Highway proposals no bed of roses

By Jim Schmitz
County News Writer

There was plenty of evidence at the June 24 public "pre-hearing" of Wilbur Smith & Associates and the County Board of Commissioners to show that the some 250 people who filled Smith Hall weren't exactly happy about the possible new U.S. 27 highway.

During the 1 1/2 hours evening hearing, several individuals who questioned the possible highway found themselves applauded by the rest of the audience who, though not fervently hostile, weren't exactly bubbling over with good will towards Robert Henry, associate in charge, and other representatives of Smith & Associates and the Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation.

Henry stood in front of the audience and explained the findings of Smith & Associates' study which show the transportation, environmental and personal impact a new highway could have on Clinton and Gratiot Counties.

Henry also detailed the 6 options the study came up with that include a "do nothing" and a "no build" plan and 4 corridors (routes), of which 2 proceed west of St. Johns and the other 2 east of the city.

"Several individuals in the audience didn't appear to care for any of the routes and told Henry that his study didn't say anything about the damage that could be done to commercial farming by a new highway.

Their main complaint was that the study didn't specify the number of farms that would be displaced if a new highway is constructed.

Henry told them that the actual number of farms couldn't be determined until a specific corridor is selected. He also said the study did estimate the number of houses each corridor would replace.

This exchange led to a discussion of exactly how wide the highway would be and Henry said 418 feet.

Dyle Henning, chairman of the County Board of Commissioners, stood up and said the Board had taken the position that the 418 should be reduced to 300 to save farm land. "There is no hard and fast rule," he said, "that the road has to be 418 feet wide."

One man got everybody clapping and later on their feet when he sarcastically suggested that a new highway would only benefit transient weekend travelers.

"There is too much emphasis on local people in this discussion," he said.

"We all know this highway is not for us." A little later, the same man got everyone jumping up and down when he and Henry posed the question, "how many farmers cross the current 27 weekly with equipment?"

After about 50 people responded by standing, the same individual asked the almost too obvious question, "how many people are affected by any of the 4 corridors?"

This brought nearly everyone to their feet and sent a casual roar of laughter through the crowd.

The same individual persisted in his questioning but didn't find too many takers to his last 2 questions, "how many people aren't affected by the 4 corridors" and how many farmers don't cross the current 27 with equipment?"

More applause filled the hall when another individual suggested that Smith & Associates couldn't hold a fair public hearing.

"There is no way," he said, "you can render a fair judgment because you stand to benefit if there is construction."

"Therefore, how can you hold an objective hearing?"

After the applause ended, the individual suggested that Smith & Associates ought to disqualify themselves.

The audience showed, however, that they weren't totally hostile to Smith & Associates when they applauded an individual from the Dept. of State Highways and Transportation who labeled as "nonsense" the charge that Smith & Associates couldn't hold a fair public hearing.

"This individual," he said, "is a lawyer trying to turn this into a legal proceeding." "Smith & Associates are being paid to do a study, they are not legal hearing officers."

Though the study of Smith & Associates indicates they don't think anything less than a new highway can handle the projected 100 per cent increase in traffic on the current 27 by 1995, Henry did tell the audience that the views of the public that came out of public hearings would be taken into account.

"If the majority doesn't want improvement, we would recommend this to the Dept. of State Highways and Transportation."

Henry also said the Dept. would consider the "do nothing" and "no build" plans because their revenues from the gasoline tax had decreased because of the energy crisis and therefore, less money is available for highway construction.

Here's account of band's Dallas trip

The Redwing Marching Band returned home Sunday June 29, 1975 at 5:00 p.m. after an exciting and successful week in Dallas, Texas representing the St. Johns Lions Club and the Lions of the State of Michigan.

Parents, friends, banners, punch and cookies were all on hand as the four buses arrived at the high school. People cheered, cameras flashed and of course, family greetings as the band members left the buses from a 26 hour ride.

The trip to Dallas included several restaurant stops and an overnight at Holiday Inn. Students, counselors and directors were housed at Southern Methodist University during the week.

Once the band arrived in Dallas they were very busy either preparing for or involved in the Lions International Convention. The Band was on television and heralded throughout the convention for its playing, spirit, and discipline.

A forty man unit played in the lobbies of four major hotels... Adolphus, Fairmont, Baker and Hilton. There is no way to describe how exciting this was to the band and the tremendous crowds that heard them.

Wednesday was the parade which lasted over four hours... even the rain didn't dampen the spirit. Thursday was the nomination speech for Ralph Lynam and a big demonstration on the floor of the huge convention hall. St.

Johns Band led the demonstration. Friday was a fun-day at Six Flags and Saturday the band was on hand to demonstrate at the Convention Center for the victory of Ralph Lynam for 3rd vice president of Lions International.

There were so many outstanding features and statements about the Band it is difficult to list even a few. Every restaurant, stop, motel, university, etc. complimented the counselors and directors on the courteousness of the individuals, the discipline of the band and the cleanliness of the place when they left.

Compliments were numerous from the Lions from every state and foreign country for the Band's behavior, playing etc. at the Hotels and Convention Center.

Band members expressed many of their own thoughts: "A chance to see how other people live"; "got better acquainted with our own members"; "this is like Macy's Parade"; "just like our National Convention"; "a tremendous trip"; "super".

The St. Johns Redwing Marching Band represented St. Johns in a manner that each and every citizen can be proud. St. Johns will long be remembered by the over 40,000 Lions and the City of Dallas, Texas.

The Band wishes to thank the community for all the work they did in sending us to Dallas and providing us with this tremendous experience.

Westphalia telephone gets rate increase

LANSING - The Michigan Public Service Commission has granted rate increases to Westphalia Telephone Company that will give the company additional revenue of $14,190 a year.

The firm serves 645 customers in Clinton County.

Its rates and charges were established in 1959 and reduced in 1966. Increased costs of labor, materials and taxes since that time have contributed to an inadequate rate of return, requiring rate relief, the company said.

One-party business telephone rates will increase from $7 to $11 per month, and one-party residential service from $5.10 to $6.75 per month. Installation charges will rise from $2.50 to $15.

The company agreed to eliminate all multi-party service by December 1975 and to increase the interest rate on customer deposits from 4% to 6% annually.

DeWitt Twp sets assessment hearing

By Jim Schmitz
County News Writer

DeWitt Township will be holding a public hearing July 16 to give residents an opportunity to discuss a recent decision by the Board of Trustees to create a special assessment district.

At the June 23 Board meeting, Board members unanimously approved a resolution drawn up by Township Attorney J. Richard Robinson authorizing a special assessment district. The Board had originally approved the idea at the May 27 meeting.

The Board wants the special assessment to help pay for operating the Police and Fire Depts. for the 1976-1977 fiscal year which, in DeWitt Township runs from April to April. Township residents had been assessed 1 mill for the 1975-1976 fiscal year police and fire budget, but the mill expired with its collection this past December.

