

OK big federal grant for Ovid sewer plans

OVID—The Village of Ovid has been given preliminary approval for a grant of $272,000 and a loan of $412,000 from the Farmers Home Administration of the Department of Agriculture for the construction of a sewer system.

The announcement was made Tuesday in Washington by Congressman Paul H. Todd, Jr. of the Third Congressional District.

Ovid representatives are scheduled to appear before the State Water Resources Commission in Lansing next Wednesday, June 29, for a hearing on the matter. The village has long requested federal help so that the pollution of the Maple River might be stopped.

TODD HAS BEEN at work on the request since his conference on sewage and water pollution with officials of the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The financing was the grant and loan would be made possible under the Rural Water and Sanitation Facilities Act passed last year by Congress. With the approval of the requested grant and loan, the cost to each resident of Ovid for building the system will be only $5 a month, Todd reported.

2nd century starts

Clinton County's senior citizen king of Michigan Week launched himself into his second century Saturday.

Jesse Guernsey, who now resides with his wife at the Rivard Nursing Home, 311 E. Higham Street, was 100 years old Saturday. On Sunday he and his wife celebrated by going to church at Matherton in the morning where they were presented with corsages and many congratulations. Afterward they and 125 guests were served lunch at a rented hall in Matherton. Mrs Guernsey is 90 years of age.

Guernsey has been retired only 10 years. When his farm home burned down, he decided to retire from farming and he and his wife moved to the nursing home. Prior to 1900 Guernsey worked at a barrel factory in Portland after which he operated a sawmill on a farm for about 13 years. From then until his retirement he did general farming, including dairying and sheep raising.

The Rev Norman J. Wiebert of the Matherton EUB Church, which Guernsey and his wife attended, was in charge of the birthday party plans Sunday.

2 cars collide; driver ticketed

Two cars collided on Hollister Road Friday afternoon when one of them pulled out of a driveway into the path of the other. Sheriff's deputies ticketed Duane R. Hehrer, 29, of 7919 N. Hollister Road, Elsie, for failure to have his vehicle under control.

He said he came out of a driveway and did not see a northbound car driven by Donald P. Keating, 35, of Owosso, until he heard the squeal of tires as Keating hit the brakes. Hehrer's car was hit in the right front.

2 youths cut as car overturns

Two Laingsburg youths were hurt last Wednesday evening in a one-car crash on Alward Lake Road east of Hollister Road in eastern Victor Township.

Gene E. Smith, 15, and Paul R. Hauser, 15, were treated at St. Lawrence Hospital in Lansing for cuts and bruises about the head and body. Smith told state police he swerved to avoid hitting something in the road, and the car went out of control, into a ditch and overturned.

City hires fulltime accountant

The complexities of running even local government were reflected this week in the announcement of the hiring of Donald D. Betterly as accountant for the City of St. Johns.

Betterly began work Monday and plans to move his family to St. Johns as soon as suitable housing is available.

Betterly, 33, presently lives in DeWitt. He is a graduate of Lansing Business University, receiving his diploma in accounting in 1964. He has previously been employed as an accounting examiner in the accounting section of the Michigan Employment Securities Commission.

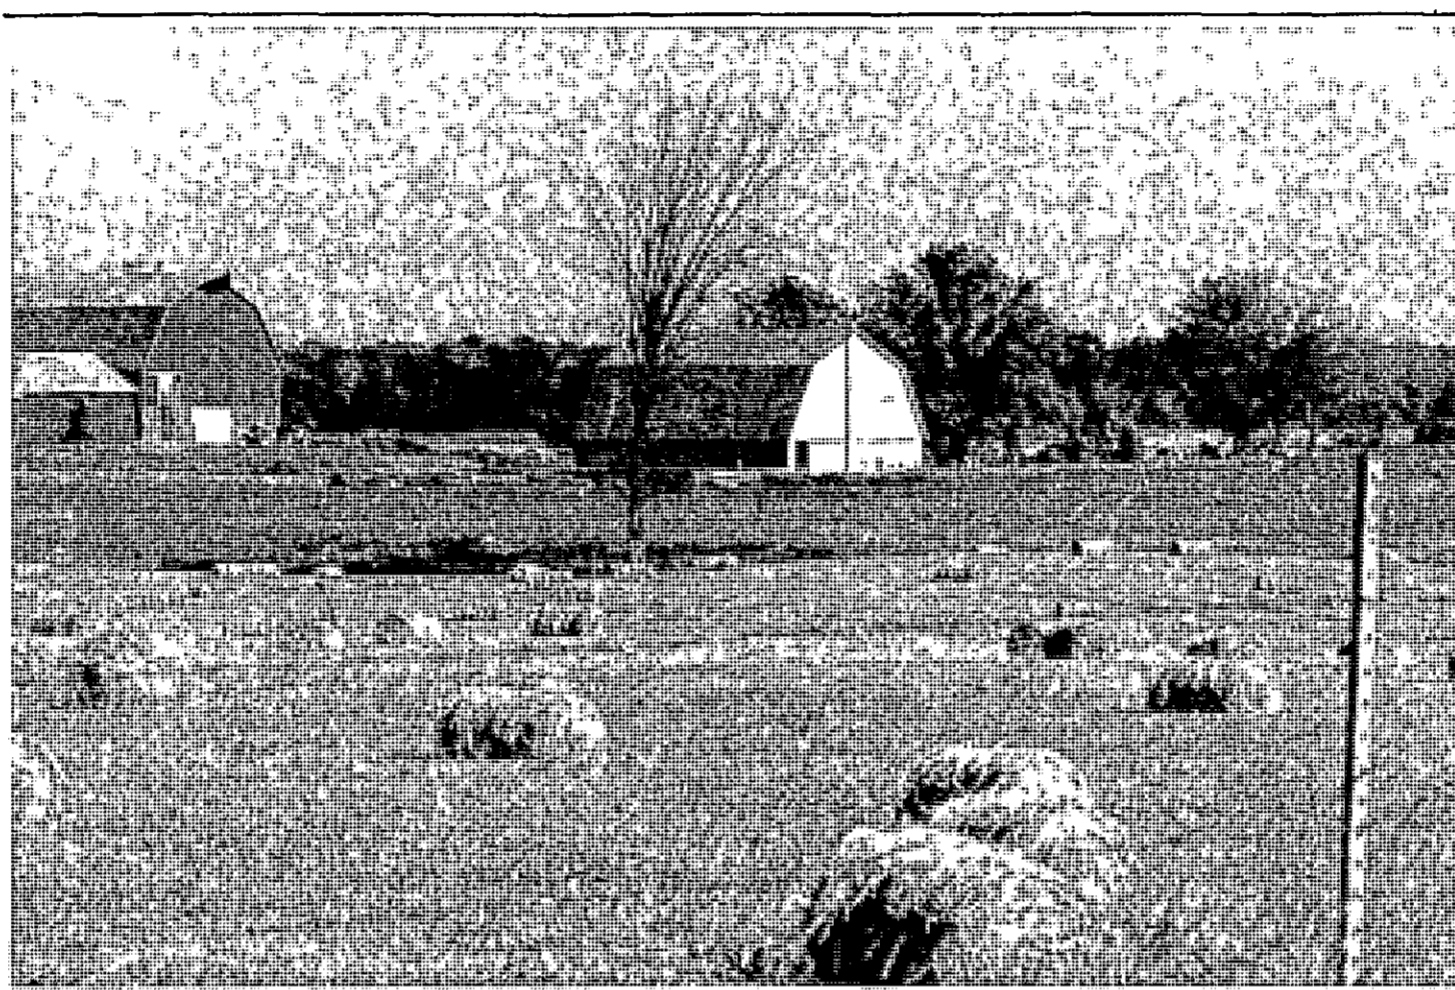

City Manager Ken Greer said the growing financial problems of city government in St. Johns have made it necessary to provide a trained accountant in the development and retention of fiscal information necessary to operate the city.

Township politics in spotlight

It's hay time in Clinton County

Hay, there! It's that time of year when the hay fields of the county have that nice clean, just-cut look that differs only in scope from a residential lawn. And, of course, the landscape is dotted with bales of hay that mean feed for the dairy animals of the farm. The buildings in the background are on the Elmer Thornton farm at 6801 Colony Road, just west of Shepardville Road in Duplain Township.

Water use down again in May

St. Johns' water use during May continued on the low side compared to last year. Figures released by the city last week showed a total of 36,204,000 gallons of water used this May, compared to 41,525,000 gallons during the same period a year ago.

This year's rate per day averaged 1,168,000 gallons, or 811 gallons per minute. The lowest days of use were May 27, 28, 29 and 30 (just before Memorial Day) when the daily use was about 896,000 gallons. The most water pumped during a single day was 1,401,000 gallons on May 26, a Thursday.

School, city OK park pact

The St. Johns City Commission and the St. Johns School Board are in the process of finalizing an agreement concerning the use of the city park athletic facilities by the school.

According to a lease arrangement drawn up and nearly ready for signing, the school would lease four parcels of land at the park for $2,400 annually.

The areas involved are the football field, the football practice field immediately adjacent to the east, the parking lot south of both fields, and a parcel of land to the south of Sickles Street.

THE SCHOOL DISTRICT will assume all maintenance of the property and will also get use of the pool locker rooms, softball field, tennis courts — as they always have had — at no additional cost.

The lease runs for one year, expiring June 30, 1967, but will be renewed automatically unless one of the parties gives notice at least 90 days prior to the termination of the lease.

The city will maintain the concession stand grounds and the upper floor of the building. The schools will take care of the lower portion.

FINAL MECHANICS of the lease were hammered out last Tuesday evening at a meeting of the school board and city commission. The two groups also discussed the sewer situation in regard to the new school site southeast of the city park.

Head Start begins second summer next Monday

A federal aid grant of $51,808 to establish a Head Start program for pre-kindergarten students has been confirmed for Clinton County, and the program will get under way Monday.

Carl Bates, county school superintendent, said the federal money has been approved under the program of the 1965 Economic Opportunity Act. It will be the second year for a Head Start program in the county.

Again this year Mrs Ethel Huot, principal at St. Johns' Swegles Street School, will head the program as county coordinator. Social workers will be Ruth Wesner and Ruth Cowan. Gertrude Buehler will be the nurse.

THE PROGRAM is designed for children who will enter school for the first time this fall. Preference for membership has been given to low-income families but is not limited to them. Selection has been made without regard to race, color or creed. Rooms are limited to a membership of 15 children and are taught by a qualified teacher and two paid helpers.

In Clinton County the project will involve 15 classes in seven centers. Four rooms have been approved for St. Johns, three for Bath, two rooms for DeWitt, Elsie and Ovid and one room each for Fowler and Pewamo-Westphalia.

Some 225 pupils are expected to be enrolled in the six-week summer Head Start. It will open June 27 and close Aug. 5. Children will attend classes half-days for five days a week, from 9 a.m. to noon.

THE HEAD START program is designed to provide and increase educational opportunities to youngsters who otherwise would not be available to them. The activities will be geared to getting children acquainted with school routine so the child will be ready to start school in September.

THE HEAD START program is of-

Two companions, Paul Kesterson, 14, and Michael Kesterson, 16, both of Detroit, were unable to reach Groves in time to save him. Skin divers from Ingham and Shawassee counties and the state police were called. The accident occurred about 3:30 p.m.; the youth's body was recovered about 6:45.

Plans to study in England

A St. Johns girl will be studying and teaching this fall in England. Miss Holly Davis, daughter of Mr and Mrs Roy Davis of 5605 N. US-27, will attend the University of Sheffield at Sheffield, England, for the first semester of the next school year.

She completed her junior year at the University of Michigan this spring and is majoring in math. She will leave New York Aug. 18 on a special student boat, the Aurelia, with 15 other education students from the U of M who will also be studying in England.

MISS HOLLY DAVIS

MISS DAVIS SAID she will take education courses at the University of Sheffield and will do part of her student teaching there. In her student teaching she will be able to instruct at all grade levels rather than just secondary level as she would at the U of M.

