Tri-County board calls for direct services

Supervisors support Mental Health Board

The Clinton County Board of Supervisors moved to support the Tri-County Mental Health Board in its position that it should directly control services it provides.

Supervisor Maurice Gove and Oscar Wade explained that the mental health board had to choose between running its own program or contracting separate entities to perform the services.

Gove said that he did not think it was the intent of the supervisors when the mental health board was set up to make them mere dispensers of funds but that the board should go the route of direct services.

Representatives from the Tri-County Health Board asked the supervisors to divert to them funds for mental health from the Clinton County Social Services Board. The Tri-County board then can receive state matching funds and in this way the amount spent on mental health could be stabilized.

Clinton County's expenditures on mental health rose from $4,508 in 1968 to $7,220.70 during 1969.

"This could grow to $28,000," said Gove explaining that the state would fund up to three-quarters of mental health costs.

Clinton's Social Services Board, George Eberhard, Keith Wright, and Warren Coffman were generally agreeable to the plan but wished to investigate further how responsibility for administering mental health care would be divided under the new plan.

Supervisors postponed action until their next meeting.

Gaylord Crowell appeared before the board seeking approval for a nine hole golf course he is constructing.

The supervisors had tabled the matter two weeks ago in order to have the drainage of the proposed course evaluated by Drain Commissioner Dale Chapman. The course was approved.

The supervisors decided to purchase for $1,100, a television set and video tape player for use in construction projects.

In other action the supervisor: —Accepted and placed on file reports from County Clerk Ernest Carter, Zoning Commissioner Bill Coffey, Civil Defense Director Charles Frost, Director of the Social Services Board, George Eberhard, and Howard Witt, of the Driver's License office.

—Decided to follow guidelines as issued for the State Civil Service employees in determining holidays for county employees.

—Requested the County Clerk Ernest Carter to distribute and collect ballots to county employees to see if they preferred being paid twice monthly or every two weeks.

—Authorized $15 per day extra pay for all Sheriff's Deputies who worked on legal holidays.

—Authorized purchase of $775.54 of new equipment and furniture for various county offices.

—Approved additions, deletions, and corrections to the Mid-Michigan District Health code covering water supply, sewage disposal, and garbage disposal, etc.

—Decided to wait 60 days until they could read the Housing Code developed by the Mid-Michigan

Health Board, before acting on it.

—Noted that a tentative budget and work activity plan had been sent from the Tri-County Planning Commission.

—Were informed by County Prosecutor Pat Kelly that the law was vague on whether a communication should be read at board meetings, and that the board could set up its own policy. The matter was referred to a committee.

—Initiated an intricate bookkeeping plan to eliminate a $15,000 uncollectable drain debt from the books.

—Were informed by Don Haske, head of the D.P.W., that a low bid of $43,000 to replace a bridge in Vicor Township on Hollister Road.

—Were informed by Maurice Gove of the Finance Committee that most departments were operating under their 1970 budget and that a few were over because of equipment they had ordered last year.

Supervisors view new building

Clinton County Board of Supervisors Monday decided to enter into a contract with Commonwealth Associates, Inc. for a study and preliminary plan for a new Clinton County building.

The study, not to exceed $12,000 in cost, will include a site plan of the 190-acre track in Bingham Township about two miles north of St. Johns, a topographical map, a soils map, a space requirements survey of county departments, and a preliminary plan of buildings. Included in the cost would be an aerial survey and soil borings of the selected building area.

Jerry Wilcox, chairman of the Planning Commission explained that if it is decided to go ahead and build, and Commonwealth received the contract for architectural and planning work, then the cost of the study would be absorbed in this phase.

Walter Nobis, Chairman of the Board of Supervisors, said that the new building, if built, would probably be used to house the Road Commission, the DPW, the Drain Commission, the Equalization Department, the Planning Commission and would include meeting rooms for the supervisors and other administrative agencies.

This would leave more room in the Courthouse for the courts and other functions of the county.

Nobis pleased with rate on bond issue

Clinton County Department of Public Works last week sold bonds for the DeWitt Township sewer project to First of Michigan Corp. who bid the low interest rate of 6.7239 per cent. Three other bids for the $3,345,000 bond issue ranged to a high of 6.9112 per cent.

"I'm really very happy with the rate," said Walter Nobis, chairman of the board of supervisors, "a couple of months ago it might have been over seven per cent. If this sewer project is constructed, all of DeWitt Township and the area north of Lansing should benefit," said Supervisor Jack Andrews.

Construction on the four-and-a-half million dollar project will begin during the first part of April and be completed in September, 1971.

Fowler election is Monday

Fowler residents will go to the polls Monday to elect three trustees and four village officers. All are incumbents and all are unopposed.

Running for village president is John Spicer, Democrat; clerk, Mark Fox, Republican; treasurer, John C. Rademacher, Democrat; and assessor, Earl Frechen, Republican.

Two Republicans are running for two-year trustee terms—John Klein and Robert Pettit. A Democrat, Carl Wohlfert, is seeking the other trustees seat.

Ballots will be cast at the Dallas Township Hall from 7 a.m. - 8 p.m.

Water safety course set

Anyone interested in taking the State of Michigan Pleasure Boating course may enroll now for the course, according to Clinton County Sheriff Percy Patterson, who is an instructor certified by the Department of Natural Resources Boat and Water Safety Section. Interested persons can enroll at the Sheriff's office. The course begins March 9 at 7 p.m. at Rodney B. Wilson Junior High.

This free course is designed primarily for the beginning boatman and includes information on selecting the boat and motor, safely afloat, boat handling, Michigan laws and regulations, and first aid. All boatmen are welcome, however.

The course consists of five one hour units and there is no charge for instruction or materials.

Printing in minutes

Clinton County News begins new offset printing service

Clinton County News publisher Rollin A. Huard, Jr. this week announced installation of new equipment which will provide expanded printing services to the Clinton area.

The equipment, which represents an investment of more than $7,000, is a product of the Itek Corp. of Rochester, N.Y., and will serve as the heart of a new speed-printing process now being offered by Clinton County News. The service will provide layout reproduction printing in minutes and will greatly decrease the time for completing new printing jobs.

The equipment is, in simplest description, an automatic offset that reproduces copies from the elimination of a number of photographic steps taken in normal offset plate making.

"We have felt for some time that a speedy print process in the Clinton area would provide service to this expanding market," Huard said. "We're confident that our Itek installation will satisfy the local demands for fast printing service."

DICK MILLER, a member of the printing staff of Clinton

County News for more than eight years will be in charge of the new equipment and the complete process, which has been named "Minitprint." The process will provide reproduction of ready-made copy or layouts in a matter of minutes and through the expanded use of offset copy preparation, Clinton County News will be better equipped to hasten offset printing orders.

"Many of the standing printing jobs we now do can be accomplished with this new process," said Huard, "thereby cutting down the time period between ordering and receipt of the finished work. We're quite excited over the possibilities of this equipment and our customers seem to share this feeling. We had several orders waiting for installation of the platemaker to be completed."

Representatives of Itek have spent considerable time in assembling and familiarizing Miller with the equipment.

All types of reproduction can be processed through the platemaker including line copy, half-tones (pictures) and most colors. In some instances original copy printed in colored ink is not suitable for offset printing, but the new automatic platemaker can reproduce most colors, including blue which is generally lost when using other methods.

"This Itek installation will give us great flexibility," Huard said. "We can now provide faster and more complete service to small groups—such as newsletters or periodic bulletins—as well as large organizations or businesses."

"And the best part is that our printing charges in most instances will be considerably less."

A complete chart of charges for copying pre-printed work appears elsewhere in this issue.

After preliminary testing and checkout, the new equipment will be ready for regular production next week.

Courthouse flag stolen; County offers reward for conviction of thief

Supervisors has posted a $100 reward for the apprehension and conviction of the person or persons who removed the flag from the courthouse grounds.

"If it's not legal, I'll put up a tenth of the money out of my own salary," said Gerald Lankford, supervisor from DeWitt.

Chamberlain felled at board meeting

Clinton County Supervisor Duane Chamberlain was stricken with an apparent minor heart attack during a recess at the Board meeting Monday.

He was taken to Clinton Memorial Hospital.

Hospital authorities Tuesday morning could not be contacted for a report on his condition.

County Clerk Ernest Carter said, however, that Chamberlain was "coming along good."

Carter said he had been in contract with the Ovid Township supervisor Tuesday and he was told that Chamberlain would undergo a series of tests and expects to be released possibly today.

Robbers get $50,000 from Ashley bank

Bank robbers who broke into the Ashley branch of the Bank of Alma were still at large Tuesday morning after making off with an estimated $50,000 last week.

The bank's vault was broken into late Thursday night or early Friday morning with acetylene torches believed to have been stolen from an Ashley business.

DANCE: Bingham Grange Hall, Saturday, Mar. 7, 9:30 to 1:30 p.m., adv.

Entrance was gained by prying open the front door of the building.

The theft was discovered Friday morning by Larry Roberson, assistant cashier.

The thieves cut through an inch-thick vault door and bars behind that to get to the money. A smaller vault inside the larger vault was also broken into. State Police and FBI officers are working on the case.

Local ads 'bring home the bacon'

Clinton County News classified ads continue to "bring home the bacon," so to speak.

Within hours after the News was on the street last Wednesday, Mrs. Chester Farrier had sold two brood sows through this small inexpensive classified ad:

FOR SALE - 2 brood sows, 1 1/2 years old. Second litter due middle of May. Phone 669-9298.

Mrs. Farrier said she had run an identical ad in a larger daily newspaper for three days without results.

But she called the Clinton County News to tell us how pleased she was with the results of only one classified in the News—her local newspaper.

House duties limit Ballenger's hours

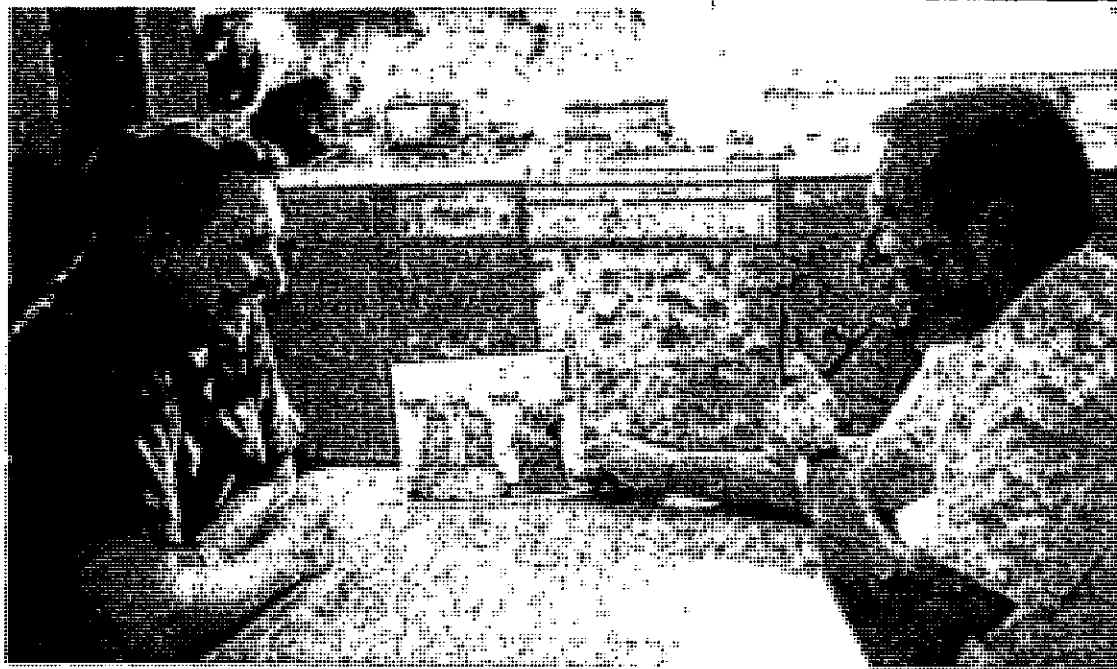

State Rep. William S. Ballenger has announced that beginning March 6, his new district office hours at 102 N. Clinton Ave. in St. Johns will be Fridays, 7 - 9 p.m.

Ballenger said he is eliminating his Friday afternoon office hours from 4:30 to 6 p.m., because of increasing responsibilities in Lansing.

a chance to sit down and review everybody's work assignments." Ballenger added that generally visitors to his St. Johns office have been in the habit of coming after dinner, between 7 and 9 p.m., anyway. Visitors in the afternoon have been comparatively scarce. He urges all residents of the St. Johns area to continue to come to him with any problems, questions, complaints, or counsel they may have.

St. Johns pair meet again

Brothers recall nearly 50 years in the Navy

William Butler had a nice chat with his brother, David, last week. Which isn't unusual for most brothers, but this pair hadn't seen each other in about three years. And they had a lot to talk about—nearly 50 years combined service in the Navy. William, who lives in St. Johns, retired five years ago with 20 years active service and has another five with the reserves. David joined in 1947—two years after his brother—and expects to retire in a couple of years. Among William's adventures is the last polar expedition with Adm. Byrd in 1955. While on "Operation Deep-freeze" with Byrd, William helped establish Little America. His brother, however, has been the other route. "He sailed (in a submarine) over the top of the world—under ice," says William. Ten years ago, William assisted in the recovery of a

DeWitt Council moves to aid sewer project

The DeWitt City Council lost no time in doing their part in aiding the $4.5 million dollar DeWitt Township sewer project for which bonds were sold last week.

The board moved to permit the Clinton County Department of Public Works to construct a sewer line in the centerline or on the south side of Herbison Road provided the road was subsequently fully repaired.

The council also decided to contact the County Road Commission to see if Herbison Road could be extended as far as Wacousta.

Councilmen considered a petition from Scottville, Michigan, which asked that traffic bureaus be set up in smaller communities and to allow communities to receive half instead of the present one-third of fines collected by District Courts.

No action was taken on the petition as there is already a traffic bureau in DeWitt Township.

"We probably wouldn't benefit a great deal from this," said Mayor Lawrence Keek, "it would be minor, the money we would receive from it."

The council voted to raise the wages of the members of the election board from $1.60 to $2.00 an hour.

City Clerk Dorothy Keek was instructed to inform Consumers' Power that the estimated cost of the election for the renewal of their franchise was $250.

At the meeting a model of the new street signs was presented to the council. The council decided to purchase steel pipes to mount the signs on from Dalman's at 70 cents per foot.

change program of Michigan showing how the local tax dollar was spent with assessments this year.

DeWitt schools join Conservation efforts

The DeWitt School Board last week voted to enroll the school system in the United States Soil Conservation Service.

"It's an excellent program and I think we should subscribe to it," said Supt. James Ritchie.

All other school districts in the county are already members of the program.

The Conservation Service will conduct studies for the use of wooded areas on school property.

The school board also accepted a bid for $5832.30 to furnish and equip the new administrative offices. Two other bids were lower but Ritchie pointed out that these were not comparable bids, and did not include as much equipment. Individual items were priced lower on the accepted bid.

