Another stormy day

Clinton County and St. Johns, for the second week in a row, fell victim to a violent storm that downed utility lines and scattered trees. The storm struck shortly after noon on Saturday, with rain and high winds. It was concentrated in the central and southern areas of the county. There were no reports of injuries.

"several hundred" telephones in Clinton County were out of service for varying periods following the storm. Graef said most interruptions were caused by tree limbs that felled wires leading to homes.

General crewmen were called in Saturday afternoon, worked until dark, then returned to work all day Sunday in restoring service. Damage was general throughout the company's service area, Graef said.

B.C. Davis, area manager of Consumers Power Co., said electric service was interrupted in scattered areas of St. Johns for about 45 minutes. Davis said several power circuits serve the city, but only two were damaged. The two circuits also serve some areas south of St. Johns.

CREWS WORKED Saturday afternoon and evening and by 10 p.m. power had been restored to all areas. This week crews are going back through, replacing temporary provisions.

Clinton Road Commission Clerk Robert Eldridge said crews worked until about 9 p.m. clearing debris from roads in many areas of the county. Only area to escape damage was the northeast section of the county, he said.

Water flooded over several roads, Eldridge said, and flares were set up. By Tuesday, things were pretty much back to normal, he concluded.

St. Johns City Manager Kenneth Greer said city crews worked only about four hours clearing trees and limbs from roadways.

OK highway fund bonds

MAPLE RAPIDS—The Michigan Municipal Finance Commission has approved $35,000 of 1968 motor vehicle highway fund bonds for Maple Rapids.

The bonds are payable from state collected taxes returned to the village by the state. Proceeds will be used to partly finance cost of major street construction.

The construction program first was approved last January by the village council. It includes major overhaul and rebuilding of North Maple Avenue from the Maple River bridge north to the Clinton-Gratnot county line.

Curves in the road will be straightened and surfacing includes laying of an eight-inch sand bed, six inches of gravel and two-inch bituminous layer on top.

Tuesday was deadline

Board slates set

All seats will apparently be filled when the new 11-man board of Clinton County Supervisors convenes next January. A total of 22 candidates had completed necessary filings by the 4 p.m. deadline on Tuesday. Roy F. Andrews is the only Democrat seeking a post and he is running unopposed in District 10 which includes DeWitt Township south and east of Clark and Turner roads.

Other unopposed candidates are Clyde Morrill, District 5 (Ovid Township); William Hufnagel, District 7 (Dallas and Westphalia Townships), and Robert M. Montgomery, District 8 (Eagle and Watertown Townships).

In District 1 (Greenbush and Duplain Townships), a three-man race shapes up. Candidates in this district are: Andrew W. Cobb, Derril Shinabery and Carl Bates.

IN THREE OF the districts, 6, 9, and 11, two-man races will be held. Claude H. Underhill and Almond B. Cressman are seeking the post in district 6 (Riley, Olive and Victor Townships) and opponents in District 9 (DeWitt Township north and west of Clark and Turner roads) are Gerald Lee Lankford and George W.

Baird. Gerald E. Shepard and Charles Arthur Gutzki Sr. are candidates in District 11 (Bath Township).

In the remainder of the districts nine men are seeking three seats. In District 2 (Lebanon, Essex and Bengal Townships) Walter G. Nobis, John M. Setterington and Gerald Pope are making bids, while Bruce Lanterman, Maurice Gove and Gerald F. Irer have filed as candidates in District 3 (Bingham and a portion of St. Johns). In District 4 (remainder of St. Johns) Rex C. Sirrine, Kenneth A. Pentz and Raymond Kentfield are candidates.

ELSEWHERE ON THE local level, only Republicans have filed for the various offices. Seeking the nomination for sheriff are incumbent Percy J. Patterson, Anthony Pohl, Ray Terpening and Bruce Angell II.

Unopposed candidates seeking various offices are Dale Chapman, county drain commissioner; Mrs. Velma Beaufore, county treasurer; Ernest Carter, county clerk; Willard Krebel, registrar of deeds and Lee Rummell and Van Hoag, coroners.

No candidates have filed for the office of prosecuting attorney following the withdrawal of Rolland Dugway who is now seeking.

Assessment, fixed millage are studied

The subjects of land assessment adjustment and a system of set millage for Clinton County were the main topics Monday when the board of supervisors met in regular session at the courthouse.

The two items dominated the afternoon session and the board granted committees working on the matters go-ahead.

Lorenz Tiedt, county equalization director, opened the afternoon session with an explanation of assessment possibilities and sought an indication from the supervisors as to their desires. After lengthy discussion, during which inequities of current procedures were pointed out, Reginald Nelson (DeWitt) moved that the committee proceed with a proposal based on the per cent to which each assessing unit must be adjusted to reflect true market value of properties. Under Nelson's motion, the adjusted assessments would coincide with figures filed for the state tax commission next February.

THE COMMITTEE working on the proposal under Tiedt's direction is comprised of Chairman Walter Theisen, William Hufnagel, Claude Underhill, Herman Opelander and Gerald Shepard. Their report for adjustment on the 18 taxing units in the county is to be submitted at an Aug. 5 meeting of the supervisors.

The subject of set millage was presented to the board by Derril Shinabery and, while some reservations were voiced by various supervisors, Shinabery was directed to proceed with a proposal with only one dissenting vote. Purpose of the theory of a set millage is to provide the allocation committee with advance knowledge of income prior to preparation of annual budgets and, according to Shinabery, the various governmental units sharing in the tax income would receive a pre-determined amount of the total income.

Along with the proposal for the system was Shinabery's recommendation that no less than 18 mills be considered in implementing the plan. At present, a total of 15 mills are being distributed in the following amounts: Schools, 7.717; townships, 1,000; Clinton County 6.113; intermediate schools, .17.

UNDER A SET millage plan, each unit would meet to submit their proposed budgets and to negotiate assignment of their per cent of the tax income. In commenting on the 18 mill base, Shinabery stated: "I don't think there is any use in considering anything under 18 mills," and he continued to point out to the supervisors that one of the aims of his proposal is to "protect the county."

Shinabery explained that if the plan is adopted it must receive final approval from their group and volunteered to abandon the plan immediately if the board felt it lacked merit. In the end the supervisors displayed their favor by voting for the submission of a proposal next month.

Decision of the board must be made by Sept. 1 to allow placement on the November ballot.

Maurice Gove (Bingham) briefly discussed the possibility of the establishment of a Youth Opportunity Center in the county which would operate one day each week. Purpose of the plan, according to Gove, is to alleviate the necessity of young persons seeking work through the Youth Opportunity Program to travel to Lansing. After discussion revealed the program might overlap with other similar assistance activities in the county, the supervisors voted to table the matter until next meeting.

SUPERVISOR EARL Barks, chairman of the zoning commission, reported on the progress of the efforts of revision of the county zoning plan. Barks told the group that much of the new measure is ready for adoption after review by the prosecuting attorney but two areas still require much attention. These are location of mobile home courts and mining or excavation sites in the county. Difficulties in drawing up controlling measures for these activities will be overcome soon, Barks explained, and the entire proposed zoning ordinance should be completed by the September meeting of the board.

In other matters, the group approved the purchase of two new desks for the prosecuting attorney's office and Supervisor Gerald Shepard indicated his intention to attend a convention in Washington, D. C. of the National Assn. of Counties. The session will be held July 28-31.

IN MORNING BUSINESS, the board approved up to $2,000 for construction of a horse barn at the county fairgrounds. The state is contributing $4,723, while local horse clubs are providing $2,500. A total county contribution of $2,225 had been asked. The building, when completed, will be maintained and insured by the county.

Several supervisors expressed concern that the board had not been informed of the project in advance and advised that county money would be requested.

The County Road Commission reached an agreement with townships to bill for road work as it is completed. Previously, townships have been billed once a year, usually in February.

Two Republican candidates for state representative in the 88th District appeared. They were Homer Hendricks of Alma and Dr. C. J. Bender of St. Louis.

Rundown of 4th

The 4th of July celebration plans have been nearly completed for St. Johns and area.

In the city, the fire department, Jaycees, and Rotary Club will combine to sponsor the celebration. Crown Amusements Co. will be on hand with rides of all kinds to entertain both children and adults.

One boy and one girl will be a bike happer after the first day of the big four-day celebration. The first day, July 2, has been designated as "Kids Day" and two bikes will be given away in the afternoon. All color cartoons will also be on the agenda each night of the events at the pavilion in the city park.

For dinner, plan to stop at the Jaycees food stand which will be stocked with sandwiches, beverages, and desserts. Thursday, the fourth, is the big day. Fireworks, under the supervision of the firemen will be "Bigger and better than last year." Also on that night, a 1,000 pound steer will be given away to the person with the winning ticket. Tickets can be purchased from any member of the Rotary, Jaycees, or fire department.

Westphalia is also planning a festival at St. Mary's Church. The annual event will be held on the 4th of July this year.

Like St. Johns, the kids will kick off the events. A children's parade is first on the agenda. After that, activities will include rides and games of every nature. In the evening, the local bank will sponsor a concert that will include several German folk songs by the Westphalia Men's Glee Club. A dance will be held with the Beaux-Jens supplying the music.

4-H group will stay in Canada

Over 40 4-H members, leaders, and chaperones will leave July 11 for a trip to Neepawa, Canada.

The 4-H'ers will be participating in an exchange program. This year they travel to Canada, and next year the Canadians will come here.

The trip will include people from Clinton, Gratiot, and Shiawassee counties. From Clinton Mr and Mrs Bruce Irish will chaperone Sandy McQueen, Judy Whitlock, Jan Woodhams, Denise Hufnagel of St. Johns, Thelma Dunham and Margaret Thornton of Elsie, Kathy David and Kathy Nichols, Sue Siblen, Dannie Locher and Dan Hayland of DeWitt.

Neepawa is in Manitoba about 60 miles northwest of Winnipeg. The area is noted for its fine wheat crops.

Raymond Thatcher, leader from Shiawassee county will be heading the group.

4-H families in Neepawa will furnish room and board for the visitors during their stay in Canada.

Cars Collide

Two cars collided at US-27 and Sturgis St. in St. Johns Friday, city police said.

Drivers were Ted J. Hergenrath, 44, Dayton, Ohio, and Opal M. Hogan, 45, 6473 Simpson Rd., Ovid. Opal Hogan was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way.

Mapping final Maple details

CORUNNA—The final preliminary hurdle for the $6.3 million Maple River improvement project has been cleared and plans will be forwarded soon to Congress.

Congressional approval is expected in the near future and it is hoped that work on the vast project will begin in early 1969.

AT A HEARING in Corunna last week, the Maple River Inter-County Drainage Board gave the go-ahead for completion of plans which will be presented to the Public Works Committee of Congress.

More than three-fourths of the 85 persons present at the hearing indicated they favored the project, first proposed about 50 years ago and delayed since by court actions.

About $4.6 million of the estimated cost will be paid by the federal government. Local cost will involve about $1.1 million for land rights, about $446,800 for construction and about $187,000 for administrative expenses.

Of the estimated $1.7 million local cost, Clinton County's share is ten per cent, Gratiot County will pay 65 per cent and Shiawassee County 25 per cent.

MOST OF THE work will be done in Gratiot County and Gratiot residents will receive the most benefit.

Beginning at US-27 in Gratiot County, the project will include 25.8 miles of channel improvement and 14.1 miles of levees on both sides. In addition, four pumping stations will be constructed along the levees, which will be mostly in Gratiot County.

At last week's hearing, it was pointed out, that of the 199,700 acres of the Maple River Watershed in the project area, 33,280 have serious flooding problems. Annual estimated flood damage is $209,300.

Some farmers claimed they had been forced to replant their crops as many as three times. Others said they had not been able to get on some of their land this year due to the large amount of rain this spring.

A MAJORITY of farmers present favored the project. Those opposing it objected to the cost and felt it would benefit only those downstream.

The meeting was conducted by Stanley Quackenbush, deputy director in charge of drains for the Michigan Dept. of Agriculture. Members of the board are Dale Chapman, Clinton County; Fred Baker, Shiawassee County; and Orrie Francis of Midland County. Francis is a member in place of Thomas Moore, Gratiot drain commissioner, who disqualified himself because he owns property in the project area.

Bloodmobile attracted many donors

Nearly equalling last December's record of 206 pints, St. Johns area people flocked to the Municipal Building last week to donate 203 pints of blood to the annual bloodmobile.

There were 21 prospective donors who were rejected. One was too old. A woman 70 years of age climbed the steps to help in the worthy project, to find that the maximum age requirement is 61. Another lad offered his services too, but his 17 years did not meet the minimum stipulation of 18 years. A third, a young woman extended her arm, but was rejected because her slight 99 pounds did not meet the minimum weight requirement of 100 pounds.

