By JIM EDWARDS
County News Editor

ST JOHNS -- An early Sunday morning raid by the Clinton County Sheriff's Dept and Tri-County Metro Narcotics Unit netted what is believed to be the largest marijuana cache ever seized in Michigan.

Acting on a tip from US Customs and the Lansing Police Dept, the County Sheriff's Dept and Metro Narcotics officers raided a house at 2260 Stoll Rd, DeWitt Twp, and came away with over 1700 pounds of marijuana.

Estimated value of the marijuana if sold on the street would be around $240,000.

Fowler tries to break Bloodmobile tie

FWLER -- The Fowler Jaycees are trying to break the tie in blood donations by beating Westphalia Thursday, April 19.

The Bloodmobile will be open from 1 pm to 7 pm at Holy Trinity Parish Hall. During the last semi-annual contest between Fowler and Westphalia, in the Red Cross Bloodmobile Drive, Westphalia edged Fowler by 11 points, 101-92.

This year the contest is being headed by Dan Fedewa, general chairman, and it marks the end of a 3-year donating period for which a special plaque will be awarded for the Jaycee hall.

The contest was the idea of both Jaycee groups to help promote donations to the Bloodmobile and the Red Cross.

Fedewa said a volunteer doctor will be present at all times for medical coverage and will be glad to answer any questions.

The blood will be drawn by a team of professional Red Cross staff nurses.

St Johns to expand off-street parking

ST JOHNS -- The purchase of 2 properties by the city of St Johns has opened the avenue toward a broader program of off-street parking in the city's central business district.

The two parcels, referred to as the Miller Furniture Building, directly across from city hall and the Mathews property, across from the A&P Food Store, were recently acquired by the city as part of an improved parking program recommended to the city commission by the parking lot advisory board.

According to board chairman Robert Thompson the lots are now city property and demolition bids are being sought for removal of buildings on the sites.

The purchases were effected with monies received by the city from parking funds and payment of the approximately $40,000 for the 2 lots along with improvement costs will come from meter revenue. Thompson estimates that an additional 40 off-street parking spaces will be provided at an approximate cost of $1500 per space.

The 2 new lots, located on either side of Clinton Ave, were selected for their proximity to the central business district. In addition to serving retail activity, patrons of city hall and Bement Public Library were considered and the lot which will occupy the Miller property will serve these facilities well.

While the city will own the entire Mathews property lot, the new lot on the former furniture store site will be operated in conjunction with the American Legion to provide the expanded parking area.

ADVERTISEMENTS for demolition bids are now being circulated and city manager Harvey Weatherwax announced that opening of sealed bids will be conducted during the April 23 meeting of the City Commission. It is anticipated that the 2 new lots will be in full use later this year.

In addition to these 2 parcels, the parking lot advisory board has recommended a number of improvements on existing lots. The improvements consist of not only physical upgrading through decorative landscaping but also adjustment of parking hours to allow for short, medium and long-term parking. It is expected that such a system will provide for the needs of shoppers and workers in the downtown area.

The parking board was appointed by the City Commission in September 1971 to study and recommend on matters of parking facilities and related matters within the city of St Johns. Aside from Thompson other members presently serving are Ed Mankey, Don Roesner, Rolling Huard, city manager Weatherwax and commissioner John Hannah.

St Johns businessmen are looking to future

ST JOHNS -- Approximately 125 individuals, business and property owners were expected to meet Tuesday evening at the Central National Bank. Purpose of the meeting was to discuss plans to improve the appearance and services of the downtown business district.

The meeting was held by an association of downtown businessmen, working through the support of the Chamber of Commerce.

Recently formed, the organization has set up 6 committees: store appearance, parking improvements, retail improvements, city government, promotion and public relations committees.

Scheduled to be present at the meeting were Paul Gardner of Consumers Power Company and Jim Glass, architect and designer.

CONSUMERS POWER has indicated their intention to assist the downtown business area in establishing an attractive building exterior theme.

Initial plans are to encourage local businessmen to improve the district through paint-up and clean-up activities.

Another meeting is scheduled for May 9 to name committee members and to hear a presentation by a Charlotte official, who will explain how that community accomplished the same goals set by the St Johns businessmen.

GOP bestows honors

MABELLE DURKEE

ST JOHNS -- A presentation by Congressman Elford A. Cederberg Friday night honored the many years of service to the Republican Party by Mabelle Durkee of St Johns, GOP County vice-chairman from 1942-1956.

In presenting the service award to her in a reception preceding the GOP Lincoln Tribute Dinner, Cederberg said:

"What Does Mabelle Durkee Think?" Those were the words used by Clinton County Republicans for 14 years. She has always been a highly loyal and enthusiastic Republican worker and supporter -- the backbone of the party.

Her judgement was always sought and respected.

"Mabelle was the first woman to serve as county vice chairman in Clinton County. She served as vice chairman when Ed Fehling was chairman, and also when Al Allaby was chairman.

During the World War II years, she was a tireless worker and supporter of our part in the war effort. In those years following the war, she put her efforts toward the Republican party -- they were successful years.

So, Mabelle Durkee, to you, this recognition plaque - a small token of appreciation."

VELMA BEAUFURE

ST JOHNS -- Velma Beaufore, Clinton County treasurer, was honored at the Friday night Clinton County Republican Lincoln Tribute Dinner with a service award signed by Governor William Milliken, Congressman Elford Cederberg, Sen Robert Griffin, and county GOP chairman James Palmeter.

The award read, "In grateful appreciation for outstanding service to the Republican Party of Clinton County in the State of Michigan and a lifetime of dedication to the cause of Republicanism -- presented this 13th day of April, 1973.

At Clinton County GOP dinner

Gerald Ford praises Nixons hold on federal spending

Ed Note: The following excerpts are from a speech by House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford at the GOP Dinner April 13 at St Johns.

"There will be no increase in Federal income taxes this year or for the next three years. That will be the upshot if the American people continue to support President Nixon and the Republican Party in their efforts to hold back on Federal spending.

"I firmly believe the people are with us in our current series of confrontations with the big spenders among the Democrats in Congress. This, I feel, is the reason for the remarkable party discipline that has been exhibited by Republicans in the House and Senate alike on the attempts made to date by Democratic leaders to override Presidential vetoes of budget-busting bills.

"It has been mighty tough for Republicans in the Congress to vote to sustain Presidential rejection of bills like the Vocational Rehabilitation Act of 1972 and the Rural Sewer and Water Act. But they have sensed that the people are behind them, and that gave them the backbone to stand up for fiscal sanity.

"They know, too, that we in the Congress who believe in fiscal responsibility have to stand up against the whole flood of budget-busting bills the big spenders among the Democrats are throwing at us or the dam will break and all semblance of fiscal order will be swept away.

"The April 15 deadline for filing Federal income tax returns dramatizes this Battle of the Budget. The stakes are clear. What is at issue is simply whether we will hold the line against a Federal tax increase.

"The need is for enough disciples of fiscal responsibility in the Democratic-controlled Congress to make the President's spending holdback stick and thus hold taxes down. They need your support.

"You know what the score is. People can argue until they are blue in the face about the right of the President to impound funds. But the fact remains that if the President had not slapped a $250 billion ceiling on Federal outlays for fiscal 1973, we would be spending $11 billion more than that this fiscal year. Instead of an estimated deficit of $25 billion, we would have a fiscal 1973 deficit of $36 billion. And then the wheels would really fly off the economic buggy.

"Let's project that built-in spending a bit. The momentum of it would have pushed Federal outlays in fiscal 1974 to $19 billion above the President's 1974 request, and it would have shoved Federal spending $24 billion above the President's proposals for fiscal 1975.

"That $24 billion is an interesting figure, especially when you lay it along-side the estimate that American taxpayers will receive Federal income tax refunds totalling $20 to $22 billion this year. Think of it! The excess of spending that the liberal Democrats in Congress wanted to commit us to for fiscal 1975 would have topped this year's $22 billion in income tax refunds. Let American taxpayers think about that a little as they fill out their income tax forms this year.

"It's not just taxes we should be concerned about. Consider the fact that Federal spending is a principal cause of inflation. Add all of the Democrats' budget-busting bills together and you come up with a figure that would contribute substantially to inflation. This kind of spending hurts the very people we are trying to serve, those at the lower income levels who are most affected by runaway inflation.

"I am deeply committed to programs like vocational rehabilitation. But I am just as deeply committed to the principle that these programs must be carried forward at a fiscally responsible spending level. I believe we should produce 100 cents worth of human benefits for every tax dollar we spend.

"In that connection, don't let anybody tell you the President just blindly ordered cuts in Federal programs. He proceeded only after the Office of Management and Budget had conducted the most exhaustive evaluation of Federal programs ever undertaken. And do you know what that study showed? Of the more than 1000 Federal grant programs reviewed, 115 were found to be riddled with waste and inefficiency. There is no money for such programs in President Nixon's budgets.

"As I said earlier, the American people have repeatedly shown they want to hold the line on both prices and taxes. Republicans are helping them do that. So I think Republican prospects are good for 1974. I think our efforts on behalf of the people will show up in the vote totals posted after the balloting is done."

The Mother and Daughter Banquet was held at the Elsie United Methodist Church Friday evening (April 6). There were 150 guests to enjoy the 3 course ham dinner served by the Methodist Men.

The invocation was given by Mrs David Litchfield and Mrs Lawrence Hess presided as Mistress of Ceremonies.

Following the dinner in Fellowship Hall, the guests adjourned to the sanctuary for the program. Organ music was provided by Sharon Dunham and the "Mother and Daughter Tributes were given by Mrs Alice Gilbert and daughter, Krystal.

Special people were selected for recognition by Mrs Donald Whitaker: oldest mother, Mrs Anna Ensign; youngest mother, Mrs Martha Geiger Homola; youngest daughter, 6-1/2 month-old Melinda, daughter of Wanda Onstott McCullough; and the farthest distance travelled, Mrs Litchfield, the pastor's mother from Detroit.

There were several mothers with 3 daughters but Mrs Nancy Conklin drew the prize. There were 4 generations represented with Mrs Leila Wilson, great grandmother; Mrs June Wilson Cross, grandmother; Mrs Nancy Cross Mead, mother; and Kammie Mead, daughter.

Shawn Conklin was selected as the girl with the most buttons. Prizes were given to all girls with ribbons in their hair. The program featured a style review of wedding gowns from 1903 to 1973 with Mrs Elizabeth Hess elaborating on their designs and owners.

