

11-man county board approved

District 11: Bath Township, population 3,732.

THE DIFFERENCE IN population between districts is more than most supervisors would desire if they could have perfect districting conditions. Ovid Township District has the least population—2,795, or 657 persons under the average of 3,452 and 1,073 under the highest district comprising the city of DeWitt and the northern part of DeWitt Township.

Whether the new districts will ever take effect in 1969 can't be known yet. Supervisor Ernest Carter of Watertown Township, who headed the reapportionment committee of the board, said two suits—one by the State Association of Supervisors and the Kent County Board and another by the State Association of Township Officers—are ready to be filed in an effort to test the constitutionality of the "one-man, one-vote" law.

ALSO, HE SAID, there is pending national legislation that might do away with the one-man, one-vote theory. "This isn't as popular a theory as people once thought," Carter said.

"With all of the opposition, we don't feel it will go into effect until at least after the next census in 1970. By that time we'll almost certainly have a population of over 50,000 and be eligible for up to a 21-man board." Carter, who moved for the passage of the resolution, pointed out that he and the other members of the reapportionment committee weren't in favor of changing the county board of supervisors from its present size, but as long as it had to be done they felt the 11-man board would be the best set-up.

He said the committee studied every combination between 5 and 15 members, the limits placed by state law for counties in Clinton's population size. Receiving the most consideration were plans for a five-man, seven-man and 11-man boards.

"We were interested in giving the best representation possible with the least amount of conflict," Carter said, "so we recommended the 11-man board."

THE FINAL VOTE on the measure was 15-7. This is the way the roll call vote went:

In favor of the resolution: Supervisors Ray Mayers of Bengal, William Hufnagel of Dallas, George Moore of Duplain, Russell Howe of Eagle, John Setterington of Essex, Derrill Shinnery of Greenbush, Walter Nobis of Lebanon, Earl Barks of Olive, George Austin of Ovid, Norman Thelen of Riley, Claude Underhill of Victor, Walter Thelen of Westphalia, Ernest Carter of Watertown, and Eldon Smith and Ray Price of the City of DeWitt.

Opposed to the resolution: Supervisors Gerald Shepard of Bath, Maurice Grove of Bingham, Oliver Angell of DeWitt Township, and Don Clark, Harold Reed, Charles Coletta and Lorenz Tiedt of St. Johns.

UNLESS LEGAL MOVES force a change in the implementation of the one-man, one-vote law for counties, Clinton's new 11-man board of supervisors would take effect Jan. 1, 1969. Supervisors from the 11 districts would be elected in the general election in November 1968. Their salaries presumably would be established by the present board before it dissolves.

Most of afternoon used to weigh reapportionment

Approval of a new 11-man county board of supervisors for Clinton County was not rushed through Monday. The proposal adopted got plenty of discussion and opposition before it was finally passed 15-7.

Prior to Monday the board had not publicly discussed the plan for any length of time except for about 20 minutes when it was introduced to them March 6. The board's reapportionment committee had spent considerable time ironing it out, however, and the fact that individual supervisors not on the committee were also giving it careful study was reflected in the discussion before the vote Monday.

Three alternative plans to the 11-man board were aired in front of the present 22-man board.

MAURICE GROVE OF Bingham Township offered a plan for a seven-man board that he said would be more compact and would not break the lines of present governmental units to the extent the 11-man board would.

His plan was for one representative from St. Johns; one from Lebanon, Essex, Bengal, Greenbush and Bingham; one from Watertown, Riley and Olive; one from Bath and a part of DeWitt Township; and one from the rest of DeWitt Township including the City of DeWitt. "If we can't have a 22-man board," Grove said, "then there's merit in going below 11 men. With 11 men it would be difficult to have committees function. With a seven-man board could be aware of all the committees' work."

GERALD SHEPARD, a member of the reapportionment committee, put up maps of two plans at the request of the board. One was for a five-man board that would link Dallas, Lebanon, Essex, Greenbush and Duplain in one district; St. Johns, Bingham and Bengal in another; Westphalia, Riley, Olive, Eagle and Watertown in a third district; Ovid, Victor and Bath townships in the fourth; and DeWitt City and Township as the fifth district.

This, he admitted, had one bad drawback—the distance from one end of the northern district to the other. Otherwise no existing governmental units were split up.

The seven-district board of supervisors he drew up was basically the same as Grove's but with several differences. Under Shepard's idea of a seven-man board, St. Johns would have one representative; Lebanon, Essex, Greenbush, Bengal and Bingham townships one representative; Duplain and Ovid one; Victor and Bath one; Dallas, Westphalia, Riley and Eagle one; Olive and a part of DeWitt township one; and Watertown and the other part of DeWitt Township one representative.

SUPERVISOR ERNEST CARTER, chairman of the reapportionment committee, said it was the majority opinion of the committee that a five-man county board was not representative enough for the 576 square miles of Clinton County and the 37,969 persons counted by the 1960 census. He said the committee felt the 11-man board would give the best representation and there would be less conflict of interest than with any other plan.

The board didn't dwell too long on the subject of cost of the new board setup, but there was some discussion and general agreement it was going to cost a lot more than the present board. Presently the county board operates on a budget of $20,000 annually. Supervisor Carter speculated it would cost double or triple that to run the board under the new setup.

"We don't have a cheap government," he said. "We weren't overly concerned about keeping the cost down, only in giving the best representation possible with the least amount of conflict."

ONE OF THOSE OPPOSED to the 11-man plan was Supervisor Oliver Angell of DeWitt Township. He voiced opposition to it on the ground of the method used to determine the division of his township. "You're not being factual!" in using the 1960 census figures and then 1966 registered voter lists to determine the boundaries, he said.

He said he favored the five-man board as being the most representative and to operate the most economically. "These (11-man board districts) don't meet the qualifications." By this he meant political units were being divided when the law says they shouldn't be unless no other way is possible.

"WE HAD TO MAKE A division," Supervisor Carter explained, "so we used the registered voters as a logical guide in splitting." He went on to reiterate that the committee felt a five-man board was not representative enough and noted that under the five-member plan 11 rural townships would be represented by only two supervisors.

The special meeting on the reapportionment got under way at 1:30. At 3 p.m. the matter was tabled so a hearing on some zoning matters could be held. When the subject was taken from the table, there were lots of comments in favor of the 11-man plan.

Norman Thelen of Riley: "Are we voting for centralized government or representative government? I like the 11-man plan best."

Walter Thelen of Westphalia: "By 1970 we'll be chopped up again. I like to have representation."

Ray Mayers of Bengal: "With an 11-man board it would still be a parttime job (being supervisor). With fewer than that it would be hard for the supervisor to get back to the people he represents."

CHURCH NEWS

Noted Bishop's Co. to stage drama at church here April 26

"Do You Know the Milky Way?" a modern, soul-searching drama by Earl Wittlinger, will be presented in St. Johns April 26 at the First Methodist Church.

The play is sponsored by the Woman's Society of Christian Service. It will start at 8 p.m. April 26.

Performing will be the nationally known Bishop's Co. of Burbank, Calif., now in its 15th year of appearing in houses of worship of all denominations.

Robert Coleman, drama critic of The New York Mirror, in reviewing the play said it was one of "great social significance. The plot, tense, dramatic and revealing, deals with a returning war veteran who attempts to find his true identity and in so doing delves into the age-old question of who is Man? What is his true identity and is he a child of God?"

WITTLINGER, in describing his work as a tragic-comedy, said that "the good in man, though it may be stopped, even murdered, can never be annihilated." More than 9,000 performances, in nine languages, have been given of this work which was called "...hellishly important" by Walter Kerr, drama critic of the New York Herald Tribune.

The Bishop's Company, a touring troupe of professional actors, was founded in 1952 and is in its 15th year of bringing fine drama

Seek product, development of year in Clinton county

An invitation is out to Clinton County people to enter county products so that both a manufactured product and agricultural product award can be given in this year's county Michigan Week program.

Betty Jane Minsky, county Michigan Week chairman, said entries for both the Product of the Year (manufactured product) and the Agricultural Development Award (an agricultural development), should be directed to her at the Chamber of Commerce office at 201 1/2 N. Clinton Avenue, St. Johns.

Working with her on the county awards committee are Brandon White, St. Johns Michigan Week Chairman, and Mitchell Das, Ovid Michigan Week chairman.

The competition, which begins locally within each county, then proceeds to a regional contest in each of the 16 Michigan Week regions. From there it goes to the state competition.

"STATE WINNERS MAY well be located right here in Clinton County. We've started the ball rolling by getting our county participating this year. Now, it's up to the people who have something unique to offer to get the products entered," Mrs Minsky said.

Trophies will be awarded by the county committee to winners in both classifications, she announced. These will be presented during Michigan Week.

Eligibility rules for the Product of the Year Awards are:

1.) It must be manufactured in Clinton County. It must be a consumer product. The contest is open to all companies and business enterprises with manufacturing facilities here.

2.) A consumer product is defined as one made available for sale to the general public through normal distribution channels.

3.) The entry can either be an end product in itself or an accessory that is itself sold to the general public. It cannot be a product that is produced and sold only to another manufacturer for use in a larger finished product.

4.) THE PRODUCT should be relatively new or have a record of outstanding development recently. It may represent a technological breakthrough, an unusual development or design, or a totally new invention.

5.) The product may have been entered in previous years. If so, it is eligible for resubmission again this year.

6.) Entries must be received at the Chamber of Commerce office no later than Monday, April 17.

7.) Entries are to be submitted on typewritten pages not larger than 16 x 18 inches. They are to be bound or loose and of unlined paper. Drawings, charts, graphs or statistical figures may accompany the entry. Photographs may also be included.

ELIGIBILITY RULES for the Agricultural Development of the Year are:

1.) Farmers, agricultural and horticultural associations, food processors, and all other individuals or groups located in Clinton County who are actively engaged in the growing, developing, processing or marketing of agricultural, horticultural and/or animal products. Not eligible are: state or federal government agencies, state colleges or universities.

2.) An entry can be a product, a process or a marketing production or research program significant to Michigan agriculture or to the farming in the Clinton County area. It must have originated in or have been developed in Michigan and should be relatively new or recent. Or, it may have a record of outstanding development recently. It may represent a technological breakthrough, an unusual development in design, or a totally new invention.

3.) The product may have been entered in previous years.

4.) INFORMATION ON the product should be submitted on typewritten unlined pages not more than 16 x 18 inches, either bound or loose. Drawings, charts, graphs or statistical figures may accompany the entry, as well as photographs.

Mrs Minsky said judging for the manufactured product of the year would include how meaningful the product is. It should be an established one and not something in the planning or experimental stage. And, it should be significant rather than merely novel.

Judges will also consider acceptance and sales potential. The product should have already shown its acceptance in the marketplace, and should demonstrate significant sales potential. It must have state, national or international distribution.

And, the product should represent a present or potential gain to the economic welfare of the community.

JUDGING FOR THE agricultural development award will include emphasis on significance. The product, process or program should be one of major significance in the agricultural advancement of the county or the State.

It should show evidence of its contribution to the economic betterment of the community through increased sales, added employment, reduced operating costs and increased efficiency, and should have the ability to attract favorable attention to or investment in the segment of the industry it represents.

And, it should demonstrate excellent future potential for the further development, expansion or diversification of the agricultural industry of Michigan.

To get local manufacturers and rural people thinking, Mrs Minsky cited some examples of items that won the state awards in the past.

