School citizens unit on call

The St. Johns Board of Education has decided to call its school citizens committee back into session for a discussion of the school building proposals.

In a special meeting last Thursday evening, the board accepted a finalized plan for the elementary and high schools. The architects' estimated costs for the building program will be available by the time the citizens committee meets.

That meeting is scheduled for March 10 at 8 p.m. at the First Congregational Church in St. Johns. The citizens unit was formed last fall and the 110 members met four times to recommend to the board of education what directions they felt the building program should go.

Capitol Savings to open branch office in St. Johns

Capitol Savings and Loan Assn., a Lansing banking institution, will open a branch office in St. Johns within about 90 days.

The announcement last week will result in the shuffle of four local businesses and the further result of a reduction of one empty building in the business district.

Capitol Savings will occupy the front portion of the building now being used by Jim's Insurance Agency, the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce and Charlie Lynam Accounting, all at 222 N. Clinton Avenue.

JIM MCKENZIE, owner of the insurance agency, has purchased the building previously housing the Central National Bank and is remodeling the interior for larger offices for his agency, the Chamber of Commerce and Lynam's business.

Kurt Becker, owner of Kurt's Appliance Center, owns the building he is in and which also includes the building Jim's Insurance is presently located in. He will lease the front 40 feet of the present insurance building to Capitol Savings and Loan for its branch office.

The rear portion of the building will house Becker's appliance service center and equipment, allowing him to expand his television display area all the way to the rear of his present store. The service center is now located at the rear of the store.

CAPITOL SAVINGS has received state approval for the opening of a branch office here, but no exact date for the opening has been set. The branch here will be the fifth; other branches are in Detroit, Lathrop Village, Pontiac and Okemos.

Robert Clark, executive vice president of Capitol Savings, said the branch here will employ three people. No decision has been made yet on who will manage the branch office or what the interior layout of the business will be like. Architects are still working on the plans. Clark said it was hoped they would be open for business within 90 days.

Capitol Savings and Loan Assn. was established in 1890 in Lansing and celebrated its 75th birthday last year. It had assets of $117,674,228.20 as of Dec. 31.

"WE HAVE DONE a lot of business over the years in St. Johns," Clark said, "so we are not entirely new to the community."

Officers of Capitol Savings are: C.W. McKibbin, president; Clark, executive vice president; Ruby V. Pennell, secretary and senior vice president; and William J. VanHoesen and Martin W. Richards, vice presidents.

Directors are McKibbin, Clark,

Pennell, Paul Kreger, Joseph C. Coleman, Harold J. Reniger, A. Taylor Menzies, Stanley V. Weed, Charles S. Cummins, Walter A. Graff and Richard P. Lynam.

WHILE IT may be several months before Capitol Savings gets into its new quarters, the other changes will come soon. McKenzie said Friday he hopes to move the offices from Becker's building to his new quarters the weekend of March 12, with opening of business there March 15.

McKenzie said the new location will provide for "larger offices and better facilities for ourselves and our customers." The new building is 23 by 90 feet, somewhat narrower but much longer than the 25 by 60 foot building he's leaving.

THE OFFICES for the Chamber of Commerce and Lynam Accounting will be enlarged from their present 8 by 8 size to 10 by 14. McKenzie said he plans to put in a new, lower ceiling this summer, as well as a permanent awning over the front of the building to match awnings over Irer's Barber Shop and Western Auto.

Becker plans to make use of the extra space at the rear of his store for display of televisions, particularly color sets.

Mayor exchange pairings made

Pairings for Michigan's annual exchange of mayors and village presidents were to be made at a drawing in the Lansing City Hall Wednesday morning.

Mayor Jack Smit of St. Johns is on the state committee directing the exchange. Gov. George Romney will preside over the drawing, assisted by several state and Lansing officials.

The mayor exchange will take place on Our Government Day of Michigan Week Monday, May 16.

Plan apartment complex, new convalescent center

A 60-bed convalescent center and a 48-unit complex of apartment buildings has been proposed for a nine-acre plot of land in the southeast part of St. Johns.

Future plans include a medical-professional center in conjunction with the convalescent center.

The proposal was introduced Tuesday night to the St. Johns City Commission with a request for rezoning of the area to permit the construction.

Normal procedure is for the city commission to refer the request to the city planning commission for its study and recommendation. The area involved, on the south side of Sturgis Street between US-27 and Scott Road, is presently zoned for single-family residential.

PROMOTERS of the two projects are mostly local men. Involved with the convalescent center are Judd Marzke, former radio station owner here; Timothy M. Green, St. Johns attorney; Roy F. Briggs, local realtor; Rex O'Connor, Ionia attorney; and Floyd Wylie, manager of the Ionia Manor nursing home at Ionia.

Marzke, alone, is planning the

Local Men Involved In Convalescent Center, Apartment Proposals

It would be built for a minimum of 60 beds, and eventual plans are to make it a 100-bed home. It would be a one-story, ultra-modern building of masonry, brick and steel construction. It would be built in the shape of a cross, with four wings extending out equal distances from a central core area.

The center would employ 35 persons.

It would not be a nursing home, Green explained, because it would not be restricted to terminal care patients or residents. The center would encourage residents during the recovery stages of illness or injury where hospital stay would not be necessary.

A REGISTERED nurse would be on duty around the clock, Marzke said.

The convalescent center as proposed would have private rooms, double rooms and four-bed wards, and Marzke said it would be built above State Health Department standards.

The building would be equipped with hydrotherapy and physical therapy rooms. It would have a dining room and kitchen. Bathrooms would be located in every room.

The building would be constructed, if approved, 500 feet west of Scott Road on the south side of Sturgis Street. A large parking area would be provided, with service off both Sturgis Street and Scott Road.

SOME 4.3 ACRES are involved in the plans for the convalescent center.

Green said it was hoped the convalescent center could be opened by the summer of 1967. Future growth to 100 beds could come within two or three years, he estimated.

Marzke is alone in his venture concerning the apartment buildings. That proposed construction would take place on property immediately west of the convalescent center property and would be serviced off Sturgis Street. The entrance would be just east of the Baker Street intersection on the south side of Sturgis.

MARZKE'S proposal calls for immediate construction of a single 2 1/2 story building 40 by 96 feet in size which would house 12 apartment units. The building would be of colonial design.

If the necessary zoning arrangements can be made, Marzke said, the apartment building could possibly be open by this September.

He said there would be 11 two-bedroom apartments and 1 one-bedroom apartment. Each would have air conditioning, carpeting and drapes, full kitchen, living and dining area, bathroom and the one or two bedrooms.

The first building would be constructed on the west side of a proposed U-shaped drive leading from Sturgis Street. Future plans are for two more buildings on the south end of the "U" and a third building on the east side of the "U." A landscaped garden is planned in the center.

THERE WOULD be a playground area to the rear of the property. Adequate parking would be provided, Marzke said, and there would be a service road around the back side of the apartment buildings.

County zoning unit approves apartment house

The Clinton County Zoning Commission tabled four zoning matters, approved one application for a five-unit apartment house in Olive Township and rejected a zoning change to allow a trailer coach park in Bingham.

Approved was a recommendation for the approval and erection of a multiple dwelling in Section 33 of Olive Township west of US-27 on Cutler Road. Allan Foy of Lansing, owner of the property and petitioner to the zoning commission, seeks to build a five-unit multiple dwelling under a special use permit.

THE COMMISSION rejected a petition of Rovelte F. Smith for rezoning in Bingham Township. He asked for rezoning from zone A residential, to zone C commercial in Section 17 for purposes of operating and maintaining a trailer coach park.

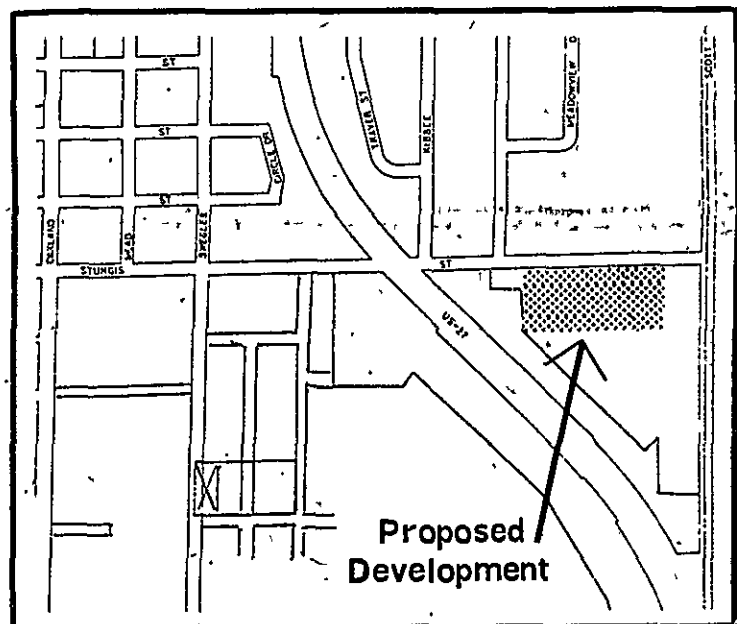

Both the affirmative and negative recommendations will go to the board of supervisors.

Expected to be discussed tonight (Thursday) by the zoning commission were four applications tabled at last Thursday's meeting. They included an application for rezoning from zone D agricultural, to zone C commercial in Section 24 of Victor Township. Donald Strouse of Laingsburg seeks a bulk oil and gas storage plant. The board tabled the application last week in order to confer with Shawwassee County, which is across the road from the property in question.

How much water have I used?

The City of St. Johns has gotten many inquiries, and a number of complaints, too, regarding water bills since the city switched last August to data processing of the bills.

There have been eight major questions people have been asking. City Manager Ken Greer said, and the Clinton County News is cooperating in providing the city's answers to readers. Practically all St. Johns homeowners are affected by water bills, and probably all have asked one of the questions at some time.

TWO OF THE QUESTIONS. "Why did I use more water this quarter than last quarter, or last year at this time?" and "Weren't we going to have a sewer charge on our water bill for only seven years?" were answered last week.

The third question generally asked, Greer said, is "Can I find out what the reading was on my water meter? It doesn't show on the bill."

"Anyone who wishes may get this information upon request," Greer said. "There are times when it is difficult to provide right at that particular minute the information requested because the reading books might be at the water plant."

"IF ANYONE IS interested, the administrative services will get these readings as contained in the city meter books. These were not shown on the billings in that it would double our billing costs, and we felt that if anyone was really seriously interested in the readings he could easily keep track of these for himself as the meter is in his house."

"Something in the future when new cards become necessary, we buy IBM cards in a two-year quantity) the city may wish to program into this system the ability to show the past reading and the present reading on the water bills.

"Any problem this may present in the meantime can be solved and the information procured from either the city manager or the city clerk."

THE FOURTH question generally asked is "My house was vacant for 90 days during this past quarter and no one lived there. Why is my water and sewer bill $9?"

"This one is relatively simple to answer," Greer said, "in that the minimum bill for water and sewer is $9 per quarter. Understanding that this is a basic charge we all must pay to build, maintain and operate a complete sewer and water system should point out that we really get a bargain for this $9. If the service has been shut off for a full quarter (shut off at the street) there is no bill, but if it were on for any part of the quarter we must charge a minimum bill."

The fifth question generally asked is, "Why is my bill higher than my neighbor's (or Aunt Minnie's) who has 10 more people in their family than I do or who waters their lawn all summer long?"

"We really can't answer this type of question as it is generally loaded," Greer said. "There may very well be a reasonable answer, but it would have to be based on facts, and most of these that we look up show that the persons making the inquiry didn't get all of the facts over the back fence."

EVEN WITH all the correct facts there are many types of families and each family utilizes water to a different degree and their water bills will vary considerably. As an example, we assume there are roughly 6,500 people living in the City of St. Johns utilizing city water and we know that we billed this past quarter for 109,893,600 gallons of water that passed through our master meter. If you therefore divided the 6,500 people into this figure it would give you an answer that each person utilizes roughly a little more than 16,000 gallons per quarter.

