Candidates seek offices

DEWITT

Four candidates are vying for 2 vacancies on DeWitt's School Board. Victor White, 38, resides at 4200 Driftwood Dr, DeWitt, and is employed as a general foreman at Oldsmobile in Lansing. He and his wife Georgia have 5 children, ages 16, 14, 13, 12 and 10.

Previously White has served on the Muir City Council, and was president of the Muir Lions Club. He said he is not currently involved with any civic or fraternal organizations since he was only recently transferred from the night shift to days at Olds.

A resident of the DeWitt School

District for 4 years, White said he would like to be on the School Board because he likes to be active in making decisions that affect his children. He reports "no quarrels with anybody" on the Board, and proposes no major policy changes.

Dale Brown, (not to be confused with Gordon Brown already on the Board, who also is called "Dale") 42, lives at 1070 Herbison Rd with his wife Phyllis and their 2 children, ages 16 and 14. He is employed as a computer programmer at the Dept of Military Affairs in Lansing.

He is a member of the American Legion in Lansing, and has resided in the School District for 3 years.

A member of the Citizen's Committee that worked on construction of the new high school, Brown said he didn't think the School Board kept the committee adequately informed. "They aren't serving the best interests of the people," he stated. He added that he would like to be on the Board to "ask questions once in a while."

Kenneth Stevens, 40, 12474 Airport Rd, is employed as an auditor. He and his wife Carol have 11 children ranging in age from 17 years to 4 months.

Stevens has lived in the school District for 4 years. Although he states no complaints with the present Board, he said he would "have to see a little more before I know."

He has 11 kids in the District as his main reason for seeking election.

Muri Eastman, 52, lives at 509 Webb Drive with wife Virginia. They have 3 children. The Rev Eastman is pastor of DeWitt Community Church, and also serves as a parttime policeman and volunteer fireman.

He has lived in DeWitt 3-1/2 years. He was in Mason 7 years where he served 2 years on the City Council, was on the Police and Sheriff's Dept and currently serves as chaplain at the Ingham County Jail. He is a member of the VFW and Southern Michigan's Fireman's Association.

He is seeking re-election to the Board because "I am interested in youth and particularly our school system." He says he wants to help give them the best quality education for what the taxpayers can afford.

ST JOHNS

One vacancy on the St Johns School Board is available, with 2 candidates seeking that position.

Robert Barbeau, 37, resides with his wife Patricia and their 3 children, ages 11, 4 and 1, at 307 S Traver. He is employed as a claims adjuster for State Farm Insurance, and has lived in the School District 7 years.

Currently he is president-elect of the St Johns Rotary Club and is a member of the Congregational Church. A former band director for 8-1/2 years, he was in charge of adult education at Albion High School for 2 years.

Barbeau is seeking election because he feels it is his "duty to serve with children in school. I feel I could contribute something to the Board." He said he feels the Board has done a good job, and doesn't want to be elected to change it. "There are no real issues," he said.

Forest D. Kuenzli, 36, resides at 4611 W Park, St Johns, and is manager of bean manufacturing for the Michigan Elevator Exchange. He and his wife Patricia have 5 children, ages 14, 13, 11, 6 and 3.

President of the Riley PTA, he also is director of the Mich Crop Improvement Association, Pilgrim United Methodist Church board member and chairman of the finance committee.

Kuenzli has lived at the Park address over 6 years, moving here from Lansing. Prior to that he was a vocational agricultural instructor at Elkton-Pigeon-Bayport High School for 5-1/2 years.

He is a candidate because he feels that the St Johns Schools need to maintain a quality educational program, and with today's rising costs efficiency in spending must be maintained. Kuenzli believes his experience and business would be an asset to the Board.

FOWLER

The School Board election in Fowler is unopposed. Linus Pohl, incumbent, and Jane Platte are seeking the 2 vacancies.

OVID-ELSIE

Three candidates are running for 2 positions on the Ovid-Elsie School Board.

Seeking re-election is Glenn D. Webster, incumbent, with Susan M. DePond and Frank Rivest also seeking election to the board.

Webster, 50, is finishing his first 4-year term on the board. He also served on a local country school board for several years and on the Eureka School Board. He also served as Township supervisor in Greenbush for 7 years.

He is a member of the Grange, Farm Bureau and Michigan Milk Producers Association.

He said he is seeking re-election because "I enjoy working on the board and would like to see improvements in the school system."

A resident of the area for 48 years, he is a farmer and he and his wife, Marjorie, have 7 children ranging in age from 12 to 29.

They reside at Rt 1, Elsie.

Also seeking election to the board is Frank C. Rivest, 53, 5837 N. Watson Rd, Elsie.

A dairy farmer, he has served previously on the Elsie School Board and had served on the board for 3 years when the Ovid-Elsie High School building was constructed.

A resident of the district for 27 years, Rivest and his wife, Mary have 9 children ranging in age from 8 to 26. He is a member of the Elsie Lions Club.

In his statement to the County News, Rivest said, "I'm interested in seeing the students get the best education possible as economically as possible."

The 3d candidate in the Ovid-Elsie election is Susan M. DePond, 18, a 1973 graduate of Ovid Elsie High School.

A resident of 142 Front St. Ovid, she has worked part-time at Central Michigan Sand and Gravel and is presently employed at Ovid Roller Millers, where she has worked parttime for 4 years.

She is a member of the United Church of Ovid and served as an officer in the

Lively meeting for DeWitt City Council

By Jim Edwards
County News Editor

DEWITT - A verbal swipe at the City Council by the city treasurer, approval of a liquor license application, acceptance of a bid on a new fire truck, comments about press coverage, unpaid mowing bills, accusation of leaks to the press and a dispute over woodchucks kept the Monday night meeting a lively one in DeWitt.

The hottest issue of the evening centered around Marilyn Coin, city treasurer, and her criticism of the City Council in hiring an outside firm to prepare the city tax rolls and mail the billings.

She said that was her job and that she was "hurt" when informed by the private firm that they were going to "do her job."

Members of the City Council said the action was taken because they were told the rolls could not be prepared and the billings mailed by the July 1 date necessary for the city to meet credit obligations.

Mayor Raymond DeWitt told Mrs Coin and the council that she had told him it would be impossible to have the work completed by that time.

One of the reasons for the delay was the recent resignation of Daniel Elliott as city administrator who was also the assessor for DeWitt.

MRS COIN EXPRESSED her disagreement with the city's decision, both on a cost basis and because she was not asked to discuss the situation with the council in a meeting.

Concerning the costs, she said, "I was hurt when I was called and told someone was going to do my job. I was upset then and now I'm mad." After some discussion, she added, "How do the taxpayers feel about paying someone to do the job I'm paid for when we're short of money?"

After several minutes of discussion, the dispute seemed to boil down to 2 sides: the treasurer felt she should have been consulted after a conversation with the council to hire outside help and the explanation by members of the council that the action was taken to insure that cash flow would be provided by sending out tax billings as soon as possible.

WHEN ASKED why she thought she could now get the tax billings out closer to the July date, Mrs Coin said factors subsequent to her conversation with the mayor, including the knowledge of when the printed rolls would be received, plus arranging for the assessing would help to speed up the procedure.

After Stanley Tenney withdrew his support of the motion to hire the outside firm and Ronald Mull withdrew the motion, the council moved to have the city staff handle the billings and

Lyle French is new Chief

ST JOHNS - City Manager Harvey Weatherwax recently announced the appointment of Acting Assistant Police Chief Lyle French to the position of Chief of Police. He has filled the position vacated by former Chief Everett Glazier, who retired June 1 after 36 years with the Police Dept.

Glazier spent 10 years on the force as a patrolman, after which he was appointed to the position of Chief. The department had only 3 employees when he began, as compared to 6 Patrolmen, 2 Sergeants and a Chief presently.

Glazier's future plans include fishing, hunting and traveling. He especially wants to visit the state of Washington, and plans to go to Florida next winter. "It was a nice job," he said. "I enjoyed every bit of it. The city and the people are very nice."

LYLE FRENCH joined the St Johns Police Dept on April 1, 1956 as a Patrolman. He was promoted to Sergeant in December of 1969, Assistant Chief in March of this year, and Chief June 1.

French and his wife Beverly reside at 504 S Swegles. She is employed in the Clinton County Treasurer's office. They have 3 children; William, 20, married; Cathy, 18, who is in Bradenton, Fla; and Thomas, 16, at home.

French reports no major changes are planned other than internal ones, such as changing the record system. He indicated that 2 officers are to receive promotions.

Watertown Twp to discuss development plan June 13

WATERTOWN TWP — The Watertown Township Planning Commission will hold a public information meeting at 8 pm Wednesday, June 13 in the Township Hall to discuss the township's comprehensive development plan.

Vaughan Montgomery, planning commission chairman, said they're hoping to get feedback from residents on the plan.

There are 5 phases to go through before the plan is done. Right now it's in phase 4.

Phase 1 pulls together all available township information on population, housing, natural resources, economic base, transportation, community facilities, land use, and the township's setting within the region and state.

Phase 2 identified community trends and potentials in areas as land use, community facilities, and transportation. Their impact on the township's growth is analyzed.

Phase 3 centers on developing policies and goals that mirror the township's needs and problems.

Phase 4 coordinates all this information into a draft plan.

A land use map will also be developed to support a proposed zoning map, and to show maximum township development. Phase 5 uses input from the Watertown Township Planning Commission, Tri-County Regional Planning Commission, and the public. From all this information the comprehensive development plan is completed.

"Public input is especially important, and we hope to see a high turn out at the meeting," Montgomery added.

The Watertown Township Planning Commission is working jointly with the Tri-County Regional Planning Commission in developing the plan.

John Wesley College Moves Into Major Expansion Program

During the next few months, John Wesley College will become literally twice what it was in the 1972-73 school year.

Plans are being implemented at the Owosso campus of the four-year, Christian, nondenominational, liberal arts school to double in one year:

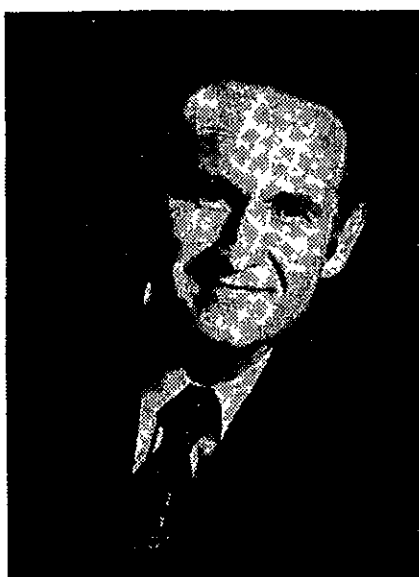

- the student body
- the faculty
- the physical size of the campus
- the facilities
- the operational budget

Dr. Kenneth S. Armstrong, president of the College, notes several reasons why John Wesley College is expanding its program at a time when some private liberal arts colleges are facing heavy cuts and education leaders are predicting that one-half of the nation's small Christian colleges may die in this decade.

