

Looks like record number

Schools face fall enrollment problems

St. Johns is headed for another record school enrollment next year, and while this is problem enough in itself, the distribution of the enrollment along the grade ladder is causing a serious headache for the school administration.

There are three major problem areas so far, all involving city schools.

1) There will be a pile-up of students at the fifth and sixth grade levels at Swegles and Perrin-Palmer schools, created mostly by the fact there is no fifth or sixth grade at East Ward School.

2) Counting St. Joseph School first graders next year, there will be about 212 first graders in city schools. This will require seven sections, and right now there are only six classrooms available.

3) JUNIOR HIGH ENROLLMENT will be basically the same, but because of higher high school enrollment, high school facilities will not be available for junior high physical education. This forces the junior high students back to Central where the problem is what to do with them there.

School officials are busy battling around possible solutions and trying to make them fit into a logical position. The school board may clear up some of the problem next Wednesday night when they tackle the enrollment figures in detail.

Here are some of the considerations being given by the board and school administrators.

1) The project enrollment at Swegles School includes 32 fifth graders and 43 sixth graders; at Perrin-Palmer there would be 68 fifth graders and 56 sixth graders.

This, school officials say, will require two fifth grades and two sixth grades. The exact locations of these grades hasn't been determined, but efforts will be made to eliminate any possible combination of grades (both fifth and sixth grades under one teacher).

2) There are only two alternatives to the first-grade problem in the schools—either an additional classroom or an increase in the size of classes. Presently they are averaging around 31.

3) PUBLIC SCHOOL and St. Joseph school officials are considering a plan of possibly sharing a physical education program, which if it works out would enable the junior high to have physical education. Without it, there would not be much of an alternative but to increase class size.

Another consideration is being given to the adding of two English sections, which will help lower the class size for that subject. The junior high now has eight sections with a class size of about 35 students. A combination English-physical education instructor would work out nice if a physical education program can be continued for the junior high.

At the high school there will likely be about 1,078 students next year, an increase of nearly 60 over last fall's 1,020. There will be an increase of 24 in the freshman class, 36 in the sophomore class, and 17 in the junior class. School officials anticipate a decrease of about 19 in the senior class next year.

BUT THE OVERALL PROBLEM created is that of one more classroom. Some areas of the curriculum will call for additional part-time teachers, probably equaling an additional teacher to the payroll.

Await word on disaster aid requests

The Clinton County Disaster Committee has recommended that the county be declared a disaster area under Public Law 85-58 and be eligible for certain federal funds to assist in the clean-up and rebuilding after the April 21 tornadoes.

Both the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service and the Farmers Home Administration offices are awaiting word on the request from federal headquarters.

A "disaster area" title for Clinton County would mean both agencies would make available low-interest loans to persons who were unable to obtain loans locally.

Whitney said the rural housing disaster loans would be for individuals only, and not commercial establishments. They are available in any type of disaster for individuals in communities of less than 5,500 population who cannot get loans through normal local channels.

The FHA office is awaiting work on their request for additional disaster funds approval that would make the loans available for replacing livestock and equipment. Whitney said Monday he had no idea just how soon his week-old request would be acted on.

MEANWHILE THE ASCS is requesting that Clinton County be declared a disaster area so that an allocation of ACP funds can be made available to assist farmers in cleaning debris from cropland and repairing or rebuilding fences destroyed by the tornado.

"Conservation practices approved for disaster areas have rules that determine eligibility, and the amount of cost-share assistance that may be paid," William Smith, ASCS office manager in St. Johns, pointed out.

The practice that assists farmers to rebuild or repair fences is quite restrictive. This practice is applicable only to the repair or rebuilding of permanent fences (excluding yard fences) that 1) are essential to the establishment of permanent cover on areas seriously eroded or subject to serious erosion, or 2) are needed to protect from damage by over-grazing a permanent vegetative cover that is needed to prevent serious wind or water erosion.

THE OTHER PRACTICE requested is to assist farmers in removing debris from cropland. This practice would share the cost of removing debris to return the land to its normal productive capacity. Farmers who receive payment from an insurance company to remove debris could not earn a cost-share payment through this program.

"As soon as we hear from our request, we will pass the information along," Smith said.

Smith said the disaster committee met last Monday morning and decided to request a "disaster area" designation for Clinton, Iowa and possibly other counties also made the request, Smith said, and it is possible all requests will be acted on at once as soon as all requests are made.

Dragoo leaving road commission

A. Lester Drago, manager and engineer for the Clinton County Road Commission since 1956, has accepted a position of engineer-manager with the Osceola County Road Commission starting June 1.

The announcement was made last weekend.

Dragoo has a wide background of highway engineering work. Following graduation from Michigan Technological University in 1937, he worked for the State Highway Department for one year and then went to work for the Kalkaska County Road Commission.

He worked on a naval airport at Traverse City in 1942. He served with the Army Engineers, attached to the 9th Air Force in the European Theatre during World War II from 1943 to 1945 and then returned to Kalkaska County.

He stayed there until 1953 when he took on a three-year stint

Crackdown on shoplifters pending

Most shoplifting doesn't involve much in the way of size or price of items stolen, but taken as a total problem it's costing St. Johns retailers a pile of dough every year.

At next Wednesday's meeting of the Retail Division of the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce, an appointed committee will make some recommendations about what to do about the problem.

"And this is a serious problem in St. Johns," the committee pointed out. "Kids are the biggest offenders, but there are adults who shoplift, too."

The committee, made up of Alan R. Dean, Leo Smitgen, Ken Dickens and Bill Chalmers, is almost sure to recommend a strong crackdown on shoplifting offenders.

"IF WE DON'T PROSECUTE, (the law) won't have any effect," they said. A state law specifically pertaining to shoplifting has been in effect since 1958.

Most of the merchants' problems seem to be with high school students and even some from the junior high level. Much of the thievery takes place during the noon hour when hundreds of teens mill around downtown during the school lunch break.

"Sometimes they work in gangs," the committee pointed out. "They will go into a store, and two or three will get the clerk's attention diverted while the others work."

"Giving them a break at the time they are caught doesn't always stop the problem, because many times that same kid will be back doing it again."

That's why the committee would like to see all merchants join in a concentrated effort of prosecuting shoplifting offenders as a possible means of preventing shoplifting by others. "Tim Green, (probate judge) has assured us the complete cooperation of his court on this matter," the committee said.

THE COMMITTEE COMMENDED city police for their action against shoplifters that are caught, but they pointed out that all merchants are not reporting this or turning over to the police the shoplifters they do catch. "Shoplifting is a felony, and as such it is a crime that should automatically be turned over to the police and the courts."

There is no way of knowing exactly how much in dollar value shoplifters cost retailers. Merchants can only estimate and figure it into the overhead of the business, meaning it's a part of the price which the honest customer then has to pay.

In some cases, shoplifting can break the small business man.

Long an individual problem for shop owners, the problem of shoplifting has been growing to such proportions that it was brought up at a recent retail meeting for discussion. The committee of Dean, Smitgen, Dickens and Chalmers was appointed to make some recommendations.

Auxiliary to purchase it

Heart monitor unit planned at Clinton Memorial Hospital

A two-bed heart monitor unit that would keep a constant watch on the heart action of intensive care coronary patients is being planned for Clinton Memorial Hospital.

The unit will be purchased by the Hospital Auxiliary partially with funds it will raise in a current membership drive and coronary care unit drive.

The unit being sought will cost in the neighborhood of $8,000 to $9,000.

"It is the biggest project we have ever tried," said Mrs. Jerry Stone, current president of the Auxiliary. The Auxiliary will use money it has earned during the year, plus money from memorials and memberships to apply to the cost of the monitoring unit and pacemakers. Projects have included TV rentals and the gift cart at the hospital, as well as numerous activities outside the hospital.

THE HEART MONITOR unit's operation is not complicated. It involves placing a small electrode on the patient's chest, and the patient's heart beat is then recorded simultaneously on monitors at the bedside and at the nursing station.

Any disturbances in the heart rate or stopping of the heart sets off an alarm system which alerts the nurse that the patient is having difficulty.

As soon as the alarm is sounded the monitor at the nursing station automatically records a heart tracing. This assists the doctor in determining what heart irregularity has occurred and helps him in instituting prompt treatment. It also helps in picking up irregularities of the heart in patients who only have disturbances occurring for 5 to 30 seconds.

The monitor actually provides a continuous electro-cardiogram on the patient's heart.

Separate from the monitor units but also used for intensive care of coronary patients will be a pacemaker unit. The pacemaker is used to give an electric stimulant to the heart in times of stress. Clinton Memorial Hospital presently has one of these units, but it is used strictly in surgery.

THE NEW TWO-BED heart monitor unit and the pacemakers will be used in the intensive care ward of the hospital.

Mrs. Fraser MacKinnon, incoming president of the Clinton Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, said the new membership drive will play a most important part in the success of the campaign for funds to buy the heart monitor. Members of the Auxiliary are currently selling tickets for the annual meeting and tea the evening of May 17. Purchase of a ticket will constitute membership in the Auxiliary, and the money will be put into the fund for the heart units.

The Auxiliary hopes to have the finances in hand and arranged for by June so that an order for the two-bed unit can be placed. If that timetable is followed, the Clinton Memorial Hospital may have them in use by September.

ALSO ANTICIPATED as being an important part in the drive is the establishment of memorials, money for which will go toward the heart unit. One donation specifically for the units has already been received.

Mrs. Mildred Stoy of South Lowell Road made the contribution and accompanied it with the following letter:

"I am sending you $10 to be used to help buy the heart unit the hospital has asked the Auxiliary club to buy," she wrote. "This is given in memory of Mary R. Plaza. She was born March 6, 1893, and passed away March 26, 1967."

"I am sure you will receive many more donations as memorials when this is generally known."

THE ONLY OTHER such heart monitor units in the Clinton area is one at Gratiot Community Hospital in Alma. They have had it in operation only since March 2. Mrs. Stone, Mrs. MacKinnon and Mrs. Fred Tiedt, RN, an Auxiliary board member, drove to Alma last week to observe the electronic unit.

The need for such units is big, the Auxiliary pointed out. In the United States coronary artery disease (hardening of the blood vessels in the heart) is the leading cause of death, producing one-third of all deaths, more than twice as many as

Clean-up, repair continue

FWOYLER — The clean-up and repair of debris and damage from the April 21 tornado in the Fowler-Westphalia area continues this week—agonizingly slow but fruitful.

In Fowler, most of the debris has been hauled away or burned, and repairs that started the day after the tornado are progressing steadily. New roofs are appearing all over the southeast side of town, and construction of new walls at the demolished Fowler Motor Sales building started Monday.

Fowler High School resumed classes Friday after four days of storm vacation. The shop areas, however, are still not being used because of roof damage, and the gymnasium is getting only limited use during the daytime. No hot lunches have been served since the storm hit because of damage in the kitchen area.

For many people it is a case of waiting until repairmen can be obtained to do the necessary work of righting the wrong caused by the tornado.

cancer. Most of the deaths are due to heart attacks—in medical terms coronary thrombosis. Approximately 1,500,000 occur annually with a 30 per cent death rate, leading to one adult death each minute.

OF THE 30 PER cent of total deaths that occur each year, 40 per cent of these are caused by irregularities in the heart beat—something the heart monitor is designed to keep a watch on.

Since heart rate irregularities are a major cause of death in people who have heart attacks, there has been a trend in the last few years for constant electrical monitoring in coronary care units. Many hospitals in the United States today have installed the units because statistics now available show heart monitoring has further decreased the number of deaths from coronary thrombosis.

Bike license sale Saturday

Bicycle licenses for St. Johns bike owners will be sold this Saturday at the municipal building by the St. Johns Exchange Club, which supervises such a sale every year.

Police Chief Everett Glazier warned bicycle owners that bikes not licensed by May 15 will be impounded. When making application for licenses, the Exchange Club members will have to know the make, color and serial number of the bicycle.

The licenses aid in the recovery of lost and stolen bicycles, and city police report them invaluable in that respect. Supervising the sale of the licenses is one of the Exchange Club's community service projects.

Miss St. Johns, annual dinner dropped by C of C

Plans for several major Chamber of Commerce projects this spring have been dropped, mainly because of the lack of a Chamber manager.

