

Swimming pool fund drive nears $7,000 mark

A county-wide drive to open the Veteran's Memorial Swimming Pool in St. Johns this summer has reached approximately $7,000 as of Tuesday noon, which is over the halfway mark of a goal set at $12,500 to be collected by this Friday.

Still to be contacted, however, by the volunteers of the Clinton County Memorial Swimming Pool Committee are industries and many businessmen of St. Johns, which the committee feels will result in the success of its drive. Federal-Mogul and Sealed Power Corp. are accepting contributions from employees who are interested in backing the project. Dr. Herbert Oatley, chairman of the committee, said the money raised so far includes $6,761. This amount does not include pledges or money that has been sent, but not received as of Tuesday noon.

Despite the distance to go yet toward the $12,500 goal, Dr. Oatley said he is encouraged and optimistic. "I think we're going to make it," he said, pointing out that the money raised so far has been raised in less than a week.

"There are a lot of people who want to give but who seem to be holding back so far," Dr. Oatley said. "But please get your contributions in right away so we can add everything up. A deadline is a deadline."

"This is a community-wide drive," he pointed out, "and there is no one group or faction behind it. Everybody who is interested in having kids swim at the pool instead of the gravel pits this summer should be behind it."

The deadline imposed by the committee of 31 persons attending a meeting last Tuesday night is this Friday, May 10. That's the date the City of St.

Johns and the YMC must know whether the pool will be operational in time for the Y to run their proposed swimming program in St. Johns.

Steps are already being taken to shorten the time necessary for ordering and delivering equipment. The YMCA said they must have the pool in operating condition by June 7 so their instructional programs can start soon afterward.

Working drawings showing the inclusion of new filters, pumps and water-heating equipment for the pool are already been drawn up, and Dr. Oatley said necessary pumps were going to be ordered Tuesday. Both of these steps have been made possible by contributions from donors who specified that their money could be used for those purposes and it won't have to be returned to them should the fund drive ultimately not reach its goal.

This enables the committee to get a jump on some of the work that otherwise would have to wait until after the $12,500 is assured, Dr. Oatley explained. Some 31 persons were present at the organization of the committee last Tuesday evening. Dr. Oatley was elected chairman of the group after the people present voted to go ahead and try to raise the $12,500.

Attending were representatives of the Lions Club, Rotary Exchange, Jaycees, Jayettes, VFW, American Legion, VFW Auxiliary, Legion Auxiliary, Knights of Columbus, St. Johns Woman's Club, Order of Eastern Star, 40 & 8, Rainbow Girls, PTA, board of supervisors and a number of interested citizens.

A permanent committee was elected to carry out the fund drive this week. Others beside Dr. Oatley include Eloise Hambleton as secretary-treasurer, and Floyd Parmelee, Bob Deane, Bob Gill, John Flak and Frances Conn.

A special Clinton County Memorial Swimming Pool Fund was set up at the Clinton National Bank, and all contributions to the pool fund should be made out to the fund and mailed to Clinton National. All contributions will be receipted and will be refunded if the drive is not successful in reaching its goal.

The meeting last week was called in an attempt to sound out the civic organizations of the community on their ability to

Chamber of Commerce, retailers studying plans for reorganization

The first steps to reorganizing the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce and local retailers into one strong organization were taken last week with three meetings between board members of the Chamber and the retailers.

Since the separation of St. Johns retailers from the Chamber several years ago, both units have had an uphill battle in their attempts to solicit members and to promote the City of St. Johns to the satisfaction of many of its members.

Individual discussion had reached the point where many members were for dropping the Chamber of Commerce and concentrating on a strong retailers organization. But, after last week's three meetings, the consensus of those attending was that a strong chamber would be more beneficial to St. Johns. THUS THE INITIAL plans were formulated to try to combine the two separate organizations into one strong Chamber of Commerce. The goal of this new organization would be to promote St. Johns both as a business unit and as a community.

The retailers unit, represented by William Barber, Norbert Rehmann and Charles Huntington, met with the Chamber of Commerce Board members on Monday morning and then again at the regular chamber board meeting Tuesday evening. From these two discussions came the decision to try to reorganize the retailers and the chamber into a strong community unit.

This decision was then presented at the regular meeting of the retail unit on Wednesday noon. Of the 28 in attendance at the retailers meeting, all agreed that the groups involved should continue to work out the steps needed to combine the two units and set up a dues system that would benefit both organizations in that they would be able to operate the city promotions and retail promotions to the best efforts of all concerned.

A committee was set up to go over the dues structure of the Chamber and to report with a possible recommendation for future billings. It is hoped, by the committees involved that within one year a strong Chamber can be representing all units involved in the City of St. Johns, including retailers, professionals, industrialists and all other local merchants.

MEETINGS HAVE been scheduled for every Wednesday at the L&L Restaurant until problems have been worked out to the satisfaction of all concerned. It was recommended and agreed that after the weekly meetings are concluded, the Chamber of Commerce would meet monthly to hear reports and decide on possible new avenues of promoting St. Johns.

THE INITIAL THOUGHTS on how the new organization should operate were basically: A new dues structure which would fall due at the same time every year, enabling the group to set up a yearly operating budget within 60 days of the dues deadline; all groups would be organized and represented by committees — a retail committee, an industrial committee etc. — these committees submitting yearly

$7-per-quarter rate hike for sewer-water proposed by group

A $25,000 quarterly increase in the city's combined water and sewer rates is the unanimous recommendation this week to the St. Johns City Commission by the finance committee of local citizens named by Mayor Charles Coletta last January to study the city's fiscal problems.

It was the first public pronouncement of the nine-member committee which has been meeting regularly for nearly five months to study and discuss the city's current financial difficulties.

Ross Downing, who has served as chairman of the independent finance committee, said the group's rate recommendations have been announced to give local residents and city officials an opportunity to consider the proposals prior to the May 17 meeting of the city commission. At that time the commission could set in motion ordinance procedures which would make new rates effective for the quarter beginning July 1.

THE RECOMMENDED RATE adjustments would be spread among 1,934 city water and sewer accounts. The minimum combined rate for up to 10,000 gallons of water would be increased from $9 to $16 quarterly.

The suggested schedule of water-sewer charges descends through a series of six further steps ranging from 85 cents per thousand gallons to a low of 30 cents per thousand for four major users.

Chairman Downing said his committee's study of the city's water-sewer system revealed a four-year operational deficit which will amount to at least $150,000 by June 30 of this year. The loss has been made up by advances from the city's general fund.

"Our committee is unanimous in its opinion that the water-sewer department should charge rates sufficient to cover operational and capital improvement costs," said Downing. "We also believe the revenues should be adequate to repay the $150,000 obligation to the general fund over a period of the next 10 years."

The proposed rate schedule is designed to produce an approximate $300,000 in annual revenue, as compared to the present $200,000 received from water-sewer customers.

Revenues from customers necessary to fund the system are estimated by the committee at $300,000 annually and include $53,000 for interest and retirement of revenue bonds, $50,000 for capital improvements and $15,000 for repayment of advances from the general fund. The remaining $182,000 is the estimated cost of utilities, repairs, materials, wages and administration involved in operation of the water and sewer plants.

Bath road tax plan defeated

BATH—Bath Charter Township voters by almost a 2-1 margin Saturday turned down a proposed increase in millage which would have been used for improving the road system in the township. The vote was 106 yes to 186 no.

Less than 25 per cent of the township's registered voters cast ballots in the special election.

Bath Charter Township Better Roads Committee, a community action group, made a comprehensive study of the township road situation. As a result of their findings, the committee suggested that if the road system in the township was to be improved it would cost property owners 4 mills a year for four years.

Of the 186 votes cast at the township hall, 85 favored the millage increase and 101 said no. The voters in precinct 2 voting at the Park Lake League Hall numbered 108. Twenty-one voted yes and 85 no.

Ken Munson, Better Roads Committee chairman, said he is uncertain what the committee will do in the future but he doesn't expect it to disband.

It is felt that part of the reason for the defeat of millage issue could have been caused by another special election which is to be held June 10 when Bath School district voters will be asked for more millage.

MRS. GERTRUDE BUEHLER

Nurses elect Mrs. Buehler

Mrs. Gertrude Buehler, St. Johns Public Schools nurse, has been elected president of the Michigan Association of School Nurses.

Mrs. Buehler had served the association as president - elect this last year. She was one of the charter members in 1958 when the association was developed. Since 1958 she has served as secretary for three years and worked on several committees.

The association is a department of the Michigan Education Assn. There are 315 school nurses in the State of Michigan who are employed by public schools. The association is presently working on two projects. (Story continued on Page 3-A)

AMONG NEEDED capital improvements in the system during the next 10 years cited specifically by the committee are two new wells at costs ranging from $30,000 to $50,000 each; replacement of 22 blocks of galvanized water line, $110,000; replacement of four blocks of sanitary sewer along the railroad tracks, $40,000; replacement and interconnection of 12 blocks of dead end water main, $36,000.

The finance committee also recommended that, if rates are adjusted in accordance with its recommendations, the city resume operation of water softening processes. The committee determined that the only additional cost for this service is an approximate $16,000 annually for the materials used.

Federal-Mogul Corp., the largest user of city water, indicated to the committee during its deliberations that they are seriously concerned about this possible second substantial increase in their water rates within the past 18 months. Federal-Mogul management said that in view of the extremely competitive nature of the automotive parts industry any large increase in operating cost can affect the volume of work.

Federal-Mogul advised the committee that they will investigate the feasibility of installing their own standpipes, wells and water system. On the basis of current usage, the proposed increase for Federal-Mogul amounts to about $16,000 annually.

IT IS ALSO THE recommendation of the finance committee that 10 accounts which currently pay only a sewage charge be placed on a quarterly minimum of $16 residential and $48 commercial, if city water mains are available to them for hook-up.

A final recommendation to the city commission is that the water-sewer rate structure be reviewed annually to correct inequities and effect possible future reductions.

Downing, chairman of the nine-member study committee, which has been delving into city finance for the past five months, lives at 610 W. Baldwin Street, and is production manager at the Wohler Corp. in Lansing.

Other members of the committee are A. T. Allaby, local insurance agent; Roy F. Briggs, realtor; Max E. Field, publisher of the St. John Reminder; Edward Idzkowski, manager of the St. Johns division of Federal-Mogul; Kenneth Munger, plumbing contractor; John A. Rumbaugh, executive vice president of Clinton National Bank & Trust Co.; Brandon C. White, executive vice president of Clinton National Bank & Trust Co.

During its deliberations the committee has conducted independent surveys of every department of city government. They have had the cooperation of City Auditor Eugene Simon in their complete examination of the city's accounts and audited financial reports. Operations and costs have been discussed fully with each department head.

No panic while awaiting ruling

Clinton keeping its cool on reapportionment

By LOWELL G. RINKER
Editor

The possible reinstatement of the "one-man-one-vote" apportionment of county boards of supervisors in Michigan isn't causing any big excitement on the Clinton County Board of Supervisors.

The board has met three times since the U.S. Supreme Court ruled April 1 that local-level governing bodies must be apportioned as equal population districts. Discussion of the situation has been particularly nil, and even queries from the press have brought little comment.

The board is taking a wait and see attitude. They already have filed a reapportionment plan for an 11-man board, and if the Michigan Court of Appeals rules in favor of the one-man-one-vote concept they will have abided by the law.

Clinton is one of at least 47 Michigan counties which filed reapportionment plans with the secretary of state prior to April 1967 when the Michigan Supreme Court ruled the one-man-one-vote apportionment of county boards is invalid.

THIS PREVIOUS ENACTMENT of a reapportionment plan is important, and it is the main reason why the Clinton County board is keeping its cool. If the Michigan Court of Appeals rules in favor of the one-man-one-vote concept—and depending on when they do—it may be necessary to elect the new board of supervisors in the elections this fall. If that is the case, nominating petitions for places on the ballot in August have to be filed by June 18.

That's only about 5 1/2 weeks away. County boards which hadn't previously acted on a plan for reapportionment are probably biting their nails, not knowing whether to go ahead with a plan or let the situation stand as it is. If the court of appeals rules for reapportionment soon, there'll be quite a flurry of activity around the state by boards which have to enact a new board apportionment, file the plan and then accept petitions for nominations to the new districts.

In Clinton County, the only activity will be the filing of petitions.

There'll also be some silent wailing by many members of the board who oppose reapportionment. They contend that under the Michigan constitution each township is entitled to one member on the county board of supervisors. That was the key point in the Michigan Supreme Court's ruling last April that put the brakes on reapportionment.

The 11 man board plan which the Clinton supervisors approved passed by a 15-7 vote. The affirmative vote reflected only favoring the 11-man plan over other alternatives, because most supervisors didn't want to reapportion.

THE SEVEN-VOTE OPPOSITION to the plan was mainly over differences in population among the 11 districts in the county as set up under the reapportionment plan.

The proposed districts range in size from 2,795 in the Ovid district to 3,781 in District 10 in the southeastern part of DeWitt Township. The average population of the 11 proposed districts—according to the 1960 census—would be 3,452 persons.

If and when the 11-man board goes into effect, this is how it will be set up.

District 1: Duplain and Greenbush townships, population 3,411.

District 2: Essex, Lebanon and Bengal townships, population 2,975.

District 3: St. Johns south of the railroad and west of Clinton Avenue, plus all of Bingham Township, population 3,290.

District 4: St. Johns east of Clinton Avenue and all of the city north of the railroad, population 3,695.

District 5: Ovid Township, population 2,795.

District 6: Victor, Olive and Riley townships, population 3,636.

