Her 'time machine' set her back a bit

Keeping track of time these days is hard enough, but things have gotten rather out of "hand" at the Richard Cramer home at 2200 E. Taft Road.

The electric-kitchen clock began running backwards last Thursday.

Mrs. Cramer reported the oddity Friday afternoon, saying she first noticed it that morning. She figures it may have started its new timing antics the previous day during an electrical storm, although Mrs. Cramer recalled no nearby lightning hits.

THE CLOCK, three or four years old, remains accurate, in a backward sort of way. The second hand sweeps around once every minute in a counter-clockwise (for normal clocks) direction, and the minute and hour hands follow suit on schedule.

"It's kind of cute," Mrs. Cramer said. "We've had quite a few laughs about it from neighbors and friends dropping in." Friday she even hesitated at the thought of having it fixed to run in the direction all good clocks run.

LOCAL WATCH repairmen said the clock could be made to run backwards only by reversing the field coils in the mechanism, something lightning probably wouldn't do. Not having seen the clock, though, they couldn't diagnose the problem to explain it.

Perhaps someone just thought out loud they'd like just once to turn back the clock for awhile, and perhaps with a flash of lightning they have entered "the twilight zone."

First Nighters' 4th production this weekend

The First Nighters, St. Johns' own theater group, goes on stage again Friday and Saturday evenings with a three-act comedy, "Everybody Loves Opal."

The play will be presented at the Rodney B. Wilson High School auditorium. Curtain time both nights is 8 p.m.

The play, written by John Patrick, follows the adventures of a trio of crooks and their devious methods to do away with Opal, the lovely old lady who lives on the edge of the city dump.

WILMA "CORKY" Paradise plays the role of Opal, a woman of undetermined age and a definite "character." Gloria, one of three con artists whose faces belie a hard heart, is portrayed by Vickie Rowell.

Solomon (Wayne Hicks) is the leader of the trio which plans to do away with Opal. Bradford (Eugene Livingston) is a twisted intellectual with a scholarly outlook on crime.

Other parts include a society-type doctor (John Martin), a police officer (Art Wainwright), and a cat.

The play will be under the direction of Terry Foster. Foster, a native of Sheboygan, Wis., has worked with the Sheboygan Community Players, The Elmer Bush Little Theatre and the Goodman Summer Theatre. He has appeared in three previous First Nighter productions, "See How They Run," "The Man Who Came to Dinner" and "The Cradle Song." He has also directed the one-act plays "The

July 4 plan back

The original big Fourth of July program for St. Johns has been revived again, and a fireworks show is planned—with the public's support.

The fire department, St. Johns Lions Club and St. Johns Rotary Club are appealing for public support for the fireworks, and the show will be just as big as public donations will allow, they said Monday.

"Absolutely all of the donations will be used for the fireworks display," the firemen's president, Robert Prowant, said Monday. "None of the sponsoring organizations have a lot of money, and what money they put into it will go for other phases of the celebration."

G. MENNEN WILLIAMS

G. Mennen Williams, former governor of Michigan, will be at Walker's Cafe in St. Johns Friday morning from 9:30 to 11:30. The public has been invited to have coffee and rolls, according to Leroy A. Vincent, chairman of the Clinton County Democratic Committee. The meeting will be informal, with everyone having a chance to talk to Williams, a Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate from Michigan.

ALL FUNDS for the show must be in to the firemen by May 20—two weeks from Friday—to enable them to buy the fireworks necessary.

The firemen will travel to Illinois to pick up the "raw material," thus saving on some cost. As with past shows, the firemen will also build the fireworks, enabling them to put on a 50 per cent bigger display than if they bought the fireworks ready-to-shoot.

"In other words," Prowant said, "we can put on a $1,500 display for about $1,000."

CONTRIBUTIONS toward the fireworks should be sent to Ray Kenfield Jr., secretary-treasurer of the fire department, or to Box M in care of the Clinton County News. Firemen will pick up all letters unopened, addressed to that box.

Along with the fireworks, other related Fourth of July activities are back in motion. The Lions Club will again sponsor an amateur talent show and a food tent, and the Rotary Club will cooperate in all the ventures.

The St. Johns Ministerial Assn. Monday adopted a resolution endorsing the firemen's plan of seeking individual donations for fireworks for the Fourth of July.

"THE SERVICE organizations feel it is now up to the public on the success of this Fourth of July show," Prowant said. "If we get $50 we'll have a $50 show; if we get $1,000, we'll have a $1,000 show. Their response will also govern whether or not we'll have a Fourth of July show in 1967."

The location of the Crown Amusement Co. carnival at the city park over the weekend of the Fourth, however, was still not resolved as of Tuesday morning. A representative of the carnival told firemen the blacktop area between the swimming pool and softball field is not large enough to handle the carnival show.

THE QUESTION of location was expected to come up again Tuesday night at the city commission's May 3 meeting. The firemen requested the use of the out-field at a meeting Jan. 18, but no decision has been given by the commission.

Minor equalizing factors approved

Most townships and cities in Clinton County will have slight equalizing factors in figuring their 1966 taxes, despite the fact assessed valuations were calculated as state equalized valuations.

The Clinton County equalization report was adopted by the board of supervisors last Tuesday afternoon after study by the supervisors for about a week. It was adopted on a 14-2 vote, with six supervisors absent.

THE REPORT PLACES total real and personal state equalized valuation of Clinton County at $119,966,349, including $99,497,722 worth of real estate and $20,468,627 in personal property. The actual sale value of these properties would be twice that amount, since state equalized value is one-half of true cash value.

The board accepted the assessors' real estate figures across the board but was required by the State Tax Commission to do some work on the personal property evaluations. See MINOR, Page 4-A

Expect big turnout at polls

A heavy turnout of voters is anticipated Monday when property owners of the St. Johns School District will go to the polls to vote on a $5.4 million bond issue.

The school board is asking approval of the bond issue to finance a building program that will include a new high school, additions to two rural schools and the construction of two other new rural elementary schools.

Passage of the bond issue would result in a tax levy of not more than 7 additional mills, school officials point out, and the millage will undoubtedly decrease as the valuation of the district grows.

Polls will be open Monday from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at five precinct centers in the district: Precinct 1, Room 113 of the high school; Precinct 2, East Essex School; Precinct 3, Eureka School; Precinct 4, Olive Center School; and Precinct 5, Ritz Town Hall. A map showing the precinct boundaries appears on Page 4-A.

THERE WILL BE two propositions for district property owners to vote on. Proposition I will be for the issuance of bonds in the amount of $5.4 million for the new construction, equipment, site acquisition in two places, site development and the remodeling of the present high school shop for a junior high cafeteria.

Proposition II is for the assumption by the whole district

Public meeting scheduled tonight

An informal public meeting to answer questions concerning the proposed school bond issue is scheduled for tonight (Thursday) at 8 p.m. in the auditorium at Rodney B. Wilson High School. School officials will be on hand to answer questions and explain any parts of the building program not understood by residents of the district.

of a $40,000 debt of the former Olive Center district. The debt is on the modern Olive Center School, which the St. Johns district will continue to use. School officials point out Proposition II is a legal formality and that the $40,000 is figured into the $5.4 million being asked for in Proposition I.

School officials point to many crowded rural schools, crowded junior high building in St. Johns and a crowded high school as major stumbling blocks to a good education. Construction of the new schools would alleviate those situations in the rural schools and would free many present classrooms in the city schools, providing for smaller classes "with a better chance for a good education."

THE $5.4 MILLION should be plenty to build and equip the schools, the board of education figures. In the case of the high school portion (about $3,965,300), the board pointed out architect Guido Binda of Battle Creek, who will design the building, has underestimated costs in only two of about 300 school jobs his firm has done.

No floor plans or drawings of the high school have been prepared yet, but the architect for the four rural elementary schools, C. Douglas Pardee of St. Johns, has presented both floor plans and drawings of the Eureka and East Essex additions in a rough state. They have been published and distributed.

DRAWINGS OF THE Grandville High School, which Binda designed and which will probably be similar to a St. Johns plan, have been shown here, and Saturday a group of district residents motored to Grandville for a first-hand look at the facilities.

The proposed St. Johns High School would have 46 teaching stations designed to handle 1,000 students in grades 10, 11 and 12. This is about the number in the crowded existing high school which services grades 9, 10, 11 and 12.

The "core areas" of the high school would be designed for a maximum of 1,400 students, which is the projected enrollment capacity for the three grades. The core areas would be such places as the auditorium, cafeteria, swimming pool, library, gymnasium and other such spots which would receive use by all, or a large number of, students.

THE CORE AREAS would be designed larger than the classroom areas because of this added use. The classroom areas, though designed to handle 1,000 students comfortably, could take care of 1,200, if crowded. The classroom areas will also be designed for easy addition of new classrooms when the need arises. The core areas would be more difficult to enlarge and so are being designed larger.

Grades 7, 8 and 9 would occupy the present high school under the proposed plan, with only major expense in the change being a need to convert the pres-

Catholic school board endorses bond issue

The parish school committee of St. Joseph's Catholic Church has gone on record as favoring the May 9 school bond issue of the St. Johns Public School District.

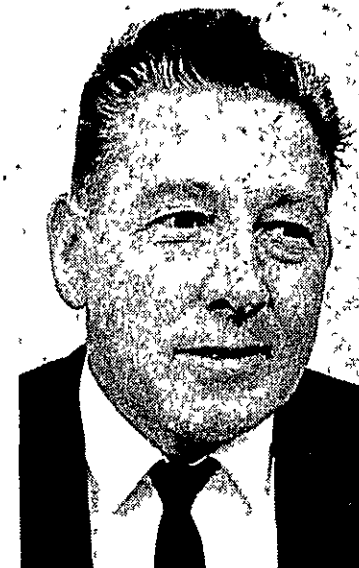

The action was taken Friday at a meeting of the committee.

"This bond issue, which is to be voted on May 9, was approved by the parish school committee as serving adequately the current and anticipated needs of the area," Bishop Joseph Green said.

"THE SCHOOL committee recognized that educational facilities have not kept pace with community growth in the past and the anticipated growth of educational needs in the foreseeable future.

"Aware of the fact that the bond issue will meet these educational needs of the community, particularly on the secondary level, and therefore the needs of the students of the parish, the school committee, by a majority vote, decided it proper to express its opinion on this issue which is of vital importance to the entire community."

THE BOND ISSUE has also been

Dick Devereaux has been elected new president of the St. Johns Lions Club for the year beginning July 1. He succeeds Rolan Sleight who headed the local club for the past year. Other officers elected were Dr. Albert Nelson, first vice president; Bernard Neller, second vice president; Albert LeFevre, third vice president; Charles Barnes, secretary-treasurer; Terry Lerner, tall twister; Richard Rutter, lion tamer; and Gayle Deprez and Ray Ebert of the board of directors for two years terms. James Spouta and Russell Steffens are the other members of the board. New members inducted into the club at the April 27 meeting were Gayle Deprez, Donald Davis, Mort Halsey, Sam Serrell and Rodney Smith.

ent shop to a cafeteria. Food would be prepared, however, at the high school kitchen and transported to the junior high. The cost of the conversion is included in the bond issue.

THREE NEW classrooms, office space and library space would be added to the existing modern, four-room schools at East Essex and Eureka under the building program plan. A new seven-room school would be constructed in the southeast part of the district, and a 13-room building is being planned for the southwest area. Sites for the two new schools have not been planned yet.

MONDAY, MAY 9!

THE PLAN

After much thought, visiting other schools, talking with teachers, and consulting the citizens' committee, the Board is submitting the following building program.

- 26 new elementary classrooms for grades K-6
  - 3 added to existing 4 at East Essex
  - 3 added to existing 4 at Eureka
  - A new 7-room school in the southeast quarter
  - A new 13-room school in the southwest quarter
- 2 Special Education rooms—one in the north half and one in the south half—would be added. These are not included in the bond issue but financed through the County Special Education Fund.
- A new high school for grades 10-11-12 to be built on a 58 plus acre site south of the present football field.
- The present high school will be used as a junior high school for grades 7-8-9. The farm shop will be converted to a cafeteria.
- Taking the seventh and eighth grades out of Central will provide 5 additional elementary classrooms. These will be used for rural students living close to St. Johns.
- By building the four neighborhood elementary schools, almost all children will be attending school within 5 miles from home.
- Taking out about 120 rural students now attending the city elementary schools will relieve the crowded condition there.

Every dime of these two proposals will go into building construction and furnishings . . . to bring facilities up to an adequate standard.

VOTE "YES"

On Proposals 1 and 2

MONDAY, MAY 9

CITIZEN'S COMMITTEE FOR BETTER EDUCATION

Need for buildings is NOW, writer says

NEXT MONDAY each of us will be going to the polls to voice our opinion on the school bond issue. The information on the proposed building program has been well presented, I believe, and the need for the buildings is NOW! The proposal described is fair and reasonable and certainly it is within the range of the ability of a district of our size to provide.

Of course, the program will cost each of us some money; but to what better use could our money be put than to provide an adequate education for our youth today and in the years to come! The future of our nation rests on their shoulders. Can we do less than provide the necessary educational facilities to prepare them for the years ahead?

A "YES" vote on Monday will demonstrate our faith in our youth and the future of this great nation!

Sincerely,
MR. and MRS. JAMES BURNHAM
St. Johns

St. Johns Education Assn. urges yes vote

ON MONDAY this community is asked to make the most important decision regarding education they have ever made. Our facilities are inadequate, overcrowded, and inflexible. They are also quite expensive to maintain.

The St. Johns Education Assn., made up of the educators of the district, strongly urges everyone to vote yes on the bond issue.

WE ARE CLOSE to education, in fact devoting our lives to it. We see every day the problems created by our present facilities. We are hampered more than the average citizen realizes in trying to give the youth of this community an adequate education for today's and tomorrow's society.

Many people complain that the facilities we have are adequate. I would like to invite these people to visit our schools during an average day and to see the problems for themselves. Last week the high school students voted on this issue and favored it by nearly a 7 to 1 margin. Those of us closest to and most familiar with the situation favor the issue.

IT IS NOT A vote to spend a few dollars a year. We teachers are taxpayers, too. The issue very simply is: are we willing to give the youth of this community an education or not? This country is the greatest bastion of freedom in the world. Help us save it! Vote yes on Monday, May 9.

Sincerely,
ROBERT W. WHITE, President
St. Johns Education Assn.

Writer is worried about fire safety

APPROXIMATELY two years ago, I decided to check into the school conditions here in St. Johns. Then as now, many of our classrooms were overcrowded, some rural students were only getting half a day of school, and other facilities were inadequate. After a tour of Central School that included the basement and the attic I was really concerned. The state fire marshal's office in Lansing at that time cited 35 fire violations in this school alone.

IF WE ARE GOING to continue using Central School indefinitely for kindergarten through sixth grade without correcting these hazards we should not be voting yes for $200,000 swimming pools. I've heard some guesses that the improvements at Central will cost anywhere from $50,000 to $100,000. Swimming may be good exercise but it shouldn't be paid for the safety of these children.

Teachers and administrators are not trained in fire fighting and should not be placed in a position where they are requested to give opinions on the fire safety of any school. Let's vote YES for a new high school, and NO for the pool, until the improvements are made in Central and the other schools.

Thank you,
MRS. SHIRLEY KARBBER
806 N. Mead Street
St. Johns

(Editor's Note: The swimming pool is included in the $5.4 million bond issue. A yes vote for the school means a yes for the pool; a no vote means no for the high school as well as the pool.)

