School Board leases St. Joe gym facilities

The St. Johns School Board approved the rental of the St. Joseph School gym for the coming year at a cost of $1800. The gym will be used for Central Junior High and St. Joseph physical education.

The acquisition of the St. Joseph gym was made necessary because the high school facilities have become overcrowded and thus necessitated finding new facilities for the Junior high.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, the board awarded Egan Ford Sales, Inc. the bid on a 1/2 ton pickup to be used by the school maintenance department. Egan was the low bidder at $1719.86.

The board approved the purchase of new text books which follows their policy of upgrading its texts every few years. New books approved were: science, grades one through eight; physical science and shop, grade nine; modern geometry, grade ten; and physics, grade twelve.

PAUL REPATH was named to head the math department. This department has been without a department head since Esther Graham retired two years ago. Also approved was the graduation of Leona Marie Paseka who completed the requirements through the high school's correspondence classes.

The board will hold a special meeting Wednesday, June 28, to complete payments for the fiscal year which ends June 30. The next regular meeting will be Wednesday, July 14.

Ovid water meter deadline set

OVID — Residents here who wished to have the new remote controls for their water meters have until June 30 to make application. The cost of $15 will hold through that date, but officials are anticipating a price increase after July 1, according to Village clerk Clara Tubbs.

To date, 75 residents have asked for the new remote controls to be installed on their homes. Installation will be done in the near future.

THE REMOTE controls are meters in small square boxes which attach to the outside of a home, indicating both water usage and "alarms" when something is wrong with the meter.

The new remote controls offer many time saving features; mainly the ease in meter reading, meaning that city employees will no longer need enter homes where meters are in the basement. Monthly readings will begin with the completion of the new sewer project, replacing the quarterly readings now taken.

ACCORDING TO Mrs. Tubbs, the new meters will be mandatory when the new sewers are installed. A federal grant of $427,000 has been approved for the sewer project.

Persons interested in having the new remote units for their homes may call the village office or Cliff Saxton and leave their names and addresses.

4th plans are near completion

With the Fourth of July weekend drawing near, the St. Johns firemen are almost ready with their fireworks display. Working many evenings assembling the fireworks, the displays are almost complete.

The St. Johns Volunteer Firemen, in cooperation with the St. Johns Lions and Rotarians are planning the biggest Fourth of July celebration ever. The celebration will begin Saturday, July 1 and continue for four days, climaxing with a gigantic fireworks display on Tuesday evening.

THE FIREMEN HAVE reported that they have spent about $800 more for fireworks this year over last year. The emphasis has been placed on a larger aerial display.

The Crown Amusement Co., which provided the carnival set-up last year are returning with an expanded show and several larger-sized rides.

IN CONJUNCTION WITH the firemen's fireworks, the Lion and Rotary clubs are collaborating on an eat tent. In addition to this the Lions will also have a dunking booth set up on the grounds. Local Boy Scouts are planning on having a popcorn concession.

Federal-Mogul challenges Sealed Power and Saylor-Beall to a duel

Federal-Mogul Corporation of St. Johns has issued a challenge to the Sealed Power Corporation and Saylor-Beall Manufacturing Company to a blood duel for the coming bloodmobile which will be held in St. Johns on July 5.

The challenge was issued by Donald Gilson, personnel manager at Federal-Mogul, to Robert Gill, personnel manager at Sealed Power, and to Edward Morton, plant manager at Saylor-Beall.

LAST YEAR, Federal-Mogul became the first plant in the St. Johns area to have over 20 per cent of its employees donate blood at the bloodmobile. By achieving this goal, Federal-Mogul qualified all its employees to free blood, in case of need, even if they did not live in Clinton county.

Clinton county is part of the national American Red Cross Bloodbank Program in which blood is available free to anyone who resides within the county.

FEDERAL-MOGUL, by having 20 per cent of its employees donating blood qualifies all of its employees, whether they live within the county or not, to this free blood for themselves and their families.

In issuing the challenge, Gilson stated that, "Federal-Mogul could do it again, but he had some doubts as to whether his opponents could match F-M's results in having 20 per cent of their employees give blood."

IN RESPONSE TO this statement, Gill of Sealed Power stated, "My regards for our worthy opponent cautions me to say, no comment."

Donald Gilson, center, personnel manager at Federal-Mogul Corporation holds the card announcing the theme of the coming bloodmobile, "Spirit of '67". At the same time he issued his challenge to Robert Gill, left, of Sealed Power Corporation and Edward Morton, right, of Saylor-Beall Manufacturing Company to the blood duel set for July 5.

Morton of Saylor-Beall stated that "Saylor-Beall was probably as good in donating blood as they were in soapbox derby racing and that they always enjoy winning over Federal-Mogul."

"REGARDLESS OF THE outcome of this blood duel the benefits will be for their fellow Americans who might be in need of a life-saving pint of blood. This is especially true at this time of the year. With the Fourth of July weekend in sight, the possibilities of blood supplies being low are great, especially if the trend in holiday weekend accidents follows past weekends.

In keeping with the Fourth of July season, the local blood bank committee has decided on the theme "Spirit of '67" to urge area donors to give blood at this much-needed time. Directing the St. Johns bloodmobile is Mrs James Crosby, Mrs Leonard Puetz, Mrs John Paradise and Mrs Edward Jdzkowski.

A BLOODMOBILE telethon, in cooperation with General Telephone Company, will be held, June 29. This is earlier than normal, but because of the holiday weekend, it was decided that this would be the best time to do the calling.

Central Junior High going on new schedule

The school year of 1967-68 will find the Central Junior High on a different scheduling program. The 7th and 8th grade will be divided into five sections each. By breaking into five sections the class loads will be held to twenty-nine or thirty instead of thirty-seven or thirty-eight which they have been in the past. With only eight rooms to house the ten sections, a definite plan had to be devised. This type of scheduling program is new to St. Johns, but not new to many other communities.

The solution to the problem has all rural, but only some city students starting school at 8:30 a.m. The remainder of the city students will go at later times during the day. The rural students will be held all day because of the necessity of transportation, but the local students who go early will be dismissed earlier than 3:30 p.m. The remainder of the city students who go to school at a later time will be staying until 3:30 p.m. along with the rural students.

class at the St. Joseph gym. The St. Johns Public Schools will be running a cooperative program with them next year in this area.

Students will not know what section they are in until they buy their books which is sometime in August. Students will also be informed at that time what their schedule will be for the coming school year. Letters, along with the handbook, will be sent out near the middle of August telling the junior high students what days they may purchase their books, and giving them other pertinent information concerning the junior high program.

A COMPLETE AND thorough explanation of the scheduling will be given to the students when they enter Central Junior High in the fall, and if there are any questions at that time, Mr. Serrell, the Jr. High Principal will be glad to discuss the program.

THE ASHLEY Lions Club has donated $450 to assist in the purchase of two bass horns for the Ashley Band. The Club plans to donate an equal amount toward the purchase and erection of playground equipment north of the new nine room elementary school.

Firemen have busy evening

When St. Johns firemen get started on fire fighting, they don't mess around. Take last Tuesday for instance. Before the night was over they had answered three alarms in six hours.

None of them was serious. The last one occurred about 10 p.m. and was actually not a fire. A car had struck some object which punctured its gasoline tank, and about 18 gallons of gas ran out onto Clinton Avenue in the downtown area. Firemen washed it down.

The other two fires during the afternoon were of a similar nature. About 4 p.m. a rubbish fire in a back yard in the 500 block of South Lansing Street resulted in a call to the fire department, but it was not serious and firemen were out only a few minutes. About 20 minutes after that the department was summoned to East French Road between Welling and Gilson roads where a thunderstorm had knocked some wires down.

Warn city lot owners of weeds

Owners of vacant lot property in St. Johns were reminded this week of a city ordinance requiring the cutting of weeds.

All weeds must be cut within two weeks, or tickets will be issued by the police department, Police Chief Everett Glazier said.

The chief said several complaints have already been received by the department, and with the presence of the hay fever season the high weeds cause more than just a sore-eye problem.

Hospital kitchen is ready

The Clinton Memorial Hospital expansion program has been progressing very nicely, according to Harold B. Reed, hospital administrator.

