

Clinton draft board members resign

ST. JOHNS—In a surprise move Friday, four of the five Clinton County draft board members signed a letter of resignation addressed to President Nixon as a protest over the conviction of Lt. William Calley, Jr., who was sentenced last week for murdering 22 Vietnamese non-combatants.

Those who resigned are Dale F. Robinson, James Halfmann, Lloyd Peterson and James A. Karber. Only Fred Lewis, board chairman, declined to render his resignation.

In the letter, the board members said they "feel that the results of the Lt. Calley court martial was an unjustified act forced upon a member of the Armed Forces of America."

"As we feel this man was carrying out the results of his training under wartime conditions, we cannot understand how such drastic action can be justified," the letter stated.

"How could a man, perhaps a bit overzealous in carrying out his duty and the defense of his life and the lives of his men under the stress of hostile conditions, meet with such extreme results?"

"We think this could have a tremendous effect on any man in combat who might not have the split second to decide on which life it should be—the enemy or his own.

"We therefore feel, that as patriotic Americans, we cannot justify our judgments on this board. To think that our decisions, many miles from the combat zone, should put our young men in such position is just inconceivable in our opinions. We therefore wish to be removed from being in such an influential position as to affect the lives of these young men."

The letter, signed by the four veterans, was also sent to Curtis Tarr, selective service director in Washington, D.C. and Col. Baird of the state selection service board.

In an interview Monday, Lewis told the News that he was not aware of the impending action the other board members were taking.

"I didn't know they were going to resign. I don't think there is any connection between the trial and the draft board," Lewis said. "The resignation will just cause confusion."

"There have been decisions made before and members have resigned, but it didn't help anything," Lewis said. "The whole system kept on going. They were just replaced."

Lewis said that he believed President Nixon would step in and "take care of Calley."

"I didn't know they had a meeting to resign. Someone called and said they were thinking about resigning. It was a surprise to me. It was strange that they never discussed this before, but it's done," Lewis said.

Lewis also claimed that he thinks the Clinton board, Local 19, will be disbanded in the near future.

"There is a possibility that the draft board will be located in Ingham County, although it will still have an area selection board. Nothing has been said yet, but it is a possibility."

Karber said Monday that he hoped replacements would be named soon, although they have not received any verification from any of the higher boards that their resignations were received.

The next scheduled board meeting is Monday night, but Karber said he would not attend due to his work. The board would need three men in attendance for a quorum before they could select any Clinton County young men for the draft.

Robinson told the News that the letter "pretty well covered" the board members' convictions.

He said that he was sure "Calley's hands are not clean."

Robinson said he was not positive on how things will go in the future for the board, but added he would take a wait-and-see attitude before the next meeting.

"I can't justify the position of putting a boy in a spot, such as this," Robinson said. "It's not a pleasant job and I'm making the decision influencing someone else's life."

Halfmann said the board would have to make a unified position concerning future meetings until the resignations are officially accepted and replacements named.

"The resignation was a direct result of the Calley decision," Halfmann said. He agreed with Lewis that he thinks the local board will be phased out in the future and that the Ingham board would take over the main responsibility for drafting Clinton County men.

The Clinton board members' resignation was the second state-wide. The Huron County draft board also requested the President to appoint new members.

All of the men indicated that the status of the Clinton men and the draft would be clarified after the next official meeting of the board.

Environment committee plans for clean-up day

PEWAMO - WESTPHALIA — The Environmental Action Day Project for the Pewamo-Westphalia area was announced today by local leaders of the environmental clean-up campaign.

The project is scheduled for Saturday, April 24, and is part of a statewide program being co-sponsored by State Rep. David M. Serotkin of Mt. Clemens and the Michigan Student Environmental Confederation (MSEC).

This is one of many environmental protection projects that the MSEC has organized and been involved in since their beginning in November. The MSEC is also coordinating Earth Week activities in Michigan.

Local Environmental Action Day Chairwoman Karen Thelen said that the area project would be obtaining new trash cans and repainting old ones, cleaning up sidewalks and playgrounds, cleaning up around roads and bridges, and many other activities.

"This particular project was selected by the advanced biology class," Miss Thelen said.

"It is within the general guidelines suggested by Serotkin and the MSEC. The idea is to do something useful to our community, which will demonstrate our concern about the pollution threat and make the general public think about it."

(Also, we want people to be aware of anti-pollution legislation, including that sponsored by Representative Serotkin, and to write their Legislators urging them to support it.)

The local activities are part of a statewide effort in which many Michigan communities will be participating. Persons or organizations interested in helping with the project locally should contact their local project leaders.

Weather man advises

Don't go to southwest corner if tornado hits

By BOB GAYAN
News Staff Writer

ST. JOHNS—Many people are under the impression that the safest place to be, in the event of a tornado, is in the southwest corner of the basement. Not true, according to Robert Babb, chief of the weather bureau in Lansing.

Babb was meeting with Charles Frost, Clinton County Civil Defense Director when he made the statement.

"The southwest corner is not safer than any other corner in the basement," he said. "We say get in the basement under something heavy."

"Most people are killed by debris. In the old days, houses were far apart and people were relatively safe, but now with the houses close together, debris falling from other houses can kill."

Babb stated that there has been a gradual change in the past few years with more reliance on local authority than a central authority. "The weather bureau can issue a watch, but now it is faster for the local people to observe and report any suspicious clouds or formation to local authorities," he said.

The Clinton County Sheriff's Office is the central communication site. All tornado information should be called into the Sheriff's Office and they will feed the information to the areas that might be affected and the weather bureau.

News closes Friday

The Clinton County News offices will close for three hours Good Friday, along with most St. Johns and Clinton County businesses, between 12 noon and 3 p.m., it was announced Tuesday.

Calley trial brings mixed reaction

By DEBORAH WITGEN
News MSU Correspondent

The life imprisonment sentence handed to Lt. William L. Calley Jr. for the murder of 22 Vietnamese men, women and children during the 1968 My Lai massacre has stirred public sentiment.

According to White House reports, President Nixon has received thousands of telegrams running about 100 to 1 against the court martial conviction.

Some Michigan State University students have voiced their opinions, and not all are pro-Calley.

Eugenia Becker, 211 E. Dill Dr., Dewitt, a senior majoring in social science, has mixed feelings about Calley's sentence. "If the Nuremberg trials mean anything, I guess my personal feeling is to agree with the jury."

Miss Becker was very surprised at public reaction. "I'm still trying to decide where it's all coming from. Are people trying to say war is immoral and that Calley is a product of the system?"

While Miss Becker doesn't think Calley should go free, she believes more than one person is responsible.

When asked if she thinks Nixon will intervene, she said, "I don't think he should. He has no basis to if it was a fair trial."

Keith Thelen, S. Wacousta Rd., St. Johns, a freshman majoring in engineering, said of Calley, "He's just an instrument of what the military has told him to do." He thinks Calley could have been somewhat aggressive himself, but was encouraged by the army.

He was surprised that people have taken time to express their reactions and in the ratio that they have.

Regarding Capt. Ernest Medina, Thelen said, "Assuming he gave the orders, he should be held as much responsible as Calley." He thinks there is something wrong if Medina is not tried. Thelen thinks Medina is more involved than higher officers, but he's not sure either Calley or Medina deserve too much punishment.

On the question of Nixon intervening, Thelen had no answer. "Nixon's a hard guy to predict. He doesn't always follow what the public seems to want."

Thomas Mauro, 13435 Dawn Dew Lane, Dewitt, is a graduate student and a teacher in the Dewitt Schools. His feelings toward Calley's sentence are based on his brother in Vietnam.

"If you ask him who the enemy is, he'll tell you he doesn't know. He has seen men blown up by seemingly innocent children," Mauro said.

Mauro thinks Calley simply was the most convenient person to blame the My Lai incident on, and that he wouldn't be surprised if eventually he was acquitted.

He thinks all parents are beginning to wonder now about their sons and those in Vietnam, and was not too shocked with public reaction. "I'm glad to see there is this much concern for a man who was doing his job," he said.

Rosemary Foerch, 141 W. High, Ovid, and a no-preference freshman, thinks the decision was unfair. "I think they're wrong for trying to blame one person for the shame everyone has to take, and I hope his appeals go through," she said.

Miss Foerch was surprised at the public reaction. "I didn't think people would come out as strong as they have, but I'm proud that they have." She did expect people to be somewhat apathetic, she admitted.

She doesn't think Nixon will interfere. "Right now, I think he'll stay out of it and let the courts decide," she said.

Debra Westland, 1003 Lincolnshire, St. Johns, a sophomore in human ecology, said of Calley, "I think he's getting the rap for a lot he's not responsible for."

She anticipated the response the public has given. She said people are realizing there is no justice in war regardless and "it's bad when someone gets the rap like that."

Miss Westland thinks Nixon will follow public opinion and intervene in the matter if that is the action the public points to.

Darryl Melvin, 8401 Island, Elsie, a no-preference sophomore, believes Calley is being used as a scapegoat for the army.

