Cathy Cronkhite wins talent grand award

Miss Cathy Cronkhite was presented one of the grand awards in the junior science division in the annual Youth Talent Exhibit and Science Fair. The exhibit was held in the large auditorium at Lansing's Civic Center April 7 through 13.

Cathy, a junior at Rodney B. Wilson High School, won the award for her photography and experiments in the diffusion method to detect the similarities and differences of serum proteins in different animals. In her experiment she used four rabbits.

Cathy, who plans to become a doctor, is the daughter of Mr and Mrs Richard Cronkhite of 504 W. Baldwin Street. She is now eligible to enter her experiment in the International Science Fair in Fort Worth, Tex., from May 5-10. She will fly to Fort Worth on May 5.

She has already received a $25 savings bond from the Lansing Society of Medical Technologists and a $25 bond from the Michigan State University Junior Chapter of the American Veterinary Medical Assn. and a certificate of merit for medicine and health from the United States Air Force.

Cathy didn't finish her project in time to enter it in the high school science fair, and was "absolutely shocked" when she won. She spent about two and a half months working on the experiment and received the serum for the injections at Michigan State University. She was invited to use the laboratory at Sparrow Hospital in Lansing and received the cooperation of the technicians, hospital personnel and Jim Osborn, pathologist.

"They were all very interested and helpful in my efforts," said Cathy.

The exhibit is sponsored annually by the State Journal, Oldsmobile Division of General Motors Corporation, and the Lansing Parks and Recreation Department.

The other winner in the grand awards was Gary Gallick, a 16-year-old junior from Eastern High School.

'Big decision' on finances awaits comparative study

City Commissioner Oatley resigns

The city commission Monday night accepted "with regret" the resignation of Dr Herb Oatley, DDS, as a city commissioner, due to ill health.

Dr Oatley had served on the commission since last Aug. 26 when he was appointed to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of John Furry.

Dr Oatley's resignation was reluctant on his part, too, as he said in his letter to the commission: "My physician feels it is imperative to my health that I eliminate as many tensions as possible. This is one of the hardest decisions I have ever had to make, for I feel we are on the track of solving at least one of our problems. "May I assure you I'm not doing this willingly, nor have I accepted the doctor's decision with good graces, but I feel I should abide by it."

Dr Oatley was scheduled to undergo surgery in Lansing Tuesday.

Commissioners accepted his resignation "with regret" and instructed that a letter of appreciation be sent to him on behalf of the city. Commissioner Charles Coletta commented that "We have lost a very good and dedicated commissioner."

DR HERB OATLEY ... resigns as commissioner

NO ACTION WAS taken concerning appointment of a replacement on the commission.

In other business Monday night, the commission asked the city manager and chief of police to spell out recommendations for the location of new sidewalks in the section of town bounded by Oakland Street on the west, M-21 on the north, US-27 on the east and Sturgis Street on the south.

The request of the staff followed an inquiry from Bernard Cain of 1010 Hampshire Drive about what action was being taken to provide safer walking for children going to and coming from Swegles School. About a year ago he had presented petitions to the commission asking for installation of sidewalks, particularly along Sturgis Street, Swegles Street and Mead Street in areas where there is none.

He pointed out again Monday night that the commission has the right to order the sidewalks in, with the full cost assessable against the property owners. City Manager Harvey Weatherwax and Police Chief Everett Glasier were asked to have reports ready by the next meeting so that a determination could be made by the commission and a public hearing held.

On another matter, Cain suggested that city officials contact contractors working in the Prince Estates Subdivision concerning deposit of heavy mud on the paved streets there. He said a lot of it is washing into storm drain catch basins that are already full.

THE COMMISSION authorized Consumers Power Co. to install two mercury vapor street lights on East Cass Street between Scott Road and Baker Street where a new subdivision is being developed. They also referred to Consumers Power for recommendations a request for new street lighting in the Orchard Glen Subdivision on the north side of town.

The commission authorized the city manager to have plans and specifications prepared, and to advertise for bids, on the repair of a sewer in Prince Estates subdivision which was not put in correctly. Engineers estimate cost at about $10,000.

CITY TRIES OUT SWEEPER

St. Johns tried out a M & B street sweeper on a demonstration run on North Clinton Avenue last Tuesday afternoon. It was one of several types the city is testing in anticipation of leasing-purchasing a sweeper. City Manager Harvey Weatherwax said the sweeper picked up 4 1/3 cubic yards of dirt, sand and other debris in one three-block run on Clinton Avenue. The dirt was so thick in places that not even a steady stream of water from the machine was able to keep down the dust.

get is a biased report," adding that it would sound that way no matter which way the findings leaned. "We have given the impression we've got to solve this problem quickly, and this study will only take time."

While Coletta's motion did not specify a time element for receiving the report, he commented after the meeting that he'd like to see it by the next regular meeting April 28.

Coletta questioned Hannah whether he was qualified, after hearing the information and testimony at the last city commission meeting and two subsequent public information meetings, to know which proposal was best. "At this point tonight, I'm not qualified to make a decision," and this, he said was his basis for asking for a study.

"This is my preferred way of doing it," Hannah said in referring to his earlier motion. "I feel it is a matter of expediency."

His motion called for a special city election at the earliest possible date on a proposition that the city bond for $180,000 for specific purposes to be determined by the commission.

THIS TIME LAST YEAR: 8

Costs burning a hole, too

It's been a fiery spring!

Answering fire alarms has become almost an every-day job for St. Johns volunteer firemen. They've interrupted their normal lives on 58 occasions so far since Jan. 1, and that's got to be some sort of a new record.

Last winter and spring were crack-jacks, too, where fires were concerned, but they can't hold a candle to the statistics compiled so far in 1969.

Fifty of the runs so far came during the first three months, and 27 of them were for grass fires, mostly in March. (By comparison, firemen made 34 fire runs during the first three months of 1968.) The 50 fires and four drills have cost $3,957 just in firemen's salaries.

The month-long span between Feb. 18 and March 18 was by far the busiest of the last decade. Firemen were out 36 times during that period, 26 on country fire runs, five for city fires, once on an assistance call to another department, two times for drills, once to the city dump and one time on a false alarm.

St. Johns City Treasurer Gene Simon, who keeps track of that sort of thing to figure out costs, reported those 36 runs cost $2,171 in firemen's wages, including $1,432 for the country runs, $483 for the city runs, $70 on the assistance call, $102 for drills, $50 for the dump fire and $34 on the false alarm run.

THE RECORD NUMBER of calls during the first three months — 50, which does not include four drills — has to be primarily attributable to grass fires. Lack of snow cover during the late winter, combined with sunny days and light breezes, kept grass and brush tinder dry.

Mostly because of carelessness by people smoking and burning rubbish, there were 27 grass fires during February and March to which St. Johns firemen responded. Twenty of these were in the rural areas and seven within the city.

The February and March fire runs set records for the decade of the 1960's. There were 15 in February, one higher than last year, and there were 29 fire alarms in March — 11 higher than 1968!

There's been no particular pattern to the number of fires, other than "regularity." January was not particularly busy — only six fires, including the one at Egan Ford Sales. Two of the blazes were on Jan. 8 and the others were on the 13th, 15th, 27th and 28th.

In February the incidence rose. There were two fires on Feb. 11, two on the 21st and two on the 26th, plus one each on Feb. 6, 9, 10, 12, 17, 18, 23, 27 and 28.

March was bad — 29 fire alarms, including three on March 3, March 13 and March 17; five on March 15; two alarms

4-H Club Chatter

By JOHN AYLSWORTH
Extension 4-H Youth Agent

Kathy Nichols of DeWitt, a member of the Olive 4-H Projects Club, will now be going to Japan on the National 4-H Teen Caravan program instead of going to Peru, South America. The change in country was necessary since the Peru program had to be dropped because of few participants. Kathy had her choice of a 17-day program in Venezuela or the two month program in Japan or the Netherlands.

She will leave about June 22 for orientation either in Los Angeles or in Japan instead of Washington. Kathy will be stopping in Hawaii on her return trip to the United States. With the country change in the program, the county 4-H program will assume a cost increase from $450 to $550. Approximately $350 has been contributed so far by 4-H clubs, Extension groups and from two 4-H roller skating activities.

Any other clubs or groups wishing to help Kathy on this program will be appreciated. Kathy is providing $500 of her own for this program plus the transportation to Los Angeles and return.

Kathy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maillon Nichols and Clinton County's first participant in this National 4-H Teen Caravan Program. She is presently a junior at Rodney B. Wilson High School in St. Johns.

Nine members of the Fowler Busy Bees taking the 4-H tractor project participated in the 4-H tractor driving test, the machinery test, plus the written exams last week in hopes they will be eligible to operate a tractor and machinery on a farm other than their own. As the present law states, no youth under 16 years of age may operate a tractor or machinery on a farm other than what their father operates unless he is exempt by passing the 4-H tractor and machinery tests and completed the number of hours of study required on each project. Other 4-H tractor clubs will be taking these tests later this spring.

Drivers are still needed for the 4-H award trip to Yankee Springs this weekend, April 18-20, when approximately 70 4-H members will be participating. The group will leave the Extension office by 4 p.m. on Friday and return by 4:30 p.m. on Sunday. The group will participate in recreation, evening programs, conservation hikes and leadership training over the weekend. These members were recommended by their leaders for their contribution to the local club this past summer and winter 4-H program.

A 4-H Roller Skating Night has been set up for Tuesday, April 29, 7-10 p.m. at the Ranch Roller Rink in St. Johns. A number of clubs have indicated an interest in another night of roller skating. The cost is $1 per person with part of the proceeds going toward helping finance Kathy Nichols' trip to Japan this summer.

"Operation Clean Sweep" will be the theme for the litter pick up program this year as the youth groups in the county are invited to participate in this event. A planning meeting will be held on Monday, April 21, at 7:30 p.m. at Smith Hall in St. Johns to outline the program, set up areas for each group to cover and answer questions. If any club would like to participate and cannot attend the meeting, they are asked to contact the Extension office. The target date of litter pick up is scheduled for Saturday, May 3.

The Pioneer Trail Riders 4-H Club members have elected Mike Ketchum as their president for the summer program. Other officers include vice-president, Irving Kehler; secretary, Nena Heath; treasurer, Nancie Mayer; news reporter, Debbie Wheeler; recreation leader, Lori Wheeler; and song leader, Carolyn Bennett. The leaders are Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Ketchum, with Karen Avery as teen leader. The club discussed the events and activities to be held throughout the summer.

The talent show consisted of a guitar duet and singing of Carol Hunter and Julie Hanses; "Comet" commercial of Rex Droste, Joyce Droste and Janet Shaw; Baton twirling, Pamela Motz; Childs play, Wendy Smith, Jean Feldpausch, Marcia Motz; "Operation Litterbug" portrayed by a cast of 10 members. Token gifts were presented to Judith Whitlock, Lynda Droste, Richard and Robert Jones who have completed their final year of 4-H club work.

The Kountry Kousins 4-H Club members held an important meeting Tuesday evening at the home of their leader Don Devereaux for summer enrollment and election of officers. Any youth who wished to join this club and was unable to attend should contact Devereaux as soon as possible.

The Saddlemates 4-H Club members visited Dr. Rookers' Arabian Ranch last month. The club discussed the horse judging clinics and the State 4-H Horse Judging Contest which Annette Pederson, a member of the club, placed sixth in the individual scoring and helped Clinton County place third out of 43 teams. The Lucky Riders 4-H club members attended the business meeting. It looks like the Saddlemates 4-H club will have a busy summer after discussing the various projects and activities.

Joann Witt has been elected president of the Willing Workers 4-H Club, with Diane Kirkpatrick as vice president, Rebecca Barz as secretary, Rita Horman as assistant secretary, Mary Lou Bergdolt as treasurer, Teresa Martens as assistant treasurer and Mary Sehke as news reporter. The election took place at the April 1 meeting at Joann Witt's home. The next meeting will be May 6 at 7:30 p.m. at the Flegler home.

Spring setting hot pace for firemen on March 8, March 9 and March 18; and one alarm each on March 1, 4, 10, 11, 12, 16, 19, 20 and 23.

THE ONLY REAL break in the series of fires since the last of January came between March 23 and April 4—an 11-day span without an alarm. Then there were fires on April 4, 6, 7, 11, 12 and 14.