Rice again urges 'no' vote Monday

BE SURE AND vote on May 9 on the school bonding tax of 7 mills on the new schools which will be added to your present taxes which will also be higher this year. We had an increase of $414 in one tax last year; the board of supervisors had come up with the biggest budget yet, over $1 million which they certainly wouldn't need if they would cut some of their spending for things which we can get along without, such as repairing the courthouse. And now they are covering it up with new wings being added. They certainly can get along without another one at this time.

There has also been some spending in the past years, one of around $200,000 last year which they could have just as well got along without. The board of supervisors and the State Equalization Board seem to be the only ones who can make your property more valuable each year. Buildings that are from 40 to 80 years old have increased 2 1/2 times in the past 15 years, which is quite a record when you stop and think of it.

THE STATE OF Michigan has done very little to help farmers and other small business men in the past few years but they certainly have seen to it that our costs go up each year in taxes and new labor legislation such as insurance and wage hour laws.

I know we need some of the schools which they have asked for, but if they would keep the best of the rural schools open they could get along with the new high school without the swimming pool at a cost of $200,000 or more and the high cost of operating it which would be at least $100 per day when in operation, and maintenance costs.

I also feel this school should not be built from real estate taxes, as the tax eaters are growing each year and forcing more taxpayers out of business.

SO, AGAIN I say, be sure and get out and vote as it only takes one vote in the majority or one extra vote against the school bond issue to defeat it. So, get out and vote NO. This may be your last chance to vote on it.

Sincerely,
DONALD W. RICE
St. Johns

Says more taxes mean less farmers

I AGREE with Don Rice and Raymond Mayers on the school bond issue. There are going to be a lot less farmers around St. Johns if it passes, as the valuation of farms is on the high dollar.

As for me, the Yoh Co. appraisal was more accurate, but it is probably like Rinker said in his article—it raised some, lowered others.

If they need more classrooms why can't they add on the front of the present high school like they did on the courthouse?

HOW ARE WE going to get tax reform? Gov. Romney is too busy with his trips campaigning for President in 1968.

While I am writing I would like to know why a college student should be deferred by the draft. When his number comes up that's the time he should go, as I did 24 years ago. When I got back four years later there were three families with two boys each my age in a radius of six miles from St. Johns who are still here. They must have some boys of draft age.

I DON'T KNOW much about

Vietnam, but if it's anything like India, let the Communists run it.

In closing I say again if you want to keep our farms going, vote no May 9, 1966.

Yours truly,
ROLLAND JURY
R-2, St. Johns

Board president tells of 'financing' issue

AN INQUIRY WAS made in one of last week's letters concerning the source of money for the "sales campaign being used to promote a yes vote in the school bond issue."

1. Legally the board can spend money to give information to the voters. The two "handouts" given to people at all the meetings were prepared by school employees.

2. The board of education receives no salary and the members have spent many hours in meeting discussing the proposed bond issue, in addition to the regular monthly meetings.

3. School employees who have talked at the various meetings are paid a contractual salary. They receive no extra pay for speaking at the meetings. Neither have they been paid mileage for driving to them.

4. Any information presented in the County News or over WJUD through April '66 has been given as news. There has been no charge.

5. ANY ADVERTISEMENTS, brochures or other publicity materials will be paid for by the "Citizens Committee for Better Education." Its money comes from contributions by private citizens, teachers, business men, industries, service clubs and any organizations who care to contribute. Kenneth Munger is the treasurer of this organization.

6. The cookies and coffee provided at the meetings was provided through the courtesy of mothers' clubs, mothers and/or teachers.

We hope this clarifies how the proposal is being financed.

Sincerely,
RAYMOND PARR
President, Board of Education

School board urges yes vote

NEXT MONDAY YOU will be voting in the most important school election in the history of the St. Johns area. Before you cast your ballot, consider these points.

1. Your total school tax rate—including the proposal being voted on—will be 20 mills or $20 per $1000 of state equalized valuation. We are about average on this rate. Some districts are higher and some are lower. The board of education, the citizens' committee and the faculty have spent much time studying the proposal. Consider, too, that the geographical outlay of your district is excellent. The location of the high school and junior high school is in the center of the district. The four quarters of the district offer excellent locations for elementary schools.

OUR HIGH SCHOOL with a thousand students, more or less, the junior high school with around 800 students, and elementary schools from about 200-400 will enable us to have schools large enough to offer a complete program, yet small enough not to be cumbersome.

The board is firmly convinced that the approval of the proposition will give our children more education per tax dollar than any comparable community in Michigan.

Compare the tax rates of other communities nearby. Ovid-Elsie—19.38; DeWitt—30; Grand Ledge—20.16; Bath—25.40; Laingsburg—25.20; Fowler—18; Haslett—29.91; Pawama—Westphalia—17.10; St. Johns—20. Then consider the opportunities which your children will have, and ask yourself, who's getting more for their tax dollar.

2. CONSIDER too, that St. Johns is the only district that from the outset has proposed neighborhood elementary schools, keeping almost all elementary children within five miles from their homes, with provision for hot lunches and transportation. This will eliminate long bus rides for elementary children.

3. The board has consulted architects and others concerning the cost of building. Everyone agrees that the cost of everything, including school buildings, has gone up continuously since World War II, and there's no evidence that this will stop. So delaying the building program will only add to its eventual cost. In another year it may take $1,200 to purchase what $1,000 would buy today.

4. The board feels that the proposed buildings will be usable buildings adaptable to a modern educational program. We believe our architects are the best and that their estimates are high enough so that we will not need to ask for more money to complete the building program.

5. The board believes that the proposed buildings are good practical buildings with all space used efficiently and continuously. There are no frills. We urge you to vote yes on both proposals.

Sincerely,
YOUR BOARD OF EDUCATION

Architect's drawing shows what new Westphalia St. Mary's School will look like when completed.

Outer walls, and some interior walls, are up at the construction site of the new St. Mary's Catholic School in Westphalia. Work is now stopped temporarily during the builders' union strike.

New Westphalia Catholic school progressing well

WESTPHALIA—Striking building tradesmen have put a temporary halt to construction of Westphalia's new St. Mary's Catholic School.

Work has been progressing exceptionally well since it began early in February, and Fr. Aloysius Miller, priest at St. Mary's, said the contractors were on, or slightly ahead, of schedule.

Granger Brothers Construction Co. of Lansing is the general contractor for the $440,000 new building. It will have 14 classrooms, two seminar rooms, a library, health clinic, teacher lounges and administrative offices.

Another $110,000 was on hand to start the work.

The new building was designed by the architectural firm of Manson, Jackson and Kane of Lansing. Fedewa Builders of Westphalia is supplying concrete for the building; United Piping Co. is the mechanical contractor and Glover Electric Co. is handling the electrical contracting.

A September completion of the new building is being aimed for.

Olive Township resolves intent to adopt zoning

At a special township meeting Monday evening the Olive Township board passed a resolution declaring the township's intent to adopt a zoning ordinance under the township rural zoning act.

The meeting was attended by 75 to 80 residents of the township who heard County Zoning Administrator Gerald Walters, William Rowan of the Tri-County Planning Commission and Joseph Perlesse, executive director of the Michigan Township Assn. speak.

Walters pointed out that the township had all the benefits of the County zoning and that Olive Township pays their share to the county.

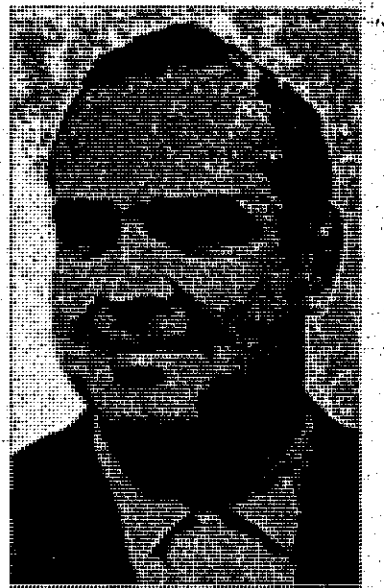

Rowan of Tri-County pointed out the study needed for a township zoning ordinance would take approximately two years to complete. The cost of the study would be one-third to the township, with the Federal Government picking up the tab for the other two-thirds. The actual cost to the township was estimated to be somewhere between $500 and $1000 per year.

Perlesse of the township association stated that local people should control zoning on a county level. Township zoning involves too many problems, he said. These problems are many including issuing of permits to the administration level. Also needed will be a township attorney and administrator. All these of course would have to be financed by the township alone.

The resolution of intent passed on a 3-2 vote by the township board. Those voting for the resolution were Hilary Simon, Nell Harle and Charles Falvor. Those against were Gayle Boron and Almond Cressman.

The issue now will await the next meeting scheduled for May 23 when the township board will appoint a zoning board. This board will consist of four people, but by resolution may be increased to no more than seven. The zoning board will then draw up the zoning ordinance which must be submitted to the County Zoning Commission and the landowners of the township for approval.

WILLIAM PAUTKE

William Pautke of 701 W. McConnell Street, sales manager at Saylor-Beall Manufacturing Co. here since 1959, left Monday to assume sole ownership of the Dayton Air Compressor Co. of Dayton, Ohio. A small company, it has been in business more than 50 years and manufactures compressors up through 20 horsepower. Pautke plans to move to Dayton by May 15. His resignation from Saylor-Beall was effective May 1; his replacement here is James Leon.

Glass was broken in a rear door at the Min-A-Mart Store, 215 N. Clinton Avenue, in St. Johns, Thursday night or early Friday, indicating someone broke into the store. Nothing was apparently taken, police said.

4 Cub Scouts get lion badges

New Scout badges were awarded to four members of Cub Scout Pack 271 by Cubmaster John Minsky last week. Jim Smith received a lion badge, gold arrowhead and two silver arrowheads; Doug Roog got a lion badge and gold arrowhead; Mark Mercek was awarded a lion badge and gold and silver arrowheads.

All the boys have completed their lions requirements and are ready to go into the Webelos pack.

John Williams, Scoutmaster of Troop 71, made a pack inspection. Cubmaster Minsky noted a need for a Webelos leader and urged interested persons to contact him.

SMITH HALL ENTERED CASH TAKEN OFF TABLE

The lower half of a west door was smashed by a burglar who apparently entered Smith Hall last week, city police were told Friday. Nothing was reported taken. The broken door, which will be replaced with a metal one, was valued at $30.

NEWS in Brief

Karen Baker of Fowler and Morris Conklin of St. Johns were included on the recent Lansing Business University dean's list for the past term. A grade-point average of at least 3.5 is required for being named to the list.

About four dozen farm boys with an interest in dairying found out about the selling end of milk marketing Friday and Saturday when they attended the annual 4-H milk marketing tour in Detroit sponsored by the Michigan Milk Producers Assn.

Saturday, May 14, is the final day to file nominating petitions, bearing 20 or more signatures, for election to the St. Johns School District Board of Education. The regular board election is June 13.

SIDEWALLS OF the new building are up, and some of the classroom floors were being poured. Electrical conduits and plumbing are completed in the foundation work.

The parish fund raising drive to construct the new building has so far produced $280,000.

Hammontree on Chamber board

Roger Hammontree, manager of the Glaspie Drug Store, has been appointed to a position on the board of directors of the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce.

The appointment was made by Don Gilson, Chamber president, and is to fill the unexpired term of Jerry Knupp, who recently resigned when he was transferred to Pitsburgh, Pa.

Hammontree has been active in Chamber of Commerce work in recent months and presently is serving as co-chairman of the Mills Brothers Circus Committee which the Chamber is co-sponsoring here May 26 with the St. Johns Jaycees. He is also a member of the Chamber's Retail Committee.

Hammontree is treasurer of the St. Johns Jaycees; active in the Masonic Order, the Eastern Star, the Michigan State Pharmaceutical Assn., the American Pharmaceutical Assn., and the National Association of Retail Druggists.

He and his wife Pat and their 10-month-old daughter Cindy reside at 1530 S. Lansing Street.

Chamber ballots due back May 13

Ballots went out last week to all Chamber of Commerce members in St. Johns for the election of three persons to the Chamber's board of directors.

Teen Road-E-O set for May 14

Saturday, May 14, has been scheduled for an Auto Road-E-O for the St. Johns area's teenage drivers. It will be sponsored by the St. Johns Jaycees and co-sponsored by Stan Cowan Mercury.

The Road-E-O will begin at 1 p.m. May 14 on the high school parking lot. Local boy and girl winners will receive $25 savings bonds plus plaques and the right to compete against other local contest winners at the state Road-E-O in Lansing. Some $4,000 in college scholarships will be awarded on the national level.

Entry forms are available at Stan Cowan Mercury and at the high school. Any boy or girl who has a driver's license and has not reached the age of 19 before the final day of the national championship is eligible to participate. Contestants must not have committed a traffic violation during the preceding six months or have an offense pending.

LOCAL AUTO-ROAD-E-O competition consists of a comprehensive written examination on rules of the road and a series of behind-the-wheel tests over a difficult obstacle course.

Voting precincts for May 9 bond issue election

Map shows the boundaries of the five voting precincts to be used in the May 9 bond issue election in the St. Johns School District. Precinct 1 includes Bengal, Bingham and Ovid townships; Precinct 2 includes Essex and also Fulton Township of Gratiot County. Precinct 3 includes Greenbush, Duplain and parts of Washington and Elba townships in Gratiot. Precinct 4 takes in Olive and Victor townships; Precinct 5 includes Riley, Westphalia and Watertown townships. The same precincts will be used for all school elections.

Minor equalizing...

This is where the factors developed, but they will apply on both real estate and personal in figuring taxes.

In almost every case the changes are minor and will result in little change in tax bills.

THE EQUALIZATION committee of the board worked with Equalization Director Richard Kerr to come up with the report, aimed at equalizing total property in the townships and cities to 50 per cent of true cash value. That's the idealistic definition of state equalized valuation.

The equalization committee's job is to balance the assessments of the various townships to insure all types of property in a township are being assessed on an equal basis with the same types of property in other parts of the county.

When discrepancies arise, equalizing factors are applied to bring the total township valuation up to an equal basis or in the case of a few this year—down to an equal basis with the other units. This equalizing factor is applied in figuring each tax bill.

FOR EXAMPLE, if an assessor-assessed valuation of $10,000 was placed on a farm, and the township it was in had an equalizing factor of 1.025, the new valuation to use in figuring taxes is $10,250.

Bath, Bingham, DeWitt, and Eagle townships all were assigned factors of 1.000, meaning there won't be any change on any of their assessed valuations. Bengal and Olive Townships both had factors of .998, and the City of St. Johns a factor of .996, meaning their new assessed valuations would be somewhat lower than originally figured.

The accompanying table shows what changes the equalization committee made in the various townships. The county board's equalization committee was headed by Supervisor Walter Nobis of Lebanon and included Lorenz Tiedt of St. Johns, Maurice Gove of Bingham, George Moore of Duplain and Gerald Shepard of Bath.

will be the $5.4 million. It will result in a tax levy of an additional 7 mills (or $7 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation), bringing the total school millage in the district to 20 mills. This is considerably less than many area districts, including Bath 25.4 mills, DeWitt 30.0 mills, Lansing 31.003, and Laingsburg 25.4.

Parked truck blocks view, 2 cars collide

A truck parked in the street to unload in front of the city parking lot on West Walker blocked the view of two drivers, whose cars collided Saturday morning in front of the truck.

Mrs. Gretta McNutt, 63, of R-1, St. Johns was pulling away from the curb and driving east when her car collided with one passing the stopped truck and driven by Laura M. Swarthout, 57, of R-1, Ovid. No one was injured.

