

Soap Box Derby this Sunday

The biggest annual St. Johns attraction this side of the 4th of July is primed for this Sunday. It's the seventh annual Clinton County Soap Box Derby where 75 or more boys will race the coaster cars they built themselves down three blocks of Clinton Avenue.

The races will get underway about 5:25 p.m. following a parade, crowning of the St. Johns Soap Box Derby Queen, and an oil can race by three past winners of the derby.

Bill McCarthy, co-director of the derby, said the county race champion should be determined by about 7:30 p.m., when the final heat of the derby will be run. The winner will receive a $500 savings bond, a handsome trophy and an expense-paid trip to Akron, Ohio, in August to compete in the All-American Soap Box Derby.

Prizes will be awarded to the top 15 finishers, and there will be awards for the best designed car and the best constructed car. All the awards will be presented at the St. Johns High School Auditorium immediately following the championship heat.

The events of derby day will be the climax to six months or more of work by some boys who started planning and constructing their cars shortly after the first of the year. In the past couple of months the sponsoring organizations — the St. Johns Jaycees and Bee's Chevrolet-Olds, Inc. — have conducted clinics to aid the boys in construction of their coaster car bodies and the steering and braking mechanisms.

About 40 cars were inspected by Jaycees Saturday at the top of Railroad Street and were permitted to make a trial run down the street. Twenty of the cars were declared ready to go and were impounded until this Sunday afternoon.

Nineteen cars have been built by boys in the Westphalia area, and they were pronounced ready to go Friday and then locked up.

For the boys, Derby day events will begin about 2:30 when the contestants are to gather at the corner of Brush and Walker Streets in St. Johns to receive their helmets and T-shirts and to take their cars "top-side" to the street in front of the courthouse.

AT 4:30 P.M. festivities get under way in the closed-off business district, and a crowd of up-

DIANE CALLS TO SAY THANKS FOR THE BLOOD

Surgery makes it possible

Her heart's set on life

Diane Louise Tilford is a smiling, bouncy little girl of 21 months now, thanks to open heart surgery this past spring.

Diane, the daughter of Mr and Mrs Thomas Tilford of 206 E. Washington Street, DeWitt, was born with a ventricular septal heart defect (a hole in the heart wall between the lower chambers).

Mrs Tilford says Diane was always small for her age and became tired easily. She gradually became weaker and doctors feared delay in the heart operation could be fatal. Normally physicians prefer to wait until the child is older to perform this type of surgery.

But last March 11 she underwent the open heart surgery at Ingham Medical Hospital in Lansing and came through it with flying colors. The operation lasted between four and five hours, and Diane was kept in the hospital for three weeks, being checked daily for anemia and other possible complications that never developed.

During the operation she required between five and seven pints of blood, which were drawn from the Red Cross blood bank.

Diane feels fine now, and her mother describes her as acting like a different child. The operation was completely successful, and she's gained three pounds already since coming home from the hospital.

Diane has a new baby brother, now three months old, at home. Dad, who is a senior clerk at Oldsmobile in Lansing, has donated two pints of blood to the Red Cross to help replace the life fluid Diane used, and other relatives and friends have also contributed.

These are the kinds of success stories the Red Cross likes to tell about, particularly near the time of a bloodmobile visit. The bloodmobile is going to make just such a visit to St. Johns June 25, when it will be set up from noon to 6 p.m. at the St. Joseph School. Blood donations for use in future open heart surgery and for auto accident cases and other emergency uses are badly needed.

Local Red Cross Bloodmobile volunteers remind residents that a donation is like blood in the bank, because they or somebody in the family may have to draw on the supply some day.

School millage issues in all districts of Clinton County passed Monday, meaning classes will be held as expected next fall. Margins ranged from 20 votes at DeWitt to more than 200 in the Ovid-Elsie area.

In St. Johns, a 14.5-mill proposition for one year was approved by 112 votes — 1,316 yes to 1,204 no — carrying by over 300 votes in the city precinct and losing in all four rural precincts.

The millage, 1.7-mills higher than last year, received 956 votes in favor and 647 opposed in the city precinct, which includes some rural areas. In precinct two (East Essex), the millage lost 41 yes to 62 no; in precinct three (Eureka) the vote was 129 yes to 149 no; in precinct four (Olive Center) it was 128 yes to 192 no; and in precinct five (Riley) the vote was 62 yes to 154 no.

There were 2,520 votes cast — down about 500 from last year — and there were 13 spoiled ballots.

In the race for the St. Johns School Board, incumbent Donald Bast of Essex Township was re-elected in a three-way race with Lawrence Phinney of East Price Road and Jerry Stone of St. Johns. Bast polled 973 votes, while Stone had 852 and Phinney 623.

A precinct breakdown showed Bast had 604 votes in precinct one, 55 in precinct two, 147 in three, 91 in four and 75 in precinct five. Stone received 652 votes in precinct one, 14 in two, 68 in three, 55 in four and 63 in precinct five. Phinney polled 310 votes in precinct one, 34 in two, 54 in three, 160 in four and 65 in precinct five.

There were 62 spoiled ballots on the candidate voting. There was one write-in vote for Richard Root.

FULTON SCHOOL DISTRICT — Incumbent President Valgene Halsted received 80 votes and was re-elected to the Fulton School Board for a four-year term Monday. Supt. Waino Pihl reported a light turnout of 91 voters, who also gave write-in candidate Mrs Peggy Friesen 26 votes and Don Andrews 1. There were four spoiled ballots. This was the only topic for the voters, since there was no millage issue at stake in this election.

FOWLER SCHOOL DISTRICT — Fowler area voters gave a 5-3 vote of approval for a 13.5-mill school operating levy for next year at the polls Monday. The final vote was 244 yes to 145 no, with two spoiled ballots. The new levy is one mill higher than the 12.5 which expired this year.

In school board voting, incumbents Linus-Pohl and Mrs. Ellen Spicer were the only candidates on the ballot for two four-year terms, and they were reelected with only a smattering of write-in votes as opposition. Pohl received 366 votes and Mrs Spicer 337.

BATH SCHOOL DISTRICT — Bath voters gave a 6-mill operating levy their stamp of approval Monday, with the two-year package getting 132 votes in favor and 75 against it. The six-mill levy is a renewal of six mills which expired this year.

In a three-way race for one school board seat, incumbent Bruce Fletcher was reelected with 89 votes, winning out over William Fouch with 79 votes and Keith Collister with 48.

Pewamo elevator loss high

By MRS IRENE FOX
Pewamo Correspondent

PEWAMO (c) — More than two thirds of the Pewamo Elevator was destroyed by fire early last Wednesday morning, June 4.

The blaze was discovered at 11:45 p.m. Tuesday by Ronald Kieli, who lives a mile north and three-quarters of a mile east of Pewamo. He reported he passed the elevator and saw a small fire at the top of the feed area cupola, which, according to owner Ivan Whan is the housing area for the machinery and motors used for the grinding equipment.

Loss amounted to somewhere between $50,000 and $75,000. Cause of the blaze has not been specifically determined, but it may have been from a faulty electric motor.

Pewamo firemen and two counties of equipment responded to the initial alarm. By the time Fire Chief Jerome Barker and his department arrived, however, the flames had spread out of control, and it required more than two hours for firemen called from other areas to confine the flames.

Other departments responding were Westphalia, Ionia, Portland, Fowler (Dallas Township) Mulr and Lyons. There were 10 fire trucks, and firemen put into play about eight lines of two-inch hose streams.

Dorr Anderson, civic leader, dies

Dorr M. (Andy) Anderson, 60, well-known St. Johns businessman and civic leader, died late Saturday evening in Methodist Hospital in Houston, Tex., where he had been confined since suffering a heart attack on the way there several weeks ago.

The immediate cause of death was listed as a heart attack. Funeral services for Mr

DORR M. ANDERSON

Anderson are scheduled for 2 p.m. today (Wednesday), June 11, at the First Congregational Church, with Rev. Gerald Churchill officiating. Burial will be in Mt. Rest Cemetery.

Mr Anderson owned Andy's IGA Shopping Basket on North US-27 and had been in the grocery business here since 1937 when he purchased the former Burk Food Market. He bought the Smith Shopping Basket in 1942 and six years later moved in to a 3,000-square-foot building on North US-27 where the store stands today.

Four additions have been made to the building, with the latest being completed last January and bringing the store size to 12,900 square feet. He owned and operated another IGA store at Ithaca.

In addition to being busy with his own business, Mr Anderson was active at the community level. He was a member of the First Congregational Church, and past president of the Rotary Club and St. Johns Chamber of Commerce. He had served as a city commissioner, was a director of the Clinton National Bank

Powell temporary supervisor

Theodore Powell, senior trustee on the DeWitt Township Board of Trustees, will be temporary township supervisor until a special election July 16 fills the post.

Powell was appointed at a special meeting last Thursday evening, called for that specific purpose after township voters recalled their supervisor, Reginald Nelson, in an election May 19.

The political parties of the township are meeting to choose their nominees for the supervisor post, and they have until 4 p.m. next Tuesday, June 17, to file for a place on the ballot.

Firemen shoot powerful streams of water toward the burning Farmers Elevator at Pewamo early last Wednesday morning in a successful effort to prevent flames from destroying the entire structure. About two-thirds of the building was lost. Firemen from seven different departments fought the blaze and also prevented flying embers from setting off other fires all over the northeast side of town.

Pewamo elevator loss heavy

(Continued from Page 1-A) glowing embers floated northeast across the homes and buildings of Pewamo. Firemen and equipment were stationed along the streets to protect the homes and buildings.

CHIEF BARKER said the village's water supply from its 75,000 gallon overhead tank and well nearly kept the firemen supplied with water. Water was sprayed on homes across the street from the elevator to keep them from bursting into flames from the intense heat. There were no injuries reported.

Pewamo police had finished their nightly rounds of the village at 11 p.m. and had retired for the night. They said they passed the elevator area about 11 p.m. and inspected it but found no evidence of fire. The owner, Ivan Whan, could give no estimate of loss, but it was believed the entire operation would have been valued at upwards of $100,000. He said he had as much insurance as he could obtain but it would not cover the loss. He is undecided as to the future plans on rebuilding or tearing down the remaining portion. He indicated that if he rebuilds the structure, it would be drastically changed. The buildings were constructed end to end east and west along the Grand Trunk railroad tracks. The business was purchased by Whan in 1945 from the Davarn family. The huge silos were constructed about 1952. These appeared to have escaped serious damage as the west wind blew the flames, heat and sparks away. Loss of supplies, including feeds, fertilizer, tools and equipment, some of it new and modernized, could not be estimated. Whan was unable to determine how much material was damaged by fire and water in the area saved. The business drew a heavy trade from area farmers. The east end of the buildings, used as the office, was saved. It was the first major fire in Pewamo since the Rathburn Boat Co. building on Pewamo's main street burned down 15 years ago. Firemen succeeded in saving a portion of the elevator, Pewamo's largest structure, and burning grain was sprayed with water all day last Wednesday. Men are now busy cleaning and clearing away the huge burned timbers and debris.