"This, of course, would be a false approach to what the average consumption of water a quarter might be, in that it is an established fact that the industrial use of water here in the City of St. Johns amounts to roughly 56 per cent of all our pumped water. This, then, brings the average consumption of water by the residents of the City of St. Johns down to a figure of 7,000 gallons per quarter."

"NOW, IF you're still interested in a further mathematical breakdown, this theoretically amounts to roughly 70-80 gallons a day per person. Of course, we've compared individual families where they might be identical in size and live next door to each other and found that there may be as much as 100 per cent difference in the amount of water one family uses compared to the other family."

"The next question generally asked is 'What are the water and sewer rates?' The answer is as follows:

"Water and charges: First 10,000 gallons, $4.50 minimum per quarter; next 140,000 gallons, 40 cents per 1,000 gallons; next 350,000 gallons, 30 cents per 1,000 gallons; next 500,000 gallons, 20 cents per 1,000 gallons; all over 1 million gallons, 15 cents per 1,000 gallons."

"THE SEWER charge shall be 95 per cent of the water bill for the same meter."

"There are, of course, for sewer charges, certain provisions allowing for unusual circumstances," Greer continued. "If it can be proven that a major portion of the water metered at a particular premises does not flow into the sewer system, the city commission may establish a special sewer rate."

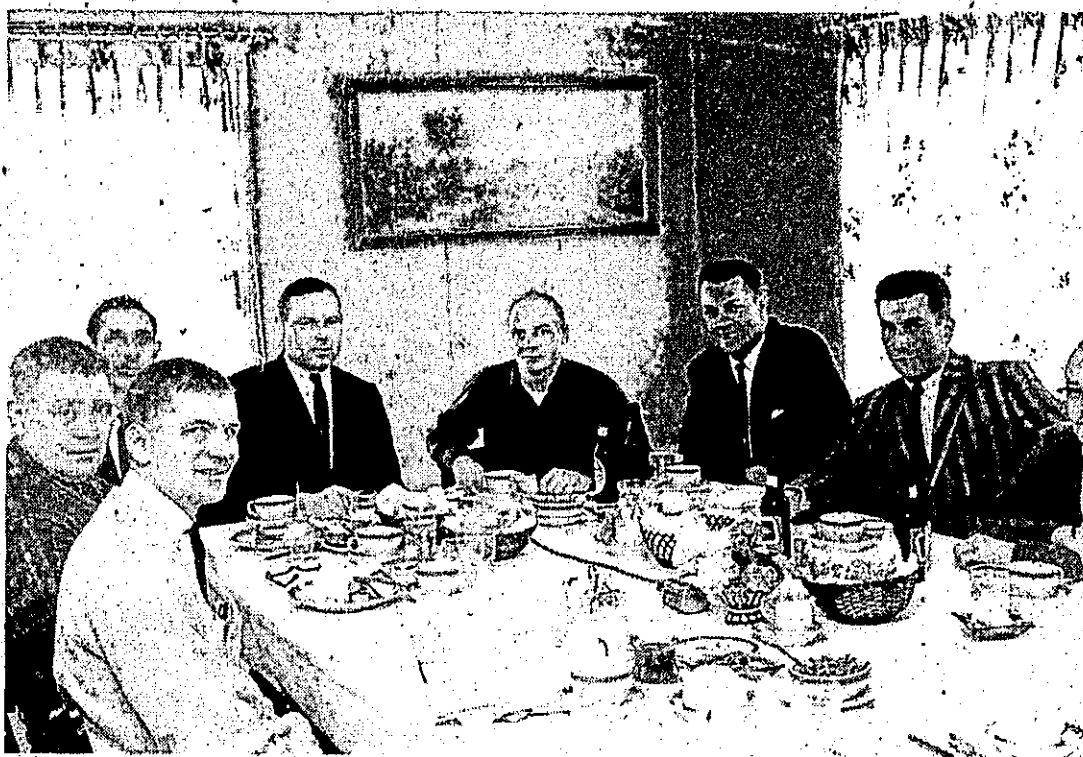

"A 20 per cent reduction from the yearly normal sewer rate has been established for all accounts. We have had some people who sought a special sewer rate solely in that they use a large volume of water, others because they heard someone else got one, others because they claim they have three, four or five cars that they wash in their driveways. None of these have been approved as valid reason by the city commission to grant a special sewer rate."

"THE SEVENTH question generally asked appears to be, 'Why don't you send this bill to the previous owner?' — He was the one who used the water. We get this same sort of question regarding renters, etc."

"The answer is extremely complicated only so far as how the law says the city may collect this bill. The reason we cannot take a part in these matters is that the city doesn't want to get caught in the middle. State law and our local ordinance stipulate this bill is a lien against the property. The city therefore has no choice, and as to who pays the bill is really immaterial. The realtors and persons selling homes must, because of lien provision, check to see that taxes and special assessments have properly been paid. They also have the responsibility to find out whether or not water bills have been paid."

"Problems arise in that a water bill might be due next week but not on such and such a day, and our records would show that all past bills had been paid but in one or two days new bills come out and immediately become due and payable. This has caused some difficulty in property sales between various parties but it really is not a responsibility of the city."

"PROPERTY buyers and sellers must come to some sort of a mutual agreement in the price of this property and who is to pay what share of what taxes, and it would seem they could arrive at the same sort of agreement regarding special assessments and water bills."

Car Owners Air Feelings About Services

Automobile owners were invited to dinner last week and invited to air their feelings about automotive service work and what they expect from the dealership in the future in one of a series of owner relations meetings being sponsored by Bee's Chevrolet-Olds. Clockwise around the table are Owen Baese, Bill Martin, Bernie Feldpausch and Bob Brock of Bee's, Keith Jolly, Terry Foster, R. W. Schalla and Leon Brewbaker.

"The eighth major question generally asked is 'Why don't you shut off the water at the curb box at our request?' The answer to this depends on many things, one being has the proper application been filled out and the fee paid as required by ordinance? And we must definitely know it is the owner who is asking that this be shut off."

"SOME OF THE requests that come in for this type of service are improper and are solely designed to get the City of St. Johns involved in the middle of some personal dispute or spite between buyer-seller and renter and/or even a realtor. Occasionally the city has been trapped into situations of this type wherein we were used to force a renter out of the house and didn't realize it or we were used to force a renter to pay up on a certain bill and didn't realize it."

"This type of situation, though we might have sympathy with the person desiring to apply this sort of leverage, is not in the public interest and is not a rightful service of the city Water Department. We stay out of these if it is possible, but if there is a valid application in writing for a turn off or turn on, the water department does provide this service."

Starting teachers get pay raise

BATH — The Bath School Board has approved a salary raise of $400 a year for beginning teachers and will study the possibilities of building a barn to house the school's fleet of nine buses.

Beginning teachers' pay will now start at $5,200 a year. Raises for other teachers were authorized by the board earlier.

Operation Head Start program will be sponsored again this year for underprivileged pre-schoolers, but Board President William Brook noted it would have to be cut back somewhat because of a reduction in federal aid. The program will start June 15 and run into August.

The board will pay a fee of $85 to allow the freshmen girls' physical education class to take swimming classes once a week at the Lansing YWCA. The board accepted the resignation of school maintenance man Arlo Barnard.

Road Commission Weekly Report

The Board of Clinton County Road Commissioners will hold their regular meeting Thursday, March 3. The board will open bids for the March and April requirements of salt, calcium chloride and culvert pipe.

The commission will discuss future construction plans. Two contracts are to be presented for signing—one for the construction of the Island Road bridge at Elsie and another to start the engineering on the Tallman Road bridge across the Maple River in Lebanon Township.

This structure may be designed to take the place of two old bridges and with the approaches could cost as much as $150,000.

IN ANSWER to many inquiries, the spring weight restrictions are now in force. The load limits went into effect at noon on Tuesday, March 1.

Increased costs of culvert pipe have forced us to raise the fee for driveways. We have been installing a 12-inch tube and covering with gravel for the flat rate fee of $50. This charge approximately covered the cost of materials and we furnished the labor.

From March 1 the fee will be $55. If there is extra work to be done on shoulder or ditch, additional charges will be made, and if the drainage situation is such that a culvert larger than 12 inches is required there will of course be a rate according to the size used.

Historymobile to visit city

Arrangements have been made by the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce to bring the Historymobile to St. Johns.

The "museum on wheels" will be in St. Johns April 23 and 24 and will be located on State Street in front of the Clinton County Courthouse.

"We are happy that the Michigan Historical Commission was able to work the visit of the Historymobile into their schedule this year. It has been two years since the Historymobile visited St. Johns," Chamber Manager Betty Jane Minsky said.

THE Historymobile this year will contain 19 chronologically arranged displays, illustrating the historical development of Michigan from the prehistoric past to the present.

There will be no admission charged and everyone in the area is invited to visit the Historymobile while it is in St. Johns.

"The St. Johns Chamber of Commerce will supply hostesses who will welcome visitors, answer their questions and supply brochures on the Historymobile. Because the Historymobile will be here on Saturday and Sunday, the Chamber is thinking in terms of having high school girls serve as hostesses along with adults. We'll probably use our present Miss St. Johns; some of the girls who were on her court last year and also some of the girls who will have taken part in the 1966 queens contest," Mrs. Minsky said.

JVs stun Ionia, fall to Indians

By SUE DURNER

Playing one of their best games of the season, the St. Johns JV cagers topped the Ionia Bulldogs 79-62, Friday night.

In their finale of the season, the Redwing five outscored Ionia in all periods, 17-10 in the first, 30-16 in the second to give them a half-time lead of 11 points, 37-26.

The second half was a repeat performance, with the Wings outscoring Ionia 37-27.

Don Palmer, Mike McKay and John Salemi were the workhorses for the Redwings. Palmer had 17 points, McKay added another 16, and Salemi tallied 12 points.

Watt was high for the Bulldogs with 13 points.

The Junior JVs ended the season with a record of 9 and 7 and 9 and 5 for the conference. This win gives the JVs a share of the conference title with Greenville, who also had a 9-5 record.

A cold first and fourth periods cost the JV Hoopsters a non-conference game to Chesaning.

The visiting Indians started fast in the first period, scoring 10 field goals and six charity tosses for 26 points to only 10 for the Redwings.

The Wings tossed in 21 points to 11 for the Chesaning five in the second period, and the half ended with Chesaning in front 63-55.

In the third period, St. Johns outscored the Warriors from the floor, 11 field goals to 9, but lost the scoring edge in free throws, with Chesaning throwing in 8 to only 2 for the locals. The period ended with Chesaning in front 63-55.

The fourth period was just a repetition of the first.

St. Johns was outgunned in the fourth quarter, scoring 7 points to 16 for the Indians.

Bob Cochran was high for the Redwings, as well as high man for the game, with 21 points. Don Palmer had 16 points.

Elsie

By MRS. NEVA KEYS, Correspondent

Student of the week selected at Elsie

ELSIE — David Showers, son of the Rev and Mrs Gordon Showers, was chosen Student-of-the-Week from Elsie high school, for his ease in adapting to the school and community and getting acquainted with other students.

David is a newcomer as he moved here in October after attending five different schools. Although a senior in credits, David has another year to complete in high school, needing a course in government.

He had always carried heavy class loads but next year he plans to take only a few classes and work, saving money for college. David has already decided he wants to be a minister like his father and plans to attend Asbury College in Kentucky.

He started work last week at the new restaurant, The Village Inn, in Elsie and works weekends and evenings in the kitchen.

DAVID WAS on the Elsie debate team this year and was student director of the junior play. He is co-chairman of the junior-senior prom and plays drums in the band and sings in the choir.

He is active in MYF work at the Methodist Church and is president of the district MYF group.

3 from area attended Cancer Crusade meeting

Mrs Raymond Thornton, Mrs Henry Allen and Mrs Lloyd Craven represented Duplain Township and the village of Elsie at a recent Cancer Crusade planning meeting in St. Johns.

They urge all women to take the "Pap test" which will detect a common form of cancer in its early stages.

During the month of April this test will be given by the doctors of Clinton County for a $5 fee. The laboratory fee will be taken care of by the county health dept.

The Clinton County unit of the American Cancer Society gave a fund of $1,500 to the University of Michigan for cancer research and over 10,000 free dressings, many made by different church groups and women's groups.