Don Mueller, high school principal, announced that the drivers education program would be limited to 45 students, although he estimated that about 100 were interested.

"Students taking drivers' education for the first time will have first choice," said Mueller.

He said students 16 years old and born before June 1, 1954, would be eligible for driver's ed.

The board decided to apply for federal funds to repeat last year's Title E.S.E.A. program in perceptual training.

The program will be given to 15 children for the first time plus ten pupils who received the training last summer.

"We've found there is some time loss," said Don Powell about the training.

In other action the board: —Resolved to present an application for final approval on a $57,000 loan.

—Elected Lloyd Ballard representative to attend the Clinton Intermediate Board Budget Hearing.

—Approved the hiring of Mrs. Jean Tuttle and Mrs. Helen Hoeschell as mathematics and English teachers.

—Approved and adopted additions to DeWitt Board Policies concerning class sponsors and graduation announcement.

Our Annette meets the president's wife

By ANNETTE WHITE
News Society Editor

Sunday night I could have seen the president on TV.

Monday night I saw myself on TV with his wife.

It started Friday when I became aware that I was going on assignment to cover the arrival of the First Lady in Lansing. I was quite thrilled, however, by that evening there was some question as to whether she would arrive on Monday as planned so I more or less put the detail out of my thoughts.

Sunday night I heard it was true and she was arriving as scheduled.

When I woke up Monday morning the roads were a mess of ice and again I thought my trip was off. Arriving at the office I soon realized that things weren't as bad as I had thought so I quickly ran through my mail and was off to Lansing to the Governor's office where the press was meeting to pick up the needed credentials to be part of the corps covering Mrs. Nixon's arrival.

After obtaining the needed credentials I was told that a couple of press buses were parked at the west end of the Capitol and that I could board and that we would be leaving at 10 a.m.

While I was waiting I started to notice a few familiar faces starting to arrive. There was Tony Spina, Detroit Free Press chief photographer; Jean Wilson, Free Press society editor and several TV news reporters from the stations I usually watch.

The excitement was growing. The trip to the airport was fast and the crowd had already gathered. The Sexton High School Band was playing the Michigan State Fight Song and being a University of Michigan fan I was hopeful of hearing the Victors next.

They didn't play it.

I began a conversation with a group of Girl Scouts and soon learned that one of them was Cathy Sleight, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rolan Sleight, people I knew. Cathy was representing her Cadette Troop and was going to present a bouquet to Mrs. Nixon.

Weather at the airport was wet and cold but I soon forgot about

'Hey, Mom, that's you on TV,'

ANNETTE

It was when the blue and white presidential jet came into view.

The red carpet was in readiness along with the official greeting party. It was almost time for the plane to land and I was hopeful that my camera was at the right setting.

There she was looking very neat and trim in her pink coat and dress ensemble. I admired the tasteful mink scarf around her neck.

With her was Lenore Romney. I noticed she was wearing a blouse just like the one I had worn the day before.

That was close. She listened while Gov. Milliken welcomed her to the State of Michigan and then she received the keys to the city from Mayor Gerald Graves, Next State Sen. N. Lorraine Beebe, of Dearborn, presented her with a framed copy of the joint resolution welcoming her to Michigan.

The crowd was excited and she moved slowly extending her hands to her well wishers. She seemed extremely pleased to see so many children waiting to greet her.

It was becoming a little hectic but we were nearing the bus and her awaiting car was parked nearby. Suddenly I was very cold and was thinking about the warmth of the bus that I would soon be in again.

We were ready to depart for the next stop which was the Michigan School for the Blind. It was a good thing the stop was on the way or I would have missed it.

because I was heading back for St. Johns once the bus arrived back at the Jack Tar Hotel where Mrs. Nixon was staying.

Off the bus again and another look at the First Lady. The press corps was allowed on the tour and by that time I was out of film and along for the ride. Arriving at the school, Mrs. Nixon was greeted by Supt. Robert Thompson and Charles Weir, Midwest Regional Director of Blind-Deaf facilities. Robert Zimmerman, chairman of student volunteers conducted the tour.

She proceeded to Huron Lodge to observe children involved in a variety of activities assisted by student volunteers. She was told that the children being aided at the center were all rubella children, children of mothers who had contracted the disease during pregnancy.

Mrs. Nixon quickly made friends with the children at the center. Let's see you go up and down the stairs," she said to Doug Kebs as she patted his leg. "Hi Sweetie, are you having fun?" to Brenda Green. Doug was doing his routine activity of learning to handle stairs with his handicap and Brenda was engaged in playing on a small teeter.

Next she viewed the gymnasium and the swimming pool each time talking to as many of the children as she could.

Leaving the building she gave special attention to the school's hand waiting on the lawn to play for her. She praised them graciously and thanked them for entertaining her.

We were on the bus again and heading to the Jack Tar Hotel where I would then depart for home. It had been a morning that I will always remember.

That evening at home while watching the 6 o'clock news—"Hey, Mom that's you on TV," blasted one of the kids.

"Well, what do you know."

Maynard-Allen State Bank opens with Bavarian theme

A dream of the Westphalia village council reaches the first stage of reality next week when the Maynard-Allen State Bank moves into its new quarters.

Directors of the bank last summer voted to construct a new building and to follow the council's suggestion for a business area Bavarian theme. The results of that vote will be open to the public next Tuesday and Wednesday, March 10 and 11.

Considerations for new quarters had been underway for nearly two years. When the Bavarian theme was suggested bank officials liked the idea and immediately began to incorporate that type of decor into their plans.

The construction project, which doubled the size of the bank, began in September.

Interior and furnishings of the newly completed bank center on an authentic coat of arms from the Province of Westphalia, Germany, which is hand carved in a four-inch thick slab of wood, approximately 2 x 2 1/2 ft. The old Bavarian decor was used extensively from wallpaper to an old clock.

The Bavarian theme of the bank, not only carries out the suggestion of village councilmen, but also enhances the tradition of Westphalia, which was originally settled in 1836. Many of the present families residing in the area are direct descendants of the first settlers.

A public open house next Tuesday and Wednesday will officially open the new quarters of Maynard-Allen State Bank in Westphalia. The new facility will be highlighted by decor of Bavarian theme in keeping with the traditions of the German heritage of the Westphalia area.

Environmental action group wars on DDT

Safe disposal of banned DDT products from homes in Clinton, Ingham and Eaton Counties is being sought by the newly organized Citizens for Environmental Action.

The citizen group plans to place large metal containers in all fire stations in the Tri-County area where residents may take DDT products sitting on home or garage shelves. The containers are scheduled to be in place by Friday and will remain available for the entire month of March, according to Mrs. Allan Yanz, president of Citizens of Environment Action.

Chairman of the project is Mrs. Douglas Lenz, treasurer of CEA.

Mrs. Yanz said the project was in response to appeals by public officials for citizens to become involved in the battle against pollution.

"This is a practical way in which our group can help to get one outlawed source of pollution out of our homes," Mrs. Yanz said.

The sale and use of DDT has been outlawed in Michigan—one of the first states to do so.

Quick Lighting

Sectional lightpoles fabricated of nickel stainless steel can be buried directly in the ground without the need for a base. Two men, using no special equipment, can erect such a pole in 20 minutes.

The containers have been supplied by the Department of State Highways and will be marked for easy identification. They will be picked up at the end of March for safe disposal.

Mission: 'we love you'

By ANNETTE WHITE
News Society Editor

It was a demonstration all right.

There were no rocks thrown, no confrontations with the police and four cents was left over.

It was a demonstration of love. Armed with the funds they had collected from their classmates and violent with determination, three members of the combination fourth and fifth grade at East Ward School marched the streets of Walker and Main to converge on Harr's Jewelry Store. Their cause was to buy a gift for their teacher, Mrs Esther Hendershot.

For several months they have been aware of the kindness and considerations that she shows them. They especially like the privileges she gives them, however, they learned not to abuse them.

That's why they went to Harr's. They wanted to buy her a gift to show their appreciation.

Enlisting the aide of the store clerk, Maureen Miller, the purchase was made even complete with a pretty card.

Mission accomplished with only one problem—the four cents change. What do we do with it?

Well, the store clerk certainly did help pick out a great gift. She deserved a tip.

Commemorate anniversary

Members of St. Johns Rotary Club this week commemorate the 65th anniversary of the founding of the international club. The local group's participation in the milestone involved a picture taking session of President J.D. Robinson, center and charter members Lee DeWitt, Left, and Glenn Osgood. The pair, along with Clarence Ebert, who is currently in California were among the original members who began the St. Johns Rotary Club which was chartered on March 19, 1926.

City's financial condition reviewed at Rotary Club

Members of the St. Johns Rotary Club were given first hand exposure to the city's financial condition last week when two members of the commission, along with the city manager and clerk, presented a rundown on fiscal needs and hopes for a successful charter amendment vote on March 31.

Rotarian Al Dean, program chairman, introduced Dr. James Grost, Charles Coletta, Harvey Weatherwax and Tom Hundley. The quartet presented commentary and visual data on the fiscal flow of the city along with proposed updating of equipment and services over the next five years if a 15 mill limit is approved by the voters.

Dr. Grost gave the Rotarians a briefing on the commission's intent following last spring's income tax proposal defeat by pointing out that each of the five members sought a financial plan which would be mutually acceptable. He praised the city's administrative and labor staffs for working with tools and equipment that in many instances had been "repaired time and time again."

THE COMMISSIONERS met as frequently as twice weekly, Grost explained, to come upon a solution to the city's financial difficulties and from these meetings sprang the current millage proposal.

During the question and answer period Attorney William Kemper queried the quartet on whether general increased costs were not a major contributor to the city's current problems. Kemper cited revenues to the city's general fund from the water system, pointing out that this source of income began its inflow after the city's cut-back to ten mills and, consequently, picked up some of the loss. Dr. Grost agreed that rising costs was among the various contributing factors to the current situation.

Other commentary was provided by Dr. Herbert Oatley, a former commissioner who resigned the post because of ill health. Dr. Oatley pointed out that some motivation for seeking additional revenue was to again put the city in good standing with the "Money lenders."

Dr. Oatley explained that at present the city's credit ability "is zero" and to be in a position to borrow money in the future for needed facilities, such as sewers and other services, the city must regain its sound financial standing.

During the course of questions, School Superintendent Earl Lancaster indicated his support of the commissioner's proposal and encouraged his fellow Rotarians to endorse the millage increase.

In closing the program, Dean indicated that the needs of the city should rise above personal sentiments. "If we want our community to grow and prosper," Dean said "we must look beyond personal feelings. We must look at the needs of the city."

Basketball - - a Fowler tradition

By BOB CALVERLEY
News Staff Writer

Not many big city people around Michigan have heard about the elevators in Fowler. But everyone in the state has heard of the brand of basketball they play in Fowler. They read about it in their big city newspapers. "Fowler, number one," say the papers.

"The community has used it for identification, but I think the kids take it in stride," says Dean Stork, principal of Fowler High School.

"Using it for identification" is the educated term for saying Fowler residents are proud of their basketball team.

"I think we've got one of the nicest teams around for a town our size," says Rod Finkbeiner who owns a pharmacy in town.

"It's like a ghost town down town when we have a basketball game," he added.

guy against any team in the state," says Fox.

Inevitably comparisons are drawn between the present Fowler team and past Fowler basketball teams. The 1952 team dominated the state averaging almost 40 points more per game than their opponents. Except for a game lost by default, they won every one of their games, including the tournaments.

Good basketball teams are a tradition at Fowler.

"The kids up there are born with a basketball," said one DeWitt resident, about Fowler.

Well, not quite, but almost. "I've got one coming up," says Luke Becker.

"He's tall. He's taller than I am already. I've got a basketball setup at home," he said, "it get's well used."

Strikes and spares galore

"They've got a good team," says Luke Becker (Becker's Furniture), "they work hard at it."

Stork who is at all of his school's games notes that Fowler wasn't mentioned by the pre-season prophets.

"There were four teams in the conference to beat, and we weren't one of them," he said.

"They don't win their games by too many points," says Earl Frechen of Frechen's Market, who is also coach Charles Trierweller's father-in-law.

"I think he's hiding something," says Frechen about his son-in-law.

Strikes and spares galore were rolled at the Fowler Bowl last month as Most Holy Trinity Ct. held its Third Annual 3-6-9 Bowling Tournament.

The Chief Ranger Herman Schmitt, greeted all bowlers with a few words of encouragement and wished them good luck and high scores. After the last ball had been rolled and things had quieted down the winners were, First Place (men) Stan Wisinski (State Ct. Trustee), Grand Rapids with 768, and Marlene Fox of Fowler with 715 for the women. Each winner was presented with a purse and a trophy. Actual scores were won by Charles Wirth with 686 and Betty Roach with 611. Both were from St. Mary's Ct. 1903 Westphalia. There were ten places paid in each group as there were 111 entries.

Other state officers that bowled were Robert Trierweller (State Ct. Vice-Chief Ranger), Marvin Feldpausch (State Ct. Trustee), and Sylvester Thelen (Field Representative).

The accomplishments of the Fowler Eagles seems to be the dominant topic of discussion these days and sports fans in the area want to talk of nothing else. Earl Frechen, left and Rod Finkbeiner take a basketball break to chat about their favorite squad.

Long time follower of high school sports events, especially in the Fowler area is Alvin Fox who's sure that if the Eagles get past Portland St. Pat's in the districts, the other teams better "watch out."

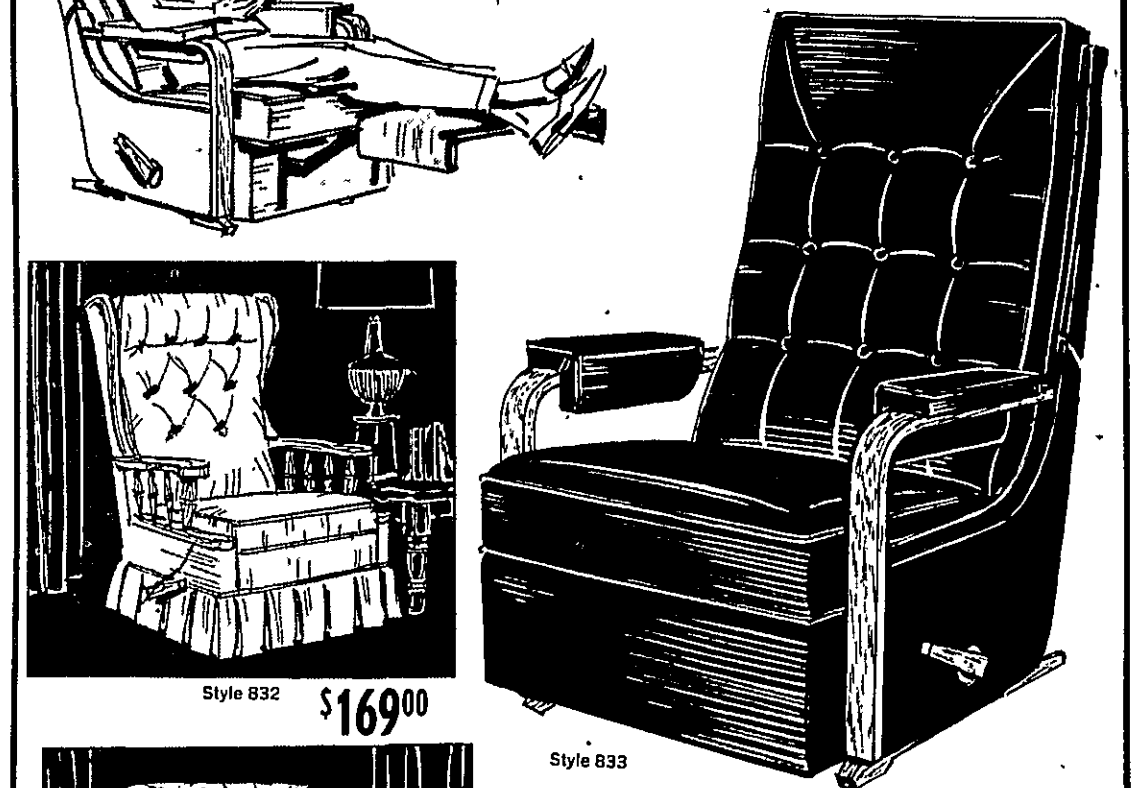

"They've got a good team," is Luke Becker's simple explanation for the Eagles' successes this year. And he adds with a note of pride, "They work hard at it."