MANUFACTURED ITEMS include: the motion picture "Anatomy of a Murder" which was filmed in the Upper Peninsula and so helped the economy of that area greatly; the "Hush Puppy" shoe; "Metrecal"; the "Apache Camping Trailer"; the "Paradome Portable Building"; The E-2100 Electronic Direct Accounting Computer; and the "F28 three-place Helicopter" designed and manufactured in Menominee; and the "Pettibone Cary-Lift."

Examples cited which were previous winners in the agricultural contest were:

A Christmas tree trimmer; an automated tree debarker; a portable bulk fertilizer box; an onion and beet harvester; a mechanical cherry harvester; growing of English walnuts; raising, dressing and marketing of poultry; a boneless roasted turkey roll; the development of a new strawberry; the growing and marketing of celery; a pool system of market lambs; a new type soil testing tool; controlled atmosphere apple storage; process of quick freezing and marketing rhubarb.

All entries submitted from Clinton County will be turned over by the County Michigan Week Committee to a group of out-of-county judges for evaluation.

A look at 2 Redwing teams

Baseball Golf

St. Johns baseball prospects are for a rebuilding year this season, according to Coach Bill Smiley.

The only returning regulars are Gary Boyce and Bob Harte, and in both cases they will likely be playing positions different from those they played last year. Boyce, who for three years has been one of the most consistent outfielders in the league, will have to figure in the starting rotation on the mound this season. Harte also played the outfield last year but this season is the most likely candidate for short-stop.

THE PITCHING STAFF looks as if it might be tough in a year or two. Terry Maier had four wins as a freshman on the all-veteran team of last year. Tom Bullard, 6-foot, 5-inch lefthander, will also have to see action this spring. Bullard looks much faster and stronger this season. Freshmen Chuck Green and Dan Rademacher look very impressive so far, but neither have been tested yet.

The catching duties will probably be shared this year depending on who can hit best. Both Cary Hambleton and Phil Knight have had experience, and Boyce also has been considered to strengthen the position. Rounding out the infield, Craig Knight looks like the best candidate for first base. Second base right now is a real question mark. Jon Berkhausen, Pat Durner and Dick Henderson all have a good chance. Bruce Hart will get the start at third.

THE OUTFIELD SEEMS to have the most indecision at this time, but sophomore Chuck Romig has some experience in left and center, while the other two spots are up in the air as to who will start.

"This year's team will be very young," Smiley said, "with the possibility of several sophomores and freshmen breaking into the line-up."

"With a young team such as this, how well we do will depend on how much we improve."

MA and PA POOL LEAGUE Standings up-to-date at St. Johns Recreation: Jim and Sally Martin 64-32, Bud and Arlene Barnes 54-42, George and Sally Gavenda 51-45, Vic and Bea Pope 49-47, Mick and Vicki Peck 43-53, Ted and Thelma Bedell 43-53, Jerry and Mary Saxton 43-53, and Dale and Gloria Jorae 37-59.

Geese in flight have been known to reach altitudes of up to 26,000 feet.

Mrs Bud Kaloz and Mrs Bertha Miller, all of Lansing.

Mr and Mrs Norman Brown spent Friday evening visiting Mr and Mrs Gerald Smith and family of St. Johns.

Gary L. Brown, son of Mr and Mrs Norman Brown, has been promoted to A/1c which is equivalent to an Army sergeant. He has been serving in Guam the past 18 months. He will be home on a 42 day leave in May, after which he will spend another year at Loring Air Force Base in Maine.

The Daughters of Isabella will have their regular business meeting next Wednesday, April 12, at 8 p.m. at Holy Trinity Hall.

The Fowler Jaycees are sponsoring a Social Party at Holy Trinity Hall Sunday, April 9, at 8 p.m. There will be grocery prizes and door prizes. Proceeds are to support Jaycees community projects. Chairman of this project is Frank Hufnagel.

Dragster Barns aims

for track's speed mark

Local dragster driver Bud Barnes will drive the new Barnes-Gladstone dragster this Sunday afternoon at the Central Michigan Dragway, located just north of Stanton near McBride in an all out crack at the strip's existing speed record for nitro burning machines of 209 miles an hour.

The Barnes-Gladstone dragster represented the United States last summer in England when they raced their car with the American Commando Drag Racing Team. Barnes would like to make the trip to England again this summer when the team goes over for a four-day meet in June.

Other boys back who did not letter are Wayne Woodbury, Brian Woodbury, Ed Lublow, Jeff Geller, Gary Sipkovsky, Ken Jones, Mike Lewis, and Mike Davidson. Help should come from these boys, because some of them played last year but not enough to earn a letter.

A FINE GROUP OF freshmen golfers will make the older boys hustle. Dan Schuller, a 39'er shooter; Dave Gaffney, a 39'er on Highland Hills; Richard Stoddard; Dave Harper, Wayne Eirschele, and Mark Barber, all will be battling for the starting jobs.

Four new schools have been added to the schedule, including St. Louis, Holt, Waverly and Mt. Pleasant. The schedule will be 15 games as well as regional and conference play.

In the four years Coach Humphrey has had the golf team in the conference they have finished first once, second twice and fifth once. They took third in regional and eighth in the state in 1964. The team's record during the years is 48 wins and 11 losses, with six of the losses coming last season.

DeWITT HIGH SCHOOL—Baseball, April 6 against Webberville at home, April 10 against Bath at home, and April 13 at Owosso St. Paul.

Another top ranked dragster that will be gunning for the strip record this Sunday is the Speed Sport dragster out of Chicago.

Over 200 cars are entered for this Sunday's races ranging from new factory experimental sport cars through super-up gas burning rods to the out and out mistles on wheels called dragsters.

Bath FFA wins poultry medal

BATH—The Bath High School FFA won a gold medal last Thursday in the state FFA poultry improvement contest.

One hundred twenty-nine boys from 17 schools participated last Thursday and had 34 entries. Saturday another 17 schools competed with 34 entries. Boys attending from Bath were Martin Erbskorn, Dave Swartz, Mike Beagle and Ricky Schmidtman. They were accompanied by ag instructor and FFA advisor William Vondrasek.

Each entry of 10 cockerals two months old was killed and dressed by the boys. Judges scored the birds for conformation, uniformity, finish and pin feathers. Records were judged for feed used for each pound of meat produced, mortality, costs and completeness.

Each entry consisted of 100 broiler type chicks. Bath got theirs, brought from Amstutz Hatcher, during the big snow storm.

THE CLASS FORMED a company for financing and sold shares at $1 each, with the FFA taking all the shares the boys didn't buy. None of the boys had ever raised chicks before, and all took turns at feeding and watering them.

The first two months 2.22 pounds of feed was used to produce each pound of meat.

The boys will feed them another two weeks and then dress and package them to market them retail. They expect to do as well as recent classes which received $1.50 for each $1 share purchased.

Fulton seniors to take new civil service tests

FULTON HIGH SCHOOL
By Janet Manchester

There was an assembly held in the gym Monday. Grades 8 through 12 were entertained by David S. Williams. He, assisted by his wife, presented "The Wonders of Liquid Air."

Tuesday, April 11, the Lewis Cass Building will come to Fulton High School. Not the whole building, of course, just the Civil Service Commission. They will send a representative to administer civil service tests over various clerical fields. Any FHS seniors interested in working for the state government of Michigan can take part in the tests.

LATER IN THE MONTH, the seniors will have an opportunity to take federal Civil Service tests. Passing these tests would qualify a girl for employment with the United States government.

The monthly FHA and FFA meetings were held second hour, Tuesday.

Five senior FHA's have earned their state FHA degrees. Brenda Upton, Nancy McKinney, Lana Aldrich, Kathy Wood, and Dorine Siepr were required to work at least one year on projects to better their lives in their home, community, and nation. Much work is put into them and they are very much deserved.

As a result of earning their state degrees, the girls will attend the state convention in Grand Rapids this month. They will also receive a silver miniature torch to wear on their FHA pins. It is quite an honor to Fulton school also, as it is quite unusual to have five girls from one school earn their state degrees.

DON'T FORGET THE donkey basketball game sponsored by the FFA. It's this Friday night at 7:30 in the Fulton High school gym. Come and see this entertaining imitation of a basketball game. The junior and senior FFA boys will be riding the donkeys and trying to shoot baskets at the same time.

The student council has sent the completed card to Boston to be matched for Fulton's "Computer Dance." The big event, April 8, is bound to bring mixed emotions. The student council hopes the outcome will be successful and that everyone will be happy with whomever the computer picks for them. The "Uncalled For" will provide the music, but only Fulton students have computer tickets will be admitted.

A BERT RUBY wrestling match will be held in the FHA gym April 13 at 8:30. The junior and senior classes are co-sponsoring the event. You can buy tickets from any Fulton junior or senior. Student tickets will be sold.

The profits will be useful to the junior class for the prom and other coming expenses. The seniors need the money for caps and gowns and many other expenses that come with graduation. So, help support a good cause and at the same time, spend an enjoyable evening. Well-known wrestlers will be appearing such as — Crusher Cortez vs White Owl, Zellis Amara vs The Batman, Al LaFrance vs The Destroyer. There will also be a tag team match as well as a girl's match.

By SUE THELEN
P-W High School

The short four-day Easter vacation came to a close on Tuesday morning, March 28, when P-W students met to crack the books once again. They were relieved from their studying for a little over an hour during the general assembly planned by the student council.

The familiar faces of five alumni speakers greeted the students as they walked into the gym. Student Council President Louie Thelen introduced each speaker in turn beginning with Mike Platte who spoke on classes, activities, dress and faculty at Lansing Community College where he studied business administration. Following Mike, Pat O'Neill, a junior at Central Michigan University, told about the life of a college student at a four-year institution. Pat plans to teach the handicapped after graduation.

RUSS MANNING was next to speak and told about the four-month agricultural short course he was enrolled in at Michigan State University. He took the first year of the two-year course during the winter months, the farmer's off-season of the year. Another LCC man, Ken Miller, gave his talk from a slightly different viewpoint than the first speaker but went on to tell about the atmosphere of the college and his studies for the career of highway technician.

Finally President Louie introduced Bruce Schafer, "a diligent student at CMU" who spoke about the military aspect of Central Michigan University. After the program was concluded, the five were honored guests of P-W's cafeteria.

TICKETS FOR the junior-senior prom went on sale Tuesday noon. The juniors chose as a theme for the May 6 prom, Oriental Gardens, and ordered their decorations from LeVans in Lansing. Music will be furnished by the Presidentials, a five-piece combo.

Seniors were called together for a short meeting Tuesday afternoon to settle the issue of caps and gowns. After being informed that the previously favored mint and emerald green were not available to them, in caps and gowns and after a lengthy discussion, they finally voted for the traditional blue and white.

Following a briefing on sales techniques, 58 upper classmen left the school Wednesday noon in search of advertisers for the yearbook, Treasured Memories. Towns covered during this first day of soliciting were Pwamo, Westphalia, Muir, Lyons, Ionia, Hubbardston, Fowler, Carson City, Portland, and the outskirts of St. Johns. After the money was turned in and counted by business manager Debi Cook, James Cotter reported that this year's solicitors broke a record for first day sales.

KATHY FULLER, Kent Courtland, Marty Langert and Wally Cutler were visitors to P-W from DeWitt during the second League Exchange Day sponsored by area student councils. On the same day, Wednesday, March 29, Diane Pilne, Ann Marie Pung, Janice O'Brien and Fred McCrumb represented P-W at Bath.

"Everything's Coming Up Roses" is the theme chosen for the annual FHA - sponsored style show to be held on April 29. Besides the self-made outfits modeled by home economics and FHA girls and the adults from the night sewing classes, the style show will have as a special novelty feature - several old-fashioned costumes representing earlier periods. A few of the girls will also be privileged to model clothes from the Julie K Shop in St. Johns. The style show is open to the public and no admission is charged.

