Little league benefit tickets on sale

Tickets are on sale for the annual Little League Benefit Dance sponsored by St. Johns Jaycees. This year's prize will be a General Electric color television set.

The Little League player who sells the most tickets will win a bicycle and the five runners-up will receive baseball gloves.

Dave Humenik, chairman, said the proceeds will help finance dugouts and lighting fixtures for the field.

According to Humenik, "the standing policy of the Jaycees is that no boy is ever turned away. Last year 240 boys played on 16 teams, 12 on the little league and four on the pony league. If more boys join, then we add more teams."

The prizes will be on display at Dean's Hardware, Clinton Avenue.

Tickets for the dance, May 1 in St. Joseph's gymnasium can also be purchased from Glaspie Drug, Dean's Hardware or any Jaycee.

LITTLE LEAGUE PRIZES

Jeff Rademacher, last year's bicycle winner in the annual Little League Benefit ticket contest is being shown this year's prizes by Barry Dean and David Humenik. Jeff is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rademacher, St. Johns.

Education meeting Wednesday night. He said it would cut school costs by $10,000 to $12,000 a year.

The program, which currently involves 40 aides and approximately $60,000 a year, was originally designed to reduce costs by employing aides instead of additional higher-salaried teachers. The aides are used primarily in the new elementary school feeding program.

A study on the feasibility of eliminating the teacher's aides was requested by board members for consideration before possible action for the next school year.

The possibility of purchasing a transformer from Consumers Power Company was also discussed at the board meeting. The transformer, which would cost $7,600, would entitle the school to a lower rate on electricity.

The initial cost of the transformer would be realized within four years according to Lancaster because the lower rate on electricity would save the school $2,000 a year.

Further investigation of the transformer, now being used in Alma, will be conducted before final consideration by the board.

In other action, the school board:

—Approved a revision in its dress code. The new code allows all students to wear denim slacks and levis to school.

This change was requested by members of the student council who pointed out the increased popularity of denim materials since the restriction of them was made in the old code.

In final action, board members appointed Fred Meyer as representative to the Intermediate Board budget hearing to be held later this month.

Geller charged in kidnapping daughter of St. Johns merchant

A St. Johns youth, charged with kidnapping the daughter of a St. Johns druggist in Ingham County last week, will face arraignment in Clinton County for carrying concealed weapon.

Ronald Geller, 19, N. Prospect Street, St. Johns, is currently being held in lieu of posting $5,000 bond at Ingham County Jail after allegedly kidnapping Marcia Parr, 207 W. Cass, St. Johns.

She is the daughter of Raymond Parr, owner of Parr's Drug Store, and currently president of the St. Johns Board of Education.

Geller waived examination Wednesday when he was arraigned on the concealed weapons charge in Clinton County District court and was ordered held under $5,000 bond. He is scheduled to appear in Clinton's Circuit Court Feb. 22.

Miss Parr was kidnapped at gunpoint Tuesday night (Feb. 9) near Lansing Community College where she is a student. She was released unharmed in a remote area of Clinton County, about 10 miles northwest of St. Johns.

Her father had called police earlier that evening with a report that his daughter was late in arriving home and asked them to look for her auto. He furnished them with a complete description of the vehicle.

After her release, Miss Parr telephoned the Clinton County sheriff's department from a farmhouse. She said that her abductor had fled with her auto and about $13 from her purse.

A short time later, a deputy, apprehended Geller as he entered the city in the Parr auto.

According to reports, Geller allegedly told arresting officers he "was after gas and was going out of state."

Clinton boys inducted

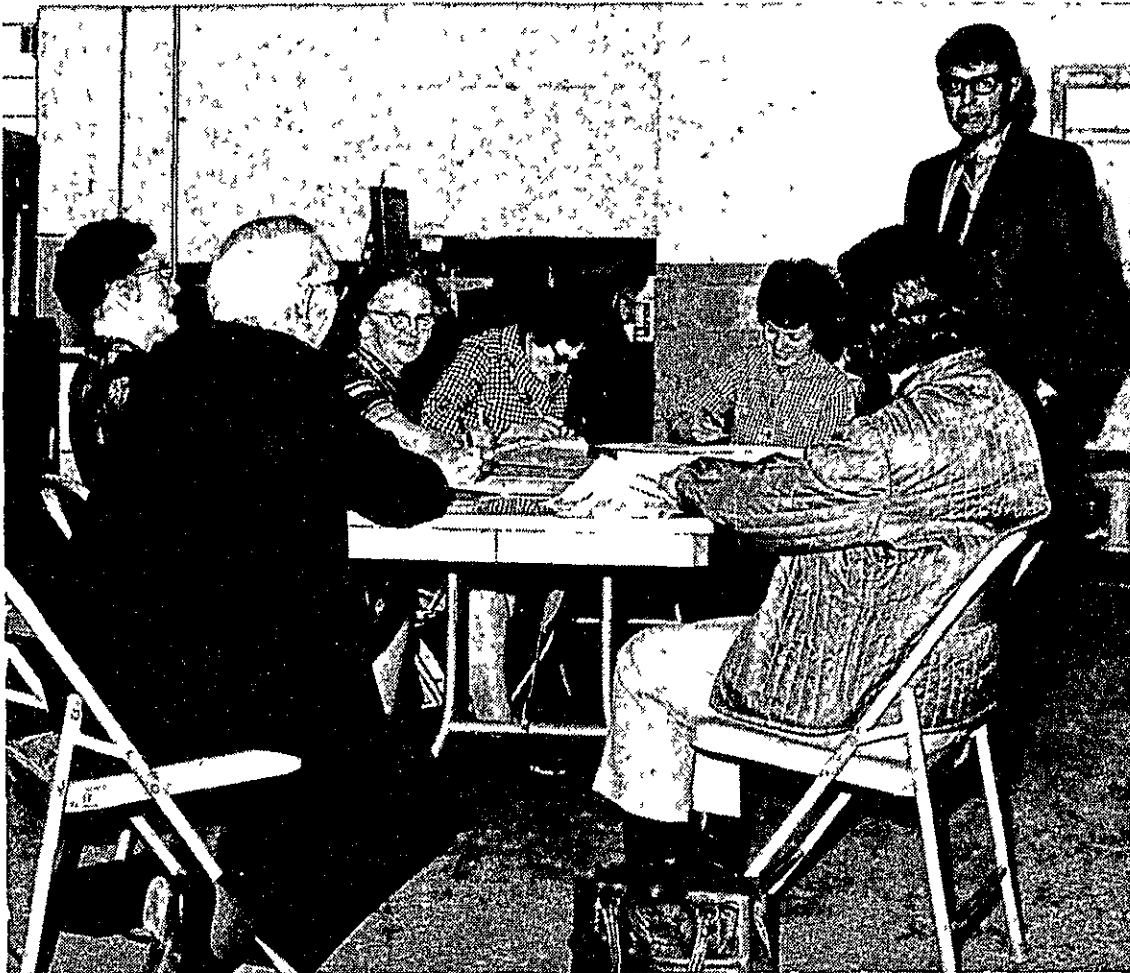

The Clinton County selective service board has announced a list of young men picked for induction in February.

They are Roy V. Spangler, Luke J. Koenigskecht, Michael J. Owen, Scott L. Matteson, Glenn A. Finch, Jeffery M. Geller, Lee T. Lyman and Leroy G. War.

Sen. Ballenger becomes consumer committee head

State Sen. William S. Ballenger (R-Ovid) will be on a political hotseat for at least the next two years as a result of action taken in the State Capitol Tuesday.

Ballenger was one of three freshmen Senators named to a committee chairmanship when the 38-member upper chamber was organized — and he'll be a member of two other controversial-plagued committees besides.

The 29-year-old lawmaker will assume the chairmanship of the newly-formed Senate Committee on Agriculture and Consumer Affairs and will also serve on the Senate committees on Education, and Taxation/Veterans Affairs.

WILLIAM BALLENGER

This will be the first year that the field of "consumer affairs" has been deemed significant enough to qualify for even part of a title of a Senate standing committee—a reflection of the rising tide of interest in consumerism inspired at least in part by the investigations of attorney Ralph Nader.

Until this year, "Agriculture" had always stood alone as a Senate committee. Now the committee will handle all legislation pertaining either to agriculture or consumer protection—or both.

IN ADDITION, Ballenger will find himself on two of the committees around which will swirl some of the most heated and emotional debate in coming months — education, through which Gov. William G. Milliken is expected to try to push much of his school reform plan, and taxation/veterans affairs, which will be charged with primary responsibility for bailing Michigan out of its financial doldrums.

"I don't think I could have been appointed to three committees more closely related to the concerns of my constituents in the 30th Senatorial District, and this is exactly what I wanted," commented Ballenger.

"The 30th Senatorial District is one of the best-known farm areas in the state.

In addition, most citizens in this area have expressed a strong desire for a reduction in property taxes, especially as they relate to the financing of K-12 education.

This the Legislature simply must accomplish in the coming session. I'm hopeful I'm now going to have an excellent shot at helping bring about long-overdue property tax relief," he added.

Canfield, Shinabery face Ovid presidential test in April election

Earl W. Canfield, Republican, will run against Democrat Robert M. Shinabery for Ovid village president in the April election according to primary vote figures released Monday night by Katherine Huss, Village Clerk.

A total of 259 votes were cast, 240 on the two voting machines, 19 absentee, two of which were rejected.

Canfield defeated Hugh N. Wadsworth on the Republican primary ballot 116-82. Shinabery ran unopposed.

Katherine Huss, present Village Clerk will run unopposed.

For village treasurer Vada L. Stedman, Republican will run unopposed for village assessor on the Republican ticket.

Running on the Republican side for the three two year trustee terms will be Hugh Byers 117 votes, James W. Clock 154 votes and Wells R. Monroe 165 votes. John D. Sinicropi was defeated with 83 votes. On the Democratic ticket will be Lawrence R. Marriage 34 votes.

Larry E. Martin, Republican will run unopposed to fill the trustee vacancy term for one year.

DeWitt planning commission issues year-end report

By PAT DROUIN
News Special Writer

Summarizing its actions and accomplishments for 1970, the DeWitt City Planning Commission presented its annual report to the City Council at the meeting Monday night in DeWitt.

Orla McGuire, chairman for the commission, summarized the report for the Council and also called to the attention of the members the proposed expansion of the Capital City Airport which could affect residents along DeWitt Road.

In his report, McGuire stated that the Master Plan and report for the city was nearing completion by Scott-Bagby and Associates. Problems in overland within the consultant's office plus problems in the central commercial district and projected school growth data and plans resulted in the delay.

Highlight points of the 14 meetings held by the commission were the plans to finalize the new City Zoning Ordinance as well as a new Land Subdivision and Utility Extension Ordinance.

The acceptance of a final plat plan for Millbrook Meadows Subdivision, rezoning matters and the recommendation to the city to appoint a special committee to develop and implement a community water system were also highlighted in the report.

Following his report, McGuire also noted the proposal by the Airport Authority to extend the runways of the airport east and west, which could affect residents along DeWitt Rd.

The expansion of the airport could affect the flow of traffic along this road, and possibly block it completely, as well as present a noise factor for residents in this area, he said.

Coupled with this expansion is the proposed extension of a super highway south of Clark Rd. to tie in with U.S. 27. If the airport would expand east and west interchange problems for the DeWitt area could arise, McGuire noted.

Such expansion for the airport, however, are still questionable, he said. "But it is of concern to DeWitt and DeWitt Township," McGuire said.

In other action, the Council approved:

—A proposed 1971 budget for the sewer plant, totaling $21,553. This is an increase of about 5 per cent over the approximate $20,560 of last year. Increase Continued on Page 2A

Derby committee plans clinic for boys Feb. 28

The Soap Box Derby committee has announced it will sponsor a clinic meeting Feb. 28 from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. at Rodney B. Wilson Junior High School for those boys interested in the racing event.

The free meeting will be open to the public, especially boys between the ages of 11 and 15 and their fathers.

Activities will include a short movie on the soap box derby, discussion of general information on the event, appearance by past winners and their cars and a film on the recent Michigan-Michigan State football game.

The 1970 Soap Box Derby film is being shown currently in area schools.

Instructional clinics have been scheduled for March 13 and April 3. Committee spokesmen indicated that further details on future clinics will be released later.

Westphalia starts park committee

Westphalia organized a parks and recreation committee in an open meeting held at Westphalia Hall early this month.

The committee appointed will study possibilities of securing monies for parks and recreation from the state.

The funds they are seeking are from the $100 million recreational bond money approved by voters in 1968. Municipalities have until April 1 to submit preliminary plans to the State Department of Natural Resources (DNR). Final plans must be filed with the DNR by July 1.

The money which is funded on $3.85 per capita basis will make about $140,000 available for Clinton County.

Gregg Thelen is chairman of the committee, members are Robert Fedewa, Walter Thelen, Duane Blatt, William Hanses Jr., and Ken Platte.

DNR report

Among those sought to take part in the study are members of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, the Michigan Botanical Club, the Michigan Forestry and Park Association, the Michigan Parks Association, the Michigan Natural Areas Council, the Mackinac Chapter of the Sierra Club, and the Society of American Foresters.

Representatives of the U.S. Forest Service and staff specialists from the University of Michigan, Michigan State University, Northern Michigan University, and Michigan Technological University have also been contacted by the DNR for participation in the study.

The "door is open," also, to individuals who would like to contribute their special talents to the project.

"We will lean on the particular expertise of these various individuals and organizations to inventory the natural resources of the Parkies, measure each one of these values, and then recommend to us how these features should be managed," explained Samuel A. Milstein, the DNR's Deputy Director of Recreation.

He went on to point out that each group will not study the same resources of the park. Instead, study teams will be encouraged to cover those values which come under their area of special interest and knowledge.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Good work, Mr. Waggoner

Dear Editor:

I would like to commend Wendell Waggoner for saying his point on girls wearing blue jeans in school. They got their way this time. What will they ask for next?

Apparently these girls do not have rules at home. If they do must be they do not have to follow them.

When my family left for school that morning they said the girls would be able to wear jeans to school because the school board would not have backbone to stand up to a few per cent of the student body. Why? Maybe we need a few more like Mr. Waggoner on the board that will try to keep some rules in our schools.

Keep up the good work Mr. Waggoner.

Brown introduces revenue sharing plan to house

Third District Congressman Garry Brown announced Feb. 10 he has introduced President Nixon's proposed revenue sharing plan in the House of Representatives.

Under the plan, a percentage of the annual federal income tax receipts would be returned to state and local governments in an effort to place expenditure decision making relative to local needs at the level where such needs can be best determined.

President Nixon's proposed revenue sharing plan would initially allocate $5 billion in new general funds to state and local governments for distribution by local officials under very limited guidelines from Washington.

In another proposal, the President asked that $11 billion be used for a special revenue sharing plan to continue current categorical grants in six basic functional programs with less "red tape" and fewer strings attached.

These basic programs would cover rural development, urban development, education, transportation, job training and law enforcement. This proposal is not part of the bill introduced by Brown.

Plans are now underway for massive examination and reorganization of present federal grant programs since many of them have been carried over from the New Deal days and before.

In a recent Gallup survey of American adults, 77 per cent of the people questioned were in favor of the revenue sharing concept, 14 per cent were opposed and nine per cent did not express an opinion.

Public support for revenue sharing has thus far reached its highest point since the idea was first formally suggested in 1964 by Walter Heller, then chairman of President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers.

"I recognize there are some objections to the President's proposal, but revenue sharing—the providing of more financial resources at the state and local level where the need is the greatest—must be acted upon by this Congress, and President Nixon's plan is a good place to start," Brown said.

In addition, the Congressman said he is considering introducing his own alternative proposal which would retain funds at their source and bypass the cost of an "administrative round trip to Washington."

Brown explained that his plan would have the further advantage of keeping the privilege of spending tied to the responsibility to tax, thereby assuring more effective utilization of the additional revenue at the state and local level.

His plan incorporates the concept of tax credits, that is a sharing of the revenue raising authority rather than the sharing of the revenues derived.

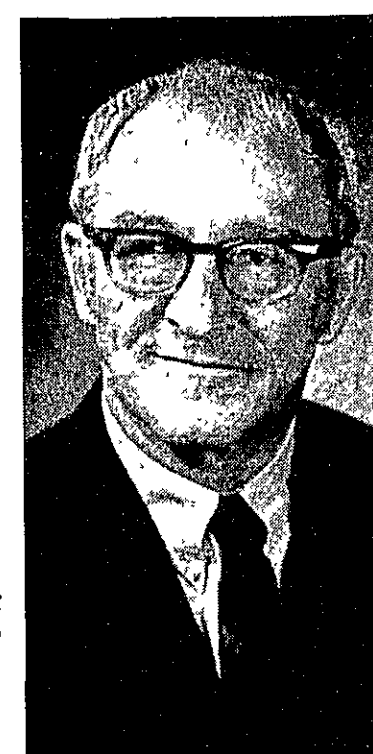

Gen Tel adds more cables

General Telephone construction crews are now placing 2.3 miles of cable in the east and southeast sections of St. Johns along E. State, E. Higham, Swegles, Sturgis and S. Clinton streets which will provide facilities for residential and commercial growth, also individual lines to replace party lines according to District Manager W. F. Graef.