First, the market is there. In the State of Michigan there are a number of private liberal arts colleges, Bible colleges and technical and business schools. However, there remains a great need for Christian higher education institutions that offer a quality liberal arts education.

Second, John Wesley College has committed itself to a bold, innovative plan to meet this need. Such a plan requires immediate implementation.

Third, the College has been very fortunate in securing the quality of faculty and administrative staff needed for a massive expansion program. The employment policy has been to staff John Wesley College with key people who have a high degree of expertise in their respective fields with the ability to provide leadership in sustaining a quality program.

Fourth, the laws of the State of Michigan support the growth and sustenance of private colleges by offering contributors a generous tax credit. John Wesley College has made a strong effort to incorporate the use of both state and federal tax advantages for the benefit of its supporters through its Endowment Club.

Fifth, the over-all program of the College, particularly the curriculum and financial designs, have been reviewed by respected leaders in education. They have encouraged the College to continue to expand.

Sixth, the College has a strategic location in Owosso, in the heart of mid-Michigan. Its central location appeals to students from all parts of the state. Also, many of Michigan's finest educational, cultural and social attractions are readily accessible.

It was only last February that Dr. Armstrong revealed the new master plan for the physical campus.

This included: 1) the purchase of enough land to almost double the campus size to 34 acres; 2) the renovation of existing buildings and construction of new buildings to double the capacity of facilities on campus.

Since that time the College has started landscaping both the old and new land, and is well into its building program.

The priority building projects include the library, student center, men's housing, and women's housing.

Two special projects which have been donated to the College and will be constructed soon are an eight-story bell tower by Mitchell-Bentley Corp. and a new entrance to the north side of the campus by Mrs. Don R. Mitchell.

When completed, all of the buildings, which are styled after an old-English motif, will blend together to give the effect of an old English village. This fits into the College's educational philosophy to create a "community," not an institution.

Dr. Armstrong notes that while there is a lot of excitement on campus over the building program, the College is especially pleased with another area of expansion — the faculty.

Just recently John Wesley College completed the successful recruitment of a large number of faculty members for the 1973-74 school year. They are highly qualified, versatile, strong in Christian character, and were selected for their ability to relate to students and fit into an innovative curriculum.

This faculty will join in guiding to discovery what is projected to be the largest student body in the history of the College. Based on a heavy increase in inquiries from prospective students and indicators used in a very aggressive student recruitment program, John Wesley College expects to double the number of students for the 1973-74 school year.

All of these increases — buildings, land, faculty, students — have meant doubling the budget. A highly efficient and productive development department has made this possible, primarily through the Endowment Club.

It is composed of people who have committed themselves to supporting the College's concept of Christian higher education by contributing $1,000 over a five-year period ($200 per year). They are assisted in utilizing the state's tax credit advantages, as well as provided with club benefits, including participation in a travel program and the use of the London Room, a fine foods dining place located in Owosso at the Wesley Center, a plush educational and conference center which is operated at very reasonable rates.

83 Pct. of New Faculty Have Earned Doctorates

Students who attend John Wesley College will study with a highly qualified, 83 per cent of four-year colleges.

Eighty-three per cent of the new faculty members have the earned doctorate. This raises the total percentage for the entire faculty to 72 per cent.

This percentage is significantly above the national average of approximately 40 per cent, for four-year colleges.

The important factor, however, said Dr. Kenneth S. Armstrong, president, is that these are people who have more than just a degree. They grace the degrees by their outstanding abilities, in-slight and professionalism in their respective fields.

30 Days of Discovery

Students to Travel, Study From London to Glasgow

One very important part of the educational philosophy of John Wesley College is to sensitize students to other people and other lands.

The innovative Travel-Study Program helps to accomplish this by taking students, as part of their regular program, to a foreign country for concentrated study. Past trips have included Rome, Italy, and Madrid, Spain.

During the 1973-74 school year, the College will undertake its most ambitious effort yet as it will transport students to London, England, where they will spend four weeks traveling and studying from London to Glasgow, Scotland.

Prior to leaving, students will select one of several areas of study. These could include some segment of: British history, church history, English literature and dramatics, the socialized state, art and art history, English architecture and design, English sociology (i.e., the relationships of races), church-state relations, the life of the common man in the English countryside, the socio-economic makeup, and many other possibilities.

A faculty member with expertise in one of these areas will recruit persons from the student body as part of a small group of seven or eight participants.

Five or six pre-sessions will be held prior to the trip to prepare students for their studies.

Dr. Walter L. Thomas, vice president of educational programs, illustrates the procedure:

"We have a faculty member who is a tremendous resource person in European history. He could put together a study of British Military History, specifically the naval history. Certain readings, study guides and lectures would prepare the student for visits to museums, archives, military installations, historical sites and other places in England.

"Another faculty member might put together a study of John Wesley — his history, writings, ministry, experiences, his role as the founder of Methodism."

A full-time faculty member will reside in England, working out the itinerary for the groups which will come at various times during the school year.

This person will co-ordinate travel arrangements, but his duties will go beyond that. He will seek out lecturers, museums and resources that are pertinent to the selected study areas and put the John Wesley College groups in touch with them upon arrival.

He'll make arrangements for students to sit in on lectures at colleges and universities in England and to visit their libraries.

When it's all over, the student will have four credit hours, but beyond that, four of the richest weeks of his life. And that's why at John Wesley College, the "world is our classroom."

College Seeks Investors To Finance Expansion

When organizations launch into building programs, the usual practice is to finance the construction through lending institutions.

John Wesley College has adopted the philosophy of going straight to the investors.

By receiving the invested dollar directly from the investor instead of through the lending institution, two things happen: 1) The investor receives the full 9 per cent interest the College would most likely be paying to lending institutions.

2) The College does not insulate itself from the investor.

This second point may not sound very important, but it is. There aren't too many people who would not like to earn 9 per cent interest on their money. But, among those investors there are a significant number who would appreciate the fact that their invested dollars are being used to contribute to the lives of young people. Their investment is more than a money-making proposition.

Beyond that, John Wesley College has confidence in its innovative, quality approach to Christian higher education. It's new; it's fresh; it's the way of education for the future.

Investors, like to be a part of that kind of happening. They are excited about the paradox of being able to give by receiving. And, by not insulating itself from investors, John Wesley College comes in direct contact with people, some of whom desire to know more about the College and its services to its constituents.

The College has detailed information available on the 9 per cent-interest program which has been approved by the State of Michigan. It can be obtained by mailing the coupon below to the College.

Stone Cellars Converted to Student Center

Two arched, stone cellars that have a colorful history will be transformed into one of the most unique meeting places college students could hope to have.

Back at the turn of the century, the two 20 by 80 foot cellars were used by William Gule, who operated a brewery in Flint, for aging his brew and wine, and for storage and local distribution.

In 1893, he sold the property to the German Arbeiter Society, a fraternal benefit organization composed of German immigrants who arrived in Michigan in large numbers between the late sixties and early nineties. For natural reasons, they were anxious to perpetuate their language, customs and religion. Most of them were Evangelical Lutherans who at that time had no religious convictions against liquor, tobacco, dancing and several other matters.

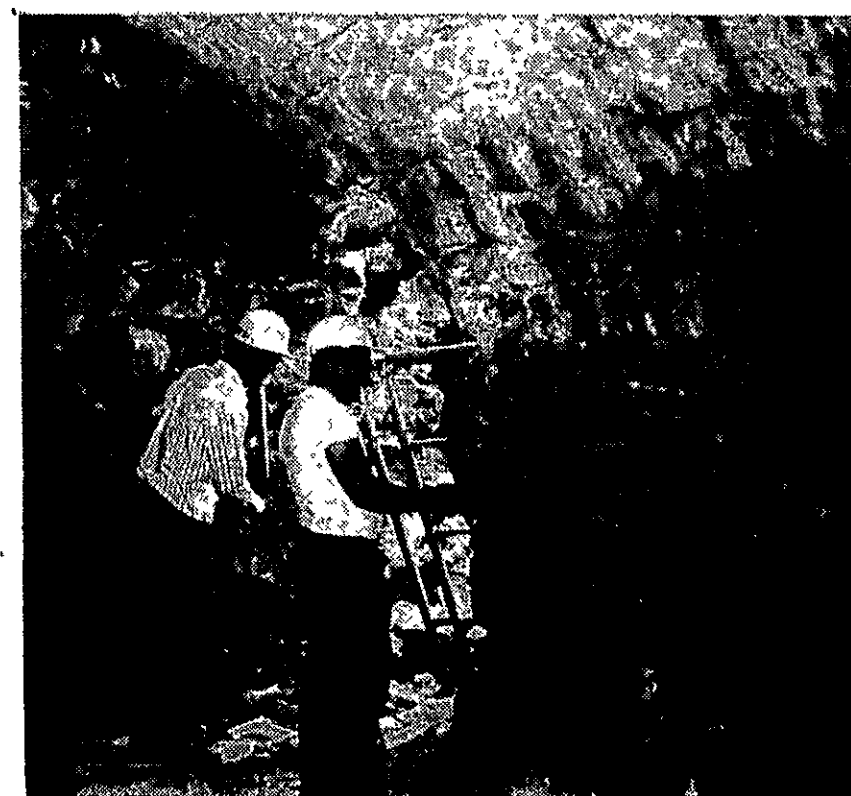

The Arbeiters remodeled the property and used the building above the cellars for club rooms, meetings and annual conventions.

In 1903, the Arbeiters turned the property back to William Gule who again remodeled it to develop a Mineral Bath Company. The building was located at its site originally to make use of a large mineral spring, which cooled the beverages. It was supposed to have "curative powers" in it.

In 1910, a religious group formed during the holiness movement also near the turn of the century, purchased the property to begin Bible Holiness Seminary.

Today, the building is being completely remodeled by John Wesley College for use in men's housing. And, the cellars are not being overlooked.

While for years they have been nothing more than storage areas, they will become a unique place for students to congregate informally. Sandwiches, soft drinks, coffee and other items will be served.

In the remodeling process, the stone walls will be preserved and, in fact, will be the key to the unusual atmosphere which will popularize it.

CNB&T announces new appointments

ST. JOHNS -- The appointment of two officers to new positions with Clinton National Bank and Trust Co. has been approved by the board of directors and the changes were announced this week by vice president Gayle Desprez, personnel director.

New assignments went to vice president C. Lester Jenkins who will supervise the bank's mortgage appraisal department and to James Cathey who was promoted to vice president in charge of the installment loan department. Both assignments are effective immediately.

Jenkins, who has been with CNB&T since 1961, began his career with the Oceana County Savings Bank at Hart June 1, 1939. He later moved to the State Bank of St. Johns in 1955 and became supervisor of installment loans when CNB&T was formed in 1961 through merger.

