City tables rezoning plan

Pending public hearing

ST. JOHNS—The St. Johns City Commission voted Monday night to table a proposal to rezone the vacant land across from the St. Johns High School on Sickles Street pending a public hearing March 23 by the city planning commission.

The land, a 400 by 420 foot area, currently owned by Dr. James Grost, a city commissioner, has been rezoned R-1 residential. The new proposal would rezone the land to R-3 high density residential where a condominium and apartment complex has been planned.

The city meeting chamber was packed for Monday night's session after the city called a public hearing on the issue when angry residents surrounding the proposed complex voiced opposition.

Citizens raised objections at several earlier meetings once the apartment complex was proposed. The building plan would call for a total of four 18-unit apartment structures and eight condominiums to be constructed by Fedewa Builders, Inc., of Fowler.

Citizens had objected to the problems the new housing units would create for the area, such as traffic and sewer lines, especially built so close to the high school.

At Monday night's meeting a representative of the building firm explained the plans for the complex to commissioners and some citizens from the affected area presented views on why they opposed it.

At one point, Commissioner John Hannah moved to approve the rezoning, but there was no support for the motion and it was withdrawn.

The move to wait for the planning commission's public hearing on the new comprehensive city ordinance was made, commissioners said, to allow the people to present their views to city planners. The new ordinance, if passed, would automatically rezone the entire area from R-1 to R-3, with some restrictions not attached to the present R-3 status.

Mayor Robert Wood said Tuesday that the commission tabled the discussion pending possible changes in the new city ordinance. He said the people might bring about some changes that could have a bearing on whether the city should pass the rezoning proposal.

He said he personally felt the apartment complex proposal was acceptable. "I do not see much harm in it," but added he would not like to see the entire area rezoned to high density residential.

Wood was reluctant to say if he would vote for the new ordinance if brought up to the city commission unchanged. "I just couldn't say, at this point."

After the March 23 meeting, there will be a city commission public hearing in April on the new city ordinance. If passed then, the code would become effective May 15.

Rollin Huard, a member of the planning commission, said he expects a large turnout for the March 23 public hearing on the ordinance. He said commissioners would listen to the discussion and would then pass on a recommendation to the city commission.

Huard said that under the present R-3 status, there are no restrictions on the builder. "They can build anything of an R-3 nature on the land. Under the new ordinance, there would be some restrictions and stipulations."

He disagreed with the idea put forth by certain citizens opposed to the plan, that there would be a major influx of new people into the St. Johns area.

"Obviously there will be some new people coming into the area and there will continue to be inquiries about it." But, he said, there would be a large amount of relocation of current residents from older homes and other rental property.

"This is definitely not designed as a low income project," he said in answer to some fears that area residents expressed concerning the purpose of the apartment complex.

Others raised objections to the fact that a city commissioner owns the land in question.

"Regardless, he (Dr. Grost) owned this land before the idea was proposed," Huard said.

Huard said he did not believe that the fact a city commissioner owns the land would have any way with the planning commission.

He pointed out that Dr. Grost has not voted on the issue, which might have been challenged as a conflict of interest.

County Chairman James Palmiter presents a certificate of appreciation to the family of the late Stanley Loznak for his dedication to the Republican party. Accepting the award was his daughter Pamela and his wife, Jennie.

Vander Jagt cites GOP gains at Lincoln dinner

By ANNETTE WHITE
Associate Editor

ST. JOHNS—The annual Republican Lincoln Day banquet drew 250 Clinton County Republicans to the St. Johns High School cafeteria last Friday evening where they heard Congressman Guy Vander Jagt of Michigan's twenty-ninth Congressional District as guest speaker.

The invocation for the banquet was given by Rev. Herman E. Rossow of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Fowler and Syer Thingsted led the singing of the "National Anthem" accompanied by Robert Baribeau.

In addition to Vander Jagt other speakers on the program were State Rep. R. Douglas Trezise of Owosso, who also was master of ceremonies for the evening, Congressman Garry Brown of Michigan's Third District, State Sen. William Ballenger and Rep. Richard Allen of the 88th District.

Along with the evening's formalities county GOP Chairman James Palmiter paid tribute to a deceased party member for his many years of work and loyalty to the Republican party. The award was given to the late Stanley Loznak, who had served on the executive council of the Clinton County Republicans. Accepting the framed certificate of appreciation were his daughter, Pamela of Trenton and his wife, Jennie of Elsie.

Palmiter introduced his fellow members of the executive committee, Liz Nobis, vice-chairman; newly-elected youth director Deb Wagner, secretary and also president of the Clinton County Republican Women, Virginia Zeeb, Ken Platte, treasurer and Bill Gnodtke, finance chairman.

In his speech to fellow Republicans U. S. Rep. Vander Jagt reminded his audience that this has been "a decade when unbelievable things have happened."

"Occasions are piled high with problems so we must arise to the problems," he stated. He pointed out to his audience that rather than be pre-occupied with the negative aspects of the present government, the positive should take priority. He listed the great gains in space, greater freedoms offered today than in any other part of the world, reduction of troops in Vietnam and the reduced draft call, less unemployment and the drop in deficit spending.

Preceding the dinner a reception was held in the community room of the Central National Bank which was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wellman, Mr. and Mrs. Brandon White Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Zeeb.

The annual Lincoln Day fete is the traditional kickoff for the political year and the proceeds from the sale of tickets will be used to help state and local candidates in their bid for election in November.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Palmiter objects to News reporting

Dear Editor:

I must take exception to a story and editorial in your newspaper on Mar. 1, 1972.

In the story on page one titled "Lankford plan wins approval", you have stated that often I commented on the plan meeting "the guidelines set down before us". I immediately called for a vote on the plan. This statement of yours is completely inconsistent with the facts. I did not immediately call for a vote on the plan. In fact the motion to adopt the "Lankford plan", was made by Robert Niblock, county Democratic chairman, supported by Mrs. Beaufore, county treasurer, Chairman Carter then called for discussion on the motion by Niblock and a lengthy discussion ensued. Only after all discussion was exhausted did I then call for the question.

I seem to recall that you did not participate in the discussion although you are a resident of the county and were free to do so, as this was a public meeting.

With regard to your editorial in the same paper concerning the same subject, titled "Is this representative government at work?", my answer to that question is, yes, this is representative government at work.

You were at the two public meetings which were held to hear any plan for re-apportionment which might be put forth by any citizen of the county. There were three or four observers at those meetings but when asked for their views there was no response. There were three plans formally submitted to the commission and one of those was not a complete plan. There were also many different combinations of districts presented informally by commissioner Lankford.

After looking over some of those plans and noting that nearly all of them crossed numerous precinct boundaries I concluded that the two complete plans submitted were the best to be offered. I therefore based my judgment of the Lankford on the fact that, first, it allowed for an eleven member board which could work on a part time basis, as it now does, at a cost of approx. $40,000.00 per year, and, secondly, that it only relocated two precinct boundaries, one in the city of DeWitt and the other in the city of St. Johns.

The plan submitted by Jon Newman also relocated two precinct boundaries but had the negative feature of providing for a seven member board which almost surely would have to work on a full time basis at a cost to the taxpayers of approx. $80,000.00 to $70,000.00 for salaries alone.

For obvious reasons then I elected to vote for the Lankford plan.

You will also recall that it was I who proposed that the seven member Newman plan be accepted by the commission as a back up plan.

You also stated that we could have asked for more time to do the job.

You will recall that at our second meeting I stated for the record that I was not in favor of meetings just for the sake of having a meeting. It was obvious at our third meeting that we were not about to receive additional citizen participation and I for one felt that we would be wasting our time waiting for the perfect plan, when it was obvious that there is no such thing.

Therefore based upon the guidelines that were given to us I feel that we were within the limits set by the law and our decision was in the best interests of the people of Clinton County.

Respectfully,
James M. Palmiter, chairman, Clinton County Republican Party.

Ed. note—Clinton County News reporters are not expected to take part in governmental discussions while covering such meetings. They are there as observers, representing all of the newspaper readers, and would be inconsistent with policy to engage in debate. The News remains behind that editorial and feels that it was the committee's duty to draw up its own plan and not be dependent on private individuals to do the work.

their own counsel or attorney, it is oftentimes more expedient for them to process their violations through state law enforcement through the Clinton County Prosecuting Attorney's office whenever state law covers the situation," Judge Duguay said.

"That is what keeps the revenue and corresponding expenses lower to some municipalities than others who choose not to enforce their own ordinances for that reason."

JUDGE DUGUAY labeled his work detail program as extremely successful.

"We have completed over two years with this program for first or less serious offenses and it no longer can be termed a pioneer program. This has enabled considerable savings of taxpayer dollars from paying what otherwise would have necessitated feeding and housing these people in the County Jail.

"In addition, the public work details, or projects, have accounted for many dollars of meaningful accomplishments by these persons which would otherwise have had to be paid from tax dollars, or not done at all. These projects range from cemetery and roadway clean up to junk car pick-ups and even cover other projects such as seeing that elderly persons unable to drive get to and from church.

"Our fire trucks get regular waxings and there are many other such noteworthy, but small accomplishments too numerous to mention.

"Our 65th District Court is the busiest in the state from a caseload per judge standpoint. Only the extreme efficiency of our court staff headed by Mr. Willyoung and Mrs. Phyllis Anderson, plus an extra good job done by our Prosecuting Attorney Jon Newman and his staff have enabled our Court to keep its docket within tolerable limits.

"Except for these people, we would be fighting a losing battle with the rising crime rate, but which has been kept in check in our County."

Bees sting New Lothrop 78-63

It's Bath-St. Stephen in quarters

Bath's Tom Townsend (33) and Randy Markham (43) battle a New Lothrop Hornet for a rebound as Bath's Dale Cantwell (21) looks on.

By TIM YOUNKMAN
OWOSSO — Who will become the next victim of the Bath machine?
Bath area fans are hoping it will be Saginaw St. Stephen's Titans Thursday night at Finch Fieldhouse in Mt. Pleasant.
Bath won the right to enter the state cage tournament quarter finals by winning the regional championship here

Fritz Ordiway (45) lofts a soft bucket against a determined New Lothrop opponent. Ordiway netted 21 points in the regional final game.

Saturday night against New Lothrop.

The well-codded Bath machine played with the poise of a much more experienced unit in whipping New Lothrop, 78-63 before more than 2,000 screaming, screeching fans at Owosso High School.

Led by a trio of hot-handed shooters—Paul Stoll, Fritz Ordiway and Randy Markham—the Bees opened up with a 21-16 first quarter lead, but couldn't quite find the key in the first half to break the game open.

An erratic, but effective, full court press stalled the normally fast moving Bath attack. The teams played a race horse trading session as the second quarter slipped away.

Bath grabbed a 34-31 lead with less than two minutes to go in the half, added a bucket and held off a slight rally by the Hornets and the half ended with the Bees ahead 36-34.

The Hornet press, while stalling part of the Bees' attack, caused little damage. There was only one Bath turnover in the second quarter due to the press.

New Lothrop stormed from the locker room and opened the third quarter with a shocking six point surge before the Bees could get its machine back in gear. Bath tied the game at 40-40, but slipped again moments later to trail 44-42. By the end of that third quarter the teams were deadlocked at 49-49.

The only thing that kept Bath from dropping behind was the defensive work of Stoll and Ordiway who intimidated the Hornet shooters, forcing outside shots and thwarting layups.