In addition to St. Johns, Graef is responsible for all phases of telephone service in the exchange communities of Fowler, Pewamo, Muir, Palo, Hubbardston, Carson City, Middleton, Maple Rapids, Pompei and Ashley.

The new cables, ranging in size from 25 to 600 pairs of wire, which would be 687 in length if laid end to end.

The project will cost more than $48,000 and is part of General Telephone's 1971 expansion and improvement program totalling more than $36 million in Michigan.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

by GARY A. KLEINHENN
Michigan Farm Bureau

If you bought a dozen eggs today, produced by 1915 snail paced farming methods, they'd cost you twice as much as you're now paying.

Potatoes would cost 50 per cent more, Chickens, 18 per cent more. You and I spend only about 11¢ of every dollar for the food we eat at home.

Another 3¢ is added to eating out expense. These facts simply shout out the tremendous food values that our dynamic agriculture provides.

Our water wonderland state of Michigan is viewed by most as being a smoke stacked industrial state, but it's untrue as our green plush fertile fields and valleys rank agriculture as the second largest source of income in Michigan.

When Michigan folks are on the road to work every day, 27 per cent of us earn at least a part of our income from agriculture (7 per cent on the farms, 20 per cent from activities dependent upon agriculture).

Agri-business, as folks call it, is a complex chain of producers, business and industry. Agri-business is thoroughly involved in growing, processing, storing, transporting (including exports), wholesaling, packaging and retailing of the food that comes from the farmer and business involved in providing goods and services. That's a mouthful of complexities that works to feed us.

But with our style of urban-suburban living it's no easy process.

Like its people, Michigan agriculture is highly diversified. We have half a hundred different commodities that rank us as one of the top two or three states in ag-diversity. We are fifth or higher among all the 50 states in the production of nearly 20 foods.

Our products ranking 1st nationally include dried edible beans, raising over 8 million 100 pound bags of them (1969 data); red tart cherries, 130,000 tons; blueberries, 35 million pounds; Eastern white winter wheat, used and exported for specific baking purposes, 25 million bushels; cucumbers for pickles, 88,000 tons and 12,000 cwt. of slices; hothouse rhubarb, where Macomb County produces 75 per cent of the national crop.

Of course, this is only an inkling of the vast variety of top quality crops that reach your dining table. Once more, much of our Michigan crops are grown close to population centers to help guarantee a continuing healthy fresh food supply.

The pre-addressed label should be peeled off the front cover and placed on the tax return that is filed with the Internal Revenue Service.

There are also several additional steps that should be taken to insure an early refund of your tax dollars. Check the following points before filing your return.

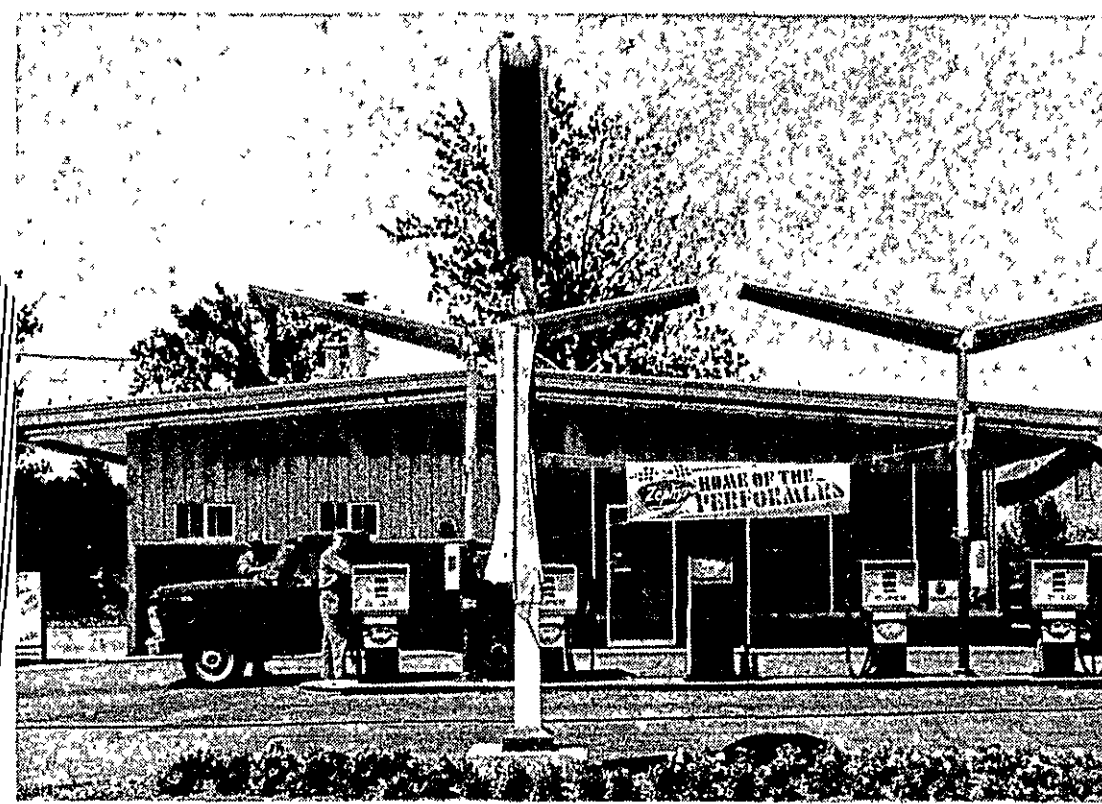

1. Use the preaddressed label.
2. Check arithmetic.
3. Attach a Form W-2 for each place of employment.
4. Sign your return. Both husband and wife must sign a joint return.
5. If you are computing your tax use the correct tax table or tax rate schedule.
6. Total your deductions if you itemize them on Schedule A.
7. Mail the return to: Internal Revenue Service Center, Cincinnati, Ohio 45298.

And don't forget, early filers get early refunds.

30 million ask IRS to figure tax

The Internal Revenue Service is offering to figure the income tax and retirement income credit for upwards of 30 million taxpayers filing 1970 Federal income tax returns.

You may qualify to have the IRS compute your tax if you meet the following conditions:

- Your income is $20,000 or less;
- Your income consists only of wages or salaries and tips, dividends, interest, pensions and annuities; and
- You choose the standard deduction instead of itemizing your actual deductions.

In order to take advantage of this service you must supply the IRS with certain information. On page 2 of your 1970 Federal Income Tax Package you will find instructions concerning the information you must enter on the tax return.

If you are entitled to a retirement income credit, you must attach a Schedule R with the necessary information entered on the schedule and also enter the letters "RIC", which stand for retirement income credit, on line 22 of your tax return Form 1040.

The new rules for figuring the tax could reduce the largest single type of error made by taxpayers each year.

Errors in figuring the tax were discovered on 3.6 million of the 78 million income tax returns filed for 1969.

These errors resulted from taxpayers using the wrong table, line, or column to figure their tax. As well, it will help elderly persons who have had difficulty with retirement income credit calculations.

After the IRS figures the tax on a return, a refund or a bill for tax due will be sent to the taxpayer.

Bills for tax due should be paid within 30 days to avoid interest or penalty charges.

P-W teachers producing three-act melodrama for scholarship funds

The Pewamo-Westphalia Education Association (PWEA) is producing a three-act "melodrama," Pure as the Driven Snow, by Paul Loomiss to provide the beginnings of a scholarship fund in the name of their late superintendent, William Steinke.

The play is to be presented on the weekend of Feb. 20 and 21, 8 p.m. at the Pewamo Elementary Auditorium, Pewamo.

The cast of twenty is composed of many faculty members, some members of the community and some students.

At present, the only local scholarship is one provided by the Westphalia Jaycee Auxiliary. The PWEA is hopeful that the community will choose to make this play, and its continuing cause, an annual event.

The cast includes the following people: Miss Darlene Costello, Robert Rice, Mrs. Marie Blauwikel, Larry Laitner, Mrs. Rosemary Rademacher, Mrs. Judith Oleniecak, Dennis Pilmore, Robert Trierweller, Miss Paula Rehner.

Also Mrs. Estelle Geller, Miss Dorothy Bengel, Mrs. Sarah Laitner, Al Bulgrin, Jerry Casari, Mrs. Cathy Cummins, Miss Beth Noeker, Miss Dorothy Schneider and Randy Schaefer.

The play is being directed by Mrs. Dennis Pilmore, with technical assistance by Mrs. Alice Stump and James Oleniecak.

DAVE HORVATH

DeWitt graduate gets major role in Central play

Dave Horvath, a 1969 graduate of DeWitt High School and a sophomore at Central Michigan University, is appearing this week in a major role in the University Theater's production of "The Glass Menagerie."

Often called a "memory play," the production is a portrayal of an impoverished family living in an illusionary world. It will be performed each night, Feb. 17 through Feb. 20, at 8 p.m. in Warner Auditorium on the CMU campus.

Horvath plays the son of the family, Tom, who seeks to escape from his mother's nagging through alcohol and the unrealistic world of movies.

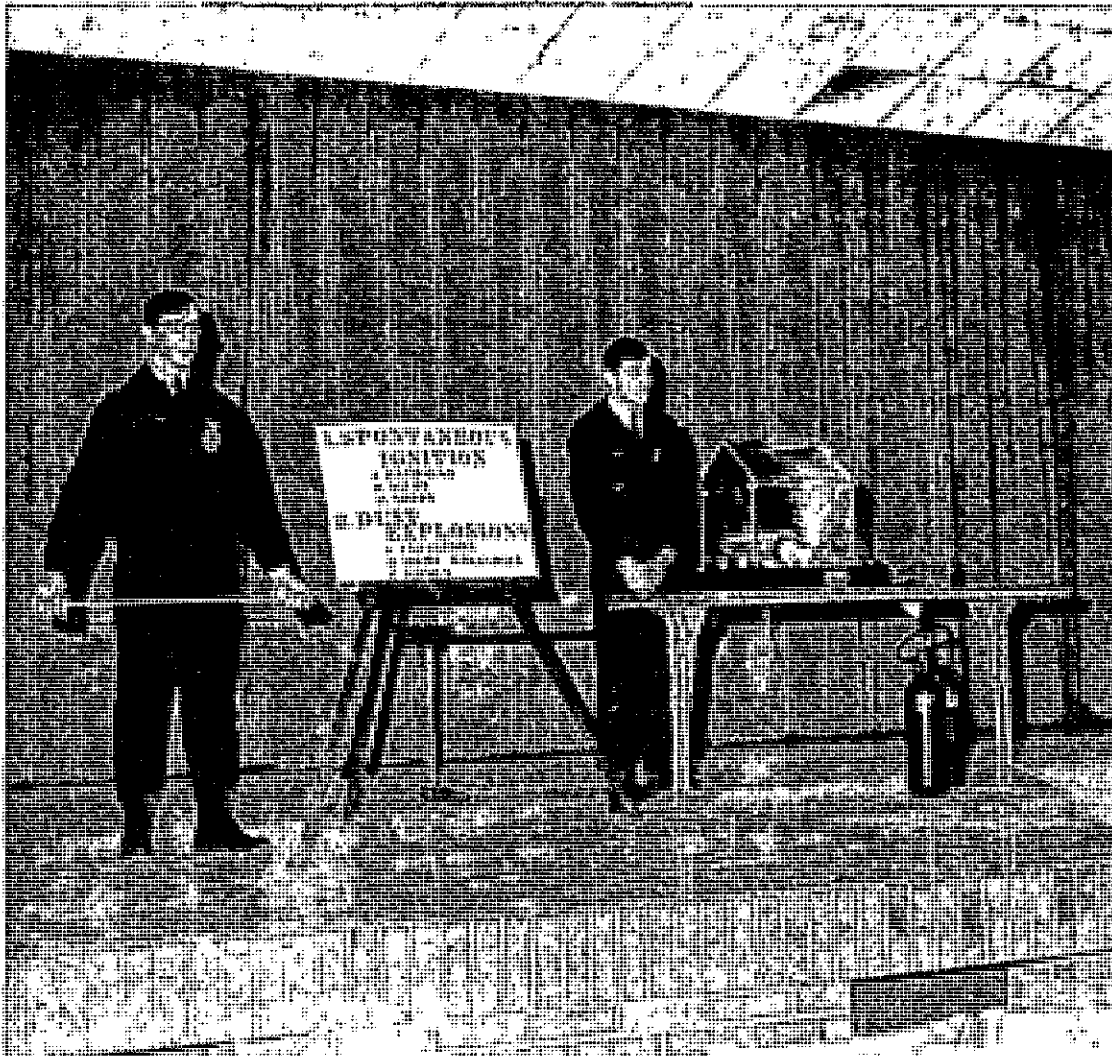

An English and speech major, Horvath has appeared in several other University Theatre productions. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Horvath Jr., of 2920 Woodruff.

Choir—orchestra concert planned

The St. Johns High School Choir and Orchestra will combine forces and present a "Mid-Winter Concert" on Tuesday, Feb. 23 at 7:30 p.m. in Poculis Auditorium at the high school.

Each group will perform separately their selected compositions and then combining at the end of the program performing an arrangement of the folk tune, "Scarlet Ribbons" and the patriotic "Battle Hymn of the Republic".

Donations are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. Tickets may be purchased from any choir or orchestra member or obtained at the door.

NEXT QUESTION

Tom Miller and Robert Mitchell, FFA members representing Ovid-Elsie in the annual FFA speech contest, answer questions from the judges on their demonstration speech "The Ghost Arsonist".

Ovid-Elsie FFA wins three firsts

Ovid-Elsie's FFA won three first place honors out of four divisions at the district Winter Leadership Contest held at Ovid-Elsie High School Thursday.

According to Joe Shaltry, FFA advisor, Ovid-Elsie took first place in parliamentary procedure, public speaking and demonstration.

They also received a gold award and alternate position in the farm forum division.

Six schools were entered in this district contest. Entrants were from Laingsburg, Perry, Byron, Corunna, Owosso and Ovid-Elsie.

The FFA members will journey to Dansville Thursday to compete in the regional contest. Shaltry said that "they have a very good chance of going to the state finals this year. They all have worked very hard."

He pointed out that this is the first year that they have done this well.

Judges for the contest were from various farm agencies in the district.

Principal Dean McKay noticing the number of girls entered in the contest commented that more girls are participating in events that were previously only entered by boys.

In the demonstration division Tom Miller and Robert Moore placed first with their demonstration of "The Ghost Arsonist."

The first place team members in parliamentary procedure are Kim Jorae, Frank Quine, Ron Tomasek, Gwenn Nethaway, David Wyrick, Charles Green and David Kurka.

First place in public speaking went to Lynn Whiting.

SITE SELECTED

St. Johns building trades class has selected a lot on South Swegles St. as their site for the new house they will build next year. According to Ken Lashaway, vocational director, there is a possibility they will start the basement this spring. Randy Davey, right and Ed Harr apply the finishing touches on the sign.

Westphalia soil survey complete; only three townships uncharted

GLENN A. WEESIES
Soil Scientist
Soil Conservation Service

Field mapping on the Clinton County Soil Survey was completed in Westphalia Township in December. The survey is being conducted by the U.S. Soil Conservation Service in cooperation with Clinton County Board of Commissioners and the Clinton County Soil Conservation District.

Mapping is now complete in 13 townships. Only Dallas, Essex and Lebanon remain to be mapped. The entire county is to be completed by 1973. After the soil mapping is completed a report of the entire county will be published.

It will be available to everyone interested in Clinton County soils. The report will contain the soil maps, descriptions of the soils and interpretations for using them. In the meantime, preliminary soil maps and interpretations are available to townships and other agencies upon completion of field work in each township.

The nearly level to gently sloping landscape of Westphalia Township consists mainly of deep, fertile clay loam soils. Many of these soils are naturally wet and require drainage for best yields. These soils generally have few limitations for agriculture.

Copies of the Westphalia maps, along with other soil information will be ready for use this winter. This soil survey information is already proving to be a valuable tool for Clinton County.

In making this survey, soil scientists examine soils in the field and mark the soil boundaries on aerial photographs. They determine texture, structure, chemical composition and other properties of the individual layers of the soil.

They note the depth of the soil, stoniness, change because of erosion and other features that effect the soil's response to management.

The new Clinton County Soil Survey is being used by farmers, planning commissions, sanitarians, realtors, contractors and engineers. It is also being used for highway planning, zoning and other uses in which the physical properties of the soil must be known.

Clinton is one of 5 Michigan counties where an accelerated Soil Survey is now in progress. In addition, 8 other county surveys have recently been published. Twelve more have the field mapping completed and await publication.

If you want to know more about your soil, stop at the U.S. Soil Conservation office in St. Johns. They have soil information for you.

Drivers ed classes set in St. Johns

Three summer sessions of driver education training in St. Johns have been planned according to school officials.

All those interested in signing up for the course are requested to return applications by Monday, Feb. 22.