The English semesters vary somewhat from the timetable here, so she and the other students will do some of their studying on the trip across the Atlantic, and Miss Davis will return home in late December before the English semester is actually over. She will get 16 semester credits for the studies there.

She will live in a home in England but hasn't yet learned who her host family will be.

SHEFFIELD, located in central England, has a population of about 494,000.

Miss Davis, a 1963 graduate of Rodney B. Wilson High School, attended Alma College for two years before transferring to the U of M last year. She plans to become a secondary school teacher of math and would like to teach in Alaska. She's working this summer as a lifeguard and instructor at the St. Johns City Park swimming pool.

St. Johns firemen fought the 5:30 p.m. blaze, and the Elsie Fire Department was called to stand by. The downstairs of the home on Williams Road south of Maple Rapids Road suffered smoke and water damage.

The black-topping crews are working on Kinley road in Ovid and Duplain townships. They expect to finish the 17 miles of new blacktop by the end of next week. After the new prime and double-seals are complete there will be several weeks of seal coating on all blacktops.

THE BOARD of the Clinton County Road Commission held their regular meeting on Monday, June 20. The chairman was absent.

Bids were opened for the processing of 30,000 yards of gravel. Pickett and Scheurer of Allegan were low bidders and were awarded the contract.

New bank in Valley Farms open

The new Valley Farms office of the Clinton National Bank & Trust Co., at the Big E Shopping Plaza two miles north of Lansing on US-27, opened for business Tuesday.

Robert LaFave of rural DeWitt, who has been associated with the St. Johns office of Clinton National for the past year, is manager of the new Valley Farms office. Tellers are Mrs Dawn Frost and Miss Mary Witt.

The bank office building fronts along the east side of US-27. There is a drive-up window and after-hours depository at the rear, with an exit north to Northcrest Road. The 26-by-50-foot structure houses a spacious lobby, three teller stations, conference room and employees' lounge rooms.

THE VALLEY FARMS office has direct telephone connections with the four other Clinton National offices in Clinton County—the head office and auto bank in St. Johns and offices in Fowler and Elsie. The office is also listed on the Lansing telephone exchange.

Bank hours at the Valley Farms office will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday; 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday; and 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday.

The present Valley Farms office structure has been designed to serve the bank for only a limited period of time, say Clinton National officials. A permanent building is to be erected east of the present site.

LELA FRIESEN was the maid of honor. Barbara Ann Slagell, sister of the bride and Mary Jean Newcomer, sister of the groom, were the bridesmaids. They wore identical dresses of mint green. They carried semicascade arrangements of yellow and white daisies and ivy with mint green streamers.

City League summary

Deans held off a late rally by Co-Op to win 5-3 June 13. Dean's leading 5-0 going into the seventh, saw Al Werbish walk with two out; Bruce Blizard drew a base on balls, and Dave Hill lashed a single to center scoring one run. Then Lee Hill hit a long fly to left which was bobbed, and two more runs scored, making it 5-3.

Dick Pugs started for Dean's and took the win. Jerry Sharick came on in the 6th, and Denny Morrison was behind the plate. Deans had four hits with Blizard taking the loss. Dave Hill had two hits for the losers.

BEE'S/UPSET Becker June 13 in a hectic 7th inning. Five walks in the seventh told the story. Rick Randolph took the win, and Arens was the loser. Craig Knight had the only hit for Bee's while Becker's collected eight with Miller and Schafer getting a three-bagger.

Roadhouse squeaked by Davis Cycle Shop 4 to 3 June 14. Roadhouse scored three times in the second inning. Davis tied the score in the fourth and Roadhouse picked up the lead run in the sixth on a base on balls and two errors. Crosby was the winner and Bashore the loser. Roadhouse collected only two hits to Davis Cycle Shop's seven.

IN THE SECOND game Jerry Sharick hurled a one-hitter for Dean's as they beat Becker's of Fowler 3-0. Kohagen was the losing pitcher.

Wednesday June 15 saw two slug fests take place. Roadhouse stayed in the unbeaten column by clobbering Bee's 15-0, and Davis Cycle Shop of Elsie dropped Co-Op 10-0.

In the Roadhouse encounter it was all Terry Larner as he hurled the first no hitter of the campaign. He allowed only three base runners to reach first base, all on walks. He also hit a three-run home in the 6th and a single to drive in a run. Rolly Koleckner, Gary Crowley and Gene Livingston each had two hits apiece for Roadhouse. Roadhouse had 11 hits in the contest.

In the other contest Davis Cycle Shop treated Bruce Blizard pretty rough as they scored six times in the first inning. J. Kelly took the win and Blizard the loss. Kelly tossed a five hitter. Davis Cycle Shop had five hits.

BENSON'S AND Becker's tangled for 9 innings last Thursday night, June 16, before Becker's won out 5-4. Benson's started out hungry as Dave Hambleton doubled and Bob Every tripled in the first to enable them to take a 2-0 lead. Benson's scored again when Rick Snider tripled in the fourth. Becker's couldn't cope with Snider until the last of the seventh, when with the aid of four errors and a base hit by Don Werner, they scored four times to tie it.

In the bottom of the ninth Arens walked, Hummel singled, and Bill Barker singled to win the ball game. Tony Arens was the winner in relief of Vance, and Snider took the loss. Benson's collected five hits, and Becker's had seven.

Reduce poisonings

A little bottle of foul-tasting brown fluid can significantly cut the number of deaths and illnesses resulting from household poisons, says a University of Michigan authority on poisoning. The fluid is syrup of Ipecac, made from the roots of a South American plant. Syrup of Ipecac induces vomiting, said to be the best first aid for most—but not all—poisonings.

Tri-county library plan near reality

Since August 1964, events have been moving rapidly which may eventually see the establishment of a comprehensive library system servicing Clinton, Eaton and Ingham Counties.

At that time, the Michigan State Library called a meeting of local librarians and library boards in the three counties to explore methods of coordinating library service as well as servicing areas without library facilities.

A major motivating force behind the meeting, notes the Tri-County Regional Planning Commission's April "Newsletter," was a proposed bill which would provide state aid for the support of libraries and library systems. Under the provisions of the bill (later to become Act 286, Mich. P. A. of 1965), one or more public libraries, the total number of which served a population of at least 100,000, could become an integrated system which would be eligible for state aid. Grants varied with the population per square mile of the area served and could reach as high as 60 cents per capita.

OUT OF THIS meeting was born the Central Michigan Library System. Since the Lansing Library qualified as separate system, the CMLS concentrated its efforts on the three county area outside of Lansing. An advisory committee was established, composed of library personnel throughout the region, to provide guidance during the formation stages of the system.

The purpose of the CMLS, as outlined in its 1966 plan, is to provide public library services to all residents of Clinton, Eaton, and Ingham Counties through cooperative effort. Three principal programs are considered of primary importance:

1. IMPROVEMENT in selection of new books: Monthly displays of new books are available at the CMLS headquarters. Centralized ordering is made convenient and efficient at higher discounts than libraries receive individually. Catalog cards are duplicated centrally and delivered to member libraries with new books.

2. Improvement of existing book collections: The system's machinery is used to provide basic replacement lists for member libraries. Professional consultant services are available to member libraries upon request.

3. Specialized resources: Special collections will eventually be made available on both a rotating and centralized basis to CMLS members. Included in such collections will be films, tape recording collections, art works, and other kinds of library services which are either so specialized or so expensive that they are ordinarily found only in large public libraries.

To date, six local library systems have joined the CMLS: Charlotte, Benton Township, Windsor Township, DeWitt, St. Johns and Ingham County. Headquarters for the system is located at the Ingham County Library in Mason.

Q and A YOUR SAVINGS BOND QUIZ

QUESTION: I want to convert my E Bond holdings into H Bonds and have been advised that it will be necessary to sell the E Bonds and use the proceeds to buy H Bonds. Is this correct? ANSWER: No; and it would be to your disadvantage to do so. E Bonds may be exchanged at their current redemption value for H Bonds, the smallest denomination of which is $500. Under the exchange procedure, interest which has accrued on your E Bonds would not have to be reported for Federal income tax purposes until the H Bonds were cashed or reached final maturity. To sell your E Bonds first would make this interest subject to taxation immediately.

Bement Library Book Shelf

By Hila Bross

The hammock-reading season is upon us, and Bement Public Library is well stocked with literature to while away those long summer days that people are supposed to have.

P. M. Hubbard has written an understated thriller which you will want to read in the bright sunlight. Or, if it's after dark, you'll want the doors securely locked. THE HOLM OAKS is the story of Jake Haddon who is not happily married, but lives with his wife at the edge of a dense grove of trees.

At the opposite end of the same grove lives beautiful Carol Wainright and her husband, who are engaged in some mysterious sort of work. Well, there's the setting, and the publishers say this is a book you will not forget. They also caution that it is not "comfortable" reading.

FORBUSH AND THE PENGUINS is the story of a young New Zealand biologist who volunteers to live alone in an Antarctic hut for five months, in order to record day by day, the habits of a dying colony of penguins. This book is fiction, but its author, Graham Billing, did spend 18 months with the Antarctic Division of New Zealand's Department of Scientific and Industrial Research, so he is well qualified to set his fascinating story against such a background.

It sounds as if it might be a lonely sort of a story with no one in it but one man and some penguins, but Forbush has his memories and they include memories of a woman and of his life before he came to this frozen, icy world. FORBUSH AND THE PENGUINS is a book you will want to read more than once.

PHYLIS WHITNEY'S latest novel, COLUMBELLA, has crept up to eighth place on the New York Times' best seller list. This, too is a novel of suspense and high drama. Set in the Virgin Islands, the background is an old house on the edge of a cliff overlooking the Caribbean.

The cast includes Catherine, whose sole purpose is to torment and destroy. There is Jessica, who is "feeling her past." And there is Catherine's husband to whom Jessica is irresistibly drawn. Well, as we said, it is the reason for reading in hammocks. And we do have two copies—one in the rental library and one on the regular two-week shelf.

Dr. Charles H. Knickerbocker is a practicing physician who also writes novels. The fact that he lives in Bar Harbor, Maine, means that his practice keeps him occupied mostly in the summer. And during those long winter evenings he writes novels like SUMMER DOCTOR, THE DYNASTY, and JUNIPER ISLAND. His latest is called THE HOSPITAL WAR. It states plainly at the front of the book that "all the characters in this book are fictitious, and any resemblance, etc. etc." But one wonders, nevertheless, if Dr. Knickerbocker's patients don't feel a little nervous sometimes.

THE HOSPITAL WAR portrays the interrelated careers of three brilliant doctors, in operating rooms, hospital wards, staff meetings, and at home. If you think this sounds a little too much like afternoon television, you needn't worry. This is a well written book, and it is said by critics to be author Knickerbocker's best to date.

Forest Kremer, both of Elsie. Mrs. William Baker presided at the coffee service and Mrs. John Baker, at the punch bowl.

The dining tables were centered with pink and white streamers and candelabra of lighted pink tapers. Mr. and Mrs. Alex Dunay served as host and hostess for the reception.

MONDAY EVENING, Queen Gwen presided for her first meeting with 17 girls and 9 council members present.

Several installation dates were announced for area Bethels including the Grand Session to be held in Grand Rapids June 30 to July 2, when eight girls of the local Bethel plan to attend. Mrs. James Besko and Mrs. Richard Richardson will chaperone the girls.

A bakeless bake sale will be a project for Monday, June 27.

WCS hears of scientific discoveries

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church heard of scientific discoveries as Mrs Ivan Hofferbert gave the lesson "This is My Father's Universe." God created the universe and man has only to discover it, she said. She told of John D. Rockefeller and how he learned to give of his wealth and became a new person.

The worship setting was explained by Mrs Thomas Moore and Mrs Albert Ensign gave the worship.

Mrs Richard Moore opened the business meeting with a reading entitled "Loneliness." Mrs Wayne Sparks told of a drive to collect green and top value stamps to purchase a bus to transport CMU students to First Methodist Church in Mt. Pleasant. Anyone wishing to donate stamps may give them to Mrs Sparks.

A special guest at the meeting was Mrs Edward Tillitz of the Upper Peninsula. Her husband is a former pastor of Bannister.