The Bees had several chances to go ahead with open shots, but the ball wouldn't fall through the hoop.

The see-saw battle continued through the fourth quarter until a series of three straight buckets brought Bath a 57-51 lead with 4:39 left to go.

The Hornets suddenly showed how tired they were as Stoll, Ordiway and Markham took over under the boards, literally alone under the nets.

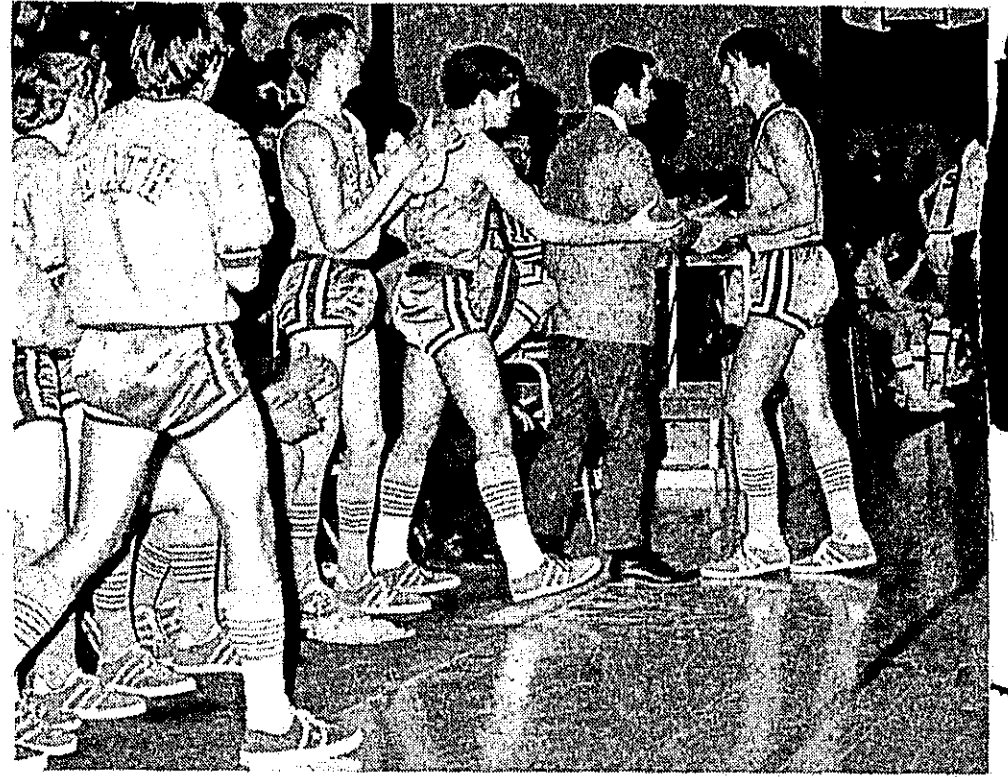

The New Lothrop players began a series of costly turnovers as the minutes ticked away on their regional title chances, and Bath capitalized on them. The Hornets, jittery and tired finally made the mistakes that Coach Dick Wilt and company had hoped for and shifted into high gear for the mop up attack.

New Lothrop would go down the court, take a 25-foot hurried shot, Stoll or Ordiway would grab the rebound and flip it down court to Randy Markham—who scored.

Then it was over. A few blurry handshakes and a wild throng enveloped the players and their coach. With the trophy in their possession, the Bees dashed off to the locker room and now await the clash with St. Stephens. But there was some time for reflection.

"We played real well," beamed Coach Wilt. "The defense was much improved

Bath coach Dick Wilt congratulates Paul Stoll as he comes out of the game in the last few seconds after scoring 23 points and grabbing 15 rebounds. A bewildered New Lothrop coach walks slowly back to the bench in the background with his team hopelessly behind.

A happy group of fans and cheerleaders surround the Bath players after they defeated New Lothrop Saturday night for the Regional crown.

By TIM YOUNKMAN

MT. PLEASANT—One year ago Saturday, the Fowler Eagles had high hopes of snaring a Class 'D' regional crown until they ran headlong into the Buccaneers from Saginaw St. Joseph.

This year, they also had high hopes of winning that coveted crown, but ended up on the short end of a 68-65 score against Webberville, a team Fowler had beaten twice in CMAC action this year.

Fowler Coach Charles Trierweiler said before the game that Webberville was "an entirely different ball club," than when the Eagles first faced them early in the season. "They have started to play some basketball," he said. "They played a good game against Mt. Pleasant and we will have to make a few adjustments."

What Trierweiler hadn't boards as the game progressed.

The Eagles started out with relative ease, leading by the first quarter buzzer 13-8 and added another point to the margin to lead at halftime 33-27.

The third quarter found Webberville turning more aggressive and the Spartans chomped away at the lead, trailing 43-40 with 1:22 left in the third frame. With 52 seconds left, the Spartans gained the lead 44-43 and Fowler's Glen Thelen tied the game at 46-46 with 16 seconds left in that quarter. But the fired up Spartans were not to be denied in the last quarter, outscoring the Eagles 22-19.

Webberville's Don Long came in for the second half, after hitting only two points in the first two quarters, and slammed home 15 points to lead the Spartan comeback.

Webberville hit seven of nine field goal tries in the second half to defeat Fowler.

Fowler had several cracks at the bucket in the waning seconds, but couldn't push it through the hoop to tie the game.

The Eagles dominated the boards, snaring 55 to Webberville's 42, but lost the contest at the free throw line.

Fowler shooters made 17 of 27 free throws, but missed a number of one-and-one situations that could have turned the game around. Webberville hit on 12 of 26 free throws.

Fowler allowed Webberville 71 shots at the bucket and the Spartans made 28 of them. The Eagles snared 24 of 53.

Fowler's Alan Harr led all scorers with 18 points on seven field goals and four of five free throws, while teammates Glen Thelen and John Pohl netted 10 points each, and both hit four field goals and two of two charities.

Other Eagles scoring were Mel Pohl (4), Tony Thelen (9), Bill Thelen (3), John Simon (4), Scott Spicer (1) and Bob MacKinnon (6).

Lang led the Spartans with his 17 points, followed by Mark Vicelli with 15 and Tom Campbell with 14.

The Eagles, who end the season with a 17-4 record, will lose the services of two starters through graduation this year. Both Harr and Pohl are seniors, but Trierweiler can be consoled with the fact that players like MacKinnon and Glen Thelen are only sophomores and Tony Thelen, Mel Pohl and John Simon are juniors. They will all be back for another go-round next season.

"I'm real proud of the way these boys played all year," Trierweiler said. "They haven't quit."

The win allows Webberville to enter the quarter-finals Thursday night against a strong Flint Holy Rosary unit.

Scoring by quarters:
Fowler 13 20 13 19 65
Webberville 8 19 19 22 68

counted on was the uncanny luck the Spartans exhibited during the game Saturday afternoon at Central Michigan University's Finch Fieldhouse.

Turnabout jumpers, awkward 30-foot shots and some unexpected bench strength all worked out to Webberville's advantage. The Eagles did what they were supposed to do—allow the long shots and grab the rebounds. But the Spartans landed quite a few of those outside shots and grew stronger on the back-

Eagles dump Arenac in regional

MT. PLEASANT—The Eagles had to win here Thursday night. It was inevitable. But Clinton County cage fans were hoping the victors would be the Fowler Eagles and not the Arenac Eastern, Eagles—and their hopes were fulfilled. Fowler slipped past the Arenac squad by holding off a late rally to post a 83-82 victory and a shot at the regional crown in Saturday afternoon's final event. Things went a bit slow at first for the Fowler Eagles as they trailed by two points in the first quarter 21-19, but poured in 25 points in the second period to take a 44-39 halftime lead.

The Eagles played charged up basketball in the third quarter and outscored Arenac 24-16 and held off the other Eagles' 27 point attack in the last quarter to take the contest. The Eagles got off 31 more shots than their counterparts hitting 32 of 77 buckets while Arenac hit 27 of 46 tries.

The Eagles went cold suddenly in fourth quarter and managed only three baskets in 16 shots while allowing the Arenac team 10 of 16. "We just had a bad night," Fowler Coach Charles Trierweller commented. The Fowler cagers attempted a stall in the last period, but were hurt by missing free throws. "We missed 10 of them. If we would have hit these, we could have busted the game wide open," Trierweller said.

"They have a good ball club and this Sedar (Rod Sedar) is one of the area's better players," he said.

Trierweller lauded Fowler's Tony Thelen who drew the assignment to guard Arenac's Gene Williamson. Williamson had netted 18 points in the first half, but Thelen held him to one bucket and seven free throws in the last half.

The Fowler press forced numerous turnovers. Fowler only lost the ball four times in the first half and six in the second, while forcing Arenac to give up the ball 14 times in the first and 10 in the second.

Alan Harr led the Eagle scoring with 16 points on six field goals and four of nine free throws. Both Glen Thelen and John Simon had 13 points each on six field goals and a free throw.

Scott Spicer hit for 11 points on five field goals and one charity in seven tries, while Tony Thelen had 11 points on three buckets and five of six free throws.

Others scoring for Fowler were Mel Pohl (9), Bill Thelen (6) and John Pohl (4). Williamson led Arenac with 27 points, followed by Sedar with 20 and Bruce Grusecki with 15.

Titans bomb P-W

MIDLAND—It was supposed to be Pewamo-Westphalia against Saginaw St. Stephens.

But P-W Coach Harry Peacock's Pirates also faced two starters from Saginaw St. Joseph and dropped the regional first round game, played in Midland Tuesday evening, 96-65.

Saginaw St. Joseph, a Class D school forced to close this year, supplied the height, rebounding and scoring punch needed to make St. Stephens the fourth rated C team in the state.

The same two players, 6'5" Elijah Coates (20 points) and 6'2" Jim Beavers (25 points) were the nucleus of the team that defeated Fowler in the 1971 regionals.

The combined Titan and Buccaneer squads charged out to a 19-13 first quarter lead and commanded the Pirates from that point.

scoring 24 to P-W's 17 in the second quarter. St. Stephens held a 43-30 halftime margin.

St. Stephens, ranked sixth in the state's Class C polls, didn't let up in the second half, even when Coach Leo Franz turned the bench loose. A total of 12 Titans were listed among the scorers, while P-W had eight.

The Titans rolled up 29 points in the third quarter, while allowing P-W only 16 and outscored the Pirates 24-19 in the last quarter.

"The difference was on the boards," Peacock noted. "Height was the big factor," he added pointing to Coates and Beavers. "They had more speed than any team we've played this year and we were very tight at the start of the game."

The game was accented with speed, due to the absence of many fouls. The Pirates were guilty of 18 and Saginaw compiled 12. P-W made seven of their 14 foul shots and the Titans netted 12 of 20.

The Pirates were led by Mike Thelen with 22 points on 11 buckets. Teammates Steve Wirth, Roy Piggott and Mike Cotter also were in double figures. Wirth had 13 points on six field goals and one for one at the line. Piggott hit five field goals while Cotter netted 10 points on four buckets and two of four charities.

Others scoring for P-W were Randy Fedewa (3), Dan May (2), Doug Walter (3) and Randy Walter (2).

The Titans outrebounded the Pirates 49-36 and hit 42 of 77 shots from the floor to P-W's 29 of 68.

