

Communities Chest merger with Ingham ok'd

Merger of Clinton County Communities Chest and United Community Chest of Ingham County, Inc. has been approved by the board of directors of each unit, according to Stephen Bakita, president of Clinton County Communities Chest, and James R. Davis, president of United Community Chest.

The merger was approved on the basis of a letter of intent until final details can be worked out.

Under the merger, each chest will retain its identity and each chest will conduct its own campaign. Funds from the two campaigns will be pooled for distribution to the participating agencies.

Commenting on the merger, Bakita noted that currently several United Community Chest agencies are performing services in Clinton County, included among these are Girl Scouts, American Red Cross, and Michigan Children's Aid Society.

"BRIEFLY," ADDED Bakita, "area-wide organization makes possible coordinated attacks on major social needs and problems, makes the best use of human resources of a community, helps to raise the standard of giving, and fosters effective relations with agencies with wide-scale problems."

Clinton County residents will benefit from the merger by becoming eligible to participate in all services of the United Community Chest-supported agencies which are generally available throughout the county.

United Community Chest board, with representation from Clinton County, will be the policy making and budgeting body.

At present, two Clinton County agencies, St. Vincent dePaul Society and 4-H Fair Fund, will continue to be included in Clinton County's campaign. All other agencies in Clinton County Communities Chest are already included in United Community Chest.

United Community Chest campaign and service area included all of Ingham County, Bath and Wacousta in Clinton County, and Grand Ledge in Eaton County.

Bakita, Mrs. Graeme Black, chairman of area committee for United Community Chest, and representatives of both chests developed the merger proposal for board consideration. Communities Chest drives in Clinton County in recent years have fallen far behind established goals, and officials have felt a big part of the problem lies in the mobility of the work force over the county line into Ingham County.

Many county residents donate to the Chest campaigns where they work, and a large percentage of the county work force works outside the county.

JESSE GUERNSEY, 102 YEARS OLD

Jesse Guernsey finds 102 years no big problem

By LOWELL G. RINKER
Editor

Jesse Guernsey was 102 years old Tuesday. He's outlived three sisters, two brothers and two wives, and for several years now he's been recognized as the oldest man in Clinton County.

His answer to the inevitable question, "To what do you attribute your longevity?" is another question-exclamation.

"Why is it that I live so long? I don't know exactly why it is. But the Lord isn't going to let me die, not yet, for awhile." Guernsey, still hardy looking and spry for a man in his second century of life, said he got the message in a dream that "I've got to stay a little while longer."

"I trust in Jesus all the time," he said. "He's got something for me that I've got to do before I go, and I'm not going to go until I get that done."

If anything, Guernsey's health is getting better. He remembered he had a bad shaking spell about three years ago, and he almost died. "But I've been getting better ever since."

GUERNSEY'S A MAN with a still-firm handshake who can get up and move easily around his room. He's been a resident of the Rivard Nursing Home for a little over four years, and he takes part in most of all the activities there.

He was looking forward to a trip back to Matherton, his home area, on his birthday Tuesday, and this weekend he hopes to get up to Hubbardston to help the folks there celebrate that community's 100th anniversary. His sharp mind can recall a lot of the events of the early days in that area.

The Matherton area has been Guernsey's stomping grounds for most of his life. He was a cooper, a lumberman and a farmer there. He was school president for five or six years and for one term was the sheriff at Matherton.

"But I didn't like that kind of a job," he said. "I don't like a job where you have to go and take people's stuff."

That phase of the lawman's job rubbed against Guernsey's grain. He was more likely to be doing things for people, and when he was lumbering on his farm east of Matherton he'd permit poor people to cut their own wood from his timber.

Guernsey was born June 18, 1866, in Swegle County, N.Y., along the shores of Lake Ontario. His family moved from Hannibelle, N.Y., to Michigan when he was 12 years old. He remembers that event well.

"WE MOVED BETWEEN Christmas and New Year's, and when we got on the train in New York there was two feet of snow on the ground. When we got off at Lyons there wasn't any snow on the ground and the grass was green. We didn't have much of a winter that year."

Red Cross Bloodmobile here 26th

A critical shortage of blood at the Red Cross Regional Blood Center in Lansing is adding impetus to the local drive for a big turnout at the semi-annual bloodmobile in St. Johns next Wednesday.

The bloodmobile will be set up from noon to 6 p.m. June 26 at the St. Johns Municipal Building at the corner of Walker and Spring streets.

Mrs. Mary Crosby, chairman of the bloodmobile committee here, said the regional blood center is short 1,100 pints of blood compared to what was donated throughout the region at this time last year. The St. Johns bloodmobile will be the final one of the fiscal year and the last donations to apply toward the quota.

ADDING TO THE problem is the expected heavy drain on blood supplies over the upcoming Fourth of July holiday when highway traffic and resultant accidents increase.

Recent changes in blood donor qualifications make it possible for more people to give blood than might previously have been able, Mrs. Crosby said.

Donors may now be recruited up until their 61st birthday, making the age limitations 18 through 60. A woman may now donate blood six months following pregnancy, whereas the waiting period used to be 12 months.

For some months a "back-up" test has been used on donors who do not pass a copper sulphate hemoglobin estimation test. The backup test has disclosed that about 50 per cent of donors previously rejected for this reason are now acceptable, and Mrs. Crosby urged formerly-rejected donors to come in again.

No specific goal has been established for the number of pints of blood to be collected. Mrs. Crosby pointed out that despite the terrific need for blood, vacation time will probably cut into the numbers of people who are around and available as donors.

PREVIOUS BLOOD donors will be called in a bloodmobile telephone next Tuesday night, just prior to the bloodmobile. General Telephone Co. has again offered the use of its business office in St. Johns as a base for a group of volunteers.

The tantee at next week's bloodmobile will be manned by ladies from the First Baptist Church.

Supervisor deadline July 2

The filing deadline for county supervisors for the 11 new districts in Clinton County has been extended to July 2 at 4 p.m., County Clerk Ernest Carter announced last week.

The extension of the deadline was made possible by the State Legislature. Carter said township officers will not run for reelection this year, except for trustees elected in 1964.

Big weekend set as Hubbardston marks 100th birthday

By CLAUDIA McLOUGHLIN
News Staff Writer

Settled in the very northwest corner of Clinton County, at the end of a winding road, on the bank of a peaceful river is Hubbardston.

That quiet little village will take a step back into history this weekend when it celebrates its 100th birthday.

The town is like a page out of a history book. Main street is composed of a line of buildings that look like they could all tell some pretty good stories of what life was like 100 years ago. But, the sturdy facades hold their ages well. The store keepers have their buildings decorated for the celebration, although the rustic beauty of the village needs little more to put the townspeople in the atmosphere of a centennial.

THE STREETS, winding through the village are lined with trees. Trees seem almost to swallow up the village, to seclude it from time itself.

If one should visit the town this week and see the townsfolk dressed in their centennial attire, he might feel like an intruder. When driving down the streets, you almost expect to see a horse and buggy come from around the corner or down a hill.

The river seems like one of the few in the country that are not polluted. Crystal waters flow under the early 1900's iron bridge over the dam in pseudo-falls past an old mill. Boys fishing bring to mind Huck Finn and Tom Sawyer.

Overlooking the village, like a protectorate, is St. John the Baptist Church with her high steeple. Even the cemetery behind the church shows bits of history with all the Irish names like Fitzpatrick, Gallagher, Hogan and many more.

The gentlemen seem to walk with a special gait. The additional signs of masculinity which enhance their appearances, like sideburns, beards, and mustaches, are worn with the utmost pride.

Ladies' skirts swish and the ladies, too, seem to have a more genteel manner than one is accustomed to. Bright smiling faces are framed by gingham bonnets and children are fascinated by their own "olden days" dress. The sidewalk, too, must feel somewhat reminiscent, for several pair of feet are clad in dated shoes.

THIS WEEKEND the town will come alive with the excitement of a birthday party. Those gents with the finest beards will be singled out on Saturday morning when the Brothers of the Brush announce the winners of the beard judging contest at 10:30 a.m. Boat rides all day on that serene river will be available. A parade, displaying the city's finest in cars, horses, and floats with other various entries will be presented along the tree lined streets of the village at 2 p.m. on Saturday.

Queen Judy Skinner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Skinner, will reign at the ball in the Tefft Building downtown. The queen, who is a licensed practical nurse at Carson City Hospital, was chosen by the number of tickets she sold for the ball. She sold 536 and will be awarded a $75 savings bond.

For others, modern square dance will be held in the church parking lot with Rip Riskey as (Story continued on Page 2-A)

Renaissance of Gaylord to inspire Chamber here?

The modern renaissance of a small town will be the topic Gaylord banker Harold A. Elgas will bring up for discussion at the Wednesday night (June 19) meeting of the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting was scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at Daley's Restaurant. According to Chamber President Bob Dittmer, the meeting is being held to demonstrate the attributes of organizing a strong Chamber with the widest possible membership among business people, industry and community residents.

Elgas, president of the Gaylord State Bank and Chamber of Commerce member here, will show a movie demonstrating the before and after of Gaylord and the effect of the Chamber. He will also speak on how the Chamber was inspired in that community and the theme of cooperation among the businessmen, industry and city government and residents.

THE GAYLORD STORY Elgas tells started about eight years ago when Gaylord, a town of 2,800 in the heart of the northwestern country, took a look at itself. It had a drab, unattractive appearance of Main Street, punctuated with over 15 vacant, down-in-the-mouth store fronts and was not an inviting sight for local residents, for the thousands of tourists who streamed into the area each year. Off-street parking was at a premium and almost nonexistent. The same self-analysis showed that commercial property had depreciated in value, and that young people, finding few job opportunities, were leaving the area to find work.

The first step in a concerted effort to broaden the community's economic base was taken in 1958 when over 100 businessmen formed the Gaylord Industrial Development Corp. With assets of over $100,000 the non-profit organization purchased several tracts of land and assembled voluminous information and data of interest to industrial leaders. Five years of aggressive effort by the Industrial Development Corporation, under the leadership of Elgas, produced the first major break-through. In 1963 the United States Plywood Corp. announced plans to build a $5.5 million pulp plant within a promile or so of downtown Gaylord.

HAROLD A. ELGAS

This plant is now in production and has labor and raw material expenditures amounting to over $1.7 million annually.

