School board joyous over bid prices

See quick start on high school construction

Public ground-breaking ceremonies for the new $3,376,542 St. Johns High School have been set for next Wednesday, May 17, at 1 p.m. On hand at the site off Sickies Street near the city park will be representatives of the architect and contractors plus the school board, school administration and the high school student council representing the student body.

Ground breaking and the start of construction on the new $3,376,542 St. Johns High School may come within the week.

A quick start was anticipated following approval of low bids by a smiling school board last Wednesday evening. The low bids were so good, in fact, the board was able to include a number of alternate features in the construction.

The general contracting job was awarded to Clark Construction Co., Inc. of Lansing on their base bid of $2,147,849 plus accepted alternates of $66,010 ($2,213,859 total). They were some $41,000 under the next lowest base bidder, Granger Construction Co.

The plumbing, heating and ventilating contract was awarded to the Andy J. Egan Co., Inc., of Grand Rapids on a base bid of $816,480 plus accepted alternates of $20,300 ($836,780 total).

THE ELECTRICAL contract was won by Glover Electric Co. of Fowlerville on a base bid of $298,000 plus accepted alternates of $27,873 ($325,873 total).

The total construction cost of $3,376,542 works out to $18.65 per square foot for the 181,000 square foot building, just about on the button for what architect Guido Binda and Associates of Battle Creek had figured.

The school board's smiles and the jovial atmosphere that enveloped their meeting after the bid opening reflected their feelings about the prices. They had feared the bids might come in higher than planned, as did the elementary school bids.

The overall cost of the high school will be $3,654,914, figuring in $178,372 in architectural and supervisory fees to Binda and Associates. Additional money is available for contingencies and a paved parking lot. (See accompanying story for breakdown on expenditures from the bond issue.)

SCHOOL OFFICIALS emphasized the favorable bids will allow the inclusion of facets of the building the board feels are necessary to making a complete building. Many of the alternates were listed as such in the event bids came in too high and they had to be left out.

One of the important alternates selected was a gymnasium balcony addition at a cost of $47,900. This will provide additional seating for the gym as well as an additional teaching station and an area for wrestling and gymnastics practice sessions. It was in the original plans.

The board also chose to carpet the library floor in the central circular "pod" area. This will cost $7,000 but involves most of a circular area approximately 72 feet in diameter. Architect Binda pointed out the quieting effect the carpeting will have on the library, and the board agreed with his recommendation.

ANOTHER OF THE alternates was for paving the driveway in front of the school (to the north side nearest Sickies Street). Binda is seeking to obtain a better price on another alternate of paving the parking lot on the west side of the school.

Other alternates accepted included an incinerator for $3,000; electric water coolers for $3,000; lighting of the front drive for an additional $3,873; five lights in the parking area for $4,813; completion of a TV system from the stage for an extra $4,180; installation of a teacher call-in system from classrooms to the office; installation of three banks of lights instead of one on the auditorium stage at an additional cost of $4,835; beam lights from the auditorium ceiling aimed toward the stage for an additional $4,045; motorizing the large movable partitions in the school for an additional $640; and several other miscellaneous additions.

THE GENERAL contractor gave a completion time of 18 months in his bid, which, if construction begins soon, would finish up the building mid-year of the 1968-69 school year. School officials, however, feel it will be later in that school year or the start of the 1969-70 school year before it is in use.

There were four general contracting bids, four for plumbing, heating and ventilating and five for electrical. The bidders and their base bids were:

General contract: Clark Construction Co. of Lansing $2,147,849; Granger Construction Co. of Lansing $2,188,000; Miller-Davis Co. of Kalamazoo $2,333,000; and Granger Brothers, Inc. of Lansing $2,467,000.

Plumbing, heating and ventilating: Andy J. Egan Co. of Grand Rapids $816,480; United Piping and Erecting Co. of Lansing $848,760; Hendrickson Plumbing and Heating of Ionia $915,406; and Holwerda-Huizinga Co. of Grand Rapids $920,450.

Electrical contract: Glover Electric Co. of Fowlerville $298,000; Root Electric Co. of Lansing $321,950; Fox Electric Co. of Lansing $321,443; Martin Electric Co. of Lansing $354,800; and Atherton Electric of Saginaw $360,443.

County to set up own mental health board

The board of supervisors voted Tuesday to set up a 12-man county mental health board to provide mental health services for county residents separate from control of the Ingham County Mental Health Board.

The result may be, however, that the Ingham unit will be contracted to make the actual services.

The supervisors' action Tuesday came after Health Committee Chairman Gerald Shepard of Bath introduced a resolution calling for the formation of the county's own "Clinton County Community Mental Health Services Board." His motion to accept the resolution then carried by a unanimous voice vote.

THE NEW MENTAL health program for the county grows out of the recent merger of the Lansing Child Guidance Center—which had provided services for Clinton County and which had county representation on its board—and the Ingham Mental Health Board.

Clinton County was informed it could continue to receive the same mental health services from the new merged organization, but it would no longer have representation on the governing board.

This aspect of the merger didn't set well with Clinton County supervisors and interested parties, and it was decided to proceed under Act 54, Public Acts of 1963 as amended by Act 4, Public Acts of 1966 and form a county board.

Shepard, in commenting on the resolution, pointed out the 12-man board, when appointed by the chairman of the board of supervisors, may find through investigation it would be best to contract for mental health services with the Ingham Board. But by doing it this way, he said, the county could have a say in how its money was being spent.

LAST YEAR, SHEPARD said, the Lansing Child Guidance Center serviced 80 adults and children from Clinton county, and county payments in total for mental health services amounted to around $10,000.

The 12-man board, according to the public acts, would include a representative number of people from all walks of life in the county—including not more than four elected officials.

By having its own board, the county would be eligible for state monetary grants in the amount of 75 per cent of necessary program expenditures.

No appointments for the new board have yet been made.

St. Mary's school dedicated

WESTPHALIA — Most Rev. Alexander Zaleski, bishop of the Lansing diocese, was in Westphalia Tuesday morning for the dedication of St. Mary's School.

Bishop Zaleski blessed the grade school that was begun in January of 1966 and occupied last Nov. 3. The new building replaces the building on the east side of the street.

THERE ARE 14 class rooms, a library, two special education rooms, two offices, two supply rooms and a teacher's lounge in the new school.

Teaching the students are five Sisters of Christian Charity (the Order has been teaching in Westphalia for 94 years), six lay teachers and the assistant priest of the parish, who teaches religion to the sixth, seventh and eighth grades.

Bids within amount set aside

One of the big reasons St. Johns School Board members were so happy over the bids that came in last Wednesday was that the total cost fell within the amount which had been set aside from the $5.4 million bond issue for this particular project.

The bond issue money, plus interest earned from investing it for short terms, made $5,770,000 available for the school district's building program.

Actual expenditures to date total $1,630,813, the bulk of it, or $1,504,782, being for the elementary architect's fees; $7,525 for a bond attorney; $4,600 for a financial consultant; $1,000 for qualification of bids fee; $885 for advertising for bonds and construction; $2,271 for surveyor; $628 for site borings; $18,315 for site purchases; and $520 for miscellaneous expenses.

THE SCHOOL BOARD then estimated other upcoming expenditures outside of building the high school. They included $450,000 for furniture and equipment for the high school; $15,300 for remodeling the present high school shop for use as a junior high cafeteria; and $80,000 for site development around the high school.

The estimated expenditures to come totaled $525,300, making a grand total of $2,156,113 of actual and estimated expenditures. That left $3,613,887 available for high school bids and planning fee. The low bids and planning fee totaled $3,554,914, leaving a little for contingencies.

The school board at its regular meeting last night (Wednesday) was expected to discuss items left out of the elementary contracts, particularly kitchen and other interior equipment.

SATURDAY DEADLINE This Saturday, May 13, is the deadline for filing nominating petitions for a place on the ballot in the June 12 school elections around the Clinton County area.

ROBERT D. DITMER

Robert D. DITMER was elected president of the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce at the regular board meeting last Wednesday evening. Other officers for the coming year will be Steven Hopko, vice president; James Moore, secretary; and Hugh Wallace, treasurer. Leon Brewbaker, past president, Roger Ham-montree, Brandon C. White, John Rehmann and Don Roesser are the other members of the Chamber board of directors. The Chamber board discussed the problem of finding a part-time or full-time secretary to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs Betty Jane Minsky, and set this as one of the first objectives of the new board.

City drops county fund hunt

An anticipated request for the board of supervisors to participate in St. Johns' city recreation program because of the large number of county residents who use it never materialized Tuesday.

A committee of attorney Tim Green and City Commissioners Jeanne Rand and John Furry canceled their scheduled appearance before the county board following a late-evening decision Monday to seek continued school district participation in the city recreation program.

MAYOR CHARLES Coletta, who was also involved in the Monday night meeting, said the decision resulted in part from anticipated county budget problems this year and the fact other communities in the county would in effect be asked to help out the St. Johns recreation program if county money was put into it.

The special committee decided to approach the school board and ask for their continued participation in the cost of the recreation. For several years they have been contributing $5,000 annually because many of the users of the park, pool and recreation facilities are school district residents outside the city.

CITY MANAGER Ken Greer reported that all phases of the recreation program in St. Johns cost $76,499.19 during fiscal 1965-66.

Last Tuesday night attorney Green appeared before the city commission and asked that segments of the recreation program which the commission had cut because of anticipated lack of funds be restored. He said a search should be made for possible additional funds, and he agreed to help in the hunt.

Road commission problems spotlighted

The Clinton County Road Commission presented its annual report to the board of supervisors Tuesday morning, pointing up constant pressure of rising costs of operation in comparison to receipts.

Equally interesting to supervisors were the dire predictions of what 1967 will be like in view of the past winter's snows and the spring break-up of roads.

"The extra cost of snow removal and patching will hamstring us all year," Road Commission Clerk Don Ewing told the board. "We're in bad shape as far as the summer program is concerned."

