St. Johns man dies in mishap

Still under investigation is an accident which claimed the life of a 24 year old rural St. Johns man early Saturday morning.

Dead on arrival at Owosso Memorial Hospital was Terry Crowley of 5061 Chandler Road, who suffered fatal injuries when the motorcycle he was riding collided with a car on M-21, near Baldwin Road in Shiawassee County.

Police said the car with which the cycle collided made a left turn in front of the cycle and Crowley was unable to avoid hitting it.

Crowley, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Crowley of St. Johns, was employed at Clinton Memorial Hospital.

He was born in St. Johns on Nov. 12, 1947 and was a 1966 graduate of Rodney B. Wilson High School. He was a student at Lansing Community College and a Vietnam veteran. He was a member of the Price United Methodist Church.

Besides his parents he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Diane Reese of St. Johns; his grandmothers, Mrs. Helen Hunt and Mrs. Agnes Price both of St. Johns.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the Hoag Funeral Home in St. Johns with Rev. Darold Boyd officiating. Burial was in South Bingham Cemetery.

City accepts equipment bid

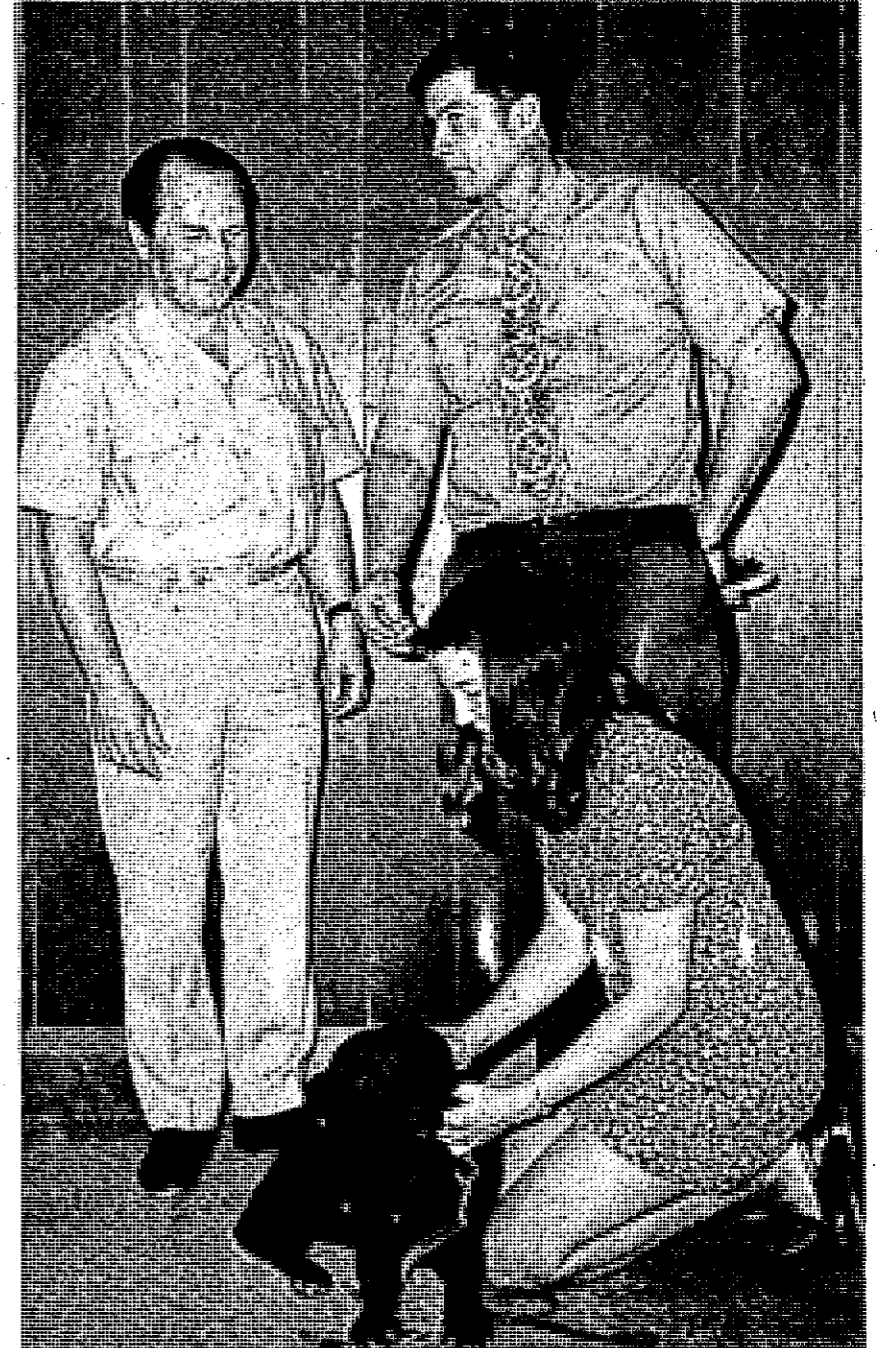

ST. JOHNS—A bid for recreational equipment amounting to $11,237 was accepted when the city commission met in regular session last Tuesday night. The equipment will be installed for St. Johns parks and is funded in part through State Recreational Bond money.

In other financial moves, commissioners approved the 1972 general fund budget for $1,146,249 and a water and sewer budget of $503,700. Commissioners also approved a public works contract with Searles Excavating for $65,956 on street improvement projects involving Oak, Morton and Wight streets. Adoption of the motion was on a 4-1 vote, with Commissioner Roy Ebert casting a "no" vote.

No citizen of St. Johns was present at the meeting to speak on the proposed budget. The vote was 4-1 (Ebert voting "no") to approve the two budgets.

Recreational grant money coming to St. Johns will help provide equipment such as new slides, swings, merry-go-round, bleachers, a couple of shelters, a backstop, tables and stoves. Installation will be made this summer according to the commission. Game Time Co. was low bidder.

Soviet tourists visit

By ANNETTE WHITE
Associate Editor

ST. JOHNS—While President Nixon was furthering good-will relations with the Soviet Union, Clinton County was involved with its own form of good-will activities with Russian visitors.

The visitors, numbering 13, were traveling in the United States under sponsorship of the Council for International Exchange, a nonprofit organization.

The group was being housed on the campus of Michigan State University arriving in Lansing last Wednesday, May 25 and remaining in the area until Saturday.

Ages of the Soviets on tour ranged from 22 to 42 and all served as deputies in their country, which as one explained might be similar to our United States Congressmen. Occupations among the deputies included mining foreman, toolmaker, engineer, economist, weaver, technologist and a student.

Thomas Beyer, an American escort and interpreter traveling with the Soviets indicated that the major aim of the visit was to see historical sights, view legislative bodies and exchange ideas on their professions.

The Soviets arrived in St. Johns just shortly before the annual Memorial Day Parade, which they viewed from the downtown area.

Spending most of the day in Clinton County, the group toured two area farms with John Aylsworth, Clinton County 4-H agent and Earl Haas, County Extension Agent as their tour guides. Farms visited were Green Meadows Farm in Elsie and the Richard Woodham farm near St. Johns.

Following the parade, the Soviets were guests of honor at a dinner held in the L and L Restaurant in St. Johns.

Six Teen Leaders of the 4-H program presented a program for the tourists after the banquet and discussed the different areas of their 4-H involvement.

4-H members taking part were Vickie Thelen who discussed her hobby of clothing and tailoring. She displayed several ensembles she had recently created. Harry Moldenayer discussed his interest in en-

School millage facts explained

On June 12 the electors of the St. Johns School System will vote on three issues. Two members will be elected to the Board of Education, a 14.5 mill operating levy for two years will be on a ballot, as will a one-mill levy for two years for improved maintenance on buildings and properties.

Three men are running for the two vacancies on the Board of Education. Ray Parr, president, and Fred Meyer, secretary, are candidates for reelection. The third candidate is Martin Ernst, a 1972 graduate of St. Johns High School.

In June 1969, the electors approved a 14.5 mill operating levy for two years. Because of rising costs, a 17-mill levy was put on the ballot in June 1971. This was defeated. In August 1971, two ballots were offered, one a continuation of the 14.5 mill levy for one year, and the other a 2.5 mill levy for one year. The 14.5 mill levy was approved about 2-1 while the 2.5 mill levy was defeated by the same margin.

The levy was requested at that time for only one year, as there were strong feelings among school people and legislators that tax reform with a different method of financing schools would be in effect by the 1972-73 year.

However, at this time there has been little progress on this problem and the solution is not yet in sight. Because of this inaction, the Board of Education has decided to ask for the operating millages for two years. If passed, it will allow better budgeting and planning for the 1973-74 school year. If tax reform does occur before that time, the millage will, of course, be dropped to whatever level that is necessary to run the program.

Following the failure of the 2.5 mills in August 1971, several cuts were made in the program. Building Trades (the building of the house) was eliminated from the vocational program. The high school librarian who was leaving was not replaced, and no library books were purchased. The art program in the elementary schools was eliminated. Five teachers who were leaving were not replaced, and aides were hired to replace them in study halls and lunch duty. The high school shuttlebus which operated in the City was eliminated. These and several other changes have allowed a balanced budget for the present year, although a $107,000 carryover deficit from 1970-71 will not be reduced materially.

If the 14.5 mills is approved by the voters on June 12th, it is anticipated that with the increased State Aid, as yet unknown, it will be possible to operate with a balanced budget for 1972-73.

It is hoped that the increase in State Aid will be enough so that some of the cuts effected a year ago can be restored. First to be restored will be Building Trades and a High School Librarian. Since the high school is due for its seven year visitation and Evaluation by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools during the coming year, it is necessary that a librarian be hired to insure continued Accreditation. Other cuts may be restored if funds are available.

