ST JOHNS -- In the first Clinton County Soapbox Derby run without the sponsoring help of Chevrolet Division of General Motors, the St Johns Jaycees carried on the tradition of the local derby without a hitch.

The Jaycees, with assistance from Bee's Chevy-Olds, local businesses, citizens and area Jaycee organizations sponsored their 11th annual running of the derby, a project abandoned by many communities when the Chevrolet sponsor was no longer available.

Winner of the St Johns Derby and the right to compete at the national finals in Akron, Ohio was Charlie Stiles of Lansing.

He was presented with a $500 savings bond from Rollin Huard, representing Clinton National Bank, sponsor of the 1st place award.

Award for best constructed car went to Barry Flowers with car number 45 and Craig Boling in car number 4 took best designed car honors.

Earl Lancaster named president of board

ST JOHNS -- Earl Lancaster was named new president of the Clinton Memorial Hospital Board of Trustees at the annual meeting of the Board recently. Lancaster, superintendent of the St Johns Public School system, succeeds Lorenz Tiedt, who was named vice president.

Other officers named were Conrad Siem, Jr, second vice president and Charles Huntington, succeeding John Rumbaugh as secretary-treasurer.

Parade set for 7 pm

ST JOHNS -- The annual Memorial Day parade in St Johns will be held Thursday beginning at 7 pm. Entries will assemble at the intersection of Clinton and Railroad Streets.

Dr James Grost, chief of staff at Clinton Memorial announced that "we are on the verge of signing another doctor" to help alleviate the shortage of physicians. The prospective doctor was not named.

Currently there are 8 doctors on the active staff of the hospital. Dr Heland Garapetian, who joined the staff last year, now has full staff privileges.

Dr Robert W. Clifford, eye, ear, nose and throat specialist from Owosso, currently is holding weekly clinics. When related surgery is needed, Dr John Hofstra, anesthesiologist from Owosso, works with him. These 2 part-time doctors, along with 11 others, comprise the staff.

Other changes include the possible addition of a part-time urologist, and participation in an extern program, beginning in June. A medical student will spend 8 weeks here, initiating the hospital's 1st venture into the training field.

X-ray department expansion is underway, making the staff available 4 days a week instead of the present 3. The department is currently open 24 hours every day, but the radiologist is available only part-time.

Other new items this year include a "Meals on Wheels" program, which delivers hot meals to sick and elderly persons in the area, candlelight dinners for new parents, a new assortment of toys for the Pediatrics Ward and new x-ray and cardio equipment.

The Chief of Staff will now be included on the Board of Directors resulting from a change in the by-laws.

This addition increases the size of the Board to 8 members

Shopping center plans progress in St Johns

ST JOHNS -- If plans go according to schedule a shopping center being built by Juanita O'Leary of St Johns should get underway within a month.

Ms O'Leary, owner of the Wheel Inn on US-27 told the County News Monday that a Michigan grocery chain was nearing an agreement to contract for 20,000 square feet of the shopping center north of the Wheel-Inn and that Clinton National Bank had expressed a strong interest in establishing a drive-in banking facility in the shopping area.

In addition to the supermarket and banking facility, the shopping center is planned to house other retail businesses with leasing offered to local establishments who may wish to locate at the US-27 location.

Facing US-27 from the east, the shopping center plans call for 174 parking places in front of 5 possible future retail businesses and 128 parking places in front of the supermarket.

Plans call for the possible addition of 5000 square feet in the supermarket plus 49 future parking places.

Total square footage of the shopping center, in addition to the supermarket, would be approximately 52,000 square feet.

Fires caused by negligence will cost Bath residents

BATH -- Residents of Bath Township who call the Fire Dept to blazes caused by their own negligence are going to be billed a flat fee of $75 per run. The ruling was passed Monday night following word from the township attorney that such a practice is legal since it is a charge for negligence rather than for a fire run.

Section 6, ordinance 3, according to the Township Board, allows them to charge for negligence.

Township Supervisor Roy VanSickle noted that there have been 3 fires since March 27, which were determined by the Fire Dept to be caused by neglect.

ALL 3 FIRES, March 27 at 5902 Clark Rd, March 28 at 9286 E M-78 and April 6 at 16964 Newton Rd, were determined to be caused by violations of the trash burning regulations. The residents of these addresses will be billed $75.

The motion to charge the flat rate was made by Trustee John Snider, supported by Trustee Richard A. Bragdon, and passed unanimously by the Board.

It was noted by the Board that the radar device to be used on a trial basis by the Police Dept was demonstrated May 10 and was used for the 1st time this week.

SUPERVISOR VANSICKLE commended Chief Myron Steffes for the policy he set with regard to use of the radar. Steffes told his men that the device is not a money-making thing, and should serve only as a deterrent to speeders. The Dept will issue a warning to speeders on the 1st offense, unless they are guilty of flagrant violations, and will issue tickets for the 2nd offense.

The radar will be used on a trial basis for 90 days at a cost of $214.86, which can be applied toward the total cost of $2185 if the township decides to purchase the device.

A discussion was held on the new 911 emergency dialing system to be initiated in the greater Lansing area. A letter was received by the Board asking them for a letter of cooperation by June 11.

ROUGH ESTIMATES of an annual fee of $42,500 to be distributed between all participating municipal bodies, and a 1-time charge of $1100 for installation were given in the letter.

The service, if installed, would allow anyone to dial "911" and immediately reach emergency assistance through a central dispatcher in Lansing. The dispatcher would then relay to various ambulance, fire and emergency operations necessary information

THE ADVANTAGE of this system, according to VanSickle, would be to free the person calling for help from having to find an emergency number, have correct change if in a phone booth, and other time consuming items.

So far 35 units of government in the area have sent letters of cooperation.

Treasurer Thomas Woodruff moved, seconded by Trustee Snider, that the Clerk send a letter stating that the township is tentatively in favor of the program, depending upon township cost. Motion carried unanimously.

IT WAS ALSO DECIDED by the Board to again donate $200 toward the weed control program in Park Lake. Trustee Snider reported that the program was successful last year and recommended that it be continued

The Board authorized Treasurer Woodruff to invest in 2 $25,000 time certificates, which will yield $600 apiece at maturity.

Clerk June Burnett was authorized to purchase a new IBM Selectric typewriter at a cost, including governmental agency discount, of $495.

The Michigan Public Service Commission has scheduled hearings on the applications filed in Case Nos. U-4331 and U-4332 and on the Motion for Partial and Immediate Rate Relief in Case No. U-4331 and has ordered that notice be given that:

Consumers Power Company in Case Nos. U-4331 and U-4332, and cross-examining such direct cases of Consumers Power Company.

C. A public hearing will be held on Consumers Power Company's Motion for Partial and Immediate Rate Relief at an appropriate time during these rate proceedings following the conclusion of the cross-examination of the direct case of Consumers Power Company and the receiving of the report of the Staff of the Commission. Notice of the precise date, time and place of said public hearing will be mailed to all participants of record in the July 2, 1973 public hearing and in the hearings commencing on July 3, 1973 in Case No. U-4331.

D. The Commission, on its own motion during the course of these proceedings, Case Nos. Right to Life organizations announce convention

Michigan Citizens for Life (MCL) is a non-sectarian, non-partisan organization of pro-life groups in the state. Its purpose is to coordinate the activities of local groups who are committed to articulate and protect the right to life of all human beings, born and unborn.

Local groups active in MCL include St Johns Right to Life, Christian Service Commission, Ovid Right to Life, as well as the Michigan Right to Life groups of Fowler, Pewamo, and Westphalia.

Within the state, MCL coordinates educational activities, and supports and initiates political, legal, and legislative efforts so that full protection of the laws of our state and nation will once again be afforded to all human beings. MCL also supports and coordinates Michigan pro-life activities with those of other states, and the nation as a whole.

Shirley Rasmussen, representing the St Johns Right to Life organization said: "We can be proud that the national pro-life movement feels Michigan is very significant in the future passage of a Constitutional amendment, overturning the January 22 Supreme Court decision. Michigan overwhelmingly defeated abortion last November, one reason why National Right to Life has chosen our state to host the national convention June 8-10, in Detroit."