There are nine loan closets with a total of 145 people using them during the past year.

Fashion Creates Function In Kitchen

by LOUISE ALLEN

Since new cookware and other utensils are designed to be seen as well as cooked in, everything can be on view and close at hand in today's kitchen. Of course, you wouldn't dress up in a new costume and bonnet, then hide your finery in a closet. Don't hide your cookware in a cupboard when it's not in use. On display, practical utensils become decorative, setting the kitchen motif.

For example, gay colors and graceful lines of Club Aluminum porcelain-finished sauce pans and Dutch oven may play "accessory" in the manner of a fruit bowl, when filled with the deep purple of an egg plant, the red of Spanish onions or Zucchini greens.

The Pirates' Den

By BRUCE SCHAFER
Pewamo-Westphalia High School

Corp. William Rials, of the Michigan State Police instructed Pewamo-Westphalia High School students on some of the problems facing law enforcement, besides just apprehending criminals.

The corporal's speech Feb. 22 was entitled "Kato's Technique." He discussed three different fields which the police have to cope with:

THE FIRST FIELD pertained to the technicalities of the law. The "Malory Act" was used as the prime example, pointing out that police often spend more time interpreting the law than investigating crimes.

The second part of his speech discussed public opinion toward the police, which in turn, is public opinion of their own laws. An example: A policeman is hit with a snowball. When he pursues the so called "victim," the crowd begins to cheer not for their own law, but for the one who broke it.

THE THIRD section informed the student body how the police image is developed by today's society. Pointing out numerous TV programs ("Andy Griffith Show," "The Fugitive," "Car 54"), it became evident that people often develop a misconception of law enforcement agencies through influences such as TV.

The assembly closed with a round of applause for Corporal Rials, and many minds were set a wondering about America's people and its "Great Society."

It's hardly worthwhile for any man to stop and think unless he expects to act.

Expect record field for Derby

Derby Director William McCarthy and members of the derby committee met Monday evening to continue work on race and pre-race activities. Plans are in motion for derby clinics to be set up toward the end of this month. Movie films of the All-American Soap Box Derby last year have been shown in schools in the area.

The committee will meet again March 28 at 8 p.m. at Daley's Restaurant.

Walk upright

More Americans would be upright citizens if they took a hint from anthropologist Dr. Margaret Mead and carried walking sticks. Dr. Mead says they prevent falling and improve posture. She comments, "I would like to see Americans with weak ankles and weak knees use a stick. It is constructive, protective and anything but decrepit, but Americans are shy of carrying canes because American canes are so short. They turn you into an old, tottering, bent-back crone." She uses a stick four feet long.

Get 'em to school on time — it's no small operation

It's no small operation for Mom to get Junior off to school every morning.

Compound that 1,143 times and you can figure out it's no small operation getting rural youngsters to their classes in St. Johns.

That's the number — 1,143 — of public and non-public school students who St. Johns school buses transport every day. Eighteen buses plus four vans or carryalls for kindergarten runs are necessary to see that everyone gets to class, and on time.

THE BUSES drive 1,253 miles daily, or 225,540 miles in a year. The 23 drivers are on all kinds of roads, paved, graveled and rutted, in all kinds of weather for the transportation of children to classes.

Of the 23 drivers, five are women, and school officials are pointing out school bus driving is a good parttime job for women, a lot more so than it used to be. Power steering, brakes and other modern equipment make handling of a bus not far different than handling a car.

THE TREND in schools around the state is toward more and more women drivers for buses. The average bus run is 45 minutes to one hour, and there are many opportunities to drive extra runs, such as on field trips and athletic trips.

St. Johns Public Schools are in need of extra drivers now, mainly as substitutes. When the new rural schools are built there'll be additional drivers put on and additional drivers needed. Persons interested in driving are asked by school officials to contact the school; all that's needed to be a bus driver are a chauffeur's license, a physical examination and a simple test run with a bus.

TRANSPORTATION headquarters for the St. Johns school system is a building on the south side of West State Street near the west city limits. The school does its own mechanical work and care of the buses, with Truman Bontrager as supervisor and chief mechanic. Lawrence Heibeck is also a mechanic and a driver.

Eighteen buses are used daily, as well as four vans for kindergarten runs. There are three spare buses, another van and a couple of pickup trucks.

FOUR NEW 60-passenger buses are in use this year, and for next fall three more new 60-passenger buses and one 30 to 36-passenger bus for kindergarten have been ordered. School officials anticipate a need for two more buses for the 1967-68 school year.

Freshman fall at Ionia, 55-47

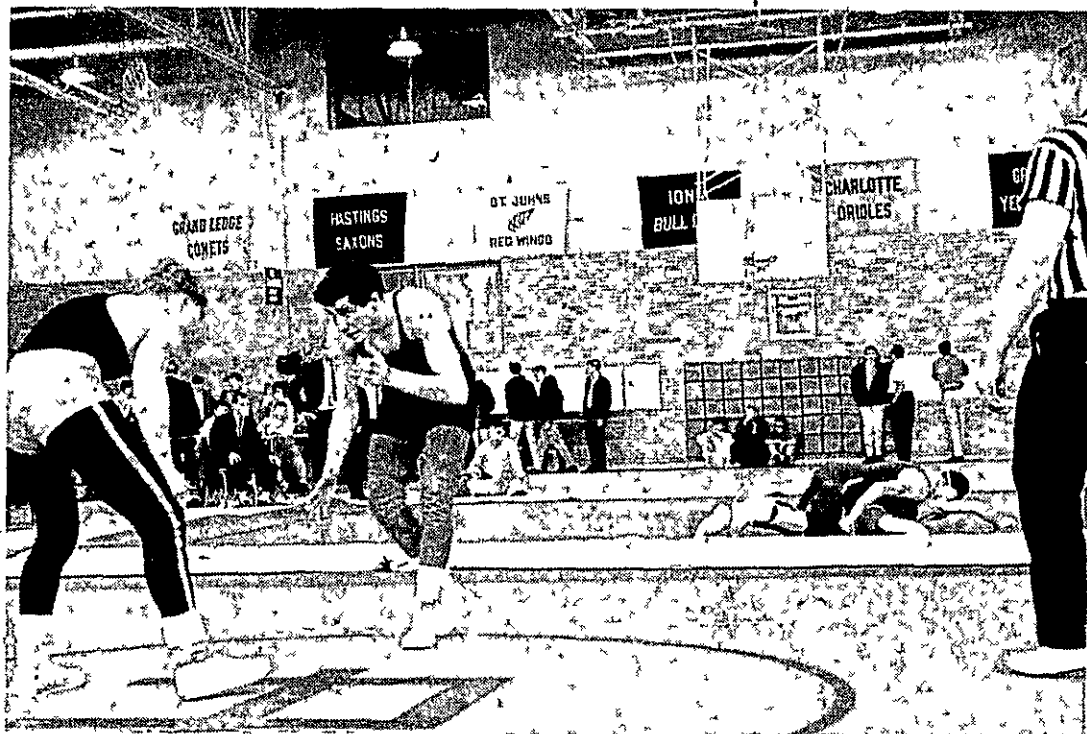

The St. Johns freshmen basketball team won a 59-50 ballgame over Greenville last Tuesday, Feb. 22, on the strength of a good second quarter.

After trailing 17-12 at the first stop, the Redwing frosh outscored Greenville 16-8 in the second eight minutes to take a 30-25 lead at halftime. They expanded on it by two points in each of the last two periods.

Greig Bartholomew led the scoring with 18 points, while Rick Warren had 13 points, Rick Moore 11, Kurt Hildorf 8, Mike Green 3, John Yurek 4 and Phil Knight 2. Moore led the rebounders by taking 12 off the backboards.

St. Johns tied for fifth place as a team, and four of its members will advance to the state tournament this Friday and Saturday.

Tractors win 2nd round, await title game March 9

Clinton Tractors won the second round City League basketball title last Wednesday night and earned the right to meet the winner of the first round March 9 for the league championship.

The Tractors edged Bee's 83-77, in the first of three games last week; Pewamo beat Sealed Power 60-57 and Federal Mogul upset Miller's 59-51 in the other two encounters.

JUST WHO the Tractor's first-round opponent will be won't be known until this Friday night. Pewamo and Miller's tied for first place in the first round, and they'll play Friday night to decide who gets to meet the Tractors for the championship.

Friday night's and the March 9 games are at 8 p.m. in the high school gym. The March 9 winner will represent St. Johns in the state Class C tournament March 25 and 26.

Wings sparkle in splitting last 2 games before tourney

St. Johns tuned up for the district Class B basketball tournament this week with two impressive games last week, even though one was a loss.

Basketball Coach Bill Swears said after an 82-79 defeat at the hands of Chesaning Feb. 22 that he "felt better losing this one than in winning the (previous) four games."

And Swears said Friday night's victory over Ionia at Ionia was the Redwings' best game of the year. That 72-63 win evened up the series between the two teams this year. The Wings finished in second place in the league.

FRIDAY NIGHT'S West Central game at Ionia was one of sparkling individual play in team effort. Dennis Springer and Jim Leonard scored 28 and 24 points respectively, Gary Boyce brought the crowd to its feet several times with some point-result passes, and John Wilson bottled up Ionia's high-scoring Bruce LaPoint during the second half.

of their field goal shots during the game, making 28 baskets in 64 attempts. They were 16 for 24 from the free-throw line.

Springer opened the game as a hot scorer for St. Johns, getting 10 points in the first quarter against a 3-2 Ionia zone defense. When Ionia switched to a box zone with a man on Springer, Jim Leonard got hot, putting away 9 points in the second quarter. St. Johns led 21-19 after the first quarter and 38-35 at halftime.

ERASING ANY doubt about the outcome of the game, St. Johns exploded with a 19-7 scoring margin in the third period to give them a 15-point lead going into the final quarter. Ionia's LaPoint, who had five field goals and three free throws in the first half, found John Wilson too tough to handle in the last two periods. LaPoint could get only seven free throws, and Ionia's attack was all but dead. The Bulldogs did manage a 21-15 scoring advantage over St. Johns in the fourth period, but the Wings' big third quarter was too much to overcome.

Springer led St. Johns with 28 points, while Leonard tossed the 24, Boyce 9, Gene Rademacher 5, and Bill DeGroot, Randy Humphrey and Steve Gregory 2 points each. LaPoint finished with 20 for Ionia.

Springer picked off 14 rebounds and Leonard 9 to lead the team in that department.

CHESANING, FROM the Mid-Michigan B league, handed the Wings their sixth defeat of the year last Tuesday, Feb. 22, but Coach Swears was not entirely unhappy over the outcome.

St. Johns looked good most of the way, with a second-quarter slump their downfall. After leading 15-12 going into the second eight minutes, the Wings collapsed somewhat, and Chesaning raced into a 36-31 halftime lead. It was 60-53 after three quarters. St. Johns caught up a couple of times in the second half but could never take the lead.

Jim Leonard sparked the fourth-quarter comeback with 11 of his 22 points. He got 8 points in the third period.

ST. JOHNS scored on 33 of 77 field goal attempts, but Chesaning was even better, canning 38 of 68 tries, and that spelled the difference.

Leonard led the scoring with 22 points, while Springer had 16, Gene Rademacher 9, Bill DeGroot 7, Steve Gregory 8, Gary Boyce 11, Randy Humphrey 4 and Bob Ortwien 2. Gregory, making his first varsity appearance after being brought up from the JVs, scored all his 8 points within minutes of the second quarter.

TOM SUTTER LED Chesaning with 27 points, including 14 from outcourt in the third quarter.

DeGroot led St. Johns in rebounds with 11, while Leonard had 8.

The Wings hit on 44 per cent

Spartans keep winning in girls cage loop

The Spartans continued to win in the St. Johns girls' basketball league as they dropped the Kittens 23-14 last Wednesday night. The Chicks romped past the Starlites 27-4 in the other game.

The Chicks were in command of their game all the way, leading 15-0 at halftime. The Starlites missed 14 attempts at the free throw line. Janie Barger and Janean Geller led the Chicks with 8 points each; Helen Kramer added 7 points and Carol Elser 4. Jan Fowler was the only player to hit for the Starlites; she had all 4 team points.