Trierweiler looks at the Districts

"It takes a lot of luck," Fowler Coach Charles Trierweiler says of the district tournaments. "If you have one off night, you're sitting on the sidelines."

But despite Friday night's loss to DeWitt, Trierweiler has a lot more going for him than luck.

"I've got 15 good ball players and they've just lacked a chance to play," he said. "If I could play all 15 at once..."

"They're all pretty well balanced, I think that's the secret."

At forward in Fowler's starting lineup are Bill Armbrustmacher and Jerome Pohl.

Armbrustmacher is a senior, who also started last year, his first year on the varsity.

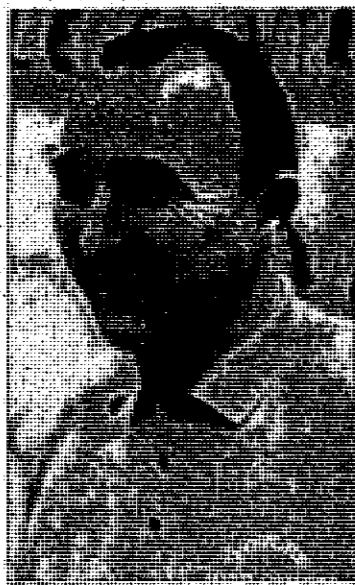

"He's got a real good move to the bucket and he shoots well from the outside," says Trierweiler.

"These kids are all unselfish," he added, "and sometimes Billy tends to overpass."

"Jerome's our top rebounder," Trierweiler says about Pohl. "He played as a sophomore last year. He had a knee operation and did get off to a slow start."

At center for the Eagles is Jon Mathews, a junior who started part time last year.

"Jon still hasn't broken loose

COACH TRIERWEILER

"He's the main ball handler," said Trierweiler.

The other guard Neil Thelen, a junior also started last year as a sophomore.

"Last year he made mistakes," said Trierweiler, "but this year he's eliminated these mistakes. He's a real good ball player."

Sometimes in the starting lineup is Keith Thelen, who alternates at center with Mathews.

"He'll be in there a good half of the game," says Trierweiler. "He's starting to come on lately and you'll get a chance to see him in the tournaments."

"Real steady" Trierweiler says about Ed Pung, a junior who fills in frequently at both guard and forward.

"He throws in a bucket here and there and he's a good rebounder."

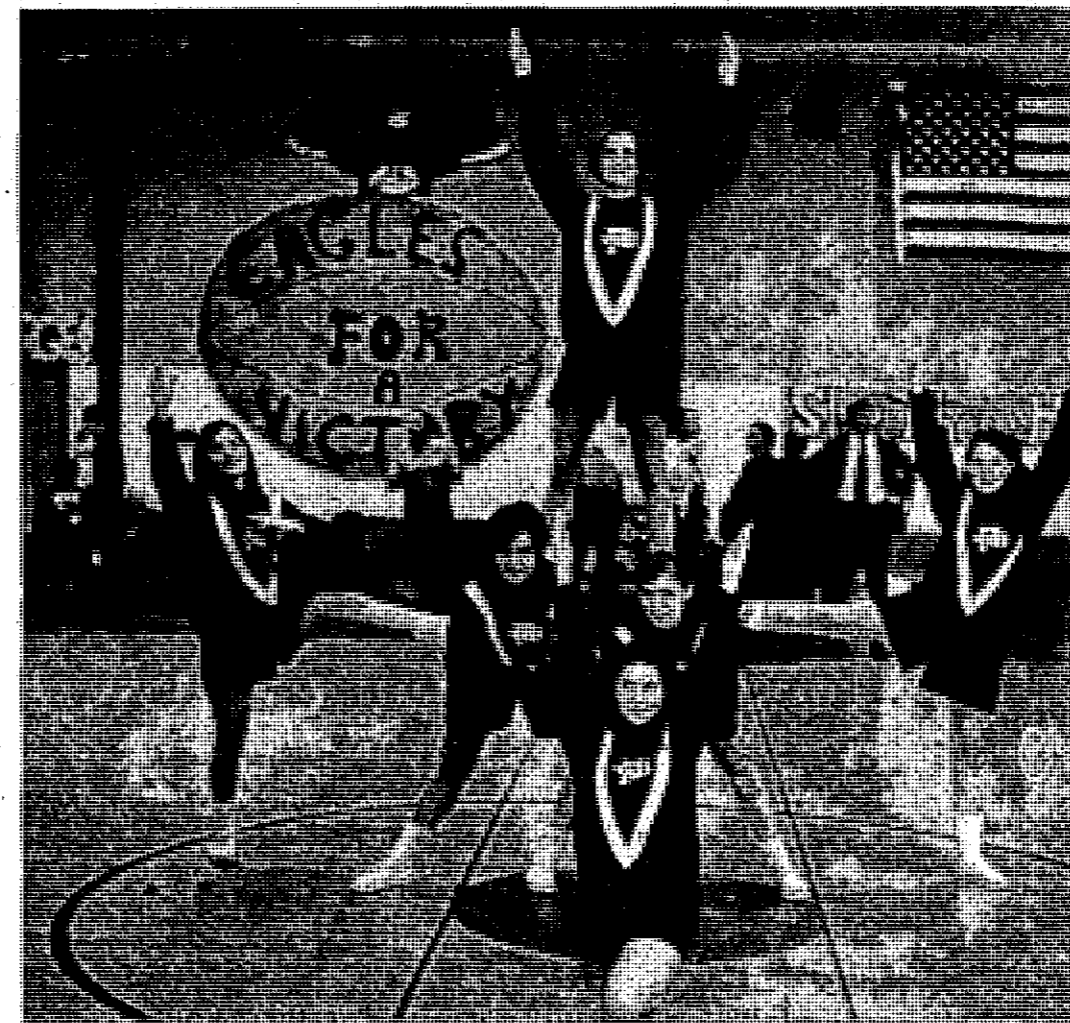

Trierweiler has been head coach at Fowler since the 1964-65 season and considers this team potentially one of Fowler's best.

"But these districts are always toughest," he said, "we've played them twice and they know everything we run."

The Eagles open district play tonight at Potterville against Portland St. Patrick—the team they dethroned from the state's No. 1 ranking.

and started shooting the way he's capable of," says Trierweiler. "His jumping ability has helped and he's our second highest rebounder."

The two starting guards on the team are Don Koenigsknecht, a senior, and Neil Thelen.

"Defensively, if we have an outstanding player, it's Donny Koenigsknecht."

"He's so quick you can't possibly play him tight. Once he gets half a step, he's gone."

Bumper power

There's more than a little pride over their basketball team in Fowler these days. Even with an election coming up, the bumper sticker business is thriving on basketball instead of politics.

You've gotta have heart

Fowler cheerleader Judy Feldpausch reflects one of the highlights of the season a couple of weeks ago when her Eagles defeated Webberville to clinch the Central Michigan Athletic Conference basketball title.

Hey, coach, that tickles

Coach Charles Trieweiler and Dave Rossow find something funny about taping an ankle. But the laugh has been on most all of Fowler's opponents this season as the Eagles posted a 16-1 season mark.

The bi-weekly meeting of the Men's Art Club of St. Johns provides an opportunity for members to relax and share their mutual interest in the hobby of painting. As Warren Anderson and Jerry Johns, seated, dabble at their evening's work, Bill Morris and John Hannah, standing, listen to Charlie Coletta explain the finer points of his brushwork.

Painting and conversation

Men's Art Club offers a casual combination

If you're a man and you're looking for freedom of expression—both vocal and artistic—read on.

If you're tired of belonging to groups which require membership dues, attendance, committee reports and work, then you're in line as a prospective member of the most loosely knit organization in St. Johns—or maybe the state, for that matter.

In fact, the St. Johns Men's Art Club is so loosely knit that it's sometimes difficult to know exactly where their next meeting will be, but somehow, honorary president Warren Anderson gets the bi-weekly work spread and on alternate Wednesday nights a half-dozen members congregate somewhere for an evening of paint-throwing.

There might be a bear or two to hone the creative spirits, but the attraction that draws the groups together is a mutual interest in the hobby of painting . . . and conversation; which is usually enlivened by Bill Morris, who fellow members say has a remarkable capacity for keeping the vocal cords and the paint brush in perfect unison, and his efforts in both categories add much to each gathering.

THE GROUP was initially formed some ten or 11 years ago and through that span of time the names of many St. Johns dabblers have been linked with the group. At present among the more regularly attending members are Charlie Coletta, Jerry Johnson, Ron Huard, John Hannah and Joe Yurek. Anderson and Morris, of course, are among the usual group and periodically other "transients" drift in and out of meetings.

Like other rules governing the club,—"rules" is the word—those outlining meetings are as loose as some of the works of the members. Meetings have no definite starting or ending times and the usual formalities associated with meetings are nonexistent.

The gatherings seem to get underway after a few of the members tire of discussing the topics of the day and someone casually suggests, "Well, maybe it's about time to splash some paint."

If there are such things as membership "orders" that statement probably comes the closest.

Johnson, who specializes in pen and ink drawings has completed several scenes and portraits in recent weeks; Hannah, who's discovered the velvet touch of acrylics, has completed a scene as viewed through a window of his cabin at Paradise Lake and Coletta a pastoral scene. Morris continues his pursuit of the perfect life-form and at present Anderson is working toward the completion of football action; a picture which his fellow members swear depicts more than the usual number of players.

And that's the way it goes, every other Wednesday. If a break from routine is what you're looking for grab your brushes and appear at the next meeting . . . that is if you can find out where it'll be.

Center Circle and Spring Creek Circle will meet together this month on Tuesday, March 10 on Center Circle guest day at the home of Mrs. Rollin Noble for a 1 p.m. luncheon.

No matter how it's collected . . . running into covered buckets, plastic bags or running through plastic tubes into holding tanks . . . about 40 gallons of sap makes one gallon of maple syrup.

The premium price you pay for pure maple syrup includes the cost of labor for tapping trees, hauling sap and boiling down to syrup, and cost of fuel, equipment, and packaging.

More changes have taken place in the maple industry since 1954 than in the last century. For example:

Leading sap directly from the tap-hole to storage tank through plastic tubing.

Development of centralized evaporator plants, capable of serving all producers in a whole maple-sap-producing community.

Better quality control of syrup for a more uniform product with better keeping qualities.

United States grades show the quality of maple syrup as: Fancy grade—clear, light amber in color and has a mild maple flavor. Demand for fancy grade is often greater than supply, so buy it in the spring when it is in abundant supply.

Grade 1—somewhat darker in color and may be cloudier than Fancy grade.

Grade 2—used chiefly in extracts or blending with other sweeteners in making "maple flavored" products.

Michigan ranks sixth nationally in maple syrup production.

Available for you from your Cooperative Extension Service office is an interesting bulletin filled with information on Maple Syrup, home-made. Ask for it by this name—there is no charge.

Favorite maple recipes are included; one for maple fudge, maple pralines, maple pulled candy and a fourth for old-fashioned buttermilk pancakes.

Open Letter from VAN W. HOAG

Dear friends, Have you heard someone say, "We see nothing of each other when alive, why should I visit after someone is gone?" The time of death is no time to be giving expression of inner guilt feelings by outward omissions. The bereaved need all the comfort and support they can receive from relatives and friends. This means their physical presence as an expression of compassion and love, both at the funeral service and during the trying days thereafter.

Respectfully,

Van W. Hoag

It's another title for Wings

By RON KARLE
Editor

There was much happiness in the St. Johns dressing room Friday night.

And there was ample reason for such goings-on considering; —A co-championship with Waverly in the West Central Conference.

—A 15-1 season record (13-1 in the conference).

—A 107-59 victory over Lakewood to end regular season play—the second 100-plus win for the Redwings this season.

—Five players in double figures.

—The return of Chuck Green to the lineup amid a standing ovation after a five-week absence because of a painful back injury.

—And a new offensive hero: Guard Rich Stoddard who bolstered the offense with his season high output of 19 points.

"The kids worked well tonight," said Japinga. "Just beautiful."

In the first half, St. Johns fired in 66 points—33 in each period—to lead by 39 at the half, 66-27.

Midway through the third quarter the Wings opened a 50-point lead and at the end of the period led by 64 points, 92-38 before taking a 59-point lead early in the fourth period.

And with about two minutes left in the game, Brian Carpenter hit on a jumper from the corner to crack the 100-point mark.

When asked how he felt on that one, Carpenter said, "Surprised."

"I knew we were close," he said. "I knew when I heard the yell and then I saw the scoreboard."

Green, who played for only about two minutes was all smiles as he climbed out of a brace.

"I felt pretty good," he said. "I just wanted to play, I didn't care for how long—I just wanted to play."

When asked his reaction to the standing ovation when he trotted out on the floor, Green said, "I was surprised. It was worth it just for that."

"I'll be ready for the tourney," he added, "My back feels good."

Although his playing time was brief, Green appeared to be going all out. On one particular play under the boards, he jumped and twisted in mid-air and came down with the ball.

Another happy fellow was Stoddard, who has been starting in the backcourt with Dave Gaffney since Green's injury.

Commenting on his 19-point effort, Stoddard said, "I was just open on the fast breaks. They got it to me and I just put it in."

"If we play (in the tournaments) like we played tonight, we can take them," he added. "We have to play one at a time. They're all up for the tournaments."

"We'll be up for Alma," said Bob Rehmann, one of the five in double figures with 14. "We'll just go out and run them like last time. We want Stoddard and Gaffney to do the job again. A lot depends on those two guys. They put the pressure on up front."

As has not been uncommon this season, Dean Elsler paced the Redwing attack, this time with 23 points. Elsler and Roger Davis shared honors for grabbing rebounds, each with 13.

Rounding out players in double figures were Gaffney with 15 and Davis with 11.