THE FHA GIRLS WHO have earned the highest number of points this year and will be attending the April state FHA convention in Grand Rapids are as follows: Shirley Smith, Laura Welland, Janet Kramer, Theresa Thelen, Marilyn Thelen, Janet Harry, Gail Cotter, Theresa Pung, Susan T. Thelen, Maggie Droste and Chris Casari. P-Ws allowed to send one member for every 10 members enrolled in the Future Homemakers organization. Besides the quota of 11 girls, Joan Kramer, regional vice chairman, and Mrs Chester Casari, sponsor, are allowed to attend.

On Wednesday evening "Buz-zies Buzzards," the JV Future Farmer basketball team, played their last game of the season at Greenville. This victory made possible their second undefeated season. The final score was P-W 25, Greenville 24.

FFA varsity basketball team, the "Hootchie Kootchie" were again victorious Wednesday over Greenville. They had tremendous scoring in the opening minutes of the game as the score was 1 to 0 in favor of Greenville. They broke their old scoring record by scoring a total of 83 points. Dave Smith tied the old record with 34 points. He was assisted by Stan Fedewa with 14, Ken Arens 13, Mary Klein 12, and Ken Weber 12. Evidently the two weeks of strenuous practice enforced after a recent defeat helped considerably.

P-W WAS INFORMED of a change of plans on the part of radio WRBJ in St. Johns. Instead of being heard on March 25, Jim Bengel, Jane Stump, Jane Kramer, Joan Kramer and Don Schraaben were heard from 3 to 6 o'clock on Saturday, April 1.

On Saturday and Sunday, April 1 and 2, P-W hosted the District V MSBOA All-Star Band. There were 17 schools from the Central Michigan Area represented. Each band sent their best musicians who met at the school on Saturday for practice sessions and a sock hop. Sunday they presented a public concert in the gym. Students from P-W who played in the All-Star Band are Fred Schmitz, Todd Beachnau, Dale Horn, Sandy Schneider, Barb Simon, Roger Schneider, Gary Bissel, Mike Pung and La Vern Schneider.

Central PTA carnival set

The Central School PTA's annual carnival is scheduled for April 15 from 5-9 p.m. at the school.

Games and contests being planned include ring toss, fish pond, dart throw, bean bag toss, baseball throw, cake walk, bake sale, fun house, yum yum tree, darlo, and white elephant sale. There will be refreshments available.

Proceeds from the carnival are used for school-related activities and material. Money raised last year was used to buy a typewriter with larger display letters for use by the teachers and for financing a trip for school patrolers, hall monitors and other children who had responsibilities around school.

Maple Rapids

By MRS. WILBUR BANCROFT, Correspondent—Ph. 682-3553

The Maple Rapids Rebekah Lodge will continue to meet on Saturday afternoons at 3 p.m. through April, on the second and fourth Saturdays. After that they will meet on the second and fourth Tuesday evenings as usual.

STAR SCOUT
Ed Carr, son of Mr and Mrs Carr of Rainbow Lake, was one of the two boys to receive the Star Scout Rank at ceremonies here recently. To obtain this rank he was required to earn five merit awards, which he did in driving, swimming, life saving, drafting and sharp shooting. Ed started in scouting in New Jersey as a Cub and has been in 11 years. He transferred to Lansing as a Boy Scout, attended Scout camp for eight years and as an Explorer Scout attended Phillmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico in 1965. He won his Polar bear badge last winter and is now an assistant Scoutmaster. Edd is a senior at Fulton schools and after graduation plans to attend Montcalm Community College, majoring in drafting.

At a special meeting of the Village Council Tuesday evening, the engineering firm of Williams and Works of Lansing was awarded the contract to survey and plan the rebuilding of the mile long road north of town to the county line. The cost will be financed by the Motor Vehicle Revenue Fund. This project will probably take the better part of the year to complete. They will also make a preliminary survey in regards to a sewer system for the Village. This does not mean one will be built in the very near future, only that a cost estimate will be given for a system. There will be an estimate of the cost and how to obtain the funds.

About 100 fathers and daughters attended the first of what may become an annual Father and Daughter banquet Tuesday evening at the Congregational Church, sponsored by the combined troops of Girl Scouts. The speaker for the evening was Miss Janet Stetser of Lansing, who dressed in a Scout Uniform of 1918, gave a very interesting talk on Girl Scouting. After the Invocation by Rev Wittenbach, flag ceremony was presented by the various leaders. All the girls then sang "Follow the Piper," "Daddy's Little Girl" was sung by the Underwood sisters. The Brownies, Juniors and Cadettes then gave a skit, "The Men in My Little Girls Life." The Brownies danced and sang followed by an operation—Making a Good Scout from a Bad Scout.

SPRING FEVER
Four teenage boys developed a case of spring fever Tuesday afternoon and decided to go canoeing down the very high Maple River. They navigated it pretty well until almost back to the bridge where they put in, when two of them became trapped in the cross currents. One of the boys had not paddled a canoe before and the other was a little rusty. The inevitable happened and the canoe tipped over. One boy swam for a tree and climbed into it the other stayed with the canoe for awhile, until rescued by the other two boys. If anyone wants to know the temperature of the water in Maple River in March, just ask Kurt Bancroft and Dave Redman. They will probably say, "Refreshing!"

Sorosis Club met at the home of Mrs Ruth Cludy March 28. Fourteen members were present to enjoy a program on "Safety" prepared by Etha Winsor and Marie Roberts. Ruth Wright announced the committees for the County Federation of Woman's Clubs, which will be held in Maple Rapids, May 2. Mrs Orrison Bailey was co-hostess with her mother. The April meeting will be with Mrs Max Paine April 25.

Mr and Mrs Wilbur Bancroft spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr and Mrs Ed Moggo at Au Gres.

The keys to the Clinton National Bank's new motorized bank are presented to Vice President John Rumbaugh (right) by Red Lundy of Lundy Motor Sales Tuesday morning. The bank will go into service May 1 in five Clinton area communities.

Motorized bank delivered, will begin service May 1

A unique motorized banking unit which will begin serving five Clinton area communities the week of May 1 is on display Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Auto, Farm, Home and Sport Show at the St. Johns City Park.

Clinton National Bank & Trust Co. this week accepted delivery of the motor coach from Lundy Motors, Inc. of St. Johns. Interior lay-out of the commodious van is the design of Gayle Desprez of St. Johns, assistant vice president and operations officer at Clinton National.

BODY FOR THE unit was built by Travco, Inc. of Brown City, Mich. It is mounted on a Dodge chassis.

The new coach will carry banking personnel and equipment to permanent Clinton National branch offices which are now under construction at sites in Hubbardston, Maple Rapids, Eureka, Wacousta and Bath.

The offices will provide two hours of banking twice weekly at each of the five locations. Charles J. Halfmann of Fowler, assistant cashier at Clinton National's Fowler office, has been named manager of the five new offices. Duane Bunce of Greenbush, a teller at the main office in St. Johns, will also travel with the unit.

The schedule of service to the five communities, beginning the week of May 1—Hubbardston, 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. Mondays and Wednesdays; Maple Rapids, noon to 2 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays; Eureka, 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays; Wacousta, 10 a.m. to noon Tuesdays and Thursdays; and Bath, 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesdays and Fridays.

Downtown values highest in area of Clinton, Walker

Groseclose, Williams & Associates in considering the 12 disposal parcels in the project area, have used four approaches to value:

- 1) Comparatives; 2) assessed values; 3) cost of development; 4) capitalized return.

Because of the absence of reliable data, all four methods require the application of value judgments based upon experience in urban renewal in other communities in the eastern United States.

As is true in central business districts of many long-established smaller and static communities, transfers are infrequent. They have found no recent sales of vacant land recorded in downtown St. Johns. The prime commercial area in the city is at the corner of Clinton Avenue and Walker Street, with indicated values declining somewhat to the south in the block between Walker and State streets, and rather sharply along Clinton Avenue to the north between Walker and Railroad streets.

Businesses along Railroad, Walker, Higham, and State on either side of Clinton are a mix, being mostly service and convenience type with a sprinkling of farm implement dealers, offices, and some industrial use. Property values drop abruptly once one steps off Clinton Avenue.

IN THEIR INVESTIGATIONS they researched records of some of the recent sales in the downtown area and have taken them into consideration in arriving at an appraisal value for each of the disposition parcels.

The land assessment values are a reliable guide to market value and have been examined and analyzed in this reuse appraisal. Land assessments are an historical process, and lag to some extent behind current market actualities; nevertheless their significance cannot be ignored. At the same time, their bearing on the current problem is limited by three principal factors. The first is the uses to which the parcels were devoted, which may not have been the most productive uses, and hence tended to depress the land value. A second is the small size of many of the parcels, which tended to depress their potential market value. A third is the general environment of the area prior to the redevelopment program, which depressed the market.

They have developed a value for land in the project area based on the assumption of availability to a prospective user of raw land upon which he might create a large shopping center offering competition in area, variety of services, and convenience. They have assumed the cost of such land at $5,000 per acre, and on the basis of prevailing costs they have found to obtain in the locality they have allocated the burden of conditioning and preparing the site for use as follows:

Cost of blacktop and curbing for parking areas (per sq. ft.) $0.50; Cost of utilities to land for structures (per sq. ft.) $0.25.

Groseclose assumed—as would be the case of a developer—that the cost of land for parking and burden of conditioning is borne by the users of structure, through rental costs, reflected in turn in the capital values of the land and structure. On this approach, the cost of conditioning is assigned to the parcels for disposition, and only the cost of land is borne by the municipality. At a computed conditioning cost of $0.75 per square foot, therefore, applied to the 266,677.5 square feet of area for parking, a total burden of $200,008 is derived, to be distributed among the parcels for structure and use. This amounts to a mean of $1.84 per square foot for the 108,915 square feet total area of parcels for commercial and public use for which structure requiring parking space is permitted.

ON THE BASIS OF A COST of raw land of $5,000 per acre, they obtained a total cost by this approach of $0.11-1/2 per square foot for the parcels for parking and $1.95-1/2 per square foot for the parcels for other disposition (except walkways).

The land use plan imposes certain restrictions on use of project area land, and these restrictions, under present economic conditions, impose certain limits on the earning power of the land. They assumed a continuance of normal conditions, or present conditions. An approach to value is to calculate this earning power, much as a prospective buyer would, and to capitalize the net income attributable to land at a prevailing rate of return. This will offer an indication of a maximum value which the parcels may command in the market.

The defect of the method is that it involves a number of variables, none of which can be determined definitively for a particular case, so that the end result is more a subjective assessment than one derived from experience. Thus the rate of capitalization varies according to the economic climate. It also varies according to local banking and investment opinion as to the rate of return that will attract capital to the venture. Operating ratios, net/gross space ratios, land coverage, total floor space, end use, and construction costs will all vary with the skill and the intent of the developer. A developer knowing his own capacity for economies or use potentials may be willing to pay more for a site than another.

The urban renewal process is not, of course for the purpose of exploiting his acumen, and deriving a price for land which the most efficient developer can afford to pay—he is also entitled to his reward for his skill—but to establish a price that will attract the reasonably efficient uses and also yield the city a fair return for its contribution in redeveloping the land for use.

The net results of the calculations give an indication of land values ranging from zero per square foot to a maximum of $4.15 per square foot. The central tendency is of the order of $2.50 per square foot.

In next week's installment we will consider the preliminary fixture appraisal as performed by S.M. Dix and Co. of Grand Rapids.