That mill had been bringing in $41,940 (half of which went to the Police and the other half to the Fire Dept.) and according to Township Treasurer Nancy Cheney, the special assessment will probably ask for about the same. As of right now, no amount has been set because, by law, the Board must first hold a public hearing.

The Board decided not to ask for a millage renewal because, according to Eileen Corr, chairman of the Public Safety Committee, a millage election would cost about $4,000 and if it failed, another election would cost an additional $4,000.

At the June 23 Board meeting, Supervisor Dale Emerson said both the Fire and Police Depts. would need about 5-10 per cent more money for operation in the 1976-1977 fiscal year. This, he said, was "not unreasonable." This fiscal year, the Fire Dept. is receiving $37,875.00 and the Police Dept. $161,818.19.

Also at the June 23 meeting, the Board, led by Transportation Committee Chairman, Jack Kzeski, chastised the County Road Commission over what Kzeski termed, "a lack of cooperation" on the upgrading of Turner Road, which is a county road.

According to Kzeski, the Commission didn't approve a plan of funding for the upgrading until after April 1 when the Township had already approved its budget and couldn't add the funds the County was asking for. He also said the Commission had turned down several Township proposals for improving the road.

"Everytime we (the Township) do something, the County Road Commission takes offense," he said.

"However, somebody needs to do their job."

After some additional debate and audience input, the Board decided to send a letter to the Road Commission stating the Township's position.

In other action the Board:

- approved the Stoll Road contract as corrected by the Transportation Committee.
- approved a 2 year contract with Lansing Mercy Ambulance Service.
- sent a letter to the County Road Commission thanking them for erecting signs in the Township.

- approved the purchase of 8 pairs of boots for the Fire Dept. for $240.40 come out of the capital improvement fund.
- joined the Dept. of Housing and Urban Development's National Flood Insurance Program.
- amended the Building Ordinance to comply with the State Construction Code Act concerning flood planes.
- approved the use of a secretary for the Zoning Appeals Board whose salary will be paid from zoning fees.

Are you a senior citizen in need of transportation? There's a ride available

By Jim Edwards
County News Editor

ST. JOHNS - Are you a senior citizen in need of information or services and have no idea who to call or where to go? Are you a friend or relative of a senior citizen in the same predicament? Untangle the problem with a telephone call to 224-7998.

That's the number of the senior citizen outreach and referral system, operating out of the Capitol Area Economic Opportunity (CAEOC) office in St. Johns.

CAEOC sponsors the referral service for persons over 60. They may personally call or have the call made by family or friends.

The goal of the program is to increase the amount of information readily available to senior citizens about programs and services in the area that directly affect them.

The referral service answers questions about just about anything concerning senior citizens including Social Security, income tax, Medicare forms, legal problems etc. If the referral service is unable to satisfactorily answer a question or solve a problem, they are able to refer the person to the proper agency.

Non-senior citizens in the area can also be of service of the referral program. Volunteer labor is welcome to help senior citizens with odd jobs such as lawn work, small household maintenance and repairs.

"I was here in 1876" signs popping up all over the county

As one drives the roads of Clinton County and the city streets in St. Johns and DeWitt, one can see a new addition to the signs of the area. These red, white and blue signs proclaim "I Was Here 1876" and are being sold by the Clinton County Historical Society to mark all buildings and homes which are at least 100 years old in the county. The Society hopes to mark all such buildings which were part of the scene 100 years ago when our nation marked its first century.

When these signs are up, a map marking such sites in the county will be available to area residents. These maps will be useful in planning fall color tours as well as biking and walking bi-centennial tours.

Clinton County has many fine old homes and buildings which are virtually unchanged in their structure. Other century old buildings have been altered and modernized. Both such places are to be marked to show that the area has been lived in for at least a century. It is interesting in our fast paced society to look at the area as our ancestors saw it. It is the purpose of the Society to give everyone such a nostalgic view.

Identifying such homes can be done by looking at old plat maps, old newspapers, deeds and abstracts. If your house or building can claim such distinction call Joe Potter, 484-4793; Ken Coin, 669-3370; Mrs. John Rumbaugh, 224-7402; Doug Whitcomb, 224-2764; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tcare, 224-2817; or Mrs. James Moore, 224-2025.

Cheryl Lynn Fedewa became the bride of Gerald Alban Arens, May 31 at Holy Trinity Church Fowler.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Albert Schmitt and music was provided by organist Mrs. Herman Motz with singing and guitar playing from Luke Koenigsknecht and Annette and Joyce Jandernoa.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen and Martha Fedewa, Rt. 2, Fowler.

The bride chose a full length victorian style dress with empire waistband, long lace bodice, a-line skirt with chapel train and lace flounce at the bottom with nylon orange material. The sleeves were fitted to the elbows and flared to the wrists.

She wore a camelot headpiece with chapel length illusion and lace border.

She carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses, pink and white mums and carnations accented with baby's breath in a cascade bouquet.

The maid of honor was Colleen Fedewa, Rt. 2, Fowler, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids included Debbie Rehmann and Linda Fedewa, sister of the bride, both of Rt. 2 Fowler, Marcia Pline, Fowler, Dottie Arens, Rt. 2 Fowler, sister of the groom and flower girl Denise Arens, St. Louis, sister of the groom.

The maid of honor and the flower girls wore lavender picture hats with satin ribbons to match the dresses.

The other bridesmaids wore the same except they had pink floral dresses and pink hats. They carried bouquets of pink and white mums, and carnations and pink sweetheart roses covered with baby's breath.

The mothers wore corsages of rose and carnations to match their dresses.

The best man was Roman Arens, brother of the groom.

The groomsmen included Stan Arens, brother of the groom, William Catamier, brother-in-law of the groom, Ken Smith and Ruck Wirth.

Leo Arens, brother of the groom, and Dick Rehmann, brother-in-law of the bride were ushers and Kbin Schaefer, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

Following the wedding, a buffet for 400 people was held at Holy Trinity Hall.

Waiting on the bride's table were Ann Koenigsknecht, Patti Schrauben and Reen McKean. Cutting the wedding cake was Monice Kleinf and Ellen Feld, pausch.

Special guest was Mrs. Laura Schaefer, grandmother of the bride.

Following a wedding trip to Florida, the couple will reside at 11045 W. 4th Street, Fowler.

Letters to the Editor

He says "middle income" man is a "fool"

Do the middle class people have to quit working to prove to the government that gas prices are too high?

Everything is aimed at the middle income persons pocketbook, higher taxes, higher gas prices, higher food and clothing prices and most of all no raises in income to keep up with the inflation.

Why is there a shortage in jobs available? Its because of people like ourselves who hold down five jobs between my wife and myself. The worst part is that we cannot get ahead even now. We just barely break even.

The jobs are as follows; State, Printing shop, Security guard, Foster parents, and farm.

