Alcohol, smoking top drug survey

ST. JOHNS—A drug survey taken among 4,300 Clinton County high school students age 12-18 reveals misuse of alcoholic beverages is the number one problem.

Eighty three per cent of the youngsters admitted to experimenting with alcoholic beverages while 70 per cent were considered in the abuse area by stating occasional or frequent use. Cigarettes ranked second in popularity among Clinton youth with 63 per cent experimenting once and 42 per cent who considered themselves regular smokers.

Answers to questions on the use of other drugs such as marijuana, LSD and barbiturates revealed much lower figures. Marijuana was tried once by 17 per cent while glue sniffing came next with 13 per cent citing one time experimentation. Eighty two per cent of Clinton students reported never trying marijuana while 89 per cent had not tried glue sniffing.

On the question of LSD, 95 per cent had no experience with the drug while 89 per cent have never taken any type of barbiturates.

"We let students determine where he or she was on the issue of drug abuse," explains James Harrison, an educational consultant for the Central Intermediate School Districts of Clinton and Shiawassee County. "What's really important is where kids think they stand in relation to others," he adds.

The 4,300 questionnaires filled out by Clinton youngsters from all six county schools represents about 90 per cent of this age group. Harrison calls it the most extensive drug survey being given in the United States. Questions covered the entire drug scene as youngsters were asked to check boxes labeled once, occasionally, frequently and never.

A final box was for previous use of a drug but not in the past three months. Each question began with "have you ever used, . . ." The last word was everything from alcoholic beverages and cigarettes to LSD and heroin.

"Our purpose in conducting the survey was to pinpoint the problem areas and aim our educational courses in this direction," points out Clinton Central Intermediate School District Supt. Benjamin Poculis. "Most schools have drug education classes but we needed to find out where the emphasis should be placed," he explains.

Poculis and officials from all six county schools met with Harrison last week to discuss the survey's final results. "Our major conclusion was that our programs should come in the earlier grades before junior high to be really effective," reports Poculis.

CNB gets bond bid

ST. JOHNS—Central National Bank of St. Johns was named as paying agent for the $750,000.00 bond issue for Clinton County Board of County Road Commissioner's Motor Vehicle Highway Fund notes which was bid on June 12, 1972.

The $750,000.00 will be used for an improvement project in Clinton County which will include about 60 miles of re-surfacing and 13 miles of new construction.

Central National Bank together with Kenower, MacArthur Division of American Securities Corporation was the successful bidder, and Central National Bank of St. Johns was named as paying agent with the National Bank of Detroit, as co-paying agent.

Last week Clinton National Bank and Trust Company and the First of Michigan Corporation were awarded the bond issue of $126,000 to finance construction of the new building. Clinton National's bid on the five year issue provided a net interest cost of 3.9272 per cent to the district.

Warren Holmes and Company of Lansing are architects of the 5,000 square foot building.

CNB&T approves stock dividend

The board of directors of Clinton National Bank has approved a semi-annual dividend payment totaling $58,560 to all stockholders of record as of June 15, 1972. The dividend, amounting to one dollar per share, will be paid as of July 1, 1972.

The payment is the 21st consecutive dividend declared by the bank's directors since Clinton National was formed in 1961 through a merger of the State Bank of St. Johns, the St. Johns National Bank and the State Savings Bank of Elsie.

Through the years since formation, Clinton National stockholder dividends have averaged $1.30 per share excluding a special stock dividend in March 1970.

Clinton National Bank and Trust Co. maintains principal offices in St. Johns and branch locations in Elsie, Fowler, Laingsburg and Valley Farms. A mobile service unit provides banking hours at Bath, Eureka, Hubbardston, Maple Rapids and Wacousta.

Young Gwen Banninga, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Hugh Banninga, St. Johns, seems puzzled at the inscription on a huge bell located in City Park. The bell has a long and proud heritage as the signal to summon volunteer firemen in St. Johns from 1877 until 1942 when a modern siren took over.

Circus comes to St. Johns

ST. JOHNS—A three ring circus complete with clowns, elephants, acrobats and trapeze artists is coming to St. Johns Friday, July 14 under the sponsorship of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4113.

The huge big top which has seating for 2,000 people will go up on the Knights of Columbus grounds on north US-27. Two 90 minute performances are planned with a matinee at 4 p.m. and evening show at 8 p.m. The midway and free attractions will open to the public one hour before each show.

Tickets for the circus are available in advance from any VFW member at the price of two dollars for adults and $1.25 for youngsters under 14 years old. Prices at the gate will be fifty cents more for adult tickets and a quarter extra for children.

Two major attractions of the King Brothers Circus are the famous Logan Elephants and clown Bobby Rawls. Running the huge pachyderms through a series of dancing and balancing acts are beautiful lady trainers which offer a striking contrast to the mammoth animals. Joining Rawls in providing the crowd laughs throughout the performance are clowns Billy Rawls and Steve King. It's a one day affair with proceeds going to the St. Johns VFW and an event children of all ages thoroughly enjoy.

Rademacher gets building contract

ST. JOHNS — Rademacher Construction Company of St. Johns was awarded a $119,000 contract to construct an office building for the Clinton County Intermediate School District during a bid opening held Thursday evening.

The St. Johns firm was low bidder among six companies seeking the contract. High among the six bids was a $138,780 figure.

Central Intermediate School Supt. Benjamin Poculis reports construction will "begin immediately and the contract calls for 125 days to complete the work." He notes this completion date is subject to many unforeseen things such as weather and other construction problems beyond the contractor's control.

Site for the new single story facility is on US-27 about three miles south of St. Johns. Presently the Intermediate School District offices are located in a county building at 106 Maple St. in St. Johns.

Townships are under grace period

ST. JOHNS—Fire protection contracts between four Clinton County townships and the city of St. Johns expired July 1 but a 30 day "grace period" remains in effect until August 1.

St. Johns City Clerk Tom Hundley said Friday the townships of Olive, Essex, Victor and Greenbush have not signed the new contracts. The other townships given fire protection service by the St. Johns Fire Department — Bingham, Bengal and Riley — have agreed to new contracts which call for a flat ten per cent increase on standby and per run rates.

The new contract terms were approved by St. Johns city commissioners at their first June meeting at which time the 30 day grace period was also outlined. However, commissioners made it clear that the new rates will take effect on July 1 and the grace period is only designed to continue the fire protection service.

St. Johns City Clerk Tom Hundley said Friday "I expect to get the remaining contracts in this month because it seems to be simply a matter of waiting until these townships have a meeting." He added it was not uncommon for the townships to hold meetings on a quarterly basis and said "they really haven't had much time to act on this yet."

The contracts for each township vary as some are covered completely by the St. Johns firemen while others receive service in only sections of their township. Hundley said in talking with township officials they feel the new rates are fair enough in light of rising cost of labor and equipment. It is the first rate increase since present contracts were negotiated four years ago.

Boat trips offer tourists new means of travel

Tourists who want to travel Michigan's virtually unlimited waterways have a choice of more than 35 excursion boats and ferries, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

They range in size from large ships which cross Lake Michigan in four to six hours to small ferries and boats which ply small lakes and narrow bodies of water with rides lasting only minutes. Some operate the year around. Others halt service after Labor Day or in the fall.

The Chesapeake & Ohio Railway operates a fleet of three auto-passenger ferries between Ludington and the Wisconsin ports of Milwaukee, Manitowoc and Kewaunee. There are four passenger sailings daily, two to Milwaukee and two to Manitowoc. The sailing to Kewaunee operates on an irregular schedule. The ships run between Ludington, Milwaukee and Manitowoc on a regular basis through Sept. 5, then offer daily service on an unscheduled basis through the winter. For exact schedules, passengers should check their nearest C&O agent.

The use of this cross-lake route eliminates driving through Chicago with a saving of several hours time. Passenger business on the boats has grown steadily and yielded $2 million in 1971.

Two of the C&O ferries are the world's largest and fastest freight car and auto-carrying steamers. The Spartan, named for Michigan State University, entered service in 1952. The Badger, named in honor of Wisconsin and the University of Wisconsin, began crossings a year later. The third, City of Midland, has served since 1941.

Ranger III, a 165-foot, 125-passenger boat operated by the National Park Service, makes weekly round-trips between Houghton and Isle Royale through mid-October. The runs leave Houghton on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, returning the following day. Advance reservations are required.

The Isle Royal Queen II, a 65-foot, 60-passenger boat running from Copper Harbor to Isle Royale, begins a round-trip daily except Sunday schedule on June 26. Its season ends Labor Day. Advance reservations also are required for this boat.

Four ferries offer service between Mackinaw City and St. Ignace to Mackinac Island.

The Arnold Line, which serves between both cities and the historic island resort, has 10 sailings from St. Ignace and eight from Mackinaw City from June 30 through Sept. 3, then operates on a curtailed basis to Mackinaw City through Oct. 8 and to St. Ignace through Oct. 31.

Shepler's, which runs what it calls Red Carpet Express Service from Mackinaw City to Mackinac Island, makes 20 round-trips daily between June 23 and Sept. 4, drops to seven and eight during September, then to four from Sept. 25 to closing Oct. 15.

Straits Transit, Inc., has 12 round-trips from Mackinaw City from June 25 through Sept. 3, five through Sept. 30 and two from Oct. 1 to closing Oct. 15.

