Carson City ready to celebrate centennial

CARSON CITY—Church bells will ring, factory whistles will scream and fire department sirens will blare Tuesday, July 11, at 9 a.m., to signal the start of Carson City's Centennial.

This commemorative event, marking 100 years of existence for the Montcalm county community, will begin Tuesday, July 11, and continue through Sunday, July 16.

The highlight of the daily festivities will be an outdoor pageant entitled, "Bustles, Bonnets and Beards", to be presented nightly, July 11-15, at the Carson City High School athletic field.

A STAGE PLAY of grandiose dimensions—283 local residents, wearing colorful authentic costumes, will perform on an outdoor setting 250 feet long and utilizing 300 feet of scenery—"Bustles, Bonnets and Beards" will recount the 100-year history of Carson City, named after the famous western trailblazer, Kit Carson.

Under the direction of Edward Horner Jr., director for the John B. Rogers Production Company, the world's largest organizers of outdoor theatricals, the 100-anniversary spectacular will be a display of authenticity.

AS THE STORY unfolds on-stage, people of yesteryear will come to life. The Indians, the original settlers of the area, will re-appear, as will the early hardy pioneers who cleared the land and planted the first seeds of civilization.

Dignitaries, statesmen and just the plain folk of what was then a striving village, will again be seen in reproduced surroundings and places that used to be.

Also appearing as 100 years' time magically rushes by in a few hours will be the "Gay 80's" dandies and belles, the World War I personalities and many more characters from the city's past.

Indian ceremonial dances and old-fashioned, foot-tapping square dances, reminiscent of two differing and often warring societies, will be re-enacted.

These and the tools and vehicles—the Conestoga wagon, surreys and the "horseless carriage"—which were part of history and which made history, will all be presented to make this a most memorable event for anyone and everyone who witnesses it.

PRECEDING THE PLAY each night, amidst royal pomp and splendor, the Queen of Carson City and her Court of Princesses will be introduced to the audience.

The girl to whom will be bestowed the title "Miss Carson City Centennial," and who will reign as queen over this once-in-a-life-time occasion will truly be the choice of the people.

They will have the opportunity to elect the contestant of their choice by purchasing from her a specially priced advance coupon, which has attached to it a stub worth 1,000 votes to the selling candidate. In addition, the coupon entitles the holder to an admission ticket to "Bonnets, Bustles and Beards."

FIREWORKS demonstrations, bringing to a fitting climax the activities of each day, will also be provided for the enjoyment of the people who attend the Carson City Centennial.

July 4th spirit high despite nagging rains

Nagging rain showers and cool temperatures on Sunday evening limited attendance somewhat, but St. Johns' Fourth of July celebration was getting fairly good public participation through its first three days.

The St. Johns Fire Department's big fire works spectacular Tuesday night was expected to swell attendance, with perhaps as many as 10,000 watching.

While the out-of-town Crown Amusement Co. carnival provided the big drawing card for crowds Saturday and Sunday and Monday evening, there was plenty of local participation in the celebration.

THE ANNUAL TALENT show put on by the Lions and Rotary clubs was held both Saturday and Sunday evenings, and after the final acts Sunday $100 in local gift certificates were awarded to the winners.

"The Bent Scepters," rock 'n' roll group from DeWitt, was judged the best act in the show, and Brad Edwards, 17, Mike Mollitor, 16, Rick Kohl, 16, and Roger Krizinski, 16, shared the top prize of a $30 certificate.

Placing second and sharing a $20 prize were Wendy Smith, 11, and Marla Motz, 12, of rural St. Johns who combined to put on a marionette show. Vocalist Patricia Courser, 15, of St. Johns, placed third, and Scott Younglove, 9, of DeWitt was fourth; they both received $15 certificates. Sam Younglove with a piano solo was fifth and got a $10 certificate. Dave Dush, 13, Tom Lynch, 12, and Dennis Leveck, 14, making up a rock 'n' roll group called the 18th Century Drawing Room, shared a $10 certificate for sixth place.

PARTICIPATING Saturday night but being rained out before completing her act was Doris Hoffman of Lansing with a jazz piano act. Rhonda Woodbury on the piano provided opening musical features each evening.

Over on the carnival midway, the Rotary and Lions Club operated a food stand, the Lions had a dunking booth, and the Boy Scouts of America were in the popcorn business.

St. Johns firemen gave away two children's bicycles Saturday afternoon at the conclusion of Kid's Day on the carnival midway. The bikes were won by Marguerita Martinez and Dave Wager.

St. Johns firemen were to light up the night sky over St. Johns Tuesday night with their biggest-ever display of fireworks in celebration of the Fourth of July. The fireworks was expected to draw about 10,000 persons.

Eight Clinton County young men will be inducted into the U.S. Army this month and another 16 are being called up for pre-induction physicals.

THE 16 MEN BEING called for physical examinations will leave for those medical tests July 26. They include:

The August draft call will be for 15 men, the draft board office reported, and they will leave Aug. 1. Fifty-five men will be called up in August for medical exams. None of those names have yet been announced.

Phone base rate area expanded

The Michigan Public Service Commission has authorized the enlargement of the base rate (flat rate) area of the St. Johns exchange of General Telephone Co. of Michigan.

General Telephone plans to add 5 3/4 square miles immediately surrounding the present exchange area which will bring 126 customers into the base rate calling area where urban telephone service will be available without mileage charges.

Of the 126 customers in the area to be added, 32 urban service customers no longer will be required to pay mileage charges and the 92 residence rural multi-party customers will be able to choose residence one-party, two-party, or four-party service at appropriate rates. Since the rate for residence four-party service is 45 cents less per month than the rate for residence rural multi-party service, no customer will be required to pay increased monthly charges.

HOWEVER, THE TWO business rural multi-party customers in the area will be required to accept business one-party service at an increase in rate of $3.10 monthly. In addition, 19 customers located outside the proposed addition to the base rate area who are now receiving urban service with the application of exchange line mileage charges will experience a reduction in mileage cost.

"This area to be added is experiencing rapid urban development and we expect this trend to continue," Peter B. Spivak, commission chairman said. "It is proper that telephone service to this area be upgraded."

The base rate area revision will be effective with the December 1967 billing for St. Johns customers.

Ionia-escapee captured here

An escapee from the Ionia State Reformatory was captured in St. Johns Sunday after he had been spotted riding a stolen bicycle.

The escapee, Raymond Rudder, 21, was picked up by city police Officer Brad Schirmer while walking on North Clinton Avenue. The man claimed to be a Paul Anderson, but a picture of the escapee forwarded from Ionia proved him to be the wanted man.

The bicycle Rudder had ridden into town was recovered in a downtown alley and returned to its owner, John Fedewa of Fowler. Rudder reportedly had stolen a car at Ionia first but wrecked it and then stole a bicycle, which he rode to just west of Fowler where he took Fedewa's.

Rudder was serving a term of two to 15 years at Ionia for breaking and entering. He escaped shortly after midnight Saturday.

YARD LIGHT BROKEN Ray Torpey of 409 E. Buchanan reported to city police Friday that someone had broken off his yard light during the night before.

OK $11,300 improvements at schools this summer

Some $11,300 or more in improvements to existing school facilities this summer were approved by the St. Johns Board of Education last Wednesday evening.

About $7,500 of the cost will be to meet requirements of the state fire marshal for the high school and Central School buildings.

The board approved this work at the high school: move drafting room door to within 25 feet of exit; install fire door on boys' physical education office; rehang classroom doors in old section so they swing outward and equip them with non-locking hardware; install smoke detection equipment in attic; complete electrical work indicated by inspection.

AT CENTRAL SCHOOL these improvement steps will be taken: enclose basement stairwells with fire doors; provide mullions on present fire doors; install solid core door on old kitchen; enclose fan with block wall; install fire door and block up window in basement storage room; install non-locking hardware on special education room; replace basement wood columns with brick; install fire door to attic; install eight exit lights on outside exits; install fire door on old coal bunker.

Other improvement projects approved by the board last week were to blacktop the remainder of the high school parking lot and drive; blacktop sidewalk and approach at the maintenance building and sealcoat coal bunker, all at Central; create a gravel parking lot on the north side of Swegles School; and repair brick parapet at Olive Center School.

THE BOARD'S SPECIAL meeting last Wednesday was called particularly to get a look at fiscal-year-end finances of the school. It is still too early for final figures, but indications are expenditures for the year will be about $10,000 more than income—a situation slightly better than what the budget last year called for. The total budget adopted last year was $1,454,356.

The board resolved to borrow funds for the coming school year to meet expenses until state aid is received in September and until tax money is received this winter. New state law prevents the school from drawing its state aid money in advance—as in previous years—so the school will have to borrow funds.

In other business: The board approved a bid for $1,026.65 for 74 rods of chain length fence to fence in the property of A. D. Munros on Townsend Road, which is now surrounded on three sides by property the school district owns for the new high school.

Bids on 15 new electric typewriters were opened but were tables until the regular July 12 meeting to allow time for the business department to go over the bids.

THE BOARD APPROVED the school custodial and maintenance contract for the new year. They also approved a new septic tank and field at the Eureka School site at an additional cost of about $1,100.

2 government dates shuffled

The St. Johns City Commission and Clinton County Board of Supervisors meetings for July have been rescheduled because of conflicts with the holiday.

The city commission, which normally would have met Tuesday evening postponed their meeting 24 hours and it was to have been held Wednesday evening (July 5).

The board of supervisors normally meets the first Monday of each month but because of the holiday the meeting was postponed for one week. It will begin at 10 a.m. next Monday, July 10.

Dozes, crashes

Richard L. Nickels, 24, of Durand was unhurt after he fell asleep at the wheel of his car and it hit a road sign at the intersection of North Lansing Street and US-27 about 12:35 a.m. Monday. Nickels was driving south at the time.

No answer yet on renewal

The Housing and Urban Development agency has not yet given the City of St. Johns the "no" answer on their urban renewal application expected after the second defeat of a charter amendment proposal June 21.

Chances are no answer will come for three to four months. The agency notified city officials it is processing the application through the normal channels, which normally takes from 90 to 120 days to complete. The application was filed in early June.

The application being discussed is the one for phase one of the project, which involves the southernmost four blocks of the downtown area facing Clinton Avenue. The city's local cash share on that phase would be $140,040, in addition to credits for public buildings now existing.

The total urban renewal project is pegged at $1.2 million.

Road Commission Weekly Report

The Board of Clinton County Road Commissioners held their regular meeting on Monday, July 3. Chairman, Paul Nobis, was not present. He is visiting his son in Europe. The commissioners opened bids for the July and August requirements for gasoline, and bids for placing a bituminous mat on the approaches to the Island Road bridge at Elsie.

