Car pulling from gas station hit by another

Police said Lewis W. Castner, 81, of Krepps Road, rural St. Johns, failed to yield the right-of-way when pulling out of the Harris Oil Co. service station on East State Street last Thursday afternoon, and his car was struck in the rear by another when he got onto the street. The other auto was driven by Charles H. Grumbly, 52, of Owosso. Both cars were going west on State. Neither driver was hurt. Castner was ticketed.

Passenger hurt as car overturns

James Smalley, 18, of Walker Street, St. Johns, suffered bruises in a one-car accident about 8:15 p.m. last Wednesday on Forest Hill Road southeast of Maple Rapids.

He was a passenger in a car driven by Johnny Villarreal, 21, of 630 W. Gibbs, St. Johns. Villarreal told deputy sheriffs a deer ran in front of his car. When he braked to avoid the animal, the car skidded, turned around and then overturned on the west side of the road.

Villarreal was unhurt, as were two other passengers, Ken Crowell, 19, of French Road, and Robert LaChappell, 18, of 803 N. Mead Street.

Fined $50, jailed

Gary K. Shauver, 21, of Perry, was fined $50 plus $24.90 costs and sentenced to 10 days in the county jail by Justice of the Peace Gordon Willyoung last Wednesday for contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Supervisors turn down Olive trailer park plan

Vote 17-5 to reject recommendation

The board of supervisors Tuesday rejected a recommendation of the zoning commission to allow a trailer park at Alward Lake. The supervisors voted 17-5 to reject following an orderly, quiet hour-long discussion.

Over 75 persons packed the new supervisors' room to participate and hear the decision. While the action by the board was final, James Moore, attorney for Mr and Mrs Ray DeYoung, the petitioners, said the DeYongs are "contemplating" further legal action.

The DeYongs sought permission to develop a trailer park of between 100 and 150 trailers to start on property on the north and east sides of Alward Lake.

The zoning board on March 3 approved the permit, and recommended final approval by the county board of supervisors. The proposed park did not require rezoning it would be in agriculturally-zoned area.

VOTING AGAINST a motion by Raymond Mayers of Bengal Township to reject the recommendation were: Gerald Shepard of Bath, Oliver Angell of DeWitt Township, Derrill Shinabery of Greenbush, Don Clark of St. Johns and William Buck of DeWitt City. Their vote was to approve the permit.

Voting for the rejection were Mayers, Maurice Gove of Bingham, William Hufnagel of Dallas, George Moore of Duplain, Russell Howe of Eagle, John Setterington of Essex, Walter Nobis of Lebanon, Almond Crossman of Olive, George Austin of Ovid, Willard Krebel of Riley, Claude Underhill of Victor, Ernest Charlen of Wauertown, Walter Thelen of Westphalia, Harold Reed, Charles Colletta and Lorenz Tiedt of St. Johns, and Raymond Price of DeWitt city.

THE ROLL CALL vote was taken after an hour of peaceable discussion. Both Mr and Mrs DeYoung and their attorney, Moore, spoke on behalf of the trailer park; about half a dozen members out of the audience of 75 or more people spoke in opposition.

DeYoung started by pointing out the location and assuring the supervisors that, although he didn't yet know how elaborate a trailer park this proposal would be, it would be run to meet all the specifications the zoning commission had demanded and that it would be a good trailer park.

HE SAID THE site was inspected by the drain commissioner who found the drainage adequate. He said a sewage lagoon was planned just northwest of the lake in the area to be developed first. Streets would be 35 feet wide, he said, and space would be provided for two cars per trailer. Each trailer would have an average of 5,000 square feet of space, well above the state requirement.

John O'Brien, a Lansing attorney representing a number of citizens of Olive Township, said there were several questions the people would like answered. He said since the trailer park was being proposed in a spot remote from the population center of the township, roads would be a big problem.

HE NOTED Pratt Road, which would service one of the entrances to the trailer park, has two sharp curves in it between the site and US-27, as well as two narrow bridges and some low places that were under water periodically. He said it would mean the county would have to build a new road, and he inquired as to how the cost of the improvements could be met.

DeYoung commented that "Granted, this is a bad road," but he said the water problem was solved and no one would be bringing a trailer into the park over such roads, anyway. Neil Harle, a township trustee, said the people weren't worried about the trailers being moved over the road, but rather were worried about the every-day traffic of the residents of the 150 trailers.

"THIS WOULD necessitate a millage increase in the township for road improvements," he said, and noted that township funds were tied up for a couple of years with improvements on Krepps Road.

"With 500 trailers, that means 1,500 people," he said. "There were 1,410 people in Olive Township. See SUPERVISORS, Page 16-A"

2 other rezonings approved

The board of supervisors approved two applications for rezoning Tuesday afternoon, one in DeWitt Township and one in Bingham.

In DeWitt, a parcel of land on the northeast corner of State and Williams Roads was rezoned from B residential to D agriculture and permission granted for a "King Arthur's Court" trailer park.

THE REZONING was approved with no opposition, and a roll-call vote was unanimous.

Likewise there was no opposition for the rezoning of 10 acres of land at the northwest corner of M-21 and DeWitt Road west of St. Johns from D agricultural to G industrial. Morlarty Pole Buildings plans to erect an assembly and sales plant at the site. The industrial rezoning was requested by Mr and Mrs Bernard Miller, owners of the land.

Number of farms in county drop 209 between '59, '64

A total of 2,076 farms was counted in Clinton County during the 1964 Census of Agriculture, the US Department of Commerce's Bureau of the Census reports.

In the last previous Census of Agriculture (1959), the total counted in the county was 2,285 farms.

The 1964 total is published in a preliminary report on the county just issued. The report also shows that average farm size in the county was 149.1 acres and that the average value of the county's farms (land and buildings) in 1964 was $39,190.

OTHER IMPORTANT county statistics in the report are:

1) Value of all farm products sold by farms in the county in 1964, $19,258,718; in 1959, $14,328,084.

2) Value of all crops sold by county farms in 1964, $7,635,283; in 1959, $5,232,637.

3) Value of all livestock and livestock products sold by county farms in 1964, $11,613,484; in 1959, $9,095,247.

INFORMATION obtained for the first time in an agricultural census included the amount of income received by the county's farmers ($9,951) from recreational services as well as data on the use of pest control chemicals in the county in 1964.

A census of agricultural is taken every five years in years ending in "4" and "9" to gather information on the nation's agricultural resources and production. The data are needed to make decisions affecting many segments of the US economy. The 1964 farm census was the 18th in a series that began in 1840.

The preliminary report for the county contains more than 500 facts about agriculture in the county. Among additional facts it contains are the number of farms by size, type and economic class; the number of farm operators by method of tenure, age, color, off-farm work, and number of school years completed; land in farms by use and by land-use practices; data on equipment and facilities, farm expenditures; number of hired workers; and number of farms reporting poultry and livestock production and those reporting crop production by acres and quantities as well as sales.

Allen, seeking reelection from 88th district, already has competition

State Rep. Lester J. Allen, Republican of Ithaca, announced Tuesday he will seek reelection from the 88th District. The district is comprised of Gratiot County and portions of Eaton, Clinton and Midland counties, extending from Grand Ledge in Eaton County through 10 townships in Clinton County to Coleman in Midland County.

Allen was elected to the House of Representatives in 1956 and to each succeeding session. He has been appointed a member of the House committee on agriculture, private corporations, roads and bridges and supplies and expenditures.

REP. ALLEN is a farmer, and resides on R-1, Ithaca, with his wife, Erma. He has a son, Dr. Richard Allen of Ithaca and two daughters, Mrs. Margaret Garver of Haslett, and Mrs. Nancy Collins of Chicago.

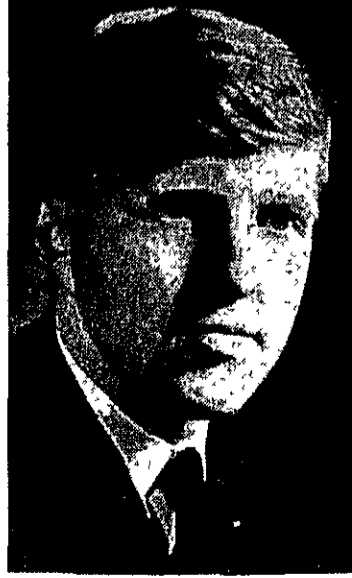

Allen is a veteran of World War I, a member of the Farm Bureau, Grange, Rotary Club and Elks Lodge. He is a vigorous supporter of farm interests, as well as education, and has worked for some time to establish an equitable tax structure in Michigan.

This year, Rep. Allen was one of three persons in the state to receive the Michigan State University distinguished service award for his contribution to agriculture. The Michigan Agricultural Conference has also honored him by awarding one of its two annual awards to Allen for outstanding service in the field of agriculture.

Thell M. Woods, young Alma land developer and real estate man, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for state representative from the 88th district.

Woods will oppose incumbent Lester Allen of Ithaca, who also announced this week he is seeking reelection. The 88th district includes all of Gratiot County, 10 Clinton townships and parts of Eaton County.

WOODS ALSO announced his resignation, effective May 10, from the Gratiot County Republican county chairmanship, a position he has held since 1964.

After graduating from Alma High School, Woods attended Alma College, where political science, both theoretical and practical, was one of his major interests. While there Woods founded the Alma College Republican Club which still remains active, today. Working towards his Master's degree in the Interna-

Fowler, St. Johns bank merger ok'd by shareholders

If the US comptroller of the currency approves, the Fowler State Bank of Fowler will merge into the Clinton National Bank & Trust Co. of St. Johns and Elsie at the close of business on Saturday, April 30.

Stockholders of the two banks voted overwhelming approval of the proposed merger agreement at separate meetings in St. Johns and Fowler Monday evening.

THE BANK resulting from the merger would have resources in excess of $27 million and would rank among the larger rural banks in Michigan. Larger loan limits and increased services for customers of both banks would result from the merger, says W. S. Lusk of DeWitt, president of Clinton National.

At the Fowler State Bank the vote of shareholders was unanimously in favor of the merger. A total of 1,984 of the bank's 2,000 shares were represented in person or by proxy.

AT ST. JOHNS shareholders approved the merger by a vote of 23,269 Yes to 50 No. Ninety-one per cent of Clinton National's 25,400 shares were represented in person or by proxy. A two-thirds majority of the stock ownership of the two banks was required for approval of the merger agreement.

If the merger is approved by Federal authorities, the present Fowler bank will become the Fowler office of Clinton National. No change in personnel there is contemplated.

ROMAN P. THELEN, president of the Fowler institution, would become a vice president of Clinton National. Fred H. Tiedt, cashier at Fowler, would be an assistant vice president and Charles Halfmann would continue as assistant cashier at the Fowler office. Thelen and Tiedt would become directors of Clinton National along with Dr. Bruno Cook of Westphalia and Charles Mathews of Fowler, present directors at Fowler State Bank.

Named as honorary directors of the merged bank would be John A. Kramer and James H. Whitaker Sr., both incumbent directors of the Fowler bank. W. M. Luecht of St. Johns, another director of the Fowler bank, would continue as an honorary Clinton National director.

ACCORDING TO the terms of the merger agreement approved by the shareholders, Fowler stockholders would receive four shares of Clinton National stock for each of their Fowler State Bank shares. The merger of the two banks would increase the number of Clinton National joint and individual stockholders to more than 400.

After Monday night's vote of the shareholders, Federal approval of the merger is regarded as probable, say bank officials. Application for the merger has been in the hands of regulatory authorities for more than two months and there has been no indication from them that they are in disagreement with the proposal.

celved by the board for five new sheriff's department cars, but the choice of the cars was not made. The matter was turned over to the building and grounds committee for their later recommendations.

The low bid was from Hettler Motor Sales for Plymouth Fury pursuit cars for a net (after trade) cost of $5,896.26 for all five cars. Other net bids were: Cowan Mercury, $6,635.75; Bee's Chevrolet-Olds, $7,135.85; Bill Buck Chevrolet, $6,975; and Egan Ford Sales, $6,380.

Strategy meeting during egg hunt?

A short conference of young egg hunters took place Saturday morning as these kids exchanged a few ideas at the St. Johns city park. Over 500 youngsters scoured the park woods for the eggs, with the result that all of the 80 dozen eggs colored by the Recreational Department were found. Winners of free circus tickets in each age group were: ages 2-6, Pam Downing, Michelle Signs, Dale Young, Bobby Wager, Carrie Woodbury, Larry Henning, Brian Cox, Scott Rehmann, Barry Woodhams, Kathleen Sodman and Scott Ward; ages 7-10, Dan Spice, Harry Moldenhauer, Steve Van-Viet, Rick VanRooyen, Joe Eisler, Jim Smith, Ronnie Kingsbury, David Martis, Chris Henning and Bobby Quinn.

Nearly 40 turn out for public hearings

The St. Johns City Commission chambers were filled almost to overflowing last Tuesday night as nearly 40 citizens sat in on public hearings pertaining to curb and gutter, water main and sanitary sewer installations.

All the proposed street projects were approved by the commission. The streets and type of projects concerned are detailed elsewhere in this issue of the Clinton County News in the city commission minutes.

In other business conducted by the commission last Tuesday:

—ORDINANCE NO. 194, rezoning most of the land in the US-27—Sturgis-Scott Road triangle to general commercial, was passed by the commission. The passage clears the way for construction of an apartment house complex and convalescent center on the south side of Sturgis between US-27 and Scott Road. Mayor Jack Smit declared the ordinance to have immediate effect, as a convenience to the developers.

