

Chime Bells readied in 1916

bells of the chime. But the tower remained, though it was thought best not to risk the chance of complete destruction should the tower later become weakened in any way.

On Sunday evening, Jan. 24, 1937, a final concert was given preparatory to tearing down the old tower and placing the bells in storage until a suitable tower could be erected to house them. The new, present, church was dedicated June 26, 1938.

"IT WAS BECAUSE of Mrs Hicks' and Mr Bishop's stewardship we have been able to enjoy these bells for the last 50 years," the Rev Mr Bovee, pastor of the church now, commented Monday.

Not many people have seen the bells up close or know that each bears an inscription.

The large bell has these words: "To the glory of God and in loving memory of Mother, Eliza Ann Huston Hicks, born Oct. 13, 1883—Home Sept. 26, 1912, Her children Ida Hicks Rawson Bishop and John C. Hicks present this chime of bells to The Methodist Episcopal Church, St. Johns, Michigan. Dedicated Easter, April 23, 1916. 'Rejoice in the Lord always; Again I will say, rejoice.'"

THE OTHER bells have these words: second bell, "Let your forbearance be known until all men, the Lord is at hand," third bell, "In nothing be anxious, but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God," fourth bell, "And the peace of God which passeth all understanding shall guard your hearts and your thoughts in Christ Jesus," fifth bell, "Finally brethren, whatsoever things are true," sixth bell, "Whatsoever things are honorable," seventh bell, "Whatsoever things are just," eighth bell, "Whatsoever things are pure," ninth bell, "Whatsoever things are lovely," tenth bell, "Whatsoever things are of good report," 11th bell, "If there be any praise think on these things . . . And my God shall supply every need of yours according to His riches in Glory in Christ Jesus," Phillips 4-4-8, 19. Now unto our God and Father be the Glory forever and ever.—Amen."

THE CHIMES are sounded from a keyboard behind the chapel and lounge in the main part of the church. The bells were made by the McShane Bell Foundry in Baltimore and "were cast of the very best bell metal," according to the church history.

Auto, passing car collide

Two cars collided on US-27 north of Jason Road about 9:20 p.m. Saturday when one driver changed lanes as the other auto was passing.

John B. Harr, 48, of Fowler, said he thought he had his turn signal on as he pulled into the passing lane just north of Jason while going south on US-27. He said he didn't see a car driven by Gary W. Stratton, 20, of Marshall approaching from the rear.

Stratton claimed he didn't see any signal from Harr for a turn. The cars collided just north of the intersection, and Stratton's went into the median.

Seek solution to Pratt Road flooding problem

The Clinton County Road Commission has received permission of property owners along this section of West Pratt Road to try to unplug an old Olive Township drain that for the last few years has caused this sort of flooding in the spring. This view looks west on Pratt Road from in front of the Earl Barks home. If the drain can't be unplugged, the low spot would have to be filled, and since it is a local road Olive Township would have to assume responsibility on a cost-share basis with the county. The road was closed last week but is now open to traffic for cars which can ride above the water level.

School board election nears

The school bond issue election May 9 has almost overshadowed another important school election set for June 13.

That's the regular school board election at which time two members will be elected. The terms of Mrs Lucille Gallagher of 8812 Centerline Road, and William Richards Jr. of 302 Lindy Lane expire.

Mrs Gallagher, will not seek another term; Richards has filed a petition for reelection.

OTHER CANDIDATES for the two school boards positions have until May 14 at 4 p.m. to file nominating petitions. Only 20 signatures are necessary. Petitions may be picked up at the office of the superintendent of schools.

The June 13 election will have a separate issue over and above the election of two board members. Voters will also be asked to decide whether the St. Johns District should annex to the Lansing Community College district, which now includes all of Ingham County, the Lansing, Grand Ledge, DeWitt and Bath school districts.

A ONE-MILL tax for operations of the Lansing Community College District would have to be approved for the annexation to take place.

Polling places and precinct boundary lines for both the May 9 and June 13 elections will be the same as in last June's school board election.

DeWitt OKs $203,483 new budget

Bath area folks seek blacktop

Chuckholes in the spring and dust clouds in the summer have prompted residents along Peacock and Stoll roads in Bath Township to renew their request for blacktopping along those roads.

Mrs Eber Kenney of 14979 Peacock Road, Bath, one of the leaders of the project, said petitions asking immediate action on improvements will be presented to the Clinton County Board of Supervisors.

SEVENTY-seven persons living east and north of Rose Lake want blacktop surfacing on about four miles of Peacock and Stoll Roads which they say are heavily traveled and now gravel.

Mrs Keeney said first requests for the blacktopping were made in 1941 and similar requests for road improvements have been made intermittently. The current project is a more concerted effort, she said, with owners of the numerous new homes in the area joining in the drive.

County road officials said they had not seen the petitions and declined comment until they did.

Queen candidates get scholarships

Girls participating in the Miss St. Johns contest have been awarded scholarships for a 1966 Modern American Workshop at Olivet College in June and July.

The scholarships were made available to the Chamber of Commerce by Olivet College. The announcement was made last Thursday evening to the girls after Robert Rue, assistant to the president at Olivet College, and Pete Fuller, a senior at Olivet, spent the evening as judges for the contest.

THE GIRL selected queen will have two-thirds of the cost of the workshop paid for her, while the remaining girls will have one-third of the cost paid. The queen was chosen by the two judges last Thursday evening, but her name will not be announced until Michigan Week in mid-May.

The girls will have a choice in the course of study they wish to pursue in the Olivet workshops. The three-week workshop for high school students will include biology, chemistry, economics, journalism and political science July 17-30; and art, drama, orchestra, vocal music and creative writing June 19-July 9.

FULL COST of the workshops could be $150 or $110 each, depending on the course of study; thus the scholarships could amount to as much as $350. In addition to the two-thirds tuition scholarship, the queen will receive $200 in merchandise and cash prizes to be given by St. Johns merchants.

The judges made their selection of the queen and two runners-up last Thursday after dining with the girls and interviewing each one individually. All are students at Rodney B. Wilson High School.

A coach looks at sports . . .

By BILL SMILEY
St. Johns High School Coach

During our first two years of teaching we had a boy in our school who was badly crippled from muscular dystrophy. One day we watched the boy struggle for three minutes to pick himself up off the floor after having fallen.

In the course of that three-minute period we steered away three students who wanted to help him and held ourselves off, too, because we also wanted to help him.

WHEN HE finally did succeed, he looked at us somewhat defiantly and went on to his next class. Later, when thinking about that boy, for some reason an old adage came to mind; but pronounced as it was meant to be pronounced it did not seem to fit.

It was only when we turned the words around to what usually seemed a humorous reversal that it seemed to take on its proper focus in relation to the boy's fight for success. The reversed phrase:

"IT'S NOT HOW you played the game, it's whether you won or lost."

For that boy as for all of us, the correct phraseology has its meaning, but the last part is what he was fighting about on the most basic of levels . . . and it had nothing to do with merely trying.

We all watched Allan Shepard, Gus Grissom and John Glen go hurting into space. They knew what the odds were; we all did—nothing more or less than life or death. Failure was a possibility, and could not be discounted, but the positive success was weighed far more heavily than the negative failure or the neutral try.

IN MANY CASES we wind up giving credit for trying and know there is encouragement embodied in such a process. But when we do that we run a risk of exposing the student to the possibility of his getting along without his best effort, and he suddenly finds the way open to half-accomplishments.

It may seem difficult in some ways to attempt to think strictly in terms of success or failure, purely and simply. However, hurt feelings and damaged egos to the contrary, we would much rather help produce the student who knows what he can do and will do it than the student who merely thinks he can do something and might do it.

We seem to have forgotten in too many instances that it is possible to complete a task with 100 per cent success; or if we have not forgotten, then we seem to have done a good job of hiding the idea behind a barrage of "that good old college try."

The next time someone says to you, "Nice try!" consider this: Was it a compliment or a curse?

Over The Line

A CLIENT

A client is the most important person in our business—whether in a home, an office, store, or at the platform. He is not dependent on us—we are dependent on him. A client is not an interruption of our work—he is the purpose of it. We are not doing the client a favor by serving him—he is doing us a favor by giving us the opportunity to do so. He is not an outsider to our business—he is a part of it. He is not a cold statistic—he is a flesh and blood human being with feelings and emotions like our own, and with biases and prejudices. A client is not someone to argue or match wits with—nobody ever won an argument with a client. A client is someone who brings us his or her wants—it is our job to handle them profitably for the client and ourselves. —Author Unknown

SO IT IS with schools. If school lunches are not to be served, kitchen facilities are not necessary.

The school board, administration, teachers and architects considered these points in planning for the elementary and high schools. In the case of the elementary schools, the architect is C. Douglas Pardee of St. Johns.

What kinds of activities should be provided for in an elementary school today? they asked themselves. Here are their answers and their thoughts on the questions.

Local queen, derby set for TV on Memorial Day

Efforts have been completed by the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce to have St. Johns, the Soap Box Derby and the Miss St. Johns 1966 queen publicized over WKZO-TV on Memorial Day.

Although the program will be aired on Channel 3 at 9:45 on Memorial Day, the film will be made several days previously.

The girl to be crowned Miss St. Johns will have been so honored only a few days prior to the TV program. The Soap Box Derby will be held several days later.

Arrangements are also being made for the derby to be featured on TV in Lansing, Cadillac and Flint. When details have been worked out the program times will be announced.

ties done in ordinary classroom teaching, but to help the teacher do a better job in her teaching, some additional facilities are necessary.