THE SPARTANS jumped off to a big 15-0 lead over the Kittens. They led 15-3 at the half and 18-6 after three periods. Corrine Feldpausch led the Spartans with 10 points, Helen Hufnagel had 8, Betty Feldpausch 4 and Donna Feldpausch 1. The value of the athletic letter

By BILL SMILEY
Coach
St. Johns High School

Theodore Roosevelt said "In the battle of life it is not critic who counts—not the man who points out how strong man stumbled or where the door of the deed could have done better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena; whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly, who errs and comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows the great enthusiasms, the great devotions and spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement; and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those timid souls who have never tasted neither victory nor defeat."

Roosevelt was a devoted and dedicated athlete. He had a keen appreciation for the physical and mental honing it takes to make a man into a rugged competitor. In his own style, he summed up not only a philosophy of athletics but also a philosophy of life.

THE VARSITY letter an athlete receives and wears indicates to all who take notice that he has been in the arena. It places him above those "timid souls" who have tasted neither victory nor defeat. This boy knows the triumph of achievement and he has dared to fail.

Not all of us can be all-Americans nor can we all have the privilege of participating on a team that wins all its games. Certainly not all letter winners have had this good fortune. But they all have one thing in common; they have had their faces marked with dust and sweat and blood; they have all known of the great effort and devotion and enthusiasm spent as they strive for a worthy cause.

This is the value of the Athletic Letter.

Forced to shoot outside, Elsie loses to Wolfpack.

LAINGSBURG — Elsie had to shoot from outside against Laingsburg Friday night. They couldn't hit well from there and Laingsburg wound up victorious 48-42 in a Central Michigan C league basketball game.

Elsie got only eight points and one field goal in the first quarter and found themselves behind 15-8. They bounced back to trail only 23-22 at halftime, but host Laingsburg pulled away slowly in the second half. Shaw led Laingsburg's scoring with 15 points, while Steere and Veith had 10 each, Jorae 8, VanVelser 4 and Chadwick 1. For Elsie, Ken Waggoner led the scoring with 17 points, while Ron Thornton had 16, L. D. Jones 2, R. J. Jones 1, Mike Seybert 6.

The victory boosted Laingsburg out of the league cellar.

Fulton drops last season game, 57-49.

MIDDLETON — Central Montcalm led all the way Friday night in posting a 57-49 victory over Fulton in the final Tri-Central League basketball game of the season.

Central Montcalm had an 11-6 first quarter lead and were in front 27-21 at halftime. Jeff Gray and Chris VanSickle led Fulton with 11 points each. Gary Fancett's 15 points paced the winners.

Bath ends best season in 5 years on winning note

DeWITT — Bath played the last two minutes with only four men on the floor, but the Bees had no trouble defeating DeWitt 91-63 Friday night, completing Bath's most successful basketball season in five years.

Bath carries only seven men on its varsity roster, and three fouled out. Jim Sober, one of them, scored 39 points in the game, while Bruce Miller tossed in 21 points, Mike Tucker 13, Randy Tucker 7, Rusty Woolfe 8, Wes Park 1 and Elehs David 2.

DAVE PARKER led DeWitt with 14 points, while Bill Watson had 12, Jim Decatur 4, Mike Fuller 10, Dale Foster 6, Jim Schayev 4, Paul Dinstbier 2, Rick Keck 8 and Jan Hanson 3.

Bath held quarterly scoring advantages of 21-12, 28-14 and 26-20 before yielding to DeWitt 17-16 in the final period.

Freshmen beat Greenville 59-50

St. Johns' freshmen lost a 55-47 basketball decision to Ionia's Trosh last Friday afternoon. St. Johns was outscored in the first three quarters, so much so that their 16-11 advantage in the last period did no good.

Ionia led at the half 28-21.

Kurt Hildorf scored 19 points to lead St. Johns, while Dick Henderson had 8, Mike Green 6, Rick Warren 8, Rick Moore 1 and John Yurek 5. The Wings hit 19 of 57 field goal attempts, a .333 percentage. Moore pulled down eight rebounds and Greig Bartholomew seven to lead the team in that department.

Michigan's population is almost 8 million, ranking it seventh among the state in the 1960 federal census.

If the first part of your car registration number is here, you might be a winner.

Here's how it works. Look at the first symbols (the prefix) on your vehicle identification slip. Then look at the symbols listed above. If you find yours on the list, you've taken the first step toward being a winner. Now go see your Buick dealer. He has a list of 72 winners posted in his showroom. If you see your entire vehicle identification number on the poster—the symbols plus the rest of the numbers—$2332 cash is yours. (If your prefix isn't listed in this ad, don't give up. Your numbers may have been posted during the past few weeks. And every week there are 72 new winners posted on the showroom wall. So watch for next week's list of new symbols in this newspaper.) No slogan to invent, no puzzles to solve. In fact, you don't even have to own a Buick to have a winning number. While you're in the showroom, get a good look at the Buick Special. The $2332.00 happens to be its price. *Manufacturers suggested retail price for Special V4, 2dr coupe. Price includes Federal Excise Tax and suggested dealer delivery and handling charge.

Contest Rules. Residents of Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska may, if they prefer, send in a postcard to R. 23, Polk and Co., P.O. Box 1347, Detroit, Michigan 48231 and receive the weekly list of winning numbers by mail for comparison with their own vehicle identification number. An official entry form will be included. Sweepstakes limited to persons over 21 living in the continental U.S. Not valid in Florida or states where prohibited by law.

Buick's $1,000,000 Sweepstakes.

There's an authorized Buick dealer near you. See his Double-Checked used cars, too.

County appeal board rejects pair of appeals

The Clinton County Zoning Appeal Board upheld two zoning commission rulings and reversed another in a public hearing on three appeals Feb. 21.

They rejected an appeal of Phillip Gillespie to park a trailer coach and use it for living quarters along Welling Road in Greenbush Township. One trailer coach is already on the parcel of land. The appeal board rejected the appeal on the grounds it had no jurisdiction unless it was a hardship case.

THE OTHER appeal rejected was that of Thomas L. Wyble to park a trailer coach on property in Section 5 of Bath Township without the necessary signatures of all adjoining landowners. The appeal board granted an appeal of Central Advertising Co. to erect a sign closer to the road right-of-way than the minimum required by the Clinton County zoning ordinance. The proposed sign is in the Sheridan Road US-27 area in DeWitt Township.

Hurricane Betsy inflicted damage to oil installations in Louisiana and the Gulf of Mexico estimated at more than $100 million. The largest single item of equipment lost was a $6 million off shore drilling rig which sank in 220 feet of water.

Chow Time at Meet the Experts Clinic

Hungry farmers line up in the chow line last Thursday at the mid-point of the Meet the Experts Corn and Soybean Clinic in St. Johns. An estimated 980 persons attended the meeting from eight counties, and the feeding of most of them took only about 45 minutes.

Medicare information meeting set for March 8

The Clinton County Senior Citizens Inc. are conducting an intensive drive to get information on medicare distributed to all elderly persons who are eligible to take advantage of it.

One of the big phases of the information drive will be a meeting next Tuesday, March 8, at the VFW Hall north of St. Johns. A representative of the Lansing social security office will be present at 1 p.m. to explain the program and answer questions.

About 200 persons are expected, according to Miss Carmen Tranchell, one of three "aides" appointed recently.

MISS TRANCHELL is in charge of the information drive in the City of St. Johns. Roy Ormsby is the aide for the eight eastern townships of the county, and Miss Hazel Williams has charge of the west eight townships.

The three are seeking volunteers to set up special meetings at which social security representatives can explain medicare. "We want everyone over 65 contacted," Miss Tranchell said. Those who are homebound will be contacted on house-to-house visits, she said.

Miss Tranchell, Miss Williams and Ormsby received their first instruction as "aides" Feb. 21 at a meeting in Lansing. Further instruction sessions for the trio will be held every Monday.

NEXT TUESDAY'S informational meeting at the VFW Hall will start with a potluck dinner at noon. Everyone is asked to bring their own table service and a dish to pass. Every member of the Senior Citizens is asked to bring a friend or two to the meeting, to hear about medicare.

Fifty-three persons attended the Senior Citizens' Feb. 22 meeting. Mrs. Elzie Exelby provided table decorations in keeping with Washington's birthday.

Mrs. James Sowle had charge of the program for the day. The male chorus led in singing patriotic songs. Mrs. Sowle, Mrs. Harriet Baker and Mrs. Exelby gave readings. Clarence Bauerle favored the group with two piano solos and Sydney Christmas played a medley of familiar songs.

On Wednesday, Feb. 23, the Senior Citizens served dinner to nearly 300 supervisors attending the district meeting at Smith Hall.

Navy recruiting construction men

The United States Navy recently announced a new program for enlistment or re-enlistment of men under 40 years of age. The Navy's construction battalions need for experienced men in the building and construction trades has opened this program which allows a man to be enlisted in an advanced pay grade comparable with his civilian experience.

Carpenters, electricians, mechanics, engineers and equipment operators are only a few of the occupations urgently needed.

In Shiawassee and Clinton County, the Navy recruiter is Chief Noland at the Navy recruiting office, 114 1/2 N. Ball Street, Owosso.

NEWS FROM THE Rivard Nursing Home

Nursing and convalescent homes function on the premise that the service they render should demonstrate their belief in the dignity and worth of every individual. Further, the purpose of nursing and convalescent homes is to meet the total nursing care of geriatric, chronic and convalescent patients through the provision of well-equipped facilities that are properly and adequately staffed with qualified personnel.

Homes should provide a home-like, cheerful, friendly and hopeful atmosphere so that they will contribute to the promotion and preservation of the personal integrity of each individual. Homes should further make available and utilize those services necessary for the emotional, physical, social and spiritual enrichment of the patient.

An opportunity should be provided for the growth and development of the staff and others who contribute to the well-being of the patient and the operation of the homes. Homes should endeavor to fulfill their rightful role as a contributing member of the health and welfare organization of the community.

The foregoing is an edited version of the philosophy adopted by participants of the University of Pennsylvania School of Nursing conference on nursing and convalescent home administration in Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 9-13, 1957, which is advocated for adoption by the American Nursing Home Association and by all Nursing and Convalescent Homes in America.

This philosophy hangs just inside the door of our nursing home. It makes for very interesting reading and doing.

Determining Flow Volume

David Kloeckner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kloeckner of R-4, St. Johns, examines the flow of water in a scale model laboratory channel as graduate assistant Mangal D. Chawla, right, explains how to determine the flow volume in a Michigan State University hydrodynamics class. New foods was topic for study group

At a meeting Feb. 22 the Rochester Colony Home Economics Extension was entertained by Mrs. Charles Walker at her home on E. Colony Road.

Members present recited the Extension Women's Creed in unison. Mrs. Dick Hebel, chairman, presided at the business meeting which was followed by Mrs. Al Rademacher extending the study lesson to the group, concerning new foods and packaging.

With convenience becoming an accepted part of today's living, the lesson leader, armed with statistics and information received from Elleen Bell, consumer marketing information specialist at Michigan State University, covered the route of food preparation from the kitchen to the processing plant during the past 100 years.

STRESSING that one out of two Americans leaves home with an inadequate breakfast, food processors have developed new lines to build breakfast back up. With pre-cooked instant bacon, instant omelet, instant oatmeal and even a canned liquid "instant breakfast," the new foods are designed for commuting motorists, teenagers and the 22 million women working outside the home.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday evening, March 22 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Al Rademacher.

Rita Washburn of the Colony, attended the band festival at Midland Saturday, Feb. 26. Rita is a student of the Elsie High School. Mrs. Max Hott of Walker Road, called on her sister, Mrs. James Burnham who underwent surgery, at the Carson City Hospital, Wednesday, Feb. 23.

Word has been received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Temple of E. Colony Road, that their son, Dean, who was inducted into the armed services Feb. 16 is at Fort Knox, Ky., where he will remain for his basic training.

After a long illness, Allen Erickson was released from University Hospital, Ann Arbor, last week and has returned to his home and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Erickson of Mead Road.