He is a graduate of Davenport Business University and the Michigan

School of Banking, University of Michigan. He is a past president of the St. Johns Exchange Club and a member of the St. Johns Lodge 105, F&AM.

Jenkins and his wife, Thelma, have 2 sons, Thomas of Atlanta, MI and Charles of Kentwood who is an assistant vice president at Old Kent Bank. One daughter, Dorothy Gretzinger, resides at Norfolk, Va.

Cathey, a 1961 graduate of Greenville High School, joined CNB&T in July 1969 as an assistant cashier in charge of the credit department. He began his banking career 2 years earlier with Central National Bank of St. Johns as an officer trainee and prior to that time was associated with his father in the mobile home business at Greenville.

In his new assignment Cathey will supervise all activities of the installment loan department. He has completed a number of American Institute of Banking study courses and is a graduate of the University of Michigan school of banking.

Cathey is a member of the St. Johns Jaycees, Clinton County Country Club and the Grattan Lodge 196, F&AM. He and his wife, Diana, have 4 children. The family resides at 1204 S. Lansing in St. Johns.

State Police no longer issue personal ID cards

The Michigan State Police as of June 1 have stopped taking applications for and issuing personal identification cards to state residents.

Decision to cut off this service was made because of lack of personnel, a backlog of ID card applications and other records work, and the priority required for handling criminal records, according to Col. John R. Plants, department director.

Although a 1973 law provides for State Police collection of a $3 processing fee per card, funds from this service are turned over to the state general fund. No extra personnel were authorized for the State Police to process the cards.

Capt. Glenn Dafeo, commander of the records division which has had responsibility for the card processing, said that Plants sent a directive to all 61 posts and 8 districts to take no more card applications after June 1.

Applications received prior to that time will be processed.

Plants' directive noted that the processing of personal ID cards for deaf mutes, which is set up under a different program, will continue. This is not a large volume activity.

The State Police have not issued ID cards to persons having a valid Michigan driver's license. Many ID card applicants have been older persons and welfare clients.

However, the problem of ID cards for those persons will be eased somewhat by a forthcoming new activity of the State Department of Social Services.

Beginning June 4, the Social Services Department will begin providing photo identity cards to its clients in Wayne county in 3 locations to be announced. Success of this activity there will bear on the question of providing the cards out of other DSS offices.

Gymnastics invitational to be held at Bath

BATH -- The Bath Gymnastics Club will host the Mid-Michigan Gymnastics Invitational Tournament for girls from Illinois, Ohio and Michigan on June 9 at 1 pm. The event will be held at the High School gym. Admission is $1 for adults and 50¢ for students.

Fulton voters to decide fate of building bond issue

MIDDLETON -- The electorate of the Fulton Schools will vote upon a bond issue on Monday, June 11. The purpose of this bond issue is to construct a Middle School which will accommodate the fifth through the eighth grades, and also to construct two additional rooms to the present high school—a science room and an art room.

The cost of the entire project will amount to $1,895,000. School officials have received preliminary qualification of the bonds from the Department of Education.

These bonds will be long term bonds ranging from 29 years to possibly 40 years. The annual millage rate will not exceed 7.3 mills annually which also includes the 2 mills which is on the debt retirement on the present high school building.

The present elementary school facilities have become so crowded that all existing facilities are being used to capacity and many have exceeded their capacity, according to Waino Pihl, superintendent. One area which far exceeds its capacity is at the Perrinton Elementary school where 2 rooms have been converted to one room by removing a retaining wall and using this room for a team teaching situation.

The 2 rooms combined have a normal capacity of 50 students, however it was necessary to crowd in another additional 39 students to accommodate all the students on that grade level. Maple Rapids Elementary school also poses a similar situation on the fifth grade level whereby a room which has a normal capacity of 35 pupils is now crowded by 40 students.

These conditions are being met by the school district by using portable classrooms and by using the school building for instruction.

struction because of the lack of space for elementary music instruction in our elementary schools," Pihl said. The dining room at the Congregational Church at Maple Rapids and also the Perrinton Methodist Church are being used.

At the present time the millage rate, both operational and debt retirement, is the lowest of all schools in the Gratiot-Isabella Intermediate School District. The operational millage, of which 8.48 mills is fixed and the 11 mills voted, amounts to a total of 19.48 mills. The debt retirement millage amounts to two, (2) mills, with a combined total of 21.48 mills.

This is the third attempt by the voters of the Fulton School District to pass the Middle School bond issue. The first time it was defeated in August 1969 by 149 votes, and the second time on December 9, 1972, by a mere six (6) votes. "This facility," Pihl said, "is desperately needed by the school district as at the present time the district has eleven (11) portable classrooms to house the students which cannot be housed in the permanent facilities. Another relocatable unit is needed for the school year 1973-74."

Four Clinton County residents receive diplomas

MIDDLETON -- Four Clinton County residents received high school diplomas at Fulton High School on Sunday, June 4. Mrs. James Bancroft, rural St. Johns, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Grubaugh, rural St. Johns, and Mrs. Robert Miller, Maple Rapids, were graduated in a special ceremony for the Adult Education high school completion program. James Leslie, Middleton, has also completed the requirements for a high school diploma.

Diplomas were presented to the graduates by James Leslie, rural St. Johns, a graduate of the Fulton High School, and by James Leslie, Middleton, a graduate of the Fulton High School.

Waino Pihl, Fulton superintendent, was the principal speaker. Special guests were the class teachers: Steve Post, Paul Miller, and Mrs. Chris VanSickle, and Mrs. Ruth Wright, Guidance Counselor. Reverend Fred Wing opened and closed the ceremony with prayer.

The exercises were preceded by a potluck dinner to which families were invited.

Bruce Grubaugh was assisted by the State of Michigan Library for the Blind where his textbooks were typed by volunteers. He was also assisted by the Fulton High School.

Michigan congressmen push for hearings

Chamberlain (R-Mich).

In a letter to Congressman Thomas S. Foley, Chairman of the Subcommittee on Livestock and Grains, the delegation said, "Because of the concern of the entire Michigan delegation in insuring consumers throughout our 50 States of high quality meat, we respectfully urge that hearings be held as soon as possible on proposals to provide that States may have more stringent standards with regard to marketing, labeling, packaging, and ingredient requirements than those made under the Federal Meat Inspection Act."

Chamberlain, who originated the joint delegation letter in response to recent action by the US Supreme Court which nullified Michigan's strict standards, is the sponsor of HR 372, a bill to eliminate lips, snouts, spleens, stomachs, ears, eyes, spinal cords, hinders, spleens, livers, cracklings, or crackling meal, or tongues from hotdogs, sausages and like products.

Said Chamberlain, "With the court's refusal to hear Michigan's appeal, consumers in California, Connecticut, Maryland, Massachusetts, Nevada and New York, as well as Michigan, now face meat products with standards less strict than before. Under these circumstances, I think our consumers deserve a Congressional hearing on just what goes into these meat products and I would hope that the House Agriculture Committee would be responsive to our request."

Powell urges 'choosy' buying

LANSING -- State Representative Stanley M. Powell (R-Ionia) today urged consumers to carefully read the contents label when buying hot dogs and other meat products to ensure that they are obtaining the all-meat products they have been accustomed to in Michigan.

"It appears that Michigan has lost its court battle to retain the right to set higher standards for its meat products than those set by the federal government," Representative Powell said.

"There is still a chance that legislation will be passed in Congress which would allow us to retain that right but the prospects of its passage are not at all certain."

"Meanwhile, it will now be up to the Michigan consumer to decide what quality he will look for in his hot dogs, sausages, etc., at least when he purchases them in the grocery store. He will of course have no way of knowing what he is receiving in a restaurant."

"The contents of the meat products in question will be on the label at the store and the best way of showing that you support the state's right to set its own higher standards is to simply not purchase products which contain by-products such as lips, spleens and an unsavory assortment of unappetizing ingredients and do not meet Michigan's own higher standards."

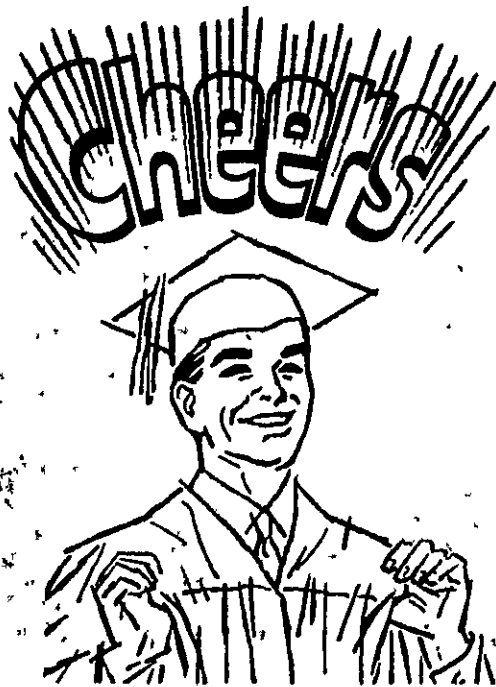

"Studies conducted in several states indicate that all-meat products were not priced any higher and were in fact often priced lower than the products which included the by-products so there may not be any price difference, and therefore the consumer should be able to continue to purchase the higher standard product. If the grocer does not stock the all-meat product the consumer should demand that he do so."

"I would also recommend that all concerned consumers make their feelings known by writing their Congressman in care of the House Office Building, Washington, DC 20515."

In Memoriam

IN MEMORY OF Jeanne Edwards, who passed away 2 years ago, June 2. These are the things I prize And hold of deepest worth: Light of the sapphire skies, Peace of the silent hills, Shelter of forest, comfort of the grass, Shadow of clouds that swiftly pass, And after showers, The smell of flowers, And of the good brown earth, And best of all, along the way, Friendship and mirth. Husband and family. 6-1p

MARION E. THOMPSON passed away May 31, 1971. THE LORD IS my shepherd; I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures; He leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul; He leadeth me in paths of righteousness for his name's sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me. Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life; and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever. The children and grandchildren. 8-1p

WILDLIFE IN BACKYARD

Perhaps you do not think of your backyard as a wildlife refuge, but the National Wildlife Federation does. The Federation even hopes you will want to make your yard part of its new nationwide network of registered miniature refuges.

"Invite Wildlife to Your Backyard," an article in the April-May issue of National Wildlife magazine, gives step-by-step directions for converting your yard into a haven for wildlife. The secret lies in putting the needs of birds and other animals first. When choosing trees, shrubs, flowers and grasses to beautify your home, Mountain ash, for example, may bring 15 species of birds to your yard while red cedar has been known to attract 68 species. The results are more pleasing than you might think. Birds like variety and many of their favorite foods, such as bright red, orange or blue berries, grow on some of your favorite lawn trees and bushes. The pines and oaks which squirrels need for cover, acorns and nests also provide windbreaks and beauty for your home.