The Bannister WCS will sponsor a Father and Son banquet at the Methodist Church Monday, June 27, at 8 p.m. The meal will feature baked ham. A free-will offering will be taken.

The Upper Michigan "Copper County" is the largest commercial deposit of native copper in the world, having yielded nearly 11 billion pounds in the past century.

MR AND MRS CHARLES G. MAGSIG

Every-Magsig vows repeated in church

For her 5 p.m. wedding, the bride selected a sheath gown of pearl de sole fashioned with long pointed sleeves and lace motifs with seed pearls. Her finger tip veil was secured with a crown of crystals and pearls. She carried a nosegay of pink rosebuds and lilies of the valley with satin streamers.

MRS LON CANUM, sister of the groom, was the matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Amy Magsig, sister of the groom and Miss Christine Larsen of Midland, cousin of the bride.

They were attired in empire gowns of white chiffon and wore white picture hats. Their bouquets were nosegays of blue sweet peas and white daisies.

Karen Canum, niece of the groom, was the flower girl. Greg Pifer was the ring bearer.

FOR HER daughter's wedding, Mrs Every wore a pink linen suit with white accessories. Mrs Magsig chose a beige lace sheath with matching accessories. They had matching orchid corsages.

Jerry Bunge was the best man. Groomsman were Dennis and Robert Every, brothers of the bride. Seating the guests were Ronald and Gary Every, brothers of the bride.

A reception for 300 guests was held at the VFW Hall of St. Johns.

THE WEDDING CAKE was made and decorated by the mother of the bride.

After a honeymoon at Mackinac Island, the couple will make their home at 201 1/2 W. Mc Connell Street, St. Johns.

Chamber speaker challenges city to develop tourism

The St. Johns Chamber of Commerce held its annual meeting last Wednesday, June 15, at Smith Hall with approximately 80 persons in attendance.

Past Chamber President Don Gilson welcomed those who attended and recapped the Chamber activities for the past year.

Gilson then introduced the new Chamber president, Leon Brewbaker. Brewbaker introduced members of the board of directors and his committee chairmen for the coming year's activities.

MRS BETTY Minsky, secretary of the Chamber, introduced the speaker of the evening, James Hall, executive secretary of the East Michigan Tourist Assn.

Hall's topic for the evening was, "Why tourism in St. Johns?" He presented the members of the Chamber with this challenge: "Should St. Johns attempt to develop its tourist potential or should the city turn away from these spenders and continue to be just a fine farm town in mid-Michigan?"

Hall continued by saying that in 1966 tourists will spend more than $1 billion throughout Michigan, a figure that is far more than the total value of all agricultural crops sold in our state, and a figure that can be divided among the towns and villages in direct proportion to the degree local businessmen work to attract this "cash crop" of tourists.

HALL STATED that tourists go where they are invited, where they know they will be greeted with warm hospitality and provided with something of interest to do or see.

To date, he said, St. Johns has not had too much of a program for these tourists; nor has it participated to any degree in the program of inviting.

Hall extended an invitation to each one individually, and to the group as a business unit, to meet the challenge of developing St. Johns' tourist potential: build our hospitality; discover our attractions for doing and seeing and to help sell them by joining the group that keeps saying, "We'd rather fight than turn away our tourist guests and customers."

AN AGGRESSIVE campaign in St. Johns would put at least another 5 per cent cash throughout the St. Johns' business cash registers in a year's time, he said.

'41 class seeks 6 missing members

The Rodney B. Wilson High School Class of 1941 was together as a group the last time on the night of graduation. There haven't been any reunions of the class over the years, but one is being planned for July 30 this year at the Clinton County Country Club.

It's been 25 years since the class graduated.

Most of the 83 members of the class have been contacted by mail regarding the reunion, but the reunion committee of Ivan Estes, Helen Lewis, Norbert Rehmann, Elma Parr, Dick Newman and Iva Keys hasn't been able to locate six of the former students.

They are Luella E. Andrews, Virginia Mae Balcom, Sophie Krasutsky Leona Frances Pierce, Harry Clark Jeffers and LeRoy Searing. Persons knowing where those persons could be contacted are asked to let Ray Parr at Parr's Pharmacy know so a letter can be sent to them telling about the reunion.

Burglar alarm sends thief away

A burglar alarm apparently frightened away a would-be thief or thieves at Andy's IGA early last Wednesday morning. Police were called when the burglar alarm sounded after midnight, and officers found glass in the lower part of one of the front doors had been smashed.

The thief apparently tripped over and tripped off the alarm in the office of the store. He or they left through the front door, without any loot, it appeared.

2 bicycle thefts bring warning

City police have warned youngsters and their parents that bicycles should not be left outside at night but should be put in a garage out of sight of would-be thieves.

The warning came after two more reports of bicycle thefts last week. A bike belonging to David Fitzpatrick of 109 W. Steel Street was stolen in such a fashion last Monday night. Later in the week Ward Rand of 303 S. Oakland Street reported his new bicycle had been taken from the city park pool where he had parked it while swimming.

Elsie

By MRS. NEVA KEYS, Correspondent

Miss Jennifer Keys gives piano recital

MISS JENNIFER KEYS

Miss Jennifer Ann Keys was presented in a piano recital by her teacher, Mrs Lois Williams, Sunday afternoon in the Methodist Fellowship Hall. The initial part of her program included two selections from the works of Ludwig Van Beethoven—the Albumblatt (Für Elise) and the Adagio from his "Moonlight Sonata." "Prelude in C Sharp Minor Opus 3, No. 2," the best known composition by Sergel Rachmaninoff, one of the greatest Russian composers, was also an opening number.

THE AUDIENCE showed their pleasure and approval by applause of Jennifer's rendition of "Malaguena" from the Spanish Suite "Andaluca." Jennifer showed her ability as an accompanist when she played for her teacher, Mrs Williams who sang "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" by J. S. Bach and "You'll Never Walk Alone" from Carousel by Rodgers and Hammerstein.

NO PROGRAM would be complete without piano selections from the immortal Bach family. Jennifer chose "Prelude in F Major" by Johann Sebastian Bach and "Solifeghetto" by his son, Carl Phillip Emanuel Bach. Other selections were the lively "Polish Dance" by Xaver Scharwenka and "Andante Con Moto E Poco Rubato" Prelude II by George Gershwin, who became one of the outstanding American composers of musical comedies and revues.

THE CLIMAX of the program was "Rhapsody in Blue" also written by Gershwin and arranged as a duet by Henry Levine from the original score. Jennifer was assisted by Miss Sylvia Surik of Ovid in the duet arrangement of this symphonic jazz composition. Jennifer and Sylvia were among the Ovid-Elsie Area High School graduates this month and are planning to continue their music education.

THEY WERE active musically in their churches, Jennifer as director of the Methodist Junior Choir and Sylvia as organist at St. Joseph's Catholic Church of Owosso. Jennifer was also musician for the Ovid Bethel of the International Order of Jobs Daughters for several terms. She has enrolled for the summer school session at Central Michigan University as preparation to become a teacher of elementary music and will begin her studies June 20.

Mrs Mae Goodrich, who was Jennifer's teacher for eight years, gave a few remarks concerning their experiences. She related the efforts that Jennifer and other members of the family have given musically to the community.

AT THE CONCLUSION of the recital, Mrs Williams presented Jennifer with a large bouquet of pink roses and expressed her pleasure in working with her during the high school years. Sylvia assisted Jennifer in unwrapping gifts from relatives and friends. Two long tables were arranged with mementoes of Jennifer's high school and graduation days, such as, pictures, scrapbooks, school annual, cards, awards and diploma.

SUNDAY'S PROGRAM was one of the few recitals ever to be presented in Elsie for many years. Music lovers of this area found it a stimulating and pleasurable experience to realize that there are young people willing to give much of their time to practice and study in the busy years of high school. Jennifer's parents, Mr and Mrs S. J. Keys were hosts at a reception following the recital which also served as her graduation open house. The serving table, laid with a lace-covered pink cloth, was centered with a small white-frosted piano, decorated with pink and blue flowers. It was made by Mrs R. C. King of Inlay City. Candelabra with lighted tapers in pink and white completed the conversational centerpiece.

A large cake designed as an open book and topped with a miniature piano and girl graduate in class colors, blue and silver was featured at a separate table. "Congratulations Jennifer" encircled by a horse shoe and the class motto "The future is not in the hands of fate, but ours," were inscribed in blue on the top of the cake.

IT WAS MADE by Mrs Myron Tethal and cut and served by Mrs C. L. Cornwell of Lansing assisted by Miss Barbara Warner.

Mrs Alden Livingston of St. Johns presided at the coffee service and the Misses Pamela Loznak and Kathryn Melvin, the punch bowl. Miss Sharlyn Moore registered the 80 guests from Detroit, Lansing, St. Johns, Ovid, Bannister and Elsie.

Jennifer's younger brother, Jack distributed the programs and David Williams ushered the guests to their seats arranged in a semi-circle about the improvised stage.

Large baskets of summer flowers forming the background for the stage setting were furnished by Mrs George Blayne, Mrs C. S. Goodrich, Mrs Orpha Clement and Mrs Dewey Saylor.

OTHER schoolmates of Jennifer, who assisted in the reception were the Misses Jackie Moore, Janice Kelley, Sharon Dunham, Sherry Bernath and Connie Luznak.

Mr and Mrs Keys were assisted by their sisters, Mrs Dorothy Kasper of Detroit and Mrs Margaret Edwards of St. Johns, Mrs Donivan Williams and Mrs Lyle Dunham of Elsie and Donald Willard of Ovid.

Soldier finds training thorough, interesting

Our man at war!

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Our "man at war," Pvt Trent Taylor, son of Mr and Mrs Landon E. Taylor of 6252 W. Walker Road, St. Johns, at last word was at sea on his way to Japan and Korea and probably eventually Vietnam. This third report in his series of articles about the life of a soldier was written several weeks ago after he completed advance individual training.)

After a BCT finishes his basic combat training, there are many fields he can go into. This is what they call AIT (advanced individual training). I took my AIT in Fort Ord, Calif. My AIT was in code call 11B10, which is a light weapon infantryman. In this training we learned all types of weapons—anywhere from a .45 pistol to a M72 rocket launcher. Our first week in AIT was a real challenge to us. We learned two subjects—land navigation and radio communication. We took close to 14 hours learning how to read maps, grid squares, to shoot azimuths and what all the symbols of a map are.

AFTER WE LEARNED how to do this we had three problems we had to work out. Two of these problems were day time problems and one was a night problem. The course was a good 3,000 meters long and we had to put into effect what we learned so we could get to a final destination. These problems took anywhere from 2 hours to 3 hours. After you complete this you were graded on how accurate you were and the period of time you completed it. The other part of the week was taken up by radio communications. This is where we learned how to use most all the Army's radios. We had to learn how to put them into working order and how to take them apart. We learned the proper way to address someone when calling a party, and learned the code for each letter and number. We spent another 15 or 16 hours in radio.

THEN AFTER EVERY working day of the week we had to RGT which stood for reviewing graded test. Every night we would review what we learned for that day. At the end of first four weeks of AIT you had this test to determine if you are ready for the next four and final weeks. The second week got more interesting as we went along. This week was made up of different types of weapons. The first of the week was the 3.5 anti-tank rocket launcher. This is like the old bazooka. We learned how to field zero it and learned how to aim it and fire it. We spent a day on this weapon. We all fired from one round to three rounds each at a range of 400 yards. This weapon is not being used any more for war but as a weapon to use to become familiar with the M72 rocket launcher.

THIS WEAPON is about 30 inches long and is very portable. You pull it and it lengthens itself to about 58 inches. It is a one rocket firing device that you throw away after firing its one rocket. It has shown to be a great asset to the Army in Viet Nam. After completing the 3.5 we learned how to use the .45 automatic. This pistol is a very deadly weapon up to 50 meters. We took this weapon apart and put it back together. We learned these steps so well we could take it apart and put it back in working order in less than 45 seconds. We also learned the basic firing position when firing it and we also had practice firing the weapon. Then for the remaining time of the week we learned first aid. This is just as important to an infantryman as his weapon.