Mrs. Elwin Washburn, of Sault Ste. Marie, sister-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. J. DeWashburn, was a house guest in their home at the Colony from Sunday to Thursday last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Hott of E. Walker Road called on Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Mapes of St. Louis Sunday. Mrs. Hott and Mrs. Mapes are sisters.

Family welfare comes first

By HELEN B. MEACH
Extension Home Economist

Families come first—you bet! Homemakers all agree and make plans for future family welfare.

Home Economics Study group members have set this month of March as a time to study about the inheritance laws of our state as they relate specifically to families. Miss Lucille Ketchum, home management specialist from Michigan State University, will be in Clinton county March 3 to offer a training lesson called "Descent and Distribution of Property and Wills."

Who may make a will? In what situation is a will desirable? When should it be made? What property becomes a part of your estate? How will it be distributed without a will? How do you go about making a will? These and other questions related to planning for future family welfare will be discussed.

People attach two meanings to the word "estate." In one sense it means a large piece of real estate. Another meaning, refers to all property that a person owns at his death—personal property as well as land.

This lesson is not intended to answer the complicated questions that arise in unsettled estates, questions which can only be answered by a well-informed lawyer. The lesson is designed to help those who have accumulated estates, or who are accumulating estates, to put their affairs in order so that, in the event of death, their property can be distributed according to their wishes and for the greatest benefit of all concerned.

Clinton County Probate Judge, Timothy Green, will be present to answer questions following the instruction period.

All interested residents are welcome to attend this training meeting which will be held in Smith Hall at 1 p.m., Thursday, March 3.

A lesson outline will be followed and leaders attending the class will give the lesson at their local Extension study group in the next few weeks.

Pap cancer tests start this month

Physicians in Clinton County are giving the Papanicolaou test and a breast examination to women 21 years old and over starting this month, in an all-out attempt to detect uterine and breast cancer before it has produced any symptoms.

The vicious fact about this dread disease is that all too often by the time symptoms appear, it is too late to be effectively treated.

"Cell examination is the key to the earliest possible diagnosis of uterine cancer," according to Dr. James Grost, president of the Clinton County Medical Society, "and early detection is still our best weapon in our attempt to wipe out this killer."

THE PAPANICOLAOU test is a simple test based on cell examination, and it has been proven that it can detect cancer of the uterus long before it becomes invasive. Dr. Grost is urging all women, 21 and over, to call their own physicians between now and April 30, requesting an appointment to have this test and examination.

During this period, a woman may have the test and examination but will pay only her physician's charge for an office call. The Michigan Department of Public Health is underwriting the cost of the laboratory work to help in making this test available to women in Clinton County.

Other groups assisting in sponsorship of the Clinton County Cervical Cancer Screening Program are: local unit, American Cancer Society; home extension groups and the Clinton County Health office.

"TIME AND TWO Women," a color film produced by the American Cancer Society and "Breast Self-Examination," has been shown in many of the communities. Women who have not seen the films should watch for dates for showings or call Mrs. Albert Fruchtl, chairman of volunteers, American Cancer Society in St. Johns.

The St. Johns's Episcopal Church will sponsor the showing of the two cancer films this Monday night, March 7 at 7:30 in the basement of the church. All women are invited to the showing of the films. A doctor or nurse will be present to answer questions.

Costs of drilling a gas well may run anywhere from $25,000 to more than $2 million, depending on depth and the difficulties encountered in drilling. The main cost stems from the fact that only one exploratory well in nine turns out to be a producer—and only one in 44 eventually becomes a profitable producer.

All wet...

People who predict men will soon be able to live under water at great depths are all wet, says a University of Michigan scientist. He states the marine environment, like space, is hostile to extended residence. Cold, poor visibility and pressure with its associated respiratory problems are among the hazards he cites.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

REP. LESTER J. ALLEN of Ithaca, 88th District

Unbelievable as it seems, the Legislature faces potential consideration of over 3,000 bills this year. More than half this number were introduced this session. The others are holdovers from last year.

Although confronted with the greatest workload in history, the Legislature is moving slowly and ponderously, a fact which has already given rise to considerable speculation that the session will last well into the summer. The first two weeks in February were spent almost entirely in committee meetings and the barest minimum of floor activity. Even this approach, however, produced only about 20 items for the calendar—hardly a dent in the total job to be accomplished.

THIS LACK OF achievement after seven weeks of work will result in a last-minute rush of hasty action on most major items—including the budget. This hurried consideration denies members sufficient time to even read the bills, much less digest them, and forbids anything faintly resembling sound and meaningful deliberations.

Some recently-introduced significant bills in the House include:
(1) A new school aid bill calling for a total increase in state grants to local school districts of $26.7 million, some $19.7 million for improvements in the existing formula, $7 million to take care of an estimated increased enrollment of 45,000 students in elementary and secondary schools.

(2) A PROPOSAL TO extend the school year from 9 to 11 months for better use of school facilities.

(3) A measure to require persons to prove they are licensed drivers before they can purchase their license plates.

(4) A bill designed to secure more convictions of drinking drivers by setting up a new category of impaired driving as a lesser offense than drunk driving.

(5) A bill proposing tougher penalties for all drinking drivers.

(6) A measure to require parental consent before psychological tests may be administered to public school students.

(7) A proposal to reapportion county boards of supervisors on an equal population basis (one man - one vote) is now before the House for consideration and passage. This is probably the most significant bill affecting local government in many years and is expected to arouse much controversy.

The Michigan Supreme Court is currently considering a case which may result in forcing equal population apportionment for county boards as is now required for the Michigan Legislature. It is evident, however, that the majority party does not intend to wait for the court to decide.

YOUR COMMENTS, suggestions and opinion on these and other proposed legislation is always welcome and appreciated.

ALL IN THE NAME OF THE POOR!

The Poverty Program—The real sugar bill of the Great Society during this 89th Congress has been in the poverty program.

Most of the controversy within the Great Society itself has not been about the poor, but about who was going to control the loot. Poverty money from the federal government could well be a kitty which could sway elections more than money passed out directly by a political party.

THE POVERTY program had theories sounding as wholesome as blueberry pie but right at the very start it ran afoul of hanky-panky events which are still continuing. Here are a couple of these events taken from press reports:

1. "The so-called war on poverty, began with such items as a $25,000 loan to a fruitcake maker."

2. "Willow Village, a community in southeast Michigan, was notified of a grant of $188,252 to finance a program of self-help for 4,500 residents. The township supervisor said the poverty report was absolutely false. There was not a home more than 10 years old. The homes had an average value of $12,000. No one could be found unemployed. Residents said the poverty program was a fraud and a disgrace."

EDUCATION
"Nothing matters more (than education) to the future of our country; not our military preparedness - for armed might is worthless if we lack the brainpower to build a world of peace; not our productive economy - for we cannot sustain growth without trained manpower; not our democratic system of government - for freedom is fragile if citizens are ignorant."

— President Lyndon B. Johnson

ASC PROGRAM

Feed grain, wheat signup ahead of 1965

W. M. SMITH
County ASC Manager

To date, we have over 600 feed grain and wheat producers signed up to participate in the 1966 feed grain and wheat programs. Last year 1,100 feed grain and 1,300 wheat producers participated; we anticipate a larger signup this year. Seventy-five per cent of the feed grain producers are requesting an advance payment.

The announcement made last week that soybeans may be planted on permitted feed grain acreage is causing a lot of confusion.

PERMITTED acreage of feed grains is the acreage of feed grains that a producer does not agree to take out of production. The acres of feed grain a producer agrees to take out of production cannot have anything planted on it this year for harvest. If there are any questions regarding this, please come to the county office and have it explained.

We are making headway in reducing our surpluses; wheat programs in particular over the past few years have been very successful in reducing costly surpluses of the crop. For example, at the end of the 1960 marketing year, the carryover of wheat stocks held by farmers, the grain trade, and the Commodity Credit Corp., was 1.4 billion bushels.

AT THE END of the 1964 marketing year on June 30, 1965, the carryover was down to 819 million bushels. Next June 30 the carryover is expected to be down even more, to 700 million bushels or less. These figures indicate carryover has been cut in half the past few years.

Feed grains have been reduced considerably and it is hoped we have good participation in the feed grain program this year to bring the carryover down to the desired level.

We had 7,000 bushel of corn offered for sale from our Elsie binsite this past week. Bids had to be in our office by 3:30 p.m. Thursday. The corn was sold with a high bid of $1.28 1/2 and the low bid of $1.21.

NEXT WEEK we are offering 5,400 bushel from our Elsie binsite. The amount offered to any one person or firm is a minimum of 200 bushel and a maximum of 400 bushel. Bids must be in our office by 3:30 p.m. March 3, 1966.

Anyone interested in inspecting this corn should contact Clifford Dunham at Elsie.

The time spent by volunteers serving in the Red Cross Blood program during 1964-65 was the equivalent of 284 full calendar years.

Story claims

Hints as to the cause of climatic variation may come from and unexpected source—freshwater clam shells found in prehistoric Indian villages. University of Wisconsin researchers hope the composition of the shells will provide clues describing past climates and predicting future climatic change. The prehistoric cultures used clams for food, discarding the shells in refuse areas.

Calls inspection beneficial

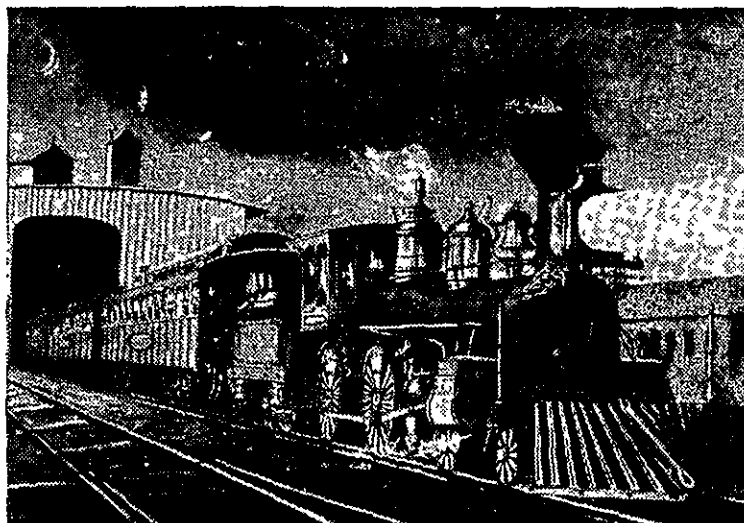

Michigan consumers, livestock producers, and the meat processing industry all will benefit from the state-wide meat inspection program initiated Jan. 1 under auspices of the Michigan Department of Agriculture. The Livestock Improvement Assn. of Michigan went on record with this statement recently according to L.I.A.M. general manager Pat Brown.

"For about 15 cents per person per year, all Michigan consumers will be assured that meat they purchase has a wholesome and sanitary source," said Brown.

"For the first time in history, all state slaughtering establishments will be inspected. Every animal will be subjected to rigid ante-mortem and post-mortem inspection," Brown called this assurance of a wholesome meat supply "a wise investment for Michigan consumers."

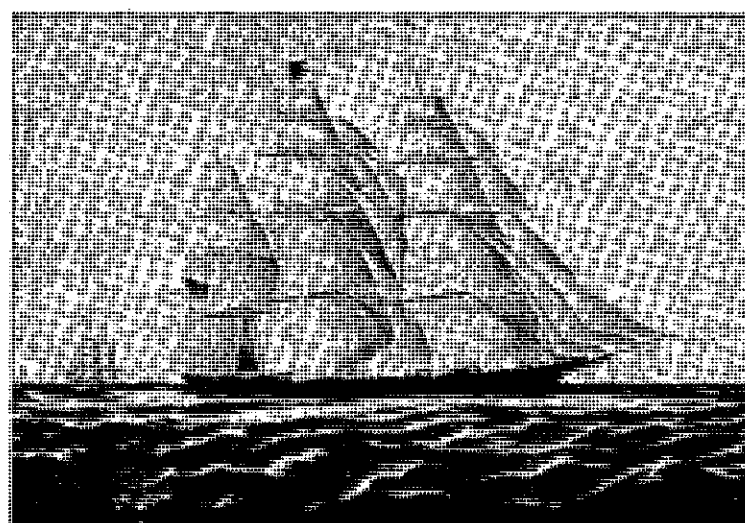

THE LIVESTOCK spokesman said meat processing establishments would benefit, too. "Markets will expand, even for the smaller, one-man locker plant and slaughtering enterprises," Brown said. "Under inspection, their products will qualify for sale throughout the state, and many local barriers to meat trade will be removed."

