Type C program doomed if vote fails

By BOB GAVAN
News Staffwriter

ST. JOHNS—Out in the quiet countryside north of here at the Greenwood School there is a group of 20 youngsters who are learning and enjoying life oblivious to the fact that the world around them is moving much faster than they are.

B. Stanley Pocuis, Intermediate School District Superintendent, made one of his frequent trips to Clinton County's Type C classroom last week to allow reporters a first hand look at the program.

Pocuis is concerned because the program's future is dependent on voter approval of an additional three-quarter mill at the June 14 school election.

The students enrolled in the type C program are mentally retarded, but trainable. Many have the ability to learn basic learning tasks, such as reading and counting. They can never live independently from their family or supervised living.

Pocuis said, "These kids have as much right to an education as anyone does. The fact that many can now tell time, days, know the alphabet, can read, understand concepts and do simple tasks is enough to warrant justification of the program."

One of the goals of the school is to teach the students how to communicate their basic needs, so as to be a help to themselves and to other people.

"Although the cost is $1,600 a year per student in this program as compared to $700 cost per student in regular school, it can be justified in light of the $5000 it costs to institutionalize a person," Pocuis said.

"It is much better for the student to have a normal home environment to facilitate learning instead of institutionalized warehouses", said David Fisher, Intermediate Diagnostician.

"The present program has been in operation in the county for eight years, the last four at the Greenwood School, which is pleasant but minimal", said Pocuis.

The school is divided into two classrooms. Janice Maier, supervises the younger group, 7 to 13 years old and Robert Woodham supervises the older group, 13 to 19 years old.

Pocuis stated that a lot more is accomplished by the program than it is credited for. When the students have completed the training they function much closer to their maximum level of learning.

Fisher says "It's important that they learn and develop their mental capabilities in this type of environment. They can operate in the context and speed of their own peers. Together they learn to perform simple tasks and how to function in group situations, which is very important."

Woodham, who has worked at the school three years said "They're all so happy here, it's a normal environment for them and they can operate within it."

They all have a need for recognition of accomplishments and the other students do reward them with small gestures of approval and praise, as was evident to all present in the school building. A delicately painted picture can be very beautiful when shown to you by one of these students. From outward appearances, the school operates the same as any regular school. They read books, paint pictures, play word games, practice manners and most of all, have a good time.

"One young man," Pocuis said, "can put together complicated puzzles with hundreds of small pieces in record time." When he was complimented on his latest puzzle, his smile could have melted ice.

"Because the program serves the smallest number of students and the cost is growing each year, this program is the first to be mentioned for cutbacks," Pocuis said.

The intermediate district now operates the entire countywide special education program on three-quarters of a mill approved by voters in 1960. It provides about $85,000 annually. The proposed millage will be in addition to that.

FATAL SCENE

Michigan State Police inspect the vehicle operated by Carol Ann Haverfield of Alma after a DeWitt Township woman was struck and killed Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Helen Dills Stampfy, 81, 12925 S. US-27, was killed instantly when she was hit by the auto while she attempted to walk across the busy highway during 3:30 p.m. rush-hour traffic.

DeWitt woman killed in rush-hour accident

DEWITT—An elderly DeWitt woman was killed instantly Thursday afternoon when she was struck by an auto on US-27 as she tried to cross the busy highway during rush-hour traffic.

Mrs. Helen Dills Stampfy, 81, 12925 S. US-27, was struck as she crossed the highway after checking the mailbox in front of her home. Driver of the vehicle was identified as Carol Ann Haverfield, 25, of Alma.

According to State Police reports, Mrs. Stampfy was returning home in an auto driven by a friend and stopped on the west side of the highway to pick up mail. She then started to walk across the road to her home in the midst of the 3:30 p.m. rush-hour traffic.

Witnesses told police that the Haverfield auto could not have avoided the accident and that Mrs. Stampfy had walked into the path of the auto.

The vehicle went off the east side of the road after the accident and veered across the median and into a ditch on the opposite side of the highway.

No violations were cited, according to police.

Funeral services were held Sunday at the Lee R. Rummel Funeral Home in DeWitt, with burial at the DeWitt Cemetery. Services were led by Rev. Averill M. Carson.

Mrs. Stampfy, a life-long resident of DeWitt Township, was born Aug. 9, 1889. She was the daughter of Omar B. Dills and Abbie Hutchins Dills.

She was married to the late J. Allen Stampfy who preceded her in death Oct. 27, 1969.

SHE WAS A member of the DeWitt Community Church, the Thursday Afternoon Club and a former member of the DeWitt Grange.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Russell Sibley of DeWitt; four grandchildren, Mrs. John Tatroe of St. Johns, Allen of Lansing, Sue at home and Mrs. Craig Cook of St. Johns; and four great-grandchildren.

Jaycees sponsor LL benefit dance

ST. JOHNS—The St. Johns Jaycees will sponsor a benefit dance Saturday night at the St. Joseph school gymnasium to raise funds for the area Little League baseball program.

The dance scheduled to begin at 9 p.m., will feature music by the Music Makers Gene Downing, dance committee chairman, said lunch and refreshments would be provided and that a grand prize television would be given away at the event.

Tickets are priced at $7 per couple and will be available at the door, from Little League managers or any Jaycee member.

WHAT LETTER IS THIS?

B. Stanley Pocuis watches Janice Maier, left, teach special education Type C students letters of the alphabet, when he visited the Greenwood school with reporters last week.

Ink Spots here

ST. JOHNS—For the second time in less than a year, the world renowned "Ink Spots" will be making an appearance in St. Johns. Unlike their previous visit at Daley's Restaurant as part of a dinner program, the group will stage a concert performance Tuesday May 4 at the St. Johns High School auditorium.

The "Ink Spots" second appearance here is under the sponsorship of the St. Johns Area Chamber of Commerce and proceeds from the event will be directed to community development.

James Leon, president, expressed the possibility that some of the proceeds will also be contributed toward the current Little League lighting campaign.

"We're hopeful that enough money will be made to satisfy our needs," Leon said, "and if we have extra funds available, we'll help the lighting campaign."

The "Ink Spots" return visit to St. Johns comes from a current tour which has seen them playing in nearby communities in the central Michigan area.

Tickets for the event are available from and Chamber of Commerce member and at the door. Prices are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Clinton National bank employees promoted

ST. JOHNS—Three employees of Clinton National Bank have been named to the position of cashier according to vice-president Gayle Desprez, personnel director.

Selected for the promotions were Roger Beebee, Thomas Nemcik and John Rademacher. All have been with the bank for extended periods and have completed several phases of internal training as well as professional courses offered through sponsorship of the American Institute of Banking.

Beebee rejoined Clinton National Bank in January, 1968 after attending Ferris State College at Big Rapids. He is currently in charge of the collection department after working as a teller and assistant manager of the bank's Valley Farms office.

In addition to his college major of business law, Beebee has completed four major A.L.B. courses including principals of banking, commercial law, supervision and personnel administration and bank public relations and marketing.

Beebee is a member of the National Guard and has been active in St. Johns community affairs as a member of the Jaycees, First Nighters and American Legion. He is married.

ried to the former Judy Fowler and the couple lives at 704 Wight Street in St. Johns.

NEMCIK, A CLINTON National Bank employee since June 1967, is currently assistant auditor. He worked for almost three years on the mobile unit which serves patrons in Bath, Wacousta, Hubbardston, Maple Rapids and Eureka.

He has completed courses in economics, accounting and bank operations offered by the A.L.B. and is a graduate of a computer programming course at Lansing Business University.

Of the three new assistant cashiers John Rademacher has been with Clinton National Bank the longest period of time. He began in 1963 as a co-op student in the Fowler office and is currently assistant manager of that branch.

In addition Rademacher has served as teller and bookkeeper. He has completed A.L.B. courses in teller work, supervision and personnel administration as well as the school of banking course at the University of Michigan and an accounting course at Lansing Community College.

Rademacher has been active in community affairs while serving in various offices and memberships in the Fowler Jaycees, Knights of Columbus, Catholic Order of Foresters, Fowler Conservation Club and Holy Trinity Church. He served three years as village treasurer and is currently a village trustee.

Rademacher and his wife, Cathy, have three children; Steven, 5; Daniel, 3 and Curt, 2. The family resides at 442 S. Main in Fowler.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF

The annual Clinton County News Builder's Section appears this week in section B with dozens of ideas for spring fix up and remodeling, and hints from area building firms on the new trends in construction.

More than 700 youths turned out for the spring cleanup campaign, called "Operation Pride." Stories and pictures will appear on pages 2A and 3A.

Sharon Stoy, Dennis Baese win talent honors

ST. JOHNS—A St. Johns High School girl and an Ovid-Elsie High School boy were awarded best-of-the-show ribbons for their projects in the St. Johns Youth Talent Exhibit at the Municipal Building Friday.

Sharon Stoy won a $50 savings bond for her dress-making efforts, judged best entry by a girl, and Dennis Baese won an identical award for his China cabinet exhibit.

Greg Lounds of St. Johns High School won a $25 savings bond with his exhibit in agricultural drawing, the best entry in Group A.

The best exhibit in Group B, Jeffery Kristin of DeWitt High School, also won a $25 bond for his water color painting. Steve Van Vleet won top honors in Group C for his photographic display and was awarded a $25 savings bond.

The best exhibit in Group D was won by Sandra Fedewa of Holy Trinity School in Fowler. She won a $25 bond for her hand knitted poncho.

The list of individual winners will appear next week.

St. Johns announces top students

ST. JOHNS—St. Johns High School has named Kathryn Mary Irer and Rachelle Suzan Stachel as the top two students of the 1971 graduating class.

Miss Irer, daughter of Mr and Mrs Norman Irer, R-4, St. Johns, was named valedictorian with a 3.971 grade point average. Miss Stachel was picked as salutatorian with a 3.783 grade point average. She is the daughter of Mr and Mrs Charles Stachel, 109 S. Kibbee St., St. Johns.

KATHRYN IRRER

Miss Irer, who plans to attend the University of Michigan in the fall, is a member of the National Honor Society, Student Council representative, National Thespians, and the homecoming committee. She has also been a member of the Mask and Dagger Club, debate team, science club, cast member of "Dope", student director and actress in "Pygmalion," Prom Favors committee chairman, and National Forensics League. She is also the recipient of the Voice of Democracy Award.

She said she plans to enter the college of literature, science and the arts at Michigan.

"There never has been any alternative but going to college for me," she said, "I sometimes think I'd like to get a job right away, but I'd be missing out on so much, socially as well as educationally."

She said she wants to have the security of education.

"It would be terrible to be 50 and discover there was nothing you were qualified to do except work in a dimstore for the rest of your life," she said. "It is not important for me to have a career, but it is important to know I could if I wanted to," she said.

Miss Stachel, who plans to attend Grand Rapids Mercy Central School of Nursing, is the current president of the Future Teachers Association, a member of the International Thespians society, homecoming committee, queen's court, National Honor Society, work experience and the yearbook staff.

She has also been a member of the Junior Classical League, drama club, Girls' State representative, "Pygmalion" play committee, Musical, choir, science club and homecoming representative. She received the DAR Good Citizens award this year and was the Woman's Club state essay winner.

She said she hoped to get her Registered Nurse training, "so that, if and when I start my family, I will have a rewarding and challenging career to fall back on."

St. Johns man proves News want ads work

It took only one call for a St. Johns man to sell the livestock advertised in a Clinton County News fast-acting want ad. Victor Volsinet, 3634 Green Road, St. Johns, wanted to sell a York sow and 12 pigs, one week old. He said the first person to call purchased the pigs and sow after one appearance of the want ad last week.

You can receive the same fast-acting advertising service from the Clinton County News by calling our classified advertising department at 224-2361 today. Mrs. Millie Wasieleski, general advertising manager, will be happy to place your ad and describe the many services the classified pages have to offer.

scholarship will be $150, the Crescent Club giving one and the Woman's Literary Club, two of them. Recent graduates are also eligible to apply.

Selection of the scholarship winners will be based on financial need, service, participation in school and community activities and scholastic attainment.

Interested students may make application through a letter addressed to the Scholarship Committee, Crescent and Woman's Literary Clubs, stating what they feel are qualifications which will make them worthy of receiving a scholarship.

Also to be included is the name of the school to which they have been accepted, their chosen subject area and vocational plans. The letters of application should be left at the Guidance Office Chetrick, chairman of Michigan at the Ovid-Elsie High School and must be in by May 3, to be considered.

Operation Pride draws 700 workers

"Operation PRIDE" was the theme Saturday, as Clinton County youths were out in force to beautify county roadsides and rid the area of trash, litter, and junk thrown by thoughtless people.

Because of the rain, about eight groups postponed their cleanup to this past weekend, according to John Aylsworth, extension 4-H youth agent, who coordinated this cleanup project.

A summary of 43 groups reporting showed 539 youth and 140 adults worked a total of 3,000 hours in cleaning up 250 miles of county roadsides.

The groups hauled 82 pickup loads of trash, litter, and junk thrown along the roadsides. They found 1,600 returnable bottles that were returned to the stores.

The youths sorted the glass bottles from the rest of the trash and brought nearly 10,000 pounds of glass to the fairgrounds to be sorted and shipped back to Charlotte for recycling instead of being dumped in the landfills.

Other items found included a washing machine, television, road signs, automotive mufflers, tires, hub caps, a car jack, cattle skulls, swimming pool covers, and broken toys.

SEVERAL HUMOROUS notes from the leaders included "According to their collection, discriminating litterbugs prefer Budweiser over Pabst Blue Ribbon 10 to 1," and "We found a pop bottle with a cap on and inside the cap said Fight Litter".

Out Wacousta way the Wacousta Neighbor Society provided lunch for the five groups of scouts who worked cleaning the roadsides. A number of people donated money for the food. Many of the groups reported having picnic lunches and potluck dinners to finish their day's work.

From the 43 groups reporting their results, there were 28 4-H clubs, seven girl scout troops, four boy scout troops, one cub scout pack, one FFA chapter, one school science group, and one MYF group. The results of other groups who worked will be added to the total summary later.

Aylsworth stated the County Road Commission placed eight trucks at various spots in the county where groups could unload their trash. He would like to thank the officials of Essex Township, Greenbush Township, Duplain Township, the City of St. Johns, Vectors and Frederick of Lansing for making their landfills available free on that date for groups to dispose of the trash and litter collected.

THE 4-H YOUTH Agent would like to thank all the youth and adults from the various groups who helped with the cleanup activity; the County Road Commission for providing trucks to haul the trash; Clinton County News, and WRBJ Radio for their publicity of the project; the Soil Conservation District for doing the maps; the St. Johns Jaycees and Lansing Girl Scout Organization for providing litter bags for the groups to use; and the people who donated their trucks used in the pickup.

US-27 and M-21 were not picked up because of the traffic involved but as people travel through Clinton County they sure get a poor impression with all the litter thrown along the roadsides.

DeWitt offers investing class

DEWITT—DeWitt's community Education Program will introduce a five week course in investing beginning May 4, Donald Mueller, high school principal, announced Monday.

The course, "Insights in Investing," will be taught by William Marshall of the First of Michigan Investing firm. It will meet in room 133 of the high school on May 4, May 11, May 18, May 25 and June 1 beginning at 7:30 p.m. until 9 p.m.

City plans free trash pickup days May 13-14

ST. JOHNS—In a brief council session Monday night, Mayor Robert Wood and the City Council designated May 13-14 as city cleanup days. The city trucks will pick-up trash free from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. on these days.

Mayor Wood read a proclamation asking the city's businesses, industries and organizations to recognize Michigan a Clean-Up, Fix-Up and Paint-Up Month which runs from April 16 to May 15.

The council urged all segments to cooperate with Clinton County's Keep Michigan Beautiful chapter and exert all efforts to help beautify the city.

Other action before the council: Authorized the Jaycees one hour, May 8, to broadcast in the city information about their Flea Market.

—Tabled bids on water well number 6 rejuvenation until more bids have been received.

—accepted the second reading of Ordinance 239, which pertains to odd-year primary elections. The ordinance appears in full in section A.

Marauders bomb Ithaca

Ithaca—Ovid-Elsie's Marauders bombed the unsuspecting Ithaca Yellowjackets Thursday afternoon with Pitcher Tom Hachlinski hurling a two-hit shut-out and fanning 14.

The Marauders capitalized on every Yellowjacket miscue, which included 10 errors. O-E batters collected 13 hits, with 14 runs coming across in the first four innings.

Ovid-Elsie started the scoring spree in the first inning collecting three runs after two were out. Tom Pumford and Mike Leslie reached first safely on two singled scoring Pumford and a throwing error on the play allowed Leslie to score with Fabus taking second.

Pete Garcia slapped a single driving in Fabus from second base.

The Marauders reopened their attack in the third inning for four more runs when Kurt Kristin singled and Leslie was hit by a pitch, putting runners at first and second. Fabus doubled scoring Kristin. Garcia followed hitting into a fielders' choice situation and Leslie was thrown out at the plate.

Norm Smith cracked a double to score Fabus, driving starting pitcher Stan Homes to an early shower. Kip Williams came in to relieve Homes but was promptly roughed up for a single by Bill Foran scoring Garcia, and Smith scored on another error.

THE FOURTH INNING was no easier for the Yellowjackets as Tom Hachlinski and Kristin hit back-to-back singles. Hachlinski was thrown out at the plate when the next batter, Pumford, hit into a fielder's choice. Leslie followed with a walk to load the bases and Fabus singled scoring Kristin and Pumford.

Then Garcia was safe at first on an error to reload the bases. Smith walked forcing Leslie to score from third and Longoria reached base on an error that scored Garcia and Smith.

The seven-run fourth inning ended after Hachlinski doubled to score Longoria.

The Marauders added their last tally of the game in the seventh inning when Gary Rivest tripled and scored when Tom Roof reached base on another error.

The only attack Ithaca could mount were two scattered singles by Earl Hunt and Kevin Smith. Hachlinski went the distance on the mound for the Marauders striking out 14 Yellowjackets and walking only two.

Homes started for Ithaca, pitching two and two-thirds innings, allowing five hits, seven runs and struck out three. He was charged with one hit batsman. Williams came in to pitch one and one-third inning allowing five hits and seven runs, walked two and struck out two. Dan Kirkey pitched the last three innings, allowing three hits, one run walking one and striking out four. Homes was tagged with the loss.

The win boosted O-E's conference record to 1-1 and 3-1 overall.

The Marauders' only conference defeat came at the hands of the St. Louis Sparks Monday (April 19), and it was quite a contrast to the Ithaca game.

Ovid-Elsie could only collect four hits for two runs and committed five errors. The Marauders got their only two runs in the first inning to take a brief lead before the Sparks tied it in the second inning and went ahead to stay in the fourth on two more runs. St. Louis added the icing in the fifth inning with the final run.

Ovid-Elsie scored in the first when Hachlinski walked and scored on Kristin's triple. Leslie followed with a single to score Kristin.

Pumford also tripled in the contest and Hachlinski singled for the only other Marauder hits. Hachlinski pitched all seven innings in the losing cause, allowing five runs but only one was earned. He served up nine hits, walked one and struck out five. Bruce Frost went the distance to pick up the win for St. Louis, allowing two runs and four hits.

Ionia golfers snap Redwing win streak

IONIA—After coasting to three straight wins, the St. Johns Redwing golfers finally suffered their first loss of the season to Ionia here Thursday 167-173.

"Neither team shot well," Coach Mike Humphrey said after the match. "This team (Ionia) has all four starters back from last year, so they were one of the pre-season picks to win the conference championship."

John Estes, Greg Lounds and Ken Schueller tied for the best Redwing round with 43's each, while Brian Carpenter stroked a 44. Ionia's Pat Foltz led the field with 40, followed by Tom Watt (41), Phil Lesky (42) and Mike Langdon (44).

"St. Johns will get a return shot at them on conference day, when both teams meet on a neutral golf course which will be Walnut Hills in Lansing," Humphrey said.

The Redwings had made it three in a row against Ovid-Elsie Wednesday by topping the Marauders 176-182.

Schueller headed the Redwing attack with a 42-round, followed by Estes at 43, Lounds with 45 and Carpenter with 46. Mark Case recorded a 43 for Ovid-Elsie, with Mack Kees at 46, Ernie Events at 46 and Pete Boyer at 47.

That same evening, both the Redwing junior varsity and freshman teams scored victories over their Marauder counterparts. The JV's from St. Johns topped the O-E junior squad 191-222 and the Redwing frosh downed O-E 199-269.

Randy Devereaux led the juniors with 45. Other scores were Tom Pung (48), Tom French (49) and Kris Kramer (49). Marauder scores were John Hibler (49), Dave Byrnes (55), Ron Mead (57) and Bub Sincropl (61).

In the freshman match-up, Redwing Dan Downing led the field with 49. Other scores were Rod Henning (50), Jeff Gentry (50), and Bill Thelen (53).

Marauder scores were Rick Hood (64), Jeff Baker (67), Jan Blunt (69) and Dean Goodrich (69).

The Redwing golfers won their second straight match Tuesday by dumping Ithaca 168-193, shaving one stroke off their first match mark.

Estes led the field with a 38, followed by Lounds at 42, Schueller with 43 and Carpenter at 45.

Panthers playing .500 with 8-6 Owosso win

OWOSSO—The DeWitt Panthers played their eighth game on Tuesday night by halting the Blue Wave of Owosso St. Paul 8-6.

With the game tied at six apiece in the top of the seventh inning, the Panthers came up with two runs to beat the father-son duo. The Panthers produced their two final runs on walks to Cal Woodard and Tony Vetraino, a single by Mike Moody, driving in Woodard and a sacrifice by Mike Cole, scoring Vetraino.

Pat Botke picked up his second win against one loss by going the route for the Panthers, striking out six and walking five.

DeWitt started off their scoring in the third inning when Moody and Cole drew walks and Terry Faust's shot to the shortstop was bobbled allowing one run across.

THE PANTHERS scored four runs in the fifth inning when Ron Ithaca's Rick Rimmel led the Yellowjackets with 44. Other Ithaca scores were Jim Husted (46), Steve Showalter (48) and Guy Burnham (55).

In the first match of the season, St. Johns defeated Lakewood 169-196. The Redwings now own a 2-0 overall record.

The junior varsity defeated Ithaca's JV's 183-199.

Bill Ploszak and Mark Wawsczyk tied for top honors with rounds of 43 each, followed by Tom French at 47 and Randy Devereaux at 50.

Ithaca scores were Mike Mahoney (46), Terry Street (48), Garl Baracy (49) and Phil Lumsden (56).

"It was the first match for the JV's and a fine showing for two freshmen, one sophomore and one junior," Coach Mike Humphrey said.

"Randy Devereaux had two penalty strokes or he would have been right down with the other three," Humphrey added.

Wilcox walked, Kurt Kluge singled and an error on the play let two runs in. Botke then doubled scoring one and Doug Klaver's single scored Botke.

They added another run in the sixth inning on a double by Cole, who went to third on a sacrifice by Wilcox and scored on another sacrifice by Kluge.

Owosso managed a run in the second inning to take a slim 1-0 lead and broke a 1-1 deadlock in the next inning scoring two more runs. They took the lead again with three runs in the bottom of the fifth inning only to see the game tied up in the top of the sixth.

According to Coach Tom Isenhart, it was a refreshing change for the Panthers after losing to Ovid-Elsie 8-2 the week before.

Outdoor notes

Michigan's Department of Natural Resources will hold a full-scale dead deer survey in the Upper Peninsula this spring to measure the impact of the long winter which held a tight grip on whitetails in that part of the state from late January through early April.

DNR deer specialist David A. Arnold reported last week that the survey is being mobilized because of widespread deer losses which have been showing up in the Upper Peninsula during recent weeks.

It also has been scheduled to meet a charge carried in the joint legislative resolution which led to the moratorium on antlerless deer hunting in the Upper Peninsula during last fall's fire-arm season. That measure called upon the DNR to fully evaluate the region's deer herd.

Arnold indicates that the dead deer study probably will not get under way before next week because of the deep snow conditions above the Straits. He adds that it will take about one month to carry out the study, with final results of the survey to be refined in late May or early June. At that time, those findings will be directly relayed to state lawmakers and announced to the general public through regular news channels.

THE DNR WILL not conduct a dead deer survey in the northern Lower Peninsula this spring because losses for that region are localized. Most of that region's toll is concentrated on private lands in the northeastern sector where the DNR can't make habitat improvements for deer because it lacks ownership control.

"We are putting our efforts where they will be the most productive in providing us with the information we need to make professionally sound recommendations in July for next fall's deer hunting season," explains Arnold.