In the first period, St. Johns built an 11-0 lead with less than two minutes gone. Then the Vikings hit a three-minute scoreless spell later in the period while the Wings poured in 11 to lead by 10 points, 26-7.

On one particular play during that spree, Elsler picked off a pass from Gaffney while in mid-air under the boards, twisted and got off the shot before his feet touched the floor for two points. Early in the second period,

St. Johns opened a 20-point lead, 36-16, and with about a minute left in the half, the Wings had doubled that to 40 points, 65-25.

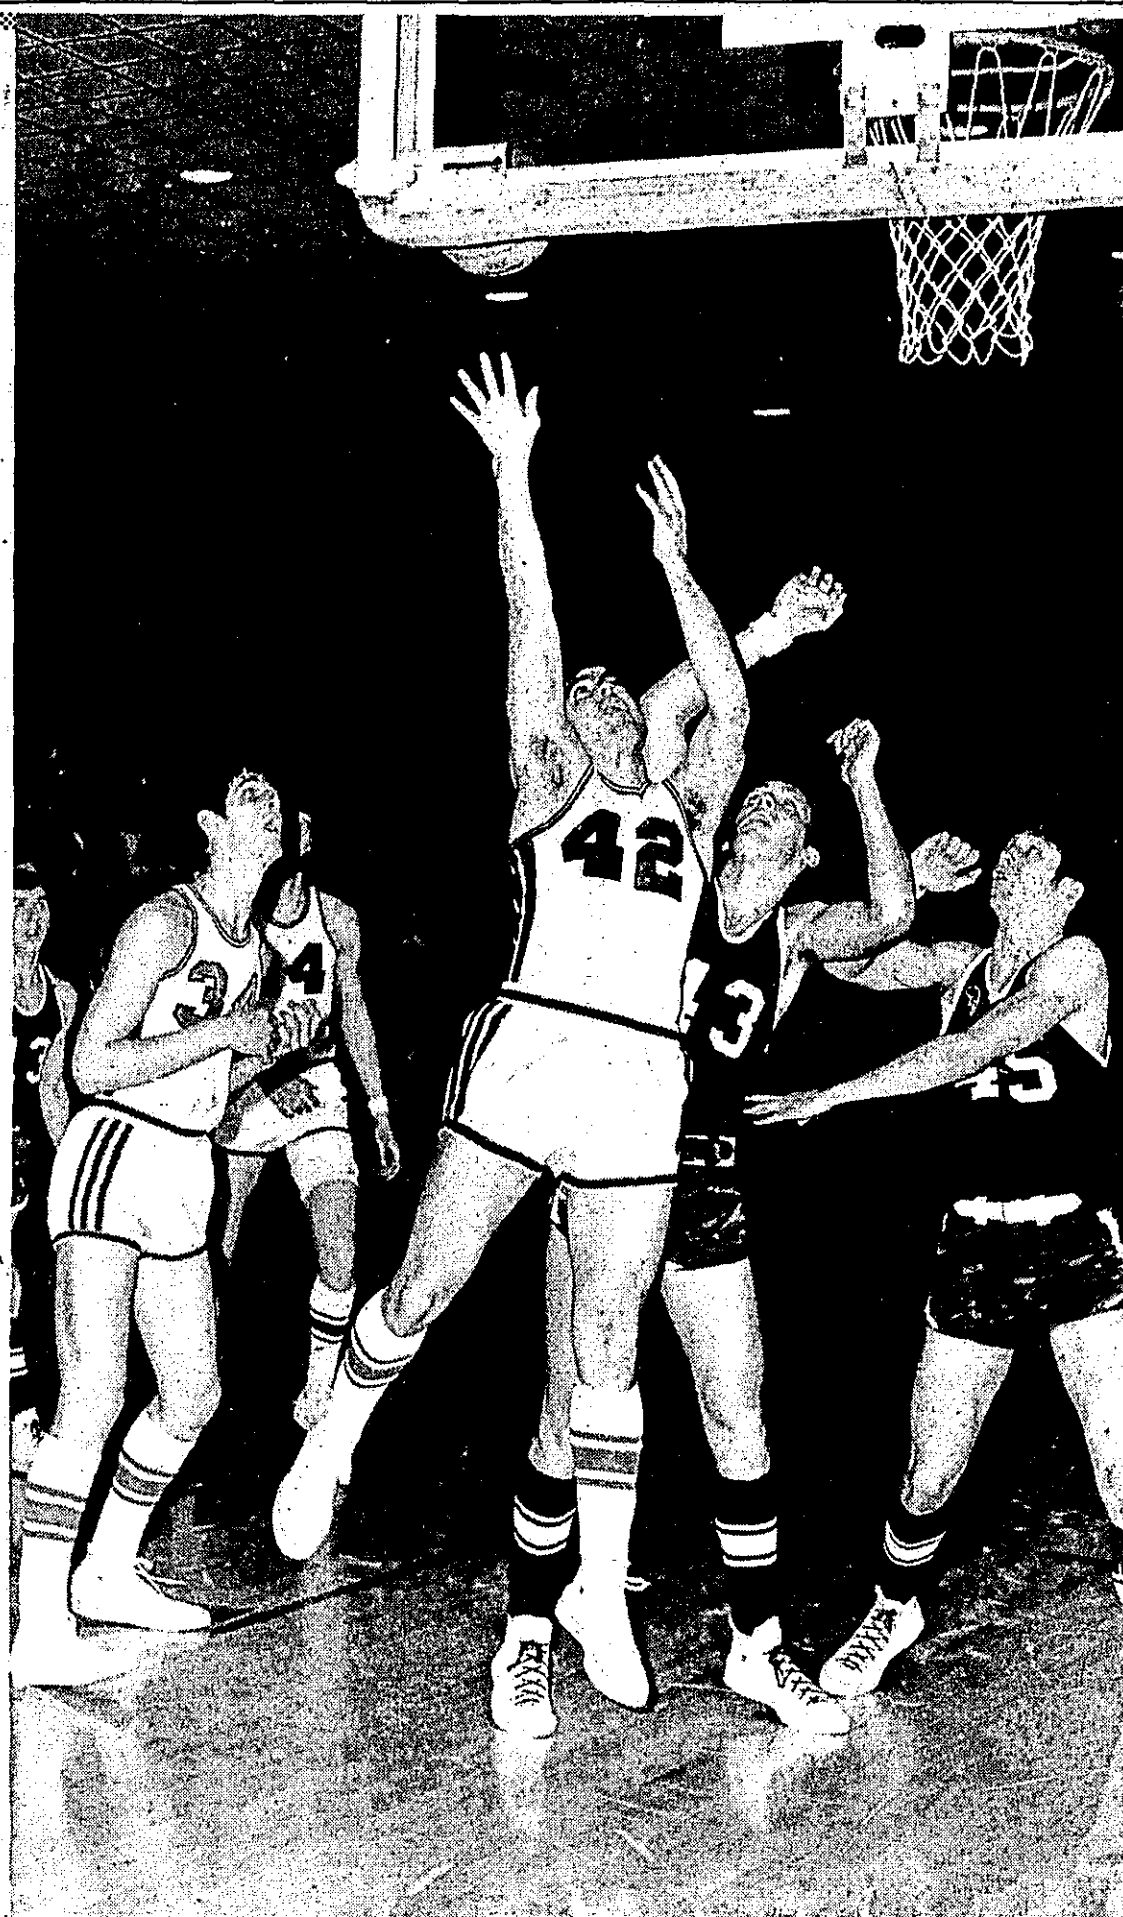

Stoddard was especially hot in that quarter, picking up 13 of his 19 points. When he was taken out with 1:48 to go, Redwing fans showed their appreciation with another standing ovation.

In the first two minutes of the third, with Gaffney showing excellent passing and defensive efforts, St. Johns added 10 more, including two points when Gaffney stole a pass, hit Rehmann under the boards who missed but Stoddard was right there for the rebound.

With 43 seconds left in the period, Green made his appearance and was in until 6:52 of the final quarter. Moments later Terry Nobis hit for two points to give the Redwings a 59-point lead—their biggest of the night.

Mike Brown made it 99-47 at 2:35 when he hit on a 15-foot swisher from the corner.

And 32 seconds later, Carpenter brought the crowd off the bleachers once again when he made it 101-51.

St. Johns JVs lose finale to Lakewood

A scrappy Lakewood JV club battled back to overcome an early St. Johns advantage Friday and finally defeated the Junior Redwings, 66-55.

St. Paul falls to P-W, 54-46

Pewamo-Westphalia Head Coach Harry Peacock says he's "pretty satisfied" with what he terms a rebuilding year.

None theless, the Pirates, who closed out the regular season with a 54-46 win over Owosso St. Paul Friday, made a very respectable showing.

P-W, with a 10-4 mark in the Central Michigan Athletic Conference, finished in the three-way tie for second in the league, sharing honors with DeWitt and Portland St. Pat.

The Pirates, who finished with a 10-7 record overall, managed to defeat DeWitt twice, Portland St. Pat's once and gave No. 1 ranked Fowler a pretty good battle.

Against St. Paul, John Bengel paced the Pirate attack with 15 points, while Don Pohl and Allen Smith added 11 each.

O-E prepares St. Louis for district tourney

The Ovid-Elsie Marauders baited St. Louis toward the St. Johns district basketball tournaments next Wednesday by tripling the Sharks last Friday night by a 12-point margin, 88-76.

Led by Rick Stambersky's 23 points and Cal Woodward's 22, the Marauders avenged an earlier loss to St. Louis which was decided by a double overtime and cost the O-E squad a chance to share the Mid-Michigan B League championship.

A third meeting of the two squads will be tonight (Wednesday) in St. Johns and will come as part of the district tournament playoffs.

The loss was only the second of the season for St. Louis which goes into the tourney with a 14-2 record. O-E will enter the playoffs with a 9-6 regular season mark.

Friday night's game was highlighted by the Marauder's hot shooting. Supporting Stambersky and Woodward were Dan Bowles and Mark Case, each with 12 points. The entire team shot at a 54 per cent clip for the evening.

'We got beat by a good ballclub' - - Trierweiler

DeWitt's game plan against Fowler: 'to win'

By BOB CALVERLEY
News Staff Writer

Coach Frank Deak of DeWitt only disclosed a sparse outline of his game plan before Friday night's game at Fowler.

"We're going to win," he said. "And the plan worked pretty good as DeWitt Panthers knocked off the number one ranked Fowler Eagles 64-59."

The Panthers got off to an early lead, taking the first jump ball down to the Eagles' basket for two points. Fowler spent the rest of the game trying to catch up.

At the end of the first quarter Fowler was six points down but began to rally.

In a second quarter comeback flurry Bill Armbrustmacher stole the ball twice in a row from DeWitt and scored both times. Don Koenigsnecht stole it again to make it three baskets in a row.

But the Eagles still trailed at halftime, 30-26.

The Eagles managed to tie the score in the third quarter and at the 3:40 mark of the fourth quarter they pulled ahead briefly.

DeWitt played its strongest game in the fourth quarter—especially at the end—and stifled the Eagles' rally.

Although they averaged 41 per cent for the game, the Panthers managed to make seven of 11 shots from the floor in the crucial fourth quarter.

Fowler shot 43 per cent from the floor.

"We only gave them 44 shots," explained Deak after the game.

The Panthers got off 20 more shots and netted six more field goals to nullify Fowler's better field goal average.

Touchdown? At times the DeWitt-Fowler game took on the appearance of a football game. This unidentified Panther exemplified the all-out effort of the DeWitt club which handed the top-ranked Eagles its first loss of the season, 64-59. Looking like he's ready to pounce on his adversary is Fowler's Jon Mathews.

DeWitt's aggressive defense stole the ball from Fowler 22 times during the game. "They couldn't keep up with us," said DeWitt's guard Marty Langford describing the edge DeWitt had over the Eagles. "They came to us and you never let them get ahead," Deak told his team.

He termed the upset "a real team effort."

"We just didn't play that well," said Charlie Trierweiler Fowler's coach.

Trierweiler disagreed that the loss, after 16 straight victories, would help give his team incentive for the upcoming tournaments.

"I don't think it helps to lose," he said.

"It's no disgrace to get beat by that ball club," he added. "We got beat by a good ball club." Fowler finishes the regular season with a 16-1 mark, and 13-1 in the Central Michigan Athletic Conference. They clinched the conference title two weeks ago. The Eagles meet Portland St. Pat's in their first tournament match tonight, at Potterville.

DeWitt's upset victory gave them a share of second place in the CMAC with Portland and Pewamo-Westphalia.

DeWitt played Bath, at DeWitt in their first tournament game Monday.

Future water use, disposal challenges budget

Water and its routing for use and disposal continues to challenge St. Johns city officials.

On one hand lies the estimates of future demand; on the other sets the harassment of families whose basements periodically become catch basins for backed-up storm sewers.

Things aren't too bad about this time of the year but with the advent of spring thaws followed by rains and summer downpours commissioners are already readying their replies to irate homeowners. The stock answer: Money.

Since the cutback to the ten mill levy provided by the original city charter, the city has watched the steady erosion of funds and a sediment of crumbling services and facilities. Among this growing list is the water problem.

Perhaps the most widely recognized difficulty comes from the periodic basement flooding which occurs at various areas of the city following heavy rainfall.

One of the principal reasons for this backflow of water stems from the fact that a number of bottlenecks exist in the storm sewer system including several points where the system actually becomes part of the sanitary sewer.

THIS ALONE causes extreme difficulty during times of heavy rainfall because the southside lift station and treatment plant itself cannot handle the sudden surge of water created by rainstorms.

In a report submitted to city commission by City Manager Harvey Weatherwax in October 1969 he pointed out that during the preceding year the sewer plant capacity of one million gallons per day was exceeded 84 times.

At one point, during May 1969, 2,460,000 gallons of water were put through the plant in a 24 hour period; almost 1.5 million gallons over capacity.

An average day will see approximately 814,300 gallons of water flow through the sewage treatment plant, a figure which represents about 81.4 per cent of the plant's capacity.

Weatherwax estimates that by alleviating 75 per cent of the storm water from the sanitary sewer system the daily average could be dropped to 750,000 gallons or 75 per cent of plant capacity.

Even at this reduced rate, the digester segment of the plant, which breaks down solid wastes, would not be operating at peak efficiency. However, Weatherwax indicated no serious difficulties would be likely for the next few years or until such a time that storm waters could be eliminated entirely.

Citing the 84 days of excess water inflow at the treatment plant, Weatherwax pointed out the health dangers involved. "From the Michigan State Health Department's standpoint, every day that we exceed the plant capacity it lowers the plant efficiency approximately the same as not treating any sewage for a week," he explained.

"WE CAN TAKE only so much inflow. The rest backs up into the wet well and the sewers. Some overflows into the creek, but we know where the rest goes. Into people's basements." Weatherwax has recommended some initial steps to locate sources of storm water runoff, but as nominal as the cost is, commissioners are reluctant to embark on a program.

On the other side of the water coin—distribution of the stuff—the city is again facing future difficulties. These difficulties, however, will come to the surface as problems of supplying sufficient water to meet demands of a socially and economically expanding community.