The new kitchen, located on the southeast side of the hospital has been completed and is now in use. All the new kitchen equipment has been installed with the exception of the dishwasher. Due to an error on the part of the manufacturer, the wrong dishwasher unit was shipped and the old dishwasher was reinstalled for the time being.

LAST TUESDAY, the new kitchen conveyor system was put into operation for the first time, by the kitchen staff. Outside of a few minor problems which will be easily solved, the conveyor system will be a tremendous asset in getting the patient's meals ready.

The main addition on the front of the hospital is well underway and Reed stated that the second floor should be ready for occupancy about the first of July.

THE SECOND FLOOR unit will house the obstetrics department, plus the nursery and delivery rooms. With the nursery and obstetrics moved to the new wing, the present nursery will become the pediatric section. The present pediatric section will then be remodeled to a new and larger x-ray department.

Completion of the entire project is scheduled for Sept 1, but Reed said they would begin using parts of the new wing as they are completed.

Pino elected to Democratic post

Plastic bags to be used to collect blood here

Plastic bags instead of bottles will be used here for the first time to collect blood when the Red Cross Bloodmobile visits St. Johns July 5.

The process is far from being new and in fact is used almost universally now. The plastic bags have been used at the Lansing Regional Blood Center for about two years in collecting blood donations for special cases. In some instances of special cases, they have also been used here in St. Johns.

But starting July 1, bloodmobiles operating out of the Lansing regional center will use the bags only. Bottles are out. There are several reasons and advantages concerning the change.

FOR ONE THING, says the Red Cross, the bags are gentler than the bottles. Blood cells, like any other cells, do bruise, and experience has shown the blood stays in better condition in the softer, more "giving" bags than in the hard glass of the bottles.

Nurses who draw the blood find they have somewhat less trouble with donors when blood is drawn into the bags. The bags are attached to the tables below the level on which the donor lies, and so the blood can flow by gravity from the arm into the bag. Donors still have to squeeze the short stick, but not as much pressure is needed to force the blood into the bag as it is into the bottle placed at the same level.

"Once they get used to the new process, donors like it better," the Red Cross said.

Using the bags takes just a little bit longer than with the bottles, primarily because the bags are hung on small scales, which are used to weigh the blood in the bag. It takes a little time to adjust the scales. A total of 430 cubic centimeters of blood—and no more—is collected in each bag.

The members are planning to put up signs and slogans regarding horse safety along roadways as a community service project with places to be designated at the next meeting on June 26. The club is setting up a point system for the members who score the highest to receive a 4-H horse blanket. 4-H day at Tiger Stadium

That old tune comes to mind— " . . . at the ol' ball game." And that's just what will happen as "4-H Day at Tiger Stadium" comes nearer, says John Aylsworth, Extension 4-H Youth Agent, based in Clinton county.

All roads will lead to Detroit Saturday, July 8, as 4-H members, leaders, parents and friends head for Tiger Stadium and the game between Detroit and Boston. The admission is 50 cents each for these 4-H fans.

TICKET RESERVATIONS can be made through your County Extension Office, located at the Courthouse, St. Johns, telephone 224-3288. Ticket reservation and 50 cents for each member and adult must be turned into the Extension Office by Friday, June 30, if they want to attend the ball game at this special 4-H day price. Tickets will then be ordered through the State 4-H Office at Michigan State University.

Game time is 2:15 p.m. Tickets will be distributed to the adult accompanying the members between 1 and 2 p.m. the day of the game at Gate 3.

Don't strike out! Get on the bandwagon and make it a big "4-H Day at Tiger Stadium."

4-H Club Chatter

By JOHN AYLSWORTH
Extension 4-H Youth Agent

Over 100 4-H members, leaders and parents participated in the County 4-H Conservation Fun Day. They learned about the different types of projects available in conservation by viewing displays, demonstrations and talks by the various resource people. In the morning they learned about rocks and minerals, entomology, wild flowers, lichens, trees and toured Darrell Shinberry's pine plantings. In the afternoon they learned about gun safety, shooting skills, soil profiles and aquatic life.

Ten members are putting conservation practices they learned that day to work as they have planted a tree won at the tree identification contest. The winners were: Gary Bernath, Susan Falvor, Joe Thelen, Earlene Flegler, Dick Cuthbert, Gloria Kurncz, Brenda Harden, Renee Makara, Diane Schomisch and Beverly Easlick.

1967 State 4-H Club Week is now history to the 12 Clinton county 4-H delegates who attended. It was a wonderful experience that every 4-H member should attend if they have the opportunity. The program gave the delegates an opportunity to meet new people as there were 1,150 delegates from throughout Michigan who attended. As one 4-H member said "The Club Week Conference made a big impression upon me and from now on my thinking will revolve around "being myself" idea." Teen citizenship was the theme for the 1967 conference.

Next week nearly 100 4-H boys and girls will be attending the Clinton county 4-H camp at Hastings from June 26-30. Only a couple of openings for boys are still available. This

Don't forget the 4-H Talent Show to be held Friday, June 30th, 7:30 p.m. at St. Johns high school in St. Johns. Clubs are to send in their entries by Friday, June 23. There are four classes consisting of vocal, instrumental, dancing and dramatics for small groups as well as large groups. The public is invited to attend this evening talent program. There is a charge of 25 cents per person.

The 4-H softball teams started their season this past weekend, but because of the rain, a number of the games were postponed and will be played at a later date. Thursday evening Stony Creek won over French's Corners 20 - 1 in the Green League.

There are plenty of good spots around

Time to head for the ol' fishin' hole

BY WALTER HENRY AILLES

How many people in St. Johns think there is no place to go fishing around here? I bet you a lot of people do. Well! There are streams and rivers, lakes, ponds and gravel pits in Clinton County with plenty of fish for everybody. There are pike, bass, bullheads, crappies, catfish, sunfish, creek chubs and bluegills just waiting for anybody willing to try their luck on one of Clinton County's little known fishing spots.

The thing is you have to know where to fish; you can't just take a hike through the country and drop a line and worm in the first creek you come to and catch a fish. You might be fishing in the right creek but not the right spot. Your worm could just set there the whole day without a bite and without you even seeing a fish, when less than 100 feet away around the next bend may be a deep pool loaded with fish, or around the next bend after that may be a rare catch such as brook trout or small mouth bass just waiting for you to drop a nice fat nightcrawler on its nose.

Some places you ought to give a try are Maple River, Looking Glass River, Stoney Creek, (anywhere west of Grove Road—east of Grove Road the fishing is terrible because the stream is so small that it won't support anything larger than creek chubs). Some of the lakes, ponds, and gravel pits you ought to try are Round Lake, Alward Lake, Muskrat Lake, Burke Lake and Johnson's Gravel Pit.

MAPLE RIVER:

Maple River is an ideal river for pike, bass, walleyes, catfish, suckers, river chubs, creek chubs, carp and crappies. In fact, all these fish are in the Maple River. The best places to fish are by the Elsie Dam for bass and pike and near Maple Rapids for pike.

LOOKING GLASS RIVER:

Looking Glass River has just got to be the best place to fish for pike in Clinton County. In fact, that's the only fish you can catch in Looking Glass River. Any good fisherman with the right equipment, the right know-how and who fishes in the right spot at the right time is bound to catch on to a fierce fighting pike some day. And as you hook a big one, look out, because you have a king size fight on your hands.

STONEY CREEK:

The most fun creek around here to fish is Stoney Creek. For large creek chubs, Stoney Creek is about the top place in Clinton County. Out past Grove Road, the creek chubs get really large, some up to eight inches long. Although they average around four and a half and five inches long, they give up a good struggle for their size and they're almost as good eating as smelt. The best bait to use for creek chubs is worms and artificial small flies. Besides creek chubs, rock bass, suckers and small brook trout live in Stoney Creek.

ROUND LAKE:

If you don't like fishing in weeds, then Round Lake is the lake for you because it doesn't have very many weeds. But if you are such a good fisherman that weeds don't bother you, I wouldn't advise fishing there because the fishing is only fair and all you catch are small bluegills, pumpkinseeds, and other sunfish. At night you can catch bullheads. There are also large mouth bass and northern pike in Round Lake, but there are so few of them that hardly any get caught.

Round Lake is about six miles east of US-27, off Round Lake Road, in Victor Township.

