Lansing raid nets two Clinton men

GRAND RAPIDS—Two Clinton County men will face examination in U.S. District Court April 17 after their arrest Wednesday for violating federal gambling laws.

Leo D. Thurston, 34, of St. Johns and Gary Lee Robinson, 32, 12898 Longspur, Dewitt were arrested along with 40 other persons in connection with a $12 million gambling operation based in Lansing.

According to police, Thurston allegedly operated from a house on Lemrock Street in Lansing, giving out the betting line to bookies and to take action over the phone. These bets were called in to Isaac (Ike) Johns, 60, of Lansing, alleged to be the head of the gambling operation.

Police said the headquarters for the gambling operation was the Coney Island Restaurant on Washington Street, Lansing. They indicated Thurston received the official point spread or betting line from Johns who apparently had contacts in Detroit.

Police noted the bets were taken on all sporting events, most recently college and professional basketball.

Police reports indicate some of the information gathered was acquired through wiretapping by federal agents. They said the gamblers and bookies used code names and numbers to identify themselves.

Both Thurston and Robinson were charged with violating U.S. Code 18, section 1955, of the federal anti-racketeering laws which prohibits the conducting, financing, managing, supervising, directing or owning all or part of an illegal gambling business.

Thurston is also charged with conspiracy to violate the federal gambling laws.

Both men were released March 30 following a preliminary examination on $1,000 personal recognizance bond.

The gambling raids took place in a number of Michigan cities by federal, state and local officers. All of the 42 arrested were to face preliminary examination in Grand Rapids U.S. District Court.

Thurston, named at one of the ringleaders, was arrested along with David N. Godbey, 28, of Lansing, Johns' son-in-law; Richard Weber, 33, of Haslett; and Bruce Shepard, 28, of Lansing.

Others arrested were Roger Weber, 30, of Lansing; Garland Weber, 34, of Lansing; Gary Lee Chapman, 29, of Holt; James Cook, 38, of Lansing, owner of the Green Door Lounge; Fred Behymer Jr., 32, of Potterville, owner of the Blinkerlite Bar; Robert Hamel, 34, of Lansing, manager of Paul Revere's Bar; Joseph Kobus, 45, of Lansing, owner of the Colonial Bar; George Vlahakis of Lansing, owner of Nip 'n' Slip Drive-In; Richard L. Denton, 37, of Lansing; Richard Dunlap, 28, of Okemos; James C. Ebert, 38, of Lansing; Harry Holden, 29, of Okemos; Roy L. Thurman, 49, of Lansing and George Moorhatch of Flint.

McNeely wants to halt tax increases, Wallace

By TIM YOUNKMAN

ST. JOHNS—Tax relief, the 18-year-old voters, registration and how to stop George Wallace were the prime topics of discussion here during a regular meeting of the Clinton County Democratic Party Thursday night.

James McNeely, chairman of the Democratic state central committee and featured speaker, told the audience of about 20 area residents that it was essential to the party to get out and register potential voters.

"A lot of people say they are independents, but it is clear that most of unregistered people would vote Democrat," McNeely said. "Generally, they identify with the Democrats."

He said that about seven of every 10 unregistered voters would be a supporter of the Democratic Party. He added that if there would be a 100 per cent registration in Clinton County, "we would have a Democratic county."

McNeely said there is a bill before

Congress now that would create a permanent registration. In other words, the same of the voter would remain on the books until he notifies the clerk that he has changed his address.

"There is no chance that it will get out of the Senate," he said. "The Republicans are not about to make registration easier or more equitable."

McNEELY SAID he would discourage the formation of a young people's party now that the recently enfranchised 18 to 21 year-olds can vote. "There is no reason why they can't participate in the party." He said he also would encourage county clerks and township clerks to deputize individuals to seek out and register unregistered voters.

That type of campaign would be successful if the county and township clerks would deputize the same individuals so that they could travel freely throughout the county signing people to the registration rolls. He suggested booths at school, shopping centers and other areas of heavy pedestrian traffic.

McNeely pointed out that those people recently registered tend to vote in higher numbers than other voters. "Those just registered vote almost 2-1, about 85 per cent, while the average is about 60 per cent for voters as a whole."

McNeely told his listeners that part of the $1 million the party plans to raise in this election year will be used to attempt to halt the George Wallace express.

Wallace, the Alabama governor who has made good showings in earlier primaries around the country, will be on the May 16 presidential primary ballot in Michigan.

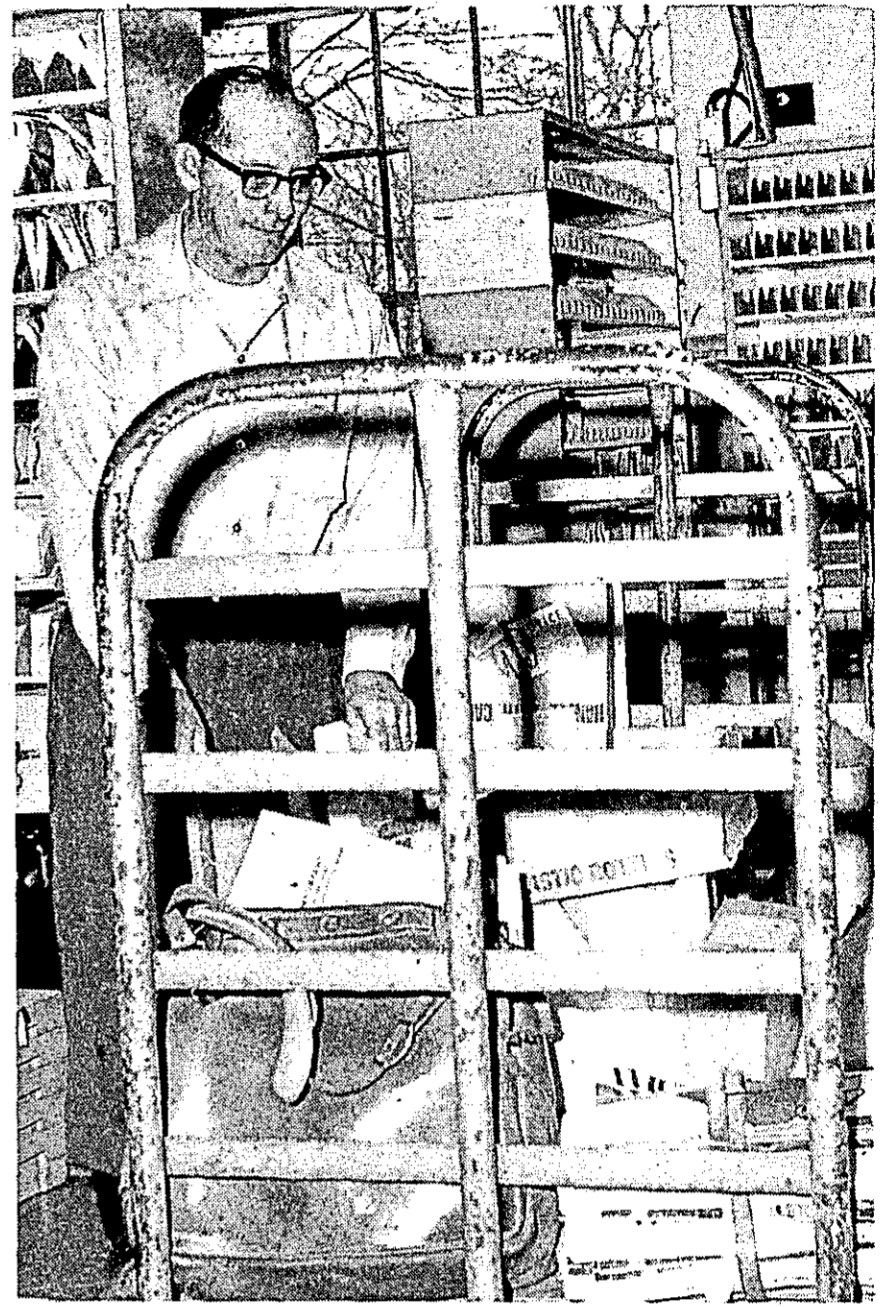

"We will invest money and fight with issues," McNeely commented. He said ideas such as education and the tax structure have been significant issues in the Wallace campaign elsewhere. "But what the man says and what he does is like night and day."

The party chairman said the central committee will "put together some informational material" to start off the anti-Wallace drive. He did not elaborate on other plans the party may have in trying to head off a good showing in Michigan for Wallace.

ANOTHER BIG concern for voters and taxpayers is tax reform and tax relief, McNeely said. He accused the Republicans of "making a deal behind the scenes" to have property tax relief and the graduated income tax for the state on two separate proposals.

McNeely was critical of the value added tax proposed by the Nixon administration which would allow the manufacturer shift some of the cost burden to the buyer. "As it is now, business must absorb some of the tax, but with this value added tax, the tax

Richard L. Worrall, rural route carrier for the St. Johns Post Office, sorts out his last bit of mail Friday before retiring after 32 years of service. He started in 1940 as a sub-city carrier and took over a rural route in 1955. He has currently been handling the mail on Route five.

County to spend $700,000 on roads

ST. JOHNS—More than 74 miles of Clinton County roads will receive the attention of the county road commission this year under a new $700,000 bonding program announced last week.

The bonding issue, approved by the Clinton County Board of Commissioners Wednesday, must be approved also by the Municipal Finance Commission and that could take from six to eight weeks. County road commissioners indicated they expect a swift go-ahead from the finance group.

The project will involve reconstruction of 14.9 miles of road including Chandler, from M-21 to Colony; Island Road from Shepardsville to Elsie; Wright Road, from Fowler to Colony Road; Grange Road, from M-21 to Dexter Trall; Price and Grange Roads from Clintonia to Westphalia and Westphalia to Center Road;

Howe Road, from Airport Road to Dewitt; Park Lake Road, from the south county line to State Road and Price Road, from Shepardsville Road to Upton Road.

The plan calls for 53 miles of overlay on eight separate roads in the county. Those are Wright Road, from I-96 to M-21; Francis Road, from Grand River to M-21; Airport Road, from Grand River to Cutler Road; Howe Road, from Airport Road to Wacousta Road; Chandler Road, from Clark Road to Round Lake Road; Price Road, from US-27 to Shepardsville Road; and Alford Road, from US-27 to

Keeping it in family

ST. JOHNS—The Post Office here is just one big happy family. Or so it seems.

When Richard Worrall retired Friday after 32 years with the Postal Service, there was no need to strike his name from the parking lot sign. He left behind two sons and a son-in-law to carry on his work in the post office.

His sons, Doug and Dennis and son-in-law Robert Hackett all work out of the St. Johns Post Office.

Worrall joined the post office on April 1, 1940 as a sub-city carrier. In 1943 he was made the regular city carrier until he joined the Army in December for two years of active duty.

After the war, he returned to the postal service and was promoted to rural carrier in 1955.

"I've always enjoyed it and I always tried not to make too many enemies,"

He said he will enjoy some traveling. "We will probably go up north and then out west." He said he would like to travel to New York to see another of his sons, Gary, in Buffalo.

He and his wife Hazel, who is employed at the D & C Store, reside at 801 N. Clinton Avenue, St. Johns. The couple has one other daughter, Linda Wilke of St. Johns.

Fowler, Westphalia square off for drive

FOWLER—Fowler and Westphalia Jaycees are competing in their fifth straight year for the honor of having the most donors at the annual Bloodmobile Drives.

With the record standing at two each, next week's turnout at the western Clinton villages will determine the tiebreaker.

In Westphalia, chairman Bob Cole reports the bloodmobile will be open Monday at the Knights of Columbus Hall from 1 to 7 p.m. Tuesday's Fowler drive will also be from 1 to 7 p.m. with the location the Holy Trinity Hall, five blocks north and one and a half blocks west of the main light.

The Bloodmobile Drive in Fowler will have a new twist this year, according to chairman Stuart Fitzpatrick. A $25 gift certificate, donated by Luke Becker, owner of Becker Furniture, Fowler, will be given to a blood donor who tries to give but is not accepted because of medical reasons.

Fitzpatrick said this will be the first time a door prize will be given but that it is not being done to commercialize the drive, but to create interest, arouse curiosity and draw attention to the worthy project.

He added that anyone who would like to give blood and needs transportation, should call 224-7644 by April 10. Arrangements will be made to pick the individual up and return them to a home or place of business.

