$400,000 hospital grant OK'd

Federal funds totaling up to $400,000 have been made available to Clinton Memorial Hospital for use in constructing the proposed addition to the St. Johns facility.

The $400,000, under the Hill-Burton Act, was approved last week by the Public Health Service, according to an announcement by the office of U. S. Rep. Paul H. Todd Jr.

The final decision now on whether to proceed with the plans is up to the hospital's board of trustees.

They probably will make the decision one way or the other following the opening of sealed bids on the proposed project June 29. William Barber, chairman of the hospital's building committee, said no action would be taken concerning the funds until then.

THE MONEY IS available on a matching basis, meaning another $400,000 would have to be raised locally. The Clinton Memorial Hospital Assn. has the money "ready and available," it is reported.

The $800,000 proposed project includes a two-story addition to the west side of the present structure and a one-story addition to the east of the present kitchen to accommodate increased food preparation and dining room facilities.

More than 18,000 square feet of additional space is included in the two additions.

The proposed west addition would provide a large lobby, admitting and administrative offices on the ground floor and additional space for a physicians' record and conference room. Fifteen additional beds for patients would be made possible by the project.

THE NEW MAIN entrance to the hospital would be toward the southwest corner, closer to the visitor parking lot.

Included in the $800,000 figure is $40,000 for new x-ray equipment, $5,000 for new laundry equipment, and an estimated $20,000 for other furnishings to the new addition.

Rearrangement of space in the existing building will make possible many improvements and increased efficiency of patient services, Barber said.

BID FORMS ON THE present proposed plans have been sent out to contractors. It is hoped construction can be started this summer, if the trustees approve the plans.

The last major expansion at Clinton Memorial Hospital was in the later 1940s, although there have been minor additions since. The 87-bed hospital was erected in 1926.

Annexation loses 2-1 here, 20-1 in P-W area

Lansing Community College issues on the St. Johns School District ballot were soundly defeated by voters Monday, but another proposal did pass — the transfer of funds from debt retirement to general fund.

Incumbent Bill Richards was elected to his third term on the board of education, and Wendell Waggoner of Eureka was elected to the other seat vacated by Mrs. Lucille Gallagher.

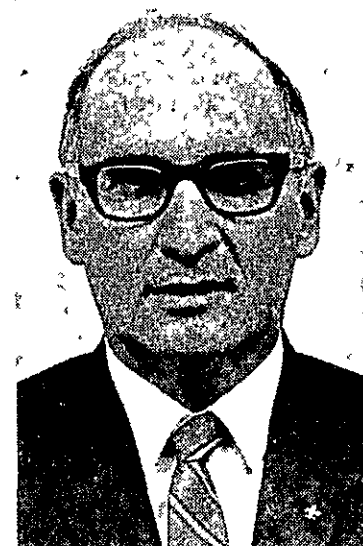

THE LANSING Community College proposals were turned down by margins of about 2-1. On Proposition 2, to annex to the college district, the total vote was 453 in favor and 824 against. On the one-mill tax for all purposes, the vote was 396 in favor to 875 against. And on the assumption of debt of the college district, voters in the St. Johns district turned it down 345 to 886.

The only proposition that did pass won by a nearly 3-1 margin. It called for the transfer of $594.84 from the 1954 debt retirement fund and $555.45 remaining in the 1958 debt retirement fund to the school's general fund. The total vote on that issue was 935 in favor and 337 against.

ALL FIVE CANDIDATES in the school board election polled well, with Bill Richards getting the most votes, 684, mainly on the strength of the city vote. Wendell Waggoner received 557 votes to win the other vacant seat on the board.

Other candidates were George Hazle 462 votes, Darrell Martin 404 votes and Mrs. Eunice Marzke 361 votes. A total of 1,285 votes were cast.

Weed control law spotlighted

With the rains adding a new impetus to the growing season, St. Johns police have warned residents of the city's ordinance governing control of weeds.

Weeds which have been allowed to grow unchecked are beginning to reach a point where they not only are unsightly but do create problems from a health and safety angle, too, Police Chief Everett Glazier said.

Ordinance No. 75 concerns weed control and provides for a fine of up to $15 plus court costs for each offense regarding neglect in the cutting of weeds.

GLAZIER SAID it is the city's policy under the ordinance to notify errant property owners of the law and request that weeds be cut and destroyed. If, after five days from the time of the notice, the weeds have not been cut, a summons may be issued and the property owner ordered to appear in municipal court where the case will be heard.

Purpose of the ordinance is to prevent weeds from going to seed and spreading to other properties. High weeds may also pose a threat to youngsters playing in them and in some cases may block the view for motorists at intersections.

Here's results of other school elections

PEWAMO-WESTPHALIA
WESTPHALIA — Pewamo-Westphalia School District voters were almost unanimous Monday in defeating three proposals for annexation to Lansing Community College. All three lost by margins approximating 20-1.

Proposal No. 1, which called for the annexation, was defeated 29-626; Proposal No. 2, which concerned a one-mill tax, lost 25-630 and Proposal No. 3, for the assumption of the pro-rata share of debt for the college district, lost 24-637.

There were two candidates running for the two vacant seats on the board of education. Allen

Wood received 380 votes and Carl Kramer, Jr. got 553 votes. Nearly 50 per cent of the registered voters in the district voted in the polls Monday.

FOWLER SCHOOL DISTRICT
FOWLER — Charles Matthews and Marvin Thelen were elected to four-year terms on the Fowler Board of Education Monday, receiving 286 and 222 votes respectively. The third candidate, Andrew Luttig, polled 197 votes. Gerald Wieber, running unopposed for a two-year term, received 324 votes.

Fowler voters approved a 5-mill operational tax levy by a vote of 237 to 132, with three ballots spoiled.

BAATH SCHOOL DISTRICT
BAATH — Cleo Friend and Paul Seeger were reelected to the Bath Community Schools Board of Education Monday in a four-man race. The turnout of about 200 voters was described as "light."

Friend got 165 votes and Seeger 146. The other two candidates, Jack Walker and Max Green, received 72 votes and 35 votes respectively. There was one write-in for Lloyd Latchaw, retiring Bath school superintendent.

DeWitt also approves new millage

DeWITT — DeWitt voters approved both proposals submitted to them Monday at the annual school election and at the same time elected Dale Hines and William Reed to fill four-year terms on the board of education.

Citizens voted 277 to 123 approval of an operational millage of 8 1/2 mills for three years. The new millage replaces a current operational millage of 10 1/2 mills which expires this year.

Property owners ok'd a $400,000 bond issue by a 270 to 120 margin. The funds will be used to build an addition to the Scott Elementary School, to update and modernize the C. H. Fuerstenau Junior High, and to complete site work at the new senior high school.

THE NEW TRUSTEES, Hines and Reed, polled 249 and 229 votes, respectively. Other candidates for the two seats, and their vote totals, were Robert Taylor 143, Jake Lenik 56 and William Owen 103. Some 402 ballots were cast, roughly comparable to the turnout for the high school bond issue.

Hobart H. Jenkins, DeWitt superintendent of schools, indicated pleasure and satisfaction with the vote by the following statement: "The fine turnout of electors, the support shown to the DeWitt Board of Education, the support shown to the children of DeWitt, the support shown to the staff of the DeWitt Schools, all by the citizens of the community, is a clear indication of their concern and interest in quality education."

"THE EDUCATIONAL program of any community should reflect the needs of that particular community and should be tailored accordingly. This public endorsement and support of the DeWitt Schools will lead to their accreditation and academic updating. The present faculty is excellent, and with the new additions to the staff, a harmonious blend of youth and enthusiasm tempered with the maturity of experience should result."

Jenkins concluded, "Schools can only be as good as the community wants them to be."

DeWitt to correct hazard

DeWITT — The DeWitt city commission promised some action in the near future on a deep and hazardous water hole along Cherry Street in Viewcrest subdivision last Thursday evening. Action was spurred by a petition bearing 71 signatures from residents of the subdivision demanding that something be done about the long-standing hazard.

IN OTHER business the council agreed to provide the necessary funds to help complete a block building being constructed by the Lions Club in Riverview Park. The building will be used for restrooms and storage and will belong to the city.

The council also agreed to buy a calculator for use by the city treasurer and assessor. They also granted $100 for the Little League baseball program and appointed Mrs. June Lankford to investigate the possibility of obtaining urban renewal funds for the City of DeWitt from the federal government.

Swedish boy 2nd exchange student for high school here

The second foreign exchange student to attend Rodney B. Wilson High School next year has contacted his host parents here, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Davis of North US-27.

He is Mikael Ask, 18, of Huskvarna, Sweden. He will arrive in St. Johns about the middle of August.

The other exchange student coming to St. Johns is Malli Schreiber, 16, of Germany, who will stay with the Ray Parr family at 207 W. Cass Street.

MIKAEL IS A representative for his class in the council of pupils at his high school, Huskvarna Forsoksgymnasium. According to his report, the council of pupils takes care of the wishes of the pupils and suggests changes of unsatisfactory states of things at school.

He is interested in politics and is a member of a conservative political society. Early this year he was on a committee which arranged a demonstration for a university in his town; he was one of 12 delegates who expressed the arguments for the university to the States Committee of the National Parliament.

MIKAEL LIKES athletics and has hobbies of reading, languages, filming, tape recording and gardening. He takes a great deal of interest in technical things and likes to work on projects that others have failed at.

He also plays the piano and guitar, and does some writing. "I also compose some songs," he said, "but they are no miracles."

After returning home following a year of study in America under the Youth for Understanding teen exchange program, Mikael plans to take a matriculation examination and then probably continue his education by attending a university.

MIKAEL'S FATHER, Rune Ask, is production manager at a factory making all kinds of plastic wares and does much traveling, both in Sweden and abroad. By coincidence he will be in Michigan within a week or so, and Mikael is attempting to contact him so his father can stop in to see the Davis family here. Mikael has one sister at home.

The Davises have four children, three of whom will be away at college most of the time. Holly, 21, will study at the University of Sheffield in England next year; Della, 17, is a Central Michigan University freshman; Alan, 19, is a sophomore at the University of Michigan; Lisa, 15, is a sophomore at Rodney B. Wilson High School.

of the country near the North Sea.

SHE WILL RESIDE with Mr. and Mrs. Kromvik, where she will have an exchange program "brother", 17 years old, and "sister", 14. Her "father" is manager of a textile company. She will return to America the last part of August.

Miss DeVore and Miss Mueller, who will be sophomores next fall at Rodney B. Wilson High School, will both be going to Mexico City, but as of Monday they hadn't learned who their foster families there would be. They will fly from Detroit to Mexico City June 28 or 29 — again, no definite date has been received.

Their summer program will differ somewhat from the other girls' in that they will attend school three days a week. The mornings will be devoted to Spanish, the girls said, with the afternoons including lectures on a variety of topics that include even bullfighting.

MISS PARR, a senior next year, will be the second local student to depart. She will leave Sunday from Detroit, flying direct to Hamburg, Germany, where she'll then transfer to her summer home at Helsinki, Finland. Her foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vell Alanko, have three children, a daughter 16 years old and two sons aged 18 and 20.