Fire levels elevator at Elsie

ELSIE — The second Clinton area elevator blaze in 28 hours brought a fiery end to the Ovid Farmers Elevator on the Maple River at Elsie early Thursday morning. The landmark structure, at least 135 years old, was completely leveled by a fast-spreading fire that prevented Elsie firemen from doing anything more than standing by and containing the blaze to the elevator itself.

Loss was estimated at $50,000 or more, including some $7,000 worth of grain stored in the 30 x 60-foot building. Grain lost included 1,500 bushels of soybeans, 1,500 bushels of corn, 300 bushels of oats and about 15 tons of fertilizer.

The fire apparently broke out about 3:40 a.m. Thursday. A passerby on Island Road noted flames inside the building and aroused the Elsie police, who turned in the alarm. Fire Chief Durward Conklin told the County News at the scene that the flames had spread so fast that firemen could already see through the building when they arrived.

The elevator sat along the Maple River immediately below the Elsie dam and just east of an abandoned bridge across the river there. It was owned by Merle Green of Elsie and Earl Brown of Ovid and was Elsie's oldest structure. The loss was covered by insurance.

Cause of the fire was not immediately determined. There had been some welding done on a feed grinder in the building the morning before. Sheriff's officers, the Elsie fire chief and the fire marshal's division of the state police are investigating.

The fire had gained so much headway that Elsie firemen could do nothing more than stand by and keep the fire from spreading, although there was little danger of that because of the elevator's location.

Sealed Power to buy Remac

Sealed Power Corporation has agreed to acquire Remac Corporation, Dallas, Tex., for $900,000 in cash, Gordon E. Reynolds, Sealed Power president, announced.

Roaring flames that are killing the 135-year-old grain elevator at Elsie created this ironically picturesque scene from the north side of the Maple River immediately adjacent to the Elsie dam. Elsie firemen had no chance to save the old structure.

Like a glowing skeleton, flaming framework of the Ovid Farmers Elevator at Elsie stands starkly against a dark early-morning sky Thursday minutes before much of it crumbled. The fire, which started about 3:40 a.m., destroyed the landmark, over 135 years old, which stood along the Maple River.

So you figured US-27 was busy, huh?

If you've been telling folks how busy US-27 was over the Memorial Day weekend, here's some facts to back you up. The State Highway Department's traffic reporting point at St. Johns yielded these statistics: On Sunday, June 1, a record total of 18,310 vehicles passed through town during the 24-hour period. The peak time was between 5 and 6 p.m., when 1,900 vehicles were counted. The highway was at capacity for nine hours that Sunday—from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Northbound traffic on Thursday, the day before Memorial Day, totaled 15,842 vehicles, surpassed in number on only one other weekday in history when 17,887 vehicles headed north in a 24-hour period during the 1967 deer season.

No criminal action in Elsie vote case

There is no cause for criminal action in the case of the election irregularities at Elsie last March.

County Prosecutor Patrick Kelly, in a letter to County Clerk Ernest Carter, reported that: "Conversations with you as to the circumstances and the facts of the situation, and based upon a conversation with Bernard J. Apol, director of elections for the State of Michigan, it is my opinion that no grounds exist for this office seeking warrants for criminal prosecutions or for this office seeking a writ of quo warranto."

Carter, clerk of the county canvassing board which pointed out the irregularities in the March 10 village election, said it was determined that nothing had been done by the village officials that would have influenced the outcome of the election.

A recount was conducted in April on the liquor-by-the-glass proposition, and the irregularities were pointed out then. The charge of the irregularities was made in a petition for the recount filed by Virginia Lockwood, a co-owner of the Hitching Post Tavern at Elsie.

The recount found no errors in the tabulation of votes. The liquor-by-the-glass measure lost by 105 yes to 128 opposed. Carter said Friday he had sent a letter to Elsie officials pointing out the irregularities and warning that anything in the future might not be handled in the same manner. He did not detail the irregularities but did indicate they involved registration procedures which were complicated by the illness of Mrs Lenore Foran, Elsie village clerk.

Blue Star Mothers change meetings

In the future the Blue Star Mothers of America, Chapter No. 88, will meet on the fourth Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p.m. During the past month the mothers have taken several boxes to the Veterans Facility and have assisted at canteens for servicemen.

The Blue Daisy Day sales will be held June 13 and 14, and the proceeds will be used for assistance to hospitals and for rehabilitation service for veterans.

The next meeting will be June 24 at the Congregational Church. The committee will consist of Fannie Urier, Pauline Burk, Belle Gillison and Alice Hebeck.

Following the business meeting on May 27, a memorial service was held in memory of deceased members and servicemen.

Commission battles weeds, speeders in 2-hour session

A goodly portion of an hour and 50-minute city commission meeting Monday night was spent in discussing a noxious weed ordinance drafted by City Atty. Paul Maples to replace the current directive.

Other attentions were given to the acceptance of a police car, final acceptance of contract bid for sewer work on Lincolnshire, enlargement of a sewer lift station to accommodate added demands of the new high school and a number of other routine items.

Tied in with the noxious weed discussion were remarks by Dean Wilke of 1003 S. Lansing who registered concern over residents in various areas of St. Johns who have neglected cutting weeds and grasses which have grown to a point of nuisance. Mayor Robert Wood advised Wilke of the upcoming ordinance which was deeply gnawed at by the commission before the meeting's end.

Another concern of Wilke's was the recent influx of speeders on city streets, and he voiced objections of neighbors to the situation. Commissioner Dr. James Groat registered agreement to Wilke's concern and asked City Manager Harvey Weatherwax if there were some way to "spruce up enforcement" of existing speed laws.

IT WAS NOTED during this exchange that radar tracking equipment is currently in disrepair, but Weatherwax advised those present that the apparatus should soon be back in use. He also encouraged the commission with statements that appropriate signs would be placed in subjected areas, and wherever closer surveillance can be maintained it will be conducted.

The noxious weed ordinance as written by Maples, in essence, outlines specific weeds as well as including general grasses which reach a 12-inch height. It declares them nuisances and provides for their removal.

The ordinance stipulates that the chief of police must notify owners or occupants of land on which offensive weeds grow to cut them down and if such action is not accomplished within 10 days the city can then proceed to alleviate the nuisance, with any charges being assessed against the property.

Some concern among commission members as to the effectiveness of the ordinance prompted a lengthy discussion which also brought out a proposal that offenders be fined rather than have the city "get into the weed cutting business."

In the final analysis, it was agreed that the proposed ordinance would be worth enforcing for a year's trial, and unanimous acceptance recorded the discussion as the first official reading of what will become an ordinance.

A bid for a new police car in the amount of $2,621.59 was accepted from Egan Ford. The bid was lowest among three submitted. Others were from Stan Cowan Mercury, $2,915.89 and Hettler Motor Sales, $3,023.70. Industrial Lawn Excavating of Coldwater was granted final approval on their bid of $8,228.40 for the improvement of the Lincolnshire area sewer. The approval followed credit and performance records of the firm and included a stipulation that work begin July 7, 1969, and be completed by July 31, 1969.

THE COMMISSION gave Weatherwax approval to proceed with final specifications and seek bids for the enlargement of the sewage lift station in the area of Southgate Shopping Center. Costs for the station, which requires alterations for anticipated demands for the high school, will be shared on a 50-50 basis by the city and the school board.

In other action, the commission handled a number of routine items including correspondence and acceptance of warrants against the city,

James Welsh-Jean Schaefer vows June 6 at St. Joseph Church

Before an altar set with bouquets of pure white gladiolus and aqua-tinted mums, Miss Jean Mary Schaefer, daughter of Mr and Mrs Albert J. Schaefer of R-6, St. Johns, and James Andrew Welsh, son of Mr and Mrs Russell Welsh of 801 E. McConnell Street, were united in marriage.

The double ring service was performed by Rev Joseph Lablak at St. Joseph Catholic Church at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, June 6.

Mrs Herman Smith, organist, accompanied Mr and Mrs Eugene Talaga as they sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, selected a gown of floor length organza over taffeta with short sleeves and the upper bodice fashioned of heavy floral lace. Her organza train was edged with bands of matching lace, and her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place with a pill box headpiece, trimmed in lace appliques. She carried a bouquet of eucharist lilies with pink sweetheart roses.

Kathy Schaefer served as maid of honor for her sister and bridesmaids were Bernadette Warstler and Christine Nome. Patricia Barnes, daughter of Mr and Mrs James Barnes of St. Johns, was the flower girl.

SUMMER WHITES and light colors show up dirt, graying and stains more readily than darker clothing. They need more frequent cleaning to look fresh and crisp.

Here we want to say a friendly word of warning about "home spotting." While some spots may yield to home treatment successfully, without damage to the fabric, in most cases there is a definite risk.

Some stains are so stubborn or difficult to remove that they challenge even the best efforts of dry cleaning experts.

Speaking of promptness... you can be sure of fast as well as expert service when you bring us your clothing to be cleaned.

Soap Box Derby this Sunday

wards of 5,000 people is expected again this year. A formal flag-raising ceremony will be conducted on the courthouse lawn, and the St. Johns High School Band will play the National Anthem.

The St. Johns Soap Box Derby queen will be announced and crowned at 4:35, and she, her court and the band will take their places in the big Soap Box Derby parade that starts at 4:45.

Following the parade, at about 5:20, the annual Oil Can Derby race will be run. This year it will feature three past Soap Box Derby winners — Bill Jacobus from 1965, Dan Pline from 1966 and Lee Smith from 1967 — racing downhill on Clinton Avenue in cars provided by Saylor-Beall Manufacturing Co., Sealed Power Corp. and Federal-Mogul Corp.

The 1968 local Soap Box Derby winner, Kris Patterson, will sail down the street in his car from last year before the first heats of the 1969 derby start.

Sometime prior to the final heats at about 7:30, a powder puff race will be held. McCarthy said the competition will be between just two girls, Luanne Harr and Pat Swanchara.

Each boy in the Derby will race at least twice, and after the first round two will be eliminated with each heat. The last three remaining will race together for the championship.

The winner will be cheered again at the awards program at the high school auditorium, where he and the other top 15 finishers will receive their prizes.

The other prizes to be offered include: portable television set for second place, Polaroid camera for third place, wrist watch for fourth, bicycle for fifth, wrist watch for sixth, radio for seventh, movie camera for eighth place, Polaroid Swinger camera for ninth, fishing rod and reel for 10th, instamatic camera for 11th, baseball glove for 12th place, transistor radio for 13th, basketball for 14th, and football for 15th place.