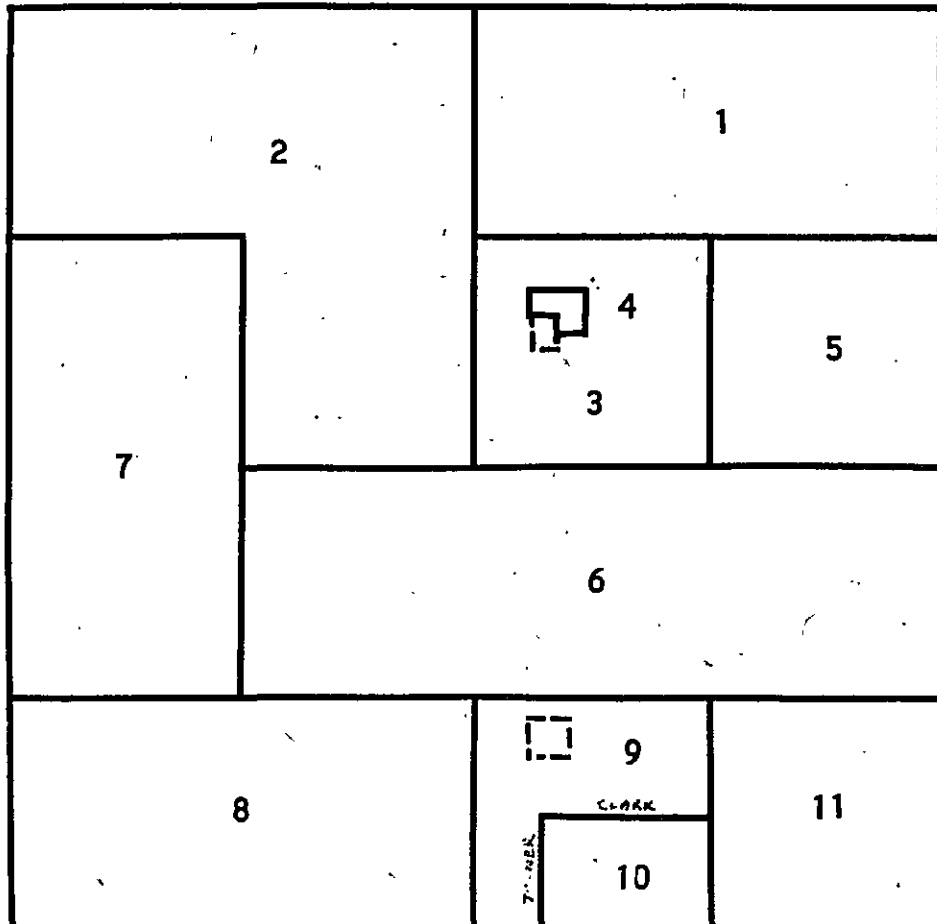

District 7: Dallas and Westphalia townships, population 3,505.

District 8: Eagle and Watertown townships, population 3,281.

District 9: City of DeWitt plus the parts of DeWitt Township north of Clark and west of Turner roads, population 3,868.

District 10: Precincts 2 and 5 of DeWitt Township, lying south of Clark and east of Turner, population 3,781.

District 11: Bath Township, population 3,732.

$981,648 budget proposed

The Clinton County Board of Supervisors is asking the all-113 mills for fiscal year to help finance a budget of $981,648.

The board adopted the budget request Monday, and although it is some $360,000 higher than the 1968 budget, it is only $120,000 higher than the 1967 budget.

Last year the county received 5.63 mills from the allocation board and is on an austerity budget for 1968.

The finance committee's proposals call for a balanced budget in 1969, with $792,739.47 to be raised by taxes at the requested rate of 6.113 mills, $106,036.73 in estimated receipts and $82,871.80 in estimated share of the state income tax.

*This is not an adequate budget," finance committee Chairman Merrill Shnabery of Greenbush Township said, "but it is the top amount that we can defend on the allocation board."

"The growth of counties and the services demanded by the people and the state are coming faster than increases in valuation. This budget doesn't consider reapportionment and the institution of a new lower court system, and if these come in in 1969 it can hit us real hard. "In that respect this budget is even more inadequate."

THE FINAL BUDGET for county spending during 1969 will be passed probably in September or October 1968. Adjustments in the figures between this proposal and the final budget will reflect the allocation board decision and other factors between now and then.

Shnabery said most of the proposed department budgets are inadequate, and probably the most inadequate figure of all is $25,000 budgeted for contingencies. Shnabery and other members of the committee said the figure should be three to five times higher.

These are the amounts proposed by the county for the various departments and fund expenditures during 1969: All are higher than the 1968 budget unless noted:

Circuit court and court reporter $27,600; assignment clerk $5,770; prosecuting attorney $35,815; probate court $24,165; county clerk $29,704; county treasurer $20,345; register of deeds $17,385; equalization and addressograph department $34,345; drain commissioner $14,719; driver's license bureau $9,900; sheriff's department $55,789; jail $22,594.

Wilcox, Thelen named to Tri-County board

Two new delegates representing Clinton County have been named to the Tri-County Regional Planning Commission by the Clinton County Board of Supervisors.

County Engineer Gerald Wilcox of 405 S. Traver Street, St. Johns, has been named to replace Regional Nelson of DeWitt. Dean has resigned from the Tri-County Regional Planning Commission after 12 years of service, telling the Clinton County board pressing business and family obligations necessitated the change. The board accepted the resignation Monday after tabling it for a month to learn the reason.

Thelen was appointed to represent the county board of supervisors. Nelson served on the planning unit last year.

THE BOARD OF supervisors had an active and lengthy session Monday. In addition to adopting their proposed budget and naming representatives on the Tri-County Regional Planning Commission, they did these things:

They approved the purchase of 500 paper blankets, when available, for use by the civil defense department in emergencies, and they also approved buying a radio receiving set for monitoring the weather bureau frequency. The paper blankets will cost $125 and the radio $169.

The board also viewed for the first time the new ESSA tornado movie, a copy of which has been purchased by the county.

Dr. F. W. Smith, medical director of the Mid-Michigan District Health Department, briefed the board on the duties and activities of the department during the past year.

The board approved payment of a billing for $181 from the Children's Aid Society representing costs over and above the $350 paid in 1967.

The board concurred with a recommendation of the zoning commission to establish a Zone C commercial zone on Caroline Avenue, a parcel of land adjacent to the Heights Auto Parts in Section 33 of DeWitt Township.

Supervisor Earl Barks of Olive Township, chairman of the zoning committee, said the committee hopes to finish reviewing the new county zoning ordinance this month.

The records and equipment committee recommended the purchase by the county of a new addressograph machine at a cost of more than $12,000. It would replace the present unit that's been in use about 13 years. The proposal was referred to the finance committee for a recommendation.

THE BOARD ISSUED a public statement aimed primarily at prospective property owners and builders:

"We are calling attention to the fact that a great many people are buying parcels of land in Clinton County for the purpose of erecting residences thereon and are bitterly disappointed and inclined to blame governmental authorities when they are denied a permit to build because drainage and percolation tests will not meet minimum standards. "Please note," the board said, "that not all land is suitable to build on. Do check with local authorities before closing your deal. It can save you time, money and trouble."

The team from Ovid-Elsie comprised of Carter Moore, Calvin Moore and Tony Fabus received the traveling trophy last Tuesday, April 30, and will have their names engraved on the trophy.

The first-place Ovid-Elsie team racked up an impressive 560 total points while second-place St. Johns totaled 498 points, third-place Pewamo-Westphalia 403, and Bath 322 points.

Carter Moore of the Ovid-Elsie chapter was the high individual in the contest with 199 points and received a desk pen set for his efforts.

The contest was held at the plant materials center at Rose Lake Experiment Station south-east of Bath.

contribute or to work for contributions. Most of the service clubs told the committee their treasuries were already over-committed and they wouldn't be able to help out financially, at least to any great extent.

Other groups, however, said they would check with their boards of directors of membership to see how much could be donated. All expressed a willingness to cooperate on a manpower basis.

ST. JOHNS CITY Atty. Bill Kemper, who attended last Tuesday's meeting both as a liaison with the city commission and as a private citizen, explained the background of the pool situation to the persons present.

He noted that it had only been two weeks then since YMCA officials first approached the city with a tentative plan for operating the swimming pool. The pool program, and the entire city recreation program, had been cancelled for this summer because of four defeats at the polls of taxation measures needed to run the city. An austerity budget is now in effect by the city.

The YMCA said it would operate the swimming instruction program, consisting of five two-week courses, if the pool could be put in operational condition by June 7, and if water-heating equipment could be added to give the swimming season a longer "life."

But necessary equipment additions and changes, coupled with a need to install new filters for the first time since the pool opened and painting of the pool was estimated to cost about $10,000 (including installation). In anticipation of a first-year operating deficit, another $2,500 was figured to take care of that possible cost.

The YMCA emphasized it would assume no operational deficit on the pool, and this amount, if it does come to be, would have to be assumed by the city.

THE CITY, BECAUSE of its present fiscal crisis, told the YMCA and citizens it could not spend the money for the necessary repairs and additions, nor could the city stand the cost of any deficit. Thus, the idea was turned over to the citizens of the community.

The city commission did enter into an agreement with the YMCA that they would lease the pool to the Y for the operation of the swimming program this summer. A May 10 deadline was established for the raising of necessary funds so that, if the money is raised, the YMCA will have time to plan its program here and there will be time to order and install the necessary equipment.

Exact costs of equipment and installation 'still aren't known, but the best estimates are that the equipment itself will run about $6,500. How much of the $2,500 figured for deficit insurance will be used won't be known, of course, until near the end of the swimming season.

"But we have to have a figure to go by," Dr. Oatley pointed out, "and the YMCA has to be assured they won't have to take a loss on the pool operation. So $12,500 is the figure we're using, and I'm encouraged today about reaching that figure."

The operation of the swimming pool by the YMCA would be on a county-wide basis, with all youngsters having an equal opportunity to take lessons at identical rates. What they would be isn't known yet.

THE FUND-RAISING campaign is spreading out to other areas of the county, outside of St. Johns, including Fowler and DeWitt. The Clinton County Board of Supervisors was contacted Monday for a contribution, but the prosecuting attorney ruled any contribution from the county would be illegal. The county also has its own "no money" situation.

While the $12,500 figure is a pretty healthy one to try to reach in 10 days, the Clinton County Memorial Swimming Pool Committee remains confident. And, they point out, most of the money would be for equipment that will last for possibly 15 years, so it would be a long-range investment rather than one that would be gone after one year.

Contributions as of Tuesday noon have included: 1 at $1,000; 2 at $500; 1 at $300; 1 at $250; 4 at $200; 3 at $150; 17 at $100; and 5 at $50. The rest of the monies have been contributions of less than $50.

budget requests and operating for the benefit of the individual groups under the chamber board; to promote St. Johns not only as a city to do business in but to live in and work in.

Final details of these reorganization plans will be worked out in the future meetings and as committees conclude the work needed to report the present status and the possibilities of what can be best for the future.

BOTH GROUPS admit that what has been done is only the beginning. It will take a lot of work and a lot of cooperation from all elements in St. Johns, not only to work out the problems and form a strong unit, but to make it an organization that will benefit the community and be a benefit to the community.

All retailers, professional people and those connected with industry are urged to attend the weekly meetings. These meetings will be held at the L&L Restaurant at noon every Wednesday. William Barber, spokesman for the retailers stated, "A good turnout at these weekly meetings would give us more ideas on what we can do, plus encourage everyone to try a little harder to unite in making St. Johns the place we all want it to be."

Chamber board members who were in attendance at these meetings were: Leon Brewbaker, James Moore, Robert Dittmar, Roger Hammon, Donald Reesner, John Rehmann, Hugh Wallace, Brandon White and Steven Hopko.

By ROBERT ELDRIDGE
Road Clerk

At the regular meeting of the board of road commissioners held last Friday, May 3, several actions of importance were taken.

Proposals were received for stump and brush removal on slightly over 10 miles of road construction projects. These proposals called for complete removal and disposal of all stumps and brush in the road right-of-way and leaving the area ready for grading and construction. A low price for the work of $9,795 was made by Quality Tree Service of Owosso, and this offer was accepted by the commission.

There was considerable discussion by the commission on the continuing problem of sign destruction throughout the county. This past weekend, for instance, several signs in the southeast part of the county were either shot at or deliberately run over and bent down with automobiles. Prompt police work on the part of the county sheriff's department located four of the offenders in this case. Incidentally, when it can be proven that an individual damages or destroys a sign, we bill him for it and we do collect. Just recently a sign destruction spree cost a resident over $130. The commission decided to offer a reward of $80 for information leading to the arrest and collection of damages from anyone who maliciously destroys county road signs and markers. This reward will be offered for a trial period to test its effectiveness as a deterrent.

In another action of the board, Roy Davis was appointed the commission's representative on the governmental coordinating committee of the Tri-County Regional Commission.

By resolution, the commission decided to pay 15 per cent of the costs of construction work undertaken by any special assessment district that may be formed within the county. Standards for such construction is to conform to those standards set up in the recently adopted plat act. The commission will furnish the engineering services needed on any such construction, and the cost of this will be included in the total cost of the project. This action will benefit residents of subdivisions who decide to help themselves out of road construction problems by community action.

4-H TALENT WINNERS

Winners of special talent awards from the St. Johns First Nighters were 4-H Share-the-Fun performers Pamela Pfaff (left), Vickie Roesch, Kathy Nichols and Kathy Davis. The Share-the-Fun Contest was held April 26.

This is 'healthy baby week'

The first baby born in Clinton Memorial Hospital of St. Johns during the week is to receive a layette valued at more than $25. INFORMATIVE MATERIALS provided by the local chapter have been displayed in the window of the St. Johns Furniture Store.

For the past decade, the National Foundation-March of Dimes has dedicated itself to overcoming birth defects. During Healthy Baby Week, the Foundation is promoting a nationwide education program to emphasize the severity of the problem.

John Hasty, college president, said if there was a possibility of drainage problems there in the future it would be better to have the request turned down so the payment would be returned. The college had purchased the property contingent on securing approval to erect a college facility there.

To repay sewer money

VALLEY FARMS — DeWitt Township officials have authorized Oliver Angell, clerk to return $142,000 to property owners who made payments on the sanitary sewers which have failed to materialize.

Last year voters gave their approval to selling more than $1 million in bonds to be repaid at 5 per cent over a 39-year period. But the bonds failed to attract buyers as interest rates climbed above the 5 per cent mark.

The project was moved ahead in hopes the bond market would improve, but it was decided the wait was in vain and township officials officially closed out the proposed sewer plan.

The $142,000 in repayments will probably be made in July, Angell said.

The township is asking for guidance from the Michigan Water Resources Commission in ways to proceed in starting a new sanitary sewer project. The commission, as well as the State Department of Health, warned the township of the danger resulting from the septic tanks in the heavily built-up southern sector of the township.

Adult help holds key to Little League expansion

The possibility of forming a daytime Little League was announced by Little League President Jack Downing last week as he called a meeting of managers and coaches for next Monday evening.

The meeting, for those officials, umpires and all other persons interested in helping in either the Little League or Pony League, will be at 8 p.m. at the Clinton County Athletic Club building on the corner of Railroad Street and Clinton Avenue.

The daytime Little League, Downing said, would depend upon how much interest is shown by adults who work night shifts but who would be available during the day to work with youngsters.

Little League ages are 9-12, with Aug. 1 the cutoff dates, and Pony League ages are 13-16.

DOWNING SAID the six-team Little League and four-team Pony League would probably be able to expand this year if enough adult assistance is available in the form of managers, coaches and umpires.

Teams are limited to 15 boys, who are bolstered by new players chosen in the spring by managers following a series of tryouts. Team members stay on the same team until the "graduate" from Little League and then are replaced by a "draft" of new players at the tryouts.

Downing said the two league seasons will start around the first part of June. Definite dates for the tryouts and draft and the league schedule will be worked out following Monday night's meeting.

Also to be decided is the location for competition. The St. Johns Jaycees are building several Little League diamonds south of Townsend Road on property owned by Bernard Feldpausch, but Downing said a planting of grass last fall didn't catch hold, and the lack of a sufficient stand of grass this spring may prevent the use of the field there.