The loss dropped P-W's record to 14-6, while St. Stephens climbed to a 17-3 record and will meet Bath Thursday night in the quarterfinal tourney game.

and the boys played with more poise." He noted that the New Lothrop press did hamper the Bees in the first half. "But we made some adjustments. We adjusted the wing opposite the ball."

The key to the win was rebounding, Wilt said. They managed to screen out the Hornets before they could set up for a rebound. By limiting the Hornets to one shot before grabbing the rebound, Bath rolled up 29 points to New Lothrop's 14 in the fourth quarter.

Stoll led the Bees with 23 points on eight field goals and seven of nine free throws. Ordway netted 21 points on seven field goals and seven of nine charities, while Markham added 19 points on nine field goals and one of one free throw toss. The trio combined for 63 of Bath's 78 points.

Date Cantwell added six points and Roy Dobson netted nine for the Bees.

Terry Bruchmeier led New Lothrop scorers with 17 points and was largely responsible for keeping the Hornets in the game during the game, especially in the first few minutes of the last quarter. But he fouled out with six minutes left and Bath capitalized on his misfortune to break the game open.

"After that we ran right away with it," Wilt said. We were pressing after that and had them bottled up."

The Bees must now face the potent attack of Saginaw St. Stephen's, which features Elijah Coates and Jim Beavers, transfer students from the now defunct Saginaw St. Joseph school that went to the quarter finals last season.

"We feel pretty good to be there," Wilt said of the quarterfinals. "Size-wise they are a little taller than us. I saw St. Stephen's in the game against Coleman." Wilt said he was especially impressed with 6-5 center Coates.

Lions down O-E in exhibition

OVID-ELSIE—The Detroit Lions came to town Tuesday night and it was a game to remember—if not one for the record books.

The Lions, of course, are noted for their prowess on the gridiron in the National Football League, but they put on a pretty impressive show as cagers, too.

In a semi-serious atmosphere, the Lions tangled with the Ovid-Elsie Faculty and came up the winners 92-56.

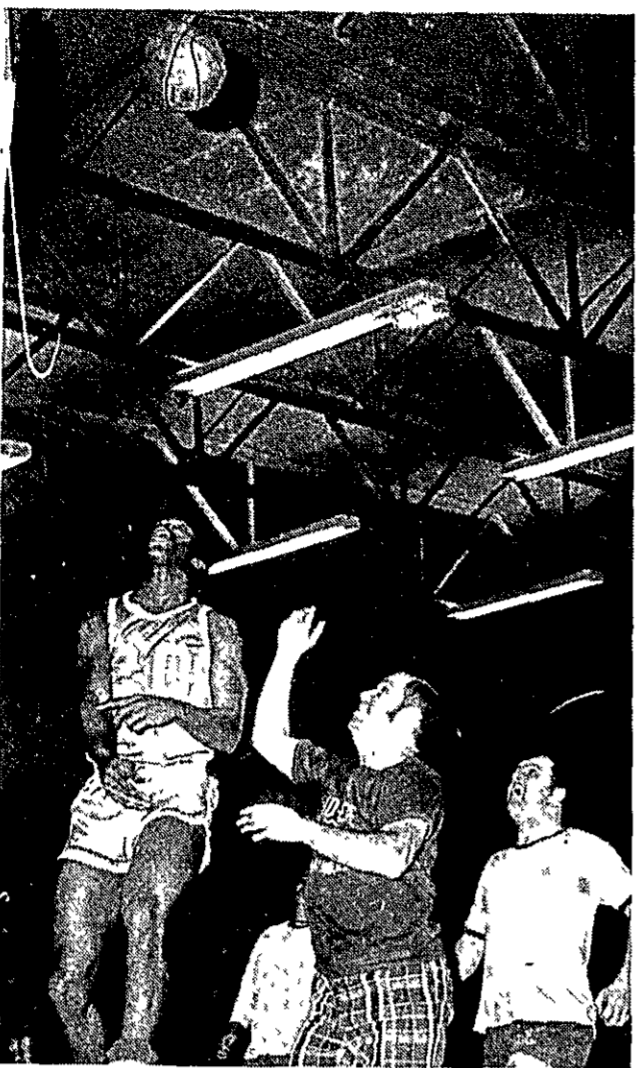

The Faculty got off to a slow start, trailing 19-0 before O-E School Supt. Donald Kenney, wearing a brightly marked "Superman" (or Super-superintendent) uniform, slammed home the first two points for the Marauder Mentors.

The Faculty managed to pour in 17 points in five minutes to trail the Lions 33-17 in the first quarter.

The Lions rolled to a 43-24 lead with 5:54 to go in the half and led at the buzzer 51-30.

Parents and their children had quite a time and had an opportunity to meet their favorite footballers face to face and get the priceless autographs.

On hand with the Lions were Lem Barney, Nick Eddy, Altie Taylor, Bill Cottrell, Wayne Walker, Jerry Rush and Craig Cotton.

Up, but not in. Detroit's Lem Barney tries to halt a Faculty shot as Bill Struck and Bob Foreback move in.

WHAT IS GOING ON?
When they said the Detroit Lions were coming—that's what they meant. Here Wayne Walker, veteran linebacker and sometimes kicker, launches a basketball in the general direction of O-E Faculty's net. Despite the horseplay, the Lions won 92-56.

Groom, Foran on MMB

MIDLAND—Two Ovid-Elsie cage standouts were named Monday to the 1972 Mid-Michigan B Conference all-star team.

Others named by the league's coaches for the 1972 team included Ted Allen and Tom Mayville, both seniors from St. Louis; Norbert Birchmeier, a senior and Bruce Larner, a junior from Chesaning; Mark Secor, a senior and Kevin Smith, a junior, from Ithaca; Brian Marquardt, a senior from Bullock Creek; and David St. Johns, a junior from Corunna.

Named to the honorable mention list were seniors Roger McIntosh and Jesse Myers of Bullock Creek, senior Jim Pauling of St. Louis, senior Bob Alden of Chesaning and sophomore Jeff Beard of Ithaca.

A group of Marathon Oil Company personnel were guests of the St. Johns Saylor-Beall Manufacturing Company last week where they took part in a training program and observed the local firm's manufacturing of air compressors.

Open Letter
from VAN W. HOAG

Dear friends,

It deserves emphasis that the time, the place, the character of the funeral service, the merchandise used, the cemetery selected - these are decisions of the family of the deceased. The funeral director acts only as a representative of the family.

The clergyman should be consulted in matters that concern him before any decisions are made.

Respectfully,

Van W. Hoag

Harsh winters call for gentle drivers if slips, spins, and skids are to be avoided, warns the Allstate Motor Club. Driving safely on icy or snow-covered roads requires far more sensitive car handling than the average motorist exercises on dry surfaces. In general, winter driving calls for a lighter touch on brake, accelerator, and steering wheel.

Annual Christian art show planned

More than $1,000 in prizes is being offered by the 11th Annual Christian Art Show conducted under the auspices of Ascension Lutheran Church of East Lansing. The exhibit of contemporary Christian art will be open to the public free of charge March 26 to April 2 from 12 to 9 p.m.

The first prize of $200 cash will be the Walter F. Patenge Award. It will be awarded by the juror, Richard Thomas of Cranbrook Academy of Art, on the basis of originality and success in giving expression to a Christian thought or idea.

The second prize will be a purchase award sponsored by the Aid Association for Lutherans. The work of art will become a part of the permanent collection of the Christian Art Show in Ascension Church.

Three $100 cash awards are being sponsored, one by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Mestelle, one by Mr. and Mrs. Ronald F. Heck, and one jointly by Mr. and Mrs. William H. Van Duzer and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar L. Church. An Eastern Michigan University Chapel Purchase Award has been provided by Miss Barbara H. Jacob. It will become a part of the new Lutheran student chapel being constructed in Ypsilanti.

The other cash awards include a $75 prize given by Hefner's Art Galleries of Grand Rapids, Hausman Construction Company, and A.D. Schneider and Company, a $50 award donated by Michigan Consolidated Gas Company of Grand Rapids; a $50 prize sponsored by Estes-Leadley Company; a $50 award given by Caswell and Company of Ionia; a $50 prize donated by Dr. and Mrs. Donald B. Coohon; and a $50 prize sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Emil G. Ellis.

Entries may be brought to the East Lansing Church, 2780 Haslett Road, March 17-19 from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Each artist is limited to three entries, and no fee is required. The works must be original and must have a Christian motif, that is express a Christian thought or idea. At the time of registration, the entrants may indicate whether the work is for sale or not. The Lutheran Church, without charging a commission, will help to establish contact between interested purchasers and the artists who wish to sell their productions.

Mr. Thomas not only will assign all awards and prizes; he will also determine which of the anticipated 250 entries are to be included in the 70 to 90 piece exhibit.

A Ladies Coffee has been scheduled for Tuesday, March 28, at 9:30 a.m., featuring artist John Anthony Kralej of Muskegon. All ladies are invited.

Local music group entertains

The St. Johns Morning Musicales ensemble, under the direction of Mrs. Alice Stork, presented two thirty minute programs at the Ionia State Hospital on March 7. The nine women were met and escorted by G. Stein, a staff musical therapist, to the men's geriatrics ward and the women's building.

Mrs. Martha Lundy, the ensemble accompanist and Mrs. Stork planned a program of diversified music. The songs ranged from John F. Wilson's "The Arrow and the Song," "My Johnny's a Soldier" by Lou Hayward and "Which Is the Properest Day To Sing" by Dr. Arne. A very important part of the program was the sing-a-long and request section. The audience was asked to participate in the program by clapping, singing and requesting favorite songs. Some of the most popular were "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands," "On Top of Old Smoky" and "The Happy Wanderer."

This is the second year that the ensemble of the St. Johns club, member of the Michigan Federation of Music Clubs, has offered its services to the state hospital. "Such a rewarding experience" was a comment made by many of the women. Those members participating this year were Mrs. M. Brown, Mrs. C. Duguay, Mrs. O. Fish, Mrs. E. Fowler, Mrs. A. Jones, Mrs. T. Koeppe, Mrs. M. Lundy, and Mrs. A. Stork, director.

Fine Arts Camp appoints director

Carl Bjerregaard, associate professor of music at Western Michigan University and director of the University Wind Ensemble, has recently accepted the position of Musical Director of the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp International Band.

Professor Bjerregaard received his Bachelor of Music degree from Western Michigan University and his Master of Music degree from Michigan State University as a woodwind specialist. He has directed instrumental music in the Montague and Muskegon public schools, where his bands earned the reputation of some of Michigan's finest. He has recently been honored by being selected to direct the ASBDA (American School Band Directors' Association) Honors band, which will perform during the ASBDA Convention in Lansing this fall.

The Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp International Band, a talented group of 60 high school instrumentalists, will perform—under Mr. Bjerregaard's able leadership—a four-week goodwill concert tour throughout Holland, Denmark and Germany this summer. In addition to performing an outstanding repertoire of contemporary band literature, the students will have the experience of living in several European homes, and the opportunity to do the normal amount of educational sight-seeing. Developing a continuing relationship between these students and their "host families" abroad is one of the primary goals of the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp International Program.

Another important aspect of this Program—beginning this year—is that talented young European students will reciprocate, and in addition to spending a period of time in session at Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp, they will present a similar concert series throughout the mid-west. The first such group will be a choir from Belgium with plans underway for instrumental groups from England, Germany and Denmark. The Blue Lake International Program, under the leadership of Gretchen Stansell, is dedicated to a many-sided approach to better understanding between the people of the world.