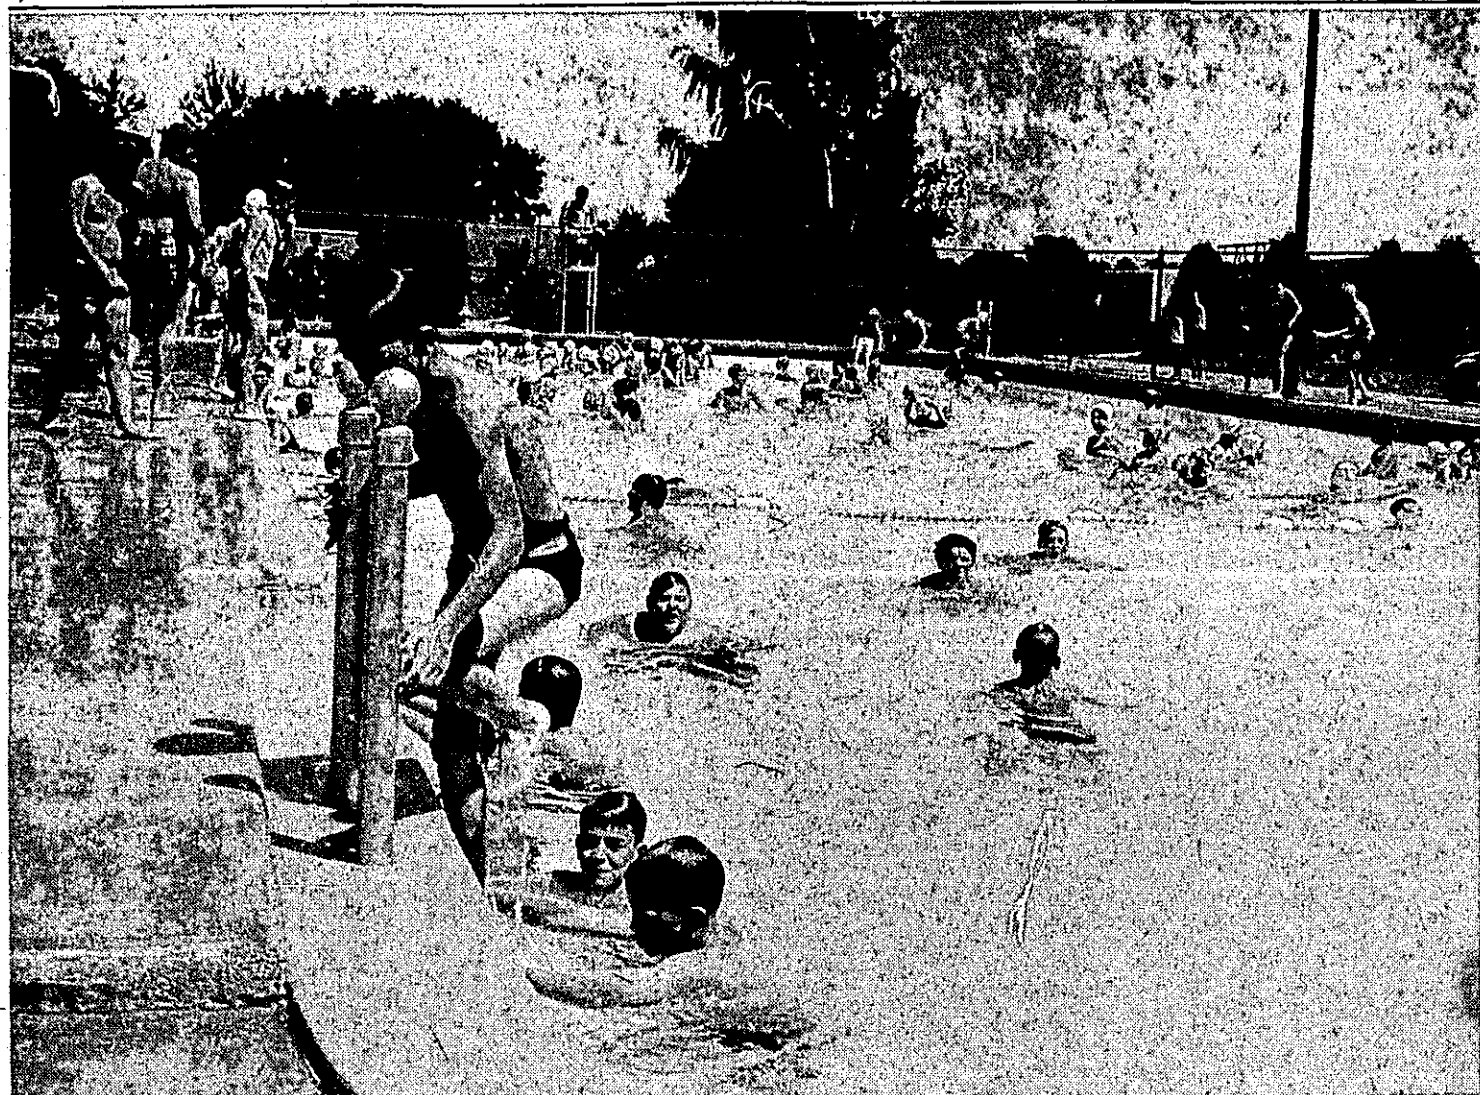

Mrs. James Crosby, chairman of this year's bloodmobile, says the donors should be highly commended for their conscientious effort to aid in the program. The parking situation at the Municipal Building has been changed and donors sometimes walked for several blocks to give their blood.

Donors this year include:

Lyle Acre, Bruce Amos, William Asher, Dale Anderson, John Anderson, John Aylsworth, Herman Bosma, Michael Bishop, Elmer Barker, William Bartholomew, Duane Bunce, David Barker, R.W. Beecher, Agnes Beaufore, Max Barrett, Wayne Beaufore, Mildred Bakita, Janet Becker, Roy Beck, James Boice, Mabel Beck, Linda Bryant, Roderick Brown, Eldon Baese and William Braesington.

After some delays, the Veteran's Memorial Pool in St. Johns opened on Thursday. The weather was not the best for swimming last week, so when lessons started on Monday, the kids invaded the place. This picture was taken Monday during the open swimming time in the afternoon.

After many delays

Memorial pool opens

Following a series of delays brought about by mechanical difficulties, the St. Johns Memorial swimming pool opened last Thursday, and according to assistant director, Miss Holly Davis, regular programs and open swimming are underway.

Lessons began Monday morning and the instruction periods are 45 minute sessions extending from 9 a.m. to noon and 12:45 p.m. to 2:15 p.m. Open swimming hours are from 2:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. weekdays and 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. on Sundays. Pool director is Larry Scramlin who is associated with the YMCA at Lansing.

Miss Davis explained that persons may sign up for swimming lessons at any time during regular pool hours and they will be assigned to one of six instruction periods. A registration fee of $6 is required for the two-week sessions.

Open swimming charges are as follows: Children, 25¢; Adults, 50¢ and families, regardless of size, $1.

Miss Davis pointed out that capacity of the pool is limited by state health authorities to 160 persons and pool officials have reserved the right to rotate swimming activities so that all patrons have equal opportunities to take advantage of pool facilities.

Special activities are also being planned and names are already being taken for swimmers desirous of participating in swimming and diving activities.

An Aquatic Club has been formed and adult life-saving instructions are scheduled to get underway on or about July 8 with classes for children scheduled for a later date.

Assisting Miss Davis in the pool's operation is Miss Valerie Bartholomew and four other lifeguards are Bill DeGroot, Karen Grams, Elaine Kuntz and Della Davis. Admissions and basket-checking is handled by Judy Whitlock, Carol Slegler, Bill Bartholomew and Scott Bennett.

Two in district judge race

Two St. Johns men this week announced they would be candidates for judge of the newly-formed 65th District Court. They are competing for the position in the court's second division, serving Clinton County. The first division is in Gratiot County.

Roland J. Duguay has been Clinton prosecutor since 1967. He was appointed by Circuit Judge Leo W. Corlkin and left private law practice in Alma to accept the post.

A GRADUATE of University of Detroit Law School, Duguay is a former assistant prosecutor in Macomb County. Duguay's wife is the former Carol Smith whose family is from St. Johns. The couple has two children, Thomas and Paul.

Duguay's term as prosecutor expires Dec. 31, 1968. The district judgeship starts Jan. 1, 1969.

Harold Reed is former St. Johns city attorney who on March 1 became St. Johns municipal judge. Reed also serves as administrator of Clinton Memorial Hospital.

Reed was a member of the Clinton Board of Supervisors from 1963 to 1968. He is a graduate of Mercer University, Macon, Ga., and Wayne State University Law School.

Reed is senior partner in the law firm Reed and Kelly which maintains offices in St. Johns and DeWitt. Married, Reed and his wife Bobbie live at 305 East State Street.

Industrial expansion team tours St. Johns

Observations made on city

St. Johns civic and government leaders showed off the city to a state-wide group of industrial development experts Thursday, then were told what industries are looking for when they locate in a community.

The program was part of the 1968 Community Industrial Development Review, a project of the Michigan Department of Commerce, Office of Economic Expansion.

VISITING ST. JOHNS were B. M. (Mike) Conboy, director of the Office of Economic Expansion, and members of his task force. They included:

Thomas L. Diak, manager, Industrial Development Dept., Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Co.; Vern A. Anderson, area development consultant, Consumers Power Co.; George H. Hillman, Area Development Consultant, Consumers Power Co.; Wilbur "Wib" Young, assistant director, Area Development Div., Detroit Edison Co.; George Lloyd, industrial development analyst, Detroit Edison Co.; Jim Collison, East Central Michigan Economic Development District.

Harold M. Davis, president of Harold M. Davis Inc., specializing for over 50 years in industrial and commercial developments, and investment real estate; Frank Bourke, manager, Area Development, Northern and U.P. Districts, Michigan Consolidated Gas Co.; Robert L. Gage, manager, Industrial Development Div., Michigan Consolidated Gas Co.; Herbert C. DeJonge, director, Michigan Department of Commerce; John P. Kavanagh, chief, Industrial Div., Office of Economic Expansion; William A. Boyd Jr., industrial agent, Office of Economic Expansion; William Jo. Cochran, industrial agent, industrial division, Office of Economic Expansion; Ross E.

Lowes, chief of Community Planning, Office of Economic Expansion; Robert O. Baker, area supervisor, Michigan Employment Security Division.

The group convened at Daley's Restaurant at mid-afternoon. St. Johns Chamber of Commerce President Bob Dittmer made preliminary comments, then the industrial development leaders were joined by local officials in a tour of the city.

Local participants included Herb Houghten, John Rumbaugh, Earl Lancaster, John Furry, Larry Sexton, Bill Graef, Fred Myers, Rod Brown, Mel Warren, Bill Patton and Bob Brock.

Following the tour, the group returned to Daley's for dinner and discussion.

CONBOY pointed out that of the cities they had visited in the last three days, including Midland, Clare, Grayling, Tawas-East Tawas, West Branch and Standish and in the past in Mid-Michigan, St. Johns appeared to be the most suitable and centrally located to attract new industry.

Conboy then turned the meeting over to Davis who presented his view as an industrial realtor as to what would be foremost in the mind of an industrialist visiting St. Johns with the thought of locating here. He said an industrialist would want to know just what kind of a community St. Johns is, whether its employees would want to live here, shop here, send their children to school here. He would judge the city on what he sees on the main street and by talking to people. He would be interested in whether the community is progressive or resting on its laurels.

Davis said the industrialist then would want to know the land available for his plant, the cost of it and if utilities were available.

Members of the Office of Economic Expansion, Michigan Department of Commerce, St. Johns Chamber of Commerce representatives and civic leaders are shown during a tour of city facilities last Thursday.

He also commented that the industrialist would not "wait too long. St. Johns is in competition with many other communities wanting industry." Davis suggested that the industrial sites be subdivided into 5 and 10-acre sites, a definite price fixed to each, that all utilities be available and they should have access to a railroad or highway.

SEABROOK OF Consumers Power Co., said that most important is keeping the industry already in a community, since most industrial expansion comes from established industry. He said that this means that a good and fruitful line of communication must be established with the management of local plants. He said that attracting new industry is dependent on a good attitude by the community along with all the other physical facilities as land, utilities, transportation.

The community must be enthusiastically interested in attracting new industry, and be prepared when the industrialist arrives. Seabrook pointed out that the industrialist expects answers to the questions he may have. Seabrook suggested that St. Johns had a need for site preparation, establishing a price for the sites and a firm knowledge of availability of services to the sites. He also suggested that the community might advertise these sites and community attributes.

Another suggestion was that the community should know what type of industry it wishes to attract and that this should be done now. As to the availability of a labor force, Seabrook said that past experience shows that people move to the job. He pointed out that brochures are a help in attracting industry and that the Office of Economic Development's book on St. Johns is now being updated.