Fitzpatrick stressed that the Fowler drive is the most important project the Jaycee chapter has undertaken. A goal of 200 pints of blood, 50 more than ever collected, has been set and he asked all donors to remember April 11.

Anyone who has not given blood within the last eight weeks may give again now if they so desire.

Hospital group plans program

ST. JOHNS—A hospital management program is expected to be revealed Thursday to a Concerned Citizens Group seeking changes at Clinton Memorial Hospital.

Making the presentation at 7:30 p.m. at Central National Bank's community room will be Richard Palm, He is vice president of Provincial House of Lansing.

The Lansing corporation has two parcels of land consisting of several acres of which they plan to build an extended care unit in St. Johns. Palm said, however, that until some of the medical problems in the area are resolved, no immediate building is being considered.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Cast member responds to 'word' issue

Dear Editor,
Concerning the recent controversy over the use of certain slang expressions in the dramatic productions at Saint Johns High School, it is apparent the opinions of students who are involved in these productions are needed.

As a senior who has worked with the drama program throughout high school and a cast member of The Brick And The Rose, I could like to respond to the accusations of several members of the community against the drama program. First of all, it seems that to give opinions on plays that one has neither seen nor read completely is perhaps to give opinions that are not totally based on fact. Indeed, attendance at our high school productions, except for the annual musicals, is so poor that few people of the community are in position to judge whether "profane utterances" are really becoming an "essential part" of our productions. The St. Johns High School Drama Department has received state-wide recognition and acclaim for several years for the type and quality of plays it produces, yet it receives very little actual support from St. Johns itself.

As for the use of "hell" and "damn," the words in question in these productions, I can only say that, though these words are not a part of my vocabulary, they are used by many people in our society. When these people are portrayed on stage they are to be shown for what they are; for to do otherwise would not do justice to the character and the play and would not be honest with the audience. Having worked on all the dramatic productions at St. Johns High School for the last four years, I feel that I can honestly say that never once have these words been used excessively and for their own sakes. They have been, and in all probability will continue to be, handled with good taste.

Furthermore, the use of "hell" and "damn" in high school productions can hardly be immoral or in any way damaging to the performers or the student audience. It is doubtful that any person of high school age has never before been exposed to these words. For the performances of The Brick And The Rose in competition these slang expressions were left in the show because they were necessary to the production of the play and the portrayal of certain characters. In fact, both the characters and situations using these words were presented as being undesirable, for the play is about a boy who becomes a heroin addict and dies from an overdose. The whole play shows the bad side of drugs and in fact is very moralistic.

As for the slips made in the second assembly, these were made purely by accident, for it is difficult to rehearse a show in one way for two months and then perform it in another way. It is doubtful that anyone came out of that assembly any worse than when they went into it. Perhaps the show even had a good effect on some of the students, making them think a little deeper about the drug problem.

It is difficult to understand why anyone would want their children or students to be exposed to only the good side of everything, for it seems that a person who is shown only good may be prepared for and come to expect only good. Bad elements should not be taught, but they should be exposed, and plays that are written to show reality should be presented in the same way. Where would our great plays and playwrights be if only the good side of a situation was allowed to be presented?

McNeely was asked what effect would be felt now that the representatives of the labor movement resigned from President Nixon's Pay Board. "The Price Board has been letting prices go up, while wages are frozen," McNeely said. "It will give Nixon a chance to blame labor, but it wasn't working anyway. The cost of necessities keep going up. The Price Board has done a horrible job."

He added that labor was better off by resigning. He said he doubts whether the Teamsters' union, which has remained on the board, will support Nixon at the polls.

McNeely and county officials have set April 11 for their next meeting, which will be held at the Central National Bank meeting room when they will try to fill several vacancies on the county executive committee, including chairman and secretary.

Once the new commissioners are elected in the next general election, the road commission must re-apply for the use of the money to pay the bond.

DeWitt board to decide fate of principal

By TIM YOUNKMAN
News Editor

DEWITT—The DeWitt Board of Education were to meet in executive session Tuesday night to discuss recent allegations concerning the conduct of high school Principal Donald Mueller.

At a March 28 special public hearing which attracted more than 200 persons who jammed into the Scott Elementary building cafeteria, a citizen's group called the Committee for Truth in DeWitt requested the dismissal of the principal.

Board Pres. Willard J. Reed said Monday that each board member has received a copy of the allegations revealed by Mrs. Bette Kristin, the citizen group spokesman, at the special hearing. He said the board will make a decision Tuesday.

"We plan to meet as a board, in executive session, and we plan to talk about it," Reed said. "The man has let some statements out in confidence that he shouldn't have, but he has done and is doing a good job as principal."

Reed said the six-page statement handed to the board by the citizen group was not a formal list of charges. "There are no dates here and nothing is documented," he said.

Reed said he deplored the way the allegations were revealed by Mrs. Kristin and her group. "She shouldn't have gone that far," he noted. "It was quite obvious what she was trying to accomplish."

In addressing the board, Mrs. Kristin said she had compiled the "conversations and acts" from the 1968-69 school year to present. In her opening remarks, she asked for the principal's removal. "As a parent of a DeWitt High School student and a taxpayer in the DeWitt School District, I ask that the DeWitt board of education move to immediately suspend from duty and refuse to renew the contract of Principal Donald Mueller."

She said the grounds for dismissal included "incompetence and irresponsibility in carrying out his duties as principal and teacher; and immorality in conducting his affairs as principal and teacher."

Mrs. Kristin charged that Mueller "wastes time and that of students and staff and in this way, wastes tax dollars. He spends hours of school time talking to me and others on the phone or in person about non-school related matters. . . . Students have had their activity periods, lunch time and class time misused. Classes have been left unattended or in the charge of an office worker, while staff member is tied up listening to the principal talk of matters not pertaining to DHS."

She described the immorality part of the charges as "hypocrisy and lack of integrity in carrying out his duties as principal, demonstrated by gossiping and discussing the personal and school affairs of students, staff members, superintendent, board members and parents with me."

"... This principal has shown himself to be unworthy of the trust we have placed in him. He has not carried out the duties for which he is paid with the competence we rightfully expect."

Mueller, who had declined comment on any of the statements issued by the group, is expected to issue his remarks to the board during the executive session meeting, Reed said.

Mrs. Kristin said the "students brought the problem to me" and that she was "afraid for the children."

A handful of the spectators left the audience after about 15 minutes into Mrs. Kristin's 35-minute address.

Mrs. Kristin said the conversations and allegations ranged from a "racial joke" to comments regarding female students. She said he had commented on several former staff members and "made derogatory remarks about people."

Mueller, who was present throughout the hearing, did not answer any of the remarks since board members had agreed that the public hearing was solely for the people who wanted to make statements and have the members take the remarks under advisement.

At the start of the meeting, Mueller made a brief statement indicating he was sorry if he had offended any of the people.

Mrs. Lydja Radeke, high school counselor, was allowed to speak in Mueller's behalf.

"I've sat here through this presentation and I was surprised," she said. "We spoke with the students and we do have a due process of law through which he can defend himself.

"This has a very wrong foundation and hasn't a leg to stand on," she said of Mrs. Kristin's charges. "You have put this man and his family through suffering and punishment. All of these things are administrative matters. I question the method and the purpose of the things said here."

"She said she had worked with the principal and 'I have not found him to be immoral in any way."

"We need a united front" when faced with "the problems of youth," she said. "We cannot shrink from that responsibility."

Mrs. Radeke called the charges "trivia," and asked "how can anyone remember these things adequately?"

James Smith, student council and senior class president, said he had worked with the students and with the principal. "The students won't go to the principal or to me."

He said he thought that the remarks had contained more true than false statements, but that Mueller should not lose his job because of them.

Supt. James Ritchie told the audience that he had received a letter from the high school faculty, which all teachers had signed, urging the board to operate under the Tenure Act of 1934, when dealing with the allegations.

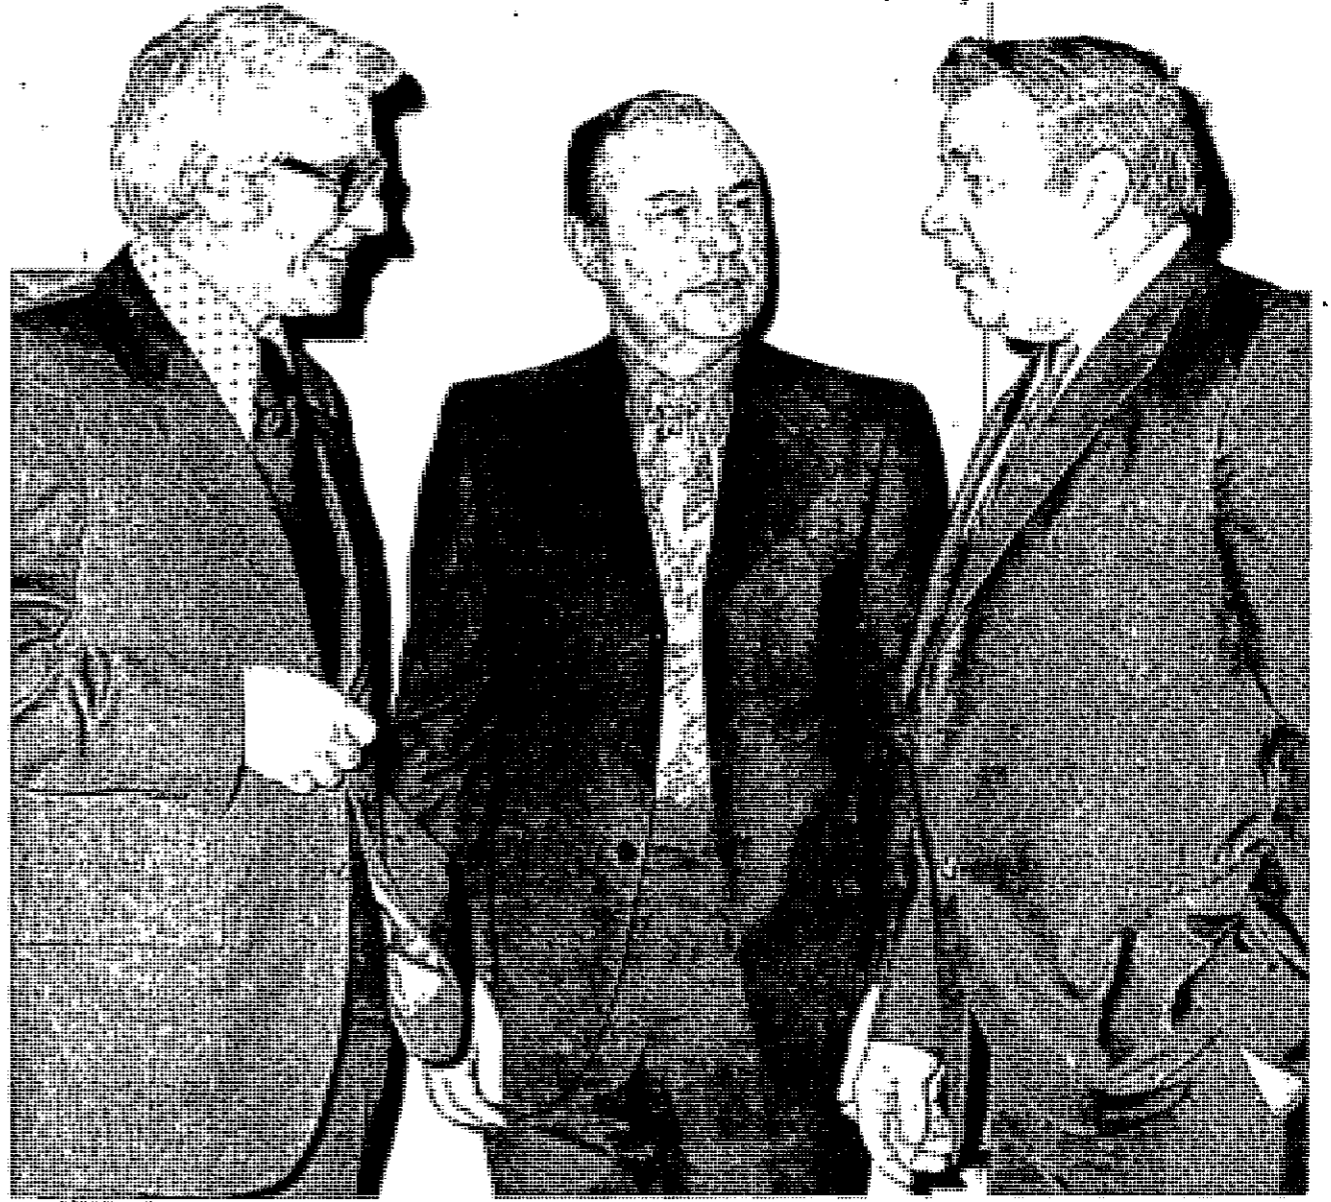

Ritchie said any school administrator must be certified by the state as a teacher and should qualify under the tenure act for the same due process afforded a teacher.