THE BOARD discussed right-of-way purchases for construction projects, specifically on the extension of State Road in DeWitt Township.

The blacktopping and dust control programs were held up this week. Maintenance crews have been unable to catch up with the patching of blacktops and the maintenance of gravel roads since the spring breakup. Thus, all other programs have been suspended and we are going to work on road surfaces in an effort to make them more driveable, although we realize that such a serious breakup cannot be entirely erased.

THE COMMISSION also discussed the sale of the gravel pit, in DeWitt Township, for use as a site for the sewage disposal plant.

ON THE MIDWAY AT THE FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION

The Crown Amusement Co. midway provided the big drawing card for crowds of Clinton area people during the first three days of the Fourth of July celebration in St. Johns over the weekend. Sponsoring St. Johns firemen, Rotarians and Lions noted fairly good attendance despite nagging bad weather at times during the first days.

Tri-County education project gets no funds

The Nature Way Assn. announced that the Eaton County Intermediate School District failed to receive this year's federal subsidy for the operational phase of their Tri-County Outdoor Education Project. Last year, they were granted $33,400 with which to develop the project.

Under the sponsorship of the Nature Way Assn., of Greater Lansing and intermediate boards of education of Clinton, Ingham and Eaton counties, this outdoor-conservation education program is different not only in its approach but in its method of instruction.

INSTEAD OF solely using the formal classroom, the association has at its disposal Woldumar, a combination indoor-outdoor instruction area at 5539 Lansing Road, R-3, Lansing.

An optimum setting in which to learn of one's natural environment, Woldumar's non-school program includes: the day-camp program, Camp Discovery, for five to ten-year-olds; the Junior Naturalist program

Training for heart monitoring starts

Marjorie Kissane, registered nurse at Clinton Memorial Hospital in St. Johns, has returned from a two-week course in Grand Rapids in the operation of hospital coronary care units.

Miss Kissane will train other nurses here upon arrival of a two-bed heart monitoring unit at Clinton Memorial. The unit is being purchased by the Clinton Memorial Hospital Auxiliary.

The unit is in the process of being ordered now. The auxiliary is hopeful it can be placed in use at Clinton Memorial Hospital this summer or fall. Contributions and memorials toward the purchase of the machine are continuing to come in.

MISS KISSANE WAS among 28 nurses from around the state who graduated June 16 from the two-week training course at Butterworth Hospital in Grand Rapids. The course was designed to qualify its graduates to supervise a heart monitoring unit.

Twenty-five instructors taught the course, which included technical aspects of the equipment. The course was sponsored by the Michigan Heart Assn., a Michigan United Fund agency, and is the third in a state-wide series of such classes. Part of the training involved an oscilloscope, which looks just like a TV set—and a modified TV set is what it is—and is one of several types of cardiac monitors used in coronary care units.

On the screen, it shows a line tracing of the electric currents generated by the patient's heart, telling the trained nurse of abnormal conditions within the patient's heart.

DR CARL B. BEEMAN, Grand Rapids internist, president of the Heart Assoc., explained that coronary care units, in addition to supplying intensive care, are designed to combat a special risk of heart attack—sudden heart stoppage. All patients in a unit are connected to electronic monitors which sound an alarm if the patient's heart stops or goes into fibrillation (uncoordinated fluttering) or into an abnormal rhythm that can precede a stoppage.

Because of the highly specialized skills involved in the care of heart patients and in the restarting and retiming of distressed hearts, doctors and nurses in the units need to be highly trained, Dr Beeman explained.

THE BRAIN-SUFFERS fatal damage, if deprived of blood for more than a few moments and the nurses and doctors must know how to take immediate emergency action to restart or retime the heart. He said they use, among other things, electric shock, drugs, and/or closed chest cardiac resuscitation. Research has shown that use of the units during the first seven to 14 days of a heart attack has cut mortality about 25 per cent, Dr Beeman said.

Patterson returns from sheriff's meet

Clinton County Sheriff Percy J. Patterson returned last Thursday from a three-day convention of the Michigan Sheriff's Assn. at Sault Ste. Marie. The convention included close looks at the Soo Locks and a visit to Kinchloe Air Force Base.

Among the significant actions taken by the association was the recommendation for an increase of 50 cents in drivers license renewals, with that extra 50 cents to be retained at the county level.

Nurses Marjorie Kissane, RN (left), of Clinton Memorial Hospital and Sharon Grundemann of Shelby Memorial Hospital in Albion, listen to an explanation of the parts of a special medical oscilloscope during a two-week training course on supervising the special heart units. Carl Kamhout of Detroit, operator of a medical electronic distributing firm, has answers for the questions.

CLIFFORD D. WORDEN

New MEA president

Clifford D. Worden, East Lansing high school teacher, begins his term as president of the 73,000-member Michigan Education Association, July 1. Worden has served the past year as MEA president-elect.

A Michigan educator for nineteen years, Worden, 44, began his teaching career in 1948 at Lee High School in suburban Grand Rapids. Two years later he accepted a position in East Lansing.

He holds a bachelor's degree from Central State College, Stevens Point, Wisconsin, and a master's from the University of Michigan.

"Quality education through professional unity" is the theme for the MEA this year, selected by the new president. Worden states that one of his concerns is the public image of teachers. "Unless we can show the public that we are concerned with instruction, we can fall into the rut of the welfare items," he says.

"We can be forced more into straight employee roles," he stated. "We must utilize the negotiations law as a vehicle to improve our role as professional educators by improving the instructional program of our schools."

Worden is a major in the Air Force reserve. He earned his wings as a bomber pilot near the end of World War II.

This coming school year, Worden will be on leave of absence from his position as physics teacher at East Lansing high school to perform his duties as MEA president. He, his wife, and three daughters reside in East Lansing.

Worden, a past president of the local MEA affiliate in East Lansing, will succeed Martha Zemke, Bay City high school counselor, as MEA state president.

Car hits auto on M-21 shoulder

George H. Bunce, 55, of R-5, St. Johns, was ticketed for careless driving following a two-car accident at 12:10 a.m. Saturday on M-21 just west of Hollister Road in Ovid Township.

Bunce's car reportedly hit an auto of Allen D. Ward, 21, of 8105 Weiler Road, Ovid, which was parked off the shoulder on the north side of the road. No one was hurt in the accident.

10-point education program aimed to decrease dropouts

James F. O'Neil, member of the State Board of Education, proposed a ten-point program to the State Board of Education for reducing drop-outs and juvenile delinquency at the board meeting, Tuesday evening, June 27.

O'Neil pointed out that juvenile delinquency runs at a 1000 per cent higher rate among drop-outs or "push-outs" than among those who continue their education. In addition, he stated there is an additional large number of mental drop-outs who remain in the classroom because of parental or other pressures but are "turned-out" as a result of being intellectually "turned-off" by the present system.

O'Neil stated that all those involved in education must assume responsibility for not providing more meaningful educational opportunities and therefore contributing to the dropout and juvenile delinquency problems.

O'NEIL PROPOSED a ten-point program calling for:

1. Insuring all beginning school children of an equal start by providing the basic health and socialization needs for those who are deprived.

2. In this regard, additional efforts must be made to insure an adequate number of volunteers for the school programs which are directed toward giving the pre-schoolers a head start and providing remedial assistance to the underachievers.

3. Getting parents more involved in the education of their children.

4. Those who are apprehensive that parents will interfere with the education of their own children and therefore should not be involved are frequently those who cannot understand why teenagers don't communicate with their parents.

5. PROVIDING MORE meaningful educational opportunities that relate to the world of work and the world we live in.

6. Provide more meaningful educational opportunities for students to develop marketable skills that 80 per cent of them will need, since only 20 per cent will ultimately earn college degrees. This requires the following:

7. Upgrade the image of technical programs not only in the eyes of the students, but even more so in the eyes of the parents. Make them aware not only of the pride in these professions but the exceedingly high material benefits.

8. Better indoctrination of counselors regarding the opportunities and benefits to be derived from these programs.

9. Provide for more comprehensive technical educational programs. Properly indoctrinate junior high school students regarding the opportunities of technical programs.

10. Establish community colleges with particular emphasis on technical programs.

Raising the legal dropout age from 16 to 17.

Many students become 16 years old while still in junior high school, or the summer prior to entering high school, and never have an opportunity to become acquainted with the high school programs generally and with the technical programs specifically.

Those who say the school system is better off without the dropouts should just determine if the dropouts are better off because of the system.

Raising the legal driving age from 16 to 17. Studies indicate that as the driving goes up, grades go down. Postponing driving for one year would also provide for a greater degree of maturity.

CHANGE FROM 3-year to 4-year high schools.

This would insure that the 16-year-old would at least see the inside of a high school before he dropped-out or was "pushed-out".

Make school facilities and programs more available for youth and community activities.

We must direct our efforts to educating the whole child and the whole community and make the school system the center of community activities.

Utilize the tremendous talent of our teachers and the potential of our schools on a year-round basis.

WHILE MONEY is important and there never is enough, even though all types of aid to education and related programs have been doubled over the past five years, why don't we see what we can do by calling on all segments of our society to increase their volunteer efforts.

It is sheer folly and utter wastefulness to shut off the teachers and shut down the schools each summer. We must cut the umbilical cord that still ties our school system to the antiquated system established in bygone days when we were an agrarian society.

INACTION ON THE part of all of us involved in education will contribute to the following, as reported in a newspaper article: "Washington—The way things are going, at least 40 per cent of the male children living in the United States today will be arrested for a non-traffic offense some time in their lives."

"So said President Johnson's Commission of Law Enforcement in a task force report issued today. It arrived at the statistic by projecting present trends in crime."

FOR BOYS LIVING in cities, the report said, the probability of arrest for non-traffic crime is 60 per cent, and for Negro boys living in cities it is about 90 per cent.

"These projections are based on current arrest rates which have been increasing in recent years, so in some respects they might even be conservative," the report said.

This represents untold misery and human waste to not only those immediately involved but to their families and friends.

Private home care is needed

The Clinton County Department of Social Welfare, in conjunction with the State Department of Social Services, is seeking private homes in the area for the care of "homeless adults."

These people, all over the age of 18, are physically, emotionally or mentally incapacitated, and as a result, are unable to care for themselves.

If the homeowners wish, they may arrange to have as many as three individuals in their homes, provided that each one has a separate bed, and provided the rooms are large enough and meet the minimum requirements established by policies of the department.

The local department has set a rate of care starting at $120 per month and up, depending on the extensiveness and kind of care needed for each individual.

The State Department of Social Services has a staff of homefinders for this area. Those who would like to know more about the program may contact the county office of the Department of Social Welfare at 1001-03 S. Oakland or write directly to Mrs. Harbron, 924 Houghton Street, Saginaw.