The dates of the three-week courses are June 14-July 1, July 12-July 30 and Aug. 2-Aug. 20. Each course will include 30 hours of classes with six hours behind the wheel instruction.

Anyone may apply for the courses through the St. Johns High School office.

Assignments will be made according to birth dates with the oldest people first and work toward the younger persons.

Those eligible include those persons 15 years of age who will be 16 at the beginning of next year. Any older person is eligible.

Interested persons are requested to stop at the high school office or telephone for further information.

Forester tells of walnut trees' worth to land owners

Land owners who have sold walnut trees in recent years are showing greater interest in this high value species.

These trees are selling for as much as ten times more than the next highest value sugar maple, says Department of Natural Resources Forester, Elton Tworok.

He says that much can be done to improve the quality and rate of growth of the walnut trees which are already growing.

Pruning the limbs on the lower trunk will give a longer log and make a high value veneer log free of knots instead of a poor quality log that can only be sawed.

Where selected trees are crowded by others, the rate of growth can be greatly increased by giving them room so the top can grow larger and produce more wood on the trunk.

If you already have the trees growing you can expect high returns for the time it will take to prune and release the trees which will be the future crop.

Pruning should begin before the tree is six inches in diameter. It can be started when only an inch or more. However, care should be exercised so that no more than 1/3 of the leaf area is removed, more would cause a decrease in the growth rate.

While trees under four inches in diameter should be inspected every three years for needed pruning, trees five to six inches may only need one pruning to get a clear, bole of sixteen feet. Trees which have developed crotches or limbs larger than two inches, should only be pruned as high as this condition allows.

If limbs two inches or more in diameter are cut, a pruning compound or tree dressing should be applied to the wound to keep out fungi. Large wounds take longer to heal, and the chance of rot getting into the main trunk is much greater.

The Department of Natural Resources forester will give owners assistance with their woodlot management problems and the Agricultural Conservation Program will pay up to 80 per cent of the cost of pruning and thinning as determined by the area forester.

Conservation questions and answers

Q: Have the chelating effects of NTA been tested enough to know about its properties?

A: In my mind, more work with NTA and its effect upon the ecosystem needs to be done before we will know whether or not it can safely be used as a fertilizer material or as a substitute for phosphates in detergents.

We know that NTA can be degraded in activated sludge digesters in sewage treatment plants, but this takes some time, perhaps two weeks. Many of the tests have been conducted with sodium or calcium NTA. The degradability of these materials may be different than when some of the heavy metals are involved.

Q: In the ecosystem, can heavy metals be removed readily from NTA?

A: It should be obvious that the heavy metals can be removed quite readily from NTA since this material has been used in relatively small quantities as fertilizer material. Metallic NTA has been found to be a good source of some of the micronutrients. There is no reason to believe that a similar situation cannot exist or does not exist in other parts of the ecosystem.

to as heavy metals. Recently copper, zinc, iron and others have been referred to as heavy metals. The latter are also essential elements for plant growth.

Heavy metals are used in many industrial processes. As a result, they're frequently found in the discharge waters. Some of the heavy metals have deleterious effects upon plant and animal life and are, therefore, considered serious pollutants.

Soils will rapidly absorb heavy metals. Up to a certain point, this is a logical way for removing heavy metals from water. An excess of these metals in soils will be harmful to plants.

There are other methods of precipitating and rapidly removing heavy metals from water. Many are in use today. Complete removal, however, is frequently expensive and it becomes a matter of economics versus tolerance. The levels that can be tolerated is the question that is now receiving a great deal of attention.

MANURE

Q: What changes or greater emphasis should be given by the Extension Service on the rate and time of use of livestock manure?

A: I doubt that the program of the Extension Service as related to the use of livestock manure needs to be greatly altered. We continue to preach use reasonable rates - up to 20T/A - plow it down soon after application, etc. The Extension Service has many individuals working at least indirectly on the problem. Several Extension publications, deal specifically with the properties and use of manure. The subject for years has been considered in meetings sponsored by both agents and departments.

My own department has dealt only indirectly with the livestock manure problem yet, in 1969, there were four notes in the department newsletters, summarizing in a practical way research on manure. Manure production and use was a major consideration in the most recent Michigan Fertilizer Conference sponsored in part by the department and by the Cooperative Extension Service. The Extension Service participated in the recent teach-in on the campus when one of its specialists discussed the use of soil in economically disposing of chicken manure. Other examples of the current Extension program as directed by both agents and other departments on livestock manure could be cited.

If greater emphasis were placed on rate and time of application of manure, what part of the current Extension program should be dropped? I suspect that we are well past the time when we can give greater emphasis to one topic without giving less to another. Perhaps the current Extension program is adequate and in reality much stronger than many believe.

Today's detergents

By HELEN B. MEACH
Extension Home Economist

Do you have questions about today's detergents? Are you going back to the use of plain soap? Can you answer the questions your 5th grader asks about eutrophication?

If you answer no to the first question and yes to the other two, then I hope you will read on. Because most of us know by now that there are no simple, pat answers to our pollution problems.

Concern about our environment is widespread and it must be, if we are to have improvements. However, excessive emotion is not the answer. If we develop a major concern about only one part of our pollution problem we could be guilty of demanding premature action. All of us need to be informed, cool, calm and collected as we attempt to face up to what has happened to the land, water and air about us.

What is this state of eutrophication which is being talked about? It is a natural process which is vital to sustaining the life of any lake or stream by enabling plant organisms to grow in the water and then provide food for fish.

Contrary to common belief, eutrophication is not the same as pollution.

A CAUSE FOR concern today is cultural eutrophication, that is, the man-caused accelerated eutrophication of some lakes. The results of "people activity" - municipal sewage containing human wastes and detergents, industrial wastes, and agricultural run-off - have stepped up this natural aging process, and interfered with esthetic and recreational uses of lakes.

There are some 15-20 nutrients, which, when combined in proper proportions, cause biological enrichment of a lake's waters. The opinion has been that phosphorus is usually, although not always, the most controllable nutrient in the eutrophication picture.

Why can't we go back to the plain soaps? First, scientists say, because the supply of tallow, the basic ingredient of soap is not sufficient to meet the world's need if there were a widespread return to laundry soaps in the United States.

Today's laundry and dishwashing equipment is designed to work with modern detergents. Multiple and complex problems would arise with any widespread return to use of soaps.

All of this says "we have people problems" which are very real and now. Each one of us have some possible choices to make, starting where we are. We need to learn all we can about the problems and solutions. We need to express our concerns calmly to people who are making the decisions in government and industry.

Some questions are discussed in "Today's Detergents" a leaflet available from your Cooperative Extension Service. To receive your copy contact the Extension Home Economist in your county office.

Pianist Allgaier featured at annual Lions club show

Allgaier, who played here last year, is 16 years old and is presently in the tenth grade at Comstock Public Schools. His interest in the piano began at the early age of two, when he began searching out tunes on the piano.

He began lessons on the piano at the age of five. He has had over 900 hours of music training.

He has played in hundreds of performances, taking him from the Michigan Legislature, to Madison Square Gardens, from the New York World's Fair to California and back. He has traveled over 48,000 miles performing.

Lions Clubs throughout all the free world sponsor projects such as this to gain funds in order to further the work for the preservation and conservation of sight.

IN THE NORTHERN Lower Peninsula, whitetails last week also were buffeted by the worst conditions of the winter—perhaps the last three winters—but they were reported to be in "pretty good" shape before the storm hit.

Reflecting on the deer situation there, DNR game men reported there is reason for "concern but not alarm."

In wake of last week's storm, deer face particularly tough going in the Gaylord District of northern Lower Michigan and the Tahquamenon Falls, Bergland, Grand Marais, and Chatham areas above the Straits where snow depths are more than three feet.

Besides conditions such as these, other factors are working against the DNR in its accelerated efforts to save deer this winter. One of these is a carryover from last season's antlerless deer hunting ban in the Upper Peninsula which has left the herd there with thousands of "more mouths to feed" this winter.

RALPH BAILEY, the DNR's regional game biologist for the Upper Peninsula, explains:

"For a number of years, there has not been enough winter food to go around in our region because of forest growth which has put more of these supplies out of the animals' reach."

"Last season's failure to take any antlerless animals threw the situation more out of balance and, as a result, we face a potentially greater deer problem in the Upper Peninsula this winter."

Also over and above its regular winter deer program, the DNR is urging county highway departments to plow roads so commercial loggers can reach areas where cutting activities will do the greatest good for the animals.

In mounting more help for deer, the DNR is taking advantage of a good cedar market to set up small, safety-valve timber cutting in problem areas of state forests where larger logging operations are not already underway.

Where recent heavy snows have not stalled regularly scheduled cuttings, the DNR is urging private loggers to knock down all timber, including non-merchantable trees, to boost winter food supplies for deer beyond normal measures.

UNDER ITS regular program to help thousands of deer through the winter, the DNR has already arranged for commercial timber harvests on about 25,000 acres of state forest land in northern Michigan.

Those cuttings, grinding ahead as snow conditions permit, involve about 16,000 acres strategically located in and around northern deer yards.

THERE'S NOTHING LIKE HOME MADE

This home-made camper may not look like the shiny silver things seen on the highways each weekend, but it apparently serves its purpose. This one was seen in St. Johns last week where it drew some attention.

Drying capacity sets corn harvesting pace

Drying capacity sets the pace for corn harvesting, according to George McQueen, Clinton County Extension Agent.

Both daily volume and annual volume are important considerations in selecting a corn drying method, but daily volume is the most important, he pointed out. McQueen suggested selecting equipment that can dry a one-day's (10 hours) harvest in 16 hours. Field conditions, moisture content of the corn, handling methods and down time influence drying system capacity.

He added that the manufacturer's rated capacity for harvesting or drying seldom holds up for a sustained period under most farm operating conditions. Drying, harvesting and storage systems will be among the topics discussed at four corn sessions, starting Feb. 24.

Other topics include weed control and no-till, soil management, corn culture and hybrid selection, mechanization systems, diseases, insects, irrigation and drainage.

The sessions will be held at Smith Hall in St. Johns.

Contact the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service office for more details.

Prevent soil erosion with special tips

Prevent soil erosion by using contour plowing and vegetation land cover.

Gerald J. Grossi, researcher in Michigan State University's Department of Resource Development, recommends that farmers use contour cultivation methods that favor infiltration of water into the soil and cut down on overland flow. Creating small artificial catch basins on the land also helps water to infiltrate more readily.

Grossi advises property owners to reforest unused land since forest cover is generally considered the ultimate control for overland flow and erosion.

The MSU researcher cautions construction contractors to:

(1) Hold the area of vegetation stripping to a minimum, (2) use mulch and vegetation to cover slopes, (3) build subdivisions in sections and avoid stripping the land clean, and (4) work around heavy rainfall months.

To protect against wind erosion, Grossi says landowners should use trees or wooden fences as windbreaks for organic soils. He also warns against leaving land unplanted.

"No land should be left with the bare soil unprotected," he says. "Almost any kind of vegetation can help hold the soil in place and reduce runoff."

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) Who must file an income tax return this year?

A) The 1969 Tax Reform Act raised the gross income levels at which returns must be filed. Previously a return had to be filed when gross income reached $600.

A single person must file if his income is $1,700 or more. Married persons living in the same household and filing jointly must file if their income is $2,300 or more. These totals are increased by $600 if a person is 65 or older. Other married persons generally are required to file if they have income of $600 or more.

Taxpayers due a refund of taxes withheld must file a return to get a refund.

Q) Have you made it any easier for retired people to figure the retirement income tax credit?

A) Yes, the IRS will figure the credit and the tax for them in many cases. To qualify, they must take the standard deduction and have income not over $20,000 coming only from salaries or wages and tips, pensions and annuities, dividends and interest. For those who don't meet these qualifications or who decide to figure the credit themselves, the Schedule R Form has been changed to try to make the computation a little easier.

Q) Does a dependent have to be someone related to you?

A) Yes, the IRS will figure the credit and the tax for them in many cases. To qualify, they must take the standard deduction and have income not over $20,000 coming only from salaries or wages and tips, pensions and annuities, dividends and interest. For those who don't meet these qualifications or who decide to figure the credit themselves, the Schedule R Form has been changed to try to make the computation a little easier.

A) No, you may claim someone who is not related to you if he or she was a member of your household and lived with you the entire year. In addition, the other dependency tests, such as support and income must be met. Check the 1040 instructions for details.

Q) Where can I get copies of the tax forms?

A) Everyone who filed a return last year will receive a package of forms and instructions in the mail in January. Extra copies of the forms and instructions will also be available at local offices of the IRS as well as many banks and post offices in January.

Remember to take the blue name label off the cover of the tax package you received in the mail and put it on the return you file. This label identifies your return for speedy processing and avoids refund delays. Any corrections may be made on the label.

Q) How should I handle income from land I rent to a farmer?

A) Unless you are materially involved in the management or farming of the land you rent, you should report income from the land as rent. Use Schedule E, Form 1040.

Q) Twice a week I drive my mother to her doctor for therapy. Can I deduct my driving costs?

A) Yes, strike benefits are taxable, unless the facts clearly show they were intended as a gift.

A) If you are allowed to deduct medical expenses for your mother you may include such travel costs. For car travel, you may deduct 6¢ a mile or the actual cost of gas and oil.

This 6¢ a mile rate is a penny higher than a year ago and may also be used for travel costs associated with charitable contributions.

Q) I mailed some contributions to a charity in December. Can I deduct them on my 1970 return if they weren't cashed until this year?

A) Yes, check mailed and dated in 1970 should be reported in your 1970 income year.

Q) Where can I get a copy of Your Federal Income Tax?

A) A copy of Your Federal Income Tax, Publication No. 17, may be obtained from most IRS offices for 75¢. It may also be ordered from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

Q) I have all my tax records. Can I file without my W-2?

A) No, a W-2 withholding statement from each job held during 1970 should be attached to your return. Failure to do so delayed the refunds of many taxpayers last year.

Q) I was out on strike last spring. Do I have to pay tax on the strike benefits I received then?

A) Yes, strike benefits are taxable, unless the facts clearly show they were intended as a gift.

FHA offers soil, water loans complete with technical aid

By ANTHONY J. ESPER
Farm Home Administrator

The Farmers Home Administration makes soil and water loans accompanied by technical management assistance to owners or operators of farms and ranches including partnerships and corporations to assist them in developing, conserving, and making proper use of their land and water resources.

Soil and water loans are made only to applicants who are unable to obtain the credit they need from private and cooperative sources at reasonable rates and terms. He must be a farm owner or a farm operator who is of legal age. He also must have the character, industry and ability to carry out the proposed farming operation.

Applications of eligible veterans are given preference. Both veterans and non-veterans must meet the same requirements and qualifications for loans.

Eligibility of an applicant is determined by an area committee of the Farmers Home Administration which consists of three farmers who know the local farming and credit conditions.

Loans may be used to drill wells and otherwise improve water supply systems for irrigation, construct and repair ponds and tanks, ditches, and canals for irrigation; dig ditches and install tile to drain farmland.

These loans may also be used to level land; carry out basic land treatment practices including liming, fertilizing, and seeding; sub-soil or sod land; establish permanent pastures and farm forests.

Funds may also be used to build dikes, terraces, waterways, and other erosion control structures.

A borrower's total indebtedness on the farm, including the loan being made may not exceed $60,000 or the normal value of the security, whichever is less. The interest rate is five per cent; repayment period may not exceed 40 years.

An applicant in Clinton County can apply at the County FHA office located in the USDA Building at 125 South Maple Street, Ithaca; Anthony J. Esper, county supervisor and Mrs. Lenora E. Hindbaugh, county office clerk.

Lice control measures must be taken now

Most cattle herds are infested with lice now, and severe infestations will probably develop this winter if you don't take control measures immediately, warned F. Earl Haas, Clinton County extension director.

Problems develop in winter because long hair offers lice good protection and confinement increases spread of lice.

As lice infestation becomes more severe, cattle will rub and leave traces of hair. Lousy cattle develop a rough hair coat.

Backrubbers provide some control of lice, but cattle must be sprayed to eliminate a heavy infestation of lice, points out Haas.

Use an insecticide containing cloverin and dichlorvos. Apply enough spray to wet the hair to the skin. Cows may require up to one gallon, depending on the active ingredient percentage in the spray and the hair length.

Use a high pressure sprayer to efficiently wet the animals with the spray solution. After spraying animals in cold weather, immediately turn them outside to speed drying.

If temperatures and wind are so severe that spraying is likely to cause pneumonia or other health problems, use a three-per cent cloverin dust. But dust applications may have to be repeated about every two weeks for effective control of lice.

When using any insecticide, read the container label carefully and follow instructions closely.

For more detailed recommendations on parasite control, contact F. Earl Haas

New tomato variety found by scientist

A new tomato variety that has potential as a substitute for cherry tomatoes has been released by Michigan State University's Agricultural Experiment Station.

The variety, Droplet, developed by Dr. S. Honma, MSU horticulturist, is intended for the fresh market and may be machine harvested.