Last year Little League games were played on a field located on Saylor-Beall Manufacturing Co. property on Scott Road north of Walker Street.

Greek pastor speaker Monday

REV. PHIL ZIKAS

United States during April, May and June of this year, speaking in churches on behalf of the total mission program of the Missionary Society of the Congregational Christian Churches, which board now supports his work in the strengthening of the Protestant witness in his homeland. Pastor Zikas is fluent in English, Greek, Arabic, and several other languages.

His travels will take him to Congregational Churches in Connecticut, Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Kansas, Washington, California, Nebraska, and Iowa before returning to his work in Greece early in July.

Pastor Zikas' visit to St. Johns is of special interest to the local congregation. For several years the mission in northern Greece has been supported as one of the church's benevolence projects. In the summer of 1962 and again in 1963 Brian Waltz, son of Mr and Mrs Clarence Waltz, was one of a number of young people who went to Greece to participate in a work camp.

Pastor Zikas was born in Turkey and repatriated to Greece at the close of the first World War. His education began in mission schools of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, and his training for the Christian ministry was completed in the United States.

In 1930 he went to Northern Greece, Thrace and Macedonia, under the auspices of the American Board, the Congregational foreign mission agency, and was the primary influence in the founding of numerous Evangelical churches in the small villages and towns. During World War II, and the German occupation of Greece he was minister of the church at Berea in Macedonia and a focal point of Greek resistance to German indoctrination and later to the efforts of communism to subjugate Greece. He served as an interpreter between the British and Greek leaders in the years immediately following the war; since which time he has been influential in both religious and secular circles.

PRIMARILY HE is a Congregational minister, pastor of the Evangelical Protestant Church at Alexandroupolis; and counselor to the lay and ordained leadership of the churches in the Evangelical Association of Thrace and Macedonia. He is a continuing Congregationalist in faith and action, and since 1960 has had close relationship with the Fellowship of the National Association of Congregational Churches.

State festivals honor flower, fruit blooms

May is springtime in Michigan, a coming-alive time when the tulips bloom by the thousands in Holland and the blossoming orchards look like row after row of giant pink and white popcorn balls.

The May events calendar leans heavily toward outdoor activities, highlighted by Holland's 39th annual Tulip Time and St. Joseph-Benton Harbor's 35th Blossom Festival.

Tulip Time is May 15-18 when Michigan's Netherlands breaks out in a profusion of colors with innumerable tulips and varieties. School girls in Dutch dress and wooden shoes, are a favorite attraction and give several free performances daily.

Noted for their cleanliness, the Hollanders scrub the street, hold square dances and stage parades. Tulip Time visitors can tour a wooden shoe factory, a typical Dutch market and see the 12-story, 200-year old windmill, "DeZwaan," brought over from the Netherlands and re-assembled here.

JUST DOWN THE Lake Michigan shoreline from Holland is the St. Joseph-Benton Harbor Blossom Festival set for May 12-18. It opens with the traditional blessing of the blossoms in one of the area orchards.

Twenty-nine lovely blossom queens, fashions, dancers and a Count Basie concert lead up to the May 18 Grand Floral Parade, the highlight of the week. Colorful floral floats from around the state, numerous bands and celebrities make the parade one of southwest Michigan's biggest annual events.

Elsewhere around Michigan, canoe races will be held in Holly, Mount Pleasant, Lansing, Bear River and Linden and anyone will enjoy the skirling of 20 bagpipe bands and kilie dancers in the first Highland Festival and Games in Alma on May 25.

Two historical moments in Michigan's past will be re-enacted—the landing of Father Marquette at Sault Ste. Marie and the Indian massacre at Fort Michillimackinac.

The re-enactment of Marquette's landing at the Soo 300 years ago will take place May 19 as part of the Soo's year-long tricentennial celebration, and the Indians' 1763 Michillimackinac takeover will be restaged May 30-June 2 in the shadow of the Mackinac Bridge.

Fishermen look forward to May in Michigan, too, with the black bass season opening May 30 and the Bass Festival May 31-June 2 at Mancelona.

For a free, complete list of Michigan's spring-summer events, or any Michigan vacation planning materials, write to the Michigan Tourist Council, Stevens T. Mason Building, Lansing, Michigan 48926.

Eggs-protein food at reasonable cost

By HELEN B. MEACH
Extension Home Economist

Springtime is eggtime and May 1 through mid-June has been pinpointed to celebrate a Springtime Egg Festival.

In this space age of astronomical figures, eggs have joined the parade. Chickens cackled their way to laying 5.8 billion dozen eggs, or about 5 1/2 per cent more than in the previous year. So "eggs" it is.

If you're interested in getting a complete protein food at a most reasonable cost. You'll also get a food that is easily and completely digested to answer the needs of infants to oldsters.

Eggs are one of the easiest foods to cook, requiring a minimum amount of time and cooking equipment. Nevertheless, there are hundreds of ways that eggs can be used to enhance your menu.

Eggs have been unusually low in price all year but now are a particularly good buy, having dropped in price since Easter. Grade, size and price are the factors to consider when buying eggs. Grade has to do with interior quality.

Grade AA is the best, followed by Grade A and Grade B. The grade will be clearly indicated on the carton.

SIZE IS DETERMINED BY weight. To meet federal standards, one dozen eggs must weigh 30 ounces or more to qualify as jumbo, 27 ounces or more as extra large, 24 ounces or more as large, 21 ounces or more as medium, 18 ounces or more as small and 15 ounces or more as peewee.

Weight of the total 12 eggs in the dozen is the measure. Often there may be several eggs that look smaller than the others in the package and tolerance is usually allowed for these. If the weight of the dozen is up to requirement.

Strictly fresh eggs when hard cooked are difficult to peel. A small puncture, before cooking, above the air sack in the large end of the egg will help.

COLOR OF YOLK varies with the feed of the chicken. Color of shell varies with breed through brown shell eggs are rare in the market place. Color of shell does not affect the nutritive value of the egg.

To maintain quality of eggs after you purchase them, keep them refrigerated as they are required to do in retail stores in most states.

MANY OF THE EGGS flooding the past Easter market are from quality controlled cold storage. Here is a special egg idea, popular with the teen-age group, called "Twin Egg Chargers."

Split a thick hamburger bun and cut a hole in each half large enough to hold 1 egg. Spread with butter or margarine, drop an uncooked egg in each half. Bake in slow oven about 15 minutes. Top with tomato slice and cheese. Place under broiler until cheese begins to brown. Serve with potato chips, cole slaw, olives and pickles.

Did you ever notice that a young fellow who has a lot of girls running after him always carries the plainest looking one of the bunch.

A COLUMN DEVOTED TO INTRODUCING NEW ST. JOHNS RESIDENTS

ALFRED J. MERIGNAC and his wife Eva are new residents at 1103 Wight Street, St. Johns. They moved here from rural St. Johns. Merignac was a farmer and has retired from Motor Wheel after being in their employment for 30 years.

WILLIAM G. PURCHASE and his wife Nancy and their children Lois 7, Billy 6, David 4, Victor 2 and Kelly Sue 1 have recently moved here from rural DeWitt. Purchase is an electrician at Barker-Fowler of Lansing.

WACs celebrate 26th anniversary

The United States Women's Army Corps (WAC) celebrates the 26th anniversary of its founding during the month of May. With the anniversary month, the US Army Recruiting Service has already announced a special enlistment plan for future WACs who now reside in the state of Michigan.

The plan, known as the "All Michigan Women's Army Corps Company," entitles Michigan girls to be sworn into the army on June 29, then fly directly to Fort McClellan, Alabama, where they will live and train while attending basic training.

"The girls receive a written guarantee in the course of their choice. This includes such fields of study as medical technology, food service, dental, medical, personnel or public relations to mention a few."

Today's women enlistees will fill chosen positions in the continental United States and a number of foreign countries. Educational opportunities, including the GI Bill, offer a bright future for any young lady.

Those women seeking more information on the Women's Army Corps and the "All Michigan Women's Army Corps Company" can do so by calling Sergeant Gibson at his recruiting station located at 315 W. Allegan, Room 223, Lansing.

Final duplicate bridge round scores revealed

Grade crossing accidents took 1,450 lives in 1964.

Often the man who thinks he's only killing time is actually murdering opportunity.

Styling Show May 1

Area 9 Council members observed May Day with a styling show at Smith Hall of St. Johns. Over 200 from the three counties included in Area 9, Clinton, Gratiot and Shiawassee, attended.

This spring event differed from a style show in that the outfits modeled by Extension members were from their own wardrobes.

Some of the outfits worn had been changed and restyled and in these cases a slide showing the "before" was shown.

MRS JEAN McClung, clothing and textiles Extension specialist from Michigan State University who narrated told those present to select the style most becoming to each. This does not necessarily mean "high style" she said.

All changes in the outfits worn by the models from the three counties were made by the women wearing the "new" ensembles. Mrs McClung said clothing should be fun but co-ordination is important.

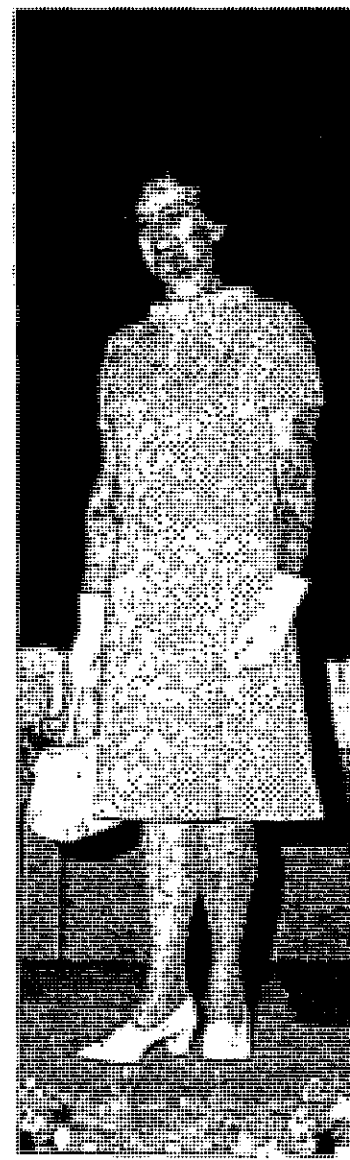

MODELING WERE Mrs Robert Alward, Mrs Lowell Anderson, Mrs E. J. Bottum, Mrs Ray Cogswell, Mrs Ralph Cumberworth, Mrs John Doneth, Mrs Howard Everts, Mrs Louis Federspiel, Mrs Elmo Giffels, Mrs Mrs Marvin Hall, Mrs Joseph

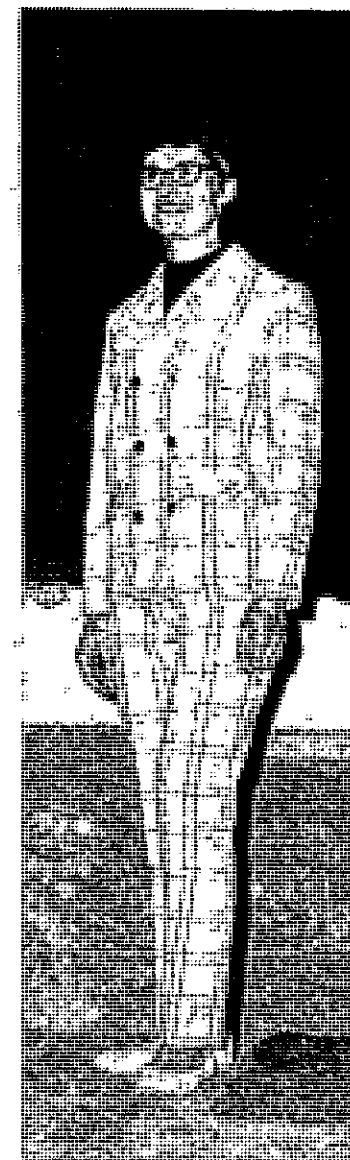

MRS LAWRENCE MALLORY of rural Owosso

Kalisek, Mrs Lawrence Mallory and Mrs Walter Martens.

Other models were Mrs Bruce Mehney, Mrs Robert Monroe, Mrs James Moriarty, Mrs Keith Mygrants, Mrs David Otto, Mrs Clarence Powell, Mrs Merle Redman, Mrs Donald Warner and Mrs Robert Zeeb and Karen. The door prize was won by Mrs Umbra Pierce of R-2, St. Johns.

Joseph Marek: In loving memory of my dear husband who passed away one year ago May 6th. On what would I give to clasp your hand, Your dear kind face to see, Your loving smile, your welcome voice. That meant so much to me. No one knows the silent heartache, Only those who have such can tell, Of the grief that is borne in silence, For the one I loved so well. Sadly missed by his wife, Beverly and Children. 2-1p

IN LOVE and memory of our dear husband and father Nelson C. Jolly, who passed away 8 years ago May 10th. In Heaven there is a carpenter, you'll find a father of eight, and a husband so kind; this house without him can never compare, to the home he is building for us up there. No job big or small did he ever turn down — In Heaven his reward is a 9-star crown. — Your loving wife, sons and daughters. 2-1p

IN LOVING Memory of Clara M. Hettler, who passed away May 7, 1956; Gone is the face we loved so dear, Silent is the voice we loved to hear. Too far away for sight or speech, But not too far for thought to reach. Sweet to remember her who once was here, And who, though absent, is just as dear. — Her five Daughters. 2-1p

Retired Ovid dentist named association's 'citizen of year'

OVID — Retired Ovid dentist Dr. Blon L. Bates last week received the Michigan State Dental Assn.'s 1968 Dentist Citizens of the Year Award during the association's 11th annual meeting in Detroit.

The presentation was made April 30.

Honored in recognition of his contributions to community, state and nation, Dr. Bates was presented the award by Dr. O. Lee Ricker, president of the nearly 4,000-member association.

Dr. Bates, who for more than 50 years was an Ovid dental practitioner, has been the only dentist to serve in the Michigan Legislature in recent times. A Michigan senator from 1946 to 1950, he was the sponsor of important public health legislation.

In 1965, Dr. Bates was proclaimed "man of the year" by the Ovid Businessmen's Assn. and Lions Club. A former village councilman and school board president, Dr. Bates was active in the Red Cross, various fund raising committees, and in Scouting. He was presented with the Silver Beaver Award by the Chief Okemos Council of Boy Scouts of America.

Dr. Bates and his wife, Wilma, who now reside part-time in Florida, have four children; one, Dr. J. W. Bates, is a practicing dentist in Ovid.

Federal-Mogul sales, earnings up for quarter

Federal-Mogul Corp. sales and earnings for the first quarter of 1968 were higher than during the comparable quarter a year ago, company President Sam MacArthur reported April 30 at the annual meeting of shareholders in Detroit.

Sales for the first quarter amounted to $60,366,000 and net earnings totaled $3,325,000 — 62 cents a share.