Interstate I-75 runs through the west limits of the City of Gaylord, bringing hundreds of thousands more people more frequently to the area annually. This stimulus created a business boom with hundreds of new homes being built and optimism running feverishly in the business community.

AN ALPINE THEME for the business community was decided on, enthusiastically, and a project of modern merchandising with an old-world charm was launched. A new Gaylord State Bank building started things off, and in the spring of 1964 three businesses began exterior remodeling to conform to an Alpine motif. Industry, including national warehouses, have been attracted to the Gaylord community. With the tremendous traffic on I-75, every major brand of gasoline is represented in or near the city. There have been constructed a new auto sales agency, Alpine teen center, new churches, hospital care facility, restaurants, motels, and stores.

Forty-four establishments have been built new, remodeled, or have adapted to Alpine architecture in the past three-year period. Combined, this represents an investment of $2.5 million by private financing and individual enterprise. The 15 vacant store buildings have disappeared from the street. Property values for many businesses have doubled. Employment runs at an all-time high, with the percentage population growth in the county exceeding any other of the 33 counties called Northern Michigan.

IN 1964, THE CHAMBER of Commerce appointed a parking committee headed by Elgas and Jack M. Walker, furniture store owner, that has resulted in space for 222 cars of off-street parking behind the stores in the central business district. Aired a very successful week-long Alpine Festival has been organized, drawing thousands, with more than 1,000 residents dressing in Alpine costumes for the occasion.

"Gaylord finds its success," Elgas said, "from the initiative of its people, the contribution and sacrifice by its individual enterprise, by the attraction of industry, by the cooperative efforts of the entire central business district in an Alpine image, and by a strong city and county government who have shouldered their share of problems, including a new water system, who have named Gaylord the Alpine Village, and by meeting the challenge of the future through initiative, leadership, vision, and self-determination."

Elgas has been active in community affairs, serving as president of the Otsego County Chamber of Commerce in 1963, president of the Gaylord Industrial Development Corp. from 1962-1965, was chairman of the building committee of the Gaylord Methodist Church and is presently serving as a member of the board of trustees of the Otsego County Memorial Hospital.

He served as an officer of the Michigan Bankers Assn. from 1966-1967. Wednesday night's Chamber meeting is open to businessmen and residents alike. Wives are welcome to attend.

They're all needed at bloodmobile

Running a bloodmobile is no small task. Besides the nurses and other staff members who accompany the bloodmobile from Lansing, between 40 and 50 local persons take part in one phase or another.

Count the people at work next Wednesday (June 26) when the bloodmobile is set up from noon to 6 p.m. in the St. Johns Municipal Building.

The people in the picture above are only part of the group that worked at the last bloodmobile visit in December. A lot of them will be working again next week, and there'll be a lot of other faces involved.

The bloodmobile program for St. Johns is coordinated by a committee headed by Mrs. Mary Crosby as chairman. Mrs. Nancy Puetz is in charge of recruitment, Mrs. Jane Idzowski heads up publicity, and Mrs. Wilma (Corky) Paradise is in charge of the telethon.

Then there are candy strippers, Red Cross Volunteers and other volunteers who work on various duties at the bloodmobile. Candy strippers last time included Cathy Bengel, Sandy Bengel, Diane Simon, Rosemary Smith and Theres Thelen.

Red Cross Volunteers were Lucille Heibek, Doris Swatman, Millie Spousta, Dorothy Merignac, Helen Woodhams, Esther Martins, Florence Hopp, Ruby Blakeslee, Martha Parks, Bernice Rice, Dorothy Steves, Elizabeth Millman and Doris Prowant, unit chairman.

Jesse Guernsey finds '102' no problem

the youngest — lived at Lyons about two years before moving to Matherton. As Jesse grew older he joined his father making barrels. After he married his first wife, Sarah, they moved to Portland where Guernsey continued as a cooper, making barrels for the Portland Milling Co. to ship their flour in.

After about eight years, they moved back to Matherton and went on a 40-acre farm a half mile east. "I built a big house there," Guernsey recalls; "My wife wanted a big house and she wanted it on the ground. She didn't want to be running up and down the stairs." Guernsey was at it all one summer, and part of it was of cobblestone.

At this point — he was about 32 years old — Guernsey wanted to go into lumbering. "There was 175 acres of land to the east, and I wanted it," he said. "I saw where I could make some money out of it."

"So I went to Jim Riddle who ran the bank. They were individual banks then, different than they are nowadays. I said, Jim, I'd like to buy that 175 acres there; I'd like to get that timber. I see where I could make some good money out of that. "He said why don't you buy it? I said I haven't got money enough. He said I'll let you have your money. I said that wasn't all I wanted. I said if I buy that land I have to have the privilege of selling that timber and pay back the money I borrowed."

THE BANKER TOOK a five-year mortgage on Guernsey's home and loaned him enough to buy the land and a sawmill to operate it. "He let me have everything I asked for. And before five years was up I was out of debt entirely and had money in the bank so I could write checks."

Guernsey took his lumber to Pewamo and loaded it on freight cars for shipment to Ionia. He cut the stuff for $11 a thousand board feet and hired anybody who wanted to cut wood. Guernsey lumbered for about eight years until wages started going up. Then he settled down to farming. "I raised cattle, sheep, turkeys, chickens, everything a farmer would raise," he recalls. He lived there until about 12 years ago when his second home burned. He then arranged the sale of most of his 266 acres in sections 19 and 20 (on both sides of the Maple River) to the State and moved into Matherton. He and his second wife, Sadela, whom he married in 1947, moved to the Rivard Nursing Home in 1964; she died two years ago. In 1966 Guernsey was named Michigan Week King as the oldest man in the county during a district senior citizens meeting in St. Johns.

GUERNSEY IS A religious man, as his belief in his duty yet to be fulfilled gives testimony to. He attends the Church of God but says "I go to any church. I can get something out of any of them."

Guernsey likes to talk, and his subject matter includes not only religion but also patriotism, history and practically anything you'd want to talk about. "I can talk with anybody, even with the President," he chuckled. That's part of his joys now — chatting with people who stop in just to talk.

Dean recommends charter commission for city

Move follows second citizens meeting

A recommendation for a charter commission to write a new city charter and a renewed plea for a positive thinking on city operations came out of a meeting last Wednesday night called by St. Johns businessman Al Dean.

Only 38 people turned out for the session, but they got concentrated doses of information from three speakers — County Equalization Director Lorenz (Tony) Tiedt, Mayor's Finance Committee member Ink White and City Treasurer Eugene Simon.

Dean made his recommendation for a charter commission near the end of the two-hour meeting and said a steering committee will be appointed soon to get plans started. He said he couldn't continue to run an organization alone for that purpose, and he said the steering committee would be made up of a thorough cross-section of community members.

He renewed his plea for positive citizen participation in government, saying the city is "us, not them." Last Wednesday's meeting, the second of a series, was aimed solely at providing information, one of the purposes of the sessions, Dean said he was disappointed, however, with the small number of people who came out to get the information. He was disappointed, however, with the small number of people who came out to get the information.

years from 25 per cent of full valuation to 50 per cent of cash value. He said he thought the Yoh appraisal in 1966 was a good one and that a State Tax Commission spot check the same year came up with figures generally the same as Yoh's.

Tiedt said St. Johns' assessing procedures have been relatively accurate, judging by the Yoh figures. Assessments after the Yoh reappraisal were up only 3.06 per cent overall although residential assessments went up 13.09 per cent and commercial assessments dropped 11.22 per cent.

The city valuation increased only a little over $700,000 as a result, Tiedt said, compared to a county-wide increase of about $19 million.

The increased assessments resulted in very little tax increase for the city, commented Ray Kentfield, former city commissioner. Dick Kohls, another person in the audience, commented that a lot of the increase in valuation ($17 million in 1965 to $20,448,200 in 1968) is in the form of new homes, which require additional city services. Kentfield added that figures show it takes taxes for 10 years for the city to get back the initial costs of improvements.

Kentfield and Tiedt pointed out that city tax rates came nowhere near the assumed-20-mill limitation in past years. When the city was levying taxes on 25 per cent of cash value the tax rate was at 19 mills, but when they changed to levying on state equalized the figure was only 10.5 mills in 1960. The highest tax has gotten on that basis was 16.25 mills two years ago.

INK WHITE OF THE mayor's finance committee summarized the work of that group and read their formal report to the mayor. The report claimed the city should have $156,000 more in revenue to operate efficiently and provide the type of service which a progressive city should offer to its residents.

The committee recommended fire department costs be shared with the surrounding townships on the basis of 60 per cent city and 40 per cent townships. They also recommended three additional police officers and more money for the upkeep of the city park. They said the current austerity budget has severely hampered the street department by forcing a drastic reduction in the work force. A new fire department pumper and a new street sweeper were listed as necessary pieces of mobile equipment.

The street sweeper has been out of commission for most of the spring. White said the sweeper collects 20 tons of dirt a day on the first sweepings in the spring. He contended that the city will be faced with much additional cost to repair or clean out sewers that will eventually become clogged with dirt that couldn't be swept up.

As to water rates, City Treasurer Eugene Simon said there were 790 water customers presently using the minimum rate, which has been increased from $9 to $16 per quarter, effective July 1. White pointed out it is difficult to compare water rates with other cities because many in St. Johns' population class are just now beginning to think about the type of water system this city already has.

Simon told the audience that, through April, city revenue for the year was some $50,000 to $60,000 short of the budgeted figure, and although the general fund may show a balance, it is all in earmarked funds that cannot be spent for general purposes. He anticipated a deficit in costs over income of about $75,000 for the current fiscal year.

SIMON SAID IT IS impossible at this time to tell if the austerity cutbacks ordered by the commission this spring will allow the city to live within the austerity budget of $888,300 for 1968-69.

Dean, in summing up the meeting, charged that some groups in the city were openly condoning a deficit budget for next year in order to provide city services without increasing taxes. Dean told his audience, Wednesday night that "our responsibility must be different from that," and he urged a positive approach.

Marijuana charge faces man

William W. Witt of 2103 Jefferson, Holt, was arrested last week and charged with dispensing marijuana in the City of St. Johns. This arrest was the result of a long detailed investigation that dates back to November of 1967 when St. Johns Police Chief Everett Glazier first brought the matter to the attention of Prosecutor Rolland Duguay, and Probate Judge, Timothy Green.