That being the case, the DNR this spring will complement its dead deer survey in the Upper Peninsula with a deer population study on random plots in the northern Lower Peninsula.

The latter study, known as the deer pellet survey, is expected to start this week or early next week in the southernmost part of the northern Lower Peninsula. It will move on into more northern districts of the region as snow conditions permit, says Arnold.

THE DEPARTMENT of Natural Resources announces that it will stock 5 inland lakes with 70,000 young chinook and 7,000 coho fingerlings this May in an experiment to see whether the released salmon grow and survive in waters where trout plantings have not fared well.

Under the test releases, the DNR will liberate 35,000 chinook in Golden Lake, Iron County; 15,000 chinook in Littlefield Lake, Isabella County; and 20,000 chinook in South Lake, Washtenaw County. Its coho plantings will total 2,000 in Green Lake, Emmet County, and 5,000 in Hemlock Lake, Cass County.

Those fish going into Green Lake will follow up last spring's release of several thousand coho there. The lake's previously planted coho reached 7-8 inches by last fall. Their size at that point fell short of salmon standards for Great Lakes waters, but it measured up closely with the growth of rainbow trout previously planted in Green Lake. "Come next fall, we should have a pretty good idea about what we've achieved with coho in Green Lake," reports David P. Borgeson, in charge of inland fisheries management for the DNR. He adds: "We hope that the coho there will do something which planted rainbows have failed to do—namely, feed heavily on Green Lake's abundant supply of stunted perch to gain good growth."

QUALITY TROUT fishing regulations which go into effect April 24 with the start of Michigan's general trout season are changed very little from last season and cover the same stretches of the Au Sable, Manistee, and Pere Marquette rivers as in 1970, reports the Department of Natural Resources.

The rules, spanning about 80 miles of those three streams, are the same as last year except for one adjustment which extends the special season 16 more days to run through the end of October.

MSU offers animal day

EAST LANSING—Chicks, baby pigs, calves, lambs, colts and other baby animals will host children visiting Michigan State University farms, Saturday, May 1. "From 9 a.m. to 12 noon, all children and their parents are invited to University Farms," according to Dick Samson, MSU College of Agriculture and Natural Resources student and chairman of Small Animals Day. "Children will be able to pet the baby animals," said Samson, "and MSU agriculture students will guide visitors and answer questions."

Maps and other information will be available from an information booth at Farm Lane and Shaw Lane on the south campus.

Clean-up SMV signs

EAST LANSING—Spring is a good time for farmers and others to check SMV (slow moving vehicle) emblems to make sure they are clean, bright and properly displayed, says a Michigan State University safety engineer.

from 50 in 1968 to 52 in 1969, in 1970 it leaped to 65. "This is still far below the 90 to 95 accidents which occurred prior to use of SMV emblems, but there is need for improvement," Pfister cautions. "A little maintenance could keep you from becoming another statistic."

"After washing, apply a little auto wax," suggests Richard Pfister. "This not only shines the emblem and keeps it clean longer, it also makes it easier to remove mud and dirt."

If the emblem's fluorescent orange color has faded to yellow, replace it, he adds. Replacement centers are available in some locations.

News track meet preview next

The Clinton County News will present a county-wide preview next week of all the area high school track teams, including coaches' comments, individual records and statistics and a possible prediction or two on the outcome of the Clinton County News track meet May 10.

The meet, scheduled for Ovid-Elsie High School beginning at 5 p.m. with preliminary and field events, will include teams from Ovid-Elsie, St. Johns, DeWitt, Bath, Fowler and Pewamo-Westphalia.

Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students at the gate. John Oberlin is the host director of the event and is the head coach of the defending meet champions Ovid-Elsie. The Marauders will be attempting to win their third title in a row and a chance to keep the News' Traveling Trophy.

Lewis receives award for 20 years service

ST. JOHNS — A certificate of appreciation, signed by President Nixon and Michigan Gov. William G. Milliken, has been awarded to Fred M. Lewis, 411 Wight St., for completing 20 years of service on the Clinton County draft board.

Lewis, currently chairman of the selective service board 19, learned of the award through a letter from Michigan Selective Service Director Arthur A. Holmes. Lewis was told that the certificate would be sent soon.

"Since the delivery of these certificates has been delayed in recent months for an extended period, I did want to take this opportunity to express to you my personal appreciation for the contribution you have made to Selective Service administration in your home community for the past two decades," Holmes wrote.

"You have my commendation and appreciation for this distinguished record of public service. Your integrity, leadership and loyalty are the qualities which have made it possible for Selective Service to accomplish every mission assigned in peace or war," the director said.

"Your two decades of public service to this agency have contributed in no small measure to the security of our nation. Equally important, you have demonstrated the qualities of responsible citizenship in your community which are so imperative if we are to endure as a free nation," Holmes concluded.

Lewis completed 20 years of service on April 17.

New selective service rules include changes

WASHINGTON, D.C.—While most congressional attention will be focused on the President's authority to induct, student deferments and the national call, the Selective Service legislative package contains other changes and reforms which will be of special interest to the people.

Besides the "Big Three" mentioned above, changes are being considered which would alter certain alien rights and obligations, end the temporary high school and college student deferments, (IS-H and IS-C) and substitute postponements of induction, prevent state directors from taking other government posts without consent of the Director, make certain compensation changes for local board and appeal board personnel, update some obsolete funding language and practices, and change the tenure of executive secretaries.

plan to reside permanently in the United States.

Adds a clause to prohibit the induction of any alien who is liable for military service until such alien has resided in the United States for at least 12 months.

Adds an amendment to reduce the duration of prior military service which would be sufficient to qualify an alien for exemption from liability under the Act from 18 months to 12 months to reflect the policy of several foreign countries which have reduced military service requirements below 18 months.

Provides an amendment for a high school student to receive a postponement rather than the I-S (H) deferment until the time of his graduation or until he reaches his 20th birthday, or ceases to pursue his schooling, whichever is the earliest. Provides an amendment for a college student to receive a postponement rather than the IS-C deferment until he finishes his current term, semester, or quarter.

Adds a provision to prevent state directors from accepting additional positions with state or local governments unless they have the approval of the Selective Service Director.

Local artist wins top award

LANSING—Gerald Johnson, 24, a St. Johns artist, has been receiving quite a bit of recognition in area art shows this year.

Johnson, R-2, St. Johns, entered a drawing in the Lansing Art Guild's special exhibition in Lansing several weeks ago and walked away with a first-place award in the Mixed Media category with his graphic piece "November Fence."

This work can still be seen through April at the Gull Gallery in Lansing.

Johnson entered his drawing, "The Weed," in the Howell Presbyterian annual Family of Man art show. He again won first place in the exhibit which featured many Metropolitan Detroit artists.

Johnson said he is especially proud of being accepted in the special one-year showing of a traveling art exhibit called Artrain, sponsored by the Michigan Association of the Arts. He said he would send his entry to the exhibit within the month. Artrain travels from city to city, usually in rural areas, with the art show, which includes many well-known Michigan artists.

SHOWER FETES LINDA SPOUSTA

Linda Spousta was honored at a bridal shower last Wednesday evening at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Charles Dickinson. Her cousins, Patricia and Karen Spousta, and their mother, Mrs. John Spousta, were co-hostesses. Games were played and refreshments served, and the honored guest received many gifts for her kitchen.

Sunday afternoon a miscellaneous shower was hosted by three aunts of the bride-to-be, Mrs. Emil Rumisek, Mrs. Matt Rumisek and Mrs. Robert Halka, at the home of the latter near New Lothrop. Mrs. Halka is Linda's Godmother.

Linda's marriage to Steven Kowalk of DeWitt, is to take place May 8. Last week the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Blake Miller of DeWitt, was hostess at a luncheon, followed by a linen shower.

Linda was also honored recently by Sally Locher of DeWitt, at a miscellaneous shower, and at a personal shower given by Phyllis Klueckling of East Lansing, who will be maid-of-honor. The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Spousta.

WATER TOWN CHARTER TOWNSHIP MINUTES

April 12, 1971

The April meeting was called to order with all Board members present. Commissioner Montgomery was also present. Minutes of the regular March meeting and special meetings of March 13th and March 24th were read and approved. These special meetings were with the Planning Commission and Park Board to draw up a request for Recreation Bond Funds under Act 108 of P.A. 1969, in order to make our Township Landfill into another park.
The Treasurer's report was read and placed on file.
Correspondence read and placed on file.
$2000 was transferred from Contingent Account to Cemetery Account for operational expenses.
Commissioner Montgomery made a short report about Mr. Gerald Wilcox resigning as Chairman of the Clinton County Planning Commission, and the clean-up drive Mr. Bill Coffey of Zoning is trying to get organized.
Mr. John Henry Dudley and Mr. Ronald Garlock came in to request information of the Board as to what our plans are for future sewerage disposal. They were filed in on work done to date by Commonwealth and the fact that we had applied for Federal Funds in September, but nothing definite is set up yet.

A contract was signed with Clinton County Road Commission for road work we hope to get done in the year 1971.
The proposed 1972 budget was reviewed by the Board - this budget to be submitted to the Clinton County Allocation Board showing our need for the one mill allocated by the County.
The City of DeWitt submitted a new fire contract for the year 1971, and motion made that we accept it.
The Park Board submitted the names of Dave Borgeson, Bruce Mance, John Nash and Janice Shelley to serve a two year term, replacing four members whose terms have expired. The above four citizens named were accepted by the Township Board.
Many of our citizens have misunderstood the terms set up between the Township and Vector Construction Company land fill. There are printed instructional sheets available at the Township Office, Kraft's store, the Clerk's home, and the supervisor's home setting forth the load limits and prices.
There being no further business, meeting adjourned.
MILDRED McDONOUGH,
Clerk

Kincaid District Mrs Porter C. Parks

Mrs. Virgil Cole, Mrs. Larry Holmes of Greenwiche, O. and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Waters of La Puente, Calif, were at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Balmer.

★ LEGAL NOTICE

A Special Westphalia Village Council meeting held at the Village Hall on Tuesday, April 20, 1971 at 9 p.m. Amendments were made in Ordinance No. 114 which was adopted on June 30, 1970. The corrected ordinance reads as follows:

ORDINANCE NO. 114 AN ORDINANCE TO PROVIDE FOR THE OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE OF THE CLINTON COUNTY SANITARY SEWAGE DISPOSAL SYSTEM-NO. 3 (VILLAGE OF WESTPHALIA) ON A PUBLIC UTILITY BASIS UNDER THE PROVISIONS OF ACT 94, PUBLIC ACTS OF MICHIGAN, 1933, AS AMENDED.

Section 1. It is hereby determined to be desirable and necessary, for the public health, safety and welfare of the Village of Westphalia, that the Clinton County Sanitary Sewage Disposal System No. 3 (Village of Westphalia) be operated by said Village and the Clinton County Board of Public Works on a public utility rate basis, in accordance with the provisions of Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended.

Section 2. Whenever the words "the System" are referred to in this ordinance, they shall be understood to mean the complete Clinton County Sanitary Sewage Disposal System No. 3 (Village of Westphalia), including all sewers, pumps, lift stations, treatment facilities, and all other facilities used or useful in the collection, treatment and disposal of domestic, commercial or industrial wastes, including all appurtenances thereto and including all extensions and improvements hereunto which may hereafter be acquired.

Section 3. The operation, maintenance, alteration, repair and improvement of the System shall be under the supervision and control of the Clinton County Board of Public Works, subject to the terms of the contract, dated June 30, 1970, between the County of Clinton and the Village of Westphalia. Said Board may employ such person or persons in such capacity or capacities as it deems advisable to carry on the efficient management and operation of the System, and may make such rules, orders and regulations as it deems advisable and necessary to assure the efficient management and operation of the System; provided, however, that the Village shall fix and collect charges for use of the System.

Section 4. Rates to be charged for service furnished by the System shall be as follows:

(a) Direct Tap Charges: There shall be paid on behalf of each single-family residential premises tapping directly into any of the sewer lines originally comprising the System prior to January 1, 1972, in cash, at the time of application for the tap permit, a charge for the privilege of using the facilities and receiving the service of the System in the amount of $1,200.00 plus such sums as will compensate for the cost of making and inspecting the tap; provided, however, that payment of such charge for other than new construction may, at the option of the payer, be extended over a 15-year period, in quarterly installments, with interest at the rate of six percent (6%) on the unpaid balance, upon the giving of such security documents as the Village may require; and provided further, however, that in the event of such extended payment, the cost of making and inspecting the tap shall be paid in cash before application for the tap permit. The charge for direct taps made on or after January 1, 1972, shall be $1,350.00, plus costs, and shall be paid in cash at the time of application for the tap permit.

(b) Indirect Tap Charge: There shall be paid on behalf of each single-family residential premises tapping into any sewer lines not originally comprising the System but connecting thereto, in System cash, at the time of application for the tap permit, a charge for the privilege of indirectly using the facilities of the System and receiving the service thereof in the amount of $150.00, plus such sums as will compensate for the cost of making and inspecting the tap.

(c) Premises other than single-family residences shall pay tap charges in the appropriate amounts specified above, multiplied by the factors provided for in conjunction with monthly sewer use charges; provided, however, that the minimum tap charges shall be $1,400.00 for direct connection through December 31, 1971, and $1,650.00 thereafter, and $150.00 for indirect connection.

Special Rates For miscellaneous special services for which special rates shall be established, such rates shall be fixed by the Village Council.

Billing Bills will be rendered quarterly at the same time as the Village water billings and shall bear the same payment and penalty provisions as said water bills.

Enforcement The charges for services which are under the provisions of Section 21, Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended, made a lien on all premises served thereby, unless notice is given that a tenant is responsible, and hereby recognized to constitute such lien and whenever any such charge against any piece of property shall be delinquent for six (6) months, the Village official or officials in charge of the collection thereof shall certify annually, on March 1 of each year, to the tax-assessing officer of the Village the facts of such delinquency, whereupon such charge shall be by him entered upon the next tax roll as a charge against such premises and shall be collected and the lien thereof enforced in the same manner as general village taxes against such premises are collected and the lien thereof enforced; provided, however, where notice is given that a tenant is responsible for such charges and services as provided by said Section 21, no further service shall be rendered such premises until a cash deposit in the amount of $50.00 shall have been made as security for payment of such charges and services.

In addition to the foregoing, the Village shall have the right to shut off sewer service to any premises for which charges for sewer services are more than three (3) months delinquent, and such service shall not be re-established until all delinquent charges and penalties are paid, and a turn-on charge, to be specified by the Village Council, have been paid. Further, such charges and penalties may be recovered by the Village by court action.

Section 5. No free service shall be furnished by said System to any person, firm or corporation, public or private, or to any public agency or instrumentality.

Section 6. All premises to which service of the System shall be available shall connect to the System within six (6) months after the mailing of a notice to such premises by a proper official in charge of the System indicating that such services are available and that such premises are available for connection to the System.

Section 7. The Village shall provide for the expenses of administration and operation, such as expenses for maintenance of the said System as are necessary to preserve the same in good repair and working order, to provide for the payment of the contractual obligations of the Village to the County of Clinton pursuant to the aforesaid contract between said County and the Village of Westphalia as the same become due, and to provide for other expenditures and funds for said System as this ordinance may require. Such rates shall be fixed and revised from time to time as may be necessary to produce these amounts.

Section 8. The System shall be operated on the basis of a fiscal year corresponding with that of the Village water system.

Section 9. The revenues of the System shall be set aside as collected and deposited in a separate depository account in Maynard Allen State Bank, Westphalia, Michigan, a bank duly qualified to do business in Michigan, in an account to be designated SEWAGE DISPOSAL SYSTEM RECEIVING FUND (hereinafter, for brevity, referred to as the "Receiving Fund"), and said revenues so deposited shall be transferred from the Receiving Fund periodically in the manner and at the times hereinafter specified.

(A) OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE FUND: Out of the revenues in the Receiving Fund, there shall be first set aside quarterly into a depository account designated OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE FUND, a sum sufficient to cover the current expenses of administration and operation of the System and such current expenses for the maintenance thereof as may be necessary to preserve the same in good repair and working order.

(B) CONTRACT PAYMENT FUND: There shall next be established and maintained a depository account, to be designated CONTRACT PAYMENT FUND, which shall be used solely for the payment of the Village's obligations to the County of Clinton pursuant to the aforesaid contract. There shall be deposited in said fund quarterly, after requirements of the Operation and Maintenance Fund have been met, such sums as shall be necessary to pay said contractual obligations when due. Should the revenues of the System prove insufficient for this purpose, such revenues may be supplemented by any other funds of the Village legally available for such purpose.

(C) REPLACEMENT FUND: There shall next be established and maintained a depository account, designated REPLACEMENT FUND, which shall be used solely for the purpose of making major repairs and replacements to the System if needed. There shall be set aside into said fund, after provision has been made for the Operation and Maintenance Fund and the Contract Payment Fund, such revenues as the Village Council shall deem necessary for this purpose.

(D) IMPROVEMENT FUND: There shall next be established and maintained an Improvement Fund for the purpose of making improvements, extensions and enlargements to the System. There shall be deposited into said fund, after providing for the foregoing fund, such revenues as the Village Council shall determine.

(E) SURPLUS MONIES: Monies remaining in the Receiving Fund at the end of any calendar year, after full satisfaction of the requirements of the foregoing funds, may, at the option of the Village Council, be transferred to the Improvement Fund or used in connection with any other project of the Village reasonably related to purposes of the System.

(F) BANK ACCOUNTS: All moneys belonging to any of the foregoing funds or accounts may be kept in one bank account, in which event the moneys shall be allocated on the books and records of the Village within this single bank account, in the manner above set forth.

Section 10. In the event the moneys in the Receiving Fund are insufficient to provide for the current requirements of the Operation and Maintenance Fund, any moneys and/or securities in other funds of the System, except sums in the Contract Payment Fund derived from tax levies, shall be transferred to the Operation and Maintenance Fund to the extent of any deficit therein.

Section 11. Moneys in any fund or account established by the provisions of this ordinance may be invested in obligations of the United States of America, in the manner and subject to the limitations provided in Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended. In the event such investments are made, the securities representing the same shall be kept on deposit with the bank or trust company having on deposit the fund or moneys from which such purchase was made. Income received from such investments shall be credited to the fund from which said investments were made.

Section 12. If any section, paragraph, clause or provision of this ordinance shall be held invalid, the invalidity of such section, paragraph, clause or provision shall not affect any of the other provisions of this ordinance.

Section 13. All ordinances, resolutions or orders, or parts thereof, in conflict with the provisions of this ordinance are, to the extent of such conflict, hereby repealed.

Section 14. This ordinance shall be published once, in full, in the Clinton County News, a newspaper of general circulation within the boundaries of the Village and qualified under state law to publish legal notices, within two (2) weeks after its adoption, and the same shall be recorded in the Ordinance Book of the Village and such recording authenticated by the signatures of the President and Village Clerk.

Section 15. This ordinance shall become effective immediately upon its adoption.

GENE DROSTE, Village Clerk.

The Family Living Study Group leader-teachers will have a planned luncheon which will feature fish and a recipe exchange before the afternoon classes.

Saturday night

Theater arts class offers original dance, play

ST. JOHNS-The advance theater arts class will present an original version of dance drama and a play, Saturday, May 1, at 8 p.m. in Pocus Auditorium.

Both productions were selected and are being directed and produced by students in Robert Koger's advance drama class.

The play 'Black Comedy' by Peter Shaffer will offer a unique visual experience to the audience. The comedy centers on a young engaged couple having difficulties with their families and friends. The situation takes place in the young man's apartment where the lights continually go out.

The scenes will be reversed, when there is supposed to be light, there will be none and when it is supposed to be dark, it will be light.

The students rehearsed the reverse scenes with blindfolds in order to realistically interpret the situation.

Anne Fox is the student director. The dance consists of a cutting from Shakespeare's 'The Tempest'.

According to Koger, St. Johns is the first high school in Michigan that has shown an interest in dance drama and the first time they have attempted this new form of drama.

Original dance drama is the medium between ballet and modern dance. Bodily movements replaces language as a transmitter of communication. It can be called the most graceful form of non-verbal communication.

The dance students received private dance instruction from Dixie Durr, Michigan State University Dance Instructor.

The ten students in the production originated the score, designed and built the costumes and sets, and cut the music.

Bess Stork is the student director. Admission will be 50 cents.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF BATH TOWNSHIP BOARD REPORT

ORDINANCE No. 10 AN ORDINANCE TO PROVIDE THE REGULATION AND CONTROL OF TRAILER COACHES, TRAVEL TRAILERS, AND MOBILE HOMES WITHIN THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF BATH.

The Charter Township of Bath, Clinton County, Michigan, ordains: Section 1. Definitions. For the purpose of this ordinance the following words shall have the meaning given to them in this section unless it appears in the context of this Ordinance that a different meaning is intended:

A. "Board" shall mean the Board of Trustees of the Charter Township of Bath.

B. "Mobile Home" shall mean a transportable unit developed primarily for residential purposes and containing as part of its structure a frame and axle for wheels. This does not apply to module homes or what is referred to as a double mobile home, provided they are set on a permanent foundation, or basement, as required for a standard home.

C. "Trailer Coach" shall be synonymous with mobile home.

D. "Travel Trailer" a recreational vehicle designed to be used for temporary resident purposes and commonly known as travel trailer or recreational vehicle.

Section 2. No person shall use or permit the use of any trailer coach, mobile home, or travel trailer as a residence on any site, lot, field or tract of land not specifically licensed as a travel coach park, except by written permit is hereinafter provided.

Section 3. No trailer coach, travel trailer, or mobile home may be parked, or permit issued for parking, in areas specifically prohibiting the same by zoning, fire regulations, or any other legal restrictions, unless the board shall make such legal exemptions as may be necessary to authorize a permit.

Section 4. Trailer coaches and mobile homes that are presently located within the Charter Township of Bath and are presently being used as a residence may continue to be used in such fashion upon approval of the Board of Trustees which approval shall be based upon the determination that adequate sanitation facilities exist for said travel coach or mobile home.

Section 5. All applications for a permit shall be made to the Clerk of the Township and the application shall contain the following information:

A. The name of the owner of the trailer coach or mobile home, and the names of all occupants as well as the ages of all children.

B. The location of the proposed parking site as to street or road and house number or by legal property description where no house number is available.

C. The make and length of the trailer coach or mobile home its vehicle number.

D. Date of application.

E. Signature of property owner accepting his responsibility under the permit.

F. Signature of health officer of the Township confirming compliance with sanitation requirements of the Clinton County Sanitation Code and any other applicable state Statutes, county or township ordinances relating to public health.

G. Signature of applicant.

Section 6. A registration fee of $2.50 will accompany the application to the clerk for defraying administrative cost. The permit shall expire in six months from the date issued.

Section 7. A visitors permit is required for use of trailer coach, mobile home or travel trailer when used as a temporary residence for not to exceed fifteen days. Applications for Visitors Permit shall contain the same information as required under A, B, C, D and G of Section 5 above plus the signature of the owner occupant of the dwelling on the premises where the trailer coach, mobile home or travel trailer is to be parked, consenting to the use of the kitchen and toilet facilities of that dwelling by the trailer occupants.

A fee of $2 will accompany each application for a Visitors Permit which shall not be renewed for a period of twelve months or for that trailer coach, mobile home or travel trailer.

Section 8. Upon receiving the proper application and fee the Clerk may issue the permit applied for. Permits are not transferable.

Section 9. All permits with a copy of the application for the same attached, shall be displayed in or on the trailer coach, mobile home, or travel trailer for which it is used, on the side nearest to a public street or road in such manner as to readily be noticeable at all times.

Section 10. Any persons violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $100 or by imprisonment for a term of not exceeding 90 days or both fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court. Each day that a violation of this Ordinance shall occur shall be a separate offense.

Section 11. If any section or subsection, sentence, clause, phrase or portion of this Ordinance is for any reason held invalid or unconstitutional by any court of competent jurisdiction such portion shall be deemed a separate distinct and independent provision and such holding shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions hereof.

Section 12. This Ordinance shall become effective upon publication or posting as required by law.

LEE D. REASONER, Township Clerk

NEW COACH Michigan State's newest assistant football coach is Ed Youngs, one-time Spartan lineman who's moving to East Lansing from a similar post at Colorado State.

KOBS FIELD Michigan State's home baseball field is named in honor of the late John H. Kobs, who served as State's baseball coach from 1925 through 1963.

Cooking meetings

Outdoor cooking enthusiasts will be interested in the May meetings sponsored by the Extension Service in Clinton, Grand and Shiawassee counties, May 4 and 5 at the St. Johns Hall; May 6 in rural Ithaca, at Beebe Hall; May 11 in Corunna at the Casino in McCurdy Park.