Most important, school officials believe, is a library which has books covering a wide range of subjects and which are suitable for all grades. "With the amount of knowledge now available, and considering how rapidly this amount is increasing, a library is a 'must' in an elementary school," Supt. of Schools Earl Lancaster said. "A library should be a place where children can go to read, to study for special projects and to just 'browse' for fun.

"Modern libraries not only have books, but they also include records, tape recordings, film strips and pictures. A bookmobile would be an excellent service for the St. Johns elementary schools, thus keeping books in constant use."

LIBRARIES ARE an integral part of the proposed new neigh-

Consider 2 facts, reader says of vote

BEFORE GOING TO the polls to vote on the proposed school bond issue, the voter should consider the following facts:

1) An individual cannot be educated unless he has the mental capacity;

2) An individual cannot be educated unless he has a desire, an urge to learn. He must be motivated.

ONE MUST possess both of the above traits if he is to learn anything worthwhile. It seems to me the only conclusion one can draw from the above facts is that we are headed in the wrong direction concerning education.

About four-fifths of all youngsters of high school age have no desire to learn; therefore, they cannot be educated. Competent teachers have tried it for years and failed. We have tried bigger schools, better buildings, broader curricula. Even wall-to-wall carpeting was tried in California. All have failed.

hood elementary schools being proposed.

The usual classroom can take care of group instruction ranging from 20 to 30 children. However, teachers have found there are times when children can work in small groups of two to five or six people. There are also times when an individual should work by himself. Children differ in interests and abilities.

"Many elementary students are ready and able to assume the responsibility of working individually or in small project groups," school administrators point out. "The new neighborhood elementary schools being proposed will provide space for this type of instruction with about a 13- by 15-foot work area next to the classrooms."

WHILE SOME teaching can best be done in small groups, there are other times when teaching in large groups is desirable and efficient in the use of time. The showing of motion pictures is an example. It is as easy and ef-

WE ARE WASTING four years of life of each non-student and millions of dollars of taxpayers' money. I think we should face up to these facts, unpleasant as they are, and make a start in the right direction.

Russia discovered in a very few years the futility of educating the unmotivated and gave it up. Television executives shy away from anything educational.

The high school does some of these non-students more harm than good. All who are graduated get a high school diploma, but only about 20 per cent have a high school education. Giving an individual at this impressionable age something for nothing for four years is not a character-building situation.

A vote for this bond issue is a vote against the best interests of the non-student and a grave injustice to some of them. Why not give our young people a square deal? We can have good schools for much less money.

cient to show a film to 100 people as to show it to 10 people.

To take advantage of this theory, the elementary rooms are being planned with folding partitions between the rooms, so that the room size can be doubled for large groups.

Many other considerations were given by the school and Architect Pardee in designing the buildings.

SPEECH correctionists, remedial reading teachers, teachers who work with children with unusual problems, and counselors also need a place to work with children. A small room, about 12 by 15 feet for such teaching, is planned for each new neighborhood elementary school.

Physical education is an important part of an elementary school program and one which is often overlooked, school administrators point out. The new neighborhood elementary schools will have an all-purpose room which will serve for supervised gym classes, as a cafeteria and as a community meeting place.

Each school will have kitchen facilities adjoining the all-purpose room to provide for a hot lunch program for all who want it.

THE STAGES of the all-purpose rooms will be equipped with a sound-proof folding partition

Instead of a curtain. Behind the curtain, instrumental music can be taught and played without bothering other classes, even in the all-purpose room itself. String instruction begins in the fifth grade in the St. Johns school system and band instruction in the sixth grade.

Each building will also have a sick bay of about 8 by 10 feet in size where students who are ill can rest until they are taken home.

BASICALLY, A good elementary school program is designed to develop all talents that a child has — intellectual development through the basic subject matter courses; physical development through health classes and physical activities, both supervised and free play and cultural development through vocal and instrumental music, art and reading of good books.

Provision is made for the "better students" through individual study and working in small groups. Students who have difficulty are helped through individual instruction, remedial reading speech correction and teachers who work especially with children with unusual problems.

THESE ITEMS, school authorities point out, are included in the rural elementary building program.

Grade school pupils in the city schools would also benefit by passage of the school bond issue May 9. In the first place, construction of a new high school would allow the junior high to occupy the present high school, thereby freeing all the present junior high rooms at Central School for grades school use.

In addition, grade school children who are presently being bused in to St. Johns from a couple of the former rural districts would attend classes in the future at their new neighborhood school, thus making even more room available in the city.

NEXT WEEK — The "why's" of the school board's plans for the facilities at the proposed new high school will be answered.

(Omitted last week) Auxiliary helps special education department

The Fulton Area Jaycee Auxiliary held a bake sale some time ago to help the new special education department of the Fulton high school. After this department was completed and Mrs. Smith and her students moved in we made a visit to this department. While there we presented a check for $35 to the department in behalf of the auxiliary. The check was presented by Marilyn Winsor president of the Auxiliary and was accepted by Mrs. Smith and Mr. Phil.

NORTH TO ADVENTURE
 In Michigan's Upper Peninsula By Beatrice Morgan Putman

Every new area is, in a sense, a gamble of your vacation time and dollars on the hope that you will like the country. The purpose of this book is to help remove part of that gamble by providing the kind of information we would have liked on our first trip to Michigan's Upper Peninsula. This book is not financed by paid advertising or subsidized mentions. Material was gathered by us, traveling as tourists at our own expense — acting as your guinea pigs. Only by this method can such a book be truly objective. Omission of a place or name does not necessarily mean that it is without interest; in most cases we haven't had time to explore it.

FOR THIS IS a big country—big with a north country kind of bigness — as big as the four combined states of Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut and Delaware but with less than half a million population. The Upper Peninsula contains over 4,300 inland lakes, 1,723 miles of Great Lakes coastline, over 150 waterfalls.

Because so much bigness swallows up vacations, you need to choose sections best suited to your likes and time. Leave the rest until next time, because you'll return; this land is habit forming.

GREATEST ASSET of this land is its people — friendly, helpful people who regard you as a human being and not a statistic; people of many nationalities and backgrounds working together as a true Americans. Roads? Excellent, built well ahead of their present traffic loads and well maintained. If this tempts speeding, s-l-o-w down.

We came to find out if there still remained an area undisturbed by the complexities of this jet propelled world. The answer: yes — the silence of the forests, the lifting vastness of sea and sky, the cooling relief from summer heat. Interested? Then come with us exploring new adventure trails in Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

Fulton unit active in FHA week

MIDDLETON - The Fulton High School chapter of the Future Homemakers of America wound up a busy week last Friday, spreading information about the group in observance of National FHA Week.

FHA Week was observed March 27 through April 2. The group's activities included placing roses in the local churches on the 27th, wearing the FHA emblem, preparing cupcakes for the faculty of the school, wearing clothes that clash, and, on Friday, wearing red and white.

FHA IS A national organization of girls and boys studying homemaking in high schools of the United States and territories. As an integral part of the home-making program, FHA provides opportunities for students to have additional experiences in planning and carrying out activities related to homemaking.

The national organization is composed of chartered state associations which are made up of local chapters. Any student enrolled in a high school, public or private, who is taking or has taken a homemaking course in junior or senior high school may become a member. Membership is voluntary.

THE OVERALL goal of the organization is to help individuals improve personal, family and community living.

Miss Edna Ropp and Mrs Smith have private conferences with students in Miss Ropp's office.

Chairman of the FHA Week committee at Fulton High was Kay Smalley. She was assisted by Colleen Shinabarger, Margie Troub and Brenda Blemaster.

It is 10 years since Agnes Newton Keith has published a book, but those who remember her LAND BELOW THE WIND may rest assured that her new one is well worth the waiting. CHILDREN OF ALLAH is her account of the people who inhabit the African nation of Libya. Sandwiched between the Sahara Desert and the Mediterranean Sea, Libya (which became independent from Italy in 1951) has but little livable land, but is blessed with an abundance of oil.

Mrs Keith's husband was employed in Libya for some little time, so she was able to linger and really get to know some of

Fulton's special ed room is completed

"When you see the special education students mingling with the regular high school students during the noon hours you can't tell them apart," Walno Pihl, superintendent of Fulton high school said.

The 8th and 10th grade students enrolled in the special education department of Fulton high school go to regular classes with the exception of English and use the special education room as their homeroom and study hall.

Miss Edna Ropp from the Gratiot county intermediate office, a Type C Consultant, gives these students special help with English, history and some math twice a week.

SHE DEVOTES the greatest portion of her time to the older students.

In this way the students are able to attend classes with the regular students. They take exams at the same time but their exams are made up by Miss Ropp.

The special education students will be able to obtain a high school diploma. It will state the student has obtained it by completing the necessary requirements at a special education level.

The facilities at Fulton are set up for Type A intermediate students. They are from 12 to 16 years old and their IQs range from 60 to 80.

Fulton has had a special education program for six years. The lower grades are held at Perrinton and taught by Mrs Betty Blanchard.

MRS DOROTHY Smith teaches the classes held in the new facilities at Fulton.

Both are former rural school teachers. Mrs Blanchard obtained her degree from Central Michigan University as did Mrs Smith. Mrs Smith went to Michigan State University for her special education training.

They are both fully certified as they have permanent special education certificates.

Mrs Blanchard has 15 students, the maximum number, at Perrinton and Mrs Smith has 13 students.

and bunsen burners are kept in it and the top is used for a work area.

Along the wall near the door a work bench with a vice and tools for woodworking.

Around the corner is a sink and cabinets.

WHEN MRS SMITH was asked how she developed an interest in the field of special education after teaching in the rural school system and third graders, she said after she saw the program working she thought she would like to try it.

She has been in the field about four years now.