If I could support my family on my State wages there could be at least 3 more jobs open for other people.

Our net income is about $300 per week and within the last 10 years you could live comfortable on $100 per week and even save some.

Still they expect people of the middle income bracket to buy cars. It's no wonder that people are buying motorcycles instead.

The government does not practice what they preach. Suggest working four day work week to save about 20% on fuel for driving to work and see how fast they turn you down.

Here is a question for every American to answer: Do you have faith in government anymore? I don't. I would probably live better on welfare than I do working. Let the rest of the fools pay me not to work and have children.

The unemployed just got a $30.00 per week raise and the working man gets no raise at all. That is equal to better than a $1.00 per hour raise in working mans take home pay rate.

Everything for the welfare recipients and unemployed and nothing for the working man.

Come on Milliken lets wake up and think about the welfare of the working man. He's the one paying you not the welfare recipients.

10th District to receive EDA movies

WASHINGTON, D.C. - U.S. Representatives Elford A. Cederberg (R-Midland) has announced that grants for $860,000 will be allocated to the 10th Congressional District under Title X of the Public Works and Economic Development Act of 1965. The 10th District covers all or part of 23 counties in Central and Northern Michigan.

The EDA grants, recently approved by Secretary of Commerce Rogers C.B. Morton, would create an estimated 144 jobs, according to Cederberg, in eight counties which are currently experiencing average unemployment rates of almost twenty percent.

"These funds are urgently needed and are certainly welcomed. EDA has continued to be an excellent source of Federal funds for projects which benefit many taxpayers," Michigan's senior legislator said.

Programs funded with the EDA grants include erosion control, stream bank protection, and forest protection and management. The actual obligation of the funds is contingent upon the various projects meeting all legal and administrative requirements of the Act.

Cederberg concluded, "The Secretary has indicated that the various Commerce agencies will try to expedite the distribution of these funds within the next sixty days. The funded jobs can then be filled immediately."

Law enforcement officers complete FBI Academy

QUANTICO, VA. - Two law enforcement officers from the Central Michigan area have completed the 101st session of the FBI National Academy and were honored in graduation ceremonies recently at the FBI training facilities in Quantico.

Completing the FBI training were Anthony A. Hufnagel, Clinton County Sheriff, and Lt. Ritchie T. Davis, personnel division, Michigan State Police Headquarters, East Lansing.

Rocky Pomerance, chief of police, Miami Beach, Florida, and the current president of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, was the principal speaker at graduation ceremonies.

The graduation ceremonies concluded 11 weeks of executive-level training for the officers who represent 49 states and 7 foreign countries.

They join 8919 officers who have completed the National Academy courses. Of this total number of graduates, 5442 are still actively pursuing law enforcement careers; 794 of them are chiefs of police; 151 are sheriffs; 7 are heads of state police organizations; and 116 others hold positions as heads of their agencies. One of very five FBI National Academy graduates occupies the top executive position of his agency.

The diversified FBI National Academy curriculum is designed to meet the needs of contemporary law enforcement in such areas of interest as police management, ethics, recent court decisions, urban police problems, and the behavioral sciences.

The FBI, through its modern Academy facility that opened in June, 1972, trains 1,000 law enforcement officers each year as part of the FBI National Academy. In addition, new FBI Agents and veteran Agents, as well as specialized law enforcement groups, utilize the training establishment.

A PERSONAL LOOK AT THE NEWS Between the lines

with Jim Edwards

Thoughts through a typewriter

... Words of wisdom that came in the morning mail: A wise man once said, "Nothing is certain except death and taxes." An even wiser man said, "At least death never gets any worse."

... The Detroit Free Press had a fine article on a Detroit Tiger first baseman in their Sunday "Detroit" magazine supplement. One problem--the story was about Nate Colbert--he was traded 2 weeks ago.

... Don't read this, Stanley. Rep. Stanley Powell's friends are going to throw a surprise 80th birthday party for him. A news release that was requested to be published in the County News asks that friends of Powell's have their reservations in to Mrs. Powell 616-527-1258 or Mich. Farm Bureau, 485-8121, Ext. 303. The surprise (if you don't read this, Stanley) will be July 8 from 6:30-10:30.

... Dr. A. N. Saunders, St. Johns chiropractic physician is a fortunate beneficiary of new advances in treatment of eye disorders. A victim of cataracts, Doc was in a Florida hospital recently where he had lens implants and now the cataracts are gone and he's got 20-20 in 1 eye and 20-25 in the other and that one will improve. He was in and out of the hospital in one day. Congratulations Doc and here's looking at you.

... Our apologies to Cecelia Thelen of Fowler. She read the classified ads in the County News last week and, lo and behold, found her house for sale. One hitch, she really doesn't want to sell her house--a typographical error resulted in her telephone number being published. Her's is 593-2613--that's wrong. If you're interested in the home, call 593-2631--that's right.

... It was a great week in Dallas for St. Johns. Ralph Lynam was elected 3d vice-president of Lions International, a world-wide organization and the St. Johns Redwing Marching Band were top-rate good will ambassadors. Their performance and class brought praise wherever they went. Ralph, the band and the St. Johns Lions are to be thanked for displaying St. Johns to the world as a community to be envied.

... Paging Jack Downing--would you please report to Tiger Stadium immediately. Somebody has to tell those guys that there is a way to prevent the man on third from scoring when the catcher tries to throw out the man going to 2d from first. Honest, fellas, there's a way to do it. I'm sure Jack can explain it and there's a whole lot of Little League coaches who have little trouble explaining it to their young charges.

Appoint Spaniola to committee to investigate Public Service Comm.

Speaker of the House Bobby D. Crim (D-Davison) appointed me this week to a special House committee investigating the Michigan Public Service Commission.

The committee, chaired by Representative Howard Wolpe (D-Kalamazoo), was formed earlier this session. Public hearings have already been held around the state and other preliminary work is underway.

I was named at this time to replace Representative Gary Owen (D-Ypsilanti) who was busy with other commitments. The purpose of the committee is not to conduct a witch hunt but to find straight answers to questions involving utility rates and the effectiveness of the Public Service Commission.

There are several areas the committee will probe, but four main issues have emerged:

1. What are Michigan's energy needs for the future, and how can these needs be most efficiently achieved?
2. What has been the impact of utility rate increases upon individuals and business? My mailbox is flooded with letters from individuals and small businessmen bemoaning soaring utility rates. Everyone is feeling the pinch of frequent increases.

3. How effective is the Michigan Public Service Commission in insuring that utility rate payers are not bearing the costs of mismanagement? What is the allocation of expenses between the ratepayers and the stockholders of the company, and is such allocation justified?

One of the main questions raised by my constituents is whether the rate increases are indeed necessary or if better management would reduce costs. The public has a right to know whether the PSC has been operating ethically and efficiently.

4. Do all interests have comparable access to the Public Service Commission and the ratemaking process? In other words, does the public have the same amount of input and influence as the utilities?

