ST. JOHNS—It'll be a full ballot in the August 8 primary as a total of 43 persons vie for various Clinton County offices.

When a newspaper reporter leaves for work in the morning one never knows what the day's happenings will bring. Such was the case last Wednesday when Clinton County News associate editor Annette White was photographing the installation of the new mercury vapor street lights in downtown St. Johns and an invitation was extended from Consumers Power workmen to take photographs from the company's "cherry picker". This picture of Clinton Avenue was taken as the equipment rose fifty feet above ground.

State court official will talk with Judge Green

By Ken Corbett
Editor

ST. JOHNS—William R. Hart, state court administrator, says he wants to talk with Clinton County Probate Judge Timothy Green about the St. Johns attorney's new job as head of the county's Department of Public Works.

Monday Hart said he declined to comment on the matter until a meeting was arranged with Green. "It would appear there could be a possible conflict here," said Hart,

"but I want to get all the facts from Judge Green before I make any further comment."

News of Green's appointment as director of the Clinton County Department of Public Works came to light in a roundabout way last week during a break in the county commissioners regular meeting. Several of the county commissioners expressed surprise at Green's new job but Commissioner Duane Chamberlain, the board's representative on the DPW, confirmed the appointment. The DPW governing board has the statutory right to hire its own personnel. Members include Commissioner Chamberlain, Drain Commissioner Dale Chapman who has been serving as acting department head, Paul Nobis, Marvin Platte, Roy Davis and Robert Eldridge. All members are appointed to the board by county commissioners.

During the discussion among county commissioners last week, Chamberlain said Green is expected to assume the new post July 1 and continue his work as Probate Judge. This is what Hart has mentioned as the area where "conflict of interest" may enter the picture.

If the matter enters the legal arena for final solution, it will face Green with a two-pronged censorship of his activities off the bench of Probate Court. He currently is appealing a Circuit Court ruling which declared his continuation of private law practice while serving as Probate Judge was a conflict of interest. Green has reportedly agreed to abandon his private law practice when he assumes duties as director of the DPW.

Appointment of a fulltime director for the DPW has developed since the agency's creation three years ago with a growing workload of public improvement projects in Clinton County. A major project currently in the works and being handled by the DPW is a two million dollar plus sewer expansion underway in DeWitt Township. The bond sale for this project was expected to take place Tuesday.

As it stands now, Timothy Green apparently will be wearing two hats after July 1—Probate Judge and DPW Director. Whether this situation presents a conflict of interest is yet to be determined.

City outlines street repair

ST. JOHNS—The St. Johns City Commission Monday night awarded a $50,777 contract for resurfacing of city streets to Spartan Asphalt Paving Co. of Holt.

Spartan was low bidder with a price of $11.38 per ton for asphalt. Strasburg and Sons Construction Co. received a $22,553 contract for slurry-seal coating of streets with a price of 39 cents per square yard. City streets earmarked for resurfacing by the Spartan paving crews this year include: PARK ST.—from Lansing to Oakland; STEEL ST.—from Clinton to Terminus; RAILROAD ST.—from US-27 to Kibbee; LINCOLN ST.—from Mead to Spring; CLINTON AVE.—from Railroad St. to the railroad tracks; and LANSING

Rev. Francis Johannides

Names new minister at United Methodist

ST. JOHNS—Rev. Francis Carl Johannides will assume ministerial duties beginning this Sunday at the United Methodist Church in St. Johns.

Rev. Mr. Johannides comes to St. Johns from a four year pastorate at First United Methodist Church in Lansing. His Michigan pastorates include Robbins and Grovenburg Methodist Churches near Eaton Rapids; Brookside Church in Jackson; Maple Church in Battle Creek; and First Church in Sparta.

Fran, as he is known to most people, has a unique background in that his career includes a stint as missionary in Western Canada as a circuit rider—covering three churches and 30 miles of horseback every Sunday.

Rev. Johannides is a graduate of Altoona High School in Altoona, Penna., of Missionary College at Nyack, N.Y., and Taylor University at Upland, Ind., and Garrett Seminary at Evanston, Ill. He has degrees, A.B., Th.B., and B.D.

The family includes his wife, Mildred, and a daughter, Vicki, who is employed for the summer and fall at Jackson, Wyo. Another daughter, Carol, is married and living in Sparta, Mi. The oldest of the three children is David, married to the former Ruth Trothen, and having the Johannides' only grandchild, Catherine. David is administrator of the United Methodist Deaconess Hospital in Wenatchee, Wash.

Rev. Johannides and his wife, Mildred, will be commuting weekends from Lansing to care for the duties of the church until the end of July when they will move into a new parsonage just purchased by the church.

A charge conference conducted by District Superintendent, Rev. William Wiltse, approved the acquiring of a new parsonage at 1006 Hampshire Drive.

Murder arraignment adjourned

ST. JOHNS—The Circuit Court arraignment of two suspects being charged with the murder of a Round Lake store owner May 22 was adjourned Monday by Judge Leo Corkin.

The ruling for adjournment was made after defense counsel told Judge Corkin they had insufficient time to study transcripts on the preliminary examinations of their clients. No date was set for a new arraignment.

The suspects, 39-year-old Richard David Collins of Lansing and 30-year-old William Franklin Graves, are being held in Clinton County Jail at St. Johns on charges stemming from the fatal shooting of 62-year-old Ivan Hempstead.

The victim's wife, 53-year-old Marjorie Hempstead, was wounded during the holdup of the couple's gift shop located on Round Lake west of Lansing. Four separate warrants have been issued against each man on charges of first degree murder, assault with intent to murder and two counts of armed robbery.

St. Johns attorney Fred Lewis, court-appointed counsel for Collins, told Judge Corkin Monday he received a transcript of his client's preliminary examination on Friday and this did not give him sufficient time to prepare for arraignment. Court-appointed counsel for Graves, James Moore of St. Johns, told the judge he has yet to receive his client's preliminary exam transcript.

County gets damage aid

ST. JOHNS—Local officials were notified by the U.S. Office of Emergency Preparedness in Washington last week that Clinton County will receive natural disaster aid for damages suffered during the March 13 ice storm.

A spokesman for the Emergency Preparedness Division of the Michigan State Police in Lansing said the exact dollar figure each governmental unit in Clinton County will receive is still subject to audit and final figures are still unknown. The agency is responsible for handling application for the funds and will conduct disbursement through the state treasury when funds are received.

A breakdown of various Clinton County governmental units and the damage reimbursement applied for includes: St. Johns — $1,080.92; city of DeWitt — $1,205.81; Clinton County Road Commission — $3,712; Bath Township — $409; DeWitt Township — $519; Victor Township — $200; and the village of Eagle — $334.

The grant total applied for is $7,459.73 and officials at the Michigan State Police's Emergency Preparedness Division report it may be another week or longer before an exact figure is available on federal aid approved.

Holiday schedule

Due to the upcoming 4th of July holiday all advertising copy must be in the office of the Clinton County News by Friday, June 30 at 5 p.m.

Copies of the paper will be on the newsstands late Monday evening. Mail subscribers will receive their issues on Wednesday as usual.

The long awaited new mercury vapor lights are in the process of being installed this week in the downtown area of St. Johns. Due to a Consumers Powers strike last year the installation of the new lighting system was delayed.

St. Johns woman wins essay contest

By ANNETTE WHITE
Associate Editor

ST. JOHNS—A member of the St. Johns Woman's Club took top honors recently for authoring the winning essay placed in state competition at the convention of the Michigan Federation of Women's Clubs which was held in Lansing.

Winning the contest was Mrs. Loretta Escher who submitted the essay entitled "My Faith in America."

Mrs. Escher has been an active member of the St. Johns organization for the past two years and has held the office of recording secretary and is presently the club's corresponding secretary. She also has served as Civic Improvement chairman.

Born and raised in Washington D.C., she entered George Washington University on a scholarship to pursue studies in pre-medicine and later switched to pre-chemistry as she had become interested in pathological research. Because of a love for writing she ended up earning a degree in journalism.

While in college she became employed at the Naval Research Laboratory working in the Vanguard program before its affiliation with the space program.

Her first duties at NRL were in the secretarial line, however, later she moved into the position of a mathematics aide, writing reports, statistics work and data recording. Nearing her degree, she became involved in technical, editing and writing.

After graduation she was transferred to Cape Canaveral, Fla. on loan from the company to work as a field editor and writer. Her duties included recording statistic activities of rocket launches.

While in Florida she met and married her husband, William, who at the time was in charge of operations and a count-down man for Project Vanguard.

Mrs. Escher stated that they were married in-between count downs and their wedding was planned around the launch of Test Vehicle-4.

She returned to Washington D.C. when her husband was sent to work in the Vanguard office there. They later moved to Cleveland where he went to work for NACA before it was changed to NASA. He left his position there and went to the Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala. later leaving government work to enter private industry in California.

The couple has been in St. Johns for the past two years and reside in a home at 506 S. Clinton Ave. which was built by her husband's grandfather. Her husband is now self-employed as a consulting engineer specializing in space technology which he is applying to the present power crisis.

While living in California, Mrs. Escher became interested in creative dynamics which she took up at a California Community Center. She started teaching a modern dance program at a nursery school there and since she has been in St. Johns she had donated her time giving instructions on an elementary level at Central School.

A lady with a variety of interests, her next endeavor may include the writing of a book depicting interpretations of woman's role in the family.

Mrs. Escher and husband are the parents of four children, Melanie, 13; Daric, 11; Justin, age eight and Lauryn, six.

Printed below is the winning essay written by Mrs. Escher.

MY FAITH IN AMERICA by Loretta M. Escher

To have faith in America is more than having faith in a form of government, in a piece of land with its resources, or even in a people.

America, in its newness, just approaching 200 years, with frontier settlement having filled at least half of its history, has been a place for reshaping and amalgamating the values of an entire world. Unshackled by the traditions of the past, people of many heritages could come together and blend to formulate new attitudes for all mankind.

"I have sworn upon the altar of God eternal hostility against every form of tyranny over the mind of man." These words of Thomas Jefferson, inscribed inside the rotunda of his Memorial in Washington, D.C., express the passion of the dream of self-determination and freedom that brought many to American shores.

American is the living attempt to demonstrate a concept, a dream born from painful history of mankind. In its own tumultuous history, America has struggled throughout for this concept that everybody is important; that the fellow at the bottom of the heap counts just as much as the one with the silver spoon, and shouldn't have any less human rights or privileges in society.

I feel that the fact that America "happened" in 1776, grew from within and without to become a "melting pot" of many kinds of people, and took its eventual stand for freedom in world affairs has made it an inspiration for many other nations of the world. From the attempted League of Nations to the existing United Nations, a valuable step forward in worldwide understanding and cooperation has been made. Would there be a U.N. today without America? This was a place for which the tired Western World could make a fresh start.

Before the entrance to the National Archives Building in Washington, D.C. is a statue of a Greek woman seated in her simple flowing garment and a tablet with the words, "What is past is prologue." History records democracy's birth in Greece; nature recorded it in the first willful flicker of existence called "life."

Rome contributed the republican form of government and Roman law. England's parliament became the model for many governments and set the standards for civilized group discourse. The founders of America as a nation took this prologue well into mind when they modeled the plan for our government. Armed with the knowledge of the past, they dared to try to be better.

What America stands for—"freedom and justice for all"—belongs to all men. We've been working on living up to that principle here for almost 200 years—in full view of the world—successes, blunders, and all.

Modern-day attitudes discourage the emotions of the patriot—flag-waving, tears in the eye during the playing of The Star-Spangled Banner. A little sophistication, economic and educational progress have produced the cynic, one who can see only "what's wrong" with our country. The hard-earned by good has slipped into devaluated obscurity. We forget what life was like only 100 years ago; how "tough" life really was for our forbears. How bitter was their struggle to gain the "human progress" we now take for granted. Yes, many find life unbearable today, too, and we have a lot of problems to solve to insure that dream of freedom and justice for a lot of our own people. But we are still trying...

Then, too, symbols like the Flag and the Statue of Liberty sometimes become a bit worn and lose their meaning to people for a time because of overuse—just as does a popular song. But when the basic idea, theme behind them is good, they come back—again, again and again.

