Treasury Dept. gives Clinton a clean bill of health

By TIM YOUNKMAN
News Staff Writer

Clinton County received a clean bill of health from the state treasury department in a letter and detailed audit report sent to the county commissioners last week.

The audit of the county records for 1969 revealed an unencumbered cash balance on hand of $119,071 in the county General funds, according to Allison Green, state treasurer.

Green said in a letter to the board dated May 11 that revenue for the general fund, social welfare, department of public works operating and soldiers and sailors relief funds were derived primarily from the property tax levies and from certain state shared revenues and state grants in aid.

"This balance does not include the county road, veterans trust, law library funds or other funds of a restricted nature," Green stated.

The audit disclosed only minor notes of reprimand by Green who said the state approved the county budget procedures, county officers' salaries, officers' bonds and individual county agencies.

Green noted that the dog kennel licenses were being numbered as they were issued.

"These and all other licenses should be prenumbered by the printer," Green said.

He also indicated that the jury and witness fees and mileage incurred during 1969 have not been prorated over the district.

"We refer to a letter opinion of the state attorney general dated Aug. 1, 1969 which states that these expenses shall be prorated among district control units, in this case, Clinton County and Gratiot County, within each district on a population basis for 1969," Green said.

The agencies included in the audit program were the county treasurer, county clerk, register of deeds, judge of probate, district court equalization department, adult probation, sheriff, friend of the court, social services, county road commission, drain commission, zoning commission and juvenile probation.

A study of the audit report shows an increase in general fund expenditures for 1969 over 1968 of $141,349. Actual expenditures for the year ending Dec. 31, 1969 were $1,080,828 compared with the 1968 total of $939,477.

Operating expenses for the county board of commissioners was reported as $43,273 and increase of $19,494 and $2,727 under the estimated budget figures for 1969.

Courthouse and grounds expenditures totaled $44,817, increasing $12,970 from 1968 and was $17,817 beyond the estimated budget.

The drain commission department increased only $5 over 1968 with totals of $31,307, $2,693 under the budget estimate.

The prosecuting attorney's office recorded expense totals of $40,676, increasing $7,884.

The sheriff's department expenditures were reported as $33,893, an increase of $27,495. This excludes county jail expenses and driver licensing costs.

The main source of revenue was reported as taxation, collecting $803,741, an increase of $76,880.

As of Wednesday, July 1, the St. Johns Fire Department will no longer respond to calls in Ovid Township.

The St. Johns City Commission Monday night unanimously agreed to drop a strip of land on Ovid's western borders from standby service.

The department is allowed to assist the Ovid Township department, however.

Boo. County road crew digs up a skeleton

A Clinton County road crew didn't find a skeleton in a closet Thursday, but they did find one underground during construction work on Clark Road.

Vern Pung of the county road commission contacted the sheriff's department after a road crew uncovered a skeleton along Clark Road about 500 feet east of Chandler Road.

A spokesman for the crew told deputies that a hill in the road had to be cut down and the banks graded, and a utility pole was to be lowered. When the pole was raised and moved back, an earthmover started grading the bank and uncovered the old skeleton.

Neighbors said there had been an old family burial ground in the area several years ago, but had been removed, according to the sheriff's report.

The skeleton was probably overlooked when the grave sites were removed, a spokesman for the sheriff's department.

The skeleton was placed in a container and removed to the sheriff's department.

Kelly says report set on his DeWitt office

Clinton County Prosecuting Attorney Patrick Kelly told the board Monday that he will report to the county Board of Commissioners July 1 concerning his DeWitt office.

On June 15 the board refused to extend county supplement payments to Kelly for a second office in DeWitt, awaiting a report on the extent of private use of the office by the prosecutor and his assistant Daniel Matson.

"I do have a report ready for July 1," Kelly said, indicating that he has kept a record of cases and dates for public use of his office at 122 E. Washington.

"I will release some statistical information about the office," he said. "But the office is actually a private office and I am doing some public work there."

"It has always been a private office," Kelly said. "There is a big difference between a public office for private work and a private office for public work," he added.

He said that the idea for the office was mentioned at a luncheon with some commissioners, and he noted that while attending to his private practice in the southern Clinton County area many people would come into his office on public matters.

"At the time I suggested $200 per month," Kelly said.

The board finally decided on a $250 per month subsidy and extended the plan in January for six months longer, but stopped the payments at their June meeting when the matter of a further extension was proposed.

Kelly said the office was a private concern before he was elected prosecutor for the county.

"I can't always guarantee that someone will be in that office," Kelly said.

"The Commissioners meet on motion day for circuit court and one of us must be in court and if the district court schedules cases we have to be there," he said.

He said that he felt other county agencies should set up offices for the growing population of the southern portion of the county.

The board of commissioners will meet at 9 a.m. July 1 at the courthouse meeting room, where Kelly will give his report.

New rec. program in DeWitt

By TIM YOUNKMAN
News Staff Writer

A new City Recreational Program has been initiated for DeWitt and should begin within several weeks.

The DeWitt City Council voted unanimously to adopt the resolution after a presentation by Tom Mauro, high school instructor, outlining a program of recreational activities for children between the ages of six and 12.

Mauro suggested that the program could be held at the city park and indicated he spoke with several former students who would be willing to donate their time to the plan.

The program would eventually consist of arts and crafts, coloring, painting, chess or checkers, softball and possibly badminton.

"We may need some kind of equipment to get started," Mauro said. He noted that several softball bats, balls and a catcher's mask should be purchased to get the program off the ground.

Councilman John Hiatt moved that the city council should allot $25 to begin the program, with additional funds, if necessary, to be received later.

Tentative planning calls for the program to be held in the morning from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, which would avoid any conflict with little league scheduling.

Councilman Duane Ziegler added that he thinks that "this is a real great effort and something we were lacking badly in DeWitt."

In other council action: Councilman Raymond DeWitt, who is president of the Lions Club in DeWitt, officially thanked the city for donating needed equipment used in the Looking Glass River clean-up Saturday.

"This was a wonderful expression of the people," DeWitt said concerning the volunteer turnout.

He said he has received several requests about holding another water clean-up day, possibly in September. He expressed the sentiment that it should be made an annual event until the river is completely cleaned from U.S. 27 through the city.

Kelth Blizzard, mayor pro-tem, discussed plans for inspection of trash burners within the city limits. He said that there will be several more meetings with the public works board to

THE "TRAIN" STOPPED HERE

Severe thunder storms in Clinton County Wednesday (June 17) caused considerable discomfort to the Ray McPherson family, DeWitt Road, St. Johns. A huge willow tree was uprooted by high winds and sent crashing down upon the McPherson garage, barely visible in the photo. McPherson said the roar from the storm sounded like a train rumbling past his house. Cost of repairs was unknown Thursday, but McPherson said extensive repairs to the roof would be required.

DeWitt sewer rates up

A new table of adjusted rates for the City of DeWitt sewer system customers will become effective July 1, the DeWitt City Council voted unanimously Monday night.

The 350 homes in DeWitt will be assessed $23.10 per quarter, with a discount for prompt payment, according to the new plan. The old quarterly rate was $20.25.

Mayor Lawrence Keck said that in addition to individual residences, all other accounts were also effected by the new plan. The council declined to release the figures for commercial establishments and school system rates for publication indicating that these concerns would be notified.

Councilman Paul Mulford said that after "going over the cost to process the sewage, the sewer committee recommended that there should be rate adjustments."

"Needless to say, the majority of these are to be raised," he said. "We are in line with the proposed sewer budget with this plan," he added.

Councilman Duane Ziegler noted that inflationary rates have eroded the extra money that would have been available through expanded use of the system.

"The costs have kept pace and have gone ahead of our revenue," he said. "This is why a rate adjustment is necessary."

Councilman Raymond DeWitt said "the problem now is to meet our demands today" in voting for the rate adjustment package.

Councilman Roger Overway indicated he did not like to see the home rate increased, "but I will vote for it due to the extent of the study made," he said.

John Hiatt, supported by Overway, moved that the new sewer rates become effective July 1, which passed unanimously.

The motion calls for a revision of figures each year as needed under the current formula of charges.

At the same time the council took under consideration a proposal by Mulford that something be done concerning the present hook-up charge to the sewer system.

He said that now there are several sewer districts in DeWitt and a revision of the charge should be studied. The council tabled the study until the next session, July 6.

DeWitt council

set a specific schedule for inspection.

The council received a letter from U.S. Rep. Charles Chamberlain, Republican of Lansing, indicating that the request for the city to receive an American flag which has flown over the Capitol has been granted. Chamberlain said he had filed the City of DeWitt with the Capitol architect's office, who is responsible for certifying such requests.

Lloyd Berkimer was appointed chairman of the zoning board of appeals by unanimous vote.

Councilman Paul Mulford discussed the problem of the responsibility for maintaining the right-of-way in front of citizen's lots.

Councilmen agreed that it should be the responsibility of the resident or owner of the lot to maintain the appearance of the right-of-way and that other municipalities have ordinances on the books to that effect.

Mayor Lawrence Keck appointed Blizard to the task of planning such an ordinance. Blizard requested that a letter be sent to the Michigan Municipal League seeking further information of the proposal.

A question was raised by Mayor Keck asking if the city has liability protection against individual claims. It was pointed out that only staff persons working for the city would have individual coverage, although the city is covered by liability insurance. Volunteer workers for the city would not be covered under individual insurance policies.

Due to the July Fourth holiday, the trash collection dates have been altered, with the Lake Geneva area collection set for June 30, the north side of the river July 1 and the south side, July 2.

Shiawassee official in 87th House race

Richard E. Flynn, 30, of Durand, is seeking the Republican nomination for the 87th District Seat in the House of Representatives.

Flynn, a life-long resident of Shiawassee County, has served as a member of the Shiawassee Board of Commissioners for the last year and a half.

Flynn is a tool maker at Fisher Body of Grand Blanc where he has been employed for the last 10 years.

As a member of the board of commissioners, he has been chairman of the Agriculture, Roads, Bridges and Parks Committee.

"I feel there is a need for youthful ideas and new innovation in the legislative body of this state and that this can be accomplished only by giving 100 percent to this job," said Flynn in announcing his candidacy.

"I feel that taxes on property and the senior citizen must be stemmed; that government must be responsive to the people; that those who dare destroy public property and sanctuaries be made to pay the full measure of the law and that those who protest the public be shown the respect of their positions," he added.

Flynn and his wife, the former Janet Thiede and their three girls live at 2237 E. Bennington Rd., Durand.

The seat is presently held by William S. Ballenger and includes all of Shiawassee County and two-thirds of the population of Clinton County.

Ballenger is running to represent the 30th District in the State Senate.

More workers

In 1969, employment of adult women rose by 1.1 million and that of teenagers by 335,000. These groups together accounted for almost three out of every four persons added to the employed work force during the year.

Dale Calder

American-Independent candidate files in 87th

Dale F. Calder, 33, 320 W. Centerline Road, St. Johns has announced his candidacy for state representative from the 87th district, the post vacated by William S. Ballenger who is running for a State Senate seat.

Calder, who resigned from the faculty of Lansing Community College to run for the seat, will represent the American-Independent Party.

Calder is the chairman of the party's state central committee and is state education director for the party.

He graduated from Rodney B. Wilson High School, Lansing Community College, Michigan State University, with a bachelor's degree in political science, and the University of Paris, with a master's degree in language.

"Basically, I feel that there has to be a fresh, conservative approach to the problems that face the 87th District," he said. "I believe that the conservative philosophy established by Mr. Ballenger is good and I would like to continue that same kind of record," he said.

Calder indicated that he sees the main problems as taxation, campus violence, the Parochial issue and abortion.

He said that the property tax must be lowered and the state income tax should come to a vote of the people.

On campus violence, Calder indicated that the "radical revolutionary minority should be stringently dealt with under existing legislation and the administrators should be made to do their job."

He said that the Kent State shootings were a result of a question of enforcement and how far to go when troops are called in.

"I don't condemn the National Guard," he said. He added that they "probably were justified in doing what they did."

The candidate said that he was against Parochialism "since government intervention means government control."

He said that his party will have a greater chance at winning locally than at a national level. The American-Independent party plans on holding a full state in Michigan in the fall, he said.

Calder was also a teacher at Marion High School, Marion, Mich., before becoming an instructor at LCC.

He is engaged to be married "after the election" to Mary Ganiard, of Jackson.

This week the County News contains a special Bridal Section. We hope you'll read through it and enjoy it even if your wedding bells rang a few years ago... or won't ring for a few more. We had some camera problems but a lot of fun preparing it. A local couple, Mike Fleischer and Brenda Chadwell, who incidentally will be married June 28, were nice enough to travel around with us and have their picture taken for use in the special. In fact, Brenda made a special trip when a faulty camera made it necessary for a return visit. The name of the special is "Happiness Ever-after," and we wish just that for Brenda and Mike.

DeWitt water clean-up volunteers not only cleared the waterway Saturday. Here several workers trim dead and low-hanging branches that interfere with picnickers and hikers at the city park on the bank of the Looking Glass River.

DeWitt volunteers clean up

Looking Glass River is looking better these days

The Looking Glass River is much more attractive this week thanks to the efforts Saturday of several civic groups and student volunteers in DeWitt.

The clean-up project, sponsored by the DeWitt Lions Club, American Legion and the DeWitt Veterans Club with the approval of the city council, was headed by Carroll Snyder, with the aid of Floyd Fowler acting as co-chairman.