42-bed annex planned at Carson City Hospital

CARSON CITY—Carson City Hospital (Osteopathic) will expand its services with the addition of a 42-bed extended care facility costing in excess of $500,000.

The facility will offer nursing care, clinical services and, as indicated, rehabilitation, physical therapy and social services to patients not requiring acute hospital care.

The announcement of the plans was made last week. The board of directors of the hospital has completed the preliminary steps for development of the addition. It is hoped construction bids can be let within 60 days and construction started by early fall.

THE MAGEE PROPERTY, consisting of the southwest lots of the block occupied by the hospital, has been purchased by the hospital. After removal of the Magee house and the two houses located in the southeast corner of the block, work can proceed toward the construction of the new unit.

The unit will occupy the entire south portion of the block, extending east to west. It will be connected to the present hospital by a passageway forming an H between the two buildings. This communicating corridor will extend south approximately in line with the present lobby of the hospital and will incorporate two additional elevators for patient and service usage.

THE MAIN FLOOR of the new unit will consist of private and semi-private rooms with an entrance and lobby at the east end, and will incorporate advanced facilities and utilities for the care of long-term patients. It will also include a dayroom and chapel and a dining room to serve ambulant patients.

The entire west half of the basement level will be a continuous expansion of the present outpatient x-ray, laboratory and clinical services as well as expanded dietary and kitchen area. The new basement area will also contain the physical therapy and rehabilitation facilities. The roof of this area between the two buildings will form an outdoor patio.

Rural-urban dinner May 17

Tickets went on sale this week for the second annual Rural-Urban Dinner to be held Tuesday, May 17, at Smith Hall in St. Johns park. Last year's crowd of nearly 450 prompted the Farm Bureau to again make plans for the affair as part of the county's Michigan Week celebration.

The program will include a family-style turkey dinner beginning at 7:15 p.m. served by the ladies of the Wacousta Church. Following community singing and some entertainment those attending will hear Vern H. Condon, marketing manager, US tractor operation, Ford Motor Co., speak on "Agriculture—Backbone of the Economy." Condon comes highly recommended and is known throughout the country for his speaking ability.

TICKETS FOR the banquet are available at the Farm Bureau office, The St. Johns Chamber of Commerce office, from Farm Bureau directors and community group secretaries. Notickets will be sold at the door.

In addition to turkey and all the trimmings, all other foods served at the affair will be Michigan products.

the two units is occupied by the boiler room and a service drive.

THE ADDITION OF this facility is considered ideal by authorities in institutional health care. Combining under one administration and one physical plant services for both acute bed patients and extended care patients allows full utilization of clinical, laboratory, and x-ray facilities centralized care by the attending professional staff; and economy of operation by having one dietary service, a central heating system, emergency generator and ancillary services.

Clark R. Ackley, architect of Lansing, has prepared preliminary plans and detailed drawings are being developed.

Blue Star Moms welcome 3

MRS ALBERTA BROCK, it was reported, is still in the hospital. Three new members were initiated. They are Mrs. Leona Ray, Mrs. Felicitas Midena and Mrs. Violet Paksi.

GRACE SHIPLEY's name was presented for 3rd vice president of the state organization. Delegates for the state convention to be held in Kalamazoo June 5-8 were elected.

The chapter will have a coffee and cookie sale at the laundrette on N. US-27 May 5 and 6.

Mr and Mrs Charles W. Frost of 708 W. State Street, St. Johns, are the parents of the bride. The groom's parents are Mr and Mrs William B. Johnson of 2217 Marguerite Avenue, Lansing.

For her wedding, the bride selected a gown of silk organza over taffeta appliqued with Venice lace. It featured a portrait neckline, chapel train and long pointed sleeves. Her bouffant shoulder length veil was secured with a headpiece of lace petals and crystal drops. She carried a bouquet

MISS CAROLANNE Williams of Lansing was the maid of honor. She wore a mint green floor length gown fashioned with a brocaded satin bodice, crepe skirt and a wateau train. Her headdress of bouffant net was mint green. She carried a cascade bouquet of pompon daisies and ivy.

Mrs Dale Martins of St. Johns and Mrs Charles L. Frost, sister-in-law of the bride, of St. Johns were the bridesmaids. Their gowns of yellow were styled like the maid of honor's.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs Frost selected a two piece ensemble of aqua and gold brocade with white accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses and an orchid. The mother of the groom wore a pink organdy ensemble with white accessories. Mrs Johnson's corsage was of pink roses and an orchid.

ROBERT BARNES of Lansing was the best man and groomsmen were Kenneth Johnson, twin brother of the groom, of Madison, Wis., and Charles L. Frost, brother of the bride, of St. Johns. Ushers were Allen Johnson, brother of the groom and Jack Ruttan of Lansing.

Halsey's host farm group

The Friendly Fringe Farm Bureau group met at the home of Mr and Mrs Robert Halsey for the April meeting. There were 14 members present. After reports were given a discussion was led on "Vertical Integration." It was decided the individual farmer cannot remain fully independent in the highly competitive business world. Marketing would be too costly and his local farm organizations and cooperatives have access to better markets with the farmer sharing in greater profit and dividends. Some farmers with little capital may be helped but should know all contracts well that are signed.

Mr and Mrs Robert D. Allan of 305 N. Lansing Street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Susan E., to Raymond F. Heinlen. He is the son of Mrs Evelyn Heinlen of R-4, St. Johns.

Multi-family units for DeWitt rejected by zoning commission

DeWITT — DeWitt's planning commission has turned down a proposal for the construction of three multi-family housing units. In rejecting the proposal, the planning commission stated that the building sites do not have adequate space to comply with the city's zoning code.

William Fosright had sought permission to build two four-family units and a six-to-eight-family-unit on land he has purchased with frontage on Turner and Bridge streets.

AFTER STUDYING the area and Fosright's plans, the commission ruled that under the existing ordinance the largest structures permissible would be two duplex apartment units.

The commission's study revealed that the property owned by Fosright contained 23,400 square feet on the Turner frontage and 28,300 on the Bridge street frontage. The area is zoned for multi-family dwellings and must have 10,000 square feet per family. Under Fosright's plan, he would need approximately 170,000 square feet, whereas his lots total only 51,700 square feet.

IN DISCUSSING THE possibility of changing the zoning, commission member Ralph Woodruff advised against it and added time is needed to draw ordinances to cover apartment construction for the city of DeWitt.

Armour Knight told the commission of his plans to convert the DeWitt Grange hall into apartments for four families. His application was tabled and he was advised that he must have at least 15 feet of space behind the building for parking, which he now lacks.

If Knight can purchase the additional land at the rear of the site to provide adequate parking facilities his request can be reconsidered. The Grange hall area is zoned commercial and the 10,000 square feet of space per family is not included in this category.

In other action, Dr Fred Smith asked the commission for permission to build a medical building where his office is now located on Franklin Street. He was told that the area is zoned properly and was advised to bring his plans to the commission for study.

IN A DISCUSSION of Webb Road which is a main artery into DeWitt, commission member Woodruff termed it a "disgrace." Other members of the commission echoed his feelings.

Howard Courtland said DeWitt Township pays more road tax than any other Clinton County Township, but he feels the township is not getting its proper share of road service.

Orlo McGuire, city engineer, said perhaps the solution is to annex Webb Road to the city. This way he said, the city would at least give the road some attention.

Mrs Clare McCrumb underwent surgery last week at the St. Lawrence hospital and is expected along as well as can be expected at this time.

The beginners who will be starting school next fall are going to the Oak Street school May 3 for a roundup day. They are to be accompanied by their mothers.

Carol Falor attended the mother daughter banquet at the Trinity Episcopal Church of Grand Ledge as the daughter of Mrs Duane Falor Friday night. Mrs Laura Patterson is very ill at her home at this time.

Child guidance clinic fills big need for area families

One of the Clinton County Board of Supervisors' major appropriation items in its proposed 1967 budget is $9,000 for the Lansing Child Guidance Clinic.

The figure, $500 higher than the 1966 appropriation, reflects not just increased cost for treating emotional or behavioral problems but an increasing number of such problems.

The Clinton board's appropriation to the Lansing Child Guidance Center is a pretty good reflection of the amount of services county residents receive from the center. It serves not only Clinton, but also Ingham, Eaton, Livingston and Calhoun counties.

IN 1965, ACCORDING to the annual report of the center, Clinton County appropriated $5,800 through the board of supervisors, $303 through the schools and $585 through the communities Chest. This amounted to 5.7 per cent of the local support needed to operate the center.

On the other hand, the county had 60 cases handled by the clinic during the same year, or 6.72 per cent of the total caseload.

While the percentage may not necessarily be climbing, the number of caseloads is. And it's climbing in the other counties, too. The average caseload per month at the clinic has climbed from 64 in 1961 to 199 in 1965, including a leap of more than 100 per cent between 1963 and 1964.

THE AVERAGE number of new patients from all the counties served has jumped from 17 in 1961 to 18, 23, 22 and finally 27 in 1965. The average number of interviews per month is also up from 118 in 1961 to 189 in 1965.

Just what is Clinton County's role in the Child Guidance Clinic? It's an active one, to be sure. The secretary of the board of directors is Mrs Earl Cantfield, county nurse for Clinton County. And one of the directors is Willard Kriebel of 4363 W. Price Road, St. Johns, supervisor of Riley Township.

Mental Health Week May 1-7, 1966

THESE TWO PEOPLE play an active part in the operation of the clinic, a place where families may go for help when their children have emotional or behavioral problems. The clinic provides psychiatric and psychological service as needed. By this service, many more serious problems are sometimes prevented, especially if the children can be seen as soon as possible after disturbed behavior is noticed.

The clinic is a joint state and local project supported by the State Department of Mental Health and local agencies (boards of supervisors, school boards and community chests). It is one of 19 such clinics in Michigan.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT of Mental Health pays about 50 per cent of the cost of operation of the clinic. The balance is received from the local agencies. In 1965, the clinic had total expenditures of $218,002.25.

Here are some miscellaneous facts from the 1965 annual report of the clinic that give some insight into the role Clinton County plays in the services of the clinic. The children may be referred to the clinic by parents, physicians, schools, courts, agencies, health, clergy and other such organizations. Clinton County referred 40 new cases in 1965, compared to 59 by Eaton, 427 by Ingham and 12 by Livingston.

OF THE TOTAL OF 60 cases served (new and carryover) during 1965, there were 27 from St. Johns, 3 from Bath, 2 from Elsie, 21 from DeWitt, 3 from Ovid and 4 from the rest of the county. By comparison, Ingham County had 721 cases on the clinics caseload, Eaton had 94 and Livingston had 18.

In 1964 there were 11 patients in the adult services division, while in 1965 there were 16 from Clinton County.

There were 32 interviews with patients from the county last year, with an average of two interviews per patient.

CLINTON COUNTY'S board of supervisor appropriation of $8,500 for 1966 compares to $7,550 for Eaton's board, $1,998 for Livingston's and $30,000 for Ingham's.

Regardless of what county he or she is from, children referred to the clinic get a complete diagnosis.

27-year March of Dimes record: $96,676 donated, 82% spent here

The Clinton County chapter of the National Foundation has raised $96,676.32 since 1939, it was reported last Tuesday evening at the annual meeting of the chapter.

Of that amount, $78,837.43—or 82 per cent—has been spent in Clinton County, according to Robert Cook of Grand Rapids, Midwestern Michigan field representative for the National Foundation.

THE 1955 MARCH of Dimes drive showed net receipts of $4,870.55. The chapter National Foundation financial report showed a balance of $1,828.03.

Local expenses during the past year have included $200 to the Salk Institute, $250 to the MOD Treatment Center, $150 to the scholarship fund, $954 for patient aid and $500 for a chapter scholarship.

RECEIPTS DURING the last year include $1,895.26 from the Mothers' March, $541.96 from schools, $1,817.97 from mailers, $411 from bowling tournament, and $680.59 in miscellaneous for a total of $5,346.78.

Cook informally discussed with the 10 women present for the meeting the program of the National Foundation. He stressed that in addition to fighting polio, much is being done in the field of research in waging the fight against birth defects and in patient care. He outlined the foundation of the Salk Institute, to which the National Foundation makes a yearly contribution.

Cook mentioned awards available in nursing, occupational therapy, physical therapy, medicine and other such projects through the March of Dimes and recommended the chapter sponsor only one applicant per year.

Mrs Lyle Fenner, chapter

chairman, noted the chapter has been sponsoring Mrs Paulette Salmon, who will graduate from the University of Michigan School of Nursing this year. A total of $2,000 has been awarded Mrs Salmon over the past four years.

Mrs Fenner said all high schools of the county have been notified of the availability of the scholarship and have been asked to send in names of applicants for 1966.

TWO NEW MEMBERS of the chapter were introduced at the meeting. They are Mrs Donna Carter, who will act as educational chairman, and Mrs Cereida Hicks, who will assume the duties of secretary. Both are from St. Johns.

Mrs John Caudy, 1965 March of Dimes county chairman, reported a Clinton County News photograph showing several girls at the March of Dimes roller skating party this winter will be used in the March of Dimes national publicity kit.

A set of photographic slides on the birth defects program was shown by Cook to conclude the evening's program.

The National Firearms Act, adopted in 1934, and the Federal Firearms Act, passed in 1938, are aimed at prohibiting the possession of "gangster weapons," such as sawed-off shotguns, and the illegal shipment of firearms into states that require licenses for purchasing a firearm.

Road Commission Weekly Report

Adverse weather last week held up spring maintenance operations. Repair of road breakups continued, but cold rains and high winds hampered the work. Maintenance and construction programs got under way again late in the week. The traffic counting project continued. This is a program of counts on the county Primary System.

The Board of Clinton County Road Commissioners held their regular meeting Tuesday. The board opened bids for the May and June requirements for gasoline. The commission examined two proposed new subdivisions, one in DeWitt Township and one in Bingham. These were for final approval. The board also discussed preliminary plans on two proposed subdivisions in Bath Township.

A GENERAL discussion of plots, unauthorized driveways and other right-of-way encroachments followed. Some drainage and ditch problems were also brought up. The operations report for April showed receipts of $84,917.33 and expenditures of $62,496.20. Major expense items were payment on tree removal contract $2,753, patching materials $3,158, and Krepss road bridge repairs nearly $4,000. Payrolls were $29,600 for April. The one big item of receipts was the county appropriation for matching Federal Aid Funds used on the bridge program. This amount was $75,000.

Inspection for derby cars May 14

The first of a series of three inspection days for Soap Box Derby racers has been set by the local derby committee for Saturday, May 14.

The inspection will take place in the depot parking lot area on East Railroad Street. Boys bringing their cars for inspection should have their derby driver license and a list of materials and prices, according to Roger Feeman, inspection committee chairman.

Time for the inspection will be 9 a.m. until noon. Other inspection dates have been set for May 21 and May 28 at the same times, with a trial race down Railroad Street tentatively scheduled for the 28th.

A GOOD FIELD of young racing enthusiasts is anticipated for the real Soap Box Derby race down Clinton Avenue in St. Johns June 5. A top prize of a $500 bond from Chevrolet and a trophy will be awarded the winner of the local derby.

Some $375 in other local prizes will be awarded to the top 10 racers in the final standings, and all 10 boys will also win free trips to Akron, Ohio, later in the summer to watch the local winner participate in the All-American Soap Box Derby.

2nd quarter at F-M looks good

The second quarter of 1966 looks good from a sales standpoint, too, Federal Mogul Corp. said last week in announcing record first-quarter sales and considerably higher earnings.

"We are far enough into the second quarter to be reasonably sure that sales and earnings for the period will both be somewhat higher than they were in the second quarter of last year," James O. Wright, president, said at the annual meeting.