Two appear in court

Two Lansing men were arraigned in Clinton Circuit Court Monday on charges of breaking and entering.

James Frederick McNitt, 18, 2923 Fielding, and James Raymond Elnoff, 18, 116 North Clemens, were returned to municipal court for examination on the charges, brought in connection with a February theft of merchandise from DePeal's Music Center in St. Johns.

Bond for both men was set at $1,000.

Pays $75 fine

Thomas DeLeon, 27, of 1325 East Jolly Road, East Lansing, was fined $75, with $19.30 court costs after appearing before St. Johns Municipal Judge Harold Reed on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor.

Ross Lowes, in speaking of community planning, said that industry is very interested in the community's planning toward future development in schools, business and utilities. He said that St. Johns has a good record of planning and cited the very detailed urban renewal plan. Community plans can very rapidly become outdated with changing conditions, such as relocation of a highway like US-27 which can affect industrial sites and transportation. He said that St. Johns should look into the effect of the highway relocation very carefully. Technical assistance, as in the past, should be acquired.

ROBERT BAKER of the Michigan Employment Security Commission pointed out that half the work force in St. Johns now commutes to Lansing, Alma, Ionia and other cities. He said these are a source of local labor force for industry and pointed out that many people commute 50 to 75 miles per day and would travel to St. Johns. He said that wages in St. Johns were not that far off those in Lansing to cause people to drive there if they had the opportunity to work here.

He said that vocational training in high school was very important and that there is a real need in this area because so many communities fail to realize that 40 to 50 per cent of young people do not go to college and that almost one third that do go do not finish. He said that a good vocational program in high school is a good investment for a community and that it would do a great deal toward lessening the labor shortage in skilled trades.

Baker also pointed out that approximately 200 people from St. Johns area are registered for unemployment, that many of these are not skilled, but that something should be done to integrate these people into the work force by giving them a chance to work. He also pointed out that St. Johns does have poor people and handicapped people and that they should be given an opportunity to work rather than have to continue on welfare. He said that these people would rather work than accept welfare. He said that womanpower is not being used.

Conboy cites the Jaycees' Children's Playground as one of the sites most interesting to the group and said that they thought that St. Johns was most fortunate in having a group that takes so much interest and pride in the community. He also said he was very impressed with Larry Sexton's comments how well rural people adjust to factory employment, their dependability and the advantages of employing them.

Fewer mini-skirts, more gray hair on MSU campus last week

The percentage of mini-skirts was lower and gray hair was higher among coeds at Michigan State University last week.

College Week for Women, June 25-28, brought over 650 homemakers to MSU. It's the 41st year the University offered this special educational opportunity to Michigan homemakers—and some of the women have been coming for nearly all those years.

WOMEN ENROLLED in special classes. They picked three from 24 different classes offered, and attended each class three times. Topics varied from "Political Processes and Public Welfare" and "Understanding Religions and Cultures of the World" to ones more closely associated with homemaking—"Sociology and the Family," "The Changing Scene in Housing" and "Nutrition Around the World."

The women moved into Hubbard Hall, one of MSU's living-learning units, Tuesday morning, registered for classes, arranged their rooms and then converged on the coffee shop. But they seldom complained about meals—most considered cafeteria meals in the form of a real vacation from their own kitchens.

BESIDES A FULL schedule of classes, the week featured special assemblies. Jack Breslin, secretary of the board of trustees, Sylvan Wittwer, director of MUS's Agricultural Experiment Station, and Dr. Carl Byers, a noted Ohio educator, spoke during the week.

Like all women, these co-eds were interested in fashion. They staged their own international fashion review Thursday evening. Several homemakers modeled clothes brought with them from home, reflecting the different cultural and geographic backgrounds of Michigan's citizens.

"Let's talk dry cleaning"

by Dana Antes

The 4th of July recalls many things . . . most important of all, the birth of our nation through the war of independence. It is a day on which we celebrate our freedom, remembering that it was not won easily . . . and it still demands our constant united effort to preserve it.

For many of us, the 4th also recalls other memories, of picnics, brass bands, patriotic speeches, and, of course, fireworks. Nowadays the use of fireworks is more controlled than it was years ago, and there are fewer accidents. But some kinds of firecrackers are still dangerous things in inexperienced hands.

And speaking of potentially dangerous explosives brings up another subject we've been meaning to mention, the matter of inflammable home cleaning fluids. Most of those now sold are gasoline or cleaners' naphtha. A pint has the explosive power of a pound of dynamite. The fumes alone are dangerous, and even the friction of rubbing a garment can cause a static spark that will make an inflammable fluid explode.

So just as you're careful about your children playing with fireworks, be careful with cleaning fluids. Let your dry cleaner clean your clothes... safely!

Nurse Ruedger spends time on her last day at work at the Clinton Memorial Hospital to converse with a patient, Miss Birdaline Smith.

Missionary nurse at Clinton hospital

Betty Ruedger spent her furlough working at the Clinton Memorial Hospital. Now it is time for her to return to her real work.

Miss Ruedger is a missionary nurse in West Africa. She spends three year periods in her work. Her first trip came in 1960. When she returned to America for her first year long furlough, she attended classes at Michigan State University. For her second furlough, she had planned to attend more classes, but she says she was unable to. So, at first she rested, then came to St. Johns.

Her work is with the mission of the United Brethren in Christ Church. Although the work of that church is predominantly evangelistic, it does have one mission in Africa. The hospital is in Sierra Leone, between Liberia and Guinea. It is a 58 bed hospital with a staff of about 44. Of the thirty nurses on the staff, only four are missionaries, the rest are trained natives.

The hospital has a nursing school. Each year about 15 natives enroll for the two year course. The course will qualify them for hospital work and is a British education system. It is less advanced than the American training for a registered nurse, but is more advanced than that of a practical nurse.

When Miss Ruedger returns next month, she will assume duties of head nurse or the equivalent of a director of nursing in an American hospital. She will do most of the teaching in the school and much of the clerical work in the hospital.

She was born and raised in Crystal. Her family still lives there. Her parents, Mark and Marie Ruedger have five other daughters and a son none of whom are at home.

In her spare time, Miss Ruedger likes to read, swim or have a quick game of tennis. She has previously been employed by the Clinton Memorial Hospital. Her training was done at Sparrow Hospital in Lansing and she also attended Huntington College in Huntington, Ind.

on her return trip.

OFFICIAL NOTICE OF SALE

$35,000.00

VILLAGE OF MAPLE RAPIDS
COUNTY OF CLINTON, MICHIGAN

1968 MOTOR VEHICLE HIGHWAY FUND BONDS

Sealed bids for the purchase of 1968 Motor Vehicle Highway Fund Bonds to be issued by the Village of Maple Rapids, County of Clinton, Michigan, of the par value of Thirty-Five Thousand Dollars ($35,000), will be received by the undersigned at the Village Hall, in the Village of Maple Rapids, Michigan, until 8:00 o'clock p.m., Eastern Daylight Savings Time, on the 17th day of July, 1968, at which time and place said bids will be publicly opened and read.

Said bonds will be dated May 1, 1968, will be coupon bonds of the denomination of One Hundred Dollars ($100) each, will be numbered consecutively in direct order of maturity from one (1) to three hundred fifty (350), both inclusive, and will bear interest from their date at a rate or rates not exceeding five per cent (5%) per annum, expressed in multiples of 1/8 or 1/20 of 1%, or any combination thereof, the difference between the highest and lowest rates bid shall not exceed 2%. Said interest shall be payable on April 1, 1969, and semi-annually thereafter on October 1 and April 1 of each year. The interest rate on any one bond shall be at one rate only and represented by one interest coupon for each coupon period, and all bonds maturing in the same year must carry the same interest rate. Accrued interest to date of delivery of such bonds shall be paid by the purchaser at time of delivery.

Said bonds will mature serially as follows:

- $ 300.00 on October 1 of the year 1969;
- $1,500.00 on October 1 of the year 1970;
- $2,000.00 on October 1 of each of the years 1971 to 1974, both inclusive;
- $2,500.00 on October 1 of each of the years 1975 to 1978, both inclusive;
- $3,000.00 on October 1 of each of the years 1979 to 1982, both inclusive; and $3,200.00 on October 1 of the year 1983.

Bonds of this issue maturing in the years 1969 to 1978, inclusive, are not subject to prior redemption.

The right is reserved of redeeming bonds maturing in the years 1979 to 1983, inclusive, at the option of the Village, in inverse numerical order, on any interest payment date on or after October 1, 1978, at par and accrued interest to the date fixed for redemption, plus a premium as follows:

- 3% on each bond called for redemption prior to October 1, 1980;
- 2% on each bond called for redemption on or after October 1, 1980, but prior to October 1, 1982;
- 1% on each bond called for redemption on or after October 1, 1982; but prior to October 1, 1983.

Notice of redemption shall be given to the holders of the bonds to be redeemed by publication of such notice not less than thirty (30) days prior to the date fixed for redemption, at least once in a newspaper or publication circulated in the State of Michigan which carries, as part of its regular service, notices of sale of municipal bonds. No further interest payable on bonds called for redemption shall accrue after the date fixed for redemption, whether presented for redemption or not, provided the Village has money available for such redemption with the paying agent.

The bonds are to be issued for the purpose of paying part of the cost of constructing major street improvements in the Village of Maple Rapids.

For the purpose of awarding the bonds, the interest cost of each bid will be computed by determining at the rate or rates specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the bonds from August 1, 1968, to their maturity and deducting therefrom any premium. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest interest cost to the Village. No proposal for the purchase of less than all of the bonds, or at a price less than their par value will be considered.

The bonds are to be issued pursuant to the provisions of Act 175, Public Acts of Michigan, 1952, as amended, and are issued in anticipation of Motor Vehicle Highway Fund payments to be received by the Village of Maple Rapids. Said bonds will pledge the full faith and credit of the Village of Maple Rapids for their payment.

A certified or cashier's check in the amount of $700.00 drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company, payable to the order of the Treasurer of the Village of Maple Rapids, must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder, to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid is accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the bonds. No interest will be allowed on the good faith checks and checks of unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative or by registered mail.

Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified approving opinion of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, Attorneys, 2500 Detroit Bank and Trust Building, Detroit, Michigan, a copy of which opinion will be printed on the reverse side of each bond, and the original of which will be furnished without expense to the purchaser of the bonds at the delivery thereof. The Village shall furnish bonds ready for execution at its expense. Bonds will be delivered without expense to the purchaser at a place to be designated by the purchaser. There will be delivered at the closing the usual closing documents, including a certificate that there is no litigation pending affecting the bonds. The right is reserved to reject any or all bids, Envelopes containing the bids should be plainly marked "Proposal for Bonds."

Teenagers to aid in community

"We just want to help," says Sidney Lounds, a co-founder of a new group in St. Johns who call themselves Community Youth Projects.

For the first project of the club's career, the 12 young people will sponsor a dance at the gymnasium at St. Joseph's School in St. Johns on July 6.

A complement to the activities sponsored by men's clubs of the city, the youths will receive teenagers of the county at the gym from 8 to 11 p.m. on Saturday. Admission will be $1 per couple or 75¢ single and all proceeds will go to the Rivard Nursing Home in St. Johns.

Lounds says that this is the first project of hopefully a long line of fund raising projects to help various establishments of the area.

For the dance, a local band, the Mystics will be on hand to supply music. The boys, Lee Schavey on drums, Ed Wood on lead guitar, Don Chant, bass guitarist and Craig Puetz on rhythm guitar will be supplemented by records at intermission.

Lounds says that Mrs. Steve Hopko has provided the adult supervision for the group and they plan to hold a "slave auction" in the near future. That is, young people will auction their services to townspeople for a day. The proceeds will go to some charitable organization, not yet decided upon.

The members of the group plan to have several fund raising projects during the summer to aid organizations of the area. They also spend time doing work or just visiting with people who will benefit from the time spent with them.

National speaker addresses grange

Despite diverse conditions, the Grange picnic drew many for the dinner and program at Bingham Grange Hall on Sunday.

The National Grange Lecturer, William Brake, gave an address. Brake had just returned from Gettysburg where he had attended the Freedom program. He spoke on the Centennial of the Grange. Grange is one of the few organizations which has survived past the average 7 year period for an organization.

After the lecture, the group discussed issues pertinent to the area.

People who pay as they go, may not go far, but enjoy the trip twice as much.

So That You Won't Lose Your Cool...

How can you be sure that the room air conditioners or the central air conditioning installation you buy will perform in the way you expect?

If you will do one thing, the air conditioning industry has already taken steps to make your satisfaction almost a sure thing. The one thing you have to do is make sure you get the right size of air conditioner. Nearly all of the industry certifies that its air conditioning equipment has been rated accurately as to its cooling capacity, as well as in a number of other important aspects. If you get the right size, the equipment is certified to do the air conditioning job for you.

