St. Johns firemen pour water on the flaming service buildings adjacent to the barn which was leveled by fire last Thursday afternoon on the William Ashenfelter farm on Price Road in Riley Township. Fires level 2 barns, threaten Co-Op bins

While most folks had only a heat wave to battle during the past week, St. Johns firemen also had a series of disastrous and potentially disastrous fires to contend with.

The most costly was one last Thursday afternoon in which a barn, milkhouse and grainery on the William Ashenfelter farm at 4771 W. Price Road burned to the ground with a loss estimated at around $10,000.

Sunday morning another barn on land owned by Edwin (Joe) Brown on West French Road was leveled by flames. Brown said the loss was not high and the barn was due to be torn down.

LAST TUESDAY night and Wednesday morning firemen responded to two alarms at the St. Johns Cooperative Co. where there were minor fires in one of the elevators. Both were extinguished with little damage.

The 'Ashenfelter fire started around 4 p.m. last Thursday and apparently had a whopping start before it was even noticed. When St. Johns firemen arrived at the scene on Price Road near Grove Road, the barn itself had collapsed and the milk shed and grainery were a mass of flames.

Firemen prevented the blaze from spreading eastward through an adjoining tool shed where it could have posed a serious threat to the Ashenfelter house. When they began running low on water, St. Johns summoned aid from Westphalia, and the Westphalia department brought a truck and tanker with enough water to subdue the fire.

ASHENFELTER estimated damage at $10,000 or more; it was covered by insurance. The big loss included a small Massey-Ferguson tractor and a four-row planter, both relatively new, parked in a 20-foot-wide driveway between the milk house and grainery. The tractor and planter were owned by Lyle Huguélet.

Also lost in the barn was a combine used for bean picking, and over 200 ducklings and chicks in brooders in the milk house. A semi truck belonging to Ashenfelter was badly scorched on the cab and several holes were burned in the floor of the trailer. It had been parked in front of the grainery but was pulled away from the flames by a passing truck.

About 200 gallons of paint—intended for use on the farm buildings this summer—were stored in the grainery and fed the fire until Westphalia firemen got close enough to blow the flames out with high pressure water. St. Johns had concentrated their efforts successfully on preventing the fire from spreading eastward through the tool shed.

ABOUT 50 BALES of old hay and straw were in the barn. The barn was about 48 x 32 feet in size and the milk house about 14 x 32 feet. Across the 20-foot driveway was a grainery about 20 x 18 feet. Cause of the fire was still undetermined Monday.

Sunday morning about 9:30 firemen were summoned to the Brown property near the intersection of French and Airport roads in Greenbush Township. There, too, the fire had gotten a good start and the barn collapsed just before firemen arrived. They prevented it's spreading through the grass to other buildings nearby on property owned by Durwood Brussell.

The barn was about 30 by 45 feet in size and contained only 'some straw' owned by the previous owner of the building. No official cause of the fire was listed; there was no electricity to the building. There was no estimate of damage.

THE ST. JOHNS Cooperative Co.'s own fire warning system prevented what could have been a major fire at the main elevators near the St. Johns downtown area last Tuesday night. A steady blast of a siren on the elevator gave the first hint of trouble about 9:45 and brought St. Johns firemen racing to the fire hall well before the city's siren was sounded.

Policemen were dispatched, and although they could see no smoke it was decided to get the firemen on the scene.

After considerable searching, firemen located an area of red hot grain about the size of the bottom of a bucket.

Widespread cereal leaf beetle infestation noted

Wide infestation of Clinton County crops by the cereal leaf beetle was reported last week by the county cooperative Extension Service office.

Oats are the main target, although there are some signs of the beetle on wheat.

"People may get excited, but it doesn't look now like there are enough of them to make it necessary for control measures this year," Agricultural Agent George McQueen of the local extension office said.

THE BEETLE has been primarily corralled in southwest Michigan since it first invaded the United States five or six years ago. Since 1964 Clinton County has been in a cereal leaf beetle quarantine area, meaning that certain grains and farm items could not be moved outside the quarantine area without inspection and certification that the items were free from the pest. No reports of infestation in the county came until last week.

Wheat, barley and rye are damaged by the pest less than oats, but in the tender growing stages of these plants, injury can be considerable. Despite the quarantine and active control measures, the new pest is spreading.

OATS ARE THE preferred host for the cereal leaf beetle, and whole fields may be destroyed. Both the adults and larvae (often called grubs or slugs) chew long strips of plant tissue between the veins. The adult usually eats through all of the leaf tissue, while the larva leaves the lower epidermis or skin of the plant leaf intact. When enough feeding occurs, the leaves of the damaged plants turn white at the tips and upon drying turn rust-colored.

An MSU bulletin on the subject notes that the white-tipped condition is, for the most part, a blanching of the color in the leaves. As far as is known, only at the cereal leaf beetle of the insect pests of cereals and grasses causes this white-tipped condition. The white tipping of grass leaves and the black-slime covered larvae are abundant proof

GREER EXPLAINED that the present dump has reached a point where it requires about two hours or more each day of either bulldozer or grader work.

"The above hours would of course be the public hours," he said. "Our operator would go to work at 8 a.m. and work until 6 p.m., with an hour off for lunch. This hour before public opening is needed to prepare for the day's operation, and the two hours after public closing is needed to cover the debris with six inches of fill.

"If it is found that we only require one hour to cover up each day we will change the 4 p.m. public closing to 5 p.m."

"ADMINISTRATIVELY we felt that it was impossible to close the land fill on Saturday mornings until we have developed a better rubbish and trash service for the community."

The sanitary land fill system is required by state health laws. It means a six-inch dirt cover has to be put over the refuse

St. Johns, Clinton set for July 4 weekend

Two major celebrations in Clinton County this weekend will help Americans celebrate the 190th anniversary of independence of the United States.

The bigger of the two celebrations will be in St. Johns where the fire department and Rotary and Lions clubs are sponsoring a three-day program of events capped by fireworks Monday evening, July 4.

On Sunday afternoon, the St. Mary's Parish annual festival will be held at Westphalia. It will be topped off with band and vocal concerts, a public dance and fireworks.

Bob Prowant, president of the St. Johns Fire Department which will shoot the fireworks in St. Johns at 10 p.m. July 4, promised a display "at least twice as large as any we've had in the past."

BUT THE FIREWORKS will only be part of the program of events for the weekend in St. Johns. Formally everything opens Saturday. This includes a food concessions stand operated by Lions Club and Rotary Club members, the Crown Amusement Co. carnival, and a popcorn wagon run by local Boy Scouts. Saturday night will see the first of three evenings of local amateur talent on display at the bandshell.

The carnival actually will set up tonight (Thursday) on the outfield of the softball field and will be ready to go all day Friday. The carnival includes 14 rides plus games and concessions.

RALPH LYNAM, who is in charge of the talent show for the Lions Club, said entries are coming in slowly, and there is still room in the show for anyone who has an act to present. Everyone who wants to will be able to perform all three nights of the show.

Judging of the acts will take place each night, but prizes will be awarded only one night—Monday, the final evening. Prizes will be gift certificates from St. Johns merchants.

Persons wishing to enter the talent show are invited to clip the entry blank in this week's paper and return it immediately to Ralph Lynam, Box 183, St. Johns.

THE SATURDAY PHASE of the celebration at St. Johns will be set aside as "Kiddies Day." All rides will be 15 cents for children during the afternoon. A boys' and girls' bicycle will be given away sometime after 6 p.m.

Children can have an opportunity to win a bicycle by retaining half of their carnival ride tickets, writing their name on the back of the ticket and depositing it in a box at a central location on the midway in the softball outfield.

The first show of local talent will be at 8 p.m. Saturday night. Other performances will be at the same time Sunday and Monday evenings.

THE FIREWORKS performance will begin promptly at 10 p.m. Monday evening, July 4. See JULY 4, Page 2-A

'Let freedom ring!'

"Let freedom ring!" The Clinton County Board of Supervisors has echoed Gov. George Romney's request that church bells in all the communities of the county be rung in unison on July 4.

"We ask and hope for the cooperation of everyone in having the bells ring in our communities on July 4 at 1 p.m. in recognition of 'democracy's greatest manifesto, the Declaration of Independence." The request is signed by the county board's public relations committee of Gerald Shepard, Oliver Angell, Harold Reed, Willard Kriebel and John Settrington.

Festival Sunday at Westphalia

WESTPHALIA — Westphalia's annual St. Mary's Parish Festival will be held this Sunday afternoon on the church grounds at Westphalia.

Activities will get under way at noon with a flag dedication by the Dale Hyland Post, American Legion, of Portland. There will be games, kiddie rides, prizes, lunches and refreshments during the afternoon. A number of quilts and afghans made by women of the community will be offered during the afternoon.

The evening program will get under way at 7 p.m. with a concert by the 36-piece Westphalia band, one of the comparatively few community bands still playing today. Paul Koster will direct the group. At 8 p.m. the Westphalia Men's German Glee Club under the direction of Gregory Thelen will perform.

At 9 p.m. the Mellotones of Fowler and Westphalia will provide music for a public dance. About 9:30 a fireworks display will be put on by a professional.

In event of rain Sunday, the affair will be staged Monday, July 4.

Candidate's name omitted from list

Last week's listing of candidates for the various township offices was not complete. It was pointed out Thursday. The Clinton County News inadvertently omitted the name of James H. Graham as a candidate for supervisor of Greenbush Township. He will oppose incumbent Supervisor Derrill Shinnery in the Aug. 2 primary election in Greenbush.

The Dallas Township slate of candidates, which hadn't been reported to the county clerk last Tuesday morning, June 21, consists of William Hufnagel for supervisor, Vincent J. Goerge for clerk, Leo Koenigsnecht for treasurer, Martin Halfmann for trustee and Bernard Weber for constable. All are running on the Republican ticket.

JAILED FOR FURNISHING

Jerry L. Harwood, 22, of Lansing, arrested last Thursday on a charge of furnishing beer to minors, was fined $25 plus $22.40 costs and sentenced to three days in the Clinton County Jail by Justice of the Peace Gordon Willyoung.

MILO ROWELL

Rowell to head Exchange Club

Milo Rowell was elected president of the St. Johns Exchange Club for the year beginning July 1 when the club met last Thursday noon.

Elected vice president was Ken Moore. Bob Wood will continue as secretary, and Ed Sulka will be the new treasurer. Bob Gill and Winchell Brown were elected to the board of directors.

William R. Brock, professional service representative of Smith, Kline and French, manufacturers of pharmaceuticals, was the speaker at the bi-weekly meeting. His topic was "Hidden Sickness," which concerns the use of the non-narcotic drugs, specifically amphetamines and barbiturates.

City buys 15 acres for sanitary land fill

The trash and garbage of the City of St. Johns will soon be buried on a new 15-acre site which the city commission voted last Tuesday night to purchase. The commission also voted to change the hours the public may dump refuse.

The new sanitary land fill site is immediately adjacent to the east of present dump area a half-mile north of St. Johns. The purchase will be the exercising of an option the city has had on the land from its owner, Lyle French. Purchase is expected to come after July 1.

THE CITY MOVED on the plan last week after a report from Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May, engineers, showed the site to be favorable for a landfill operation from the standpoint of water, table and soil. Part of the nearly 15 acres is now wooded.

The city's proposals for the use of the property have been forwarded to the State Health Department for their study and approval.

The city has been making preparations for the use of the new parcel of land for several weeks. A new roadway is being completed across the north end of the lime lagoons of the old sewage farm, and steel tubes to cross a small stream will be put in in the near future to carry the roadway across onto the new landfill site.

THE OPEN DUMP that's been used in the past is slowly filling up and by early fall the city administration figures the new landfill area will have to be in use. A wide expanse of one-time trash heaps has now been bulldozed down and covered over with a thin layer of earth.

City Manager Ken Greer said the city is making arrangements to have the dirt dug up in this summer's curb and gutter projects delivered to the old dump site and used to provide the two feet of earth cover which the State Health Department requires over a finished dump.

The new dump hours will go into effect even before the sanitary land fill project gets rolling on the new land. Beginning Friday, July 1, the dump will dumped each day, and when the particular area is filled a final two-foot-thick layer of dirt is required.

St. Johns would operate the land fill by digging trenches about 10 feet deep and refuse would then be dumped in the trenches. Dirt from the new trenches dug would be used to fill and cover the trench just used.

NO BURNING WOULD be allowed in a sanitary landfill, Greer said, with the exception of dead elm trees. Bulky items, such as cars, likewise would not be allowed.

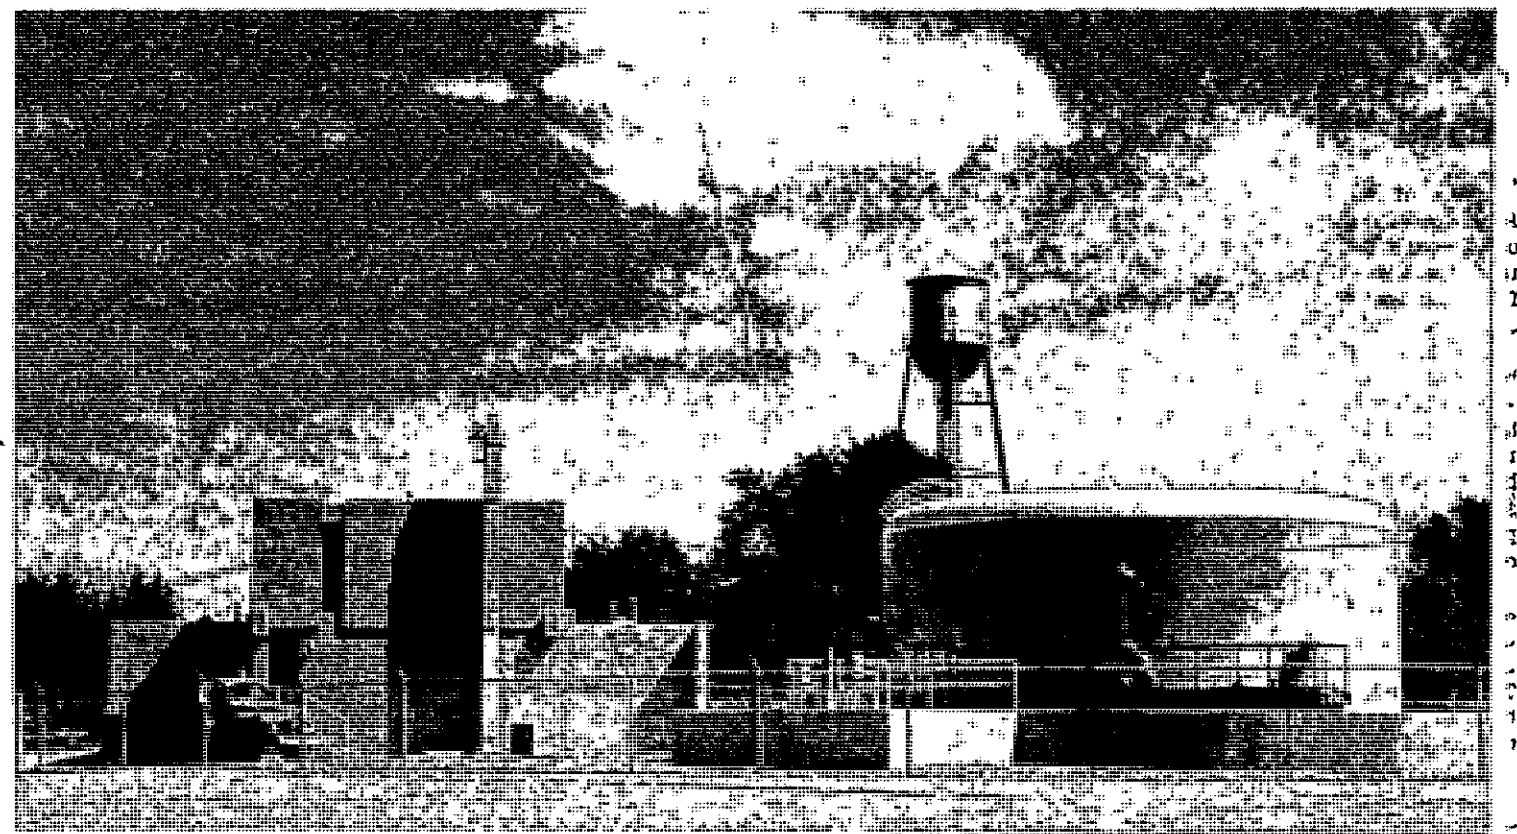

The new landfill site is expected to take care of the city's refuse-dumping needs for between 14 and 26 years, according to the estimates of Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May. Greer anticipates the city will use about an acre a year.

The purchase cost of the new land was revealed as "a little over $300 an acre" in addition to the original option costs.

THE CITY commission took up two other related matters at its meeting last Tuesday night. They approved and signed a new rubbish pickup contract, with the Mead Dray Service and forwarded it to Mead's for their signature. Mead's was recently granted a rate increase to $600 a month (from $460) for the pickup of trash. That new rate will go into effect July 1, as will a new rate of $2 per month for homeowners who use the Mead service for garbage, too. Mead's operate the St. Johns has purchased nearly 15 acres of land adjacent to the present dump for use as a sanitary land fill. The roadway across the old sewage farm (outlined in black) is presently under construction, and the new area will probably be in use this fall. The lime basin lagoons are still used by the city.