If the voters do not approve the 14.5 mills on June 12th, the district will be left with only the allocated millage, which in 1971-72 was 8 mills. Since under the State Aid Act, it is necessary to levy 12 mills locally to participate in State Aid, the district would not qualify for any State Funds, which amount to about 60% of the total revenue. This loss plus the loss of the 14.5 mills would mean that the only revenue remaining would be the allocated millage, which represents only 16% of the total revenues. The only alternative would be to return to the voters in August. Since an election continued on page 3A

DEWITT-BATH

School program expands in DeWitt

DeWITT — DeWitt High School's curriculum and staff will be expanded this fall to meet the needs of an increased enrollment. Three additional teachers have been added to increase the opportunities in guidance, social studies and industrial education. The 1972-73 enrollment for the high school has soared from 485 to 525 and will probably increase more before this fall, according to principal Don Mueller.

Recently the DeWitt Board of Education approved the adoption of additional unit-step or nine-week courses. The unit-step programs allow students the option of selecting different classes in certain areas every nine-weeks instead of once annually.

Currently eleventh and twelfth grade English classes are divided into nine-week units offering a total of 28 different language arts courses in the Junior and Senior level. With the approved innovations, students will have similar nine-week options in social studies, art, business education, home economics, and physical education.

In addition to the unit step programs, additional courses in drafting, industrial education, graphic arts and history have been added.

High School juniors and seniors will also have the opportunity of taking courses for both high school and college credit at Lansing Community College during or after the regular school day under the advance placement program. Eligible DeWitt students may earn as many as 36 L.C.C. credits during high school. There is also the possibility of offering an LCC course at DeWitt High School next fall.

A new pilot program has recently been approved for DeWitt High School by the Michigan Department of Education. This program will center around a Resource Room offering aid for students with special learning problems. The Resource Room will operate on a cooperative basis between classroom teachers and the "resource room consultant."

Powell declares as candidate in 88th

State Representative Stanley M. Powell (R) of Ionia declared today that he will be a candidate for election in the newly created 88th Representative District.

This new district will consist of 12 1/2 townships in Clinton County, 10 1/2 townships in Ionia County, 4 townships in Gratiot County, a township in Shiawassee County and a township and the City of Carson City in Montcalm County.

For the past eight years Representative Powell has served the 89th House District which included all of Ionia County, 9 townships in Barry County and 4 in Kent County. Prior to that he helped draft Michigan's Constitution as a delegate to the 1961-62 Constitutional Convention.

DURING THE eight preceding years, Powell has become recognized as a leading legislative spokesman for rural communities, standing against a tide of rising urban domination of government. His efforts were recognized in 1970 when he was selected for the top legislative award of the Michigan Agricultural Conference, an association of farm-oriented groups. He was the only House member given the award that year. Later in 1970 Governor Milliken appointed a 10-member Task Force on the Future of Agriculture. Representative Powell was the only member of the House to be given this important assignment.

In addition to his work for local government and agriculture, Powell has played a role in other areas. He has been leading a campaign against abuse of authority by bureaucratic organizations, such as the Michigan Civil Rights Commission. While Powell supports the need for such an agency, he has opposed requirements on employers which he believes unreasonable, such as "reverse discrimination" through unofficial racial hiring quotas. He has also charged that the commission is initiating its own complaints, while legitimate complaints from private citizens do not receive proper attention.

School millage explained costs the district approximately $1,000 it is hoped that a second election will not be necessary.

Because operating funds have been extremely limited, it has been impossible to maintain buildings and sites at a suitable level. Only emergency repairs have been made over the four years.

The one-mill levy for two years would allow monies to get the facilities back in good repair. Some of the pressing needs are the replacing of rotted window sills and frames at both Central and Rodney B. Wilson Schools. The flooring at Central badly needs replacing as do ceiling tile at R.B.W. The second floor lights at R.B.W. are those originally installed when the building was constructed in 1924, and should be replaced. East Ward school badly needs painting and other maintenance work.

The four new Elementary schools are in good condition. However, all of the parking lots and play areas are gravel and earth, which when tracked in is wearing and makes cleaning difficult. Some areas at each of the four schools should be black-topped to relieve this problem. There are many other physical conditions in the schools which need attention, which if they do not get will result in more costly repairs later.

If the two millage proposals pass, the tax rate will remain exactly the same as it has been for the past few years. The 14.5 mills has been in effect since 1969. The one-mill for maintenance will replace the one-mill which will be dropped from the 1972-73 debt levy.

An informational meeting concerning the election will be held in the High School Cafeteria at 8 p.m. Thursday June 8.

Anyone wishing more information on the June 12 election is welcome.

Tax rates for the 1971-72 school year in the six school districts of Clinton County were:

| | Operating | Debt | Allocated | Voted |
|-------------------|-----------|------|-----------|-------|
| Ovid-Elsie | 8 | 14 | 7 | 7 |
| St. Johns | 8 | 14.5 | 7 | 7 |
| Pewamo-Westphalia | 8 | 14.5 | 7 | 7 |
| Fowler | 8 | 16 | 7 | 7 |
| Bath | 8 | 18 | 6 | 6 |
| DeWitt | 8 | 21 | 7 | 7 |

For the year 1971-72 the St. Johns District had a total tax levy for schools of 29.5 mills of which 8 were allocated by the County Allocation Board, 14.5 mills additional for operation was voted in August while 7 mills was assessed for debt retirement.

If both millage proposals are approved by the voters on June 12, the total levy will again be 29.5 mills, providing the 8 mills is allocated to the schools. The additional mill increase for maintenance purposes will be offset by the reduction of one mill from debt retirement.

We live in a mobile home and pay rent on our space in a trailer park. The owner of our trailer park is now threatening to raise our rent and says he's not subject to rent controls. Is that right?

No, he is wrong. If a trailer park operator leases space for residential purposes, rent regulations do apply. Incidentally, even a boat slip is covered by rent controls if it is leased for a houseboat used for residential purposes.

On March 16, 1971, I ordered three sets of Eisenhower uncirculated coins from the Treasury Department for $10.50. Five months later I sent in a newspaper clipping showing that some of the banks were selling them—but I still haven't received my coins. Can you help?

—P. T., Muskegon County

Your coins are on their way. Treasury receives orders for proof sets from coin collectors under four different programs. Bank orders are accorded a processing priority. Treasury advises that ordinarily it takes six to twelve months to handle the orders from individual collectors. You will want to have that in mind when you place future orders.

Dear friends,

It deserves emphasis that the time, the place, the character of the funeral service, the merchandise used, the cemetery selected - these are decisions of the family of the deceased. The funeral director acts only as a representative of the family.

The clergyman should be consulted in matters that concern him before any decisions are made.

Respectfully,

Sealed bids for the purchase of notes of Clinton County, Michigan, of the par value of $750,000.00, will be received by the undersigned at the office of the Clinton County Road Commission, 708 W. State Street, St. Johns, Michigan, 48879, until 7:30 o'clock p.m., Eastern Standard Time, on the 12th day of June, 1972, at which time and place said bids will be publicly opened and read.
The notes will be dated July 1, 1972, will be numbered in direct order of maturity from 1 upwards, will mature $75,000.00 on August 1st of each year from 1973 to 1982, inclusive, and will bear interest from their date at a rate or rates not exceeding five per cent (5%) per annum, expressed in multiples of 1/8 or 1/20 of 1%, or both. Interest shall be payable February 1st and August 1st of each year, beginning February 1, 1973. Interest rate for each interest period on any one note shall be at one rate only. Both principal and interest will be payable at a bank or trust company, located in the State of Michigan to be designated by the original purchaser of the notes, subject to the approval of the Board of County Commissioners, which paying agent qualifies as such under the statutes of the State of Michigan or of the Federal Government. The notes will be in the denomination as determined by the purchaser thereof. Accrued interest to the date of delivery of such notes must be paid by the purchaser at the time of delivery.
Notes maturing in the years 1978 to 1982, inclusive, are optional in inverse numerical order on any interest payment date on or after August 1, 1977, at par and accrued interest plus a premium of 1% of the par value of each note called for redemption prior to maturity.
Notice of redemption shall be given to the holders of notes to be redeemed by publication of such notice not less than thirty (30) days prior to the date fixed for redemption, at least once in a newspaper or publication circulated in the State of Michigan which carries, as part of its regular service, notices of sale of municipal bonds and notes. No further interest shall be payable on notes called for redemption after the date fixed for redemption, whether presented for redemption or not, provided the County has sufficient money available for such redemption with the paying agent.
The notes are to be issued under the provisions of Act No. 143 of the Public Acts of 1943, as amended, and payable from the moneys to be derived from State-collected taxes returned to the County of Clinton for county road purposes pursuant to law, which have not been theretofore specifically allocated for other purposes.
For the purpose of awarding the notes the interest cost of each bid will be computed by determining, at the rate or rates specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the notes from 1 July 1972 to their maturity and deducting therefrom any premium. The notes will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest interest cost to the County. No proposal for the purchase of less than all of the notes or at a price less than their par value will be considered.
A certified or cashier's check in the amount of two per cent of the par value of the notes, drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the County Treasurer of the County of Clinton, must accompany each bid as a guaranty of good faith on the part of the bidder, to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid is accepted and bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative present, or by registered mail.
Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified opinion of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, attorneys of Detroit, Michigan, approving the legality of the notes, to be secured at the Road Commission's expense. The Road Commission shall furnish notes ready for execution at its expense.
The right is reserved to reject any and all bids.

WHAT DOES TOLERANCE TO A DRUG MEAN?

Tolerance means that it is necessary to take larger doses of the drug so that the original effect may be produced.