Witt was arraigned in St. Johns Municipal Court Saturday morning, before Associate Judge Robert Wood. Witt, a former resident of St. Johns, demanded preliminary examination which was set for June 20. His bond was set at $10,000.

Police halt dope source

St. Johns police officers, and some of our informed citizens, worked in close harmony with the Michigan State Police Intelligence Unit, to break up a potentially dangerous source of narcotic drugs to this city.

Prosecutor Rolland Duguay says, "The state police have for the present cut off the prime source of supply to this local area, but this does not mean that we can relax."

Probate Judge Timothy Green emphasized that "our concern is to keep narcotics out of reach of our teenagers, who are the easy prey, but also the sufferers, once they get hooked. It's availability is too close to consider this problem totally closed."

Kroger manager wins award for promotion

The annual Kroger Manufacturing Products Award was received today by Bob Swedenberg, manager of the St. Johns Kroger Store, in recognition "for a job well done" in promoting Kroger manufactured products. Swedenberg's store offers a complete selection and variety of Kroger products. His store was adjudged the best amongst Kroger stores in Lansing, Charlotte, Albion, East Lansing and Eaton Rapids.

Swedenberg, a graduate of the Western Michigan University Food Training Program, joined the Kroger Company as co-manager of the Benton Harbor Store after spending seven years with the National Food Stores. He was promoted to store manager of the Rogers Plaza Store in Grand Rapids in February 1967 and assumed his present duties in March of this year.

He, his wife Gloria, and their two children, Lori, age 4, and Darcy, age 2 years, reside at 106 N. Whittemore. Swedenberg and his wife Gloria think the community is "terrific." Both Bob and Gloria joined the Jaycees and Jayettes.

Ovid council denies request

OVID — A request from the Central National Bank to change the traffic flow of E. Front Street to one way to enable the bank to install drive-up or walk-up windows has been denied by the village council.

The request was made by bank officials in May and referred to the street committee for study. Recommendation for denial came when the committee decided that the change would adversely affect operations of village hall, police and fire departments and a doctor's office on the same block.

Other council action included the approval of a request by Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Wisenberg to close off Main Street in front of their "Books for Browsing" Shop for teenage street dances to be held on June 8, July 6, August 3 and 31. The council also accepted a contribution from the Camp Fire Girls, who are disbanding, of $109 to be used for picnic tables and grills for the village park.

Resignation of clerk, Mrs. Clara Tubbs was accepted as Mrs. Tubbs will be moving to Arkansas. The resignation will become effective June 17. Mrs. Adrian Huss was appointed to succeed Mrs. Tubbs.

Open Letter from VAN W. HOAG

Dear Friends,

When we are confronted with a death in the family, most of us are quite unprepared for the emergency. Our grief prevents calm, logical thinking.

We advise that you secure a booklet from our funeral home that explains, beforehand, the information you should know to make sensible preparations and decisions.

Teachers, school board ratify contract

The St. Johns Education Assn. and the school board both last week ratified a new one-year contract between the school district and teachers. This clears the way for school to open next fall—about three months earlier than a contract was worked out last year.

The new contract provides for a $600 increase in the starting teacher salary and increases across the board through a 10-year experience rating. The increase is slightly over 10 per cent.

First-year teachers in the St. Johns system next year will receive $6,500, compared with $5,900 last year. The salary schedule advances through 10 steps to a high of $9,490 for a teacher with a bachelor of arts degree and 10 years experience. The top last year was $8,614.

Teachers with a BA degree plus 20 semester hours will receive $6,760 to start and $9,945 after 10 years. Teachers with a master of arts degree will get $7,020 to start and $10,400 after 10 years.

ALL TEACHERS will be on the salary schedule next year. Non-degree teachers will be granted a $700 increase for the 1968-69 year.

The new contract allows full credit for any experience held by a teacher new to the St. Johns system. Teachers working at their normal teaching jobs during the summer months will receive 75 per cent of their base pay during those months.

The contract contains a no-strike clause effective during the duration of the contract, Sept. 1-June 30. It also specifies the times which teachers must be in school.

"I feel we have a good contract here," Roger Feeman, president of the St. Johns Education Assn., commented last Thursday. "It's an average contract. In view of the situation this year, it meets our needs for now."

The contract negotiations were smooth this year, with only five meetings needed to iron out details.

The school board and bus drivers also ratified a contract for one year, although the provisions for wages cover two years—school years 1968-69 and 1969-70. The only area to be discussed for 1969-70 is the top of the schedule.

Wages will be $1,550 for the first year probationary period; $1,700 for the second year; $1,800 for the third year; $1,900 for the fourth year; $2,000 for the fifth year; and $2,050 for the sixth year.

Extra trips will be paid at the rate of $2.25 an hour. Substitute drivers will receive $4.50 per hour. A quick change from low level living to high altitude may cause discomfort because of the lessened supply of oxygen in the air. Making the ascent gradually can be a help.

run; this amount will be deducted from regular drivers if the absence is not covered by sick leave.

The ratification of the teachers' and bus drivers' contracts leaves only a contract with the custodians, maintenance workers and mechanics yet to be worked out.

EIGHTH GRADE GRADUATES AT EAST ESSEX SCHOOL

Settlement made at Fulton

MIDDLETON—A 1968-69 contract agreement for faculty at the Fulton School system has been reached by negotiators for the teachers and the board of education but are awaiting final approval of the board.

In the near future, it is expected that an attempt to have a general faculty meeting will be made. Although it will be difficult for many members to be present due to the summer recess, the meeting will be called to explain the terms of the proposed contract and take a vote. Majority approval of faculty members will be sought at the voting.

Increased salaries are included in the terms of the new contract. Income for instructors with a bachelor's degree will be upped to $6,300 from the previous $5,800. Faculty with a master's degree will be $500 higher than the bachelor degree starting pay.

It is planned that a Fulton faculty member will be able to move from base pay to top pay, $8,820, in 10 steps.

Supt. Walno Phil said he still needs teachers for the early elementary grades to complete his staff for next year, as well as a high school commercial teacher and a teacher of history and English combination.

The key to a good vacation is moderation. Remember not to eat too much and to avoid rich fatty foods. Eat fish, chicken, turkey, lean meats, vegetables, fruit and skimmed milk says the Michigan Heart Assn., a Michigan United Fund agency.

Ovid-Elsie waits board approval

OVID-ELSIE — A one-year master contract was ratified by teachers in the Ovid-Elsie school system.

The contract was submitted to the board of education last Saturday prior to the Monday night meeting. It was expected that approval would be granted at that meeting, but the board asked for more time to study the provisions of the contract. Action is anticipated from the meeting scheduled for next Monday night.

The contract calls for a basic salary for bachelor degree faculty of $6,450 and a top of $9,450 after 12 years.

Berkimer resigns at DeWitt

DEWITT — Mayor Eldon Smith appointed Duwayne Ziegler to serve in the unexpired term of Lloyd Berkimer.

Two years remain after Berkimer resigned due to business pressures. He had served six years and had been streets administrator for 3 1/2 years. Valuation of a newly-annexed area was made at $1.36 million, according to City Assessor Harry Bollinger as discussed at the regular meeting.

A vote to change the parking on Main street from angle to parallel was passed. The change will reduce parking from 35 to 20 spaces but will improve traffic flow.

Terms expiring this year include Smith's as mayor for two years, and four-year council positions of June Lankford, Robert Ballard and Lawrence Keck.

It's odd, but true, that the only time some people get a move on is when they're stuck.

First-year savings were estimated at $2,378. Sheely lives at 608 Dill Road, DeWitt.

Charles E. Rademacher, lands executive with the Conservation Department and who lives at 3100 Clark Road, Bath, received a $225 award for an idea which reduced typing and proofreading of land descriptions in the Lands Division office.

State Personnel Director Franklin K. DeWald said 81 suggestions have been approved in the program so far this year with a total first-year net savings of $61,739. Awards approved so far this year total $5,551.

The Riley and Olive Aid will meet June 27 for dinner with Waunita Hardman on DeWitt Road. Bring a useful article for the silent auction.

A committee within the Chamber is presently working on a list of possible activities and promotions.

The term we regularly use for our cleaning method is "dry cleaning". Yet quite often your dry cleaner must also be an expert in "wet cleaning". Many of the stains which soil clothes require wet cleaning or even washing to remove. Such common summertime stains as those from alcoholic beverages and soft drinks are examples. Ice cream and many food stains are water soluble and are best removed by water or moisture.

Perspiration is another staining agent which may have to be removed by wet cleaning in those areas where it has left the heaviest deposits and caused stiffening of fabric. This problem occurs most often during the hot weather months as the result of repeated perspiration. In addition, dry cleaners sometimes turn to moisture spotting where soil is deeply imbedded in a fabric to such an extent that water is needed to loosen it. In all such cases, wet cleaning is a supplement to dry cleaning. Whatever is needed to restore your fine garments to like-new condition, clean and fresh and wrinkle-free, you can be sure of the finest cleaning when you call on our experience.

Town retains historical splendor

Hubbardston reliving 100 years of history this week

By CLAUDIA McLOUGHLIN
News' Staff Writer

"To record the past with its failures and successes; to pay tribute to our forefathers who carved a community from a wilderness; to pass on to today's generation the story of Hubbardston's Yesterday." So is stated the purpose of the historical booklet by Helen A. Cusack entitled "Hubbardston's Yesterday."

The author of the booklet was a native of the Hubbardston area, but now is assistant librarian in Belding. She had an active part in the Clinton County educational system for many years before moving to Belding. She was named "Woman of the Year" in Belding in 1964.

According to Miss Cusack, the area that is now Hubbardston was originally inhabited by Ottawa and Chippewa Indians. But, after the Land Office was established at Ionia in 1834, the first settlers arrived in the area about 1836.

The first signs of permanent structures were seen about 1853 when Hubbard, Taylor and Co. erected a small mill, a boarding house and a tavern. By 1858 a post office had been established and James Holbrook served as its first postmaster.

IN 1867 THE HAMLET became an incorporated village of 1,200 and Wilson Homer was elected first village president the following year.

Hubbardston's prosperity was secured in the 60's and 70's by the booming lumber business. Around the area were large pine forests that kept the produce of the village in demand by the lumberjacks that worked the forests. Soon though, the lumber boom died, and so did the hopes of the small town to grow and prosper. Then the hope of a railroad brightened the future, negotiations seemed promising, but the overwhelming efforts fell flat and nothing ever materialized.