ON TARGET
with the St. Johns
Chamber of Commerce
By BETTY MINSKY
Secretary-Manager

Hi Neighbor
Your CC has just published a new pamphlet titled:

"Hi Neighbor, WOULD YOU . . . buy a house . . . raise a family . . . start a business . . . expand an industry . . . be a contractor . . . run a restaurant . . . or practice a profession in A Town That Doesn't Have A Chamber of Commerce?"

We go on to make a few remarks, and I'd like to use the information in this new pamphlet as my remarks today, because they answer so well the often-heard question "What is a Chamber?" or "What does the Chamber do?"

We quote:
The St. Johns Chamber of Commerce people . . . people with vision and enterprise . . . working together for a better community. For business development and industrial growth. For more job opportunities.

This is the stuff that makes an area's economy healthy and strong. This is the kind of climate that attracts new capital and spurs progress.

AND, WHO ARE these people who are members of the Chamber? You know many of them; they are your neighbors. They own, manage, or are otherwise employed in our factories, stores and offices, in our banks, utilities and professional firms.

The goods and services these members produce and perform provide most of the payrolls, and much of the tax base, of St. Johns and Clinton County.

Many of these members who are your neighbors not only pay their share of the Chamber's operating expenses, they also contribute their time and talents in planning and carrying out the Chamber's program of work.

The work program always includes standard Chamber services: there are scores of these, many of them involving area statistics, business trends, etc.; but the more important projects included and worked on vary from time to time according to priority of community needs.

AS OF THE MOMENT, even though employment has increased, the No. 1 need is, and for some time probably will continue to be, more jobs if there is to be consistent and healthy growth.

While the Chamber deals in many things, miracles are not a stock item. The chamber does not claim credit for every community accomplishment, nor does it accept responsibility for every civic failure.

Again — the Chamber is people, and organizations — like people — do err or they're doing nothing. The Chamber welcomes suggestions and with them the willingness and necessary financial support of more people to put them into effect.

Some Chamber projects require several years to accomplish. Examples: Planning and acquiring land for an industrial park, planning for an outstanding annual tourist promotion; putting together a strong annual retail promotional calendar; learning to work together as a group.

OTHER PROJECTS require less time, from a few weeks or months to three or four years. Items: Arranging trailer rallies; bringing a convention here; planning a Christmas retail promotion; bring an industry such as Moriarty here; sponsoring the 4-H vaudeville acts at the 4-H Fair or industrial coffee breaks in January; putting on a Auto, Farm, Home and Sport Show; co-ordinating and arranging for a Sidewalk Days or other promotion.

But, there are other things, even more important, which the Chamber does but about which little or nothing is permitted to be said because of their confidential nature. This invariably is true of negotiations for new businesses or expansion of industries. Hence, the Chamber is often forced to swallow criticism for apparently "doing nothing."

Probably in most instances, the opposite would be true; the Chamber actually has been "doing something" but must forego credit for this, at least for the time being, if the Chamber is to have the continued advantage of such confidential relationships.

SO THE CHAMBER goes about its business seeking results, first; there'll always be enough credit to go around.

The economic growth of St. Johns and Clinton County doesn't just happen; it is planned. But, first there must be opportunities for profit, which are the rewards of a productive environment. This in turn is but the reflection of a community's determination and willingness to cooperate. Encouragement of such willingness and determination is a primary function of the Chamber, for without these stimulants progress is hindered or stymied.

Community development and growth have not yet been automated, nor are they magical or instant. The gap between failure and success is paved with hard work and disappointment.

As was said in the beginning, communities move ahead and prosper because of the vision and enterprise of their people. People working together for a better community, because progress, not complacency, is their purposeful way of life.

You can help your business and community by joining with your neighbors and working with the Chamber for a better St. Johns and Clinton County.

Buy plentiful foods save food money

BY HELEN B. MEACH
Home Extension Economist

So you want to cut food spending at your house? One of the best ways to begin is to learn which foods are in plentiful supply in the markets where you shop.

The foods in abundant supply will often carry an attractive price tag — one which is lowered from the previous month. Plentiful foods may have a featured display spot in the market. Commercial ads of all kinds will guide you to the plentiful. Reading and listening to food ads is one good way for you to become an informed, smart food buyer. During April you will find sizeable supplies of eggs, peanuts, peanut products, beef, fish fillets, steaks, oranges, or orange juice and grapefruit. These anticipated current plentiful foods are listed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Eggs top the Plentiful Food

List for this month and are expected to be wearing unusually attractive price tags. Supplies should be substantially larger than a year ago.

LAST YEAR'S peanut harvest — about two per cent larger than the previous record — will soon show up in ample offerings of various types of peanuts, peanut butter, peanut oil and other products.

Specials on beef are likely to be offered frequently during April. Supplies of this popular meat will be greater than a year ago.

Another protein food will be readily available, too. Frozen fish — fillets and steaks — are almost 40 per cent more numerous than a year ago, according to fishing industry reports. This may well lead to attractively priced features on "cuts" of cod, flounder, haddock, perch, whiting and salmon steaks.

ORANGES AND GRAPEFRUIT continue to dominate fresh fruit supplies.

Estimates of the size of the orange crop have been increased, bringing the record-large total of nearly 183 million boxes (something like 7 billion pounds). Attractive prices are expected on frozen concentrate, canned and chilled juice and other orange products as well as fresh oranges.

NOT SINCE 1947-48 have so many grapefruit headed for market. Reportedly, more than half the crop was yet to be harvested as of early February. Reasonably priced grapefruit should continue plentiful through April.

Shopping wisely for food has become a complex task. Your Extension Home Economist recommends "Food Shoppers Guide" to help you spend your food budget profitably. This guide was prepared by Foods Specialists at Michigan State University. Write or call the Extension Office in your County — ask for this important bulletin. There is no charge.

The League is a non-sectarian and non-profit organization. Its purpose is to help encourage better mothering through breast feeding. The topic of discussion will be the advantages of breast feeding to mother and baby. All women interested in nursing their babies are invited as are their babies.

For additional information call Mrs Thomas White of St. Johns.

Women's Club has already distributed about 18,000 labels, and he is being asked to secure another 4,000 for distribution at the Women's Club state convention later this month.

What's a medi-label? It's a small gummed sticker about the size of three trading stamps put together. It sticks to the new plastic Michigan driver's license and contains space for a brief medical history of the driver. For those who don't have the new plastic driver's license yet, it can be put in a prominent place in the billfold.

THE MEDI-LABELS are distributed state-wide by the Michigan State Medical Society. Physicians are the main distributors, but last year the St. Johns Women's Club obtained permission to distribute some. They ordered first 1,000 then 2,000, then 5,000 and finally another 10,000. They've distributed them throughout central Michigan.

Information that can be put on the medi-label includes that which would be helpful to a physician called in an emergency, such as blood type, allergy sensitivity, diabetic, tatanus immunization, etc. A serious time delay can frequently occur because of lack of information during an emergency, and the medi-labels are designed to head off this problem.

Mrs James Postlethwaite is heading up the medi-label project, a community service of the Women's Club. Persons interested in obtaining a medi-label are invited to contact Mrs Postlethwaite, the department chairman for health and education of the St. Johns Women's Club.

Lockwood skeptical of Romney reform bill chances, educators told

Unless several legislators can be convinced that a majority of Michigan voters will accept an income tax, Gov. Romney's tax reform program is in difficulty, Sen. Emil Lockwood (R-St. Louis) warned about 30 school superintendents and board members from Central Michigan in Lansing last Tuesday.

Speaking to school leaders from Gratiot, Shiawassee, Clinton and Eaton counties in the supreme court chamber of the state capitol, Sen. Lockwood said "There are 38 members of the Senate and about that many different ideas on what kind of tax program should be adopted. The Senate majority leader said most senators are fully aware of the financial needs of schools and other state agencies, but many of them are not yet convinced that a majority of the state's voters will tolerate an income tax, which is the principal item in Gov. Romney's fiscal reform program."

"UNLESS YOU SCHOOL people are able to talk with other legislators and convince them that most voters will accept a state income tax, the governor's program will fail," said Sen. Lockwood.

Sen. Lockwood, who has been leading the Senate fight for the governor's program, said "Right now, I don't think we have the votes to pass Gov. Romney's program."

Lockwood said that, as a former teacher at the Missouri School for the Deaf and a former member of the St. Louis (Mich.) board of education, he was personally familiar with the needs of education.

He told the school men that legislators were familiar with their difficulties caused by the amendment to the Hutchinson act permitting public employees to bargain collectively. He predicted that legislation would be passed at the current session to help ease their problems.

BEFORE LOCKWOOD addressed the group, the school men expressed the need for greater state appropriation for schools and painted a dire picture of their plight if more funds were not forthcoming.

Several told of difficulties in negotiating with teachers, asserting that many of them said "We don't care where the money is coming from—just get the money."

Robert Braden of Byron, a school board member, was chairman of the meeting, which also heard briefly from Reps. Blair Woodman of Owosso and Lester J. Allen of Ithaca.

4-H Club Chatter

By JOHN AYLSWORTH
 Extension 4-H Youth Agent

The Clinton County 4-H Achievement week of activities is now history, but most every one will agree the week was very successful. A number of changes in the girls clothing and knitting evaluation and the girls style shows brought out many favorable comments over previous years by the leaders, members and parents.

The girls' style shows on Friday evening and Saturday provided an opportunity for 457 different girls and boys to gain some experience in styling their clothing or knitting projects. The girls and several boys styled their garments before a large crowd for each of the three shows. An attractively decorated stage background and stage set-up were a favorable addition to the member's style show. The success of the style shows was due to the excellent cooperation of the members, leaders, and parents.

The 4-H Club will be holding their first meeting of 1967 on Saturday, April 15, at 8 p.m. at Smith Hall in the City Park in St. Johns. Arden Peterson, program leader on the State 4-H staff, will be present to direct the program of recreation. Arden is well known over the state as a specialist in the recreation program. There will be all phases of recreation for everyone including square dancing, folk games, mixers and homemade games.

This meeting is open to older 4-H members who are 14 years of age and who might be interested in the 4-H Service Club. Membership will be open to any 4-H member interested in the club and who has completed three years of club work and is 15 years of age.

An application will be available at the program in case you have not secured one before the 15th. During the recreational program the 4-H Service Club program will be explained and questions answered regarding the program. Even if you are not interested in the 4-H Service Club, why not come out to an evening of recreational fun.

The County 4-H Junior Leadership Club will meet Thursday, April 13, at 7:30 p.m. at the Central National Bank meeting room at the corner of Walker and Spring streets in St. Johns. All members taking the junior leadership project should plan to attend. An election of officers will be held as well as a discussion of the junior leadership program.

Michigan Junior Horticulture Assn. meeting will be open to older 4-H members on Saturday, April 15, from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. in Room 206 of the Horticulture Building at Michigan State University. The morning session will be spent in propagating house plants, and the afternoon will be spent in describing the various NJHA projects and activities. If you are interested in the field of vegetable production or marketing, I'm sure you will find this program to be very helpful.

The man who considers old values and has new ideas has an unbeatable combination.

Road Commission Weekly Report

Although the spring breakup on local roads does not seem to be as serious as expected, there is still a lot of work to be done. The breakup on the blacktops is very bad. The foreman say that at least two weeks of good weather will be needed to complete the job of patching blacktops.

Driveway work has been suspended during this time. We still install driveways, under the same provisions as last year, but will be unable to do this work for about two weeks.

State Highways in our county also required patching and considerable shoulder repairs last week. Another spring job is sign replace and roadside cleanup.