The last of the five girls to leave will be Miss Rumbaugh, also a senior next fall. She will fly from Detroit to Hamburg on July 1 and will return home Sept. 1. She will reside this summer at Leer, Germany, in the northern part of the country near The Netherlands and the North Sea.

HER FOSTER family will be Frau Hilde Nachtigall and her two daughters aged 5 and 16. School there will run into July, so Miss Rumbaugh said she will have an opportunity to attend school, although not to receive grades.

All the girls will have an opportunity to travel within the countries they visit, and those who have had contact with their host families have already learned of some of the side trips being planned.

Music boosters' calendar deadline June 22

The St. Johns Music Boosters' community calendar project is nearing completion, and persons who have not been contacted for a calendar or listing are asked to contact Mrs. Max LeBaron at 205 W. Cass Street.

The calendar lists birthdays, many school events, local club meeting dates and church services. Monies derived from the project help defray music camp expenses for students.

All music students are asked to return their calendar blanks by the deadline date. The deadline for all listings is next Wednesday, June 22.

City wants P.O. drop box moved

A strong effort to have the post-office drive-up box on State Street removed to a less-congested area is being undertaken by the City of St. Johns.

The city commission has approved recommendations by City Manager Ken Greer that another site for the postal drop box be found. He offered several solutions in a recent letter to St. Johns Postmaster J. D. Robinson.

Greer contends the box should be removed, along with the short-term parking permitted in front of the post office, for safety reasons. He noted that because the box is located there, many drivers stop on the opposite side of the street and dash across to the box or even swerve their cars over to the left side of the street to the box.

OTHER THAN parking at the head of Clinton Avenue, there is no other parking allowed along M-21 its entire length within the city. The exception at Clinton Avenue is because the street is 30 feet wider there than it is in front of the post office or other sections of the street.

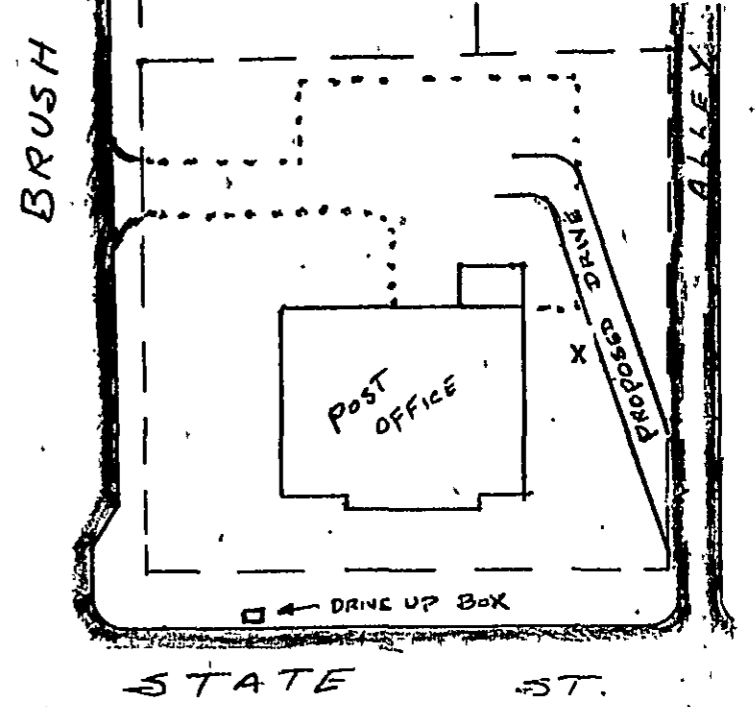

The city is suggesting a drive-way be constructed from the existing alley on the east side of the post office to the east edge of the post office parking area behind the building. The postal drop box could then be located along the new drive on the driver's side, with vehicles proceeding on through the postal lot and out the west side onto Brush Street, Greer suggested.

The alley could be made one way, as well as the postal drive.

POSTMASTER J. D. Robinson said he recognized that the parking on M-21 in front of the post office was a problem, but he said the city's suggested solution would probably not be agreeable with the post office department.

He said the blacktopped area behind the post office is used not only for parking for the rural carriers and the locally-based trucks but was designed as a maneuvering area for trucks bringing mail in and out. "This area is crowded now," he said, "and when the trucks come in they are on a pretty tight schedule, and the drivers wouldn't want to fool around trying to avoid traffic coming through the lot."

AN ALTERNATE solution, Greer told the city commission at its meeting last Tuesday evening, might be to place the postal box on the west side of Brush Street across from the post office.

Car hits, kills tot on road

Sixteen-month-old Lisa Smith of rural Grand Ledge became Clinton County's fifth traffic accident victim of 1966 when she was struck and killed by a car last Tuesday evening in front of her home.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene D. Smith of 16233 Wright Road, R-3, Grand Ledge. State police said the little girl was hit by a car driven by Mrs. Jean E. Lonsberry, 32, of R-1, Grand Ledge, who was driving north on Wright Road. She told police she was unable to see the child until too late because of a rise in the road. The child wandered onto the road in front of her home.

Car safety check here Saturday

The St. Johns Jaycees are cooperating with the 1966 National Vehicle Safety-Check in St. Johns this Saturday by offering free safety checks of automobiles.

Motorists can have their cars safety-checked free, according to Sam Sample, chairman for the Jaycees project, just by bringing in the auto between 9:30 a.m. and 3 p.m. The check lane will be set up on North Clinton Avenue between Railroad Street and the railroad tracks.

Mechanics will check brakes, front and rear lights, steering, tires, exhaust system, glass, wipers and washers, mirrors, horn and seat belts.

"THIS IS SOLELY a public service," Sample commented. "Too many people these days neglect their family car. They don't seem to realize that even the best driver may not be able to avoid an accident if his car's in unsafe driving condition."

All motorists will get a check list on the condition of items safety-checked, and cars found to be okay will get a red safety-checked windshield sticker.

Some three million vehicles were checked in automobile dealerships and in community lanes during the 1965 National Vehicle Safety-Check. One out of every six vehicles was found to be in unsafe driving condition.

"PEOPLE SEEM to forget," Sample said, "that their cars carry the most important people in the world — their families and themselves. So if you want to be careful with your car — full, come in for a safety check Saturday."

County getting ready for new apportionment — just in case

Clinton County may be ready for the so-called "one man, one vote" apportionment of boards of supervisors if the proposed law ever does take effect.

The Clinton board's legislative and reapportionment committee has already held several meetings on the subject of the reapportioning of county boards, although they have formulated no plan as yet.

A House-Senate compromise bill is now before Gov. George Romney for signature into law. The measure was approved last Thursday after a House-Senate conference committee agreed to a compromise giving Democrat and Republican county leaders a hand in apportionment of boards in the more populated counties.

law is already planned, should it get the governor's signature.

THE NEW MICHIGAN constitution, he said, spells out that representatives on the boards of supervisors shall be from each township and city. The Michigan Supreme Court, however, split evenly several months ago on the question of whether the constitution permits an extension of the "one man, one vote" theory to county government.

But in case the proposed law is ruled constitutional, the Clinton County board is already working on plans that might be acceptable so that they can reapportion themselves within the 30-day limit.

The committee studying the problem is made up of Willard Krebel of Riley as chairman, Walter Nobis of Lebanon, Almond Cressman of Olive, Gerald Shepard of Bath and George Moore of Duplain.

City votes to brighten up M-21

IN COUNTIES under 75,000 population — which includes Clinton — boards of supervisors would be given 30 days in which to apportion themselves on a population basis.

If they failed, a regular apportionment board comprised of the Democrat and Republican county chairmen, the county prosecutor, clerk and treasurer, would have 60 additional days to do the job. If they fail to agree on new districts the problem would be turned over to the circuit court.

Derrill Shlabery of Greenbush, chairman of the Clinton County Board of Supervisors, said he doesn't think the law is constitutional. A court test of the Nine incandescent lamps and five fluorescent lights along the street from Scott Road on the east to the intersection of State Street and Ottawa Street will be replaced by 16,200 lumen mercury vapor lights.

State Street west from Lansing to the west city limits is already lit by mercury vapor lights. There are also mercury vapor lights at the State Street intersection with US-27 and Oakland Street.

mentations after a study requested by the city, said it proposed the existing five fluorescent lights on State Street in the vicinity of Clinton Avenue also be replaced with the mercury vapor lights "in keeping with your policy of improving your street lighting with mercury lights."

NEW MERCURY vapor lights will also replace incandescent lamps at the intersections of US-27 with McConnell and Baldwin streets. The present lights are of only 6,000 lumen at McConnell and 2,500 lumen at Baldwin.

The difference in cost between the existing lights and those proposed is $82.33 per month, Consumers engineers said.

Girls' screams chase prowler

The screams of youngsters sent a prowler crawling and running from the Thomas Nonguerska home at 14098 Turner Road, DeWitt, early Sunday morning.

Nonguerska said he and his wife were awakened early in the morning by the screams of their three daughters. The girls said a man with a flashlight had been in the room. When they awoke and screamed, the man crawled out of the room on his hands and knees and then ran out the back door, which had been unlocked.

State police detectives are investigating the prowling.

Diocesan women study '67 conference

Mrs Alvin Thelen of St. Johns, Lansing deanery president and first vice president of the Lansing Diocesan Council of Catholic Women, will be chairman of the 1967 annual conference in Lansing.

The annual conference was one of the orders of business taken up at a June 2 meeting of the outgoing and incoming members of the board of the Lansing Diocesan Council of Catholic Women.

At Mrs Thelen's invitation, representatives from the Lansing Convention Bureau presented facts, figures and suggestions concerning the conference.

MRS JOHN SCHRAMEK of Kalamazoo, outgoing president, conducted the morning session, Rev George Zabelka of Flint, diocesan moderator, conducted the installation ceremony for the incoming officers, after which the group attended Mass.

Father Zabelka addressed the group at its afternoon session, presided over by Mrs Emmet Pelletier of St. Joseph, the new president. He stressed ecumenism, whereby Catholic women would gain a better understanding of their Protestant brethren, and he also urged them to reach out to those who are not Christian or are unchurched.

He also referred to the theme of the recent conference, "Love" which will continue as the theme for the year's work. He spoke of existentialism and personalism as philosophies of our day. He explained how love can be expressed in every moment of existence. Each moment, he said, "one must live, act and love," thereby "finding your identity, your personhood at each moment, in each person."

Mrs Norman Fedewa and Mrs Theodore P. Ryan of Lansing will represent LDCCW at the bishop's press conference at the Jack Tar Hotel today (Thursday).

VICTOR MEIER

Meier becomes Senate candidate

Victor H. Meier of Williams-ton, retired former assistant attorney general, announced he would become a candidate for an office in the State Senate.

Meier, who has had 25 years experience with state government, has served the state in various capacities during his 25 years service with the state.

In becoming a candidate, Meier stated: "I will work to change the law so that the power of the Legislature to vote themselves pay raises is removed. Under the present law the sky is the limit."