The fourth ferry, Lakeview Transit, runs 18 round-trips from Mackinaw City during the busy tourist season.

Ferries which continue year-around service are DeTour Village to Drummond Island, and Mission Point, south of Sault Ste. Marie, to Sugar Island, both in the St. Marys River.

Another ferry from Barbeau, south of Sault Ste. Marie, to Neebish Island, runs daily until January unless stopped by the weather.

Four ferries in the St. Clair River between Port Huron and Algonac also operate the year around, weather permitting.

In West Michigan, the Beaver Islander, between Charlevoix and Beaver Island in Lake Michigan, will make daily trips except Tuesdays through October, Monday through Saturday in November, then a dozen trips in December before closing for three months starting in January. All trips are on a favorable weather basis.

Boat cruises on the Manitou Isle or Island Clipper from Leland to North and South Manitou Islands operate on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays to both islands, on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays to South Manitou. All are round-trips and operate through October. Tuesday and Friday trips only are scheduled from November through April.

At Saugatuck, the Island Queen offers cruises on the Kalamazoo River from mid-June until after Labor Day.

The Ironton ferry on Lake Charlevoix operates from mid-June through the end of August, then on a curtailed basis until the end of December or until the water is frozen.

The AuSable River Queens Nos. 1 and 2 at Oscoda run two daily trips during the heavy tourist season. They stop regular service on Sept. 29 but resume for the color season through Oct. 15.

The City of Grand Rapids, a paddlewheel riverboat operating cruises out of north Grand Rapids on the Grand River, runs on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays during the tourist season with its closing date indefinite. In the past it has operated charters on a demand basis as long as conditions permit.

The Upper Peninsula also operates several excursions during the tourist season.

Two excursions operate to Tahquamenon Falls. One, the Tom Sawyer Riverboat and the Paul Bunyan Timber Train, runs from Slater's Landing north of Hulbert and offers a daily round-trip through June 30, two through Labor Day and one through Oct. 10. The other is the Toonerville Trolley and Boat Trip to Tahquamenon Falls, starting from Soo Junction on M-28. It offers one round-trip daily through June 30, two trips Monday through Friday and one on Saturdays and Sundays in July, and August, and one trip daily Sept. 1-30.

The popular Soo Locks Boat Tours at Sault Ste. Marie, which offer two-hour trips through the famous locks, will run eight trips daily from one dock through June 30, a dozen trips daily from each of two docks from July 1 through Labor Day, eight trips daily from one dock, Labor Day-Sept. 30 and four trips from one dock, Oct. 1-15.

The Pictured Rocks Cruises out of Munising offer three-hour trips along the famed Pictured Rocks of Lake Superior. Through June 30 there are two cruises daily, July and August five cruises daily and Sept. 1-20, two cruises daily. Another popular Upper Peninsula attraction, a self-propelled raft on Big Spring at Palms Book State Park 12 miles northwest of Manistique, operates the year around unless stopped by weather.

In southeastern Michigan, the Island Queen at Kensington Metropolitan Park, southeast of Brighton, operates Wednesdays through Sundays from noon to 6 p.m. except holidays while the Dixie Bells on Lake St. Clair at Metropolitan Beach near Mt. Clemens operates hourly except Mondays and Tuesdays.

The Bob-Lo boats, a Detroit institution for nearly half a century, run from Detroit to Bob-Lo Island opposite Amherstburg, Or daily through the summer Labor Day.

Tonight deadline

LANSING—Officials of the Michigan Education Association (MEA) have announced that Michigan teachers are nearing the minimum goal in their initiative petitions campaign for state tax reform.

Terry Herndon, MEA Executive Secretary, stated that last week's reports pushed the number of signatures to the 250,000 mark. The minimum needed to place the issues on the November ballot requires 265,000 signatures of registered Michigan voters.

Michigan's teachers are circulating two petitions, one to reduce local property taxes as the basis of school financing, the second to remove a current constitutional ban on a state graduated income tax.

"While we are extremely pleased that we have come this far, we must make certain that we have enough to insure the required number of valid signatures," Herndon urged all Michigan citizens who have signed petitions to send them to the MEA in East Lansing no later than July 5.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white nylon over taffeta fashioned with a Mandarin neckline and long sleeves with lace cuffs, while the A-line skirt edged in embroidered daisies was adorned by satin ribbon at the waist. Her train-length veil, edged in daisies, was attached at a pillbox cap, also in daisy trim. She carried a colonial bouquet of white daisies and red roses tied with white satin streamers.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Wendy Munson of Elsie, wearing a floor length gown of yellow nylon over taffeta. It was designed with long sleeves and a full skirt with which she wore a large garden hat which featured a fingertip veil, daisy trimmed, in color matching gown. She carried a colonial bouquet of white daisies and yellow carnations.

The bridesmaids wore gowns and hats identical to the maid of honor in blue, green, orchid, and pink. They were Kathy Smith and Patty Sperl, sister of the groom of Elsie; Mrs. Mike Kadlek, twin sister of the bride from Ovid, and Mrs. Robert Eastlick Jr., sister-in-law of the bride of Owosso. All carried colonial bouquets of white daisies and carnations in the color of their gowns.

The bride's mother wore a long gown of bone, beige and brown polyester, designed with front button trim. She wore matching accessories. The groom's mother wore a long aqua gown with sequin trim and matching accessories. Both had corsages of pink roses and white carnations.

The wedding dinner reception and dance was held at the ZCBJ Hall in Bannister with an attendance of approximately 600 guests. Host and hostess duties were performed by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Eastlick of East Lansing, the bride's uncle and aunt and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Denovich of St. Johns.

The four tiered wedding cake was decorated in red and white. It was made by Mrs. Frank Winkler and featured a book with names inscribed and trimmed with red sugar roses.

Mrs. Lily Simpson of Apple Valley, Calif., grandmother of the bride, was a special guest and Mrs. Tom Reinhart came from Martin, Ohio to call several of the dances. It was interesting to note that there were two sets of four generations each present from the families of both the bride and groom.

Greenwood school mates reunite

Sunday, June 25, about 75 people who had attended the Greenwood School 40 to 80 years ago gathered there to renew old school friendships and to enjoy a picnic dinner.

As honored guests there were four former teachers, Mrs. Ila Loftus Lynch, Mrs. Maxine Stevens Sigatoose, Mrs. Allene Davis Knaup, and Mrs. Isabella Acre Greenwood Barbour.

At 1 p.m. all took their places at the ringing of an old school bell, and grace was said by Mrs. Barbour. After the meal, Mrs. Adele Livingston gave a brief account of the founding of the school in 1856 and its importance to the community then and later.

Mrs. Beatrice Motz Jorae called upon each former teacher present to say a few words and especially recognized Mrs. Ila Loftus Lynch, 79, as the oldest teacher present in point of both age and service to the school. She also introduced Mrs. Grace Green Stevens, 88, as the oldest student present, and Gail Davis of Kansas City, Mo., as the student who had come the farthest for the occasion.

Led by Doris and Alden Livingston the group next sang a verse each of many favorite old songs from Pattengill's Song Knapsack, required equipment in their day. Included were "Twenty Froggies", "Marching through Georgia", and "The King of the Cannibal Islands." They had barely finished when proceedings were interrupted by a summer shower. Everyone seized a chair and made for the schoolhouse, where they seated themselves in a circle in the old familiar surroundings and under the direction of Adele Livingston Jones played a game which she called "Do You Remember?" Each old student was called on in turn from the oldest to the youngest to give an outstanding reminiscence of his school days. Oldsters remembered how cold the first school was, and younger people remembered the cyclone, the school plays, and many a prank that had been played.

Alden Livingston closed the formal program by giving the more recent history of the school. Much time was also spent in examining the old school records, and maps, schoolbooks, and various mementoes brought by the former students.

Thanks for a very pleasant day are due to Mrs. Adele Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Alden Livingston, Walter Baneroff, Earl Greenwood, and Mrs. Beatrice Jorae, who formed the original planning committee, and to Marion Walling, Mrs. Hazel Knight, Mrs. Mary Dush, and others who were of very great help, out-of-town guests not mentioned were Gail Foerch, Anna Kus-Kushion, Frank Kus, Herman Motz, Evelyn Diller Hoffer, Henry Russell, Ella Livingston

Health units receive aid

CHICAGO - Joseph A. Connor, Director of the Chicago Region of the U.S. Civil Service Commission, has announced the approval of a $123,568 federal grant to the State of Michigan.

The grant, authorized under the Intergovernmental Personnel Act of 1970, will be used to strengthen the present system of personnel administration used by public health units throughout Michigan. It is expected that improved methods, techniques, and policies for recruiting, selecting, and utilizing employees will increase the effectiveness of public health activities in the State.

The grant will also be used to develop a system for collecting and analyzing workforce data. The system will provide a more efficient method for evaluating the operations of local public health units in carrying out their services to the public.

Changing furniture

When you need a change in furniture, but find yourself somewhat limited in the household budget department have you considered investigating the supply of unfinished pieces? It takes a little more imagination and certainly takes a fair amount of time and energy, but design possibilities are there.

Besides, such an alternative can provide higher quality furnishings than a finish furniture and the price you want to pay. For example, a small, four-drawer chest, with stapled joints is available for $20 or less. The same type of chest, made of solid walnut with interlocking joints, sells for around $70.

Political Coverage

Persons seeking election to public office are interesting individuals. Some clamor for coverage in the newspaper while others file a nominating petition and then vanish without a trace.