WINTER MAINTENANCE and traffic accidents destroyed a lot of signs but the biggest cost is caused by vandalism. When the snow left, there was exposed along our roads, a collection of papers, cartons, bottles, cans, old iron, garbage, articles of clothing, automobile parts and any other objects ever used by the traveling public.

State maintenance foreman Orville Jones remarked that he thought the liquor bottles were the most ever this year. Maybe the hard winter caused this and maybe there were some headaches not caused by bad roads.

The Board of Clinton County Road Commissioners held their regular meeting on Monday, April 3. Three new subdivisions were discussed, two residential in Bath Township and one industrial in DeWitt township.

ERHARD PFINGSTEN

NFO natl. VP to speak here

With the National Farmers Organization milk holding action so much in the news these days, there's a good chance the national vice president, Erhard Pfingsten, will refer to it when he speaks at the Clinton County NFO dinner in St. Johns next Tuesday night.

The occasion will be the NFO's annual Roast Beef Dinner. It will be served from 5:30 to 8 p.m. at Smith Hall in St. Johns. Pfingsten will speak after the dinner is served.

He was born and raised on a farm in Gage County, Nebr. He received his college education in Kansas and in 1932 began a career as a farmer in western Iowa. At the close of World War II, after serving in the armed forces of the United States, he bought a farm in Woodbury County, Iowa.

HIS FARMING operation consists of 500 acres of diversified farming, the principal products being corn, soybeans and hogs.

Pfingsten joined the NFO at its very beginning and has been a member continuously since that time. He was elected to the national board of directors in 1960, was appointed director of the meat commodity department in 1961 and elected national vice president in 1962. He was subsequently reelected to that post in 1963, 1964, 1965 and 1966.

Ann Giffels and Lois Bracey are heading up a committee making arrangements for the dinner next Tuesday. Swiss steak is being planned for the menu.

Ever hear through your nose?

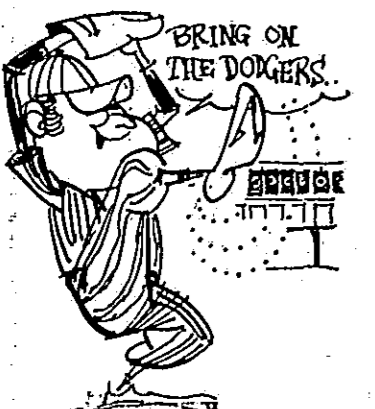

Ever hear through your nose? It may sound unbelievable, but it's a scientific fact that almost everyone can hear through his nose. Some persons can even tune in on radio or recordings through their teeth.

This type of "magic" will be shown this weekend at the Sonotone exhibit at the first annual Auto, Farm, Home and Sport Show at Smith Hall. A representative of the Lansing firm will hold a gadget called an oscillator to your nose and tune in to a live radio program.

The oscillator can also be held at the back of your neck, or your teeth and you can hear the music. Some will even be able to hear through the elbow.

Musicians and scientists have known for years that the bones of the human body, particularly those of the head, can conduct sound vibrations to the auditory nerves almost as well as the ears. In fact, some physical defects in the ear can be bypassed by sending sound vibrations through the mastoid (a projection of the temporal bone behind the ear) to the auditory nerves.

Over 30 years ago Sonotone developed the first wearable bone-conduction oscillator to help hard-of-hearing persons in this manner. Improved models are constantly being developed.

Lefty Vander Meer of the Cincinnati Reds is the only pitcher in history to complete two no-hit games in a row. He did it in June, 1938, beating the Boston Braves, 3-0, and the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6-0.

Church Chuckles by CARTWRIGHT

"Hold it! You grabbed the Meekers for your church—this family is MINE!"

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

When Jimmy Clark crowned the tiny church with the steeple it touched my heart.
Incidentally, I admire Jimmy Clark and I am interested in everything he does. When he brushes his teeth or rides his tricycle, or climbs the sliding board at the playground I admire his concentration and his careful workmanship. And when he cuddles into his Daddy's lap at bedtime or walks hand in hand with him up the church steps on Sunday he looks like an angel.
I think you have guessed it by now, haven't you? I'm Jimmy's mother—and a doting mother at that. I think Jimmy could accomplish just about anything . . . doctor, lawyer, merchant; why he might be President some day.
But whatever he becomes, I want him to be a good man; strong and true of character, firm in his principles, I want him to have God as his partner. That's why I go to church every Sunday and take Jimmy. It's the best insurance I know for a happy and fulfilled life.

'Amazing Conklins' on stage 4 times at home show here

Four times during the Auto, Farm, Home and Sports Show in St. Johns this weekend, one of America's largest family shows now on tour will perform on the stage in Smith Hall.

The "Amazing Conklins," a well-known family illusion act, will appear at the show at 7:30 p.m. tonight (Thursday), Friday and Saturday and at 3:30 p.m. Saturday afternoon.

Participants in the magic show include Mr and Mrs Jerry Conklin, their two children, as well as Connie and Cary Phelps and nationally known comedy magician Duke Stern.

THE "AMAZING Conklins" act had its start many years ago when Conklin, at the age of 14 years, started building a magic show. As his knowledge of the secrets of magic and presentation of illusions increased, he required an assistant.

This assistant eventually became Mrs Conklin who has now been with the show 16 years. The show now consists of both Mr and Mrs Conklin and their two children, so it truly is a family act.

This family show satisfies and mystifies any type of audience and all age groups. Proof of this is the fact that they have entertained groups as large as 70,000, at the 50th National Scout Jamboree at Colorado Springs and a small group of Army personnel while flying over the Alps mountains.

THE AMAZING CONKLINS specialize in illusions. This type of magic is more effective for stage performance. The illusion shows are fading due to the amount of equipment, time money and effort necessary to perform. Here are a few examples. They carry over a ton of equipment. It requires nearly five hours with a crew of six people to set up a show. Over 30 costumes are pressed for each performance along with hundreds of yards of silk scarfs.

The Conklins are constantly at work improving and perfecting newer ways to present the baffling illusions.

Jerry Conklin is a young, but well seasoned and skilled professional magician and illusionist, but this well rehearsed, fast moving and colorful show must be seen to be appreciated. You will see illusions in such stage settings as Hindu, oriental, and voodoo, complete with a colorful array of costumes and magic effects.

Some of the many effects that will be seen are the Hindu basket mystery—this effect is East Indian origin but Conklin has perfected it to the point where even the Hindus would be baffled; the floating princess—will make you wonder if you can actually believe what you see... a lovely lady floats gracefully in space and then suddenly a complete surprise happens while the girl is still in mid-air; The Chinese torture illusion—a lady clad in oriental costume is divided into six parts and then magically restored. The Houdini packing case mystery—is one of the features of the show and was one of Harry Houdini's masterpieces. It takes place around a thoroughly inspected wooden packing case. An escape and substitution is made in a matter of seconds.

ANOTHER GREAT highlight of the Amazing Conklin show will be the appearance of the nationally known comedy magician Duke Stern who will act as "magician of ceremonies." He will also present many of his magical comedy tricks during the show. Stern has had his own TV show for several years as well as being a USO entertainer during the last world war.

At the recent International Convention of Magicians in Colon, Mich., the Amazing Conklins were given a standing ovation, and this audience you will have to agree would be a very critical one. This clean colorful family show containing mirth, magic and mystery, will provide entertainment for your whole family.

Rising Fire Losses

NEW YORK—Property losses caused by fire in the United States rose from $78 million in 1975 to $1.45 billion in 1965, the Insurance Information Institute reports. The 1965 losses were more than double the $649 million in losses in 1950.

Clinton County News

Short course in publicity

THE BODY OF THE RELEASE

Type double-space or triple-space on one side of the paper only. Indent each paragraph at least five typewriter spaces.

If your story must run more than one page, write "More" at the bottom of each page except the last. Always end each page with a complete sentence and paragraph.

When your release runs more than one page, type your club name at the top left of each succeeding page. Drop down one inch below this and continue your story.

Type — 30 — under the final paragraph of the news release.

Many newspapers supply a style sheet on request, telling how they capitalize, abbreviate, spell and punctuate their copy. Follow the editorial style of each paper carefully.

Check your news release for absolute accuracy in typing. Make sure all names, dates, hours and places are correct.

If there are unusual names, put a small check over each one to let the editor know you have checked them for accuracy.

Never staple the pages of a news release. They must be separated in the news room, and may be torn in the process.

WORKING WITH NEWS MEDIA

More than 11,000 newspapers are published in the United States today. Some are published every day and Sunday. Others appear two or three times a week. But by far the greatest number are published once a week.

You will want to plan your club publicity to appeal to readers of all the papers circulated in your area. Almost every newspaper uses club news in some form. News of local interest is most likely to appeal to weekly and semi-weekly newspapers.

Here are some tips for working well with different types of newspapers to assure maximum results for your effort.

WEEKLY NEWSPAPERS

This is where you stand the best chance of getting your news in print. Because most weekly newspapers do not use a wire service, they print very little national or international news. They depend on local news to fill their pages.

Home town folks like you bring in or send the weekly editor about 75 per cent of the news he publishes—stories of interest to the folks in your own town.

Weekly newspapers do not have as large a staff as most dailies. This makes it doubly important that your news be accurate and on time.

News releases for the weekly newspaper may have to be in as much as a week ahead of those for the dailies. Getting your copy in ahead of the deadline may mean a better position in the news columns, and full use.

NEWS FEATURES — MORE THAN JUST NEWS

Has your club performed an unusual service, staged a dramatically successful benefit or developed a project that filled a civic need? Ask yourself if it is an activity other clubs and other communities might want to copy. If the answer is a strong Yes, you may have a feature story for your newspaper.

You will need the same WHO, WHAT, WHEN, WHERE, WHY and HOW of a news release. The How of this kind of publicity has great importance.

Collect your most dramatic facts, organize them well and go see the feature editor. The greater number of people your story is likely to interest, the better your chance of attracting an editor's interest.

Do not be afraid to suggest feature ideas. The editor may decide to play it up differently than you suggest. He is the boss. He knows his readers. Abide by his decision, be as cooperative as you know how. Above all, be grateful that your club's activity will enjoy this special publicity boost.

ASC PROGRAM

1966 Wool Incentive
Payment Rates Announced

W. M. SMITH
County ASC Manager

The U.S. Department of Agriculture announced the shorn wool payments for the 1966 marketing year will amount to 24.8 percent of the dollar returns each producer received from the sale of shorn wool during the period Jan. 1 through Dec. 31, 1966.

This will result in an incentive payment to producers of $24.80 for every $100 received from the sale of shorn wool during the last program year.

USDA also announced a payment rate of 52 cents per hundred-weight on unshorn lambs to compensate for the wool on them. This payment on sales of live lambs that have never been shorn is based on the shorn wool payment and is designed to discourage unusual shearing of lambs before marketing.

WE WILL START making payments soon after April 3. Applications for the incentive payment should have been filed with our office by Jan. 31.

The purpose of the incentive payment is to bring the average wool price up to the previously announced incentive level of 65 cents per pound under the National Wool Act.

This year the price producers are receiving for wool is down about 18 cents per pound from last year.

Any producer who sold shorn wool or unshorn lambs between Jan. 1 and Dec. 31, 1966, and have not made an application for the incentive payment, should bring their sales slips to our office immediately and file an application. This will be considered a late filed application; however, you will be eligible for incentive payment.

THIS IS THE time of year to be thinking about seeding a green manure crop. March 21 we mailed a postcard to farmers listing the eligible seeds and payment rates per acre. Anyone wishing cost-share assistance to establish a green manure crop must make a request at our office before the seeding is started. If you cannot get to our office to make an application, please phone and we will mail the application to you.

If you have your own seed you are still eligible for cost-share; however, you must certify to the number of pounds of your own seed you used.