MEIER SAID also that he would work to reduce the size of the Legislature. "There is no longer any sense in having a House and a Senate. The two bodies comprise 148 people, and a much smaller group could do the job more efficiently. I will work to reduce the size of the Legislature to less than 1/2 of 148 members. We need only one legislative body."

Meier is a member of the State Bar, Ingham County Bar and the Detroit Bar Assn. He attends the Community Methodist Church of Williams-ton. He is a member of Williams-ton Kiwanis Club and past patron of Williams-ton Order of Eastern Star.

Playground directors for this summer's recreation activities in St. Johns will be Shirley Ashenfelter (left), Diane Evitts and Janice Eldridge. Assisting on the playground and at the park will be Tom Harper (front), George Spicer and Don Hungerford. Other assistants not pictured will be John Salemi and Duane Downing.

1st playground special event day is Friday

Special events days and family nights are again highlights of the St. Johns Recreation Department's program for the playgrounds of the city this summer.

The playground program got under way Monday with registration of youngsters at the Perrin-Palmer and Swegles Street schools and the Meadowview Tot-Lot at Traver and Kibbee streets. Janice Eldridge, Dianne Evitts and Shirley Ashenfelter are the playground directors, and each has one assistant.

THE FRIDAY morning special events get under way this week with a bicycle hike at 9 a.m. at the city park. Children must have completed the third grade to attend the program. All are to meet in the large pavilion.

Special events will run from 9 a.m. to noon each Friday and will take the place of the regular playground activities on that morning. Other Friday special events scheduled for the balance of the summer include: pet show June 24, hobo convention and hike July 8, treasure hunt July 15, talent show July 22, "Indian" pow-wow July 29, puppet show Aug. 5, carnival Aug. 12, free swim Aug. 19, and parade Aug. 26.

WEDNESDAY NIGHTS will be family nights again this year with parents particularly invited so that they can meet the playground directors and see what the playground program consists of. The family nights will be held at the city park pavilion each week, starting last night (Wednesday, June 15).

Only in case of rain will the family nights be postponed, and then they'll be rescheduled for Thursday evening. Whole families are invited to participate, city Recreation Director Ron Dugas commented.

SPECIAL PROGRAMS are planned at the family nights, too. A mock track meet was scheduled the first week, with a backwards night and family pot luck for June 22. An Olympic Night will be held June 29. There'll be no family night July 6 because of the Fourth of July celebration, but things will resume the next week with a senior citizens night (grandfathers, grandmothers) and pot luck. Other events scheduled include Western day, mock wedding, circus, Pirate Day, clothesline art show, and junior olympics for boys and girls.

All children taking part in the regular daytime playground programs must have completed kindergarten or be no older than 16 years of age. The playground directors will be on the playgrounds from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and 1 to 4:30 p.m. on Fridays.

PLAYGROUND EVENTS will be an extensive arts and crafts program, team sports (such as Newcomb, kick ball, volleyball), individual sports (such as tether ball, four square, etc.), story telling, and a junior Olympics. Assisting the playground directors with the activities and with the heavier work connected with the program will be John Salemi, George Spicer and Duane Downing.

Summer recreation program in full swing

St. Johns' city recreation program is in full swing this week with a variety of activities on the playgrounds, at the swimming pool and on the softball fields.

One of the biggest and most popular summer activities is swimming at the Veterans Memorial Swimming Pool at the city park. The pool opened last Tuesday, June 7, with 178 girls and 170 boys paying their way in for an afternoon of swimming.

Phyllis Ochs and Lowell Conklin were the first in line that afternoon, and they were admitted free.

SWIMMING INSTRUCTION classes will start next week, with four morning sessions each day being planned. Registration for the swim classes was to start yesterday (Wednesday) for all children within the city limits, continuing today for all children in the St. Johns School district and finishing up Friday with all other children until the classes are filled.

Recreation and Pool Director Ron Dugas said swimming classes will be held from 9-10, 10-11, 11-12 and 12-1 each morning. There will be two three-week swimming class sessions this summer. All children taking lessons must be 9 years old or older. Classes will be limited to 80 per session for beginners, 20 for intermediate and 30 for advanced swimming.

Lesson fees are $1 for city youngsters, $3 for all others in the school district and $5 for those outside the district.

JUNIOR AND SENIOR life saving lessons will be given from 5 to 6 p.m.

The pool staff includes Scott Munger, Holly Davis, Glenna Huntley, Wilma Huntley, Karen Beach, Diane Bled, Kay Urle and Juanita Sexton. The pool is open for public swimming from 1 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m. daily, including weekends.

Other phases of the city's recreation program include organized softball games and a summer morning baseball league for boys. The adult softball league of seven teams has a first-round schedule of games running through June 29, after which a second round of games will be played.

Teams include St. Johns Cooperative, Becker's, Roadhouse, Dean's, Elsie, Bee's and Benson's.

GIRLS SOFTBALL teams have been organized. They will be traveling teams and will play other communities' teams both home and away. One team of girls aged 11-15 has been organized, and an adult traveling team is also ready to play.

Registration began Tuesday for Pee-Wee, Midget and Pony League baseball teams for intracity competition during mornings at the city park. Regular schedules of games will be drawn up. Recreation Director Dugas said his staff on the baseball fields includes Don Hungerford, Tom Harper and Kurt Knight.

Dugas is seeking a tennis instructor and hopes to set up tennis classes later this summer.

Clinton Theater re-opens

The Clinton Theater, closed for about two years, reopened Friday evening on a weekends-only basis for the summer. The reception the first weekend was excellent, operator Howard Kortess said. This Saturday afternoon picture shows the tail-end of a lineup that was not uncommon throughout the weekend.

THE NEWS in Brief

June has been designated as "Recreation and Park Month" in Michigan by proclamation of Gov. George Romney. The governor said he urged "all citizens to participate in the many recreation programs provided for them and to work together to develop our recreational opportunities."

The Clinton County 4-H Service Club sponsored a two-day canoe trip Saturday and Sunday. Lansing's annual Soap Box Derby will be held June 25, and Lansing Mayor Max E. Murningham has challenged five capital area mayors to race in the oil can Derby.

The St. Johns First Nighters theater group Monday night picked out 12 plays from which a play selection committee will select two to be given by the First Nighters in their next performance season. Tentative plans are

Work on St. Johns' water treatment plant is still being delayed by repairs to a transformer and the continuing statewide strike by painters doing the clarifier and interior of the plant. It'll now be at least July before the plant is operating. Fence posts for the wire mesh fence around the plant were set last week.

In conjunction with the operation of the water plant, St. Johns officials are closely studying Federal-Mogul Corp.'s water use pattern — last year 56 per cent of the city's total consumption — so that a work schedule can be drawn up. Preliminary indications are that at least two operators will be needed.

St. Johns Vice Mayor Rex Sirrine and City Manager Ken Greer recently attended the Regional VI Municipal League meeting in Owosso. One whole session was devoted to sanitary land fill operation problems, a project which St. Johns will be involved in soon.

William Sklaspky's niece, daughter of Hilda Hamilton, played hockey on a high school team with Gordie Howe from Saskatchewan.

Mrs Dorothy Rossow, 5290 Clark Road, is recovering at home following a week's stay in Sparrow Hospital, having undergone major surgery.

Mrs Russell Metcalf of Akron, Ohio, has been visiting her brother-in-law and sister, the Cecil Rhynards of 11660 Watson Road, Bath. While here, she visited her father, Homer Purchus of Petoskey. Mr Purchus is in his late 90's and is in poor health.

Boy Scout Troop No. 67, accompanied by their leaders Van Ripper and Jack Walker, assisted by a group of counselors, held their yearly Achievement Day at the Mason fair grounds the first week in June. Their exhibits included first aid and gun safety. There were 1500 paid attendance during the week. The Scouts' yearly theme is "Follow the Rugged Trail."

Summer playhouse at Maple Rapids to get theater tryout

By JOHN STAFFORD

Michigan may have another popular summer playhouse if a mid-July experiment in Maple Rapids proves successful.

Jack Schnepf, Fulton Schools elementary principal, has leased the old Maple Theater and plans to present the play "A Man Called Peter," July 15, 22 and 23. If attendance indicates enough interest, Schnepf is prepared to go ahead with plans for a regular season next summer.

Schnepf's hopes are based on a trial run in amateur theatrics staged at Fulton High School last winter. In January, Schnepf and an interested group of Fulton Township-Maple Rapids amateur thespians presented the play "A Man Called Peter." Attendance was 325 for the one-night run and prompted a repeat performance in February that attracted 200.

"TO ME THIS indicated an interest in theater by the area," Schnepf says.

The former Fulton speech and drama teacher then hatched the idea of a summer playhouse. The quaintness and central location of Maple Rapids made it a natural site. Availability of an old movie-house helped, too.

Schnepf has leased the Maple Theater from Mrs Erland Gleason. Mrs Gleason's husband died several years ago and the theater has been shut down since.

The annual Maple Rapids Homecoming starts July 15, making that Friday night a natural for staging the first play. "I'm not worried about the crowd that night," claims Schnepf. "I just hope we do well the following weekend."

THE THEATER currently has 200 seats and a large Cinema scope movie screen. There is no stage. About 30 seats will be removed to make room for a temporary stage, leaving capacity at 170.

The theater is in remarkably good condition for its years. Leather-backed seats bear hardly a blemish, and the walls and ceiling were freshly painted before the theater closed. Schnepf plans a modest remodeling program at the entranceway, and a sign, Maple Valley Playhouse, will be hung on the facade.

Talent is being recruited from nearby theatrical groups, including the St. Johns First Nighters, Carson City Civic Players, and from Schnepf's home group, now named the Maple Valley Players.

IF THE VENTURE shows promise, Schnepf plans on showing movies weekends from September through April, with a play every eighth weekend. Plays will be staged every weekend from May through August.

In land and water area combined, Michigan is the largest state east of the Mississippi and ranks tenth in the nation. Its area includes 57,022 square miles of land area and nearly 40,000 square miles of water surface—a total of 96,791 square miles.

Potatoes and cereal grains comprise the overwhelmingly large part of the bulk of the food of the human race.

Jack Schnepf unlocks the door of the old Maple Theater in Maple Rapids in preparation for an experiment this summer in making the old movie house into a summer theater.

High School students talk about cigarettes

Gloria Muckle

The non-smoking Rodney B. Wilson High School students interviewed agreed that the letter from a former student (June Latty Cafaro) and the clipping she included with it would cause them to do some serious thinking before they would try smoking.

The students already smoking admitted the letter did frighten them but none of them have quit smoking as a result of it. Some have, however, cut down as a direct result of hearing the information included in the letter and the clipping.

MRS CAFARO TOLD of beginning her smoking career as a freshman at Rodney B. Wilson. By 16 she said she was a chain smoker.

She told of sneaking behind the bushes at the school with the girls after GAA of some other school event to have a couple of cigarettes.

AFTER SHE AND her husband read the clipping she enclosed with her letter, they both quit smoking.