The project drew many youngsters from the DeWitt area who spent most of the day pulling fallen tree limbs and branches from the river bottom and helped rid the river banks of unsightly litter.

Acting as advisor for the groups, Donald Weatch, Clinton

County conservation officer, indicated that volunteers removed the tree limbs from the river since canoes could not navigate the shallow spots north of the DeWitt City Park.

The logs were snagged mainly along an old railroad trestle making boating impossible. Weatch said that it would have been better to leave the logs there forcing the water to dig the river deeper on the southern side of the jam, but the main purpose at this time was to clear the water for boating.

The organizations were permitted to use one of the city fire/rescue trucks to remove large overhanging tree branches. The truck was equipped with a motorized pulley, dragging the branches from the far side of the river, facing the park, across the water.

Ray DeWitt, president of the Lions Club and a city councilman, said that the volunteer turnout was very good, with more adults showing up to work than expected for the early morning start.

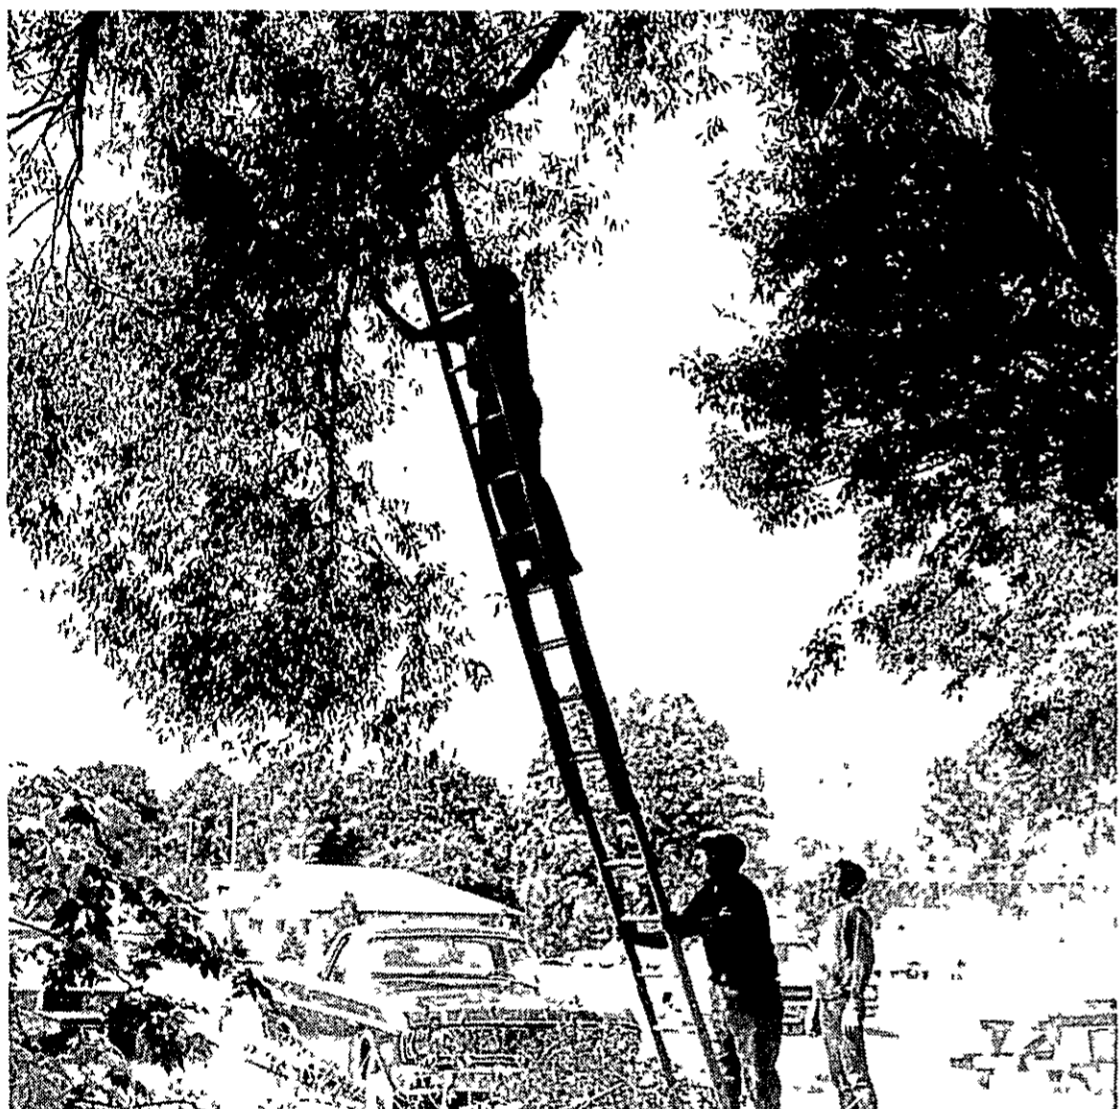

Several spots along the river were filled in where small inlets had developed causing a swamp like mud to cover the bank.

The project included non-water items such as trimming the low-hanging branches along the river so that picnickers and hikers would not be hindered.

A small picnic area was set up for workers for refreshments.

Two DeWitt boys paddle up stream to lend a hand in the branch and limb removal work. Some parts of the Looking Glass River are not navigable for canoes due to the debris collected by the ruins of an old railroad trestle crossing in the river.

Workers struggle to remove two large tree limbs snagged by the old railroad trestle supports that cross the river. In the background, trash and debris piled up over several seasons was to be removed by volunteers later in the day.

K of C barbecue is set for this Sunday

St. Johns Council 3281 of the Knights of Columbus will hold its first major function at the organization's new building Sunday.

All members and prospective members have been invited to a potluck barbecue chicken picnic from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m.

The council will provide the chicken but those attending are asked to bring other dishes.

The new building, located north of St. Johns on U.S. 27, is 35 x 52 feet.

In addition to a large meeting room, the facility has a complete kitchen and an office. The paneled interior is suitable for receptions, too.

Ground for the building was broken last winter and the structure was completed this month.

Grand Knight E. J. Schmitt this week announced election of new officers effective July 1.

Preliminary exam is postponed for Hackett

Ingham County Prosecutor Raymond L. Scodeller has set July 7 for the preliminary examination demanded by Jack E. Hackett, of St. Johns, resulting from the fatal shooting of another St. Johns resident.

Hackett, 59, 207 S. Traver, is being held without bail in the Ingham County jail after being arrested June 7 following a shooting incident at the Roselawn Convalescent Home in Lansing claiming the life of Jerome A. Geller, 42, of the Traver Street address.

The preliminary examination had tentatively been set for June 18 in Lansing Municipal Court, but the prosecutor intervened, delaying the hearing until July 7.

According to Lansing police reports, Geller had driven Virginia Murray, 27, of Lansing to work at the home on the Sunday morning. When they arrived Hackett was reportedly waiting behind a bush outside the home and chased Miss Murray into the building.

Witnesses said she ran in and out of several rooms screaming for help. Police said Geller apparently ran into the building after Hackett and confronted him on the main floor.

Two shots were fired into the ceiling during the struggle between the men and then four bullets struck Geller, police said.

Miss Murray escaped from the building where an unidentified woman drove her away. She stopped a patrol car and reported the incident.

After the shooting, police said Hackett was driven away from the home by his daughter, Lisa and was stopped by a cruiser on the street.

Police said bullets were from a German Luger, and a gun of that description was recovered from the auto Hackett was riding in when arrested.

No specific time for the preliminary hearing has been set on the July 7 date, but Municipal Court officials said that the information would be available this week.

104 YEARS YOUNG

Jesse Guernsey celebrated his 104th birthday Thursday with a birthday cake and letters of congratulations and a special citation from the Social Security Administration. Greeting Clinton County's oldest resident with the cake is Michael Wolf, field representative of the social security administration for Clinton County. Guernsey, a resident of the Rivard Nursing Home in St. Johns, said with a gleam in his eye he expects "to be around at least another year or two."

Sealed Power earnings expected to increase

The president of Sealed Power Corp. said second quarter earnings will show an improvement over the first quarter, but that they will be lower than the record established in the comparable period a year ago.

In Pittsburgh this week, Gordon E. Reynolds told a meeting of financial analysts and securities dealers the rate of the earnings decline has slowed, reflecting in part some improvement in the automobile market. He said net earnings for the six months also would be off from the all-time high reported for the January-June period in 1969, but that sales were running about even with the year-ago figure.

Net earnings for the second quarter in 1969 were $1,012,000, or an adjusted 59 cents per share, on sales of $17,141,000. For the first six months of 1969, net earnings were $1,081,000, or an adjusted $1.15 per share, on sales of $33,686,000.

Reynolds said factors adversely affecting earnings included the increased costs of labor, materials, and borrowed money, start-up costs related to an expansion program in the United States and Canada, and lower new car production. The company makes piston rings and engine components for both the original equipment and replacement markets.

"Car and truck sales are beginning to pick up, though still well behind last year's pace, and this should be reflected in an improvement in our sales to original equipment manufacturers," Reynolds said. "Sales in the other segments of our business—replacement, general products, and international—are ahead of last year and we look for additional improvement."

Reynolds said the outlook for the remainder of the year is clouded by this fall's labor negotiations

Elsie

By MRS. NEVA KEYS, Correspondent

The new modern Ovid-Elsie High School was the scene of the third All-School Reunion for former graduates, students, teachers and their families, Sunday, June 14.

There were approximately 750 guests present from all parts of Michigan, Wisconsin, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Maine.

The assemblage found the new high school facilities a far cry from these in the ivy-covered walls of the "old brick" and its additions in Elsie where they met five years ago and also for the first all-school reunion in 1961.

After being name-tagged by committees headed by Russ Gintner, Larry Ott, Raymond Thornton, Leonard Tillotson, Emerson Dunham and wives, the guests were free to visit, tour the new school or enter the auditorium for a buffet dinner at tables arranged by the various class years and decorated with summer flowers. Mrs. Orlo Mead of the hot lunch school program was in charge of preparing the delicious chicken dinner.

Flowers from the previous graduation ceremonies were used to enhance the stage setting.

Following the dinner which was served to more than 400 of the guests, a brief business meeting was held in the auditorium with chairman Merle Baese in charge and secretary-treasurer Mary Thornton Libey reading the 1965 reunion reports.

CLINTON THEATER

Downtown St. Johns EVERY NITE 1 SHOW AT 7:45 P.M. NOW PLAYING 1 WEEK June 24 thru 30 "Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice"

Elizabeth Cobb Hess (1938) extended greetings and noted there was no generation gap in the crowd as there were representatives from the Class of 1901 through the Class of 1966, the last to graduate from Old Elsie High.

There were babes-in-arms and great grand-parents in several three and four generations of former students present.

She briefly touched on the history of the Elsie School from the time of the "little red school house" west of town built to cover the needs of this district which was formed nearly 125 years ago. The present site was selected in 1867 and a frame two-story building was erected for the sum of $2150 early the next year.

The original brick building was completed in 1903 at the cost of $15,500 and additions were made during the next few years to cover the growing school registrations and educational demands.

Then, the new E. E. Knight Elementary School was dedicated in 1956 and several additional class rooms built later on the north side. Now, Ovid-Elsie have a merged school district with a new high school which cost approximately $2,000,000 and provides the best educational opportunities for their students.

Mrs. Hess paid tribute to the class that was celebrating its 50th anniversary. Those present were: Vida Saylor George of Ovid, Clarence Cornwell of Lansing and Ralph Van Duesen of Elsie.

Mrs. Hess also introduced several Elsie teachers who had retired since the last reunion. They were: Ralph Stull in 1965 and Mildred Beuhall in 1968; and Thelma Rule, Ellen Cross, Wilma Green Cole and Coach C. K. Richards, all during the past year.

She also read letters from Edith Rummell Pearce (1895) of Jacksonville, the oldest living graduate of EHS and Elsie Vandever, who was Supt. of EHS from 1956 to 1968 and later at Hartland and Gladwin, retiring to enter business later.

Eleanor Emmons Thornton presented yellow roses to the following members of graduating classes previous to 1920. They were: Miss Lulu Knight and Dr. Elton Bates of Ovid, the two oldest graduates present (1901); Earl Chamberlain (1903); Donna Lee Wooley (1904); Henrietta Applebee Phelps (1905); Blanche Setterington Ryan (1906); Winnie Duncan Cushman and Grace Albaugh Gunther (1909); Eula Woolf McCollum, Walter Colby and Hazel Huffman Blayney (1910); and Vern Hurd (1913).

Before adjourning for smaller group meetings, the following officers were selected: Merle Baese, chairman; Archie J. Moore, vice-chairman; Larry Ott, secretary-treasurer; Elizabeth Hess, historian; and Edith Baese Kaufman, chairman of nominations. These officers will serve for the next reunion to be held at the Ovid-Elsie High School.

The various class meetings proved exciting and interesting as former students and many of their teachers and classmates were reunited and renewed their acquaintances. There was much reminiscing and showing of family pictures. Many letters were posted in the rooms from those who were unable to be present.

There were many scrapbooks, large class pictures and high school annuals on display in the Library and class rooms. This was the first time for many of the guests to tour the new high school and its facilities.

Section 3. The operation, maintenance, alteration, repair and management of the System shall be under the supervision and control of the Clinton County Board of Public Works, subject to the terms of the contract, dated May 14, 1970, between the County of Clinton and the Village of Maple Rapids. Said Board may employ such person or persons in such capacity or capacities as it deems advisable to carry on the efficient management and operation of the System and may make such rules, orders and regulations as it deems advisable and necessary to assure the efficient management and operation of the System; provided, however, that the Village shall fix and collect charges for use of the System.

