THE URBAN RENEWAL STORY - VIII

Rehabilitation unique for St. Johns' size

The St. Johns central business district project is unique in that few cities of our size have attempted to include a rehabilitation area within the project boundaries. Vilcan-Leman Associates, the planners, came to the conclusion that certain buildings within the project could form a nucleus for rehabilitation. To carry this concept a step nearer to reality, the firm of Fitzgerald & Fitzgerald of Trenton, Mich., was retained to make a feasibility study of the area tentatively designated for rehabilitation.

Fitzgerald would select what in his expert opinion were 10 typical structures within the project rehab area and determine whether rehabilitation would be feasible from the dollar standpoint. To simplify the process, an example:

A BUILDING'S estimated fair market value is $10,000. The owner would need to expend $15,000 to bring the building up to code standards. The fair market value of the building after rehabilitation could be either more or less than the original fair market price. If it was determined to be more it would be feasible to rehabilitate. On the other hand, if it were less, it would not be practical from the invested dollar standpoint.

Fitzgerald's first question was "What are project standards?" Unable to come up with an answer, the Region 4 Office of H.U.D. in Chicago called a conference to ascertain what project standards would apply.

The following five steps were finally decided on in order to develop a comprehensive study which takes cognizance of the possibilities and add increments due to rehabilitation of central business district.

First, analyze the organizational make-up of the area and the current attitudes of the local business-man toward this type of program, also their personal acceptance and individual support to the overall upgrading and rejuvenating.

SECOND, ANALYZE AND evaluate certain properties which are current blighting influences and which would not be economically feasible to rehabilitate.

Third, consider and evaluate the increment to the individual and the whole "downtown area," that new and accessible parking areas will generate.

Fourth, analyze and evaluate new business and up-grading of present border-line businesses that will occur by the potential usage by new generators that will be attracted to this rejuvenated "central business district."

Fifth, evaluate and ascribe a reasonable increment that all the above factors, when completed and a successful project is developed, can be added to the basic costs of rehabilitation and fair market value, so that the AFTER VALUE will be a reasonable sound projection of the individual parcel after project completion.

FITZGERALD & FITZGERALD found upon investigation that very few sales of commercial property in the downtown area were

3rd Lenten service Sunday

The third union service in the 1967 Lenten-series will be held this Sunday evening at St. John's Episcopal Church on East Walker Street in St. Johns.

Rev Howard A. Lyman, pastor at the Central Methodist Church in Lansing, will be the speaker. The service will start at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. Jack Barlow of the Eureka Congregational Church will be the worship leader. Ushers, greeters and coffee hostesses will be from the Bingham and Bengal Evangelical United Brethren churches. They will also supply choral music.

REV MR LYMAN, a member of the Michigan Annual Conference, previously served at the Methodist Peace Temple in Benton Harbor, as district superintendent of the Albion - Lansing District and as pastor of Brooks Memorial Methodist Church in Marshall.

He was a delegate to the General Conference in 1964 and the adjourned session in 1966. Rev. Mr Lyman was also a delegate to the World Methodist Conference in London last summer. He is presently serving as chairman of World Service and Finance Commission of the Michigan Conference.

Ovid-Elsie millage issue passes

OVID-ELSIE - Over 2,000 Ovid - Elsie School District voters went to the polls Monday and gave a proposed 8 1/2 mill issue approval by a 3-2 margin.

The final vote was 1,229 in favor and 817 opposed. There were 13 spoiled ballots.

Voter approval of the millage gets the Ovid-Elsie district past a critical financial obstacle. The school board will now likely be able to borrow against anticipated taxes of next year in order to meet obligations already contracted for this school year. A deficit of between $70,000 and $80,000 is expected by the end of the current school year.

THE NEW MILLAGE will be applicable to the 1967 tax levy. Although the millage issue was for 8 1/2 mills, the difference between the new tax and that paid last December will be only 5 mills, because a two-mill operational levy has since expired, and the bonded indebtedness levy will be lower.

Supt. Robert Beauchamp said the voter approval means the school board will now continue with their plans of providing a full-schedule curriculum for students of the district. Had the measure been defeated, the only alternative would have been to drastically cut not only the curriculum but also other school activities.

Ellsworth Cobb, president of the board of education, issued the following statement:

"We're very grateful and appreciative to the people of our district for voting us the necessary millage which will allow us to continue our programming on its present level. The board of education and everyone connected with the schools are dedicated to doing everything in their power to justify this confidence.

"We're especially thankful to all of the citizens who worked on the various committees and who in any way contributed to this millage approval."

In Precinct one at Elsie, voters favored the millage by a total of 569 yes to 399 no, and there were nine spoiled ballots. In Precinct Two at Ovid, there were 660 yes votes and 418 no votes, with four spoiled ballots.

HUNTINGTON, CREW AT MINSTREL SHOW

Charlie Huntington (right) of St. Johns was a member of the Harmony Four, a barbershop quartet which entertained at last weekend's Lions Club Minstrel Show at the high school. The other members are from Lansing and are Gene Johnson (left), Warner Dyer, and Roger Huntington.

3 county boards honor planner Alan R. Dean

St. Johns businessman Alan R. Dean has been honored by the boards of supervisors of Clinton, Ingham and Eaton counties for his role on the Tri-County Regional Planning Commission and other public bodies.

A certificate signed by the chairmen of the three county boards was presented to Dean last Thursday night at a meeting of the Tri-County planners. Dean has been a commission member since 1956 and chairman for the past seven years.

DEAN SAID HE "very much appreciated" the honor accorded him and that he "enjoyed serving." He declared, "I get my joy out of just being able to help."

The certificate praised Dean's "constant record of service to both business community and the general public welfare," witnessed by his membership and executive activities on behalf of a number of civic organizations. Dean, St. Johns hardware dealer, is a member of the Chamber of Commerce and Mayor's Downtown Committee; Michigan Hardware Dealers Assn.; Michigan Retailers Assn.; St. Johns Rotary Club; the Republican Party; and the Clinton Memorial Hospital Board of Trustees.

THE CERTIFICATE went on to point out that he "worked diligently to determine, to meet and to propose solutions to the problems of growth within this region by means of 10 consecutive years of service to the Tri-County Regional Planning Commission... always acting in the broadest and best public interest."

It concluded that the three boards of supervisors "herby express deep appreciation... for his dedicated service and for his example of responsible citizenship."

Dean's latest honor has been appointment by Gov. Romney to his special Commission on Urban Problems, a group the governor called "as important a commission as I've appointed since I've been governor."

HE HAS SINCE BEEN named chairman of that group's planning subcommittee. Other members of the Commission on Urban Problems include James O. Wright, president of Federal Mogul Inc.; Edward L. Cushman, vice president of Wayne State University; Joseph L. Hudson, president of the J. L. Hudson Co. of Detroit; C. Boyd Stockmeyer, president of the Detroit Bank and Trust Co.; and Don F. Kigar, president of Detroit Edison Co.

NFO sale at Pewamo protests pork prices

Pewamo was a focal point for Michigan members of the National Farmers Organization last Wednesday as about 200 producing sows were sold at the Thelen Brothers Livestock Yard for slaughter.

The selling was part of a nationwide NFO campaign of protest against low farm prices for pork. The aim was that, by selling producing sows for slaughter now, they might reduce next fall's pork supply and thereby raise prices. The sale was also a protest against government policies aimed at keeping prices down.

NFO MEMBERS from as far away as 100 miles came to Pewamo for the sale; the sows sold at market prices ranging from about $76.25 a hundredweight for 300-pound sows down to $14.75 for 500-pound sows.

Top grade fat pigs now sell for $19 to $20 a hundredweight, according to Ray Auvil of Snover, NFO Michigan meat coordinator, and the price is dropping.

"This is something we're trying to stop," he was quoted as saying. "We're trying to build up a stable price for ourselves." He said farmers are told a surplus of pork is pushing the price down, so the sale for slaughter last week was intended to be one way to solve the problem.

AUVIL SAID EACH sow might be expected to have seven pigs by next fall, and the total pork supply reduction from the Pewamo sale could be more than 300,000 pounds.

The NFO planned a similar action for Tuesday at Flint, only that time with producing dairy cows on the sale block.

Last Wednesday, Feb. 15, brought the first report of the sighting of a robin—the harbinger of spring—in the St. Johns area. Mrs. Doyle Bancroft of 615 W. Sickles Street had the dismal day brightened when she spotted a robin in an apple tree back of her house.

Clinton National resources climb $6 million in 1966

Total resources of the Clinton National Bank & Trust Co. increased by more than $6 million during the past year, according to a report presented to the bank's stockholders last Thursday night.

John A. Rumbaugh, executive vice president, attributed a large part of the increase to a merger with the former Fowler State Bank last year and the opening of a new office of the bank at Valley Farms, north of Lansing, this past summer.

The bank's assets exceeded $28 million at year-end, Rumbaugh said.

FIVE ADDITIONAL offices of Clinton National are scheduled to open in April, stockholders were told by Ink White, vice president and trust officer. White said development of new branch sites is under way at Hubbardston, Maple Rapids, Eureka, Bath and Wacousta.

The proposed new offices will be operated initially on a part-time basis, White said, with two hours of banking service in each community twice a week. Permanent structures are being erected in each of the towns and will be serviced by a specially-equipped motorized unit which will carry banking equipment and personnel.

Stockholders re-elected Clinton National's 15 incumbent directors for another year and the directors, at a subsequent session, re-elected the present bank officers:

W.S. LUSK OF Dewitt, president; John A. Rumbaugh, executive vice president and cashier; Roman P. Thelen of Fowler, vice president and trust officer; Gayle Desprez, C. Lester Jenkins and Fred H. Tiedt (Fowler), assistant vice presidents; Paul A. Schueller, assistant vice president, and assistant trust officer.

Charles B. Huntington, auditor; Arden J. Cook, Dennis Flegel (Elsie) and Charles J. Halfman (Fowler), assistant cashiers; Stanley R. Loznak, assistant cashier and Elsie office manager; Robert LaFave, assistant cashier and Valley Farms office manager.

Directors include Lorenz A. Tiedt, chairman of the board; William W. Barber, Roy F. Briggs, Robert A. Conn, Dr. Bruno Cook, Vernon Eastlick, J. M. Egan, Lusk, Charles J. Matthews, Rumbaugh, Conrad Selim Jr., Thelen, Fred H. Tiedt and White.

No action here on realignment

The Clinton County Board of Supervisors hasn't yet taken any action on a required reapportionment of the county board. A state law requiring the reapportionment to between five and 15 men takes effect March 10 and must be implemented by May.

A committee of the board has held several meetings pertaining to the realignment, but no proposals have been presented to the board as a whole.

Gratiot County supervisors last week agreed to a tentative plan for a new nine-member board of supervisors. The state Legislature, under the one-man, one-vote rule which has been handed down by the state supreme court, has given county boards until May to reorganize or have it done for them along lines established by the law.

6 leave today for induction

Volunteers filling the March draft call of two for Clinton County will be: Jon Rice of DeWitt; Jon Strong of Grand Ledge.

Consumers plans $6 million investment in Lansing area

Construction projects in the Lansing division of Consumers Power Co. in 1967 will require the investment of more than $6,000,000, primarily to expand and improve both electric and gas service, Robert H. Lawlor, division manager, said.

Highlights of the natural gas program include installation of 51 miles of new gas main and the rebuilding of 24 miles of existing mains. The division expects to add 3,300 new gas customers in 1967.

Customers in the company's Lansing division receive gas supplies by way of an interconnected network which carries natural gas from several underground storage fields. The division serves more than 62,500 natural gas customers, Lawlor said.

ELECTRIC PROJECTS include the expansion of the major Delhi and Okemos substations and a new 46,000-volt transmission seven miles long connecting the two substations. Expansion of five distribution substations at various locations is also scheduled.

Lawlor said the division expects to add 1,400 new electric customers in 1967.

The growing use of electric service through underground connections is reflected in an estimate that 500 such services to residences will be installed this year.

Underground electric distribution systems were installed in 15 new subdivisions during 1966 and 13 trailer courts to serve a total of 1,207 units, Lawlor said. The division serves 59,000 customers with electricity for residences, commercial and industrial use.

The division's electric system is part of the interconnected system of Consumers Power Co. which has a capacity of more than 3,000,000 kilowatts. A 385,000 kilowatt addition to the James H. Campbell plant at Port Sheldon, near Grand Haven, is scheduled for operation in early summer.

The company's Palisades nuclear power plant, with an initial generating capacity of 710,000 kilowatts, will be under construction shortly. It is to be located on Lake Michigan, 35 miles west of Kalamazoo, and is scheduled for service in 1970.

Smoke damage extensive

The Keith Rosekrans home at 403 S. Mead Street suffered extensive smoke damage during a basement fire shortly before 11 a.m. Tuesday.

Mrs. Rosekrans and her children, who had been playing in the basement, escaped without injury. Fireman Junior Hettler was treated at Clinton Memorial Hospital for a severe cut on his left hand, suffered when he broke open a basement window while fighting the fire. The cut required eight stitches.

A chest of drawers and some clothing in it beneath the basement stairs were burned, and the stairway will have to be replaced. Firemen were on the scene about 45 minutes.

About 11:15 a.m. last Thursday, burning trash in a rear shed of a home occupied by the Bill Gerard family at 812 N. Clinton Avenue threatened the shed and house, but the firemen put it out with on damage.

Rehabilitation

Continued from page 1-A reported, so the comparable or market approach could not be conclusive. By the same token, due to the age and architecture of the buildings involved, the cost approach was not considered.

Although reproduction costs can be approximated, it is particularly difficult to justify depreciation in all its forms. The cost approach can only be conclusive when buildings are new and the land is being utilized to its highest and best use.

In view of these considerations, and analyzing the rental market in this area, more reliance was placed on the income approach to value.

Fitzgerald, in his report, pointed out some of the factors involved in ascertaining his opinion of market values.

Fundamental to the concept of value is the theory of the highest and best (or most profitable) use. Briefly it can be defined as that use which at the time of the appraisal is most likely to produce the greatest net return to the land and/or building over a given period of time.

IT IS IMPORTANT to realize that this cannot always be interpreted strictly in terms of money. Net returns sometimes take the form of amenities.

The appraiser cannot foresee whether the use which produces the greatest net yield to the land at the time of the appraisal will continue indefinitely or even for a stated period of time. The appraiser does, however, attempt to find as would the typical purchaser in the market place.

Land has no value until man can use it, but the degree of value according to this principle depends on the character of that use. Since the owner of real property desires to reap the greatest possible return from his property, he will ordinarily select that use which will achieve the results desired. Usually the present use of a property is its highest and best use. But since change is ever present, the original use of the land may no longer conform to its highest and best use.

CONSIDERATION OF ALL the factors involved may indicate that such use is, in fact, its most profitable use at the time. "At the time" clarifies the apparent incongruity. In other words, analysis of the condition in the market reveals, many times, that the supply of land already being devoted to the type of use characteristically found is more than needed to satisfy current demands.

Under the law of eminent domain, in most jurisdictions, the type of value evidence which courts will accept, permits the appraiser to consider a property's highest and best use in formulating his opinion of its market value. In most takings, the highest and best use is customarily the one which is permitted by zoning ordinances or private restrictions.