A section in this week's issue is aimed at introducing voters to 43 candidates for county office. Working with the names on petitions filed with the county clerk, we began to gather background information on each candidate.

In many cases, candidates seemed to feel a newspaper was the platform to reach voters. This is an issue which needs clarification.

First, the announcement that a person is running for public office is news. Any further exposure in the press must have a news angle. Our reasoning in publishing photos and background information on the candidates this week is designed to inform voters NOT promote any political campaigns.

The Republican Party's dominance in Clinton County has created a situation where voters will elect a new sheriff and one commissioner during the August primary. No Democrats filed so the August winners will run unopposed in the general election this November.

Voters should be aware of this situation and make every effort to cast their ballots on August 8.

Bits and Pieces - Let's not forget---

By HAROLD SCHMALTZ

In this age one cannot stress too much the value of pride and concern for our country.

Our flag and what it represents meant life or death to citizens living in the time of our country's formation. Why should it mean any less to us today?

Many fine patriots laid their futures on the line when they chose to defend freedom rather than succumb to tyrannical powers.

The frailties of humanity, the wants of individuals and the numerous dangers that surround them through life, have in all ages and in every country, impelled them to establish governments.

John Adams wrote, "As the happiness of the people is the sole end of government, so the consent of the people is that only foundation of it, in reason, morality and the natural fitness of things..."

WE AMERICANS all too often forget this freedom we have inherited from our forefathers. The rights and responsibilities that underlie this freedom includes the right of choice. Through equality and opportunity, we all have the ability to utilize creativeness and energy as impetus in our endeavors.

The great documents, the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States, the Bill of Rights, Monroe Doctrine, and the Gettysburg Address constitute the nucleus of our freedom. It is truth that our heritage rests on these documents—but what about the men who personally inspired these important precepts?

Certainly, God played the lead role in the authorship of these precepts—how else could such ideals and principles be so eloquently expressed.

Have you ever been curious about the fate of these brave men who dared sign the Declaration of Independence?

Did it ever cross your mind what situations and circumstances we'd be subjected to, it is were not for the foresight of these men?

THE MEN were unique, in that they had convictions with courage and vision to back their convictions.

According to "Freedom Documents Foundation" the following information is possible for our reading:

Five signers were captured by the British and punished as traitors. Two lost their sons in the Revolutionary Army, another had two sons captured. Nine of the 56 fought and died from wounds or the hardships of the war.

Carter Braxton of Virginia a wealthy planter and trader, saw his ships swept from the seas by the British navy. He sold his home and properties to pay his debts, and died in greatly reduced circumstances.

Thomas McKean who served in Congress without pay was so hounded by the British that he was forced to keep his family in hiding.

THE HOMES and properties of Ellery, Clymer, Hall, Walton, Gwinnett, Heyward, Rutledge, and Middleton were destroyed by looters.

At the Battle of Yorktown, Thomas Nelson learned that General Cornwallis had located his headquarters in Nelson's home. Nelson urged Washington to open fire and the house was destroyed. Francis Lewis had his home and properties destroyed. The enemy jailed his wife, and she died within a few months.

John Hart was driven from his wife's sick bed. His 13 children died for their lives. His fields and grist mill were laid waste. He returned home at the end of the war after living in the wilderness for more than a year to find his wife dead and his children vanished. He died shortly after of exhaustion and broken heart.

Morris and Livingston suffered similar fates.

What kind of men were these patriots? They were soft spoken men of means and education. Twenty-four were lawyers and jurists. Eleven were merchants, nine were farmers and large plantation owners. But they signed the Declaration of Independence knowing full well the penalty if they were captured. They valued liberty more.

Standing tall, straight, and unwavering, they pledged: "For the support of this declaration, with firm reliance on the protection of the Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other, our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor."

These were men that guided our country to the heritage we enjoy—let us not forget their sacrifice.

Ask the Governor

By Governor William G. Milliken State of Michigan

Question:

I keep hearing about your petition drive for property tax relief but no one is circulating petitions in my neighborhood. How do I get a petition?

Answer:

There soon will be county and district petition drive chairmen throughout the state who will be coordinating the effort locally. Meanwhile, petitions can be obtained by writing the privately-financed fulltime office of the Michigan Committee for Quality Education. The address is Box 1500, Lansing, Mich. 48903.

Question:

Could I have some information on the Governor and his job? I'm in the fifth grade and our class is doing a report on a Governor and his job and I'm the Governor and I'm a girl. It will be my fault if our group gets a F or a D, so please send me some information.

Answer:

In order to become Governor of this state, a candidate must be at least 30 years of age and must have been a registered elector of Michigan for at least four years prior to his or her election. The Governor is elected by the citizens of Michigan for a four-year term and becomes the chief executive officer of the state with the responsibility to see that all laws are faithfully carried out. Among many other duties, he supervises departments of the executive branch and appoints members to the state boards and commissions. All bills passed by the Legislature must be submitted to the Governor for his approval or veto, and he also submits messages to the Legislature, recommending measures which he considers necessary or desirable. I hope this little bit of information helps you to get an "A" for your class, and I wish you the best of success as Governor.

Question:

What kind of training and selection process must an applicant for the State Police undergo?

Answer:

I believe that the Michigan State Policemen are among the most highly-qualified and best-trained policemen in the nation. An applicant for a job as a State Trooper must first pass a written examination, an agility test, a sight and hearing test, and a background check. He is then interviewed by a three-man panel composed of a representative of the Department of State Police, the Department of Civil Service, and a third individual who has usually had some type of police training or experience.

He successfully completes the examination and the interview, he is sent to a Recruit School where for 14 weeks he undergoes physical training, classroom training, and training in first aid, swimming and the use of firearms. Following the completion of this schooling the recruit is assigned to a post for field training. Lasting from six months to a year, field work training is followed by five weeks in Trooper's school where technical training in numerous fields, including computer systems, human behavior, interrogation techniques, narcotics laws, and criminal investigation, is completed. Only three per cent of all applicants are able to successfully complete these rigorous training and selection processes and become State Troopers, a difficult but extremely important occupation.

Has any one person been a greater influence on your life than any other?

I think that my father was a tremendous influence on my life, both personally and in choosing a career. He had been active in public service for many years, serving as a member of the Mental Health Commission, the mayor of his city, and a member of the Michigan Senate. He helped me greatly in recognizing that each one of us, in one way or another, ought to commit himself to a service beyond his immediate business or his family. In that sense, my father's influence was greater than anyone else's.

"If It Fitz ... Why I don't grow sideburns"

Editor, Lapeer County Press

By Jim Fitzgerald

And then I wrote... It was my teenage daughter who complained that I am the only man in the nation who is not letting his sideburns grow.

There is a reason. I have queer sideburns. So far, only my barbers know for sure. Why should I let the whole world see? Honest. I think those other guys look great with hair down their cheeks. They look like Scarlett O'Hara is waiting for them to come home — and they're not sure they'll go, the dogs. But such cavalier grooming is not for me. You see, ever since I can remember, I've had this thing...

"Hey Mac," said my barber to the 2 other barbers, "look at this kid. I never saw anything like it before. His hair grows straight down the left side and straight back on the right. Run across the street and tell Curley to c'mere. I want him to see this."

And that's how it's been all my life. I need a haircut on the left side 2 weeks earlier than I need it on the right. My left ear is covered with shaggy hair while my right ear is bare. That right ear has been washed twice as much as the other one.

When haircut money was hard to come by, I naturally didn't go to the barber until the right side needed it. In the meantime, Mother had me wear a peaked cap tilted rakishly over my left ear. In school, capless, I did my first elbow-bending. I put my left elbow on my desk and rested the left side of my head in the palm of my left hand. I even maintained this protective coloration while walking between classrooms. People stared but I told them I had an earache.

The ideal arrangement, of course, would have been to get a haircut in 2 installments. For a $1 haircut, I'd pay 50 cents for the left side on the first Saturday of the month, and the other 50 cents for the right side the third Saturday. But I could never find a barber to go along with this. Generally speaking, they are a surly lot. On their feet too much, I guess.

I have been in several friendly barbershops in my time. When I was a teenager, my favorite trimmer was named Milliken. He had several pool tables in the rear of his establishment. A guy didn't mind waiting to get his haircut if he could pass the time playing 9-ball. The only trouble was that I frequently lost and, by the time Milliken said I was "next," the haircut money was gone. I would pull the cap over both ears, and have 2 earaches, until the next payday.

After World War II, when I was a crusty veteran, I discovered the barbershop in the ancient Harrington Hotel in Port Huron. It was across a basement hall from the taproom. A guy could wait his turn at the bar. I used to go downtown for a haircut on Saturday morning and get back home Sunday morning. I kept generously allowing people to go ahead of me. "I'm in no hurry," I'd explain, "I'm waiting for my right side to catch up with my left side."

But I digress. I started to explain to my daughter why her square old man doesn't let his sideburns grow. It is because I would look lopsided. The left sideburn would grow down toward my chin while the right sideburn grew across my ear. To compensate, I would have to lower the heel on my right shoe. It is bad enough that I must buy a whole haircut when I only need half of it: I can not also afford special shoes.

Because she started it all, I am going to make my daughter read all this wisdom. And she'll say, "Boy, what a dumb column." Well, I can't save the world every week. Onward and Upward.