Campbell heads KMB Ecology Committee Organizing County

By BOB GAVAN
News Staff Writer

ST. JOHNS—The Clinton County chapter of the volunteer citizens organization, Keep Michigan Beautiful, Inc. (KMB), elected officers at its first official meeting Wednesday.

Bruce Campbell of St. Johns was elected chairman by a unanimous decision of the 17 members present.

William Coffey, John Aylsworth and William Yandrasek were elected area vice-chairmen. Mrs. James Oleniczak of Westphalia and Georgianna Kelly of St. Johns were elected co-secretaries and Sylvia Eitelbuss of Bath was elected treasurer. Bob Gavan was elected reporter.

Ralph Swan, Michigan Office of Economic Expansion, which has helped organize KMB, stated that 60 counties are organized in the state so far. The Clinton Chapter is in the 6th district which is comprised of Clinton, Ingham and Eaton Counties.

"KMB is an umbrella organization, it does not supplement the present projects but adds to and coordinates the present programs," Swan said.

"Communities which are attractive will attract business thereby expanding economically. Industries judge a community by how clean the area surrounding it," said Swan.

KMB'S PRIMARY project is to organize all the existing and potential environmental organizations into one coordinated unit. Instead of many groups attempting to clean up the county, an area wide organization will be much more functional.

The committee was unanimous in agreement that the youth of the county have put the adults to shame as far as clean-up efforts so far. Swan cited Detroit as an example, "30,000 teens worked to clean up Detroit saving that city $800,000 last year."

Clinton County has 12,000 students that are more than willing to help, all they need is direction and that is where KMB comes in.

William Coffey stated "What we need are students as representatives on the board of directors." There are a number of openings for anyone interested.

Many projects were discussed by the committee—cleaning up the roadways, rivers, streams, city streets, junk cars and county parks.

A NUMBER OF projects were suggested to help create incentive in the county. A contest could be held to see which Township has the cleanest area and a certificate or trophy awarded. Money could be turned back to the groups cleaning up their area.

Every possibility will be investigated to help clean the county. The National Guard will be contacted to see if men and equipment could haul trash away. The road commission will be contacted and private businesses will be asked for their assistance.

KMB is financed by contributions from various organization and area businesses. The headquarters of KMB in Lansing will furnish information pamphlets and educational materials.

Any group or individual who is interested in joining or obtaining information about KMB should contact the Clinton County Zoning Office, which has been set up as a clearing house. The number is 224-6761 ext. 221 or 222.

The next meeting will be held in the Rodney B. Wilson auditorium, Tuesday, April 13, at 8 p.m. Clinton County communities and interested groups should send representatives so they know what is going to be planned for the future in the county.

KMB program shows 1970 river clean-up

ST. JOHNS—An environmental lecturer from Owosso will feature a slide presentation to the Keep Michigan Beautiful, Inc. (KMB) chapter Tuesday, in the Rodney B. Wilson Auditorium at 8 p.m.

James Miner, attorney from Owosso will present his slide-talk on last year's Shiawassee River clean-up.

The river was cleaned up with the help of citizens and the Ann Arbor Railroad. People can now enjoy the unpolluted river along the walking paths that have been built.

A drawing for two free meals at Jean's Beanyery will be held during the meeting.

A number of future projects will be decided upon after the slide show. The remaining positions on the KMB board of directors will be filled.

Any group or persons interested in joining this organization is urged to attend this meeting.

Mueller attends NCA meet

CHICAGO—DeWitt High School was represented at the 76th annual meeting of the North Central Association here by D.S. Mueller, principal.

Featured speaker at this year's meeting was Dr. Margaret Mead, noted anthropologist and Curator Emeritus of Ethnology at New York's American Museum of Natural History.

Dr. Mead's keynote address on "Bringing Teaching and Learning Together" charged the educators in the capacity audience of 4,500 delegates "to take the educational establishment with its wisdom, rigidity, know-how and all its present physical conditions and set-up a system where everybody teaches and everybody learns. Keep education rolling, by putting a circle in the system."

Ballenger picked to chair GOP dinner committee

State Sen. William S. Ballenger (R-Ovid) and State Rep. Michael A. Dively (R-Traverse City) were named last week to the co-chairmanships for the 1971 Republican Legislative Dinner.

The GOP leaders releasing the new appointments were House Republican Leader Clifford H. Smart (Walled Lake) and Senate Majority Leader Robert VanderLaan (R-Kentwood).

Ballenger and Dively were picked to plan the fund raising event scheduled for late June. Their chores include finding a speaker, appointing a committee of honorary chairmen to oversee the dinner activities, and name committees for tickets, programs and entertainment.

The $100-a-plate fund raiser was started in 1965 and featured speakers have included President Nixon, Robert Finch, Ronald Reagan, Thurston Morton and William Scranton.

"The money collected from this dinner will be used to help defray the costs of legislative elections," Ballenger said. "We do this to take some of the heat off local finance people and to insure that certain campaigns are adequately funded."

"Elections cost a great deal of money and we feel that we have some financial responsibilities to our own campaigns and to the campaigns of our colleagues," he added.

Included Rosanne Martin, yarn-craft, sixth grade at St. Mary's in Westphalia and Mark Crosby, drafting, sophomore at St. Johns CENTRAL NATIONAL Bank begins a unique promotion this week. The bank's Bob Thompson showed us a basement store room the other day and to our amazement it was filled with...

"Forget-Me-Not" china. A very attractive pattern. Bob explained that the bank will be selling four piece place settings with each $25 passbook savings deposit. The settings will cost only $2.95 with the exception of the first and twelfth which will be free.

Extra pieces will also be available for an equally small price. We told Bob that we would like to start collecting the china but Big Mama put the kibosh on our idea. She doesn't wash dishes, she burns them.

APRIL FOOL'S Day came late for us this year but it came. All last Thursday everyone was on guard and so not one prank occurred. But then a couple of days later Editor Tim Younkman ran out of cigarettes. When we allowed that we would be in a store where cigarettes were sold, he made the mental error of asking us to pick up a pack for him. We did. Eves. The flowered cigarettes in the pretty pastel flowery pack.

Local students score high in national tests

ST. JOHNS - Figures prepared by the counseling and guidance department at St. Johns High School show that local students have scored well compared to students nationwide who have taken the College Board Tests.

The average score of the 1968 graduates who took the test was 530.4 on the verbal and language part of the test and 534.9 on the math section.

The average score of the 887,465 seniors in 1968 was 463.5 and 488.0.

Forty one 1968 graduates took the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test. Their average scores were 45.9 on the verbal test and 45.1 on the math section. These tests were taken as Juniors.

The averages of 18,864 students who took the test nationwide were 35 and 37.

There were 35 - 1968 graduates who took the American College Test. This is a comprehensive test covering English, Math, Social Studies, and natural science. The average composite score on all tests for St. Johns students was 22.4. The average composite score of 2,553,376 students nationwide who were tested from 1966 to 1969 was 19.2. Scores of 57,712 students in colleges who offer advanced degrees following the bachelor's degree was 19.6.

Of the 18 1969 graduates who took the Scholastic Aptitude tests, the average score on the verbal portion of the test was 455.8 compared to the nationwide average of 461. On the math section the local average was 506.3 compared to 488.0 nationwide. 911,668 students took the test.

On the Preliminary School Aptitude Test 42 local students had an average score of 41.8 on the verbal test compared to 35.5 and an average of 44.8 on the math test compared to 37.5 of 18,864 students who were tested nationwide.

The 31 local 1969 graduates who took the American College Board tests as seniors had an average composite score of 22 compared to 22.0 for 2,553,376 college bound students who took the tests from 1966-69.

The scores of those in 70 colleges granting advanced degrees were 19.6 compared to the local average of 22.0.

There were 44 1970 local graduates who took the Scholastic Aptitude test. The local average was 462.4 on the verbal section and 497.9 on the math portion compared to 391.5 and 402.0 averages of 944,025 who were tested nationally.

Of the 33 local 1970 graduates who took the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude test as Juniors, average scores were 41.0 and 42.6 compared to 35.5 and 37.5 nationally for 18,864 students.

Of the 42 1970 graduates who took the American college test, their average composite score was 21.8. The average composite score of over 2.5 million students who have taken the test from 1966-69 was 19.6.

In 70 colleges granting advanced degrees the average composite score was 19.6.

Most degrees granting institutions now require such test results as part of the admission requirements.

Only the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude tests are given locally. All other tests are given at other convenient centers in the Central Michigan area.

It should be pointed out also that the number of students taking these tests is small, and that they come largely from the better students. However, the comparison is valid because the same is true of the students from other schools who take the tests.

In parts of Europe it has been the custom of each person to write the word "Alleluia" on paper and place them in a container, and bury it prior to Easter, then it is dug up on Easter morning. This is a beautiful earthly symbol of death and resurrection.

Open Letter from VAN W. HOAG

Dear friends,
Many clergymen and doctors, while attending the dying, have reported seeing the apparition of the spirit leaving the body at death. Many survivors have reported the momentary appearance of the spirit of a loved one at the moment of death. If these marvels were generally known, the doubting Thomases would find greater conviction in the resurrection of Christ and of our own promised resurrection which we celebrate this glorious Easter Season.