Pick the date which fits your schedule - all meetings supply the same information and demonstrations.

The afternoon programs start at 1 o'clock in each county, and all interested persons are invited to attend.

Dr. Eugene Dice from the Department of Natural Resources, Michigan State University, will present a program designed to guide Michigan residents to become better acquainted with our newest Michigan fish - Coho Salmon. He will show a color film of Michigan fishing areas and will demonstrate the care and handling of Coho from "Hook to Cook."

Section 16. This ordinance shall become effective immediately upon its adoption.

GENE DROSTE, Village Clerk.

THOSE ATTENDING may observe "Coho over the Coals" and participate in a "tastestime". Mrs. Illah Martens from St. Johns will have a part in the program. The 4-H agents, John Aylsworth, Frank Kappand Agricultural Agent, Dick Austin will assist Dr. Dice in each of their respective counties.

The Family Living Study Group leader-teachers will have a planned luncheon which will feature fish and a recipe exchange before the afternoon classes.

TIPS FOR THE PURCHASER

It's unwise to pay too much...but it's worse to pay too little. When you pay too much, you lose a little money...that is all. When you pay too little, you might lose everything because the thing you bought was incapable of doing the thing it was bought to do.

The common law of business balance prohibits paying a little and getting a lot — it can't be done. If you deal with the lowest bidder it is well to add something for the risk you run. If you do that, you will have enough to pay for something better.

Open Letter from VAN W. HOAG

Dear friends,
Many clergymen and doctors, while attending the dying, have reported seeing the apparition of the spirit leaving the body at death. Many survivors have reported the momentary appearance of the spirit of a loved one at the moment of death. If these marvels were more generally known, the doubting Thomas would find greater conviction in the resurrection of Christ and of our own promised resurrection which we celebrate this glorious Easter Season.

Sincerely,
Van W. Hoag

MRS. HILA BROSS
Ph. 224-4576

Mr. and Mrs. George Osgood are back home after more than two months in Hawaii. Mrs. Osgood has resumed her English classes for foreign-speaking persons in our community. The classes are held at Bement Public Library and are sponsored by the Library Board.

Mrs. Roy Ellingham of Detroit, and Mrs. Daniel Asprin of Ann Arbor, spent Saturday afternoon with their mother, Mrs. A. L. Woodbury, who is a patient at Clinton Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Toben visited Spring Lake Sunday and Monday, attending a meeting of professional photographers.

Mrs. George Glover's daughter,

Mrs. Ralph Abernathy, was in St. Johns Saturday and Mrs. Oliver returned to Grand Rapids with her to stay several days.

Mrs. Faye Hansen and Mrs. Margaret Roberts of the DeWitt Public Library, and Mrs. Hila Bross of Bement Public Library, attended a Library Week luncheon at Ingham County Library headquarters in Mason, last Thursday. On Friday, Mrs. Miller, coordinator of services for the Ingham County Libraries, and Jay Smith, Director of Ingham County Library and the Central Michigan Library System, called at Bement Public Library in St. Johns.

Lynn Toben spent the weekend with friends in Saginaw. While there, she also visited her grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Langworthy of rural Alma, were Saturday guests at the home of Mrs. Langworthy's aunt, Mrs. Ivan Parrott, and Mr. Parrott.

Mrs. John Caudy presented 15 of her piano pupils in recital Saturday afternoon, at her home. Parents of the children were in attendance, and following the recital Mrs. Caudy served refreshments. The following students took part: Patty Pung, Greg Wood, Tama Sweeney, Jennifer Cleland, Teresa Wood, Bonnie Eisler, Betsy Johnson, Lori Goldman, Linda Rademacher, Erin Wood, Barbara Penix, Deanna White, Becky Downing, Cindi Houska and Michelle Houska.

Sp. 4 Brian Woodbury surprised his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Woodbury, by coming home on a medical leave for the weekend. He is a patient at the U.S. Naval Hospital at Great Lakes, and his parents took him back to the hospital by automobile Sunday. Woodbury, who is in the U.S. Army as a Tank Commander, was wounded recently in Viet Nam.

Count your blessings and there won't be time for fault-finding.

CHECKING THE SCENE

The parking lot of the Clinton National Bank and Trust Company in St. Johns will be the scene of the "Spring Flea Market" sponsored by the St. Johns Jaycee Auxiliary. The community flea market will be held May 8 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Those wishing to rent space for a booth may do so for $1 and methods of display may be station wagons or table set-ups. Pictured are Mrs. Barry Dean, Mrs. Richard Wells and Mrs. Carlton Jarvis, Auxiliary members in charge of the market. Photo by Annette White.

Clinton County Area MEETINGS

The St. Johns Child Study Club met Wednesday, April 21 in the home of Mrs. Janice Crowell. The officers for the 1971-1972 season were presented and heading up the group as president will be Mrs. Carol Burkhardt. Other officers include Mrs. Karen Hundley, vice-president; Mrs. Marv Beth Jarvis, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Nancy Wells, recording secretary and Mrs. Janice Crowell, treasurer.

Guests for the evening were Mrs. Evelyn Sulka, Mrs. Sharon Brokan and Mrs. Janet Smith.

The club voted to participate in the Spring Flea Market, sponsored by the Jaycee Auxiliary, and co-chairman for the project will be Mrs. Hundley and Mrs. James Spring.

Mrs. Burkhardt, program chairman, introduced the speakers for the evening, Sister Romaine and Sister Margot who spoke on "You, Your Child and Religion."

The next meeting will be held May 19 at 7:30 p.m. in the community room at the Central National Bank. Members and their children are invited to attend a special "Children's Night" with entertainment and refreshments.

St. Johns

The home of Francis and Harriet Motz was the scene of a festive surprise 20th anniversary party given in their honor. The event was hosted by their children and attended by over 100 guests.

The couple received various gifts including a money tree. Guests arrived from Pewamo, Fowler, Lansing, Eureka, and Detroit.

Special guests were the parents of Mr. and Mrs. Motz, Mr. and Mrs. William P. Smith of Pewamo and Mrs. Christina Motz of St. Johns.

Barbara Waggoner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Robinson, recently sent home a tape on which she reported some of her observations and experiences since arriving in Africa, where she is working with the Peace Corps.

She left Jan. 26 for the Virgin Islands, where she underwent intensive training for six weeks. Her next stop was Paris, France, where she had a few days to explore the city.

From Paris, Barbara and her co-workers flew to Ouagadougou, which is the capital of the Upper Volta, one of the new countries of Africa, which obtained its independence in 1960. Ouagadougou is 400 miles inland from the Ivory Coast, and when the group arrived there in mid-March, the temperature was between 100 and 120 degrees in the daytime, and no lower than 90 degrees at night.

Motor bikes and jeeps are the most popular forms of transportation, and the roads (which are very bad) are deep in red dust, the same red dust which covers everything there.

They are learning to speak Mali, the native dialect, and are also learning some of the native customs, such as the fact that it is taboo to hand things to other people with the left hand. The American girls have all had to lengthen their skirts, because it is against the custom to show the knee.

The national language of the Upper Volta is French, which is fortunate for Barbara because that was her major language at the University of Michigan, where she graduated in May 1970. She majored in Sociology, and when she has completed her training at Ouagadougou, she will teach child care and nutrition at a clinic.

Mrs. Neva Keys is slowly recovering from injuries received when she accidentally fell Feb. 28 while entering her car and her leg was run over by the rear wheel. She is able to get around with a walker. Her sister, Mrs. Dorothy Kaspar has been caring for her during the eight weeks she has been confined to her bed.

SPRING ACHIEVEMENT HELD—The 4-Corners 4-H Club held its Spring Achievement Tuesday evening with a potluck dinner for the members, their parents and the leaders. Before the dinner, Mrs. A. W. Cobb gave the invocation and led the group in singing the 4-H "Song of Praise".

Mrs. Carol Baese was in charge of the program which followed the meal. She introduced Mrs. Cobb who narrated the style show by all the members of the club who had completed a project in knitting or sewing during the winter. After the style show, Alan Cobb gave a talk about the North Carolina Exchange Trip which he took last summer. He showed slides and a scrapbook to illustrate his talk. This summer, he plans to host a 4-H'er from North Carolina.

Certificates were handed out by Mrs. Loretta Pokorny and first year pins were presented by Mrs. Mildred Whitaker. Mrs. Alice Gilbert presented the third year pins and the presentations were completed by Mrs. Carol Baese who presented awards to those who had been in 4-H five years or more.

Mrs. Baese introduced the teen leaders: Dan Washburn, Terry Bernath, Alan Cobb, Matthew Peck, Mary Temple and Marie Blakely. She expressed the leaders' thanks to these young people for all their services during the past year.

All members were reminded of the trash pickup of all roadsides and this area to be held Saturday and the glass pickup of all roadsides in the area to be held Saturday, May 1.

Those wishing to be in the talent show were asked to notify Mrs. Cobb, also those wishing help on demonstrations. Members who brought their programs to the last meeting were presented a small prize for having kept them and used them all year.

Mrs. Baese presented all the leaders to the parents and guests and persons willing to be summer leaders were asked to let Mrs. Annabelle Peck know.

HOSPITAL NOTES

The Clinton Memorial Hospital Auxiliary board met April 21 to make plans for the upcoming membership drive.

A massive campaign is being planned by the board to secure memberships which are $1. The proceeds from the drive, which is their main source of income, will be used to pay for the recently installed nurse-patient call system.

The annual meeting will be held Tuesday, May 18 at 8 p.m. in the community room of the Central National Bank with Mrs. Melvin Warren as tea chairman. The guest speaker will be Ada Rippey of Sturgis who will present an informative program on antique and foreign dolls.

Those holding membership cards are entitled to attend the annual meeting.

POSTMASTERS MEET

The Clinton County National Association of Postmasters met at Daley's in St. Johns. With the exception of the postmaster from Bath all were present. The meeting is held quarterly, prior to the area meeting being held May 7 at Nashville and state meeting in June at Midland.

Arrangements were made by Postmaster Velma L. Bancroft of Maple Rapids. Next meeting is in September with the Honorable Raymond Halfmann of Fowler making arrangements.

Clinton County has six retired postmasters, George E. Osgood and J. D. Robinson, St. Johns; Ernest Halfmann, Fowler; Mrs. Howe, Bath; Mr. Baker of Ovid and Mrs. Nellie Elmester, Maple Rapids.

The Maple Rapids PTA held Saturday was as successful as last year or possibly better. The final results are not yet available but members are pleased with the outcome. Donations were made by the following: Randall Weeks, State Farm Insurance; Prist Auto Collision and Suñoco, Bill's Barber Shop, Al and Dewey's Supermarket, Dr. Dee Allen, Dr. William Steigerwald, and Lewis Hardware.

Gifts of money were awarded to top three salesmen in grade seven, Rick Borle, Diana Geer and Sheila Floate. Grades six and seven handled the games and also helped in the food sales. Children's drawing of a stuffed teddy bear went to a Portland resident. A portable black and white television to Betty Cook, student at Maple Rapids school. Bake goods were also drawn and given to people present at that time.

The PTA is grateful and expresses a huge thank you to all who donated their time and effort to make this Fair possible. All donations will go to the PTA for helping the school.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Dean and family and Joan James attended the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. William White in St. Johns, April 10.

MR. AND MRS. J. LIONEL FOOTE

Celebrate anniversary

Exactly 25 years ago Mr. and Mrs. J. Lionel Foote posed for this photograph after exchanging their wedding vows.

On Sunday, April 25 a surprise open house was held in honor of their anniversary.

The event was hosted by their daughters and sons-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pardike and Mr.

and Mrs. William Lynn Coffman all of St. Johns and their son, Keith Foote at home.

Special guests at the open house were Mr. and Mrs. James L. Boyce who were wedding attendants of the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Foote have lived in the St. Johns area since their marriage and presently reside at 2843 W. Townsend Rd.

ALMA — For thousands of Scotsmen, the Highland Festival in Alma on Saturday, May 22, will be a day of nostalgia with skirling pipes and swirling kilts reviving memories of the good old days.

Thousands of others will be attracted to this mid-Michigan community on that date by the colorful and exciting competition among pipers and drummers, brawny athletes and dancing lasses.

But the most popular events of this festive day will likely be the big festival parade, the contest for the U.S. Open Pipe Band Championship, and the sight and sounds of hundreds of pipers and drummers playing together in a stirring massed band performance.

These features, combined with the brilliantly hued costumes of festival participants and the attractive setting for the event on a scenic small college campus, have made the Alma Highland Festival one of the nation's top single-day attractions in just four years.

IT WAS IN the fall of 1967 that residents of Alma first began thinking seriously about the possibility of a Scottish festival based on the traditions brought to the community nearly a century ago when the Presbyterian Church founded Alma College.

For many years the college's athletic teams had been called the Scots, and the school's kilt-clad band and dancing Kiltie Lassies had become well-known performing groups.

Alma citizens pooled their talents and efforts to present the first Highland Festival in May of 1968, and the event was virtually an instant success. In the spring of 1969 more than 30,000 persons were attracted to Alma for the festival, and at the third annual pageant last May the crowd total zoomed to 50,000.

Pipers, drummers and Highland dancers come from throughout the United States and Canada to vie for trophies, ribbons and cash awards at the Alma festival.

Other competitors test their strength and skill in athletic events such as the caber toss.

And the biggest contest, of course, is the battle for the pipe band championship. The huge U.S. open trophy, awarded for the first time at the 1969 festival, has been won for two successive years by the Clan MacFarlane Pipe Band of St. Catharines, Ontario, Canada.

Last spring more than 30 pipe bands participated in the Alma festival. Competition for individual pipers and drummers attracted 190 entrants, while nearly 300 dancers vied for festival honors.

THIS YEAR THE competitive events start at 9 a.m. Saturday, May 22, with pipers, drummers and dancers in action at Alma College's Bahke Stadium. The caber toss and other Scottish athletic events will also be a Saturday morning feature in the stadium.

The festival parade which features floats and conventional marching bands as well as pipe units will begin at 11 a.m. on the east side of the Alma business district and move westward along the main street of the city to the college campus.

Special festival ceremonies, including a performance by the massed band of several hundred pipers and drummers, will begin at 1:30 p.m. in the college stadium, preceding the start of competition for the U.S. Open Pipe Band Championship.

HIGHLAND DANCERS will continue their activity throughout the afternoon. At the conclusion of the dancing and pipe band contests, about 5 p.m., a closing ceremony will include presentation of major festival trophies and another performance by the massed band.

For those who arrive in Alma early, a popular Friday night attraction on the festival weekend is the Ceilidh, a Scottish get-together, at the Alma Armory, scheduled to begin at 8 p.m.

Events scheduled for Sunday, following the festival, are a Flying Scotsman Dawn Patrol and Pancake Breakfast at the Alma Airport from 7 to 11:30 a.m., and a Collie Dog Show at the Alma Fairgrounds at 1 p.m.

Further information on the festival, including details on accommodations for travel trailer owners, may be obtained by writing to Alma Highland Festival, P.O. Box 506, Alma, Michigan 48801

St. Johns

ORDINANCE No. 239

An ordinance to change the date for filing of petitions for the office of City Commissioner and to establish an odd-year primary election.

The City of St. Johns ordains: That pursuant to the provisions of Public Act 239 of 1970, known as the "Odd-Year Election Law", the City of St. Johns, having elected to come under the Odd-Year Election Law, and the Charter provisions of the City of St. Johns being in conflict therewith so far as the filing of nominating petitions are concerned, The Charter provides the office of City Commissioner shall be nominated by the filing of petitions but the date for the filing thereof being in conflict with the Odd-Year Election Law.

It is ordained: Section 1. There shall be held a primary election the Tuesday following the first Monday in August of odd-numbered years, provided there be more than two candidates for each office and provided the other requirements of Public Act 239 of 1970, requiring a primary are present.

Section 2. Nominating petitions for the Office of City Commissioner shall be filed by 4:00 p.m. on the seventh Tuesday preceding the primary election.

Section 3. Repeal of conflicting ordinances. Any ordinance or charter provision which in any way, conflicts with the provisions herein set forth, is hereby repealed.

Section 4. Effective Date. This Ordinance shall take effect on the 20th day after its passage.

Passed, ordained and ordered published this 26 day of April, A.D., 1971, by the City Commission of the City of St. Johns at a regular meeting on the above date.

ROBERT H. WOOD, Mayor
THOMAS C. HUNDLEY, City Clerk

The above ordinance was offered by Commissioner Grost. Supported by Commissioner Rand.

Yes; Commissioners Ebert, Grost, Rand, Hannah, Wood. Ordinance adopted.

The St. Johns Co-op did it again...rather, they didn't do it again. The Co-op held the third weekly drawing Saturday, and we didn't win anything...again. David Yallop and Howard Walker of St. Johns did. They won an Alpine picnic jug. Dick Woodhams did too. He won the Zebeo rod and reel.

Now the Co-op will continue weekly drawings through May 15...and on that day the grand prize, a G.E. color television.

will be awarded. If jugs, rod & reel sets or a color TV sound good to you, just stop in the Co-op and write your name. While you're there, grab a free kite for the kids.

WHAT'S HAPPENING Tuesday, May 4? The Ink Spots in concert, right. The time, 8 p.m.; the place, St. Johns High School auditorium; the price, $1 for students and $2 for adults. Tickets are available from any member of the Chamber of Commerce or at the door.

The annual County News Builders section is printed in this edition. If you are planning on redecorating, remodeling or building browse through the many articles and ads. Many new ideas...products...and the "how-to's" will come in handy.

WE WERE SITTING out at Grattot Lanes the other night waiting for some friends to show up when a thought struck us. Actually it wasn't a thought, but the Big M trying to get out attention. Anyway we had just seen the movie "Valdez Is Coming". And the thought was...what happens to fictional super-heros... when they get too old for super-heroining.

The movie told the tale of an aging super-hero who came out of semi-retirement for one last deed of derring-do. The good guys won...the bad guys got theirs and the movie faded. Now what we'd like to know is what happened ten years later.

Or to put it another way... can you imagine a 72 year old James Bond...chasing the fair sex... forgetting why? Or Mr Keen, tracer of lost persons, sitting for hours trying to remember his name. Or an over-the hill Lone Ranger going for his gun and two minutes later shooting himself in the foot.

Anyway we would like to see a movie or read a book about a super-hero whose days of swash buckling have long since past. Oh, yes...our friends never did show up and we still don't know why the Big M hit us.

Pocuis praises county bus drivers for safety

ST. JOHNS -- Clinton County had only eight school bus accidents in the 1969-70 school year, according to figures released recently by the Michigan State Police. And B. Stanley Pocuis, superintendent of the Clinton County intermediate school district, considers this an excellent record.

"This is a record to be proud of," he said. "There are 87 buses operating every day in Clinton County. They travel over one million miles a year taking more than 8,000 students to and from school."

Pocuis praised the county bus drivers for their safe driving as part of a School Bus Safety Week message. The special week is April 18-24.

"We will not be satisfied, of course, until we reduce the number of school bus accidents to zero, but we are proud of what has been achieved so far," he said. "It is a pleasure for me to take this opportunity during School Bus Safety Week to congratulate the parents, children and school bus drivers in Clinton County for their excellent safety record they have established."

State-wide, school buses travel more than 120 million miles a year, transporting 950,000 youngsters per day.

From the State House

Churches: big lobby

By REP. DICK ALLEN

What special interest group has Lansing's most powerful lobby? Take a guess. Automobile Companies...Labor Unions...Highway Construction Industry... Teachers...Farmers...?

Naturally, the lobby effort of most organizations varies from year to year depending on the issues before us. But through the peaks and valleys for year in year out effort, I'll pick a group that will surprise you, Michigan's Churches.

General Motors may buy more lunches, but only the churches have caused me to receive as many as 75 personal phone calls at home on a Sunday afternoon. The farmers were upset about daylight savings time, but didn't write nearly as many letters as one church denomination recently has sent to my desk.

The political power of churches lies not so much in money spent but in the zeal of their members and their willingness to write, call, speak to on the street and otherwise communicate with their representative. This, combined with a statewide organization that holds regular weekly meetings in most every community of the State, makes for power.

HAS THIS POWER been a strong moral force in Michigan, leading to a more Christian society?

Well, I'd say no. The reason being that I cannot remember an issue where all, or even a large majority, of our churches have agreed and taken a strong stand.

This seems strange since all Christian doctrine seems in accord on the brotherhood of man, respect for the elderly, benevolence towards the poor, crippled or otherwise afflicted, the need for love and forgiveness in place of violence and vengeance...and so on.

But rather than a united powerful stand for advancement in any of these areas of general Christian commitment, most lobbying centers on specific tenants of one or a few denominations.

This is viewed by the general public, including other Christians, as an attempt to force by law one's religion on others. It amounts to a contest amongst Christians for the control of law on their own members and others.

The following are viewpoints held by various religious denominations in our society. Each is strongly related to one or more bills presently before the Legislature:

"Consumption of alcohol is a sin or at least highly immoral. It should be prohibited or at least restricted to the fullest extent possible by law."

"Gambling is a sin or at least highly immoral. It should not be used as a source of tax money. Tax money should be used to enforce laws against it."

"Abortion is a sin much worse than bringing an unwanted child into the world. Abortion should be prohibited to the fullest extent of the law."

NOW HEAR THIS, good friends and neighbors of the 88th District. We are small town and rural people, generally close to our churches. But my surveys indicate that none of the above is the consensus of a majority of the Christians in our area.

We are pluralistic society. We certainly must, each live by our own moral codes, but should be a little more careful about imposing them on others.

This column will bring letters from a good many Christians in my area. I wish those letters would be about the elderly, the poor, the crippled, drug abusers, criminals, prostitutes, etc.

But I think they'll be about drinking, gambling, and abortion law.

BUILDING AND REMODELING SPECIAL SECTION

If you're planning to build a new home, remodel or add a room you'll find helpful information in this special building section. Who to see for paint, wallpaper, landscaping or building a garage is advertised on the following pages. You'll save time and effort if you keep this section of your Clinton County News handy for quick reference.

electric glue gun lets you get behind board

Here is a natural for the glue-gun: When mounting peg board with spacer washers, a person would have to be 1/4 inch wide and about 10 inches tall to get behind the board to locate and hold the washers in place while screws are being installed. (Spacers must be placed every 12 inches throughout the board.) Solution: with rear of board exposed, place a dab of hot glue on the spacer then attach it to the board centering it over the desired hole. Repeat until all spacers are installed, then hang the board in the usual manner. Either version of USM Corporation's electric glue gun will work effectively at this job and many others around the house. The new professional model (No. 250) offers additional control-features such as trigger for glue flow and thermostat to temper glue heat. Interchangeable tips are an available extra. The "No. 250" sells for under twenty-five dollars, and comes packaged with 60 sticks of glue; the smaller pistol-shaped gun sells for around eight dollars and comes with four sticks of glue and three for caulking.

Automatic Humidifier Prevents Excessively Dry Air in Home

Excessive humidity causes all kinds of condensation problems in American homes, but there's a considerable segment of the population which has no worry on this score. Its big headache, sometimes literally as well as figuratively, is in the opposite direction—lack of humidity.

When there is insufficient moisture in the home, either because the heating system robs the air of its humidity or simply because of geographical location, things begin to happen. Nasal passages dry out, skin gets parched, furniture joints loosen and house plants droop. Excessively dry air is associated by medical experts with many ailments, since resistance to infection becomes low when mucous membranes dry out. Entirely aside from all these by-products of low humidity is the matter of comfort.

have you seen these newsmakers?

New "wonder" paint helps to save homes from deadly fire.

When things get hot, bubbles come up from the paint to insulate walls against fire — gain a few minutes that can be used to put the fire out or to escape from it.

Phosphorus formulations give ordinary smooth-flowing latex paints and solvent-type interior paints this fire-retardant characteristic. And even if walls painted with these special materials are washed again and again, they still afford valuable protection.

A humidification expert, Paul A. Herr, recently concluded studies showing that 68 degrees Fahrenheit is comfortable when the humidity is 50 per cent. To obtain the same comfort rating at 20 per cent relative humidity, the temperature must be 74 degrees.

One of the advantages of the modern type of humidifier is that it can maintain humidity automatically at a pre-set level, thus preventing one of the home problems of all, a rapid transition from high to low humidity.

The kind of humidifier needed will depend mainly on the amount of water that will have to be injected into the air to maintain the proper level of humidity during the driest periods. A contractor, after making a survey of heating and cooling needs, will recommend the type of unit required.

Baffle in Yard Gives Privacy

If a large picture window on the street side of your house endangers privacy, build a baffle in front of the window. When set closer to the house than to the street, you can use a pattern open enough to let you see out without others seeing in.