Wright said the company's anticipating a growth period in the "near future," citing as the principal reasons the company's enlarged manufacturing, research, distribution and administrative facilities, which have been created as a part of a large capital improvements program, and the increased demands of an expanding economy for the company's products.

ABOUT WITHHOLDING TAX

Q—Can widows and widowers be considered married for withholding purposes?

A—For payroll purposes a widower is considered married for the year of the spouse's death and for the two following years if he qualifies as a surviving spouse. Widowers or widows should claim their exemptions on line 2 of Form W-4. This is the line for married persons.

FOCUS ON EDUCATION

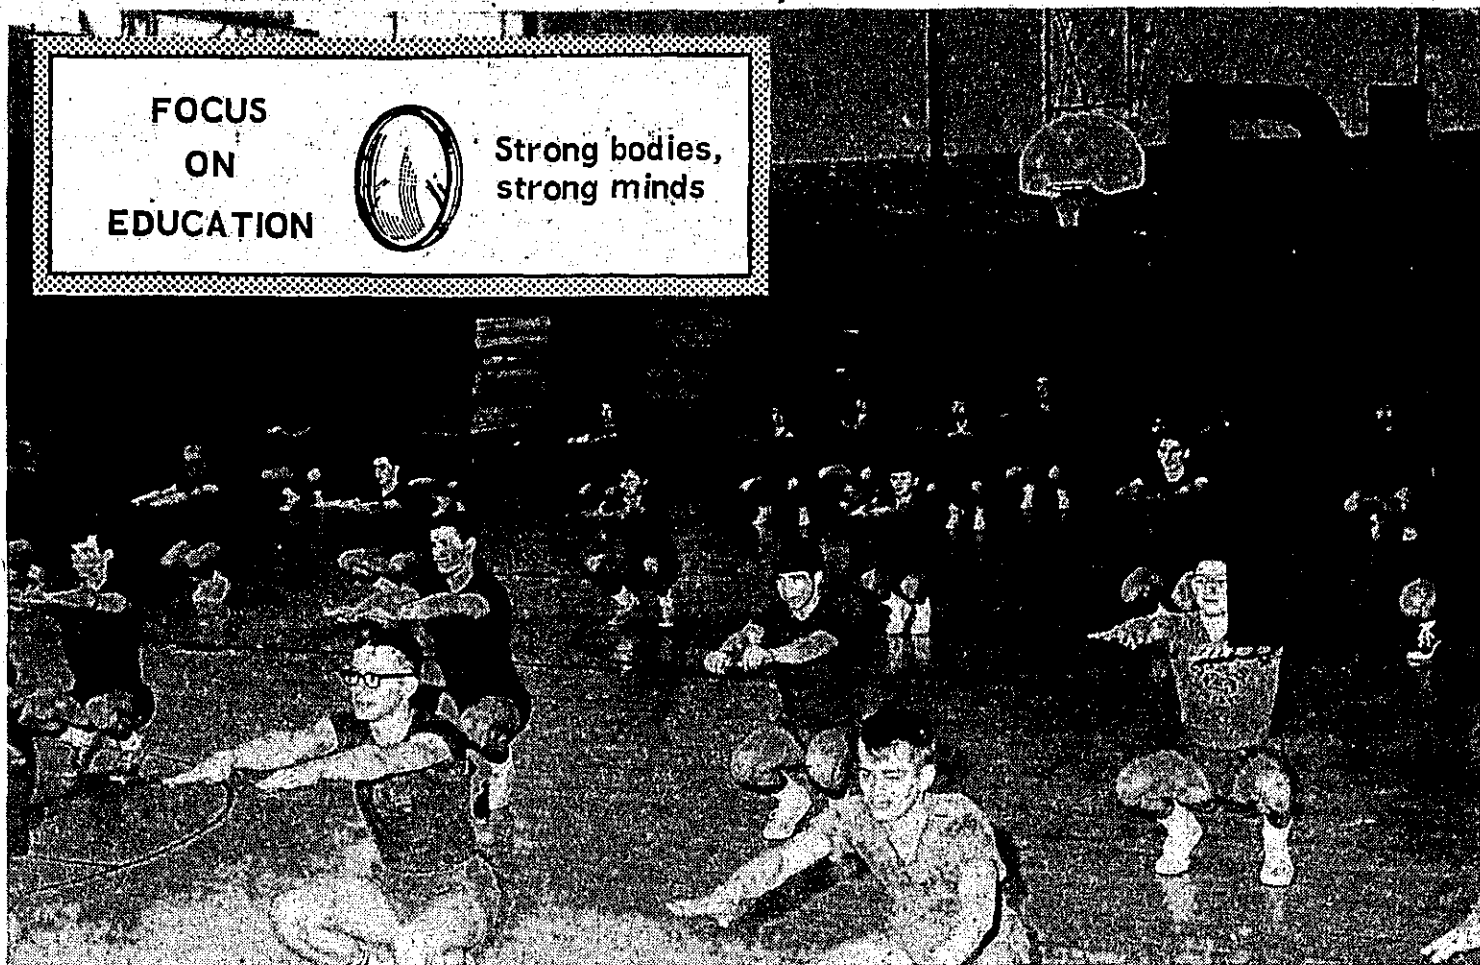

Strong bodies, strong minds

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Keeping students physically fit keeps them mentally alert,

St. Johns school officials point out

Physical fitness is the prime objective of the physical education programs in the St. Johns Public School system. Calisthenics are given every day at the high school level to enhance muscular growth and physical well being. Even in grade school this type of activity is used. In the picture at left and below, fourth graders at Perrin Palmer School do pushups.

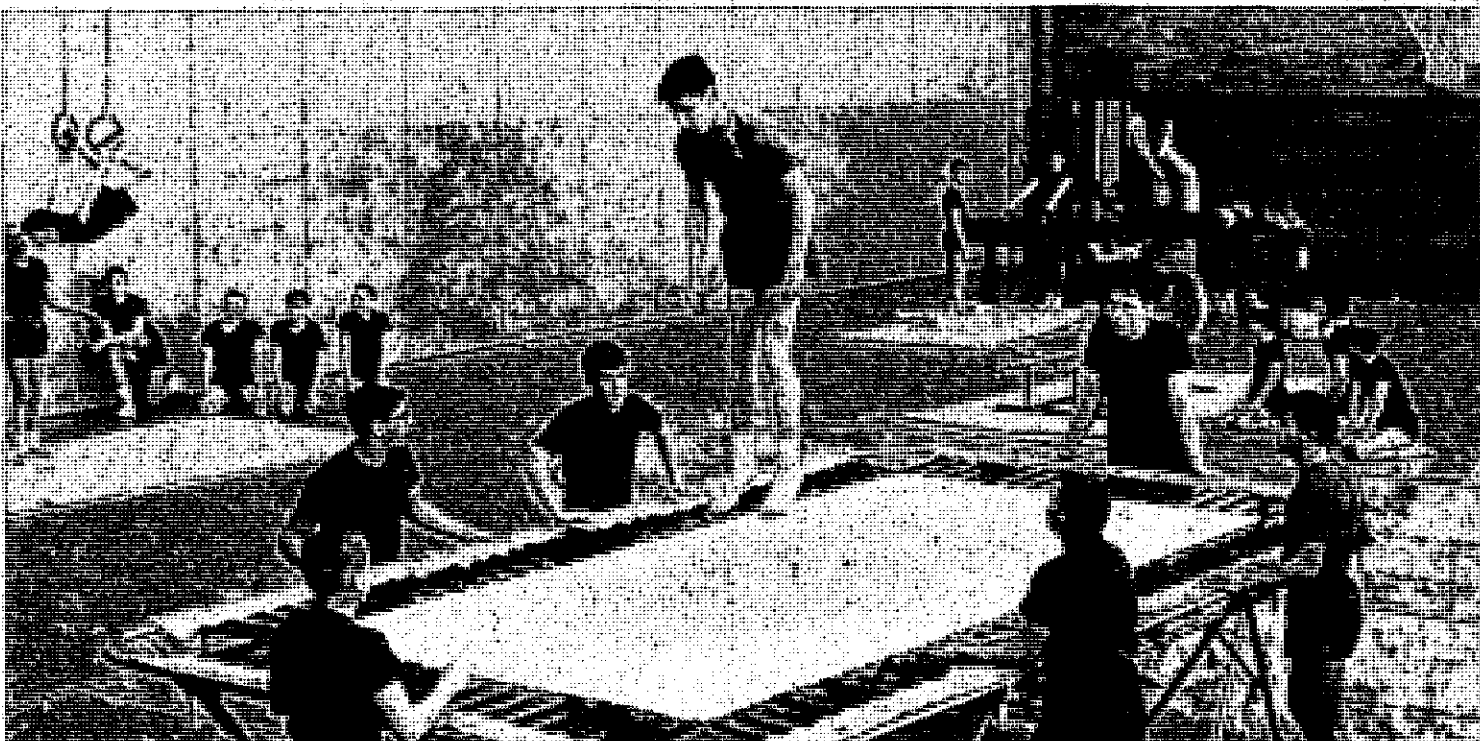

Impressive individual skills are a product of work and determination. Scott Heibeck displays good form doing his routine on the side horse.

Physical education begins in kindergarten, but it is directed by only the individual teachers. Here at a special event in the high school gym, kindergarten youngsters from Swegles Street School play "Squirrel in the Tree," one of a number of games used to teach children to play together and share things.

Basketball is one of the team sports emphasized in girls P. E. classes, and not only rules but appreciation of boys basketball is taught. Going up on a center jump are Jan Fowler and Susan Downing. The "referee" is Mrs Helen Kramer girls PE instructor.

Gymnastic activities are a favorite with most boys due to the muscle building qualities it encourages, the coordination it strengthens and the recreational enjoyment it promotes, both physically and mentally. Boys classes are held in one end of the high school gym and girls classes in the other end.

Demonstration is one of the most effective means of teaching new techniques in wrestling. Gym teacher William Brown demonstrates a guillotine pin while other boys watch the slow motion action.

An important part of any education program is physical education. Many studies have shown that a student who is physically fit performs better in the classroom.

The President of the United States, Lyndon B. Johnson, made the following comment in the Journal of Health, Physical Education and Recreation:

"It is essential that our young people be encouraged to develop their physical capabilities as well as their mental skills. Sports and other forms of active play promote good health and help provide our country with sturdy young citizens who are equal to the challenge of the future."

PHYSICAL EDUCATION in the city schools of the St. Johns system begins when the youngster enters school, even though a qualified physical education teacher does not begin working with the children until the third grade. The early elementary grades, kindergarten through second grade, have physical education which is taught by the classroom teacher during their play or recess time. Teachers attempt to teach simple rhythm games for the most part.

The third grade, made up of boys and girls, has physical education once a week for 25 minutes. Here the children begin to learn games where they have to do things as a unit or team. In the fourth grade, made up of boys and girls, physical education classes are held once a week for 25 minutes. The children are taught skills to play more complex games. Individual weaknesses show up in this grade due to a great variation in size. Height and weight will vary greatly at this age group.

THE FIFTH GRADE: At this point boys and girls are divided due to the difference in size and skill. The two groups have gym twice a week for 25 minutes. The boys are taught various skills to develop their muscles, gain skills and learn to react instantly. The girls' activities include basketball, softball, kickball, volleyball, tumbling, physical fitness and lots of games and relays.

Again boys and girls are divided into separate groups in the sixth grade. The skills that have been taught are now put to use on teams to see how well the students work together, to see if sportsmanship has been learned, if rules are followed, etc.

There are now eight sections of seventh and eighth graders, which means each section can have gym every third day. In this age group the boys receive more attention in individual skills, such as physical fitness, running, proper ways to throw, kick, etc. Once again there is a big size difference, such as a boy 6'1" 187 pounds; and a boy 3'8", 75 pounds. This is not uncommon. The girls' activities consist of apparatus, volleyball, badminton, basketball, softball, tennis, folk dance, tumbling and physical fitness.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS' physical education: Main objectives in the girls' physical education program are:

1) Provide opportunities for girls to become proficient in different areas of activities, such as team sports, individual sports, rhythmic activities and recreational activities. The activities covered this year include field hockey, speed-a-way, basketball, softball, volleyball, bowling, badminton, gymnastics, track and field, modern dance, folk dance, square dance and basic movement.

2) Teach activities which the girls may use outside the physical education class; activities with a high "carry-over value," such as bowling, badminton and rhythmic activities, are taught.

3) TEACH APPRECIATION of sports so as to help the girls become better spectators.

4) Follow a program of exercises which will encourage physical fitness. These objectives are sought daily. "It is our desire that the students enjoy themselves, but yet gain skill and knowledge in physical activities," school officials say.

High School boys physical education: Through the physical education program, the school tries to attain the best in physical fitness for every youth participant.

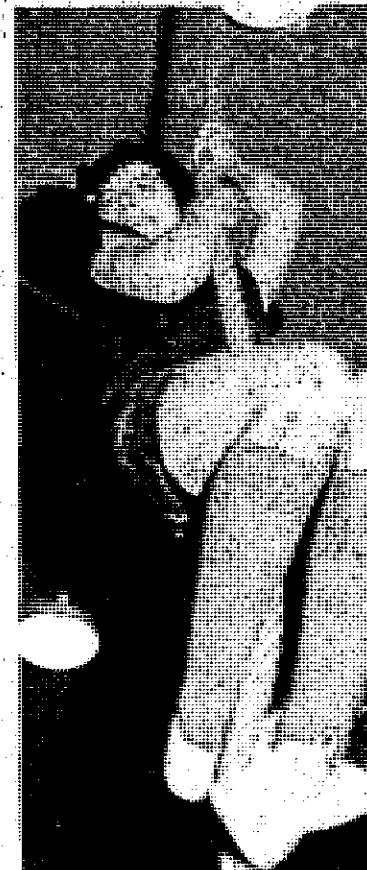

The boys' physical education program emphasizes physical fitness, acquisition of new physical skills and further development and improvement of basic skills and natural physical attributes.

The use of the Marine Corps Physical Fitness Test is provided to test the physical strength and skills of every boy three times during the school year—at the beginning, mid-year, and just prior to the summer vacation. A record is kept to evaluate the physical improvement of each participant.

THE PHYSICAL education activities encompass almost every realm of physical endeavor in regard to sports and recreation. Football, soccer, wrestling, basketball and volleyball round out the activities from September through December. Gymnastics, tumbling, games, archery, track and field and softball round out the late winter and spring activities.

Audio-visual aids are used to supplement the activities and to aid in introducing many sports and skills. Movies are also shown, and discussion held on health and first aid.

THE PHYSICAL education program in the rural schools approximates that of the kindergarten, first and second grades in the city schools. All physical education is taught by the individual teachers during the recess periods.

Patrick Richards going up in the world.

Cindy Mazzolini handwalks on the parallel bars.

Rhonda Woodbury works out on the rings.

The proposed building program to be voted on Monday includes all-purpose rooms in the rural schools where physical education programs will be carried on the same as they are in the city schools.

Pohl tells of new Peace Corps experiences in Peru's mountains

BY DAVID W. POHL
Peace Corps Volunteer to Peru

Here it is the first of April, and I lack less than two months of being here in the country a full year. It seems like a few weeks have passed, but the calendar says over 10 months. That's unbelievable. I guess one of the reasons for this feeling is the lack of obvious physical accomplishments. It isn't really that waste-of-time feeling, but I guess there is nothing I can really put my finger on as a direct result of my being here. If it means anything to have a lot of friends then things are going good.