He said before the board could act, the members must have a copy of the charges in writing and hold a public hearing. The board would then have between 30 to 45 days to make a decision.

voted to accept the CAPACOG concept. Supervisor King announced that no official action has been recorded and currently there are no plans to do so.

Others who have voiced approval to CAPACOG are Delta Twp., Eaton County; Delhi, Lansing and Meridian Townships, Ingham County, and the cities of Lansing and East Lansing. Eaton's Windsor Twp. and Alesdon Twp. in Ingham have not given their o.k.

VanSickle reported that an official resolution was adopted by the Bath board at its Monday night meeting. He added that originally CAPACOG had called for a $30,000 annual budget with a full-time director and secretary, which he personally did not agree with.

Bath sewer plan stalls

BATH—With plans completed and township officials anxious to get the project underway, construction of a new sewage disposal system for Bath Township has stalled again.

The sewage disposal plan, originally proposed in 1966 by then Supervisor Gerald Shepard, now chairman of the Clinton County Board of Commissioners, won't begin until federal funds are available for the estimated $3.1 million project.

Roy Van Sickle, township supervisor, said Monday night that there will not be any federal money, which must pay half of the project, until at least July 1, the start of fiscal 1973. One year ago, the state's water resources commission ordered the township to formulate a plan for a new sewer system. That preliminary plan was submitted Aug. 1 and approved and township officials have since filed the final plans, which were approved by the county Department of Public Works in March.

Construction was slated to start Aug. 1 with a completion target of August 1973.

The plan involves a modern trend of setting up a regional-type system, in cooperation with surrounding governments. Bath Township's system will be linked to the DeWitt Township system on the township boundaries, utilizing DeWitt's disposal plant. Van Sickle said he would be meeting with DeWitt Township officials soon to discuss details and determining a cost for using the disposal plant.

The new system will serve the majority of Bath Township residents at first, Van Sickle said, including residents on part of State Road, all of the Park Lake area, Ann Street, the entire Village of Bath and a northern subdivision. The pipeline will travel west on Clark Road to the railroad tracks and east on Clark to the hill, which would include the proposed new Bath High School.

The Township plans were produced by Fishbeck, Thompson and Carr, civil engineering consultants.

Van Sickle said there has been little objection to the sewer system, an issue that had exploded several times in the past when a project of this size was proposed. He noted that people are becoming aware of the poor conditions and there is a need for the sewer system. He said he has had to issue orders for several residents to put in holding tanks because the natural drainage was so poor.

He added that the sewer system, as proposed, would be able to service most of the township's expected population growth to the south, in the Park Lake area.

Solving problems with no annexation

By LEE PETERS
News Special Writer

BATH—Solving regional governmental problems without political annexation.

That's how Bath Township Supervisor Roy VanSickle describes the role of the newly-created Capital Area Council of Governments (CAPACOG).

Van Sickle and township supervisors Herman Openlander of Watertown and Milton King of DeWitt have attended organizational sessions of CAPACOG. Included is a nine-township area serving the greater Lansing area.

Although all three have commented favorably to its benefit to the southern part of the region, only DeWitt has not

But, VanSickle continued, now a year's trial membership is planned without a large budget and the board is looking favorably to it. It's a good way to discuss and solve regional problems, he stated, such as sewage and police protection. And there's a lot of muscle being put to this type of government.

Speaking for Watertown, Openlander revealed he believes CAPACOG will become an important aspect in this area. He added that it's a good way to talk over problems with townships who have the same thing in common.

Acting as the official planning body for CAPACOG is the Tri-County Regional Planning Commission, which includes all governmental units with the Clinton-Ingham-Eaton County region.

Tri-County's executive director Herb Maier said the Capital Area Council effect is limited and concerned mainly with Lansing area growth. "We try to give the complete picture over the whole region," he explained, "where they get together as an informal group and work for public improvement. They have no legislative authority."

A meeting is set for April 19 for all those who have indicated a desire to become a part of CAPACOG, according to John Roetman. A Meridian Twp. supervisor, Roetman is the group's acting chairman.

Organizational and structural needs will be reviewed at the session along with by-laws. Also to be discussed are policies, problems and priorities.

A date will be set at that time for the first organizational meeting to elect officers.

DeWitt chief talks on drugs

ST. JOHNS — Drugs in Clinton County was the subject of DeWitt Chief of Police Charles Anderson when he spoke to Clinton County Senior Citizens March 28.

Assisted by Clinton County Deputy Sheriff, Tony Hufnagel, Anderson showed various kinds of drugs. He told the group he feels legalization of some drugs would mean more trouble.

Her suggestion won cash, saved money

LANSING—Mrs. Emogene VanDeCastele, 8872 Heribson Road, Eagle, was among seven state employees who won cash awards for cost-saving suggestions that resulted in first year net savings to Michigan of $69,233, Sidney Singer, state personnel director announced Friday.

Mrs. VanDeCastele, a supervisor with the state department, suggested a change in procedure. She suggested that when scheduling license appeal board hearings on certain cases that one form rather than three separate forms be used to notify all people involved. The savings which result annually amount to $1,318 and earned a $180 award.

According to Singer, the state awarded $4,083 for all of the suggestions used by various state agencies.

Other employees winning cash were:

Thomas W. Haddon (209 Ferguson, Lansing), a business executive with the Department of Natural Resources, was awarded $1,000 for suggesting that cash be made available in designated field offices to pay for small local purchases. This eliminated preparation of thousands of invoice vouchers which take considerable time and effort to process through Lansing. The idea was used state wide by the department, saving $20,000 annually.

Edgar W. Potter (323 N. Walnut, Lansing), a revenue executive with the Department of Treasury, earned a $1,000 maximum award for his suggestion which saves $11,379 in direct labor costs. Potter's suggestion resulted in use of a data computer run to verify individual income tax refunds, eliminating manual effort.

Ronald D. Webster (2247 Kenmore Drive, Okemos), a graphic presentation designer with the Department of Commerce, now with the Executive Office, earned the maximum state award of $1,000. Webster suggested the same map scale be used by all local, state and federal agency (Continued on Page 9A)

Hazel Ballantine: 33 years of service to Clinton ASCS

By LEE PETERS

ST. JOHNS — When Mrs. Hazel Ballantine put in her first day on the job in 1939 for the Agricultural Adjustment Act in Clinton County, she didn't know it would be her life's work.

But that's the way it turned out as Friday, March 31, marked the end of a 33-year career for the rural Elsie woman with the federal office, now known as the Clinton Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Mrs. Ballantine's seen a lot of changes since her early days of employment with the ASCS.

The primary practice back then was soil conservation, the longtime worker remembers. There were very few loans and we had a large sugar beet program, she adds. The office operated under a three-member county committee which became manager headed in 1950.

Many days she drove a Model A over Clinton roads to get to the office which was first located on the third floor of the Clinton National Bank building. "My first day at work I parked in front of the firehall," she recalls, "and I didn't know it was a no parking zone until I got a ticket."

Other times remaining in Mrs. Ballantine's memories include the war years when the office dealt with farm machinery rationing and the big long year of 1953. She tells of handling wheat loans in addition to some for corn.

Mrs. Ballantine, who admits she started at the bottom and worked her way up, stayed with the ASCS when it moved to headquarters above Dean's Hardware in the 40's. Then in 1951 it opened for business in the St. Johns Laundry building at the corner of Spring and State Streets.

When new offices were readied at 100 S. Ottawa in 1964, Mrs. Ballantine was there to serve customers as chief program clerk, and serve them well she has, as indicated by the presentation to her of several merit awards. In February at the Michigan ASCS Conference in Grand Rapids, she was the recipient of an outstanding service citation and a $100 cash award.

At a retirement dinner party Tuesday at Daley's given by co-workers, Mrs. Ballantine revealed she has no special future plans. She

Public hearing Tuesday on women's rights bill

LANSING—State Senator William S. Ballenger (R-Ovid) today urged mid-Michigan citizens to attend a public hearing Tuesday on proposed ratification of the so-called Women's Equal Rights amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

At the same time, the 31-year-old Republican lawmaker blasted House and Senate Democrats for "foot-dragging and bald-faced hypocrisy" in failing to support efforts to approve the amendment before the Legislature's Easter recess.

A public hearing will be held on Ballenger's resolution (SJR "GG") to ratify the Equal Rights amendment on April 11 at 2 p.m. in the Seven Story Office Building auditorium to the west of the State Capitol in Lansing.

Last week, Ballenger moved to suspend the Senate rules in order to ratify the amendment immediately, but despite strong Republican support, his motion failed because of nearly unanimous opposition by Senate Democrats in the evenly-divided chamber. To take effect, the amendment must be ratified by Legislatures in at least 38 states.

It would then become effective two years after ratification. Four states have already approved the amendment.

MacKinnon led the squad with most field goals (90) and most attempts (256), while Sutherland had a 44 per cent average from the floor to tie him with Ed Jorae for those honors.

Ken Schueller led the Redwings with 43 assists, followed closely by MacKinnon with 42 and Sutherland with 38.

In the non-shooting part of the game, Mike Grost topped the team in offensive rebounds at 61 while Sutherland grabbed the defensive rebound honors with 99.

As a team, the Redwings netted 1,166 total points for the season, compared with 1,356 for their opponents. The Birds hit 401 field goals in 1,129 tries for a 35 per cent mark, while their foes had 506 field goals in 1,119 attempts for a 45 per cent average.

P-W's Pirates 'Best season ever'

PEWAMO - WESTPHALIA —Basketball Coach Harry Peacock will be a little worried when graduation rolls around in June.

His Pirate cagers, the best team in the school's history, will lose four starters from their ranks.

Seniors Mike Cotter, Mike Thelen, Tom Thelen and Steve Wirth who helped the Pirates to a 14-6 overall record and 8-4 in the league, will be leaving the team. But Roy Piggott, the team's leading scorer, is only a junior and will return to the Pirate team next year.

Piggott led the Pirates with 307 points and a 15.4 points-per-game average, hitting 121 of 294 field goals for a 41 per cent mark and 65 of 103 free throws for a 63 per cent average. Piggott rolled up 97 assists, 127 rebounds and 64 steals.

Mike Thelen was second in team scoring with 295 points and a 14.8 points-per-game average. He hit 111 of 211 field goals for a 53 per cent mark and 73 of 126 charities for 58 per cent. He also had 28 assists, 193 rebounds and 73 stolen passes. Peacock said Thelen had played very little until this season and "did an outstanding job."

Wirth, a 6-3 forward, was third in scoring with 280 points and a 14.0 points-per-game average. He netted 107 of 230 field goals for a 47 per cent average and 66 of 99 free throws for a 67 per cent mark. He had 42 assists, 246 rebounds and 58 steals. Peacock said Wirth has been on the varsity squad for three years and is "an outstanding rebounder and good scorer." His 246 rebounds were tops on the Pirate squad.

Tom Thelen came off the bench in his first season as a varsity player "and did an excellent job," Peacock said. Thelen had 68 points and a 4.5 points-per-game average. He had 25 of 59 field goals for 42 per cent and 18 of 42 free throws for 43 per cent. He also had seven assists, 72 rebounds and 26 steals.

Doug Walter had a good season with 141 points and a 7.4 points-per-game average. He hit 49 of 128 field goals for 38 per cent and 43 of 60 free throws for 72 per cent, the best percentage in that area on the team. He had 45 assists, 31 rebounds and 30 steals. Cotter, a senior guard, is a "good defensive player," Peacock said. Cotter netted 114 points this season and a 6.0 points-per-game average. He had 46 of 126 field goals for 37 per cent and 22 of 38 free throws for 58 per cent. He had 40 assists, 55 rebounds and 34 steals.