Get your phones in first. It helps everything else fall into place.

Anybody who's about to move has our sympathy. We know how complicated it is just figuring out how to rearrange your furniture, let alone your life.

For instance, you'll probably need to get in touch with your new grocer, milkman, school, and gas and electric company offices as soon as you've moved in. (And the list doesn't end there.)

Which is why now is the time to get in touch with us. Decide on how many new phones you'll need and where you'll need them, and we'll install these links to the outside world before you move in.

But be sure and give yourself enough time to select your phones. Because there's a lot to choose from. We've got compact Starlite® phones with dials that glow in the dark. Super-modern Styleline® phones with their dials in their handsets. Nostalgic Candlestick phones—the last word in elegant conversations.

These phones are available in many interesting colors, too.

So picking out and ordering the phones you'll want should be a lot of fun.

And remember, having the fun now—before you move—will probably make your life a lot more pleasant later on.

CLINTON NATIONAL

This is John Fink Family Week
(of Fowler)

The intent of our citizen of the week program is to recognize individuals who contribute to the community's well-being, but this week we expand recognition to include an entire family. Over 38 years ago, Mr. and Mrs. John Fink, now deceased, began alerting the community to fire emergencies and through the years their children - Harold, Helen and Isadore - took their turns "standing guard". During that span of years there was always someone at home to spread the alarm in the event of threat to life or property and officials can only hope that a mechanical alert system recently installed will be as effective for as long a period of time. With the installation of the new equipment, the Fink family will "retire" from their long-standing alert amid words of appreciation and praise from their neighbors. For their concern and willingness to serve their community we are pleased to honor the memory of Mr. and Mrs. John Fink and their children who continue to live in the Fowler area, Harold, Helen and Isadore.

House approves Warners' Farm Tax Relief Act

LANSING — The State House of Representatives has given approval to the Warner Farm Tax Relief Act of 1973. By a vote of 77-19 the House passed State Representative Dale Warner's proposal Wednesday (May 16) and sent the bill to the Senate for study and approval.

Rep Stanley Powell is co-sponsor of the bill.
Representative Warner's proposal, House Bill 4244, provides for a specific tax with a much lower rate (than the property tax) for agricultural land. Qualifying farm land will be taxed at a rate based upon actual soil capacity, not on an unproven value to developers or speculators.

"This tax relief bill," said Warner, "will go a long way toward preserving our farms and many acres of open space land. Particularly, farms which are located near cities, expressways, and commercial developments will receive this necessary protection."
"I am delighted at the support this bill received, both from city and outstate legislators," Warner said. While all 19 negative votes were cast by city representatives, Warner pointed out that many big-city legislators were among the 77 who voted YES.

"Speaker William Ryan supported the bill. So did Taxation Committee Chairman George Montgomery. Both of these men are from the city of Detroit, but after I discussed the farm land tax relief proposal with them, they recognized the need for saving our farmers from crushing property tax burdens," said Representative Warner.
The Warner tax relief bill now goes to the Senate. "I hope that the Senate, too, will recognize the crushing inequities which force farmers and horticulturists off their land through confiscatory, mounting taxes," said Warner, "and that they act very quickly to ensure that next year's tax bill for farm land is based on this proposal."

"It is time we asked ourselves, 'what is the first requirement for our survival?'" The fair answer is food, and I am glad the House of Representatives has given consideration to those who have devoted their lives to producing it," said Representative Warner.

Those elected will serve terms of 3 years.

Elsie cow is "tops"

A cow owned by an Elsie dairyman, and his son, has qualified for listing among the Michigan Dairy Herd Improvement Association's exclusive "Top Twenty" high producers for the month of April.
Frank Rivest's 48 month old Holstein cow, with the barn number 31, completed her 305 M.E. lactation record with 20,696 pounds of milk, 921 pounds of butterfat and a 4.5 test. This is truly an outstanding record as compared to the state-wide Holstein Breed average of 13,862 pounds of milk and 508 pounds of butterfat.

Rivest and his son have their herd enrolled in the DHIA testing program and are supervised by Edward Janicek of Corunna. They work in cooperation with Earl Haas, Clinton County Extension Agent and Michigan DHIA, Inc.

St Johns pounds Ionia, falls to Alma

After pounding Ionia 10-3, May 15, the St Johns Redwings fell to Alma 11-6 May 17.

In the Ionia contest, the Redwings exploded for 3 runs in the opening inning, added 2 runs with 1 each in the 2d and 3d and sent 4 more across in the 4th. They added 1 more in the 5th.

While St Johns picked up

13 hits in the contest, Ionia had only 2 hits in the contest.
In the Alma game, St Johns came up with 3 runs in their half of the 7th, but it wasn't enough to close in on the Alma Panthers who sent 7 runners across in the 3d on their way to an 11-run game.

The Panthers picked up 13 hits in the contest, while the Redwings scored their 6 runs on 7 hits.

Defensively St Johns committed only 4 errors, while the Panther fielders were charged with 8.

Surgery saves fingers cut off by mower

ELSIE -- David Jones, age 6, probably doesn't know how lucky he is. Davey, the son of Mr and Mrs Richard Riggs, 8850 N Krepps Rd, was riding on a lawnmower with his grandfather and 2 other children last week when he fell off the front and caught his hands under the blade. Doctors at Clinton Memorial Hospital recommended that he be taken to Lansing, so Davey was then taken to St Lawrence Hospital. The Riggs found a surgeon who, after 3-1/2 hours in the operating room, mended the severed nerves and sewed the little finger on his left hand, thumb on the right and tips of 2 other fingers back on. The doctor said that if it had been somebody older he would have simply removed the fingers. "But he was so young and had his whole life ahead of him that we tried anyway," he added. Davey seems to be recovering satisfactorily and is listed in good condition at St Lawrence Hospital in Lansing, but will have to stay there for a month. He would enjoy hearing from his friends at Eureka School. Friends may write to: David Jones, Room 306, St Lawrence Hospital, Lansing, Mich.

Carland News

Carland United Methodist Church held its annual Mother, Daughter, and grandmother banquet, Wednesday evening at the church proper and church house. Seventy eight ladies, with ages ranging from 3-1/2 months to 96 yrs old, were served by the churchmen to a ham dinner, after Mrs Kaela Krueger gave the invocation. Mrs Leo Deming was toastmistress for the event. The toast to the daughter was given by Mrs Edna Horn; her daughter, Mrs Louis Goodrich, responded with the toast to the mothers. Miss Debbie Goodrich toasted the grandmothers. The decorating committee used spring flowers and Humpty-Dumptys to decorate the dining-room and church; Mrs Deming called all the girls ten yrs old and younger to recite "Humpty-Dumpty", and then treated them all to lollipops. Mrs Marie Woodams of St Johns was invited to give her demonstration on "Hats" for the program. Mrs Deming wrote a poem to introduce Mrs Woodams entitled "Hats are Like Patchwork"; she recited the poem while displaying a patchwork quilt.

Hats are Like Patchwork -- They come in all shapes and sizes. Sometimes worn as charming disguises. Large ones, small ones, a crown and a brim, A pretty one -- to satisfy him.

Hats are like patchwork -- Lines and designs affect their position; If it's pretty enough, it's like ammunition: Worn forward or back, or up on top -- The price may even cause one to eavesdrop.

Hats are like patchwork -- With colors galore, for girls to explore; Hats you adore, but others ignore. With various textures -- come coarse, some fine, Some even made to shade the sunshine.

Hats are like patchwork -- Some demm, some cotton, some even silk -- Depends if it's church, or you're going to milk Marie Woodams will show us, or so I am told, How to wear hats to let your personality unfold.