Water plant, clarifier (lower right) and 400,000 gallon ground tank.

City has its problems with water plant job

It will be at least August, and maybe later before St. Johns' new $540,000 water treatment plant is in operation.

Trouble in getting painters to do the work required by specifications and a long-delayed repair of a high voltage transformer are holding up the works now.

The most frustrating for the city is the painting problems. It involves two different companies, but the city and its project engineers are having the biggest headache over the Arno Paint Co. of Grand Rapids.

ARNO IS A sub-contractor for Pittsburgh-Des Moines Co., which constructed the 400,000-gallons water storage tank at the treatment plant site. They were hired to paint both the inside and outside of the tank.

The Austin Paint Co. of Flint was hired as a sub-contractor of C & C Construction Co., which built the water plant itself and the outside clarifier.

Both painting jobs got under way a month or more ago, but prior to the almost statewide construction workers strike. The Austin workers went on strike and are still out; Arno workers didn't strike but reportedly refused to wash and clean the interior of the tank before putting on a prime coat of paint, as was called for by the job specifications. The project engineers ordered them off the job because the work was not meeting specifications.

AFTER A LONG DELAY Arno sent two more painters, who happened to be men who had earlier gone out on strike against Austin in the big construction strike. They have completed the exterior painting of the tank and have done the walls and ceiling of the interior.

In the meantime, Arno ran out of primer paint for the interior floor of the tank and substituted a different primer which again did not meet specifications. About half the floor was primed before the work could be halted.

Engineers told Arno to remove the primer. The painters tried a number of different compounds, including some kind of oil, but still the primer would not come off. The engineers suggested it would have to be sandblasted off.

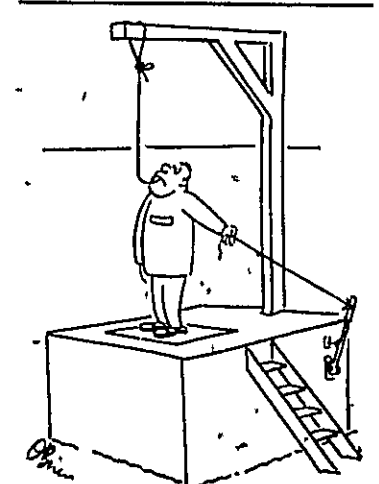

ARNO THEN OBTAINED the right type of primer paint but, according to the city reports, tried to put it on right over the top of the unspecified and now oil-covered primer. The result was the new primer was not even dry after seven days and could be easily roughed up and peeled off, city officials said.

City Manager Ken Greer said the engineers issued a stop-work order, but the painters refused to leave, saying they had their orders and changes could be made after the painting was done. St. Johns city police had to be called to the site before the painters would leave.

As of last Thursday, that was where the situation stood. The floor of the ground tank must be sandblasted down to bare metal, then covered with a factory primer, a prime coat and finally the finished coat of paint before the tank can be filled with water and checked for leaks.

MEANWHILE, THE painters on the water plant and clarifier are still out on strike. The clarifier has been almost completely prime coated, and the city has asked C & C Construction Co. for a quote on how much their bill for the work will be if the city releases them, and their subcontractor, from the painting work.

The city's idea is that it may be feasible to do the rest of the painting with a city crew rather than wait longer for the strike to be settled and work resumed. The electrical transformer, which burned out about the same time the painting started, is still in a state of repair. The Westinghouse Co., makers and repairers of the transformer, have informed C & C Construction Co. it will be ready July tom of a bushel basket. It had apparently been started from electrical wiring. There was no flame, only glowing red grain.

The site of the Tuesday night fire—about 9:45—was a short distance overhead from the floor in the dumping area of the elevator. Firemen swept sparks down to the floor in an effort to prevent water damage to the grain.

ONE OF THE SPARKS was responsible for bringing the firemen back Wednesday morning about 11:30. This time the fire was on the floor level, but was no more serious than the night before.

Tuesday night the Co-Op's alarm—a steady blast not as shrill or loud as the city's main siren—blew for over a half hour before it could be turned off. Many curious residents of the city walked and drove downtown to see what was going on.

John Hall, secretary-treasurer-manager of St. Johns Cooperative Co., said "We could have lost the plant if it had not been for the alarm system." All that would have been needed, he said, was for a breeze to fan the red hot grain.

HALL STRESSED that anyone hearing the Co-Op's siren should immediately call the fire department, without waiting to find out whether there is fire or not. "A few seconds can make the whole difference in an elevator fire."

The siren is tested frequently on Saturday noons at the same time the city whistle sounds.

Michigan ranks tenth or higher in production of more than 40 important crops, although ranking only 22nd in land area.

July 4 . . .

Firemen President Prowant said the fireworks will equal an annual display costing $1,700. It was made possible by some $1,000 in public donations from industry, business and private citizens, plus a little money left over from last year.

Prowant said the donations this year were used strictly for the purchase of fireworks. There was a little money left over, and it has been banked in an escrow account for use at the July 4 celebration next year.

Firemen have been spending the last month putting the fireworks into shape for the show. They have built all the set displays and prepared the aerial displays for firing.

THE FIREWORKS will be shot up from the far south end of the football field. Best seating for viewing the set displays will be the bleachers on both sides of the field. The best parking for cars will be in the new lots outside the fence at the south end of the field.

Last year an estimated 10,000 persons watched the fireworks from vantage points up to a mile or more away. This year's display, Prowant said, will be at least twice as large as any in the past.

Taxes in St. Johns just about average

St. Johns residents who think their taxes are high might count themselves fortunate after a look at what other communities must bear.

A survey was recently completed by the Michigan Municipal League relative to tax costs on an average residence. St. Johns' total taxes of city, county and school falls 32nd from the bottom—in other words about the halfway point. On school taxes alone St. Johns was 28th from the bottom.

The survey was made on the basis of a $15,000 residential home located on an average residential street. In our community it would pay approximately $307 in taxes to the city, county and school. Of the total 61 cities answering the survey, the lowest reporting taxes was $174.08 and the highest was $484.88.

But unless there are ways to determine services rendered, St. Johns officials point out, there is no way of making a proper comparison of what one resident might receive in one community in services over what another might receive in another community in services for the same tax dollars.

Beetle . . . 10 men get county's draft call

THE INSECT HAS four phases to its life cycle: eggs, larva, pupa and adult. Only the adults pass through the winter, emerging in April to lay eggs. The eggs hatch in about five to 10 days. Larvae feed from mid-May until the latter part of June.

Pupation takes place in the last half of June in cells in the upper two inches of soil. The adults begin appearing in mid-June and feed on tender grasses and corn for about 10 days. By mid-July, most of the adults discontinue feeding and seek overwintering sites.

These normally move to places under the bark of trees, in cracks in fence posts and logs, in baled hay and straw and other similar dry, secluded and firm hiding places.

McQUEEN NOTED the beetle has about two more weeks to complete its life feeding cycle. "So if they keep chewing, we could have some thin-looking oat fields," he said.

The infestation, while widespread, is not heavy and McQueen said control measures this year would not be worthwhile under those circumstances. Control is by date of planting of cereal crops and by treating with insecticides. Complete information on the pest and control methods is available at the extension office in the Clinton County Courthouse.

No concession stand yet

Users of the St. Johns City Park could go all summer without a concession stand open unless the City of St. Johns can find someone to take over the stand as a private operation.

City Manager Ken Greer said he looks at the concession stand as a lucrative business, although he admitted no one would get rich on it. Last year the Chamber of Commerce had gross sales of $4,600 but had four people working for a long period of time.

The city furnishes the lights and water, and the ice cream cooler and soft drink machines are provided by the suppliers. The only cost, Greer said, would be a $1 lease from the city and the cost of paying help.

THE CITY CAN'T operate the stand very well because they've been told by their attorney they can't operate on a cash and carry basis; suppliers of potato chips, candy and pop normally wouldn't want to keep the concession stand stocked if they had to wait for the city to process a check for each order delivered.

But so far the city has had little luck in finding someone to lease the stand and operate it. Unless someone comes forward soon, it could be a long, hot, dry summer at the city park.

Sharick now journeyman tool, die maker

Morris Sharick of East Walker Road, R-6, St. Johns has completed his apprenticeship in the trade of tool and die maker and is now rated a journeyman.

He completed the requirements and tests in February but was officially notified of the successful conclusion only June 20 by Charles A. Roman, apprentice and training representative for the U.S. Department of Labor.

SHARICK is employed as a tool and die maker for the Clinton Tool and Engineering Co. of St. Johns, which sponsored him under the federal program toward his journeyman rating.

Sharick started under the federal program in 1962 and has been taking classes in tool and die making at Lansing Community College. Prior to his start on the program he attended Ferris State College for two years.

Two other employees of Clinton Tool and Engineering Co. are attending classes toward a journeyman rating, both under sponsorship of the company. They are Duane Eckley of St. Johns and Clay Garrett of Owosso.

Flames roll from Ashenfelter barn

Smoke billowing from the fire on the William Ashenfelter farm in Riley Township became extremely dense when the flames ate into 200 gallons of paint stored in one of the buildings.

Park's pool area appearance condemned, cleanup ordered

Complaints from two St. Johns citizens concerning the landscaping conditions of the pool area at the city park were aired before the city commission last Tuesday night.

Remedial action was promised and later carried out.

Norbert Rehnman and later Spud Heathman complained to the commission that trimming of grass around the edges of the shrubbery in the pool area of the park was not being done, with the result that the area was taking on a shoddy appearance.

CITY COMMISSIONER Ray Kentfield said he had checked it out after hearing some complaints and agreed it was bad; in fact, he said, "I believe it (pool area) is in the worst shape it's been in in 15 years."

City Manager Ken Greer promised immediate attention to the problem, but pointed out the two-man park staff was kept extremely busy just doing what they have done. He agreed trimming was necessary and should have been done.

The complainants pointed out the tall grass was allowed to grow up around and through the shrubbery, which in itself was not kept up as it should have been.

"That's a beautiful area of the park," one of them said, "and shouldn't be allowed to look like that."

IN OTHER miscellaneous business:

The commission accepted the lower of two bids received for a new police car. It will be a 1966 Ford from Egan Ford Sales for a net cost to the city after trade of $1,189. The other bid was from Hettler Motor Sales for $1,600 net. Mayor Jack Smit asked that future biddings for new cars be made nearer the time of model change when he said the city would get more bids at good prices. The city's policy has been to seek new police cars when old ones get 50,000 miles on the speedometers.

The "use roll" of properties classified under the new city zoning ordinance was approved with one change, requested by Bernard Cain of 311 E. State Street. He pointed out the property should have been classified as two-family residential instead of one-family residential.

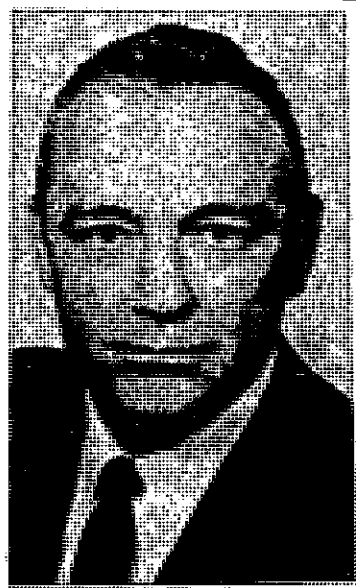

THE COMMISSION gave final approval for the new Mesh Park-side Subdivision just inside the west city limits of St. Johns in the Cass-McConnell streets area.

A bill from Clinton County for more than $500 as the city's share of sidewalk construction expense around the courthouse square was ordered by the commission to be processed with the normal bills.

The commission has asked that all firemen take physical examinations and that the certificates from physicians be kept on file by the city. It was reported that such evidence of good health on the part of the firemen could save the city about $600 a year in workmen's compensation costs.

MRS JAMES NUSER inquired as to the status of a previous request concerning a city ordinance change to permit children to enter the Roadhouse eating establishment on East State Street during the early evening when accompanied by their parents. The Roadhouse serves liquor and children are not now allowed. A similar request was tabled several months ago; it was ordered to be placed on the agenda for the July 5 meeting.

Jim McKenzie of the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce appeared before the commission asking that the city pay the two years back rent for the land on which a "Welcome to St. Johns" sign is located south of Parks Road on US-27. The city said it felt the sign is in no condition for continued use and suggested that the Chamber board check into its replacement before any commission action is taken. McKenzie said he would report back to the board.

SEN. EMIL LOCKWOOD

Lockwood to run again

Sen. Emil Lockwood (R-St. Johns) made a belated announcement this week of his candidacy for reelection in the 30th Senatorial District.

Because of the press of legislative matters he did not circulate petitions in his district, which is comprised of Montcalm, Gratiot, Clinton, Shiawassee, and parts of Eaton and Ingham Counties.

During the year Lockwood has been accorded many honors for his devotion to legislative matters. He was given an award for his contribution to agriculture in the state and was honored by members of the capitol press corps by being selected as the most effective Republican senator in the Michigan Legislature. The honor he said he personally cherishes the most is that afforded him by his colleagues in a resolution passed in the Republican caucus.

At the banquet June 22, Red Rose Chapter awards were given to 18 of the 326 chapters in Michigan. Among them was Pewamo-Westphalia, honored for outstanding achievement in the 1965-66 school year.

New legislation to return transfer tax to counties

A left-over bill from the 1965 session, which previously passed the Senate and House of Representatives and was signed Friday by the governor, will provide nearly $33,666.70 for the general fund of the five counties in the 30th Senatorial District, according to State Senator Emil Lockwood, Senate Republican leader from St. Johns.

"The bill will levy a tax of $1.10 per thousand dollars on real estate transfers. It would return all the money collected from affixing transfer stamps to deeds and other instruments of conveyance to the county where the tax is collected," Senator Lockwood said.

He further stated that this will amount to about $4 million a year among Michigan's 83 counties.

The bill will go into effect as soon as a similar federal excise tax is repealed on Jan. 1, 1968. Clinton County would get a yearly return of $5,980 based on projected estimates from 1964 returns. Eaton would be likely to get around $1,422, Gratiot $6,045, Montcalm $8,299, and Shiawassee $10,920.

New ordinance affects fireworks

The St. Johns City Commission passed a new ordinance last Tuesday night, the fourth one concerning use of fireworks and the third now on the books. It prohibits the use of fireworks within the city except by organizations which get permission from the city commission.

The ordinance allows for the use of some materials, such as toy pistol caps and sparklers.

Another ordinance concerning the keeping of livestock within the city was tabled and given to the city attorney for a redrafting of the proposed law. Another ordinance introduced concerned sidewalks and set rules and specifications for them. It was dropped by the commission, however as not being in the best interest of the whole city.

Church school closes at Shepardsville church

A "very successful" vacation church school was completed Friday evening at the Shepardsville Church with an open house and worship service. The two-week school was sponsored by the Duplain, Price and Shepardsville Methodist churches.

The enrollment was 102 children, and the average attendance was 89. There were 57 children who had perfect attendance. Children brought $75 for their service project, which will be to help support the Michigan migrant ministry. They also brought $46 to help pay the expenses of the school.

EIGHT DENOMINATIONS were represented by the youngsters; they were Assembly of God, Baptist, Catholic, United Brethren, Church of Christ, Presbyterian, Grove Bible Church and Methodist.

Mrs. Chandler Gleason was director of the school, and the following people were on the teaching staff:

Mrs. John Spencer, Mrs. Clarence Mead, Mrs. Richard Conklin, Mrs. Donald Thompson, Mrs. Ronald Miller and Mrs. Ivan Whitford (kindergarten); Mrs. Jack Miller, Mrs. Allen Personous and Judy Kindell were substitute teachers. Mrs. Howard Malitz, Mrs. Charles Swender, Mrs. Max Holt and Mrs. William Ashley (first and second grades); Mrs. Kenneth Kiger, Mrs. Ralph Baker, Mrs. Vern Hettinger and Mrs. Fred Musolf (third and fourth grades); Mrs. Donald Temple and Mrs. Ben Walker (fifth and sixth grades); and Mrs. Raymond Thornton, Mrs. Dale Squiers and Rev. John Huhtala (seventh and eighth grades).

THE HIGHLIGHT of the first week for the seventh and eighth grades was a trip to the First Methodist Church in Owosso. The class had been studying the symbols of the church and viewed the symbols used in the Owosso church. The highlight of the second week was the communion service served to the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades. The service was carried out as it was done in the third century.

The planning committee for the school consisted of the education chairmen of the three churches, Mrs. Donald Temple, Mrs. John Beachler and Mrs. Chandler Gleason.

BOTH ST. JOHNS girls were to leave Detroit's Metropolitan Airport at 6 a.m. Wednesday and will be gone until Sept. 3.

Miss DeVore will stay with the family of Dr Oscar Esnarriaga at Hidalgo Avenue No. 33. She said Friday she had received no other information about the family. She was notified only last week of her departure time and the family with whom she will be staying.