City Treasurer Simon reports that the 50 fires and four drills during the first three months cost the city $3,957 in firemen's salaries only. There are other costs to figure in, too, such as operation and upkeep of the fire trucks and the firehall.

In the case of the rural fires, these costs are charged to the townships from which the calls originated. In total, there were 31 rural fire runs, resulting in a cost of $1,780 for firemen's pay only. Total billings to the township will be higher, reflecting the other costs.

Salaries expended on 15 city runs were $1,690, but a big part of this—$522—was for the Egan Ford Sales fire Jan. 13.

Other salary costs during the first quarter of 1969 were: $70 for the one assistance call; $258 for four fire drills; $109 on two false alarm runs; and $50 on one fire run to the city dump.

The 15 city runs breaks down this way on types of fires and salary paid: $682 for three building fires; $638 for seven grass fires; $220 for three factory fires; and $150 for two mobile equipment (cars, trucks, tractors) fires.

The 31 country fires can be broken down this way: $514 for eight building fires; $1,108 for 20 grass fires; and $158 for three mobile equipment fires.

CATHY CRONKHITE

Cathy Cronkhite, Sally MacLuckie Girls' State picks

Miss Cathy Cronkhite and Miss Sally MacLuckie, both juniors at Rodney B. Wilson High School in St. Johns, have been selected to attend American Legion Auxiliary Girls' State, which will be held at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor from June 15 to 22.

Miss Cronkhite is the daughter of Mr and Mrs Richard Cronkhite, 504 W. Baldwin Street, St. Johns. She has been class secretary all three years in high school and in 1968 was awarded the Alumni Scholarship Award.

Miss MacLuckie is the daughter of Mr and Mrs Edwin MacLuckie of R-3, St. Johns. She has also been active in various extra-curricular activities, as well as ranking high in scholarship.

Girls' State was established in 1941 by the American Legion Auxiliary, and is dedicated to the training and development of girls who have qualities of leadership. The primary objective of Girls' State is to stimulate girls to take an interest in the development of home and community life, and to encourage them to be better citizens of tomorrow. The program will cover seven days.

Girls are selected on the basis of scholastic ability, marked qualities of leadership, a high sense of duty and morality, enthusiasm, and a cooperative attitude in dealing with people.

Miss Cronkhite is being sponsored by the Edwin T. Stiles Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary, and Miss MacLuckie will be sponsored by the St. Johns Woman's Club.

FIRE SEVERELY DAMAGES BARRETT HOME

A blaze touched off by defective wiring in the attic caused extensive damage to the Maynard Barrett home at 504 Euclid Street in St. Johns last Tuesday afternoon. The roof was all but destroyed by the fire and efforts to put it out, and the rest of the house suffered severe smoke and water damage. Firemen prevented more extensive damage by covering all the furniture immediately after getting there. No one was home when the fire broke out.

would, the motion died for lack of a support, and the ensuing discussion finally led to Coletta's motion, which was supported by Commissioner Mrs Jeanne Rand and then passed with no votes against it.

IN A DISCUSSION of the proposal for the study, Dr Jim Gross commented from the audience that the city never really did show the long-range needs of the city during the three meetings that the public was specifically invited to. He said the needs the city flashed on the screen—totaling $176,389—were capital improvements needed quickly and that operational needs were never shown.

In a related item of business, the commission accepted the bid of Clinton National Bank and Trust Co. to purchase $65,000 in tax anticipation notes to provide the city with funds to meet its commitments for the balance of this fiscal year. The bid, the only one received, calls for an interest rate of 4 per cent per annum.

Ontario Leader to NFO:

Says farmers must give leaders more power to solve problems

Only farmers can solve the farm problem, he said, and the president of the Ontario Farmers Union told Clinton area farmers Saturday night the only way they can do it is to transfer more power to their farm leaders.

Speaking before some 300 people at the Clinton County NFO Swiss steak dinner at Ovid-Elsie High School, Walter L. Miller suggested that farmers both in the United States and across the border in Canada were going to have to band together with more action instead of talk.

Miller has been president of the Ontario Farmers Union for about a year and a half. He helped organize a farm tractor parade on the Canadian capitol at Ottawa as a protest for better prices for Canadian farmers. He told his Clinton County audience Saturday night it proved effective and did result in better prices.

Miller said farmers everywhere are caught in a cost-price squeeze put on by the in-put and out-put segments of the agriculture industry and that farmers' only course to follow "is the one the others have used - collective bargaining."

He said such action is vital not only to the farmers themselves but the general economy. "We're talking about a problem that's not just a farm problem. It is a national problem. The whole nation benefits from what we do. When a farmer earns $1, it multiplies itself seven times in going through the economy."

"So when a farmer is short-changed by $1, the economy is short-changed by $7."

Walter L. Miller, Ontario Farmers Union president, emphasizes his point that farmers are caught in a cost-price squeeze between the in-put and out-put segments of the agricultural industry, during a post-meeting chat with Paul Love (left), president of the Clinton County NFO. Miller spoke at the NFO's Swiss steak dinner Saturday night.

This stronger leadership is something Miller says Canadian farmers are working for. He noted that the Ontario Farmers Union is only a provincial organization, and they often find themselves going in a different direction than farm groups in the other provinces of Canada. Efforts are being made to change that, he said, and a convention is being called for July 30 and 31 to organize a national farmers group that he thinks will be more effective.

But Miller said he has noted effectiveness within his own organization. "In the last year or so there have been vicious attacks on the Farmers Union. The establishment in Ottawa has become concerned and so the attacks don't surprise us. We're not really concerned because we know we're effective. They won't stop us, because we're people, and you can't stop a movement of people."

Miller said "there's a general unrest across our country, and if I read the signals right, it's not much different from down here in the U.S." He said he has found U.S. farmers strikingly similar to those in Ontario. The price-cost squeeze has them all, he said.

Miller charged the price-cost squeeze didn't just happen - "it was made to happen." He said the giant cartels that control the industries which supply farmers and which buy from them are putting the squeeze on and are controlling the government.

"THE INDUSTRIAL sector has put themselves into a position where they can manipulate the lives of farmers, the government and the consumers," he charged. "We have to recognize that governments can't and won't solve the farmers' problems."

"The government uses the argument that the farmer should get more efficient, that he needs to produce more. But we have learned you can't produce yourself out of trouble, only into trouble."

Although the effort this summer to form a single Canadian farm organization similar to NFO will be good, Miller said, he felt that to really solve the problem, the solution will have to be on an international basis.

"The farmers of Canada aren't going to solve their problems until those in America solve theirs. And the opposite is true, too." He said Canadians do not want U.S. farm products being imported to defeat their cause, and he felt U.S. farmers didn't want Canadian products being used in the same way, either.

Miller's talk was the keynote speech at the Swiss steak dinner. Dennis Koczal, state secretary of the Michigan FFA, spoke earlier on the FFA role in agriculture. He pointed out 539 FFA members in Michigan have earned state farmer degrees, 75 per cent of them in the last 20 years.

He said the 75 per cent of this top 2 per cent of FFA membership over the years are still under 40 years of age and are the people who are leading agriculture today and in the future.

Paul Love, president of the Clinton County NFO, was master of ceremonies for the program. Entertainment was furnished by Ovid-Elsie High school students.

LITERARY CLUB MEETS
The Elsie Woman's Literary Club met April 8 at the Junior High School to hear Sgt. Jack Bouck, of the state police, a former Elsie resident, now living in Lansing.

Sgt. Bouck outlined his duties, explained the help of the reserve police, and showed movies of the 1967 riot in Detroit pointing out the work of the state police. This brought out many questions which Sgt. Bouck explained. Mrs. Jack Hawes, as program chairman, introduced the guest speaker.

Mrs. Robert Bloomer presided for a brief business session, when materials for the Cancer Drive were distributed by chairman, Mrs. G. W. Bennett to the members who will canvass the village, on April 17. The spring report of the Trading Post was also given and showed a good profit to be used toward the club's many community projects.

The following delegates were appointed to attend the Clinton County Federation of Women's Clubs at the St. Johns United Methodist Church, April 30. They were: Mrs. Durward Conklin, Mrs. Cleo Parks, Mrs. James Dorman and Mrs. Ward Lewis. Mrs. Duane Green will serve as alternate.

Mrs. Howard Whitaker and Mrs. Gordon Mead were hostesses to greet the guests. Later Mrs. Everett Rule, Mrs. Duane Green, Mrs. B. M. Woolley served refreshments. They were assisted by Mrs. Howard Pelletier and Mrs. Robert Bloomer.

The next regular meeting will be the annual Mothers Day party when older women of the village will be special guests of the club members. It will be held Tuesday evening, May 6 at the Fellowship Hall in the United Methodist Church with Mrs. Durward Conklin and Mrs. Howard Pelletier as co-chairman.

MONEY MANAGEMENT DISCUSSED
The Green School Extension Club at the home of Mrs. Lillian Morley on April 10. Mrs. Manley Engebretson opened the meeting with a poem "Advice to April". The ten members present responded to roll call by quoting a favorite Bible verse.

Mrs. Raymond Thornton, as Clinton County council member gave several thoughts about the spring trip for May 1. She also explained the purpose and assistance to be given to the Office of Economic Operation by the club.

A gift to the Cancer Crusade was voted by the members and Mrs. Thornton presented the lesson "Managing Money in a Cashless Society. The lesson was concerned largely with the use and misuse of credit buying. Points were discussed for and against credit buying. It was decided that banks or credit unions presented the most sensible use of credit.

Mrs. Thornton drew the mystery package, after which the hostess and her assistants served delicious refreshments.

Gene Bancroft, sophomore at Ovid-Elsie high school underwent an appendectomy last week at Clinton Memorial Hospital. He expects to return home April 14.

Mrs. Edith Miller was taken to Clinton Memorial Hospital April 13 for treatment.

A daughter, Karl Lynn, was born to Mr and Mrs Herman Kaufman of Duplain at Clinton Memorial Hospital on Monday, April 7. The infant weighed 8 pounds, 3 ounces. The mother is the former Judy Miller of Elsie.

Library Week coming

National Library Week next week is just another week in a lot of respects, but it's one in which a lot of operational aspects of the Bement Public Library and its benefactor organizations are brought to the fore. In the picture above, members of the Bement Public Library Board and librarians pose against an appropriate background. Left to right are Mrs. Ladd Bartholomew, Mrs. Roger Feenan, Mrs. Fraser MacKinnon, Librarian Mrs. Hila Bross, Mrs. Hugh Banning and Anthony Kuntz. The Friends of the Bement Public Library are active in a number of ways, not the least of which is manning the book cart at Clinton Memorial Hospital. Kay Arhart, Shirley Casler and Adelaide Mikula are shown at center with the book cart, but others who work regularly are Mrs. Pat Kelly, Mrs. J. D. Robinson and Mrs. Lloyd Campbell. With special emphasis during Library Week, the Friends of the Bement Public Library are assisting the library staff in making sure all patrons of the library are registered. Registration cards from 1964 and earlier years are being weeded out of the files, and people who haven't registered since then are urged to do so when they come into the library. Mrs. R. L. Sleight and Mrs. Brandon White cornered St. Johns City Manager Harvey Weatherwax the other day and found he wasn't registered.

To discuss window treatment

"Window Treatments — the Know How and Know Why" is the topic for discussion April 15, 16 and 17 in St. Johns, Ithaca and Corunna for Extension home economics study group leaders and other interested homemakers. Lorraine Sprague, Extension home economist serving Clinton, Gratiot and Shiawassee counties, will present the information on each of the three days at 1:30 p.m. There will be a repeat program at 7:30 p.m. April 17 in Corunna only. The locations are Smith Hall in St. Johns, Commercial National Bank Community Room in Ithaca and Extension Hall in Corunna.

Miss Sprague encourages any one interested in ideas for dressing windows to attend the meeting most convenient for them. She says "since this is the last training meeting until September for Extension study groups, they are especially urged to have their representatives present. Other homemakers are most welcome to attend also," she adds.

The study will include designs, fixtures and fabrics rather than sewing techniques. However, Miss Sprague will discuss sources for such techniques. She will have a number of informative leaflets and publications for those attending the meeting and for study group leaders to take to their members. Leaders will also have an excellent guide to assist them in re-teaching. Fabric swatches and colored slides will contribute to the leader-training session. Miss Sprague concludes, "Designs, fabrics and accessories for windows have changed considerably during the past few years. Here is an opportunity for homemakers to learn to dress those windows to their very best advantage."