Yes, I have faith in America because I do believe in what it stands for. I believe that the very nature of life shouts its principles: "I am, I count!" Every time we have a Greece, a Rome, an England, an America, these principles have a new birth, another chance to add yet more dimension to the inherent possibilities of mankind. The torch of freedom burns somewhere in the blood of all men. Our country "just happened" at a time in history when this symbol could be displayed to the world: "Give me your tired and your weary." The freedom-loving French honored our young nation greatly when they gave us the Statue of Liberty. May we humbly cherish that honor as a service to be lived up to throughout the life of America.

Hearing set on Interstate 69

LANSING -- Location and design alternatives for proposed Interstate 69 Freeway around the northwest quadrant of Lansing will be discussed at a public hearing July 26 in DeWitt, according to the Department of State Highways.

The 8 p.m. hearing at DeWitt High School, 2957 W. Herbison Rd., will be conducted by G. Robert Adams, Department public hearings engineer.

All three alternate alignments are between Interstate 96 Freeway in the vicinity of N. Grand River Avenue northwest of Lansing, and US-27 north of Lansing. They vary in length from 8.5 miles to 10.6 miles; and in estimated cost from $15.7 million to $17.2 million.

The alignment preferred by the Highway Department's Transportation Planning Division (Alternate B-1 on accompanying map) is the shortest of the three at 8.5 miles, but also the costliest at $17.2 million.

This preferred alignment begins at I-96 with an interchange at N. Grand River Avenue and proceeds northeasterly through the present intersection of Stoll and Lowell Roads. It then turns easterly between Clark and Stoll Roads before turning northerly across Clark Road just west of DeWitt Road. It then goes directly east to interchange with US-27 between Clark and Herbison Roads.

The preferred alignment would have interchanges with I-96, Airport Road, DeWitt Road and US-27. Grade separations would be built at Lowell, Clark and Turner Roads. Stoll Road would be closed at the freeway with new service roads connecting it with Lowell Road. A portion of Francis Road also would be closed and relocated with a structure to carry the relocated road over I-69.

The minimum right-of-way width would be 418 feet and would include two-lane roadways separated by a variable median of a minimum of 118 feet.

A previous public hearing was held in June, 1969, at Bath on corridor alternatives for the proposed freeway.

As part of the Interstate system, I-69 will run from Indianapolis, Ind., north around Lansing and then easterly to Flint. There, it will connect with M-21 Freeway which will extend to the Canadian border at Port Huron.

In Michigan, I-69 already is open from the Indiana border to south of Olivet. The nine-mile section from Olivet to a newly opened by-pass at Charlotte is expected to be open about Labor Day.

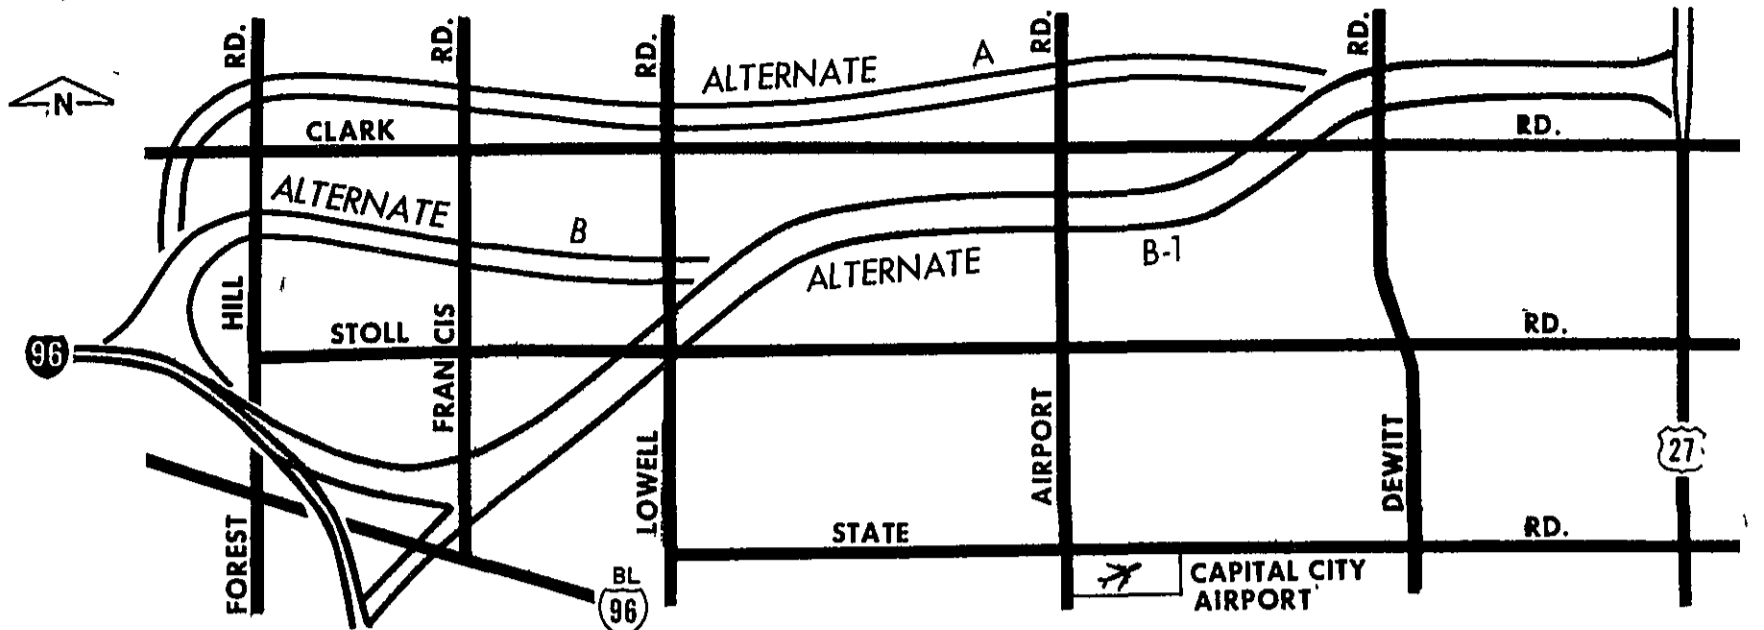

The corridor for the section southwest of Lansing has not yet been selected. The corridor for the section from US-27, north of Lansing, to M-78 east of Perry has been selected and approved. A public hearing on the alignment location and design of that section from US-27 to Perry is expected to be held this fall.

A description of the three alternatives to be discussed at the July 26 public hearing, including maps and other pertinent information, are now available for public inspection and copying at the DeWitt Township Office, 780 Wieland Rd., and also at the Watertown Township Hall on Clark Road at Francis Road.

Information concerning the Highway Department's relocation assistance program and tentative schedules for right-of-way acquisition and construction will be presented at the public hearing. Testimony will be taken from interested persons regarding the social, environmental and economic impact of the proposed alternatives.

As an additional service to assist in understanding the proposed alternatives, Highway Department representatives will be available for consultation at the DeWitt Township Office on Wednesday, July 19, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., and 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.; and in the Watertown Township Hall on Thursday, July 20, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., and 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Written statements and exhibits in place of or addition to statements made at the public hearing may be submitted up to 15 days following the public hearing. They should be submitted to G. Robert Adams, Public Hearings Engineer, Michigan Department of State Highways, Post Office Drawer K, Lansing, Mich. 48904.

Clinton Commissioners reject bids on radio communication

ST. JOHNS--Highlighting the Clinton County Commissioners meeting last week were two major decisions -- one to reject all bids submitted for a new radio communications system and the other to keep courthouse offices open Monday, July 3.

Motorola and RCA were the two bidders for the radio system which will be purchased by the county under a federal program. Clinton County Prosecutor Jon Newman had ruled the RCA bid was invalid after the company failed to meet six bid requirements.

The RCA bid failed to include the required ten per cent bid check; a certificate of liability insurance; a system diagram; a large photograph and panel layouts of the communications control center; and nine required proof of performance letters.

In his written opinion to commissioners, Newman said acceptance of the RCA bid could lead to the following consequences: (1) A suit by the next lowest bidder against the county for damages based upon wrongful acceptance of this bid. (2) Withdrawal of federal matching funds for the project. (3) A taxpayer's suit against the county commissioners personally based upon a breach of public trust.

The RCA bid was for $108,000 and the Motorola bid was about $120,000. At this point in the discussion, RCA district manager Ray Crouse spoke before the commissioners and made a point-by-point rebuttal to Newman's legal opinion.

"The bid specifications weren't open in any sense of the word," said Crouse. "because they were prepared entirely by a competitive manufacturer (Motorola)."

Crouse also explained the ten per cent bid check was mailed separately and apparently never arrived. He said an RCA representative had unsuccessfully attempted to deliver the check in person to the county clerk's office since that time.

"We feel RCA provided you with a responsive bid," Crouse told the commissioners, "and we've offered our assistance in preparing specifications all firms could bid on." He added that "I'm talking about $16,000 of taxpayers money not when the bid check was delivered", in reference to the difference between the two bid figures.

Commissioner Robert Dittmer moved all bids be rejected and advertisement for new bids be made. "I cannot see giving a $100,000 plus contract out on just one bid," Dittmer said. The motion passed 7-2 with Commissioners Duane Chamberlain and Gerald Lankford absent when the vote was taken. Commissioners Gerald Shepherd and Walter Nobis cast the dissenting ballots.

In the vote on whether or not to close courthouse offices on Monday, July 3, in observance of Independence Day, the motion gained a 5-4 approval but failed to be adopted when Chairman Shepherd pointed out a two-thirds majority is needed. Favoring the motion were Commissioners Shinabery, Nobis, Hufnagel, Montgomery and Shepherd. Dissenting votes were cast by Commissioners Dittmer, Gove, Underhill and Andrews. The final decision reached was that courthouse offices will be open on Monday, July 3, and closed on Tuesday, July 4.

A letter from St. Johns Area Chamber of Commerce President Rollin Huard requesting $550 to help pay for Christmas decorations near the courthouse was given to the appropriations committee for action.

Accepted a bid of $5,000 from Searles, Excavating of St. Johns for construction of a vault on the southside of the Social Services Buildings for use by the Drain Commissioner and Department of Public Works. Searles was the lowest of two bidders. August of this year was set as completion date for the work.

Commissioners approved the charter bylaws of Lansing Tri-County Manpower Area Planning Council. The agency is completely federally funded and works toward obtaining jobs for the unemployed in Lansing and the counties of Clinton, Eaton and Ingham. ## Dale Warner seeks another House term

State Representative Dale Warner (R-Eaton Rapids) today announced officially that he is a candidate for reelection to the Michigan House of Representatives. Warner, completing his sixth year in the House, filed for reelection last week.

Under the legislative plan recently approved by the Supreme Court, Warner's 56th Legislative District received some changes. The new district includes all of Eaton County and portions of Clinton and Ionia Counties.

The 31-year-old Warner gains Eagle and Watertown Townships in Clinton County, and the townships of Odessa, Sebawa, Danby, Portland, Orange, and part of Campbell Township in Ionia County and the city of Portland and the village of Lake Odessa.