As some of you may know I have been moved from the jungle to a zone high in the Andes Mountains. It's like being taken from an oven and placed in a refrigerator. Also I changed altitude from under 5,000 feet to over 11,000. That can leave you rather breathless, too. I am getting used to it but it was rather difficult at first. Also when I used to travel I would be so miserable from the altitude changing that I would sometimes wish I could die and get it over with. This is not bothering me near as much lately.

THE WORK I WAS supposed to be involved in at the other site in the jungle I guess really never panned out the way I had hoped. This was partly my fault and some fault of the ag engineer I was supposed to be working with. We could never seem to see eye to eye on a way for us to carry out the work there. I always felt there was much more to do by visiting farmers and townspeople, whereas he felt they should come to the office with their problems.

This agrarian reform is a relatively new thing in the country and many people are mistrustful of its purposes, and therefore it was not a widely accepted thing in that town. For this reason I felt it would be better to get to know the people, explain the purpose of the program, and get their confidence. After about eight months of continuous little conflicts like this and things I entangled I realized I wasn't getting anywhere and wasn't going to get anywhere in the future.

I HAD A TALK with my Peace Corps representative in the area and started looking around for a new site. That involved about a month of talking with officials of the ag reform program, coming up to visit this place, and putting in the waiting time necessary to get the wheels of bureaucracy moving.

When the dust finally settled I found myself at a site high in the Andes. For the first month I spent some time in a school run by the agrarian reform for these Sierra farmers or campesinos where some of the better-educated people from this place, Alcas, along with others from similar situations, were receiving some advanced education on the program and what it all meant to them. Here I really got to know some of the people I was to be working with. I also spent some of that month in Lima getting information for road construction, taking soil samples for an analysis to find out about getting a hand-operated machine to make adobe blocks, and various other things concerning the work possibilities at this site.

I WILL TRY here to give you a little background on this place called Alcas. Formerly this was part of a three-quarter of a million acre hacienda all owned by one man. The agrarian reform of Peru bought it from him with the livestock and equipment. They are now in the process of dividing it up amongst the people who formerly worked for him. This land and livestock is actually being sold to the communities on a credit basis. Here for example are about 40 families and they are to receive an area of approximately 40-50,000 acres.

Much of this land is nothing but rock and mountains and quite worthless. There is a considerable amount of workland on the sides of the lower mountains and the valleys, where they presently grow all their own potatoes plus some to sell. There is enough land to produce all their own potatoes and vegetables and then some. I would like to see them raise oats on this extra land or something like this that they could feed to the livestock.

THEY HAVE ABOUT 1500 head of cattle, some sheep, a number of horses and a few llamas. There is considerable range land for this amount of livestock. Some of it, though, is too steep for cattle or sheep and some just too high for anything except maybe llamas or goats.

Also in this same credit area to be allotted for road building and to improve housing. They are presently living in adobe houses with dirt floors and are four hours from the nearest road by horseback. That's a long ride when you aren't used to it and you remember it very clearly the next morning when you sit down to breakfast. The second day isn't too bad as you know it can't get much worse. I do a fair amount of riding around the place when I am up here.

THE SCENERY UP here is fantastic with the snow-capped peaks, crystal clear lakes and streams, and all of this to ourselves. I have had fresh trout here a couple of times and it is good. They tell me these lakes and streams are just full of them. I intend to find out for myself very soon. I also understand there is some good hunting in the area. Without a doubt I will investigate that, too.

In many ways, the people here are much different than where I was before. These are almost all descendants of the ancient Indian civilization, the Incas, and some of these people speak only Quechua, the Indian language. Nearly all the men speak Spanish but with an accent. All this just when I thought I was getting somewhere with Spanish. Where I was before

DAVID W. POHL there was a high percentage of European descent and very few spoke Quechua.

Also, in a general sense, I think the people here are much less business-minded. The education here is much poorer. I think the maximum is about seven years of formal schooling and many can neither read nor write.

MANY OF THESE people, men and women, chew coca. The leaves which they use contain drugs that deaden hunger pangs. One day here I went with one of the guys for a five- or six-hour ride. We stopped around noon and I sat down and ate a can of tuna while he, with a couple of guys we stopped to talk to, all chewed on that coca for awhile. They also gave me a drink of some home brew they had, and was that ever powerful. That was so strong you had to put your foot on the bottle to keep it from running away. I had no fear of any bugs or germs being in there.

I think one of the most important things I have found here is the opportunity to see the US and its policies from another point of view. This includes such things as the way of life itself, foreign aid, our industries in foreign countries, trade systems, Vietnam and more such relations with other countries.

I WILL TRY and start here and compare the different ways of life or, I might say, philosophy of life. I think by comparison we are a very efficient and practical people. Generally things boil down to a dollar and cents value. I think this is true for almost anything an American does. We look more to money as a source of power than these people and power has I think less importance to us. I think here power is much more important and is used much more effectively to influence various actions. We also place a very definite value on time and promptness.

Economics here for efficiency and practicality is very poorly understood and money is misshandled and never accounted for. Education seems to be more of a source of power than money. If you are a good speaker generally you can throw quite a bit of weight around. Time here is not very significant. Waiting a day or two for something that could be done right away is nothing real important. Promptness is unbelievable, if somebody says to meet at 1 o'clock, your best bet is 2 or 3 or not at all.

I do think they honestly know how to use leisure time better than we do. We are much more restless in this respect. Also they have less problem, I think, with ulcers and heart diseases.

MY FEELING towards foreign aid has changed some, too. All too often I think this is used as a lever to apply pressure on foreign governments in trade and diplomatic matters. Simply we always have strings attached. This wouldn't be so bad if we attached those strings on some other thing such as how the money is being used and maybe showing how it can be used efficiently. In this way maybe we could see through some of the governments we have supported. Some of these, we have sadly found out later, pocketed most of that money themselves. I think this may be one of the big reasons for the uprisings in the Dominican Republic.

American industry in some of the foreign countries is very often a thing somewhat independent of government relations. A major factor in this is how the company treats the people of the particular country. If they hire native people, pay them a reasonable wage, and abide by the country's laws and taxes they are generally alright. If not, well, I guess that is self-explanatory.

MATTERS concerning trade often come as those foreign aid strings. We raise the roof when these coffee countries would like to sell coffee to Russia. It's a big market and they would like to utilize it. Right or wrong I refuse to take sides on this, but sometimes wonder why we should interfere, especially after we have sold wheat to Russia. That is simply the old saying twisted "Do as I say, not as I do."

Vietnam—now that is an interesting one and I guess it's catching more criticism within the US than from without. That's likely, being that the United States is the most involved, but I think it is obvious to most Americans that the United States is the strength of freedom. I am quite sure this is the feeling of most of the countries around the world. This includes communist as well as non-communist countries. If we don't stand the ground for an honorable peace and stick with some form of containment policy, I wonder how long Castro would wait to start making trouble here in this part of the world. I am quite sure that he would want to get in on any glory that he could.

THE GUERRILLA problem here in Peru has quieted down for the time being and I think the best way to keep it that way is to make it clear to everybody that we have learned how to meet the problem of guerrilla warfare. I think most of the non-communist world would like that assurance. I think this is one reason why I have heard almost no criticism on what is going on over there. Most of these people seem to know what is going on as very often there is something in the paper concerning the war.

In getting back to some of the direct relations with some of these countries I want to point out one thing which I certainly never realized so clearly before. These people are, in general, a very proud people. I think this is much more true than meets the eye. On a personal basis an individual might be inclined to think the opposite, as I have heard some comments mentioning that North Americans have better blood but this is deceiving because if governments or countries are brought up they become very nationalistic.

I think in our relations with these countries we have blundered quite seriously in this. John Kennedy, I think, realized this and I think he is almost universally loved and remembered by Latin Americans. They are equals who need a little help and not inferiors who need day to day guidance.

I guess I am about all talked out for now so will say good-bye, and you all take good care of "good ole U.S.A."

Of the nation's total hospitals, nearly 60 per cent were provided blood through Red Cross.

You may save $6 to $8 per acre with Dow Anhydrous Ammonia: lowest cost nitrogen in the field.

The reason is, anhydrous ammonia gives you far more nitrogen per pound than any other nitrogen fertilizer. Which means it takes far less DOW ANHYDROUS AMMONIA to do the job than it does with any other form of nitrogen fertilizer.

If you're planting corn on corn, it will take 150 to 200 pounds of nitrogen per acre to decay the old stalks and still have the nitrogen you need for high yields. Supply this nitrogen with DOW ANHYDROUS AMMONIA and you may save as much as $6 to $8 an acre. And boost crop yield quality and feed grain protein content while you do it. It's so long-lasting, one application is all you need. See us today for details. And save some money for a change.

ABOUT WITHHOLDING TAX

Q-When do the new withholding rates start?

A-The rates become effective May 1 and apply to amounts paid on or after that date.

DeWitt seeks accreditation

DeWITT—Addition of foreign languages, home economics in the junior high and an art course will be instituted in the DeWitt Schools next year in an effort to secure accreditation by the University of Michigan.

Accreditation will insure DeWitt High School graduates can enter any state university without taking entrance examinations such as are necessary now.

Hobart Jenkins, assistant superintendent, said a teacher has been secured to teach Spanish and French, and the first art teacher in the system will begin work next fall. Junior high home economics will also be taught.

ALSO IN LINE with the move toward accreditation was approval of a plan for the first district-wide testing program for students. This will be started next fall under the administration of William Gillingham, who has been hired to start a guidance and counseling program. The testing will include achievement, ability and vocational inventories.

The board took under advisement the possibility of adding rooms to the Scott Elementary School and the refurbishing of the junior high school.

DeWitt Jaycees get their charter

DeWITT—The DeWitt Jaycees were formally chartered April 23 at a meeting of the new chapter at the high school. William Taylor, Michigan external vice president, presented the state charter, and Robert Morrill, vice president of District 12, presented the Jaycees their international charter.

Mayor William Buck officially welcomed the Jaycees to the city. Master of ceremonies was William Renfrew, extension chairman from the Lansing chapter.

Officers of the new DeWitt Jaycees are: Robert Taylor, president; William Lohier, first vice president; William Owen, second vice president; Lyman Jump, secretary; and David Tanous, treasurer.

Queen candidates wanted for showboat contest

CHEWANING—The 1966 Chesaning Showboat Queen Contest will be held in Peet Community Center in Chesaning at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, May 18, and right now the queen contest committee is seeking girls to vie for queen.

That evening some lucky girl will be crowned queen of the 1966 Showboat, and with the award will go a check for $100, a bouquet of red roses, and the opportunity to appear many times before Showboat throughout this part of the state helping tell the story of the now-famous mid-summer show.

The contest is open to any single girl, age 16 thru 25.

At the contest, girls will wear formal or dinner dresses and will be interviewed briefly by the master of ceremonies so the panel of press-radio-TV judges can make their decisions.

In addition to the queen, a court of four lovelies will also be selected, and they, with the queen, will make many personal appearances as well as ride Showboat down the river each of the six nights.

Requests for entry blanks should be made to Chesaning Showboat Queen Contest, Ward Anderson, McDonald Dairy Co., Chesaning, Mich. 48616. The deadline for returning filled-out entry blanks is Monday, May 16.

Chesaning Showboat dates this year are Monday thru Saturday, July 11 thru 16. Last year, during the six-night run, Showboat played to 19,952 people.

Winners never find fault with the referee's decisions.

P-W Head Start aims for starting date of June 20

PEWAMO-WESTPHALIA—The target date for the opening of the Head Start pre-school program for the Pewamo-Westphalia schools has been set for Monday, June 20, according to William Steinke, superintendent.

The program, designed for children who will enter school for the first time next fall, will run for a seven-week period ending Aug. 5. Membership in the program will be limited to immature children who may be expected to benefit from the training to better prepare them to enter school next fall.

THE PRE-SCHOOL room will be limited to a membership of 35 children and will be taught by Mrs Lucille Kramer, kindergarten teacher. The program will be geared to activities which acquaint the children to regular school routine.

The program will be sponsored by the Federal Economic Act of 1964.

Parents having children who will be entering kindergarten next fall and wish to enroll their child in the Head Start program should make application to Supt. Steinke.

Elsie Literary club hears talk on buttons

ELSIE — "Who's Got the Buttons?" was the program theme for the Woman's Literary Club Tuesday evening at Elsie High School. Mrs. Leon G. Vesburg of Owosso was the guest speaker and showed her collection of antique buttons.

Mrs. Vesburg began her fascinating hobby over twenty years ago with a bag of buttons from her mother's attic and encouragement from another collector, Miss Adele Ball of Owosso.

She related the history of buttons from their beginning in Waterbury, Conn. in 1787 when Colonial buttons were made by craftsmen from dies that now number 17,000 varieties.

Mrs. Vesburg displayed a Victorian Girl's Charm string which was composed of 999 buttons collected or exchanged from friends.

She pointed out that buttons come in endless sizes, shapes and colors and their uses range from fasteners, to ornaments, innumerable materials from wood, metal, shell, bone to gems and coins have been used, she added.

Included in her many book and framed exhibits were such buttons as carved pearl, Formosan jade paperweights, French porcelain, painted, military, calice, campaign, conventional, modern and realistic or "goofies" as they are called.

There were buttons of ages including one that was 150 years old.

Mrs. Vesburg is a member of the National Button Society which was organized in 1938 to classify the varieties. Nearly every state has a chapter.

Mrs. Vesburg was assisted by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. John Vesburg and both were introduced by Mrs. Glenn Horn who was program chairman.

Sharry Moore and Sandra Grubaugh entertained with flute music and Mrs. Blon Clement gave a reading "Just for Today."

Mrs. Paul Platner presided for the business meeting. Mrs. Howard Peltier, president of the Clinton County Federation of Women's Clubs, announced final arrangements for the annual convention to be held in the Elsie Methodist Church Tuesday, May 3 with the Elsie WLC as hostesses.

At the close of the program refreshments were served by Mrs. Lewis Carter, Mrs. Wade Parks and Mrs. R. C. Parks. Mrs. Ouida Smith and Mrs. Stanley Kidas served as hostesses.

The next meeting will be a Mother's Day party for older women of the community. It will be held Tuesday afternoon, May 10 in the Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hardaker attended funeral services for their father, Happy Hardaker of Clio, at the Chappell Funeral Home Friday. He passed away suddenly from a heart attack. Burial was in Flint Memorial Gardens.

Mrs. Carl Winans accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Coralee Ott and son Michael flew to Santa Maria, Calif. to attend funeral services of the former's father, Lloyd Linman, who died in Tucson, where he recently moved from California.

Mrs. Alpha Grubaugh has returned home following treatment at the Carson City Hospital.

The Elsie Methodist Church will honor its members of the graduating class of Elsie High School May 11 at a family night. A potluck supper will be served at 7 p.m. in Fellowship Hall and a program will follow with Mrs. Emerson Dunham in charge.

ABOUT WITHHOLDING TAX

Q-If the new withholding system is going to give the government more revenue isn't that a tax increase?

A-No. The graduated withholding rates will only speed up collections, they will not change total yearly tax liabilities. In other words, the government will only be getting the amount of taxes it is entitled to at present rates but it will be getting it sooner.

MYF special guests at recent WSCS meet

The MYF were special guests at the regular monthly meeting of the Bannister Women's Society of Christian Service. Mrs. Thomas Bradley welcomed the members and guests and gave a short account of the work of the World Federation of Women.

The worship for the evening was conducted by the MYF. A duet by Sharon and Phyllis Stewart and accompanied by Mrs. Elmer Leydorf provided the special music.