In addition to the foregoing, the Village shall have the right to shut off sewer service to any premises for which charges for sewer service are more than three (3) months delinquent, and such service shall not be re-established until all delinquent charges and penalties and a turn-on charge, to be specified by the Village Council, have been paid. Further, such charges and penalties may be recovered by the Village by court action.

Section 5. No fee service shall be furnished by said System to any person, firm or corporation, public or private, or to any public agency or instrumentality.

Section 6. All premises to which services of the System shall be available shall connect to the System within ninety (90) days after the mailing of a notice to such premises by appropriate officials in charge of the System indicating that such services are available.

Section 7. The rates hereby fixed are estimated to be sufficient to provide for the payment of the expenses of administration and operation, such expenses for maintenance of the said System as are necessary to preserve the same in good repair and working order, to provide for the payment of the contractual obligations of the Village to the County of Clinton pursuant to the aforesaid contract between said County and the Village of Maple Rapids as the same become due, and to provide for such other expenditures and funds for said System as this ordinance may require. Such rates shall be fixed and revised from time to time as may be necessary to produce these amounts.

Section 8. The System shall be operated on the basis of a fiscal year corresponding with that of the Village water system.

Section 9. The revenues of the System shall be set aside as collected and deposited in a separate depository account in Clinton National Bank & Trust Co., St. Johns, Michigan, a bank duly qualified to do business in Michigan, in an account to be designated SEWAGE DISPOSAL SYSTEM RECEIVING FUND (hereinafter, for brevity, referred to as the "Receiving Fund"), and said revenues so deposited shall be transferred from the Receiving Fund periodically in the manner and at the times hereinafter specified:

Out of the revenues in the Receiving Fund there shall be first set aside quarterly into a depository account, designated OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE FUND, a sum sufficient to provide for the payment of the next quarter's current expenses of administration and operation of the System and such current expenses for the maintenance thereof as may be necessary to preserve the same in good repair and working order.

(B) CONTRACT PAYMENT FUND
There shall next be established and maintained a depository account, to be designated CONTRACT PAYMENT FUND, which shall be used solely for the payment of the Village's obligations to the County of Clinton pursuant to the aforesaid contract. There shall be deposited in said fund quarterly, after requirements of the Operation and Maintenance Fund have been met, such sums as shall be necessary to pay said contractual obligations when due. (C) REPLACEMENT FUND
There shall next be established and maintained a depository account, designated REPLACEMENT FUND, which shall be used solely for the purpose of making major repairs and replacements to the System if needed. There shall be set aside into said fund, after provision has been made for the Operation and Maintenance Fund and the Contract Payment Fund, such revenues as the Village Council shall deem necessary for this purpose.

(D) IMPROVEMENT FUND
There shall next be established and maintained an Improvement Fund for the purpose of making improvements, extensions and enlargements to the System. There shall be deposited into said fund, after providing for the foregoing fund, such revenues as the Village Council shall determine.

(E) SURPLUS MONEY
Moneys remaining in the Receiving Fund at the end of any operating year, after full satisfaction of the requirements of the foregoing funds, may, at the option of the Village Council, be transferred to the Improvement Fund or used in connection with any other project of the Village reasonably related to purposes of the System.

(F) BANK ACCOUNTS
All moneys belonging to any of the foregoing funds or accounts may be kept in one bank account, in which event the moneys shall be allocated on the books and records of the Village within this single bank account, in the manner hereby set forth.

Section 10. In the event the moneys in the Receiving Fund are insufficient to provide for the current requirements of the Operation and Maintenance Fund, any moneys and/or securities in other funds of the System, except sums in the Contract Payment Fund derived from tax levies, shall be transferred to the Operation and Maintenance Fund to the extent of any deficit therein.

Section 11. Moneys in any fund or account established by the provisions of this ordinance may be invested in obligations of the United States of America, in the manner and subject to the limitations provided in Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended. In the event such investments are made, the securities representing the same shall be kept on deposit with the bank or trust company having on deposit the fund or funds from which such purchase was made. Income received from such investments shall be credited to the fund from which said investments were made.

Section 12. If any section, paragraph, clause or provision of this ordinance shall be held invalid, the invalidity of such section, paragraph, clause or provision shall not affect any of the other provisions of this ordinance.

Section 13. All ordinances, resolutions or orders, or parts thereof, in conflict with the provisions of this ordinance are, to the extent of such conflict, hereby repealed.

Section 14. 4-H food project activities

By JOHN AYLSWORTH

4-H members taking food projects will have an opportunity to learn more about these projects during the next couple of weeks.

A Food Frolic is planned for Tuesday, June 30 at Smith Hall in St. Johns starting at 1:30 p.m. This program will be aimed for the members 10-13 years of age. The food committee is planning a show and tell time for each club to take part in, a film, special games and other activities. The committee tells me it will be quite different from other years.

A food tour for members 14 and over, their leaders and parents has been planned for Tuesday, July 14 to visit the Gerber Food Processing Plant at Fremont, Michigan. Plans are being made to take a bus which will cost the members about $2.50-$3 for the bus cost and lunch at the Gerber Plant. Members will see how baby food is processed, learn about careers in food areas plus an interesting tour. Members and leaders will need to contact their organizational leader if they are interested in attending.

Thirty-one members, parents and leaders interested in the entomology project attended a training session Thursday evening at Smith Hall. The groups viewed a film called "Marvel of the Hive", had an insect identification contest where Roy Fink won the Junior Division and Harry Moldenhauer and Grant Palen tied for the Senior honors. Each received an insect book as an award. The group heard demonstrations given by Lori McQueen on Clothes Moths, Harry Moldenhauer on "One Method of Trapping Insects" and Luann Thelen on "There's a Bug in Your Mattress".

The members were given the opportunity to look at insects under the microscopes and saw several different methods of using black lights to trap insects. Dr. Richard Sauer, Extension Entomology Specialist from Michigan State University told about some of the new entomology projects and the plans for training sessions at the 4-H Youth Exploration Days at Michigan State University in August. A number of different games and puzzles were played and given to the members as one way of learning about their project but also having fun at the same time.

The Jolly 4-H Canning Cooks members had an interesting meeting doing experiments with baking soda and other ingredients to see how much gas could be created as well as why baking soda is sifted with flour. The members put baking soda in five pop bottles and added different items in each bottle, put a balloon over the bottle and observed the gas created. The bottle with water, vinegar and baking soda nearly burst the balloon while one bottle with water, vinegar and cream of tartar created little gas.

The members of the We-Hah-Kay-Asta 4-H club observed as Karen Olson gave a demonstration on "How to Saddle a Horse". The members worked with their horses riding with their feet out of the stirrup at a walk and trot and then with their right and left leads. Members received their fair book and volunteered to bring food items to the 4-H horse show June 21.

The Fowler Busy Eagles 4-H members are planning a club outing at Crystal Lake July 8 and set their club dues at 50 cents for the year. Members are taking projects in dairy, foods, vegetables, flowers and entomology.

The Double M 4-H horse club members had a work session on June 10 at MacLuckies' Barn for all members and a work session June 17 at 9:30 a.m. for the older members and 10:30 a.m. for the younger members. The practice sessions were to get the members ready for the 4-H horse show. Fair books were passed out to the members.

The Nimble Fingers 4-H club members learned they were an Honor Club in the winter program and they received a banner with the 4-H Motto "To Make the Best Better." The members discussed the baseball game on July 25 for 4-H'ers, 4-H camp at Barry County and Demonstration Day. The entomology members will attend the entomology training meeting on June 18 at Smith Hall. Jim and Lori McQueen were selected as district 4-H award winners. Demonstrations were given by Susan Goetze on "Breakfast for a Prettier Healthier You" and Harry Moldenhauer on "Insect Rearing Cages."

The Jolly Green Giants 4-H members have decided on one way to beat the heat and that was to go to North Star for a swimming party. Also the members voted to go bowling on Aug. 1 and have a float for the Fair contest. Demonstrations were given by Tamra Harris on "How to Clean a Horse" and Lois Ashley on "Bicycle Safety."

The Riverside Riders 4-H members discussed the horse show they will hold July 12. The members held a workout June 20 with their horses.

Nearly 50 food members, parents and leaders attended the food training meeting June 16 at Smith Hall. The group was able to see the difference in an action exhibit given by Kathy Howell of the Nimble Fingers club and a demonstration given by Fran Riley of the Happy Hustlers 4-H club. Katherine Aylsworth, a leader in the Happy Hustlers gave some pointers on what is a demonstration, how to give one and helped the group evaluate Fran's demonstration. She also gave the members some ideas for demonstrations they might use in their local club. Helen Meach, Extension Home Economist gave some helps to the group on making of posters as to color, design and printing.

The Pioneer Trail Riders members have made a list of the events they would like to participate in at the Fair Fun Show on Aug. 18. The members reviewed the training they received at the Clinic in St. Johns for those members unable to attend. The members discussed the County 4-H Horse Show and decided what food each member was to furnish. The club is dividing up for work sessions and the next meeting will be June 24.

These 4-H members were among 18 from Clinton County who participated in the State 4-H Youth Week program at Michigan State University. In front, from left, are Elena Tobias, Jean Green, Kathy Hazle, Diane Sibley, Debbie Williams, and Dorene Bauer. In back are, Steve Thelen, Mrs Donald Temple, Bob Miller, Jim Findlay, Scott Wing, Jim McQueen, Ronald Dilts and JoAnn Kanaski. Absent were Marie Blakely, Julie Jorae, Mary Temple, Alan Cobb, and Greg Palen from the Ovid-Elsie Area.

18 Clinton 4-H'ers at MSU

Eighteen Clinton County 4-H'ers participated in the State 4-H Youth Week program June 17-20 at Michigan State University campus.

The theme of the program, "What the World Needs Now", emphasized concern, action, understanding and love.

About 800 4-H'ers from throughout Michigan participated in this state-wide 4-H event.

Outstanding speakers for the program included Dr. Russell Wentworth, Michigan State University; Msgr. Hugh Beahan, Diocesan Director of radio and T.V. from Grand Rapids; Dr. Darrrell Thomas, of Western Michigan University; Dale Robinson, of Washington, D.C. and Joe Wise of Louisville, Ky.

The delegates heard speakers, participated in discussion groups, had recreation and learned about citizenship. Steve Thelen and JoAnn Kanaski served as leader developers and Larry Borton of Lansing served on the planning committee.

Mowing 'em down

Wandering outside the security of the living room to attack the grass is a ritual.

What is amazing is the number of young children pushing these 200 miles per hour revolving dandelion choppers. Slipping and sliding, sneaker-footed youngsters are messing with a monster which spits sticks and catapults stones to shatter glass and bones and anything else in its path.

The U.S. Health, Education and Welfare department reported in the Wall Street Journal that 140,000 persons were injured by power mower mishaps in 1968 alone, and that's not including the accidents not reported. Can you imagine, that's a figure fourteen, with four zeros strung out behind it, just from harvesting the grass (not marijuana).

There should be mower training courses patterned after driving training to reduce the carnage from our lawns. For the adults, enforcement could be enhanced with signposts, "if you drink don't mow," or "drunk mowers go to hammock and sleep it off."

Toes, feet, fingers and hands can't seem to pay heed to the whirling blade beneath the superstructure of the home-based work horse which levels turf and limb with ease.

The lawn mower phenomenon has grown to 37 million, at much the same pace as the American automobile—bigger and better. In fact the lawn mower cowboy atop his seven-horse rider is common on the range, even though many of those you see have pint-size harvesting chores. But does it really matter, it's a big break through for the industry, and a bigger one for the enthusiast, beheading the grass for once can be done with pleasure if done with safety. It also helps the middle class mow-man to rid pent up hostilities on the green stuff, with style—the aid of a mighty roar of a power plant and with the muscle of a locomotive.

It's the greatest tool for the large-yard man and an ideal toy for Walter Mitty's. Headlights are available on most models, for night time missions and fog, and smoggy times. This high riding corps in the gallop for status, file just ahead of the shiny motorized walkers. On rare occasions you can spot the pusher (not drug type) although it's difficult because these lawn mowers are compact, noiseless, practical, economical and driven on callous power.

National up one Prices received index is down 4 points in Michigan The Index of Prices Received by Michigan Farmers, as of May 15, was 279 per cent of the 1910-14 average, according to the Michigan Crop Reporting Service. The index declined four points (1.4 per cent) from the mid-April level. Lower prices for eggs, hogs, lambs, milk and wheat accounted for most of the drop in the index. Small increases in the price of corn, oats and soybeans were only partially offsetting. Compared with a year previous, the mid-May index was up two points (one per cent). Prices of meat animals were higher than a year previous, notwithstanding their recent declines. Feed grains, hay, milk, turkeys and wheat were also higher than a year ago, but chickens, eggs and dry beans were lower. Beef cattle prices averaged $26.50 per cwt. for mid-May, the highest for May since the $27.20 average in 1952. Hog prices averaged $23.80 per cwt. for mid-May, the highest for this month since the $26.00 average in 1954. Egg prices averaged 25 cents per dozen in mid-May, the lowest for this month since the 24 cent average in 1959. During the month ended May 15, the Index of Prices Received by Farmers nationally advanced one point (1/3 per cent) to 282 per cent of its 1910-14 average. Contributing most to the increase were higher prices for commercial vegetables and fruits. Lower prices for eggs, cattle, and hogs were partially offsetting. The index was three per cent below the recent high in February but 1 1/2 per cent above May 1969. The Index of Prices Paid by Farmers for Commodities and Services, including Interest, Taxes, and Farm Wage Rates remained at 388, the record high first established last month. Since May 1969, the index has risen 13 points (three per cent). While prices of farm products rose and prices paid by farmers stayed at the same level, the preliminary Adjusted Parity Ratio remained at 78. The Parity Ratio advanced to 73. Declining prices for hogs, beef cattle, and calves during the month ended May 15, 1970 dropped the index nearly three per cent (11 points). At 418, the index was one point below a year earlier, but was well above any other May since 1951. Hogs were down 90 cents per cwt. during the month to average $22.90, but were 60 cents above a year earlier and the highest for any May since 1954. Beef cattle were off 70 cents per cwt., to average $27.90 per cwt., 70 cents below last May, but otherwise was the highest for any May since 1951. The poultry and egg index declined 10 per cent during the month to 133, reflecting a sharp drop in egg prices. Egg prices averaged 29.9 cents per dozen in mid-May, 15 per cent below a month earlier and 45 per cent less than the 19-year high in December 1969. The value of higher education lies in the struggle to get it.