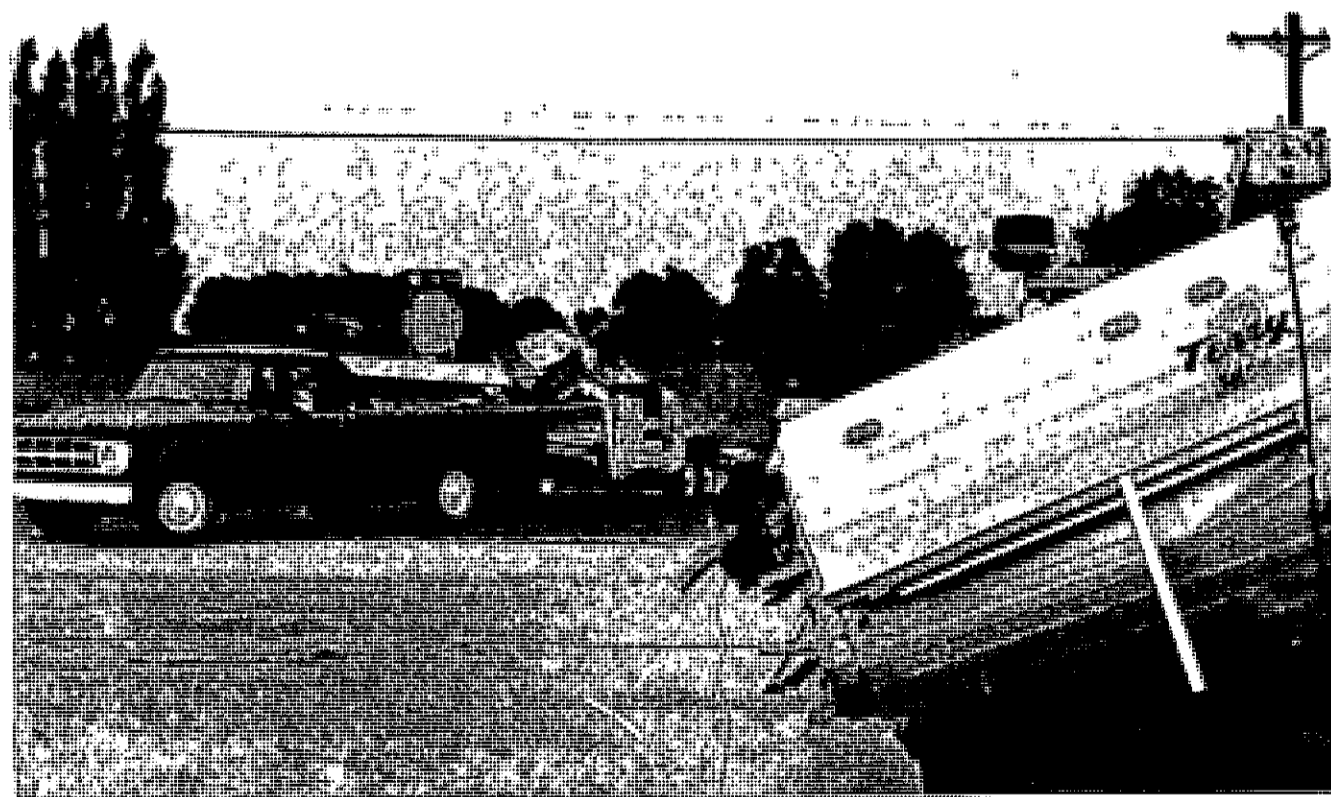

Under the re-districting plan he loses Clarence, Fredonia, Lee, Marengo, Marshall, and Sheridan Townships in Calhoun County and the cities of Marshall and Albion.

"I have decided to seek a fourth term in the Michigan House of Representatives, frankly, because I feel that the decisions about the critical issues affecting the citizens of the 56th District and the state of Michigan must be made from a position of experience," Warner said.

Representative Warner is an attorney, receiving his law degree from the University of Michigan. He is also a graduate of Michigan State University and Eaton Rapids High School. He is a member of the Baptist Church and has held a number of responsible positions in Republican organizations in the 56th District, including serving as a member of the Eaton County Republican Executive Committee.

Trailer is a total loss, drivers suffer no injury

Camper trailer is hauled away in pieces

ST. JOHNS--Lawrence M. Atkinson of Mt. Pleasant saw his brand new camper trailer hauled away in pieces Monday morning after a truck slammed into the back of it at the Marshall Rd. intersection on US-27 north of St. Johns.

The 55-year-old Mt. Pleasant man was returning the trailer to a Lansing manufacturer to have the refrigeration unit checked when the mishap occurred at 8:05 a.m. Monday. Neither Atkinson nor the two men riding in the truck were injured.

Clinton County Sheriff's Deputy Larry Floate called the St. Johns Fire Department to wash gasoline off the highway. It took two trailers and a wrecker to haul away the twisted remains of Atkinson's camper.

Driver of the truck, 21-year-old Douglas F. Mort of Poland, Ohio, was cited for failure to have his vehicle under control. Mort told Deputy Floate he "apparently dozed off" and failed to see the trailer until it was too late.

Twelve candidates seek DeWitt posts

DeWITT--Twelve candidates will appear on the August 8 primary ballot in DeWitt Township.

The township supervisor post is being sought by Gary Banfield, a Democrat, and Dale S. Emerson, a Republican. No other candidates have filed so the two men will oppose each other in the November general election. Present DeWitt Township Supervisor Milton King is not seeking another term but has decided to run for the 88th District Michigan House of Representatives seat.

Incumbent Clerk Donna B. Syverson, a Republican, is pitted against fellow party member Patricia K. North while Democrat Shirley May Merlington is unopposed in a bid for her party's nomination.

No Democrats have filed for township treasurer but Oliver S. Angell and Joyce M. Whitlock are vying for the Republican nomination.

Group elects new officers

ST. JOHNS--The Clinton Concerned Citizens Inc. elected new officers at a meeting held Tuesday, June 20 in the Central National Bank Community Room.

Mrs. Sharon Reha was named president of the non-profit corporation and Arthur Wainwright was elected first vice-president. Other new officers include: Ted Lewis, second vice-president; Jesse Jones, secretary; and Joan Swanchara, treasurer.

The business meeting focused on a discussion and modification of corporation bylaws. Annual dues of one dollar were established and membership is open to all Clinton County residents.

Also discussed during the meeting was the possible means of setting up a scholarship for local youngsters to attend medical school. No definite action was taken on this matter.

Phillip Mustaine is the only Democrat running for the office of trustee. On the Republican side, incumbent Theodore Powell is opposed by newcomers Eileen M. Corr, Joel L. Feltenberger and Jack D. Kzeski, Jr.

Counties plan US27 meeting

ST. JOHNS--The possibility of US27 becoming a limited access freeway from Lansing to Ithaca is expected to be the major topic of discussion July 26 when officials from Clinton and Gratiot County meet with Michigan State Highway Commission officials.

The 7 p.m. meeting will be held in the Circuit Court at the Gratiot County Courthouse in Ithaca.

Charles Brooks, district engineer for the Michigan State Highway Commission and a major planner of the meeting, said last week "there are no plans to improve US27 because there's no money." However, he added "appropriations for such work is contained in the transportation package bill now pending in the state legislature."

Keynote speaker for the July meeting will be Donald Rush, an engineer of programming for the Michigan State Highway Commission. Invited to the session are county commissioners, township officers, city officials, road commissioners and law enforcement officers from both counties.

King seeks state office

Milton J. King is a Democrat candidate for state representative from the 88th district.

The 48-year-old DeWitt Township supervisor is on leave from Oldsmobile with 23 years of service and is a member of U.A.W. local 652. He owns and operates a 90 acre farm on Chandler Road in DeWitt township and is a member of Clinton County Farm Bureau. King is married and has six children.

In Fashion

Laced up shoes are popular this season. Laces are used on sport shoes and also on some of the wedges. Feet seem to swell in hot weather and a slightly larger shoe can be worn in summer as the toes can be tightened or loosened as need be.

One of the new sweaters is very long—about halfway to the knees with patch pockets and a belt. This style is effective with a pleated skirt.

Open Letter from VAN W. HOAG

Dear friends,

It deserves emphasis that the time, the place, the character of the funeral service, the merchandise used, the cemetery selected - these are decisions of the family of the deceased. The funeral director acts only as a representative of the family.

The clergyman should be consulted in matters that concern him before any decisions are made.

Respectfully,

The five story Owosso Hotel was recently given to John Wesley-Owosso College as a gift. Free and clear. We are converting it into a modest-sized Conference Center much like the popular Kellogg Center at Michigan State University.

Our costs for this conversion, including refurbishing, the 43,000 square foot facility, will run approximately $300,000.00.

We are raising the money for this project by borrowing funds directly from our many supporters and friends who are interested in John Wesley-Owosso College - and in receiving a full 9% per year on their money.

Your investment is guaranteed by the College, and interest payments and note redemptions will be made from a Sinking Fund into which all revenues from the building are currently being placed. You will be issued a short-term note, (90 days on demand) but you may leave your money invested for longer periods if you wish.

It's a good investment and a worthwhile cause. Interested? Fill out the coupon and we'll forward all information to you immediately on how your money can go to college and earn 9% a year at one and the same time

Farm payments released

The U.S. Department of Agriculture will begin releasing 1972 farm program payments after July 1. This announcement was made by William Vanderbeek, Member of the Michigan State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Mr. Vanderbeek noted that over 71,000 Michigan farmers are enrolled in the 1972 program. These producers had indicated intentions to set aside about 850,000 acres from crop production this year. Payments will be made only to those producers who fulfill their intentions.

To qualify for 1972 payments, those farmers who enrolled by the March 10 deadline, have only until June 30 to notify their respective County ASCS office that they have complied with all program requirements. Last year thousands of dollars were lost when program participants failed to contact their ASCS offices and furnish the necessary report of compliance by the deadline.

Twenty-one per cent of the drivers involved in personal injury accidents are women.

The earlier a producer certifies, the earlier he may expect his payment.

The information he reports is recorded on a data sheet which is then forwarded to New Orleans where the payment is actually determined by a computer. The payment drafts are then printed and returned to County ASCS offices for distribution.

Mr. Vanderbeek emphasized that these payments are to reimburse farmers for the cost of idling productive crop acres and maintaining that acreage in a satisfactory conserving manner. He also noted that even after payments are made, the farmer must continue to fulfill program requirements through the program year.

County ASCS offices, as they did in prior years, will continue to make a certain number of farm control checks to establish that program requirements have not been violated.

PROTECT OUR PARKS

What generates more enthusiasm than a skyscraper among city folk? A new park! Today city neighbors are getting together to reclaim vacant lots and turn them into community parks. But they face the same problems as national park rangers: litter and vandalism. The Pepsi-Cola Company is urging everyone to "Protect Our Parks" so our children will be able to enjoy them. Park officials estimate that 10% of every dollar goes directly to programs for people: 70% goes to maintenance. Let's help reverse these statistics.

Life would be very simple if more people were willing to be themselves.

24-year-old runs for state house seat

DAVID CROPSEY

David Cropsey, 24, 5833 W. Howe Road, DeWitt, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the Michigan House of Representatives in the 56th Legislative District.

"Excessive governmental spending and resulting high taxes, forced busing of school children, and the steady deterioration in the quality of education offered in our public schools as control of those schools has been removed farther and farther from the local communities, are my greatest concerns and will provide the essential thrust of my campaign," Cropsey said in his announcement statement.

The young candidate, who will be 25 before the Legislature convenes next year, believes that the control of education should be held in local hands, with the parents whose youngsters are enrolled in the schools and who pay the taxes that permit the schools to exist.

David Cropsey was reared on a farm in Cass County, educated in Cass County schools, and is a 1970 graduate of Bob Jones University, where he received the Strom Thurmond Award for Citizenship his senior year. He has taught math and science and coached at Heritage High in Anahelm, Calif. He was a station manager for the Haffetz Pickle Company of Eaton Rapids for four summers. He owns and operates the Cropsey Distributing Company. He is married to the former Nancy White of Anahelm, who was a classmate at Bob Jones University.

Duplain Church of Christ Sunday School held their annual picnic at the Friendship park in the Colony Sunday following church services. 120 attended and following a potluck meal at 1 p.m., games were played and the afternoon enjoyed by all.

"God's Measuring Reed" was the sermon topic Sunday morning at the Church of Christ. Revelations 11 was the scripture used and the speaker brought out the Bible as the measuring reed, the church as the temple of God, the worship of the church as the altar and the people as the worshippers to be measured. People are trying to get back to the Bible—How do you measure up to the measuring reed?, was the question asked in closing. Greeters for the day were Mrs. R. G. Bancroft and Joe Bancroft.

SELECTING SHRUBS FOR SHADY AREAS

Many kinds of shrubs are easy to grow in shady areas and require little care once established. Michigan State University scientists suggest these steps in growing shrubs in shady areas: —Start with nursery-grown stock adapted to your area. —Plant during late winter or early spring in well-prepared soil. —Maintain a mulch around them. —Water regularly.

