30 p.m. in the Kellogg Center auditorium, is expected to cover utilization of farm workers, collective bargaining in agriculture, property taxes and production without pollution.

Persons with questions for Mr. Grant are encouraged to bring them to the meeting or send them to John Doneth, 27 Agriculture Hall, Michigan State University, East Lansing, 48823.

Requests for banquet tickets also should be mailed to this address. Make checks payable to Michigan State University and enclose a self-addressed envelope with your order, or pick up the tickets in Room 27 no later than Thursday noon, March 25.

Farmers week visitors to see rec vehicles

Advice on selecting a recreation vehicle, then choosing a place to go in it, will be offered Tuesday, March 23, at Michigan State University.

The half-day session is just one of many educational programs open to the public during the 56th annual Farmers' Week to be held Monday through Friday, March 22-26.

The session on recreation vehicles begins at 1:15 p.m. with a "where did you go, what did you do" discussion of camping by a panel of Michigan families. Panel moderator will be Paul Rish of the MSU Department of Park and Recreation Resources.

Eugene Dice, also of parks and recreation, will discuss places to visit in a travel vehicle. Vehicle selection is the topic of a talk by Carlton Edwards of MSU's Department of Agricultural Engineering.

The program will be complemented by an exhibit of factory-built housing and travel vehicles in the parking lot across the street from the Agricultural Engineering Building.

One exhibit will be folding campers, pickup camper bodies, travel trailers, van conversions and motor homes. One to four bedroom factory-built housing with 600 to 1,200 square feet of floor space will be open for inspection.

A display of equipment and accessories for vacation travel vehicles will be located in Room 113, Agricultural Engineering Building.

Exhibit hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, March 23 through March 25.

A poor base

The denial of reality—which we long have felt is inherent in some political circles—reared its ugly head again recently when Lt. Gov. James Brickley voted to give Republicans the majority in the state senate.

The Lt. Gov.'s move prompted opposition party member to express fears for loss of bi-partisan cooperation in the senate but we find it difficult that they should expect some other action. The state senate is evenly split—19 seats each—and it seems strange that after none of the Democrats voted for Republican leadership they should expect Brickley—a Republican—to support their cause.

The attitude—if for real—merely typifies one which is prevalent throughout our society today. We are constantly alert to the shortcomings of others yet frightfully unalert to our own greediness. We expect from others that which we don't care to give ourselves.

We become irate when a service or business is closed on weekends, yet there is little desire among us to work those hours. There is constant complaining about rising prices and equally persistent demands for ever increasing salary scales. A growing public concern for individual rights is not always commensurate with a willingness to accept responsibility, and a sincere sense of fairness is often ignored for the sake of expediency.

The Democrats, in making a big stir over a most predictable move by the Lt. Gov., merely displayed an equally predictable response. It is unfortunate, however, that such a politically inspired move can be equated to a general attitude that is based not on politics but on greed, which is not the most noble of motivations.

Silly laws

Before the over-30 generation complains about teen-agers who won't work they should listen to these kids who have tried to find jobs. It's not easy, even in the best of times, for a youth under 18 to get work. The major cause is a lot of outdated laws and regulations.

Except for small farms and a very few businesses which are exempt, you can't employ anyone under 18 without a Labor Dept. permit.

A permit is available only if the youth is not operating or near any machine more dangerous than a typewriter. There are other regulations about toilet facilities, hours of work, the pounds he may lift, and dangerous material he may handle. An inspection is made before the permit is given.

Most employers would rather not hire a youth than bother with this permit. There's always the chance of costly trouble when an inspector visits. It takes time and paperwork and there's the responsibility of seeing that the youth does only permissible work.

Sometimes, small employers hire kids without a permit, but it's risky and usually they don't chance it when the youngster is outside the family.

These were the so-called child labor laws, adopted early in the century to get the 14-year-olds out of the 12-hour-a-day factories.

In 1971, these laws are silly. We let a youth drive a car, the most dangerous piece of equipment in the world, when he's 16. We let him join the army when he's 17. We let him operate a motorboat when he's 12. But he has to be 18 to run a sewing machine or pick up a 50-pound bundle.

Our officials acknowledge that drugs are peddled and used openly in college dormitories, and increasingly in our high schools. They say they can do nothing about it. But before a youth can work in a store, they insist on inspecting the toilet to make sure it is properly ventilated.