In the corresponding period for 1967, the company's sales were $57,460,000 and net earnings were $3,173,000, or 59 cents a share.

Figures for both years include sales and earnings of National Grinding Wheel Co., Inc., which was acquired by Federal-Mogul on June 16, 1967. For purposes of comparison, per-share earnings for both years are after provision for $105,000 of preferred dividend payments in each quarter, although no preferred stock was in existence until 120,000 shares were issued in June 1967 for the National Grinding Wheel Co. acquisition.

In his remarks to shareholders, MacArthur said that he was pleased to report that "an upward trend has been established, and although the effects were moderate in the first quarter, we are confident that the trend will accelerate through the balance of the year."

The company anticipates earnings for the year will be approximately 50 per cent above 1967 levels, "but," according to MacArthur, "a major change in the general economy could effect this forecast either favorably or otherwise."

A major portion of MacArthur's remarks concerned recent manufacturing improvements, new product developments, and the changes taking place in the aftermarket. Of particular importance, he cited the company's recently patented forging method for its potential for substantial cost savings and product improvement, and a new line of adaptor bearings and oil seals recently introduced to the marketplace by two of the company's divisions.

For the aftermarket, MacArthur said that the company has been in the process of bringing new sales concepts to this important area of company business to meet the changing patterns of the market.

4-H Club Chatter

Extension 4-H Youth Agent

Volunteers erected bleachers last week at the horse ring at the 4-H fair-grounds in preparation for the coming pony pulling contest. Bruce Amos stands at left; lining up the bleacher seats are Glenn Bennett, Duane Bunce and Lawrence Heiback.

The County officers training conference will be held on Thursday, May 9, at 7:30 p.m. at the St. Johns High School in St. Johns for all 4-H club officers. Adult resource leaders will be working with the different officers on their responsibility and obligations to their office in the local club.

Adults assisting are: Earl Haas, county agricultural agent working with the presidents; Jim Gibson, vocational ag teacher at the Pewamo-Westphalia High School, with the vice-presidents; Al Root, Extension 4-H youth agent, with the secretaries; Frank Kapp, Extension 4-H youth agent, with the treasurers; Lowell Rinker, editor of the Clinton County News, with the reporters; and William Brook, local 4-H club leader, working with the song leaders. The officers will observe a mock model meeting presented by the Pewamo-Westphalia FFA chapter which placed first in the district FFA parliamentary procedure contest.

Twenty-two leaders and parents turned out Tuesday evening to help assemble the four sets of bleachers purchased for use at the fairgrounds. They worked fast and efficiently and had all the work completed in one hour. I would like to thank all of them for their fine assistance. The bleachers are ready for the pony pull benefit to be held on Sunday, May 19, at 1 p.m. at the fairgrounds. Proceeds will go toward the cost of the horse barn to be built at the fairgrounds. The public is invited to attend; and there is no admission charge.

Thirty 4-H members and leaders will be attending the county 4-H award trip to Detroit on Saturday, May 11. The group will tour Greenfield Village in the morning, lunch at the Top of The Flame Restaurant in Detroit and attend a Cinema in the afternoon. Members were awarded this trip upon the recommendation of their leaders for their outstanding 4-H club work this past year.

The county 4-H teen leaders viewed the state show film Thursday evening and became more familiar with the state show activities. The members learned the importance of keeping good records following a presentation by the Extension agent on the telecard results. Michigan Week, May 19-25, will be promoted through a number of posters made by the members. Also, Nimble Fingers, French's Corners and Happy Hustlers 4-H clubs will plant flowers in the nine planters in front of the stores in downtown St. Johns during that week. The club voted to enter a softball team in the Green league.

There will be a 4-H horticulture leaders meeting on Wednesday, May 15, at 8 p.m. at the Clinton National Bank community room in St. Johns. Topics related to the garden and flower project will be covered as well as fair exhibit requirements and questions by leaders.

A beef day program will be conducted on Saturday, May 11, at 10 a.m. at the Mahogany Farms for 4-H members, leaders and parents. The Mahogany farms is located between Williamston and Perry in Ingham County.

The Pioneer Trail Riders 4-H club has a total of 12 members for this year's program under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Ketchum. Each member brought his horse and was shown how to clean it. The members plan to ride their horses and ponies in the Grand Ledge memorial parade. Mrs. Ketchum is making a club flag for the members to use in the parade.

The Bengal Community 4-H club ended their winter program with a club hayride and wienie roast. Members enrolled for the summer program filled with many 4-H activities.

Green Clover Community Club is the name of a new 4-H club in Olive Township with 21 members under the direction of Mrs. Gary Bishop. Officers for the new club are: president, John Taylor; vice-president, Cathy Rademacher; secretary, Lila Pettit; treasurer, Sally Rademacher; reporter, Steven Blood; and recreation leader, Susan Holmly.

CLINTON COUNTY NEWS, St. Johns, Michigan

Michigan Week preparations funneling toward May 19

With Michigan Week now only a week and a half away, county and community chairmen are scurrying about finalizing plans for the annual observance in each area of Clinton County, May 19-25.

County Michigan Week Chairman Mrs. Betty Minsky said several communities have cancelled plans for the Mayor's Exchange Day, but in others the event is shaping up as the highlight of the week.

Maple Rapids, Westphalia and St. Johns have begged off on the mayor exchange this year, St. Johns because of its austerity budget and the resignation of two administrative officials.

Ovid has a wide-ranging program of events for the week under the direction of Ovid Chairman Mitchell Das. Village President Harvey Darling and Major James Lawler of Quincy will trade executive jobs on Monday, May 20, and an additional good will gesture, the two men and their parties will meet at Charlotte for coffee on the way to each other's communities.

ANOTHER COFFEE hour at Ovid's village council rooms will follow Lawler's arrival, and then there will be a parade through town at 11:15 a.m. led by the Ovid-Elsie High School Band and tours of the Michigan Milk Producers Assn. creamery, Vaughn Seeds, Briggs' Green House and Ovid Nursing Home.

A noon luncheon will be served the visitors at Ovid-Elsie High School (with a tour of the school to follow), and the day's events will wind up with a cocktail hour at 4:30 p.m. and a Lions Club-sponsored dinner at 7 p.m. at the Main Street Ovid United Church.

In neighboring Elsie, Michigan Week Chairman Guy Mitchell said village officials may join the Ovid group at the high school for the noon luncheon and tour May 20. Tours of local industry and a visit to the site of the proposed Duplain Township Hall-

Elsie Library Building are also planned.

The Elsie Lions Club will host the evening dinner, combining it with the group's annual Ladies Night.

William Patton, community chairman in St. Johns, has a wide range of events planned during Michigan Week. He said Mrs. Hila Bross, librarian at Bement Public Library, will feature a Michigan Week display all that week, and industrial concerns of the community will have displays at the Clinton National Bank, Central National Bank and Capitol Savings and Loan Assn.

THE FRIENDS OF THE Bement Public Library will sponsor a center around the schools, where posters, exhibits and movies are planned during the week. A formal flag-raising ceremony is planned at the elementary school when the PTA will present students with a Michigan flag. Michigan exhibits will be on display in the high school library.

Mrs. Helen Howe, Maple Rapids Michigan week chairman, is working out a program of events with the Maple Rapids Improvement Assn., and a Spiritual Foundations Day program with local pastors.

THE FOWLER JAYCEES have planned a community auction, tentatively for May 18, in conjunction with Michigan Week. Michigan Week Chairman Robert Haltmann is also working out other programs with village of-week-long art show in the community room of the Central National Bank, and coffee will be served on Hospitality Day.

Area 4-H members headed by Extension 4-H Youth Agent John Aylsworth will plant flowers in the planters along downtown Clinton Avenue as a 4-H beautification project.

At Bath, Mrs. Robert Zeebsaid the Michigan Week program will officials. At DeWitt, Mrs. June Lankford is planning the Michigan Week observance.

On a county-wide basis, Mrs. Minsky said the county Michigan Week committee will distribute Michigan Week buttons to school children in grades kindergarten through three, along with posters to schools and other public facilities.

SECTION B

MAY 9, 1968

Here's what this Michigan Week celebration is all about

With "Michigan — Land of Hospitality" the theme of Michigan Week this year, the Clinton County Michigan Week Committee has a number of suggestions for local clubs which might want to carry out a Michigan Week program.

Mrs. Betty Jane Minsky, county chairman, said most of the ideas had been used by other communities in the past and were selected by state officials as ideal possibilities which would be workable in most communities.

Among them are:

— COMMUNITY PRIDE DAY, May 18: Check welcome signs to the community. Make certain they are in good repair. If none, this could be a club project. Give recognition to citizens whose contributions of property, money, etc., have made possible parks, libraries, museums, art centers and other facilities for better living. Use the day to climax a clean-up, paint-up, fix up campaign which could be carried on the week prior to Michigan Week. Place little containers in convenient locations. Plant flowers, trees, shrubs in parks, at street intersections or in barren places.

— SPIRITUAL FOUNDATIONS DAY, May 19: Clergymen can get together to provide a community-wide interfaith program with clergymen of various faiths and mass choirs participating. Tours of religious historical landmarks could be arranged. Churches could agree on a time for joint observance of Spiritual Foundations Day, such as a moment of silent prayer at noon, giving thanks for God's Blessings to our state.

— GOVERNMENT DAY, May 20: Government careers could be subjects for school assembly programs. A get-together of retired public officials for an exchange of views on present governmental operations could be held. A group could arrange for display of photos, other materials and old equipment such as fire engines, etc. which depict history of local government. A group could use the day to begin a program of preserving government artifacts and records of historical value for the community. A group could select and honor the community's friendliest public servant. Local organizations could honor government officials.

— OUR HERITAGE DAY, May 21: A group could kick off a program to locate, mark and record 50, 75 and 100 year old businesses, industries, institutions and homes in the area, similar to the centennial farm program. A group could make a display on the community's part in the Civil War. Another group could arrange for placement and dedication of historical markers at the first church, school, home, business, and similar buildings in the community. Fly the Michigan flag as a symbol of pride in our heritage especially on this day.

— OUR LIVELIHOOD DAY, May 22: Groups could honor the community's oldest enterprise, showing its contribution to local economy over the years. Honor the newest business or industrial enterprise. Arrange for industrial displays. Arrange an exhibit of the pictures and information on the community's first firms.

— EDUCATION DAY, May 23: Clubs could invite both students and faculty speakers for their programs. Where a school has no Michigan flag, this is a good day for a flag presentation with dedications and flag-raising ceremony. Teachers retiring after many years of service could be honored by local groups on this day. Top students could be honored.

— HOSPITALITY DAY, May 24: Local firms could purchase from the state committee posters, buttons, tent cards for display in their stores. Each citizen can individually be an excellent example of the friendliness that is Michigan. Open houses and coffees can be arranged. Local groups could arrange to take the aged and handicapped on a tour of the community.

— OUR YOUTH DAY, May 25: Sports and athletic events for youths offer opportunity for mass participation. A club could hold a "junior olympics" for youth. Another fine day to present the state flag to a youth group. Clubs could pick and honor outstanding youth in the community.

New school aid bill enacted

Governor Romney last week signed into law the new state school aid program, designed to offer a long-range solution to the monetary crisis facing Michigan schools. The measure is keyed to recognizing the needs of low valuation and inner city school districts.

Enactment of the bill made history by itself. Never before have Michigan schools been given this amount of much-needed time to effectively plan their programs and budgets for the coming fall. Knowing how much will be available at the early date also gives hope that teacher contract talks can be settled well in advance of school opening dates.

This action is made even more important because the bill incorporates a comprehensive revision of the school aid formula in the record-high K-12 education appropriation.

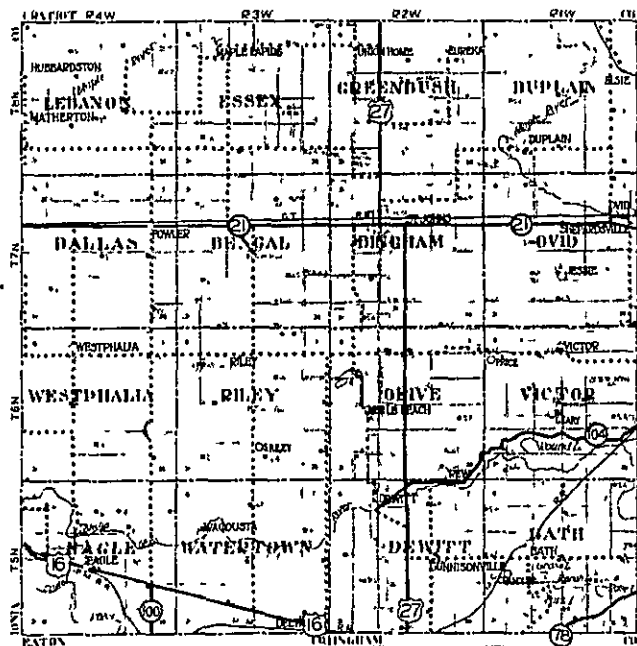

The school aid program this year totals more than $752 million. This is an increase of some $80 million, or 19 per cent, over last year's general fund budget.

INCREASED SCHOOL aid will be provided to all districts in Michigan. However, this bill allocates larger increases to poorer districts whose low property valuation requires more state aid for equal educational opportunity.

A major new $6.3 million program of special aid to inner city school in Detroit and other metropolitan centers is included in the new law. This "middle-class" plan will shift the emphasis of state aid more directly to classroom instruction support, rather than extra-educational activities.

In addition, significant increases are made available for improvements in school transportation and special education programs.

What's the largest port in the world? Why, it's New York City harbor. This port has a navigable waterfront of 460 miles in New York state and 295 miles in New Jersey. That makes 755 miles in all!

With only 10 days remaining before Michigan Week gets underway, the Clinton County Michigan Week Committee is passing along a number of suggestions on programs other communities have found successful.

Operation

CLEAN UP!

"Operation — Clean Up" project by Clinton County youth groups April 27 was considered quite successful, according to John Aylsworth, extension 4-H youth agent who coordinated the total project. The community beautification project consisted of clearing county roadsides of litter, bottles and junk discarded by thoughtless people. Twenty-five groups composed of 18 4-H clubs, 4 FFA Chapters, 2 FHA groups and 1 MYF group completed this community beautification project.

Final results from the group showed over 425 youths and 75 adults worked to clear over 200 miles of county roadsides of bottles, car parts, paper, junk and other trash. The groups reported that 68 pick-up loads of trash had been removed from the roadsides and deposited at county and township landfills. Over 1,000 returnable pop and beer bottles were found and redeemed by the groups. The number of no deposit beer and pop bottles found along the roadsides would account for many pick up loads of trash.

In addition to the many bottles and much paper found, other items picked up included a washing machine, sheets of tin roofing, an automobile axle with springs, many automobile tailpipes and mufflers, clothing items, electrical appliances, car tires and hubcaps plus an injured pigeon which is being cared for by one of the youths.