The clipping Mrs Cafaro enclosed with her letter was written by Mark Waters, a veteran Honolulu Star Bulletin reporter. He wrote it four days before his death from cancer.

Waters told of his 42 year bout with death after meeting his killer, cigarettes, when he was 14.

HE TOLD OF coming down with a bad cough last September which forced him to see a doctor. An x-ray was made and it was found he had cancer. Four days later he was operated on and he quit smoking.

January of this year he came down with what he thought was a cold and found that his time was drawing to an end.

WATERS STATED that heavy smoking (20 or more a day) is just like playing Russian roulette with yourself.

The letter and the clipping were given primarily to the freshmen and sophomore classes.

GLORIA MUCKLE, 207 S. Morton Street, St. Johns, will be a member of next year's sophomore class.

She doesn't smoke and said she was very impressed with the Waters clipping.

"I had thought 'some day when I was older I might try smoking' but after hearing it (the clipping) I will never will try it."

Miss Muckle said she thought the time spent presenting the material to her class was well spent because it may discourage many girls from trying to smoke.

ROXANNE BRADLEY, who will be a junior next year, lives at 106 S. Prospect Street, St. Johns. She heard the letter and Waters' article in her physical education class.

Miss Bradley does not smoke and says she doesn't like to see a teenage girl smoke.

"I will not date a boy who smokes," she said.

KURT HILDORF of 410 Mead-owview Drive, St. Johns, doesn't smoke.

The information he heard in class more or less confirmed his own plans not to smoke at all, he said.

THOMAS KEHR of 3156 E. M-21, St. Johns, will be a member of the junior class next year. "It made good sense," he said. He also added that he wasn't planning to try smoking.

TED LOOMIS of 206 N. Swegles, St. Johns, will be a junior at Rodney B. Wilson High School next year.

He said the clipping and the letter were both good but that the clipping had more of an effect on him.

"It was probably because I didn't know the woman (Mrs Cafaro) that the clipping had more of an effect on me," Loomis said. "It scared me and I still think about," he said.

He heard it in his Spanish and physical education classes.

JANE WIEBER will be a member of the sophomore class at Rodney B. Wilson next year. She lives at 405 E. Buchanan Street, St. Johns.

Miss Wieber doesn't smoke. "The thing that impressed me the most was that he (Waters) could write his own obituary in the hopes that others might benefit from it," she said.

A JUNIOR, who smokes, said he thought the letter and the clipping were both good but they didn't make him want to quit smoking.

He said he doesn't smoke in front of his parents and has been smoking for about a year.

Another smoker, who will be a senior next year, said he has been smoking for about two years. He is sure his parents suspect that he smokes but they have never caught him smoking.

THE LETTER MADE the most impression on him because he said he knew the girl (Mrs Cafaro) through his sister.

He said he though smoking was a matter of personal choice and as far as he was concerned smoking was okay as long as a person did it on his own and not because he was pushed into it by his friends.

ANOTHER STUDENT said he couldn't understand how any thinking individual could smoke.

"A person wouldn't willingly take poison but that is just what they are doing when they smoke," he said.

Milk in different forms stretch budget

by HELEN B. MEACH Extension Home Economist

Operating on a tight food budget? Well, then don't scratch milk off your shopping list. Instead, look for ways to buy milk more cheaply.

You can save by carrying your own supply of milk from the store instead of having it delivered. To save in this way, plan ahead for the days when the family are home for all their meals, or when the menus you have planned, call for extra milk.

CHECK POSSIBLE discounts for your milk buying. Sometimes you can get a discount by ordering more milk at one time. Then price large containers. Milk in the two quart size or the comparatively new gallon container is often a better buy than the quart or 1/2 gallon size. You may say that the savings is small, only cents on each unit, but if yours is a growing family, your saving in cents adds up fast when you give them the daily recommended allowance of three to four cups of milk.

How long since you have priced the different forms of milk? As a rule, plain fluid skim milk, buttermilk and canned evaporated milk are cheaper than fresh whole milk. A still greater bargain is nonfat dry milk, which can be turned into reconstituted fluid skim milk at less than half the cost of fresh skim milk. Plain skim milk—fluid or dry—and buttermilk provide all of the many nutrients of whole milk, except for fat and vitamins A and D.

HOW MUCH milk should you buy? Whether your family is young or old, they do need milk, but how much you supply depends on the age of the family members. Children under nine years need two to three cups daily; children nine to twelve, three or more; teenagers, four or more; adults of all ages, two or more cups.

We measure the recommended allowances in cups so naturally we think first of drinking this amount of milk. Just use your imagination because there's many a way to get milk into meals. For more milk at breakfast, for example, pour hot milk over poached eggs on toast. Use milk instead of water when you cook cereals. Directions for cooking cereals in milk are usually given on the package.

YOU CAN STEP up milk value in many foods that contain fluid milk by adding nonfat or whole dry milk. Try this when preparing soups, mashed potatoes, cereals, and other cooked foods. If you add four tablespoons of dry milk to each cup of fluid milk, you make the food about twice as rich in milk value as it is when fluid milk alone is used.

Puddings and pie fillings made with evaporated milk will carry more milk into meals if two or more parts evaporated milk are added to one part of water instead of the usual 1-to-1 proportion.

GOOD DRINKS made with milk fit into meals and into between-meal and end-of-day snacks. Cold, flavored beverages include egg-nogs; and milkshakes flavored with chocolate, vanilla, spices, molasses, maple or banana, strawberry, and other fruit purees.

If there's need to keep calories low, make flavored beverages with skim milk—fresh, dry, or evaporated.

FOR SOMETHING HOT, make cocoa with milk; or serve coffee European style, pouring hot milk and hot coffee together into the cup.

For additional and up-to-date information on buying and using milk for your family, write or call the Cooperative Extension Service, Courthouse, St. Johns, 224-3288. Ask for bulletin called A GUIDE TO THE WORLD OF MILK. They are available upon request at no cost to you.

Local soldier gets down to brass tacks in basic training

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Pvt Trent Taylor, son of Mr and Mrs Landon E. Taylor of 6252 W. Walker Road, St. Johns, is in the Army and now training for what he believes will be duty in Viet Nam. This is the second of a series of articles he will be writing for the Clinton County News, covering his experiences in basic training, advanced training and (we hope not) combat!)

By PVT TRENT TAYLOR of St. Johns

Your fourth week of basic military training seems to be the most important to a BCT. This is when you start your firing with your M-14 rifle. Your fourth week is spent at your zeroing range. This is a 25-meter range where you fire your weapon in three rounds to a shot group. The tighter your shot group is the better your zero is. You set your weapon for a 250-meter battle sights.

This is also the week you start your road marches. The ranges are usually a good two or three miles from your company area. And if you run late on time you double-time that is what we call "run."

After that week and your weapon is zeroed, you head for your 300-meter ranges. This is where you practice fire at targets at 75 meters, 150 meters, 250 meters. Here you have to learn to get a good sight picture as well as side alignment.

ALSO YOU LEARN how to fire upon a target at different points so you hit your target. An example of this is from 50 to 200 meters you shot at center bottom of the target, at 250 dead center of mass and at 300 at shoulder height.

The reason for this is you are firing with a 250-meter battle sight. If you fire directly at a 75-meter target you will shoot over the top of the target. If you shoot at a 300-meter target you would hit in the dirt in front of the target.

You spend a whole week out on the range. Then the big week comes for a BCT.

seven weeks. They are military justice, military courting, guard duty, first aid plus CBR, hand-to-hand, bayonet, drill and ceremony, and individual tactical training. These are the eight stations you must pass. The most you can get is 69 points, and the lowest is 48 points to pass.

After this you are going down hill. All you have to do your eighth week is clean your weapon and turn it in. Then you have to clean all your field equipment and turn them in. The day before graduation you pack all your clothes and get ready to go home for a two-week leave.

Then the day of graduation comes. You stand at parade rest for 35 minutes while the battallon commander passes out the rewards and trophies. After this the whole auditorium turns into a big roar because you have finished your basic training.

NEXT WEEK: Advanced Individual Training.

'Drinking' us dry
 The salt cedar tree, common in the Southwest, creates a large water-waste problem. Its roots extend to the water table and the tree "breathes" ground water into the air through its leaves. The U. S. Geological Survey says salt cedars transfer 20 trillion gallons of water to the atmosphere each year, accounting for a large loss of usable water.

What would you do if you discovered fire in your home right now? The National Fire Protection Association says: Plan ahead for fire emergencies. Make sure you — and your family — know two ways out of every room. Remember, the first rule in case of fire is to get everybody out of the house — fast.

A look back at the Soap Box Derby

Rolling smoothly off the top of Clinton Avenue, three soap box cars, with drivers crouched low, approach the corner of Clinton and Higham in the three-block race for the finish line. Men in white helmets are finish line officials. It was a perfect afternoon for racing under partly cloudy skies and with a light breeze helping the cars along.

Miss St. Johns, Dorothy Evitts, hands a bouquet of roses to the new Soap Box Derby queen, Julie Pung, 11, daughter of Mrs Gladys Pung of 505 Church Street, after the name of the queen was announced. Runnersup were Anita Rositas (between the two queens), Kelly Spicer, Virginia DeLong and Mary Ellen Albers. Second from the left is last year's Soap Box Derby queen, Gloria Muckle. The new queen and her court later rode in the parade on the Jaycees' Soap Box Derby float (below).

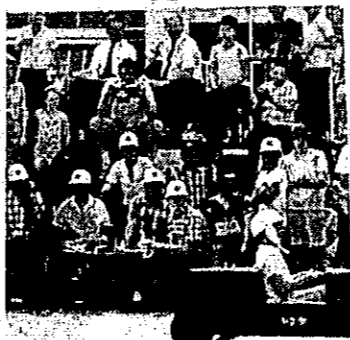

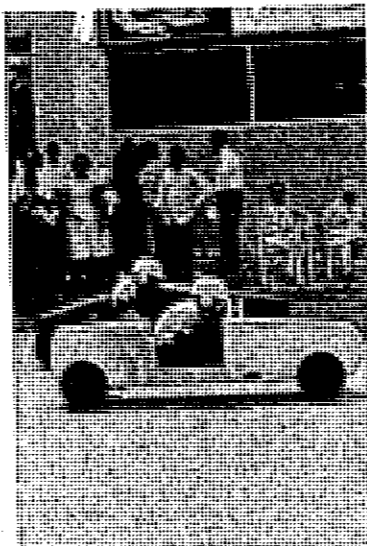

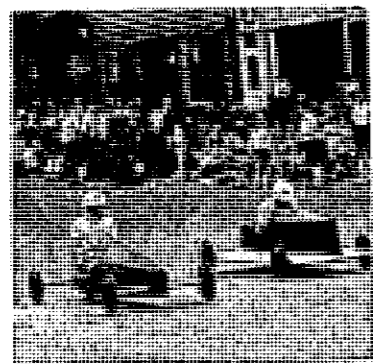

Bernard Feldpausch, Chevrolet dealership director for the Soap Box, was presented with a surprise trophy Sunday night by Derby Director Bill McCarthy in recognition of Feldpausch's efforts in making the derby successful for four years. Mrs Feldpausch looks on at left.