The skit and display of the many hats that are worn by a farmer's wife, portraying the many jobs a mother has to keep her family happy and prosperous, given by Mrs Marie Woodams, was enjoyed by all. Presentations were made to the youngest granddaughter present, 3-1/2 month old, Brandi Dumond, daughter of Mr and Mrs Larry Dumond. The youngest grandmother was the baby's grandmother, Mrs Dale Dumond. The oldest grandmother present was Mrs Minnie Hurrell, who is 96 yrs old. Mrs Earl Darling won the honor of having the most granddaughters present: She had 4 granddaughters, 9 great granddaughters, and 2 great-great-granddaughters present. Mrs Merv Chamberlain announced the benediction.

Open Letter

from VAN W. HOAG

Dear friends,

It deserves emphasis that the time, the place, the character of the funeral service, the merchandise used, the cemetery selected - these are decisions of the family of the deceased. The funeral director acts only as a representative of the family. The clergyman should be consulted in matters that concern him before any decisions are made.

Respectfully,

Van W. Hoag

The Kennedy administration proposed 1964 wheat control program suffered a stinging defeat in the annual national referendum vote Tuesday, failing to get even a simple majority of "yes" votes, much less the two-thirds majority necessary for passage.

Clinton County Senior Citizens will observe Our Heritage Day, of Michigan Week here Friday afternoon with what promises to be one of the most colorful parades seen on Clinton Avenue in several years.

The Clinton County tax allocation board last Thursday voted to split the county's 15 mills as follows, according to Carl Bates, county superintendent of schools and chairman of the board:

The Hour We Never "Save"

We rise an hour earlier
Though the sun is just the same,
Since we tinkered with the clock again
To find a daylight gain;
I reckon I kin take it
'N I'll try still to be brave,
Endurin' all the fussin'
For the time we didn't save.

I know the meals come earlier
'N we sooner reach the park,
By rootin' all the youngsters out
Fer school — 'bussin' in the dark;
The almanac don't change a bit,
Our clocks are not the knave,
We just have a longer evenin',
By the hour we didn't save!

The summer moons will quickly wane
'N soon we'll turn em back —
The clocks that we depend on
To keep us on the track;
It could mean that we gain an hour
Enroute to early graves,
Why get in such a hurry
For the hour we didn't save!

TODAY'S Real Estate
by HANK FURMAN

There may be many advantages to buying existing homes in the minds of many people. A pre-owned home has proved itself. It is time tested, and the flaws have probably been corrected. Older homes sometimes have larger rooms and more living space. The price of land, labor, and materials has increased steadily through the years. This means that a house built at lower costs will offer more for the money. There are two or three times as many existing homes on the market as there are new homes. However, do not underestimate the value of purchasing a brand new home!

Whether you're looking for a new home or a resale, let the experienced salespeople at FURMAN REALTY CO, 1515 North US 27, 224-3236 help you find it easily. A member of MIS, we can offer the widest possible selection of homes available for sale. And we make sure you get the utmost in personal service and attention. Member of Lansing Board of Realtors. Make a list of necessary improvements to a property and add this to the purchase price. This will give you a good idea of the amount of money necessary for the purchase.

A PERSONAL LOOK AT THE NEWS

Between the lines

with Jim Edwards

During Michigan Week, Between the Lines plays a word game called: IT'S TO LIVE IN MICHIGAN. To know that last snowfall isn't really the last.

...Having many persons from out-of-state automatically, when you say you're from Michigan, assume you live in Detroit.

...Enjoying apples, peaches, pears, cherries etc fresh out of neighboring orchards.

...Traveling just a few miles in most directions to enjoy being near the water.

...Having the Great Lakes and Canada as neighbors.

...Being the only state with 2 peninsulas entirely separated by water.

...Being the home of the nation's largest corporation, a sometimes good and sometimes bad distinction.

...Experiencing 4 distinct seasons of the year -- each with their good and bad points. ...Rooting for the Detroit Lions in the Lower Peninsula and the Green Bay Packers if you live in many parts of the Upper Peninsula.

...Is to have visited towns with the intriguing names of Ontonagon, Menominee, Hell, Paradise, Newaygo, White Cloud, Bad Axe etc.

...Offers the opportunity of such medical facilities as University of Michigan and Henry Ford Hospital.

...Is to be glad the Tigers landed a Baltimore "boy" by the name of Al Kaline.

...Means living in the home state of such personalities as Henry Ford, H. Rap Brown, Soupy Sales, George Romney and others from both ends of the "famous" spectrum.

...Knowing Pelston will be named on the morning weather as the coldest place in the state and, once in a while, on the Today Show for the same dubious honor.

Where is my milk?

Editor, Lapeer County Press

By Jim Fitzgerald

The day started bad and ended worse, with late milk. Everyone has a pet peeve

I had lathered my face for shaving in a Holiday Inn in Detroit. I reached in the toilet case for my razor. It was hard to find among my wife's bottles, tubes, brushes, combs, curlers, coffee pot and indoor grill. In fact, I couldn't find it.

"Where is my razor?" I screamed politely.

My wife made a hurried search and confirmed she'd done it again. She'd forgotten to pack my razor.

"Don't worry about this shaving cream on my face," I said, "my tears will wash it away."

Then we went to the ballpark to see the Tigers lose again. My daughter insisted we sit in the centerfield bleachers so she could get the sun. I don't like to sit in the sun because my face turns red and people call me Cherry Nose. But my wife said there was no need to worry. She pulled a tube of Suntan lotion out of her gigantic purse and slopped grease all over my face.

Immediately the sun went down and never reappeared.

JUST CALL me greasy whiskers. The only decent way to sit in the bleachers is with elbows on knees, and chin in hands. My chin kept slipping through my hands and hitting my knees.

But fruitless lube jobs are not my pet peeve. Stay aboard, we're getting to that now . . .

That evening we went to a fancy restaurant for dinner. And the waitress did it to me again. I told her I wanted milk with my dinner but she didn't think I meant it.

Waitresses never believe I am serious about milk. They will pour me 15 cups of coffee an hour. They will pot me with tea and jug me with wine. But they won't bring me a glass of milk.

Because of my wife's affliction (allergic to Betty Crocker), our family eats out a lot. The kids and Ma always watch with great trepidation as I attempt to get milk. When the waitress, as usual, fails to bring it with the main course, I remind her with great politeness that I ordered milk. I want to scream and pound the table but I don't. After all, this one waitress is not responsible for what a thousand other waitresses have done to me through the years. So, obviously impressed by my charming manners, the waitress says she'll bring the milk right away.

AND THEN I don't see her again for 3 days.

I like to wash my food down with cold milk. So, at first, I don't eat anything, hoping the milk will appear. But the food is getting cold. So I eat it slowly, snarling all the time and eyeing the kitchen door with increasing anger. By now I know my waitress has gone out the back door to catch a train for Wisconsin where she will enroll in an agricultural college and learn how to handle a cow and she will bring my milk the day after she graduates.

And the milk will arrive in an unopened carton, along with a soda straw. Real class. But it doesn't matter. By now my family has carried me outside and dumped me in the car, a sobbing, beaten, hollow shell of the man I used to be before I was weaned. Onward and upward.

It's personal

Moving seems to be one of life's inevitable hassles, at least for me since I'm not heir to any fabulous estates or centennial farms. As the owner of a moving company once told me, "Three moves is like having a fire." Or, as the carpenter working on my house said, "You know, I think it's easier to burn out . . . heh, heh, heh!"

They were both kidding of course, but still the point is clear. Moving is a drag.

I've finally recovered from the trauma of my 12th move in 5 years (I was a typical migrant-type student for 4 of those years), enough to make a few generalizations.

THE FIRST THING I suspect everyone preparing for a move does is make all kinds of noble resolutions . . . "This time we're to organize our packing--let's get lots of boxes and CLEARLY mark what's inside" . . . "OK, everything's packed--where's the cat?" Then it dawns on you that he hasn't been seen for 2 hours and is probably packed inside a box somewhere.

"What do we do with all the empty bottles and dirty ashtrays?" These were used during the actual packing to help ease the pain.

Then you discover that the hitch for the trailer you rented won't fit your car.