WE LEARNED HOW to take care of any individual you may find on a battle front with anything from belly wounds and sucking chest wounds down to sunburn. This subject was one of the most interesting to us trainees because they told us lots of us would be using it in the near future, and I guess that is why most everyone really paid attention. On every Saturday, we would have our weekly inspection in Class A uniform. Then we would RGT to get ready for the four-week graded test. After that, about 2 or 3 p.m., we picked up our passes and went out for the rest of the weekend. While

If you hit the target with one round you would knock down the target and get a hit. After qualifying with the machine gun you would start a complete new type of training. The training you had up to this point was based upon the individual. Now you would learn how to work as a team.

FOR THE NEXT two weeks you would learn how to use fire tactics. You would learn how to fire upon bunkers, machine gun nests and how to assault. This was the most fun for the trainees. You would learn how to engage on a target and keep fire superiority and firing blanks at each other. On these problems you would learn how rifle squads would work during the time of daylight and the time of darkness. The only tough part of this type of training was the hours. You would get out there before dawn and didn't get out of the fields until after dark, about 7 or 10 p.m. Then you would have to walk back to the company area which would be two to four miles away.

Also in this training you would learn how to infiltrate enemy lines. During your sixth week you would have your escape and evasion course. This is where you are on a 3200 meter range and have to get to friendly lines.

THE purpose of this was in case you didn't hit your target with your first round you have two or three more rounds going into the same area, which will increase your chances of hitting the target. After completing your firing of the M-14-E-2 you learn how to use a weapon that is one of the best we have and one of the best we use in Viet Nam, it is the M-79 grenade launcher. It fires a 40 mm shell that is about 4 1/2' long. When hitting the ground it bursts into hundreds of small fragments, which will wound or kill the enemy in a 15 to 20 meter radius. This weapon is good from 33 meters up to 400 meters. It is one of the most accurate weapons we have.

WE LEARNED MANY things about this launcher—how to set the sights and how to cope with a misfire. When firing it there are a few tricks in holding it, because it can rip a thumb off very easily. After this we would be finished with our third week of training and preparing for our fourth week and our graded test on Friday.

Monday started our day at land mine warfare. We learned how to use all types of anti-personal mines and anti-tank mines. We also learned all the firing devices which set off these mines and how to make booby traps and how to disengage them. At the end of the relocated the mine and removed the field. They taught us this to learn how to handle explosives without endangering our lives or our buddy's life.

THEN FOR THE REST of the week we started to learn how to use the M-60 machine gun. This is a great weapon. It fires about 600 to 800 rounds a minute. We learned how to take it apart and put it back together and change barrels on it within three minutes. They drilled these weapons on use 'til it ran out of our ears, but we never know when we may have to take it apart to change a firing pin that may save our lives. So this constant drilling is very important to every soldier, whatever his job is.

We started practice firing with this weapon on Wednesday. On Thursday we shot our first period of record firing at 10-meter boards. We shot these on tripods with a T and C bar which helps steady the weapon and also locates given targets.

FRIDAY WAS THE big day. We went to our GT which lasted for two hours. This test was on everything we learned in the last four weeks. They had eight different stations that were 15 minutes at each station. It took 140 points out of 200 points to pass. If you didn't pass the test you took it over again. If you failed it again they would recycle you a couple of weeks back so you can learn what you have missed. Going into your fifth week you finished up with your M-60 machine gun. Here you went out on the range to fire for records. You had eight targets and got 120 rounds per man. The targets were from 300 meters to 900 meters. With a machine gun you fired a burst of 6 to 10 rounds.

Miss Linda Upton and Ed Setterington have charge of the supervised recreation at the school house for all children 7 and up. This project is sponsored by the government and is free to the children. Barney Schultise is the director for all Fulton Schools. Linda reports that there has been about 40 in daily attendance. Vacation Bible School keeping some from attending in the morning. It is open each week day from 9 to 11 and from 1 to 3. There will be arts and crafts, Tuesdays and Thursdays and outside games on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

The Village Council met Wednesday evening to conduct their regular business. Two suggestions were made regarding bicycles and B-B Guns. There was much discussion concerning children riding bikes and not knowing the approved hand signals and rules for riding. Many did not have reflectors, lights or horns. It was suggested a bicycle riders training course be given and perhaps a B-B Gun club be formed to teach the fundamentals of gun handling to give them an outlet.

This is a project that could be handled by an older Scout group. Commercial shooting preserves are now authorized in 47 states.

Ovid-Elsie elementary projects ready by fall

Karsten Construction Co. workers hoist a tub of mortar up to the top of the back wall of the all-purpose room at the new E. E. Knight Elementary School addition last week. Construction on the building is expected to be completed by Sept. 1 in time for the start of school.

OVID—The Ovid-Elsie Areas Schools' building program is moving along in good order these days with generally good weather, and the contractor for the elementary schools hopes to have two of the three projects ready for occupancy by this Sept. 1.

It will be much longer before the high school building is ready, however, because of the greater size and complexity of the job. But it, too, is proceeding at a normal pace.

Last week the high school contractor, Erhardt Construction Co. of Grand Rapids was getting a good start on the middle and western thirds of the building after having gotten the eastern portion housing many of the classrooms well along toward completion.

WALLS WERE beginning to rise on the newer sections as workmen swarmed over the building.

At Elsie the new building that will be part of the E. E. Knight Elementary School complex has walls almost completely finished, and already sidewalks are being poured around the building. The new structure, on the north side of the existing building, will have seven classrooms, an all-purpose room, library and specialized room. It will be built to house about 210 students, approximately the same number as the students who will come into town from the rural schools in the Elsie service area.

The two buildings will be connected by a covered walkway. The old all-purpose room in the existing building will be converted to a cafeteria to serve both buildings; the new all-purpose room will also serve both buildings.

THE EARLY PRIMARY grades will use the existing E. E. Knight elementary building, while the older primary grades will be housed in the new portion.

The Karsten Construction Co., Inc., of Grand Rapids is general contractor for all of the Ovid-Elsie elementary buildings being built. School officials said the company is putting prime emphasis now on completing the additions to existing buildings so they can be done and away when school starts and there are children around.

In that sense, work on the addition to the Ovid Elementary School is also expected to be completed by Sept. 1. It includes mostly renovation of the older area of the building plus the construction of a new all-purpose room, storage facilities, kitchen and two small offices.

BECAUSE THE contractors have emphasized getting out of the way of the children by the time school opens, construction on the new 13-room elementary school on the east side of Ovid is considerably farther behind, by comparison.

That building will be a complete elementary facility, with a library, all-purpose room, special rooms and offices in addition to the 13 classrooms. The contractors had hoped for a Dec. 1 completion date on the new building, but as of last week only the cement floor of the school was completed, with no other work started.

School officials said walls were expected to be started this week or next, however, as pressure on the construction of the other buildings relaxes somewhat.

The Ovid-Elsie building program—including all the schools—will cost about $3.2 million.

Thirty-seven state game agencies, supported by funds from hunters, sponsor hunter-safety programs for the public.

With over six million acres in state and national forests, Michigan has the largest area of managed public forest and hunting lands of any state east of the Rocky Mountains.

This portion of the new Ovid-Elsie High School will eventually be the auditorium-cafeteria. Last Wednesday contractors were working on the sub-floor facilities, moving toward the pouring of the concrete floor.

Soldier . . .

These problems were during the day and at night time. Then for three days you would be camping outside in tents. After you have completed your three days in the field you would take a patrol test. They would ask you all different questions referring to patrolling. There are a possible of 150 points which count toward your graduation.

WEDNESDAY YOU would get back. On the next day you would start getting ready to turn in your equipment that was issued to you. But on Friday at noon you took off for your 17 hour problem. This has everything to do with what you have learned. You have to go out and disarm booby-traps off trees. And go out and ambush and assault enemy positions.

THIS WAS CONSTANT walking, and using the knowledge they have taught you.

Your eighth and final week was a week of inspections. You spent all week cleaning and re-cleaning your equipment and turning it in. Thursday was the day you completed your eighth week of AIT.

Then you go to graduation and listen to a major speak and tell you, you did a real good job. They tell us that completes our training and we know we're real soldiers.

They said we would be sent to all parts of the world. We had many sent to Europe, Alaska, Japan, Korea and Viet Nam.

New labeling could guide clothing care

"Care labeling" of clothing could help consumers take better care of their wardrobe in the future. Bernetta Kahabka, clothing specialist with Michigan's Cooperative Extension Service, alerted consumers recently that a national committee is studying the possibilities of such labels.

"The committee is to make recommendations on how labels might tell the purchaser the best way to keep the garment he buys in good condition," Miss Kahabka noted.

In conjunction with the "care labeling" idea, a National Fair Claims Guide has been published. The guide introduces the concept of "implied warranty."

MISS Kahabka explained, "The Guide indicates that if a garment is so constructed that it will favorably withstand normal cleaning procedure expected then no care label would be used. Absence of a label would mean a warranty that the garment would respond well to the cleaning procedure one might expect to use."

On the other hand, when a garment needed special care, a label stating dry cleaning or washing methods required would be sewn in, the specialist emphasized.

THE guide has been accepted by Better Business Bureaus, claims courts and many dry cleaners and apparel firms. The guide is used in helping to settle questions of liability when clothing fails to hold up under normal wear and cleaning.

You never outgrow the need for cheese

by HELEN B. MEACH Extension Home Economist

One-half pound of cheese equals about 2 cups when shredded.

Cheese please—well that's just another way of saying, please pass the milk. Remember, we never outgrow our need for milk—or cheese.

Ten pounds of fluid milk, approximately, are required to make one pound of cheese. This means that "cheese contains many of the nutrients of milk in a highly concentrated form. Some reports list cheese as the most highly concentrated of all protein foods. So if it's protein you need (and we all do) it's cheese for you!

CHEESE (EXCEPT cottage cheese) tastes best when it is served at about room temperature. For full flavor enjoyment, remove from the refrigerator the amount of cheese you plan to serve. Do this 30 minutes to an hour before using.

Store cheese as airtight as possible—and in the refrigerator. The easiest way is to place it in a plastic bag and press the bag tightly to the cheese to force out the air. Or wrap it tightly in aluminum foil, plastic wrap, or a double thickness of waxed paper, then refrigerate. It will keep for several weeks. To store bits of cheese, grate, then refrigerate in a covered jar. Use it in casseroles and soups.

IF A SLIGHT mold develops on the cheese, this does not necessarily mean spoilage. Just trim the mold from the cheese and rewrap properly. The old practice of wrapping cheese in a vinegar soaked cloth is not recommended because even though it does protect against mold growth, the vinegar alters the flavor of the cheese.

As modern today as it was over 4,000 years ago—remember, it's cheese any time, any place, for anyone and it's sure to please.

WHEN YOU'RE shopping, remember the cheese you buy is either natural cheese, a process cheese, or process cheese food.

Natural cheese, such as cheddar, contains almost all the protein, butterfat, sugar, and minerals of the whole milk from which it is made. Process cheese is made by mixing one or more cheeses. This produces a cheese that slices easily and melts without curdling or becoming stringy. Process cheese food or spreads resemble process cheese, but have more moisture and less fat and milk solids. Seasonings and relishes are sometimes added.

CHEESE IS GOOD to the budget—it's an inexpensive source of animal protein, and you can use it as an alternate for meat. Three-fourths pound of cheese supplies more protein than 1 pound of meat with a medium amount of bone.

When you're cooking with cheese... use low temperatures... high temperature or long cooking makes cheese tough and stringy. Add cheese to other ingredients in small bits... it will melt evenly and quickly into the other foods. To prevent curdling, blend cheese into a smooth sauce before adding to other ingredients. Use cheese to flavor white sauce for casseroles, in scalloped dishes, or on cooked vegetables.

17 over 80 years old among 79 at Wacousta yesteryears party

WACOUSTA — One of the high points in Wacousta social life each year is the Yester-Years Party organized by Mrs Veda Forward and her group of volunteer assistants.