ENGINEER - MANAGER A. Lester Drago, who is leaving the road commission for a similar job in Osceola County June 1, pointed out the program is in trouble not only because of finances but also because of wet weather which has delayed the start of not only new construction but of repairs and routine maintenance.

Supervisor Norman Thelen of Riley Township inquired as to why scraping of roads couldn't be done now when other construction was being delayed. Drago said it would do no good to just push mud around, that what was needed was drying weather so this could be done.

Supervisor Earl Barks of Olive Township suggested a deeper scraping, possibly by road graders, to get rid of the chatter bumps on gravelled roads. Drago said this could be done with dryer road beds. "We have to have the right amount of moisture to hold the shaping," he said.

A GOOD DAY FOR BIKE LICENSING

Bicycles by the hundreds got their 1967 licenses put on them in St. Johns Saturday as the St. Johns Exchange Club supervised the program at the municipal building. Exchangite Ed Sulka and police officer Lyle French stand ready to lend a hand to Tom Tucker, 12, Bryan O'Connell, 11, and Terry Tucker, 10, as they put their new licenses on outside city Hall. The total number of licenses issued Saturday was 352.

Zeeb and Roy Davis—was informed it will be receiving resolutions from DeWitt Township and the DeWitt Board of Education seeking improvement to roads and the Shavey Road bridge in the high school area.

The road commission's 1966 report was accepted. It showed total receipts and operating expenditures of $1,029,821.54 - the second year in a row over $1 million.

Road construction is falling behind the desired pace, Ewing said, because of increasingly high maintenance costs.

Ewing, in his summary comments on the annual report, had this to say:

"Revenue continues to rise, but costs seem to go up much faster. This is reflected in the decrease in operating funds of nearly $42,000. This difference is not critical, as our cash position is still good.

"THE REAL PROBLEM is the trend. Labor costs are going to be much higher for 1967 as the pay increases and fringe benefits given under the new contract are the largest ever.

"Traffic continues to increase, especially in the southern part of our county, and demands for more and more service are very persistent. The only answer is more revenue, and we hope the legislature will do something about it this year. The new highway bills will provide an increase in Motor Vehicle Highway Funds that will help but will still be inadequate for high mileage rural counties like ours.

"One of the more critical problems we face is the local road bridges. Local road construction requires matching funds and this usually means township money. But the cost of construction of bridges is now so high that only the very small projects could fit into a township budget. Some other source of revenue with a long range plan is necessary before this problem can be solved."

Rotarians honor talent show winners

St. Johns Rotarians last week paid tribute to the winners in their April 27-29 Youth Talent and Hobby Exhibit by presenting them their prize savings certificates and hosting them at dinner.

Four of the six top winners were able to be present. They included age group winners Linda Davis in the 17-18 age group, Edmon' Cheeny in the 15-16 age bracket, Tom Wagonschutz in the 12-14 age group, and Steve Van Vleet in the 9-11 group. They each received $25 savings certificates from talent show Chairman Bruce Fowler.

The two best-of-show winners, Kathy Bashore of St. Johns High School and Michael Beagle of Bath High School, were unable to be present.

Jaycettes hunt Derby queen

Clinton County girls between the ages of 11 and 15 years have until May 22 to enter the annual contest for the title of Miss Soap Box Derby.

The contest, held in conjunction with the big Clinton County Soap Box Derby each year, is sponsored by the St. Johns Jaycettes. Mrs. Roger Hammontree is in charge this year.

Girls from all over the county are eligible for the contest. Each contestant must write an essay on 'How I Am More Fortunate Than Deprived Children and What I Could Do to Help These Children.' The essays must be at least 25 words in length and must be written by the contestant herself.

THE TOP 10 contestants in the Miss Soap Box Derby Contest will be selected from the best essays. Those girls will then be given canisters to collect funds for the Jaycette project of helping culturally and emotionally deprived children. The girls will earn one vote for each nickel collected.

The five girls who turn in the most money to Mrs. Hammontree by June 5 will become finalists and will meet for dinner with judges who will pick the queen. Her name will be announced on Soap Box Derby day June 11.

Application blanks have been distributed to area schools. They must be returned, with the essay, to Mrs. Hammontree at 806 W. McConnell Street, St. Johns 48879 by May 22.

The Jaycettes have for several years contributed money to projects to help culturally and emotionally deprived children. According to Mrs. Hammontree they are children who lack in cultural experiences and material possessions which contribute to a child's interest in and success in school and happiness in life. Iowa.

Emotionally deprived children lack the emotional support a child needs to feel he is a worthwhile person, is loved for himself and that life is worth living.

Local artist in Mother's Day Concert

The Lansing Choral Society, in its eighth season, will present Rossini's "Stabat Mater" and a Bach motet, "Praise the Lord All Ye Nations," Sunday afternoon, May 14, at the Everett High School Auditorium at 4 p.m. under the baton of Tom O. Thompson.

Phyllis Rice of rural St. Johns will be mezzo-soprano soloist in the "Stabat Mater." This is Mrs. Rice's fourth season as soloist with the Choral Society. She has appeared as soloist in their presentation of the Mozart "Requiem," Handel's "Israel in Egypt" and "St. Paul" by Mendelssohn. Mrs. Rice has been a private pupil of tenor, Harold Haugh, at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, for the past five years. She has made recent appearances in Jackson at the Conventer Fine Arts Festival and in a Shakespeare program for Tuesday Musicales. She received rave reviews in the title role of Menotti's "The Medium" with the Michigan State University Opera Workshop. She is a recitalist and teaches voice privately. Mrs. Rice is also the contralto soloist at The Peoples Church, East Lansing.

SOPRANO SOLOIST will be Karen Emens Smith of Lansing who studies with Ralph Herbert at the University of Michigan. Currently she records children's records with a New York publisher and teaches voice in her home. Dean Wilder, tenor of Idaho, a student of Goldovsky, studies extensively in America and abroad. A leading tenor with the Goldovsky Opera Company, he has appeared with numerous symphony orchestras and is currently with the Berlin Opera Company in Germany. Robert Hale, bass, of Boston, Mass., was winner of 1962 NATS "Singer of the Year" award and twice won Metropolitan Opera auditions. His coaches include Gladys Miller of the New England Conservatory and Frederick Popper of the NBC Opera. He was recently awarded a Rockefeller Foundation Grant and is under contract to the New York City Opera Company.

OVIV YOUNG, professor of organ and piano at Olivet Nazarene College, Kansas, Ill., is a regular accompanist for Hale and Wilder and will accompany the Bach motet on the harpsichord.

These five artists recently toured with Thompson and his Everett High School Choir in Indiana, Illinois and western Michigan performing the Rossini "Stabat Mater." Members of the Lansing Symphony Orchestra will accompany.

MRS. JERRY C. HAYNES

Haynes-Tabor vows repeated Saturday

ELSIE - Jill Linna Tabor became the bride of Jerry C. Haynes of rural Oakley at 2 Saturday afternoon, May 6, at the Eureka Congregational Christian Church. Rev. Jack Barlow officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Tabor of rural Oakley. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Haynes of rural Oakley. Mrs. Otto Gower was organist.

As the bride walked down the aisle, she was wearing a full length a-line gown of silk organza over taffeta, featuring an empire lace bodice with long sleeves and a scalloped neckline edged with sequins. Her detachable chapel train was bordered with wide rose point lace. The illusion veil fell from a petal headpiece. She carried a cascade bouquet of white sweetheart roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Part-time banks' grand openings set next week

Grand Opening Days at five new part-time offices of Clinton National Bank & Trust Co. are planned during regular banking hours next week at Hubbardston, Maple Rapids, Eureka, Wacousta and Bath.

Refreshments will be served at each of the offices and there will also be souvenir gifts for both adults and youngsters. Five portable television sets will be given away - one to visitors in each of the five communities served.

The special Grand Opening Days events come just two weeks after Clinton National began its pioneering community service operation in the Clinton County rural area. Banking started on a regular part-time basis in the five towns the week of May 1.

THE BANK HAS erected permanent structures at convenient locations in each community. Banking personnel and equipment to accommodate each office is transported on a regular schedule to provide two hours of service twice weekly in each town.

A specially-designed air-conditioned motorized unit is equipped with teller stations, manager's office, telephones and other necessary banking equipment. The 28-foot van is driven into the permanent bank building at each location through an electrically operated overhead door. Short wave radio communication from the mobile unit to the bank's main office in St. Johns is maintained at all times.

Community response to the new service has been most encouraging, reports W. S. Lusk, Clinton National president. Banking transactions at the part-time offices since inception of service have exceeded all expectations, Lusk said.

CLINTON NATIONAL'S new service is patterned after similar ventures initiated by several banks in New York state in recent months. The St. Johns institution is the first bank elsewhere in the U. S. to be approved by federal authorities for this type of accommodation to rural communities.

The schedule for Grand Opening Days at the community service offices during the week of May 15-19:

- Bath - Tuesday and Friday, 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.
- Eureka - Monday and Wednesday, 3 p.m. to 5 p.m.
- Hubbardston - Monday and Wednesday, 9 a.m. to 11 a.m.
- Maple Rapids - Monday and Wednesday, noon to 2 p.m.
- Wacousta - Tuesday and Friday, 10 a.m. to noon.

Urban renewal story-XVI

Engineering costs estimated

In the course of estimating costs involved in any urban renewal project, proposed property clearance, streets and parking improvements as provided under project expenditures must be estimated by a firm of qualified engineers.

In the case of the St. Johns project the city retained the services of Williams & Works of Grand Rapids. They have served as consulting engineers for the City of St. Johns, and several members of their executive board are former St. Johns city managers.

In their project improvements report, which was submitted in final form in October 1966, it was noted that the various improvements were in accordance with local designed standards. The projects included were intended to provide needed services for the renewal area in terms of capacity and location. The standards which were incorporated were those prevailing in the area.