—A request by Ray Rademacher for a street light in the 800-900 block South Clinton Avenue was referred to Consumers Power Co. for study.

—The commission accepted the low bid of US Steel Corp. for $1,294 for nearly 362 feet of fence and gates to surround the new water treatment plant on North Ottawa Street. The only other bid received was from Anchor Fence Co. for $1,877.

—A PETITION from Mary Buehler and Burton Kramer for annexation to the City of St. Johns was accepted. Their property is located on South Swegles Street and is presently surrounded by property within the city limits. The city pointed out it must have a formal resolution from Birmingham Township releasing the property for annexation, and the resolution must be notarized and witnessed. The city must likewise pass a resolution. City Atty. Harold Reed was asked to work out the details.

—The commission turned down a request from Mr and Mrs Edward Eisinger of Lalsburg to operate a pony ride each Saturday in the city park. The commission said, in rejecting the plan, that it did not think the park should be used for commercial ventures and that it would spoil the esthetic value of the park.

—THE COMMISSION also approved the installation and improvement of street lighting at the intersection of Spring and Walker streets; on West McConnell Street; and at the US-27 and Sturgis Street intersection. Consumers Power Co. was authorized to proceed with the installations as proposed in Consumers' recommendations to the commission.

—The commission was informed that Augusta Village President Wayne TerBerg and his wife are looking forward to visiting St. Johns on Mayor Exchange Day during Michigan Week. Mayor Jack Smit of St. Johns and his wife announced Tuesday they would go to Augusta, a village of 1,000 population halfway between Kalamazoo and Battle Creek.

national relations aspect of political science. Woods attended the American University in Washington, D.C., and Michigan State University. He then continued his studies in the field of local and state political science at the University of Michigan.

WHILE IN SCHOOL and college, Woods also formed his own business, TMW Enterprises, which included a television and hi-fi sales and service, owning and operation of an Alma Ice cream drive-in and development of Willow Bend Subdivision. Presently his business includes the development of Willow Bend Subdivision No. 2.

Thell was born in 1939, the son of Rev and Mrs R. V. Woods. Almost a lifelong resident of the Alma area, Thell and his wife, Bobbie, now make their home at 4239 Riverview near his subdivision development west of Alma.

PRESENTLY Woods is a member of the Farm Bureau, a member and past chaplain of the Alma Jaycees, a past member of the Alma Chamber of Commerce, a member of the Presbyterian Church and the Sanctuary Choir, a member of the Republican Men's Club, and the American Political Science Assn.

Politically Woods has been active in Republican politics since the mid-1950s and has been regional chairman for four states of the mid-west federation of college republicans and an honorary sergeant of arms at the National Republican convention. Woods has also served as delegate and an alternate delegate to numerous state and county conventions.

Among some of his more recent political activities, Woods was a speaker and counselor at the first state-wide teenage Republican camp held at St. Mary's Lake. He also was elected one of five out of over 100 Michigan county and district Republican chairmen to serve on Gov. Romney's leadership council.

WITH RESPECT to his campaign for the legislature, Woods states that: "The work of a legislator, like that in so many other fields, is becoming so complex and so vast that it requires a major dedication to politics and public service as a profession itself and cannot be done effectively as a minor part-time occupation."

Chamber supports bond issue

The board of directors of the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce have announced that they wholeheartedly support the proposed new school program and are urging Chamber of Commerce members to actively support the proposed building program, too.

"Recognizing that modern, up-to-date schools, well-equipped and adequately staffed, are necessary to meet the needs of today's educational requirements, we feel that the proposed building program outlined by the board of education is necessary if we are to do the job that needs to be done in providing a good sound education for the school children in our district," the Chamber said.

THEY complimented the school board and administrators for a well researched proposal, which is designed not only to care for our current needs but to serve the St. Johns School District for many years to come.

The Chamber noted schools play an important role in the growth of a community and that from a purely economic standpoint, good schools are a must if new industrial and business growth is to take place.

"The new school program will be another indication that St. Johns is a progressive, modern community," the chamber said.

4-H leaders get spring project call

Suddenly it's spring, and Clinton County 4-H leaders are reminded it is time to think about planting gardens—4-H vegetable and flower gardens.

"Generally speaking, early gardens are the best," 4-H Extension 4-H Youth Agent Alvin F. Root notes. "4-H Club leaders are asked to come into the extension office in the courthouse in St. Johns and pick up materials for their projects."

"We do hope to have a good attendance at our next 4-H Council meeting set for April 18 at the home of Mrs. Kay Smit."

All 4-H Club leaders are also reminded of a general leaders' meeting set for Smith Hall on Wednesday, April 20, at 8 p.m. "We will discuss evaluation with boys and girls, as well as program planning at the club level," Root said. "Here is a chance for all leaders to gain a better understanding about the club program, as we will also have some time for questions of a general nature. If you don't understand something about the program, here is your chance to find out."

Lemons and limes probably have more varied uses than any other fruit—flavoring, pies, puddings, salads, drinks, for example.

6:30 p.m. Friday is tax deadline

If you're one of those people who haven't filed their 1965 income tax return yet, you'd better hop to it. There's not much time left.

The deadline for filing the return is Friday. Tax returns postmarked later than that will be tardy. As a tip to the late filers, St. Johns Postmaster J.D. Robinson points out that 6:30 p.m. Friday is the latest hour that mail can be dropped into the letter box in the lobby or the letter box outside the postoffice and still be postmarked Friday.

Any tax returns filed after 6:30 won't be postmarked until Saturday. Uncle Sam views this with some skepticism, so they say.

DeWitt's marathon council meetings due for a change

DeWITT — The DeWitt City Council, whose meetings of late have been running long into the night did so again last Tuesday when it adjourned at 1:30 a.m., decided that the city's business was becoming too great to handle at one meeting a month. On the recommendation of councilman Lee Rummell it was approved that the council will now meet twice a month.

These meetings will be on the first Tuesday after the first Monday and on the third Monday of each month. All meetings will begin at 8 p.m.

IN OTHER business handled throughout the marathon session was a pay raise for city clerk, Ray Price, from $1,900 to $3,100 per year. This came after councilman Eldon Smith's motion that Price be required to be in the office 30 hours per week for five days each week. It was pointed out that in addition to his clerical duties, Price must supervise the city maintenance crew, the sewer maintenance and act as superintendent of the cemetery.

Council directed Ralph Petrie of R. Petrie and Associates to prepare the necessary papers for extending the sanitary sewers along Webb and Dill Roads. The estimated cost being $64,000 not considering the tie-in cost of the residents.

PETRIE SAID the Webb Road extension would cost about $28,000 and the Dill Road sewer about $36,000.

Other discussion included the bad condition of many of the sidewalks in DeWitt, the complaints of residents about water across roads and drainage.

CITY ASSESSOR, Donald J. Stevens, reported that the city's assessed valuation now totals $2,234,785, with $2,040,800 in real property and $193,985 in personal property. Stevens added that the city of DeWitt will need 7 1/2 mills for operating revenue, excluding 1.8 mills to meet general obligations.

In police and fire board action, Assistant Fire Chief Arthur Newman reported that Watertown township has accepted a proposal for the City of DeWitt to furnish fire protection. Police Chief Anderson was named civil defense director; the traffic light at the corner of Bridge and Main Streets is to be in use at all times and not placed on blinker on Sunday; the fire department tanker shall not be used to fill swimming pools, and the ordinance prohibiting parking on city streets from 2 a.m. to 6 a.m. be retained.

Joys abound as Easter eggs are found

Success, discovery, jubilation, wonderment . . . many were the expressions worn by youngsters a few minutes after the Easter egg hunt sponsored by the Fulton Area Jaycees and Jaycettes began Friday afternoon. A large number of children scampered over the Perrinton football field in search of the eggs.

2 FB agents win Nassau trip

Leaving next week for Nassau in the Bahamas will be Mr and Mrs John Lynch of St. Johns and Mr and Mrs Richard Root of DeWitt, according to a recent announcement made by the Farm Bureau Insurance Co.

The two couples received the trip as winners in the company's 1965 All American contest which is a company-wide contest held each year for agency managers and agents. The two Clinton County men achieved outstanding success in insurance sales during 1965. Together with other agency managers, agents and their wives, they will leave by chartered plane from Lansing and will spend one week, expenses paid, at the Nassau Beach Hotel in Nassau.

Safety patroler to win DC trip

A St. Johns safety patroler from Perrin-Palmer School will be among 132 Michigan youths attending the 30th annual AAA National Safety Patrol Rally in Washington, D.C., May 12-15.

He will be representing approximately 155 patrolers in the St. Johns area who together have spent 27,900 hours guarding fellow students at school intersections during the 1965-66 school year in all kinds of weather as a community service.

THE AUTO CLUB estimates that each patroler in the St. Johns area spends 180 hours yearly at street corners protecting classmates.

Individual students who will make the trip have not been selected. Their names will be announced formally within two weeks.

The St. Johns representatives will join patrolers from over 100 Michigan communities for the annual four-day, all-expense-paid trip to the capitol as Automobile Club of Michigan's guests.

THIS IS THE 30th consecutive year the Auto Club has sponsored the Washington trip. Schools representing Michigan are selected by the Auto Club on the basis of patrol groups' general performance and efficiency during the school year. With Auto Club's assistance, schools selected name the individual patrolers to represent the cities from which they come.

C of C endorses proposed new nursing home

The St. Johns Chamber of Commerce's Board of Directors have gone on record as favoring the proposed new convalescent home to be erected East of US-27.

In a letter to the developers, the Chamber said that with a large percentage of the population in the area 65 years of age and over, there was a need for such facilities.

"IN ADDITION to the obvious need for such a home, we would cite the fact that this is an ideal location for such a home to serve a larger surrounding area. St. Johns is located on two major highways, M-21 and US-27, with good access from all points," the Chamber stated.

In other business, the chamber stated that representatives of the National Holiday Rambler Travel Trailer Club will be in St. Johns this Saturday to finalize plans for their big summer rally to be held here in June.

SEVERAL of the groups representatives, headed by Roy Gonsler, president, will locate their trailers at the St. Johns City Park over the weekend.

Meeting with them will be representatives of the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce Tourist Committee, who invited the Ramblers to hold their rally here.

C of C backs removal of 'Big Mac' tolls

The St. Johns Chamber of Commerce, by means of a decision of the board of directors at their recent meeting, has gone on record supporting the Sault Ste. Marie Chamber of Commerce which is promoting complete removal of tolls at the Mackinac Bridge.

The Soo project is designed to stimulate residents into writing their congressmen, between now and Michigan Week, May 15-21, urging the United States Congress to create special legislation removing tolls from the Mackinac Bridge on the I-75 freeway.

Included in their campaign is a letter to President L. B. Johnson listing the reasons they feel it should be toll free.

AT THE present time a minimum toll of $3.75 for a one-way passage of a pleasure car, and a maximum toll of $15.50 for trucks, have been instituted to retire the bond financing of the bridge.

In their letter to the President and the Congress, the Soo Chamber of Commerce pointed out that I-75 is a freeway, which when finished will stretch 1,523 miles from Tampa, Fla. to the Canadian border. The Michigan portion of this highway is 375 miles long and for the past two years has been carrying traffic non-stop from the Ohio border to the Canadian border, except for the $3.75 toll at the Mackinac Bridge.

"THIS ENTIRE freeway, from Tampa to the Soo, has been and is being built with 90 per cent federal funds and 10 per cent state funds. We submit that the Mackinac Bridge, which carries I-75 across the Straits of Mackinac, should be paid-for in the same ratio as the freeway — 90 per cent federal funds and 10 per cent state funds," they said.

City has option on landfill site

St. Johns has taken option on property adjacent to the city dump north of town and may use it to operate a sanitary landfill.

A final decision on the use of the land is awaiting recommendations from Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May, engineers, who have conducted field work for the city in preparation for planning the landfill.

"We're being forced to sanitary landfill because of state law," City Manager Ken Greer said Friday. The new law requires a six-inch dirt cover every day over the refuse dumped, plus a final two-foot-thick layer of dirt when the particular area is filled.

THE LANDFILL differs in that extent from the present open dump. St. Johns' present dump will be filled probably by the time summer is over, and the city is anxiously awaiting the findings of the engineers on the proposed new site.

The water table is the main concern. If it is below 10 feet the site would probably be favorable, Greer said. The land fill would be operated by digging trenches about 10 feet deep. Dirt from one trench would be used to fill and cover the next trench.

No burning would be allowed in a sanitary landfill, Greer said, with the exception of dead elm trees. Bulky items, such as cars, would also not be allowed. The proposed landfill site would last about 10 years, the city manager said. "A city our size would use about an acre a year in a landfill," Greer said.

City clean-up week April 25-29

Mayor Jack Smit has proclaimed the week of April 25-29 as Clean-up Week in St. Johns and has urged that residents take advantage of the opportunity to clean up their yards and homes.

The City of St. Johns will have two 2-man crews working each day that week picking up refuse left at the curbs. Refuse must be in containers, however, and the containers must be manageable by two men.

When the St. Johns Jaycees delivered a check to the Bement Public Library last week to buy children's books, they had lots of children experts to help when it came to picking out what books to buy. Mrs. Roger Hammontree, left, Mrs. Sam Sample and Mrs. Roger Feeman watch as their and other children look over children's books. The children are, clockwise around the table, Jackie Minsky, 4, Susie Sample 2 1/2, Cynthia Sue Hammontree 9 months, Julie Feeman 5, Cathy Feeman 3, and Robin Sample 4 1/2.

