DeWitt voters oust 3 from City Council offices

DEWITT — DeWitt voters ousted their mayor and 2 city councilmen in a recall election, while voting to retain 1 member of the city government among the 4 listed on the recall ballot.

A sort of "victory dance" by 1 of the initiators of the recall petition indicated the results as the final votes were tallied.

Margaret Faught, a Lake Geneva resident who with support, opposed rezoning to allow condominiums in the Lake Geneva area, hopped around in front of the DeWitt fire hall after hearing that Mayor Raymond DeWitt, Mayor Pro-tem Robert Ballard and Councilman Stanley Tenney had been ousted from offices on the DeWitt City Council following the re-call election. Receiving voter approval to remain on the council was Frederick "Bill" Shaver.

Ironically, Shaver was appointed to the Council by DeWitt to fill the position vacated when he was elected mayor.

The 4 listed on the recall ballot all voted in favor of zoning of the condominiums, a project proposed by Donald Ducharme.

The City Council approved the zoning by a 4-3 vote with the mayor casting the deciding vote.

At the time, Lake Geneva residents strongly opposed the action and it was then that Mrs Faught originally indicated recall procedures would be taken.

Later recall petitions were filed with reasons listed as the council's approval of the controversial zoning question and their inaction on a city ordinance.

It is believed that ordinance concerned the liquor by the glass measure passed by DeWitt voters in November.

Although the 1 license allowed in the city had not been approved at the time the petitions were filed, the council has subsequently approved the license for the DeWitt Bar.

After the recall election was approved by the state, 2 resignations helped to fan the fires of discontent in the city.

Police Chief Charles Anderson resigned after being made temporary chief by the council newly elected in November. Anderson claimed he could not work with the new mayor while the council said they had made him temporary chief in hopes he would conform to their wishes about how the police department should be run.

Shortly after Anderson's resignation, Daniel Elliott, city administrator resigned, citing problems with the administrative body of the city.

Elliott came under fire for authorizing a check for Anderson upon his resignation for sick leave and vacation time.

Although the city council claimed they had no policy for paying for such time, Elliott said the fact the city had no policy prompted him to act on the precedents set by the city in paying other employees who had left the city.

In a special city council meeting Dorothy Keck, city clerk, cited other instances where departing city employees had received such pay:

With 2 resignations adding fuel to the fire in DeWitt, city treasurer, Marilyn Coin, tendered more criticism to the council over their action to hire an outside firm to prepare and mail the tax rolls.

She told the city council that was her job and she didn't know that an outside firm was going to handle it until that firm telephoned her with the information.

The council at that time changed their action to allow part of the job to be done by the outside firm with the mailing to be done by Mrs Coin.

Regardless of all the controversy, the vote reads.

	Re-Call	Not Re-call
Mayor DeWitt	247	183
Mayor pro-tem Ballard	233	196
Councilman Tenney	217	211
Councilman Shaver	206	224

Heavy winds during a tornado alert in St. Johns Tuesday topples this tree on top of a Cass Street home. Several trees in the area were damaged and 1 injury was reported to a man blown by the winds into a pole.

DeWitt Twp Board seeks "communication"

DEWITT TWP — An alleged lack of communication between the Police and Fire Departments and the treasurer's sewer report were among the topics of discussion at Monday night's DeWitt Township Board meeting.

Trustee Jack Kzeski accused the Police and Fire Departments of not having enough contact with each other. "The lack of communication between the 2 departments is ridiculous," he asserted.

POLICE CHIEF Bruce Angell said the Fire Chief told him he has called for help from the police and never got it. However, Angell said, they had checked the log books, which did not show any calls.

Kzeski admitted there could be problems with the telephone lines since the State Police did not answer the calls either.

Angell said repairmen from Michigan Bell were checking the lines to see if there are problems.

Trustee Roger Pline noted that he had tried to call the police for an hour one Saturday night and finally gave up because no one answered.

KZESKI MOVED the board direct the 2 department chiefs to get together and devise an adequate communication system within 45 days and report to the board in writing. The motion carried unanimously.

"What if there was a tornado and the phones were out?" he questioned.

Treasurer Oliver Angell told the board that as far as the sewer revenues are concerned, they are "not in the best of financial positions."

"We will be $9500-$10,000 in hock as of June 1," he said.

HE ALSO NOTED that out of $67,963 worth of billings for the next 3 months, the board can only expect to collect about $55,000 on time, based on past experience.

Angell said that if the township could release some of the areas with new sewers ahead of time it would help the financial picture to some extent.

"There are people begging us to tie in," he said.

Supervisor Dale Emerson had reported to the board earlier in the meeting that Consumer's Power is holding up action.

"THEY WON'T hook up the lift stations," he said.

Angell termed the information received from the city of DeWitt in response to their queries about various sewer construction expenses "interesting reading."

"But, basically," he said, "I don't think it brought out the facts we need."

"We're looking for anticipated expenses, but can't guess the man hours it will take," he added.

TRUSTEE KZESKI suggested that

Emerson send a letter to the County Board of Commissioners.

"You've gotten some pretty snotty letters from them (DeWitt)," he noted. Trustee Pline asserted that "they've done absolutely nothing on maintenance." He cited surface water and deadheads as examples.

Trustee Eileen Corr said "it establishes bad blood between us every time we question them."

EMERSON DEFENDED the township's position, saying "they are asking us to deal with problems we don't have tools to deal with, and they do."

Pline said he figures DeWitt is "asking us to furnish materials to operate the plant with, and they flush it (waste water) down the river."

St Johns has million dollar winner

ST JOHNS — Last Thursday was a day James and Doris Fisher won't soon forget. With their camper all packed for a weekend jaunt to Cadillac for some fishing, the couple and 2 of their children stopped at Ypsilanti to attend Michigan's 4th million dollar lottery drawing, and then planned to head north. Their plans got delayed, however. Fifty-five year old Fisher emerged the winner.

The Fishers have calmed down some after the initial excitement of being new recipients of $50,000 a year for 20 years, but the smiles are still on their faces.

Daughter Sharon Vincent of Owosso said she's "tickled pink" for her parents.

"ALL I FELT was sheer happiness," she said. "They deserve the best."

Fisher laughingly told the County News that his wife had accused him of "wasting his money" before the big drawing, and then said he was kidding.

Future plans for the money include either building a new house or fixing up their present home on Scott Rd outside St Johns.