This is the championship heat of Sunday's Soap Box Derby, with Dan Pline of Westphalia holding about a car-length lead as they near the finish line. Dan defeated a fellow Westphalian, John Bengel.

Soap Box Derby winner Dan Pline of Westphalia poses with his parents, Mr and Mrs Gus Pline, with trophies and prizes awarded him at the awards luncheon Sunday evening. Dan holds his trophy and a $500 savings bond; Mrs Pline has a permanent John Lynam Memorial Trophy plaque for Dan, while Mr Pline holds the Lynam traveling trophy.

Sometimes the brakes didn't work on cars, but the bales of hay placed well beyond the finish line stopped most of the cars. This young driver grimaces as his car rolls into the hay. The older fellow behind him looks like he may be on a skate board, but he wasn't.

Dan Pline of Westphalia and his soap Box Derby car "Firefly" are literally engulfed by well-wishing derby boys as the final heat was concluded Sunday afternoon.

Feeling chilly?

The first ice sheets of the Great Ice Age began to move about 1.5 million years ago and the age was marked by at least four major advances and retreats. The most recent ice age reached its climax, reports the U.S. Geological Survey, about 50,000 years ago. Ice covered much of northern Europe, all of Canada and most of the northern half of the U.S., with packs often a mile and more thick. This ice did not leave the U.S. until about 10,000 years ago.

The Saginaw river is Michigan's longest.

With its tributaries it is 512 miles in length. The Menominee river is second in length, 485 miles, and the Grand river is third, 482 miles.

I'm missing from this picture. I belong right between the subjects. For the old gentleman on the right is my father . . . and the young gentleman on the left is my son. But someone had to snap the picture.
It was taken on a Sunday afternoon. Earlier the three of us had walked to church. And Grandpa — (you know how you come to call your own father "grandpa" after you have a son) — well, Grandpa put his hand on Jimmy's shoulder.
"You know, Jimmy," he said, "I've been walking to church down this street ever since it was a cowpath. And I used to think real proud-like, when I walked your father to church, that the Lord never gave me a bigger job to do than raise my son a Christian. But I feel just as proud walkin' by you — like all my important work isn't done yet!"
Understand why I wanted this picture? And why I call it "Unfinished Business?"

Church Chuckles by CARTWRIGHT

Here's how new Duplain Church of Christ will look from south side
Members approve new $115,000 Duplain Church

DUPLAIN - The Duplain Church of Christ congregation has voted to proceed with plans for a new $115,000 church, to be located north across Colony Road from the present 96-year old church building.

Work is expected to start within a month.

The total estimated cost of $115,000 includes, among other things, the heating, lighting, plumbing, pulpit furniture, pews, carpeting of the entire auditorium and chancel, vinyl tile on the foyer, halls and other rooms, well and septic tank, car port and a cement slab in front of each entrance.

THE NEW BUILDING will be 92 feet long across the front, 95 feet deep along one side and 77 feet deep along the sanctuary part of the building.

The auditorium itself will be 43 by 77, compared to the 30 by 50 size of the present church auditorium. Seating capacity will be double the present 120 in the auditorium.

In addition, the new building will provide for a 16 by 43-foot foyer, six classrooms with space in other parts of the church for a total of 14 classes. By comparison the present church has an 8 by 8 foyer and three classrooms with space available for 11 classes.

The kitchens of the two buildings are practically the same in square footage.

THE NEW STRUCTURE will be situated on a three-acre tract of land purchased in 1964. The building committee for the new church has consisted of Luman Hall, Duane Bunce and the Rev.

Ralph Woodard, pastor of the 140-member church. Jack Schwark was also instrumental as a chairman of the church board of trustees, as well as Mrs. Robert Risley, Franchon Goodrich, Roy Thornton, Jack Hawes and Oren Goodrich.

The Duplain Church of Christ had its beginning in the Rowell School house in 1868 or 1869. In 1870 the small congregation began the construction of the present building and moved into it in 1871. In 1903, 32 years later, the building was raised and the basement put in. This served well until a few years ago when the attendance began to tax the capacity of the building.

Two possibilities were studied by various study committees, adding to the present building or constructing a new church. It was found that timbers in the north end of the building were well rotted out and that repairs, along with the cost of additions to handle the congregation, would cost nearly as much as that of a new building.

THE FINAL decision of the congregation, upon the recommendation of the building committee, was to construct a new building which would adequately house the Bible school and church and offer space for future expansion. On May 21 the congregation voted to accept the preliminary drawings and proceed with the detailed plans.

The Wolverine Shoe & Tanning Corporation of Rockford, with plants in six Michigan communities, is one of the nation's leading producers of footwear.

Three of America's billion-dollar industrial corporations and 16 of its 100-million-dollar businesses are headquartered in Michigan.

Road Commission Weekly Report

The Board of Clinton County Road Commissioners will hold their regular meeting next Monday, June 20.

The board will open bids for the processing of 30,000 yards of gravel at 2 locations.

Rain and winds last week and early this week interrupted the dust control program, the black-top program and the roadside mowing. A late start has put the mowing behind schedule.

The blacktop crews are moving into DeWitt Township this week on Heribson and DeWitt roads.

The dustmaster trucks are working in DeWitt, Victor and Riley townships with Water town complete, and Eagle being made ready.

The spreaders are also doing various stretches in other parts of the county as more people come in on the sharing program.

The sign crews had their usual troubles at High School graduation time, but not as extensive this year as in the past. We have never been able to account for any connection between high school graduation and the tearing down of road signs, but each year the various graduating classes cost the county several hundreds of dollars in signs.

The deck beams were placed at the Island Road bridge at Elsie last week.

'Bye, bye blackbird' hoped for

There's a farmers' society down near Fremont, Ohio, called "Bye, Bye, Blackbird" which is being watched closely by Michigan farmers. It's dedicated to halting the population explosion in blackbirds.

Blackbirds are getting in the hair of Michigan growers who strive to keep supermarket shelves filled with good things to eat. And many of these growers are true bird lovers.

"You can just carry a good thing too far," one Monroe County corn grower said recently. Hordes of blackbirds, hundreds of thousands in a flock at times, descend upon Michigan fields to feast. One quick lurch for a greedy flock may wipe out a year's effort and investment for a helpless farmer.

THE WHOLE world is excited about human population control, but bird controls are being neglected, said C. A. Boyer, chief of the Michigan Department of Agriculture's Plant Industry Division. Along with farmers, Boyer recommends research aimed at keeping birds from eating out of house and home. The troublesome flocks are made up of grackles, starlings, cowbirds and red-winged blackbirds.

The Michigan Department of Agriculture, the US Department of Agriculture, the Department of Conservation, Farm Bureau and other farmers' groups, the Cooperative Extension Service and others are concerned. The US Fish and Wildlife Service has assigned a biologist, Dick Smith, to this work in Michigan and Ohio.

PROBLEM AREAS in Michigan are concentrated near the Monroe and Saginaw marshes, which offer nesting cover for blackbirds. The Grand River basin and the western Michigan fruit belt are also hard hit—often by migratory flocks as well as the locals.

According to biologist Smith, landowners in Ohio have invited gunners for blackbird shoots. Generally, though, these make little dent in the population.

"In Asia and Italy, blackbirds are considered a delicacy," said Smith when asked about the edibility of four-and-twenty blackbirds baked into a pie. While grackles, cowbirds and red-winged blackbirds are protected under the migratory bird laws, they may legally be eaten if killed while causing crop damage, he added.

Not everything

Money isn't everything. Fewer than half of the graduating men at Rochester University entering industry during the period 1961-65 accepted the job that paid the most money. This was also true of students receiving advanced degrees. Liberal arts graduates showed the least interest in monetary rewards: Only about one in four chose the job that paid the most. The figures seem to indicate that factors other than starting salary are more influential when it comes to deciding which offer to accept.

Late planting cut profits?

Not yet, but new delays could be costly

Cool, wet weather has put area farmers at least 10 days behind schedule in getting this year's corn crop in the ground. The state crop reporting service estimates that the state's corn producers had about 20 per cent less corn planted by May 27 compared to the same date last year. Some farmers were much further behind than this average figure, and many of the state's corn acres are still unplanted.

Will this delay cut yields and profits? Here's what several experts in corn production think about prospects;

"I don't believe potential yields have been hurt too much as yet," says Lewis R. Riba, manager, corn breeding department, Northrup, King & Co. "It all depends on what kind of weather we get from here on out. If farmers can wrap up planting quickly, there's still enough growing time for most full-season hybrids.

"LATE PLANTED CORN shouldn't face much of a challenge in catching up with the earlier planted corn," says Riba, "because the cool soil temperatures during the wet spell probably kept seed from germinating."

Corn authorities agree on one problem with late planted corn: It puts a real premium on good management practices.

Adequate fertilization is even more important now for corn still to be planted, not only in the proper amount, but the proper form, according to Alfred F. Otte, manager of the Monsanto Agricultural Center at Cheshaning. "Using a chemical fertilizer that's quickly available to seedlings will help make up for some lost time," he says.

THE COLD, WET spring is posing a weed problem, too, Otte points out. "Germination of grasses and weeds was delayed, but this is occurring quickly with the coming of warm, dry weather. Some farmers might think they aren't going to have a problem because the first flush of grass hasn't appeared, but grassy weeds are going to pop through almost overnight now that the weather's improved."

Otte added that farmers who aren't using herbicides are likely to be doing some early cultivating, because weeds will cover some of the ground even before the corn germinates. For that reason, herbicide applications will pay even bigger dividends on late planted row crops, since cultivation time has been decreased.

"Late corn germination is going to present the problem of having to cultivate both beans and corn about the same time," he says. "Here again, chemical weed control can eliminate this bind."

—you're not getting the full benefit from your investment," he explains. "But, even worse, applying fertilizer in the wrong place is like putting your tractor fuel in the radiator. Being sure that the fertilizer is placed properly in relation to the seed can produce the kind of results modern planters are designed to deliver."

If good weather allows farmers to complete planting in short order, the experts say, the only real concern would be an early fall. "A late spring combined with an early fall could catch some late varieties unprepared," explains the International Harvester representative. "In that case, drying equipment could take on added importance."

Swine project teaches 4-H's responsibility

Promises of a financial profit on a relatively small investment are leading many boys and girls into the 4-H swine program.

But, with these profits come responsibilities. Over 400 4-H'ers who are now enrolled in the swine project, supervised by chores require careful attention. The swine project, supervised by the MSU Cooperative Extension Service, stresses record-keeping which helps 4-H'ers analyze their progress.

The top swine member in each state will be a delegate to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago next fall—and maybe a winner of one of the scholarships awarded to the swine program winners.

Facts point to farm survival from fallout

What does civil defense mean to you? Does it build up images of devastation, disease, and despair? Have you ignored information on civil defense because these images present a hopeless cause?

If so, you have short-changed yourselves and your families. Most of the information now available on rural civil defense points to the positive—"You can survive."