Jim Hengesbach was the other Pirate in triple scoring figures. He collected 102 points for a 5.4 points-per-game average. He netted 45 of 109 field goals for 41 per cent and 12 of 31 free throws for 39 per cent. He added 30 assists, 79 rebounds and 31 steals.

Others scoring for the Pirates were Tom Davern (6), Randy Fedewa (67), Allen Nurenberg (20), and Randy

Walter (77). Peacock said the season was the best, with the best overall record, in the history of the school. He noted that two of the team's six losses were by one point and two others were in overtime, losing those by one and three points respectively. The Pirates won three of their five overtime games, including the district championship game against Montabella.

The Pirates outscored their opponents 1,518 to 1,371 and had a better average per game with 75.9 to their opponents' 68.6. The Pirates had better percentages from both the field and the free throw line. P-W had a 41 per cent mark in field goals to 40 per cent for their opponents and 60 per cent from the line to 58 per cent for the other teams.

bounded their foes 972-743. Peacock said his players "never gave up," and cited several examples. In the Fowler contest, which had the largest crowd in the school's history for basketball games, the Pirates trailed the Eagles by 12 points in the third quarter and came back to win the game in double overtime.

In the district championship clash with Montabella, the Pirates were trailing by 14 points in the third quarter and tied it up at the buzzer. They won the game in the overtime period to advance into the regionals.

Beside the two St. Johns standouts, others receiving honorable mention were Phil Lesky and Nick Ludwick of Ionia, Pat and Mike Rademacher of Alma, Ted Fitzgerald of Hastings and Dick Dunham and Joe Lapka of Waverly.

Charlotte's Rocco Moore was named the league's most valuable player by the conference coaches.

Bees must rebuild for next cage race

By TIM YOUNKMAN

BATH—Summer will be the time for Bath basketball Coach Richard Witt to plan a rebuilding strategy for his Fighting Bees, to gain another shot at the state Class C cage title next season. The Bees made it all the way to the quarter finals this season, losing to Saginaw St. Stephen by eight points at CMU's Finch Fieldhouse.

But if they expect to get that far again, Coach Witt will have the difficult task of replacing eight seniors—three of them starters—who will graduate in June.

The team will lose the services of Paul Stoll, Randy Markham, Joe Mitchell, Royal Dobson, Ray Truman, Brad Schabliey, Jack Brown and Tom Townsend.

Witt will have to build a new team around Fritz Ordway, a 6-3 and 180-pound center, and Dale Cantwell, a 5-11 and 160-pound guard. Both were starters on the 1972 squad.

Other juniors on the varsity team this season were Larry Anderson, John Kugel, Rod Taylor, Dan Mosford, Jeff Smith and Bell Henry.

The Bees had six players reaching triple figure status in the scoring race, according to statistics released last week. Topping the list was Paul Stoll who collected 324 points and held a 20.3 points-per-game average during the regular season's 16 games. He added 108 points during the five post-season contests.

Stoll also led the Bees in numbers of field goals made (132), field goals attempted (264), free throws made (60), free throws attempted (98), rebounds (394) rebounds-per-game (24.6) and turnovers (65). Markham was second in the scoring race with 275 points for a 17.2 per game mark. He added 170 rebounds to the cause for a 10.6 per game average. Ordway netted 200 points for a 13.3 average and grabbed 218 rebounds for a 14.6 per-game mark.

Cantwell collected 122 points for an average of 8.1 per-game and added 32 rebounds during the season. Mitchell netted 134 points for a 9.0 points-per-game mark along with 48 rebounds. Dobson chipped in with 123 points for an 8.8 average and had 154 rebounds.

Those in double scoring figures included Truman (37), Schabliey (15), and Townsend (64). The Bees, who finished third in the Ingham County League with a 9-5 record and 15-6 overall, collected 1,304 total points during the regular season and added 387 points during the tournaments.

The team pulled down

1,094 rebounds during the year and 203 more in the tournaments.

Stoll and Markham were listed in the top 10 scorers in the league which was led Velma N. Herrington (314 East Rouse, Lansing), an account clerk with the Department of Commerce, was awarded an additional $400 based on labor savings that result from her suggestion to revise winery forms and discontinue the wine tax stamps. printing costs resulting from her suggestion. Total annual savings are $8,300.

Verner Andrews (119 E. First Street, Charlotte), a foreman with the Department of State Highways, earned $413. His suggestion: that salvaged galvanized metal sign posts be used to replace wooden mail box posts broken by snow plows saves $4,134 annually.

Wilma Ritchie (6949 Cypress, Kalamazoo), a typist clerk at Kalamazoo State Hospital, suggested outpatient Teacher negotiations part 2, will be the topic for this weeks "Viewpoint", a weekly five minute radio program on W.R.B.J. Radio, Wednesdays at 3:55.

1. Do teachers have the right to strike?
2. What steps are provided for, to avoid teacher strikes during negotiations? Fact finding is one method. The state appoints a neutral third party who listens to testimony from both sides and renders a decision. That decision is not binding.

F-M asks for program to meet new challenge

SOUTHFIELD—The chairman and the president of Federal-Mogul Corp., in the company's annual report Wednesday, declared "it is imperative that the United States government, labor and industry set aside their self interests and work together to structure plans and programs to enable us to meet the international competitive challenge."

Samuel E. MacArthur, chairman and chief executive officer, and Thomas F. Russell, president, in a jointly signed letter to shareholders, asserted: "While overseas markets are, in many cases, growing at a faster rate than those in the United States, and cannot be served competitively from U.S.-based operations, the picture for American business on the international front is filled with growing difficulties. In Japan—which each year becomes a more formidable competitor—there is a unity of purpose. Government, labor and industry all act together for the common good. This same unity will be evidenced in the expanding European Common Market.

"Additional international competition is arising from the opening of trade relations with the Russian bloc countries and with mainland China.

"... It is impossible to maintain acceptable standards of living in America, in comparison with what we have now; behind tariff barriers that restrict trading with the United States. We must export to survive and consequently we must therefore import."

In an apparent allusion to the pending Burke-Hartke bill, the two executives stated: "... Overseas investments in facilities are not generally made, as some would have you believe, in order to use cheaper labor—thereby increasing unemployment in the United States. Legislative efforts to decrease foreign investments by United States companies on such grounds are grave mistakes and are based, in great part, on misinformation. Income taxes collected in the U.S. and our national trade balance are greatly increased by income from overseas investments. Federal-Mogul, like many manufacturers, imports very little into the U.S. from our foreign-owned manufacturing operations."

Looking toward the company's future, MacArthur and Russell said: "We believe that, in general, business will show increases in 1972. However, earnings are not expected to rise, under price controls, at the same level as they normally would have. Despite this, Federal-Mogul expects to show increased earnings in 1972."

Federal-Mogul Corp., headquartered in Southfield, Mich., is a worldwide producer and merchandiser of precision components and accessories for the transportation, construction, and manufacturing industries and for wholesale distributors.

'Stop the Spots' campaign is set

ST. JOHNS — "Stop the Spots" is the theme of a one-day measles and rubella clinic for Clinton County children and teens Sunday, April 16.

The free clinic is being sponsored by the Clinton branch of the Mid-Michigan District Health Department and the St. Johns Jaycees.

The clinic will be in the cafeteria of the St. Johns High School from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. It is aimed at youngsters 12 months through 18 years who have never had, or been vaccinated against, regular "hard" measles, as well as those who had measles vaccine when less than 12 months of age. Also included are children through 11 years who have never received the rubella, or three-day German measles, shot.

Dr. Ahmad Aurang, Director of the Mid-Michigan District Health Department, emphasizes that the clinic is preventive in nature. "There have been only scattered cases of measles and rubella throughout the St. Johns school system, and none in the rest of the county," Dr. Aurang reports. "But to be on the safe side, this is a good time to immunize those youngsters who have not been vaccinated."

According to Dr. Aurang, national statistics show that the number of children susceptible to the hard measles, also called rubeola, is on the increase. In cases reported, Michigan got off to a rapid start this year.

In 1971, he mentioned, there were 2,659 cases reported in Michigan—six times the 383 cases reported throughout 1968. In Lansing, more than 200 cases of hard measles in school-age children were reported in November and December of 1971.

Measles is a highly communicable disease which lasts from seven to 10 days and can cause pneumonia, ear problems and sometimes brain damage, especially in very young children who catch it from school-age brothers or sisters. Rubella, a mild disease in children, can cause deformities in the unborn children of pregnant women who contract it.

Permit forms will be sent home next week with every school child in grades kindergarten through twelfth. They will be found in grocery bags in supermarkets. Forms will also be available at the measles clinic for those young parents of preschoolers who need the vaccine.

The Easter Bunny came to Clinton County Sunday. And he left his calling card in the snow that blanketed the St. Johns area over the weekend. Paying tribute to that traveling rabbit was the Norbert Rehmann family at 210 W. Cass. Michelle, pictured, helped build the nine-foot snow bunny in six hours.

Derby clinic April 8

ST. JOHNS—Preparations for the 10th Annual Clinton County Soap Box Derby race are under way.

Some of the cars that will race this year have raced previously and will require only maintenance and minor alterations in design. Most of the cars, however, will be new this year and are now being built by the kids that will drive them, the derby committee reported Monday.

At 10 a.m., April 8, all those desiring to participate in the race are urged to attend the second Soap Box Derby Clinic which will be held in the Community Room at Bee's Chevrolet-Olds on U.S. 27. At this meeting, Derby Inspector Tom Hutton and his staff will provide directions and tips on steering design and construction.

A complete description of how to construct the body shell of the car will also be provided.

It's not too late to register for this year's race. Any boy or girl between 11 and 15 years of age may register and obtain further information at Bee's Chevrolet-Olds.

On May 6, the completed cars will be inspected and any violations of construction rules will be pointed out. A trial run for the cars will be held on Railroad Street on May 13.

On May 17, the final inspection will be held and the cars will be impounded until race day. The race this year will be held on Sunday, May 21, or in case of rain, on Memorial Day, May 29.

Play group will sponsor derby day

ST. JOHNS — The First Nighters want to sponsor a car in the Soap Box Derby and are requesting anyone interested to contact Bee's Chevrolet and Olds here.

If anyone knows of a youngster in need of a sponsor for the Derby, the group asks that they contact the automobile sales firm.

The group also announced that they are offering outside organizations a chance to sell play tickets on a percentage basis. For further information contact Mrs. John Bradley at 224-4622.

There is no doubt about it — the calendar tells us Spring is coming. The weatherman has given us a few hints that warmer days are approaching. Even the sunshine has a feeling different from that of last December.

LANSING— Some 1 million coho salmon eggs from the State of Washington arrived in Michigan safe and sound last week to help the Department of Natural Resources fill part of the gap in its salmon planting stock for 1973.

The eyed eggs, supplied at cost by a hatchery near Tacoma, Wash., were urgently requested by the DNR in wake of a mysterious die-off which claimed about 2.4 million young coho at its Platte River Fish Hatchery during the last two weeks of February.

Under arrangements coordinated by the State of Washington, the eggs were flown to Chicago last Thursday and trucked from there by DNR personnel to the Department's Wolf Lake State Fish Hatchery near Kalamazoo for hatching and early rearing. They arrived in excellent condition and are expected to hatch within the next few days.

Jack Hammond, in charge of hatchery management for the DNR, explains that the Wolf Lake unit offers warm, high-quality water which will favor fast growth among young coho after they hatch there. "We're hoping conditions at Wolf Lake will allow fish from these eggs to catch up with the development of coho which have survived at our Platte River Hatchery," he adds.

The coho to be hatched at the Wolf Lake unit will later be moved to DNR facilities in northern Michigan for final rearing stages. This will take place after rearing waters warm up in those northern facilities to better suit the young fish.

If rearing losses run their normal course, upwards of 500,000 coho smolts will be raised for planting next spring from the western supply of eggs.

That figure, together with about 2.25 million coho which the DNR hopes to successfully rear from its original supply of Michigan eggs, will enable the Department to release about 3 million of the fish into Great Lakes waters in the spring of 1973.