Extension spring tour May 1

Extension group women in area 9 will have their annual spring tour day May 1, and this year food control, water disposal, wildlife conservation and land use conflicts will occupy the attention.

accompany the ladies on the tour, as will Harry Will and Bill Bortel, Shiawassee and Gratiot agricultural agents.

The tour will begin at 9 a.m. and terminate about 4:30. Clinton County buses will load at 8:45 at the Ovid Michigan Milk Producers Assn. plant at 431 W. Williams Street in Ovid (William Street is one block north of the stoptlight in Ovid). Lunch will be served at the Ovid-Elsie High School cafeteria, followed by a short program in the auditorium.

The tour will take place whatever the weather, so women are advised to dress accordingly and wear comfortable walking shoes. Paid reservations must be made with individual council treasurers by April 24. The cost covers the entire day's activities. Reservations will be accepted on the first-come basis.

Reservations for Clinton County may be made with Mrs. Raymond Thornton, R-1, Elsie 48831.

Those who participated were Mrs. Earl Darnell, Mrs. Elzie Exelby, Mrs. Roy Ormsby, Mrs. Ernest Root and Miss Marion Hill.

Part of the afternoon was spent in games. The Rhythm Band rehearsed for a program they will put on in Ovid on April 19. The band has several invitations to put on programs before various organizations.

At the next meeting, which will be on April 22, a member of the city police department will give a talk.

Check out sewing machines

By LORRAINE SPRAGUE
Extension Home Economist

With the current upsurge in home sewing, sewing machine sales are also moving upward. Miss Bernetta Kahabka, clothing specialist with the Michigan State University Extension Service has some excellent advice for prospective sewing machine buyers. Here are some things she tells us.

Manual zig-zag and straight stitch machines, many priced under $150, meet the needs of most home sewers. It's the woman who does lots of fancy stitching that may really need the elaborate automatic machines. The types of sewing one does is a big factor in selecting a sewing machine.

Zig-zag machines are relatively easy to operate. To change the zig-zag width or stitch length in the manual type machine, you set the controls yourself.

In selecting a zig-zag machine, test it for a good straight stitch which you'll use much of the time. Then check for the ease in changing from straight to zig-zag stitching. A zig-zag machine should have two presser feet; a narrow one for straight stitching and a wide one for zig-zagging. The narrow presser foot makes it easier to guide the material and to turn corners.

A ZIG-ZAG MACHINE should also have two throat plates; one with a small needle hole for straight stitching and one with a wide slot for the zig-zag stitch. When the wide slot throat plate is used for regular stitching, problems often arise with the thread bunching or fabric being forced into the needle slot.

Cabinet machines perhaps offer slightly more comfort, sturdiness and convenience. However, if your space is limited, or you like to sew in different places at different times, a portable machine may be your choice.

As with any piece of equipment, prospective buyers should check service agreements and certificates of guarantee. A free service period places the responsibility on the seller to correct any defect in adjustments or parts other than normal wear. A guarantee protects the buyer against the possibility of inferior or defective parts, or concealed damage, for varying periods of time after purchase.

Any agreement between the seller and buyer should be in writing and signed by an authorized agent, advises Miss Kahabka.

The Grove Bible Church on Shepardsville Road was dedicated in 1963 and a large addition on the left began in October 1968. The new construction is being accomplished by the members of the parish under the guidance of Rev Bob Prange. The parish has grown consistently from ten members, 15 years ago, to an attendance of 371 last Easter Sunday.

Volunteers building addition to Grove Bible Church

Volunteers are doing the work on a new addition to the Grove Bible Church at the corner of Shepardsville and Price roads in Victor Township.

The addition has been under construction since last October when the parish decided it needed more room than the five-year-old main building provided. All the work so far has been done with volunteer labor by the church membership, with the exception of laying of the cement blocks and the drywall work.

The church is beautiful inside and out with the simple, modern lines of today's architecture employed. Rev Bob Prange, pastor of the church, says when the new addition is completed the auditorium will seat 440 members, including the choir.

The new addition also contains two study rooms, church office, rest rooms, library and a nursery that will accommodate 30 infants. Of special interest is a large

18 members attend Lutheran Ladies Aid

POWLER - The St. Paul Lutheran Ladies Aid of Fowler met in the Parish Hall at noon April 10 for a potluck lunch. Mrs Louise Sehlke and Mrs Eleanor Pasch were hostesses.

Pastor Rossow conducted the devotional portion of the meeting beginning with prayer and continued with a further study on baptism.

The receipts from the "no-bake" bake sale were considerably more than in the past when there was an actual bake sale. Mrs Marie Tiedt was in charge of this project which carried through the month of March.

Church cleaning is the May project, and the date set for the task was May 15.

Concordia College at Ann Arbor has invited the ladies to visit the campus May 8; registration will begin at 10 a.m. The purpose of this planned excursion is to stimulate interest and encourage youth to enter the service of the church as pastors, teachers, etc. The ladies will be requested to set up a guild in their own church to promote this interest.

The meeting closed with praying The Lord's Prayer in unison, after which Mrs Marilyn Boettger conducted the recreational portion of the meeting. There were 18 ladies present.

room in the upstairs that will be reserved for the use of the "young people" in the parish. It measures 17 by 46 feet and when completed the stairs and room will be carpeted and finished with attractive paneling.

The entire building measures 117 by 82 feet, with a full-size basement. When completed sometime this summer it will have a carpet-type entrance, carpeting throughout, chandeliers and many other items to beautify the church and its facilities.

The parish is now only 15 years old and began with only 10 members. At the end of its second year they had 30, and Rev Prange reports that at the April 8 Easter service 371 persons attended.

The expanded facilities of the parish will also enable the church to serve the future demands made on it from visitors to the Sleepy Hollow State Park. The park borders the church property on the east.

A dedication service will be held sometime this summer.

This is the Church of the Nazarene parsonage on North Lansing Street that will be dedicated this Sunday afternoon.

Nazarene parsonage dedication Sunday

The St. Johns Church of the Nazarene will formally dedicate its new parsonage on North Lansing Street across from the church this Sunday afternoon, April 20, at 2:30 p.m.

Guests for the services will be Dr Fred J. Hawk, district superintendent of the Michigan District of Church of the Nazarene; St. Johns Mayor Robert Wood; a representative of the St. Johns Ministerial Assn.; and several former pastors.

Refreshments will be served for out-of-town guests, and a short open house will be given for those who have not been able to view the new home.

Rev Wesley Manker, the present pastor of the church, and his family have lived in the new home since last Oct. 5. The home is a one-story ranch-type structure 28 x 80 feet in size. It has a two-car garage, four bedrooms, a utility room and a bath and a half. The 56 x 28 basement completes the usable space.

The new parsonage resulted from action of the church membership last June 2 when they confirmed plans of the administrative board of the church. A local member, Willard Searles, was contracted to oversee the project, and work was begun last July.

The home, valued by local officials at $35,000, was built at a much-reduced cost because of several generous gifts—the largest totaled over $10,000 in donations and labor by Mr and Mrs Searles. Mr and Mrs Larry Krudop of Carson City donated the shrubbery that surrounds the home.

As a result of the sale of the former parsonage facilities on Ross Street (originally donated to the church), the new parsonage has been erected at a net cost to the congregation of under $7,000.

Methodist Bible school plan new

The United Methodist Church is planning something new in the way of Vacation Bible School this summer.

Bible school will be held on Wednesday morning of each week for 10 weeks during the summer, instead of daily during the first two weeks after regular school lets out.

Ruth Howell and Marilyn Rice, in charge of Bible school, said that "Since we do not have church school during the summer months, we feel it is important for our church to offer Christian education all year long."

"So we are going to try the Wednesday morning sessions this summer. We hope parents who like to go out of town on weekends will find this schedule suitable to the needs of their children."

Anti-cancer volunteers seek $10,765 in annual drive

April is Cancer Control Month in Michigan, by proclamation of the governor, and Clinton County's active chapter is using the time as a springboard for their annual cancer fund drive. The Clinton volunteer workers are striving to raise at least $10,765.62—their quota for this year based on a figure of 26 cents per capita of population in the county. Mrs Albert Fruchtl of St. Johns is chairman of volunteer activities. The theme for the drive this year—both an educational and fund-raising one—is "Help Yourself With a Checkup and Your Neighbor With a Check." Some 42 city, township and neighborhood chairmen are canvassing this month to raise funds to carry on the fight against Cancer.

Gov. William G. Milliken points out in his proclamation that an estimated 1,500,000 Americans who have been cured of cancer are alive today, and that during 1969 approximately 615,000 new cancer cases will be diagnosed for the first time. Of these, an estimated 325,000 citizens will die of the disease.

"Researchers and scientists are developing new methods and techniques of diagnosing and treating this disease," the governor said, "and it appears that with added knowledge in the biological and medical sciences, the final answer to cancer is within sight."

CARRYING ON THE drive in Clinton County this month are teams of volunteers headed by the following township and neighborhood chairmen:

Mrs John D. Nessman in Bath; Mrs Marge McQueen in Park Lake; Mrs Levi Blakeslee in Bengal; Mrs Glenn Whitford in Bingham; Mrs Edmund Simmon in Dallas; Mrs Robert Pettit and Mrs Rod Finkbeiner in Fowler; Mrs Clarence Bauerle, Mrs Robert Reese Sr. and Mrs Earl Pierson in DeWitt; Mrs Raymond Thornton in Duplain; Mrs George Bennett in Elsie;

Mrs Robert Hazen in Eagle; Mrs Carl Shinaberry in Maple Rapids; Mrs Leon Thelen in Greenbush; Mrs Ralph Watts in Lebanon; Mrs Harry Northrup in north Olive; Mrs Harold Lietzke in south Olive; Mrs Carl Bowles in Ovid Township; Mrs Harold Mead in Ovid village; Mrs Lona Slim in Riley; Miss Gracia Sexton in Victory; Mrs Dewey Berryhill and Mrs Fred Black in Watertown; Mrs Celestine Simon and Mrs Robert Hengsbach in Westphalia; In St. Johns: Mrs Harlan Der-shem, Mrs Franklin W. Smith, Miss Carmen Tranchell, Mrs Lorenz Tiedt, Mrs Dale Finch, Mrs Velma Beaufore, Mrs Lester H. Lake, Mrs Justin F. Marzke, Mrs Anton Peterson, Mrs Alfred Barnes, Mrs John Paradise, Mrs Richard Butler, Mrs Don Britton, Mrs Gordon Iacovoni and Mrs Arthur La-Bar.

THE OFFICERS OF THE Clinton County unit of the American Cancer Society are headed by Dr R. L. Wohlens, DDS, as president. Other officers are Mrs Raymond Thornton, vice president; Mrs Albert Fruchtl, chairman Mrs Robert Nourse, service and state board representative; Mrs Dale Crawford, awards chairman; and Ink White legacy chairman. Cancer Society unit members are renewing their emphasis on the seven warning signals of cancer, which are: unusual bleeding or discharge; a lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere; a sore that does not heal; change in bowel or bladder habits; hoarseness or cough; indigestion or difficulty in swallowing; and change in size or color of wart or mole. If any of the signals lasts more than two weeks, the person is advised to see his or her physician.

The St. Johns School Board will hold a special meeting next Wednesday evening, to study a proposed budget of $2.5 million for operation of the school district during the 1969-70 school year.

That's up about $350,000 from the budget adopted by the board last September for the current school year.

Supt. Earl Lancaster presented the proposal to the board at their regular meeting last Wednesday, but no action was taken pending board study next week. The board will also next week study how much millage will be needed for the year.

The question of operating millage will be voted on by school district residents June 9, along with the election of one member of the board of education, Donald Bast, whose term expires, has indicated he will seek reelection for a four-year term.

In other business last week, the school board accepted the low bid of Consumers Power Co. of $1,666 for 12 kitchen appliances for the home economics room at the new high school. They also approved additional equipment for the vocational department totaling $15,467. This equipment will be purchased from a variety of bidders.

New county DPW developing county comprehensive plan

The new Clinton County Department of Public Works is setting about to develop a comprehensive county-wide plan for sewage disposal and solid waste disposal so that it will be available whenever federal funds are sought.

About 50 persons attended a meeting last Thursday in the circuit court room to get an idea about how the county DPW will work. Most of those on hand were officials of the various city, village and township units in the county.