"Orville L. Freeman, secretary of agriculture, has called on the Cooperative Extension Service to lead and coordinate an educational program to inform rural people of the need of protection and give them the facts they need to survive a possible enemy attack and continue vital food production," stated Earl Haas, county extension agent.

THE COOPERATIVE Extension Service has undertaken this rural defense job and can help you. In its rural defense program, extension cooperates with federal, state, and local civil defense officials, USDA defense boards, and other agencies and organizations, Haas stated. The emphasis is on creating awareness, giving the facts and local alternatives, and on stimulating rural people to make the best possible preparedness plans. Many people are not yet fully aware of the dangers of fallout or that they could survive a possible nuclear attack, says Haas. Others are frightened and don't understand the nature of the danger or what to do.

PLANNING FOR tornadoes, floods, fires, and other emergencies is familiar to rural people. Many have storm cellars, vegetable storage rooms, underground silos, and other buildings to which they could add more fallout protection.

Many of the facts are available from publications and other materials available from the Clinton extension office. Other material is available from the USDA Defense Board and local civil defense officials.

Some of the basic publications are: Radioactive Fallout on the Farm; Your Livestock Can Survive Fallout; Recommended Two-Week Food Supply; Family Food Stockpile for Survival; Soils, Crops, and Fallout.

New farm wheat allotments may be made for '67 crop

A new farm wheat allotment may be established for the 1967 crop wheat for farms that did not have a 1966 allotment and meet eligibility requirements.

A 1967 wheat allotment will automatically be established for all farms that had a wheat allotment established for 1966.

To be eligible for a new farm allotment, the operator must expect to receive 50 per cent or more of his income from the production of agricultural commodities on the farm; neither the owner nor the operator may have an interest in any other farm which has a 1967 wheat allotment; and the person making application must have had at least two years experience in the last five years in producing wheat.

APPLICATIONS FOR a new farm allotment must be filed in the county office on or before June 30, 1966. Any interested producer who can meet these requirements should contact the county office before the final date for filing an application.

We are offering corn for sale from our Elsie bin site today (Thursday) Bids must be in our office by 3:30 p.m. on the 16th. Low bid accepted on corn sold June 2 was $1.28.

It's time again to drench sheep

By this time of the year sheep have been on pasture several weeks and have had plenty of time to pick up any little parasites that might have been lurking nearby.

Parasites are small organisms that live on or in another organism. Parasites can cause great losses and are one of the great economic factors in sheep production.

Parasites can be controlled by drenching all sheep between June 15 and July 1, using fine particle phenothiazine, thiabendazole or a product such as Teniazine. Additional information concerning flock protection from parasites may be obtained by contacting your Clinton County extension office at St. Johns.

4H CLUB NEWS

By ALVIN ROOT, Extension 4-H Agent in Clinton County

I certainly want to encourage our 4-H food project members, leaders, mothers and 4-H Junior leaders to attend the big 4-H FOODS FROLIC set for Thursday, June 16, at Smith Hall. Our home economist, Helen Meach, tells me that things will get underway with registration at 1:15 p.m. The program will start at 1:30 p.m. Among other things, fish will be featured, and from what I hear about the program, it sounds like a real interesting and educational experience. Don't miss this one gang, "its the most."

THE CLINTON County 4-H Council will meet again at the Ray Peck home on Monday evening, June 20. Your 4-H Club leaders are encouraged to let their district council representative know of things they wish to have considered.

Representing the 4-H program from the different districts are: Northeast, Mrs Roy Davis; Mrs Ray Peck, Mrs Laurence Helbeck; northwest, Mrs Charles Hazle, Leonard Koenigsnecht, E. J. Bottom; southeast, George Hazle, Mrs Russell Sibley, Stanley Baird; southwest, Mrs Karl Schaefer, Mrs William Biergans and Mrs Martin Roesch.

Officers are president, George Hazle, R-5, St. Johns; vice president, Leonard Koenigsnecht, R-2, St. Johns; secretary-treasurer, Mrs Martin Roesch, R-1, Eagle. The County Service Club representative is Dennis Koenigsnecht, R-2, St. Johns.

ONCE IN A WHILE it's a good idea to take a look at some of the characteristics of boys and girls at their different age levels. We find that young people age 9-12, grade 4 to 7, live in a neighborhood world and are loyal to it. This fact can be significant to 4-H leaders in emphasizing neighborhood programming. We know, too, that their vacation periods are relatively free and that they are not too busy, except at play. They want to belong to a little group, probably not co-educational. They seem to like symbols and regalia and accept rules and regulations well. They also seem to be eager, enthusiastic and easily motivated. They are leaning to make choices at this age.

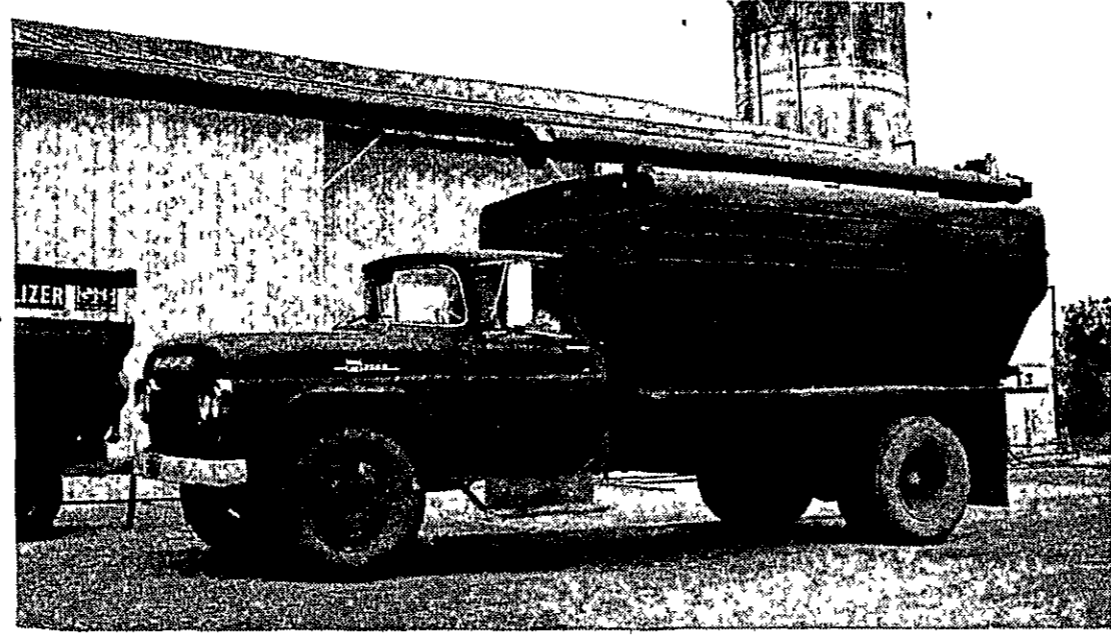

This age group generally accepts direction and leadership blindly and generally have little leadership ability. They lack foresight and want to be self-reliant. A factor that seems real important in club programs is that their interest span is short. They need work in short pieces and project lessons should be kept short. Last, but not least, they want to earn spending money. They certainly resemble adults on this score. I guess we all want to do that.

Low volume spray saves $3 million in beetle control

Agricultural research is helping to thwart the cereal leaf beetle. And in the process, it is saving about $3 million a year in spray costs.

In 1964, it cost $4.70 to spray Michigan's grain crop for protection against the cereal leaf beetle. In 1966, that cost had been reduced to 24 cents per acre, thanks to research conducted by Michigan State University Agricultural Experiment Station scientists.

In two years (1964 and 1965), $190,000 was spent on agricultural research aimed at developing improved spray methods. The result was ultra low volume spraying—at a rate of about 4 ounces of undiluted pesticide (melathion) per acre—which is more economical and more effective. Low volume use of pesticides is not harmful to man, domestic or wild animals or fish.

Balanced dairy farm tour feature

ALTO—Fifteen years of balanced, planned growth made through efficient management will be exhibited at the Irvin Rodgers dairy farm at the 18th State Farm Management Tour, near here on Wednesday, July 20.

As many as 1,500 to 2,000 farmers from throughout the state may attend the state-wide event. Starting with 18 purchased heifer calves and 107 acres of land in 1950, the southeast Kent county dairyman now has 150 head of dairy animals—72 of them in the milking herd—on his farm now 357 acres in size.

IN THE PAST ten years, both milk production per cow and crop production per acre has made big increases on the farm at 10581 76th Street. The herd milk production average is near 14,000 lbs.

Rodgers' farm is the only one of four being visited on the Farm Management Tour that has dairy animals.

Rodgers, 43, who has a wife, Flora, and two daughters Marcia 14, and Lavonda 8, expanded the operation into a two-man farm with a hired man in 1960, so the family could have some "time off to enjoy life." And it was good that he made that decision. For a back injury that year necessitated an operation for Rodgers that prevented him from doing much of the dairy farm work for some time.

A native of Tennessee, Rodgers came with his family to the Caladonia area in 1939 when in high school. After finishing high school he farmed with his family until 1948 when he went to work for a farm machinery dealer.

FROM HIS EARNINGS he bought his first land and 18 dairy calves in 1950 and in 1953 started milking cows and left his town job.

Expansion was gradual and improvements came as Rodgers could afford them. Since 1956 he has added a pole loafing barn for the cows, built on to the original silo, added another silo, constructed two corn cribs, and added to the pole barn. In 1964 he constructed a modern, double-4 herringbone milking parlor with bulk tank and automatic feeding.

An active soil conservation district director, Rodgers has followed recommended practices from both the Soil Conservation Service and the Kent County extension staff. He is now a township supervisor and active Farm Bureau member. The Rodgers family attend the Methodist church.

Need more wildlife planters

Do rabbits, pheasants and deer run for cover on your farm? Or is the cover—and the wildlife, too, all on the neighbor's land? Do ducks nest on your pond, or are they on your neighbor's pond?

"Modern game management and good farming practices go hand in hand," says Verne M. Bathurst, State Conservator of the Soil Conservation Service. "Conservation farming aids wildlife even when no thought is given to its effects. However, it's better to provide for wildlife on purpose than to do it accidentally."

POINTING OUT the abundance of technical help available from wildlife biologists and other conservationists serving landowners in the Clinton County Soil Conservation District, Bathurst urged farm and city folk alike to give attention to wildlife need in this year's farming and landscaping.

"When we're thinking about game birds, mammals, and fish farm land owners are in the most favorable position to influence their numbers," Bathurst said. "Those who practice 'clean farming' are doing harm to wildlife and often to the soil itself. But folks who live in the cities and suburbs also have a responsibility to provide the right kind of food, shelter, and water for the most desirable mammals and song birds."

The best job of wildlife production comes from cooperation, Bathurst explained. He pointed out the cumulative effect of practices applied on adjacent farms and city lots—the complimentary effect of guidance from the university, state, and USDA's Soil Conservation Service biologists. Work Unit Conservationist Lloyd B. Campbell at St. Johns ties recommendations of the biologists into a sustained use plan for the land, taking into account other goals of the landowner, he added.