They put on their annual party last Thursday afternoon at the Wacousta Community Church, and despite a smaller attendance than in recent years, the 79 people who spent the afternoon there seemed to enjoy it . . . as usual.

Again as usual, most of the folks were elderly residents and ex-residents of the Wacousta community. Thirty-three of them were over 70 years of age, and 17 of those were over 80 years of age.

The three oldest people there were all 85. O.E. Anderson, now of Grand Ledge, received a gift as the oldest man, 85 last September. Mrs Angie Burgdoff of Lansing was the oldest woman, also 85 last September, though her title was closely contested by Mrs Ivy Greenfield of Williamston, who turned 85 last October.

Mrs Catherine Simons of Grand Ledge, 83 years old, played several accordion numbers last Thursday for those attending the Yester-Years party at Wacousta. She learned to play the accordion less than 20 years ago and now teaches youngsters how to play the instrument.

There were other forms of entertainment during the afternoon. Mrs Catherine Simons of Grand Ledge played a number of accordion selections. She is 83 years old and only started to learn the accordion less than 20 years back. Even now she gives lessons to about a half-dozen youngsters, proving that age and the infirmities it sometimes brings needn't necessarily keep a person down.

TEENAGER Wendy Waldron, accompanied on the piano by Mrs Don Lowell, played several flute solo numbers, prompting Mrs Forward to say she believes "We (in Wacousta) have the greatest bunch of teenagers in this community that there is," complimenting the youths on their good citizenship as individuals and as a group.

The Rev Thomas Peters, pastor of the church, also spoke briefly near the conclusion of the formal part of the party.

Refreshments were set out about 3:45 by Mrs Lewis Babbitt and her kitchen committee, and the rest of the afternoon was spent at the tables and in conversation.

TRAVELING THE farthest distance to be present at the Yester-Years party were Mr and Mrs Victor Moldenhauer of Saginaw. Others were present from Greenville, Williamston, Lansing, Portland, Grand Ledge, DeWitt and Wacousta community.

Mrs Forward, a former long-time correspondent for the Clinton County News in the Wacousta area, was mistress of ceremonies again this year after being absent for last year's party because of illness. She weaved a web of smiles and laughter throughout the afternoon, spinning true and humorous tales about past experiences of people in attendance, and always keeping her audience off guard with group participation games and songs.

42% of state park acreage bought

The State Conservation Commission has so far approved the purchase of 1,115 acres of land for the 2,655-acre Sleepy Hollow State Park in Victor and Ovid townships southwest of Ovid.

Forty-two per cent of the acreage has been acquired. Another 80 acres likely will be purchased next month, and it is hoped all acquisition will be completed by the end of 1967.

The last purchase approval was for 210 acres from Vendors H. Lee Swender, Charles E. Swender and Beulah Swender for $67,200. That parcel is located in the north part of the projected park.

Michigan mines nearly 20 percent of the nation's salt. It has enough salt to supply the entire nation "forever."

NEW Perspective

She went up and up. "Again, Daddy, again," until from her great height she looked down on a strangely distorted scene. Daddy was different from the top. Mommy was little and far away. Even the familiar old tree had hidden its friendly trunk and she caught her breath with a thrill of the unknown. I saw her expression change and suddenly there was a cry tinged with fear, "Don't Daddy!"

I dropped back while the swing slowed down. She tumbled out of the swing into my arms and I realized that there was a vast and unfamiliar world ahead for my child, with many distorted themes. I looked across the house tops to a church spire and thanked God for a foundation of faith... to guide her through the uncertainties ahead.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The Charter Township of Bath Township Board Report. Proceeding of the Charter township of Bath meeting of June 6, 1966. Meeting called to order by Supervisor Shepard at 8 p.m. All board members were present. Minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved. Minutes of the Planning Commission meeting of May 23, 1966 were read by the supervisor and placed on file. Subdivision Ordinance was discussed at large by the board. Ordinance was tabled until the Planning Commission could review same and give their recommendations to the board. Rezoning of three parcels of land in the township was discussed and tabled until recommendations from the planning commission were received. Supervisor read report from Simpson's Justice Court and report was placed on file. WILLIE TUCKER RESIDENTS of Coleman road presented the board with a petition signed by the residents along Coleman road (Center Rd. to Park Lake Rd.) which requested that the board take action to have said road black-topped. Supervisor advised Mr. Tucker that the county was allotted only $296.00 app. per mile for local roads (this includes maintenance and building of roads). Mr. Tucker was advised that the residents would have to pay a part of the costs in building road and that the Clinton County Road Commission should be the one to be advised how much of this they would be asked to pay. (Approximate cost $17,000.00 per mile) Moved by Clerk Reasoner that the petition be passed on to the Clinton County Road Commission for consideration. Seconded by Treasurer Barker-carried. Police chief gave department report-officers worked 181 hours, liquor licenses checked May 28, 1966, 14 tickets issued, 7 trips to jail, 6 fire assists. Clerk advised board that residents along Clark and Webster roads in the area close to the dump have complained about the burning and odors caused by the burning in the dump or Drummheller Road. Clerk read to the board a part from the minutes of a meeting of Sept. 10, 1962 which advised Mr. Akin operator of the dump that he could not burn without a permit and that the burning had been causing a health problem. Fire chief Nelson was present and advised that no permits had been or would be issued for burning at the dump. Supervisor to advise Mr. Akin that the burning must stop. Mr. Pierce came before board and showed them a revised layout of Upton Heights and ask if same had been approved. He was advised that the plat was in hands of the Planning Commission and could not be acted upon by the board until commission had returned it with their recommendations. Meeting was adjourned at 11:20 p.m. LEE D. REASONER, Clerk

Scarecrow: not even the name is the same

Each summer the corn, berry, and fruit plantings in Michigan provide excellent feeding places for starlings, grackles, and red-wing blackbirds.

Different as they are, none of the bangs, booms, pops or honks of current methods for preventing crop damage by birds are 100 per cent effective. They are much better than the scarecrow of grandfather's day however, says Charles Shick, Michigan State University Extension specialist in game management.

either carbide or acetylene. One exploder will give protection to a square field up to 10 acres in size.

The noisemaker device should be placed on a pole above plant level. In large areas, the MSU extension specialist advises farmers to move the noisemakers every two to four days for most effective protection.

Shick recommends a morning and evening shotgun patrol in conjunction with noise devices for best control. "A few shotgun blasts over feeding birds does a great deal to keep them off balance," he said.

THE STRESS created by the frightening devices generally causes flocks of birds to change feeding areas. It also tends to break flocks up into smaller groups so that extensive damage to individual fields is less likely to occur. The noise devices won't eliminate all damage, but will reduce it to tolerable levels, Shick said.

MSU researchers who worked with the exploders concluded that protecting crops with the devices can be worthwhile even though part of the crop is lost.

The researchers stated that methods are often condemned because they do not provide 100 per cent protection. The important point is that greater damage would occur if no control was attempted, Shick added.

Some commercial farmers have used traps to reduce crop damage caused by birds. The following facts are necessary for a successful trapping program, the specialist says:

- 1) CONSTRUCTION of traps must meet recommended specifications.
- 2) Traps should be located in open areas along local flyways between roosting and feeding sites.
- 3) Traps should be checked daily.
- 4) Ten to 12 live birds should remain in the trap for decoys.
- 5) Water and food—cull apples or fine-cracked corn—should be placed in the traps for decoy birds and as an additional attraction to other birds feeding in the area.
- 6) Persons planning to trap birds must obtain a permit from their local conservation officer, Shick concluded.

FARMERS CAN buy automatic exploders for about $75 and can construct bird traps for about $40. A list of companies which make noise devices, and plans for building and using bird traps can be obtained from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, New Post Office Building, Columbus, Ohio.

Fire extinguisher is farm helper

A dry chemical type, pressurized fire extinguisher should be the farmer's second right arm when working around farm machinery.

During the coming haying season Richard Pfister, extension safety engineer at Michigan State University, urges farmers to take extra precautionary measures when starting motors and refueling.

A fire extinguisher within easy reach on tractors and self-propelled harvest equipment helps farmers in case of emergency. Then if a spark ignites dry hay or standing grain, the fire can be controlled before it wipes out a crop as well as the equipment, Pfister concludes.

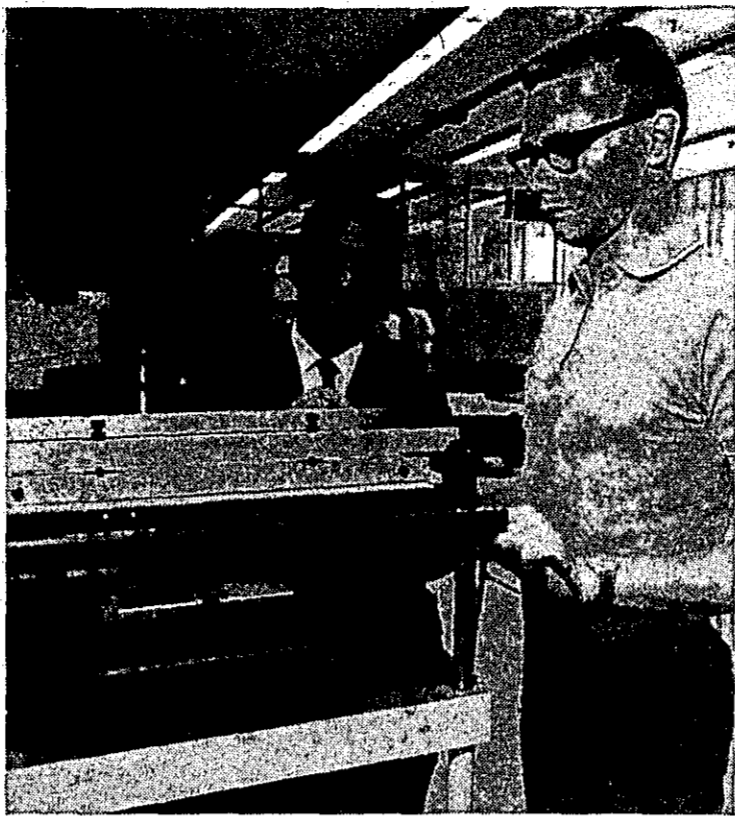

Fire is ready to break out without warning. It has no respect for life nor property, and, according to Richard Pfister, Michigan State University extension safety engineer, has no hesitance in taking human lives.

Pfister suggests that during harvest season this year farmers should check all motors for proper adjustment, keep manifold and exhaust pipes free of dust and trash and make sure fan belts are properly adjusted. Fill fuel tanks only about 95 per cent to allow for heat expansion of the fuel and avoid overflow.

"These and other precautionary measures eliminate sources of ignition that can result in substantial losses to the farmer," Pfister concluded.

Harvest fires happen in hurry

The true price of anything is not only the marked price, but the hours and days of our lifetime we must give to possess it.

Learning About Molding

Jerry Lee Kendall, son of Dr and Mrs Donald A. Kendall of 119 Maple Avenue, Maple Rapids, and Thomas Tsuji, instructor of education, work together at a machine used to mold plastics in a general woodworking class at Michigan State University. The course is designed to exemplify, in both organization and equipment, desirable practices for teaching in today's secondary schools. Kendall is an MSU junior majoring in industrial arts.

By ALVIN ROOT, Extension 4-H Agent in Clinton County

We quite often say that a 4-H club is half fun and half work. One could reason that 4-H club work is all fun because the work involved in 4-H projects is done in a way that it is fun. All of our 4-H Clubs, however, are encouraged to plan organized fun times. This we call recreation activities.

Our 4-H softball program is one of these programs. This summer we have eight white teams, junior level, and 10 green teams, senior level. Leading the teams this year are: Donna Smith, Dale Haviland, Clair L. Wilson, Hewitt VanVelsor, Charles Hazle, James Graham, Alan Davis, Charles Slim, and Don Devereaux; white teams: Ben Weber, Don Hunt, Mildred Stoy, Hewitt VanVelsor, Don Harper, Bob Kissanee, Harvey Thornton, Betty Harie, Mrs Miller, Charles Slim, and Duane Davis.