FISHER NOTED that "we've got to have a place where we can take care of my mother." Fisher's mother, age 85, is in a wheelchair and has been living with them for several years.

Other plans include travelling around the countryside. Fisher recently purchased a new boat from Beck and Hyde's Farmarina and a new car from Egan's Ford.

"We want our boy to finish school, too," he added. Their son Rick is a sophomore at Ferris State College in Big Rapids. And, Susan, a 10th grader at St Johns High School will be able to accompany the French Club on their trip to France.

FISHER IS SERIOUSLY contemplating retiring from his job at Motor Wheel Corporation in Lansing, where he has been employed 31 years. He was given a month's vacation, which will give him "time to think it over."

Rick grinned when he described their trip to Cadillac last weekend.

"You should have seen them sitting in the boat," he said, "they've really been enjoying themselves." Mr and Mrs Fisher have been married 35 years.

The Fishers have 2 other girls, Kay Federspiel and Doris Jean Brown, both of whom live in Saginaw.

SHARON SAID she talked to Doris Jean for about an hour and said her sister was so excited Friday that "she tried to sew something for her daughter and just couldn't do anything."

Beck's Farm Market, where Fisher bought his winning ticket, also gets a share of the loot. Ben Beck, owner said his $5000 bonus for selling the ticket will go toward a party for his employees and new cash registers or pavement for the store's parking lot.

Larry Burns (right) of Egan Ford Sales in St. Johns presents million dollar winners Mr and Mrs James Fisher with the keys to their brand new LTD Brougham. They hopped in, and Mrs Fisher drove away. Fisher said, "It's her car."

Two bike to Mackinac

Mrs. Debbie Bell, 13814 Ducharme Dr., DeWitt and her niece, Tracee Anne Hill of 114 Normandy Dr., Lansing recently returned from a bicycle trip to Mackinac Island.

Their chief complaint was rude motorists who didn't seem to know that bike riders could also use the road.

and Cheboygan. Both girls state that this kind of travel gives one "time to appreciate Michigan's beauty".

A Juliet cap secured her shoulder length tiered imported illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of white daisies, red roses, pink strawflowers, and white carnations and baby's breath.

OVID-ELSIE

OES past matrons, patrons are honored

One of Michigan's oldest OES Chapters, Elsie #69, honored its gold certificate and life members and the past matrons and past patrons in the Masonic Temple Saturday, June 16 at a noon luncheon and program. Chaplain Erna Vincent led the group in the Lord's Prayer as the invocation.

Guests were registered by Roberta Baker, a member of the Ovid-Elsie Bethel of Job's Daughters.

The long tables were attractively centered with arrangements of roses while each place was marked with a tiny rose and mint favor, along with memo pads, pen, pencils, date book and calendar cards, compliments of local businesses. A large cake decorated in the Star Point colors and sugar roses and lettering for the occasion was made by Mrs Harold Hehrer.

Souvenir program booklets and matching place cards were hand-painted forget-me-nots by Mrs Anne Praay.

After the luncheon, much renewing of friendships and viewing scrapbooks of Mrs Sidney J. Keys covering the past 35 years of Eastern Star activities, they assembled in the Chapter Room, where Leona and Robert Baker presided in the East for a program honoring the special guests.

Worthy Matron Leona Baker welcomed them by giving a tribute to their devotion over the years which greatly contributed to the Chapter's success and progress. She said, "We owe you a debt of gratitude and sincerely hope that you do not consider yourselves in retirement. Nothing could be more beneficial to our Chapter than to have you maintain the interest you have shown through the years."

After the flag presentation and Pledge, the following guests were introduced: Don Barnes of Ortonville, Grand Committee Man on Masonic Relations; Murray Cole of Litchfield, present Eminent Commander of Knight Templar of Coldwater Lodge; Mrs Anna Praay, recently installed 2nd vice president of Clinton County O.E.S. Association; and Mrs Geraldine (Hall) Davies of Falls Church, Virginia and Mrs Vera Teare of Flint, both members of the Elsie Chapter.

Mrs Murray Cole (the former Wilma Green) of Litchfield was presented a life certificate and membership by one of her former high school students, Worthy Matron Leona Baker. Mrs Cole retired last year from 27 years in the teaching profession, several of which were at Elsie High School in the 1930's.

Life and 50-year and over members of the local Chapter were presented and each given a colorful Star book mark. They were: Mrs Vera Teare of Flint, 60 years membership; Lula Knight 59 years; Mrs Gladys Purves 58; Mrs Hazel Blayney 54; Mrs Maude Craven and Walter (Pat) Lusk of DeWitt both 53 years; Mrs Ruth Lusk of DeWitt 49 years; Mrs Edna Stedman of Owosso 49; and John and Mae Hall 41 years.

The final group to be honored, included past matrons and past patrons. They were: Hazel Blayney, Mae Hall, Neva Keys, Jean Cobb, Anne Praay, Gladys Vincent, Dortha Platner, Leila Wilson, Gladys Hall, Elizabeth Levey, Norma

Smith, Anna Dunay, Jennie Loznak and Leona Baker. The past patrons were: John Hall, Luman Hall, Alex Dunay, Hubert Sills and Robert Baker. Also present were Mrs Martha Maxa and Mrs Helen Cordray, past matrons of Ashley Chapter OES. All were given Star book marks.

An impressive ceremony for the honored guests was given by several officers - Mr and Mrs Robert Baker, Mrs Alex Dunay, C.H. Sills, Elizabeth Baker, Mrs Paul Platner, Mrs A.W. Cobb, Mrs Luman Hall, Mrs Jennie Loznak and Erna Vincent. Elizabeth Baker chose the beautiful vocal selection "He" and was accompanied at the piano by her sister, Gwen O'Donnell, past honored queen. Both girls were members of the Ovid-Elsie Bethel of Job's Daughters.

Worthy Matron Baker, in her closing remarks thanked the honored guests for their attendance and the inspiration they have been in their years of service. She said, "As we follow the trail blazed by you, we realize what a firm foundation you have laid for the Elsie Chapter."

The program closed with the Chaplain Erna Vincent leading the Mizpah benediction.