Meetings

Eight and Forty Salon held its February meeting at the home of Evangeline Caudy.

Following the business meeting, conducted by Chapeau Nelda McWilliams, Partner Cerelda Hicks gave a fascinating talk concerning her tour of the Holy Lands, with a group of people from the United States. Many points of interest that she visited were described and shown with a map and picture album. These included the Sea of Galilee, Nazareth, Mount of Olives, several famous cathedrals, Cana, the Wall of Jericho and many others. A side trip to the ruins of Corinth and Athens were also enjoyed on her trip.

Refreshments were then served and our March meeting will be held at the home of Elinor Bell.

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS H. FELL

Selinda Powers weds Thomas Fell

MAPLE RAPIDS — The Congregational Christian Church was the setting for the 5 p.m. candlelight service, which united in marriage Selinda F. Powers and Thomas H. Fell on Saturday, Feb. 5.

The altar was decorated with white baskets of blue and white carnations and each basket was adorned with bows of baby blue velvet ribbon.

Rev. Robert Meyers officiated at the double ring ceremony, with 200 guests present.

Church organist, Mrs. Helen Howe accompanied soloist Mrs. Joan Williams of "Perrinton" who sang "Hawaiian Love Song," "Whither Thou Goest," and during the ceremony, while the couple knelt at the altar, "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Powers of 7799 Wacousta Road, Fowler and the groom is the son of Franklin R. Fell of 1539 Guenther Road, Lansing.

The bride, was given in marriage by her father, and chose a gown of silk organza over taffeta, with a bib bodice trimmed with Alcon lace, featuring a high neckline, Bishop sleeves, with wide cuffs, a fitted waistline, all trimmed with Alcon lace interlaced with baby blue velvet. Front lace panels extending from the waist to the hemline were also interlaced with baby blue velvet. Her chapel length train, flowed from the waistline, and her elbow length veil of silk illusion was attached to a Dutch-style cap, trimmed in Alcon lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations, red roses and ivy.

For her "something old" she carried a white, lace trimmed linen handkerchief, which had belonged to her maternal great-grandmother.

Mrs. Michael Hogle, of Maple Rapids was her sister's matron of honor, while serving as bridesmaids were Janet Chick of Maple Rapids, Mrs. David Pierson of St. Johns and Miss Laurie Moore of Ashley a cousin of the bride. The attendants wore identical gowns of Old Glory red velvet, empire styled, featuring a high neckline and long sleeves trimmed with white lace. Their headpieces were short veils of white net attached to large red velvet bows. Each carried a single white carnation tied with red streamers.

Maryann Ryan of Maple Rapids served as flower girl and carried a basket of red, white and blue carnations. Her gown and headpiece were identical in style to the bride's attendants.

Serving the groom as best man was the bride's brother-in-law, Michael Hogle of Maple Rapids. Groomsmen were Robert Gray of Ithaca, William Priest and Terry Sillman, both of Maple Rapids, the latter an uncle of the bride.

Michael Sillman, cousin of the bride was ring bearer and ushers were Darwin Powers of rural St. Johns, and Ronnie Powers of Maple Rapids, cousins of the bride.

A reception and dinner for 250 guests was held, following the ceremony, at the Fowler Conservation Club, with Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Moore, aunt and uncle of the bride, of rural Ashley, as host and hostess.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sillman, of Maple Rapids, the bride's grandparents and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fell, of Ionia, grandparents of the groom.

A family tradition was observed at the wedding as the soloist, Mrs. Joan Williams sang at the wedding of the bride's parents nearly 25 years ago and again at the bride's sister's wedding three years ago.

Following a trip to Northern Michigan and Canada the couple are residing at 119 Washington St., Maple Rapids.

The bride is a 1969 graduate of Fulton High School and the groom of Waverly, in Lansing.

Business notes

By MIKE PREVILLE News Advertising Manager

When you're hot, you're hot and Webberville proved it Saturday by upsetting the Fowler Eagles in the regional basketball championship played in Mt. Pleasant.

The Eagles held Webberville's two big guns to a grand total of thirteen points. They outplayed, out hustled and out rebounded their taller opponents just as they had in two previous league victories.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Bismark Altvater who passed away one year ago March 12.

Often a lonely heartache and many a silent tear, but always a beautiful memory of the one we loved so dear. Sadly missed by his wife, children and grandchildren. 46-1p

In loving memory of Pfc. Benny D. Sloat who was killed March 19, 1970. Do not ask me if I miss him For there's such a vacant place Off I think I hear his footsteps Or I see his smiling face For he left me broken hearted Friends may think the wound is healed But they so little know the sorrow That is in my heart concealed. Sadly missed by his family. 46-1p-nc

The Eagles had the lead at the half and were looking good. They looked good in the second half, too. They didn't panic or lose their "cool". They never gave up. At the final buzzer they were still hustling.

What happened was Webberville got hot. Long (15' to 30') jump shots. The low percentage shot. The kind you like to see the other team take. Were dropping.

Anyone who follows basketball knows you can't win games on outside shooting alone but Webberville did it twice in one week. Tuesday night they upset Mt. Pleasant Sacred Heart.

But luck like that runs out and so I don't look for Webberville in the finals.

I will go way out on the limb and say that if West Iron County (Class B), St. Ignace (Class C) and Big Bay DeNoc (Class D) all U.P. teams win their next three games. They'll be champs.

Cooler heads are predicting Flint Northern (A), River Rouge (B) Shelby (C) and Ewen-Trout Creed (D), also from the U.P. will be crowned Saturday.

All of which reminds me of "my playing days". The tallest kid on our team was 5' 11" and the second tallest kid in the league was 6' 1". We played at places like Paradise, where at that time the gym was so small the ten second line doubled as the free throw line.

We played a 1-3-1 zone on defense and the wing man could touch the wall with one hand, the center's hand, who could touch the other wing man, who could touch the other wall.

We averaged 5' 9" as a team and had Paradise by 2" per man. They only had 8 kids out for basketball so their scrimmages weren't exactly "game conditions" but even so we almost lost.

Our two top scorers had real problems. They kept hitting the ceiling (it was kind of low). And we had problems with the ground rules. Hit the wall, out of bounds; hit the ceiling, in play; break a light bulb, technical foul and a 10 minute break while it was replaced.

The memory is faded but I think the final score was Paradise 32, Brimley 40 and 3 light bulbs.

Their good is to help organize a group of young adults and to help other youths realize the danger of drugs before using or when necessary helping those who need to get off drugs. Small towns and villages are no longer an exception and are or should be facing the problem that once was just a "big city problem."

ST. JOHNS — The unique program recently initiated by the St. Johns teachers has stirred some controversy and also gained state-wide recognition by various school groups.

The St. Johns Education Association (SJEA) was lauded in the February issue of the "Teacher's Voice," the official publication of the Michigan Education Association for their year-round approach to public relations.

It all started last August when residents in St. Johns voiced complaints during a series of school board meetings to discuss the millage issue. The SJEA decided to do something about it.

"We want to better inform the public of what happens in the schools," says Robert Holzhei, president of the association. "They have a right to know as they are the ones paying the full bill," says Holzhei.

"It upsets me that the public felt it was not better informed on what's going on in their schools," he said. Adding that the St. Johns teachers thought it was time for them to step in and create some credibility with the public because of the confusion of various issues and school programs.

A group of teachers volunteered to donate their efforts to the public relations program and a local public relations committee, chaired by Les Schwartz, a sixth grade teacher at Rodney B. Wilson Junior High, was formed. Eight PR committee members serve on a rotating basis, taking over PR chores for a week at a time. In essence, this group functions as a personal PR company for the 157 teachers in the St. Johns school system.

It works like this — any teacher in the system who feels she is doing that "something special" with her class can contact a member of the PR committee. The PR member in charge that week takes it from there.

Serving on the committee besides Schwartz and Holzhei are Roger Glumm, Bruce Barber, Melissa Agerstrand, Terry Adams, Pat Hooper and John Arehart.

An important aspect of the project is the coordinating council's willingness to spend time, talent, effort and money to improve community relations. The coordinating council authorized its own funds to cover such items as media advertisements and incidental expenses.

In their "communication bridge" between teachers and parents of students in the school or community dwellers, the committee has published informative advertisements in the Clinton County News and have a commercial broadcast entitled "View Point" on a local radio station.

News releases from the SJEA tell the community of achievements of teachers and touch on such subjects as driver's education, adult education, the school's music and drama departments with scheduled topics to be discussed such as teacher tenure and negotiations. The SJEA's program has attracted interest of other school districts and the committee is hopeful that an in-service workshop will be established soon to show how to set up the program.

Lawmakers to close city office

LANSING—State Sen. William S. Ballenger and State Rep. R. Douglas Trezise this week disclosed that they would be closing their St. Johns office at the end of this month.

The office, located at 102 N. Clinton in St. Johns, was originally opened by Ballenger, then state representative from this area, in 1969 and has been shared by him and Rep. Trezise since January of 1971.

"We take this action reluctantly," the two legislators said, "but the combination of increasing legislative pressure on our time in Lansing and a growing lack of public interest in the office has forced this decision. The expenses of operating this unique office—approaching $800 per year—which have been entirely paid by us would no longer seem justified."

In taking this action, Ballenger and Trezise assured their constituents that they intend to remain in close contact with them. They will both be available to meet with individuals or groups from this area to discuss legislative problems and can be reached by mail or telephone at the Capitol in Lansing.

Ballenger can be reached c/o the State Capitol, Lansing 48902 (telephone 373-2420). Trezise can be reached c/o the State Capitol, Lansing 48901 (telephone 373-0841).

OEEA wants principal in all buildings

OVID-ELSIE — The Ovid-Elsie Education Association (OEEA) proposed Monday night that current school policy should be changed to allow each school building in the district to have a principal.

The teachers told the board of education during a regular meeting that both North and East Elementary Schools in Ovid and the junior high schools in both communities are presided over by one principal.

In a prepared statement the OEEA said it recommends "that each building in our system have at least one principal, with the exception that one teacher in Bannister be delegated authority in that building."

"This recommendation is made for the following reasons:

- 1.—Availability of the principal to parents at all times.
- 2.—Availability of the principal in cases of emergency.
- 3.—Availability for student-principal communication.
- 4.—Availability for teacher-principal communication.
- 5.—Availability for disciplinary reasons."

Teachers said they hoped the board would act swiftly on their proposal, "and right this wrong, rather than deprive some of their students and teachers of a much needed administrator."

Mary LaBrie aids Karen Buggs in the construction of a ceramic mobile.

Walk in the art rooms at the St. Johns High School and you will soon see what a busy place it is.

For the past six weeks students engaged in the course have been doing their "own thing".

Working in the areas of ceramics, painting and sculpture, they are creating unusual items such as painting designs on film to create a "groovy effect" when applied together with psychedelic music, printing designs on a linoleum and the creating of ceramic mobiles.

Before the school year is over each student will try his hand at each of the categories.

Pauline Andrews chose to experiment with styrofoam and wood to make a unique sculpture.