Elizabeth Holcomb wore a 2 piece fine lawn with pleated skirt stand-up collar and finished with a wide sash that her grandmother wore in 1903 and her mother in 1936. Audrey Crampton wore her mother's (Thelma Kridner) 1935 wedding gown, pink with ruffles. Julie Conklin modeled Louise Tillotson's 1937 gown of ivory satin with leg-omutation sleeves, peplum and bias-cut long skirt. Mrs David Litchfield, wore the 1939 wedding gown of her mother-in-law, which was fashioned of ivory slipper satin in princess style with lace redingote.

Mrs Vera Hibbler and Mrs Nancy Hehrer displayed their own wedding gowns. Mrs Hibbler wore her 1950 white satin made by her mother with scoop neckline and puffed sleeves. Mrs Hehrer's 1957 gown of Chantilly lace and tulle overskirt, the bodice featuring 50 selfcovered buttons. Kathy West wore the 1960 white taffeta wedding dress in nylon and lace of the pastor's wife, Mrs David Litchfield. Kathy's sister, Susie wore the flower girl dress she had for the Patty Sperl Mulder wedding earlier in the year.

Mrs Mary Forubsky wore her own wedding gown of antique white peau de sole with cathedral train and trimmed with white medallions, seed pearls and iridescent sequins. Julie Furstenuau wore the flower girl dress previously worn for Debbie Litchfield at her uncle's 1968 wedding. It was a long turquoise crepe with lace yoke and made by Mrs Litchfield. Dianne Grubaugh wore her wedding gown designed with tiers of white lace on skirt and Sandy Csapos, a floor length gown with chapel train and empire bodice. Both were 1972 models.

Connie Hibbler wore her sister Janis' wedding gown formerly worn by her aunt. It was fashioned with 4 tiered skirt and a square neckline of antique Chantilly lace. The final group to appear were the 5 members of the bridal party of recent bride, Connie King Cook. Kathy Cook and Lori King were flower girls in lavender and white checked gingham with white eyelet pinafores carrying ceramic baskets of pink, lavender and white flowers.

Mrs James King and her daughter, Cheri, attended the bride in lavender and pink checked, respectively, with white eyelet boleros carrying hurricane lamps and purple violets. The bride wore her own empire styled gown of white organza over taffeta and trimmed with Venice lace. Her cathedral length veil made by an office friend and a cascade bouquet completed her attire.

Charleen Gillespie visits Spain

Miss Charleen Gillespie of Kansas City, Missouri, daughter of Mr and Mrs Oliver Gillespie, 8797 North US 27, St Johns, recently returned from a week's stay in Spain where she was on a research trip for her company, Hallmark Cards, Inc. She was one in a group of 14 employees chosen to go to Spain to learn, be inspired, and enjoy the unique experience of a foreign country.

The researchers were based in Torremolinos along the famous Costa Del Sol. From Torremolinos each day small groups went up and down the coast and into the nearby towns and villages.

Two days were spent further inland in the city of Granada and several individuals went as far as the cities of Seville, Cordoba and Madrid.

Because this was a research trip much time was spent shopping for items both unusual and outstanding. The Spanish merchants were very patient and they had lots of fun 'communicating'. The next to last day was spent in Tanager, Morocco, with snake-charmers, belly-dancers and wine and dining. The last day the group returned to Spain and prepared for the flight back to the United States.

Charleen is employed as an artist in Seasonal Design at Hallmark and will mark her first anniversary with the company May 15.

White Cane Week April 19-21

ST JOHNS -- Beginning April 19 and continuing through the 21st the St Johns Lions Club will be promoting White Cane Week. During this week donations will be sought, in exchange for a white cane pin to wear. The proceeds will be used to supply glasses for those who can't afford them, and to help support the Leader Dog School for the Blind in Rochester, Mich.

This money helps pay for the training of a Leader Dog team. The blind person pays nothing to obtain a dog and the training. All expenses are paid by the school, which is financed mainly on donations given by the Lions Club.

During White Cane Week area residents may see Ann Graham and her puppies, along with other members of the Tail Waggers club. Some of the money donated will go toward puppy shots for the Tail Waggers, a 4-H Club which raises dogs to go to the Leader Dog School.

Reach to Recovery

Florence Hartman of DeWitt thinks it is important for a mastectomy patient to keep busy, rather than dwell on herself. Here she is working on an artificial flower arrangement for a friend's wedding.

Ed Note - The following is the 2d in a 2-part series.

By Laurie Kipp
County News Writer

CLINTON COUNTY -- Florence Hartman of DeWitt and Doris Downing from St Johns have an experience in common, both have had a mastectomy (breast removal) and both consider themselves very lucky people.

Although many consider such surgery an unmentionable topic, Mrs Hartman and Mrs Downing take the opposite approach. They believe that public awareness is important if mastectomy patients are to recover fully, and if breast cancer deaths are to be reduced.

Both women stressed the importance of going to the doctor immediately if any of cancer's warning signals are present.

Mrs Hartman noted a lump in her breast one evening when buttoning her pajamas and promptly went to her physician the next day. She checked into Lansing General Hospital the same week and had surgery.

The doctors informed her that the cancer had grown underneath her breastbone for about a year before a lump came to the surface. "I was lucky it was in a place that could be operated on," was Mrs Hartman's reaction to the news.

"THE WORD 'cancer' used to scare me to death," she said, but added that it has a completely different sound now.

Her surgery was a radical mastectomy, which involves the removal of surrounding lymph nodes as well as the breast, making physical recovery more difficult. Her surgeon performed skin grafts to ease tension around her arm.

Then, several weeks later, Mrs Hartman found a lump in her other breast, and had to go through the process again.

"You either accept it, or you don't," she said. "I accepted it completely because I live by faith." "Burying your head in the sand won't take care of it," she said. "It will only get bigger."

Mrs Downing's experience was perhaps a little easier, although both women agree a mastectomy is no picnic. She said she found bleeding from one of her breasts and knew unexplained bleeding is a sign of cancer, so she called the doctor immediately.

"I was scared to death," she said, "I really panicked."

Mrs Downing was admitted to Clinton Memorial Hospital a couple of days later for surgery. She was fortunate since the doctors did not find cancer, but they told her it was likely cancer would have developed if she had not had surgery. Hers was a simple mastectomy - no removal of lymph nodes.

Mrs Downing also accepted the fact that her surgery had to be performed.

"There comes a time when you must respect a professional opinion," she stated. Then she smiled and added, "How lucky can I get? I could have had cancer."

Both women said they could not emphasize enough the importance of seeking medical help immediately if a person suspects something is amiss.

Mrs Hartman said that "if I couldn't have gotten in to see a doctor I would have come to his office every day. By the time I was there a week he'd have to see me because he'd be tiring of me sitting there."

The shroud of secrecy surrounding breast surgery is being broken by the American Cancer Society's Reach to Recovery program, which trains former mastectomy patients in aiding women's emotional recovery after surgery. Both Mrs Hartman and Mrs Downing are trained volunteers for the program, although the program had not been formed when they had surgery. And, both women wish they had had someone to talk to who had been through the surgery before.

Mrs Hartman said she had read about Shirley Temple Black's mastectomy, but could not relate personally to her experience since she is a famous personality. Instead, she gives a lot of credit to her family for their understanding.

Mrs Hartman reported the worst time for her was the 3d or 4th day after surgery.

"You wake up in the middle of the night, and a sleeping pill doesn't work," she said. "It dawns on you that you've had cancer," and you start asking "Why me?"

She remarked that nurses should be trained to give more attention to the patient at this time.

She said the next bad time comes when the bandage is completely gone and "you see what has happened."

"After that's over, everything falls into place." Mrs Hartman emphasized that a woman's family can be a tremendous help if they are understanding. But, she said, they shouldn't pity her.

"If they offer pity, they may mean to help, but aren't really. You need to do things for yourself."

"I don't know if I could have made it myself," she mused, "But then, I didn't have to."

Mrs Downing said her largest morale boost came from her family too. "No one can ever make a complete recovery without their moral

Compassion and understanding

Doris Downing, St. Johns, is another Reach to Recovery volunteer. She agrees that participating in normal activities is essential to the mental and physical well-being of mastectomy patients. Her favorite hobby is swimming.

"Mrs. Flory really has insight into what people need," she stated. "You walk out of there and know you're not the only one with problems."
"If people just understand ... you have to let people help you once in a while," she added.
"Everyone has their own private time of climbing the walls," she added.
A particular boost for Mrs. Downing was Thanksgiving dinner. She was in the hospital at the time, so her whole family joined her for dinner there.
"You know," she said, "I had an obligation to my family too. We have always enjoyed doing things together - I needed to make it as easy on them as possible too."

Some of the adjustments to be made following a mastectomy include a feeling of being off-balance, clothing adjustments and worries about what other people will think. Since the Reach to Recovery program was still in the talking stages at the time of their surgery, Mrs. Hartman and Mrs. Downing had to make these adjustments without the aid of other women who had been through these things.
And since Reach to Recovery volunteers keep all information confidential, a woman need not be afraid to discuss her problems.
Mrs. Hartman said she was proud of herself, but noted that "I sure would have appreciated someone helping me."

Mrs. Downing termed the surgery a "very traumatic experience."
"It's hard to explain," she said. "When the day comes you can accept it, you're OK."
She had nothing but praise for Mrs. Frosty Flory of Lansing, who got the Reach to Recovery program started in this area.

Mrs. Hartman recommends that women make a list of questions for the doctor, and ask them all when he visits. "You feel so much better that way," she noted.
Patients often tell her, "It seems so good to have someone to talk to."
The most often asked questions concern how the patient's husband will react, if she can drive again, and swim or dance. With the exception of the first question, she says the answers are that the patient can do most of the activities she has always participated in.
"I just can't tell her how her husband will react," she remarked. "My husband talks to others sometimes, and that seems to help."

Mrs. Downey emphasized the emotional support provided by another woman who can share her experiences with a patient. "It takes some other woman to come up to you and say, 'I've had the same experience. How are you doing?'"
She added that "when you can get out of that old sweatshirt and wear normal clothes again, you feel better."

Both women stressed the importance of participation in activities, or as Mrs. Hartman put it, "getting back into the swing of things."
Mrs. Downey reported that it was a difficult thing to go out into a crowd of people for the first time following her surgery.
"I almost backed out, but I knew it had to be done," she stated.
Mrs. Hartman keeps 2 knitting projects going, in addition to her other hobbies. One, she says, she could do with her eyes closed, and the other is what she calls her "thinker."