Cropsey to seek Senate seat

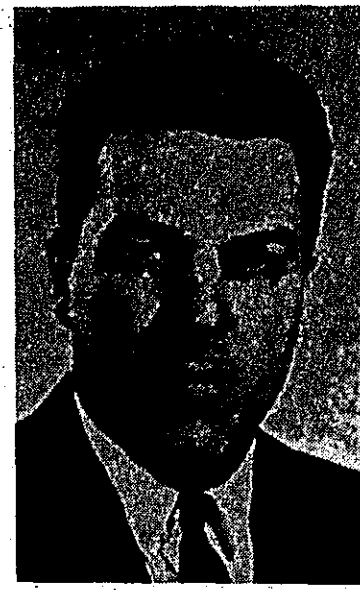

Harmon Cropsey, 48, of Howe Road, DeWitt, has announced his candidacy for state representative from the 88th District on the Republican ticket.

The Cropseys have six children, and the family has always been very active in school, church, 4-H, and farm activities. Cropsey attended MSU for three years and graduated from Iowa State University in 1936 with a BS degree in agriculture and economics. Following graduation he was on the staff of Iowa State University as 4-H extension agent.

DURING WORLD War II he served in the Navy Air Corps 3 1/2 years as a navigator and pilot. He was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and received the Air Medal and Presidential Citation while flying with the RAF in England in 1943-44.

Since his discharge from the Navy, Cropsey has been engaged in farming and farm equipment sales. The last five years he has also served as a legislative agent at the state capitol. He is well versed in legislative processes and has written legislation and testified before many committees.

Cropsey said he believes the only real issue before the American people today is whether they are to remain free or whether they will become pawns of big government. He says if he is elected he will fight for the right of each individual to operate his own business and to spend his own income rather than to give it over to big brother (government) in order to buy votes!

99 entries in bank's flower show

Ninety-nine floral entries from 36 participants brightened up the lobby of the Clinton National Bank and Trust Co. in St. Johns last Thursday evening and Friday.

The numbers of entries in the second annual flower show sponsored by the bank were a considerable increase over last year.

Class winners were: single specimen, Robert Conn of 204 Wight Street, St. Johns; formal arrangement, Mrs Herbert Schmidt of Fowler; informal arrangement, Mrs George Robinson of R-5, St. Johns; miniature arrangement, Miss Cynthia Jones of R-3, St. Johns; and floating arrangement, Mrs Barbara Amstutz of 807 Wight Street, St. Johns.

JUDGE FOR THE flower show was Wendell E. Sager of the MSU Department of Horticulture. He commented the informal arrangements were more numerous and the single specimens were lovelier than those he judged at the Traverse City Flower Show.

Little tots, too, found pretty roses fascinating as this youngster points out at last Thursday's flower show at the Clinton National Bank.

City League summary

Last week was the week that was as the favored teams in St. Johns Class A softball all tasted defeat.

Monday, June 20, Beckers stung the Roadhouse by inflicting a 1-0 victory. Larry Kohagen took command, and allowed only two hits and faced 23 men. Larry Crosby also was effective, giving up only three hits while facing 26 men.

Werner scored the only run of the game in the first when he walked, stole second, advanced to third on a wild pitch. He scored when the throw to third went into left field.

CO-OP WON ITS first of the season when they knocked off Bee's 14-6. Love went all the way for the win and Rick Randolph suffered the loss. Lee Hill had four hits including a two-bagger, and Love hit safely three times for Co-Op.

Co-Op turned the tables on Becker's by dropping them 6-0 to avenge an earlier 8-0 defeat. Love picked up the win, allowing only three hits as Co-Op picked up nine hits off Larry Kohagen. Lee Hill, Larry Blizard and Gene Rademacher had two hits apiece, and big George Gavenda hit a three-run triple to lead Co-Op's attack. Dan Freund had two safeties for Becker's.

DEAN'S WITH THE help of a error, edged the Roadhouse 2-1 last Wednesday night. Dick Pung gave up four hits, and fanned only one man in recording the victory. Larry Crosby gave up six hits, and fanned six in taking the loss. Chuck Ernst, Jerry Sharick and Jeff Martin contributed to the attack by hitting doubles for Dean's.

In the second contest Davis Cycle Shop continued to have big bats as they dropped Bees 7-2. J. Kelly went all the way to record the win, giving up four safeties, one a double to Leroy Martens. Rick Randolph took the loss. Reed had two hits, a double and triple, and Gary Bashore a three-bagger. Webster hit a round tripper to lead the Elsie attack.

THURSDAY NIGHT saw Roadhouse bounce back and pound out a 12-4 victory over Bensons. Terry Lerner started and was relieved by Crosby in the fourth. Harold Zimmerman led the attack with a double and a triple. Doug Monke started and took the loss. Slinder came on in the fourth for Benson's. Rod Hayes had a pair of doubles for Benson's.

This put Roadhouse in the lead a half game over Dean's and Davis Cycle Shop.

Through circumstances beyond his control, the man is stripped of all outward signs of civilization—clothing, food, weapons and hammered down to the basics—his courage, will, capacity to act, think, endure, conquer, assert the dignity and importance of his life, choose his goal, surmount overwhelming obstacles and rise above himself to justify his existence.

Swim Club use of pool approved for one morning

Citizens requests and complaints kept the St. Johns City Commission hopping last Tuesday night, and the end result left many folks hopping mad.

The primary ruckus was over a request from mothers of members of the St. Johns Swim Club to allow the swim club use of the city park swimming pool. The commission recommended exclusive rights to the pool on Wednesday morning from 6 a.m. to 7:30 a.m., and the mothers present agreed to accept the offer.

But the group of 15 persons left the commission chambers in a heated-up frame of mind after several heated exchanges of "conversation" with Mayor Jack Smith.

THE MAYOR OBJECTED to the commission having to submit to pressure groups who want some special consideration for themselves. He said he didn't see how the city could grant exclusive use of the pool to any one group.

"This pool is for kids who don't know how to swim and for everyone else in general, not for special groups," he said.

The mothers had appeared at the meeting requesting that the swim club be allowed to practice their swimming events at the pool during periods when the pool was not being used. Mrs. Dorothy Maki was spokesman for the group and read a prepared statement in which she said the city had refused earlier requests by Lawrence Cramer, who organized the swim club last fall and who is serving as its coach.

CITY MANAGER Ken Greer said he had offered Cramer the Wednesday morning time period but he (Cramer) had said this wasn't sufficient time for practice. Greer said it was the only time available during the week when the pool wasn't tied up.

"About two times a week we must vacuum the walls and the bottom of the pool," Greer said. "This is always done in the morning before swimming lessons so that it is settled down, and it takes approximately two days for each vacuuming. Our pool supervisor also needs at least an hour to get the pool equipment ready each morning."

The city this year has swimming classes starting at 8 a.m., although the 8-9 a.m. class isn't full. Greer also pointed out that the liability for the use of the swimming pool always remains and falls on the City of St. Johns, and that state rules necessitate one pool supervisor, two locker room attendants and one lifeguard even though only one or two people are using the pool.

THE MOTHERS POINTED out that two qualified lifeguards had volunteered their time as lifeguards if the city would allow the swim club to use the pool. But Greer pointed out the two people mentioned were employed by the city as pool lifeguards and the city did not feel it could allow them to work longer than the 10 to 12 hours a day they now work — for reasons of safety for the swimmers.

Greer offered this statement concerning the use of swim pools for swim clubs: "As you know, our pool is open only 2 1/2 months of the year, and we offer a complete well-rounded training program of the type that training pools similar to ours offer. We've talked with other city pool directors, and they point out that other than organizing a local swim meet and taking the winners to a state tournament as we normally do, they don't have time for organizing and setting up swim meets between cities.

"THEY CONCENTRATE the same as we do on swimming lessons and point out that their pools are operated similar to ours on a schedule of 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., and that it's hard to squeeze in the sponsorship of a swim club.

"We have laid out a program to train people to swim," Greer said, "not to provide olympic swimming."

The mothers and other speakers from the audience consistently pointed out that they were asking only for available free time and didn't wish the city to cut back on any of its present swimming times. They felt the volunteer help as lifeguards should be accepted.

COMMISSIONER RAY Kentfield Jr. soothed things over a bit when he finally suggested that the problem was one for the city recreation board and the city manager to work out, with recommendation of allowing the swim club use of the pool early Wednesday morning.

This was universally agreed upon by the commission and the audience. But the argument between the mayor and several members of the audience went on for several more minutes, until the audience left in a huff.

Campbell to study in Switzerland

BRUCE CAMPBELL

Bruce H. Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd B. Campbell of 207 E. Walker Street, St. Johns, was to leave today (Thursday) for a summer of study at the University of Lausanne, Switzerland.

He is one of 100 freshmen students at Michigan State University's Justin Morrill College making trips to Europe this summer. Seventy-two will be in Lausanne; 20 are studying in Moscow, USSR, and 8 are going to Spain.

CAMPBELL LEAVES from New York today and will return Sept. 20. The last week of his stay will be taken up by a trip through central Europe.

Morrill College is a new, experimental liberal education college founded last year at MSU. Its theme is international. Its goal—intercultural understanding. The students going abroad comprise about one-third of the college's first year enrollment. All have completed one year of intensive language training equivalent to three years of conventional language study—about one half of the first year's work load.

Dean of the college, D. Gordon Rohman, is quick to point out that language skills, like a door key, are "a tool acquired in a hurry to permit entrance into another civilization."

MOSCOW-BOUND students will live in dorms at Moscow University with Russian students. In Madrid, all the students will be housed with Spanish families. And in Lausanne, both dorm and family accommodations will be available.

Each of the young men and women will earn 12 credits. This total immersion in another culture is all part of Morrill College's international tone.

It begins with the students' first day on campus. Students studying the same language room together. This year about two thirds of JMC's 396 freshmen studied French.

Mrs. B. A. Deibert of 204 Church Street, St. Johns, was one of the winners in the statewide Pepsi Shopping Spree, and in a five-minute "outing" at the Kroger Store in St. Johns last Thursday morning she managed to corral $485.56 in groceries, most of it being meat. She chats with Bill Whitehill, route manager for the Pepsi Bottling Co. of Michigan, after checking out her groceries.

Road Commission Weekly Report

The Board of Clinton County Road Commissioners will hold their next regular meeting Tuesday, July 5. Perhaps an explanation of commission meeting would be in order.

The regular meetings of the road commission were set in 1931 as the 3rd and 18th of each month, except when those dates fall on Saturday, Sunday or a holiday; then the meeting is held on the next available day. In most cases this would be a following Monday, but the holiday makes it Tuesday this time.

THE BOARD WILL open bids for the July and August requirements of gasoline. The commission expects to discuss construction funds and new plans.

The prime and double seal coats of blacktop were finished on new grades this week. There was a total of about 16 miles. The blacktop program will continue for several weeks with the seal coating of existing blacktops.

The dust control program moved to state trunklines last week as the calcium chloride solution was applied to shoulders on M-21 and US-27.

ROY HARGER WAS elected general chairman of the picnic committee for this year. The annual road commission employees picnic will be held at Smith Hall Monday, July 25. The families of employees and retired employees and families are invited. There will be dinner, games and prizes, and safety awards will be given out at this time.

Cyclist hit by auto, bruised

A bicycle sailed through the intersection of Lansing and Park streets in St. Johns Monday afternoon and was struck by an auto, resulting in bruises for the young bike rider.

He was Stephen Price, 11, of 505 S. Clinton Avenue, who was riding east on Park Street. His bicycle was struck in the intersection by a southbound auto driven by Darrell L. Mills, 28, of 407 W. Steeles.

Mills told city police the boy went through the intersection without stopping or looking. The boy said he was going too fast to stop.

Chesaning Showboat July 11-16

This year is the Silver Anniversary year of Chesaning Showboat, and the 1966 Showboat will be all that is to be expected of a 25th anniversary presentation.

It was back in 1937 when Olie Richards and the late Chester M. Howell put on the first Showboat with a budget of $300 from the Chesaning Chamber of Commerce. The show has been given every year since 1937 with the exception of some World War II years when the show gave way to gas rationing and the war effort.

This year's show is headlined by the "Park Avenue Hillbillies" Dorothy Shay and the singing star June Valli. Other top-notch professional acts are Perry Forst billed as "Europe's greatest illusionist," Joey Hollingsworth a comedian-musician, and Sonny Mars.

Showboat will play this year for six nights, July 11 thru 16. The show starts each night with a prologue five amateur acts. Each night, Monday thru Friday, five different acts compete with cash prizes for the first three places. On Saturday night, the first place winner from each of the first five nights competes for the grand prize.

The 25 amateur acts for Showboat this year were picked from 89 acts that tried out in auditions in Chesaning on June 22, 23 and 24.

When dusk comes and the amateur acts are finishing, there is always the sound of a skyrocket being fired which announces that Showboat has started the half-mile trip down the winding Shiawassee River. The boat is soon in view and picked up by powerful spotlights.

The chorus on board sings while the boat is nearing the stage. For many people in the audience, this thrill of seeing the brilliantly lit boat approach is "half the show."

Then comes two hours of fast-moving minstrel-type entertainment with the pro acts, the chorus and six you-never-know what they're-going-to-do endmen.

Michigan mines nearly 20 per cent of the nation's salt. It has enough salt to supply the entire nation "forever."

NEWS in Brief

Four Clinton County residents were among the 270 Ferris State College alumni inducted into the college's Society of the Golden Eagles at the annual alumni reunion recently. Golden eagles are those alumni who attended the college at least 50 or more years ago. Those inducted were Percy J. Carris of DeWitt, pharmacy 1916; Cora E. Hoerner of St. Johns, general education 1910; Bessie Sloan Leonard of St. Johns, general education 1916; and Lillian Echlin Sealey of St. Johns, commerce 1909.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Woodruff, president and vice president respectively of the Woodruff State Bank of DeWitt, attended the 80th annual convention of the Michigan Bankers Assn. June 23-25 at the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island. The Woodruffs from Clinton County's only remaining independent unit bank were among more than 700 registered at the convention. They were the only ones present from Clinton County.

Earl Hass assumed the gavel of the St. Johns Rotary Club Tuesday noon and pinned the past president's pin on Dale Robinson. Speaker for the meeting was William Brock, who spoke on "The Hidden Sickness"—illegal use of non-narcotic drugs.

Woodman, Allen spoke to Clinton Republicans

Many Clinton County Republicans turned out for the annual picnic held Thursday, June 23, at the Gumaer Memorial Park of Ovid.

Rep. Blair Woodman and Rep. Lester Allen spoke to the group during lunch and then returned to Lansing for the afternoon legislative session.

Victor Melers, candidate for state senate and Thell Woods, candidate for the state representative, spoke after lunch.

AT THE BUSINESS meeting it was voted to give $1000 to the County Committee with the recommendation that part of it be used for the Republican candidates in Clinton County.

County Chairman Andy Cobb reminded everyone that July 5 is the last day for registering for the primary election.

The next GOP event will be the chicken barbecue Sept 15 at Smith Hall.

HE'S GOT TROUBLES

William D. Pattee of Flint has got troubles. First he was arrested last week for a minor in possession charge. Soon after he was released on $200 bond he was arrested again in Elsie on a charge of driving while intoxicated. He's out again on $500 bond pending an Aug. 2 examination before St. Johns Municipal Judge Alba Wert.

New telephone rates go into effect July 1

General Telephone customers will realize a savings of more than $270,000 annually through the company's fifth rate reduction in less than two years, Peter B. Spivak, chairman of the Michigan Public Service Commission, reported last week.
The newest reduction in telephone rates brings the total annual savings provided General Telephone customers through five reductions since January 1965 to more than $1 million, Spivak said.

Three of the four items included in the newest reduction will be effective July 1. The fourth, a new "Call-Park" service, is scheduled for Aug. 1. A portion of the reduction in charges for colored instruments becomes effective with the customer's August billing.

1) Residence one-party service will be reduced 10 cents per month, effective July 1, affecting approximately 60,000 customers with a total savings of $60,000.
2) Residence extension rates will be reduced, effective July 1, from the present $1.25 per month to $1.15 per month, providing an estimated savings of $44,500 to more than 37,000 customers;
3) The basic one-time charge for both business and residential customers for a colored instrument will be reduced from the present $7.50 to $4.00 and, for residential customers, the new, lower charge will include all colored instruments installed during one visit, effective July 1.

CHAIRMAN SPIVAK itemized the scheduled rate reductions agreed upon by the MPSC and General Telephone as follows:
In addition, the monthly color charge of 25 cents, previously paid in lieu of the one-time charge, will be discontinued with the August billing.

CUSTOMERS presently paying the monthly color charge, who have not yet paid a total of $4.00, will continue the monthly payments after their August billing until the total of $4.00 has been paid, then the monthly charge will be eliminated. An estimated 27,500 customers will be affected with an annual savings of $81,000.