One of the goals of Weatherwax and water superintendent Stan Toburen, who compiled current data on the city's system, is that of completing a water main loop which provides perimeter service around the city. Such an installation will allow for water service to lands abutting the city's present boundaries and provide for future growth.

In a report to the city commission Weatherwax described areas where mains are needed. Even then his estimated costs include only laid pipe and exclude fire hydrants, services or valves.

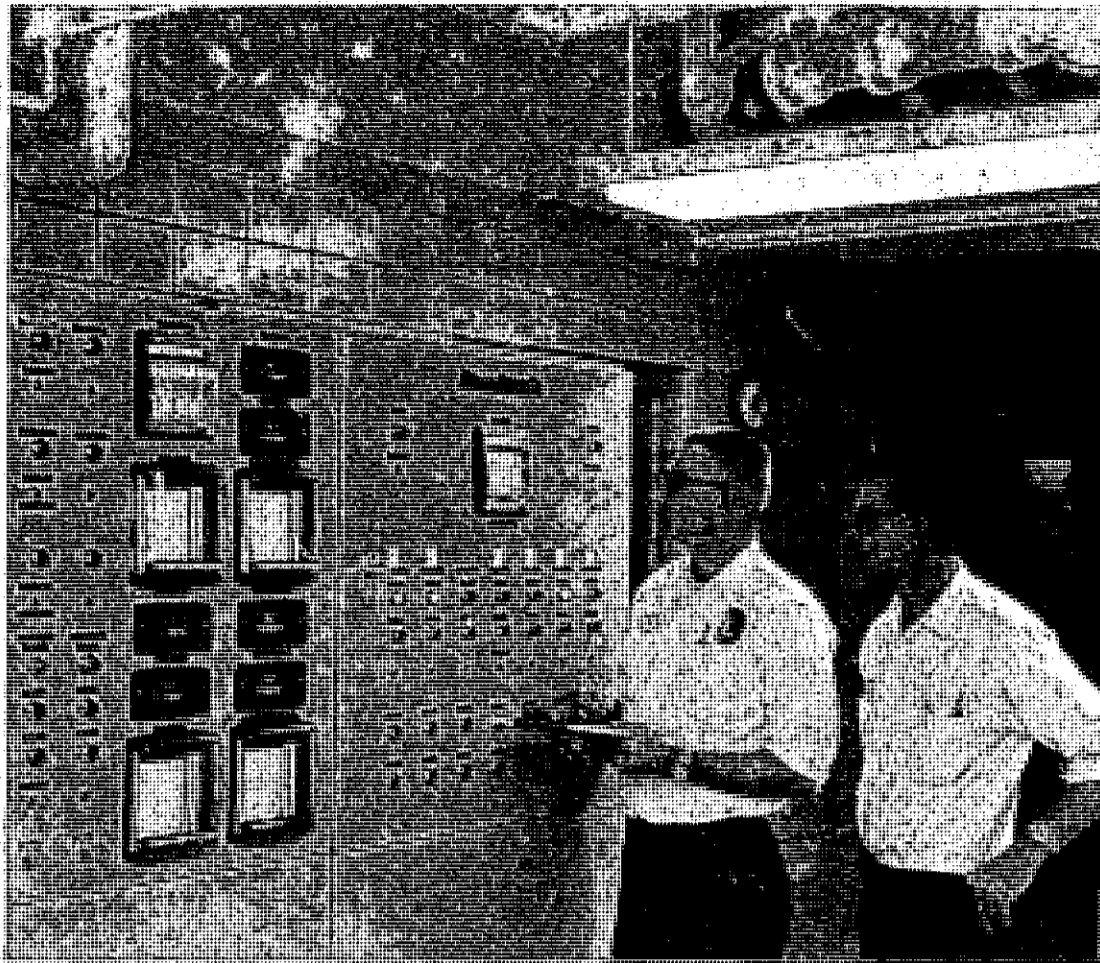

HIS ESTIMATES and areas where service is needed appears in an adjoining chart.

In addition to proposing the needs of the city, Weatherwax emphasized the importance of city officials to have a plan "or else we might as well close the door and go home," he said.

To supplement the proposed plans for additional water service throughout the city, Weatherwax presented a report from the federal government which shows the receding water table in the St. Johns area which in itself suggests future needs for deeper wells.

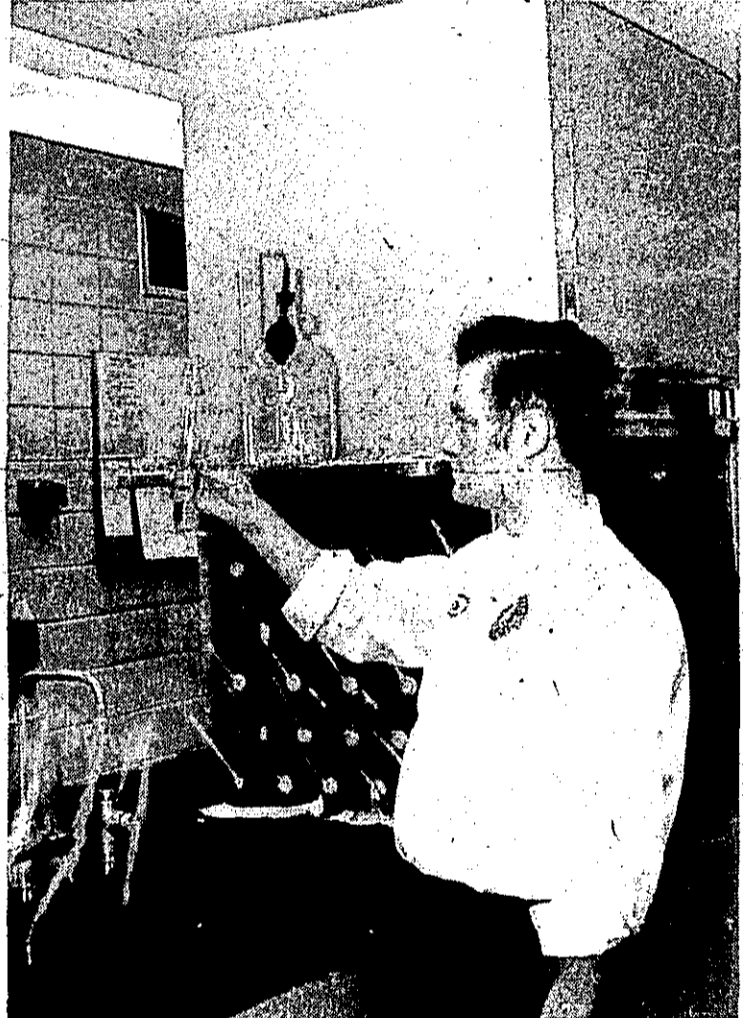

Here again, needs of the city have been neglected in recent years because of insufficient revenue. Under normal budget conditions, many of the present difficulties may never have occurred or, if they did, would be of less critical nature than presently.

The difficulties of eliminating and providing water may continue to plague members of the city's official staff in theory, but the realities of the problems will impressively appear to citizens—most likely in their basements.

Constant checking of water samples throughout the day is part of the work of the crew at the city plant. Here Stan Toburen conducts a test to insure purity.

YMCA program at city pool shows cash excess

A summary of operations at the Clinton Memorial Swimming Pool in St. Johns was released last week by YMCA Assistant Physical Director Larry Scramlin showing the year to be among the more successful of recent times.

According to the report, the year ended with an actual cash excess of $2,53 over expenses of $10,209.22. The surplus contrasted greatly with the previous year's loss of $754.96.

Total expenditures, exceed the proposed budget of the year by only $769.22 and much of the success of the financial picture comes from the programs implemented by the YMCA's participation in the pool's operation.

Scramlin termed the 1969 swimming year "a success" and stated that the YMCA was "happy to have been a part of it."

Participation in the youth classes at the pool reflected an increase of 174 persons over 1968 when there were 901 students.

General admissions into the pool also showed a sizable increase, jumping from 10,400 in 1968 to 12,800 during the past year.

Other activities also accounted for wide participation:

—Swim team: 35 boys and girls participated in a series of swimming meets during July and August.

—Aquatic club: 15 members, ages 11 to 15, gave interested youth an opportunity to earn free swimming by helping around pool for three hours each week.

—Pool authorities cooperated with local children's home and the 4-H Club to provide free swimming.

According to Dr Herbert Oakley, a general fund surplus from pool operations exists and money from this surplus will be directed toward improvements for the coming season. He indicated that a full report on the pool will be presented this spring.

Be smart - - check food-buying techniques

Anytime of year is a good time to check on your food buying habits. Are you a smart shopper? When you go shopping, do you read the label on the food package you buy? You should, for the labels are the windows of the cans and boxes your groceries come in. Hash, for instance, usually contains meat and potatoes. But some kinds contain potatoes and meat. Same difference? Far from it. The label that reads "meat and potatoes" tells you the main ingredient is meat. The other label tells you you're getting more potatoes than meat. But if you don't read the label you will never know - and you may even pay the same price for both cans without getting the same value. And when do you read the label? Before you put the product into the shopping cart, so you will know what you're getting when you get it.

Canned meats vary from brand to brand, but it is still possible to compare them. Some canned meats are all beef, some all ham, some are made of the chopped pork shoulder. But no matter what's inside, the label tells the story in the list of ingredients. The first ingredient listed is the one present in the largest amount while the last listed ingredient is present in the least amount. Read the label and know what you're buying. It will pay in terms of economy, flavor and taste.

We have been buying and enjoying canned soups for 40 years. They might be called the granddaddies of convenience foods. It may surprise you to know that some canned soups cost no more today than when they were introduced 40 years ago - and that the average price of all canned soups has risen only four per cent in the last 15 years. This is good news at a time when food prices are very much on our minds.

If you are planning to bring home some bacon this week then be economical and buy according to how you plan to use it. Ends and pieces are penny savers. They're ideal for seasoning casseroles, salads, omelets, soups and for turning into sandwich fillings. Usually sold in bulk, the package weighs from one to five pounds. Bacon squares are another way to get bacon flavor at low cost. These are small end squares of slab bacon, five to eight inch squares, cut from the jowl. Either way they're less expensive choices to stretch the food dollar.

The most popular fruits in the United States - measured by the dollars spent for them in grocery stores - are citrus fruits, bananas, and apples. In that order. Potatoes are the number one fresh vegetable by the dollar yardstick. All of these good foods are in plentiful supply now in area stores and prices are attractive too.

Very soon apples bearing the two small letters C-A on the bag will appear in the area stores. C-A indicates that the apples have been held in controlled atmosphere storage rooms and that the quality is likely to be very much like that of October fresh apples. Take time to look for the C-A on the bag next time you buy apples - it's time well spent.

So anytime of year is a good time to check on your food buying habits. Check up on yourself - are you a smart food shopper?

30 merchants assist student co-op program

A high school co-op program at St. Johns is getting a boost next week thanks to 30 of the city's 250 merchants who are offering their time, experience and knowledge of the business world to students interested in such careers.

The occasion is Michigan Careers in Distribution Week which has the support of the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce, Mayor Robert Wood and Gov. Milliken.

The 30 students, all members of a retailing class taught by Richard Bolyard at St. Johns High School, will be placed with merchants in downtown stores for three days—March 11, 12 and 13—during their class period.

It is expected they will spend time with the owner or manager on the first day, with the assistant manager on the second day and perhaps with someone connected with financial affairs, such as a bookkeeper or cashier, on the third day. "They might spend some time outside the three-day period working on display windows," says Bolyard.

Under another program with Bolyard, four students have been placed in such positions since the beginning of fall term. These students received school credit for this on-the-job training and are paid by the merchants.

Students in the program currently are working at Andy's IGA, Krogers and the A&P.

"We're trying to prepare these kids with saleable skills while they are still students in high school," says Bolyard.

Students involved in this program gain experience in window display, selling, inventory and other facets of retailing.

Bolyard next fall hopes to expand the program—now in what he terms "the experimental phase"—to include more merchants and students.

In the fall, he says, the school will offer courses in advertising, retailing, business management and salesmanship.

"We want to emphasize to the kids that they can find careers in these areas," says Bolyard. "We hope to get kids who are not going to college into management programs after graduation."

He also feels such programs will be very helpful to students who do go on to college to study business and retailing.

Teens often get behind the 8-ball by taking the wrong cue.

In spring, homemaker's thoughts turn to cleaning

Bright sun-shiny days with a hint of spring in the air turn homemaker's thoughts to sprucing up floors, walls, windows and furnishings. But overall care is a year-round task.

Upholstered pieces are subject to two main kinds of soil - the ordinary grime and dust that is always in the air and the atmospheric soil or oily type soil resulting from cooking, heating systems, automobile fumes and such. Of course there is the "accident" soil too, coming from spilled foods or other materials.

They require different care than that of which we are thinking of today.

In spite of the many special finishes designed to resist soil, periodic care is a must. This includes weekly vacuuming, special cleaning occasionally and, as already indicated, immediate care of spots and stains. (For the latter you might like to contact your Cooperative Extension Office and ask for the publication No. 62 Removing Stains from Fabrics. There is no charge.)

Though weekly care can be done with a good whisk broom, a vacuum is usually more satisfactory. Some experts do recommend the whisk broom for down-filled cushions, however. The furniture brush attachment of the vacuum and the crevice tool will take care of both the surface fabric, and those deep-down hard-to-get-at places. These include the platform beneath cushions, welting, and crevices between arms and back of seat. Don't forget to clean the outside back of the chair, lounge or sofa, too.

By LORRAINE SPRAGUE
Extension Home Economist

"Dulled colors and dark areas beginning to appear probably indicate atmospheric soil in excess. Such signs are most likely to appear on the arms or headrest. Act now - don't wait for the soil to penetrate the fabric.

If you decide to do this special cleaning job yourself you have a choice of three basic cleaning methods: detergent and water solution, absorbent powders, or dry cleaners. You need to check out a few details before starting the job and deciding which method to use. Check for color fastness; will the cushion filling shrink? what is needed for special fabrics such as velvet or other pile surfaces or metallic threads? Sometimes your answers may lead you to the service of a professional cleaner. Consider too that the cleaning will require effort, both mental and physical.

Solvents are never used on vinyl upholstery. Warm water and a mild detergent remove dust and grime. A clear warm water rinse, with thorough drying, completes the job.

Real leather is dry dusted; if necessary clean with mild pure soapsuds using as little water as possible. All traces of the suds should be wiped off with a clean damp cloth. A brisk polish, when the surface is dry, puts a soft natural luster back on the leather.

Individual Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q—My son graduated from high school and has started to work. If he lives at home, can we still claim him as a dependent?

A—The general rule is that you cannot claim anyone as a dependent who has income of $800 or more during the year. This rule does not apply to your own child if he is under 19 at year end or was a full-time student for any part of five calendar months of the year.

The other dependency tests must also be met. Among them is the requirement that you provide more than one-half your son's total support for the year.

Q—I was billed for additional income taxes. Can I pay this off in installments?

A—Full payment is due by the date stated on the bill. There is no provision in the law for paying these taxes on an installment basis.