Under its own egg-taking operation last fall, the DNR had hoped to reach a planting level of about 4.5 million coho for next spring. That goal fell through, however, when the Platte River hatchery lost upwards of 40 per cent of its coho fry to a yet unknown cause which is still being studied by DNR fish pathologists and cooperating agencies.

Fortunately, coho losses at that hatchery are now essentially over, and the cause of the die-off has not affected young chinook and other fish being raised in the facility's separate rearing tanks.

Speculation on the die-off still stands as DNR Fisheries Chief Wayne H. Tody reported it two weeks ago:

"We suspect that some unknown disease or environmental deficiency is behind these losses, but the job of diagnosing our problem is extremely difficult."

Even though the DNR cannot recoup last month's losses with the eggs from the Tacoma area, its modified plan to stock 3 million coho next spring will enable the Department to maintain a "respectable" coho fishery for the Great Lakes in 1974. During the fall of that year, the fish will return as adult spawners.

Local citizens and other interested people will be given an opportunity to review the Department of Natural Resources' tentative, brand new management plan for Negwegon State Park at a public meeting to be held in Alpena on April 4.

The meeting, scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. at The Grove, is designed to bring out public reaction to the plan which the DNR has drawn up "from scratch" after several environmental groups objected to the Department's original development concept for the park.

Their criticism basically charged that the DNR's first plan called for overdevelopment of the 1,600-acre park, located on Lake Huron about 12 miles south of Alpena. Much of this opposition was voiced at a public meeting which the DNR held in Alpena on December 15 to draw direction from interested citizens.

"After that meeting, we threw out our original plan and went back to the drawing boards in an effort to come up with a better one," reports O.J. Scherschligt, the DNR's Parks Chief. He adds:

"The new plan that we will bring before the people on April 4 has been shaped to reflect public views which have been expressed in the last few months. On that score, we believe our new concept of development offers to give the park's environmental values greater protection than the original one did."

Persons attending the April 4 meeting in Alpena will be encouraged by the DNR to put their views down in writing, and to send them to the Department's Parks Division Office in Lansing.

"After next month's meeting, we're going to table any further action on our Negwegon plan for several weeks so people will have a chance to give us some written feedback," explains Scherschligt.

DNR parks specialists then will pour over those written comments to see where they might "go from there" in refining their plan for the park which, Scherschligt stresses, is still in the tentative stage.

An ounce of prevention

People who kill themselves

By Jose J. Llinas, M.D. Director of Community Mental Health for Clinton, Eaton and Ingham

Suicide is not a pleasant theme to discuss, and the only reason for bringing up taboo subjects like it in the health field is that we, as professionals, know a good deal about this problem that everybody should understand.

We cannot solve a problem (and suicide is a serious one), if we don't do everything possible to find out what the facts are, and what can be done to improve the situation.

GRIM PICTURE

There were about one thousand suicides in the State of Michigan in 1969.

Of these, 44 occurred in our tri-county area.

Twenty-eight people died of self-inflicted injuries in Ingham; ten in Eaton and six in Clinton.

These grim statistics do not seem to vary much from year to year; about 1 person in 10,000 commits suicide every year.

Was there anything we could have done to prevent this high waste of useful human life?

SERVICES IN THE AREA We have mental health services available in all the centers of population; we have emergency services, where people can come any time of the day or night—

Sealed Power proposes stock split

MUSKEGON—Directors of Sealed Power Corporation have authorized a 3-for-2 common stock split to be effected through a 50 per cent stock dividend, the action to be contingent upon stockholder approval of an increase in authorized common stock to 6,000,000 shares—from 3,000,000 shares.

Gordon E. Reynolds, president, said stockholders would vote on the proposed increase in authorized stock at the annual meeting in Muskegon May 24, 1972. Following their expected approval, the 50 per cent stock dividend would be payable June 30, 1972, to stockholders of record June 9, 1972.

Of the 3,000,000 shares of Sealed Power common stock presently authorized, 1,772,870 share are issued and outstanding.

Earlier, the company had announced its proposed acquisition of Johnson Products, Inc., a Muskegon-based manufacturer of tapets for the automotive industry, for 239,520 shares of Sealed Power common stock. The acquisition, approved by the board of directors of both companies, also is contingent upon approval of stockholders of both companies at their annual meetings.

Payment of the 239,520 shares of Sealed Power common stock for Johnson Products would occur prior to payment of the proposed 50 per cent stock dividend. Adding the shares to be used in the acquisition and the shares added as the result of the stock dividend would increase the number of Sealed Power common shares outstanding to just over three million shares.

"Sealed Power's more than 3,600 stockholders will benefit from the stock split in that it should improve the marketability of the stock and broaden the base of ownership," Reynolds said. "The additional number of unissued shares will give the company more flexibility in pursuing its program of corporate growth."

Sealed Power, traded over-the-counter, closed March 21 at $37.25 bid and $38.25 asked. The company is a leading manufacturer of piston rings and precision parts for the automotive and other industries.

and yet, we still are notable to save as many people as we would want to. But we could do much better if everybody was aware of the facts in this community.

FACTS ON SUICIDE

First, we should never underestimate a suicidal threat.

When a person voices a self-destructive statement, he is uttering what has been called "a cry for help." Amidst waves of shame, regret, sadness and depression, the potential suicidal is asking for assistance in his predicament.

Second, there are certain characteristics that can help anybody who is not a mental health professional to assess suicidal risk.

For instance, we know men are more likely to commit suicide than women. Women make more attempts at self-destruction, something like 7 to 1, but their attempts are less serious and not so dangerous, what physicians call a suicidal gesture.

Suicide is more apt to occur after a serious disruption in a relationship (love, deception, divorce, loss of a job).

CRISIS ASPECT

Suicidal states are crises situations, and they tend to be resolved within a relatively short period of time, and if we can give the person a "life line" (whether through personal contact or on the telephone), he will surmount the crisis, and his life will be spared.

Sometimes convincing the person that (1) he needs professional help and (2) this help is immediately available, is the most useful effort we can make.

THE OUNCE OF PREVENTION

If somebody confides in you about suicidal intention, tell him that you understand the problem, and that you have some idea what can be done to help.

Then, depending on the seriousness of the situation, either take the person to one of our centers immediately, or encourage him to come with you. A telephone call will provide an immediate appointment. (372-7900 or 372-8400)

The best protection against self-destruction is a feeling that somebody else cares what happens to us.

Good chairmanship

One of the better public hearings we've attended was that which was held recently in St. Johns by the City Planning Commission.

A public hearing is by nature no tea party. People come to voice opposition, usually, at a proposed change.

Tempers can get unruly at hearings. To be able to contain this unpleasantness and yet allow people to be heard regarding their feelings, is somewhat of a miracle.

We feel certain the complaints and suggestions given by the people at this hearing will receive careful consideration.

-MacD.

Flaws show up

With 19 more primaries to go and state party conventions yet to be held in other states, today's "frontrunner" could be tomorrow's hitchhiker.

So it might be wise to keep your wagering money in your pocket? The element of chance and luck remains a great part of the glamor and mystery of politics.

Who can say where George Romney might be had he not suffered one slip of the tongue on a late night Detroit television show four years ago.

If primaries expose these "flaws" in candidates, we're for them. But we suspect the same imperfections would emerge ultimately if there was a national primary election.

Mansfield calls the current succession of state primaries a "road show" and a "circus," adding that they leave the candidates "physically exhausted" and "financially deflated."

We agree. We also share the view of the Wall Street Journal which concludes:

"Now, clearly presidential primaries are a historic part of the American political tradition, one of our treasured institutions. They obviously test the mettle of the candidates in a number of different and important ways.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

Wallace reaction

By Elmer E. White

Democratic party officials are genuinely concerned about the threat Alabama Gov. George G. Wallace poses for them in the May primary.

They agree with Wallace's prediction that he'll do better in Michigan than in any other northern state and fear that his strong showing might result in a takeover of the party at some local levels by Wallace people.

Failure to protect themselves at the precinct level would do serious damage to the party structure, they fear, by allowing Wallace backers, who were content to work in the American Independent Party in 1968, to take over the organization in selected counties and districts.

It is ironic that this Wallace surge is one of the side results of the McGovern Commission's recommendations to open up the party. It can be safely said the party hierarchy didn't have Wallace in mind when they were talking about opening the process.

Contentment

What do they mean "contented"? Is it mere financial state? Does it refer to possession Of mansions built stately and great?

Is it a far off horizon? A return to some nostalgic past? Does it involve situations Intangible, unreal and vast?

Is it but something imagined? A figment of fancy—a space Where dwell some far away dreamers Still seeking some mythical place?

Where would I search for contentment? What are the signs that I seek? Must I confine all my searching To those who have mounted some peak?

These questions I posed but no answer For all of my seeking I find But one tiny voice keeps suggesting Can it be in the state of the mind?

Back Through the Years

From the Clinton County News files of 1971, 1962, 1947

ONE YEAR AGO April 7, 1971

Clinton County students took home 50 awards last week from the 1971 Central Michigan Youth talent Exhibit and Science Fair at Lansing's Civic Center.

In a surprise move, four of the five Clinton County draft board members signed a letter of resignation addressed to President Nixon as protest over the conviction of Lt. William Calley, Jr., who was sentenced for murdering 22 Vietnamese non-combatants.

Cheryl Amstutz and Sharon L. Mazzolini, St. Johns High School juniors, will attend Michigan State University's Girls State June 13-20.

Rachelle Stachel placed first in the St. Johns Woman's Club essay contest, with Mary Patton, second and Ron Whitefield, third. Miss Stachel who will receive a $40 award, entitled her essay Keep America Beautiful.

TEN YEARS AGO April 5, 1962

The St. Johns city commission took no action in its regular meeting on a recommendation of the Mayor's Downtown Development Committee that the city hire a consulting firm to make a study of the downtown business district.

"St. Johns Farm Implementation Days," a two-day display of new farm machinery on downtown Clinton Avenue was a rousing success, according to all reports.

The annual report of the city assessor, presented to the St. Johns city commission, shows an increase of $153,200 in the assessment rolls over last year.

Smith Hall will rate as one of the busiest places in Clinton County as some 750 4-H members put on display the exhibits of their winter projects.

St. Johns Rotary club members are still puzzling over the disappearance of four coin collections from the club's Youth Talent and Hobby show held in the Municipal Building last week.

Winner's of this year's annual Republican News spelling contest are Sharon Devereaux, eighth grade; Ronnie Litwiler, seventh grade, and Kenny Kurucz, sixth grade.

Clinton County's goal for this year's cancer fund drive has been set at $6,500, according to Dr. R. H. Wohlers, campaign chairman.

Road improvements, officials' salaries and stray dogs occupied most of the agenda at the annual meeting of the DeWitt township board of trustees.

25 YEARS AGO April 10, 1947

Robert T. Palmer, assistant city engineer for the City of South Haven, has been hired by the St. Johns city commission as city manager. He will take over duties May 12.

At the annual meeting of the Clinton district of the Boy Scouts of the Chief Okemos Council, Maxwell Smith of St. Johns was elected District Chairman.

April 15 has been announced as the starting time for solicitation of funds by the Clinton County Chapter of the American Cancer Society. Dempsey B. Ebert of St. Johns will head the drive. The Clinton quota is $1,700.

A proposal to raise three mills in extra taxes for the establishment and maintenance of a Clinton County health unit was soundly beaten at the polls in the biennial spring election.

Clinton County townships and schools and the city of St. Johns may be able to split additional grants of state aid that amount to $250,000 a year or more as the result of the Michigan Supreme Court's decision upholding the legality of the sales tax diversion amendment.

H. C. Loux, the Ovid Republican caucus nominee won over William Wilson, incumbent supervisor, who ran on "stickers" by a vote of 157 to 154 in the race for supervisor in Ovid Township.

View from the Senate

William S. Ballenger State Sen.

The much belabored campaign -- or campaigns -- for property tax "reform" has taken a new twist. And perhaps even this won't be the last one!

Faced with a lacklustre response to his petition drive and set back by a State Supreme Court decision that said some local bond issues did not need to be approved by taxpayers, Governor William G. Milliken has decided to start over.

He joined forces with the potent Michigan Education Association, which bitterly opposed the Governor two years ago on the Parochial Issue, to launch campaigns to get two proposals on the November ballot.

One would combine reduction of local property taxing authority from 50 to 26 mills (essentially the Governor's original proposal) with a ceiling on the amount of tax local governments may assess without voter approval.