Casualties along the way are the annual Chamber dinner originally set for last night (Wednesday, May 3), and the selection of a new Miss St. Johns for the coming year. The Chamber also dropped plans for a history brochure on St. Johns which would be sold through the high school.

Chamber Manager Mrs. John (Betty Jane) Minsky left that leadership position after last week to take another job, but she said she would still be available in an advisory position to help finish up projects already started.

NO REPLACEMENT for Mrs. Minsky has been named yet.

The annual dinner, which Mrs. Minsky organized for the first time two years ago, will be replaced this year by the annual meeting May 17 at the Central National Bank. There will be no dinner involved.

A post card sales project has come along to the point that it will be carried out to completion by Roger Hammontree.

President Leon Brewbaker will check into possibilities for Chamber participation in the Fourth of July activities this summer.

Ovid man hurt in 1-car crash

OVID—An Ovid man is reported in serious condition at Sparrow Hospital from injuries he received in a Saturday afternoon accident on M-21 near Warren Road.

Robert Jones, 37, of 115 W. Pearl Street, Ovid, was the driver of a car that skidded 112 feet and rolled over on M-21, east of Ovid, Shiawassee County Sheriff's department said.

dropped and, in fact, no Miss St. Johns will be named for the coming year.

THE THREE NEW board members—James Moore, Brandon White and Don Rossner—were to take over their positions last night (Wednesday) following adjournment by the "old board."

Leaving the board will be Max Field, Jim McKenzie and John Rumbaugh. Besides the three new men, the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors includes Roger Hammontree, Leon Brewbaker, Steve Hopko, Robert Dimer, Hugh Wallace and John Rehmann.

Earn money for uniforms

Bands to sell News subscriptions

The more-than-300 band members in the St. Johns Public Schools' band program will hit the road starting Monday with a big sales effort aimed at earning money for the new high school band uniforms.

The bandsmen will be selling new and renewal subscriptions to the Clinton County News, and for every new one they sell they'll get $1.25. Renewals will earn them 50 cents.

It could prove to be a big money-maker for the bands. Director Walter Cole and Asst. Director Gordon Gillett are organizing the members' selling efforts to cover all parts of the St. Johns School District.

The youths will carry receipt books to provide customers with proof of payment for the Clinton County News. All the money received will be turned over to the newspaper and then the bands reimbursed at the rate of $1.25 per new subscription and 50 cents per renewal.

The money will apply toward the purchase of 110 new uniforms for students plus those for the two directors and drum major. Each uniform costs about $80. Total cost is expected to be around $10,000, and the board of education will pay for half the cost.

The uniforms will be of Dacron wool and tuxedo style. The left breast welt pocket of the coat will have Swiss embroidered letters reading "St. Johns."

The uniform will have a waist-length overlay, made of white Naugahyde and cut with wide shoulders, a 22-inch felt wreath on the front of the overlay and six-inch letters "S.J." in scarlet embroidery on the back.

There will be a detachable cape for use by the marching band, as well as hats with a West Point slant top and a seven-inch detachable white plume and snap-on bow ties.

The new uniforms will be the first for the band in 15 years. Other older red uniforms still being used date back 32 years, Cole said.

JAMES BARGAR

Bargar heads educators' unit

James Bargar, art instructor at St. Johns High School, Monday took over the reins as president of the St. Johns Education Assn., a district of the Michigan Education Assn.

He was elected April 19, and replaces Ray Ebert as president. Other officers are: Roger Feeman, president-elect; Vera Austin, recording secretary; Jane Knight, corresponding secretary; Robert LaBrie, treasurer; Caroline Anderson, representative assembly delegate; Gwen Walker and Vera Bryant, council delegates; and Reva Ward and Beatrice Jorae, alternate delegates.

The St. Johns Education Assn., Bargar points out, works to improve standards and conditions within the profession and works with the school board and administration toward a quality educational system in St. Johns.

Ovid council picks Monroe

OVID—Ovid village councilmen chose Marshall Monroe president pro-tem and named Lawrence Woodworth street commissioner for one year.

Mrs. Vera Tremblay and Mrs. Doris Byres are newly elected members on the Ovid Library Board.

In other action, the council voted to spread the nine-mill assessed valuation in the following manner:

Five mills are designated for general operation, two mills for streets, and highways, one mill for parks and recreation, and another mill for debt retirement.

Village Assessor Duane Chamberlain said total valuation of the village is $3,809,150; $1,358,000 in personal valuation and $2,450,350 real estate.

Michigan Week plans readied for May 21-28

A little less than three weeks remains before the start of the annual Michigan Week, May 21-28, and county Michigan Week officials are busy tying up the loose ends to assure a meaningful observance.

Some of last year's activities—a Michigan Week parade and the district senior citizens get-together in St. Johns—aren't on the calendar this year.

But essay and room projects contests are under way in the schools of the county, and Michigan Week buttons are being distributed to all county grade school children in grades kindergarten through third.

THE COUNTY committee will also provide place mats for mayor's exchange dinners and other public dinners. The committee includes county Michigan Week Chairman Mrs. John Minsky of St. Johns, St. Johns Chairman Brandon White, and Ovid Chairman Mitchell Das.

The top events during the week will be the Chamber of Commerce—Farm Bureau rural-urban dinner at Smith Hall on Tuesday, May 23, and the Mayor's exchange day on Monday, May 22.

The rural-urban dinner will feature Michigan Lt. Gov. William G. Milliken as guest speaker. A family-style swiss steak dinner, served by the Bingham EUB ladies, will start at 7:30, preceded by a social hour from 7 to 7:30 p.m. Also on the program will be the Fowler 4, a barbershop quartet.

Tickets for the dinner are on sale from Farm Bureau and Chamber of Commerce offices and at the main offices of both groups.

THE COMMITTEE for the dinner includes Lee Ormston, Glen Whitford and E. J. Bottom of the Farm Bureau and Max Field, John Rehmann and Betty Minsky from the Chamber.

Two separate contests for the school-age residents of the county are already under way.

For grades one through six, trophies for first, second and third places in each grade will be awarded for the best room project on any historic, industrial, agricultural, religious or other topic with a Michigan theme.

Judging for those contests will be based on originality in picking a Michigan theme, originality in carrying out the theme, obvious student participation (all students should participate) and overall appearance of the project.

JUDGES WILL VISIT the schools between May 8 and 12 to view the rooms.

In grades seven through 12, six trophies will be given, one at each grade level, with students participating on an individual basis in an essay contest. Students are to write an essay of up to 500 words on "What My Community Could Do To Make Michigan Week More Meaningful."

Teachers are to select the essay in their room which is the best and submit it to the committee for judging. Judges will select what they consider the best entry submitted from students throughout the county at each grade level. The trophy will be awarded the school the child attends, rather than the student individually.

Judges will be out-of-county persons. Judging for grades one to six will be based with emphasis on student achievement rather than on use of purchased display materials.

AT THE CITY level, Michigan Week Chairman Brandon White of St. Johns is making kits containing posters, tent cards, etc., which will be sold for a nominal price to merchants. The kits will be available at the retail meeting next Wednesday.

There will be an industrial exhibit in the community room of the Central National Bank.

A parade trophy won last year by Lake's Jewelry has been donated by Lester Lake and will become a traveling trophy awarded each year to a local group which the committee feels did an outstanding community project during the year.

The first awarding of the trophy will be at the rural-urban dinner May 23; until then the name of the winning group will be kept secret. The trophy will stay with the group until next year.

Michigan Week place mats are available through the committee from White at the Central National Bank.

5 accidents in day keep officers busy

Clinton County sheriff's officers kept busy last Friday policing five automobile accidents — an unusual number for one day. At 2:20 a.m., Nell F. Ray, 27, of 900 E. Sturgis Street, St. Johns was cut and bruised when his small car flipped over on US-27 north of Center line Road. Ray told sheriff's officers he apparently fell asleep at the wheel. He was taken to Clinton Memorial Hospital.

Less than an hour later, a car operated by Karel L. Kostal, 25, of Ashley went into the ditch along US-27 north of Walker Road, where Kostal said another car forced him. That was at 3:05 a.m.

At 10 A. M. FRIDAY a wheel came off a gravel truck going north on US-27 at State Road and rolled into a car on State. The car was operated by Elta Jacobs of Lansing and the truck by William J. Sova, of Lansing. No one was hurt.

Delmar A. Lyon, 23, of Laingsburg was ticketed for failure to yield the right-of-way after he pulled off the shoulder of north-bound US-27 and made a left turn in front of another car on US-27 a half-mile north of Walker Road near St. Johns. His car and one driven by William J. Beaune, 30, of Holt collided.

Peter J. Welter, 71, of 306 E. Baldwin, St. Johns was ticketed for making an improper right turn in Fowler after he reportedly turned right from the center lane of M-21 into the path of another east-bound car driven by Allan J. Randall, 47, of Owosso. No one was injured.

Faultfinding becomes a habit — it's a drug on the market.

"Music Man" opens tonight

"The Music Man," a romantic, light-hearted musical about a salesman who dupes a town into forming a boy's band for his own gain, will hit the stage at the Rodney B. Wilson High School auditorium tonight (Thursday), Friday and Saturday.

The musical is being put on by the music department of the high school, just a year after the school's first musical, "Bye, Bye Birdie," which was a smash hit with audiences.

Curtain time will be 8 p.m. each evening.

LIKE THE HOLLYWOOD movie and the Broadway stage versions, the St. Johns High School's rendition of "The Music Man" brims with excitement and fun. It's the story of a clever, traveling salesman, Harold Hill, who deceives a stubborn Iowa town into buying band instruments.

Impersonating a music professor, Hill (played by Phil Anderson) plans to leave town with the money from the instruments and uniforms as soon as they arrive. However, Cupid's arrow goes wild, and he falls in love with the beautiful town librarian, Marian "Poroo" (Monica Hatta).

When that happens, he decides to stay in River City to settle down to an honest life. Backing up the two main characters of "The Music Man" are Steve Tarr and Karen Rumbaugh as Mr and Mrs Shinn, with Lisa Davis as Zanetta, their daughter. Pat Harper will portray Tommy Dilias. Fourth-graders Raymond Kinney and Andrea Boyce will play Winthrop and Amerifells. Kathy Zuker will be Mrs Paroo.

MEMBERS OF THE concert choir and pit orchestra will provide the musical settings for "The Music Man," scores of which include such hits as "Seventy-Six Trombones," "Till There Was You," and "Lida Rose."

Other members of the cast include Walter Gregory, Mike Ask, Mike Anderson, Chris Cornell, Tom Fowler, Scott Helbeck, John Lerg, Jerry Rossow, Kathy Cornell, Debbie Witgen, Karen Cornell and Toni Heathman.

THE APPLICANT may or may not belong to an organized study group or club.

For further information or applications, contact Mrs Richard Hebel, R-2, Ovid, Michigan, 48866, before May 9.

The three principal couples in the high school presentation of "The Music Man" this weekend are: at left, Monica Hatta as Marian and Phil Anderson as Harold Hill; center, Pat Harper as Tommy and Lisa Davis as Zanetta; and at right, Karen Rumbaugh as Eulalie and Steve Tarr as Mr Shinn.

2-family home damaged by fire

BATH — Fireman extinguished a blaze early Friday at a two-family home owned by R. V. Beckwith and located at 15548 Park Lake Road. One apartment of the house is occupied by Beckwith. Mrs Patricia Hoag and her two children occupy the other apartment.

Abbot Nelson, Bath fire chief, said children playing with matches apparently started the blaze in the basement of the Hoag apartment.

Most of the estimated $6,500 damage was in the basement, Nelson said, but there was also extensive smoke damage to the rest of the building.

Casualties of the fire were five kittens belonging to the Hoag children.

Check health careers during hospital week

Nearly two million Americans work in "cities of care", our nation's 7,000 registered hospitals. Of this number, 156 are employed by Clinton Memorial Hospital. They perform the essential services that provide every patient with the high quality care his condition requires.

Because of the rapid advances in technology during the last few years, the hospital field has become one of the most exciting areas to select for a lifetime career. For example, complicated equipment such as monitors and pacemakers that save and prolong life demand the services of teams of highly skilled and technically trained men and women. In many hospitals computers now handle patient billing and accounting and contribute to medical research and diagnostic applications.