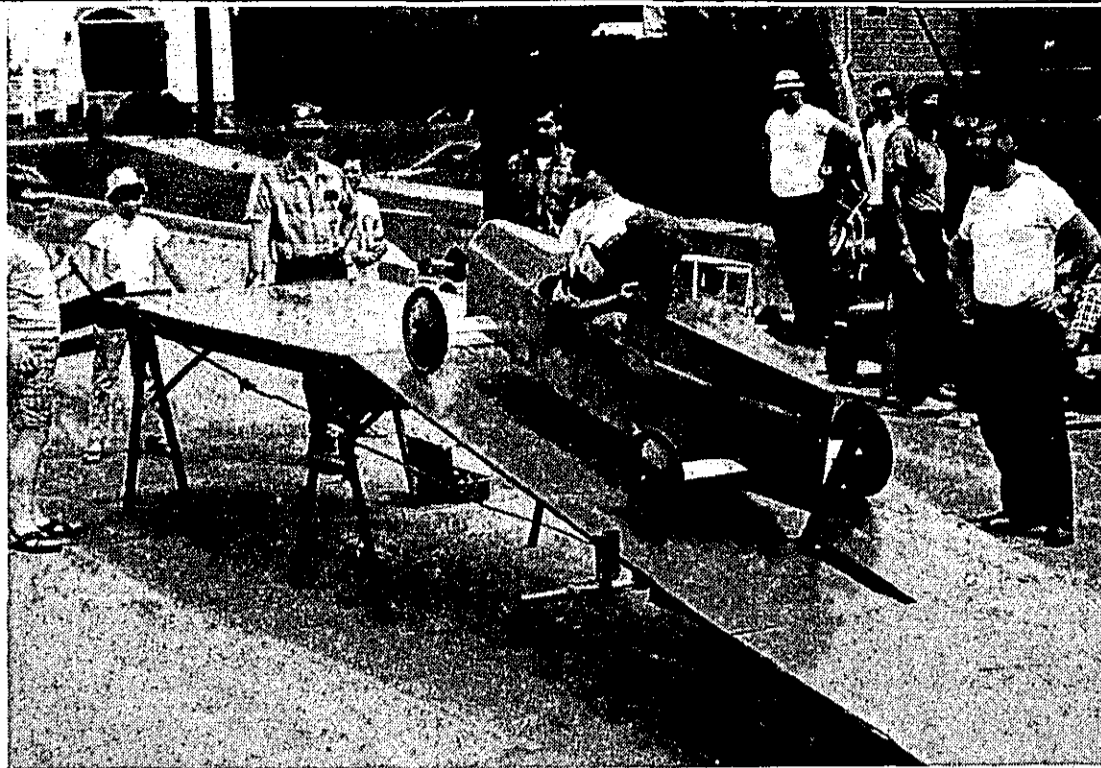

The Clinton County Soap Box Derby queen will be crowned at 4:35 p.m.

the awards program. She will be either the queen from St. Johns or from Westphalia, where a derby queen contest was run this year. Ross Myers will provide music at the awards program.

For Jaycees and other volunteer workers, including members of the Clinton County Boys Club, Derby Day will start earlier. McCarthy and co-chairman Jack Bertoldi and others will be downtown early Sunday morning setting up barricades and ropes to keep automobiles and pedestrians off the Derby track, which will be the 100, 200, and 300 blocks of Clinton Avenue.

A final inspection for Derby cars will be held tonight (Wednesday) at 6:30 p.m. at the corner of Walker and Brush streets.

The St. Johns Lions Club will stage their second annual chicken charcoal barbecue Sunday in conjunction with the races. Serving will begin at noon and continue until 6 p.m. from the lawn at the railroad depot.

Soap Box Derby hopeful Joseph Fernalz, 13, crouches low in his racer as he makes a practice run Saturday down Railroad Street hill in a final tune-up for this Sunday's Derby Day. Bill McCarthy, co-director of the derby, is third from the left with the dark glasses. Other adults in the picture are Jim Moriarty, Tom White (with hat), Dave Humenik, Jack Downing and co-director Jack Bertoldi (kneeling in background).

ST. JOHNS DERBY QUEEN CANDIDATES

Candidates for the St. Johns queen of the Soap Box Derby met over dinner last Wednesday night with the judges who picked one of them as the winner. She won't know until Derby day, though. Lynn Sheren of Lansing, one of the judges, talks with the girls, Jennifer Zimmerman (left), Barbara Penix, Connie Cornell, Vicky Walton and Ramona Hubbard. Standing at right is Mrs Jack (June) Downing, derby queen chairman for the St. Johns Jayceettes. The dinner last week was held at Walker's Cafe.

13th Alabama Volunteers here Sunday

The popular "Company A, 13th Regiment of the Alabama Volunteers," an authentic Confederate soldier group, will put in another appearance in St. Johns this Sunday, taking part in the Soap Box Derby festivities.

They'll put on a performance of their own from 3-3:30 p.m. in the downtown area and then be part of the 39-unit parade that precedes the Derby races. The group appeared in St. Johns for the Derby last year and was a hit with the audience. They wear authentic Civil War clothing.

Stan Cowan of Stan Cowan Mercury, Inc. is on the inside track of a sales race being conducted throughout the Mercury division of Ford Motor Co.

As of May 31, Cowan was leading the contest which offers a top prize of a 10-day vacation to Palm Springs, Calif., for husband and wife.

Prizes will be awarded based on high sales percentages among various Mercury dealerships.

Charge pair with arson

Two young Fowler men have been arrested and are being held in the Clinton County Jail charged with setting two fires north of Fowler May 21.

Arrested last Thursday were Dale E. Feldpausch, 22, of West Townsend Road, and Lesley Kohagen, 17, of Hinman Road, R-2, Fowler.

They are charged with setting fire to an unoccupied house on French Road owned by Martha Hale of Alma, and a barn owned by Glen Summerfelt on Stone Road. Both fires occurred May 21, with the house being saved by Fowler firemen but the barn burned to the ground.

Damage to the house was limited to walls in several rooms. The barn lost included 2,000 bushels of corn and some machinery owned by Art and Gayla Fitzpatrick.

Feldpausch and Kohagen appeared before District Judge Roland J. Duguay Thursday and demanded examination, which was scheduled for today (Wednesday) at 1:30 p.m. They were charged on two counts — arson of an unoccupied dwelling and arson.

There you are, surrounded by adoring crowds, passing out autographs. Why? Because you carry a litter bag in your car ... and use it!

A dream? Sure. But one thing is certain. Even if nobody notices, not littering makes you feel good.

Go ahead - give it a whirl. Feel like a hero.

I-69 alternate routes explained to 450

BATH — The proposed corridors for possible location of I-69 came under public scrutiny last Wednesday during a public hearing attended by approximately 450 persons at the new Bath High School. Greatest interest seemed to be directed toward the eastern section of the suggested plan which calls for three possible routes for the new highway.

A total of 11 persons entered formal remarks for the record and sympathy of those in attendance appeared to rest in favor of the northernmost routing of the three proposed on the eastern leg of the highway's corridors.

Proposed I-69 corridor extends from I-96 west of Lansing to a point immediately west of the Morrice on M-78. Between I-96 and US-27 only a single wide corridor is proposed; however, from US-27 to the eastern terminus three distinct routes have been offered.

Bob Adams, public hearings director for the Michigan Highway Department, emphasized that exact location of the new highway was not at this time established and the purpose of the public hearing was to test public sentiments for the proposed corridors. He also pointed out that I-69 itself would take only a small portion of the total area devoted to the suggested routes.

ADAMS, IN HIS opening remarks, explained to the audience some of the considerations and purposes in the placement of the corridors by the highway staff working on the project. Land topography, economic development and social requirements were the principal considerations along with establishment of a more direct route for east and west vehicular traffic between Flint and Grand Rapids.

In his remarks Adams discussed the reasons for proposing routes around the Rose Lake Experimental Station but these were quickly challenged in opening public remarks by Vern Hicks of Bath Township.

"What's so sacrosanct about Rose Lake?" Hicks asked, and went on to observe that in his opinion the highway department was "more interested in rabbits than in people!"

His comments drew laughter and applause and he went on to suggest more thought be given to locate I-69 without consideration to the station in special light.

During the course of public remarks and questions, Adams was asked as to time schedules on construction of the new highway.

HE TOLD THE questioner that present plans call for determination of the exact corridor within the next two to three months with a project design public hearing slated for late next fall or winter. He explained that present programming calls for land acquisition to begin in 1972 and possible construction to begin in 1973. Under existing directives, the federal interstate highway system, of which I-69 will be a part, should be completed by 1975.

Other highway department officials taking active part in the hearing were Dave Needham, project planner; Gerald Martin, project engineer; and Joe Molinare, land acquisition director.

Adams explained to those in attendance that the official transcript of the meeting will be kept open for 10 days from the date of the hearing and persons wishing to record their remarks may do so by writing him care of the state highway department.

Bob Adams, public hearing director for the Michigan Highway Department, listens intently as area residents question him on the proposed corridors for location of I-69. Discussion took place following a public hearing held last Wednesday at Bath High School, with approximately 450 persons in attendance.

Yester-year party June 19 at Wacousta

WACOUSTA — The 14th annual Yester-year Party will be held at the Wacousta Church on Thursday, June 19, from 1:30 to 5 p.m.

Mrs. Veda Forward, who has spear-headed these get-togethers for the older people, is now completing the plans and arrangements for the 1969 party.

"Visitation Day" is her title for it, and it is her hope that other communities' older people will accept this as an invitation to meet with the Wacousta and vicinity people on the 19th.

There will be a brief (but lively, Mrs. Forward says) program, light refreshments, and the remaining hours being spent in visiting with friends of yester-year.

Bible school starts Monday for Baptists

"God's Power for My Life" is the theme for the annual vacation Bible school at the First Baptist Church this year. It will start next Monday, June 16, and continue through the 20th from 9:15 to 11:30 a.m. daily.

Rev. Roger Harrison, pastor, says all boys and girls who will start school this coming September, plus those entering grades one through seven in the fall, are urged to come. All will receive a gift the first day of the school, and special awards will be given those who bring new members.

Each day the youngsters will march in to the strains of "Onward Christian Soldiers" and repeat the pledges to the American flag and the Christian flag. The theme song is "I Sing the Mighty Power of God."

Norman Sanford is superintendent this year, with Mrs. Sanford as secretary.

Food stamp use down 50% from surplus foods plan

According to George Eberhard of the Department of Social Services, the food stamp program was used by 87 families in Clinton County during May, with 342 persons receiving benefits.

On an average, most counties including Clinton, have dropped 50 to 60 per cent over the surplus food distribution plan used previously. In the near future Eberhard plans to place questionnaires in his office and asking the stamp users to fill them out. In this way he hopes to ascertain why such a drop has occurred.

The stamps are sold four days each month, but the days vary and persons interested in purchasing the stamps should call his office or visit the Department of Social Services at 1003 S. Oakland Street.

There are now 20 stores in the county participating in the program with at least one located in every community.

Store cashiers should show courtesy and discretion when a customer is purchasing food with stamps, Eberhard asked. Often cashiers have made their customers feel either embarrassed or unwelcome. Clients will also find that if they separate their food items at the cashier's counter, it will facilitate easier handling of the stamps. Items such as soap, household supplies, prepared foods, imported items and pet foods are not eligible for food stamp use and it often causes confusion for the cashier.

ALL LOW INCOME and public assistance families are eligible. The purpose of the stamp program is to assist low-income households to increase their consumption of food and the quality of their diets by providing them with additional food through normal trade channels. On the surplus foods program clients often complained that they didn't like the items available, such as rice, corn meal, etc., and often there were long waiting lines formed at the distribution centers.