COMMUNITIES SERVED in the division, besides Lansing, include St. Johns, Ionia, Hastings, Charlotte, Eaton Rapids, Mason, Howell and Brighton.

Lawlor said the division's construction budget is part of Consumers Power Co.'s state-wide $136,000,000 expansion and improvement program in 1967. The company provides electric service to 979,000 customers, and gas service to 735,000 customers, in a combined service area which encompasses all but one of the 68 counties of Michigan's Lower Peninsula.

3 men selected for spot in 'outstanding' listing

The Jaycees of Fowler announced Monday that three area men have been selected for inclusion in the 1967 edition of "Outstanding Young Men of America."

The men, John R. Watts, Francis J. Schafer and Carl Koenigsnecht, were nominated earlier this year by the Jaycee chapter and have been selected by a 14-man national board of editors for the publication.

WATTS, WHO LIVES west of St. Johns on Walker Road, was the 1965-66 "Outstanding Young Farmer" selected by the Fowler Jaycees.

Schafer was the Fowler chapter's "Jaycee of the Year" in 1965-66 and is serving as the group's president this year.

Koenigsnecht was president last year, the year the Fowler Jaycees won the Milestone Award.

as the outstanding first-year chapter.

Doug Blankenship, past U.S. Jaycee president who is serving as chairman of the national board of editors, said the men selected "have distinguished themselves in one or more fields of endeavor to the point of being outstanding." The book they'll be listed in is an annual biographical compilation of approximately 10,000 men of outstanding rank throughout the country. Publication date is May 15.

Seek distinguished service nomination

The St. Johns Jaycees, fresh from making an award to the outstanding young farmer of the year in the St. Johns area, plans to honor a young man next month for distinguished service in the community.

Nominations are being sought by project Chairman Tom Peacock for the "Distinguished Service Award." An impartial judging team of Ink White (chairman), Lester Lake and B. Stanley Pocus will decide the winner, and presentation of the award will be made March 14 at a combination Boss' Night and DSA dinner.

Young men in all fields of endeavor may be nominated for the award by an individual, organization, association or institution. They need not be Jaycee members.

NOMINATION FORMS should be mailed by Feb. 28, and none postmarked later than March 3 will be accepted. The forms are available from Ink White at the Clinton National Bank, Tom Peacock at 304 S. Emmons Street, or Roger Hammontree, Jaycee president, at Glasple's Drug Store.

The basis for selection of a winner is the nominee's achievement or contribution of importance to his chosen field, organization, church, community, state and nation.

Nominees must be between the ages of 21 and 35 years, a U.S. citizen (or must have applied for citizenship by Jan. 1) and must reside or work within the metropolitan St. Johns area.

THE DSA IS THE highest award the St. Johns Jaycees annually present, Chairman Peacock said. The winner here is entered in the United States Jaycees' 10 Outstanding Young Men contest in hopes that his achievements may be further recognized and honored. Among past national OYM winners were the late President John F. Kennedy, Richard Nixon, Dr. Tom Dooley and Leonard Bernstein.

Allen D. Weed, 58, of 105 N. Emmons, and Harold Palmer, 78, of 206 N. Prospect, both of St. Johns, were drivers of two autos involved in a collision last Wednesday afternoon at State and Lansing streets.

Palmer's auto hit the side of Weed's east-bound car, Palmer said he had "stopped" at the light and then proceeded, not seeing the Weed auto in time. Palmer was ticketed for failure to yield the right-of-way.

Jaycees present Mayers OYF award

Bill Mayers of 4087 W. Walker Road received the "Outstanding Young Farmer of the Year" award from the St. Johns Jaycees last Tuesday evening at a dinner meeting of the organization.

Runnerup was Stanley Baird of 2273 E. Howe Road, R-1, DeWitt. Robert Schick, game management specialist with the Department of Fisheries and Wildlife at Michigan State University, was the guest speaker, showing color slides and commenting on different species of wildlife.

The value of wildlife can't always be measured in dollars, Schick said, and he urged careful thought in planning of forestry and wildlife cover and in control of wildlife numbers through hunting.

SCHICK SAID he considers the shooting of game animals in Michigan as "harvest" and that the number weren't controlled by hunting they would be controlled by nature through starvation.

"The land can provide food for just so many animals" of each species, he said.

The cottontail rabbit is probably the most abundant wild animal in Michigan, Schick said, and about 2 million of them are "harvested" in a good year. The ringneck pheasant is the most important in the farming areas of the state; 1 million-cock pheasants are taken by hunters during a good year, although the number has dropped off in recent years.

GUESTS AT LAST Tuesday's Jaycee meeting included Lloyd Campbell of the Soil Conservation Service and George McQueen, Clinton County Extension agent — two of the judges in the Outstanding Young Farmer contest. Other guests included John Aylsworth, Robert Yager, Jim Tabor and Jaycee District Vice President Howard Gladding.

Fowler starts adult classes

FOWLER — Classes for adults in sewing, typing, bookkeeping and furniture refinishing were organized Monday night at Fowler High School.

Typing and bookkeeping classes will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. on Tuesdays, sewing classes from 7:30-9 p.m. on Wednesdays and furniture refinishing classes from 7 to 9 p.m. on Thursdays. Interested persons other than those at Monday's organizational meeting may still enroll for the courses.

Considerable interest was shown in modern math. School officials said that if others are interested they should call the high school office; it might be possible to form a class.

Sealed Power chief reports '66 'reasonably satisfactory'

In the annual report to shareholders to be released later this month, Sealed Power President Paul C. Johnson will announce that 1966 was a reasonably satisfactory year for the corporation.

Although a pause was experienced in Sealed Power's earnings growth — earnings have shown a steady improvement each year since 1960 — new records were established in sales, employee compensation and dividend payments.

Johnson's report will state that throughout 1966, attention was increasingly directed to those factors affecting the long-range growth of the business and, as a result, several programs were initiated which should strengthen Sealed Power's position in the market.

Sealed Power's consolidated net sales in 1966 reached an all-time high of $48,017,837, while net earnings were the third highest in the company's history totaled $3,617,367 or $2.55 per share. In 1965, sales totaled $45,055,082 and earnings were at an all-time high of $4,089,908 or $2.89 per share. Net earnings amounted to 7.5 per cent of sales in 1966, as compared to 9.1 per cent the preceding year and an average of 7.9 per cent for the five-year period ended in 1965.

Sales gains were registered in all Sealed Power marketing areas in 1966, but the demand for original equipment products were especially strong in spite of a decline in automobile production. Sales in foreign markets also rose sharply as new records were established in both Canada and Mexico.

Sealed Power people earned more money and received more benefits during 1966 than ever before in the history of the company, Johnson states. Average employment totaled 2,780 people and increased 0.6 per cent over the 1965 average of 2,537. Payrolls, including fringe benefits, rose to $22,582,110 in 1966, compared to $18,750,154 in 1965.

Looking to the future, Johnson states that there are some uncertainties in the economy, and many business indicators point to a slower rate of business expansion in 1967. However, both consumer income and employment are currently at record levels. Barring a major change in the economic climate and with continued consumer confidence, 1967 should prove to be another good year for Sealed Power.

Children and adult "guides" in the Church of the Nazarene's Caravan program pose Sunday evening following the capping ceremony at the church here. The Caravan program, started Jan. 4, now has 34 children enrolled.

Nazarene Caravan program's first 'capping' held

Back on Jan. 4 this year, the Church of the Nazarene organized a Caravan program — a program similar to scouting for boys and girls aged 7-11 but with more emphasis on developing religious character.

Sunday night they reached their first plateau. Thirty-four children now enrolled in the program received their caps, scarfs and badges at a special capping ceremony at the evening worship service.

The caps, scarfs and badges are awards for work on various projects. The children meet weekly from 6:30 to 7:45 p.m. on Wednesdays, and the activity program includes not only crafts but also tours and, when the weather warms, hikes and camps.

MRS LILLIAN Searles is the director and is assisted by "guides" who are in charge of the various groups. The children are divided into age groups, boys 7 and 8 being called Braves, girls 7 and 8 called Maidens, boys 9, 10, and 11 referred to as Trailblazers and girls the same age called Pathfinders. Each group has different colored scarfs and caps.

national program of the Church of the Nazarene, but participants don't have to belong to the church to be a member. In fact, several participants in the St. Johns group aren't members here.

"Guides" for the Caravan program here are Larry Biddinger, Judy Biddinger, Kay Wilkie, Robert Van Note, Viola VanNote, Maynard Moon, Shirley Moon, Phillis Shupp, Linda Phinney, Barbetta Raymond, Joyce Searles, Sharon Smith and Ruth Ann Guy.

MR AND MRS LAVERN Diller are handicraft directors for the Caravan program, while Mr and Mrs Keith DeMott are tour directors and Rev Eldon Raymond, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, is music director.

Purpose of the program, Mrs Searles said, is to help develop boys and girls physically, mentally, socially and spiritually through a week-night activity.

The new member class at the First Baptist Church will study by-laws and finances of the church in their third meeting on Feb. 26. Last Sunday they studied distinctive Baptist doctrines...

Open rehearsal concert tonight

The junior high school band, high school orchestra and symphonic band of the St. Johns Public Schools will be featured tonight (Thursday) in a pre-district concert in the high school auditorium at 7:30.

Each instrumental group will perform three compositions, the requirement for district festivals. An unusual feature of the program is that the groups will be rehearsing difficult passages and going over rough spots in the music.

This type of concert is known as an "open rehearsal," giving the public an opportunity to witness the problems of rehearsals before they hear the final performance.

Several directors will be making written comments, as well as verbal comments to the groups. One or more of the directors will rehearse the three instrumental groups to try to correct problems.

The concert is open to the public. There is no admission charge.

Car backing off US-27 median hit by another auto

A car failed to get across the US-27 median strip because of deep snow early Saturday morning, and when it backed up it was struck by another on the highway.

Sheriff's officers said the car backing up was driven by Margaret Light of 300 S. Lansing Street, St. Johns who had tried to cross the median from the south to the northbound lanes. When she failed, and backed up a car driven by Gerald A. Scarborough, 18, of 300 Ro Dic Don, DeWitt, skidded sideways into the Light car.

No one was injured. Mrs Light was ticketed for improper lane usage. The accident occurred a half-mile north of Parks Road.

The best alibi in the world is one you never have to make.

Police-type safe cracking

When burglars couldn't do it, it took a police-approved safecracker to open the safe of the Richards Dairyland Store last Wednesday morning. Last Tuesday morning, employees at the store found the back door open and the safe gone; it had been wheeled and carried over to Brush Street. Wednesday morning railroad crews discovered the safe a hundred yards west of Morton Street along the track. Young, or at least small (judging by footprints), thieves had skidded the safe along the rails and then knocked the dial pins and hinges from the 18 by 24 by 30-inch safe. They couldn't open it, however. A front-end loader was used to haul the safe to a truck and then to city hall, where a cutting torch was used to open the battered bulk and retrieve some $483.75 still inside. As it was the burglars got between $60 and $70 not in the safe. At the left Police Chief Everett Glazier and Officer

Ken Bunge tighten the rope as the safe is hauled up out of a ditch along the railroad. Manning the loader are Joe Mueller and, on the ground, Dave Cleveland. In picture above, Glenn Ployman of Hettler Motor Sales cuts into the safe while Chief Glazier (left), William Richards Sr., and Officer Lyle French look on.

The world's busiest railway junction is Clapham Junction on the Southern Region of British Rail with over 2,070 trains every 24 hours.

Mikael Ask at Woman's Club

Mrs Van Hoag hosted the St. Johns Woman's Club Feb. 15 at a regular meeting. Mrs. Rumbaugh presided at a brief business meeting which was opened with a prayer and a Lenten message by Mrs. Clifford Lumbert.

Mrs. Roy Davis, chairman for the day, introduced the guest speaker, Mikael Ask. Mikael is a guest in the Davis home this year as an exchange student from Sweden. He began his talk by explaining something about the "Youth for Understanding" program and stated that there were 800 young people taking part in the program, mostly from Europe. They come to America for a year's study while an equal number of American students visit other countries for the summer months.

Mikael gave a comprehensive talk on Sweden describing the topography, climate, manufacturing interests and natural resources. He described the government as being a constitutional monarchy—the king having very limited powers. Most of the power is invested in the Prime Minister with a parliament consisting of an upper and a lower house, members of which are elected by popular vote. The Labor party is the majority party and Sweden is a Socialist country. All public services are owned and operated by the government, even the church.

STUDENTS ARE given an assist with grants and loans from the government. The schools in Sweden have a much greater specialized vocational training program than American schools. Also languages, especially English, are taught from an early age. As a consequence, Mikael speaks excellent English with little accent.

Sweden has the second highest standard of living, topped only by the United States and Canada. Family living is much the same as found in this country, except that Swedish families live mostly in apartments. There are few single family dwellings in the country.

He followed his talk with two Swedish folk songs, accompanying himself on the guitar.

TEA WAS SERVED by the committee, Mrs. James Spousta and Mrs. George Brooks. The next meeting will be held in the Methodist Church parlor Mar. 1. At that time the Club will visit the Orient with Mrs. Austin Regier of Carson City. Her topic is "Home Life and Religion in Japan."

Sisters have tickets for anniversary play

WESTPHALIA—The Sisters of Christian Charity, who conduct St. Mary's School in Westphalia, have announced they have tickets available for a play to be presented in Wilmette, Ill., in April commemorating the golden anniversary of Immaculate Convent there.

The sisterhood is familiar to folks in the Westphalia and Pewamo area, for it was only one year after the Sisters of Christian Charity came to the United States from Europe in 1873 that they settled in the Westphalia area.

HAVING ESTABLISHED a mother house in the East following their arrival in America, the Sisters erected Maria Immaculate Convent in the western part of the country in Wilmette (a Chicago suburb) in 1916.

The play, called "The Song of Frog Hollow" results from the memories of the 50 years of the convent there. It will be presented in Wilmette April 28, 29 and 30. Ad spaces in a souvenir program book, as well as tickets for the play, are available by contacting the Sisters of Christian Charity at St. Mary's Convent in Westphalia.

... AND HOW DO HEARING AIDS WORK?

Although today's modern electronic hearing aid reflects years of painstaking development, it is really quite an understandable device. Essentially it is a small public address system designed to be worn comfortably on the body or head. As with any other sound amplifying system, an electronic hearing aid has four major parts:

1. A tiny, sensitive microphone which receives and converts sound waves to electrical waves.
2. A specially designed amplifying system that greatly increases the strength of sound.
3. A receiver or miniature loud speaker which converts the electrical waves back into louder sound waves.
4. Power supply consisting of a small battery.

The really remarkable thing about a modern hearing aid is its ultra-miniaturization. Even though it contains all the parts mentioned—plus fingertip volume and on/off controls—there's one Zenith Hearing Aid, for example, that can be worn entirely in the ear and weighs less than one-quarter of an ounce complete with battery.

When you want the finest in hearing help, don't settle for less than

"LIVING SOUND" HEARING AID

by the makers of world-famous Zenith radios, TV, Hi-Fi, stereo high fidelity and color television.