THE URBAN RENEWAL STORY - XV

First appraisal only 1 step toward acquisition

Fitzgerald and Fitzgerald summarized and made several conclusions following the preparation of the first acquisition appraisal for the St. Johns urban renewal program. Among these were the following:

Reliance has been placed on the income and cost approaches to estimate the fair market value.

Due to the lack of sales and / or offerings of commercial structures and land in this community it was necessary to estimate market value by analysis of the income structure of business in this area and applying a realistic capitalization rate that a prudent investor would consider equitable due to age, condition and location of property.

Because of the age and architecture of these structures the cost approach to value is not usually conclusive. Although replacement costs can be approximated, it is particularly difficult to justify depreciation in all its forms. The cost approach can only be conclusive when buildings are new and the land is being utilized at its highest and best use.

THERE ARE SO FEW LAND sales and offerings of land that it was necessary to approximate the land value of those sales reported, and by a land residual method assess a value to the portion of the sale attributed to the land.

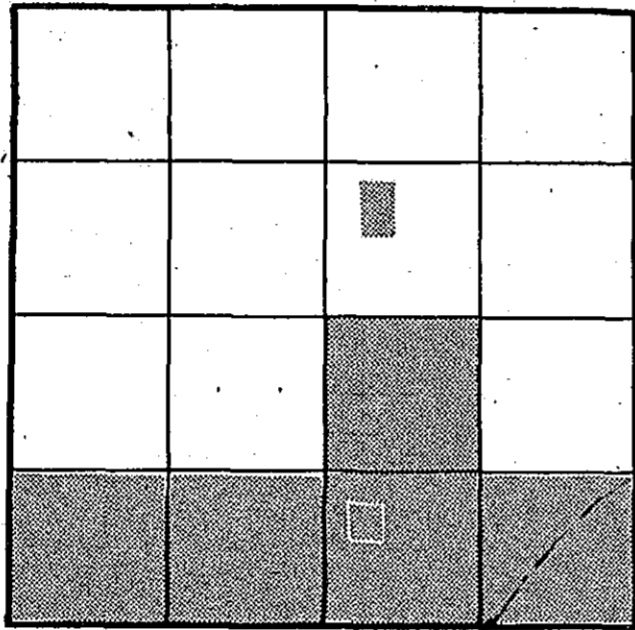

It was necessary then to ascribe the value of the land 'by comparison' on the entire project so that an equitable value could be established and consistency could be maintained.

As in any real estate appraisal a statement of limiting conditions must be made. Fitzgerald summarized this matter in this fashion:

The legal description furnished is assumed to be correct. They assumed no responsibility for matters legal in character, nor do they render any opinion as to the titles, which are assumed to be good. All existing liens and encumbrances, if any, have been disregarded and the property appraised as though free and clear under responsible ownership or competent management.

They believe the information which was furnished to them by others to be reliable, but they assume no responsibility for its accuracy.

LET'S DO SOMETHING!

To STOP CHILD MOLESTATION

We have come upon a program that we believe will be a big step in the right direction. It consists of a 30-minute film that every adult should see and a booklet that every pre-teen age child should have. The film employs professional actors and is a 16 mm. sound-and-color production. The booklet helps prepare children for the hours they must spend away from home by showing them how to tell "Good" people from "Bad" people. It speaks to them in their language and teaches them carefully, without frightening them.

This entire program is enthusiastically approved by PTA groups, law enforcement agencies, church administrators and parents. It is available to all civic, church, and fraternal organizations with our compliments.

for a showing of this revealing film and distribution of the booklet may be made by contacting us. We hope you will take advantage of this public service.

Erratic Wing golfers finally 'came on like Gang Busters'

"One of the team's biggest troubles so far is to get all the boys to have a good night together," St. Johns High golf Coach Mike Humphrey lamented last Monday night following a five-stroke defeat by Ithaca.

"This is expected with a young team, however," he went on, "one of these nights they are going to come on like Gang Busters!"

In reporting the results of last Wednesday night's match at Corunna, Coach Humphrey scratched this note on the score sheet: "The boys came on like Gang Busters."

INDEED THEY DID. The young golfers scored a 162-170 triumph over Corunna that night and followed up Thursday night with a 184-185 win over Grand Ledge, bringing their season record up to three wins and three losses at that point.

Coach Humphrey has been getting good performances out of at least one or two golfers each night, but like he said, "at this age (many are freshmen and sophomores) they are still erratic."

For example, on April 20 the varsity golfers were defeated by Hastings, St. Johns taking 185 strokes to Hastings' 174. St. Johns freshman Dave Gaffney led for medalist honors with a 41 score, but the other three players shot high scores. Mike McKay had a 47, Dan Schueller 48 and Gary Sipskovsky 49.

Then against Ithaca April 24, McKay came on strong with a 41 round to take medalist honors. The others were high. Gaffney had a 46, including six penalty strokes, Lee Lynam shot 46 and Sipskovsky had a 48.

THEN, AT CORUNNA'S Chipewa Hills course last Wednesday, everybody came on "like Gang Busters." Gaffney, a freshman, was medalist with a round of 38, while McKay and Wayne Woodbury were at 41 and Sipskovsky fired a 42.

Last Thursday back at the Clinton County Country Club the scores were much higher, but St. Johns eked out a 184-185 win over Grand Ledge. McKay was medalist this time with a 42 score, while Sipskovsky had 43, Gaffney slipped to 48, and Schueller came in with a 51.

In conjunction with those four varsity matches, three JV matches were played, with St. Johns winning two of them. The loss was to Hastings 197-189. For St. Johns, Wayne Woodbury shot a 45, Mike Davidson 49, Gary Masarik 51 and Dave Harper 52.

Against Corunna, Davidson and Schueller shot 48, Lee Lynam 47 and Harper 48 as St. Johns won easily 187-209. Last Thursday the JVs edged Grand Ledge 223-224 as Harper shot 51, Mike Davidson 54, Joe O'Leary 57 and Gary Masarik 61.

'Spoiler' Wings in first place

The St. Johns Redwings took definite "spoiler" role in the West-Central Conference baseball league this year after defeating the league favorite, Grand Ledge, 4-2 last Thursday afternoon.

The pre-season pick was for St. Johns to finish somewhere in the middle of the standings; but now holding first place, they're almost assured of finishing in the 'first division.' "Our club is too young and inexperienced to have ideas about winning the championship," Coach Bill Smiley said, "but we think we can make the race more interesting."

SENIOR HURLER Gary Boyce picked up his third victory of the year last Thursday and got started on the right foot by leading off the first inning with a bases-empty home run. It was his third homer in six games.

The Wings scored again in the second inning when Bob Hart got on a fielder's choice, moved to second on a walk and scored on brother Bruce Hart's single.

The Wings got two runs in the fifth inning to make it 4-0. Boyce singled, Cary Hambleton doubled and then Boyce scored on Terry Mader's infield hit. Craig Knight was walked intentionally to fill the bases, but the Wings then pulled off a successful triple steal, with Hambleton scoring.

GRAND LEDGE got their runs in the top of the seventh inning. Boyce walked the first two batters, and after one man was retired Grand Ledge filled the bases on an error. The first run scored on a fielder's choice and the second on an infield.

Mason man fires 737 actual series

Ingham shot games of 246, 215, and 276 and then added a 47-pin handicap. His 737 actual was six pins higher than the handicap score of Lynn Snyder of Breckenridge, who now holds second place with a 731.

Maple planted on county lawn

The St. Johns Woman's Club last Thursday repeated an act their predecessors did back in the early 1900s — planted a tree on the courthouse lawn.

The planting last week of a 15-year-old Norway Maple tree was done during Arbor Week "as a living memorial to the 22 women who were the founders of the St. Johns Woman's Club" 75 years ago.

Mrs John Rumbaugh, president of the Woman's Club, read a short dedicatory message, and Mrs Harold Roberts, chairman of the conservation and gardens committee, turned over a shovelful of dirt for the replanting of the tree. R. G. Becher, building and grounds engineer for the county, accepted the tree for the county. The tree was purchased by the Woman's Club through Pine Creek Nursery.

The DeWitt High School Band and Chorus will be presenting their annual spring concert on Sunday, May 7, at 3 p.m. in the High School gym.

The Drama Club of DHS has been very busy in their last few days of rehearsal for their play to be presented May 4 and 5 at 8 p.m. in the high school cafeteria. The name of the play is "Our Town," a drama by Thornton Wilder. The play is under the direction of Mrs Barbara Gebhardt, student director Patsy Flak, and assistant student director Mary Ann Ordway. Tickets will be available at the door both nights.

Straw hats, hillbilly pants and funny outfits made Sadie Hawkins day at DHS last Friday. The J-Mars played at a dance which was held in the cafeteria the same night. The day turned out to be quite a success for everyone.

Chevrolet's room, ride and price. When Automotive News made its annual roominess study, Chevrolet got the most points. It's roomier inside, they reported, than any other American car. The ride is Full Coil suspension smooth. And Chevrolet hardtops and convertibles are still the lowest priced full-size cars of this kind you can buy. Chevrolet's quick size. It's quick to climb, quick to turn. Other mid-size cars might be like Chevelle, true. But they're not as low priced. Cheerleaders for 1967-68 chosen at O-E

The 1967-68 cheerleaders at Ovid-Elsie have been chosen. The new varsity squad for next year will be made up of Karen Hawley, Raelene Loznak, Judy Thornton, Paula Onstott, Diane Bashore and Kay Laditski. The junior varsity squad consists of Ruth Ann Hubbard, Theresa O'Donnell, Sue Besco, Monica Gazda, Chris Taft, and Vicki Cerney.

These girls were all chosen for their originality, gymnastic talents, pep, personalities and their over-all cheering abilities.

Art projects in design, perspective, color, still life, posters and commercial art were displayed in the main lobby and south corridor of Ovid-Elsie High School Saturday and Sunday by the Ovid-Elsie Art Department. It was the first art exhibit ever for O-E.

Various chairman working on the art show were: Ken Baese, publicity; Carol Davis, display arrangement; Deb Chaffee, cleanup; Crystal Mitchell, guides; and Bruce Call, posters. Mary Ziegls, Jesse Van DeCreek and Kathy Beach made special murals. Mrs. Willa Allread, the art teacher, helped make the art show possible.

Twenty-six men recently officially charter the Ovid-Elsie Jaycees. The Jaycees is a non-profit organization with a purpose of helping the community, and members are men from 21 to 35 years of age. They are in hopes of bringing the two towns closer together to benefit the older people of the two communities.

By 1980 there will be 24.5 million people in the United States over the age of 65. In 1966, reports the National Council on Aging, the U.S. had 18.5 million people 65 years old or older.

First night of O-E play ruined by twister warning

BY CATHY ROBINSON
Ovid-Elsie High School

The curtain for "Seven Days in May" opened at 8 on Friday, April 21. The first few scenes in the play went exactly as rehearsed until Mr. Kelley, the director of the play, announced the severe weather conditions.

Towards the end of the first act, the play cast and the audience were guided to the locker room for safety precautions. The two locker rooms were quite crowded, but they relieved many of the people.

Everyone stood against the walls. Men were posted outdoors to keep a tornado watch. After the all-clear was given, the cast returned backstage and the audience returned to the auditorium. But the play was unable to continue because the lighting system failed during the storm.

Saturday night April 22, the curtain again opened for "Seven Days in May" and this time the play continued to the ending without any interruptions.

Mr. Kelley gave special recognition to some of the outstanding performances of some of the cast.

THE OVID - ELSIE Maraudian received an award of excellence from the North-Central Michigan Interscholastic Press Conference. This award was presented in special recognition of the Maraudian's feature stories.

The Maraudian was judged on the basis of four issues sent to Central Michigan University. Four categories of the paper were judged: feature stories, editorials, news stories and layout. Each category was judged and received a grade from 1-4. One indicates that the work was poor, two average, three above average, and four superior.

Besides the "four" awarded to the feature page, the Maraudian received "two's" in the three other categories.

THE OVID-ELISIE Marauders' and the Corunna Cavaliers battled for eight innings Tuesday, April 25, before O-E pushed across a run in the bottom of the eighth to win by a score 3-2. This was O-E's second extra-inning game in the last three games they have played.