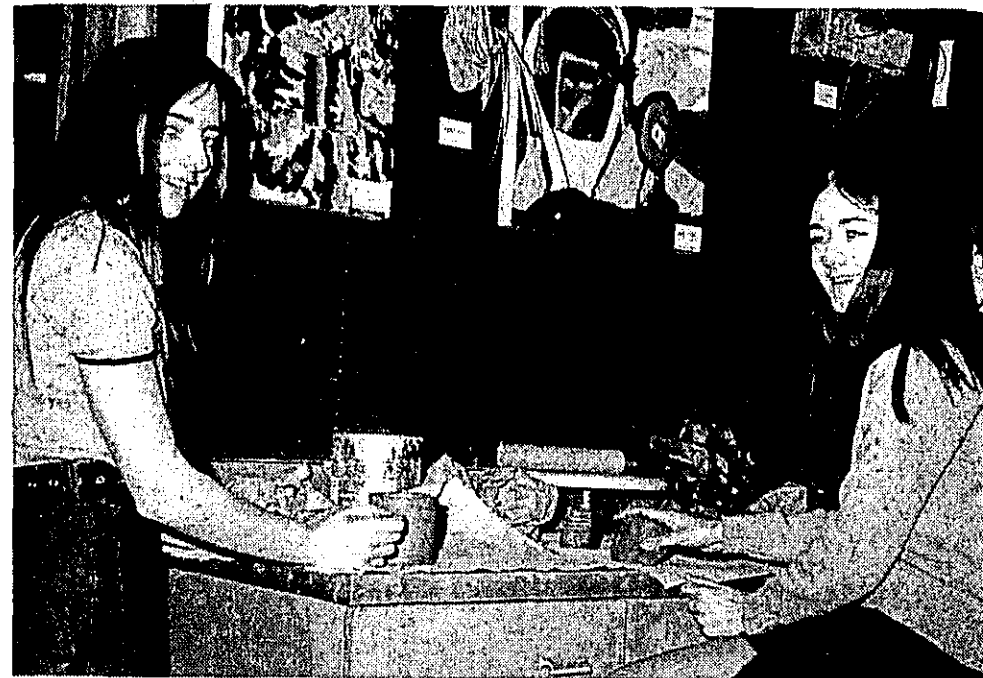

Senior Cathy Beagle is wrapped up in the production of a painting, using water colors.

John Warsler and Lynn Salters busy themselves with drawing designs on film strips. When finished they will put their creation together with music for an "in" effect.

Kim Brewbaker creates a sculpture using wire and wax.

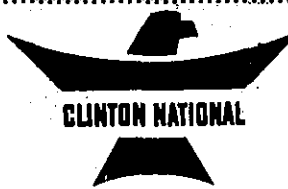

Deb Kosht and Sharon Stoy are producing earthenware figures as they are presently working with ceramics.

BANK & TRUST CO.

Congratulations. You just saved $5 by doing your own income tax. And all it cost you was three long, sleepless nights.

And a slight case of heartburn.

If you had gone to H & R Block, on the other hand, you could have relaxed while someone else figured out your return. Quickly and confidentially. Probably unlike any way you've ever done it before.

And, when you figure your own, you may be entitled to deductions you're not taking and taking deductions you're not entitled to. For instance, do you know all about deductions for child care or casualty losses? Or, that if your income increased over the last few years, you may save tax dollars by "income averaging"? And even if you did, would you know how to go about "income averaging" to begin with? Probably not. And there's no reason why you should. After all, you're an amateur when it comes to doing income tax.

You see, when it comes to income taxes, amateurs should depend on H & R Block. We have over 6,000 conveniently located offices manned by thousands of specially trained personnel. They're warm and friendly people who are anxious to help you. They'll sit you down over a free cup of coffee and show you some things about your income tax that you might never have known existed.

Furthermore, if your return is audited we will accompany you, at no extra cost, to the Internal Revenue Service and explain how your return was prepared, even though we will not act as your legal representative.

This means that H & R Block is ready to offer you year-round tax service for just one low fee a year, with no extra charge for audits and estimates.

H & R Block's charges start at $5 and the average cost was under $12.50 for the 7 million families we served last year. Which is somewhat less than what you paid.

Not to mention the fact that aggravation isn't tax deductible.

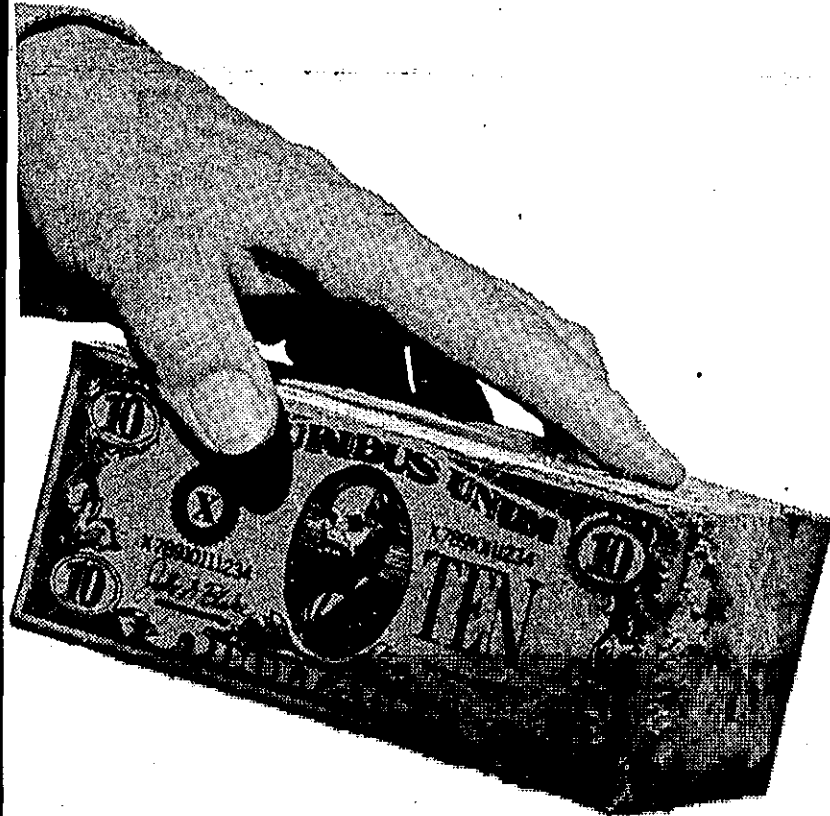

And we are:

DON'T LET AN AMATEUR DO H&R BLOCK'S JOB.

Breaking of tradition

We can thank the present generation for a few important changes in our way of life, and most of the variations center around breaking away from tradition.

Now not all traditional ways of doing things are wrong, far from it. But we of the older generation have hesitated to make the break, and in reality, just because it was "always done that way."

Many of the new ways make sense to a large segment of the oldsters. Wedding ceremonies, as an example, seem to be more meaningful to the participants. Songs that are played and sung express special feelings for the couple and aren't used just because the half-dozen or so "acceptable" ones have always been included.

And along the same line are changes now taking place in regular church services, prompted by the vigor of youth showing through old church traditions. As one pastor recently indicated, there should be no generation gaps in the church as all strive towards the same goals.

Much of our change in today's society was brought about, we're sorry to say, as a by-product of some violent years when young people erupted in protests. We cannot condone the methods, but sometimes you have to knock someone pretty hard before you get their attention.

Some say, with an air of satisfaction, that we have finally got the youth back to seeing it our way. Look around you, and you may find, with some satisfaction, that it is not that way at all, but just the opposite.

View from the Senate

By SEN. WILLIAM S. BALLENGER

Tired of always reading depressing news? Worried by all the grim stories about high unemployment, strikes, faltering industries, and sky-rocketing taxes in Michigan? Sick of columnists bemoaning the state's dire economic situation?

Then you'll be pleased to learn that only 10 nations in the world produce more than Michigan does; that Michigan is far from a one-industry state; that more than 93 percent of all business and industry types are represented in Michigan; that not only is Michigan not primarily a manufacturing state, 87 percent of Michigan's industry is non-manufacturing.

What's more, over 18 million vacationers will visit Michigan this year, which is twice as many as visited our state just 10 years ago. One out of every $10 spent on skiing in the United States is spent in Michigan.

All this unusual "good news" comes from a series of advertisements being placed in newspapers throughout the U.S.A. by Manufacturers' Bank of Detroit, which wants people to know what a solid state Michigan is.

The ads are primarily aimed at making investors realize that Michigan is financially a good, sound state.

The bank ads note that Michigan has one of the finest networks of rail, highway, pipeline and air transportation facilities in the nation and yet, when it comes to financial responsibility, Michigan has a lower per capita debt than most other states. That latter fact is one of the reasons why, when Michigan borrows money on the eastern financial markets, its interest rates are extremely favorable.

Michigan's highly versatile and skilled labor force enjoys a per capita income 8.3% higher than the national average. In the Detroit area alone, 77% of the workers own their own homes.

Manufacturers' Bank of Detroit is proud of Michigan and wants us all to know why -- and why all of us should be proud, too.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Tax reform should be on ballot

Editor: Governor Milliken and the Democratic Party each are now circulating petitions designed to place property tax reform on the ballot next November.

Without discussing the merits or shortcomings of either proposal, we are most concerned that:

1. It will be most difficult for either group to gather enough signatures to place their proposition on the ballot;

2. If they do appear on the ballot, the built-in "No" votes from those who oppose some part of either or both proposals, coupled with the "No" votes on each proposal from voters of the opposite party, indicate a very real probability to us that neither proposal can win.

We believe that, with your help, both houses of the Michigan Legislature can be persuaded to adopt a joint resolution to place property tax reform on the ballot.

If this were done, there would be a single issue on the November ballot dealing with this problem, and the time and money of two petition drives would be saved.

Sincerely, TERRY HERNDON Executive Secretary

Patches

When I was but a "small fry" And going to country school Patched overalls were common-- They sort of seemed the rule; 'N let some one but ridicule Patch stitch or color bright, He best make soon to "take it back" Or prepare himself to fight.

When boys grew somewhat taller 'N games got rougher too, The patches grew in number, On the overalls of blue;

And patch on patch, was not unknown, Though they sometimes hurt our pride, But we knew they only covered-- The real product was inside.

These days we see more patches, More torn and tattered pants, Among the long-hair contingent On the avenues of romance; With no desire to judge them, I wonder are they wise? Or faced with our old problem Must they still economize?

The problem

There's a flood of speculation On what is the proper way To tax our "swollen" incomes Uncle Sam's big bills to pay; The needs are monumental-- We dread to hear the facts-- We've reached the stage of levies Of Super-Tax on Tax.

More properties are confiscated, More long-time bonds appear, We make no shred of progress On our debt load year by year;

Our budgets are all unbalanced, Landlords are on our backs, We've failed of finding answers Save a Super Tax on Tax.

The builders of big budgets Work furiously and long, Producing more inflation, Disclaiming any wrong; The one solution I suggest To get us back on track-- Outlaw every Bigger Budget Halt this Super Tax on Tax! W. E. Dobson

Washington Reports

Noise bill ok'd

U.S. Rep. Garry Brown

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Legislation intended to make America a significantly quieter place in which to work and live passed the House last week by a vote of 356 to 32.

The Noise Control Act of 1972 empowers the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to set noise emission standards for new products in four areas identified as major noise sources: construction equipment, transportation equipment, motors and engines and electronic and electric equipment.

These standards, which are to be set within a year and a half of final passage of the legislation, would be supported by product labeling warning buyers of products noisy enough to affect public health and helping shoppers choose effectively noise cutting products.