A coach looks at sports . . .

By BILL SMILEY
St. Johns High School Coach

I believe I have a constructive idea for officials that could help our growing problem of control and administration of athletic events that require approved officials. In football, I would like to see them required to work in groups of three or four, depending on how many officials are used in their area. Further, I would like to see these groups being required to stay together for the whole season—(8 weeks.)

Many officials already work in groups that stay together, but after talking with officials of various associations around the state I'm convinced that the majority still work in one group one week and with another group the next week. This type of restriction would not limit the number of jobs any official could work as he could belong to more than one group as long as that group also met the requirement of staying together for at least eight weeks.

As you know, hiring officials is a real problem; hiring a group and knowing they had worked together would greatly improve the present situation.

IN COACHING, I find that most of the dissatisfaction with the officiating of a contest comes from one man and not with the whole group. If groups were required to stay together, I feel that aid and even pressure from other members of his own small group would help the weak official. We would see a lot less of the "weak sister" official if he belonged to a group where part of the welfare of the group was his responsibility. A similar type of program could be worked out for other sports if it was deemed necessary.

I would like to note that the letter to the state director of athletics did not permit space to explain all of the advantages of hiring officials belonging to groups. Hiring is a good example. Presently our athletic director, Mr. Wrick, has to contact three different officials who have open dates to work a game for us. These fellows may or may not know each other and more than likely do not usually work together. We feel that our present system limits officials from doing the best job possible.

The most important feature of grouping is the result that the fans would see a better game and the players and coaches would have a better officiated game.

We have started the wheels in action—let's see what comes of it.

Regular season winds up Friday

The scheduled basketball season for Clinton area teams will wind up this Friday night with the eight teams involved in seven games.

It will also be the last game for which statistics will apply in the selection of the top free throw shooter in the Clinton area.

JV's swamp Lakewood, Chesaning

By GAY BOND

The St. Johns Redwing junior varsity, behind the shooting of Mike Green, ran over Lakewood 81-66 last Friday night and then Saturday night overwhelmed Chesaning 72-49 behind the combined 36 points of Dick Rehmann and Dick Henderson.

The Saturday night win gave the JVs a 10-4 overall mark. They are 8-4 in the conference.

It was a see-saw affair in the first half at Lakewood, with Lakewood leading after each quarter, and a slim 37-36 at intermission.

THINGS BEGAN to change in the second half. The JV Wings sparked to life and scored 50 points in the last half while the Vikings sputtered along, sinking in only 29 points. Dave Gaffney was the spark as he scored 16 points in the second half compared to his one free throw in the second quarter.

Coppes of Lakewood took scoring honors of the game with nine buckets and six free throws for 24 points. Even though fouling out in the final period Green totaled 22 points for the St. Johns JVs. Gaffney sank 17 points; Dick Henderson drilled in 15 points; and Dick Rehmann hit 14 points.

ST. JOHNS WAS never behind at Chesaning as they hit the hoop for 19 points in the opening quarter and 22 in the second period. The JVs held a 41-31 halftime lead.

The spirited Wings never lost their fire, pumping in 14 points to Chesaning's nine points in the third quarter.

Both Rehmann and Henderson netted 18 points for the junior varsity. Dave Gaffney hit for 13 points. Chesaning's Scanlon scored 16 points in a losing cause.

FIT FOR A 'KING'

This handsome plaque will be awarded to the high school whose player has the best free throw shooting percentage at the end of the regular basketball season in the Clinton area.

The Clinton County News Free Throw Award, established this year in an effort to emphasize the importance of the free throw at the high school level, will be presented to the school whose player has the highest percentage in over 40 free throw attempts. Only games through the regular season count.

Coaches are asked to forward to Editor Lovell Rinker of the CCN all necessary free throw shooting data after Friday's games. Only players who have tried 40 or more free throws are eligible.

Occasionally my favorite TV programs are so bad that I look forward to the commercials and wish there were more of them.

Corunna stops Ovid-Elsie streak

OVID — Ovid-Elsie's three-game winning streak was ended last Tuesday, Feb. 14, by Corunna, who didn't have any intentions of being another valentine for the Marauders.

Corunna stopped the streak, 67-59, but it was really Ovid-Elsie's own cold shooting the first half and excessive fouling in the fourth quarter that made the difference.

The Marauders' foul situation gave Corunna 17 free throws in the fourth quarter, and they made 16 of them, preventing Ovid-Elsie from gaining, despite their best quarter of the game.

OVID-ELSIE HIT only five of 29 field goal attempts in the first half as they trailed 11-9 at the end of the first quarter and 26-19 at halftime. Corunna outscored them 15-14 in the third quarter and then both teams scored 26 points in the final period.

Individual scoring for Ovid-Elsie (field goals, free throws and total points): Jerry Weir 2-4-8; Don Young 3-6-12; Dave Latz 1-2-4; L. D. Jones 7-4-18; Mike Seybert 6-3-15; Tom Ackles 1-0-2. Ovid-Elsie totals 20-19-59. Corunna totals 23-21-67. Personal Fouls, Ovid-Elsie 15, Corunna 18.

DENNIS STEERE and Dan Jorae scored 13 points each for Laingsburg but the Wolfpack lost a 51-46 decision to New Lothrop in a non-conference affair at New Lothrop last Tuesday. The score was tied 25-25 at halftime, but the winners outpointed Laingsburg 15-10 in the third quarter to provide the winning margin.

Up at Fulton High School, visiting Fowler dropped in 16 of 18 free throw attempts in the second half to break open a tight ballgame and defeat the Fulton Pirates 70-53.

Fowler made only two free throws in the first half as Fulton battled them to a 17-17 tie at the end of the first quarter and a 28-28 standoff at halftime.

SENTENCED TO JAIL

Wilbert R. Dukes, 29, of Saranac was sentenced to 30 days in the Clinton County Jail Monday by Circuit Judge Leo Corbin on a charge of non-payment of alimony.

Brandon Goerge set the pace with 10 points in the second half and wound up with 22 points for the game. Greg DeMott had 18 to lead Fulton.

ST. JOHNS

Now, from American Motors, the car that wasn't there.

This may well be the most important news to come out of Detroit this year.

A major gap has developed in today's automobile market—a gap that no American-built car is filling. Because this gap exists, over 1,000,000 car buyers a year have not been able to get the car they wanted: a car for the American motorist at a list price competitive to foreign imports.

Today, American Motors' new management and nearly 2,500 American Motors/Rambler Dealers are filling that gap.

As of today, we are limiting future changes in our Rambler American line to essential changes that will further enhance the safety and reliability of these cars.

This will save us millions of dollars—and we and our dealers are passing the savings along to you now. This means that the Rambler American 220 two-door sedan that yesterday listed at $2,073 now lists at $1,839. It means that today, your American Motors/Rambler Dealer has put new price stickers on all nine Rambler American models.

For years, Rambler American has been the best value in an American automobile. Today, priced competitive to imported cars, it is the best automobile value in the world.

This week on television, we promised you exciting news from American Motors.

This is only the beginning.

Bees 'great' in toppling Fowler again 75-50

CMAC race down to wire

BATH—The Bath Bees played what their coach called "their greatest game" for him Friday night as they romped past league-leading Fowler 75-50 to throw the league race into a virtual tie.

It was only Fowler's second loss of the year, but both of them have been at the hands of Coach Hal Beatty's Bees.

After it was all over, Fowler still led the league with an 11-2 record, with one game against Portland St. Patrick (at Portland) Friday night yet to play. Bath had a 10-2 mark, with a Tuesday night game at home against Pewamo-Westphalia and a Friday night game at Webberville yet to play.

THERE WASN'T much doubt Friday night that Bath wanted to prove its first victory over Fowler wasn't a fluke. The Bees leaped ahead 20-14 after one period and stretched the lead to 36-25 at halftime. They wrapped it up good with a 25-11 scoring margin in the fourth period.

Four men scored in double figures for the Bees. Mike and Randy Tucker got 17 points each. Mark Ankey had 12 and Merlin Truman 16 (14 of them in the last quarter). Bruce Miller, Bath's 20-points-per-game average forward, got only nine points, but his sharp passing helped set up the point scoring by his teammates.

Individual scoring:
For Bath (field goals, free throws and total points): Mark Ankey 5-2-12; Mike Tucker 7-3-17; Doug Petoskey 1-2-4; Bruce Miller 3-3-9; Randy Tucker 7-3-17; Merlin Truman 4-8-16. Bath totals 27-21-75. Personal fouls committed: 20.
For Fowler: Bruce Thelen 6-2-14; Joe Koenigsnecht 2-1-5; Mike Nobach 6-1-13; Ron Brown 3-0-6; Brendon George 1-3-5; Les Thelen 0-1-1; Stan Pohl 1-2-4; Bud Conley 0-2-2; Fowler totals 19-22-50. Personal fouls: 19.

OVER AT PORTLAND Friday night, DeWitt rallied against Portland St. Patrick's in the fourth quarter but lost 56-51. Trailing 42-37 after three quarters, the Panthers roared up to tie it 50-50, before some St. Patrick's free throws in the last 10 seconds put the game out of reach.

The Panthers fell behind in the first quarter 17-13, and St. Patrick's led 30-25 at halftime. The second half was played evenly as far as scoring went.
Individual scoring for DeWitt: Dave Parker 4-4-12; James Bouts 2-5-9; Dale Foster 8-1-17; Mike Fuller 1-3-5; Jim Deatur 2-0-4. Steve Markham 2-0-4. DeWitt totals 19-13-51. St. Patrick's totals 23-10-56. Personal fouls: DeWitt 11, St. Patrick's 13.

ERY THELEN scored 28 points to lead Pewamo-Westphalia to a 71-43 victory over Laingsburg Friday night. P-W was never in trouble ringing up quarterly scoring advantages of 16-10, 21-15, 24-12, and 10-6 enroute to their seventh CMAC victory.

Individual scoring:
For Pewamo-Westphalia: Tom Huhn 1-1-3; Larry Smith 2-4-8; Fred Smith 1-3-5; Glenn Schafer 4-5-13; Erv Thelen 12-4-28; Tom Barker 4-0-8; Jim Bengel 1-2-4; Vern Thelen 1-0-2. P-W totals 26-19-71, with 10 fouls committed.

For Laingsburg: Dennis Steere 1-1-3; Dan Jorae 3-0-6; Al Veith 4-2-10; Al Chadwick 4-0-8; Jack Gee 6-0-12; Bruce Millman 1-2-4. Totals 19-5-43, with 17 fouls committed.

OVID-ELSIE returned to its winning ways by edging Perry 75-71 in a Mid-Michigan B game at Ovid. It was Ovid-Elsie's fifth win in the last seven games and boosted their conference mark up to 6-6, good for fourth place.

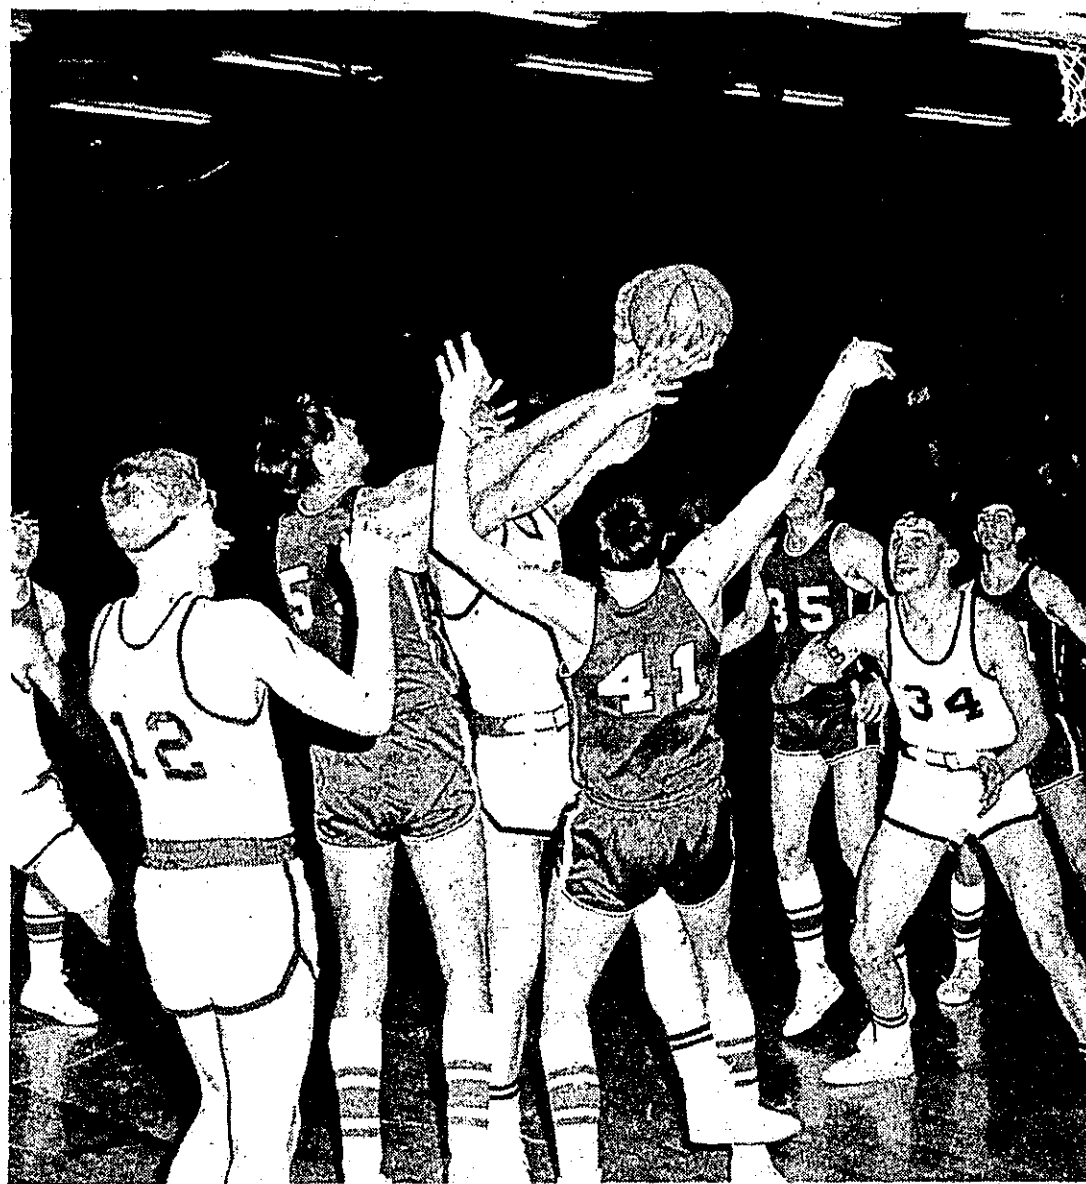

The Marauders led 19-17 after one quarter and pulled out to a 43-33 halftime lead that held up despite a rally by Perry in the fourth quarter.