Social, civic and fraternal organizations flourished in the late 1800's. New business opened. A stage route from Carson City and Hubbardston to Pewawaw with daily trips was instituted. The Central Fair Assn. was organized in 1871. For 23 years the four-day fair attracted hundreds.

During the 60's and 70's, Hubbardston was famous for its mineral baths as relief from sufferings of rheumatism and other ailments. A bath house was erected to allow visitors to take full advantage of the soothing waters.

In 1853, the Irish inhabitants of the small village built their first church. It was added to several times, and finally, in 1868, a new one was built. A large church, on a hill with an imposing edifice, the first Catholic church was the largest building in Ionia County. In 1886 the parochial school was opened, 1917 marked the dedication of a new school after much adding to the old one.

Prior to 1854, Methodist services were held in private homes. In 1865 the first pastor is on record as being Nathan Mount. Until 1868 the services were held in the school house, but then a church was built. In 1920, the parsonage was added, but in 1925 the garage burned off it and the following day the steeple of the church was struck by lightning. The old Congregational Church was purchased, remodeled and dedicated finally in 1926.

THE HUBBARDSTON school district was organized in 1856. In 1879 a two story brick building was erected to house the pupils of the school.

Among the earliest residents of the area were the Holmes brothers, Nathan and Ransom, who in 1856 built and operated the Hubbardston Grist Mill. Questionnaires sent to descendants of the first Irish settlers in the Hubbardston area reveal that nine of the early families came from Ireland's Tipperary County, four from County Louth, three from Wexford, two from Monaghan and one each from the counties of Mayo, Caven, Kilkenny, and Dublin.

Hubbardston is about 18 miles north and west of St. Johns. The book says "Hubbardston's today-population is under 500, but with paved streets, efficient fire department, new store fronts and a scattering of recently built homes. The 'bedroom town' for residents employed in nearby industrial plants also has a manufacturing business of its own—the Teft Pallet plant.

"Hubbardston — picturesque little village, its friendly folks, shaded streets and placid mill pond — wish it well in the years to come—but cherish, too, the memories of Hubbardston's Yesterday."

East Lansing's Jeff Smith new football coach

St. Johns' new head football coach held meetings last Tuesday and Thursday with players who will be trying out for the teams this fall. It was an early start on duties following his official appointment to the position by the board of education only last Tuesday.

Jeffery Smith, 27, is the new coach, coming here from East Lansing where he had charge of linebackers, ends and wingbacks on last year's squad. Prior to that he coached at Hale, Mich., for one year and at Grass Lake for three years. Grass Lake was a Class C school, and Smith turned out teams with records of 1-6-1, 4-4 and 5-3.

He has a lot of football experience. He graduated from Kohler, Wis., high school where he was an all-state end on the football team, was captain of an unbeaten team and was captain of the state championship track team.

He attended the University of Michigan, and played his last three years under Bump Elliott. He was a member of the Wol-verline's "Rader" team in 1961 as defensive end. He graduated in 1963 and began his career at Holt that fall.

He and his wife Charlene now live in East Lansing. He said he plans to move to St. Johns as soon as he can sell his home there and arrange for living quarters here.

Smith will teach in the math department at Rodney B. Wilson High School.

Nicholas, Watertown JP, joins 88th district race

William C. Nicholas, Watertown Township justice of the peace for the past eight years, Monday announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the 88th district seat in the Michigan Legislature.

Nicholas, 36, has been active in township and county politics for a number of years. He is a past president of the Capital Area Justice of the Peace Assn. and was a member of the Watertown Charter/Township Study Committee. He is a former member of the Ingham County Young Republicans.

"I am a firm believer in 'grass roots' government and local home rule," Nicholas said. He said he believes he has a thorough knowledge of local and county governments that would stand him in good stead as a state representative.

Nicholas issued this statement with his announcement of candidacy:

"While many legislative seats are given as rewards for political participation and/or on the basis of popularity, I feel we have had a good example of just what kind of representation this brings about. I feel that my eight years of experience as a justice of the peace and through my working closely with local units that I understand the problems of the urban communities, the farmers and the county as a whole.

"I FEEL THAT I can be an asset to the entire district, as the main problems of today lie next to the larger metropolitan-type governments. By being exposed to these situations, I have gained a first-hand knowledge of just what is happening.

"I do not feel that I will require to spend my first two years, if elected, apprenticing on the working mechanics of government. "To be a legislator is a tremendous task and should not be taken lightly. This is why I have decided to run—to bring first-hand experience into being if at all possible. If elected I promise to hold any discussions on my bills openly and before the people of my district if so requested. I will not make any promises I cannot keep and I will hold myself accountable to all the electors of the district."

Nicholas and his family reside at 5008 W. Grand River Avenue, Lansing. He and his wife Carrie have three children, Jan, 12, David, 10, and Jill, 8.

He graduated from Sexton High School in 1960 and attended Ferris Institute and Michigan State University before receiving a bachelor of law degree from LaSalle University. He served in the U.S. Army from 1952-1954.

Nicholas is employed by the Michigan Claim Service in addition to serving as a justice of the peace.

Chevelle prices not only start a full $100 less than other mid-size cars-it's more car.

We've thought of things for Chevelle that other mid-size cars would like you to forget. For instance, that four-lined package above gives you a ride that rivals bigger higher priced cars. (That's because we thought to give it Full Coil suspension. And a separate frame with a computer-refined mounting system cushioning its body by Fisher.) The choice of engines and transmissions you have is the greatest in Chevelle's field. And if you're a performance buff, you'll find we did some thinking on your wave length: black-grilled SS 396's with Turbo-Jet V8 power you can order up to 350 horses strong. You also get more ways of putting your personal stamp on a Chevelle than any other mid-size car offers. Take wheel covers alone. You can order simulated wire ones. Or mag-style. Or mag-spoke. Or rally-type. Even so, Chevelle prices start a full $100 under any competitive mid-size cars. How's that for a parting thought!

The Middlebury Vacation Church School Sharing Program will be held Friday evening, June 21 at the church at 8 p.m. Ladies of the WSCS are reminded to furnish cookies for this.

Bill Ballenger journeyed to the Michigan State University campus over the weekend to address the 1968 session of Wolverine Boys State. Bill told the students, assembled from all over Michigan, that young people should not be discouraged from participating in politics because of the recent assassination of Senator Robert F. Kennedy. Bill said that the state of the country is such that more young men and women are needed in government service, not less. It was the third straight year Bill has spoken at Boys State.

A cooperative dinner will be served on Sunday, June 23 at the Middlebury Church following services, honoring the 80th birthday of Earl Putnam. Those attending are asked to bring sandwiches, passing dish and own table service.

Friends and relatives attended the graduation open house on Sunday, June 18 in honor of Karlene Craig.

Mrs Weismiller ends 30 years of teaching, retires

MRS WEISMILLER

Mrs Thelma Weismiller of R-1, DeWitt, is retiring from the St. Johns School System after completing her 30th year as a teacher of elementary children.

She has received a plaque from the St. Johns Education Assn. citing her record of service to education.

Mrs Weismiller has been teaching in the St. Johns school system for the past 12 years, being based at Central and East Ward Schools. She has most recently been at Central where she's taught second grade.

Her teaching career started at Round Lake, actually not far from where she presently lives. That was 30 years ago, and Mrs Weismiller taught there two years before taking a teaching job in DeWitt. She was there five years and then at Stockbridge for five years before her son, Jerry, came along.

When she resumed teaching, Mrs Weismiller was an elementary instructor in Lansing. She was there six years before coming to the St. Johns schools 12 years ago.

Mrs Weismiller, who has her teaching degree from Central Michigan University, plans to pursue her hobbies of finishing antiques and cooking now that she won't be teaching.

She and her husband, Loyal Weismiller, live on Krepps Road south of Alward Road. They have one son, Jerry, who is now a student at Michigan State University.

At Conservation Fun Day one of the afternoon sessions included water and boating safety. Ivan Teshka from state police headquarters in East Lansing shows area boys how to safely board a boat from the water. Teshka also stressed to the boys that life preservers must always be worn according to state law. With him are Ron, Jack, Don and Dick Cuthbert, Lawrence Kanaski, and Harry Moldenhauer.

85 attend Conservation Fun Day June 11 in county

Eighty-five Clinton County 4-H members, parents and leaders participated in the fourth Annual 4-H Conservation Fun Day held on June 11 in the county. It was a day filled with activities and education with emphasis this year on forestry, soils, water safety and fish.

The day's activity began with a film on coho salmon as to how the coho are produced and what is being done to expand the coho production in Michigan waters. Earl Goff, county conservation officer, spoke on the new regulations in using state-owned campground areas and some of

Central goes on half days

Central Junior High School will not operate on a full-day basis next year, according to Principal Sam Serrell.

The schedule for the upcoming school year will be similar to the operation of the 1967-68 year. All students who ride the bus will be in attendance all day. Students who walk to school will be coming and going at all different times. Sections for the students will be designated when they buy their books.

Boundaries have been altered at the elementary level of the Central system. This will hopefully be the last change, Serrell said. It was necessary to balance the loads and also to see that no one goes out of his home area more than once.

The 26 students of first and second grade age in the north and northeast section of town that have been transferred to St. Joseph's will be transported by bus. The bus stops will be at Floral and Ottawa at 8:15 a.m., Oakland and Gibbs at 8:20 a.m., Prospect and Higham at 8:10 a.m. and Ottawa and Higham at 8:12 a.m.

These students will be allowed to participate in the hot lunch program or carry their lunch. They will be returned to their morning pick up spots at 3:20.

Hearing set for development plan

Today, (June 20) at 8 p.m., in the chambers of the Lansing City Council, members of the Tri-county region based on the Tri-County Regional Planning Commission will present their comprehensive development plan for the tri-county region based on the years 1975 and 1990.

The purpose of the hearing is to present to residents of Clinton, Eaton and Ingham counties the opportunity to examine the proposed plan and comment on aspects of the plan which are of particular interest to them individually or of interest to their own "Metro-Center" area.

Metro-Center is the new term set forth by the Tri-County Regional Planning Commission to denote those centers of social and economic activity within the Tri-County Region whose total area of influence extends beyond municipal or county boundaries.

The widespread area of influence between a great number of the Metro-Centers in the Region is the basis for the Tri-County Regional Concept. For without this recognized interaction and interdependence between the many Metro-Centers, there would be little need for a Regional Planning effort.

the problems being caused by the people in their anxiety to catch some coho salmon.