Mrs. Roger Feeman, left, of the St. Johns Jaycees presents a check for $22 to Mrs. Hila Bross, librarian of the Bement Public Library, for use in the children's department. Looking on are Mrs. Jack Dietrich, librarian's assistant, and Robyn Hudson, library attendant in the children's department.

Library Week observance here to emphasize kids' books

The Bement Public Library in St. Johns is joining with libraries all over the nation next week in the observance of National Library Week between April 17 and 23.

The library, 26 years old this year, is currently putting a lot of emphasis on improvement of the children's department. Two separate amounts of money received in the last week have been earmarked by the library board for improvement of service in that area.

PROCEEDS from a hat sale put on by the Jaycees were turned over to the library last week and will be used to purchase new books for children. A check for $22 was handed to Librarian Mrs. Hila Bross last Thursday by Mrs. Roger Feeman of the Jaycees.

Another check for $281.45—"state aid" will also be used in the children's department.

According to Helen Kremer, director of state aid to libraries, 256 libraries serving 6,429,496 people participated in state grants at 5 cents per capita. It was the first time in several years the Bement Public Library received this aid from the state.

SUCH FUNDS must be used to "increase and extend public library services," and it is suggested by the state library that they be used for some specific purpose.

Another special event of National Library Week here will be a public reception, put on by the library staff, honoring Mrs. H. F. Millman, Mrs. Robert Merrill and Mrs. Lee DeWitt, all of whom retired during the past year. Mrs. Millman served as librarian, and Mrs. Merrill and Mrs. DeWitt were long-time members of the library board.

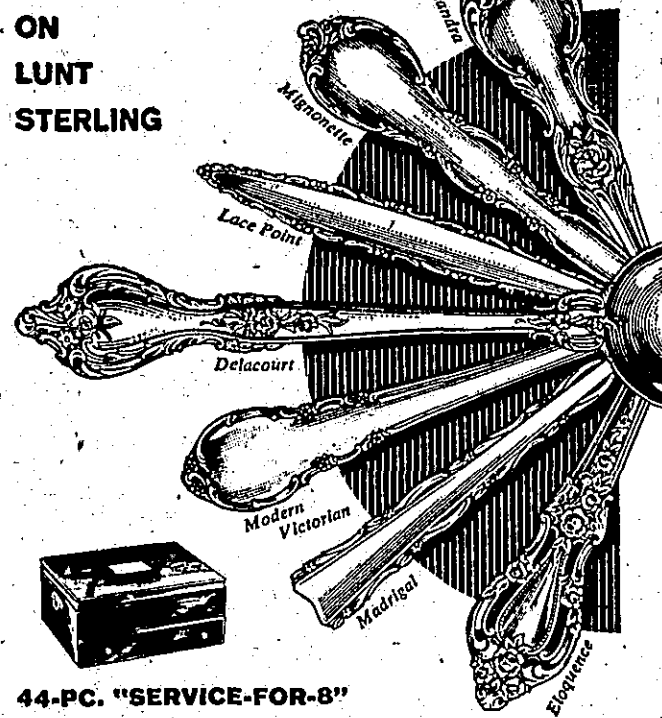

The reception will be held next

13 'Candy Strippers' capped

The number of young ladies now wearing a "cap" to complete their red and white stripe "Candy Stripper" uniform was recently increased by 13. The capping service was conducted Thursday, March 31, at the Clinton Memorial hospital. Mrs. Patricia Simmett, superintendent of nurses, welcomed the parents and their daughters and expressed her appreciation for the hours of voluntary service the girls have completed.

Before a "Candy Stripper" is capped, she must complete a preliminary course of training followed by 25 hours of service in the hospital. Mrs. Donna Love, assistant hospital administrator, conducts the training program and was present to congratulate the girls for having completed their requirements.

The Women's Auxiliary of Clinton Memorial Hospital sponsors the "Candy Stripper" program here. Mrs. Marvin Barclay, chairman of the organization, introduced the candidates and Mrs. R. L. Wohlers presented the caps to Susan Ackels, Darlene Dodway, Marlene Fox, Kelli Jo Miller, Amy Magsig, Jane Morriss, Mary Ann Shafer, Anne Shnabery, Joanne Thelen, Prudy Walker, Cheryl Weber, Judy Williams and Barbara McKay.

AFTER refreshments were served Mrs. Simmett and Mrs. Love conducted a tour of all of the service areas of the hospital.

A new class of "Candy Strippers" is to begin training in a few weeks. Girls who are juniors or seniors in high school are eligible provided they are at least 16 years of age and maintain a "C" average or above in their school work. Application blanks will be sent to the high school principals in Clinton county to be completed and returned between April 18-26.

ANNOUNCEMENT

We have been awarded the exclusive franchise for Miami Stone for central Michigan.

MIAMI STONE

ALL NEW CUSTOM TAILORED MODERN BUILDING STONE

We are pleased to announce our plant is now in production.

Home of Mr and Mrs Hugh Eldridge, Meadowview Drive, St. Johns Showing Use of Miami Stone

It is practical to use a material that hardens instead of softens with age. It is so dense that dirt particles can not penetrate its surface therefore it remains clean. It is produced with metal oxide molecules of color that are forever locked in place. It is produced in modular heights of 1 1/2", 2 5/32" and 3 1/2" in lengths of 23 1/2".

It is basically a hard dense limestone product. It is uniform in all dimensions, simplifying installation. It is comparable in cost to many more common masonry materials. It is produced and stocked by a local franchised business firm. It is a full wall thickness similar to brick and stone. It is high in compression strength and low in moisture absorption.

Future pulpwood sales by weight seen as possibility

A Michigan State University forestry authority said recently that pulpwood, sold on a volume or "stacked pile" basis for the last 30 years, may be sold by weight in the future.

Douglas Gerrard said that buying and selling pulpwood — primary ingredient of paper — by weight is a new trend in the timber industry. Many southern sawmills are now buying saw logs by the ton, instead of by estimated lumber output, he said. Gerrard believes the practice will eventually become generally accepted by the timber industry.

PULPWOOD CONSISTS OF 4 or 8 feet-long sticks, called bolts, which are 4 to 10 inches in diameter. The wood is de-barked and ground up at the pulp mill to make paper. Gerrard said the basic unit of measurement by volume is the cord, and payment is made by the cord when the wood is brought into the mill. Cords are made up of stacked piles of bolts.

The forestry specialist said two factors in addition to volume will affect the price. These are the species of wood being sold, and the location of purchase.

The conversion to sale by weight instead of volume will take place, Gerrard believes, because pulp mills are primarily interested in the fiber yield of the wood. Fiber yield is measured in tons. Measurement by cord has persisted because of its convenience, Gerrard says, not its accuracy. The quantity of fiber in a cord of wood is highly variable, with solid content ranging from 70 to 100 cubic feet per cord.

THE DIFFERENCE in volume are due to the method of stacking, bolt size, bark thickness, surface irregularities and straightness, and measurement errors. Measurement by weight would eliminate most of these difficulties, Gerrard said.

To make the changeover pulp mills would need only a truck scales with a 30-ton capacity, which costs about $9,000 to $12,000.

Gerrard said such a radical changeover in operations would probably meet some resistance, but there are advantages to both buyers and sellers. Sellers may eliminate the human judgement factor, remain more accurate and consistent in their weight and record weights quickly. Payment could be immediate. The mill receives better pricing and increases the quantity handled while using fewer personnel. The method would facilitate accurate inventories of stockpiles, and encourage prompt delivery.

SWITCHING TO weight introduces a new error, Gerrard warned. That is moisture content of the wood. Fiber yield is governed by the weight of dry wood, excluding bark. Moisture content would be included in weight, and cause some problems. However, the average moisture values for each species of wood could be determined, and permit corrections for each truckload by species and locality of cutting.

Eventually, Gerrard feels a rapid moisture meter will be developed to overcome the moisture-weight problem. The weight method is still superior to volume measurement, and the forestry specialist feels it will eventually become the accepted basis for sale in all cases.

THE CHANGE will necessitate changes in forest management, Gerrard said. The forests of the near future will have to be managed on the basis of tons of wood per acre, instead of cubic feet per acre as they are now.

Sixty-seven per cent of Michigan's 2,129 auto fatalities in 1965 occurred in rural areas, while 64 per cent of the injuries and 73 per cent of the accidents happened in urban areas.

Donald Gibbs, left, new soil conservationist with the St. Johns SCS work unit, discusses a soils problem site with Lloyd Campbell, work unit conservationist.

SCS gets new conservationist

Donald Gibbs, a native of Ogemaw County, has joined the St. Johns staff of the US Soil Conservation Service as a soil conservationist.

Lloyd B. Campbell, work unit conservationist with the SCS, said Gibbs is in a training position and will likely be in the St. Johns work unit until March 1967. He will assist in providing technical assistance to the Clinton County Soil Conservation District.

GIBBS WAS born and raised on a livestock farm in Ogemaw County. Upon graduation from West Branch High School he farmed in partnership with his father and started attending Michigan State University. He graduated in June 1964 from MSU with a bachelor of science degree in agriculture with a major in crop science.

Says pesticide ban no answer

The way to solve the pesticide problem is not by banning pesticides but by gaining a better understanding of their effects on biological systems, says Dr. Gordon Guyer, chairman of Michigan State University's Department of Entomology and director of the Pesticide Research Center.

Guyer and associates are convinced pesticides are absolutely necessary to modern agriculture. At the same time they have concern over possible contamination. For that reason researchers from 17 departments at Michigan State University have banded together to study pesticides from basic points of view.

"WITHOUT PESTICIDES, 70 per cent of Michigan apples would be infested and livestock pests would lower meat and milk production by more than 25 per cent," Guyer maintains.

The Pesticide Research Center is taking up such basic questions as:

What happens to pesticides when they enter the soil? Do combinations of pesticides cause problems in soil ecology that none of them alone would cause? How are pesticides metabolized by bacteria, algae, higher plants, animals and humans?

MICHIGAN Agricultural Experiment Station funds and a grant from the National Institute of Health are financing the center which is scattered in many buildings until a new Pesticide Research Building is authorized and constructed.

Michigan has begun producing its second million color photo driver licenses, with about one-fourth of the state's driving population now having the new licenses. It will likely be three years, sometime in early 1969, before Michigan's total driving public has the new type license.

Controlled breeding problem examined

Controlled breeding of livestock has caught the imagination of many researchers and farmers today, but the process involves many problems which still need to be solved.

In controlled breeding, hormones and drugs are given to a group of animals to postpone ovulation until the farmer is ready to breed them. Thus several animals can be induced to come into heat at the same time and can be bred so their young will be born about the same time.

THE HORMONE, progesterone, given to a female animal will prevent the estrous cycle occurring. At a specific time after hormone feeding is stopped, the animal comes into heat. However, there's a chance that some of the hormone may stay in the animal's system and continue to inhibit ovulation. This may be a greater problem where the hormone is fed rather than injected.

An effective way of controlling the estrous cycle in the animal is to inject the hormone into the neck. This, however, is neither efficient nor easy, so livestock men prefer to put the hormone in the feed. In both cases it is important that the hormone be eliminated from the system after the farmer stops administering it.

UNIVERSITY OF Wisconsin livestock specialists M. L. Ogilvie, L. E. Casida, N. L. First and W. G. Hoekstra have been studying this. They fed an orally active progesterone-like material in a radioactive form to ewes and gilts and injected it into rabbits. Then they traced the hormone through the animal system to find out whether it was eliminated after treatment stopped.

The progesterone-like hormone was a synthetic called MAP, a common one used experimentally in cattle, sheep and swine controlled breeding. They were concerned that the hormone may be stored in the body fat of the animal and released slowly into the system after feeding stopped.

THE FEMALE sex hormone, progesterone, may be retained in large amounts in the body fat of pregnant women. Female rabbits were injected with radioactive progesterone or MAP, and female sheep and swine were fed the normal dose of radioactive MAP to see whether it would be stored in the body tissues.

The rabbits and ewes had their ovaries removed before the experiment so that the varying amounts of hormone they produced would not complicate interpretation of the experiments.

Doses of another female hormone, estrogen, were given to some of the animals at intervals before administering radioactive progesterone or MAP, since it might affect retention of the radioactive progesterone of MAP. The animals were slaughtered at different times during the experiment and the amount of radioactivity in various organs was determined.

THE RESEARCHERS found that rabbits eliminated most of the progesterone in the urine and most of the MAP in the feces. Sheep and swine fed radioactive MAP also eliminated most of it in the feces and only small amounts in the urine.

Radioactive MAP was not deposited evenly in all tissues. The adrenal gland, uterus and pituitary gland had more radioactivity than did tissues such as heart and skeletal muscle. The accumulation in the various organs built up to a peak about 30 hours after it was administered to ewes and about eight hours after in the gilts. The material was then eliminated from the system, and in seven days ewes and gilts had almost none of the hormone left in their system.