Q—I lost my refund check and filled out a form for a new one over a month ago. What is holding it up?

A—Before another refund check can be issued, a thorough search must be made of Treasury records, the Post Office and other sources to see if the missing check can be located. When this search is completed another check can be issued.

Q—My son who is attending college is planning to take a job during the Christmas holiday. If his earnings go over $800, will that affect the exemption I claim for him?

A—If your son is under 19 at year-end or qualifies as a full-time student during five months of the year, his earnings will not cause you to lose the exemption you claim for him so long as you provide more than half his support.

Your son must file a return if he has gross income of $800 or more. He should also file a return if his income was less than $800, but taxes were withheld from his wages, in order to obtain a refund of these taxes.

Youth interests at Farm Week

By JOHN AYLWORTH

"Opportunities Unlimited" will be the theme for the youth program Wednesday, March 25 during the 1970 Farmers' Week Program at the Michigan State University Auditorium in East Lansing. Young people and parents will have an excellent opportunity to learn more about careers in natural resources, agribusiness and agriculture. Students interested in pollution, environmental quality, world food problems, etc., will find up-to-date career information available. Four-year degree programs and 18-month technical training programs will be explained.

The program includes a fast moving career program on professional careers in natural resources, agribusiness and agriculture at 10 a.m., a visit to many farmers' week displays at 11 a.m. and from 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. students will have a chance to see career exhibits, secure career information, view working on the county roadside and meet Miss Michigan.

The college is asking for applicants to who might attend so they can make arrangements for the activity. I would appreciate it if anyone is interested in attending that they contact the Extension Office by March 9.

The UpJohn Company, of Dalmar, is sponsoring a 4-H Vet Science and Health Understanding Day April 1. One of the objectives is to show the interrelationship of Vet Science with other animal projects and human health. The program includes a tour of the UpJohn plant, a tour of their Research farms, view exhibits, demonstrations and learn about health careers in Veterinary Science. The county is limited to a quota of five people. Anyone interested should contact the Extension Office before March 18th.

This year the 4-H clubs in Clinton County will again be working on the county roadside clean up project. Last year 27 clubs participated in the project -- "Operation Clean Sweep." They cleaned more than 250 miles of county roadways and hauled 70 pick-up loads of trash to the dump that people dropped or threw out along the roads. The 4-H youth have learned how much work it takes to keep it clean and they are not apt to be throwing litter along the road.

A planning meeting to set up the plans for this year's project "Eliminate Crud" will be held Monday, March 23 at 8 p.m. at the Central National Bank Community Room in St. Johns. All 4-H clubs are invited to participate in this beautification project. Other youth groups such as school, scouts, church, FFA, FHA and others are invited to join the 4-H'ers on this litter clean-up project. April 18 and May 2 have been the two dates set with the final decision coming at the March 23 meeting.

Although snow is on the ground, 4-H youth interested in vegetable and flower garden projects are urged to start looking through seed catalogs in planning what they will grow in this summer's project. Members are urged to draw a plan of their garden area and decide what variety of plants to grow. I suggest that everyone try something new this year that they have never grown before.

The county 4-H horticulture developmental committee met last week and set up several activities for the summer program. A 4-H leader training meeting is set for April 30 for horticulture leaders and teen leaders with Dr. Lee Taylor from Michigan State University. A 4-H Horticulture Day will be held on July 30th at Smith Hall in St. Johns with the morning program devoted to flowers. There will be a session on selecting specimens for show, preparing the plant for exhibit, transporting the exhibit and a flower arrangement demonstration. In the afternoon there will be an identification contest on vegetables, flowers, fruit and nuts in preparation for the state contest.

The committee is planning a Giant Pumpkin and Giant Sunflower Seed Contest for all horticulture members with the contest to be completed on Oct. 1. Prizes will be given to the largest and best pumpkins and sunflowers exhibits. This activity will be in connection with the regional and national contest sponsored by the National Garden Clubs of America. I have written for seeds and as soon as I receive the seeds and information, garden club leaders will receive the details.

The French's Corners 4-H club members were quite busy at their last meeting as they discussed the National 4-H Poster Contest, 4-H talent show, exchange to North Carolina, the litter clean-up activity, roller skating party and plans for the club's local achievements. Demonstrations were given by Debbie Butler on "Snowmobile Safety," Carol Hunter on "Primary and Secondary Colors," Jennifer Minsky on "How to Put in a Hen," Jack Woodhams on "What Can Be Done With a Snowmobile," Jeff Metz on "How to Make a Sanding Block," and Marcia Moz on "How to Mix Different Colors to Make Face Tones."

Worry is interest people pay on trouble before it comes due.

Chemicals challenged

The hottest political issue of 1970 is air, land and water pollution and use of farm chemicals, particularly pesticides.

Concern over our environment was a major topic of President Nixon's State of the Union message.

The major national weekly news magazines recently carried cover stories on the subject.

POLITICIANS of both parties are clamoring for a front-running position as champions against the enemies of our environment.

Students have more or less abandoned the Viet Nam war controversy in favor of the pollution and pesticide issue.

Even mother's milk has become suspect because of evidence of DDT.

IN THIS national atmosphere of political and emotional pressures, it is going to be difficult to maintain a calm, reasoned and factual approach to the use of farm chemicals.

Some of those who have been caught up in the wave of mass hysteria are demanding a complete ban on the use of pesticides.

MOST of those advocating such an extreme measure know little if anything about the stringent state and federal controls on the use of farm chemicals or of the continuing testing and research to assure the American consumer of a safe food supply. These people seem to forget that farmers are consumers too and are well aware of the dangers involved in the improper use of farm chemicals on their crops.

Farmers themselves, through their own organizations, have supported biological pest control research to determine where biological control measures can be used as a practical and feasible substitute for chemical controls.

Until such substitutes are found, it would seem reasonable that continued use of farm chemicals be based on a product-by-product and use-by-use basis with continued emphasis on their proper use.

Ag Dept. offers crop insurance

The application period for Federal Crop Insurance protection on corn, soybeans and wheat is now open and Clinton County farmers can help eliminate the uncertainty for their 1970 crops by participating in the low-cost U.S. Department of Agriculture's All-Risk Insurance program administered by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC).

FCIC Field Representative George Schleder from the district office in Lansing, said that Clinton County is one of 23 Michigan counties where for more than 30 years FCIC has protected several thousands of corn, soybean, and wheat producers from losses when yields fell below policy guarantees due to natural hazards such as drought, insects, hail, freeze, excessive moisture, and many other weather factors.

Schleder also noted that farm technology has pushed yields and production costs to higher levels with sharp changes taking place in farm programs and policies with no indication that these changes have yet stabilized. In fact, there are a number of people connected with agribusiness who are pointing toward the ever increasing instance of the larger farmers renting and/or leasing both land and equipment to gain the needed money vital to today's farming. The basic problems in agriculture remain, but the "cost-price squeeze" of modern farming has shortened the road to farm failure.

"FCIC will help stabilize the individual farming operations and provide for the return of dollars invested in the crops when failure occurs, enhances credit ratings, and allows for secured borrowing," said Schleder. Producers may reach Schleder at his district office for further details on the program.

EXTENSION REPORT
Extra harvest
By GEORGE McQUEEN

After selecting your best alfalfa variety, make three or more cuttings and topdress, especially with potassium.

This practice can increase your yield about 20 per cent and give you an extra ton per acre.

Earlier cutting of the first crop permits three harvests instead of two in this part of Michigan.

In Michigan State University research, topdressing with 0450460 annually increased average yields from 4.1 to five tons in three four-year experiments—a 21 per cent increase in yield.

On most alfalfa soils that test low to medium in potassium, 150 pounds of potash (K2O) is needed each year to maintain yields of five tons or more per acre.

Taking three cuttings also pays off because the first cutting doesn't lodge by late May or early June. This reduces field losses and makes haying easier.

More frequent cuttings gives finer, leafier, more digestible hay. Animals eat more of it, especially the first cutting, and produce more meat and milk from it.

MSU laboratory research shows that the feeding value of fertilized alfalfa cut three times a year was 48 per cent greater than the same variety unfertilized and cut only twice.

Other crop production practices on alfalfa and other crops will be discussed in a three-day crop Short Course. Dates to note and attend in Smith Hall from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. are Wednesdays, March 11, 18, and 25.

Weevil spray essential

Spraying for the alfalfa weevil will be absolutely essential to good yields in southern Michigan this year.

By making the first cutting between May 20-30, you may be able to get by without spraying this cutting. But farmers in southern Michigan will have to spray immediately after the first cutting if there are signs of weevil damage.

Exact recommendations for alfalfa weevil control are available through the County Cooperative Extension Service office or by writing for Extension Bulletin No. 639, "Alfalfa Weevil Control," Box 231, East Lansing 48823.

Details will be presented as part of a three-day crop Short Course in Smith Hall. Meetings last from 10:30 to 3:30 on March 11, 18 and 25.

8 million trees planted thru ACP

In 1969 approximately eight thousand acres of open land were reforested with eight million pines and hardwoods.

Nick Smith, Chairman of the Michigan ASCS Committee, says the majority of all trees planted were cost-shared through the Agricultural Conservation Program.

Land owners that have open spaces which could be covered with trees or wild life shrubbery should contact their local ASCS office and file a request for cost shares which includes 80 per cent of the cost of trees and planting.

The local county ASCS office or the Forestry Service will advise land owners of the number and the species best suited for their land.

Orders should be filed in the local county ASCS office by March 1 for early spring planting stock. Individuals may also order trees and shrubbery from the Southern Michigan State Forestry Nursery at Howell or at the Wyman State Forestry Nursery, Manistique until April 15.

In addition to tree planting, land owners that have an existing stand of timber may receive 80 per cent of the estimated commercial cost for timber stand improvement. This practice includes trimming, pruning, and thinning where trees are too thick.

Smith reminds woodland owners that this practice will double the value of our woodland every 15 years.

Most MSU ag grads get out of farming

Graduates of Michigan State University's College of Agriculture and Natural Resources are drawing good salaries, but most of them are reaping the green stuff in jobs other than farming.

A survey of 146 B.S. graduates of five years ago showed an average salary of $12,378. The salary range was from $6,000 to $50,000, with 15 reporting salaries of $18,000 and over.

But only 7.5 per cent of those surveyed were employed directly in farming. The majority, 44.5 per cent, was employed in commercial companies, while another 21.2 per cent were working for government agencies.

"We're not surprised at this trend, because only five per cent of the people in the nation are living or working on farms," said Norman A. Brown, coordinator of student programs for the college. "Yet, there continues to be a growing number of good paying jobs in the broad field of agriculture."

Brown also noted that about half the students in the MSU college are majoring in natural resources and that job opportunities are good in this area, especially in parks and recreation and resource development.

Of the 1964 graduates surveyed, the average beginning salary was $8,844 and the starting salary range was $5,000 to $11,000.

The survey also showed that 31 per cent have completed M.S. degrees and two individuals have earned Ph.Ds.

Forty-seven per cent of those surveyed live in Michigan.

MSU Sheep Day is March 25

Three Michigan sheep growers are featured speakers on the Sheep Day Program at the Michigan State University Farmers' Week, Wednesday, March 25.

Clayton Wells, Mason, will tell how he handles a purebred sheep raising program as a part-time enterprise. Arnold Parsons, Evart, will relate experiences of combining 160 commercial ewes with a 60-cow dairy herd. A full-time farm operation of 600 commercial ewes will be described by Charles Miles, Metamora.

Graydon Blank, veteran MSU extension livestock specialist and sheep authority, will preside at the afternoon meeting in Room 103 Anthony Hall.

Fred Black, Fairgrove, is president of the state association; Norman Smalley, Williamson, is the vice-president and Verness Wheaton, Charlotte, is secretary.

Nearly 1.5 million cattle, calves counted in state

The number of cattle and calves in Michigan on Jan. 1 was estimated at 1,468,000 head, up two per cent from Jan. 1, 1969. This was the first year inventory of all cattle and calves has increased over the previous year since 1962. This increase was attributed primarily to beef stock. Cows kept primarily for beef increased three per cent over the previous year, heifers increased three per cent, other calves increased four per cent and all steers, one year plus increased nine per cent. Cows two years old and over kept for milk, remained unchanged from a year ago, while milk heifers and heifer calves for milk decreased. The Michigan cattle and calf inventory was valued at $308,280,000—the highest value since 1953.

In the United States, the Jan. 1, 1970 inventory of all cattle and calves was estimated at 112,330,000 head, up to two per cent from Jan. 1, 1969. A three per cent increase in beef cattle more than offset a two per cent decline in dairy cattle. The value of cattle and calves on farms and ranches in the United States on Jan. 1, 1970 totaled a record $20.2 billion, a 16 per cent increase from the value a year earlier. Jan. 1 estimates of all hogs and pigs on farms have been discontinued.

The inventory data relates to Dec. 1 of the preceding year and is the same as published in the Dec. 1, 1969 Hog and Pigs Report. Hogs and pigs on Michigan farms on Dec. 1, 1969 totaled 691,000 head, 14 per cent above a year earlier. The total value of all Michigan hogs and pigs on Dec. 1, 1969 was a record $28,331,000, almost 50 per cent more than Dec. 1, 1968.