"When depression sets in, as it does once in a while, I get my 'thinker' out so I don't dwell on myself. It works," she laughed.

Mrs. Hartman said she feels better when she calls on a patient. But she does admit that once in a while she sees a terminal patient, and there is nothing she can do. "It's hard then," she said.
Mrs. Hartman seemed to sum up the women's feelings when she said her life is different now. "Before," she said, "I used to be a perfectionist - about my housekeeping, but I do more for myself now. I don't ever completely forget. I'm so lucky to be here ... like I've been given a reprieve."
"Now I don't let anything stop me from visiting patients. Even a phone call helps so much."
"Time takes care of everything."
Further information about Reach to Recovery may be obtained by calling the American Cancer Society's Ingham County Unit at (120) 351-0430.

DeWitt Council to study budget

DEWITT - A meeting of the DeWitt City Council will be held Thursday night to review the tentative 1973-74 fiscal budget presented at their Monday night meeting. The general fund budget calls for a balanced expenditure and revenue figure of $197,840. In their Monday night meeting the council officially hired Capital Consultants to draw up plans for a city street, curb and drain project in the downtown area and hired Miller-Canfield-Paddock and Stone as bonding attorneys. (See the April 2 Clinton County News for a detailed report of the proposed DeWitt "City Street Program".) In other action, the council approve raising the price of garbage bags to $2.50 for 10. The increased price is due to a price increase from the company which supplies the bags to the city. The price is to be effective May 1. The city plans to investigate other sources or procedures of bagging refuse in the meantime. Bags are available at Dalman Hardware or Ballard Home Center, formerly DeWitt Lumber Company. The city also approved the reserving of 32 ornamental trees which will be planted in the downtown area. Council members indicated cost of the trees, $38 a piece is hoped to be supplemented by private and organization donations.

Marauders down DeWitt 7-1

ELSIE -- Tom Kirinovic blasted a home and double to drive in 3 runs to pace the Ovid-Elsie Marauder baseball squad to a 7-1 victory over DeWitt Thursday.

Pat Terrell started on the mound for the Marauders and picked up the victory. He was relieved in the 5th by Robin Leslie after allowing only 2 hits and no runs. Leslie pitched 2 innings, allowing 2 hits and no runs. Mark Hudecek tossed the final inning of the game, giving up 1 run on 2 hits. Picking up 2 more RBIs for Ovid-Elsie was Jack Bashore with a single and Russ Shively with a double. Also hitting safely for the Marauders were Rick Staples with a double and Dan Egbert and Tim Bolton with a single apiece.

No smoking at Bath meetings

BATH -- It's tough luck for those used to 'lighting up' at Bath Township Board meetings in the future. The board passed a no-smoking ordinance, at the request of a member of the audience, Monday night, which will be in effect until an adequate ventilation system can be adopted at the Township Hall meeting room.

The motion made by board member Richard Bargdon and vigorously supported by clerk June Burnett, was opposed only by Thomas Woodruff, who said he likes to smoke during meetings. Supervisor Roy VanSickle suggested that the board investigate the possibility of installing a fan so everybody can be satisfied.

The resignation of Bath Township Planning Commission chairman Edward Eisinger was accepted. In a letter to the board, Eisinger expressed his dissatisfaction with the commission's progress, and said they have "wandered rather aimlessly for several months now." The board voted to send Eisinger a letter of appreciation for his time spent on the commission.

Supervisor Van Sickle suggested that he be replaced by Jack Wiswasser. The board voted that he be appointed to the commission. THE BATH ROAD Committee presented a priority list of roads to be fixed which was accepted by the board. The total estimated cost would come to $15,060. The board decided to proceed immediately, and cover as much of the list as possible, beginning with repairs on Peacock Rd. A member of the committee said they decided the roads could be divided into 3 categories -- impassable, passable and should be fixed. In other business, the voted to put the revenue sharing money, totalling $4596, into a time certificate. The annual audit was unanimously accepted.

It deserves emphasis that the time, the place, the character of the funeral service, the merchandise used, the cemetery selected - these are decisions of the family of the deceased. The funeral director acts only as a representative of the family.

The clergyman should be consulted in matters that concern him before any decisions are made.

To be named to the Academic Honors List a student must earn at least a 3.25 average on a 4.0 basis and carry a full academic load. A full load is defined as 14 quarter hours of credit.

O-E students win debate awards

Four Ovid-Elsie High School students have been awarded Certificates of Merit by the Detroit Free Press for having distinguished themselves as outstanding debaters.

The students are James Rees, Kim Althouse, Anna Roof, and Diane Kiddals. The students participated during the 1972-73 season in the Michigan High School Forensic Association debate series, sponsored by the Free Press and the University of Michigan Bureau of School Services.

The topic debated was: "Resolved: That governmental financial support for all public elementary and secondary education in the United States should be provided by the federal government."

Head Start program to be extended

CLINTON COUNTY -- Summer Head Start programs which have been operating in Clinton, Ingham, Eaton and Shiawassee counties will be converted to full year programs, according to Charles Haskell, acting director of the Capitol Area Economic Opportunity Committee (CAEOC).

Effective this year, there will be no summer Head Start in these areas. The decision to extend the program was made April 9 by the CAEOC Board of Directors.

Plans are to open Family Service Centers, which will include Full Year Head Start, as well as Neighborhood Youth Corps, Operation Mainstream and other human resource programs in each county. The Head Start component will begin this fall. Location of the Centers has not yet been determined.

Approximately 60-80 children will be served in each Center. During the school year they will receive complete academic, social, nutritional and psychological services. Each county will have a Policy Council consisting of a majority of current parents. The Council will share in decisions affecting the nature and operation of the program.

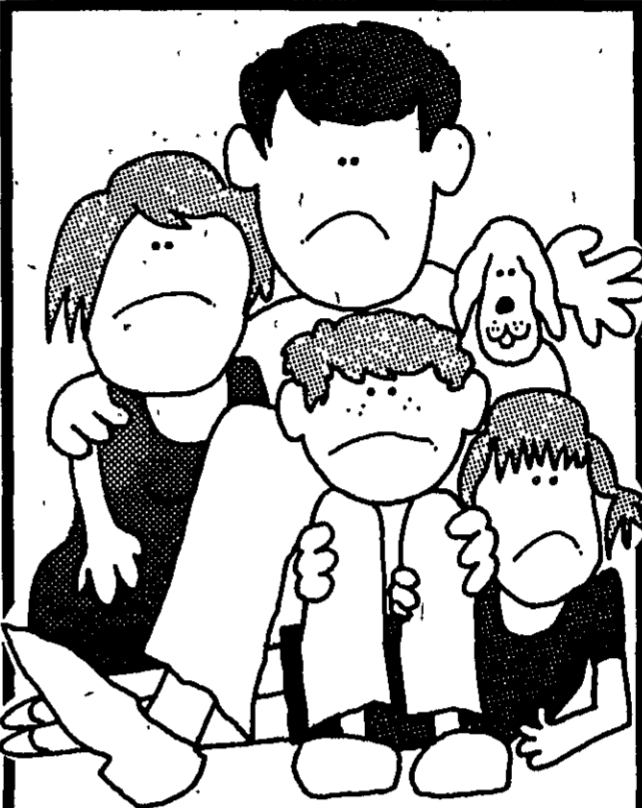

The Regional Office of Child Development has strongly recommended this program because evidence on a national basis indicates that the benefits to the child of a 10 week summer program are not as effective or long-lasting as those for an 8 month program.

Whether the programs will be administered by the Intermediate School District as in the past, or directly by CAEOC has not been determined.

CAEOC has filed a request for $58,216 in additional monies from the Dept of Health, Education and Welfare to assist in this conversion process.

YOU AND YOUR CAR

By the Automotive Information Council

NEW LIGHT ON AUTO LIGHTING

Automobile lighting has become even more sophisticated in recent years to help you see other vehicles and to help you be seen by other drivers. It also has become one of the most abused and misused safety systems in the car.

According to Robert Jeck, president of the Truck Safety Equipment Institute, modern auto lighting is designed to help you recognize the presence of other vehicles on the road and to determine instantly what they're doing. Amber and red side marker lights on cars, for instance, warn you of a car crossing the road in front of you well before the car is caught in your headlights. Directional signals have a long safety record in warning both following and on-coming drivers of your maneuvering intentions.

The more recent development of emergency flasher lights identify and locate disabled cars to warn of potential roadside danger. Some states also require their use when cars or trucks are forced to run below the speed limit on steep grades.

Headlights are misused in two ways, Jeck says. Poorly aimed lights are the biggest troublemakers, primarily on vacationers' cars. Even if the driver has thoughtfully had the lights aligned before starting his trip, Jeck states, he frequently overlooks the change in aim that takes place when he loads the trunk with luggage and other vacation gear. Solution: the lights should be aimed to compensate for the added weight at the rear, and re-aligned for normal driving conditions after the vacation trip.

THE SECOND biggest misuse, according to Jeck, is overdriving the beam. Standard headlight high-beams illuminate a 350-foot path ahead of the car, when properly aimed. Adding average reaction distance (60 feet or more) to the distance covered while braking hard from 60 mph (200-250 feet) means that many motorists are overdriving their headlights at speeds above 60. Even a light film of dirt on the headlights or windshield can reduce forward visibility at night and result in overdriving the lights at speeds below 60 mph.

The fellow who meets trouble halfway is in poor company the rest of the journey.

18-year olds can register by mail

Draft eligible young men are registering by mail during the test project which is currently being conducted by the Lansing Selective Service area office, according to Mrs. Ethel M. Cassel, group supervisor and Mrs Sharon Randall, executive secretary.

Since the April test began, 12 young men have applied for mail registration. Normally the draft board registers 48 young men each month in the counties under its jurisdiction.

Young men reaching age 18 can apply for draft registration by mail during April in a test project being conducted by the Selective Service System. Young men living in counties where there is no draft board office can apply for draft registration by mailing an application to their local board office.

The draft law continues to require the registration of young men at age 18 or within 30 days before or after their 18th birthday. Applications for registration by mail can be obtained at the following sites in this area:

Concerned over apathy

A recent story and pictures ran in the County News regarding the unsafe conditions at Bath's Couzens School Building. When we asked Superintendent Roger Carlson if he had received any response to the story, he replied that not a single inquiry had been made about the school's condition.

The same apathy has greeted Carlson's previous invitations to view conditions at the school!