Group plans celebration

MAPLE RAPIDS—An evening fireworks display will top off an Independence Day celebration at Rainbow Lake, July 2. The event is open to the public at no cost. An all-day chicken barbecue will be held at the lake by the sponsoring Rainbow Lake Property Owners Association, with proceeds used to help defray the cost of the fireworks.

The barbecue will begin at 11:30 a.m., following the 11 a.m. annual meeting of the association. Cost of the meal will be $1.75 for adults, and $1 for children under 12 years of age.

The celebration commemorating this nation's Declaration of Independence from its colonial ties to England is a revival of an annual event formerly sponsored by the now-defunct Junior Chamber of Commerce.

VFW Post 1735, Perrinton, will conduct a patriotic ceremony to promote Americanism. Rainbow Lake is located in Southern Gratiot County, on Luce Road between Maple Rapids and M-57.

Clinton girls learn how Boating course how to select meats planned

"Beef Cut-Out and Food Cues for You" was the theme for the Clinton County 4-H Foods members as they learned about beef during their tour June 19 to the Michigan State University Meat Laboratory and Consumer Power Company in Lansing.

In the morning the girls and leaders learned about Federal Grading and meat inspection, what are the wholesale beef cuts and retail cuts, where they come from, how you identify them and the best way to cook them for the best flavor. Paul Schurman, Manager of the MSU Meat Laboratory, was in charge of the program.

Miss Frances Lough, Senior Home Service Advisor for Consumer Power Company demonstrated different meat, vegetable and dessert recipes in the afternoon for the group. She demonstrated different cuts of beef from the expensive standing rib roast and round steak to beef tongue and ground beef. These different beef cuts were shown to the girls in the morning as to where they come from the animal. Miss Lough also demonstrated skillet potato salad, vegetable medley and strawberry angel delight for the group. Following the program the group was able to sample the different food items.

The days program provided the girls and leaders a better understanding of where beef cuts come from the animal, what to look for in grading and marbling, the quality of meat to buy and how to prepare it different ways for their meals.

The Pleasure Boating Course on marine safety sponsored by the Department of Natural Resources will be held at St. Johns High School, Room 103, July 5, 6 and 7 at 1:30 p.m.

This course is required by law for individuals between the ages of 12 and 16 prior to their operation of a motorboat of more than six-horsepower without adult supervision.

All interested individuals are urged to participate.

Hard work never kills anyone, they say, but occasionally it wears us down.

4-H PUBLIC SPEAKERS

Harry Moldenhauer and Patty Fox (center) were first place winners in the Clinton County 4-H Public Speaking. They will now advance to the district contest July 7 as representatives of Clinton County. Second place winners and alternates to district competition are Alan Cobb (left) and Debbie Thelen (right). Harry is from Elsie and his speech was entitled "Over Population of Insects". Patty of R-6, St. Johns, won the girls' division on a speech entitled "Palmistry". Alan, a resident of Elsie, spoke on "Art Forgeries in Paintings". Debbie lives on R-2, St. Johns, and her speech topic was "Teenage Run-aways".

WHY PEOPLE AFTER 30 GAIN WEIGHT

A man who weighs 154 pounds at the age of 30 and maintains constant exercise over the next 30 years, but does not reduce calorie intake will weigh over 200 pounds by the time he reaches age 60.

This startling discovery, which most middle-aged people make for themselves, emerged from an analysis of medical records of individuals seen at the Mayo Clinic for more than 30 years.

During this period of observation, their physical examinations remained normal, but their weight continued an inexorable climb upwards.

METABOLISM NOT THE CULPRIT

The study was originally undertaken to find out whether obese people are more economical in the use of calories for body metabolism (intake and output).

Is it possible that fat people tend to get more from food than their thinner brethren?

No such luck! In fact, the careful study demonstrated that the basal metabolic rate was normal even in grossly obese persons.

During exercise tests, the obese group used oxygen normally, and expelled out carbon dioxide in normal amounts, just as everyone else did. The two figures related only to the intensity of muscular work performed.

CREEPING OBESITY

Dr. Ralph A. Nelson, who did the research, stated that in 22 individuals whose weight had been normal at age 30, excess pounds gradually increased, so that by age 42, they entered the overweight classification and remained there for the next 20 years.

Because the basal metabolism (the rate at which calories are burned up inside the body) normally slows down as the person grows older, he actually needs to ingest a lesser amount of food as he gets on in years.

For instance, to keep within the normal weight curve, a man of 30 would have to reduce his calorie intake by 5%, and keep up a reasonable degree of exercise, which most of us, don't do.

EXERCISE HELPS

When a man is physically active, he burns up more calories than when he is engaged in sedentary or less strenuous activities.

This is true for obese people of all ages, including children.

It may be, however, that the same cluster of personality characteristics which make a person eat more than he needs, are also involved in making him have a less active approach to life, so that excessive eating and sedentary habits tend to usually go together.

THE OUNCE OF PREVENTION

As a person grows older, he or she needs less calories than before. A moderate amount of daily exercise contributes to increasing calorie output, and therefore counterbalances the age-related reduction in calorie requirements. In other words, if you are over 30, do less sitting in front of the table, and more standing, walking, visiting, golf playing, jogging or working around the yard.

Is lightning likely to approach nearer when you see it to the south, or in the southeast?

If you see lightning to the south or southeast, it's most likely to pass you by unharmed, in most parts of the United States. In Florida or in some deep southern states --and even in other areas, occasionally--this rule will not hold true.

The dangerous lightning storms usually come from the west, or the northwest. If you spot lightning in this direction, it would be wise to plan on its arrival and take whatever precautions are wise. This is the prevailing direction of weather and lightning storms follow the normal drift of the atmosphere.

The lightning that strikes you, by the way, will never be seen. If you see a lightning bolt, or flash, the time for fear has already passed and you can relax. There is no need to think of the next one--you won't see it, either, if it hits you.

HEALTH - HOME - BEAUTY
(Practical Hints For The Modern Woman)

By April Rhodes

Did you know the wearing of light clothes tends to repel insects, especially white and yellow? Insects are attracted to dark clothing.

Another thought for repelling insects is to avoid use of heavy perfumes while attending yard parties or cook outs. Insects, especially bees, love sweet scents.

There're lots of use for those attractive plastic containers from the grocery store which hold so many items one buys these days. They're tops for holding small bathroom articles. Also good for keeping your vanity drawers neat and orderly.

Cover vacuum bottle corks with a small square of plastic to prevent the cork from absorbing odors.

Enjoy the sun this summer. But deep tan seekers should be aware that new evidence says there's a positive link between sunlight and skin cancer.

Those who are allergic to molds should beware of molds which thrive on books, especially old books, during long spells of damp weather.

This is the clean up, paint up season. Be sure it isn't the "blow up" season by reading the container labels carefully and then follow through.

At St. Johns auction

Horses are their "mane" thing

A busy place is the office where tack man Russ Townsend settles up his day's business with Sue Grieve and Jerry Welch. Looking on at the window is Lester Clark of Leslie.

There's always a full house at the St. Johns Horse Auction, the only daytime sale of its kind in Michigan.

By Lee Peters
News Special Writer

There's been a lot of horsing around in St. Johns this spring!

The "mane" thing going on is auctioneering. . . of horses. It's at the St. Johns Horse Auction the first and third Saturday of each month.

Oldest and biggest in Michigan, the South US-27 sale has been drawing bidders for more than 30 years. Tom Reck and wife Pat bought the business four years ago.

The Recks are open daily buying and selling privately along with leasing horses to camps, stables and riding academies. They also raise registered Paint and Pinto horses on the 40 acres, which includes three pastures and their residence.

Spring brings the busy season to the local auction. It's the only daytime sale, reports Reck, who's been dealing in horses for 18 years.

Action gets underway at 11 a.m. when auctioneer Russ Eassey of Hastings takes bids on horse equipment. Called tack, it includes everything from saddles, blankets, bridles, bits, breast collars and halters to pads, lead ropes, harnesses and even a few cowboy boots. Tack man, Russ Townsend from Upland, Ind., sells $6,000 in a single day and ups his earnings to as high as $25,000 in a two-day event.

At 2 p.m., Paints, Pintos, Arabians, Appaloosas and registered Quarterhorses line up to enter the auction ring called by Don Bekin. Also bought and sold are meat or killer horses for the Canadian market to be shipped overseas on the hoof.

Buyers and sellers come from adjoining states, Canada, Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota and from as far away as Florida. There are 100 permanent buyer numbers assigned to licensed dealers in the State of Michigan by the Recks. But as many as 400 prospective bidders will show up for a two-day auction. Guest auctioneers for special sales have included Lee Sheridan of Fernville, Steve Liptay from Ontario and Lawrence Bishop, Middletown, Ohio.

Help at the horse auction comes from the Reck sons, Mark, 15, who rides in the ring and Steven, 13, who takes on saddling duties. Seventeen others are employed fulltime and parttime by the couple.

In addition to animals offered by the Recks, sellers can participate on a consignment basis. It's five per cent for a grade horse with a five dollar no sale, while a registered horse is five per cent with a fifteen minimum and a ten dollar no sale.

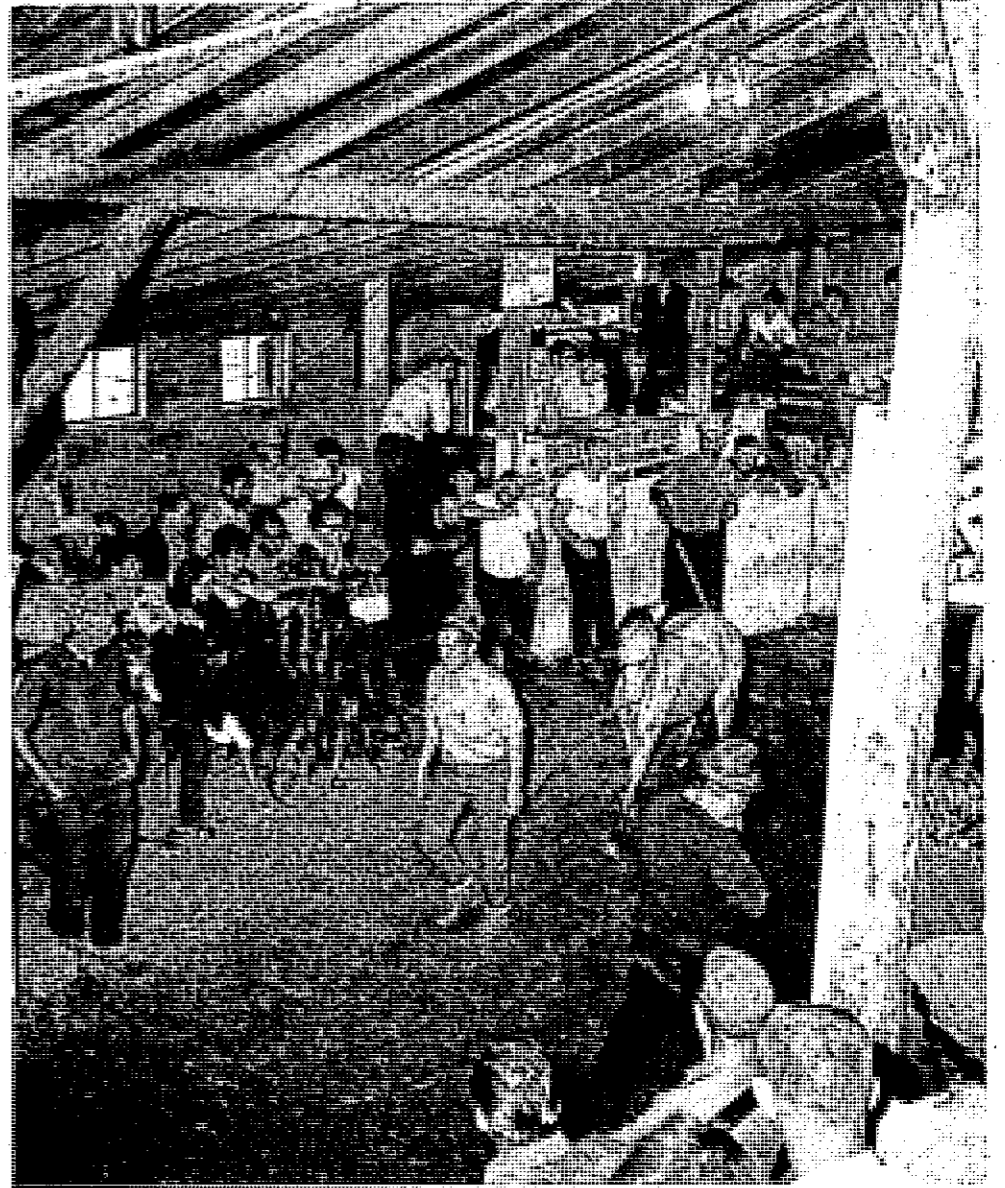

A registered horse brings an average of $400 to $600. This spring a Quarterhorse stud brought $1,250 and Mrs. Reck recalls a registered thoroughbred that sold for over $2,000 three years ago. The pair say the best customers these days are young girls and 4-H'ers from January through April.