AFTER EVERYTHING is finally unloaded at your new place of residence and you've vowed to stay there the rest of your life, it's time to clean up the place and unpack. Ugh.

The bottom drawer in the kitchen doesn't have a handle, and that's where all the miscellaneous junk goes--bits of string, rusty paperclips, cardboard from nylon stocking packages, etc. So, after much struggle, it comes open and there sits a package of rat poison.

THE CREEPIEST PART about moving, though, has to be adjusting to house noises in a new place. Each house has its own particular normal sounds, and my latest is no exception.

The first couple of nights were real thrillers. Maybe I'm just scared of the dark (Actually, there's no maybe about it), but I bolted straight up in bed the first time I heard "Creeeeaaaauk!" After summoning my courage and descending the squeaky stairs, I discovered it was only a metal awning--instead of Godzilla outside the door.

Everything has settled down now. I was informed, after severe panic on my part, that what I thought was a cockroach was only a gigantic centipede; and I haven't seen any rats or mice either. And the place does have a lot of windows.

Reflections on Michigan

ED NOTE: Linda Ernst, daughter of Mr and Mrs Edward Ernst, 4675, Alward Rd, composed this poem, reflecting the theme, "If You Seek a Beautiful Peninsula, Look About You," for the recent state meeting of Child Study Clubs in St Johns.

We feel her thoughts offer a fitting Michigan Week editorial:

My friend remember the days gone past when we weren't living life too fast? We would sit for hours under the big oak tree and we would talk of the day when all men would be free.

Do you remember the time when we packed a picnic and set out for Whites Covered Bridge, we had no idea that there really was such a bridge.

There were nights when we camped out under the star filled sky and never once have we stopped and asked Why?

We went with mom and dad many times and one time we went to the beach, my eyes looked wide with wonderment at where sky and water seemed to meet.

You and I are older now but the memories still remain, wasn't it fun making mud pies in the warm spring rain?

Remember the time when we decided that we liked Michigan best because there is so much to do, always more and more not less.

We picked the wild flowers once, because in the open fields there always seemed to be enough, especially yours and my kind, yellow dandelions.

Remember when Johnny went away to war and he didn't come back and our parents tried to tell us while we were crying what he died for.

We have grown but the memories of these past 16 years live on and on we used to always get up at the break of dawn.

Remember Grandmas scrumptious apple pies and noodles, some of the things we did made us giggle.

We never did like staying indoors when the sun was shining and we never thought of our baby squirrel dying.

My friend, time has gone on and on and summers have come and summers have gone, but it's here in Michigan, my friends and I and our memories shall always stay.

Linda Ernst

Credit to the entire community

The 11th running of the Clinton County Soapbox Derby was a credit to the Jaycees and the community as a whole. Participating in the work of making the Derby a success were, not only the sponsoring St Johns Jaycees, but numerous St Johns residents, Jaycees from neighboring communities and others.

A St Johns man involved in the Derby reported repeated cases of persons calling to ask if they could help in any way. That type of spirit is one of a community's greatest resources.

From helping the boys moving their cars, working with the parade to cleaning up after, the 1973 Soapbox Derby was a success and the community should take pride in the fact that such a project is made a success by unselfish and enthusiastic participation.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

We all know, the law against abortion was soundly beaten in the Nov election. Then the supreme court ruled this out and made abortions legal in Mich. In a local radio broadcast a few days ago Mich attorney general Kelly with 2 others stated -- This new law is "unconstitutional". As we well know it is: Dr Wm Sweeney of New York City (abortions are legal in New York State) states he performs many abortions but speaks out of the danger involved. Page 280 of the Readers Digest: April, 1973.

Mr and Mrs Citizen did you know, as the law now stands, medical students may take aborted babies for research. There is a hospital in Madison, Wis who has set aside one day a week for abortions only. They have also a waiting list.

Some pastors are taking this problem up in their pulpits and why not? The holy scriptures are very plain in places against murder.

So lets all search our bibles Ephesians 4-14 says "We henceforth be no more children tossed to and fro and carried about by every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men and conning craftiness where by they lie and wait to deceive."

A new amendment to our Constitution (ratified by three fourths of our states) would reverse the Supreme Court decision. Also another group who states "Dying with dignity" which is really mercy killing. As worded the new amendment would also do away with that and called "Human Light Amendment". Introduced by Congressman Lawrence Hogan (R-Mo) for more details contact any member of this group who is formed in St Johns. There is no dues or local group meeting. Money is needful but not asked for but is asking we write our Sen and Rep also congressmen accomplishment will not be done very soon but keep at it. This organization is a state wide also national group. National group plans on a national meeting in Detroit June 8, 9 and 10. The program sounds very good and worthwhile.

Thanks to "Clinton County News" for publishing names we should contact in these matters. Keep up the good work.

View from the Senate

By SEN. WILLIAM S. BALLENGER

If you've ever been victimized by false advertising, empty promises, deceptive trade practices or any other of a number of questionable business techniques, help may be on the way before the 77th Michigan Legislature adjourns 20 months from now.

A package of bills in the Legislature designed to tighten laws dealing with real estate, food handling and pricing, auto sales, auto repair, debt management, franchise schemes, collection agencies, gas price, advertising, health care and many other similar topics has just received a major boost from Governor William G. Milliken.

The governor, who had never put the weight of his office behind a major consumer protection effort in the 4 previous years of his administration, came out swinging last week in a special message to the Legislature in which he pledged his support "in the battle to protect the public in the purchase of goods and services."

Because individual legislators have pretty much carried the ball alone over the past few years in this controversial area, I welcome and applaud the governor's entry into the fray.

Saying the "consumer movement represents a yearning for a return to the basic tenets of a free and competitive marketplace," the governor also pointed out that "the philosophy of consumerism is not inconsistent with the need for an expanding economy in the state."

"Rather," he said, "corporate self-interest and consumer interest are ultimately the same -- strengthening protection for the public enhances public confidence in business."

First of all, the governor said he intends to enlarge the Michigan Consumers' Council and has ordered it to plan for a Consumers' Conference to be held next September 25, which he hopes will "set a definitive course for the future of the consumer movement in Michigan."

Operating on the premise that young people should be prepared to distinguish between quality and prices in products and services, the governor said he would support legislation to provide consumer education courses in all secondary schools in the state.

In an effort to minimize unfair and deceptive trade practices, the Governor said he would support strong legislation to prohibit such practices. He would designate the Department of Licensing and Regulation as the agency responsible for investigating such practices and give authority to the attorney general and local prosecutors to prosecute violators.

The proposed legislation would also give people the right to bring individual and class action suits and would provide stiff penalties, including revocation of the right to do business in the state, if necessary.

The governor hopes to provide protection not now available for Michigan citizens who purchase insurance and stiffer regulations governing the advertising of the price of gasoline.

Hitting at "high pressure salesmen and inadequate regulation", the governor would stiffen the licensing law governing real estate transactions, largely by giving the Director of Licensing and Regulation greater authority to suspend, revoke, or deny licenses and to toughen the penalties on unlicensed operators.

Since more than 20 percent of household expenses are for food, he supported legislation to assure that all canned food processed in Michigan is free from bacteria, to give the Department of Agriculture the power to license establishments which handle food, and to explore the prospect of adopting unit pricing legislation in Michigan and the need for additional regulations governing food labeling.

Included in proposed legislation the governor supports are bills to require a one-year warranty against defects on mobile homes, to clarify the power of counties to adopt mobile home park ordinances that exceed the minimum standards set up by the state, and to limit the interest rate charged to persons purchasing mobile homes under the retail installment sales act.

The governor also will recommend legislation to limit within reason the practice of charging entrance fees to mobile home parks and the requirement that mobile homes in a park must be purchased through the park owner or his agent.

One of the governor's major proposals would permit automobile buyers to get redress for defective vehicles from persons or companies which purchase their contracts from the dealer.

The governor said he would name a task force to suggest legislation to protect the public from fraud or misrepresentation into auto repairs.