ALWARD LAKE:

Alward Lake is the best place to go for carp in Clinton County that I know of. The carp get so big in Alward Lake it's hard to believe. I have seen carp that would probably weigh over 10 pounds swimming in the lake only a few yards out from shore. I have also seen more carp in Alward Lake than any other lake in Clinton County. And I wouldn't be surprised if someday somebody hauled in a 20-pounder out of there. And if you don't think they get that large, the state record is 42 pounds and the world's record is a real giant 55 pound 5 ounces. The best bait to use for carp are doughballs. Besides carp, Alward Lake also has bass, pike and panfish in it.

Alward Lake is a little over a mile west of US-27 at the intersection of Alward and Loomis roads in Olive Township.

MUSKRAT LAKE:

Muskrat Lake also called Merle Beach can be a darn good lake for catching fish if you know how to fish in the weeds. On a good day when the fish are biting good you might be able to catch your limit. And that is 25 for panfish in Michigan. In one day's fishing last year my dad and brother and I caught 40 of various species—bluegills, pumpkinseeds, perch and sunfish. These fish furnish good eating and sport if caught on light enough line. A quarter-pound sunfish puts up no fight at all hauled in on 20 pound test line—no fight at all! But the same fish hauled in on 1 1/4 pound test line is a real fighter. Leave the 20 pound stuff for pike fishing. By going after little fish use very light line and you will be amazed at how much fun you can have.

This lake also has largemouth bass if you like going after bigger fish. Best time to fish for these fish is very early morning, in the late afternoon and after sunset until about an hour or two after nightfall. Use surface lures after sunset and in early morning.

Another fish worth going after that can be caught in Muskrat Lake is the crapple. These fish are the largest fish in the sunfish family that average around one half pound and sometimes grows over three pounds with a 1 1/2 pounder worth taking to a taxidermist. They are good eating and put up a scrappy fight if taken on light line. In case you don't know what they look like, they are yellow to white in color and have black spots all over their sides. They average around seven inches long, but one that was caught out of there by a man who runs a bait shop was 17 inches long, and he has it hung up on the wall in his bait shop.

Muskrat Lake is located in Olive Township west of DeWitt Road and south of Jason Road.

BURKE LAKE:

Burke Lake at the Rose Lake Wild Life experiment station is stocked with brook and rainbow trout. But there are certain restrictions that pertain to that lake. Fishing is allowed from 5 a.m. to 9 p.m. only. The daily limit is two, and they must be 12 inches long. No boats are allowed on the lake and you must use either artificial wet or dry flies.

JOHNSON'S GRAVEL PIT:

There are three types of fish caught in Johnson's gravel pit—largemouth bass, green sunfish and bullheads. Green sunfish are the smallest fish in the sunfish family, seldom getting over six inches long and averaging between four and five inches long with the little ones around three. These fish make good eating, but you have to catch an awful lot in order to make a worthwhile meal. And that is not very hard to do because they will bite almost anything they can get into their mouths, although worms are usually best baits. On a good day you can catch your limit without much trouble.

Largemouth bass are also found in Johnson's gravel pit but they don't get too big and most of them you have to throw back because it is illegal to keep one under 10 inches. But there are a few keepers caught out of these but I haven't heard of one yet over 12 inches. Bullheads are also caught out of there, but it is not very productive unless you fish at night.

Johnson's gravel pit is located off Gilson Road north of Colony Road in southeastern Greenbush Township northeast of St. Johns.

Safety frames and tractor cabs

SAFETY FRAMES and tractor cabs are new equipment showing up on tractors of many different makes. George McQueen, Clinton county extension agricultural agent thinks farmers should consider the value of this investment the next time they purchase a new tractor.

The safety frame provides a protection to the operator when a tractor tips or rolls over. Many accidents claim the lives of the drivers and evidence shows these offer protection. They also offer some sunshade protection for the operator.

offer protection against upset and turn-overs. Many companies are considering making the safety frame standard equipment. More and more companies are offering the tractor cab as an added feature.

"IF THE FARMER will consider the number of hours spent on the tractor during his lifetime, the cost of this extra equipment may not be too expensive on a per hour basis," the county agent explained.

Save time and shoe leather..

TRACTOR CABS are also being used to a greater extent. The county agent says they are not a luxury when you consider many farmers spend 1,000 hours a year on the tractor. This would be equivalent to driving a car 50,000 miles a year. After ten hours of tractor operation, the operator is likely to become accident prone. The cab offers some protection from wind, dust, heat, sun and exhaust fumes. The cabs also

Sewing made easy through 4-H course

AN ACCELERATED course on "Your Sewing Machine" prepared exclusively for volunteer adult and junior 4-H leaders copes with the handling and sewing of the various man-made fibers and the natural fibers as well.

In the 12 years that the course has been offered, in excess of 75,000 women have learned about correct use and care of the sewing machine. They in turn have instructed nearly one-half million 4-H girls engaged in clothing, home improvement, child care and other projects where machine sewing is involved.

THE COURSE IS supervised by extension clothing specialists and personnel from the Singer Company, sponsor of the program.

Value of the course is demonstrated in the need for being able to sew on some 20 man-made fibers, plus innumerable blends, found on yard goods counters today. New methods and sewing equipment have been developed to work with modern materials. Care of the sewing machine is also taught.

MISS JESSIE HUTTON, educational director for Singer and co-author of the 4-H leaders' manual "Your Sewing Machine" used in the course, points out some of the techniques for handling new materials.

For example, stretch fabrics, filmy sheers, knits, tricots and crepes need to be guided both in front and behind the machine pressure foot. For stretch fabrics, firm tension is applied, but for sheers, knits and tricots, gentle tension is needed. Old standbys such as napped wool, corduroy, velveteen and velvet must be stitched in the direction of the pile or nap.

KNOWING THE RIGHT needle and thread and tension to use can make the difference between sewing smooth seams and puckered or broken thread seams.

For information about the course, contact the County Extension office. The only requirement is that the person be an adult or junior 4-H leader. All participants get a set of sewing guide books.

School's out; prepare for bigger food bill

By Helen B. Meach Extension Home Economist

"School's out" is the joyous shout from the younger generation. Parents moan "What'll we do to keep them happy all summer?"

Time was when parents cheered when school was out because the kids could help with the work. Then the kids did the morning. But today it seems to be more important "to be happy and have a good time" than it does to work. This is the day of planned recreation and planned good times.

Thank goodness for the kids that do eventually realize that "real happiness comes from the joy of accomplishment and even from the work and effort that goes into it."

SCHOOL IS OUT and that can mean irregular hours, disrupted schedules, eating at all hours and lots of extra mouths to feed.

All signs point to the need for an extra firm grip on the purse strings to control the food budget during the approaching confusion that comes with summertime.

Cost of some foods is increasing including meats and some fresh and processed fruits and vegetables. Consumer Marketing Specialists say it this way: "Meat prices are headed up again. By mid-summer steak will cost about 10 per cent more than it does today. Pork chops and bacon will be up more than 10 per cent. Meat prices may rise high enough to send poultry demand and prices climbing, too."

SO IF YOU HAVE freezer space this could be the time to take advantage of the present prices on meat. Stock up on present specials for midsummer. "Summer" time can be the time for the kids to learn about food costs and food planning. Let them in on the family food budget, it's a good family project and you may save dollars.

THERE ARE LESSONS to be learned by both adults and the kids when the food costs are totaled. How many non-food items were added into the food bill—the aspirin for Dad's headaches and the hair spray for both mom and daughter. How about the paper goods and cleaning supplies?

A realistic look into summer food spending can help to make "school's out" a more joyous time for both parents and the kids.

Miss Phinney honored

Over 130 relatives and friends attended an open house in honor of Linda Sue Phinney given by her parents, Mr and Mrs Arnold Phinney of 3400 E. Price Road, Linda was graduated from Rodney B. Wilson High School.

Attending at the refreshment table were Mrs Dorothy Phinney, Linda's aunt; Bonnie Phinney and Dolores Bauer, her sister, Kathleen, attended the guest book. A surprise guest was A/Sc Dan Ritter from Lockport AFB, N.Y.