State Fair premium book announces 1970 changes

Changes in the dairy cattle and sheep sections of the 1970 Michigan State Fair agriculture and livestock premium book have been made for the benefit of exhibitors, according to E.J. (Jeff) Keirns, State Fair general manager.

The book, announcing an Aug. 1 deadline for all State Fair entries, will be distributed this month. The Fair will be held Aug. 28 through Sept. 7 (Labor Day).

One change will find additional premiums going to cow entries that have established a 305-day morning-evening production record in either fat or milk that is 10 percent over the state average.

Several premium book terms were clarified, and a point system for determining dairy cattle premier breeder and premier exhibitor awards has been set up.

The division in the age groups for heifer calves was revised. The calves will now be divided into three age groups instead of two. They are senior heifer calves, born between July 1 and Sept. 30; early junior heifer calves, born between Jan. 1 and April 1.

A total of $300 was added to the purebred wool sliding scale schedule. In the four-lamb class, it was determined that all qualified entries after the first three places ($25, $20, $15) would receive $10 each.

A minimum weight for show and sale was established as 80 pounds for Southdowns and Cheviots and 90 pounds for other sheep breeds.

The premium book is automatically sent to former exhibitors. Requests from new exhibitors should be addressed to the Michigan State Fair, Detroit 48203.

Since the State Fair announcement of premiums is distributed in three sections, exhibitors should indicate which section of the entry book is desired: Agriculture and Livestock, Home Shows, or Community Arts.

State Crop Report

By MICHIGAN CROP REPORTING SERVICE
CROP COMMENTS FOR WEEK ENDING JUNE 13

Thanks to favorable weather, field work moved ahead rapidly during the week. Most crops made a good growth, but considerable insect damage has occurred to alfalfa and oats.

With more than five days suitable for field work, farmers planted a large acreage of dry beans during the week.

Soybean planting also speeded up. About 85 per cent of the soybean acreage and 55 per cent of the dry bean acreage is now planted, about the normal amount for this date. More than 95 per cent of the corn and potato acreage has been planted.

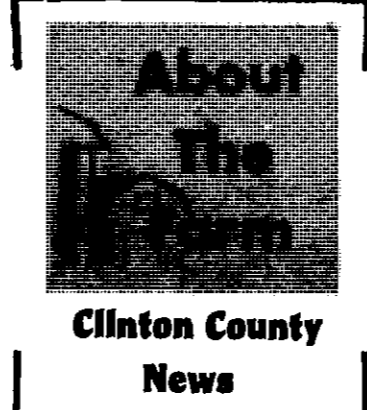

Small grains continue to develop well. Most wheat fields are well headed in the southern counties, and about 80 per cent of the wheat is headed in the "Thumb" area. Oats have started to head in southern areas. Locally severe infestations of cereal leaf beetles are common in oats and some damage has been reported to wheat.

Making of first cutting alfalfa hay proceeded rapidly during the week. More than 30 per cent of the first cutting is now made compared with less than 15 per cent a year previous. Locally serious infestations of alfalfa weevil are common in the southern half of the Lower Peninsula. Pastures are furnishing average to above average amounts of feed in most areas for this season of the year.

Sugar beet blocking and thinning are well along. This crop is developing well.

Potato planting is nearing completion in the Upper Peninsula. Early planted potatoes have made a good growth.

The strawberry harvest is near its seasonal peak in Berrien County and picking is underway in the Detroit area. This crop

Dairy booklet is ready

A new publication of interest to the dairy industry has just been published by the U.S. Department of Labor.

The 188-page volume, "Occupations and Trends in the Dairy Products Industry," describes 66 separate dairy products occupations, 16 of them different types of hand- and machine-packaging skills.

The publication covers the history and modern manufacturing methods of the four major production segments—fluid milk, ice cream and frozen desserts, butter, and natural and processed cheese.

It also covers technological and manpower developments, modern-day sales and distribution methods, and training methods.

Produced by the Labor Department's Manpower Administration, "Occupations and Trends in the Dairy Products Industry" is available from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402, at 75 cents a copy.

Is developing well in the Alpena and Manistee areas and picking is expected to start about the middle of June. Strawberries are in bloom in Houghton County. The asparagus harvest is nearing completion in most areas of the state.

Celery transplanting and onion weeding are active in the West Central counties.

Tree fruits continue to develop well. However, a very heavy drop of tart cherries has been reported in the Northwest Lower Peninsula.

4-H youths observe Dairy Month

June—Dairy Month—has paid tribute to the nation's dairy farmers and the dairy industry. It also had special significance for thousands of 4-H boys and girls working hard to complete their dairy and dairy foods projects for this year.

These youngsters are engaged in activities having to do with raising dairy animals or in utilizing dairy products. Some are enrolled in the national 4-H dairy foods program supported by Carnation Company of Los Angeles.

Learning about the nutritional value of milk is at the top of the list. Described as nature's most perfect food, the ingredients of milk—particularly calcium and riboflavin—are important to infants and adolescents alike. Calcium in milk is needed to build bones and teeth, and riboflavin is needed for clear vision, smooth skin, and helps cells use oxygen for growth.

The dairy animal program is open to all youths ages 9 to 19. Small town and city youngsters carry out dairy projects without owning a calf or cow.

They visit farms or zoos to see and touch the real thing. They read up on how milk gets from the cow to the refrigerator, and how important milk is to good health. A tour of a dairy, ice cream or cheese plant is an education in itself, and often a treat when free samples are passed out.

Members who choose the dairy foods program are primarily interested in the culinary art of making nutritious and delicious dishes from dairy products. They explore local stores for dairy products that can be combined with other foods, or made into a delectable dish by themselves.

These young cooks experiment with several recipes until they find one they especially like. Then they practice making the dish until they are ready to stand before an audience and show how it's done. Meanwhile, they study nutrition and try to serve a milk-made food and the family table daily.

The program sponsors offer a variety of awards for a job well done. Carnation Company annually provides county medals, and a state award of an expense-paid trip to Chicago and the National 4-H Congress. Also, national scholarships of $600 each are given to the six outstanding members from among the state champions.

White Farm Equipment provides county medals, and 36 sectional trips to the National 4-H Congress. State champions not named sectional winners, get a $50 U.S. savings bond. Six of the highest ranking sectional winners will also receive $800 scholarships.

Both programs are supervised by the Co-operative Extension Service and are arranged by the National 4-H Service Committee.

Foresight can save farmer's eyesight

Water should be the constant companion of every farmer who works with anhydrous ammonia, says Michigan State University farm safety expert Dick Pfister.

"Anhydrous ammonia has been a real boon to agriculture," Pfister says. "But improper handling of this hazardous type of fertilizer can rob a farmer of his eyesight—even cost him his life."

Since the severity of the injury depends on how quickly the affected area is flooded with water, farmers working with anhydrous ammonia should have water readily available, Pfister says.

Fifteen minutes is the maximum amount of time between exposure and flooding with water to avoid injury.

For a farmer's personal protection in handling anhydrous ammonia, Pfister suggests:

- 1) Carrying a five gallon container filled with water, and attached to the tank or applicator.
- 2) Wearing goggles and rubber gloves when transferring or otherwise handling the chemical.
- 3) Carrying a four-ounce plastic squeeze bottle filled with water in a shirt pocket or on the tractor, to be used in case the chemical is splashed into the eyes.

Pfister also cautions farmers to work upwind when transferring anhydrous ammonia. In addition, he advises that they be able to step away if there is a leak, and be aware of conditions that might allow a tractor cab to fill with ammonia fumes.

In the event of contamination, the exposed area should be flushed with water, Pfister says. Contaminated clothing should be removed as soon as practical. When there is any question about the seriousness of the exposure, a physician should be consulted.

"Caution and foresight are the key words in handling ammonia," Pfister says. "Farmers cannot afford to let a bad experience be their teacher."

"Foresight in insuring the availability of water might save eyesight in a farmer's handling anhydrous ammonia."

Michigan commercial vegetable report

ASPARAGUS—Michigan asparagus production is estimated at 210,000 hundredweight, one per cent above last year's record high production of 208,000 hundredweight, according to the Michigan Crop Reporting Service. A lower yield per acre is more than offset by an eight per cent increase in the number of acres to be harvested. Harvest started during the first week of May. Growers are reporting "more slender spears this year."

The United States last spring crop is forecast at 1,554,000 cwt, compared to 1,621,000 cwt, harvested in 1969.

CELERY (Summer)—Michigan celery acreage is estimated at 1,900 acres, unchanged from 1969. Weather conditions have been generally favorable and planting is progressing about on schedule. Harvest is expected to begin during the last week of June or the first week of July.

The 1970 summer celery crop for the United States is estimated at 4,330 acres for harvest, no change from last year.

LETTUCE (Summer)—Fourteen per cent more production is expected by Michigan lettuce growers than was harvested during 1969. This increase in production is attributed to increases in both acreage and yield per acre. Cool weather during early May accumulated heat units slowly. However, the crop looks good. Planting was almost half completed by June 1.

Nationally, the first forecast of summer lettuce places 1970 prospects at 11,716,000 cwt., down one per cent from 1969.

MINT FOR OIL—Michigan's peppermint acreage for harvest is expected to be 1,800 acres, 100 acres less than harvested in 1969.

Nationally, acreage of peppermint is estimated at 75,800 acres, two per cent less than the 1969 acreage but three per cent more than the 1968 level.

Spear-mint acreage is Michigan is estimated at 4,900 acres for 1970 harvest, the largest acreage on record since 1958. This is 17 per cent above last year's harvested acreage and 63 per cent above the 1968 level of 3,000 acres. The crop came through the winter in good condition.

Nationally, acreage of spear-mint is estimated at 25,600 acres, six per cent below 1969 but 11 per cent more than was harvested in 1968.

STRAWBERRIES (Late Spring)—Seven per cent fewer strawberries are expected by Michigan growers than were harvested in 1969. It is estimated that 6,200 acres will be harvested this year, 100 acres less than was harvested last year.

Yield per acre is forecast at 50 hundredweight, three hundredweight below the 1969 level. Generally, the plants wintered well. However, cool weather slowed development earlier in the season. Some areas experienced frosts on non-irrigated berries during early May. However, the plants are looking good now. Harvest began around June 1 and is getting well underway in the Southwest.

Production for the last spring crop states is forecast at 1,579,000 cwt., compared with 1,608,000 cwt. in 1969. In New England the crop escaped serious spring frost damage. First harvest was expected in early June. Supplies should peak about June 20.

MICHIGAN PROCESSING VEGETABLES

Snap Bean planting ranges from just beginning to about one-fourth complete. Soil temperatures have been favorable with adequate moisture supplies.

GREEN PEA plantings were 50-70 per cent completed by June 1. Early fields are up with good stands.

TOMATO planting is ahead of normal in southeastern areas. Plantings in the southwest area were about one-fourth completed by June 1.

Well done

While rioters were stealing the headlines in the United States, a group of high school students from Flossmoor, Ill. stole the hearts of Russians during a singing tour earlier this year. The group is the Viking Choir of the Homewood-Flossmoor High School and according to the Chicago Tribune press service the 108 members sang with a gusto, spirit and sensitivity that won the admiration of their audiences. The Vikings made their trip during Easter vacation at their own expense and are believed to be the first American high school choir to tour the Soviet Union. The tour was termed a great success and an official of the Institute for Soviet-American Relations called the young singers "great little ambassadors of your great and proud country." The Vikings were welcomed home with expression of praise for a job well done. Aside from representing their country in a wholesome manner the youngsters presented a side of their generation that too often is ignored but nevertheless is as constant as time itself.

A good time

The Hindu poet Rabindranath Tagore wrote of summer: "Today the summer has come at my window with its sighs and murmurs; and the bees are plying their minstrelsy at the court of the flowering grove." There is something about these words that draws the spell of the season which arrived in mid-Michigan last Sunday, June 21st and when all is said and done, the poet has caught the enduring spirit of summer that provides lingering memories the year around. What earthly experience is there that can truly match the tranquility of a summer morning? The burst of energy at the beginning of a midsummer day is but a prelude to indolence as the sun approaches its zenith and creatures take to the shade of the nearest tree. Summer is here and the beauty of it is enhanced by memories and words of poets. It's a good time.