LINDA JOHNSON, 4-H Club member from DeWitt, R-1, has recently been named as a winner in the Communication Arts Institute Scholarship sponsored by the Michigan Farm Magazine and Michigan Department of Agriculture. This is a $100 scholarship; Linda will study in the area of journalism. Plans are to ask the young winner to help with news reporting at the state 4-H Show.

Our next 4-H club softball games are scheduled for Friday night, June 24. The green teams playing on June 24 are: Olive vs Stoney Creek at Al's Field on Airport Road at 7 p.m.; Prairie vs Victor at St. Johns City Park at 9 p.m.; French's Corners vs Olive I at French on French Road at 7 p.m.; Bengal vs Charlie's Gang at St. Peter's Lutheran Church School on Church Road at 7 p.m.

THE WHITE TEAMS playing (all at 7 p.m.) on June 24 are: Olive I vs Greenwood Busy Body's at St. Johns City Park; Olive II vs Bengal at Bingham EUB Church on the corner of Taft and County Farm roads; Happy Rustlers vs Fowler Busy Bees II at Holy Trinity in Fowler; Charlie's Gang vs Stoney Creek at St. Peter's Lutheran Church School on Airport Road; and Victor Girls vs Victor Boys at Victor on Alward Road.

The state 4-H trail ride is set for July 15, 16, 17. The cost is $8 per person and we have a quota of one leader and three 4-H members who can attend. Horse club members and leaders interested are asked to let the extension office in St. Johns know soon.

4-H Calendar

JULY 9 - 4-H Talent Show, 8 p.m. at Smith Hall, sponsored by the 4-H Service Club. Entry blanks are due in the extension office no later than July 5.

JUNE 25 - 4-H Service Club will sponsor an ice cream social beginning at 5:30 p.m. at Smith Hall. Hot sandwiches, coffee, ice cream, and cake will be on the menu.

JUNE 28 - Training in live-stock judging.

4-H Chicago trip Saturday

Five county 4-H members will leave Saturday morning for a trip to Chicago - the prize for outstanding work during phases of the 4-H year.

The youngsters - Jean Schaefer, James Nichols, Mark Simon, Shirley Bowen and Mike Borton - will leave from the courthouse Saturday morning at 7 o'clock, with Mr and Mrs Carl Schaefer as chaperones.

The group will stay at the Avenue Motel on Michigan Avenue in Chicago. Members will decide about many of their sight-seeing trips, but those already planned include visits to the Museum of Science and Industry, a tour of Chicago, and downtown shopping.

The U. S. Census Bureau has reduced its prediction of the nation's population for 1985. The bureau's estimates for that year now range from 273.3 million to 239.6 million. These compare with the estimates ranging from 275.6 million to 247.9 million made two years ago.

AGRICULTURE in ACTION

by M. L. Woell MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

During the past couple of months or so, the price of food has been in the spotlight, and farmers have been pretty upset because administration officials seem to blame them for these increases. It is certain, however, with farm prices averaging only 82 per cent of parity, that farmers can't be blamed for inflation caused by food price increases.

Whenever farmers are blamed for retail food prices, they like to point out just what percentage of the retail dollar they actually receive. Currently, this over-all figure runs about 41 cents. This comes in a report recently issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in the May issue of Marketing and Transportation Situation.

ALTHOUGH FARMERS get back only 41 cents out of every dollar the consumer spends at the retail level, a look at figures for individual items tells the real story.

This report shows that butter leads the list in giving the most money back from the dollar spent. For every dollar spent for butter, the farmer's share is 73 cents. Eggs rank second and return 66 cents.

Beef, lamb, pork and frying chickens return 61, 60, 59, and 55 cents respectively of the dollar spent by consumers.

Down on the lower end are those items that involve a lot of processing. Of a 2 1/2 cent loaf of bread, the farmer receives 3 1/2 cents, and the remaining 18 cents must be divided among those who handle the wheat and other ingredients before it gets to the housewife.

AT THE BOTTOM of the list is a No. 303 can of beets. Out of every dollar the consumer spends on canned beets, the farmer gets 6 cents. Looking at it another way the No. 303 can sells for 17 cents, and the farmer's share is 1.1 cents.

It ought to be clear then, that when farm prices increase, retail prices ought to have no real reason to increase the same amount, because much of the retail price is tacked on after the product leaves the farm.

But, any way you look at it, food still takes only 19 per cent of our take home pay and that makes it one of the best bargains in the country today.

Expand rural home FHA loan program

Michigan's rural families stand a better chance of moving into new or improved housing due to the expanded real estate loan program of the federal government's Farmers Home Administration.

Nyle L. Katz, who directs the state program through field offices serving every county in Michigan, says expanded funds are made possible through a new program in which private lenders advance funds needed to finance housing construction. Under this insured loan program, the federal government guarantees repayment of these funds. "This expanded rural housing loan program," Katz continued, "is proving to be a major step toward giving rural people equal opportunity to have a decent home."

Additional information about the new housing loan program is available at the FHA Office, 125 S. Maple Street, Ithaca.

Farmers victims, not cause of inflation, FB chief says

The current effort to saddle farm prices with the responsibility for the inflationary trend in our economy is a smoke screen, designed to divert attention away from the real causes of inflation, according to E. J. Bottum of St. Johns, Clinton County Farm Bureau president.

"While government has been pushing up farm production costs with its inflationary policies, it has moved to beat down farm prices in the market through actions of executive agencies. These include: dumping of government-held grain stocks on the market to break prices; imposition of restrictions on cattle hide exports which failed to halt a rise in shoe prices; an increase in the import quota for cheese to curb dairy prices; a 50 per cent reduction in pork purchases for the Army.

"IF THESE NATIONAL actions a little far off, one should consider that two of the most important Michigan Agricultural products are milk and meat, in that order. In 1965, Michigan farmers sold over $200 million worth of milk and nearly $150 million worth of red meat. Any move by the administration to restrict the free play of the market in these two areas can cost Michigan farmers millions of dollars in a matter of a few weeks," the farm leader reported.

Meanwhile, deficit government spending is a major cause of inflation, Bottum said. Government spending, he pointed out, has risen from $76.5 billion in fiscal 1960 to an official estimate of $121.5 billion for fiscal 1967.

"THE BUDGET HAS been unbalanced each year since 1960, and the annual deficit has been as high as $6.2 billion," Bottum said.

"Far from being the cause of inflation, farmers have been one of its chief victims. Farmers, as the largest per capita consumers of the goods of industry for use in farm production, have been hit hard by rising prices of manufactured products. Farm production costs have increased $4.1 billion since 1960."

Recommend haylage ration

Dairymen planning to feed haylage as the only forage should provide one ton of haylage per cow per month, according to Michigan State University dairy scientists.

This recommendation calls for haylage at 50 per cent dry matter. And this would require 1.5 tons of silo space per cow per month, since silo capacities are calculated for forage containing 30 to 35 per cent dry matter.

FOR SMALLER breeds and young stock, dairymen should allow about 5 pounds of haylage and 7.5 pounds of silage space per 100 pounds of body weight per day. For example, dairymen should figure 50 pounds of haylage or 75 pounds of silage space per day for a 1,000-pound heifer. This is equivalent to about 1.1 tons silo space per head per month.

The MSU dairy scientists point out that the volume of silage being put in the silo can be determined by counting the number of wagon loads. They note that 100 cubic feet in the wagon box holds about one ton of wilted silage or haylage.

One of the first boundary disputes between states resulted in Michigan receiving most of the Upper Peninsula in exchange for a few miles of Ohio territory where Toledo now is located.

Food care vital in warm weather

With the coming of summer months, cook-outs, picnics and prepared lunches eaten in cars are a way of life with most citizens. But the high temperatures that are so enjoyable also pose a threat to food unless the rule is adopted which says: Keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold. At this time of the year, there is always an increase of food poisoning cases reported to the Michigan Department of Agriculture. Many of these stem from meals being exposed to summer temperatures without proper refrigeration after the food is prepared.

FOODS CONTAINING cream and eggs are particularly susceptible to food poisoning organisms when improperly handled. Heading the list are mayonnaise, cream fillings, potato salad, cream sauces, puddings and salad dressings.

Manufacturers usually handle such products properly as do most retailers, but often consumers are negligent because they are unaware of the hazard involved, says J. L. Littlefield, chief of the Food Inspection Division of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Microbiologists at the department's laboratory frequently detect bacterial contaminants in food samples submitted by Littlefield's men during warm weather.

TO AVOID DANGER of food poisoning, they advise keeping foods that are to be eaten hot well heated during the time between preparation and eating. Similar precautions apply with cold foods. Chilling and good refrigeration are suggested. Keeping food at room temperatures is dangerous in either case. Maintain hot foods at 140 degrees F. or higher and cold foods at 45 degrees F. or colder, is Littlefield's suggestion.

Bridge highlights new route for Island Road near Elsie

There's bustling activity around the site of the new Island Road bridge west of Elsie as workmen for the Walter E. Fry Co. of Lansing near the half-way mark toward completion of the $134,000 span. In this telephoto view looking east across the Maple River, workmen can be seen on top of the pre-cast concrete deck as a crane does excavation work closer to the camera. A new channel for the Maple will be cut under the bridge, after which the old channel will be filled and the roadway built, providing an almost straight route into Elsie from the west; now Island Road winds around the mill pond and across an old bridge. Larry Cavanagh is the project engineer for the county. The bridge is scheduled to be opened by Sept. 1 and completed by Oct. 1.

NFO members urged to sign grain with NFO

Anton Peters, Michigan's national assistant to the grain commodity department of NFO, was present at the June 11 meeting of the Clinton County NFO and urged members to sign their grain with NFO.

President Elmer Smith read a letter from National President Oren Staley thanking members for writing or calling the President and members of Congress concerning farm problems. The massive letter barrage changed his thinking in Washington, it is reported.

ELMO GIFFELS reported NFO now has a meat processor signed in Michigan and will soon have an NFO grader at that plant. In another report, Charles Grogan, national director from Indiana and assistant to the national meat commodity department of NFO, was quoted in Charlotte May 26 as saying processors have told him NFO's marketing arrangements are responsible for keeping prices as high as they are. The NFO's television program on Channel 5 will continue for another 13 weeks, but the time has been changed to 1:30 p.m. Sundays.

Eighty-seven percent of all types of industry are found within Michigan.

... And Where It Stops Nobody Knows

Letters to the Editor

Courage by reflex

All too often, it looks like our world is going to hell in a handbasket, and our young people are leading the way.

Then along comes something that shouts that this is a pretty good world after all, and that most young people deserve applause rather than censure.

Like Ross Matuja, who is 13. Ross was playing with his younger brothers and sisters in a barn near Fair Haven about a year ago. The kids had built a fort of straw, when a light bulb broke and the straw caught fire, Ross directed his brother to jump to the floor below, and then handed his two sisters down to him. Ross was burned and spent four weeks in a hospital.

Or like teen-ager Marleen Sipka of DeWitt.

Marleen was baby-sitting with three children when the Palm Sunday tornadoes of 1965 struck the house where Marleen was caring for Vicki, Bruce and Lee Ann Eckerle. Marlene threw herself over the three children, saved them, but was seriously injured herself and was hospitalized for some time.

Or like Richard Robeson of Lincoln Park, who pulled a playmate loose from a high-voltage wire after having presence of mind to grab a handful of leaves for insulation.

Or like Elbert Cox, Jr., of Warren, who saved the lives of two of his smaller brothers when they were trapped in their burning home, although six other Cox children were killed.

Or like Steven Childs of Detroit, who saved the lives of four children by taking them out of the pathway of an oncoming bus.

Or like Patricia and Sherry Sterling of Greenbush, who dug out a playmate who had been buried by an avalanche of snow, saving her life.

Or like Robert Leick of Lansing, who rescued a two-year-old from beneath the wheels of a rolling auto.

Or like Kevin Burke of Allegan, Ronald Gallighugh of Detroit, Glen Male of Alpena, Patrick Gallagher of Ann Arbor, Allen McCool and Robert Moyer of Kalkaska, Christine Doll of Chelsea, Elizabeth Dawe of Capac, William Kendall of Traverse City, Cathy Benes, Gail Dolbow, Harley Snyder and Henriette Snyder of Grand Haven, and Ed Szalonek of Spring Lake.