Desirable characteristics of Droplet include high fruit production, tolerance to Verticillium wilt and ease of fruit removal.

Droplet got its name because the fruit look like drops of water. Each fruit is about one inch in diameter and one and one-half inches long, and there are 90 to 120 fruits per plant. Fruits are solid and crack resistant.

Droplet fruit mature in the early or mid-season and don't tend to fall off the vine after ripening. They are readily separated from the vine by hand or machine, and since the variety is jointless no stem remains attached to the fruit when it is picked.

Each Droplet plant is low to the ground and covers a circular area about three feet in diameter. Droplet's tolerance to Verticillium wilt in Michigan was determined in cooperation with Dr. H. H. Murakishi, MSU plant pathologist.

Under the new program a producer agrees to maintain his conserving base and to set aside a pre-determined number of acres from production and devote it to approved soil conserving uses. He can then plant his remaining cropland to any crop he wishes except sugarcane, and crops on which marketing quotas are in effect.

As none of these crops are grown in Michigan at the present time, there are no limitations on any crop that can be grown in Michigan under the new program.

In this way, Smith said, a farmer can plant the crops that he prefers to grow and which give him his best net returns.

Farmers will be able to specialize more under the new law. Currently farmers who have allotments or bases for several crops were encouraged to produce them all. Under the new set-aside concept they can focus on the most profitable crop.

SMITH NOTED in closing that with the signing of the new farm law by the President, the United States embarked on a market-oriented farm policy.

The set-aside bill is aimed at giving farmers maximum free-

Barbara Cartwright weds Terry Brown

Barbara Jo Cartwright became the bride of Terry Lee Brown Dec. 26 in a 7 p.m. ceremony performed by Rev. W. Lee Truman in the United Methodist Church in Monrovia, Calif.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Cartwright, formerly of St. Johns, now residing at 232 North Alta Vista, Monrovia, Calif., and the groom is the son of Mrs. Edna Brown of 609 North Morton St., St. Johns.

The bride was given in marriage by her mother and father and chose a long white satin and lace gown featuring an empire-waist line, long full sleeves with fitted cuffs and a chapel-length train, accented with lace appliques. A lace cluster secured her elbow-length veil and she carried a bouquet of orchids, baby breath and ferns.

Matron of honor was Carolyn Futter and serving as bridesmaids were Patti Cartwright and Debbie Hooper. Val Futter was flower girl. The maid of honor and the flower girl wore gowns of pink and ruby chiffon and velvet and the bridesmaids wore gowns of light blue and royal blue. They all carried bouquets of pink and blue carnations.

Best man was Robert Futter and serving as groomsmen were Ted Cartwright and Mark Truman. Scott Cline was ring bearer.

The couple greeted 75 guests at the reception which was held in the church parlors.

Following a wedding trip to Big Bear Mountain the bride will reside on Alta Vista until April at which time she will join her husband in Germany where he is stationed with the US Army.

Pinochle club holds annual Florida meet

The traveling St. Johns pinochle club began their 23rd year of competition recently with an annual winter get-together at Palmetto, Fla.

The group, which is comprised of current and former residents of St. Johns, has been conducting the winter gatherings for 23 years and the contestants come from such far flung places as Mesa, Ariz., and Greenville, Mi. Last year the pinochle club met at Plant City, Fla. This year they gathered at the home of Gayle and Helen Vauconsant after dinner at the Ramada Inn.

Participating in this year's meeting were Lester and Blanche Houghton, Steve and Florence Rennells, Fred and Jean Hughes, Rose Wolf, Marie Belknap, Lila Robinson, and, of course, the Vauconsants.

For those who keep track of such things, Blanche Houghton captured top prize last year in the women's division, but she was unseated this year by last year's runnerup, Florence Rennells. Fred Hughes won men's honors a year ago and this spot was taken by Lester Houghton. High scores were 1549 for Mrs. Rennells and 1770 for Houghton.

Low honors in the two divisions went to Jean Hughes, 746 and Gayle Vauconsant, 1376.

Absent from this year's gathering were Wade and Mildred Olin, now of Mesa and Floyd Robinson who passed away during the past year.

In maintaining their traditional schedule, the card club is planning their next gathering for May at the Rennells in Greenville. Maybe the Mesa crowd will make the scene in May!

MARY LIL FINK

DAR winner

Among the nine high school seniors honored by the Stevens Thompson Mason Chapter of DAR on Saturday, Feb. 6, at the First Christian Church in Ionia was Mary Lil Fink, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Fink of Fowler.

Miss Fink was chosen as DAR Good Citizen of the Year of Fowler High School by her classmates and school staff.

The choice was based on the qualities of dependability, service, leadership and patriotism.

Miss Fink will graduate third in her class with a 3.62 point average. She has actively participated in girls basketball, Spanish Club and on the Yearbook staff. This year she also serves as a library assistant, senior class treasurer and as a candy striper at Clinton Memorial Hospital.

She plans to attend Butterworth School of Nursing in Grand Rapids next year and thus follow in the footsteps of her mother, an R.N.

By being chosen on the local level, she becomes eligible for scholarships and awards on the state and national levels.

Auxiliary plans next trip to Fisher Theatre

Members of the Clinton Memorial Hospital Auxiliary will sponsor their second theater trip to the Fisher in Detroit on Saturday, March 13.

Reservations are being accepted now and may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Patrick Kelly at 224-7753.

Price of the trip is $15 and will include the bus trip, a stop at the Northland Shopping Center and tickets to the David Merrick production "Forty Carats", starring Barbara Rush.

The comedy is about two May-December romances. Ann Stanley, a twice divorced woman of 40, is wooed and pursued by a young man of 22, while her mod daughter, age 17, attracts the eye of a man of 45. The major romance is that of the mother and there are comical situations when other characters are confused about who is courting whom.

The play is not a story of a silly woman approaching middle age who succumbs to the physical attraction of a man half her age. There is emotional sincerity on both sides, as if the authors were trying to prove that the customary attitudes toward May-December romances should be re-evaluated.

The bus will leave the hospital parking lot at 8 a.m. and the group will spend from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Northland for shopping and lunch. The bus will then proceed to the Fisher Theater for the matinee and return to St. Johns by 6:30 p.m.

LIBRARY CLUB MEET IN SHEPARDVILLE CHURCH

The Ovid Duplain Library Club met at the Shephardsville United Methodist Church on Friday, Feb. 12 with 14 members and six guests present at the potluck dinner at 12:30 p.m. The invocation was given by Mrs. Ralph Baker.

Two troopers from the Michigan State Police gave several hints for winter driving for women drivers. Things they brought out were: maintain a proper attitude; take your time, drive slower, be prepared, drive defensively, don't overdrive your headlights, be sure windshield is clear of snow, be sure vehicle is safe, pump your brakes, turning in direction of skid, have some ventilation in the car; keep a safe distance, be cautious, be sure turning signal and brake lights are clean and adjust your speed to the road conditions.

A chart was shown listing the number of collisions for the various months of the year. Winter months showed more. Average deaths caused by motor accidents average over 50 thousand a year in the past ten years. There was considerable discussion following the presentation.

The Pledge of Allegiance and collect were repeated in unison. Mrs. Leslie McInally, state treasurer of the Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs brought news of GirlsTown.

LITERARY CLUB MEETS
A talk on "Ecology" by Mrs. Virginia Chamberlain featured the program Tuesday evening for the Woman's Literary Club at its February meeting in the home of Mrs. Joe Micka, Jr. on Carole Drive, Elsie.

Mrs. Chamberlain, introduced by Mrs. A. W. Cobb, showed movies of her trip to Oregon State University where she made a study on ecology. She elaborated on the picture by an interesting talk.

The program was opened by president, Mrs. Glen Horn leading the Club Collect.

Mrs. Leslie McInally assisted by Mrs. Hugh Tasket, both of Byron, gave a report on Girlstown a project of the Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs. They explained how the home "Loch Rio" located at Belleville aids emotionally disturbed girls.

A social hour followed the program with Mrs. Howard Pettier, Mrs. R. C. Parks and Mrs. Durward Conklin assisting the hostess in serving refreshments.

The annual "Cook's Night Out" dinner with husbands as guests, will be held at the Elsie Junior High Tuesday evening, Feb. 23 with Lance Koschtl, acting Park Manager Supervisor, as guest speaker.

TALENT NIGHT PLANNED

Additional teenage and adult participation is being solicited for the annual Elsie PTA Talent Night to be held Monday evening Feb. 15 at the Elsie Junior High according to the general chairman, Mr. and Mrs. Don Byrd.

There will be no admission charge. The project is aimed toward making a united effort in the community to provide a fun-making program for the entire surrounding area.

Anyone interested should notify Mrs. Ann Davis, Tel. 862-5272 or Archie Moore 862-4652.

Beautiful cure-all.

Isn't that what we all feel we're looking for?
Something wonderful to take away all the pain...
something to take away all the hurt in the world... to soothe all the suffering?

That would be beautiful.
The Air Force nurse comes close to the answer.
She works and works just as hard as any other nurse. Maybe harder.

She dedicates her nursing skill to our boys in the Service and she gets untold satisfaction from what she does.

It's good to know the Air Force nurse is there.
Now, feel better?

DIAMONDS ???

Regardless of 'Discounts' or 'Bonus Offers' on diamonds... you still 'Get just what you pay for!' You will find our prices LOWER for the same quality and style of diamonds. We offer a complete choice of diamonds in all grades and styles... We will not knowingly be undersold!

DIAMOND PRICE FACTS:

Don't spend more than you can afford. A good rule to follow: Spend about a month of your salary on the engagement ring. But make sure you get the most for your money. In the ring style that pleases her most.

DIAMOND BUYING FACTS:

About half of all engagement rings are chosen by boy and girl together. But in many cases the young man buys the diamond alone. Or he talks it over with us first and then brings his girl in for final selection. It's up to you!

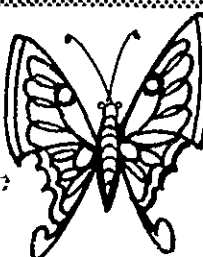

DIAMOND STYLING FACTS:

Modern girls are individualists. Some want an absolutely perfect diamond even if it is smaller. Others want the largest stone possible even if it has slight flaws. Some want ultra-modern, others traditional styling. These are the things to talk over with us.

COME IN SOON AS POSSIBLE!

We have helped so many young couples. We can help you to come to the right decision. Let your wishes and our experience be the guide. For a lifetime of happiness with your diamond. We have a private Diamond Room to display and service you.

Using a flash attachment properly is the key to good indoor pictures.

There are a number of different flash attachments available each having a specific function to perform. As I explained in an earlier column the best all around flash to buy is the Honeywell Tilt-a-mite. This flash uses all three size bulbs.

The three bulbs generally used are the P-25, which has maximum output, but is large and cumbersome to carry. The best bulb to use is the M-3, which is compact and has the same power as the P-25. The small peanut size AG-1 is fine for close shots, but not effective at any great distance.

If you are thinking about buying an electronic flash, be careful. There are many on the market, with a majority of them not worth the money.

The best source to consult is Consumers Report. They analyze most of the electronic units on the market, and their results are very consistent with the actual performance.

Electronic strobes to stay away from are the ones that are solely battery operated and ones that don't have at least a year's guarantee.

To make life easier for the photographer, some of the more reputable companies have produced an automatic electronic flash. You make one setting on your camera and shoot. The flash will send out a sensor beam and it determines the intensity of the flash. You can shoot from three feet to fourteen feet with the same contrast on each shot.

The price range starts at about $80. If you shoot a number of flash pictures a year, your investment will be matched within a short period of time.

F.G. from Bath asks, why do I get a red eye effect everytime I take flash pictures? The lens of your camera picks up the red in the retina behind the pupil. Usually this occurs because the pupil is dilated and exposes the red of the eye.

There are two ways to solve this, one, have a number of lights on to close the pupil so you don't get the red reflection, or two, have the subject look away at an angle to the camera, so the flash reflects a different direction away from the camera.

B.B. from St. Johns asks, how can you tell if a bulb is dead? If a bulb has already been shot, the surface will be bubbly and rough.

Every bulb has a blue dot on the surface someplace, this dot will remain blue if the bulb is good. This indicates that there still is gas in the bulb. If the dot is pinkish the bulb will not fire.

Where would you go for Zephyr gasoline and Lee tires... for a tune-up or oil changer... for fast friendly service? Harris Oil Co. No, not any more. The same station, but now it's called Moore Oil Co.

Moore Oil Co. after the new owner, Roger Moore.

Roger went to work for Lloyd Harris back in 1963. Lloyd says he worked pretty hard so in 1965 Roger and Lloyd became partners. Then early this month Lloyd decided to spend more time "loafing" and Roger became sole owner.

Roger and his wife, Alice and their three children, Sharri, 5, Todd, 2, and Brent, 10 months live on East Townsend Road in St. Johns.

Roger Moore said when he went to work for Lloyd Harris it was with the understanding that it would be just for a short time. Until Olds called, to be exact. A couple of weeks later Fisher Body called but Roger thought it over and since he really wanted Olds he decided to stay at Harris' a while longer. Olds never did call. We asked him the other day what he'd say if Olds called now... we won't print the answer.

Like cherry pie. You'll find all the cherry pies you can eat on special sale (22¢ each) in the most unlikely places this Saturday. The St. Johns merchants are having a sale... and along with many special bargains on selected merchandise they will be selling Morton Cherry pies. Now we don't have anything against cherry pies, but we know a gal who won awards for her cherry pies in high school. She baked and experimented and baked and tested and baked and won. We guess her recipe was delicious but she got so tired of making them she hasn't baked one since.

Ross MacDonald is the pastor of the Eastminster Presbyterian Church in Alma. He has a very strong and melodic voice. He is an excellent singer. And you could call him handsome.

The Gratiot County Players (very much like our St. Johns' First Nighters) were holding try-outs for their production of Camelot this past week. And since Ross likes to sing... and his wife Virginia encouraged him and they both thought he might land a part in the "chorus or something" he decided to invest 15 or 20 minutes and audition.

When he arrived home some 2 1/2 hours later he told Virginia (who later told our Big Mama) that 1. He didn't know anyone there, 2. no one knew him or what he did, 3. he sang, he acted, 4. the part they wanted him for (and he took it) wasn't in the "chorus or something" but the role Robert Goulet played... the romantic lead... Sir Lancelot.

The winning entries and other deserving entries in the County News' Know Your Merchant Contest will be on display this week in the lobby of Central National Bank. The amount of time and thought that went into the making of these entries makes us wish we could award prizes to all. Stop in and look them over and you'll see what we mean.

Personal tax exemptions extra benefit

Every taxpayer will receive a tax benefit this year due to changes in the area of personal and dependency exemptions. The exemption for a taxpayer and each of his dependents has been increased to $625 for 1970. There will be additional graduated increases in the exemption allowance in 1971, 1972, and 1973. When the changes are fully implemented in 1973, each exemption will have a value of $750.

Foster parents will find that the new tax law also includes a provision in the exemption area designed especially in consideration of their interests. If certain requirements are met they may claim a dependency exemption for a foster child on the same basis as for blood-related or adopted children.

The law requires that the child must have as his principal place of abode the home of the taxpayer and must be a member of the taxpayer's household for the entire year. Thus, a foster child may have gross income in excess of $625 for a year, if the child is less than 19 years old or is a student, without the parents losing the dependency exemption for the child, provided they furnished more than one-half of the foster child's support. Previously such a foster child could not qualify as a dependent even though all other dependency requirements were met.

'Dream Machine' rolls past Alma

By BOB GAVAN
News Staff Writer

The Great American Dream Machine is alive and well in St. Johns.

A machine must be composed of finely tuned precision components backed by reserve parts directed by an operator in order to function to its fullest capacity.

That was exactly what operated at St. Johns High School Friday night.

"Each player had a job to do and they all performed beautifully," said Coach Doug Japenga after the game with Alma where they cruised to a sweet victory, 85-70.

Even though the Wings were minus three regular players, the five starters all scored in the double figures to revenge their only loss this year to Alma 77-73.

Coach Japenga explained the Wings strategy.

"We start slow, learn their moves, then adjust primarily in the second half," he said.

Japenga said, "we were concerned with Alma, they have an excellent record and they are quick. We had to beat them on the boards and had to rebound them."

This is exactly what the Wings did. Led by Dean Eisler, who was there for 26 rebounds and shooting indefensible long shots, the "Machine" adjusted quickly in the second quarter with Eisler netting 14 of the 23 points to lead at half time 38-30.

The second half belonged to the Wings. Each player received loud ovations when Coach Japenga spelled them with reserves in the final minutes.

Brian Carpenter and Steve Mead each netted 16 points. Randy Atkinson and Ken Schueller, reserves, bagged 13 and 11 respectively.