Tolerance develops slowly with alcohol, heroin (and other opiates) and most barbiturates (sleeping pills). By increasing the dosages of these drugs over a period of time to produce the original effects, physical dependence results.

Tolerance rapidly develops with LSD-25 so that after a certain number of doses no further effect can be noticed by the body tissues. It is then necessary to discontinue use for 4 or five days so that the effect can be noticed. This prevents continuous daily use. There is no physical addiction with LSD-25.

WHY DO PEOPLE ABUSE DRUGS?

Drugs are used to make individuals feel different than they do. The great "turn on" noticed in recent years is attributed to several factors:

1. The belief that medicines can magically solve problems.
2. The easy access of drugs, both pharmaceutical types and illicit street market drugs.
3. Enjoyment of the euphoria or excitement produced by the drug effect.
4. Boredom with life.
5. A searching for sharpened perception and seemingly greater creativity some mind altering drugs permit.
6. "Peer pressure" or "all my friends are doing it."
7. Shared social fun, especially marijuana, used in a role similar to that of alcohol.
8. Those with psychological problems who seek easy solutions with chemicals.
9. A lack of alternatives

Seven Signs

Cancer has seven warning signals: Change in bowel or bladder habits; a sore that does not heal; unusual bleeding or discharge; thickening or lump in breast or elsewhere; indigestion or difficulty in swallowing; obvious change in wart or mole; nagging cough or hoarseness. If you have a signal, see your doctor right away, the American Cancer Society says.

Tennis tourney plans complete

ST. JOHNS—An expected field of 40 tennis players will compete in a district Jaycee Tournament to be held here for all area young people on Saturday, June 10.

ACCORDING TO Coach Al Werbish, the tourney will be open to all youth 18 years of age and under. Winners and runnersup for three divisions will advance to state competition, Werbish said. Divisions will include 18 years and under, 16 years and under and 14 years and under.

Werbish said while there have been Jaycee-sponsored tennis events in the past, this is the first year winners and runnersup will have the opportunity to advance for state-wide competition.

Persons desiring to enter the tourney should contact Coach Werbish at the High School or Dale Knight at Rodney B. Wilson Junior High. Information needed includes name, address and phone number.

Two bills passed with Ballenger sponsorship

Governor William G. Milliken last week signed into law two bills (Public Acts 146 and 147 of 1972) sponsored by State Senator William S. Ballenger (R-Ovid)—one approving a land trade in Grand Ledge and the other permitting cancelled state bond paper to be recycled rather than burned.

Ballenger said P.A. 147 would allow the Grand Ledge School District to take possession of a state-owned athletic field in exchange for a 10-acre tract previously owned by the school district near the airport north of the Eaton-Clinton County line, where the National Guard plans to build a new armory and a helicopter landing strip.

The 15-acre Grand Ledge athletic field, located within the city limits, had been leased to the local schools for $1 a year since the 1930s by the Michigan Department of Military Affairs.

The Grand Ledge School District is expected to begin extensive improvements of the 15-acre athletic complex now that it owns it, Ballenger indicated.

The 31-year-old lawmaker said the second bill (P.A. 146) is somewhat of an anti-pollution measure. Under the old law, cancelled state bonds had to be "cremated". State Treasury officials say they feel bond paper might be more cleanly and cheaply disposed of by a recycling process known as "slurring" rather than through burning. After Attorney General Frank J. Kelley ruled that the former law required that the cancelled bonds had to be burned, Ballenger countered by introducing his bill to permit the bond paper to be "disintegrated" or recycled rather than burned.

Three Clinton girls play for Lansing

Three Clinton County girls are members of this team, the Lansing Laurels, who have opened a 70 game schedule on the softball diamond. The fastpitch team anticipates its toughest schedule in its history.

Ohio Women's Fastpitch League, the Lansing team topped the 1971 standings with a 16-2 record. Their records also include championships of the Michigan A.S.A. State Tournament and the Indianapolis Invitational Tournament. The Laurels placed as runnerup in the Regional A.S.A. and also in the Omaha, Nebraska invitational.

Jamie Smith finished the 1971 tour with a .344 batting average.

THE CLINTON TRIO on the team includes Jamie Smith of 210 E. State St., St. Johns, Mary Nutter of Ovid and Dana Lannen of Elsie.

Summer basketball camp set up for Redwing boys

ST. JOHNS — A new innovation in summer basketball camps will be attempted this year with the formation of the Redwings Summer Basketball Camp.

Open to all boys of the St. Johns school district, regardless of previous affiliation with sports activity, the camps will be for boys ages 10 through 18. Instruction in ball handling, shooting, dribbling, passing, defense, rebounding and team play will be featured, according to Directors Doug Japling and Gonzales of the Redwing coaching staff.

THERE WILL BE four week-long camps, divided into two age groups. Japling will direct senior high boys while Gonzales will instruct those of junior high age. Sessions are planned June 19-23 and 26-30, also July 10-14 and 17-21. Junior high is identified as 10 and 11 year olds while high school camps begin with boys who will be freshmen this fall. In addition to the camp directors, Redwings varsity basketball players will provide instruction.

COACH JAPLING said, "It would be emphasized that boys do not have to be part of any of the school's teams to participate in the camp. Every boy in our school district is eligible and is encouraged to participate in the camp."

Sessions will be held in the mornings. Camp tuition will be $15 for one week, $20 for two weeks, $25 if a boy continues three weeks, and $30 for the entire four-week session.

THE COACHES instigated the local camp idea when several parents desired to have their sons participate in a summer camp but objected to the high cost.

Boys participating will receive a camp Redwing T-shirt and will receive individual basketball instruction, the directors stated.

Registration forms are available from Coach Japling.

Elsie

MRS. NEVA KEYS
Ph. 892-4301

Mrs. Merle Green opened her home Tuesday evening to the Woman's Literary Club members and guests on the occasion of its 70th anniversary with Mrs. G. W. Bennett in charge.

Mrs. A. W. Cobb, wearing a long gown of the turn-of-the-century vintage with the popular bonnet of that time, narrated the program which touched upon various phases of the club's history. Mrs. Cobb used the quotation from the first 1902 program "List we now the twilight curtains of the past. To judge rightly the present; we must oppose it to the past."

A typical club meeting with its bits of nostalgic humor and paths of the early years was enacted by several club members. Mrs. Robert Bloomer read minutes from the actual records Nov. 1, 1905 with such items as a check on delinquent members and those with unpaid dues, names to be made public at following meeting; also fines for failure to give papers, for absence and tardiness; a bill for 85¢ for flowers for two members confined to their bed of pain by illness; roll call - Current Events in Russia (1905); delightful music by hostess on her new Victrola; and suffragette program with pleas for "More Opportunities for our Women Today."

Recorded music interspersed the program with favorites: the great Mario Lanza's "Guardian Angels" (1925); "My Darling Clementine" by Mitch Miller and his Singing Group (to which the ladies joined in the singing); and the toe tapping rendition of "Lady McGowan's Dream" by Woody Herman. A piano solo, Chopin's "A Nocturne in A Flat" played by Mrs. D. A. Chase at an early meeting of the club in 1902.

Included on the program were: Mrs. Loyal Hinkley presenting the story of the late Mrs. Emily Bell written about her 40 years of membership; Mrs. Lawrence Hess reading a paper "The Advantages of Adversity" written by her aunt, Mrs. George Cobb when she was a member in 1907; and Mrs. Howard Peltier giving an explanation of the "New Club Collect" which replaced the former "Club Commandments" used for so many years to open the meetings.

The "Club Commandments" were: Thou shalt honor thy president; Be present at 2 o'clock; Respond to roll call; Pay thy dues promptly; Be willing to do thy appointed work; Not wait for the next meeting, nor let the weather detain thee; Be willing to do all the work assigned thee; Not be a fault finder, to find fault is easy, to do better may be difficult; Not covet thy sister's talents, but strive to increase thine own; and honor Elsie and its people and it will remain an ideal home for all future generations.

Mrs. Orpha Clement reviewed the club history in her own original verse as written a few years ago. Her audience requested that she bring it up to date with addition of a few more verses. On behalf of the WLC, Mrs. Sidney J. Keys presented Golden Awards to three ladies who have actively served for 50 years, Mrs. George Blayne, Mrs. C. S. Goodrich and Mrs. Maude Craven. The latter two were unable to be present because of illness. Mrs. Leon Williams, an active member for 48 years was also honored. They each received a red rose. During the regular business meeting, Vice President Lella Wilson presided in the absence of Mrs. Gerald Carroll. Mrs. Robert Baker and Mrs. Viva Scott gave the routine secretary and treasurer reports and Mrs. Wilson reported on the successful Spring Trading Post recently held.

It was voted to give the donation of children's clothing and others to the Salvation Army, Goodwill and needy children.

Mrs. Lunsford Melvin introduced several special guests for the evening. Mrs. Norman Blakely distributed Cancer Crusade envelopes for the annual drive for funds, date and time to be announced later.

Mrs. Wilson read the official call for the 68th annual convention of the Clinton County Federation of Women's Clubs by Mrs. Lawrence Hess, president who chose as the theme for the Convention as "Take Time for All Things." The convention will be held Thursday, May 4, in the Elsie United Methodist Church with the Woman's Literary Club as the hostess club. Reservations must be sent to Mrs. Duane Green, 5853 N. Meridian Rd., Elsie by April 27 for the noon luncheon. An interesting and informative program has been planned with fine speakers.