Nancy Lutzak took her audience on a trip to the United Nations and other sights in New York and Washington via slides and dialogue. She and Linda Ensign went on the U. N. - Washington Seminar sponsored by the Conference MYF. Linda Ensign was unable to assist because of illness.

Junior members are Frank Cermak, Kim Winans, Karen Libertin, Susan Vostrizansky, Harold Porubsky and Joe Tezarek.

Mrs. Richard Moore read a selection entitled "What is a 4-H Leader?" and dedicated it to all leaders present. Refreshments were served by the leaders.

The nest destroyed and a trap was set for any others. One, the father, was caught in that manner. This made a total of sixteen. Thirteen babies, two mothers and one father. can you depend on "doorstep drugs?"

We think not. Medicines you buy from door-to-door peddlers may be good for something... but chances that they'll help you are slim indeed.

Ask yourself these questions: Is the medicine formulated for my needs? Will it do for me what I want it to do? Very likely the answers are... NO!

So always let your physician diagnose for you and prescribe the medicines you need. Then let us supply the medicines he recommends. Our prices are always fair, and you get the finest products scientific medicine has developed.

Here are some suggestions for enjoyable vacation

Perhaps you've heard the old story about the vacationers who went 300 miles out of their way and lost a day of travel time because mom thought she had forgotten to turn off the oven.

It can and does happen, but this family's unfortunate experience could have been avoided if they had left a spare key with a neighbor. A phone call would have saved a day of vacation and dad would have been in better spirits when he reached his favorite fishing hole.

MILLIONS OF Americans are now planning their summer vacations, and the Michigan Tourist Council offers the following advice to make travel more enjoyable.

Make a check-list of things you want to take with you. Is your camera packed? How about swim suits and sun tan lotion? Don't forget your driver's license, extra car keys, car registration, travellers cheques, first aid kit, bottle warmer for baby, prescription medicines and your children.

Be sure to stop delivery of mail, newspapers and milk. A cluttered porch or mailbox is a sure invitation to burglars. Don't hide your key as thieves know all the hiding places. Lock all doors and windows. In some cities, police will periodically check your home while you are away.

IT'S ALWAYS a good idea to have your car safety checked, and when possible avoid heavy weekend traffic by starting and ending your trip during mid-week.

When traveling in Michigan, freeway speed limits are 70 mph maximum and 45 mph minimum. Limits on other rural state highways are 65 mph daytime and 55 mph nighttime, or as otherwise posted. Stop to rest every hour or so. Michigan has many roadside parks and picnic areas for this purpose.

If you have car trouble on a freeway, pull off the road, raise the hood and tie a handkerchief to the door handle. State Police freeway patrols will render assistance. It is not advisable to leave your car to walk on a freeway.

USE A LITTER bag. Many service stations distribute litter bags to their customers and there are trash barrels in each rest area and picnic site.

Don't try to cover too much ground in one day. Stop early enough in the afternoon to be sure of finding accommodations to your liking.

Consult Michigan Tourist Council literature for suggestions on what to do and see, and where to stay. Free travel planning information can be obtained by writing the Tourist Council, Stevens T. Mason Building, Lansing, Michigan 48926.

Best in Michigan Week parade to get trophies

Five huge trophies will be presented to the best float entries and marching units in the Clinton County Michigan Week parade to be held in St. Johns Friday, May 20.

The trophies will be given after the parade to those entries chosen first, second and third in the float category and to the best adult and the best youth marching units.

Until the parade, the trophies will be on display in the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce window.

COUNTY MICHIGAN Week Chairman Robert Purtil is requesting that all businesses, industries, organizations and clubs plan to enter a float or a unit of some type so that the parade will be a success.

So as to facilitate line-up and the preparing of judges' forms, all those who plan to enter should contact Mrs Betty Jane Minsky, manager of the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce, and leave their name and the type entry (float, marching unit, horses, etc.) they will have. In this way the line-up can be prepared before the parade and numbered slips given to all entrants. A proper judging line-up can also be given to the out-of-town judges.

"We will have people up from Olive College to judge this parade, Mr Robert Rue will be here to present our queen, Miss St. Johns, 1966, and we have asked him to handle the judging, too," Mrs Minsky said.

ALREADY SOME entries are in with the Chamber of Commerce preparing a float for the newly crowned Miss St. Johns 1966; the Senior Citizens preparing a float for their king and queen who will be crowned that evening; and the Veterans Honor Guard, with a marching unit.

The parade will begin at 6:30 with lineup scheduled for 6 p.m. at the high school parking lot. The parade will proceed from the school down Clinton Avenue and disband at Railroad Street, after which all entrants are asked to gather in front of a viewing stand to be located at the Clinton National Bank. There Mrs Minsky and Purtil will award the trophies.

After the parade a street dance will be held on Clinton Avenue, with two bands providing continuous music.

Receives bronze star, air medal for Vietnam effort

Capt. William Thorton, son of Dr Beatrice Latting Padden, known by many people here, has received a bronze star medal by "distinguishing himself for meritorious service as officer-in-charge Air Freight terminal, 8th Aerial Port Squadron, 315th Air Commando Group, Republic of Vietnam."

Capt. Thorton is a cousin of Mrs George H. Brooks of St. Johns. She heard of the award through a clipping in "Desert Wings." The award presentation was made at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

THE CITATION pointed out that Capt. Thorton "promptly and thoroughly identified problem areas in the field of aerial port freight operation and developed research projects to resolve these problems." The escalation of the military effort in Vietnam resulted in an increase of the air freight work load from 16,000 to 57,000 tons handled monthly.

As many as 175 aircraft and 800 tons of cargo were handled by his unit in a single day at Tan Son Nhut terminal alone, the citation said. "The exemplary leadership, personal endeavor and devotion to duty displayed by Capt. Thorton in this responsible position reflect great credit upon himself and the US Air Force," the citation concluded.

HE WAS ALSO awarded the air medal for meritorious achievement and a first oak leaf cluster to the air medal was given him as a combat crew member. Fifteen men in his crew received air medals and some of them first oak leaf clusters.

Capt. Thorton is now an instructor at Edwards Air Force Base.

6 escape injury in 2-car crash

Sheriff's deputies reported Mrs Ritz was in the left lane and was signaling for a left turn into a driveway as her car was traveling west. Wetosky was passing a truck following the Ritz car and was watching two trucks ahead of him. He was partly on the shoulder of the road when his car hit Mrs Ritz's auto in the left rear corner.

Six people in the two cars were unhurt.

Soil stewardship time is now, director says

BY ROBERT MOORE
 Clinton County Soil Conservation District Chairman

We cannot contemplate soil stewardship too many times. If ever there was a time for the resurgence of a spirit of soil stewardship, it is now. The tide of demand for land and water is running high—and will rise higher. Acquisition is the goal and the transactions multiply.

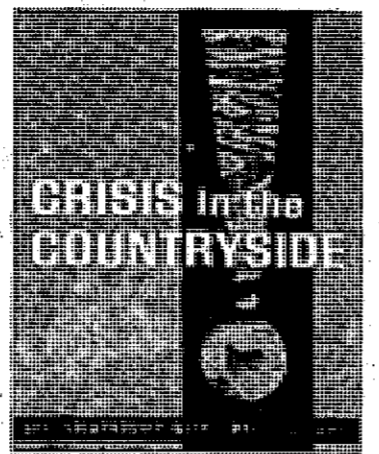

Rarely is soil stewardship a condition of these sales. The treasures of soil and water entrusted to our care by the Lord are being disposed of, and commitments are being made for their use, with little thought for future generations and all those who, in their turn, will need to use these resources. The risks increase that stewardship standards for use, capability and service will be abandoned. Conservation can be neglected and development misdirected.

UNLESS GOD'S GIFTS of land and water are to become mere commodities in an economic jungle, there must be militant action in behalf of stewardship by all those in the countryside who believe deeply in it. Each good steward knows why.

The land is limited. It is fixed in place, fixed in amount, and it must be used where it is. Only the uses and conservation (or lack of it) are ours to dispose. We can use land for farming or factories, housing or wildlife, highways or forests, and so on. We can decide to use it wisely or otherwise. The choice is ours, if we will exercise it rationally under God, to make it yield a full range of desirable social and economic products at the right time and from the right place—without impairment of the resource itself.

BUT WE MUST FACE the decisions—and the work which precedes them. In conservation districts, counties, and watersheds, for example, it means organizing, taking inventory, getting estimates on which projections about future demands can be based, planning, and working together. It means establishing values and directions.

If stewards care enough, if their sense of stewardship responsibility to God is strong enough, the work of decision-making will not be too formidable. But this work is essential and delay is dangerous. It is the only sound basis for effective intervention by conservation districts and the stewardship com-

By ALVIN ROOT, Extension 4-H Agent in Clinton County

It's summer club enrollment time in Clinton County. 4-H Club members and leaders are reminded that May 12 is the date when enrollment cards and club registration sheets are due in the extension office.

How to find adult people in our community to lead youth groups is the so-called $64 question. Perhaps one way would be to set up a campaign to let adults know more about 4-H club work. Many times when an adult person knows what the job is and what exactly it is he has to do, he can better decide.

With all of our fine literature for 4-H club members and leader guides, if an adult is a good citizen, willing to learn, and is willing to read a small amount of literature he can lead a club. Any boy or girl, regardless of where they live, can join a 4-H club.

GEORGE HAZLE AND Mrs. Martin Roesch have been named to the 4-H Club area program planning committee. They will represent Clinton County and will meet with representatives from Shiawassee and Gratiot counties from time to time to plan area-wide programs.

4-H club leaders are asked to contact their district representative on the Clinton County 4-H Council when they have questions they need answered regarding organization, program planning, etc.

Clinton County now has two county extension youth 4-H agents putting in part time in Clinton County. Harvey Middleton also serves Gratiot County, and I work Clinton and Shiawassee. We will in the future attempt to carry on area wide programs, many through county area wide programs, where practical. We will need much more help on the part of our present leaders as well as new leaders if we are to succeed. All of this has been a result of the reorganization of the Extension Service program in the state.

I'M SURE WE can safely say gun safety should be a habit.

Cultivation? Or chemicals?

Twelve Lapeer County dairymen reduced protein supplement costs by as much as $15 per cow by adding urea to corn silage, according to recent research reported at Michigan State University.

The reason, according to the study, is that urea corn silage costs only 55 to 65 per cent as much as soybean meal as a source of protein.

In the experiment, urea (10 pounds per ton) was spread over the top of silage in self-unloading wagons at ensiling time. Medium and high levels of the silage were fed to the 12 herds averaging 74 cows per herd.

ALL DAIRYMEN reported that the urea corn silage was readily eaten by the cattle. The presence of urea or ammonia was not detectable by appearance, odor or taste.

As a result of this study, 35 Lapeer County dairymen added urea to corn silage in 1966. More are expected to use the practice this year.

munity in the headlong operation of a land pricing system that not only permits speculation but very often grants unlimited choice of land use with the down payment.

WITHOUT INTERVENTION—without community decision-making and without the exercise of stewardship responsibilities—land allocations can be made at the expense of resources and the community interest alike. A priceless heritage is at stake.

Twenty seven churches in the Clinton County Soil Conservation District will use bulletin inserts provided by the district on May 15 or May 22. The name of the bulletin is "Crisis in the Countryside."

According to our records about 80 boys and girls made this a habit last year by enrolling in a 4-H gun safety club. There are many opportunities for boys and girls to learn safe gun handling in the area. The Conservation Department along with other youth groups do some of this kind of training with our young people. The hunter safety program is a gun safety program carried on by the Conservation Department with school groups and others.

Our 4-H club program consists of eight lessons, three of which are on the firing range where 4-H members actually shoot. Visual aids and literature are provided by the 4-H club department.

THE MAIN PURPOSE of course is to make safety a habit in the handling of guns. Marksmanship is also an interesting part and provides an active program for our members. A county-wide rifle shooting contest is held and older member contest winners go to the State 4-H Show to compete. Gun safety club members are asked to write a short quiz to test their knowledge of gun safety.

Adult leaders are needed in this program, and any boy or girl 12 to 18 years of age may join. Further information may be obtained at the Extension office in the courthouse in St. Johns.

VEGETABLE GARDENING is a fine project for the summer season. Garden plans should be made by now and some planting already done. 4-H club gardens do not have to be large. It's surprising how much produce one can get from a small plot. Literature for both members and leaders on how to go about planning a successful garden is available. Generally speaking, early gardens are the best gardens. The average frost free date is around the 15th of May. Let's get our gardens going, club members. Any adult person wishing to organize a 4-H vegetable garden club should contact the extension office in St. Johns.

Projections for 1980 show that some kind of food stamp plan will probably be in effect. This will allow low income families to have consumption patterns similar to those of families who have incomes of $3,000 a year at present price levels.

Mrs. Morris studied food expenditure patterns as part of MSU's futuristic look at Michigan's rural potential in 1980.

Strawberries don't 'climb'

Climbing strawberry plants do not really "climb."

Jerome Hull Jr., Michigan State University extension horticulturist, notes that in recent years some strawberry plants have been sold as "climbing strawberries" or "soaring, decorative" vines. But these are usually an ever-bearing strawberry variety that produces runners and daughter plants more abundantly than the old-time ever-bearing strawberry varieties.

To obtain a "climbing" effect, the gardener must tie the runners on a trellis or some other type of support.

"THIS CAN MAKE an interesting decoration item or conversation piece," comments Hull. "But if your objective is fruit production, try the matted row or hill system of culture."

Details on strawberry varieties and cultural practices for the home owner are presented in MSU Extension Bulletin 521 available from your local Co-operative Extension Service office.

PLANNED BARN BURNING—Rural Michigan probably needs 50,000 fires like the one above (left). Lorn Smith, living west of Sandusky, burned down this old barn on his farm and replaced it with a small but efficient shed (right) he uses to house calves and machinery. The cost was less than $3,000.

Michigan State University agricultural engineers say many old, unused barns and sheds on some Michigan farms are both "eyesores" and a fire and safety hazard.

They also say most farmers would find it more economical to make a "planned burning of old buildings rather than trying to remodel them. The "planned burning" should be done when there is no wind, a low grass fire hazard, and someone is around to keep the fire from spreading. The local fire department should be alerted and may want to stand by. Smith, a part-time farmer, who feeds out dairy calves for beef production, hooked a tractor into a couple of corners of the old dilapidated barn to break it down for better burning. He said some other old structures on the farm would also probably be replaced after they were burned or torn down.

Food costs eat up one-fifth of family income

It takes a lot of "dough" to feed a family. In fact, Michigan State University food specialists report that money spent for food takes almost one-fifth of the total consumer income in the United States.

Dr. Portia Morris, extension specialist in foods and nutrition, says that money spent for food at home and for meals away from home is generally the largest recurring item of expense in the budget of most families.

THE PROPORTION of the budget spent for food varies from family to family less than might be expected. Those families with higher incomes tend to buy more expensive foods; larger amounts of some foods, such as baked goods and less flour and cereals; more services and more foods that add variety to meals.

Because food is a basic necessity, families with low incomes and those with several children tend to spend a larger part of their income on food than those families with higher incomes and fewer children. Although each family member adds to the total family budget, expenditures per person in larger families tend to be less.

DR. MORRIS reports that farm families pay out only half as much for food as urban families. Rural non-farm families also spend less than urban families. However, as these groups have lower incomes, the share of total income going for food is not greatly different from urban groups.

Projections for 1980 show that some kind of food stamp plan will probably be in effect. This will allow low income families to have consumption patterns similar to those of families who have incomes of $3,000 a year at present price levels.

Mrs. Morris studied food expenditure patterns as part of MSU's futuristic look at Michigan's rural potential in 1980.