The 1965 legislature vested the Michigan Department of Agriculture with authority for state-wide meat inspection, commencing Jan. 1, 1966. Michigan has more than 300 slaughtering establishments. Prior to the state-wide inspection law, 19 local programs had been engaged in meat inspection.

Lifblood of research efficient patent protection

One of the major problems confronting the emerging countries is their lack of industrial knowhow for technological and scientific advancement. In some instances, restrictive legislation acts as a deterrent rather than an incentive to industrial growth.

For example, the Indian proposal to restrict patent rights for discoveries in the fields of food, pharmaceuticals and electronics will lead to justifiable reluctance on the part of American industry to invest in research and development—so essential to these countries' economic progress.

In Nehru's own biography, "The First Sixty Years" he repeats a statement he once made to Gandhi, "I do not think it is possible for India to be really independent unless she is a technically advanced country. I am not thinking for the moment in terms of armies, but rather of scientific growth."

It might be well for the present Indian regime to pay heed to the words of the revered statesman. The lifblood of research is efficient patent protection. If this is recognized by the developing nations they will find that America's international cooperative efforts will be unsurpassed by any country in the world—in assisting each country to attain the status of self-sufficiency.

RAMBLIN' with Rink

By LOWELL G. RINKER

Ramblin' around this week:

I just got one of the new county road maps put out by the Clinton County Road Commission in January. The reds for the trunk lines are redder and the blues for the paved roads are bluer. It's a colorful and handy map to have around.

Useful, too. You almost need a map to get from one part of the county to the other. Folks trying to go from one side of the county or one end of the county to the other on anything but US-27 or M-21 would surely need a map to keep from getting lost.

IN LOOKING at the map we realized for the first time how many county roads are not continuous. Even our main county roads—the black-topped ones—don't go all the way from one side of the county to the other.

Just a few do:

For a direct route from Ionia to Shiawassee County you are limited to Walker Road, M-21, Price Road. You can almost make it across on Colony Road, but you have to dip south a few hundred yards for a mile of Livingston Road west of US-27. Parks Road is a cross-county route with the exception of one mile between Grange and Hinman Roads. Clark Road is continuous only from mid-Eagle Township east to almost the county line.

FOR A DIRECT route from Ingham or Eaton County to Gratiot County, you are again limited—to DeWitt Road with a lot of bends and curves, US-27, or Chandler with a little bend between Round Lake and Alward roads.

Tallman Road almost goes through except for a mile interruption for the I-96 expressway. Francis—Essex Center Road is a direct route to within a mile of the Gratiot County and Eaton County lines.

It might be wise to have a couple of maps on hand around the house and in the car. If you ever have to direct anyone to another part of the county, you'll almost have to trace out the route on one of your maps; they'd never get there otherwise.

What with all the gaps and deadends, the old saying about "you can't get there from here" is almost true in rural Clinton County.

BEFORE LAST Thursday, I would never have thought it possible to get a thousand people in Smith Hall, let alone feed that many people there. The operation of the Meet the Experts corn-soybean clinic was fantastic.

Chairs ran in rows from the east to the west side, within six to eight feet of the walls. A stage was set up at the kitchen end of the hall, and from there on back to within about 10 feet of the north wall there were solid rows of chairs. Most of them were filled.

When it came chow time, a Lansing caterer set up a short cafeteria line at four spots near the doors on the west and east sides. Row by row the estimated 980 persons filed by to get their dinner: two healthy slabs of hot meatloaf, mashed potatoes and gravy, a roll, cole slaw, peas, coffee and a piece of cake.

THE PROGRAM of the day resumed within 45 minutes after the feeding started. Everything worked out well despite the fact the feeding was almost a half-hour late in getting started.

In addition to the crowd inside, there were also display booths along the outer walls, and some equipment was parked outside. Wayne Farmer, the general chairman for the corn-soybean clinic, termed it "mass confusion" during the lunch hour, but it seemed to me to be only "mass," and I thought things went off pretty well.

Smith Hall is probably a bit small for regular events of that kind, but there were no notable bulges or splits in the concrete block walls of the building after it was all over.

G. Donald Kennedy, state highway commissioner and Democrat candidate for election to that office at the Spring balloting in April, visited St. Johns Wednesday morning at his first stop in a 30 day campaign tour of the state.

About one-third of the projected 4000 foot St. Johns storm sewer has already been laid north of the city according to the City Manager Theo H. Townsend, with completion of the line expected sometime early this summer.

Three residential fires within five days in St. Johns and vicinity resulted in a total damage of approximately $2,400.

About three hundred and ten names of voters were secured by a committee from the Woman's club in the business district of St. Johns on their petition to submit to the people at the April election the proposition of building a Carnegie library.

More state-level activity aimed at unemployment

Watch for increased emphasis in the Legislature this year on two fronts: implementing and supplementing federal programs designed to alleviate unemployment problems.

Several programs are now functioning in Michigan under the Office of Economic Opportunity and the Office of Manpower, Automation and Technology. These will be expanded and new ones initiated.

With unemployment at its lowest point in more than a decade, efforts now turn toward working with that small percentage of the labor force known as the hard-core unemployed. These are people out of work for an extended period of time, frequently because of inability to fit into jobs which are available.

CONSIDERABLE emphasis was placed on the job training-retraining problems in the governor's state of the state message early this year.

"When available jobs cannot be filled with unemployed Michigan residents who want work, something is wrong with our basic educational training or apprenticeship programs," said Gov. George Romney.

Since the Negro population makes up a high percentage of the hard-core unemployed, civil rights activity will be a major factor in the new efforts.

ANOTHER PRIMARY target of the state effort will be the children of women on Aid to Dependent Children. Several agencies are now working on ideas to give education and work incentives to these children so they will not become second generation welfare recipients.

Improvement in existing training and apprenticeship programs will be one key in the several-pronged program to further lighten the unemployment rolls.

One facet of it will be geared toward training people to work in state agencies now facing critical employment shortages, including social service units and the fields of mental health and corrections.

SEVERAL maps are now printed by the state, including the official highway map, a historical attractions chart, and one listing recreational activity areas.

Still another may soon be necessary to help the visitor find his way around the state government building complex in Lansing.

Architectural models show a beautifully landscaped layout dotted with seven spotless buildings in a four-block area. Things should look that way four or five years in the future.

IN 1970, the Supreme and appellate courts will be in separate structures at the other end of the complex from the capitol. And the capitol will probably grow in the interim.

Since the building program calls for construction on several buildings at the same time, it appears that even frequent visitors could use a map to locate various offices as work is progressing.

THE ADMIRABLE, but definitely not conservative, goal is 8 million recruits to the cause. Sixteen men, plus a few, hope to accomplish this goal for the May 15-21 observance of Michigan Week.

The figure 8 million, of course, is roughly the state's population. By comparison, Michigan Week involved just a handful of people when it started in 1954 as a means to concentrate the public's awareness of our state's advantages in industrial, natural and human resources.

What has happened in the intervening years that such a high goal should be set for 1966? A look at the current effort might serve to answer at least part of this question.

The "Low Down" From the Congressional Record

By Joe Crump

Fund-raising method labeled 'shakedown'

Sen. John J. Williams (Del.) "... I invite attention to the recent 178-page publication eulogizing the 1st session of the 89th Congress, which was released in November under the title "Toward an Age of Greatness."

"This document was prepared for distribution at a Democratic fundraising affair, and advertising space was sold to major corporations, in particular to defense contractors at $15,000 per page."

"To put it in plain blunt words — unless this practice is stopped we are opening the doors to political blackmail."

"I sent copies to the Department of Justice and asked for a ruling on the legality of such fundraising procedure by soliciting contributions from corporations. The Department of Justice... reached the conclusion that 'the facts within our knowledge do not demonstrate a violation.'"

"PRESIDENT JOHNSON, in his state of the union message, indicated that even he is getting embarrassed at the manner in which

MICHIGAN WEEK starts the third Sunday in May. It is headed by a general chairman and four deputies, representing the north, west, central and south east areas of the state.

Sixteen regional chairmen in turn direct 83 county heads, each responsible for organizing all communities in Michigan Week activities.

Breaking it down further there are about 100 state committees which assist the various level chairmen in program preparation. These are grouped in six activity boards concerned with business and products, cultural activities, education, programs, organizations and public relations.

EACH OF THE seven days in the week has a special designation to observe various facets of Michigan's activities.

The aims of Michigan Week make it clear why the high volume recruitment is under way. The objectives are: to build state pride and knowledge among Michigan people, to sell the state's advantages to the nation and the world, and to get all Michigan people together in programs for the state's advancement.

his party is raising campaign contributions and indicated his willingness to support corrective legislation...

"I have talked with representatives of several corporations — many of whom paid the requested $15,000 advertising, and almost unanimously they resent this new approach now being taken and consider it a shake-down of their companies."

"If any public official thinks these corporations are going to shell out these $15,000 ads every time a political party starts a fund-raising drive without expecting some special consideration in return, then that official is too naive to hold public office."

"I HOLD IN MY hand this interesting brochure entitled, 'Toward an Age of Greatness.' Throughout we find full-page advertisements from the giants of industry — and I am sure that we will find the same group in the Republican brochure if they proceed along this line... We find the giants of the motor industry, General Motors, Ford, and Chrysler, leading the parade along with others who are dealing with multi-million-dollar defense contracts."

"Harvey Aluminum, Continental Can, Aluminum Co. of America, Spiegel, Endicott Johnson, Matson Lines, Sea-Land, United States Lines, General Tire, Fairchild Hiller Corp., Ling-Temco Vought Inc., Loral Corp., General Precision Inc., International Telephone & Telegraph, Sperry Rand — are all included as advertisers in this million-dollar brochure entitled 'Toward an Age of Greatness'."

"THE ADVERTISERS also include Braniff International, Hughes Aircraft, Lockheed Aircraft, Continental Airlines, Douglas Aircraft, Grumman, Pan American, Eastern, Trans World Airlines, American, Aerdux and Avoc. A couple of large insurance companies are also involved, Prudential and Pierce National Life Insurance."

"There are also railroads which advertised, Southern Railway, the Milwaukee, and the Union Pacific."

"We find Pepsi-Cola and Coca-Cola with their $15,000 contributions along with the brewing companies, Pabst, Budweiser, and Schlitz. Tennessee Gas Transmission Co., and Gulf Oil Corp. also contributed $15,000 each."

"This practice has been approved by the Treasury Department. Some argue that the money is really being solicited for educational purposes, to educate the voters. Educate them for what — how to vote the Democratic ticket? Ridiculous."

Businessmen can hardly be blamed for wanting to be in the good graces of their biggest and best paying customer, the Federal Government.—J.C.

Your own 'good citizenship' test

By BETTY JANE MINSKY

Manager
St. Johns Chamber of Commerce

"Fast moving," "informative," "dynamic," "educational" and "everyone should attend one of these sessions" were some of the comments heard Feb. 17 as some 800 businessmen and Chamber of Commerce executives filed out of the Commodore Perry Hotel in Toledo after attending the Citizenship Aircade meeting there.

Sponsored by the US Chamber of Commerce, tremendous emphasis was placed on how people, as individuals, can help build a better government at the local, state and national levels. One of the points that hit home to many of us attending the Aircade was the fact that there is a tremendous amount of work involved in this thing called "good government." There's much more to it than merely going to the polls to vote.

AND YET THAT'S all many of us do although we consider ourselves really good citizens.

But, are we? Are we really accepting the responsibility involved and are we doing our share in providing the kind of government we want? Or, are we content to sit back and criticize what's being done without doing anything to change it? Do we know how our senators and representatives are voting? Have we taken the time to make our own feelings known to them?