For more information about this practice or any other conservation practice, please contact our office.

4-H Service Club to meet

The Clinton County 4-H Service Club will hold its first meeting in 1967 on Saturday, April 15, at 8 p.m. at Smith Hall in St. Johns. The club is planning a recreational meeting with Arden Peterson, program leader from the state 4-H office directing the recreation.

The meeting will be open to present and prospective new members. Any 4-H member 15 years or older with three years of 4-H club work will be eligible to join the service club. There is no limit to the number who may join.

NEW YORK—Weekends are the most dangerous driving periods. In 1965, more than 40 per cent of all traffic accidents occurred on weekends, according to the Insurance Information Institute.

Young farmers on MSU study program look at government

Thirty young Michigan farmers, including two from the Clinton area, got a close-up look at state government during the week of March 19-25 as part of the Michigan State University Kellogg study program.

Members of the group from this area were Dennis Phillips of R-1, St. Johns, representing Graffiot County, and Richard Semans of 2305 S. Shaftsbury Road, R-1, Ovid, representing Shiawassee.

The farmers met with legislators, Lt. Gov. William J. Milliken, Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley and Chief Justice John R. Dethmers in Lansing.

The group is participating in a state traveling seminar, part of a unique MSU program designed to train young farm leaders to take an active part in making public decisions.

THE PROJECT IS financed by a grant from the W. K. Kellogg Foundation. Participants agree to spend at least 30 days a year in study, meetings and travel for three years.

The farmers taking part in the state tour are in the second of three such groups. The first group toured Michigan last year, and returned two weeks ago from a national trip including visits to Washington, D. D., Tennessee and California.

The third group is yet to be named. Selection is based on three main criteria. Participants are successful farmers, between 25 and 35 years of age, and have demonstrated leadership potential.

Before their Lansing session, the young farmers visited Boyne Mountain, where they took part in educational meetings on Michigan's tourist, recreation and lumber industries.

WHILE IN LANSING, participants visited state departments of commerce, conservation, civil service, agriculture, corrections, education, treasury and the secretary of state.

The group spent two days in Detroit, where members toured the inner city area and visited social welfare agencies and organizations. The young farmers also met with Phillip Rutledge, director of the Mayor's Committee on Total Action Against Poverty, Detroit Councilman Mel Ravitz and Dwight Havens, president of the Greater Detroit Board of Commerce.

The Detroit visit also included a tour of the facilities of a major food store chain.

THE FARMERS represent 24 Michigan counties. They began training last December, meeting to discuss public affairs, economics and social problems. Preparation included study on the MSU campus, as well as plenty of "homework" assignments on state government and related topics.

The project is under the direction of Dr. David Boyne of the MSU Department of Agricultural Economics and part of the public affairs educational program of the Cooperative Extension Service.

Next year, the first group will take part in an international tour to countries in Latin America, Europe, Asia or Africa. The second group will take the national tour, and the group not yet selected will make the Michigan study tour.

Milk marketing tools many

(Third in a series)
When today's dairy farmer goes to market, he needs marketing tools.

More than that, he needs strength. Milk marketing and bargaining for price in Michigan means the strength—and the marketing tools—of the Michigan Milk Producers Assn. and other dairy farmer cooperatives.

What marketing tools? First is the willingness to work together to do whatever must be done to get the highest possible price for dairy farmers. With MMPA leading the way, the "Superpool"—bargaining strength premiums over Federal Milk Marketing Order minimum prices—has made Michigan the envy of the nation's dairy farmer cooperative movement. Premiums have averaged well over a million dollars a month for years.

BUT UNITY IS A STATE of mind, and it really costs little in dollars and cents. Other marketing tools do cost money. MMPA members maintain processing plants to handle surplus or diverted milk, and transportation facilities to get the milk or dairy products to market. What this means is that MMPA members know they can sell their milk somewhere else if one or more Michigan dairies refuse to pay a fair price.

Or, they can make the milk into dairy products which can be kept longer than fresh milk. These products don't bring as much money to the farmers as bottled milk sales do, but they can prevent total loss of milk money.

Debt-free farm status is a dubious goal

Debt-free farm status may be a dubious goal in today's economy, thinks John Doneth, Michigan State University agricultural economist.

The day when a young man could start farming "from scratch" and turn over to his heirs a "debt-free" farm has become about as possible as a corporation being without debt.

First, Doneth explains, it takes a lot more land at a greatly higher price an acre for today's successful family farm. "Eighty acres at $100 an acre adds up to considerably less than 400 to 500 acres at $300 to $600 an acre," the agricultural economist said.

"MORE MODERN machinery and equipment is necessary. A quarter century ago an investment of $12,000 in this equipment was considered adequate—maybe even high. Today one large tractor and necessary plows, planting and harvesting equipment may cost this much or even double this figure," Doneth related.

An analysis of Michigan State University's 1966 TelFarm records of "better than average" farms shows Michigan farmers have a machinery and equipment investment of more than $60 per tillable acre and an average real estate investment of $80 per acre and Doneth sees this constantly climbing.

The old boast, "I don't owe a red cent to anyone" of the veteran farmer of two generations ago is not heard often now. Most farmers use credit, leases and other credit methods to expand their operations and their earning capacities.

ALTHOUGH MANY YOUNG farmers are in debt for more than 50 per cent of the value of their land, machinery and improvements, few farmers over

(NEXT: Space Age Milk Marketing)

50 years of age are in such a position.

Increasing land values have helped many farmers get in a better net worth position in the last 20 years. Farm foreclosures today are rare, but 35 years ago they were numerous, Doneth reminded.

"Few expansion-minded farmers, or those beginning farming today, can meet rising capital needs through earnings alone. This is why farm credit has become so important to agriculture today," Doneth concluded.

Any dust in the air is a sign that the wind is stealing the topsoil.

Higher soybean yields follow 'right' practices

Michigan farmers in 1966 got an average yield of 22.5 bushels an acre with their soybean crop. Some broke even; some lost money with this yield.

In 30 years, soybeans have moved from a crop of a few acres to almost a half a million acres in Michigan. The 1966 yield of 10.8 million bushels accounted for between $25 million and $30 million income for Michigan farmers.

George McQueen, Clinton County Extension agricultural agent, believes farmers can get yields as high as 50 bushels an acre on the best crop land if they use the right practices.

SOYBEANS MUST BE planted on well-drained, fertile soil. Any "good corn soil" is right for soybeans.

The county agent suggests the least amount of tillage necessary to allow a good job of planting. Minimum tillage is important. This prevents soil compaction and allows air to get to the roots of the plant.

The agent recommends testing the soil for phosphorus and potassium and fertilizing according to soil tests.

On heavy textured soil or high lime organic soils with a pH of 6.5 or higher, manganese may be a limiting yield factor.

In such cases a starter fertilizer with 1 or 2 per cent manganese can be applied. Manganese may also be applied as a spray on the growing plants.

IF CORN OR small grain crops have been growing on the land for two or more years previously, 30 to 40 pounds of nitrogen applied as a side dressing may give 10 per cent increase in yield.

The county agent recommends certified seed. Seed should be inoculated.

Use Ambem or Lorox as a pre-emergence herbicide. If herbicides do not work because of a low soil moisture situation you can cultivate soybeans if they are planted in rows.

December food sales top tax producer here

Food sales in Clinton County ran way ahead of automotive sales during December of last year, reflected by sales tax figures reported last week by the Michigan Department of Revenue.

Taxes on food sales collected by merchants in December and reported to the state in January amounted to $65,130 in Clinton County, compared to $38,140 in taxes on automotive sales. It was the widest margin of difference between the two top sales tax-producing categories in several years.

A total of $179,242.13 in sales taxes was collected by the county's 576 reporting businesses in December. Another $5,721.48 was collected in use taxes. Other major tax categories:

Building materials $23,953; general merchandise $8,457; apparel $5,806; furniture $9,330; miscellaneous retail $10,313; and non-retail $18,117.

Weighing and Measuring Devices Checked By Michigan Department of Agriculture

A Michigan Department of Agriculture inspector tests a gasoline meter. If accurate, a department seal will be affixed; otherwise pump is condemned for repair and is later rechecked.

Weighing and measuring devices are regularly checked for accuracy throughout the state by the Michigan Department of Agriculture to assure that consumers, wholesalers, retailers, farmers; and others receive what they bargain for.

Grocery scales, tank trucks, warehouse scales, and bottle gas refilling meters receive routine checks. Food and other consumer goods packages are weighed, to assure that the net contents are as stated on the labels.

The entire weights and measures program is a responsibility of the agriculture department's Food Inspection Division. This division maintains official state weights in conjunction with the U. S. Bureau of Standards. It inspectors, even check the heavy duty scales of the highway department's "weighmaster," who in turn enforces truck road weights.

Formulate new 4-H veterinary science project for county

"Can you really count bacterial colonies? How do you use a microscope? What solution can be used to preserve animal tissue?"

These questions were asked and answered at the recent 4-H veterinary science workshop held at Camp Kett, Michigan 4-H leadership training center near Cadillac, reports John Aylsworth, Extension 4-H youth agent.

More than 160 adult and junior leaders from all over Michigan attended this "kickoff" for the newest 4-H project now available to young people.

THEY LEARNED HOW veterinary science plays a part in their everyday lives and discussed ways of relating the project information to their communities.

The veterinary project suggestions include animal dissection; microscope training; veterinary clinic visits; demonstration of how to make a formaldehyde solution for preserving body tissue; watching the birth of a calf; visits to a zoo; learning how to clean dog's ears; taking the temperatures or pulse rates of different animals, and making visits with a veterinarian.

The project is designed for young people in both city and rural areas. They will learn about animal anatomy, physiology, sanitation, causes of disease, and immunology.

VETERINARY study relates closely to human health and an understanding of public health programs, 4-H officials point out.

The project won't make veterinarians out of young people or their leaders. It will give them an understanding of the field of veterinary medicine, and could be the key to a satisfying career.

The program is cooperatively sponsored by the Michigan and American Veterinary Medical Assn., the Cooperative Extension Service and the National 4-H Service Committee. The Upjohn Co. of Kalamazoo has provided funds and given leadership for nationwide development of this program.

Project information and educational materials are available through the Extension Service, located at the courthouse in St. Johns.

4-H seeking to beautify communities

Did you ever take a really good look at your community or neighborhood? Were you proud of what you saw—or did you feel ashamed, depressed and gully?

It's only natural for everyone to feel that their own community is the very best, but if yours doesn't fit this role, you can help improve it. The 4-H community beautification program can provide the necessary motivation and recognition for getting the job done, according to John Aylsworth, Extension 4-H youth agent.

Aylsworth said that Clinton County 4-H clubs will be promoting community beautification projects and activities this summer. A steering committee from Clinton and Shiawassee counties met last Thursday evening to list ideas and suggest what each county could do to improve the looks of their community.

AS AN INDIVIDUAL, or as a group activity, you and your club can improve the looks of your neighborhood. Why not go on a club tour of the community looking for unattractive features that can be improved? Perhaps club members should work in teams, listing ideas of how to beautify your community. Members should make their ideas known to the club leaders on what they would like to do in their community.

The 4-H community beautification program is an important part of the National Program of Youth for Natural Beauty. Everyone is requested to do their share—and youth will lead the way.

Contact the Clinton Extension office for ideas and more information on community beautification program.

Beware the shyster

Spring brings out a lot of nice factors about life, but one which never fails to cause trouble and heartache to the gullible is the shyster. They seem to come out of the woodwork about this time every spring, preying on homeowners with both product and service. The finished product and end result many times fall short of expectation, but alas, the contractor or salesman is long gone with the money.