For those considering buying a horse, Mrs. Reck offers this advice. "Many people want to purchase a horse for children and come to us asking what's the cheapest thing you have," she confides. "Anyone dealing in horses will tell you to get a better horse rather than a five, ten or fifteen dollar animal where the chance of injury is much greater." She adds that proper supervision is a must for youngsters.

The Recks enjoy working with horses and going to shows. They express the hope that there will be more open shows in St. Johns and the Clinton County area.

Has the horse market been good? A new sale barn being built seven miles north of the city at the corner of US-27 and Wilson proves it has. The Recks plan to open the 40 by 160 foot structure with a 20-foot clear span in September.

Auctioneer Don Bekin takes bids on a horse from a large and enthusiastic crowd. Sales are held the first and third Saturday of each month.

That's Pat Reck of the St. Johns Horse Auction with her two-year-old registered Paint double registered Pinto, A.W.H.E. Cochise.

It's a family affair at the South US-27 sale where sons, Mark, 15, and Steven, 13, lend a helping hand.

Week

Like most nominations for "Citizen of the Week," Gayle's name came from outside CNB&T and we are pleased that one of our staff members was recognized for community efforts. Currently Gayle is serving as president of St. Johns Lions Club, a job which has come about after several years of committee work, chairmanships and other officer assignments. But Lions is not the only group which has received Gayle's attention, as he has participated willingly in such broad civic ventures as the March of Dimes and United Fund as well as projects undertaken by school groups in the St. Johns area. In addition he served as a member of the committee formed to study feasibility of a Clinton-Shiawassee vocational facility. We are pleased to honor one of our own staff members, Gayle Desprez, as citizen of the week.

Redwings basketball gets summer boost

The sports program at St. Johns High School is gaining a real shot in the arm this summer with the first annual Redwings basketball camp.

Varsity Coach Doug Japinga and Freshman Coach Joe Gonzales are working hard with boys from age 10 to 18 in four one-week sessions.

The youngsters are eager to learn and their coaches seem equally eager to pass on their knowledge of the game. It's a camp designed to offer knowledge of basketball, physical exercise and just plain fun to any boy in the St. Johns School District.

Basketball has always been a very popular spectator sport in Michigan high schools and this summer's camp should provide Redwings fans with a few pleasant surprises this season.

Through the middle of July they'll be outpounding the court in an effort to offer local fans the excitement and display of skills which makes a Friday night basketball game the best show in town.

Voters provide key to local government

The well-known syndicated columnist, Sydney J. Harris, wrote a takeoff on the hazards of local government last week that merits our editorial comment.

Harris is convinced the lower you go on the governmental ladder, greater becomes the corruption and incompetency. We don't believe this is necessarily the case.

First, township, county and city officials still are elected by the people. This restraint isn't applied to many high level officials in the federal government and the abuse of public money there does happen all too frequently.

Basically, Harris feels local officials are "mediocre men who are most often the creatures of some local boss or regional gauleiter".

We don't say Harris is entirely wrong but his sweeping generalization of local government certainly isn't true in all cases. Local office often draws dedicated people who work hard for the public good with little or no financial compensation.

As we see it, the system's greatest weakness is the lack of public interest in local politics. At no other level of government is the public as close to what elected officials do or say than in the city, township or county.

Last week 33 people filed petitions to run for 11 commissioner seats in Clinton County. Four men are seeking election to the job of sheriff.

Candidates have made their intentions know. The critical step in the political process now rests with the voters. Good local government can only come with careful consideration of the merits each candidate offers to the office he seeks.

Use caution with pesticides

EAST LANSING - Before using any pesticide, be sure to diagnose the problem properly, advises William Wallner, Michigan State University entomologist.

Wallner does not recommend preventive insecticide sprays, except perhaps for roses. Instead, inspect your plantings often to detect a problem, identify the pest and take quick action.

Among the more common pests, Wallner lists borers and aphids. Borers are difficult to control because they spend most of their lives inside the plant. The best control is to cut off the infested part of the plant and burn it.

cut ends. To prevent this, Wallner suggests using shellac, tree paint or other substance to seal the cane after cutting roses.

To control the common Iris borer, Wallner suggests examining the corms as you dig or transplant them. Cut away any that appear infested and destroy them.

Aphids are common on new growth of many plants. They suck the plant liquids, causing distorted leaves and blooms. Cool damp weather encourages aphids.

The feeding of the spruce gall aphids causes galls on new growth. This pest can be controlled to some degree by picking off the galls and destroying them before mid-summer.

Many insects and pests require control by chemical sprays. Wallner says that information regarding the best uses of sprays is available in bulletins from the county Cooperative Extension Service office.

He stresses the importance of using a recommended chemical for a specific problem, at the correct time of the year, and at the rate suggested on the pesticide label.

"Most pests have a 'weak link' in their life cycle of development. At that specific time they are easiest to control. Failing to control the pest then may lead to disappointing results," the entomologist concludes.

"If It Fitz . . . How to tell a racist?"

Editor, Lapeer County Press

By Jim Fitzgerald

The U.S. Supreme Court, in its lofty wisdom, has ruled it is legal for the Elks and the Moose and other private clubs to refuse to serve booze to Negroes.

Isn't that marvelous? An important blow has been struck for the right of privacy. This particular dispute was started by LeRoy Irvis, the majority leader of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives. A member of the Harrisburg Moose lodge invited Irvis inside for dinner. The lodge refused to serve him. Irvis is black. I guess Moose are white. I don't know for sure because I'm not positive I ever saw a Moose.

Are they the ones that wear strange hats and shake hands funny? Anyway, Irvis went to court. He charged that because the club held a liquor license from the state, it was subject to the 14th amendment guarantee of equal rights and could not practice racial discrimination. A lower federal court agreed with Irvis, but the Supreme Court didn't by a 6-3 vote.

The majority opinion ruled the liquor license didn't make "the state in any realistic sense a partner . . . in the club's enterprise." In a losing cause, the dissenting judges said the liquor licensing lent state sanction "to the sordid business of racial discrimination."

OK, the majority has spoken, that's how the system works, and God bless all Nixon appointees who win Senate approval.

But let's get back to that part where I said I'm not sure what a Moose looks like. This hits on something that has bugged me for many years.

The bigots have a tremendous advantage over us bleeding hearts. They can recognize a Negro 2 blocks away, giving them plenty of time to turn their backs, hide their sisters, douse the lights or hang up the "no vacancy" sign. A really good bigot also needs only 1 quick glance to recognize a Jew or a Puerto Rican or an Indian or a yellow book.

But how can you recognize a bigot before it's too late? There are no distinguishing physical characteristics, such as purple complexion or vertical eyes. You might buy a guy a drink and invite him home for dinner before you learn that he genuflects reverently toward Argentina every noon just in case Hitler is still alive and well.

Rep. Irvis probably had no idea he would be humiliated at the Harrisburg Moose lodge. I'm sure there are some Moose lodges that would have welcomed him. If he had known that these particular Moose were racists, he might well have eaten at Howard Johnson's instead. Few people want to go where they will be spit on.

There should be a law forcing the Harrisburg lodge and other such clubs to hang out signs listing exactly which people are not welcome inside. This would save a lot of embarrassment. It would also let outsiders know where the local jerks can be seen, in case they have some spare time after visiting the zoo.

But this wouldn't solve the problem of quickly identifying the individual racist once he has crawled out from under his rock. Perhaps he could be required to wear a special lapel pin. It could be sort of a ruptured Negro, with a boot kicking his fanny, with a swastika in the background.

Racists can tell at a glance who to hate. It should be equally as easy to spot a racist before he starts spitting. Fair is fair, as the Supreme Court should agree.

I don't want to guess who's coming to dinner. If it's a Harrisburg Moose, I want to know in time to paint my daughter black.

An ounce of prevention

By Jose J. Llinas, M.D. Director of Community Mental Health for Clinton, Eaton and Ingham

I learned recently that children and adults with severely impaired hearing are only 2.5% of all of the individuals who have some impairment in their ability to hear.

But because they are only a minority of a few hundred thousand, compared to the majority (about 10 million people) who suffer from minor to moderate deafness, they tend to be overlooked. It seems that even in the field of health impairment, being part of a minority group increases the risks.

And the risks, for youngsters who are born deaf or become severely deafened after birth, is that they lose the great opportunity to use hearing for developing their understanding of themselves and the world. If they don't get help, they never learn to talk.

PARENTS' ANGUISH

Doctors Eugene D. Mindel and Vernon McCay, from the Michael Reese Hospital in Chicago, pointed out recently the serious implications of deafness for this group of youngsters.

The first people to get concerned about a child who does not hear well are, of course, the parents. The first person consulted on the problem tends to be the family doctor.

Unfortunately, sometimes the physician has a tendency to down grade the parental concerns about a child's development.

Phrases like, "he'll grow out of it," "now just don't you worry" or "just give him time" may not only be unhelpful, but sometimes downright misleading.

A recent study shows that about one-third of parents in a sample group had been given an initial incorrect diagnosis.

SOME GUIDELINES

While recognizing that, as specialists who see a highly selected clientele, they probably do not come in contact with a large number of overconcerned families, for whom the advice not to worry may be sound, Mindel and McCay have some suggestions which may be useful.

First, there are simple and well known preliminary tests that every competent physician can perform in his office. An infant of a few months, for example, should show the so-called eye-blink or startle reflex in response to a sudden loud noise.

Second, the doctor should have a high regard for maternal intuition, particularly of a mother who does not seem satisfied with his reassurance, and yet feels uncomfortable disagreeing with the physician.

The mother may be responding to experiences she cannot clearly put her finger on, such as having the child sleep through bothersome noises, or his failure to develop clear speech.

New law on revenge

By REV. HUGH BANNINGA

Today we consider a new law on revenge. First, turn to your Bible and read Matthew chapter 5, verses 38-42.

The world of Jesus' day was under the law of retaliation. The Mosaic law, the Code of Hammurabi, and the Roman law all required that a wrongdoer should receive a just punishment for his wrong deed.

Sometimes the punishment was a fine to be paid, and other times the punishment was to be an "eye for an eye." For example, in Exodus 21, verse 22 we read, "When men strive together and hurt a woman with child, so that there is a miscarriage, and yet no harm follows, the one who hurt her shall be fined, according as the woman's husband shall lay upon him; and he shall pay as the judge determine. If any harm follows, then you shall give life for life, eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot, burn for burn, wound for wound, stripe for stripe."

This was the old law of revenge. But Jesus comes along and brings a new law on revenge. He says, "Don't take revenge on someone who does you wrong. If anyone slaps you on the right cheek, let him slap your left cheek too. And if someone takes you to court to sue you for your shirt, let him have your coat as well. And if one of the occupation troops forces you to carry his pack one mile, carry it another mile. When someone asks you for something, give it to him."

Jesus point here is that even though someone does YOU wrong, that doesn't give you the right to return the injury. The follower of Christ must not retaliate in kind. He must, if needs be, suffer the same injury again, simply because it is God's will that this is the way to stamp out revenge and put God's love in its place.