Due to the fact that Williams & Works have provided similar services, they were able to draw on their local experiences and similar construction projects elsewhere. An inflationary figure or allowance which also covered contingencies was added to the basic cost in the amount of 20 per cent. The highest total cost figure based on similar work had to do with demolition of existing buildings which are scheduled for removal under the proposed plan. This rounded out to approximately $182,000.

THE NEXT MOST EXPENSIVE item was the parking lot improvement which amounted to over $119,000. Each street within the project area was treated individually as to its improvement cost. Williams & Works followed a block by block cost picture for each and every one, including those on the perimeter.

Several other items which were also included in their projected cost figures covered utility revisions as to placement of sanitary sewers and water mains within the project boundaries. Relocation of storm sewers, traffic signals and lighting facilities for the parking lot areas were among some of the miscellaneous improvements contained in their report. They estimated that projects improvements would cost in the neighborhood of $540,000. Several special items relative to certain portions of their report had to do with relocating some present facilities to make them more accessible under the proposed site design of the project. They estimated that in most cases total project improvements would be 100 per cent benefit to the project itself and therefore could be considered as a project cost.

In next week's installment we will finalize the last few steps prior to the submission of the Part I application.

Mrs. Lowrey's grandson wins NDEA fellowship

An, Elsie grandmother, Mrs. George Lowrey of 228 E. Pine Street, is very modest about bragging of her family but finally consented to share with her friends the pride and pleasure in the recent honors of her grandson, Norman Eugene Lowrey.

A senior music composition major, Lowrey will graduate from Texas Christian University of Fort Worth, Texas, in June. Last month he was granted a NDEA Fellowship at the University of Rochester (New York) Eastman School of Music for graduate study leading to the doctor of philosophy degree with a major in composition. All tuition fees and expenses will be paid during the three years while he completes his graduate studies.

Only last year, Lowrey was commissioned by the Midland Michigan Symphony Orchestra to compose "Celebration Overture" for their recent 30th anniversary. It was written between June and October of last year and on March 10 of this year, the 22-year-old composer was in Midland for the world premiere of his work. This was not the first commission for Lowrey nor his first performance by a non-student group. He has received three other commissions for orchestral works since he has been at Texas Christian.

His "Sculpture for Cello and Orchestra" was commissioned and performed by the Saginaw Symphony Orchestra in Saginaw and Alma in 1963, and the English department of his Alma Mater, Texas Christian University, commissioned him to set to music selected sonnets by William Shakespeare for the quadricentennial celebration of the Bard in 1964. Lowrey began serious composition in Midland High School.

He had taken up piano at the age of eight and two years later, the clarinet. Playing the clarinet, he was a member of Midland Intermediate and High School bands and orchestras, Michigan Youth Symphony Orchestra of Ann Arbor, twice in the Interlochen All-State band and orchestra and in Delta Festival Orchestra while teaching theory at Delta College Summer Music Conservatory.

In between composing and playing the clarinet, he has written plays, short stories and poetry. He won the Dillon Anderson Creative Writing Award in 1964 and the second place award in the Margie Boswell Poetry contest in 1965.

ALTHOUGH talented in many fields, Lowrey is too devoted to music, with a special fondness for those composers beginning with "B" (Brahms, Beethoven, Bach, Bartok, Britten), not to pursue a career in music composition.

Following his appearance in March at the Midland Symphony Orchestra Concert, Lowrey flew to Rochester, N. Y., to audition on the clarinet at the famed Eastman School of Music before returning to complete his senior year at TCU.

Lowrey's parents, Paul and Eva (Leavitt) Lowrey, alumni of Elsie High School with classes of 1929 and 1931 respectively and both graduates of Central Michigan University in 1933, now live in Titusville, Fla.

The elder Lowrey had been associated with Dow Chemical at Midland for many years and through a government contract with Dow, he was sent to Florida in August 1964 where his position takes him daily to Cape Kennedy. The Lowreys have two married daughters living in Battle Creek and Flint.

Bath cleanup day Saturday

BATH—Bath's clean-up day will get under way this Saturday, May 13, at 9 a.m.

Individual groups and their leaders have their designated jobs but still lack trailers and pickups. Persons wishing to loan those pieces of equipment are asked to call William Vondrasek at the high school or at his home. More adult supervisors are also needed to accompany the groups.

One of the jobs to be done Saturday is to wash the main street of Bath. Parking spaces on the street will be painted after it is washed.

Already 7,000 trees and several hundred shrubs have been planted to promote the beautification campaign of Bath area youth groups. After the work is done Saturday there will be a party and refreshments at the high school.

Fields blessing forced indoors

Although rain and cold weather forced them inside, about 100 people attended the Rogation Day Mass last Monday evening at the Motz home on West French Road, and a similar group met Tuesday evening at the Nicholas Koeningknecht home on East Taft Road.

Saying the mass blessing the fields were the Rev. Frs. William Hanked and Joseph Lablak of St. Joseph Catholic Church.

"We do it every year at two rural homes, going to different areas of the community each year. But, because it was so cold and rainy on the two nights, we had to hold the mass and prayers inside. Otherwise, we do it on the fields," Father Hanked said.

Make the best possible use of your time, and you'll have more of it to spare.

Donations for heart monitor hit $580 in week

Recent donations totaling $580 has boosted the hopes of the Clinton Memorial Hospital Auxiliary about being able to order a two-bed heart monitoring unit for the hospital here.

The $580 will be added to money the auxiliary already has set aside for the project. They hope to raise about half of the $8,000 to $9,000 needed for the unit by June so that it can be ordered and be in use by this fall.

The "lion's share" of the $580 came in the form of a $300 donation from the St. Johns Lions Club as a memorial to three deceased members, Arthur Workman, Harold Roberts and Louise Hull. Another $170 is from the Grace Clark Memorial Fund. Mrs. Arthur Workman donated $50 in memory of her husband. Other monetary gifts were received from Mrs. Edward MacKinnon, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stone, Mrs. Leon Crampton, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Montague, Mr. and Mrs. Fraser MacKinnon, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Stone, Mrs. Dorra Anderson, Mrs. William Barber and Mrs. Ken Munger.

The Hospital Auxiliary plans to buy a two-bed heart monitor unit and a pacemaker for the hospital with the money received. The monitor keeps an electronic status check on the heart of a cardiac patient and sounds an alarm if trouble occurs. The pacemaker provides an electronic heart stimulation.

Gratford Community Hospital at Alma recently installed such a unit, and others are located in the central Michigan area at Owosso Memorial Hospital and at St. Lawrence in Lansing.

Woman's Club chosen 'club of the year'

The St. Johns Woman's Club has completed its 75th anniversary year with the perfect ending. The club was selected as the "club of the year" from Michigan. Two silver bowls were awarded in the state, one to a club with a membership of over 100 and the other to St. Johns with a membership of less than 100. The selection is based on the annual report of the club, the club program for the year and support of the state projects.

THE selection of the local organization as club of the year is

Extension group has annual May breakfast

The South Bingham and Olive Woman's extension group held their annual May breakfast at a St. Johns restaurant. The tables were decorated in green and pink. During the meal old mystery sisters were revealed and new ones were drawn.

Places of interest to go on the annual trip were discussed and it was decided to go to Grand Rapids, Sept. 2.

Plans were made on ideas for the Christmas workshop.

a first for St. Johns. Woman's Club members from here hold offices in the West Central District and in the State. Mrs George Brooks is serving as the district legislative chairman; Mrs Kenneth Jones, trade and aid and Mrs VanHoag, art scholarship. Mrs Manning Gross is the state chairman for continuing education.

MANY of the ideals that were stressed by the founders 75 years ago are still being followed by the club today. The original members of the club expressed a great love for Michigan. This year during Michigan-Week the club will be selling stationery with Michigan scenes. The profits will be used to help Girls' Town at Belleville.

O-E Jaycee charter banquet set May 27

The recently organized Ovid-Elsie Jaycees have set Saturday, May 27, for their Charter Night banquet. The affair will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the Ovid-Elsie High School.

Main speaker for the event will be Wendell Smith, state president of the Michigan Jaycees. Tickets for the banquet may be purchased from John Sincropl of Ovid, Roy Pope of Elsie, Darlings of Elsie and Ovid and Dean's Barber Shop and Tri Ami Bowl of Ovid.

AT A MEMBERSHIP meeting held at the high school May 2 the constitution was discussed and approved. Possible future community projects were considered.

Jerry Ross, local president, reported on attending the Ovid village council and Lions Club meetings. He said both groups were interested in the Jaycees and would do all they could to help us get started. Don Hettlinger and Owen Curtis were appointed to attend like meetings at Elsie next week and also the next school board meeting.

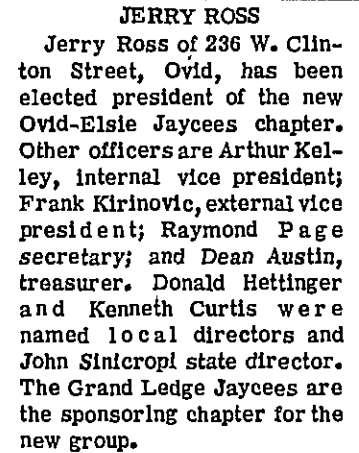

Forest Kelsey, president of the sponsoring Grand Ledge chapter, presented Ross with a check for $25 to pay for the charter. Kelsey said they had done this with each chapter they have extended.

USDA 'shirtsleeves' conferences planned

Two farm policy meetings have been scheduled during May, Frank Light, chairman of the Michigan Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, today announced. These meetings will be called "shirtsleeves" meetings because the intent is to obtain information from area farmers.

The meetings will be held on May 11 at the Community Center in Hastings and May 12 at the Community Center in Lapeer. Both will convene at 1:30 p.m. They are being scheduled as requested by the Secretary of Agriculture in order to learn the current thinking of county, area, and State leaders of farm organizations and of individual farmers. Agency officials are to report to the Secretary the comments and recommendations of those in attendance.