To find out just how good a citizen we really are, Aircade officials had us fill in Citizen Rate Yourself cards. It was a whole of a way to make us realize, by our own admission, what we were doing, and neglecting to do, in the way of providing good government for ourselves.

YOU, TOO, CAN participate. Simply answer the questions below and rate yourself.

A Look Into The Past...

Bank Site Once Grocery Business

O. P. DeWitt's Grocery once occupied the basement of the building where the Clinton National Bank now stands. Identified in the 80-year-old picture are: standing in front, O. P. DeWitt, father of Lee DeWitt of South Oakland Street; Percy Todd; Miss Hattie Earl, who became Mrs. John Tranchell and the mother of Carmen Tranchell of 306 Wight Street; A. G. Jones; and an unidentified boy. The woman in the background, according to Carmen Tranchell who donated the use of the picture, is an aunt of hers. The barber shop above the grocery store was owned by the father of Art Wilson, of 303 S. Clinton Avenue.

Passing Time

By W. E. DOBSON

If I ever was nostalgic
(And I guess I'm not immune)
Thinkin' of old time 'n places
'Fore we got 'em all in tune;
One on which I spent long hours
'Fore 'n after country school,
Was the time I spent astraddle
Of that antique milkin' stool.

Yes they varied in their context,
Some had one leg—others three—
Some were de-luxe dry goods boxes—
Models didn't much agree;
But they weren't too much upholstered,
'N as treacherous as a mule,
Many falls has been recorded
Off some antique milkin' stool.

Some were side mount 'n some straddle,
Some equipped with portico
On which milkin' pail was mounted—
So to catch the ebb and flow;
Lean your head agin' the cow flank
'N turn spigots—was the rule,
If the old cow started dancin',
Try to hold that milkin' stool!

Some would class as unskilled labor
Just the milkin' of a cow,
But let stranger try to do it—
Bossy knew it anyhow;
Lest you gained a certain rhythm
You could hardly take it cool,
As you sat philosophizin'
Perched on that old milkin' stool.

All is changed — the milkin' parlor
Now is where old bossy stands,
While new rubber tired squeezers
Supplant cold and horny hands;
Now we do the job up wholesale—
When we start we never fool
But I sort of mourn the passing
Of that antique milkin' stool.

"Don't forget the hot dogs — be at your kennel at 7 o'clock!"

Advertisers cut your cost by 68¢

One of Michigan's weekly newspapers recently presented a breakdown of costs and learned that it cost 78 cents to produce each copy of its weekly publication. The cost figures quoted hold pretty true for most weekly newspapers.

Here are the things you'd be paying for if you bought the newspaper without advertising in it:

Newsprint	6 cents

Editorial Department	11 cents
Circulation Costs	31/2 cents
Advertising Department	11 cents

Bement Library Book Shelf

By Hila Bross

Graham Greene has become a classic figure in the literary world, and may very well be destined to assume Somerset Maugham's mantle as a foremost writer of novels and plays. Certainly, he is a versatile and prolific writer, with both a new play and a new novel at the present time. One wonders if the play, CARVING A STATUE, will be as sensitive and as otherworldly as his previous stage success, THE POTTING SHED.

It is difficult to believe that the writer of THE POTTING SHED and the writer of the new novel, THE COMEDIANS, is one and the same man, so delicate and ethereal is the former and so hard and realistic is the latter.

THE word "comedians" is used here in its classical sense, meaning a player of a part. The characters in this book are so carefully molded that the reader is never confused as to which one is speaking or acting or being discussed. In addition to vivid character delineation, Mr. Greene is also a master at figure of speech. Much of the humor in this book is in the form of a metaphor or a simile.

Dealing with the bubbling of Haitian governmental and domestic affairs, THE COMEDIANS is set in the background of a defunct and decaying tourist hotel. This book will appeal to both men and women readers.

RIGHT NOW IT is very popular to begin the title of a book with the article "the," and there is another new title of this kind on the shelves at Bement Public Library. It is THE BEGINNERS by Dan Jacobson. This seems at first to be a man's book, set in the "rawness and drabness of Johannesburg" (South Africa). The quotation is from the "blurb" on the book jacket, which goes on to say that the publication of THE BEGINNERS is a major literary event.

The background has an unmistakably authentic flavor, which is understandable since Mr. Jacobson is a native of South Africa. He now lives in England, however, and has recently visited the United States for a term of teaching at Syracuse University.

THE "beginners" referred to in the title are the first members of a Jewish family named Glickman who settled in South Africa several generations ago. This novel traces the coming and going of succeeding generations of the family.

THE LIVING FAITH

by Lloyd C. Douglas
The faith and teaching of Lloyd C. Douglas went back always to the fundamentals that Christ laid down in the sermon on the mount. For him they were not the pattern of an abstract ideal but a definite plan for living, a plan within the reach of all men. It is never too late to set past mistakes right, and a man can always find a new life, he said, if he has the will to work for it.

He felt strongly that most churches spend too much time on the forms of religion and fail to play a positive role in man's everyday life. It is not enough to say, "Our doors are always open"; the good Christian must go out to his fellow men and bring Christ's teachings to those who are likely never to enter a church.

IN HIS own life, and in his best-selling novels, such as "Magnificent Obsession" and "The Rehe" Lloyd Douglas did just this. But he was as persuasive a preacher as he was a novelist and in his sermons he was able to explain more fully what Christianity meant to him. They are the basic statement of his belief; the living faith from which his novels grow.

The three charming Swedish boys whom children have learned to love in Miss Lindman's earlier books are involved in new adventures. This time they visit Lapland, where the reindeer live.

COUNTRY FLAVOR

'Sweet o' the year' March unpredictable but welcome

HAYDN PEARSON

The Bard of Avon understood human emotions. The countryman agrees that spring is the "sweet o' the year" as Shakespeare stated in "The Winter's Tale." March is the period when one knows that winter is drawing to a close. It is an unpredictable time. Sometimes March comes in sounding the bugles, with blue skies, warmth, and fleets of white clouds.

Sometimes March is ornery. Cantankerous wintry humors dominate the weather with cold, snow, and blustery winds. But each day is one nearer the equinox and human hearts respond as the days are checked off.

YOU CAN SEE buds swelling on the lilacs by the kitchen door. If March comes in like a lamb, there is music in the water dripping from roofs. Robins return from the southland and bare strips of brown grass show on the south slopes. If a warm rain hastens the unloading of snow and ice, creeks and brooks overflow and pools of dark water spread over the low spots.

Down by the swale, pussy willows' soft-gray, turreted noses pole out to test the air and soon skunk cabbages will lift mottled blossoms. On a sunny, mild day, there is exhilaration in the approach of the new season. Boxes of tomato plants and asters show green in the south windows of farmhouse kitchens, and farmers overhaul their machinery in preparation for spring work.

ONE NEVER knows when winter will pull back over the northern horizon, but as a man crosses the yard to do morning chores at dawn, he knows one fact. Winter is drawing to a close. The miracle is nearing and faith assures one that the miracle of resurrection never fails.

Aim at $6 million area farm boost

The 900 farmers who turned out last Thursday for the Corn-Soybean Clinic in St. Johns got a lot of advice and a bright look at potential profits in the crop season just ahead.

Perhaps the most dramatic point stressed at the clinic was this: If area farmers apply enough of the advice dished out by the experts to increase this year's yields just 10 bushels or $10 per acre, this could mean an additional income of $6 million for farmers in the seven-county area represented at the clinic.

The Michigan Crop Reporting Service shows approximately 500,000 acres of corn and 100,000 acres of beans are grown in this area annually.

TOP FARMERS with big yield know-how, plus experts in the areas of seed, machinery, fertilizer, weed and insect control, harvesting and storage got rapt attention from the crowd at Smith Hall.

There was no entertainment at this winter farm meeting. The clinic was all business... for farmers who mean business.

The only light note of the day occurred during the noon hour, when a free meal was served to the farmers, courtesy of the program's six sponsoring organizations—DeKalb Agricultural Assn., Allied Chemical Co., Allis-Chalmers, AmChem Products, Shell Chemical Co., Behlen Manufacturing Co., and Ralston Purina.

THE TALKS, MOVIES, and slide presentations between 9:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. were aimed at spelling out the things big farm profits are made of—heavy fertilization, high populations, narrow rows, chemical weed and insect control, early harvest, minimum harvest losses; better storage and feeding methods.

As master of ceremonies Dan Chisholm pointed out: "Farmers in this area had a good year during 1965. But by applying just a little of what you learn today, you can make 1966 an even better year. On the land you farm, you're the boss. What you do this spring, summer, and fall on your acres will directly affect your profits at harvest. In short, it's up to you. Now let's get down to business."

THE "BUSINESS" began with speaker Gene Stouffer of DeKalb Agricultural Assn., whose topic was "Profit Program for Corn." Using colored slides of Michigan farmers, Stouffer explained DeKalb's 5-point program and elaborated on the five steps DeKalb growers use for bigger yields.

Single crosses and three-way crosses have had a dramatic effect on yield increases in recent years, Stouffer said.

These Clinton County farmers were among the hundreds who turned out last Thursday for the corn-soybean clinic at Smith Hall.

"Short stalk hybrids, such as XL-45, are coming on strong—they accommodate today's high planting rates, are more disease and insect resistant, avoid wind damage, and are easily harvested by modern machinery," said Stouffer. He also touched on narrow-row experience in this area, best varieties for area soils, and gave advice on figuring how many plants various soils can support.

THE NARROW-ROW topic was picked up again by Marvin Horton of Allis-Chalmers, during his presentation on "Tractor and Planter Economics." He challenged his listeners with the question of whether they could afford to stay with wide rows. He asked them to decide whether their present equipment would work on narrow rows, and if not, what might be their most economical way of making the switch.

Horton also discussed minimum tillage, described in detail the equipment A-C now has available, plus the company's plans for the future, all illustrated with color slides.

BOB DOUGHERTY, Allied Chemical Co. gave some practical answers to his topic, "What Does It Take for 200 Bushels of Corn?" High yields aren't as tough to obtain as most farmers think, he emphasized.

Dougherty presented some solutions to the most common problems farmers have with fertilizer: How much fertilizer is enough, what return can you expect on your investment, why placements so important, which form of fertilizer is best for you, new ideas on fertilization from qualified workers, they reach out farther in their recruitment programs. Michigan feels the effect.

BIGGEST BONE of contention lies in the definition of a "qualified" worker. "To a government agency, a qualified worker is anybody that shows up," one Michigan farmer snaps. "We don't exactly see it that way..."

Tractors—both very big ones and those just above garden size—will increase in Michigan by 1980. An agricultural engineer at Michigan State University said large and larger tractors will be both feasible and economical due to coming research developments. Some of these developments might even lead to a tractor operated by an automatic pilot with programmed operational instructions.

Michigan State University housing specialists predict that by 1980 most people will be living in medium and high-rise apartment buildings in "high-density" areas. Rural and outer suburban areas will probably contain the only single family homes. Ultimately even farm homesteads may be replaced with manufactured houses erected on the site. Mobile homes will continue to increase in popularity.

beans can be just as profitable as corn if given the same attention.

Turning to the crux of the problem that limits both soybean and corn yields, Pintke dealt thoroughly with the war that farmers must wage on weeds to keep profits and production at their peak. "It doesn't make much sense to use the best seed, best fertilizer, best equipment and practices, then let weeds rob your crop's potential," he said.

Bugs were given a mean swat in the next presentation, "Control Soil Insects," by John Rutherford, Shell Chemical Co. Rutherford used slides to describe the economics of insecticides in dollars and cents—when it pays to apply them and when it doesn't.

HE DESCRIBED the types of insecticides available, methods of application granular and liquid, and how insecticides work. "Today's crop growers don't have to stand back and accept insect losses," Rutherford said. "An application with a modern insecticide can fully assure you you'll get all the yield you have coming to you, no matter what kind of insects try to make pests of themselves," he declared.

Next on the program was Allis-Chalmers' Don Cordes, who emphasized the importance of harvesting every bushel grown in his talk, "Reduce Those Harvest Losses." Because the advantages of combining compared to picking out that while soybeans play second-fiddle on most farms, Gleaner combines with corn heads.