Carillonneur presents concert series at MSU

EAST LANSING - Michigan State University's 47-bell carillon will ring out more often during July as Carillonneur Wendell Westcott presents his annual summer carillon concert series.

"The performances are of a 'pops' nature," says Westcott, "and are planned to reach a general audience." Westcott, an assistant professor of music at MSU, will present the concerts on Sundays at 4 p.m. and Tuesdays and Thursdays at 8 p.m., through Sunday, July 30.

Programs for each concert will be available in the lobby of Beaumont Tower. Those interested in seeing Westcott play the carillon, may climb the stairs to the top of Beaumont Tower and watch him perform. He also conducts tours following each concert.

Westcott, whose musical training includes a diploma with the highest rating from the Carillon School in Mechelen, Belgium, is a frequent guest carillonneur throughout the U.S.

He recently returned from Springfield, Ill., where he performed at the International Carillon Festival. He is the only American carillonneur to be invited there every year since the festival began in 1952.

In his recent book, "Bells and Their Music," Westcott traces the history of bells and carillons from 300 B.C. and also describes the art of casting and tuning carillon bells.

The home economist

Picnics are usually great fun for all - especially during the summer season, but a case of food poisoning can quickly put an end to the carefree days.

We have read of the various cases of food poisoning resulting from food already contaminated before we purchase them; however, the largest majority of food poisoning outbreaks can be traced to mishandling of food in the home.

Food poisoning bacteria thrive in temperatures between 50 degrees and 120 degrees F. This means that food left out on a picnic table or buffet table all day would be particularly susceptible to bacteria growth.

Another place where bacteria thrives is in cooked meat held at a "keep warm" temperature in the oven. This bacteria causes diarrhea and stomach cramps. The symptoms take anywhere from 8-24 hours to develop and usually go away after 8 hours.

Custard pie, potato and chicken salad, sandwich spreads and ham are all very susceptible to bacteria growth when not refrigerated. Carry these in coolers when going on a picnic - or better yet, mix those salads and sandwich spreads once you get at your spot. The great "outdoors" will add a good flavor.

The bug in this case causes severe stomach cramps, vomiting and diarrhea in 1 to 6 hours after eating. The sufferer usually recovers in 6-8 hours.

When preparing raw poultry for the fire be sure it is washed carefully and after cutting it up wash the cutting board with soap and water. The bacteria carried on raw chicken is usually destroyed if the meat is cooked well, but it can very easily be transferred to food that is not going to be cooked or put back on the cooked chicken if the cutting board is not washed with soap.

The chicken bug causes vomiting and diarrhea along with chills and high fever for as long as 2 weeks. Symptoms start from 8 to 24 hours after eating. Everyone knows that food in bulging or leaking cans should not even be tasted. Botulism is fatal in 85% of its cases. The onset takes from 1 day to a week, attacking the nervous system. The first symptom is double vision. But after the symptoms have shown themselves it is usually too late.

Uncooked pork should not be used for outdoor grill food because of the difficulty to get it cooked through. Never serve pink or red pork meat. The bacteria that could be carried in the pork is killed when cooked well, but if not, the trichinae bacteria lodges in a person's muscles and gradually eats away until a person can no longer control his moves. Trichinosis is incurable once a person is infected, so be very careful.

Many times the less serious food poisoning instances are interpreted as a touch of the "flu" or as "something that didn't agree with me."

A little planning with safety in mind can prevent a lot of unhappiness when it comes to family food preparation.

Another newcomer for public election is Democratic candidate James E. Cronk Jr., a self-employed excavating contractor who lives with his wife Carrollee and five children at 5150 Ann Dr., Bath.

A member of the Bath Lions Club, Cronk is president of the Park Lake Improvement League. He is chairman of the Parks and Recreation League of Bath Township and is committee chairman for Cub Scout Pack No. 568.

Love your enemies

By REV. HUGH BANNINGA

Jesus proposes a third new law in the 5th chapter of Matthew. In verses 43-48 He says, "You have heard that it was said, 'You shall love your neighbor and hate your enemy.' But I say to you, Love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you, so that you may be sons of your Father who is in heaven; for he makes his sun rise on the evil and on the good, and sends rain on the just and on the unjust. For if you love those who love you, what reward have you? Do not even the tax collectors do the same? And if you salute only your brethren, what more are you doing than others? Do not even the Gentiles do the same? You, therefore, must be perfect, as your heavenly Father is perfect."

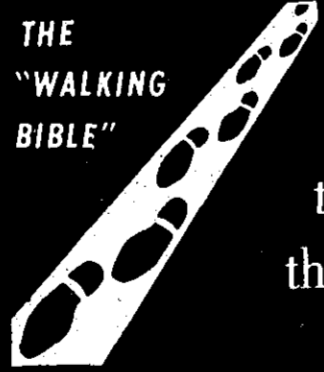

Love your enemies, indeed! Again Jesus has come up with another ridiculous proposal. First, He tells us not to be angry with anybody, because this could lead to murder. And if we are angry with anyone while we are at a worship service, we should get up and leave (right in front of everybody) and go patch up our relationship with that person.

Next, Jesus follows up with a new law on revenge. He says, "If someone hurts you, don't retaliate with hostility. Instead, respond with love, even if you have to endure more suffering."

Yes, this new law on loving your enemies is just as ridiculous as the other two. Ridiculous because it seems an impossibility to achieve. All of you readers probably have some people whom you consider to be your enemies. These are people who have said nasty things about you behind your back or cheated you in a business deal or attempted to belittle your talents or tried to degrade you because you didn't agree with his thinking.

Think about these people right now and how you honestly feel about them. Then remember Jesus' words, "Love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you." Jesus is asking you to love those people in spite of what they have done or will do to you in the future. Jesus says to you, "Why should you expect God to reward you, if you love only the people who love you? Even the pagans do that!"

So what are you going to do about these three new laws? Are you still going to bear grudges and be angry at others? Are you still going to get revenge on the person who hurts you? Are you still going to just love your friends and hate your enemies? Or are you going to let Christ take over your life and let Him put His new laws on anger, revenge and love in your heart?

DNR may cut doe permits

LANSING — The Department of Natural Resources is recommending that Michigan's 1972 take of antlerless deer be cut back 48 per cent from last year's quota, down to only 9,830 animals for the November 15-30 firearm season.

Plans for the reduced harvest will go to the Natural Resources Commission for action at its July 13-14 meeting at Caberfae Lodge, Cadillac.

In the case of the Upper Peninsula, the DNR is calling for a 90 per cent drop in this season's antlerless deer quota. That recommendation accounts for the fact that fawn production above the Straits has been sadly and seriously reduced in face of the last four winters which took a high toll of deer during yarding seasons and sharply undercut survival of young animals in the spring.

In view of the situation, the DNR is proposing that this fall's antlerless deer season in the Upper Peninsula be limited to the southern part of Menominee County below US-2, and even there it is recommending that the harvest of these animals be modestly set at 640.

Throughout the remainder of the Upper Peninsula, bucks-only hunting would be the rule this fall. As DNR game men explain it, most of the region does not have enough surplus deer to make it worthwhile, from a practical management standpoint, to open any other areas to antlerless hunting this fall.

For the northern Lower Peninsula, where antlerless kill quotas have been cut nearly in half during each of the last two seasons, the DNR is calling for another substantial reduction—43 per cent—in the 1972 take of these animals.

Plans to scale down that region's harvest of antlerless deer to 4,980 animals are part of the DNR's recent efforts to promote deer build-ups in areas of northern Lower Michigan where the range shows the potential for carrying more white-tails through the crucial winter period.

Under this approach, boosted by the DNR's stepped-up program of deer habitat improvements, about 60 per cent of the region would be restricted to bucks-only hunting this fall. Of this, a sizable portion covers the southernmost part of the region where range conditions seem particularly ripe for supporting higher deer numbers.

In the southern Lower Peninsula, the DNR is setting its sights upon a harvest of 4,210 antlerless animals during the 1972 season. That

It is pegged to the DNR's attempts to keep southern Michigan's deer populations at maximum levels compatible with "people" interests in that densely-populated part of the state. More than anything else, the DNR's proposed quota for the region is programmed to holding car-deer accidents down as much as possible.

Gov. Milliken test drives AAA Safety belt convincer

Carland News
by Mrs. Pudge Deming

LANSING—Part of a state-wide campaign to encourage all motorists to wear safety belts whenever they drive was held last week in Lansing through the cooperation of Automobile Club of Michigan, Gov. William Milliken and local law enforcement officials.

"The purpose of this campaign is to demonstrate graphically to the public the importance of wearing lap and shoulder belts, which when properly used at all times could reduce traffic deaths 50 per cent in Michigan," states Auto Club Lansing Manager George Olmstead.

"Research has established that if those in the four of every five cars on state roads equipped with safety belts today would use them, at least 1,000 lives could be saved in Michigan each year," Olmstead points out.

"As it is, with less than one-third of this country's drivers wearing safety belts, the Department of Transportation estimates that between 2,500 and 3,000 lives are saved annually by persons who have properly fastened themselves while driving," says Olmstead.

To show the value of lap and shoulder belts, an Auto Club-designed Safety Belt Convincer was demonstrated to Gov. Milliken, the public plus members of local news media in the parking area behind the Capitol (west side).