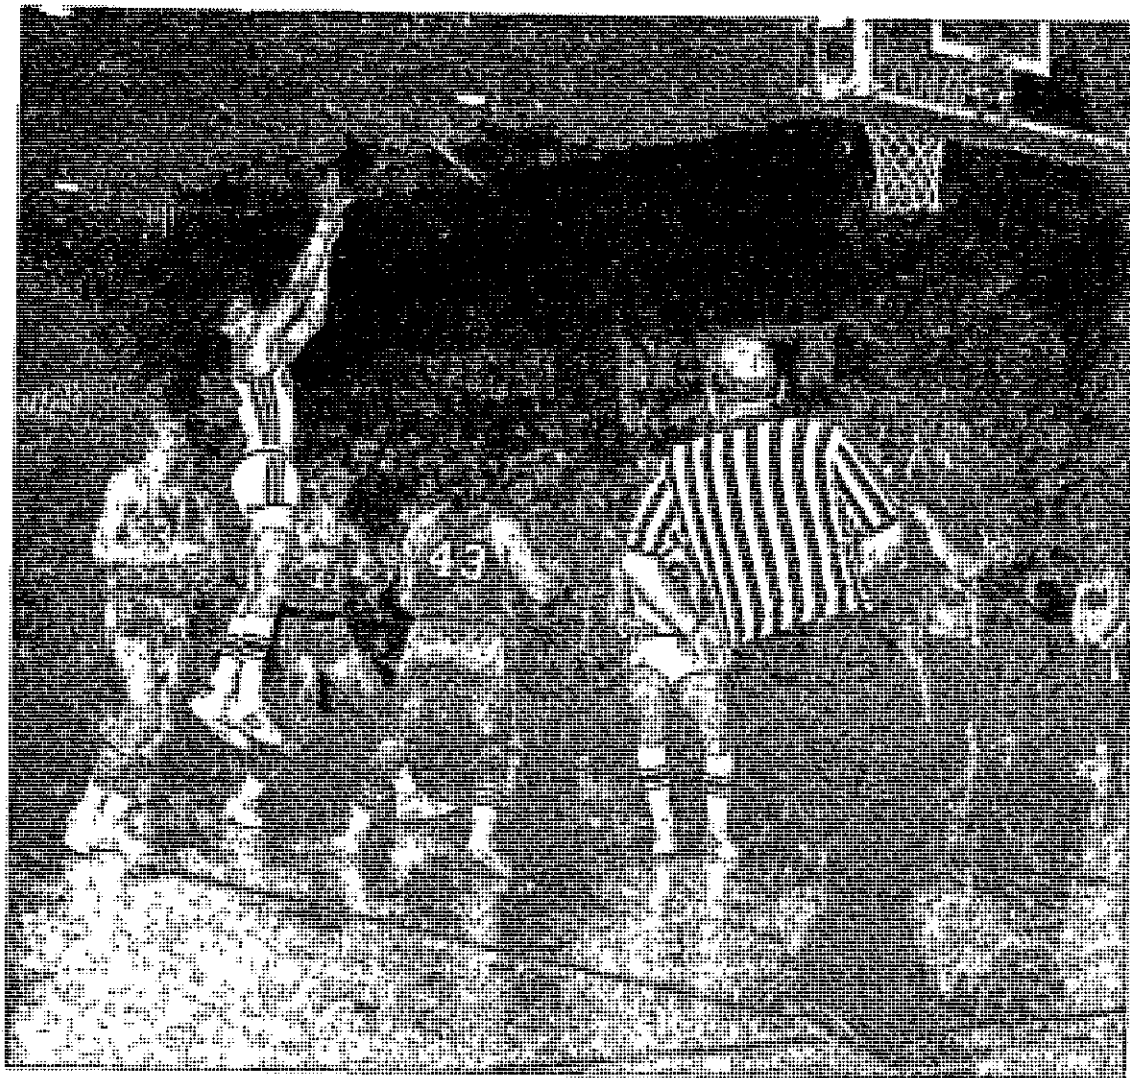

Eisler netted 41 above his all conference record of 24.9 with 29 points.

Looking forward, Coach Japenga commented, "We are going to take the next game one at a time. We are concerned with Charlotte, they have improved greatly in the second season. They are good players, they hustle, and are well coached." He added, "It should be a good ball game."

Remarking about Lakewood, Japenga said, "It will be a rough game, they will do everything they can do to get up for this one. It has been a rivalry for years, but we will be ready."

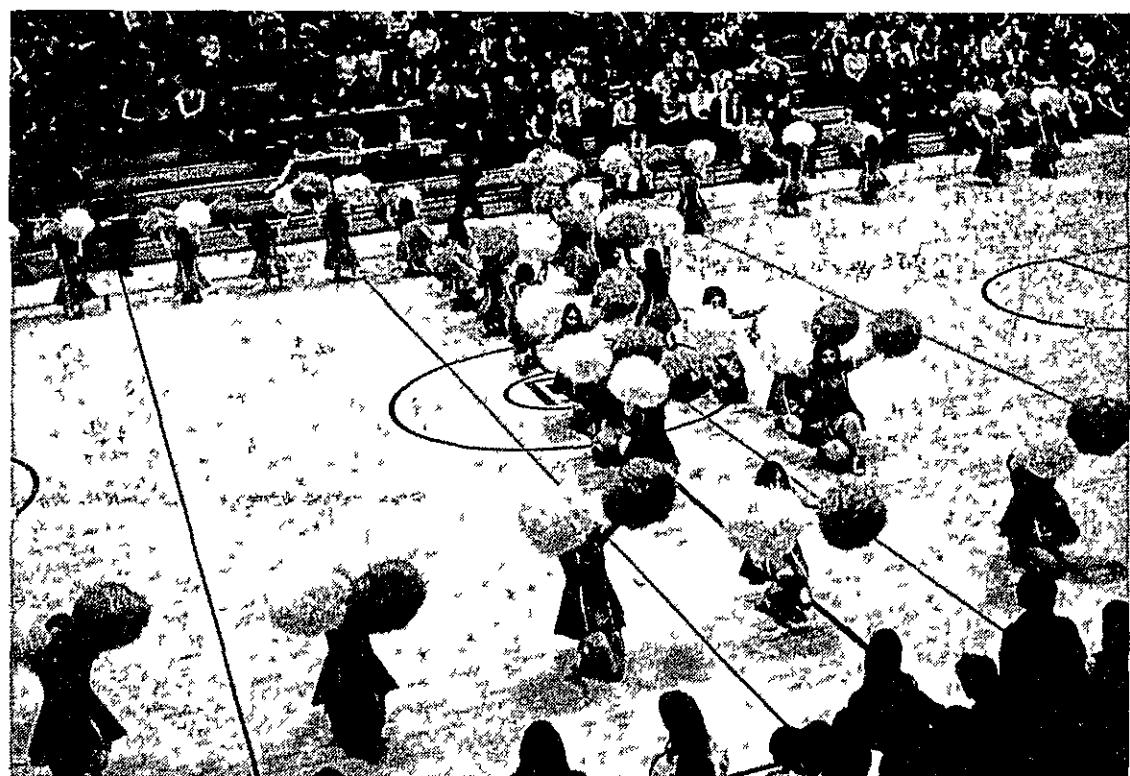

The "Machine's" next performance is with Charlotte Friday night.

St. Johns 15 23 24 23-85
Charlotte 16 14 22 18-70
The JV team lost a close one that kept everyone on their toes until the final gun 47-45.

DEFENSELESS LONGSHOT

Dean Eisler takes another of his many longshots that crushes Alma's defense, which really couldn't get near him.

Panthers prepare for districts against Haslett

By TIM YOUNGMAN
Editor

Tuesday night was to be preview night for DeWitt's chances in the Class C district tournament which will begin Monday March 1.

The hungry Panthers, hoping to finish a strong second in the Central Michigan Athletic Conference behind Fowler, were set to face Haslett at 8 p.m. in the Haslett gymnasium.

DeWitt is slated to meet Haslett in their first game of the district tournaments at Perry during the opening of March Madness (district tournament week).

Head Coach Frank Deak said Monday that a "lot depends on tomorrow night with Haslett." He noted that if the Panthers can top their hosts Tuesday night, they could stand an excellent chance in the Class C districts.

"Haslett is the favorite," he said, "but Bath has improved since our first game with them." DeWitt topped the Bees in the first encounter, of the year.

Other teams scheduled to compete in the Perry tournament are Perry, Boys Training School (Lansing), and Byron.

The Panthers prepared for their Haslett encounter with a big conference win Friday night against Owosso St. Paul, 77-60.

DeWitt was still minus the full efforts of big 6-7 center Loren Ward, who had injured his ankle early in the season and missed all but seven games.

"It was a fairly close game," Deak admitted, "but we just wore them out."

He said the Blue Wave had tried a full-court press from the start of the game, but couldn't keep up with the running Panthers.

"We kept getting the ball up court quickly and they could not send all of their players down the court fast enough to defend," Deak said.

Deak added that the team has been working each day on breaking the full-court press. "We run these drills for about one-half hour each day," he said. "This saves us time to work on other things," he said.

DeWitt opened the scoring and was never behind in the game. They outscored the Blue Waves 18-12 in the first quarter and went on to a 36-27 halftime lead.

They kept chipping away at Owosso for more points in the third quarter to stretch the lead to 52-41 and coasted in to the victory column with 25 extra points in the last quarter.

DeWitt's Pat Botke led both squads with a scoring 27-point output on 12 big field goals and three free throws.

Doug Klaver added 10 points on four field shots and two free throws.

Others scoring for DeWitt was Steve Tews (2), Andy Cusack (6), Ron Wilcox (6), Gordon Keck (6), Mark Simon (6), Chuck Berkimer (3), Dan Ruble (2), Dan Davis (2) and Mike Moody (1).

The second-place Panthers now stand 8-3 in league play and 9-4 overall.

DeWitt's JV squad defeated Owosso's JV's 81-58.

Scoring by quarters:
DeWitt 18 18 16 25-77
Owosso 12 15 14 19-60

'We're not nasty,' Trierweiler says as Eagles capture CMAC championship

Defense was the key force, according to Coach Chuck Trierweiler, for Fowler's 14th straight win over Laingsburg 72-59 to make the Eagles undisputed CMAC champions.

Coach Trierweiler commented on last weekend's press reports discussing the teams' 'nasty defense,' he said, "I think they meant something else, we teach our players to be fair, however, they do play rough, but none of them are nasty."

Ball control was one of their problems, accounting for 34 turnovers. However, the Eagles outscored Laingsburg by 28 points from the floor, shooting 46 per cent. The defense limited the Wolfpack to a poor 30 per cent from the floor.

COACH TRIERWEILER

The score was close until the last eight minutes when the Eagles came through with a surge of baskets that amounted to 23 points in the fourth for ultimate victory.

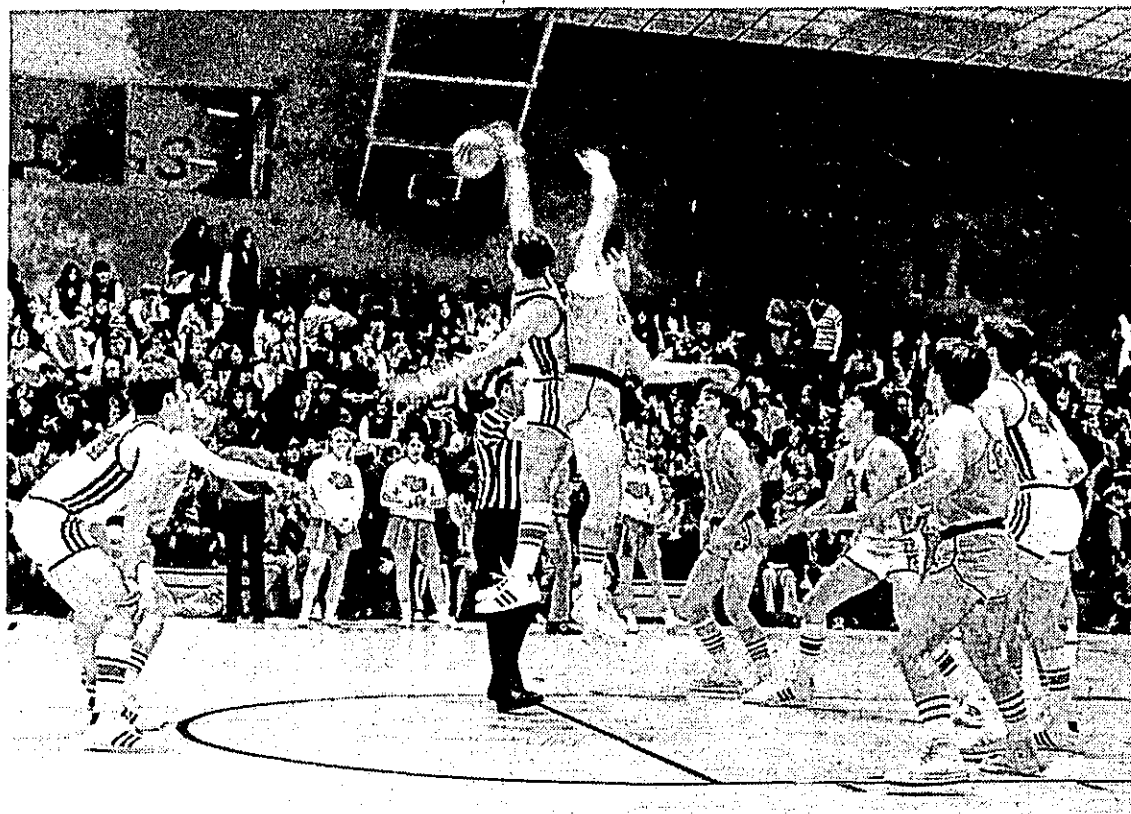

Nell Thelen again led the charge with 22 points, John Mathews, Gary Pung and Ed Pung each netted 12 points.

Also scoring were Clare Thelen 5, Alan Harr 4, Steve Feldpausch, Jerome Pohl and Stan Feldpausch with 2 points each.

Ask about next Friday's game with DeWitt, Trierweiler, said, "this will be one of the rougher games for us, they are moving well and are much improved. We are going to have our hands full."

Coach Trierweiler commented about the districts saying, "They are always tough, every team is very capable of winning and we are going to have to work very hard."

Fowler 15 20 14 23-72
Laingsburg 11 22 12 14-59
The JV easily won their game by a margin of 26 points 73-47.

'Improved' Markham sinks Perry with game winning bucket, 75-74

Randy Markham's crucial basket with seven seconds remaining Friday night snared a win for the Bees over Perry 75-74.

Markham, who netted 11 of his 23 points in the fourth "is the finest and most improved ball player on the team," according to Coach Richard Wilt.

The key to the win was outstanding rebounding, 64-47 edge, and fast breaks, said Wilt.

Bath led right up to 30 seconds from the gun when they trailed by one point 74-73. With less than ten seconds to go, Paul Stoll snatched the ball from Perry and fed to Markham who dumped in two points to clinch the important decision.

Bath was tied with Fowlerville for second place in the Ingham County League. They are now all alone in second place with 9-4 overall and 8-3 conference tally.

"We should keep second place, but we do have three games to go," Wilt said, "however, I am optimistic about them. The league race was pretty well cut and dry in the beginning with Stockbridge favored for first."

"We should have a better chance in the districts," Wilt commented. Paul Stoll netted 17 points, while Dave Smith assisted with 14 points.

Lynn Vletzke and Don Parkey each scored eight points, while Joe Mitchell netted four and Marty Tucker got one from the free throw line.

The JV team won 69-48.
Scoring by quarters:
Bath 19 18 18 20-75

MMB title hopes fade, O-E succumbs 74-60

The title hopes for Ovid-Elsie's Marauders dimmed somewhat Friday night as they were tripped by Midland Bullock Creek 74-60, leaving O-E in second place with two league games left.

The Marauders, currently tied for second with St. Louis, kept pace with Bullock Creek during the first half, but couldn't seem to get up enough steam to overcome their tough Mid-Michigan B opponents.

The Marauders fell five points behind in the first quarter, 20-15, but gained back two in second quarter play—trailing 38-35 at halftime.

Ovid-Elsie outscored Bullock Creek in the third period 13-12 to shave the lead, but allowed a big 12-point gap in the final minutes of play to drop the decision.

Marauder Cal Woodward led the scoring with 19 points on four field goals and a sensational 11 of 12 at the charity line.

John Glowney, a leading freshman play two years ago and injured most of last season, added 12 points to the cause on four field goals and four to five at the line.

Other O-E scorers were Dan Bowles (8), Keith Nelson (9), Mark Case (4), and Bill Foran (8).

Ovid-Elsie will face Corunna Friday night and Bay City All Saints Saturday to keep in shape for the season finale next week against Chesaning.

The junior varsity topped Bullock Creek, 67-65.

Deak hopes to sink Fowler again

By TIM YOUNGMAN
Editor

DeWitt's Head Coach Frank Deak is hoping for a repeat performance Friday night against Fowler.

Not a repeat of their first encounter this season when Fowler walked off the court an 83-69 victor.

He was thinking in terms of the last game of 1970's season. Fowler went into that last game with a fantastic 16-0 record and was rated number one in the state's Class D high school polls.

The Panthers roared into the game and they walked away with a victory—64-59.