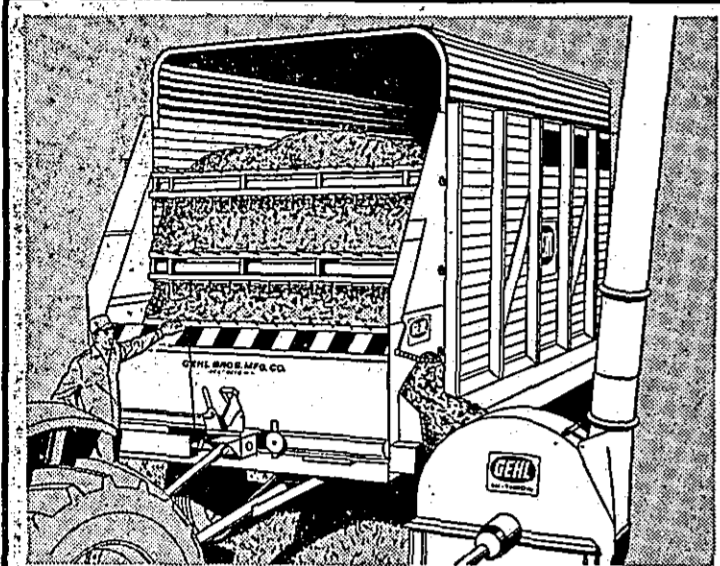

RADIOACTIVITY did not accumulate to high levels in the body fat nor was it stored there for an extended period. Treatment with estrogen caused most tissues to have more radioactive MAP, but it was still rapidly excreted.

Results of the experiments look encouraging to the livestock breeding specialists. They think that it will be practical to give these hormones in the feed to breeding animals without any danger of leaving its residue in the system to upset a future breeding program.

Nitrogen truly yield booster

"Nitrogen is truly a yield booster — if other nutrients have been supplied and if nitrogen is used in adequate but not excessive amounts," says a Michigan State University soil scientist.

James A. Porter points out that April and May are the months in which most of the nitrogen fertilizer should be applied. The following are a few notes and guidelines suggested by Porter.

FOR FALL crops, such as winter wheat or barley, it is most economical to use straight nitrogen fertilizer, says Porter. In research tests and practical observations little if any benefit has been realized from including phosphorus and potassium in top-dress fertilizers in the spring.

Any nitrogen carrier is satisfactory: ammonium nitrate, urea, sulfate of ammonia, nitrogen solutions, or anhydrous ammonia (if "knifing-in" does not leave the field too rough).

Always avoid heavy applications in contact with the seed at planting time, cautions Porter. He also warns that nitrogen rates should be decreased when a) a legume was previously plowed down, b) manure is top-dressed, c) the crop has a tendency toward lodging, and d) legume seedings are being made along with the crop.

NITROGEN INFLUENCES lime requirements of soil. "As farmers increase the rates of nitrogen application it should be kept in mind that practically all the nitrogen carriers offered for sale in Michigan acidify the soil," says Porter.

The rate of acidification ranges from two to five pounds of limestone equivalent per pound of nitrogen. However, any need for lime should be based on soil tests.

Confidence counts for very little unless you possess the ability to back it up.

"Unless farmers heed the facts ...

... they'll continue to be the most ...

... brainwashed people in the world."

Claims farmers allowing collapse of U.S. economy

A Minnesota businessman painted a bleak future for America's economy last week unless, as he said, farm prices are brought back in line with the rest of the economy.

Speaking to an estimated 650 persons at the Clinton County NFO Beef Dinner last Tuesday night, Arnold E. Paulson of Granite Falls, Minn., chided American farmers as being "the most brainwashed people in the world."

"IF YOU continue to follow the advice of experts there will be no rural economy," Paulson said. "We're living in very serious times; if you don't wake up and realize what the agriculture economy is doing, you'll go down the drain, too."

Paulson spoke for about two hours, quoting statistics he said refuted the "experts' claims that America is enjoying the 'greatest prosperity the world has ever known.'"

He based his arguments on a

Yankee Springs 4-H trip near

The annual Yankee Springs 4-H award trip will be held next weekend, April 22, 23 and 24, Extension 4-H Youth Agent Harvey Middleton reports.

The group of eligible participants will leave from the courthouse in St. Johns at 4 p.m. April 22 and will return about 4:30 p.m. April 24. The program will include indoor and outdoor activity at Long Lake Outdoor Center 12 miles west of Hastings near Gun Lake.

Cost for the trip will be $1.50. Those attending should bring a dish to pass for Friday evening, as well as a bed roll or sleeping bag.

premise that every $1 of farm income produces $7 of national income as it changes hands. All of America's personal debt, and then some, could be erased if the prices paid farmers could be brought back in line with other segments of the economy, he said.

HE SAID America is nearing the brink of economic collapse because of credit buying and that an increase in farm pricing would result in an increase in earned wealth in all areas of the economy (because of the 1:7 ratio). That would make prosperity real, he intimated.

"Production is only half of agriculture," Paulson told the crowd. "Price is the other and most important part. This is where farmers have been asleep."

4-H leadership meeting called

A general meeting of 4-H leaders in Clinton County has been scheduled for 8 p.m. next Wednesday, April 20, at Smith Hall.

Extension 4-H Youth Agent Alvin Root said the purpose of the meeting would be to discuss area 4-H programs in the Clinton-Gratiot-Shelby area 9, to help with 4-H club program planning, and to answer questions on organization, awards, summer program and evaluation.

"As leaders we not only need to be informed about our project areas but also about the activities, program plans and many other things," Root said. "We mustn't let our boys and girls miss out because we do not have all the information."

You may save $6 to $8 per acre with Dow Anhydrous Ammonia: lowest cost nitrogen in the field.
The reason is, anhydrous ammonia gives you far more nitrogen per pound than any other nitrogen fertilizer. Which means it takes far less DOW ANHYDROUS AMMONIA to do the job than it does with any other form of nitrogen fertilizer.
If you're planting corn on corn, it will take 150 to 200 pounds of nitrogen per acre to decay the old stalks and still have the nitrogen you need for high yields. With this nitrogen with DOW ANHYDROUS AMMONIA and you may save as much as $6 to $8 an acre. And boost crop yield quality and feed grain protein content while you do it. It's so long-lasting, one application is all you need. See us today for details. And save some money for a change.

Mouth breathers

Mouth Breathing can affect your child's dental and physical health, warns the American Medical Assn. Gum tissues irritated by the drying effects of air can become inflamed, swollen and even painful. A continual mouth breather often develops a change in the position of the teeth and is susceptible to upper respiratory infections. When a child continually breathes through his mouth, the air does not pass through the nose, missing the important function it plays in preparing air for the lungs.

Driver injured in French Road crash

Howard Brauher, 60, of R-1, Perrinton, suffered bruises Monday evening when his car he was driving missed the corner at French and McNeil Roads in Essex Township and sailed into a field, striking a steel post. He said he didn't notice the road turned north until too late. He refused hospital treatment.

ship in 1960. That would mean we'd have to take on the administration of about as many people as there are in the city of DeWitt. "I don't believe we can do it in Olive."

FRED PARDEE, who lives west of US-27 on Alward Road, questioned the suitability of Alward Road for the additional traffic of a trailer park and said he thought the Alward-US-27 intersection was dangerous enough as it was. He also questioned fire protection and noted several houses and even a trailer in the area being lost to fire.

Mrs DeYoung pointed out that she and her husband had lost a barn in a fire, but that it had had a good start. She complimented the DeWitt Fire Department for making it to the scene only seven minutes after the alarm had been turned in.

THERE WERE PRO and con discussion about the tax situation as it applies to trailers, and DeYoung attempted to bring out the fact that trailers would pay as much in school taxes per pupil as any other property around. He based his figures on a figure he said applied at another area trailer park of one school-age child per seven trailers. This argument bogged down and apparently ended in a draw when Harle quoted a figure of .6 child per trailer, which he noted would considerably alter the other tax figure.

DeYoung said trailers presently pay $3 a month in taxes (a state proposal would change that to $6), of which $2 goes to schools, 50 cents to the county and 50 cents to the township.

AT THIS POINT in the discussion, Supervisor Ray Mayers got up and commented that inasmuch as the board seemed to recognize township powers, he would move that the board of supervisors "not concur" with the zoning commission's recommendations. The wording of his motion was later changed to "rejecting" the commission's recommendations.

Supervisor Ernest Carter drew some applause from the audience following his comments. He pointed out that Americans are fighting in Vietnam and elsewhere for freedom, but he said here at home "we're losing gradually the right to govern ourselves, with this power going to larger units of government . . . When I see the number of people out here today, and at the zoning commission hearing, I hate to see anything imposed upon them they don't want. I believe the right of the people should be preserved as long as possible."

Several other supervisors commented prior to the voting.

TUESDAY'S supervisors' action followed an evening Monday when the Olive board and residents were apparently thwarted in an attempt to form a zoning district under the Township Rural Zoning Act, Act 184 of the Public Acts of 1943.

Such a district would set up zoning in the district proposed (Olive Township), with the township having final say on zoning matters rather than the county board, which now has final say under authority of the County Rural Zoning Act.

THE DEYOUNGS and Moore filed a civil suit in circuit court Monday charging that such a district at this time would be illegal. The suit charges the resolution declaring the intent to proceed under the provisions of Act 184 was illegally passed by the electors of the township at the annual town meeting April 2.

The suit notes that the plaintiffs (DeYongs) are seeking land rezoning and that the "said township annual meeting attempted to usurp the function of the said township board by mandating the enactment of the Township Rural Zoning Act."

IT WENT ON to say that where-as the Olive board intended to enact the zoning district ordinance Monday night, that "unless (the board is) restrained . . . the petitioners are fearful that great economic hardship and damages will occur on them."

A circuit court injunction against the holding of the meeting Monday night was refused by Circuit Judge Leo Corkin. The meeting went on, but no action was taken by the Olive board pending their hiring of an attorney. They reportedly will continue to plan for township zoning.

Moore said the DeYongs weren't against a township zoning district but they felt it should be done legally and not mandated by the electors.

Go fly a kite . . . safely.

There is only one way to fly a kite.

According to Division Manager R. H. Lawlor of Consumers Power Co.'s Lansing Division, that way is "safely."

"Each spring we ask youngsters to observe simple kite safety rules," he said. They are:

- 1) FLY KITES made of wood, paper or plastic, with no metal parts.
- 2) Never fly kites in rainy or showery weather; lightning might hit.
- 3) Fly kites with string, not with wire or metallic gift cord.
- 4) Never fly a kite near power lines, and keep kites away from trees.

5) Stay out of streets and roads with kites, as with any toy.

6) If a kite lands high in a tree or on a wire or phone line, don't climb after it; leave it there. You might fall and get hurt.

LAWLOR ADDED that Consumers Power has distributed kite flying safety rules to a number of schools in the area, and that each year the company appeals for "kite sense" in the hopes that there will be no unhappy incidents during late March and early April, Michigan's kite season.

"On the first day of spring this year, in Baltimore, Md., a 39-year-old father was electrocuted when he flew a kite with thin copper wire, instead of string. The kite outing had been planned as a treat for his 5-year-old son.

"This senseless tragedy need never have occurred. So we ask parents, as well as children, to remember there is only one way to fly a kite," Lawlor said. "And that's safely."

Draws 30-day jail term for drag racing

Nursery here to have display at Lansing meet

The Jack and Jill Cooperative Nursery of St. Johns will display rhythm and music materials May 9 and 10 at the Michigan Council of Cooperative Nurseries' 15th annual conference in East Lansing.

The meeting at MSU's Kellogg Center for Continuing Education is expected to draw over 600 nursery school parents and teachers from all parts of the state. Keynote speaker for the May 10 meeting will be Dr. Donald N. Michael, author of "The Next Generation."

DR J. CLAYTON Lafferty, Detroit consulting psychologist, will speak at the Monday dinner meeting on "Values That Defeat Learning," to complete the conference theme of "Today's Child - Tomorrow's World."

Fifty-five workshops will deal with such topics as creativity, self-discipline, intellectual curiosity, physical and psychological development, books, art, music, and science for preschool children.

Other highlights include area nursery's exhibits, nursery equipment, new films for parent education programs, and open houses at three Lansing nurseries.

JOINTLY sponsored by the MCCN and the MSU College of Home Economics, the conference welcomes all parents and teachers of cooperative nurseries, nursery schools and day care centers, as well as individuals actively interested in early childhood education.

The community underwent an invasion of rabbits over the Easter weekend just past. They came in droves. There were plush rabbits, plastic rabbits, styrofoam rabbits, sponge rubber rabbits, fur rabbits, fake-fur rabbits, rabbits made of wood and tin and china and cellulose, jewelry rabbits, musical rabbits, jumping rabbits, nose-twitching rabbits and, of course, egg-laying rabbits. We saw rabbits of all sizes, in every possible—and some impossible—color and hue. There may even have been a garden-variety, plain-brown, REAL rabbit lurking around someplace, keeping an eye on the carrot supply.

Burgess borrowed just a bit from both Miss Potter and Mr. Harris. The rabbit character he created is PETER COTTONTAIL, whose perennial enemy is REDDY FOX. His stories give more nature details than the others, and are perhaps more realistic, although modern illustrators have made the characters into Disney-like creatures.

A JOHNNY-COME-lately to Rabbitbookland was Robert Lawson who died in 1957 at the age of 65. Creator of the rabbit character, Georgie, Mr. Lawson received the Newbery Medal in 1945 for his book, RABBIT HILL, of which Georgie is the mischievous hero. Mr. Lawson was both a writer and an illustrator of children's books. In addition to the Newbery medal, which is given to outstanding writers of juvenile books, he also received the coveted Caldecott medal for his picture book THEY WERE STRONG AND GOOD.