"The Safety Belt Convincer consists of a sled which rolls down a 15-foot ramp, built on an incline, reaching a speed of seven miles an hour before impact at the bottom," explains Olmstead. "This impact leaves a lasting impression in the rider's mind, but not enough to cause injury. The principal value of the convincer is its ability to get drivers talking about seat belts and shoulder harnesses."

"And a seven-mile an hour impact while riding this unique device convinces most people of the value of wearing safety belts," Olmstead states.

Throughout the summer, The Safety Belt Convincer will be demonstrated at all of Auto Club's 57 offices across the state.

Auto Club points out that with safety belts keeping one secured in place, his chances of staying conscious after an accident are greatly increased.

"When you don't wear safety belts, your biggest danger is ejection from the car," Olmstead says. "And when this occurs, your chances of being killed are five times greater."

"There is no reason to feel trapped, because you can unlock your safety belt and shoulder harness in an instant to get out of your car," reminds Olmstead. "Recent studies by the Trauma Research Group at UCLA show that motorists wearing safety belts should be able to survive 99 per cent of all motor vehicle accidents."

A recent poll of Auto Club members by Motor News Magazine showed that 68 per cent of those responding wore seat belts on long trips while 47 per cent used them on short trips. However, only 19 per cent used shoulder harnesses on long journeys with nine per cent fastening shoulder harnesses on short travels.

"What this indicates to us is that motorists are under the mistaken impression that while longer trips are potentially dangerous, shorter ones, such as to the corner grocery store and back, are not," states Olmstead. "In fact, just the opposite is true."

According to Auto Club, more than half of all injury-producing accidents happen in urban areas and nearly four out of five traffic deaths occur within 25 miles of home.

"This is why we believe there is an urgent need to show motorists the importance of fastening their safety belts every mile they drive," says Olmstead.

"As a result of the Motor News study and our members' response, we urge that the government, auto industry, auto insurers, safety establishment and AAA Clubs join in a massive positive national campaign to educate drivers on the use of safety belts."

The Auto Club-designed Safety Belt Convincer was patterned after a similar model built by the Rocky Mountain AAA Club of Denver, Colorado. It was constructed for the Michigan AAA Club by Ajax Tractor Manufacturers of Warren,

Keep mower in shape

EAST LANSING—It's important to keep lawn mowers and garden tillers in top operating shape, says Steve Bolen, Michigan State University extension specialist.

For equipment powered by an air-cooled engine, the MSU expert suggests that you consider the fuel system first.

"Most problems on small gasoline engines stored for long periods of time are related to the fuel system," Bolen explains. "This is particularly true if the unit was stored with a partially filled fuel tank."

"Fuel stored for a lengthy period of time tends to build gum deposits and varnish formations on the interior surfaces of the tank, fuel lines and carburetor."

To remove these deposits drain the fuel tank, lines and carburetor and then flush with a commercially available solvent or cleaner designed to dissolve these deposits. In severe cases, it may be necessary to remove the carburetor and soak it for several hours in the cleaner.

It is also wise to give the cooling system a quick check, especially if the equipment was used in extremely dirty conditions.

Bolen suggests that you inspect the air passages and cooling fins around the engine cylinder head and block. All air inlets and passages should be free of debris. If necessary, remove the metal shields surrounding the engine to thoroughly inspect and clean the air passages.

Oil level should also be checked on all four-cycle engines. Old or "worn-out" oil should be drained and replaced with clean, high quality lubricant as recommended by the manufacturer.

On two-cycle engines, it may be necessary to inspect and clean the exhaust ports which occasionally become clogged by carbon deposits. This is a common reason for power loss with these engines.

On all engines it is good practice to inspect, clean and regap, or replace the spark plug. Be sure the plug is tightened properly, Bolen cautions.

Maintenance details, along with other suggestions for improving air-cooled engine performance, can be found in the operator's or owner's manual. "Check this information now to be sure you are ready to go later this spring," Bolen says.

Advice is offensive to most people—it never converts them.

GOVERNOR ACTS AS TEST DRIVER

Governor William Milliken receives instructions from William Travnik, assistant manager of the Automobile Club in Lansing, before descending down a 15-foot ramp in a demonstration stressing the importance of safety belts. AAA is conducting a state-wide campaign with the Safety Belt Convincer unit to urge Michigan motorists to buckle up while driving.

BIRTH DATE AND BIRTH DEFECTS

Several years ago, the New York State Health Department started a series of studies, looking into the possible relationship of the date of birth to birth defects.

Preliminary findings of one such study disclosed an unexplained connection between teeth that do not line up properly, and babies born in April, May and June.

The fact was first discovered in a random sampling of 1,413 high school pupils.

Of those with the dental defect, a disproportionate number were born in one of those three months in various years. A follow-up check of other children with known dental defects revealed that a greater than average number also were born in the same months of different years.

Since the children born in April, May or June were conceived nine months previously, in August, September or October, the New York researchers speculated tentatively that infectious agents (germs or viruses), common in the late summer and early fall, might have been involved as the possible cause.

COMPLICATED RESEARCH

Studies of this type are very complex. Merely to obtain the birth dates of many of the children requires checking their birth certificates and sometimes adoption records.

The investigators are interested in circumstances which exist during the child's gestation period, and are based on the comparison of large numbers of cases, so that the identity of individual people is kept strictly confidential.

During the months of bits of information obtained are fed into a computer, to see whether factors not yet regarded as dangerous could be causing birth defects or stillbirths.

PREVIOUS KNOWLEDGE

The method is very sound, and it had been used in the past with very productive results.

For example, it was found at one time that an abnormally large number of babies with cleft palates (harelips) were born in a certain period.

Scientists then checked back into the nine months preceding birth, especially in the month when such a defect is more likely to develop in pregnancy, and searched for a common factor in the mother's environment.

A clear link was detected between rubella (German measles) and cataracts, hearing loss, heart trouble and stillbirths.

So, other children with birth defects may be victims of perils no one has yet considered or discovered.

THALIDOMIDE DISASTER

The studies were developed also because of the shock of public health authorities to the disclosure in Germany in 1962 of the terrible epidemic of birth defects following the use of Thalidomide, a sleeping pill everyone thought was safe, used by mothers-to-be early in their pregnancy. As a result, pregnant women are nowadays advised not to take any medication which is not absolutely necessary, and prescribed by their own doctor.

THE OUNCE OF PREVENTION

In talking about the implications of this study, Dr. Hollis S. Ingraham, New York's Health Commissioner, stated, "If a child is born with a crippled arm, the treatment is the same if he were born in February or August. But, if a statewide survey reveals that an unusually large number of babies born in August have crippled arms, to use a hypothetical illustration, we would like to find out why, in order to help spare children born in future years from suffering such a handicap, when that is possible."

A brilliant, star-studded array of professional entertainers is scheduled to delight audiences for the 31st anniversary presentation of the Chesaning Showboat, July 10-15.

The New Christy Minstrels, a talented ensemble of eight young pop-folk music artists, top a big cast of professional headliners for the colorful river classic's 1972 presentation of Showboat Park on the banks of the Shiawassee River in Chesaning.

Audiences at this year's six-day run of Showboat will be treated to a versatile presentation of high-level family entertainment, featuring the internationally famous New Christy Minstrels. The popular, handsome group of young stars, consisting of five boys and three girls, will delight audiences with an assorted variety of spirited numbers for which the New Christy Minstrels are widely known.

Chesaning showboat ready

Sharing the spotlight with the New Christy Minstrels will be singing star Paul Lennon, who has appeared with such top personalities as Milton Berle, Mickey Rooney and Edie Adams. Lennon, who has delighted audiences on the Mike Douglas television show, has also been a featured performer with Herb Alpert and the Tijuana Brass, The Supremes, the Lennon Sisters, Paul Anka and Frankie Avalon, and is in popular demand at the Frontier Hotel in Las Vegas and the Plaza Hilton Hotel in Miami.

Appearing with these featured headliners will be the Swiss-born Goetschi Brothers, Hans and Karl, with a hilarious routine of music, dancing and pantomime which critics acclaim as the freshest, most original comedy act of today.

Another featured act scheduled for Showboat's nightly performances is the fast-moving magic displays of Kramer & Co., a breathtaking presentation highlighted by a burning coffin, feats of levitation, and other sleight-of-hand artistry.

Other highlights of the lively, fast-paced Shiawassee River show will include nightly performances by Central Michigan's top amateur vaudeville and novelty entertainers, with five acts scheduled to compete each night, Monday through Friday, of Showboat's six-day run. Nightly winners will vie for the grand prize to be awarded at the concluding performance on Saturday, July 15. In addition, the rollicking river spectacle will include the Showboat Chorus, the Edwina Wright Rockettes, and the ever-popular comedy antics of Showboat's End Men and Captain Bob Rhode.

Research reveals people tend to oppose change

ANN ARBOR
Remember when you swore you'd never wear a miniskirt? Or when you scoffed at long hair on men?
Compare your initial and present reactions to classical music, avocados or Picasso.
"Our typical response to anything new is negative," says University of Michigan psychologist Robert B. Zajonc. "Novelty is apparently associated with uncertainty and conflict, which are likely to produce tension and discomfort. Familiarity, on the other hand, is comfortable." What then makes an attitude change from aversion to acceptance to attachment?