You see, this new law on revenge has the power to change the attitude of the wrong-doer. When the wrong-doer experiences a genuine response of love in return for his terrible deed, he may begin to see that love is preferable to hate.

But let me make one thing quite clear at this point. It may take you many, many times of suffering misdeeds done to you before the wrong-doer is convinced that you are serious about following Jesus' new law on revenge. So don't think you can follow it once and expect the wrongdoer to change his attitude toward life overnight!

So the burden is put on you and me. No more revenge against our neighbors—against those who spread false rumors about us—against those who cheat us—against those who look down their noses at us—against those who look, act, and speak differently from us. No, no more revenge, but instead a loving response that involves the risk and the great possibility of tremendous suffering.

I wonder how many professed Christians live by the new law on revenge? Do you? Can you love someone enough to let them "tromp" all over you in order to show them a better way of life? If you think this new law on revenge is ridiculous, then remember how Jesus went to a horrible death believing that it was the only way.

Next week, we'll consider another ridiculous new law!

Brown announces re-election bid

KALAMAZOO—Congressman Garry Brown (R-Mich.) has announced that he will seek the Republican nomination and re-election as the Representative of Michigan's Third District in the United States Congress.

The present Third District from which Brown was re-elected for a third term in 1970 is made up of the counties of Barry, Calhoun, Eaton, Kalamazoo and all of Clinton except the townships of Bath and DeWitt. Because of recent congressional redistricting, Brown will be seeking election in November from only a slightly different geographical area made up of Kalamazoo County, all of Calhoun County except Clarendon and Tekonsha townships, all of Eaton County except Roxand Township, all of Barry County except Thornapple and Yankee Springs townships, City of DeWitt and the townships of Eagle, Watertown and DeWitt in Clinton County, the townships of Concord and Parma in Jackson County, Leonidas Township in St. Joseph County, Litchfield Township in Hillsdale County, Bowne Township in Kent County and Sebawa Township in Ionia County.

Brown has served Michigan's Third District since 1966, following four years of service as a Michigan State Senator, and before that as a delegate to the Michigan

Constitutional Convention. Prior to his venturing into the political realm he actively practiced law with a firm in Kalamazoo.

He is a member of the important Banking and Currency Committee and serves on its key Housing Subcommittee, which must authorize all national housing legislation, the Domestic Finance, and the International Trade subcommittees. With his increasing seniority in the Congress, Brown was appointed in this session to the Government Operations Committee and now serves as well on its Intergovernmental Relations and Legal and Monetary Affairs subcommittees.

He is a member of the Joint House-Senate Committee on Defense Production and also heads up the House Republican Minority Committee on Private Bills. This latter Committee is responsible for the consideration of legislation of personal concern to individuals suffering unique and undue hardship because of the application of general Federal laws which are insensitive to these individuals' particular circumstances.

The 190 junior and senior high school students, both rural and urban, who attended the eighth annual Young People's Citizenship Seminar, sponsored by the Michigan Farm Bureau, were selected on the basis of their academic records by their county Farm Bureau.

How these areas affect the youth of today and in the future were emphasized by featured speakers which included: Dr. John Furbay, lecturer, author and global air traveler, Forest Hills, New York; Dr. Clinton Ganus

Water wilted lawns

EAST LANSING — Lawns should be watered at the first sign of wilt, wetting the soil to a depth of 6 to 8 inches, say Michigan State University turfgrass specialists.

But don't apply too much water too often, they advise. Overwatering can kill roots and weaken the turfgrass plant by eliminating their supply of oxygen.

To help insure a healthy lawn, the MSU specialists offer the following guidelines for watering.

—When establishing a turf, water at midday every day. This applies to both seeded and sodded turf.

—Water an established lawn infrequently and thoroughly at the first sign of wilt. Watering lightly at frequent intervals causes shallow root growth and weakened turf that is more susceptible to weed invasion.

—Do not apply water faster than it can be taken in by the soil. Sloping areas require more frequent watering.

—Water sandy soils more frequently because of their high porosity and low moisture retaining capacity.

Lake Michigan Perch Guide

1972 CODE
Indicates Place and Method of Fishing.
Indicates Boat Fishing Only.

HELPFUL HINTS:
★ Fish close to shore—usually not over a mile out.
★ During spring and fall, fish in four to eight feet of water.
★ Fish in 20 to 25 feet of water for jumbo perch during warm-weather months.
★ Use a pair of number 6 or 8 hooks, tied 18 inches apart, with a sinker at end of line.
★ Best fishing is in morning and afternoon, before noon and after 3:00 p.m.
★ No closed season or minimum size, and catches are unlimited in Lake Michigan.

Spring perch fishing action begins at the south end of Lake Michigan in mid-May and moves north through June. Busts of good fishing occur during July and August. During September, excellent perch catches again are taken along the shoreline.

Almost any tackle—from drop line to cast net and reel—with wigglers, worms and preferably shiner minnows for bait guarantees success. Keep the baited hook close to bottom and don't move it much.

U-M studies nuclear plants

ANN ARBOR — The University of Michigan Sea Grant Program has undertaken two five-year studies totaling a half-million dollars to determine the environmental effects of cooling towers and once-through lake water cooling systems on the shoreland areas at two Michigan nuclear power plants.

Prof. John M. Armstrong, director of the U-M Sea Grant Program, said the study will focus on Indiana & Michigan Power, Company's Donald C. Cook Nuclear Plant near Benton Harbor and Consumers Power Company's Palisades Nuclear Plant near South Haven. The cost of the studies will be evenly divided among the U-M Sea Grant Program, Consumers Power Company and Indiana & Michigan Power Company.

"The Palisades Nuclear Plant currently draws water from Lake Michigan to cool its steam condensers and then returns the water, which has become heated, directly to the lake," Armstrong explained. This method of handling waste heat is called "once-through" cooling.

"However," the U-M associate professor of civil engineering observed, "the Palisades plant expects to replace its once-through system with mechanical draft cooling towers in about two years." The huge towers permit recycling and cooling the water.

"The Donald C. Cook Plant," Armstrong continued, is under construction and will rely totally on the once-through method.

"Both plants provide an ideal, before-and-after opportunity to measure and evaluate the meteorological impact of the two methods of disposing of waste heat," Armstrong said.

About 12 weather monitoring stations will be established at various locations inland from each of the plants. They will continuously measure temperature, relative humidity and precipitation. Four of the stations, two near each plant, will be specially equipped to measure solar and atmospheric radiation, wind velocity and visibility.

The principal investigators for the study, Research Associate Edward Ryznar and Assistant Prof. Dennis G. Baker, both of the U-M department of meteorology and oceanography, said they expect significant differences in meteorological effects from the two types of cooling systems.

Cooling tower moisture releases on the local environment may take the form of plumes, fog, icing or precipitation, the researchers noted. Further, the U-M meteorologists said the moisture releases might influence natural condensation and precipitation.

Ryznar and Baker believe the once through system will not effect the local environment as much as cooling towers would. They base their projection on the meteorological qualities of Lake Michigan and its slower release of heat into the atmosphere.

However, the researchers feel thermal discharges into the lake could increase cloudiness and precipitation, particularly the amount of snowfall over the eastern shore during the late fall or winter.

Should extreme weather changes occur, the researchers said, they could have profound implications for highway safety conditions.

—major highways lie close to both plants—and local agriculture. But they emphasized that any discussion of the atmospheric effects of cooling systems is speculative, as adequate information on the subject is not available. The researchers said the U-M Sea Grant studies are designed to fill that information gap, and thus may have major implications not only for types of cooling systems, but also for the location of new nuclear plants.

The researchers said a problem fundamental to the studies is distinguishing meteorological changes caused by cooling systems from natural variations taking place within the observing period. To enhance the results' conclusiveness, they will use two different analytical approaches.

Area weather data collected in earlier years will be compiled and analyzed to help establish "normal" weather patterns. U-M computers will process the bulk of the information gathered. Supported by a grant from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, the U-M Sea Grant Program is a multidisciplinary research effort aimed at developing long range resource management methods for dealing with serious environmental problems of the Great Lakes.

Redwings conduct basketball camp

ST. JOHNS—The sound of bouncing basketballs is echoing through the halls of St. Johns High School and Rodney B. Wilson Junior High this week as the first annual Redwings Basketball Camp is held.

Redwings varsity coach Doug Japinga and freshman coach Joe Gonzales are conducting the camp which is divided into four one-week sessions.

The first weeklong session began June 19 and youngsters are now into the second week. After a week off for the July 4th holiday, two more sessions are set to start on July 10 and July 17.

The camp is being held for all boys in the St. Johns School District from age 10 through 18 who have an interest in basketball. No distinction is made between boys who have never played the sport and past members of organized school teams.

Learning basketball is the camp's primary purpose according to Coach Japinga and he stresses that individual instruction is given to all the boys attending. Japinga's program consists of drills on finer points of the game such as ballhandling, shooting and dribbling plus physical fitness. Competition is also included and each participant is given a T-shirt lettered in red with the words "Redwings Basketball Camp."

Youngsters may register for one week or the entire four week program. The tuition fee is $15 for the first week and an extra five dollars for each additional week. Registration forms are available at the high school principal's office.

Each camper must bring his own shorts, sweatsocks, supporter and towel. The Redwings Camp T-shirts are provided before the first day of practice when tuition and parental permission slips are turned in to the coaches.

Sessions for the 10-11 year olds run from 9-10:30 a.m. in the junior high gym. The 12-13 year olds will use the same gym from 11 a.m. until 12:30 p.m.

At the high school gym, freshmen-to-be will practice from 9-10:30 a.m. and the sophomores, juniors and seniors session runs from 10:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. Any youngsters in the St. Johns School District wishing to participate in the Redwings Basketball Camp should obtain a form from the high school principal's office and bring it filled out to the session for their respective age group.

Ball handling

Boys from age 10-13 living in the St. Johns School District are invited to participate in the first annual Redwings Basketball Camp now being held at Rodney B. Wilson Junior High. Redwings Freshman Coach Joe Gonzales is conducting sessions for the younger boys while Varsity Coach Doug Japinga holds sessions across town for the high school boys. The ball handling drill shown above is just one facet of the sport covered in the four one-week sessions.

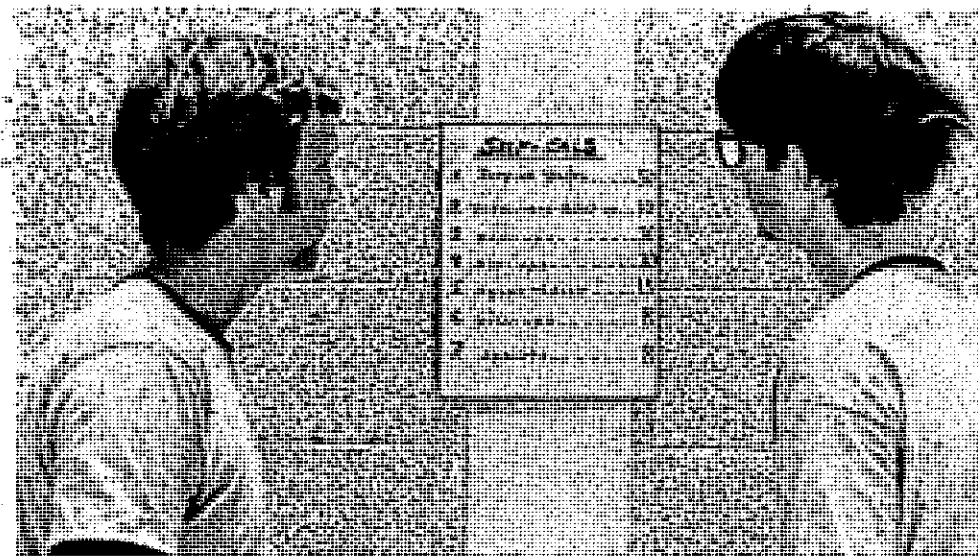

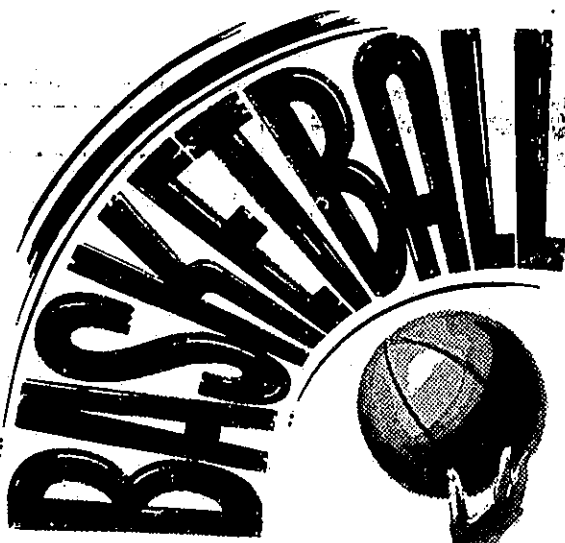

Skipping rope

The technique of skipping rope is being utilized at the first annual Redwings Basketball Camp to improve the youngsters' agility and strengthen their legs. Coaches Japinga and Gonzales have mapped out a wide variety of drills for the basketball camp in an effort to give youngsters an opportunity to develop their skills in the sport. The T-shirts lettered with the words "Redwings Basketball Camp" are given to all boys participating in the program.