So it has been decided at Bement Public Library that matters should be straightened out in that part of the Children's Book World known, among the initiated, as Rabbitbookland.

Robert Lawson first became prominent in 1936 with his illustrations for Munro Leaf's book, THE STORY OF FERDINAND, Georgie Rabbit and his family appear again in Lawson's book TOUGH WINTER, published in 1954.

RABBIT BOOKLAND has a large population, many individuals belonging to the same family, many being from some other clan, and a few stemming from a single strain.

Devotees of comic books and animated cartoons are well-acquainted with Walt Disney's resilient rabbit hero, Bugs Bunny, who seems to be here to stay. A visit to any popular-price book counter will prove that many people have tried, and are still trying, to get into the rabbit-book act. But, as in all communities, there is a rabbit aristocracy, and it's pretty hard to crash the gate.

First to make his habitation in the Children's Book World was Brer Rabbit. (His picture is familiar to all grocery shoppers who ever visit the molasses section.) The word "Brer" is southern for "Brother." Brer Rabbit was first created by Joel Chandler Harris, a newspaperman whose printing shop was on his plantation in Georgia. Harris, who lived from 1848 to 1908, first invented the lovable old Negro character Uncle Remus, and then allowed Uncle Remus to dream up Brer Rabbit who always contrived to outwit his arch enemy, Brer Fox.

Of course, there is a nasty old rumor to the effect that once upon a time over in France there was a fictional hero called Pierre Lapin, but that's ridiculous. It's perfectly obvious that all rabbits speak English!

THE PAIR became immortalized through Mr. Harris' newspaper and later through his books. Walt Disney made these characters more vivid for the 20th century with his movie "Song of the South."

The fraudulent check unit of the Michigan State Police received and processed 200 bogus checks in March, identifying 108 by name or with previous specimens. Face value of the checks totaled $16,790, an average of $83.95.

In another part of the world—London, England, to be exact—a lonely little girl being brought up in a staid and strict Victorian household, got acquainted with rabbits during summer holidays spent in Scotland, and as she grew to young womanhood began writing letters to one or two friends and relatives in the form of delightfully illustrated, highly imaginative little stories about rabbits. This shy English girl was Beatrix Potter.

THERE ARE some sensible people who believe that if a child must have a book about rabbits it should be something practical, such as "The Care and Feeding of Rabbits." That they are in the minority, however, is proved by the numbers in which Beatrix Potter's little books (just the right size, too) are bought for and read by children constantly.

Luman Hall has an interest in history. He has copies of many of the first newspapers printed in the county and elsewhere.

Early settlement. . Rochester Colony

Luman Hall of 3801 Hall Road is a direct descendant of one of Rochester Colony's original settlers, John Ferdon. Ferdon was Hall's great-great-grandfather.

Ferdon, Oliver Bebee and Samuel Barker with their families and Ellen Lowe began their trip west from New York in July of 1836. Included in the party of 16 there were 10 children.

They arrived here the latter part of July, Hall said.

"IT TOOK them nine days to get here from a point north of Lansing, where the Grand River Trail ended," he said.

They had to cut a road through 20 miles of forest. The party spent the first night at the Bebee lot and the next day located the Ferdon property. They began erecting a log house on the Ferdon property that day.

Bebee's cabin was the last of the three to be built and was the first one erected in Duplain township.

THE NEXT to arrive were the Joseph Sever family and Francis Faxon who cleared some land and built a cabin before he settled his family at "The Colony."

Others soon arrived including David Watson, a blacksmith; Charles Baldwin; Willis Temp-hall, who established the first saw-mill and grist-mill, Edward R. Everest, who opened a store and helped establish a post office and Dr William B. Watson, the first physician.

THIS WESTWARD migration to Michigan all began at a meeting held at Rochester, N. Y., in February of 1836. Those at the meeting decided to try to establish a community somewhere in the West, which then included Indiana, Ohio and Michigan.

They selected W. G. Russell, Joseph Sever and E. R. Everest to act as their agents. By April 12, 1836 Russell and Sever had begun a trip to check out areas for possible future settlement.

The following month, they bought sections 28, 29, 31, 32, 33 and the southwest corner of section 30 of Duplain township, which was known at that time only by terms of the United States survey, and sections 6 and 7 of Ovid township. The total area amounted to 4,006 and 4/100 acres and cost $5,003.82.

A LETTER from Russell to Everest told of a 10 day journey to Rochester Colony of the many springs and good lumber and of a possible canal being built to connect the Maple and Shiawassee rivers. The canal it was felt would bring much business to the Colony.

When Russell and Sever returned to Rochester lots were drawn. Willis Tempshall bought property along the river with the stipulation that he would have mills open within a year.

The mills were of great importance to the settlers because until Tempshall had the mills in operation, the early settlers had to go as far as Ann Arbor, Pontiac or even Detroit for their needs.

TO SETTLE in the Rochester Colony land, one had to be a shareholder. The shareholder was required to make improvements which would equal 1/4 of the value of his property within 18 months or forfeit the property.

The property would then be sold at a public auction and after all the legal fees and taxes were paid, the balance would be divided among the shareholders in good standing.

DUPLAIN TOWNSHIP was first called Sena. The new name was selected by Mrs. Watson, wife of the first doctor.

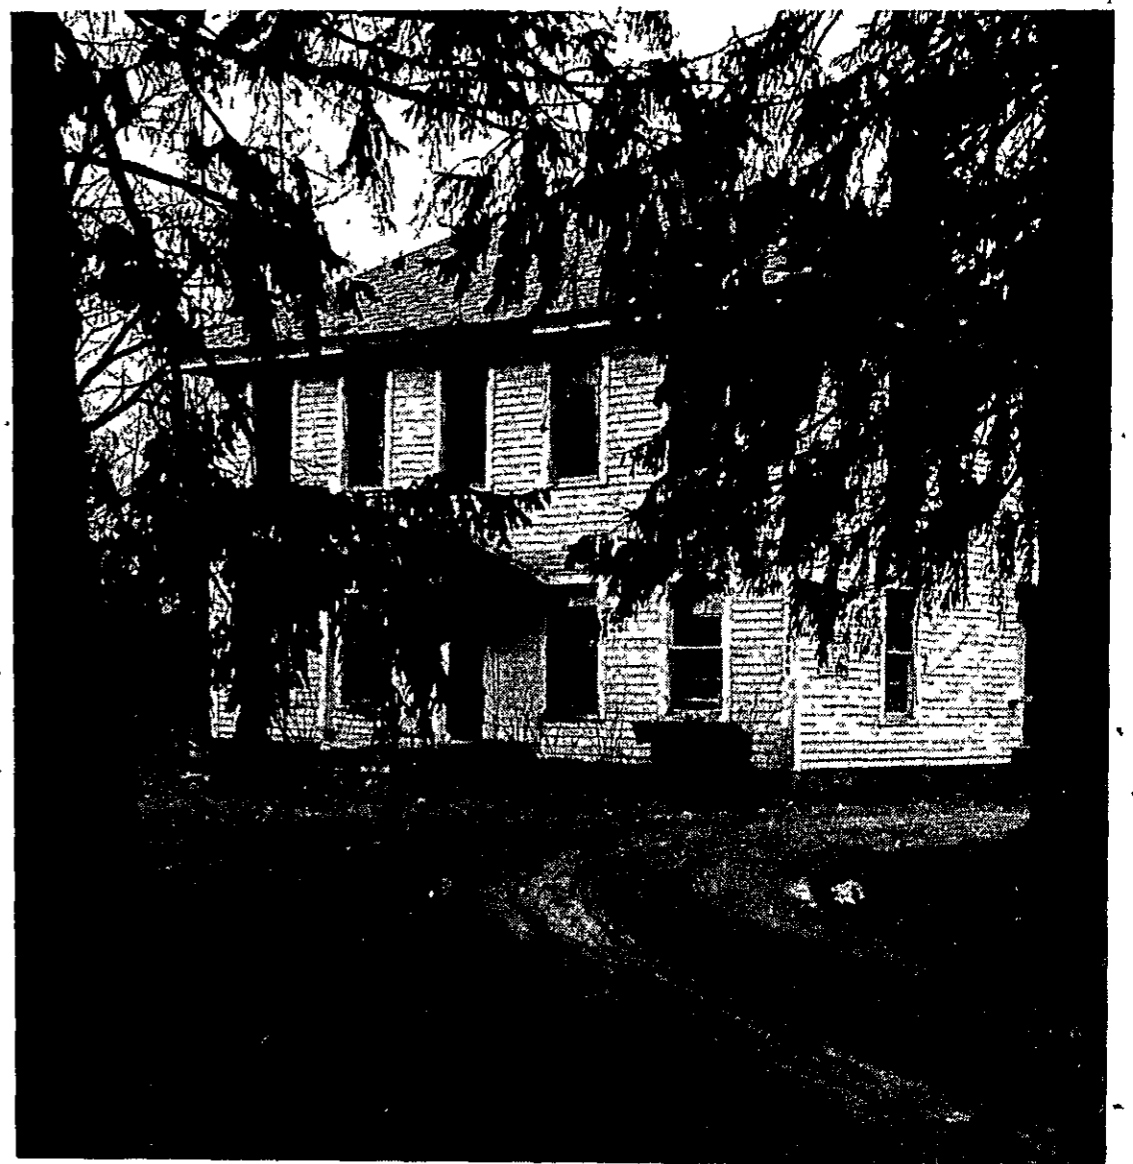

Dr William B. Watson, a Quaker, came from a small town in Pennsylvania called Locust Grove.

He was a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania.

The doctor settled on the banks of the Maple River. It is doubtful, even though he acquired many acres of land, that he ever did any actual farming.

In addition to caring for the sick in the immediate area, he would go by horseback about every 10 days to care for the people in DeWitt.

NEXT WEEK MORE ABOUT ROCHESTER COLONY

The home of Dr Watson, one of the earlier settlers of the Colony, is a centennial farm.

600 take cancer Pap test in county

About 600 women in Clinton County have been tested for cervical cancer in the county-wide screening program for women 21 years of age since the program started, Feb. 15.

The program — aimed at seeking early diagnosis of possible cervical cancer in its early curable stages — is being sponsored by the Clinton County Health Unit; Clinton County unit, American Cancer Society; county home extension groups and the Michigan Department of Public Health.

ACTUALLY, THE program is simple: All women in the county who are 21 years of age are asked to make an appointment with their personal physician who will conduct a Papanicolaou test. The only cost to the women participating is for the physician's office examination; with the laboratory costs underwritten by the Michigan Department of Public Health.

Although the method of detecting cervical cancer before any symptoms are present was first described in 1928 by Dr George Papanicolaou, the technique was not widely used until the mid 1950's. In 1954, the Michigan Department of Health instituted the first cervical cancer screening program in the state in St. Joseph County, where more than 1,000 women took part, with three cases of cancer found and cured as a result of the program. SINCE THEN, more than 40,000 women have participated in similar programs throughout Michigan, and a definite decline in the number of cervical cancer deaths has been noted.

"This bill from the beauty parlor . . . what did we get for that money?"

Spring may bring break in food costs

BY HELEN MEACH
Extension Home Economist

April is fickle. One day she is soft, sweet and balmy. The next she'll swirl, spit, snarl and storm around as she sheds the remnants of a worn-out winter and gives birth to a new spring season.

But possibly with her alternate tantrums and coy spells she'll be able to upset the food price trends of the last few months. The high cost of meats and the weather damages to perishable fruits and vegetables have been primary reasons for a record high rise in cost of living.

Good quality endive and escarole at reasonable prices supplement salad needs.

EGG PRICES, which have been unusually high, are due to drop after Easter.

In canned and frozen fruits and vegetables all prices are moving up as last year's pack dwindles with the exception of canned and frozen snap beans and canned peas.

Tuna prices are due to reflect an acute shortage. Fishing for tuna has improved but tuna has been released to food dealers only on an allotment basis.

WHEN FOOD prices go up as they adjust to increased costs for labor, merchandising and for various other reasons as short supply, it takes a while before the retail outlet readjusts to falling costs. There is one figure that varies not one bit for a lot of folks on pension, etc. and that's the amount of money you have to live on. It's difficult to make meager funds stretch any farther.

As we juggle our funds to get what we need, there are some constructive things we can do. Plan and plant a garden. It should be planned now. Eliminate waste whenever possible. And preserve and utilize all the nutritive power you purchase.

According to such authentic market reports as the Wall Street Journal and federal market situation reports, it looks as though meat prices are due to break. This is evidenced by occasional first-of-April features on whole broilers at 29¢ rather than 39¢ and pork loins at 59¢ instead of 79¢.

FRESH VEGETABLES are increasing in quantity and quality is improving as more producing areas come into production. The weatherman has tamed off the frosts. We hope he doesn't replace them with wind, rain and floods.

Vine ripe tomatoes, cabbage, endive, escarole, broccoli, brussels sprouts and carrots are among the vegetables coming through in much improved quality and in enough abundance to permit prices attractive to more consumers.

Apples, Valencia oranges from Florida, lots of navel oranges from California and bananas dominate fruit counters.

EARLY SEASON strawberries, asparagus and hothouse rhubarb assure us that spring has arrived somewhere in the United States.

Lettuce prices have pretty well dropped but quality varies with the source of production. Small heads have been most evident all winter.

Saint John Chrysostom, one of the most celebrated fathers of the early Christian church, acquired his name for his talent in preaching. Chrysostom means "golden-mouthed."