"THE CONSERVATION plan provides an orderly approach for any farm owner or operator who would like to combine the best wildlife practices with the best farming practices," said Robert Moore, chairman of the Clinton County Soil Conservation District. "Besides the automatic benefits from such practices as woodland thinning, and pasture planting, there are special opportunities in odd areas and idle acres. Examples are woodlots, marshes, fence rows, irregular bits of land, stream banks, and pond or lake borders."

According to Work Unit Conservationist Campbell, nearly all soil and water conservation plans he has helped with the past year have included practices beneficial to wildlife. Most progress, though, has been in fishpond construction, tree planting and leaving patches of unharvested grain for winter food.

INFORMATION ON wildlife practices and sources of planting stock such as shrubs and trees can be obtained from any director of the Clinton County Soil Conservation District or from technicians of the St. Johns Soil Conservation Service office, 100 S. Ottawa Street.

When choosing gladiolus bulbs, Michigan State University plant specialists say to pick those that are bright and clean. Dull, dark husks indicate old bulbs which are likely to carry disease. Small ones are usually healthier than the larger ones, also, the specialists say.

ASC PROGRAM

Compliance for 1966 wheat and feed grain programs

W. M. SMITH
County ASC Manager

There seems to be some misunderstanding regarding certification of compliance. We have mailed letters to participating producers to come to the ASCS county office and report their acreage of wheat. To date, less than one-third have reported. Participating producers must come to our office to certify for wheat by June 15, and by July 15 for feed grains.

To help producers report their acreage we have prepared aerial photocopies of the area in which their farm is located. On the photocopy, we have outlined their farm and entered field acreages where available, these field acreages will be considered correct for the current year unless the field boundary differs from the boundary lines shown.

REMEMBER, A FARM reporter will not visit your farm to measure acreages as in the past; instead you report the acreages.

Farm records termed necessity

The average farmer is honest, ambitious but hates to spend time at a desk keeping records. This, says William Rupp, Grand Rapids banker and former county agricultural agent, must change.

"Bankers and loan agencies are asking farmers for good records so they can make sound loans," Rupp told an Agricultural Bankers' clinic recently at Michigan State University.

Many successful farmers spend spare time in winter months developing credit statements that "mean something" to major creditors, Rupp reported.

Michigan is an industrial giant, ranking 2nd among the 14 leading industrial states in productivity as measured by value added per employe and ranking third by value added per man hour.

After acreage reports are obtained, acreages will be measured on at least one out of four farms, selected at random. If this measured acreage is not within the farm acreage limitation, there will be no opportunity to adjust acreage to comply with the program.

Participating producers must not exceed the wheat allotment or feed grain base on any other farm in which they have an interest. Remember that you cannot harvest any crops from your diverted acreage, this includes no grazing between March 31 and Oct. 1.

OUR OFFICE HOURS are from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. On Saturday, June 11, the office will be open from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. to accommodate producers who cannot come in during the week.

The next sale of CCC grain storage structures will be Thursday, June 30 at Battle Creek bin site in Calhoun County. Forty-three round bins will be sold at that time, along with other miscellaneous equipment. These bins are dismantled and sold one at a time to give everyone present an opportunity to bid.

Legislators' shenanigans leave some doubt of worth

Our State legislators in Lansing have come upon some adverse publicity lately that should make the people of Michigan have some second thoughts.

Last week the house sneaked through a pay raise for themselves by tucking it away in another bill. A while ago a couple of legislators were cited for failure to pay their income taxes. There is another legislator who has been picked up for driving under the influence twice in the past few months, while another who did not have any automobile insurance did not pay his $35 to the state. Another legislator just recently was booked on a morals charge.

We realize that our legislators are only human, but we do think that when a man is elected to an office of this stature that he should rise above the average.

To our young people, our legislators are important men who enact the laws by which we govern our lives. When these men do the things mentioned above they not only degrade themselves, but the whole assembly.

We expect our children and fellowmen to obey the laws. But try to explain to some why they should obey, when those who pass our laws seem to think that they can operate outside the law.

Even before this last attempt to raise their pay, the legislators of the State of Michigan were the highest paid in the nation. One legislator made the comment that they were worth every penny of it. This may be true, but not if they continue to act as they do. Pay raises have been passed in the past without sneaking them through.

We believe the time has come to take a good look at our elected officials to see if they are deserving of our vote and our tax dollars.

The worm turns . . . and the hair grows longer

It has been interesting, over the years, to watch the change of the dress and appearance of people.

Not too long ago women decided that they were to be bosses of the family (and what man who wants to continue to live in a happy home will deny this) and came up with the idea of dressing in man's attire. The dress gave way to the blue jeans, which in turn have been cast aside for the tighter-fitting variety called stretch pants. All this has been taken in stride by the masculine gender of the race and today little is thought of a woman dressed in pants, that she looks like she was poured into, and a man's shirt.

If women want to look like men it would appear this is their privilege as this is still a free nation.

Now comes another concept in appearance. This time it's the men with their elongated (or lack of) haircuts.

During the summer months two humans (it would be difficult to call them anything else) were observed in the Beulah business section. Both had long wavy hair and wore practically the same dress, a version of trousers and a sport shirt. After several good looks the light dawned that one was a young man and the other was a young woman. From all appearances the fellow had taken as much time to "set" his hair as his companion and they almost looked like sisters.

Fellows with long hair are creating quite a stir in our schools and colleges and many times they are ordered to get a hair cut or leave the school.

Judging from the comments made by the older 'set . . . it would be nice to go back to the days when the gals wore dresses and looked like gals (bless 'em) and the fellows cut their hair and looked like fellows (not sheep dogs).

Season for Safety

from the HOPPER

By STEVE HOPKO

Here at the news we have a front row seat whenever the St. Johns fire siren starts wailing. For when the siren takes off we can see the St. Johns volunteer firemen as they race to the fire hall.

When this siren takes off it is also the signal for "rink" to grab his camera, and its "look out below" as he takes off across the street.

THERE ARE many comments made almost every time the siren blows about how the volunteer firemen race to the fire hall.

The other day shortly after the siren had blown, we at the news received a phone call. Someone had called to inform us that the fire was a car smoking on the street, and in answer to this alarm there were 3 trucks and 7 firemen.

OUR VOLUNTEER firemen can be quite humorous at times because overall they are a great bunch of guys, dedicated to doing what they can to help those who have a fire.

Many times we hear about how fast they drive to get to the firehouse to get their trucks. But as yet, I've never heard a man whose house was on fire say that they drove too fast. Then the phone call we had about 3 trucks and 7 men at a small car fire. This is humorous, but think of it in this fashion.

WHEN THE FIRE siren blows our volunteer firemen have no idea as to where the fire is, or what is burning, or to what extent. But being dedicated men they do not question themselves when the siren blows. Their first and only thoughts are that somewhere, someone is in need of their services as fast as it is possible for them to get there.

No matter what the weather, rain, snow, sleet or what have you our volunteer department makes the effort. I can remember one very cold winter night when I was at the office late and the fire siren blew. Watching from the window I was treated to the sight of one volunteer racing from his car in slippers, pants and t-shirt. A humorous sight indeed, but how many of the rest of us would have risen from our warm beds on a cold night and raced out to put out a fire. I'll admit that in situations like this I belong to the majority who roll over and say, "what a heck of a night for a fire."

SO IT IS MY opinion that the volunteer firemen of the St. Johns be saluted for their dedication to their job. They must be dedicated because I know the pay is not commensurate with the risk they take.

We in St. Johns have probably the best volunteer department in the state and I believe that they deserve credit where credit is do.

THEY MAKE a lot of noise, they may drive a little too fast, but they never hesitate to enter a burning house to get at the source of the fire, or to help someone out.

They are brave men who do a job that many of us 'shun'. So to our firemen I say: Well done and thank God we have such as you to protect our homes and businesses when fire threatens.

to borrow from, but not well enough to lend to.

Secretary to office manager: "I've taken all the criticism of my work that I'm going to take! How do you spell 'quit!'?"

Sign on a reducing salon: "Come in and shoo the fat."

Asked about his bride's cooking the sergeant replied, "Let's put it this way—I'm the only guy on the base who packs a lunch to go home."

We heard one the other day about a scientist who has been trying to make a nourishing food out of wood fiber. He isn't getting rich, but he's eating high on the log.

As a general rule, there is too much week left over at the end of the money.

RAMBLIN' with Rink

By LOWELL G. RINKER

My mother-in-law is a forward-looking person who began planning for last Thursday night eight years ago. It was shortly after I began dating her daughter. She may even have been planning our marriage at that time.

Anyway, I was away at college in Peoria, Ill., the year that I met her on spring vacation. During that first summer I worked at the Muskegon Chronicle and so was away most of the summer weeks, too.

Looking ahead, my mother-in-law to-be insisted on Ann saving all the news stories that carried my byline. During the next two years I was away at Bradley, there was a lot of correspondence between us, and although Ann saved all the letters, her mother made sure she also saved a little Rinker innovation that appeared on the envelopes.

THE BRADLEY University athletic teams are called the Braves, and at the University Book Store there were numerous "Brave" items for sale. One was a packet of envelope stickers of a scowling Indian brave with his arms folded in front of him. They were perfect for advertising the school and could be attached in the upper left-hand corner or the back of the envelope.

In one of my zany moments (which are frequent) I began drawing cartoons around the sticker of the Indian brave, putting signs with clever sayings in the background and drawing the little balloons with words the brave would be saying.

ACCORDING TO MY wife, her relatives became as anxious as she was for my letters to arrive so that they could see what the Indian brave had to say next. Thanks to my mother-in-law's foresight, the little Braves were saved in their own envelope reservations.

Several weeks ago we had a bookcase added to our living room, providing lots of space for knickknacks, etc. Then Ann brought back some of her items she has stored with her mother, and among the items unpacked last Thursday were my little Indian Braves, my Muskegon Chronicle clippings and other items about my journalistic experiences at Bradley.

Many are the things a person forgets about over a span of time, and it is good to know there are people with foresight who make sure memorable events are stored away and kept for future reference and reminiscence.

Spray gypsy moth

Some Northeastern forests are being sprayed to halt the spread of the gypsy moth, a serious forest pest. The U.S. Department of Agriculture reports that large numbers of gypsy moth caterpillars can strip the leaves from whole forests, killing many trees. The insecticide used breaks down quickly and leaves no residues on pastures or crops or in milk.

Offensive trees

NOTE: A critic of our highways suggests removing all roadside trees.

By W. E. DOBSON

The hazards on our highways increase from day to day; And trees are blamed as killers Along the right-of-way; A far cry this from days of old When - barring some disease - We really took a lot of pride In all our highway trees.

A relic of those days gone by, When roads were full of sand, When horse and buggies were in vogue Across our fair farm land; But now at modern traffic pace, Folks get plain hard to please; There's naught they say so deadly As those same roadside trees!

It's true they furnished welcome shade In not-so-far-off days, And travelers from near and far Were wont to sing their praise; But some folks allergies, I hear, Won't let them be at ease, Until the last of them is gone - Those deadly killer trees!