Plans for the formation of a greater St. Johns area development corporation were laid before the Chamber of Commerce board of directors by President Brandon White. The non-profit group proposed by White received full support from other members of the board and a schedule of procedures for official formation was implemented. Named by White to head up the group was Rollin (Ron) Huard, publisher of the Clinton County News.
Representing members of the St. Johns Fire Department, Ray Kentfield informed the city commission the group would contribute $2,500 toward the purchase of new equipment. The offer followed a request by Kentfield that commissioners seriously consider the purchase of a three-quarter ton pickup truck for use in fighting grass fires and a drop-in unit.
The Republican and Democratic parties of DeWitt named their candidates for the supervisor's position which was vacated when the voters recalled Reginald Nelson. Oliver S. Angell, the Republican candidate, was to oppose Edmund J. Thelen, the Democratic candidate.
Acting Director H. Lawrence MacLaren took issue with charges directed against the Mid-Michigan Health Department by Bath Supervisor Duane Smith and the threat by the board of supervisors to quit the three-county health unit. In commenting on recent actions involving his unit, MacLaren emphasized that the Mid-Michigan Health Department has been in existence for only slightly more than three years and that this time does not permit the creation of a completely seasoned operation.
"Delighted and surprised," were the words used by Mrs. Dean (Jan) Austin to describe her feelings when she was named queen of the Ovid Area Centennial. She received the coveted crown at The Coronation Ball.
Twenty-five excited St. Johns Boy Scouts, members of Troop 81, were in Washington sight-seeing and spending the money they had worked for two years to accumulate. The sleepy-eyed youngsters were routed out of bed early and boarded the bus for the 1,000-mile excursion to the nation's capital and a mem-

School elections in Fowler and Elsie and 05 rural primary districts were to determine the fate of a campaign to set up a special education program in Clinton County. The proposal won three-to-one endorsement from voters of five high school districts and three rural districts June 13.
Approximately 4,000 feet of new water mains to replace existing pipe four inches and smaller were approved at a stormy session of the St. Johns city commission.
Most of the work done on Clinton County roads was to be strictly repair work, a by-product of the worst spring break-up in 25 years. The biggest construction job was widening and resurfacing M 21 from Pevamo to Fowler. The same work was set for old U.S. 27 in St. Johns.
Roy F. Briggs was elected president of the St. Johns chamber of commerce and immediately opened doors to any suggestions on how to make the organization better.
A new league of 50 nations had written a charter on which to set itself up in the business of trying to keep the world in order. Representatives of the 50 nations signed the security charter Tuesday, June 26 ending the nine-week San Francisco conference. Ratification of the charter by individual governments would be the next step in the formal formation of the United Nations.

'IF IT FITZ . . .'
Why burn the bats?
By JIM FITZGERALD

A kid from Illinois, while doing his duty in Vietnam, got a bullet in his heart. Somehow, he didn't die, thus getting his name on a lot of front pages.
The Associated Press reported: "Army surgeons have removed a Viet Cong bullet from the heart of a 20-year-old American soldier in what they call an operation unprecedented in the Vietnam war.
'We've never had a case like this before," said Dr. Elias Hanna, cardiac surgeon at the army hospital in Saigon. "There have been cases in which the heart was punctured by fragments, but this is the first time a whole bullet has been removed from the heart."
All of which turns me on--and off.
I'm naturally tickled the young man will live. But Holy Cow, Mabel. . .
What a lousy world it is when we must celebrate the removal of a bullet from a heart. It would be the same thing if the Detroit Tigers burned all their bats and tried to hit the ball with toothpicks. And then had a joyous festival because they only lost the game 20 to 1 instead of 20 to 0.
What's to celebrate? Why did the big boobs burn their bats in the first place?
Why did humanity put that bullet in the boy's heart in the first place?
Batting at baseballs with toothpicks is no way to win games. Any player with such a silly idea would be straightened out quickly by his manager.
Fighting wars is no way for a 20-year-old youth to live to vote. Most bullets in the heart, and elsewhere, are extremely hazardous to the health. But the boys keep going to war anyway. Blame it on stupid management. Maybe someday there will be more unusual surgery resulting from war. It could be performed on this stupid management--the big shots in Washington and Moscow and Hanoi and Saigon. The stuffed shirts who talk peace endlessly in Vietnam.
The Associated Press might report the operation like this: "Surgeons at Walter Reed Hospital have removed a large mass of liquid from the throat of General Butch McWinwright, the Pentagon veteran who gained fame by using computers to count dead bodies.
"The general was choking on the liquid which was later identified as the blood of a 20-year-old soldier killed the day before in Vietnam.
"General McWinwright is expected to recover completely although it appears his speech will be affected. He used to shriek like a hawk but now he coos like a dove."

My all-time hero
By RON KARLE, Editor

The annual observance of Father's Day this year in our family was a direct distance dialing affair.
As my father's No. 1 son (I have no brothers to quibble about on that) I got on the line to Fort Lauderdale Sunday where my two favorite people live among the sheltering palms, having forsaken the salt trucks of Detroit and all that goes with it.
Although we were connected only by a 1,500-mile piece of wire, my father never has and I'm sure never will be far removed.
A reassuring thought no matter what your age.
As all sons are, I'm sure ours is a special thing.
Sure, we have our generation gap--what is it, something like 30 years? We'll both agree to that.
But it isn't so much of a gap or a void as it is a range of experiences and ideas, some shared over the years; others yet to be shared.
Perhaps, most importantly, it's an honest relationship.
And, if you will, still a growing thing.
An example was Sunday.
He was commenting on a column I had written and allowed as to how my point might have been handled with a bit more discretion.
I had to agree with his reasoning and then he said, "You know who taught me that?"
"No?"
"You did."
That's sort of like the Pope telling the altar boy he used some of the lad's ideas in his latest encyclical.
Never an intimidating man, my father has a quiet way which has built more respect for him and his ideas than most men manage to achieve.
All of this was not lost on me.
I've told this story probably a hundred times.
When I was in high school, like most kids, I came into contact with some pretty questionable guys. The fellow I shared a locker with in the 11th grade, for example, was picked up with three other guys for knocking off several neighborhood gas stations after hours.
And then there were the regular guys, too. Just sort of hanging around looking for something to do.
Now, I was probably the biggest square in six blocks, but when one of these fellows would say, "Why don't we go do this or that," I'd just stop and think what my father would think of this or that.
It probably kept me out of a lot of trouble.
But the thing I'll never get over is that I'd stop and consider what he'd think at all.
Not bad when a father gets to a 15-year-old kid that way.
This sort of thing carried on past my teen years, too.
I still look back at what I consider one of the proudest moments of my life. My father, you know, was a linotype operator at The Detroit News. He retired after 45 years there.
Well, I learned the printing trade at the Free Press and when I became a journeyman I went to work for The News this one time.
One day the boss assigned me the machine right next to my father's.
So there we were both sitting side-by-side and all the guys gathered around and joshed my father with remarks like, "The kid's doing better than the old man," and so on. My father, by the way, was almost flawless and there was no comparison.
But the look in his eyes was something.
That time I didn't have to ask myself what he was thinking.

TAKING FIVE Willkommen!
By RON HUARD

The Huard family spent an evening in Germany a weekend or so ago and if you don't believe me read on. Best part is we were hosted by some friends who hint at Irish ancestry, but with a name like Sovacool I'm still doubtful.
In any event we answered their invitation to Milwaukee for a couple of days and after sobering up from the morning brewery visit (the kids had orange pop, thank you) we made the evening scene at the Golden Zither. It was German, to say the least.
Let me tell you, you folks from Westphalia way, you don't have much on these Golden Zither patrons. The only English words I heard all night long were "dank you" and "more beer?" While the German trio played Deutschland melodies on a trombone, trumpet and, of course, the zither, all the waitresses took turns in departing their serving chores to warble a song or two for the diners.
During one of the more familiar melodies I turned to the man behind me and, tapping him on the shoulder, I asked the name of the song--in English. I suddenly realized I was a foreigner in my own country 'cause he didn't understand a word I said. At first I thought him to be pulling my leg, but he smiled genuinely and indicated "no sprechen da English." I noticed later his shoes were still damp with salt water.
There were three highlights of the evening. The first was a sizable glass of native beer served with a lemon slice. Up until then I thought the only places you used lemons were in iced tea and chiffon pie, I'm still not sure if I liked the lemon or the beer, but I do know putting them together leaves you with a taste not unlike Old Spice shaving lotion. In broken English the waitress explained it's an old German custom, but I think the Zither's chef was taken in by a fast talking Italian fruit vendor.
The second highlight of the event was the singing waitresses. The atmosphere was truly one of friendliness and conviviality and to see the gals drop their trays and grab the mike was about as un-American as you can get. If they had any crabby thoughts about hiring out as a waitress then being turned into a songstress they sure didn't show it. I couldn't help but think how some of us natives would kick our heads off if the boss asked us to participate in such diverse efforts in the course of our work day. Most of us can't even do the thing we're hired for without complaining.
The waitress was gone quite a while before she returned with the evening's highest highlight. "I'm sorry," she said, "but we don't have any pretzels. I give you dese crackers and sheese. Okay?"
The crackers and sheese were delicious, but I'm still stunned by the revelation that a German restaurant in the heart of Milwaukee continues to exist with an empty pretzel barrel. Just goes to show the whole world is becoming Americanized.
I suppose when we again visit the Golden Zither the waitresses won't even hum. Nevertheless, we'll never feel more welcome anywhere in America . . . or Germany. Wunderbar!

Onlooker Observations

Your "corny" dissertation
Noted thru my borrowed "lamps"
Since my own are on vacation
Due to insufficient "amps"
Since I could not see the picture
Haven't much of an idea--
So I raise at once the question
Honest, just how high is knee?
For grandson now in high school
"Would require the corn to thrive
Since he measures in his sock feet
All the way to six feet five.
Other knees are not so healthy
So we measure by degree
Once again I raise the question
Honest now how high is knee?
Modern methods of plant feeding
Modern techniques all succeed
To produce quick germination
'Till they both are on full feed.
Once the height of women's dresses
'Bout revealed her pedigree
But by strictly modern standards
How high up, or down is knee?
Mrs. Mutch around the corner
Now has corn to rate knee high
But there's more corn for the lookin'
That creeps well nigh up the thigh.
And I'll also match for tall weeds
Anything that grows near by.
Once again I raise the question
Just how high now is knee high?

People's Park

By TIM YOUNKMAN

I was just relaxing, minding my own business, so to speak, when this Clinton County fellow walked up and asked me why "those people" set up a people's park at Michigan State.

I didn't know quite what to answer the gentleman.

At first, I thought the question was like asking the Slovaks in Muskegon why Dubcek was deported.

It did strike me and my inquisitive friend that the park popped up almost overnight.

My only reply was that there was a clause in the University constitution legalizing a campground site on the campus. It was, I must admit, only hearsay evidence.

Any judge worth his salt would tell you that hearsay evidence is neither conclusive nor admissible.

So I decided to call someone down there in East Lansing to find out—officially. I had the name of Sue Smith, a real Sue Smith, at the Department of Information and I dialed her number.

She gave me some interesting facts about the park, but she sounded too lovely to be trusted with vitally official information. She redirected my call to Milton Dickerson, vice president for student affairs.

"I'm sorry, but Mr. Dickerson is on another line. Will you hold?" asked an official sounding secretary.

"Yes," I muttered. I drummed my fingers on the desk for a few moments and drank a cup of coffee until I finally heard some activity on the other end.

"Hello," came an official sounding voice.

"Mr. Dickerson?" I ventured.

"Yes, what is it?" he retorted.

After identifications were traded, I decided to leap right in.

"Why did this people's park pop up all of a sudden?" I asked loudly in my best journalist's tone.

"Well, it wasn't really all that sudden," he said. He elaborated further by mentioning the climate.

"Have you ever tried to camp out at night in the middle of winter?" he asked.

"Rats. I hadn't even thought of that."

"No," I replied weakly. He assured me that the people's park idea wasn't unique to Michigan State.

"When I attended a convention of administrators in Missouri recently, I learned that there are parks like these all over the country, in Oregon, Colorado, California, Indiana and Ohio," he said.

I asked him what the campus constitution says.

Dickerson indicated that there was no specific article in the constitution governing campgrounds, although there are University regulations that prohibit construction of portable shelters for living within the confines of the campus unless there is special permission.

He said that after pressure by various Michigan citizens and legislators who visited the site, President Wharton decided to close the park.

"We had hoped to keep it open until the end of the term, but we couldn't," he said.

"The park was not unexpected because it is part of the general feeling of young people in our society who have been cooped up more and more," he said.

"I don't necessarily blame them either," he admitted.

"There is something about an institution. They wanted to dig their feet in the grass and sleep under the stars."

I couldn't help but think of the feelings the farmer has about the unspoiled land and sky. They must be similar.

"There was comparatively little trouble with the people," Dickerson said. "Even people from the East Lansing area—adults and older people in general—would camp for the weekend because they couldn't get away to state parks and other camp areas," he added.

I found myself feeling upset, now, that the camp area was gone. The police came in the middle of the night on June 8 with "eviction" orders.

The people's park people left without a fuss. Back to the long dorm corridors with hundreds of cold look-alike rooms.

Though not a camper, I began to feel a bit cheated. So I asked Mr. Dickerson what was to happen with the grass-roots idea.

He said that a campground is in the works, with some planning coming up this summer. Sounds encouraging for all of the future people's park people.

As I had suspected, it wasn't a diabolical scheme after all. Just a bunch of kids who wanted real grass under their feet and some real stars overhead.