MRS HERBERT PAPANFUSS

Honeymooning in Bahama Islands

ELSIE—Honeymooning in Freeport, Grand Bahamas are newlyweds, Mr and Mrs Herbert Papanfuss, Mr and Mrs Otto Papanfuss of 515 Brandon, Owosso, are parents of the groom.

The double ring ceremony was officiated by Rev Ralph Woodard of Duplain. Lloyd H. Hegman assisted.

The setting for the Saturday evening wedding was the St. Johns United Church of Christ of Owosso. William Kaltrider at the organ accompanied Darlene Telfer who sang "A Wedding Prayer" and "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee".

THE BRIDE wore the traditional wedding gown of Chantilly lace, its fitted bodice designed with Sabrina neckline edged with pearls and full length sleeves. The five tiered skirt was fashioned with French sweeptrain and self fabric bows down the back. The chapel length veil scalloped with Chantilly lace was held in place with a double crown of pearls and aurora crystals. She carried a bouquet of white cymbidium orchids and Martha vine on the white Bible, received when she became a member of the Elsie Chapter OES.

Miss Janice Levey was her sister's maid of honor and Mrs Elmer Clapp of Elsie served as matron of honor. Miss Nancy Holton of Elsie and Miss Jean Fickes of Lansing were bridesmaids. They wore identical floor length gowns of green dotted swiss, fashioned with fitted bodice, scoop neckline and short sleeves.

THE JUNIOR BRIDESMAID Bonnie Kimball, a cousin of the bride, of St. Johns, and flower girl, Ingrid Reiting of Owosso, cousin of the groom wore dresses the same as the bride's other attendants.

Vaughn Begick of Bay City was the groom's best man with Malcolm Johnston of Petoskey, Ernest Cascini, of New York City and John McKeown of Decatur, Ill., as groomsmen. Bruce Levey, brother of the bride, served as junior groomsmen. James Beck of Belleville and Ronald Shirk of Owosso ushered the guests.

Mrs Levey chose a blue lace sheath with white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs Papanfuss wore a yellow linen sheath with matching lace overcoat with white accessories. Both mothers had cymbidium orchids to match their dress.

The wedding reception was held in the adjoining reception room with Mr and Mrs Paul Acre of Elsie and Mr and Mrs Royal Risley of Duplain, uncles and aunts of the bride, as hosts and hostesses. About 300 guests were registered by Celeste Buck of Elsie and Kathy Lehman of Flint.

Mr and Mrs Orin Acre and Mr and Mrs Dale Levey Sr., grandparents of the bride, were honored guests.

The wedding cake, made by the bride's mother, centered the serving table. Mrs Jeffrey Boone of Ovid cut the cake and was assisted by Karen Vett of Mount Pleasant, Mrs Earl Tack of Saginaw, Janenne Saunders of Owosso and Barbara Cork of Peck in the serving. Ruby and Margie Adair of Elsie and Mrs Allen Adair of St. Johns served the bride's table, while Barbara Baldauf of St. Charles, Mrs Edwin Husted of Saginaw and Mrs L. D. Jones of Elsie attended the gift table.

THE FORMER Violet Levey, a 1963 graduate of Elsie High School, recently received her B. S. degree from Central Michigan University where she was affiliated with Beta Beta Beta, the national biological honor society. The groom, an Owosso High School graduate of 1964, is a senior at University of Michigan in pre-legal studies.

For her honeymoon trip, the new Mrs Papanfuss wore a pink sheath with white accessories and cymbidium orchids. The couple will return from The Bahamas, June 27. In the fall, they will reside in married housing in Ann Arbor where the bride will teach and the groom will continue his studies.

WATERTOWN CHARTER TOWNSHIP MINUTES

JUNE 12,

The June meeting of Watertown Charter Township was called to order in the Township Office by Supervisor Carter. Present Clerk McDonough, Treasurer Kraft and Trustee Leon Garlock. Absent Trustee Rollin Noble.

The minutes of the May meeting were read and approved with one correction.

Mr Carter informed the Board that he had a talk with Mr Don Ewing of the Clinton County Road Commission relative to the making up of gates for our Sanitary Landfill. The Township will have to set them.

Mr Kraft reported that so far we have taken in $294.00 in fees at the Landfill.

The new soil maps were in and the Board took time to examine them.

The treasurer's report read and placed on file.

Bills were read and motion made by Ed Kraft and seconded by Leon Garlock that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for the same. Motion carried.

For health reasons Mr Syver Thingstad is forced to resign from the Metro Development Authority, so several names were suggested for Mr Carter to contact to replace Mr Thingstad.

A suggested list of rules governing the operation of the Waousta Cemetery were examined and referred for further study.

The Board agreed to participate in the Michigan Townships Association Pension Plan.

There being no further business, meeting adjourned.

Morningstar recesses for the summer

Morningstar Chapter No. 279 OES of Ovid held a regular meeting Tuesday evening, June 13. This was the last meeting before the summer vacation period. The meeting opened in regular form with Worthy Matron Daphne Teall and Worthy Patron Arley Lott presiding in the east.

A card of thanks was read from Mrs Harold Beardslee thanking the chapter for the floral arrangement and cards sent her while she was in the hospital. There was correspondence read from the Grand Officers thanking the chapter for its hospitality to them at the recent County Association meeting.

A letter was read from Mrs Robert Hiccock, telling of their family activities and thanking us for sponsoring her husband as an Estar student. Hiccock was recently ordained and now has a church of his own near Ann Arbor. He will commute to a school in Ohio to complete his studies. An invitation was read from the Bridgeport Chapter to attend their 50th Anniversary on September 21.

There being no more business, the meeting adjourned to the dining room where the members enjoyed refreshments.

Mrs Charles Olson returned home by plane Friday from Rock Lake, Lake Mills, Wis., after spending a week with Mr and Mrs Ed Long and Ann. While there she attended the Saturday afternoon wedding of her grandson, Dr Robert P. Long and Miss Donna Lee Staeben and the reception in the evening.

Mr and Mrs Charles Olson Jr. attended the wedding of their nephew, Dr Robert P. Long and Miss Donna Lee Staeben and attended the reception in the evening.

The Berean Circle will meet Thursday, June 22, at 8 p.m. with Mrs Dale Squiers. Mrs Lucille Pellow will have charge of the program and Mrs Sally Kioski will have the devotions.

Chris Miller, son of Mr and Mrs Ronald Miller is confined to Room 312 of St. Lawrence Hospital in Lansing.

The Youth Fellowship had a get together with the youth of the Price Church at the Price Church last Tuesday evening. They had a wine-roast, games and a real hootenanny.

Mr and Mrs Sam Sherwood expect to leave in a few days for a trip to England to visit relatives that visited them sometime ago.

Vacation Church School got underway Monday morning with the usual assignment of children to the various classes. The enrollment is expected to be between 85 and 100. The Price and the Colony churches are a part of the school and the instructors are from all three churches. Your correspondent happens to be one of them so there may be a scarcity of news for the Shepardsville area for the next two weeks.

Mr and Mrs Harry Thompson spent the weekend at Atlanta with their camper trailer.

The barn on the farm formerly occupied by the late George Weller on Faragher Road was destroyed by fire caused by lightning Friday afternoon. The fire department was delayed in getting there but the house was not damaged in any way. The equipment had been moved outside.

Q - I took a net loss of more than $1,000 on some stock I sold last year. Since I can only deduct $1,000 of the loss on my 1966 return do I lose the rest of it?

A - No, the excess over $1,000 may be carried over to future tax years.

Osgoods honored

For the ninth consecutive year, Osgood Funeral Home, 104 E. Cass Street, has been accepted for membership by the Order of the Golden Rule.

The Order is an international organization comprised of nearly 1,300 funeral directing firms, each of which must have written approval of families it has served and impartial funeral service experts to attain and retain membership.

A formal acknowledgment of the local firm's acceptance stated that the Order of the Golden Rule was founded in 1928, "with the purpose of singling out a completely trustworthy funeral home in every community. Thorough investigation has proven that families in this area can, and do, trust Osgood Funeral Home."

Members of the Order are identified by a special plaque which they alone can display. The plaque depicts a knight in armor holding a shield, and upon the shield are the words: "Service measured not by gold, but by the Golden Rule."

Those lazy days at the library

The Lazy Days Reading Club, for those children who attended the fourth, fifth or sixth grades this year, is in progress and will continue to operate until July 15.