The removal of this litter may prevent injuries to people and animals from stepping on broken bottles, prevention of cut tires to tractors when they are used to mow the roadsides, prevention of accidents by vehicles which may strike these articles along the roadsides.

sides in addition to helping make our countryside more attractive. The leaders contend the youths were contributing toward a worthwhile community service project. As one 4-H leader stated, "The youth will think twice about throwing items along the roadside after learning how much time and effort it takes to clean it up."

The groups did not realize how big the job was until they started to pick up the trash. Several groups reported they picked up a truck load of litter within a mile stretch in several places in the county. Most all the groups completed their assigned area on Saturday, April 27, and the others finished up their areas this past weekend.

Upon completion of their job, one group wrote, "Our group appreciated having the opportunity to participate in an organized effort to help our community and county look clean and healthy. We feel it is a worthwhile effort and should be continued at least so that the job would be easier than it was this time."

But some people apparently don't appreciate the work of these young people. No deposit beer bottles and cans already can be seen lying along the roadsides cleaned by the youth. It takes only a little extra effort to dispose of the litter by placing it in a trash container instead of throwing it out the window. The cooperation of the Clinton County Road Commission and township officials for providing facilities to dispose of this litter helped make "Operation Clean-Up" a successful project.

Since the beginning of the 1966 tornado season, the U.S. Weather Bureau has used the terms "tornado watch" and "tornado warning". Tornado watch was selected because the word "watch" defines the action the public, as well as those connected with the local warning system, should take when there is a threat that tornadoes may develop in their area.

A tornado watch is issued by the U.S. Weather Bureau for areas where tornadoes may occur during the next several hours. The average size of the watch area is approximately 100 miles wide by 300 miles long. It may be described as, so many miles either side of a line, from one point to another. The objective of the watch is to alert the public in the area covered, to the possibility of tornadoes, and to advise them to be ready to take precautionary action if they hear or see one. Also, the time is given as, from let's say, 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. This can mean that the frontal system is at the western side of the area and will move to the eastern side during that time period.

Once a tornado has formed and its existence is known to the Weather Bureau, they then issue a "tornado warning". This means that a tornado has actually been sighted or its presence has been detected by radar, and the area "warned" is in the tornado's path. Persons in the path should immediately take safety precautions. The warning will indicate the location where the tornado was discovered and the area through which it is expected to move. These areas are usually defined by counties.

Cities and villages in these counties should sound their warning signals. The signal is to alert people who are not aware of the danger. Those who are aware should not need the signal, they should be ready.

The Weather Bureau does not claim to be infallible. They cannot always predict where tornadoes will occur, or in which way they will move, because of sudden storm developments. The local "spotting" service, usually the Fire and Police Departments, can trigger the alarm any time they feel their community is in danger. The Weather Bureau recommends every town and village to have its own reporting and warning system to provide optimum safeguard against the unannounced arrival of a tornado.

Some think that not much can be done to develop a warning system for the rural people. Farmers do have a good "weather sense". Their operations depend so much on the weather and they usually listen to the forecasts. This doesn't mean a neighborhood can't develop a "grapevine" system. Church bells have been used. If your neighbors and you can develop a warning system for tornadoes, why can't it be used for national attack warning? Once the word is passed, your best source of information is a local radio or TV station.

Next week we'll have an article on the Home Fallout Shelter returns. Any questions, anyone? Send them to the County C. D. office.

"Let's talk dry cleaning"

by Dana Antes

Attention anglers! If you're looking ahead to weekends on the water, checking your equipment and putting it in shape, don't forget those rugged outdoor clothes.

Fishing togs and other outdoor garments are usually treated to be water-repellent, wind-resistant and comfortably resilient to allow for easy freedom of action. With proper care these qualities can be preserved for the entire life of the garment. And, of course, proper care includes frequent, scientific cleaning.

There are a number of different ways in which fabrics may be treated to make them wind and water resistant and yet retain their resilience. We make it our business to keep abreast of all the new conditioning treatments that fabric and garment manufacturers are currently using, so that we can determine the correct cleaning method for any garment.

You can send us your sports togs, your casual clothes, and your formal attire with equal assurance that they will receive thorough cleaning by safe, scientific methods that will keep them looking fresh and new through countless cleanings.

LeBlond receives Sousa award

By MIKE GALVACH
St. Johns High

The coveted John Philip Sousa Award was presented to Lyn LeBlond at the annual bands in review concert April 18. Also cited for her efforts this year was Kathy Pierson who received a special service award.

Both girls have been extremely active their four years in the music program. Lyn has been a member of the symphonic band as first chair French horn, she participated in the pit orchestra for musicals "Bye Bye Birdie," "Music Man," and this year's "Oklahoma," and she has been an accompanist for the Wilsons Wilsonettes, and solo and ensemble festivals. Besides being active in her concentrated music program, Lyn was the "Strutter," the twirler in the bright red uniform who led the marching band.

Receiving a special service award was a just reward for Kathy's hard-working efforts these four years. Her list of credits includes being a flutist in the orchestra for three years and the band six years, teaching flute lessons to beginners, playing in the pit orchestra for the musicals "Music Man" and "Oklahoma," and like Lyn she has been an accompanist for solo and ensemble festivals.

THE THEME FOR the night to be remembered, the junior-senior prom, will be "Days of Wine and Roses." The prom will take place Saturday, May 25, and suggestions have been submitted to a committee as to what the decorations will be.

Some of the classes usually heavily attended by bright-eyed seniors were virtually empty last Friday, April 26, for the Science Club took its annual trip to the Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago. The chemistry and physics students who traveled on the trip left St. Johns just after the sun rose in the early morning sky and did not get back until 11:30 p.m. Some of the special exhibits in the museum which caught the students' interest were the captured German Submarine and the coal mine.

The Girl's Athletic Assn. completed their active season of basketball on Thursday, April 18. This was the night when the senior girls played the junior girls. The game ended in a complete and absolute victory for the juniors, sweeping the seniors 21-13. The club is now planning on possibly taking a weekend camping trip in the near future.

In the planning stage for next year is the formation of a Medical Careers Club under the direction of Mrs. Gertrude Buehler. This type of organization has been introduced to Rodney B. in past years but one new idea will be featured and that is the club will be open to all grades 9-12.

ISOTOX Systemic Granules

Isotox Systemic Granules is a straight systemic for soil application. Since it contains no fertilizer it can be used independently of any fertilizing program. It gives long lasting protection from sucking insects — from 6 weeks to 2 months.

APHIDS MITES LEAF MINERS LEAF HOPPERS

WHITE FLIES THRIPS LACE BUGS

SYSTEMIC INSECTICIDES TAKE CARE OF THESE NOTORIOUS TROUBLE MAKERS.

INSECTICIDE APPLIED TO THE SOIL AND WORKED IN IS ABSORBED THROUGH THE ROOTS WITH WATER AND SPREADS UPWARD WITH THE SAP STREAM.

ORTHO Systemic Rose and Flower Care

In ORTHO Systemic Rose and Flower Care, the systemic di-syston is blended into a balanced (8-8-8) fertilizer. Worked into soil around the plants it gives them the food they need, and protects from sucking insects at the same time. One application will protect the plant for 6 weeks or more, moving into every leaf and flower, even the new growth that forms after the application is made.

ORTHO ISOTOX Garden Spray: Finest multi-purpose control for insects and mites that attack ornamentals — flowers, shrubs, trees. Controls more than 250 insects. Cost — only about 6¢ per diluted gallon. 1 pint gives up to 32 gallons of diluted spray.

ORTHO Home Orchard Spray: Finest all-purpose spray to control both insects and fungus disease on fruit trees, strawberries, grapes. 14 oz. makes 12 gals. diluted spray.

ORTHO Rose & Flower Bomb: Wonderful for touch-up spraying. Controls insects, mites, plant disease.

A MOTHER'S SECRETS

Mothers have secrets that they keep for their children... like the present Rick plans to give Dad on his birthday.

But mothers also have secrets of their own... dreams of what they hope their children will become.

And woven into the fabric of every mother's dream are threads of character, morality, courage, faith. The threads are there, but unseen—simply part of the finished design; a son or daughter to be proud of.

But in such dreams we should study the threads and realize the loom on which they must be woven. The qualities that give strength and beauty to a life come from thorough religious training!

So a mother's dream should not remain a secret. It must be her husband's dream, too. For together, with the guidance and help of the Church, they can provide the Christian home so necessary to the fulfillment of their hopes.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Immunization clinics set

The Mid-Michigan Health Department announces two free immunization clinics to be held in the Clinton County area during the month of May.

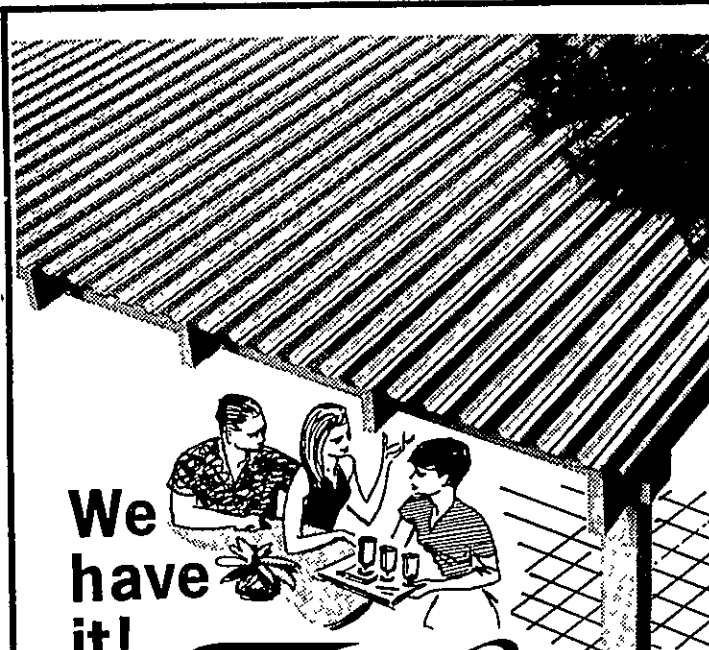

The first free clinic will be held in the Bath Township Hall located at the corner of Webster and Drumheller Roads. The clinic will be open to the public from 9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. Wednesday, May 8.

The basement of the St. Joseph Catholic Church in St. Johns is the location of the second free immunization clinic. This clinic will be open Wednesday, May 15, from 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Infants as well as adults are welcome, though children must be accompanied by an adult, because signed permission for each child is mandatory. A record of any immunizations which you have had in the past is requested. The clinics will be conducted by Franklin W. Smith, MD, medical director of the Mid-Michigan District Health Department, and he will be assisted by public health nurses.

Dr Wohlers at Literary Club meet

A Mother's Day remembrance for the Woman's Literary Club members and their guests Tuesday evening was the annual party in honor of their mothers and other older women of the community in the Methodist Fellowship Hall.

Using colored pictures, Dr. R. L. Wohlers of St. Johns narrated "A Mission to Panama" in which he participated with a group of four medical personnel in December 1966.

The group flew by way of Miami, Fla., to the Panama Canal Zone and from there to the San Blas Islands where they administered to the medical needs of the natives at the mission school that also doubled as the church.

DR. WOHLERS TOLD of his experiences as dentist for the Indians who came in small dugouts from surrounding areas. Later the medical group went by small boats from island to island to care for those unable to travel far from the banana plantations and jungles. The scenery was beautiful, he said, but the project was a satisfying and gratifying experience which they will never forget.

Dr. Wohler displayed several mementoes of his mission in Panama and answered many questions from the guests.

The program opened by WLC president Mrs. Durward Conklin extending greetings to the mothers. Mrs. Gordon Showers and Mrs. Merle Green were program chairmen.

Mrs. Zella Brewbaker, local piano instructor played the many variations of "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star" by Mozart.

THE METHOD-AIRES sang two folk song arrangements "I Cannot Come to the Wedding" and "God Gives His People Strength and Peace". This teen-age group is composed of Dana Lannen, Mary Jo Hovey, Sharon Dunham and Sandra Grubaugh, the latter playing the guitar accompaniment.

The guests were seated at long tables individually marked by colorful corsages and decorated with attractive flower arrangements for spring. A fruit and gelatin dessert, crackers and coffee were served by Mrs. Zella Brewbaker, Mrs. Vina Smith, Mrs. Myron Tethal, Mrs. Don Richard, Mrs. Jack Hawes and Mrs. Joe Micka.

Other committees in charge were: hostesses, Mrs. Stanley Kajdas, Mrs. Harry Grenlund, Mrs. Nellie Spiegel, Mrs. Leon Williams, Mrs. Glen Horn and Mrs. Lawrence Ness; and invitations: Mrs. R. C. Parks and Mrs. C. W. Bennett.

The final meeting of the clubwomen will be May 14.

"Let's talk dry cleaning"

by Dana Antes

Attention anglers! If you're looking ahead to weekends on the water, checking your equipment and putting it in shape, don't forget those rugged outdoor clothes.

Fishing togs and other outdoor garments are usually treated to be water-repellent, wind-resistant and comfortably resilient to allow for easy freedom of action. With proper care these qualities can be preserved for the entire life of the garment. And, of course, proper care includes frequent, scientific cleaning.

There are a number of different ways in which fabrics may be treated to make them wind and water resistant and yet retain their resilience. We make it our business to keep abreast of all the new conditioning treatments that fabric and garment manufacturers are currently using, so that we can determine the correct cleaning method for any garment.

You can send us your sports togs, your casual clothes, and your formal attire with equal assurance that they will receive thorough cleaning by safe, scientific methods that will keep them looking fresh and new through countless cleanings.

Immediately following the dinner the presentation of awards took place. This year's FFA honorary degree was presented to Gerald Platte for his time and efforts spent on the FFA land lab. Foundation awards were then presented to all members earning the awards.

Vernon Thelen was selected as this year's outstanding senior. The outstanding greenhand, Mark Simon, was awarded an FFA jacket by the Westphalia Milling Co. Star Chapter Farmer honors went to Roy Simon.

DeKalb awards were then presented to the Corn Club members who competed in this year's contest by sales manager Eugene Stouffer. For their perfect scores of 100 Kevin Thelen and Dick Huhn received plaques. DeKalb pins were awarded to 11 other members for their scores over 90.

O-E youth wins Merit scholarship

OVID-ELISE — Joe M. Vostrozansky, 11426 Woodbridge Road, Bannister, has been announced as a state winner of a National Merit Scholarship.

Vostrozansky, a senior at Ovid-Elise High School, was awarded a Midland-Ross Foundation Merit Scholarship on the basis of his scholastic and extracurricular activities.

Vostrozansky ranks second scholastically in the O-E class and served as student council president this year. He has been in the National Honor Society two years and was a class officer two years. He also was in debate two years, Chess Club two years, and took part in basketball and baseball two years. He was student director in three high school plays and had the lead role in one.