Nazarene church school leaders to attend meet

Nazarene Sunday school leaders and the pastor of the St. Johns Church of the Nazarene will take part in a two-day church schools convention and workshop at the North Street Church of the Nazarene in Lansing Thursday and Friday.

Attending will be the Rev Eldon Raymond, pastor, Sunday school Supt. Keith Demott of near Ashley and several of the eight Sunday school teachers and assistants.

THE PROGRAM will open at 1:30 Thursday afternoon and continue all day. It will be attended by leaders from 105 Nazarene churches on the Michigan district.

Similar programs are being held this month at Toronto, Canada, and Pittsburgh, Pa. Plans for the church-wide program to secure an enrollment of 1,000,000 persons or more in Sunday school will be outlined. The church now has about 890,000 in Sunday school.

THE PROGRAM will be conducted by a visiting group of 10 leaders from church headquarters in Kansas City, Mo., led by Dr Kenneth Rice, executive secretary.

Road Commission Weekly Report

Many questions are asked us about road commission organization. It is apparent that few people really understand the structure and operation.

Road commissions were created by law more than 50 years ago. The laws governing them and their funds have been amended many times.

THE COMMISSION IS comprised of three members, appointed for six-year terms, one appointed every two years by the board of supervisors.

The board appoints an engineer-manager who is charged with the operation according to the laws set up by the commission.

The board's share is then divided into two funds—75 per cent for primary roads and 25 per cent for local roads.

The Board of Clinton County Road Commissioners held their regular meeting April 4.

The board opened bids for a new tractor-mower. The Phillips Implement Co., bidding an Oliver 650 tractor and a 960 mower, was awarded the contract.

The board discussed spring break-up and construction plans for this and coming years, and read the operations report for March 1966.

John Bennett of Portland spent the weekend with Gary Sullivan.

Mrs Doris Stafford of Muskegon was visiting her sister, Mrs Don DuMond, when she was taken ill and removed to St. Lawrence Hospital.

Mr and Mrs Harvey Hoerner and Roger Handenberg visited Mr and Mrs Harold Hoerner Sunday.

Wayne Valentine visited Harold Hoerner Sunday.

Planning high school is different, complex

Planning high school buildings is considerably different than planning elementary buildings. At the elementary level teachers attempt to lay a solid foundation by teaching basic fundamental skills; at the high school teachers still work on developing skills, but more subjects are added to the curriculum.

Since all students will not continue their schooling beyond the 12th grade, high schools must provide an education that will prepare students to enter the world of work with some basic experiences that will help bridge the gap between school and beginning a job.

IF ALL STUDENTS were the same, much of the concerns of educating students would be rather simple and routine, but no two individuals are alike and have the same ambitions and abilities. This in itself makes the education program, complicated and, of course, more expensive.

What types of activities should be provided to meet the needs of these students? First, St. Johns school officials believe, there must be some predicting into the future to see what education will be in 10, 20, or possibly 50 years from now. Aside from predicting, there are some definite trends in education which can serve as guides in planning schools. It is known that vocational education is on a sharp increase. For instance, there is a shortage of mechanics, TV repairmen, and many other electrical and mechanical fields. There have been provisions in the planning for shops and laboratories in which training in these fields can be obtained.

TEAM TEACHING is a new, effective method of instruction for large groups. The high school departments will have folding partitions between classrooms so that the size of the classroom can be enlarged to provide for this type of instruction.

The heart of any school is the library, one which will be attractive and have many books, periodicals, reference materials, etc. Students should have the opportunity to use the library for a study room or a place to just browse for a book to read. The amount of knowledge now available is supposed to double in the next five years. A library is being provided in the proposed plans.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION and health education are a very important part of any education program. Students who are physically fit perform more effectively in the classroom and in everyday living. Facilities have been provided which will provide enough space that all students may take part in physical education. The gymnasium will have a folding door so both boys and girls may use the gym during the same hour.

A swimming pool is being proposed which will add another teaching station to the physical education program. The pool will serve as a classroom and be in use each period. It also will be made available to adults or families for recreational swimming in the evenings and possibly weekends.

"A person should know that swimming is the best all-around exercise obtainable," school officials point out. "With the many water activities people engage in, it is believed that a student or adult who knows how to swim will have a better change for survival if caught in a dangerous situation."

THE HIGH school plans call for a room which will serve as a cafeteria, study hall, and a place that the public may use for large banquets, meetings, etc. A complete kitchen will prepare hot lunches for the high school and the junior high. Food will be transported to the junior high school.

The music department will be enlarged with separate classrooms included for both instrumental and vocal music. Music is considered an integral part of any high school program.

Business education is another area that has been enlarged. The present department cannot accommodate modern business machines which people use in modern offices today.

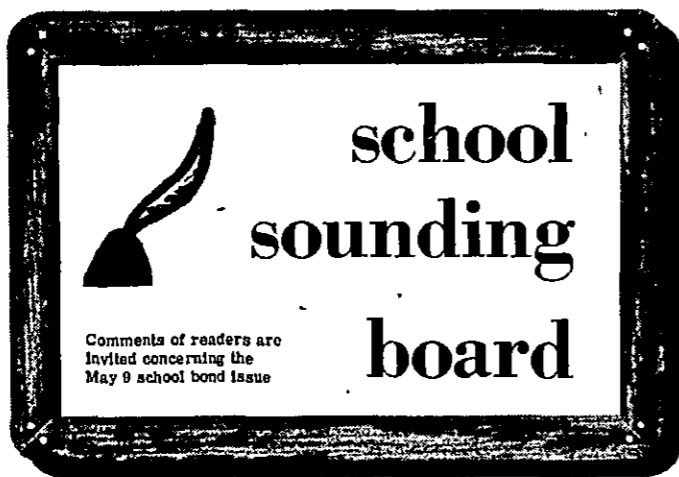

"OF COURSE, there must be provisions for the regular classrooms which are much the same as those presently in the high school. The proposed plans call for classrooms in English, foreign languages, social studies, mathematics, physics, chemistry, biology, general science, speech, typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, office machines, and business and retailing. The size of the classrooms and the enrollment per class depends on the subject matter taught, but in most cases no class ought to have more than 30 students.

Every department will have one workroom for teachers to use in preparation of lessons. The workroom will also serve as a small conference room which can be used for small group or individual instruction.

The principal, guidance counselors and secretaries need office and conference room space to accomplish their work with students. This space is planned for in the proposal.

This, in general, is what the teachers, administration, school board and citizens' committee feel is an improved facility which will serve this school district for 50 years or more. It is the plan which will be submitted as part of a $5.4 million bond issue to voters May 9.

'Constant improvement maintains education'

IN REPLY to last week's letter written by Mr Taylor, I would like to comment on the two facts he mentioned.

The first fact stated: "1) An individual cannot be educated unless he has the mental capacity."

Mr Taylor made no further comment upon this "fact." We are no longer living in the Dark Ages or even 50 years ago. In 1966 we do not ignore or hide children of low mental capacities in the attic. Society has learned that the sub-normal IQ can learn and be trained to function normally in society. Ever hear of special education? Great work is being done here to educate these children. St. Johns has such a program and it will be broadened with the passage of the bond issue and more space is available.

SECONDLY, Mr Taylor states: "2) An individual cannot be educated unless he has a desire, an urge to learn. He must be motivated."

True, but are our students really unmotivated? If four-fifths of our students do not want to learn, why do they bother to graduate? Why not quit at age 16? St. Johns has an extremely low percentage of dropouts. These high schoolers realize the value of education or they would not stay in school. Our colleges are crowded and are forced to turn down students seeking admission. Many others go on to business schools or to trade schools. And you say these are unmotivated students? I disagree; they are motivated.

A HIGH SCHOOL diploma is not a reward for school attendance. Today's student has to work to attain this honor. The last two years I have spent teaching in junior and senior high schools. It is not yet seven years since I graduated from high school. While teaching, I discovered education had been greatly upgraded since I was a student. Standards of education, subject matter, and grading systems have been improved and developed to a new high level. I doubt it is possible for a student to do nothing for four years and ever make it to the commencement platform.

America is well known for its system of public education which provides equal opportunity to ALL. This is not true in Russia where young people are told what they are to study. This lack of freedom of choice has created unmotivated Russian students. Hence, educational failure.

IN ORDER to maintain high standards of education, it is necessary to constantly improve our facilities. Modern buildings, well equipped libraries, and new equipment and materials are essential to promote motivation and to educate today's young inquiring minds. The school bond issue amply provides for the present and future needs of the St. Johns School District, educationally and for the needs of the evergrowing population. Only $7.00 per $1,000 of evaluation is a small amount which is well spent tax money for a precious heritage. A vote for the bond issue is a vote for the best interests of our youth and the future of the United States of America.

Sincerely,
SALLY PULLING BORON
(Mrs Allan L.)

R-2, Laingsburg

Wants good facilities for good teachers

IN OUR SCHOOL system we are fortunate to have teachers who are doing excellent jobs as instructors and are also willing to give of their own time for special activities.

Our children have activity clubs such as drama, GAA and Russian language, to point out a few. Many teachers provide time outside of regular school hours for students to work on projects or get extra help. We have good athletic programs and guidance services. Our teachers are active in many of our church and service organizations.

MR GORDON VANDEMARK is an example of this "giving more than is required" teacher. With his sight on the future, he is training an eighth grade choir. He also has a training choir group which will become, after much instruction and hard work, members of the concert choir. His other choral groups have contributed to many community functions.

The gift of pride for their accomplishments, along with the knowledge that the hard work involved to make it possible was worthwhile, means a great deal to the students.

The production of "Bye Bye Birdie" proved to be a musical entertainment, an achievement of success and pride for the students, Mr Vandemark and the community. His effort in our behalf at Christmas time led to the memorable performance of The Messiah that we all enjoyed and again spoke of with pride.

NOT ALL SCHOOL systems are as fortunate as we are to have teachers who are interested not only in their work but in the community they work in.

I want to say thank you; you are appreciated. I plan on voting for better facilities for you and for the children entrusted to your care.

Seek those who need white cane

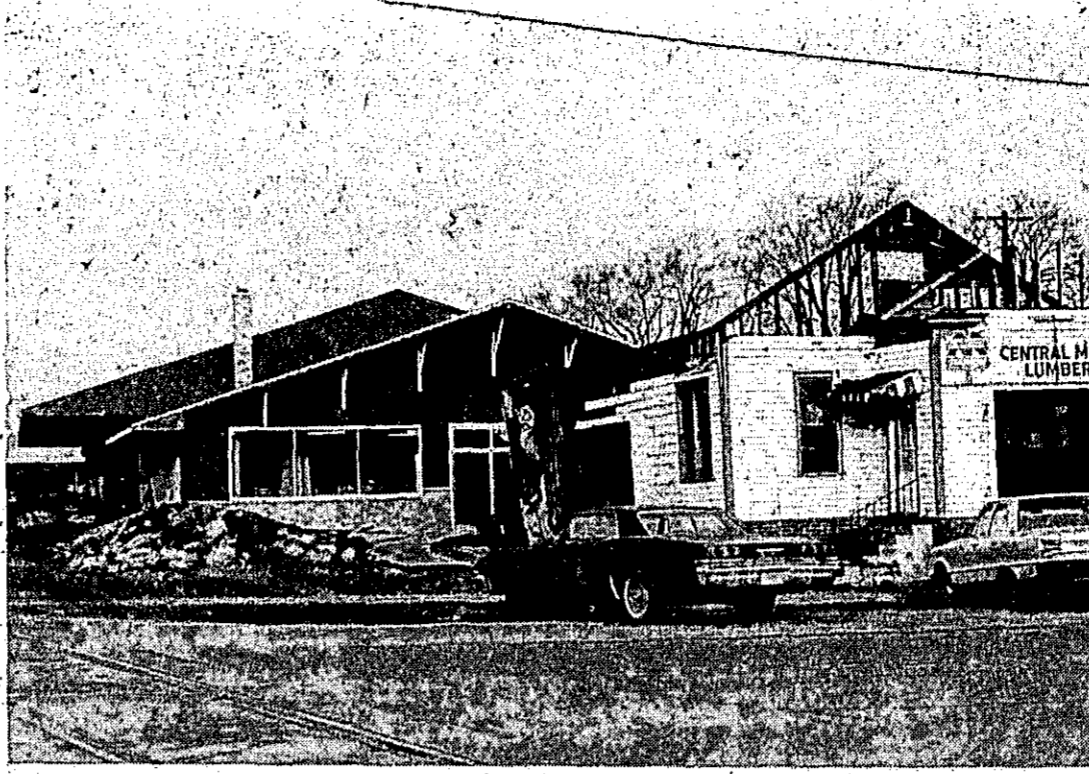

The St. Johns Lions Club is seeking information about any persons in the St. Johns area who have need of a white cane.

"If you know anyone we can assist with a vision problem, please let us know who it is," the Lions said. "We stand ready to serve."

The emphasis on white canes is in recognition of White Cane Week April 24 to 30 under sponsorship of the Lions Clubs of Michigan. The white cane calls for thoughtfulness, friendly appreciation and a personal responsibility for the safety of the individual carrying it, the Lions said.

"THERE ARE about 14,000 blind people in Michigan dependent upon the white cane and you. You can see a person carrying a white cane, but please remember: that person cannot see you."

Any blind person can secure a white cane from any Lions club.

JOHN FURRY

'A much-needed method'

John Furry, coordinator of the high school's cooperative education program, has these feelings about it:

"This cooperative approach to education is a much-needed method for meeting the demands of our society for well-trained career-minded students in office occupations. It gives them the much-needed practical experience that is not attainable in any classroom situation.