Letters to the editor

People Who Care send thanks for project's community support

To the Editor:

This letter is to thank you and other citizens of St. Johns and the surrounding area for the interest you have shown in our quest for a stoplight at the corner of U.S. 27 and Sturgis Street. We also appreciate your support for the lowering of the speed limit on U.S. 27 within the city limits.

People Who Care was the name adopted by our group for the purpose of making our pleas heard for traffic safety. Not only do we care about bicyclists, but pedestrians and auto operators are of great concern to us at this hazardous corner.

People Who Care should stand for every citizen in this area and they are welcome to help us in any way possible. We urge each citizen to lend support by writing to State Representatives William Ballenger and Richard Allen and State Senator Emil Lockwood. Please write and ask these men to help us in any way they can to help alleviate our traffic problem. Your letters can be sent to them in care of the State Capitol, Lansing. Of great interest to people in St. Johns should be our proposed bicycle safety campaign. When this program is set up, we urge all of the parents of bicycle riders to see that their children attend these safety sessions. We will give advance publicity to these sessions once all of the details are worked out. We truly care about everyone's safety and hope that all the citizens of St. Johns will lend their support.

Proposed traffic light at U.S. 27 and Sturgis is not the answer

I feel the traffic light proposed by parents for the intersection of U.S. 27 and Sturgis Street will not solve as many problems as it will create.

It will irritate many travelers either going north or south to have to stop and start, stop and start and on holiday weekends will only add to the traffic jams already present at the intersection of U.S. 27 and M 21.

Why is this stop light is proposed only after the death of a youngster? I seem to recall a few years back, when a child was killed at the U.S. 27 -

McCConnell intersection, but no traffic light was put there. Every one of the corners intersecting U.S. 27 is as much a hazard as Sturgis Street. It just happened that a child was killed on Sturgis. If a light is proposed at Sturgis why not propose one on every one of these corners?

The threat of death is an ever present factor to anyone; pedestrian, motorist, or otherwise. Attempting to cross U.S. 27 or any other street for that matter is just a game of luck. It seems that this youngster was one of the unlucky ones. In his mind he judged he could make it but was proved wrong. I do feel it would be in line to have the speed limit reduced upon entering the city limits, but a traffic light would be inappropriate.

It is very unfortunate that the youngster's death was the only way the traffic problem could be cited, but now everyone is aware of the problem and will not think the crossing of U.S. 27 as a race to see who can make it across alive.

The full cycle

By REP. WILLIAM S. BALLENGER

Because a new law requiring licensing of Michigan motorcycle operators went into effect on June 1, I feel residents of the 87th House District might be interested in the following list of "Questions and Answers" to aid understanding of the new licensing law on the part of those affected by it:

Q—Who must have a motorcycle operator's license?

A—Eventually, every Michigan resident who travels public highways and streets on a motorcycle or motor driven cycle.

Q—When do I have to have it?

A—That depends largely on when your driver's license expires. The law takes effect June 1, 1970. The next time your driver's license expires after that date, you must obtain the motorcycle operator's license endorsement if you plan to operate such a vehicle. Beginning drivers who intend to operate a motorcycle must obtain the motorcycle operator endorsement with their original driver's license.

Q—Isn't that a pretty complicated method?

A—Actually, of the various methods considered, this was judged to be the least complicated, both for licensing personnel and the public. The major factor in adopting the "phase-in" plan is that it is much more convenient for the people involved. Under this system they don't have to make a special trip. They merely obtain the endorsement when they go in for a regular license renewal or original license.

Q—What does the motorcycle operator's license look like?

A—It will simply be an endorsement on your regular driver's license. There won't be a separate card to carry around, simply a small box checked off in the lower right hand corner of the regular license. If you have a license now, you'll notice that this box, marked "cycle" is already there. This was done in anticipation of the implements of the licensing law.

Q—How much will the additional motorcycle endorsement cost?

A—There is an original endorsement fee of $3.00. After that, each renewal will be $1.50. The motorcycle endorsement will be valid for three years, concurrent with the term of your driver's license. The three-year licensing period applies to both original and renewal endorsements.

Q—How do I go about obtaining the endorsement when the time comes?

A—Go to any Secretary of State branch office, just as you do for driver licensing.

Q—Do I have to do anything in addition to paying the endorsement fee?

A—Yes. You must pass a written test on operation and safety responsibilities of motorcyclists. Beginning cyclists will also be required to take a riding test, just as they do when obtaining an automobile operator's license for the first time. During the phase-in period persons who are already licensed drivers and have adequate experience in motorcycle operation will not be required to take the road test. They will be asked to fill out an affidavit certifying they have had at least one year experience. These persons will still have to take the written test. The written

Taxes: silence breakers

By REP. DICK ALLEN

Take your pen in hand folks. Address an envelope to Representative Richard Allen, State Capitol. Begin the letter as follows.

"Dear Mr. Allen: I am a member of the silent majority and seldom write letters or express my opinion to public officials. However, one statement in your recent column so provoked me that . . ."

This column will be devoted to a candid expression of opinion on taxes. It would be surprising if you don't find some areas of strong disagreement.

It is an unusually rare individual whose basic preferences in form of taxation are not strongly influenced by what he will pay. Non-drinkers like to tax booze; non-church goers feel we should tax churches. Those with a lot of property and little income prefer income taxes and visa-versa.

We should switch educational operation from property tax to income tax. Not just because the heavy reliance on property tax causes a severe strain on certain individuals, but because it falls on the wrong generation.

There is a real generation gap in this country in terms of the educational opportunity offered us. The split is between those who attended high school before and after World War II or between those younger and older than 50.

Those under 50 often have not yet accumulated a lot of property, but many, especially those with good educations, have good incomes. And they have children in school for whom they have high hopes. Yet the local school tax hits those over 50, having reached their personal high in property accumulation and often declining income. And most of their children through school in appropriate if not unfair.

Property tax should be used almost exclusively for local governments. Much of the service such as police and fire protection, street lighting, and refuse disposal, benefits primarily property owners.

Those who receive the primary benefit of higher education should pay the major part of the cost.

It would be appropriate if graduates of taxpayer-supported institutions were required to make yearly payments to their university for some years following graduation.

A graduated income tax is an appropriate measure of ability to pay and benefits received from society. Michigan's method of providing a $1200 personal deduction is an appropriate method of graduation. However, it would be more appropriate to grant a family deduction of $4500 or $5000 regardless of family size. The encouragement or subsidization of children should not be the role of the State.

Taxes should be noticed by the public. Hidden taxes are generally inappropriate. Taxes on business and corporations are "regressive" as they are almost entirely passed on to consumers and workers. Michigan should greatly reduce this form of taxation encouraging jobs and letting the public know when it is paying and how much.

"Loopholes" or exemptions are an appropriate function of government. Some types of business and other activities are more beneficial to the public than others and should be encouraged. Bread and liquor should be taxed at different rates. Development in "depressed" areas should be encouraged.

Write your letters, but if you would delete that reference to the "silent majority". Those who let us know how they feel no longer belong to this group. They are full-fledged, active, vocal participants in the democratic process.

IT'S JUST GOOD BUSINESS TO JOIN THE UAW

The Rt. Rev. Bernard J. Sheil Catholic Bishop once said: "If a Non-Union worker in a partially organized industry is receiving a good income, it is quite probably because his Non-Union employer, in order to keep the Union out, meets, or nearly meets, the higher wage and hours standard of Union establishments. Clearly such Non-Union employees are eating the fruits of others sacrifices. The workers in the Union shops perhaps risked their jobs to get their Union recognized, and pay monthly dues to keep it going. It is a categorical injustice for Non-Union employees, enjoying the common benefits, to refuse to carry their share of the common burden".

life — and you, can be beautiful!

Blenders, vacuum cleaners, dish-washers, toasters — they're the modern appliances designed to make life (and housework) beautiful, quick and easy for you, the bride-to-be.

But appliances not only make life beautiful, they can make you beautiful as well — and help you keep your wedding-day beauty every day. The bride-to-be should be as concerned with the recent revolutionary developments in the world of personal-care appliances as she is in home-care appliances. They too, offer the gift of time — as well as of beauty.

Today, with a simple flick of a switch, you can whittle your waistline while reading a book, put on an instant suntan, give yourself a professional facial and set your hair in 10 minutes flat.

The prospective bride's new-found world of electrical beauty also contains a magic mirror, where you just dial a light mood to apply the correct makeup for the light you're going to be seen in — daylight, office light, evening light. You can dial the soft glow of a candlelight ceremony!

It's the True-to-Light Makeup Mirror by Clairol — and it can make all the difference to your finished appearance. Sit it conveniently on your dressing table or bathroom shelf. All you do is turn the dial and your reflection make lacey cloth from plain white paper napkins . . .

Lovely diamonds in beautiful settings have been Roy Harr's business for 27 years. Mike and Brenda marvel at the lovely collection featured at Harr's Jewelry. Exciting gifts for weddings including crystal, china, stainless and silver are also specialties at Harr's.

An elegant, lacey tablecloth made from plain white paper napkins can be the basis for a festive bridal table setting that's easy to make and beautifully romantic.

Take about 12 paper napkins, center fold once and then cut out small triangles along folded edge. Continue the same scissor fun on all: it's much like cutting out linked paper dolls. Unfold all the napkins and attach each square together with "Scotch" Spra-Ment which bonds quickly to a variety of materials.

You'll find you have created a glamorous table cover as delicate as fine lace. Place it over a solid colored felt cloth or any contrasting tablecloth you have.

Now try your hand at this eye-catching centerpiece from which streamers extend to edges of table in a gay, maypole effect. Streamers are decorated with white bows topped with sprigs of flowers. Shown here are three glasses and two plates, all sprayed with metallic silver paint. Small silver beads are adhered to glasses with Spra-Ment for a gala effect. Glasses and plates are bonded together with Super Strength Adhesive. Lower plate is lined with appetizing candies and sweets. Top plate is piled high with ferns, small flowers, ribbons, and a pair of white doves, all sparkling with glitter. Ribbons and sparkles as well as decorations are bonded together with Spra-Ment.

Shades Of A Sunny Honeymoon

All brides are beautiful on their wedding day. It's a tradition. And it's only natural. In a long white gown, radiant, glowing and the center of everyone's attention and admiration, what girl wouldn't be beautiful?

But, wedding day beauty is a delightful illusion that requires a little know-how, some common sense and a bit of planning, if it's going to last through the honeymoon.

If you're like seventy per cent of this year's brides, you and your husband-to-be have probably chosen a place in the sun for those warm and wonderful first weeks together. And, you'll probably be spending a lot of time sunning on the beach or by the pool, so a flattering swimsuit — one that's just right for your figure — should be a top priority.

Begin by being honest. If you're a little on the round side, don't plan on dieting down to bikini proportions. Instead, choose a groovy, new one-piece suit perhaps in a wild and exotic Tahitian print, cut to a deep V in front and back. Then, add a matching sarong and a pair of topaz tinted "Aquarius" shades and this great look becomes just as seductive as a bikini and much more mysterious.

The eye-catching print and the cut of the swimsuit camouflage a multitude of figure flaws, while the long skirt adds height and a graceful line. And Foster Grant shades with their straight, classic styling can make a round face seem less round and more angular, while the topaz tinted lenses add a touch of eye make-up and allure. It's not magic. It's just an illusion or, let's say, a sleight-of-fashion-hand trick.

There are others, too. For instance, a square, chiseled face can look softer, more feminine with the simple addition of some circular styled shades like "Big Rounds." If your nose is short and stubby, it can look a little longer and more aristocratic with shades that have a high bridge like the popular new "Red Baron" aviator-specs. And, conversely, if you'd like to cut down a long nose, choose shades with a low bridge like their "Six-Sided" sunspecs, or simply let your shades slip down your nose a little — in the process you might even acquire that slightly myopic look that made Marilyn Monroe so appealing.

There are tricks with lens colors, too. Foster Grant, the world's largest manufacturer of sunglasses, points out that pink lenses create a little girl look and are great for concealing under-eye shadows. Blue lenses brighten up a cloudy day and give a fresh, outdoorsy look, while the warmer tints of topaz, amber and smoke are more sultry and mysterious.

And soft tinted lenses can also soften such make-up tricks as contouring and false eyelashes.

There is a sunglass shape, color and tint that's right for every face. So, with a little planning and a wardrobe of fashionable and flattering shades, any bride can make the illusion of wedding day beauty a reality.

avoiding the ordinary is secret of successful entertaining by brides

"Entertaining" can be boring if you don't watch out. As a new bride you will probably be doing a lot of entertaining at first, but hostess and guests alike will miss all the excitement if things are always predictable — same menus, same table setting, same decorations.

Today there is no excuse for not trying more adventurous menus with the recipes to be found in the multitude of great cookbooks available, as well as all those in newspapers and magazines. No need, any more, to have the same party tablecloth and napkins, brought out with boring regularity and laundered with toil and tears. Table linens have never been gayer, more unusual or easier to care for.

A table setting is a sight you create to please the eye, and imagination is its chief ingredient, not splendid equipment. Keep in mind that there are very few rules for setting today's tables. Not everything must match, for instance. You can even use dress or upholstery fabrics instead of conventional linens. And don't be afraid to interchange everyday and formal sets. Earthenware is fine with simple sterling and crystal, and anything but the very elaborate patterns in fine china can be used with stainless steel.