In the 1965-66 school year he was class treasurer, and he was class vice president in 1966-67. He works part-time now at the Village Inn in Elsie.

He plans to attend Michigan State University and major in either physics, political science or law.

THE MIDLAND-ROSS firm which sponsored the scholarship Vostrozansky won is based at Cleveland, Ohio, and is a diversified manufacturer of consumer and capital goods, synthetic fibers and automotive, transportation and aerospace products.

National Merit Scholarships are four-year awards, financed by grants to NMSC. Winners are chosen in open competition, state by state, by a committee of skilled evaluators. Stipends range from $250 to $1,500 per year ($1,000 to $6,000 over four years), depending on the student's need to attend the college of his choice. The amounts may be adjusted whenever circumstances have changed significantly.

LeBlond receives Sousa award

By MIKE GALVACH
St. Johns High

The coveted John Philip Sousa Award was presented to Lyn LeBlond at the annual bands in review concert April 18. Also cited for her efforts this year was Kathy Pierson who received a special service award.

Both girls have been extremely active their four years in the music program. Lyn has been a member of the symphonic band as first chair French horn, she participated in the pit orchestra for musicals "Bye Bye Birdie," "Music Man" and this year's "Oklahoma," and she has been an accompanist for the Wilsonaires Wilsonettes, and solo and ensemble festivals, besides being active in her concentrated music program, Lyn was the "Strutter," the twirler in the bright red uniform who led the marching band.

Receiving a special service award was a just reward for Kathy's hard-working efforts these four years. Her list of credits includes being a flutist in the orchestra for three years and the band six years, teaching flute lessons to beginners, playing in the pit orchestra for the musicals "Music Man" and "Oklahoma," and like Lyn she has been an accompanist for solo and ensemble festivals.

THE THEME FOR the night to be remembered, the junior-senior prom, will be the "Days of Wine and Roses." The prom will take place Saturday, May 25, and suggestions have been submitted to a committee as to what the decorations will be. Some of the classes usually heavily attended by bright-eyed seniors were virtually empty last Friday, April 26, for the Science Club took its annual trip to the Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago. The chemistry and physics students who traveled on the trip left St. Johns just after the sun rose in the early morning sky and did not get back until 11:30 p.m. Some of the special exhibits in the museum which caught the students' interest were the captured German Submarine and the coal mine.

The Girl's Athletic Assn. completed their active season of basketball on Thursday, April 18. This was the night when the senior girls played the junior girls. The game ended in a complete and absolute victory for the juniors, sweeping the seniors 21-13. The club is now planning on possibly taking a weekend camping trip in the near future.

In the planning stage for next year is the formation of a Medical Careers Club under the direction of Mrs. Gertrude Buehler. This type of organization has been introduced to Rodney E. in past years but one new idea will be featured and that is the club will be open to all grades 9-12.

ISOTOX Systemic Granules

Isotox Systemic Granules is a straight systemic for soil application. Since it contains no fertilizer it can be used independently of any fertilizing program. It gives long lasting protection from sucking insects — from 6 weeks to 2 months.

SYSTEMIC INSECTICIDES TAKE CARE OF THESE NOTORIOUS TROUBLE MAKERS.

INSECTICIDE APPLIED TO THE SOIL AND WORKED IN IS ABSORBED THROUGH THE ROOTS WITH WATER AND SPREADS UPWARD WITH THE SAP STREAM.

ORTHO Systemic Rose and Flower Care

In Ortho Systemic Rose and Flower Care, the systemic di-syston is blended into a balanced (8-8-8) fertilizer. Worked into soil around the plants it gives them the food they need, and protects from sucking insects at the same time. One application will protect the plant for 6 weeks or more, moving into every leaf and flower, even the new growth that forms after the application is made.

P-W students attend citizenship conference

BY DIANE HUNN
P-W High

On April 29, 30 and May 1 a few students and one teacher attended the Citizenship Conference at Camp Kett near Cadillac. The students who attended were Julie Smith, John Fedewa, Carol George, Bill Freund, and Bill Bengel, along with Mr. Pilmore.

At the conference there were many schools from throughout Michigan. Groups for discussion were split up into smaller groups, and many topics were discussed that dealt with schools and the attitudes of students and teachers. The groups also learned about civil rights, because different students from the riot-stricken areas were present.

Various other topics were discussed throughout the three-day period, and these students have brought back to P-W a feeling of learning about the areas and schools in Michigan that do need help, and how we can improve. The FFA went to Michigan State University May 4 to compete in nine different areas of agriculture in the state spring conference.

The seniors received their announcements on May 3. Their caps and gowns have arrived also. The Junior-Senior Banquet will be held on May 15.

The Girls' Athletic Assn. has chosen its new officers for the '68-69 school year. They are as follows: president, Gail Cotter; vice-president, Colleen Schaefer; secretary, Sharon Smith; treasurer, Mary Ann Droste; and reporter, Anita Kramer.

Teachers elect officers

Paul Repath has been elected vice president of the St. Johns Educational Association. He succeeds Roger Freeman who became president recently after James Barger resigned that position.

Other officers elected include Mrs. Norma Haas, recording secretary; Etta Smith, corresponding secretary and Dick Cramer, treasurer.

REPATH WAS chosen delegate to the representative assembly, with John Theuerkauf, alternate. Bob Holzhel and Gwen Walker were named regional delegates. Mrs. Marjorie Phillips was elected classroom teacher representative.

The group amended its constitution so contracts with the St. Johns School Board may be ratified with a simple majority of the membership.

The group will hold a smorgas-borg May 19 at St. Joseph's Catholic School Hall at 5 p.m. for members and families.

A novel approach

Girl track managers keep athletes running harder

By MIKE GALVACH
News Staff Writer

Track Managers Wanted! This plea was published in the Wilson Torch at Rodney B. Wilson High School on the eve of the track season, but with one stipulation — girl managers were preferred.

Immediately five girls, perhaps somewhat apprehensive, offered their services to head track Coach Frank Rosengren. Seniors Dottie Jenkins, Diana Jones, and Cindy Myers (exchange student), and sophomores Marcia Galvach and Jamie Barger applied for the job.

Why would a girl take an interest in such an endeavor? Track manager Diana Jones stated that since her brothers were involved in the sport and she had some free time after school, the decision wasn't hard. "We all like what we are doing," was the general consensus of the girls. "It's fun to watch young trackmen develop and progress as the season wears on."

The trackmen's point of view — besides that of being pleasantly surprised — is that they find the girl managers quite a novelty. One additional school of thought expressed by one fellow is that he feels the guys may try a little bit harder to do a better job rather than suffer any humiliation in front of feminine eyes.

THE DUTIES OF the female manager entails numerous jobs but the one of greatest importance is recording data for the coaches. At practice sessions the track team usually will divide up into smaller groups, each group with a manager and a stop watch. The girls record the times run by each trackman on data sheets, thus providing a way of checking to see if any progress or decrease in the time is being made after running the specific distance.

After the practice sessions, manager Diana Jones collects all the data sheets and figures out each trackman's average time.

During the meets the girls, after traveling right along on the same bus, will record the unofficial times of the St. Johns' trackmen, thus providing information to see if the times are decreasing at the meets.

Do the coaches seem satisfied with the results of the managers? Yes, for according to Coach Rosengren, the girls not only help cheer the guys on but play an important part in providing valuable information to aid the coaches in producing winning teams.

With new trends being what they are, maybe this sort of thing will catch on!

THE RESULTS of the general election for school and class officers were revealed Thursday, May 2. After several candidates requested recounts because of the close results, the election committee finally submitted the following results: President of the student council, Bob Newman; vice-president Judy Whitlock; next year's senior class officers; president Dick Henderson, vice-president Dave Feldpausch, secretary Carol Morris, treasurer Lexa Swatman, student council representatives Mike Lewis, Dick Vitek,

Even a married woman is entitled to her own private affairs.

Once the phone rings for the lady of the house, it works like Pavlov's bell. The whole gang (including the dog) decides they're hungry. They swarm around the kitchen noisily feeding their canine appetites while they're wetting their appetites for gossip, and that's the end of mother's privacy.

Even if you don't go for the idea of not being in on Mom's conversations, she's still got a right to say what she wants without a clammering, chomping audience around.

Make a special sacrifice for Mother's Day. Give up on eavesdropping forever and get her an extension phone for the bedroom. Far away from the kitchen. And far away from the kiddies.

One call to your General Telephone business office takes care of the whole thing. We play up the gift idea by sending out a miniature toy phone with a gift card first. Just to let her know the real phone is on its way.

Leaving her to her own private affairs can make her feel like that old, used-to-be, single, independent self again.

That's something every mother needs. Even if it's only for a couple of minutes a day.

Give her an extension phone for Mother's Day. General Telephone

Dr. Wohlers at Literary Club meet

A Mother's Day remembrance for the Woman's Literary Club members and their guests Tuesday evening was the annual party in honor of their mothers and other older women of the community in the Methodist Fellowship Hall.

Using colored pictures, Dr. R. L. Wohlers of St. Johns narrated "A Mission to Panama" in which he participated with a group of four medical personnel in December 1966.

The group flew by way of Miami, Fla., to the Panama Canal Zone and from there to the San Blas Islands where they administered to the medical needs of the natives at the mission school that also doubled as the church.

DR. WOHLERS TOLD of his experiences as a dentist for the Indians who came in small dugouts from surrounding areas.

Later the medical group went by small boats from island to island to care for those unable to travel far from the banana plantations and jungles. The scenery was beautiful, he said, but the project was a satisfying and gratifying experience which they will never forget.

Dr. Wohler displayed several moments of his mission in Panama and answered many questions from the guests.

The program opened by WLC president Mrs. Durward Conklin extending greetings to the mothers. Mrs. Gordon Showers and Mrs. Merle Green were program chairmen.

Mrs. Zella Brewbaker, local piano instructor played the many variations of "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star" by Mozart.

THE METHOD-AIRES sang two folk song arrangements "I Cannot Come to the Wedding" and "God Gives His People Strength and Peace". This teen-age group is composed of Dana Lannen, Mary Jo Hovey, Sharon Dunham and Sandra Grubbaugh, the latter playing the guitar accompaniment.

The guests were seated at long tables individually marked by colorful corsages and decorated with attractive flower arrangements for spring. A fruit and gelatin dessert, crackers and coffee were served by Mrs. Zella Brewbaker, Mrs. Vina Smith, Mrs. Myron Tetthal, Mrs. Don Richard, Mrs. Jack Hawes and Mrs. Joe Micka.

Other committees in charge were: hostesses, Mrs. Stanley Kajdas, Mrs. Harry Grenlund, Mrs. Nellie Spiegel, Mrs. Leon Williams, Mrs. Glen Horn and Mrs. Lawrence Ness; and invitations: Mrs. R. C. Parks and Mrs. G. W. Bennett.

The final meeting of the clubwomen will be May 14.

Mr. and Mrs. John Babula and daughter Kathy of Grand Rapids were Saturday callers and Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Fritz and family of Mount Pleasant were Thursday, April 25, and Wednesday, May 1, callers at the Ernie Fritz home. Their father, Mr. Fritz, is home from Sparrow Hospital following a fall in which he fractured both wrists. His arms and hands will remain in casts for six weeks.

2 hurt in US-27 crash

Two persons were injured in a two-car crash Wednesday morning on US-27 about one mile south of St. Johns. Cars driven by Glenn Davis, 74, of Centerline Road and Terry Ordway, 21, of 404 W. Gibbs Street collided. Both cars were traveling north.

Sheriff's officers said the Ordway car went out of control after the crash and struck the front porch of a home owned by Mr. and Mrs. Leo Pouch.

Davis and Ordway were treated for cuts and bruises.

Harvest alfalfa early, increase milk production

Early cut alfalfa can be worth a dollar a day per cow in extra milk production, according to Michigan State University research.

An MSU study of 25 central Michigan dairy operations showed that cows produced 87 pounds of milk per day when fed alfalfa harvested May 25 — 23 pounds more than cows fed alfalfa harvested June 20. So cutting alfalfa early — before June 10 — can earn a dollar a day per cow in milk production more than a late-cut crop.

Nutritive value increased with a 10 per cent reduction in leaf loss for early harvested alfalfa, according to MSU dairy specialists. Early harvesting, reduced rain damage and proper harvesting methods help to keep leaf loss at a minimum.

Expenses can be cut by feeding early harvested alfalfa haylage.

It would cost $10 per ton of hay to replenish the energy and protein value lost from a ton of hay by delaying harvesting 20 days, MSU dairy authorities say.

Anyone with heart disease, or a suspected condition, should see his physician before undertaking prolonged or strenuous exercise, such as a spring clean-up, the Michigan Heart Assn. cautions.

Farmers vote 'Yes' on bargaining

Nearly nine out of 10 farmers voting in a nationwide poll conducted by Farm Journal magazine over the last 40 days believe that they should join farm bargaining associations to obtain better prices from processors and buyers.

Nine out of 10 also want Congress to create a legislative climate that would allow farmers to use bargaining power on their own behalf.

Nearly 70 per cent of those voting favored holding farm products off the market to try to win higher prices and get processors to sign long-term contracts.

More than 60 per cent opposed a plan whereby the government would certify farm bargaining associations and require the processors and handlers to bargain with them. And 67 per cent voted against having farm prices and production determined by a government board made up of farm, processor, and consumer representatives.

Nearly eight out of 10 opposed the present law which authorizes the secretary of agriculture to void farm bargaining agreements if the government feels that they unduly enhance prices.

THESE RESULTS WERE revealed this week in the May issue of Farm Journal. The magazine printed a list of 19 farm bargaining choices in its March issue. By last week, more than 12,500 readers responded—the vote reported in the May issue is based on 5,000 representative returns from active farmers and the results computed in proportion to Farm Journal's circulation in each of its six regional editorial editions.

Results printed in the magazine are shown by differences in age, income, region, and membership in the four major farm organizations; Farm Bureau, Farmer's Union, Grange, and National Farmers Organization.

Farm Journal claims that this is the largest survey ever undertaken on the nationwide sentiment of farmers toward farm bargaining. The magazine also stated that the results are highly indicative of how farmers, in general, feel. However, individual findings cannot be taken as precise measurements as some readers may have voted because of strong feelings for or against certain of the 19 bargaining choices listed. But because several of the choices were favored or opposed so overwhelmingly by all those voting, there can be little question where farmers, in general, stand on major bargaining options.

The magazine also added that they were surprised at the size of the response. Experienced staff members anticipated anywhere from a few hundred to possibly four or five thousand replies.