"The future years in education will definitely see an expansion of this approach into other areas of the school's curriculum dealing with saleable skills.

"The success of such a program is, however, and always will be, dependent upon the willingness and the desire of the various employers of our community to cooperate to the fullest in offering these students a place to obtain this experience while going to school."

7 meetings set to explain schools

WHAT IS COOPERATIVE EDUCATION?

Cooperative education is that part of the total secondary school program which recognizes the value of supervised work as a learning experience. Within any community, there are many laboratories where boys and girls may learn the skills and knowledge which will help them to become trained craftsmen and business associates. These business establishments are in the community. By working part of the school day, under competent supervision, the boy or girl may learn practical skills and knowledge which will contribute materially to his or her growth and development as an effective citizen.

WHO MAY TAKE COOPERATIVE EDUCATION?

Any student who has reached the age of 16 years and can demonstrate an aptitude and interest for a specific kind of work may qualify for Cooperative Education. He must have the consent of his parents and must have a training station where he may receive on-the-job instruction. Our program is limited to office education, and therefore only those students who are enrolled in the business education course qualify for this program.

WHAT IS A TRAINING STATION?

A training station is any local business or industry which will provide training on a part-time basis and agrees to teach the trainee the skills and knowledge necessary to become a proficient worker in an occupation in that business or industry. The training station bears the same relationship as the classroom in school, only its location is different.

WHAT ARE THE EMPLOYER'S RESPONSIBILITIES?

The employer agrees to offer reasonably continuous employment to the high school student for a minimum of 15 hours during the "working week." If a boy or girl is under 18, a "working permit" must be secured. The employer agrees to diversify the work experience according to a pre-arranged plan. The plan, devised by the employer and the school, outlines the steps which will permit the boy or girl to learn business, trade or occupational classification in the most logical manner. The employer agrees to report periodically on the progress of the student. In all respects he is looked upon as the teacher while a student is under his supervision.

WHAT ARE RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE STUDENT?

The student agrees to adhere to the rules, regulations and policies of the employer during the training period. He agrees he will faithfully perform the duties of the job and abide by the plan of training. Failure to perform these responsibilities are considered in the same light as failure to other subjects in school.

WHAT ARE RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE SCHOOL?

The school agrees to provide that kind of related instruction which will best help the student to understand the nature of the work he is performing. This related instruction is provided after consultation with the employer concerning its character and content. The school through its representative (the coordinator) works closely with the employer to assist in the solution of any problems which may arise. Young people need to be taught many of the desirable traits which most employers desire.

CAN HAZARDOUS JOBS BE PERFORMED?

Many jobs classified in the federal register as being hazardous may be approved for students of cooperative occupational training providing prior in-school experience has been obtained. By qualifying for a deviation to function in a hazardous activity, the trainee becomes legally employed and is covered by the various laws the same as an adult worker.

WHAT IS A TRAINING PROGRAM?

In order to establish worthwhile objectives for training, it is desirable to have a guide for Best training is doing!

Educators agree the best training is actually doing. The St. Johns Public Schools a couple of years ago re-established a program in which high school students in business education get actual work experience—thanks to the cooperation of a number of businesses and industries. In this Focus on Education report, John Furry, guidance counselor at Rodney B. Wilson High School and coordinator of this program, explains how it operates.

Furry is presently contacting local business for tentative arrangements for cooperative education in the 1966-67 school year.

each of the parties to follow. For each trainee, the training program outlines the job processes to be learned and the school subjects to be studied. The training program is the result of cooperative efforts on the part of the employer and the coordinator.

DOES THE STUDENT RECEIVE WAGES?

Yes. Though wages are not the most important part of the program, it is deemed advisable to reward the student as any other employee. Wages should be paid commensurate with earning ability and status as a trainee. Wherever they apply, minimum state and federal laws must be recognized.

WHO IS THE COORDINATOR?

The success of a cooperative program is dependent to a very large extent upon the selection of a well-qualified coordinator. As a regular member of the high school staff, the coordinator is the key person in correlating the efforts of the employer, school administrator, school guidance services personnel, and related subjects teacher, all of whom are vital to the effectiveness of the program.

DOES THE STUDENT RECEIVE SCHOOL CREDIT?

Yes, he does. Since the student is under the direct supervision of the school, he will receive appropriate credit for satisfactory work. Custom has established the practice of granting the same amount of credit for the work experience as for any other high school subject. The student is graded as in any other course of study. Grades are based upon employer progress reports to the school.

WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE?

Schools must help 26 million youth work their way through the challenging decade ahead:

Of every 10 youth who enter grade school 3 will not finish high school; 7 will earn a high school diploma; 4 will continue their education; 2 will finish 4-year college.

In Michigan, roughly 65 per cent of the graduating students seek employment upon completion of high school. Cooperative education is one method of training and retraining which has proven qualities for preparing youth for successful entry into an occupation.

THE COORDINATOR of the program will be happy to discuss training needs with employers, students and parents. He will counsel students about occupational opportunities and will attempt to find qualified trainees for any employer in the community who can offer a training station to a boy or girl.

It is this cooperative effort which will provide, for all, the kind of community in which one wishes to live.

For every human on earth to have 2,600 calories per day (the established minimum for good health), it would take twice the amount of food produced yearly in the entire world. And yet, the world's population is increasing by some 100,000 per day (excess of births over deaths). It looks like many will have to go hungry.

Pat Burnham, right, gets an insight into the legal business world in her work with Mrs Phyllis Anderson, secretary to Municipal Court Judge Alba Wert.

Cooperative education students have a one-noon-hour-a-week session with the program's coordinator, John Furry, to go over the problems and experiences they run into on their jobs. Students at this session included, left to right, Anna Voisinet, Jeanne Knupp, Fran VanAmburg, Jean Halsey, Pam Woodbury, Maureen Flegler, Karen Moinet, Ruth Curtis, Pat Burnham, Bonnie Ordway and Kathy Weed.

The road to centralism is too, too easy a route

Since the new Department of Housing and Urban Affairs will be headed by a secretary with cabinet status, it might be well to speculate on the long-range effect on federal-state-local relations.

Will this action, along with the mandatory reapportionment of state and national legislative districts, help silence the voices of the small towns and rural areas in state and national legislatures? Will this move increasingly solidify federal intervention into problems once considered the sole province of city and state?

Only time will tell. However, it does seem that the quickest way to solve local problems, to create homes of dignity and neighborhoods of pride, would be to give the cities tax sources now pre-empted by the federal government and let them solve their own problems.

IT IS LUDICROUS even to assume that a Washington bureaucrat is in a better position to judge what is good for the local community - today and tomorrow - than astute leading citizens of the community.

However, because it is sometimes difficult to obtain the necessary finances locally for community betterment, the temptation to run down to Washington for the funds seems to be the easy way out, even though the community many times loses control of civic projects in the process.

The fallacy of permitting more and more control of government to be centralized in Washington will become clearer in the days ahead. It is hoped that this community will weigh carefully the consequences, and will decide accordingly.

Fair Break for Homeowners

Reprinted from MASON COUNTY PRESS Scottville, Mich.

The average American family's principal lifetime investment is in a home. From the time the initial agreement is signed, until the final mortgage payment has been made, investments in homes help make any community a better place to live.

The home is also a major tax source for the running of the community. When the home is well cared for - and improved, it increases in value both to the owner and in community betterment.

SOMETIMES IT IS necessary to sell a home - so it is placed on the market. Then the federal government steps into the picture. If through diligence and care and other factors the value of the home has increased the profit from the sale is subject to a federal capital gains tax.

To be sure, this liability can be deferred by investing in another residence, or if the owner is 65 years old or over, an exemption from capital gains of the first $20,000 is permitted under certain conditions. But if the home is sold at a loss, the federal government will not permit a tax deduction.

THE NATIONAL Association of Manufacturers in a move to get a better break for home owners, recommends that the tax be entirely eliminated from the sale of personal residences.

Laugh!

Last Sunday marked the end of National Laugh Week. Sponsored by the National Association of Gag Writers and the Comedy Workshops of America, its purpose was to "salute the laugh makers of America, past, present and future."

In honor of the event, we intended to print the following story last week, but it got crowded out. Since a laugh is always good, we didn't think we'd just throw it away. Now you can laugh at it this week if you so desire.

"Respected Sir: "When I got to the building, I found that the hurricane had knocked some bricks off the top. So I rigged up a beam with a pulley at the top of the building and hoisted up a couple of barrels full of bricks.

"WHEN I FIXED the building there were a lot of bricks left over. I hoisted the barrel back up again and secured the line at the bottom and then went up and filled the barrel with extra bricks. Then I went to the bottom and cast off the line.

"Unfortunately, the barrel of bricks was heavier than I was, and before I knew what was happening the barrel started down, jerking me off the ground. I decided to hang on, and half-way up I met the barrel coming down and received a severe blow on my shoulder.

"I then continued to the top, banging my head against the team and getting my fingers jammed in the pulley. When the barrel hit the ground it burst its bottom, allowing the bricks to spill out. I was now heavier than the barrel and so started down again at high speed.

"HALFWAY DOWN I MET the barrel coming up and received severe injuries in my shins. When I hit the ground I landed on the bricks, getting several painful cuts from the sharp edges.

"At this point I must have lost my presence of mind, because I let go the line. The barrel then came down, giving me another heavy blow on the head and putting me in the hospital.

"I respectfully request sick leave."

MICHIGAN MIRROR

Looks like an easy $1 billion in tourist trade

BY ELMER E. WHITE Michigan Press Assn.

Ever since 1961, when the figure stood at $650 million for the fourth consecutive year, the barometer measuring tourist activity in Michigan has been steadily climbing toward the billion mark.

Boosts to $680, $727 and $850 million preceded the 1965 giant step to $960 million in recreational travel spending in Michigan.

Officials emphasize these figures are conservative estimates. Extensive surveys in 1964 and 1965 have placed these spending rates in a category called "primary tourist spending."

Only overnight travelers and their expenditures for food, lodging, entertainment and transportation are included.

BEST GUESSES of the other fringe areas of spending indicate the business activity involving recreation travel would be well over $1 billion.

Indications that the year-round travel attractions of Michigan are gaining in popularity were good in 1965. Winter spending was up 4 per cent; summer travel activity increased by about 13 per cent; and autumn expenditures increased by about 9 per cent.

MEASUREMENT of these activities takes in the several important sources of information throughout the state. These include traffic on the Mackinac, Blue Water and Ambassador bridges and the Detroit-Windsor tunnel.

Inquiries to local chambers of commerce and the state and regional tourist bureaus also are a part of the tabulation. Attendance at state parks provides still another portion of the measuring stick of tourist volume.

Still another gauge is found in numbers visiting special points on interest such as Greenfield Village and the Soo Locks.

Reports from almost every indicator in the state showed a good year in 1965 and aside from a somewhat disappointing ski season early this year, experts expect the $1 billion mark to be easily passed this year.

THREAT OF public identification of juvenile law breakers is the latest state effort to combat rising crime rates among youngsters.

Many have overriding doubts that threat of publicity of vandals, thieves and other offenses would have any lasting impact on juveniles. Indeed, there have been instances where publicity was seen by juveniles as a form of recognition rather than a criticism of them.

On the other side is Rep. Bobby D. Crim, Davison Democrat, who sponsored the legislation now under consideration. He contends that if both the juveniles and their parents were publicly called to task for delinquency, it might provide a two-pronged deterrent: from the family and from peers of the offenders.

"As it is now," says Crim, "every time some hood is arrested and convicted, it is never said who it is and the whole juvenile class gets blamed."

THEORY OF the family pressure idea is that parents might be more concerned about their children's activities if they thought anti-social behavior would openly be reflected on the home.

As the law stands now, probate courts dealing with juvenile law breakers are forbidden from releasing to newspapers the names of youngsters involved.

Crim's bill, now under Senate consideration after passage in the House, would give the probate judge discretionary power to release or suppress these names.

ELIMINATION of overlapping services was one aim of state government realignment completed this year.

Even before the reorganization was completed, there arose a question of duplication which caused some hubbub but over which the state had no control.

An example is the Michigan State University Highway Traffic Safety Center and a traffic research program at the University of Michigan. There is already assurance there will be no duplication.

MSU's CENTER has been in operation for several years. It depends almost entirely on legislative appropriations for funds and has concentrated on short-term applied research dealing with immediate problems.

The University of Michigan project was just established early from the HOPPER

BY STEVE HOPKO

IN BETWEEN the nasty days we have been getting from "ole man weather," he has been throwing in just enough sunny and warm days to remind us that spring is getting well along and summer isn't far behind.

Of course, as the warm sun peeks out from behind the clouds on certain days the talk, among many of our male members of our area, begins to run to the subject of golf.

THE REASON this comes to mind is that the other day, as I was sorting through some things at home, I ran across an essay on golf that was sent to me by my "mother-in-law" a few years ago. I never did decide whether she was trying to tell me something, or if I was to find a moral hidden away among words.

Whatever her reasons were for sending it to me, I thought it would be worthwhile sending along to you. It goes like this:

GOLF: GOLF IS A form of work made expensive enough for a man to enjoy it. It is physical and mental exertion made attractive by the fact that you have to dress for it in a $200,000 clubhouse. Golf is what letter-carrying, ditch-digging and carpet-beating would be if those tasks had to be performed on the same hot afternoon in shorts and colored socks by gouty-looking gentlemen who require a different implement for every mood.