Carlson reports that the split school days are working out better than expected due to cooperation of teachers and students, but certainly this must impose undue hardship on many students and their families. And, Bath High School was overcrowded before it had to double as a junior and senior high school.

We recommend that every parent affected by the closing of the Couzens Building contact Carlson at the High School office, and arrange to tour the building. Carlson said he is willing to open the building for any parents who wish to see it.

While we realize school building programs mean increased taxes, it seems to us that it is impossible to put a price tag on the safety of school children.

Whether the old building is repaired or a new one built, the money will have to come from Bath residents. We believe a firsthand look at the Couzens Building is necessary to making an intelligent decision on the matter.

Small towns are alive and well

With all the talk of the crushing urban problems that face our nation these days, one tends to think of the USA as a series of vast "ungovernable" cities, with most of us living over the roar of subways and in the shadow of clanging elevateds. "Taint so," for even though our big cities have grown and may be nearly unmanageable, most Americans live in urban places that are really quite small. Consider these figures on where we live put together by "Nation's Cities."

- 9.8% live in five cities of 1,000,000 plus.
- 6.2% live in 16 places *of 500,000 to 1,000,000.
- 6% live in 30 places of 250,000 to 500,000.
- 6.5% live in 81 places of 100,000 to 250,000.
- 7.7% live in 201 places of 50,000 to 100,000.
- 8.3% live in 432 places of 25,000 to 50,000.
- 9.8% live in 1,134 places of 10,000 to 25,000.
- 5.5% live in 1,394 places of 5,000 to 10,000.
- 4.2% live in 2,152 places of 2,500 to 5,000.
- 30.1% live in 4,151 places of 1,000 to 2,500.

*Cities, villages or townships.

WHAT THESE figures show is that 72% of us live in townships and cities with populations under 100,000.

So most of us do not live in huge urban agglomerations where crises of race, poverty, and pollution seem all but insurmountable. We live in areas of much more manageable sizes, where the problems should be equally so. In such places we have a far better chance to tackle these challenges of our times, and if we succeed here, the plight of our great big cities may not seem so insurmountable after all.

View from the Senate

By SEN. WILLIAM S. BALLENGER

Last year almost a quarter of a million campers were turned away from Michigan's 71 state campgrounds because there simply wasn't room for them.

So next year, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources hopes to correct that situation by instituting a campsite "reservation" system designed to insure campers a spot before they leave home.

Last week, The State Senate adopted a resolution authorizing the Department to institute such a campsite reservation system. The resolution is not expected to encounter any difficulty in the State House of Representatives, and the new plan is scheduled to go into effect next January 1.

Michigan's state camping facilities are extremely popular, as evidenced by the fact that well over six million people used them last year. With that much pressure on the campsites, it's little wonder that more than 238,000 campers were turned away.

The use of the camper reservation system was proposed only after careful study of what other states have been doing in this line, notably Florida and California. Many Michigan camping families who have experienced difficulty in getting places to camp on state land in the past have requested such a system.

While details of the reservation proposal have not been completed, plans are to have campers make reservations (for a minimum of 4 days and a maximum of 15 days) directly with the park of their choice rather than at a central office for all parks.

Only half of the campsites in any state area will be in the reservation system, with the remainder being open to other campers on a first-come, first-served basis.

Confirmation of a reservation means that one campsite will be reserved at the park, but campers will not be permitted to reserve a specific site or make more than one reservation on one application.

Upon receipt of confirmation of a reservation, campers will have approximately 10 days to return it with their check for $3 a day for the length of their stay plus an undetermined "service fee". Tentative plans call for holding the campsites about 24 hours if campers don't counter problems en route and notify the park of late arrival. It is tentatively planned to refund fees to "no-shows" after 24 hours, although the "service fee" would be retained.

Parks officials hope to have brochures on hand at parks this year to explain how the reservation system is designed to work when put into effect in 1974.

It is not expected that the full 50 percent of campsites will have to be reserved at the outset of the new system in all parks, although park officials expect this will be necessary at the most popular parks in Holland, Grand Haven and Higgins Lake.

Back Through the Years

From the Clinton County News files of 1971, 1962, 1947

ONE YEAR AGO

Clinton County officials have prepared a tentative budget asking 9.5 mills of the total 15 mills to be split among county, schools and townships.

Clinton Memorial Hospital's board of directors last week unanimously approved the appointment of Paul E. McNamara as hospital administrator.

As of Tuesday, Apr 11, the St John's Youth Center known as "Our House" was officially closed by members of the board of directors at the request of a majority of the membership.

Michigan State Police Troopers have taken a strong stand against the lowering of requirements to qualify for young men for the trooper service, it was announced Wednesday by the Michigan State Police Troopers Association.

Several area citizens, concerned with the rising abuse of drugs and alcohol, have helped to form a new organization called Clinton County Common Ground.

TEN YEARS AGO

Clinton County's winter wheat crop is in bad shape, according to George R. McQueen, county agriculture extension agent.

An ambitious program of bridge improvement, calling for rebuilding of 6 bridges at a total estimated cost of $151,000 is well underway in Clinton County. And plans are in the hamper for rebuilding 3 more Clinton County bridges in fiscal 1964 at a cost of $150,000.

A record $182,320 budget was approved Monday night.

by the Pawama Westphalia board of education for the 1963-64 school year.

An effort to explain the somewhat confusing Federal price support program for the 1964 wheat crop will be made by county extension office personnel in 3 meetings in the county next week.

William C. Robertson, of Greenville, manager of the St Johns plant of the Federal-Mogul Division from 1953-1958, has been appointed manufacturing manager of the division. He will leave his management responsibilities at the Greenville plant July 1 to take over the newly-created position.

25 YEARS AGO

William E. Kissane, veteran Bingham township supervisor, was the unanimous choice of his colleagues for the chairmanship of the Clinton County board of supervisors when they met for their annual April session here this week.

With Clinton County's road commission nearly $200,000 short of funds necessary to maintain county roads during the coming year, the county's board of supervisors Tuesday wired to Governor Sigler asking that he "place the question of additional gas and weight tax before the elected representatives of the people at the present special legislative session."

In an effort to provide more nursing care in Clinton County, community organizations are joining this week in a campaign to recruit interested women, from 18 to 50 years old, for a one-year course in practical nursing that is being offered at the Lansing Practical Nurse Center.

TODAY'S Real Estate

by HANK FURMAN

A stream as a boundary line for a piece of property is an interesting incident in real estate law. It seems that if a stream is the boundary for your property, you own half the stream. Your line extends down the middle of the stream. If it is the sort of stream that is big enough for boats, etc., then you own only to the high water mark. You may call the low water area yours, too, but it is subject to the rights of the public.

Editor, Lapeer County Press

TV is full of shows about lawyers who work for free and doctors who make house calls to neighboring countries on Hondas after midnight. But whatever happened to the brash reporter with the flask of gold who used to save the world while wearing a hat with the brim turned up?

The newspaper profession is obviously being ignored by TV producers. Something should be done about it and I am just the clown to do it.

My show will be called "The Young Storefront Reporters." My 3 reporters are a Negro woman, a male Indian teenager, and another young man whose nationality cannot be immediately determined because of all the hair hanging in his face. He is, my wild-card character. At any time during the series he can get a haircut and reveal himself to be a Jew or an Arab or a Viet Cong or even a conservative Republican, whatever seems politically expedient at the time.

These 3 reporters work for a wise, kindly, older (but still sexy!) editor who has ink in his veins. This was discovered during World War II and he was thrown out of a Red Cross blood bank on his ear.

This wise editor knows everything but he does not force his will upon young Indian, Negro and Wild Card. He lets them make their own decisions and go their own way, as long as they report back to him 1 minute before each commercial.

"It's the only way," the wise editor explains. "These youngsters must have their

...If the country goes to the metric system what will become of phrases such as, "Give him an inch and he'll take a mile," "A 98-yard touchdown run," "A miss is as near as a mile."

...Isn't it about time for another "best seller" to hit the newstands? The country hasn't been swept up in a book since "The Godfather." Of course, there was "Johnathon Livingston Seagull," but he never really got off the ground.

...It finally happened. After many years in the newspaper business, I walked into a drug store and asked to have a "subscription" filled.

From Me To You

Tribute to Abe

BY HAROLD SCHMALTZ

Republicans from throughout Clinton County turned out in goodly numbers Friday night at St Johns High School in commemoration of Abraham Lincoln. Appearing as guest speaker at the annual GOP affair was "Mr Republican" himself, Congressman Gerald Ford from Grand Rapids. Most of you will probably remember his familiar face and voice during the last National Republican Convention in Miami.

Also making the scene were State Representative Stanley Powell, Doug Trezise, Dale Warner and State Senator Bill Ballenger. Appearing as special guests were Congressmen Elford Cederberg and Garry Brown.

"Al's" opening statement to me was much to my surprise, "How are you and Ginny getting along with the ten kids?"

My immediate reaction was shock. After I'd gained my composure it suddenly dawned on me that the last time I'd seen Al, I did have ten kids! They weren't all mine; however, it seems that on that particular day last summer at the VFW Hall during a GOP barbecue, I had been hooked into babysitting three other lads and lassies. No wonder Al remembered, who wouldn't have? I'm glad there was plenty of chicken for everybody.

Nevertheless, I'd have to say what a terrific memory Al Cederberg must have! With all the important issues he has on his mind in connection with his Washington responsibilities, he comes up with recall power such as this...Wow! I'd have to say that voters and taxpayers are getting their money's worth with recall ability such as Al displayed. And he's just as good with figures in Washington, too.

When you consider working with budget figures like 251 billion dollars, what's a number like 10 to remember.

IT WAS SORTA LIKE HOMECOMING during the whole evening. After visiting with Al, Stanley Powell and his wife Eleanor shared a few moments of yesteryear with me. You see, I grew up across the field from Powell's Ingleside Farms in Ionia County. I attended a number of 4-H meetings at the Powell home and was on hand for quite a few Grange meetings while Stan was Master at the Ronald Grange a few years back.

The evening presented another pleasant surprise as former State Representative "Dick" Allen from Ithaca appeared on the scene. We chatted about old times we'd had while mutually connected with Gratiot County Republican activities.

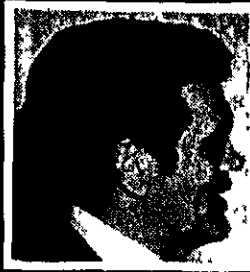

Master of ceremonies for the night was Bill Gnutke who party chairman Jim Palmier said had to be the best finance chairman around. In case some of you haven't met Bill yet, you probably will before the next election. He's thorough in his duties, believe me!