In an editorial in the same May issue, the magazine said that it interpreted the survey results to mean that the nation's farmers favored bargaining that included seven procedures:

- 1) Programs would be farmer inspired instead of arising from political compromises in Congress.
- 2) Plans would be flexible so that if a program failed farmers could vote it out quickly.
- 3) Farm prices and income would come from the market; farmers would rely less on direct payments from the government.
- 4) Farmers would elect their own commodity representatives to run their programs.
- 5) Farmers, instead of the government would decide how much freedom they would give up for the gain they hope to achieve.
- 6) Program choices that farmers would vote on would be more realistic than typical government-held referendums in the past.
- 7) Farm pricing would be an exciting, fast-moving affair with commodities vying with each other to see who could come up with the best program.

The editorial concluded by saying, "We hope that official Washington will take the cue. Politicians have long despaired that farm programs are nothing but trouble; and they have complained that farmers never 'get together.' Well, here's a chance to let farmers wrestle with their own problems. That's what farmers want—and they are remarkably together, regardless of farm organization membership, commodity, age, income or section."

Results of the survey are being distributed to members of Congress, farm organization leaders, and all presidential candidates.

Corn harvest plans start with planting

Corn planting time is not too early to make plans for harvesting, conditioning, and storing the crop.

C. Ray Hoglund, agricultural economist, and Robert Maddex, agricultural engineer at Michigan State University, say the revolution taking place in corn harvesting methods can cause grain growers harvest headaches if they do not prepare in advance.

The shift from the one- and two-row pickers to the large field shellers or combines leaves farmers with thousands of bushels of wet corn that must be dried before it can be successfully stored.

There are several alternatives. One is hauling it to the elevator and taking a discount based on moisture and possibly waiting in line for hours to unload. Another possibility is a farm drying unit. If the corn is to be fed to livestock on the farm, silos can be used to store high-moisture corn.

HOGGLUND SAYS farmers with less than 5,000 bushels of corn to dry seldom find it profitable to invest in corn drying equipment. Per bushel operating costs, to say nothing of initial investment, run much higher for the small system than one in use for a longer period of time.

Each of the several systems—in-storage drying, batch-in-bin drying, portable bags, continuous flow—all have their merits. Maddex suggests that farmers considering any of these drying systems get complete information before making a decision.

Also to be considered are changes in planting equipment which may affect the type of machine needed to harvest the corn crop. A change in row width affects both types of equipment.

Time spent with pencil, paper and the facts can soon give the farmer the best answer to corn drying and storage problems ahead, contend Hoglund and Maddex.

Fowler youth wins Farm Bureau stipend

FOWLER—Kenneth L. Koenigs-knecht, 20, of R-2 Fowler, is winner of the 1968 Marge Karker Farm Bureau Women's scholarship. Announcement of his selection was made by Mrs Jerold Topliff of Eaton Rapids, state Women's chairman.

The Clinton County youth plans to enter Michigan State University next fall, as a junior, to major in farm marketing management or in animal husbandry.

He is the second oldest in a family of six boys and two girls, children of Mrs Viola Koenigs-knecht and the late Julius Koenigs-knecht. Since their father's death two years ago, the sons have operated the 289-acre farm, with their mother serving as farm manager and records-keeper.

Present farm operations include a beef cattle herd averaging 120 steers, with hillable acreage devoted primarily to feed corn.

A 1966 GRADUATE of Fowler high school, Koenigs-knecht is now completing his second year of basic studies at Lansing Community college. He has commuted to classes daily in order to help with the farm operations. During summers he also works part-time in an auto factory to supplement his income for college.

His older brother, Richard, will be graduated from Michigan State this spring as a pre-law student and hopes to enter law school in the fall. Another brother, David, who graduated from high school in 1967, is completing his freshman year at Lansing Community College in a metal working apprenticeship, combining a work-study program.

Two sisters, Karen and Irene, are active in 4-H work while attending school in Fowler. Three younger brothers, all in grade school, are Alvin, Mark and Julius.

Deadline on soybean, corn insurance near

Earl Wilson, state director of Federal Crop Insurance, announced that May 10 is the final date for farmers to make application for protection on corn and soybeans for 1968. A closing date for applications is necessary because protection attaches to an insured crop at the time it is planted.

It is estimated by the U.S. Geological Survey that the rivers and streams flowing from the United States alone discharge 225 million tons of dissolved solids and 513 million tons of suspended sediment annually into the seas.

ASC PROGRAM

No soybean substitutions for feed grain price support

W. M. SMITH
County ASC Manager

I want to remind soybean producers that they cannot substitute soybeans for feed grain this year and earn price support payments under the feed grain program.

This change from the 1967 program reflects the prospective soybean supply situation. Two successive record soybean crops in 1966 and 1967 have resulted in adequate supplies of soybeans. Indications are that soybean acreage in 1968 will be sufficient to assure continuation of adequate supplies through the 1968 crop marketing year without encouraging soybean plantings on that portion of the acreage on which feed grain price support payments are made.

As of Nov. 30, 1967, the Commodity Credit Corp.'s investment in soybeans totaled a little over $333 million on nearly 137 million bushels. This exceeds the investment on Nov. 30, 1966, which was nearly $225 million or a little less than 91 million bushels.

THERE HAS BEEN a steady increase in production the last 25 years. In 1942, 187.5 million bushels were produced and in 1967, 972.7 million bushels were produced.

While soybean producers have increased their acreage each year it has been hard for them to increase the yield per acre. Fertilization continues to be a great challenge in the quest for higher yields. At low fertility levels, soybeans respond similarly to corn and other crops. However, at high fertility levels, other factors seem to set the yield ceiling. Present varieties do not show great differences in their response to fertility. A lot of research will have to be done to find what factors are holding yield down.

Farmers are doing a better job of managing their land and labor resulting in some increased yields. Almost half our 30 soybean producing states made or equaled record yields in 1967. The United States average was nine-tenths of a bushel less per acre than the high of 25.4 bushels set in 1966. Out of the first nine ranking states in production in 1967, only Illinois made a record. The top nine states account for 80 per cent of the United States production.

Our county has been increasing its acreage of soybeans. In 1964 we harvested about 15,400 acres, in 1966 about 27,000 acres. The average yield dropped in that period from nearly 24 bushels per acre to a little over 20 bushels per acre.

IN 1967 SOYBEANS ranked third in total value of production among United States crops. Farm value of both the 1966 and 1967 soybean crops is estimated at around $2.5 billion compared with around $1 billion in the late 1950's. Soybeans achieved the title of No. 1 dollar earner among United States agricultural exports with the 1965 crop, and the 1967 crop is expected to retain that position. Exports of soybeans and soybean products are expected to exceed $1 billion in fiscal 1968.

The 1968 crop national average support price for soybeans is $2.50 per bushel, the same level as for 1966 and 1967.

There are no acreage allotment or acreage controls for soybeans.

We hope soybean producers have a good fall to harvest their beans, as many were unable to harvest their beans last year due to the wet weather.

EDITORIAL PAGE

The time has come . . .

"The time has come," the walrus said, "To think of many things."

This excerpt from Lewis Carroll's "The Walrus and the Carpenter" could be pertinent to the city and the people of St. Johns. For, it seems we have digressed to large groups of "leave it to the other fellow", "what's in it for me?" or "it's their fault, let them remedy the situation" factions.

IN ALL PROBABILITY, these groups think or believe the way they do because of a grudge or personal prejudice against an individual or group of individuals.

For the past few weeks, there have been a couple of groups who have tried to set aside any prejudice and begin uniting the people of St. Johns into a coordinated group working for the betterment of the community.

IN TALKING WITH THESE people we find that their biggest problem is from those with a grudge, a prejudice or there's nothing in it for me attitude. Actually, grudges, prejudices or what's in it for me attitudes are some of the things that we encounter everyday, but we have yet to see where attitudes such as these have ever benefited a business or a community.

Overall, the people of St. Johns are not unlike people anywhere else. They are hard working, industrious people who wish to make a decent living and reside in a community they can be proud of, yet, we seem to keep from doing this by letting grudges and prejudices interfere with what we all know is best for the community and its future. We seem to have discontent because we do not all agree on the same ideas on how to make this a better community. Yet, to all agree on the same idea is contrary to our American way of life.

THE PEOPLE OF St. Johns do not need unity on any one idea. We need all the ideas that can be thought of. What we need is unity in spirit. The spirit to make our community a better place in which to live. A thousand ideas with one spirit, the spirit to improve our community no matter what, this is our greatest need.

Until we forget our grudges and prejudices, and unite in one spirit, and only until then, will we begin to bring back to our city the pride and community togetherness needed to improve not only our community, but the relations between individuals.

PERSONAL PREJUDICE AND grudges against a man or his ideas are what can, and will, hold back any project. When we can override our grudges and prejudices, incorporate the many ideas, and unite in a community spirit to make this community a better community, then and only then, will we accomplish the thing we believe we all want; a place to live, work, and do business in.

As Carroll's quotation goes, "The time has come," so has the time come for the people of the city of St. Johns. It's time to unite in one spirit, to forget grudges and prejudices, to incorporate the many good ideas into one main-line of thought. Let's make St. Johns the type of city of which we can live in with pride.

It's unfair . . . and we all know it

Those of us who well remember the citizen-participation in the dreaded World War II . . . stand amazed at our own reactions toward the bloody Viet Nam conflict.

We stand amazed at our own apathy toward the daily deaths of American boys . . . the futile attempts to confine those deaths to an area hardly the size of our own state . . . the unconcern of all but parents and close relatives of the boys who lay down their lives.

We deny ourselves nothing . . . sacrifice in no manner . . . participate with our fighting men in no way.

A little memory-searching brings back recollections of the midnight vigils by "plane spotters", volunteers all, back in the mid-40's. It reminds us of the WW II days when each American housewife proudly crushed every tin can, and monthly delivered the metal to a local depot. Back come the memories of gas and food rationing, tire priorities, travel curbs . . . individual, day-to-day participation by every American in a bloody war to preserve freedom.

How different today. We worry not about self-denial, but how to scrape up the down payment to a new appliance . . . not about doing our part, but how to plan the Saturday night party . . . not about the distant neighbor boy's life, but about making a more pleasure-filled day for our own.

Until each free citizen participates fully and wholly, the battle for world freedom will not be won in Viet Nam . . . any more than the hollow truce meant victory in Korea.

Somehow, it's unfair . . . and we all know it.

A couple of news stories floated across our desk the other day, and we thought they might interest avid television fans.

SOMEWHERE AT SEA — The USS Seaview is bound for her home port after its first uneventful cruise since the giant, futuristic submarine was commissioned some years ago.

Admiral Nelson and Capt. Lee Crane frankly admitted they were baffled by the quietness of the cruise and expressed some concern that the mission of the Seaview might be phased out if there develops no new crises on the next voyage to the bottom of the sea.

What makes the cruise all the more newsworthy was the presence on board of a group of eight scientists from several free nations of the world, and not one of them turned out to be a weirdo or an alien from outer space.

THE VOYAGE WENT so smooth, in fact, that several of the crew reported experiences of motionless-sickness caused by lack of pitching and rolling during weekly crises.

Only two minor incidents were reported. Chief Sharky forgot to fasten his seat belt and suffered a nasty crack on the head when he hit the windshield of the flying sub as it dove into the water following a pleasure flight to the Hawaiian Islands.

And just before leaving their station to return to port, the Seaview crew had to jettison several tons of extra wiring in order to gain sufficient buoyancy to surface. Usually, Capt. Crane explained, the wiring is needed to repair circuitry that pops and explodes during emergencies aboard the Seaview. There just was no instance of that on this voyage, he said.

NEW YORK — The secretary of the Impossible Missions Force in Washington has disavowed any knowledge of a purported attempt by members of his organization to overthrow a smuggling ring working secretly on the New York waterfront.

The denial came after a published newspaper story and picture in a New York paper showing Phelps, Cinnamon, Barney, Rollin and Willie tied up in a Brooklyn hotel room. The story and pictures had been sent to the newspaper in a take-off on the "Bonnie and Clyde" publicity attempt by the daring smugglers.

The story, apparently extracted from Phelps with use of truth serum, told of an almost complete botching of their assignment by the usually thorough and precise team.

The "impossible mission" was bad luck from the very start. It seems Phelps suffered a bad burn on the hand when the tape recorder he was listening to self-destructed before the message was completed, and the resulting fire burned up accompanying photographs.

With such a bad start, Phelps and his IMF force had only the faintest ideas of what they were trying to do. Rollin got mixed up and tried to impersonate a smuggler using J. Edgar Hoover's voice; Barney wired up an elevator wrong and when he tested it the thing short-circuited and plunged two floors, spraining his ankle and alerting the smugglers; and Willie couldn't lift a suitcase of precious gems and lost his balance, falling down a stairwell where he was subdued by the smugglers; and Cinnamon was recognized by one of the smugglers who had seen her on a Sunday "late-evening suspense show."

The IMF secretary, in disavowing any knowledge of the activities, said reruns will be mandatory now until the IMF can get this thing straightened out. —rink

Consumer protection from fraud handled in Lansing

BY ELMER E. WHITE
Michigan Press Assn.

Victims of con-men and shady business operations will find the consumer protection division of the attorney general's office anxious to learn of the swindle. There is a good chance that the victim's money may be returned in the process of investigation.

The division is staffed by two attorneys, an accountant, a field investigator, and clerical personnel. Its sole responsibility is to fight the "fast buck" operator. Working closely with local prosecutors, the office acts upon complaints of citizens who feel they were "taken" by a fraudulent scheme or a questionable business practice.

Unsuspecting consumers may be defrauded in any number of ways, and new rackets spring up as old ones are eliminated. Some involve only a few dollars while others run into thousands. Most, but not all, use a "something for nothing" appeal to entice the consumer. Older people, many on fixed incomes, are especially vulnerable to the con games.

ATTY GEN FRANK Kelley points out that most retailers are honest and ethical. They make every effort to keep customers satisfied and adjust complaints. Respectable businessmen are also concerned with shady operators, and realize that the unsatisfactory performance of one company may injure an entire industry.

One such racket involves a "free aluminum siding" offer. The homeowner is approached by a well-dressed man, usually driving an expensive car, and told that his house has been selected for "advertising purposes."

The homeowner need only sign four papers: a credit check to make sure the individual is "respectable" enough to merit the offer; an authorization to let the company show the outside of the home to future prospects; an agreement to bind any new owners of the home, if sold within 60 months, to the show-authorization, and a final paper which ways the homeowner is satisfied with the deal and "appreciates" the offer. The papers are cleverly folded and stapled. The only paper which is as represented is the top sheet applying for a credit check. The other three: a mortgage, a promissory note and a "completion form" which specifies that the work is satisfactory. Once the papers are signed, the "official" immediately sells the mortgage to a finance company. Workmen arrive to install the siding the next morning, and within a few days the homeowner finds he is in debt at a cost much higher than a reputable firm might have charged.

TAKE A DAY TO THINK about the offer before accepting it, the attorney general suggests. Most confidence men pressure their victims into signing something "right now" before they have the chance to think and check out the offer.

There are many sources which consumers may use to verify the reputation of a company: chambers of commerce, better business bureaus, city hall, local prosecutors, even friends and neighbors. The consumer division will check their files for consumer complaints.