All of these young people saved the lives of others - mostly adults - from drowning.

These young people—all less than 19 years of age—have been nominated by the Michigan Youth Commission for national recognition for their outstanding acts of bravery during 1964 or 1965.

In each case, the young hero disregarded his own safety to help someone in trouble. Some were injured themselves, and every one placed himself in physical danger to save somebody else. Those rescued were not always friends or playmates. Some of the young heroes risked their lives for total strangers, but fellow human beings.

These acts of courage were not debated. They were instant reactions, displaying courage by reflex. They exhibit an innate love for neighbors, in the pure Christian sense.

When we look at the campus demonstrations against the draft, or the looting and rioting in Los Angeles, or the liquor-and-sex theme so much of the notoriety involving young people, it's comforting to think of youngsters like Ross Matuja and Marleen Sipka and the rest of Michigan's young heroes. With young citizens like them coming along to take over the world, we feel a lot better about the whole thing.

RAMBLIN' with Rink

By LOWELL G. RINKER

Can you imagine the Thin Man as a great outdoorsman, deftly handling a canoe past large boulders and logs and through white water on a northern Michigan river? And roughing it nights, bedding down on a pile of leaves in front of the old campfire in snake-and-bug-infested forests, miles from civilization? Can't you see it now? Boy, have you got a wild imagination!

SEVERAL MONTHS ago Ann and I cooked up a plan with some of her relatives in Grand Rapids for a canoe trip on the Manistee River this summer. Having had only a very little experience with the canoe, I determined we shouldn't make the trip without some more knowledge of it. Thus, when the Red Cross offered their canoeing course this spring at Michigan State, my wife with her eagle eye spotted the announcement, and I was able to enroll the two of us. Ann was able to make only the first lesson, but I got to the rest of them.

ACCORDING TO THE canoeing instruction books, the best way for handling the craft is for the two paddlers to kneel on the keel, thus keeping themselves low and preventing wind resistance and making the canoe easier to handle because of the lower center of gravity.

Providing myself with a foam rubber pad in the bottom of the canoe, I proceeded to get cramped up, and several times during the two-to-three-hour sessions we'd have on the water, I would have been willing to bet anybody anything I could never stand up again.

One canoe my partner and I had had a very short space between the bow deck and the bow thwart (seat) and a very low-slung thwart. For a long-legged paddler like me, it was most interesting squirming into the little space and trying to get my legs back under the thwart.

OUR FIRST LESSON was held, ironically enough, in a swimming pool, where we were given our overboard instruction. That involved vaulting out of a canoe, getting back in, capsizing a canoe and getting back in, paddling a swamped canoe and emptying a swamped canoe in shallow water. After that we were on the river at MSU, and to my knowledge no one in our group capsized or fell into the water.

Only one time was there any close call, and that, of course, happened to the Thin Man and his partner.

ON OUR FIRST DAY on the river, we were told to watch out for other canoeists who were participating in canoe races from Okemos to Lansing. One came up on me and my partner, Glenn Gray (not the Cassaloma Orchestra man), and before we could maneuver out of the way it caught us a glancing blow at the stern. I went into the water up to my left elbow, but we kept the canoe upright and paddled shakily on our way.

One of my pet peeves about the course was that we had to wear life preservers while in the canoes; this even though we had passed a test on the first day of swimming in deep water 10 minutes with clothes on! I was fortunate (?) enough to get one each week that was bulky enough to be a parachute pack. Many times I wanted to pull some of the strings and see if a 'chute would open, but I didn't because it might have been embarrassing to have a whole bunch of nylon shroud floating along behind the canoe.

JUNE 11 WAS THE last day of instruction, and I assume we passed the extensive testing (both on the water and on paper) which they subjected us to in order to pass the course. At any rate, I wasn't kicked out of the canoe, and Glenn and I did a pretty fair job of handling the craft.

The next day, in an effort to see if I had learned anything, Ann, Kathy, I and the dog went back to MSU and rented a canoe for an hour and a half. With Ann in the bow, I in the stern and Kathy and the dog in the bilge, we wandered starboard and portside (dig those nautical terms!) upstream in what I preferred to call a test pattern or orientation trip for my wife's benefit.

Coming back we put everything to good use and steered a true course whenever we felt like it. It was great fun which we promised ourselves afterward we would do more often.

AND WE WILL. And someday I may become a great outdoorsman, deftly handling a canoe past large boulders and logs and through white water on a northern Michigan river. Right now I'm barely beyond the brown, odorous waters of the Red Cedar.

-Rink

Interesting Items from the Files of the Clinton County News

10 YEARS AGO From the Files of June 21, 1956

More than 100 entries have been received for the Children's Day parade to be held on Tuesday, July 19, during the Centennial Week.

The 33 Centennial boosters who went by bus to Detroit last Sunday to advertise the St. Johns Centennial had such a good time that they are planning on making a similar excursion to the Alma Centennial in July.

The Clinton county unit of the American Cancer Society completed its annual fund drive this week well over the quota of $4,500 assigned to the county.

25 YEARS AGO From the Files of June 26, 1941

Given fair weather, the city park in St. Johns will see its biggest crowd of the season next week Friday—when St. Johns stages its annual Fourth of July celebration.

Fowler was host to a record crowd Thursday, June 19, when the 5th annual Field Day sponsored by the Fowler Booster Club.

Some 50 Clinton county Boy Scouts were forced to cut their way out of camp when Sunday afternoon's electrical, rain and wind storm felled trees across the roadway leading from Camp Townsend in Duplain township, where they staged their annual Clinton District Camporee.

50 YEARS AGO From the Files of June 22, 1916

Thursday and Friday, June 29 and 30, have been assigned as "Road Bee Days" by Gov. Ferris. In a proclamation he calls upon all residents of the state, who can, to help fix the roads in their immediate vicinity.

On next Sunday afternoon the members of the local order of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs will hold their annual Memorial services.

There was a good attendance in the Congregational church Wednesday when the class day program of the 1916 graduating class of the St. Johns high school was given.

STRICTLY FRESH

In this world people seldom think alike, except when they are buying wedding presents.

The trouble with television these days is that the good guys win out on The Man From U.N.C.L.E., Perry Mason and Batman—on every show, in fact, with the exception of the 11 o'clock news.

Derby committee thanks community

We, who were concerned with the 1966 Clinton County Soap Box Derby, wish to express our sincere gratitude to all who in any way had a part in the success of the parade and race on June 5.

First—our thanks go to the Good Master above for the beautiful weather given us on that day.

We wish to thank and compliment the staff of the Clinton County News for their fine cooperation—with special thanks to Lowell Rinker for his splendid coverage in word and pictures of the event.

HEARTIEST thanks to the many people who showed their interest by sponsoring a Derby boy and his car—and to all who made donations to the Clinton County Soap Box Derby. To the many workers at the Parade, Race and Banquet our deepest appreciation for the fantastic team work displayed.

Especially do we compliment the 66 Derby participants on the good job which they did in completing their cars, and the marvelous sportsmanship they displayed at the race.

AS RALPH Lynam said when presenting the traveling trophy to the 1966 champion, "The team work and example which was set by the people who worked on or with the derby will some day be followed by these derby boys."

This voluntary co-operation makes St. Johns the outstanding community which it is. Thanks again to one and all.

Asks that housewives watch city affairs

HEAR! HEAR! to the person in last week's paper (June 9) who wrote the letter about "Justice in St. Johns."

We have lived here for four years, never asking the city for anything. My husband is employed here; most of his wages are spent here. So you see we are ardent fans of St. Johns living. But I hope we never have to ask the city for help again.

I think that along with myself, a few more St. Johns housewives should be interested in our city politics. Just taking myself for instance, I am involved in school activities. That and my family doesn't leave much time for other involvements. We usually leave the running of the city to our husbands.

I hope in the future I can attend city council meetings, at least once in a while. I also urge other homemakers to do the same.

Sincerely, MRS GENE BENSON 107 E. Gibbs Street

Place more stress on bicycle safety

I heartily agree with your item about automobile drivers and bicycle riders but do think a little more stress should be put on bicycle riders obeying traffic signs.

To illustrate, one day last week while driving north on Lansing Street, as I approached Park Street, three boys on bicycles coming from the west, did not stop at the Lansing Street intersection, which is marked with a stop sign. As they got to the center of the intersection one boy tipped over, and fell to the pavement. Luckily he was not injured.

I know of one boy not so lucky; he fell and struck his head on the pavement and died of a brain concussion a week later.

I HAVE NARROWLY escaped hitting children riding in the center and back and forth across the road several times in the past. Parents—please educate your children in bicycle safety riding, for the sake of their lives and drivers' nerves.

CONCERNED CITIZEN (Name withheld on request) (Editor's Note: Agreed, with double exclamation point) In fact we see no reason why bicyclists shouldn't be ticketed for traffic violations the same as auto drivers.)

Jaycees explain position on LCC

IN RESPONSE to your letter (from FUTURE PROPERTY OWNER, April 9 issue), I wish to explain our position on the Lansing Community College annexation vote.

The Westphalia Jaycees took their position for several reasons. Reason No. 1 is that we are a civic organization, and one of our functions in a community is to inform the citizens of the issues of the day. We took a similar stand on the liquor issue of several months ago. A tax issue as this is always a "hot potato," and someone must present the issue to the public.

To set the record straight I will give you a history of the events leading up to the present time. The P-W School Board initiated annexation petitions in April. Fifty signatures were needed but could not be secured. This was reported in the P-W school paper in May. Mr. Blanchard of the Community College requested our help in securing the needed signatures. This was cleared with Mr. Steinke, who welcomed our help.

THE JAYCEES would not accept this project without our board approval and our membership approval. We invited Mr. Blanchard to our May meeting. After his explanation a motion was made and supported to accept this project. The membership, after some discussion, gave its approval. We secured over 25 signatures in the Westphalia area, and other interested citizens' signatures in the Pawama area. The signatures were certified and accepted by the college board of trustees.

The Jaycees, after approval of the signatures by the superintendent of public instruction, secured the needed 2 per cent of the qualified and registered electors of the school district. They were presented to the P-W School Board, accepted and approved by them, and sent to the Community College Board of Trustees.

AFTER THIS MR MARTIN and I appeared before several groups presenting the issue. We explained the benefits as well as the cost of annexation. We urged the people to consider both sides and after forming an opinion, to VOTE. The Jaycees certainly are not in existence to unnecessarily raise taxes or to place any unwanted burden on our citizens.

Reason No. 2 for our position is that we believe everyone should have a choice in this matter. Each person over 21 years of age is entitled to vote. In order to make a choice, we believe a voter must be informed. The only way to inform the voter is to have an open meeting where questions can be asked and answers can be secured. To vote "no" because it will cost me money is not voting as an informed citizen. To vote "no" after I have studied the issue and I cannot see where it will be beneficial to me, is voting as an informed citizen.

THIS IS THE ONLY reason why we spent several evenings securing the signatures and attending the school board meetings. An informed citizen is an informed voter. Our goal is to inform and stimulate enthusiasm and not to sway votes.

I hope this answers the questions that you raised. We did consider the proposition and do understand the situation.

Our Jaycee creed reads "... That service to humanity is the best work of life." In this case, informing the public is our best work. We are thankful we were given this opportunity.

This letter was read and approved by our membership.

Yours truly, KENNETH J. PLATTE President - Westphalia Jaycees

'Why can't swim club use the local pool?'

The St. Johns Swim Club has been in existence for about a year now. It has survived more than its share of the rigors any new club is confronted with. (If you are interested, just ask our coach, Larry Graemer.)