"Sheer exposure," says Zajonc, professor of psychology and program director of the Research Center for Group Dynamics in the U-M Institute for Social Research (ISR). He looked for the "minimal conditions" that would increase an individual's attraction toward an unfamiliar person, object or concept. Zajonc's experiments varied widely, but the results were the same: the more often a person comes in contact with something or someone, the more favorable he tends to feel toward them.

In other words, familiarity does not breed contempt at all; it's quite the opposite. The advertising industry has long capitalized on this tendency in promoting new products, Zajonc notes. "But it insists upon attractive exposure—usually accompanying the merchandise with a seductive woman. We have found that exposure alone is sufficient."

In one experiment, Kajonc and Don W. Rajecki, also a psychologist at ISR, published a set of Turkish-like words in the student newspapers at the U-M and Michigan State University. "Kadirga," "Iktitaf," and other nonsense words appeared without explanation in column-inch boxes each day for several weeks. Some were "advertised" once or twice; others, up to 25 times.

Then a questionnaire with the five test words along with seven other nonsense words was circulated to subscribers and classroom students.
"They were asked whether a particular word had a good or a bad meaning," Zajonc explains. "The result: the readers liked the words that had appeared most often, even though they had no idea what they meant or why they had been in the newspaper."
Similar results occurred when Zajonc asked his research subjects to indicate a preference for common English antonyms. By a wide margin, the participants liked "on" more than "off," "up" better than "down," "in" better than "out." In nearly every case, Zajonc notes, they preferred the word which occurs most frequently in the English language.

He asked another group to rank a list of cities, countries, flowers and fruits in order of preference. Again, the more frequently the word occurred in written language, the higher its rating.

Apple, cherry and strawberry topped the fruit list, with gossyberry and mango placing ninth and tenth.
Politicians are wise to the power of the printed word, Zajonc notes. For example, he says, in a student election at San Diego State University, Brad Tuftt campaigned without making any speeches or public appearances. His name, however, appeared everywhere—on posters, bumper stickers and T-shirts. Brad Tuftt, age two, won the election.

Repeated exposure is likely to elicit a favorable reaction even when efforts are being made to the contrary, says the U-M psychologist. "Studies have suggested that the American Medical Association's $12 million propaganda campaign against Medicare may have produced just the opposite effect. Debate over its merits increased public interest in a national health insurance and gradually made the public more receptive."

Must repeated exposure always cause a positive shift of opinion? Isn't there a saturation point, after which one comes to like a given object or person less and less?

"Certainly," Zajonc explains, "but it's caused by the unadulterated repetition of the object, not by the object itself."

Try playing the sound track of "South Pacific" each evening for a couple of weeks or wearing the same outfit. "It is not the object you grow irritated with, but the recurrence of it. If you take 'South Pacific' out and play it after long intervals, boredom doesn't occur and the increase in attraction is maintained. The difference is subtle but important," Zajonc says.

The exposure effect works best in connection with someone or something you have never seen before, toward which your feelings are neutral, he adds, noting that if you have had a childhood aversion to turnip greens or grass snakes, new exposures are not likely to change it.

Zajonc theorizes that exposure is the primary mechanism through which social bonds are formed in many species of animals. It creates the first attachment between a mother and her young. It produces cohesion in families, ethnic groups and societies.

"Yet the negative effects of unaltered repetition will cause men and animals to overcome their innate fear of novelty. Exposure creates stability, while over-exposure produces a capacity for change," Zajonc says.

St. Johns station processes 45,000 eggs hourly

By LEE PETERS
News Staff Writer

ST. JOHNS — There's a good chance the egg you ate for breakfast was processed right here in St. Johns. Over 45,000 eggs are being turned out hourly at the St.

Johns Egg Station at 2500 N. US-27. A workday at the 17,500 square-foot plant, starts

Monday through Friday at 7 a.m. when the first of two shifts arrives. Eggs are trucked in from a 150-mile radius from poultry raisers, egg producers or contract flocks.

Processing is completely automatic with eggs never handled by humans. After being loaded on a conveyor belt, they are washed with a sanitizing egg detergent and dried. Next comes oiling to seal pores and act as a preservative.

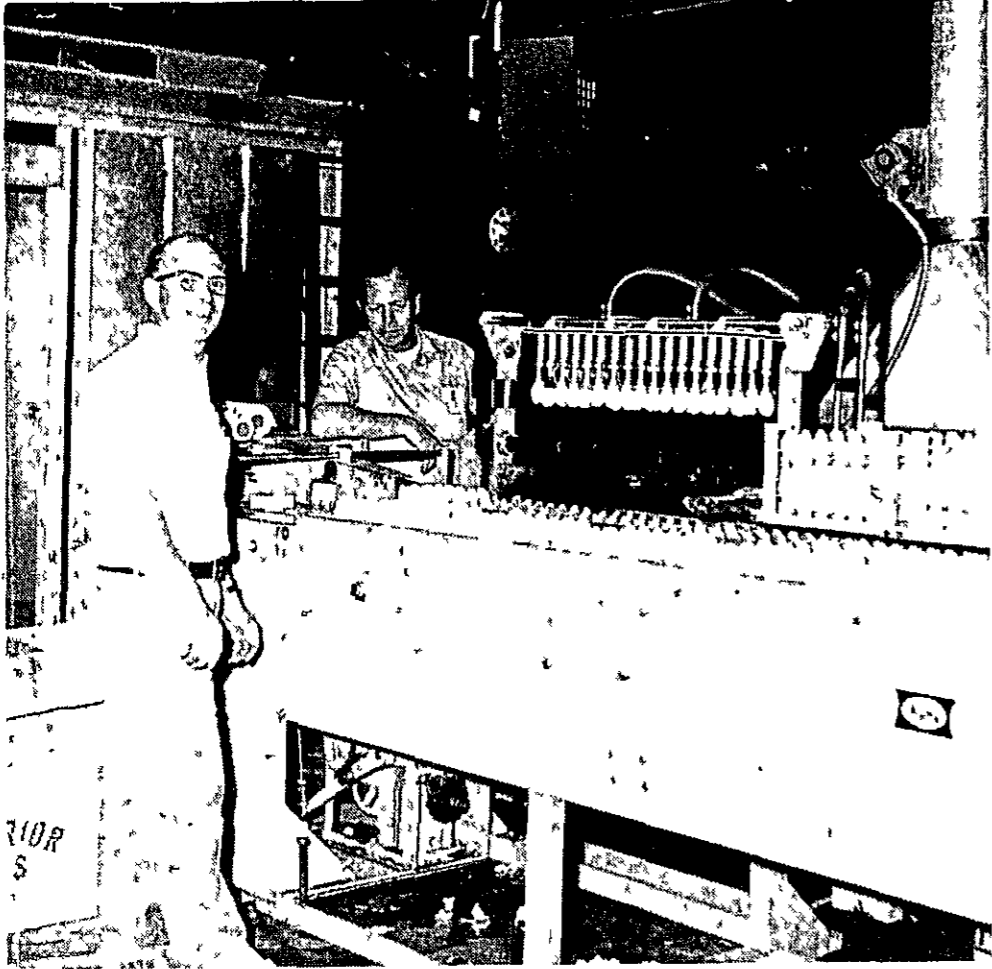

To quality check for bloods and cracks, eggs are viewed through a light or candled. Only Grade A are marketed. All undergrade are sold to the United States Department of Agriculture for use in products such as frozen or dried eggs.

Weighing follows. Sizes range from Jumbo which must total 30 ounces per dozen to the Pee Wees at 15 ounces. Others are Extra Large, Large, Medium and Small. The Michigan State Department of Agriculture and U.S.D.A. set standards and maintain regular inspections.