Chamberlaine purchases Gumaer Lumber Company

OVID -- The Gumaer Lumber Company of Ovid has been purchased by Duane H. Chamberlain of Ovid. Chamberlain will operate the business as Chamberlain Building Supply. The Gumaer Lumber Co. the oldest locally owned business in Ovid completed its 53d year in business Jan 24, 1973. The company was operated by J. LeRoy Gumaer from Jan 24, 1924 until March 1, 1946, when it was taken over by Robert L. Gumaer, who has operated the store until the recent sale to Chamberlain.

So much for another successful Lincoln Day Dinner for the GOP.

"Green Belt Bill"

REP DOUGLAS TREZISE
87th District

We have an interesting bill before us in the Taxation Committee of the House of Representatives. It's one which could have a great deal of impact on farmers in the central Michigan area.

Called by some the "Green Belt Bill" it would provide a different method of taxation for farm land and relieve a good deal of today's agricultural land from the normal property tax. Among its provisions are:

1) The substitution of a specific tax per acre in place of the present ad valorem tax on agricultural land. This specific rate would be based on soil classifications assigned by the USDA Soil Conservation Service.

2) Owners of agricultural land desiring this special tax consideration could not use their land for other than agricultural purposes unless the land has been reclassified and the owner has repaid the difference between the specific tax and what the actual property tax would have been for the previous 5 years. These "rollback" taxes would be a lien against the property.

Other provisions of the bill provide for penalties if land is used for other than agricultural purposes without being reclassified and provide that the farmer's homestead and other improvements will be taxed at the normal rate rather than at the specific tax rate.

The whole proposal presents an interesting start on the subject of land-use control and taxation of land at its present economic value. Its intent is to keep good farm land in agricultural production and reduce to a minimum the tax pressures which influence farm land owners to get out of farming and dispose of their lands for other use. Today we find too many cases where property taxes and assessments are based on a possible future use for the land, such as subdivisions, commercial or industrial development, rather than on its ability to produce agricultural income. The result of this taxation policy is to turn more of our good farm land to these other uses and out of food production.

A recent study by the Michigan Department of Agriculture indicates we are losing farm land at a rate we can ill afford and, based on projected population figures, we will be seriously short of such land by the year 2000. Certainly, any program which will keep this land in production should be given serious consideration.

This approach to the problem ought to be very acceptable at this time. It provides an incentive for the farmer to stay in business rather than restricting completely the potential use of that land. He doesn't tell him the land he owns cannot be used for another purpose but does reward him if he continues its present agricultural use.

The bill, as it was approved by the Taxation Committee is a temporary measure. It would expire in 1976 and give everyone a chance to evaluate its effectiveness. One concern is that it could develop into a "tax-dodge" for land speculators who would just hold on to land waiting to get the right price.

But, it is a start and, with a little luck, we may be able to get some improvement in the farm property tax structure during this term of the Legislature.

State Senator William S Ballenger today reintroduced two measures dealing with both the decennial reapportionment of state legislative districts and remapping of County Board of Commissioners.

Ballenger said the two novel proposals, originally submitted late last fall, are designed to reapportion county and state legislative districts more efficiently and economically and in a less politically-motivated way.

One measure, SJR "I", would amend the State Constitution (requiring a vote of the people) to reduce the size of the State Apportionment Commission from 8 to 5 members, consisting of one representative from each of the two top political parties; the State Director of Elections; and a churchman and specialist in vital statistics, each appointed by the Governor.

SJR "T" also calls for final adjudication by the State Court of Appeals, rather than the State Supreme Court, in case commission members are unable to agree on any one plan, and allows for separate apportionment plans for both the Senate and the House of Representatives, each of which must have a population deviation of not more than one percent from equality on the basis of the latest U.S. Census figures.

A RELATED measure (SB 438) would amend state law to reduce the maximum number of county commissioner districts; would speed up the process of reapportioning County Boards of Commissioners; and would establish a maximum level of deviation from population levels.

Cutting the maximum size of the board is designed to reduce unwieldy operations in some counties.

The bill provides for not more than 5 commissioners in counties of population up to 5000 persons; not more than 7 in counties from 5001 to 10,000; not more than 9 for 10,001 to 50,000; not more than 13 for 50,001 to 200,000; not more than 15 for 200,001 to 600,000; and not more than 21 for counties of more than 600,000.

Senate Bill 438 is designed to speed up the time by which redistricting would be completed so that the process would not be protracted until the June filing deadline, as has been the case in some instances. It calls for reapportionment to be completed by Feb 15 in the year in which commissioners are to be elected (the next year this could happen would be 1982). It also calls for appeals within 15 days.

A THIRD and most important provision in the measure would set a limit of a "5 percent deviation from the average population of all districts" among the commissioners.

If a plan were drawn up exceeding that 5 percent limitation, it would be forwarded automatically by the county clerk to the State Court of Appeals for review.

Ballenger contended that the absence of any deviation limit in state law is unquestionably the reason why some county commissioner apportionment plans in his 30th Senatorial District contain deviations of up to 26 percent while others have less than 1 percent. It also explains why some good county reapportionment plans are being appealed in court while bad ones aren't, he said.

SB 438 would require only passage by the Legislature and signature of the Governor rather than an amendment of the Constitution.

BALLENGER SAID he reintroduced the 2 measures because "we've endured two bitter and totally unwarranted apportionment battles since the 1963 Constitution was adopted, and we can ill afford to suffer through another such fiasco. $161,071 of taxpayers' money has been squandered. The make-up of the present Apportionment Commission consists of 4 members from each major political party. It would be rare, indeed, for a commissioner representing one political party to vote with the 4 commissioners appointed by an opposing party to provide a majority."

"Our present method of nominating Supreme Court Justices by partisan political convention lends itself to a partisan political decision by the Supreme Court if called upon, as it has been twice since 1963, to break an impasse on the Apportionment Commission," he added.

Ballenger's 2 imaginative ideas received enthusiastic support from the news media and Capitol observers when originally presented last October. Said the Midland Daily News: "With an aim to correct the poor judgment that went into developing the state's apportionment commission... careful consideration should be given Senator Ballenger's proposals."

Panax publications noted that "Ballenger is taking the leadership to extricate the chore from the present... Apportionment Commission because it hasn't worked. Sometime in the next few years, the Legislature is going to have to shape up its own reapportionment -- and Ballenger's idea will have to be considered."

Gen Tel reports growth, progress

NORTON SHORES -- General Telephone completed a $44.7 million service improvement and expansion program in 1972 marking substantial progress toward its overall service improvement objectives, according to the company's 1972 report released Tuesday.

In his letter to shareholders, president Jack Reitze noted several service improvement gains including continued progress toward reducing the number of parties per line in rural areas, one of the company's primary service improvement objectives, and making more one- and two-party service available in urban areas.

Reitze also noted that employment opportunity objectives relating to members of minority races and women were revised through the company's "affirmative action plan" and the company is firmly committed to these objectives.

"These new objectives qualify a long-standing company policy of equal employment opportunity and establish uniform guidelines for hiring and promoting all employees," the utility president said.

The President's report also states that a major realignment of the company's organizational structure was completed during the year whereby the former twenty-nine districts were consolidated into twelve.

"This reorganization strengthens our capabilities to respond effectively to our customers' service requirements," Reitze said. Commenting on specific areas of service improvement and expansion in 1972, Reitze said: General Telephone's rural customers numbered 97,393 at year end and, of this number, 83,563 were served by lines on which the service has been upgraded to four parties or less. Upgraded service to all rural customers will be completed by the end of 1973.

"Another major service improvement objective is to make one- or two-party service available to all customers in the urban areas," Reitze said in his letter. "Considerable progress toward this objective was made in 1972 with 71.7% of our total urban customers having one- or two-party service," he said.

General Telephone anticipates this service improvement objective will be substantially attained by the end of 1976. The company plans to spend approximately $45.8 million for new construction to continue its service improvement and expansion programs in 1973, according to the report. A substantial amount of this money must come from new investors and earnings must continue to be at an adequate level to attract these new dollars.

"We are deeply committed to attain both our service improvement and earnings objectives, and are confident that our more than 3,500 employees will continue the high level of performance needed to reach these objectives," Reitze said.

General Telephone, which gained over 33,900 telephones in 1972, served 509,924 telephones at year end. Total investment in telephone plant reached $357,905,700, or $701 per telephone. The company processed an average of 2,897,509 local calls and 156,450 long distance calls daily during the year.

General Telephone provides service to 538 Michigan communities located in 61 of the state's 83 counties.

Dale Warner introduces 2 bills

LANSING -- Two of this year's most important pieces of legislation have been reported from committee with recommendations to pass. Both introduced by State Representative Dale Warner (R-Eaton Rapids), 1 bill is designed to preserve agricultural lands and the other would provide new regulations to control drinking drivers. "I am extremely pleased with the rapid committee approval these 2 bills received," Warner said. "And I believe that they are on their way to speedy legislative approval also." The Warner bill (HB 4244) promoting the preservation of agricultural lands had been assigned to the House Committee on Taxation and was reported out Wednesday, April 11, with a recommendation to pass. This measure provides that qualifying farm land would be taxed at a rate based upon the soil capacity of the farm land.

drinking driver, but it would provide a more accurate measure of the number of drivers who are breaking this law and endangering the lives of all citizens," Warner said.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor: Money alone will not fix roads. Only road commission employee dedication and technical knowhow can accomplish this desirable result. These characteristics aren't encouraged by the kind of abuse road maintenance people have so frequently absorbed recently.

Bad practice of many years in scraping the gravel toward the sides instead of into the center to form a crown has resulted in roads becoming ditches in lower places with this spring's resulting quagmires in many locations.

But until all citizens, female and male, from 18 to death, face their total responsibility realistically for one will not approve any further millage for roads or any other purpose!

If those using highways to drive to good paying jobs in town wish to vote an income tax to pay fellow workers who also deserve good wages to really repair roads that is something else. But since many people have just proven by the meat boycott that they are unwilling to pay farmers a wage increase for food, why should we pay in millage for fixing roads? With an income tax, farmers would pay if they had an income, but wouldn't be unjustly penalized if they didn't.