Among other suggestions, he will support legislation to expand the public interest on state regulatory boards;

Uniform standards for warranties in consumer sales that spell out the obligation of the seller and buyer and provide specific remedies for consumers against non-performance or non-compliance by sellers;

An improved law governing the conduct of debt management companies in obtaining business, processing accounts, and maintaining records;

Effective legislation to require that all franchisees offered for sale in the state be registered to insure against fraudulent schemes;

Tighter control over collection agencies and improvement in health care "delivery" in Michigan.

School Aid?

REP DOUGLAS TREIZE
87th District

The School Aid Bill of 1976? Maybe we've had it before us in 1973 and didn't recognize it. It could well be we have faced an "idea whose time has not come" in the form of a radically different school support proposal made by Rep George Montgomery of Detroit.

Rep Montgomery is best known as the Chairman of the House Taxation Committee but he is a retired educator of long service and also holds a seat on the House Education Committee. As a member of the Taxation Committee, I have come to appreciate his dry wit and respect his views on important issues and certainly Michigan's system of school financing is one of them.

Rep Montgomery's proposal is the only one of the several school plans presented that gives significant property tax relief in all areas of the state. It's the only one which provides that the amount of money spent on each child's education be approximately equal in all parts of the state regardless of local wealth of the district.

The key to success wasn't made to fit a night lath.

And, it's the one with the least likelihood of going anyplace in this session of the legislature. Let's take a look at the proposal and its brief but unique legislative life.

Simply put, Rep Montgomery proposes to preempt 8 mills of the 15 mill limit in all areas of the state and make it a state-wide school tax. This money would be sent to Lansing and put in the School Aid Fund. It, plus other dedicated taxes -- half the sales tax, some liquor and tobacco taxes which are already in the School Aid Fund -- would be used as the principal support for local school districts. The rest of the cost, enough to provide a basic $750 per student, would be provided through general tax revenues -- the income tax, lottery and other general fund sources.

In this form, the Legislature would be acting as a state-wide allocation board as far as schools are concerned by giving that 8 mills to the schools and leaving the remaining 7 mills to be divided locally among the county, township and other local units now sharing in that basic tax levy.

And, it's the one with the least likelihood of going anyplace in this session of the legislature. Let's take a look at the proposal and its brief but unique legislative life.

It is a complicated program to explain but the net result for districts in the 87th House District is a great deal more money for education -- ranging from $115 to $192 more per pupil in the first year -- and a reduced property tax burden. The amount of property tax savings would range from 6 to 10 mills in our districts.

Sounds appealing, doesn't it? But, unfortunately, it doesn't work out this way in all parts of the state. And politics being what they are, the plan never got a fair hearing before the House Education Committee. That committee, chaired by a suburban representative whose district would suffer under the program, routinely passed over this plan and approved a plan similar to the governor's proposal. To counter this action, Rep Montgomery, himself, wielding significant power as chairman of the Taxation Committee, managed to persuade our committee to put his school plan in another bill and report it to the House floor for consideration. In this way, the plan will at least get the discussion it deserves.

But, I don't hold out much hope for its success this year. To accomplish it will require increases in income and other taxes and the climate just isn't right for them. We have just passed a tax reduction package and no one is going to vote for a tax increase at this point.

However, with further court action likely in this whole area and the people of the state still in revolt over property taxes, some new approach to school financing may still be necessary. And, we could well be discussing the form that it will take as we discuss the Montgomery plan in the days ahead.

RADIALS ARE RIGHT FOR SMALL CARS, TOO

Got a Pinto? Vega, Gremlin, Coit or Capri? Consider BFG Radials.

Maybe you didn't realize that a small car requires the tires to work harder to hold the road. Less weight means less traction.

That's why it's a good idea to get the tires that deliver excellent handling, cornering and traction: BFG Radials.

The radial construction allows the sidewalls to remain flexible, to help keep more tread on the road at all times... especially when you need it during fast cornering.

And chances are good that you have your small car for economy. Doesn't it make sense to get tires that are economical, too? BFG Radials are. They ride with less heat build up than ordinary tires. To give you substantially longer wear. The result? Mileage economy in the long run. Come in today; see for yourself.

Farm Tips

By WILLIAM LASHER
Extension Agriculture Agent

Beef producers can substitute three materials for diethylstilbestrol (DES), the synthetic growth promotant banned April 24 as a livestock implant.

Ralgro, Synovex S and Synovex H appear to be as effective as DES implants in improving growth rate and feed efficiency.

But they cost more, 80 to 85 cents per head compared to 30 cents for the banned DES. This added cost can be expected to show up in retail beef prices.

The US Department of Agriculture reports that enough of the three materials are available for widespread use.

RALGRO IS for use in both steers and heifers. Synovex S is for steers, and Synovex H for heifers.

A study is nearing completion at MSU involving 370 head of cattle. DES implants are being compared with Ralgro.

Cattle implanted with Ralgro and Synovex must be kept at least 65 days before sale. This means the farmer loses some market flexibility. Implants also increase labor and management cost but have the potential of reducing feed costs by as much as 10 to 12 percent.

Another growth promotant for heifers only is the use of MGA (mestrol acetate) in feed. MGA was developed primarily to prevent heifers from coming into heat, but it is effective in improving gain and feed efficiency much the same as DES.

MGA must be withdrawn from feed 48 hours prior to slaughter. It costs about a dollar per head.

CATTLE LEGALLY implanted with DES before the ban will still be coming for slaughter during the 120 days following April 26. During this period and following the deadline, federal meat inspectors will continue to sample carcass tissues for DES residue.

The newest tissue analyses can detect minute residues of DES in the liver and kidneys of treated animals as long as 120 days after implantation.

I would urge all cattlemen to burn any DES they still have in their possession.

Want lots of nice, juicy apples to eat this fall? One way to help your trees produce plenty of healthy fruit this year is to start a good disease control program now.

TIPS FOR BACKYARD fruit growers:

Many home fruit growers fail in their disease control programs because they start spraying too late in the spring or discontinue too early in the summer. Start spraying your apple trees at the first sign of new growth - usually no later than the last couple of weeks in April.

If you have only a few trees, it may be most convenient to use a commercially prepared spray designed to control both diseases and insects. Be sure to follow the manufacturer's recommendations.

Three types of sprayers are normally used for spraying small numbers of trees: compressed air sprayers, trombone or slide-type sprayers and wheelbarrow sprayers. If you have more than 12 trees, you'll probably need a power sprayer.

Spray your apple trees once a week through bloom and twice a week during prolonged rainy spells. Don't spray during full bloom or under windy conditions. Dusts are sometimes more convenient for applying fungicides during a rain.

Guard against apple scab, a major disease problem. Apply appropriate fungicides weekly until about the first week in June, then spray every two weeks until seven to 14 days before harvesting.

Mix up a fresh batch of spray for each application. Shake or stir it often while using it.

Be sure to read all pesticide labels carefully and follow safety tips.

Spray your trees thoroughly inside and out. Continue until the spray begins to drip from the tree.

Wet spring "blessing" according to MSU

EAST LANSING -- Most Michigan farmers can consider excess rainfall this spring "a blessing," say Michigan State University crop and soil scientists.

"Spring planting conditions have generally been quite favorable," says Leyton Nelson, MSU crop scientist, "despite the tremendous amount of precipitation since last fall. And, the surplus moisture this spring provides a subsoil water reserve which is usually badly needed later in the summer."

Planting reports all over the U.S. tell of water standing in fields and abnormally late and curtailed spring field work, he points out. But, except for isolated areas of some water damage, Michigan field crops are in good shape, according to Nelson.

Michigan is extremely well-off compared to the states south of us," reports Nelson. "The planting season for Michigan field crops is right on schedule, except for oats and barley, which may be a little behind," he says. "But farmers are still able to plant all of the normal full-season varieties in Michigan."

According to Michigan Crop Reporting Service figures, nearly 25 percent of the acreage for spring planting was plowed as of April 28. This compares to 35 percent at the same time last year. Approximately one-third of the oats and 28 percent of the sugar beets (very close to average) had been planted. However, only about 6 percent of the potatoes were in the ground.