"We would like to knock them off again," beamed Deak.

"We're in second place in the league and we hope to hold onto it."

"We have better strength this year and our defense is improving," Deak said. "We have a better offensive punch, too."

When asked if the number one rating of their arch-rival has hindered the Panthers' Deak laughed and said, "Our kids don't respect Fowler's ranking."

He noted that most of the teams the Eagles face have been intimidated by the number one rating.

He said the first encounter with Fowler this season wasn't a true test since he had some injuries on the Panther team and they couldn't run the flying Eagles. "We just couldn't keep up," he said.

"We have a balanced team," he commented. "Our highest individual scorer averages 15 points and we have eight or nine players that can average seven points."

Fowler's Head Coach Chuck Trierweiler noted that DeWitt is an "improved team," since their first encounter.

"We're going to have our hands full," he said.

Trierweiler made it clear early in the season that he thought the Eagles players were not affected by the high state ranking, but it has put some pressure on them in the last few games.

Fowler topped the CMAC again this season by dumping Laingsburg Friday night.

The players, coaches and fans are waiting feverishly to see the county's basketball "Game of the Year."

Whichever way the game falls, there is bound to be some joy in Mudville come Saturday morning—along with some tears at the other end of the county.

Marauders sparkle in MMB wrestling tournament win

Life must be getting monotonous for Jim Mallow.

Ovid-Elsie's Marauders won another wrestling tournament Saturday, marking the fourth time in six tries that they have come away from the mat a champion.

But Coach Mallow isn't complaining as his Marauders won the top spot in the Mid-Michigan B Conference Tournament held at Chesaning.

In fact, he's boasting. "We will have four of our regulars back next season and we'll be in real good shape," he said. They seem to be in "real good shape" now, however, as Mallow prepares for the district tournaments Saturday at Holt.

"We should have about five boys in the state finals," Mallow predicted, but the districts "will be tight."

He said that the Marauders must face "four real tough" opponents in the districts—Holt, Charlotte, Eaton Rapids and Mason.

He added that Okemos was another entry in the tourney that could cause the Marauders a bit of trouble.

In winning the conference tournament, the Marauders tallied 108 points, burying second place Bullock Creek in the finals. The Midland school tallied 75 points.

Other teams were Corunna (67),

St. Louis (42), Ithaca (19) and Chesaning (8).

The Marauders will travel to Alma Feb. 27 for the Regional Tournament, with hopes of sending several or all wrestlers into the state finals a week later.

Lions visit DeWitt, win 85-78

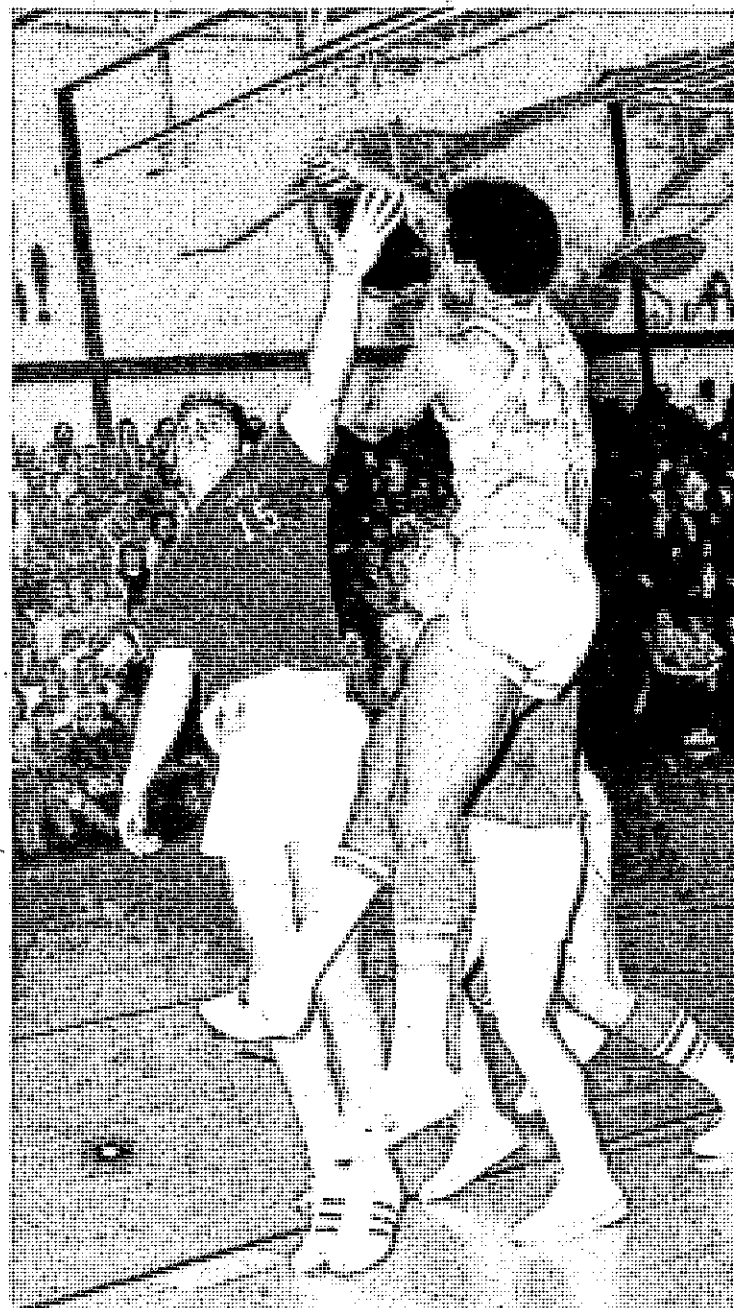

ONE HAND

Mel Farr (24), the Lions' star halfback during football season, flips a one-hander over a DeWitt All-Star defender for two solid points.

TWO MORE FOR DETROIT

Mel Farr (24) drives in for a short layup against the DeWitt Stars in their meeting for the Band Boosters Thursday night. Detroit won 85-78. Waiting in the back for a possible rebound is Earl (The Pearl) McCullough. (25).

TOM, MEET CHARLIE

DeWitt All-Star Tom Isenhardt leaps to block one of the best blockers in professional football, Charlie Sanders (88), but the Lion star got the shot away for the score.

Return

Michigan State cross country runners returned to NCAA championship meet action in 1970 after a year's absence and finished seventh in team standings.

Michigan State cross country team's retired ICA cross country team championship cups in 1937 and in 1957 with five wins on each.

WATER TOWN CHARTER TOWNSHIP MINUTES

The February meeting was called to order on the above date with all Board members present except Leon Garlock. Commissioner Montgomery was also in attendance.

Minutes of the January meeting were read and approved.

The Treasurer's report was read and placed on file.

Bills were read and motion to pay the same. Orders 18 thru 32 were drawn on the General Account; Orders 2 thru 5 on the Cemetery Account and Order No. 1 on the Highway Account.

Correspondence read and filed.

Commissioner Montgomery reported that our township along with the county is conducting a survey relative to the State Recreation Program.

Eloise Ward, Don Lowell and Bob Stewart were re-appointed to three year terms on the Watertown Township Planning Commission.

Mr. Openlander reported that the stickers to be used by Watertown Township residents who wish to utilize the landfill owned by Vector Construction Co. on U.S. 16, have been ordered. Vector Construction Co. have entered into an agreement with the Watertown Township Board stating that Watertown citizens may use their landfill at the same prices our Township have been charging at our own landfill, but a sticker must be purchased and attached to the owner's vehicle. These stickers will be $1.00 and can be obtained at the Township Office on Tuesdays and Thursdays, and are valid for so long as the citizen is a resident of this township. This sticker is non-transferable. They will be available on or about March 1.

Richard Rosier and Daryl Bancroft, representing a group of concerned citizens for the prevention of crimes in both Eagle and Watertown Township, came in to discuss some ideas with our Board relative to future meetings, how to finance this movement and how best to reach all citizens to see if they would be interested in participating. After much discussion it was decided that probably a public meeting would be the best way to get information to citizens and the financing of such a venture could be discussed at that time.

The Board discussed at great length a road program for Watertown Township, and what could be accomplished with our limited funds.

There being no further business meeting adjourned.

MILDRED McDONOUGH
Clerk

Phosphates and nitrates on lawn not polluters

The use of phosphate and nitrate fertilizer on Michigan lawns does not contribute significantly to pollution of the state's lakes and streams, a Michigan State University authority contends.

Dr. Paul Rieke, MSU Department of Crop and Soil Sciences, said that research at MSU and elsewhere has shown that phosphates are almost insoluble in soil and that, where care is used to follow recommendations for application, there is no phosphate leaching.

He pointed out that the threat of nitrate leaching is related to the type of nitrogen fertilizer used - water-soluble or organic, the rate of application at one time and over the season and the amount of irrigation.

Rieke said that where turfgrass is being grown on heavily irrigated, sandy soils, especially near lakes and streams, lighter, more frequent applications are required.

He also cautioned the home lawn keeper against careless scattering of fertilizer on walks, drives or streets, warning that from these paved areas it is quickly washed into the storm sewer and from there, into lakes and streams.

Rieke was among speakers recently at the 41st annual Michigan Turfgrass Conference in MSU's Kellogg Center for Continuing Education.

Special class to teach sheep shearing rules

A sheep shearing school will be held at the Vernon Puetz Farm on Jason Road just west of Grove Road on Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 22 and 23.

Graydon Blank, Sheep Specialist at Michigan State University will be the instructor.

Anyone interested in learning how to shear their own sheep or to do custom shearing can attend. Instruction will also cover the care and maintenance of shearing equipment.

The school will begin at 9 a.m. each day. Necessary equipment will be furnished but those who attend may bring their own equipment. There is no charge for the school.

Up to a week's worth of trash

Whirlpool

Trash Masher COMPACTOR

No. need for unsightly litter blowing over your yard, or hauling trash cans back and forth, or the mess of cleaning them. The Whirlpool Trash Masher compacts 2 1/2 ordinary 20 gal. cans of normal trash into a sealed paper bag ready for pick up... even sprays a measured amount of deodorant on each load to help control odor.

Many men become victims of circumstances because they allow themselves to be victimized.

Creating private recreation enterprises talk set for '71 Farmers' Week

"Developing Private Recreation Enterprises" will be the topic of a program scheduled for Wednesday (March 24) of Farmers' Week 1971 at Michigan State University.

Offered by the MSU park and recreation resources department, the program will be held in Room 221 of the Natural Resources Building beginning at 9:30 a.m.

The first item on the agenda will be an explanation and discussion of Act 171—the new Michigan Campground Act.

At 10:30 a.m. Roger Murray, MSU extension specialist in park management, will speak on "The Michigan Recreation Bond Program—What You Should Know About What's Going On."

"Resource Interpretation—An Unexplored Asset," will be the topic of Paul Risk, extension specialist in environmental interpretation, at 11:00.

At 11:30 a.m. a panel of specialists from the State Department of Health, MSU and the Campground Advisory Committee will answer questions from the audience pertaining to the morning program.

The afternoon program will get under way at 1:15 when Dr. Michael Chubb, research director in the MSU park and recreation resources department, reports on "Research Findings in the Recreation Field."

"Prospects in Campground Business" will be discussed at 1:30 p.m. followed at 2:30 p.m. by the final item on the agenda—a presentation on privately operated snowmobile trails, featuring Thomas Dmoch of the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation and Dr. Eugene Dice, MSU extension specialist in recreation resource development.

About the farm

Farmers' Week beef cattle day features MSU specialists

Cattle feeders, cow-calf producers and purebred beef breeders will get the latest production recommendations from Michigan State University scientists and specialists during Farmers' Week Beef Cattle Day activities, March 23.

The Tuesday morning program starts with an open house at the Beef Cattle Research Center and the Purebred Beef Cattle Teaching Center, both at East Lansing. Jack Linkletter, television personality and Australian rancher, will narrate pictorial coverage of the International Cattleman's Expo at 1:30 p.m. The expo was held at Las Vegas in December. Linkletter will answer questions following the narration.

Other reports at the Beef Cattle Research Center will include: —Pro-Sil and other silage additives.

—Use of ammonium salts as a protein source for cattle.

—Economics of feeding steers.

—Selection for tenderness and leanness. —Housing systems compared. Visitors will see feedlot animals on various experimental rations.

Also, in the morning, exhibits at the Purebred Beef Cattle Teaching Center will highlight: —The Michigan Beef Cattle Performance Testing Program.

—Body types of steers, heifers, and mature cows. —Performance tests of 'bull calves'.

—Growth rates of modern vs. out-dated cattle.

—Present and future trends in the beef cattle industry.

—Rations for purebred cattle. Beef cattle association business meetings include the Hereford Breeders and Charolais Breeders at 10 a.m., and the Michigan Beef Cattle Breeders at 3:30 p.m.

To receive a program detailing Beef Cattle Day and all Farmers' Week activities, contact any county Cooperative Extension Service Office.

ASCS REPORT

Loan program

By BILL SMITH

Sec. of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin announced on Feb. 2 a lower loan interest rate and other changes in USDA's farm storage and drying equipment loan program aimed at making the program "more responsive to the needs of farmers and to make possible reasonable expansion in on-the-farm storage and drying capacity."

It is possible to lower the loan interest rate at this time, USDA officials explained, because of the recent lowering of the borrowing cost of money to Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC).

Under this program farmers can secure CCC loans to purchase or contract on-farm storage and drying facilities and to purchase operating equipment. Such loans have been available to eligible farmers since 1949. Through calendar year 1970 there have been more than 316,000 of these loans for a total of $518 million.

With this aid farmers have constructed over 1.5 billion bushels of grain storage capacity. As of Dec. 31, 1970, repayments had reduced the total of loans outstanding to $146.3 million.

The changes are being made to assist farmers in more orderly marketing of their commodities by allowing them to hold their products and take better advantage of market prices, USDA officials said. The changes will also assist farmers in keeping pace with new harvesting, conditioning and storage techniques.

Through providing a larger storage capacity on his farm, the producer is less likely to get caught in a transportation bottleneck and need not take a discount for lack of adequate transportation at time of harvest.

Following are the program changes announced:

—Lowers interest rate on loans to 50 cents per $100 or fraction thereof per month or 6 percent annual rate (compared to 62-1/2 cents or 7-1/2 percent annual).

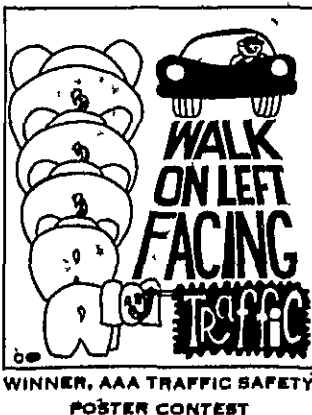

—Increases maximum loan or outstanding aggregate balance from $25,000 to $35,000.

—Removes $5,000 loan limit on drying equipment and permits such loans to 85 percent of the net cost up to $35,000.

—Removes restrictions on various items of equipment. Operating equipment essential to the practical operation of the storage or drying unit may be included in a loan for storage or drying equipment.

Loans may be made to add essential equipment to an existing storage or drying unit.

—Costs of foundations and electrical wiring may be included in the loan.

WINNER, AAA TRAFFIC SAFETY POSTER CONTEST

Center expands

By JOHN AYLSWORTH

Expansion of the National 4-H Center in Washington, D.C. was the only answer to meet the needs and demands of the National 4-H Programs.

Educational programs for youth and adults at the Center include the 4-H Citizenship Short Course which reaches over 5000 youth annually; 4-H leader forums reaching 1200 leaders each year; National 4-H Conference; 4-H Teen Caravan; International Farm Youth Exchange; World Wide Rural Youth Programs; and hundreds of Extension workshops and training courses.

Over 21,000 youth and adults participate in the Center's 4-H educational programs annually. The new expansion will cost approximately 8 million dollars which 4-H'ers from throughout the United States will raise about 2 million dollars and the remaining money coming from friends of 4-H, business and industry.

The building program will consist of three phases: (1) Two new dorms so a total of 800 people can be accommodated (300 is the maximum now) and a new cafeteria to seat 600-800 people. While in Washington, D.C. this past week I was able to observe the construction progress.

Phase I will be finished on or before July 1 and will be used as soon as possible. The new facility will cost over 4 million dollars. (2) Phase II should be a new seminar center that will seat over 800 people plus a chapel, meeting rooms and library. (3) Phase III will be the remodeling of the Old Smith Hall part of the original center which was built in 1893.

CLINTON COUNTY 4-H'ers have pledged to contribute $1,501. based upon their 1969 4-H enrollment at $1 per member.

The State of Michigan has pledged $75,000. toward the expansion program. To date over $1200 has been contributed by Clinton County 4-H clubs through various fund raising activities.

Seventeen clubs have contributed their goal of $1. per member while nearly 30 clubs have made some contribution toward the program. Our goal is to have our quota raised by the deadline July 1.

Each year Clinton County sends 5 to 6 4-H members to participate in the National 4-H Citizenship Short Course Program at Washington, D.C. Because the National 4-H Center can accommodate only 300 people in the past, some groups were housed at the University of Maryland at College Park, Maryland.