Those students who are eligible may still join the reading club. Already, 38 registrants have taken advantage of this summer reading program, and one, Vicky Moeller, daughter of the Rev and Mrs Theodore C. Moeller Jr., has read the required 12 books.

A record of the books read by each child will be kept by the library, and after the program has concluded, each participant may write a book report on one of the books he has read.

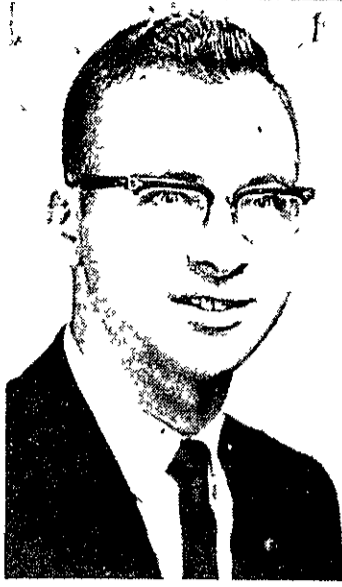

Prizes for the best book report in each class will be awarded.

Give the other fellow a boost on life's highway—it's always a hitch ahead for you.

Ambition, plus a fixed course, are the magnets that get things coming your way.

ON AN EVEN KEEL

Young Stan learned to row this summer. It was hard work but he didn't complain about the blisters. He was a captain in control of his ship, and very proud of his new position!

Being in control is often hard work, even for adults. Many people wish they could control their tempers, or perhaps curtail bad habits, but they fail to find within themselves the strength of will that would help them.

When problems are too big for us, that's the time to ask God for assistance. We are His children and He knows all our weaknesses. Through church attendance and prayer, we can be guided to a more serene approach to daily life. We will find His presence a constant support as we begin to take pride in our new possession . . . self control.

ASC PROGRAM

County designated a disaster area

Our county has been designated a disaster area as the result of the April 21, 1967 tornado. This means farmers can receive cost-share assistance to remove debris from cropland deposited by the tornado.

This assistance included those farms which the county committee determines, requires the removal of fallen trees, and other tornado deposited debris to return the land to its normal productive capacity.

No cost-share will be allowed for cleaning debris that was on the land prior to April 21, 1967, or for voluntary labor.

A request must be filed in our office, 100 South Ottawa Street, St. Johns, Michigan on or before June 28, 1967 if the practice is started or completed. After that date farmers must make a request before starting to remove debris.

All debris must be removed by December 31, 1967 to be eligible for cost-share.

I urge farmers to contact our office immediately for more details about removing debris.

Producers participating in the 1967 Feed Grain Program must certify to their acreage by July 15, 1967. This includes planted and diverted acreage.

There will be a public sale of grain storage bins at Britton Bluffs, north of Highway M-50 in the Village of Britton, Michigan, Thursday, July 6, 1967 at 1:30 p.m.

Fifty-one - 3250 bushel rated capacity bins will be sold completely dismantled. At other sales held this year these bins have been selling for an average of $400.00.

Interested producers should contact our office for additional information.

We have received our 1967 basic county price support loan and purchase rate for Number 1 grade wheat, it is $1.19 per bushel.

Producers planning to store wheat on the farm should provide good storage and adequate rodent control. Contaminated grain is not eligible to be used for food. Many producers who store will store in an approved warehouse.

W. M. SMITH
County ASC Manager

Planting corn, no-plow style. Anthony Costello of Dallas Center, Iowa, figures this unsightly field is just the thing for corn. It was disced twice but not plowed. The blanket of stubble should help prevent erosion and conserve moisture, says Costello. He estimates cost savings at $7 an acre using special "corrugated" coulters (right) on the planter. Developed by Allis-Chalmers, the attachments stir up a narrow seed bed in each row.

Farmers Forget Plowing In New Way of Planting

There's a new wrinkle in growing corn and soybeans this year which may one day make the plow as obsolete as the horse and buggy. At least some farmers think so.

Take Clyde Hight of Moweaqua, Ill., for example. He and his 26-year-old son, Larry, put in 1100 acres of corn—in six days—and never touched a plow.

Another father and son team, Anthony and Dave Costello of Dallas Center, Iowa, did the same thing on about 200 of their 531 acres of corn.

In Ohio, Ken Walters planted 500 acres of corn and 230 acres of soybeans in unplowed ground near Jeffersonville.

At Howard Unger's operation near Sullivan, Ind., much of his 700 acres of corn was planted right in pasture sod and corn stubble.

All of them are using "No-Till" planters developed by Allis-Chalmers. The units have special "corrugated coulters" mounted on the frames just ahead of the seeders. These attachments, 17 inches in diameter and spring loaded, stir up a narrow seed bed 5 to 7 inches deep.

The idea behind them is to reduce the time, effort and money spent to prepare the seed bed. And the savings and extra profit can be considerable.

Last summer, Clyde Hight planted 25 acres of corn with no ground preparation whatever. His yield was 15 bushels higher than his other conventionally-prepared fields, and his cost of growing the "No-Till" corn was 9 cents a bushel less.

Hight didn't plow an acre for his '67 crop. He did disc the fields twice to work in the insecticide and herbicide. But discing is still cheaper, easier and faster than plowing.

Floyd and Gary Paul, another father and son team from Gilman, Iowa, calculate their savings at about $6.50 an acre, including $5 for plowing.

Costello figures his cost savings conservatively at about $7 per acre, considering less land preparation and a greater reliance on insecticides and herbicides. He's shooting for a 100 bushel crop, compared to his normal 100 bushel an acre yields.

Part of these increased yields will come from better use of available moisture, these farmers said.

Costello pointed out that all the bits and pieces of corn stalks left on the surface, and all the big clods of soil, should act as a blanket and help reduce runoff on his rolling fields.

Hight said that high winds have whipped up great clouds of topsoil from his neighbors "groomed" fields but left his land untouched.

But seemingly, trashy condition of the soil doesn't bother the planting operation. The precision tools roll through the field at four miles an hour placing 27,000 to 31,000 seeds to the acre. The big units cover eight rows at a time, each row 20 inches apart.

No one can predict what their yields will be when harvest time comes. "But even if they're the same as last year, and that was a bad one for weather, I'll still be money ahead," said one farmer.

Vaccinate calves for brucellosis

Brucellosis vaccinations should be given to all calves that are potential replacements in any dairy here, contends Donald L. Murray, Michigan State University dairy extension specialist.

"These calfhood vaccinations are particularly important as we approach the brucellosis free state in Michigan," he says.

"They are required by law if the calves are to be sold for anyone else's herd. And they are good insurance for the man who wants to keep the calves in his herd but doesn't want brucellosis."

Murray points out that the number of calves vaccinated in Michigan from January through April of this year was 5 per cent less than at the same period last year.

He says about 125,000 calves will have to be vaccinated before the end of 1967 in order to provide enough herd replacements. "Last year, there were 116,000 calves vaccinated -- and that included some beef calves," he says.

Calves should receive their brucellosis vaccination when they are four months to nine months of age. For best results, the vaccinations should be given to the calves at the earlier age, says Murray.

Cultivate the habit of kindness and courtesy—it's the part of the business of life.

WILL IT TAKE A RAIN
to make nitrogen work?

Not if you use Smith-Douglass GRO-GREEN Anhydrous Ammonia to sidedress your corn. GRO-GREEN Anhydrous Ammonia is placed deep into the moisture zone where it can start feeding the roots immediately.

Any nitrogen placed on top of the ground must lie until rain moves it into the root zone. Even stirring the nitrogen into the topsoil with a cultivator won't make other nitrogen work without a good rain.

If you haven't applied nitrogen to your corn, why not sidedress with GRO-GREEN^{SMITH-DOUGLASS} Anhydrous Ammonia and be sure of results — even in a dry year.

Girls surpass boys when it comes to 4-H dairying

RIGHT BESIDE the Dairy Princesses this year could be Dairy Prince. But there is no glamor contest for young dairymen. Maybe there should be.

It's true that many lads and lassies are honored throughout dairyland for being "outstanding" owners of Guernsey, Jersey, Holstein, Ayrshire, Brown Swiss or Milking Shorthorns.

health sanitation, production, herd improvement, management, judging and showing dairy cattle. Detailed records must be kept. Winners are selected by the Extension Service.