Sometimes a single baffle eight feet long will do the trick. If not, use three in an offset line, their ends overlapping two feet. For pattern, try a variation on the vertical board fence, alternating 1x4-inch boards with 1x2s set edge out. Leave a half-inch spacing between boards for an effect both airy and crisp.

NEW PRESSURIZED PAINT ROLLER you can rent. Give your walls a new look the easy way with this new roller. A harmless gas pressure forces the paint from the can through a plastic hose to the roller, eliminating dipping, stooping and dripping.

No Storage or Upkeep Worries When You Rent Tools for Big Home Improvement Projects

Easy-to-rent professional tools and equipment now make it possible for the family handyman or woman to do a better-than-average job of home improvement, and save money in the process.

While the word is getting around that it is possible to rent practically anything these days, from a champagne fountain to a wheel chair, it is not generally known that rental tools and equipment are of the professional variety in every sense of the word.

According to officials of A to Z Rental, Inc., which now has more than 500 rental centers open or in process of opening throughout the United States, many of the tools stocked for rental are the same as those obtainable only from professional suppliers.

Furniture and rug shampoos, for instance, are stronger and more effective than the weaker products found on supermarket shelves. Floor waxes are of the highest grade. These products are used in professional machines such as rug shampoos with 13- and 17-inch brushes, portable scrubbers that take the work out of cleaning upholstered furniture, and floor maintainers with both scrubbing and polishing attachments. These rent for an average of $3 to $6 a day.

These rental centers make it a point, too, to stock the newest type of equipment. In the decorating area, they now have a pressure paint roller that enables the do-it-yourselfer to roll on paint without dipping, stooping or dripping. The roller is constantly supplied with paint by means of harmless gas pressure, which forces the paint through a hose connecting the roller and the paint container.

It is, of course, possible to rent the entire range of carpenter, plumbing and mechanic's tools at nominal prices. Often not even considered by the householder, however, are the specialized tools used by the professionals for specific jobs.

Typical of these are: a power concrete trowel that, for about $10 a day, makes it possible to give a professional finish to a concrete slab for a cellar, patio or driveway in an hour or two; a nail gun for driving nails or studs through wood or composition into a concrete wall; and an electric screwdriver that can drive any number of screws to a pre-set tightness.

If the project is house painting, it is possible to rent a specialized siding sander for about $4 a day. This tool has guides that adjust to the siding width and desired sanding depth, and provides a smooth surface for the finish with a minimum of effort. Other essentials, such as ladders, hoses, paint guns and compressors, even paint pots, are available at low rental rates.

Aside from being a source for tools and equipment, A to Z Rental Centers have become centers of information for how-to-do-it advice. Satisfied renters provide information on their various projects to center owners. They in turn then pass it on to the uninitiated, and often come up with new uses that the highly skilled handyman can use as well.

Those cloudy streaks on dark polished furniture can be removed by wiping with a chamomile wrung out of cold water. Then polish with your usual furniture polish and the luster will be clear again.

GUESTROOM, SEWING ROOM, ETC., ALL IN ONE ROOM

Rooms can no longer afford to sit there—and do only one thing. Neither can furniture. As our personal share of the world's square footage dwindles, we have arrived at the age of multiple-function and dual-purpose.

Libraries, music rooms, sewing rooms, day nurseries and parlors sound like relics of a long-forgotten age to a generation who so often starts married life in one room and graduates to the bare essentials as the family grows. The extra room that had a specific function in large Victorian houses now has to pull its weight in usefulness and versatility, doubling often as a family room or to sleep a guest. For the family, make it a retreat where each member of the family can go for some relative peace, where a good book can be enjoyed without the distraction of television, where letters can be written, or homework done without interruption.

The multiplicity of today's "spare" room, furnished half for the family, half for the guest, is revealed in its decoration which should be a not-so-obvious accumulation of necessities such as a desk to spread out work or sewing, comfortable seating for relaxed reading, good lighting, shelves for books and a comfortable place to sleep.

If all this sounds like a lot of furniture for what is usually one of the smaller rooms in the house, remember that the walls can be put to work as well as the floor. Wall-hung furniture like the ingenious Royal System from Denmark provides shelves, storage cabinets, drawers and working surfaces all within the framework of the vertical space in the room. An amazing number of books, records, papers and clothes can be stored without taking up any floor space at all. That leaves plenty of room for the space-taking pieces needed for seating and sleeping, such as the new day beds that are really comfortable for both functions, as well as the streamlined new sleep sofas from manufacturers like Simmons and Barcelona.

THERE'S DECOR 'GOLD' IN FAMILY PHOTOGRAPHS

For years, modern furniture styles held the decorating world captive. But with the rise of eclecticism, homemakers from coast to coast are once more decorating with family heirlooms and treasured furnishings.

Eclectic decorating allows for a mixture of furnishing styles — Mediterranean and modern, English and Spanish, Louis XIV and Queen Anne. The one rule is that each piece must coordinate with the others so that the total effect is pleasing to the eye and meaningful to the home owner.

This decorating trend has brought with it an increasing popularity for decorating with portrait photographs and other family mementos. Most people have portraits taken to mark their great occasions — from births to graduations, weddings to career days. These professional photographs are too meaningful to let languish in a drawer or album.

Portrait photographs are more than decorating accessories. No one selects a particular portrait because the colors in it blend with those in the wallpaper. Photographs are chosen for display because of their intrinsic value. However, there are ways to accessorize any portrait so that it can become a decorative part of a room.

Where to Display Good photographs can look well in almost any place in the house. Traditionally, large portraits have been hung above the mantel in a living room. But, interior decorators today suggest hanging portrait photographs wherever there is enough well-lit space.

If the family collection of photographs yield several prints 11x14 or smaller, they can be grouped in one gallery display. One thing to remember in selecting a location for the photographs: make sure there is enough room for people to see the portraits.

Accessorizing the Portrait Whether color or black-and-white, any portrait can be accessorized to fit a room. Select mat colors and fabrics that "pull out" a particular color in the photograph; this same color should be one that goes with the room's decor, or black-and-white photo arrangements; colorful mats can liven the display.

Mats are available in a number of materials — from the traditional mat board to elegant velvets or the more imaginative upholstery fibers. The mat should be selected at the same time as the frame to ensure compatibility.

For large portraits chosen for solitary display, select a frame that has wide molding. For groupings, narrow moldings are better. The style of frame is largely dependent upon the room's furnishings. It may be elegantly carved to blend with a Louis XIV chair or to bring a striking contrast to the modern furniture.

To ensure an attractive portrait display, consult the local studio photographer who is an expert on framing professional pictures.

"NORM RADEMACHER"

If Home-Exterior Shows the "... Arrows of Adversity"

Time heals all wounds, or so we've been told. But as any home owner knows, time wounds wood siding with blisters, cracks, splits, curls, and other signs of aging. And sooner or later, if you want to maintain your home's appearance, you've got to find the time to care for the wounds that time has inflicted.

The prescription is normally in the form of a paint job, usually to be taken during your vacation. A bitter pill to swallow, indeed.

But now the "miracle drug" is here. The creative hand of modern research has combined several of nature's materials and vitally transformed them into a material which has the texture and beauty of wood without the maintenance problem of wood. The material: Stratelite mineral siding manufactured by the GAF Corporation.

This mineral siding shares the deep shadowline and attractive texture of wood, and until you actually touch it, you can't tell it from wood siding. Here the similarity ends, however, as time alone will tell the difference.

Stratelite siding doesn't need paint to maintain its beauty. Its coloring is factory-applied and permanently sealed into a baked acrylic surface where weather and time will not touch it. Thus, it can't blister or peel. The siding is available in eight different colors to complement any architectural style.

The new siding doesn't need paint to protect it. Because it is laminated in construction and stone-like in composition, it has unprecedented strength. It remains impervious to weather and time, and simply ignores blustery winds, snow, rain and hail. It's also completely rot-proof.

Yet with all its strength, the siding handles with the ease of wood. No special tools or skills are necessary for its application.

This siding doesn't deteriorate in time. It resists the warping, shrinking, splitting, and curling characteristics of aging wood. Beneath its beauty lies a practical performance as timeless and trouble-free as any material can be, including metal. And since it is non-metallic, the new siding can't dent, buckle or corrode. It also won't conduct electricity or echo the sounds of rain and hail.

Finally, while wood siding is a potential hazard, this new siding's mineral composition also makes it fire-resistant.

Thus, year after year, Stratelite siding's unique composition can stand up to all the elements, delivering a new freedom from expensive maintenance chores. Its manufacturers claim that, as time goes by, it far surpasses wood siding in beauty and performance, remaining as fresh and ageless as the day it was first installed, with no wounds to heal, anytime.

NOW GET BEHIND THE BOARD to locate and hold the washers in place while screws are being installed. Here is a "natural" for the glue gun, when mounting pegboard with spacer washers. Place a dab of hot glue on the spacer, then attach it to the board, centering it over the desired hole. Repeat until all spacers are installed, then hang the board. Model No. 250 electric glue gun comes with 60 sticks of glue; the smaller pistol-shaped gun comes with four sticks of glue and three for caulking. By USM Corporation.

Mrs. Robert Cebulski (Karla Mead) left Saturday morning from Metro Airport in Detroit to join her husband at Long Beach, Calif.

Easter Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Buck and Mike were Mrs. Buck's sister and husband Mr. and Mrs. Don Lunsted of Webberville, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mathews of Ovid, Marsha Buck, Joy Heminger and Dennis Gardner all of Great Lakes Bible College in Lansing.

Update that Bathroom! Enjoy More Convenience

Bathrooms rank high on the list of most wanted — and needed — home improvement projects. According to the trade publication, Building Supply News, 16.5 million bathrooms in the United States are badly out-moded, too small and inconvenient.

If cost is inhibiting your immediate plans for bathroom modernization, the editors remind you that the bathroom demands consideration because it can do so much to improve the home and increase the family's comfort. What's more, says the magazine, a wide variety of new plumbing fixtures, accessories and materials that are both decorative and utilitarian, allow you to choose features that will suit your budget as well as your taste.

The three major disadvantages of older bathrooms are lack of privacy, space and modern convenience features. The tendency toward larger families means that one bathroom per house is simply not enough. Most families require at least an additional powder room.

If you can't manage a second bathroom yet, there are some things you can do to make present quarters more serviceable, comfortable and attractive.

Compartmentalization is one solution to the daily bathroom traffic tie-up. It can be achieved by closing off the lavatory area from the rest of the room with a partition, thus permitting two people to use the bathroom at the same time. The room can also serve double-duty if you add a second sink or install a new double-lavatory unit.

Since the bathroom takes hard, daily abuse, it should have facilities, walls and floors that are easy to clean. This is no problem if you select the right materials. Plastic-coated wall paneling that resists heat and humidity is inexpensive, sponges clean, and gives the room a warm, unusually good-looking decor. Washable wallpaper that comes in a variety of colorful, attractive patterns is another practical way to re-verse the cold, antiseptic appearance of old-fashioned bathrooms. If you decide to paint, use a washable enamel finish and get away from the traditional white, pink or blue shades with interesting new combinations of browns, yellows or greens. In addition to floor tiles, there are now many vinyl flooring materials that offer beauty and low-maintenance.

New fixtures make a big difference in bathroom remodeling. Don't choose them hastily. Take a look at the wide variety available at local building supply dealers, many of whom feature full bathroom displays to give you sound and interesting remodeling ideas.

It pays to get good quality fixtures and facilities that can take daily use. The trend now is towards wall-hung toilets because it's easier to clean under and around them, built-in vanities, and round or oval lavatories with adjacent counter-top space. Colored fixtures are popular, and single-handle faucets get the nod because of their convenience.

There are also a host of accessories that will update your bathroom. These range from practical double medicine cabinets, which give you twice the storage space and mirror area, to pretty matched tissue holders and waste paper baskets. Where cost is no problem, bathrooms can go exotic with sunken tubs, water-resistant murals, and built-in sun lamps.

Re-Roofing? Don't Overlook Color & Design Potential

Planning to reroof this year? Remember that modern roofing materials offer advantages that didn't exist when the original roof was installed.

- Shingle styles and colors are more varied.
 - Roofing material is designed for longer wear and less maintenance.
 - Shingles have increased fire and wind resistance.
- As the single largest expense of the house, the roof has great color and design potential that shouldn't be ignored. Color-keyed roofing can individualize your home, set the mood for total house appearance, add dramatic visual impact, reflect the site and surroundings.

Asphalt shingles offer the widest range of colors, including black, white, pastels, blends, and new "earth" and "forest" shades. One of them is bound to suit your house style, color taste and particular location.

Color treatment of these shingles has also been improved, so shingle color is fade-resistant, and many "natural" shades, which blend perfectly with building products, have been developed.

Today's shingles also have greater durability than they used to. The biggest advance is, again, in asphalt shingles. The best grade shingles are now designed to last at least 25 years with no maintenance, almost twice as long as a standard quality roof.

To be certain you're getting a fire-resistant roof, make sure the shingles have a UL Class C rating. It means the material has been laboratory-tested for resistance to fire, flame spread and the burning brands, embers and sparks from other fire sources.

AVOID PITFALLS

Many people profit from their experiences—converting past failures into present successes.

Fixing Up Your Home?

Before painting over wallpaper, carefully paste all loose edges and torn sections into place. If a piece has been torn off and has been lost, use one or two layers of masking tape to make the surface level with the rest of the wall. But if there are several places like this, the entire wallpaper probably needs removal before painting the wall.

Ceramic tile should not be waxed. An occasional cleaning with a damp cloth and the passage of time will combine to produce a rich patina on its surface.

To coat ordinary nails and screws with aluminum paint to keep them from rusting, dump them into a container of the paint and then pour off the liquid into another receptacle.

Putting up studs which must be exactly the same distance apart? Cut a piece of wood the proper length and use it for the spacer instead of measuring each time.

It costs you nothing to stop and think, but it could be expensive if you don't.

INCLUDE QUIET COMFORT AS PART OF YOUR PLANNING

Are you happy with your home? Possibly you've been thinking about updating it or adding a room or two to gain needed space. If you're in the planning stage, be sure to analyze your product and consider how it will effect your overall living environment.

Especially if you're expanding your house or radically updating a kitchen, the bright, modern improvement could change the rest of the house to look older than its years. You should give some thought to refurbishing other parts of your home on a more modest scale.

Painting, wall papering, paneling and tile flooring all offer examples of easy ways to brighten and modernize the home. They also help soften the transition between existing and new areas.

One way of tying old and new together while enhancing your home's decor and your family's comfort is through use of acoustical ceilings. There are many styles on the market which will brighten any room and help cut down the noise level created by the television, stereo, children or the commotion of everyday active living.

Do you think your home is quiet? Stop and consider those occasions when late-hour adult social activities had to be toned down " . . . for fear of disturbing the youngsters' sleep." Or, how the current teen age craze in popular music lacks the charms to sooth the tired head of the family after a long work day.

Today's new acoustical ceilings can work wonders on the design side too. In addition to soaking up unwanted sound, they can be tailored to suit the specific needs of your room. The family room could be the ideal spot to combine an acoustical ceiling with exposed wood beams. Kitchens can be brightened and quieted with a combination acoustical-luminous ceiling to provide light over work areas while toning down the clutter of pots and pans.

A new concept in acoustical ceiling design introduced this year is a large-module panel that is four feet wide and available in lengths up to 16 feet.

Mood of Home Set By Entrance Foyer

The first impression of the inside of your home comes from the atmosphere of your entry or foyer. Is it warm and welcoming, graciously elegant, or coolly aloof? The foyer announces the decor of the home. Is it French Provincial or modern, Mediterranean or eclectic?

Since most entries are small in size, their planning is difficult, particularly because their emotional impact is great. A few carefully selected pieces of furniture, some prized possessions, a handsome painting or piece of sculpture, can set the mood for your entire home.

The home owner should plan his choice of lighting with great care, since a handsome chandelier or pendant demands no floor space, yet casts a hospitable glow over the entire entry, as well as illuminating the faces of visitors and guests. Lighting fixtures are now both massive and miniscule, scaled to varying rooms and needs. And the choice of styles ranges from shimmering crystal to traditional brass to wrought iron.

QUESTIONS TO CONSIDER

A tiny foyer with no floor area for furniture can be dramatic, if walls are white, carpeting or floor tile is white, and if one adds ceiling beams of polished wood, and displays an antique carved figure on a shelf directly opposite the door. You can light the entry with a wrought-iron lantern to complement the setting of the adjoining room—a book-lined Mediterranean study.

As you can plan the design of your entry, there are certain questions that must be considered:

- 1) What is the total "environmental theme" of your home?
- 2) What kind of lighting would most suit the setting?
- 3) What is the decor of the adjacent rooms visible from the foyer?
- 4) Is there floor space for furniture? If so, how much?
- 5) What kind of flooring—rugs, carpeting, or tile—would be most practical and appropriate?
- 6) How can your foyer be personalized? Do you have a prized collection of shells, an exotic piece of sculpture, or handsome prints or paintings which could be artfully framed and arranged?

COLOR IS VITAL

If your home has a "country look," accent this in the entry by covering the walls with a gay provincial fabric, wide wood paneling, or simulated brick tile or wallpaper. In this setting, color is important—either the cheerful sun colors, warm earth tones, or cooling shades of green or blue. A curving burnished brass or copper chandelier will add the glow of candlelight to your rustic setting, which might be furnished with an Early American chest or Hitchcock bench.

If your home is Louis XIV-inspired, paper the entry in a Versailles print wallpaper or mural, and set a delicately shaped white console opposite the door. Above the console, place a gilt-framed mirror, reflecting both your guests, and the glitter of a small crystal chandelier.

Chandeliers and wall fixtures used to be considered primarily for elaborate homes, and used chiefly in dining rooms as a decorative accent. This is no longer the case. Lighting has finally come into its own as an architectural tool. Its ability to create atmosphere, emphasize colors and fabrics, and add drama to any setting has been long overlooked by the average home owner and apartment dweller. Now, as consumers become more sophisticated and better-educated, they appreciate the beauty of light as a catalyst, and as a decorative object in itself.

VARY LIGHTING

Fixtures are now being used in apartments as well as modest residences, and hung in rooms which were never fixture-lit before, such as entries, bedrooms, baths, and breakfast nooks. Part of this growth is due to the wide variety of styles and sizes, appropriate to any decor.

Lighting should be varied throughout the home: brightly welcoming in the entry, softer in a study but with pools of "task lighting" for reading, and adjustable in a living or dining room—where the light should vary, through dimmers, from gay intensity to quiet intimacy, for relaxing conversation. We respond to light more than we realize, and can feel happy or depressed because of it. This is why your entry lighting is so important. It is the initial greeting of your home to your guests, and should be a cheerful one, expressing welcome.

Consider other aspects of your entry decor as well. In furniture, the classic choice is a chest or console, flanked by side chairs, with a mirror above. This offers guests (and your family) a place to set hats and gloves, to take "one last look," with a chair for waiting.

However, entries come in all sizes, and some may require additional furniture for a completed look. This might include a desk, bench, small loveseat, grandfather or grandmother clock, as well as bookcases. If your entry is of sufficient size, consider other ways in which it could be utilized for family use—such as a den, dining area, or study. As living space in most homes and apartments becomes smaller and more precious, the uses of rooms should be diversified.

SPOTLIGHT PAINTINGS

With this in mind, consider the floor in your entry. A tile or vinyl flooring is often the most practical, since they are easily cleaned, and now come in many designs. If your home is colonial, hooked rugs are charming, versatile in size, and easily cleaned. For a French Provincial home, a floor of brick, stone or slate is appropriate. Carpeting should be

New Booklet Puts Down Household Hang-Ups

It's the little things that can go wrong around the house that make you wonder if man's home really is his castle.

When a blender balks and the hollandaise separates, the joy goes out of cooking. Nothing turns blue skies to gray faster than an outdoor grill that refuses to be raised and lowered or an erratic rosette attachment that turns only when the mood strikes. And what transforms simple household repair jobs into hard labor quicker than a wrestling match with stubborn jar lids and glue caps?

These, and a host of additional household harrassments, can be easily remedied, however. All it takes is a few dabs of that combination lubricant, surface protector, rust retarder, and invisible household handyman, "Vaseline" Petroleum Jelly.

Just a small amount in the right places will have those blender gears meshing again in no time. A spotlight focused properly on a painting will bring out colors and brushstrokes that would otherwise be lost. And recessed lights in a niche or cabinet will display your collection effectively—drawing attention, and emphasizing details that would not stand out under ordinary light. Properly-lit sculpture will have texture and depth of design never visible before.

Mouldings Foil To Rough Wall

Don't be afraid to combine smooth-surfaced wood mouldings with the now-popular rough-sawn sidings for interior feature walls.

Pleasing effects are easily achieved by using base or ceiling mouldings, chair rails or panel types, which are available at lumber yards.

Mouldings may be stained or painted the same color as the wall, or made more dramatic in other colors.

New Rug Fibers, Materials Present New Maintenance Problems . . . Here's Answer

"It's Beautiful . . . but how do I clean it?" This is the question asked daily by America's housewives as they view the dazzling variety of new fibers and materials available today for home furnishings.

A revolution in the home furnishings industry has brought materials such as plexiglass, synthetic carpet fibers in varying pile heights, real furs and stainless steel out of the realm of avant garde and into the homes of millions of American families.

But each new advancement brings with it special cleaning and maintenance challenges for homemakers.

So now, more than ever before, a modern housewife's best friend — and most valuable appliance — should be her vacuum cleaner.

Designed to meet new cleaning challenges, vacuums spend as much time cleaning above the floor as they do preserving the beauty and life of floor coverings.

A unique sliding control located on the hood of Eureka uprights allows adjustment of the height of the vacuum brush and front wheels to clean any one of the new height carpet piles or new carpet textures from flat weave indoor/outdoor carpets to inches high shag rugs. It will adjust to hard wood and tile floors too.

Cleaning attachments available with Eureka canisters go anywhere the dust is to preserve the beauty of new furnishings. The soft dusting brush is ideal for keeping plexiglass, glass substitutes and dust-free without marring their surfaces. Dustcloths will not pick up all the dirt that accumulates, and they tend to smear shiny surfaces.

An upholstery brush works wonders on fur, velvet or suede pillows and chairs by gently removing dust and renewing the nap on these surfaces.

If properly used, new vacuums can perform more than 50 cleaning chores that will meet all of today's cleaning challenges . . . and any that might arise in the future.

because of its flattering power of light refraction. Mix it with orange and yellow for a modern mood, with white or lavender for a pale romantic feeling. Lace trimmed finger tip towels and paisley bath sheets combine well with a Persian print bedspread.

tips on building patio, fireplace

Probably no home-improvement project has such wide appeal as installing an outdoor patio. It can add much to family (and guests') pleasure during the pleasant outdoorsy months.

The handyman householder or professional has the choice of many building materials.

Slender concrete patio block is available in sizes and colors that lend themselves to many pattern combinations. A mixture of sizes achieve a flagstone effect, while units in different colors create a checkerboard pattern.

In installing a patio, its boundaries on edge around the patio are marked off and the soil is excavated to a depth that will accommodate a 2-inch layer of sand with the concrete blocks laid on top.

With patios abutting the house, a slope of about 1 inch per 16 feet will assure proper rain run-off. Some installers lay blocks on edge around the patio boundaries before leveling off the sand and laying the blocks in a preplanned pattern, starting from one corner. When finished, loose sand is sprinkled over the surface and swept into the cracks.

Deck Gains Verve From Fancy Edges

A decorative edge treatment can give a real lift. For example, when deck boards are Douglas fir 2x4s laid flat, a 2x8 plank can be laid around the perimeter of the deck to make a border. It's simple, but effective.

Or cut every other deck board six inches longer than those in between to make a crisp, jogged edge pattern. Another idea calls for building an ankle-high "rail" with scraps of 2x4 and 4x4 lumber.

THE CARPET REVOLUTION. Squares of 48 different colors and types of carpets, from flat needlefelt outdoor numbers to inches-high shag rugs, have been bonded together into a beautiful 6' x 8' area rug to show the tremendous variety in carpet textures, fibers, patterns and pile heights being manufactured today. The unique carpet was created by a floor-care manufacturer to demonstrate the new "Regulator" upright vacuum cleaner that adjusts simply to clean all 48 types of carpet. Vacuum cleaner by Eureka.

Here's Smooth Way to Varnish

Is there a varnishing project on the agenda? For the smooth, bubble-free finish that sometimes seems so difficult to achieve, try this simple procedure:

Use a soft bristle brush of good quality. Grip the brush by the ferrule, allowing the handle to rest between thumb and forefinger.