Certification Procedure For a room air conditioner to obtain certification, its cooling capacity — expressed in BTUs (British thermal units, a scientifically accurate measurement of heat) — plus its amperes and watts ratings must be verified. To obtain certification, each central air conditioner must pass four technical tests, in addition to one determining its BTU capacity. Now, how do you go about getting that all important right size? Room air conditioner retailers have facilities for quickly determining the size of unit you need, based on climate, size of area and a few details you can easily supply.

HEAD START CHILDREN PAY THE DENTIST A VISIT

Last week the Head Start class of St. Johns took a trip to the dentist's office for examinations. Dr. H. L. Oatley was the doctor they visited. Douglas Vitek took his turn in the chair to let the doctor look. The teacher, Miss Joanne Burke watched too.

Your dealer's calculations will result in a BTU total called a cooling load. Your right size is simply a unit of the BTU size closest to your area's BTU requirements. For instance, if your area's BTU total is 7,400 — and the closest available unit sizes are 7,000 and 8,000 BTU — you probably need the 7,000 size. Why? Because the smaller size, by running more, will control humidity better, at no greater cost in electricity.

St. Johns Fighters Triumph

Two St. Johns boxers scored victories Saturday in a meeting of Golden Glove teams from Michigan and Ohio at the State Fairgrounds in Detroit.

Hammering out a unanimous decision in the 165-pound class was Dick Padgett. Padgett scored two knockdowns in his bout against Joe Paley of Akron. Two weeks earlier Padgett was defeated by Paley.

In the 132-pound category, Doug Brya stopped Jim Malina in the second round on a technical knockout.

The St. Johns gym will be closed for one month, reopening Aug. 1 when practice for the Aug. 24 St. Johns boxing show starts. The show will be staged at the high school.

The Spirit of Freedom

...it marched with the American colonists in 1776...it is a spirit as indomitable as man himself for it is one of the "inalienable rights" endowed by the Creator of all men. Today the spirit of freedom is still on the march — let us rededicate ourselves to its cause.

Since the days of our struggle for freedom, "Old Glory" has been a symbol to Americans—a symbol of unity and independence. Let's keep the principles upon which this nation was founded before us all... by flying our flag proudly on the Fourth.

Mrs H. O. Donprier is still sewing strong

With a 45 year old sewing machine, Mrs H. O. Donprier sews up a storm.

The machine has been with Mrs Donprier for about 40 years and she uses an old sewing table made at a St. Johns sewing machine factory in about 1913. Seldom does she use a pattern and her friends claim she charges too little.

Mrs Donprier came to St. Johns in 1908 to visit a friend. She happened to make a dress for her friend and was detained a lifetime to serve other women of the community with her dressmaking ability.

"It just comes naturally" she says. "When I was eight years old, I would take a little pad of paper with me when my grandmother took me shopping. When I found a dress I fancied, I'd make a sketch of it. Then, when I got home, I'd make one just like the sketch for my doll," she explained.

Today, Mrs Donprier is 78 and afflicted with crippling arthritis, but it doesn't slow her down. She has a multitude of customers.

Many times a customer will bring material and a picture for Mrs Donprier. She will go ahead, undaunted. Only on occasion, for particularly difficult styles, does she use a printed pattern.

The DeWitt family and Merrill family of St. Johns still have members who patronize Mrs Donprier and have been making use of her services for over 50 years.

One time, she said, she had two girls who availed themselves of her services frequently. "I made graduation and wedding dresses for both of them." That was quite a time ago, before the era of caps and gowns for graduation, and a girl's graduation dress was almost as important as her wedding gown.

Mrs Donprier not only engages in work with her sewing machine, but she also does fancy work. Her hands busily create work of embroidery, tatting, knitting, and crocheting. She also enjoys doing needlepoint and pelpoint.

Not a scrap is wasted. With extra bits of material, Mrs Don-plier designs tote bags, pillows and assorted items.

Her little treadle machine sits in a room that was originally the dining room. "I changed it to a sewing room because 'it was handy, and the big window makes it nice and light in this room."

Class of '53 holds reunion

The Ovid High School class of 1953 held its fourth reunion at the Ovid Memorial Park on June 30.

From the class, 12 members and their families were present. The group decided to hold the next reunion in five years at the home of Frank Kirnovic.

New officers were elected. Gerald Meredith is president and Gweneth Tait is secretary-treasurer.

"Always go right and you'll have plenty of elbow room."

Area nine attend Nazarene assembly

Members of area Nazarene churches were among the record throng of an estimated 35,000 delegates and guests in Kansas City, Mo., on June 13-21 for the Nazarene 17th General Assembly at which three new general superintendents were elected and goals and theme for 1968-72 were adopted.

Attending from this area were: Reverend and Mrs Wesley Manker, Mr and Mrs Keith DeMott and son, Dale, Mr and Mrs LaVerne Diller and son, Timothy, and Miss Doris Ovendon.

In what church leaders agreed was a great moving of the Holy Spirit upon the 880 delegates, three new general superintendents were elected in five swift ballots.

A man's fitness for public office can be judged by the means he uses trying to get it.

Representatives to visit Witnesses

Mr Otto Kugler, circuit representative for Michigan Circuit No. 12, will be visiting the St. Johns Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses during the week of July 2nd through July 7th.

The purpose of Mr Kugler's visit will be to assist the local Witnesses in their Ministry and worship.

Meetings will be held at the local Kingdom Hall on Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m. for Theocratic Ministry School and Service Meeting.

After house-to-house ministry, they will reconvene at 8:00 p.m. Saturday, for a program.

Activity will be highlighted on Sunday, July 7th at 9:00 a.m. when Mr Kugler will deliver his address.

The information we learn from experience could be classed as compulsory education.

Mrs. Donprier is shown here with her sewing machine and some of her other equipment.

4-H Club Chatter

By JOHN AYLSWORTH
Extension 4-H Youth Agent

Last week 66 Clinton County 4-H campers had a wonderful camp experience at Barry County, despite four days of rain. The campers participated in nature lore, learned about gun safety, made different crafts, learned to swim, met many new friends and became better citizens. It was hoped that the county could have a full camp of 100 campers, but too many other activities or conflicts kept members from attending 4-H camp.

The 4-H Horse Show scheduled for Sunday, June 30, was postponed due to wet grounds. A special leaders meeting was called for Wednesday, July 10, to set up another date and to outline final plans for putting in the horse stalls in the new barn before the county fair.

Clinton County will be well represented at 4-H Day at Tiger Stadium on Saturday, July 20, when Detroit plays Baltimore. A total of 141 tickets were ordered for Clinton County 4-H members and leaders. Special tickets for 4-H Day will be sent to the adults in charge when the office receives them from East Lansing.

Letters have been mailed to 4-H trip award winners who had received the Barry County trip, Saturday and Sunday, July 20 and 21. Members are asked to return their reservation card by Monday, July 8, to the Extension Office if they plan to attend. The cost will be $1 per member for the weekend of activities of fun, recreation, and the opportunity to swim in the camp pool. Adults are needed to help supervise the weekend trip activity and to provide transportation to the camp.

District 4-H award winners were announced last week and Clinton County was well represented with six winners. They are: Dana Hazle of St. Johns in dairy; Teri McQueen of St. Johns in entomology; Sue Sibley of DeWitt in photography; David Schwark of Ovid in safety; Leon Dankenbring of Grand Ledge in woodworking and Kathy Davis of DeWitt in rabbits. They are in the process of completing the National 4-H report forms. The district winners will be interviewed at State Show Wednesday, Aug. 21, and, if selected will receive a trip to National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. The members also have the opportunity to attend State 4-H Show Aug 20 to 23 and serve as volunteer helpers. Congratulations to the six 4-H members and the best of luck to them in future competition.

The district Share the Fun Contest will be held at Ionia on Thursday, July 11, at the high school. Clinton County will have four entries in the contest consisting of an instrumental act by Olive 4-H, projects, a dance and dramatic act by Happy Hustlers and a vocal act by the Nimble Fingers 4-H Club. If any of the acts are considered a blue ribbon act, they will have an opportunity to participate in a state 4-H activity later this year.

County 4-H Dairy Club members and leaders are reminded of the county dairy meeting on Tuesday, July 9, starting at 9:45 a.m. at the Green Meadows Farm located on Meridian Road near Elsie. The members will learn how to fit and prepare their dairy animals for show and judge several classes of Holstein cattle. In the afternoon, the group will visit the Dale Anderson farm on Colony Road west of Lowell where they will judge several classes of Guernseys. Howard Hansen, regional fieldman for the Michigan-Indiana Holstein Friesian Association, will serve as the official judge and resource person.

The State 4-H Trail Ride will be held on July 12 to 14 near Traverse City. Clinton County will be represented by Dr. Richard Lannen, Dana Lannen and Patty Sperle, all of Elsie. Dr. Lannen will serve as the trail ride veterinarian.

The Colony Lads and Lassies 4-H members discussed their bake sale and club cookout which will take place in the near future. Demonstrations were given by Diane Bohll on "Items to cook for an outdoor meal," Donella Powelson on "Rock Painting," Cheryl Ginther on "flower coloring," Nancy Bohll on "Barbecue Sauce," and Colleen Wilcox, Cheryl and Leann Kirnovik on "Preparing a Meal."

The Pioneer Trail Riders 4-H Club have five members working on the litter barrels for the fair contest. The members all were to have their litter barrel slogans ready for the meeting Tuesday night. A few original ideas were given at the last meeting. Kevin and Irvin Kehler gave a demonstration. Caroline Bennett and Nina Heath worked on posters for the June 30 horse show.

The Victor Cooking Club held their first meeting and changed their name to the Shabby Shets. The members elected the following officers: president, Jean Ann Divine; vice-president, Laurie Jones; secretary-reporter, Debbie Archer; and treasurer, Cathy Fair. The members are planning to prepare a dinner for the group.

CLINTON COUNTY ROAD COMMISSION

The Otto Jury farm on Colony Road has just recently been cited as a Centennial Farm by the Michigan Historical Commission. Over the past 100 years, the farm has lost none of its original beauty, nor does it show the age of the sturdy buildings.

Jury family occupies same farm for over 100 years

Otto E. Jury and his family are the fifth from the same family to live on the same farm at 5150 West Colony Road. The first family was there in 1846. That makes the Jury farm a centennial farm by order of the Michigan Historical Commission.

Jury's daughter, Glee, knew the farm had been in the hands of the family for more than 100 years, so she wrote to the commission for information. Soon, the Jury family was in possession of a document from the commission signed by all the officers and Governor George Romney. The document was accompanied by a large sign stating that the farm was a centennial farm and approved by the Michigan Historical Commission. The certificate was received on May 24 of this year.

Jury and his wife, Enid, also have a son, Otto Jr. who is married and has four children. He presently lives in Buchanan.

The farm first belonged to Jury's great-great grandfather, Dejos Jennison in 1846. Rosabelle Jennison Jury, his great-grandmother, lived on the farm next in 1862. In 1891, his grandfather, Samuel J. Jury was the occupant. His father, Elmer S. Jury, first lived on the farm with his wife Ada in 1902. In 1941, Jury and his wife became the farm's residents.

Hoax "Mayday" calls waste time and money

"Mayday, Mayday—Am in yacht about forty miles offshore and sinking fast. Send help."

Immediately upon receiving this radio message, the U. S. Coast Guard Rescue Coordination Center in Cleveland dispatched a cutter, an airplane, and two patrol boats to aid the stricken craft.

Hours of fruitless searching later, the officer on duty determined that the call was a hoax—one of the many that plague the Coast Guard every year.

SO FAR this year alone, the Ninth Coast Guard District, which encompasses the Great Lakes, has had six of these bothersome and highly dangerous calls. Four of the hoaxes were perpetrated in southern Lake Michigan and two in Lake Erie.

Each one necessitates the waste of many manhours of labor and many tax-payers dollars.

In this case alone, the cutter, patrol boats, and airplane expended a total of 252 manhours, covering a total of 2,500 square miles—all of it wasted.

Yet the Coast Guard must continue to send craft out to investigate every call for aid it receives, for the vast majority of them are urgently, vitally real.

ONE OF THE great tragedies of these false assistance requests is that they might be endangering the lives of those really in distress on the Lakes. Hoaxes cause the tie-up of men and materials that would otherwise be available to answer other—real—emergency calls.

Federal law is quite explicit on fake emergency calls. The Communications Act of 1934 specifically states that "No person within the jurisdiction of the United States shall knowingly utter or transmit, or cause to be uttered or transmitted, any false or fraudulent signal of distress, or communications relating thereto..."

ANYONE convicted of this offense is liable to a fine not to exceed $10,000 or imprisonment for up to one year, or both. Second or subsequent violations are punishable by a fine of up to $10,000 and/or imprisonment of up to two years.