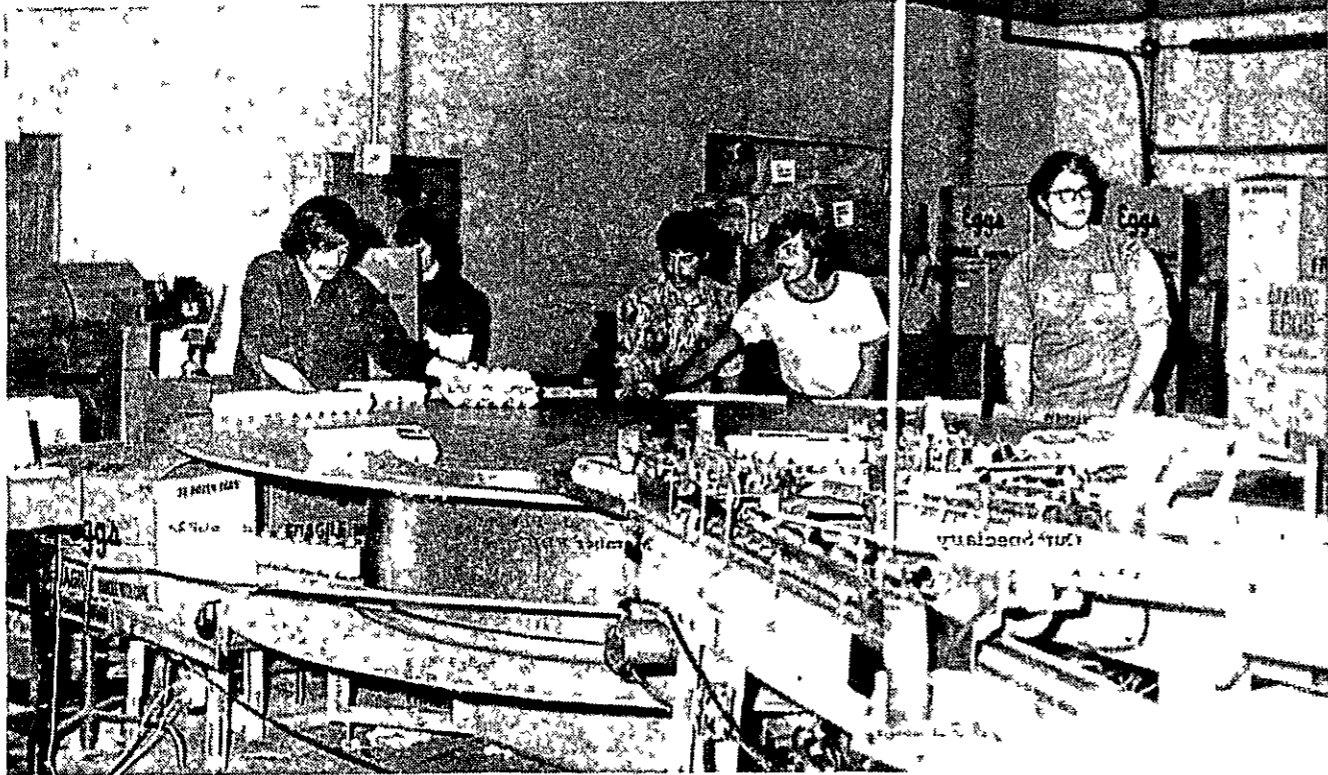

Packers carton the eggs and then off they go to be packed into 24 or 30 dozen cases. Eggs are refrigerated from the time they're laid until the housewife makes her purchase. Temperatures are kept from 45 to 50 degrees. The actual processing period takes only minutes. The plant has a capacity of 1,500 cases for two shifts.

This is the St. Johns Egg Station where 45,000 eggs are processed hourly.

Eggs are located on a conveyor belt to begin processing. Keeping a watchful eye are foreman, Robert Massey, foreground, and Pat Massey, manager.

These five workers are kept busy packing eggs for wholesale buyers all over Michigan. Boxes hold 24 or 30 dozen.

Farmers prepare for wheat harvest

LANSING — According to William Vanderbeek, Member of the Michigan State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Committee, Michigan wheat farmers are taking a long look at their anticipated 1972 crop with harvest to start within the next week or so.

Reports of winter kill and other damage to wheat have been wide-spread in several Michigan areas; however, crop estimates still indicate a 1972 crop about the same as for 1971.

"Producers are reminded that 1972 crop wheat may be eligible for price support loan only if the producer had signed up under the Wheat Set-Aside Program. Use of the price support loan program permits producers to obtain low-cost financing at harvest and to hold their crops, such as wheat, until later in the season when the market price is usually better.

Arthur Rowley, also a Member of the Michigan State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Committee, reminded farmers with 1971 crop corn under loan that the maturity date is July 31, about a month away. He emphasized that producers with acceptable farm storage may continue their loan under the resale loan program through May 3, 1973, if they apply at the local County ASCS Office. Rowley also noted that producers with warehouse-stored loans may extend their loans through May 31, 1973, giving them an opportunity to find a better market for their 1971 corn. This announcement was just recently made by the Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz, as an additional tool to help farmers market their 1971 crop corn. Producers, he added, who do not want a loan but have corn eligible under the program, may obtain price protection by signing a purchase agreement by July 31, 1972. CCC will purchase his corn after August 1 at the support rate which, in Michigan, averages between 1.11 and 1.14 per bushel.

Clinton students visit CMU

MT. PLEASANT — Four Clinton County residents were among over 1,100 students planning to transfer to Central Michigan University this fall who participated in one-day orientation sessions held on the campus in June.

They were Delores Schrauben, 10741 E. 2nd St., Fowler; Barbara A. Vance, Route 1, Pewamo; Diane R. Barnes, 427 Meadowview, St. Johns, and Thomas J. Doyle, 308 Wight St., St. Johns.

Michael J. Paparella, coordinator, community college relations, in CMU's admissions office, reported that each group of up to 200 acquainted with the University.

Austin J. Buchanan, CMU's director of admissions, explained that the orientation, the first to be organized at the University for transfer students, enabled the students to meet some of their instructors and orient themselves to the campus. It also provided them with the opportunity to register prior to the beginning of the fall semester, Aug. 28, and to be briefed on University policies which would affect them as students.

The day-long programs opened with a general session at the University Center where all orientation activities were held. A question and answer period preceded meetings with academic advisers from every department.

For students interested in teacher education programs, a special half-hour presentation was made by representatives from CMU's School of Education. Participating was Robert G. Oana, chairman, Early Childhood and Elementary Education; Harold E. Telfer, chairman, Secondary Education; Charles Pisoni, Student Teaching, and Robert J. Sullivan, teacher certification officer.

Registration procedures were explained by William Dunham, assistant registrar.

There are 50 men and women employees.

Boss at the St. Johns Egg Station is Pat Massey, who purchased the business in 1965. Before he took ownership, the local man managed the plant for seven years at its old location at 312 N. Clinton. When it was incorporated in '69, Massey became president with his wife Susie as secretary.

Confidentially, Massey admits he likes eggs. After all, they're his bread and butter.

...and that's no "yoke!"

Billboard permits required

LANING - Billboard owners can obtain permit applications and other forms required under Michigan's new billboard control law at various state, county and municipal offices starting today.

Under the new law, which took effect this month, a state permit is required for most of the billboards along Michigan's nearly 7,000 miles of interstate and primary highways. The exceptions are signs offering to sell or lease the property on which they stand and signs advertising activities conducted or maintained on the property on which they stand.

Also exempted are directional and other official signs, including those pertaining to natural wonder, scenic and historical attractions if they are authorized by law and comply with Department regulations on size, lighting and spacing. The permit cost is three dollars per year for each sign.

Permit applications will be available at the State Highways Building in Lansing and at the Department's nine district offices and 35 maintenance garages. They also can be obtained at offices of the 62 county road commissions and 164 municipalities which maintain state highways within their respective boundaries under contract with the Highway Department.

Permits will be processed only at Department district offices. Deadline for applications is Sept. 3.

The new law allows cities, villages and charter townships, and other townships of more than 50,000 population to adopt their own ordinances to regulate the size, spacing and lighting of billboards. However, they must be at least as restrictive as the state law.

If you have a son, husband, relative or friend serving in the Armed Forces, mail us the information requested below along with a picture and it will appear in the Fourth Annual Clinton County News Salute to Servicemen in August. To keep misspelled names to a minimum, please print or type. And remember, the deadline by which we must receive this material is Monday, July 26. Send this information to:

State highway officials advise billboard owners to determine if such ordinances exist in the communities where the signs are located. The Highway Department has begun an inventory of billboards along all the highways covered by the control law. It will be the basis for determining which boards are non-conforming under the new law. Henceforth, all billboards on Interstate and primary highways must be located in a business area or in an unzoned commercial or industrial area and must conform with size, spacing and lighting requirements. All signs that were erected legally and which have since become non-conforming under the new law will be removed upon payment of just compensation to the billboard owners and to the owners of land on which they stand. The federal government is expected to pay most of the cost.

Hylar, Anderson retiring

Longtime rural carriers deliver mail for last time

It won't be the same at the St. Johns Post Office anymore. Friday, June 30, was the last day on the job for two of its longtime workers. Ronald Hylar, left, of 801 Church St., delivered mail to his customers on Route 6 for the last time. Hylar joined the post office May 25, 1942, and served continuously except for two years of military service. He was promoted to rural carrier Aug. 8, 1962. The folks on Route 3 have lost a friend too. Warren Anderson won't be stopping off with the mail anymore. Anderson of 609 W. Higham has a total of 26 years service, with four years military service. He was promoted to rural carrier Jan. 1, 1963. Hylar wants to do more fishing and hunting now and to keep on buying and selling antiques. After he does a few chores around the house, Anderson's going to paint and sculpt and enjoy his grandchild. Taking over for the two retirees are William Spellman, Route 6, and Jay McKay, Route 3.

4-H CHATTER

By JOHN AYLSWORTH

"Reach Out" was the theme for the State 4-H Youth Exploration Day Program June 22-24 at Michigan State University. Over 3500 4-H members and leaders attended the optional training sessions June 22-23 with an additional 1200 who attended 4-H In Action Day on June 24.

Members of the Willing Workers 4-H Club under the leadership of Viola Rossow and Jean Dilts prepared samples of vegetables to pass out to the audience as they passed the horticulture booth. The different food samples included french fried mushrooms, pickled cauliflower, marinated cucumber, carrot bread, glazed carrot slices and squash. The recipes demonstrated by the girls were new to many people who enjoyed the food samples and wrote down the recipes.

Denise and Darlene Cerny of Nimble Fingers and Chris Howe of Olive 4-H Projects performed at the 4-H Share the Fun talent program June 22 at Exploration Days and did an excellent performance.

Clinton County had 32 members attending the optional training sessions on June 22-23 with an additional 100 or more youth and adults attending the 4-H In Action Day. The Westphalia 4-H Club chartered a bus and had over 50 members and parents attending on 4-H Action Day.

The 4-H Teen Leaders will be meeting Thursday, July 6, 8 p.m. at Smith Hall. Harry Moldenhauer and Patty Fox, 4-H Public Speaking Contest winners, will give their talks before the District Contest July 7. Final plans for the canoe trip July 8-9 will be discussed.