Nelson terms Michigan's favorable position "rather interesting" considering the amount of rain and the two late snow storms this spring - especially in contrast to the usually much earlier corn- and soybean-producing states to the south.

Nelson tends to play down the dramatic news reports about planting conditions elsewhere.

"The news media continue to tell of bad planting conditions all over the U.S. - flooding in the Mississippi Valley and excess moisture in many areas," he points out. "But, Michigan farmers shouldn't be influenced too much by this information. It isn't too late for either corn or soybeans in most of these areas." Nelson uses Arkansas, a state important for soybeans, but not corn, as an example.

"They wouldn't plant 'soys' this early, even if they could plow," he asserts. "They plant 'soys' later - as late as the first of July. In many Southern areas, soybeans are double-cropped after winter small grains are harvested."

The crop scientist explains that planting statistics can change in a hurry. "Three or four good days in a row can change the situation tremendously," Nelson stresses. "A farmer can sow 150 to 200 acres of corn a day with a 12-row planter today."

Focusing on Michigan crops, Nelson says that the winter wheat picture is especially bright this year.

"Survival of the state's winter wheat has been excellent - better than normal," he reports. "The wet weather last fall caused a considerable amount of late-planted wheat, and there had been a lot of concern about how this would come out. But, it is in real good shape."

According to Nelson, a considerable amount of corn had been planted in Michigan by the end of April. He says he is sure of this, because the MSU "overstate trials" progressed so well (statewide test plots prepared by farmers across the state, at the same time as their other fields).

One problem that has been delaying some Michigan farmers is the harvest of last year's crop. As late as the last week in April, it was estimated that 12 percent of the state's 1972 corn crop was still in the field. Much of it, however, was of low quality, according to Nelson.

Corn remaining in the field creates another problem for this year - volunteer corn. According to Nelson, some of these ears germinate up to 60 percent in studies at MSU. And, volunteer corn cannot be controlled with chemicals. For recommendations on controlling volunteer corn, contact your county Agricultural Agent.

Agriculture in Action

A fruit cup of melon balls, raspberries, peaches and grapes; a relish plate featuring sliced tomatoes, pickles, carrot and celery sticks, green onions, develed eggs and marinated beans; prime rib of beef, baked potatoes with sour cream, cottage cheese and pear salad, fresh asparagus, corn bread with honey or strawberry jam, apple pie with cheese chunks, milk or cider. A tempting menu to tease the taste buds of the most discriminating food connoisseur - and every one of the delectable items produced within the borders of our great state of Michigan; home of the number one hot dog and bean capitol of the world!

Michigan Week, May 19-26, provides the opportunity to "toot our own horn," and agriculture, in particular, has the right to do just that. It's a time when farmers make a special point of reminding all citizens that they should have pride and a vital interest in a thriving, prosperous agriculture. Although only one out of every 100 Michigan citizens operates a farm, this one farmer provides enough food for over 40 other people.

It may not always remain so. The farmer is faced with more challenges, more pressures, more risky elements than any other segment of society. His number one enemy - inflation - is a menace to his very economic existence; costs of food production rise sharply; taxes to support government's irresponsible, excessive spending increase; a cruel Mother Nature takes her toll in crops and livestock; an energy crisis threatens to idle his farm equipment during harvest time.

These challenges have proved too much for some farmers. In the last 50 years, the amount of acreage devoted to agriculture in Michigan dropped from 20 million to 13 million acres. With rural citizens less willing to gamble their economic lives, urban sprawl inches its ugly, soil-eroding path across our productive farmland, erasing much of the glorious green from our beautiful country scenes.

As we salute our state and its great agricultural production, let's hope that future Michigan Weeks won't be a time when the only remaining green in our lives will be in vitamin pills, seaweed salad, and fond memories of the green, green grass of home.

TCRPC appoints

The Tri-County Regional Planning Commission's chairman, Gordon L. Swix, has been appointed to the National Association of Counties' Manpower Steering Committee.

The Committee will review the American County Platform to see how it's reflected in proposed comprehensive manpower bills and other related legislation.

The Manpower Steering Committee is composed of elected and appointed county officials throughout the United States. Appointments are for 1 year.

Swix is also a member of the local Manpower Area Planning Council. Having a representative on the national committee is extremely valuable because the regional council has input from all area governmental units to offer. There are only 6 other councils with similar representation in the country.

Crescent Club visits orchard

OVID -- Stanton's Apple Orchard was the setting for the May 14 meeting of the travel department of the Ovid Crescent Club. The 1500 apple trees were in full bloom, but, due to chilly weather, the picnic was held in the apple barn.

The barn was warmed by an antique wood heater originally owned by D W Vanniman, grandfather of the hostesses, Mrs Maureen Stanton and Mrs Robert Gumaer.

Mrs Myron Woodruff, chairman, conducted the business meeting. She was re-elected chairman, as was secretary - treasurer Mrs Larry Bakke. Mrs Porter Martin was elected co-chairman.

The next meeting will be a potluck supper Oct 15 at the home of Mrs Porter Martin, with Mrs Larry Bakke as assistant hostess.

County highway money up over last year's period

LANSING -- First quarter Motor Vehicle Highway Fund revenues being distributed among the states and municipalities are up 8.6 percent from the same period in 1972 according to the State Highway Commission.

The Commission said net receipts from the fund for state highways, county roads and municipal streets during the first three months of the year amounted to $159,108,023. This is an increase of $12,572,664 over the first quarter of 1972.

All state taxes on gasoline and diesel fuel, plus license plate fees, go into the Highway Fund.

The first-quarter increase reflects growth both in fuel consumption and the number of motor vehicles as well as the first month's collection of a nine-cent-a-gallon state tax on gasoline, which went into effect Feb. 1. The new law raised the gas tax by two cents and earmarked one and one-half cents for highways, roads and streets and one-half cent for urban transportation.

Under distribution formulas spelled out in state law, the Department of State Highways will receive $72,208,296 as its share of first quarter collections. The 83 counties will receive $55,208,974 and the 531 incorporated cities and villages will get $31,690,752.

THE COUNTY of Clinton is to receive $445,925, compared to $399,660 for the same quarter last year.

DeWitt is to receive $11,682 with last year's figure $10,856; Elsie $6909 compared to $6421 in 1972; Fowler $5598, a $398 increase; Ovid, $4504, compared to $4188 in 1972; Pewamo $4730 compared to $4398 and St Johns $37,624, compared to $34,958.

CAN YOU REALLY AFFORD THOSE 'GREAT BARGAINS' AT SOME FOOD STORES?

Do you really save on two or three "great bargains" when you pay more than Kroger prices on the balance of your food order?

At Kroger, we have weekly specials, of course. We call them Bonus Bargains and we identify them with an "X." Kroger's Bonus Bargains are real specials made possible by special purchases or manufacturers' allowances or favorable market conditions.

But what about the balance of your food order at Kroger? We believe that our Xtra Low Everyday Discount Prices, which cover the bulk of your food order, are as low or lower than other local food or discount stores. That's why we ask: Can you really afford not to shop Kroger?

X What are Bonus Bargains?

When you see an "X" next to an item in Kroger's ads or stores, it means a Bonus Bargain, good for a limited time and made possible by a special purchase or a manufacturer's allowance or a favorable market condition.

O-E School Board accepts resignations

Donald Jones of Alpena was visiting relatives in Fowler last week when they suggested the County News might be interested in his hobby of whittling chains from lengths of lumber. The chain with the Clear Lake State Park sign took about 3 months of work and was cut from a 2x4. The chain was a 4x4 piece of lumber before Jones whittled it into a chain during his noon hours as assistant manager at Clear Lake State Park.

The Ovid-Elsie School Board decided to accept "with regrets" the resignations of 2 teachers from the school system at their meeting May 14. Judith Witt, 5th grade teacher at E E Knight, and Carol Berry, special education teacher at North Elementary School, both resigned.

Donald Thayer was appointed Junior High Guidance Counselor. New classes authorized by the Board for the 1973-74 school year will include Speech II, Business Law and Retail Project Lab at the high school.