Individual scoring for Ovid-Elsie: Jerry Weir 4-5-13; Don Young 5-0-10; Dave Latz 3-8-12; L. D. Jones 5-7-17; Mike Seybert 4-0-8; Dane Siegel 2-1-5; Cesarlo Garcia 1-1-3; Dave Klakab 3-1-7. Ovid-Elsie totals 27-21-75, with 22 fouls committed. Perry totals 25-21-71, with 20 fouls committed.

FULTON HIGH SCHOOL exploded for a 27-6 first quarter lead and then coasted to a 74-58 victory over Edmore Montabellia in a Tri-Central League game Friday. Fulton had three players in double figures, led by Gregg DeMott with 19 points. Montabellia held 19-18 and 20-13 scoring advantages in the middle two quarters, but Fulton's big first quarter was too much to overcome.
Individual scoring for Fulton: Randy Van Sickle 2-3-7; Randy Loudbeck 2-3-7; Tom Palne 2-0-4; Jeff Gray 4-6-14; Rick Troub 5-5-15; Brent Bailey 3-0-6; Gregg DeMott 6-7-19. Fulton totals 24-26-74, with 15 fouls committed. Montabellia totals 24-10-58 with 23 fouls committed.

Wings run into hot shooters, lose 2 games

The St. Johns Redwings ran up against some hot-shooting basketball teams over the weekend and dropped two decisions—one to Lakewood in the West Central Conference and another one a non-league game to Chesaning.

Lakewood hit 15 of 27 shots in the second half and scored 14 points in a row to start the fourth quarter and eke out a 75-70 victory over the Redwings Friday night.

Chesaning rammed in 58.6 per cent of their shots Saturday night and handed the Redwings a 92-83 setback. The combination of defeats left the Wings with a 3-11 record for the year and a 2-9 mark in the conference.

THE REDWINGS played topsy-turvy ball against Lakewood. They held a 20-16 first quarter lead and then lapsed to a 35-34 deficit at the half. Gary Boyce warmed up from the 20-foot range in the third quarter, and he canned five field goals and a free throw to spark the Wings back to a 58-62 lead going into the last eight minutes.

Four minutes and four seconds of that time elapsed before St. Johns scored again, however, and at the same time Lakewood was scoring 14 points, including 10 by Mike Jackson. That put the Vikings out in front by 10 points, 66-56, and St. Johns never caught up.

THEY DID MAKE a game of it, though. With about 2:30 left, Lakewood led 70-62, but Boyce scored on a 15-footer and on a layup, and Brian Swatman hit two free throws to make it 70-68 with 16 seconds left. St. Johns had to foul to get the ball back, but Lakewood's Jackson and Bob Wieland combined for five free throws in those last seconds, and that ended that.

Outside of their fourth-quarter lapse, the Redwings played good ball. They hit on 27 of 79 field goal tries (.341) and 16 of 30 free throw tries (.533). Lakewood had an overall percentage of .417 from the field and .612 from the line, good enough in both cases to win.

St. Johns scoring (field goals, free throws, personal fouls and total points): Jon Berkousen 0-2-5-2; Brian Swatman 4-3-3-11; Bill DeGroot 3-4-4-9; Gary Boyce 13-1-2-27; John Salemi 6-7-5-19; Steve Gregory 1-0-5-2; Randy Humphrey 0-0-2-0. St. Johns totals 27-16-26-70. Lakewood totals 28-19-19-75.

ON THE ROAD again Saturday night, the Redwings found Chesaning of the Mid-Michigan B League too hot to handle. Only in the fourth quarter did Chesaning shoot less than 50 per cent from the floor and they ended up with an overall .586 percentage.

St. Johns did everything a winning club could do except play defense. Four men scored in double figures, the team had a .423 shooting percentage from the field and a .653 percentage from the line.

DUAL SYSTEM

Two-color taillight system for automobiles may be a safer way to signal braking action, according to Ohio State University systems engineers. They have found that in an automobile taillight system a light of another color probably would improve night driving safety. Researchers compared the conventional red taillight-red stoplight system with an experimental amber taillight-red stoplight system.

Seek federal aid for sanitary sewer system

Westphalia is seeking federal aid to help with the building of a sanitary sewerage system.

The village of Westphalia has all the utilities with the exception of sanitary sewers and it is thought their installation would provide a greater attraction for commercial and residential growth.

Westphalia was scheduled for a grant and loan from federal funds in 1966, however, all applicants, with prior claims, availed themselves of these monies to where funds were depleted. The village is waiting for consideration again in 1967.

FINANCING OF this project would be by revenue bond issue. The water system was financed in this manner so such financing is not new to the village. It would not be a direct tax on property and billing would be made on a monthly basis, in conjunction with water service charge. The greater the number of users, the less the charge would be.

Any questions relative to this type of system will be answered at the Council meetings held the first Tuesday of each month.

THERE WERE BALLOONS ALL OVER THE PLACE

The air was filled with balloons, and young and old alike joined in keeping them moving as the professional act of John Shirley and Bonnie concluded at the Lions Club Minstrel Show Saturday night. Shirley is in the dark suit on stage at center, and his wife is at left.

By MRS. ROBERT VALENTINE — Phone 862-4342

The Kozy Korner Hobby Club met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Bert Wassa. Roll call was answered by telling of a favorite Valentine received. Eleven members were present. Josie Oberlin won the mystery package. Following the business meeting, the group made lint dusters and covered clothes hangers with plastic foam. The next meeting will be Mar. 9 at the home of Mrs. King Terrall.

The Junior Choir of the Methodist Church met Saturday afternoon at the home of Vicki and Jim Valentine and enjoyed togetherness and singing on the slopes of the Maple River. An added attraction was the skit-mobility owned by the Gilbert Potts. Mrs. Potts gave rides to all the children. Hot-dogs were roasted along the river bank and hot chocolate was served to about 30 young people and their counselors. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Canfield are directors of the choir.

The Senior Choir of the Methodist Church met Saturday evening at the Ovid United Church to practice for the Sunday evening service. After practice the group returned to the Bannister church to have a pizza party. Games were played after refreshments were served.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon for Mrs. Minnie Glowney, mother of Floyd Glowney of this community. A dinner was served to the family and friends at the Methodist Church following the services.

The Bannister and Ashley Methodist churches were in charge of the Union Lenten service at the Ovid United Church Sunday evening. Rev Wayne Sparks was assisted by Miss Wanda Crumlaugh and Miss Karen Densmore of the Ashley Methodist Youth Fellowship. The Bannister Senior Choir sang the anthem "Send Out Thy Light" by Gounod and taken from Psalms 20 and 43. The featured speaker for the evening was Rev Dr. Keith Avery. Dr. Avery is the Michigan area assistant to Bishop Loder of the Methodist Church. His topic for the evening was "What Christ Means to Me".

Rosemary Saxton and Michael Stambersky returned home-Saturday after spending the past week on the UN-Washington Seminar with 74 MYF's and counselors. They toured New York and Washington and learned more about the United Nations and the government in Washington.

Miss Rose Porubsky is very ill at the time of this writing. She is in the Gratiot Community Hospital in Alma. Special prayers were given in the area churches Sunday for Rose. Mrs. Anna Ensign returned to

New overhead projectors 'big' with the teaching set

Federal and state aid financial programs have enabled the St. Johns Public Schools to add many teaching tools to the resources of its instructors this year, but one of the most popular new pieces of equipment is the overhead projector.

The projector allows the teacher to use illustrative material in his or her presentations by placing material on the machine and having it projected onto a screen in back of him.

"THIS KEEPS THE teacher 'in the picture,' allowing him or her to face the class and see the reactions and effects of the concept being taught. Room lights do not need to be turned off, and thus students are not hampered in taking notes.

Students also use the overhead projector in presenting talks to their classmates or by enlarging printed material. Mrs Margaret Hicks' fifth grade class at Perrin-Palmer School enlarged maps of different groups of states they have been studying in social studies.

Teachers feel pictures can show clearly and distinctly what they want to say. Since about 85 per cent of a person's intake of knowledge is through sight, teaching and learning improve when pictures are used, the schools point out.

THE OVERHEAD projector allows the teachers to go one step farther, however: to customize the material to fit the level of the class and the subject matter. In the case of geometry, for example, the teacher can make his own illustrations as he teaches, and they are projected on a screen large enough for the whole class to see.

In that way, teachers use the tremendous power of sight to teach exactly what they want and how they want.

The St. Johns Public Schools have 21 of the overhead projectors for use in classrooms. They range from $125 to $400 each, depending on whether they are portable units or not.

Teacher Paul Repath uses the overhead projector in his plane geometry instruction at Rodney B. Wilson High School. His illustration drawn on a plastic plate is projected on to the screen behind him.

Tells of English people, education

By Holly Davis

Aug. 18, I left New York harbor on the Aurelia, a student government boat arranged to give lower rates to students, which dropped me off in Southampton, England, nine days later. I am sure that this is one of the slowest boats on the Atlantic, but the time passed quickly with classes and discussions with students who were returning home to Europe after a stay in the United States.

There were 14 students in my group from the University of Michigan who were heading for the University of Sheffield, about 150 miles north of London, on the southern border of Yorkshire. We would study education classes along with student teaching which gave us credit when we returned to U of M in December. This program is available only to education students in the U of M Education Department. It was originally designed to be an exchange program whereby English students could come to U of M and U of M students go to Sheffield, but because English students have their education paid for by the government and they would have had to pay their own way at U of M, only four have come. Over 200 U of M students have been able to study at the University of Sheffield. There is, however, an annual exchange of faculty between U of M and the University of Sheffield.

WHEN WE DOCKED in Southampton, the U of M group learned that the University did not start for another two weeks and so four of us girls took a trip around the Continent. We spent an average of three days in Paris, Rome, Florence, Luzern, Amsterdam and Rotterdam before arriving in Sheffield for classes to start. I must admit that

MISS HOLLY DAVIS

I got to places and saw works of art that I had never thought it would be possible for me to see. There were over 100 English students plus the 14 U of M students in a special education program for university graduates at the University of Sheffield and we all followed the same program.

We all taught for the first two weeks in an elementary school. I spent the entire day, every day for two weeks, at a school named Grimsthorpe, working with eight and nine-year olds. The kids were really nice and they even went so far as to put on a soccer game for me because I had never seen one. The next six weeks were spent at classes at the University just like here at U of M and then the final four weeks were spent teaching at a secondary school for girls. I taught mostly mathematics, but a lot of American history entered in everywhere I went. Every one was really curious to see a real live American and to hear that Americans were not really different from the English. One little girl was surprised that I spoke English so well.

THE LAST WEEK of the semester was spent at a conference in Dorking, just south of London, where we visited all types of schools in London and had lecturers on all phases of education in England. Right after this I flew to Detroit so I could be home for Christmas.

Merit scholarship tests Saturday at St. Johns High

Rodney B. Wilson High School students who expect to complete their secondary school requirements and to enter college in 1968 can register now to participate in the 1967-68 National Merit Scholarship Program.

Principal B. Stanley Pocus announced today.

The first step for all students who wish to enter the nationwide competition is to take the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMQST), which will be given in the school at 9 a.m. this Saturday.

PARTICIPATING students pay a $1 fee, which is remitted by the school to Science Research Associates (SRA), the testing agency.

In addition to competing for the Merit Scholarships to be awarded in 1968, students can take the test to obtain information useful in planning their future education and careers. With his NMQST scores, each participating student will receive a handbook to help him evaluate his scores, compare his performance with that of other high school students across the country, and give him information on choosing a college and financing his education. The handbook and other interpretive materials are furnished as a part of reporting the test results.

THE HIGHEST-SCORING students in each state will be named Semi-finalists and will be eligible for Merit Scholarship consideration. In addition to the National Merit Scholarships financed by NMSC, more than 350 business corporations, foundations, colleges, professional associations, unions, trusts, other organizations and individuals offer scholarships through the Merit Program.

About 13,440 students have won Merit Scholarships in the 11 Merit Programs to date. Some 2,330 Merit Scholarships were awarded in 1966 with stipends ranging from $100 to $1,500 per year for four college years. The amount of a winner's award is determined by assessing the financial assistance he will need to attend the college of his choice.

Lincoln Day dinner tonight

Speaker of the Michigan House of Representatives Robert Waldron will speak tonight (Thursday) at the annual Lincoln Day Banquet sponsored by the Clinton County Republican Women.

NFO terms milk holding action as 'high public duty'

The National Farmers Organization has headlined its upcoming milk holding action as a "high public duty." The group says it has tried every means possible to avoid the use of a holding action but finds it apparent that processors and buyers are not going to pay farmers an adequate price until such action is taken.

The NFO says the Michigan dairy farmer is disappearing at an enormous rate because milk prices are too low. The old law of supply and demand, they say, works only when there is equal economic strength on the buyer and seller sides.

"AS VOLUME BUYERS become larger in size and smaller in number the bargaining power of the farmer becomes weaker, and the price increases due to shorter supplies of milk have very little effect on the farmer."

Dairying expenses have risen 22 per cent in the last 10 years, the NFO points out. Class II milk has dropped in price from $4.29 per cwt in September to $4 support price in February.

Farmers slaughtering their cows have only driven milk prices lower, the NFO contends. The uneconomic practice of buyers hauling milk across several states has proven to be an additional cost, and this has been collected from the farmer by the device of lower milk prices.

"NFO HAS A HARD job in the coming milk strike," Clinton County NFO officials stated last week, "because many opponents of NFO will certainly arouse the public against the organization. NFO's marketing arrangements on meat have brought fair prices to cattle and hogs, but bear in mind that fair beef prices and low milk prices do not balance. So therefore farmers have chosen to slaughter their dairy cattle."

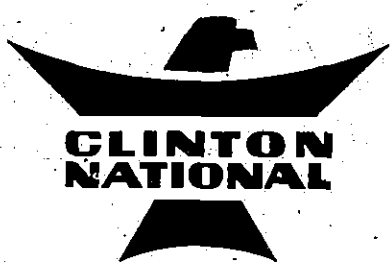

"Many Michigan dairymen are confused with the goal of $6.05 per cwt for Class I milk and $5 for Class II the NFO is seeking, but this $6.05 will only affect Midwest states having present prices of less than $6.05 per cwt for Class I milk. Michigan would remain at $6.10 for Class I."

IF THE MILK HOLDING action is a success, farmers will profit by about $1 per cwt, the NFO says.

"We're about ready to go," adds Ray Nielsen Jr., an 80-cow dairyman who heads the NFO drive in Michigan. "Membership is mushrooming."