GOLF IS the simplest looking game in the world when you take it up, and the toughest looking after you have been at it ten or twelve years.

It is probably the only game a man can play as long as a quarter of a century and then discover that it was too deep for him in the first place.

THE GAME is played on carefully selected grass with little white balls and as many clubs as the player can afford. These little balls cost from 75c to $25, and it is possible to support a family of ten people (adults) for five months on the money represented by the balls lost by some golfers on a single afternoon.

Auto industry spokesmen and members of the MSU Center staff have emphasized the separate activities at the two institutions will be entirely different.

A "HOLE" IS A tin cup in the center of the "green." A "green" is a small parcel of grass costing about $1.98 a blade and usually located between a brook and a couple of apple trees, or a lot of unfinished excavations.

The idea is to get the ball from a given point into each of the 18 cups in the fewest strokes and the greatest number of words.

THEY MUST NOT be thrown, pushed or carried. It must be propelled by about $200 worth of curious looking implements especially designed to provoke the owner.

Each implement has a specific purpose and ultimately some golfers get to know what that purpose is. They are the exceptions.

RAMBLIN' with Rink

By LOWELL G. RINKER

My job is news. I have been hired by the owners of the Clinton County News to obtain, write or photograph and headline the news of events taking place in St. Johns and Clinton County.

We're a little different than a daily newspaper or a radio station in that we cater almost entirely to local news - items about local people, local government and local organizations. We have no Associated Press or United Press International wire services feeding us information, in written form, about what is going on.

I AM primarily responsible for filling up 55 per cent of the 32, 34 or 36 pages or more which we print each week. We try to keep the news and pictures that go in those 2,957 to 3,326 inches of non-advertising space with material about and of interest to our 7,400 subscribers and three times that many readers.

Doing this is no simple job. It keeps me, Social Editor Sandi Rathbun and Publisher Steve Hopko busy more hours than we like to think about filling up the space. We get invaluable aid from our out-county correspondents - about 40 in number - who keep us, and you as readers, informed about what folks in their particular areas are doing.

WE ALSO get news and news tips through the mail from public relation departments of various public and private institutions and businesses. In fact we get so much material through the mail I dare say we could almost fill up one issue of the paper with the material we throw away in one week. I would hazard a guess maybe only 5 per cent of what we get gets in the paper in some form because it concerns someone or some group locally.

Even all these sources won't normally fill up the amount of news space we have to work with. We need our own little "wire service" from every person and every organization in town and in the county if we're going to fill our pages with good, live, local news.

A newspaper is only as good as its news sources.

AFTER EACH hole has been completed, the golfer counts his strokes. Then he subtracts 6 and says, "Made that in 5!" That's 1 over par! Shall we play for 50¢ on the next hole, too, Ed?"

After the final, or 18th hole, the golfer adds up his score and stops when he reaches 87. He then has a swim, a pint of gin, sings "Sweet Adeline" with other liars and calls it the end of a perfect day.

AFTER READING this over again, I think my "mother-in-law" was trying to tell me something.

TO clubs and other organizations we say let us be your public relations arm; we'll be happy to publicize your organization if you give us NEWS of your activities, not just procedures. NEWS is the best publicity a group can get. Let us know IN ADVANCE of upcoming special events - public dinners, style shows, carnivals, etc. Give us a chance to let people know about it plenty of time in advance, with time to set up an advance photograph if the event is worth it. Calling us three weeks in advance of a public event is not too early.

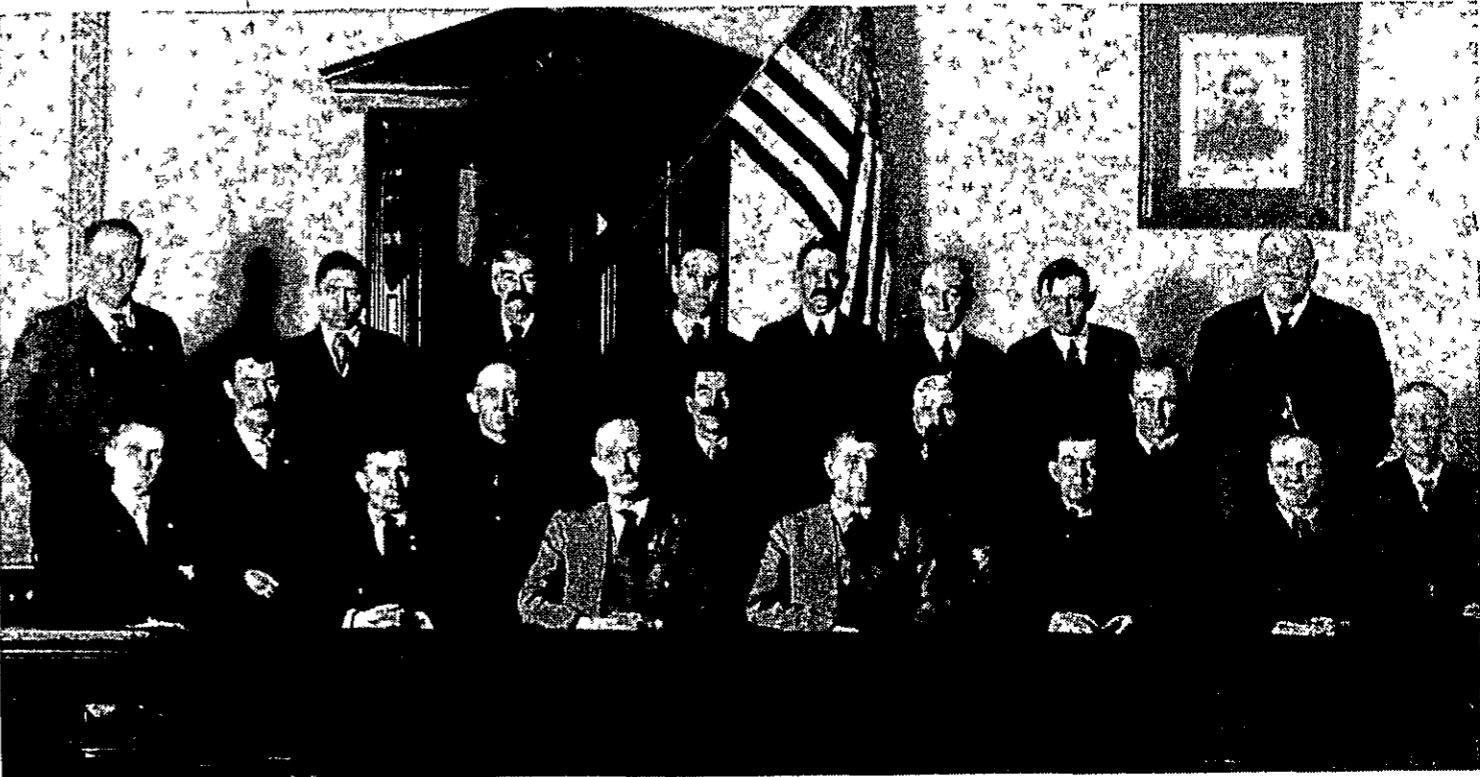

OUR ONLY other request is that material for publication be sent to us early. It is impossible for us to put together 32 to 36 pages of the newspaper all on Tuesday afternoon. Pages are being made up Friday, Monday and Tuesday as well, and sometimes we have to use something non-local on those days in order to fill the required pages.

There are many weeks when news stories - good, newsy stories about local people and local clubs - must be left out because they didn't get to us when we could have used them; but instead were received when we were running out of room. Sometimes even promptly delivered news must be left out for the same reason - not enough room.

THE MORE real news we get early in our work week the more gets into print, the more people and clubs get well-deserved publicity, the more pages are filled with good, live news, the more our readers like it and the more our advertisers like it. As they increase their advertising we increase our number of pages and the amount of LOCAL NEWS we can print for you.

This is your paper, but you are going to have to be one of our "reporters" if it's going to contain all the news YOU want.

Jurors, jurists in murder trial in 1918

For nearly a month in December 1918 the Brenner murder trial was debated and considered by these jurors and jurists. Left to right are, front row, Carl Miller, Tom Tipton, W. E. Kem, Frank Sommerville, Frank Nichols and Clarence Foster; second row, James Dean, Fred Vanvliet, A. W. Sekell, C. J. Miller, Harry Ballinger and George Bond; standing, Mr. Richmond, Charles Goggins, Kelly Searles, Judge Moinett, John Walker, Miles Purcell, L. L. Smith and Loren Castle. The picture originally belonged to the late Mr. Ballinger and was loaned to us for this series by his daughter, Mrs. Neil Harte of 2378 W. Price Road.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

No mo' mole holes, reader contends

IN READING OVER notes of "Farmer Peck's Wife" (a column in the Clinton County News) I note her concern about moles. It is quite simple to control these pests. Don't know her address. Thought you could reply this to her.

I mix a liberal amount of lead arsenate or chlordane dust with fertilizer and scatter over lawn. This will take care of moles for a year or two. This will kill the grubs. The grubs are what the moles are after. At least it works.

You can use spreader or by hand. Which ever method is used it is important to wet lawn well after application. I try to get it on before a rain.

Another way is to get a can of chlordane dust and follow directions on can.

Half-truth

By W. E. DOBSON

There's a form of eddy-cation That's acquired, more or less, In a less-than-normal fashion — Sort of pick-up lore, I guess; And I would not be denying There's know-how for which we yearn, But it's also quite appalling The half-truths we must unlearn.

After all our polly-ticking We must learn as we are able That not all the worldly wisdom Bears one certain party label; E'en the friendly family almanacs To which in youth we'd turn Only added to the score of those Half-truths we must unlearn.

The good religious precepts We learned in early years, Though full of rarest wisdom Often left their doubts and fears; Subject to interpretation We'd accept 'em or we'd spurn; Still we find in the translation Half-truths that we need unlearn.

Granted that the sum of knowledge Is ne'er owned by any man; We must choose from all that's offered Such belief as fits our plan; In the realm of preparation We do well if we discern What is basic in our thinking — What half-truths we must unlearn.

From the Congressional Record

Administration pushes truth-in-lending bill

charge of $332, or an 11.3 per cent annual rate on the declining balance.

Rep. L. K. Sullivan (Mo.) — The truth-in-lending bill, pioneered by Senator Paul Douglas, of Illinois, would give the consumer facts on which to base credit decisions. Credit is an essential tool of our economy today; no one wants to interfere with legitimate credit activities. But the consumer deserves to know the facts —

"Now let me tell you, with a few examples, how truth in lending would work. Suppose you were to borrow $1,800 to buy a car. Under present practice you might be told you would have to pay $ 9.22 a month for 36 months, including '6-per-cent interest.'"

"UNDER TRUTH in lending: You would be told an investigation fee would be $8, interest would be $324, making a total finance charge of $332, or an 11.3 per cent annual rate on the declining balance.

"Under present practices: On a TV set, say you borrow $180 to finance it. You might be told you would pay $11.30 a month for 18 months, including 'carrying charges.'"

"Under truth in lending: You also would be told you would pay $23.40 interest, or a 15.8 annual percentage rate on the declining balance."

"UNDER PRESENT practices: On a house, say you borrow $15,000 at 6 per cent for 25 years. You might be told you would pay $96.65 a month for 25 years, including principal and interest."

"Under truth in lending: You would be told you would pay $14,025 interest (this is not a misprint) over the life of the loan, or a 6 per cent annual rate of the declining balance."

"Under present practices: On department store revolving credit, say you charge $700 worth of purchases. You might be told that you would pay a small service charge for each month that you owed money to the store."

"UNDER TRUTH in lending: You would be told the store's finance charges were at the rate of 18 per cent per year and you would receive a monthly statement showing the dollars-and-cents for credit during the previous month."

"Truth in lending would not in any way control the terms or costs of credit use. It would merely require that the borrower or buyer be fully informed about the finance charges so that he could make an intelligent choice about where to borrow money, whether to pay cash or buy on credit, and if on credit, where to do so."

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT It is assumed that the bill is being supported by responsible merchants who have nothing to hide.

Few, if any, congressmen have opposed the bill. — J. C.

Mud time—the 5th season between winter, spring

HAYDEN PEARSON

It is generally accepted that our year is divided into four seasons, and for those who live beside hard-topped roads, the arrangement is logical. But there are many farm-raised citizens who now live on paved streets, and many who still live on dirt roads, who will agree that we should recognize a fifth season.

mud, though the clayey, moist stuff reaches the democrat's axles. When you sink down in the mud with a car, you face a messy task. Many things can be said about deep mud and most of them have been mentioned by men who step from a car into the dark, slushy material.

ogists say, that mud varies in intensity according to the composition of the soil. All information is helpful and interesting, but one forgets this fact when his car settles down slowly, inexorably and with that feeling of finality. After such an episode, the countryman feels strongly that mud time should be recognized as a separate season of the year.

IT MAY be true, as the geol-

Between the vernal equinox and the middle of April, there is the Mud Season. Its severity and duration depend upon the type of winter. With heavy snow, the frost does not penetrate too deeply and a dirt road dries up quickly. If it had been an open winter and cold temperatures, mud time is a factor that must be considered.

IN THIS befuddled world many traditional concepts are changing, but there is something definite and familiar about well-known mud holes in the road between the farm and village. The lethargic implacability of mud is one reason why the countryman believes we should eliminate horse-less carriages and return to Morgan mares and Clydesdales.