Persons eligible for food coupons are those householders residing in the county who are preparing meals in the home and whose level of income is substandard. Individuals already on any form of public assistance are automatically signed up by the Department of Social Services. Persons of a limited low-income (such as retirees or elderly persons) should make application with the department about their eligibility.

Applicants must be willing to reveal their finances and prove their income and the number of children involved with birth certificates. The program is administered by the Department of Social Services, but is in reality the program of the Department of Agriculture and is not a welfare program.

In order to get the food stamps, the recipient must purchase a stipulated amount with his own money. The amount of assistance varies, according to the individual case, but the lower the income, the higher the rate of bonus.

In land and water area combined, Michigan is the largest state east of the Mississippi and ranks tenth in the nation. Its area includes 57,022 square miles of land and 88,789 square miles of water surface.

Take It From A Pro Who Should Know — And Does

DANIEL W. HODOWANES of Warren was selected Driver of the Year last February by the Michigan Trucking Association. He has driven 21 years for Chrysler, Corporation between plants in heavy city traffic for over a million miles without a blemish on his record.

Michigan's Truck Driver of the Year Says:

CONCENTRATION is the Key to Safe Driving

This little quiz Danny sometimes gives friends gives them a pretty good clue as to what kind of driver they are. Want to try it?

- The last time you took the car out for a spin, did you:
- leave parking lights burning upon your return?
  - leave a turning signal blinking unnecessarily?
  - drive off without sufficiently wiping or scraping windows in inclement weather?

If you just happened to answer "yes" to all three — watch your step. They're common enough, everyday lapses, to be sure. But, says Hodowanes — these are signs of a driver "not concentrating and a driver not concentrating is not doing his best to drive safely."

"If you want to be a good driver and a safe one, you've got to CONCENTRATE on being one," according to Michigan's No. 1 truck driver. He wheels a big semi through Detroit's busy traffic about 100 miles a day between plants. There are a lot of stops and starts and plenty of tight cornering. He has to CONCENTRATE!

Got time to read and think about one more little tip from Michigan Truck Driver of the Year? It's a good one and all of us should heed it every day, Danny says. Here it is: "Always stay clear-headed and never get behind the wheel in a depressed state. A wife can be very helpful to her husband by seeing that he doesn't leave home each morning with a lot of problems on his mind."

So, when you're driving, just concentrate on driving and nothing else, says this No. 1 professional driver. That's really all you've got time to do... safely. Right?

The sun is shining again this morning as this is being written and hope comes once more that the wet weather is finally over and we can get on with our summer's work.

Tuesday saw the finish of the first phase of the dust abatement program for this year. All gravel roads in all the townships but two will have received one application of liquid chloride.

At the regular meeting of the Clinton County Road Commission held last Tuesday, June 3, approval was given to advertise for bids to rebuild Clark Road from US-27 east to Wood Road.

It is planned to build this road using a six-inch bituminous and aggregate base covered with a two-inch bituminous mat.

Twelve thousand feet of curb and gutter are called for and 1250 feet of concrete pipe will be needed in the construction.

With the completion of the chloride application, six motor graders will be released to do full time road grading, and many of the roads are in need of grading after the beating they have taken from all the rain we have had recently.

Community unites to aid Jerry Korienek

The Bannister community reached out Sunday to help a young man by the name of Jerry Korienek. Jerry has been seriously ill for some time and has been in St. Johns and Ann Arbor hospitals. The concerned citizens of Bannister and surrounding areas decided to do something for their fellow man. Members of St. Cyril's Catholic Church and the United Methodist Church got together and planned a benefit chicken dinner.

The result was overwhelming with everyone responding with help and donations. Approximately 1000 people enjoyed a delicious dinner and many other donations were given.

The dinner was held in St. Cyril's new parish hall, and entailed many hours of labor but many a complaint was heard and the fellowship of "working together for good" resulted in a smooth and well-prepared meal.

The monetary profit resulted in over $3000 to be given to Jerry, and the resulting good feelings will be felt in the community for some time.

Vicki Valentine was surprised on her 16th birthday, June 6, when 12 girls arrived to help her celebrate a slumber party with no slumber resulting. The girls planning the party were Elizabeth Ensign and Ragene Howard. Sincere sympathy is extended to the family of Roy Saylor who passed away Saturday morning.

Monday, June 16 from 7 to 9 p.m. classes for all ages will begin at the Church of Christ Vacation Bible School and will continue through June 20. Theme for the Bible School will be "Jesus Leads Me" and the closing program will be held Sunday evening, June 22.

"Heaven, Its Reality, Riches and Rewards" was the sermon topic June 8 at the Church of Christ. Following the worship hour a baptismal service was held.

Graduation and bon voyage was the theme Sunday evening at the James Burnham home on North Scott Road, St. Johns, when approximately 75 friends called to extend congratulations and best wishes to Susanne London.

Serving at the table were Coni, Pat, and John Burnham, James Mead and Alan Johnson. Guests were present from Wyandotte, DeWitt, Lansing, St. Johns, Ovid, Elsie, Pompeii, Flint and Alma.

Fulton Schools hire new basketball coach

Robert Miller, at present a junior varsity basketball coach and social science instructor in the Morley-Stanwood School of Stanwood, Mich., has been hired by the Fulton Board of Education of Middleton, as their varsity basketball coach and elementary physical education instructor for the school year of 1969-70.

Miller has coached and taught in the Morley-Stanwood school system for the past five years. Miller is a graduate of Arthur Hill High School in Saginaw, from which he graduated in 1960. He attended junior college at Bay City in 1960-61 and Delta College in Bay County in 1961-62. During the fall of 1962 he entered Central Michigan University from which he was graduated with a bachelor of science degree and a secondary provisional teaching certificate in January 1965.

During his high school and college career, Miller was active in various varsity sports as an actual participant and manager.

Miller is a married man and will move with his wife to the Fulton School area as soon as school closes for the summer months.

Former area man takes new coaching job

Dick Stephens, former Clinton County man and highly successful football coach at Springfield High School since 1962, has resigned that post to accept a challenging position in Elgin, Ill.

He will be the new football coach at Elgin High with an enrollment 1,700 in grades 10-11-12. The school anticipates growth to about 2,500 in the next few years.

At Elgin he will be faced with the same rebuilding job he has accomplished in other schools. Elgin football has been at a low ebb in recent years.

When he arrived at Springfield to start the 1962 season, the Rams had an all-time grid record of 35-29-1 in the win-loss-tied column and he built it up to the present level of 69-51-2.

When Stephens took over at Springfield, football prospects were not bright and he suffered through two straight losing campaigns, 2-6-0 in 1962 and 2-5-1 in 1963.

Thereafter, he guided the Rams to five straight winning campaigns, including record 7-1-0 seasons in his last two years. His overall seven-year record at Springfield is 34-21-1. This includes 30-10-0 in his last five campaigns.

HE DEVELOPED several standouts at Springfield, including Dave Hudson who went on to Western Michigan University where he made All-American honorable mention two straight years as linebacker.

This past year, he developed 6-7 Jeff Bauer who made All-State Class C at an end spot and is headed for the University of Wisconsin. Dave Babcock made second team all-state guard last year.

Final stages seem to be slow

Colorful new high school shaping up nicely

By LOWELL G. RINKER
County News Editor

Work around the new St. Johns High School on West Sikes Street has reached the point where it seems like the finishing up details are going to take forever.

In reality, it is progressing normally and the contractors are in the final stages of construction. Furniture for the building is arriving almost daily.

A tour of the building Friday provided a good, though dusty, idea of what 10th, 11th and 12th grade students will have for their learning quarters starting in the fall.

Floor, ceiling and, where applicable, wall tile is practically all in place, the auditorium stage floor has been laid, the gymnasium floor is in and two out of the seven coats of varnish have been applied, and the contractors are waiting for the rest of the tile to arrive to complete the swimming pool.

The building, unconventional in design and sprawling though it may be, seems to be well laid out to get the best use out of every area. The main academic, business education and science areas all have their own circular clusters where the departments can concentrate their efforts. The library is in the center of the main circular area and is circular, too, with a domed ceiling. It will be carpeted.

The science wing in the southeast corner will have a citimartium as one of its innovations. It will open off two biology classrooms and will be a small room with lots of windows facing the southwest where students will be able to control temperature, humidity and light for conducting plant experiments.