Wolpe's committee has run into some snags and some criticism of the procedures used to investigate the PSC. As a late appointee, I am at a disadvantage in that I have a volume of reading to do before I can catch up with the progress of the committee to date. On the other hand, it may prove valuable to be able to come in with a clean, fresh mind so I can better evaluate the procedures. I will not be prejudiced either way in determining our direction for the future.

I am excited to be able to serve on this important committee. The Speaker said he selected me because he knew I would be fair and reasonable, as demonstrated in my work on the Keith committee. I will approach this investigation in as fair and reasonable manner as possible. We can't afford to play games. At stake is the risk of 17% unemployment and we cannot irresponsibly saddle the state of Michigan with that burden.

Two DeWitt residents earn Ferris State degrees

Kathy L. Davis and Patricia A. Nichols graduated from Ferris State College May 24. Kathy earned her degree in allied health education and Patricia Nichols earned her degree in radiologic technology.

Ferris State graduates

Nine St. Johns residents and 2 Fowler residents graduated from Ferris State College May 24.

Graduating from St. Johns were: Betty N. Coleman in higher accounting, Mary J. Greer in dental assisting, James N. Greene in architectural drafting with high distinction, Phillip S. Knight in printing management with distinction, Gloria J. Kurucz in data processing, Daniel P. Ott in industrial electronics, James R. Parr in pharmacy, David E. Rossow in Machine Tool and Carole J. Yurke in respiratory therapy.

"If It Fitz . . ."

Lawyers should advertise

by Jim Fitzgerald

Editor, Lapeer County Press

The U.S. Supreme Court ruled unanimously it is illegal for lawyers to fix their prices. That same week, most of the doctors in my favorite town, in concert, raised the price of office calls.

How come Dr. Welby can do what Petrocelli can't?
No honest lawyer (that's not redundant) will deny his profession has been violating the Sherman Anti-Trust Act. This act forbids frisbee manufacturers, for instance, from getting together at lunch and agreeing no frisbee shall be wholesaled for less than $2 each, even if it costs only 25 cents each to make them. Thus price competition is effectively removed from the market place and a lot of kids are forced to smoke 'pot because they can't afford frisbees.

SINCE BEFORE Perry Mason, bar associations have established "minimum fees" to be charged by area lawyers. So much per divorce, so much per tax return, so much per rape, etc. It was OK to charge more than the minimum, just so long as the total fee did not equal an amount twice the assessed valuation of the state in which the lawyer practiced.

But it was another thing for a greedy young lawyer to charge less than the amount suggested by his peers. The penalty varied from state to state. In some areas the offending lawyer was merely ostracized by his local bar association, thus forcing him to play golf by himself and to show up for trial needlessly because no one would tell him his client died 2 years earlier.

The severest penalty on record was slapped on a lawyer who discounted a divorce fee simply because his client became a widow 10 minutes after she hired him. The poor guy's fellow lawyers ganged up and elected him district judge, thus cutting his income by 96%.

It is lovely that the Supreme Court has ruled this price fixing is illegal. But if the idea is to save the consumer money, the court must go further. Lawyers must be allowed to advertise. What's the sense in having a sale on zoning appeals if no one knows about it? Lawyers should push their services the same way McDonald sells hamburgers. There is more than one way to give yourself a break today. Find yourself a drive-in lawyer who knows how to prepare wills ahead of time and keep them warm. All you need do is fill in the blanks, as easy as adding ketchup.

BAR ASSOCIATIONS object to advertising because, they say, it is degrading to professional people. It is to laugh. Almost everyone convicted in the Watergate mess was a lawyer. Nixon and Agnew are lawyers. In my hometown, a lawyer admitted he hadn't filed his income tax return for 10 years. A Mich. Supreme Court justice has stepped down while being investigated on bribery charges.

The members of the legal profession could hardly be further degraded if they advertised by sky writing over drive-ins showing porno movies. Lawyers would probably gain dignity through a series of TV commercials stating that same guy who wants to say a few words about diarrhea. When the Supreme Court is done with the lawyers, the justices should turn their attention to the doctors. I wouldn't accuse any medical society of fixing prices. Even if the doctors do share the printing costs for 2 million office signs announcing price hikes caused by "The Rising Cost of Malpractice Insurance" tra la la.

Surely there are some cut-rate tonsillectomies out there. But where? The doctors should also be allowed to advertise. This shouldn't be too degrading for a profession that pickets hospitals. Onward and upward.

Who set hotel fire still remains burning question

ST. JOHNS - St. Johns Police and the Michigan State Police Fire Marshall's Division continue to investigate concerning arson at the Good Friday fire at the Steel Hotel.

St. Johns Chief of Police Lyle French says the investigation is continuing, but investigative agencies are frankly "stumped."

Persons interviewed by the agencies following the fire have been definitely eliminated as possible suspects and, currently, police have no suspect.

They are asking the assistance of area residents who may have any information that could be used in the investigation. Persons offering such information will be able to do so in confidence.

Furthermore, persons having information about the Steel Hotel fire or any other fire resulting from possible arson may write to Arson Control, Box 52, Holt, 48842 or call Arson Control 517-882-4341.

"Super" tomato plant

When Raymond G. Bergdoll's class at St. Peter Lutheran Christian Day School decided to grow a tomato plant, they didn't mess around. They went for the "big one" and wound up with this ceiling-high plan using the hydroponics growing method of using no soil. The plant grew in a 2-gallon pail filled with rocks and sand. Inspecting the plant with Bergdoll is 1 of the students involved in the project, Joe Speerbrecker.

Arson information could net $1000

Rewards of up to $1,000 for information which helps in the arrest and/or conviction of arsonists now are being offered by Arson Control, a new unit of the state's public and private arson investigation agencies.

The purpose of the program is to encourage reports from anyone with information which could prevent an incendiary fire or aid in catching a person who sets one. This can be done by writing to Arson Control, Box 23, Holt, Michigan 48842, or calling 517-882-4341, collect.

The information may be given anonymously and the identity of the caller and the information will be given the fullest possible protection.

The amount of individual rewards will be based on the degree of assistance provided, and will be determined by a panel of specialists in arson crime cases.

Information will be sought through a continuing campaign of advertisements in local news media and other public information efforts.

Arson Control is an outgrowth of the Michigan Fair Plan Arson Committee which is headed by Captain George Catton, chief of the State Police Arson Division, and includes representatives of the Detroit Fire Department Arson Division, the Michigan Prosecutors Association, the Michigan Bureau of Insurance, the International Association of Arson Investigators, and the Michigan fire insurance industry.