The heaviest rainfall recorded in modern times took place on July 4, 1965, at Unionville, Md., when 1.23 inches fell in a period of one minute.

JERRY ROSS
Jerry Ross of 230 W. Clinton Street, Ovid, has been elected president of the new Ovid-Elsie Jaycees chapter. Other officers are Arthur Kelley, internal vice president; Frank Kirinovic, external vice president; Raymond Page secretary; and Dean Austin, treasurer. Donald Hettlinger and Kenneth Curtis were named local directors and John Sincropl state director. The Grand Ledge Jaycees are the sponsoring chapter for the new group.

70% of needed land bought or under option

Sleepy Hollow Park now more than a plan

About 70 percent of the land needed for the proposed 2,698-acre Sleepy Hollow State Park in Clinton County has either been purchased or is under option.

Only 659 more acres from seven property owners has yet to be arranged for, according to Lawrence Cook, in charge of master planning for the parks section, of the State Conservation Department. He spoke to St. Johns Rotarians on the Sleepy Hollow park last Tuesday noon.

Cook said the department expects some difficulty in obtaining some of the rest of the land needed, but he foresees no permanent stumbling block to completion of the project.

As of last Tuesday 2,026 acres of the 2,698 acres total has been purchased or optioned. Enough has been obtained that the department could conceivably start construction in the shaping of some of the bottom of the planned 550-acre lake and possibly could build the dam behind which the lake will form.

THEY COULD NOT IMPOUND the lake however until all property is purchased.

"If we get capital funds from the Legislature in the next year we will begin some development in the lake bottom, particularly," Cook said. "Right now we need more for land. We have spent all we have."

Cook anticipates it will be two or three years before the full impoundment of the lake is realized.

Some $656,000 is anticipated to be spent on land acquisition for the park and total development will run $1 1/2 million. The park will be able to accommodate about 7,000 persons at one time and about 14,000 persons per day.

Sleepy Hollow State Park will be located in southern Ovid and northern Victor townships, bounded on the west by Shepardsville Road, on the south by Jason and Price Roads, on the north by Taft Road and on the east by a line midway between Hollister and Upton roads.

It will be six miles east of US-27 and about four miles south of M-21.

Resulted from study

Planning for Sleepy Hollow was initiated following a May 1964 preliminary study by the State Park planning staff to locate and field check park sites with impoundment potential in the Upper Grand River Basin.

"There were 35 potential impoundment sites that had basic potential needed for recreational use," Cook told Rotarians. "Of those, only two were of significant importance to rate a number one priority. Four others were number two priority, and one of those was Sleepy Hollow."

"The 550-acre lake will make a major contribution to water-based recreation in the heart of the most lakeless region in Michigan. There are now only five lakes exceeding 100 acres in size in the six counties surrounding the project. Not one of these handful of lakes is satisfactory for public swimming."

The nearest Great Lake or connecting water is nearly 100 miles away, Cook pointed out, and the nearest state recreation area is Brighton, 45 miles away.

ALTHOUGH THE CLINTON County project got a high priority as a new park, it is not so high on the list of capital outlay projects for 1968-69. Cook said capital outlay for development of the park in that fiscal year is $358,000, and Sleepy Hollow is 43rd on a list of 64 priority projects in the state.

Development of the park has several hurdles to overcome, but it promises to fill a big recreational void in southern central Michigan.

One of the hurdles is the need to reconstruct or relocate a Michigan Gas Storage Co. high pressure natural gas pipeline which now crosses the extreme northwest edge of the proposed lake area. Cook told the Rotary Club members the work would be expensive but just how much so one seemed to be sure yet. Estimates of the cost run between $50,000 and $300,000; nothing definite has been established.

Another major effort will be a cooperative one with the Clinton County Road Commission. Price Road, which traverses the proposed park across the southern quarter will have to be raised about 15 feet to keep it above the lake.

That improvement between Shepardsville and Upton roads would be shared by the county and state, Cook intimated. Other improvement on Price Road west to US-27 would also be required because of the high volume of traffic anticipated. Cook said the department anticipates as many as 1,000 cars a day going to the park.

Impoundment not easy

Initial filling of the 550-acre lake will be no easy task either, Cook said. An 800-foot-long earthen dam across the Little Maple River is planned in the northwestern part of the park. It would be 28 feet high and would provide 25 feet of water depth at the dam.

Some shaping and deepening of the lake bottom is anticipated (this would be done prior to filling the lake) to achieve a hoped-for minimum depth of 6 1/2 feet which would retard weed growth, Cook pointed out.

Complete filling of the lake would take anywhere from 1 1/2 to three years, Cook said, depending on how much water must be allowed to flow on downstream in the Little Maple. Water for the lake would come from the Little Maple, several small tributaries and underground springs.

Conservation Department engineers have stated in the past they anticipate no problems in having sufficient water for the lake. It would form a body of water about two miles long on a dogleg north and south by one mile across at its widest point. It would have 8 1/2 miles of shoreline, six of it to the north of Price Road. There would be two wooded islands in the lake.

Other high points of ground existing now would be shaved off and other areas deepened, particularly for rapid drop-offs on the west side of the lake.

COOK SAID THE DEPARTMENT anticipates a drop in water level of between 1 1/2 to two feet during the summer, depending again on how much of a flow is necessary downstream from the dam. "This will not create a problem if the beach areas are properly designed," he said.

The park plans call for two beach areas along the lake, which the department plans to call Ovid Lake. One is on the northeast end and the other along the east side.

There will be 210 "improved" campsites where campers will have access to electricity, running water and modern toilet facilities with hot showers. The camping area will be in the northeastern quadrant of the park, and while not on the shoreline it will be easily accessible to the lake.

Picnic areas will be constructed along the east shoreline of the lake. Hard-surfaced parking lots with a capacity of 400 cars each will be laid out in three locations in the park, two of them in connection with the swimming beaches.

There will be two improved boat launching sites on the lake north of Price Road and another south of Price.

The lake will be available for boating, swimming, water skiing and sailing; outboard motors are expected to be prohibited, however, in the headwaters of the lake south of Price Road.

The two islands in the lake will be wooded and will be provided for picnicking by boaters.

Throughout the park trails for hiking will be laid out.

Save schoolhouse

"An interesting feature of this area," Cook said, "is the existence of an old red brick schoolhouse (Grove School) at the corner of Price and Shepardsville roads built about 1881. It is proposed that this structure be preserved and partially restored."

"The topography of the proposed Sleepy Hollow State Park is rolling land, primarily, varying in elevation from 840 feet above sea level in the southeast corner to 770 feet on the Little Maple River in the northwest corner.

Most of the land in the projected park area is presently under cultivation, much of it, Cook said, by farmers whose major income is from factory and other off-the-farm jobs.

Of the 2,700 acres involved in the project only about 200 acres is covered with deciduous hardwoods. Of that 200, about 64 acres would have to be eliminated by flooding. Another 11 acres of woods would be on the two major islands.

The Conservation Department will plant numerous trees in the park, and much of that likely will be getting under way soon, Cook said.

Main entrance to the park will be off Price Road just west of Upton Road. State Park permits will be necessary for admittance to the north side to Price, but no permits will be needed to get into the wildlife area south of Price Road.

PLANS FOR THE 2,698-acre park were revealed two years ago in April by the Conservation Department and received endorsement — by a 13-6 vote — by the board of supervisors. Part of the objection then was over the contention the park will make road improvement necessary and will take away tax base.

Cook told Rotarians last Tuesday projections had been made about the monetary value of the park to the area in increased trade, but he didn't know just what they were. Nor did he know how — if at all — the loss in tax base would be made up to the local units of government.

The park will take in all of Section 34 and part of Section 35 in Ovid Township and all of sections 3 and 10 and parts of Sections 2 and 11 in Victor Township.

There was some controversy over the naming of the park. The long-established Sleepy Hollow Conservation Club, located northeast of St. Johns 18 miles or so from the park site, objected to the similarity of names. The Ovid Village Council also opposed that name, pointing out in a resolution the name "Sleepy Hollow" doesn't pin-point the location for tourists. They wanted to change the name to "Ovid State Park" because of their proximity (about six miles) to the park.

BUT THE CONSERVATION DEPARTMENT and Commission struck to their guns. They agreed, however, to name the body of water created by the impounding of the Little Maple "Ovid Lake," "feeling that this would identify the project with the town of Ovid."

The May 27, 1965, issue of "Conservation Department Topics" explained the naming of the park. "The project got its name from the fact that the land needed for the dam site is owned by an 'L. Crane,' a name similar to that of the chief character in Washington Irving's famed short story, 'The Legend of Sleepy Hollow.' Department personnel working on the project gave it the unofficial working tag of Sleepy Hollow and it struck."

"Normal policy is to name parks and recreation areas by geographical location, although that is not a hard-and-fast rule. The commission appeared delighted with the Sleepy Hollow name..."

Fishing to be major aspect of Ovid Lake

Although the new Sleepy Hollow State Park will be for multiple use recreational facilities for all people of the state of Michigan, it has significant meaning for sportsmen.

Fishing will be one of the primary uses of the lake, a use not now afforded the area. But at the same time hunters will find considerable less activity after the park opens.

Larry Cook, in charge of master planning for the parks section of the Conservation Department, told St. Johns Rotarians last Tuesday the lake would be managed for blue gills, large mouth bass, northern pike and possibly muskellunge.

OUTBOARD MOTORS are expected to be prohibited in the headwaters area south of Price Road, he said. "A state park permit would not be required to use this unit."

A northern pike spawning marsh is planned as part of the project to maintain reproduction of this choice game species of fish. Chemical thinnings with a fish toxicant and drawdowns of the lake are planned to maintain good growth for panfish as needed Cook said.