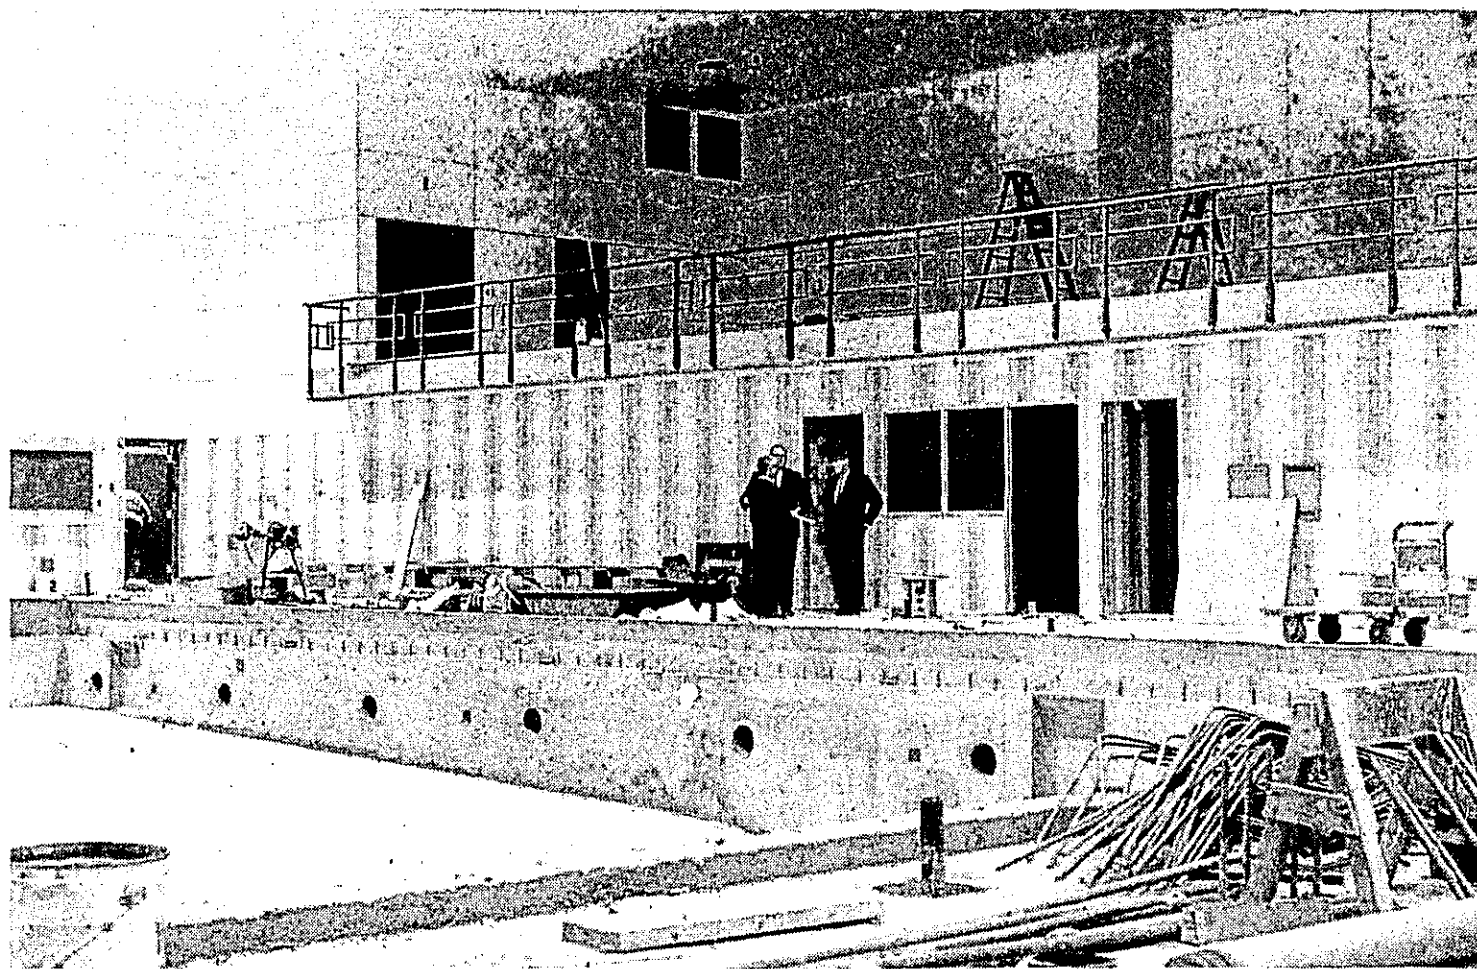

The business education wing is a circular cluster, too, and like the science wing has its classrooms around the outside of the cluster. In the center are storage and work areas surrounded by a corridor. A school darkroom, as well as storage rooms, are in the center of the science wing.

The library is probably the most striking feature of the main academic cluster. It'll be a little larger than the present library and will feature such things as study carrels for individual work. The audio visual department will be handy there, and the classrooms for the academic courses will be across the corridor on the outside of the cluster.

Many of the classrooms in the three circular clusters are designed for team teaching. The rooms are divided by folding walls that can be opened to provide larger rooms for such things as lectures. In addition, smaller project areas and student work rooms are available next to the corridor so students can work individually or in groups in private while the rest of the class continues on something else.

The music department at the high school is at the far northwest end of the building complex—away from other learning areas where the sound of instrumental and vocal practice might be distracting. It is adjacent to the auditorium where much of the formal performances of both the band, orchestra and choral groups will take place.

The auditorium itself will seat about the same number of people the present one does, but it will be with more comfort. The big improvement is on stage,

The swimming pool at the new St. Johns High School is just about ready for tile, and workmen's equipment is strewn everywhere in final stages of construction. Inspecting the pool area are Rev. Gerald Churchill, new Principal Gordon Vandemark and Supt. Earl Lancaster. Balcony seats will be provided for spectators.

where about four times as much stage area is available, plus two apron stages in front of the main curtain and a large workroom and stage setting storage area back of the stage.

The gymnasium and swimming pool areas form the nucleus for the physical education department. In the present high school there are only two teaching stations available now—both halves of the gym when the divider doors are closed. In the new building there will be both halves of the floor, plus the flat-floor balcony area above the locker rooms, plus the swimming pool. Seating capacity in the new gym will be more than double the present facilities, with 2,500 persons or more being able to watch basketball games.

The swimming pool will be "regulation size—75 feet one inch long by 45 feet wide, with six swimming lanes. A balcony over the locker rooms will provide seating for about 500 persons.

The gymnasium lobby will open into the high school cafeteria, where there will be a snack bar for the basketball crowds. The cafeteria will seat up to 464 students for lunch and 308 will be able to use the room for study hall during the day.

Improves facilities for drafting, art and home economics are provided in the sections of the building connecting the gym-auditorium-cafeteria to the circular academic cluster. The home ec area will include not only the traditional kitchen rooms, but also a living room and patio where students can get a taste of that phase of homemaking, too.

The high school administration area is compact in the new building and spread out and confusing in the present high school. The school district administration will be on the far northwest corner of the high school building, not tied to the rest of the building by any interior doors.

The vocational area of the new school is on the southwest side, with ample room for building trades, agriculture, farm and power machinery, and metal shop. Each of the shop areas will have a classroom separate from the shop itself.

Architect Guido Binda has woven a varied color scheme into the whole building, which is far from drab, even at this construction stage.

Michigan motorists faster than average

Michigan motorists drive an average of one-half mile per hour faster than the national reported average, according to a newly reported survey by the U. S. Department of Transportation.

The survey, conducted last year in 27 states on main rural roads, including freeways and other state highways, showed a combined average of 59 m.p.h. for all vehicles including passenger cars, trucks and buses. The Michigan average for all vehicles was 59.5 m.p.h.

The study also showed that: —Thirteen per cent of all vehicles and 16 per cent of the automobiles on Michigan highways exceed the legal 70 m.p.h. freeway speed limit. The national average is 12 and 14 per cent respectively.

—The per cent of vehicles exceeding 60 m.p.h. has nearly tripled in the last 10 years. The increase is due mainly to improved highways.

—Passenger cars on rural Michigan freeways average 64.2 m.p.h.

—The national average for all vehicles, including Michigan, increased one m.p.h. over 1967, and has increased approximately one m.p.h. per year, from a wartime low of 25 m.p.h. in 1943 to a present high of 59 m.p.h.

—Largely rural Arizona showed the highest average speed of 64.4 m.p.h. while highly urbanized New Jersey showed the lowest average of 49.8 m.p.h.

The man with a liberal outlook is one whose pet aversion hasn't yet been challenged.

St. Johns kits to Viet Nam school received with thanks

Packages of articles from St. Johns to school children in Viet Nam have been received . . . with gratitude.

Jack Down, presently serving as a member of the guidance staff at Rodney Wilson High School, told students last week their contributions had arrived safely in Viet Nam.

Several weeks ago, some students in the Future Homemakers of America asked him if they could send a package of articles that would be useful to school children in Viet Nam (Down had formerly worked there). He suggested they send several items to his old friend, Dinh van Thiet, in Vinh Long. Thiet is chief of primary education.

Down also spoke to the St. Johns Farm Bureau on Viet Nam and this group also took up a collection which was sent to Thiet and the school children.

The items received from St. Johns to this small city 12,000 miles away were greatly appreciated, (and will be put to good use).

Portions of a letter received from Thiet in gratitude for the gifts follows.

"Dear Friends, "What a surprise you gave me on May 16. M. Noxon came to my office with a box of student kits. The next day I got your letter that filled me with happiness.

"THE GIFT FROM the St. Johns people came at the very proper time. We are working for the prize giving day in Viet Nam this year, and the summer vacation will start the end of May. I intend to bring the gifts to the most isolated school in the district at Tuongtri Hamlet School. It was damaged by the VC in 1968 and since then no repairs have been made, but the students were able to continue their studies by moving to a safer place. The school has been installed in an old sugar mill.

"My family is well, but from time to time we must pass some terrible moments. Last April the VC mortared the village and 30 were killed and 200 injured. They hit many places such as the Bank of Agriculture, the police station and the hospital. At the same time they assassinated some civil service workers and some self-defense people.

"This is the general situation in Vinh-long. It's improving a little now and we can go by road to Kha-tru-mat Cal-son. The regiment is in charge of keeping these roads safe, but later when the regiment moves to another place, I don't know what will happen.

"Teachers, civil servants and people from 16 to 45 must be enrolled in the self-defense groups, and during the day we work for our living and at night we get our rifle and do guard duty. Everything is expensive in Viet Nam. The businessmen are making a fortune while the civil servants and servicemen must try to do their best to keep soul and body together."

Aug. 1 state fair entry deadline

If you are going to be an exhibitor at the Michigan State Fair this year, then you must return your entry form on or before Aug. 1.

Under a new policy announced by E. J. (Jeff) Kelrns, state fair general manager, Aug. 1 will be the deadline for all departments without exception.

He said the decision was made to allow state fair personnel sufficient time to prepare for the 20,000 or more entries expected for this year's fair Friday, Aug. 22, through Monday, Sept. 1 (Labor Day). He said a better fair will result for both the exhibitors and fair patrons.

In the past, separate entry dates have been set for various reasons in some departments which has caused confusion, Kelrns said. Also, there has been laxity in adhering to deadline dates.

But this year there will be strict adherence to the Aug. 1 deadline as published in the premium book which will be distributed in three sections: agriculture and livestock, horse shows, and community arts.

The premium book this year will announce an all-time record of $151,000 in premiums for the 1969 State Fair exhibitors. Premium books, which will be distributed in June, are automatically sent to former exhibitors. Requests from new exhibitors should be addressed to the Michigan State Fair, Detroit, Mich. 48203.

Exhibitors should indicate which section of the entry book is desired.

Boosts 4-H entomology

Entomology projects offer 4-H members another way to learn by doing, according to John Aylsworth, Extension 4-H youth agent.

Projects in the study and understanding of the insect world provide a wide range of activities. A "bug hunt" might be one of the first activities. Later, demonstrations can be given to show what the member has learned.

Participants can also take part in insect identification contests, watch pest control operations and tour laboratories like those at Michigan State University's entomology department.

Aylsworth also suggests raising insects in cages and studying their life histories.

"Not only do 4-H entomology projects provide a fascinating hobby, but they can serve as the basis for a future career," Aylsworth concludes.

BATTLING BIG ELEVATOR FIRE AT PEWAMO

Firemen man hoses to water down a burned over section of the Farmers Elevator at Pewamo, which was partially destroyed in a spectacular blaze shortly after midnight last Tuesday night. Seven fire departments responded to the fire. Damage was estimated at between $50,000 and $75,000. Additional pictures and story on Page 1-A, on other pages in Section A, and on Page 1-B.

Success tied to herd replacements

The difference between the poorest and best cows in most Michigan dairy herds is worth more than $500 in gross income each year, says a Michigan State University dairy extension specialist.

Clinton E. Meadows says the whole approach to herd improvement is constantly replacing poorest producing cows in the herd with cows that, on the basis of their parent's record, will do better.

Every dairyman must remember he is in the meat producing business also. Keeping a cow in the herd when she is not producing enough milk to pay for her feed and care is a big mistake when cull cow prices are high at the stockyards, Meadows says.

"It is economical to gross as much as possible from surplus cattle," he explains.

Through a good record-keeping system a dairyman can know what each animal in his herd is producing and eliminate poor producers to make room for more profitable cows, he adds.

Silo downtime can be reduced

Time lost in forage harvesting due to bottlenecks at the silo can be easily prevented, says Robert Maddex, Michigan State University agricultural engineer.

"It is extremely important that low capacity equipment such as the silo filler be kept running at optimum efficiency," Maddex stresses. "Otherwise, the high capacity harvester ends up idling in the field waiting for the return of the wagons that are backlogged at the silo. You don't save much in time or labor costs that way."