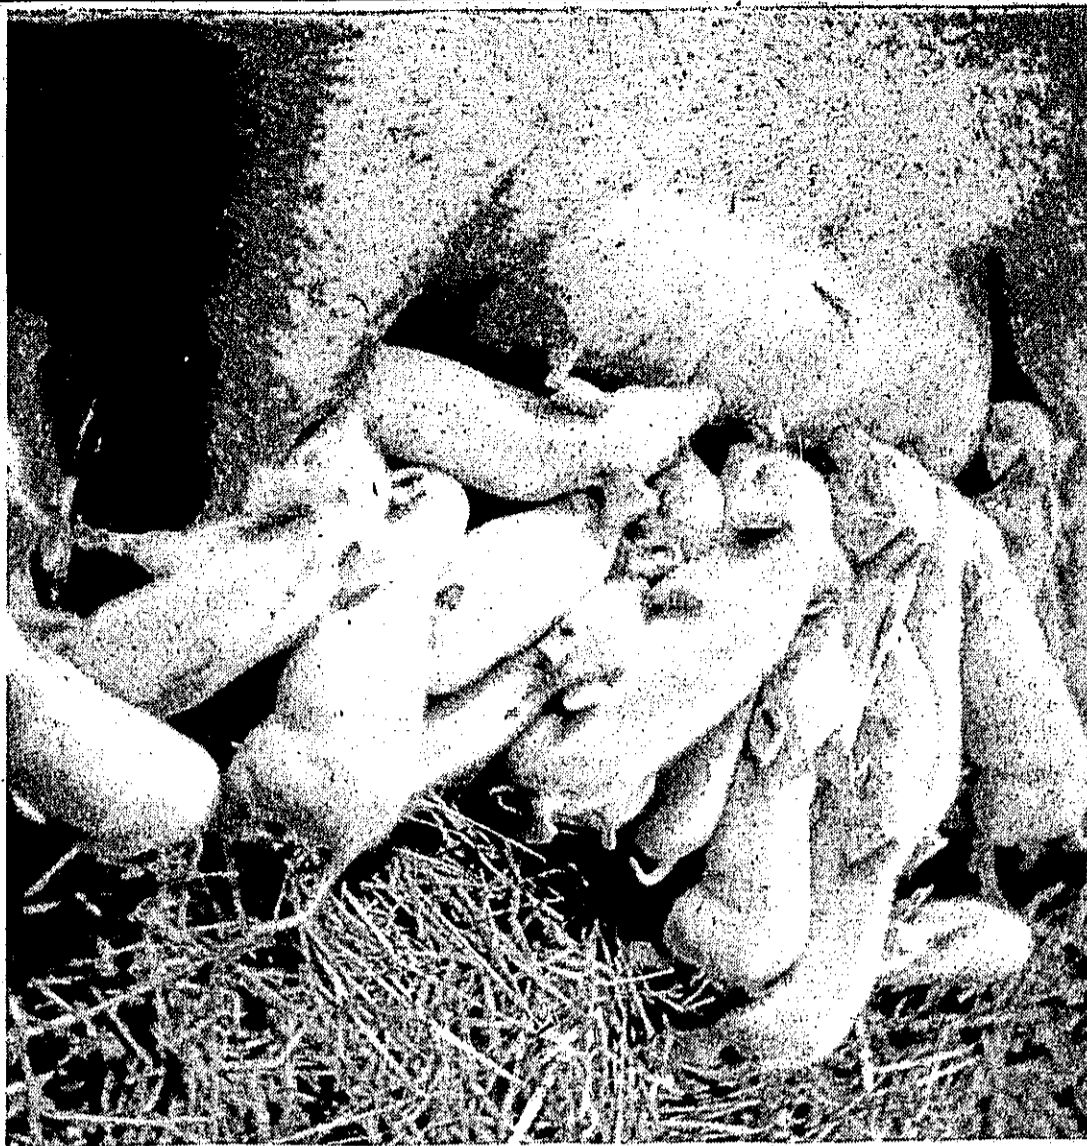

Nationally, the number of all hogs and pigs Dec. 1, 1969 totals 56,743,000 head, six per cent less than the estimated 60,632,000 on hand a year earlier. The value of all hogs and pigs on farms Dec. 1, 1969 totaled $2,212 million, 19 per cent above the value a year earlier.

All sheep and lambs on Michigan farms on Jan. 1 were down three per cent from the previous year. Total stock sheep at 184,000 head were down one per cent and the number on feed at 64,000 were down seven per cent. The value of all sheep and lambs in Michigan was $5,580,000, up two per cent from Jan. 1, 1969. Nationally, stock sheep plus sheep and lambs on feed totaled 20,422,000 head—four per cent less than a year earlier and eight per cent less than two years earlier. On Jan. 1, 1970, stock sheep and lambs on farms and ranches were valued at 434 million dollars, 31 million dollars more than the value a year ago, and 68 million dollars more than two years ago.

Michigan Farmers had 7,840,000 chickens (excluding commercial broilers) on hand this Jan. 1. This was one per cent more than last year. Turkeys on farms at 138,000 head were 10 per cent above last year. The value of all Michigan chickens was $12,152,000, 11 per cent above the value last year and the value of all turkeys was $704,000, nine per cent above a year earlier.

Nationally, the number of chickens on farms Jan. 1, 1970 (excluding commercial broilers) was up three per cent and the number of turkeys on farms was up one per cent. The Jan. 1 value of all chickens and all turkeys was up 15 per cent and 13 per cent, respectively, from Jan. 1, 1969.

Feeding time is quite an event.

Even Mom has to eat.

Sow has 20 in litter Piglet explosion

Some people worry about the population explosion. Others, like Steve Yurco of 5872 W. Taft Road, are concerned with pigs.

A week and a half ago one of his sows gave birth to 20 squealing little piglets. Ten's plenty for any normal sow, so having 20 is like having twins.

Yurco isn't worried about the pig explosion on his farm though. His year-and-a-half old sow has already brought 47 more piglets into the world.

"She's more than paid for herself," he said.

As long as ham sandwiches remain a staple at the News office, Yurco's got himself a gold mine.

State potato growers have 39 pct. of Fall crop in hand

Stocks of fall crop potatoes held by growers, dealers and processors in Michigan on Feb. 1, 1970 totaled 2,600,000 hundredweight, according to the Michigan Crop Reporting Service. This quantity is eight per cent more than on hand a year previous. Feb. 1 stocks were 39 per cent of total fall crop production.

In the United States, meanwhile, storage stocks of potatoes held by growers and local dealers in fall producing areas of the country totaled 105.6 million hundredweight on Feb. 1, 1970. This was one per cent more than the 104.9 million cwt. on hand Feb. 1, 1969. These stocks consist of fall potatoes held for all uses on Feb. 1.

slightly below a year earlier. The quantities of potatoes processed for other food products (excluding starch and flour) during January as well as for the season total to Feb. 1 were both much larger than a year earlier. Quantities used by flour and starch factories during January, and for the season to Feb. 1, were also above a year earlier.

The winter potato crop is estimated at 3,598,000 cwt., six per cent below 1969 production of 3,828,000 cwt.

In the Ft. Myers area of Florida, peak harvest is expected before mid February on "red" varieties. "White" varieties are growing well. In Dade County, the acreage has generally recovered well from the adverse weather in early January. Harvest is expected to get underway later than usual in late February or early March. In California, harvest has been generally slow, and digging is expected to be light to moderate in February.

Prospective plantings of early summer potatoes are estimated at 83,000 acres, four per cent lower than the 86,200 acres planted last year and the 86,900 acres planted in 1968. On the Eastern Shore of Virginia, in Tennessee, and in California, growers expect to plant the same acreage as in 1969. A slight increase is expected in Alabama. In all other States, decreases from a year ago are indicated.

Stocks in the eight eastern fall States totaled 30.1 million cwt. on Feb. 1, 1970, the smallest Feb. 1 holding since 1956 and compares with 33.5 million in 1969. Maine holdings were 22.4 million compared with 25.3 million on hand a year earlier. Holdings in the eight central fall States, at 20.9 million cwt. this Feb. 1, were below the stocks of 22.6 million a year earlier. Smaller stocks in North Dakota, Ohio, Wisconsin, South Dakota and Nebraska more than offset larger holdings in the other central States.

Dairymen spend 24 to 30 per cent less time to harvest and store haylage than hay for herds of 40 to 160 cows, according to Michigan State University agricultural economists.

Daily time to feed all forages was reduced from 25 to 60 minutes per farm when haylage was fed instead of hay on the Michigan dairy farms studied.

Forage made up 25 to 30 per cent of the cost of producing milk.

In the eight western fall States, stocks at 54.6 million cwt., were 12 per cent above the 48.8 million on Feb. 1 last year. Holdings in Idaho of 31.0 million cwt. were nine per cent more than the 28.4 million cwt. of a year ago. Washington stocks of 10.1 million were up sharply from 7.0 million cwt. on Feb. 1, 1969.

Disappearance of 1969 fall crop potatoes from storage during January 1970 at a record high rate of 27.1 million cwt., was six per cent more than the January 1969 disappearance of 25.5 million. Disappearance of 1969 fall potatoes from time of harvest to Feb. 1, 1970, also was a record at 128.0 million cwt., and compares with a disappearance of 115.9 million from the 1968 crop during the comparable period. Movement of 1969 fall crop potatoes to chippers and fresh market outlets during January and movement for the season to Feb. 1, as indicated by rail and truck unloads, were

NFO plans annual dinner, signs two meat contracts

It was reported that two meat contracts were signed at the February meeting of the National Farmer's Organization held in the Clinton National Bank Community Room in St. Johns.

The next NFO meeting was set for Saturday, March 14 at the L & L Restaurant, St. Johns.

Farmer's Week set

The 1970 Farmers' Week has been set for March 23-27 at Michigan State University, reports Prof. Byron Good, chairman.

More than 20,000 farmers and rural leaders are expected to attend the event which ranks as the largest agricultural-educational activity in the nation.

Professor Good says 274 speakers and 40 university departments will present more than 200 educational programs and demonstrations.

Focusing on the theme, "Dawn of a Decade," Farmers' Week sessions will concentrate on technological developments and social problems facing rural Michigan in the 1970s.

Spud production methods better

Michigan's total potato production in 1968 was about the same as in 1980. But the more than eight million hundredweight came from only one-eighth as many acres in 1948. Yields per acre went up from 38 hundredweight in 1930 to 211 in 1948.

Michigan State University agricultural scientists say this is the trend that makes possible fewer farmers providing food for an always increasing population.

The average price the farmer received for each hundredweight of potatoes increased only from $1.38 in the near-depression year of 1930 to $2.22 in the inflated price period in 1968, MSU scientists reported.

U.S. Department of Labor regulations require employers of migrant farm workers to provide housing that, among other things, has a refrigerator, grocery storage space, a fire extinguisher, and an emergency first aid kit.

Life With The Rimples

Good intentions not enough in this case

By FRANK J. KELLEY
Attorney General

Editor's Note: This is a public service article explaining in general terms a provision of Michigan law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law upon their private legal affairs should consult a private attorney.

On occasion an individual will die in the community without having local relatives or heirs. The blood relatives may be living in a foreign country, another state or their whereabouts may be unknown.

Nevertheless, friends or acquaintances plunge into the dead man's affairs, and take upon themselves the authority and responsibility to negotiate the arrangements for his burial.

Such friends execute releases for delivery of the body to an undertaker, negotiate with the undertaker for funeral and burial, without full knowledge of the consequences of their actions, believing that the estate of the deceased person will ultimately pay for all the funeral and burial costs.

After administration of the estate is secured in the Probate Court, a claim is filed for the expended or contracted funeral and burial expenses. Then comes the rude awakening.

Under Michigan law the estate of a deceased person is only liable for the reasonable and necessary expenses for the funeral and burial. All excessive bills for funeral charges are disallowed in whole or in part by the Judge of Probate. If the friends have paid the undertaker, they will not be able to be reimbursed from the estate for any expense or charge which is excessive.

If the undertaker files his claim against the estate and it is disallowed in whole or in part by the court, he will sue the friends who had signed the releases and contracted with the undertaker for the burial of the deceased person, for that sum not allowed by the probate court.

Under Michigan law, an undertaker is admonished not to take possession of or embalm a dead human body without express request and direction of a relative or a person entitled to the custody of the body. If he does so, the Mortuary Science Board can suspend, revoke or deny the renewal of his license.

When a person dies without relatives or heirs, by law the local County Public Administrator is authorized to petition the probate court for appointment as Special Administrator, to marshal the assets, and to make all necessary burial arrangements.

Even though they are motivated by the best of intentions, friends who volunteer and involve themselves to contract for burial of a third party, not being a relative, heir, or administrator of the estate, may be subjecting themselves to personal liability.

This is one of the many situations that do arise in the course of daily activity that bears out the axiom "Consult your lawyer first."

Happy birthday, Rotary

Sixty-five may be identified as an age for retirement in many countries, but this week, as Rotary International reaches that milestone, the worldwide service club organization shows all the signs of youth. In the last ten years, for example, Rotary has grown by more than 3,500 new clubs. Today, in 147 countries from Afghanistan to Zambia, there are 658,000 Rotarians serving 14,000 communities, including our community.

It is a pleasure to salute this most venerable of the service clubs—the first of the business and professional groups which, through their civic, national and international endeavors, help make this world a better place in which to live. The first Rotary club was formed on Feb. 23, 1905, in Chicago, Illinois, U.S.A., by lawyer Paul P. Harris.

In this age when we need the involvement of individuals in solving growing problems, we can thank Rotary for translating abstractions such as friendship and service into a warm handshake and opportunities to work, on a large or small scale and without fanfare, for the betterment of the community.

We hope Rotary is around for many more years to come.

Well done

As the new Boeing 747 goes into regular scheduled transatlantic passenger service, there is bound to be curiosity about how the great new 362-passenger plane was "checked out." Few are aware of the months and months of flight testing that preceded final acceptance of the plane by the first airline to put it into service—Pan American World Airways. Few are aware of the exhaustive testing by the airline's own pilots and technicians.

In a late issue of The Clipper, published by Pan Am, an account was given of the last test given the 747 before its acceptance by the airline. The story should answer the skeptics. The Pan Am command test pilot was director of flight research for Pan Am. He recently retired as chief pilot-technical for the airline when he reached the age of 60. He is known throughout the airline industry . . . as a man who is competent, tough, thoroughly professional and completely fair." He and his crew put the big ship through its paces as though it were a Piper Cub. In the words of The Clipper, "It was a test flight that would push the plane to its outside limits; stand it on its wing in highspeed turns and banks; stall it out; see how it flies in various conditions by simulating failures, such as one and even two engines; simulate failures in systems which operate elevator, stabilizer, rudders; check the inertial navigation system and automatic pilot in all modes including flare approach and landings . . ."

After a grueling three hour and 29 minute acceptability flight, the Pan Am pilot with his team of engineers and inspectors reported that, with the exception of minor adjustments, the great plane was . . . in good shape. An excellent machine. This is the 747 that will be carrying millions of passengers in the coming years to the farthest corners of the globe—the plane that an airline and airplane company brought into being through the investment of hundreds of millions of dollars of private capital.

HILLSBORO, N.H., MESSENGER: "There is nothing wrong with a school professor who advises parents that the proper way to teach responsibility, punctuality and other similar virtues is to load a child with chores. Chores have been and still are character builders, and are also beneficial to the parents. How can any boy expect to be Governor unless he has mowed the lawn, raked the leaves, washed the car and shoveled snow, with neatness, pride and dispatch? How could any girl preside as chateleine of a lovely home unless she has been Mother's little helper, washed thousands of dishes and kept the vacuum cleaner on the go?"

Two Lives

Two lives we live—the one we spend putting things together end on end, the other one though real it seems, is product of our fondest dreams. Faith is the fabric of which we build, in dreams we find ourselves fulfilled.

The strong man's basic theme is Hope, without which all must vainly grope, but hope deferred may pass him by. Least anchored in some wish held high, in dual natures each must tend to seek perfection in the end.

The Charity that comes of years of living through all doubts and fears, still finds its own security in terms of grim reality. Two lives we live yet only one shall leave its mark when day is done.

What's basketball?

By BOB CALVERLEY

I don't like basketball. I grew up in Canada where we get excited stumbling around on skates and bashing a piece of hard rubber over the ice. Saturday nights, I used to sort out my hockey cards while I listened to the Toronto Maple Leafs drubbing Boston, or Detroit, or New York on the radio. Eventually I got tired of hockey cards, and the Leafs ran out of gas several years ago; now I live in America where I got drafted and they plan basketball.

It wasn't with enthusiasm that I approached either the draft board or basketball.

"What's so great about throwing a ball through a hoop?" I asked my editor the first time he sent me to Fowler.

Soon I found out that whatever kind of feeling they got out of it, those guys in Fowler were good at getting the ball through the hoop. They were so good that they were ranked number one in the state, which my editor explained was like leading the league in the NHL.