The fish picture, therefore, looks bright, but not so the hunting picture. According to conservationist Cook:

"WHEN THE LOWLANDS are flooded and park developments installed on the uplands, the habitat for upland game species will be destroyed or seriously reduced. Most of the existing wood-lots which provide fine game habitat will be cut off and flooded. Those remaining are expected to see such heavy human use that they will be of very limited value for wildlife.

"This factor of human disturbance and the deep water of the impoundment will also minimize its value for waterfowl and other wet game and fur-bearing species. "A fair appraisal of the effect of this proposed project on game interests would be that upland game habitat and the existing populations of game species dependent on the game habitat would be seriously damaged.

"THIS WOULD BE partially offset by the improvement in the habitat for wetland species. However, due to the anticipated heavy human use of both the impoundment area and the surrounding upland, high wildlife populations are not expected except possibly during spring and fall migrations of waterfowl.

"The overall effect of this project would undoubtedly be to decrease wildlife habitat and limit wildlife populations. These adverse effects are not expected to be serious enough to cause objection to the project because of damage to game interests.

"Since intensive park and fishing use and fall and winter hunting use would not be expected to occur on the area at the same time it is recommended that the entire area remain open to hunting until the need for closing for safety or wildlife management reasons is demonstrated."

Bement Public Library

Bement Public Library has recently acquired three new books which are of the type to make one year for a long rainy day with nothing to do but read.

CRAGSMOOR by Jemette Letton is of the "Gothic Romance" genre. Its story centers around an imposing house on a remote island off the coast of Maine—a house which is the exact replica of an older house of the same name which stood on the same spot and was mysteriously destroyed by fire 20 years earlier. The plot involves two levels in time, and two stories roll out simultaneously, the story of what happened just recently and the story of what happened 20 years ago. This approach makes for double-barrelled excitement, to say nothing of double mystery.

HEDGEROW is the name of a new novel by Florence Engel Randall. It is also the name of a farm in upstate New York, a farm which is the setting for a haunting, forboding story reminiscent of Daphne DuMaurier's REBECCA, Upstate New York farms, however, don't seem to lend themselves to this kind of thing quite so convincingly as ancestral English manors.

NEVERTHELESS, Mrs Randall has done a good job with the story of Meredith Costain, the budding ballerina who takes a summer job as sort of a governess to a child in the Hedge family. The Hedges, by the way, are not really farmers. They just use Hedgerow as a weekend and summer retreat.

What Meredith goes through before the summer ends keeps the reader rapidly turning the pages, wanting to look at the last one, yet not really wanting to spoil it all.

THE LITTLE PEOPLE by John Christopher has a more authentic background. It is a castle in Ireland. The two main characters in THE LITTLE PEOPLE are an engaged British couple who have acquired an Irish castle and have decided to remodel it into a tourist hotel.

This project uncovers many an old mystery, including a diary linking the castle to a Nazi concentration camp. THE LITTLE PEOPLE is a novel of considerable intensity.

SO MUCH FOR THE three rainy day books. The next one is a little less tongue in cheek.

The capitol city of the United States might be said to be the title character of Gore Vidal's new book, WASHINGTON, D. C. Reviewers are not in agreement as to the stature of this novel. The New York Times gave it second-page billing in its Sunday Book Review section, and had some rather sarcastic things to say about it. But the TODAY show on TV gave Mr Vidal prime time and said some rather complimentary things about his new brainchild.

WASHINGTON, D. C. begins during F. D. R.'s second administration, and the main cast of characters is composed mostly of people who are his political antagonists. Their political connivings and their comings and goings in general, make up a really readable story, if not the greatest one ever written.

Westphalia loses few young people

SECOND OF A SERIES
by sandi rathbun

St. Mary's Catholic Church of Westphalia is considered by many living in the area as the reason so many of the young people of the area decide to settle there rather than moving on to the Lansing area.

Because of the ties the young people of the area have for Westphalia, it has continued to grow even though there is not enough industry located there to employ the residents.

It is not at all unusual for a newly married couple to reside in Lansing for the first year or so after their marriage and later to build a home and settle in Westphalia.

REV ALOYSIUS H. MILLER said it is not only ties with the parish but the strong family feelings that bring the young people back to the area. Any death or birth affects the whole area. It is still one big family in much the same way as it was when it was settled in the 1830's.

The area is still predominately German and Catholic. There are very few families living within six miles of Westphalia that are not Catholic. Last week I said there were no families living within the Westphalia village limits who were not Catholics. I have learned since then that two families in the village are not Catholic.

THE CHURCH in Westphalia has been a part of their way of life since the settlement of the area. The first settlers of the township came to Clinton county in the company of Rev Anton Kopp, who was the first priest assigned to the mission. He was not only their spiritual leader but also served as their first supervisor and taught school.

Father Kopp remained in the area until 1843. He was followed by Rev George Godez, a native of Austria. While Father Godez was in Westphalia, the second, third and fourth churches were built. The fourth church was begun in 1867 and burned April 20, 1899. (It was located across the street from the present church.)

It was Father Godez who introduced the Corpus Christi procession to Westphalia. He remained there until 1873.

Rev Andrew S. Leitner served Westphalia until 1874, when he was replaced by Rev J. Reifert. During his administration, the East School was completed and the Sisters of Christian Charity came to take charge of the school.

REV WILLIAM Herwig came to Westphalia in 1879 and remained there until his death April 6, 1902. Father Herwig was the first priest to be buried in St. Mary's Cemetery. Father F. Broegger was in Westphalia when the Convent was completed and a parish library was started. He resigned in 1910 because of poor health.

In July of 1910, Rev Peter H. Esper came to Westphalia. While he was there the parish observed its "diamond jubilee," in September of 1911. During his stay in Westphalia, the church was redecorated and a new cross was erected. He was transferred to Detroit in 1914.

FR CHARLES F. Hofsted followed Father Esper. He remained there until his death Feb. 23, 1923. Fr Hofsted was also buried in St. Mary's Cemetery. The two side altars were added and improvement of the cemetery was begun while Rev Anton Krams was in Westphalia from 1923 until 1932.

Rev Edward Gutha was assigned to the parish when the centennial celebration was held in 1936. He remained there until 1942.

FOLLOWING FATHER Gutha was Rev Joseph R. Byrne, who remained in Westphalia until 1948. Father Miller followed Father Byrne and has been in Westphalia since 1942.

Father Miller is a native of the area. His parents were baptized at St. Mary's.

Since he has been there, a new church and a new school have been constructed. The new church was built to replace the brick church that burned Monday, April 20, 1959. The fire in the church was discovered at 2:50 in the afternoon. While the fire was still being fought an altar was being set up in the hall and Mass was held there the next morning. By Sunday, the men of the parish had built an altar there.

THE ALTAR used in the hall was eventually given to Middleton for their mission church. The present church was begun the following year and dedicated May 28, 1962.

At the present time there are about 500 families in the parish which includes all of Westphalia township and parts of Dallas, Bengal, Riley and Eagle townships and into Ionia county.

THE NEW SCHOOL was dedicated Tuesday. It began in January of last year and occupied last Nov. 3. Six years ago 380 children were enrolled in the grade school and now there are 616 students enrolled.

There are six lay teachers and five sisters who teach in the school. The assistant priest teaches religion to the sixth, seventh and eighth grades every morning.

More about Westphalia next week.

State police renew child molestation danger warnings

With recent Michigan experience stressing the dangers of child molestation, Sgt. William Cram of the East Lansing post of the state police advises parents and guardians to caution their youngsters against going for walks or rides with strangers.

A number of molesting cases already have been reported in the state this spring, two tragically involved slayings.

State police records show that there are many hundreds of child molestation sex offenses committed each year and they are most frequent in the spring and summer months when youngsters are outdoors.

SGT. CRAM said any incidents of molesting children or circumstances indicating possibility of this danger should be promptly reported to police for investigation. The state police stress that reluctance to report offenses gives molesters the opportunity to continue their criminal activities. Names of minors and parents in molesting incidents are not made public unless abduction or murder is involved.

The sergeant offers these guidelines to parents:

Instruct youngsters to flatly reject any strangers's offer of candy, money or gifts as a lure to go for walks or rides.

Insist that youngsters be in company at all times with other children where there is no adult supervision. A child alone on a playground, exploring a vacant building or loitering in an alley may too easily become a molester's victim.

USE PROTECTIVE discretion when having children run errands in the daytime. Never send a child alone on an errand at night.

Be concerned as much for the safety of all children as you are for your own. Cooperate with other parents in your neighborhood in safeguarding the welfare of youngsters.

Demand that your children keep you informed of their whereabouts when at play. See that they have your permission first for any unusual trips.

Urge your youngsters to report any questions regarding their safety to you, their teachers or the police.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Customs may differ among the races and may change with the times, but certain institutions in human life have remained constant through the centuries. One of these is Motherhood.
Progress has given Mother new methods and new equipment for her age-old responsibilities. But the love and understanding which are the heart of Motherhood have never depended on science for their expression.
One unchanging sphere of material responsibility has been the religious development of children. From primitive tribal religions up to Christianity, mothers have guided and encouraged the growth of each successive generation in spiritual faith.
The Christian Church salutes all faithful mothers. They have led their families to an ever deepening realization of the sacred bond which unites the Church and the Home in a common devotion to Jesus Christ.

This will be her third year as director of the south central region. The South Central Region is made up of eight counties. The following article on Medicaid was published by Lloyd Johnson, administrator of Whitehall Nursing Homes at Farmington, Novi and Ann Arbor. Johnson is a past president of the Michigan Nursing Home Association and at present is the legislative chairman of the association. Medicaid is the program designed to supplement Medicare and is passed into law individually by each state. The program is supported 50 per cent by state funds and 50 per cent by federal funds. The Michigan Medicaid Law was passed last year and $21,000,000 was appropriated in Michigan budget to support this program. Federal guidelines coming out of Washington however, have added materially to costs. Competition for skilled and semi-skilled personnel this past year has also added to costs. Consequently, the crisis in Michigan has been brought about by an estimated total expenditure this year of more than $60,000,000 for which $21,000,000 was appropriated. As chairman of the Medicaid Negotiating Committee for the Michigan Nursing Home Association we have been working several months with the State Department of Social Services and we are pleased to let you know that we now feel we are making satisfactory progress towards developing an equitable reimbursement formula for nursing homes under this program. A special committee of State Legislators has been appointed and we have met twice with them and twice with the State Department of Social Services. Our present schedule calls for agreement on a satisfactory formula by June 1 and the implementation of this formula by July 1. The Nursing Home Association has submitted a formula for consideration and we sincerely believe that this is fair and equitable to patients, to nursing homes and to the tax payer of Michigan.