The group then visited the St. Johns Hardwood Co. on County Farm Road where they saw logs debarked, logs sawed, slab wood chipped and lumber graded and stored. Harold Hamilton explained the operation of the saw mill and they purchase all species of Michigan lumber to saw.

Besides the demand of the lumber for building pallets, furniture and buildings, nothing is wasted, as the sawdust is sold for bedding and the slabs are chipped and sold for the manufacturing of paper. For many of the members it was their first experience in observing a saw mill in operation.

AT LAKE VICTORIA the members and parents learned about soil profiles and the type of soil in that lake area from Sheldon Holcomb of the Soil Conservation Service. Several examples of soil profiles were on display for the group. Bob Yager of the Mid-Michigan District

Litter barrel contest open

A new contest will be on the agenda for 4-H'ers of the county. The Cooperative Extension Service is offering a prize to the club that can devise the best 4-H litter barrel.

Each club in the county will have a chance at the prize by following six easy rules:

- 1) Use a 50-gallon barrel.
- 2) Paint it green or white.
- 3) Print Keep America Beautiful on it in large letters.
- 4) Put the club name on it.
- 5) Select a slogan to put on the bottom.
- 6) Find a good location for the barrel.

The award for the winner will be a trophy and a picture and story in the paper.

The best barrel will be selected on a point system according to quality of painting, decorating, neatness, the slogan, printing, indication of use, location of barrel, number of club members helping, and number of barrels put out.

Literature and ideas on community beautification may be had by writing: Keep Michigan Beautiful, Inc., 28165 Greenfield Road, Southfield, Mich. 48075

Bath honor roll lists 72 students

BATH—Bath High School released the names of 72 honor students on the last honor roll of the school year last week.

Health Department explained to the members what soil percolation is. Soils must have certain minimum ability to absorb water from the drain field before approval of home construction is granted with a septic tank waste disposal system.

The difference in fish species were explained by Bud Jacobs of the Michigan Conservation Department. He explained how a person identifies fish, what fish feed upon and what they are doing to develop a fish program for various bodies of water in the state.

Water and boating safety was demonstrated by Trooper Ivan Teshka of the Michigan State Police with instruction on how you might save a person from drowning, what to do when your boat capsizes and the use of scuba diving equipment.

Trooper Teshka emphasized the danger of swimming in gravel pits and other unguarded areas in hopes the tragedy of the Lansing girl who drowned recently could be avoided. He also explained the new law stating that all boats must have a life preserver for each occupant on board and discussed the qualifications for operating a power boat.

The fun day consisted of fun as well as education. Members enjoyed swimming, fishing and even wading in the lake on the hot sunny day. Conservation 4-H projects have many opportunities available to youth. Education takes place through many opportunities and activities as the Conservation Fun Day provided members many new experiences in forestry, soils, water safety and fish.

Registration of handguns in county climbing toward new year's record

Registration of handguns is proceeding at a record level in Clinton County during 1968, although the number of concealed weapons permits are down a little bit.

While stricter gun control legislation is getting a lot of publicity nationally, more guns are being purchased and carried. In Clinton County, some 232 revolvers have been registered with the Clinton County sheriff's office so far this year, compared to 448 registrations during all of 1967.

The county clerk's office has issued 82 concealed weapons permits during the first five months of 1968. That's a little behind the pace of 262 permits issued during 1967, but part of the reason has been that the gun board, which rules on all permit requests, hasn't met as often as usual this year.

The permits to carry a concealed weapon are for three years. Mrs. Laura Ripple, deputy in the county clerk's office, said the permits are all restrictive and that "hunting and target shooting" are the reasons given for the majority of requests for permits.

Very few general permits are issued, she said, and most of these are for police officers or part-time officers.

More women than ever are seeking permits to carry a gun, Mrs. Ripple noted, with most of them also listing "target shooting and hunting." "But they don't say what they're hunting or what the target is," she commented.

Registration of handguns has been climbing steadily during the last six years, while concealed weapons permits have shown a sure but unsteady rise.

Registrations have climbed from 194 in 1962 to 243 in 1963, to 269 in 1964, to 356 in 1965, then dropped to 331 in 1966 and shot up to 448 in 1967. The 232 total so far this year is over half of last year's total, and the year is not half over.

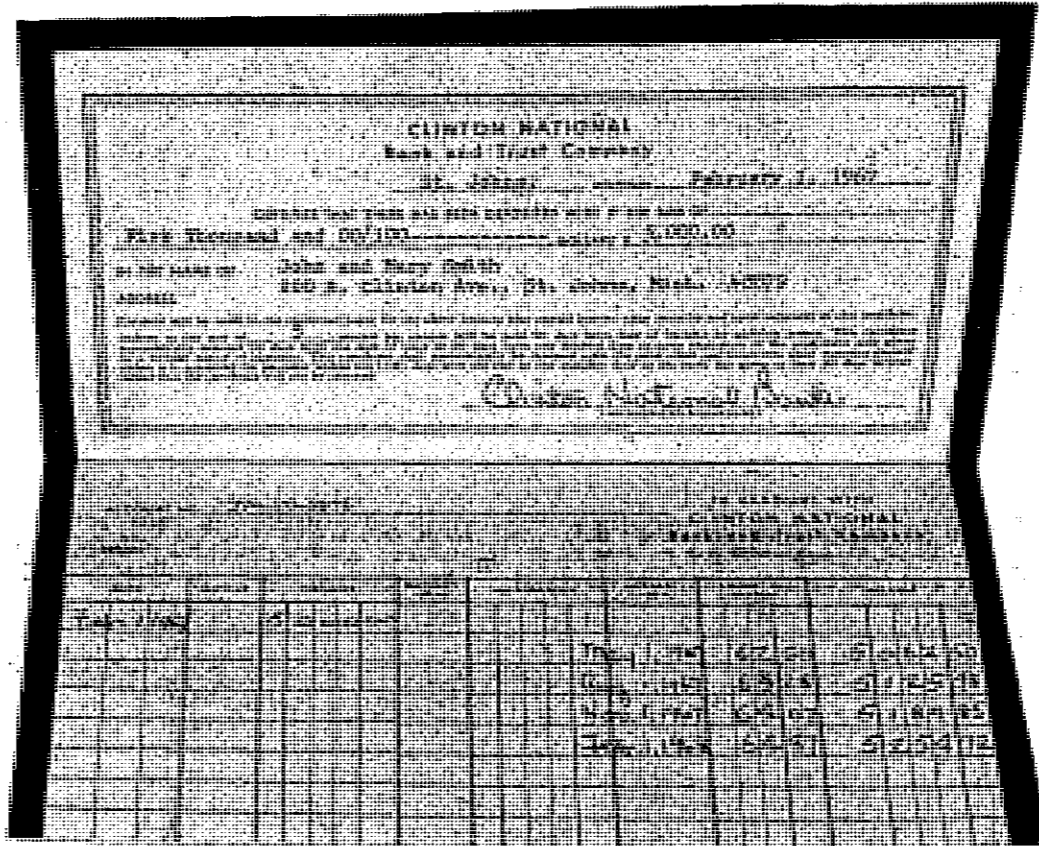

Concealed weapons permits numbered 181 in 1962, dropped to 177 in 1963, and then rose to 226 in 1964 and 234 in 1965. The year 1966 showed a slight decline to 228, but in 1967 the number went back up to a new high of 262. The five-month total for 1968 is 82.

Georgia visitors study school's 'team' program

If any credit should be given for last week's true-summer weather, likely candidates would be three visitors from Conyers, Ga.

They were in St. Johns to study the St. Johns Public Schools' team approach to special services, a federally-financed pilot project started last fall.

The visitors were William D. Osborne, coordinator of evaluation, and dissemination for a similar project in Conyers, Mrs Jape Wallis, school nurse, and Miss Barbara Brown, school social worker.

The trio met Tuesday and Wednesday with John Furry, director of the St. Johns special services team, and team staff members. The purpose of the visit was to gather information about the St. Johns program, its successes and failures, and to see how the information would fit the Conyers program.

Furry said the St. Johns team was likewise learning something from the Conyers experiences.

THE CONYERS PROGRAM is similar to that of St. Johns but is more extensive. It, too, is financed under Title III of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 and is a three-year pilot program. Whereas St. Johns' program is staffed by part-time personnel covering only two schools (Central and East Essex), the Conyers program is district-wide and is handled by a staff of nine full-time people and two part-time persons.

Osborne explained that the Conyers school system encompasses all of Rockdale County and is about 25 miles east of Atlanta. The schools have an enrollment of 4,200 students and a district population of 16,500.

Conyers itself has a population of 3,500.

The Conyers Title III project is a pupil personnel services demonstration Center with two major purposes — service to the faculty and students of the district and serving as a demonstration for the state of Georgia on how a pupil services program can operate. It received a $337,000 federal grant this year.

Osborne said the pilot program will continue next year. It involves a team approach to student services, like St. Johns' program, with a director, administrative assistant, associate director, school psychologist, school social worker, elementary counseling specialist, secondary counseling specialist and a school nurse, all full-time. A psychiatrist and a physician are part-time staff members.

St. Johns special services Director John Furry (left), talks over his pilot program in the St. Johns schools with visitors from Conyers, Ga., where a similar program is being undertaken. The visitors are Mrs. Jane Wallis, school nurse at Conyers, Miss Barbara Brown, school social worker, and William D. Osborne, coordinator of evaluation and dissemination.

'It's the berries' time in Michigan

By HELEN B. MEACH
Extension Home Economist

"It's the berries" time coming up in Michigan. With hot weather, ripening will be fast and a shortened season may result.

At best, the strawberry season is short so don't let the berries get away from you. Keep check on the supermarket, your favorite farm market, or -lucky you- your very own berry patch.

What berries are grown in Michigan and which varieties are best for what use? Nationally Michigan usually ranks fourth in strawberry production. The main varieties in Michigan are Midway, Robinson, Sparkle and Early Dawn.

Midway, accounting for 75 per cent of the acreage, produces large, glossy, dark-red, firm fruit that freezes well. It is the preferred variety because it holds its shape well, possesses excellent flavor and is red throughout.

ROBINSON IS NOTED for its mild flavor, large size and bright glossy color. It is sold for fresh market, lacking firmness desired for frozen berries.

Sparkle is a late season variety of medium size and high quality. It makes an excellent frozen berry.