Sincerely,
Van W. Hoag

ST. JOSEPH CATHOLIC CHURCH

The Rev. William Hankerd has announced the following Holy Week services at St. Joseph Catholic Church: The Easter Triduum begins Holy Thursday at 7:15 p.m. with an Evening Mass of the Lord's Supper and the procession of the Blessed Sacrament.

Included in the services will be the ceremony of the washing of feet.

Fr. Hankerd says that this particular ritual, new to St. Joseph Parish, is a revival of an early custom, and is done in remembrance of an act of Jesus' at the Last Supper.

The Easter Triduum continues with Three services on Good Friday, starting at 12:45 p.m. with the Stations of the Cross, and continuing at 1:30 with commemoration of the Lord's Passion.

At 7:14 p.m. there will be a Good Friday Prayer Service, followed by the Stations of the Cross, veneration of a relic of the true cross, reading of the Passion and Death of Our Lord and concluding with a Homily.

The Easter Triduum ends Saturday evening with an Easter Vigil Mass at 8 p.m., incorporating the "Light" service, traditional to the Holy Saturday observance.

Easter Sunday Masses will be celebrated at 7:30, 9:00 and 10:30 in the morning, as well as 12:00 noon.

MSU

"Calley shouldn't be held responsible, because he was under conditions most people don't understand," he said.

He thinks Nixon stepped in and ordered Calley to be released from the Ft. Benning stockade to "cool things off."

Future intervention will probably be unnecessary, Melvin believes, because the appeals may be drawn out for years.

Melvin doubts that Calley will get freed if his appeals are heard in a military court.

"I wasn't surprised at the public reaction," he said. "It seems obvious that his officers got off and he was the scapegoat, but the public saw through it. I don't think you can pick out one individual to blame it on - it's the whole army," he said.

Linda McVeigh, Island Rd., Fowler, a junior in psychology, said "I think they (the military) did the right thing because if the facts point to his being guilty of murder, then he should be convicted of murder."

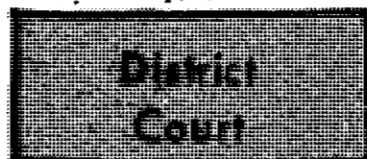

"They talk of using Calley as an example. I don't think they should stop with him. They should investigate incidents like these all over the world," she added.

Miss McVeigh was not surprised at public reaction, but was with the verdict. "But I don't think there's going to be any need for appeals; it will go on for years and President Nixon will step in before that," she said.

Fowler tries for revenge in contest

FOWLER - The Fowler Jaycees are trying to get even with Westphalia this year.

During the annual contest between Fowler and Westphalia in the Red Cross Bloodmobile drive, the Westphalians had taken the lead and are trying to reach the 100-pint mark next week. Both groups have vowed to reach that level when the Bloodmobile visits Fowler April 13 and Westphalia April 12.

During the last contest Westphalia edged Fowler by three pints 86 - 83, although overall Fowler leads in donations 167-163. The village with the most pints donated after three years will be awarded a special plaque for the village hall.

The contest was the idea of both Jaycee groups to help promote donations to the Bloodmobile and the Red Cross. They said that a volunteer doctor will be present for medical coverage and the blood will be drawn by a team of professional Red Cross staff nurses.

Times for the Bloodmobile visit in Fowler are 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. The hours were set for 12 noon to 6 p.m. but the Fowler Jaycees requested the change to allow for more working men to participate.

Driver education classes started

DeWITT - Another session of driver education began at DeWitt High School last week under the direction of Carlton T. Boutwell, coordinator and chairman of the DeWitt business education department.

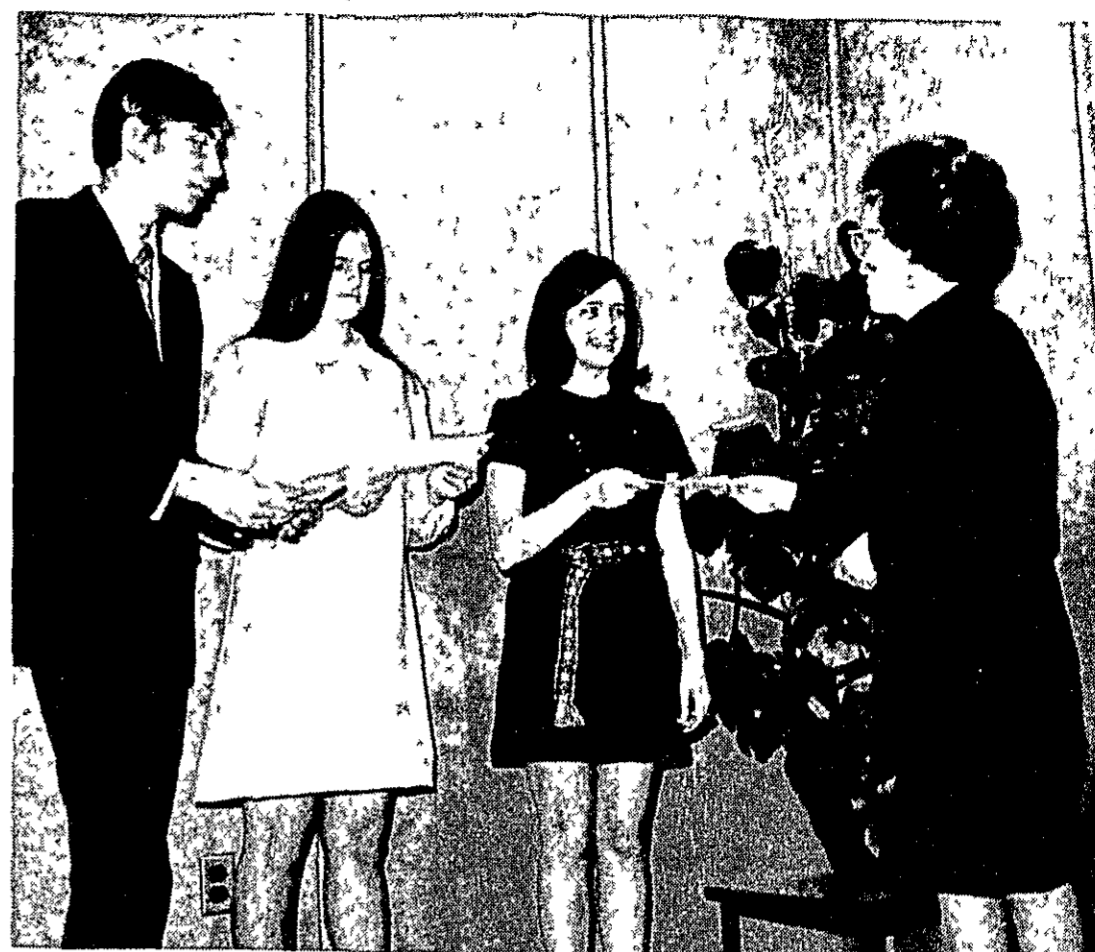

The class meets twice weekly after school hours and is taught by Boutwell. On-the-road-driving experience and "range" work groups are instructed by Dr. Frank Gruber of M.S.U., Orhan Enusten-exchange student at MSU from Turkey, and Richard Fleming of East Lansing.

Thirty hours of classroom instruction and six hours of road experience are required by state law.

DeWitt High offers driver education during the summer as well as fall and spring terms after school.

But Panthers have good team

Loss of Cole may effect title bid

DeWITT—A rebuilding year for any high school squad usually puts the coach on a spot in trying to predict a league championship.

But for Tom Isenhart, DeWitt baseball coach, that situation was not going to be a problem. That is until the state wrestling championships claimed one of his brightest hopes for the upcoming 25-game campaign.

Mike Cole, a standout catcher last season when the Panthers won a share of the CMAC title, was injured during a finals match last month and underwent surgery for knee damage.

Isenhart is doubtful now that Cole will be able to play. If they can get the three-sport letter winner back in the lineup, he will probably see only limited action. Isenhart said the team was set back by the graduation of four all-conference batsmen including Mike Ashley, Mike Botke, Rick Berry and Steve Swan. Cole was also an all-conference ball player.

But Isenhart insists that he can fill those shoes with some other outstanding baseball prospects. He pointed to Roger Wardell. "Roger hit eight home runs as a sophomore, and was all-conference that year batting .350." Wardell, an all-state football player, is a pitcher and first baseman—and has been attempting some catching chores.

The Panthers will have eight of their 13 letter winners back this season including Ron Wilcox, another three-sport letterman, who will be doing some catching, among his other duties in the infield.

High in the hopes for the Panthers and Coach Isenhart is Pat Botke. The hard throwing pitcher was 3-1 last season and was "quite impressive as a sophomore," according to Isenhart.

Isenhart has been impressed also with two other sluggers, Tom Keener and Doug Klaver, and said that much of the season's success will depend on these two players.

The Panthers, who not only tied for the league championship last year, but also won the Everett Diamond Classic, expect some rugged competition from two other CMAC rivals.