"Blindfold" random loading
There's no "required" loading pattern because the SUPER WASH jet action doesn't miss a dish. Large dishes or pans can't block the washing action of 2 revolving spray arms.

Powerful jet-spray action
Like a hose, the smaller the nozzle the more powerful the water; that's why the tiny narrow nozzles in the spray arms produce the scouring jets to "peel" off cooked-on food.

Wash dishes once a day
Keeps dirty dishes out of sight and your sink and kitchen clean. Simply load soiled dishes after every meal, and, at the end of the day wash 'em all at once.

Self-cleaning filter
Works full time! Has an extra-fine mesh that continuously collects food particles to prevent clogging the tiny jet nozzles in the spray arms. Cleans itself automatically.

No pre-rinsing or scraping
Just shake off bones and leftovers because the water is constantly filtered, and at the end of each wash and rinse cycle food particles are flushed down the drain.

2 revolving spray arms
With two full-size revolving spray arms nothing can block the washing action, even big pans or platters. Every item in both racks is totally washed and rinsed.

4-H Club Chatter

By JOHN AYLSWORTH Extension 4-H Youth Agent

Fifty-four Clinton County 4-H members and adults participated in the annual 4-H Detroit Award Trip. The group visited the Greenfield Village where they saw history brought to life. Following the tour the group ate lunch at the Top of the Flame Restaurant and attended a cinema movie. This award trip was made to those members for their outstanding 4-H club work during the past year.

Interviews are being conducted of the nine Clinton County 4-H members interested in the 4-H citizenship short course in Washington, D. C. from July 8-15. Six of the members will be selected to represent Clinton County.

The "Jolly Green Glants" is the new name of the 4-H club replacing the name of the Kountry Klowers under the leadership of Gladys Irish, Judy and Bruce Irish recently purchased several registered sheep from the sale held at Michigan State University for their 4-H club project. 4-H members are allowed a discount when purchasing animals at many of these sales.

The theme of this year's 4-H Talent Show is "It's a Small World." The county show will be held June 30 at the St. Johns High School. All clubs which plan to have an entry in this show should be making their plans soon for their act.

4-H members, leaders and parents are invited to attend the 4-H entomology meeting on Thursday, May 18 at 7 p.m. at Smith Hall in St. Johns. Members will learn about insect identification, collecting and mounting of insects, labeling, plastic embedding as well as scientific innovations in the entomology project.

"Pioneer Trail Riders" is the name of a new 4-H horse club under the leadership of Mr and Mrs Nelson Ketchum of Eagle area. Although there are only seven members now the club hopes to secure more interested members in the horse program. Officers elected include: Karen Avery as president; Marcia Chapman as secretary; and Melody McDermid as treasurer. Meetings will be held every Wednesday evening at the home of the leaders.

The Stoney Creek 4-H Club held their enrollment meeting last week with over 40 members signed up for the summer program. The club will hold a special meeting on Monday, May 22, at the West Bingham Church to elect officers and set up their club program for the year.

David Peck has been elected president of the Olive 4-H Project Club this year. Other officers include Randy Locher as vice president; Debbie Locher as secretary; Kathy Nichols as treasurer; and Kathy Davis as news reporter. Members taking the foods project are to meet on May 15 at 7:30 p.m. at Slimmons School. A date will be selected later for those interested in the 4-H Talent Show.

A county 4-H officers training conference will be held on Thursday, May 25 at 7:30 p.m. at St. Johns High School. Adult leaders will work with the officers on knowing what responsibility and obligations they have as an officer in a local 4-H club.

The Happy Hustlers 4-H Club will hold their organizational meeting on May 22 at 8 p.m. at the K of C Hall in St. Johns. At their last meeting Beth Henning and Chris Henning demonstrated "How to Make Tie Cords for three-cornered Hats," Tom Kehr demonstrated "Staining and Finishing Wood," Beth Henning and Nancy Zuker demonstrated "How to Wind Yarn," and Martha Mihalyl spoke on her experience on the Yankee Springs 4-H Award Trip.

Members interested in the 4-H crop project are reminded that they may raise a crop project their first year in 4-H if they wish. This is a change from previous years requirements. Also, members with crop projects will have the opportunity to exhibit a live crop exhibit at the county fair.

4-H members taking the TV Science Project are reminded that the program will continue with number six on Saturday, May 13 at 10 a.m. on Channel 10, WMSB. The series will continue until June 10.

4-H members interested in raising ornamental corn in their vegetable garden projects can secure some seed from the extension office. There is no charge for this ornamental seed.

Wheat, rye loans must be redeemed

Farm-stored wheat and rye loans will have to be redeemed by the final delivery date shown on the producers' delivery notice, ASCS office Manager William Smith reminded farmers this week.

The notices were mailed out Tuesday. Producers with loans should contact the ASCS office if they have any questions regarding delivery or redeeming their grain.

Early-cut hay can make dairymen more milk, money

Dairy farmers with a 30-cow herd can make more than $1,500 additional income by harvesting their hay around June 1 instead of June 15 or later.

Dr. Donald Hillman, Michigan State University extension dairyman, says early cut hay will increase daily milk yields an average of three pounds per cow.

"Michigan dairymen as a group can make a total of more than $16,000,000 by early hay harvest," Hillman contended. "MSU experiments show early harvest is the most effective single operation to produce high quality forage."

Cutting alfalfa hay at bud to one-tenth bloom stage of maturity — about June 1 in Southern Michigan — saves protein and milk-producing leaves. Delay until full bloom may get more hay but it is stemmy, leaves drop during harvest and the quality goes down, the dairy authority explained.

EARLY CUT ALFALFA hay produces up to 18 per cent protein, while late-cut hay contains only 12 to 14 per cent protein.

"In research the cows tell us by their production which hay is best. Nearly all of the research shows the high-protein, early cut hay is more productive," Hillman explained.

Dairymen should get equipment ready and start hay making when buds of alfalfa plants start opening, the dairyman concluded.

THIS IS HOW THEY PLANT THE TREES

Cooperators of the Clinton County Soil Conservation District planted 49,800 conifer trees, 2,800 multiflora rose, 500 honeysuckle, 500 autumn olive, 200 Siberian crab, 30 Carpathian walnut seeding trees, 360 Carpathian walnut seeds and 550 black walnut seeds this spring. Much of the planting was done using tree planters in the manner which Ken Grubaugh uses on the William Warnke farm. A total of 68 cooperators planted trees, shrubs and nuts.

Farm families eat more food

Farm families consume more milk, grains, sugars and fats than their city cousins. And the difference is not only in quantity, say Michigan State University scientists.

For example, the farm family uses nearly a quart more of milk and milk products per person a week. Since they home-produce 68 per cent of their milk, say the researchers, they use a large proportion in its original form and less as processed milk or cheese than families who generally buy their milk.

Rural families not only have considerably more grain products in their diets, but they also use a larger proportion as cereal or a flour for home baking.

The MSU scientists add that farm families also used more eggs, but city families consume about one-half pound more per person of meat, poultry and fish.

Nonfarm families use more vegetables, fruit and potatoes than farm families. But the latter, with their home food production and preservation, eat proportionally more fresh vegetables and more home canned or frozen vegetables.

Approximately 450 business concerns, organizations and individuals make annual contributions to the Future Farmers of America Foundation, Inc. which provides a national awards program for FFA members.

Hours long, investment high for dairyman

A recent survey of 266 specialized Southern Michigan dairymen showed they worked 3,315 hours in 1966 — about 64 hours a week — and earned a labor-management income of $7,200.

This figures out to $2.19 an hour. Factory laborers in the same area averaged more than $3 an hour.

Michigan State University scientists who conducted the survey said these dairymen, generally recognized as being above the state average, had an average investment of $128,566, were farming 264 acres and milking 51 cows.

Gross income on these farms was $36,985. Costs were $34,697. This included payment of $1.50 to the farm operator for his labor. The remainder of his $2.19 an hour income was for his management.

As a result, said the MSU researchers, the operator earned $2,268 for his managerial skills.

National FFA officers (there are six) travel extensively. During the year term of office each officer will travel 50,000 miles or more, and spend about two-thirds of his time working in the interest of the FFA.

While farms are becoming larger, 96 per cent of the nation's farms are still family-owned. They account for 73 per cent of all marketings.

Farm future holds no garden

Many farmers, who have historically grown a good share of their own food, will not even have a home garden by 1980.

This is the part of the trend for farmers to become more highly specialized, say Michigan State University scientists. The farmer will be growing only one or two food products and will be selling most of these.

The trend has been evident for several years, say the researchers. They note that farmers and their families produced 61 per cent of their own food in 1942 and 41 per cent in 1966.

Reduced services seen if charter amendment voted down June 21

A very special election will be held Wednesday, June 21, for the City of St. Johns. All registered voters in the city of St. Johns are eligible to vote on the crucial issue on this ballot.

This election will have only one proposition on which the voters are asked to amend the City Charter so that the tax limit for the City of St. Johns would be the same as the limit in the State law. A similar proposal was voted down by the voters not long ago and the city Commission wishes all voters to carefully understand and consider this issue.

Attempting to operate the governmental functions of the City of St. Johns on $118,868 less in revenue will prove impossible and this in effect is what the voters at the last election forced on the City Commission.