DeWitt township wants White Motors, two St. Johns banks merge, snow crews busy in storm

ONE YEAR AGO Feb. 11, 1970

Creation of a federal department for environmental protection, death of ACP and greater involvement of youth concerned with the quality of living were among several events predicted for the 1970's by state conservationist Arthur H. Cratty, Saturday at the annual meeting of the Clinton Soil Conservation District.

The DeWitt Township Board Monday passed a resolution endorsing and encouraging the construction of the White Motor Corp. plant in the Township and offered cooperation and the facilities of the township.

A survey of student attitudes and feelings regarding the wearing of slacks, levis, shorts and beards and mustaches among other things were presented to the St. Johns Board of Education this week.

DeWitt school superintendent, James Ritchie stated that "I'm the only man in Clinton who's offering his constituents less taxes. Next year the school system is going to ask for less money."

Dr. James Grost sought suggestions from his fellow St. Johns city commissioners Monday night in support of his proposal to encourage greater use of low-phosphate content detergents by St. Johns area housewives.

Fowler Eagles leave no doubt, they are number one. They won their 13th straight win by defeating Portland's St. Pat 67-61.

Redwings' intimidated two more West Central foes. The Wings won over Grand Ledge 80-51 and Ionia 81-71.

TEN YEARS AGO Feb. 9, 1961

Stockholders of the State Bank of St. Johns and the St. Johns National Bank voted overwhelmingly in favor of a joint proposal by their boards of directors to consolidate the two long-established financial institutions.

St. Johns city commission heard plans for a new 77-lot subdivision in the southeastern section of the city which is being promoted by the Midway Realty Co. of Lansing on property owned by the St. Johns Development Co.

Dougs plague supervisors. The county dog warden was criticized by the board for lack of attention to calls about dogs running at large in south county townships.

Four Clinton area farmers were honored last week at the Farm Management Banquet at MSU. Honored were Mr. and Mrs. Russel Ormsby of St. Johns, Andrew Cobb of Elsie, H.B. Farley of Dallas and Gerald Starling of Watertown.

Clinton County Boy Scouts converged on St. Johns Monday for their annual Boy Scouts in Government Day.

Three St. Johns boxers win Golden Gloves at Lansing. Mark Feldpausch won in the novice bantamweight division, Doug Brya also won in the novice bantamweight class, and Pat Pohl won in the lightweight open class. Don "Tank" Martin, former St. Johns high school football star signed an $8,000 contract with the Washington Redskins.

Redwings fall victim to clock and foul shots to Eaton Rapids 56-55. Due to a memory lapse of the time keeper, the clock ran 20 seconds over when it wasn't supposed to be running. The Wings didn't have a chance to shoot again and lost the game by one point.

25 YEARS AGO Feb. 14, 1946

BLYTHE, Calif., PALO VERDE VALLEY TIMES: "Preservation of our environment is a very serious matter with most conscientious citizens, but its espousal by those seeking causes for which to demonstrate can have ironic and costly kickbacks. When the activists centered on Washington for the 'Earth Day' demonstration, much was preached about stopping pollution, cleaning up the world we live in. Shortly after, in protest to the Cambodian action, many of the same demonstrators were back, mixing anti-American obscenities with more pious commands to 'remember Mother Earth'... Officials estimate the total cost of de-polluting the antipollution demonstration may come to $200,000. As one Congressman put it: 'When the party is over, it is Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer who get taken to the cleaners.'"

Snowplow crews work 27 straight hours to keep trunklines open in Clinton County. Residents were busy digging out of the winter's heaviest snowfall, 12 inches on the level.

The Wire Assemblies Corporation, a newly organized manufacturing company, planned to build a plant in Bingham township, just east of St. Johns. The company indicated that they will employ 300 to 500 people. The company will make electrical wire harnesses for the automotive trade.

Threat of gray bread brings run on flour at grocery stores. President Truman ordered more wheat to be sent over seas, thereby cutting down on white flour consumption in the United States.

Constance Gladstone of St. Johns was the first woman to apply for membership in the St. Johns American Legion Post. St. Johns Redwings holding on to the bottom step of the basketball league with 0-6 standing. Bath defeated by vocational school. They suffered first defeat after 10 consecutive victories in game at Lansing.

Liberation?

By WARREN E. DOBSON

How about this liberation That's been rumored here about? Is it just a silly notion That I haven't yet found out? Who is it that's so down-trodden? Just when will the case, be tried? I should really have the details, That have so long been denied!