It appears that 4-H girls can do everything 4-H boys can do in dairying, and in some cases, do it better. Now the boys have another chance to score when 1967 dairy projects are judged.

AWARDS OFFERED this year by Oliver are county medals, wrist watches, trips to the National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago, and scholarships. Oliver also is one of the sponsors of the annual 4-H Dairy Conference to be held in Chicago, Nov. 19-22, just ahead of the Congress.

In the quest for world peace, agricultural production may be America's most potent weapon. It is one vital area where we far surpass the communist countries.

FREE-LOADERS
All the world's a stage, and too many people think they are entitled to free passes.

ANOTHER CATEGORY in which boys and girls can share equal billing is the national 4-H Dairy program conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service. Opportunities are available for all to learn and achieve certain objectives. More than 100,000 youths participate in the program.

Last year at the national level, girls surpassed the boys by claiming five of six $500 national scholarships awarded by Oliver Corporation of Chicago, the 4-H Dairy program sponsor. And 31 of 50 state award winners were girls.

THE 4-H PROJECT covers things such as animal science,

4 potato varieties dominate state crop

Four potato varieties dominate the Michigan picture, accounting for 82 per cent of the seeded acreage in 1966.

Russet Burbank, relatively unknown except in the Upper Peninsula in 1964, has become the leading variety. More than one-fourth of the total acreage now goes into the long-shaped Russet Burbank potato.

Michigan State University crop scientists say, however, that growers must pay particular attention to getting adequate water and fertility to this variety to be successful. Since off-type Russet Burbanks are difficult to market, growers need to produce a good quality crop to make it pay.

THE CROP SCIENTISTS suggest that producers grow potatoes for specific markets, rather than produce the potatoes and hope to find a market. For example, there is a need to expand the acreage for potatoes for the potato chip industry. The better chipping varieties now account for only 8 per cent of the Michigan acreage.

Following Russet Burbanks in popularity is Onaway, which was planted on 23.5 per cent of the 1966 acreage, and Sebago on 17 per cent and Katahdin on 13 per cent of the land.

In Bay County, Onaway accounts for 76 per cent of the acreage while in Allegan County Katahdin leads with 63.6 per cent of the acreage. Sebago is tops in Macomb county with 61 per cent of the acreage while Katahdin leads in Monroe County

Poor diets for 10%

About one-tenth of the U.S. families are believed to have diets which fail to meet nutritional recommendations, according to Michigan State University scientists.

Calcium and ascorbic acid (vitamin C) are the nutrients most often in short supply.

In 1965, say the MSU researchers, from 15 to 20 per cent of the American families had diets providing less than the recommended quantities of vitamin A, thiamine and riboflavin.

Fewer than 10 per cent had diets that did not fully meet the recommended allowances in protein, iron or niacin. Nearly all diets that were low in protein also were low in at least three other nutrients.

The MSU scientists say the combination of protein and other nutrient deficiencies is not unexpected, since the groups of foods that contribute most of the protein also supply significant quantities of certain vitamins and minerals.

AGRICULTURE in Action

by M. L. Woell

MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

By nature, farming is a hazardous business. The need for high production to offset low per-unit prices, pressures of season weather, scarcity of farm labor, all contribute to the safety problem. Not enough manpower to do the jobs that need doing in the time they must be done is one of the larger contributing factors. Now, the United States Department of Labor, in Washington, has put together a list of 15 farm operations, including tractor driving, which labor officials contend are too hazardous to be undertaken by employed farm youth under the age of 16. After careful study of the list, farm leaders have serious doubts whether the cause of safety will be served, or if instead the new proposed regulations may contribute to the safety problem by making the farm labor crisis so much worse. Not involved are youngsters under 16 employed by their parents on a farm owned or operated by the parents. But it is a common practice for farm boys who reach the age of 14 or 15 to seek employment with a neighbor — perhaps because there is not enough work for all seasons of the year on the home farm, or perhaps because home work is "for free," and that done for a neighbor is paid for in cash, direct to the youth. In most cases a relatively simple tractor operation is involved in cultivating corn or making hay.

MOST FARM BOYS learn to operate a tractor at a comparatively early age under the direction and supervision of their fathers. In many cases the boy has had formal instruction through vocational agricultural training in high school, or in 4-H work. At a hearing in Washington, called by the Department of Labor, Farm Bureau officials testified that the experience and training of the individual should be taken into account in some manner in such cases. The farm officials also suggested that in attempting to protect farm youth from physical injury, the proposed labor regulations may contribute to character damage, for "we believe that work experience is an important part of the educational process. There is a real danger that farmers who hear there are new regulations tied to the employment of those under 16, will simply do the easy thing—and not hire anybody under that age, thus denying employment opportunity to many young people . . ." the Farm Bureau officials said.

Trees of the future being planted today

"MOST OF THE TREES needed by the year 2000 are already in the ground or will be planted by man and nature within the next few years," according to a Michigan forest industry spokesman. "Reliable projections indicate an increase in demand for all forest products of about 80 percent by the turn of the century," C. A. Samuelson, Lake States woodlands manager, a and, chairman of Michigan Forest Industries, said.

MICHIGAN AND THE nation's commercial forest land are fully capable of producing substantially more than the projected growth if current levels of forest management could be applied across the board. "This involves better communications, education and motivation," the industry official added. "Additional acreage of poorly stocked and non-stocked land should be planted to trees."

THE MULTIPLE-USE principal of forest management, accommodating a maximum of compatible uses with the highest single potential use of the land must be understood and practiced by the landowner, farmers, doctors, lawyers, teachers, and other city laymen who own the majority of the state's four million acres of commercial timber. What is planned today may foretell our future. Since overcoming the deficit since 1952 of growth over removal, industry and government foresters are confident that private landowners will join them in getting their growing stock to optimum production.

"Adoption of tree farming principles is the answer," he concluded. Agriculture is the second largest source of income in Michigan's economy with a cash farm income of about $800 million per year and a retail value of the same products exceeding $2 billion.

The entertainment was interrupted by a blast from the town siren alerting the people of a tornado that had been sighted in the area. A report on Cecil Estep's radio confirmed the sighting and the stage for the entertainment was arranged in the basement of the hall. After the excitement had subsided and the rain had chased the men inside, the program continued. Many parents from Carson City, whose children had attended the classes, were present at the recital. They all enjoyed the display of talent by the young folks. A special thanks to a young artist who worked so well and hard each week "with her kids", as she called them, to bring out the talent in them and made this all possible.

Source of a free press is unrestricted advertising

No Country has a press equal to that of the United States. The 10,000 smaller newspapers scattered over the length and breadth of the land represent a body of independent thought that is indispensable to the preservation of our economic and political liberty.

When the suggestion was made recently that the best interest of consumers might be served by more stringent regulation of advertising, no great imagination was needed to see the connection between restricted advertising and press censorship.

The close relationship between advertising and the free press was presented recently by C. B. Dyke, writing in the Fairmount, N.D., Star. In his words, the home town newspaper reader "... wants his weekly to tell him about his friends, goings and comings, births, weddings, all sorts of local happenings and the neighborhood gossip But he also wants to see what the local merchants have to offer in advertisements It costs money to put out a newspaper. Just like it costs money to run a grocery store, service station, garage or cafe The major income is derived from advertisers Everyone knows that 'Jones' has a store in town, but they also like to see what he has to offer in his ad. Active advertisers are the foundation of the free press. That is why freedom of the press, freedom of enterprise and the unrestricted right to advertise will all sink or swim together.

Michigan has four times as much water area as any other state—11,037 inland lakes, 36,350 miles of streams, and 3,251 miles of Great Lakes Shoreline.

Federal interpretations outlawing the states

Empowering the federal government to regulate interstate commerce has proven to be an open door through which federal authorities have moved to limit the sovereign rights of the states.

Further undermining of state authority resulted from 1966 amendments to the Fair Labor Standards Act extending federal minimum-wage standards to hundreds of thousands of state and local employees of schools, hospitals, nursing homes and institutions for the mentally or physically handicapped. This extension of federal control of state wage standards was made on the grounds that state institutions concerned were involved in interstate commerce through purchase of supplies and equipment. Action has been brought by Maryland and 25 other states to test the legality of the legislation. The attorney general of Texas has observed that, "if hospitals and schools can be the subjects of regulation, then the public health department, the police, the highway department, even the legislature (of a state) would be subject to regulation at the whim of Congress."