INSTALLING A birdbath to ensure a year-round water supply for wildlife also adds charm and interest to your yard. A small pool not only creates a home for fish, frogs, turtles and dragonflies, but provides a new focal point in your landscape design as well.

To have your property registered as a National Wildlife Backyard Habitat, you need only provide evidence that your yard is a dependable source of wildlife's four basic needs: food, water, cover, and nesting places. Your reward will be a more beautiful and interesting yard, fewer insects, and higher property value.

No smoking yet at Bath meetings

BATH -- To smoke or not to smoke -- that was the question again at Monday night's Bath Township Board meeting. Treasurer Thomas Woodruff suggested that the Board reconsider the present ban on smoking at township meetings since "we haven't had over 4 people at meetings since it was adopted."

"We've gained 1 person, but lost several," he added. Woodruff moved to allow smoking during half of the meeting. His motion received a second from Clerk June Burnett who laughed and said "you twisted my arm."

Supervisor Roy VanSickle reported that he has called 2 persons about possible ventilation systems for the room, but only 1 had come to look. The estimate he received was approximately $900. Consensus of the Board was that they had better things to do with $900.

The motion went down to defeat, with no others on the Board supporting it. Woodruff vowed, after the meeting, that he'll have the place "packed" for the next meeting.

Open Letter

from VAN W. HOAG

Dear friends,

It deserves emphasis that the time, the place, the character of the funeral service, the merchandise used; the cemetery selected - these are decisions of the family of the deceased. The funeral director acts only as a representative of the family.

The clergyman should be consulted in matters that concern him before any decisions are made.

Respectfully,

School Board

Westphalia Fire Dept, and secretary of the Westphalia Parks and Recreation Commission.

A resident of the school district for 8 years, he taught school for 2 years and told the press, "My experience and leadership," plus his willingness to serve the community, "and interest in education" are his reasons for seeking election.

He said he has no complaint with the present board, but just wants to serve the school district.

Charles Pline, 43, Rt 2, Fowler, is also seeking election to the P-W Board. Employed with Consumers Power as a welder, he and his wife, Ellen, have 3 children.

A resident of the area all his life, he said he is seeking election, because "I was asked by the people in the district to run and I would like to serve on the school board."

BATH

In Bath Township 4 persons are seeking election to the 1 available position on the School Board.

Dean Sweet, Jr, 30, 14851 Robson Rd, is Asst Manager at the Lansing Mail Branch of the Bank of Lansing. He and his wife Christine have 1 child, age 8.

He has been a Boy Scout leader for 9 years, a member and Unit Leader for the Bath and Park Lake Area Commission for 3 years, and is on the Round Table Commission for Clinton County. He has resided in the School District all his life.

Sweet is seeking election because he feels that "active participation in community affairs is the only realistic way to achieve goals that include activities and programs for our youngsters and the betterment of the community."

She has resided in the District 7-1/2 years.

Mrs Matthews said her main reason for seeking election is that "women represent the family at school, and if anything is to be done there needs to be a woman on the Board. There currently, are none." She said that she is interested in the best education a district can provide, in addition to providing citizens with their money's worth. She feels her background, including a BA in Education and Child Development and teaching experience at elementary and nursery schools, has given her a "basis for sound judgement."

Charles Gutzki, 36, resides at 13504 Main St, with his wife Joanne and their 4 children, ages 14, 12, 11 and 10. He is a PBX installer for Michigan Bell in Lansing, is employed by the DeWitt Twp Police and is a volunteer fireman for Bath Twp. He previously was a member of the Bath Twp Police dept from 1960-65, and has resided in the District for 15 years.

He would like to be elected because he feels he has a "certain amount of good things to contribute, and to make sure the quality of education is good" since he has 4 children in school.

Richard Hawks, 37, is employed as an insurance agent for the State Farm Insurance Co. He and his wife Dawn reside at 14275 Chandler Rd with their 4 children, ages 15, 14, 11 and 3.

A member of Bath Baptist Church, he graduated from Bath High School in 1955, and has resided in the District for 25 years.

Vo-ed program at Daley's proving successful

By Laurie Klipp
County News Writer

ST. JOHNS — When asked what she liked best about the shared-time food service program at Daley's restaurant, 1 student laughed and replied, "We can eat here and don't have to eat at the school cafeteria." Actually, what students really like about the program is that it will be easier for them to find jobs after high school because of the experience they gained. Vocational Director Ken Lashaway said he thinks they will be employable in the food service area when they complete the course. He also noted that many of the students have expressed interest in continuing in this area as a career.

THE PURPOSE of the experimental program is to give students knowledge of a total restaurant operation. Areas covered include everything from waitressing, "back of the house" duties, classroom work, setting tables and cleaning to actual food preparation.

Students completing the course earn 2 high school credits, and are allowed up to 3 credits at Lansing Community College if they decide to attend.

Termed a "special needs program" by Lashaway, he noted that students are carefully selected on the basis of interest by counseling offices. Presently 9 students from Fowler, Ovid-Elsie, Pewamo-Westphalia and St. Johns High Schools are enrolled in the program at Daley's. Bath and DeWitt students are involved in a similar class at locations scattered throughout Lansing.

THE PROGRAM OPERATES at no cost to the school district since it is funded as a special program through the state. These state funds also pay for the students' transportation by mini-bus to class and instructor Reo Anderson's salary.

Anderson noted that officials applied for 2 grants to finance a program next year. The one presently in operation was renewed, but the grant LCC requested for their own program was refused.

Anderson said he hasn't encountered any problems with the group. "Some want to continue in hotel food service," he said, "Some in the restaurant business, and 1 girl wants to try institutional food service." A couple of the girls have applied for waitress positions at Daley's.

Anderson asserted that he, too, thinks the students are more hireable as a group. "They seem to make better starting wages," he noted.

Hotline open to hear complaints

A toll-free hotline for questions, complaints and problems regarding resort land sales has recently opened in Lansing under the direction of the Governor's office. Governor Milliken has guaranteed that the number, 1-800-292-2431, will bring response within a day's time from the Land Sales Division of the Dept. of Licensing and Regulation.

The hot line was installed as an interim measure to assist prospective buyers of resort land with their problems until the Land Sales Act becomes effective on October 1.

Complaints must be brief since the caller is only allotted 2 minutes in which to state the problem. Calls will be recorded on tape. Persons using the hotline should state their name, city, address, phone number, date of complaint, name of the development and subdivision involved, and identify the broker and salesperson.

CNB&T announces Barber retirement

ST. JOHNS — The resignation of William Barber from the board of directors of Clinton National Bank and Trust Co. was announced this week following acceptance of the action by the board at a regular monthly meeting.

Barber, who has operated the Julie K woman's apparel shop in St. Johns for the past 27 years, has been a CNB&T board member since 1958 and has served on various committees establishing bank policies and procedures.

His resignation came about through a transfer of business interests to St. Clair where he will operate the Hayes-St. Clair woman's shop. Management of the Julie K Shop has been assumed by Barber's son, David.

Barber has begun his work at St. Clair but continues to reside in St. Johns. He, his wife Harriet and daughter Anne, will move from the area on or about July 1.

More about welfare reform

Our beloved legislators, aided and abetted by a loyal army of bureaucrats, have done it to us again. They have made a mess more difficult to unscramble than a dozen eggs, and it is costing all of us, as taxpayers, several hundred million dollars a year with the assurance that it is going to cost a lot more. The name of the game is welfare, and what a game it is!

Business Week magazine reports on a study of welfare programs made public by Representative Martha Griffiths who is chairman of the Joint Economic Committee's subcommittee on fiscal policy. The study was made with the help of the General Accounting Office and covered benefit records of typical households in six poverty areas. As Business Week puts it, the study "... documents for the first time the widely suspected fact that some families can get more out of the $100-billion non-system of federal, state, and local benefit programs than they could possibly earn - and more than many of their neighbors do earn."

The examples are legion. One woman in an Eastern city was reported to be collecting $426 a month, tax-free, from five or more benefit programs. The average wage of an employed woman in the same neighborhood is $371. In addition to killing incentive, the present welfare hodgepodge actually makes it impossible for many of its beneficiaries to work for a living if they have any regard for the well-being of their families. If a woman receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children gets a job, the benefits she receives drop to 67 percent. The price of food stamps goes up as earnings rise, and if the family lives in subsidized housing the rent increases also. Representative Griffiths points out, "... As a result, the family's total income may increase by only a few cents per dollar earned." But the penalties are even harsher than this, as Business Week explains, "In many states, Medicaid stops dead when income rises one dollar above the eligibility limit, confronting a family with the possibility of medical bills double or treble its earned income." In such situations as this, there is no way out of the welfare squirrel cage once a family gets into it.

The Griffiths study shows that most "professional" welfare households receive money from more than one program, often as many as six or seven. The record was held by a family collecting from 11 programs and averaging better than $700 a month. Households receiving benefits from five or more programs generally had incomes above the official federal poverty line of $4,137 for a family of four, and in two neighborhoods benefits "... exceeded the $6,500 adequate-income level advocated by the National Welfare Rights Organization."

Public attitudes toward those who want to reform welfare "non-systems" and get benefits to those who really need it will have to change before any action is likely to come. We must accept the fact that those who work for a living should earn more money than those who don't and live solely on welfare. People on welfare who work should receive more money than those who don't, and welfare systems must be coordinated to avoid overlapping and pyramiding of benefits for those diligent enough to make a career out of getting all they can. Practically everyone agrees with these reform goals and with the point that the incentive to work, as well as the opportunities for employment, must be improved.

If we really want to control government spending and keep the tax collector from beating more dollars out of us, there must be the broadest kind of public support for welfare reform at the state and local as well as the federal level. Reform in plain English means cutting out welfare programs that make professional freeloaders out of people who would rather not be. It means designing programs that get benefits to those who really need them. It means that there will have to be public support for elected representatives, who are often pictured as heartless, cruel, penny-pinching destroyers of humane programs to help the poor, when in fact they may only be designing better welfare systems that will come a little closer to doing the job they were intended to do in the first place.

If you are a voter, welfare reform means doing your homework and supporting candidates who have done theirs. It takes a little more thought, but, nevertheless, it is perfectly possible to save hundreds of millions of dollars and still meet and, in fact, expand the capacity which we have as a nation to meet the needs of those who are disadvantaged, handicapped, ill, old or otherwise unable to make their way without help. This should be our goal. It cannot be reached without accepting the discipline of real welfare reform.

88th District Report by Stanley Powell State Representative

In a repeat of last year's action when several regulatory amendments, sponsored by Republicans, were added to the Social Services bill prior to passage, several Democratic members joined with the minority Republican caucus this year to again add several important amendments to the Social Services bill.

Included among those amendments were changes which insure that any overpayment of benefits be repaid to the state by a reduction of subsequent grants; the ADC cap which was first added to the bill last year was approved again this year insuring that if expenditures for ADC exceed the appropriations made in this bill there will be a reduction in the level of payments on a pro-rata basis to insure that expenditures for fiscal 1973-74 will not exceed the amount appropriated.