Capital expenditures by petroleum companies in the United States during 1965 amounted to $6.7 billion, or $18.4 million per day. Capital outlays by US oil companies have more than doubled in the past 15 years.

ON THE board until last Thursday were pictures of lions and lambs signifying the saying about the month of March.

Near Mrs Smith's desk also in the front of the room is a science cupboard. Test tubes, beakers the people closely. Her pictures of Libyan life reflect a woman's view, but it is the view of an interested and interesting woman, and one with keen perception. The book's title, of course, has reference to the prevailing religion of Libya, Islam.

IN CONTRADICTION to the old axiom about a book's cover being no index to its merit, this book boasts a beautiful and unusual cover, in direct ratio to the unusual and often beautiful character of the book itself. CHILDREN OF ALLAH will be on many reading lists.

John Hersey, like Agnes Newton Keith, hasn't written a book for some little time, and there are those who wish he hadn't bothered to write TOO FAR TO WALK. That the author of A BELL FOR ADANO (1944) and HIROSHIMA (1946) could have written TOO FAR TO WALK, is difficult to believe. And yet there is a basic similarity.

John Hersey has in each case taken a current situation and exposed it to the light of bright day. His 1966 spotlight reveals a rather unsavory picture, that of a bored college student looking for kicks. The last part of the book is devoted to a blow-by-blow account of a fantasy induced by the student's having taken LSD, the mind drug which was the subject of an extensive article in last week's LIFE magazine.

THE EXTRA-SPECIAL twist of this book is the introduction of a Faust-like character to whom the student sells his alleged soul. One wonders if the book wouldn't have been more effective as a plain exposure of the far-out quality of a large segment of American college life. At any rate, it is somewhat comforting to learn that Mr Hersey has just become the master of Pierson College at Yale University, where it is hoped that he will be an influence for a return to that elusive state called "normalcy."

Mrs Peck was TOPS queen

Mrs Leona Peck was the queen last week and Mrs Eydie Bensingler won the mystery prize.

After a short business meeting, there was a party in honor of the queen for March, Mrs May Marek, and the new bride, Mrs Doris Wilkie. Mrs Mary Masarek baked a wedding cake and refreshments were furnished by the committee.

A new weight contest will start this week, for April, so come with a loss.

Points to consider buying Easter ham

By HELEN B. MEACH Extension Home Economist

I hope that your family may be together for this special time of year. No doubt, you are completing plans for Easter dinner.

If you were a Bedouin housewife . . . or would you call her tent wife . . . you would be preparing a tradition a long one - dish which is served on special occasions in Syria and North Africa. She first prepares a platter of stuffed, cooked eggs. These are placed inside a fish. The fish is then stuffed into a chicken which is, in turn, stuffed into a sheep. She's still not finished. The sheep is finally placed as stuffing into a nice, choice tender camel and the whole "kaboodle" is roasted for a complete main dish meal-in-one. Convenient? Well . . . maybe!

You, as an American homemaker are far more likely to make a different choice for Easter as you shop your way past the five to seven thousand different items in your favorite supermarket. If ham for Easter is a tradition at your house, you'll probably flinch a bit at the price per pound, then go ahead and buy it anyway. (Ham prices do not vary quite so much as other pork cuts because frozen fresh hams can be stored then brought out and smoked as consumer demand warrants; however, they are higher than last year's pre-Easter quotes.)

IN THE United States we spent approximately 18 per cent of our after-tax income on food last year . . . a percentage that rates as the lowest of any industrial nation in the world today. Economists are already predicting a rise in the percentage that will go for food in 1966; but chances are that, even if the cost of eating rises by several percentage points, it will still cost less to put three squares on the table in the United States than anywhere else in the world.

When considering the meat choice for Easter dinner, be sure to make your judgments on a cost-per-serving rather than a cost-per-pound basis. A fully-cooked boneless ham, for example, will cost you more per pound than a cook-before-eating boneless ham . . . BUT, the fully cooked ham will shrink in the oven and yield only three servings per pound.

Since it's difficult, when looking at hams, to decide about servings, here's a chart to help in figuring servings:

Cut	Serving per pound
Cook-before-eating bone-in	2
Shankless	2 1/2
Boneless	3
Fully-cooked bone-in	3
Shankless	4
Boneless	4 1/2

WHEN BUYING ham for Easter or any other special dinner, it's wise to plan on enough for leftovers. Sometimes, as with the following recipe, the left-overs can gain as many compliments as the original dish.

HAM AND APPLE CASSEROLE (serves 6)

- 2 1/2 c fresh apples, sliced or 2 cans (1 lb. 4 oz. each) sliced apples
- 1 tsp. dry mustard
- 2 tsp. vinegar

- 1/2 c brown sugar
- 2 1/2 c ham cut into cubes or strips
- 1/3 c cornflake crumbs or 1 recipe of biscuits
- 3 tbsp. butter or margarine

Mix undrained apple slices with mustard, vinegar and brown sugar. Place apple slice mixture into a buttered shallow baking pan. Cut ham into cubes or strips and place in with apple slices. Sprinkle top of casserole with cornflake crumbs and dot top with pieces of butter or margarine. Or place biscuits on top of the casserole. Bake in a 375 degree F. oven for 20-25 minutes or until top of casserole is golden brown.

This is the architect's drawing of what the new addition at the rear of the Church of the Nazarene, 515 N. Lansing Street, St. Johns, will look like. Construction is now under way, with completion anticipated by around July 1.

Nazarenes begin $46,000 addition to St. Johns church

The St. Johns Church of the Nazarene has begun construction of a new $46,000 addition to the church at 515 N. Lansing Street.

The enlargement of the sanctuary will come by lengthening it to include the present foyer.

Three Sunday school rooms presently in use will be remodeled and enlarged.

The addition, 35 by 40 feet in size at the rear of the present church, will provide five new Sunday school classrooms, a fellowship hall, pastor's office, new nursery, enlarged restrooms and an enlarged sanctuary.

The Rev Mr Raymond said the digging of the footings and the foundation were donated by Willard Searles, local contractor and a member of the church. Searles will also provide the concrete slab for the building.

The Rev Mr Raymond said the intention is to create one larger unit rather than having a separate new addition.

Bridgeville

By Mrs Thelma Woodbury

Foundations are already in, and laying of cement block by the contractors, Case Construction Co. of Flint, began last Thursday. Substantial completion of the building is scheduled for 100 days from now.

PLANS FOR the addition to the church were announced last September, but construction was delayed due to bids being much higher than were originally anticipated. But additional financing has been obtained, and members of the church recently pledged an extra $324 a month to make payments on the building loan.

Mr and Mrs Fred Nieman, Mr and Mrs Oliver Gillespie and family were Sunday dinner guests of Mr and Mrs Douglas Hubert in honor of Shelly Lynn's and Mrs Nieman's birthdays.

REY ELDON Raymond, pastor, said the church expects to be using the new building by July. The additional space for the sanctuary will provide seating for about 60 more people, bringing the seating capacity to around 230 persons, including the balcony.

Extensive remodeling of the present church building also figures in the construction job. A new gas and hot water heating system will be installed to provide warmth for the whole church.

Mr and Mrs John Woodbury called on Mr and Mrs Bruce Hulbert and family Saturday afternoon. Mr and Mrs Roy Spicer of Pompell were also afternoon callers.

Sunday March 27th dinner guests of Mr and Mrs Earl Howell in honor of Howell's birthday anniversary were Mr and Mrs Ardis Howell and daughter, Elaine, Mrs Earl Lynn Howell, Duane Howell, Deloris DePue, Louise Howell, Mike McNally, Mr and Mrs Howard Anderson, Dick, Joann, Deann, Christine, Timothy, Lisa and Cynthia Anderson.

Public school teacher salaries have increased an average of $200 a year since 1957, the Michigan Department of Education reports. Michigan school teachers earn an average of $6,700 annually today compared to $5,300 in 1957.

The Pirates' Den

By BRUCE SCHAFER
Pewamo-Westphalia High School

The students were quite surprised on March 30th to see a short man (about 5' 3" tall) standing in their lunch line, wearing what looked like a half-a-toga, gaily decorated. Who could he be? Was he from another planet? Maybe he arrived on one of the current UFO's. No, he wasn't from another planet, but he was from the other side of ours. His name is Abraham Okoro from Nigeria, Africa.

For the past six years, Okoro has been studying in America at Michigan State University. He has just obtained his master's degree. When he returns to Nigeria, he will instruct his people in bio-chemistry or agriculture, whichever his government desires.

OKORO, A GUEST of our agriculture teacher James Gibson, very skillfully mastered the English language as he addressed the agriculture and physics classes about his native country.

A question and answer period immediately followed his presentation. When asked if he had experienced any racial prejudices while he was here in America, he answered; "Believe it or not, but I found the American Negro much more prejudice toward me than the whites."

ON MARCH 24 the District Forensic Contest was held here at Pewamo-Westphalia. Cathy Visser and Laura Highbee from Portland High placed first and second in declamation.

In serious interpretive reading, Emilie Barker and Brad Gillespie cleaned the slate for Lakewood.

In the humorous reading, Dennis Hogan placed first for Ionia SS Peter and Paul, with Debbie Cook running a close second for Pewamo-Westphalia.

Three cars were involved in a rear-end crash situation at US-27 and M-21 in St. Johns Sunday afternoon about 5 o'clock. An auto driven by Bonnie Lou Tihlarik, 17, of Lansing, hit the rear of one driven by Bernard L. Cole, 52, of Lansing, as it was stopped for a red light at the intersection. Cole's car was shoved into the rear of one driven by Lloyd J. Barnhart, 19, also of Lansing. Miss Tihlarik was ticketed for failure to stop in assured clear distance ahead.