The following hostess club committees were announced: general chairman, Mrs. Robert Bloomer; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Durward Conklin; Juice, Mrs. Paul Platner, Mrs. Merle Green and Mrs. Stanley Loznak; program, Mrs. Andrew Cobb and Mrs. Everett Rule; luncheon tickets and reservations, Mrs. Duane Green; publicity, Mrs. Sidney J. Keys; flowers and table decorations, Mrs. Leslie Sturgis, Mrs. David Litchfield and Mrs. Lella Wilson; favors, Mrs. G. W. Bennett and Mrs. Howard Peltier; reception, Mrs. Gerald Carroll and Mrs. Loyal Hinkley; and Elsie Public Library Open House, Mrs. Orpha Clement, librarian.

Mrs. Lawrence Hess and Mrs. Robert Bloomer plan to attend the Michigan State Federation Convention, on April 25 in East Lansing to represent the local club.

In closing the program,

the 40 ladies all joined hands and sang "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" as in the earlier days of club meetings.

During the social hour, refreshments were served from the dining table laid with a red and white checkered cloth and matching napkins, and centered with a large old fashioned kerosene lamp. The table was also arranged with old-fashioned serving dishes.

Mrs. Blayne and Mrs. Williams presided at the antique silver coffee and tea services. Refreshments consisted of molasses cake with whipped cream, a glass of "switchell" which many remembered as the favorite ginger tea of many years ago. Horehound drops, mints and nuts completed the dessert course.

Mrs. Green was assisted by Mrs. Jack Hawes, Mrs. Paul Platner and Mrs. Howard Peltier, who were all attired in dress of the early 1900's.

Pewamo

Relatives and friends were present for the retirement party, given in honor of Herman Werner who had been custodian over 13 years at St. Joseph's Parish, Pewamo. A lunch and refreshments were served.

Don't pinch papayas

Go Hawaiian—treat your family to papayas dipped in lime juice, or fruit salad sparked with papaya seeds, a Michigan State University marketing specialist suggests.

May is the peak marketing month for imported fresh papayas, Ada Shinabarger reports. "You'll know this melon-like fruit by its round or oblong shape and thin, smooth salmon-pink or orange skin. It has a large center of round, wrinkled black seeds," she explains. Don't pinch papayas because they bruise easily. Judge ripeness by the slight give to light hand pressure and by the distinct odor.

Immature papayas are green, but will ripen in a day or two at room temperature. Then refrigerate, and they'll keep several days.

To serve, cut the fruit lengthwise and scoop out the seeds, then drench with lemon or lime juice, Miss Shinabarger suggests. Or add a few of the tart seeds to a fruit salad dressing.

The Duplain Church of Christ Women's Fellowship 3 for Fort Campbell, Ken. met Tuesday evening April 4 for an evening of labor of love. There were 22 ladies present and they tied off two comforters, gift wrapped packages for the patients at the Ovid Nursing Home, made favors and birthday cards to go with the gifts, repaired the hymnals and packaged the Sunday School literature for missions.

The business meeting was called to order by the President Gerry Hawes. Devotions led by Mrs. Tris Smith were on the Lord's Prayer. Refreshments were served by Betty Schwark and Marie Bancroft.

Thirty one ladies from Duplain Church of Christ attended the Great Lakes Bible College banquet Friday evening April 7 at the Civic Center in Lansing. There were 1,150 guests present. The room and tables were beautifully decorated with "Love Letter" designs. A very tasty menu was served and enjoyed. The music was inspiring and the speaker of the evening was Mrs. Lois Morse. Her love of God was so apparent from the very beginning of her talk. She was so full of His love that it was a real inspiration for each one there to express their Christian life more fully.

Beef herds

EAST LANSING - Beef herds could pass dairying as Michigan's leading agricultural industry before the end of the decade, predicts Michigan State University beef researcher Hugh Henderson.

There are currently about 450,000 beef cattle in the state, he says, just slightly below the number of dairy cows.

Beef future

EAST LANSING - A team of Michigan State University researchers and Michigan beef cattlemen participating in MSU's "Project 80 & 5," a futuristic look at the beef industry's potential, predict bigger beef cattle, greater use of exotic breeds (like Chianina and Simmental), more crossbreeding and more artificial insemination in the state by the middle of the next decade.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

In a recent article appearing in a daily newspaper I learned that because of donations Clinton Memorial Hospital will be adding to the hospital for storage purposes. I also read that the Doctor's Search Committee had not come up with any new leads for more doctors for our area.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if someone would match that donation to build a medical building adjacent to the hospital? With more medical students showing a preference to general practice and the personal liking of so many to work from a medical building, it seems it might be the answer to Clinton County's problem.

It seems all channels had been taken in the search for more doctors. Maybe we have no other choice but to erect a medical building near the hospital - such as is being done in other areas.

I understand that Grand Ledge has a Medical Building with four doctors practicing from it now and another coming soon. Charlotte's Hayes-Green Beech Hospital is going ahead with plans to complete several offices now and finish more when needed. Owosso to the east of us has had one which seems to be working out fine. I believe that our rapidly expanding community does need more doctors. It would seem that the reduced work load would be most welcomed by our present doctors. It is also possible that many St. Johns area residents would then once again use the medical services available rather than going out of the city.

St. Joseph to enlarge non-graded program

ST. JOHNS—The first year of a non-graded reading program is drawing to a close at St. Joseph School in St. Johns, but successes of the fledgling effort have already spawned excitement for enlargement.

The initial venture into non-graded teaching was limited to levels aligned with the more traditional and recognized terms of grades one and two. According to school principal, Sr. Margot, plans are already underway to extend the non-graded program next year to include third and fourth year students. In addition, attempts will be made to develop the "continuous progress" concept into the mathematics program as well.

St. Joseph re-opened its first and second grades last fall after a period of approximately six years, during which time the grades were under the public school system. Returning the grades to the parochial system was felt to be an ideal time to incorporate the non-graded philosophies. The move had been anticipated, so as early as January 1971 Sr. Margot, Sr. Rita, Mrs. Shirley Rasmussen and Mrs. TomiAnn Schultheiss began preparing for the program. Aside from basic orientation with the philosophies and mechanics of non-graded teaching, the staff underwent periodic consultation sessions with curriculum supervisors and representatives of the company from which instruction materials were purchased.

"At the beginning we were enthusiastic about the idea, but apprehensive about implementing it," commented Sr. Margot. "But now after the first year, we'd find it pretty difficult to return to the traditional program."

In an ungraded teaching program the student works at his or her own particular pace commensurate with natural ability and understanding levels. This, in itself, produces a much closer teacher-student relationship as various levels are comprised of small groups. Within the levels students develop a sense of self discipline and an awareness of the needs of others. It is a teaching method that closely correlates with the basic philosophy of parochial education and christian concepts.

In addition to closer student-teacher ties, the method of grading contains elements which require the teacher to more closely observe student development. In place of the traditional graded report cards, quarterly critiques on each student are delivered to the parents. These written reports clearly present the educational pattern the child is establishing without particular reference to others in the class or his position in relation to length of time in school.

"Not being forced to attain particular goals at specified times tends to relax the student," Sr. Margot explained. "There is a noticeable lack of frustration among many students from not being forced into situations or being burdened by lessons they can't handle rapidly. The ungraded system allows fast development or much time, whichever the student needs."

The timetable of incorpor-

Sr. Margot, school principal, has been the force behind St. Joseph's move toward a non-graded system.

ating the ungraded plan into St. Joseph school not only included teacher preparation, but also reached out to parents. As early as May 1971 the school faculty conducted parent-teacher sessions for familiarizing parents with the purposes and philosophies of non-graded teaching. Then throughout the months teachers kept in close contact with parents whose children were part of the program and soon parents could readily see where their youngsters fit into the scheme of things.

The schedule at St. Joseph calls for eight levels of achievement and students progress within groups to which they are best aligned. As an adjunct to the program a group of teachers' aides has been created from volunteer mothers who work with the students to reinforce faculty instruction. At present the 104 students in the non-graded program are being taught by three teachers and five aides. These figures will essentially double upon incorporation of students in the third and fourth years.

Rev. James Cusack of Rockford was a Thursday dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cusack.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Donahue of Grand Rapids called on friends, Sunday.

Gerald Cunningham of Muskegon was a Saturday night caller of his mother, Mrs. Julia Cunningham.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Huhn and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Salazar and son and Erwin Roach were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Datema at Carson City. The occasion was Karl Cunningham's First Holy Communion.

While there is still concern over the effectiveness of a non-graded program among some parents, the vast majority fully support the effort. The concept of ungraded teaching, though not completely new, is sometimes slippery to grasp and the implementation of a program forces the shedding of long-standing educational traditions. St. Joseph, even though not first in the Lansing diocese to make the move, has overcome the hurdles and is well along the track in the thick of the race. . . and while the parents and teachers are running to keep abreast of the new methods, the kids are the true winners.

Milliken now backing Nixon

The strength of President Nixon's position in the Republican party this year is perhaps best demonstrated in the ranks of the Republican Governors Conference.

The conference includes his two chief rivals from 1968 days - Nelson Rockefeller of New York and Ronald Reagan of California. Its chairman this year, Gov. William G. Milliken, backed another man (Rockefeller) in 1968.

Yet all three are actively backing the President this year. In fact, they are half of a group of six Republican governors designated as surrogate candidates to stand in for Nixon until after the Republican convention in August.

The six are going to be traveling around the country, mainly in their own geographic areas, to keep the Republican faithful moving until Nixon starts working publicly on his reelection after the convention.

The three governors all had to make a change in their positions, to back the President fully, and Milliken made as big a change as any.

In 1970, when he ran for a full term as governor of Michigan, the governor was very careful to keep a clear dividing line between himself and the national administration. The President never did visit the state in 1970 and Vice President Agnew came only once. On that visit Milliken found reasons to be elsewhere in the state than where Agnew was.