The legislation assigns to the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) the responsibility to curb the single largest source of urban noise, low-flying aircraft and sonic booms.

The bill now goes to the Senate.

I regret action by the House Transportation and Aeronautics Subcommittees last week killing by a 6 to 5 vote for this session legislation I introduced aimed at easing the impact of railroad and airline strikes and, if necessary, imposing mandatory settlement. The vote was along party lines, six Democrats opposing the measure.

The American people have suffered from transportation industry strikes seven times in the last three years, the most recent being the crippling West Coast dock strike. Yet, the Democratic leadership in the Congress continues to not face up its responsibilities to enact laws to prevent these economically devastating strikes.

Also last week, House-Senate conferees agreed on legislation giving the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) for the first time powers to enforce anti job-discrimination laws through the Federal courts.

Addition of enforcement powers to the EEOC's existing powers of conciliation has long been a goal of civil rights groups.

Other key provisions in the EEOC legislation would: - extend coverage to firms and unions with 15 or more employees. At present, only those with 25 or more are covered.

- extend coverage to some 10.1 million employees of state and local governments, and about 2.5 million employees of formerly exempt educational institutions.

- authorize the EEOC, instead of the Justice Department, to bring suits to end a "pattern and practice" of discrimination by a union or employer.

This week in the House, the EEOC conference report will be voted on. If accepted in both the House and Senate, it will go to the President for signature.

A national primary

By TIM YOUNKMAN

The current race for the presidential nomination in both major parties has created something that has been lacking in American politics since before Franklin D. Roosevelt embarked on his four-term mission in the White House.

We are finally seeing a democratization of the democracy.

The most obvious, and newsworthy, has been the infighting among Democrats seeking the favor of the party rank and file. There has always been the fight behind the scenes, but we have seen nothing like this out in the open for many a campaign.

Some view the Democratic race as a "Circus" which has drawn bars from throughout the political spectrum of the opposition party--from California's Pete McClosky, a liberal, to right-wing author-commentator William F. Buckley Jr.

But the result of the power struggle is the de facto purge which will be inevitable after the elections in November.

With the variety of primaries that dot the nation's map, more and more, the people will choose the delegates committed to each of the candidates. It eliminates the wheeling and dealing on the first ballot at the convention, and turns over some of the political process back to the people, where it belongs.

All of those posed handshakes we have seen for so many years on TV and in the press may not disappear, but through the every-man-for-himself campaign, we will finally know that the women shaking hands don't like each other. Much of that may disappear in the future through this open political process.

The political speeches may end up with more truth than fiction in them, because the candidates are finding it increasingly difficult to locate groups of people to monopolize on the tour. So many candidates force each one to say what he thinks now and not wait for the 11th hour, as in the past. They have to seek out their audiences early, before their opponents.

Overlooked behind the publicity of the 11-man Democratic race is the Republican dissent brought about by Representatives McClosky and Ashbrook. While it is "a perilous situation to challenge the President," according to Ashbrook, it is necessary to forward the views of all party members--and Americans at large.

No incumbent should receive a rubber-stamp endorsement by party bosses simply because he is the incumbent.

The main drawback, thus far, has been the monies spent on directing the primary campaigns throughout the country. While most candidates are releasing their versions of campaign spending, there is no law that compels them to do so as in the presidential race after conventions are done with their selecting processes.

The answer to this could be instituting a national primary. That would eliminate local bosses controlling delegates, or picking them personally. The people would get back a share of the election process as depicted in the Constitution and by example of our country's founders.

The primary would allow for dissent--and allow the people to pick from a wider range of candidates. The rules would remain the same--but the result would be of much greater significance--than all of the hoopla that has been the sum and substance of American politics in this century.

"If It Fitz . . .

Mrs. Fitz stray detector

Editor, Lapeer County Press

By Jim Fitzgerald

"Look at that poor dog, it's lost, it's cold and hungry. The poor thing. Someone should take it home."

That's my wife talking. But it could probably be any man's wife. I recently surveyed 22 men, all married and all sitting on bar stools. Each man admitted he was wed to a woman who was a pushover for unloved strays of all breeds. In fact, 17 of the men said that's what caused their marriages. They had been strays once themselves. 10 of the men still wore collars with buckles. 5 of them revealed broken leashes tucked into their shirts. And 1 man swore his name was Prince.

But what was even more interesting, each one of these men said his wife had the startling ability to distinguish a lost dog from a found dog just by hearing its bark, from 15 blocks away, behind a billboard, with 5 friendly kids feeding it.

I always ask my wife: "How do you know that dog is lost? It is wearing a collar and a vest and appears well fed. It is trotting purposefully. How do you know it is not on its way to a happy home and a kettle of minced cat?"

"I can tell," she always says. "That dog is lost."

This is a remarkable phenomenon and she does not reserve it for animals. My wife can pass a stranger on the street and immediately tell you his life story.

"That man is not happy," she will say. "I think his wife has left him and she won't let him visit the children. So he doesn't know what to do with himself on Sunday afternoons."

"Well," I say, "we certainly should take him home and give him a can of Alpo." It's worse with children.

"Look at that mother," my wife will say on a crowded street. "She is yanking her little girl around by the arm. She hollers at her and she's been slapping her. I'll bet she beats the poor little girl every night. A woman like that should be locked up. I will take care of the child."

"You are not being fair to that woman," I always tell her. "She may be a wonderful mother. I can remember when you used to drop-kick our son into bed every night. And you used to lock him in the breadbox while you ran next door to match flibusters with Shirley and Carol. Anyone who didn't know you might well have accused you of being a rotten mother."

"That was different," she always says. "I love my children."

"How do you know that woman doesn't love her children?" I ask.

"I can tell by the look in her eyes," my wife explains, "and by the way she walks. Her husband has deserted her and she's taking it out on the poor daughter who probably loves her father more and now she can't even see him on Sundays."

"Hey," I say, "maybe that's the guy we passed a few minutes ago. I'll run after him. You hold the woman here. We shall bring this family together again."

"Get that lost dog, too," she says. "I know it belongs to that poor little girl. I can tell by the way she keeps petting the air."

Onward and Upward.

From the state house

By DICK ALLEN 88th District Representative

Democracy is alive and well in Michigan!

Perhaps I'm just in an optimistic mood, but I see many signs of a healthy vigor returning to our politics and the democratic process.

My mail is up and my phone is ringing more. More people are following what is going on. I'm hearing from kinds of people who have not been very active in recent years; farmers, physicians, women, gas station operators (not to mention snowmobilers).

The people are "on the muscle" with petition drives. Enough signatures have been collected to put daylight savings time and abortion law reform on the ballot. Property tax relief is beginning to show some signs of life and, for a new issue, unicameral (one house) legislature is generating interest.

Newspapers and television are full of public issues and politicians. (I hope we can keep in mind that the issues are the more important. Government should be based on law, not on men.) The media tend to give the people what they want and apparently the people want to know what is going on in public affairs, from international diplomacy to county government.

A good many candidates are showing up. Whether we talk about presidential nominations or county commissions, democracy only truly operates when the people are presented a choice.

As I talk with other elected officials at various levels, there is a widespread recognition of an increased public interest and awareness. There is disagreement as to the causes and whether or not it is a healthy sign.

Some point to television. Perhaps it is doing for government what it did for pro football, giving the people a close up view, generating new interest in an old activity.

Perhaps the people are beginning to realize that as we become more crowded, more affluent and more mechanized, government becomes much more deeply involved in the regulation of society. It is a rare person today whose life is not regularly affected by some branch of government.

Some think all the increased interest and activity is a result of anger on the part of the people with the political process and with politicians. But even if this is so, I think it's a healthy sign for the future.

Democracy has a better chance of survival with anger than with lethargy.

Calories can be healthful

Ever think there could be something good about calories in food? There is. Calories represent energy. Depending upon the food, calories can be good or poor carriers of essential nutrients. Make them serve you well by eating the foods which supply minerals, protein, vitamins and other nutrients. Trading one food for another on the basis of calorie value alone is a dangerous practice, according to nutritionists at Michigan State University.

Spirit of St. Pat

By REV. HUGH BANNINGA

In the 6th chapter of Deuteronomy we read the age old Jewish confession of faith, "Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord; and you shall love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul, and with all your might."

The devout Jew in the old days wore an armband or a headband with the "Shema" inscribed on it. You see, the commandment was to remember that the love of God was to be the central and absorbing interest in life. So God was smart enough to know that His chosen people would need some visual devotional aids to constantly remind them of His command.

You know, the greatest Jew who ever lived made the "Shema" a daily part of his life. Of course, I'm talking about that great Jew, Jesus of Nazareth. Do you remember how Jesus answered that scribe who asked Him what the first commandment was? Jesus told him, "The first is, 'Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God, the Lord is one; and you shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your mind and with all your strength. The second is this, 'You shall love your neighbor as yourself.' There is no other commandment greater than these." Jesus whole teaching was that living life to the fullest involved priorities. For Jesus the commanding priority was faith in God and love towards God. From that would come the necessary and inevitable result—love to neighbor.

So our first priority is to love God wholeheartedly. This means coming into harmony with his wishes. This means working—and I really mean working—at getting to know him better. This means spending more time in prayer and meditation. This means spending more time studying the Bible. This means spending more time at church services.

In short, this means spending more time with God than with our own pleasures. It means surrendering our own cherished way of life. I want you to think for a moment today about your own cherished way of life and how it interferes with your getting to know God better.

Let's start with where you live. Are you overly concerned about how your house looks? Are you greatly concerned about new furniture, new drapes, new carpet, new fixtures to make yourself feel successful and good and maybe also to impress your neighbor?

Are you overly concerned about having a good time? Do you always have to be "where the action is"? Maybe it's the country club or the bridge club or bowling or snow-mobbing or hunting or the cottage up north?

Are you overly concerned about how you look? Do you have to have the latest thing in fashions to cover your body? Do you have to have the latest hair style or the latest cosmetics.

A—No. If a veteran becomes totally disabled before his 65th birthday and meets other requirements, he is entitled to the waiver even though he does not apply for it until he is over 65.

Q—If a veteran's widow who draws death pension benefits is a patient in a nursing home and is in need of regular aid and attendance, is she eligible for additional pension?

A—Yes, she is entitled to an additional special monthly pension of $55 under the current law. Widows requiring regular aid and attendance are entitled to an additional $50 monthly pension under the "old" law.

Q—As the widow of a veteran who died 14 months ago, can I collect a Veterans Administration burial allowance?

A—Yes, provided your husband was a wartime, Korean Conflict or Vietnam veteran with another than dishonorable discharge; or if he was drawing service-connected compensation at time of death or discharge, or retired for disability incurred in line of duty. Application for a maximum $250 burial allowance may be filed within two years of burial or cremation.

Q—Can it be arranged with the Veterans Administration to automatically apply dividends from my G.I. life insurance policy toward payment of the loan on the policy?

A—Yes, if you request VA to use your dividends for that purpose.

Q—I am a veteran eligible for G.I. home loan benefits. Will VA guarantee a loan to buy a used mobile home?

A—No. Current regulations authorize only the purchase of new mobile homes with VA-guaranteed loans.

Q—I was honorable discharged from military service after serving from May 1, 1955 to May 7, 1959. Am I eligible for VA educational assistance?

A—Yes. Any veteran is eligible for this benefit after serving more than 180 days of active duty, any part of it after Jan. 31, 1955, and receiving an other than dishonorable discharge. Veterans released for service connected disabilities (regardless of length of service) and servicemen with more than 180 days of service are also eligible.