"St. Pat's will be tough this year and Fowler has all but one of its team back," Isenhart noted. The Panthers will open the season April 8 against Byron and the schedule is packed with some tough non-conference games, according to Isenhart.

Especially close contests are expected against the Ovid-Elsie Marauders, the coach said.

"We have a young team with four sophomores from last year," Isenhart said. "We will have a really good team next year." With the talent available, including five more freshmen and sophomores, CMAC challengers will have an uphill fight to unseat the 1970 champs.

The 1971 season holds quite a bit of promise for these returning DeWitt letter winners. Redwing golfers in rebuilding

ST. JOHNS—It will be a rebuilding year for the St. Johns golf team this season, as the Redwings defend their 1970 conference title through a 14-match schedule.

The Redwings, besides their conference championship, placed second in the regional competition last season and fifth in the state title play.

Coach Mike Humphrey said he will have only one of last year's starters back with the return of John Estes.

"Up from the undefeated junior varsity team for two years in a row will be Greg Lounds, Bill Ploszak, Brian Carpenter, Ken Schueller and Tom Pung," Humphrey said.

"These boys will carry the hopes of the Redwings," he added.

Humphrey said he was pleased with the turnout for golf this season and he's looking for some solid performances from some new personnel.

The 10-man travel team has more than 30 boys trying to make the cut, Humphrey said.

"Weather has hurt practice, but the boys have been hitting "wiff" balls for three weeks in the gym, getting their swings down and hands toughened up," Humphrey said.

According to Humphrey, Hastings will again be the school to beat, with Alma, Charlotte, and Waverly right behind.

Last year, the Redwings finished with 13 wins and one tie. The junior varsity record was 9-0.

Brooks is familiar figure to Clinton area football fans

ALMA—Phillip L. Brooks, new head football coach at Alma College, should be no stranger to many Clinton County football fans.

Brooks, named to the post last week by Dr. Robert D. Swanson, Alma president, has been the football coach at East Lansing

High School for the past two seasons. He also coached the Lansing Gabriels team and Lansing Resurrection squads to Capital Circuit championships in 1965 and 1962.

Brooks was head coach at Corunna High School from 1960-62. He piloted the B team to two championships while completing a 13-1 record. Brooks' career coaching record of 66 wins, 22 losses and four ties. Last fall his East Lansing squad won the South Central championship with a 4-0-1 mark.

After graduation from Albion College in 1960, Brooks returned as a teacher and coach to Corunna High School where he had been a 13-letter winner and an all-state halfback for two years.

At Albion College an injury ended Brooks' football playing career in 1955, but he was an undergraduate football coach for the Britons for two years, organizing the scouting team and scouting games.

He was also in charge of the Albion intramural football program for two years and was a member of the varsity baseball squad for three years.

Brooks, who holds a bachelor's degree from Albion College and a master's degree from Oklahoma State University, has also studied at Michigan State University and the University of Northern Iowa.

He and his wife, the former Rose Staniola, have four children. They are Mike, 10, Julie, 7, Patty, 4 and Theresa, 3.

They currently reside at 2900 Crestwood Ave., East Lansing, but plan to move to Alma later this summer.

Harper to lead '71 Huskie squad

HOUGHTON — Tom Harper, former St. Johns prep grappler and current Northern Intercollegiate Conference 126-pound mat champ, will captain the Michigan Tech Huskies in the 1971-72 season.

He will share the duties as captain with teammate Tom Hamstreet of Grand Rapids.

The scrappy junior, voted the Most Determined Wrestler on the team by his teammates last season, proved the decision was no joke, as he went through the 1970-71 dual meet campaign without a loss and became the Huskies' first NIC wrestling champion. He also was the first grappler ever to represent Michigan Tech in the NCAA college-division wrestling championships. He lost his first NCAA bout 5-4 in overtime.

Harper is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Harper of Rt. 2, St. Johns.

Redwings ready for track drive

By BOB GAVIN
News Staff Writer

ST. JOHNS—This will be the strongest year yet for the Redwings track team.

According to Jeff Smith, track coach, 68 students turned out for practice this spring.

"It looks like we will be strong in the sprints as far as I can tell this early in the season," he said. "The number that came out for track is impressive, we have more students that participate in track than any other school in the conference."

Smith said that five teams have been predicted to win the conference championship this year. Charlotte is defending champion.

"It's a tough league, but we should do better than last year, we only placed sixth," he said.

"I'm impressed with the freshman group. This is the best I have ever had turn out," he said.

Smith listed a number of returning lettermen to watch this year — Tom Bentley, Junior, quarter mile; Rick Flegel, Senior, distance runner (holder of the two mile school record and second place runner in the State Finals last year); Dave Flermoen, Senior, sprinter, (second place in the State Finals last year); Gary Koenigsnecht, Junior, mile.

Dan McKenzie, currently out with a knee injury; Steve Mead, Senior, participates in a number of individual events; Dave Oatley, Senior, shotputter; Fred Root, Senior, mile; Lee Thurston, two mile; Dan Yurek, Junior, high jumper and Rick Hudson, quarter mile.

According to Smith, Bob Hunter, Dennis LeVeck, Jim Lewis and George Roesser should make a good showing this year.

Cash prizes of $50, $35 and $25 will be awarded to the top three winners by the McDonald Dairy Company, donor of the awards.

In addition to the cash award, a trophy will be presented to the first place winner's school.

Entry blanks and rules have been mailed to art instructors of Michigan schools for distribution to students interested in competing in the contest.

Official contest rules for the 1971 competition are available from the school art instructor.

The 1971 Saginaw Fair, "The Family Fun Affair," will open its 58th annual run Sept. 11-18.

Outdoor notes

LAINGSBURG—The Department of Natural Resources' salmon planting program for this spring, scaled up to about 7.5 million young fish, is scheduled to begin this week with coho releases in the Platte River and Lake Michigan waters off-shore from Point Betsie, Portage Lake Outlet, and North Big Sable Point.

Approximately 200,000 coho fingerlings will go into each of those 3 coastal areas this week as an experiment to try to maintain and increase the open-water catch of salmon while reducing the number of surplus fish returning to local streams.

Hopefully, when these salmon reach maturity in 1972, they will "home" back on the off-shore areas with concentrations that will provide improved open-water fishing between Ludington and Frankfort.

LAKE SUPERIOR: Sturgeon, Falls, and Dead rivers, LAKE MICHIGAN: Menominee, Platte, Manistee, Little Manistee, Big Sable, Muskegon, Grand, and St. Joseph rivers, LAKE HURON: Rogers City area and Thunder Bay, Au Sable, and Cass rivers.

The DNR's 1971 total for coho and chinook is up about 800,000 from last year, mostly reflecting substantially larger plantings scheduled for the Lake Huron area. One of the Department's major new moves there this spring will be to stock 250,000 coho and 200,000 chinook in the Cass River north of Flint.

Those releases will be made as an experiment to see if that stream can develop a successful salmon fishery for lower Lake Huron comparable to the one which the Grand, Kalamazoo, and St. Joseph rivers have produced for southern Lake Michigan.

The exact dates for this spring's salmon plantings in the Cass River will be publicly announced by the DNR at least 1 week before the releases are to be made.

The Cass River is strategically located to serve large numbers of fishermen. The young salmon to be introduced there will make their way through the Saginaw River into Saginaw Bay and open waters of Lake Huron where they will grow to adult size before returning upstream.

On the Lake Michigan front, the DNR will liberate about as many coho and chinook as last year, but it will make some major shifts in planting emphasis besides trying to raise angler returns in the 3 off-shore areas to be stocked this week.

Under another important change, an additional several hundred thousand coho will be redistributed from some of the lake's northern streams to southern Michigan's Muskegon, Grand, and St. Joseph rivers.

Previous smaller coho plantings in those 3 southern streams have produced good angler returns and DNR fisheries officials now believe it is time to step up releases there to make the most of the rivers' sportfishing potential.

Salmon plantings slated for Lake Superior waters this spring are essentially at last year's level with an increase in chinook releases programmed to offset a reduction in coho numbers.

LAKE HURON: Thunder Bay, Au Sable, and Tawas rivers.

Early April (Weather Permitting)

LAKE HURON: Cass River and waters of shore from Lakeport, Sanilac, and Port Hope.

Mid-April to Late April

LAKE MICHIGAN: Menominee, Big Cedar, Whitefish, and Manistee rivers plus Thompson Creek, LAKE SUPERIOR: Black, Presque Isle, Sturgeon, Falls, Dead, and Sucker rivers, LAKE HURON: Carp River and Rogers City area.

Cortes comes back to capture Fowler Bowl handicap tourney

FWLER—A 21-year-old East Lansing bowler has won the handicap prize money in the Fowler Bowl Tournament, Roger Hall, tourney director, announced Monday.

Ralph Cortes staged a last minute comeback to take the $750 first place prize money with a 639-pin actual score and a 706-pin handicap total.

Cortes, bowling on the next-to-last shift, needed a strike in the 10th frame to win the top prize. He struck out the frame, unseating the former leader Ronald Pumphrey of Lansing who came in second with a 692-pin score.