Showboat preparations in final phase

The chorus is in rehearsal, the professional acts are all booked, the endmen are rehearsing, the boat decoration committee is hard at work—all preparations for the 1967 Chesaning Showboat are now in their final phases.

The dates this year for the colorful show are Monday thru Saturday, July 10 thru 15. Victor Shapley is general chairman.

Each evening at 8 p.m. the prologue of amateur acts and short introduction of honor dignitaries will start, and then at dusk—or probably a little earlier now that we're on Daylight Savings Time—the brightly decorated Showboat will make its half-mile trip down the Shiawassee River to the dock-stage, and then comes the big show before an audience that of thousands.

The chorus of 50 voices and Brandon's Band from Chicago, along with six frolicking endmen and Captain-MC Allan Swartzmiller all are on stage throughout the whole two-hour minstrel-type stage show.

Coming on for their individual acts are the five professionals headed by Yonely, an internationally-traveled musical humorist who has played TV and some of the best hotels and supper clubs in the nation. He's been on TV on Ed Sullivan, Gary Moore, Steve Allen, Johnny Carson and Hollywood Palace shows. His comedy and funny music are a guaranteed crowd-pleaser.

The other acts that will play Showboat are Joey Hollingsworth, negro, song and dance; Rusty Ryan, comedy; The Kittens, negro trio of female singers; and Gerard Soules, a dog act.

And there will again also be two numbers by the well-drilled chorus line from Edwina Wright Studio in Saginaw. Each endmen will sing a number accompanied by the chorus.

As usual, there is no charge for parking in Chesaning Showboat Park, and there's room for thousands of cars, all within 150 yards walking distance from Showboat Stadium.

Tickets can be obtained by writing Chesaning Showboat Ticket Office, Chesaning, Michigan. Tickets can also be bought at the gate, but a word of warning, Saturday night always is a sellout.

Boating fun demands safety

President Johnson has declared the week of July 2 through 8 National Safe Boating Week. Last year more than 40 million Americans took to the water in more than eight million pleasure boats.

Pleasure boating has become one of the greatest family outdoor sports in America, particularly in Michigan, during the past few years, and with the great number of new people using boats, there is an additional risk to life and property.

It is very necessary that all boat owners know and observe certain basic rules which have been passed into law by the Michigan legislature, or are federal laws administered by the U.S. Coast Guard:

All boats must have a fire extinguisher, an extra can of fuel, a first aid kit and all essential equipment for safe boating.

The 1967 4-H County 4-H Camp at Barry County is now over and the 100 campers who attended all felt it was very successful as they learned and gained many new camp experiences. Already the members are asking if there will be a camp again next year.

One day of rain caused the program to be changed a little, but all in all, the weather was very cooperative. The members learned to swim, do special crafts, learned to shoot archery, learned about gun safety, conservation, campfire and recreation.

Following a short gun safety program, the members were given a brochure to study. A test was given on Friday morning with 88 members who passed by scoring 70 points or more. The members received a card stating they had passed the gun safety course.

Friday evening 13 different entries were presented at the 4-H Share the Fun Contest sponsored by the 4-H Service Club. Two small group acts and two large group acts were selected to represent the county at the district Share the Fun Contest on Monday, July 10, at Central Michigan University Auditorium at Mount Pleasant.

The winning entries were: A piano solo by Faith Borton of the Watertown Grove 4-H Club; a marionette show by Wendy Smith and Marjorie Motz of French's Corners Club; dances of different countries by 12 members of the Olive 4-H Project Club; and a Civil War scene by 12 members of the Victor 4-H Club. Our congratulations to the winners and best of luck in further competition.

The First Nighters organization selected four members from the different talent show acts that the judges felt had good potential ability and could be developed through some extra instruction. The four members selected were: Faith Borton of Watertown Grove, Pat Courser of Stoney Creek, Dale Simmon of the Victor 4-H Club, and Gary Van Velsor of the Victor 4-H Club. These four members will receive an award from the First Nighters organization at the county fair.

The Bengal Community 4-H Club will hold a bake sale this Saturday at the D & C Store in St. Johns starting at 9 a.m. Proceeds will be used for various 4-H club activities.

The Parker's Workers 4-H members toured the horticultural and botanical gardens at Michigan State University Wednesday, July 5. The members will play the Jolly Green Giants 4-H Club on July 11 at Parker's. Following the game the members will have a wiener roast.

About 94 Clinton County 4-H members and adults will attend the "4-H Day" at Detroit this Saturday, July 8, when Detroit plays the Boston Red Sox. I'm sure the members will have a wonderful experience. I understand some of the members attending will have some special trips and activities before the game. Tickets will be picked up at the stadium by adults in charge at gate three.

The Brush and Halter 4-H Members judged several classes of dairy cattle at their last meeting in preparing for the county 4-H dairy judging and training meeting this Friday, July 7, starting at the Green Meadow Farm located on Hollister Road near Elsie. At their next meeting the members will make rope halers when they meet at the Duane Green residence on July 11.

Fifteen 4-H members who were selected to participate in the 4-H Canadian trip Aug. 27 - Sept. 2 have sent in reservations they play to attend. The group will meet on Wednesday, July 12, at 8 p.m. at the Extension office to plan their trip.

The French's Corners 4-H members discussed the 4-H dairy training day at Green Meadows on July 7, the food frollo to be held July 19, the food members tour to Owosso and the 4-H talent show. Twenty members plan to attend the baseball game at the "4-H Day" on July 8 at Detroit.

The Friends and Neighbors 4-H Club assigned dates and places for their meetings for the rest of the summer. Demonstrations were given by Lu Anne Thelen on caterpillars, Cheryl Clark on pinning of insects; and Teri McQueen on labeling of insects.

Last week's play in the 4-H softball league in the Green league showed Stoney Creek over Charlie's Gang 32 - 10; Victor over Prairie forfeit; and French's Corners over Olive I 16-13. In the Wite League Victor boys won over Olive girls 15-4, Fowler Busy Bees won over Bengal 18-10 and Victor girls won over Stoney Creek by a forfeit. No results were given for the Prairie and Olive II game.

Other country schools sold by the Ovid-Elsie School District are Wilson School in Ovid Township for $600; to George Robinson of St. Johns; Watson School in Duplain Township, to Mrs. Glen Walker of Elsie for $1,800; Corp School in Fairfield Township, Shiawassee County, to Mr and Mrs Tony Gregor of Elsie for $500.

The Sherburne and Soule schools will be readvertised, as no bids were received for the former, and only two $25 bids for the latter.

Sold on a building-only basis was the Sawyer School in Shiawassee County to Albert Lantz of Elsie, who bid $302 for the building, playground equipment, gas tank and furnace. He also purchased the adjoining parcel of land for $65. This school is to be removed within 30 days.

Chinook is state's new sport fish

Michigan's recently introduced chinook salmon aren't keeper size yet and probably won't make much angling news for a couple of years, but they have gained official status as this state's newest sport fish.

The newcomers, hoped to produce trophy catches at upwards of 15 pounds in two or three years, joined the state's growing sportfishing lineup last week when the Conservation Commission placed them under hook and line regulations already covering trout and coho salmon.

THE COMMISSION'S action immediately put chinook on the catch list in the Great Lakes. It's unlikely that these fish, planted at three inches in May, have reached the minimum size limit of 12 inches in these big waters where the season on them runs through November 30.

However, judging from how spectacularly coho grew in the Great Lakes last year, some chinook might well become legal catches before November's end.

The daily possession limit for chinook in the Great Lakes and inland lakes is included under the trout and coho salmon quota: five fish, not exceeding 10 pounds totally, or one fish exceeding that weight limit.

THOSE YOUNG CHINOOK will still not be mature enough to make upstream spawning runs this fall. However, for the record, the commission set the season on them from Aug. 1 through Sept. 10 in all inland waters not otherwise closed to fishing.

They were also added to the Sept. 11-Nov. 30 extended fall season in specially designated waters already open to action on coho salmon, rainbow and brown trout.

The minimum chinook size limit for these waters matches the one for trout and coho. In rivers and streams, the existing trout and coho limit of 10 fish or 10 pounds plus one fish was extended to cover chinook.

Girl bowlers win state YBA title

The St. Johns girls' bowling team that won the district Youth Bowling Assn. title several months ago has also won the state tournament. That word was received last week. The team, called the St. Johns Heart Area, consists of Linda Hardman, Chris Glazier, Cathy Nuser, Sherri Kramer and Jan Fowler, who is the team captain. They bowled May 25 at Denton Harbor and came up with a 2162 actual series and a 3002 series with handicap to finish 75 pins ahead of the next highest team, Holiday Lanes from Lansing. Chris had games of 96, 163 and 119 for a 378 series; Linda rolled 134, 146 and 162 for a 442; Cathy fired 148, 133 and 143 for 424; Sherri had games of 132, 115 and 102 for 349; and Jan rolled 191, 160 and 218 for a 569. The tournament was sponsored by the Michigan Bowling Proprietors Assn.

The state championship girls team from the Youth Bowling Assn. tournament consisted of these girls from St. Johns: Jan Fowler, Sherri Kramer, Cathy Nuser, Linda Hardman and Chris Glazier.

Make vacation time a safe time

Michigan motorists today were urged to apply four driving tips to make their vacation trips safer and more pleasant. The four-point plan is as follows: Have the family car safety-checked bumper to bumper. A safe drive demands a car kept in safe driving condition. Lock all doors from the inside before you drive. That helps keep you and your passengers in, and other people out. Lock the doors from the outside when you park, to protect both the car and its contents from theft. Buckle all safety belts before you start the car. This simple act can save lives and prevent or reduce injuries in case of a crash. It can also lessen fatigue on long trips. Stay alert. On long trips, take frequent rest breaks to guard against fatigue, drowsiness, and lack of attention. Gerald W. Shipman, Safety Commission Executive Secretary, cautioned motorists against taking short drives around town for granted. "Studies show that 80 per cent of all traffic accidents happen within 25 miles of the driver's home," he stated, adding, "Seventy-five per cent of all traffic deaths occur within the same radius." The Safety Commission offers this capsule reminder for short trip driving or vacation journeys: Lock up when you get in... Lock up when you get out... Buckle up in between. Get the Safety habit.

Friday was pet show day on several of the city playgrounds, and at Perrin Palmer School Nicholas Roberts with a guinea pig and Lynnette Sperry with a bunny were judged second and first for most unusual animals. Other top winners were Darlene Ferol for her best-behaved animal; Jim Cantwell with the biggest animal; Mike Brown with the ugliest; Bruce Douglas with the cutest; Ellen Keys with the prettiest and for most tricks; Craig Sperry for the smallest; and Nick Roberts with the best dressed. Other ribbon winners were Kathy Weber, Mark Rogers, Rod and Cindy Thorton, Debby Green, Marty Richmond, Nancy Rogers and Gary Green.