Jack Keys has returned home after spending about 3 months in Miami, Fla where he stayed with his sister and husband, Mr and Mrs Kenneth Wilson (Joanne Keys) and his niece and nephews, Stephanie, Brant, Jeffrey and Mark Wilson. He visited his other sisters,

Jennifer and Jeanette Keys who also live in Miami. While there he was employed fulltime at the Super Brand Dairy, had a couple of fishing trips off Miami Beach, played basketball, made many new friends and learned his way around the city to see some of its points of interest. This was Jack's first long trip driving the 3,000 miles alone for the most part on I-75 and Florida's Turnpike. He also stopped over a couple of days in Cincinnati to visit his brother and wife, Mr and Mrs W.H. (Bud) Keys and their two children,

Debbie and David. The best part of the trip was the "Welcome to Michigan" sign that greeted him upon crossing the Ohio-Michigan border on his return home. His words were: "I'm still a real Michigan boy."

Fireworks display set for July 4

THE CELEBRATION commemorating this nation's declaration of independence from its colonial ties to England was begun by the area Junior Chamber of Commerce, since defunct, and revived as an annual event last year by the property owners of the lake. It is supported by proceeds from the chicken barbecue and donations from area businesses and individuals.

A patriotic ceremony in observance of our country's birthday will be conducted at 9 pm by Mark Daniels VFW Post 1735 and Ladies Auxillary of Perrinton.

Wiswasser Park dedication July 4

BATH TWP -- Nichols Pointe Park will become V J Wiswasser Park on July 4 in honor of the late Virgil (Jack) Wiswasser, who was very involved in the civic affairs of Bath Charter Township until his death in April of last year.

The park, located at the corner of Nichols and Park Lake Roads, will be the scene of the dedication ceremonies beginning at 11 am. A local 4-H club is scheduled to fix up and paint in the park prior to the dedication.

Wiswasser had lived in Bath Township since 1926, and owned and operated Jack's Garage at Park Lake. He was more commonly known for his civic contributions, however, including the founding of the Park Lake Improvement League approximately 18 years ago. He also served as a lieutenant on the Bath Fire Dept, was Chief of Police for 9 years, and a member of the County Tax Allocation Board.

WISWASSER AND HIS wife Leitha were married 46 years, and resided at 15623 Park Lake Road, where she still lives. His son, Jack E., operates Jack's Garage. "The township misses the kind of efforts Wiswasser put forth," Township Supervisor Roy VanSickle stated, "And I hope residents take a few minutes out of their busy schedules to pay tribute to him."

"He did a lot to build the township," VanSickle added. "Any tribute we can pay, we will."

(FROM FRONT PAGE)

In other action Jean Fleming, a township resident, was appointed to serve on the Police Committee by a 4-2 vote.

Bruce Womack, the committee's 1st choice according to Ms Corr, was turned down by a 4-3 vote. Supervisor Emerson broke the 3-3 tie, casting a no vote.

ORDINANCE #2, which previously made it the Police Dept's responsibility to deal with stray dogs, was repealed since the county takes care of the matter now.

The Police Dept was given approval to lease 1-MRS radar unit on a 3-month trial basis, after acting Police Chief Jeff Wilcox told the board that there have been 5 fatal accidents and many other serious automobile accidents related to excessive speed in the last 6 months.

Chief Bruce Angell, when asked what happened to their Vascar radar, told the board they were "sold a bill of goods." He cited excessive maintenance problems as the reason, and noted that the "State Police got stuck with 210 of them."

Results of the trial will be reported to the board after the 3 month period expires.

THE BOARD APPROVED hiring Ray Terpening on a full-time basis to work for the Police Dept for an indefinite period while Chief Angell is unable to return to work. He was authorized a pay rate of $3.80 per hour, and would receive time and a half for any hours worked in excess of 40 per week.

Ordinance #24, which deals with emergency vehicle lane requirements, was tabled until the Fire Chief can review individual businesses in the area and make his recommended specifications known to the board.

Dear friends,

It deserves emphasis that the time, the place, the character of the funeral service, the merchandise used, the cemetery selected - these are decisions of the family of the deceased. The funeral director acts only as a representative of the family.

The clergyman should be consulted in matters that concern him before any decisions are made.

Respectfully,

A PERSONAL LOOK AT THE NEWS

Between the lines

with Jim Edwards

We repeat

A recent brochure distributed by the Tri-County Regional Planning Commission entitled "12 urgent planning needs of the Tri-County Region" lists as problem Number 2, "No great emphasis is put on job or career skills."

The brochure continues, "The school systems in Clinton, Eaton and Ingham counties stress academics to such a degree that the individual is not aware of the importance of various skills and jobs."

There is a prevailing attitude suggesting that those with a college degree have made it, and that a welder or farmer is somewhat lower.

This constant emphasis on college academics tends to alienate many students and disillusion them with school. Schools must emphasize that there are fields and skills just as important as going to college. Then, through career and vocational training, the school can prepare individuals for the world of work.

To the Tri-County Regional Planning Commission we say, "Wait just a gosh darned minute."

We refer the commission to the County News editorial of June 13, entitled, "Quality schools here."

For the commission's benefit, we repeat portions of that editorial: "...School districts, for the most part, in Clinton County, are to be proud of their accomplishments and support from taxpayers."

"An excellent example of quality education at work is the career vocational program. Courses include automotive service, agriculture, building trades, cosmetology, electronics, food service and health occupations...these types of courses offer balance to a system of strictly English, history, foreign languages, math etc."

"Such a varied educational package for the student provides the knowledge in his mind that his school does have something to offer him...a strong and successful education program is an important aspect of any progressive community -- we are fortunate to possess such a commodity."

That's what we said June 13. Nothing has changed our mind since then.

We cannot speak for the schools in Eaton or Ingham counties and will not claim "all" schools in Clinton County are equal educationally.

We do, however, object to quality education programs being ignored in our county by a sweeping statement concerning schools in 3 counties.

On the other hand, if the Tri-County Regional Planning Commission is interested in learning how other area schools can operate successful vocational programs, we're certain school officials in our county would be willing to oblige.

What others are thinking

Those Michigan citizens who cherish the idea that local government is responsive government must have felt the cinch a little tighter around their necks Monday. Proponents of an all-powerful county executive form of government tightened the choker a little bit more as the house committee studying a county manager type of government held a hearing down in Wayne county.

Spokesmen for Oakland, Wayne, Jackson and Bay counties along with representatives from League of Women Voters and other lobbying groups shouted "hooray" to the senate passed bill which would give counties an either-or choice of having a super county officer elected by the people or a super county administrator handpicked by the county commissioners, if county commissioners opted for the county home rule plan.