Dip the brush in the varnish, to no more than one-third of the length of the bristles.

FASHION-COLORS ON EXTERIORS

Homeowners are increasingly turning to color for the exteriors of their homes, according to the Exterior Decorators Institute of the Aluminum Association.

White is still in first place but light greens, beige, light gray, yellow and coral are growing in popularity. Charcoal and dark reds and greens trail in a recent survey conducted among leading manufacturers of low maintenance aluminum siding by the Exterior Decorators Institute.

THE HEAT PUMP

What is it?

The Heat Pump is an efficient Home Heating and Air Conditioning System...one system that can heat your home in cold weather then automatically reverse itself and cool your home in hot weather. It consists of one indoor unit (looks like a present home heating unit), one outdoor unit and a thermostat. All you do is sit back and enjoy the climate. Actually its workings are quite similar to your electric refrigerator...back of the refrigerator gets very warm. Now, if this removed heat were distributed through a series of ducts, you have—in essence—a Heat Pump!

What's in it for you

- ...House cleaning is substantially reduced when windows remain closed...you keep rain, pollen, noise, dirt and prowlers outdoors.
- ...Be comfortable...the humidity is liked.
- ...Gone is the constant summer parade to the refrigerator for soft drinks.
- ...Summer rashes such as prickly heat or baby's diaper rash will be a thing of the past...everybody stays cool, dry and comfortable.
- ...A steady supply of warm air even on the coldest days—no hot blasts or chilly drafts.
- ...No seasonal startup problems.

Home Efficiency Starts with Home Manager

The average housewife spends one year out of every four working in the kitchen . . . and then there are the bedrooms, bathrooms, living room and den!

Don't be average! Here are some tips suggested by Cooper Laboratories, a human health research organization, on how you can save time, feel fresher and look better from dawn to dusk.

Try a weekly schedule. With everything down in black and white, the family can see better what must be done. Also, work can be divided more evenly among the days of the week.

Have pocket, will travel. Use an apron with big pockets when cleaning house. Collect out-of-place odds and ends (keys, pins, combs, letters) till you walk past where they belong. And, tote a large paper shopping bag for emptying ashtrays and waste-baskets.

Sit while working, when possible. Standing takes 15 per cent more energy than sitting.

Don't make a mountain out of a little pile of dirt. A recent study notes that a 9 x 12 rug absorbs about three pounds of dirt each year and each pound of dirt contains about 1,363,000,000 germs which can affect the health and efficiency of all members of the family. So make a fast, clean sweep of daily dirt on rugs, carpets and your floor, and grime won't build up.

Take a break after cleaning a large room or two small ones. During your coffee break, get in the habit of cleansing your hands and face to get rid of dust and grime - two enemies of good looks. Backing up the old wives' remedy of using oatmeal in cleansing bars, many physicians today recommend a non-prescription medication like Emulave, a gentle, soothing soap-free cleanser based on colloidal oatmeal for problem skin.

Watch out for ear pollution. Findings of a recent series of tests show that working with a radio blaring can take up to 60 percent more energy.

Who says a dainty and glowing creature like you has to over-exert herself against dust and soil? A balanced approach to home cleaning leaves you with plenty of time for a luxury bath.

Are you wasting space in your kitchen by having the shelves too far apart? If so, either take them out and re-distance them, or add one in between shelves as they are now. You will find that a narrow shelf for cans of spice and seasoning built in just underneath the cupboard above the work table will be a great convenience. Make it just the width of the cans. One layer of space for cans is the best as far as quick use is concerned, and does not interfere with the working space. Extra table space can be provided in the kitchen by having a hinged shelf on one wall, or drop leaf attached to the kitchen table.

A Favorite Household Aide Can Renew Furniture's 'Complexion'

Only antique furniture is granted the privilege of looking its age . . . and it has to be a hundred years old or better to qualify. So if any of your furniture, particularly that of recent vintage, is getting to look antique-y . . . it's time to restore its youth.

Tables, most vulnerable to wear and tear, seem to age the fastest. Usually finished, as is most wood furniture, with varnish, lacquer, or sometimes shellac and sanded to a high polish, they're prone to scratches, alcohol stains, heat marks and bloom (a gray, discoloration), or the affliction may be nothing more serious than a build-up of old furniture wax that has turned dark and splatchy.

Unupholstered chairs come second in terms of aging. Here you have a different set of problems. Tops, whose chairs are grasped to be pulled away from the table, disolor. Legs and rungs get scuffed, particularly when there are youngsters in the house who like to either swing their feet as they sit so that heels hit the rungs or wrap their feet round the legs.

New while professional restoring is costly, the do-it-yourself variety calls for little more than an expenditure of your time. It's time you won't begrudge when the job is done and you see the results and count your savings.

The most tedious and time-consuming part of the operation is removing the old finish. While most amateurs associate this step with special hardware store-bought products, the professional restorers who work on fine old pieces prefer the common household cleaner, sal soda concentrated, which you find in the laundry supply section of your local grocery store. This offers some distinct advantages to the do-it-yourselfer. Since it's odorless you don't have to work outdoors or in large airy, probably chilly quarters as a precaution against toxic fumes. It's far less hard on your hands and you'll need . . . you simply pour sal into hot water . . . is determined by the malady. For a simple case of wax build-up, three tablespoons of the sal to the quart of water sponged over the surface, rinsed with fresh water and wiped dry is the prescribed cure. For varnish, lacquer or shellac, use a cup of the sal to the quart of water and apply the solution to a small area at a time with medium steel wool. Rinse, wipe dry. Run over the surface with fine sandpaper. Wrap the sandpaper around a block of wood for tables, and around a hard, dry cellulose sponge for chairs. The sponge has just enough give to let sandpaper dig into the rounded and fluted areas. Work on chairs on a newspaper-covered table to eliminate back-bending. Since you'll be in a comfortable position, you'll do a better job.

As for the best type of finish to use, consult your hardware dealer from whom you buy it. Just be sure the wood is completely dry before you apply it.

SPRAY PAINTING
To get the smoothest possible finish with a spray paint the home handyman should avoid holding the spray can too close to the work surface. Hold it at least eight inches away and keep it moving steadily. It should be remembered that two light coats will always cover better than one heavy one. In addition, there will be much less likelihood of dripping or running because too much was applied.

Service in Depth
Two-thousand feet below the surface at the International Nickel's Creighton mine in the Sudbury District of Ontario, a fully equipped garage has been built to service diesel-powered mining equipment. A grease job, oil change, tires and parts replacement can be performed.

FIND SOLUTION
Face life's problems honestly - learn what's wrong and what you can do to improve them.

NECESSITY IS . . . the mother of decorative ingenuity. Where lack of space or special wiring prevents having a dryer, a corner of a bedroom, dining room or living room can be converted into an attractive, useful niche. This dryer holds about half a standard size dryer load, operates from any adequately wired 115-volt outlet and doesn't require venting. . . The Porta-Dryer by Maytag.

THIS DRYER COMPLEMENTS YOUR SPACE PROGRAM

Have you given up the idea of having a clothes dryer because you don't own a home or don't have one with lots of space and special wiring?

Well, here's a happy solution that need not take up any appreciable wall space, and needs no special installation.

All you need for a compact dryer by Maytag is a little floor space in the corner of a room, with an adequately wired 115-volt outlet nearby. Surround it with a 3-panel folding screen and you add a special decorative note, as well as create a niche that will save you countless hours of ironing. It puts an end to make-do bathroom clotheslines, too!

Folding screens are available to blend with any style decor or you can select a plain one and decorate one or both sides, as your whimsy dictates. If there isn't any outlet nearby, the dryer moves easily on optionally available casters to any convenient location.

The Porta-Dryer operates just like a regular dryer, accommodating about half as large a load. It measures 24 inches wide, 15 inches deep and stands about 30 inches high when fitted with casters. It is available in the currently popular appliance colors, as well as white. If desired, it can be set on or under a counter, hung on a wall or stored in a closet. No venting required.

Now It's Easier To Wallpaper

One of the quickest ways to "remodel" a room is with new wallpapers.

Colorful wallpaper can help complete room remodeling projects in decorative fashion, or, where the budget does not permit a structural change-over, skillful use of color and pattern in wallpaper will "remodel" a room's appearance.

For the do-it-yourselfer, innovations in wallpaper serve to make life much easier.

Factory pasted and trimmed papers speed up the job of hanging, and those not pre-trimmed need little work to be made ready.

Plastic coated paper is fast becoming a favorite. The coating seals in color, and makes spot cleaning easy.

Yet another innovation is removable wallpaper. Special lining goes between paper and wall.

Alakazam, The Great Illusionists! See What's Done with Mirrors!

Mirrors can make magic in every room of a home. They bring light and air into a small room, widen a narrow, high-ceilinged room, or raise the center of interest in a predominantly low room. Today, there are sizes and styles of framed mirrors to suit any decorating need, according to the Picture and Frame Institute.

An arrangement of framed mirrors is a particularly imaginative way to add new dimensions to a room, the Institute points out. A collection of framed mirrors, hung like a wall arrangement of pictures might be, creates a strikingly different mood from that of a single mirror.

A pair of identical mirrors might serve as the focal point of an arrangement or perhaps a single large mirror can occupy the center. Mirrors in a variety of sizes and shapes, all with different frames and surrounding the center of interest, create a potpourri of light and color.

Mirrors can be both functional and decorative. The next best thing to a second window is a handsome mirror opposite the only window in the room. A framed mirror in the bathroom dresses up that area as almost no other wall accessory can, and the addition of a framed mirror to the kitchen not only provides a place for appearance checks when the door bell rings, but becomes an unusual decorator touch.

Whenever mirrors are used, they reflect the light bright image of decorating magic.

Flush Garbage Down the Drain With Disposers

Why do so many all-electric kitchens look and smell cleaner and fresher than old-fashioned kitchens? In those lucky enough to boast an electric garbage-disposer, one reason may be the total absence of odor-producing food waste!

Not only does the electric disposer eliminate food waste left from meals - it takes peelings, rinds, carrot tops, etc. With a cutting-board next to the sink, you simply sweep them right into the disposer, as you work. It saves time, as well as mess!

In many areas, an electric garbage disposer will be found already installed in total-electric Gold Medallion Homes. A few cities actually require this appliance in all new homes.

An electric garbage disposer goes under the sink, where it is connected to the plumbing line

House May Need Washing

A house that appears in need of a coat of paint may require nothing more than a good washing.

The phrase "nothing more than" may be deceptive, however, because washing down a house can be just as much work as painting it. But tests have demonstrated that too-frequent painting of the exterior of a house - such as every year - can cause just as much trouble as a coat of paint. A cleaning can give a fresh look to a home when its dingy appearance is due to dirt rather than to a worn surface.

Wood siding is cleaned very much as an interior plaster wall is cleaned; with soap and water or with a mild detergent. The rubbing should be done with a clean cloth and a fairly light touch. All traces of soap or detergent must be rinsed off.

Stucco also can be cleaned successfully, except that it is necessary to use a wire or fiber brush instead of a cloth. While repeated cleanings in this manner might harm the stucco finish, one or two washings will not do so.

There is one case where washing down a house is relatively simple: when the house is covered with surface dust rather than dirt that is clinging stubbornly. In that event, the dust can be rinsed off with water from a garden hose.

Will Remodeling Add to Value?

Although many home owners have found that household improvements protect and extend the long-term value of their property, such projects don't always achieve that effect.

Some improvements tend to increase the value of a home more than others. Adding a third bedroom to a two-bedroom house surely enhances the worth of the structure. But adding a sixth bedroom to a five-bedroom house might very well contribute less value to the property than the cost of the addition.

Similarly, improvements made to accommodate unusual taste or unique family circumstances may be of no advantage at all when the time comes to sell. In fact, remodeling projects that reflect highly individualized personal preferences can, in many instances, actually detract from the value of the property.

Contractors who specialize in remodeling point out that converting an untidy, catch-all basement into a family entertainment center is one of the soundest home-improvement investments any family can make.

SPACE IS MONEY
But investigate before you invest in order to be sure that all of your basement space works for you. Mistakes can be costly, and one of the most expensive errors a homeowner can make is to maintain a massive, outdated heating unit in his basement. The space that an old-fashioned, bulky furnace or boiler squanders can be measured in dollars and cents, since space is money.

Some modern boilers and furnaces are exceptionally compact. Many gas units are no bigger than a two or three-drawer filing cabinet. And they needn't be confined to the basement, but can be installed in a closet, kitchen, alcove, attic or laundry room—almost any inconspicuous place. Thus, the entire basement can be devoted to recreation or entertainment facilities for whole-family use.

It is important to decide exactly what you are trying to accomplish. Make a list of the things you want done, and be sure that your ideas are workable. Check building codes and other restrictions, and find out if your home's construction will permit the changes.

AVOID CONTRACT PRESSURE
Next, draw a simple floor plan on graph paper, sketch your furniture in scale and clip out those pieces. As you make your layout keep in mind open traffic areas, a center of interest, conversation groupings, storage space and adequate lighting.

If you are having the job done professionally, be sure that your contractor is qualified by inquiring about other jobs he has done. Check the results with some of his former customers.

A dime invested in a telephone call could save you hundreds of dollars. Be wary of the itinerant remodeler. If you can't locate his company, future adjustments will be your responsibility. And be leery of the man who pressures you to sign a contract by saying, "If you sign tonight we'll start the job tomorrow." Skilled contractors usually are busy contractors, and they complete their projects in the order that they accept them.

FLOATING TONES OF BRANGE, yellow, white, green, chartreuse on a wet-look black background... "Kooky" a new approach to wall-coverings from the Bravo collection. Other versions with other great colors are available. Beautiful way to turn on your kitchen and bring together related areas, beautifully... by United-DeSoto.

Wallcoverings Lend Continuity Plus Smart, Distinctive Decor

A touch of yesterday and today... that's the way to keep your kitchen appearing contemporary.

According to a wallcoverings manufacturer many interior designers believe a kitchen should have a cozy, old fashioned look but it doesn't have to be old fashioned. On the other hand, the completely modern kitchen doesn't necessarily have to appear sterile.

Kitchens should borrow ideas from both schools of decorating to arrive at their own individual look. The firm, United-DeSoto, Chicago, has many suggestions to aid the home-maker.

For instance, in a glass and concrete contemporary apartment building, many designers prefer to introduce the "farm house look" with dark wood tones, hanging copper utensils, touches of gingham blue and white tiles.

In a Danish modern kitchen with cook top island counter and double ovens, homey touches such as hanging cookware, utensils, fruits and canisters, provide a "gourmet" feeling to relieve the starkness of stainless steel and functional appliances.

One of the easiest ways to provide atmosphere for your kitchen is with the new, washable wallcoverings. Name the mood, and the new wallcovering collections by United-DeSoto are ready to fill any bill of fare. Choose from bright patterns of gourmet recipes, fruits, vegetables and herbs. Or take a flyer with startling geometrics, stripes, polka dots, ticking or hounds-tooth checks.

The new wallcoverings are prepared for easy installation by the novice. Your wallcovering dealer will provide a water-box which quickly moistens the strips before fixing them to the wall.

These wallcoverings also are stripable so they can be removed easily when a change is desired.

Ventilating Is Important In Kitchen, Bath, Laundry

Time was when a kitchen ventilating fan was used only during the summer, to help keep the kitchen cool. In modern, total-electric homes, however, it serves other very important purposes—odor and moisture control.

Total-electric homes are tightly constructed. That is, they are exceptionally well-insulated, and special attention is given to minimizing "heat loss" around windows and doors. As a result, it's important to provide some means of forced ventilation, to get rid of air-borne moisture—especially in kitchens, laundry areas and bathrooms.

For this reason, one of the minimum requirements for the Gold Medallion Award is "an exhaust fan in each kitchen or kitchenette... suitably vented..."

Eavesdrop

Our verb "eavesdrop" comes from the Anglo-Saxon custom of building thatched roofs well out from the walls so that dripping water from the roofs would not splash close to the building itself. Persons seeking shelter from the rain would get in under the extending eaves, close to the doors or windows as if to listen to what was being said indoors. In time the term came to mean "to listen secretly, to overhear intentionally."

Household Hints

When buying a new can of paint, do not open it to stir, but set it upside down and leave for several days. It will have mixed itself and be ready for use when opened.

If a door squeaks when it is opened or closed, take a small piece of black lead (even a stout lead pencil will do) and rub the hinges with this. The squeaking noise will disappear.

In many cases, the fan will be built into a ventilating hood, mounted directly over the electric range, where it will pick up cooking odors and steam before they can permeate the air.

Some ventilating hoods are equipped with lights, to illuminate the surface beneath. Others are an integral part of the range itself, and contain the push buttons which control surface units. All are attractive as well as efficient.

In bathrooms and laundry areas, electric ventilating fans usually are built into the wall, and vented to the outside. They are unobtrusive, and might easily be missed if you aren't looking for them. But they do a mighty important job of eliminating unwanted moisture before it can cause costly damage.

LITERARY CLUB MEETS

Noreen Murphy, woman's Argus Press, was guest speaker at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Woman's Literary Club at the home of Mrs. Leslie Sturgis. She was introduced by Mrs. G. W. Bennett.

Mrs. Murphy related the excitement of work on a newspaper and pointed out that news papers are people, and that women are a "natural" for newspaper work and journalism.

Jefferson's statement: "Our liberty depends on the freedom of the press, and that cannot be limited without being lost," was a fitting introduction to the program.

WORTHY OF A DOGE'S PALACE. Make your bathroom a beautiful place to be in and make sure of a beautiful complexion by regularly using antibacterial soap... such as Safeguard.

Beauty in the Bathroom Is More than Skin-Deep!

Bathrooms have certainly come a long way since the Greeks and Romans perfected the bathing ritual about 2,000 years ago. Yet even today, bathrooms all too often are drab, cold and uninviting. There's really no excuse why the bathroom shouldn't be a haven for relaxing, dreaming and, most important, a place where you can pamper yourself with "delicious" beauty routines.

The bathroom has become the most talked-about room in the home. There are innovations that can change the pattern of your entire life! You can buy baths and basins in almost any shade of the rainbow; toilet seats decorated with brightly colored flowers, and you can cover the walls with tiles from mosaic to modern art. You can relax in a whirlpool bath, or soak in the bubbles while man-curing or reading with a fold-down tray that hides all the accoutrements of a true bathing center.

French couturiers have been called upon to design such exciting goodies as see-through shower curtains and space-age looking towels and bathrugs. In keeping with the trend you can fill your bathroom with gadgets like electric toothbrushes, lighted make-up mirrors, instant hairsetters and facial saunas. The cosmetic counters overflow with wonders for washing and bathing—from scented bubble beads to tempting talcs.

But there's one basic necessity that no well-dressed bathroom can be without—soap! Nowadays, with such a wide range of toilet soaps to choose from, it's often difficult to know which one to buy.

Every member of the family needs a soap that is best for his or her particular needs. The solution is available in the form of an antibacterial and deodorant soap. Safeguard, one of the newest of these soaps, has a unique combination of antibacterial ingredients which will thoroughly cleanse the skin, yet help keep it soft and pretty. It will also help reduce the likelihood of externally caused blemishes (perfect for teenage complexions) and it's also an effective deodorant. Lightly perfumed, Safeguard is mild and has a soft creamy lather; comes in complexion and bath size.

As a rule the fellow who is in a position to do as he pleases never knows what to do.

Atrium - Style Living Provides Outdoor Beauty With Privacy

Whoever first said, "When in Rome, do as the Romans do," gave the home builder or remodeler a pretty good idea.

But today's smart planner goes no further than his home's site to "do his thing" Roman-style.

The atrium — an open-air, central court which Romans built in their houses — is becoming increasingly popular in modern homes, particularly those on small confining lots in crowded neighborhoods.

Atrium-type homes have the living area built completely around a landscaped patio, explained Ralph J. Sherwin, Libbey-Owens-Ford Company's chief of architectural design.

"THE ARRANGEMENT enables the home to open onto a secluded 'privacy zone' shielded from nearby homes and the busy street. Within this courtyard, the view can be as natural and colorful as the home owner wants it. There's no chance future construction on neighboring sites will spoil the scenery," Mr. Sherwin said.

Such architectural design works to greatest advantage when the court is completely enclosed on all four sides, allowing greater shelter from crosswinds and closer supervision of children at play. However, the atrium's basic benefits, privacy and a controlled view, can be achieved without major remodeling of the home itself.

"To shield an outdoor plot and block out adjoining property, consider a privacy fence, as well as trees and shrubs of the size and type providing cover during all seasons," Mr. Sherwin suggested.

A PRIVACY fence around an outdoor patio or pool will enclose the space and function as a wind screen. Carefully selected trees and bushes, planted along the site's border, can isolate a backyard from adjacent alleys and buildings. Depending on the situation, fencing or shrubs, or both, can be combined with sides of the house to form the four sides of a modified atrium.

"Whether planning a true atrium, or other type of courtyard or patio, thinking in terms of both the house and the outdoors is important for maximum enjoyment of your efforts," Mr. Sherwin emphasized.

THE HOUSE should be oriented toward this special outdoor space, with the majority of rooms facing the tailor-made view. Large glass areas, ranging from fixed picture windows to sliding glass doors, allow the atrium to be enjoyed no matter what the weather, and make the adjoining interior seem bigger and more cheerful.

Tuf-flex tempered safety glass doors make the courtyard readily accessible to the rest of the house. Such sliding doors let it function as an outdoor cooking, lounging and entertaining space just a step away from the kitchen or living room.

"Landscaping the atrium with the indoors in mind also is important," according to Mr. Sherwin.

THINK HOW the flowers and shrubs will look from inside the home, as well as from the courtyard itself. Plan them so they will be away from the house, and visible from the windows. Don't let them block either the path to and from the sliding doors, or the views from the windows. Choose shrubs and plants which bloom at different times, so that the area will provide color from spring to fall.

"With such easy steps, the atrium—or a version of it—can be one of the home's most popular features, and give a house on a confining site a beauty not possible with any other scheme," the L-O-F designer concluded.

THE ROMAN-STYLE ATRIUM, an open-air courtyard built inside a home, is becoming increasingly popular for residences on small lots or in crowded neighborhoods. Living space is oriented inward to private natural beauty tailored to the owners' taste. Window walls of Thermopane insulating glass enable the interior courtyard to be enjoyed whether indoors or outdoors. A refreshing view is provided, no matter what the season.

A REFRESHING PRIVATE COURTYARD is provided in this residence by using a privacy fence and large shade trees to block out adjoining property. The kitchen and outdoor entertaining area are just a step apart and seem like a single unit, thanks to a "see-through" wall and sliding door of Libbey-Owens-Ford glass. Note how plantings are spaced away from the house, so they can be enjoyed both indoors and outdoors and do not block kitchen-to-patio passageways.

Yard Storage Readily Erected

Small tool house in garden will take clutter out of garage or back porch—and the home handyman can build one readily with basic materials, lumber, plywood and shingles, stock wood window and doors. Arbor for sun-filtering vines ties unit closely to garden. For plan and materials list, send 15 cents to: H-I Tool House, 700 Yeon Bldg., Portland, Ore. 97204.

Blitz That Gardening Clutter; Build Tidy Tool House For It

Just the thing to do away with that clutter of flower pots and garden tools around the back door or in the garage is a tool house set toward the rear of the lot.

Building one can be a highly satisfying project for the inexperienced do-it-yourselfer, because its appearance won't suffer greatly from a little mediocre workmanship here and there. And the instant convenience produced by the tool house will make any weekend carpenter proud.

Don't worry about trying to match the tool house exterior to that of the home. Usually, it can be treated as strictly a garden structure. With planting beds added around it, the tool house relates strongly to the garden scene, and will look more permanent, less shed-like.

on all sides helps protect the structure.

Siding for the garden house can be one or a mixture of wood products, such as rough-sawn plywood or lumber, or the newly-popular cedar shingles.

The entire unit can be stained or left to weather naturally. Either assures minimum maintenance, but, if stain is used, it should be the semi-transparent type labeled "exterior grade." Letting the structure weather eliminates finishing costs and, in appearance, is simply great with plantings.

Larger Size Better

A 6x8-foot size is the minimum for storage, and might be the easiest to roof with plywood panels. But an 8x8-footer will serve and look much better, even allowing space for a small workbench. The bench should have a window for light, and a stock wood unit will blend best with the wood siding.

In the larger size, the tool house also becomes a prime stashing spot for deck furniture in winter, and for snow tires and the like in summer.

Plans and materials list for an 8x8-foot storage unit as described may be obtained by sending 15 cents to: H-I Tool House, 700 Yeon Bldg., Portland, Ore. 97204.