The hitting stars for O-E were Garcia with a double and a single, and Klabbak with two singles. Seybert also smacked a double and Wier and Bates added singles.

Music is for all ages

It is official! May 7-14 has been proclaimed Music Week in St. Johns. Signing the official proclamation is Mayor Charles Coletta. Mrs. Leo Maki, vice president of the Morning Musicale, and Tina were on hand for the official signing. The theme for National Music Week is "Music Is for Everyone."

St. Johns students were there for Woldumar program Friday

St. Johns Public Schools were represented Friday at the tri-county outdoor educational center, Woldumar, southwest of Lansing when the Swegles safety patrols and service squad members attended an all-day science and conservation meeting.

A "World Conservation Day" program was presented to over 1,000 students and adults from Clinton, Eaton and Ingham counties. The day-long activities ran from 9:45 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The urgent need for conservation of our natural resources was the main theme of the program. Following the scheduled program that ran until noon, two representatives from each school planted a pine tree on the slopes of Woldumar. Last year a tree was also planted to represent the St. Johns Public Schools, and it is alive and growing beautifully, teachers report.)

IMMEDIATELY following a sack lunch, the children were taken on a tour of the 160-acre area with 10 stopping stations. At each station a member from the Conservation Department devoted from 10 to 20 minutes discussing and demonstrating conservation practices and pointing out various kinds of wild life in each designated area.

The children were permitted to tour the buildings to observe the science exhibits and the work of students who recently attended Woldumar's camp on Saturdays and weekends.

Lenn Stittman, director of the Nature Way Assn., mingled with the children and discussed the various planned projects.

ADDITIONAL highlights of the program were: meeting and talking with the foreign students who were there from MSU; getting the message from Smokey the Bear; and riding on the amphibian owned and operated by the Michigan State Police.

Students and teachers were present from several Clinton County public and parochial schools. The Bath High School band played.

Mrs. Leo Brunner, a room mother, and Mrs. Ethel Huot, principal of Swegles Street School, accompanied the Swegles sixth grade students.

Woldumar is a 160-acre farm donated by Mrs. Gladys Olds Anderson to be used as an educational Nature Center. At present, it is the only one of its kind in the United States.

A $33,470 federal planning grant was awarded in April 1966. In July 1966, five consecutive three-day seminars were held at Woldumar Center to orient teachers to the curriculum implications of outdoor education, as well as to the Woldumar site itself.

THE NEED FOR professional and representative advice on legal, administrative and policy matters became apparent in the beginning. As a result, the Eaton County Intermediate Board appointed a six-man Outdoor Education Policy Board composed of school, university and state officials, which has continued to give advice and direction to the total tri-county education project.

A working agreement has been reached between private non-profit organizations, Nature Way Assn. (recipient of the $436,000 Woldumar property donation) and the administering Eaton County School District.

Glenn Bedell, soil survey party leader for the tri-county soils mapping project, talks to a group of youngsters Friday during a day-long outing at Woldumar southwest of Lansing.

Seek addresses for band alumni

A committee making plans for a Band Alumni Reunion in St. Johns May 28 is seeking the addresses of a number of band graduates from the last nine years.

Marilynn Motz of R-6, St. Johns is requesting the full name, (both names, if married) and address of the students to be sent to her as soon as possible. The reunion will be for all past and current band members, including those members who participated in the band for any number of years throughout high school.

4-H Club Chatter

By JOHN AYLSWORTH
Extension 4-H Youth Agent

Fifty-two 4-H members, leaders and parents participated in a very successful 4-H rabbit project meeting last Tuesday evening at Smith Hall. Mrs. William Weinhart of Manchester showed the group how to show a rabbit, clip its toe nails and buck teeth, how to tattoo a number in the rabbit's ear, how to select a rabbit and the difference in various rabbit breeds.

Everyone who attended felt they had learned a lot about the rabbit project. Members should have their market rabbits to be about 10-12 weeks of age and weigh around four pounds each by fair time in August. There seems to be a lot of interest in the rabbit project this year. Members should raise several bred does if possible so if they lose a litter, they would have another one to fall back on.

The Double M 4-H Club will hold its organizational meeting on Monday, May 8, at 7:30 p.m. at the Sherwood School. The school is located on Hyde Road one mile east of US-27. Anyone interested in joining this club should be present to sign up. For more details contact the organinizational leader, Mrs. Bruce Amos.

The Victor 4-H Club held its first meeting of the summer and had 50 members enrolled. Officers elected include Linda VanVelsor as president; Gary VanVelsor as vice president; Ruth Scott as secretary; Dan McMassters as treasurer; and Mary Dunn as reporter. The club will decide at their next meeting how they will participate in the 4-H Talent Show on June 30.

Miss Judy Kramer of Fowler was interviewed Saturday at Michigan State University for a possible Michigan Women's National Farm and Garden Assn. scholarship. The results of the scholarship interviews have not been announced. Miss Kramer was president of the Fowler Busy Bees 4-H winter club.

The Willing Workers' 4-H Club members have elected Charlene Flak as their president for the coming year. Other officers include Karen Rossow as vice-president; Phyllis Kleuckling as secretary; June Sehlke as treasurer; and Phyllis Flak as news reporter. There are presently 24 members enrolled in the club.

The Trail Blazers 4-H members participated in a trail ride and have been learning the different parts of the horse, saddle and bridle. Betty Moots has been elected president for the 1967 club year. Other officers include Don Brown as vice president; Sheila Smith as secretary; and Ron Brown as treasurer. Don Brown and Cheryl Runzick will serve on the calling committee. The club now has 16 members with two new ones.

Speaking of horses, it seems like the 4-H Saddle Horse project is creating a lot of interest and enthusiasm as we are starting four new saddle horse clubs this spring. New horse clubs and leaders include Mr. and Mrs. Rex Hoover of DeWitt, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Ketchum of R-1, Eagle, Hervey Mills and Nadine Tagg of Grand Ledge, and Jackie Andrews and Roy Jubb of Bath. Any youth wishing to join a saddle horse club should contact the leaders or the Extension office for further details. Is there any interest regarding the Saddle Horse project in the St. Johns area? If there is enough interest, there is a possibility of starting a new club here in St. Johns.

A 4-H photography clinic for 4-H members, leaders and parents has been set up for Saturday, May 13, from 2 to 4 p.m. at the South Elementary School in Rhaca. This clinic will involve 12 photography experts from throughout the area. The program will be cafeteria style with sessions in picture taking, camera selection, dark room techniques, mounting and exhibiting, and photography as a 4-H project or personal hobby. All kinds of photo materials will be available.

The Parker's Workers 4-H Club held their local achievement at the home of their leaders, Mr. and Mrs. William Parker. The style review was followed with demonstrations by Kurt Parker on "Beginning Stitches to Knit"; Wendy Hawley on a "Hemming Stitch"; Marla Tait on "Marking a Pattern"; Billy Parker on "Knitting Terms and Abbreviations"; Colleen Wilcox on "How to Make a Patch Pocket"; Barbara Kurnez on "How to Set in a Plain Sleeve"; and Nancy Parker on "Groomed to be a Model."

Officers elected for the summer club include Grant Palen as president; Larry Linman as vice president; Greg Palen as secretary; Billy Parker as treasurer; and Colleen Wilcox as news reporter. The club passed a new rule that all members must have paid all past dues to rejoin the 4-H Club.

The 4-H TV Science Program that was being shown on each Saturday Morning at 10 a.m. on Channel 10 has not been shown for the past three weeks because of a committee hearing. I have been advised that the program will continue where it left off. Members are advised to check the program each Saturday to see when it will be starting again.

Last weekend 52 4-H members and seven adults from Clinton County had some excellent experiences while participating in the Yankee Springs 4-H Camp Award trip. The experiences varied as many have never participated in camp activities. The tornado alerts were out for the area there, so the 4-H

County man heads National Rifle Assn.

He has been a delegate to the American Kennel Club for the past 25 years.

Glasen has been in the legal profession since 1930 and is a noted trial lawyer, now with the Lansing legal firm of Glasen, Parr, Rhead and McLean. He has been active as president of the Lansing Bar Assn. and chairman of several important state bar committees.

F-M sales, earnings off so far

Federal-Mogul Corp. sales in the first three months of 1967 were $55,164,000 and net earnings were $2,966,000 or 57 cents a share, James O. Wright, president, reported at the recent annual meeting of shareholders in Detroit.

In the corresponding period of 1966, the company's sales were $59,685,000 and net earnings were $3,966,000 or 76 cents a share.

Wright said the principal reason for the declines were a reduction in automotive volume, a strike of one month's duration at the Aerohead-Aerospace Division, and competitive pressures in the placement parts market.

REGARDING THE second quarter, he said that sales and earnings are expected to be higher than they were in the first quarter, but below last year's levels unless there is a sudden upturn in the economy. Wright expressed optimism about the year as a whole, citing the recent improvement in passenger car sales and economic forecasts of a stronger second half, as well as internal moves by the company.

"The benefits of Federal-Mogul's success in diversifying its business through acquisitions and the development of new products for a wider variety of markets are particularly evident in the type of economic situation that currently prevails. Because of such activities in the past, our financial results thus far this year are better than they otherwise would have been, and we are looking to additional developments of a similar kind to add new strength to our business in the period ahead."

Shareholders approved a proposal to authorize the issuance of 750,000 no-par value shares of cumulative convertible preferred stock. The company plans to issue 120,000 of the new shares to purchase the assets and business of the National Grinding Wheel Co. of North Tonawanda, N.Y.

Under terms of the purchase agreement between the two companies, the shares issued for this acquisition are convertible at the rate of 2.225 shares of Federal-Mogul common stock for each share of preferred.

Captain John A. Dahlgren began the attack with his own flag flying in the monitor Catskill on July 6,

The infant daughter of Mr and Mrs Douglas Campbell was baptized Tuesday evening, April 25, at St. John the Baptist Church. Clayton Campbell and Mrs Joanne Pinkney acted as sponsors. She will answer to the name of Denise Marie.

There will be a meeting of the Men's Club for all the ladies and men of St. John the Baptist parish Sunday evening, May 7, at 8 p.m. There will be a guest speaker and lunch will be served after the meeting.

Art VanEpps returned to his home here Monday to spend the summer.

The American Legion Auxiliary will meet Friday, May 5, at 8 p.m. at the clubhouse.

Mr and Mrs Fred Billings have returned home after spending some time in Florida with their son, Charles Billings and his family, in Arizona with another son, James Billings, and his family and in California with a daughter, Mrs Ethel Curtis. While in California their grandson, Patrick Cunningham, spent a week with them.

1863. Never had Admiral Dupont led one of the monitors in a fight. But when the union sailors saw Dahlgrens flag they cheered heartily.

But they had one of the longest and hardest naval campaigns in history ahead of them. The New Ironsides and line of monitors steamed in as close as they could get to the fort and fired away at it every day. Inside the iron turrets it was very hot and the noise from the shot and shell was almost as bad as the heat.

WHEN SOME OF Fort Wagner's guns were disabled by the Union ships, the Confederates sent new guns across the harbor at night. Each evening Admiral Dahlgren sent one of the monitors around the point of the harbor to stop this. As the monitor went in and out, all the forts in the harbor fired at her.

All through July and August this kind of hard fighting went on. It lasted until the fort was captured Sept. 6. The New Ironsides was hit by 164 heavy shot, and the Montauk by 154 during the siege. Four or five times every day all the monitors were hit. But only one man was killed. This was the captain of the Catskill, who was struck by a shell splinter that came through the opening in his pilot-house.

After Fort Wagner was captured it became a Union battery. But Admiral Dahlgren did not go on to capture Charleston. Besides, the Union army had a fort on the island at the entrance to the harbor, it wasn't important to take the city now. No blockade-runners could get in or out, and the monitors could always anchor close to Fort Wagner and keep the Confederate ironclads at home.

TOWARD THE END of 1863 the Confederates started work on another ironclad, the Columbia, even bigger than the Charleston. She was to have six inches of armor and it was hoped that she would be able to fight the monitors. The work on the Columbia was very slow because the Confederacy was so short of iron. To make matters worse, when she was nearly finished, she ran aground on a trial trip down the harbor the Confederates sent her on. A Union army captured Columbia from the land

Record 263 youths display 329 projects at talent show

A record 263 Clinton County youths exhibited 329 projects at the recent Clinton County Youth Talent and Hobby Show sponsored by the St. Johns Rotary Club.