"The information reward program is another in a series of cooperative efforts to help all of the arson investigation units in the state in the fight against a spiraling increase in this type of crime," Captain Catton announced. "Others have been an increase in the state arson investigative staff, a scholarship program which is helping to train local police and fire personnel in a special course of the Criminal Justice Institute, and a series of seminars to alert insurance personnel to arson evidence."

growth rate far exceeds that of any other crime, and there is strong evidence that more than 30 per cent of all building fires now are being set. The annual cost of this crime in Michigan has been rising sharply and for last year it is estimated at nearly $40,000,000. Incendiary fire is a terrible threat to the lives of innocent persons. It also is an important factor in the cost of everyone's fire insurance.

Funds for the reward program are provided by a grant from the Michigan Association of Insurance Companies.

4-H Chatter

4-H Talent winners

By JOHN AYLSWORTH

Clinton County 4-H Talent Act members made an excellent showing at the District 4-H Talent Contest during the 4-H Exploration Days June 20 at Michigan State University. There were 26 acts and seven blue ribbons given for outstanding performances. Clinton County 4-H members won three of the seven blue ribbons: Denise Cerny - Nimble Fingers in dance; Darlene Cerny - Nimble Fingers in acrobatic; and Sandy Fedewa - Westphalia 4-H in monologue. Two Clinton County Acts won honorable mention: Jill Swagart - 4-H Wonders in piano and The Super Six - Westphalia 4-H in vocal.

EXPLORATION DAYS
The 4-H Exploration Days Program was highly successful with over 4,600 4-H'ers from throughout Michigan attending the three day event at Michigan State University. Over 50 4-H members from Clinton County attended the options on Thursday and Friday, June 19 and 20; and many more attended the 4-H Action Day on Saturday, June 21. The program theme "We Can Make It Happen" proved correct as leaders and members received many ideas and techniques they could use back in their own 4-H club in helping other members. There were 131 different options members and leaders had the opportunity to participate in receiving from 4 1/2 to 6 hours training in that area.

14,040 POUNDS OF GLASS
The 4-H glass project in June was handled by the 4-H teen leaders and amounted to 14,040 pounds. The total glass collected to date since the 4-H glass project started has now reached 804,340 pounds that has been recycled into new products. The next regular monthly glass collection activity will be Saturday, July 5, and will be handled by the St. Johns United Methodist Senior MYF group under the leadership of Roger and Judy Beebe.

PREPARING FOR FAIR
The 4-H Beef Club members are getting ready for the Fair. A group of members and leaders worked at the fairgrounds Wednesday evening putting braces on the showing fence and gates, painting the braces, cleaning and fixing the livestock gates and general cleanup of the beef barn area. The members plan to paint the livestock gates before the Fair. The Beef Club members would like to remind the public of the livestock auction sale to be held at the fairgrounds August 13 at 2:00 p.m. with Jim Sykora as the auctioneer. People can purchase steers, market pigs and market lambs for their freezer.

BOB-LO TRIP
Clinton County 4-H'ers enjoyed their trip to Bob-Lo Island on June 17 and June 25. They enjoyed their boat ride, amusement rides and the fellowship of the 4-H members. Shirley Roberts of Elsie is in charge of the first trip and Janet Becker of St. Johns is in charge of the second trip. This trip was mainly for 10 and 11 year old 4-H'ers who are not eligible for the county 4-H trip awards.

TIGER TIME
Sixty Clinton County 4-H members, parents and leaders will be participating in the 4-H day at Tiger Stadium on Saturday, July 26, when Detroit plays the Cleveland Indians. The group will go via the St. Johns Community Bus.

HORSE CLINIC
Over 250 4-H horse club members, parents and leaders from Clinton and surrounding counties attended the 4-H horse clinic on June 18 at the fairgrounds in St. Johns. They received instruction on English riding and jumping from Casey Hughes of DeWitt; how to prepare your horse for show by Bruce Haak of Owosso; and instruction on Western riding by Dr. Robert Malesky answered questions on horse diseases and gave the Coggins Test to those members who brought their horses to the clinic.

BATH ELECTS OFFICERS
The Bath All Purpose 4-H club members have elected the following officers: Barry Brown - President; Karen Reeves - Vice President; Judy Brown - Secretary; Debbie Collins - Treasurer; and Lisa Brook - News Reporter. Some parents get "hung up" on developmental norms. The book says infants should be sitting unaided at about 6 months, and if little Joey doesn't sit up by age 6 months and 2 days, it's off to the pediatrician to find out why. Other parents, especially teen-age parents of infants and small children, have such unrealistic expectations of when their children should demonstrate this behavior or that one, that the children cannot possibly live up to them. Jeanne Brown, Michigan State University child development specialist, reports on a study done with 48 rural teen-age couples in Pennsylvania that shows these young parents did not know what to expect of their children and set impossibly high standards. Children were expected to sit up unaided at 6 to 12 weeks when 28 weeks is the average. Parents expected their children to pull themselves up to a standing position at 5 to 6 months - 9 months is normal - and to take their first step alone at about 9 months. Most children have passed their first birthday before they begin to walk without holding onto something. Parents also expected toilet training to be accomplished by the time a child is 6 months old. Most children are not completely trained until age 3, Mrs. Brown points out, and even then "accidents" may happen. Children begin to learn language very, very young by listening to speech and making sounds of their own. By about 18 months of age they can understand a great deal of what is said to them and can follow simple commands, but their first meaningful word may still be ahead of them. The parents in the Pennsylvania study, however, thought their babies would begin to talk about 8 months. Parents with unrealistic expectations often see discipline as a major problem because they believe their children should be able to tell right from wrong at a very early age - in the case of the Pennsylvania couples, by 1 year. "Right" and "wrong" are abstract ideas that even a child of four may have trouble with. Parents who expect creepers and toddlers to "know better" because "they've been told about that" see their children's natural curiosity as stubborn misbehavior. Impatience often turns to anger that vents itself through physical punishment and, in drastic cases, cruel abuse. Because very young children don't understand cause and effect, they don't know why they're being punished. All they know is that the person they are completely dependent upon can and does hurt them, seemingly for no reason. As a result, the child may very well grow up feeling worthless and rejected and distrustful.

Wheat drying
Unless proper drying equipment is immediately available, wheat should not be harvested at 20 percent or more moisture. "Wheat harvested at this moisture must be dried the same day to prevent heating and mold growth. If not dried immediately, the grain's milling characteristics may be hurt," says Robert White and Robert Maddex, Michigan State University agricultural engineers. Harvesting this grain requires increased threshing action of the combine, with the chance of increased kernel damage. Harvest at 14 percent without drying and 15 to 17 percent when drying will be used. Because most Michigan farmers must ship their wheat to elevators for drying, harvesting at 20 percent is not an economical practice. There is a marked increase in energy consumption for drying high moisture wheat. It takes 2,000 BTUs to evaporate one pound of water. The difference in moisture of one percentage point in wheat is approximately 1.2 pounds of water. If wheat is harvested at 20 percent moisture instead of 15 percent, this is a difference of 6 pounds of water, requiring 12,000 more BTUs needed to dry the grain. Wheat harvested at 15 percent moisture can be fan-dried without heat under normal summer conditions of 70- to 80-degree air temperature and 50- to 60-percent humidity. Above 15 percent moisture, turn on the dryer. Wheat is more difficult to dry than most other type grains because of its small size which provides less void space. Air flow must be more intense to penetrate the tightly packed grain and requires more energy per unit of moisture removed. High market prices could justify harvesting wheat at 20 percent moisture, but grain will have to be dried the same day. (Incidentally those high prices don't appear very likely at this time.) If you have drying equipment, you may profit from harvesting wheat 3 to 4 percent above the safe storage moisture of 14 percent. This can be a preventative measure against late rains, sprouting and stem breakage. Harvesting at this moisture can also lengthen the harvest day, as early morning and evening moisture does not have to be as heavily considered in planning the harvest.