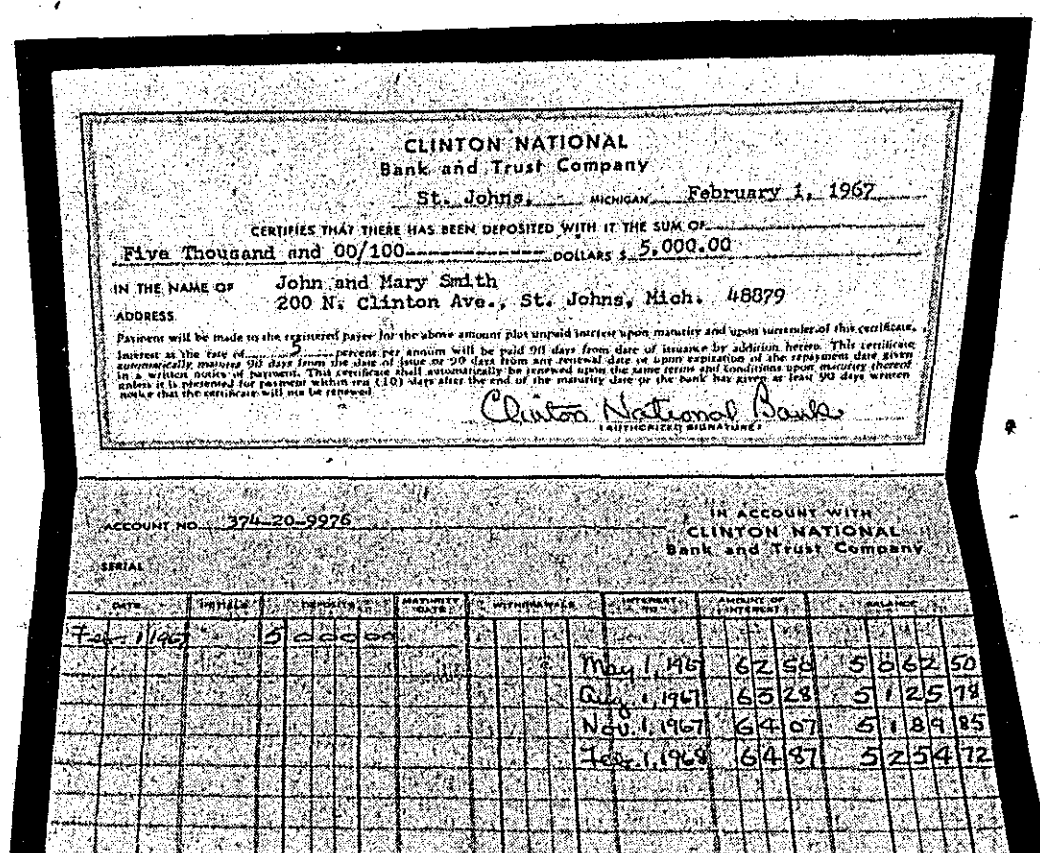

Shirley M. Ashenfelter of St. Johns and Anita J. Putnam of Laingsburg were among 966 Western Michigan University students who won scholastic distinction during the fall semester by being named to the university's dean's list. To achieve the honor, students must have taken at least 14 hours of classes and maintained a point average of 3.5 out of a possible 4.0 average.

with the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce

By BETTY MINSKY Secretary-Manager

It is felt by Michigan Week officials that the broadest participation comes and the greatest benefit accrues when every citizen is shown that he as an individual can take part in observance of each of the Seven Special Days.

And, because so many people have asked how they or their club can help, today and next week's column will be devoted to the Seven Special Days, with ideas that can be worked into projects by local clubs or groups.

(We might remind that if any group is planning a special Michigan Week program, we would like to hear about it so it can be reported to the district and state officials when we make our final county report.)

SUNDAY, MAY 21, SPIRITUAL FOUNDATIONS DAY

1. Churches and parishes can give special attention to their own beginnings in the community and the individuals who were its founders.

2. Clergymen can get together for a community observance, with an inter-faith program; with massed choirs participating and perhaps even with a pageant presented by the youth of the community's churches.

3. Special coffee hours following morning services to pay tribute to the pioneers of the church; the oldest living members in the church.

4. Plan a group pilgrimage to a local religious shrine or to a neighboring church.

5. Church bulletins should note Michigan Week and its purpose, especially Spiritual Foundations Day.

6. SPECIAL MICHIGAN week sermons on radio could be arranged by local ministers.

7. In many places it is the custom for all church bells to ring at noon on Spiritual Foundations Day to signal a moment of prayer and the opening of Michigan Week.

8. The seven special days of Michigan Week can be observed at church meetings scheduled for that week.

9. Speakers and films can be used (I have a list here in the CC office) relating to Michigan's spiritual heritage.

10. Historical documents and photographs telling of the beginning of your denominations history in Michigan can be displayed.

may be interested in hearing about.

4. Clubs could make a project by checking the city's history and making an exhibit or display.

OUR HERITAGE DAY

This day is set aside for in-depth attention to the proud history and heritage of the state and community and its meaning for our future. Some ideas are:

1. Club and organizations can have their meeting program one that deals with the history of the state; the community or even the organization.

2. Heritage Day exhibits make a good group project.

3. This is the time to take group or individual tours of historic sites in the area.

(Although we will miss Heritage Day by a few days, your Chamber of Commerce will sponsor the Historymobile here May 29-30 and we invite everyone to visit it and view the historic displays.)

Music clubs offer Chautauqua Scholarships

Now is the time for music students, in voice, piano, violin, organ and flute, to prepare for their summer instruction.

Annually the National Federation of Music Clubs offers three Northeastern Regional Scholarships at the Chautauqua Institute, Chautauqua, N. Y.

The amount of each of these three scholarships is $150 to be used for music tuition and practice fees at the Chautauqua Institute. Two junior winners and one student winner will be chosen.

Applications must be returned by March 1. The registration fee is $1. Application blanks and further information may be obtained from: Mrs. Frederick J. MacDonald, 2016 W. Maple Street, Lansing, 48915.

Junior festivals set March 18 at Jackson

Junior festivals of the South Central District of the Michigan Federation of Music Clubs will take place at Jackson Community College and First Methodist Church, Jackson, on Saturday, March 18.

Applications and information are available from Mrs. Joseph Mills, 2710 Leland Drive, Jackson 49203. Completed applications for entrance should be returned no later than Feb. 28 to Mrs. Barron Clemons, 1300 W. Franklin, Jackson 49203.

40 years of service recalled at Auxiliary

Mrs. Sirrine cuts the pink and white birthday cake. Seated are Mrs. Gifford Pease, who is in charge of the sewing committee that meets every week and Mrs. Edgar McLaughlin, secretary.

Mrs. Gayle Vauconsant, Mrs. Robert Conn and Mrs. Jerry Stone hear Mrs. Sirrine's recount of the history of the Auxiliary.

Recently, there has been some discussion in one of the regular columns appearing in the Clinton County News "on becoming forty." It would seem after reaching 40 the only way is down. If this is so Clinton Memorial Hospital Auxiliary members are not aware of it or choose to disregard it.

They are still actively pursuing the same goal they set for themselves at the organizational meeting held Feb. 8, 1927. Their main objective is to earn money which is used to help keep Clinton Memorial Hospital among the best.

After the Auxiliary Board meeting held last Wednesday evening in the hospital sewing room the 40th anniversary of the organization was celebrated with a recount of its history given by Mrs. Rex Sirrine and a pink and white birthday cake.

MRS. SIRRINE is the only charter member of the organization, who is still an active participant.

She attended the February 1927 meeting held at the home of Miss Mary Smith.

Others at the meeting included Mrs. Eva Spaulding, Miss Susie Durkee, Mrs. A. T. Smith, Mrs. L. A. DeWitt, Mrs. C. D. Ebert, Mrs. A. J. Griswold, Mrs. W. R. Osgood, Miss Jessie Creighton, Miss Mary Smith, Miss Kate LeVanseler, Mrs. Carrie Goette, Mrs. D. L. Hunt, Mrs. Albert Saitgen, Mrs. Edna Mummery, Mrs. William Luecht, Mrs. R. J. Merrill, Mrs. Blanche Van Deusen,

Encourage youth to join 4-H TV science club

Information explaining the new 4-H TV Science Club and enrollment materials is being distributed to all fourth, fifth, and sixth grade classes in Clinton County, according to John Aylsworth, Extension 4-H youth agent.

Aylsworth reports that the 4-H Science Club features a series of ten 30-minute TV programs designed to teach basic scientific principles. The series will be seen on WMSB, Channel 10, East Lansing, at 10:00 a.m., starting Saturday, March 11.

Parents are encouraged to have their children enroll in this educational TV program according to the instructions indicated on the materials given to each boy or girl at school.

IF ADDITIONAL information is desired, contact your county extension office at the courthouse in St. Johns. Enrollment materials will be forwarded on request.

Members can enroll directly by sending a postcard to: 4-H TV Club, 4-H Youth Programs, Michigan State University, East Lansing, Mich. 48823. Be sure to give member's name, address, age, and county when enrolling directly.

Members enrolled will receive by return mail their membership pin, card, and 4-H TV Science manual designed to help them carry out simple science projects explained on the TV program each week.

Loaded gun

Airless spray guns should be treated with the caution due a loaded firearm. That's the opinion of Dr. Stanley Nahglin, who has treated several nasty accidental injuries caused by these devices.

Writing in the Journal of the American Medical Association, he warns that the guns can deliver pressures up to 3,000 psi and can inject paint deep into body tissues.

The initial symptoms are deceptive — a very small surface puncture with little pain. But the condition can worsen with severe complications.

More durable press for spring, summer

By HELEN B. MEACH
Extension Home Economist

When it is grey outside—color it spring!

Get out those seed catalogues and soak up the colors of the new flower pages for 1967. Feeling better already?

Well then, how about the dress catalogues — they are filled with a riot of color and ideas for your Spring and Summer wardrobe.

What is new for clothing in 1967? More durable press garments, lingerie, sheets and tablecloths will be added to the list of durable press items already on the market—slacks, shirts, dresses and skirts. One industry estimate is that 1966 purchases of durable press garments doubled 1965 purchases, and that they will double again by 1970.

MEN'S ALL-COTTON seersucker suits with durable-press creases should be on the market this summer.

Other kinds of easy-care garments will be increasingly popular. The ultimate in easy care is the disposable garment that can be used and thrown away. Shifts and swimming trunks were available last summer. More dresses, aprons and baby clothes will be available this year. Soon there should be throw-away men's underwear, football jerseys, doctors' hospital jackets, graduation gowns, beach ponchos and sheets. Vinyl—used for several years for raincoats, jackets, boots, handbags and wallets—is being used in a wide range of apparel, including dresses, sun hats, blkinis, skirts, transparent uppers for women's shoes and men's vests, walking shorts and trousers.

ALSO SCHEDULED to be introduced is a new commercially developed fabric called Chameleon Cloth. It is a printed fabric that can be given a second set of colors—when the buyer gets tired of the original—by plunging the garment into a special hot-water bath.

Thinking spring and new clothes should brighten the outlook for all of us who have been thinking only snow.

Open Letter from VAN W. HOAG

Dear friends,

The soundest advice in funeral matters is to select a competent, trustworthy funeral director well in advance of need. When death occurs, the stress of emotions makes it difficult to think clearly and leaves little time for investigation and comparison. A funeral director performs a most intimate and personal service.

Respectfully,

Van W. Hoag

Short course in publicity

Effective publicity requires a nose for news, a talent for assembling it, and tenacity to carry through to the right media.

YOU, THE PUBLICITY CHAIRMAN, have a role in club work which offers challenges and rewards to be found in no other assignment.

Your acceptance of the publicity chairmanship means you have real enthusiasm for your club's program. Those who chose you believe you will tell their story well. They also consider you reliable and capable of working well with others.

Your job will be to present the news of your organization to the public. All the information you give out should be accurate, complete, brief and timely.

You already have or will soon develop a talent for discriminating between routine club affairs and newsworthy events. Both are your concern.

Routine meetings call for routine publicity.

Unusual events and special projects merit publicity in depth. They require a great deal more work on your part, but are worth it. Big events usually warrant special news features.

As publicity chairman you will make new, stimulating contacts. You will also find satisfaction in performing an important service for your group.

This handbook will help you through a successful, enjoyable year. Keep it handy for reference and records.

BASIC B's FOR PUBLICITY

1. Be the only person from your group to contact news media. Two members calling the same newspaper editor or program director are bound to bring conflict or confusion.
2. Be quick to establish personal contact with the right persons at each newspaper, radio and television station in your area.
3. Be sure to write everything down. Train your memory, but don't trust it.
4. Be prompt in meeting every deadline.
5. Be legible. Type news releases. Erase and correct errors. Don't use carbons, except for your own file copy.
6. Be accurate. Double check dates, names, places before you submit your copy.
7. Be honest and impartial. Give credit where due.
8. Be brief. Newspapers space and air time are costly.
9. Be brave. Don't be afraid to suggest something new if you honestly believe you have a workable idea. Media people welcome original ideas when they're practical and organized logically.

10. Be business-like. Never try to obtain publicity by pressure of friendship or business connections. Never ask when a story will appear. Never ask for clippings.

11. Be appreciative of all space and time given your club's publicity. The media giving it also have space and time for sale.

12. Be professional. Members of the press are always invited guests. Never ask them to buy tickets or pay admission. Arrange a special "Press Table" for large banquets.

FOUR STEPS TO GOOD PUBLICITY

STEP ONE:

Contacts

As publicity chairman your most important allies will be newspaper editors and broadcast personnel. If your predecessor didn't give you a list of these people, start right now to build one for yourself and your successor.

You are important to the people you need to know. Editors and program directors are interested in getting to know you as a news source.

Try to determine by an advance phone call what is the least busy day and hour for those you wish to call on. Go to them well prepared. Type your name, address and phone number and the name of your club on a sheet of paper to leave with each person you call on. Media people are very busy, so make your get-acquainted visit brief.

Ask what their deadline is, how they like to have copy presented. Be prepared to answer their questions about the general aims and specific program of your club for the coming year.

Before you leave, write down your new contact's name, title, phone number and exact mailing address.

Newspaper editors and program directors in large cities should be contacted by phone. When you've reached the proper person, get and give the same information as in a personal visit. Then confirm it all in a brief note, saying that you look forward to working with them.

Casts for 3 one-act plays at St. Johns High announced

BY GAY BOND
St. Johns High School

The results are out! The 1967 Senior Play is now in full swing as practices are beginning immediately. The cast of each play goes as follows:

"The Plum Tree" — Miss Angelina Norton, Barb Kurple; Miss Emma Davis, Carol Sibley; Mary Wipple, Melody Bowen; Tessie Cobb, Gladys Fedewa; Miss Melvina Rust, Gay Bond; Miss Annie Tiddle, Peg Eldridge; Miss Sigrid Christianson, Sue Kentfield; and student director, Maralee Nobis.

"The Trumpet" — She, Kathy Bashore; He, Jerry Lewis; Neighbor, Dave Waltz; Landlord, Chuck Stockwell; Man, Joe O'Leary; Woman, Prudy Walker; and student director, Nancy MacLukle.

"Judgement Morning" — Ella Kimball, Marilyn Motz; Bessie Kimball, Kathy Corkin; Claude Kimball, Tom Smith; Sadie Butler, Sharon Howe and student director, Marilyn Eick.

The Faculty Director is James Barger, with Sharon Hall as personal assistant to the director.

They will be under the guidance of Mr. Robert LaBrie. The trip will take place during spring vacation. For three days the travelers will stay in Mexico City. They will encounter a bullfight and visit the Maya and Aztec ruins. From there they will spend two nights at Puebla. If all things work out right it will become an annual affair.

Chorus I will be decked out in their new robes as they discarded their old ones. The Wilsonaires will perform for the Clinton County Republicans on Feb. 23. The Michigan Honors Choir may appear on the scene Feb. 24 and 25 if they decide to rehearse at R. B. Wilson.