WITHOUT voter approval on this change in wording for the City Charter the City Commission will have to revert to some or all of the alternatives listed below: Reduce the police department expenses and also citizen protection by cutting the department; Eliminate most of the expenses at the City Park; Eliminate or charge special millage and/or fees for garbage and rubbish service; Charge for entry into and use of the city landfill; Reduce the expenses of the fire department through cut backs which of course would also reduce the effectiveness of their service and Special assess the entire cost of all new street paving projects.

Also: Discontinue the current street tree program and order the entire cost of removal of street trees to be paid in advance by the property owners; Charge special millage for library services; Curtail and postpone public improvements; Curtail or eliminate maintenance operation on public right of ways and buildings and increase all permits and fees, and initiate service charges for all services problems; Increase the parking meter rates in the downtown area and raise the fines from the present 25¢ to $2; Impose a business license ordinance with license fees and Enact an income tax ordinance charging a 1 per cent levy on all taxable incomes to residents of the City of St. Johns and a 1/2 per cent levy on all incomes earned by non-residents who work in St. Johns.

MANY OF THE ABOVE items would effect only very short term savings and would only increase the cost of City operations at a future date.

The St. Johns City Commission hopes that each citizen will carefully weigh the alternatives and it points out that this crucial issue will be voted on June 21. It was not designed as a means of increasing taxation and is only intended to maintain the status quo.

A yes vote on the issue will not mean any increase in taxes for the coming year. It will allow the City to maintain its services for the coming year.

Teaching of values schools' job, too

A Guest Editorial By MAURY VINCENT City Editor, Macomb Daily

In Chicago, an engineering firm employee gritted his teeth on his pipe stem and bitterly mentioned to anyone who would listen that he's "fed up with surly waitresses and Alabama juries" and is going to live in Sweden. He said "The American people just don't care about each other, and the situation is getting worse."

many are now saying that the building of character is not the concern of the public school. Some college educators are encouraging sexual laxity on campus. Co-eds can obtain birth control pills upon request. Student demonstrations in favor of four-letter words and other forms of license labeled freedom go unquelled. Unlike our Chicago friend, not everybody runs away from the situation . . . most stay and fight. There are nearly a million teachers in America now committed to the reversal of this trend toward chaos. Through their elected delegates to the National Education Assn.'s annual convention last summer, the teachers passed a resolution declaring that "the schools should play an important part in the building of moral and spiritual values."

delegates further stated that "the complex and difficult problems which our youth now face will require a strength of character, and a set of values which alone can supply the courage and power to hold steadfastly to those ideals and spiritual concepts on which this nation was founded." The resolution also urged teachers "to take the lead in developing programs of education which highlight the moral and spiritual foundations of our American way of life." But, like most everything else these days reflecting a Christian-like attitude, the resolution was not won without a struggle. Several years ago, at the NEA convention in Detroit, a handful of teachers, determined that America must supply the world with an ideology superior to communism or any other "ism" and convinced that America had the seeds of such a superior ideology deep in her heritage, determined to make a stand for the right. Speaking before 10,000 delegates and guests of Cobo Hall, they were laughed to scorn. Slowly, however, other NEA members joined their ranks over the ensuing months and in Seattle the resolution on moral and spiritual values was first passed over strong opposition by militant minorities. Last year, an editing committee completely revised the original version, reversing its intent by emphasizing that each student must be free to do as he chooses. Ah, but in the cavernous Madison Square Garden last July there was a groundswell of support for a return to the original resolution, and the rank and file membership fought through to victory. Said one California teacher during the battle: "We are too near Berkeley, with its student riots and cries of freedom, to be lured by the substitute resolution. Adopting it would mean that every student in my classroom would have the right to behave as he pleases. I feel we have too much talk of rights without responsibilities." So it is that teachers across the nation plan to implement the resolution, in their own schools and their communities. Character-building workshops for teachers are being started and multiplied. The NEA is lobbying in Washington for the "rearming of the hearts of our youth." And PTA groups are working to back them up. And for parents who might protest this "take over" by the schools of the responsibility to re-instill moral and spiritual values in their children, isn't it a sad commentary indeed when the necessity for this exists? Had it started in the home in the first place. . . .

Goodwill Week time to support rehabilitation

Goodwill Industries will be receiving well-deserved recognition during Goodwill Week being observed May 7-13.

Without special help, handicapped people are often relegated to isolated lives confined to homes or institutions without opportunity, without work, dependent on families or taxpayers. An important answer to this problem has been found in vocational rehabilitation workshops, where handicapped people can be helped through counseling, evaluation, training, jobs and placement help. The 175 Goodwill Industries programs comprise the largest group of such workshops in the nation.

The purpose of Goodwill Week is to bring public attention to the handicapped and in areas where rehabilitation workshops operate to encourage support through donations of materials or money which make the operations possible. Local businesses and public service groups seeking ways to help the handicapped in their own communities may secure information from Goodwill Industries of America, Inc., 1919 New Street, N.W., Washington, D.C.

In these days when the answers to so many of our social problems are being sought in multi-billion dollar federal welfare programs, it is tremendously encouraging to see the spirit of voluntary self-help still strongly at work in the land. Goodwill Industries deserves the thanks, the respect, the cooperation and the support of every one of us.

RAMBLIN' with Rink

By LOWELL G. RINKER

There is quite a furor going on now, as I'm sure you're aware, about whether Michigan should be on daylight savings time or standard time. Being a native of Illinois, I have been in and out of daylight savings time enough to be confused. Twice a year we had to change our clocks - forward in the spring and back in the fall. It seemed kind of silly. When daylight time was in effect the sun wasn't above the horizon one minute longer during a day than if we had been on standard time.

OF COURSE, THE real reason for daylight time is to provide an extra hour between your normal quitting time from work and sunset. In one respect this is fine, but usually about April 30 I would just be getting used to getting up in the morning during daylight and then suddenly, on daylight savings time it would be dark when I get up. The federal law making daylight time mandatory unless the state legislatures specifically exempt themselves from it is probably good because it keeps everything on an even keel. In looking at a map of the United States time zones, Michigan is probably the only state that does have any reason for logically exempting themselves. We actually are geographically in the central standard time zone. If we were by law on central time then I could see where daylight savings time might be believeable even though confusing.

WHY THE LEGISLATURE at some time past figured we should be on eastern time I don't know. Perhaps the reason is similar to the one given in the story about why the folks of the Upper Peninsula voted to join Michigan rather than Wisconsin - they liked the weather better in our state.

The inclusion of all of Michigan in one time zone was a wise move by the Legislature this year, but it would have seemed to be more logical to put us all on central time. But, as it is now, daylight savings time for Michigan doesn't seem logical. If savings time proponents are so sure of the beneficial effects, I would urge immediate legislation for a monthly savings time where we would set the calendar ahead one month and hope it would bring us warmer weather, then back in the fall to prevent too fast a jump into winter.

In 1940 one man on the farm fed himself and ten others; today he feeds himself and 35 others. This is the result of mechanization, better seeds and better agricultural practices, according to the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

They are accomplishing this through the back door, via subsidiaries in Europe. Thus, sales and profits from dealing with Eastern European nations are buried in the consolidated corporate reports of U. S. companies and are reflected in export figures from European nations, rather than in U. S. trade totals.

VICTOR C. Squitieri Jr., manager on Honeywell Inc.'s commercial controls division for continental Europe, says, "Of the commercial equipment we sell (in East Germany) about 60% is made in West Germany and counts as German exports."

The U. S. trading role has been taken over by overseas subsidiaries to such an extent that some Communist countries apparently aren't aware they're dealing with American companies. East Germans failed to identify as American more than 20 subsidiaries and ventures of such giants as Ford Motor Co. and H. J. Heinz (both counted as British), Honeywell (West German) and General Electric (French). The Communists aren't the only ones overlooking the American role in sales behind the Iron Curtain. "Britain Wins Moscow Order for Landing Aid System" reads a London Times headline. The story deals with a $280,000-plus Russian order for an instrument landing system to be installed by Standard Cables and Telephones, Ltd., at Moscow's Sheremetyevo Airport. MICHIGAN MIRROR

The pre-trial news haggles—much ado about nothing?

BY ELMER E. WHITE Michigan Press Assn.

Is it much ado about nothing—or very little? This is the question in minds of many newsmen in discussions regarding pre-trial information.

The State Bar of Michigan arranged a May 2 meeting of lawyers, police and court officials, and representatives of newspapers, radio and TV to discuss this topic.

Earlier Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley called a small group of media representatives for a similar discussion.

The only thing certain is that there will be more meetings between bar, police and media groups before the subject is considered closed.

THERE IS NO PROBLEM. This is the opinion of many newsmen and some from other fields. The attorney general stated on several occasions that his office has no record of complaints that news coverage was involved in an unwarranted verdict.

U.S. Court of Appeals Judge George Edwards says he has yet to see a trial which could not be fair if basic procedures now in effect are followed by courts.

Judge Edwards warns that proposals by the American Bar Assn. which limit information which could be released are vague. He urges lawyers "not to throw the baby out with the bath water", stating that there really isn't much of a pre-trial information problem. He warns further that efforts recommended by the ABA constitute a dangerous form of threat to freedom of speech.

Some attorneys argue that pre-trial news does deprive defendants of a fair trial. No one could or would name a specific case where this was true when challenged to do so at the May 2 meeting.

NEWSPAPER REACTIONS VARY. At other times and places various newsmen have expressed themselves strongly. One editor said he is sick of discussing this topic in generalities and resents the implication that media have been doing something wrong.

Another argues that the courts are the key. If judges will use machinery now available to them, a fair trial can be guaranteed to any defendant. Still another points out that the discussion shows a lack of confidence in jurors. There is no reason to assume, he states, that a juror has to be ignorant of a case in order for him to make a fair judgment at a trial.