Frequently operators have to make three or four passes in lining up a wagon at the blower. To eliminate this needless waste of time, Maddex suggests that guide stakes or a bump board be placed so that the operator has less difficulty aligning the wagon.

Clogging of the silo filler pipe with low-moisture hay silage — another major cause of slowdown — can be prevented generally by adding water to the pipe. However, the MSU agricultural engineer advises that whenever possible, higher moisture grass (60 to 65 per cent moisture) be used in place of haylage. Not only does it handle better, Maddex explains, but it has also been shown to have a more favorable bearing on milk production.

Maintenance of equipment is another prime consideration. Basic greasing and oiling procedures should be followed, Maddex says, and bolts on all equipment should be checked for snugness, both prior to and following operation.

Not much dry land around

Farmers all in same boat . . . floating

Farmers in most areas of Clinton County are all in the same boat . . . and it's still floating with no immediate prospects of finding dry land.

The extremely wet conditions of the spring of 1969 have kept many Clinton area farmers out of the fields when they should be in the fields planting their crops for the summer. Rainfall since April 1 has been about 2 1/2 inches above normal, and that's likely to put farmers behind for the rest of the year.

F. Earl Haas, Cooperation Extension Service director in Clinton County, said sugar beets is the only crop that is completely in so far. Many farms still have corn and soybeans to plant yet. The wet fields are most prevalent in the Fowler and Westphalia area, which seems to have been in the spot where most of the "spotty" rainfall has fallen, Haas said he figures it would take a week of dry weather to get fields there in a condition to be worked up and planted. "The Fowler-Westphalia area got so much rain the past weekend (over Memorial Day weekend) that that's way behind again. That's where the problem has largely been anyway."

IN OTHER AREAS, however, less than a week would be necessary to dry out the soil for planting, and Haas said he even saw some farmers in the fields last week following the weekend of rain. The Lansing Weather Bureau has recorded over five inches of rain in the last four weeks, which is what has caused the problems.

"Farmers are going to be behind for the whole summer," Haas figures. "They should be haymaking now, but they're still trying to get their fields planted." Some are putting up hay—well, not really hay. They're putting up silage this time of the year because of the way the weather is and has been.

Those who haven't gotten their corn in yet are about a month behind now. Corn usually goes in about the middle of May when the weather permits. Soybeans were supposed to be planted in May, and so they're two to three weeks late if they're not planted yet.

White beans are scheduled to be planted around June 5, so if the weather cooperates there won't be any lateness involved with that crop.

"As far as oats are concerned, I think people have given up on them if they didn't get them in," Haas said. Oats normally are planted earlier than corn.

Haas said there's no worry on sugar beet planting, since they have to be planted by June 1 according to the contract. He said he wasn't certain but he thought all contracted acreage has been planted.

North Victor

By Mrs Elzie Exelby

Mrs George Bunce is still very ill in Clinton Memorial Hospital. Mr and Mrs Henry Mizga spent June 2 with Mr and Mrs Elmer Cutler at McGilvery Lake near Gladwin.

Don Saxton is a patient at Sparrow Hospital where he underwent surgery on his back. James Huyck is home from Sparrow Hospital and gaining nicely from back surgery.

Mrs Henry Grossman had the misfortune to fall, and she broke a bone in her foot.

Mr and Mrs Elzie Exelby spent June 2 with Mr and Mrs Edwin Berlin.

The June picnic of the Victor Civic Club will be held at the home of Mrs Irvin McMaster on Thursday, June 19. All members are urged to be present.

Horton Grange will meet at the Victor church on June 13 with a potluck supper before the business meeting and program.

Due to the extreme rainy weather very few farmers have been able to put in crops. Hay and wheat look good, but need more sunshine.

Alfalfa weevil threat in county called serious

Clinton County dairymen are being warned of a serious infestation of the alfalfa weevil on many farms in the county. Extension officials urge immediate inspection of fields, along with control measures if the situation is bad.

F. Earl Haas, Clinton County Extension director, said some fields are 60 per cent infested with the weevil.

"The infestation in many fields in Clinton County is high enough that no second cutting would be produced if control measures are not taken," Haas said.

Damage to the alfalfa plant is done mainly by the larvae (grubs) of the weevil. They skeletonize the leaves, leaving only the big veins. Heavily damaged leaves appear tattered and silvered. Other tell-tale signs of alfalfa weevil injury are stunted growth and rosetting of the leaves.

Tattering and silvering appear first at the tip of the plant, then stunting is evident as the plant grows and the damage becomes more intense.

Haas suggests farmers check their fields thoroughly before taking off the first cutting. If the top leaves or buds are eaten, it is probably the alfalfa weevil. The larvae which do the damage are hard to find in many cases, because they are still small in most fields.

"IF 25 PER CENT of the stems are infested at the time for the first cutting to be made, a spray should be applied immediately after the hay is taken off," Haas recommended. "This is necessary because the larvae would eat the second growth as fast as it would start."

Cooperative Extension Service Bulletin E-639 describes the alfalfa weevil and the damage it does, and on the back page it lists insecticide control suggestions.

"Even though the parathion and guthion are the most effective, we do not recommend them because of the danger in application," Haas said in a letter to dairymen this week.

"The malathion and methoxychlor combination is more expensive but is our recommendation. It is much safer for the applicator and there is less danger of drift to adjacent fields."

The alfalfa weevil feeds primarily on the leaves and new growth of alfalfa. Minor feeding also occurs on Ladino, sweet, red and white clovers, vetch and on soybeans, snapbeans and even on strawberries, especially when the insect's populations are high.

The weevil eats a cavity in a

growing alfalfa stem and lays from two to 25 eggs in it. A single female can lay as many as 800 eggs during her life-time, although 500 eggs may be more near the average. The eggs hatch in one to two weeks, depending mostly on the temperature.

The young larvae feed first within the bud and move to the young leaves as they grow larger. Here the larvae may feed from three to four weeks, molting their skins three times during this period.

WHEN THE LARVAE complete their growth, they spin thin, silken, cocoons about themselves. These are spun on the alfalfa plant or in the litter under the plants. The larvae change to a motionless pupal stage within this cocoon, and the pupal period lasts about 10 to 14 days. Then, new adults emerge from the cocoons and feed heavily on alfalfa for two to four weeks.

Most of the adults move from the alfalfa fields to the field borders, woodlots, and other shaded areas where they spend the remainder of the summer. During this period of summer inactivity, the adults are fully formed but are still sexually immature. They begin moving back into the alfalfa field during early fall where they feed, become sexually mature, mate, and lay eggs during this season.

Only a few of these eggs are expected to survive Michigan winters. The cold weather sends the adults to the crowns of the alfalfa plants, or to litter under the plants where they spend the winter.

The dates on which the different stages of the alfalfa weevil become active are not yet well established in Michigan. However, peak seasonal appearance of the different stages of the insect are as follows: the overwintered adults persist till mid-July, and then die off; eggs are abundant during May to early June; larvae from mid-May to late June; pupae during June to early July, and the new adults emerge during mid-June to late July, eventually overwintering.

Here's a description of the various stages:

Eggs - Oval-shaped, about 1/25 of an inch long, bright, lemon-yellow when first laid, the eggs turn darker near the time they hatch. Some are laid in the alfalfa stems or in the hollow stems of other plants, but most are deposited in growing alfalfa. They hatch in one to two weeks, depending mainly on temperature.

Larvae - When first hatched, the larvae are about 1/20 inch long, and white to yellowish-white in color. As they grow, they turn green and acquire a single white stripe along the top of their backs. Their heads are black. There are no true legs on the undersurface of the body, only fleshy ridges. The larvae mature in three to four weeks, and are about 3/8 inch long at this stage.

Pupae - The larvae spin round, net-like cocoons, mainly in the litter under the alfalfa plants. Within these, they gradually change to the adult weevil in 10 to 14 days.

Adults - Adults are rather common-looking snout beetles. They are about 1/4 inch long, have a slender snout, and are usually brown. A wide, black band begins at the head end and runs down the middle of the back almost to the center of the wings. Newly emerged adults are chestnut to light-brown in color. They darken with age, with many older adults being a nearly uniform brown to black.

Rice nice for brides, others too

By HELEN B. MEACH Extension Home Economist

Rice is for weddings, for brides, new homemakers...

At breakfast, with fruit, rice makes an appealing cereal...

RICE KNOWS no limitation. But different recipes call for different kinds of rice...

There are four basic kinds of rice available.

While rice is the regular milled rice from which hulls, germs, outer bran layers and most of the inner bran layers are removed...

The long grain variety cooks up well and separates readily, while the short grain has the tendency toward chalkiness and is stickier when cooked.

Par-boiled rice is treated by special steam process before milling to aid in the retention of the natural vitamins and minerals.

Brown rice is rice from which only the hull has been removed. It still retains the bran layers and most of the germ. It has a nut-like flavor.

Pre-cooked rice is milled rice which has been completely cooked and the water removed. It needs only to stand in boiling water to be ready to serve.

"WILD" RICE DOES not belong to the rice family. It's the seed of wild grass gathered around the Great Lakes region.

When you shop for rice read the label to see if you are actually getting the kind of rice you want and to see whether or not it has been enriched.

When cooking rice use just the amount of water that the rice can absorb during cooking.

Homemakers will find a great abundance in this versatile food on the grocer's shelves.

Whether an existing closet is to be converted, or a new one built, be sure to use double doors for greater convenience. A wide closet with strong double doors will allow for storage of long handled tools, easy to get at. Hooks or pegs on the rear and side walls will hold short brushes, dustpans and event tools such as a hammer for minor repair. Plastic bins for sponges, clean dust cloths, scratch touch-up-sticks etc. can be attached to the door, or the wall.

Plan for at least one shelf to hold bottles, boxes, aerosol cans, paste wax tins and other supplies you use in cleaning. Check to be sure the contents in the shelf are within easy reach, but high enough not to interfere with the handles of brooms, dust mops, sweepers etc. Plastic bins for sponges, clean dust cloths, scratch touch-up-sticks etc. can be attached to the door, or the wall.

Keep cleaning supplies handy

By LORRAINE SPRAGUE Extension Home Economist

Thoughts of spring cleaning still keep us looking for the best way to store our supplies and at the same time make them easy to get at when we need them. Previous columns have explored the locations of cleaning equipment within the home. Today we'll take a look at compact cleaning closets.

Any well-equipped center where all the articles used for major cleaning can be stored in one step toward keeping the house neat with the minimum of effort. Large houses, or those with more than one floor level will be more efficiently served with auxiliary supplies located in other areas. However for a central storage area, a closet that is wide and shallow, or can be made that way, will serve very well.

What do you think of... when you see a Church?

To almost everyone, the sight of a slender steeple raised to the sky evokes certain emotions—awe, perhaps, nostalgia, maybe—the sense that by not going to church lately, you've been missing something!

Next time you see a church, take a good look... and let yourself really feel what you see. If that makes you decide not only to look at the outside but also to go inside, that will be all to the good. For no matter how lovely a home you may live in, it can't compare with God's House. If you open the door, you'll find that, no matter how long you've been away, the welcome is warmer and more wonderful than you'll find anywhere else.