With graduation drawing nearer and nearer, seniors are ordering their announcements. Recently they voted on which cover panel they preferred. Unlike past years, the inside of the announcements will display an over print etching of the high school. They sell in packets of five each with the cost at 17 cents apiece.

THE FUTURE Homemakers recently discussed degrees of achievement which are actions that either better the club, the community, home and school. Preparations for the FHA Week that will be held in the middle of April were also discussed.

Orders for the 1967 Wilsonian Annual began last week. Annuals are not distributed until next fall but orders have to be made now. This 1967 annual is being sold at $4 each.

Robert Labrie, head of the Foreign Language Department, in appreciation for the hard work his third Hour French I class did in the magazine campaign, served a lavish dinner for them Thursday night, Feb. 9.

French I claimed high room in the magazine drive and earned a Chicago trip for Mr. Labrie. Instead of splitting up the first place money of $25, they decided on a dinner served by Mr. Labrie attired in a chef's hat and apron. From homemade French bread to a flaming French desert was served.

THE TB CARD campaign is still asking for cards to be turned in. The skin test will not be given unless an adequate number participate. All that is needed is just the signature of one parent and a small charge of 25 cents.

On Thursday, Feb. 9, our Future Farmers took part in the District Leadership Training Contest. The FFA took third place in farm forum, public speaking, demonstration and parliamentary procedure. There were six chapters from this area represented at the contest.

COMING EVENTS

Feb. 23 — Band Concert-Auditorium-Evening.

Feb. 24 — Varsity-Junior varsity basketball-Ionia, here-6:30; Regional wrestling tournament.

Feb. 25 — Regional Wrestling tournament; Vocal-solo and ensemble festival (away).

Ovid-Elsie does well in district music contest

By CATHY ROBINSON
Ovid-Elsie High School

On Saturday, Feb. 11, Ovid-Elsie participated in the solo and ensemble festival held at Fulton High School. Out of the 22 events that our students were in, 10 events received a first division rating, 8 second division ratings, and 3 third division ratings.

The ratings were based on such things as intonation, rhythm, interpretation, expression and tone. Mr. Thayer, the band director, said he was very pleased with the ratings received.

Those events that received a first division rating are now eligible for the state solo and ensemble festival which will be held March 18 in Hastings.

THE SECOND semester promises to be a hectic, fun and memorable experience for the class of 67.

The seniors are taking various tests in preparation for entering college or some other field of work. Many seniors are visiting universities and trade schools to get an idea of what they want to do after graduation.

In just a few weeks, Ovid-Elsie seniors will set up committees for class night and begin to work on pre-graduation activities.

After four years of books, teachers, classmates, activities and good times this class will depart from OHS at graduation June 1, 1967.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church: (1) For his own sake, (2) For the children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Last night a miracle occurred. It happened on the night after Johnny bought a new guitar and all of us joined in a family hootenanny.
When he came to live with us over a year ago, Sam didn't even talk. Raised in a sub-standard home, he was a mighty unhappy little boy with problems galore. He didn't like us at first—he wasn't glad to be with us. But, gradually, as the months wore on, he began to trust us and believe in our love.
That night as the family sang together—Sam suddenly began to sing with us. The miracle had occurred. He was now one of the family.
You see, the Church had taught us that the love of God accepts us completely and unconditionally. We had learned that we could love and accept Sam in the same way. In becoming a part of God's family, we had discovered how to create a new family of our own.

Assembly of God to hear missionaries

Three missionaries to Hong Kong, Burma and Nigeria are scheduled to speak during the next week at the St. Johns Assembly of God Church, the Rev. Joseph F. Eger Jr., pastor, announced Monday.

The church is located at the corner of US-27 and Baldwin Street. The public is invited to all the meetings.

Speaking and showing slides Sunday at 7:30 p.m. will be Rev. Aaron Rothganger, a missionary to Hong Kong, the "pearl of the Orient."

THE REV. RAY W. Trask, an appointed Assemblies of God missionary to Burman and now to Indonesia, will be guest speaker next Tuesday night at 7:30 p.m.

Next Wednesday evening, the Rev. Robert R. Webb, a missionary to Nigeria, will speak.

Hong Kong once considered valueless and a notorious hide-out for pirates, is Rev. Mr. Rothganger's topic. Hong Kong is now an important British crown colony located on the southeast coast of Kwangtung Province, 90 miles south of Canton, China. It is known as the "refugee capital of the world." From a population of 800,000 after World War II, it has more than tripled in size by the influx of refugees - victims of the Communist regime in China.

THE SITUATION has created an incredible population density of more than 9,000 people per square mile. Squatter's settlements and shanty towns cover the rocky hillsides; thousands of people live in makeshift shanties and crude shacks beside buildings and sidewalks.

The Rev. Mr. Rothganger and family, approved Assemblies of God missionaries, will be going to work in this area. Born in Kansas City, Mo., the Rev. Mr. Rothganger lived there until entering Southwestern Assembly of God College in Waxahatchie, Tex. After graduating with a bachelor of arts degree, he and his wife pastored a church in Massachusetts for 2 1/2 years.

Mrs. Rothganger also attended

Southwestern Assembly of God College and studied the missions courses. Mrs. Rothganger, whose parents are missionaries in the Far East, spent a good deal of her early years in Indonesia and Malaya. Her parents are the Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth McComber, formerly of Ashley.

THE REV. MR. TRASK and his wife were assigned to Burma for their first term of missionary service, but as the Burmese government is not renewing missionary visas, the Trasks will be reassigned to Indonesia for their second missionary term.

While in Burma, the couple ministered in the Evangelistic Center in Rangoon for a year and witnessed a Pentecostal revival in which many spoke in other tongues as recorded in the New Testament. The Trasks then spent four years in evangelistic meetings and open-air services. Seeing the need for a Bible school in the Myitkyna area, they devoted two years to establishing such a school. This past year 25 students attended. During the spring of 1966, the Rev. Maynard L. Ketcham, Assemblies of God field secretary for the Far East, and the missionaries to Burma turned the work over to the denomination's national leaders.

IN PREPARATION for missionary service, the Trasks attended North Central Bible College, Minneapolis, Minn., where he received his BA degree in theology. Before they received their missionary appointment, the Trasks pastored in International Falls and Elystan, Minn. During the missions rally, Rev. Mr. Trask will have on display a rock collection which he gathered in Burma. Also, he will present slides, costumes, curios, and special music.

The Webbs were first assigned to Africa in 1958. They took up duties in western Nigeria in 1963. Nigeria, with its 55 million people, is still one of the most needy fields on the entire African continent. The Webbs will have on display curios, costumes and will present special music.

St. Patrick's dinner set March 18

"Begorra and I've never heard the likes of it yet!" Carolyn Divish made the remark to Duane Becker last Friday as St. Joseph School students tuned up their instruments and exercised their vocal chords for a March 18 dinner performance in honor of St. Patrick.

The students of the music department at St. Joseph School will present the program at the annual St. Patrick's Day dinner sponsored by the St. Joseph Altar Society. The ham dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. in the church social hall.

David Froh, public relations director for the Michigan United Fund, will be the speaker. Jim Moore will be master of ceremonies. Tickets for the dinner are on sale at Miller-Jones, Rehmann's, the Carol Ann Shop, Finkbeiner's in Fowler and, on March 12, after the last three masses at St. Joseph's.

Under the direction of Sister Justine Marie, the music department will present its "Shamrock Chorus" and a special band will make its debut that night.

St. Therese ham dinner Sunday

Parishioners of the St. Therese Catholic Church in Lansing will hold their annual ham dinner in the school cafeteria this Sunday from 11:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Proceeds of the dinner will go to the St. Therese bus fund. Highlighting the dinner will be the popular smorgasbord dessert table. The dinner menu will include ham, mashed potatoes with gravy, corn, rolls, cole slaw and relishes. Free baby sitting will be available.

Chairman for the event is Mrs. Leon Pung, assisted by Mrs. Perry Trimmer and Mrs. Henry Dreps.

Unlike other mammals, when bats are at rest, their body temperature quickly drops to that of the air around them. As a result, their energy requirements are much reduced.

Clinton Area Church Notes

The second in a series of Methodist Men's Lenten breakfasts will be held this morning (Thursday) at 6:30 a.m. The program will be in charge of Larry Sexton. Breakfast chairmen are Bob Brock and Charles Huntington.

Chairmen during the following breakfasts are: March 2, Gordon Vandemark for program, Ken Moore and Albert LeFevre for breakfast; March 9, Bill McCarthy for program, Terry Larner for breakfast; March 16, J. D. Robinson for program, Charles Hazle and Roger Feeman for breakfast; March 23, John Furry for program, Bob Niemi and Gene Beagle for breakfast.

In preparation for the Methodist Church Mission to Members, a 24-hour prayer vigil will be held beginning this Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock and continuing through 4 p.m. Saturday afternoon. Rev. Keith Bovee said members are asked to go to the church chapel at an assigned time and to spend 15 minutes or longer in prayer and meditation.

The fourth quarterly conference of the First Methodist Church is scheduled for March 9 at 7:30 p.m.

Wednesday night's 6:15 p.m. family night potluck at the First Baptist Church was to feature a film, "Flight Plan Amazonas."

The Father and Child Banquet at the First Methodist Church, postponed last month because of snow, will be held Monday night. The speaker, the Rev. Jasper Cook, has made quite a reputation for himself as a clown, and he'll perform in that capacity Monday. No set fee for the banquet will be charged, but a free-will offering will be taken.

The Senior Young People of the First Baptist Church will be viewing the film "Lost in the Crowd," next Sunday after the evening service. The film is for high schoolers and older youth only.

The Baptist Church will host the area youth talent contest March 18. Youth of the church are asked to see their youth sponsors for details. Categories are in vocal and instrumental music, speaking, Bible knowledge (of Romans), journalism and boys preaching.

Better enjoy yourself as you go along — you can't store up the ingredients of a good time.

Bishops' Overseas Aid drive to start

The Most Rev. Alexander Zaleski, Bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Lansing, announced this week that the diocese will participate with the rest of the Catholics in America March 5 in one of the most important annual efforts of the Church.

"The fourth Sunday in Lent," Bishop Zaleski said, "traditionally is the day when American Catholics open their hearts, good will and pocket books to their poor and distressed brothers of the world."

"Again this year, Catholics in the St. Johns area will be asked to give as generously as possible to the Catholic Bishops' Overseas Aid Fund — the annual effort that sustains the Catholic Relief Services."

News of Interest to Clinton County Farm Bureau Families

Community units to meet jointly

The community group committee has made some interesting plans for the groups in Clinton County if they wish to divert from their regular monthly meeting schedule.

A year ago the board of directors sponsored joint meetings in the county office, enabling group members to come in to their office, inspect it and ask any questions about the county office operation or about county program from the directors. Over 450 persons met in the office at different dates throughout March and April, and many asked for a repeat this year.

The community group committee felt they should divert slightly this year and hold the meetings out in the area, preferably in each quarter of the county with all groups joining together in that quarter section — four townships at each meeting. It was felt that this would enable more persons to get acquainted with other group members at one meeting, for a good speaker to be obtained and for a new approach to the joint meeting plan.

DURING MARCH and April groups will be setting up these quarter township meetings at a central location and sharing in the regularly monthly meeting responsibilities.

Also in the plan for this spring is a tour of the State Farm Bureau facility in Lansing. Interested Farm Bureau members will have the opportunity to tour their organization's home office and see all areas including affiliated company facilities. Announcement will be made later of the date as soon as plans are formulated.

The community group committee is sponsoring the annual group contest this year, and participation by groups is good. The contest is based on the monthly meeting held by the group, and each month a special project is given for extra contest points. A cash award is given at the annual meeting to the three top groups.

FB acts to nix time change

On April 1, 1967, unless appropriate action is taken by the State of Michigan — the federal government under authority of Public Law 89-387 will:

1) Divide the Upper and the Lower Peninsulas into two different time zones.

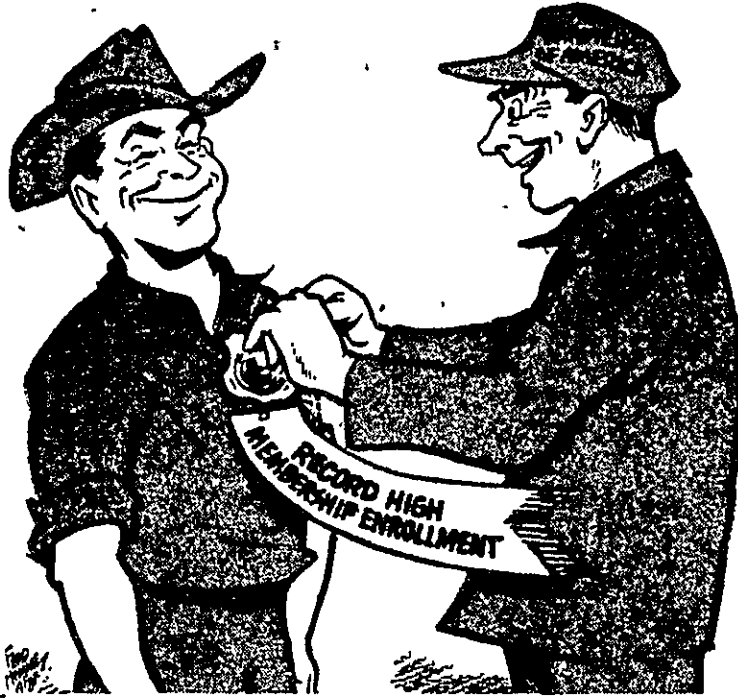

2) Advance the legal time in Michigan two hours ahead of natural time during six months of each year.

Only quick and determined action by the state legislators to retain existing Michigan time can avert the dismal and depressing consequences of federal bureaucratic interference with the lives of the citizens of Michigan.

OFFICIAL MICHIGAN time now gives us daylight savings time throughout the year.

Educators and parent-teacher associations are opposed to an additional hour of darkness in the morning which will require children to walk to school and school buses to be operated in pre-dawn darkness during September and October.

Those charged with traffic safety are opposed to extending an hour of darkness through the morning rush hour and the resulting traffic jams and accidents.

An additional hour of darkness in the morning will seriously interfere with dairy and agricultural production and reduce the hours of employment in the construction trades. Employment and income will decrease in the food, beverage, entertainment and related industries if present official Michigan time is not retained.

THE UNNATURAL time which the federal government will impose upon the citizens of Michigan will seriously interfere with religious practices and observances of all faiths. Detroit voters rejected the last proposed time change at an election Sept. 14, 1948, and voted to keep our eastern Standard Time.

You can help! If you oppose this time change, write your legislator. Already bills have been introduced in both the House and Senate to keep the time as it is. Farm Bureau has circulated petitions and has already sent in thousands of names opposing this action.

By ROBERT E. SMITH
Legislative Counsel
Michigan Farm Bureau

The following is based largely on an actual Farm Bureau community group meeting. The scene was the living room of a farm home. The discussion was centered around reasons why farmers should join Farm Bureau.