Three others tied for third place honors with a 688-pin score. They were Daniel Clark of Ovid, Eugene Root of DeWitt and David Licking of Jackson.

Clock took the $200 first place money with a 681-pin score in the actual competition.

Mike Cochrane of Lansing was second with 852 pins while Jerry Joseph was third with 650 pins. The high game honors for the tournament went to Gene Dunkel of St. Johns in the Men's Division with 252. Women's Division winner, Shirley Walters of Grand Ledge, recorded a 215-pingame.

Hall said the tournament attracted 878 bowlers, an all-time record.

He added that last year's winner, Richard West, finished eighth with 877, although at one time was within sight of the leaders, according to Hall.

Hall said that the checks would be mailed out once the averages have been certified.

St. Johns sixth graders experiment in poetry

The following poems, with the general theme Poems of Moods, were submitted to Les Schwartz, sixth grade instructor at Rodney B. Wilson Junior High School, as part of a reading class assignment. Schwartz in turn, submitted them to the Clinton County News.

The poems give a brief insight into the minds and hearts of some of the St. Johns young people.

NO TITLE

What is it like a day in the country?
It's quiet!
Animals live peaceful,
There's wide open spaces,
It makes you feel good to smell the fresh country air.
It's nice it really is.
--Davie Martis

SNOW

The snow was as a blemishless lamb,
It sparkled with the joy of a star.
I love the snow because of the love it brings,
And the way it fills the empty space.

The rain came one day and took the snow away,
All we had was mud and the empty space.
We were glad but now am sad,
Because the rain took away our snow.
--Phillip Brooke

THE FOREST

The Forest is pleasant and beautiful,
With flowers blooming and oak trees,
towering.
The forest has a stream,
That makes a little pond
The ducks all come here and even a swan.
The forest has animals like,
Squirrels, raccons, foxes, and deer,
I can see all this while I'm standing here.
--Dan Castle

THE BRIDGE

The bridge is tall
The bridge is long
It stands at a great fleet
To let the boats go beneath.
The bridge has roads,
The bridge has cables
It stands on a great cement stable.
--Fran VanEffen

HAIR

Hair is sorta nice stuff.
There are guys with hair as short as the bristles of a pig, and some as long as
And some probably longer than Lady Godiva's.
Some are so long that every time they go sky diving their hair gets tangled up in the props.
--Stanley Searles

CHARLIE THE BLOODHOUND

Your sort of life is dying out,
We can not use you any more,
Man has cleared away all the animals,
He has wrecked our ears with the loudish, zoomish sound of a diesel.
We no more can hear the sound of the buck rubbing his horns against a big whitish birch,
Or we can't hear the babbling brook
in our back yard,
Because of the sound of dynamite blowing
a mountain or something,
It's over Man and machine has destroyed
Your lighthearted spankly,
Spankly kind of life,
--Randy Bellant

Listen to the wind, as it goes running by the hill whispering,
"Fall is coming, fall is coming."
Then he turns to his trunk and gets out his fall colors and hangs them on the tree,
Then everything is bright because it's fall.
--John W. Halstead

APRIL CAMPING

April weather is just right,
It's the kind of weather to ride a bike.
Later that day we went on a hike,
We had everything except our kites.

We slept out in the woods that night,
The next day we went home and got our kites,
Then we went back out on our hike,
We flew our kites all day until it was night.

The next day we flew our kites again,
And they were the only ones in sight.
We flew them until it was time to quit,
Then we ate and went to bed for the night.
--Scott Amos

SPRINGTIME

What is it like in the morning in the country in the Spring?
You can smell the fresh country air,
You can hear the birds chirping and the frogs croaking.
It makes you good to smell the country air.
When you hear no cars.
It makes you feel good to smell the fresh country air.
The air that is not polluted from smoke stacks.
That is what it is like in the morning in the country in the Spring.
--Jim Low

SUMMER FUN

Summer is a fun season,
Swimming, sailing, fishing, camping, boating,
hiking, eating outdoors.
That's what makes summer fun.
--Lance Parmelee

THE BEAUTIFUL WOODS IN THE SPRING

The grass is growing,
The sun is shining brightly in the sky.
I have many, many pets in the woods.

The deer eat out of my hands and the Raccoons climb on my back.

The woods are beautiful in the Spring.
The rivers are running swiftly and softly.

"Yes" there's no place,
"Yes" no place like the woods
"In the Spring time."
--Jean Walton

THE BEAUTIFUL ONE

The beauty of that girl,
Short blonde hair and gleaming eyes,
She reminds me of one other of my brother's.

Her personality is like the sun,
Bright and warm so friendly one,
She is kind of shy like the sun,
Behind a cloud but when she is around friends she's like the midday sun.
She is so plain, no fancy things.
She's so funny, like a bunny.
--Tim Estes

SPRING

Skies are blue
'Cause it is Spring,
And all the birds
Chirp, whistle, and sing.
As I run in sheer delight
Waiting for day, to meet the night.
Then I sit upon the shore,
Getting sleepy, More and More.
But then I slide into my bed
With visions dancing through my head.
Soon I am off to sleep,
All these memories, to have and keep.
--Anita Dault

THE LOBSTER

If you find a lobster on the beach
Do as I say, stay out of his reach.
But don't say I didn't tell you so,
If you come home with one less toe.
--Melanie Escher

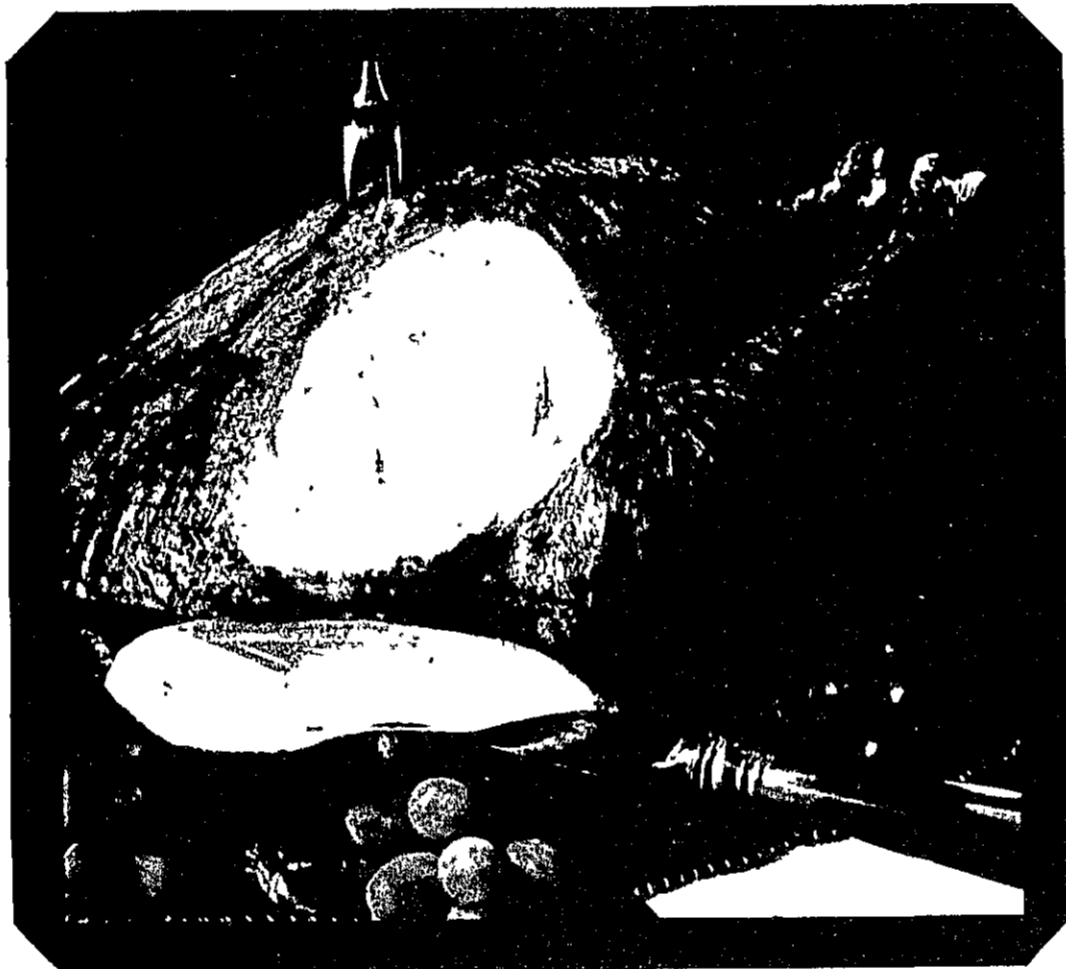

SPRING IS NOT HERE

Spring is coming,
The snow is melting,
Flowers are coming up,
But where is the sun?
Maybe Spring is not yet to come.
School is about to let out
Ane we're all waiting for the sun,
But there will be no sun for it is Starting to snow again.
--Jeff Paradise

SPRING

Spring is the time of year to do your spring cleaning and watch baseball. Spring is the time to get out your bikes.
—Stanley Searles

FIRE

Fire is what people are afraid of. When a house is a fire people run skittle-skattle. Like ants when an ant hill is on fire.
—Stanley Searles

WINTER

Winter is such a fun time. Winter is the time to think-eking, Snowmobiles, icefishing. It's time to think clean fresh air, Snowmen, snowforts, snowhall, Snowmounds.
—Stanley Searles

"LOVE"

Love comes as birth does Knowing its own time,

"TIME"

Time is like a dime Not lasting too long.