Restoring worn-out pasture profitable

From one ton of low quality forage to four tons of alfalfa-brome grass in a single year is possible by re-establishing worn-out native pasture land in Michigan.

Research work at Michigan State University has proven many unproductive pastures can be made highly productive at a cost of from $40 to $50 an acre.

INCREASED production during the first year will often pay the renovating cost and three to six more years of good improved forage for green chopping, silage, haylage or hay remains.

The new renovating system can start after the heavy production of June grass or quackgrass is pastured prior to mid-June.

The process includes:

- 1) Using herbicides and/or tillage to control competition from existing vegetation, primarily quackgrass, and for soil preparation.
  - 2) Band seeding in summer for better stands.
  - 3) Omitting oats in seeding establishment.
  - 4) Using proper forage mixture.
- DETAILS FOR successful re-establishment of pastures and Farmers who have good records are usually able to plan and operate the farm business at a profit. A Michigan Cooperative Extension specialist in farm management points out that poor records are listed as the number one cause of business failures.

Poultry feed compound can shave egg costs

A compound in poultry feed which costs only a fraction of a cent can shave one cent off the cost of producing a dozen eggs.

The compound is arsenic acid, and it helps egg production when laying hens are on a low protein diet. This is the report of D. K. Andrews, H. R. Bird, and M. L. Sunde, poultry scientists at the University of Wisconsin. They added the chemical to the feed of layers on 12 per cent, 14 per cent, and 16 per cent protein rations.

ARSANILIC ACID increased egg production of hens on 12 per cent protein rations, but it didn't change egg production of layers on 14 per cent or 16 per cent rations. It did, however, cause a gain in weight of layers at the three different protein levels.

The compound caused no harmful side effects when fed at recommended levels. Egg size, shell thickness and albumen quality were the same regardless of diet.

The experiments were done at the three protein levels with caged birds and floor birds. Arsanilic acid had the same effect under both types of management, but it helped egg production and weight gain slightly more in caged layers.

POULTRY SCIENTISTS during the past decade have been investigating ways to improve egg production with low protein diets.

Arsanilic acid apparently spared protein in some way. The arsenilic acid in this experiment cost about 1/10 cent per dozen eggs produced.

Protect soils on farms, gardens

Soil — deep, fertile and well-drained—is needed for profitable farming and productive gardens.

Flowing water following rains carries away soil, forming ditches in fields and garden plots. At homesites, even when you start with good soil, bulldozers push it ruthlessly aside, or bury it deeply under construction debris.

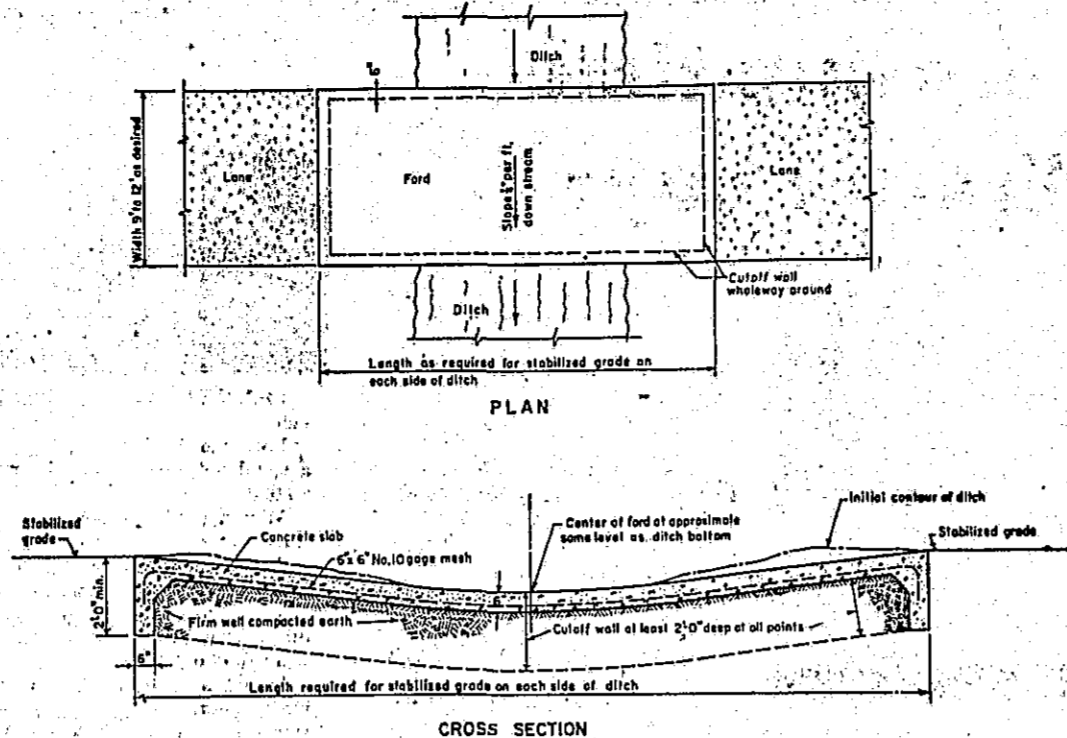

Regardless of what you have or started with, you can do much to improve soil fertility. Add ground limestone as a conditioner. Increase water holding capacity by mixing in organic materials.

KEEP SLOPING land in sod to prevent erosion. Feed your crops commercial fertilizers. In late summer, plant green manure crops, like domestic ryegrass, for winter cover.

Follow these practices a few years, and you'll get rich, friable soil in fields and gardens.

Sugar beets build up heat and loose sugar while piled up waiting for processing. Michigan State University scientists are working on a method to cool the beets to about 35-40 degrees, and save Michigan growers and processors $1 million yearly.

All habits are stepping stones — some lead up, others down.

Concrete fords keep farm lanes open during wet weather. These concrete slabs are placed where lanes cross waterways and shallow creeks. They provide firm footing for heavy farm vehicles and reduce erosion damage.

Keep farm lanes open - even across waterways

Inaccessibility to farm fields can be a real problem during certain times of the year. Trouble spots especially occur where farm lanes cross waterways, creeks, draws or arroyos.

There are several ways of making these crossings safe for heavy farm vehicles in almost any kind of weather. If the stream is deep and there isn't a natural ford, a small bridge may be the best solution. Installation of concrete culverts may be a practical remedy for troublesome crossings. Then the farm operator drives over the waterway — not through it. If culverts are installed, they must have adequate capacity and should be protected so that water can't cut around them.

ONE OF THE OLDEST ways of making crossings safe for farm vehicles is a concrete slab or ford (sometimes called a "flow-water bridge") placed in the stream bed. A concrete ford provides a firm base for vehicle wheels even when water runs in the waterway throughout the year.

Concrete fords should be six inches thick with cut-off walls extending at least 2 feet deep around all four sides. The ford should also be shaped so that it will maintain the natural flow of the watercourse.

If ready mixed concrete is ordered for a concrete ford, a six-bag, air-entrained mix with no more than six gallons of water per bag of cement should be specified. If concrete is mixed at the job site, a ration of 1-2-1/2-3-1/2 should be used. (That's 1 cubic foot cement; 2-1/2 cubic feet sand; 3-1/2 cubic feet coarse aggregate.) An air-entraining cement should be used.

Area Holsteins set new records

New, officially recognized milk and butterfat production levels by Registered Holstein cows in this area are listed in a special report from Holstein-Friesian Assn. of America.

Dairy farmers face new milk-code

Most Michigan dairymen were already operating under the rules which made them eligible to pass inspection under the new U.S. Public Health Service Grade A Milk regulations. But Michigan State University dairy authorities say some are making improvements in milk handling operations to be ready for compliance on July 1.

That is the date Michigan's new Grade A Milk Law becomes effective. In the future, dairymen will get an inspection every six months, unless he has encountered problems in previous inspections. Only one agency—the Dairy Division of the Michigan Department of Agriculture—is responsible for inspection. In past years, if a farmer's milk output went into several markets, his facilities were open to inspection to all.

Donald Murray, dairy specialist for the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service, says meetings throughout the state with farmers have given all an opportunity to learn and ask questions about the new rules. They were cooperatively sponsored by the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Michigan Cooperative Extension Service.

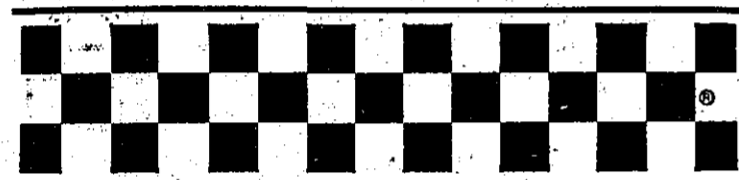

He anticipates little or no problems for most farmers. Those already selling milk for bottling purposes were in compliance with the new regulations. The new law has required no large number of new milk houses or similar facilities to be built, but the normal amount of modernization of equipment is taking place, Murray pointed out.

Murray advises farmers who have questions to consult their local Department of Agriculture Inspector or the county extension office for information.

The percentage of family income spent for food continues a downward trend. Several years ago it was 25 per cent—compared with 18 per cent today, Michigan State University food scientists predict it could drop to 10 per cent by 1980.

A friendly neighbor and his garden tools are soon parted.

State egg law strengthened

Further steps to prevent movement of cracked eggs into consumer channels became effective in April through amendment to the state egg law of 1963.

The purpose is to eliminate the hazard of food poisoning traceable to several types of organisms associated with eggs, said J. L. Littlefield, chief of the Michigan Department of Agriculture's food inspection division.

Under the amendment now effective, no dealer may offer cracked eggs for resale except to a licensed egg-breaking plant. Any egg producer, however, may sell cracked eggs to egg grading stations, egg breaking plants, or directly to a consumer for his own family use.

THIS PROHIBITS movement of cracked eggs in the shell to bakeries, institutions, restaurants, hotels or any other eating or processing establishments. This practice was permitted in the past until the law was amended.

By strict controls in the hands of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, cracked eggs move only to licensed egg breakers who are equipped to eliminate the hazard in liquid eggs or frozen eggs.

Better labels for house hazards

Common household products that present a hazard to children or others must be better labeled in the future so persons are forewarned of the danger involved. This is the intent of a new state law that became effective in April.

Among the potentially hazardous substances are ammonia, cleaning materials, polishes, paint thinners, fuels and all flammable materials or toxic substances.

THE NEW LABELING law makes enforcement the responsibility of the Michigan Department of Agriculture whose food inspection division already checks on the wholesomeness of food, the honesty of its labeling and advertising, and the accuracy of scales and all other weighing or measuring devices.

The new state law is similar to a 1960 federal law on the same subject.

"Keep out of the reach of children," is the warning statement that must appear on all items presenting a threat to children. Hundreds of lives of youngsters are lost each year through their getting into hazardous substances. This is besides thousands of injuries, some of which are permanent.

IN ADDITION TO THE hazardous substance labeling law, extra precautions may be taken by collecting all such materials in the home and putting them in one place under lock, said food inspection division Chief J. L. Littlefield.

Cropland adjustment program signup continues

Joel R. Young, cropland adjustment program specialist with the Michigan Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Department, reminded farmers today that signup for the new Cropland Adjustment Program is still open, even though signup dates for the wheat and feed grain program signups have already closed.

The program is designed to fill a need not quite met by the annual acreage allotment and diversion programs in achieving and maintaining supply-demand balance for farm products. It is also expected to provide more hunting, fishing, and other opportunities for outdoor recreation.

CAP IS ESPECIALLY attractive to farmers who want 1) to shift from production of surplus crops to other activities, 2) to retire gradually from farming while continuing to live on the farm, 3) to continue working off the farm, or 4) to take advantage of other local employment opportunities.

Farmers participating in CAP will receive adjustment payments related to the value of the crops normally produced on the land, and conservation cost-share payments on the land diverted.

Young reported that so far 5,400 farm operators in Michigan have applied for agreements under CAP, and 1,400 agreements have been signed. These signed agreements involve about 70,000 acres of cropland.

MAY 13 IS THE FINAL date for farmers to file a CAP application, and June 10 is the final date for signing an agreement. Those farmers who are interested in diverting acreage under a long-term rather than an annual agreement are urged

Plan ahead — vote yes on schools

We like to think of St. Johns and the people who live round-about as progressive people, and for the most part they are.

We seem to have a sense of quality about us, and though we're not perfect we always seem to be striving for something better.

We plan ahead in our family and business lives in order to get the job done in the best manner possible and at the best price.

But it is now time to plan ahead for a district-wide job of great continuing importance—the education of our youngsters.

We'll have to plan ahead so those facilities will be as effective in the future as they might be now.

has come up with a plan that takes all these things into consideration and yet is probably as conservative as one can be in planning for the future.

Since we are a progressive, thinking people, we'll realize farmers probably won't have another year like last year again in quite a while.

As thinking people, we here in the district look farther ahead than just a year. We look for a better crop year this year and next and to higher income and district valuation created by new homes and businesses—all resulting in a more favorable tax situation for the district and for us as individuals.

It would be a shame to watch an important school bond issue be defeated because we stopped thinking ahead and dumped our whole philosophy of life.

No alibi for lawlessness

Reprinted from CRAWFORD COUNTY AVALANCHE Grayling, Michigan

All manner of excuses are given for the waves of juvenile delinquency that continually poison this country.

A man who is a real authority on crime and its causes—Director J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI—holds a very different view.

"NO DOUBT SOCIETY has failed our youth, but not in the way many seem to think. Rather, the dereliction has been in the failure to teach them the meaning of discipline, restraint, self-respect, and respect for law and order and the rights of others.

The surest way to turn the juvenile delinquent of today into the hardened adult criminal of tomorrow is to pamper him.

If children were taught in the home by their parents and in schools and Sunday schools by their teachers, one simple little rule of action, think of the sorrow and suffering it would save, not to mention the countless millions of dollars.

THIS RULE OF ACTION wouldn't require any new laws, it wouldn't cost a dime of taxpayers money, and it would reduce the cost of law enforcement and court trials.

There wouldn't be so many news reports of murder, robbery, kidnapping, rape, purse snatching, automobile stealing, etc., etc.

Rule—"Keep your hands off other people and other people's property." It's that simple to keep out of trouble.

WE HEAR MUCH said about self-educated men, and a broad distinction is made between them and others; but the truth is that every man who is educated at all is, and must be, self-educated.

Inaugural discourse, delivered at Williams College 1836, by Mark Hopkins

The above statement made 130 years ago is as true today as it probably was at that time.

FOR TODAY, as in any day, the ability to receive an education is still dependent upon the individual. No person who is considered educated ever received it against his will.

We say that the people who instruct our children in the schools are teachers; that they teach. This I believe is a fallacy. To me they lead. They lead our children in the direction that if the child wants to learn, he will receive all the benefits of the instructor's knowledge.

ANOTHER AXIOM that we hear quoted quite often is, "you can lead a horse to water, but you cannot make him drink." Here again we can apply this to our children. We can and must send our children to school until they reach the age of 16. But, even though this is a compulsory thing you cannot make the child learn anything unless he wants to.

This is where the teachers of our schools must rise to the occasion. For we, as parents, rely upon them for the most part, not only to lead our children in the right direction but to help instill in them the need for an education.

THE TEACHERS in our school system work hard to lead and to instill this sense of "wanting an education" into our children. They are dedicated and hard working people in their chosen profession and they always seem to do their job well with whatever the facilities available, and even when the facilities are not available.

Next Monday, we the people of the St. Johns School District, will have the opportunity to help our children and our grandchildren to have the facilities to afford them the opportunity to receive the best education

There's a laugh in it when a laundry loses a towel you got at a motel.