Opponents of the measure point to the fact that Michigan people do not want nor can they afford another layer of bureaucracy-- particularly when that bureaucracy is apt to be once or twice removed from the critical eyes of the voters.

They point to the argument that a move to a county manager type of county home rule will hasten the death of township, village and city government and give impetus to the lemming urge to form area governmental hierarchies.

Proponents of the senate bill claim that it would "tighten the ship" of county government -- that county manager government would make county government more efficient.

Well, there are many people who would support a dose of inefficiency as a necessary evil in preventing our historical responsive and representative local government from disappearing.

How to lose 20 pounds

Editor, Lapeer County Press

By Jim Fitzgerald

My family has declared me the most obnoxious puncher in captivity. They reached their decision midway through the candlelight ceremony in which I punched another hole in my belt.

What I mean is, in the last 2 months I have lost 20 pounds but no humility.

All you fatties are wondering how I did it. It was easy. All you need is steel willpower; a flair for dramatics, and gall enough to kiss your wonderful self 150 times a day.

FORGET THE tricky diets and the wonder pills. Just cut the size of your meals about 50%. Eat absolutely nothing between meals, not even giant Hershey bars with almonds (be still, my beating heart).

When the agony of hunger hits you, don't keep it a secret. Let the world know how you are suffering. Scream and sob and write on the floor. The other day I fainted face-first into my skinny son's ice cream. Another day, when my wife filled the house with the smell of baking bread, I banged my head against the oven until I was overcome by blessed unconsciousness.

(Incidental intelligence: during the oven flagellation I accidentally broke the oven timer, thereby discovering that my family functions by the buzzing of that timer, something like a Pavlov reflex. They set it to remind themselves to do all sorts of important things, such as wash their hair, eat a biscuit, feed the cats, make a phone call, and touch their toes. Once I spied a daughter talking into the oven and I was going to call the men in white coats. But she was simply timing an oration for speech class. During the week the timer was busted, it was pure chaos at our house. People stumbled around

US GAS COMPANIES--"Let's Slow Down, We're Going Too Fast Now," with the words changed to "Let's Slow Down, We're Out Of Gas Now." Or, how about, "What's You Gonna Do When the Well Runs Dry?"

MARTHA MITCHELL--"I'll Be Calling You and You and You and You."

JOHN CONNALLY (saying he no longer wishes to be a Nixon aide)--"I Gotta Get Outta This Place."

DEWITT CITY COUNCIL--"There's Going to Be Some Changes Made" and "Try To Remember the Vote In November."

BATH TOWNSHIP--"Sing a Song of Sick Scents, A Pocketful of Slim."

US HUSBAND TO WIFE WALKING BY BUTCHER SHOP--"Just Walk On By-The Bee's Too High."

WASHINGTON POST--"Who's Sorry Now?"

WATERGATE PARTICIPANTS--"How Many, How Many, I Wonder?"

with dazed looks, wondering what they were supposed to be doing, and the cats moved into the neighbor's garbage can.)

But let's see, where was I? Oh yes, coming to the most important part of how to lose weight. After you have quit eating, and suffered loudly, your pants will get too big and your necktie will appear from beneath your chins. The scales will tell you what a splendid thing you have accomplished with your marvelous willpower. Now you tell the world, I mean, brag about it.

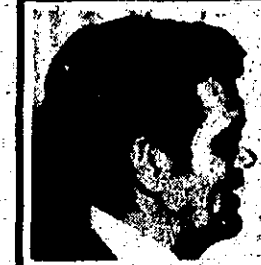

FOR INSTANCE, I invite strangers in off the street to bear awed witness while I plunge an icepick into my belt. If the high school band can't make it, I play Sousa records and hire my daughter to turn cartwheels and lead cheers ("Let's hear it for Slim Jim").

I dazzle guests with a startling exhibition in which I prove there is now room in a pair of my old pants for me and the living room couch.

When I visit relatives for the first time in months, I am visibly enraged if they do not immediately express admiration for my lithe figure and the magnificent willpower that made it possible. I tell them how I did it, just as I am telling you, even if I have to chase them around the block.

I am not hurt when people call me an obnoxious bore. I realize they are simply jealous. And if they are truly tired of hearing how I lost weight, I will change the subject. I'll tell them how I quit smoking.

MISERY LOVES COMPANY. You may quote that, and perhaps embroider it on your bib.

Editorial angers legislator

REP DOUGLAS TREZISE
87th District

People who know me generally agree that I don't "blow my stack" very often. But I guess that's what I did when I saw the May-June issue of the Michigan

Natural Resources magazine. That issue contained a diatribe against the automobile as the destroyer of our environment, the like of which you would have expected from Ralph Nader rather than a responsible department of state government.

Condemning the auto as a "3000-pound dinosaur" responsible for our air pollution, visual pollution and noise pollution, the editorial left the impression that the solution to all our problems lay in eliminating what it called a "screaming marvel of inefficiency". Apparently the writer overlooked water pollution and the population explosion in blaming the family car for all of society's of the problems faced by legislators in tackling some of our serious problems. And none of them are more difficult to meet than those involving the environment.

All this and a lot more from a representative of the state of Michigan, which more than any other state, owes its industrial life and economic well-being to the auto industry.

The necessity of maintaining a balance between economics and environment has never been more critical. The general economy of the state and the nation has been rising but this rise, especially in automobile-oriented Michigan, has been slow and unspectacular. It wouldn't take much of a shock to upset things and turn the situation around.

The battle over emissions standards of automobiles is a good example. While exhaust fumes do contribute to air pollution in some metropolitan areas, there is no evidence they constitute a large problem in the Upper Peninsula or even in Shiawassee and Clinton counties. Yet, everyone of us, no matter where he lives and drives, must pay a higher price for his car and consume more gasoline--the shortage of which is also blamed solely on the automobile according to the editorial--in order to clean up the auto emissions.

Wouldn't it be more practical to control the concentration of cars in those areas where there is a problems through effective mass transportation and other ways?

The effect of our present policy is to raise even further the cost of Michigan-made automobiles in relation to foreign makes. It encourages people to buy the imported model for reasons of both original cost and gas mileage, thus having a serious effect on the employment picture here in Michigan.

It's the same way in other areas. Some of the cures proposed for many of our problems can and do have serious side effects which end up creating new problems which are sometimes more serious than the ones they solve.