Without offending trees to bar, Is evidence so strong That half-crazed drivers at their worst Would stay where they belong? Why is it that these silent friends To some folks spell debris, And drivers when they miscue Take their spite out on a tree?

ON BEHALF OF THE members of the Michigan Milk Producers Assn., we want to express our appreciation to you for including the three editorials dealing with food prices, farmers and inflation in the June, 2nd issue of the Clinton County News.

Readers agrees with blast at city officials

WHEN I read your letter, from Property Owner, June 9, I wanted to stand up and shout for joy. After two years of searching, someone else in this city has voiced their very truthful thoughts out in the open.

Our last water bill was a real blow to us, all $22.94 of it. For two years now we have not been able to use this city water for drinking or cooking, as our children get violently ill from it and have been in the hospital as a result. So we have to take containers out to the country and get well water.

WHEN THE BILL came I called our city manager; he asked me just what I expected him to do, either pay or else, and No, he would not have someone come out and check the meter. He was as rude as possible and acted as though I sure had a lot of nerve questioning him.

We do take baths, flush toilets; wash dishes and wash clothes in a wringer machine, but at this rate our so called water costs us more than our electric bill. Why should I as a property owner pay these so called city employees if all they can do is sit behind their desks and be as insolent as he was, and as far as them being generous, Hal I agree with you Property Owner, the public must stand up for themselves because the officials sure are doing okay for themselves; I've heard enough of you people grumble to yourselves; now is the time to speak out. Let everyone hear.

Sincerely,

MRS ROBERT ALBERS 505 N. Clinton Ave. St. Johns, Mich.

Jurors in criminal case pose in 1891

There was snow on the ground Feb. 1, 1891, when this group of criminal case jurors in St. Johns gathered for a formal picture. Howard Witt of St. Johns, who runs the driver's license bureau for the sheriff's department, loaned us the picture. The identification is sparse; he could identify only two men—one his grandfather, William J. Krumm at the extreme left, and the other Circuit Judge Sherman Daboll, fifth from the left, who was on the bench from 1888-1899.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

State-sponsored scholarship program on schedule

BY ELMER E. WHITE
Michigan Press Assn.

More scholarship funds are available to college students than at any time in history, but one source of money is still tighter than the educators would prefer. Many students who cannot qualify for outright scholarships or other grants still need financial assistance and seek loans against future earning power. Herein lies a major problem for both the individual student and the Michigan Higher Education Assistance Authority, which administers state and federal loan programs.

MANY BANKS IN Michigan have declined to participate in the Authority's program because money costs are rising and the authorized rate of interest under the program is lower than what a bank would normally charge for a loan.

Only 174 of the 365 banks in the state are in the program. Officers of these institutions frankly admit their participation is based largely on the public relations aspect of the loan program: today's student borrowers are tomorrow's savings customers.

Dr John W. Porter, executive director for the Authority, reports a number of students are not able to obtain loans because of the low number of participating banks.

ARGUMENTS BY the Authority to induce banks to participate include the fact that most of the loans would be guaranteed. The Authority itself has funds to guarantee about $5 million in student funds.

Additional loans under federal government programs are also guaranteed.

One banker who refused to join the program stated his reason flatly: "We're not a philanthropic organization. We have a responsibility to our stockholders." The authority's continued working to encourage more banks to be more public service minded despite the fact that the cost of processing student loans is often close to the income from the loans.

LESS MONEY MAY come in but state officials feel a new uniform payment system for relatives of retarded children in state institutions will be much more equitable.

Under a scale based on taxable income, a family pays monthly rates ranging from zero to $210. No charge is imposed on families with taxable income under $5,000. The maximum rate is for relatives whose taxable income is $20,000 or more per year.

Before the legislature enacted the uniform payment, the relatives' share of retarded children care was set by the probate court in each county. Thus a family in Oakland County, for example, might be paying a given amount while relatives in the same financial position in Ionia County might pay an entirely different sum of the same patient services.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT officials who collect the funds indicated that about 25 or 30 percent of the cases had paying relatives before the law took effect. This number was expected to drop slightly under the uniform payment system.

Despite the drop, officials said the collections probably would be just slightly lower than income in prior years. Paying under the old system ranged from about $5 per month to full care, with very few families paying the full amount.

The number paying this year and the amount collected will likely both be less, it's still too early to tell. Legislative intent, regardless of cost, was that any payment plan should treat all citizens the same.

SUMMER TRAVELING IS under way and motorists once again note the differences in auto license plates. Visible differences are few compared to the number of rules applied to the issuance of vehicle plates by the states.

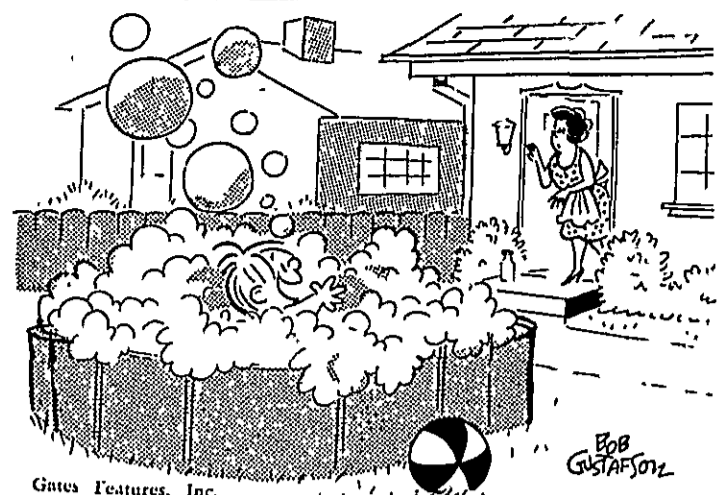

Easily seen is the fact that many states use slogan to promote the state in some way, like Michigan's own "Water Winter Wonderland."

Some states stick with the same colors each year; others change either periodically or with every new set of plates.

SIZE OF THE PLATES is the only thing that is the same. This used to vary, but in 1957 the 12 by-6-inch plate became standard across the nation.

Seven states issue plates valid for the life of the car. In 11 states, tabs are issued annually to review registration. The other states require new plates every year.

Some states require only a rear plate. Others, Michigan among them, issue two for each vehicle. Several states use special paint on the plates to make them visible at night. Fees on the plates probably provide the greatest variance. State registration costs vary from $3 to $60 a year. The rates are based on horsepower, weight or age, or a combination of more than one of these factors. In addition some county and city governmental units collect fees over and above the state levy.

Outdoorsmen alerted to gun legislation

Rep. Robert L. F. Sikes (Florida)... Controversy about anti-gun legislation continues to wax warm. A Senate subcommittee has reported the controversial and restrictive Dodd bill. I think it well to call attention to what has taken place in nearby Philadelphia as a result of the adoption of restrictive ordinances very similar in nature to the proposals of the Dodd bill. The article is from the pen of Mr Richard Starnes in the May 1966 issue of Field and Stream. (The condensed article follows.)

Recently I spent a day here and spent it being fingerprinted, mu-shot, questioned by various tentacles of a burgeoning bureaucracy, and in sum, being subjected to the sort of treatment that would traumatize a 30-year man in the Cos Nostra.

WITH THE AID of a long-suffering firearms dealer who has all but been put out of the gun business by the city's year-old gun law, I was going through the motions of trying to buy a shotgun. Not a handgun, mind you, but a straight-forward fowling piece. What I discovered was a redtape nightmare that may well cast the shadow of coming nationwide legislation—if the gun prohibitionists get their way.

But agreeing that the law does impose enormous burdens on the gun dealer and the honest citizen, isn't it worth it if firearms are being kept out of the hands of hoodlums and psychopaths?

Well it might be at that. But Philadelphia is discovering that its gun law, like New York's notorious Sullivan Law, simply doesn't work. Its failure is amply documented. Heed the words of William F. Killeen, who until January of this year was Philadelphia's assistant district attorney in charge of prosecuting homicide cases.

"WHAT CRIMINAL is going to worry about violating this ordinance when the penalty is $300 and/or 90 days? A criminal is not going to worry about a permit to get a gun when he is thinking of committing crimes that carry 10 to 20-year sentences. I believe that this ordinance was panic legislation resulting from the assassination of President Kennedy."

We will invoke another expert witness. He is City Councilman Gaetano P. Giordano. Councilman Giordano voted for the law when it was adopted in March of 1965, and he is bluntly candid about why he did. "Politicians get nervous," is how he sums it up. "There was a crime wave at the time they passed the ordinance. They passed it so they could say they did something about crime. And it's not working. It's just giving people a headache who want to buy a gun."

"I'M DEFINITELY against this gun law. You can see that it is not cutting crime in the city. Besides, if you are going to commit a crime, you are not going to get a purchase permit to buy a gun first. I would like to repeal this law. Everytime there's a crime the politicians blame the gun. The answer to the crime problem is not to attack the gun; it's to attack the causes of crime." Like attorney Killeen he cites poverty and ignorance as prime causes.

The Philadelphia story proved again that the time to prevent bad legislation is before it is passed. It is a lesson that outdoorsmen had better take to heart while the Congress is debating the myriad of proposed gun laws that is before it now.

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT

Here again is the opportunity to write your Congressman and express your views on legislation further restricting the purchase of firearms. If he doesn't hear from you he may get the impression that "silence gives consent."

Movie exposing pornography racket Monday

Knights of Columbus Council No. 3281 of St. Johns will sponsor the showing of a film, "Printed Poison," next Monday at 8 p.m. in the social hall of St. Joseph School.

The movie has been produced by "Citizens for Decent Literature, Inc.," and is an expose of the pornography racket at the retail level. It reportedly provides excellent camera action to catch the variety and significance of the obscene materials available today.

The story provides a blueprint for effective action to clean up a community by properly motivated and responsible citizens, police, prosecutors and courts. All interested adult citizens of St. Johns and Clinton County are invited to attend the showing.

COUNTRY FLAVOR

Night call of whippoorwill enchanting, appealing to man

HAYDN PEARSON

When dusk is deepening in the valleys and twilight's last silvery-pewter hues are fading above the mountain rim, the clear far carrying calls of the whippoorwill begin. This bird which sings and hunts in the darkness belongs to a family called Goatsucker—so named because of the false belief in olden times that the birds secured milk from goats.

It is a strange bird about the size of a robin, with gray and black rough feathers, large shoe-button eyes and peculiarly small feet. During the day they sleep on the woodland floor and their coloring blends with the dead leaves of the forest floor. The bird is silent in flight and catches night-flying insects in its enormous mouth.

Legends have blossomed concerning this bird of strange appearance and protective coloration. The nest is on the ground and usually has two cream-colored eggs spotted with brown and gray. Through the summer the whippoorwill is with us and their haunting, piercing calls are part of the mystery of night. In late September they leave as suddenly as they arrive. They journey by night to southern states and to Central America.

LISTEN TO THE calls in the darkness. Night time sounds have always had an elemental appeal to man. The whippoorwill's calls while Earth is turned from its sun are part of the wonder and mystery of our natural world.