The shyster is almost always a traveling man—by design so he can stay a step ahead of irate customers.

The moral of the story: Use common sense in place of impulse when the peddler at the door offers his shiny proposal. If his service or product was as good as he says, he would be setting up shop in one location where people can come to him rather than running from town to town telling about it. Local merchants found it works best to locate in a place permanently where the customer can come back.

If common sense even sways, consider the legality of the peddler at the door. St. Johns has a city ordinance which requires solicitors to have a license, and when they have one they'll be wearing a badge-type affair that will tell the customer he is licensed. The license doesn't guarantee the product or the service, but it does discourage most shysters.

The same applies when it comes to repairs or conversions. Without a building permit or license, the work cannot legally be done. City officials point out the rules were set up by the commission for the protection of the public.

Your best bet: tell the peddler no, and buy the product or service from a reputable local dealer whom you know will be here tomorrow to back up his work.

'Yes' vote justified twice at polls Tuesday

It's no fun doing a job without a set of guidelines or under unnecessarily dangerous conditions. Yet, respectively, St. Johns city officials and St. Johns firemen are doing just that.

The city officials have no real guideline on how much tax they can legally assess. There's doubt whether the legal limit in St. Johns is 10 mills or 20 mills. Until that's cleared up, there will be inefficiency in planning, budgeting and carrying out the functions of city government.

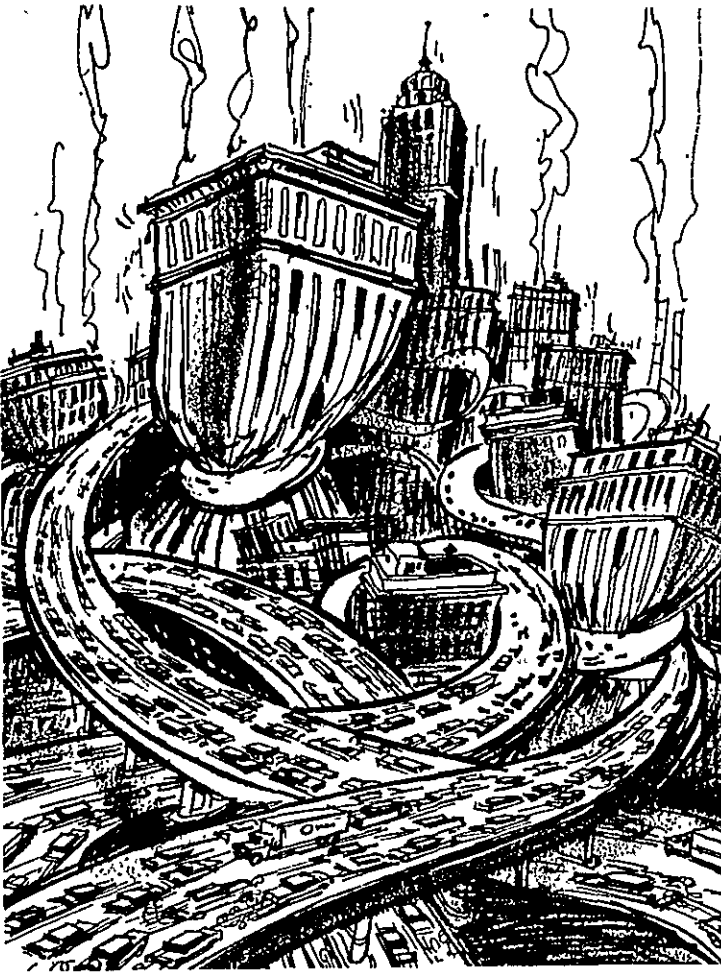

Proposed charter amendments will clear up the uncertainty about millage, and among other things will set the limit at 20 mills, a limit which the city until recent months always figured was the legal limit. But unless it is spelled out, as in the proposed amendments, they can never be sure.

A "yes" vote at the polls next Tuesday on Proposition I will clear up the doubt: a "no" vote would only confuse things more.

Half of the danger in being a fireman in St. Johns is in getting to the fire hall. The location of the present building in downtown St. Johns is bad because of the congestion and the lack of parking space for the firemen as they answer the alarm.

Proposition No. 2 on the ballot next Tuesday is for a three-mill tax levy to finance a new fire and police hall. The three mills would be assessed only in 1967 and 1968. The need and advantages of a new fire-police building justify a "yes" vote. They're YOUR firemen and policemen; if you can't provide adequate and safer quarters for them, no one else can.

RAMBLIN' with Rink

By LOWELL G. RINKER

The long-awaited but sudden arrival of spring in Clinton County has resulted in a number of warm experiences already, not the least of which was running along beside my daughter's bicycle as she started learning to ride it without the training wheels.

Her old man, nearing 28 and definitely feeling over the hill after the first night of lessons, huffed and puffed as he staggered into the house and collapsed in his reclining chair. "You're getting old," my wife said with a slight snicker. That didn't help.

Between gasps I pointed out to her that it wasn't easy to run in a crouched position, going all the way around the block twice, holding on to the back seat of the bicycle, keeping it upright, and at the same time providing a constant flow of cheerful enthusiasm to a tense and somewhat fearful daughter.

IT WAS ONLY ABOUT A year ago we bought the bike for Kathy, but we put training wheels on it, and she rode it for the lifetime of the training wheels. On several occasions we raised the wheels and tried her out, but she was too scared and not enthusiastic enough yet.

This year it seems to be a different story. She was enthusiastic about learning, and as soon as the snow left she began asking me to teach her to ride her two-wheeler. Calling upon my fatherly ambition of wanting my daughter to do things I couldn't (I didn't learn to ride a bike until I was 11), I agreed to get started teaching her.

For once she was fairly attentive to instructions. I explained to her I would run along side the bike, holding on to the seat with one hand. She was to concentrate on keeping the bike straight and upright and to forget I was even there (at chance of that). Occasionally, I said, I would let go and she could try to ride on her own.

THE THOUGHT OF riding by herself was exciting, but she wanted me to tell her when I was going to let go. I knew she would only get excited and flustered when I would tell her so I refused and said I wouldn't let her know when I was going to let go.

Our first run to the other side of the block went fairly well. I let go of her briefly once for about five seconds. I tried again on the way back but this time she wasn't sitting straight and the bike veered off the walk away from me and upset in a neighbor's yard.

KATHY SKINNED UP her

shin when she was thrown over the basket. She cried and I figured that was the end of the lesson for today. But she seemed to be more concerned over the fact a bigger boy from the next block was laughing at her, so I popped her up and got her back on the bike right away.

I concentrated on having her learn to balance herself and for a long time didn't let go of her. She was a little skeptical after the first spill, and I wasn't too surprised when she told me she wanted to stop and play with one of her friends.

But I insisted on one more swing around the block, and she agreed. She did better in balancing herself, although she had a tendency to lean. At one point she was doing so well I let go and she continued on her own so far. I ran a little ahead of her and gayly shouted she was riding by herself.

THIS BROUGHT OUT A hysterical little laugh that became more forced the farther she started to tilt. So I grabbed hold again. She wanted to go fast on the way back to the house so I'd let her go, but I decided I'd better hold on. I had trouble doing it.

Kathy pedaled fast, and of course my crouching run had to be faster. My legs began to feel like rubber and my breath came hard. I wanted to let go and collapse on the grass, but I knew what would happen to the bike and daughter. I finally got all of us stopped.

The next lesson is scheduled tonight (Friday). I'm sure now my daughter will hold out, but I'm not sure about my legs. So if you see me pedaling my own bike, it will be to get myself in shape for the runs alongside Kathy's bike.

Incidentally and apart from bicycling, my apologies to Marc Hufnagel and Doug Bast. I stopped along the road the other day and photographed them in a field flying their kites. They had them up real nice but kindly consented to bring them down a little closer so I could get them in the picture. I had no sooner snapped the pictures than the two kites got tangled up and both tumbled to the ground.

I expected to see blue smoke form, but Marc and Doug said they didn't mind and cheerfully set off to untangle the kites. They probably now rank me as a close second to the terrible kite-eating tree of Peanuts comic fame.

The beautiful weather we experienced last week, was ideal for picnics, golf or many other things (like work around the yard).

One of those beautiful mornings I stopped in for coffee at the L & L and there sat the "Old Cash-Register Kid." This fellow I've mentioned before pertaining to golf.

THE "KID" HAD been resting for about a week in the hospital and was now back at work. After exchanging a few amenities pertaining to his health the subject switched to golf. It was a beautiful morning and the "kid" mentioned that if the weather stayed like this he could probably be persuaded to play a little golf, come Sunday. I agreed that this sounded like a great idea, and it was here that he made the statement of statements.

IT WENT SOMETHING like this: "While I was in the hospital I got out my slide rule and considering that I have been sick, I am a grandfather and I play in the senior mens tournaments, it worked out that most of you fellows will have to give me two strokes for this 'haha's this summer', then we'll adjust for the second round."

I coughed a few times and then blurted out that I wouldn't give my mother two strokes a nine and she doesn't play golf. But, he was very persistent and it dawned on me that he was serious.

NOW I WOULDN'T mention this fellow's name, but he owns the Clinton Tractor Sales in St. Johns. He has been playing this game of golf for quite a few years, not as it should be, but in his own style. When I say his own style that's just what I mean. No one, and I mean no-one could play it his way. At least, not with the success he has.

I remember once we were playing on another course in a nearby city and the "kid" was getting ready to tee off. He took practice swing and a member of the other club made the remark, "This guy can't be for real." Eighteen holes later this same member

The battle of Lake Erie

'We have met the enemy . . .'

BY JANE MARIE SMITH
Grade 8
St. Joseph School

The generation of today can effortlessly recall the famous battles of old and relive each exciting moment through the glorious pictures painted with words. One of these such naval conflicts was the Battle of Lake Erie.

It was a decisive struggle of the war of 1812, fought between the British and Americans. The fighting took place in and around Put-In-Bay on the day of Sept. 10, 1813. The officer most frequently connected with this famous conflict is Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry.

Perry was born in South Kingston, R.I., on Aug. 23, 1785. As a boy, he received his schooling in his hometown and nearby Newport. In the year 1799 Oliver Hazard entered the United States Navy, at the age of 15, as a midshipman. He joined his father, Christopher Kaymonce Perry's ship the General Green, and with his parent he fought in naval battles against the French and Barbary pirates. In 1803 Perry was assigned the rank of acting lieutenant and later permanent lieutenant in 1807. By the date 1811 he was commanding a gunboat flotilla, his headquarters at Newport.

UPON ACQUIRING ORDERS to report to competent men left for Sackett Harbor Feb. 17, 1813. There he obtained his orders; he would be in command of naval operations concerning Lake Erie. Toward the end of March the twenty-six-year-old master-commandant to the United States Navy journey by sled to the hamlet of Presque Isle, located on the south shore of Lake Erie. Upon arriving a forlorn sight met his eyes. His new position consisted of a sparse handful of log houses and a sole tavern.

The true realization of his immediate responsibility now hit him with full impact. He had been assigned a next to impossible task. To build a fleet without the necessary equipment—rigging, sails, cannons, powder, and shot—would summon all of Perry's courage and perseverance. Upon his warships rest the anticipation and trust of American victory over the mighty British. The main objective of Perry's maneuvers was to defeat the enemy squadron and regain control of Lake Erie, then undisputedly in the hands of the British.

AROUND MAY, 1813, after conquering numerous obstacles, the first vessels were launched. July 10 the complete flotilla of ships were fit for battle. They consisted of: Lawrence and Niagara, each 20 guns; Caledonia, 3 guns; Ariel, Scorpion, Somers, Porcupine, Tigress, and Trippe.