Smashup on Francis Road sends 2 to hospital

Daniel Glinke, 21, of R-1, Fowler, was seriously hurt about 6:30 a.m. last Wednesday when his car, going south on Francis Road, hit a pickup truck (background) and a tree a half-mile south of Townsend Road. The pickup truck was driven by Dennis L. Gallagher, 31, of Centerline Road. Both drivers were hospitalized, Gallagher at Clinton Memorial Hospital and Glinke at St. Lawrence Hospital. The accident happened in heavy fog. Gallagher told Deputy Hilary Hafner the Glinke car started to pass another vehicle but cut back, went out of control and crossed over into the path of Gallagher's pickup.

Fallout shelter location sites being studied pressed with the results of the research.

The Tri-County Regional Planning Commission may possibly provide detailed information on public fallout shelter facilities to every family in Clinton, Ingham and Eaton counties.

The proposed new phase of the shelter project now being studied by the commission staff would be done by two means: bringing up to date the data collected last year on buildings suitable for fallout shelters, and the preparation of a "popular map" which would give data on specific shelters and what to do in the event of a nuclear attack.

no adequate shelters are available and would outline what is needed to remedy the deficit.

Bill G. Rowden, assistant director of the commission, said about two-thirds of the population in the region could be housed in fallout shelters if they had enough time to get to them. But at present only about one-third of the shelters are adequately stocked, he said.

Some of us may have mental resistance that helps fight off the flu after infection, while others become ill because they are psychologically vulnerable, reports the American Medical Assn. There is even a suggestion—although the statistical evidence is not strong—that mental makeup helps prevent the infection itself.

THE MAP would be distributed to the roughly 100,000 families in the tri-county region. It would include a listing of all buildings that could be used for shelters and information on how individuals could protect themselves from fallout.

It would also show areas where

Proclaim cancer control month

Gov. George Romney has proclaimed the month of April as Cancer Control Month in Michigan.

The proclamation reads: "There are more than 1,400,000 Americans alive today who are cured of cancer. Despite encouraging progress, some 295,000 died of cancer in 1965 and about 550,000 new cases were diagnosed.

"Half of those who develop cancer today die because of late diagnosis and improper treatment. Expanded research offers the prospect of new cures and the hope of future prevention.

"The American Cancer Society during April will carry on a 'Tell Your Neighbor' Crusade with volunteers supplying neighbors with life-saving pamphlets about cancer.

"Therefore, I, George Romney, governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby proclaim the month of April, 1966, as Cancer Control Month in Michigan, and urge citizens to participate in this program."

Krepps Road bridge down indefinitely after car splashes it into river near DeWitt

The Krepps Road bridge over the Looking Glass River in DeWitt Township went under water—partially—last Wednesday after it was struck by an auto.

The bridge collapsed after a car driven by Ruth E. Parks, 38, of R-2, Lansing, struck the southeast support truss of the bridge and shoved it off its foundation.

THE 79-FOOT span sagged in the middle, with that portion now resting on the bottom of the Looking Glass River. The spot is relatively shallow, however, and only about two or three inches of water flows over the top of it.

The bridge will, surprisingly, be out of use for only about a month. The Clinton County Road Commission has engaged the Yeager Bridge Co. of Port Huron to repair the 70-80-year-old bridge, and the Yeager firm told the commission they would start work yet this week.

TOTAL COST of the repair is estimated at $4,000 by the Yeager Co., including about $1,000 county work. The commission decided Monday to have the work done after weighing the cost and time against the cost and time of replacing it with a brand new bridge.

The Krepps Road bridge was built sometime in the 1890s, the road commission said, although the date is not known. It is—or was—in "very good shape" and was one of the better old bridges in the county.

It fell into the river about 9:05 a.m. last Wednesday when Mrs. Parks' car hit the truss. She told sheriff's officers she felt a bump as she was crossing the bridge, and she looked in the rear-view mirror to see if her children, Juliane and Jessica, both 1 1/2, were alright. The car apparently slipped off two-inch plank runners on the bridge and hit the southeast support girder, pushing it off its foundation.

THE EXTRA weight on the southwest support caused that girder to buckle, and the bridge dropped into the river. Mrs. Parks complained of pains as a result of the crash. Her children were reportedly not hurt. The car suffered damage to the left front and to the right rear when the rear swung around and hit the southwest support girder.

Law officer Hilary Hafner (at left crossing bridge), insurance men and Clinton County Road Commission officials examine the Krepps Road bridge over the Looking Glass River last Wednesday morning after the car at right hit one of the trusses of the bridge and it collapsed. The center of the bridge is resting on the bottom of the river as about two inches of water flows over the top of it.

2 cars collide at F-M lot gate

Two cars collided last Thursday morning at the west gate of the new Federal Mogul parking lot on East Lincoln Street. No one was hurt.

The crash involved cars driven by Charles O. Montague, 61, of 402 Meadowview Drive, who was going east on Lincoln. His car was struck by one driven by Lucinda J. Patterson, 56, of 605 E. McConnell, who was pulling out of the parking lot to go east on Lincoln. She was ticketed for failure to yield the right-of-way.

County award deadline near

Deadline for Clinton County entries in the Michigan Week Product of the Year and Agricultural Development of the Year contests is April 11, reminds Robert Purill, County Michigan Week chairman.

Entering the contest can be as simple as picking up the telephone, said Purill. No entry form is needed. A telephone call will be considered notice enough of entry if the caller desires.

Ideas from anyone interested are solicited. PRODUCT OF the Year entries should be meaningful, have proven acceptance or sales potential, and have the potential of bettering the economy of the area. The contest is limited to consumer products, and a consumer product is defined as any manufactured product available to the public through regular retail channels.

Agricultural Development of the Year entries should be products, programs or processes with major significance. They should have demonstrated economic impact and a potential for expansion of the agricultural industry.

Regional winners will be chosen from county winners, and state winners will be announced during Michigan Week, May 15-21.

Best all-round device for extracting information from the world about us is the eye. But by the year 2000 "perception machines" will rival and perhaps exceed what the eyes can do, predicts Robert M. Boynton, director of the Center for Visual Science at the University of Rochester.

When a boy builds a Soap Box Derby Racer, quite a bit gets built.

Entering the Soap Box Derby is a challenge to any young man. He gives up some of his free time. He builds his racer all by himself with no help from adults, other than advice and encouragement. And he must meet every mechanical and safety regulation set up by Derby Officials. But for his efforts, he is rewarded by a great sense of satisfaction, by the fun of building something big and by the thrill of friendly competition. Local winners receive a $500 Savings Bond, plus a 4-day trip to the All-American in Akron, Ohio, and a chance to share in $30,000 in college scholarships. Last year more than 50,000 young men took up the challenge of the Soap Box Derby. We suspect there will be more this year. Case Number: Z-3-66
Community: Olive Township
Identification: DeYoung Petition
Date: February 24, 1966

MEMORANDUM REPORT

SUBJECT:

Petition for a special use permit for the NW 1/4 of the NE 1/4 and the E 1/2 of the NE 1/4 of Section 20. T6N, R2W, Township of Olive, for use as a mobile home park.

SITE FACTORS:

(1) The land along Pratt Road is moderately rolling and presently in agricultural use except for the east 20 acres running along Loomis Road where the land is low and consists of alluvial soils. That portion south of Alward Lake is also questionable for this intensive type of development. Surface drainage seems adequate.

(2) Access is provided to the site by Alward and Pratt Roads, from US-27 and DeWitt Road. Both are narrow and unsurfaced. Loomis Road runs north and south along the east side of the parcel and is also unsurfaced.

(3) The area around Alward Lake is zoned commercial with all land surrounding this being zoned agricultural.

(4) Several residences are scattered along Loomis and Alward Roads with two trailers located east of Loomis. These houses are generally in poor condition. The east side of the Lake is a developed beach and picnic area at present.

(5) No public sewer and water facilities are available to the site.

ANALYSIS:

(1) While access is provided to DeWitt Road and US-27, the roads providing this access will require much improvement to handle traffic generated by a mobile home park.

(2) A mobile home park is not in keeping with the rural nature of abutting agricultural land.

(3) An isolated area of this size and proposed intensity of development with inadequate accessibility presents problems in obtaining adequate fire protection.

(4) A park of this size will exert a fairly sizable pressure on existing school facilities and may require an expanded school in the area.

(5) Sewer and water facilities will probably not be provided in the future, thus requiring the developer to provide these services or else develop on a large lot basis which would be highly uneconomical.

(6) Mobile home parks must be considered a high density type of development which necessitates greater services, both public and private.

(7) No definite site plans have been presented to enable adequate decisions to be made regarding the general welfare and safety of the residents and the community.

RECOMMENDATION:

Table a decision on this application until site and improvement plans are submitted to enable adequate review of the proposal. In the meantime assurances should be obtained from (1) the School District as to the adequacy of school facilities to handle additional students, (2) the Township regarding arrangements for police and fire protection, (3) the Road Commission regarding road improvements, and (4) the Drain Commissioner regarding needed drainage facilities.

It looks expensive.

It looks so expensive that a lot of people don't realize it's priced right down there within reach of most low price buyers. Which sort of makes you wonder why you should buy a low-priced car when you can buy a high-priced car for the same money. A Pontiac Catalina.

Hundreds viewed 4-H work at Spring Achievement Show

Display 4-H winter project ingenuity

Steve Thelen, 13, of the Bengal Community 4-H Club, had a novel woodworking project on display at last week's 4-H Spring Achievement Show, and it won him a State 4-H Show trip. His ping-pong paddle rack drew many comments from folks viewing the exhibits.

Clinton County's winter 4-H youth and their leaders put on an expansive display of their ingenuity and ability at Smith Hall last Wednesday and Thursday.