Once a case is officially labelled a hoax, the search takes on a different character. In cooperation with other Federal agencies, including the Federal Communications Commission, local law enforcement agencies, and civilian radio operators, the Coast Guard attempts to track down and prosecute the perpetrators.

NO ONE KNOWS for certain who these callers are. Some of them appear to be ignorant of even the most basic facts of boating, such as the number of digits in a boat registration number. In other cases, it appears that the callers were children using "walkie-talkie" sets. Other calls may well have been sent out on Citizen's Band radios, and "walkie-talkies", to friends in jest, little realizing that the conversation could be intercepted by others, sometimes at extended ranges, and the serious consequences that may result.

Eliminating these time-and-effort-consuming hoaxes is at best a hard, task, but one that urgently needs doing to make boating safer and more pleasant for everyone. The cooperation of all persons in using radio equipment carefully will contribute toward that end.

Making placemats offers summer fun

LORRAINE SPRAGUE
Extension Home Economist

Cool looking and informal table coverings perk up lagging appetites on hot sultry days. Placemats laid on clean polished table tops look pretty, but better yet is the little care many of them require.

With such a variety of materials, shapes, colors and designs there must be something to suit every color scheme and every occasion. Some of the newest mats include unbacked translucent vinyls in geometric, floral and other patterns. Just wipe them off and they are ready for the next meal.

EVER-POLULAR terry cloth has also joined the table "linen" collection in bright, easy to wash place mats. Look in the yard goods department for stripes, checks, patterns and solids to suit your own decor. Fringe, bindings and braids will finish off the edges or add a wide variety of decorations.

Sheer organdies, dotted Swiss and similar fabrics make lovely, cool appearing placemats. Though they do require more attention from the laundry department they will "dress up" any table. They really are not extremely difficult to care for.

Children can have lots of fun making placemats for their own summer parties. Rolls of plastic coated shelf lining paper can be cut into attractive shapes and decorated or not as they wish. Scraps of left over wall papers can also make attractive fun-type mats. The holiday weekend offers a fine opportunity for such creative art.

FOR the youngsters too young to wield shears, foam backed plastic mats are available in colorful cartoon characters, bright bird and animal prints and favorite toy outlines. These make nice "take-home-gifts" if you so desire.

Look around and use your imagination, but make summer food service easy on yourself and inviting to the family.

Respite from cities offered by historic Mackinac Island

The crown jewel of the Great Lakes—Mackinac Island—juts impressively from the blue waters of Lake Huron, adorning the eastern approaches to Michigan's historic Straits of Mackinac.

The Indians had a word for it—Michilimackinac—or great turtle, which they superstitiously believed had arisen from the depths of the Straits. Prior to the arrival of the white man the island was a strategic meeting place for the Indians where they conducted ritualistic ceremonies and sought refuge from the aggressive Iroquois.

THE BEGINNING of the 17th century marked the arrival of the first missionaries and explorers, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

As the area's vast fur trade developed, the French, to protect their interests, established a garrison, first at St. Ignace and then on the southern shores of the Straits where reconstructed Fort Michilimackinac now stands. From here they ruled the Mackinac country.

Following their victory in the French and Indian War in the mid-18th century, the British gained possession of the Michilimackinac fort, then moved their forces to the island. Thus, Mackinac became the guardian of the Straits until the signing of the Treaty of Ghent, after which the Americans took over.

THE DESIGN for the island's present-day activities was drawn in the early 1800's when John Jacob Astor established the Mackinac post of the American Fur Co. During the summer months the island teemed with trappers, fur traders and Indians. About 2,000 voyageurs and 400 clerks were employed seasonally by the Astor Co. but when winter came only a handful of soldiers and island residents remained.

The story is much the same today. The voyageurs, traders and trappers have been replaced by carriage drivers, waiters, bellhops, and others in the service trades who take their positions of hospitality in late spring and depart in the early fall. The shop and cafes which serve tourists throughout the summer are then boarded up, the horses are shipped to the mainland and the few permanent island residents lay in provisions to await the Mackinac winter.

SUMMER VISITORS to Mackinac Island are transported by modern ferries which churn the Straits from either Mackinaw City or St. Ignace. As the tourist-laden ship nears its destination, the charm that is Mackinac reaches out to greet the visitors. Greentufted bluffs, dotted by magnificent summer homes and the village streets below come into sharper focus.

First to enchant the debarking vacationer is the noticeable absence of motor vehicles. Autos are prohibited here and the mode of transportation is by horse carriage, bicycle or by foot.

HERE, THE 19TH century is still alive. The Grand Hotel, world's largest summer hotel, preserves the gracious dignity of the gay 90's offering the same hospitality as it did when wealthy Chicagoans held court on the hotel's spacious porch before the turn of the century.

Peering from the hilltops is Fort Mackinac which once knew the rule of the British and from where skirmishes against the Americans were conducted. Authentically reconstructed, the fort offers visitors a look into the island's sometimes violent past.

Surries—with or without the fringe on top—take tourists to such historical spots as British Landing, Skull Cave, Fort Holmes, old battlegrounds and Indian cemeteries. Residences of those who helped make Mackinac famous and whose names are written in history are preserved or reconstructed.

NESTLED IN THIS historic setting are modern accommodations, entertainment and a wide choice of recreational facilities. Fine food is one of the island's trademarks, served from the magnificent dining rooms of the large hotels down to the tiny tea rooms of the village side streets.

Enchantment, the romance of history and pleasant surprises abound in the quietness and Victorian splendor which marks Mackinac Island as a gem in Michigan's vacationland.

Information on additional places of interest and things to do may be obtained by writing the Michigan Tourist Council, Lansing, 48926.

MOSTLY For MEN
by CHUCK FLYNN

The word kabob refers in the Orient to small pieces of meat broiled over an open fire, usually charcoal, and basted with a highly seasoned marinade. In India kabob refers simply to roasted meat.

In America the word is most frequently spelled kabob and somehow shish has become attached to kabob, although I cannot explain this association since shish means imitative. Even if it is an imitation of the Orient, shish kabobs can be very tasty.

This dish is excellent for summertime, outdoor entertaining because it doesn't require extensive preparation and you can even let your guests prepare their own over a fire either in an hibachi or your regular grill.

The marinade is a most important part of the preparation. This recipe makes about 3-1/2 cups, but it can be kept indefinitely if tightly covered and stored in the refrigerator.

Blend 1-1/2 cups of salad oil, 3/4 cup of soy sauce, 1/4 cup of Worcestershire sauce, 2 tablespoons of dry mustard, 2-1/2 teaspoons of salt, and 1 tablespoon of freshly ground black pepper. When all ingredients are dissolved and the mixture is smooth, add 1/2 cup of wine vinegar, and 1/3 cup of fresh lemon juice. If you like garlic, also add one clove, crushed.

It's best to put all the ingredients into an electric blender for a minute to be sure you have them well mixed. Cover tightly and put into the refrigerator until ready to use.

For shish kabob, the usual meats are lamb and beef. You can also use peeled and deveined raw shrimp with the lamb and beef if you desire more variety.

Whatever you use, marinate the meat or fish for several hours before cooking. A good plan, if you serve shish kabob in the evening is to place the meat in the marinade that morning.

Have the beef and lamb (2 to 2-1/2 pounds) cut into 2-inch squares. Also for the preparation you'll need 2 green peppers which are to be cut into 1-inch squares, some large fresh mushrooms, and small white onions. Recipe will serve 6.

Start the charcoal fire at least a half hour before you plan to cook the kabobs. Use 10-inch wire or steel skewers which are not too heavy because you don't want them to split the mushrooms or damage the tomatoes.

Arrange the marinated meat and fish on the skewers, alternating with the bacon squares, green pepper, tomatoes, and green pepper, tomatoes, mushrooms, and onions. When cooking over the charcoal, turn frequently so that the meat can get done without overcooking the vegetables. Brush occasionally with the marinade. Broil for about 15 minutes.

You won't learn to do this perfectly the first time out, but a little practice will produce a dish which is most appetizing, and, of course, very colorful. Deviled eggs, a relish tray, and stuffed celery are good accompaniments for shish kabob.

ASC PROGRAM

Feed grain producers can collect for loss

The past week many areas in our county received a record amount of rainfall for this time of year. It will be a few days before we can determine the amount of damage it has caused to crops. Some acreage will be a total loss. Producers participating in the feed grain and wheat programs can receive program payments if their feed grain or wheat crop is destroyed by flood or loss due to severe hail storm. PRODUCERS participating in the feed grain program who were prevented from planting their permitted acreage or who wish to abandon their feed grain acreage because it has been destroyed by flood should make a request at our office for acreage credit. Approved prevented and abandoned acreage can be planted to another crop, however it's going to be late to plant another crop by the time the soil is dry enough to work. Abandoned or destroyed acreage for which credit is approved cannot be designated as diverted or used to maintain conserving base requirements. Producers wishing to file a request for abandoned acreage credit should make their request to our office before the acreage is put to another use. JUST A REMINDER to feed grain producers who have not reported their planted acreage and diverted acreage. This must be done by July 15. I want to remind producers with farm stored commodities to keep a close watch for rodents, and make sure they are controlled. Weevil and meal moths are causing some trouble, so check grain and fumigate if necessary.

W. M. SMITH County ASC Manager

574,000 hogs, pigs estimated in state

The June 1 inventory of all hogs and pigs on farms in Michigan was estimated at 574,000 head, according to the Michigan Crop Reporting Service. This was five per cent less than 604,000 on hand a year earlier. Hogs kept for breeding purposes totaled 103,000 head, down six per cent and the remainder kept for other purposes totaled 471,000 head, down five per cent from a year ago.

By weight group classification, the number of other hogs and pigs on hand June 1, 1968 and the percentage change from the previous year are: Less than 60 pounds, 240,000 head, down three per cent; 60-119 pounds, 104,000 head, down 13 per cent; 120-179 pounds, 75,000 head, up nine per cent; 180-219 pounds, 41,000 head, down 18 per cent and 220 pounds and heavier, 11,000 head, up 10 per cent.

The December-May pig crop totaled 445,000 head, down six per cent from the same period a year earlier. A total of 60,000 sows farrowed in this period, five per cent less than a year earlier. The number of pigs per litter averaged 7.42 compared with 7.54 last year. Michigan hog producers indicated on June 1 they intended to farrow 72,000 sows during June-November 1968, a decrease of four per cent from the 75,000 sows farrowed for the same period in 1967. The June 1 inventory of all hogs and pigs on farms in the United States was estimated at 59.0 million head. This was one per cent less than the 59.4 million head on farms a year earlier. Hogs kept for breeding purposes totaled 8.9 million, down one per cent. The remainder kept for other purposes totaled 50.1 million, a decrease of one per cent. The December-May pig crop totaled 47.7 million head, down one per cent from the 48.2 million head for the same period a year earlier. A total of 6.5 million sows farrowed in this period, one per cent less than the 6.6 million a year earlier. The number of pigs per litter averaged 7.36 compared with 7.34 last year. Hog producers indicated on June 1 they intended to farrow 6.0 million sows during June-November 1968, an increase of two per cent from the 5.9 million sows farrowed during the same period last year. If carried out as intended and if pigs per litter equal the average adjusted with an allowance for trend, the June-November 1968 pig crop will be 44.1 million head, two per cent more than last year. The 1968 pig crop (December 1967 through November 1968) would be 91.8 million head, slightly above 1967.

AGRICULTURE in Action

by M. L. Woell

MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

It's fun to guess what the future will bring, but to a group of Michigan farmers, the guessing is a serious business backed by all the research and knowledge they can assemble.

What will Michigan agriculture be like in the next 10 or 20 years? Will only a few giant agricultural corporations dominate the field, or will continuing mechanization and specialization leave both the countryside and rural economies largely unchanged, except for less farm man-hours worked?

IN EITHER case, what kind of farm organization will best serve the agriculture of tomorrow? Will it be a straight-out, hardheaded marketing and bargaining outfit, a social-educational-legislative kind of organization, or perhaps a combination of both?

Such tough questions are the topic of a state-wide study committee, appointed by the board of directors of Michigan Farm Bureau, which has recently held its second meeting in Lansing. Making the task all the more difficult in the question of just who is a farmer (the land-owner, or a man he may hire to operate it—or both? Or is a "farmer" someone who receives a certain minimum percentage of his income from land?)

At the session the 17-member committee of top farmers heard an agricultural economist tell of the dwindling number of "man-hours" needed in agriculture, with only half as many worked in 1966 as were necessary in 1950—during a time when farm production has continued to soar.

"I HAVE actually made a straight-line projection which proves that on the 25th of November in the year 1984, there will be NO man-hours worked on the farms of our nation..." joked James Shaffer of Michigan State University. "However," he added, "since other figures show that we will still have some farmers left, I guess we must assume there will still be something for them to do."

Although the group agreed there will always be farmers and always plenty for them to do—it was also apparent to everyone that a U.S. farming is in the midst of a radical transition—again raising the question of what will Michigan agriculture be like in the next 10 or 20 years...