Recreation Notes

Mark Mercer beat all his opponents last week and wound up as checker champ at the Swegles School playground. The checker contest was one of the main events of the week as youngsters played a number of challenging games set up by playground Supervisor Ginny Bertram.

Checker champ at Perrin-Palmer playground last week was Mark Rogers. Arts and Crafts were the topic of the morning program each day with children making whistle chains, bracelets, dog chains and key chains. Afternoon games included kick ball, Uncle Sam, red rover, duck-duck goose, tether ball, catch, softball and Chinese checkers. Supervisors at Perrin-Palmer are Marilyn Motz and Jim McCausey.

City Park playground Supervisor Jane Taylor had her charges going through some of the new sit-down games last week, including jacks, sewing cards and bingo. In a kickball game between the boys and girls, the boys came out victorious. Children also made coin purses and bikinis out of leather and took a hike around the park and zoo. Because of the Fourth of July carnival, the park recreational program was cancelled last Thursday afternoon, Friday and all this week.

THE HIGHLIGHTS ON last week's East Ward playground agenda was a pet show Friday. Among the animals shown were rabbits, kittens, dogs (one with puppies), a turtle, birds and a guinea pig. Cheryl Weber and Linda Philney are supervisors there.

Baseball supervisor Gary Boyce reports that a significant increase in the number of boys joining the program late has necessitated another team draft and expansion program. Starting after the July 4 break there will be an eight-team league which will enable more boys to participate more often and give each boy more of an opportunity to develop his baseball prowess. The baseball program ended its second week with the Phillies on top of the team standings with a 3-0 mark and the Yankees second with a 2-1 record. The Orioles are 1-1, and the Athletics and Red Sox are each 0-2.

Twenty-five boys completed a two-day tennis doubles tournament Friday to mark the conclusion of the second week of tennis lessons. Finalists were teams consisting of Pote DeCamp and Luane (Lumpy) Lumbert and Alex MacKinnon and Eddie Jorae. Lumbert and DeCamp won in two sets. John Salemi is tennis instructor.

THE ARTS AND CRAFTS program went into full swing on all the playgrounds last Monday under the direction of George Spicer. The agenda includes leather work, weaving, and other such activities. This week youngsters will make plaques out of paper plates.

Director of Recreation H. Blaine Douglas has invited Clinton County Senior Citizens to take part in a horseshoe tournament to be held July 24-30 at the city park. There is no charge for entries, Douglas noted, and contestants may play any time of the day. There will be supervision and equipment at the courts from 7 to 9 p.m.

Swimmer's itch dogs fun-in-the-sun bathers

Swimmer's Itch, bane of summer bathers, is breaking out again in a number of Lower Michigan waters, particularly in the southwestern part of the state, according to the Conservation Department.

Michael Newton, aquatic biologist for the department's Water Resources Division, reports his unit recently received 20 to 30 complaints of swimmer's itch, most of which came from the Kalamazoo and Paw Paw areas. Also reporting this week that the problem is picking up in that part of the state was Louis Gray, the department's law supervisor for the Plainwell District.

Causing all the discomfort for swimmers are tiny parasites,

Shepardsville

By LUCILLE SPENCER, Correspondent

Friday evening, June 30, Vacation Church School at Shepardsville Church closed after a very successful two weeks. There was a total enrollment of 101, with an average attendance of 80. The money for the project exceeded the aim of the school director.

The church was filled to near capacity to hear and see what the children had accomplished. The program opened with all singing "O Young and Fearless Prophet", followed by the invocation, delivered by the Rev Gordon Showers, of the Duplain and Elsie Churches.

The kindergarten sang three songs—two action songs—and repeated some Bible verses. The first and second grade pupils recited four Bible verses, and sang three songs. The third and fourth grades presented a choral reading and sang three songs.

The fifth and sixth grades presented a playlet entitled, "One Day in Jail". The actors, nine children, were attired in costumes typical of those days. The playlet represented perfectly the topic studied by this group, "The Life and Works of Paul." The Junior and Senior High students did not have a part in the program, but had on display in their room montages of youth in today's world. The topic they chose was "The Bible in Today's World."

The teachers and director feel that the school was worth the time it took. The weather man cooperated, a photographer took some pictures and one of the teachers had a birthday and was presented a card from the third and fourth grade children.

The Price and Shepardsville MYF are looking forward to an "overnight" camp-out, July 12 and 13, at the Methodist's "Lake Michigan" camp near Pentwater.

A life guard will be on duty at the beach. Those attending are asked to bring the usual camping gear, along with their Bible, note book and pencil. The most important item is insect repellent.

Mrs Ruth LeGros, who spent the winter in Arizona, arrived Friday to spend the summer months with her brother, Francis Hall and family.

Mrs J. W. Moree and daughter, Tammy, of New Smyrna Beach, Florida, arrived Saturday to spend a day with the Francis Hall family.

Mr Reinhart Billings has been confined to the Veteran's Hospital in Ann Arbor for the past two weeks for observation and tests. His address is Veteran's Hospital, Ann Arbor, 6th floor.

My apologies to those whom I generally call Sunday evening and Monday morning. The telephone has been out of order since last Friday.

Revenge is like a rusty gun—it kicks harder than it shoots.

Robert E. Mosher now a medical cadet

Robert E. Mosher, 18, son of Mr and Mrs C. B. Mosher, of R-6 Townsend Road, St. Johns, was one of 200 draft-age young men from 35 states and Puerto Rico who underwent a ten-day military training program to serve their country as soldiers without guns.

The trainees, teen-age members of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, while requesting the privilege of not bearing arms, willingly train themselves to serve in the Medical Branch of the Armed Forces. These "medical cadets" prefer to be called conscientious copperator sor non-combatants.

The youths, at their own expense, attend Camp Doss, ten miles west of Lansing, where they receive training similar to the medical basic training given in the U.S. Army. If drafted they are normally assigned to medical duties. As such, the youth often serve in the front lines as aid-men giving medical attention to soldiers wounded in action. Currently over five hundred Adventists are in the armed forces in Vietnam.

The camp was directed by Clark Smith, Col., MCC of Washington, D. C., head of the National Service Organization of the Adventists' Church. Adventists have provided pre-induction training medic who, while exposed to enemy fire during the World War II battle for Okinawa, was credited by the Army for the rescue of 75 wounded. This heroic act brought to Doss the Congressional Medal of Honor. He is the only conscientious objector to receive his nation's highest honor.

Doss was in attendance at the camp to tell his experiences and to assist in the training. Also appearing for the closing weekend was Sp/5 Curtis Reed now stationed at Carlisle Barracks, Pennsylvania. He recently returned from Vietnam where, as a medic with the Army, he earned two bronze stars with "V" for valor.

IT WAS just such a noncombatant who gave the camp its name. Corporal Desmond T. Doss was a Seventh-day Adventist army programs for draft-age youth for the past thirty-three years. The training program was planned in cooperation with the Army Surgeon General's Office.

The ten day training periods which began Tuesday, June 6, finished with graduation exercises, demonstrations and a review Sunday, June 18. Special guest of honor for the closing exercises was Colonel Spurgeon H. Neel, Jr., the director of the Department of Aeromedical Education and Training, Fort Rucker, Alabama. He served in Vietnam as Senior Military Medical Staff officer. The "medical cadets" joined with the Air National Guard of Michigan in a simulated helicopter evacuation operation while Col. Neel was present.

The State Highway Commission urges you to keep your car in good condition by having the brakes, steering, lights, wipers and tires checked often.

Storm policy announced

A storm policy for the protection of those children taking part in the summer recreation program has been put into effect by the city Recreation Department. The policy to be enforced by the department is as follows: When it is raining or when there are violent storm warnings or tornado watches forecast for Clinton county, all playgrounds and the swimming pool will be closed. Children at Swegles, Perrin-Palmer and East Ward playgrounds will be sent directly home. Supervision will remain at these playgrounds until all children have left or have been picked up by their parents.

Those who must wait will have to do so in the large pavilion at the park. Under no circumstances will children be allowed to wait in the dressing rooms in the pool building.

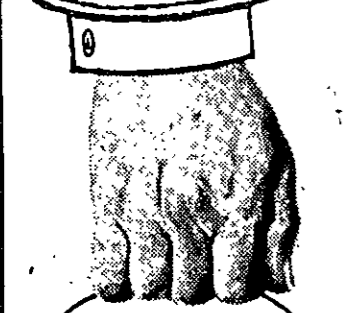

Other than storm situations, the playgrounds will be closed when the grounds are wet and muddy, and the pool will be closed when water and air temperatures are below 68 degrees, according to state health requirements.

THE CLOSING of the playgrounds and the swimming pool will be announced over WRBJ-1580 on your radio dial.

The members of the Recreation Department ask all parents to please help them in storm situations by picking up their children as soon as possible.

THE CITY PARK playground, and the swimming pool will work together during any storm situation. All children will be sent home except those waiting to be picked up by their parents.

Different ways to use sour cream

By HELEN B. BEACH-LORRAINE SPRAGUE
Extension Home Economists

June has been recognized National Dairy month. I'm sure you've noted a good many 'specials' in the dairy counter of your favorite grocery store these weeks.

For the best nutrition of every family member, every day of every month really should be dairy day. Consider all the forms of milk—fluid, dry, whole, 2 percent, low fat, skim and cream, both sweet and sour. Then some evaporated and condensed versions. Other "products" include ice cream, butter and cheese (how many kinds are there?) Milk and its products get into every meal of the day including snacks.

Sour cream is one of the dairy products that has advanced in popularity very rapidly during the past few years. Commercial sour cream has little in common with old fashioned home prepared sour cream. Its uniformity in flavor and texture has made it much more acceptable to the family chef and family tongues. HERE ARE A FEW IDEAS you might like to try on your family. —Place a dollop of sour cream on a hot bowl of tomato or pea soup. —To serve with roast beef or fish, blend your cream and prepared horseradish with some chopped walnuts and season with salt and freshly ground black pepper. —As a spread for brown bread or hot toast, mix sour cream with strawberry preserves or orange marmalade. If blackberry jam or cherry preserves better suit your family's taste, blend the sour cream with one of these.

—SOUR CREAM ON baked potatoes is well known. But pass a bowl of plain sour cream (or mixed with fresh chopped chives), right after the serving dish is full of hot hashed-brown potatoes for a real taste treat. —A fruit salad is 'dressed' tastily with 2 cups of sour cream blended with a 6 ounce can of frozen lemon concentrate. You'll want just a dash of salt, too.

—TURN HOT GINGERBREAD into a gourmet dessert. Freeze together 1/2 cup of sour cream and 1 1/2 cups canned apple sauce. Top each square with a big spoonful.