Avoid camping tragedy

By WILLIAM LASHER
Extension Agriculture Agent

Here are tips to avoid tragic camping accidents.

A short in the wiring of a trailer or camper that isn't grounded can be dangerous. If possible, use a three-prong outlet to hook up trailer electricity. If you must use a two-prong outlet, ground the trailer with a metal rod.

Be sure to use a cord large enough to support the trailer's electrical needs. A small household extension cord may start a fire or burn out appliance motors.

Avoid contaminating trailer or camper water tanks. Bacteria thrives in a tank filled through a dirty hose.

If you want to drink lake or river water, boil it for 15 minutes. Even the clearest fresh water should be boiled. Or add three drops of chlorine bleach to each gallon of water and let stand for a half hour.

Food poisoning is another potential camping hazard. To inhibit growth of harmful bacteria, keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold.

Use common household safety precautions around cooking fires, and keep children at a distance.

In some camping areas, wild animals are attracted to campers' food. Check with a park ranger about safe food storage.

If you're towing a trailer or boat, leave early enough so you aren't rushed. When small wheels of towed vehicles are overtaxed, they may jam or blow out. Check trailer lights, wheel bearings and tires before setting out.

Don't build an enclosure around propane gas tanks on trailers. Without proper ventilation, gas tanks could explode.

Who was Capt. David Scott who became the first permanent white settler of Clinton County? He was born in November, 1779 in Litchfield, Conn. and was left an orphan at an early age. The title of Captain is legitimate as he served in the War of 1812 and achieved that rank. He came to Michigan in 1825 and settled on a farm a mile and a half south of Ann Arbor and lived there for eight years. Selling that farm, he came with his wife, Eunice, and two sons, David and Charles and arrived on the spot where DeWitt City now stands on October 4, 1833. He took 1428 acres from the government.

From an "Essay" written and read by Mrs. Oliva Stowell Baker at a picnic of the Clinton County Pioneer Society held near the village of DeWitt, August 25, 1877: David Scott, his wife and two sons left Ann Arbor the 28th day of September, 1833.

About six miles this side of Dexter they passed the last house. They were obliged to ford the Huron River and to drive into lakes to find a safe therefore came prepared with a winter's supply.

On arriving they obtained the consent of the Indians to move into one of their wigwams (longhouse, not a teepee), 15 feet square, where they remained seven weeks. This wigwam was built of rock elm bark, with bunks on two sides and a fire in the center.

While the smoke would sometimes escape from a hole in the center of the roof, it would often remain in the room. They cut the logs for their house on the 5th and 6th of Oct. with help of two teamsters and the hired man. There was no lumber nearer than Ann Arbor or Pontiac, so they were obliged to make their own flooring and shingles. It was a day of rejoicing, Mr. Scott said, when they moved from the old smoky shanty into the new house twenty five feet square.

They brought with them into the wilderness 17 head of cattle and one horse, as they had neither hay nor grain, and their pasture extended over the whole of Clinton and parts of Ionia, Eaton, Ingham and Shiawassee counties.

road for their heavily loaded wagons and patient oxen, often mired in the long dismal swamps and marshes, whenever night overtook them.

THERE they pitched their tents and prepared their supper. They arrived at their place, now called DeWitt village, Oct. 4, 1833. The Captain having been one of the pioneers in Washington County in 1825, well knew the hardships that must be endured before the wilderness would yield support, and Michigan Veteran of Foreign Wars 56th Annual Convention was held in Lansing, June 20-22. Several members from DeWitt #671 attended the various meetings.

The DeWitt Auxiliary #671 President Nancy George was selected as 1975 All-State Auxiliary President in category I (15-35 members, DeWitt has 30 members). This is decided on what the Auxiliary and President has done for the community compared to the other Auxiliaries in that category throughout the State.

DeWitt Auxiliary received several citations under various chairmanships. Besides having President of the Year, they also placed second in the State under Community Activities.

On Friday, Virginia Fowler, Wanda Mullins and Jean Symonds participated in the "Aisle of Flags" displaying their new American and Auxiliary flags. They were joined at noon by Audrey George, Nancy George, Jane Hatch and Mary Woodard for the Hospital Luncheon. Instead of attending the Convention Banquet they were joined by Linda Crowe, Duane Fowler, Tom George, Bog Hatch, Mike Mullins and George Woodard for dinner at the Frontier in Lansing. Following dinner, most of the members attended several caucuses at the convention.

On Saturday, Bob Hatch, Mike and Wanda Mullins, George and Mary Woodard, Virginia Fowler, and Tom and Nancy George marched in the two hour parade down Capitol Avenue. Later in the evening several members attended the Pageant of Drums at Everett Field.

On Sunday, elections of 1976 State Officers were held, followed by installation officers. A reception was held at the Civic Center to honor the new president, Fay Walter and new commander, Eric Halverson. Both officers are from District 9.

Next years Convention will be held at Sault Ste Marie.

DeWitt Township police report

Elsie all school reunion attended by 425

The fourth All-School Reunion of Elsie High School former students, graduates, teachers and their families was held Sunday, June 22 at the Ovid-Elsie High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Tillotson and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Libey headed the committee for registering and name-tagging the 425 guests.

Many people arrived in the morning to leisurely tour the new school and its facilities. They also spent much time pouring over tables covered with scrapbooks, diplomas, year books, Elsonian and Legend, snapshot albums, graduation and class pictures, letters from former students, souvenir programs, pictures of various stages of demolition of the old Elsie High building and other items reminiscent of earlier days.

Most of the displays were furnished by Mrs. Wilma Green Cole, Mrs. Gladys Knight Vincent, Mrs. Elizabeth Cobb Hess, Mrs. Wilma Woodard Geiger, Mrs. Ruth Partlow Williams, Merle Baese and Sidney and Neva Keys.

A Swiss steak dinner was prepared and served buffet-style by Mrs. Harriet Beardslee, head of the hot lunch program and her staff. The tables were arranged by the various class years and decorated with garden flowers by Mrs. Jerry Horak and her committee.