HE COVERED experiences of farmers with narrow-row harvesting equipment, types of equipment available for 40 inch, thirty-inch, and 20 inch rows, adjustments and possible options, most economical way to switch over to narrow-rows, and harvesting equipment of the future.

The clinic went a step further this year, with Behlen Manufacturing Co. and the Ralston Purina Company suggesting what to do with large crops after they are harvested. Behlen's Allen Wilke spoke on "Conditioning and Storing Your Harvest Dollars," covering the best way to handle wet corn which route's best, ensile, dry and store, or market it directly.

Can feed corn silage as only dairy roughage

Corn silage can be fed to dairy cows as the sole source of roughage without sacrificing milk production. Furthermore, the silage is well adapted to mechanical handling and it makes a profitable crop when grown on moderate to highly productive farmland, reports a Michigan State University dairy scientist.

L. D. Brown said studies at the MSU Agricultural Experiment Station indicated that corn silage can be the sole source of roughage, provided it is properly supplemented.

HE FOUND THAT cattle fed 52 pounds of corn silage and about 20 pounds of grain per day produced 52.5 pounds of milk testing 3.8 per cent fat. As such, this group's production was better than cows getting only hay as roughage.

Brown advised dairymen to strongly consider corn silage as an important part of their feeding program. But he warned that the amounts of corn silage, hay and haylage included in the dairy ration can be widely varied, depending on the individual farm situations.

"FURTHERMORE, we found that corn silage produces more energy (total digestible nutrients) per acre and at a lower cost than either hay or ear corn," said Brown.

And corn silage is well adapted to modern, mechanized agriculture.

"We are well aware that dairy farms are becoming larger in size and that mechanization is becoming more important," said Brown. "Since the development of mechanized systems for handling silage has progressed more rapidly than for handling hay, corn silage is in a very favorable position from a feed handling standpoint."

"THE DAIRYMAN can make his decision primarily on the basis of (1) cost of producing, storing and feeding nutrients from each of the alternative forage systems, and (2) cost of feed supplements to meet the animal's nutrient requirements for high level milk production."

Michigan DHIA names new secretary

Michigan dairymen in the Dairy Herd Improvement Assn took a step toward assuming greater membership service this month in employing their own executive secretary.

Robert Zeeb of Bath, president of the Michigan DHIA, announced that Paul A. Wilkes has accepted the new position as executive secretary and will take over his new duties at once.

IN A JOINT announcement, Dr Charles A. Lassiter, chairman of the Michigan State University Dairy Department, announced Wilkes' resignation as extension dairy fieldman. At the same time he lauded the farmer-owned-and-operated cooperative on its new move and promised close cooperation from the dairy department and the MSU Extension Service.

"If DHIA meets the needs of dairymen tomorrow it must provide leadership, supervisory control, and assistance. The Michigan board recognized this and became the second DHIA organization in the nation to take over the housekeeping service of its organization," Lassiter commented.

WILKES WILL carry out duties formerly handled by Dr L. A. Johnson, who is on leave in Brazil on a special assignment, along with others to improve services available to the dairymen.

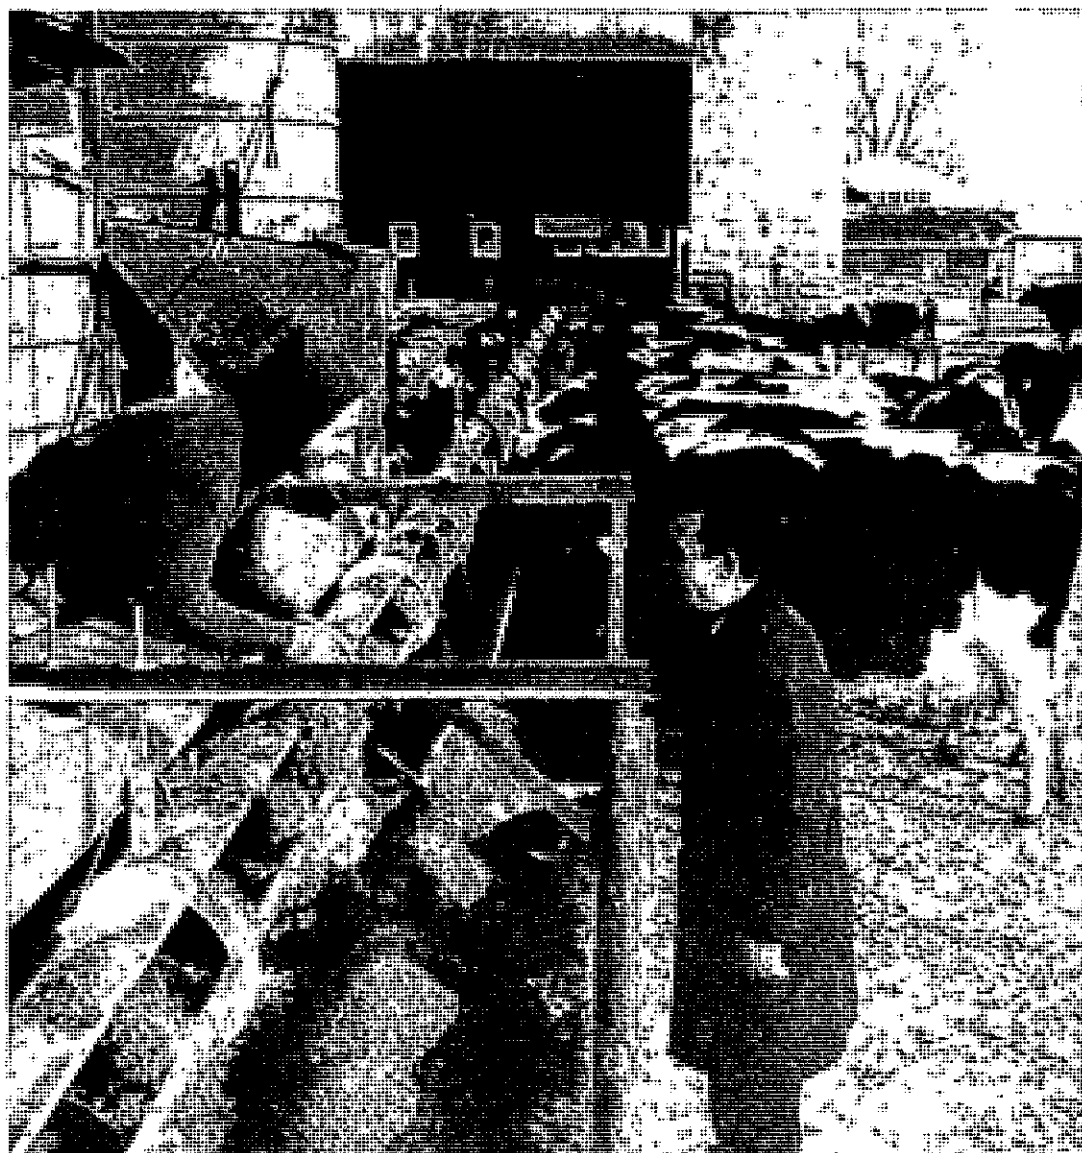

President Zeeb said if the new program could increase from 25 per cent to 50 per cent the number of dairymen and dairy cows operating under the program it would strengthen MSU research. "The more cows we have in the program, the more useful MSU research in dairy cattle feeding and management will be," he commented.

Michigan DHIA now has 110 men testing cattle in 77 counties.

THE ASSOCIATION'S annual meeting is scheduled for March 24 on the MSU campus.

Dairy farmers are paying $750,000 a year for the production testing program including processing records through electronic data processing equipment at Michigan State University. At the same time, these records will provide information for much research by MSU dairy and agricultural economics staff members that will help the milk producers.

The idea for Dairy Herd Improvement Assn originated in Michigan more than 60 years ago. They now operate in every state in the United States. Farmers, through assistance from a dairy herd tester, keep production records and feed costs. Through these records they are able to determine the most efficient producing cows in the herd and through records improve efficiency and income.

LASSITER SAID the move is a real milestone in Dairy Herd Improvement Assn activity in Michigan. "It shows real interest and dedication of the board of directors to provide the kind of a program Michigan dairymen need and demand. Second, it shows the organization had grown up and in assuming routine membership responsibilities it will permit the withdrawal of MSU support for use in more research for four years."

Calls future market one of best tools cattle feeders have, but . . .

John Baker, county extension agent in Gratiot County, thinks the live cattle futures market can be one of the best tools a cattle feeder has. "But like another farm tool — the buzz saw — you can get hurt with it," Baker commented.

Before the cattle feeder hedges with the cattle futures market, he should be sure his leading agency is fully behind him, Baker contends. And he speaks from three positions: that of an agricultural agent, of a successful cattle feeder and a director in a bank which makes many cattle loans.

"ONCE YOU MAKE the hedge, you will want to go all the way, so be sure your banker or lending agency knows your total program," Baker explains.

He offers this example. You have 500 calves on feed. The cash price in February for choice cattle is $26. August futures are $28. You decide to cover all 500 cattle. Most brokers expect you to have $500 margin on each 25,000 pounds, so you borrow $10,000 and put it up as margin.

Now suppose the general price starts to rise. The futures go up to $30 and you get a margin call for $500 per contract or $10,000 more. Will your leading agency loan you another $10,000? Remember you must cover within 48 hours or be sold out.

YOU GET THE money to cover. Then suppose the futures market goes up some more and you cannot borrow more money to cover the additional gain. You would be sold out, and you could lose the $20,000.

This wouldn't hurt as long as the cattle price moved up also and stayed up until you sold. But if there is a reversal, and the price goes back to $26 you would be out the $20,000.

Baker says there are other examples that could fail to protect the cattle feeder if he did not have assurances from his money source that he could borrow money when needed to protect his investment.

FIELD SHEETS AVAILABLE

The Soil Conservation Service has announced field sheets and necessary interpretive data concerning the SCS soils survey in nine tri-county townships will be available at cost to the public this month. The survey is being done for the Tri-County Regional Planning Commission. In Clinton County, sheets may be ordered through the TCRC for Bath, DeWitt and Watertown townships.

Total consumer expenditures for goods and services of floriculture in all outlets is at the $50 million annual level in Michigan.

School state aid money distributed

Some $373,580 in state aid to schools, representing the February apportionment to county school districts, was mailed out to the various school treasurers last week by County Treasurer Velma Beaufore.

The money represents 16.66 per cent of the year's school state aid. The amounts received by the various districts were: DeWitt Public Schools, $55,330; Fowler Public Schools, $14,000; Bath Community Schools, $64,850; Ovid-Elsie Area Schools, $96,530; Pawnee-Westphalia Public Schools, $19,350; St. Johns Public Schools, $15,450; Bath 6 Frl., $450; Eagle 2 and 5 Frl., $640; special education, $5,310; intermediate school district, $1,870.

A motion was made by Supervisor Austin and supported by Supervisor Tiedt that the following resolution be adopted. Motion carried.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, it has been proposed to reduce the Special Milk program from $103 million to $21 million and the School Lunch program by 20 per cent on the national level, and at the same time a proposal was made to increase the Postal subsidy by $135 million;

WHEREAS, we feel this proposal jeopardizing the Special Milk and School Lunch program would be detrimental to our present program, and also would deprive many of our children a much needed glass of milk per day.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that we, the Clinton County Board of Supervisors go on record as opposing the authorization of Congress in cutting the School Milk program as well as the School Lunch program.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a copy of this resolution be sent to Senators Philip A. Hart and Patrick V. McNamara, also Representatives Paul H. Todd and Charles E. Chamberlain, and to all Boards of Supervisors in the State of Michigan.

The following report of the expenditures from the General Fund was presented by the County Clerk and on motion of Supervisor Moore, supported by Supervisor Setterington, accepted by the Board:

Itemized statement of the expenditures of the various offices and departments of the County of Clinton from the General Fund for the period beginning January 1, 1965 and ending December 31, 1965.

of warm air off the ceiling down to the floor, the temperature in the room will be more even. Make sure the windows and doors are insulated with weather stripping and storm sash to keep any warm air from escaping.