Q—May a veteran pay off a G.I. loan before date final payment is due?

A—Yes. A VA-guaranteed loan may be partially or fully paid at any time ahead of schedule. However, part payments may not be less than one monthly payment or $100, whichever is less.

Q—About two years ago, I received VA outpatient treatment for an injury sustained in service and verified by VA. Can I receive treatment again from VA?

A—Yes, if you have es-

Keep up SS records

People collecting monthly social security checks should always keep a record of their claim number.

With almost 27 million social security beneficiaries—some of them with the same names—the claim number is important because it immediately identifies an individual record.

The claim number is not always the social security number of the person getting monthly payments.

It's actually the social security number of the worker on whose record the beneficiary is collecting checks. The claim number has nine digits followed by one or two letters, such as A, B, C, or HA.

The claim number appears on monthly checks, Medicare cards, and on most correspondence from the Social Security Administration that involves the claim.

A great hurdle facing officials of the state correctional system has always been lack of all the tools they really need to "correct" the people just in their custody. The public was never convinced the cost was justified.

Even under the best of conditions, helping a person in jail is a tough job. By the time he winds up in the state prison system, he's demonstrated to other people that he can't make it on the outside. For some reason or other he can't live in harmony with his fellow man.

Most of the inmates lack even the equivalent of a high school education and have no training for work of any kind.

To "correct" them, then, prison officials must educate them both to work at a job and to live peacefully with other people.

Now, in Michigan, steps are being taken to construct what prison officials say will be a "true correctional institution" in Muskegon.

When it's done, the medium security facility will have room for 600 prisoners, who will be divided up into five 120-man groups.

"I don't think there will be anything like it," says State Corrections Director Gus Harrison. "It will be an extremely progressive program — what we feel should be done in a correctional institution."

Present plans call for the inmates assigned to the unit to be between the ages of 17 and 24 with IQ's in the 80 to 100 range. In addition, they will be men "whose behavior is not so assaultive or disruptive as to require the maximum security placement of the reformatory."

"Most of these men have underlying problems in very basic areas of behavior and performance," Harrison says. "They lack motivation and impulse control, and have attitudes that are ultimately self-destructive as well as dangerous to others."

To change this, a counseling program will be set up and plans specify: "counseling is being increasingly recognized as essential to any effective total treatment program."

Most unique part of the new prison, perhaps, is a self-analysis system built right into its operations.

"We will build in at the outset the capability to research what we are doing," says Harrison. "This has been one of the weaknesses of the past — we haven't been able to reevaluate our own program as they are initiated."

The new prison will attempt to work on every aspect of the inmate's profile in hopes of turning him into a useful citizen.

It is this total approach which Harrison favors. "So many people think all you have to do is change one thing and corrections can be an automatic thing," he says. "But that just isn't the way it is and anybody who's worked in the field knows that. You're dealing with a hard core of people by the time you get to the penitentiary and there are no easy answers."

He and his staff are hoping, that the Muskegon prison may provide some of the not so easy answers.

STATE health officials say they have been given a new weapon in the fight to detect and eradicate the most prevalent of the illnesses lumped under the classification "venereal disease" — gonorrhea.

The state Bureau of Laboratories now is handling a new method which allows the swabbing of live bacteria from a patient and the sending of the bacteria in a carbon dioxide filled jar to the state laboratory.

Previously, only examination of smears for dead bacteria could be done as a practical procedure and this failed to detect many women carrying the disease.

Communicable Disease Control Chief Dr. Donald Cöohoon sees the new method as a breakthrough in the fight against VD.

"When you realize that gonorrhea is the most commonly reported communicable disease in Michigan and the nation, and that an estimated 90 per cent of the infected females don't even realize they have the disease, you can see how significant this new diagnostic tool is," he said.

Pinto power

By HELEN MEACH
Extension Home Economist

Pinto bean powder? Never heard of it? Well, it's a new twist to the familiar old versatile bean. Scientists recently developed a powder which was tested to make refried beans, a favorite dish, which is popular in the Southwest.

Other new products which we may soon find for our convenience food shelves are quick-cooking frozen beans—large limas, pintos, black-eyes and thorgreen limas. Cooking time is 8-12 minutes with no presoaking required.

Homemakers may be ready to accept new foods developed by Agricultural Research Laboratories which are high in nutrition and low in cost, but old fashioned homemade bean soup no doubt will remain a heavy favorite.

There's no better way to say "welcome home" on a cold, blustery day than with a steaming kettle of bean soup seasoned with a meaty ham hock, carrot, onion and celery.

7 Bean Soup
1 large smoked ham hock
1 pound beef soup bones
5 cups dried beans:
1 cup Michigan navies,
2/3 cup each of pinto, cranberry, kidney, black eye, garbanzo, lima 5 medium onions, chopped fine

5 medium carrots, chopped fine
5 stalks celery, chopped fine (or 1 small bunch)
1 #2-1/2 size can solid pack tomatoes
1 hot Portuguese sausage (or any hot garlic sausage)
Cover hock and bones with water; add half again as much. Simmer, covered, for 2-1/2 hours. During same time, simmer 7 kinds of beans in 5 quarts of water, covered about 2 hours or till tender. If needed, add more water.

Meantime, chop vegetables. Add to meat stock after it has cooked 2-1/2 hours. Also add cooked beans and tomatoes.

Cut sausage in slices about 1/4 inch thick and pan fry till lightly browned. Add to soup. Slowly simmer for 30 minutes.

Soup should be cooled with ventilation under the pot (a knife handle under the edge will do). Refrigerate.

Soup is cooked a day before serving and gets better as it ages. If it lasts for more than a couple days, you could add finely shredded cabbage the last time around.

Freezing, surface damage and long periods of storage do not usually harm canned foods, according to a Michigan State University consumer information specialist.

During freezing, the contents of a can expand. This puts strain on the cans seams and causes the ends to bulge, Miss Ada Shinabarger explains. If the ends return to their normal, flat appearance after thawing, the contents are safe to use. If not, air has gotten into the can and the contents will not keep.

Freezing may change the texture of some canned foods, Miss Shinabarger reports. Creamy canned foods may curdle or separate, but heating usually restores the original consistency, she explains.

Canned damage, such as rust or dents, does not affect the contents, as long as there are no leaks. If the can leaks, the ends bulge, or the contents have an abnormal odor or appearance, discard the can without testing the contents, the specialist advises

Mobile home owners should have titles

LANSDING -- A home is not a home if the home is a mobile home, according to Secretary of State Richard H. Austin.

Mobile homes are classified as motor vehicles in Michigan. As such, owners should have the title in their possession, Austin warned.

The Secretary of State issued the warning because of complaints of mobile home owners who have tried to sell their trailers and have met with difficulty because they did not have possession of the title.

"As defined in the Michigan Vehicle Code, mobile homes and trailer coaches are motor vehicles subject to the titling provisions of the code," he said.

"The transfer of ownership of a motor vehicle requires the transfer of title, but we have received an increasing number of complaints recently indicating that this is not being done," he said.

"The transfer of ownership of a motor vehicle requires the transfer of title, but we have received an increasing number of complaints recently indicating that this is not being done," he said.

"The complaints usually involve a mobile home owner who is ready to sell his trailer only to realize that he does not have a title. This means that he must locate the dealer vehicle, outright or with a loan, the title goes with the vehicle.

"This means that even though you owe a bank or a lending company a thousand or two thousand dollars on your vehicle, you still should have possession of the title," Austin said.

"The same holds true for the mobile home," he continued. "Therefore, I am advising those mobile home owners who do not have their title, to obtain it as soon as possible. If the home is already paid in full, then obtain it from the person or company it was purchased from. If it is still under mortgage, get the title from the company with whom you are dealing."

Also, unless the mobile home is to be used on the highways, it is not required that the trailer be registered,

Trees are beautiful

EAST LANSING — Trees have more influence on landscape beauty than any other plant.

"To function properly, trees should provide shade in summer, protection from wind in winter and improve property appearance," says Dr. Harold Davidson, Michigan State University horticulture specialist.

Early spring is the best time of year to plant hardwood trees. "Plant them while they are dormant—before the leaves have begun to grow," Davidson says. "They can be planted later in the summer, however, if they get careful handling and aren't allowed to wilt."

Davidson says the worst time to transplant trees is in the late spring—after leaves have begun to form and before they mature.

When planting a tree, good soil and adequate drainage are important. The hole should be at least twice as wide as the existing roots. When the hole is dug, add a layer of good soil on the bottom.

If the tree is in a ball of soil, soak the ball—along with the wrapping—in a tub of water. After a few minutes the tree is ready to plant. Wrappings around the roots should be removed with care to avoid disturbing the ball of soil.

After setting the roots in the hole, Davidson advises adding soil to fill two-thirds of the hole and packing it down firmly. Then fill the rest of the hole.

Build a small, circular dam of soil the same diameter as the hole. This will serve as a water reservoir.

According to Davidson, trees should be watered thoroughly, using at least one gallon of water, after planting. "Watering should continue at least once a week during the growing season," he says, "unless there has been an inch of normal rainfall."

Soon after planting, a mulch of straw, peat moss, decayed leaves or other mulching material should be spread around the tree. "Two or three inches of mulch, spreading out as far as the branches extend, will keep the roots cooler, hold soil moisture during the summer and guard against frost damage in winter," says Davidson.

ing more than half of Michigan's land area have been the basis for great industries throughout history and help make Michigan one of the most beautiful of all states. Celebrating Arbor Week with proper ceremonies and the planting of trees will be a constant reminder of a priceless gift we must preserve for this and future generations, he declared.

As in the past the Governor will plant a tree on the State Capitol lawn furnished by the Michigan Association of Nurserymen who as in the past will place a potted evergreen tree on the desk of each legislator.

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources in cooperation with the nurserymen's association has prepared a special pamphlet giving full information for the observance of Arbor week. They may be obtained free from the department's Distribution Room, Stevens T. Mason Building, Lansing, Michigan 48928.

The five regional chapters of M.A.N. at Detroit, Lansing, Saginaw, Kalamazoo and Grand Rapids will aid groups with their programs. For information contact M.A.N., Headquarters, P.O. Box 5387, Lansing, Michigan 48905.

In urging the planting of trees during this week Governor Milliken points out that aside from the harvest of wood, fruits and beauty, Michigan's more than 90 species of trees serve a vital function in today's increasingly polluted world as they help combat air pollution by removing carbon dioxide from the air and give off oxygen.

Because Michigan's more populated areas are those most in need of trees, it is to our advantage that this natural asset be enlarged and that preservation, conservation and restoration of trees be considered a major step in continuing the benefits of this heritage, the proclamation states.

He suggests that various programs seeking to cope with the environmental crises facing people such as the nurserymen's Green Survival program are to be encouraged.

Career information

Deciding what to do after graduating from high school can be one of the most crucial and baffling decisions faced by today's youth.

The College of Agriculture and Natural Resources at Michigan State University is offering a program on Special Careers for parents and youth during Farmers Week, March 20-24 at Michigan State University in East Lansing.

Faculty members have planned this program to help Michigan's young people evaluate career goals and know about employment opportunities and educational requirements of careers in agriculture and natural resources.

Information on technical and four year programs will be offered along with discussions on financial aid, campus life, college admissions, job opportunities, college costs and choice of major.