A brief business meeting was held in the auditorium with Merle Baese, chairman, in charge and Larry Ott, secretary - treasurer, reading the 1970 reunion reports.

Mrs. Elizabeth (Cobb) Hess (1938) extended greetings and pointed out that there was no generation gap in the crowd as there were representatives from all classes from the class of 1901 through the last class to graduate from Old Elsie High in 1968.

From tiny tots to great-grandparents in several three and four generations of former students present.

Mrs. Hess gave a brief history of the Elsie School from the "little red schoolhouse" west of town to the new and modern Ovid-Elsie High School that provides the best educational opportunities for their students, located midway between Elsie and Ovid on Hollister Road.

"We have come a long way," she said, "from the first wooden school house built for $2,150 in 1868 to this beautiful building a hundred years later in 1967 at a cost of nearly two million."

Mrs. Hess further stated that there were a few people present who attended school in the old white wooden two-story school. Miss Lulu Knight, age 91, was the oldest living graduate from its 1901 class. She was a sister of the former Supr. E.E. Knight.

The brick school house was built in 1903 with additions in later years as the enrollment increased. The final chapter was written in the life of the old brick school when it was torn down in 1972. It is interesting to note that when it was built in 1903, the cost was $15,450 and torn down at a cost of $4,000.

The E.E. Knight Elementary School was dedicated in 1956 and several additional classrooms were built later on the north side. The additions to the schoolhouse are now used for Junior High students.

The old school bell and the stone name plaque have been permanently mounted in the school yard with help and financial contributions of many former students.

Mrs. Hess added a few of her own memories as she related the changes at old EHS. She called attention to two hand-made banners, 3 ft. by 5 ft., hanging from the wall of the auditorium. This is the story. The banners were made by the girls of each class 1917, white with red applique and 1918, lavender with yellow applique. They were fastened at the top of the old school cupola.

It was a contest as class of 1917 started it. There were five sets of brothers and sisters in these two classes - Carters, Gibbs, Halls, Dodge and Fox. The girls of 1917 class hung their banner secretly by gaining entrance somehow and climbing a ladder through the attic so all could see it the next day. Then the next night the girls bought material and worked all night at Lucile Woodard's home to make the 1918 banner. Before daylight, the boys sneaked down and put theirs up.

The banners have been missing all these years. Finally in 1968 when the class of 1918 observed its 50th anniversary, Earl Hustin of St. Johns admitted that he knew they were in a trunk in his home. Somehow they were lost again and about a month ago they were delivered to Mrs. Leon Williams and displayed again 57 years later.

Mrs. Hess paid tribute to the 1925 class that was celebrating its 50th anniversary. Those present were: Florence Waldron Krepps, Martha

O-E students fare well at CMU Special Olympics

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 5, 6, and 7, 1800 students ranging in age from 3 through adults, filed into Central Michigan University Campus to begin competing in this year's Special Olympics.

From its beginning in 1968, the Olympics has provided the mentally impaired athletes with the excitement and the rewards of sports participation. Through the positive experience in such sports as track and field, gymnastics, swimming, volleyball, basketball, floor hockey and bowling, these persons can gain confidence and improved self-image that will carry over into the other areas of their lives.

Participation and opportunity are available for the truly talented persons while others may be floundering, looking and losing. Through the efforts of the Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr.

Foundation, involvement is being made available. Opportunity to participate is now. The Special Olympics is a reality for Clinton County residents.

Three students from Ovid-Elsie were selected to represent Clinton County at Central Michigan University. Events were scheduled for learning new skills. Such workshops included gymnastics, square dancing, handball, hockey, basketball, diving, dance, table games and tennis.

Recreation centers such as swimming, roller skating, fashion, puppets, and movies were available for freetime activities. Entertainment centers of carnivals, talent shows, horse show and concerts were for viewing by all persons. Even a red-haired clown and his "friendly" band of "caters" were present. Each participant began the long road to CMU by first going to Haslett. From these 250 students the tri-county area had to select 18. Clinton county had three positions to fill. These three positions went to Ovid-Elsie students.

Michigan Holstein nationally honored

BRATTLEBORO, VERMONT — Recognition as a Gold Medal Sire has been awarded by Holstein-Friesian Association of America to a bull owned by Duane, Merle & Velmar Green, Elsie. Only those Registered Holstein bulls having daughters that meet high standards in both milk production and body conformation are awarded Gold Medal honors.

The bull, Green Meadow M R Valor 1905143 (VG), permanently joins the Gold Medal Sire ranks after being designated as both "Production and Type Qualified" in a recently published issue of Registered Holstein Sire Performance Summaries. The Holstein Association, in cooperation with USDA, calculates and prints sire performance information three times each year. These facts are used by dairymen as a guide for selecting sires for use in their herds.

The temporary designation "Type Qualified" is re-evaluated each time a sire's performance is updated.

Requirements demand a certain level of body conformation improvement in the daughters of the sire when compared to their dams. Other factors included pertain to Holstein breed average type scores for age and the number of daughters considered.

"Production Qualified" is also temporary in that the prescribed qualifications must be met each time the performance of the sire is figured. USDA calculates the production performance of the sire's daughters, comparing them with their herdmates. All DHIA production records accepted by USDA from the daughters of the sire are included in the summarization.

88th District Report by Stanley Powell State Representative

The fiscal year of the State of Michigan began on July 1, 1975. The whole process of adopting the budget bills which will provide for the financing of the state's departments, institutions and aid programs stretches before us. Not a single budget bill has as yet been enacted. Of course, most of the committee work has been conducted so it is hoped that from now on progress will be relatively rapid. In the meantime a resolution has been adopted authorizing continuation of state spending at last year's levels.

The bill relative to teachers' negotiations passed the House but is still in committee in the Senate. Governor Milliken has stated plainly that the bill in the form passed by the House would not receive his approval, but would face a veto unless revised substantially.

The 71-page bill by Common Cause relative to campaign records and procedure, conflict of interest, lobbying, etc. was reported in substitute form from the House Committee on House Policy, which is said to have incorporated over 200 amendments in their substitute version.

There are widely varying predictions as to how many or how few votes there may be in the House for the so-called business privilege tax which is an exceedingly controversial proposal.

TWO WRONGS I'm sure you've all heard by now about the "teacher-strike" bill which was recently passed by the House and sent to the Senate. That bill, H.B. 5181, was originally supposed to do something about the problem of teacher strikes, but what it really does is just talk about them.

Governor Milliken has said he will veto H.B. 5181 in its present form. It was passed by the House virtually unchanged from the form in which it was reported out by the Labor Committee. And the Labor Committee, in turn, made few if any changes in the recommended bill presented by the teacher and school-board lobbyists who were told to write a bill by our Democrat Speaker Bobby Crim. That process, if you'll recall, went on behind closed doors with no public input.

As the bill passed the House, teachers would not lose any salary for a strike lasting up to three weeks, because they could make up at the end of the school year the time spent on a strike at the beginning of the year. Teachers would lose pay beginning with the fourth week of a strike.