Early Dawn ripens three to five days earlier than other commercial varieties in Michigan and is sold primarily for the fresh market.

Blueberries are favorites in many families. We harvest both wild and cultivated blueberries in Michigan. In the cultivated acreage and production our state ranks second, nationally.

Michigan varieties are Jersey, Bluecrop and Rubel. Bluecrop produces the largest berries; it ripens earlier and is usually found in our fresh fruit markets.

Berries deserve tender care. Wash them just before you plan to use them because moisture hastens mold and breakdown of the tender fruit cells. For best flavor and least waste use berries within a day or two after picking or purchase. Blueberries are better keepers than strawberries, but a week in your refrigerator is pushing storage goodness and good quality.

Besides using berries in our favorite ways as shortcake, fruit cocktails, parfaits, salads, fruit plates, and jams and jellies, the most favorite of all is berry pie. Go ahead, fix all the berry favorites; try new recipes—it is berry time in Michigan.

WATER TOWN CHARTER TOWNSHIP MINUTES

June 10, 1968

The June meeting of Watertown Charter Township was called to order by Supervisor Openlander with all Board members present.

Minutes of the Regular May meeting were read and approved except for one correction. Minutes of the Special May and June meetings were read and approved.

Mr. Openlander stated to the Board that the matter of the Sudden, Inc. request for sand and gravel on the Glerke property was denied by the Clinton County Zoning Commission due to the fact that the property was zoned residential.

Mrs. Lipps was present to request of the Board replacement of the monument on her two burial spaces in the Wacousta Cemetery. After explaining the Rules and Regulations of the Cemetery to her, she was informed that there was nothing the Board could do at this time.

Discussion was had relative to the length of time for the American Flags to be left on the Veterans graves at the Cemetery due to vandalism, and since there is no law that can be found on this subject, the Sexton was instructed to take the flags down June 11th.

The matter of repairing or replacing the sign at the Wacousta Cemetery was discussed at great length, and Mr. Openlander was instructed to appoint a committee to investigate the cost of a new sign, material and placement and to report at the next regular meeting.

Motion made and supported that the Township purchase the cement mixer now being used at the Cemetery. Motion carried.

The Board concurred with the Planning Commission's recommendation that Ellwood Day be allowed to place a trailer on his property for the use of his mother during her lifetime.

Treasurer's report read and placed on file.

Bills were read and motion made and supported that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for the same.

There being no further business, meeting adjourned.

Watch the enzymes in laundry

by LORRAINE SPRAGUE
Extension Home Economist

Enzymes? Most of us associate "enzymes" with thoughts of food and digestive processes. Now we will hear of them in relation to laundry processes. This term added to "durable press cycle," "soil release finishes" and others helps to make up an entirely new laundry vocabulary. To keep up-to-date, we we each must learn what these terms mean and look for them on product labels.

Our first introduction to "synthetic" detergent was about 35 ago. Since then we've heard of fluorescent brighteners, water conditioners, low sudsing detergents and pre-measured tablets of detergents and bleaches. Without a doubt all of these have contributed to better laundering results once we learned how to use them. Now the use of enzyme additives in presoaking and washing products represents the very newest approach to the removal of certain stains and soils during the washing process.

Just as enzymes perform in the human digestive process in breaking down food into more digestible and assimilable forms, enzymes incorporated into presoaking and washing products serve as agents to speed the breakdown of certain soils and stains into less complex forms. Though there are different kinds of enzymes, greatest emphasis is on those that will assist in the break-up and subsequent removal of protein type stains. Such stains as those from blood and egg (presently very difficult to remove from many fabrics) would be affected. Another type of enzyme will attack stains from starchy substances.

Enzyme containing detergents and pre-soaking products are already on the test market in parts of the United States. Read labels and watch advertising to know when they become available locally.

MOSTLY For MEN

by
CHUCK FLYNN

Finding unusual ways to prepare various dishes is a secret to the pleasures of cooking outdoors. A baked potato is always good accompaniment for a steak or a roast prepared on the grill, and here's a different method of preparation to give your guests a world of flavor.

Select large red potatoes—one per person—and split lengthwise down the middle. In each half make a score with a paring knife.

Fill the score on one half with butter and the score of the other half with grated parmesan cheese. Cover one side with thin slices of white onion.

Press the two halves together and wrap tightly in heavy foil, being sure that you have a good seal. In a 2 or 3-pound recipe, bake one hour at 400 degrees. It may take a little longer on an outdoor grill depending on the heat level of your fire. At any rate you can test for doneness by gently squeezing the potato.

Cut open the foil and add additional butter or sour cream to serve. I think you'll like the delicate blending of the flavors of the butter, cheese, onion and potato.

INCIDENTALLY, WHEN YOU'RE PLANNING meals, especially the buffet type for family or guests, don't overlook the appeal of Canadian bacon. Canadian bacon is cured pork tenderloin and comes in long rolls.

While it is excellent sliced and fried, I personally prefer to cook Canadian bacon in a 2 or 3-pound piece. Here's a good recipe for baked pepper-crusted Canadian bacon.

Put a two-pound piece, fat side up, on a rack in a roasting pan. If it does not have a good layer of fat, place two strips of bacon over the top. Pour over 1/2 cup of beer or ale and bake in a 350-degree oven for a half hour, basting frequently.

Sprinkle the fat generously with freshly-ground black pepper and bake another 45 minutes. It's delicious sliced thin and served either hot or cold.

If you want to prepare this recipe outdoors, place the Canadian bacon in heavy foil, cupping the sides to hold the beer when you pour it over. Seal with a store wrap and put on your grill 2 or 3 inches from the bed of coals.

After it has steamed 30 minutes, open (with gloves) and apply the pepper coating, then reheat for the remainder of the cooking time.

If you desire, you can do Canadian bacon on a rotisserie, cooking until well heated through. Pepper when the fat becomes soft. Baste with warm beer or with a mixture of equal parts butter and vinegar.

Graduation memories linger on at Bath High

By MARILYN SIDEL
Bath High School

BATH (C)—Thursday, June 7, 1968, was a day that will long be remembered by the Class of '68 as it was the day of graduation. Graduation was held in the high school parking lot. The senior high band played "Pomp and Circumstance" and "Music for a Ceremony".

There was also other music supplied by members of the senior class. The senior ensemble, consisting of Rev James L. Burtleigh of the Bath Baptist Church.

The high school chorus sang "You'll Never Walk Alone" and "Halls of Ivy". The people attending the service sang "Faith of Our Fathers" and "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

The main sermon was presented by Rev Robert Prange of Grove Bible Church. His topic was "Decisions That Count". The benediction was presented by Rev Ronald Benson of the Bath Metho-dist Church.

Fishing gear stolen

Eugene McKenzie and Clarence Lumbert of Lansing told Clinton County sheriff's officers some-one made off with their boat early Sunday morning while they were listening to a car radio about 150 feet away. The thieves rowed the boat across Muskrat Lake and made off with fishing tackle the men had left in the boat.

Yearly gains may offset yearly losses, and the oceans probably have a balanced salt input and output.

John B. Parker, principal, pre-sented certain seniors awards for having maintained a B or better average throughout the duration of their eight semesters of high school. The seniors who received these awards were Joy Barnes, Kenneth Black, Douglas Brook, Tamara Cowdry, William Harris, Carol LeClear, Kathy Munson, Don Rasmussen, Linda Richey, Eldonna Var millian, Elaine Waltz, Denny Whitkel, Mark An-ney, and Marilyn Wright.

Douglas Brook, salutatorian, was the first of three members of the senior class to give a speech. He talked about the importance of fun, friends, faith, and love to everyone, especially students.

Valedictorian Tamara Cowdry spoke about the values of pride and presented the question of "What is Pride?" to the audience. She brought out some good points about the importance of pride in everyday life. She conveyed her message well. She ended her speech by asking, "Aren't you parents proud tonight?"

The last member of the gradu-ating class to make a speech was William Harris, president of the graduating class. He brought out the point that a good percentage of the class had participated in sports during their four years of high school.

Japanese beetle trap being set

To detect the presence of Japanese beetle, a destroyer of more than 250 different types of vegetation, representatives of the federal and state departments of agriculture are placing 18,000 traps at various points in southern Michigan.

The bright yellow traps are baited with an aromatic oil which lures beetles. It is not an insecticide. Where beetles are found control measures are instituted to prevent spread of infestation.

In southern Michigan adult beetles emerge around July 1 from the soil where they have spent 10 months in the grub stage. The grubs destroy roots of many types of plants including lawn and turf. The adult beetle is a voracious feeder. It consumes fruits, vegetables, ornamental plants and other vegetation.

Director B. Dale Ball of the Michigan Department of Agriculture said each year the department's plant industry division combines forces with the USDA's plant pest control division in waging battle against the pest.

About 13,000 traps will be placed in metropolitan Detroit. Areas around Grand Rapids, Lansing and Bay City will receive about 1,000 traps each. There will be intensive trapping around Chikaming Township, Berrien County, where a beetle infestation was pinpointed in 1967.

Two areas in southern Michigan will go under quarantine for the pest on July 1. There will be intensive trapping here to find perimeters of infestation. These areas are the southern parts of Monroe and Lenawee counties and an area in and around Battle Creek that takes in parts of Kalamazoo, Calhoun and Barry counties.

Information gained from the trapping program, which will continue until early autumn, is used in planning control measures to halt spread of this destructive insect, Ball said.

Fire destroyed an average of more than a half million dollars of farm property a day in 1966, according to the Insurance Information Institute. Farm fire losses last year reached a record high of $195 million.

Strong pesticide control now law

Stronger pesticide controls, sponsored by the Michigan Department of Agriculture, were signed into law recently by Governor George Romney. Two separate bills give the state agricultural agency increased control over commercial pesticide applicators and new power to restrict use of pesticides and other chemicals known as "economic poisons."

Governor Romney asked for immediate effect for an amendment (H. B. 3876) concerning registration of economic poisons. This gives the state agriculture department full authority to deny registration of a pesticide in Michigan. Previously the law required that chemical firms be allowed to register under protest, under certain circumstances, even if denied registration by the agriculture department.

Director B. Dale Ball of the Michigan Department of Agriculture said that registration of such chemicals may be denied under the amended law, upon scientific recommendations of the Michigan State University Experiment Station. He pointed to the department's recent withdrawal of DDT for mosquito control as an example of similar action.