Also adopted was the provision first included last year which requires that supplementary assistance checks issued for the payment of child care services, medical, dental or optometric services or for the purchase of prosthetic or other devices be made payable in the names of both the recipient and the vendor to insure that the money goes for the intended purpose.

I was glad that a step was taken toward insuring that landlords will receive rent payments due from welfare clients. This provision reads, "If a recipient of public assistance has defaulted on rental or home purchase payments by the equivalent of two or more monthly payments, the Department of Social Services shall institute vendor payments for the portion of the assistance payment budgeted for rent or home purchase."

Also added by Republicans was another amendment which was first included last year that insures the withholding of state funds in the event that the federal government should withhold.

funds because of state established eligibility standards. This is a particularly important amendment; as has been the case for the last several years of welfare history, the state will supply at least 1/2 of the funds going into this federally established program. We should therefore maintain some control over it.

Also adopted were amendments to cease aid for personal needs to any ADC recipient proven to be cohabiting with a man (this would not effect the eligibility of the children); ensure that any person eligible for public or medical assistance shall have freedom of choice in his placement into a long-term care or adult foster facility; and requiring the itemization of the amounts intended for food, clothing, rent, fuel, utilities, household furnishings, transportation and educational expenses to be included with each payment of public assistance.

The overall total of the House passed version of the Social Services bill is $1,461,618,720, an amount which I feel is excessive. Of that total $745,927,074 is the State's portion, with $707,696,696 to be provided by the Federal government and the remainder made up by the counties and monies from housing fees.

The House passed version represents an increase of some $53 million over Governor Milliken's recommendations and is a 13.3% increase over last year's budget. Approximately $12,500,000 of that increase is for the Direct Relief Portion and about the same for an increase in ADC over the Governor's recommendation. Also responsible for a major portion of the difference was an increase in the daily amounts allowed for Adult Foster Care.

The bill has now gone to the Senate for consideration.

STATE POLICE

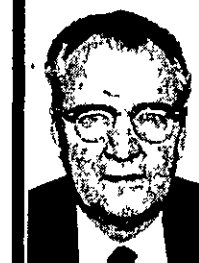

MILITARY AFFAIRS BUDGET APPROVED BY HOUSE

The Department of State Police, Military Affairs Budget bill turned out to be unexpectedly controversial this year when the addition of two new programs to be included for funding were viewed as setting a questionable precedent.

I opposed amendments which proposed two programs which eventually received House approval and cleared the way for passage of the bill. These amendments added $700,000 to the $53 million figure approved by the House Appropriations Committee. They provided for a central dispatch unit in Genesee County and Law Enforcement Information Network outlets.

The committee had refused to appropriate funds for the dispatch unit because

by HANK FURMAN

Mortgage payments are a problem for many people. When you are financing a house, keep in mind that inflation can make a difference, either for good or bad. In your monthly house payment budget, interest rates rise with inflation, so you pay less for money you have borrowed. Your mortgage is also written on the basis of a dollar worth. This means that you pay back with a cheaper dollar money which was worth more when you borrowed it. On the other hand, house payments that are too high to begin with may become even more of a burden when non-housing costs also rise.

FURMAN REALTY CO, 1515 North US 27, 224-3238 provides complete assistance in obtaining a mortgage, and does all the processing for you. LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Asks support in allowing space prayers

To The Editor:

After reading the following information in my hometown newspaper, I would like to share it with others by this means:

"We are always saying that one person cannot do much to change the world. But one person, Madeline O'Hara, the atheist crusader, succeeded in making it illegal to read the Bible or pray in public schools. Now she has obtained 27,000 signed letters protesting the decision of the astronauts to read the Bible as a Christian message to the world from their space craft while orbiting the moon in December, 1968. She plans to present these letters to NASA with a demand that the astronauts be publicly censured for their act - and further demand to prohibit any further demonstration of religion by public leaders!!!"

You are one, but you can do something about this! An effort is being made now to secure 1,000,000 signed letters commending the astronauts for their action. This would be an overwhelming defeat for Mrs. O'Hara, and a great triumph for religious faith. DO NOT let her succeed with her ruling because YOU do nothing!!"

Would you like to be counted as doing something about this? Send a letter to National Aeronautics & Space Administration, Manned Space Craft Center, Astronaut Office, Houston, Texas 77058. As an example: I personally appreciate and wholeheartedly support the decision of the astronauts to read the Bible from their space craft as they orbited the moon during the December, 1968 space flight. I further support the right of every human being to express their faith in God and the Bible publicly without fear of censure. Sign your name and address.

Sincerely,

"If It Fitz ... Watergate link revealed

Editor, Lapeer County Press

"By Jim Fitzgerald

According to highly reliable sources, a link has been established between me and a Watergate TV witness, Robert Odle Jr.

Reports indicate that my involvement began in 1941 when I held a sensitive position behind the soda fountain of the Barnett Drugstore on Pine Grove Ave in Port Huron, Mich. This small store was almost directly across the street from my home. My salary was 20 cents per hour and my employment was terminated after only 6 months because I reportedly made radical demands upon management. The boss claimed I demanded portal to portal pay. Actually, as proven by documents I have forwarded to Sen Sam Ervin's congressional investigating committee, I requested this extra pay only when the chief pharmacist ordered me to bring a bucket of ashes to work with me to spread on the ice in front of the store.

The Washington Post, quoting "highly placed" Justice Dept aides, reported that I openly allowed Barnett customers to break store rules when the pharmacist wasn't looking. The Post said most of this criminal activity was cleverly timed to coincide with the pharmacist's weekly duty of going into the basement and watching while Coke syrup slowly drained from a giant barrel into gallon jugs.

THIS TASK WOULD normally be performed by the fountain attendant but I was relieved of the responsibility in the sticky wake of an unfortunate mistake. I left the barrel draining to answer the phone and forgot to return. The only solution to the resulting problem was to turn off the heat until the syrup froze on the floor, and then paint it. As I recall, it was during this period that the pharmacist made the unreasonable request that I haul my father's ashes to work.

Anyway, a CIA source has hinted that the deserted barrel was merely a devious ruse on my part, aimed at distracting the pharmacist so that I could carry on nefarious activities without being observed. I have already refuted this foul charge in private testimony before Sen Ervin's committee and I am prepared to repeat my denial on TV as soon as I am granted immunity from attacks by irate housewives who want to watch 'The Mating Game.'

IN SUBSTANCE, I am not denying the published reports that 2 steady customers at my soda fountain were an unusually handsome couple, Mr and Mrs Robert Odle. However, it is not true that I violated Barnett policy by allowing the Odles to read magazines they did not buy. Perhaps they did browse through a few pages while eating their ice cream. They had to make certain they didn't buy a magazine they'd already read, didn't they?

It is true, as the FBI has leaked, that I no longer have the receipts to prove the Odles purchased magazines. But, after all, that was 32 years ago. There was no way I could know then that in 1973 there would be a 28-year-old Robert Odle Jr who would be the first witness called to testify in the televised Senate Watergate hearings.

I know nothing about young Odle's duties as director of administration for the Committee for the Re-election of the President. I can only shout "ridiculous!" to Jack Anderson's charge that Odle Jr was influenced to enter politics by something his parents read but did not pay for.

I am innocent. I could even sell used cars.

It's personal

Spring has arrived in spite of what you see falling from the sky. The rain only enhances my point. You know how I can tell? Bugs! Bugs everywhere. I think they've come inside my house to seek shelter from the rotten weather. Anyway, they're there and in hoards.

My first sign of spring was a huge white thing with a lotta legs. The only thing handy to get him with was a hammer, so that's what I used. Vroomoo! Across my countertop he went, with me and my hammer in hot pursuit. As he dropped to the floor I nailed him and half his body fell off. But the bugger kept going!

After a good dozen blows I finally subdued him, with only a couple of legs and a set of feelers left. Not much of a trophy to hang on the wall.

THEN THERE ARE the ants - big black ones, little mean red ones and all sizes in between. Have you ever tried to make a German chocolate cake with ant-filled flour? Yummy. And they bite.

One good thing about ants, however. They make nice playthings for the cat. When Butch crouches down and gets a sneaky look on his face, it's a pretty good indication that there's an ant nearby. Then he prowls across the floor, flushes the beast out and eats it. He's more efficient than a no-pest strip.

A couple of weeks ago I went to the races on a beautiful and rare sunny Sunday. I had just climbed into the car to go home when my left eye started to itch like crazy. Hmmm. I thought, first mosquito bite of the year. Not so. A little while later my eyelid swelled up and looked like I'd been slugged. It was ravishingly beautiful for a week.

MICHIGAN'S FAMOUS little black bugs (I don't know what they're called) are also out and about. They don't seem to do much, so I don't mind them. What I do mind are those blooming horseflies. Why is it the first of the season are so huge? They must hibernate for the winter, living off the fat of my kitchen. I saw 1 the other day that was three-quarters of an inch long.

Spring has got to be the time of year the windshield washer fluid companies make their most money. Next year I'm going to plan ahead and buy stock in 1 during the fall and sell when the bug season gets here.

The riddle of schizophrenia

By Jose J. Llinas, MD
Director of Community Mental Health, Clinton, Eaton and Ingham

A distressed father called our office recently, asking for help for his son.

The young man, 21, had recently been discharged from the service. For a few days he had worked at a gas station, but soon lost interest in his job. He also lost interest in going out, visiting his friends, or dating. One night he woke up in his parents' room, in great agitation, telling them the police were after him, and he was in danger of being killed.

When his father suggested he should visit the family doctor, who had known the patient since he was born, the young man became enraged, and accused his father of being in cahoots with his imagined persecutors.

By the time I got to the home, the patient appeared calmer, and agreed to talk to me. He was, at first, very suspicious, and somewhat apprehensive, but finally agreed to come to the hospital, and sign himself in voluntarily for treatment.

THE YOUNG MAN was suffering from a not uncommon mental disease called schizophrenia.

Contrary to what some people think, schizophrenia does not refer to a person with "split personality," such as Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. The "split" or division in the personality refers rather to the confusion or separation between what the patient thinks, and what he does or feels. The person's psychic structure "cracks up" or "breaks down," though I detect both these expressions since they convey very little of the true mental state of a person who is suffering from schizophrenia.

One important step in understanding how the patient feels, at least at times, is to remember that even in health, each person looks at the world from his own point of view. If four people go to see a trapeze show at a circus, they might talk about it afterwards in a very different manner.

One person might talk about the danger and risks involved in doing summersaults in the air. Another might talk about the beauty and grace of the act, and compare it with a ballet. Another might talk about the sturdiness of the ropes and pulleys. And yet another might be impressed most with the attractiveness of the performer.