One of the newer members made a remark something like "Well, for once Farm Bureau has accomplished something worth while by helping to get legislation passed eliminating the taxation on farm personal property." Everyone agreed that this was an important accomplishment and would save Michigan farmers millions of dollars. One member gently chided the speaker and reminded him that if he were well informed he would know that elimination of the farm personal property tax was only one of a long list of accomplishments.

Someone else reminded the group that there was another equally important tax bill passed this past year that had also been supported by Farm Bureau and that was the exemption from assessment of fruit trees, vines, bushes, crops, etc. One of the members, a supervisor, said that this "in the long run" could be the most important accomplishment, because everything a farmer raises that's in the ground as of the assessment date has been assessable. This includes alfalfa, rye, wheat, and other crops, in addition to the fruit crops.

He said that most counties had not been assessing them separately, but some counties had started to do this. He also pointed out in the case of personal property taxes, that, in addition to the farm had also been assessable.

Someone else in the group spoke up and said that one of the most important accomplishments as far as he was concerned had been the further delay of the Workmen's Compensation law and the important amendments that had been attached to it. He said it seemed to him that a farmer hiring labor of any kind should be most concerned with the effect of such a law and should certainly want to join Farm Bureau to lend a hand in helping to further clarify it so it would not be an undue burden.

As of Feb. 8 Clinton County stood 18th in the state out of 71 organized county Farm Bureaus.

There was lively talk by everyone; mentioning different pieces of legislation that had been passed in the last couple of years which were favorable to farmers, such as livestock health bills, special appropriations for research on cherry problems and vegetable varieties, pesticide research at Michigan State University, emigrant agent laws, needed amendments to the State Minimum Wage law, and many, many others.

One of the ladies active on the County Farm Bureau Women's Committee spoke up and told the group not to forget the safety measure that affects farmers the most—the slow-moving vehicle law. She said that the Farm Bureau Women were being successful in promotion of that emblem to be used on farm equipment.

One of the older members who has been active in Farm Bureau for many years finally spoke up and said that we shouldn't forget Farm Bureau's accomplishments down through the years and that while he hadn't thought about it lately, the new $6,000 tractor he bought last spring would have cost $240 more if it hadn't been for Farm Bureau's successful fight in the courts and in the Legislature years ago to exempt farm machinery, feeds, seeds, fertilizers, sprays and other supplies from the sales tax, thus giving agriculture the same consideration as industry.

SOME MENTIONED "Why

bring that up—after all, that was accomplished over 30 years ago?" Another member spoke up and said that after having served on the county legislative committee, he knew that the sales tax exemption had been attacked many times and that without Farm Bureau to speak for farmers, this and all the other gains made throughout the years could be lost. He reminded the group that Farm Bureau is the only farm organization with full-time legislative counsels working with the Legislature. He said that another thing most members don't realize is the great deal of work that is done with other divisions of government, such as commissions, boards, bureaus, regulatory agencies, etc.

"For instance," he said, "Farm Bureau has protected farmers' interests many times on sales tax regulations. Only two or three years ago, some fruit farmers were being charged sales tax on the boxes they bought to replace the old crates which were exempt. Farm Bureau took this up with the proper authorities, and was successful in getting favorable action."

He said that just last year, Farm Bureau battled a federal bill in Congress that would have had the effect of eliminating much of our sales tax exemption in Michigan.

SOME OF THE OTHER older members mentioned other gains of previous years. "Don't forget the state and federal gas tax refunds," said one. The minutes-man spoke up and said "Yes and don't forget that many times in the Legislature, there are bills to cut the state gas tax refund. It may even come up again this session."

Other members recalled the tax reform in the "thirties," when the state property tax was repealed and the state gas tax replaced the property tax for building roads. There was also a reduction of license fees for farm trucks.

One member, who is also a member of a local grain cooperative and understood the situation, said that perhaps one of the most important bills ever to be promoted by Farm Bureau was the "green to grain" bill, passed by the 1965 Legislature. He said he knew this was a most complicated measure having to do with transportation controls, and that the effect of it was a saving of at least three cents to five cents on every bushel of grain and beans that farmers sell.

SOMEONE ELSE, who happened to serve as a member of a school board, pointed out that he was glad Farm Bureau also supported needed changes in the state aid formula that resulted in an indirect relief on property taxes and was happy to see that the 1967 policies continue to promote a better school aid formula.

New membership drive kicked off on Feb. 14

Many of those ahead of Clinton have already begun their new member campaign. State-wide, 85.12 per cent of the goal has been attained. Three counties—Menominee, Baraga and Benzie—have reached their goal.

Roll Call captains, workers and board members met Feb. 14 for their annual kick-off meeting. A turkey dinner was served by Farm Bureau Women at Smith Hall at noon and following the meal a panel of representatives of the Farm Bureau and its affiliated companies were asked questions by the group.

After materials were passed out and instructions given, Larry Ewing, manager of the Field Services Division of Michigan Farm Bureau, spoke concerning what the nation's largest farm organization has done for its members this past year. Roll Call workers will be discussing these achievements with their new member prospects.

More than $41 million in flood damages are being saved every year in 729 small watershed projects across the nation.

President's Message

BY E. J. BOTTUM

It is membership time in Farm Bureau and plans are just about finished for roll call. The kick off was Feb. 14 with a dinner for the membership workers. Raymond Mayers, former Clinton County Farm Bureau president, is roll call chairman. Larry Ewing, manager of Field Services, and personnel from Farm Bureau Petroleum and Farm Bureau Insurance Co. were on hand to answer questions.

It has been brought to my attention that there is a bill in committee in the House of Representatives on all throw-away containers with a 2-cent refund. Farm Bureau believes it should be 5 cents; if you would write your representative with your support there is a good chance of getting this bill passed this year.

THE COMMUNITY group committee is making plans to bring all groups together some time in March or April. Each group would bring a couple that does not belong to a group. The committee is planning on dividing the county in half and taking one half at a time on a tour of the Farm Bureau center in Lansing. Any member who would like to join a group or start a new one please let us know.

The county board has gone over the resolutions passed at the last county annual meeting. These resolutions that pertain to the county have been handed to committees that fall in their category.

The plans for the Rural-Urban dinner, set for May 23, with the Chamber of Commerce are pretty well set. We are waiting for bids from groups in the county to put on the dinner.

We will also have an exhibit at the Auto, Farm, Home and Sports Show. We will see you there on April 6, 7, and 8.

This is just a few of the things we have planned for now. I hope this sounds interesting to you and those of you who don't belong will join with us and help make this the most successful year for Farm Bureau.

Why join . . .

Farm Bureau and the money farmers invested to make them work were also discussed, such as seed, feed and fertilizer plants, egg marketing and other Farm Bureau Services programs, grain terminals to ship Michigan grain to foreign markets, new Farm Bureau Insurance programs and savings to farmers through Farmers Petroleum Cooperative, Michigan Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Ass'n's, new and successful marketing program in fruits and vegetables was also pointed to.

The conversation was still lively when the hostess interrupted to announce that lunch was ready.

THE CHAIRMAN closed the meeting by observing that they had just scratched the surface on all the things farmers, through Farm Bureau, have done and are doing.

He reminded them that they hadn't said a word about the county program, the Farm Bureau Woman's Program, the Young People's Program, the national program or the international program such as the Farm Bureau Trade Center in Rotterdam. He said his trip to the state annual meeting convinced him that to maintain the gains that have been made, and to do the jobs that need to be done, would require a dedicated, informed and active membership.

He reminded the group that they should study the Farm Bureau policies for 1967. He said there are many serious issues facing farmers that can only be solved by legislative action.

He suggested that every member should be a committee of one to invite any nonmembers to join Farm Bureau and help in the effort.

Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity announced today that Carl G. Moore has pledged Tau Chapter at Michigan State University. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore of Elsie and is a sophomore majoring in crop science. He is a 1965 graduate of Elsie High School.

Alpha Gamma Rho is a national social-professional fraternity for men studying agriculture and related fields.

FB to co-sponsor rural-urban fete

Michigan Week in Clinton County will feature the joining together of two groups—one made up of farmers and the other composed of urban business men—to sponsor a farm-city evening on May 23.

The Farm Bureau first held a Rural-Urban dinner in 1965 when Allen Kline, past American Farm Bureau president, was the featured speaker. Over 400 persons were inspired by Kline's famous oratory. Another successful meeting was held in 1966 and again proved to be truly a meeting at which better understanding between urban and rural folks was accomplished.

This year the county Farm Bureau leaders felt that more could be gained by joining together with the local Chamber to make it truly farm-city sponsored, and plans are well underway to make this year's affair the best yet.

Four groups throughout the county have been contacted and asked to bid on serving the meal. They are the Greenbush Church, the combined Bengal and Birmingham Church ladies, the Riley Lutheran Aide Society and the Wacousta Community Church Ladies.

Lt. Gov. Milliken has accepted our invitation to speak, making it assured that folks attending will be afforded both an informative and pleasurable evening. Mark your calendar now for May 23 at Smith Hall.

NFO plans milk holding action

County leaders and members of the Clinton County NFO attended a closed state-wide strategy meeting at Howell Feb. 8. Purpose of the meeting was to discuss plans for a milk holding action and to discuss a new approach NFO is preparing to use in an attempt to raise prices on all farm commodities at the farm level.

County leaders were told that the NFO had done everything possible to try to prevent a milk holding action but that although processors had a better attitude, it looked as though they would still be talking 10 years from now with no higher prices for milk to the farmer unless a holding action is called.

THE NFO LEADERS were told that NFO is adding a new approach to its efforts to raise farm prices. Details will soon be announced. This new approach will offer farmers an opportunity to use marketing information and a structure offered by the NFO so the basic size of the agricultural plant can be reduced so supply can be brought in balance with demand.

Elmer Smith, county president, of the Clinton County NFO, said, "No one should oppose this dynamic new approach. It is something farmers have always been told they should do. Now they can use NFO to reduce the size of the agricultural plant and bring supply in balance with demand."

The county NFO leaders attending the meeting were Mr. and

ASC PROGRAM

CAP requests so far exceed all expectations

Requests for 1967 cropland adjustment program agreements have far exceeded anyone's expectations. We have 86 requests on file and 15 completed agreements.

Congress appropriated only about one-fifth the amount of money for this program in 1967 as was appropriated in 1966. For the state as a whole, there will not be enough money to cover all requests presently on file. Funds will be shifted according to needs between counties; that is, where there are funds unused in some counties these will be allocated to those counties that are short, to the limit such funds are available.

Funds allocated to our county are about one-third of the amount needed to offer agreements to everyone requesting to participate.

FARMERS WHO HAVE a CAP request on file and have not been offered an agreement to date should come to our office and sign up in the feed grain program before the end of the sign-up period March 17; then if funds come available they can cancel out of the feed grain program if they wish and participate in the cropland adjustment program.

There will be no proportionate shares (or acreage allotments) for the 1967 crop of sugarbeets, the Department of Agriculture has announced. The main reason for removing restrictions was the obligation of the beet area to have enough sugar to market in 1968. Proportionate shares were established for the 1965 and 1966 crops, but substantial amounts of the allocated acreage were not planted.

Don't forget the closing sign-up date for the 1967 feed grain and wheat programs is March 17. Our office will be open on Saturday, Feb. 25, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

To date, we have 620 farms

W. M. SMITH
County ASC Manager

signed up to participate in the feed grain program, and 474 farms participating in the wheat program.

The wheat and feed grain program sign-up period has been extended for Michigan from March 3 through March 17.

This extension was necessary to insure that all producers have an opportunity to get to the ASC county office and have the programs explained. Road conditions have prevented many from getting to county offices. A little snow and a high wind will sure upset our way of life as everything moves on wheels now days.

We hope for the best and urge producers to come to our office as soon as possible and have the programs explained. No further extension is anticipated; therefore, farmers should not wait until the last minute to enroll.

FARM PROGRAM officials point out that the United States has more cropland than is currently needed to meet demands for crops; however, the national wheat acreage allotment for 1967 is nearly a third larger than for 1966, and the feed grain program aims to divert only about half as many acres as in 1966. The wheat program offers no diversion payments, and the feed grain program offers diversion payments only to small farmers.

Even though acreage diversion goals vary from one program to another, farm program officials emphasize that the law makes the programs available to all farmers, and the sign-up period has been changed to assure them of the opportunity to participate.

Our ASC county office will be open on Saturdays, Feb. 18 and 25 from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. to accommodate those producers who are unable to get into the county office during the week.

Just how hard up for help is rural America?

Our thoughts:

As the federal government expands and dumps its programs onto the American public, we get farther and farther away from the concept FOR which the United States was founded and BY which it has flourished.

The concept: do it yourself! It has worked out pretty well since 1776, and it has resulted in a nation by far the most prosperous in the world. But now Washington bureaucrats are moving us away from this time-proven method toward one of their own: let the government do it.

The government WILL if we don't! Just how hard up for help are we Americans? Must we turn to face Washington with our palms extended? Do we really need that kind of help?

We don't think America is down on its luck that far. There are enough high spirits, strong backs and alert minds that we can not only survive in the world today but we can make a good place for ourselves. We've proved over the years we can do it ourselves.

In St. Johns, we've done it that way. Our million dollar-plus water improvement system was paid for at the local level, and there's a lot of pride in that fact as well as in the system itself. Why then federal aid for our urban renewal?

Maybe we can't do it ourselves anymore? Maybe we've lost our initiative what with all the easy money the federal government throws around. Maybe we're falling into the bureaucratic trap that saps Americans of that desire to keep this country great and not just liveable.

It's time for a reduction in government programs. A reduction would not only cut government spending but would allow Americans to fend for themselves and reap all the benefits that go with that experience. Besides, Americans just aren't that hard up for help.

A popular myth about government debt fades

A popular myth about government debt is running into more and more trouble. In essence, that myth is the politically fomented belief that deficits and the rising debt of the federal government are nothing to worry about because "we owe it to ourselves." Many a candidate has been elected to public office on the strength of this irresponsible thesis, which explains in a large part the steadily depreciating value of the dollar and increasing inflation.

Now a brief item in U.S. News and World Report says, "Debt will be a matter of growing concern. Debt interest alone is headed for a 14-billion-dollar total, and rising. That's on federal debt, and it exceeds the entire federal budget of any 'New Deal' year . . ."

If debt is no burden because "we owe it to ourselves," then why should the government pay $14 billion interest each year on the funds it borrows? Why not just ask our citizens and institutions to turn over their wherewithal to Washington with no strings attached? Since we are all allegedly one big family, why should the thrifty investor collect interest on borrowings that are to be used for the public good? Better yet, why not repudiate the entire interest obligation of some $14 billion a year?

Why? Because repudiation would end with the financial collapse of the government.

This is the implication of the "we owe it to ourselves" philosophy.

Farm Bureau's thoughts:

A plan to establish regional agencies of the federal government to help direct the growth and development of rural American communities is the newest blueprint for extension of central authority to come off the bureaucratic drawing board. Neatly packaged in legislative form under the title of Community District Development Act, the program would create federally administered planning bodies to provide coordination and advice in the development of cities and counties sharing common social, economic and geographic interest.