Top exhibits at the show were judged to be a work of sculpture by Michael Beagle of rural Bath and an exhibit on roundworms by Kathy Bashore of St. Johns. Each received a $50 savings certificate.

Savings certificates for $25 each were awarded to the other top exhibits in each age group. They went to Linda Davis for a yarncraft exhibit, Edmond Cheaney for a mouse breathing display, Tom Wagonschutz for a model car wash, and Steve VanVleet for a shell collection.

ROTARIANS estimated about 600 persons visited the displays the evenings of April 20 and 21 and the afternoon of April 22. The attendance was cut somewhat, they feel, by Friday night's tornado situation.

Here are the winners of ribbons at the show, as picked by a team of judges headed by Rotary President F. Earl Haas.

Best of show

Best exhibit by a girl: Kathy Bashore for a biology exhibit on round worms.

By HILA BROSS Librarian Bement Public Library

Noel Gerson is one of the most prolific writers of our time, and at the same time he is one of the most popular teachers of American history imprint. He has to his credit some 22 books of fiction, all on historical subjects, and 12 non-fiction books of history presented in a very readable form.

His latest novel is THE SWAMP FOX, the story of the rugged character of the American Revolution, Francis Marion, Marion was born to a Huguenot family in South Carolina. He had always wanted to be a lawyer rather than a farmer but he discovered that his great need for individual freedom was not met in the law profession.

HE ALSO MISSED the swamps and marshes and as the revolution spread to his native South Carolina, he found himself developing a type of warfare unknown at that time, but common in ours. He was the first man to lead a band of fighters now known as guerrillas. His constant harassment of the formal British troops, and the numerous surprise attacks helped immeasurably to win the war of independence in the southern colonies.

Noel Gerson has caught the flavor of the times and the character of the man in THE SWAMP FOX, equally as well as he captured John Hancock in YANKEE DOODLE DANDY and Patrick Henry in GIVE ME LIBERTY.

Gerson's newest book of non-fiction is a saga of America's mountain men, entitled THE LAST WILDERNESS. It deals with 19th century exploration and development of the Rocky Mountains. Such famous men as Jim Bridger and Kit Carson find their way into this book, but in a straight narrative form, not a fictional form as in the book about Francis Marion.

MR GERSON LIVES with his family in Connecticut. He spends most of his time writing, but See BOOK SHELF page 2-B

Serve 'flowers' for dinner tonight

BY HELEN B. MEACH
Extension Home Economist

May is the time of flowers and without a doubt you are eating them. Actually, there's nothing especially brave about eating flowers. People have been going it for a long time.

Two or three centuries ago, the people of England ate all kinds of flowers. Marigold buds were boiled and served with butter and vinegar. Primrose leaves were stirred into scrambled eggs. Violets and wild onions were served as a salad and jams were made of red rose petals. Cowslips appeared in apple tarts and rose hips were treated much as apples are today.

Today's families are still eating flowers. Onions, main stays of modern cooks are really bulbs of the lily family. Americans also display ravenous appetites for such flower buds as broccoli, cauliflower and artichokes. Broccoli, for example, which is in peak season now, is simply a cluster of thickened undeveloped flower buds. Left to their own devices, out in field or garden, the green buds would burst into bright yellow, flowers with four pretty petals.

WHEN YOU BUY broccoli, look for a crisp, clean, fresh looking bunch that is dark or purplish green. Since the whole stalk is to be eaten, tenderness is essential. Avoid those stalks that have a wilted appearance, yellowish looking leaves or a full yellow color at the bud end. These are signs of overmaturity and probable toughness.

Broccoli is a good source of vitamin A and an excellent source of vitamin C. It's low in calories too, (only 40 calories per cup) so it is a perfect vegetable to serve to those who may have developed "winter wistfulness."

LIKE ALL GREEN vegetables broccoli should always be cooked as briefly as possible. Simply wash it, slice off a tiny bit of the stem end and cook it in a sauce pan containing about one inch of boiling, salted water. Cook uncovered first 5 minutes. Then cover and cook another 10 to 15 minutes until crisp tender. Served with a butter-herb sauce or with a cheese sauce, it's a perfect vegetable dish to go along with any meat, fish or fowl.

Broccoli is available all year round, but peak supplies come to market in March and April, so now's the time to buy. Quality right now is excellent and the price is reasonable. So go ahead and eat flowers...lots of people are doing it.

Many a man rises in the world just because he fell in with the right kind of people.

Settlement of Westphalia began over 130 years ago

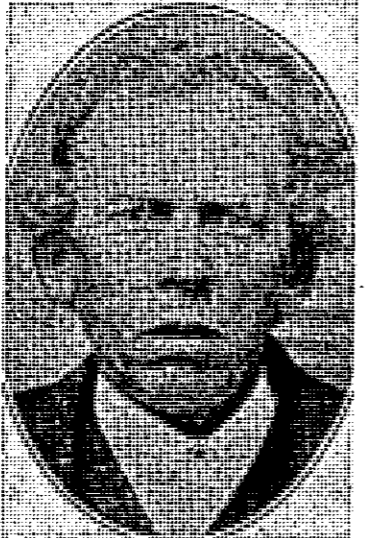

FIRST OF A SERIES
by sandi rathbun

It was a little over 130 years ago when a small group of hardy Germans (and they had to be very hardy considering the hardships they had to face when they decided to settle in Clinton county) left their homeland to come to America and live.

They left Bremen Aug. 26, 1836 and arrived Oct. 3, 1836, at New York City. Later that month they arrived in Detroit and were advised to seek government land in the Grand River Valley.

Three days after their arrival in Detroit, Fr Anton Kopp and Eberhard Platte left for the land office in Ionia. They arrived in Ionia Nov. 4 and after overcoming the language barrier succeeded in buying land Nov. 10. They paid about $1 and acre.

THE LAND WAS swampy and as a result of no interest to land speculators. It was also heavily wooded and it was said the only way one could see the sky was to chop down a tree.

After the government land was bought Father Kopp returned to Detroit where he was appointed to the German mission.

A group of five men, Anton Cordes, Joseph Platte, John Hanses, William Tillman and John Salter, guided by Father Kopp, set out on foot to explore the wilderness.

THE FIRST FOUR remained and began clearing the land.

John Hanses, the only bachelor in the group, was married Feb. 1, 1840, to a neighbor's daughter ter, Elizabeth Martin. Their marriage was the pioneer wedding of the area.

The first child born there was Elizabeth, daughter of Conrad Martin. A daughter of Eberhard Platte was recorded as the first death and the first male to die in Westphalia was a son of Anthony Cordes. Both deaths were in 1839.

Any recount of Westphalia would be incomplete without a discussion of their church. The area was settled by Catholic Germans and even at the present time there are no families living within the village limits of Westphalia who are not Catholics.

THE CHURCH was one of the first buildings to be built in the area, before its completion in the spring of 1838, Masses were said at the homes of the settlers. The first church was built of logs and cost $90.36. Father Kopp served not only as the spiritual leader of his parishioners but he also taught school and was elected the first supervisor of Westphalia township in 1839. It was the same year that Westphalia separated from Wawtertown township.

During 1840 he received $8 and several cents from the State of Michigan for teaching school for several months. Father Kopp remained in Westphalia until 1843.

The first church was located west of Platte's Creek and on the north side of the road. According to Alfred B. Smitgen, a former Westphalia businessman, the building was still standing when he was a child.

THE SECOND CHURCH was built near the present rectory and the third church, called St. Peter's, was located 50 feet south of the rectory. The building was sold to Joseph Bohr and moved to Main Street, where it was used as a tin shop and an apple drier.

completed in 1869. This church was known as St. Mary's. It was built across the street from the present church. This church was destroyed by fire April 20, 1959.

At about the same time the brick church was being built in 1867, Joseph Smitgen, grandfather of Alfred Smitgen, was having his brick store on the corner built. Joseph Smitgen had come to Westphalia in the 1850's and settled in the Westphalia area. He married Elizabeth Lehman, a settler in the area.

HE WAS THE third postmaster of Westphalia, following Fr George Godez and Joseph Platte. Anthony Smitgen, son of Joseph Smitgen, followed in his father's footsteps and operated the general merchandise store. Alfred and his brother Hilary were the third generation to operate the store which continued in business until last year. They closed after 99 years of operation.

Many changes in Westphalia are remembered by Alfred Smitgen. He recalled the muddy main street, horse sales at the livery stable and stores being opened on Sundays.

Westphalia was the center of trade for the township because of the language barrier the Ger-

Food top January sales tax producer

Food sales again topped the list of sales tax producers in Clinton County in January.

The Michigan Department of Revenue reports collecting $44,215 in sales taxes from merchants during February, based on January sales. A total of $121,444.17 in sales taxes was collected.

Other tax categories included: building material $16,189, general merchandise $4,070, automotive $33,364, apparel $2,210, furniture $3,601, miscellaneous retail $4,141, and non-retail $13,674. Total use tax collected amounted to $3,554.57.

Responsible children are made not born

By LORRAINE SPRAGUE
Extension Home Economist

A question bothering many parents is "How do we help our children develop a feeling of responsibility appear in one full sweep - it's a characteristic that needs nurturing, encouraging, training and all kinds of understanding from very early childhood on through the teen years.

To discuss this very vital topic, the family living education division of the Michigan State University Extension Service is sponsoring a meeting from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Thursday, May 11, in the First Congregational Church of St. Johns. Dr Eugene Pelsner, family life specialist from Michigan State University, will conduct the meeting.

Education Study groups, Parent-Teacher Associations, Child Study groups and similar organizations wishing to send representatives are encouraged to do so. Such representatives will receive discussion outlines and materials for their group members to assist them in conducting discussions within their own organization at a later date. Mothers of children of all ages will find this an especially interesting and valuable two hours agree Extension Home Economist Mrs Helen Meach and Miss Lorraine Sprague. Grandmothers may also find it helpful, they add.

To accommodate mothers of pre-school age children, women in Clinton County Family Living Education Study Groups are providing a nursery during the meeting. Mothers are urged to arrive early enough to leave the youngsters in the nursery and ready for the opening of the meeting at 9:30 a.m. With much to be discussed in two short hours, no one will want to miss any of it conclude the two Home Economists, Mrs Meach and Miss Sprague.

Open Letter from VAN W. HOAG

Dear Friends,

If the bereaved family has definite church affiliations, the choice of clergyman for the funeral service is rather automatic. In other circumstances, the funeral director will assist in securing a clergyman. Naturally the time of the funeral service should not be set without the concurrence of the officiating clergyman.

Respectfully,

Van W. Hoag

Continued from page 1-B during his brief periods of leisure he indulges in his favorite pastimes of swimming and gardening. His college major was in American History, but before he started writing books he was a newspaperman and foreign correspondent.

Another prolific American writer, Taylor Caldwell, who has many books to her credit, has just published her latest entitled DIALOGUES WITH THE DEVIL. Miss Caldwell's books of recent years have dealt with religious subjects. Her DEAR AND GLORIOUS PHYSICIAN was a fictionalized biography of St. Luke. THE LISTENER AND NO ONE HEARS BUT HIM were both collections of short stories all written in a common format, and all dealing with a strong, almost mystical religious theme.

Now with DIALOGUES WITH THE DEVIL, she pursues her adventures into the world of religion and joins the ranks of such distinguished writers as the classical Dante and the 20th century C. S. Lewis. Whether DIALOGUES WITH THE DEVIL will ever sum the stature of Lewis' SCREWTAPE LETTERS remains to be seen. She does, however, travel further afield than Lewis does, and dramatizes some of the most crucial, universal issues in the world today.

THE IN SPORTS by D. S. Halacy Jr. is a survey of the leisure time activities of the group of people who are "in the know" today, those who set styles and break traditions for the rest of the people who are not so bold.

The sports which are considered by Mr Halacy to be "in" at the present include: water skiing, skin and scuba diving, surfing, skydiving, running the rapids, mountaineering, soaring (flight without power), spelunking (exploration of caves), ice-boating and free ballooning.