When it comes to centerpieces, imagination is your only limitation. If you have the idea that it should always be flowers, remember that they are not very original unless you are an expert arranger or combine them with unusual containers. One successful hostess, for instance, put garden daisies in a large blue and white Spode teapot for an immediate conversation piece at a summer luncheon. Vegetables and fresh fruits can be much more appealing than a bunch of hothouse flowers, too. Lemons and green leaves, or white grapes in a crystal compote, for instance. And there's nothing more colorful than a bowl of polished apples or even a few purple eggplants if they complement the rest of your color scheme.

With a more intimate group at a smaller table where there is no room for a centerpiece that is merely decorative, you can center the table with part of the menu.

Tables become routine when we don't make the effort. And it is often surprising how much fun this type of effort can be!

KEEP BAKING SODA FRONT-CENTER!

Don't bury that box of baking soda on the back of a shelf when you line up supplies in your new kitchen. And stow a package in a prominent place in your medicine cabinet, too, that is, if you really want to save money. Known also as a bicarbonate of soda, bicarb, or by its chemical formula NAHCO₃, this powdery white substance, according to many enthusiasts, has more uses than anything aside from water. It goes into your batter to make baked goods rise. It puts out the fire in your stomach (acid indigestion), the fire in your skillet; peps up your car battery, your weary feet; soothes burns, itches, bites, sore throats; shines silver, chrome, just about everything else in your home, including your teeth; kills bad breath and other unwanted smells, personal or otherwise; prevents rusting.

And lest you're tempted to pass baking soda off as just another of grandmother's old wonders, take a look at some of its recently discovered uses . . . Added to chicken feed it gives eggs a sturdier shell. Added to cattle feed, it causes the butterfat content of milk to rise.

SHOWER THAT CATERS TO SLIM BEAUTY

This is a promise: the figure-conscious modern bride is going to become a figure-conscious wife the moment she takes that walk down the aisle. Nothing will change her determination to remain the slim-and-shapely sylph he fell in love with, which is an excellent thing in terms of health as well as aesthetics! So if one of your friends is going to be a 1970 bride, why not cater to her best interests by arranging to give her a shower that features a delicious supplementary diet-food. Try Carnation Slender!

Ask girl friends to choose as presents anything that will help her to keep her lovely figure through the housekeeping years ahead. Suggest as gifts a full-length plate glass mirror, handsomely framed; petite bathroom scales; a set of the new greaseless cooking pans; six tall, straight-sided highballs and long handled stirrers (with which to mix her diet food from Carnation); and, of course, an electric blender for buzzing the drink into special-occasion drinks and desserts. Newly formulated without cyclamates, this protein-rich powder, Slender, can be mixed with nonfat fresh milk in a jiffy for a delicious 144-calorie snack or mini-meal.

What to serve the guests at this shower? Why not froth-up a batch of Wild Strawberry Champagne Frosted as follows: For each serving, blend 1 packet Wild Strawberry Slender with 8 ounces nonfat milk; then add 3 ounces of champagne — which makes it a wild 219 calories. Pour into your prettiest hollow-stemmed champagne glasses, and drink a toast to the 1970 bride. Here's to her health and happiness!

HARDWARE

There's nothing like beautiful wallpaper to add sparkle and life to your surroundings. Emerson Bishop shows Brenda some of the many new patterns available at Glaspie Drug.

ONE VIEW

"Don't take a wife," he said, "from a desire To make economies and spare expense. A faithful servant shows more diligence In guarding your possessions than a wife For she claims half you have throughout her life..."
—Geoffrey Chaucer, "The Merchant's Tale" in The Canterbury Tales.

You Can't Go Wrong With a Gift Certificate

Silver holloware is the beautifully natural companion to a young lady's silver flatware. When she chooses her flatware pattern, it is a good idea to have her contemplate her holloware pattern as well. The jeweler will help her pick a pattern that harmonizes with her flatware and adds to the total beauty of her future table. Holloware such as a bud vase, bon bon dish, bread tray can be more gift notables to appear on a young lady's list and increase her silver happiness over the years that are the prelude to her wedding day.

Having-trouble keeping table linens wrinkle free? Save cardboard tubes from gift wrappings and roll ironed linens on tubes instead of folding. Magic sizing, sprayed on as you iron, aids in ironing linens to wrinkle-free beauty easily because its special lubricant makes the iron glide over fabrics. Try tubes and sizing for smooth wrinkleless linens

Weekly menu planning enables the working wife to do most of her shopping on Saturday with only a few perishables to pick up daily.

Brenda visited Dean's Hardware and the Town House Cookware by West Bend was quick to catch her fancy. Barry Dean explained that theirs is a popular store for wedding gift items. Next time you're in the market for a gift...shop Deans-you'll save on every purchase.

furniture to turn you on

The home furnishings industry is coming up with savvy new designs for young moderns with a flair for fashion and a fetish for function.

A leading manufacturer of bedroom, dining room and occasional furniture has caught wind of the contemporary demand for stylish furnishings that will stand the tests of versatility, durability and mini bank balances.

Newlywed apartment hunters insistent on a formal dining room need not quash their hopes after dragging through modern buildings with disappearing walls. For example, a 72-inch high buffet and hutch, by Kemp Furniture Industries, can help them literally build walls to appease their sense of gracious living.