At least the furor over the Natural Resources Department editorial had one comforting result. I received a letter from the Chairman of the Natural Resources Commission assuring me the magazine did not reflect his views or those of the commission.

And this says something for having policy making boards and commissions directing the activities of our state departments. It assures us that the viewpoint of the state, as a whole, not just that of career bureaucrats, is considered when planning and implementing state programs.

WEAKNESS: You'd think that a nation brilliant enough to produce H-bombs could provide a shoe string that wouldn't break.

The key to success wasn't made to fit a tight latch.

View from the Senate

By SEN. WILLIAM S. BALLENGER

Just as the return of the robin supposedly heralds the coming of spring, so does progress on the State School Aid bill usually determine the time of the Legislature's wind-up.

While much still remains to be done, the two prongs of the School Aid pincer — both the Senate and the House versions — are approaching the final juncture.

The final juncture, that is, if there is to be one.

There have been occasions in the past — and this year may produce another one — in which no final agreement could be reached on the School Aid bill. In that case, the present school aid formula would be continued for another year, and that possibility is looming at present.

Over 2-1/2 months ago — April 5, to be exact — the Senate passed SB 110 (the so-called Bursley bill) calling for a total outlay of about $1.26 billion, compared with about $1.1 billion for the current fiscal year.

This bill, which has the blessing of the Governor, is designed to provide a state guarantee of $38 per pupil per mill in combined local-state funds to districts which levy up to 22 mills of property taxes for school operations.

This so-called "equal formula" Bursley bill would cost an estimated $780.3 million and is designed to encourage low millage school districts to raise their millage and to permit high millage districts to reduce theirs.

It is too early to predict what the State House of Representatives will finally adopt but as of this week it has before it a so-called "Crim-Ryan compromise", which would cost an estimated $52 million more than the Senate-passed version.

Essentially, the Crim-Ryan bill would hit hardest at districts which now are bearing a heavy local property tax burden (some about 30 mills) and would permanently favor such districts as Detroit, which levied 15.51 mills of school property tax for the current fiscal year.

The Crim bill would make no difference how much millages may change over the next three years. High millage districts which failed to win renewal would still be penalized under this measure.

Some knowledgeable persons contend the Crim-Ryan bill, which would de-emphasize the role of local property taxes in school financing, would play into the hands of federal judges who appear determined to wipe out all school boundaries and bus children daily between one city and another (or between several cities) and even across state lines.

Fiscal experts contend the Crim-Ryan measure would exceed the Senate version cost by $52 million and the Governor's original version by about $96 million.

Since School Aid bills seldom provide party line votes, it's anybody's guess at present whether or not the House will pass the Crim-Ryan bill, a modified version of it, or a House Education Committee-approved version of the Bursley bill.

Whatever House version is passed, the Senate holds a trump card. If the House refuses to satisfy the Senate on School Aid, no bill will result and the present school aid formula will continue for another year at far less cost to the taxpayers than any measure being considered by either chamber right now.

Agriculture in Action

Happy Birthday, America

As our nation approaches its birthday, citizens traditionally pause to reflect on "what's good about America?" This year, with their faith in our political system tested by charges of corruption, perhaps it's more difficult to come up with a list of positive reasons why they are glad to live in these United States.

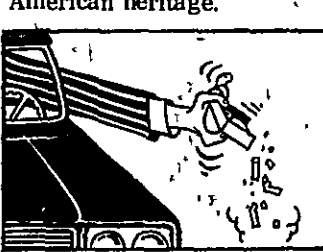

But despite our country's current political and inflationary discomforts, all thinking citizens realize there's still a lot right about America — a lot worth preserving. They only have to look at the vastness of the world where, in some 60 percent of the population has inadequate diets; where one out of every 10 children born alive dies before the end of his first year; and where barely half of the population is literate. Here, in the best-fed nation in the world, we pour tremendous resources into education, recreation, services and comforts. No nation has ever come close to creating the spectacular affluence we enjoy here in America.

We became the most creative and prosperous nation in all of history because our country grew up under a system where men could freely strive, invent, create and realize the rewards of their work. This happened because the creative efforts of men were, not squelched by too much government control.

Concerned citizens, on their nation's birthday, have a choice to make — whether to work to preserve our American heritage or whether to allow our democracy to die. They can defend the good things in our system and work to improve and change the not so good. They can stand up and tell their elected officials that they do not want their free enterprise system endangered by too much government control, and their economic system ruined by irresponsible, unlimited government spending — and make sure they listen.

Hopefully, we'll one day look back on July 4, 1973, as a time when our country's citizens made their choice — a dedicated decision, backed by action — to "get involved" and work to preserve their American heritage.

Show us a car with clean ash trays and we'll be able, usually, to point to an owner who dumps 'em in shopping center parking lots.

Checking gas tax signatures

LANSING — The Michigan Department of State has enlisted the aid of its giant computer to determine accuracy of gas tax petition signatures filed with the state to see whether the controversial issue should be put to a vote of the people.

According to Secretary of State Richard H. Austin, a computer program to measure a random sampling of the 176,483 signatures filed with the Department of State has been written. A total of 300 petitions were selected to be checked against local elections records.

The computer program was written by the Department of State's data processing center from guidelines provided by the Michigan State University of Statistics and Probability and was authenticated by the University of Michigan statistics department.

Both university groups indicated that the sampling method would bring about accurate counts of the number of valid signatures.

The preliminary check of the signatures revealed that 166,681 appeared to be valid, based on the face of the petition. To determine the percentage of registered voters include among these signatures, the Board of State Canvassers ordered a random check of 300 of the 13,069 petitions against the files of local clerks.

To place the proposal on the ballot in the Fall of 1974, a total of 132,890 valid signatures are necessary.

What causes schizophrenia?

By Jose J. Llinas, MD
Director of Community Mental Health Clinic,
Eaton and Ingham

While the term "schizophrenia" was not used until the early 20th century, the disorder has existed throughout history.

In times past, and even now in some places, man has looked at peculiar behavior and considered it a sign of magical powers (as in medicine men), or possession by the devil (as in the witches of Salem).

Today, most psychiatrists think of schizophrenia as a treatable medical illness.

In our western society, "madness" or "insanity" was not regarded as a responsibility of medicine until the early 19th century.

At that time, a movement to offer more humane treatment to the mentally ill made it possible for them to receive scientific medical treatment, according to the knowledge of the day, which was of course very limited.