Arbor Aids Appearance

A flat roof is easiest to build. But the boxy appearance can be minimized by extending the roof joists forward to form an arbor for climbers like wisteria or clematis.

Roof joists need be no larger than 2x4s. Posts and crossbeam supporting the arbor should be 4x4s. Extending the roof surface to form a 12-inch-deep overhang

Roof-Angle Unit Yields Storage

When adding closet space in a remodeled attic against a wall that parallels a steeply pitched roof, only a unit built on the spot will use the angular space efficiently. But it won't be hard to build.

All you need is a few panels of plywood, some lumber, hardware and finishing materials, and a few hours. One available design includes a wardrobe closet, bookcase, hinged desk and cabinets galore.

A plan with full details for this under-eave storage unit may be obtained from Dept. H-I, American Plywood Assn., 1119 A St., Tacoma, Wash. 98401. Ask for Plan 50-120 and enclose ten cents.

Fancy Shingle Aids Victorian Revival

A Renaissance in cedar—that's what the resurgence of the fancy-but red cedar shingle can be called.

Popular at the turn of this century for gingerbread additions to gable ends and upper stories of Victorian-style homes, the fancy butt has come back as a forceful adornment to new buildings and homes, inside and out.

Now made in uniform five-inch widths, the designs are made by bandsaw, using template patterns in such forms as diamond, acorn, cove, sawtooth, hexagon and fish scale.

New Door Cures Entry Doldrums

Are you tired of your dull old front door? You can change its whole personality by simply replacing it with a new entrance.

Complete stock units made of ponderosa pine are available from lumber dealers. These units include a panel door with sidelights, fanlights, overhead pediments or other decorative features of your choice.

They come in a variety of beautiful styles, from colonial to contemporary, and sizes to fit almost any entrance. Double-door entries, with a variety of panel door effects, give twice the dramatic impact.

Shingles Sturdy

A well-laid red cedar shingle roof can withstand hurricane force winds, which often reach gusts of 120 miles an hour. The University of Wichita's wind tunnel tested a shingle roof up to 136 miles an hour without dislodging it.

COMPLETE BUILDERS' SERVICE

A TRADITIONAL HEART AND FLOWER motif complements this modern kitchen, creating a warm and pleasant atmosphere for the home manager. With an artful blend of past and present, the bordered towels combine convenience with an old-fashioned border design. Repeating the wallpaper motif is the delicate pattern of the facial tissues, Lady Scott tissues and Scot Towels.

SAY DECEIVER. Who would think this fashion-colored carpeting would be able to retard and even hide dirt! The subtle hobnail texture is ideal in traffic areas such as kitchens, playrooms, hallways; has unusual resistance to soil, stains, atmospheric residue. In 18 high fashion combinations, each a blend of three colors. Karastan's new "Fabrique" carpet with a thick, multi-level loop texture that's wonderful under-foot... fashioned of Anso nylon by Allied Chemical Corporation.

SOCIABLE KITCHEN PLANNED FOR ACTION

The kitchen is the hub of the house today as much as it was in times past. People want to be where the action is, so they gather in the kitchen. This calls for a plan that integrates convenience and comfort, that incorporates various family activities. Since everyone winds up in the kitchen anyway, why not enjoy it?

A sociable kitchen is planned for activity. There is space for hobbies such as "reading" and flower arranging, for menu planning and making out market orders, as well as for food preparation, storage and cleaning. It should be warm, pleasant and uniquely you!

To set such a scene, color and pattern are your greatest allies, inspiring a completely new scheme or the small but intriguing touches that give any room a new exciting look.

When color and pattern are cleverly used, the strictly utilitarian kitchen suddenly becomes cheery and warm. Traditional American colors and patterns take to this kitchen. The Scott Consumer Home Service Center suggests a blue and pink heart and flower motif from the past which would be quite at home in this modern kitchen. The colors of the wallpaper print could be accented by bright blue cabinets, mustard yellow counter tops, pink and green accessories.

The bordered ScotTowels are an artful blend of past and present: a totally modern convenience decorated with old-fashioned taste and simplicity. The pink flower design of the paper towels as well as the Lady Scott facial tissues repeats the heart and flower motif in the wallpaper print.

Surface touches are not the only factors that make a kitchen uniquely yours. Just as important are the work patterns that underlie your preparation of food, its handling, storage and the cleaning that follows its enjoyment. All the marvelous technical improvements in equipment and utensils, not to mention paper products, combine to make time spent in the kitchen more efficient and enjoyable.

Every kitchen should have a paper center. Placemats bring new life to the table with vivid colors and exciting designs; paper napkins such as Viva complement or contrast in color.

Since there are no rules for the design of your kitchen, you can play it as you please — warm, pleasant and uniquely you!

Should you have the kitchen "done" while you are on vacation?

Some people do. Most don't, simply because they want to be around to discuss with their kitchenman any questions which may arise. But if you feel you have established the proper rapport with your kitchen specialist, go ahead and "vacate". You can depend upon the qualified accredited firm to execute the job with meticulous attention to all plans and specifications submitted in advance for your approval.

Before you visit an AIKD member's showroom, why not compile your own "kitchen shopping list", just for fun.

Do you need "full meal" space or just a snack area?

Is the man of the house a barbecue aficionado who'd love an indoor charcoal grill? (Yes, one can be installed so no smoke gets into his eyes or yours!)

FURNISHINGS 'TELL ALL' ABOUT YOU

Take another look at your living room. It might be giving the "wrong" impression to casual viewers.

According to a professor of sociology at an American university, it is a clue to your income, social standing, religious beliefs, political affiliations and ancestry.

Your living room, in effect, says he, is the "face" your house presents to the world.

Based on thorough visits and interviews with over a thousand families of varying economic strata in a middling-large, considered representative U.S. city, he has come up with these observations:

Generally, he found that families that had had money for several generations favored the traditional styles, and that families that had just become prosperous in this generation went in more for modern styles of furniture and what they call "decor."

Storm Door Window Repair Is Now Easy

. . . You Can Do It Yourself In An Hour! 5

Statistics show that the broken storm-door window syndrome is not limited to winter months. It can happen anytime throughout the year -- from window-changing days in early spring and late fall to those months of summer storage when you are seeking out the obscurely stored lawn tennis game, missing family camping equipment, and who knows what else!

Until recently, the broken storm door window could lead to long weeks of waiting for a piece of framed glass, high labor costs, and short tempers while cold winter winds are blowing through.

Now, the Rohm and Haas Company, manufacturers of Plexiglas, offers a quick and easy solution to this frequent homeowner-frustration. You can replace that broken storm-door window yourself at home in less than an hour's time with Plexiglas acrylic sheet, available for the first time nationwide at glass dealers, hardware stores and paint, wallpaper, and building supply outlets.

The acrylic sheet - unlike glass - does not require framing before installation. Because of its light weight and absence of sharp edges, it is safe and easy to handle in an unlimited number of do-it-yourself projects and repair jobs. As clear and transparent as optical glass, it is up to 17 times more breakage-resistant. It is also virtually impervious to weather, resisting discoloration even under the most adverse outdoor conditions.

To glaze a storm-door window opening, follow these simple instructions:

1. Purchase a sheet of .125" (1/2") thick Plexiglas in a size as close as possible to the storm-door window opening. Keep in mind that the sheet should have 1/2" clearance on both sides and on top when installed to allow for thermal expansion.

2. If the sheet requires trimming to required size, use a sabre or hand jig-saw with at least 14 teeth per inch. Guide the saw along a straight edge. A hand-saw may be used with at least 10 teeth per inch. A cross-cut circular saw with at least 6 teeth per inch is also ideal for straight cutting.

Set the blade height slightly above the thickness of the sheet

NOW YOU CAN REPLACE that broken storm door window, and you can do it yourself in less than an hour's time. An acrylic sheeting, for an unlimited number of both practical and creative projects, is now available to the consumer through hardware, glass, wallpaper, paint and building supply stores. It is called Plexiglas.

3. Sand the sawed edges by hand with medium-grit (60-80) paper.

4. Set the sheet into the storm door frame and replace retaining clips. If firmer retention is required, shim clips with small wood or rubber wedges, or you may replace existing clips with spring tension clips, available at hardware stores.

Extend Indoor 'Gallery' Outdoors For Patio Elegance, Distinction

Just a handful of clever decorating tricks convert a "cook-out" into a dinner party that takes full advantage of a balmy summer evening. The secret lies in creating the right atmosphere, and what gives a formal feeling better than a beautifully set table and appropriate "room" accessories?

Take a cue from your indoor dining room, suggests the Picture and Frame Institute. Why not move that lovely framed picture from over the buffet out onto the patio? If the patio is flush with an outside wall of the house or garage, use the wall as you would indoors by hanging an arrangement of framed pictures. Floor-standing easels provide an ideal display for pictures and are easy to handle and move indoors or out, as well. Picture hanging techniques might be temporary or permanent for reuse later in the summer.

This work-and money-saver is easy to maintain. Just wash it with a mild soap and lukewarm water solution, applied with a clean soft cloth or sponge. Rinse well and dry by blotting with a damp cloth or chamois. Periodic waxing with a good grade of hard automobile paste-wax (not a cleaner-wax combination) will fill in minor scratches and keep the beautiful lustre. Simply apply wax sparingly and buff lightly with a clean cotton or flannel cloth.

Theme Covers Home Essence

How can you wrap up the meaning of a new home in one phrase?

Where you live shapes a child's outlook and a wife's happiness; it reflects the progress of a man's career. A better place to live, a new home or apartment, opens up a more enjoyable life for the whole family.

Where you live can make the difference between just existing and really living.

That's it: The name of the game is living. "The Name of the Game Is Living." You'll hear that phrase repeated often this year and next.

UNIQUE BENEFITS

The unique benefits offered by a new home or apartment, summed up in the "Living" theme, are being emphasized in a major marketing campaign in which home builders, manufacturers, suppliers, lenders, utilities and others here and throughout the nation are participating.

An exciting wide-open kind of life can begin with a new address. A move-up reaches into the future, into an ever-broadening circle of new friends, new stature, and new things to do.

Many people fail to realize that a move up needn't be an awesome financial commitment. The extra money families put out for payments on a color TV set, a boat, a second car, could buy a different and important change in living standards.

Remember, the monthly mortgage payment is the key figure in your calculations. Stretched over a 25 of 30-year mortgage, the price difference between an adequate but unexciting home and the one that can give a whole new dimension to living can be as little as a dollar a day. Many husbands and wives could afford that if they simply stopped smoking!

TO INFORM BUYER

"The Name of the Game Is Living" campaign will seek to keep the prospective home buyer informed of the availability of homes and apartments of the existing mortgage money situation, and to help him evaluate both in terms of his immediate and long-range needs for housing.

It will emphasize the value of dealing with a knowledgeable professional builder member of the National Association of Home Builders, with which our local association is affiliated.

NAHB President Lloyd E. Clarke has pointed out that "the home buyer cannot view the housing situation in historical perspective. If he needs a new home he needs it now, or very shortly, and he'd be wise to go ahead and get it now and reap the benefits, personal and

UPWARD TREND

Home prices and mortgage interest rates show no signs of abating their upward trend, Clarke noted.

The "Living" campaign will blend advice on the economic truths of today's housing market with ads dramatizing the many intangible benefits of home ownership.

"You deserve," proclaims one advertisement, "enough privacy to follow your own dreamer without hearing somebody else's trumpet."

Screen Rescues

Homely House

A tall screen built in the front yard can conceal a homely house front and create an interesting entrance courtyard. It can be built with cedar 2x4s set edge out between top and bottom rails and spaced six inches apart.

An interesting pattern develops with short 2x4 pieces inserted crosswise between the uprights, placed at irregular intervals. Panels of colored plastic or painted hardboard also can be used as inserts, held in place between grooved crosspieces.

Here's First Aid for Handyman

Although many homeowners rival professional craftsmen with their prowess at do-it-yourself home improvements, statistically the average home is still the most accident-prone place in the nation. And it becomes even more so when the home handyman starts his work.

"Do-it-yourself" enthusiasts should be as much concerned with accident prevention and proper first aid procedures as they are with the ambitious projects they undertake," advises Dr. John Henderson, medical director of Johnson and Johnson and first aid authority.

"The really well-equipped home handyman should have adequate first aid equipment on hand to cope with emergencies. This is best accomplished by keeping a comprehensive first aid kit in the workshop."

Dr. Henderson offers the following tips to avoid some of the most common injuries encountered in home improvement work:

1. If unaccustomed to physical labor, avoid lifting heavy objects. If heavy lifting is necessary, do it properly: do not lift by using back or abdomen muscles alone, but take advantage of the stronger muscles of the legs. Wear gloves to avoid blisters, minor cuts and scrapes.
2. If the project calls for reaching high places, use a ladder — and never try to use a makeshift platform, boxes or chairs. Inspect ladders before using, for defects such as loose rungs and weakened hinges. Always have a helper standing by at the bottom of the ladder, to hand up things as needed, and to prevent the ladder from sliding.
3. When working with power tools, make sure they are properly grounded to avoid the possibility of shock. Check the manufacturer's instructions and observe all recommended safety procedures no matter how trivial they might seem.

When accidents do happen, it is important to treat injuries promptly, Dr. Henderson says. Proper first aid prevents infection, promotes healing and comforts the patient until medical help is available.

Here are his suggestions for treating the most common injuries encountered by home handymen:

1. Working with tools, the incidence of cuts, bruises and scrapes is high. These should not be ignored simply because they are minor injuries, since the danger of infection is always great.

On superficial wounds, cleanse with sterile gauze pads, soap and warm water, then rinse in running water. Apply antiseptic from the first aid kit and dress wound with an appropriate bandage.

2. On deep or extensive cuts, the first consideration is control of bleeding. Do this by applying firm pressure on the wound. Cover with a dressing and get medical aid.

Do not try to cleanse a "dirty" wound—one in which foreign bodies are imbedded—but rather cover with gauze and get medical assistance.

3. Strains and sprains should be checked by a doctor because of the possibility of other conditions, such as fractures, which may not be detectable by a layman.

To comfort the victim, immobilize the strained area.

MAKE HANGING GARDEN

An unusual fencing idea is offered by perforated hardboard, which provides hanging storage facilities outdoors, as well as a decorative look. It could be used, for instance, to create a hanging garden of potted plants.

RECREATION ROOM GOOD INVESTMENT

If your house doesn't have a recreation room, chances are you're planning one soon.

Surveys show that recreation rooms are among the first additions to be made in a house. The extra facilities are generally necessitated by a growing family. Both parents and children soon see the need for a room where youngsters can play and entertain their friends without interrupting the rest of the family. After children's hours, the rec room is also an ideal place for informal adult entertainment.

Setting up a recreation room is not difficult. The basement, if you have one, is a logical place. With a good clean-up, organization of storage facilities, and the right materials, you can transform the drabest basement into an attractive play-and-party room.

Almost by definition, a recreation room has certain requirements. It should be attractive, large enough for sizeable gatherings, and easy to maintain. Fabrics and wall and floor coverings should be sturdy and washable. Facilities for food preparation and serving are also a good idea.

Here are some suggestions:

1. Take advantage of the attractive, low-maintenance building materials now on the market. For example, hardboard wall paneling is available in a wide range of beautiful finishes including rich-looking woodgrains, decorative colors, varied patterns, and unusual textures such as cane, burlap, basket weave and leather. The panels are easily applied with nails or easy-to-use adhesive to wood furring strips attached to the existing wall. They resist dents, mars and scuffs, and can be sponged clean. Resilient floor tiles or even carpet tiles are ideal for "rec" room use. Some of these floorings also provide a measure of sound control.

2. Use easy-to-clean draperies and furniture slip covers—preferably the kind you can throw in the washing machine often.

DIVIDE AND CONQUER, decoratively and otherwise. Kitchen carpeting is not only luxurious and practical, but it can be used to define separate areas in the kitchen. The elliptical inset outlining the work area is "Abstractions," new kitchen carpet of nylon, shown in a bold orange and green pattern. Bordering it is nylon tweed "Invincible" kitchen carpet in matching orange, which also covers the cabinet doors. This is an imaginative and unique use of kitchen carpet to make two rooms of one—decorative and practical. Photo, courtesy Viking Carpets, Inc.

3. Provide adequate storage space for games, hobby equipment, and the like. One idea is to install some perforated hardboard wall panels. These have perforations for hooks from which to hang a variety of items, and brackets on which to mount shelves.

All can be planned for the maximum of convenience, privacy and luxury combined with a minimum of maintenance. Vinyl-coated wallpapers, stabilized fabrics, synthetic carpeting and paints which are impervious to dampness are the hidden practical assets of today's materials. Even the wood finishes of accessories give a living room look, but are unaffected by heat or moisture.

Fixtures now come in practically every color of the rainbow and in many shapes and sizes. There are contoured tubs and furniture-styled lavatories. Even the flow and temperature of the water can be controlled with electronic push-buttons.

Function has increased in effectiveness but is much less obvious. Storage space, for instance, should be plentiful but hidden. Towels, soap, cosmetics, health equipment, children's toys and the small comforts of the bath can be kept in good supply behind louvered doors or on shelves veiled with bend curtains or pull-down shades.

4. Provide a few kitchen facilities if possible: a small-capacity refrigerator (to keep beverages and ice on hand), a small range or hotplate to heat food (or conveniently-located electrical outlets to plug in coffee pots and food warmers), and a serving counter or table (so guests won't have to troop to the kitchen or dining room for a snack).

Sharpen Up Home

For A Good Sale

Kitchen — your wife may have "made do" with an outdated kitchen, but homebuyers want a modern kitchen with the latest conveniences. If it isn't feasible to buy new appliances, or install new cabinets and additional countertop space, at least give the cupboards a new coat of paint and attach some attractive new hardware.

Bathroom — don't expect to make a quick sale on a house with only one bathroom. Today, homebuyers demand at least one-and-a-half, preferably two. You may be able to install a powder room off the kitchen or under the stairs.

Closets — another asset homebuyers look for is lots of storage space. If your house is short of closets, build some in the attic, basement or even the garage.

Spiders' Silk

Spiders capture insects as large as wasps and hornets by spinning silk which ensnares them inescapably, serving to store them for later use as food, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

When to Remove Paint Splatters From Window Pane

When painting a window sash or the putty around the glass, it is difficult to avoid getting a few paint splatters on the pane.

There are two correct times to remove those splatters—when the paint is still fresh or when it is hard. Keep a clean cloth handy to wipe off any paint at once. But if you do not take this step immediately—or if the paint is too close to soft putty to risk wiping it off—wait a day or two. It then is easy to scrape off with a single-edged razor blade or one of those handled tools into which a blade is inserted.

When the paint splatter is partly dry, it smears and doesn't come off easily with either a cloth or a razor blade.

When to Paint Your Stairway

The best time to paint a stairway in your house is just before you go to bed, so that it will be dry when the family gets up in the morning.

But this isn't always practical. For one thing, you have to start at the bottom of the stairs and paint while you are moving backwards going upstairs—otherwise you'll paint yourself at the bottom while the paint is still wet. For another, it is sometimes more practical to do the painting in the daytime or, at least, several hours before retiring.

The solution is to paint every other step so that you can use the stairway while the paint is drying. When it's dry, paint the remaining steps.

The members of the Bannister Women's Society of Christian Service met Tuesday evening to plan for the year's social event, the Mother and Daughter Banquet to be held on May 10. The menu was planned to include baked ham, scalloped potatoes, vegetable salads, buttered corn, with sherbet and wafers as dessert. The theme will be Japanese with Japanese lanterns as decorations and Japanese fans as programs. Other favors are planned. Mrs. Elmer Leydorf will serve as mistress of ceremonies and the guest speaker will be Jean Addison, assisted by Geneva Stottleyer, Florence Trevorrow and Akiko Sato. The public is invited to attend.

The Bannister United Methodist Youth met at the church on Sunday evening to resume their regular meetings after attending Lenten Services for the past six weeks at Ovid. Vicki Valentine, vice president, presided over the business meeting due to the absence of Liz Ensign, president. The group plan to visit the local funeral home in the near future. Other discussion was on the annual campout. Plans are to be completed at a later date. Donna Hinkley led the group in devotions and Marcie Moore followed with the lesson discussion "Christian Attitudes of Marriage." Refreshments were provided by Donna and Debbie Hinkley.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Miller and family were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Valentine and family of Bannister.

Robert, Steven and Jodie Rando spent a few days this past week with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Valentine and family.

If you are looking for a heap of living, all at relatively low cost and packaged inside a delightfully designed traditional house, here it is! It will be difficult, indeed, to find all this livability in a house of comparable size: four bedrooms; two full baths; an efficient, L-shaped kitchen with eating space; a 23 foot formal living and dining area; a huge family room; a sizeable utility room containing the laundry equipment; a formal front entry. These features, plus the attached two-car garage, the upper level balcony, and the lower level terrace make this home a truly fine investment. Then, too, its overall size of only 56 feet means that it can be built on a relatively narrow building site.

Plantings Possible Under High Deck

There's no need to leave the ground under an elevated wood deck bare or weed-filled. A number of evergreen shrubs and groundcovers will grow in deep shade, under a deck, and best advice is sought from a local nurseryman or landscape architect.

Often all that's needed are groupings of ferns and rocks, or a spreading groundcover that grows thickly enough to choke out weeds. Most kinds of ivy, however, are too untidy and uncontrollable to be considered.

SHE'S NO ASTRONAUT, but she's found "outer space" glass opens new horizons in home design. This Thermopane insulating glass has a chromium coating applied in a vacuum like the one 125 miles above the earth. The coating makes the glass reflect the daytime outdoor scene almost like a mirror (left photo). But inside the home, the same Thermopane appears transparent and, as the right photo shows, reduces visible light transmission for added comfort.

New "Outer Space" Glass Offers Home Design Ideas

Planning a new home is fun, even though it may be years before the dream house turns into reality. It means looking everywhere for ideas — other homes, books and magazines, talks with designers and plenty of shopping trips.

One of the newest places to look for residential design ideas is "outer space," the area above the earth which only astronauts have seen firsthand.

That's the word from farsighted architects and engineers, and they aren't suggesting stargazing or airplane watching. They're referring to a new "outer space" glass fabricating process which opens new fields in construction design and indoor comfort control.

IMAGINE YOUR dream house with window walls which, from the exterior, reflect like a mirror but, from the interior, are as transparent as ordinary glass. And imagine these windows reducing visible light transmission to virtually any degree you or your architect specify.

During the daytime, the "outer space" windows would give soft reflections of the outdoor scene which change with light conditions. The yard and trees would become part of the house itself. Their reflections would obstruct vision into the interior, giving home owners greater privacy.

At night, the glass would reverse itself, becoming semi-reflecting from the inside to magnify the indoor feeling of light and warmth, and transparent from the outside to show off the home's interior luxury.

Thermopane insulating glass can be made with these performance characteristics, using equipment producing a vacuum similar to that astronauts encounter 125 miles above the earth.

This Thermopane has a chromium coating on the inside surface of the double-glazed unit's outer glass panel. It is this micro-thin layer of film which gives the glass its appearance, and which reduces visible light transmission.

Cooking, Laundry Set-Up Saves Steps

Grandma really got around. Upstairs, downstairs, out in the yard, down in the basement and back to the kitchen was her usual Monday routine. Even though Monday was somewhat synonymous with laundry — a job that usually kept her hopping from basement to backyard — other daily chores continually demanded that she be elsewhere.

There's no need to be a marathon hiker today. With a truly efficient kitchen, including a complete but separate home laundry center, a homemaker's two biggest jobs — cooking and laundry — can be done at the same time and place. And laundry can be done the modern way — when it's needed, perhaps daily, without letting it accumulate into a major chore.

Cooking and laundry facilities can be separated, within a single room, according to a plan suggested by the Maytag Home Laundry Center.

The plan uses a counter eating area as a room divider. If the counter has an L shape, one arm can extend into the room for the eating area, and the other can go along a wall and contain cooking facilities, complete with appliances and plenty of counter space.

The sink may be located in the corner of the L, where it can be used for occasional laundry needs as well as for kitchen purposes.

The other side of the counter room divider provides the separate area for the laundry. In addition to a fully automatic washer and dryer, the plan calls for plenty of storage room in built-in cabinets.

To provide space where durable press articles may be hung immediately as they are taken from the dryer, a full-length closet may be located next to the dryer. Such a closet

If Cash Is Question, Loan May Be Answer

Is that favorite home improvement project scheduled vaguely for "some time when we have cash to spare"?

As many families know, such a time rarely ever comes. But home improvement dreams can still become realities—especially if the modernization or expansion project is of a type that will add substantially to the resale value of the home.