Agriculturalists already have enough expense paying for equipment which our urban employed neighbors have furnished on their jobs without direct cost to them. It is therefore senseless to aggravate an already serious situation in food production by again trying the old fashioned millage approach to a problem created by ultra-modern irresponsibility. D. F. ### African ministers to visit Ovid Calvary Baptist Church

OVID--There are as many countries in Africa as there are pieces of cloth on a patchwork quilt. And, out of the numerous nations stitched into the continent, 2 are represented at the Calvary Baptist Church in Ovid for a 1-night special meeting, Wednesday, April 18, at 7 p.m.

Rev Johannes de Beer from the Republic of South Africa and Rev Petros Magagula, a native of Swaziland, were brought to the US from Johannesburg, via London in mid-March by the Grace Bible Church in Ann Arbor, Dr Raymond Saxe, Pastor, to participate in the missionary conference of that church. Transportation and expenses of $2,500 for the 2 men were provided by the Grace Bible Church. This is the first visit to the US for either man.

The missionary conference in Ann Arbor is now completed and the men are speaking in a number of churches across the state before their return to Africa. Rev deBeer speaks English fluently and serves as interpreter for Rev Magagula, who is not fluent in English. After their meeting, at Calvary Baptist in Ovid, the ministers will go to the Honor, Michigan area.

Rev. deBeer has found Americans to be "very friendly."

He is pastor of Sparks Estate Bible Church in Durban, South Africa's third-largest city. His congregation of about 100, which is considered large by African standards, is made up of Africans and coloreds, which are offspring of Europeans and Africans.

Rev deBeer enrolled in Johannesburg Bible Institute, which Rev Saxe founded 19 years ago and received his diploma 3 years later. He began his missionary work in Johannesburg where he spent 5 years, and then went to Escourt, a town 120 miles from Durban. He stayed at a church for 3 years there before going to Durban where he has been for 10 years. He lives there with his wife and 4 children.

He was raised in a Christian home in Durban but until the age of 16, he had not totally embraced the Christian faith. At that age, however, he underwent a conversion and after, "felt a need to help others. In missionary work Rev deBeer said, "The most important thing is the conviction."

Where Rev DeBeer is the product of "new" Africa, Rev Magagula, 62, is a son of "old" Africa. When he was 17, he joined missionaries in Mankayane, Swaziland, where he was born. He attended missionary schools in Dumisa before attending Union Bible Institute near Durban.

Ancestor worship, or the worship of spirits, was the religion his parents, farm laborers in the fields of the Mandayane region, believed in. Often, people would consult the witch doctor, or isangoma, for sick they believed was caused by angry spirits.

But, he too, underwent a conversion to Christianity and, along with Rev Saxe, played a large role in founding Johannesburg Bible Institute.

He is now pastor of a church with a congregation of about 100 in the small, dusty town of Mankayane. He lives with his wife in a small mud brick hut in Mankayane where there is also a government hospital, a police station and a small butcher shop.

In addition to his church in Mankayane, Rev Magagula also supervises 11 branch churches in the out-lying area. Total membership is about 1,000.

He has 2 sons, one of whom is studying part-time to become a missionary.

Elsie Methodist women meet

ELSIE -- The April meeting of the Elsie United Methodist Women was held Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs Keith Conklin. President, Mrs Duane Green presided over the business meeting. It was voted to finance the refreshments for Vacation Bible School in June.

Secretary of program materials, Mrs Charles Kridner, spoke on reasons why members should take the organization's magazine, "The Response".

Announcements included the family potluck at Fellowship Hall, Tuesday evening, April 10, at 6:30 with Rev R. Corl, United Methodist Missionary to Japan as speaker. The missionary luncheon will be Wednesday, April 25 at 12:30 pm with neighboring societies as guests. The speakers will be Mr and Mrs Charles Wood. They will give talks on Mexico. Each member of the local society is asked to furnish a salad. The members are invited to a Lenten Breakfast at Ovid United Church on Wednesday, April 11 at 9:30 am.

MRS MERLE GREEN and Mrs Ethel Stull reported on a nominating committee meeting they attended at Grand Ledge. They reported on the new structure of United Methodist Women and some reasons for changing. Some of these were the increased employment of women, more concern for membership and that there have been no basic changes since 1939.

Remembrance Committee chairman, Mrs Lewis Walling gave a report on cards, visits and gifts her committee have made. Members reported sending 60 cards and making 20 visits to shut-ins.

The program for the evening "Living and Acting in Love" from the Study Book was led by Mrs David Litchfield, assisted by Mrs Beatrice Kelley and Mrs Donald Whitaker.

The program was an interview with an early day Christian and then one with a modern day Christian. The scripture reading was Ephesians 1: 11-23.

The meeting closed with prayers by Mrs Litchfield. Following the program, refreshments were served by Mrs Ruby Parks, Mrs Durward Conklin and Mrs Lillian Case.

The next regular meeting will be May 2 at the home of Mrs Howard Paliter with a program by Mrs Mary Waite of Ovid.

Upon arrival they were greeted by their daughter and presented the traditional flower leis.

Some of the highlights they visited were Polynesian Cultural Center, Sea Life Park, The LaRonde a revolving restaurant on the twenty third level.

There also was a tour of the Coast Guard Cutter Jarvis of which Lt Tethal is engineering officer. An around-the-island tour, included Schofields Barracks, Hickam Air Force Base and

A cruise into Pearl Harbor to visit the sunken USS Arizona and the historical war memorial will long be remembered by the Michigan vacationers.

Some of the flowers native to the island were orchids, hibiscus (Hawaii's state flower) poinsettia, jasmine plumeria and wild ginger blossoms.

They attended a Sunday worship service at the Kaimuki Christian Church.

On their return trip home, they stopped in Los Angeles and visited Mr and Mrs Mitchell Woodward of Bellflower, California and also Paul Hanlon at Vista, Calif. Mr Buck and Mr Hanlon had not seen each other in 29 years, when they served in the Marines together.

4-H Chatter 4-H leaders' meeting

By JOHN AYLSWORTH

A meeting for all winter and summer 4-H leaders will be held Tuesday, April 24, 8 pm at Smith Hall in St. Johns. Items for discussion include 4-H Exploration Day Program at MSU in June, county events for the summer program, Spring Achievement Evaluation, presentation of honor clubs awards and other items of business. Winter club certificates, pins and trip awards will be presented to the different clubs. All leaders are urged to participate in this meeting.

The 4-H Swine Project members will get a boost this week as 10 members will be receiving market pigs for their 4-H project. This project is being financed by the St. Johns Cooperative to stimulate interest in the swine project area. The co-op will finance the cost of the feed and animal with the member returning the costs at the Fair Livestock sale. The market pigs will be weighing about 40 pounds when the member receives it. The pigs were delivered to the William Ashley farm on April 17 and the members will pick up their animals on April 20. A similar 4-H Market Lamb project is being sponsored by the St. Johns Cooperative for the county 4-H members.

The 4-H Teen Leaders had an evening of recreation with Duane Davis calling the square dances and folk games. The Teen Leaders are planning a canoe trip on Monday and Tuesday, June 11 and 12, when they will go down the Pine River. Plans are being worked out for costs, drivers, food and canoes. Teen Leaders who plan to go on this activity should indicate their interest at the May 3 meeting. The group is also planning a weekend camping trip to Higgins Lake in July.

The Boots and Buckles 4-H Club members voted to change their club meeting date from the 4th Tuesday to the first Tuesday of each month. The club held a workout on April 7 and scheduled their next workout for April 21 from 9-10 am. The members plan to attend a tack repair workshop April 17, Smith Hall at 7 pm. May 1 is the date of the club's next meeting, when the members will take a test on two sets of bridle parts.

The Green Acres 4-H club members will sign up for summer enrollment on April 28 from 2-5 pm at the home of Gladys Irish. Members planning to enroll with summer projects should attend. The members presented their Handicraft Leader, John Presocki with a fire extinguisher for his workshop. A committee was appointed to look into buying softball equipment as the club may have 3 or 4 softball teams for the summer. The club plans to participate in the roadside clean up project and a committee, with Sherri Desprez as chairman, will organize a lunch for the crew. Other items the members discussed were the July glass pick up, talent contest, Horticulture Workshop, 4-H Camp, dairy meeting, roller skating, 4-H Exploration Day at MSU and holding the club meetings at East Olive School. Demonstrations were given by Jeff DeBrabander on "How Plants Absorb Water", Terry Ballinger on "Seed Plagues", Michelle Desprez on "How to Play a Guitar", Pat Eastman on "Photography", Bob Davis on "Brushes for Wood Lore", Mark Heibeck "How to Apply Wood Lore", Steve VanVleet on "Head Lettuce Hotbeds", Ed Faivor on "Seed Packs" and Jerry Smith and Charles Faivor on "How to Fold the American Flag".

The Wild Riders 4-H club members discussed and passed out showbills for the May 13 County 4-H Horse Show at St. Johns. The members had considered serving the lunch but decided not to as only a few members would be available to work. They discussed building an arena at Glenn Webster's farm where they could hold workout sessions. This work session will be Saturday, April 28. The members learned that Mrs. McPadden of Ashley would welcome them to work out in her arena with their horses.

The Elsie 4 Corners 4-H club members held their annual potluck dinner for members and their families in conjunction with the club's spring achievement members taking wood-working, art, electrical and ceramics, told about their projects and progress made. Girls enrolled in clothing, modeled their outfits made to the group. The club's next meeting will be Tuesday, May 1 at 7 pm.

The Tail Waggers 4-H club members voted not to do the TV program scheduled for April 13 over WJIM TV. It was reported that the Grand Ledge Lion's Club donated $500.00 to the Leader Dog School at Rochester, Michigan. Following the business meeting, the members put their dogs through their paces.

Approximately 20 4-H Horse Club members attended an English horse clinic Tuesday, April 10 held at the Carroll Clark farm, north of St. Johns. Casey Hughes and Laura Beckman of DeWitt conducted the session, explaining and demonstrating the proper way to ride, the equipment needed and how used, how to jump and to answer questions from the group. 4-H members will be able to show both English and Western style riding at the Fair this year except in fitting and showing class which they will have to choose under which type they wish to show.

Cratty claims criticism is unfounded

Nearly all of the criticism about channel work carried out under the Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Program (PL-566) has been without fact and has left out the concern of the American farmer according to A. H. Cratty, State Conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service in Michigan. Cratty said much of the to-do has been based on emotionalism. The charge that the Soil Conservation Service has plans to "channelize" all the natural streams is just not true. In the first place local units of government (elected officials) make the final decision of what is to be done, not the Soil Conservation Service.