In 1971 Clinton County will send 6 delegates to the 4-H Citizenship Short Course program July 4-10 and they are scheduled to stay at the 4-H Center. Tentative plans are being made to fly down this year instead of going by bus.

Any 4-H'er 15 years of age or older who would like to apply for this program should contact the Extension Office for an application.

ABOUT 11,550 pounds of crushed glass was taken to the glass plant at Charlotte Friday for February's collection. To date this makes nearly 25 tons of glass that has not been taken to the landfills but re-cycled to be used again into new materials.

Over $450. from this project to date has been contributed to the National 4-H Center Expansion Drive at Washington, D.C. The 4-H Teen Leaders wish to thank all people who have helped with this project either by bringing glass or setting out the glass for them to collect.

The next month's glass project will be on Saturday, March 6 from 10 a.m. til 2 p.m. at the fairgrounds.

THE 4-H Teen Leaders will tour the Owens Illinois glass plant at Charlotte on Thursday, March 4 for their next meeting.

The group is to meet at the Extension Office in St. Johns at 7 p.m. The Teen Leaders voted to prepare a 4-H float for the Soap Box Derby Parade on May 23, signed up for the Minnesota 4-H Exchange July 8-16, the National 4-H Citizenship Short Course July 4-10, and hosting the North Carolina 4-H Exchange June 20-26.

THE HAPPY Hustlers 4-H members had a surprise party for their leader Mrs. Albert Schaefer and presented her with a lovely plant. Demonstrations were given by Wendy Brockmeyer on "Darts"; Carol Fox on "Block-Knitting"; Susan Aylsworth on "Knitting Master Kit"; Marian Kurcz on "How to Use Yeast"; Dane Bauer on "Poultry"; Candy Scharnweber and Mary Whitford on "Tailor Tacks and Darts".

Patty Fox gave a talk on her trip to Traverse City 4-H Snow Camp Weekend.

THE COUNTRYSIDE 4-H members will be participating in the 4-H Roller Skating activity Thursday evening at St. Johns. The members voted to purchase a 4-H flag and American flag set for their business meetings and voted to sell stationery as a money making project. The club has contributed $12. to the National 4-H Center drive and reached their quota of $1. per member drive.

THE ELSIE 4 Corners 4-H club will have 21 members participating in the National Garden contest for youth, pumpkin and sunflower growing. A photo and art show was held with members showing what they had accomplished. Kam Washburn gave a talk on "How to Make a Speech". A demonstration was given by Rose Oberlin on "How to Shrink Material" and "How to Pin on a Pattern". Dan Washburn and Caroline Oberlin gave a report on their trip to Traverse City 4-H Snow Camp Weekend.

THE KOUNTRY Kousins 4-H members voted in favor of the slow pitch instead of fast pitch for the 4-H softball league. Whether the county goes to slow pitch or not depends what the state sets up. Frank Faivor gave a report on the exchange meeting with Bengal Community club and reported their club would be attending the Kountry Kousins' March 2 meeting.

Charles Tait and Steve VanVleet gave a report on their experiences at Traverse City 4-H Snow Camp Weekend. The Kountry Kousins 4-H club will go roller skating on February 18 at St. Johns.

Horticultural members interested in participating in any of the programs were to contact Anabel Faivor. Demonstrations were given by Gerilyn Faivor on "Cutting Out a Pattern"; Brian VanVleet on "How to Refinish Furniture"; and Dale Devereaux on "The Bobbin and Its Use".

Animal waste disposal system, pollution control featured during Farmers' Week program

If you're thinking about expanding or remodeling your livestock or poultry housing and facilities, plan to attend Farmers' Week program on animal waste disposal systems and pollution control, Wednesday, March 24, at Michigan State University.

That's the suggestion of F. Earl Haas, Clinton County Extension Director.

"By learning about the functions and expectations of agencies responsible for preventing pollution of public water and air, you can avoid investing in waste handling systems that are unsatisfactory in capacity, economy or efficiency," Haas said.

At a morning program, Michigan Attorney General Frank J. Kelley will discuss Michigan law and its implications for dairy, livestock and poultry producers. Representatives of the Michigan Water Resources Commission and the new Environmental Protection Agency will speak on state and federal pollution control programs.

Waste disposal systems acceptable for ASC payments will be reported by Loren Oshel of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service. Also, State Sen. Harry DeMaso, chairman of the Senate Taxation Committee, will discuss tax exemptions for pollution control systems.

The afternoon program will focus on systems that farmers can use for animal waste disposal to avoid water and air pollution. "Investments in manure disposal systems are often $75 or more per head on livestock farms," noted Haas. "You must be sure that your system will avoid public conflict as well as meet your manure handling needs."

The speakers will point out some simple practices for dairy farms and feedlots—capacities, cost, operation, limitations—will be discussed by James Boyd, MSU agricultural engineer, Pat Ngoddy, also of the MSU agricultural engineering department, will speak on innovative alternatives for animal waste disposal.

Manure disposal systems will be explained by Arthur Muehling, University of Illinois agricultural engineer. C. C. Shepherd of the MSU poultry department will tell about waste disposal methods for poultry producers, also.

A panel of farmers who have installed new waste disposal systems will discuss their systems. To get a Farmers' Week program, contact the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service Office at 1003 S. Oakland St., St. Johns.

Something to boast about

Michigan winter sports centers boast more than 600 slopes and runs and more than 400 lifts and tows, including 68 double, triple and four-place chair lifts, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

Serving America's Farmers: Providers of Plenty

Clinton County News

Editorial Page

Wednesday, February 17, 1971

Future farmers

At one time farming consisted of "40 acres and a mule," and a man did well if he was able to feed himself and his family. In 1971, the story is far different. Farming is a business, and agriculture is a highly advanced industry employing the best brains among many disciplines.

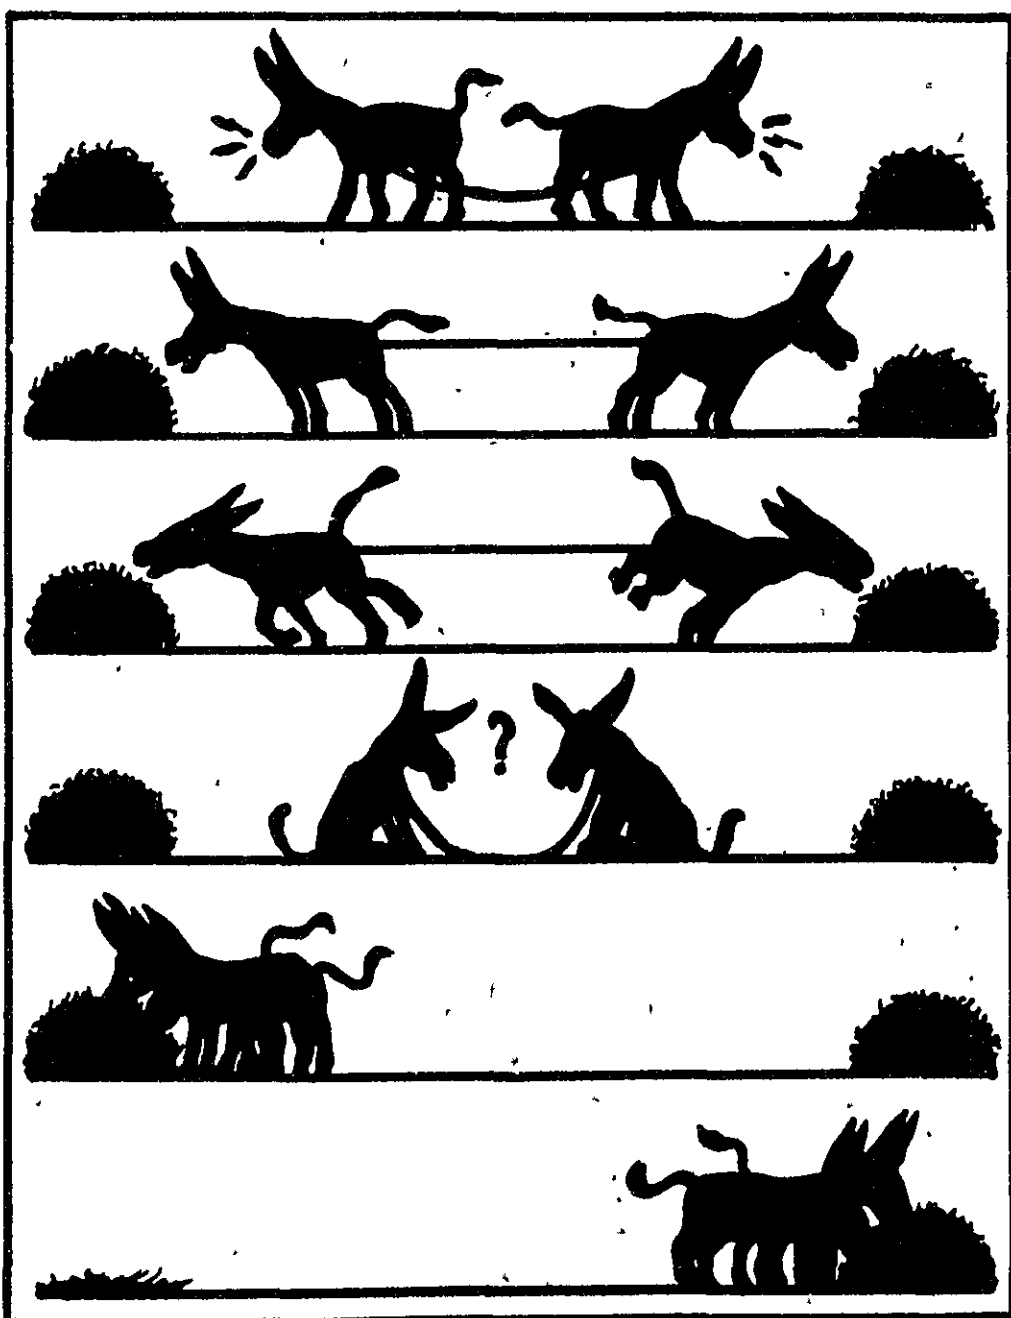

A successful career in agriculture must start at an early age. That is why there are such organizations as the Future Farmers of America which will shortly be observing FFA week, February 20-27. The theme of FFA week this year is, "Involved in America's Future." No theme could be more appropriate. Nothing is more closely involved with the future of the United States than the raising of the food and fiber for more than 200 million people.

Some facts in connection with commemoration of FFA week have been released by The National Future Farmer, a publication of the FFA. The FFA is a national organization of 450,000 students studying vocational agriculture in 9,000 public schools. The foundation upon which it is built includes leadership, community service, scholarship improved agriculture, citizenship, patriotism etc. Young people in local FFA chapters are developing into the agricultural leaders of tomorrow.

Those engaged in agriculture are a declining percentage of the total population of the country. As the numbers of farmers shrink, the responsibilities of each agricultural producer become heavier. Today, on the average, every farmer feeds nearly 50 other people. Tomorrow, this figure will increase, and the need for agricultural leadership and ability will grow. The FFA is to be commended for preparing young people for careers in the most fundamental of all enterprises—bringing forth the bounty of the land to supply the growing needs of our nation and the world.

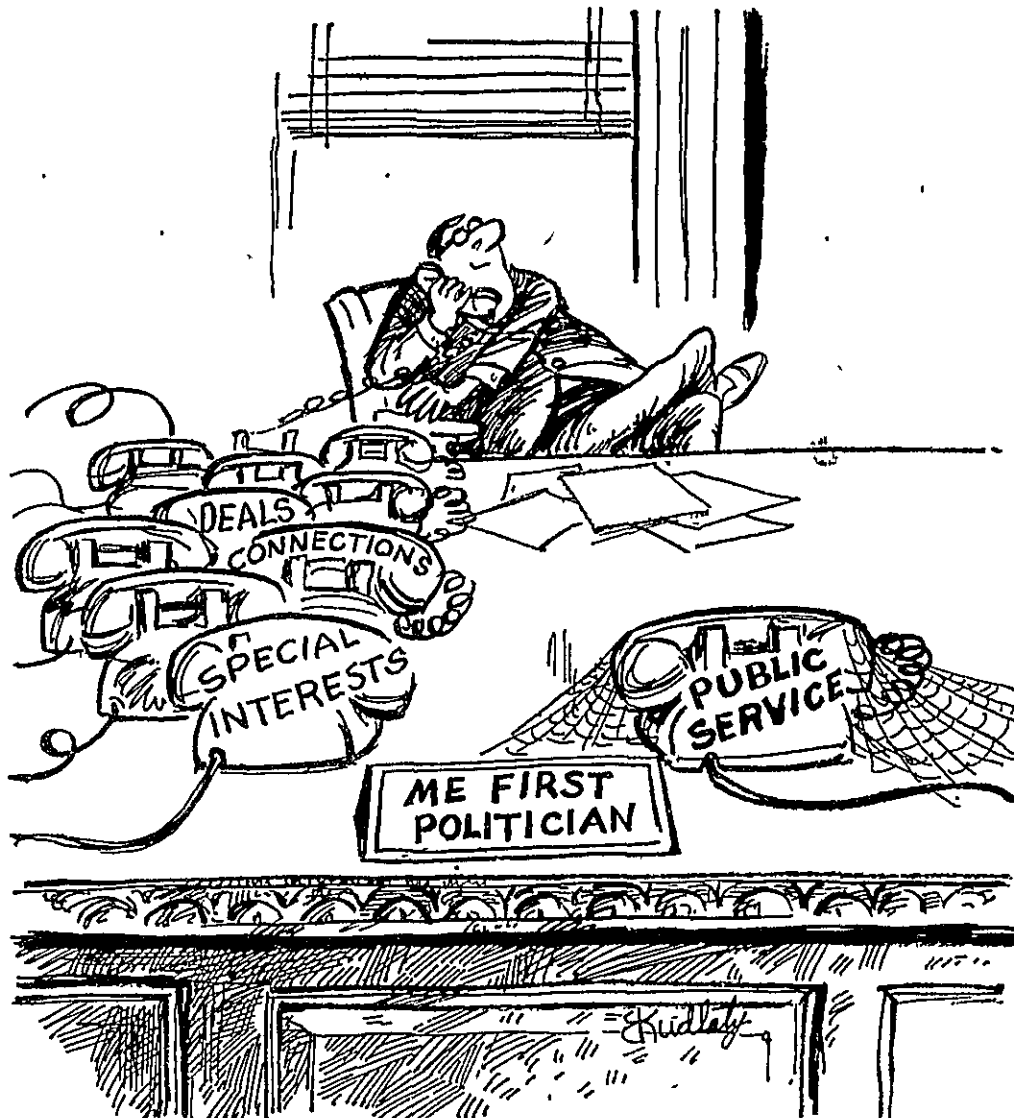

NEW BERN, N.C., SUN-JOURNAL: "The International Press Institute reports that distrust of news media is growing in the United States and constitutes more of a challenge than the technical and economic problems that beset the industry. . . The nation has special commissions coming out of its ears. But it might be a good thing to appoint one more, composed of distinguished Americans outside the field of journalism, to take a searching look at the news media, if only to discover that it still performs a useful function."

Although the European war was over for 10 months and it was a full six months since the Japanese surrendered, Clinton county people were finding that shortages of nearly all kinds of merchandise and supplies were still with them and in some needs, worse than ever. A list of shortages include building materials, farm equipment, household goods, wearing apparel, paper products, food, and automotive.

The St. Johns Civic League, a new organization to stimulate local interest in civic affairs, was formed as the result of local citizens.

More than 400 people applied for the 125 jobs available at the new Sealed Air Corporation plant.

Veterans returning to Clinton county found that their biggest problem was finding suitable civilian clothes. Eighty-six men returned during the week.

Bath High School defeated Gaines High 35-10 to finish their tri-county league schedule undefeated.

Fowler High School completed their third successive season without suffering a loss on their home court. They added another victory when they triumphed over Saranac 22-16.

Armistice only

By WARREN E. DOBSON

I gaze o'er my snow covered garden,
Now that winter has us all in its hold,
So quiet in peaceful slumbers
As it lies there inert still 'n cold;
Can it be such a bee-hive of action,
Once summer suns woo it once more?
Will I once more be caught in its clutches,
There to toil so weary and sore?

Why do I "sign in" each season?
For a race that I never can win?
Why forfeit my right to vacation,
Just to push till I'm really all in?
Is there never a more happy option?
Some way I can keep more foot-loose—
Then strainin' n' prayin', 'n' groanin',
At all of that pent-up abuse?

I think I'll hold out for more wages,
Fringe benefits I shall demand,
Else why should I go back to hard labor,
On that stubborn old unyielding land?
All the best growin' weeks in the country
Are dormant now waitin' to bloom
The bugs 'n the worms 'n the virus
All threaten a new garden boom.

My warrin' with foes is incessant
They've enlisted full ranks for the fray—
If I give 'em but one tiny opening
They quickly will dominate play;
I'll not give them that satisfaction!
I'm ready to battle on sight—
I may not be able to beat 'em,
But they'll know they have been in a fight!