Consumers who feel they were victimized are urged to call the attorney general so the complaint can be investigated. Often, a single letter from the division will bring a satisfactory conclusion. Sometimes court action is necessary.

A SAFE CAR WILL probably be built, according to Chrysler Corp's chief engineer, Roy C. Haessler, if what is meant by "safe" is a car in which no one will be injured to any degree in any collision, rollover or accident.

However, cars are being designed which are "more forgiving" of driver error, he said. "If better car design still does not enable avoidance of the inattentive or drunk driver who... crosses the center line into opposing traffic, then better design may reduce the seriousness of the injury in the ensuing accident."

Safety is a relative condition, he noted, and many of the most elaborate safety devices are of little value unless the occupants of the car use them. Some safety features, such as interior padding, safety glass, and energy-absorbing steering columns do not require driver or passenger cooperation. Others do.

Haessler suggests a six-point check before putting the automobile in gear: adjust the driver's seat, lock doors, adjust inside and outside mirrors, check instruments and controls, fasten seat belts, and check for pedestrians.

Hanus writes again on farm problem

Dear Editor:

In 1966 a farmer with a feed grain base of 60 acres, with an average yield of 83 bushels could divert 50 per cent of his base. Twenty per cent of this, or 12 acres, would have received no payment. The additional acres diverted, or 18 acres, would have received the high rate of diversion payment of $55.19 per acre. Diversion payment would have been $993.42. He would have been eligible for price support on 30 acres at $24.90 per acre making a payment of $747. The total payment for 1966 would have been permitted to plant 30 acres of corn.

A new restaurant, the Tacoma, opened for business Wednesday in St. Johns. Located at the head of Clinton Avenue on the east side of the street, it is owned and operated by Mike Lianos, formerly of Lansing.

The annual meeting of Clinton Memorial Hospital was held Wednesday evening of this week at the nurses' residence. Reports showed that the year 1942 was the largest from the standpoint of patients admitted, number of babies born, gross receipts and also gross expenditures.

Rev W. R. Catton, pastor of the Congregational Church in St. Johns, informed the board of trustees of that church Sunday that he soon expects to join the U.S. Navy, having received correspondence indicating that he would soon be accepted. Rev Catton expects to serve as a reserve chaplain with the rank of Lieutenant senior grade.

bushel for 1967 will receive payment of price support only. Thirty cents per bushel times average yield of 82 bushel would make a price support payment of $24.60 per acre. This payment would be made on 50 per cent of the base or 30 acres x $24.60 equals $738.00. Twenty per cent diversion, or 12 acres would be required to earn the price support payment. There would be no payment for the diversion of the 12 acres and the total payment would be the $738 for price support.

The total loss to this Gratiot farmer in 1967 in feed grain was 48 acres that the farmer was forced to raise because of no diversion on the large acreage. Multiply 48 acres by 82 bushels times 46 cents, the difference between the price of corn in 1966 of $1.20 a bushel and 74 cents a bushel that the farmer received in 1967 is 3,936 bushels times 46 cents equals $2,361.60, plus the difference of $1,002.40 lost in diversion payments equals $3,364.00 because we lost money on corn that produced 100 bushels per acre when expenses were paid in 1967.

$3,364.00 - $1,740.40 equals the amount of $1,596.00 loss in 1967 on this acreage.

This is a radical change in the farm picture from the Kennedy administration as to the Johnson destruction of agriculture.

from the HOPPER

By Steven Hopko

For the past year or so, the nation has been swinging to and fro as the men in Washington tried to decide on whether or not the people of the United States should be hit with a tax increase. When this tax increase was first proposed by the President it was to be a six percent surtax. As the haggling over the tax ebbed and flowed in Congress, the amount of the tax increased to ten per cent.

CONGRESS ASKED THAT a spending cut be made by the President before they would pass the tax. The President countered that Congress was blackmailing to prevent action on the tax increase.

Analysts and economists stated that a tax increase was necessary for economic stability in the face of the balance of payment problems. So it continues, but, if you're betting against a tax increase, you had better have your money ready and waiting. It will come, if it hasn't by the time this hits the printers.

CONGRESS HAD ASKED that the budget be cut by four billion dollars before they would consider the tax increase. In federal money talk, four billion is a drop in the bucket, whether it be eaten or galvanized. Actually it wouldn't be hard to whack four billion off the budget. All they would have to do is to do what they are asking the people to do. Conserve your spending.

WHERE CONGRESS might look to see where they might be over-spending is their own backyard. Re — the defense department. It seems that the defense department asked for a bid on 240,000 M16 rifles. Three bids were received. General Motors bid $56 million, Harrington and Richards bid $42 million and the Maremont Co. bid $36 million. Harrington and Richardson and Maremont certified by the Pentagon as being technically capable of M16 production for Viet Nam, while General Motors was termed as having only a potential for the job.

WITH THE BIDS and the Pentagon certifications it would seem to be a simple matter of awarding the contracts to produce the rifle and conserve our dollars. But, you guessed it, it didn't work out that way.

The contract was split between GM and Harrington and Richardson. GM will produce 120,000 M16 at a cost of $31 million. Harrington and Richardson will produce the other 120,000 at a cost of $24 million. Total cost for the 240,000 M16 split as it was will total $55 million dollars. This is $18 million more than Maremont Co. bid for the whole works. Actually, Maremonts bid for the 240,000 was only $5 million more than what the defense department will pay for GM making only 120,000 rifles.

Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota stated that Colt Industries, which still produce the M16 under the original Pentagon contract, turns out the rifle for $104 each. The Harrington and Richardson version will cost $250 each, and the GM price is $316. Maremont Co. which was not even in the running would have produced the rifle for $150 each.

Of course, if four billion is a drop in the bucket, the 18 million that could have been saved on this bidding is an even smaller drop. But, as everyone knows you have to start somewhere when you try to conserve money and to me an 18 million start on four billion is quite a start.

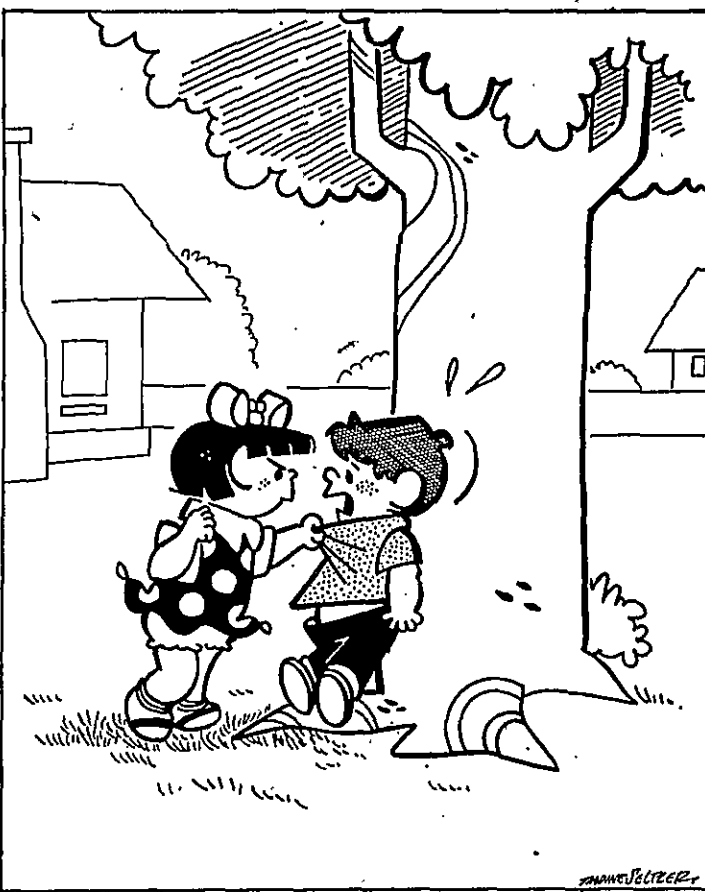

WWI vets to roll call

A National Roll Call for all Veterans of World War I, commemorating its Golden anniversary has been requested, according to Coral Hammond, Commander of Lansing Barracks #235, Veterans of World War I. The purpose of the Roll Call is to compile a complete listing of all veterans and widows of World War I Veterans still living in the Clinton County area.

Many veterans, and widows of veterans, are not aware of the many benefits they are eligible to receive, because of the number of changes being made in veterans' legislation. These benefits may include: Veteran's pension, widow's pension, hospitalization, rest home care, and others. There are approximately two million World War I Veterans still living. Many of the benefits apply to all veterans.

World War I Veterans, are asked to send their name, address, age, branch of service, and marital status. Widows of World War I Veterans are asked to send husband's name and service record to Coral M. Hammond, Commander, 324 Dunlap St., Lansing, Michigan. 48910.

Schults speaks at Ovid-Elsie

Robert Schults, candidate for State Representative of the 87th district spoke recently to the Ovid-Elsie Teachers Association. In his remarks, Schults stated, "real estate and personal property have been taxed to the limit and additional taxation for School operation on either the state or local level is not the answer for additional educational financing." "Possibly," he continued, "a certain percentage of the state income tax could be set aside or earmarked for local school operation. As an example," he cited, "the possibility of earmarking one-half of one percent of the estimated 1968 state income tax for education would result in an approximately $56,000,000. If this solution could be utilized," he said, "these funds could be diverted to the local districts for their express use in educational purposes."

"Strong words alone do not make meaningful policy," he said, "They must be backed by both a will and a means that are equally strong. Thus a collection of statements cannot convey their true perspective unless they are realized and qualified by a positive course of action." Stating the solution he offered was not a complete answer, he felt it is a start in the right direction of positive action.

The "Low Down"

From the Congressional Record
By Joe Crump

"Truth-in-car-sales" legislation proposed

Prospects are prone to suspect the speedometer reading on a used car. Technically, they are referring to the odometer reading, the mechanism that records the number of miles traveled to date.

Senator William Proxmire (Wis.) would do something about a situation where caveat emptor (Let the buyer beware) is all too common in the sale of used cars and trucks. He placed this information in the Record. "Last spring I introduced proposed legislation providing that motor vehicles sold or shipped in interstate commerce be equipped with tamperproof odometers to insure the buyers of used cars that the auto mileage that was recorded on a given car's odometer was accurate."

There is no doubt in my mind that much of the uncertainty confronting the used car buyer would be removed if he could rely on the mileage shown on a car's odometer as being absolutely accurate. In view of the current vogue for "truth bills," we might call this a "truth-in-car-sales" proposal.

"SIMILAR PROPOSALS have been passed on the state and local levels, and just recently a resolution endorsing my bill, S. 1621, as approved by the New York State Automobile Dealers, Inc., came to my attention. This group pointed out, with sound reasoning, in my estimation, that state and local laws and regulations will simply result in a welter of different approaches to a problem that is national in scope. "I ask unanimous consent that the resolution be printed in the Record." (The condensed resolution follows):

Whereas, there seems to be a growing trend in local legislative bodies and by certain local administrators to consider laws or regulations regarding odometers either by new legislation or under powers previously granted in prior legislation and

Whereas, a number of other states and local associations in addition to NADA later adopted the same or similar resolutions with no apparent success, and

Whereas, United States Senator Proxmire of Wisconsin has introduced a bill S.1621 in the 90th Congress which provides that motor vehicles shipped in interstate commerce shall be equipped with tamper-proof odometers.

Now therefore be it resolved, that the New York State Automobile Dealers, Inc., endorse and support Sen. Proxmire's aforesaid bill, S.1621, and urge that NADA (National Automobile Dealers Assn. support and take the necessary steps to help secure passage of this bill into law, thereby making it unnecessary for local and state legislative or governing bodies or officials to be concerned with odometers or laws, ordinances or regulations pertaining thereto. *

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT
A resolution adopted by the NADA, or a local organization, has its merits, but the introduction of Senate Bill S.1621 is something else again.

Reputable automobile agencies and used car dealers welcome legislation that will protect their reputation for honest dealing. The fly-by-night used car dealer, and in some cases the individuals who place used cars for sale on gas station driveways, will frown on tamper proof odometers.

Here is an opportunity for the National Automobile Dealers Assn. lobby in Washington, to get behind a "truth-in-car-sales" proposal.—J.C.

Estate settlement money

$5,500 from Methodists here to aid Honduras school

A check for $5,500 from the congregation of St. Johns First Methodist Church to the Michigan Partners of the Alliance for Progress will go a long way toward closing the gap between the rich nations and the poor.

The cash gift, presented at the Partners' annual meeting last week, will in fact finance a large share of the cost of a new school building in Belize, British Honduras.

Rev Harold Homer, pastor of the First Methodist, presented his congregation's gift, and the Partners will send it on to the Wesley School.

BRITISH HONDURAS is Michigan's partner country in Central America, adopted two years ago to provide assistance of all kinds on a people-to-people basis.

Since then, Michigan citizens and organizations have been contributing both time and money to the development of this soon-to-be independent nation of 112,000 people.

Rev Mr Homer is no exception. And he blames—or credits—another St. Johns resident, Dr Eugene Friesen, of R-4, St. Johns for suggesting where the money could go. It came to First Methodist from an estate settlement.

Dr Friesen traveled to Belize in January with six other Michigan citizens to conduct a conference on "teaching the handicapped" for 800 elementary and secondary teachers there.

Enchanted with both the people and the potential of this sun-baked Caribbean coast land, he invited the pastor over for a slide show.

Rev Mr Homer says he couldn't help thinking how much good the money could do in Belize. A shortage of teachers, overcrowding and lack of equipment exist in almost every school.

Projectors and globes are almost nonexistent and library shelves nearly bare.

When presented with the idea, Rev Mr Homer's congregation voted to add another $500. Their gift will finance more than half the cost of constructing a new school building at the Wesley School.

Dr Friesen himself is now more involved than ever in the Partners. His enthusiasm rubbed off on colleagues at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Battle Creek where he serves as a psychologist.

WITH FEDERAL approval, the hospital adopted the Mental Hospital in Belize and will launch its program of assistance by sending a team of six staff specialists, including Dr Friesen, for a visit this month. They depart May 18.

Traveling with them will be the man who originally lit the spark of service, Dr John Jordan, a Michigan State University professor of Special Education.

Dr Jordan is chairman of the Michigan Partners subcommittee on special education and rehabilitation. He planned the workshops at the Belize Teacher Conference in January and recruited Dr Friesen for his team.

It was Dr Jordan's evaluation of special education needs in British Honduras that effected a major reform there.

Following his report, the government decided to appropriate funds for a school for mentally retarded children, the first facility of its kind in the entire country.

In the area of education, Michigan citizens have raised funds for 12 scholarships to Michigan universities, and next fall seven new ones will be awarded—five to two-year community colleges.

British Honduras has complete internal independence but Great Britain still manages its defense and foreign affairs. Total independence is anticipated in the near future, and the country will probably be known as Belize.