Nation's Business recently analyzed the proposal and discussed its potential impact on cities, counties and states. It said that regional districts would be made up of territories embracing towns and counties surrounding a general marketing center and could possibly cross state lines.

District directors, representing the various elected bodies of political subdivisions within any district, would comprise the district board and be responsible for planning and "advising" as well as guiding all federal funds to approved projects. Federal grant-giving agencies would have to abide by district development plans.

While no district could be formed without the concurrence of state and local governments, Nation's Business says, "... the lure of special subsidies — plus the threat of seeing them funneled elsewhere — suggests that the political pressures on local officials to go along include a lot more than devotion to coordinated planning." Washington officials admit special doses of economic and social aid are planned to entice regions to get the first districts going.

The Department of Agriculture and its Rural Community Development Service would run the program. Agricultural officials say they visualize all non-metropolitan areas of the country eventually divided into community development districts, but there is nothing in the loosely-worded bill limiting districts to the countryside or exempting metropolitan areas.

Nation's Business quoted a former Agriculture Department official who said the authority originally sought by the department would have bypassed state governments. While Congress would likely have opposed it, the desire to bypass the states indicates there is potential danger of federal circumvention of state and local authority once districts are established. As it is, the plan would carve states and counties into a series of federal districts, which Nation's Business says, "... would remake the map of the U.S."

A major critic of the bill is Idaho Gov. Robert E. Smylie, whose opinion is, "... that all our experience with the programs under the Economic Opportunity Act shows that the superimposition of federally dominated administrative units between our traditional governmental units does more to confound the problems we are all interested in solving than it does to solve them." He declares that community development districts would "... be totally destructive of the capacity — and the will — of the small towns to work out their own problems. . . And they're just not that hard up."

Governor Smylie thus brings up a question which must be answered, not only for the community development district proposal, but of all federally sponsored programs to offer advice and assistance to local communities:

Just how hard up for help is rural America? Chances are that federal planners would be looking elsewhere for recipients of their plans if the question were ever objectively answered by Congress. Moreover, there is the matter of how far the American people wish to go in abandoning the principles of representative self-government. That is the great unresolved question of the time.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Fire chasers hindrance especially now

Dear Editor:

Saturday evening, Feb. 11, our neighbor's house on DeWitt Road (south of DeWitt) burned.

DeWitt Road has been practically one-way traffic since the recent snowstorm. I'm not too happy with the road situation, but that's not my complaint at the moment!

Why MUST curious people go out at midnight to see a fire when they KNOW what terrible condition the roads are in just now?

THE TANKER truck had to make several trips for water. We watched it back up over a quarter mile because of cars and trucks in the way. If our drive hadn't had cars parked in it, they could have turned at this point and cut the distance in half.

The fire truck was on the job and I feel sure these men were efficient enough to handle the situation without curious, untrained, volunteer help.

I feel better now this is said and hope this is printed for some to read that were (in my opinion) IN THE WAY.

You Have to Keep Trying

A look into the past . . .

AT THE OAR FACTORY AT TURN OF CENTURY

Mrs. Floyd Crook of Lakeview contributed this picture, taken from glass plate negatives found by her brother, the late LaVerne Groom of Maple Rapids. He had found them in an old dresser and they are at least 65 years old. The three men at left owned this oar factory and saw mill, on the Maple River; they are June Yates, John Britton and Eli Jones. The others are unidentified.

RAMBLIN' with Rink

By LOWELL G. RINKER

It takes a special breed of person—odd—to want to travel 400 miles one way just to see a college basketball game. No doubt, I've already given myself away, so I'll admit it was me.

The fan: Ramblin' Rink. Destination: Peoria, Ill. Accompanist: Rod Brown, the other thin man on the CCN staff. Object: To prove to Brown the high calibre of Bradley University basketball. The result: Bradley victory over North Texas State, 79-69, but an unconvinced Rod Brown.

IT'S BEEN ABOUT five years since I had witnessed a Bradley basketball game and during the past year I've had a gnawing hunger to see the Braves play, to hear the rhythmic clapping of the BU fans and hear the roar of the crowd echo through Robertson Fieldhouse.

When the season started, Rod and I looked at the Bradley schedule, hoping the Braves would play host to Arizona State, Rod's alma mater. But alas, no, so we settled for another game. I managed to con the sports public relations man, whom I had worked for while in college, out of a couple of free passes, and we just set back and hoped for good weather.

Fortunately, we had it—most of the time. Going down to Peoria, we ran into snow flurries around Chicago, but the rest of the time it was sunny and cold. I made arrangements for bunks with relatives 80 miles this side of Peoria, so the trip didn't cost too much.

THE BRADLEY BASKET-

GRASSROOTS OPINION

NEOLA, IOWA, GAZETTE - REPORTER: The Office of Economic Opportunity is at it again. They're thinking of starting a newspaper in Vermont, to "open up the lines of communication" to poor people. The Cardozo project, similar to that being planned for Vermont, was shot down because it was not considered "sufficiently innovative to comply for a demonstration grant" and OEO noted "a serious doubt as to the propriety of federal funding of a commercial newspaper." The government has no business in the newspaper business. The constitution of the United States guarantees the people of this nation a "free press" and this does not mean government subsidized or government controlled.

OPPORTUNITY, WASH., HERALD: "Congress, by raising the legal minimum-wage rate from $1.25 to $1.60 an hour to become effective in 1968, has unwittingly provided a 'yard-stick' by which the diminishing value of the dollar may be measured. This is inflation."

NEWSWEEK MAGAZINE: "Judging solely by his paycheck, the typical U.S. production worker with three dependents seemed to be better off financially last month than he was a year ear-

BALL team, I'm happy to report, still shows flashes of the brilliance that made their play back in the late 1950's among the top nationwide. There are new players, of course, and while they showed themselves as being good they don't measure up to the Braves teams of 1958-62 that I knew so well.

The crowd reaction is still the same, and getting in on that in itself just about made the trip worthwhile. But, Bradley won, hitting on 63 percent of their field goal shots and 76 percent on free throws. That's not bad basketball!

I SAW A LOT OF old friends while in Peoria, including a couple of my journalism professors, one of whom is going to spend the next nine months in Afghanistan on a teaching fellowship. There are new buildings all over campus, including one sparkling new one that has allowed the journalism department to move out of the middle ages to modern quarters.

It's great to go back to your alma mater. The students act the same as they did six years ago, but they look so young. The campus changes in appearance but keeps the same basic framework.

It does seem kind of odd to drive 400 miles one way just to see a basketball game; but while that was the primary objective, there were the other things and people to see that help justify it—to Rod and I, if not to our wives whom we left behind.

Alphabet antics

By W. E. DOBSON

In olden days before we had life quite so complicated, When folks was much more common 'N not super-educated; We used to sort of spell things out, For all friends 'n relations, But now we need a code just to Decode abbreviations.

With our governmental functions That has grown by leaps 'n bounds, We'd run ourselves plum out o' type, If we tried to make the rounds; 'N so we use the letters So we all can be in doubt — 'Twould take a master speller, 'Jest to spell the blamed things out.

These over-lappin' dynasties That make for letter soup, If a feller had 'n name 'em, They'd throw him for a loop; So they remain unnamed, unspelled, Their flow will never vary, 'N none kin' guess their meanin', 'Thout a gov'ment dictionary.

I suppose it makes less argument To keep it sort of blind, Since ignorance canstill be bliss, Why try to use your mind? But sometime — for the record — Before they start to spout, I'd like a blow-by-blow account Of what they're talking about.

Demos launch first heavy attacks on Romney, plans

Democratic legislators launched the first of what will become an increasingly heavy attack on Gov. George Romney, his plans and programs.

Ultimate purpose behind the attacks is to scuttle Romney's prospects as a GOP presidential candidate. The "loyal opposition" must make him look ineffective in his home state at the very least, and ridiculous if possible.

In the current series, Democrats have chosen some petty points as well as some which will gain momentum as the year goes on.

STATE OF THE STATE messages are traditionally presented in joint sessions during the day. So when the Governor asked for an evening audience during prime television time, he was accused of preparing a primarily "political speech." He got his way in the end.

Then the minority leadership lited speech." He got his way in the end.

Then the minority leadership found fault with the proposed time-table for the legislative session which set final adjournment in late June.

It has been standard procedure to set a May or June closing date, although in recent years this self-imposed deadline has been rarely met. Sessions have been extended on a day-to-day basis.

Democrats argued that the Legislature is now a full-time body and should act like one. They loudly protested the June adjournment as Romney's way of providing time to take to the presidential campaign trail.

with references to the 1965 session, when Democrats held control and set a similar mid-year date; and the fact that the governor can call a special session at will if emergencies arise between sessions.

Another blow has been aimed at the governor's attempt to slow down implementation of the medical program adopted last year. Romney has had to eat some crow on this question, but said he plans to propose legislative changes in the law to keep costs of the program down.

TAX REFORM, by far the most controversial matter to face the legislature, is causing the most furor. On this question Democrats are taking aim from several positions.

Some say the proposed 2 1/2 per cent individual income tax rate should be raised.

Local levies should be outlawed, with the additional revenue going back to the local units.

Others want a ceiling, which would require a public vote, for any state income tax written into the Constitution. Several Republican lawmakers share this view.

Still others say the people should be given a chance to vote on amending the Constitution to allow enactment of a graduated income tax, now specifically prohibited.

AN EVEN BALANCE in the 55-55 House head-count and an almost even balance in the 20-18 split of Senate seats bring Democrats' complaints more attention than they might receive under other conditions.

Republicans might need a few Democratic votes on any given issue. Gov Romney must, therefore, carefully weigh any retort he makes to these early barages of criticism.

The early part of this session has been markedly different from the picture in early 1965 when the Democrats took control and Romney's national image was still quite hazy and unclear.

At that time, headlines across the state read: "Romney, Dems Win Work Together" and "Honey-moon Session Ahead." The honeymoon obviously is over!

SOMEBODY GOOFED and only quick action can correct a situation which poses a threat to the public's "right to know."

It seems that last year Sen. Stanley Rozycki, D-Detroit, felt that a police officer's written opinion relating to a traffic accident should be classified information, available only for analysis by traffic safety experts.

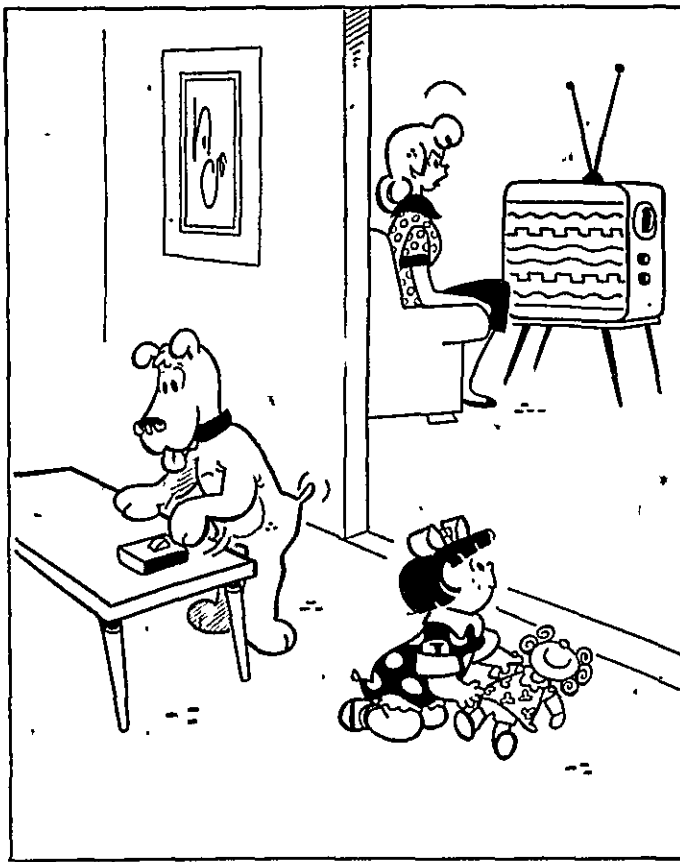

As sometimes happen, the language in Rozycki's bill was revised as it went through the complicated legislative channels. It was enacted into law and takes effect March 10.

No one noticed until the 1966 session was over, however, that the bill as passed might have greater impact. It could be con-

Insurance 'abuses' arouse lawmaker

Sen. John O. Pastore (R.I.) "... The telephone, despite its many benefits in our daily business and personal lives, unfortunately provides a ready cloak of anonymity to the sort of person who can somehow derive satisfaction or pleasure from frightening other people. This cloak has been availed of by such people in various ways. The telephone may ring at any hour of the day or night, to produce only a dead line when answered. Sometimes the caller will merely breathe heavily and then hang up. Some times he will utter obscenities.

"A new and most offensive form of harassment has been devised. Families of servicemen are called and given false reports of death or injury, or even hard as it is to believe, are gloatingly reminded of the death of a son or husband in service.

"The Bell Telephone system ceived to close all the police records of accident reports.

AS ENACTED, NEWSPAPERS might be prohibited from reporting information about an accident unless an arrest was made. Not even "next of kin" could be notified!

Insurance companies could not get information about a client's accident.

In short, the bill which was designed to hold secret except for statistical purposes only one portion of an accident report became a law which tried to suppress all accident information.

Rozycki came back this session with a bill to amend the law and restore it to its original purpose. I f it moves promptly through legislative channels, it can replace wording in the law which takes effect March 10.

5. civil service positions open

The Michigan Civil Service Commission is now accepting applications for several state jobs, according to State Rep. Lester J. Allen, Republican of Ithaca.

Rep. Allen announced this week that a Feb. 27 deadline has been set for submission of applications for a conservation aide, chemists, a deaf school superintendent, a hospital research and training director and a hospital resident training director.

Written examinations for the conservation aide position will be held April 8. All of the other positions do not require written examinations but applicants may call for oral appraisal.

Allen suggested that anyone interested in more complete information about the qualifications and salaries of these and other state employment opportunities should contact their local state employment office or write to the Michigan Civil Service Commission in the Lewis Cass Building in Lansing.

COUNTRY FLAVOR

Winter brook murmurs softly as Nature plans

HAYDN PEARSON

The notes are muted now. Sculptured snow patterns are winding scrolls along the banks. It is white on white as the brook twists and turns through the meadow. Elms and willows above the brook remind one of graceful gray vases.

Pasture brooks born of highland springs flow more rapidly and paint pictures of varying scenes. There are places where the snow completely covers the running water; there are spots where ice lace shines green-gray as the water leaps over ledges; broken bracken and grasses are covered with frozen mist.

In the woodlands, where two or three upland brooks have joined, forces to flow into the valley, the brooks are completely covered after a fresh fall and one can barely hear the murmur of slow moving water. The brook twists and turns among the boles of tall trees and one knows that beneath the whiteness, the brown-tan roots of the trees are washed by clear cold water.

This is the heart of winter. Life seems suspended while cold grips the land. But nature's plan is on schedule. This is the rest time for many forms of plant and animal life. But when Winter's chains are loosened and the buds begin to swell, the brooks respond to the miracle. The music is muted now, but when time is fulfilled the song of leaping, singing waters will be part of the spring symphony.