The other would wipe out the present ban in the State Constitution against a graduated state income tax.

Getting sufficient signatures on petitions to put these issues on the ballot is a rugged undertaking, but the MEA's 70,000 teacher members undoubtedly have the clout to do it if they want to.

Meanwhile, Democratic leaders are circulating petitions for their own constitutional proposal which would make it necessary to swallow a graduated income tax to get property tax relief.

If any one of these petition drives succeeds in getting the question on the November general election ballot, a property tax reduction proposal may well pass -- but it would take a major shift in public opinion to pass the graduated income tax proposal, since in 1968 the voters of Michigan turned down this same proposition by a tally of 2,025,052 (against) to 614,829 (for).

A lesson

By TIM YOUNKMAN

The invasion from North Vietnam across the Demilitarized Zone into the south this week was not a big surprise.

Reports have been drifting across the war-torn nation for weeks that an invasion was pending--just the exact moment of attack was left to speculation. Then, as the weather worsened and American warplanes couldn't strike the Communist divisions invaded.

As the news reports drifted in from correspondents near the outposts, it seemed evident that the border was ill-equipped and undermined by the South Vietnamese. On Monday, reports came back that at least eight American advisors and several helicopters were lost in the fighting.

Conversations this week from the Pentagon to Haight-Ashbury in San Francisco will damn or cheer the military activity in Indochina. Those who believed we should have had a military victory in Vietnam will scream that this is the price we will pay and the slaughter of the south has begun. Others will praise wholeheartedly the "reunification" efforts of the North by military might.

Whatever the outcome, further war was inevitable. The Tet offensive of 1968, as is this new threat, was a test. The Communists knew that certain areas of the southern federal government were weak and by attacking with all the firepower available, it would put a dent in the smug control of the southern officials.

The current offensive is a test on America's remaining strength and the efficiency of our Vietnamization policy. If the North Vietnamese can gain strong control of the upper regions of the south, then the war is near an end.

The same day that northern troops poured across the border, another story was released on the last ship leaving the Vietnamese war zone from the American navy.

With that act, the war for us is just about over--save huge financial aid and military arms and supplies. In a few short years, even that will become a piece of dusty diplomacy. We may end up supporting a southern government in exile, but that would be about all.

The North Vietnamese have had the war "won" since they started in 1954 against the French. They could wait indefinitely to "reunite" the two Vietnam nations.

This war for Americans will go down in history along side the Mexican War and the Spanish-American War. It has the tragic-comedic aspects of the Crimean War and the stark horror of the Dresden firebombings.

It should have taught the western democracies something about dealing with the Communists--but that same thing was said when Russia dominated Eastern Europe after World War II and the Chinese after the Korean War.

We have always paid for our lessons in the blood of our young. I wonder how long it will take before those lessons are learned and our courses altered to deal with 20th century problems through 20th century diplomacy.

"If It Fitz . . .

A satisfying thing

Editor, Lapeer County Press

By Jim Fitzgerald

A man named Frank Roberts phoned from Saginaw and asked if I were any relation to the Jim Fitzgerald who used to own the Dry Dock Iron Works in Port Huron.

And wham! It was nostalgia time again. Are there any railroad workers today who give kids rides on those little cars that have to be pumped along the track by hand? I'll bet not. It's probably against company rules -- insurance risk, bla, bla. (For their own protection, today's kids are not allowed to do the swiftest things. All they can do is kill themselves driving cars. But that's another column.)

My big sister, Terrible Jean, and I used to ride to the Dry Dock Iron Works on those handcars. This would be in the early 1930s. I was 5 or 6. Jean was 2 years older and 20 pounds tougher.

The Iron Works was on the St. Clair River bank, about 10 blocks from our home. The railroad track ran along the river. A handcar never passed us by, probably because Terrible Jean tied me to the tracks.

The Jim Fitzgerald who owned the Iron Works was our grandfather. His number 1 employee was our dad, Ed Fitz. Terrible Jean and I went to the Iron Works afternoons around 5 simply so we could walk home from work with Dad.

That's the greatest thing I remember -- walking home from work with my father. It was a satisfying thing for a couple of little kids to do. It satisfied Mother, too. When we were with him, Dad couldn't stop at the White Star bar.

The Dry Dock Iron Works repaired Great Lakes freighters. It was a rambling, rickety building half on the river bank, and half on stilts, out over the water. At age 5, I was most fascinated with the John. It was the first I'd ever seen that didn't require flushing. I thought it was a much more modern way to solve the disposal problem, direct from depositor to water, eliminating the middle piping. It was brilliant thinking such as that, 40 years ago, that made the noble Anti-Pollution Crusade possible today.

The Great Depression killed the Iron Works, flat dead. By 1940 it was abandoned and mostly fallen into the river. Grandfather died before then, and Dad eventually became a traveling salesman. I never walked home from work with him again, and now he is dead, too.

If the Dry Dock Iron Works had continued to thrive, I would surely have been too lazy to buck nepotism. I would have joined the family business, and what a brilliant repairer of ships I would have been! I have to take 3 days off work to change my license plates. This year all I have to do is stick a sticker on the old plate. Which I would certainly do if I hadn't lost the lousy sticker.

Anyway, it turned out that Frank Roberts, the man whose phone call turned me on, is the godson of my grandfather. We have never met but we are going to get together someday and I'll bore him to death.

But what I'd really like to do is get Terrible Jean and go down those tracks one more time. We couldn't walk back home with Dad, but we could remember how sweet it was.

It was a satisfying thing to do!

From the state house

By DICK ALLEN 88th District Representative

This week's column takes the form of a recent letter by me to the editor of the Detroit Free Press, dated March 28, 1972:

Dear Editor:

I am upset by your continued unfounded attacks on the price of food, and in particular, meat. Sunday's cartoon was an example of a serious lack of knowledge on the part of your editorial staff. As important as agriculture is to Michigan's economy, such misinformation is a disservice to all our citizens as well as to your readers.

Agricultural productivity has outstripped gains made by the rest of our economy making food the No. 1 American bargain. We are even able to export considerable amounts of it in a competitive world market, somewhat offsetting losses by other segments of our economy.

Extremely important to these gains is an open market, a large number of producers and the effects of the law of supply and demand. The operation of this law has made the prices of certain agricultural products cyclical in nature. Though beef prices have increased over the last two years, they have hit higher peaks in the last twenty. Such cyclic increases are an expression of a public desire for more beef and they are a strong signal to farmers to save more female animals so as to raise more animals for market. Generally the total reaction is overenthusiastic, producing a period of extreme bargain prices for consumers.

Your editorial position ignores the lows such as we are currently experiencing where eggs and poultry products are being sold well below production costs. The lows and the bargains and the increasing food supply and efficiency are all direct results of those generally very short lived highs.

If the price of beef could be artificially lowered, either by government action or by the concerted media efforts of such as yours, the direct result would be continued low supplies and either high prices or rationing.

If you want to help the consumer your message should go more like this: If you like meat and want a larger supply in the future, buy now. Our farmer's need the encouragement and will respond in a manner assuring that food will continue to be America's No. 1 bargain.

RICHARD J. ALLEN Michigan House of Representatives Committee on Consumers and Agriculture

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor: I was interested in a recent letter from Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Pope published in the Clinton County News regarding the type of language used in plays produced by the Drama Department of St. Johns High School.

Being a taxpayer helping to support this institution, I believe I have the right to ask this question, "Why should the success or failure of a play depend on the use of profanity?"

It is worth showing it should stand on its own merit. A good playwright is able to make his point clear without swearing. True, this takes more thought on his part but the English language is very adequate for those who wish to make the effort. Is it not the duty of any institution of learning to present the best to their students rather than pandering to what they want? Respectfully, MRS. WILMA BANDT R-2, DeWitt.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

We've come a long way

Dear Editor, A recent occurrence at the St. Johns High School once again emphasizes the need for parents to become involved in our educational process.

The incident which I am about to describe points out the fact that our public school system is often hostile to, rather than sympathetic with the moral values held by many parents.

A high school student from my congregational recently won the lead part in the high school play entitled "Wildcat." Upon learning that the script had several four letter words which were not a part of the language acceptable in her home and would violate the young person's moral code, the parents discussed the problem with the principal.

They requested that the girl be allowed to omit the words or substitute slang words. The answer was a loud, clear "NO." Evidently the question of a talented girl retaining the part depended upon her ability to swear!

As her pastor, I vigorously protest such action. Our public schools are tolerant of long hair, all kinds of dress, refusals to salute the flag, rebellion, and disobedience, but on so intolerant of individual moral precepts.

Students are allowed to walk out, protest and disrupt without reprisal. Teachers, board members, and committees spend hours listening to them but this student was hardly given the time of day. One of the teachers involved even refused to meet with the parents.

Parents awake! We have come a long way in our educational process when parents must defend their children against a school system which would force their children to swear in order to display their dramatic talents!

Just think, the Bible used to be a textbook in school. We've come a long way, indeed.

Deeply concerned, RICHARD S. BURGESS, Pastor Inter-City Bible Church

Dear Sir:

St. Patrick's Day this year gives us a lot to reflect on. I can't help thinking of the chaos that exists in that unhappy land where Christians battle Christians instead of driving out snakes as St. Patrick was reputed to have done.

It is difficult for me to comprehend how a Christian of any faith can resort to violence if he is truly following the example of the Prince of Peace. What has happened to us? Have we lost our perspective of what is important, of what is of eternal worth and what is temporary and purely of materialistic origin?

I know that from time to time the President of the United States proclaims a day of prayer for one reason or another. I wonder if we as Christians ought not to proclaim St. Patrick's Day a day of prayer for Ireland and for the survival of real Christianity and Christian love. It might be better than a green stripe down New York's Broadway or a parade of little green men.

In the St. Johns Seventh-day Adventist church, I have asked that on March 17 all our members pray especially for peace in Ireland. I hope that others will join us.

Sincerely, Carl B. Mosher, Local Elder

He is risen!

By REV. HUGH BANNINGA

In John's gospel, chapter 20, we learn that Mary Magdalene went in the early hours of the morning to the tomb where Jesus was buried.

When she saw that the tomb was open, she ran to tell Peter and John. These two disciples ran to the tomb to see for themselves. And sure enough, there were the grave clothes lying there, but with no body inside.

After Peter and John saw and believed, they went back home, but Mary Magdalene stayed. She was sobbing when she saw two angels who wanted to know why she was crying.

After she had answered that someone had taken away her Lord, she sensed that someone was behind her. So she turned around and thought she was talking to the gardener. She said, "If it is you who took him away, please tell me, so I can take him."

And then Jesus said, "Mary!" It was then that Mary recognized her Lord. She turned to him and said, "My Master! Mary finally 'saw and believed' in the risen Lord."

There are three things we can note about Mary at the empty tomb. The first is that she could not find her Lord, because she was looking for a dead body.

And isn't this what many people do today? They look for the Lord, but can't find Him, because they are looking for a kind of body that doesn't exist. They have never had a real experience of the risen Lord, and so cannot recognize Him even when He is right in front of them.

These people believe in Jesus all right, just as much as they believe in George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. But they have never really known Jesus in a personal way, just as they have never known Washington and Lincoln. So the faith of these people is something less than Christianity.

MARY DIDN'T recognize the risen Christ, because she was looking for a dead body. But she did recognize Him finally, after He called her by name. This is the second thing we notice about Mary at the empty tomb. In spite of her searching for her Lord, she didn't find Him—He found her.

That's the whole point of the Gospel—that God is seeking us. And the reason He is seeking us, is that we are constantly getting lost. In our pilgrimage here on earth we are always tempted to take those little side trips off the main road. And every time we take one of those side trips, we end up getting lost and further away from God.

Sometimes we succumb to the temptations of these side trips and sometimes we openly rebel against God and turn away from Him. How often have you turned down the roads of "idle talk, flattery, love of money, ignorance, prejudice, lust, hypocrisy, self-righteousness and pride?"

In the parable of the Lost Coin Jesus told about the woman who lost a coin at home and turned her house upside down until she found it. She spent a great amount of time searching for the coin, because her state of poverty could not endure the loss of it.

When she found the coin, she was so happy about it that she called her friends and neighbors over to rejoice with her. She was so happy, because something of great worth to her had been restored.