NO TITLE

The gallant horse so swift with every move Acts like a bird when he flies over the fence He prances so gayly with people daily Thinking he would get more food.

Frightened with fear from fire on his ear He ran all over the barn. The animals thought he was a clown With a great big frown.

Playing around with a clown He saw a girl The clown couldn't control him, And he went for a whirl.
—Julie Tait

SPRING

Winter has gone, Spring is coming. The birds are flying north. Ice is melting into water. The trees are turning green. There's a lot of sunshine.

Grass is growing. Ponds are melting. Flowers are blooming. Birds are making nests. Our street is full of mud.

It is windy outdoors. It is a warm temperature. At night it is cool. It gets hotter every day. Summer is here, hurray!
—Ward Rand

The leaves fall all day long With stories telling of a song. The days go by freely and gay, With dancing leaves all night and day.

And the winter winds blowing around And the birds singing with a sound. Soon it snows and covers the trees And with the gleaming freezing lakes Now the wintry winds are heard With the trees and flowers smuggled in their beds.
—Robin Delo

WHAT HAPPENED TO FALL?

It's fall and leaves turn golden red. Flowers beauty is all dying. The snow is falling to make the ground white. The ground is turning dull color to very bright.

Why did it have to snow, it was so colorful, But I guess that's the way God made it to be. I can not see why it had to be this way— From a beautiful fall to a cold winter night.
—Jerry Bashore

SMOKING

Smoking, No, I'm not joking, Because if you start smoking, Then you'll start poking, poking, poking, Yourself with a needle. You should have listened to myren, Because now all you hear is a siren.
—Bill Estes

IN THE CITY

In the city there's so much noise, Trains are blowing their whistles, Cars are honking, sirens screeching. What about the pollution?

The trash laying all around The smoke from the smokestacks, And smudge from mufflers What about that - do you want children to play in THAT?
—Theresa Schneider

COUNTRY MOOD

Smell, sniff that fresh air, It's not smelly, smoggy and dirty. Wake up early in the morning in the winter. In the country the snow is fresh, clean and white, not black. Fresh air, not smoggy and dirty. I love the country. Fresh clean air, air, air, air, air, air, air.
—Stanley Searles

CITY MOOD

Noises, screeching, and babies bawling and the yelling of kids. Cars, trucks, all adding to the noise and pollution. Screeches of sirens and smells, really horrible smells. Where did all that fresh clean air go to. Isn't there a place at all where you get away from all that? Isn't there?
—Stanley Searles

THE SEA

You hear a crispy, crackle as waves hit rocks, Seagulls, squawking up in the clear bluish sky. Little kids frolicking around in the water. A boy with wondrous ideas, walking along the deep soft sand. Dune buggies go whizzing by, Happy little families jump into their boats And go boating through the wide and wondrous sea. The sea is the most beautiful place in the world to me.
—Randy Bellant

"LOVE"

Love is like a dove flying Gracefully in the sky. If there was no love, There would be hate, Then our Lord God would Close the gate.
—Kurt Hettler

SHE WAS ALL THAT I LOVED

She was all that I could Love, She was all that I cared for And she was all that she could be.

Her hair was like silk, And her skin was like a baby's skin, And her eyes are like stars in the sky, And her lips were like cherries.

Without her I would die with a broken heart, And I would die and live in a different world.
—Michael Bancroft

SPRING IS COMING

Spring is here, Spring is there, Spring is everywhere.

Spring is on its way, Over the trees fly the Jays, They are so happy and gay.

The sun is shining bright, As the children fly their kites, In the warm Spring light.

Yes, Spring is here, Spring is there, Spring is EVERYWHERE!

America's conscience

America's conscience is being heard in the response to the verdict of Lt. Calley. And, it's about time.

The fact that we haven't treated the Vietnam conflict as a war has had ill effects particularly on the home front.

Veterans of previous wars, and in particular, World War II, find it impossible to believe much that has taken place since the My Lai incident brought about the arrest of Lt. Calley. And all combat veterans--of all wars--must share a guilt in the sentencing of this young lieutenant.

We cannot place our young men in this position. They weren't subjected to such court martial moves when thousands of civilians were killed with the dropping of the first atomic bombs, nor were there cries of having to stand trial for many other combat missions where we knew civilians, as well as the military opposition, would be hurt or killed.

Another aspect which should come to light now and some positive community action taken is in the reception of our returning servicemen.

Has their service to our country been any less than in previous wars? Certainly not. They serve, some are injured, and they return home upon completion of their tour of duty. But we, as a community, haven't taken the time to say "thanks" let alone extend words of welcome back.

Let's get with it.

DeWitt accepted by NCA

The DeWitt Middle School was accepted into the highly selective North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools Wednesday, capping months of exhaustive self-evaluation by school and NCA committees.

It is a major coup for Supt. James Ritchie, Jack Enderle, school principal, curriculum committees, teachers and students. The school is only one of six junior high schools in Michigan to be accepted into the association, which judges admissions on academic superiority.

Middle school administrators, who attended the national conferences of the NCA in Chicago's Palmer-House March 28-31, said the formal applications were approved by the state committee and presented to the national group for consideration.

Enderle said the success of the school's application was due to an effort of all school personnel.

The NCA ranking will contribute to the status of the school and help maintain a constant review of school curriculum.

"It helps us to establish an orderly procedure for priorities and establishing programs," Enderle said.

We would like to join parents and DeWitt residents in congratulating the school administrators on their success in this educational endeavor.

A formal report on the NCA activities and current school evaluation will be made at a school board session in DeWitt's Griswold administration building April 12 at 7:30 p.m. for those interested in the middle school program.

Tell them you know

There are so many people, particularly in smaller communities, who are continually doing unselfish tasks for the betterment of mankind, and so often they go unnoticed and quite frankly, unappreciated.

We take these kind-hearted, interested persons for granted because they are not seeking praise, nor do they wish to be remembered for the number of deeds they may have performed.

We can all pick out people in our community who know of no other way of life than being helpful. And how can you place a true value on their services? It's almost impossible, but we're sure the best payment that could be offered would be an occasional acknowledgement of appreciation.

It proves an embarrassment to these people to call public attention to their value to a community. But we think they should be told how much their dedicated work is appreciated. We believe that inside, their hearts will be warmed by your comments.

Let's not always take the civic worker for granted.

Justice vs. emotion

By TIM YOUNKMAN

It was quite a week for the Army.

Highest on the priority list of Army news items had to be the Calley murder trial at Fort Benning, Ga.

The response on the part of the American citizenry was overwhelming, as I'm sure President Nixon would agree. Reports estimate that telegrams and letters pouring into the White House are more than 100-1 in favor of Calley and against the military court's decision.

The age-old problem of emotionalism vs. justice and law cropped up in the most complex military scandal since World War II.

"Ralley for Calley" festivities, to raise money for the young lieutenant's appeal costs, highlighted the past nights in many communities across the nation.

Pleas for Presidential clemency pour in from state legislatures and private citizens. Indeed, Calley was released from prison to be confined to quarters until the appeals and judicial reviews are completed.

Many of the so-called "pro-Calley" arguments, as his defense maintained, claimed that the lieutenant was following orders at My Lai and simply carried them out. It's a fact that the military code does not allow a subordinate the privilege of questioning orders from a commanding officer. If questions arise, they can be put forth after the order is carried out.

TO MANY PEOPLE, it seems inconceivable that the Army would train a man to kill without emotion, like a machine, and then turn around and prosecute him for killing. After all, we are at war--and people are killed in war. The dead at My Lai were Vietnamese--and all were considered suspect as Viet Cong sympathizers.

It was a unique side point, that many pro-war groups and anti-war groups joined together to protest the military court's decision.

But questions remain. Questions that will affect every soldier or sailor in the U.S. ranks.

One big question centers around the claim that orders are to be carried out and not questioned. Almost any soldier would tell you that orders are orders and that's that. You just carry the orders out and worry about everything else later.

What about those soldiers who refused to fire at My Lai. Are they to be considered traitors? What about Bravo Company personnel who refused to move down a road, near Laos, into a certain ambush to retrieve a worthless hulk of an armored car? Are they traitors?

Another question about orders deals with the moral problems involved. If all orders are to be carried out, we can think of a very serious lapse in our security system.

If a general or group of generals decided to take over the country, no matter how insane that idea might be, all they would have to do to rid themselves of their commanders - in chief - would be to order assassinations.

Would a soldier be bound to follow orders if they included killing those in office? I'm sure that there would be civil war, with most of the troops deciding for themselves that they won't follow the orders of their immediate superiors.