Are they fightin' in the feature Or is it just a "pre-elim"? Is it worthy of real head-lines? Or should we best to keep it dim? I'm all ears for gory details, Are there any leads to spare? Why must I be merely guesstin', Is the steak well done or rare?

Who do they want liberated? Who or whom do we cut loose? Is the gander most in peril, Or is the squawk all from the goose? Will some reader kindly answer? Give me just a little break? Here I am all poised n' ready, Knowin' not which side to take.

'IF IT FITZ . . .'

Love story

By JIM FITZGERALD

Some day when I weary of being an editor and a smartie columnist, I will retire to a big-city penthouse from where I shall drop upon an admiring world the most erudite critiques of movies, plays and books ever written, each one containing multitudes of sentences even longer than this, God help us all.

By way of practice, the subject for today will be Love Story, the soggy movie that became a soggy novel, thus proving that Kleenex can float upstream. Usually, the book comes before the movie. But Erich Segal, the Harvard professor, who wrote both, reversed the procedure for reasons you can hear him explain on the Johnny Carson show most any night.

Not to be outdone, I saw Love Story before I read it. The most surprising thing was to discover it took longer to watch the movie than it did to read the book. I finished the book in an hour. And I don't think it took Segal much longer than that to write it.

That's right, I think it's a lousy book. The movie was entertaining enough, because it featured some attractive people. But the book reads as if it were written by a high school sophomore on the back of his lunchbag as he rode to school on the bus. Yes, I know Love Story had led the best seller list for months and countless TV personalities have praised it and Segal is making enough money to buy Harvard and move it to Hollywood.

But it's still a "banal book" to quote from the prestigious National Book Committee which refused to consider Love Story for this year's fiction award no matter how many book sellers nominated it. This was an admirable action for which I send 3 hoorays to the committee members although they may hesitate to accept congratulations from a guy who always thought Saul Bellow was a glassblower's tool.

Love Story, in case you've been hiding out in a museum, is the tale of a rich young man who gives up the family fortune for the love of a beautiful but Italian girl who swears a lot and dies soon after the wedding. The movie and the book are exactly alike except for the ending.

As the book closes, the hero forgives his father for being Establishment and they weep in each other's arms. But in the last scene of the movie, the hero rejects his father and goes off to sit in the snow without his coat.

It's easy to explain why the movie is rougher on Old Dad. It is currently fashionable for film heroes to put down their elders. If Wallace Beery were alive today, Jackie Coogan would split in his eye. The idea is to make the young people happy because they buy most of the movie tickets. Old people don't have time for movies because they're too busy counting their money and violating the civil rights of their children.

Anyway, the theme of Love Story is the same in book and movie: If you love someone you never have to tell them you're sorry, no matter what you did. Erich Segal is a bachelor.

TAKING FIVE

Long distance

By RON HUARD

The last I heard, the boys in Lansing were talking about installing telephones at the desks on the floor of the state house chambers. I don't think they ought to do that.

It's not that I dislike phones—which I do—but after seeing some of the postage bills run up by members of the legislature, I'm kinda thinking there's no telling what will happen if further means of communication are extended to them.

I'm no expert in these sorta games, but it just seems that anyone who can run up a 4-5 thousand dollar postage bill would be a prime candidate for the all-American phone user of the year award.

And this should make any taxpayer shudder with fright.

Use your own imagination, if you will, and add what you come up with to the recently published postage expenses. Then when you recover, consider all the time lost just writing and telephoning. Everybody's gotta be someplace and when you're writing or talking on the phone it's kinda hard to conduct business.

With writing materials plus a phone within fingertip reach all day long the possibilities are staggering. Obviously the important things would be given the phone treatment while these of lesser priority would be relegated to the mails.

There's the call home to tell wife to mail the forgotten pajama bottoms and navy socks. (Need the socks for a gathering tomorrow night—the bottoms are merely for comfort.)

A call to the lobbyist at Boyne Mountain assures him his party will be attended and to make plans for a pre-meeting meeting cuz some talk should be exchanged before the group gets together.

Then a chat with a colleague to arrange transportation to Boyne Mountain.

A letter to a constituent advises him sorry but will be out of Lansing when you're visiting the city—perhaps another time, just drop a line in advance—or call cuz we have phones at our desk now.