—Frost an angel-food cake with thick sour cream and sprinkle with brown sugar. Chill thoroughly for easy slicing.

There are many more delicious ways to use sour cream. Don't let this wonderful dairy product go unnoticed.

Says punishment, IQ are related

Applying the rod too often and too harshly may adversely affect your child's IQ, reports Michigan State University psychologist Dr. John R. Hurley.

His findings show that children who live in a punitive household have lower IQs than children from homes with an encouraging attitude. He defines IQ as the ability to learn in school.

Has passport -- will travel

She has taken all of shots, has her passport and is just about all packed. The only thing holding her back is the date.

Judy Ripple, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon D. Ripple of 506 W. Higham Street, St. Johns, will be leaving for a three week tour of Europe July 18.

She is one of 11, the other 10 are from Lansing, who will be making the trip to Europe with Gene Healey, WLSL radio personality and his wife, Mary Ann.

DURING THE three weeks, Judy will visit 10 countries, Holland, Germany, Austria, Monaco, Liechtenstein, Switzerland, Italy, France, England and Belgium.

She will be seeing the Alps, taking a cruise down the Rhine and a sail on Lake Lucerne in addition to doing all the other things a tourist does in Europe's major cities.

THE GROUP WILL leave from Detroit July 18 and spend the next two days in London. July 21 they will be in Brussels, the 22nd in Amsterdam and Cologne, the following day in Heidelberg and the 24th and 25th at Lucerne. They will visit Innsbruck July 26, Venice the next day and Florence July 28. The next three days will be spent in Rome. Aug. 1 they will be in Pisa, the 2nd and 3rd in Nice and the following day in Grenoble. The last three days before their return will be spent in Paris.

Judy Ripple

ALTHOUGH the schedule seems a little hectic, there will be time for shopping and side trips in the major cities.

Judy, 17, will be a senior at Rodney B. Wilson High School this fall. She said she has always dreamed of seeing Europe but never really thought it would be possible.

The Healeys, who will be chaperones for the group ranging in age from 17 to 21, have made the trip twice before.

R. P. Lannen recounts cross country trail ride

ELSIE—Dr Richard P. Lannen and his wife, Jean, local veterinarians and their daughter, Dana, of Elsie have returned from a week's cross-country trail ride on horses as members of the Michigan Trail Riders Association.

Dr Lannen is president of the state organization that arranges the two rides each year. Following is a report of this month's trip written by Dr Lannen:

SATURDAY, June 10, was the day we arrived in Empire on the shore of Lake Michigan anticipating the trail ride which would start the next day. We strung up our picket lines, unloaded our horses and tied them up. We unloaded saddles, saddle blankets, bridles, horse blankets, saddle bags, canteens out of our living quarters in the front of our trailer and began to get organized.

In the afternoon, we saddled up our horses and rode over to the lake shore. The waves rolling in "spooked" many of the horses and we had trouble getting them in the water, but once in most of them enjoyed it. We had a nice ride along the shoreline before coming over the dunes and back to camp via the road.

IN THE EVENING the rains came, however, Sunday morning the sun came up bright and we had a short ride over to the Gerry Lake campground which has just recently been developed for horse usage.

Monday we rode over the hills and valleys and through the hardwoods on our way to the Mud Lake Campground. The campground has very clean grounds and is nestled in the Jack Pines. After we had gone to the Gerry Lake Campground and brought our trailers into camp many of us went over to the public beach at Long Lake for a refreshing swim. We got back in camp just as cooks, Mr and Mrs Ernie Helm were calling us to a barbecued spare ribs dinner.

TUESDAY MORNING'S ride goes through an area of private land and it was necessary to ride the roadside until we crossed M-37 and rode into the Rex Ranch to eat our lunch and water the horses. Rex's B.W. Phyllis made coffee to go with our sack lunch. In the afternoon we rode past some more pine plantations, through some scrub poplar over to Jaon Creek where we rested and watered the horses. After going through Mayfield we forded the Boardman river and arrived at the horse camp at Sheck's place. This is one of the better horse camps that we have and can accommodate several hundred horses. It is a beautiful spot for circle riding if a group wishes to camp a weekend or a week. There are trails on the hills on either side of the Boardman river valley.

Tuesday evening it did not rain so we had a campfire and introduced ourselves. We were informed that we were to have a time change at midnight so we set our watches an hour ahead and went to bed.

Wednesday's ride was along the Boardman River and past several little lakes. We stopped at the Guernsey Lake campground for lunch and to water our horses. It was real hot and some of us stopped in Kalkaska for ice cream before proceeding to the campgrounds on the edge of town. This campsite is also nestled in the pines but we are outgrowing it fast. Again it rained at night and we had no campfire.

Thursday morning it rained during breakfast so we put on our ponchos and raincoats before leaving camp. As we were afraid to all go through a swampy spot on the trail we broke up into several groups and rode the roadsides for a few miles before joining the regular trail. It rained most of the morning but cleared off later in the day. In the last half of this day's ride we traveled through what is thought to be the world's largest stand of native white birch. This is beautiful anytime of the year with tall ferns covering the ground. We forded the Manistee River to reach that night's campsite.

The Manistee River Horse Camp has just been constructed along with the four mile camp by volunteers from the membership and under the supervision of the Conservation Department.

BEFORE MORNING the rains again came but quit before we got up. Friday's ride crosses Michigan Continental Divide. The creeks flow toward Lake Huron rather than Lake Michigan. The trail winds over the hills and through the hardwoods. We stopped in Grayling for our lunch. Grayling has been very gracious in fencing an area where we can leave our horses while we go into town, eat lunch and water the horses. It is very much appreciated by the trail riders. We crossed the Expressway on Route 72 in Grayling and ended up on our other new campsite on 4 Mile Road.

I might mention at the time that some riders cannot ride all week and have to go back to work. Others like John DeMull from Sand Lake, Fred Strong from Ithaca, Earl and Darrel Andrus from St. Johns, Don and Mary McIntyre and Sharon Day from Bad Axe joined us during the week as did Kate Flynn from Battle Creek and Dick Wallace from Saginaw.

FRIDAY EVENING the Board of Directors of MTRA had a meeting to discuss plans for the fall ride, the publishing of a new guide book, the ordering of decals and ways that the trail may be improved. Fitch Williams from Traverse City and Harold Pence from Saginaw who had not been able to ride with us came in for the board meeting.

There were several campfires that evening as it did not rain until almost morning. This is the time when friends may get better acquainted, stories told and songs sung.

SATURDAY WAS the last day of the ride. The trail crossed the Au Sable and wound through the woods over to Jim Hardy's Lost Creek Sky Ranch which is east and north of Luzerne. Jim served a chicken dinner. Most people stayed over Saturday night to go home Sunday refreshed from a restful vacation.

There were several awards given before the week was over: To John Phelps of Elsie, high diving award; Art Head of Adrian, the bull thrower's award; George Stump of Alpena, the honorary sheriff and Gerrie Walker of Owosso, queen of the trail ride.

There were 14 riding clubs represented from two states. The youngest rider making the whole trip was Mike Lutz of Mio, who is 7. The oldest rider making the whole trip was Bob Barlow, 77, of Lansing, and the oldest horse was 20 and belonged to Art McEwen of Armada.

THE MICHIGAN Trail Riders sponsor two rides each year. The fall ride is expected to start Oct. 1 in East Tawas, continue through Oct. 7, ending at Kalkaska. Details may be obtained from Mrs Gerrie Walker of 4915 W. Simpson Road, R-4, Owosso, 48867.

MR AND MRS GLENN WEBSTER

Silver Anniversary

Mr and Mrs Glenn Webster were pleasantly surprised Sunday afternoon at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr and Mrs Larry Webster with an open house observing their silver wedding anniversary.

There were about 100 guests from Litchfield, Perry, Fowler, St. Johns, Bannister and Elsie. The affair was planned by the seven children, Larry, Jim, Mack, Lynn, Debbie, Sandy and Laurie. There are also two grandchildren, Wayne and Michele Webster.

The home was decorated with flowers from the gardens of Mr and Mrs Floyd Taylor. A large wedding cake made by Mrs Harold Hehrer centered the serving table. It was topped with silver numerals "25th Anniversary".

Webster and his wife, the former Marjorie Taylor have lived all their lives in this area.

Study history of Michigan

The Green School Extension Club held a breakfast at the home of Mrs Manley Engbreton with Mrs Milson Young as co-hostess. The 16 members present responded to roll call by telling a historical attraction in Michigan.

Mrs George Ellis and Mrs Helen Wittse were appointed as workers for the 4-H Fair to be held in St. Johns Aug. 14. Reports on chest x-rays and diabetes clinics were given.

Announcement was made of a picnic July 9 at 1 p.m. at Friendship Park in Rochester Colony. The mystery package was won by Mrs Ann Praay.

The lesson on historical facts about Michigan and designs in the home was given by Mrs Ann Praay. Lynda Kuisel of Royal Oak spent the past week as a house guest of Mary Slag.

A daughter, Michele Louise, was born to Mr and Mrs Richard W. Conklin June 16 at Clinton Memorial Hospital. Mrs Conklin is the former Nancy Bennett. The couple formerly lived in Elsie but now reside in Shepardsville.

Two automobile loads of women from the Green School Home Extension Club enjoyed a Sunday afternoon trip and tour in Lansing which included visits at the MSU Museum and the Horticultural Gardens. They concluded their ride with a visit to the Orchard Antique Shop on Round Lake Road. Mrs C. S. Goodrich and Mr Raymond Thornton were the drivers.

Mrs Max Courter entered St. Lawrence Hospital in Lansing Tuesday to undergo major surgery.

Miss Jennifer Keys left Tuesday morning for Miami, Fla.,

Witnesses to protest proposed transfusion bill

Jehovah's Witnesses in this area are being urged to converge on Lansing Saturday to register protest about "infringements of their civil liberties."

The protest pertains to proposals for legislation that could force blood transfusions when doctors deem necessary.

"This is an attempt to put the stamp of legality on the matter of forcing unwanted medical treatment on patients," Raymond Parker of Elsie, local spokesman for the Jehovah's Witnesses, said.

Parker quoted A. D. Schroeder, dean of the Watch Tower Bible School in New York, as saying: "Certain doctors, judges and lawmakers blind themselves to God's Law and to religious liberty when Jehovah's Witnesses refuse to let their children have a blood transfusion when a mere human doctor orders them to have it."

THE PROPOSED legislation under fire has been advocated by probate Judges James H. Lincoln of Wayne County and Norman R. Barnard of Oakland County.

"Jehovah's Witnesses are now challenging the legality of a number of actions taken by judges, hospitals and doctors in the State of Washington," Parker reported, referring to a national test case currently before the U. S. District Court in Seattle.