Getting in shape

St. Johns seniors Dan Mohnke (left) and Mike Sutherland study a chart posted in the high school gym outlining a physical fitness schedule for the Redwings Basketball Camp. Both boys are returning varsity lettermen and serve as coaching assistants during the basketball camp plus work on sharpening their own skills.

Dribbling

Wayne Wilson, a sophomore at St. Johns High this fall, runs through a dribbling drill during the first annual Redwings Basketball Camp. The sessions continue through July 17 and youngsters may register by obtaining a form at the high school principal's office.

Individual instruction

St. Johns Varsity Coach Doug Japinga gives freshman Pete Kurncz a few pointers on this footwork for a left hand layup shot. Individual instruction is an important part of the Redwings Basketball Camp now being held. The sessions are open to all boys age 10-18 who live in the St. Johns School District. Past membership on a school organized team is not necessary to participate.

Private campgrounds in Michigan

The camping family unable to find a vacant site in Michigan this summer does not know where to look, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

While state park campgrounds are expected to have more pressure than ever this summer, the spectacular growth in the number of private campgrounds is the major reason why most campers should have little difficulty finding space.

Auto Club is optimistic about campers finding space despite the fact that state park campsites have grown only two per cent for 1972 as compared with 1971, while recreation vehicle sales have increased 11 per cent.

The 25 per cent increase in private parks listed in Auto Club's guide this year should guarantee adequate camping space in Michigan. Also for the first time this year private parks in Michigan will offer more sites than state parks. Currently there are 255 private parks listed by Auto Club with 20,000 sites as compared with 70 state parks offering 14,814 sites.

All totaled, there are 47,000 campsites in Michigan to service approximately 55,000 camping units — excluding an undetermined number of ground tents. In addition to 34,814 private and state park campsites, there are 1,440 sites at national forests, 2,576 at state forests and 8,291 at city, township and county parks, often overlooked by the camping public.

Auto Club explains that although there are more recreation vehicles than sites, not all camping units are in use at one time and Michigan should have plenty of camping space almost every weekend with a few exceptions.

However, campers may have to drive farther from home than planned and stay at second or third choice campgrounds over summer holiday weekends to get a site.

The 84,258 camping families turned away last year from state parks is a decrease of 2.1 per cent from the previous year. Without the growth in private parks, it is speculated that state parks could have had five times the number of turn-aways.

Private parks are taking the pressure off state parks and have prevented state facilities from being completely overrun, Auto Club feels. It points out that while private parks have grown 25 per cent in the last year, the number of sites they offer has jumped 45 per cent.

Michigan's increasing number of camping families also is causing new businesses to appear. Many cities have made it illegal to store camping trailers in residential areas, unless they are kept in a garage. To accommodate the family which owns a trailer but has nowhere to keep it, storage yards are opening across the state.

These yards are usually fenced areas near a major road with a fee ranging from five dollars to $15 monthly, depending on the services available and the location.

Stanford Camping Center, operated by Les Stanford Chevrolet, has a trailer storage yard in Taylor, at Telegraph and Van Born. It holds 100 units and the minimum charge is $30 for a six-month period. It is fenced on three sides, with the front open.

Another more-expensive but more-deluxe storage yard is named Terrina, located at 12011 Market St., Livonia. The yard is completely fenced and customers are given a key to the gate which permits 24-hour access. The yard is protected by night lights, a guard and attack dog.

Storage at Terrina is $15 monthly. The yard has LP gas sales, a septic dump station plus complete trailer and motor home repair and maintenance service. It has room for 100 trailers.

Auto Club expects more storage depots to begin opening across the state, especially in the north near popular camping areas, or where major roads going to and from resort areas meet.

Hauling a travel trailer with a car doubles gas consumption. By storing a trailer 200 miles from home, a person could save up to $20 gasoline money round trip each weekend, which would more than offset the cost of a month's storage.

Also, the trip between the storage area and home could be made faster without a trailer in tow, it is pointed out.

The major concern of campers in Michigan is not if a campsite is available but where one can be found. Although popular state parks almost always fill on summer weekends there is usually space at private parks.

Campers can almost always find a vacant campsite if they follow these rules: —If looking for a site at one of the preferred state parks over a warm weekend, arrive Friday before 3 p.m. —Use the State Park Hot Line to locate parks with space. Phone any of these numbers for information: (517) 275-8041, daily between 7:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.; (517) 373-1270, Monday through Friday between 7:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., and (313) 868-1640, Monday through Friday between 10:30 a.m. and 5 p.m.

—Have alternate campsites located on a map should first preference be filled upon arrival.

—If staying at a private park, phone ahead for advance reservations. Remember, state parks do not accept reservations and operate on a first-come, first-served basis.

—Carry guides listing state, private and other parks which will help locate them and give other pertinent information, such as facilities available.

Tree study underway

EAST LANSING — Trees along heavily traveled urban freeways take a beating from auto fumes, industrial and household pollutants and mist from salt used in winter maintenance.

Horticulturists at Michigan State University, cooperating with the Department of State Highways, have embarked on a study to find out which species of trees will thrive best along city highways traveled daily by many thousands of vehicles.

Their findings will guide highway departments in Michigan and other states in their urban landscaping programs.

More than 1,000 trees of 28 species have been planted in three freeway interchanges in Wayne and Oakland counties and along M-1 (Woodward Avenue) between Six Mile and Eight Mile Roads in Detroit. Species range from Austrian pine and Norway spruce to horse-chestnuts, honeylocusts and crabapples. White pine and other species known to be sensitive to urban pollutants also were planted as "controls."

The long-range goal is to beautify city freeways and other highways with large, healthy trees that will soften the severe lines formed by concrete and steel.

Dr. Harold Davidson, MSU professor of horticulture, will supervise the study. It is financed for the first year by a $20,000 grant from the State Legislature as part of the annual state appropriation to the university's Agricultural Experiment Station.

"The study is unique in at least two ways," Davidson said. "It is the first time in Michigan, and perhaps in the United States, that a research team has tried to find which trees are most tolerant to adverse conditions found in highway right-of-way in urban areas."

"To my knowledge, it is also the first time that a state legislature has asked for this kind of research, and authorized the financing."

Davidson credited Rep. Bill S. Huffman (D-Madison Heights) and Sen. Charles Zollar (R-Benton Harbor) with spearheading the project. He hopes it will continue for at least three years.

In that period, horticulturists and Tim Chick, district forester for the State Highway Department, will check the trees regularly for growth rates, evidence of tolerance to salt mist and other pollutants, malformations and other signs of damage.

"Trees that will thrive along urban highways will produce other than esthetic benefits," said Davidson. "They can modify temperatures, act as noise buffers and modify the effects of wind, snow and rain."

Besides Woodward Avenue, trees were planted in the Fisher-Jeffries interchange (I-75 and I-96) west of downtown Detroit; at I-75 and 12 Mile Road in Oakland County and at US-24 (Telegraph Road) and I-696, also in Oakland County.

Several local agencies have contributed manpower and equipment to the project, including the Wayne County Road Commission and the city of Detroit.

Lawn problems?

EAST LANSING — The presence of moss indicates an unhealthy lawn, says Gerald E. Draheim, Wayne County extension horticultural agent.

"Low soil fertility, poor drainage, high soil acidity, too much shade, improper watering, or a combination of these factors can cause moss in a lawn," says Draheim.

To prevent moss from taking over your lawn, he suggests following good management practices that will produce a dense vigorous turf.

Poor soil fertility, the most common cause of moss in the lawn, can be improved by using a regular, balanced fertilizer.

If the subsoil is poorly drained it may be necessary to install tile drains. However, do not attempt to install them without professional guidance, advises Draheim.

A soil test is recommended to determine the acidity of the soil. If found to be too acid, lime can be added. Your local Cooperative Extension Service office can provide you with information on how to take a soil sample.

If there is too much shade, Draheim suggests removing unnecessary trees, pruning the remaining trees heavily to remove dead or low branches, and removing fallen leaves and other debris frequently.

Watering your lawn too often and too much can also cause moss problems. Michigan State University horticultural specialists advise the homeowner not to water his lawn until the grass shows signs of wilt.

"Once moss is established," says Draheim, "it must be removed by hand raking, 'burning' with ammonium sulfate, or spraying with copper sulfate.

"After removing the moss, be sure to correct the basic cause," he adds.

Pewamo

Mrs. Mary Albers and daughter Mary Ellen of St. Johns and their mother and grandmother Mrs. Barbara Alexander of Pewamo spent Saturday and Sunday in Detroit. Mr. and Mrs. John W. Williams have started to build their new home on West Jefferson St., Pewamo Saturday, June 17.

A<sup>G</sup> in Action

One of the quickest ways to stifle farm income would be to reduce agricultural exports.

Exports represent a significant part of the total market for our nation's agricultural production. Today, almost one out of every four acres of cropland is producing something that is exported. The United States has doubled its agricultural exports in the past 15 years. Presently, the U.S. accounts for a fifth of world agricultural trade.

Yes, the loss of export markets would have a major effect on our farmers' pocketbooks. Yet, Congress now has a bill before it that could cause just that.

The bill was not designed to destroy or reduce our agricultural exports, but rather, was introduced for the purpose of curbing the flow of industrial products into this country.

Some of our American industries are having trouble meeting world competition. Increased labor rates and general inflationary forces are to blame. So, in order to help the situation, the proposal before Congress would reduce the level of imports coming into our country by billions of dollars. Foreign countries confronted by cutbacks in their exports would have only one choice; they would have to reduce their imports from the United States. Otherwise, they could face a balance of payment crisis.

The result could well be that they would stop buying our agricultural products. We could be sacrificing agriculture for more favorable manufacturing industries.

Our nation cannot afford a trend toward protectionism at home and abroad. Neither can we sacrifice one segment of our economy for another.

Farmers examine harvest storage

With the Spring planting rush over, farmers now have a little more time to take a long-range look at their operations, including sizing up storage capability for the fall harvest, according to William Vanderbeek, Lansing-based farm program official.

Specialist predicts fewer strawberries

Michigan's strawberry harvest will be about 8,000,000 quarts this season, a Michigan State University marketing specialist estimates.

That's about 28 per cent less than last year, but still an abundant crop at reasonable prices, Mrs. Sheila Morley says.

Strawberry acreage is declining because the plants aren't suited to automated harvesting, the specialist explains. But many growers are promoting pick-your-own sales as an inexpensive solution. You'll know a quality strawberry by its sweet aroma, full red color and attached cap. The cap seals in juice and retains the flavor and nutrients, especially Vitamin C. Make sure the caps are "perky" green, not dry, brown or shriveled, the specialist suggests.

Berries with white tips are under ripe and will not ripen after being picked. Very red berries lacking sheen or aroma are over ripe and probably flavorless.