The insane were unchained, released from prison, and accorded decent care.

Several categories of mental disease were identified, among them a type of disorder which effected young people, and made them to slowly but inexorably "lose their minds". This disease was called at first "dementia praecox", or early insanity.

In 1911, the Swiss Psychiatrist Dr. Eugene Bleuler, who had a sister seriously ill with the disorder, first used the term "the group of schizophrenias".

Just as man's personality is the result of an interplay of cultural, psychological, biological and genetic factors, a disorganization of personality (in other words, schizophrenia) may result from an interplay of the same factors.

Scientists do not agree on a specific formula which is necessary to produce the disorder.

No "bad" gene has been found; no abnormal chemical has been detected; no one stressful event (such as a death in the family) seems sufficient, by itself, to produce such a shattering disorder as schizophrenia.

But scientists do agree that it is most likely that combinations of these factors produce schizophrenia.

The scientific understanding of the condition is painfully slow, and as in all other complicated problems, for a while yet even the results of the most careful researchers tend to contradict each other.

For instance, as close as 10 years ago, it was believed that schizophrenia had a very strong hereditary basis. Over the last decade, however, increasingly sophisticated investigations in twins and adoptive children have led to a reassessment of the role of genetics in schizophrenia.

Most scientists agree that schizophrenia itself is not inherited. Rather, what may be inherited is a predisposition to the disorder, an inherited potential.

There is also wide agreement that a child's experience in his family plays a major role in the development of his personality.

Most parents have noted traits in their children which resemble their own characteristics, such as a child's sense of humor or temperament. This resemblance has been shown to depend on more than heredity. Imitation, modeling and identification with certain aspects of one or both parents have a powerful influence on personality development.

Parents do not intentionally or maliciously influence a child to become deviant. However, it is generally agreed that environment, family, peers and school — all can contribute to the development of the illness.

Hospitalization, particularly in the psychiatric wing of a general hospital, to give the patient a chance to bring his acute symptoms under control, is very useful. Other patients can benefit from partial hospitalization (day or night care), from occupational and recreational therapy, or from living in a half-way house, designed to bridge the gap between the hospital and life out in the community.

Finally, the best advice in aiding patients is not to be concerned about "schizophrenia" itself. Rather, concern is due any person who appears seriously troubled, in whatever ways difficultly is shown. Good professional advice should be sought for him — not because he might be schizophrenia, but because he needs help.

Outdoor cooking

When planning that 4th of July cookout try some of these ideas: A barbeque can add fun and variety to other summer meals too, for the most success, exercise a lot of patience and close watching.

Practically any food you cook inside your home can be cooked outdoors. Wherever you choose to prepare the food, it takes about the same length of time to cook.

Here are several helpful ideas for Barbeque. Start the charcoal 45 minutes before you want to begin cooking. If flames are visible, the coals are too hot. They should be evenly gray to ensure equal distribution of heat.

If you have an adjustable grill, start the meat far away from the heat to keep the fat from melting and starting a fire. Also, high heat will toughen any piece of meat.

If steaks are on your menu, thicker cuts are better because they don't dry out and become tough as easily as thin cuts. To prevent steaks from curling, slash

Peak vehicle sales spur title records

LANSING -- Booming motor vehicle sales in Michigan are shattering title records, according to figures released by Secretary of State Richard H. Austin.

As a matter of fact says Austin, "The records show that during 1973, each month since January has produced higher sales than the same month in any previous year."

He noted that the record for largest volume of titles received in his office in any single month has already been broken twice since the start of the year.

Austin reported, "That record was topped first in March, 1973 -- when the total rose to 288,566. Then, this new record was immediately broken by the volume for the following month. April produced an all-time high of 318,342. The old record has been established in April of 1971 -- when the total was 281,375."

The title volume reflects sales of both new and previously owned vehicles, some of which actually may have been purchased for use in another state. The sale of Michigan license plates is also increasing along with the rapid upward surge of titles. Austin commented, "License plate sales have already exceeded last year's totals at this time, by almost a quarter of a million. As of April 30, 1973 plate sales had reached 5,232,059."

Garden safety - a must

By WILLIAM LASHER
Extension Agriculture Agent

An untimely accident can take all the joy out of gardening.

The four biggest hazards are carelessness, hurrying, overwork, and ignorance.

A good way to eliminate hazards is to pick up after yourself. Rather than leaving garden tools laying on the ground, store them in a wheelbarrow, cart or shed. In addition to preventing falls; time will not be wasted in looking for mislaid tools.

If you are making lines for a planting row with string and stakes, stretch the line, mark the row in the earth, and remove the string immediately. If you decide to leave the string up, the strips of cloth at regular intervals to increase the visibility.

Carrying bulky loads can prevent the gardener from seeing and can cause falls. Carry all bulky loads to one side so you can see where you are going.

Be on the lookout for holes in the ground, even shallow ones. Don't forget to look when you are stepping backward -- there may be a hole behind you.

Lifting buckets of solutions, sacks of fertilizer, and bushels of compost can strain muscles and connective tissues. Bend your legs as you reach down for the load, so the strain will be placed on the leg muscles rather than on the abdominal and back muscles.

A two-wheeled cart that tilts down to let you nudge your load into it is better than a wheelbarrow. If you do use a wheelbarrow, be sure to put the bulk of the load directly over the wheel. Even the least dangerous pesticide can irritate the skin and sinuses. Skin-pesticide contact is dangerous and should be washed immediately with a gentle stream of water for several minutes.

Always keep pesticides in their original containers and out of children's reach. Before using a pesticide, read the label thoroughly -- it will carry some warnings as to use.

Keep a set of measuring spoons just for measuring pesticides. When spraying or dusting, wear long sleeves and gloves and possibly even goggles. After spraying, wash face and hands well with soap and water and wash clothing in hot soapy water.

If you cultivate good safety practices this year, gardening will prove pleasurable.

STAKING TOMATOES: IS IT A GOOD IDEA?

The next time you consider staking tomatoes, think about the possibility of having fruit that is smaller and scalded.

Many urban gardeners stake tomatoes because they want to get more plants per square foot. Although the practice does save space, some problems may arise. Staked tomatoes lose their bottom foliage and sometimes the foliage around the fruit. This could result in scalded or "sunburned" fruit.

Also, when the tomato plant is staked the fruit production is decreased because one root system has to support the entire plant. If the plant is allowed to grow on the ground, suckers will open root and supply additional nutrients and moisture to the plant and its fruits.