The DPW staff, the audience was told, would be available for consultation with local units of government on any DPW-type projects. The new county department will have in its scope of operation land fills, sewage treatment plants and interceptor mains.

The department will have the power to condemn private property for public projects, and ordinances drawn up by various units may require hookup to future sewer systems even where septic field systems are working properly.

The meeting was in charge of DPW Chairman Dale Chapman, Clinton County drain commissioner. Other members of the new Department of Public Works are Paul Nobis, Marvin Plafie and Roy Davis of the road commission and County Supervisor Gerald Shepard. Road commission engineer - manager Don Haske has been named county DPW director, and road commission clerk Robert Eldridge is serving as secretary of the DPW.

THE DEPARTMENT officials said their purpose is to work with the various units of government either individually or collectively to help obtain needed public works projects. The county - wide comprehensive plan being drawn up would enable the county to possibly obtain planning funds from the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Costs of sewage and landfill projects probably could be sold at lower interest because the full faith and credit of the county, rather than just the municipality, would be behind it.

Sewage disposal plants operation would be up to the municipalities, but the county DPW would have the authority to set minimum standards. The county would also have the financial liability to the bond holders until the project is paid off by the municipality. The type of bonding and payments would remain at the discretion of the municipalities involved in the projects.

State House Reps. William Ballenger of the 87th District and Richard Allen of the 88th District both spoke at the meeting and indicated implementation of many projects wanted in Clinton County will depend upon the division of the pollution bond money authorized by Michigan voters last November.

Ballenger reported two sets of companion bills in the House and Senate are being considered by the legislators now and some decision may be made this week.

The winning FFA soil judging team of Tom Karek, Tom Woodhams and Ken Eldridge of St. Johns High School receives their trophy from Clarence Manning, Clinton County Soil Conservation District director. Eldridge was also the high individual scorer.

St. Johns wins FFA soil judging contest

The annual Clinton County Soil Conservation District FFA Soil Judging Contest was held Friday, April 11, at the Kenneth Fricke farm on East Price Road. The St. Johns team of Kenneth Eldridge, Tom Woodhams and Tom Karek won the trophy for their school. Ken Eldridge was also the high individual winner.

Pewamo-Westphalia FFA won second place in the contest.

John Long, soil scientist with the USDA Soil Conservation Service, explained the problems and solutions to the contestants after the contest. Orville Beachler, conservation technician, assisted him.

The trophy was presented to the winning team by Clarence Manning, district director.

George McQueen, Extension agricultural agent and Vocational Agricultural teacher, Don Munger, St. Johns; Bill Vondrasek, Bath; Albert Ackley, Ovid-Elsie; and Lyle Murphy of Pewamo-Westphalia assisted in the contest and corrected the score cards.

of decontaminating wastes.

"Even though the new rules are not in effect this year," says Ballenger, "Michigan boaters should take the responsibility of making adjustments in their boats now. Since boat operators have such a high stake in clean water, I'm sure they will recognize the need for taking these pollution control steps as soon as possible."

Copies of the new boating pollution rules and further information can be obtained by writing to the Water Resources Commission, Station A, Lansing, Mich. 48926.

New boat law aimed at water pollution

Spring has arrived, and the use of boats across Michigan is naturally on the rise. With the opening of the boating season, State Rep. William S. Ballenger today reminded sailors of the new boat pollution regulations which will go into effect within the next year.

The new rules, adopted by the State Water Resources Commission, will take effect Jan 1, 1970. They are designed to eliminate water pollution resulting from the discharge of human wastes from watercraft.

"When the new rules take effect, all boats with marine toilets must be equipped with a holding tank or some other approved pollution control device," notes Rep. Ballenger. "In addition to a holding tank, which can be emptied in port, an incinerator device which reduces all waste to ashes is also acceptable. Other pollution-control devices should be checked with the Water Resources Commission to see if they meet requirements."

Rep. Ballenger also pointed out that it was important to note that macerator-chlorinator devices ARE NOT acceptable under the new regulations. These devices, now in fairly common use, do not provide a reliable means

Respect for rules makes pro football, life great: official

The crowd size was smaller than anticipated, but the 216 people attending the annual rural-urban dinner at Smith Hall in St. Johns last Tuesday night enjoyed themselves, judging from their reactions.

Providing the entertainment, and a message as well, was a National Football League game official, Arthur Holst of Peoria, Ill. Holst filled about an hour of time with anecdotes, jokes and words of advice on what it takes to meet "The Challenge of the Pro."

Holst said one of the reasons for pro football's overwhelming popularity is that it is an excellent example of free enterprise, respect for law and respect for individual talent and the way it fits into a team.

The central theme of his talk concerned rules, and he said that pro football rules make the difference between a game and a riot. Holst said football game officials usually have little trouble in enforcing their decisions because the players respect the rules of the game and the enforcement of them.

APPLYING THIS to American life in general, he said the same principle applies. "We must live by rules," he said, and this pertains to everyone. Holst told his audience he was tired of hearing about college dissension and disorders and the trouble they are causing. "I'm tired of letting a group of bearded dissidents speak for 200 million people," he said, and he urged Americans to support the enforcement of laws. Holst said there were eight basic steps in meeting the challenge of a professional, whether it be in sports or in life in general. They are:

- 1) Do we have a recognizable, obtainable goal?
- 2) Are you awake to ways to reach that goal?
- 3) Do you know the meaning of the most abused word in English—service (something done for the benefit of others, or teamwork)?
- 4) Know about successful failure. Learn from failure to make it into success.
- 5) Do you understand motivation?
- 6) Are you a wholesome creative thinker?
- 7) Are you up to the challenge of change?
- 8) Are we men and women of action?

GARY BOYCE

Boyce stars with MSU ball team

Gary Boyce, the midget place-kicker from St. Johns who made such a big hit with Michigan State football fans last fall, is one of the brightest surprises of the 1969 baseball season for the Spartans.

Gary was one of only two men to play in all 13 games of the Spartans' spring trip and proved to be one of the team's offensive leaders. He hit .286 and led the squad in times at bat with 56, hits with 16 and runs batted in with 11. His total included a triple and a home run. He also scored eight runs and stole four bases.

Gary divided his time between third base and the outfield and now appears to have the advantage in his battle for left field with veteran Joe Gavel.

Gary is a physical education major and hopes to play professional ball after graduation. His parents are Mr and Mrs James Boyce of 705 N. Oakland, St. Johns.

HOLST GAVE THE audience a chance to share many of his experiences as a pro football official (he's a line judge and wears No. 33). He said he thought television's stop-action procedure has done much to elevate the official to a professional status with viewers, because it gives a slow-motion picture of what did take place and most often shows the official was right in his call of the play.

Holst called professional football the world's greatest sports spectacle. He said he worked 14 regular season games last year, and 12 of them were played before sellout crowds. He pointed out that 75 million people in the U.S. and Canada watched the Super Bowl game last year—more people than who watched any other single event in history other than the events following the assassination of President John Kennedy.

Swiss steak was the main menu for the rural-urban dinner and was prepared and served by the women of the Riley Lutheran Church. Rev Hugh Banninga, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, was master of ceremonies. Speaking for their co-sponsoring organizations were Lee Ormston, president of the Clinton County Farm Bureau, and Robert Frechen, vice president of the St. Johns Jaycees. Lisa Davis and Jeanne Furman entertained with guitar and vocal music, and Rev Banninga led the audience in group singing.

Haslett outruns St. Johns, O-E

OVID-ELSIE — Haslett High School won or tied for first place in eight events last Thursday to earn a track victory over Ovid-Elsie and St. Johns in a triangular meet on the O-E all-weather track.

Haslett scored 58 1/2 points to edge St. Johns with 50 points and Ovid-Elsie with 39 1/2. The meet was run under cold, windy conditions, and only a 44-foot, 8-inch shot put by Ed Molnet of St. Johns and a :54.6 run of the 440-yard dash by Daryl Melvin of Ovid-Elsie were considered outstanding performances.

Molnet's toss in the shot put was his personal best for the year and it was good for first place in the event. Mike Green of St. Johns placed second, and Ovid-Elsie's Dan Mulder was fourth.

Melvin won first place in the 440, and Bill Farr of O-E placed fourth.

Here is how St. Johns and Ovid-Elsie players ranked in the various other events:

Wings earn 5 points at Lowell Relays

The St. Johns Redwings earned five points, good for 10th place, Saturday in the Lowell Relays track meet at Lowell, Wyoming. High won the relays with 34 points. There were 20 teams entered in the meet.

Ed Molnet and Mike Green placed fourth in the shot put relay, where their two distances were added together. The St. Johns two-mile relay team of Kirk Simpson, Bill French, Bob Jones and Gary Moon finished third.

Elsie recount not so costly

The recount of the liquor-by-the-glass ballot in the Elsie village election didn't cost $400, as the Clinton County News story said last week.

The actual cost, County Clerk Ernest Carter said, was $66.40.

The $400 figure was the approximate cost to the county for the recount earlier this year of the daylight savings time proposal ballots for all the precincts in the county.

Boxing makes its annual visit to St. Johns a little early this year, with the Clinton County Boys Club boxing show scheduled for this Saturday evening at the high school gym. Bouts start at 8 p.m.

Between 16 and 19 St. Johns boys are preparing for a possible spot in one of the 16 bouts. Fighters from other communities in mid-Michigan will provide the competition. The fight match-making will take place just prior to the boxing show.

One of the top fights of the night will see 165-pound John Cook in action. Cook, 19, son of the Alfred Cooks of Pewamo, was named the St. Johns Boxer of the Year last Wednesday night at a Golden Gloves dinner sponsored by the St. Johns Lions Club.

Cook boxed for the first time this year and lost out in a decision in the district Gloves tournament in Lansing.

Hopefully back in time from national Golden Gloves competition in California this week will be Bob Every, state AAU champion, and Doug Brya, state Golden Gloves champ. Also on the card will be Armando Rositas and Carlos Vallin, district Golden Gloves champs from St. Johns.

Other local fighters ready to go Saturday night will include Dale Harris, Jose Riojas, Glen Gillespie, Chuck Larson, Lynn Wagar, Dick Padgett, John Jolly, Mark Masarik, Fred Cunningham, Rick Cole, Mike Cole, Roger Harris and Mike San Miguel.

Out-of-town fighters are expected from Lansing, Portland, Grand Ledge, Grand Blanc, Battle Creek and Michigan Center.

Tickets for the show may be purchased at the door or at the Pierce Bakery and Beaufore Barber Shop.

Rep. Ballenger to direct state GOP research

State Rep. William S. Ballenger III will again direct the Research Department at Republican State Central in Lansing but it will be a more part-time relationship than before, according to GOP State Chairman William F. McLaughlin.

"Bill's legislative duties preclude his performing as in past years, yet I value his expertise in this area so highly that I am grateful for whatever time he can give us," said McLaughlin.

Ballenger's staff includes a full-time assistant, Mrs. Janis Espinosa, and Mrs. Marie Stowe, who continues in charge of the newspaper morgue and the "Dollar-A-Month" club.

The Flint-born Ballenger was a magna cum laude graduate of Princeton University in 1962. Degree in hand, he returned to the Midwest, became a reporter for the Evansville (Ind.) Press and was a leading player in the Civic Theatre there.

Following two years of freelance writing in Dublin, Ireland, Ballenger joined State Central as director of research. In last November's elections, he won a House seat from the 87th District.

Carl Fenner comments on 120-acre park

Carl Fenner of Lansing was the guest speaker at the April 2 meeting of the St. Johns Woman's Club. The meeting was held in the narthex of the First Congregational Church.

Fenner, who was introduced as "Uncle Carl" by club member, Mrs. Lyle Fenner, was formerly Director of Parks in Lansing. His talk was about the Carl G. Fenner Arboretum which was named for him and which he helped establish. This park is located on Lansing's south side on Mt. Hope Avenue.

The Arboretum, opened in 1954, is a 120-acre plot. Its purpose was to conserve the natural flora and fauna of the area and it is used as a study park by nature groups and bird watchers. It is also well equipped for picnics. More than 66,000 people used its facilities in 1968.

There are miles of foot paths through the park. It is always open and there is an administrative building where students may attend lectures and watch films on nature.

Mr. Fenner illustrated his talk with colored slides showing many phases of the natural life in the park.

Mrs. Graham, vice president of the club, opened the meeting with a reading on Easter and its meaning.