4) A new Call-Pak service, optional for residence customers, will provide a special rate for station-to-station long distance calls up to 20 miles between rate centers during a specified time period. For calls made between noon and 7 a.m.,

Call-Pak will have an established monthly rate of $2.40 for the first 60 minutes of conversation (per month) and 3 1/2 cents per minute beyond the 60 minute package. (The average residence customer now pays $3.20 per month for toll charges on calls to points within 20 miles). The new service is expected to affect approximately 4,000 customers with an estimated savings of $85,000.

Driver ed students finish up Friday

If you have a driver's license to renew, it might be wise to plan to do it some time other than this Friday! The first of three groups of students taking driver education in St. Johns will finish up the course Friday morning with written tests, and afterward the license office in the courthouse could get rather busy. There are about 90 students in the first driver education class.

Soldier's prayer

Dear Heavenly Father, tonight my paths are one, for tomorrow morning I'll cross the pond to help my buddies far across the sea who are fighting so bravely for victory. For over there is much grief and pain, and I know, God, I may not return again; I'm asking thy mercy now, for I want to come back someday, somehow. I know, Father, of losses and of the wars we've won, but I beg thee, God, please give us this one. I have a sweetheart back home, so lovely and fine; I was hoping someday, Father, of making her mine. My chances now, I know, are small and few; I can only put my hope and trust in you. I admit, Father, that I dread to die, but for myself is not the reason why. It's because of my mother, so small and frail. For I know she loves me with all her heart, and it hurts her so for us to be apart, but I'll fight till the finish, with help above, for you, my country, and the many people I love. Please, God, if I don't return, grant one wish for me, bring all my friends and loved ones to live in Heaven with me.

The President said the war would last two months, but, Father, he's not been on the battle fronts. For there they are dying, scores by the hours. And, God, I know they've prayed many a prayer. There's one last request—I humbly ask of thee. Bless the mothers of the boys fighting overseas.

Amen.

Featherweights best in pillows

Featherweights are best when you're choosing pillows, according to Fean Schubel, textile specialist with the Cooperative Extension Service at Michigan State University. Of two feather pillows of the same size and plumpness, the lighter pillow is superior.

Here are a few simple tests suggested by Miss Schubel to use when you're shopping for pillows made of feathers.

BALANCE THE PILLOW you are considering on the palm of your hand. If it is well filled, the ends will stay straight without drooping. If it droops, it means the pillow is skimpy filled.

To test the pillow's resiliency, lay it on a flat surface. Press down on the pillow with both hands then take your hands away. The pillow should immediately spring back into its original shape.

Also, check to see if the pillow flattens more than half its original thickness, Miss Schubel suggests. A pillow should buoy up your head, not smother it.

Salads Of Summer

Summer—a feeling of change and excitement in the air. A whispering breeze smells of flowers, warm earth and balmy weather. Time for the bright color and crisp texture of salads.

Handle salad greens carefully, trimming all wilted portions. Put washed and drained greens in a colander over a bowl covered with wax paper into the refrigerator to crisp. Toss salad greens with dressing just before serving to prevent wilting.

MELON FRUIT BASKETS WITH HONEY WINE DRESSING

(Makes 6 servings)

Pale green melon heaped high with a snowy peak of cottage cheese and colorful pieces of fresh fruit served with a dressing made of wine honeyed to the proper sweetness.

3 honeydew melons
3 cups (1½ pounds) creamed cottage cheese
3 packages (12 ounces each) frozen sliced peaches, thawed and drained

3 firm bananas, cut into halves
1 pint strawberries, hulled, washed and halved
2 cups fresh, frozen or canned pineapple chunks
Chickory

Cut melons into halves with a sharp knife using a zig-zag cut to notch edges. Remove seeds. Slice a piece from the bottom of each melon to allow it to stand straight on the plate. Put a large mound of cottage cheese into the melon. Surround cheese with peach slices, banana slices, strawberry halves and pineapple chunks. Put melon on a plate and garnish with chickory. Chill until ready to serve. Serve with Honey Wine Dressing.

HONEY WINE DRESSING

(Makes about 1½ cups)

1 cup (½ pint) sour cream
2 tablespoons honey
½ cup Niagara type wine
Stir all ingredients together adding salt to taste. Chill until ready to serve. Stir again before serving.

Stories differ about accident

Two drivers had different stories to tell about an accident Friday morning on M-21 a mile east of Pawamo.

Daniel H. Thelen, 24, of Portland said he was making a right turn into a driveway, making a wide turn, and his car was hit in the rear by one driven by Belmont F. Burger, 68, of Orleans.

Burger said Thelen was backing out of the drive and backed in front of his (Burger's) car. Burger said he tried to go around the other car but got hit in the rear door.

California Ripe Olives To The Rescue

A pound of shrimp goes two pounds as far when you add a can of California ripe olives. People don't think of these handsome dark beauties as meal "stretchers," but that they are. They have the texture of good solid protein and a flavor all their own. As in this salad, they always command authority without stealing the whole show. Try ripe olives in first course seafood cocktails, in casseroles and stews, on pizza and in other dishes that need a helping hand.

OLIVE SHRIMP SALAD SUPREME

Cars collide in working zone

Harold W. Stehlik, 20, of Lansing was ticketed for failure to have his vehicle under control following a two-car, rear-end collision on US-27 at Parks Road.

His car hit the rear of one driven by Arnold P. Jeffers, 55, also of Lansing. Both were going south on US-27 and were in the left lane going past a road repair truck working in the right lane.

2 from area elected to Boys' State offices

At least two Clinton area boys attending Boys' State at MSU last week were elected to offices in some level of government in the mythical 51st state.

Bill DeGroot of St. Johns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick DeGroot of 411 E. Cass Street, was elected to the county office of justice of the court of appeals. He was sponsored at Boys' State by the St. Johns Rotary Club.

John F. Hillbrandt of 202 W. Lincoln Street, Pawamo, was elected to the State Hospital Commission representing the City of Tyler in Blair County. He was sponsored at Boys' State by the Pawamo St. Joseph's Holy Name Society.

ABOUT THIS QUESTION

"A New Jersey court held that an injured domestic employee was covered by the state's Workmen's Compensation Law and hence the employer's Homeowner Policy did not cover his liability for the injuries or lost income of this employee. Does this imply that a homeowner must carry Workmen's Compensation Insurance or else assume liability for his domestic help?"

Good fire, food— July 4 cookout

by HELEN MEACH
Extension Home Economist

Are you having a cook out this weekend? The fourth of July brings outdoor cooking and picnic season into full swing. A good fire and good food are the most important pre-requisites for a successful outing.

Charcoal is the accepted fuel for the fire these days, but there are differences in the charcoal.

When you buy charcoal be sure to read the label. A new charcoal product made of coal (also called "charcoal briquets") is on the market. The name on this product is somewhat misleading for charcoal briquets are technically made from woods and hard woods. So know what you're buying.

BASICALLY WOOD charcoal briquets have several advantages over those made from other materials, such as coal. First, wood briquets are easier to light, they reach grilling temperature much faster, have lower ash content, and do not have a "chemical type" odor while burning. Wood charcoal is generally available in two different forms—briquettes and lump.

Lump charcoal as the name implies, comes in lumps or chunks. Briquettes are made from lumps that have been ground, mixed with a starch binder and pressed into uniform-sized blocks.

Briquettes give the most uniform heat and are easiest to handle. They are also long-burning. If a uniform heat is not as necessary and if you want a short-lasting fire, (such as for hot dogs) the lump charcoal might be a good choice. For uniform heat which is necessary for grilling steaks, chicken, etc. the briquettes are a better choice.

THE BEST charcoal is made from slow growing hardwoods and made under very carefully controlled conditions. It takes about 60 pounds of wood to produce 10 pounds of charcoal. Much of the natural moisture must be removed from the wood before it can be carbonized. Wood is carbonized in air-tight retort ovens to eliminate the presence of oxygen so the wood cannot burn and the chemical by-products can be drawn off. After the carbonization process the charcoal lumps must be cooled (extreme caution must be taken to prevent spontaneous combustion) before they're ready for processing or packaging.

The resulting lump charcoal is passed over a screen to separate sizes. The larger lumps are bagged for lump charcoal. The smaller lumps are put through a grinding operation, mixed with a starch binder and compressed into the very dense pillow-shaped pellets named briquettes.

TO START THE charcoal fire, pile the briquettes pyramid fashion in the center of the grill. Tuck a piece of wax impregnated paper into the center and light with a match only. Liquid starters can be used but some have an after-smell which penetrates the food to be cooked. The charcoal fire is "burning ready" when each briquette is 2/3rds covered with white ash. The most common mistake in grilling is to start cooking too soon. Charcoal produces a tremendous heat and a long lasting heat, so there is no hurry to start cooking. Generally a briquette fire will give from 2 to 4 hours of cooking time, so let the fire burn 20 to 30 minutes before starting to cook.

HAPPY HOLIDAY Cooking and eating at your house.

An excellent bulletin, "Outdoor Cooking for the Family," is available for you for only 10¢ at the County Extension office. It contains suggested menus, recipes and cooking methods.

Following dad's wartime footsteps

Following in a father's footsteps is not uncommon for youngsters, but the case of Pvt. Darrell L. Hoeve is certainly "footstep-following"—by accident.

Private Hoeve recently graduated from Basic Combat Training with Company C, 1st Battalion, 11th Artillery, 9th Infantry Division at Camp Forsyth, Fort Riley. By coincidence, his father, George G. Hoeve, of St. Johns, had taken basic training in 1941 with a cavalry unit in the same camp.

Not only were they stationed at the same camp, but by an even stranger twist of fate, they also were assigned to the same barracks.

Fresh Nectarines Tempt Summer Appetites

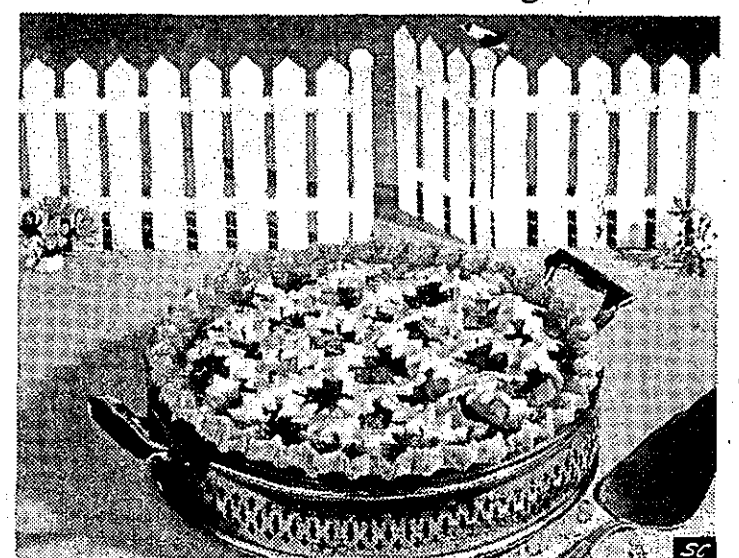

It's summertime, so make the dessert easy on the homemaker and easy on the eye all at the same time. "Fresh Fruit Elegante," assembled ahead of time and chilled, cuts down on last-minute dinner chores and provides a refreshing, elegant-looking hot-weather dessert. It features golden fresh nectarine slices, cherry halves and melon balls in a spiced orange-and-lemon-flavored sauce sure to please all palates.

FRESH FRUIT ELEGANTE

¾ cup brown sugar, packed
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 cups orange juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
3 tablespoons lemon juice
Dash nutmeg
6 whole cloves
1 stick cinnamon (3 inches)
3 cups sliced fresh nectarines
2 cups halved pitted Bing cherries
2 cups melon balls
½ pint dairy sour cream (optional)

Combine sugar and cornstarch in small saucepan. Gradually blend in orange juice until smooth. Add lemon rind and juice, nutmeg, cloves and cinnamon. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Cool. Pour over nectarines, cherries and melon balls. Chill 2 to 3 hours. Serve plain or topped with sour cream. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

A Summer Welcoming Idea

Ah, the welcome signs of summer—little flowers peeking through a spanking white fence, birds singing their summery songs and a pretty lattice-topped pie. What's under the lattice top? It's that favorite combination of strawberries and rhubarb. Made with the aid of a convenient and dependable pie crust mix, this flaky Strawberry Rhubarb Pie can be a frequent summer sight!

STRAWBERRY RHUBARB PIE

Makes one 9-inch pie

Filling:
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
3 cups fresh rhubarb, cut in ½-inch pieces
1 pint fresh strawberries, sliced
Crust:
One 10-oz. pkg. Pie Crust Mix
4 tablespoons cold water

Heat oven to hot (425°F.). For filling, combine all ingredients, mixing to coat fruit evenly. Set aside. For crust, empty contents of package into bowl. Sprinkle cold water by tablespoonfuls over mix; stir lightly with fork until just dampened. (If necessary, add another one-half tablespoon cold water to make dough hold together.) Form into ball. Divide dough in half. Roll one half out on lightly floured board or canvas to form a 13-inch circle. Fit loosely into 9-inch pie plate. Trim, allowing ½ inch beyond rim.

Pour filling into pie crust; dot with butter. Roll remaining dough out to form an 11-inch circle. With pastry wheel or knife, cut ½-inch strips. Lay five or six strips across filling. Weave additional strips over and under these. Bring edge of bottom crust over strips; flute to seal. Bake in preheated oven (425°F.) 10 minutes. Reduce heat to moderate (350°F.) and continue baking about 30 minutes.

NOTE: For a tasty treat, sprinkle remaining pastry strips with cinnamon-sugar. Bake in preheated oven (425°F.) a few minutes until golden brown.

Phone ahead long distance, for reservations.

3 types of aid after disaster available now

"Natural and man-made disasters often strike without warning, and as a result, victims are often faced with problems they have never encountered before," William M. Smith, chairman of the Clinton County Defense Board, said this week.

Smith explained at a recent meeting that USDA agency members and the defense board itself have the authority to provide various types of assistance and put numerous programs into effect when disaster strikes.

Smith pointed out three main areas in which the county defense board would work if a disaster occurred. The first area would be feeding the hungry. The second area includes assisting farmers whose crops were destroyed or whose livestock has been left without food or water. The third area includes making emergency loans or otherwise aiding the farmer whose property has been damaged or destroyed.

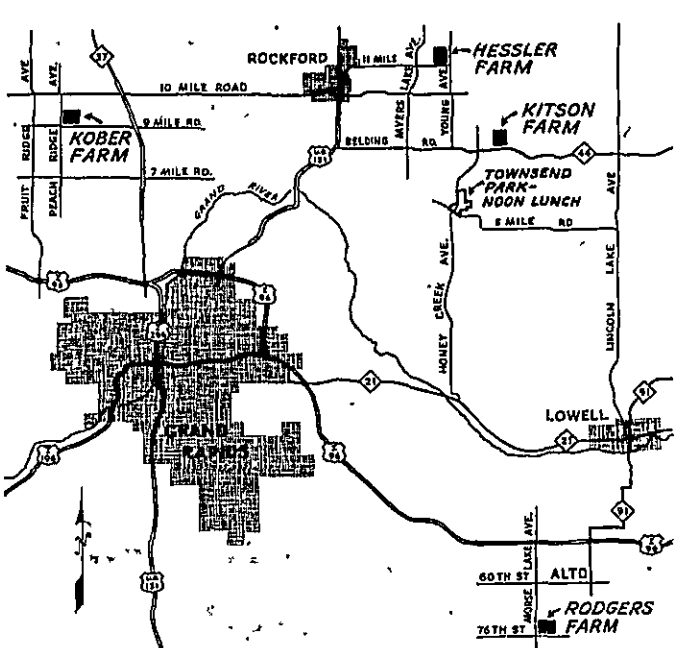

INFORMATION BEFORE a disaster occurs can be a valuable

STATE FARM MANAGEMENT TOUR JULY 20

DR. BERG

Speaker at the noon chicken barbecue in Townsend Park will be Dr. Sherwood Berg, Dean of Agriculture at the University of Minnesota and chairman of the National Advisory Commission on Food and Fiber. The public is invited.

CCC is buyer, as well as seller, of grain production

What effect does the sale of CCC grain have on farm prices? Naturally whether made by farmers or CCC, significant grain sales are a downward pressure on prices. It must therefore be just as true that buying results in upward pressure. And CCC is just as big a buyer as it is a seller.

CCC "buys" (that is acquires grain on non-recourse price-support loans) to lift prices above what producers would otherwise get when markets are weak — when harvest-time gluts or super-abundant crops build up short or long-term surpluses.

BUT UNLESS IT is simply destroyed, which would make sense, grain can't continuously be bought and stored. It must come out of CCC's (or any other buyer's) stocks sometime, somewhere. CCC must be a seller in order to be a buyer. Otherwise it cannot keep on helping producers as a buyer when their markets are weak. Just as it buys when those markets are weak, CCC sells when they are strong and best able to absorb orderly release. The ever-normal granary is for both producers and consumers.

At the end of February 1966, government investment in feed grains and wheat covered 2.1 billion bushels less than in February 1961. Almost half of the 1961 government holdings and grain under price support had been cleared out by orderly disposal and production adjustment. Producers had a clean slate again.