It was a bigger show, by a little bit, than last year's, with the biggest increase being in knitting projects. There were 361 knitting exhibits this year compared to about 260 exhibits last year.

Most other project areas compared closely with last year in number. Cooperative Extension officials on hand at Smith Hall said there was a large number of people viewing the displays during the two days, though perhaps not as many over-all as last year.

Future looks rosy for breadwinner!

The family breadwinners of the future will probably have easier jobs, more leisure time and more money to spend.

This somewhat rosy picture of the future was painted by Michigan State University scientists involved in Project '80, a futuristic look at Michigan's rural potential for 1980. But the gaze into the future also included general projections for all of the economy. Here are a few of these glimpses of the future as seen by the MSU scientists:

The national economy will likely total about a trillion dollars, in terms of today's prices — enough to provide the population with an income after taxes of $3,000 per capita. And this means that every man, woman and child in the country will have nearly $1,000 more to spend than he or she has now. Since most people will have provided themselves with the basic necessities, additional spending will go for luxury goods and nonessentials.

OF THE additional $1,000 in disposable income, only about $100 will be spent on food. Most of this will go for processing and for other marketing services rather than to the farmer. But, of course, the rising population will enlarge the farmer's gross income.

People will have more leisure time to spend this money. Most will be on a four-day work week and will also enjoy another week of paid vacation time. More will retire at earlier ages.

There will be more women in the labor force, and families will take advantage of an improved technology and more convenience foods. But the working man and woman of the future will expend less energy in their jobs. A higher proportion will be at desk jobs rather than on production lines which will likely reduce the amount of calories needed for each worker to perform these duties.

The total population will be around 245 million by 1980. Michigan should have around 10.2 million.

And there will be striking population shifts off the farm. Looking back to 1960, there were about 441,000 people — making up 5.6 per cent of Michigan's population — that were considered in the "rural farm" category. This compared with 21 per cent rural nonfarm and 73 per cent urban.

By 1980, only 2 per cent of the state's population is expected to be classified as rural farm. Rural nonfarm will jump to 23 per cent; urban to 75 per cent.

ALONG WITH shifts in population will come shifts in land usage. About 30 per cent of the land that was in farms in 1959 will be diverted to other uses by 1980. Some of this acreage will be used for urban purposes and for highways. The bulk of the disappearing farm area, however, will shift to the forest and recreation classification.

Farm numbers in 1980 will probably drop to 65,000 from 112,000 in 1959. Most of the decline will be in farms grossing less than $10,000. Farms grossing over $20,000 will more than double.

EVEN SO, THERE will still be a place for the small-sized farm and the part-time farmer. By 1980, a third of the commercial farmers will still be grossing under $10,000 and about four out of 10 of all farmers will be in the part-time or part-retirement classification.

These estimates of the status of 1980 Michigan are projections, not predictions. They are based upon analysis, assumptions and judgments. The MSU scientists say many things, including the reaction of people in rural Michigan to Project '80 itself, could change the projections.

THE TWO-YEAR Project '80 research project has now been completed and is being turned over to Michigan's rural leaders and industries for their consideration and use. They will examine the projections and determine what can be done — and what should be done — to make rural Michigan what they want it to be in the future.

At State Fair Garden Show

Mr and Mrs Robert Zeeb of Bath took time out recently to visit the flower and garden show at the Michigan State Fairgrounds in Detroit. Zeeb is a member of the State Fair Authority, producer of the show in cooperation with flower and garden industry groups.

A tree worth $2,000?

How would you like to have somebody pay more than $2,000 for a tree in your back yard?

It is altogether possible, says Lee Somers, Gratiot County farmer and secretary of the Michigan Nut Growers Assn. — If the tree happens to be a full grown black walnut.

One of the association members recently reported such a sale, said Somers. A timber buyer paid him $2,200, cut down the tree and hauled it away, he said.

SOMERS HAS about 100 walnut trees on his farm near Perrinton. They are slow growing and none have reached the stage to bring such a big price, he said. A walnut tree 100 years old is not uncommon. Once cut, they are seasoned and often used for walnut veneer.

In addition to the potential price for timber, nut trees bear other profits, Somers says. He ships walnuts all over the world, selling them for seed at about 4 cents apiece.

He has developed three improved walnut strains now on the market. The first, called simply Somers Variety, has won several prizes. The other two are Gratiot and Greenhaven varieties.

NUT TREES are also ideal for general landscaping and for conservation purposes, Somers says.

Trees, because of their large leaf surface, purify the air. A city without trees contains more impure air and lacks the cooling effect provided by the green leaf areas of trees, than a city with many large trees.

ELSIE — These special Good Friday and Easter events are coming up at the Elsie Methodist Church:

Union Good-Friday services will be held at the Methodist Church at 1:30 p.m., with choral music by the Methodist choir and the Good Friday message by Rev. Gordon Showers, pastor of the church.

On Easter Sunday, there will be an Easter sunrise service at 6:30 a.m., with the two MYF groups presenting a service called "A Voice in the Garden." The offering at the service will help the MYF on summer camp expenses. The Methodist Men will prepare breakfast following the service. At the 9 a.m. worship service a new set of brass altar cross and candlesticks as a memorial to Howard Whitaker will be dedicated.

No extension for small grains under resale loan

Frank Light, chairman of the Michigan ASCS State Committee, has announced older crop small grains under resale loan would not be eligible for extension beyond the 1966 maturity date. These would be 1963 and 1964-crop barley and 1963-crop oats with a maturity date of April 30, 1966, and 1964-crop wheat which matured March 31, 1966.

For a number of years CCC has followed the policy of refreshing stocks of grains stored on farms by dropping the oldest crops from resale programs each year and adding more recent crops for which price support loans mature.

1 ppm — it isn't very much

Often fruit and vegetable growers, as well as other farmers, read the tolerance for an insecticide on a farm produce is 1 ppm (part per million).

How many people know just how little 1 ppm actually is? You cannot see it and an "eye-dropper drop" is a 500 gallon spray tank could be many times too much.

Some with a lot of spare time figured out how little 1 ppm actually is. Here it is in terms you may understand:

1 ounce of sand in 3 1/4 tons cement.

1 inch is 1 ppm of 16 miles.

1 minute in 1.9 years.

1 ounce of dye in 7,530 gallons.

1 square inch in 1/16th acre.

1 pound in 500 tons.

1 cent in $10,000.

1 ounce of salt in 62,500 pounds of sugar.

1/16th inch thick in a pile one mile high.

So if the tolerance is 1 ppm, it means almost nothing.

Corn production bulletin available

Growing corn profitable in Michigan depends on doing many things precisely at the best time. Failure at any point in the time schedule can result in lower yields and frequently in lower quality grain.

George McQueen, county extension agricultural agent, says every farmer should set a goal on the amount of corn he wants to produce. This goal should be based on 1) past experience, 2) characteristics of the soil, and 3) the ability to use modern production practices. In setting a high yield goal, consider that a lack of rainfall might limit yields.

THE COUNTY extension agricultural agent has a supply of Extension Bulletin 438 on selecting the right hybrid and making the right decisions on cultural practices. This publication, available without charge, would be helpful to any corn grower. It may be obtained by calling, writing or coming into the county extension office at St. Johns.

The publication points to the advantages of early plantings, use of minimum soil preparation, planting at the right depth, planting speed, row spacing, the planting rate, and the planting of cover crops in corn to protect the soil from fall, winter and early spring erosion.

The most costly punctuation error of all time was reported in November 1962 when the omission of a hyphen from the directions transmitted to an $18 million US Venus probe rocket necessitated its destruction.

See poultry, egg price fluctuation

Egg, turkey and broiler prices may all be slightly higher in the next few months but are in for some adjustment this summer according to a poultry survey committee forecast.

The National Committee includes Dr. Henry Larzelle, Michigan State University agricultural economist.

Higher priced red meat has brought a heavy demand on both turkeys and broilers, causing prices to continue slightly above a year ago, on the current market. However, production will soon bring about a slight surplus which will drop turkey prices in the main buying season in the fall to about a cent below 1965, the report stated.

US FARM broiler prices will likely average 16 cents from April through June but will weaken in the late summer and be below the average of 14.6 cents in 1965.

The committee saw egg prices about the same as last year through the summer and lower prices in the fall.

Prices of poultry meats and eggs will be affected by a large supply situation although demand has increased. Producers continue to work on a low margin and depend on high volume, committee members concluded.

Nitrogen labeled 'key' to good crop yields

Nitrogen applied in the correct amounts this spring can mean increased crop yields if other nutrients have been adequately supplied.

James A. Porter, Michigan State University Extension soil scientist, lists the following recommended rates for nitrogen application this spring.

WHEAT, WINTER BARLEY, OR RYE: Apply 50 pounds of elemental nitrogen per acre. This rate should be adjusted downward if a) legumes were plowed down, b) manure is top-dressed, c) legumes are seeded in the grain and d) some areas of the field have "richer" soil. In the latter case, high nitrogen applications in such areas tend to increase lodging.

SPRING GRAIN OATS AND BARLEY: The same rates and rules as listed above for winter grains. Nitrogen may be applied either before, after or during plowing or at planting time. Application should be no later than five weeks after planting.

Factors which may limit rates of application are similar to those for wheat, winter barley and rye. Avoid heavy applications in contact with the seed at planting time.

CORN: Here, application rates should be based on field history and yield goals. In general, a total of 110 pounds of nitrogen per acre should give a 100-bushel yield.

Add 20 pounds more for each 10 bushels of yield-goal above the 100 bushel mark. Decrease nitrogen 40 to 60 pounds (depending on the stand) for legumes plowed down, and decrease 4 pounds for each ton of manure.