Mrs. Winchell Brown announced a series of art exhibits to be shown at the Chamber of Commerce Building in Ovosso.

Plans for the County Federation were reviewed and committees named. The St. Johns Woman's Club will host this on April 30 at the First Methodist Church. Mrs. Clifford Lambert is president of the County Federation and Mrs. John Rumbaugh will be general chairman for the meeting.

The next meeting of the club is the annual meeting and the last one of the club year. It will be held in the undercroft of the St. Johns Episcopal Church. The business meeting will be held at 11 a.m. and a potluck salad bar luncheon will be served at noon.

Tea was served to the group by the committee, Mrs. Louis Plunkett, Mrs. Leo Pouch, Mrs. Louis Wolf and Mrs. John Warstler.

Batters Weak in 4-0 loss

St. Johns batters were not very potent at Ionia last Thursday, getting only two singles as the Redwings dropped a 4-0 West Central baseball game in their first outing.

Mike Pierson and Doug Burzak were the only two to get hits, Pierson getting his in the second inning and Burzak stroking his single in the sixth inning.

Ionia picked up eight hits off losing pitcher Dan Rademacher and relievers Terry Maier and Dean Eisler. Rademacher gave up all four runs — two in the first inning and two in the third.

The Bulldogs didn't wait long. Rademacher's first pitch was hit for a triple and then two men walked to load up the bases. After a force-out at the plate, Mark Fuller singled to drive in two runs. In the third, Ionia got their pair on two walks and a pair of run-scoring singles by Gallert and Houserman.

Rademacher allowed five of the Ionia hits in his three innings on the mound, while Maier yielded two in two innings and Eisler one in his one inning of pitching. The Redwings committee two errors in the field.

Netters whitewash Ionia 6-0

St. Johns chalked up a 6-0 victory last Thursday in their opening high school tennis match at Ionia. The Redwings, 1-0 for the year, are scheduled to be home against Ithaca today (Wednesday) at 4 p.m.

Everybody for St. Johns emerged victorious in two sets against Ionia last Thursday. Tim Durner of St. Johns bumped Ionia's Dave MacAuley 6-2, 6-0 in singles. Also winning singles matches were Larry Zuker over Ionia's Dan Palmer 8-6, 7-5, and Dick Rademacher over John McFarlane 6-0, 6-0.

The doubles team of Tom Warstler and Bob Rehmann bumped Ionia's Roberts and Lemke 6-1, 6-1, and Steve Root and Scott Bennett were victorious over Monte and Thome of Ionia 6-0, 6-1.

The Redwings earned one league point for each match and one for winning the team match. The tennis match with Holt scheduled for last Wednesday was postponed because of rain and will be rescheduled later in the season, Coach Bill Swears reported.

Lake development awaits final purchases

Building clearance continues at Sleepy Hollow Park

By MRS SHIRLEY KARBER
News Staff Writer

Removal of some 400 buildings on the site of the new Sleepy Hollow State Park in Ovid and Victor townships is continuing but land acquisition is still holding up all-out development of the park.

Construction of a 450-acre lake (about the size of Lake Lansing, which is 400 acres) won't begin until all the land in the 2,698-acre park is acquired. Conservation officers reported the department has not yet reached agreement with two landowners who control about 400 acres.

Most of the work done so far has involved clearing the buildings from the land. Houses, barns, sheds, many farm fences and other farm structures are being removed. Two homes and a barn will be retained and used by park personnel for storage and living quarters.

Also under consideration is the preservation and restoration of two school houses on the property. One is the Grove School built about 1881.

INITIAL FILLING of the lake will be no easy matter. An 800-foot earthen dam will be built across the Little Maple River in the northwestern section of the park. It will be 28 feet high and provide 25 feet of water depth at the dam. Complete filling of the lake will take from one and a half to three years. The water will probably remain cloudy for some time, but will then run clean and clear. Water will come from the Little Maple, several small tributaries and underground springs. The lake will have three wooded islands.

Conservation officer John Petru says, "No unnecessary removal of trees will be done. The department wants to preserve as many as possible and add plantings where necessary."

The multi-use park will have fishing in the southern section, and the northern section will be used for boating, swimming, water skiing and sailing. The three islands will be wooded and provide for picnicking by boaters. Throughout the park, trails for hiking, horseback riding and nature study will be laid out.

A northern pike spawning marsh will, in time, provide natural stocking for the fishing section of the lake. When the pike have spawned and the fingerlings are about three inches long they will be released by the department.

During the winter months the department laid out snowmobile trails through the park and small game hunting has been permitted (once the park is fully developed the small game hunting will be phased out for the protection of park users). Many hikers, bird watchers and nature enthusiasts are also using the area.

WHEN COMPLETED the park will accommodate 7,000 recreationists per day and have about 270 camp sites available with modern sanitary facilities, electricity, picnic areas, swimming beaches, parking lots, beach-houses, two boat launching sites, riding trails, etc. Funds for the park have already been made available.

Main entrance to the park will be off Price Road just west of Upton Road. Price Road will, quite literally, go over the lake and divide it into its two main sections. To the south of Price will be the fishing area and to the north the swimming and boating.

In the near future the Conservation Department hopes to start the shaping of the beaches, hauling in of sand, and knocking down the high spots in the lake area. Any tall trees or high land spots that would be dangerous to boating will be removed.

The official name for the park is "Sleepy Hollow State Park" and the lake will be named "Lake Ovid" to help identify the location on state maps. This lake will improve tremendously the recreational situation in this "desert part of the water wonderland" and provide recreational facilities for citizens of all ages with diversified tastes and hobbies.

At the present time much of the clean-up involved with the project is being done by prison labor. There are now 10 prisoners from the Waterloo prison section who work in the area five days a week.

They remove dead trees, diseased elms, farm fences, old buildings and in general clean up the area. The prisoners live in two mobile-type trailer homes. One contains bunk beds and an office, the other a kitchen, dining room, and small TV and reading area. The prisoners are under the direction of Officer Marty Wolverton of the State Corrections Department and Corrections Officer Bruce Corey. Petru is Conservation Department foreman over the prisoners. The prisoners stay at the park during the week and return to the prison on weekends.

It may not look like much now, but in a few years this could be one of the finest fishing areas in the state. Looking east from Shepardville Road this fishing section of the Sleepy Hollow State Park will be stocked with pike fingerlings from a natural type spawning area directly across the road. It will take from one to three years to fill the lake once construction of the dam and other items can be completed.

NOTICE

(Opportunity for Hearing)