A call to the newspaper raising hell about being misquoted and assuring the editor damn right we're cutting expenses here in Lansing.

A letter to (interrupted by an abstention from a vote and a look around to see who was yeating and naying) another constituent saying yes your viewpoint has merit and every consideration will be given to it and please do write again—or call cuz we have phones at our desk now.

A call to sick colleague at his hotel room—no answer—must have already left for Boyne Mountain.

A call to campaign supporter for lunch next week accented by a smile over mouthpiece to group in gallery.

A note to secretary see you Monday.

Obviously there's one big savings behind the postage-phone communications combination. The guy doing the action doesn't have to lick all those stamps but with the phone company's push for direct dialing he may end up with a tired finger.

Or a cauliflower ear.

From the State House

Wide open

By REP. DICK ALLEN

"Open wide now... there, hold it like that!" The House of Representatives has its mouth wide open and the public is looking in. The general reaction is that our group didn't have fewer cavities!

We're talking about recent reaction to the news release that members of the House of Representatives and their families will be covered by Dental Care Insurance as a fringe benefit provided by the taxpayers.

I have been flooded with calls and letters by people wanting to know the answers generally to two questions. "Do you think this is an appropriate and necessary use of scarce public dollars?" they ask. The answer is easy. "No!"

"How did you vote?" The answer is difficult, almost embarrassing. And it gives a good view of internal legislative operation.

My first reaction is to say I did not vote, the issue was decided by the Democratic leadership and was not put to a vote.

Does this mean that a few men, elected to positions by fellow legislators rather than the public have free control of public funds? Actually within some general limits, yes.

An appropriation bill establishes the total amount to be spent by the House of Representatives. The expenditure of these funds is under control of the House in theory, but in practice the party that controls the House controls the expenditures by authorizing the Speaker and the Clerk to approve expenditures.

The "vote" to give general authority in various areas, such as health care, was a voice vote not a recorded vote. The truth is, I couldn't even remember when it went through.

A check in the journal showed I was present and voting during that session, but the resolution was one among many that the Speaker simply declared passed without a recorded vote.

Is all this improper management? Perhaps not. I think it is necessary that the responsibility for management of House operations be left up to the majority party with the credit or blame falling on their shoulders. Certainly it can't be left to each and every member.

The Democrats control the House and the Democrats generally support such things as medical fringe benefits and high postage allowances. The operation was much lighter previously with Republicans in control and is much lighter in the Senate where they currently are in control.

Some wags have accused Republican politicians of purposely losing the elections every few years so that Democrats would take over and improve fringe benefits and working conditions.

I don't believe this is true but as I see both Republicans and the press blaming the "Legislature" instead of the Democratic House leadership, I wonder.

Letters to the Editor

Repeal school attendance law

Dear Editor: Once again our schools are in financial trouble which may mean higher taxes. I wonder if it wouldn't be wise to look inside the school to see if we can't find a way to cut expenses?

The first thing that comes to mind is the problem of the non-student. He can't be educated. Hundreds of experiments have been tried and failed; millions of dollars wasted prove it can't be done. Wouldn't it be more sensible to repeal the compulsory school attendance law and allow him to drop out? Why should the taxpayer want to squander four to six hundred dollars per year on him when he gets no benefit from it? The saving would be enormous. Everyone concerned would benefit.

This is only a beginning, but why go on? What I am trying to say to the taxpayer is that we can have good schools for less than half the cost of our present archaic system. You are supporting an educational system that is as out-of-date as the horse and buggy. And it will never be changed unless the taxpayer insists upon it.

Sincerely, FLOYD V. TAYLOR Route 1, Elsie, Michigan

Why?

By REV. HUGH BANNINGA

My article today is based on Chapter one and verses 1-4 of chapter two of the Old Testament book of the prophet Habakkuk.

In these verses Habakkuk is crying out in desperation, He is asking God, "Why are you letting evil run rampant? Why are you letting violence and destruction go unchecked?"

Why do you let the wicked people get the best of the good people? Why do you let me cry out and then give me no answer? Why, God, why?"

This phrase "Why, God, why?" is nothing new. Men and women through the ages have complained to God about the suffering of the innocent and the prosperity of the wicked. Even our Lord asked the question from the Cross when he shouted, "My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?"