An austerity bubble

The uproar last week over billings for estimated water use instead of actual readings is another example of the St. Johns citizenry getting tired of austerity living. Estimating water use instead of actually measuring it is what happens sometimes when a city has to live on the kind of money St. Johns has had to the past few years.

We are tired of austerity, too, and we don't like getting an estimated reading as a basis for what we pay for water. But we can't blame the city administration for doing it, or at least trying it.

The city has been forced to cut corners in many places and reduce even basic services to residents because there just isn't that much money. . . or that many people on the payroll. The problem goes back a couple of years and we must all share some of the blame. Even without an income tax, the water bill problem may be straightened out by next quarter, but it will involve short-changing some other service.

A whole lot of problems could be reduced to nothing if voters turn out July 15 and vote in an income tax.

Show the colors

June 14 is Flag Day. It marks the anniversary of the day in 1777 when the United States flag was adopted. This year it deserves more than the usual routine gestures of observance out of respect for a symbol of freedom that has been spat upon, burned and dragged in the dirt during the past year with alarming impunity by malcontents and bums of all stripes who respect neither the flag nor the United States.

It is a sad commentary on our times that laws have had to be passed protecting the flag from desecration. Until comparatively recently, mutilating the flag, in the minds of most of us, was tantamount to treason. But somehow the fog of permissiveness that has settled miasma-like over the land has obscured our vision of the flag and the deathless ideals that support the Stars and Stripes.

The easiest way to gain perspective on the meaning of the flag is to visualize for a moment the void that would surround us if there simply were no flag—no focal point on which to center the sense of purpose and principles of a nation. In common with the U.S. Constitution, the flag makes known to all mankind the reason for our existence.

Flag Day is a good opportunity to "show the colors."

'IF IT FITZ . . .'
Personal problems too much

By JIM FITZGERALD

As I type this, Willie Horton is back in left field for the Detroit Tigers and I am back at my typewriter, as any fool can plainly see.

Willie walked out in the middle of the seventh inning. I quit on a Tuesday morning, about half way through editing that week's issue of my favorite weekly newspaper.

I went home and into seclusion, locking the bathroom door behind me. My family stood outside and begged me to get back on the job.

"The publisher just called," my wife said. "He has suspended you without pay until you return. It is costing you $8.73 a day to sit in there."

"Walter Cronkite just said on TV that you quit because you couldn't stand all the insulting letters-to-the-editor," my daughter said. "Especially the one from your mother."

"Yeah," added my son, "and Joe Garagiola said you are unhappy here and want to be traded to the Detroit Free Press. He said you're mad because your publisher won't pay your bar bill at the country club."

"There's a little boy at the back door and he's crying," my wife said. "He says you've got to get back on the job or the newspaper just won't be the same. And he'll never get the $2.50 you owe him for cutting our lawn."

My assistant pounded on the door. "The newspaper is in terrible shape without you," he said. "I remembered that you don't use periods after Mr., Dr and Jr but I forgot how you get rid of all those unused periods. They are rolling all over the floor and people are tripping."

"All your close friends are on the front porch," my wife said. "They both said to tell you the whole town is behind you. Those people who split at you and throw rocks at your car don't really mean it. It is just their way of saying they love you, Jimmie, and they know you can do

Obstacle Course

RAMBLIN' WITH RINK

I've got a date in Hart

By LOWELL G. RINKER

No. 1 daughter came home the other day with some second-grade style art work pertaining to what she was going to do this summer. There were two pictures. One showed a five-wheeled moving van driving down a two-lane highway past a sign that said "Hart." The other picture showed a two-story house beside a small lake.

These two pictures are a pretty true representation of what has to be one of the highlights of this coming summer for the Rinker family. As we announced in the paper a couple of weeks ago, we are indeed moving to Hart and will soon begin a new adventure editing the Hart Journal.

Deciding to make that step was both a natural and a hard thing to do. I had insomnia symptoms for many nights before finally making up my mind. Going back to manage the newspaper I had started out on has been one of my dreams — a goal, mind you — since I left there after my senior year in high school and went off to college.

As I learned more about journalism and modern journalistic style in writing and typography, the challenge of going back to the Journal and putting it to work has been growing in the back of my mind.

My boss then and my boss-to-be in a couple of weeks, Jack Corbin, told me then that someday he would want to sell the newspaper, and maybe I could be the guy to buy it. Well, that time isn't here yet, but it won't be too many years off, and my going to work now for the Hart Journal is the initial step toward someday having it as my paper.

Other factors entered into the decision to leave here. I love Western Michigan and the nearness to water. Hart's my home town; Mom lives there. It's much smaller than St. Johns, but it's a nice place to live with a lot of nice people. The town is the county seat of Oceana County. It's on Hart Lake, about seven miles from Silver Lake, seven miles from Pentwater Lake, 15 miles from Stony Lake and about nine miles from Lake Michigan.

The Hart Journal, where I'll be working, is a much smaller paper than the Clinton News — circulation of about 2,900 in a town of 2,000, and an average issue of eight pages. In being a subscriber since I moved away 12 years ago, I have seen where many changes and improvements — I think — could be made.

Now I've been presented with the chance to put my theories and practices to work where they are vastly different from those at present. It's a challenge and an opportunity I couldn't turn down.

So we're moving . . . with deep regrets over having to leave the town and the people of St. Johns and Clinton County in the process. This Friday, June 13, will mark five years to the date from when I started work here for Ink White. It's been a grand five years.

I don't think we had lived in St. Johns more than two weeks when we had gone over to Hart on a weekend to see my mother and when it was time to go we talked about coming "home." St. Johns was "home" already. In the four years and 50 weeks since, our roots have gone deep in Clinton County, and we'll probably never be able to pull them all up. Nor do we want to.

We have met hundreds of A-1 people here, not the least of whom have been the people who have worked at the paper. There's been a vast change in personnel since I started — only John and Hattie Hannah, Dick Miller and Hank White are still around from the staff of five years ago. I've been fortunate to get along well with just about everybody who worked here, and it has been fun.

It's been a nice job, too, because I've been able to get around and get to meet and know a lot of fine people. I regret that I don't remember names any better than I do, but I do have a fairly good memory for faces and occasions, and I value acquaintances.

And I value highly the comments that many people have made to me since the announcement was made that I was leaving. It's nice to know we'll be missed, even though we'll miss St. Johns more.

Those comments have served to heighten a feeling of pride which I have always had for this paper and the small part I've played in its success. The Clinton County News is a good weekly newspaper. It has been that for many years, long before I was on the scene. I've been proud to have been a part in keeping it that way — of being editor for the past 3 1/2 years or so.

I've been proud of every issue, in whole or in part, and hardly ever satisfied. That's because there is always room for improvement, and I'm sure that the new editor of the Clinton County News, when he is chosen, will have new ideas and make changes that will make this paper better yet.

With Ron Huard at the helm as publisher, I'm sure things will improve. One of the many big factors that almost kept me here in St. Johns was the prospects for the paper under his guidance. With an enthusiastic, friendly, business-like approach, our operation here has made great strides in the last year, and Ron will keep it going that way, I'm sure.

I wish I was going to be here to share in it, but I've got a date in Hart.

The welcome mat will be out at the Hart Journal and at the Rinker's two-story home overlooking Hart Lake at 11 Woodlawn Avenue. Western Michigan's a great place to spend a weekend. Be seeing you.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Says parochialism violates state constitution

Dear Editor:

If the members of the State Legislature and the governor of the State of Michigan take the oath of office to uphold the Constitution, how can they pass or attempt to pass the parochial bill which is against the Constitution?

Constitution Article II, Section 3 states, and I quote: "No money shall be appropriated or drawn from the Treasury for the benefit of any religious sect or society, theological or religious seminary, nor shall the property of the state be appropriated for any such purpose."

Is the Constitution so much scrap paper to be ignored by our elected lawmakers and governor? Sincerely,
M. A. SMITH

THE YEAR WAS 1911

John W. Miller of R-1, Eagle, writes to report he was wrong in saying the old-time picture of the St. Mary's school class (published on the editorial page May 28) was taken in 1913. It was taken in 1911.

TAKING FIVE

Dads are strange guys

By RON HUARD

Dads are strange guys.

A dad will grumble or say nothing at all throughout an entire breakfast, then spend all Saturday morning coaching (or trying to coach) a group of wild boys the fundamentals of baseball.

A dad will look askance at a young son's idea for a supergeared, rocket-engined orange-car, then tear the family mower apart to provide the power source.

A dad will laugh with glee when the neighbor's auto is grounded with a flat tire but that laughter turns to blue smoke when the air in his own tire has escaped . . . and even though he has the jack, the patches, the time and energy, he's more likely to call the service station forcing some other dad to correct the problem.

A dad hates to see his kids grow up but he so much enjoys mentioning their development and accomplishments that it is difficult for him not to beam with pride.

A dad knows everything there is to know except how to do modern math.

He can fix all kinds of mechanical things but when a mind to do so, cannot figure out how to hang curtain rods or transplant shrubs.

A dad usually has a remarkable capacity for his wife's cooking but will say nothing about a meal unless it's a dish he doesn't care for. If something does evoke a smile, it's usually a new recipe the neighbor lady brought in.

Dads exhibit disgust with mom's "babbling Junior," but they're apt to come all unglued when the slightest trickle of blood escapes from a skinned knee and they'll wince with deep feeling as the first tooth is yanked from a small mouth.

Dads can readily boast of being "my own man," but the sleekness of a new car and the smoothness of a salesman can disprove that claim.

A dad will laugh and tease his teenagers about their tastes in music but on an evening out will be the first to try the dance that was created to accompany the sounds.

When it comes to his daughters, he is a great big bundle of "no, you can't's" but a well-timed smile or a tight squeeze accompanied with a quick kiss can burst that bundle into a tiny package of "well, I guess so's."

When it comes to sons, dad's a "Yah, but be careful" man. When son reports that things have gone awry, dad is the first to remind him, "I told you to be careful." Perhaps that's something he inherited from his dad, or his dad's dad.

Dads hate to admit they are wrong but practically overwhelm those about them when circumstances clearly present their accuracy.

But perhaps the greatest contrast in a dad's nature can be seen on Father's Day morning. As he examines the gifts which mark his day there is always one that catches his attention. It is a heavily crumpled drawing commemorating the event and its last line invariably brings a glint to his eyes and a quaver to his husky voice. There are few other times in his life when the words have so much meaning as "they do at this time . . ." "I love you, daddy."

Back Thru the Years

★ Interesting Items from the Files of The Clinton County News

10 YEARS AGO

(From our files of May 28, 1959) School moneys totaling $328,784.68 were received from the state during May for Clinton County schools, according to figures released this week by County Treasurer Mary Schreiner.

The City of St. Johns will receive its annual dose of DDT spray this year but the exact date is still a matter of conjecture, according to City Manager Kenneth Anderson.

St. Johns city officials are collecting information on a radio warning system for firemen to be used when General Telephone Co. installs automatic switchboards in St. Johns.