THE SECOND MEASURE amends the 1959 law licensing commercial outdoor applicators of pesticides and other economic poisons. This amendment (H. B. 3683) gives the Michigan Department of Agriculture stricter controls over licensees. With the new law, according to Director Ball, pesticides applicators may be restricted to use of certain types of equipment or specific pesticides, according to their qualifications.

Both bills were originated and strongly endorsed by the Michigan Department of Agriculture. Michigan farm organizations supported the legislation.

Haylage potential high, MSU scientists report

Traditional belief that hay is "better" feed than haylage was challenged by Michigan State University research.

Dr. J. W. Thomas, MSU dairy scientist, reported a three-year test comparing hay with alfalfa silage (haylage) Wednesday at the annual meeting of the American Dairy Science Assn. at Ohio State University. The research was conducted in collaboration with Drs. L. D. Brown and J. T. Huber.

"Over a series of comparisons, we found alfalfa silage to be as good as, or better than, alfalfa hay," Dr. Thomas said. "As an average, the digestible energy values for silage dry matter was about 1.24 times that of hay, and the energy was slightly more digestible." The MSU dairy scientists also compared silage preserved with formic acid as well as from a field de-watering process (some moisture removed with mechanical pressure). Weight gain, milk production and digestibility were about the same for all silage preservation methods.

"This indicates that dairymen can get normal rates of gain or milk production feeding direct cut or wilted silage with reasonable amounts of grain," Thomas reported. "These facts, plus the relatively low labor requirement and ease of harvesting, suggest that dairymen should consider using more direct cut silage than is now produced."

'New wheat farm' applications due soon

A new farm wheat allotment may be established for 1969 crop wheat for farms that did not have a 1968 wheat allotment and can meet eligibility requirements.

A producer eligible to file an application is one with a farm for which no wheat allotment has been established, and for which neither the owner nor the operator has an interest in the wheat allotment on any other farm, who has available land and adequate equipment, and facilities for the successful production of a wheat crop on the farm, who during the last five years has had at least two years experience in producing wheat, and who as an operator expects to receive more than 50 per cent of his current years income from the total production on the farm, not including the anticipated income from wheat produced on a "new farm" allotment.

Applications for a new farm wheat allotment must be filed in the ASCS county office on or before June 30, 1968.

On June 11 the state and county committee opened bids received for the three quonsets they had offered for sale at our Elsie bldg.

ONLY ONE BID was accepted for one quonset; all others were rejected because they were below the minimum bid established by Commodity Credit Corp.

The two quonsets not sold will most likely be offered for sale at a later date.

St. Joseph county ASC Committee are having a storage bin sale at their Mendon bldg at 1:30 p.m., Thursday, June 27. Forty-one, 3,250-bushel rated capacity steel bins, 18 feet in diameter by 16 feet high, will be sold. The grain storage structures will be sold completely dismantled.

Irrigate muck, peat on calm days

Farmers of peat and muck soil should irrigate in the evening, night or early morning before wind velocity increases.

"A dry organic soil is about 80 per cent air," reports Robert E. Lucas, Michigan State University soil scientist. "Water filling the voids increases soil density and adhesiveness. This, in turn, is helpful for controlling wind erosion."

"Growers using irrigation for wind erosion control need to be kept informed on wind forecasts. It's difficult to obtain effective erosion control and even water distribution during high winds. In fact, it's almost an impossibility!"

Ugly and dangerous ... that's a weed patch

This is the time of the year when the initial growth of weeds reaches the ugly stage. If left unchecked since early spring they are tall enough and bushy enough to not only hide what is under them but what is beyond them.

Primarily tall weeds are a safety hazard. There are several spots around St. Johns where weeds have blocked the view of motorists at busy intersections and have already resulted in many near-accidents. In other areas the weeds hide small and sharp debris that is potential hazard for youngsters, now out of school, who like to think of tramping through tall weeds as an adventuresome safari through a jungle.

Safety is the prime consideration for weed control, but another important aspect is community pride. Tall weeds are not pretty; they are, as we said earlier, ugly. Their presence detracts from a nice-looking community. In a time when St. Johns residents need to take pride in their city, patches of tall weeds are certainly not a help.

There is a weed control ordinance and a nuisance ordinance on the law books of St. Johns. We're sure city officials are about to crack down and force the cutting of noxious weeds. It would behoove the owner of property sprouting tall weeds to have them removed on his own initiative before it's forced on him . . . or before a serious accident results.

Let's go to work on tax solution

School operation problems for this year are solved to a great extent, thanks to a forward-looking community of voters, but the same problem will crop up again next year unless some new method of financing local government is worked out.

It is almost universally felt that the property tax is not a fair tax in this day and age. If it is not, then it is up to our state Legislature to find and put into law a more equitable method. Citizens at-large should not get high hopes, however, because the solution will still be a tax.

A city resident, a school district resident or a county resident can no longer expect to get public services without paying for them. If he was lucky enough to have done so in the past, he should count his blessings and be prepared to do his share in the future.

Taxation is necessary. It is of utmost importance to the community, district and county that this taxation be as fair as possible. The organizations that plugged so hard for millage approval under the present system of taxation promised efforts to change that system before next year.

It is not too early to start. The future has a way of getting here pretty fast, and taxpayers may not be so lenient next year.

Dennis the Menace SAYS...

The forward look

By W. E. DOBSON

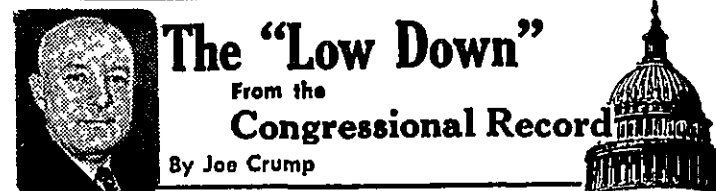

We cannot return to the days of our youth
No matter how hard we may try,
And memory falls on so many details
Of those days that so long have gone by:

We see them in fancy, those nostalgic days,
Though we could not realize them—
The role they would play in years yet ahead,
When we became women and men,

The freedom from worry in those early days
Was a feature enjoyed in our youth,
A schooling to later stand us in good stead,
When we came to grips with stern truth.

We cannot recall the mistakes we made then,
Nor properly always appraise
The drive and the motives of present day youth
Who are carrying on in these days.

Then let us who now move off the main stage
Aim to help but be slow to pick flaws,
In the part being played by our children today
As they give of their best to the cause.

FIXS—bureaucratic mess is revealed

Rep. John N. Erlenborn (Ill.) reveals how a bureau, little known to the public, adds to the confusion and frustration of Federal redtape.

"We have a fourth branch of government whose power and cost seems to know no restraint. It is the bureaucratic branch, and its numbers, its budgets, its rules and regulations overshadow the constitutional powers of Congress, the President and the courts . . .

"The Federal Information Exchange System was authorized in the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964. It was called an information center, and it was to inform local governments about the availability and use of OEO programs, and other relevant information."

"The Federal Information Exchange System is known as FIXS, and it is bureaucracy gone wild. Its records can help to explain why we in Congress are so often frustrated in our efforts to economize . . .

"TWO YEARS AGO, FIXS published a 50-volume study of Federal spending, state by state and county by county. In native good faith, I accepted the work as useful and accurate, and so did many of my colleagues in this House. . . . "For my part, I was astounded at the amount of federal aid which the Illinois volume showed for my district . . . It was explained later, however, that the tabulation included social security payments . . .

"OEO even thanked me when I called to its attention a nationwide multimillion error. The director explained that things would get better next year . . .

"I asked for a verification of the figures again the following year . . . Three months of letter writing and phone calls convinced me they were worse . . .

"I decided that FIXS' report was useless and . . . asked the General Accounting Office to make a study. I now have a report from GAO. . . GAO agreed that users of the Federal Information Exchange Systems should be warned about the reliability of the figures . . .

"When the time came to compile the summary for fiscal 1967, FIXS enlisted help from the Bureau of the Budget. Together, they asked expenditure information from 22 departments and agencies . . .

"EACH AGENCY was permitted to make its own decision on another question: Should expenditures be reported by fund, by appropriation, or by program?"

"Few federal agencies keep records on a county basis. The bureaucratic chieftains of FIXS seem to have looked upon this as only a minor obstacle in compiling a county-by-county summary . . . I find that there are 192 different ways of arriving at each of these figures . . . 192 opportunities for error . . .

"This is bureaucracy in action. This is the kind of nonsense which burdens American taxpayers. It is one small example of the busy-work which makes government costs unnecessarily high; the kind of busy-work which makes it difficult to attend to the social and educational programs which we believe are necessary . . ."

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT
Rep. Erlenborn fails to offer suggestions for correcting an accounting quagmire. And since when was social security welfare?

This is about nuts. Double K. Fancy Bridge Mix nuts. Warm, fresh out of the revolving tray in the white case in most any drugstore nuts. Delicious.

When I clerked in a drugstore, 25 years ago, my idea of a rich man was the guy who bought those Fancy Bridge Mix nuts. I used to swipe a handful when the pharmacist was pharmin' and boy, there was no better eating. But for 10 cents you didn't get enough to plug a soda straw.

When investing money in those days, a guy had to think of quantity as well as quality. That's why I bought Holloway suckers instead of Heath bars, Jaw-breakers instead of caramels—I could suck a lot longer than I could chew. It wasn't just that I wanted to be eating all day. It was also my big sister, Terrible Jean. If I finished my candy before Terrible Jean finished hers, she always said, "Haha, your candy is all gone and I've still got a lot left." This made me feel bad.

Of course, sometimes she finished first and I said the same thing to Terrible Jean. She would then slug me and that made me feel worse.

bought any of those nuts. When they were free at parties, I'd gobble a fistful every time the hostess turned her back. When she was looking, I would delicately extract one cashew from the dish and nonchalantly drop it on my tongue, slowly savoring the salt before quietly crunching the meat. I not only wouldn't pay for my own nuts, I was sneaky about the way I ate other people's nuts. I was a peanut phoney.

It was only the other day that it occurred to me that I was being silly. It was in a drugstore and, by reflex, I was gazing into the Double K case and wishing I could afford $1.05 for half a pound of those mixed nuts.

Suddenly I remembered what had happened the day before. My wife had sent me downtown to buy a birthday gift for son Eddie to take to a friend's ninth birthday party. The limit is $1 plus tax, she instructed, and I followed orders, getting a couple of 50 cent model cars. I also grabbed a birthday card from the nearby rack.