A total of 93 students from the school district plan to participate in the program.

Tornado: what to do

"If you see a tornado approaching or hear a warning of one approaching, your immediate action may mean the difference between life or death," warns Don Costa, safety director of the Allstate Insurance Companies.

Tornadoes do frightful damage, so precautions must be taken to minimize the storm's effects. Such objects as trees, building material and even cars are hurled through the air with awesome force. The sudden drop in pressure during tornadoes explodes buildings like punctured balloons and debris hurtles through the air like a javelin.

In a city or town seek inside shelter, preferably in a strongly reinforced building. "Stay away from windows," Costa advises. In homes, the corner of the basement toward the tornado usually offers greatest safety, particularly in frame houses. People in houses without basements can sometimes be protected by taking cover under heavy furniture against inside walls. Doors and windows on the sides of the house away from the tornado may be opened to equalize the air pressure inside and help reduce damage to the building. Standing against the inside wall on a lower floor of an office building offers some protection.

In factories and offices, on receiving a tornado warning, a lookout should be posted to keep safety officials advised of the tornado's approach. Advance preparation should be made for moving workers to sections of the plant offering the greatest protection.

After the storm has passed, don't use the telephone except for an emergency and keep your radio or TV on for information and public instruction. Stay away from broken or low hanging power lines. Tell police or utility companies about them.

Tornadoes occur in every state but most frequently in the central U.S., the Allstate safety director pointed out. The number of tornadoes normally starts to increase in the Gulf states in February and reaches a peak there in March. The number increases during the spring and spreads northward into the Midwest, occurring there most often in May and June.

The average tornado path is about 16 miles long and a quarter of a mile wide. Speeds range from 25 to 40 m.p.h., but have moved from stationary to 68 m.p.h. In most cases, they move from a westerly direction, usually from the Southwest.

Allstate's Safety director added, "Most tornadoes are accompanied by thunderstorms, especially storms that deposit hailstones. Frequently two or more tornadoes appear in the same area, following more or less parallel paths. Usually seen as a rapidly rotating funnel-shaped cloud extending toward the ground from the base of a thundercloud, they vary in color from gray to black."

Traveling over Memorial Day? Expect crowded roads, delays

Michigan motorists, driving more than three million vehicles, will log an estimated 795 million miles during the upcoming Memorial Day holiday weekend, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"This traditional kick-off holiday for the summer vacation season is one of the heaviest traveled periods of the year," said Joseph L. Ratke, Auto Club touring manager, noting that the projected mileage for the 78-hour weekend is nearly five percent greater than last year's Memorial Day travel. During the period from 6 pm Friday (May 25) to midnight Monday (May 28), about 6 out of every 10 motorists on the road will experience some delay due to the heavy volume of traffic, Ratke said.

Auto Club reminds travelers to minimize traffic delays by beginning their trips either before or after rush periods. Peak travel times are: Friday, 7 pm to 10 pm; Saturday, 9 am to 1 pm and 6 pm to 9 pm and Monday, 2 pm to 10 pm.

"Travelers probably will encounter the biggest traffic problems on Monday when they return home," Ratke said. "Sunny and warm weather will only worsen the situation since many families will extend their stays and then crowd the highways."

Auto Club expects the worst freeway traffic problems in the state to develop on I-75 around Flint due to a 21-mile-long road widening project between the merging point of I-75 and US-23 and Birch Run.

Although work will be suspended during the Memorial Day weekend, traffic at peak travel times around Flint is expected to slow considerably due to the close proximity of construction ditches, equipment and barrel markers.

Motorists should have no unusual delays during peak travel periods at the Zilwaukee Bridge, which carries I-75 over the Saginaw River near Saginaw. Shippers have agreed to eliminate bridge openings on Friday from 3 pm to midnight, Saturday from 7 am to 11 am and Monday from 10 am to 7 pm.

As in the past, the State Highway Department has ordered road construction stopped across the state from 5 pm Friday to 8 am Tuesday, May 29.

Auto Club notes that one previous traffic bottleneck—the I-94 construction gap at the Michigan-Indiana state line—has been eliminated. Now motorists can drive non-stop from Detroit to Chicago in less than five hours on a toll-free, four-lane highway.

Over the Memorial Day weekend, most travelers are expected to confine their trips to within a 250-mile radius of home. Many thousands also will be traveling the maximum round-trip distance of 1500 miles during the 3-1/2 days.

"Just because they are not driving far from home, motorists should not get a false sense of security when out on the highway," Ratke stated, adding that:

"Last Memorial Day weekend, when 20 persons died in auto accidents, 17 out of the 23 drivers involved were less than 25 miles from home."

Auto Club notes that this Memorial Day weekend, motorists could significantly reduce the number of fatal accidents by taking these precautions:

o Since alcohol is a factor in 6 out of every 10 fatal accidents, motorists are urged to avoid drinking alcoholic beverages. Auto Club points out that two ounces of alcohol consumed in an hour double a motorist's chances of having a fatal traffic accident.

o Drivers and their passengers should wear seat belts every mile they travel to protect themselves against other drivers' mistakes. Seat belts, Auto Club notes, are often the difference between suffering serious injury or death and walking away from an accident unharmed.

o Headlights should be kept on during daylight hours when driving on two-lane roads to help all drivers see oncoming traffic more clearly and to better determine safe passing distances.

This year Citizens Band radio and other civic groups will again offer free coffee to motorists at various rest stops along Michigan's Interstate routes. Auto Club's "Bring 'Em Back Alive!" bumper stickers and safety information also will be available at these rest stops.

To aid motorists traveling this Memorial Day weekend, Auto Club will have its "Bring 'Em Back Alive!" Holiday News Service in operation from 3 pm Friday through Memorial Day evening. The Auto Club's News Service will be providing motorists with hourly bulletins on traffic conditions and holiday recreational activities daily between 8 am and 11 pm. Approximately 130 Michigan radio and TV stations will be broadcasting Auto Club reports, making state motorists the best informed travelers in the nation.

May 22, 1973

Instructor John Mellinger, foreground, looks on as students apply what they've learned in class.

Two houses are planned for next year

With a double anticipated enrollment of 36 students for next year's Building Trades program, it was decided to construct 2 houses instead of just 1.

Once again, Fowler will be a host site, with construction to be in the same subdivision as their present house located at 631 S Main St. It will be an L-shaped 3 bedroom ranch home, with a partial brick exterior.

Plans for the house are drawn up in drafting classes at St Johns High School. This will provide 1550 square feet of living space as opposed to the recently completed home which has 1232 square feet of space.

After final approval is obtained from the advisory committee, the students will apply for a building permit and temporary electrical service. Next, bids for excavation will be obtained. Then, if all goes well, students will begin laying footings the 1st day of class.

Vocational Director Ken Lashaway noted that much prior preparation is done by officials of the program during the summer to enable students to begin their project right away.

The 2d house will be located in Pewamo, although the exact location is unknown at the present time. It will be designed in drafting classes after the lot is purchased so that the contours of the ground and environmental factors can be taken into consideration.

Two sections of students, 1 in the morning and another in the afternoon, will work on the Pewamo house. Plans call for only a morning section at Fowler.

One of the finest accomplishments of 1973 for the Clinton County area is the completion of this home built by students in the Clinton Area Building Trades Program. This 3-bedroom ranch home features a large attached garage, kitchen and dining area, bath and living room! Also equipped with a full basement, the home has a gas forced-air furnace and aluminum exterior. Our congratulations to the students, their instructors and the many fine local tradesmen and supporters of the project. It's something we can all be proud of.

We at Capitol Savings are also proud of our growth in 1973. Our assets of over $225 million makes us one of Michigan's largest savings and loan associations. Helping communities grow by financing home owners is one of the main functions of our organization and you as a saver at Capitol Savings can be assured the money you save will be used to make our area prosper and grow.