Jesus' intent here is to point out to us that each one of us is precious to God, and that when one of us becomes lost to Him, we are greatly missed in the house called the Kingdom. What Jesus is saying in this parable is that God doesn't like to lose even one of his precious children, and so He will ransack his universe for one lost man, woman or child.

The third thing we notice about Mary at the empty tomb is that she did not recognize Jesus when she saw Him. When she first turned and looked at Him, she thought He was the gardener.

Isn't THIS the way it is with us? Something terrible happens in our life, and we see only the superficial event—just like Mary. We can't see beyond our noses to God's deeper meaning and purpose for us in the event. We are blind.

How often have you met some unattractive person—someone who needed a friend and a helping hand—and you did nothing for him? You saw this person only as the gardener in the cemetery, when in reality it was Christ Himself.

And then Christ asked you,

What's the most emotional word today in the English language? Love? Hate? War? None of these.

Judging from my calls and letters, I'd have to nominate "busing" as the one word that will generate more conflict than any other in Michigan today.

And, the impact of this word is not limited just to Michigan. Look at the Florida election results and actions in other states and you'll have to recognize that the question of busing students from one school to another for the purpose of achieving racial integration is the hottest subject in the country today.

So hot is it, in fact, that the President has gone so far as to urge Congress to challenge the authority of the courts in this area. In addition, he actually has directed his own executive branch of government to take up that same challenge.

It is precisely because it is a national problem and not purely a Michigan one that last week I voted against considering, at this time, amending the Constitution of Michigan to prohibit involuntary busing of school children in Michigan for integration purposes. The question before us was whether to bring from committee to the floor of the House of Representatives for debate a resolution which would have put an anti-busing constitutional amendment on the August primary ballot.

I am, incidentally, a co-sponsor of that resolution and intend to support it in the future if it is necessary.

Perhaps the best explanation of my "no" vote is in the statement I put into the Journal of the House of Representatives following that vote. It reads:

"I do not feel there is any urgency to treat the matter of amending Michigan's Constitution to prohibit busing of school children for the sole purpose of integrating our schools. Deadlines for placing issues on the May 16th presidential primary have passed. We have until June 8, 1972 to consider questions to be considered by the electorate in the August Primary election. This gives us almost three months in which to act.

"Most of us agree the question of busing is a national issue. It will not be solved in Michigan by adopting an amendment to the state constitution which is in conflict with current interpretation of the U.S. Constitution. Federal action is necessary.

"With in the past week President Nixon proposed an alternate plan to try to cool some of the tempers on the busing issue. I feel we have time to try those proposals and see their effect before we decide to subject the people of Michigan to the emotional and divisive referendum on this subject."

To put things in perspective, let us first recognize that there is not one school system in the 87th District which is under any pressure to institute busing. There are some situations—Pontiac and Kalamazoo, notably—where busing between the various schools within a single school district has been ordered. Only in Detroit has the subject of inter-district busing even been raised and in that case, it is only at the consideration stage by the Federal District Court. Certainly, any order which results from that consideration will be appealed through two more levels of courts before it could prevail.

If cross-district busing is ordered, in spite of the efforts of the President and the Congress, there still must be other legal action before it could be ordered in our parts of the state. It is my hope we can find, in the time we have available, an effective way of achieving the goals of quality education. The function of the school systems is education and this should not be subverted in our desire to cure social ills.

Is that we are constantly getting lost. In our pilgrimage here on earth we are always tempted to take those little side trips off the main road. And every time we take one of those side trips, we end up getting lost and further away from God.

How blind we are sometimes when it comes to recognizing Christ in our lives. He is there in the people with whom we come into contact every day, but we just don't see Him.

This is the Easter season. Make the most of it. Don't look for the dead body of Jesus. Look for His risen body. Then let yourself be found by Jesus. Finally, don't be blinded by sin, but recognize Jesus when He confronts you.

Yes, the Lord is risen! He is risen indeed!

Divorce doesn't mean breakdown in society

ANN ARBOR — The U.S. divorce rate, which has reached an all-time high in the 1970's, does not necessarily reflect a breakdown in family life.

Prof. Paul H. Glasser of the University of Michigan School of Social Work takes issue with fellow social scientists who would package the two together and predict disaster upon both the individuals and society.

"There is no reason to believe the American family is less stable or more stable than it ever was," he speculates.

A record 175,000 divorces were granted during the first three months of 1970, projecting a total of 700,000 for that year, according to Glasser. The previous peak occurred in 1945 - 46, an aftermath of countless impulse marriages at the brink of World War II. The divorce rate subsided in the early 1960's, leveled off until the late 1960's and resumed its climb.

Glasser co-editor with his wife of "Families In Crisis," sees more evidence that a changing society has encouraged the divorce rise than that the divorce rate is changing society. He cites these factors:

Moral Values:
"The stigma of divorce has diminished. There is less social pressure to remain in a marriage that is not mutually satisfying and fulfilling."

The children's sake:
"There appears to be a reverse in the tendency to keep an unhappy marriage together 'for the children's sake.' An increasing percentage of divorcees involve children. Researchers can show no evidence that postponing divorce does the youngsters either harm or good too many other factors enter into it."

Legal Aid:
"Because of the establishment of legal aid and similar agencies in the inner cities, an entire new segment of the population has been entered into the divorce statistics. Unable to afford legal services in the past, the lower classes have traditionally experienced the highest degree of desertion. A major part of legal aid business involves divorce settlements, some merely finalizing a separation that occurred years before."

The recession:
"The divorce rate always increases when the economy falls. If a couple are having serious troubles, a crisis such as a job layoff can push them over the edge. A woman will put up with a lot from her husband as long as he is bringing home the paycheck."

My opinion: The American male image is more closely associated with the ability to make money than with sex. Particularly among the middle class but across the board, when a man's income is gone, his ego is busted.

Women's liberation:
"Nearly half the American women with children under the age of 18 are working, and they are proving to themselves and to non-working women that a wife needn't stay married out of financial dependence."

The high rate of marriage:
"The divorce rate is high in America because, concurrently, this is the most marrying society in the Western world. The divorced woman stands a better chance of remarrying than a single woman at most age levels. An estimated two - thirds of second marriages, as first marriages, remain stable."

Life span:
"People marry earlier today and live longer. There is time for more than one marriage today in the space of one life time."

Institutional pressures:
"The family must not only withstand internal pressures but increasing burdens of the social system. For example, community mental health agencies are aiming to treat more and more of the emotionally disturbed within the community instead of in institutions. This is an excellent goal. But the programs focus heavily on the individual and offer inadequate support to his family."

Also at fault is the company which transfers an employee every few years but offers his family no assilance in adjusting to a new community, home, church, school system, etc."

Marriages are most vulnerable at two stages, Glasser notes: during the first two years and during the middle years, when the spouses are in their late 40's and 50's. "Many crises occur then. The husband reaches a point in his career when it is clear whether or not he'll make it to the top. The children leave home, perhaps not turning out as the parents hoped. Physiological changes in both sexes compound the stresses," the U-M professor says, noting that this age group is also more susceptible to alcoholism and mental breakdown.

One can interpret the high divorce rate as a good omen, Glasser concludes. People are no longer feel compelled to settle for a union which is unhappy, empty or destructive. Divorce frees them to find a better alternative. Are prospects bleak for the family of the future?

On the contrary, Glasser predicts that it will emerge somewhat different but closer unit in the face of this pressured social change. Advances in communication and transportation are already rebuilding the extended family relationship. Visiting patterns are strongly family oriented, he says, and it is a little-known but well-documented fact that one out of every three persons over 65 are living with their children.

"The family of the future will tend to choose to have two or fewer children both for environmental and economic reasons. If the population is divided into five income levels, one can see that the proportion of money earned by each group has changed little in the past 15 years. Therefore reducing the family size may be the only way of increasing its standard of living."

"But the family will not return to the patriarchal stereotype of the past," Glasser concludes. "It will be an egalitarian unit with increasingly less differentiation of sex roles. With more women in the labor market, more men will have to take up the slack with family tasks, engendering more shared responsibilities and experiences."

"The family of the future will look and act different from the family of today but will continue to serve its members and society in the way only a small, flexible and adaptable social institution can."

MRS. KEN RICHARDS

Your correspondent is happy to home again after a three week trip to Hawaii and five weeks in Florida. My husband Ken and I with two other couples from Lansing, left the Capitol City Airport Tuesday, Jan. 11, to Chicago where we were delayed for four hours due to engine trouble. We were transferred to another plane to Los Angeles and arrived in Hilo, Hawaii at 9:30 a.m. Hawaii time. This was our second trip to the Hawaiian Islands and we were amazed at the changes made during the past three years. Many fabulous hotels are being constructed on all of the Islands, but mainly on the Island of Oahu in the Honolulu area. We spent four days in Honolulu and toured five of the outer Islands. While waiting for our bus to take us on a tour of Honolulu Jan. 20, I got a pain in the shoulder and as I turned back much to my surprise it was Virginia Morrow of Wacousta. She and her husband, John were leaving Honolulu on Saturday morning for the Island of Kauai. Our group had reservations made for the "Don Ho" show at the Reef Towers Hotel for Friday evening. John and Virginia joined our party and we all had a very enjoyable evening. "What a small world!" We left Honolulu on Monday, Jan. 11 on a United Airlines 747 arriving in Chicago in six hours and forty eight minutes. The pilot informed the passengers that they had just established the record flight from Honolulu to Chicago. The previous record was seven hours and two minutes. We arrived in Lansing Feb. 1, and on Feb. 5 the Victor Borda's with their Motor Home and we with our travel trailer, traveled through Florida for five weeks. Visited friends of Lansing in St. Pete, with whom we went fishing out in the Gulf and returned with a nice catch of sheepshead. Enroute to Lansing we spent two hours at the "Franklin D. Roosevelt's Little White House" and Museum. We found it very interesting. We arrived home March 18.

Valley Farms Hobby Club met last Thursday with Mrs. Hampton Hobson and Mrs. Jack Christie as co-hosts. Baskets were made to take to the Clinton County Infirmary residents for Easter.

All Johns of Valley Farms was admitted to Lawrence Hospital Wednesday, Feb. 15 after having a heart attack. He is in Room 259 and doing very well.

When some people pay compliments they expect a receipt.

Roadside beautification

By JOHN AYLWORTH

"Green Grass Instead of Trash" is the theme selected for the fifth annual County Roadside Beautification project to be conducted on Saturday, April 29. Over 40 youth groups including 4-H clubs, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts and Brownies will be participating in this litter clean up program.

The planning meeting Tuesday evening the leaders viewed a film on what can be accomplished in litter clean up when one person gets an idea and carries it out. Also slides were shown on last year's clean up program and of the "junk car crusher."

Areas have been secured for disposing of the trash throughout the county. More exact details will be sent to the leader of each group participating in this litter clean up program. Any youth or adult group who has not signed up yet but would like to participate in this program should contact the Extension Office, 234-3288 for areas not being covered now.

The 4-H TEEN Leaders will be meeting Thursday, April 6, 7:30 p.m. at Smith Hall in St. Johns. Business will include evaluation of Spring Achievement, plans for a canoe trip this summer, setting a date for Cedar Point trip, Roadside Beautification project, Soap Box Derby Parade Float, County 4-H Talent Contest and other ideas. The Teen Leaders will have a roller skating party on Thursday, April 13, 10:00-10:00 p.m. at the Ranch Roller Rink in St. Johns.

The 4-H TEEN Leaders March glass container collection amounted to 12,760 pounds bringing the present total to 265,000 pounds of glass sent back for recycling. This total amount of glass does not include the April 1 collection.

The TAIL WAGGERS 4-H Dog Club members invited the Ear Floppers 4-H members to their meeting Monday evening. Sue Lehman of Owosso demonstrated the difference between obedience training and leader dog training with her Dalmatian dog.

She also showed how you work with beginning dogs to keep their attention on you instead of something else. Daniel Baker of Hales reported that Jeannine Seeger dog was accepted that day at Rochester for further training and the program for 4-H dogs already at Rochester, are making.

Sarah Seeger of Bath and Brian Madar of St. Johns were enrolled in the leader dog project as new members in the Tail Waggers club.

INFORMATION has been received from the Office of Admissions and Scholarships, Michigan State University that Donald Cubbert of St. Johns has been offered a 4-H scholarship this fall at MSU. Don has been a member of the Kountry Kousins 4-H club.