But that decision was a matter of practicality as it was ideology, since polls showed Nixon would be a negative rather than positive force for Milliken.

Now it's two years later, and the shoe is on the other foot. Nixon is running for another term, as is Republican Sen. Robert Griffin, a long-time friend of Milliken's.

In Michigan and the midwest the governor, who isn't running for office, is a plus rather than a minus for both Nixon and Griffin, so he is actively campaigning for them.

The governor isn't pretending he agrees with Nixon on every issue. At the Republican Governors Conference earlier this spring he worked to keep a Vietnam resolution to a general endorsement of the President's withdrawal policy since he did not approve of such steps then going on as the bombing of the North.

He also said at a separate time the President's decision not to seek a constitutional amendment to ban busing was made for the wrong reason.

No two people agree completely on everything, and Milliken told an interviewer earlier that he doubts he'll ever agree 100 per cent with any politician, Republican or Democrat.

He is sincere in his support of Nixon. The governor admires the President's grasp of government and his approach to problems, even if he doesn't agree with some of the results.

Besides, this is 1972 and it's the President's turn on the ballot. If the President can stay out of Michigan to help the governor in 1970, then the least the governor can do is travel in and out of the state this year to help him.

View from the Senate

By SEN. WILLIAM S. BALLENGER

State Senator William S. Ballenger (R-Ovid) enthusiastically hailed Senate passage of Ballenger's resolution to ratify the 27th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution to insure equal rights for women.

Similar approval was granted previously by the State House of Representatives, making Michigan the 18th state to approve the amendment.

The amendment, which was previously approved by a two-thirds vote of both chambers of the United States Congress, states:

"Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex."

If 38 state legislatures ratify the amendment within seven years, it will become the 27th amendment to the United States Constitution. "I am extremely gratified that the Michigan State Senate has approved my resolution to ratify the proposed amendment," said Ballenger. "This has been a long time coming.

"Some people have felt that women already have been 'livered' by statute or through other amendments to the Constitution, but anyone familiar with the widespread discriminatory practices against women in this nation knows full well that something more is needed," he added.

Ballenger said he believes adoption of the amendment will finally put to rest the discrimination that has existed for years against women in such areas as employment, public housing, public accommodations, and education.

Commented Ballenger: "I cannot agree with some that the amendment would alter the basic social differences between the sexes, and I doubt that it would nullify any truly important laws we now have which distinguish between the male and female."

"AS THE Pulitzer prize-winning author John Hersey has noted, becoming equal is a lot different from becoming identical.

"Adoption of this amendment should force the law to operate according to what a person chooses to do and is able to do, rather than according to some preconceived and arbitrary sex roles imposed by society."

Washington reports

U.S. Rep. Garry Brown

WASHINGTON, D.C. — In major action this past week, the House acted to drastically curtail U.S. financial support of the United Nations, and House-Senate Conferees reported a Higher Education bill the fate of which now depends upon acceptance of important compromises on its anti-busing amendments.

Acting on a State Department appropriations measure, the House arbitrarily cut by more than $13.9 million the United States' legally assessed contribution to the United Nations and affiliated agencies such as UNESCO and the World Health Organization.

If agreed to by the Senate and enacted into law, the action would place the United States in the company of the major defaulting UN member nations—France and Russia. It would constitute a clear violation of International treaties whereby the United States has agreed to pay its assessed contribution to the U.N.

When the issue came to a vote on the floor, I supported an unsuccessful amendment to restore the funding of the U.N. to the extent that we had previously committed ourselves for this fiscal year. I felt it essential that our nation not renege on its international obligations at a time when we are criticizing others for not keeping their commitments and when we may be seeking U.N. assistance in carrying out peace making activities or cease-fire agreements in Southeast Asia.

Furthermore, the UN has already legally assessed the United States and budgeted the funds for the current fiscal year; therefore, withholding of funds would seriously compound the U.N.'s present financial crisis. As a practical matter, enactment of the provision would dry up the United Nation's financial resources by September or October of this year.

In recent years, the ability of member nations to pay a larger share of the costs of the United Nations has grown, and it is reasonable and desirable that the United States seek and expect to have its contributions reduced proportionately. In fact, it is not only in our national interest but the interest of the UN that contributions to its basic operations not be overly dependent upon the contributions of a single member nation.

I will continue to actively support constructive and responsible efforts to achieve this end, but supporting a meat axe approach such as that voted by the House last week is not the way to accomplish this reform.

Also last week, House-Senate Conferees reported for final legislative action the Higher Education Bill containing new compromises on anti-busing amendments. The legislation would stay, pending all appeals, any federal district court order requiring transfer or transportation of students to achieve racial balance.

Just which desegregation cases would actually be covered by the order is not absolutely clear, but it is currently assumed that it would affect cases in which district court orders had yet to be issued, or had been issued but had yet to be carried out while appeals were or could be pursued, but would not affect cases in which lower court orders had been carried out, regardless of whether appeals were pending.

Further, the legislation would limit the use of federal funds for busing, without banning it entirely as the original House provision would have required.

And the conference report would bar federal officials from requiring or inducing school districts to spend state or local money on busing or other uses for which federal funds were forbidden "unless constitutionally required."

This week the House expects to take up the important State and Local Fiscal Assistance Act, the revenue sharing proposal.

"If It Fitz . . . Must be the same Mike

Editor, Lapeer County Press
By Jim Fitzgerald

Could it be the same guy? The same Mike Handley I thought would grow up to be either President or Pope?

The newspaper said he was Michael J. Handley of Saginaw, the photograph could be old Mike. There is less hair than I remember and more face. But I haven't seen him in almost 30 years. A man can change a lot in that time. The last time I saw Mike I probably weighed 90 pounds. I now have chins that weigh more than that.

Mike Handley was about 6 grades ahead of me at St. Stephen School in Port Huron. Every school should have a Mike Handley today. They wouldn't need cops patrolling hallways. More likely they'd need ushers to handle the crowds at peace rallies where Mike would preach brotherhood and sell fudge.

Mike was a lot more than a teacher's pet. An ordinary pet was rewarded by being allowed to pound the chalk dust out of erasers. If Mike had the eraser franchise, he would raffle it, selling tickets to classmates and to strangers in the bus station. Profits would be donated to the Archbishop's Fund to Feed Starving Mice in Vatican City. And the chalk dust would be bottled and sold to the Phillips Milk of Magnesia people. What I mean, Mike Handley was an organizer, a leader and a solid inspiration. Nuns used to point to him with their right hands while using their left hands to clutch the ears of 6th grade boys. "Be like Michael Handley," they'd implore.

He was more than the slick-haired kid who went from class to class pleading whatever cause the nuns were pushing that week. (He could be asking for anything from hall Marys to canned peas). Mike was also a football hero, for gosh sakes. And he was a rubber-legged, iron-voiced cheerleader at basketball games.

My most vivid memory of Mike concerns basketball. It was a glorious night. St. Stephen's had won a championship. They couldn't have done it without Mike's incredible leaping and yelling and imploring from the sidelines. After the great victory, the celebrating fans crammed into Ruff's ice cream parlor.

Half the town was there. The noise was deafening. The non-fans, cowering behind their sodas, must have thought an insane asylum had sprung a leak. But then Mike stood up on a table and called for quiet.

"We should all get down on our knees and thank God for this victory," he told the St. Stephen kids.

And that's what we did. Every one of us. Right there in public, in front of all those Protestants. We knelt among the hot fudges and Cokes while Mike led us in prayer.

Wow. The next day, when the nuns heard about it, they began petitioning Rome for the immediate canonization of Michael Handley to sainthood. I guess that's when I decided he'd be Pope someday if he didn't want to be President.

So what is he doing 30 years later? You probably expect a hooker here. You think the newspaper printed Mike's photo yesterday because he stuck up a bank. Wrong.

The newspaper said Michael J. Handley is coming to my town to teach . . . a Dale Carnegie course.

Beautiful. One of his students will become President or Pope.

Bits and Pieces

"Off we go"

By HAROLD SCHMALTZ

Wow! What a weekend. The weather was great, the fish were biting and everything at the Schmaltz Haus clicked. We celebrated two boys' birthdays by attending Airport Day at Capital City Airport in Lansing Saturday and the "height" of the celebration took place at 11,500 feet in the air. Yes, you read correctly, Robert, my oldest son, and I boarded a DC-9 North Central jet airliner and took a 30 minute aerial tour over the Saginaw Valley. Talk about breathtaking, it surely was. I'll have to admit it was the first such experience for either of us and we weren't disappointed in the least.

Greg, my 11-year-old, had the opportunity to go but he decided against it so old Dad got his chance to go along for moral support. Of course, I realize many of you are already members of the jet set and therefore something like this is old stuff. But to us, it was sensational!

I'LL NEVER FORGET MY FIRST PLANE RIDE. It took place back in 1968 when a flying evangelist came through Ithaca and gave plane rides as rewards to youngsters bringing the most guests to the meetings. Being a member of the editorial staff at the Herald I offered to take a few aerial photos for him to tie in with a story I did on him and his Ithaca visit.

I remember being shaky about going up but doggone it all I had never been up before and here was my big chance and I wasn't about to miss it. So into the plane I got. Everything went smoothly until we got to the end of the runway preparing for takeoff when the minister suddenly announced for us to bow our heads in prayer. I had thought about that as we lifted off the runway into the blue. There was one prayer I uttered in total sincerity, believe me naturally the flight turned out great and as a matter of fact, so did the photos. Just another chapter in life's experiences I guess you could say.