We ask God the same question today. Why is there so much violence and destruction? Why does justice for many people go perverted? Why are there slums and poverty? Why is there rioting? Why is there unemployment? Why do we always have to be fighting a war?

Why do the wicked prosper? An easy answer would be, "because of sin in human life." But we are not satisfied with this kind of an answer. The thing that really bothers us is the fact that the "evilness" of evil seems to be more powerful than the "goodness" of good.

There seems to be a super-evilness connected with evil that is missing with good.

I think the real reason that the wicked prosper is the fact that the righteous people are too often weak, indecisive and uncertain. They can't make up their minds and define their terms.

Now Habakkuk complained to God and this is what God's response was to him. God said, "Look among the nations and see, because I am going to do something that you won't believe possible. I am going to raise up the Chaldeans, that bitter and hasty nation, and use them against you as punishment for your sins."

The Chaldeans were a powerful nation at that time, and they were bent on overrunning Israel anyway for their own selfish reasons. But God saw this as an opportunity to teach his chosen people a lesson.

Well, Habakkuk wasn't too happy with this response of God's. He said in reply, "O God, please say we will not die. I know you have ordained the Chaldeans as a judgment against us—as a chastisement."

But for the life of me, I cannot understand why. Why do you continue to remain silent when the wicked swallows up the man more righteous than he? Are you going to let the Chaldeans keep on mercilessly slaying nations forever? I mean, putting the Chaldeans upon us is a little unfair! They're really nasty people! We don't deserve that kind of punishment!"

Habakkuk stops talking for a moment and thinks to himself—"Well, I've laid it on pretty heavy to God. Now I'll just wait and see what He'll say to me."

And God answers, "Yes, Habakkuk, that's just what you must do. You must wait. You must wait for me to intervene on your behalf. You are impatient, you cannot see that waiting will be good for you. But wait you must, and while you wait, think about these words: 'Behold, he whose soul is not upright in him shall fall, but the righteous shall live by his faith.'"

That was God's final answer to Habakkuk and it is still his final answer to you and me in the 20th century. In times of violence and rioting, in times when justice is perverted, when the wicked are prospering and the innocent are suffering, the only way a man can live today is by his faith in Almighty God.

If you and I do not build up and maintain our faith in God during these trying times in our nation and in the world, we will never live through it as God intended. If we are lacking in our faith, then we'll probably just add to the confusion and violence, and life will be hell for us. Dr. Carl Jung, the famous psychiatrist; once told a sick patient that he was suffering from a lack of faith in God. The man asked, "But, doctor, do you believe in God?" Jung replied, "I am, a doctor, not a priest. But I tell you this; if you recover your faith, you will get well. If you do not recover your faith, you won't get well."

God told Habakkuk that things weren't about to get better right away. He told Habakkuk that he would have to wait awhile. But He assured him that He would eventually intervene and see his divine purpose accomplished. However, in the meantime, Habakkuk and the Jews would have to keep their faith or they wouldn't survive the difficult times.

As God told Habakkuk, He tells us today the same thing, "For still the vision awaits its time; it hastens to the end—it will not lie. If it seems slow, wait for it; it will surely come, it will not delay. Behold, he whose soul is not upright in him shall fall, but the righteous shall live by his faith."

Time and age: issues again

By DOUGLAS TREZISE
State Rep.

Two subjects which occupied a lot of news space in recent years will be back on the front page during this session of the Michigan Legislature. I refer to Daylight Savings Time and the reduction of the voting age in Michigan to 18 years.

The subject of the 18 year-old vote is back with us less than three months after being soundly defeated in the November General Election. As you know, last year the United States Congress passed a law giving the 18 year-old the right to vote.

A Supreme Court decision modified that legislation by saying, in effect, "the Congress can decide who is eligible to vote in NATIONAL elections but the states retain the right to set qualifications of voters for STATE and LOCAL elections."

As a result, we face the prospect in Michigan of having to maintain two sets of voting records and increase our costs for election workers and machines since it will be necessary to separate those voters who are eligible to vote for President, U.S. Senator and U.S. Congressman from those eligible to cast ballots for Governor, State Senator, State Representative, County and City officials in addition to the national positions.

This record keeping and additional expense will place a great financial burden on our local units of government.

Frankly, I have favored granting the 18 year-old vote in the past two elections on the subject. I feel these young people are generally better informed than we were at that age and are ready to accept the responsibility of citizenship.