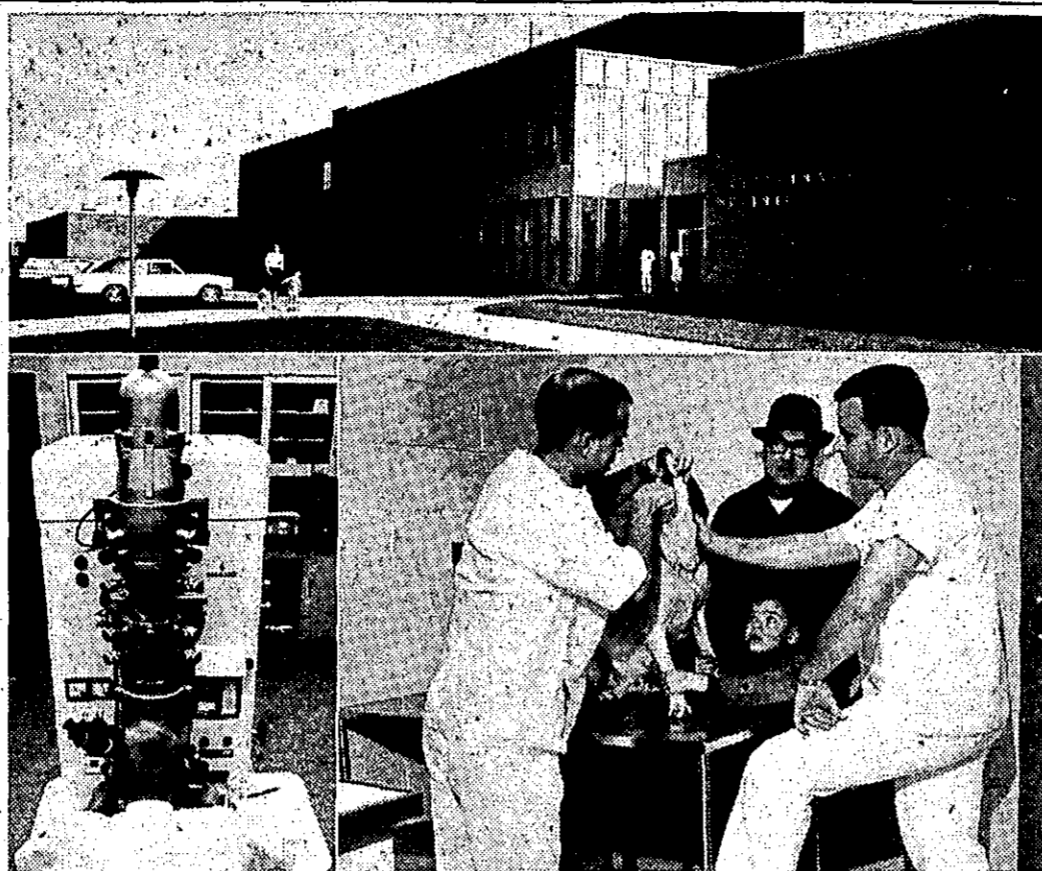

Porter also warns that nitrogen influences 11me requirements, since most nitrogen carriers acidify the soil. The best measure of exact effect on lime need is a good soil test.

Spudtacular planned again

The second Michigan Spudtacular—a major field day on potato production, packaging and processing—will be held this year in Montcalm County, hub of the revived potato industry in the state. The event is tentatively scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 30 and 31.

It will again be a joint effort of the Michigan Potato Industry Council, Michigan Cooperative Extension Service of Michigan State University and the potato producers and processors.

A steering committee is being named to plan the demonstrations, field trials, exhibits, and tours for the two days. Leyton Nelson, MUS crop science extension specialist, heads the MSU group, and James Crosby, Montcalm County extension agricultural agent, will coordinate the field activities.

NEW MSU VETERINARY CLINIC — The new $4.7 million Veterinary Clinic at Michigan State University, probably the largest and most modern facility of its type anywhere, is used for both training and research. At left, Dr. Donald W. Hinz employs an electron microscope capable of 300,000 magnifications in connection with a large-scale canine leukemia research project.

By ALVIN ROOT, Extension 4-H Agent in Clinton County

Our next big feature in the 4-H Club is the county wide 4-H leaders meeting set for Wednesday, April 20, at Smith Hall. The time is 8 p.m. and the program will go like this: What's New in 4-H; Ideas Count; some program planning tips for the local club evaluation with 4-H club members, and all about the vegetable garden program.

This will make us an evening of work, and some fun is always included. If you, as a 4-H leader, wonder about some of the 4-H programs, then here is your opportunity to get the answers. Some times we find that 4-H folks are just not aware of some of the recognition programs and organizational structure and why we do things.

THE GENERAL leaders meeting is set up to train leaders in these areas. We would urge all leaders to do their best to attend. Our new member evaluation form called the 210A will be explained through the use of a skit which I am sure all of you will enjoy. I have asked Anabel Peck and some of her club members to assist in this part of the program.

Our County 4-H Club Council has a vital part to play in the overall 4-H planning process. They act as an advisory group to the Extension Service 4-H program in the county. I would like for all to know who they are:

Southeast District— George Hazle (president), Mrs Russell Sibley, Stanley Baird.

Southwest District—Mrs Karl Schaefer, Mrs William Biergans, Mrs Martin Roesch (secretary-treasurer).

THE NEXT meeting of the council is set for Monday, April 18, at the home of Mrs Karl Schaefer. I am looking forward to meeting with the council at that time. Harvey Middleton, extension 4-H youth agent, will be with us.

Corn varieties may govern fertilizer use

Someday when you have soil samples tested for fertilizer recommendations, you may have to indicate what variety of corn you are going to plant.

Scientists are finding evidence that certain hybrids perform differently on identical soils with the same basic fertility level, says Paul Stangel, soils specialist at the University of Wisconsin.

He says corn varieties differ greatly in their ability to extract nutrients, particularly trace elements, from the soil and transfer them to different parts of the corn plant. One variety, for example, may be very efficient in extracting and using zinc. This variety might produce high yields even if the amount of zinc in the soil is only moderate.

ANOTHER VARIETY, when compared to the efficient user of zinc, may do quite poorly because it is not as efficient in taking zinc from the soil and using it.

Because of this inefficiency, a farmer might reject the variety as being a poor performer and remove it from his list of "crib busters." But if he had supplied the additional nutrients the variety needed, whatever they might be, he might have gotten a higher yield, Stangel says.

MANY HYBRIDS perform differently even when nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium have been applied at adequate levels under the same soil and climatic conditions. This indicates that much of the difference may be due to different amounts of trace elements in the soil, he says.

Most research has found no response from corn to secondary or trace elements. But many farmers and seed growers claim that corn does respond to additional trace elements under certain conditions. What could be a possible reason for this?

Stangel says that today's corn yields are increasing at the rate of 4 to 5 per cent each year. Fertility requirements have gone up accordingly. It is not uncommon for a 150 bushel corn crop to remove 200 pounds of nitrogen, 40 pounds of phosphorus and

Pesticides poisonous in degrees

Pesticides are poisonous to man in varying degrees. Studies have shown that the more easily an organism can eliminate or break down an insecticide, the less poisonous the chemical is to the organism. Scientists have observed this tendency more often and consistently in highly selective insecticides than in non-selective ones.

Fumio Matsumura and C. T. Ward, insect specialists at the University of Wisconsin, studied the breakdown of malathion, carbaryl (Sevin) and parathion by human and rat livers. Malathion and Sevin are well known selective insecticides. Parathion is non-selective.

THEY INTRODUCED the three insecticides to rat and human liver samples. They found that human liver samples could eliminate over 95 per cent of malathion, 10 to 20 per cent of Sevin, and 10 to 17 per cent parathion. The livers broke down malathion fastest, followed by Sevin and parathion. Rat livers eliminated the insecticides in the same order, showing a similar

Farm Briefs

Michigan farmers spend over $50 million a year on fertilizer, an MSU soil scientist reports.

Michigan State University scientists are working with "high relative humidity" to keep stored dry peas from cracking. Pumping high moisture air through the stored beans could prevent thousands of dollars of damage each year.

Early corn planting—as soon after the first of May as seed beds can be prepared—will boost corn yields substantially. A Michigan State University crop scientist reports that corn planted in early May yielded 9 per cent more than mid-May planted grain.

The average age of Michigan dairy cows is about four years old. Michigan State University specialists say, therefore, that dairymen should make every effort to breed heifers to dairy bulls and have a better chance of getting heifer replacements for the dairy herd.

appeared to degrade the chemical faster than those from females.

THEY CONCLUDE that if the degree of degradation in the liver is taken as a measure of insecticide toxicity, then malathion is a very safe insecticide for humans to use.

You may save $6 to $8 per acre with Dow Anhydrous Ammonia: lowest cost nitrogen in the field.

The reason is, anhydrous ammonia gives you far more nitrogen per pound than any other nitrogen fertilizer. Which means it takes far less DOW ANHYDROUS AMMONIA to do the job than it does with any other form of nitrogen fertilizer. If you're planting corn on corn, it will take 150 to 200 pounds of nitrogen per acre to decay the old stalks and still have the nitrogen you need for high yields. Supply this nitrogen with DOW ANHYDROUS AMMONIA and you may save as much as $6 to $8 an acre. And boost crop yield quality and feed grain protein content while you do it. It's so long-lasting, one application is all you need. See us today for details. And save some money for a change.

Up go wages, out go workers

The present administration and the AFL-CIO have been engaged in a sort of tug-of-war lately on the proposed bill to raise the minimum wage from its present level of $1.25 an hour. They both want the same thing but differ in their approach as to how it should be done.