"The decision in that case could affect application of laws in other states, including Michigan. While the law proposed here is aimed primarily at Jehovah's Witnesses and their refusal to accept blood transfusions, it would open the door wide to abusive power by medical men.

"Hence, Jehovah's Witnesses feel that thorough public discussion of this matter is of benefit to the general public as well as themselves."

"WHAT IS involved here is the right of parents to control the welfare of their own children," Parker went on. "This privilege is being jeopardized through legislation proposed by Michigan judicial authorities."

Saturday's gathering in Lansing will be a peaceful one, according to Parker. It will center around a major policy address by Schroeder at the four-day "disciple-making" district assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses. Schroeder's talk will be at 3:35 p.m. Saturday at the civic center.

Witnesses weekend meet starts

Raymond Parker, presiding minister of the St. Johns congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, has announced that 14 ministers from the congregation will be assisting with administration of the "Disciple-Making" District Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses this weekend at the Civic Center in Lansing. The convention starts today (Thursday).

George Eberhard of 300 S. Prospect will assist in the rooming department.

Parker spoke about the work entailed in operating such a large convention. An attendance of over 9,000 has been estimated for the Lansing meeting.

"BECAUSE OF CONDUCTING large assemblies on a regular basis from year to year, Jehovah's Witnesses have developed an efficient organization of volunteer workers," Parker continued. About one of every six delegates will have some convention assignment. Twenty-one departments have been organized to care for the detail necessary. Nine years ago, the largest Witness convention in history to date attracted 253,922 people to a gigantic assembly at New York's Yankee Stadium and the Polo Grounds.

Parker said the object of the Lansing gathering is to show by demonstration and explanation that Bible principles are not out-of-date. He said that everyone, not just Jehovah's Witnesses, may attend the assembly without cost. There will be no admission charge and no collections will be taken. Day-long sessions of Bible talks and discussions will occupy the major portion of time spent at the convention.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH
 The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Days	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Psalms	37	27-40
Monday	Genesis	1	24-31
Tuesday	Matthew	5	43-48
Wednesday	Timothy	6	1-10
Thursday	Timothy	6	11-21
Friday	Hebrews	8	1-5
Saturday	Hebrews	12	1-6

The rose comes very close to man's standard of perfection. Its delicate beauty seems to mock every effort of the artist or camera to capture it. But is the rose really God's masterpiece? Hardly! For its beauty is passive. It brightens life only for those who seek it out and gaze upon it. And in but a few days it withers and is ugly. God's masterpiece is MAN. For with all his waywardness and selfishness, Man is capable of reflecting the love of God. When he lets God touch his life he is able to bring happiness and faith to others. He doesn't have to wait until he's noticed. He can actively bring spiritual blessings to his fellow men. As the gardener cultivates the rose, the Church cultivates the lives of men. Always it strives to help us become all that God wants us to be.

A varied diet is the key to better health

Just as there is more than one way to skin a cat, as the saying goes, there is more than one way to see that your children are adequately nourished. Helen Meach, home economist with the Cooperative Extension Service in Clinton, Gratiot, and Shiawassee counties recently spent three days at Michigan State University studying child nutrition. Mrs Meach emphasized that a child, like all other humans, needs nutrients—protein, carbohydrates, fats, vitamins and minerals—not specific foods. But no food is indispensable. "Nutritionists at MSU stressed that the problem is selecting from our abundant supply the foods that will provide the needed nutrients in desirable amounts," Mrs Meach said. "Careful study of foods resulted in placing them in groups. Foods in each group are roughly equivalent to each other in terms of nutrients they provide. The groups are called the Basic Four," she continued. She listed the groups as: Milk group — including milk, cheese and ice cream and other dairy products. Meat group — meat, fish, eggs. They are especially rich in protein, but contain other nutrients. Fruit and vegetable group — can be subdivided into citrus fruits, rich in Vitamin C; green leafy and yellow vegetables, rich in Vitamin A; other fruits and vegetables which provide small amounts of important nutrients. Cereal group — breads, macaroni and spaghetti, etc. They are excellent sources of energy and, if made of enriched or whole grain flour, give Vitamin B. Mrs Meach suggested using the four food groups as a guide to balancing nutrients in the daily diet. "If you eat suitable amounts and choose a wide selection from each group, you can be sure your child is getting the nutrients he needs."

An unusual father and son-in-law partnership of beef cattle and mint oil production on a 400-acre farm two miles north-east of St. Johns will be one of the features of the State Farm Management Tour.

The Tuesday, Aug. 1, event is sponsored by the Clinton County and Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service and coordinated by the Agricultural Economics Department of MSU.

The program at the Halsey-Woodhams farm and the nearby R. Lee Ormston Guernsey dairy farm will begin simultaneously at 9:30 a.m.

Robert Halsey, senior partner in the combination muckland and upland farm, took over the operation in 1949 when he dissolved partnership with his father, Dick Woodhams, junior partner, bought into the firm in 1956, several years after his marriage to Marie Halsey, one of four daughters in the family.

HANDLING OF THE CROPS on the 200 acres of muckland and 200 acres of predominately clay-loam offer different production problems. The 1967 crop acreages are: corn, 20 for silage, 75 for grain; wheat, 25; hay, 35; and 115 in mint. All the mint and some corn is grown on muck soil.

Corn is marketed through steers fed in the 220-head capacity feedlot.

Corn production management practices are considerably different for the upland and muck soil areas. Different analysis fertilizer is used, and weed control methods also differ. Corn can be planted earlier in the upland area because frost damage is less likely than in lowland areas.

Corn for grain is harvested as high moisture ear corn and put in 20-by-50 foot air-tight silos.

HOWEVER, A NEW COMBINE purchased this year will allow harvesting high moisture shelled corn for use in the beef feeding operations.

All the spearmint is grown on muckland soil. The first cutting is harvested about mid-August. Occasionally a second cutting can be made in September.

The partners have their own mint oil distillery. In a good year production will average 35 to 40 pounds of mint oil an acre. Last year the price was $7 per pound, but 1967 contracts call for a price of $9 per pound for choice grade oil. New fields are planted in the spring from roots plowed up from old mint fields in early November and put into pits for spring planting.

The cattle feeding operation is based primarily on a fall purchase program with cattle coming through the Michigan Livestock Exchange and from northern Michigan feeder calf sales.

Four hundred to 450-pound heifers or steers are bought and fed silage and ground corn or corn-and-cob meal until reaching market weight of 1,000 to 1,050 pounds. Animals are marketed weekly through the Michigan Livestock Exchange.

HALSEY AND WOODHAMS have converted an old dairy barn into an efficient cattle feeding operation. They also have a "lean-to" on the rear of the barn. Along with two air-tight silos, they have two concrete stave silos they use for corn silage.

Cattle are started on haylage and later fed a blend of haylage, corn silage and high-moisture ground ear corn. No protein is fed until the haylage is all gone. The protein is added as needed to balance the ration.

One of the unusual features is the 50-50 partnership operation. Each partner pays his share of the expenses and capital purchases independently. Each is also responsible for his own borrowing of funds where necessary. They now own equal acreage and while each owner is responsible for his own insurance and building upkeep, taxes are divided equally.

Both families are active in the Baptist Church in St. Johns. Halsey has been a member of the Board of the Michigan Livestock Exchange. Woodhams is the president of the Clinton County board of the Michigan Livestock Exchange. Both are active in the Farm Bureau.

DICK AND MARIE Woodhams have three children, Janice, 15, Jack, 13, and Susan 8. All are active in 4-H Club work with parents serving as local leaders. Their farm is at the corner of Kinley and Scott Road, one mile north and one mile east of St. Johns.

Mr and Mrs Halsey find they can now take life "more easy" and spend some time at their Houghton, lake cottage and in Florida.

The featured noon-day stop, where lunch, a program and tour will take place, will be at the Green Meadow Farm, Elsie, Lt. Gov. William Milliken will be the speaker. This is Michigan's largest dairy farm with more than 1,000 cows being milked "around the clock."

The afternoon tour program will be at the Moore Seed Farm, northwest of Elsie, starting at 2:30 p.m.

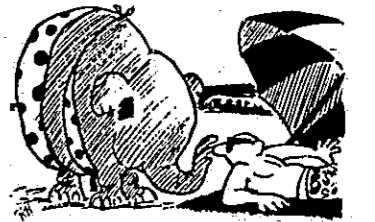

Robert Halsey and Richard Woodhams take a break from work on their farm near St. Johns, a unique father-and-son-in-law partnership. The farm will be one of the two alternate morning stops on the state farm management tour Aug. 1.

Lee Ormston, St. Johns farmer northeast of the city, checks over feed boxes in his cattle barn as he shows some of the feeding methods he employs. His farm will be one of the alternate morning sites on the state farm management tour Aug. 1.

State Fair premium books are in mail

Going to the beach is like going to the attic—you can count on being surprised by what you'll find in trunks.

The Michigan State Fair is offering a record $142,000 in agriculture and livestock premiums for the 1967 event Aug. 25 through Sept. 4 (Labor Day).

This is announced by Cass J. Wasung, acting general manager, who said more than 20,000 entries are expected. Deadline for entries is Friday, Aug. 4, and early submission of entries is urged.

The premium book—the handbook of information for all exhibitors—again will be issued in three sections: agriculture and livestock, horse shows, and community arts.

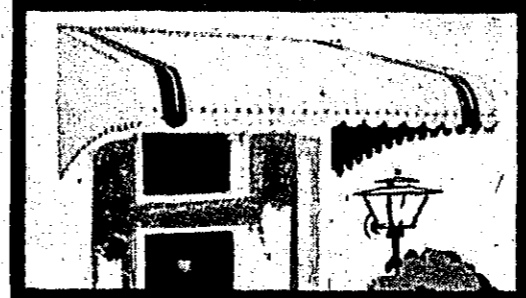

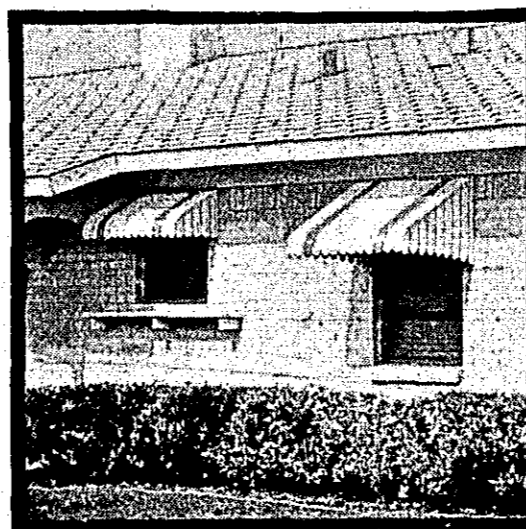

Several new classes have been added to the agriculture division including premiums for the largest pig; the sow having the first pig following the opening of the fair; display of haylage depicting its use in Michigan agriculture; display depicting the contribution of sugar beets to Michigan's agricultural industry; wheelbarrow load of farm produce which could include such items as honey and flowers as well as fruits and vegetables; and a commercial muskmelon display.