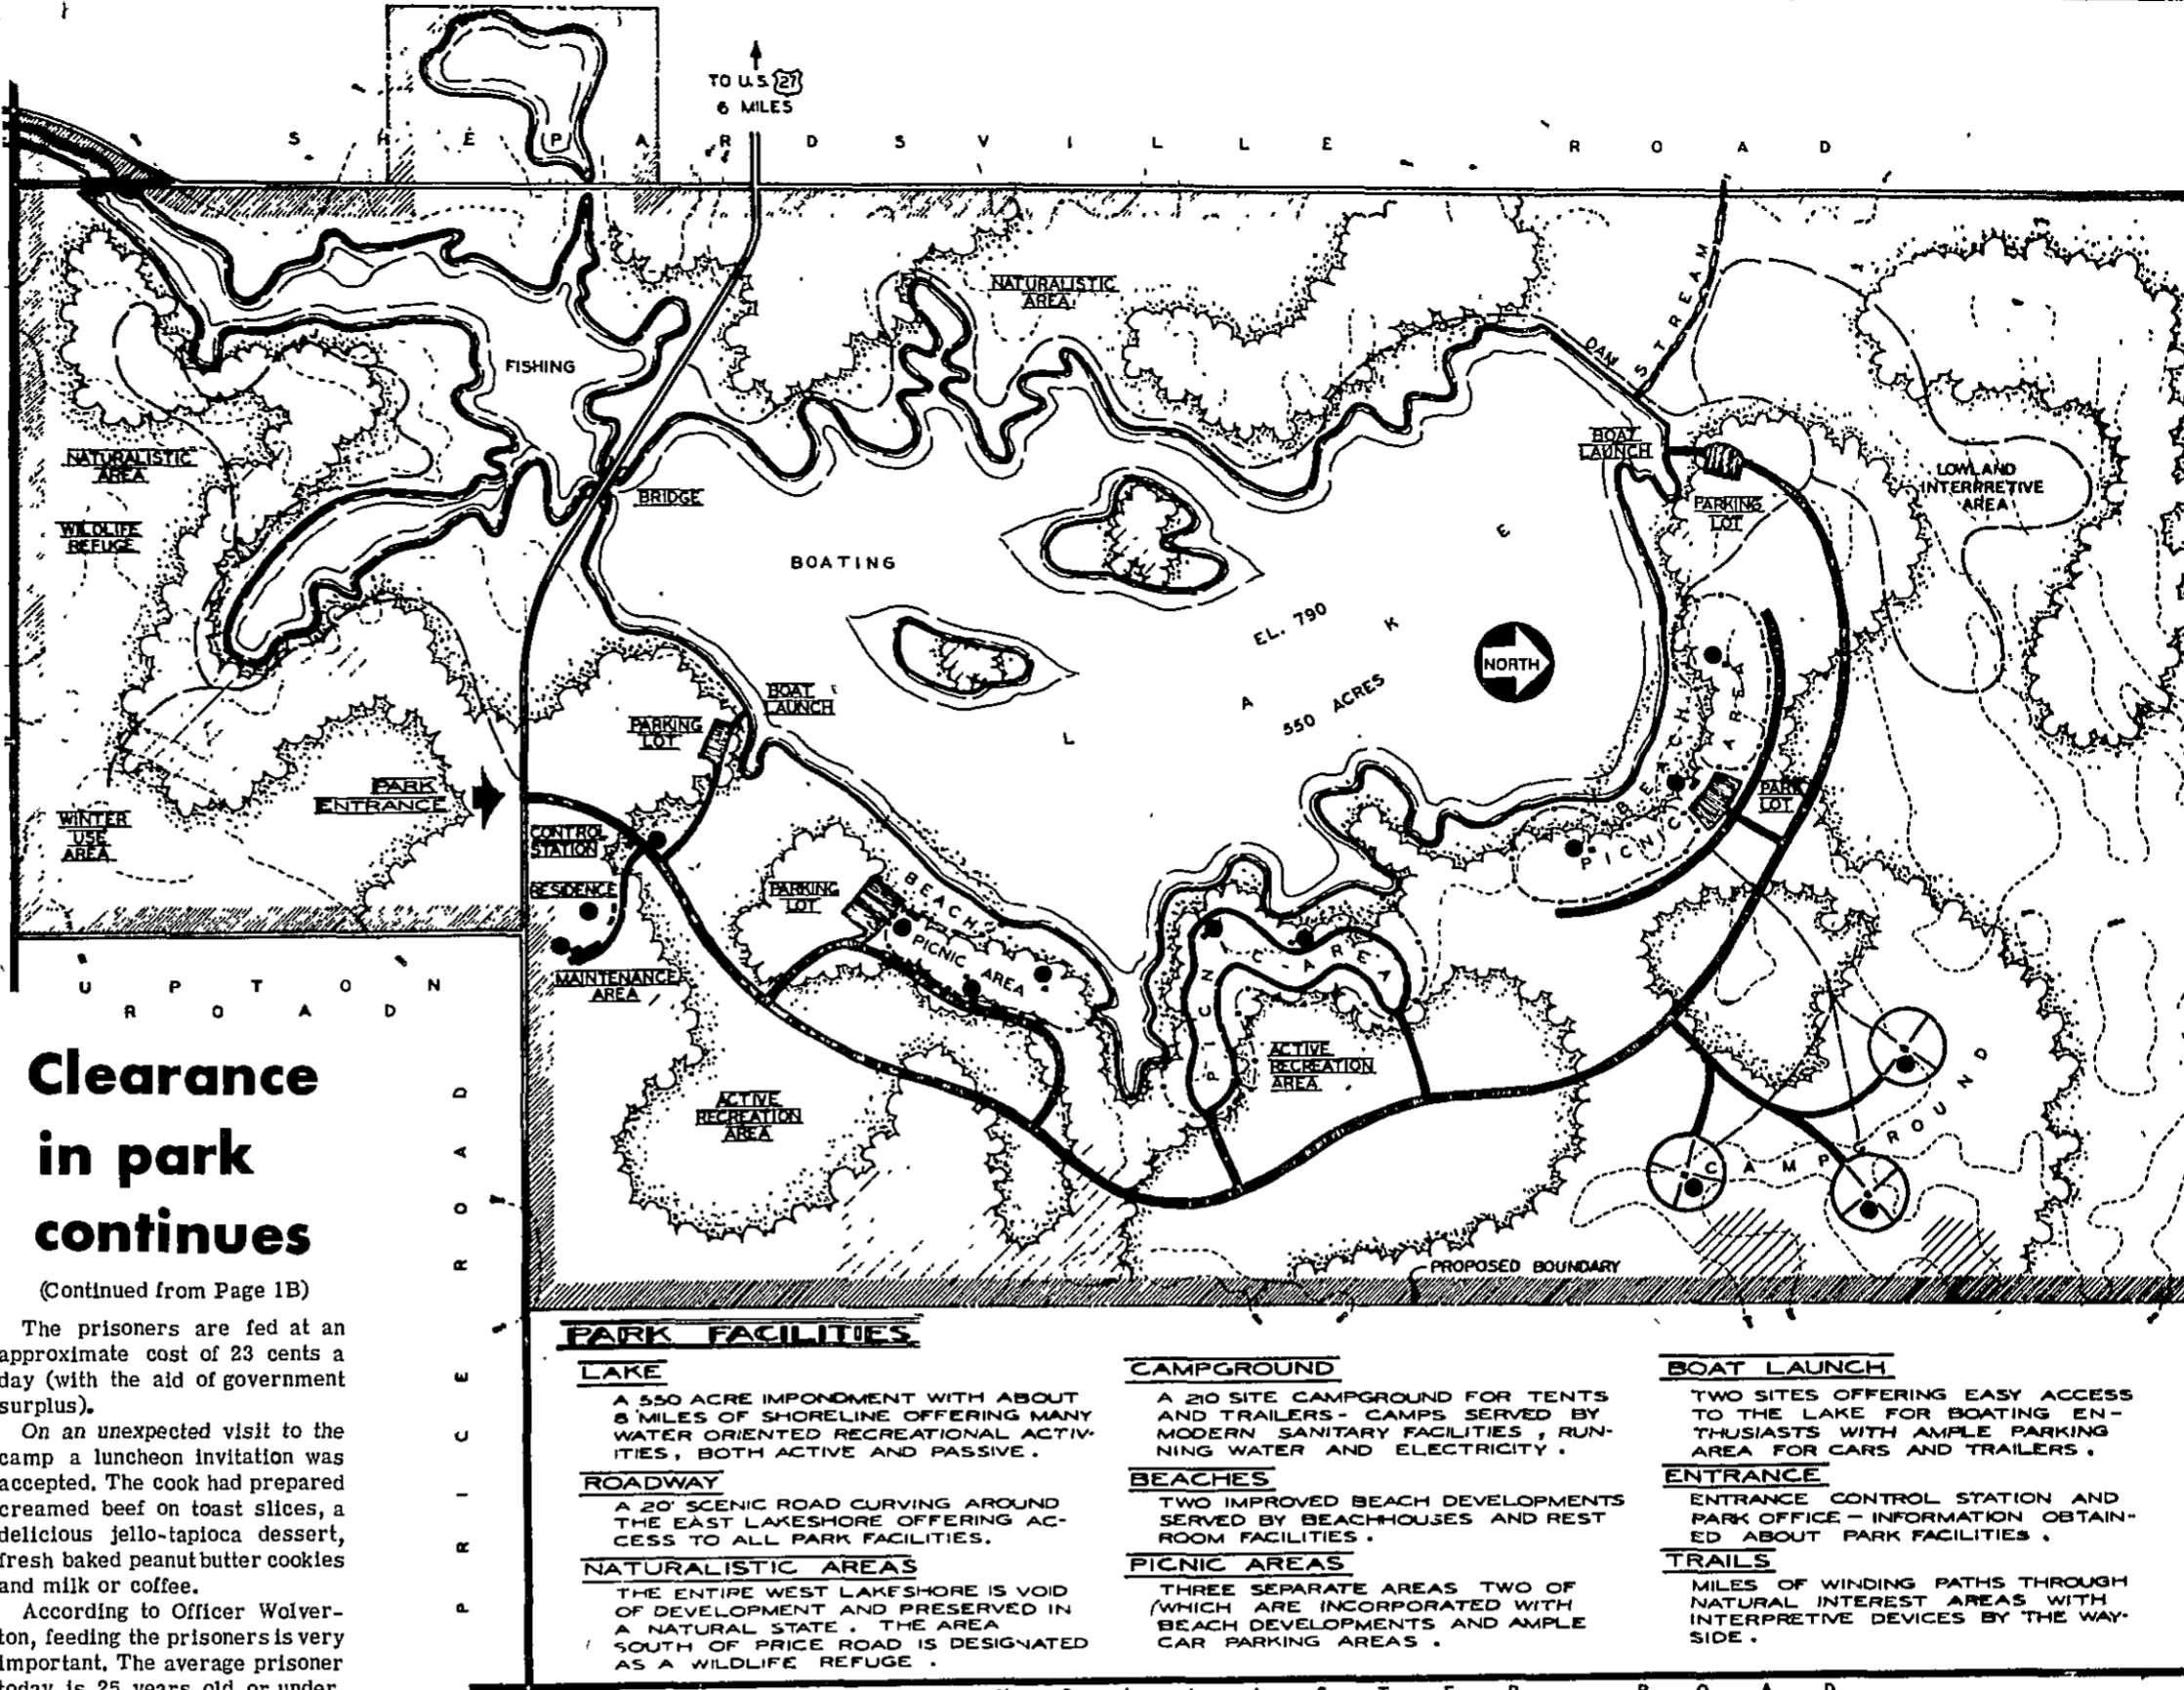

All Interested Citizens are advised that the Clinton County Road Commission is proposing the construction of a new road in Sections 25 and 36, DeWitt Township, Clinton County, from Chandler Road West 1.2 miles to existing State Road.

The proposed construction is required to provide an overpass on State Road over the proposed construction of US-127.

Information and plans for the above improvements are available for public inspection at the Clinton County Road Commission Office, 701 W. State St., St. Johns, Michigan.

Under provisions of Federal Law any citizen who would be affected by the proposed improvement may request, in writing, that the Clinton County Road Commission hold a formal public hearing concerning the social, environmental, and economic effect of this project.

Such a written request should be mailed to the Clinton County Road Commission office. This request must be received on or before May 7, 1969.

Clearance in park continues

The prisoners are fed at an approximate cost of 23 cents a day (with the aid of government surplus).

On an unexpected visit to the camp a luncheon invitation was accepted. The cook had prepared creamed beef on toast slices, a delicious jello-tapioca dessert, fresh baked peanut butter cookies and milk or coffee.

According to Officer Wolverton, feeding the prisoners is very important. The average prisoner today is 25 years old or under. They work outdoors and have excellent appetites. They receive 25 cents a day in wages.

These prisoners are saving the tax paying citizens thousands of dollars in labor and helping to provide a much needed recreational area, Wolverton said. They are usually composed of men who have served most of their time and will be released soon. Wolverton says "this means that escape would not profit them.

They would be risking too much. We have no trouble from this kind of prisoner although they are under the surveillance of a guard at all times.

When questioned on repeaters, Wolverton says many of them return. "It's mostly because of the environment the prisoner returns to." Most of the inmates today are from the metropolitan areas of the state and are not married.

Expect alfalfa weevil explosion

Farmers must watch closely for seasonal and future population "explosions" of the alfalfa weevil, advises Ray Janes, Michigan State University Extension entomologist.

The weevil was first discovered in Michigan in 1966, he notes, and by 1968 an estimated 6,000 acres were treated for control.

"Damage to the alfalfa plant is done mainly by the larvae (grubs) of the weevil," says Janes. "They skeletonize the leaves, leaving only the big veins. Heavily damaged leaves appear tattered and silvered."

"Other tell-tale signs of alfalfa weevil injury are stunted growth and rosetting of the leaves. Tattering and silvering appear first at the tip of the plant, then stunting is evident as the plant grows and the damage becomes more intense."

According to Janes, the only present method for alfalfa weevil control in Michigan is the proper selection and application of an insecticide. Control measures are expensive, however, and the MSU specialist cautions that treatments of this kind may not be justified for farms which yield less than two and a half tons of hay per acre per year.

He also notes that late treatment for the weevil when the alfalfa crop is already in bloom only kills bees and gives no appreciable return for the money spent on control.

Granges have potluck dinner

The Bingham Grange met at the hall on Sunday, March 30, at 1 p.m. for a potluck dinner. Guests for the occasion were the Olive-Stockman Granges.

The highlight of the dinner was the maple syrup furnished by the Morrisons and hot rolls, which were made at the hall. Dinner was followed by the business meeting and a program of instrumental music by Marlan Hill. Bessie Hill presented a comedy skit and an interesting talk was given by Mr and Mrs Gram on their recent sight-seeing trip to Florida and Washington, D.C.

EXTENSION REPORT

pH value is a yardstick

By GEORGE McQUEEN

The pH value is a yardstick used by all soil scientists as a common measurement. It is such a simple number denoting the degree of acidity or alkalinity present in the various soils.

It is customary to refer to acid soil as sour and to alkaline soils as sweet. The neutral point on the pH yardstick is 7.0. Soils with a pH reading of less than 7.0 are always called acid soils and those with a pH reading of greater than 7.0 are called alkaline soils.

In Clinton County it is best to strive toward a pH reading of 6.7 - 7.0.

From soil test data accumulated to date about half of the samples tested show a need for lime. Our soils are inherently acid, that is, the parent material is of an origin that produced acid soils. Then too our intensive systems of farming has added to the widespread necessity of soil testing and the proper application of lime.

Some of the functions of lime are:

1. It neutralizes soil acidity and furnishes needed plant nutrients. All plants require calcium and magnesium for proper growth. Calcium is found in the cell wall structure of every cell in the living plant. In neutralizing soil acidity the calcium replaces elements which create the sour soil.

2. It increases bacterial activity. Many organisms in our soils, which are necessary to promote favorable plant growth, are dependent upon a near neutral soil and an abundant supply of calcium. (The nitrogen fixing bacteria is a good example of this type of organism.)

3. It replaces toxicity. Lime reduces the solubility, availability and toxicity of certain elements in the soil such as aluminum. Manganese and iron which could reduce plant growth under acid conditions.

4. It influences nutrient availability. Calcium acts as a regulator and an aid in bringing about the desirable range of availability of many plant foods to plants. A few elements which lime aids in regulating are phosphorus, zinc, iron and manganese.

5. There are many other known functions of lime but the above should be enough to point out that lime is an essential element in present day agriculture. So, have your soil tested to determine the proper pH on your particular soils, for your crops. If you need help in obtaining a good sample contact our office.

Bike safety aim of new course

A new programmed learning approach to bicycle safety could greatly reduce bicycle-automobile accidents in this community, says John Aylsworth, Extension 4-H youth agent.

According to Aylsworth, this step-by-step bicycle safety program also develops good attitudes about citizenship on the highway which should result in safer and more courteous automobile drivers in the future.

"It's fun as well as educational," says Aylsworth. "Most present bike safety programs are helpful, but bike inspections and reflective tape are not enough. I think this is a more complete approach to bike safety than sticking a strip of reflective tape on a bike."

Aylsworth refers to the educational program as "reflective tape between the ears of the bike rider."

The new learning approach was developed for the Michigan 4-H bicycle safety program. However, any 4-H adult or teen leader, safety council, civic group or summer recreational program can sponsor a community-wide programmed learning approach to bicycle safety.

The program is aimed at 9-11 year-old youths.

"The bike safety program helps 9 to 11 year-olds develop good attitudes about highway safety and courtesy when they are in an attitude - forming stage of development," Aylsworth said. "The program is easy to teach and leaders do not have to be mechanically minded. All of the needed information is contained in the program materials."

Learning topics include: "Why Bicycle Safety is Important to You", "Care of the Bike", "Bicycle Adjustment" and "Michigan Laws for Bicycle Riders." There are also instructions for setting up bicycle skills testing courses. Contact the County Cooperative Extension Service for more information on this new program.

Saranac variety recommended

Saranac is the new alfalfa variety recommended for southern Michigan. George McQueen, Clinton County Extension agent, says this variety is one of the keys to top production.