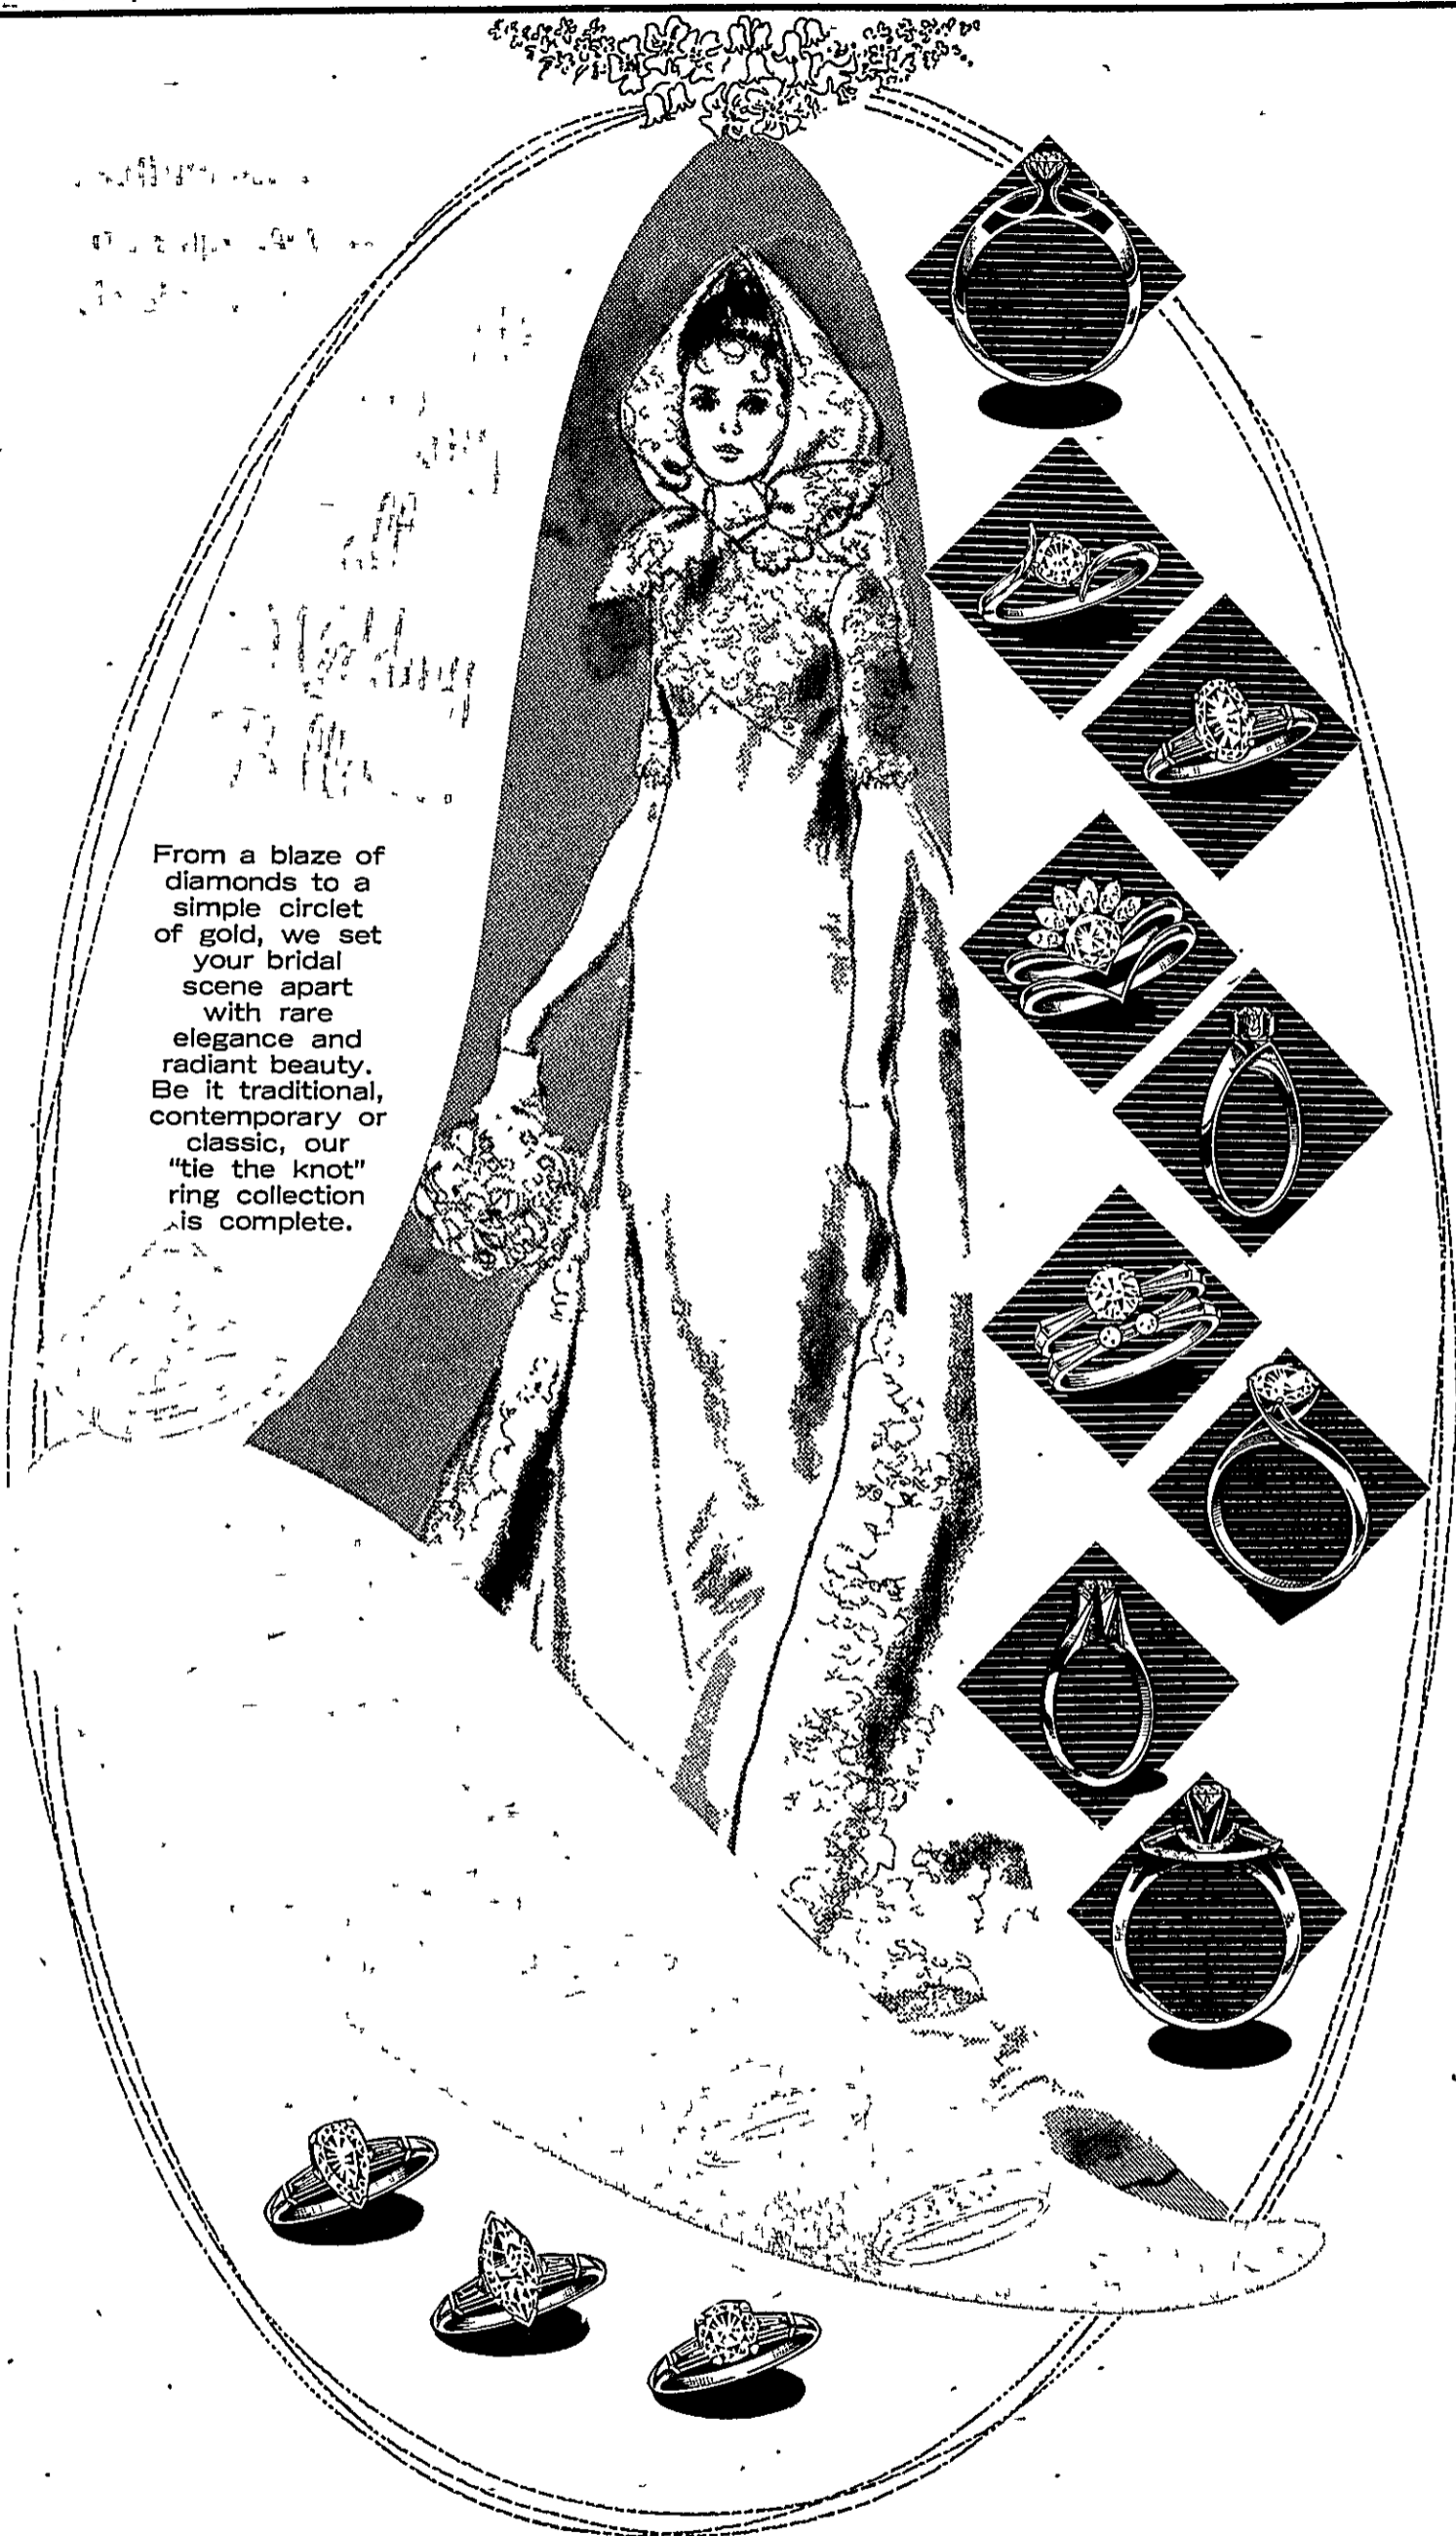

The buffet and hutch, from the "American Settler" collection of colonial dining room and bedroom furniture, can be used as a room divider to carve a dining nook from a living room. The shelves of the hutch create a show-and-store wall for displaying favorite wedding gifts, and the cabinets of the buffet afford ample storage space for a formal china service. A mellow engraved pine finish guarantees a cozy atmosphere for twosome dining. Do-it-yourself adhesive paper can be applied to the back of the units to add a decorative filip to the living area.

When the household's breadwinner is a junior executive on the transfer circuit, today's purchases must fit in tomorrow's home. To meet the mobile couple's special decorating and storage needs, Kemp manufactures modular two and three-drawer chests with matching bookcases. From the "Brigadier" collection of military campaign furniture reminiscent of Napoleon's generals, the units are offered in five bold and bright painted finishes as well as a warm engraved Bombay pecan finish.

The chest and bookcases feature brass corner plates and inset handles for a neat and trim look with a lot of now power. The chests can be used alone as bedside tables or hall pieces. Topped with the bookcases, they'll bring order to growing record and book collections.

bride with home-gifts

There's a special time in a girl's life when every day is like Christmas. And, no matter how harried or pressured the bride may be with wedding plans, the pleasure of receiving gifts and being honored at shower parties is an exciting and memorable experience.

What to give the bride is a question, if not a problem to her many friends as well as for the family. For the thoughtful who want to give a different gift, we suggest decorative accessories. Lamps, objets d'art, or even an accent table can be a distinctive and welcome gift.

For those who like to explore to find that special gift, the market place has never been more open. One collection of accessories and lamps from Tyndale, named after the Indian festival of lights when thousands of candles lit late into the night illuminate the wares of Indian merchants at their market, is called Divali. The Divali festival is a wild, beautiful time of warm friendliness. What could be more appropriate.

Inspired by this festival, the collection features tables, plaques and wall accessories, floor and table lamps. The designs are key-noted by bold carving, delicate filagree and delightful ceramics which coordinate to achieve a total look. Used individually, they provide a most striking accent.

Pottery, native sculptures and painted furniture carved with Taj Mahal motifs are included, as well as lamps in burnished Indian silver with softly fluted shades. A silver lamp with an ostrich leg base highlights the Divali collection and is shown on both floor and table lamps. The wonderful look of the new fluted shades offers high fashion impact and appears on many of the lamps in the collection.

There is a wide range of materials used in the Collection, among them, terracotta. An antique terracotta finish Tangine dish on an Indian silver metal mounting is topped with a high-gloss white parchment shade. The Collection also includes an imported white ceramic garden seat, ideal as an accent to any room.

STAY THE LOVELY GIRL HE FELL IN LOVE WITH! FOLLOW THIS

If you're about to embark on a marital 'journey', you're bound to wonder just what the infamous 'first year' means when it gets down to the everyday reality of actually living with "him." Perhaps more than once the necessity of fitting your once 'out-in-the-open' beauty habits into your new "co-existence" has crossed your mind.

Sure it's easy to say, "Well, I'll do it before 'he gets home'" but with all your new responsibilities and homemaking chores a haphazard "non-schedule" like that can leave you looking just as "hit and miss" as your beauty plan.

Since the smart bride can't risk losing an inch of beauty ground, we've asked the experts at The Pond's Beauty Institute to tell us about some easy shortcuts:

1. Organize whatever 'at-home' time you have. Make a list of everything that needs regular attention; like eyebrow tweezing, hair coloring, de-fuzzing and nail care and set aside even fifteen minutes a night — after the dishes are done, lingerie is washed and the bedroom is tidied — for caring for any one of these grooming 'niceties.' It's much less tiresome than suddenly discovering that you've let yourself go to the point where you need an entire "maintenance" evening alone just when your husband decides to bring his boss home for dinner!

2. Make products you buy do more than one job for you. For instance, if you use Pond's Cold Cream to remove your stubborn eye makeup its moisturizing ingredients will soften and smooth the tender eye area as they whisk away makeup and grime. (Much more soothing than the tight, rough feeling ordinary soap leaves.) Or — when you're shampooing your hair skip the plain cream rinse and try a multi-purpose "after-shampoo" that conditions, shines and "sets" your hair as it smooths out snarls. These 'bridal bonuses' accomplish two beauty "do's" in one quick step!

3. Keep your beauty "upkeep" to yourself. No new husband wants to see his wife decked out in hair curlers and facial masks. While he's showering, do some exercises in the bedroom and once he's vacated the shower turn it into a quick beauty spa. Keep your grooming "arsenal" in a pretty vanity case so you don't have to chase all over the apartment looking for the tweezers or shaving cream. Use your bubble bath in more than one way. While you're soaking, give yourself a quick "Minute Mask" with Pond's Oily Skin Treatment. It deep-cleanses pores as it soaks up excess skin oils — and leaves you gloriously aglow with a freshness he'll notice!

Most of all — enjoy yourself — don't let all your new found "togetherness" put a damper on your fun!

Retain your individuality.

Precious Dowry, Sterling Silver

There's so much versatility today in sterling that she'll be amazed at how many solid silver patterns go with both formal fine china and modern pottery designs. If she likes a certain amount of design in both the elegant and casual china patterns, she's advised by most tableware experts to choose one of the simple sterling patterns. The linear designs in the dramatic modern group of solid silver, as well as the restrained look seen in some of the traditional group, complement many decorated china patterns. On the other hand, if she's considering the tried and true gold-banded china, along with an earthenware pattern in perhaps a bright, clear color, her sterling can be one of the more decorated patterns. The general rule to keep in mind is that in any selection of china, glass and flatware, one of the three should contrast with the other two — not so much in style as in the amount of decoration.

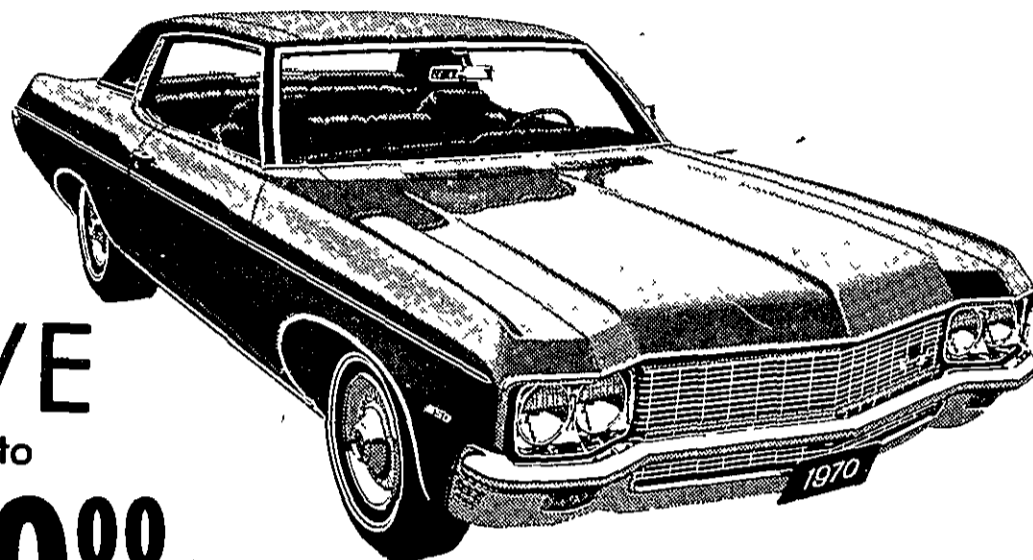

bride's first meals can be winners, all

A new bride will never serve burned biscuits, dried-out roasts or fallen soufflés if she has a modern electric range that times her favorite recipes right to the minute.

Such a wonder is a popular 30-inch range with many de luxe features that make cooking a real joy. General Electric makes it. Foremost is the self-cleaning feature which cleans electrically the entire oven, shelves, door, window, and surface unit reflector pans. Infinite control dials select precise heat on surface units and with the automatic oven timer there's no chance for a ruined dinner. In fact, today's bride doesn't have to be at home since the oven turns off automatically at the time designated!

A roomy storage drawer offers lots of space for utensils of all sizes. Recessed cooktop looks great and is easy to keep clean and shiny. With a matching exhaust hood, this handsome cooking center fits only 30 inches of space. The range is available in white, copper-tone, avocado and harvest.

Don't worry over non-essentials, and you'll find there is very little to worry about.

A ring to dream on . . . that very special dream she keeps locked in the most secret part of her heart, waiting for the right man with the right words to send her dream flying free, into reality. Naturally, the ring is a diamond engagement ring, the pledge ring to guard and protect a love that will last forever.

An ancient symbol of sentiment that may have begun with rings of plaited rush, the engagement ring has evolved through time and tradition until it is instantly recognized as that glowing diamond on the third finger of the left hand, matched by the glowing face of the girl wearing it. So long ago that origins have been lost in the haze of centuries, diamonds were believed invincible, chosen to symbolize purity and light, to be protection against the dark forces of Evil. It is a wise tradition that has made the diamond the visible, brilliant guardian of that great experience called Love.

Every girl wants her diamond to be worthy of her dream. And that's the wish of every reliable jeweler, too . . . and his job. The Jewelry Industry Council recommends that an engaging couple seek the advice and help of a qualified jeweler who will tell them the true value, fiery worth and merit of the diamond they can build their dream on . . . together, forever.

A jeweler judges a diamond according to the "4 C's": Cut, Color, Clarity and Carat.

Cut: The transformation of a rough stone into a dazzling gem, and the shape this dazzlement takes comes under the heading, "cut." Principal diamond shapes are the brilliant or round, the emerald, the pear, the oval and the marquise or boat-shaped. The shape her engaging diamond takes is her ultimate decision.

A GIFT OF BEAUTY

The supreme gift to remind her, always, of the great joy and happiness of her wedding day could be a diamond-studded dress watch, petite diamond earrings, a diamond pendant or pin.

For the groom, diamond jewelry is truly distinctive. Surely gold-and-diamond cuff links and tie tac, a diamond-set ring or diamond-rimmed dress watch are suitable ways for the bride to pledge her love!

Bridal Photographs

Here's a tip for photographic sittings. Bring eye drops along with other cosmetics to help capture that special sparkle.

Every bride should try to remember that a woman's personality is most vividly expressed in her face, especially her sparkling eyes. So at a time when most girls are preparing for the Big Day, and don't get enough sleep and rest, let eye drops be a bride's secret beauty helper.