4-H horticulture program also a prize program

The most beautiful time of the year is now! Trees and grass are cool and green; flowers are fragrant and colorful; gardens are abundant with good things to eat; orchards are at their peak.

Responsible for some of this beauty and abundance are 4-H youths engaged in horticultural projects. Nearly 200,000 boys and girls from coast-to-coast are working on a wide range of garden, landscape and floral projects, according to the National 4-H Service Committee.

Until recently, garden projects were restricted pretty much to vegetables and flowers. Now ornamental landscaping, indoor gardening and expanded work in orchards and other areas of horticulture have been added.

THE NATIONAL 4-H Horticultural program, sponsored for more than two decades by Allis-Chalmers, is designed for rural and non-rural young people. Because of the many different projects possible — from a beautiful window box to growing and selling fresh vegetables at a roadside stand — 4-H'ers with even limited space can learn, earn and enjoy the results of their labors.

County and state fairs are goals set by the more experienced youngster where his prize-winning produce, plants, flowers and the like can be displayed for thousands to see. Local exhibits and a variety of awards await 4-H'ers who constantly strive to "make the best better."

ALLIS-CHALMERS provides annual awards for county, state and national winners in all 50 states and Puerto Rico. Last year, 6,500 medals were awarded to 4-H members in 2,158 counties. The number is expected to increase this year. Medals are awarded on the basis of four per county.

In addition, the highest scoring individual per state will be a delegate to the 1967 National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago with all expenses paid. National scholarships of $500 each will be given to the top eight state winners.

HOSPITAL KITCHEN CONVEYOR NOW IN USE

The new conveyor system for preparing meals at Clinton Memorial Hospital is now in use. The assembly line method of preparing meals had a few kinks in it on the first tries, but that was over two weeks ago and the problems are being resolved. The system is one of the assets of the new hospital addition.

Plan tall corn contest at fair

New this year at the Michigan State Fair will be a tall corn contest, intended to prove that Iowa doesn't have a monopoly on the nation's tallest corn.

Any variety may be entered—popcorn, field corn, sweet corn. However, it must be grown in Michigan, must be of this year's crop, and must be cut at ground level. It will be measured from ground level to the tallest extended tip. No ear is necessary.

The contest will be held Wednesday, Aug. 30 during the fair which opens Friday, Aug. 25, and runs through Labor Day, Sept. 4.

Those who are entering the tall corn contest should check at the Agriculture Building on Tuesday, Aug. 29, between 10 a.m. and noon.

1968 wheat allotment reduced; await county's

W. M. SMITH
County ASC Manager

Secretary of Agriculture Freeman has announced a 13 per cent reduction in wheat acreage allotments for the coming year.

There are a number of things that influenced his decision, such as an estimated carryover of 400 million bushels, reduced exports, and increased yields due to the drought-breaking rains in the wheat belts in May and June. Food for peace shipments fell to 310 million bushels this year.

WE HAVE RECEIVED our 1968 wheat allotment notices and have them ready to mail as soon as we receive our county wheat allotment. With the announced reduction in the national wheat acreage allotment, we expect to receive our county allotment soon.

any time the need arises to help fill a CCC grain disposal commitment.

When loans are called on such grain, the producer has the option of delivering the collateral or keeping it by redeeming the loan. Storage payments will be made on the number of months the commodity is in storage during the 1967-68 storage period.

Storage payments will be made whether the producer delivers the commodity or redeems it by repaying the loan. The period of resale storage begins the day after the maturity date or the anniversary date for specific crops.

White cattle at state fair?

What's pure white, delicious, grows fast, and will be exhibited at the 1967 Michigan State Fair? Let's see, right? Let's see, right? Wrong, Cattle. Charolais beef cattle, that is. This breed, native to France, was introduced in the United States a few years ago and is playing an increasingly bigger role in the total beef picture. They are noted for exceptionally fast growth.

There are now 24 Michigan breeders who are members of the American International Charolais Assn. Their exhibit promises to be one of the most interesting of the new ones at the fair.

Incidentally, Aug. 4 is the deadline for agricultural and livestock entries in this year's State Fair which opens on Friday, Aug. 25, and runs through Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 4.

Individual farm allotments will be computed and mailed out after we get the county wheat allotment.

We have a number of feed grain producers who have to come to our office and report their 1967 feed grain acreage. This must be done by July 15 to comply with program regulations.

I want to remind wheat producers who have sold or purchased land to notify us right away so that their 1968 wheat allotment can be computed on the correct acreage. This will avoid waiting at planting time to have their wheat allotment corrected.

THE 1967-68 farm-stored resale loan storage rates are unchanged from those in effect for the 1966-67 program year. They are in line with the rates paid by Commodity Credit Corp. for grains stored in commercial warehouses under the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement.

Farm storage payment rates for resale corn, wheat, oats and soybeans are based on units of 100 bushels per month rather than on a daily per bushel rate used in the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement. Under prior announcements, corn under load from the 1964-65 and 1966 crops may be continued in resale storage. Also, 1966-crop wheat, 1966-crop soybeans, and 1965 and 1966-crop oats are eligible for resale loan in Michigan.

THE DEPARTMENT of Agriculture advises that all grains continued under loan and on-farm storage are subject to call by the Commodity Credit Corp. at

Parents vital on child's health 'team'

The basic objective of any child health program is to remove the barriers standing between the child and all the advantages and benefits that modern medical science can offer him.

The barriers between the child and what he needs may be economic, or geographic, or social, or emotional, or technological. All these must be reckoned with in planning an effective child health program.

But so often in dealing with this "team" concept, and in planning the team approach to health problems, workers think only of a team of professional people—doctors, nurses, educators, social workers, administrators, and so forth—and forget about the parents of the child, who are really the most important members of the team.

The sooner this is reconized the better. Either the child's parents must be included as full members of the "team," or the team simply isn't going to get very far.

A basic philosophy to teach our youngsters

There is increasing comment in the newspapers on the growing crime wave across the nation. You read of pitched battles of various groups with police in the streets or on college campuses.

It is now reported that children in the 11 to 16 age group commit half of all property offenses, and of all criminals arrested the most frequent age is 15.

According to an AP dispatch from Los Angeles, a judge has recommended for women an arsenal ranging from a six-inch hatpin to a derringer for use in protecting their lives and virtue.

While all this is going on, it is time for parents to take their children in hand and begin to teach them to keep their hands off other people and other people's prop-

The real value of health programs can only be measured in concrete results; that is, how many children actually got care. There is little value in field clinics or screening programs or case-finding programs or information programs or education programs, which do not culminate in some kind of follow-up action, designed to do something about the individual child's health problem.

Such follow-up and follow-through is a responsibility of the state health department staff, of the local health departments, of the communities in which our children live and the schools which they attend.

So while follow-up procedures must be improved at all professional levels in order to do a more effective job, parents also must be included on the team and be motivated to follow-through for the sake of their child.

The same thought could be repeated at the opening of school classes each day. This simple little admonition could eventually save untold suffering and grief for children, parents and the public.

Says Park Lake big site that 'got away'

Editor: In reading your article (on fishing by Walter Henry Allie) in the June 22 issue of the CCN you failed to mention Park Lake, located 1 1/2 miles south of Bath in Clinton County.

Possibly you were not aware it existed but it has been a popular fishing lake for years, and we feel it should have been mentioned as we have a boat and bait shop there with boats for rent.

10 YEARS AGO From the Files of July 11, 1957

St. Johns' most elaborate July Fourth celebration in history attracted nearly 15,000 people during its three-day stand last Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the City Park.

A budget reduced by more than $11,000 was approved by Maple Rapids school patrons at the school's annual meeting Monday night.

Twenty of the 6,500 people in the St. Johns' school district took time Monday night to attend the district's annual meeting and listen to the items included in a half-million dollar budget presented for the coming year.

25 YEARS AGO From the Files of July 16, 1942

Residents of Clinton county turned in an average of approximately 9.5 pounds of rubber in the scrap rubber collection campaign which officially ended Friday, and exceeded the national quota of five pounds per person.

Clinton county's rationing board approved applications Tuesday for sale of new automobiles to Joseph J. Schafer and Durfee Dewitt Angell. Permits were also granted for the sale of two passenger car tires, 12 tubes and 24 retreads; 18 truck tires, 16 tubes but no retreads; eight obsolete, tires and six tubes.

Sales of war bonds by St. Johns retailers went over the $4,000 mark this week, according to the tabulation of sales reported at the local post office—where retailers are asked to leave slips when they get stamps and bonds. To this figure will be added a sizable sum in sales of bonds to retailers by the banks, which will be totaled at the end of the month.

50 YEARS AGO From the Files of July 12, 1917

The people of Michigan continue to buy automobiles in increasing numbers. Last year the total number of licenses issued was about 60,000. Up to July 1st, this year, about 200,000 had been issued for 1917, and it is likely that 20,000 to 30,000 more will be issued before January 1st.

The gravel road in Bath township, one mile east of Bath village has been completed and accepted by the state highway department. The contract for the road was let this spring to Frank Dolton. The highway is one quarter of a mile in length.

RAMBLIN' with Rink By LOWELL G. RINKER

When a minor league ball player has no business being a major league ball player gets his chance to be a major leaguer, he usually tries it anyway. And he usually winds up back in the minors.

There is a curious parallel between the ball player and the canoeist. A canoeist with experience only on the Red Cedar and Maple River has no business on the Little Manistee. But when he gets the chance he will invariably try it. And he'll usually wind up content to be back on the Maple.

Let us now turn our attention to the then-trifling, now-funny tale entitled "The Thin Man in Whitewater."

A WEEK AGO TUESDAY my wife and I were winding up our vacation with a two-day camp stay at Orchard Beach State Park just north of Manistee. Since my daughter was staying in Muskegon for those few days we decided to rent some canoes and try out the river in the area.

An amiable young chap at the Manistee Canoe Cruises outlined several possible trips but recommended a 3 1/2-hour trip on the Little Manistee over one of a similar length on the Big Manistee. The Big Manistee trip, he said, would be just like paddling on a lake because it was such a wide river. There would be less paddling to do on the Little Manistee. Since we had spent the afternoon of the previous Tuesday paddling around Hart Lake, we were inclined to try something a little different.

Our friend casually warned us of a number of log jams on the river but said nothing should be impassable. Even though the river was lower than in the previous week, it would probably be fast.