The program will be held in the University Auditorium during the last three days of Farmers' Week in the Career Hospitality Room on Wednesday, March 22, 5 p.m. - 8 p.m., Thursday, March 23, 11 a.m. - 5 p.m., and Friday, March 24, 8 a.m. - 3 p.m. Miss Michigan, Diane Kish, will be featured at these career information sessions. Copies of the total Farmers' Week program, with the theme "Now & 1985", are available from the County Extension Office.

If you would like to go camping with your friends now is the time to decide and make your reservations as soon as you can.

Seeger of Bath and Ann Graham worked with the Leader Dog program idea. Our congratulations to these members on their participation in this program. Mrs. Charles Hazle of St. Johns was quite active in the total Leadermete program serving as Vice President of the State 4-H Council.

THE CLINTON COUNTY 4-H Horse Clubs will be sponsoring a spring horse show on Sunday, May 14 at the County Fairgrounds starting at 12:00 noon. Members are urged to start practicing their riding techniques as soon as the weather breaks.

A horse clinic for members, leaders and parents is scheduled for Monday, May 1 at the Fairgrounds starting at 7:00 p.m. Three clubs indicated they would be riding in the Soap Box Derby Parade on May 21 at St. Johns.

A NEW 4-H HORSE club has been organized in the Fowler area under the leadership of Mrs. Hugh Miller. The members named their new club "the Fowler Boots & Buckles". Officers for the new club are: Cindy Miller, President; Doug Taylor, Vice President; Mary Weber, Secretary; Terri Tiedt, Treasurer; Barbara Motz, Recreation Leader; and Nancy Jordan, News-reporter. The dues will be 25¢ each month.

Their next meeting will be April 4 at the home of Mrs. Jo Ann Simon of Fowler. Anyone wishing to join the club should contact Mrs. Miller.

Early cut of alfalfa successful

ST. JOHNS — Early first cutting of alfalfa is the key to success in getting higher yields and control of the alfalfa weevil.

Here are some advantages to early cutting:

- Higher quality hay or silage with less stem, more leaves.
- Better chances of avoiding rain damage.
- Increased chance of three cuttings and maybe four.
- More protein which cuts cash outlay for high-priced protein supplement.
- Better animal intake and more milk (or meat) produced per acre.
- Possibility of being able to spray for alfalfa weevil immediately after first cutting. Treatment when plant is not at full growth can bring more effective control at possibly less cost.
- Early cutting is described as the "late bud or early flowering stage". In a good year this can be several weeks earlier than in a slow crop year.
- The important thing is to be ready when the crop is ready. All harvest equipment should be checked and ready to roll when the alfalfa buds start to open.

SS finds savings in rehabilitation

Social Security "saves" $1.60 for every $1 invested in rehabilitating disabled people, according to Roger W. Seamon, Social Security District Manager in Lansing.

Social Security funds are saved when people getting monthly disability checks are rehabilitated, return to work and stop getting monthly disability checks.

Some 15,000 severely disabled people received rehabilitation services at a cost of $38.7 million between March 1966 and July 1969. More than 4,000 of them were able to return to paying jobs according to a recent study.

The saving in Social Security payments the workers and their families might otherwise have received amounts to $62.3 million or $1.60 for every $1 invested on rehabilitation.

Social Security pays monthly benefits to eligible workers who are severely disabled and cannot work for a year or more, and to members of their families. In selected cases, Social Security helps pay for vocational rehabilitation services provided by State and local agencies.

Since the period covered by the study, an additional 3,000 severely disabled workers have been rehabilitated with Social Security help.

Of the disabled who get social security payments one in five receives rehabilitation services. Of that number, one in ten gets financial help for vocational What's new in herbicides?

AAtrex 4L. It pours.

New AAtrex 4L is the brand of atrazine that pours. This special liquified product controls most annual grass and broadleaf weeds in corn and sorghum right up to harvest just like AAtrex wettable powder.

But with AAtrex 4L there's no premixing. You simply shake and pour it directly into the tank. And apply in a minimum of 10 gallons of water per acre.

Easier handling. A minimum of agitation. And less chance of nozzle and screen plugging. That's AAtrex 4L. And we have it in 1 gal. and 5 gal. containers. If you prefer, we'll apply it for you.

REAP important to environment

EAST LANSING — Nick Smith, Chairman of the Michigan State ASC Committee, says the 1971 Rural Environmental Assistance Program plays an important part in improving the environment for all the people.

This Federal program, better known as REAP, cost-shares with farmers for improving and conserving our natural resources. The program has been in effect since 1936 and is used by farmers to carry out soil, water, woodland, wildlife, and pollution abatement practices on farmland.

Smith said pollution abatement practices were carried out on 181 farms in Michigan under the 1971 program and 120 farms under the 1970 program. Most of these practices dealt with livestock wastes entering streams, rivers, or lakes. He said pollution problems are costly for the farmer to correct while the Federal cost-share only represents 30% to 40% of the total cost. Many times, farmers receive very little direct benefit. Farmers will be able to carry out additional pollution abatement practices in 1972 due to our increased State allocation.

Smith said 1,194 farmers carried out wildlife practices, such as constructing deep and shallow ponds, planting food plots, meadow seedings and trees and shrubs. Cost-sharing amounted to $217,113 which was less than half the total cost to the farmer.

He pointed out that most other REAP practices carried out under the program benefit wildlife. These practices include vegetative cover, livestock ponds, tree and shrub plantings for forestry and erosion.

About a million more Americans get interested in recreation each year. Privately-owned farm and timberlands provide 80% of the wildlife available for hunting, as well as much good fishing. Agricultural conservation on private land Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sage in Lansing, honoring several members' birthdays.

crease hunting, fishing and other recreational opportunities.

Other accomplishments under the 1971 program include conservation practices carried out on 721 farms under PL-506 Watersheds in the amount of $231,230. Practices carried out in thirteen counties in cooperation with the Northwest Michigan Resources and Conservation Development project on 1,851 farms amounted to $403,758.

Two-hundred sixty two farms under Special Projects in the Upper Peninsula amounted to $90,831. These Special Projects dealt with pollution abatement of livestock wastes and the improvement and establishment of permanent vegetative cover which were important to the UP's dairy and beef farmers. Conservation practices carried out in cooperation with the Upper Peninsula RC&D project on 1,133 farms amounted to $330,383.

FARM BUREAU MEET

Approximately 80 Farm Bureau Services field personnel participated Feb. 2 at Lansing in a special one-day seminar to explain benefits of LPS and its use in modern feed management. The seminar program included latest information on feeding techniques by Dr. Gil Porter, research director of the Cooperative Research Farm at Syracuse, N. Y., and Dr. Donald Hillman, Michigan State University dairy specialists.

SELF-HELP

A man's mind is his mint and it's up to each individual to do his own coining.

More beef, dairy growers use LPF

LANSING—An increasing number of Michigan dairy and beef cattle producers are turning to use of LPS (liquid protein supplement) in their feeding programs.

Already thousands of tons of LPS, which is supplied in Michigan through Farm Bureau Services retail outlets, have been delivered in the last seven months and the volume is expected to double within the next year, according to Don Shepard, FBS feed department manager.

Shepard reported that 25 FBS outlets now are prepared to serve livestock producers and at least 12 more centers will be equipped by July 1 to deliver the highly successful feed supplement. Labor-saving handling is one of the major advantages of LPS as well as its proven nutritional benefits for feeding both dairy and beef cattle, according to Shepard. Approximately 80 FBS field personnel participated Feb. 2 at Lansing in a special one-day seminar to explain benefits of LPS and its use in modern feed management.

The seminar program included latest information on feeding techniques by Dr. Gil Porter, research director of the Cooperative Research Farm at Syracuse, N. Y., and Dr. Donald Hillman, Michigan State University dairy specialists.

Those attending from this area were: Frank Carpenter, Leslie; Ron Miller, Leslie; Harran Stanton, Charlotte; Stew Watt, St. Johns; and Art Romig, St. Johns.

Area students win honors at banquet

EAST LANSING — Two Michigan State University students from St. Johns have received recognition for their work in agriculture and natural resources.

Stephen Rennells, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Rennells, was honored for his participation and "outstanding performance" as a member of the 1971 Livestock Judging Team. A senior at MSU, Mr. Rennells had participated in the Eastern States contest and the All-American Quarter Horse Congress.

Bruce Harte, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Harte, was a recipient of a scholarship from the Michigan Dairy Memorial Scholarship Foundation, Inc. for his high academic achievement. He is majoring in dairy products food science.

The presentation was made recently at the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources honors banquet at Michigan State University. Those honored were selected from 2,400 students in the college and the agricultural technology programs.

AGRICULTURE in ACTION

It's not news to farmers and urban homeowners that property taxes keep going higher and higher. Property owners are going to have to stand up and be counted if any changes are to be made.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago recently pointed out that farm real estate tax levies more than doubled between 1960 and 1970—nine per cent was recorded in one year, 1969-1970. Farm property taxes have increased for 28 straight years.

In contrast, the Bank reports net farm income increased by only about one-third during the Sixties. As a result, such taxes took nearly 13 per cent of net farm income in 1970, compared to less than nine per cent in 1960.

About half of the 50 states now have special differential assessment laws because of the imbalance in the growth of farm real estate taxes relative to farmers' income.

Property taxes, as most farmers know, are the primary source of revenue for local governments and schools.

Recent court decisions could mean a change in the traditional role of property taxes. The decisions held that school systems financed through local property taxes result in unequal educational spending between districts. The Michigan Supreme Court now is considering whether Michigan property tax as presently used for schools is constitutional.

The citizens of Michigan now have the opportunity to have tax reform. Governor Milliken and the Democratic party each have a tax reform petition drive underway to place a Constitutional amendment on the November ballot.

The two proposed amendments differ somewhat in the source of new revenue, but both can be placed on the ballot so the voting public could make a decision.

It is essential that the tax reform issue be put on the ballot. It may be the last opportunity for any meaningful reform.

Everyone can help

By LORRAINE SPRAGUE

Having trouble keeping the family bathroom clean and orderly? Does Mom find she is the cleaner-upper in the family? Maybe it's time to enlist the cooperation of the whole family and discuss ways everyone can help to keep this important room in the home neat and clean.

Lots of space is wonderful, but not every house has ample bathroom space for each family member to keep all of his or her personal grooming articles plus the necessary towels, etc. in the one room. Hamper or laundry bags in each child's room combined with the understanding that each child's laundry goes into the container when he leaves the bathroom can help.

Distinctive towels, assigned (even labeled for young children) hang up spots and a separate shelf or drawer for each individual's personal needs help keep things more orderly.

It's important to establish ground rules regarding wiping up splashes or dirt on floor, walk, faucets, basins and mirror. When each person cleans up after himself, there is less left for Mother to take care of. When each family member knows where the cleaning supplies are kept in the bathroom and how to properly use them and of course use them, there'll be no accumulations of soap, toothpaste, shaving cream or bathtub rings.

It may be necessary for older children to take care of some tasks that are too difficult for young ones. This might include cleaning mirrors, shaking out rugs, scouring the toilet, emptying waste baskets, etc. The family can help make decisions about who will do what and when. Perhaps a revolving schedule is needed.

If some family members have short memories, a chart showing the chores, when they are to be done and who will do them might help. Gentle reminders of each persons' responsibility daily or at other times can help develop habits to keep the bathroom neat enough for use at any time.