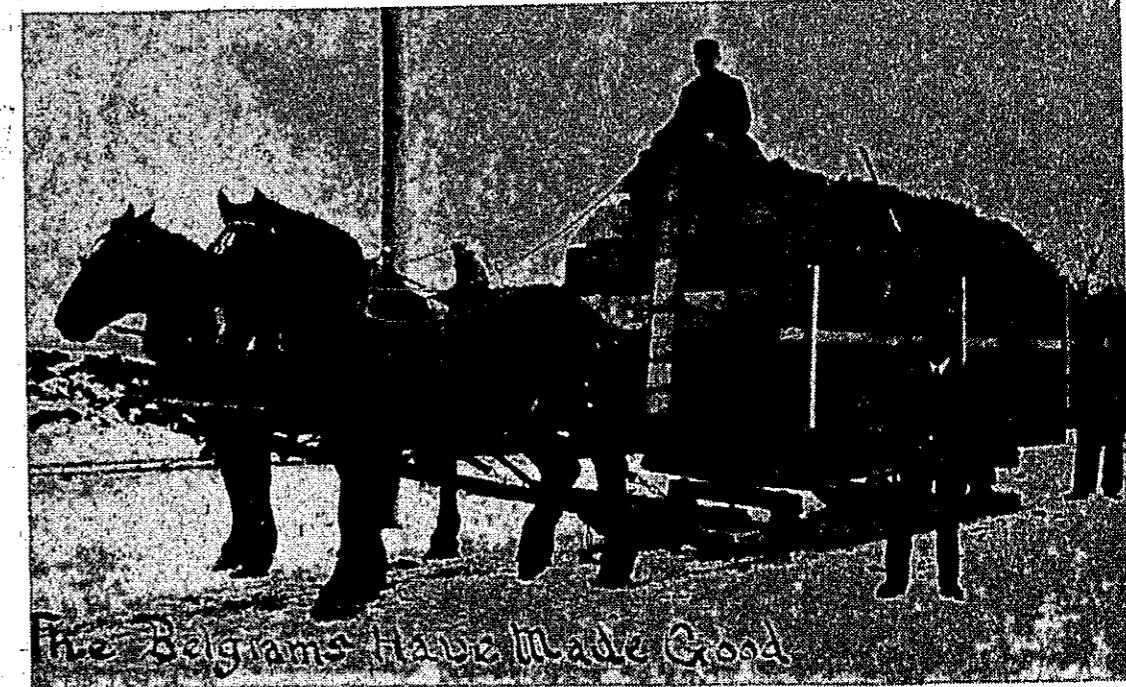

This winter we were very fortunate to be sponsored by the St. Johns Rotary Club, and we swam every Saturday, for two hours in the Waverly Junior High pool. All winter we looked forward to summer... to daily work-outs; a chance to strengthen our team. Summer comes. We begin holding daily calisthenic periods at 6:30 in the morning to condition ourselves for the daily three hour workouts in the pool, similar to those we endured last year. We wait impatiently for the pool to clear up.

WHEN IT FINALLY becomes swimmable, we are told that we can't use it. The reasons that were given by the authorities are many, but we feel they are quite invalid ones.

Our competitive swimming team, which has involved over 100 kids this year, is an important step in the advancement of our city's swimming program. The time will come, we hope in the near future, when St. Johns will have an indoor pool, and a swim team will be an important part of our competitive sports program. At that time it would be great to have some seasoned swimmers ready to hit the water to defend the name of St. Johns High.

Very truly yours, JANE MORRIS Swim Club Secretary

A Look Into The Past

The beet generation

Harry Reamer of 1200 Locher Road, R-2, DeWitt, brought this picture to the Clinton County News recently, but he knows only that it was probably taken at the St. Johns Co-Op. The original picture, a post-card, was addressed to Frank Huffman of DeWitt and had this message: "Gross 19170#. Net 16,640#. Oscar Wolf's load of beets drawn 5 miles with one team. Full blooded Belgians cost him 2700. Weighed by me. The manager stands at... of load. F. H. Hubbard." There is no date on the postal card.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

It's been a bad year for state's legislators

Disgruntled and disillusioned, most legislators took to their home districts to campaign for another term.

At the beginning of this session there was much praise for the Legislature's performance. Members seemed to be settling down sensibly and determined to get things done. But the pace soon bogged down. Box score for the '66 session showed it took nearly as many days to pass slightly more than half the number of bills enacted in 1965. In 103 days this year, as compared to 126 for all of 1965, some 252 bills were passed through both chambers. Last year the Governor received 442 bills.

Numbers alone do not measure the value of activity, but the record will show that there was much time wasted, much hot air expended and much left undone.

BIGGEST PROBLEM of the legislator is a changing philosophy about his own job. That leads to the next biggest problem he faces.

Until recently, legislators were picked from various communities to represent people in state government. They were, for the most part, farmers, merchants, lawyers, real estate people. They came to the capitol, conducted state business, went home.

More recently, the legislator has viewed himself as a full-time career man.

There is no doubt that need for representative efforts has increased as society has become more complex. There is room for doubt the state needs full-time people as legislators. There is also room for suspicion that the present bodies could make their own operation much more efficient if they worked at it.

SECOND PROBLEM is the legislator's pay raise. Most legislators feel that the public does not understand how hard they work.

The image of the legislator has suffered a great deal this year because of the publicity received by some of his colleagues. The public expects that men who make laws for them to obey ought to be very careful about obeying laws themselves. Despite the fact that some of the men who got in trouble this year show some good points on their records and despite the fact that most of the legislators had no legal troubles at all, general public reaction is to lose respect for the legislative body as a whole.

This is a major problem for anyone seeking a pay increase, and it is easy enough to see why the legislators are disgruntled and disillusioned when their frustrations are understood.

ONE OF THE NEWER traffic problems got three-pronged attention in the Legislature this year: the mounting problem posed by the increased use of motorcycles. Any city newspaper tells the tale daily. In the Lansing area, for example, a two-week period recorded motorcycle accidents almost every day. Injuries were involved in every accident.

Concern over this problem is great, at least partly because of the higher potential for serious injury in crashes involving motorcycles. Laws regulating the use of motorcycles are nonexistent in most states.

THE NATIONAL Safety Council started a major campaign this year to encourage states to control motorcycle activities to some extent.

Primary reason was the 1,500 cycle deaths recorded the past couple years. The council noted cycle owners often had no special knowledge about their vehicles, although safe driving requires know-how and extra ability.

Salesmen were known to give only brief instructions on the mechanical processes for getting the vehicle on the road.

MICHIGAN'S legislature became one of the first to take steps aimed at making motorcycle cycling safer.

Their bill would first prohibit cyclists from passing between lines of cars going in the same direction. Like auto drivers, the motorcyclists will have to pass on the left.

A second part of the bill passed through both houses will require rental establishment operators to explain the operation of the vehicle to the renter, and to refuse the customer if he appears incompetent.

The final section relating to motorcycle operators will require them to have a driver's license, be insured, and wear a protective helmet at all times.

The Greater Need

(Submitted in the interest of Highfields Camp for Boys)

By W.E. DOBSON

There are two schools of thought, we are frequently told, On issues that face us today; The one of them deals with immediate needs, The other looks farther away; And someone once questioned a long time ago As he sought certain people to rally, Shall we build a stout wall round the edge of the cliff, Or an ambulance down in the valley?

Prevention they tell us is better than cure, Though remedies fill rightful place; The greatest of doctors is he who can serve The causes of pain to erase; To err is so human — the stakes are so high With the needs so apparent — why dally? Do we build a stout wall round the edge of the cliff, Or an ambulance down in the valley?

Some days of our youth we would like to forget, Some mistakes that we might have been spared If counsel and guidance would then have been ours — If someone had known them . . . and cared; The days that are past can never return — Turn the page then and start a new tally: Shall we build the stout wall round the edge of the cliff, Or the ambulance down in the valley.

In the wall of prevention we plan for today, Can we build with sound mortar and skill A highway to cushion some of life's sterner shocks Some measures of safety instill? There must be new promise, new vistas ahead, Far removed from old darkened alley — When we let the stout wall round the edge of the cliff Save the ambulance down in the valley.

from the HOPPER

By STEVE HOPKO

For years I have been an avid golfer and always played as much as possible. But over the past few years I have not played very much, in fact, darn little. But looking back on the old days I remember that half the fun of playing was the dicker that went on before we hit the first tee. First it was deciding who would be partners, then who was going to give who how many strokes.

I REMEMBER one fellow from St. Johns who had quite a reputation for winning. In fact, we used to accuse him of carrying a cash register on the back of his golf cart. This fellow had, what they call in the trade, an educated slice. Actually it was an educated round house, because if the ball ever stayed in the air long enough it would have come back and hit him. At least it seemed that way. Another one who used to hold his own, had an odd swing that would deceive a lot of people. This fellow had no back swing. At least to watch him you would never know it. But he hit the long ball with the best of them.

THERE WERE A few more of this type around and we always enjoyed playing together. But getting back to the present. I have not played many times in the past few years, but this year I have been able to get out a few times. The other day I went out and was able to get into a group made up of Ralph Lynam, Ken Penk, Bob Strline and Ed McLuckie.

Here were four fellows who have been playing right along while I've been on the sidelines. One of the fellows said he would take me as a partner, (I think he felt sorry for me because I hadn't played very much). This was agreed and I expected that our opponents would give us a few strokes to offset my not playing.

To my surprise, our opponents asked for strokes. Of course, our opponents were the two I mentioned above. The "old cash register kid" and "no back swing kid". Leaving the dicker to my partner, we ended up playing even.

As we began I realized that my partner had more faith in my game than I did, or else his wife let him have a couple of extra bucks that day. But I was game and went along with his thinking.

It was a beautiful day and we had an enjoyable afternoon. When we finished we had all shot pretty much the same scores, so my partner and I got out of the afternoon without it costing us anything. Like I said, I had faith in my partner and he held up his end by shooting some very fine golf.

As I traveled home from the course that evening, my thoughts were that these fellows haven't changed at all when it comes to golf. Here I expected them to be generous to one who hadn't played much, but instead they treated me like I had been playing right along.

BUT THEN IT'S like I said before. Half of this game is the fun of the dicker over strokes and adjustments. And with these fellows it's a great way to spend a sunny afternoon. In fact, I wouldn't trade them for any of the pros in the business even though they don't give strokes.

Drama club new auxiliary to First Nighters

The Rodney B. Wilson High School Drama Club will now work as an auxiliary to the St. Johns First Nighters, with the high schoolers becoming honorary members of the local theater group.

Drama Club students will work with First Nighters on their projects and productions.

A play selection committee, comprised of Eugene Livingston, Sheila Brock and Barbara Rand, was appointed last week. They will select 12 plays and recommend at least four to be voted on for production in 1967.

Vicki Rowell has been named chairman of a social gathering and potluck planned by the First Nighters for Sept. 12. Vice President Joan Davidson was appointed permanent chairman of membership and tickets for the group.

COUNTRY FLAVOR

A man should learn about a mountain

HAYDN PEARSON

Since ancient eras man has looked to the mountains and felt their challenge and mystery. Why do men risk their lives to climb the great heights on our planets? Because man accepts the challenge. Not to all comes the desire to scale the heights, but to those who feel the challenge, nothing satisfies until the attempt is made.

Mountain ranges have tipped

the scales of history. When this new land was first settled, explorers soon found the passes that meant the opening of the west. It may have been four or five billion years ago that the sun spun off the gas mass that eventually became our planet. Great convulsions have taken place; vast mountain ranges have been thrown up and have disappeared. Even today earth's pressures build up and quakes damage and kill.

A SINGLE MOUNTAIN is a study in climate. Most mountains have four distinct zones and each tells a story. At the base are the hardwoods with lowland flowers for a garland. In the zone above are the evergreens, hemlocks, spruces and firs where the floor is spongy with brown needles and the hermit thrushes sing haunting requiems to day. Above the spruces are the scrub trees, wind whipped by gales and storms—stunted trees a few feet high that are distorted in shape but hauntingly appealing. Around the mountain top are the mosses, lichens and alpine flowers that open small, colorful blossoms for a few weeks in midsummer.

A man should know a mountain as he knows a favorite woodland and a meadow brook. A mountain is a part of human lives. When one lifts his eyes to a steadfast sentinel standing against the sky, his faith in the verticles is the deeper if he knows the zones of life that lift from valley floor to windswept heights.