But, I am apparently out of step with a majority of people in Shiawassee and Clinton Counties. In 1968 these counties rejected the proposal by a 6-5 margin while in 1970 the vote was even more decisive.

Now, with the changes resulting from the Federal action, I have heard from a lot of people who are prepared to change their minds and vote for the proposal. This is particularly true of local clerks and other officials who will be responsible for conducting elections on the new confusing and costly basis. Very soon, a resolution will be introduced into the House of Representatives calling for another referendum on this subject at the earliest possible date.

I intend to support this resolution; but, if the question falls

Six goals start 'new revolution'

By GARRY BROWN
Congressman

President Nixon asked Congress to open the way for a "new American Revolution" in his State of the Union address last week—a revolution which includes a broad federal-state-local revenue sharing plan and a sweeping reorganization of Federal government.

The President outlined six goals for the 92nd Congress and asked that the Executive and Legislative branches of the government work together to put the power back in the hands of the people.

The proposed revenue sharing plan will allocate $16 billion—$5 billion in new funds for state and local governments, and $11 billion of current grants with fewer strings attached.

In this way President Nixon hopes the Congress will be able to rescue state and local governments which are caught between the alternatives of bankruptcy or overwhelming tax burdens for its citizens.

The President recommended that the federal monies be used in six major state-local areas: urban development, rural development, education, transportation, job training and law enforcement. He made it clear, however, that the final decision will be up to the individual states and local communities.

The plan will eliminate many grant programs that have been carried over without re-examination since the New Deal days, and earmarking federal money at the state and local level rather than in Washington will place decision making nearest the people's plane of influence.

The President's plan for reform of the Federal government seeks to break down the unreachable "marble tower" image of Washington and make the leaders more accessible to the people they represent.

President Nixon proposed reorganizing the Executive branch along functional lines, as contrasted with the special interest design of the present Cabinet. The plan reduces the number of Cabinet positions from 12 to eight.

The Departments of State, the Treasury, Defense and Justice are to remain, and the other eight would be dismantled and combined in four new Departments:

—A Department of Human Resources to focus on human needs,

—A Department of Community Development to deal with rural and urban communities, the citizen's problems and their goals,

—A Department of Natural Resources to concentrate on preservation and balanced use of our physical environment,

—A Department of Economic Development to handle the problems of our complex economy including jobs, businesses and career opportunities.

Other proposals in the State of the Union address included reforming the federal welfare program, operating under a full employment budget, aiding restoration of the natural environment and improving health care throughout the country.

Welfare reform was stressed by the President as an important goal which cannot be enacted by pouring more money into an outdated, ineffective program. Instead he proposed a new plan which will place an economic floor under each poor family with children, and will distinguish helping those who want to help themselves from giving blindly to those who don't want or are unwilling to seek economic independence.

To cut the current unemployment situation in the nation, the President asked Congress to adopt his full employment budget which will stimulate the economy and thus bring about more available jobs.

Operating at a full employment budget calls for an expenditure of funds at the level of income which the government would receive if the economy were operating at a unemployment rate of three per cent. At this time, the rate is approximately six per cent.

The President promised to submit a number of proposals during the 92nd Congress which will aim at restoring and enhancing America's natural environment. Congress will be studying plans to clean up the air, land, water, to combat noise and other forms of pollution and to expand the program for maintaining national parks and other areas of open land for public use.

Finally, President Nixon projected a set of proposals for improving and making available health care to all Americans.

Included among his plans are a program to insure that all fam-

Tourism

By SEN. WILLIAM S. BALLENGER

Tourism is Michigan's second largest industry—second only to manufacturing.

Last year, Michigan visitors poured an estimated $1.365 billion into the state's economy and produced about $95 million in tax revenue.

All this was accomplished on a $1.1 billion budget for the Michigan State Tourist Council.

This tourist income, incidentally, represented an increase of about 5 per cent over last year—not as big an increase as had been hoped for but respectable enough in the light of the nation's shaky economy and the 67-day General Motors strike.

But happy though the state was at having an increase, tourist council officials know that Michigan must not be allowed to lag behind other states because competition for the tourist dollar is extremely keen—and getting even tougher, year by year.

Actual figures are hard to come by because each state uses its own criteria but many other states—notably Florida, New York, Kentucky, Washington, and Virginia—spend more than Michigan does on tourist advertising programs.

According to latest figures available, for instance, Florida spends about seven times as much as Michigan in luring tourists to its sunshine.