If the time ever comes when there is work for everybody it'll be just what some people have feared for a long time.

possible. If you have no children, you can show your appreciation to those who lived before you, who thought enough, to provide you with the facilities for your education.

FOR A NEW school in our area will help no one but our children and their children. It will enable our teachers to have the facilities to do their job better.

We all realize that any job can be finished better if you have the right tools and adequate room to work in. This is all they are asking on the school bond vote. To give our children adequate room to learn. To give our teachers the right tools with which to work with.

If we can give them these things, our children will benefit to the extent that the large majority will want this thing called an education. For it is something that we cannot give them, but what we can provide them with the facilities and the opportunity to do.

This will cost us all some money, this is true. But ask yourself this question—What is it worth to give your child the education he deserves and that you would like him to have?

Firemen's raffle not truly gambling

AFTER READING THE article in last week's paper (April 21) on the "firemen's raffle," I would like to express my opinion on gambling.

I believe when a "raffle" is held by one person and he alone pockets the profits, this is gambling but on the "firemen's raffle" there would be no losers.

The profits of this raffle would be spent on the children's equipment for the fire house; and that is very thoughtful on the part of our men who volunteer their services for our protection, always trying to do a better job. This I do not believe is gambling.

NOW LET US consider the minister (or ministers) who think it is gambling and so terrible. Assuming he (or they) own a car and carry insurance on this car—and for example, we will say he pays $75 for up to $25,000 worth of protection—he is betting $75 that he will inflict damages

Letters to the editor must be signed with name and address and should be as brief as possible. Names will be withheld on request. Deadline for letters to the editor is Friday noon of week preceding publication. The County News reserves the right to edit letters insofar as grammar, punctuation and libelous material are concerned. Letters on all subjects are welcomed.

upon another motorist up to $25,000, and if he doesn't, the insurance company pockets the $75.

That is the same as one person reaping the profits. That is gambling in my opinion. The same hold true on his home with fire and wind protection.

I FEEL THIS WAS in very bad taste to bring this to attention as an act of gambling on the part of our firemen. I feel they are a wonderful group of men and the city of St. Johns can be proud of them.

Thank you.

P.S. Just an afterthought: Perhaps the objectors should speak to the governor of one state who paid "13 pheasants" to a governor of another state on a basketball bet and have a "hog" bet on next year's game. Gambling?????

JESS W. CHRISTENSEN Chris' Party Store Downtown St. Johns

They both function because of donations

As stated in the Clinton County News recently, the proposed 4th of July celebration was almost certain to be cancelled, due mainly to the voiced opposition, a raffle put on jointly by the St. Johns Firemen, the Rotary Club and the Lions Club.

A donation gives one a chance at being victorious in the raffle. This was guaranteed by the combined clubs. Dissatisfied donors by the end results (of not anyone receiving a steer) would probably result in legal action in a court of law and rightly so.

IT IS UNDERSTOOD the organization represented by the SJMA and the involved ministers also function mainly or in part by donations. However, it is believed by some that the end results are not guaranteed and that a dissatisfied donor could not take legal action, and rightly so. There is every confidence that the SJMA and involved ministers will reimburse the community by monies or some other contributing factor. It is imperative that associations and organizations and individuals stand up for law and order. Great Countries are not built on laws that are not upheld.

There are existing laws that are impractical and even impossible to uphold. It is almost a certainty in some areas. One not removed from the books, was one that stated, "Any motor vehicle approaching oncoming horses, mules, and jack-asses" had to move to side of road and remain motionless until the terrified almost unmanageable above mentioned passed. Years of progress will give a few an opportunity to comply with this law.

IT WAS MENTIONED that the Irish Sweepstakes may be unlawful in some states. If true the SJMA and agreeing ministers have a real project to work on. Disappointing is the cooperation of the city commission and Chamber of Commerce. I hope an explanation is forthcoming.

Firemen 'gamble' on every run they make

THE MINISTERS who are against the "steer raffle" because it is classified as gambling should be reminded that each and every fireman gambles his life each and every time he answers a fire call and that the very next fire could very well be at the home or parish of any one of them.

I have five little grandsons and I know I would have a more peaceful July 4th if I could be sure there was going to be enough good entertainment here in St. Johns to make their parents willing to stay home instead of taking them out on those murderous highways to seek it elsewhere. I would gamble on a "steer raffle" any day of the week rather than gamble with their lives or anyone else's life.

Let's stop this petty bickering and have a nice, happy and peaceful 4th of July celebration.

Thank you. MRS LEONARD C. BRADLEY

Why not a new courthouse sidewalk?

WE STUDENTS of Rodney B. High School have received criticism because of our tendency to cut across the courthouse lawn instead of using the sidewalks. We feel it is not correct to direct the blame entirely upon us, as many adults are guilty of the same habit.

This is certainly not a justification, but it does show that people are likely to take the shortest route possible. There is a tendency in man to take the logical and time-saving paths.

Therefore, we feel the problem lies not in trying to stop something that is unlikely to stop anyway but in laying a new sidewalk that follows a more direct and natural course between the high school and downtown.

Respectfully yours, Rodney B. Wilson Student Council

RAMBLIN' with Rink

By LOWELL G. RINKER

Rink has turned carpenter, in a rough sort of way. With some great help from my brother who drove over a week ago Saturday afternoon from Hart, I constructed a rather good-looking bookcase in one corner of the living room.

It was built not without trials and tribulations that always go with amateur carpentry. And you can't get any more amateurish than I am. But it's in and completed, five days after construction started.

THE PLANS WERE elaborately, of almost blue-print quality, my wife observed defensively as she observed my swelling head. However well I learned my mechanical drawing in high school, it was almost for naught due to the way I handled the measurements before and during construction.

I had all the lumber cut to size, but I hadn't figured the length of the shelf boards correctly and they were about 1 1/2 inches too long. My brother had brought along an ample amount of equipment, which included a power saw, so we were able to solve that problem.

After sanding all the lumber, we took it upstairs and sized up the situation. While it was to be a built-in bookcase, we decided to construct it in the middle of the room and then set it in the corner and nail it in. That was almost our undoing.

OUR FIRST, AND really the only, construction error was on my part, which is normal. We started with the end board and started nails in from one side where I calculated the shelves would be. After nails were put in for four of the seven shelves, I recalculated and found the nails were three-quarters, 1 1/2 and 2 1/4 inches out of position on the second, third and fourth shelves.

We repositioned the nails, stood the shelf boards on end and nailed them to the end board. Turning it over we did the same with the other end board, using a square and a level to make sure everything was hunky dory. Somewhere else along the line I had also miscalculated, because the top shelf was 1 1/2 inches deeper than I had anticipated. But no real problem.

The bookcase was set upright and admired. About 9 p.m. Saturday we commenced to stain the outfit and left it to dry overnight. Sunday came the big job of setting it into place. Somewhere along the line—probably in the original plan measurements—I had figured the space between the wall and the window casing too long, and the completed bookcase wouldn't quite fit into the space.

FINALLY, WITH MUCH hammering and chiseling, the bookcase was forced tightly into place and nails were again driven to make sure it stayed that way.

Looking back on the job, I can see I learned a lot. For one thing I learned some building techniques from my brother I had not known before from lack of experience. And the whole thing has driven home to me a thought I'd like to pass on, particularly to the voters of the St. Johns School District.

I could not have built the bookcase by myself because I didn't have the proper tools. My brother did, and when he made the tools available we were able to do the job much easier and much better. The result was a product we were proud of and which taught both of us a great deal.

WE IN THE ST. JOHNS district have the same situation facing us now. If we vote to provide the teachers with the tools they need to do the job—roomy, well-equipped schools with the proper facilities for teaching the subjects necessary today—then the finished product (your child and mine) will be much better.

My bookcase cost money, and education costs money. New buildings cost money, and tools cost money. With the right tools I built a good bookcase, and with the right buildings and facilities we can build well-educated young people.

Like I wanted a better bookcase for my living room, I want a better education for my daughter, so I'm going to invest in the tools to do the job when I vote Monday.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

Lobbying activities proposal views are sharply divided

MICHIGAN MIRROR By Elmer E. White

Views were sharply divided on a lobbying activities proposal which got farther this year than any previously suggested regulation.

A bill requiring regular reports of expenditures and activities by lobbyists made it to the half-way mark on a 77-26 vote in the House.

This bill was also stronger than those considered in other years, which usually didn't get out of committee to the legislative debate state. This one would require the quarterly accounting to be submitted to the secretary of state. The reports would be public record.

All state employees, not just legislators, would be viewed as objects of lobbying activities under the 1966 proposal.

IT WAS IMPOSSIBLE to divide the proponents and opponents into alliances previously seen.

On the one side, the supporters of the proposal saw it as an effective means of keeping lobbyists honest by making their activities subject to public perusal.

The other side saw it as a personal affront to legislator honesty, rather than a control on the lobbyists. "If there are such serious problems that we need this kind of legislation, there is something wrong with us," said one legislator.

BASIC PROBLEM is that it takes a dishonest legislator as well as dishonest lobbyist to consummate a dishonest transaction. It is difficult, if not impossible, to come up with a law which will stop this kind of collusion.

It has been obvious to most that efforts for a law thus far would have resulted in making it more difficult for the vast majority of legitimate legislators and lobbyists to work honestly and would not really restrict the few who chose not to do so.

PART OF THE STRONG support for the bill was credited to rumors circulated this year that some lawmakers were offered campaign contributions in return for votes on a certain bill.

Opponents, no doubt, felt support of the legislation indicated there were members who would accept money on these terms. Supporters said the proposed law would prevent deals of this kind.

Only the legislators can determine whether the law is needed. The decision no doubt will be based on how many members think they or their colleagues are prone to this kind of influence inducement.

IT'S ALMOST that time again. Time for Michigan Week, that is.

For the 13th year in succession, Michigan residents will make a special effort the third week in May to let it be known that this is a great state in many ways.

This year the emphasis has been on numbers. The goal of the top planners of the annual brag week was set at eight million, the entire population of Michigan.

Soon the effectiveness of this major participation campaign will be known. Whether the full goal is reached probably cannot be measured, but as in previous years there is little doubt that Michigan Week will reach more people than ever.

In the formal organization alone, more people were involved in this year's planning than ever before. Almost every county committee has been able to report more local planning units in operation this year.

AS IN PREVIOUS years the occasion begins with the Sunday gatherings marking Spiritual Foundations Day followed by the exchange of mayors on Our Government Day.

Outstanding Michigan citizens will be honored for their various contributions locally and statewide on the other days: Hospitality Day, Our Livelihood Day, Education Day, Our Heritage Day and Youth Day.

Legislative pay hike 'outrageous' reader says

ACCORDING TO AN article in the Lansing State Journal, there is a bill pending to increase the salaries of the state legislators to $15,000, plus $2,500 travel or other expense. It is outrageous to say the least. The fact that they can raise their salaries without the voters' consent is unrealistic in itself. How they can even consider it when the state is having financial difficulties is beyond me.

Just two years ago they raised their salaries to a 42 per cent increase, which made them one of the highest-paid Legislatures in the nation. Now, two years later, they vote themselves another 50 per cent increase.

IS IT ANY WONDER the taxes of the state are being increased every year? If they are interested in receiving greater compensation (certainly not 50 per cent), why don't they do something to relieve the state of its present financial problems?

I for one (and I am certain I am not the only one) will never again vote for any state legislator who votes for this bill. I only hope Governor Romney, who I think is one of the best governors we've had in recent years, will veto it if it passes.

In all, the 13th stands alone, as have each of the previous years, as bigger and better than ever in reminding Michigan people and outsiders of the brag - worthy state in which we live.

EIGHT YEARS IN succession, Michigan has followed the national trend of decreasing birth rates.

For 1965, the State Health Department reported 165,483 births. This was a drop of nearly 8,500 from the previous year and 12,000 less than were recorded in 1963.

The present decline in birth rates has been going since 1957, when the peak of 207,000 was reached to end the so-called baby boom. The boom started from a 120,000 count in 1945 at the end of World War II and lasted 12 years, rising swiftly in each.

STATISTICIANS SAY the present trend may soon be over, as the babies of the post-war boom are now reaching the age to start their own families. This new surge, expected in another two years, is fully likely to match or surpass the highs reached in the late 1940's.

The "Low Down"

From the Congressional Record By Joe Crump

Shoe prices advance despite hide controls

Sep. James B. Pearson (Kan.) "... The Wall Street Journal... carried an article which indicates that shoemakers will lift fall prices 3 to 8 per cent despite hide export limitations by the White House. I ask that the article be printed in the Record." (The condensed article follows).

The Johnson administration's recently imposed controls on hide exports apparently weren't enough to prevent a price increase by the nation's shoemakers.

As they had indicated earlier they would do, manufacturers are raising prices 3 to 8 per cent on all fall line of shoes. The increase could average out above the 5 per cent boost posted last September on spring models.

THE LATEST increase will add an estimated $1 to $2 a pair to the retail cost of men's and women's shoes planned for introduction this fall and to be shown this week at the National Shoe Fair in New York.

Only last Tuesday Under-Secretary of Commerce Leroy Collins told the House agriculture subcommittee on livestock and feed grains that the hide controls "will eliminate or minimize the need for further shoe price increases this spring."

Nonetheless, shoemakers are sticking to their previously indicated intention of raising prices for the second time in six months. Of the major manufacturers, only Genesco, Inc., has already announced an increase, boosting its prices 5 to 7 per cent. But Intero, Inc., the nation's largest shoe manufacturer in terms of shoes produced, probably will post increases ranging from 4 1/2 to 8 per cent, according to M. R. Chambers, president. Several other concerns said privately they will raise some or all of their prices, with the increase ranging upward from 3 per cent.

BUT MANY INDUSTRY executives agree with government economists that the hide controls did ease some of the pressure for price increases.

At a March 7 meeting between major manufacturers and the President's Council of Economic Advisers, one shoe executive confided, "We didn't accomplish a darn thing." He added: "They were only interested in leather prices, and not in problems we share with other industries." But one government official said the manufacturers didn't make any specific price pledges, and the administration didn't seek any.

Last Friday, the council's staff held a similar "informal fact-finding" meeting with a delegation representing 10 major shoe retailers. But as one shoe producer noted, "There isn't too much the retailer can do about it" if manufacturers raise their prices.

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT Manufacturers' prices are beginning to reflect the increased costs of social security, the increase in interest rates, and the restoring of some excise taxes. These taxes to help support Medicare, aid to education, etc., are merely passed along to the consumer.

COUNTRY FLAVOR

The way out of a confused world is through forests

HAYDN PEARSON

In a world of self-seeking ruthlessness, where does one find the verities that give a foundation for faith? In a world of harsh cacophony, where can one find the quietness that lessens the tensions of daily living?

Go to a woodland where the trees are tall and interlocked branches form cathedral aisles. Stand among great boles with furrowed bark - trees that have known the blizzards of winter and the heat of summer for a century.

Stand on the soft carpet of primal humus that means life itself.

AMONG GREAT oaks, maples and beeches there is a serenity that is missing in the marts where men barter and trade. No man need be lonely if trees are his friends. A great tree represents the fulfillment of time. A century ago a seed or a nut fell to earth; a small white root struck downward; a slender green stem started toward the sun and sky. Nature is infinitely patient.

Millions of seeds fall to earth and of the millions that come to rest, only a few find the soil and location that mean new plants. The Master Planner ordained a prodigality of seeds to insure the future. Now a century after small saplings began their growth, one can walk among the trees and glimpse the wonder that gives us a flowering world.

MAN TRIES to regulate his society; he makes rules and laws. He has no choice but to arm him-