We saw published the other day, an article which related that organized labor showed flexibility in approving a compromise in which the AFL-CIO wanted a higher rate and a faster rate of approach to the new proposed level, plus an extension of the law to millions not covered by the present act, than the administration had in mind.

THE outcome of this compromising and flexibility is a plan where the minimum wage will be jumped to $1.60 per hour and the inclusion of some 5.5 million workers in groups not now covered under the minimum wage law.

The administration and organized labor have been singing high praises of themselves for this proposed lifting of the downtrodden worker to within sight of the goals of the great society plan of something for everyone no matter whether they desire it or are deserving of it.

As we consider this great step forward, as it has been referred to, we can only agree that the administration and organized labor are not concerned with everyone, but with a small minority. The little businessman is not considered; at least we can't see where they have been taken into consideration.

WHAT WILL this proposed new minimum wage do to the small businessman and his employees? It may raise the wages of employees, but it could also decrease the number of his employees.

These small businessmen have in their budget only so much money to be spent for help in running their establishments, if they hope to make a profit. With a forced increase in the minimum wage he will, in all probability, abide by the law and raise his employees wages. But if his budget is limited, then in raising the wages of some he must try to get along with one less to make his books balance. Consider the thousands of small businessmen who might have to resort to the idea to comply with the new law.

AS WE SEE it then, the raising of the minimum wage could possibly cause more unemployment than we have today. The only businesses who could possibly handle this increase in overall wages would be the governments on all levels, for they seem to be the only businesses we know of that can operate in the red and get away with it.

We are not against progress and the raising of the living standards of our people, for we have seen where those who have been dissatisfied but had the desire to do better and the guts to work for it have made progress and raised their living standards.

THIS BILL, IF passed, will help a minority in our estimation and puts the small businessman to the decision of complying and using less help to main his budget or close his business and work for someone else at a guaranteed wage which would probably be more than he is guaranteed today.

Trailer parks pose big problem for supervisors

The Clinton County Board of Supervisors should have a real interesting meeting coming up next Tuesday. Besides their organization for the new year, the supervisors have a couple of "hot issue" zoning decisions to make . . . or table.

Both concern trailer parks. One is in DeWitt Township at State and Brown Roads where the new US-127 will go through. The other is in Olive Township at Alward Lake.

THE ALWARD LAKE trailer park plan is probably the most controversial. The zoning commission approved it last month over the objections of most of 200 people present at the zoning hearing. Many of them will undoubtedly turn out next Tuesday when the supervisors hold their hearing on the subject about 2 p.m.

It's hard to tell what's right here. The zoning commission apparently felt the proposed park was and would meet all the zoning law requirements, and thus there was no reason to refuse the request for the park. The surrounding property owners apparently don't want a trailer park in their neighborhood, and they cite poor roads and fire protection as some of the reasons.

THEY ALSO say 500 trailers parked there would cause a big problem for the school district. The schools have been told the 500 trailers won't come for about 10 years and with a slow growth the school system could absorb the pupils; the neighbors say it will be a much, much shorter time. The Tri-County Planning Commission recommended Feb. 24 that the application be tabled.

The supervisors' problem next Tuesday - how to please the people and the law at the same time.

IT LOOKS ALMOST necessary that policemen should be on duty at State Street and Clinton Avenue to help the cars over the crosswalk when high schoolers cross against the red light during the noon hours.

THERE WAS quite an interesting headline in one of the daily papers that infiltrate our area the other day. It went something like this: Couple with $11,000 income receives poverty loan of $25,000.

This was also very discouraging to many people because they are making a lot of money, but they didn't realize that they were classified as poverty cases.

WHOSE WHO were in charge of dispensing this so-called poverty money were asked how come, and the reply went something like this: We had the money from Washington but they had not given us any guidelines to go by.

If this is the type of people they put in charge of the poverty program I can see where it's going to cost us, the taxpayer, a "H" of a lot more to help those who really don't need help.

BUT GETTING back to those who are in charge of giving away our hard-earned tax money. My first thoughts on this person or persons was: What does he use for brains. I don't believe I'm qualified to dispense federal money for poverty, but I believe that even I would have thought twice before considering a loan to a couple making this kind of money. To me this isn't poverty.

Another reason that those in charge of dispensing this money gave was, that the anti-poverty people wanted to make a big show of giving away the first money available in the area, so they rushed the applications through to have them ready, even though it meant giving away money that was meant for the poor to those who didn't need it.

GETTING AWAY from the state poverty program and switching to Washington's word filtering through is: "The big money is in poverty," and I'm sure they are not referring to those who are to receive it, but for those who are to dispense it.

It seems that Mr Shriver, who is in charge of poverty under the name of Office of Economic Opportunity, will need 6,484 permanent employees to run this office, with 1,557 of these just in Washington. This will amount to about $53,489,000 in salaries alone.

OF THE 1,557 who will work in Washington, six will receive salaries of over $25,382; 13 will receive $25,382; 17 will be paid between $22,217 and $25,382; 25 will receive between $19,619 and $25,043; 249 between $17,055 and $22,365; 323 between $14,680 and $19,252; 403 between $12,510 and $16,245; and 521 between $10,619 and $13,931.

When President Johnson argued on approval for his war on poverty program he said, that it was prudently planned in that every dollar allocated will be spent to help the poor.

THIS MAY have been true when he was arguing for his program, but I think the facts show that it will cost the taxpayers of this country almost as much to run the poverty program as it will to help the poor.

Taking into consideration the amount of money that will be needed to run the poverty war in Washington, plus the fact that people like those in our area who showed they didn't have the capabilities to handle their jobs in the manner of which the people can expect from them, it seems that Mr Johnson's and Mr Shriver's war on poverty will be a heavy burden for the taxpayer to shoulder, but it also shows, that to have a federal agency doing the work that we the people should be doing ourselves, it will cost us a lot more in the end, plus in the process we seem to lose more and more of our right to do things ourselves.

It's a chain of habits that form the rails over which a man's train of thought travels.

Says TV will never replace movies

I HAVE BEEN READING your editorials on the theater here in town and can't for the life of me figure out why they don't open it up, as it would be good entertainment for the young and old, provided they had good, clean films.

The children and older people would like it, I know, and wouldn't have to drive to other cities for the privilege of seeing a movie. Television will never take the place of movie theaters as long as they have good films for the people to see.

As you said before, an outdoor movie is not enough. So I hope that other people will write, too, so we can get results.

AGRICULTURE in ACTION

by M. L. Woell, MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

Farm costs, already at a record high, are destined to zoom into outer space if legislation now under consideration to increase the minimum wage to $1.40 in 1967, and $1.60 in 1968 is passed by Congress in this election year.

Aside from extending minimum wage coverage to certain farm operators, the main impact on agriculture would be to increase costs of the things farmers buy for production.

THE PROPOSED increase in the minimum wage would increase:

- 1) The cost of the $30 billion of production goods and services that farmers buy.
2) The cost of the $11 to $12 billion of consumer goods and services that farmers buy.
3) The cost of processing and marketing farm products - a cost shared by farmers and consumers.

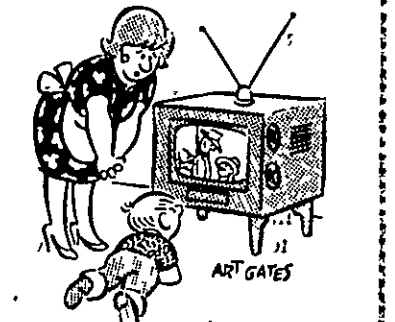

A FACT OFTEN overlooked is that increased minimum wages not only boost the wages of the lowest paid workers, but push up the whole wage structure.

If a semi-skilled worker's pay is shoved up from $1.25 to $1.60 per hour, a skilled worker who is now getting $1.75 an hour is going to demand more money and he is likely to get it in a market already short of qualified manpower.

For many of the less qualified and skilled workers, the increase in the minimum wage will spell unemployment rather than high wages.

This can only lead to an "escalation" in the war on poverty and require more billions from the federal treasury. If people don't want to hire high school dropouts at $1.25, how many are going to hire them at $1.60 per hour?

UNDER THE BILL voted out by the House labor subcommittee, farmers who hire the equivalent of 500 man-days in any quarter will be required to pay $1.15 per hour in 1967, $1.15 in 1968, and $1.30 in 1969. Roughly, this means coverage for an operator hiring seven men for 70 days in a quarter. Farmers who would be most affected are those producing fruits and vegetables.

"You should be outside, honey. We could go to a nice outdoor movie!"

RAMBLIN' with Rink

By LOWELL G. RINCKER

We heard some news reports the other day that left us almost in a state of shock. One was datelined Gotham City and concerned a traffic accident involving Batman.

The Gotham County sheriff's office said a short circuit apparently developed as the Batmobile roared out of the Batcave, and his roadside fence failed to retract.

BATMAN SWERVED to go around the fence but lost control and the Batmobile smashed the fence, careened across the road and hit an oncoming car head-on. Fortunately the Caped Crusader and the Boy Wonder were unhurt, and the little old lady driving along the road suffered only a bruised shin.

But horror of horrors, The little lady turned out to be Aunt Harriet, and she insisted on pressing charges; the sheriff's deputy was forced to write tickets citing Batman for reckless driving, driving too fast for conditions, failure to stop in assured clear distance ahead, failure to yield the right-of-way, and illegal parking. Robin was charged with being an accessory before the fact.

HOLY CRIMINALS! Will millionaire Bruce Wayne and his youthful ward Dick Grayson be able to look Aunt Harriet in the eye again and tell her, when their jail time is up, that they've been on an extended fishing trip?