One of Perry's most cumbersome difficulties was the fact he was considerable short of men. His constant pleas gained no response until, after much entreaty, the day of Aug. 10, 1813, witnessed the arrival of 102 sorely needed reinforcements. After drilling his men in the much needed field of naval training, Perry was prepared to meet the enemy.

The English vessels, somewhat larger than Perry's fleet, commanded by Robert Barclay, were flagship Detroit, 19 guns; ships Queen Charlotte, 17 guns; the gigs, Hinder, 10 guns; and Lady Prevost, 13 guns; and the schooners, Chippewa, 1 gun, and 2 swivels; and Little Belt, 3 guns. A total of 63 guns compared to Perry's 54. Commodore Perry, however, held superiority in tonnage of about 8 to 7. His broadside was 900 pounds compared to the British's 460.

ON SEPT. 9 PERRY CALLED his lieutenants into conference and supplied them, in detail, with the instructions concerning what actions each ship would be responsible for. He informed them every vessel would oppose a British vessel: Lawrence-Detroit; Caledonia-Hinder; Niagara-Queen Charlotte; Lady Prevost-Little Belt, Somers, Porcupine, Tigress and Trippe.

The ensuing day was undoubtedly historical. At sunrise, Sept. 10, 1813, the lookout of the Lawrence's masthead sighted the English ships near Put-In-Bay. At 11:45 a.m. Americans attested the British signal to attack.

Perry called the Lawrence directly toward the enemy. The whole English fleet aimed its fire upon Perry's flagship. Under such extreme bombardment it was soon demolished. But its commander, like others had previously done, transferred the blue muslin flag, bearing the last words of Capt. James Lawrence, "Don't give up the ship," to the Niagara. Perry then sailed directly in the midst of the British vessels.

The United States firepower had the advantage. About 3:00, eight minutes after Perry had broken the lines, the Detroit struck her colors. Then all the ships, except Chippewa and Little Belt, who tried to escape but were captured, surrendered, too. Perry then sent out his famous victory dispatch to General Harrison, "We have met the enemy and they are ours; two ships, two brigs, one schooner, and one sloop. Yours with great esteem and respect, O. H. Perry."

PERRY SOON AFTER BECAME a national hero and was awarded a captain's rank and a Congressional vote of thanks.

Through the united efforts of Perry and his dedicated men the British were defeated. In this world of today the example of our forefathers is a stimulating and wonderful event to recall and be proud of.

Gospel sing

By W. E. DOBSON

My music "edification,"
Got scotched right at the start,
So me and real musicians
Are many miles apart;
But somehow I keep recallin' (I)
(Memory must have its fling),
When someone played the organ,
'N we had a gospel sing.

There wasn't any paid choir,
We took our pay in fun,
'N folks 'jined in the chorus
'Fore the singin' scarce begun;
We sung for pure enjoyment,
Missed notes meant not a thing,
When someone played the organ,
'N we had a gospel sing.

The modern type of beller
The big pipe-organs make—
Where they drown out all the singers,
'N make the buildin' shake—
May suit the real musicians,
But we made the walkin ring,
When someone played the organ,
'N we'd join to gospel sing.

This is a day of specialists,
'N the old days are passe,
When folks relaxed by singin'
'N had their fun for pay;
But at times I still can fancy,
Circumstances still may bring,
Someone who will play the organ,
'Per an old time gospel sing.

Abortion, sterilization bill draws little comment

BY ELMER E. WHITE Michigan Press Assn.

Abortion and sterilization should be very controversial subjects. But Michigan lawmakers find, so far, this has not been the case.

When State Sen. John E. McCauley, D-Wyandotte, introduced a bill to legalize abortion and sterilization under specified circumstances there was brief argument over whether the bill could be considered this year.

Sen. Robert Richardson chairman of the judiciary committee to which the bill was assigned, said his group already had a full calendar. The committee probably would not have time to properly study this measure because it would draw so much controversy, he stated.

Richardson suggested it be sent to the Health Committee, which has fewer bills. His idea was turned down.

McCAULEY'S PROPOSAL patterned after similar laws in other states, would permit abortion by a prosecutor and three physicians if the pregnancy resulted from rape or incest.

Sterilization of either men or women would be allowed because of physical or mental health considerations or the family's economic condition.

McCauley describes his bill as a "humanitarian" proposal.

Many doctors of high reputation are now performing these operations despite the risk to their professional standing, he said.

ONLY A SPRINKLING of mail was received after the bill was made public. In a letter to the Senate committee the Michigan Council of Churches put itself firmly on record in support of the legislation.

Concern has now shifted over this bill which, if passed, could be one of the most significant changes in Michigan law enacted this year.

Richardson was first concerned that his committee could not give proper attention to the proposal because of its controversial nature.

The concern in many quarters now is that Richardson's committee will bypass the measure this session because there has not been adequate public sentiment.

MICHIGAN'S INCOME TAX, if one is signed into law, will probably be accepted reluctantly by the state's citizens. It might be some consolation to know that they have company among citizens of other states.

According to a study of the State Revenue Department, 35 states now have an income tax. All except that in Indiana are on a graduated scale with the percentage of tax increasing as income increases.

Of the graduated programs in other states, some start as low as 1.5 per cent and some go as high as 12 per cent. Variations in exemption and deduction allowances make the taxes nearly impossible to compare in any general way, the department study emphasizes.

THERE IS CONSOLATION in the knowledge that 26 states and the District of Columbia have both sales tax and income tax.

The real issue is that Michigan simply needs more money that present programs generate if the state is to function at the level its people indicate they expect.

Who wants to reduce substantially the funds for schools, both at local and college level? Who wants to relieve the state of its welfare responsibilities and dump these back on individual counties? Who wants to lose ground in treatment of mental health? The answer seems to be "very few."

YET NEARLY 75% OF STATE budget is made up of these three categories. Lawmakers are faced with the very problem of raising money to finance the expenditures which they have authorized. And much of the funds authorized have been approved following pressure from citizens and citizens groups.

One can judge the conscientious legislator as compared with the more politically motivated by watching the voting record. A man who votes for all the expenditures and none of the taxes leaves something to be desired when he is measured for responsibility. This is the easy way, for it permits him to tell one group of constituents that he voted for what they want and another group that he voted for no taxes.

Legislators who face the full problem of both expenditure and income honestly are of infinitely more value to the people they represent. This is the more difficult way, but it is the way which has a significance for the state.

THERE CAN BE LITTLE doubt that Michigan citizens will be paying more in taxes in 1967 than they did in 1966. The question is how it will be collected, and when the collection will be accelerated.

The bigger question is whether some sort of fiscal tax reform will come to Michigan this year. The legislature has been wrestling with the question for 10 years. Previously they have come up with a patchwork of tax solutions. Only a little time will tell what happens this year.

COUNTRY FLAVOR

April's magic compound one of complex changes

HAYDN PEARSON

Man cannot say that April has one element. As the days work along into the month, the magic of spring is fused in a test tube. For some, spring arrives with the first robin; others look for green threads woven into the brown carpets of fields and meadows. Pussy willows' gray noses are a certain sign; the swelling buds on the lilac by the kitchen door tell us a winter has passed.

But spring is not a simple thing. When the glowing tips of peonies lift above dark soil one feels the turn has come; but the shining color that foretells beautiful flowers is still in bud form; it is just one part of the compound. There are days of mellow warmth, blue skies, and cosseting south winds. There are dark days with sudden showers and gusty winds. Frosty nights crust garden soil and thin ice covers the barnyard trough.

Part of April's magic compound is the music of the new season. It was written long ago that when the flowers appear on earth, the time of the singing of birds has come and the voice of the turtle dove is heard in the land. Redwings whistle in the lowlands; crows call from the elms in the meadows; cock pheasants challenge from the woodland edge.

We cannot understand the miracle of life. Man keeps searching the unknown. But we know that the great forces that govern life are on schedule and that the miracle has come true again. April is many things and when the peepers' haunting cries sound in warm evening darkness, we know the fourth month is an assurance of life's basic principle.

DREDGE AT WORK ON THE MAPLE RIVER

This picture of a dredge at work on the Maple River was taken 65 years ago, according to its contributor, Albert Moon of 711 S. Clinton Avenue, St. Johns. It was taken east of old State Road at Bridgeville, he said. Moon worked as a deckman on the dredge of the Saginaw Construction Co., and he is the man on the left in the two row boats. Moon says the superintendent was John Shay, engineers William Dix and Scot Tucker, the crane men Fred Kellogg Sr. and Fred Kellogg Jr., deck men himself and Clyde Kirby, the firemen Charley Pierson and Sam Collins and the cook Mrs Fred Kellogg. The men worked two 12-hour shifts. A floating cabin behind the dredge, which does not show, was where the men slept and ate.

The "Low Down" From the Congressional Record

By Joe Crump

President's instant-war powers explained

Sen. Jack R. Miller (Iowa) had inserted in the Record, an article by Arlen L. Large, which appeared recently in the Wall Street Journal. (The condensed article follows):

The Constitution gives Congress sole power to declare war and issue letters of marque. It's futile to write your Congressman for a letter of marque; this special license to go a-pirating among the enemy's ships became obsolete long ago.

Similarly headed for the attic on Constitutional antiques, many lawmakers feel, is the Congressional declaration of war. Commitment of massive U. S. combat forces in Vietnam — and Korea before that — without a formal legislative pronouncement that "war" exists seems proof that Congress has surrendered yet another of its prerogatives to the all-powerful executive branch.

"THE PRESIDENT has presented Congress with a fact accomplished," said Sen Sam Ervin (D., N.C.), a former judge who likes to thresh in the thickets of Constitutional law. "I don't think the President had the constitutional authority to commit troops to Vietnam, but now that they're there we have to go ahead and win."

So the atom age executive branch would seem to have wrested from a complaint Congress one more checkrein assigned to the people's representatives by the Constitution's drafters.

The idea of an 18-day debate climaxed by a stately roll call vote (is) rendered especially archaic by recollections of Japanese dive bombers surprising the Pearl Harbor battle-ships, and by forebodings of a 15-minute flight of nuclear-tipped rockets from Russia. The President as commander-in-chief must have power to make instant war these days.

WHAT IS NEW in recent years is the tendency for Congress to give the President a free hand to conduct military operations before a war has really started. Lawmakers in the late '50s gave President Eisenhower a resolution allowing him to determine whether a Red Chinese attack in the Formosa Straits would warrant a U. S. military response. President Johnson relies in part on the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin resolution in defending the legality of his subsequent commitment of troops to Vietnam; the resolution says the U. S. is prepared to take "all necessary steps" to defend Southeast Asian nations, "as the President determines."

The real check on the President's war-making power is the voters' right to chuck him or his party out of office if they think he has abused it. This obviously happened to Harry Truman's Democrats in 1952 as the Korean War dragged on; the thought must be crossing Lyndon Johnson's mind that it might happen again next year.

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT

The wisdom of entering into a land war in Asia will no doubt be decided in the minds of the voters before the next presidential election.

An important factor in their decision will be the casualty lists. Public opinion will firm up as the casualty lists reach into the rural communities, the hamlets, and the crowded cities.

The voters will decide "if the price is right?" —J. C.

more fun, less work!

Expert lawn care is more fun than work with the easy starting, easy handling Homelite Yard Trac Deluxe riding mower. You trim close, within 1/2" of wall, adjust cutting height from the driver's seat, have four speeds forward plus reverse and two safety brakes. The husky 5 HP engine provides plenty of power and lets you do a variety of jobs easier with these accessories.