300 attend 4-H foods meeting

This year's attendance and interest were high when on June 19 at Smith Hall in St. Johns nearly 300 junior members and adult leaders took part in identifying unusual snacks, fruits and vegetables. They learned that snacks can be delicious and nutritious too.

The cottage cheese dip was popular with the group as was the fresh pineapple and nutritious honey-peanut butter spread. Tasting yogurt was fun too. Mrs. Goldie Moore, Mrs. Edna Schaefer, and Mrs. Shirley Hazle adult leaders; Kathy Davis, Cathy Hazle, Debbie Locher, Lenore Wood, Coleen Wood, Kathy Haviland, Martha Mihalyi, Dana Sue Hazle and Marcia Briggs, all teen leaders, assisted with the program.

Carolyn Shafer from the Michigan Dairy Council and Extension Home Economist Helen Meach planned this educational event for the junior members in 4-H.

Cherry crop threat

A harmless looking fly with an appetite for Michigan cherries that could steal millions of cherries before they were baked is the target of an intensive campaign by the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Cherries from western Michigan orchards are being tested for infestations of the cherry fruit fly at field laboratories established by the department's Plant Industry Division. For more than 30 years the cherry fruit fly has been the target of control efforts as Michigan has grown to No. 1 spot in the nation as a tart cherry producer.

THE MORE cherries, the more ideal the conditions for cherry fruit flies, it seems. As older orchards go out of production, often to be tented, they provide breeding grounds for thousands of the insects.

Another more recent contributor to the population explosion of cherry fruit flies is apparently connected with the popularity of mechanical harvesting. Cherry picking machines, while much faster than human pickers, leave numbers of cherries on the trees. These provide egg laying sites for the late maturing female flies. The result is likely to be trouble in the year ahead.

Department Director B. Dale Ball said the initial emergence of the dark bodied cherry fruit fly was reported May 31 at Grand Rapids and June 11 at Beulah. Growers were advised by the Michigan State University extension service to spray their orchards to prevent egg laying by the insect.

EGG HATCH and the larvae develops within the growing cherry. If not controlled by sprays, the problem can become a serious one for producers and freezers who utilize nearly all of the crop each year.

Michigan in 1964 produced 190,000 tons of red tart cherries for a record. Last year's short crop of 44,000 tons was sold by growers for nearly $16 million. Cherry fruit fly work cost the Michigan Department of Agriculture $23,500.

In order to check samples of fruit for larvae the state department of agriculture maintains a permanent laboratory at Benton Harbor. A mobile laboratory, now at Grand Rapids, follows the crop northward as it matures to Hart, Beulah and Traverse City. Department employees collect samples and submit them for analysis. Cherries from infested trees and orchards must be destroyed or rendered unmarketable.

The department's Plant Industry Division says there is an increase in the number of infested orchards.

Downpour sure to damage crops

"It will be at least a week before we can determine the damage. But I'm sure there has been some."

George McQueen, extension agricultural agent for Clinton County, was responding to a question about crop damage following five inches of rain dumped on Clinton fields in five days last week.

Many fields still remained under water Saturday, even fields with adequate tiling. There just was so much water that the tile couldn't handle it.

"I would estimate ten per cent of the cropland has been severely or modestly damaged," McQueen said. This would involve about 20,000 acres.

Few crops have been spared, although hardest hit were beans and corn. McQueen mentioned that wheat and oats also could suffer from shrinkage.

He added that the great amount of water will lead to weed control problems later this summer.

Damage was general throughout the county, McQueen emphasized.

Blackleg threatens cattle

Blackleg, a disease caused by soilborne organisms, has caused death of sheep and cattle in Michigan in recent years. Stockmen, however, may protect against this disease by vaccination.

Dr. Clifford C. Beck, Michigan State University extension veterinarian, says animals over two to three years of age are usually immune, but young cattle or sheep should be vaccinated—preferably in early summer.

THE SOILBORNE organisms enter the digestive tract of animals, are spread by the blood stream and cause sudden lameness and severe swelling of muscular areas of the body. Death occurs within 24 to 48 hours.

Dr. Beck explains that outbreak may occur spontaneously or following injury, docking, castration or other stress. Affected animals develop high fevers, breathe rapidly and go down.

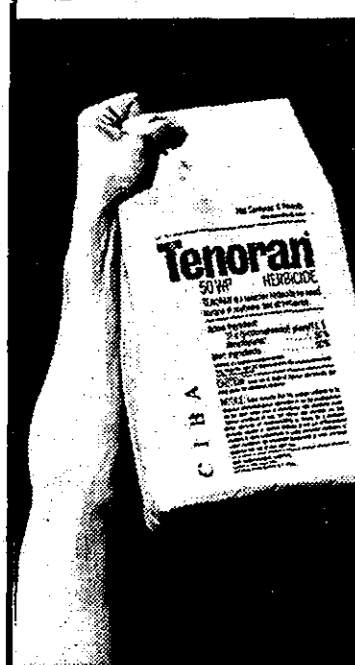

Livestock owners should contact veterinarians as soon as they see any suspicious cases, advises Dr. Beck.

CHERRIES BIG CROP

Speak of red tart cherries and you think of Michigan (the No. 1 producer) because each year 3,900 growers produce more than half of the total crop of this delicious bright red fruit. Bad weather slumped production to only 42,000 tons in 1967. One year production reached 170,000 tons. The value to growers last year was $15.1 million. The same bad weather in 1967 cut sweet cherry production to 17,000 tons worth $5 million, and put the state in third place as a producer. Almost all of the red tart cherry crop goes to processors.

Folks who look for trouble often underestimate their ability.

ST. JOHNS CO-OP has just the thing for broadleaf bean-chokers.

We just got in a big shipment of TENORAN® Herbicide. So we're all set for those tough broadleaf babies. Are you?

Not unless you've got your TENORAN, you're not. Because if you grow soybeans, you're flat going to grow broadleaf weeds. Tough ones like cocklebur, pigweed, morningglory, jimsonweed, lambsquarter, ragweed... the whole mean bunch. And most of the popular pre-emergence materials are pretty weak on broadleaf weeds.

But TENORAN gets the weeds others miss. Use it any time after beans reach the true leaf stage—on up till weeds are two inches high. This way, you stop 'em in their most damaging stage, while soybeans are young.

For best results, add CIBA surfactant ADJUVANT™ T. But come on in, and we'll give you all the details here at the store. And you'll go home with all you need to use the soybean herbicide that gets the weeds others miss. TENORAN... from CIBA.

George McQueen, extension agricultural agent, inspects a weed control plot on the Marvin Simon farm near Fowler, site of a corn field day July 10.

Corn field day scheduled

A corn field day will be staged for Clinton County farmers Wednesday, July 10, at the Marvin Simon farm near Fowler.

Under direction of the Cooperative Extension Service, the afternoon event will feature discussion of 20 corn variety plots, plus weed control plots. According to George McQueen, extension agricultural agent, "Comparisons can be made of early development and vigor."

McQUEEN SAID that another field day at the same location will be held in September so that

Detroit horse show at Colliseum

The Sixteenth Annual Morgan Horse Show will be held at the Michigan State Fair Colliseum in Detroit.

On Saturday, July 13, in hand classes will be done at 9 a.m. at 1:30 p.m. and at 7:30 p.m. the performance classes will be given.

On July 14, Sunday, in hand classes will be at 9 a.m. and the performance classes will be at 1:30 p.m. only.

Nearly 80 different classes will be shown including horses from all over the country. The show will feature a cutting exhibition, Morgan versatility class and Cavalcade Americana.

farmers may see the plots in maturity.

The 20 varieties were hand planted May 2 at a rate of nearly 25,000 kernels per acre. Small plots were used to reduce differences due to soil, fertility and water. Atrazine 80W, applied at a rate of six pounds per acre, is controlling weeds.

"Only by controlling or eliminating differences due to soil, water, plant food, population, row width, spacing in the row, time of planting, depth of planting and other factors can yields really be compared," McQueen points out.

Purpose of the plots is to aid area farmers in determining what seed to use. "Past performance has been and remains about the only reliable guide to future results," McQueen maintains.

'Average' cows low in profits

Michigan dairymen with herds averaging 600 pounds or more butterfat earned nearly four times as much return for labor and management in 1967 as did the owners of the same size herd but with "average" cows.

An analysis of the Dairy Herd Improvement Assn. records by Michigan State University scientist showed that herds producing an average of 16,176 pounds of milk and 600 pounds butterfat or more returned the owner $412 a cow over feed costs and other costs.

"Comparisons of various varieties under field conditions similar to your own provides information for making a choice," he adds.

RESULTS FROM the Clinton test plots, along with data from statewide corn variety tests, should provide a sound basis for buying seed corn next year, according to McQueen. At harvest, dry shelled corn and dry matter produced per acre will be measured and comparisons made.

On the weed control plots, three chemicals were used in various combinations. They include Atrazine, Primaze and Lorox.

The field day opens at 1:30 p.m. on the Simon farm located one mile south and two and a half miles west of Fowler.

Which silo for haylage?

How a farmer stores haylage depends on how much he needs it for feed and how much he wants to invest in safeguards to prevent spoilage.

Haylage—forage dried more than conventional silage but less than hay—appeals to farmers because of its high feeding value. It also has potentially lower storage losses than silage if handled properly.

In tests at Beltsville, Md., dairy cattle nutritionist C. H. Gordon lost about 25 per cent of the crop, on a dry-matter basis, when he stored forage straight from the field with about 82 per cent moisture in a conventional concrete-stave upright silo.

BY DRYING the forage to 70 per cent moisture (conventional silage) and using good management procedures, he reduced losses to 8 to 12 per cent. But by drying the forage to 80 per cent moisture or less (haylage) and storing it in a gas-tight silo, he lost only 5 per cent.

The superior potential of haylage, Gordon believes, is realized to the extent that air is kept out of the silo. Farmers have successfully stored haylage in gas-tight and conventional silos. Some have used bunker silos, which cost much less than concrete-stave upright silos but are harder to seal to keep air out.

Gordon compared haylage made in these three types of silos, and also tested conventional silage and haylage stored in stacks sealed with plastic.

He lost 21 per cent of the conventional stacked silage, presumably because of small leaks in the plastic. The problem was worse with the drier haylage, since no known practical methods can bring about the continuous contact between cover and contents needed to prevent spoilage—a small puncture lets in air all around, and spoilage results.

Gordon found, however, that stacks one to four feet deep can be sloped enough so that the sides can be weighted. He believes haylage, if treated with a fungicide to retard molding, might be made successfully in such small, shallow stacks.

OF 11 FUNGICIDES Gordon tested, he found that one, called Mylone, retarded spoilage and did not reduce palatability of silage. While it shows promise, Gordon cautions that the trials with the fungicide were limited and therefore not conclusive.

Bunkers cost less than standard concrete-stave silos, but are even harder to seal. Gordon has successfully sealed bunker silos with inexpensive plastic film, weighted on the top and sides with some of the chopped crop or sawdust to provide continuous contact between plastic and haylage. With this method, a small puncture does not expose the entire surface of the forage to air, and spoilage is retarded.

Successful sealing kept losses to only nine per cent in one test. But in another trial, when filling was delayed by rain and the plastic cover was severely damaged during storage, 28 per cent of the haylage was lost.

A standard silo built of concrete staves is hard to seal but with proper sealing and management, Gordon averaged dry-matter losses of only eight per cent.

He lost 24 per cent of the stored feed from one silo, which was in poor condition.

With a gas-tight silo, dry-matter loss is generally less than five per cent. But purchase price is high—about double that of a conventional silo in common family-farm sizes.

Building strike sign of times?

Striking construction workers are tightening a noose around Americans' neck and can easily trip the door for a hanging if the country, in general, and the government, in particular, isn't willing to suffer great inconveniences to prevent these workers from obtaining their demands.

We are living in a frightening and confusing period where the quest for dollars takes priority over all. It is hard to criticize anyone for trying to make more . . . but if this nation isn't willing to DO more, rather than just MAKE more we've got to be in trouble.

CONSTRUCTION workers started the spiral two years ago. Everyone is aware of the jump in construction costs since those sky high wage settlements of 1966. Schools have been voting supplementary bond issues to complete buildings previously planned. West Branch just passed an extra amount. Standish-Sterling allowed an extra levy a year ago.

There is no reason in the world for a Detroit cement finisher to be demanding $9.96 an hour. He works regularly, has little time off and receives generous unemployment benefits when he isn't working in addition to the hefty overtime he receives during peak seasons.

HE IS just one. Most of his working colleagues are demanding 76 percent wage increases over a three-year period. None of us . . . in any line of work . . . are worth that kind of increase and almost any working man or businessman will agree. It is true some businesses can show hefty profit increases in certain years . . . but to balance that these same businesses can suffer sharp profit declines and losses.