Research has proved that unstaked tomato plants will supply as much as 10 pounds more fruit per plant than staked plants.

Auto Club sees Wednesday July 4 "historically dangerous"

This year's midweek Fourth of July holiday could well be the most dangerous of any in recent history with an estimated 3.2 million motorists expected to drive 22.5 million miles over the 30-hour period, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Despite the shortness of this holiday, a combination of many motorists driving near home and others rushing to resort spots could cause traffic fatalities to soar this July Fourth," said Fred Rehm, Auto Club general manager.

"The first danger - near-home driving - is confirmed by State Police statistics which show that roughly two out of every three fatal accidents over the last five years have occurred within 25 miles of the victims' homes," Rehm said.

He noted that with the average motorist expected to drive only about 90 miles during the July Fourth holiday, a potentially lethal situation could develop since many drivers tend to be more relaxed and less conscious of traffic safety when traveling in familiar surroundings.

"Secondly, we anticipate many motorists taking their families to a resort or camping area the weekend before the Fourth and then returning to work that Monday and Tuesday," Rehm explained. "Tuesday night they will set out to rejoin their families for the Fourth, and possibly they will be less alert than they should be due to work fatigue and eagerness to reach their destination."

Rehm pointed out that this dangerous after-work rush situation is considered by Auto Club as a main reason why last year, when July Fourth fell on a Tuesday, highway deaths reached a record 47 during the 102-hour holiday period.

This year's July Fourth holiday officially begins at 6 p.m. Tuesday, July 3, and ends midnight Wednesday, July 4. Extremely heavy traffic volumes are not expected, as usual, over this holiday due to its short duration. Peak travel times will probably be in the morning and from late afternoon to early evening on Wednesday.

"Since many persons will probably be taking extra time off from work either before or after the Fourth, we do expect higher than normal traffic volumes over a 10-day period from Friday, June 29, to Sunday, July 8," Rehm said.

He emphasized that fears of possible gas shortages should not deter any motorist from traveling during the July Fourth holiday.

"WHILE THERE are several service stations that are reducing their opening hours or limiting purchases to conserve fuel supplies, we are not aware of any motorist being stranded as a result of not finding gas," Rehm said.

Rehm added that false alarm over gas shortages has been cited as a main cause behind an estimated 10 per cent drop in tourism in the Upper Peninsula, as well as a five percent decrease in Mackinac Bridge crossings during the first two weeks in June.

"This is an unfortunate situation," he noted, "because of all the sections of the state, the Upper Peninsula is probably in the best shape fuel-wise. Many U.P. stations are operating with an excess of gasoline due to this summer's decline in tourism."

Rehm said motorists could minimize any inconveniences in finding gas this July Fourth by taking these two precautions: stop for gas when fuel tanks are half empty, and fill tanks during daylight hours to avoid searching for an open station at night.

In terms of highway safety, Auto Club notes that these four factors could help reduce traffic deaths over the 30-hour July Fourth holiday:

1. An estimated 15 to 20 percent more State Police officers will be on duty than on a normal Tuesday and Wednesday. Police will concentrate, on patrolling high-accident areas and easing traffic tie-ups.

2. Auto Club's "Bring 'Em Back Alive!" Holiday News Service will broadcast highway information hourly from 3 pm Tuesday to 11 pm Wednesday to more than 130 Michigan radio and TV stations. Reports will include traffic conditions, congested areas to avoid, available motel and camping space, the gasoline supply situation and safety tips to keep drivers alert.

3. Motorists are urged to concentrate on safe driving, especially by wearing their safety belts at all times and by avoiding alcohol. By taking these two latter precautions, highway travelers could help cut fatal accidents by more than 50 percent, Auto Club estimates.

4. REACT and other civic groups will be providing free coffee and safety information for holiday travelers at seven freeway rest areas. The locations are:

• Eastbound I-94, south of Battle Creek, near Helmer Road, from 6 pm to 6 am July 3-4 and from 6 pm to 6 am July 4-5.

• Eastbound I-94, west of Jackson, near the Deering exit, from 8 am to 8 pm July 4.

• I-94 in Port Huron, Water Street exit, all day July 4.

• Northbound US-131, south of Kalamazoo near Portage, from 7 am to 10 pm on June 30 and July 1 and 4.

• US-131, north of Paris, Manchester Roadside Park, all day July 3-4.

• Eastbound I-96, west of Lansing near Grand Ledge exit, from 4 pm to 3 am June 29 and from noon to midnight July 3-4.

• Westbound I-96, southeast of Lansing near Okemos exit, from 4 pm to 3 am June 29 and from noon to midnight July 3-4.

As over the Memorial Day weekend, the state's worst traffic trouble spot this July Fourth will probably be on I-75 around Flint due to a 21-mile-long road-widening project between the I-75-US-23 merging point and Birch Run.

WHILE WORK in that area is suspended on weekends and will be stopped from 2 pm, Tuesday, July 3, to Thursday morning, July 5, traffic at peak travel times is expected to slow down considerably around Flint because of the close proximity of construction equipment and ditches.

Shippers using the Zilwaukee Bridge, which carries I-75 over the Saginaw River near Saginaw, have agreed to curtail bridge use during peak travel times from Friday, June 29, to Sunday, July 8. Bridge openings will be eliminated on July 3 from 4 pm to 9 pm and from 3 pm to 10 pm on July 4.

As usual, the State Highway Department has ordered all road construction stopped throughout the state from 5 pm Tuesday, July 3, to Thursday morning, July 5.

Food A series explaining "how much" and why. This week - - Egg, poultry prices rise with feed costs

Rising feed costs are a major factor in supply and price projections for eggs, broilers and turkeys throughout the coming year, according to Michigan State University Agricultural Economist Henry Larzelere.

Low egg prices in 1971-72 led to a 6 percent drop in layer numbers between March 1, 1972 and March 1, 1973, and egg production also dropped 6 percent. At the same time, feed costs rose 44 percent.

These factors combined to cut back an expected 10 percent increase in the February 1973 hatch to 2-1/2 percent.

New York wholesale prices for large eggs in the 12-month period ending April 1, 1973, are expected to average 47 to 48 cents - 8 cents over the same period a year earlier. However, a rise to September feed costs will rise an estimated 7-1/2 percent.