But I had to take a stand.

Deep in the guts of the Michigan State University Library I found an old Journalism Quarterly magazine, which among its journalists occupies almost hallowed position on the shelves.

In it was a report of a study made in Kansas of the relationship between the number of people graduating from high school who went on to college, and what kind of school news was published in the local paper.

The number of people going on to college usually depends on how much money their parents make, but in six counties of Kansas this wasn't true. In three of them a lot more kids than normal went to college although their parents were making less than the average income. In the other three counties the opposite was true. In the counties where fewer kids went on to college the newspapers had almost three times as much space devoted to high school sports as in the "plus" counties.

"So," I explained to my editor, "if you send me out to Fowler anymore, you're preventing kids from going to college."

A little knowledge can sometimes be dangerous.

Soon I was in Fowler talking basketball with people who'd been talking basketball before I could skate, and I found out that Fowler residents were proud of their basketball team, and that basketball wasn't the only thing in Fowler.

"We have other things here too," said Dean Stork, principal of Fowler High. He promptly paged the Top Ten—that's the ten seniors with the highest grade point averages—for a picture for the paper.

There they were. Three basketball players grinning academically through the lens of my camera.

Considering only four seniors are on the team, that's pretty good.

But basketball still occupies a pretty important position around Fowler in the winter. Maybe they haven't discovered the ecstasy of taking off your skates after a day on the rink. Basketball is still number one in Fowler.

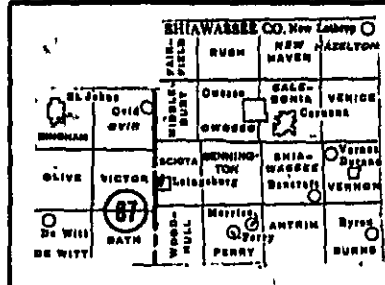

Until Friday night Fowler was undisputed number one in basketball.

The rub came when an aggressive squad from DeWitt torpedoed Fowler's hope for an undefeated season and a noisy group of DeWitt fans cheered, "we're number one, we're number one," in the Fowler gym.

Friday night Fowler was the loser.

"Losing is a terrible feeling, and as Charlie Trierweiler Fowler's coach said after the game, losing never does any good.

But losing is part of living.

State Representative

As your State Representative, I feel compelled to issue a statement of strong support for Governor William Milliken's newly announced drug control program.

The Governor's Special Message to the Legislature on Drug Dependence and Abuse last week is far and away the most comprehensive review of this baffling problem ever delivered by a chief executive of this state.

In essence, the Governor has proposed a realistic and balanced plan based on modernizing laws, improving law enforcement effectiveness, comprehensive public education and a compassionate treatment and rehabilitation program.

To coordinate these essential activities, Governor Milliken proposes to establish an Office of Drug Dependence and Abuse at the Executive level.

In addition to the new Drug Abuse Office, some of the Governor's specific proposals are:

- Bolstering the State Police Narcotics Unit and providing it with another $112,000 to support its programs;
- Additional funds ($200,000) to expand treatment services at Hawthorne Center in Northville;
- Enactment of modern laws to provide adequate legal tools to stop drug traffic;
- Concerted public information efforts, including expanded classroom discussion on the dangerous effects of drugs, and neighborhood information centers; and
- State acquisition of the federal Marine Hospital in Detroit for a community mental health and drug abuse center.

It's been apparent for some time that Michigan's approach to drug abuse has been inadequate for a variety of reasons. The recent sudden upswing in the use of dangerous drugs generally outran our knowledge of the subject. Lack of understanding has led to unrealistic laws and inadequate methods of coping with the drug problem when it exploded to crisis proportions.

The major factors in bringing our awareness of this problem up to date were the Governor's Conference on Drug Abuse and special drug abuse committees established by the Governor and the Legislature. The efforts of these groups formed the basis of the Governor's legislative proposals.

Because I share Governor Milliken's belief that drugs are a serious threat to the quality of life for all Michigan citizens, I'm going to do everything I can toward enacting the many fine proposals submitted by the Governor.

In addition, I would also like to outline a suggested four-point program on drug problems for the Clintons County area. This program is based on community education and effective counseling. My colleague, State Rep. Michael A. Dively, is busy right now developing such a program in the Traverse City area, although it could be easily adapted for use in communities all over the State.

Reduced to a brief summary, here are the main points of such a Drug Abuse Program:

- 1) ADULT EDUCATION. Getting factual information on drugs to adults on youth and adults' drug problems.
- 2) ADULT COUNSELORS.

Special in-depth education program for adults (such as teachers, doctors, ministers, or lawyers) who are likely to be called upon to counsel persons with drug-related problems.

- 3) SCHOOLS. A realistic drug use and abuse education program in the elementary schools to give pupils information at an early age which may deter later entrapment in drug use.
- 4) PEER GROUP COUNSELING. Community encouragement and support for young people to counsel other young people on personal drug problems and how to overcome them. These youth counselors could in most cases, be more effective than adults in getting through effectively to other young people. They should have backup support from professional medical and counseling personnel for crisis situations which they cannot handle adequately. Similar volunteer efforts are operating in France and have been started in several areas in this country.

I might add here that congratulations are in order for the Owosso Kiwanis and Exchange Clubs in Clinton County for the excellent groundwork they have laid in sponsoring local educational programs on both the use and misuse of drugs of every kind.

I suppose there are still some who scoff at the notion that there is any significant amount of drug traffic in Clinton County.

Maybe there isn't yet. But there can be and there will be—unless local authorities and service organizations best equipped to deal with this burgeoning crisis dig in their collective heels and meet it head-on.

What has Lenore got that I haven't got? This is a question being asked around Michigan as the Republican Party goes through a rather painful process trying to select a consensus candidate.

An even more common question is this. Why should the Republican Party try to arrive at a consensus rather than let the rank and file select its candidate at the August primary?

Wealthy parents make a good background for modern politicians. Unfortunately, from my viewpoint, most of the wealthy men wishing to run for office in the last 40 years have chosen the Democratic Party. The Roosevelts, Harrimans, Kennedys, Williams and Harts are just a few of the well known examples.

Hence, the attempt at consensus. It has its disadvantages, I wish it weren't necessary. Let's work towards a solution so dollars can be removed from these political decisions. Or at least lessened in importance.

Until that ideal day, what's your consensus?

Somehow a wealthy Republican candidate is suspected of being big business oriented, while a wealthy Democrat comes across as the champion of the little man.

Luckily the Republicans have many loyal supporters willing to supply money for major cam-

Marines tell views on new dress code

Editor,

Concerning the dress code article in the Feb. 18 edition of your paper, we are thoroughly against the revision of the dress code, which allows the girls to wear slacks and boys to grow beards and mustaches.

Are girls losing their femininity? Are they trying to show their equality with the opposite sex? Or are the students just trying to see how much they can get away with? Why has the school board lowered themselves to the serfdom of the student's whims?

When I went to high school, just a short year ago, it was unheard of for a girl to attend school in slacks.

Maybe it's the thing for a boy to grow long hair but why mustaches and beards? Where will it stop?

Isn't it about time that the schools started teaching students that life can't always be the way they want it? That everything isn't always a big bowl of cherries? They should be learning to take what's given to them and make the best of it.

When asked by the school superintendent about the students policing their own ranks, one council member stated that students would be expected to do so, and that no problems are expected in discipline.

Are we to assume that students will be satisfied with this or will they apply greater pressure for more and greater liberties?

By letting this dress code pass is the school board trying to create another Haight-Ashbury? Will the students be like the camel in the tent, or as Hitler, whose power hungry appetite couldn't be satisfied?

'IF IT FITZ ...'

Shorthorn confession

By JIM FITZGERALD

I might as well confess, before the Feds hit me with a subpoena. I am a frequent customer at the Shorthorn Steak House in Flint.

I have made bets there. And I've listened to Denny McLain play the organ there. I didn't like him as well as the regular piano player who also sings — with one of the greatest whiskey voices this side of the Bowery.

Sports Illustrated magazine described the Shorthorn as push. It isn't. The dining room does have a carpet but the bar, where the action is, is more rural than urban; more ranchy than raunchy.

It was apparently his employment at the Shorthorn in 1967 that made McLain's feet clay and stompable. You may have read or heard something about this recently. If you haven't, you have a big boulder in front of your cave. Isn't it magnificent how we humans sweat and swear about the truly important things in life — such as whether a grown man will be allowed to earn $90,000 this year for playing a little boys' game? (I wonder how things are coming in Vietnam?).

I've been a Shorthorn customer all these years simply because the food is good and the waitresses are friendly and efficient. That takes care of lunch and dinner.

As for late-evening boozing, the thing I like about the Shorthorn is the piano bar. Some people like to shoot deer or ride snowmobiles or visit museums. I like to sit on a swivel stool, hunched over a piano bar, with both feet on a brass rail.

It is nice if Erroll Garner is playing the piano. But I'll settle for most anyone, even a baseball player with a sledgehammer touch. The important thing is that the friendliest people in the world sit around piano bars. They like to sing and drum fingers and tap toes and buy drinks. There's usually at least a fine tenor who, after midnight and a few good belts, will happily sing "Danny Boy." A marvelous, mournful sound.

Lately there have been tales that business has turned sour at the Shorthorn. The doors were almost padlocked by a tax lien last week. It would be ironic justice if all this lousy publicity sets the cash registers to jangling again. The world is full of people who follow firetrucks and speed to the scene of accidents. They might well visit the Shorthorn to search the floor for traces of McLain's blood.

Sport Illustrated said a bookie made his headquarters in the Shorthorn. It sounded as if he had an office and a secretary in the place. This is ridiculous. Actually, a bookie can do business wherever he sits, in a bar or in a church. All he needs is someone sitting beside him, or just a telephone booth.

Denny McLain apparently tried to make an easy buck and fell on his face. Now he's paying the price and he gets no sympathy from me. But the Shorthorn is getting a bum rap. It would make equal sense to sting the restaurant for the gambling I do there — sometimes I play the numbers game with a bunch of handits to determine who'll pay the tab.

Once I lost $25 and I told the waitress I wouldn't pay. But she changed my mind. She jumped on my big toe. That's class.

Play it again, Sam.

TAKING FIVE

My friends

By RON HUARD

I want to issue fair warning to anyone considering himself a friend of mine. In fact, even mere acquaintances might take heed of this notice, too, 'cause when a guy's writing a book these days, you never know who he'll chew up next.

I hadn't started my volume with intent of revealing the personal characteristics of associates, but after seeing the exciting successes of tales of past first ladies and exiled baseball pitchers, I've almost reached the point of forsaking virtuous messages for more popular busybody chattering.

As I say, the decision hasn't been completely made yet, but I'm leaning at about a thirty-seven degree angle. And the inclination is so strong that I'm becoming wary of everyone else.

If a guy can stash a mask on the floor of a locker-room cabinet and bat out a diary on what a bad actor his battery partner is, imagine what someone closer to a typewriter can do. And most of my friends have at least working knowledge of these things.

I've been trying to combat this suspicion for some time but the fear that my friends will get the drop on me has prompted me to make a lot of notes in recent days.

Feb. 11—Charlie Coletta quit smoking today but is carrying a box of Copenhagen in case the tobacco urge strikes.

Feb. 16—Rick Anderson ordered 1,500 cherry pies for George Washington's birthday, but found out today he could only get pumpkin pies. He's gonna plan a big Thanksgiving special next week.

Feb. 19—St. Johns City Attorney Paul Maples met with a representative of Government Service Agency and offered to sell the city's A & P parking lot for a dollar down and a dollar a week.

Feb. 23—Everett Glazier and Dick Miller returned from Florida today with a million dozen oranges and two cases of sunburn. I think they plan on opening a juice-by-the-glass counter in the office of the cop shop.

Feb. 27—Bill Barber said he was sneaking away with Leo Corkin and Ed MacLuckle for a few restful days of bridge in North Carolina, but I don't believe him. He had his golf shoes on.

These jottings are just the beginning. I've really got the good stuff locked in the safe at Smith Hall.

I can't speak for Jackie's former secretary or Denny's former catcher, but right off the duff I'd say I've got something going as long as the people around me keep doing such big things.

Think I'll call the book, "My Friends."

My friend, 'the pig'

By RON KARLE, Editor

"You're next. We're going to get you next, you pig."

Now there's a statement guaranteed to set you back apace.

Which it did when made to a friend of mine during the small riot in East Lansing a few days ago.

My friend, you see, walks a special kind of tightrope strung across the generation gap.

He's an ID card-carrying student at Michigan State. He's also a Chamber of Commerce card-carrying merchant in East Lansing.

Ernie St. Pierre, at 27, has been in business for about a year and a half.

HE OWNS two submarine sandwich shops called Hoble's which caters to student trade. Being a student himself, he thought he understood students better than many of his fellow members of the chamber. So he's been trying to play it straight with them and still keep his creditors happy.

He doesn't look like most other members of the chamber. He has the rimless glasses, the mustache, and sideburns and often wears his levis and MSU jacket to work.

HE TOLD me of the events that night when about a thousand members of his student peer group decided to take out their displeasure of the Chicago 7 verdict on some store windows.

He said he went to his store just off Grand River (where all the action was) and found everything all right there.

"I saw no turmoil in the street so I decided to walk to Grand River," he said. "Across the street, it was knee deep in students yelling and screaming.

"I could see damage to the stores and at the door of every shop stood the owners or managers all dressed in their coats and ties and all looking very apprehensive. They looked like businessmen.

"I FELT very uncomfortable as I walked along Grand River," he said. "The police kind of viewed me with disdain, probably because of the way I was dressed."

He got the same reaction from merchants standing behind their locked doors. "I was definitely a student in the eyes of everyone there who was not a student," said Ernie. "I felt branded as part of something that I wasn't."

He walked around the block and found that his was the only shop open and he decided to close for the night.

"I LOCKED the front door and didn't force people to leave" but let them out when they were ready," he said.

And then the girl let him have it with the pig remark. "I was stymied," he said. "What have I done to her I thought."

"I think she made that statement because I reflect all that's bad to her. I must have looked like the establishment. I must have looked like an owner."

"Here I stood at my door with my key and it must have made my peer group feel that here's one of the pigs."

"I've spent a lot of time thinking about that one statement," he said.

It's admittedly a bad scene because we view the polarization as black and white while missing the gray thing in-between.

THAT girl's comment would justify a lot of hostile feelings in the minds of many people. You know, the head-shaking muttered comments about "kids these days . . ."

And then Ernie tells you about his "bankers glasses." He laughs, but we both know it really isn't funny.

But he's actually got these glasses with the horn rims. He's found through experience it's better if he wears them when dealing with the establishment.

I guess it's the establishment's way of heaving a brick through a window. For the cause,

Vehicle weight restrictions in effect again

Vehicle weight restrictions were back in effect last week in Clinton and surrounding counties, says the county road commission. Engineer Robert Ansel says the commission, assisted by the State Public Service Commission, will patrol county roads for the first time. The weight restrictions, which are imposed beginning every spring, became effective last Thursday.