Had not the trades been given the benefits of restrictive legislation prohibiting many people from doing work in the construction field, had they not been able to limit the number of tradesmen training through tightly controlled apprenticeship programs, to throttle business, education and hospitals desperately in need of buildings under construction . . . there'd be no chance of enforcing ridiculous demands.

CONSTRUCTION workers have no more talent than any other of the many trades needed to keep this nation going. If they go up in price unreasonably, so must other wages. They can't retain an unfair advantage over others.

They do have a whip over the public. Business, with contracts in hand, needs buildings now, not tomorrow. Loss of production space may mean loss of business forever. There's a tendency to submit to the gun at your head and pay the demanded price.

IT IS THE same with schools. They have little choice . . . pay the price or leave kids on the street or in crowded rooms.

None of this could have happened had not the government continued to pour money into unnecessary projects while a war was going on. We can't wait for schools but we can wait for roads. We can't wait for hospitals but we can wait for state and public buildings.

If a monopolistic business bumped up prices and shut off supplies, as the monopolistic trade unions are doing, the business would very properly be slapped down by government.

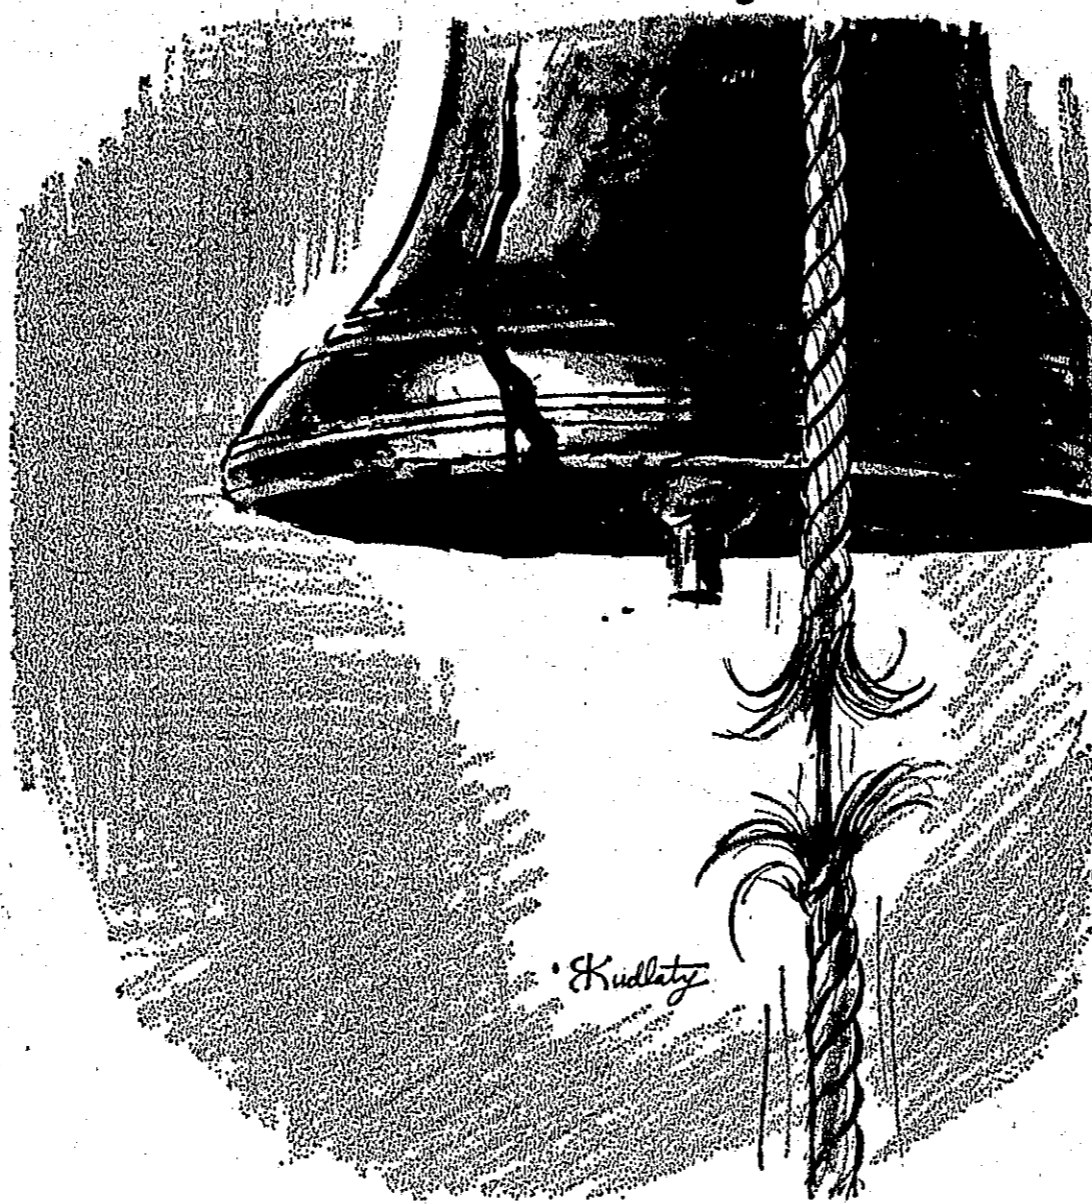

YET NOTHING is being done by government to halt the unrealistic demands of trade unions even though the president's own Council of Economic Advisors warns of inflationary tendencies on all fronts and lists wage increases as a major factor.

We, for one, are ready to wait for the buildings under construction even though the wait may hurt, rather than give in to demands that will hurt other wage earners across the nation and the nation in general.

No one can possibly be worth 25 percent more, in a single year, when he is already well paid. That is what the construction people are, asking.

Appeals for safe boating

Dear Editor: As safety officer of the Lansing Power Squadron, I am taking this opportunity to tell you that the week of June 30 through July 6 is "National Safe Boating Week" and was so designated by presidential proclamation.

There are more than eight million pleasure boats in the United States, of which nearly one-third are used in the waters in the State of Michigan. The boating organizations, boating industry, Federal and State Agencies are cooperating in an intense effort to make boating a safe family sport. In good weather with an adequate boat properly operated, boating in any of its forms is a wonderful experience, but lack of knowledge, overloading the boat, and bad weather can turn a beautiful experience into a tragedy.

Water itself is an inhospitable element and man cannot walk away from a boating accident. Every boat by law is required to carry a life preserver for every occupant. This is only one safety rule. I am enclosing a poster for boating week; "Safety First is Boating's Golden Rule" and a list of ten safety rules that will help you in writing an editorial or a news item for the public. We urge that every boater that has not done so will take a course in boating operation and piloting, such as those put on by the United States Power Squadron and United States Coast Guard Auxiliary. The law of the State of Michigan requires that every youngster between the age of 12 and 16 years of age who operates a boat must have a certificate from the Conservation Dept. showing that he has taken an approved course in safe boating.

I sincerely hope that you will find space and opportunity to make boating in Michigan the safe and pleasurable family sport that it can be.

Lt. Robert C. Shart, S/O
Shaftsbury, Mich.

We accepted another dare

Dear Editor: I dare you to print this letter in the Clinton County News. It's not in praise of the St. Johns Schools, so it will probably end up in the wastebasket. Last fall we wanted to enroll our boy for kindergarten. I called the principal, who in turn told me to call the teacher. She told us she had enough in her room and she didn't want anymore. So we didn't send him. Who would send a child to school to a teacher with such an attitude? (Better check your teachers!)

About a month ago, I decided to send our two children to Head Start. A week ago I received a telephone call telling us that our children could not be accepted because we made too much money. If you don't work nowadays, you can get more out of the government than the taxpayer who has to practically hand over his paycheck to the government. We have to pay taxes, but try to get some of your tax money out of the government. If they keep taking us, we'll end up in the poverty bracket.

By the way, earlier in the week,

I received a call from the DeWitt School System telling us that our children were accepted in the Head Start program. The St. Johns School sent the application over there, thinking we belonged in that district. After they found out that we didn't belong to their district, they sent the application back to St. Johns. According to that, we weren't making too much money.

When a school millage increase is put in front of the voter, you wonder why a "yes" vote is urged. We have been paying school taxes for almost 11 years and have never used the school. So, twice in less than a year, we try to get in and we are turned down. Why should the St. Johns School get more money?

Mr and Mrs Reynold J. Thelen

Let's trim back weeds along road

Dear Editor: Keep America Beautiful! "Phooey." Well, in Clinton County we have a beautiful America from trash, but what about the weeds? The county cannot afford to cut the weeds along the roadsides; but they seem to have enough money to buy two new roadgraders.

This may be fine to keep our country roads in good shape. But there's still the matter of our highways and the danger in the weeds which have seemed to grow out of control. This is the most hazardous thing I have ever seen let go. When a car pulls into the median strip on US-27 a person should be able to see far enough down the road to pull out safely. This is entirely impossible at most crossovers on US-27. I am sure that if Clinton County can afford to hire help to trim trees, and scrape our country roads with their new roadgraders, then they could surely afford to put a man on one of their tractors to mow down the dangerous weeds, at least in the median strip.

If this cannot be afforded, then I suggest the county sell one of their roadgraders so they can afford to do this.

If you don't want to keep America beautiful, then go under another slogan. "Keep America Safe."

'IF IT FITZ . . .'

Where did you get that scar?

There was the guy on TV, with a devilishly attractive scar traced thinly across his cheek, and I wished I were him.

Ever since I saw Paul Muni in "Scarface" 30 years ago, I have wanted a scar. Nothing disfiguring, just something to let people know I haven't always been deskbound. I have a mysterious past I'd really rather not talk about, you know. A gentleman doesn't brag about his past glories—unless he is coaxed. That's where a scar comes in handy.

"Where did you get that scar?" she coaxes.

"Man, what an opening!" "It was in Tangiers, toward the end of the big war," I tell her, "and there was this dark-eyed dancing girl. How did I know she was married to an Olympic fencing champion? he slapped me with his mitten and, of course, I had no choice but to duel. Poor fellow. . ."

The first time I took my wife-to-be to the beach, she noticed the cruel little scars peppered across my back. She wanted to know what happened.

"I was only 18, I muttered. "World War II. Germany."

That's all I'd tell her and she was properly impressed with my bravery under fire, and my humility under adulation. We were married a year before my mother told her the scars were the result of a severe case of acne.

"Well," I explained, "I had the pimples while I was in Germany."

But enough of that. Back to Charlie Rugged on TV. You've probably seen him. To go with the scar he has Viking-colored hair, a world-weary nose, eyes that have seen everything, and a turtle-neck sweater knitted of steel cable. He is selling Command, the Tahitian lime spray deodorant for men.

The way Charlie says "Tahitian," sort of raspy and sssssy, makes me suspect he got the scar in Tahiti. He was probably slashed in a barroom brawl with a guy selling Five Day Deodorant Pads.

Charlie's pitch for Command is that other deodorants are for women, kids and men who dance on their toes. You know, the weakies who can run around the block five times in July wearing overcoats, and still smell good. But Command is for the men who win wars, build bridges, seduce women, and make your eyes smart when they walk into a room.

"Leave those weak deodorants for the wife and kids," says Charlie, scar quivering, "you TAKE COMMAND."

All of a sudden I didn't give a darn who stole my Right Guard. By golly, I thought, maybe I'll never have a romantic scar but at least I can smell like a man who snubs elevators and climbs stairs just because they are there. I went out and Took Command, three cans, off the drug-store counter. That purchase gave me the same feeling I had when, at the age of 12, I wrote to Charles Atlas about the girls kicking sand in my face.

The first day I sprayed on so much Tahitian Lime I could only move my arms from the elbows down. I really didn't expect a scar to grow across my cheek. I didn't expect the FBI to revoke my passport, for fear I'd start trouble in Cuba. I didn't even expect the woman next door to ask me to fix her washing machine. But I did think my wife might be somewhat aroused by the electric aura now oozing from her husband.

I did notice her sniffing once. Then she went into the kitchen and turned on the blower over the stove.

I'm doing something wrong, I decided. I read the directions on the Command can and it said to spray two seconds under each arm. Not 1.5 seconds, or 2.5 seconds, but a flat two seconds. That's it, I decided, my timing is off.

Looking carefully at the second hand on my wrist watch, I sprayed into my left armpit for two seconds. Then I tried to do the same thing under my right arm. But my watch was on my left wrist and the can was in my left hand. Try it sometime. While straining to see the watch, I lost track of the spray. I got an eye-full of Tahitian lime.

So maybe I don't have a devilish scar but did I ever tell you why I have to sleep with my right eye open? It was on Iwo Jima and there was this Japanese with a sharp bamboo stick. . . Onward and Upward.

Spare-time doodles

By LOWELL G. RINKER

While strolling through the BOTTUMlands in the FIELD behind my LIGHT GREEN NEWHOUSE, a FURRY WOLF came out of the HAYES on the HILL and began EATON the RICE and FLOWERS near my FOOT.