From October to March 1974, the feed cost may average 5 cents a dozen less than a year earlier.

Based on these costs, retail egg prices between now and March 1974 will average the low to mid sixties.

Wholesale prices are expected to reach an average 50 cents in the October to December quarter - a 7 percent increase over that quarter in 1972.

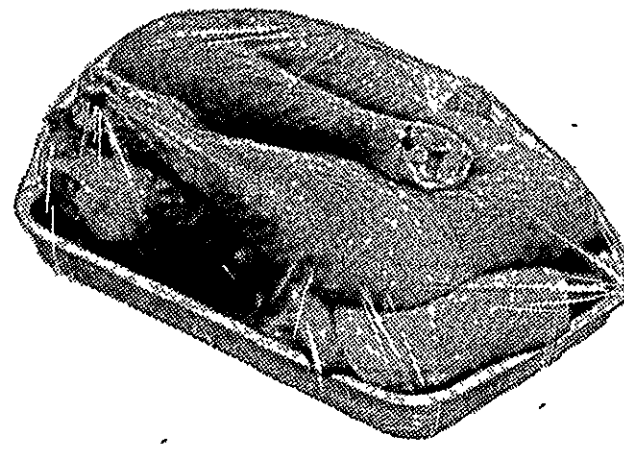

The hatch of egg-type chicks this year will be from 6 to 8 percent above 1972. Egg production forecasts show a 4 to 5 percent drop in the second quarter of this year compared to a year ago and a rise to 1 percent higher in the first quarter of 1974 over the corresponding quarter of 1973.

April 1973 broiler prices showed a sharp increase from 26 cents to the low 40s over those of a year earlier.

Turkey producers will pay 6 cents more per pound of meat for feed costs during the main 1973 feeding period than in the same period a year ago. New York wholesale hen turkey prices (8 to 16 pounds, ready-to-cook) are expected to average 50 cents per pound in the third quarter of 1973, about 15 cents up from July-September 1972. Young toms will average 48 cents, or 15 cents higher than a year earlier. In the final quarter of 1973, both hens and toms will likely be 50 cents, or 11 cents above the fourth quarter of 1972.

The MSU economist sees a 3 to 4 percent drop in turkey slaughter during the last half of 1973, with total turkey supplies in the third and fourth quarters to be about 4 percent down from the year earlier. A continued strong demand throughout 1973 is forecast.

Broiler egg settings were down 2 percent in May. Despite increased demand caused by higher red meat prices, a predicted 2-1/2 percent increase in marketing for the first quarter of 1973 turned into a 2 percent drop. Higher and uncertain feed costs are blamed. Look for ice-packed whole broilers to retail around 50 cents a pound during the summer of 1973, the economist says.

Robert Russell, State Jail Inspector, and Sheriff Hufnagel appeared. Mr. Russell noted that some of his requests relative to the jail requirements have been complied with while some still remain to be made. In the discussion which followed, he reviewed these items step by step. The major problem appears to be lack of required cell space upstairs or dormitory housing. Adequate storage space is another problem, while drive-in garage security is also inadequate. Inmate all purpose or meeting room is also a requirement. While an attorney conference room is another. Guard walks are too narrow. Mr. Russell states that he does not wish to fault or criticize the present jail building. However conditions have changed very drastically during the last 25 years. He urges that consideration be given to providing space for growth and future expansion in planning any jail facilities for the county.

On regional jail facilities this is presently permissible but can present problems such as who will build, operate and on what basis will it be financed. RE: To a time limitation as to compliance to requirements. Mr. Russell states that the correction dept. wish to offer help and cooperation in solving the problem. However, they seek cooperation and reasonable effort on the county's part also.

Federal Funds are presently available for planning purposes only but not for construction.

Estimated costs of jail construction are presently $38.00 to $42.00 per square foot.

He suggests a jail facility of 35 to 45 inmate capacity with room for future expansion and segregated (inmate classification) sections.

Chairman Shinabery expressed appreciation to Mr. Russell for his time and effort in meeting with the Board. He assured him that the jail problem will receive proper consideration.

The Board recessed at 3:15 P.M.

Upon resuming session, Commissioner Hufnagel reports a request by Zoning Dept. for permission to purchase a Cole cabinet for storing blue prints at a cost of $190.05. Committee approved the request.

Also, a request by Drain Commissioner to purchase four new tires for the station wagon at a cost of $24.01 each. The committee approved the request.

Request by County Clerk's office for a new secretarial desk and typewriter was given committee approval.

Regarding the proposal or bid by Rademacher Construction to revamp the parking space at the rear of the court house, the commissioners feel that the extra spaces gained does not justify the costs involved.

Commissioner Zeeb moved, supported by Reed, to place restricted area signs (Police only) at the south west corner and to give the Property Management Committee power to act in the matter. Voted and carried.

RE: The proposal to provide air conditioning to the Circuit Court room and to revamp the heating system. VALUABLE CASH COUPONS PROVIDE A STEADY STREAM OF WEEKLY BARGAINS

Kroger leaves no stone unturned in search of ways to help cut your food costs. Right now, you'll find many valuable cash coupons in Kroger ads. Suppliers of several of the national brands on our shelves also run money-saving coupons in their own ads in the weekly newspaper food section.

Together, these coupons provide an easy way to save many extra food dollars. $100 in annual coupon savings is a conservative figure for the average family that takes maximum advantage of coupons offers.

All you, as a shopper, have to do is clip the coupons when you make up your shopping list from the weekly ads; and redeem them for items you need. There's nothing new about cash coupons. Yet, even in today's inflationary world, many shoppers are not aware how much coupon savings can relieve the strain on their food budgets.

We hear you and we're trying to help!

What are Bonus Bargains?

When you see an "X" next to an item in Kroger's ads or stores, it means a Bonus Bargain, good for a limited time and made possible by a special purchase or a manufacturer's allowance or a favorable market condition.

THE PLACE TO LOOK

Card of Thanks 30

In loving memory of Larry Durbin who passed away 4 years ago June 22.

We lost our dear son Larry,
When he was just 14.

God said "You've had him long enough"

It's time to take him home. Up here, no one can harm him,

And protected he will be. He will be a happy boy, Our hearts are empty and lonely, And our eyes hold unshed tears.

How we still love and miss him

At the end of 4 long years. Mother and sisters, Mrs. Sandra Launstein, Linda, Tracey and Patsy Durbin. 9-1-p-31