Another report came from Hollywood. It seems Marshal Dillon was wounded three times on three different "takes" in filming a new opening street gunfight scene for "Gunsmoke." Directors had warned him on several occasions he couldn't always draw his gun second and still come out on top.

To add insult to the monetary injury, the toothpaste manufacturer had to shell out $1,047 for a new camera lens to replace one broken when the housewife threw a rolling pin. Her grumpy husband, just coming down to breakfast after a late night at the office, also belted the producer.

THE TV industry does have its trials and tribulations. -rink

It was a peach of a store in '03

About 82 bushels of peaches were displayed for the camera man about 63 years ago by Hoyt Pierce (in apron with arms crossed), owner of the store that once stood where the Clinton National Bank is now located in downtown St. Johns. The picture was loaned by Gale Boron of 2775 E. Alward Road, whose uncle, W.M. Boron, is second from the right in the picture. The other men are unidentified. The site was identified by Mabel Durkee and Robert Merrill of St. Johns; Pierce's store was located here about 20 years after the O.P. DeWitt store, pictured in the March 3 Clinton County News. MICHIGAN MIRROR

Minding minds is big state job...and growing job

BY ELMER E. WHITE
Michigan Press Assn.

Growth of and demand for mental health services in Michigan continue at an annually increasing rate, with no peak in sight.

A two-year study of activities by the State Mental Health Department shows sharp increases in all areas. A 23 per cent increase was recorded during the past two years in the number of people served by the department's various units.

Last fiscal year count was 79,007 people involved in some facet of mental health care under the department's jurisdiction.

INCREASES IN mentally ill and retarded contacts were 4,500 in 1965 over the previous year and 8,500 more than the 1963 count.

A sharp proportion of this resulted from the relatively new community care programs. More than 22,800 people were served in community-based state programs or jointly funded local clinics and day care centers.

The department also measures its growth in other terms. It recorded payments of $2.7 million in 1965 for patients from various special programs such as social security, railroad retirement and Veterans Administrations. In 1964, these receipts totaled $1.8 million.

About half of these special benefit funds are for personal needs of the patients: clothing, candy dentures, wheel chairs, etc.

A THIRD measure of growth of what might be called mental health consciousness is found in the second edition of the "Directory of Michigan's Psychiatric Services," a publication of the Michigan Society for Mental Health.

Where the first edition, published in 1960, listed 61 agencies, the new volume lists 116 agencies which provide 185 different services.

Included is a completely new category, listing 22 community general hospitals offering psychiatric services. Six years ago these were practically non-existent except in the Detroit metropolitan area.

A "CLAIM TO Fame" has been made on behalf of the 1963 State Constitution by Claude R. Erickson of Lansing, who served as a delegate to the 1961-62 Constitutional Convention.

He notes the new document has remained intact without amendment longer than the Constitution it replaced. It seems, the 1908 basic law went into effect in 1909 and was amended a year later and again in 1911.

Longevity of the present Constitution may be short despite Erickson's present claim. The Legislature has before it several proposals for amendment, and present indications are that at least one or two will be put to the voters in November.

SERIOUS consideration is being given a proposal to once again allow the governor to fill judicial vacancies by appointment. The provision calling for use of retired judges in vacant bench posts has proved unworkable. The vacancies are in much greater supply than the retired jurists.

A change in the voting age requirement, from 21 to 18, was expected to get full debate this year also. This may be out of the picture now since statewide survey has shown the greatest percentage of teenagers polled do not favor the change.

Makeup of the State Apportionment Commission and selection of the highway commissioner are other areas which would be affected by still other Constitutional amendment proposals before the 1966 Legislature.

ELEMENTARY school enrollments statewide have for the past three years been experiencing the start of a decade of a slump although it has not been apparent in most districts.

The slump is caused by the decreased birth rates in Michigan. Low rates are expected to continue for another two years. After that the rise is due to duplicate the monumental World War II baby boom.

Most school districts have not shown the relative drop, however, largely because of the shifting population trend. Urban cores have continued to face school enrollment pressures. Only a few schools in the large cities have experienced drops in class size because of shifting population.

GROWTH AND development of suburban areas has been almost unbelievable. School problems in these areas have just begun in this eight-year period of low birth rates, for the most part. As the children of this low cycle reach school age the suburban district problem will become greater.

It can be readily seen why the low birth rates have not had the effect which might be expected: a levelling off of school district problems and pressures. Only if Michigan's school-age population was evenly distributed would this be seen.

By 1968 the experts say the World War II babies will be having their own children en masse. Needless to say, the financial problems caused by this spurt will be tremendous when these children reach school age.

Michigan State University clothing specialists say clothing researchers are working on a one-step process of making fabric by spraying fibers. If this process is perfected, it will eliminate spinning and weaving of fabrics. Clothing is also being genually "wash n'wear" through a durable press process.

Do you wanna park your "Lizzie?"
Would you set your baggage down?
Do you wish a dally paper?
Are your shoes sort of run down?
Do you seek a friendly washroom?
Want a drink now, cold or hot?
Rummage in so-called cash pocket,
Put your money in the slot!

Mustn't stop the wheels of progress;
Never try to turn things back!
There's a maximum of service
In our new machine attack;
But I guess I'm just too simple,
Too darn tight 'n sorter sot,
So I curse my luck while fumblin'
'Fer more coins to feed the slot!

COUNTRY FLAVOR

April: 'Now begynneth the tyme of Flowres'

HAYDEN PEARSON

In 1549 Bartholomew Whylocke wrote, "Now begynneth the tyme of Flowres, when bees doo busy themselves abroad all day, and doe mayke merrite, gathering of their sweet delights." April can be that way. April also can test a man's patience as time crosses the drawbridge from March to May.

A sunny, warm day with deep blue sky, white clouds sailing the air currents, robins carolling and bluebirds singing, is as inspiring as any day in the year's cycle. Queen bumblebees harvest pollen and nectar from pussy willows and start a new colony; flickers shout from the old orchard and redwings whistle from the swales.

Annual IGA boys contest begins April 11

One lucky boy from the St. Johns area will win a free trip to California this summer in connection with IGA's third annual Boys Contest.

Andy's IGA Shopping Basket on North US-27 in St. Johns will sponsor a local boy, one of 150 around the state who will leave from Flint's Bishop Airport June 13.

THE CONTEST is open to boys aged 10 to 14 years, and winners will be determined by the highest number of votes gathered at the IGA store where they are registered. Boys will save the blue cash register tapes and a vote will be given for every 10 cents in purchases.

The contest kicks off April 11 and will run through June 4.

The California trip will consist of a chartered airline flight, a stay at the Lafayette Hotel in Long Beach, visit to the original Knotts Berry Farm, tour of Universal International movie studios, guided tour through Hollywood and Beverly Hills, 20-mile conducted cruise of Long Beach harbor, three-ring sea circus at Marineland of the Pacific, a Los Angeles Dodgers baseball game at the Chavez Ravine stadium, and a day at Disneyland.

The boys and their chaperons will return home Friday evening, June 17.

Some fishermen catch nothing more than inside straight's.

and a man enjoys his task of mending the pasture fence. Mellow warmth is a blessing on the land and the rich, heady fragrance of the moist humus is pleasant in the air. Then suddenly, one notices dark clouds forming; the air turns cool; and a man barely makes it to the barn before an April shower is pelting down.

That is April — unpredictable, moody and a bit cantankerous. But one knows that true spring is just around the corner. The peonies' brown heads are above soil; rhubarb clumps shine; the green tide is beginning to change the brown grasses along creeks and brooks. Pasture brooks tumble down from the heights and red maples hold glowing buds to the fourth month air.

IF ONE CAN BE logical, he knows it is good that April is on the cool side to hold back buds. But man isn't a logical being. It is all for the best that Nature runs her own program. It is April again; the resurrection is working its never-failing miracles. It is the beginning of the time of flowers and the heart responds to the stirring life forces.

The "Low Down"

From the Congressional Record

By Joe Crump

Inflation isn't just coming: it's here

Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen (Ill.) — (This column, carried in the Los Angeles Times, deals with the ominous threat of inflation to the paycheck of every American worker and the budget of every American housewife — The article was ordered to be printed in the Record. (The condensed article by Richard M. Nixon follows):

Johnson's inflation will be the major domestic issue of the 1966 congressional campaign. The President's deceptive guns-and-butter budget, which just a month ago was hailed as a political masterpiece, has turned out to be his first major political blunder.

HIS BUDGET message should have been a declaration of war against inflation. Instead it was a declaration of Mr. Johnson's "war on prosperity" — a war in which the casualties will be the family budgets of millions of Americans.

As prices and taxes rise, administration spokesmen will try to blame labor for demanding higher wages, they will try to blame business for asking for higher prices, they will try to blame the war in Vietnam.

There is only one place to put the blame—the budget-brinkmanship of the Johnson administration.

INSTEAD OF moving to check the expansion of credit, he criticized William McChesney Martin for raising the Federal Reserve Board discount rate.

Instead of cutting nonmilitary expenditures, he raised them.

Instead of presenting an honest budget his administration overestimated revenues, underestimated expenditures, and threw in some one-shot accounting gimmicks to disguise a $9 billion budget deficit as a cash surplus.

He failed to recognize that the best way for government to set guidelines is for government to set an example. Instead he demanded that business slam on the price brakes while government stepped on the spending accelerator.

NOW WITH the war on inflation being lost and Mr. Johnson's "war on prosperity" launched, the casualties are beginning to mount.

If prices continue to rise at the December rate there will be a 5 per cent increase in the cost of living in 1966. This is like imposing a 5 per cent sales tax across the board on food, clothing, and all the necessities of life.

Whom then will he sacrifice? Not the rich, who can hedge