Actually, however, Michigan's greatest competition does not come from these states. In fact, it does not even come from within the United States.

The Canadian province of Ontario—our neighbor to the south, east and north—provides the stiffest competition and it spends twice as much on tourist promotion as Michigan does.

In one year alone, Ontario spent $800,000 just for television advertising in the Great Lakes states. That is almost equal to Michigan's total budget.

Although blessed by the Great Lakes, which attract thousands of visitors every year, Michigan has found that its location nestled among those lakes can be a detriment, too.

Michigan is known in the tourist trade as a "destination state". In other words, Michigan is not on the way to anywhere from the traveling family's standpoint. Michigan doesn't attract many tourists by accident—people who see something they like on their way through and stop.

Michigan must convince potential customers they should spend most of their two or three-week vacation right here.

We have plenty of attractions—lakes, rivers, streams, sand dunes, forests, Mackinac straits bridge, Mackinac Island, Soo Locks, Tahquamenon Falls, Hartwick Pines, Porcupine Mountains, Lake of the Clouds, ski hills, Irish Hills, Holland tulips, Frankenmuth chicken, automobile plants, the whole works.

But other states and provinces have plenty to offer, too, and that is why Michigan is having to put the pressure on if it doesn't want to see all those nice tourist dollars go floating by default.

Where does the tourist dollar—most of it clear profit—go? The largest share—28 cents—goes to restaurants, grocery stores and drive-ins for food.

Then comes 22 cents for lodging; 20 cents for other retail purchases; and 8 cents for entertainment.

Providing suitable accommodations for tourists these days is an expensive proposition.

The cost of modern motels is about $12,000 per room, with some running as high as $20,000. Gone are the days when a tourist was willing to drop his head almost anywhere. More likely these days, he wants luxury accommodations, heated swimming pools and all the trimmings.

It is estimated that Michigan now has more than one billion dollars invested in the tourist industry facilities.

It employs an estimated 155,000 persons.

Last year from 14 million to 18 million persons took some sort of recreation trip in Michigan.

Right now, lights are burning late at the Tourist Council office as plans are being made to increase Michigan's tourist take to $1.5 billion by 1973 and to $3 billion by the end of the 1970s.

Any little thing you can do to help sell Michigan will be deeply appreciated.

Illies will have access to medical attention regardless of their financial situation, to increase doctors and other medical personnel through expanded aid to medical schools and other training centers, to improve health services in underprivileged areas and to step-up research in preventive medicine—including a pledge of $100 million to fund a campaign to find a cure for cancer.

The State of the Union message provides an outline of the President's goals for the 92nd Congress. He has solicited the help of the lawmakers in acting on what he feels are the major issues facing America today—and he asks legislators to cooperate with him in returning the power of government to the people.

Many Capitol Hill prophets are skeptical that a Democratic-dominated Congress will pass any but the most superficial details of each of President Nixon's proposals. That remains to be seen.

But the call has gone forth for Congress to join the President in starting a peaceful revolution which will fulfill one of the basic tenets of our democratic system of government—that of power vested by the people in leaders they know are responsible and responsive to them.

Proper processing of film can have a great effect on your pictures.

Many people have been taken in by so called "discount processing" companies. The usual operation is for the company to offer free film or extra pictures. The truth is that you pay for this "free" merchandise, either in quality of the pictures or actual money.

The safest bet is to go to your neighborhood retail store that handles photofinishing. A majority of these stores have your film processed by local photofinishing plants or by Eastman Kodak Company.

If you are not satisfied with your results, generally they will send the prints back to be redone.

Something that is almost impossible with discount operations. Many problems are not caused by the photofinisher. Film that has been overheated, is scratched or outdated can't be improved by the finisher.

When a negative or slide is to be enlarged, any imperfection or distortion will be magnified accordingly.

Photofinishers offer a variety of services, you can have prints made from slides, slides made from negatives, billfold pictures from enlargements, pictures from movie film, movies duplicated to name a few services.

If you take Polaroid pictures, Polaroid offers excellent services. You can have black and white or color prints made into enlargements. They do a custom enlarging job where they center crop and frame your print all for a reasonable price.

J.V. from DeWitt asks, "I have a print that is over 50 years old, can I have another print made? Yes, the processing plant will make a negative from your print and print whatever size picture you want for less than two dollars.