Bill's toys

By JIM FITZGERALD

Around where I live, a lot of people are upset because William Ford is moving his Lions football team out of Detroit and into Pontiac. But around the nation, no one seems to care that Senator Ted Kennedy has his suits made in England.

What does it all mean? It means that, once again, people are getting excited about the wrong thing.

The Detroit Lions belong to Bill Ford. They are his toys and he has the right to play with his toys wherever he likes, as long as he stays out of traffic.

His critics say Ford is being disloyal to the town that built the Model T and made his family rich. They say he should play with his toy in downtown Detroit because the excitement would distract the muggers.

This isn't fair. No one growled at old Henry Ford when he built Greenfield Village in Dearborn rather than on the banks of the Detroit River where the parking lot attendants would have to be scuba divers. And besides, what did Detroit do for Bill Ford's father, Edsel? How would you like to have your dad named after the greatest loser in automotive history?

But what about the fans who have supported the Lions faithfully all these years, even when Fred Enke was quarterback? Forget it. I just took a survey and discovered that most of these fans live closer to Pontiac than to downtown Detroit. The only people who live close to the present Detroit stadium never attend games because they must stay home and sell parking spaces in their living rooms.

The important thing is not where the Lions play; it is who pays for where they play. Taxpayer's money and credit would be used to build a Detroit stadium. Nuts to that, Bill Ford should buy his own toy chest. It is enough that taxpayers subsidize the highways which make Fords such a great idea. Public money shouldn't construct the seats that the public must pay to sit on.

So that takes care of the Bill Ford problem. But what are we going to do about Senator Kennedy? He has his britches tailored in London for no better reason than that's where his brothers always spent their clothing allowances.

What kind of Americanism is that? Aren't U.S. tailors good enough for Kennedy? Can't some fine American lad be taught how to stuff a senator's shirt?

What do our clothing unions think of Senator Kennedy snubbing an entire U.S. industry in favor of helping God save the Queen?

What about the balance of payments? Does Prince Phillip have his own crown and scepter tooled in New Jersey? No way. When Prince Charles and his little sister came calling last year, they wouldn't even stay at a Holiday Inn. They freeloarded at the White House which is owned by all U.S. taxpayers including unemployed tailors.

You can fret about Bill Ford and his toys if you want. But football is nothing but a frivolous game. Kennedy's defection is a serious slap at American craftsmanship and pride.

And what about our folklore? Whoever heard of "Reginald, you made the pants too long?" Onward and Upward, Sam.

TAKING FIVE

Long weekend

By RON HUARD

I don't know if George Washington was really born on Feb. 22 or not, but somehow it just doesn't seem right to celebrate the anniversary of that event on some other day.

Maybe you don't agree with me on this thought, but I'll betcha he does. How would you like it if the boys in congress got together over a bowl of bean soup some noon hour and changed the date of your birth? Somehow it just doesn't seem fair.

But it's a strange, strange world we live in.

We've got what they call a war going on in a funny sounding place called Vietnam. For almost a decade now we've been sending young men to that funny little country to do some not so funny things. Like dying.

And another funny thing is that no one—not one soul—has ever declared officially that our country belongs there. We just happen to be helping out.

I wonder what George thinks about that, too.

It's a great nation we have and I don't want to be likened to a draft card burner—even though mine is yellow with age. But being great and powerful doesn't necessarily insure being right. And I can't help but wonder a bit.

In recent years we've repeatedly told our young people to gain their goals through "legal procedures" and, yet, the example of Vietnam is kinda contradictory. It's the first time in history that American men have died in a battle that no one seems able to explain or approve. We ran out of white lies and wound up going to the party with hopes of leaving early. As it turns out it's lasting longer than even the host had anticipated.

And all the while we never really accepted the invitation.

Yeah, old Father George has probably gnashed his wooden teeth to slivers over the way things have gone, but even if he were alive and had the answers, I don't suppose he'd get a chance to present them to congress.

That august group would be too busy handling important things like changing birthdays so those of us who aren't in Vietnam have a little longer weekend.

Terms of politics

By SEN. WILLIAM S. BALLENGER

Words, terms, phrases. What do they mean?

This week let's take a look at a few words like "quality education" and "socio-economic status", for instance. Are they meaningful or just academic gobbledegook?

These are vague terms that are frequently tossed around the capitol by educational lobbyists seeking to justify bigger and bigger appropriations for education.

But the average taxpayer has some difficulty making sense out of them.

That is not surprising, however; since even some educators appear to have run into the same problem.

The President of a Michigan community college once gave this definition:

"Quality education is the successful accomplishment of the maximum amount of demonstrable perception, psychomotor and affective knowledge, by individuals with a wide range of abilities, in the minimum amount of time, optimizing the investment of human physical, equipment and material resources."

That's fine. But does it help Junior read and write?

Same with "socio-economic status".

Two or three years ago, the Legislature ordered the Department of Education to give fourth and seventh graders overall statewide tests to determine whether they were learning their basic skills and whether they were keeping pace with other fourth and seventh graders in Michigan public schools.

When the tests came out someone had tossed in a section called "socio-economic status" which asked such questions as:

"Who acts as your father?"
"Do you own a wristwatch?"
"Do you have a dishwasher in your house?"
"Does your family take a newspaper?"

"Did your mother finish eighth grade?"

"Did you take an airplane ride last year?"

The professional educators, in reply to protests to legislators from parents all over the state last year, said they had to know the answers to these questions to know what sort of homes the youngsters came from.

The theory was that they are needed to insure a fair comparison between schools in the wealthy and the poor districts in the allotment of $17 million in state aid money.

Results of the first statewide assessment tests were somewhat embarrassing since they showed, generally speaking, that children in rural schools of the Upper Peninsula—not generally known for high "socio-economic status"—finished better than most of the children of the more affluent areas of the lower peninsula.

Undaunted by this unexpected turn of events, the educators came back with another set of "socio-economic status" questions in this year's test.

But this time some of the areas this testing was supposed to help most rose up on their haunches and clobbered the questions as an unnecessary invasion of privacy.

The Detroit Education Association described that part of the test as "irrelevant to basic skills and worse in its invasion of privacy."

An officer of the Detroit Central Board of Education said "It might not be a bad idea for the State Board of Education to be in better communication with some of its people."

The inner-city school board, in fact, was so disturbed at what the personal questions might do to many children that it suspended that part of the test.

A few days later when it met in Lansing, several members of the State Board of Education added their voices to the protests. One new board member suggested that information sought in the tests was available elsewhere and should be obtained there, rather than through the children.

It is rather late to do anything about the situation this year because the tests already have been held. But it appears there may be less personal prying next year when fourth and seventh graders are tested to see if they are "up" on their "three R's".

Aid to veterans being considered

By GARRY BROWN
Congressman

During the 91st Congress, I voted for and helped pass several measures to alleviate conditions of undue hardship for veterans and consumers.

In this article I would like to alert the people of the Third District to some of the provisions of these beneficial new laws.

I would also like to explain two bills which I have introduced in this Congress which, if passed, will aid service men and their families.

FOR THE FIRST time in GI bill history, veterans may now purchase mobile homes or condominiums with a Veterans Administration home loan guarantee.

The Veterans Housing Act of 1970 also provides that the loans for mobile homes may include funds for lots, and it makes provisions for the restoration of a veteran's home loan guarantee once the mobile home is paid off.

These provisions will enable veterans to buy mobile homes and still be eligible for loan guarantee benefits if they ever decide to purchase a conventional home.

The Act also specifies that the GI loans can be used to refinance homes already owned by veterans.

Other provisions of the new law restore home loan guarantees to veterans of World War II and Korea who have not used their privilege thus far. It establishes a special home loan guarantee or a direct home loan benefit to those veterans who have not used any of their $12,500 home loan guarantee eligibility.

AN AMENDMENT to the Truth-in-Lending Act has gone into effect making it harder for someone to use a stolen credit card and to make the victim of a credit card theft less liable for the thief's charged merchandise.

Some type of sure identification—usually a color photograph or a signature—is now required on every credit card, and the rightful owner cannot be held responsible for more than $50 of merchandise which has been charged on his lost or stolen card.

In addition, for a customer to be liable for even that amount, the store issuing the credit card must have first notified each card holder of the potential responsibility for unauthorized purchases, and the store must provide the customer with an effective way to notify the store immediately once the credit card is stolen or lost.

We hope this amendment will clear up some of the confusion surrounding credit card policy across the country. Previously there were no real legal standards on the subject, and in the case of excessive unauthorized buying, the amount paid by the authorized card holder had to be determined in court.

The amendment set new maximum penalties of a $10,000 fine or five years in prison, or both, for making unauthorized credit card purchases of more than $500.

THE POSTAL Reorganization Act of 1970, effective at the beginning of January, gives people a defense against receiving unsolicited pornographic material through the mail.

Under the Act, anyone who wants to keep such material from being sent to their home can fill out a form at their local post office and their name will be placed on a computerized list.

Any firm which sends material to a person whose name has been on the list for 30 days has committed a crime, punishable by a fine of up to $5000 or five years in prison, or both.

If you are unable to get to your local post office to pick up a form, write to your postmaster.

DURING THE FIRST week of the 91st Congress, I introduced two pieces of legislation to benefit servicemen.

The first bill would require that maximum consideration be given to reassigning returning combat veterans to a military post near home.

Although the Department of Defense attempts to reassign men near their homes whenever possible, I feel that a legal requirement to this effect would make the possibility more certain.

The second bill I introduced would extend to retarded and handicapped dependents of those servicemen who die on active duty or retire the same special medical benefits now provided to dependents of members on active duty.

These two bills are now being considered by the House Armed Services Committee.

Time and teeth

By DOUGLAS TREZISE
State Rep.

Time and teeth seem to have been the major subject for discussion in the House of Representatives this past week. The time was that of the State of Michigan, the teeth those of the members of the House.

The issue of whether or not Michigan adopts Daylight Savings Time appears once again headed for the decision of the voters. As of this writing, the resolution to adopt fast time has been rejected by the House, although efforts are being made to revive it.

There may be another vote on this subject before the Feb. 22 deadline but I will be very surprised if the outcome is any different.

The response to my request last week for opinions on this subject was very pleasing to me. I heard from people from all over the district, both for and against the proposal. I appreciate all the communications I received, in person, by telephone and by letter.

The debate on this subject on the floor of the House was both lengthy and heated. Most of the arguments have been heard before with the only new one offered this year being that there is a deterrent effect on street crime in metropolitan areas where daylight continues in the later hours of the evening.

But, contrary to the generally accepted idea, Daylight Savings Time is not a simple split between rural and urban interests.

I have had many farm people in our district tell me they do not oppose it and I have heard from city people who do. The vote in the House could not be classified into urban and rural districts. Even the Detroit area vote was not unanimous by any measure.

In my opinion, this issue is essentially a personal one to each voter in the state. Generally speaking, the public interest in either Standard Time or Daylight Savings Time is not critical.

Almost every argument on either side is based on personal convenience or economic gain or loss and for every statement offered by one side there seems to be an equal and offsetting position coming from the other.

For this reason, I felt it desirable that the voters of Michigan have the opportunity to express their personal positions at the polls at the next General Election and I voted to reject the adopting of Daylight Savings Time by action of the Legislature.

To me, the real issue was not whether Daylight Savings Time should be adopted in Michigan; but, rather, should it be adopted without a further expression of preference by the people through their votes.

By week's end, it also appeared that the matter of providing dental insurance for members of the House of Representatives was settled by rejection of the whole program. And well, it should. I supported moves originated by Rep. Sharpe to cancel this program.

The provision of this insurance coverage came as a surprise to almost all of the members. It was apparently contracted for by the House Policy Committee of the last Legislature late in December before I became a member and not made known to the membership until last week when we received instructions on how to file a claim for benefits.

The reaction was immediate and action to cancel the program was begun by the Republican members.

Support for these efforts on the part of the Democrats was very thin; but, on Wednesday of last week, faced with a lawsuit begun by Republican Jim Brown of Okemos, the new House Policy Committee moved to cancel the entire program.

As the week drew to a close, we were presented with the proposed budget for the 1971-72 fiscal year by Governor Milliken. I will have more to report on this in later columns as I get an opportunity to digest its contents.

From the State House

Back on track

By REP. DICK ALLEN

We're back on the track. The lieutenant governor will put his wife and large brood on an austerity program. Dick Allen will continue putting his pennies away for future orthodontia on the daughter he began affectionately calling "Snaggletooth" at age six months.

Lieutenant Governor Brickley has announced he does not desire and will not accept a salary supplement donated by loyal Republicans through their political organizations.

It has been rumored that the additional dough had been promised when Mr. Brickley agreed to give up his higher paying Federal job to join the Republican team.

The Speaker of the House announced the committee that had instituted dental insurance for the members had changed its mind due to the "tight financial situation".

The plan had been instituted by a House committee that had supervision of postage, public address, expense allowance auditing, etc. "and such other action as will implement an orderly legislative session."

Many House members were caught by surprise, knowing nothing of the program until after it was instituted.

Hooray for Jim! Right on, Mr. Speaker!

While neither the salary supplement or the extra fringe benefit precisely violated the law, they did seem to be methods of getting around its intent.

This may be a perfectly legitimate way to approach the calculation of your income tax, but it is not a good way to improve public faith in the democratic process.

As a politician, I feel great relief that these earlier decisions have been reversed. But the truth is the credit goes to notous politicians, but to you, the people and to the press. It was quick reporting and the strong public reaction that followed that did the job.

Like all such reactions, it included some over-reactions. Many insults were hurled and some press and some public painted elected officials as a group of money-hungry shysters. That this is far from the truth is often obvious to me.

For instance, being in the State Senate pays no more than being in the House and actually entails more work and expense. Yet generally House members quickly run for an vulnerable

Senate seat while the reverse never occurs.

Also many men give up much better paying jobs to run for office. Romney and Brickley are not isolated cases of this, but only better known than many.

The main rewards of public office are a feeling of pleasure and comradeship that comes from struggling with others for common goals. Like being on a football team, winning is best but even in losing you feel you were "in the action".

While it is possible that a few from township officer to U.S. Senator may be in it because "they like the pay", I feel certain their number is so small as to be of little consequence.

I think there is much more danger in elected office becoming a rich man's game which only the wealthy can afford to play.

'Mothers'

By REV. HUGH BANNINGA

This week my theme is "Mothers".

Lord Shaftesbury once said, "Give me a generation of Christian mothers, and I will undertake to change the whole face of society in twelve months."

What he was really saying was that if we had more Christian mothers, we would have less delinquency, less immorality, less ungodliness and fewer broken homes.

He was saying that every mother owes it to her children to take Christ as her own personal Savior.

A mother who has Christ as her Savior is an influence for good in the lives of her children. Her children cannot help but absorb her examples and attitudes "about honesty, temperance, kindness and love."

You know, in this modern age too many women have too much leisure time for their own good. They spend their hours in criticism, gossip, fault finding and complaining. They give too much attention to idle games and activities of the flesh.

There are other women who are so busy flitting around that they have little time for the really important things of life. They engage in a great deal of activity, but take no time for the building of Christian character.

Both kinds of women, the too idle and the too busy, need to take time out for quiet meditation and prayer with their Creator. They need to cultivate their souls.

They need to nurture their spiritual life so that their children can grow up knowing the peace of God and His love.

A mother whose children had all become Christians was asked what the secret of her success had been. She answered this way: "When I washed by children in the morning, I prayed that they might be cleansed in the fountain of the Savior's mercy."

When I dressed them, I prayed that they might be clothed in Christ's righteousness. When I fed them, I prayed that they might be filled with heaven's manna.

When I sent them to school,

I prayed that they might learn lessons from the Master Teacher. And when I put them to bed, I prayed that they might be enfolded in the Savior's arms."

Mothers, have you prayed this often for your children?

Some time ago a young girl was in a car accident with her boyfriend. She was brought to the hospital in critical condition and put in the intensive care unit. She was an only child and the idol of her parents. Her every whim had been gratified.

One day, after the doctor had made his examination of her injuries, he whispered to her mother that there was no hope for recovery. The girl overheard what he said.

She called her mother to the bedside and said, "Mother, you have taught me how to dance, how to sip a cocktail, how to hold my cigarette and how to dress. But one thing you have failed to teach me—how to die."

This is the sad commentary on too many modern day mothers. In the Book of Proverbs we read, "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old, he will not depart from it."

The first and foremost job of a mother is to train her children to know Christ. Of course, to do this, she must know Christ herself.

Gwen Sanders has written a poem to remind mothers and all of us to be Christian examples to others.

"Help me remember
When others I see
That they're reading the Gospel
According to me.

"Matthew" and "Barnabas"
"Peter" and "Paul"
The world looks upon them
As names—that's all.

For verses of Scripture
Men merely grope,
But my life goes under
The microscope.

Make me a text, Lord,
Easy to see
When men read the Gospel
According to me."

Of only we could have a generation of Christian mothers, we just might be able to change the world in twelve months. Wouldn't it be great?