The Highland Hills 4-H members have elected Tammy Harris as president for the "summer" program. Other officers include Marty Bruin-vice president; Renee Leseney-secretary-treasurer-news reporter. The members voted to have dues of $1 each for the year. The Horse Show on June 25 was discussed as well as members horse problems. The members practiced their horsemanship under the leadership of Johanna Harris and Judy Matice.

The Happy Hustlers 4-H members learned more about the leader dog program as Dawn Archer and Lu Ann Thelen demonstrated with their dogs "Ben" and "Nicky" what the dogs have to learn and do before becoming a leader dog. The members discussed the county 4-H foods meeting and the members food tour to the A & P store in learning about the different kinds of cheese. The club's next activity will be a club picnic at the City Park July 10. The Vining sisters did a tap dance that won them one of the top acts in the 4-H Talent Contest.

The Tail Waggers 4-H members, parents and leaders toured the Leader Dog School For The Blind at Rochester. "Ben", Dawn Archer's dog, was accepted and "Misty", Sandy Webster's dog, was not accepted because of people shy. The group saw the film "She'll Never Walk Alone" and afterward Harold L. Pocklington, Director of the School, spoke to the group about the school, training program and the value the 4-H members were doing for the blind people.

The Merry Makers 4-H members went as a club to visit the 4-H Youth Exploration Day program at MSU June 24. The members voted to make favors for nursing homes, a litter barrel and float for the 4-H Fair in August. Officers elected earlier this year included Donna Davis-president; Doug Davis-vice president; Leslie Wardwell-secretary; Ellen Personious-treasurer; Teresa Clark-news reporter and Kim Clark-recreation leader.

A number of Stoney Creek 4-H members and parents attended the State 4-H Livestock Judging session at the Caldron Curran Beef Ranch near Jackson. The members plan to have a litter barrel and float entry in the 4-H Fair. Leslie Kuenzli told about her experiences at Yankee Springs. The next meeting will be July 10 at the church.

The Ear Floppers 4-H members enjoyed a trip to the Detroit Zoo. Terry Doerner represented the club in the County 4-H Public Speaking Contest. Kathy Glanz and Kirk Barnard.

4-H Softball game results from the June 23 weekend include Green League, Kountry Kousins I over St. Johns FFA; Fowler Busy Bees over Victor; Charlie's Gang over Bengal Community and Kountry Kousins II over Prairie. The Teen Leaders won over Fowler Busy Bees. In the White League Olive 4-H Boys over Kountry Kousins.

AG In ACTION

Rising retail meat prices made front page news earlier this year and some people are dragging it up again.

During April, a decline in the retail price of beef and pork seemed to calm the public furor, but no one wrote stories about the decline. When the Price Commission investigated beef prices the real facts came to light. Farmers and ranchers had nothing to hide. They were finally receiving the same price for beef on the hoof they did twenty years ago.

Beef price is basically determined by consumer demand. If demand surges upward, the price of beef will climb. If demand falls off, beef prices will drop.

The desire for beef on our tables has been increasing. In fact, in the last twenty years, annual beef consumption per person in this country has doubled from 56 pounds per person to 115 pounds today.

Several factors are responsible for the increase. According to Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz, "Rising real wages have had a marked effect upon buying habits. People want beef and, as they have enjoyed more and more real wages, they have been buying more and more beef and better quality beef, too. This is by far the greatest single factor in increasing beef consumption." Butz also pointed out that the substantial increase in the Food Stamp Program has played a major role in meat prices. "In April of 1972, 11.5 million people were participating in the Food Stamp Program. One of the first items purchased with added dollars in the food budget by consumers eligible for Food Stamps is meat, preferably beef," according to Butz.

Farmers are increasing beef production to meet consumers' demands, but we must remember the simple fact that a cow produces just one calf a year which can be kept for increased production or put on the market as beef.

Ice cream man attracts attention with music

By LEE PETERS
News Staff Writer

ST. JOHNS — "I scream, you scream... we all scream for ice cream."

And St. Johns kids are no exception as Peter Strums can tell you. He's the Clinton county seat's answer to the Good Humor Man.

The 22-year-old Okemos man began making the rounds locally for a national company around June 1. He's out greeting ice cream lovers daily except Monday when he takes a much needed rest and a replacement takes over.

Strums loads his converted U.S. Mail panel truck with goodies in DeWitt at 10 a.m. He arrives in St. Johns around noon ready for business. He's divided the city into areas and drives mainly east and west streets. It's his policy to cover no section twice. At 9 p.m., he's ready to call it a day.

You can't buy much for five cents nowadays, but one thin dime will get you an ice milk bar or a fudge-sicle. Big spenders hand over a quarter for a "Bomb-

Pop." The ultimate is the Jumbo Malt Cup for 30¢. What's the biggest seller? Strums admits it's the 10-centers, because as he says,

"kids can always manage to scrap up a dime." He doesn't keep tabs on the number he sells but knows its dozens and dozens and dozens.

A sun shiny day means the youngsters will be sitting on the curb awaiting his arrival.

"Business goes down on rainy days," Strums says, "but not enough to not do it." He works on commission and is always willing to oblige a potential customer.

Requests range from "I want that brown thing," from a freckle-faced four-year-old to "what's that thing that's brown all over, shaped like an arrow and ice cream in the middle?" One adult buyer asked for two—one for now and one for later. They come in handy, she laughed.

The Jumbo man's impending arrival is announced by a catchy tune played on an 8-track recorder. "I guess the song is 'Ole King Cole,'" tells Strums, who has studied psychology and chemical engineering at MSU three years. "I don't notice it anymore," he added, "and turning it on and off at each stop comes automatically.

Strums says this is the first job he's had where he gets a chance to meet people and that St. Johns is a great place to work. Already he's attracted quite a following. His new friends even have a nick name for the mod ice cream man and his brightly painted truck.

They call it "Pete's Treats."

Customers come in all sizes for a treat from the St. Johns "Good Humor Man," Peter Strums. Ice cream is on sale every day in every section of the city.

Modular Homes Feature 5 Floor Plans & 8 Elevations

Manufacturer of Custom Built . . . And Modular Homes

Style master has been in existence since 1956 when Joseph J. Lebrato and Charles R. Lebrato, residential builders in the Fort Wayne area for thirty years founded the manufacturing company. Anticipating a growing market in the State of Michigan Stylemaster selected St. Johns as the-home of Michigan plant and construction was completed in February, 1971.

Under the general management of Ralph Lebrato the plant started production in April of that year. Since that time over 200 homes have been manufactured and delivered throughout the state. These homes have included both the modular type and the custom designed and manufactured panel homes.

Lebrato explained that once the plans for a custom built home have been completed those portions which are to be manufactured can be completed in less than a day.

The modular homes . . . any one of five floor plans and eight elevations, plus the choice of many options . . . are produced in three weeks.

The modular unit is then shipped to the owners foundation and after about a week's preparation, is ready to live in.

All homes are manufactured to Boca, F.H.A., V.A. and Farmer's Home specifications and meet or exceed local and state building codes.

While over 50 Stylemaster homes are now located in the immediate Mid-Michigan area the company has also participated in developments. Many of the St. Johns produced homes are in Albion. Albion has a 100 unit project of townhouses and single family units financed by the Michigan State Housing Development Authority.

Involvement in other projects of similar nature are now pending.

St. Johns Serves The State

While Salesmanager John Cockrum receives many inquiries about Stylemaster homes at the plant the company deals mainly with franchised agent-builders located throughout the state. These agent-builders work closely with Stylemaster's area representative.

Currently four representatives co-ordinate the activities of over 20 agent-builders and are seeking more agents to serve the growing market.

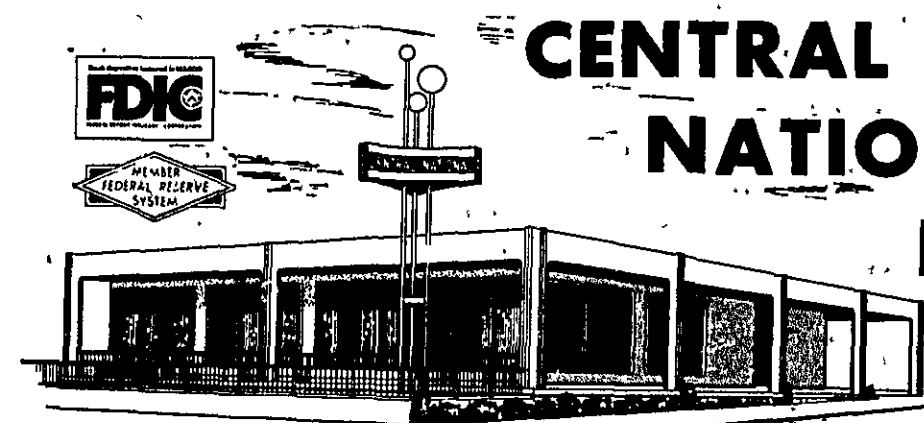

The agent-builder works with the customer and the Stylemaster representative. If a modular home is selected, the customer chooses from five floor plans, eight elevations and many options.

If the customer desires a custom home, he has the resources of the builder and Stylemaster at his disposal. Stylemaster is not limited to any size, style or price. Stylemaster homes has produced homes ranging from $16,500.00 to over $200,000.00.