25 YEARS AGO

(From our files of May 25, 1944) Fred K. Tremper, 68, a life-long resident of St. Johns, died at his residence on South Oakland Street Monday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, after an illness of nearly two years. He started the first moving picture show in the city in what is now the Wilson Barber Shop.

Cpl. Richard Worrall, who was stationed at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., now has an APO number out of New York. Cpl. Worrall was inducted into the Army in December.

Joyce Maler, St. Johns senior at Central Michigan College, has accepted a position as an early elementary teacher at Roseville for next year. Helen Pierson, also of St. Johns, has been engaged to teach at Ionia.

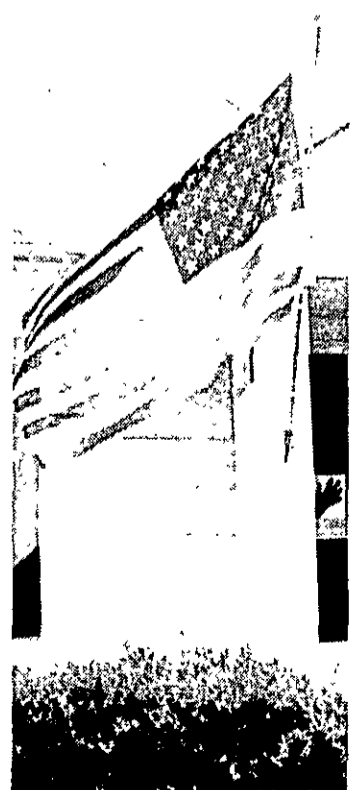

Lt. Lawrence Ward, son of Mr and Mrs Archie Ward of DeWitt, received the Oak Leaf Cluster from Brig. Gen. Truman H. Landon early in April after he had flown in combat over the Marshalls in the South Pacific. He was recently promoted to first lieutenant.

50 YEARS AGO

(From our files of May 29, 1919) The following students will receive degrees from the University of Michigan next month: Laura Halstead, St. Johns; Helen Smith, Elsie; and Clayton Huff, Eagle.

The Parents and Teacher's Club of the Perrin Palmer school have undertaken a splendid work in developing a playground and park in their section of the city. It is their plan to have swings, teeters, a base ball diamond, etc. Even sandpiles for the kiddies will not be forgotten. The grounds are ample in scope for furnishing the space needed.

James DeRose and son of Lansing have purchased the Paul DeRose fruit store on north Clinton Avenue. They took possession Friday.

They fly our flag

Mr and Mrs Keith Rosekrans fly the flag regularly at their home at 403 S. Mead Street, St. Johns.

ST. JOHNS HIGH BASEBALL TEAM IN 1921

A look into the past

Mrs Arnold Martens contributed this picture of the 1921 baseball team at St. Johns High School. The picture is reproduced from LeCid, the first annual publication of the senior class at the high school. Unfortunately, the book does not identify the players, but it does give the following account of their 1921 season:

The same team which had won the championship of the county for the last two years entered the field. By virtue of their wins of 1919 and 1920, the locals were in an excellent position to cop off the cup given to the first Clinton County High School to win three successive years. The high schools taking part in the schedule were Ovid, Elsie, Maple, Rapids, DeWitt, Fowler and St. Johns. The schedule, as drawn up by "Y" Secretary Avery Rand, together with the scores as they concerned St. Johns, were as follows:

- Apr. 29—Elsie 2, St. Johns 6, at St. Johns.
- May 3—Maple Rapids 5, St. Johns 19, at Maple Rapids.
- May 9—Fowler 1, St. Johns 18, at St. Johns.
- May 13—Ovid 4, St. Johns 3, at Ovid.
- May 31—Maple Rapids 0, St. Johns 7, at Maple Rapids.

Winning all their games in the county schedule except the one with Ovid, which went 10 innings, and because Ovid lost to other teams in the league, the cup was given to St. Johns as a permanent fixture to the long list of laurels won by St. Johns' athletes in years gone by.

Besides the above games played in the league, St. Johns took on some stronger teams. The game between the high school and the American Legion resulted in a win for the Legion. The score was 8 to 4.

Defeated twice by Ithaca to the tune of 3 to 1 and 7 to 6, and winning from Portland 3 to 1, made up the remainder of the season's baseball activities.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Thinks article should have been on front page

Dear Editor: The article in last week's paper (May 28) entitled "What can we do?" that was printed way down in the corner seems to me should have been on the front page where some teenagers and many more parents would have seen it and put it into practice.

If more parents would insist on kids doing more of these simple, down-to-earth necessary jobs around home, the kids wouldn't have so much free time to look for fun that leads to trouble.

Now that schools are out, children sure will be needing something useful to occupy some of their time.

National Guard convoys routed

Slow moving National Guard convoys from Ohio and Indiana will be using a number of Michigan highways the weekends of June 14-15 and June 28-29, enroute to and from Camp Grayling in north central lower Michigan, the Department of State Highways reports.

Heavy artillery units will be on the move throughout both weekends, traveling about 35 miles an hour. Wherever possible, the convoys have been routed on freeways and other multi-lane highways in an effort to minimize disruption of regular traffic.

Highways to be used include US-27, US-31, US-127, US-131, M-21, M-60, M-72, M-100, Interstates 69, 75 and 94, and County Highway 543 between I-94 and M-21.

The Michigan National Guard will move to camp in mid-July.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

Cities department

By ELMER E. WHITE

A proposal for a new department of state government to deal exclusively with the problems of Michigan's cities is gaining support in the Legislature and may get Gov. William G. Milliken's nod.

Sen. Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, and Rep. J. Robert Traxler, D-Bay City, are sponsoring identical bills to create a state department of community affairs. Milliken asked an advisory committee of legislative leaders recently to study the feasibility of such a department. Lockwood, as Senate majority leader, is a member of the unit.

An executive office aide said the governor apparently anticipated no legislative action this year when he suggested the need for an urban affairs department in a message to the Legislature.

However, the aide added, introduction of the Lockwood and Traxler bills means the "whole timetable might be pushed forward" by Milliken this year.

Under the Lockwood-Traxler plan, the proposed department would coordinate state and federal programs in such urban fields as housing, mass transportation, outdoor recreation, water resources, employment, poverty and health services.

The department would be the 20th and final one permitted under the 1963 state constitution. The present 19 principal departments were set up four years ago.

COMPETITION FOR the 20th spot is increasing. Some lawmakers want a new department of youth services; others are demanding that the liquor control commission be made a separate agency.

Traxler and Lockwood said the pressing needs of Michigan's cities underscore the reasoning for a department to administer and develop urban programs.

"Seventy-five per cent of our citizens live in urban areas, and yet we do not have a state department that is primarily concerned with the quality of life in our urban areas," Traxler said.

"Events in the cities during the past several years have exposed conditions of disadvantage and social failure of a depth previously unrecognized."

The two legislators propose that the State Housing Development Authority, now attached to the Department of Social Services, be transferred to the new agency. Enforcement of state housing codes would be shifted from the Department of Health.

Lockwood said the community affairs department would also be given responsibility for the resettlement of persons displaced because of public works projects. That job is now handled by the State Administrative Board.

CONTINUED BICKERING within Michigan's congressional delegation has resulted in an impasse over creation of Sleeping Bear Dunes National Park, a conservation consultant reports.

Douglas W. Scott of the Wilderness Society of Michigan said the differences of opinion concern ways of protecting private property in the Benzle-Leelanau area where the park would be located.

He urged the State Natural Resources Commission to petition President Nixon, Congressmen and cabinet members to support Michigan's Sen. Phillip A. Hart's bill to create the 61,000 acre park along Lake Michigan in the northwest part of the state.

Scott said an intensive information campaign should be launched by the Department of Natural Resources to alert Michigan residents to the "great importance" of the issue.

Federal action is vital, he said, because "with every passing day unplanned, uncontrolled development, rampant subdivision of more cottages and summer homes, and honky-tonk encroachments are taking their toll."

Mrs. Virginia L. Prentice, chairman of the State Sierra Club, suggested the state donate the land to the federal government for park development.

Since purchasing the land "may be of more than usual significance . . . during this session of Congress," Michigan should show "good faith and eagerness" by making a gift of the dunes area, she said.

From the state house

By DICK ALLEN 88th District Representative

One of the real crying needs in Michigan is for a more effective approach to the problem of drug abuse. There has been a dramatic change in the basic nature of the problem in the last few years. There has been a shift in the people involved from the skid-row bum and the lower criminal element to young people throughout our society.

A recent survey in small towns as well as cities throughout Michigan indicates at least one out of six high school students has, on at least one occasion, been involved in illegal drug use. Apparently, in the age group just past high school the percentage goes up considerably.

There has also been a shift in the type of drugs used from the hard line strongly addicting narcotics of the opium-heroin type to a large and varied group including marijuana, barbiturates, amphetamines and a continually expanding variety of newly discovered and developed chemicals and drugs.

The first two shifts and other factors have resulted in a shift in the pattern of use from the everyday ritual to the weekend party, occasional binge or one time experiment.

Though the drug problem has undergone a dramatic change our laws have not. They are proving completely inadequate. Three law changes have been proposed, I am co-sponsoring the bills and believe they would be a definite step forward. One has to do with instigating an educational program in schools dealing with drugs and the dangers inherent in their abuse. Another has to do with the Public Health Department supplying information and assistance to young people and to parents who fear their children may be becoming involved with drugs. The third bill provides for some additional flexibility in sentencing. Presently mandatory sentences up to 20 years depending on the offense make it very difficult to get convictions in the case of young violators.

Despite the endorsement of the Michigan Council of Churches, law enforcement agencies, courts and others, changes in drug laws will come hard. Legislators worry about being labeled soft on drug abuse.

There is danger in even talking about changes in drug laws. I was recently quoted in a newspaper as saying in regard to marijuana, "The state has no right to outlaw a harmless weed!" The actual exchange went like this.

Student — "What right does the state have to outlaw a harmless weed?"

Allen — "The state has no right to outlaw a harmless weed but I do not believe there is good evidence that marijuana is only a harmless weed!"

A few misquotes like that picked up by the press and my friends will speak of me kindly as the former legislator Allen!

Epitaph

I'm not good at statistics, Seems too often they're a bore, Still it's pretty hard to dodge 'em - Each new batch cries out for more; One thing really has me worried, When I try to face the facts, If we all work for Uncle Sam, Who is left to pay the tax?

Yes I know relief is coming - But don't try to tell me when - Each new candidate elected, Hires new multitudes again; Seems it's sort of automatic - This process of scratchin' backs, Bust new seams 'n' swell the mortgage - Who is left to pay the tax?

Neither guinea pigs nor rabbits, Can compare with government men, When it comes to multiplyin' - At the public trough again; When the bureaucrats has figgered All our budgets in the black, Manned each new man-eating bureau - Who is left to pay the tax?

I'm not fond of seekin' trouble, Nor of magnifyin' plight, But I sadly scratch my noggin, Tryin' to find some new daylight; If relief is not forthcoming, 'N they don't get off our backs, They kin put upon our tombstones, "Died from overdose of tax!"