I had been standing there quietly watching the FISH RIPLE the water on the LAKE, KNIGHT was coming on, and the MOON could be seen coming up over the CHURCHES in the distance.

QUICK like a FOX, I kicked at the WOLF, my HART pounding all the time. Instead of hitting him, I hit my SHINN on a PYLE of POSTS next to a STUMP on the banks of the BROOKS leading into the LAKE. When the WOLF was gone, I thought "Gee, I WOOD LOVE to have some of that GOOD GREEN WOOD for my fireplace." I felt GAY. My BUTLER could PYLE the WOOD in the WHITE shed behind my CASTLE and I would be set for the SHOWERS of fall and the snows of WINTERS.

Scraping the BUGGS, and the SAPP from the POSTS, I PLYED them into my FORD and started home. I made a stop at the BARBER and to pick up BACON for my wife. I checked the BARNES when I went past to see that the LIGHTS were not on.

"I hope this WOOD BURNS all KNIGHT," I thought as I put my KEYS in my pocket and rang the doorBELL. "It sure is a lot better at keeping the FROST away than COLE is. It doesn't take a JURY to decide that."

While this little essay doesn't make much sense, it's quite a challenge, and it helped while away some of the spare time which I haven't had. In case you can't figure out the rhyme or reason of it, the capitalized words are all names out of the new St. Johns phone book.

Picking out the ones that can be used as nouns or adjectives and trying to tell a story with them can be entertaining, in an odd sort of way. Try it next time you have spare time . . . about 1997.

Can We Wave the Flag Too Much?

by SIDNEY L. DeLOVE

Is it possible to wave the flag too much? Provided, of course, that you wave it with integrity? Is it possible to study Lincoln or Shakespeare too much? Is it possible to read the Bible too much? ★ The great, the good, the true, are inexhaustible for inspiration, example and strength. I believe that we are not waving our flag enough, not nearly enough ★ It seems to me that we are developing a tendency to be timid or even apologetic about waving the stars and stripes. Walk up and down the streets on July 4th and count the flags. It is our nation's birthday, a sacred day in world history, the most important day of America. Why isn't the flag flying on every rooftop and from every home and building? This complacent attitude is strong evidence of cancerous patriotic decay. The flag is a symbol of our national unity. It is the spirit of our undying devotion to our country. It stands for the best that is in us . . . for loyalty, character, and faith in democracy ★ Isn't our flag a synonym of the United States of America? Does it not represent man's greatest, noblest, most sublime dream? Is it not the zenith of achievement, the goal to which generations have aspired? ★ Ladies and gentlemen, I believe it is time for us . . . for the mad, rushing Twentieth Century American . . . to stop for a moment and think. Let us arrest our near reverential admiration of material success and return to the spiritual and ethical values. Let us imbue and rekindle in ourselves and our children the so-called old-fashioned way of patriotism, a burning devotion to the principles and ideals upon which our country was founded ★ Should not every home own and proudly display the colors on holidays and other such occasions? Isn't the flag Patrick Henry, Jefferson, Franklin, Washington, Nathan Hale, Gettysburg and Valley Forge, Paul Revere, Jackson and other great men and women who have given us our heritage. When you look at the flag can't you see the Alamo, Corrigedor, Pearl Harbor, The Monitor and The Merrimack? Let us forget, isn't the flag Flanders Field, Bataan, Iwo Jima, Normandy, Babe Ruth and Davy Crockett? The great events of our past and present are wrapped up in our flag ★ It is a symbol of this blessed nation, a giant in industry, education and commerce. Millions of fertile square miles, wheatlands, coal mines, steel plants. Our great republic, the chosen infant destined to be man's last remaining hope for suffering humanity, a shining beacon of light, noble and glorious, the haven for the oppressed and persecuted and truly God's gift to mankind ★ That is what the flag means to me. Can we wave it too much? I don't think so.

Reply of S. L. DeLove on the Know Your History Hour, December 30th, 1956, to a listener who wrote as follows: "Your programs are wonderful — but you are waving the flag too much."

The above is reprinted and narrated annually in hundreds of national magazines, newspapers and radio stations, and is a part of the Congressional Record. Dr. DeLove is the author of The Quiet Betrayal and president of Independence Hall of Chicago.

Write-in, sticker names create primary problems

Write-in sticker candidates create gigantic problems for Michigan's primary election machinery, according to Rep. Russell H. Strange, R-Mt Pleasant, chairman of the House Elections Committee.

Each write-in must be verified by election workers, down to the last "i" and "t" of his name and address, Strange notes that it may be next to impossible to read the name scrawled on paper ballots; even more so on voting machines.

STICKER CANDIDATES present similar problems for election workers. In Michigan, 85 percent of the population votes by machine. "Try to put a sticker on that roll," Strange observes. "You'll find many stickers on the bottom of the machine."

The problem occurs, he says, because stickers pasted on through the small slots peel off and fall to the bottom when the roll turns for the next voter. "Some people don't know where to place the stickers either," he adds. "Some end up pasting a sticker on the lever of the machine."

THE ANSWER doesn't seem to be easily apparent. Other states have barred sticker and write-in candidates at primaries, but such a proposal met with strong opposition in Michigan. "We wanted to abolish write-ins, but we couldn't get the votes," Strange says.

Thought was given to furnishing voters separate paper ballots for write-ins, but this was also ruled out. Going to this system, Strange said, would reveal how a particular person was voting.

The burden would be eased under a House bill which requires a write-in candidate for party precinct delegate to have at least three votes before being considered. Strange, sponsor of the legislation, said the bill would help ease the burden on election workers in primaries. The number of write-in votes which must be checked would also be sharply reduced.

COUNTLESS HOURS are spent by election workers chasing down the spelling and addresses of write-ins in telephone books and city directories. Even then, Strange said, workers often cannot find the names in these sources and must resort to more time-consuming procedures. "There's a lot of problems to this whole question," Strange remarked. "We have to find some solutions."

Michigan holds its next primary election August 6.

AIR POLLUTION in the state will soon be determined by four mobile pollution monitoring stations, the equipment has been added to facilities used by the Michigan Department of Health to clean up the state's air.

The large main station and its three "satellites" can be moved to any location to measure and record a wide variety of pollutants in the air. The large station determines levels of sulfur dioxide, carbon monoxide, nitrogen oxides and the total amount of hydrocarbons. Other factors, such as wind speed, direction and temperature, are computed. Devices to collect particular matter can also be set up.

The satellite units measure sulfur dioxide, wind speed, direction and, by installing portable equipment, all other data that is gathered by the large station. Information is recorded on a teletypewriter and on tapes for computer analysis. Equipment can be programmed to take measurements over a wide range; from every few minutes to weekly. In the past, the department had to send air samples to Lansing for analysis, a process which could take as long as a week to 10 days. The longest time required by the new equipment is 15 minutes, and some analyses are instantaneous.

THE STATIONS, which cost $150,000, can all be operated by one man and can be set to run unattended over a normal week-end. The main unit and one satellite will be shortly placed in operation in the Port Huron area. The United States and Canada are cooperating on an anti-pollution program involving Sarnia, Ont., across the St. Clair River. Major use of the equipment will be to measure communities' progress in meeting the state's new air pollution control standards. It can also be used in enforcement of standards, a health department spokesman said.

The U.S. Public Health Service already has mobile air pollution measurement units in operation, and many states are developing such units. New York, for example, has a 30-station system of monitoring sites.

Girl at CMU Orientation Nearly 300 prospective Central Michigan University freshmen are participating in the second of seven preregistration and orientation periods July 9-10 on the CMU campus. Attending from St. Johns, is Janet E. Pung.

In addition to registering for fall classes, the young people are becoming acquainted with the campus, meeting many of their instructors and classmates as well as having their first experience with dorm living.

A total of eight registration periods are scheduled during July and August with about 300 accommodated each time. Those not scheduled to register these two months will do so September 12-13.

Assisting as mentors for each group of freshmen are: Sara Lauer, senior, and Tammy Hewlett, sophomore, Mt. Pleasant; Ronald Bindle, Warren senior; Donald Schnell, New Lothrop junior; Juliana Vespa, Dearborn Heights senior; Linda Flink, Grand Rapids senior; Cheryl Erbes, Belmont junior; Dennis Dudley, Hazel Park senior; Diane Sugden, Mayville senior, and Donna Ewens, Onsted senior.

REINBECK, IOWA, COURIER: "Reports released by the General Accounting Office in Washington show that the cost of training a boy or girl in the War on Poverty Oriented Job Corps schools will average between $7,000 and $9,000 per year per student. Is it necessary that these students (supposedly from oppressed homes) be given such a 'Cadillac' way of life while receiving an education at taxpayers' expense?"

CORVALLIS, ORE., GAZETTE-TIMES: "A recent ruling by the Federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission opens the employment area of 'flight cabin attendants' to males. In other words, in the near future your airline stewardess may be a six-foot male."

EVERETT, WASH., HERALD: "Across the nation in these incredible days colleges with student populations of many thousands are being crippled or closed by tiny minorities of demonstrators. It has never before occurred in our nation and it's a heck of a way to teach how democracy should operate."

NANTUCKET, MASS., INQUIRER AND MIRROR: "It would be in order for the press to start publicizing the activities of the law-abiding citizen as well as the law-defying ones. In this year of political strife, perhaps the aspiring candidates for office may realize that the best support they could desire comes from the people of this country to whom 'law and order' mean just what they represent."

BELMAR, N.J., ADVERTISER: "Today the federal government seems preoccupied with the issue of consumer protection. It wants to be sure our package of breakfast food is full and plainly marked; it wants us to be fully aware of the cost of borrowing money. Right now, when many of us are... borrowing to pay our taxes... we might well wish that our benevolent Uncle Sam would worry less about the size and weight of our breakfast food package and show more concern about our plight as harried taxpayers."

TO STOP EXTINCTION Because they were in danger of becoming extinct, Congress passed legislation to help save the dwindling herds of wild horses in the West. The law prohibits mechanized roundups of the estimated 20,000 wild horses in western states.

New route cuts time north of Kawkawlin

A 24.4-mile stretch of I-75 opened to traffic July 2 from Kawkawlin to Standish for the heavy July 4 weekend traffic cuts travel time by 10 minutes between the two points, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

Prior to the opening, the trip at times took up to 40 minutes via M-13, formerly US-23. Motorists who go west on US-10 (also marked "To I-75") to Clare for points north should continue to do so. The accompanying Auto Club map shows that the new $17.2 million stretch of US-23 now ends with a spur route into Standish.

It is marked as US-23 but will be known also as I-75 when the proposed 59-mile stretch between Standish and Grayling is completed. Auto Club points out that although the newly opened road will speed northbound traffic, it will add to heavier and longer tie-ups on southbound I-75 between Bay City and Flint. Over Memorial weekend, the state's longest traffic jam, at one time 56-miles long and almost bumper to bumper, developed between these two points.

It's next to impossible to find a substitute for reliability.

Independence Day

Old July 4th is precious As a symbol of the past, Days we still love to live over With the actors in the cast; As we live again in fancy All its glories, can we say That the chapters now in writing Are as glorious today?

What about our freedom concept? Are we really proud this day, Of our part in far off fighting? Of the rise of Tonkin Bay? Is the history now enacted Apt to prove immortal too? Can they say we acted wisely? Or we merely blundered through?

In the epics of the ages Man progresses to new goals Has our Ship of State now foundered On some treacherous hidden shoals? It is time to search our conscience Are we now-In Sixty-Eight- Holding to the course we charted Or performing less than great?

GRASSROOTS OPINION COMMENTS FROM OTHER PAPERS

LOVINGTON, N.M., LEADER: "...property rights are not too popular at the moment. They seem to have been set aside in favor of the euphemistic 'human rights.' Lost in the sound and fury is the sobering truth that so-called human rights are worthless without corresponding property rights. Western society has long held that a man is entitled to the produce of his labor. This labor, whether it be manual or mental, is of value only when exchanged for some material thing, i.e., some property. Property is nothing less than an extension of a person's being."

FLORENCE, ALA., HERALD: "Government spending far beyond income has intensified inflation and placed the American consumer in a staggering price squeeze. In fact the red ink on government ledgers is so tremendous that it is past ordinary comprehension... For instance... the government in the past six years has spent $60 billion more than its income from the taxpayers. This averages about $50 million a day or $100,000 a minute, every minute, eight hours a day, 40 hours a week... Not being experts in the realm of finance, we can only exhort those who ARE to do something to return this nation to a sane fiscal policy."

EVERETT, WASH., HERALD: "Across the nation in these incredible days colleges with student populations of many thousands are being crippled or closed by tiny minorities of demonstrators. It has never before occurred in our nation and it's a heck of a way to teach how democracy should operate."