"Proposed orders which would restrict the release of information by law enforcement officers are an unwarranted judicial invasion of the executive branch of government," stated Norman C. Rumble, managing editor of the Midland Daily News and president of the Michigan Press Assn. In addressing the State Bar meeting, Rumble questioned the basic concept that there is evidence to show that pre-trial publicity in the presence of sound judicial operation has limited a fair trial. He reported that the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. has a grant of $150,000 for an independent study to determine whether there is basis for claims that crime news reporting prevents fair trials. Rumble suggested that results of this study would better define the need for more discussion.

"GOALS OF THE PRESS and the bar should be the same, Rumble stated; "protect the public, acquit the innocent and convict the guilty."

Want to guess how many newspapers there are in the state? Here's the answer. There are 55 daily newspapers and about 300 weeklies.

Their combined circulation, according to figures at the beginning of 1967, is 3,680,594. This is an increase of 3 percent over the previous year.

Circulation ranges from the Detroit News with a Sunday circulation of nearly one million to the Fair Haven Journal with a circulation of 387. In between are some of the finest newspapers in the world, each serving its community.

THERE HAS BEEN LITTLE variation in the number of newspapers in Michigan over the last 25 years. As economic changes have brought about new communities, local newspapers have been quick to spring into existence. At the same time, those communities which grew smaller and smaller found that the newspaper which served them either ceased publication or was merged with one nearby.

Circulation grew rather steadily over the past quarter-century, a remarkable trend when it is realized that the Detroit Times and Grand Rapids Herald, both large dailies at the time they suspended publication, left a large total which had to be offset by smaller increases in many newspapers all over the state.

A record 100 million kilowatts of new generating capacity is on order and scheduled for operation in the U.S. during 1966 through 1970 and later. This is greater than all the electric utility capacity in service at the end of 1953. Consumers Power Co. is constructing a nuclear power plant 35 miles west of Kalamazoo which will have an initial capacity of 710,000 kilowatts.

"Haven't you ever seen a Mexican Chihuahua before?"

ON CAPITOL HILL

WITH CONGRESSMAN GARRY BROWN

Because I have received so many requests to assist people with difficulties they may be experiencing, I feel the following information may be beneficial and helpful to all citizens in the district.

In addition to being your legislative spokesman, your congressman can frequently help out through some of the "red tape," if you have business with the federal government or problems with any of its agencies. I can't guarantee we will always get the result that is wanted, but I can assure you your request will receive prompt attention from our office toward the favorable solution of your problem.

Whenever possible, put the information in writing. When there's a time problem, of course, call, and I or a member of my staff will get to work on the problem at once. Complying with the following will expedite your case:

- 1. FULL NAME and address of everyone involved.
2. If it is a social security, veterans, immigration or similar problem we need the case number.
3. If it is a military problem, we need the serviceman's full military address, rank and serial number.

GENERAL HELPFUL GUIDELINES

Military Cases

1. For a hardship discharge, compassionate transfer, etc., the serviceman himself must make application. Full documentation should be submitted proving that the hardship is much greater than experienced by other servicemen. Hardship discharges are not granted on the basis of financial difficulties alone; nor is a wife's pregnancy, in itself, sufficient reason for discharge or transfer.

2. We cannot keep only sons from going to Vietnam. The only persons guaranteed non-combat duty are "sole surviving sons"—those sole remaining sons whose brothers, sisters, or father were killed in military service or died as a result of military injuries.

3. In an emergency leave situation (death or serious illness in the family) contact the Red Cross immediately. The military will accept a Red Cross wire as proof; they will not accept a personal communication, even from a congressman.

Social Security Cases

1. After application, a 60 day delay normally occurs before benefits are received. However, some medicare claims have taken longer. We can expedite them if we have a full social security number and full name. Keep in mind, medicare is administered by the state, not the federal government. Information on medicare can be obtained through your county social welfare agency.

2. Social security disability cases are more complicated. Definitions for "total disability" vary in different government agencies, so the fact that a person has been found disabled by one government department may not necessarily mean that he is also disabled under the social security law.

Veterans Administration Cases On the whole, VA cases are handled quite promptly. However, we will always be glad to request that they expedite them; reopen or re-examine any claim turned down, etc. It is helpful to know the exact nature of a person's disagreement with the VA when we get in touch with them.

Immigration Cases Persons attempting to get permanent residence in the U.S. (with a few exceptions) must receive certification from the Department of Labor that they will not compete with Americans for jobs. Those who have special skills are the easiest to get in. Application for such clearance needs to be made on form ES 575 at the nearest employment security office of the Labor Department. Your post office should also be able to furnish the forms or the address where they can be acquired.

Birch swinging many lads' 'space' adventure

HAYDN PEARSON

We do not know whether astronauts preparing to travel to distant planets have considered birch swinging as part of their training program. In terms of mileage to the moon or to Mars, a height of 15 to 25 feet does not seem very daring. But there are men of dignity and girth who have tried space travel from a slender birch tree. Before the circus of civilization became a 10-ring affair, country lads provided their own amusements, and one popular spring pastime was birch swinging. One did not need launching pads, rockets, or complicated scientific equipment. The one essential was the right kind of birch tree. A white or gray birch about 20 feet high was needed with a clear landing spot a few feet distance.

A lad worked his way slowly up the tree, gaining a foothold on the short, supple branches. Millions of years ago birches grew on the windswept tundras of the northland. Into their cells was built the remarkable elasticity that permits a birch to bend low and swing back to position. When one neared the top, he could feel the slender trunk begin to bend. One surveyed the ground, took another hand hold a foot or two higher, gained a firm grip, and then flung his body out into the wild blue yonder. Only one's hands had contact with the tree. If all went well, the tree bent far over. For a wonderful, fleeting second or two, a lad was out in space. Then he landed safely on earth. We do not wish to be an astronaut, but there are those who can understand something of the wonderful sensation of flying through space.

Requests We are always glad to furnish information concerning legislation and government publications. We cannot always acquire government publications on a free basis, but we will try. Of course, we are especially interested in your views on legislation pending before Congress. You can be sure that all letters are carefully read and considered by your Congressman.

Thoughts in Passing

No publicity campaign has ever been 100 percent successful. We all make mistakes and miss opportunities.

Somewhere along the line a name is misspelled in print. If you have kept a carbon copy of that news release, you can probably show Mrs. Zilch it was not your error.

Did well-planned, accurately presented news fail to appear? There are often reasons beyond the editor's or program director's control. Big news at press or air time can upset the best laid plans. Just keep your fingers crossed that a great national tragedy or triumph will not push your story aside.

If you have followed the how-to's in this handbook, it is safe to assume your year has been a successful one. Part of what your successor will bless you for is a running record of what you have accomplished, and how it was done.

The club scrapbook tells part of this story. Your records will tell the rest. After each important event is over, make a few notes of what worked and why, and what failed and why you think it happened.

Your successor's lot will be an easier one if you have said a nice thank-you at the end of the year to members of the press who have cooperated. Such a gesture is sure to make their reception of your successor a warm, friendly encounter.

One final, happy thought... As you turn your records over to your successor you will know that though outsiders think you have worked magic to do such a fine publicity job, it was simply a matter of knowing the rules and following them.

Battle of Midway

(Editor's Note: Janie Meyer, daughter of Mr and Mrs Frederick G. Meyer of 710 S. Oakland Street, St. Johns, won the fifth grade essay writing contest sponsored earlier this year in St. Johns by the River Wabwaysin chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Here is her winning essay on the general subject of great American naval battles.

BY JANIE MEYER
Fifth Grade
St. Joseph School

The decisive battle of Midway took place on June 3, 4, 5 and 6, 1942, between the United States Navy and the Imperial Japanese fleet.

The Japanese put together powerful forces for an invasion of Midway. They accounted for the location of American carriers. One thing they didn't know made the difference. United States Navy Intelligence was breaking enemy codes and knew where and when the next battle would be.

A fleet, quickly assembled, included three aircraft carriers, eight cruisers, 14 destroyers, and 25 submarines.

ADMIRAL SPRUANCE commanded the Enterprise - Hornet force. The Yorktown sailed to meet them on June 2. Admiral Fletcher was in local command. Together they took a position north of Midway.

Japanese forces moving toward Midway totaled more than 100 vessels including 11 battleships and four aircraft carriers. The armada was commanded by Admiral Yamamoto.

Dawn of June 4 found Midway and the American carriers exposed under clear skies. The enemy was moving under cloud cover. A pilot, flying over the edge of the overcast, came upon the Japanese force. This was information the Americans needed. Every plane able to fly cleared the runways to go after the enemy carriers. The first attack failed as the old, slow United States fighters were no match for the powerful zeros.

The second attack followed soon after. Planes from the Hornet flew in over the task force to attack. All were destroyed with no hits.

THE ENTERPRISE FIGHTERS then came in where they met with planes from the Yorktown. Most of these fighter planes were shot down. None had put its torpedo into an enemy ship. The dive bombers attacked the Kaga, Soryu, and Akagi. They scored direct hits, disabling all three carriers.

Later the same day Japanese dive bombers attacked the Yorktown getting three direct hits, but it didn't win. Thirty minutes later torpedo planes dropped two torpedoes which struck, and the order to abandon ship was given.

The Enterprise attacked the Hiryu. Dive bombers made six direct hits. It burned all night and sank the next morning. Her captain remained aboard and went down with her.

Yamamoto, so upset by his losses, abandoned plans and headed west. One June 5-6 the Americans chased, hoping to attack the scattered enemy forces. At dawn on June 6 search planes found the Mogami and Mikuma sailing with seven ships. Hits were made on all ships, sinking the Mikuma. The Americans could chase no further as they were running out of fuel.

THE BATTLE WAS costly to the United States but the cost to Japan was far greater. Some 307 Americans were lost; Japan lost 4,500. One hundred and fifty American planes were lost; the enemy lost 258.

Japan's decision to send her fleet across an ocean which she didn't command and to fight in American waters was daring. This mistake, and also because the United States knew almost all their plans, cost Japan the battle. A turning point in the war had been reached.