Well, it looks as if we all have our summer cut out for us, at least if we want to be "in."

NEWS WANT ADS Do the Trick Quick

Was busy first for league student council

BY MARY LOU WIRTH League News Reporter

The Central Michigan League Student Council is an organization through which the schools of the CMAC are brought together to the schools involved.

At the beginning of the 1966-67 school year officers were chosen from the various schools. The officers are: president, Dennis Steere, Laingsburg; vice president, Joe Koenigsnecht, Fowler; secretary, Christie McDougall, Laingsburg; and treasurer, Jane Stump, Pewamo Westphalia.

Three meetings were held during the school year. The first meeting was at Fowler, the second at Laingsburg, and the third at Pewamo-Westphalia.

IN ORDER TO BECOME better acquainted with the operation of the various school systems, student council exchange days were scheduled. The exchange days took place twice during the school year.

Two dances were also held to develop a spirit of co-operation and friendship among the schools. In November, DeWitt was host to an All-League Dance and honors were bestowed upon the outstanding football players in the CMAC League.

The CMAC League Student Council also purchased an "All Sports Trophy." The trophy will be a traveling one until the school who wins it three times (need not be consecutive) keeps the trophy.

THE LEAGUE BECAME part of a charity program by donating $30 to the school in Jude, Wis. for a memorial to the students who were killed on their class trip to New Orleans.

SANDY McQUEEN

Sandy McQueen of R-3, St. Johns, was among 80 4-H girls attending the annual dairy foods conference April 23-25 at Michigan State University's Kellogg Center.

It is the future hope of the CMAC League Student Council to have more educational competition such as debates, science fair, etc., an exchange of assemblies among the schools, and a League newspaper.

The Church for All...
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Catholic women take up bishop's meet challenge

A challenge to become an active and informed citizen was issued by the Most Rev Alexander M. Zaleski, bishop of Lansing, to women attending the 15th annual conference of the Lansing Diocesan Council of Catholic Women last Thursday at the Jack Tar Hotel in Lansing.

The bishop told the women God is speaking to them today. He termed the work of God as productive . . . energetic . . . vital. "Each one of us must stand as a living witness to Christ — a sign He continues to live," he said.

The delegates, representing more than 100 women's organizations in the 15-county diocese took up the challenge and cleaned house, tossing out all their old committees and replacing them with five commissions.

THEY WENT ON record as opposing Senate Bill S68 liberalizing abortion laws and as being in favor of auxiliary services. They acted, as many of them signed petitions for better housing for the underprivileged.

A steady stream of speakers paraded across the platform informing the group of the needs in the Church and World today.

Mrs Alvin J. Thelen of St. Joseph parish, St. Johns, was the chairman of the conference. Other women from St. Johns attending were Mrs Nicholas Koenigsnecht, president of St. Joseph Altar Society, Mrs Norman Radamacher, Mrs Mary Smith, Mrs Robert Kehr, Mrs Mary Hestera, Mrs Henry Howell, and Mrs Louis Eisler.

Rev Aloysius Miller of Westphalia, deanery moderator, gave the welcome address at the banquet on Wednesday evening.

Good management essential when making haylage

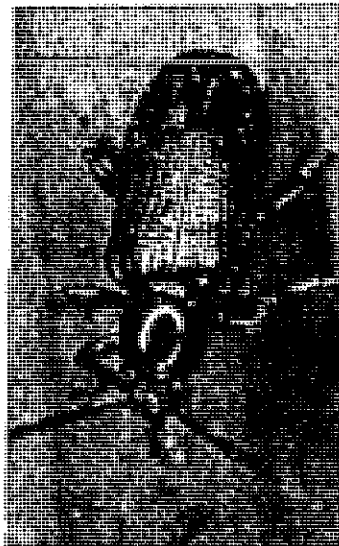

Successful results with haylage depends on the farmer following management procedures and harvesting alfalfa in the early stages of growth. Don Hillman, extension dairyman at Michigan State University, believes many dairymen would get more milk production with good haylage rather than ordinary alfalfa hay.

Hillman points out that under normal conditions, hay making weather in Michigan is not good. Too often the hay crop gets rained on while down, or bad weather prevents harvesting until it is too mature for good milk production.

HAYLAGES IS A hay-crop dried to contain 40 to 60 per cent dry matter and processed through a silo. Making it can speed up forage harvesting and cut down much of the hard and time-consuming labor involved in haymaking, contends Hillman.

A study of numerous experimental station reports show that normal expected loss of dry matter from an upright concrete silo to be about 11 per cent. Gas tight silo losses will run about half that much.

Timing vital in control of beetles

CEREAL LEAF BEETLE (Adult Stage)

Timing of spray applications could be the most critical element in effective cereal leaf beetle control, contend Michigan State University entomologists Marcus T. Wells and Orlo K. Jantz.

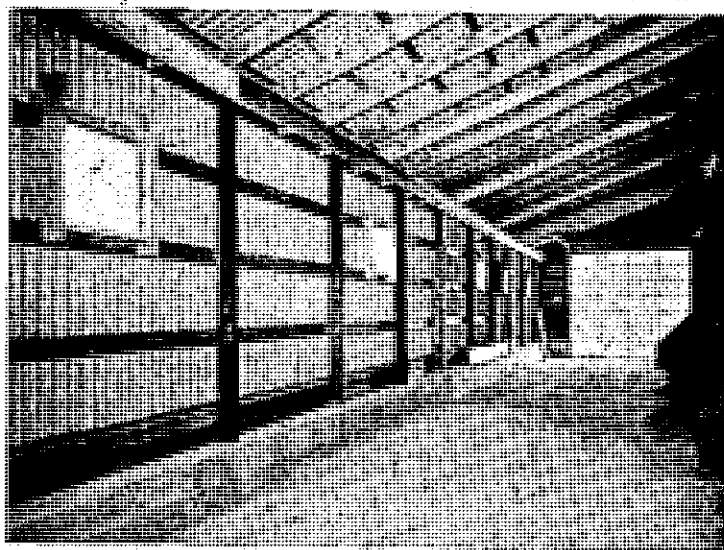

Their studies show that chemical sprays should be applied as soon as "heavy adult infestation is evident." In other words, they say, when a farmer can find a few beetle eggs on the leaves and stems of his grain, it's time to spray the field. This can occur anytime from mid-April to mid-May.

"If spraying is delayed until damage becomes evident, it's probably too late for effective control," comments Wells. But he urges all farmers to carefully determine the extent of their fields' infestation and consult with their county Extension agent.

In their research, Wells and Jantz found that malathion and a limited number of other insecticides are effective for controlling cereal leaf beetles.

Cereal leaf beetle control is strictly up to the farmers this year. Federal and state insect control agencies have no large-scale spray program planned for 1967.

Michigan taxed 95,020,838 packages of cigarettes in December 1966.

Corrugated asbestos-cement sheets are well suited for farm structures. They can be applied over conventional framing material. Adjacent sheets lap one another to provide a good barrier to the weather.

Asbestos-cement found efficient

One construction material that shouldn't be overlooked for farm buildings is corrugated asbestos-cement. This material can be used for both roofs and siding.

Asbestos-cement can be sawed to any length, and can be installed on purlins up to 54 inches on center. Holes for nails or screws are drilled with ordinary power drills.

Corrugated asbestos-cement sheets are 42 inches wide and up to 12 feet long. They are about 3/8 inches thick and weigh 4 pounds per square foot. Most corrugated asbestos-cement sheeting has 1.5-inch deep corrugations that are identical inside and out. This ensures that sheets nest and provide a good seal against wind and water. Sheets are lapped 6 inches to provide good weather barriers.

Asbestos-cement - composed of asbestos fibers and portland cement - is manufactured under strictly controlled conditions to meet the rugged requirements of farm use.

Use fertilizer, 'bolster' seed for lush lawn

Fertilization and bolster seeding are essential to any good lawn, reports a Michigan State University crop scientist.

C. M. Harrison points out that fertilizers comparatively rich in nitrogen are recommended for grass. And he offers some tips for applying this lawn food effectively.

"Granular or pelleted types of fertilizers apply neatly with spreaders and roll from the grass foliage so that there's no danger of burn," he explains.

Education key to hog cholera control here

Hog cholera eradication in Michigan required a cooperative job of swine producers, state and federal enforcement agencies, and a continuous and effective educational program.

Announcement recently that Michigan was the first major hog producing state to be cholera-free brought satisfaction to staff members of the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service, at Michigan State University. Swine and veterinary specialists, along with county agricultural agents, have waged a long educational program to achieve this goal of eradication.

"It took the right laws and enforcement by the federal and state animal disease control agencies in the beginning. But the backing by the major swine producers on the farms in Michigan was the key to success," said Edward Miller, MSU swine Extension specialist.

DR CHARLES Reed, Extension veterinarian, said the Michigan Animal Health group, organized several years ago through cooperation of enforcement and educational agencies, helped achieve these goals. Hundreds of educational meetings were sponsored by the MSU Extension Service.

The MSU Extension authority explained that constant vigil must be maintained to keep the disease from coming in from infected states adjoining Michigan.

Michigan became the seventh state to be cholera-free. The others are small producers of swine - Vermont, Nevada, Utah, Montana, Alaska, and Idaho.

Pattersons' wins award

Patterson & Sons of St. Johns has been selected as the Allis-Chalmers "dealer of the year" under the implement company's Lansing branch.

A. R. Shank, manager of the Lansing Branch, announced the winner last week. In 1966 the company initiated a program whereby each branch selected a "dealer of the month" and from the 12 monthly winners the grand winner of "dealer of the year" was selected.

Patterson and Son won the dealer of the month award last July. The St. Johns firm's overall performance on service and sales was judged tops in the branch, which covers all of Michigan and 15 counties in northern Indiana.

Hay, pasture values can equal corn's

The value of hay and pasture lands, when properly managed and fertilized, can equal that of corn grown on better soils. This is the indication given by University of Missouri's specialists.

They note that where soil is properly treated, yields of four tons of grass hay, and six tons of alfalfa are being produced. The total digestible nutrients and protein in four tons of grass hay equals that in 80-94 bushels of shelled corn. A six-ton alfalfa crop equals a 150 to 200 bushel corn crop in nutrient and protein content.

4 dairy herd body types rated

IN MISSOURI, say the specialists, the acreage devoted to forages—mainly hay and pasture— is slightly larger than the acreage used for grain crops. It has a tremendous potential for added income, they note, because the physical soil features that make much of this land unsuited for grain crops will not limit successful production of cool season grasses and legumes.

Soil treatment is essential for high forage yields, says the report summarized by National Plant Food Institute. Nutrient requirements are high.

Application of lime and other nutrients is essential to replace nutrients removed by high yields.

Thus the same soil management program is essential for high forage yields as used to get high grain yields—initial application of lime and other nutrients, followed by annual maintenance applications of fertilizer.

Family farm to persist in future

Michigan farms will grow bigger, and so will farmer's debts. But the family farm will persist as an efficient production unit in the future, contends John Doneth, Michigan State University agricultural economist.

"There will be an increase in farm partnerships, particularly family partnerships," says Doneth. "For many situations the family partnership offers the best alternative available.

"I EXPECT SOME increase in the number of corporation farms during the next 15 years, but it won't be a phenomenal increase. While some of these farm corporations will tap outside equity sources, much of the capital will come from family members."

Doneth points out that financing will probably be one of the most limiting factors to farm expansion in the future. The ability to manage a large organization and to properly supervise higher-cost workers will largely determine who will survive.

"If a fellow is doing only a poor or fair job on a small scale, he doesn't need a larger unit to demonstrate his inability," comments Doneth.

The MSU agricultural economist predicts there will be decreased emphasis on full farm ownership, since renting or leasing, with options to buy, allows the renter to get a good start with his operation and to buy machinery with limited available capital.

"WITH NEWER AND younger farmers being more willing to borrow and lending agencies more willing to lend, much more financing is likely," contends Doneth.

Doneth adds that the operator of a large farm operation will probably be in a stronger position to expand his business, because he has enough volume add facilities and increase his flexibility in marketing.

Michigan best sod producer

Michigan leads the nation in sod production.

In 1966, the state's sod producers grew 20,000 acres of sod valued at $27 million, according to James Beard, Michigan State University turfgrass researcher. The total sod industry, including growing, harvesting, shipping and laying, is valued at $72 million, he said.