"Saranac is wilt-resistant and good for a four-year stand," says McQueen. "It can generally be cut about a week earlier than Vernal, an old Michigan standard variety."

The agent advises that farmers who plant alfalfa this year should try the new variety which has produced excellent yields in Michigan State University tests at East Lansing and in over-state trials. "As much as 5.5 tons of hay have been cut from a stand in its fourth year," he reports.

For long-term stands and in areas where winters are more severe, farmers may want to try limited plantings of Saranac and use Vernal as their first choice variety.

"Since Saranac can be cut a week earlier than other varieties it offers another advantage," notes McQueen. "It will likely be possible to treat fields for the alfalfa weevil between the first and second cutting. Treating stubble is less expensive than treating fields with full-grown alfalfa plants."

Fertilizer may improve weed control

Starter fertilizers not only add nutrients to the soil, but they can also give an extra boost to weed control by affecting pre-emergence herbicide action.

Donald Penner, a Michigan State University crop scientist, has found that some combinations of nutrients and weed control chemicals can delay or prevent seed germination.

According to Penner, certain chemicals in many starter fertilizer mixes can make plants either more or less sensitive to herbicides.

For example, he found that atrazine, amiben, propachlor, dichlobenil and trifluralin slowed the production of phytase, a plant enzyme required for release of certain nutrients from seeds during germination. Inhibition was even greater when potassium phosphate was added.

"The effects of this nutrient-herbicide interaction are different for each herbicide," Penner said. "So far, we know that interaction can occur in the dark shortly after germination begins. We plan to do more research to find out the exact nature and effects of these various combinations."

DeWitt rezones to allow new 10-unit apartment

DeWITT - The City of DeWitt has rezoned a parcel of land on North Bridge Street to allow for a 10-unit apartment building, but some 2,800 square feet of the property is outside the city limits and must be annexed before construction can start.

The plan for the apartment was presented to the city council last Monday night, April 7, by Robert Fedewa of Fedewa Builders. The land rezoned from single family to multi-family residential is across Bridge Street from the cemetery.

AGRICULTURE in ACTION

by M. L. Woell
MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

A growing problem for many Michigan farmers these days is how to work and survive as the non-farmer population spreads around them in the rural areas.

More and more people needing places to live, work and play have caused new population expansion problems.

These people want and need sewers, lighting systems, roads and many other attributes of city living—in a country atmosphere. They don't want crowding and they don't want the stench of polluted air. They seek peace and quiet, and usually, they find it.

But, what about the farmer who was there first?

Non-farm neighbors soon discover that cattle pens and hog barns tend to permeate the air with unwelcome smells on a hot spring or summer day. Complaints are common, and in a somewhat historic New York state case, a hog farmer was enjoined from further operation under air pollution laws of that area. This is in spite of the fact that he had been in business for some time, and his complaining neighbors had moved out to him and around him.

Near Jackson, Mich., a similar case a few years ago caused a well-established farmer to cease further spreading of manure on portions of his land, and near Lansing, Michigan, a current case is now in court with an injunction sought against a swine producer by an "upwind" neighbor.

Complaints are not one-sided by any means. Farmers complain of greatly increased vandalism, and there appears to be a rise in old-fashioned cattle rustling with modern twists. Steers and hogs have disappeared from barn, pen and feedlot, with only tire marks to show where a light truck has backed against fence or barn.

The movement to the suburbs and well beyond can be expected to increase as work weeks shorten and industrial pay rates continue to rise. Solutions must be found, and soon—with many farm leaders convinced that the best hope lies in land-use zoning.

Leaders of the Michigan Farm Bureau call for recognition of farmland for total agricultural production and ask that it be assessed on the tax rolls for that purpose.

They point out that maintenance of good farmland must be encouraged in the interest of future food needs, open spaces and green areas for all of us.

He'll answer farm questions

What's your farm problem? Clinton County Extension Agricultural Agent George R. McQueen is making a concentrated effort this week and next to meet as many farmers with problems and questions in an effort to get them cleared up before planting time.

McQueen will be at the Boughten Elevator at 9 a.m., today (Wednesday) and at St. Johns Cooperative at 1 p.m. Thursday he'll be at Fowler Cooperative at 9 a.m. and Elsie Elevator at 1 p.m. On Friday the schedule calls for visits at the Westphalia Elevator at 9 a.m. and Gower's Elevator at Eureka at 1 p.m. Next Monday he'll be at Ovid Farmers Elevator at 9 a.m.

McQueen said he will bring detailed soil maps and other information for getting answers to farmers' problems. "Bring your crop, soil, fertilizer, chemical or any other farm question for the latest recommendations to best fit you."

All models will be students in the home economics department or members of the FHA Club. The public is invited to attend. All proceeds will be used to send an FHA member to the national convention.

FHA at Ovid elects officers

The Ovid-Elsie FHA recently held its election of officers for the 1969-70 school year.

They are: Kathy Kusnier, president; Mary Jane Kusnier, first vice president; Sherry Salander, second vice president; Delinda Easlick, third vice president; Mary Jo Hovey, secretary; Barbara Delaney, corresponding secretary; Linda Cox, treasurer; Linda Guyski, reporter; Marsha Walters, parliamentarian; Lucy Medina, historian; Cindy LaFountain, song leader; and Patty Bernhart, pianist.

Nitrogen boosts herbicide efficiency

Herbicides' killing power may depend on nitrogen available to the weed as well as the herbicides' killing mechanism, according to Michigan State University crop scientists.

Jerry D. Doll and William F. Meggitt studied effects of varying levels of available nutrient on application rates required for prompt, effective chemical weed control.

Oats grown in laboratory studies showed that high nitrogen stimulates earlier plant death. Atrazine, linuron and amiben were applied at or above rates recommended for the control of annual grasses and broad-leaved weeds in fields.

Symptoms appeared earlier and damage was significantly greater when high concentrations of atrazine and linuron were applied with higher rates of nitrogen. Amiben, however, caused less plant injury as more nitrogen was added.

While variations in available phosphorus and potassium did not cause significant effects, high nitrogen caused greater overall yield of dry matter, even though plants began to show signs of injury after three weeks.

Since weeds, as well as crops, use nutrients, Doll and Meggitt are also interested in whether or not more herbicide must be applied to make up for the increased health and strength of weeds.

Ambulance service discussed at meeting

The supervisors and board members of Duplain, Chapin, Elba, and Fairfield townships recently met at the Duplain township office with the Elsie village officers.

The purpose of the joint meeting was to discuss the future of ambulance service to their townships, due to the fact that it will be necessary for the Charter Ambulance to discontinue service July 1, 1969.

It was agreed that some type of service should be established to cover the four township area. The general consensus of opinion among those in attendance was that a volunteer group patterned after the Fire Department could be set up.

Each supervisor was to present the situation to his people at the annual meeting on April 15 to learn if their township should participate. Another meeting will be held Tuesday, April 8 to further investigate this situation. Anyone interested in this community service should contact Merle Basee or Kelley Carter at Elsie.

There is urgent need for this community service now that most funeral directors are going out of the ambulance service.

ALTAR SOCIETY HOSTS MEETING

The St. Cyril Altar Society ladies will host a social and luncheon at the annual meeting on April 15 to hear from the National Council of Catholic Women, Mrs. Iona King and Mrs. Margaret Luszczak. The ladies talked about the work and project of the council.

The society sponsored a bake sale and a social hour after both masses last Sunday. The award prize went to Mrs. Louis Sipka. Luncheon hostesses were Mrs. Joseph Pontack and Mrs. Dean Dunham.

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the United Methodist Church has several important dates to keep in mind: annual district meeting in Ionia, April 24; and May 3, mother-daughter banquet at 7 p.m. with guests from six other area churches; annual district meeting in Ionia, April 24; and May 3, mother-daughter banquet at 7 p.m.

The cornerstones

The week of April 20-26 this year is set aside as National Library Week. During this time the peculiarly human characteristic that accounts for all of man's accomplishment is to be commemorated—the ability to store the sum total of his knowledge and build new knowledge upon it.

Our libraries preserve the written word that records faithfully all that the wisest and most gifted among us have learned of the arts, of literature, of science and technology, of life, the world and the universe around us. In great libraries the record of civilization is being kept-in movies, in the sound of stereo tapes, on microfilm. The purpose of National Library Week is to create broader awareness of the need for a better-read, better-informed America and to encourage the habit of reading and library use.

Libraries have been the cornerstone of civilization throughout recorded history. They were never more so than now. Knowledge, especially in scientific fields, expands at a fantastic rate and an education can truly never be completed but must be constantly sought throughout a lifetime of learning. Libraries remain a primary tool of learning. During National Library Week, let us strengthen the habit of using them often and well.

Horsepower

Political and economic independence are inseparable. No better illustration of this fact can be found than in the operation of that mainstay of liberty, the free press. To be free the press must be self-supporting.

The practical side of press freedom was described by the advertising director of a major metropolitan newspaper: "While the First Amendment (to the U.S. Constitution) guarantees freedom of the press, it is the strength provided by advertising revenues that makes it possible. . . . No subsidized press can hope to be objective and unbiased in news treatment or editorial policy. . . . I believe that America's newspapers. . . by advertising's vigor-impacting revenues, are the most objective, the most informative, and the most reliable newspapers in the world."

The oft heard statement that private enterprise and a free press will live or die together is no exaggeration. Neither is it an exaggeration to point out that representative government and liberty itself will stand or fall with private enterprise and a free press. And so we should be thankful for the advertising horsepower that keeps a good newspaper solvent.

Eggs, boxes & toothpaste

By RON HUARD

It happens every Easter. The raw egg routine. That's when some joker stealthily applies traditional coloring to an egg that has not been boiled, with only too obvious results.

Well, this year's report comes from the Gerry Karber home and wife Shirley was the victim. However, the trick was not set up by Gerry, but by a Karber daughter who did not truly live up to the essence of her name. . . Angela surely was no angel at the instant her mom cracked the shell!

Last week was moving week for our family as we became official St. Johns residents by occupying a recently purchased house. Despite being the second family transplant in nine months, the only-across-the-street-distance tempered the haul and allowed opportunity for the event to stretch out over a period of days. And this it did.

The activities began on one Thursday and weren't fully completed until the next but the days in between were something like spring clean-up, Christmas and show-and-tell time all rolled into one.

To add a bit of spice to the occasion, the entire period was spent without sufficient electric service to operate a range and Easter visitors shared ham sandwiches and potato salad with us to usher in the picnic season just a shade ahead of schedule.

However, a somewhat festive atmosphere prevailed throughout most of the period, for many boxes which were sealed way last summer in a distant Iowa town revealed long-lost treasures and forgotten possessions. Important things, such as tin-foil wrapped bricks, which had been used for book-ends; carpet remnants from a remodeling project finished just before our return to Michigan; one leather glove for a left hand and an extension cord that when put to use could not be because of a short. We would not have been too surprised to find sections of our former home packed neatly in cardboard boxes awaiting reconstruction in jigsaw puzzle fashion.

The house into which we moved has been on the scene for a long time and like many older houses holds an inherent charm that serves as a solid basis for a family home. If we ever get all the boxes unpacked, the leaky pipes fixed, the windows sealed and the kids adjusted to an open stairway with a banister (which is yet too wiggly to slide down, thank heavens!) we should begin to enjoy our new old house.

Thoughts while shaving: There is little wonder why life is becoming so complicated. Some design engineer comes up with a gadget that turns an ordinary safety razor into a monstrosity with buttons, dials and adjustments that add up to almost a dozen settings. This

One of life's minor irritations is a tooth-paste tube squeezed flat near the top with over half of the original amount of paste taxing the seam at the bottom of the tube. Invariably, attempts to rectify the situation lead to the tube bursting in at least two places and then it is indeed a trick to load the brush without wasting an equal amount.

Wonder why. . . we lay beautiful hardwood floors then cover them with comfortable carpeting then overlay this with scatter rugs. If we protected our money in a similar fashion we'd all be wealthy.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Serviceman in Viet Nam states views

Dear Editor,

I have just received the March 19 issue of your paper, and as always I sat down to catch up on the news at home. When I came to the great part which said "Letters To The Editor," I saw the caption, "He defends protestors of Viet War." This caught my eye, so I decided I'd see what it had to say.