INCIDENTALLY, SPEAKING OF LIFE, one of the neighbor kids at our cottage retreat near Belding is no longer with us. The tragedy occurred near Saranac last Wednesday afternoon on M-21 while this young 13 or 14-year-old gal was walking along the highway. It seems that she was cut down by a motorist passing another vehicle while walking the road. Something like this really bugs me! So many situations like this that could develop into fatal endings for pedestrians, I don't know the entire details about what happened but I do know this, in all fairness to everyone involved, it could have been avoided.

First of all, people walking along the highways must realize that the roads are for vehicle use and many times it is literally impossible for a motorist to see them until it's too late.

No motorist is interested in running down anybody, in fact, in most cases they'll take a ditch risking personal injury to themselves to avoid such a thing. So it looks like pedestrians are going to have to call the signals and practice extreme caution if walking along roadsides is necessary.

I had a close call Sunday night myself while enroute on one of St. Johns' busy streets. Cruising along at a reasonable rate of speed, I suddenly saw this dark object appear in front of me from nowhere. Gee, people, give us drivers a chance. Fortunately, I saw him in plenty of time. But what if I hadn't! That thought lingered with me thru the rest of the evening. And so it could be with any of you. Let's all get together and use some of those safety rules our law enforcement people have been preaching for years. It could be your child's next time or mine, or maybe even you.

Realize unworthiness

By REV. HUGH BANNINGA

Turn to your Bible and read Isaiah 6, verses 1-8. This is Isaiah's personal account of his own spiritual experience where he is called by God to be a prophet. He set down in vivid and specific language how he had been claimed and commissioned by God.

Three things happened before Isaiah became a prophet. First, he realized his own unworthiness. Second, he experienced God's forgiveness. Third, he dedicated himself to a life of service in the name of God. These same three conditions are necessary today before a person can become a disciple of Christ.

Today let's take a look at the first condition. Before a person can become a true follower of Christ, he must realize his own unworthiness. God called Isaiah, but Isaiah answered, "Oh, no! You don't want me, I'm not worthy of the job. I'm a miserable sinner!"

Now this is just the kind of person God wants. He can do something with a person who knows he needs a little cleaning up in his life. God can do nothing for the man who feels that he is all right just as he is.

Do you remember the parable Jesus told? The one that was aimed at those who were sure of their own goodness and looked down on everyone else? "Two men went up to the temple to pray. One was a Pharisee and the other one was a tax-gatherer. The Pharisee stood up and prayed in these words: 'I thank thee, God, that I am not like the rest of men, greedy, dishonest, adulterous; or for that matter, like this tax-gatherer here. I fast twice a week; I pay tithes on all that I get.' But the other man kept his distance and would not even raise his eyes to heaven. Instead he beat upon his breast saying, 'God have mercy on me, sinner that I am.' It was this man, Jesus said, who went home acquitted of his sins."

In my estimation this parable of Jesus' has the greatest ability to "cut a man down to size." You can read this parable and put yourself in the role of the Pharisee every time.

If you and I are going to be disciples of Christ, we must realize our own unworthiness—our own sinfulness. Christian theology talks about man's FALLEN STATE or his ORIGINAL SIN. Each of us is born with it. The last Archbishop of Canterbury, William Temple, said, "From the beginning, I put myself in God's place. This is my original sin. I was doing it before I could speak, and everyone else has been doing it from earliest infancy."

In his book Christianity and Social Order Archbishop Temple writes: "When we open our eyes as babies, we see the world stretching out around us; we are in the middle of it; all proportions and perspectives in what we see are determined by the relation—distance, height, and so forth—of the various visible objects to ourselves. This will remain true of our bodily vision as long as we live. I am the center of the world I see; where the horizon is depends on where I stand."

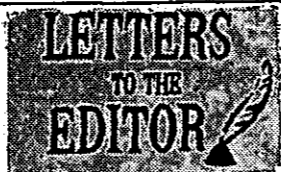

"Now just the same thing is true at first of our mental and spiritual vision. Some things hurt us and we hope they will not happen again; we call them bad. Some things please us; we hope they will happen again and we call them good. Our standard of value is the way things affect us. So each of us takes his place in the center of his own world. But I am not the center of the world, or the standard of reference as between good and bad; I am not and God is."

In one of his visions the Prophet Zechariah asked an angel where two other angels were taking a certain barrel. This barrel contained a woman called Wickedness and she personified all the sins of the people. The angels were carrying the barrel and Miss Wickedness to Babylon. Wouldn't it be nice if we could be rid of our sins just as easily—by shipping them off to a foreign country?

No, it's not that easy. If we are going to be disciples of Christ, we must realize our own unworthiness—our own sinfulness and confess this to God just like Isaiah did.

Next week we'll take a look at the second condition—experiencing God's forgiveness.

Wishes to contact classmates

Dear Editor:

I graduated from Elsie High School with the class of 1932 which is 40 years past. I have lost all contact with my fellow graduates and I would like to correspond with them for a 40th anniversary reunion by mail.

I think that most of the survivors are still living in Michigan, in fact most are probably still in the four counties surrounding Elsie. I would appreciate very much if you would put an article in the news informing my fellow graduates that I would like to have a reunion by mail and I will compile a newsletter of the interesting happenings that my fellow graduates send to me and mail to each.

There was 37 in my class and only a very few went on to college, some were killed in the war, accidents took others, and some have migrated to far off places.

Farm Bureau will fight new ag bill

LANSING — An all out effort will be made by Farm Bureau members in every part of the state to secure passage of the Agricultural Marketing and Bargaining Act now pending in the House Labor Committee. The announcement was made by Elton R. Smith, Michigan Farm Bureau president, from the organization's state headquarters in Lansing.

"Our members will be working for passage of the Act in its original form," Smith said. "Passage in the Senate was a great step forward, but many producers of the commodities which were removed from the Senate bill have indicated strong support for reinstatement of these commodities by House action."

The bill, which passed the Senate last week, was amended from its original form to exclude livestock and livestock products, poultry and poultry products, grains, sugar beets, dry beans and onions.

Last November, during their annual meeting, delegates set Farm Bureau's direction on marketing and bargaining legislation for the third consecutive year. According to Smith, "This direction was the result of firm member recommendation from the producers of all commodities."

"Spokesmen for some commodity organizations, supposedly speaking on behalf of their members, are stressing that they don't need more voice in determining the price of their products," Smith said. "I find it an exercise in futility when I attempt to understand the reasoning behind farmers' organizations' unwillingness to support the best interest of all agricultural producers. The time has passed when we can afford the luxury of allowing our individual differences to overcome the opportunity which would benefit all of those in agriculture desiring to voluntarily benefit."

"I am continuing my fight to see this legislation receive final approval in the House," Brown said.

Thoughts on Primary

A few million words have already been written about Michigan's presidential primary last week, but I would like to share a few thoughts with you.

The fact that Governor Wallace carried the Democratic party is not particularly surprising. This was predicted.

Nor was the fact that many Republicans switched and voted in the Democratic primary unexpected. Facing no contest in their own party, it was anticipated that significant numbers would cross over.

The real shock to many people was the size of Governor Wallace's victory in relation to the vote received by the other Democratic candidates who represent much more closely the generally accepted viewpoint of that party. Senators McGovern and Humphrey both have enjoyed the support of organized labor and have good credentials in the civil rights movement. Both, at least in recent years, have urged a quicker withdrawal from Viet Nam. Yet, in spite of this, both were soundly defeated.

But the lessons to be learned from last week's election are not confined to the Democrats. Those of us on the other side of the aisle should listen carefully to the voters' message. The difficult thing is to read that message clearly and translate it into a program of responsible legislative action.

It would be easy to conclude that because Governor Wallace was against busing, against property taxes and against big government, we should immediately stop busing, property taxes and governmental programs. Many of us have been trying to work in those directions for quite some time but implementation by law is not quite that simple. And this is still a nation of law.

The truth is that no one man, not even the President of the United States, can accomplish all the things Governor Wallace advocated. The President can only propose legislation. He cannot enact it and the entire make-up of the U.S. Congress would have to be changed to achieve the results he seeks. And in matters such as the local property tax, any campaign pledges by a presidential candidate are suspect. The mayor, township supervisor and school board member have the power here and the President has none.

But there's no denying that Governor Wallace has been saying things people want to hear. The response of the voters should tell all of us in the legislative branch to begin working to change the direction in which government has been going.

Accepting the idea that this is the voters' message, those same voters should be ready to accept the consequences of that change. They who want reduced taxes should be prepared to go without some of the services those taxes provide. Are we ready to forget medicare, pollution abatement, and improved roads? Will we accept something less in educational opportunity? Or police protection?

The strange thing is that my mail and personal contacts run heavily to those who want something more from government, not less. It involves increased pay and pensions for civil servants and teachers, more money for parks, sewers, schools and local government and more governmental participation in our daily lives.

The real significance of the Michigan vote last week may not be apparent. It may be August or November before the message becomes clear. Not many people really expect Governor Wallace to be nominated for the presidency; although, he is sure to have some impact on who is selected and the programs adopted by his party. The question may then be "who will the Wallace voter vote for in a contest between either Humphrey, McGovern or Muskie and President Nixon?"

Whatever the results finally show, one thing is certain: The presidential primary in Michigan has come a long way from the proposal no one really wanted just a few months ago. It certainly has given the voter a new voice in the political process and it's up to all of us to listen to what he is saying.

Children & Money

By LORRAINE SPRAGUE
Extension Home Economist

Parents ask for advice regarding teaching children how to value and use money. Most specialists agree a regular allowance, with guidance as to its use is probably the best way.

Each child will have different needs and different wishes. There is no rule for the amount of money or its use --- just a few guidelines.

A child can handle his own money when he's old enough to understand the relationship of money to available goods and services.