EVEN WHILE THE surplus was coming down, farmers' prices and income improved. From October 1965 to mid-May 1966, CCC sold over 413 million bushels of grain to rural residents.

Department of Agriculture assists in bringing emergency information to rural residents, and this information comes primarily through our County Defense Board," Smith said.

It was noted at the meeting that the county extension agent has numerous bulletins and materials available in his office concerning emergency farm planning. Interested people should contact the county extension office for pre-emergency literature so that residents can be prepared when an emergency occurs.

Another source of emergency preparedness materials and information is the civil defense office in the courthouse.

Nickel chemicals, because they destroy fungus after it appears on a plant, are used to combat rust fungus diseases which attack crops of grass grown for seed.

ASC PROGRAM

Wheat producers praised for program cooperation

W. M. SMITH
County ASC Manager

With few exceptions wheat producers who are participating in the 1966 wheat program came to the county office and certified their acreage by the deadline date of June 15.

I want to thank the producers for their cooperation; I know many had to make a special trip to St. Johns to certify. This part of the program is new; next year I hope a large number can certify when they sign up to participate.

I also want to thank the community committeemen for contacting their neighbors and encouraging them to come to the county office and certify by the June 15 deadline. It had not been for their efforts, some would have failed to certify.

WE ARE MAILING out double postcards to all wheat producers who are not participating in the 1966 wheat diversion program. This postcard is to report the 1966 wheat acreage harvested as grain and the information will be used in determining future wheat allotments. Failure to report this acreage may result in a reduction of future allotments. Please return the postcard as soon as possible so you will receive acreage credit for this year.

We have received our 1967 county wheat acreage allocation and plan to have your 1967 wheat allotments mailed by July 1.

Last week we sold 600 bushels of corn from our Elsie binsite. High bid was $1.29 1/4 and low bid accepted was $1.28.

Thursday, June 23, we are again offering corn for sale from our Elsie binsite. Interested bidders must contact our office before 8:30 p.m.

By ALVIN ROOT, Extension 4-H Agent in Clinton County

Our 4-H vegetable gardens are well underway at this time of year and of course the insects, too. Most of the insects that bother us at this time of the year are working on the parts of the plant that are above ground. A regular dusting, or spraying program will help insure a successful garden.

4-H club members are urged to use an all-purpose dust or spray, chemical mixtures containing methoxychlor and malathion. These are chemicals that kill insects. Right along with this material will be a fungicide that will help control diseases of plants. In all cases read the directions on the container before using. Chemicals that kill insects can be injurious to humans.

4-H GARDENERS are reminded that there are many vegetables such as cabbage, carrots, lettuce and others that can be planted now for later harvest.

4-Hers are reminded of the Clinton County 4-H Talent Show set July 9 at Smith Hall. The program will get underway at 8 p.m. and is sponsored by the Clinton County 4-H Service Club. Entry blanks are due in the Extension office in St. Johns by July 5. The public is invited.

Summary report of the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service activities during 1965 — Pages 7-11

Extension reorganization greatly affected area

The Cooperative Extension Service in Clinton County is a branch office of Michigan State University and also is the educational branch of the United States Department of Agriculture. The program is financed jointly by MSU, USDA and Clinton County.

During the past year there was considerable reorganization within the Extension Service throughout the state. This affected Clinton County as well as every other one in Michigan.

AT THE PRESENT time there are two agents assigned to Clinton County on a full-time basis. They are F. Earl Haas, county extension agricultural agent, and George R. McQueen, extension agricultural agent. In addition to the two agricultural agents, two home economists serve a three-county area. Helen Meach is based in Clinton County but also works in Shiawassee and Gratiot. Lorraine Sprague, based in Gratiot

County, also serves the same three counties.

Since the departure of Don Walker for further study at Michigan State University in January, the 4-H work has been divided between two area youth agents. They are Alvin Root who is based in Shiawassee County and Harvey Middleton from Gratiot County.

WITH THE AREA approach in the family living and 4-H phase of the Extension Service it has become necessary to plan more of the programs on an area basis. With the large 4-H program in Clinton County and only part time help it has left more of the responsibility for the program in the hands of the 4-H Council and local leaders.

There are five major program areas in the Extension Service. They are agricultural production and marketing, family living, 4-H and youth work, marketing and utilization, and natural resources. The agricultural production and marketing and natural resources are divided by the two agricultural agents.

EARL HAAS is responsible for the livestock program, farm management and farm business including farm accounts, agricultural engineering, buildings, materials handling and farmstead arrangements. George McQueen is responsible for crop production and soils management, soil conservation, drainage, and pest control, including insects, diseases and weeds. Even with the division of the responsibility both agents work on all phases of the agricultural program.

In the family living program Helen Meach is responsible for foods and nutrition, work with low-income families and the newsletter for family living members in the three-county area. Lorraine Sprague has the leadership for the clothing, home management, home furnishings, and the Modern Mrs newsletter. Again both of these agents work on all phases of the family living program when needed. They are also responsible for the subject matter training in the 4-H program in their related fields.

THE RESPONSIBILITY for the 4-H program has been split on a basis of projects, activities, events, and leader training and council. This division between Alvin Root and Harvey Middleton is not real distinct. Because of lack of time they are in the county no definite division can be made.

The educational work of the Extension Service is conducted through meetings, short courses, demonstrations, farm and home visits, newsletters, office and phone calls, and by way of mass media such as newspapers, radio and television. Bulletins are available on most subjects related to agriculture, family living and 4-H work, with practically all bulletins published by Michigan State University available at the extension office. Some of the USDA bulletins are carried in stock, and any of them are available on order.

CLINTON COUNTY'S extension program is developed by the people in the county through their respective councils with the advice of the extension staff. A complete program of work is prepared a year in advance with the guidance of these people and is used as a basis for programs of the coming year.

The educational assistance available through the Extension Service is free for anyone in the county at any time. The offices are located in the basement of the courthouse and you can contact the office there or phone for bulletins or information on any phase of agriculture, family living or 4-H club work.

Extension—all phases of farm life covered

Work of the Cooperative Extension Service takes in all phases of farm life—people, fields, animals and buildings. The aim is to make a better life for all rural people.

Extensive use reflects Smith Hall's more-than-ever popularity

The 4-H fair grounds, and particularly Smith Hall, have been used more during the past year than ever before. There was a total of 169 meetings or events held in the building last year. These ranged from small meetings of an extension nature to one large commercial meeting with over 1,000 people in attendance.

The 4-H clubs used the building more than any other organization, with the county achievements, leader training meetings and community club meetings topping the list. The other phases of extension work also use it for various types of meeting, short courses and events.

AMONG THE VARIOUS groups who have used the building during the past year are farm organizations such as Farm Bureau, National Farmers Organization, Michigan Milk Producers, Artificial Breeders Assn., Holstein Breeders and others. There were a number of commercial companies which held their annual meeting or promotion meeting at the hall. Others included the Blue Star Mothers, Senior Citizens, PTA groups, All Sports Banquet, Chamber of Commerce dinner, music recitals, school picnics and family reunions.

The facilities of Smith Hall are available for the use of groups and organizations in Clinton County and can be booked through the extension office. Under a new policy all groups, with the exception of Extension sponsored events, will be charged for the use of the facilities and even extension groups will be charged for the use of the kitchen facilities at the rate of $10 a meal.

RENTAL ON THE HALL varies from $15 for a meeting of a school or church organization to $50 for an outside commercial company. With the increased use of Smith Hall, the building committee in charge of the facilities has tried to make improvements as fast as possible. During the past year the parking area has been blacktopped, 12 new tables have been secured, steel doors have been placed on the building and three mercury vapor lights have been installed to provide all-night lighting.

CONSIDERABLE improvement has been made in the grounds and they are being maintained very well by the county. Plans have also been made to install drapes in the building to improve the acoustics, and a study is also being made on improving the floor.

Many groups and organizations

Work with other agencies helpful

Your county extension office cooperates with many federal, state and local agencies and groups. Close work with the County ASCS was rewarded by the average corn and wheat yields assigned to Clinton County being raised. Corn was increased from 60 to 77 bushels per acre and wheat from 35.4 to 40.8 bushels per acre. These yields are more comparable to those of surrounding counties.

The new yields more closely indicate farm production. Assigned average yields serve as the basis for payments received by crop producers participating have been responsible for the continued improvement of the facilities, and these include the Clinton County Board of Supervisors, the 4-H clubs of the county and the family living extension groups during the past year.

Milk marketing big industry here

Milk marketing is one part of a large industry in Clinton County, and 4-H dairy club members are surely a part of this broad area. Because of the importance of the dairy industry, 4-H club boys have an opportunity to attend the annual 4-H Milk Marketing Tour in Detroit. This year Mike Rivest and Jim Nichols represented Clinton County on the tour. The boys had an opportunity to visit with other boys attending from all over the state.

Delegates toured the facilities of the MMPA headquarters. Lectures, discussions and a quiz made up the program. Members learned such things as what is base and surplus milk and how it is handled. The boys were also able to visit the laboratories where milk testing is done.

Maintaining clean, safe water is watersheds goal

The wise use of soil and water resources are basic for efficient farm production. Another benefit from conserving these resources is in maintaining clean, safe water for human enjoyment. In order to consider the wise use of either, both must be considered.

The problem starts with raindrops falling at high speed. The first step is to break the fall of these drops to prevent them from damaging the soil. The drops then must be controlled as they gather together to force them to either sink into the soil or run off at a reasonable speed.

ANOTHER PROBLEM is to prevent contamination of the rainwater in streams by materials like clay and silt, sewage, excess nutrients, chemicals and other wastes.

The Extension Service, in cooperation with other county offices and agencies, has assisted in using the watershed approach to provide total planning and the application of measures to protect and conserve both soil and water.

The first such project completed in the state was the Morris Drain area of Muskrat Creek. The second area and currently in the detailed engineering stage is the Catlin-Waters area of Leelanau Township. This is an area of heavy clay loam soils suffering frequent flood damage. The problem here is to eliminate flooding and control stream flow so that potential flooding down stream will be reduced.

THE THIRD project and in a detailed planning stage is the Maple River. This inter-county drain has limited flooding on the upper end but extensive flooding of the heavy low land in Gratiot County.

With the present strong demand for recreation areas, the Maple offers considerable potential for human pleasure. A state park south of Ovid is being considered in the overall planning of the Maple River watershed. Through the watershed approach and considering the various local interests it is hoped that maximum benefits can be obtained for a wide area.

Map shows the three "active" drainage projects in Clinton County. The upper Maple River project is in a "preliminary" stage, while the Catlin-Waters watershed north of Fowler is now in a "detailed engineering" phase. The Morris Drain of the Muskrat Creek Watershed south of Westphalia is completed.

Clinton-based extension staff

The Cooperative Extension Service staff based at the Clinton County Courthouse office includes F. Three other extension agents also serve Clinton County but are based in Shiawassee or Gratiot.

State show big 4-H highlight

The State 4-H Club Show is one of the big highlights of the year for Clinton County 4-H Club members. One hundred and sixty exhibitors were selected to take part in the big state event held at Michigan State University in August last year. The purpose of all this is to give club members a chance to compete beyond the county level and to compare their achievements with other club members from all over the state. Club members have an opportunity to have their projects evaluated at the State 4-H show. The judge interviews the individual club member and makes comments regarding the exhibit as well as the why, what and how of the exhibit.

Telfarm valuable management aid

Farming in Clinton County is becoming more of a big business through the years. Census figures show that agricultural sales increased from over $14 million in 1959 to over $19 million in 1964 despite farm prices remaining fairly constant or even lower.

During the same time, the number of farms of over 260 acres increased only from 272 farms to 286 but farms with sales of over $20,000 increased from 87 to 256. This reflects an intensified business on many farms.

WITH THE SIZE of farm operations increasing, farm management becomes increasingly important. The Clinton County Extension Service has tried to emphasize its importance throughout the years. Management principles have been included in many meetings as well as a farm management short course.

One of the first steps in farm management is to know what the present situation is and then to analyze the conditions. A farm record system such as Telfarm is the best means of doing this. It provides complete farm record not only for income tax reporting but for farm business analysis.

At the present time 46 Clinton County farms are enrolled in the program. During the three years that the Telfarm program has been available only one commercial farm has failed to re-enroll and 16 new farms have been added. The fact that practically all farms have continued in the program proves that the farm operators feel it is a very worthwhile program.

THE EXTENSION staff has spent much time in counseling on farm management on individual farms. This service is available to any farmer in the county and is extremely important when major changes are being considered in the farm operation. Many factors must be considered before changing livestock enterprises or before dropping livestock and going completely to cash crop farming. The agricultural agents in the county have assisted many farmers during the past year in analyzing these factors before they arrived at the decision to make the changes.

Many examples of where the emphasis placed on farm management has been helpful could be pointed out but to do so would reveal too much information on individual farm operations. The fact that Clinton County farms are increasing in size of business even though not in acreage points out that successful changes are being made.

Census shorts

The census shows 2,076 farms in Clinton County but only 1,264 of these harvested crops on 50 acres or more.

Much of the corn in Clinton County is fed on the farms where produced. Wheat and beans are the major cash crops, with wheat sales about $1,900,000 and bean sales about $1,200,000.

The census figures show 2,076 farms in Clinton County but the 639 with gross sales of over $10,000 each account for over two-thirds of the sales of over $19,000,000.

Soybean acreage in Clinton County is increasing but not as rapidly as field beans. Sales are now around $800,000 a year.

Paul Nobis, who takes care of the books of a successful Clinton County family farming operation, finds the Telfarm record system an invaluable aid in planning and analyzing expenditures.

Entomology popular project

The entomology project is really taking root in Clinton County. Credit goes to the county project committee members Mrs. Clyde Peck and Mrs. George McQueen. Both of these ladies have received training for county level at Camp Kett, state 4-H center. Successful leader training meetings were held last year and this year.

About 40 4-H club members and leaders met at Smith Hall on Wednesday, May 18, to learn more about insects. One of the big interests in 4-H entomology projects is the scientific experiment. Club members studying insects may set up an experiment and show what they learned.

JIM CONLEY showed members at the meeting how to make an insect collecting net. Teri McQueen showed the group how to store insects in boxes. The mounting of insects was shown by Bonnie Pung. How to make an insect-killing jar was demonstrated by Bernadette Jorae. Club members learned many new things about beekeeping from Jim McQueen and Mrs. George McQueen.

Dr. Al Dowdy, 4-H Entomology specialist explained the 4-H insect experiment project to members. Club members and leaders were delighted with a film on insects called "The Rival World." Some of the club members will be purchasing small

Softball creates much interest

4-H softball programs create much interest.

About 20 4-H clubs in Clinton County have joined the county 4-H softball league under the direction of 4-H leader E. J. Bottum. 4-H leaders managing softball clubs are: Donna Smith, Dale Hayland, Clair Wilson, Hewitt Van Velsor, Charles Hazle, James Graham, Alan Davis, Charles Silm, Don Devereaux, Ben Welber, Don Hunt, Mildred Stoy, Don Harper, Bob Klissane, Harvey Thornton, Betty Harte, Judy Miller and Duane Davis.

All 4-H club members who have been enrolled in 4-H this preceding year are eligible, plus 10 year olds just starting club work.

THE 4-H SOFTBALL teams are divided into two leagues — one league consisting of younger players and girls on the white teams, and green teams consisting of older members.

4-H leaders met recently to set up the softball schedules in both leagues which will be operating until the 4-H Fair in August. During the fair there will be a play off for the two top teams for both the green and white leagues.

The census shows over 12,000 acres of beans in Clinton County sprayed for insects in 1964. This reflects the serious outbreak of green clover worm and Mexican bean beetle that year.

Assisting with rural building plans is job of Extension

Many Clinton County livestock producers are expanding their operations even though others are discontinuing livestock enterprises. Some are also shifting from one livestock enterprise to another. These changes bring about a need for improvements, remodeling or increased buildings and in many cases a need for changes in material handling methods or systems.

Extension Service has tried to keep producers informed of latest types of housing, farm layouts, and material handling systems. This has been done through the use of tours, on-the-farm meetings and a slide picture story of buildings and arrangements from Clinton County.

MASS MEDIA, such as newspaper articles and television, has also been used to make people aware of the assistance available from the Extension Service in their building programs. Contacts have also been made with the various builders and building supply people around the county to acquaint them with the services available from the agricultural engineering department through the county extension office.

Many farm calls were made to assist with individual farm plans. This type of work can not be done in group meetings or even in the office because such things as drainage, roads and other buildings must be considered in planning a building layout. These visits also provide an excellent opportunity for an analysis of the farm business and a view of the entire farm management program or where changes in enterprises can be discussed.

CLINTON COUNTY has many excellent examples of well-planned livestock buildings and material handling systems. Many groups from Michigan State University and from other counties and even other states come to tour some of the farms of the county. Tours for two out-of-state groups were conducted last year and a group from New York is scheduled next month. This does not include the numerous groups visiting the Green Meadow Farms at Elsie.