I take issue with the defense Calley employed to clear himself. With a little bit of reasoning, most people will realize that basing his defense on the fact he was only following orders, created the atmosphere for the guilty verdict.

ONLY 25 YEARS ago, the Americans and other allies, sat in judgment on hundreds of German "Lt. Calleys" for war crimes--mostly in connection with mass killings of Jewish civilians. They claimed to have been following orders when they herded these people into the gas chambers and turned on the lethal fumes. We maintained that they had a moral obligation to disobey those orders.

But, with the shoe on the other foot, the feelings run in reverse.

What about the so-called civilians? If, indeed, these people were civilians, then did the Army have the right to execute them? If, on the other hand, these people were the enemy (women and children included), is the Army justified in executing prisoners-of-war on the spot?

That could have serious ramifications for our own POW's in North Vietnam.

We should not allow the Army or this administration to place the guilt of the Vietnam War on the shoulders of one man. We are all guilty of not stopping that insane conflict before it started. Nor can we allow our emotionalism to trample justice.

After all, we've been telling the youth during the past few years, that they must depend on the laws and the system to maintain order--and achieve change through legal channels.

It appears, now, that justice and legality and the system are desirable concepts only when you agree with their effects.

The Calley court martial emphasizes exactly how far we have allowed our system of living to deteriorate.

It was an airplane

By JIM FITZGERALD

Michael Helzer reminds me that about 35 years ago I built the most beautiful airplane in the world simply by digging a hole.

If you have any culture, you know who Helzer is. He's the artist who recently created an earth sculpture on the lawn of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

He did it by directing traffic for two giant bulldozers as they dragged a 35-ton block of granite through the grass and dirt.

Helzer ended up with a magnificent pile of earth covering half the blue-gray granite. In front, there is a beautiful sea of mud.

A lot of unsophisticated slob can't see the beauty in Helzer's pile of dirt. They think it looks like a gas pipe exploded under a sidewalk. They say Helzer is some kind of a nut who is insulting their intelligence.

I had the same sort of trouble with my airplane.

This was in the days of the open cockpit when the pilot's head stuck out of the plane. He was a glamorous figure.

He wore goggles and a leather helmet that buttoned under his chin. Also a white scarf that blew behind him like a kite tail.

Remember Jimmie Allen on the radio for Hi-Speed gasoline?

Or remember Jimmy Cagney in such movies as Ceiling Zero?

Cagney would always knock out Spencer Tracy and stuff him in a locker and then take Tracy's place in the cockpit and fly the mail through the worst blizzard in the history of the world. But Cagney wouldn't quite make it because Tracy was incapacitated and unable to stick his chewing gum on the plane's wing for good luck.

YOU GET THE picture. Any nine-year-old kid would want to be a pilot. So I used to put on my goggles and scarf and squat in a neck-high hole in the backyard.

That was my cockpit. A couple of boards on either side were the wings. A stick in the ground was the propeller, spinning so fast you actually couldn't see it move.

Another stick, this one stuck in the cockpit floor, gave me control of this magnificent machine.

I would stick a huge wad of chewing gum on a wing, not too near an ant hill because I planned to return to chew it again. I'd climb aboard, holler CONTACT, and then take off in a great roar which I produced by closing my mouth as tight as possible and then trying to blow it open.

Well, there were a lot of unsophisticated slob in my neighborhood, mostly my big sister and her stupid friends. They laughed and hollered at the dumb little kid in goggles, peeking out of the hole and making strange noises.

That's the same sort of rude treatment artist Helzer is receiving today. And he is handling it with class. He refuses to explain his pile. He says it must speak for itself. That's it; don't bug him. In fact, he flew off to New York as soon as his pile was done.

BOY, I WISH I'd had that kind of class 35 years ago.

I told my sister and her stupid friends the truth--that my hole was an airplane and I was flying a rare sorem from Port Huron to Smith's Creek to save an infant's life. Which made them laugh all the harder.

They couldn't see the airplane at all. They didn't care if that baby died.

So I got mad and there was the usual fight with the usual result--I lost.

I should have reacted like Helzer. I should have coolly ignored my critics and simply flown off into the sunset.

I could always have landed on the lawn of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Lonesome lines

By WARREN E. DOBSON

Day by day we live and wonder How the other fellow lives, Does he face the self-same pressures? Will he tell us just what gives? As the evidence we gather, We're convinced it must be true, 'Mongst the ones who live about us, Other folks are lonesome too!

Young or old and rich or humble Human interest is much the same, Everyone seeks consolation, Feels existence oft too tame; Are you ailing or a stranger? Are there those you can talk to? Each new day lived we discover Other folks are lonesome too!

If you're young active and healthy You seek still someone to share, Should you meet with real reverses There must be someone to care; When you're far from home and kinfolk And no message has come through, Comes an anxious hour of longing-- Other folks are lonesome too!

No one answer solves all problems-- No one holds all master keys, But there is a kind of logic-- That will scarcely fail to please; Should you wish a guide to action, You will find occasions few When you cannot know for certain Other folks are lonesome too!

Letters to the Editor

Calley received a fair trial

Dear Editor, I think it to be ridiculous that the Calley court-martial has raised such a furor among the veterans' groups and conservative Americans.

These noble veterans have sat in judgment of many men seeking CO status only to refuse them. Most young Americans have entered the military and many have given their lives because it was the law of the land.

Fair share plan

By REP. DICK ALLEN

Property tax - again.

A statewide campaign is being conducted to put State Rep. Roy Smith's "Fair Share Plan" on the ballot. This does not eliminate property tax but goes about as far as anyone is willing to suggest.

It would completely replace property taxes for school operation. While in many areas this would be major relief, keep in mind we would still have property taxes for school construction and local government.

Assuming the replacement money would come from income taxes, where would these go? The first draft of the Governor's proposed '71-'72 budget puts income tax at 3.6 per cent personal, 7.8 per cent corporate and 10 per cent on financial institutions.

Present school operating millage raises about one billion dollars in Michigan. Other factors remain steady; simple arithmetic would indicate operating millage could be replaced by an income tax of about 8.4 per cent personal, 18.2 per cent corporate, and 23 per cent financial institutions.

TWO PROBLEMS in that "other factors remaining steady." Currently many "wealthy" school districts are spending more than twice the amount per pupil of that spent by "poorer" districts.

Or is it more likely that we would move the "poor" districts up to the higher level? Answer that question for yourself and plug any increase into the income tax level.

Another critical question. Can we really increase corporate and financial institution rates to this degree without further loss of jobs in Michigan? Everyone now recognizes that industry taxes are for the most part passed on to consumers, but there is a point where it gets difficult to get new industry to locate in Michigan.

Some have suggested to solve this problem and also avoid the extreme fluctuations we experience in corporate income tax, we should squarely face the tax increase in the form of personal income taxes.

FACTORS REMAINING steady," this could be done at about the 10 or 11 per cent level (if local governments did not share in the increase as they now share in the income tax).

So some recommend changing our Constitution to allow a graduated State income tax. This has been emphatically turned down by voters on two recent occasions, and one might say at this point, "this is where I came in."

And then an over-gidding problem in many people's minds. It

Washington Reports

Senate and House action

Rep. U.S. Garry Brown 3rd. Congressional Dist.

Following is a summary of the major activity in the House and Senate last week, and a schedule of expected action this week.

18-YEAR-OLD VOTE: By a vote of 400-19, the House passed a proposed amendment to the U.S. Constitution which would extend the vote to citizens 18 years old or older in State and local elections.

I supported this measure. In order for the proposed 26th Amendment to the Constitution to ratify, three quarters of the state legislatures must now approve it.

RURAL TELEPHONE BANK: By a vote of 269-127, the House passed H.R. 7 to provide an additional source of financing for the rural telephone program.

I did not support this measure. While I favor improvement of our rural telephone systems, I cannot, in good conscience, support a careless, wasteful use of limited tax dollars just because the end is worthwhile.

In this regard, I believe that the sponsors of such legislation have an obligation to put forward proposals that clearly establish the need and a sound fiscal way in which the taxpayer can through the Federal government finance the meeting of that need.

In my judgment, this particular proposal failed on both counts. By voting against, I sought to join with enough of my colleagues to force the Congress to consider a more responsible approach to achieving a worthwhile end.

PRESIDENTIAL MESSAGES: The House received two messages from the President. The first proposed bringing together within a single agency a number of voluntary action programs including VISTA.

The second was the President's comprehensive reorganization plan for the Executive branch which would see 12 existing cabinet level departments consolidated into eight.

Both plans were referred to the Government Operations Committee to which I have just been appointed.

Major action in the Senate last week:

SST VOTE: By a vote of 51-46, the Senate joined the House in deciding that further Federal funding of the SST should be discontinued at this time.

Anticipated action in the House this week:

Probably of most interest will be the consideration of military service act amendments relating to the extension of the draft and efforts to establish an all-volun-

Editor, I have been asked several times to attend meetings of Citizens for Better Government. "Go to the meetings and listen to both sides," is a statement I've heard from members of this group.