After I read the article, I was quite disturbed as were a number of my fellow Army friends. It may be true that we don't belong here, I don't know about that; very few of us are experts on international politics, etc., here. All we know is that we are here, and that we don't need any crackpots telling us we don't belong here, and all that stuff about "Life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

It's not a question of "do you think it's a young man's goal to end up in a rice paddy fighting for his life?" The fact is that we are in the rice paddies fighting for our lives, and our country.

I don't know how the other guys from St. Johns who are over here feel about reading stuff like this, but as for myself I don't care for it. It's hard enough facing each day as it is, without knowing that people at home are backing protestors, draft dodging, etc.

It's hard enough to figure out what we're fighting for, without everyone telling us we don't belong here. If they feel this way, let them do something about it besides writing hogwash to corrupt people's minds.

The person who wrote that article said he wasn't avoiding the disappointing facts, but unfortunately he missed the largest fact of all—that we are in Viet Nam. Perhaps someone should inform him of this fact and that it's "too late to cry over spilled milk," to quote a much-used phrase.

As for being in a rat race here, let me say this. This person should come here and see what a person, or should I say the men, go through. Perhaps he wouldn't be so quick to condemn anyone of anything.

I don't know if you'll print this, or even a part of it, but as for caring about reading any more articles such as his, I don't! Sincerely,
Sp/4 JOHN WILSON

Footo defends Carmack letter on protestors

Dear Public and Mr Sam Sample: In Mr Sample's recent letter to the editor, "Stand Up America," I seem to think that he is looking at the situation rather blindly. Firstly, Mr Sample, the people you speak about at the beginning of your letter, the so-called radical protestors, the hippies, dissenters and non-conformists, they are people. They are all people just like you. Ever give that much thought? I think it's about time you did. I think it's about time you and the many, many other people like you just sit back and be thankful for those people, instead of hating them with your gleaming pride. Why not give them a little respect? These people care, they are taking a huge interest in our country's problems, and they are showing that they care. I'm sorry that you think they are wrong just because they believe differently. If I were you I'd give it some more thought.

You also state that these people have little value for life and take it for granted. Well I think it's about time, Mr Sample, you opened up that narrow mind or yours and begin to see a few things. You and all the other people like you. I think this country needs it.

I'm 18 years old, Mr Sample, and I'm against the draft, and the war, and any war. I think it's a poor way of solving things. It's just like you, a confirmed conformist, to sit back and accept it because it has been a part of the past. Well it doesn't have to be a part of the future.

This country should be proud that it has men like Mr Carmack and myself that care this much about the world, and I say the world, not just this country.

Just think if there was a majority of thinkers like Carmack and myself, then maybe we could save some lives, but you can't see that can you? Well let me tell you one thing, it's not impossible.

You know, Mr Sample, I'm not gonna have anything to do with these stinking wars, there has to be a better way.

And if I'm only one person, I'm gonna try to make this messed up world a little better, and I'm gonna try hard.

My people are the world's people and my country is the world.

Gone With the Wind

A singer sings his song

I'm certainly no songbird,
Seems I wasn't built that way,
Whatever I try to warble
Comes out bluest of blue jay;
But I can recognize a song,
That springs straight from the heart,
Such as Ovid's Charlie Warren,
When he sings "How Great Thou Art."

He's not one for Grand Opry,
Nor given much to fuss 'n frills,
But there's resonance 'n timber,
As his voice inspires 'n thrills;
He's not much for pose 'n gestures,
Ne'er engages in false starts,
As he rises to the challenge,
And proclaims "How Great Thou Art."

I haven't scanned the records,
Wouldn't know for just how long
He has raised his voice in chorus,
On some favorite gospel song;
But I count him easy winner,
He rates Class A on my chart,
When he leads the gospel singin'
To declare "How Great Thou Art."

Though we wish the time far distant,
Soon or later comes a day,
When the Master of the workmen,
Says to put the tools away;
We who here thrill to his music,
Will not count him far apart,
When he goes to meet his Maker,
Singing still "How Great Thou Art."

MICHIGAN MIRROR Medical maze

By ELMER E. WHITE

Without major surgery, the state Senate has passed a bill to eliminate the legal-medical maze over human organ transplants in Michigan.

The measure sailed through the Upper Chamber in much the same form it was introduced three months ago by Sen. N. Lorraine Beebe, Dearborn Republican.

Specifically, it designates who may donate a heart, kidney or other organ, and provides protection for physicians performing operations.

Some doctors and hospitals in Michigan are now reluctant to authorize transplant operations because of questions involving the medical, moral and legal aspects of the issue.

Anyone over 18 and of sound mind could will his organs for use after death if Sen. Beebe's bill makes it through the House and the governor's office. Doctors involved in the transplant procedure would be immune from liability.

Other key provisions designate accredited hospitals, surgeons and medical schools as parties eligible to receive organs for transplant, and allow an adult to make an organ gift by signing a document in the presence of at least two witnesses. There is also a provision for revoking the gift.

University of Michigan medical experts, who have performed three successful heart transplants, strongly supported the bill.

MICHIGAN'S DIFFICULTIES over the time of day have taken another twist. The Upper Peninsula has been authorized to rejoin the lower part of the state in the Eastern Time Zone.

Congressman Philip E. Ruppe, a Houghton Republican, announced the action by U.S. Transportation Secretary John Volpe.

"Since the summer daylight time is not a legal option in Michigan," Ruppe said, "opinion coming into my office and into the department of transportation ran nearly 10 to 1 in favor of Eastern zone."

Two years ago, the federal government placed the U. P. in the Central Time Zone, saying its economic ties were closer with those in Wisconsin than those in Lower Michigan.

But three counties—Chippewa, Mackinac and Luce—at the eastern edge of the Peninsula, had declared themselves in the Eastern zone.

Now, Ruppe says, "some areas near the Wisconsin border express preference for Central Time." He said there were indications that some areas at the western end of the Peninsula might decide to stay on Central Time.

Ruppe, who represents the entire U. P. as well as several lower Michigan counties, said the zone change will become effective April 27, when most of the nation goes on daylight savings time.

But Michigan voters last November decided against going on DST. That means that Michigan, instead of being in time-tune with New York, will be in step with Chicago.

With Volpe's ruling, however, most of the U. P. will move its clocks forward one hour to line up with the Lower Peninsula.

A BILL HAS BEEN introduced in the Michigan House to give cities 80 per cent of the $100 million recreation bond money, and outstate areas 20 per cent.

Rep. James Bradley, Detroit Democrat, chief sponsor of the plan, said the money should go "where Michigan's problems are."

Gov. William G. Milliken has recommended 60 per cent of the funds go to the cities. Conservationists and their friends in the Legislature maintain voters approved the program with the understanding 70 per cent would find its way to outstate areas, and only 30 per cent to the urban centers.

But Bradley said there are lots of problems in the cities "and the recreation money is a good way of straightening them out. People living in the ghettos have as much right to recreational facilities as those who live in the suburbs and are able to get to state parks and other facilities."

Bradley's bill faces an uphill struggle. The sentiment of the lawmakers seems to be more along the 70-30 division proposed by outdoorsmen.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

WATERLOO, Wis., COURIER:

"We suspect that a great many parents of a great many college students must be of the opinion that college and university presidents are the most overpaid executives in the country today. Those twenty-or-thirty-thousand dollar a year educators who have been willing to let a shouting minority of students dictate how the college or university should be run can hardly be said to be earning their pay. The cost of sending a youngster to one of those colleges is a heavy burden for many families. If the campus is so disrupted that the youngster cannot be educated, then that student is being robbed."

GRASSROOTS OPINION

EDEN, N. C., NEWS: "There's only one thing left that will give you more for your money than it did 10 years ago—the penny scale at the corner drugstore."

ROCKLAND, Maine, COURIER-GAZETTE: "Perhaps the government hasn't kept up with the times. This was the thought of the father of a good-sized family recently as he referred to the $600 deduction allowed for dependents by the Internal Revenue Service. He may be right, quite right at that. The allowance is totally out of line with costs of caring for a dependent today, be it a school age child or an adult. While we realize that one man's protest is not going to gain results, the heads of households everywhere probably are of the same thinking, and also feel that their voice would not be heard in the wilderness that is Washington. We just wonder what would happen if by chance their voices were heard and gained in volume as their numbers grew."

LOVINGTON, N. M., LEADER: "Today the greatest moral challenge facing Americans is not whether we shall continue to abide slavery, or resist oppression. The greatest challenge facing every citizen is directed at his personal, individual integrity, and it is whether he will choose for himself freedom and independence, or dependence and servility."

From the state house

By DICK ALLEN
88th District Representative

Will any more than half of our grade school and high school students attend school full time this fall? Will we have school finance reform this year with significant relief for the property owner?

A month ago I said the answer to both questions was no. Here's why.

Adequate school finance and property tax relief can only come about with a change in the state tax structure.

I believe the majority of the public wants such a change and when I arrived in Lansing this January, I was assuming that political leaders shared my opinion. I was surprised to discover that the governor and the leadership of both parties seemed to feel there should be no major changes in state taxes this year and probably not before the 1970 elections.

I think the reasoning was along this line. People are mad about taxes. But primarily they are mad about the national surtax and the local property tax. Since their primary wrath is not aimed at a state tax, let's not rock the boat and we'll all get elected next time!

HOWEVER, LOUD noises have been coming from the rank and file in the House, school leaders in the state, and the public in general. They can be summarized by two general statements. It is a disgrace if Michigan, with a per capita income of over $3,000, cannot keep as high a percentage of its students in school full time as Formosa with less than $200 per person. The property tax has not been a fair basis for major school support in the past, but it is now becoming so unfair it cannot be tolerated.

Three proposals by House members point out concern at lower levels.

Rep. Spencer has introduced a bill that increases the state income tax with the proceeds ALL going to local school districts.

Falling to gather much support from House leaders he has, with considerable success, presented his proposal to school groups throughout the state.

Rep. Roy Smith is attempting to amend the Constitution to prohibit property tax for school operation. He is taking his battle to the people with a petition campaign.

I INTRODUCED a controversial "delayed tuition" bill which would reduce the dependence of our colleges and universities on the General Fund where they

Shepardsville By Lucille Spencer

Plans are under way for a public smorgasbord supper at the Shepardsville United Methodist Church on April 24. The proceeds will be used for the building fund. More details next week.

Mrs. Anna Alderman of Midland and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Rankin of Saginaw were Easter guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clare Alderman and family.

Mrs. Charles Walker and Mrs. John Spencer attended the board meeting of the Clinton County Federation of Women's Clubs on April 8 in St. Johns at the Congregational Church.

The Easter Banner was hung by the UMYF to signify the Risen Christ. It signifies that Jesus was not an ordinary man, He truly was the Son of God who died for our sins. This banner was made by Michael Swender. All six banners will be hanging in the church for some time.

The flowers on the altar Easter compete with public schools.

I don't claim any of these is a complete answer. But I believe the stir they have caused is beginning to be felt by our leaders.

Senate Majority Leader Lockwood recently said he felt schools needed additional funds from a state tax increase. Governor Milliken has called for a commission to investigate educational reform.

I think the answer to the original questions is still no. But I'm beginning to have hope! As they say in baseball, "Wait'll next year!"

The WSCS of the Shepardsville United Methodist Church is launching a used summer clothing drive for Church World Service during the month of April. Clothing must have at least six months wear. Lightweight blankets as well as money to mail the package will be acceptable.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Brocker and Mr. and Mrs. Jerold Brocker were among the Easter Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Anderson and family of Lansing.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Piotrowicz and family of Novi were overnight guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Brocker on Easter.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Gibson and family spent their Easter vacation visiting in Texas and other points of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Moore were Easter visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fehke of Fowler. They helped Fred celebrate his birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Claire Wilson and Mike spent Easter vacation touring Florida and returned home on Sunday.

Self-control is the one thing every man has until he needs it.

For Revolution ???

In May, 1918, in Germany, the Allied forces obtained a copy of some of the Communist Rules for Revolution. Here are a few of them:

"Corrupt the young: get them away from religion. Get them interested in sex. Make them superficial; destroy their ruggedness.

"Get control of all means of publications . . . divide the people into hostile groups by constantly harping on controversial matters of no importance."

"By encouraging government extravagance, destroy its credit, produce fear of inflation with rising prices and general discontent. Foment unnecessary strikes in vital industries, encourage civil disorders and foster a soft attitude on the part of government toward such disorders.

"By special argument, cause the breakdown of old moral virtues, honesty, sobriety, continence, faith in the pledged word, ruggedness."