4-H MEMBERS are invited to enter the 4-H talent contest to be held May 12, 7:00 p.m. at St. Johns High School. Entries may be made in either a small group, two or less, large group, three or more, or the family category.

The time limit is six minutes for each entry. Any 4-H member wishing to enter this program should contact their 4-H leader. 25¢ entries will be selected on the county level to compete in the district contest to be held Friday, July 7 at St. Johns. The trophies this year are "Bridges" hoping the members will use creative effort and imagination in their acts.

Carland News
by Mrs. Pudge Deming

CARLAND—Carol Kusnier was entertained recently at a bridal shower, given in her honor by Mrs. Floyd Lindauer and her daughter, Carolyn in their home.

Games were the afternoon's entertainment and those winning prizes were Mrs. Linda Austin, Mrs. Ward Holton, and Mrs. Leo Deming.

The pantry-grocery gifts were placed on a table decorated with orchid and yellow streamers, the two colors the bride - to - be intends to use in her altar dais with Robert Orlovski. April 15, Carol was assisted with the opening of her gifts by her sister, Nancy.

Refreshments were served from an orchid and yellow covered table, flanked by orchid tapers to the eighteen friends present, by the hostesses.

Farm Bureau joins MEA petition drive

LANSING—Elton R. Smith, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau, announced today that the state's largest farm organization would support the recently announced Michigan Education Association petition drive.

"Our members have consistently supported total tax reform for some years," Smith said. "However, we are convinced that meaningful and lasting reform can come only through a basic Constitutional change."

Definite organizational direction was set last November when Farm Bureau's voting delegates adopted a tax policy calling for an amendment to the Michigan Constitution.

The resolution also stated

Government will insure credit union

The Federal Mogul Employees Credit Union of St. Johns has qualified for federal insurance of members' share accounts (up to $20,000 each). Eldon Baese, president of the board of directors announced today. Similar to insurance available to banks and savings and loans organizations, the credit union share insurance program is administered by the National Credit Union Administration, an independent agency of the federal government.

It is authorized by legislation approved by President Nixon in October 1970, and effective for the first time in January 1971.

The Federal Mogul Employees' Credit Union here was chartered in 1955. With a membership of 1080 among past and present employees of Federal Mogul Corporation and their families, and with assets of $1,194,409.79 it will pay a premium of $900 for its insurance this year—1/12 of one per cent of its share accounts, the same fee paid by all credit unions state-chartered or federal. Bylaw the insurance is mandatory for the latter, optional for the former.

Officers of Federal Mogul Employees Credit Union are:

Board of Directors—Elson Baese, Fred Fernholz, Doris Vance, James Lotridge, Wayne Flegel, Stewart Salters and Roy Ebert.

Credit Committee—Orville Sillman, A. C. Linman, William Asher. Supervisory Committee—Andrew Minarik, Carol Bontrager and Diane McCormick.

that the Bureau would join with others, who also recognize the seriousness and inequity of the property tax burden, in support of a petition drive to place upon the ballot an amendment to limit total property taxes and to eliminate as nearly as possible property taxes as a means of financing our schools.

"It is unfortunate that the legislature has been unable to reach an agreement on an amendment to be placed on the ballot," Smith said.

"However, it's essential that the people be permitted an opportunity to make this basic decision by their vote in the November 1972 election."

Farm Bureau distributed both Governor Milliken's petition and the Democratic Party petition.

These petitions were withdrawn later due to a Supreme Court decision. "Farm Bureau would, therefore, join the coalition of groups supporting the MEA petitions," Smith said.

FFA members win honors

GWYN NETHAWAY

OVID-ELSIE — Another bastion of male domination has been dashed. This time by a pretty Ovid-Elsie 17-year-old. Lynn Whiting, a senior at the high school, has been elected secretary of the previously all-male governing board of Michigan's Future Farmers of America during a convention at Michigan State University. The precedent-breaking election places Michigan in an elite class of six states that have voted young women into state FFA offices. Miss Whiting's term will begin June 25 and will last one year. "This is really great," she beamed. "It is a privilege and I like being accepted by the boys." She won the election by first being nominated in her own chapter at O-E. Now she hopes that after a year as a state officer, she can win the nomination to the all-male national governing board. She said it wasn't until five years ago when the by-laws were changed and girls accepted into the FFA. She said her duties will include attending a leadership camp in Tennessee during June. Then she had to appear before a reviewing committee that cut the original group of 17 nominees to 10, two for each of the state offices. Next came two more interviews and a candidate speech before the assembled delegation, before the actual voting took place. She will be responsible for filing reports with the state office and answering all correspondence. There will be a state-wide meeting four times during her term plus others called when needed, she said. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Whiting, 1624 N. Baldwin Road, Owosso. She was one of nine Ovid-Elsie students to win the American Farmer degree for the state FFA. Miss Whiting has had an active farming program which currently consists of 65 registered Suffolk sheep and 20 acres of corn. This year, she had one of the most outstanding supervised agriculture experience programs. She is considered to be an outstanding FFA member and has been chapter secretary for the past two years. She was instrumental in chairing many of the FFA committees plus contests and has won awards in leadership and gold awards in judging contests. Miss Whiting attended the national convention two years ago to represent the state in meat judging. Her other FFA activities include attending district, regional and state conventions. She is active in the school's GGA program and played on the powderpuff football team. She has been a choir member in the Burton Community Church. She said she is interested in agri-business and plans on continuing to work in the agricultural field. Other O-E students winning American Farmer Degrees were: active in the FFA, being named chapter reporter for two years and regional FFA secretary this year. She has chaired many committees and participated in FFA contests, including the parliamentary procedure team. She represented Michigan in the national meat judging contest last year. She has been active in school and other organizations, including the national honor society for two years and a leader in the township and county 4-H clubs. She has been a youth delegate for the Michigan Farm Bureau and is currently Shilawassee County 4-H Horse queen. She has been accepted to attend Michigan State University, where she hopes to enroll in the college of veterinary medicine.

Clinton County Extension Director Earl Haas talks with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rivest of rural Elsie. Rivest was named one of 20 Farm Managers for 1972 by the Department of Agricultural Economics at Michigan State University.

At MSU banquet Six Clinton farmers honored

EAST LANSING — Six Clinton County farmers received special recognition at the annual Farm Management Banquet March 23 at Michigan State University.

Named one of 20 farm managers for 1972 was Frank Rivest, who was cited for efficient organization and operation of his farm over the past three years.

In the last five years, the acreage farmed by Rivest has gone up about 30 per cent but the value of crop production per acre has increased 60 per cent. According to F. Earl Haas, Clinton County Extension Director, about two-thirds of the 540 tillable acres is not in corn and corn silage. The number of cows has gone up from 20 to 110 with production per cow increasing from 11,500 pounds to 14,300 pounds.

Investments by Rivest in buildings and other improvements and in machinery have about doubled. However, costs have been kept under control. The Rivest farm is located on Watson Road, Elsie.

Four Clinton farms were cited for the highest value of farm production per $100 cost over a three-year average, 1968-70. Dairy farmer Lavern Lerg of DeWitt Twp. with 80 cows averaged $148 while Ronald and Jack Miller's 120 dairy herd at Wildcat Road, Ovid, set a mark of $146.

Another dairy farmer, Raymond Thornton, Shepardsville Road, Elsie, averaged $141 at his farm with 80 head. An average of $134 was set by Richard Woodhams, Kinley Road, St. Johns, whose farm consists of beef and milk.

Woodhams was also among those honored for the highest income per $100 of feed fed at cattle farms. Over a three-year average, 1968-70, his income was $153 for 216 head marketed.

Speaker for the evening was Dr. John A. Hannah, whose presentation was "Reflections — Yesterday, Today, Tomorrow."

Bath High School News

By Jeannine Seeger

Bath High School seniors are busy preparing for their Senior trip to the Smoky Mountains in May. They have been raising funds by sponsoring a senior slave sale, bake sales, and by selling at basketball games, and tournaments. About 35 members of the class are planning to go.

March 15, the high school held its Science and Art Fair. There were exhibits on display by the biology and art classes, and by high school students attending classes at Lansing Community College. A program was also presented by the band and chorus.

Bath's unique summer biology class, which has been going for three years is gaining national recognition. A display of their summer work will be set up at the National Outdoor Education Association's annual meeting in Houston, Texas by Dr. Julian Smith from Michigan State University.

This summer's program is planned to include a study of the White River in connection with the White River Watershed Council. Bath students will also be working with five other high schools located on the White River.

Grain, wheat enrollment passes record of 1971

EAST LANSING — Enrollment in the 1972 Feed Grain and Wheat Program surpassed the record enrollment in last year's program. This announcement was made by Nick Smith, Chairman of the Michigan State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

In Michigan, over 62,000 farms are signed up in the Wheat Program and almost 65,000 in the Feed Grain Program. Although the number of farms enrolled is slightly less than last year's record, the wheat allotment on enrolled farms is only 3 per cent less than 1971 and the total feed grain base is slightly larger than 1971.

The deadline in the number of farms enrolled could be contributed to the fact that some farms lost their eligibility and can no longer qualify for program benefits, Smith explained. Also, the total number of farms is declining because of the combination of smaller farms into larger farming units.

Nationally, a new record signup was set in the 1972 Feed Grain Program. The number of farms enrolled exceeds 1.7 million which is over 5 thousand more than enrolled in 1971. The record feed grain base on signed farms totals over 107 million acres and is 14 per cent larger than the previous record of 94 million acres set in 1969.

With this base acreage on participating farms, feed grain crop production potential in 1972 should remain within bounds and a reduction in carryover may be achieved.

The set-aside acreage offered exceeds 37 million acres, the largest acreage offered except for the record 39.5 million set in 1970. All voluntary additional set-aside acreage offered by producer will be accepted. Farmers are now being notified of their total program set-aside requirements, Smith said.

Farms enrolled in the wheat program are less than last year, however, they have almost 100 thousand more allotment acres. The allotment on enrolled farms represents 93 per cent of the total national domestic allotment.

In closing, Smith stated that farmers must certify compliance with program requirements no later than June 30, 1972. Preliminary payments will be made as soon as possible after July

A⁶ in ACTION

Land is a natural resource that has been a cherished possession of most men for a long time. For centuries, a man's wealth was measured by the amount of land he owned. Land has always been used quite freely with only limited restrictions.

We must take a positive look at how our lands being used now and how it will and should be used in the future.

Land is a necessary resource to those who make their living from the soil. It is also a vital resource to the economy of our state and to the well-being of every citizen.

At the present time, the production of food and fiber on our farm land contributes nearly one billion dollars annually to the economy of Michigan. Although only one out of ten Michigan citizens operates a farm, 27 per cent derive some part of their income from agriculture.

Urban sprawl is moving steadily across much of our most productive farmland. Each year over 50,000 acres of farmland is converted to urban use. This sprawl creates a number of conflicts with agriculture, such as permanent removal of prime farmland from production, unrealistic and confiscating tax assessment of farmland, and a number of social and environmental problems. Currently, the land use programs within our state foster the continuation of such conflicts.

We need to develop and implement broad use guidelines, coordinated statewide, that include such areas as agricultural land, urban development, recreational land, unique areas, forest lands and utility and transportation corridors.

Local units of government, assisted by the state, must face up to the responsibility of land use, map out a strict plan for the future and then enforce it.

Collect 227 pints

St. Johns blood drive is a success

ST. JOHNS — Despite an unseasonal snowfall which kept some potential donors at home, 227 pints of blood were collected at the Red Cross Bloodmobile last Wednesday.

This is one of the highest totals in the last 10 years, and not far behind the previous best of 243 units achieved in July 1967. Of 254 persons registered to give blood, 27 were rejected for medical reasons.

A special appeal for 14 pints of A positive was made by the Red Cross for immediate use. The appeal was met in the first hour the bloodmobile was open.

The local bloodmobile committee feels that a good part of the success of the drive can be attributed to the contests between service organizations and schools. The committee thanks these groups for their interest and participation.

Another successful part of the drive was the number of 18-year-olds who donated blood.

The bloodmobile was stationed at the St. John's Episcopal Church, with the ladies of St. Johns Lutheran Church manning the canteen. A special thanks is given to those people, registered nurses, candy strippers, high school students and the many other volunteers who made a successful blood drive possible.