One excellent example of a well-planned dairy facility is the Marvin Thelen farm in Bengal Township. After Thelen lost his dairy barn by fire, the Extension Service worked very closely with him in planning a new setup. He now has excellent milking facilities and a free stall barn with space for dry cows and heifers. Additional silo capacity permits a more varied feeding program with less labor requirements.

LAST MONTH a group of Kalamazoo County dairymen visited this farm upon the recommendation of the agricultural engineering department of Michigan State University. It was cited as an excellent example of a well-planned and well-built dairy facility. (See another story in this report about the work of the Extension Service in times of disaster.)

The extension staff in Clinton County feels it is most important that anyone considering changes in buildings, whether it is the home or for livestock, should get all the assistance they can before work is started. Overall plans should be made before the first change is made. Your county staff is available for help in planning any type of building changes or for new building plans. They can also refer you to many places you may visit to get ideas that might be helpful in your planning.

Soils mapping progressing well in county

Detailed soil mapping using new soil names and descriptions is progressing in Clinton County. Part of the tri-county soil mapping program field work was completed on DeWitt, Bath and Watertown townships in 1965. Olive, Eagle, Victor and possibly Riley townships will be completed during 1966.

Detailed soil maps have proven useful for various engineering activities such as roads, buildings, drainage and sanitary facilities. They are essential to farmers for efficient crop production in determining tile drainage and crop hazards such as frostiness, drought, erosion and wind blowing.

Over 90 per cent of the farms in Clinton County are operated by the owner.

30% of cows on test programs

Many Clinton County dairymen realize the benefits of testing their dairy herds for production. Over 30 per cent of the cows in Clinton County are on either DHIA or owner sampler testing programs.

This record program is provided by three testers on a regular monthly basis. A recent feature of the program is a regular forecast of probable production with cows on a lactation basis. These projections make it possible to cull more accurately on a regular basis without waiting until the end of the year.

EVEN THOUGH a good percentage of the larger herds are on testing in Clinton County, the extension staff feels that many more dairymen should be availing themselves of this service. More information about the program is available from the extension office or from the DHIA Board of Directors.

4-H'ers tend to their knitting

Knitting, as a part of a total clothing project, rates high with 4-H members in Clinton County. This fact was evidenced when 360 girls completed knitted garments this year.

Adult project leaders worked throughout the fall and winter months to teach the beginning, intermediate and advanced knitting projects. Most of the girls met with these leaders at least once a week; a few met more often for special help. The majority of the girls worked on their projects at home between meetings. The articles were then on display at the Spring Achievement and many were modeled by the girls at the Style Revue.

IN DECEMBER a knitting clinic was held at Smith Hall for the adult leaders. Calista Reed demonstrated appropriate yarn and pattern selection suitable for the club members. Margaret Schaefer discussed the fitting, styling and care of knitted garments. Virginia Jones displayed and demonstrated special knitting techniques and new ideas to improve the finished product.

An important part of each 4-H project is the plan of work and evaluation of her own completed work for each girl. She works with her club leader in both determining her plan and evaluating her progress and accomplishments.

MANY OF THESE reports present a challenge to adults. One report from a young member's plan reads in part—"I would like to learn different patterns and how to embroider patterns into knitting. I would like to make my father a different patterned sweater." Then the member reports her progress: "I have learned how to make a diamond pattern in my knitting. I also learned how to embroider a rose pattern inside of a diamond."

The following report was written by a 16-year old member: "This year I decided to do something really different for a change. I made up my own pattern for my knit suit. I read several patterns which had certain details on it that I liked. I learned how to do these and then used them on my own pattern. Another reason for doing this was that I have never been able to find a pattern that fits me right because either I'm too thin for my height or else too big in certain places. Patterns are usually made for size 10 as the smallest, but I take a size 7-8. I'm hoping that this suit will fit right."

This proved to be a very successful project for this 4-H member. She was awarded a rosette for her achievement.

Field bean acreage in Clinton County increased from slightly over 8,000 acres in 1959 to over 15,000 acres in 1964.

200 volunteer leaders guide 4-H

4-H Club leaders in Clinton County can be congratulated on their interest and participation in the 4-H program. They proved this at the general leaders meeting at Smith Hall April 20. About 80 4-H club leaders turned out to learn about their role as leaders, a review of the broad objectives of 4-H club work, a look at area 4-H programming, and to discuss recognition and local club program planning.

All of the more than 200 leaders in Clinton County lead boys and girls in such projects as flower gardening, vegetable gardening, landscaping, conservation, poultry, beef, sheep, dairy, swine, horse, rabbits, automotive, electrical, tractor, handicraft, sewing, knitting, foods, family life, personal improvement, photo, TV science, entomology and crops.

THE 1965 4-H CLUB statistics show there were 1,342 different members enrolled and these boys and girls and their leaders working together completed 2,563 projects. Although the 1966 program will not be finished until later in the year, the winter 4-H enrollment showed there were 883 members enrolled, completing 1,129 projects.

The work on the part of the members does not end there, however. Club members and leaders like to show what they have done and some like to compete for prizes at the Fair. A little over 2,500 entries were made in the county 4-H Fair by 4-H youth.

THE MOST popular projects among 4-H boys and girls are clothing, foods, garden, dairy, horses, knitting, handicraft, and electrical. Some of the newer projects are small motors, personal improvement, science projects, plant science, indoor gardening, electrical science and others.

Laboratory assures accurate soil testing

Special laboratory equipment assures accurate soil test results. Frequent checks with known standards means reliable tests. Fertilizer recommendations based on soil test, crops raised and to be grown, soil type, and supported by many years of field and laboratory research are designed for efficient crop production.

Short course on machinery proved valuable

Farm machinery has become a major item in agricultural production. On a well adjusted farm this item alone may cost $10-$12 per acre per year just to own the equipment. Some part-time farmers are finding their equipment costs may be three to four times this amount. On many of the Clinton County commercial farms the total investment in machinery may have a book value in the range of $15,000 - $20,000.

This production item must receive careful consideration by each farmer. An extension short course was conducted to assist farmers in determining the necessity for equipment; the size that can be justified by their operation; the various costs of owning versus hiring a job; proper use of equipment and expected repairs and adjustments. In each instance a farmer must determine the labor which may be replaced, the expected returns and other economic factors.

OTHER ASSISTS are available to farmers, including account records through the TelFarm project or other good record keeping systems. Individual planning with farmers of their farm enterprises also was used to give a careful study of their present farm machinery and served as a guide for expected future purchases.

Extension council makes traffic/safety 'our business'

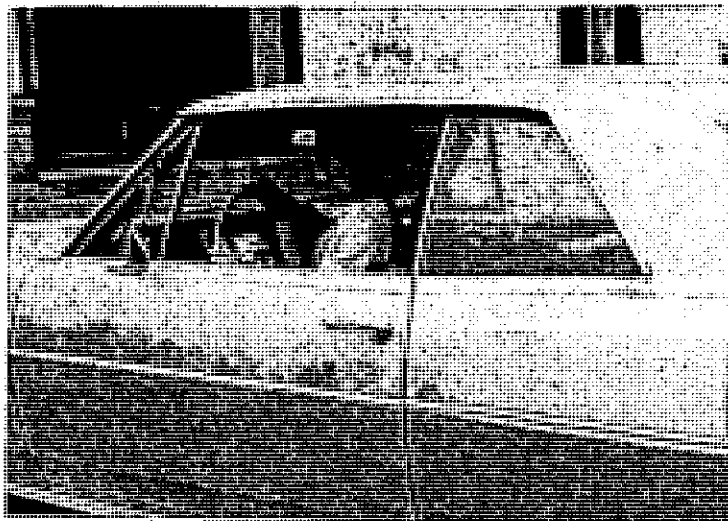

"Traffic Safety is Our Business"; this was the goal of the Home Economics Study Group Council when they decided to set April as the month to make an eight-hour driver refresher course available to county homemakers.

Mrs. Kathy LaBar, county safety chairman for the extension council, attended the state safety workshop in Mt. Pleasant last January. Also attending was Mrs. Catherine Sehlke, representing the County Farm Bureau Women. These two ladies have taken active leadership in the county safety program.

The homemakers were shocked to learn that the accidents of 80 per cent of drivers and victims occur in the same county in which they live.

ANOTHER SHOCKING statistic from official reports indicate that rural accidents account for more than two-thirds of the traffic accident deaths and half of these are on non-trunkline highways.

"Accident prevention is dependent basically upon improving driver behavior"; this is the directive coming from the Highway Traffic Safety Center, Continuing Education Service, Michigan State University. Following this guide the driver refresher course was selected by the homemakers as a beginning "Action for Safety" program.

A brief review of some of Michigan problems in traffic safety and a written test for experienced drivers began the classes which were taught by Mrs. Leota Westfall, specialist from the Traffic Safety Center, Michigan State University.

EXPLAINING WOMEN'S role in traffic accident prevention, Mrs. Westfall stated that homemakers and mothers have the responsibility to act as community leaders in demonstrating concern for traffic safety; first by setting good examples in driving, then by supporting the officials responsible for accident prevention and traffic movement.

Homemakers were alerted to ask heads of enforcement agencies about the higher accident location in their areas.

The women were told that each one of them should assume the responsibility for acquiring the knowledge and skill to drive safely. They should make certain their vehicles are in safe operating condition. They above all people should make it a habit to observe the law and safe driving practices.

EMPHASIS WAS placed on training at home to control immaturity and faulty attitudes toward traffic laws, teaching that traffic violations are not only unlawful but socially unacceptable.

The classes included up-to-date tips on driving and learning about the responsibility of parents who have teen-age drivers in their families.

Class members completed their eight-hour study with the test on "What Every Driver Must Know"—a check on what they had learned.

AT PRESENT two slide film sets are circulating the county by way of extension study groups, Farm Bureau meetings and other interested groups.

"Your Rural Road Challenge" is a slide film prepared by the National Institute for Farm Safety, the Automotive Safety Foundation and the Farm Department of the National Safety Council. The pictures are sharp and the information pertinent to the correction of rural road hazards and to living safely with those hazards which can not be corrected.

The second slide film, "Car and Driver Teamwork for Traffic Safety", gives specific information on how to operate your car with the recommended safe practices. It is prepared by Automotive Safety Engineers from a leading car manufacturing firm in cooperation with the Highway Traffic Safety Center Continuing Education Service, Michigan State University and Inter-Industry Highway Safety Foundation, Inc.

AFTER A STUDY of car safety appliances the conclusion was "It is the use of safety equipment—rather than just having it installed in the car—that makes the difference in the amount of protection we afford ourselves and others."

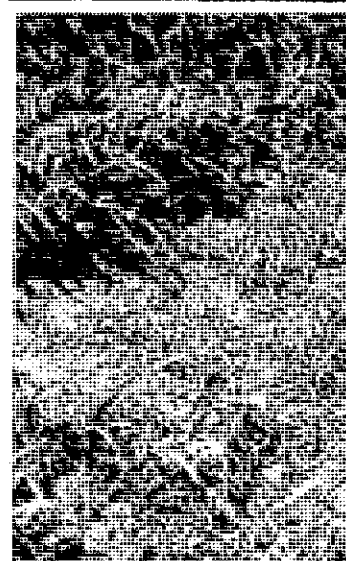

Extension office Secretary Mary Libey prepares to mimeograph more letters which the office uses extensively with a large mailing list.

Farm business problems get Extension help

The County Extension Service has helped many people with their farm business problems during the past year. This assistance ranges from advice on income tax, social security, farm partnerships and leases and many other phases of the farm business.

The meeting held to discuss farm income tax reporting was well attended and many people also made individual calls for assistance with their tax returns. A meeting to discuss the social security changes was attended by over 200 people. This was conducted by a representative from the social security office and one of the local agents.

"Inheritance, Wills, and Decent of Property" was the subject of an all-day meeting and a number of individual contacts were made as a result of this meeting. The importance of a place to conduct a regular farm business has been stressed at various meetings throughout the year and many farm business centers have been built throughout the county.

Too much chemicals in one place at one time can kill the plants, leaving a sparse population in the field.

Pesticide use kept up-dated

Chemical companies are introducing many new pesticides each year. In addition many new uses are being found for older chemicals. Changes occur also in methods of application for agricultural purposes.

The increased use of pesticides by farmers has required an understanding of the activity of chemicals and the biological systems they affect. In each instance weather plays a major roll in the chemical activity, the residues and the potential hazards.

DURING 1964 pesticides were applied to over 60,000 acres of agricultural land in Clinton County for weeds, insects and disease control. In addition, over 30,000 head of livestock were treated for insect control.

To make these applications safe and effective, certain conditions are required: 1) The problem must be identified; 2) What chemicals will do the job? 3) How should these chemicals be used; 4) What are the potential hazards if any, and what precautions should be taken.

Since this a relatively new field in agriculture and often little understood, your Extension Service has attempted to obtain the latest information and provide this information as rapidly as possible to all chemical users and dealers.

16 homemakers find out about home management

Sixteen Clinton County homemakers completed a two-unit study on "What Is Home Management" and "Home Management in Action." Conducted by Extension Home Economist Lorraine Sprague the units included research supported information from Michigan State University home management specialists and a sharing of ideas of the class members.

Realizing the impossibility of covering the entire field of home management in two sessions, this study concentrated on the philosophy of management and how the understanding of management principles can affect the individuals as well as the family in total.

MANAGEMENT in the home is closely related to business management. Both require constant study and include planning, organizing and evaluation. In the home, mother usually finds herself assuming the role of manager, though this role often changes from time to time and from situation to situation. Occasionally the job becomes cooperative with both parents serving. And many times the children join in part of the management process. Age, interest and ability are influential factors for the children.

A good "manager" spends time planning. She makes a conscientious effort to clarify individual and family values. Such awareness helps in setting specific goals. Here planning may be done on an individual basis, or as a family unit.

OF COURSE organizing is one

4-H horse program grows

The 4-H horse program continues to grow in Clinton County, with well over 100 members enrolled this summer. The program is popular with boys and girls, as it provides them recreation as well as many other educational experiences.

The 4-H horse project, like other projects, is emphasizing the scientific aspects of the project for the older 4-H members. 4-H horse leaders in Clinton County include: Linda Shoemaker, Tom Tyler, Mrs. John Mitchell, Less Botimer, Lela Clark, Jean Amos, James Gallagher, Chuck Johnson, Leonard Koenigsnecht, Doris Strouse, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wolfe, Kathy Jacques and Melody Sibert.

Recently 4-H horse leaders met to discuss ways in which the 4-H horse program could be improved and also to make plans for the horse show at the 4-H Fair this summer.

of the keys to good management. It allows people to work together effectively to achieve their goals. It is most important to understand that organization cannot be static—it is entirely possible to make changes in thought, methods and even in desired goals during the process.

Getting a job done, and sometimes even getting it started, necessitates what we call motivation or activating, and a good manager sees such motivation, or even provides it.

During the management process some form of control or evaluation is important to know what progress and achievement has been made.

THOSE WOMEN participating in the classes have found the above terms and explanations now have a great deal of meaning to them and to their families. Without discussion, the exchange of ideas, and the sharing of experiences such as was evidenced in the classes, it makes it more difficult to determine what is worthwhile and what is not so valuable to individuals and families.

No doubt some of the most satisfying outcomes for several of the class members was the realization that home management is not the fearful thing they had once thought; that management went much deeper than just "Getting things done"; that knowledge of management principles could be valuable to them and to their families; and finally, that most of them in general had developed, over the years, a good bit of management ability without realizing it. They discovered, too, that decision making was something everyone is faced with constantly; large decisions and minor ones are a part of daily living. How these decisions are made and most important of all, how they are accepted, influences their effectiveness. Accepting the responsibility for decisions made and benefiting from such decision makes good home management a satisfying and productive process essential to successful family living.

For women desiring it, studies in home management such as those in this year's program and studies in specific management problems are available upon request from the Home Economics-Family Living Education Division of the Cooperative Extension Service. The 1966-67 program, as have programs of the past, will continue to include management principles applicable to everyday living.

Clinton County farms selling hogs dropped from over a thousand in 1959 to 630 in 1964, but the number of hogs sold remained about the same at 50,000.

Getting the food where the people are is problem extension helps solve

Community meals — what are they? We can say a meal prepared for more than a family group is a community meal.

How many community meals are served in Clinton County over a period of one month or one year? The answer—you make a guess! The number grows each year.

Who serves these meals? We can't begin to count those dedicated church members and community citizens who give of their time to prepare delicious, nutritious, time- and money-saving meals. The meals don't just happen; they have to be carefully planned for flavor, balance, and budgeted for time and cost.

HOME ECONOMISTS of the Cooperative Extension Service offer specialized professional help and guidance to folks who plan and prepare food in quantity.

Miss Gladys Knight, extension specialist from Michigan State University Tourist and Resort Service, was in St. Johns in November to teach a one-day class on "community meals." Miss Knight is recognized nationally as an authority in the field of hotel, restaurant and institutional management.

Forty-five different fact sheets and forms, as well as tested quantity recipes were distributed to the class members, who represented Grange groups, Farm Bureau, area churches and extension study groups. Several owners of commercial eating places also attended the class.