Michigan has been experiencing a "boom" in sod production during the last decade. Less than 1,000 acres were grown in the State in 1955.

Excellent climate and soil conditions for growing good bluegrass sod are the chief reasons for this "boom," commented Beard. And he said that sod acreage will continue to increase in the future as growers meet the demands of an expanding Michigan population interested in "instant lawns."

Farmers like narrow-row corn

Michigan farmers who have switched from wide-row to narrow-row corn planting like the change.

Robert G. White, Extension agricultural engineer, surveyed Michigan farmers this winter and found that 43 of the 58 farmers reporting in the survey made more money after going to narrow rows.

White reports that farmers who switched from wide-row corn to 20-inch rows averaged a 13 bushel per acre yield increase over their last year with wide rows and 17 bushels an acre over the average of the last five years of wide-row corn.

Those who switched to 30-inch rows averaged a six-bushel per acre yield increase over their last year of wide rows.

MOST MICHIGAN farmers increased the plant population and fertility rate in going to narrow rows. The average increase was 2,400 more kernels of corn an acre.

Several farmers indicated that a dominant factor in the decision to switch to narrow rows was the fact they also grew either edible dry beans or soybeans, or both. They made the switch for all spring planted crops at one time.

Forty-seven of the 58 farmers thought harvesting equipment currently available for narrow-row harvesting was adequate.

Dairy farm requires planning

Investment in buildings and equipment in a modern dairy farm operation requires much planning according to Michigan State University economist.

Dr L. H. (Hi) Brown, MSU Extension agricultural economist, warns that while some change and modernization is nearly always necessary to stay competitive, one change usually starts a cycle of many others.

"Before any type of expansion is launched the dairyman needs to carefully analyze several plans," Brown says.

THE ALTERNATIVES could include a change to cash cropping, remodeling for a non-dairy livestock enterprise, or selling the farm and investing in some other type of business or land contract.

"But if the farmer decides he wants to expand his dairy enterprise he should visit a number of modern, established dairy units and talk to dairymen to get their ideas on what they would change if they were building again," Brown advised.

County agricultural agents can provide names of recently build dairy units. Staff members of the Dairy and Agricultural Economics Department at MSU can give names and address of farms in other parts of the state that may be visited.

Dairymen must also remember that a larger unit takes more management and planning. Good records are essential, Brown advised, if the dairymen are going to find ways to save and make money.

Is Vietnam really worth it?

The Vietnam war has crossed an ocean to reach into a corner of America again — this time our corner.

We knew that when we buried Rocky Snyder, Ronald Fitch and Jim Peltier.

And we now know, whether our country will ever admit it or not, that we are at war. We do not bury our sons like this during peace.

And we wonder . . . is it really worth it?

Every day there are demonstrations and speeches by persons who would tell us it is not worth it.

They would tell us the deaths of Rocky, Ronald and Jim were a waste. Some say that we have no right fighting in Vietnam. Others say that regardless of whether we have a right to be over there, the Vietnamese are not worth American boys' lives.

Americans have fought and died for nearly 200 years to keep this country free. If we are willing to accept this sacrifice for ourselves, and not willing to do it for Vietnamese or other men, are we then saying that only Americans are worthy of American lives?

If so, then what shall we do with that noble idea that all men are brothers, which was put forth in Galilee about 2,000 years ago?

No sincere Christian can say that the Vietnamese or any other nationality are not worth American lives if the cause is great enough.

If you are an American who is opposed to the American way of life, then the rescue and preservation of freedom for your fellow American—much less the Vietnamese—are not worth the sacrifice.

However, if you believe in men's freedom strongly enough, it is only natural that you would want others also to have it. You would want others free not only for the sake of freedom, but also for the purely practical reason that in this world of competition with the communists the chance for survival increases with the number of free nations.

It is for this latter reason more than any other that America has a right to be in Vietnam. To ignore the Communists' domination by force of any country is to court our own national suicide.

Before we forget, let us recall that isolationism already has been exposed as a failure.

"It's none of our business what goes on in other countries," was a popular rallying point in the U. S. once. That's what they said when the Japanese occupied Korea, and they still were saying it when Japan conquered Manchuria.

They stopped saying it one morning when Americans woke to bombs and death at a place called Pearl Harbor.

They stopped saying it for a while, at least. But it seems Aristotle was right when he said: "Almost all things have been found out, but some have been forgotten."

It is easy for free nations to forget the near-fatal lessons of isolationism in our modern world. For Vietnam, like Korea, is a holding of the line at the frontiers, and democracies are run by people like us, and citizens are not eager to die, in some forsaken country.

Citizens are ready, in every free nation, to stand to the colors and die in the big war billed as the one that will save mankind. But they do not want to serve on the far frontiers where it seems as if they are dying for someone else's benefit.

It is a credit to America in a way. Only a nation that is dedicated to more power will be found hammering away at the gates of the frontiers. The communists have pledged themselves to this end. Because the free world's nuclear strength prohibits an immediate take-over, the communists are patient to do it one country at a time with one small war after another at the frontiers.

The lead that the free world must take was given in 1944 and 1945 by Winston Churchill. He was condemned world wide for committing British troops to stop the Communists in the Greek civil war. But he saved Greece from the fate of Czechoslovakia.

Two million persons died in the Korean War, but the frontier was held and now millions more are still free in South Korea. Two million lives is a terrible price to pay, but the stakes are terribly high.

Vietnam is not a popular war, and it never will be.

But even though a war on the frontiers never will be fully acceptable to the American public, we must realize its necessity in a world where two power blocs exist and one, at least, is ready and spoiling for a fight.

We must learn to appreciate the sacrifice made by the young men we send to the frontier wars as much as we do for our soldiers who die in the big wars.

Rocky Snyder, Ronald Fitch and Jim Peltier did not die for just their country. They died for the concept of freedom.

A free man's sincerity is never measured more truly than when he helps defend the freedom of another man in another country.

Seeks data on 'Rummel'

Editor: I am a polio victim of 45 years and to pass away my time, I am writing a genealogy on my father's side of the family, "McIntire." Would you kindly put this letter in your local newspaper; I shall greatly appreciate it.

I am trying desperately to find some information on a Mrs S. E. Rummel (formerly Sarah E. McIntire) who lived once in Knox County, Ohio. The above was the daughter of Samuel Akin McIntire and Mary McIntire and was living in or near St. Johns around the years 1873-1900.

Anyone having information on the above person or descendants please contact me.

Sends thanks for story

Editor: Thank you so much for printing the recent picture and article about my daughter, Jordys, in the March 30, issue, Page 13-B.

Jordys finds it a "challenge" to enter contests, and it was nice to be named first place winner in a recent essay contest regarding the TV program, "Hallmark Hall of Fame—Abe Lincoln in Illinois."

We had a nice visit recently with her grandfather, Henry W. Dellar, and I always manage to read the Clinton County News while in St. Johns. It's an enjoyable newspaper.

Thank you very much for mailing two copies of the March 30 issue to Jordys; she will paste the clippings in her scrapbook. I enjoyed other articles of interest in the newspaper, too.

Sincerely RUTH (MRS RALPH) DELLAR 215 S. Cumberland Avenue Park Ridge, Ill.

Mr Schmitt did a terrific job, donating his time for several days, and it was because of this that the electrical lighting for inside displays and outside exhibitors was not only adequate but more so.

I also wish to extend a big "THANK YOU" to the Clinton County News for the superb cooperation extended me during

Stop-gap reform not enough

Editor: The present fiscal reform measure being proposed by Governor Romney in the form of a state income tax is a basic step in the right direction. Now that this long overdue step is being taken, we must make sure that this first step is an adequate one. If a state income tax is to be supported by the people of this state, it should be one which will provide the additional tax base which will put our state obligations in good working order, and not one which will be a mere stop-gap measure.

Because all people are interested in education, it is the intention of this letter to point out that this proposed tax will not strengthen the money available for education in any great amount. Relief to the property tax payer, then, will not be that great, since the largest share of property taxes goes to the support of the schools; and the proposed tax relief will not come in this area.

IF THE PRESENT figure of 2 1/2 per cent is adopted, no real relief will come to the tax-paying property owner. If, however, this state income tax is increased to at least 3 1/2 per cent, there will be more money available to the schools from state sources, and additional sources from the already burdened property taxes will not have to be asked for. The schools will be able to operate more efficiently and provide a better program for those students already in school, as well as provide better facilities for future growth of the schools.

Under the 2 1/2 per cent proposal the schools would only receive $41 million dollars of the 337 millions which would be collected. To the St. Johns school district this would mean only an additional $70,000. If, however, the bill, which would raise a 3 1/2 per cent tax is adopted, an additional $90 million dollars of this one per cent would be collected for the schools. This could bring the share of the tax money to the St. Johns Schools district to over $227,500. This, then, would be real help, because the schools would be better provided for, and the property would not have to be taxed as heavily to provide for needed income.

I am urging that all interested citizens demand that their representatives do not vote for this stop-gap tax measure, but vote, instead, for the bill which would give real aid to the schools and relief to the property taxpayer.

RAY EBERT Past president, St. Johns Education Assn.

Foster home story helpful

EDITOR: I would like to thank you for the article concerning foster home licensing (CCN, April 13). Besides finding it interesting and accurate, I have received quite a few inquiries and requests. It was marvelous publicity.

Due to these responses, I would like to speak to your classified ads editor regarding the placing of advertisements for child care. Your cooperation with our licensing program could direct these potential care mothers to our agency to complete licensing requirements before the ads are accepted for publication by your paper.

Again, many thanks for your interest.

Sincerely, FRANCESCA H. DE CAROLIS Clinton County Children's Worker Department of Social Services

(Editor's Note: Advertisements for day-care of children in the advertisers' homes are few here, by our recollection. However, whenever such ads are placed, the Clinton County News will remind the advertiser of the state law and refer them to the Department of Social Services for more details. We will also forward the name of the advertiser to the department.)

RAMBLIN' with Rink

By LOWELL G. RINKER

There are some of us who lack the necessary culinary abilities to do much more in the kitchen than boil water for tea. Then there are others who show enough genius to turn out food that makes us turn green . . . with envy.

We happened to uncover one such expert last week, and he offered us this detailed recipe for making noodles. The recipe is strictly legit, he says, even though he has embellished it with a few comments. But we did note that he declined to have his name mentioned (he is well known in local business and county government circles.)

So, for better or for worse, here's "Grandad's Recipe for Noodles":

NO. 1. GO IN LIVING room, turn on TV, settle back in easy chair with the false illusion you are going to enjoy a few minutes of restful, relaxing entertainment. What comes on is some long haired male twitching and twisting like he has swallowed three frogs and has two more in his hip pocket.

NO. 2. Jump up turn off TV and saunter slowly into the kitchen. At that time it will be necessary to have someone say NOW what are YOU going to do, (like Gramma or your Ma). Simply say, Oh dunnow. Then come back with a question, always answer with a question, What're we gonna have for dinner? Now you have the first ingredient (the urge to make something) Let your mind wander freely through the list of gastronomic delights that only you know how to concoct. Sure, that's it, some long slippery wet noodles, that you can slurp with great gusto.

NO. 3. Carefully check to see if you have all the junk that is necessary to come up with anything that will resemble those luscious creations your mother used to make. Go to the refrigerator, open door (always open the door; that's the same place where you keep the cokes). Check to if you have any eggs. (Oh, by the way, they are sorta round with a thin shell that breaks rather easily when in the natural state, not flat like you are used to seeing them on your plate.) Select two of average size and put one in each pocket of your shirt so they will be handy when needed.

NO. 4. GO TO THE cupboard where the pans are stored, select one that will hold about two quarts. Take a towel and wipe the dust off it. Make sure there isn't anything sticky in the bottom of pan.

NO. 5. Check to see if you have any salt; that will be found in a rather small receptacle with a lot of holes in the top. Make sure you get the white one, not the dark colored one; that's something else.

NO. 6. Hunt until you find a sack or box that says flour on it; check contents to see if it is empty, make sure there are no bugs in it, and it has a rather white color. Take a container to a place that is rather flat and a little over waist high, that will be the scene of the operation you are bravely attempting to perform. Remove all dirty dishes from area, so your elbows can work freely.