To determine whether a specific improvement will increase home resale value, it's a good idea to consult the loan officer of a full-service bank. With a wealth of experience in this field, he is in a position to advise on such things as whether the proposed improvement is worthwhile and how much it's likely to cost.

When extra money is needed, there are a number of ways to borrow the necessary cash for home improvements.

FHA Loans. The Federal Housing Administration offers two types of loans, short term and long term. The short term Title 1 loan is issued for permanent structural improvements, in amounts up to $3,500 with five years to repay. Interest is charged at five dollars per hundred up to $2,500, four dollars per hundred from $2,500 to $3,500.

FHA long term loans, for really extensive improvements, provide for borrowing up to $10,000, with up to 20 years to repay, at six percent interest. If the house is less than 10 years old, the loan must be used for such major structural changes as adding a wing. If it's more than 10 years old, the homeowner can use the loan to make any kind of improvements he likes.

Bank Improvement Loans. Banks offer their own home improvement loans. Although they cost slightly more than the FHA loans, they are more flexible, because the money can be used for projects not approved under Title 1. Interest varies from five to seven dollars per hundred a year.

Open-End Mortgage Loan. If the home mortgage contains an open-end provision, this could enable the homeowner to borrow an amount equal to what has already been paid off.

Refinancing Present Mortgage. If the home mortgage doesn't have an open-end provision, a solution may be to retire the present mortgage and take out a new one for a larger amount that will cover cost of proposed home improvements.

Personal Bank Loan. Consider this type of loan for home improvements that do not involve major expense. There should be no difficulty in getting the loan, if the borrower has a steady income and a reliable record of paying his bills on time.

Space Discovered By Bedroom Door

Do you have a space 13 or more inches deep behind the bedroom door? Don't waste it.

Depending on its width, the area can yield a shoe cupboard, space for an ironing board, and shelving for those bulky ski sweaters that won't fit into dresser drawers. Maybe there'll even be room for bed linen. The unit can be built closet-style using stock louvered doors for the front and sugar pine boards for sides and shelving. Finish can be wood stain to match bedroom furniture, paint, or antique glaze.

MIRACLE WORKER

If you can find a way to make receipts balance disbursements today you have the most successful budget ever devised.

Inflation Weakens Your Home Policy

The inflation which you have been feeling in the pocketbook may be undermining your security in a way you can't feel at all. It may be weakening the protection afforded by your home or apartment insurance policy.

Most insured home owners or apartment dwellers tuck their policies away with their deeds or leases—and then forget about them. This is partly understandable, since nobody likes to think about sudden, unforeseeable damage or loss to his home. In our economy, however, a policy that is just right at the time of issue offers less and less protection the longer it is forgotten.

The fundamental rule of property insurance is that it should put you in the same financial condition after a loss or disaster as you were in just before it. That is what each policy is designed to do when it is first calculated. But before the normal three-year renewal time comes up, inflation is likely to render the policy inadequate.

It can happen fast. In the five years from July 1964 to July 1969, the consumer price index for the nation rose more than 18 per cent, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics. In just one year, from July 1968 to July 1969, it increased 5 1/2 per cent. (Base is the 1957-59 period.)

How can you keep your property insurance protection at the proper level? Frederick Watkins, president of Aetna Insurance, has these suggestions:

1—Remind yourself of the date your policy was issued and the sums for which it provides. Then estimate the effect inflation has had on prices in your area. (It may vary from the national average.) Your insurance agent or broker may help you get this information, or you can check with the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the United States Labor Department.

2—Don't feel compelled to wait until renewal to conform your policy to the new economic facts of life. You can do so any time. And consider providing for future, as well as past, inflation.

3—Make an inventory of the contents of your home or apartment and keep it up to date. On a room-by-room basis, list your possessions—from rugs and drapes to tables and chairs, from clocks to appliances, from clothing to jewelry. For each item, list the year purchased, the original cost and the present cash value. (This last figure should reflect replacement cost less depreciation.) Your insurance agent or broker, or an independent appraiser, can help you with these calculations. Such an inventory can be very helpful if you suffer a serious loss.

4—Remember that some possessions appreciate, rather than diminish in value. Included are some antiques, works of art and jewelry. All the more reasons to keep your policy up to date.

5—If you own your own home, stay informed of its current replacement value. Since building costs have risen sharply in most areas, it would be more costly to replace than you may realize.

Mrs. Gerald Carroll presided in the absence of president, Mrs. Glen Horn, opening with the "Club Collectors' Day."

During the business session, Mrs. Viva Scott and Mrs. Robert Baker gave the treasurer's and secretary's reports and Mrs. Ralph Still distributed lists of names for members to invite to the annual Mother's Day party on May 11 when older women of the area are entertained.

Mrs. Lawrence Hess reported on the recent Trading Post, which was one of the most successful ever held. Mrs. A. W. Cobb explained the scholarships being offered this year by the Crescent Club of Ovid and Woman's Literary Club of Elsie to Ovid-Elsie High School seniors.

Mrs. Stanley Loznak reported calls made, gifts and cards to members who had been hospitalized and ill for sometime. They were the late Mrs. C. H. Sills, Mrs. Vina Smith, Mrs. Gerald Carroll, Mrs. Sidney Keys and Mrs. Carl Maynard.

It was voted to purchase six picnic tables for the Athletic Field west of the village. Plans were completed for the annual bus trip and a stage play at the Fisher Theater in Detroit April 14.

Among those planning to attend the Clinton County Federation of Women's Clubs at the Price Church when the Victor Civic Club will host the county convention, April 29, are: Mrs. G. W. Bennett, Mrs. Glenn Horn, Mrs. Lawrence Hess, Mrs. Robert Baker, Mrs. Viva Scott, Mrs. Agnes Lewis and Mrs. Paul Platner.

Mrs. Norman Blakely distributed Worker's Envelopes to the members who work on the Cancer Crusade April 20. It was decided to purchase a blanket for a family who recently had a house fire and lost most of their personal belongings.

Mrs. Lawrence Hess announced an afternoon coffee hour on Wednesday afternoon in St. Johns will be held at the Mental Health Clinic to set up future plans.

At the close of the meeting the guests were served dessert and punch by Mrs. Durward Conklin, Mrs. G. W. Bennett and Mrs. Leslie Sturges.

Building 'Attractive Nuisance'?

Is what you're building an "attractive nuisance"? Before a homeowner proceeds with an improvement project, he will be well advised to ask — and answer — this question, says an insurance authority.

"Attractive nuisance" is what a court in some states might call a certain aspect of property if it attracts a child or other passerby and the individual is injured by it. A swimming pool, a driveway that's ideal for skateboarding, a barbecue pit, a doghouse that could collapse if a child climbed on it—these are all potential attractive nuisances.

Even a pile of lumber and bricks stacked ready for use could lure a youngster and hurt him. It too would be considered an attractive nuisance, states F. Harvey Cameron, vice president of the Travelers Insurance Company.

What Is Negligence? In fact, anything on the property that presents potential danger for a passerby, unless steps are taken to protect him, could cause a homeowner to be sued. Though the homeowner is not ordinarily responsible for what happens to trespassers, he is if he doesn't try to protect them.

The Middlebury WSCS will meet Tuesday, April 27 at 2 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Mildred Brookins with Mrs. Florence Thornburg and Mrs. Lucille Semans as co-hostesses. The worship service will be in charge of Mrs. Letha Furnish and Mrs. Esther Semans will be program leader.

Infants baptized during the worship service at the Middlebury United Methodist Church recently were Jamie Heldreth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heldreth, and Stevie Boggs, son of Dr. and Mrs. George Boggs. Dr. Boggs was received into membership of the Middlebury Church on transfer.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tubbs have returned to their home here after spending the winter months at their home in Zephyrhills, Fla.

KITCHEN MODERNIZATION BEGINS WITH EFFICIENT organization of the working area, and usually involves replacement of at least some major appliances. Then, almost any decorating idea can be developed around the basic plan. Suggestion here is for a kitchen with an Oriental theme. From Hotpoint.

Glass Blocks Doing New Job

People who live in glass block houses don't have to duck stones. Glass blocks are "in" these days.

They still perform their primary job of admitting light where regular window glass won't do. Now, though, glass blocks also come in a wide variety of shapes, sizes and colors that add attractive design touches.

In an entry way, for example, colored glass blocks admit light to this often dark area, and they help make the home inviting, too. If the entry is small, a strip of a few blocks will do. If it's good-sized, an entire panel, in sections as large as three by five feet, is easily made up.

Such designs are not exclusively glass. They can be intermixed with opaque units — of simulated masonry texture, for instance.

Some blocks come in round, porthole styles, others in irregular shapes.

Exterior Panels Move In To Brighten Interiors

Plywood panels on the exterior of modern homes are gradually moving inside.

This comes as something of a surprise to the plywood manufacturers because they didn't plan it that way. Exterior panels such as Texture One-Eleven, reverse board and batten, rough or brushed cedar and striated panels were meant to be just that — attractive, durable exterior siding.

But builders and architects — even homeowners themselves — decided these attractive sidings were just as attractive inside today's homes.

Exterior plywood panels have been showing up indoors particularly in children's bedrooms, recreation rooms and dining areas near the kitchen. Even in the living room, the panels can present an attractive, graceful appearance.

The reasoning behind this is sound, in view of today's trend toward casual, carefree living. In addition, these panels are easy to install, inexpensive to buy, and their rugged surfaces stand up well in home areas where children live and play.

Staining the panels is simple, and the finished product can look like a professional job, even done by the weekend handyman.

Many types of panels have lapped edges, making it simple for the amateur carpenter to install a complete wall with tight, inconspicuous joints.

Lighting Holds Key to Room Remodeling

Homeowners looking for room remodeling and decorating ideas might do well to consider this approach: Make lighting the starting point.

Fixtures are available to fit lighting and decorating needs in any area of a room, and, conversely, fixtures can inspire decorating ideas.

Types of fixtures needed should be the first determination. For example, in a family room, a pull-down-type fixture, which can be raised or lowered as the occasion demands, is ideal for over-table lighting.

Recessed units in the ceiling assure good general room lighting and, attached to a dimmer, can create a variety of lighting moods. Hanging pendants in a cluster furnish a decorating focal point and fill a definite need in a hard-to-decorate corner.

To meet requirements of color and style, lighting units are available in "family" groups, which provide a range of different fixture types in complementary colors. With this "family" similarity, a variety of fixtures can be used in a room, while still maintaining a definite continuity between the various lighting units.

Colors of the fixtures might well inspire an imaginative decorating scheme. For instance, one fixture, family presents pull-downs, recessed units and pendants, in such color combinations as deep blue with light blue, or brown with amber.

To set the color scheme for a room, the deeper hue of the fixture becomes an accent color, while the lighter shade can be used on broader expanses.

FASHIONABLE FAMILY OF LIGHTING FIXTURES sets the color scheme and theme for a family room. In keeping with the setting, the fixtures are both eye-catching and informal. Color choice is a strong blue, in a flat suede-like finish, with crystals in an ice-blue tone. The deep blue becomes an accent color for the room, while the lighter blue of the crystals is utilized in the larger areas. The Camelot series fixtures pictured here are from Thomas Industries' Moe Light.

'Exterior Decorating' Sets Scene for Outdoor Living

BASKETWEAVE FENCE, FOR THE TEXTURED LOOK, USES translucent fiberglass-plastic panels and wood. As an enclosure for an outdoor living area, the fence offers privacy without cutting off light. Filon panels and other materials for the fence, as well as plans, are available from lumber dealers. Or, write for Plan No. 505, sending 10 cents to Filon Corporation, 12333 S. Van Ness Avenue, Hawthorne, Calif. 90250.

WOOD DECKS — A VARIATION OF THE PATIO — serve many outdoor living needs. Here, decks are used to divide a side yard into separate outdoor living rooms. Easy-care native plant materials take over the space between, giving decks the floating effect. These are Douglas fir two by twos on rigid post-and-beam framework.

Boards Cover Wall Cracks

Older homes are frequently an excellent buy for the young, growing family, but almost always they require extensive re-decorating.

Old plastered walls that are cracked, bulging or out of plumb are a special problem. Many interior designers recommend simply covering them up with an entirely new wall surface of lumber paneling.

The job is relatively simple. For vertical paneling, three furring strips, usually 1x2-inch pieces, are mounted over the existing wall, one at the top, one centered, and one just above the base shoe. The furring strips are screwed through the plaster and into the wall studs behind.

Tongue-and-groove boards are blind-nailed to the furring strips, with the nail set through the board's tongue. Each board is plumbed separately, using the tongue-and-groove for adjustment.

Cornice moldings and base shoes are removed before the paneling is installed, then are replaced.

Panel board patterns and finishes can be chosen to suit any style of room interior. A full-color booklet of ideas is available for just 10 cents in coin.

Write to: "Paneling," Dept. 504-P, Western Wood Products Assn., Yeon Bldg., Portland, Ore. 97204.

Color 'Smash' On Moldings

Half the charm of an older house is its detailed woodwork. But, when redecorating, how can you team old painted moldings with a new wall covering of panel boards which are finished natural to reduce upkeep?

The answer is simple — just leave the woodwork painted. But instead of the traditional white, repaint moldings using the room's leading upholstery color. Teamed with clear-finished pine, hemlock or cedar paneling, colored moldings can be terrific.

Shades that do particularly well are subtle gray-greens and yellow-greens, Williamsburg blue, a deep shade of peacock blue, Turkey red and burgundy.

Adding a light touch of antiquing glaze over the paint produces an even richer effect, and moldings can be finished up with a coat of clear plastic varnish to make them virtually chip-proof.

Leisure Living in the Laundry

Why not be tuned-in to leisure living in the laundry? With appliances programmed to specific fabric needs, for speed, washing action and temperature — all with the flick of one button — there's still time for relaxation between and during washing-drying cycles.

In keeping with this banishment of wash-day blues — it's time to decorate the laundry room accordingly — with bright colors and accessories. Start with a tweed carpet as attractive as it is practical — such as one of Herculon olefin fiber — a perfect choice since this fiber is moisture and stain resistant, mildew-proof and highly durable. Also remember that carpeting muffles the annoying sounds of appliances in operation.

Now go on to select a handsome rattan chair — for those precious minutes to thumb through a magazine, catch-up with long overdue phone calls, or even provide a place for forty winks! The urethane foam mattress is as modern as the carpet fiber and appliances in this setting.

Lumber Gains Rated in Line

Prices on lumber and plywood used in homes have gone up this year, but they're late risers, compared to costs of land, labor, loans, cement and glass.

Federal Housing Administration statistics show that land costs have tripled in 15 years, interest rates are up by nearly two-thirds, labor rates by three-fourths.

Lumber has risen 55 percent, but most of this has occurred in recent months, making it seem more painful to home buyers. Moving into a t u m n, lumber prices have eased downward again.

Anyhow, only 18 percent of the cost of a home is in its structural shell, which is mostly forest products.

A key factor in the lumber-plywood rise, reports the Western Wood Products Assn., has been a doubling of log costs, due in large part to heavy sale for export to Japan of timber from federal and state lands.

Built-In Ideas
Twenty-six ideas for storage built-ins are shown in the full-color booklet, "Storage," available from Western Wood Products Assn., Dept. 519-P, Yeon Bldg., Portland, Ore. 97204. Enclose ten cents for each copy.

FOR THE MAN WHO HAS EVERYTHING

SLEEK, NEW SAILPLANE, designed for do-it-yourself builder, is capable of reaching speeds of 150 miles an hour. The craft is available only in kit form. Completion requires only hand tools, rivet gun and air compressor. The plane has a wingspan of 54.6 feet and is nearly 24 feet long. The aluminum surface will not warp from temperature and humidity changes.

For Neat Laundry

Don't settle for a dull-looking laundry room. Nail up low-cost rough pine boards on walls, finished with platinum-stain. Replace door pulls with white china ball knobs, and cover a worn floor with indoor-outdoor carpet in rich gold.

Delegates chosen

By JOHN AYLWORTH

Eleven Clinton County 4-H members were named to participate in the 4-H Interstate exchange to Rice County, Minn., July 8-16. The county seat of Rice County is Faribault.

The delegates are Vickie Thelen, Bengal Community; Kathy Hazle, Scattered Southeast; Faith Borton, Watertown Grove; Patty Fox, Happy Hustlers; Virginia Cordes, Watertown Grove; Sharon Bappert, Knit-N-Stitch; Colleen Wood, Olive 4-H Projects; Mary Curtis, Victor 4-H; David Haviland, Olive 4-H Projects; Charles Tait, Kountry Cousins; and Dennis Baese, Maple River Craftsmen.

The delegates will join 4-H members from Gratiot and Shiawassee Counties in making up the busload from Michigan.

The group will stay the first night at the Wisconsin State 4-H Camp at the Wisconsin Dells area and participate in their evening program with Iowa County, Wisconsin 4-H'ers. The group will tour the Upper Dells area by boat before journeying on to Faribault, Minn.

During the six days in Minnesota, the 4-H'ers will stay with 4-H host families participating in the family activities, viewing their 4-H program, meeting new friends, and receiving many new experiences in traveling and citizenship.

On the way home the group will come back via the Michigan Upper Peninsula, staying overnight at Escanaba and stopping at various interesting spots. Following their return home the members will be willing to show slides and tell of their experiences to any group wishing to hear them.

SIXTY-FIVE 4-H girls and boys had an enjoyable weekend at the Yankee Springs area as part of the county 4-H awards program. They enjoyed the recreation, conservation tour to Devils Soup Bowl, and a weekend of fun and meeting new friends.

Patty Fox and Marcla Tait served as counselors for the group.

THE 4-H TEEN Leaders hope to reach 100,000 pounds of glass collected, sorted, broken, and sent back to Charlotte for recycling this weekend, May 1, during their regular monthly glass collection at the fairgrounds in St. Johns.

During the first seven months, October to April, 80,000 pounds of glass has been sent to Charlotte for recycling and not ending up in landfills. The glass collected from the roadside clean-up April 17 has not been weighed yet but should be in the area of 10,000 pounds. The average monthly collection has been over 10,000 pounds so they should reach their goal. The hours for the glass collection on Saturday, May 1 are from 10-2 p.m. if anyone outside of St. Johns would like to bring in their glass containers.

People in St. Johns are asked to set the glass out on the curb by 10 a.m. for pick up.

THE 4-H TEEN Leaders will hold their regular monthly meeting on Thursday, May 6 at Smith Hall starting at 7:30 p.m. Final plans for the 4-H float in the Soap Box Derby will be discussed plus the county-wide activities to be held this summer. A film on drugs will be shown for the program.

THE 4-H HORSE leaders will be meeting on Tuesday, May 4, 8 p.m. at the Central National Bank Community Room in St. Johns. The main items of business include final plans for the County 4-H Horse Show, Sunday, June 13 at the fairgrounds in St. Johns, and the spring clinic on Tuesday, May 18, 7 p.m. at the fairgrounds with Carolyn Bay of Midland as the instructor.

The 4-H Detroit Trip award winners have received their letter on the up-coming trip to Detroit on Saturday, May 15. The day's activities include a trip to Greenfield Village at Dearborn, eat lunch at the Top of the Flame Restaurant, and attend a stage play, "Trial of A. Lincoln" starring Henry Fonda. The group will go by bus instead of cars.

The Kountry Cousins 4-H club had a good turnout for the April 17 roadside clean-up. The members covered six miles of county roadsides. Everyone enjoyed their day of community service activity topped off with a lunch served.

Members may sign up for the summer program at the home of Don Devereaux on Saturday, May 1. The next club meeting will be Tuesday, May 4 with the election of officers for the summer program plus completing project enrollment.

Anyone wishing to join but cannot attend should call Mrs. Alvin Thelen at 224-3613. Members will be asked to decide what projects they wish to take this summer. The club plans to have an entry or two in the 4-H Talent Show on May 7.

THE TRAIL BREAKERS 4-H horse club held their sign up Saturday with nine members presently enrolled. Books and material were passed out. The members decided to take a trail ride on May 2 starting at 9 a.m. from Virginia Cordes home. Members are to take a sack lunch. Their next meeting will be on Saturday, May 8.

THE EAGLE BEAVERS participated in "Operation Pride" on Saturday, April 17 cleaning up five miles of county roadsides. The members were joined by a number of neighbor children who all worked three and one half hours picking up over one large pickup load. Lunch was served at the home of the leader, Mrs. Esten Beachau, after the clean-up was completed.

The Nimble Fingers 4-H members will be holding an open house this summer honoring Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Peck who have served as leaders in the club over the past 20 years. The committee is trying to locate all past members and invite them to attend.

The members participated in the roadside cleanup on April 17. Cathy Howell gave a report on the Horticulture Workshop held at Michigan State University for leaders and teen leaders. Members were informed that the cost for attending 4-H Camp at Algonquin 4-H Youth Center near Hastings is $21 for the four days covering meals, lodging, insurance, and some crafts.

The teen leaders will provide some camp scholarships to some youth in the county to attend 4-H camp. Members were encouraged to sign up for the County 4-H Talent Contest.

THE TAIL WAGGERS 4-H members have been quite busy the past two weeks in promoting the leader dog program as they have appeared on Channel 6, WJIM TV in Lansing and made several radio programs for St. Johns and Lansing stations. Four members, LuAnn Thelen, Jeannine Seeger, Ann Graham, and Sandy Webster, will be making a television tape on April 30 for later showing on Channel 10. Mary Brunt, the club's leader, and Ann Graham will be attending the 4-H Dog Leaders Workshop at Camp Kett April 30 - May 1. The dogs were measured, weighed, worked as a group and individually on various commands.

BE sure to drown all fires.

Today's farmer, using an automatic bale wagon can pick up, stack and haul as many as 3,100 hay bales in an eight hour day, according to engineers at New Holland the farm equipment division of Sperry Rand.

St. Johns-owned bull leads fifth weigh-in HOLLAND—A 15-month-old Charolais bull owned by Dennis Morrison of St. Johns exhibited the greatest 30-day growth at special weigh-ins in the Charolais Breeders of Michigan's annual Bull Test Program.

More than 50 persons turned out Saturday for the fifth of six weigh-ins in the second annual program to see the locally owned bull show an average of 4,387 pounds per day.

Bulls from Bill Kamps and Sons Charolais Farms in Coopersville placed second and third, gaining 4,032 and 3,903 pounds per day. Fourth place went to a bull owned by David Randall of Coopersville, fifth to a Morrison bull and sixth to one owned by Robert Formsmma of Zeeland.

The test bulls, plus 20 selected cows, will be up for auction May 8, when the Charolais Breeders group holds its first annual sale at Meblo Farms of Holand. The 1 p.m. sale will be preceded by a noon luncheon featuring roast Charolais beef.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Jeffers of Lewiston were Monday night guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Perkins.

Age gap determined as farm labor problem

EAST LANSING—The farm labor problem boils down to an age gap, wage gap and communication gap. And "put it in writing" can bridge the gaps, Michigan State University specialists feel.

First, the age gap. Michigan State research shows younger dairymen (under 45 years of age) hire workers with more education, pay them higher wages and conditions. That's where the "communications gap" comes in. MSU research shows farm operators and their employees get along better when they understand each other. And to make sure that happens, more "employment agreements" are being written.

Leonard Kyle, MSU agricultural economist, lists these pluses for employment agreements:

- Help the farmer think through a sound labor-management program.
- Stimulate discussion between farmer and worker at the time of hiring rather than at the time of disagreement.
- Communicate and settle critical issues between the parties.
- Assure representation of both parties.
- Provide a record of the agreement if problems occur.
- Provide benchmarks when discussing changes or modifications for future agreements.

The next time you're in a milking parlor speak softly. Cows are sensitive and you might hurt their feelings and reduce milk production. You see, nature's most perfect food is also man's most pampered.

One farmer said that an attentive attendant can "brush" out another thousand gallons a year from a cow. They love the attention, he said, so you just have to baby them along.

You have to have the touch, reports the Wall Street Journal. It says milk production on one dairy farm jumped almost 15 per cent after it hired women to handle the work in a modern milking parlor. Says the farm's production manager, the milkmaid "inherently has greater sensitivity" than men and better understands the cows.

So much for psychology. What about the end product? Milk products are good for you. They are high in protein and provide about two-thirds of the calcium needed in a balanced diet. But being good for you isn't reason enough for consumers to increase their use of it.

According to a 1971 dairy report by the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, great changes in U.S. milk consumption are taking place.

There is a downward trend in the volume of annual milk production and in the consumption of milk equivalents. Per capita milk consumption is down as well as its off-spring of cream, butter and evaporated milk.