A person diagnosed schizophrenic might see any of these four images just as a normal person sees them. Or, if he is very ill, he might see laughing hyenas instead of people, swinging on the ropes.

JUST AS EACH normal individual views the world from his own perspective, the schizophrenic too, has his own perceptions of "reality."

However, his view of the world very often is strikingly different from the usual "reality" seen and shared by those who are healthy.

One can well imagine, and making the effort, understand, the overwhelming fear the schizophrenic experiences. In fact, one suspects that feeling that he is "persecuted," bad as it is, may be more tolerable than the amorphous terror of living in a world where there is danger of destruction, as it appears to him, from all sides at once.

If we can learn not to be afraid ourselves (and who hasn't been scared of the specter of mental illness?), then patients feel somewhat reassured, and usually accept help, as in the example quoted above.

Rep Dale Warner works toward revamping of state tax system

LANSING — State Representative Dale Warner (R-Eaton Rapids) has been appointed vice chairman of the sub-committee to study tax tribunals. The appointment was announced in Lansing by Judiciary Committee Chairman, J. Robert Traxler.

The sub-committee will study proposed legislation, including a bill introduced to strip the State Tax Commission of some of its powers and vest those powers in an independent tax tribunal.

"I have promised township supervisors, county equalization personnel, and taxpayers that I will fight for relief from arbitrary and costly State Tax Commission rulings. I intend to carry out that promise and working on the tax tribunal sub-committee is my personal second step in aiding the average property taxpayer," said Warner.

"The first step came recently when I completed my fight to secure passage in the State House of Representatives of my bill to reduce property taxes on qualifying farm land," Warner said. "Now we need legislation to aid taxpayers and county and local governments in their struggle against unfair State Tax Commission action."

Warner's proposal, House Bill 4459, would strip the State Tax Commission of its power to hear appeals from its own judgments. "Our sub-committee will be studying House Bill 4459 and several other proposals to reform administration of the Property Tax Act," Warner said, "including an excellent bill by Senator Harry DeMaso (Senate Bill 176) to accomplish the same goals. It is presently ready for final passage in the State Senate."

"It is essential to separate out of the powers of the State Tax Commission all of those which can be termed judicial or appellate," Warner said. "The administrative and executive statutory powers of the State Tax Commission are entirely sufficient for efficient supervision of the property tax laws."

"Furthermore, we want to guarantee that the procedure for appealing a property tax assessment is simple and straight forward, that there is no necessity for an attorney, that there is not a high filing fee, and that the waiting period for a determination of appeals is greatly reduced," Warner said.

Warner urged any interested citizen to send suggestions regarding the Tax Tribunal Sub-Committee to him in Lansing. "It is the citizen and taxpayer who must live with State Tax Commission rulings, and I am very anxious to have the viewpoints of any interested Michigan resident. It is only by listening to the people that the Tax Tribunal Sub-Committee can be a success," said Warner. Concerned citizens may write to Representative Warner at the State Capitol Building, Lansing, Michigan 48901.

"Strange things are happening"

REP DOUGLAS TREIZE
87th District

"Strange Things Are Happening!"

Not too many years ago, comedian Red Buttons could always get a laugh with that line. But some of the goings-on around the House of Representatives lately — though strange — fail to draw as much of a chuckle from some of us who view our job seriously. And I suppose one of the strangest things to hit us lately has come in the form of a thing called Senate Bill 10. I'm afraid that I find the political maneuvering behind that bill anything but funny. If passed, it could result in the saddling of most 87th District residents with a highly disproportionate property tax payment and give a few select counties in the state a key to the state treasury when the distribution of school aid and local revenue sharing funds come around.

Senate Bill 10 is really a simple bill. (It hasn't taken me long to realize that when someone tells you he has a "simple bill" I should be on guard for the joker in it and firmly clutch my billfold while looking for it). The bill merely says that for the year 1973, the figures adopted by the 83 county commissions of the state shall be the final equalization for tax purposes. That sounds harmless enough. It just means that for this year we should all ignore the work of the State Tax Commission and its effort to "equalize" the relative assessing practices of the various taxing units.

I can't even quarrel with that idea. I have often said there is room for improvement in this whole procedure of assessing, local review, county equalization and state equalization. In fact, the House has adopted my resolution calling for an entire revision of this law. But, the timing of the bill was bad and it is being kicked around, not because it is good law, but because of the political advantage which it could give to individual members and to the opposition party.

Let's look at the effect of this kind of legislation. All counties in the state finished the process of county equalization of assessments a month ago. In doing this job, most of the county boards were aware that the threat of increase in valuation imposed by the State Tax Commission hung over their heads and they settled on figures higher than they might have otherwise. In actual fact, at least 50 counties and probably 75, set their figures at a level acceptable to the State Tax Commission. When all was done, only eight counties refused to go along with the State Tax Commission's figures while all the others settled on what was viewed by the state as an acceptable level.

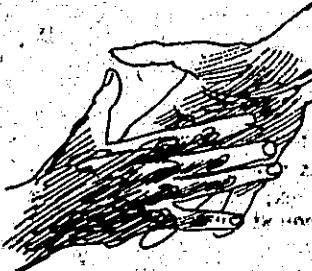

Some of the figures themselves are interesting. Shiawassee County, for instance, was equalized at a figure 8.7 percent above last year, reflecting increased property values due to market conditions and inflation. For some reason or another, Kalamazoo County equalized its value at barely one percent above last year and refused to accept the state figures. Is there any reason to believe property values increased less in Kalamazoo County than in Shiawassee County or that the effect of inflation were any less there than here? Passage of Senate Bill 10 would freeze the valuations of both counties in this completely inequitable arrangement.

The end effect of this kind of maneuvering would mean that Kalamazoo County schools would have a larger share of their school costs paid by the state than would Shiawassee County districts and I found this situation completely unacceptable.

The sad thing is that most members of the House agree this would be a bad policy to set. Many are just so upset with the State Tax Commission they are willing to thwart it any way possible, even if it means penalizing their own constituents. But the real motives behind some member's actions are purely partisan politics. The majority party members of the House recognize this is not a good bill but, because it purports to oppose the unpopular State Tax Commission, will support it. They recognize the governor will have to veto the bill as unworkable and unfair and will make all the political hay they can about that action when it happens.

To me, that's irresponsible and even strange, but very unfunny.

the good neighbor.

View from the Senate

By SEN. WILLIAM S. BALLENGER

A recent ruling by Washtenaw County Circuit Court Judge William F. Ager, Jr., could wind up costing Michigan taxpayers and college students an estimated $20 million a year.

That's what it's expected to cost to help finance the education of students from other states attending Michigan's public institutions of higher learning. The Ann Arbor judge recently ruled that Michigan colleges and universities cannot charge out-of-state students if the former have resided in the state at least six months.

Obviously, the $20 million that out-of-state students have been paying in higher tuition rates will have to be made up — but how?

It could be made up by increasing the tuition on Michigan students to make up all, or part of, the difference.

Or, it could be made up by increased appropriations from the Legislature.

Where do legislative appropriations come from? From Michigan taxpayers, of course.

The question many

Michigan taxpayers may be pondering is this: Why must we pay to educate students from other states when their parents do not pay any Michigan taxes?

To this many educators reply: Because Michigan students profit much from associating with students from other states.

Sure, say the taxpayers, but $20 million worth a year?

As may be expected, the University of Michigan is expected to be hit hardest by Judge Ager's ruling. U-M officials, who have announced they intend to appeal the decision, estimate it represents a yearly loss of $11.5 million that will have to be made up elsewhere.

Estimated losses at the other 12 state-supported institutions include: Michigan State University, $3.5 million; Western Michigan University, $1 million; Wayne State University, $1.3 million; Michigan Technological University, $980,000; Eastern Michigan University, $480,000; Northern Michigan University, $190,000; Central Michigan University, $170,000; Oakland University, $170,000; Lake Superior State College, $60,000; Grand Valley State College, $57,000; Ferris State College, $275,000; and Saginaw Valley State College, $11,251.

Judge Ager's ruling comes simultaneously with one by the Michigan Court of Appeals, which says the Legislature has no control over the use of funds it appropriates to the state universities.

The Appeals Court also ruled that the Legislature cannot dictate the number of out-of-state students who can be admitted to the universities — one way that had been suggested to cut down on the cost of educating such students at the expense of Michigan taxpayers.

Since most educational institutions normally vie for students it is not likely, in view of the court ruling, that any of them will use this method of making up any of the $20 million loss expected to result from Judge Ager's ruling.

Farm Bureau Services sales hit record

LANSING—Farm Bureau Services sales of supplies and Marketing in March totaled $15 million to establish a new all-time, one-month record for the state-wide, farmer-owned cooperative, according to Donald R. Armstrong, executive vice president.

Total sales for the first nine months of the cooperative's fiscal year have reached $102.2 million and appear headed for a new record, Armstrong also announced. The firm's fiscal year ends June 30.

The strong sales performance in March indicated that many Michigan farmers headed advice to purchase fertilizer and seeds early. Fertilizers, particularly analyses containing phosphates, have been in short supply and will remain in a tight supply situation through the planting season. Most seeds have been available except for soybeans which already are on back-order in many locations.

Hardware and building supply sales have been exceptionally strong this year, although some construction materials are requiring six to eight week delivery delays.

Chemicals have been in good supply and are available for farm users. Great Lakes shipping has started and grain and beans are moving from Farm Bureau Services terminals at Saginaw and Ottawa Lake. Rail facilities continue tight and many Michigan elevators still have accumulated stocks to move to market.

It's a birthday party

The Mad Hatter may have been crazy, but any child would surely agree that he had the right idea when it came to birthdays.

Instead of celebrating your birthday—which comes only once a year and is such a long time to wait—you celebrate your un-birthday! That gives you 364 days of happy un-birthday parties (365 in leap years), and that certainly beats one party once a year.

That might be fine from the child's point of view, but imagine how difficult it would be for the parents to have 364 children's parties.

Birthday parties generally come but once a year, and because a year is so long for a child, his special day should easily be something special. After all, it's the one holiday of the whole year he doesn't have to share with everyone else.

The "funnest" party is the one the child helps plan himself. Within the general limits you set, let him make the decisions.

What makes a party? Food, of course. Let the child choose a favorite dinner or a fancy cake or even decorated cookies and fruit punch.

No party is complete without decorations. Decorations, costumes and such don't have to be lavish. Homemade paper chains and balloons the child blows up himself will probably mean much more to him than something Mother buys already put together at the store. And the more the child can help with the preparations, the more he is likely to enjoy the party.

If friends are invited, some sort of group activity is in order. For pre-schoolers, an outdoor peanut hunt is great fun. If the weather is bad, hide the peanuts inside.

A supply of blank paper, crayons, paints and play dough makes a party into an art affair. Or you can make it a cookie day with a cookie-making party.

If you're the adventurous type, organize your party into an expedition to the zoo, the neighborhood park or the local library for a movie, cartoons or story hour. Be sure to ask some other adults to come along and help supervise.