The question raised is the right of the states to regulate the wages of their own employees. It is evident that if the theory that anyone who buys an article that has been shipped across a state line is to be considered engaged in interstate commerce then it would be well-nigh impossible to find any organization, business enterprise or individual not subject to federal regulation if some agency of government wished to impose it.

Watch Out . . . School's Out!

RAMBLIN' with Rink

By LOWELL G. RINKER

You are reading the writings of an old man. I may not look old but I feel old, particularly after Tuesday and a jolting experience last week.

On Tuesday occurred the 28th anniversary of my entrance into this world, and in contemplating the significance of it all last week, I realized this is only two short years away from 30. I'm on the verge of panic.

As a youngster I always viewed people in their 30s as not really old but certainly on the approach of middle age. People in their 30s don't really have their youth, I always told myself, but they usually have their health, a good start on a vacation, a family, home, recreation time, etc.

MY PICTURE OF THE man in his 30s was and, I guess, still is one of envy. But I'd rather envy him from this side of the line than actually be him. It's kind of like experiencing Christmas; all the excitement of Christmas is in the anticipation of the gifts, the visits, and when Christmas actually arrives there's a mental let-down.

I'd rather prolong the excitement of anticipation of being 30. Two years more of anticipating isn't very long, and I'm sure the excitement of being 30 isn't going to be much different than the excitement (?) of being in my 20s.

But, life is full of moments when we must face the facts, and at least I recognize that I have two years yet to prepare. Being 30, I've been telling myself, shouldn't be too bad. I'll still be 10 years away from being 40, and I know a lot of people who stay active and healthy for even twice that age.

I ALMOST HAD myself talked into looking at the bright side of 28 when some little kids playing on the porch of a house on my walking route home ruined everything. They are friendly kids and they always run out and tell me something about their tricycle or wagon, but the other day they really shot me down.

From the porch came the plaintive call—for all the neighborhood to hear—"Hi Grandpa!"

Regardless of whether their grandpa was sitting inside the door of the house or not, the effect on me was devastating. I felt a grey hair pop out, my back began to ache and I shuffled a little more than usual as I walked those final few blocks home.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

VIRGINIA, MINN., NEWS: "Every so often we hear the complaint that while the economic system of the United States is the most successful in the world, the people who enjoy its benefits understand little of how it works. Americans are economic illiterates. Wealthy illiterates, but illiterates none the less. A study made in 1963 revealed that among large school systems in the nation fewer than one fifth had a required course in economics. Many schools offered no economics at all. Only 22 states required economics courses for social studies teachers. . . . Nikita Khrushchev once said that he would bury us—that is, that his economic system would triumph over ours. Not if we're smart, it won't."

CHICO, CALIF., ENTERPRISE-RECORD: ". . . there is no way to rationally avoid the analysis that termination of the bombing pressure on North Vietnam might actually serve to prolong the ground war in the south—and even permit Ho Chi Minh's easier-to-supply forces to increase their scope. Those to whom the phrase 'Stop the Bombing' has come to be a magic key to unlock the door to peace should consider that . . . factor. Thousands of our young Americans could be killed by Ho Chi Minh's greater and better-supplied forces. The true fact is that if the Communists are sincerely desirous of talking peace, American bombers are not standing in their way. President Johnson is eager to hear from them at any time."

OAKHURST, N. J., NEWS: "As a general rule, one should know the people and the system of administration to which his donation is directed. Even some of the larger charitable organizations, or disease fighting organizations, spend too much of their income on administration. A reasonable guideline is to insist that at least seventy-five per cent of all income be used for nonadministrative purposes. Also, most charity is better used and utilized at home. In our communities, there are those in need. And curiously, many of us donate rather generously to several far-away charity drives each year while overlooking what we might do in our area with the same generosity."

MICHIGAN MIRROR

A shocking new way to vote catching on

BY ELMER E. WHITE Michigan Press Assn.

When will you vote electronically? Several workable systems exist. The law has been changed to utilize the advantages; all it takes is the decision by your local voting authority.

Small, electronic voting devices can replace the conventional voting machine. A computer card is positioned in a voting "booklet" and voters read the booklet much as they do items on a voting machine. Votes are cast by punching the card in each appropriate square. Punches are made either with a sharp stylus or, depending on the model, by pushing a button.

After the polls close, election inspectors seal the "ballots" in a container and deliver them to a central computing center for tabulation. This system is already in general use in nine states and has been used successfully by Midland, Michigan in that city's last four elections.

LEGISLATION TO ALLOW Michigan communities to adopt electronic voting was sponsored in 1965 by Rep. Russell H. Strange, (R-Mt. Pleasant) chairman of the House Elections Committee. Strange has made an extensive study into the system and is convinced that it is a superior method for many communities, especially those which are growing rapidly.

Strange, Rep. Philip D. Pittenger (R-Lansing), a member of the elections committee and Bernard Apol, state deputy director of elections from the Secretary of State's office, closely observed the Midland system.

THE ADVANTAGES OF such a process are in savings of time and money. The electronic voting devices sell for under $200. Conventional voting machines cost almost $2,000. Storage costs are exceedingly small when compared to voting machines. Midland's city clerk said that 80 electronic recorders can be stored in the space needed for one voting machine. Because of its low cost and ease of handling, more polling stations can be set up. This eliminates long lines of voters. Costs of moving and setting up the device are practically nil.

The computer gives vote tallies quickly. In Midland, for example, 12,000 ballots were tallied in 16 minutes. And people like the system. A random sampling of 160 voters who used the device in Midland showed only one person dissatisfied.

Widespread use of the electronic method probably won't take place until after the 1968 presidential election. Most municipalities would rather introduce a new system of voting during local elections with smaller turnouts.

Will your community make the conversion? Ask your local election officials.

MICHIGAN LEADS the nation in two important programs of treating the mentally retarded: specialized training of "trainable retarded" people for employment by private industry and the establishment of "day care centers" for the severely mentally retarded. Almost 300 people have been placed in a wide variety of jobs throughout the state during the first 20 months of the trainable retarded program. Jobs vary in scope according to the capacity of the handicapped. It has been found that performance in some jobs exceeds that of the non-retarded.

According to Dr V. A. Stehman, acting director of the Department of Mental Health, the major problem confronting such a program is finding suitable housing for retarded within the communities. Jobs are plentiful.

from an institution, the retarded person needs a place to stay that includes supervision, guidance and someone to talk to," say department officials.

The "ideal situation" is a home where two to eight retarded people live with an older couple capable of providing supervision. Approved homes are leased by the department with payments based upon the number of beds available. Each house must pass inspection by local fire and health inspectors and social workers from the department.

There are currently 18 homes, in ten Michigan cities, which serve as residences for persons

The "Low Down" From the Congressional Record By Joe Crump

Panama Canal mess due for headlines

Rep. Daniel J. Flood (Pa) . . . "During the recent conference of the presidents of Western Hemisphere countries at Punta del Este in Uruguay, the chief executives of the United States and Panama conferred at considerable length. Though many of our citizens were watching that meeting for information as regards the current treaty negotiations about the Panama Canal there were no press releases on that subject and no "leaks" to publicists in attendance. This silence did not mislead informed persons but only served to emphasize their interest in learning what had transpired.

"They did not have to wait long. An Associated Press dispatch from Panama quoted parts of a speech by President Robles in Chiriqui Province in which he reported on his conference with the President of the United States.

"IN HIS SPEECH, President Robles revealed highly significant points about what occurred during his discussion. They were: "First. That the President of the United States promised that the treaty negotiations will be resolved favorably for both countries.

"Second. That the President of Panama told the President of the United States that Panama had reached the limits of its borrowing capacity and now must turn to what he claims belongs to Panama—a fair compensation from Panama Canal revenues to carry on Panama's economic and social development.

"Third. That the two principal cities of Panama, Colon and Panama City, must expand, presumably into the Canal Zone.

"Fourth. That the treaty negotiations will be concluded 'sooner than you think.'