Milk products registering gains are low-fat milk, 58 per cent in 1969; 58 pounds per person, or 58 per cent above the 1965 level.

Cheese, only about 4.4 pounds per person in 1969, registers a 147 per cent increase to 10.9 pounds in 1969.

Thanks to refrigeration, one of many factors, ice cream has a good 1969 record of 3.8 pounds per person, nearly double that of 1933.

Ice milk consumption is up to 1.4 gallons per person—14 times the 1940 figure.

Our mini survey also reveals that if cows become too sensitive, even they may be replaced. There's a new invention out—a mechanical cow, reports the London Sunday Times. A British chemical engineer has a device which separates fluids from green plants, removes unwanted minerals and adds vegetable oil, sugar and other chemicals. The end product, of course, has a close resemblance to milk.

Environmental fad

Just as hot pants, bell bottoms and knickers highlight the present and upcoming fashion scene, environmental reform is the latest "fad" in legislative circles.

We read a story in one of the Sunday papers that summarized all the anti-pollution bills introduced in the Michigan Legislature. And it should be understood that the term "pollution" these days means far more than dumping objectionable materials in the swimming hole.

Our legislators have bombarded one another with the following:

-A bill that would ban disposable containers by Jan. 1, 1972, and also require a six cent deposit on returnable containers.

-A bill to levy a tax on wholesalers for all drink containers—glass, tin-steel or aluminum. Proceeds would be used for cleaning up litter along highways, parks and beaches.

-Several bills seeking complete ban on sale of detergents and other cleaning compounds containing phosphates.

-A bill to establish "acceptable sound levels" for motor vehicles and such construction devices as air hammers.

-A bill to ban the ill-fated supersonic transport (SST) from flying or landing in Michigan.

-A bill requiring the environmental courses be taught in high schools.

This last on our list probably is the best of the bunch.

It has been interesting to follow momentum of the environmental control mania. While sometimes we are inclined to think that cures are more damaging than illnesses, the nation's sudden concern with environment has been good. For it has provided one cause most citizens find they can support. And we were about due for this.

Along the way, some long-lasting good also will come out of the present fuss.

Beware

Although it is a year-around problem, spring is a particularly bad time for the wandering dog population.

It is a pretty fair assumption that a majority of families own at least one dog. It is also a pretty fair assumption that a large number of dog owners let their pets run the town or countryside.

Public officials are constantly getting complaints about the dog problem. And, rightly so, because it is a problem that doesn't seem to have an easy solution.

Until enforcement of stray dog laws is possible, then we'll have the situation which proves downright disgusting to those dog owners who make a serious attempt to keep their dogs in their own immediate home area. The turned - loose, town - wide travelers constitute by far the largest source of complaint.

Philip

By REV. HUGH BANNINGA

For the next few weeks the subject of my articles will be disciple Philip. Our knowledge of Philip comes from John's gospel where he makes four appearances. From these appearances we learn something about the kind of man he was.

The first appearance comes at the end of Chapter one. It was the occasion of his call. We read, "The next day Jesus decided to leave for Galilee. He met Philip, who like Andrew and Peter, came from Bethsaida, and said to him, 'Follow me.'"

Philip went to find Nathanael, and told him, "We have met the man spoken of by Moses in the Law, and by the prophets: it is Jesus son of Joseph, from Nazareth." "Nazareth!" Nathanael exclaimed; "can any good come from Nazareth?" Philip said, "Come and see."

In this first appearance of Philip we see his missionary instinct. Immediately following his meeting and call from Jesus, Philip had to share the news with someone else. The moment he had discovered Jesus Christ for himself, he was determined to share Christ with others. Nathanael was quite surprised when he heard that something good had come from that "Two-bit" hick town of Nazareth. But Philip wasn't surprised, and he simply asked Nathanael to "come and see."

Notice that Philip's "come and see" was made in the present tense. He said, "come and see right now." He didn't have to wait and check the man out to see if He was all right. Not Philip knew right from the start that Jesus was someone special. So he didn't waste a minute. His missionary instinct moved him to share Christ with someone else.

THE QUESTION I put to you, the reader, is, "How much of a missionary instinct do you have? Do you have the "come and see" attitude? Have you made a determined effort to share Christ with others as Philip did with Nathanael?"

One writer talks about Jesus and His preaching ministry which was "of the living, immediate present." This writer says, "The good news started with the message of God in the present tense. If the good news is to be relevant to the world, it will remain in the present tense, and not clothe itself with pious platitudes. God has called us, you and me, to be his messengers, to be the good news in the world, to do the good news in the world, in the present tense, in the now."

The poet Thomas Russell gets at this missionary instinct—this attitude of sharing Christ with others in the following poem. He writes:

"If we would come to worship thus: Not because it is a duty, but because it is a delight;

Not because a preacher called on us, but because God hath called to us;

Not to display to the world our fine garb, but to witness to the world our faith in God;

Not to smirk at others for our goodness, but to search together for God's righteousness;

Not to be complimented for our proficiency, but to hear the Word speak to our deficiency;

Not to listen as others are condemned, but to be told how we have sinned;

Not to feel satisfied with knowing religion's rules, but to surrender all to the Kingdom's rule;

Not to take away whatever God will give us, but to go away fitted for service;

We would encounter the God Who searches for us."

This is the proper attitude of worship and the Christian who has this attitude will naturally have the missionary instinct—the "come and see" attitude that Philip had.

THINK FOR A MOMENT. How long has it been since you have brought someone to Christ? If it was just last week, that's great! Keep up the good work. But if it has been a while—a long, long while or maybe never—then something is wrong.

Maybe you are too wrapped up in the way you worship—you know, with the ritual and forms you follow. Or maybe you haven't been able to rise above the petty arguments you have had with some people in your church. Or maybe you would rather be "comfortable" in your religion instead of being a Christian.

Yes, Philip had a missionary instinct. He shared Christ with others. This is what you and I are called to do.

Next week we will see Philip who had a warm heart, but a pessimistic head.

Douglas Trezise has resigned his position as central division manager at General Telephone Company to run for the State House of Representatives in the 87th District. The seat is now held by William S. Ballenger, R-Ovid who has announced he is seeking the 30th District State Senate seat being vacated by Sen. Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, who is planning to run for secretary of state.

Following a state equalization study, St. Johns city commissioners were prompted to delve into prospects for a general reassessment in the city. Residents of St. Johns can look forward to approximately 19 per cent higher property taxes this year based on equalization factor assigned the city for the current taxing period.

After nearly seven months of planning, the St. Joseph Church centennial event will be held this weekend with a varied list of activities set.

Walter Cole, chairman of the St. Johns High School Music Department, presented awards to two music students at the seventh annual "Bands in Review" program held at the high school. Tom Fowler was the recipient of the John Philip Sousa Award and Chris Mikula received the service award.

Jim Davis, Greg Lounds, Andy Henning and Dave Flermoen have been chosen as delegates to the 33rd annual American Legion, Wolverine Boys State to be held at Michigan State University.

The St. Johns Rotary Club honored three of its charter members who formed the club in 1926. Honored at the noon luncheon were Lee DeWitt, Clarence Ebert and Glenn Osgood.

In a ceremony at the Masonic Temple in St. Johns, Edward M. Quinn was installed as commander of Commandry No. 24.

George P. Thelen, former Westphalia supervisor who retired from the township board in April was given recognition for his 26 years of service to his township and county in the form of a framed certificate denoting his faithful and devoted service as a supervisor and former board chairman.

John S. (Jack) Barnes, 83, popular Clinton County sheriff for 24 years died suddenly at Long Beach, Calif. He retired from the sheriff's post in 1948 and served as a deputy until 1951 when he moved to California.

Trooper Darrell Pope of the Grand Haven state police post was presented a meritorious service award by Gov. John B. Swainson for his work on a Muskegon murder case earlier in the year.

Susan Gibson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew H. Gibson, has been awarded a $900 scholarship to Kalamazoo College where she will major in chemistry.

The 57th annual convention of the Clinton County Federation of Women's Clubs is scheduled to be held at the Methodist Church in Maple Rapids with the Maple Rapids Sorosis Club hosting the meeting.

The sale of 3 1/2 acre parcel of county-owned land north of the intersection of Taft and County Farm roads in Bingham Township was authorized by the board of supervisors to the Bingham EUB Church for $1,600. The land adjoins the present EUB Church building and will be used for a parsonage and playground area.

The St. Johns American Legion Auxiliary has chosen Maida Lynam as the local representative to attend Wolverine Girls' State at the annual event held at Michigan State University.

Barbara Ballentine, Pauline Henning and Doug Carpenter will have the leading parts in "Strictly Unrehearsed", an original musical comedy written and produced by students in the music department at the St. Johns High School, which will be presented in the auditorium of Rodney B. Wilson. The musical is built around the story of the production of a Broadway show, Dances will be under the direction of Joan Smith and the music will be directed by Robert Kerns.

Charles Birmingham, Ovid, has been given the privilege of the exclusive use of the name "Ovid" as a herd name in registering his pure-bred Holstein-Friesian cattle. Nearly 775 prefixes were reserved for breeders by the Association last year.

Hazel Williams, chief price clerk of the Clinton County price control board, will resign her duties later this month after four and one half years of service. She will be replaced by Mrs. Lyle Belknap.

During the past week the following St. Johns boys were honorably discharged from the service: Gus V. Paseka, Gordon L. Beard, George E. Pierson, Richard Millman, Melvin DeRidder and James E. Sall.

Instructors and students at Rodney B. Wilson High School are making a tour of 26 rural schools in the county giving short programs and talks in an attempt to interest rural school children in attending the local high school. The local high school is the only one in the county which is accredited by the North Central Association and the University of Michigan.

Every farmer in Clinton County will be personally solicited this week and asked to sell his stored wheat to help alleviate famine conditions among the starving peoples of Europe and Asia. Clinton was Michigan's greatest wheat producing county in 1945 and Federal officials have asked that a special effort be made here to bring out of storage an estimated 251,000 bushels of wheat.

Right on, George C.

By TIM YOUNKMAN

A person almost feels compelled to offer old George C. an award for sincerity. Except he wouldn't accept it.

It was quite a piece of Hollywood razzle-dazzle when George C. Scott said he would turn down the Academy Award's Oscar if he should win it. All of the pre-ballooning publicity that George C. received had to have an effect on the outcome of the Best Actor choice.

The members of the Academy were determined to call his bluff—and to sweeten the trap bait, they also voted in George C.'s movie "Patton", and five other top awards.

It was, probably one of the more interesting Award shows in recent years—all in the hope that George C. was really a fake; that in some way he would back down and accept the "coveted" award.

Not so. He wasn't even there to turn it down.

In that act of omission, he disappointed quite a few ill-wishers. Most people take a silent, but grim, pleasure in watching an honest man go bad—it has something to do with a suppressed guilt complex.

Many people can remember when life was so uncomplicated that movie stars were akin to the gods. They weren't human but characters of dreams that created a celluloid cult—a myth that has quickly faded in our more sophisticated space age.

However, they were plastic personalities living in glass houses, and they were fascinating to a people that had little more to do than look for fascination. The old aura of Charlie Chaplin, Clara Bow, Ronald Coleman, Clark Gable and even Marilyn Monroe has faded because the people can no longer escape modern problems by sitting in the theater.

Try it out. The next time you flip the channel on TV late at night and come across a pre-World War II vintage Clark Gable, Henry Fonda, James Cagney or even John Wayne flick, try to sit through the whole thing. Even some of those super all-time classics get boring.

The acting, if you notice, wasn't important—it was purely the personality's magnetism. Very few actors had the magnetism, plus ability to act and the understanding of relating to the audience.

Only a handful of actors and actresses have held that insight. The first that comes to mind is Humphrey Bogart—another would be his co-star in "African Queen," Katherine Hepburn.

Following George C. Scott's career, from TV's "East Side West Side," and stage plays, television plays, to movie roles he portrayed in "The Hustler," "Dr. Strangelove," and "Patton," he has combined the ingredients of the past to the reality of the present.

When he portrayed the big time gambler, he was that gambler. When he played "Patton" he was Patton. When he played the social worker on "East Side," that's exactly who he was. But the viewer could also sit back and study the acting—and it was there.

It is too bad that a man should be recognized for achievement under the guise of a trick or game, rather than for his ability and genius. The world won't end tomorrow because George C. turned down an Oscar, but it is a sign that the basic misrepresentations are still there. Only now we can see them—and at least one man has decided he can live without them.

'IF IT FITZ . . .'

Church is improving

By JIM FITZGERALD

This man said maybe God doesn't exist in a human form, maybe He's a mass of electricity. I nudged my wife and whispered: "Is our Edison bill paid?" Another man said he believed in God OK but he had a hang-up on Jesus Christ. The resurrection is a lot of malarkey to him and Easter is just another Sunday except he is always careful to wear a clean shirt to church.

A third man said maybe God is dead but did it really make any difference?

And a young woman said she talked to God regularly, usually at home.

This was not a bunch of heretics sounding off in the corner saloon. These people were standing up and sounding off during Easter services in my favorite church. I was there for the usual religious reasons; my daughter was singing "Everything is Beautiful" but things wouldn't have been so beautiful for me if I hadn't shown up to hear her.

Veteran readers of this weekly nonsense may recall it was in 1965 that I wrote a column titled "My Church Is Inside." It was in response to a reader who asked why I didn't go to church every Sunday. I told him, I said I was turned off by preachers who were constantly quoting the Bible and counting heads and raising funds to build magnificent, tax-free churches that were really country clubs.

I said too many preachers were speechless on the real moral issues—such as racial injustice—and too many congregations refused to listen to any minister who dared promote true Christianity as it was taught by Jesus Christ.

This is no attempt to revive that old hassle. Reader response at the time established firmly that I am either a sacrilegious sap or a fine fellow, take your pick, that's what makes the world go 'round. Some people think preachers should stick to their pulpits.

My gang thinks preachers should go to wherever the good fight needs fighting, be it city hall or the county jail, even if it means cancelling the 7 p.m. prayer meeting, for goodness sake. To each his own, as it is tattooed over my indignation.

BUT, SIX YEARS later, I would be remiss if I didn't admit that things are looking better as judged by the standards of a guy whose "church is inside."

My favorite church (organized) is constantly taking kids to visit other churches, Jewish, Quaker, Christian Science—the whole list. They also visit ghettos and give deprived children some love.

Some local congregations hold joint services, Catholic and Protestant. The most splendid sight I've seen in years is Catholic priests and nuns in a Protestant church, singing loudly. It made my skin prickle and I felt good. When I was a kid, a bolt of lightning would have flattened the church.

There was a Sunday when a fine tenor stood up in the choir loft and sang "What's It All About, Alfie?" from the risqué movie of the same name. There was a black visitor from a Detroit slum. His grammar was ragged but his story was about how some lost boys needed finding. Everyone listened hard—and then gave him some help.

And then there was Easter when the pastor sat in the congregation and let the teenagers run the service. And the kids invited the congregation to give their own sermons. And that man made me wonder about my Edison bill.

Excuse me, Pastor, but it was all so much more meaningful than the scripture readings which usually set me to eyeing the pretty girl across the aisle.

Onward and Upward and Amen.

Washington Reports

Children's TV

Rep. U.S. Garry Brown 3rd. Congressional Dist.

The Congress was in recess last week.

This week the House will consider the Immigration and Nationality Act, supplemental Maritime Authorizations for Fiscal Year 1971, and an accelerated public works act. It will also consider granting the House Foreign Affairs Committee investigatory powers and the House District of Columbia Committee operating funds.

SINCE THERE is no floor action to report from last week in either the Senate or the House, I should like to take this opportunity to bring to the attention of Third District residents two items of interest which recently crossed my desk.

The first is the direct result of the efforts of a citizen's action group started in Newton Centre, Massachusetts. The Federal Communications Commission has announced that it is currently receiving expressions of opinion from the public regarding television programming and commercials aimed at children. From now until May 3rd, you may write the FCC to express your views about what is on television for children.

The citizens organization is called Action for Children's Television (ACT). Because of their efforts, the FCC issued an advisory notice last February, suggesting to broadcasters that there be no sponsorship and no commercials on children's programs. It was suggested that each station provide daily programming for children and that should be for at least 14 hours a week as part of the stations public service requirement.

There would be programming for each age group as suggested below. Pre-school - Ages 2-5, 7 a.m. - 6 p.m. daily. Primary - Ages 6-9, 4 p.m. - 8 p.m. weekdays, 8 a.m. - 8 p.m. weekends. Elementary - Ages 10-12, 5 p.m. - 9 p.m. weekdays, 9 a.m. - 9 p.m. weekends.

NOW THE FCC is considering whether it should make this proposal a rule binding on all broadcasters. Your comments on the proposal may be sent to the Federal Communications Commission, 1919 M Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20554.

Secondly, for those who are planning their summer vacations now, there is a remarkably compact, informative pamphlet on camping in the national parks put out by the National Park Service which may be of interest to you. It details the camping season at each park, the limit of stay, the campground types, the number of sites, group camps, fees, facilities available, whether there is a trailer village, showers, laundry, stores, swimming, boating, fishing, etc.

You may obtain this pamphlet from the U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402 for 25¢. I do have a limited number of copies available which I would be happy to distribute free of charge.

Letters to the Editor

No generation gap at city youth center

Dear Editor:
This "generation gap" that everyone talks about is something we do not have at our teen center.
Not when teens and adults are both elbow deep in soap suds, working together, talking together, and laughing together striving toward a certain goal.
We think our adult leaders are great. They even listen to our personal problems and try to help us solve them. We are thankful to them for sticking with us even when the going got rough.

Without them we wouldn't have a teen center.
With the leadership of Dorothy Payne of O.E.O. will make a success of it. We may have our ups and downs until we get the hang of it but we'll make it. We feel we also have the people of St. Johns behind us.
Their generosity has proved this and we are proud of them. So, to all you people who have helped us in any way we thank you.

GenTel, union begin talks

MUSKOGON—General Telephone and System Council T-3, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, began contract negotiations this week, the company announced. The present contract agreement, signed in 1969, expires May 5.
General Telephone has more than 3,000 employees with approximately 2,400 in the bargaining unit. The company, which operates in 61 of the state's 83 counties, serves more than 450,000 telephones in 486 communities.

UNTITLED
The cherry tree blossoms in the spring
In the summer we pick its fruit.
When the leaves fall
We pluck the grape and drink the wine.
Snow falls but the enchantment has vanished—
Vanished with the music of your laugh and the sun of your smile,
Vanished too with life's meaning for without you life is merely life.

Sincerely yours,
LOUIE THELEN

Money crisis

Another battle in the continuing money crisis came to a head in the Capitol last week with the borrowing of $45 million from the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund by the General Fund and the subsequent supplemental appropriation of $50 million from the General Fund to the Department of Social Services.

While they were really separate issues and each should have been settled on its own merits, they were tied together as they came up for consideration, resulting in a lot of emotionalism and invective.
Concerning the borrowing of MVAC Funds, it should be noted that this was part of the Governor's proposal of several months ago to bring the budget back into balance when it appeared there would be a deficit of a total of more than $150 million in this fiscal year. Cutbacks in schools and other governmental operations were other parts of this same problem. The actual mechanics of accomplishing the borrowing differed in the House and the Senate versions and it was necessary to work out a compromise between the two houses.
In the end, the $1.00 now being charged insured motorists under the programs has been eliminated for an indefinite period—but would be reinstated in the event the fund runs into financial problems—and the fee charged the uninsured motorist was increased from $35 to $45. It was also agreed that interest would be paid at a rate to be determined by the Legislature in the future when the repayments are due.

But, to me, the more disturbing action was the necessity of a $50 million additional appropriation to the Social Services Department. There is indication that this will not be enough and that an additional amount may be necessary before we finish the fiscal year in June.

I RELUCTANTLY supported this action to authorize the additional funds on the basis that the State should meet its debts even though I may disagree with the operation of the programs incurring those obligations. I have the feeling, as do many others in and out of the Legislature, that there is a good deal of abuse in many phases of the Social Services Program.
The shocking part of this to me is that no one in the State of Michigan appears to have any control over these expenditures.

County level personnel charged with the administration of the Social Services programs are apparently restricted to a clerical function of taking applications, checking them out for arithmetic and checking against standards which are supplied them.

State officials likewise claim that they are governed by federal regulations and court rulings and have little discretion. Of course, federal funds are involved on a dollar for dollar basis but the State's portion is approaching 25 per cent of our total General Fund budget and nobody claims any control over it.

Where are we going? I really don't know, but I suspect that when the time comes for another supplemental appropriation, the sledding will be a little rougher unless there is some indication of efforts to control the costs. Agreement on next year's budget may be even more difficult.

If indications I have from people in the district mean anything, the working part of society is getting pretty fed up with supporting the non-working segment. This is unfortunate because most of the people who receive the benefits really need them and no one wants to take them away from those people.

But, any system which encourages welfare rather than work and supports the recipient at a level above that which the working person who is paying the bills through taxes can maintain, must be changed or it will collapse. Apparently, this must be done at the Federal level but you will hear a lot about it here in Michigan during the coming months.

Increasing costs

By SEN. WILLIAM S. BALLENGER

A 43-page blue booklet recently published by the Citizens Research Council of Michigan tells, better than most official state tomes, the story of where Michigan government's money comes from—and, more importantly where it goes.

For instance, people who complain that increases in legislative salaries are wrecking the budget will find out how insignificant they really are compared with the growth in the major costs of state government.

The Council's booklet covers the decade ending in 1970 and one look at the extent of—and the reasons for—precipitous increases in the cost of education answers a lot of questions about where our tax money goes.

For instance, in the 10-year period covered in the booklet, public school enrollment increased from 1,676,704 to 2,164,386—that's almost a half-million more pupils to educate. That required adding more than 25,000 additional teachers over the 10-year period. And, in addition, teacher salaries in that time almost doubled, going from an average of $5,898 to $10,045. Just the increase in teachers and teacher salary costs amounted to more than $112 million.

On top of that, because of a 1963 Constitutional provision, the cost of teacher retirement rose in ten years by 294.8 percent.

Overall, the cost of school aid went up 148.7 percent and the cost of higher education rose 191.4 percent.

BUT THESE INCREASES pale into insignificance against the backdrop of the staggering 811.5 percent increase in the cost of operating junior and community colleges in Michigan.

The total cost of education in the 10-year period rose 184.8 percent and the per capita cost increase was 155.8 percent.

But education costs aren't the only thing that zoomed. Welfare costs rose from $145 million to $563 million—an increase of 287 percent. Most of this increase was caused by rulings from the federal government over which the state had no control.

One of the biggest cost increases was in medical care and hospitalization, which rose 1,487.9 percent in ten years. The cost of mental health increased more than 215 percent general government more than 220 percent; regulatory services more than 27 percent conservation and recreation almost 129 percent; and highways, airways, and waterways, more than 107 percent.

In all, state operating expenditures for the 10-year period ending last year rose almost 170 percent.
The two biggest factors, of course, were the increase in the state's population of almost one million persons, which required expanded services, and the rising costs of salaries for government workers, especially teachers, which required more money.

The current total state governmental expenditures now exceed 80 percent goes for education public welfare and health services.

Help spring along inside your house

How'd you like to hurry up the arrival of spring? Well, let's just say, inside the house.

Many spring-flowering trees and shrubs can be forced into early bloom by bringing some branches into your home now. Other trees and shrubs that bloom in the summer can also be forced indoors and will come into leaf during the winter.

These flowering or leafing branches make interesting and beautiful arrangements that will perk up a dull winter.

Methods of forcing are easy and simple. Be sure branches are well supplied with flower buds. These buds will be larger and of a different shape than leaf buds.

SECONDLY, choose branches of interesting shapes for variety. Also, when cutting, keep in mind the vase they're going to be in. You can cut small twigs or 6 foot sprays, but don't cut any that are over a half-inch in diameter.

Cut the branches on a mild day with a knife or pruning shears. Crush the lower end so more water can be absorbed. Put the cut ends in a large vase or container of water and set them in a cool place, such as the cellar. As soon as buds are plump and swelled, bring them into a warmer room.

Some easily-forced branches such as pussy willow, poplar or aspen, and forsythias, can be brought into the living room at once.

Remember, however, that forced flowers and leaves of any plant are very tender. Never expose them to direct sunlight. They'll keep better in cool, humid rooms, too, rather than in hot, dry rooms.

Some other plants you might want to try now are azalea, birch, hawthorne, dogwood, oak, lilac and most fruits.

Generally it will take from two to three weeks for forcing. The closer you start forcing to the normal flowering time, the shorter will be your forcing time.

Most shrubs and trees must have had at least eight weeks of below 40 before they will produce flowers. That's why you can't have pussy willows for Christmas.