MISS KNIGHT covered the important subjects of quantity and quality buying, meal planning, rules for cold storage, and guides for dry storage.

The class members expressed appreciation for the guides for portion size and food item cost aids.

The bacterial food poisoning study brought out a need for a better understanding of the problems of food handling and preservation.

IN ADDITION to quantity food information the representatives of groups that were planning to remodel a community or church kitchen secured real help from this class. They learned to estimate adequate size of the community kitchen by generally allowing 3-3 1/2 square feet of space for each person they plan to serve. The recommended kitchen space should be approximately 1/3 of the space of the dining room area. A rectangular

Council leads 265 extension study members

These Home Economics Council officers have given able leadership to some 265 county extension study group members for the past year.

Outstanding activities included special meetings and participation in the county cancer detection program when well over 1,000 women secured a "Pap test" for the early detection of cancer. County Chairman Roma Hamer appeared on WJIM-TV program "Rural Viewpoint" to encourage county women to take part in this cancer program.

The lessons of the year voted by the membership as the most helpful, as well as popular, were as follows: new foods, cancer education, textile news and views, wills and descent of property, safety, and household repairs.

Newsletter designed for homemaker

June is the traditional month of brides. But the July through May months don't deter young couples from joining in the age-old ceremony of matrimony.

Last fall 150 young homemakers in Clinton County joined the mailing list of 358 other young homemakers from Gratiot and Shiawassee counties to receive a newsletter written just for them. Each six weeks, Extension Home Economist Lorraine Sprague writes the letter "Modern Mrs." for these homemakers.

Though the letter is written for the woman who is just married or those who have been married about 3 years, actually the information is of interest to those married much longer. Special features each month include a management corner and a listing of one or two appropriate publications available from the county extension office. Often an additional publication is enclosed with the letter.

"MODERN MRS." offers helpful homemaking suggestions and accurate information based on scientific research and is planned to be of interest and use to families. From time to time letter recipients offer their own proven helps to include in the letter, or request the discussion of a specific topic.

Any young homemaker wishing to receive "Modern Mrs." may do so by sending her name and complete mailing address to the extension office, Courthouse, St. Johns, Mich. 48879. Mothers, grandmothers and friends knowing a recent bride might also like to add the new "Mrs." name to the mailing list. There is no charge.

kitchen located on the long side of the dining room was recommended to be the best arrangement for efficient flow of traffic and for the placement of equipment.

Some class members reported specific limitations of the kitchen where they now serve meals. These problems were discussed and possible re-arrangement was planned with the specialist. This gave an on-the-spot practical application of the class study.

4-H'ers had prize calves

Kathy (top) and Dana Sue Hazle, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. George Hazle of East Pratt Road, R-6, St. Johns, display calves which won them high honors in competition last year. Kathy showed a junior calf, which placed first at the State 4-H Show. Dana Sue has a senior calf which had a first place and reserve junior champion ranking at the state show and a junior champion rank at the Michigan State Fair. Both animals were named All-Michigan and nominated for Junior All-American honors by the American Holstein Assn.

Letters answer food questions

In how many ways can dry milk powder be used to prepare a good nourishing main dish for family meals?

Do you know four different ways to cook split peas for stick-to-the-ribs goodness which even the kids will call "licking good"?

The extension home economists have some of these answers. Each month a newsletter is written which contains information on foods which are plentiful or surplus commodities; shopping tips may be included, as well as recipes and help on preparing tasty meals. Specific questions might be answered in a particular letter.

YOUNG MOTHERS without experience in homemaking or cooking express appreciation for these letters.

Senior citizens have many problems and they ask for special help on how to cook what food they have with only a hot plate; this is only one example. Their problems are many.

Some 350 letters are distributed monthly—educational letters to answer the needs of our county residents.

The biggest single source of farm income is the milk check—more than $216 million a year.

Mrs. Thelma Bedell, one of the Extension Service secretaries, sorts through some of the hundreds of pamphlets available through the office. Thousands are distributed annually by the Extension Service from its St. Johns office.

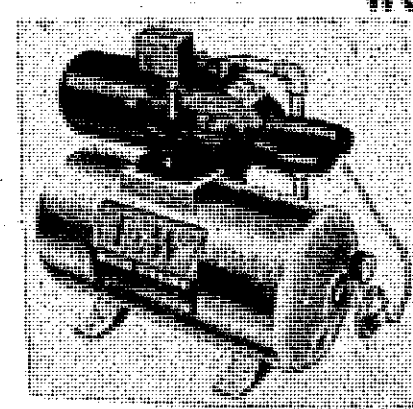

Corn is grown on more acres than any other crop in Clinton County with over 63,000 acres and reported average yield of about 73 bushels per acre. Cash sales amount to nearly $2 million.

Over 97.5 per cent of the agricultural income of Clinton County comes from livestock and livestock products and field crops with less than 2.5 per cent from fruits, vegetables, mint, forest products and nursery sales.

MONDAY, JUNE 6, 1966

The Clinton County Board of Supervisors met on this date at 10 A.M. Prayer was offered by Supervisor Gove. A pledge of Allegiance was given to the flag. Roll was called and a quorum reported. On motion of Supervisor Hufnagel, supported by Supervisor Angell, the letter was turned over to the Prosecuting Attorney for investigation.

Motion carried.

Supervisor Shepard, as Chairman of the Zoning Committee, in a report recommended that the request be denied and that upon proper application a permit for extension to the west or to the back of their present property be granted. Minutes of the City Commission Meeting

Municipal Building
ST. JOHNS, MICHIGAN

JUNE 21, 1966

The regular meeting of the city commission was called to order at 7:35 p.m. by Mayor Smit. Present commissioners: Kentfield, Irer, Smit, Coletta. Absent commissioners: Sirrine. Staff present: City Manager Greer, City Atty. Reed, Acting Secretary Cox.

Motion, by Commissioner Coletta, supported by Commissioner Irer, the minutes of the regular meeting June 7, 1966, be approved as presented. Motion carried.

Motion by Commissioner Coletta, supported by Commissioner Irer, the city clerk be authorized to draw checks in payment of general fund voucher numbers 9411 through 9456 inclusive and water fund voucher number 817 through 824 inclusive. Motion carried.

City Manager Greer explained there had been some trouble with the painters at the new water plant, and the bottom of the tank would have to be resandblasted and repainted. City Manager Greer read a letter from Mr. J. D. Robinson, postmaster, noting that the Postal Service offices will be contacting the city in regard to moving the drive-up box on State Street.

City Manager Greer read a request from the Clinton County Board of Supervisors requesting payment of a share of the costs in the new sidewalk around the court house. The manager was directed to process as a claim against the city. The city manager read a price quotation from the Hicks Co. relative to seal coating work for this summer.

SEVERAL MEMBERS of a private swim club and their parents were in attendance at the commission meeting requesting the use of the pool for their club work. Mrs. Dorothy Makl stated the club's needs and the commissioners listened to several other comments from the floor. The commissioners proceeded to explain why it is not advisable to allow the use of this public pool for functions of this type due to state and insurance regulations and the necessary time needed in keeping the pool in good operating order.

Mrs. Jim Nuser addressed the commission requesting that they again consider the request from Mr. and Mrs. Nuser to amend an ordinance as to allow minor children when accompanied by their parents, in their establishment for eating purposes until 9 p.m. The commission directed that this be scheduled as an agenda item for next meeting.

Jim McKenzie, representing the Chamber of Commerce, appeared before the commission with regard to the Chamber's sign on South US-27. His request that the city pay the $200 back rent on this sign was discussed. No action taken.

MR AND MRS JOHN Ochinsky requested information relative to the zoning ordinance and registered a complaint relative to a next door neighbor.

The Commission meeting had been set as the public hearing on the use of each parcel of land in the City of St. Johns. Mr. Bernard Cain requested his property, Roll 293-311 E. State, be changed from single family residential to two family residential. The change was noted and made.

Motion by Commissioner Irer, supported by Commissioner Kentfield, the following resolution be adopted:

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS; Section 5.6.2 of the Zoning Ordinance #187 passed in October 1965 requires that the City Commission hold a hearing on the findings of the Zoning Administrator relative to the existing uses of each parcel of land in the City of St. Johns, and

WHEREAS; Said uses have been presented to the City Commission in a list classified as "Land Uses" and said list (Roll) has been available for public inspection, and public safety and welfare, it is ordered that this Ordinance shall have effect immediately.

YEA: Smit, Kentfield, Irer, Coletta. NEA: None. ABSENT: Sirrine. Motion carried.

There's a serious void in city's public relations

A growing undercurrent of antagonism by the St. Johns public for city government and city officials has been noticeable in recent weeks, and with some justification. It's a reaction to what appears to be antagonism by some officials for their constituents' right to complain or even inquire.

The issue is a general one and is only coincidentally related to the specific issues of extra-large water bills and swim club use of the swimming pool that have boiled to a head in the last weeks.

Judging from the letters received and published here recently, more than just a few people have found their approach to city officials met by seeming hostility and disbelief of complaints. This has gone on for some time, and while we may agree with the city as to their stand on some of the complaints, we surely don't condone the blunt, sometimes brutal, way the stand is made.

A case in point was last Tuesday night's request for use of the city swimming pool for the St. Johns Swim Club. The city was somewhat incensed about what the mayor called a "pressure group" trying to get something forced through and he was probably right in his definition. The mayor and city manager pointed out the only time available for exclusive use of the pool by the club was 6 a.m. to 7:30 a.m. Wednesday. This time period was offered and was accepted by the mothers of swim clubbers who were present.

But during the 20-minute discussion things got quite out of hand, and the mayor became entangled—almost readily—in a series of arguments with various members of the audience that reflected personality more than issue.

The result was that, while the swim club was assured they could use the pool alone one morning a week, all the people concerned left in a huff because of the way they were treated.

We would have left that way, too. Every person or group that appears before the city commission should be allowed to explain their case without interruption and hear some explanation from the city. Beyond that the discussion should be closed, and personality arguments shouldn't be allowed, much less perpetrated, by those in charge of the meeting.

Our city administrative officials should remember that they deal with people, and when you do that no issue is pure black and white. There are grey areas of various tones and a little effort at tact will go a long way toward pleasing the people they deal with.

Too many times people are made to feel they have to defend their right to even be present, and this is where the antagonism of the public is born.

We have watched enough of city government to realize that our officials have many problems of a larger scope than the citizen-on-the-street realizes, and they get little enough recognition for the trials and tribulations they endure and the achievements they make.

But we think people should be met with a little more consideration and tact when they ask for something from the city. After all, they ARE people and not the cold, unfeeling data processing machines the city is turning to these days.

OUR COUNTY'S young representatives to Boys' State, Camp Emery and Girls' State are to again be congratulated. We're sure they will continue to be a good influence for good citizenship.

A 'tired American' gets angry

(Reprinted from The Rock County Star-Herald)

I am a "tired American."
I'm tired of being called the "Ugly American."
I'm tired of having the world panhandlers use my country as a whipping boy 365 days a year.

I am a "tired American"—weary of having American embassies and information centers stoned, burned and sacked by mobs operating under orders from dictators who preach "peace" and breed conflict.

I am a "tired American"—weary of being lectured by General DeGaulle (who never won a battle) who poses as a second Jehovah in righteousness and wisdom.

I am a "tired American" . . . weary of Nasser and all the other blood sucking leeches who bleed Uncle Sam white and who kick him on the shins and yank his beard if the cash flow falters.

I AM A "TIRE" American . . . choked up to here on this business of trying to intimidate our government by placard, picket line and sit in by the hordes of the dirty unwashed who rush to man the barricades against the forces of law, order and decency.

I am a "tired American" . . . weary of the beatniks who say they should have the right to determine what laws of the land they are willing to obey.

I am a "tired American" . . . fed up with mobs of scabby faced, long haired youths and short haired girls who claim they represent the "new wave" of America and sneer at the old fashioned virtues of honesty, integrity, morality on which America grew to greatness.

I am a "tired American" . . . weary unto death of having my tax dollars go to dictators who play both sides against the middle with threats of what will happen if we cut off the golden stream of dollars.

I AM A "TIRE" American . . . nauseated by the lazy do nothings who wouldn't take a job if you drove them to and from work in a Rolls Royce.

I am a "tired American" who is tired of supporting families who haven't known any other source of income other than government relief checks for three generations.

I am a "tired American" who is getting madder by the minute at the fifth peddlers who have launched America in an obscenity race . . . who try to foist on us the belief that filth is an integral part of culture . . . in the arts, the movies, "literature," the stage and the mobs who see Lenny Bruce as "brilliantly amusing" and Norman Mailer as "compelling."

I'm tired of these "artists" who scavenge in the cesspools for inspiration and who refuse to look up at the stars.

I am a "tired American" . . . weary of the bearded bums who tramp the picket lines . . . and the sit ins . . . who prefer Chinese communism to capitalism . . . who see no evil in Castro but sneer at President Johnson as a "threat to peace."

I AM A "TIRE" American who has lost all patience with that civil rights group which is showing propaganda movies on college campuses from coast to coast. Movies denouncing the United States. Movies made in Communist China.

I am a "tired American" who is angered by the self righteous "breast beater" critics of America, at home and abroad, who set impossible yardsticks for the United States but never apply the same standards to the French, the British, the Russians, the Chinese.

I am a "tired American" who resents the pimply faced beatniks who try to represent Americans as the "bad guys on the black horses."

I am a "tired American" who is weary of some Negro leaders who, for shock purposes, scream four letter words in church meetings.

I AM A "TIRE" American—sickened by the slack jawed bigots who wrap themselves in bed sheets in the dead of night and roam the countryside looking for innocent victims.

I am a "tired American" who dislikes clergymen who have made a career out of integration causes yet send their own children to private schools.

I am a "tired American" who resents those who try to peddle the belief in schools and colleges that capitalism is a dirty word and that free enterprise and private initiative are only synonyms for greed.

They say they hate capitalism but they are always right at the head of the line demanding their share of the American way of life.

I am a "tired American" who gets more than a little bit weary of the clique in our State Department who choose to regard a policy of timidity as prudent . . . the same group who subscribe to a "no win" policy in Viet Nam.

I AM A "TIRE" American . . . real tired of those who are trying to sell me the belief that America is not the greatest nation in all the world . . . a generous hearted nation . . . a nation dedicated to the policy of trying to help the "have nots" achieve some of the good things that our system of free enterprise brought about.

I am an American who gets a lump in his throat when he hears the "Star Spangled Banner" and who holds back the tears when he hears those chilling high notes of the brassy trumpets when Old Glory reaches the top of the flag pole.

I am a "tired American" . . . who wants to start snapping at those phoney "high priests" who want us to bow down and worship their false idols and who seek to destroy the belief that America is the land of the free and the home of the brave.

I am a "tired American" who thanks a merciful Lord that he was so lucky to be born an American citizen . . . a nation . . . under God . . . with truly mercy and justice . . . for all.

City water terrible, sickening, reader says

In answer to the woman who wrote in about the terrible water in St. Johns, I am one, and there are many, many others who feel the same as I, who agree 100 per cent with her.

I ought to know—I got very ill on it also and will never drink it again. Now mind you, the water I got ill on had been boiled and then chilled before I drank it. I've talked with a number of people who can't get their noses close enough to it to brush their teeth with it—it smells like sewage.

AND IT'S A SHAME people have to pay $22 and even $44 per three months use of it—to put them in the hospital and maybe even death to themselves and their children.

The doctors are aware of the situation, but what can they or we do? The only one whom it doesn't seem to bother, and who thinks it's fine, is Mr. Greer; he gets a big fat salary for being Mr. Simon LaGreer on the phone to the people trying to get justice on this matter.

Well, he may get sick some day on it, although I doubt very much if he can stomach it, but he'll get his one way or another in due time for condoning it.

ANOTHER DISCOURAGED ST. JOHNS WATER USER

(Editor's Note: The city points out the new water treatment plant and the continuing efforts to reduce the numbers of dead-end water mains should correct most of these types of problems.)

She, too, had problem with high water bill

I think Mrs. Albers has the right idea. It's about time these city officials heard from us little folks who they are supposed to be serving.

I, too, have an outrageous water bill, have been given the run-around by city hall and in general am pretty disgusted.

When I called to see about my water bill, Mr. Greer was never in and the office girls "just didn't know." I finally called him at home after repeatedly trying to reach him at his office. He was very indignant about being bothered but said he would look into it. A few days later, I received a carbon copy of the record of my water bill for several years, ranging from $6 to $9.00—until we got one for $13.93. Not too bad one for $13.93. Not too bad until the next time it was $24.00. This is when I questioned it.

HE GAVE ME a story about maybe it was a 4 month bill instead of a 3 month and said the next time it should be smaller. Then comes one for $26.59. Another call to Mr. Greer, and again the same story. He refused to check it out saying "only as much water registers as goes through the meter. He refused a new meter, saying "ours was only 16 years old."

In the last year, our family is the same in number, washing facilities are the same and for the winter months we haven't even washed the car. Last summer, we grew a new lawn which we watered for $9.90. Is there an explanation? Not from city hall! That's for sure! Why aren't we even allowed an explanation or an investigation for this extra $16.69? Anyone have an idea? I know there are hundreds more home owners who feel exactly like I do. Let's hear from you!