"Despite the importance of the information reported in the indicated dispatch, I have neither read nor heard of it in any of the mass media outlets available to me in Washington.

"AS TO THE FIRST point of President Robles, the United States and Panama are not the only countries and interests involved. We have treaty obligations with Great Britain and Columbia that are being ignored and the well-being of inter-oceanic commerce which must be protected against extortion.

"In regards to his second point the Panama Canal is not the property of Panama but of the United States and Panama does not expect to pay one cent for what it is trying to obtain.

"With respect to point three, Colon and Panama City do not have to expand into the Canal Zone for there are virtually unlimited areas of jungle in Panama outside the zone territory that could be cleared and used by the excess population of the two-terminal cities . . .

"PERMITTING THE population of Colon and Panama City to spill over into the Canal Zone would only serve to transfer the slums and brothels of Panama into the zone territory and should not be permitted under any circumstances.

"In regard to his fourth point, this is clear warning that the proposed treaties may be sprung on the United States at any time for a stamped ratification, as was the 1955 Treaty with Panama . .

"Members of the Senate are urged to study the canal question in all its aspects and to prepare themselves to discuss the subject on the floor of the Senate now. Failure to do so is an invitation to disaster."

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT The Republic of Panama wants to control the canal and retain all the revenue. They want it for free, and they want it now. Any concessions to Panama should be tied-in with the operation of the new canal now under consideration for construction in Central America.

As new treaties must be ratified by the Senate, it appears that Rep. Flood's alert to the Senate is in order. —J. C.

For laughter!

The sun at times forgets to shine,
Days oft are dark 'n dreary;
The wheels of life get in a rut,
Of dizzy pace we weary:

But all the burdens that we bear
May still be cut in half;
The load seems so much lighter,
So long as we can laugh.

There is no cure-all for the ills
That come to try men's souls;
The obstacles we often meet
Deter us from life's goals;

Still is there room for recompense
In every man's behalf,
Judgments are oft suspended—
So long as we can laugh.

'Tis no true measure of success
To smile when all is right
But greater he who still can grin,
When day seems black as night;

Life's blows may leave some ugly lumps
But he who stands the gaff,
Finds yet an inner source of strength
So long as he can laugh!

DAY CARE CENTERS ease the load of mental institutions and bring treatment to more of the state's severely mentally retarded. During 1963-64, only 12 children attended one day care center. By July 1 of this year, more than 900 retarded children will be enrolled in 37 day care centers throughout the state.

Under day care programs, children live at home and spend the day at the center. This system allows maximum treatment and development of skills to more children but keeps costs to a minimum.

More use is being made of outpatient facilities and community clinics in treating mentally retarded adults. Improvements and increased service in the fields of mental illness and community mental health services have also developed.

DR WILLIAM H. ANDERSON, Columbia, Missouri, is the new director of the department succeeding Dr. Robert A. Kimmich. Kimmich resigned last November after serving for 2 1/2 years. He assumes his responsibilities July 1.

Farm bells—ringing notes of yesteryears

HAYDN PEARSON

Do you remember when the notes sounded across the fields as women folks rang the bells to call the men to dinner? Up and down the road the sweet music sounded; in the right atmospheric conditions one could hear the faint notes of bells across the valley. Each farm bell had its distinctive sound and you knew if a neighbor family was eating noon dinner early before a trip to town.

The bells were on shed roofs or on cedar posts by kitchen doors. The big $2.35 Crystal-line metal farm bell weighed 100 pounds and sat in a four-pronged iron frame on the saddle board at the end of the woodshed. The bell was suspended from a curved yoke and at the outside end a rope was attached to an iron flange. The catalog said this bell "had an extra fine tone." It could be heard farther than a copper or tin bell.

The youth banquet for the Junior and Senior YF of the Bengal and Bingham EUB churches will be held Friday, June 16, at 6:30 p.m. in the Bengal EUB church. Rev. Brian Sheen will be the speaker.

The Young Adults class of the Bengal and Bingham EUB church will be holding a bake sale Saturday, June 17, at the D & C Store in St. Johns starting at 9 a.m.

The box social held by the Bingham WSWs Thursday, June 8, in the basement of the church was enjoyed by all who attended. Glenn Davis acted as auctioneer.

A farewell open house will be held Sunday, June 18, for George Rule in the basement of the new parsonage 4 to 6 p.m. George will be in charge of the Mount Pleasant circuit of churches soon. He will be preaching Sunday morning, June 25, at the combined service in the Bengal EUB church also.

This community was saddened and extends sympathy to the family of Dr. Arthur Spafford, former minister of the Bengal and Bingham EUB churches, who passed away Sunday at the Clinton Memorial Hospital. The funeral was held Wednesday at the Bengal EUB church at 1:30 p.m.

Mr and Mrs Leonard Cornell entertained the Clinton County Boat Club with a steak fry Saturday evening at their home. Kristie and Kelley Beaman,

Each family had its code for calling individual members. A boy hoeing corn in the farm field could tell which sister was ringing the bell. Sometimes there were emergencies and wild clanging brought men and boys in a rush.

Bells have been used since ancient times on land and sea. They have called men to meetings and to church; they have tolled in memory of those who have gone; they have sounded to celebrate national holidays. In country villages and urban centers bells still ring to mark the passing hours. But it was the farm bells a man remembers—bells that sounded their notes across a peaceful countryside. Perhaps if you listen, you can hear the notes of yesteryear floating by on a passing breeze.

Understanding your

HEALTH

By Albert E. Heustis, M.D. Director
Michigan Department of Public Health

Just the other day I was asked by an acquaintance of mine if I thought Michigan had enough water. He had been reading a great deal about serious water shortages that had occurred in other parts of the country. He was frankly worried that our state might be facing a water shortage problem like some of our coastal states and wanted to know what was being done to guarantee our water supply.

My answer to him was that Michigan, as a whole, has an ample supply of water. Our Great Lakes constitute a source that is practically inexhaustible, and our inland rivers also provide water that is used by some municipalities in the state. In addition, many states would be envious of the well-water potential in many Michigan locations. But that's not to say the whole picture is rosy. We do have our problems.

GROUND WATER—that is, water we get from wells—has served as an adequate supply in the early development of an area, but has become insufficient in some cases as the population of that area continued to increase. Some communities are abandoning their wells, and drawing water from local rivers or the Great Lakes, or entering into contracts with their neighbors. But on the other hand, other cities have found that efficient handling of ground water supplies will enable them to count on these sources for years to come.

Surface water—that is, water we get from rivers and lakes—continues to supply the largest volume for our municipalities, most from the Great Lakes. Cities have proved that they can draw water from the Great Lakes, and pipe it many miles inland.

For instance, Grand Rapids, an inland city, has been using Lake Michigan water for the past 26 years, and Detroit's 98-million-dollar Lake Huron water project is now under construction. This involves approximately 57 miles of water mains, in addition to another 12 miles that Flint will attach to the main line.

Financing, or the decision to spend money, is often the main reason that many useful and needed projects are not carried through. Where water must be piped a considerable distance, and treated, a large expense is involved, and one small municipality may not be able to afford this large outlay of money all by itself. The usual answer is for one or two of the larger communities to finance the project, and sell water to the smaller communities.

SO YOU SEE, our problem is certainly not a lack of water, but in many cases, a lack of adequate funds for construction of worthwhile projects designed to make effective use of the water we have. Once we get over this hurdle, our rich water resources, under proper management, will be capable of supporting large increases in population, and a substantial industrial expansion.

In most instances, it's up to you, the voter—the taxpayer—to make the decision as to whether or not to spend the necessary money, and to raise rates to a reasonable level to do those things that are needful. I firmly believe that an ample supply of healthful water is worth it—and I hope you agree with me.

The man who insists on running risks and autos at the same time soon comes to grief.

The Clinton County Board of Supervisors met on this date at 10:00 a.m. Prayer was offered by Supervisor Smith. A pledge of allegiance was given to the flag. Roll was called and a quorum reported. Minutes of the last session were read and approved.

Supervisor Shinabery, member of the Appropriation and Finance Committee of the Board of Supervisors, spoke to the Board concerning the final meeting of the Clinton County Tax Allocation Board and of the results of the meeting as it pertained to the final allocation of County millage.