Be wary of wet berries, for the underlayers may be moldy. Also, avoid damp, juice-stained containers—the fruit may be over ripe or crushed.

Michigan's strawberry season lasts about June to July 10, with the peak harvest between June 10-25.

Sort and remove any spoiled or soft fruit, then refrigerate the unwashed berries until just before serving. Wash the berries before removing the caps, then serve promptly.

One-half cup of fresh strawberries has 28 calories and supplies one-half the adult daily requirement of Vitamin C, plus calcium, iron and riboflavin.

Sort and remove any spoiled or soft fruit, then refrigerate the unwashed berries until just before serving. Wash the berries before removing the caps, then serve promptly.

One-half cup of fresh strawberries has 28 calories and supplies one-half the adult daily requirement of Vitamin C, plus calcium, iron and riboflavin.

The diet-conscious consumer has been largely responsible for the decline of some breeds of dairy cattle in Michigan, a Michigan State University dairy specialist says.

Holstein cows dominate the Michigan dairy industry today because of growing demand for low-fat milk, Dr. Clinton Meadows explains.

High-fat Channel Isle breeds—Guernseys and Jerseys—and Brown Swiss and Ayrshires make up only 15 per cent of the dairy cattle population.

According to the dairy specialist, the milk of the high-fat breeds is also high in other solids, protein, minerals and lactose. This type of milk gains less profit on today's market than that of the Holsteins because of a minimum fat and solids regulation. Dairy men who raise high-solids breeds would like to keep the minimum fat standard at its present level but increase the minimum for solids.

Already, the nation-wide amount of the farm storage facility and drying equipment loans to farmers by the Commodity Credit Corporation is four times higher for the first ten months of fiscal 1972 than for the corresponding period the year before. New loans amounted to more than $112 million through April 1972, compared with a little over $27 million a year earlier.

Michigan farmers have participated fully in this trend toward more on-farm storage of wheat, corn, soybeans and similar commodities, reported William Vanderbeek, Member of the Michigan State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee which administers the loan program.

A total of 624 loans amounting to over $2-1/2 million were disbursed in the first ten months of fiscal 1972 compared with 104 loans amounting to just over $300 thousand a year earlier.

A number of factors account for the large nationwide increase. The 1971 record corn crop may have been the biggest factor, along with high production of other grains. Also changes in loan regulations made it possible for more farmers to get farm storage facility loans.

Another change this spring, reducing the interest rate to 5.5 per cent, has resulted in more loan applications also.

National and International situations affect the trend toward more on-farm storage. For instance, dollar crises, dock strikes, freight car shortages, transportation innovations—all of these affect the flow of grain from farmer to world consumers.

If this flow is checked, even briefly, grain piles up. Many farmers see on-farm storage as a way in which they can have some control of the rate of the flow of grain to the market.

The State ASC Committee Member said he was not urging Michigan farmers to invest in more farm storage. Only the individual farmer can assess his needs and make that decision. However, he urged producers to consider farm storage now, well ahead of harvest, and to check with the county ASCS office about the loan program.

Full details on farm storage facility and drying equipment loans are available from the local county ASCS offices. As with all ASCS-administered programs, eligibility for participation is not based in any way on race, creed, color, sex, or national origin.

Crop News

Frost on the morning of June 11 caused extensive damage to fruit, corn, dry beans, potatoes and farm gardens. Much needed rains restored soil moisture supplies to adequate levels in most of the drier areas of the Lower Peninsula. The frost and cool weather afterwards slowed crop development. The State averaged 4.5 days suitable for field work.

Frost damaged, or killed a considerable acreage of corn in the southwestern and west central counties and caused some damage to corn in low areas in most other counties. Considerable acreage has been or will be replanted. Early-planted fields of dry beans also suffered considerable damage from frost and many are being replanted. Planting of potatoes is about finished. Soybeans are over 90 per cent planted and dry beans about 55 per cent planted.

Winter wheat is about 90 per cent headed and oats over 10 per cent headed. Many oat fields are very spotty because of poor germination. Oats following corn have been hurt by atrazine residue, while heavy infestations of cereal leaf beetles have also damaged some oat fields. The height of corn is reported to average about 8 inches.

Pastures were supplying less than average amounts of feed during the week in most of the State, but pasture feed supplies were near average in the south central counties. Rains of the week are expected to stimulate pasture growth. Nearly 40 per cent of the first cutting hay crop has been harvested. Alfalfa weevil infestations are still heavy in some areas.

Extensive frost damage occurred to all tree fruits and blueberries on the morning of June 11 in the central west and southwestern fruit areas. The northwestern fruit area escaped with little or no damage. Some orchards in poor locations were completely frozen out. Most of the blueberry crop was lost.

Frost caused some damage to sweet corn, tomatoes, and other tender vegetables

In much of the State, however, the more hardy vegetables escaped damage. The asparagus harvest is nearing completion. The strawberry harvest continues in volume in the southwest and is underway in west central and northwestern areas. Cutting of early cabbage and harvest of spinach, lettuce and radishes continues in the Detroit area. Development of most vegetables is reported below average.

Split pea eats

By LORRAINE SPRAGUE
Extension Home Economist

If you associate split peas with soup and nothing else, you are missing a lot of good eating. When buying this tasty product, buy either by grade—U.S. No. 1, 2 or 3 or if ungraded, select those with a bright color, uniform size and a minimum of stems and other foreign materials. U.S. No. 1 grade will assure you a uniform size, better flavor and of course little, if any, foreign matter.

Both green and yellow split peas are available and may be used interchangeably. Their tastes and cooking requirements are similar.

Dry split peas have had their outer seed coats removed for quicker cooking. Include them in your menu plans often. They are a good source of protein, calcium, vitamin A, thiamin, riboflavin and iron. And that's good nutrition.

It's possible to cook split peas without soaking, but they'll lose their shape. This isn't important for soup, but for other dishes when you want them to keep their shape, boil them for two minutes and then soak them in the same water for half an hour. Then they'll require only about twenty minutes of cooking before use. Cook them in the soaking water to retain all those good nutrients. Never cook them in a pressure cooker.

USE YOUR IMAGI—
NATION for including those cooked split peas in family meals. Try them in salads, chip dips, sandwich spreads, main dishes, casseroles, appetizers and even puddings. And don't forget the

As a starter try this. Pre-cook for 5 minutes in salted water 6 green peppers from which you've removed the top and membrane. Place them in a baking dish, open side up. Combine 1 package of dry onion soup mix and 1-1/2 pounds hamburger and brown in a little cooking oil. Remove from heat and add 1 cup cooked split peas (either green or yellow), 1 beaten egg, and 1 can tomato-cheese sauce. Stuff peppers with the mixture and top with another can of sauce. Bake for 45 minutes in a 350 degree oven. Six servings of a delightfully different main dish are ready for your enjoyment.

LANSING — Fireworks, festivals and fairs dominate the year's major holiday month, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

Top attractions for July's opening weekend include: the International Frisbee Tournament at Copper Harbor, Lake City's red, white 'n' blue Military Muster, the Dancing Hippopotamus Arts and Crafts Festival at Huron Beach and the National Strawberry Festival at Manistee.

The International Frisbee Tournament, July 1 and 2, could be classified as the epitome of high jinx with some excellent exhibitions of "guts" frisbee on the side. The theme of this year's event is "International Understanding through Frisbee Competition." Toward this end, formal invitations have been directed to several foreign governments, national and international dignitaries, and of course all those who enjoy a good time are more than welcome.

Some 600 members of Canadian, United States and British armed forces, civilian units and other groups will assemble at Lake City for the Fourth of July Celebration and Military Muster. The primary purpose of the four day family event is to put heritage back into Independence Day.

For those interested in the somewhat neglected arts and crafts such as weaving, braided rugs and needlework as well as the more popular varieties the Dancing Hippopotamus Arts and Crafts Festival should hold a special attraction. The artists and craftsmen are all amateurs, mostly retired persons, who enjoy doing their own thing and do it well. The festival will be held July 1 through 4, July 8 and 9 and July 15 and 16. The place is the Bearinger Township Hall about five miles inland from Huron Beach on county road 646.

Boating fans can look forward to three big events during the seventh month. The first is the Port Huron to Mackinac Island Sail Boat Race on July 15 followed by the Chicago to Mackinac Island sailing competition on July 22. For canoe enthusiasts, there's the World Championship AuSable River Canoe Marathon Race, July 28 and 29 from Grayling to Oscoda.

For those who enjoy the equestrian arts, July offers the Michigan Justin Morgan Horse Show July 8 and 9, and the National Pinto Horse Show July 20 - 23 at the State Fairgrounds, Detroit.

with fireworks. Some of the top ones planned are the Let Freedom Ring Pageant at Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn, the Logging Day Celebration at Ewart which is highlighted by a seven mile log race down the Muskegon River. There will be a Boat Regatta on Ford Lake at Ypsilanti, MOBA Racing on Ross Lake, Beaverton, an Arts and Crafts Show at Fallasburg and a Strawberry Festival and Barbeque at Alpena.

Michigan produces some 70 per cent of the nation's red tart cherries with the bulk of that production being harvested in the Traverse City area. Reason enough for a celebration and this year marks the 46th annual, National Cherry Festival at Traverse City July 10-15. The affair opens with the blessing of the cherry harvest, a frog jumping contest and turtle race. During the week, there will be daily cherry pie eating contests, outdoor stage entertainment, orchard tours and a giant midway.

In the southwest corner of the State, blueberries grow as big around as quarters in the South Haven area. Consequently, the National Blueberry Festival July 13 - 16. Highlights include blueberry pancake day, a blueberry baking contest and Blueberry Festival guest stars, Henny Youngman, and Jerry Murad's Harmonicats.

are the Blue Water Festival at Port Huron, Chesaning Showboat and the Lowell Showboat, Gaylord's Alpena Exposition at Mio, and Railroad Days at Boyne City.

There are events planned to attract anglers, art enthusiasts, antique buffs and shutter bugs. There are 101 events in all scheduled for July that cover just about every interest you can mention. July offers lots of fun

Check amount of spray

EAST LANSING — Here's a problem that most gardeners are familiar with when using sprays around the home.

Recommended amounts of spray materials are usually given in pounds or quarts per acre or per 100 gallons of water. These amounts have been tested and evaluated to give the best degree of control with the least amount of waste of material.

The problem arises, says Michigan State University plant pathologist D. J. de Zeeuw, when the materials are used in small volumes. The best way to convert pounds per 100 gallons to a smaller amount per gallon is to weigh out the material on a scale.

Since most homeowners may not have a scale that will weigh small amounts accurately, de Zeeuw suggests this rule-of-thumb method; use one tablespoon (or three teaspoons) of chemical per gallon of water for each pound of formulation recommended in 100 gallons of water.

This method may not hold true for all materials, so you should always check the label for rates to use for small quantities.

Keep in mind that when a specified amount of a material is recommended, that rate is what you should use. Extra amounts are wasteful and may be injurious to plants.

Don't just have 'weeds'

EAST LANSING — Do you have chickweed or morning glory or crabgrass or quackgrass, or a combination of these and possibly others in your landscape? Or do you have "weeds?"

According to William Meggitt, Michigan State University crop and soil scientist, if you know your specific weed problem you're in a much better position to control it.

"Specific herbicides are usually more effective on certain weeds than they are on others," explains Meggitt. "In addition, many herbicides are noted for their control on a certain group of weeds such as 'broad-leaves' or 'grasses'."

The three most common classifications of weeds include:

—Broadleaves: weeds such as plantain, knotweed, chickweed, morning glory, and dandelion.

—Annual grasses: including bluegrass, crabgrass, foxtail, and barnyard grasses.

—Perennial weeds: plants such as bentgrass, nimblewill, nutsedge and quackgrass.

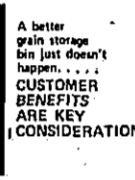

Make a resolution to live each day well and live it usefully.

The Michigan State University Extension Bulletin, E-653, "Lawn Weed Control" offers information on developing a weed control program for your specific weed problem. Single copies are free from county Cooperative Extension Service offices or by writing to: MSU Bulletin Office, P.O. Box 231, East Lansing, Mich. 48823.