If the birthday child receives gifts from the guests, they in turn ought to get some little thing they can take home with them. Gift-giving is not easy for very young children. They invariably choose something they would like to have, and it is hard for them to hand it over to the birthday child and watch him enjoy playing with it. If each guest can take a new toy home, the day is more likely to be an enjoyable one.

For older children, group games may be in order. The best games are the ones that keep everyone busy and do not pit one child against another. A game that ends with one winner and many losers creates only bad feelings.

A good rule of thumb when deciding how many children to ask to a party is to invite as many guests as your child is years old. For a four-year old, for instance, four friends at once is about all he can handle. For an older child, a larger group would be appropriate.

Once you've set the number, let him choose the guests to share the fun.

Parents other than those who may be helping with the party should not be invited. Not only does an audience of parents interfere with the children's fun, but it tends to occupy the attention of the host parents. Though the children's activities should not be strictly regimented, they should be supervised, and you can't supervise effectively if you have to entertain the parents too.

Nitrogen on pastures now will fatten more beef per acre

By WILLIAM LASHER
Extension Agriculture Agent

High beef prices and a predicted shortage of feeder calves for the 1973-74 fattening season make this the year to increase grass yields economically with nitrogen.

One hundred pounds of nitrogen per acre can produce an extra ton or more of forage or carry 1-1/2 cows and calves per acre instead of one cow and calf per acre.

Cow-calf operators should fertilize pastures now to get increased summer and fall production when grass growth is generally low.

They can fertilize their own pastures, or commercial fertilizer sales firms will spread the fertilizer for about $1.25 per acre.

Nitrogen costs about 14 cents per pound of nitrogen.

as ammonium nitrate or 12 cents as urea. Total cost per 100 pounds per acre ranges from $13.50 for urea to $15.50 for ammonium nitrate.

Urea may be slightly less effective than ammonium nitrate, so the cost per pound of nitrogen is similar. Increase in carrying capacity should more than pay for the cost of nitrogen, including application, in this year of high beef prices and in future years when the demand for protein from beef promises to be good.

If cow-calf operators ask, "Why fertilize grass pastures when I can't get any more cows and calves at this time?"

By increasing carrying capacity by 50 percent or more per acre, the extra production from the nitrogen-fertilized pastures can be used for winter hay to lower the cost of keeping the brood cows over winter. In 1974 and subsequent years, increased production can be pastured by increasing the size of the beef cow herd with greater production of feeder calves.

Last fall, feeder calves sold for about 50 cents per pound or about $200 for a 400-pound calf.

Nine tests in Michigan between 1956-72 showed that 100 pounds of nitrogen as ammonium nitrate, costing about $15 per acre including application at today's prices, increased grass yields from 2.21 to 3.68 tons per acre, an increase of 66 percent or 1.47 tons per acre. The cost per extra ton of dry forage was $10.64. Two hundred pounds of nitrogen increased the yield from 2.21 to 4.38 tons per acre, an increase of 1.17 tons or double the yield. The cost per extra ton was $13.66.

The tests were conducted at the Kellogg farm near Battle Creek; East Lansing, and Lake City in the lower peninsula, and Sault Ste. Marie in the Upper Peninsula. Grasses fertilized were the tall grasses: bromegrass, orchardgrass, red canary grass and timothy; and a pasture mixture of Kentucky bluegrass; and some of the tall grasses.

All grasses in the tests increased in yield with nitrogen, but the tall deep-rooted grasses were more responsive than the short-rooted Kentucky bluegrass or June grass. The deep-rooted grasses can use up to 200 pounds nitrogen per year but rates on bluegrass should be limited to 100 to 150 pounds per year.

At rates up to 200 pounds per acre, MSU research in 1972 showed that there was no nitrate pollution of the ground water.

HEAP BIG SAVINGS

WEEKEND SPECIALS

SAVE 20¢

WHILE THEY LAST

The ol' come-on can prove costly.

"Save 6¢ on Fryers" "Save 3¢ on Pork and Beans" "Get a Melamine cup and saucer free."

Sound exciting? You bet they do — on the surface. But whether they really save you money or not depends on what's underneath the surface.

If the store that offers these "specials" links up a lot of other prices, these come-ons could cost you more in the long run.

At Kroger, we have come-ons, too. We call them Bonus Bargains. We identify them with an "X" in our ads. Our Bonus Bargains are made possible by special purchases or manufacturers' allowances or favorable market conditions.

The important part to remember is: along with our come-ons we have Xtra Low Everyday Discount Prices throughout the store. Since they are planned to save you money on your total food bills in themselves, our come-ons — Bonus Bargains — really mean additional savings for you.

X What are Bonus Bargains?

When you see an "X" next to an item in Kroger's ads or stores, it means a Bonus Bargain, good for a limited time and made possible by a special purchase or a manufacturer's allowance or a favorable market condition.

Mary Austin to visit Europe

By Adele Platt
For the County News

EAST LANSING
Restoring old buildings and chateaus in France are the major plans this summer for Michigan State University junior, Mary Austin, daughter of Mrs. Vera Austin, 403 S. Kibbee, St. Johns. She is a 1970 graduate of St. Johns High School.

Mary will spend 9 weeks there with an international work camp. The trip is part of a field study required by Justin Morrill College. JMC is a residential college at MSU for students majoring in liberal arts.

Majoring in journalism and French with a cognate in English, she prefers the residential college to the university system, since she thinks it allows closer contact with the faculty, more leeway in course choices, and less pressure since there are no grades.

She also likes JMC since it has provided the incentive for her trip to France this summer. While she is in Europe, Mary plans to visit Greece for about 2 weeks. A friend has a villa on Corfu island, where Mary will vacation before returning to classes in the fall.

AN AVID traveler, Mary would like to find a job that involves visiting other countries. "My dream is to be a foreign correspondent, but I may settle for less," Mary joked.

In the meantime, Mary spends her spare time as Big Sister to a girl from the VFW National Home, an orphanage for veterans' children. She has been seeing her little sister for 2 years, and said that they have become good friends. The two spend time together on weekends, attending shows and going out to dinner. Mary recently wrote an article about the Big Sister-Big Brother program, which was published in The Michigan State News.

Her interest in journalism began in high school, when she was feature editor for the Wilson Torch, St. Johns High School newspaper.

Mary is also interested in the stock market. She invested money in gas and oil stocks this spring. "I haven't made a fortune yet, but hope to finance my trip this summer with the money I make," Mary said.

JUST PEOPLE

Common sense can never be placed in the same class with genius, but it often gets more comfort out of life.

Bob Gemmill, manager of the St. Johns Kroger grocery store, conducts a tour of students from the Michigan School for the Blind through the produce department. Michigan School for the Blind students toured the entire store, acquainting themselves with the feel, smell and sounds of the grocery marketing business.

Agriculture in Action

'Give Us This Day ...

While people in other parts of the world fervently pray for enough food to last for each day, many Americans ask for the courage to stay on their diets. This high standard of living is possible because agriculture in this country has not been shackled with restraints to discourage productivity. Farmers recognize this fact and have steadfastly fought against controls which would squelch their incentive and ability to produce the quality and quantity of food the American consumer has come to take for granted. Fighting against such controls has become a seemingly endless battle, especially with government officials who react to emotion rather than facts with no thought given to the long-range consequences of their hasty actions.

Take, for example, the recent "emergency" temporary standard for exposure to pesticides, which would force farmers to comply with unrealistic rules. The standard resulted from a politically-motivated lawsuit filed by the Migrant Legal Action, Inc. and imposes physically and financially impossible rules on the farmers involved. In Michigan, where apple, grape and peach growers are affected, one of the biggest problems faced by these farmers is where to house their workers whose temporary homes are now located in the shade of orchards.

The Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA) officials' justification for the standard — "an estimated 800 persons killed each year as a result of improper use of pesticides" — is unproven and ridiculous. The truth is that pesticide deaths nationwide range from 150 to 200 per year, and more than half of these are children under five years of age killed in the home. The remaining deaths occur from accidents or suicides, with none from exposure by entering an orchard which has been sprayed.

The American Farm Bureau Federation, spokesman for two million farmers nationwide, recently filed a lawsuit asking that the emergency standard be declared unlawful. Farmers hope it is successful. They fear for a future in which agricultural production is curtailed by unrealistic controls.

The result could well be an America whose citizens are really "serious" when they ask: "Give us this day our daily bread."

Last year over 800 people participated in this event and found it quite successful. The Calderone-Curran Ranches consist of over 15,000 acres and have the world's largest herd of Registered Polled Herefords, numbering 5,600 brood cows. I would like to have as many beef, sheep and swine members as possible attend and participate in this outstanding youth livestock event.

DeWitt VFW Auxiliary officers will attend state confab

The annual state convention of the Michigan Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars will be held in Detroit, June 21-24, with headquarters at the Detroit Hilton Hotel.

Members of the Ladies Auxiliary to the DeWitt VFW post #671 who will attend the state convention are: president, Mrs. Michael (Wanda) Mullins; senior vice president, Mrs. Thomas (Nancy) George; and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Duane (Virginia) Fowler.

State President, Mrs. Victor (Juanita) Kerwood of Detroit, will preside at what is expected to be the largest convention in the state organization's history. Approximately 1000 officers and delegates are expected to attend.

Mrs. Kerwood was elected to the state presidency at the 45th Annual Convention held in Grand Rapids in June, 1972. During her term as president, the number of auxiliaries increased to 317 with a total membership exceeding 23,000.

National Junior Vice President, Mrs. Thomas (Betty) Butler, of Cranford, New Jersey will be the national organization's representative.

Nationwide, the auxiliary has a half-million members in 6,750 local units. Membership is open to qualifying women who are close relatives of men and women who served overseas in wartime.

Included in the convention program will be the presentation of awards to auxiliaries and chairmen for outstanding promotion of the auxiliary programs. During the past year, members have devoted 34,000 volunteer hours at the state's five VA and four state hospitals. Bringing cheer and comfort to hospitalized veterans is an important auxiliary program.

Other convention activities will include a downtown parade, banquet, Pageant of Drums, memorial service and the election of officers for 1973-74.

88th District Report by Stanley Powell

such action would set a precedent by funding the data dispatch center employees for local units of government, but Genesee County Representatives argued for the additional money on the grounds that the facility had already been constructed on the assumption employees would be supplied by State Police. After adoption of amendments to fund these two programs the House passed the bill 81-18.

HOUSES OF ORIGIN COMPLETE MOST BILLS

All but one of the House originated budget bills, and all but two of the Senate originated budget bills have cleared their respective chambers and are in committee in the opposite chamber. As we begin the month of June, one month from the beginning of the new fiscal year, not one budget bill has yet completed the legislative process and been sent to the Governor for approval.