More importantly, the bill does not contain a provision which would definitely require binding arbitration to be imposed after a certain time. Thus, a strike could go on indefinitely, if the teachers and school boards did not mind losing money. I certainly agree with the Detroit Free Press, which said the passage of the bill was "a victory for the AFL-CIO. It is anything but a victory for the people of Michigan." Instead of legislation to end illegal teacher strikes, we now have legislation to legalize teacher strikes in elementary and secondary schools.

POLITICAL REFORM
The House Policy Committee has now reported out H.B. 5250 to the full House. This is the 71-page "so-called" "political reform" bill which was proposed by Common Cause and which was introduced by the leadership of both parties in both houses of the Legislature.

The Committee made 200 amendments to the bill and reported a substitute for it. The basic provisions of H.B. 5250 restrict campaign contributions and expenditures, require public disclosure of financial interests by public officials, full reporting by both lobbyists and political committees, and establish a Political Ethics Commission to make sure that the law is enforced.

Changes from the original bill include provisions that occupations must be reported of all contributors who donate over $100 (formerly $50); and that public funding for governor candidates will come only from voluntary tax checkoffs, not from appropriations by the Legislature.

Unchanged are spending limits ranging from $15,000 for a State Representative campaign up to $1,000,000 for a gubernatorial campaign, and individual-contribution limits ranging from $250 for a State Representative campaign up to $1,700 for a gubernatorial campaign. Groups could contribute up to 10 times these amounts.

LONGER DRIVING
The next time you go to renew your driver's license, don't be surprised when you get a four-year renewal—that's the way it will be from now on. (Current licenses are good for three years.)

Under a bill which the House recently passed and sent to the Governor for his signature, all new driver's licenses issued will be good for four years. License renewals will also be for four years, but only after a three-year phase-in program of current license holders.

The cost, in effect, will remain the same: $1.50 a year. But it will now cost $6.00 every four years, instead of $4.50 every three years. And because of the reduced costs of the less-frequent renewals, the Secretary of State's office estimates that they will save about $1 million a year.

TAX APPEALS
The House has now passed and sent to the Senate a bill introduced by one of my fellow Republicans, which would allow you to appeal your property tax after a state equalization factor is applied. As things now stand, you can't do this.

The reason for the current situation is that the Tax Tribunal Act of 1973 says that you have to go before the Board of Review to begin your tax appeal. But the Board of Review adjourns each year before the State Tax Commission is required to issue their equalization factors. As a result, if a factor raises your tax above the constitutional maximum of 50 percent, you have no way to appeal.

This situation has been declared unconstitutional by a circuit judge in northern Michigan. While I'm sure the state will appeal that decision, I hope my colleagues in the Senate will recognize the inequity of the situation and pass H.B. 5225 promptly, so that taxpayers may yet have some recourse this year.

BAD BILLS
Two bad bills went down to well-deserved defeats in the House this week. Usually, most of the bills which get out of committee are passed by the full House, but these two bills were notable exceptions.

One bill, introduced by a Democrat from the Detroit area, would have required all service stations to post their gasoline prices in large letters in front of the station. The intent was to let consumers know what the various prices were and be able to buy their gas accordingly.

But the effect would have been to raise prices and to increase visual pollution on city streets. There would have been a great proliferation of signs; and with everyone required to put up signs, and the increased costs of doing so, I cannot believe that it would stimulate cut-price competition. Personally, I have always believed that if someone has a low price, he will advertise it; if no price is displayed, I assume that it is higher than that of his competitors.

Another Detroit-area Democrat sponsored a bill which would have allowed high school students, both public and private, to be excused from school on election days to work in political campaigns. I do not believe that school time should be used for activities which best belong outside the classroom. Students have plenty of time after school and on weekends to work in political campaigns.

Quite outside of the particular issue at hand, this bill would have established the state's right to tell schools when to excuse some students and not others, and under what conditions. That would have been a serious erosion of local control of education, and for that reason alone the bill deserved defeat.

As you may guess from these comments, I voted against each of these bills.

Elford gets appointment, then tells a little story

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Speaker of the United States House of Representatives appointed Republican Congressman Al Cederberg to a special Committee—a special White House Conference to determine whether all the Federal Regulatory Agencies are doing their jobs.

Cederberg accepted — then he read a very special letter to all the Members of the House. The message began — "In the beginning Al Cederberg, shared with his colleagues a parable, offered by one of his farming constituents in Michigan's 10th Congressional District. The letter was timely — it came just a few days before his special appointment.

The unknown author of the letter, obviously either a farmer or a small businessman, let his imagination soar and came up with some startling facts in a most unusual but plausible presentation.

"When I read the letter and then was notified of my appointment to the special White House Conference on Regulatory Agency Activities which will focus on governmental influence and interference, the unexpected development suddenly took on an ironic significance for me," Cederberg said. "I thought it was worth bringing to the attention of the House. Perhaps first because it was amusing but, after thinking it over, more because of the truth in its unusual message."

Cederberg then quoted for the Members from the parable, "In the beginning, God created heaven and earth. He was slapped with a class action lawsuit by the Heavenly Protection Agency (HEPA) for failure to file an environmental impact statement with the agency. When God noted that he needed a place to put man, he was immediately challenged by a female member of the HEPA council who labeled him as a 'male chauvinist'. God's suggestion that he would create a woman from the rib of a man didn't exactly ignite approving accolades from the 'better half' of the council."

Cederberg continued to read, "God compounded his problems when he told the council he was going to light the earth with a big ball of fire. The council gave provisional approval assuming (1) there would be no smog or smoke from the ball of fire, (2) a separate burning permit would be required, and (3) since continuous light would be wasteful of energy, it should be dark half of the time."

"When God said that he was going to create firmament amidst the waters," Cederberg told his colleagues, "he was labeled a double talking land developer and told that he could not proceed any further until he had obtained a firmament permit from the Angelic Bureau of Land Management, rezoning approval from the Earth Council and earth excavating permit from the County Council."

"The final straw," narrated Cederberg, "was his plan to complete the entire project in six days. 'Totally unacceptable' was the immediate response. HEPA would require a minimum of 180 days to review the application, an outside firm would have to be hired (paid for by God) to study it for "omissions", and then there would be a public hearing. . . . easily taking 10 to 12 months before the final permit could be granted."

At that point Cederberg noted, "God said, 'To Hell with it!'"

Cederberg was appointed to the White House Conference along with fellow Congressmen Samuel Devine (R-Ohio), John Anderson (R-Illinois), Frank Horton (R-N.Y.), Bill Archer (R-Texas), Charles Thone (R-Nebraska), John Moss (D-Calif.), Paul Rogers (D-Florida), Bob Leggett (D-Calif., Calif.), Jim Wright (D-Texas), Jim Howard (D-N.J.), and Jim Jones (D-Okla.).