Street sweepings next door irk reader

I wonder how many people know where the city dumps the sweepings that accumulate in the street sweeper every morning as the streets of St. Johns are swept?

Following is a copy of the letter I wrote to the city manager this morning, and I would like you to print it in the June 30 issue of the County News.

"Dear Mr. Greer:

"I am writing in regards to the sweepings that are dumped at the old city garage on North Ottawa Street adjoining our property which is located at 712 N. Ottawa Street. I am wondering why they have to be dumped here and could not be dumped on the large vacant city lot across from the new water treatment plant in the 600 block of North Ottawa Street.

"THEY HAULED the sweepings away yesterday the first time since May 27. Have you ever been down here to get a good smell of the sweepings after a good rain and when the temperature is in the 80's? If not, I invite you to do so. It smells just like good old ripe barnyard manure. After the sweepings were hauled away yesterday the smell was terrible—worse than a barnyard. Earlier this year the sweeper man used to dump the sweepings so close to the fence that the sweepings came into our garden. My husband had to go out and shovel them out of the garden and then we went and shoveled them back from the fence on the city property. One is not even able to work out in the garden of sit in the back yard without holding ones nose shut. I have lived on a farm for nearly 19 years so I know very well what a barnyard smells like.

"I read with interest the article on the front page of the June 16 issue about weeds. Weeds which have been allowed to grow unchecked are beginning to reach a point where they are not only unsightly but do create problems from a health and safety angle too. What about sweepings—they include grass clippings which people rake onto the curb after the lawn is mowed (I thought they were not allowed to do this, that the clippings were to be placed in containers and put curbside) weeds, beer and pop cans you name it and it is in the sweepings. Isn't that dangerous to health also? I have four children who like to play in their backyard and work in their little gardens but at times they have to hold their noses shut as they can't stand the smell. It is not healthy for them to have to breathe this kind of smelly air every day.

THIS HAS BEEN going on for nearly a year now and I have contacted the city manager via phone about this situation earlier this year. He told me they had to have a place to dump the sweepings temporarily and then every so often they would be hauled away. But why next door to us? How would members of city government like to have a load of sweepings dumped next door to them or in their back yard? I don't think they would enjoy it very well and they sure as the world would not put up with it.

"I thought maybe they would not dump any more sweepings next door, but lo and behold they are right back dumping the manure (sweepings) again this morning.

"I heard where they are trying to clean up St. Johns; well, why not start next door at the old city garage on North Ottawa?"

Sincerely,
MRS. FREDERICK P. ORSON

RAMBLIN' with Rink

By LOWELL G. RINKER

We get rather disturbed when we hear people talk about the image of the teenager and the image newspapers get about causing the "teenage image."

All too often remarks such as this are made: "We hear so much about teenagers in trouble and read headlines in the papers about them, but we all know all teenagers don't get into trouble. Here are a couple of youngsters who are talented, are good citizens and ones we can be proud of."

THIS TYPE OF statement invariably comes out when adults introduce teenagers to provide entertainment or to talk at some public function. It certainly is true that the youngsters are top quality and well deserve all the praise they get.

But it makes me boil quietly when they are compared to the relatively few teenagers who do make and get into trouble. By comparing the 90 per cent good to the 10 per cent bad, it takes a lot of gloss off the 90 per cent. Despite the good intentions of the speaker in praising the couple of youngsters, he is actually giving the impression they are exceptions to the rule instead of being the rule. When a few are touted as the exception, it overemphasizes, and downgrades, the rest. And so the image of the teenager has been formed.

NEWSPAPERS GET a great deal of blame for the poor general image of the teenager, and this also makes me boil—and not so quietly. People are always referring to "headlines about teenagers in trouble." Perhaps Americans have a misguided inclination to believe the worst in people and thus latch on to the comparatively few headlines they see about "teenagers in trouble."

Newspapers, and this one certainly included, cannot and do not ignore the facts that some teenagers do indeed get into trouble. But neither do we ignore the youngsters who are busy achieving—advancing themselves—and their community.

Though we don't overlook reporting about the errant teenagers, we certainly don't play these stories up, and the "headlines" people refer to are normally small and certainly not the 72-point, black, top-of-the-front-page type which most people visualize when they hear the word "headlines."

A HEADLINE IS actually any type which precedes and summarizes or hints at the contents of the story which follows. Stories about teenagers in trouble do appear in print, but they are most of the time small stories with small headlines, and though there may be half a dozen of them in a week's issue, that emphasis is hidden by other stories about teenagers doing good.

So sure am I of this I would challenge any person to show me when we print one-tenth as many inches of stories about youngsters in trouble as we do about youngsters doing good, constructive things!

The image of the teenager was made by the adult and not the teenager—by the adult who prefers to call the 90 per cent who are good the exception and the 10 per cent who are errant the rule. This despite newspapers' overwhelming coverage of the 90 per cent.

Police problems helped by 2 state actions

Anticipated difficulty in bringing criminals to justice hopefully will be offset in Michigan by steps taken by the state police and Legislature this year.

Many law enforcement officials complain that several U.S. Supreme Court decisions regarding confessions, interrogations and presentation of proof add obstacles to the already difficult job of getting evidence to convict criminals.

The first step was undertaken by the state police some months back. Efforts began to hire an attorney with police training in his background.

AIM IN THIS addition to state police personnel was to keep policemen current on the legal implications of U.S. and state court decisions regarding their difficult daily job.

It had already become apparent, even before the latest U.S. high court edict, that policemen would need more familiarity with the intricacies of the law if they were to remain effective in criminal proceedings.

Household detergents and other cleaning compounds, vitamins and mineral preparations account for the bulk of the remaining accidents.

Curiosity of children can be a wonderful thing to watch. Unfortunately, the curiosity often involves tasting. It is often the carelessness of adults which transforms this curiosity to catastrophe when bottles clearly labeled "Keep Out of the Reach of Children" are involved.

EARMARKED FOR A special computer operation, a $344,000 legislative appropriation is designed to help establish Michigan's hookup with a national communications network to exchange information of criminal activity.

Initially the computer will be set up to "remember" and distribute information about stolen cars and warrants issued in Michigan. Eventually it will provide police officers and the courts with descriptions of wanted criminals, unsolved crimes and prison records, all on very short notice.

One side benefit expected to be opened by use of the computer is that it will lessen the paperwork required of law enforcement officers, thus potentially freeing more men for the important work of prevention, detection and enforcement.

BOYS WILL BE BOYS. Figures compiled by the U.S. Public Health Service would lead one to believe it's almost sheer accident that many boys live to manhood.

In Michigan alone last year, the Service reports, some 10,087 people were involved in accidental poisonings. Of this number, 8,117 were children under five years of age.

Aspirin alone, found in almost every home, accounted for 1,694 of the poison accidents. Again well over half of these involved small children.

Household detergents and other cleaning compounds, vitamins and mineral preparations account for the bulk of the remaining accidents.

Curiosity of children can be a wonderful thing to watch. Unfortunately, the curiosity often involves tasting. It is often the carelessness of adults which transforms this curiosity to catastrophe when bottles clearly labeled "Keep Out of the Reach of Children" are involved.

A CHANGE IN CIVIL service hiring policies add paperwork to the administrator's job, but may serve little other purpose.

The change requires the hiring agent to explain in writing his reasons if he does not take the person who ranked first in the civil service examination process for the position to be filled.

State agency heads have for years been given the names of the top three applicants in filling any position. They could choose any of the three, but could not go lower in the roster than the No. 3 spot unless one of the three was unavailable for work.

CHANGE WAS INSTITUTED to meet objections of civil rights advocates who originally proposed that the rule of three be replaced by a straight regulation that the top applicant be hired in every case.

Civil service officials turned down this idea on the basis that in some cases job experience or personality factors entered into the selection process.

Under the new policy, the hiring administrator will submit his explanation for selecting, for example, the person ranked third on the personnel roster. Then the Civil Rights Commission will analyze the explanation to determine whether race was a factor in the administrator's decision.

Possible flaw in this idea is that both experience and personal evaluations are subjective ones. The able administrator could easily write an explanation which would effectively hide his racial bias if he were discriminating on this basis.

True Treasure

BY W.E. DOBSON

Life's benefactions are not all
In terms of wealth, no gold
Possessed by human hands has worth.
Except 'tis bought and sold.

True values are by artists wrought
Who by some inner power,
Achieve true grandeur of the soul—
Nurtured through bud and flower.

The strength that speaks of true success,
Is not confused with luck,
But shines in word, and act, and deed,
Butressed by heart and pluck.

Who slaves for gold doth compromise
True measures of real worth,
And leave untraveled other paths,
Amongst hidden gems of earth.

Our era has come to be known as the do-it-yourself age.

So many things today are promoted as do-it-yourself. These may vary from putting together toys for the children to building your own home. (I never built a home, but it couldn't be any worse than putting together some of the toys available for children).

WHEN WE THINK of do-it-yourself kits, most of us think of the present time. For this is the age of modernization and automation. We overlook the fact that one of the oldest do-it-yourself kits, and it's still available today, dates back in time to Adam and Eve.

This do-it-yourself kit is probably still the most used and sought after and will continue to be so.

THUS A WOMAN now has her do-it-yourself kit to do the many things that are necessary to run her household and keep up her home.

Man, in his quest to maintain the serenity of his home, has been changed from a carefree sportsman to a subservient kit, ready and willing to perform all chores, contrary to his innermost dreams of smacking a golf ball or wading down a stream in search of an elusive trout.

IN YEARS PAST, I thought many times of starting a "husbands anonymous" club, but my search for members was fruitless. The young men still believed that it couldn't happen to them and those who had been led down the primrose path were hesitant about returning to their former status.

As the years went past without any progress on my "HA" club, I came to realize that although we, as husbands, were changed it was usually for the better. And, in return, the little woman did many things for us that in a "bachelor status" would be beyond our dreams of having.

For where else but in your wife can you find a mother, cook, housekeeper, companion or what have you, all rolled up in just one beautiful package?

For all of this I really don't mind being a do-it-yourself kit. In fact, I highly recommend it.

AFTER MARRIAGE these proficiencies remain and a man is still allowed to enjoy his favorite pastimes. But, as the little woman begins to assemble her kit she inserts other little meaningless chores into his schedule. These are little

THE ADAGE THAT a man chases a woman until she catches him is admitted by many women. If a man doubts this, think back, remember!

Anyway, back to the kit. Usually a bachelor is very proficient in the fine arts of bowling, fishing, golfing or just plain loafing.

Public, parochial schools share time

Rep. R. C. Pucinski (Ill.) "... The Wall Street Journal survey clearly demonstrates how we are able to help all the youngsters in America obtain an adequate education—whether they attend private or public schools—without disturbing our constitutional safeguards..." (The condensed article from the Wall Street Journal by Ronald Buel, follows).

If John Quinn does become a doctor, as he now intends, it will be because he attends a class his school doesn't offer, in a lab it doesn't have.

THE EIGHTH GRADER is one of 160 students at Queen of the Rosary School in the Chicago suburb of Elk Grove Village who spent half their school day with public school kids down the street in Grove Junior High. Queen of the Rosary has no science labs for pupils like John Quinn, and can't match what Grove has to offer in math, shop, home economics and brand new gym. But last fall local Catholic leaders helped get the cooperative program started with the public schools. Both parochial and public educators in Elk Grove Village are hailing the venture; students and parents seem equally pleased.

The experience of Elk Grove Village is typical of the rapid growth and surprisingly ready acceptance of programs which make public school facilities and teachers available to parochial and other private school children.

EXPRESSING AN attitude typical of many public school administrators, Paul K. Cousino, superintendent of Warren Consolidated Schools, Warren, Mich., remarks: "The public schools responsibility is to educate all children. If we get some help from parochial schools, that's great, but it doesn't relieve us of our responsibility."

In communities where attitudes like those of Mr. Cousino and the Cottage Grove parents don't prevail, the money available under the Federal School Assistance Act has provided plenty of persuasion. The Act makes clear that to obtain the large grants available ($13 million in Los Angeles alone, for example) public schools must provide for non-public school students.

In conservative Southern Arizona, the Catholic Church hired Paul Guitteau, a retired public school administrator, to direct its relations with the public schools under the new act. Given the title of Catholic superintendent of schools, he has successfully worked out shared time programs in 37 different school districts in the state.

MISSOURI IS offering public facilities to private school students in the evenings, on Saturdays and in the summer, when the public schools aren't in regular session, thus circumventing a restriction in the state law against joint education.

COUNTRY FLAVOR

Wild strawberries head
countryman's 'favored' list

HAYDN PEARSON

We wish all boys and girls could have the experience of picking wild strawberries on a mellow June day. A lad who has earned two cents a quart for his labor and has picked a five pound lard pail full, has learned that it takes time to earn a dime. Half a century ago when a 10 year old had a dime to spend when the family went to the village for Saturday night trading, he was careful how he spent his money at the penny candy counter.

It is good that we have cultivated strawberries, for a man needs strawberry shortcake often during the season. In the old days, before "perfect" varieties were evolved, one had two or three rows of female plants and a row of males to pollinate. There are those who remember the old

Glen Marys and Senator Dunlaps. But with all due respect to the plant scientists and the wonders they have achieved, no cultivated strawberry evolved to date has that wonderful tangy, sweet flavor of the wild berries. The strawberry, apple and raspberry all belong to the same family, and the strawberry heads the list for the countryman.

On a blue-sky, white cloud day when crows are calling in the woodland and barn swallows swooping over the fields, it is good to take a pall and go to the south side of the pasture knoll and harvest a quart or two of the juicy red nuggets. One knows that he will have a strawberry shortcake for supper. But perhaps more important is the intangible harvest that he reaps while listening to Nature's music and enjoys the warm sun. For there are harvests in Nature's realm that one cannot compute in terms of man's currency.

One hundred forty-six Clinton County young men who had attained the age of 21 years since the first registration on Oct. 16, 1940, were registered Tuesday, July 1.

Officers of the Exchange Club of St. Johns were elected at the regular meeting Thursday, June 26. Frank Pope was named president for the ensuing year to succeed Maynard Rochester.

50 YEARS AGO

From the Files of June 29, 1916
At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Parker in Victor the descendants of John Parker held their sixth annual reunion on Wednesday, June 21. The members of the family began to gather about 11 o'clock and a picnic dinner was served on the lawn after which an enjoyable program was rendered.

"J. J. Spaulding, special advance man for the Redpath chautauqua, was in the city Tuesday. The chautauqua will begin Wednesday, Aug. 2, and there will be seven full days, not including Sunday.

One of the most promising classes which ever graduated from the St. Johns high school, received their diplomas at commencement exercises held in the Congregational Church, Thursday evening.

Critics of shared time may still score points in theory, but in practice they seem to have been side-stepped. The principle is already easing the burdens on Catholic schools, and it's growing faster and with less controversy than almost any one imagined it would.

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT
Money talks. The voice of federal money speaks with authority. At the time this aid to education bill was debated, your letter to your Congressman undoubtedly reflected your view. —J.C.

What causes accidents?
Ask an expert

He sees them every day, in the traffic congestion of large cities, on the quiet streets of small towns and on the open road. He spends most of every day behind the wheels and he knows what the dangers are on our streets and highways. His driving record shows that he is well trained because Mr. "Average Truck Driver" drives hundreds of thousands of miles without a chargeable accident.

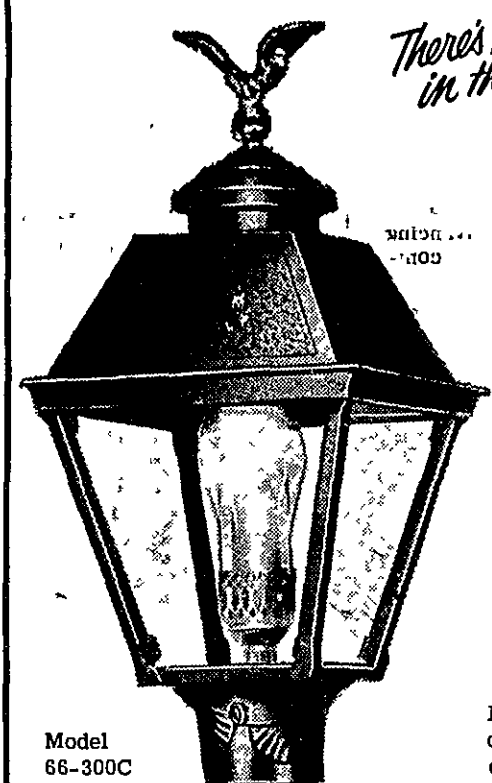

Discuss accidents with him. He won't talk about nuts and bolts. He knows that most accidents are the result of poor driving practices.

The excellent safety record of professional truck drivers is no accident; it is the result of proper driver training and a continuing campaign to emphasize safe driving techniques. As a result, truck drivers obey the law, are courteous, alert and always drive, aware of the dangers which are present.

If you ask an expert what causes accidents, he'll tell you it's the driver behind the wheel that makes the difference.