Still remaining in committee in the House is the House appropriations bill for the Office of Drug Abuse and Alcoholism. Still awaiting initial Senate passage are the Senate budget bills for Capital Outlay and Higher Education.

As I predicted some time ago however, it does not appear that final approval of the appropriations bills will come much before the July 1st deadline, if at all before. Even those that have passed the chamber of introduction will return there if the other chamber amends them at all, which usually happens with budget bills.

HOUSE APPROVES ABORTION REGULATION BILL

A bill to permit medical institutions or their employees to refuse to perform abortions was passed 94-7 in the House of Representatives last week and sent to the Senate for consideration. The bill allows any medical institution, private or public, to refuse to perform an abortion and in the event that they do make such a decision, prohibits them from discriminating against or disciplining any doctor or employee who does assist in performing an abortion.

Similarly, the bill also prohibits any medical institution that does perform abortions from discriminating against or disciplining any doctor or employee who refuses to assist in performing abortions. It also prohibits civil actions for negligence or malpractice against those so refusing, or refusing to give abortion advice.

SECTION C

JUNE 6, 1973

Class has 21 students

What in August was a hole in the ground is now a $40,000 home at 1208 S. Swegles, St. Johns.

In September, the St. Johns building trades class faced a cement block basement and, June 7 will officially complete an attractive new home.

Working an average of 30 hours per week since the school opened in September, the building trades class has completed 540 total hours of work to finish the task.

Students work in 2 shifts with 1 group working 3 hours in the morning and the other 3 hours in the afternoon. Each student receives 3 hours of credit for the course.

Plans for next year call for expanding the program to 3 2-hour sections to build another home in the same subdivision on Swegles St.

The expanded program will increase the participants from 21 this year to 36 next year.

Not blessed with a year of weather desired by builders, Robert Niemi, instructor of the course, said neither the weather nor the rising cost of lumber presented too many problems for the class.

During the winter months, the house had been roughed in and most work was carried on inside the structure.

As far as costs are concerned, most supplies and materials had been awarded on a bid basis in the fall and costs remained mostly at the level they were at that time.

Niemi did say, however, that the cost of lumber had continued to rise since work first started on the home.

Work on the home is scheduled to be completely finished June 7 and an open house will display the work done by the students to the public.

Although the majority of the work done on the house was completed by the building trades class, there were areas completed by contractors.

A contractor, for instance, was responsible for the excavation for the basement plus the cement block walls in the basement.

A fireplace in the family room was also done by an outside contractor with some assistance from students in the class.

They did get their share of concrete and brick work, however. The brick facing on part of the front of the house was done by the class in addition to the concrete for the driveway, sidewalks and porches.

Color, Battens Aid Basement

Have a homely basement? Paint and a few boards will give walls a fast dress-up at low cost.

First paint the concrete walls a warm, sunny color like gold. Then run a 1x4-inch board flat across the top of the walls like a cornice molding. Do the same at the bottom of the wall, to make a base shoe.

Then apply 1x2-inch battens vertically at three-foot intervals across the wall. Stain the battens and the cornice and base moldings a rich charcoal brown and watch that basement room come alive.

THANK YOU

KEN LASHAWAY
Vocational Director

BOB NIEMI
Vocational Instructor

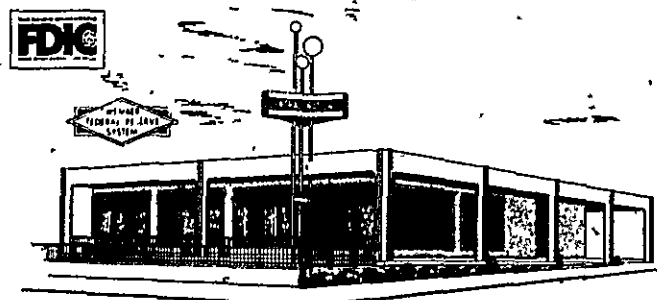

In this day and age when the need to bring knowledge to our young people is so important, we, the senior members of the community area, owe a debt of gratitude for the many hours expended by both Ken Lashaway and Bob Niemi in making the vocational department's building project a reality. We owe thanks, too, to the many local people who served on the advisory committee and the St. Johns school board members for their farsightedness.

It pleases us here at the bank, to say, "Well done." We urge everyone in the community to visit the home that the high school students of our area built with their own hands. We also are pleased to publicly acknowledge the splendid efforts of anyone else who made the project the success it has been.

"yes"

Of course, the answer depends on your indebtedness, your family situation, and the type of home you're interested in owning. But chances are that you can purchase a modest "first home," under our 95% home loan plan. Private mortgage insurance makes it possible. Find out more—stop in and talk things over with us.

St Johns building trades class completes third new structure

Twenty-one St. Johns High School students have been involved in the building of the new home at 1208 S. Swegles in St. Johns.

Members of the Building Trades course, the 21 students built the 3d house in the community that have been projects of the Building Trades class.

Work on the house goes on 6 hours a day, Monday through Friday.

One group works for 3 hours in the morning with the other group working 3 hours in the afternoon.

Robert Niemi, instructor of the course, cites the many sources of experience for the students in helping to build such a home.

He said those in the class get a background in building by being exposed to the different trades involved in constructing such a home.

Building trades students obtain experience in carpentry, electrical work, masonry, roofing and side, interior trim, formica work, insulation and many other areas.

Participants in the course are juniors and seniors. Nine of this year's juniors will return to the course next year and act as foremen.

Three hours of credit are given for the course and those who complete the class possess enough experience to become apprentices in the commercial building related trades.

One such person, is a recent graduate who completed the class and is now an apprentice for a local electrical contractor.

Next years class is expected to include 34 students.

One of the finest accomplishments of 1973 for the Clinton County area is the completion of this home built by students in the St. Johns Building Trades Program. This 3-bedroom ranch with aluminum exterior plus brick front is highlighted by a large attached garage. Equipped with a family room with fireplace, the home also offers heating with a gas forced-air furnace. Also complete with TV antenna and central air-conditioning, the home features a full basement and carpeting throughout. Our congratulations to the students, their instructors and the many fine local tradesmen and supporters of the project. It is something we can all be proud of.

We at Capitol Savings are also proud of our growth in 1973. Our assets of over $225 million makes us one of Michigan's largest savings and loan associations. Helping communities grow by financing home owners is one of the main functions of our organization and you as a saver at Capitol Savings can be assured the money you save will be used to make our area prosper and grow.

Swegles Street home presents attractive exterior

Regardless of the comfort and beauty of the interior of a house, a very important aspect of a new home is an attractive exterior in pleasant surroundings.

That factor is evident in the Swegles St home built by the St Johns building trades class.

The home is equipped with maintenance free aluminum soffits and siding with an attractive partial brick front.

The front of the home is accented by a casement picture window and side lights on each side of the thermal insulated front door.

Siding on all parts of the home includes insulated backing for all-weather protection.

Natural light is provided the garage with a window, plus convenience is gained through a separate service door.

The garage door is 18-foot wide and constructed of fiber glass.

Finished drywall siding allows the garage to present an attractive appearance with the door closed or open.

Plenty of yard space provides for an attractive lawn, flowers and trees.

The lot comes ready equipped with a shade tree in the corner.

Comfort and beauty . . . plus worry free living

Worry-free comfort is a major aspect of the Swegles St home built by the St Johns building trades class.

As you enter the home, the 1st room is a comfortable living room with plenty of natural light from the picture window.

The doorway from the living room leads to a family room on the left and a kitchen just off the living room.

Sure to be the gathering spot for much of the family and their friends, the family room is highlighted by an attractive fireplace, topped off with an attractive decorative roof, made of wood shingles.

The kitchen features harvest gold electrical appliances and roomy color coordinated cabinets.

The combination kitchen-dining area is accented with a divider cabinet.

The home contains a bath and a half with facilities for another full bathroom, located in the basement.

Equipped with forced gas heat and electrical appliances, the home is cooled with central air conditioning.

All windows in the home are Anderson welded windows and all windows are equipped with full screens.

Wash day is less of a chore with an electric washer and dryer located in a room right on the main floor.

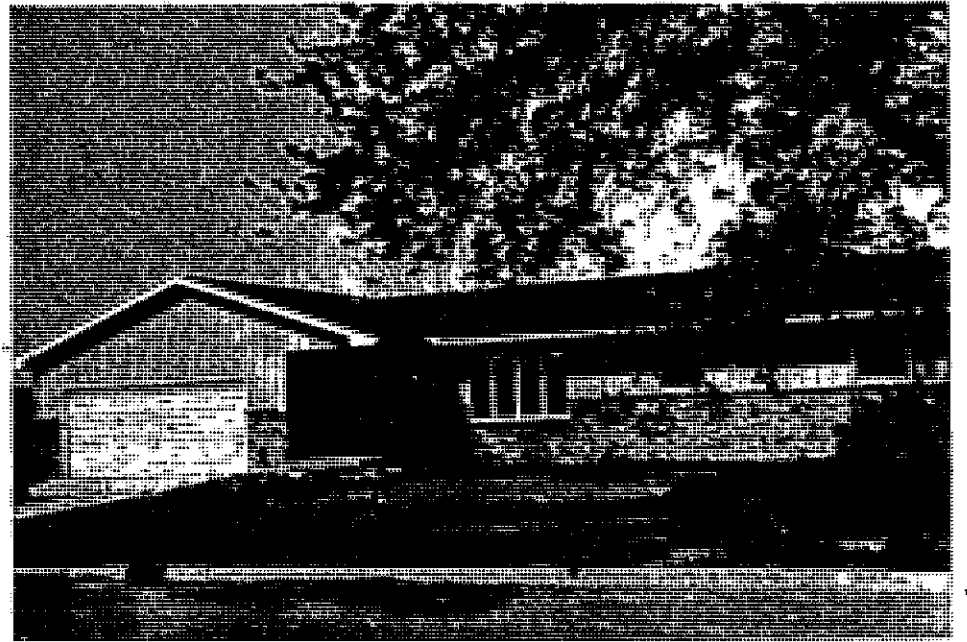

Convenience is the key in the kitchen also with a built-in range and dishwasher.

Hot water comes from a 40-gallon gas hot water heater. The home is wired with a 200 amp breaker box electrical service.

A maintenance free exterior features aluminum siding with a partial brick front.

Except for the half bath and laundry area, which are floored with inlay linoleum, the home will be completely carpeted.

Interior work in early stages as class members prepare walls for plastering and paint.

Friendly Gate

A garden gate should be door-like — an inviting entrance, not a barrier. For an open appearance, good privacy, design yours of spaced slats nailed on both sides of the frame.

Congratulations St. Johns Building Trades Program

The St. Johns Building Trades program has provided an opportunity for young people from St. Johns High School to receive first-hand experience in the construction of a house and we support the instructors and students in the program by encouraging attendance at their Open House. The interest and desire to accomplish is evidenced through the coordination of schedules of the students involved in the program and the participants can be justifiably proud of their accomplishment.