NO. 7. Take the pan from step four and place in the cleaned off area.

NO. 8. Now remove eggs from pocket, if they are still unbroken. Throw with some force into bottom of pan and let insides drain out, then carefully remove all the outside of eggs (known as shell).

NO. 9. Take salt and shake about five times over eggs with holes in a down position.

NO. 10. Find the outfit your Ma uses to mix up those malteds you like and mix the eggs up so they are rather foamy.

NO. 11. ADD SOME FLOUR to the eggs and continue to beat until it gets so stiff you can't beat any longer. Then put some flour (about two handfuls) on the area you have previously cleaned up and dump the stuff from the dish onto it.

(At this time it will be a good idea to go wash your hands and clean your nails to avoid gray noodles.) Then dip your fingers in the flour and begin to wrestle with the stuff that from this point on we will call dough. You wrestle and add flour until it won't take anymore (it must be real stiff, almost like a carame).

NO. 12. Look around kitchen and find a piece of round wood about 12 inches long that has handles on both ends. That is known as a rolling pin. (That thing Gramma used to threaten me with.) Why it is called a rolling pin is more than I know.

NO. 13. Scatter some more flour on top of his dough. Grasp the piece of wood firmly in both hands and place on the center of dough, press down and push to outside of dough. Repeat process in all directions until it is fairly flat, (if dough crawls back some, it is stiff enough) Lay rolling pin down and flip dough over on its back. Then sprinkle with flour and repeat rolling process until it is about as thin as two records placed on top of each other.

NO. 14. (THIS IS THE true test) Check to see if it is glued to the work area; if not pick up by rolling it on the rolling pin and place on a clean towel and let dry until the edges are brittle.

NO. 15. Sprinkle some more flour on top and rub it into the dough, then roll up the whole works into a roll and place on a cutting board. Take a good sharp knife and slice the roll crosswise in chunks about as wide as an eyebrow pencil and then unroll each one and place back on towel being careful not to put in piles.

NO. 16. Let dry.

NO. 17. Put on your shoes and boots, so you won't slip on something and go out in the henhouse and catch a nice fat old hen and cut her head off and (Oh heck you know all the rest) May be cooked with beef also.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

'Parental licensing' of state's young drivers is unique

BY ELMER E. WHITE Michigan Press Assn.

MICHIGAN PARENTS have a unique tool for disciplining their teenagers.

A law which took effect last year allows parents to request revocation of a child's driving license if the minor is under 18. The parents need give no reason for the request, but they usually do.

Reasons given include poor driving habits, disapproval of the teen's friends, a son who stays out too late, a daughter who takes the car and skips school, and others.

INCREASED COST OF INSURANCE when teens are driving is often a factor but apparently not usually the sole reason. Most parents believe a letter from the State Department announcing license revocation will have a positive impact on the teen's behavior, especially since the law also permits parents to have driving privilege restored when they feel it is warranted.

Michigan is the only state where such a law is in effect. Authorities in several other states have been looking at the Michigan legislation with an eye toward similar moves.

MICHIGAN WEEK WILL be observed served May 21-27 for the 14th year, reaching more people within and outside of the state each time.

Preparations for the official one-week May celebration take many months.

The effort to enlist all citizens in programs for the advancement and development of their state is by no means seasonal. It is a year-round program with activity reaching its climax in the week starting the third Sunday in May.

COMPOSED OF A central state organization and then broken down into committees working at the regional, county and local levels, the working force behind Michigan Week is thousands strong and includes people from all walks of life.

EACH DAY IS GIVEN a special designation but designed to accommodate local imagination or special attraction.

Sunday is Spiritual Foundations Day; Monday centers around Our Government; Tuesday emphasizes Hospitality; Wednesday Our Livelihood; Thursday recognizes Education; Friday, Our Heritage; and Saturday emphasizes Youth.

The 1967 celebration will hold extra significance for some. Special recognition for contributions to the state or local areas will be given.

For the many who have worked on Michigan Week since its ambitious beginnings 14 years ago this observance will be another tribute to their enthusiasm.

IS A TRAFFIC LIGHT the answer to a hazardous intersection? Ask the State Highway Department, if a major route is involved, but don't expect an automatic "yes" just because traffic accidents are frequent.

The department, upon investigation, may decide a traffic signal will not remedy the situation. What many people don't realize is that stop lights are designed to open one traffic corridor across a rather alternate intervals. They are not generally useful devices to prevent accidents.

ACCIDENTS AT AN East Lansing intersection were increased almost four times in one year after a stop light replaced a yellow flashing signal.

Traffic volume is most important in determining whether a stop-and-go signal is warranted.

In many cases, volume does not warrant a signal, although accidents are frequent.

A POIGNANT EXAMPLE of the futility of a stop light was seen recently at M-25 and Park Street in Bay City where a car plowed into a dozen school children, killing two.

Department officials agreed that the traffic volume at the crossing warranted a signal light. They emphasized, however, that school authorities were told to continue the use of a crossing guard after the light is installed. The study showed the signal would not have prevented the accident.

THERMOPOLIS, WYO., RECORD: "Young people particularly should realize that the foundation of all financial provisions for retirement security is a sound dollar. They should demand, as should all Americans, that the Social Security system be properly managed. . . . that one day the working public will not rebel against the system. Even under present benefits the combined tax on employees and employers will rise to 11.3 per cent within a few years. Social Security benefits should be adequate but they should not be vulnerable to political influences. It might be wise to make a careful appraisal of the system, which is not three decades old, to see if it provides real security."

Man has rich response to the merry month—May

By HAYDN PEARSON

When the fifth month arrives, the countryman does not need a calendar. You can feel, hear and smell the month of May. Apple blossoms and lilacs fill the air with fragrance; there's a rich and satisfying aroma from moist soil; the birds' dawn chorus is vibrant with the pulsing urgency of life.

Sometimes it seems that spring arrives overnight. Experts tell us that spring travels northward at about 20 miles a day. There always comes that exhilarating morning when a man stops on the way to the barn and savors the weather. He can feel spring in the air. He knows that after a rainy and windy April, true spring has finally arrived.

These are days of shining hours as a rich hue of fresh green weaves a coverlet over meadows and fields, hillside mowings and upland pastures. There are a few days of poignant loveliness as the leaves break from buds on poplars, birch, maples and beeches. In the slanting rays of morning and late afternoon, one can see a blended symphony of pastel hues - reds and rose, pink and yellow, with overtones of soft lavender and purple.

Violets paint a picture along meadow brooks and jacks in their pulpits stand up to give their vernal sermon. Flashes of color show in the hedgerows as the warblers arrive. The monotone song of tractors sounds from

Short course in publicity

PICTURE REQUIREMENTS

Picture requirements are definite, paper by paper, but vary greatly depending on the makeup and budget of each one. The most important guide we can give you is to check with each editor to determine his needs and requirements. Then follow to the letter his directions for picture arrangement, and size and finish of prints.

All pictures require advance planning by both the editor and the club publicity chairman. When you first contact an editor find out just how far in advance he schedules picture stories. Make note of this. Then, when you have a project you think merits picture coverage, call and tell him what you have in mind.

In general, the three B's for good news pictures are: Babies, Beasts and Beauties. To which we would add a fourth: Be doing something. Do not just have your models sit or stand there. Work out action plans in advance, either through consulting with the editor or the photographer.

Be sure to check the editor to find out how many models he likes in any one picture. Two or three persons are generally the limit. Follow his wishes to the letter.

When you choose your models, do use the prettiest or best-looking members. Honor your leaders and hard workers in some other way if they are not photogenic. They will live to bless you for it even though they may be offended at the moment.

Have your models wear simple, classic clothes. Wear light colors for a dark background, dark colors for a light background. Never photograph mature women in short sleeves or in profile. Avoid white gloves; they detract attention from faces in the picture.

Follow the photographer's suggestions for picture composition. A good photographer has this special knowledge; he may also have definite orders from the editor, if sent from a newspaper.

BE READY TO WORK QUICKLY

Have everything ready so the photographer can get to work quickly on arrival. The publicity chairman should be his contact, ready to answer his questions and identify by name and title the people he photographs. A typewritten list which he may keep is most helpful to a photographer.

If the photographer comes from a distance, send him written instructions how to find the place. Also give him a telephone number where he can reach you in case of delay.

Photographers, like reporters, are always treated as guests at any function they cover. If food is served, be sure to offer it to him.

WHEN YOU SEND PICTURES

Editors will tell you how to prepare and attach captions to any photographs you submit.

As a general rule, the caption (identification of the models) is typed on a piece of plain white paper. Leave paste-up space at the top of the sheet. Then paste about one inch of the caption sheet to the bottom of the picture, attach it on the back, or reverse side, with the typing up. Fold the caption up over the face of the picture.

NEVER use a paper clip, and NEVER write on the back of a picture. Either of these will likely damage the print finish, spoiling it for reproduction.

(Next week: Some final thoughts on publicity)

So you're the PUBLICITY CHAIRMAN?

When publicity is confused with news too often, editors do get grumpy. As some persons who dislike peddlers do, they hang up a sign that reads: "We shoot every third publicity chairman, and the second one just left."

Some of the types at which editors would particularly like to take aim are: ELEVENTH HOUR HANNAH — At 4:55 p.m. she bounces into the newsroom to announce that wonderful things are going to happen that night and "can't you publeeze send your photographer?" Her counterpart, Harry, doesn't make his pitch until Saturday afternoon, preferring to phone the editor at his home.

DEW ZAR DOOSEY — "Nothing much is happening at the club right now," admits Dew, "but can't you run a little reminder for the fellows to pay up?"

DICK SHUNAIRE — Having heard that names make news, he submits a page-long list, then adds a postscript that he knows some aren't spelled right but didn't have time to check them out. His wife, in her turn, identifies the girls as Lil or Jane or Flo, with no indication whether or not they are married.

BETT R. LATE — She knows the report was due the morning after the meeting, but begs: "Just run the story and don't mention that it happened a week ago."

The "Low Down"

From the Congressional Record
By Joe Crump

Farm wife raps supermarket pickets

Rep. H. R. Gross (Iowa) "... At their annual banquet for members of the congressional delegation, Mrs Herbert Johnson, of Charles City, Iowa, state chairman of the Iowa Farm Bureau Women, made an excellent speech which I offer for printing in the Record." (The condensed speech follows):

As farm wives we are close partners with our husbands in the biggest business in the world—U.S. agriculture, so are very concerned over government actions relating to agriculture.

To say we were surprised and shocked last summer when housewives in urban centers organized and carried out strikes because they felt food prices were too high is an understatement. We asked, "Why?" when food has been the most stable item in the cost of living.

IF WE WERE producing milk with the methods of 25 years ago, milk would have to cost around 45 cents per quart instead of 23 to 25 cents. How many of the other items we buy have this kind of record?

It certainly brought into focus one of our gravest concerns—that consumers will feel that they are entitled to cheap foods while farmers receive compensatory payments. We are well aware that cheap food is a basic political thesis, but we have no intention of sitting idly by, and not calling attention to the things suffering from really inflated prices, and to the basic cause of higher and deficit spending of our federal government.

Now these housewives who picket the supermarket won't help reduce prices. Congress "certainly" cannot legislate cheap food. All the government farm programs in the world will not guarantee lower food prices. There is only one way—and housewives should understand this very clearly—the only way to assure top quality food at a price we can all afford is to preserve and promote the competitive market system for agriculture. This means less reliance on government and more faith in the farmer's ability to manage his farm. Housewives have a lot at stake in the efficiency of our farmers.

WE BELIEVE FARMERS should receive their income in the market place, and not from compensatory payments. Farm Bureau members have rejected the "public utility" approach where agriculture would be controlled and have placed their faith in the market place and the ever increasing need and demand for farm products in the nation and the world.

Any man who thinks he is going to be happy and prosperous by letting the government take care of him should take a close look at the American Indian.

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT
It has been suggested that compensatory payments to farmers be gradually reduced and eliminated over a period of ten years. This would allow sufficient time for all concerned to put their houses in order.

It would reduce the national debt. Any program that reduces the national debt would reduce the interest on the national debt.

Elimination of compensatory payments to farmers would also eliminate some high priced book-keeping in Washington.—J. C.