"FAST" IS A RELATIVE word, and we've subconsciously related it to the plodding Maple and determined that faster-than-that would be just fine. We drove out to our landing bridge and left the car, riding with our canoeist friend on up the river to Six Mile Bridge, way back in the boon docks.

"Fast" now took on new meaning. The Little Manistee was about three times as fast as what we thought it would be and about 10 times faster than the Maple. Reluctantly my wife got into the canoe's bow and slipped stealthily into the stern.

There were underwater logs immediately ahead and our first maneuver was to get ready to avoid them before we even pushed off. Somehow we made it . . . temporarily. The current swept us toward the far side of the Little Manistee and we wound up lodged in some tree branches.

By pushing off from the branches, we worked loose and began a sideways trip toward another log. I managed to straighten us out, and we zipped along around the first bend only to go sideways again and wind up against a tree on the bank.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

CUREO, TEXAS, RECORD: "As long as the people of this country believe the press is, in fact, free, there is little danger of newspapers losing their freedom. If the public becomes convinced newspapers are deliberately distorting the news, misrepresenting officials, or otherwise using their pages for selfish purposes, the public will become apathetic. Thus, in the trend of consolidation and chain ownership of so many papers it is vitally important that huge and growing chains allow each individual newspaper to be a free entity in its news coverage and in its editorial expressions . . . freedom of the press . . . demands diversity, individuality and—freedom of the press."

WALTHAM, MASS., NEWS-TRIBUNE: "Dr. Alastair M. Stuart, a zoologist at North Carolina State University . . . has bored into termian affairs until he knows their social behavior, their government, their communications system. He has also learned that termites not only recognize their friends, but know their enemies as well. 'Termites', he reports, 'live in a sort of democracy. They even have what amounts to a military draft. When danger threatens the nest, a general decision is made as to how many and which termites will be sent out to combat that danger.' If any termite draftees have burned their draft cards, Stuart did not report it."

MICHIGAN MIRROR

State's income rising at less-than-average rate

BY ELMER E. WHITE Michigan Press Assn.

INCOME IN MICHIGAN rose at a less-than-average rate in 1966 according to the Office of Economic Expansion. Personal incomes in the state averaged a 7.7 per cent increase over 1965 as compared to a national average of 8.2 per cent.

A lag in manufacturing, led by a cutback in automobile manufacturing, was felt to be the major deterrent in holding personal income to slower gains.

In total personal income per capita, however, Michigan ranks 14th among the 50 states with an average of $3,219 per person annually. Highest in the nation is the District of Columbia with per capita income of $3,989; lowest is Mississippi with annual income of $1,751 per capita.

INCOMES OF STATE and local government employees showed the greatest increase in Michigan, rising 13 per cent over 1966. People employed in transportation, communication and public utilities enjoyed the next greatest rise, 12 per cent; earnings of federal civilian employees increased 9 per cent, the same rate for construction workers.

A rehabilitation program for a select group of inmates at Michigan prisons may prove to be the transitional step needed to bridge prison and private life.

Under this program, selected inmates work daytime jobs in the "outside world" and spend nights at the prison. Gus Harrison, director of the Department of Corrections, pointed out that inmates eligible for the "work pass program" must meet three requisites: less than one year remaining before parole; good security risk; no history of mental disorder, assaultiveness or sexually deviated conduct.

Inmates are placed in jobs located within the communities where they will be later paroled. Care is taken not to assign them to jobs which could be filled from the local labor force.

SUCCESS OF THE PROGRAM merits it being continued and probably expanded, urges Harrison. A total of 156 men participated in the first full year of testing. Only 11 were removed because of unsatisfactory work performance or violation of program rules.

Employees expressed general satisfaction with the inmate-workers. Performance ratings on 48 inmates showed "good" to "outstanding" from 75 per cent of the employers. Two-thirds of the employers told stated they would recommend inmates who had worked for them. Individual earnings averaged $85 per week. Of the total earned, 30 per cent is sent to families and 50 per cent is placed in a savings account for the inmate upon parole. The remainder goes for work-related expenses such as clothing and transportation. The state assesses $5 per week to help meet program administration costs.

MOST INMATES credit the program with helping to support dependents and establishing a savings program. In several instances, the plan made possible the removal of dependents from public assistance rolls.

Expansion of the program would involve cooperation of county sheriffs. Inmates could be placed in jobs farther from the correctional institutions if they spent non-working hours in county jails rather than in prison. Harrison reports that many sheriffs have shown an interest in the program and such an extension is likely.

AN ALMOST SURE BET can be made that, in a group of 20 people, at least one has an expired driver's license; as many as five or six would not be beyond probability.

The secretary of state's office has done preliminary studies on the problem and estimates as many as one-third of Michigan's drivers miss renewing their licenses before expiration.

Under Michigan law, drivers' licenses expire on birthdays every three years. No notification of expiration is used.

RECENTLY A GROUP of legislators met with secretary of state staff to discuss ways of eliminating the problem. During the discussion, one lawmaker reportedly discovered his driver's license had expired.

Penalties for failing to renew on time vary with the court and circumstances involved. Usually the remiss drivers is stopped for another, more serious, violation. If a ticket is issued, the court may assess fines for the moving violation but not for license expiration. The time lapse between expiration and apprehension is usually considered another factor. Driving on an expired license is contrary to Michigan statute and does carry a penalty if the court wishes to exercise its authority.

Want to bet your license has expired? Take a look.

Human cells may possess a mechanism to resist change in their structure and function, says a University of Michigan microbiologist. This mechanism, he reports, may prevent tumors from developing in the body.

The "Low Down" From the Congressional Record

By Joe Crump

TELEVISION WITHOUT COMMERCIALS: COMING

Rep. J. B. Bingham (N.Y.)... "Mr. Lester Markel, associate editor of the New York Times, published an excellent article... in which he outlined many benefits that could accrue from the establishment of public TV... "For the benefit of our colleagues and other readers of the Record who may not have seen this article, I insert it (condensed) at this point in the Record."

THE BILL FOR Public (educational or non-commercial) Television has been passed by the Senate with dispatch and emphatic endorsement. In the House the going is likely to be much rougher. Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the parties that are deeply concerned—the educational broadcasters, the devoted listeners, the public at large. For this is, as Senator Percy put it, "milestone legislation" representing "a strong national commitment to the development of a vital national resource."

The case for Public Television is simply stated. Television can be a potent force in achieving a better-informed public opinion and in advancing the cultural state of the nation. Commercial television has not done the job and it is not likely to do so, for the very reason that it is commercial.

THE NEWS broadcasts comprise, for the most part, a headline service; often they supply drama, but they lack depth. The cultural contributions are of high order. But the most telling count in the indictment is that of timing; the evening, the important hours, for the most part, add up to a desert area with few oases.

In all three areas—information, culture and program time—Public Television can fill the gaps.

Above all, Public Television can provide prime stuff in prime time—programs that have high quality without being "high-brow"—good entertainment as good talk; footnotes as well as headlines.

The Congress must be educated to the importance of Public Television and to the vital need of assuring its independence. At the moment Congress pays lip service to the concept, but it has a basic fear that a Government-supported medium of communication will be used for propaganda purposes. This is a deep fear, but it is unfounded; B.B.C. (British Broadcasting Co.) is a prime example of how the task can be independently performed.

PUBLIC TELEVISION in the true sense requires an annual expenditure of more than a quarter-billion dollars. Private funds are surely desirable, but the greater part of the moneys will have to come from the Federal Government. This is a small price to pay for so large an achievement.

be compared with the Land Grant Act of 1862; both can be considered momentous steps towards mass higher education. There is, in sum much good will towards the idea of Public Television; there is the conviction that something should be done. But more than good will, acquiescence and kind words are needed. There must be agreement on objectives, harmony of action and cold cash.

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT

FEW PEOPLE are aware that the Public Broadcasting Act of 1967 has been approved by the Senate and is now before the House of Representatives.

Most TV commercials and the numerous insipid programs are offensive to many viewers. However, when faced with the cost of Public Television, the House may decide that a quarter-billion tax dollars is too high a price to pay for commercial-free TV, particularly with the country at war.

The fur will fly in the House of Representatives when the Broadcasters lobby present business' opinion of the Public Broadcasting Act of 1967—J. C.

Mr Pearson, the author of this column, died June 7 following a short illness, according to word received recently from his wife. Mr Pearson lived on a farm in Greenfield, N.H., and his popular features were carried in a number of newspapers all over the country. His was one of the few "outside" features which the CCN carried.

Mr Pearson had built up a backlog of material in case of illness, and these columns will continue to be published here as long as they last.

Half a century ago on general farms, carrots were an important crop. A big bin was filled in the house cellar and the roots covered with sand; Father believed in carrots for the horses and hens and a big pile was stored in the barn under the west scaffold.

Today the thinning operation is the same as it was then. There is only one row in the garden but the magic of science has not eliminated the drudgery. A man can try standing up, but in a very short time his back begins to talk. He gets down on one knee; that works for a few minutes until a sharp pain comes just above the hip. Then, one does what he knew he should do at the beginning. He works along on all fours, with big fingers trying to separate the slender little plants. Why is it that carrot seeds always germinate so well? A man tries to leave the little plants about an inch apart so that every other one can be pulled when the roots are about four inches long.

It doesn't sound like a hard job to thin 50 feet of this tasty vegetable. But when a man struggles to his feet, eases out the kinks in his legs, arms and back he is thankful that the job comes only once a year.

Temple board draws 4 names

Four more name tickets representing $100 loans to the temple building fund were drawn out at the last meeting of the St. Johns Masonic Temple Board. The owners of many of the drawn tickets request their money to be returned to the fund instead of collecting it.

The following names were drawn for May, June and July: Mrs. Beulah Ballantine and Robert Gay for May; Roland Lee and Charles Main for June; and Herbert Houghton and Kenneth Yanz for July.

The Temple Assn is seeking interest-free loans of $100 from members of all the Masonic orders. Mrs. Charles (Elsie) Dickinson is treasurer.

The music room will be open at 8 a.m. each day to take care of financial, uniform or music problems.

Model 'T' Club tour

The first national tour of the Model 'T' Ford Club of America will be held in Dearborn, July 15-16. Headquarters for the program will be The Dearborn Inn and Greenfield Village.

Saturday highlights include a motorcade through Dearborn and its industrial complex and family visits to the Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village in order to give visitors to the world famous outdoor Museum an opportunity to see the antique autos in operation.

BEGINNING AT 10:30 a.m., Model 'T' owners will parade their cars across the activity field at the Village and prepare them for judging and awards. The hillside behind "residential row" in the Village, with its historic homes of famous Americans, provides an ideal spot for the visitors to watch and photograph the moving spectacle in front of them.

For tourists visiting Greenfield Village on Sunday, July 16, the excitement of a Model 'T' Ford meet is included at no extra charge in the regular admission to Greenfield Village.