Somewhere around age four a youngster begins to see the connection between coins and something he wants. About a year later he identifies the difference between coins, though at first, because its bigger, a nickel may seem more valuable than a dime. Around age seven children begin to understand the real meaning of money.

You and your child need to decide what expenses his allowance will cover. As he grows, so will his needs. He can be responsible for as many routine expenses --- lunch, school supplies, recreation, etc. --- as he can handle. As he grows older, there can be a longer time between allowance payments. He might start at twice a week and as he learns payment could be only once a month. The important thing is regularity in amount and time he receives it. He should be able to count on his allowance without reminding you it is due. Incidentally he is also becoming aware of an employer-employee situation he will face as an adult.

Be prepared for the time a child wants to buy something that costs more than his weekly allowance. Here is your chance to discuss the wisdom of such a purchase, its long-term value and possible methods of payment. Don't overrule the purchase --- help him decide if he really wants it.

Allowances may continue through junior high, high school, college or until marriage, but eventually it will end. Each child and each family situation will be different. When parents supply money for essentials and allow the child to use his allowance for other items, they gradually ease him into independence.

Two area residents named to TB board

A meeting of the newly formed Central Region of the Michigan Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association was held in Lansing May 16. The new region will serve the central Michigan counties of Montcalm, Gratiot, Ionia, Clinton, Barry, Eaton, Ingham and Livingston.

The region was formed as a part of the reorganization of the Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association in Michigan to better serve the health needs of the public. The former Ingham County Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association was dissolved in order to become a part of the new region.

Board members present at the meeting appointed Ford Ceasar, Lansing school principal, and former president of the Ingham County TB-RD Association, as the acting president, and a nominating committee was named to elect officers. Ceasar cited the history of the Ingham County TB-RD Association which served the citizens of Ingham County since it was organized back in 1919. He said the Association conducted early public information campaigns about tuberculosis and Health Crusades in schools, carried out a county wide TB clinic schedule, followed-up work with TB patients instituted a summer camp for undernourished and anemic children, campaigned for a new sanatorium, now known as the older section of Ingham Medical Hospital, promoted tuberculin skin testing, helped sponsor mass chest X-raying, and the rehabilitation of TB patients. In later years it has supported the scheduling and promotion of the mobile X-ray unit, assisted in creating a staff position for a health educator with the county health department, paid part of the salary for a TB nurse, provided funds for medical research in amounts of $3,000 a year, promoted good health programs in county schools, developed the successful smoking withdrawal clinic at Edward W. Sparrow Hospital, provided breathing test equipment to several area hospitals, assisted patients with breathing problems and many more activities. Ceasar said the staff from the dissolved Ingham unit will now develop the programming for the new eight-county region. Regional director is Harold Rogers, who directed the operation of the Ingham County TB-RD Association since 1954.

The Board indicated that during the forthcoming year much of their effort would be spent on two major objectives --- TB control and the preventing of respiratory diseases and the rehabilitation of patients already afflicted. The Board also voiced approval of House Bill 4260, Michigan's clean air bill, and said they would work for clean air in Michigan.

Board members include: Wayne K. Ward, St. Johns and Rodney W. Finkbeiner, Fowler, both from Clinton County; Mrs. Vera Calhoun, Charlotte and Thomas Kelley, MD, Charlotte from Eaton County; Mr. Walno Pihl, Middleton and Adrian Cook, Ithaca, from Gratiot County; Mrs. Ralph Bonner, East Lansing, J. E. Hayes, Lansing, Ford Ceasar, Lansing, Mrs. Richard L. Moore, Lansing, Mrs. Ray A. Hannula, Lansing, Mrs. Phillip Christy, RN, Lansing, Mrs. M. J. Farrell, Lansing, Mrs. Dean Lovitt, Lansing, John Pettibone, Lansing, Louis Phillip, Lansing, Benjamin Stone, MD, East Lansing, Mrs. George Ziegler, Lansing, Mrs. Leo Allen, Lansing, Mrs. Mathies Evans, East Lansing, Mrs. Julius Hoffman, Lansing, Vernon Jones, Lansing, Mrs. Howard C. Martin, Lansing and Max H. Robins, DO, Lansing, all from Ingham County; Mrs. K. R. Mac Duff, RN, Greenville, Montcalm County; and Alvin Knauss, Ionia, Ionia County. Additional Board members will be recruited.

Bicentennial medal judging

Final judging of the Michigan Bicentennial Medal competition marking the state's participation in the 200th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence was held last weekend, according to State Senator William S. Ballenger (R-Ovid). Results are expected to be announced later this week.

Ballenger is one of five members of the Franklin Mint Bicentennial Medal judging committee which also includes: Dr. Martha Bigelow, director of the Michigan Historical Commission; Walter Midener, director of the School of the Society of Arts and Crafts of Detroit; G. Alden Smith, chairman of Wayne State University's art department; and Charles J. Snell, vice-president of the Detroit Bank and Trust.

The first meeting of the group, to choose 10 semifinalists out of more than 400 Michigan entries, was held a month ago in Lansing. Commented Ballenger:

"THIS IS part of a nationwide competition to create a series of 50 commemorative medals honoring contributions of the individual states to the heritage of our nation.

"The prizes will total $500,000 --- an amount that makes this by far the greatest art competition in recorded history," he added.

"The competition is divided into 50 state contests running concurrently. $10,000 in prizes will be awarded the top four contestants in each state competition. First prize in each state will be $5,000; second prize, $2,500; third prize, $1,500; and fourth prize, $1,000."

Members of a prestigious National Advisory Panel for the competition include prominent historians and artists such as famed illustrator Norman Rockwell and Pulitzer Prize-winning author Bruce Catton.

Senator Ballenger noted that the Franklin Mint of Franklin, Pa., the nation's foremost private mint, is sponsoring the event.

COMPETITION IN EACH state was open to professional and amateur artists.

First edition proof sets will be available to collectors later this year.

Senator Ballenger, who sponsored legislation establishing a Michigan Bicentennial Commission, said each state would share in the proceeds from sales of the medals and would have the option of adopting the first prize design as the state's official Bicentennial medal in 1976.

An ounce of prevention

Yellow vegetable dieting

AN OUNCE OF PREVENTION - By JOSEF J. LLINAS, M.D., Director of Community Mental Health for Clinton, Eaton and Ingham

DR. LLINAS

How do dieting fads get started?

It is not easy to tell, but once they get established, it is very hard to convince people of their ineffectiveness and their sometimes harmful effects.

Behind any diet "craze" lies the hopeful wish that one could eat a fair amount, and still lose weight; or that there is special magic in eating one particular type of food over another.

A CRAZE IN AUSTRALIA

Though it apparently has not yet reached our shores, the newspaper, Medical Tribune, reported recently on a currently fashionable diet in Australia. An Australian gynecologist who has studied the effects of this fad, sounded a strong warning to female dieters in his country.

"Many women," he said,

"have been going on a carrot and pumpkin diet in the belief that it will help them to lose weight. But in reality, they face several risks, including cirrhosis (derangement) of the liver."

HARMFUL EFFECTS

The physician, Dr. Sidney Page of Brisbane, added that, according to his survey, some of the women involved eat up to two pounds of carrots and pumpkins a day.

Depending on whether the women are markedly overweight or not, the long term effects are somewhat different.

Those who are not too heavy to begin with become thinner; their skin turns yellow, and their ovaries, if they should need an operation, appear to be of bright orange color. They also usually stop menstruating.

On the other hand, women who are obese tend to get Vitamin A intoxication, since this vitamin is fat soluble, and accumulates in the body in enormous quantities. Some women bleed heavily, and require surgery to stop the bleeding.

"In my experience," he said of the girls, "these women tend to be more psychologically disturbed than the rest of the female population. They seem to be attracted by the bright color of the vegetable."

MORAL OF THE STORY

On a brief and somewhat tongue-in-cheek editorial comment, the medical publication states that there are at least three basic things to learn from the Australia yellow dieting craze:

(1) If you skew the diet enough in any direction and reduce total calorie intake, you can have weight loss (low carbohydrate, high protein, high fat diets are all somewhat effective).

(2) Food abuse possibly kills as many people as drug abuse, if we exclude alcohol and tobacco.

(3) That carrot lovers perse are more disturbed than their non-carrot lover brethren should not be accepted at face value. It may be that it is the state of their livers which affects them to that extent, much as it happens with alcoholics.

THE OUNCE OF PREVENTION

Dieting continues to be a happy hunting ground for faddists and quacks. If you are serious about reducing the health hazard of overweight, talk to your doctor.

There are better ways of accomplishing your goal than eating up to two pounds of carrots a day.

THE UNKINDEST CUT OF ALL

Dr. Page also reported on two cases of serious liver disease, which he attributed to the diet, and then made some remarks which perhaps show that his general attitude about aussie carrot lovers is not entirely positive.

REMEMBER . . .

Simplicity

April Showers bring May Flowers—
And also bring the Grass.
Flowers bloom, then fade away—
They're not supposed to last.
GRASS is quite another thing—
We think it's here to stay.
To keep it looking at its best—
Cut it the "SIMPLICITY WAY"!

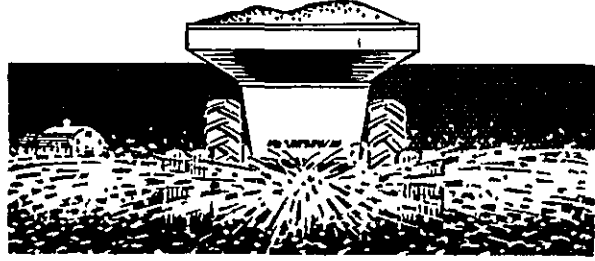

WE WILL OFFER YOU A GOOD DEAL

Ovid-Elsie school board meeting

By PAULA HOLMES
News Special Writer

OVID-ELSIE — Another school system has decided to join the Clinton County Vocational Education Shared Time Program. The Ovid-Elsie School Board unanimously voted to participate in the program at a meeting Monday night.