According to Cratty, Michigan has about 62,000 miles of streams and drains. In the last 18 years since PL-566 was enacted 152.7 miles of channel work has been completed and another 132.8 miles planned. All of the channel work planned and constructed represents only .4% of all the streams and drains in Michigan.

The 152.7 miles represents about .2% of the streams and drains. Of the channel work completed, 1.5 miles were on a natural watercourse and 1.4 miles were where no channel existed. The balance (149.6 miles) was on streams or drains that had been worked on prior to PL-566 assistance. At the rate of 8 miles of channel work a year, it would take 7,750 years to get all of the streams and drains in Michigan. It is obvious that thousands of miles will never be treated.

Some channel work is needed for flood prevention and drainage. This is particularly true in some of the prime agricultural areas where the topography is flat and the soils are poorly drained. Channel work is only one measure used in a flood prevention program. Dams to hold water back during excess flows, levees, and pumps and a sound land use program are all considered and used as a first means of solving the problem. Channel work is used only after an analysis and study of other measures is completely exhausted.

It has been said that SCS is "channelizing" designated trout streams. This is not true. None of the channel work in Michigan has been done on trout streams. Cratty said SCS is interested in improving and enhancing Michigan's trout streams. SCS has cooperated with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources in an improvement program on the Betsie River through the Northwest Michigan Resource Conservation and Development Project.

Erosion control devices to reduce sedimentation in the river as well as deflectors, revetments, and log jams to improve the fish habitat have been installed.

To date SCS has obligated $143,787.00 of federal funds for improvements of the Betsie River. This is the kind of channel work needed on many of Michigan's trout streams and we plan to continue to cooperate with the Department of Natural Resources on other streams, Cratty said. The Soil Conservation Service objective, according to Cratty, is to provide technical and financial assistance for the wise use, conservation and utilization of the natural resources of Michigan.

St Johns cow in top 20

ST. JOHNS -- A cow owned by a St. Johns dairyman, and his son, has qualified for listing among the Michigan Dairy Herd Improvement Association's exclusive "Top Twenty" high producers for the month of March.

Donald Witt and his son's 55 month old Holstein cow, with the barn name Georgie, has completed her 305 M.E. lactation record with 26,017 pounds of milk, 1011 pounds of butterfat and a 4.0 test. This is truly an outstanding record as compared to the state-wide Holstein Breed average of 13,862 pounds of milk and 508 pounds of butterfat.

The Witts have their herd enrolled in the DHIA testing program and are supervised by George Hazle of St. Johns.

Fertilizer shortage foreseen

Fertilizers may be in short supply this spring because of a shortage of railroad cars, warns Eugene C. Doll, extension soil science specialist. Since a great number of railroad cars are making grain shipments to Russia, cars are not available for hauling fertilizer.

The domestic supply of phosphate fertilizer is also limited since producers are catering to higher prices for this type of fertilizer in overseas markets. Nitrogen fertilizers may be somewhat difficult to obtain because of shortages of natural gas. Natural gas is both an energy source and a raw material in the manufacturing of nitrogen fertilizers.

You can farm in containers

It doesn't take 40 acres to be a farmer. All you need are some containers and places to put them, according to Michigan State University horticulture specialists. Experts suggest growing ornamental wood shrubs, flowering plants, herbs and vegetables in containers.

When selecting a plant container, be choosy - one with a hole in the bottom is preferred. The hole provides the proper drainage essential to a healthy plant. If you choose a decorative pot without a drainage hole, put plants in smaller pots and holes and then into the larger holder.

To prevent the soil from running out, put small chips of wood, broken pots or glass over the hole followed by a layer of small stones. Soil is an important consideration, the specialists noted. A good soil mixture contains one part each of sand, peat moss and loam soil. When watering, be careful not to overwater.

To add flowering plants to your decor, Roy Mecklenburg suggests planning a color scheme that will accent your home's interior. Colors are also important for setting a mood. Bright reds and yellows are very active, whereas the pastels are restful and calm, he said. You might even try to coordinate a color scheme outdoors with the one you have indoors.

Dr. Lee Taylor suggests that herbs could be grown indoors for decorative purposes as well as for food seasoning. It's quite inexpensive to start herb plants - just a few pennies.

Some folks run into trouble and then try to back out of it.

Commodity loans mature April 30

The Price Support Loan Program is working for both the consumer and the producer this year, as the legislation intended, according to Dorn Diehl, State Executive Director of the Michigan Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. He noted that producers have had the opportunity to retain title to their crops this past year, selecting the best time to sell during the marketing year. Now, crops are being moved into the market which will tend to relieve any short supply which may have contributed to fluctuating and sometimes speculative market prices.

Diehl pointed out that Commodity Credit Corporation loans on wheat, dry edible beans, rye, and barley mature on April 30 and cautioned producers with warehouse-stored loans to redeem their loans by that date or they will lose title to their crop by forfeiture to CCC. Many producers, he added, are currently marketing their crops at much better prices than were available at harvest. These current market prices, he said, are well above the loan rate plus interest.

Marketing their crop and redeeming their loans prior to the maturity date will benefit producers since they will be retaining their equity in the crop. It will also benefit consumers since these commodities will be moving into the market place to relieve any temporary shortages.

Diehl emphasized one point and that is that producers must obtain prior written approval before any farm-stored loan commodities are moved from the storage structure. This would apply to any collateral that was fed or sold or even if it is moved for reconditioning.

He noted that producers will not have the option of extending their loans for 1973-74 this year. This should not place any additional burden on producers in view of the favorable market prices at this time and it should make grain supplies more plentiful which would tend to reduce prices to the consumer.

Soil test, do it now! Don't guess, soil test! Those words are even truer this year with the anticipated shortage of fertilizer caused by the rail car shortage.

Knowing how much and what analysis of fertilizer to use is doubly important this year.

As you recall last fall, you remember the excessive rains we had at harvest time and the difficult harvesting of crops. Because of this, farmers had to "mud out" the crops, leaving severe ruts and compacted soil. This winter with its rain and lack of frost didn't help the situation either.

Now is the time to check your tillage and planting tools to see if they are fit and ready to go.

When following corn with corn or with soybeans, use a moldboard and fairly shallow plowing. The moldboard will bury most of last year's corn, reducing the volunteer problem.

Chisel plowing is best in some cases. Operate a chisel plow at a shallow depth unless the subsoil is dry. Do not work the soil when wet. The chisel plow is a good bet if spring is late because you can work more acres per day than most other tillage methods. But weeds and volunteer corn may be a problem if you go this route.

Spring disking does not produce large sized clods associated with other tillage methods. This spring that may be an advantage. One disadvantage is that disking only in dry soil tends to create a fine seedbed which may crust readily after heavy rains. To reduce plant emergence problems caused by crusting, plant shallow, just getting the seed into moist soil.

Some general recommendations to keep in mind for maximum yields:

(1) Wait until the soil is relatively dry before attempting any tillage operations.

(2) Surface drain ponded areas and check fields for broken or plugged tile lines.

(3) Use minimum tillage and combine as many operations as possible to reduce soil compaction.

(4) Where large amounts of crop residues are present, use a stalk shredder or disk to prepare for plowing.

(5) Operate a chisel plow at shallow depths.

(6) Where there is trash and crop residue on the soil surface, use a disk type furrow opener on the planter.

(7) If using a disk harrow only, plant at relatively shallow depths.

(8) Use the lightest tractor available for the job.

(9) Dust off the old cultivator, you may need it. Remember volunteer corn 6 inches tall is much easier to cultivate out than when it is 18 inches tall.

Pewamo dairy cow in top 20

A cow owned by a Pewamo dairyman has qualified for listing among the Michigan Dairy Herd Improvement Association's exclusive "Top Twenty" high producers for the month of March.

Leo Kowatch's 47 month old Holstein cow, with the barn number 110, completed her 305 M.E. lactation record with 24,991 pounds of milk, 1054 pounds of butterfat and a 4.3 test. This is truly an outstanding record as compared to the state-wide Holstein Breed average of 13,862 pounds of milk and 588 pounds of butterfat.

Kowatch has his herd enrolled in the DHIA testing program and is supervised by Ray Koenigsnecht of Fowler. They work in cooperation with Earl Haas, Clinton County Extension Agent and Michigan DHIA, Inc.

DHIA, Inc., a state-wide dairy production testing organization, provides production management records for 2,300 Michigan dairymen milking 132,000 cows.

Further information about the production testing program can be obtained from your county extension agent or by contacting DHIA, Inc., Box 946, East Lansing, Michigan 48823.

Refinishing Furniture?
If you are contemplating refinishing a piece of furniture, but have never tried it before, ask yourself these questions first:

1. Can I do a professional looking job?
Will it be worth the effort? Remember, to achieve a good looking product, it takes more than a quick trip to the attic or the second hand store and a few magic sweeps of a brush. But with time and a little patience, even a beginner can see familiar furnishings blossom. The materials and methods available today virtually guarantee their own success.
2. Look at your furniture; does it have possibilities to warrant spending the time and money on refinishing?
3. Does your piece of furniture only need to be cleaned?
If it has a wax surface, cleaning, repairing and rewaxing may be all that is needed. But, if they become soiled beyond the cleaning capacity of waxes, try one of the cleaning methods listed below.
Before using either; remove the wax with a cloth dampened with a little turpentine.
Use suds from a mild soap or dishwashing detergent on a cloth or sponge to remove the soil. Use as little water as possible.

After cleaning, rinse with clean water on cloth or sponge which has been wrung out. Wipe dry.
For an average piece of furniture not subject to heavy soiling, twice a year is probably enough for such a cleaning.
If the above does not clean, prepare a mixture of:
1 Qt hot water
3 T raw linseed oil
1 T turpentine
Keep the mixture hot by placing it in a pan of hot water while applying it. Stir well just prior to use to maintain the proper proportion of ingredients throughout the mixture.
Wash the surface with a clean cloth dipped in the mixture and wrung out.
Rub off all excess moisture immediately with a dry, clean cloth.
To get into crevices, fluting and scrolls, use a cotton-tipped swab.
After either method, when the surface is dry and clean, repolish the furniture with a suitable wax.
If the furniture has a dark finish or an oil and turpentine finish, use a polish of 2 parts raw linseed oil and one part turpentine. Rub the polish until it is dry.

Remove all excess and let the surface dry again, then wax.
If after looking over this material you decide that refinishing is necessary, come to the Refinishing Furniture Class to be given at Smith Hall in St Johns on April 25, or to Beebe Hall, Ithaca, April 24, or to the Casino in Corunna on April 26. All meetings begin at 1:30-3:30 pm.
See you there.