I felt I was a well informed citizen of Bath Township but perhaps these people do have something I should hear. With an election coming up on April 17 for two very important issues, maybe I have missed something I should know. On March 24, 1971, myself and two friends of mine, who are also residents of Bath Township, attended such a meeting at the home of our Clinton County Zoning Administrator, William Coffey, on Cutler Rd. in Bath Township.

We were then asked what our business with them was. We told them we would like to hear their views on the township and the zoning ordinance. We were asked

If we would like to join this organization. Our reply was "no." We would like to have at least heard one meeting before being asked to join.

I don't join anything unless I know what I'm joining. We were told that their views had been made public and that this was a "hush hush" meeting about the election.

We were asked to leave. We did so promptly. We were followed out by three men, who stood at the garage watching us leave. We are grown men not juvenile delinquents. We resent the idea that they felt it was necessary to watch us leave.

I attended this meeting in good faith to actually learn what they meant by better government.

I am for good government, but somehow I can only feel that this group is just trying to separate and divide our township and undermine our government.

Please tell me, "Citizens For Better Government," what is "BETTER GOVERNMENT?" Is it total confusion? False statements?

A fight between two sides? Or is it "HUSH HUSH" meetings?

View from the 30th

Welfare scandal

By SEN. WILLIAM S. BALLENGER

As I'm sure everyone in the 30th Senatorial District by this time knows, Gov. William G. Milliken has recommended that the so-called "age of majority" be lowered from 21 to 18 years of age.

This would mean that 18-year-olds could make a contract, such as for the purchase of a home or a car.

It would mean that they could make wills. Now an 18-year-old may marry but he cannot bequeath his property to his wife.

It would mean that an 18-year-old could inherit money without having a guardian sign for him.

It would mean that an 18-year-old would be permitted to vote in Michigan elections as well as in federal elections.

And it would also mean—and here is the provision that is expected to cause the most heated controversy—that 18-year-olds could legally purchase and publicly consume liquor.

THE ISSUE OF liquor for 18-year-olds is almost certain to run into extremely strong opposition from church groups and others who feel strongly that there should be some restraints on youngsters for their own protection.

The 18-year-olds say: "If we are old enough to die for our country in war, we are old enough to enjoy the benefits."

Turning to another but very familiar subject—welfare—I wonder how many people in the mid-Michigan area have read the story about the Detroit mother of half a dozen children who has drawn almost $4,000 in welfare assistance from the city and state while her estranged husband and basketball star son drive pink and gold Cadillacs.

This little fable tells us a lot about why Michigan taxpayers are having to pay so heavily for welfare costs these days.

When a prominent former Michigan State University basketball star last year signed a million-dollar contract with a western professional basketball team, he said he did it so his mother could have a home and his brothers and sisters could have food and clothing.

BUT THE MOTHER told welfare officials that her estranged husband got half of the son's $20,000 bonus for signing and purchased a gold Cadillac with it. The son picked out a pink Cadillac.

A week after the basketball star signed his professional contract, the mother was given the first of 11 weekly emergency food orders from Detroit.

When she began drawing $416 a month from Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) funds for herself and six children, the emergency food orders stopped.

Since that time, the mother has drawn $3,386 in welfare assistance.

Meanwhile, the father—as part of his son's contract—is on the payroll of the professional team as a scout.

The son says his contract was drawn up so most of the million dollars he's to earn will be spread out over many years, and he says he doesn't have enough money to help his mother and brothers and sisters.

With the federal government dominating welfare rules, there apparently isn't anything the state can do but continue to provide the mother with funds for herself and her children—at least until such time as the U.S. Congress acts on President Nixon's Welfare Reform proposal or else comes up with a suitable alternative of its own.

Change the law

Rep. Douglas Trezise
87th District

When, a few weeks ago, the Michigan State Police, acting on a complaint, closed a Bingo party in Shiawassee County, I felt it was not something to get very excited about.

But, in talking with people throughout the district since then, I have learned the problem is not just one of small local interest. Rather, there is considerable concern throughout the district over this matter as is shown by letters I have received and by callers at both the St. Johns and Owosso offices.

First, it should be stressed that all lotteries are illegal in Michigan. Article IV, Section 21 of the State Constitution reads, "The legislature shall not authorize any lottery nor permit the sale of lottery tickets." In past years, the courts have ruled that "Bingo" and similar games are lotteries under this clause.

Paradoxically, the courts have also ruled that horse racing and associated pari-mutuel betting is not a lottery and is not unconstitutional.

But, since Bingo is against the law, I cannot be a party to ignoring that law by taking a position against its enforcement. This is the very thing we criticize other people for — that is, choosing which laws we want to obey and violating at will those with which we disagree. The proper approach has to be to change the law.

To this end, several of us here in the House of Representatives are seeking to have a proposal placed on the ballot for a vote of the people of Michigan to amend the Constitution and remove its restriction against this type of activity. The proposal is being drafted at this time and should be introduced within the next few weeks.

IN ADDITION, on the chance that the courts might reconsider its earlier interpretations, we are preparing legislation which would provide for the licensing of Bingo parties under certain conditions. This bill will allow service clubs, churches, fraternal organizations, etc., to be licensed and obtain permits to operate such games when the proceeds from the games are used for charitable or public service projects.

Many of us are aware that besides providing entertainment for many people, Bingo games have raised a considerable amount of money to support these activities.

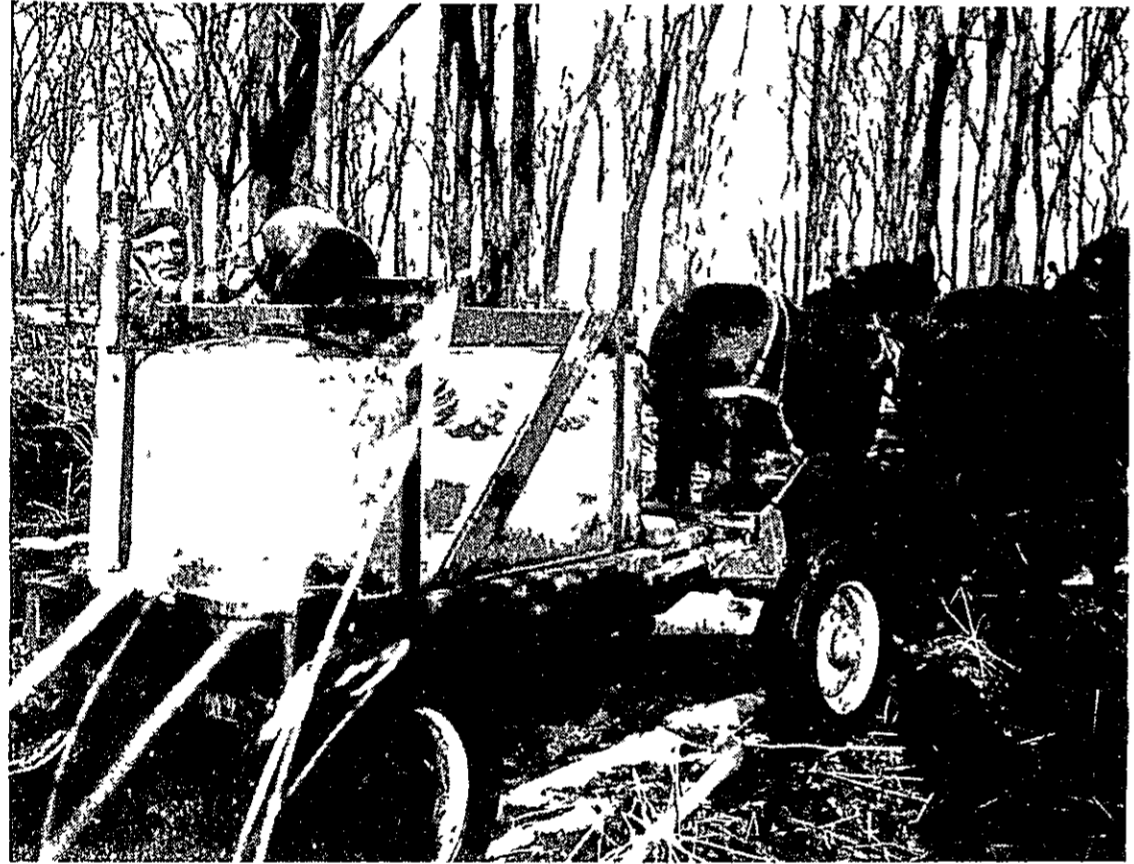

What can you do to help?

To make any progress in the legislature will require support from all over the state. If you are interested in seeing some action this year on these proposals, you should contact your friends in all areas of the State who are equally interested and ask them to get in touch with their legislators.

I will keep you informed of the progress of this legislation. But, it will take a concerted state-wide effort if we are going to have any success.

TIP TO MOTORISTS

The nation's motorists, who care to continue driving, should continue driving with care.

MAPLE SYRUP

It's maple syrup time again on the Alden Livingston farm in Greenbush Township. A team of horses are used to gather the sap produced by the maple trees. They are more efficient as they move ahead by themselves on command of the operator and a team does not cause root damage to root systems of maple trees grown on the Cohoctah silt loam soil type.