"This is the first major undertaking in the way of multiple programs by the county," Don Kenney, Ovid-Elsie School superintendent, explained.

The program's facilities will be located in St. Johns and all the participating school systems will buy the necessary equipment. The state will reimburse the systems for the extra money spent on vocational education students above the normal cost per pupil.

Participation in the vocational education program will affect 101 Ovid-Elsie Juniors and seniors. The students will be able to receive additional training in auto mechanics, power mechanics, building trades, cosmetology and health services.

The cost of the program would be highest the first year because expensive equipment would be needed, Kenney said. The expense would be much lower the following year, he added.

In other business, School Board Pres. David Hill administered the oath of office to Charles Bracey. Bracey was appointed to the Board at a special meeting May 4. He will fill the vacancy left after the death of Joseph Michutka.

The Board also discussed the wording of the ballot for the annual school election June 12. A resolution asking for the renewal of 14 mills for operational purposes and the increase of one mill for the purchase of a bus garage will appear on the ballot. Also voters will elect two members to the School Board for four-year terms and one member for one year to complete a term.

The Board unanimously approved the wording of the ballot.

A proposal to buy new government books and U.S. history books was presented by John Oberlin, chairman of the Social Studies department at Ovid-Elsie High School. The total cost for 177 government books and 200 U.S. history books would be $2200.

The Board also discussed the recommendations of the Instructional Council. The council suggested that new books be bought for the algebra, business, elementary reading, and Spanish programs. The total cost would be $1889.

Both proposals were approved by the Board as finances permit.

The Board also voted to pay the general fund bills. The bills were pay roll, $59,143.06 and hospitalization insurance, $684.

The meeting on June 13 is to be a potluck supper at 6:30. The drink will be furnished. You are to bring your own table service and a dish to pass. There will be a bakeless bake sale at this meeting.

Mrs. Karl Smith, Mrs. Albert Pellow, Mrs. Francis Hall and Mrs. John Spencer attended a salad luncheon at the Elsie United Methodist Church on Wednesday, May 10.

The speaker for the day was David Johnson, a US-II missionary working with the Indians in Central Michigan. He has a degree in business management. He is a conscientious objector and took this means to serve his fellowman instead of doing combat duty. He had undergone quite an intensive course of study. He said that the Indians are a proud and independent people. He will be stationed in the Central Michigan area for two years, coming in August of 1971. This project is funded in part by the Fund of Reconciliation. He receives a salary along with an allowance for room and board. There is no word in the Indian language for religion.

The Afternoon Circle of the Shepardsville WSCS met on Thursday, May 11 at the home of Mrs. Clarence Mead. There was a good attendance.

The business meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Charles Walker. There were the usual reports. There is a substantial amount in the treasury.

There will be a box in the 'ladies' cloak room during the rest of the month for good used light-weight clothing for CWS.

The June meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Francis Hall. Mrs. Karl Smith will have the program and Mrs. Clarence Mead the devotions.

The program books will be filled out by the members after the program committee meets. This will be done at the October meeting of both Circles.

Mrs. Ralph Baker had charge of the program. She used several different portions of Scripture. The meditation was from an article by Norman Vincent Peal.

Mrs. John Spencer had charge of the program. Her topic was the WSCS movement in India. The WSCS is fairly new in this country, but it is growing very fast. One of their aims is to have every woman literate. Out of a membership of over 15,000 there are just over 800 literate women. Their work and aims are much the same as in any WSCS. They have various ways of earning money and follow very closely the suggestions in their program book.

The Berean Circle of the Shepardsville WSCS meets on Thursday evening, May 18 at the home of Mrs. Albert Pellow. Mrs. Robert Henderson will have the program and Mrs. Lee Swender the devotions.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ernst and Maxine were Sunday evening, May 21 visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Moritz and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Moritz and daughters.

Sunday, May 21 dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Forch were their brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Nequette of Lansing.

Plants need gentle slope

Have you ever seen a tree or a clump of grass clinging desperately to its place on a steep bank? Often erosion has removed the soil from around the roots. The roots are exposed to drying by the sun and wind and the plant is in poor health due to a lack of moisture and food.

Obviously this is a hopeless situation if we expect the plant to control erosion. It is also obvious that such banks are a prime source of sediment. Yet people in many communities attempt to grow grass on slopes so steep that plants have little chance of taking root and growing.

SINCE SEDIMENT is an enemy of our lakes and streams, it is essential that it be controlled at its source. Steep banks which result from unwise grading work on roads or streets or on school, industrial or residential sites are such sources. The sediment is then carried by storm sewers, gutters and ditches to our streams and lakes.

The Clinton County Soil Conservation District assisted by the U.S. Soil Conservation Service emphasizes that banks can be protected by grass if they have the proper slope. Such slopes are gentle in nature and generally have no more than one foot of rise for every three feet of horizontal distance. Some deviation from this rule is possible under good conditions, but steeper slopes should be treated with caution.

THE PROTECTION and preservation of our natural resources is the task of all of us. Although the erosion on any one bank may seem small in its effect, the large number of such banks in our community produces much sediment to damage our streams and lakes.

For help in growing grass or shrubs on banks, contact Lloyd B. Campbell, District Conservationist, at the Soil Conservation office at 100 South Ottawa, St. Johns

And the place most successful farmers go for the long-term working capital they need to invest in their future is their nearby Land Bank.

Because it is theirs.

And because it is the only place to profit from these money-saving advantages: Longer terms, with lower annual payments, at the lowest interest rate around. Plus, the advantage of prepayment privileges, without penalty.

There are other advantages. Like payments arranged to match peak earning periods. A future payment fund which earns interest and protects your credit rating in an emergency.

So when you need money to grow, consider all these advantages. Then go see the long-term credit specialists at your farmer-owned Land Bank Association office. One last thing. Once you take advantage of all these advantages, you become a part owner of the Land Bank, too.

That's another advantage.

4-H Chatter

Youth Dairy Clinic

By JOHN AYLSWORTH

A regional youth dairy clinic will be held at the Ionia County Fairgrounds June 28-29 for 4-H members and leaders, FFA members and Vo-Ag instructors and other interested youth and adults.

Following the 4-H philosophy of "learning by doing" the clinic will feature experience and training by Michigan State University dairy staff on fitting and showing an animal, artificial insemination techniques, evaluating pedigrees and dairy judging.

Participants can also examine a cow's digestive tract, meet other 4-H'ers and leaders from their area, learn about the programs and awards available for 4-H'ers in the dairy project, and view films, slide sets and printed material available for local club use.

To benefit the most from this workshop, each youth should bring a calf or pair up with someone who is bringing a young calf or heifer to the clinic. The event is the first regional dairy clinic of its kind.

For those youth and adults who would like to stay over night the cost of registration and four meals is $5.00. If you do not wish to stay over night the registration cost is $1.00 plus the cost of any meals you wish to eat there. For more information and registration forms please contact the County Extension Office. Registration is due before June 12 if you plan to attend this regional youth dairy clinic June 28-29 at Ionia.

108 4-H members, parents and leaders interested in raising flowers and vegetables this summer attended the horticulture meeting Thursday evening at St. Johns under the direction of Anabel Peck of Elsie, Mrs. Peck, 4-H leader of the Elsie Four Corners Club, encouraged members to look through catalogs to learn and try new varieties each year, learn to identify the variety of plants grown in their garden and discussed how to select or judge vegetables for exhibit. Members participated in an identification contest from a basic list of vegetables and flowers plus identifying a group of specialty plants. Each member took a test for the horticulture contest on knowledge about plants, matching varieties with kind of flower or vegetable that has been selected as All-American varieties. Winners of the contest will be eligible for scholarships to the 4-H Youth Exploration Day at MSU, June 22-24. The State 4-H Horticulture Contest will be June 23 - 3:30 p.m. at MSU. Members interested in entering the contest are urged to practice identifying different kinds of plants.

THE 4-H TEEN Leaders will be making final plans for their Teen Leader activity to visit Cedar Point Amusement Park at Sandusky, Ohio June 12-13 at their regular meeting June 1, 7:30 p.m. at Smith Hall. The Teen Leaders who plan to go to Cedar Point will need to turn in $6.50 deposit by June 1 to the Extension Office. Present plans call for leaving Monday, June 12 about 1 p.m. and returning on Tuesday, June 13 about 11 p.m. Teen Leaders who have been working on the glass project can earn up to $10.00 toward their trip expense. The next glass collection will be Saturday, June 3. Nearly 300,000 pounds of glass has been collected to date for recycling.

CONGRATULATIONS go to Marcia Tait and Jane Vitek of St. Johns who received a $360.00 scholarship from the Michigan branch of the National Farm and Garden Association for college this fall. Marcia is a member of the Jolly Knitters 4-H club and Jane is a member of the Bengal Community 4-H Club. They are both seniors at St. Johns High School.

THE 4-H Softball leaders meet Tuesday evening and made final plans for the summer season. There will be 12 teams in the Green League and 10 teams in the White League. The first games will be played on Friday, June 9 with playoffs to begin on Friday, July 28. The playoff will be different this year as the games will be five innings in length and will include double elimination. The County Playoff winners will participate in the District Playoffs in August.

THE 4-H PUBLIC Speaking Contest will be held on Monday, June 19, 7:30 p.m. at the Central National Bank in St. Johns. Members 14 years or older may enter the contest giving a 5 to 7 minute talk on any topic of their choice. The county boy and girl winner will enter the District Contest on July 7.