"My gosh," exclaimed Pat when I delivered the goods. "You certainly are the last of the big spenders."

I naturally protested, pointing out the 50 cent price tags.

"Yes," she said, "but the birthday card also cost 50 cents. Whoever heard of paying 50 per cent of the gift price for the card? The limit is 10 per cent."

All of which you may think is a pretty dumb reason for me to finally buy some mixed nuts. But I did. A whole half pound. I'd show her how really big spenders operate. No limit.

The bag of nuts caused quite a stir at home. My wife was the first to spy them.

"Who bought the expensive nuts?" she asked.

"I did," I confessed.

"You never buy nuts," she charged. "Something's screwy," Eddie agreed, "Daddy never buys nuts."

"I simply bought them because I am a big boy now and I can afford them," I explained. "For 25 years I have wanted to buy a bag of Double K Fancy Bridge Mix nuts. Now I have. I am no longer a grubby child. If I want some expensive peanuts, I am going to buy them. I am a new man."

"I told you there was something screwy," Eddie said.

After my family had its jollies, I sat down with a sexy book and began gobbling my peanuts. Man I felt wealthy and mature. But the nuts didn't taste so good. I didn't even finish the bag.

Now that I am convinced I can finally afford them, I probably won't buy any more mixed nuts. And I won't get such a nostalgic twinge from gazing longingly into a Double K case.

School board president comments

Dear Editor:
I want to take this opportunity to do two or three things. First of all I want to thank all of the people who voted for me in the recent school election. I sincerely appreciate their support and will continue to do the best I can for St. Johns Public Schools.

Secondly, I want to thank all the people who worked so hard on both this millage election and the last one. It was through their efforts mainly that this second election was a successful one. St. Johns area can now look forward to another year of quality education and with the opening this fall of the neighborhood elementary schools a new and different year for many of the children.

Thirdly, I want to comment for a few moments on the events of the last few months. I know that the financial situation of schools in Michigan has been the subject of much discussion in the last several months and because of that, much has been discussed about school operations in general and in particular about St. Johns.

There has been some fact and much rumor. It bothers me very much that some people will accept rumor for fact. As a school board member I have answered a lot of these rumors. All other members of the board have also done the same thing. However, I want to reiterate that if you have any questions about school operations, finances or anything else that you would like answered, please ask. Any school board member will be glad to answer you or if he does not know the answer he will find out for you.

The present method of school financing is also of great concern to us as a school board. We can assure you that the Michigan School Board Assn. plus the Superintendents Assn. and the M.E.A. are hard at work with the Legislature trying to come up with a different method of financing public education. The present method of using the property tax as the only local source is outdated and should be replaced.

School financing, higher wages, low farm income and many other things have caused much concern to local taxpayers these last few years. In a democratic society change does not come overnight, but in due time it does come. We hope that the concerned citizens of the St. Johns School District will continue to be concerned and will help us to bring about the needed changes in school financing.

Education of children in the United States is our most important product, and when education falls, even a little bit, the community, the state and the country suffers. We must continue to support education with our utmost efforts in order to keep the education process free from

RAMBLIN' WITH RINK

Sticks to roof of mouth

Products for the retail market come and go, but I don't suppose there's been a product developed that has had the long-lasting appeal of peanut butter. It has kind of "stuck to the roof" of the public appetite.

National Peanut Week is past, but it is never too late to pay tribute to something great. Peanut Week was March 6-16 with a purpose of "promoting sale of peanuts and all the various peanut products." The National Peanut Council sponsored it.

One of the best-known peanut products, outside of had breath, is Peanut butter. I was introduced to it at an early age and am old enough to be able to remember "back when" "crunchy" peanut butter first came on the market.

Crunchy peanut butter had a lot going for it, but the little chunks did slice up your tongue once in awhile while you were trying to scrape it off the roof of your mouth. I always preferred the "smooth" myself, although if it came down to a choice of crunchy or nothing, crunchy it would be.

I HAVE TALKED about peanut butter before and would like to reiterate that I like it. I eat it. It's good. It's good for you. It doesn't stick to the roof of your mouth like it used to. Most of it is homogenized now so that the top part isn't soupy and the bottom of the jar hard as the original peanut.

Peanut butter sandwiches are probably the only real threat to the hot dog and the hamburger as the all-American sandwich. In our family, actually, more peanut butter sandwiches are eaten than hot dogs and hamburgers.

PETERSBURG, TEXAS, POST: "If the government is going to pay certain people for doing nothing, as some are advocating, will those more efficient at doing nothing receive higher pay than others?"

CHILDRESS, TEX. REPORTER: "Guess we're old-fashioned, naive, and everything else that isn't modern, but it is hard for us to understand why anyone who is an American, who has spent his life here, who has read and seen conditions in other countries—can, for even a minute, give in to the civil disobedience occurring across the land...Free speech? Yes! But within the bounds of decency and respect for a nation that has nurtured and cared for us for more than a hundred years."

FIFTEEN FLAGS, a novel by Eric Hardman, is a book with a most interesting background. Set in Russia, the story deals with the American Siberian Expeditionary Force of 1918-1920, which joined the allied intervention in the Russian Civil War.

The American 27th and 31st Infantry Divisions were given the job of protecting the Trans-Siberian Railroad, and were drawn into the bitter conflicts of the Russian Revolution.

FIFTEEN FLAGS is peopled with interesting characters, mostly male and military, but there are a Czech countess and a Russian candy seller who brighten the scene.

"The author of FIFTEEN FLAGS lives in California and is best known for his screenplays, although this is his third novel.

With news of political campaigns flooding the news media, it is not surprising that two new books, recently received at Bement Public Library, deal with elections. One, written by Edmund Lindop primarily for the younger generation, is entitled THE FIRST BOOK OF ELECTIONS, but it is filled with information of which many adults are ignorant, so it is available in the adult section of the library.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS by Nelson W. Polsby and Aaron B. Wildavsky is a deeper, more involved book, dealing specifically with the mechanics of choosing a president of the United States. It covers the history and legends of most past elections, and is a very entertaining book, as well as an informative one. The authors are both professors of political science at the University of California in Berkeley, so the viewpoint tends to be a liberal one, but the book is essentially factual.

Speaking of presidents, biographies of two former presidents of the United States have just been placed on the shelves of Bement Library. DWIGHT DAVID EISENHOWER, by Alfred Steinberg, presents in detail Eisenhower's early life, his military career, and his political experiences. The book is written at a level which can be enjoyed by both adults and high school students.

FIRST IN THEIR HEARTS, a biography of our first President, George Washington, is from the pen of Thomas J. Fleming. Mr. Fleming is best known for his book about the Pilgrims entitled ONE SMALL CANDLE. FIRST IN THEIR HEARTS is one of the few biographies of our first President which come in less than five or six volumes. In only 131 pages, Mr. Fleming tells the story of Washington, and his book is generously illustrated with reproductions of many famous and fine paintings of the general and his wife Martha.

THE BIG TOP CIRCUS READING CLUB, a summer activity for fourth, fifth, and sixth graders, has started. The period of time has been extended this year to cover the 12-week stretch from June 3 through Aug. 24, during which time 15 books must be read. Youngsters may continue to register as late in the summer as they can, and still read the prescribed number of books.

FARMERS—YOUR "week" is changed. Farmers Week 1969 will be held March 17-21 on the Michigan State University campus.

Two biggest factors bringing about the change are the weather and their space needs. Snow and ice have plagued the farmers in recent years.

MSU enrollment and student needs have made it increasingly difficult to provide facilities the university would like for the large groups of farmers.

In setting the March date, Thomas K. Cowden, dean of the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources, expressed the hope it will permit more farmers to visit the campus under more pleasant circumstances.

How many people know artificial respiration by mouth-to-mouth resuscitation? How many parents have given some thought to what they would do if faced with that situation?

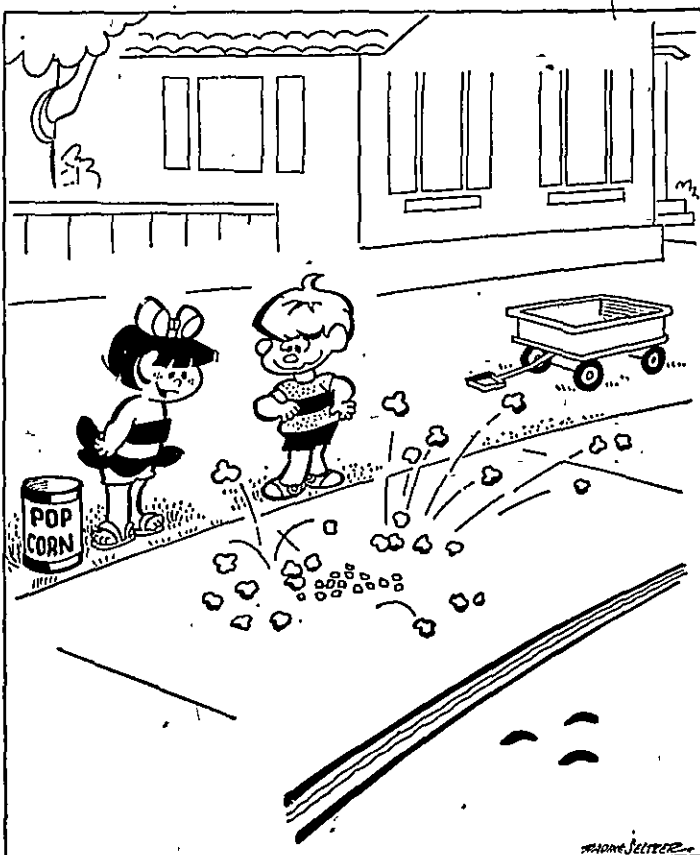

Mouth-to-mouth method of resuscitation is taught in most schools now-a-days. The Red Cross, Michigan State Police, and Michigan Heart Assn., instruct in junior and adult classes.

For best efficiency, enroll in a class where you can see the film and participate on Ruse-Anne. To become proficient it is necessary to participate with Ruse-Anne at every opportunity.

Information will help keep the victim, perhaps, staying alive and in a better condition, as the doctor will have a better chance when he does work on him.

Mouth-to-mouth resuscitation is not hard to do. You must know the cause; is the victim choking, drowning, is the condition resulting from electric shock, gas poisoning or drug poisoning, crushing injuries to the head, neck, or chest?