AAtrex 4L. It pours.

New AAtrex 4L is the brand of atrazine that pours. This special liquid product controls most annual grass and broadleaf weeds in corn and sorghum right up to harvest just like AAtrex wettable powder.

But with AAtrex 4L there's no premixing. You simply shake and pour it directly into the tank. And apply in a minimum of 10 gallons of water per acre.

Easier handling. A minimum of agitation. And less chance of nozzle and screen plugging. That's AAtrex 4L. And we have it in 1 gal. and 5 gal. containers. If you prefer, we'll apply it for you.

The Senior Citizens met at the American Legion Hall April 5 with refreshments of barbecues and cabbage salads for lunch served by Mrs Mary Waite and Mrs Leila Wilson.

A "thank-you" was read from the Engebretsons for the many cards they received for their 50th wedding anniversary while they were in Arizona. It was quite a surprise, they wrote that so many remembered them with cards.

Shuffleboard was played by the men and Bingo by the ladies. The next meeting will be a potluck dinner on Thursday, May 3, and Walter Baneroff will serve as program chairman.

Mrs Helen Wiltse will represent the local Senior Citizens on May 2 at the Central National Bank at St Johns on the discussion "Grand" Grandparents and bring back a report for the May 3rd meeting.

Thanks were expressed to the many citizens who helped to move the hospital beds donated by Independent Order of Oddfellows to the American Legion Hall. There are 3 beds and these beds can be loaned to citizens in need of a hospital bed. There is also a wheel chair.

Plans are underway for Summer Youth Recreation teams for young girls and boys. There will be a need for managers. If you are interested contact either Ralph Winans or Ann Vleck. Watch for date and further information.

Kincaid District

By ROSALYN PARKS, Correspondent

Paris In The Spring. A group consisting of Mr and Mrs Nelson Showers, Steve Showers, Mr and Mrs Robert Showers, Mrs Arline Wood, Erin Wood, Mrs Mary Ewing and Sims, Miss Lea Smith, Karen Foo, Katie Simon, Nancy Johnson, Mr Robert LaBrie, Mrs Rosalyn Parks and Kristal left St Johns at 10 am March 23 for the Metropolitan Airport in Detroit.

We left Detroit at 1:45 pm and got to LaGuardia Airport in New York at 3 o'clock. We then transferred to a bus and went to John F. Kennedy Airport. At 5:30 we boarded a 747 plane for Brussels, Belgium.

We passed over the Statue of Liberty, Manhattan Island, Long Island and saw the Empire State Building. After dinner on the plane, the teenagers watched a movie listened to music, and played cards.

Some of the adults managed to get a little sleep, some weren't so lucky. It was just getting dawn when we flew over Ireland, then across the English Channel into Brussels' Airport.

We again changed planes and got to Paris around 10 o'clock our time. There is a 6 hour change in time.

We checked into the Excelsior Hotel, however there was not enough room so Mr LaBrie took a room at the Hotel Ronceray a few blocks away. The next evening Miss Smith and I went to the Ronceray and Mr LaBrie to the Excelsior. We started out sightseeing right away.

The flea market was something of interest to everyone. The French people sell roasted chestnuts and candy and peanuts on the street in booths.

One thing in particular we noticed was the buildings were about 6 stories high and very old. Saturday evening one of our guides, Teddy, took us to the museum to look at the night sights.

The Eiffel Tower was all lit up beautifully, and most of the teenagers climbed it. The boats on the river Seine were very picturesque. Sunday morning Bob LaBrie and Mrs Robert Showers attended church at Notre Dame. In the afternoon we had a bus tour around Paris which showed us the Opera House, the Madelen (a church) meant to be a Temple for Napoleon.

We saw Maxims (most famous restaurant in Paris) Concorde square, and the guillotine. Driving up the Champs Elysees we saw beautiful gardens, famous dress designers shops and the buildings used for the Exposition of Paris, the Lido, Arc de Triomphe, the Etoinne (most expensive part of Paris). We saw the statue of Foch facing the Eiffel Tower, University of Paris, Crypt in palace of Napoleon. We had our attention called to the 33 bridges which cross the Seine.

Monday we toured the Louvre until late in the afternoon, did some shopping at the Lafayette Galleries and succeeded in losing one of the older girls. We found her at our hotel. At night two of our guides took the teenagers to Sacre Coeur. All went on a boat trip down the Seine, some then went to Notre Dame and we went to Saire Maritain to view the city. Tuesday, we all attended the Polles Bergere where one of our group was called on to help on the stage.

Wednesday we toured the Summer Palace of the Kings at Versailles. We arose early and took the train to LeMans where we were met by the exchange parents of Chris Hayes, Mr and Mrs Jean-Marie Baudry. LeMans is about 200 miles from Paris.

They and friends took us in their cars to the race track where the Grand Prix race will be held June 9-10. We even drove on the race track.

Then we went to Mr and Mrs Baudry's home, met their children and friends, also many neighbors. Had a delicious luncheon then afterward they had invited some guitar players and singers to entertain us.

The French people are on the whole a happy, altogether friendly and delightful people to know. They had planned a tour of 22 cities, then a picnic but one of the cars had an accident so we finished the tour and took the train back to Paris. Friday we stopped and went to the wax museum in the Hotel Ronceray. Went at night to Sacre Coeur where we saw our first fishmonger's cart. Saturday we arose early to take the bus to the airfield where we flew home by daylight. We left John F. Kennedy Airport at dusk and got to Detroit about 12:00 our time. We were met by our families and proceeded home. We arrived home about 4:30 Sunday morning.

Smoking and pregnancy dangers

One of the major factors influencing the size of newborn babies was cigarette smoking by pregnant women, according to a study released by Dr. Nevil Butler of the University of Bristol, And, a study of 17,000 British children born in the same week showed that newborns who were "small for date" had more educational and behavioral problems in later life compared with those of normal birth weight.

According to Dr. Butler, the crucial period in pregnancy is the last 5 months. He reported no difference in low-weight babies and stillbirths between women who did not smoke and women who smoked during the first 4 months. However, if women continued smoking for the last 5 months there was a significant difference in the number of undersized infants, as well as babies born dead.

Recent experiments with pregnant rats have shown that fetuses removed from mother rats who were exposed to cigarette smoke were undersized and had smaller brains. Although the human brains were not measured in Butler's research, one of the characteristics of a "small for date" baby is a head circumference below normal size. Another characteristic was a high rate of oxygen consumption for body weight.

Consumer Power battles rate increase denial

Shareholders of Consumers Power Company were told last week that the company will file two new rate cases within a week with the Michigan Public Service Commission, seeking $86.4 million annually in additional revenues.

The board and president, told the Annual Meeting of Shareholders that the company disagrees with the position taken last week by the Public Service Commission in dismissing as "inflationary" two earlier applications in which the company sought $142 million

A H Aymond, chairman of annually in additional revenues. "But," he added, "this is no time for recrimination. The action (by the Commission) has been taken, and we must make a fresh start to obtain urgently needed rate relief to the extent that the Commission is willing to grant it; while, at the same time, preserving our right to seek a full and fair return in the future." He said earnings must be raised if the company is to sell securities at reasonable cost to finance adequate to provide the earnings which the company must have if it is to sell new securities in the amounts needed to expand and modernize its facilities for the energy demands of the foreseeable future. The amounts sought in the new applications are for $36 million annually in additional electric revenues, and $50.4 million in additional gas revenues. Interim relief in the amount of $33.7 million is being sought in the gas rate case, to offset higher costs that are expected when the company's new gas reforming plant near Marysville becomes operational in the summer.

Aymond pointed out that, although the Public Service Commission has held that a return of 12.12 percent on shareholder equity is reasonable, the actual dollars of revenue authorized by the Commission has invariably been too small to allow the company's earnings to reach these levels. "The fact is," said

Aymond, "in 1972 our earnings were 6.4 percent on total investment, and less than 10 percent on shareholder equity, instead of the authorized 12.12 percent. "NO WONDER Forbes Magazine rated Consumers Power Company near the bottom of a list of 47 large utilities in the United States, as far as earnings are concerned." Aymond said that, in today's world and with today's costs, the authorized rate of return no longer is adequate. That is why, he said, that the company had asked the Commission to recognize the need for at least 8.25 percent on investment, and 14 percent on shareholder equity. In the new rate cases, being filed this week, the request for additional revenues is confined to the rate of return on shareholder equity previously established by the Commission. "We do not believe this rate of return is adequate," Aymond said, "nor that it will contribute to the long-term solution of Michigan's energy problems. But we are convinced that rate relief — even in these lesser amounts — is essential in 1973."

The trouble with patience is that the more you have the more some people use it.

Carland News

The Carland Extension group met at the home of Mrs Paul Darling this week to examine and discuss a price survey conducted by Michigan's Department of Agriculture that was made Feb 8 & 9, 1973; each member present received a written copy of the survey. The report was compiled to emphasize bologna, brand names, ingredients that are legal in Michigan in comparison to what is legal in Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin, and the price per pound.

After the ladies found what ingredients are allowed in other states to make bologna, they intend to do all they can to keep Michigan's standards as high in quality as they now stand.

Mrs Joan Gilbert gave a report on landscaping to create a back-yard interest for Spring.

A contest of judging white powders in separate dishes was held, each being a cooking substance that is used in every kitchen; Mrs Betty Ziola knew more of the characteristic components and won the prize.

Mrs Edith Oberlin and Mrs Paul Darling, who gave the meat survey, also gave a Nutrition Viewpoint on Vitamin E - Fact or Fiction.

For reliable information on this essential nutrient and its role in human health, the bulletin 740 by Mr Olaf Mickelsen, professor of nutrition at MSU, was used to analyze recent claims in light of current nutrition research.

The report lists the following foods are good sources of vitamin E: vegetable, wheat-germ, peanut, corn, and soybean oils; whole grain cereals — such as oatmeal, brown rice, and yellow cornmeal; green leafy vegetables; and seeds and nuts. Supplementation may be needed only in case of carelessly planned meals of habitually unbalanced eating habits, however, the guest contributor, who received his Ph D in biochemistry from the University of Wisconsin and has published over 100 scientific articles, reminds his readers that vitamin E is essential to your health, but your body doesn't need much. On the basis of current knowledge, you will not endanger your health by taking more vitamin E than you need, in supplementation pill form; more likely it would be just an added cost to your household budget. The hostess served refreshments after the meeting adjourned.