Congratulations Clinton Area Building Trades Program

The Clinton Area Building Trades program has provided an opportunity for young people from Bath, Ovid-Elsie and Pewamo-Westphalia High Schools to receive first-hand experience in the construction of a house and we support the instructors and students in the program by encouraging attendance at their open house. The interest and desire to accomplish is evidenced through the coordination of schedules of the students from three schools and the participants can be justifiably proud of their accomplishment.

From sprouts to home

Bean harvest first job

FOWLER-- A bean field at 631 S Main St in Fowler is now sprouting a 3-bedroom house.

Farmer-builders responsible for the transformation are 19 boys enrolled in John Mellinger's building trades class. It's their goal to turn the bean field into a saleable home by the end of the school year.

"OUR LOT was a bean field," explains Mellinger, "and so we had to pull 'em out so there wouldn't be any problems with foliage." The harvest came after the students had spent the first 3 weeks building a pole barn waiting for the land purchase to become final.

First step for the class was a survey to locate elevation and find the drop from the road to determine the building height, says Mellinger. The survey, done to insure conforming with zoning ordinances, also enabled the group to begin the structure parallel to the road.

Once surveyed, Gillespie Excavating, St Johns, removed the top soil and dug the hole. Although the students couldn't take part, as they watched they became exposed to that part of the construction business, Mellinger points out.

"We then layed blocks for the basement wall," continued. A St Johns block Mason, Dick Kingsbury, helped supervise with students from P-W, O-E and Bath doing the actual work. He instructed them on how to start out modular dimensions during the first half hour daily of the morning class, the remaining 2 hours are spent in actual construction.

when the right ones arrived the house was enclosed.

Inside work has been supervised by Smit Electric, St Johns, and Schaffer Plumbing and Heating, Fowler.

"It's a fantastic opportunity for students even if they don't choose to go in the field," Mellinger mentions. "They're exposed to so much -- other students, different people in the trades, industry and they learn how they organize their day. We try to teach good techniques and care and handling of tools."

And when they're done, they know what to look for in buying a house.

Eighteen students in program this year

The Building Trades program came into existence basically because participating schools wanted to make a building program available to their students, according to Vocational Director Ken Lashaway. It is undertaken on a cooperative basis between area schools since it is easier and cheaper for schools to operate by cooperating with each other, he added.

"Schools couldn't justify the program separately," he said, "Because of limited enrollment."

This was the 1st year for the program, and 20 students signed up to participate. The Fowler location at 631 S Main St was chosen because of its central location for students.

A lack of interest from Fowler High School students at the start of the program is the reason none are enrolled for this year's program. When these students became interested, it was too late to enroll for the class. There are 11 students from Fowler signed up for next year's program, however.

The purpose of the class is to provide job entry skills in the building construction field. Schools sending students to the program share in the cost of the course, issue home high school credit and furnish transportation. A Vocational Certificate is issued to those students successfully completing the program.

Students from Pewamo-Westphalia High School enrolled this year include Gary Arens, Steve Cook, Dan F. Fedewa, Keith Fedewa, James Hengesbach, Carl Huhn, Luke Kowatch, Mike Miller, Robert Schmitz, Larry A. Simon, Terry Simon, Michael Smith, Louis D. Thelen, and Russ Thelen.

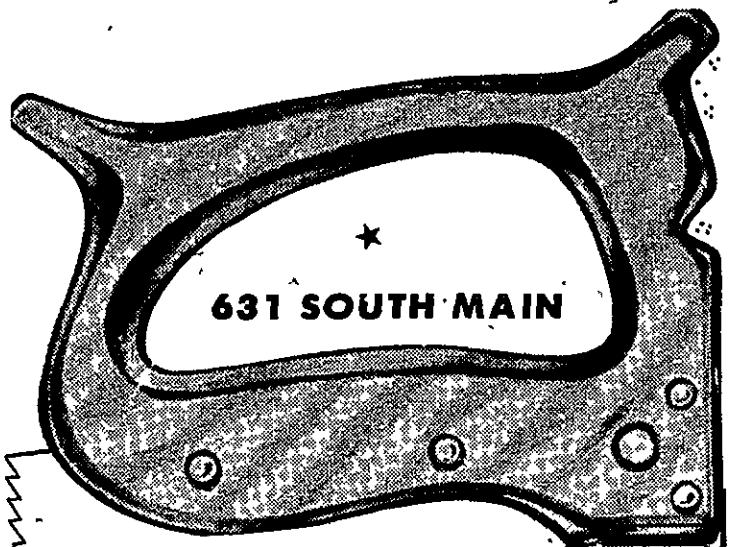

Others working on the project are Richard Johnson, Jr, Ovid-Elsie; Gary A. Smith, Bath; Jeff Welton and Mike Pifer, both from Ovid-Elsie.

They all received instruction in the areas of painting and decoration, carpentry, masonry, roofing, insulation, plumbing and heating, electrical wiring, wall board application, finish trim and flat-work.

Inside work was supervised by Smit Electric, St Johns, and Schaffer Plumbing and Heating of Fowler.

Once surveyed, Gillespie Excavating, St Johns, removed the top soil and dug the hole. Dick Kingsbury, a St Johns block mason, supervised the laying of blocks for the basement.

Important aspect was "team work"

House progressed according to plan in spite of stolen tools

"Progress has gone real well for the first year," according to Ken Lashaway, Vocational Director for the program.

In September of this school year, the students started at the "grass roots" level by removing a soy bean crop from the lot. After this was accomplished they proceeded with laying out the footings and blocks so actual construction of the 3-bedroom ranch style home could begin.

According to Lashaway, approximately 95 percent of the total job was done by students during the course of the school year. And, Lashaway said, they guarantee the job. "We'll make any necessary repairs for the new owners," he added.

The program did have some difficulty obtaining building materials due to rising construction costs, but the students were able to proceed without any hitches.

The house's selling price will be set by taking an average of various appraisals from local banks and real estate agencies. Lashaway said they borrowed funds for construction, and any profit realized in the undertaking will be put back into the program to purchase land, tools and equipment.

Although $700 worth of tools were stolen during the course of the year, they were covered by insurance and caused only minor inconvenience to the group.

Lashaway did relate 1 problem they encountered, but said "It's the kind we like to see." Several contractors wanted boys in the building trades class to go to work for them before the house was completed. Three did leave the program, but the rest remained to finish.

"Getting jobs for the boys is what we want," Lashaway said. "But we do want them to finish the house first."

THANK YOU

KEN LASHAWAY
Vocational Director

JACK MELLINGER
Vocational Instructor

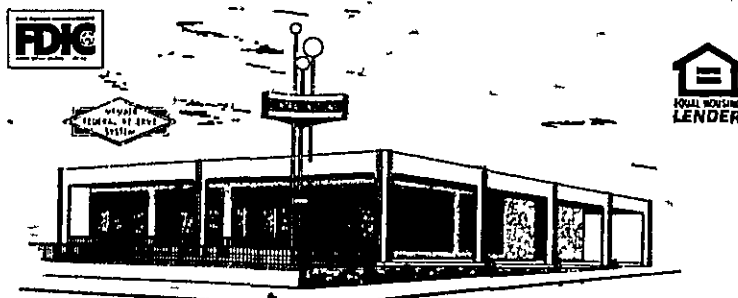

In this day and age when the need to bring knowledge to our young people is so important, we, the senior members of the community area, owe a debt of gratitude for the many hours expended by both Ken Lashaway and Jack Mellinger in making the vocational department's home building project a reality. We owe thanks, too, to the many local people who served on the advisory committee and the Ovid-Elsie, Bath and Pewamo-Westphalia school board members for their farsightedness.

It pleases us here at the bank, to say, "Well done." We urge everyone in the community to visit the home that the high school students of our area built with their own hands. We also are pleased to publicly acknowledge the splendid efforts of anyone else who made the project the success it has been.

"yes"

Of course, the answer depends on your indebtedness, your family situation, and the type of home you're interested in owning. But chances are that you can purchase a modest "first home," under our 95% home loan plan. Private mortgage insurance makes it possible. Find out more—stop in and talk things over with us.
