Clinton County grew 30 pct. in last decade

Preliminary census figures for Clinton County were released last week citing a 30.6 per cent population increase from the 1960 official census.

The 1970 census shows Clinton County with 49,972 people compared with the 37,969 a decade ago.

The Tri-County Regional Planning Commission earlier had estimated the county population at 48,565.

According to the commission, Clinton County has almost doubled its population since the 1960 census when 25,136 persons were counted.

By 1910, the county population figure had dipped by several thousand persons to 23,129, and steadily declined in population until the 1930 census.

That year, 24,174 residents were counted, starting a trend of increased population. By 1940, the county had 26,671 residents.

The 1950 census recorded 31,195 people, followed by another increase in 1960 to 37,969.

An estimated population figure was released in 1965 showing Clinton County's population at 42,175.

The commission has estimated a 1975 population figure of 54,360 for the county, and a 1990 estimate of 77,825.

The commission also released itemized figures for each city, village and township in Clinton County with figures for 1960, 1965, 1970, 1975 and 1990.

Each political subdivision or township was classified in one of four groups according to the density of population.

SECTION FOUR

DeWitt Township: 1960's census showed a population of 6,411 which was 16.88 per cent of the county's entire population. The 1965 estimate indicated 7,410 residents or 17.57 per cent of the county population. The current census shows DeWitt Township with 9,946 which is 22.46 per cent. Estimates for 1975 indicate 13,875 people and 1990 figures project 27,700 residents.

Bath Township: The 1960 census recorded 3,732 people, 9.83 per cent of the county population. 1965 growth was estimated at 4,275 or 10.14 per cent. The 1970 figures note 4,837 residents or 9.92 per cent of the county residents. Projected figures show Bath Township with 5,245 in 1975 and 6,540 in 1990.

Watertown Township: The 1960 census showed a population of 2,008 or 5.29 per cent; 1965 estimates recorded 2,400 people or 5.69 per cent; 1970 shows 3,137 residents, 5.93 per cent of the county population; and projected figures claim 3,410 in 1975 and 4,900 by 1990.

City of DeWitt: 1960 census indicated 1,238 residents or 3.26 per cent of the county population; 1965 claimed 1,490 or 3.53 per cent; 1970 shows 1,796 or 3.71 per cent; and 2,150 by 1975 and 4,300 by 1990.

It wasn't rockets bursting over St. Johns this past Fourth of July weekend, but it was still impressive. This is just one of the many fireworks to explode over city park in the annual display put on by the St. Johns Fire Department. See Page 4A for related pictures.

Draft lottery has one Clinton youth (No. 2) looking at Air Force, another (No. 364) college

Clinton County's lot in the lottery--P. 3A

Two young men named Mark, both 19, both June high school graduates of Southern Clinton County schools.

And then the difference begins.

Mark Stoddard is planning on college.

Mark Ward is looking into the Air Force.

The reason?

It's the draft lottery.

In last week's lottery Ward's number came out No. 2--the lowest for an available man in the county.

And Stoddard's was No. 364--the highest in the county.

Which means it is very likely that Stoddard, who last month graduated from Bath High School, will not see military duty.

No. 195 has been estimated as the probable cutoff number.

Ward, meanwhile, a graduate of DeWitt High, most likely will be called in January.

"It kind of rushes things," said Ward.

"He said he had not planned on going to college, but now I definitely have to check into the Air Force."

MARK WARD

MARK STODDARD

When asked what was the reaction of his friends, he replied, "Not too many know it yet."

Presently, he is working part-time at a Lansing drive-in restaurant.

"I didn't think I was the last one," said a happy Stoddard who assessed the lottery system as being "more fair" than the previous draft system.

"I had been thinking about joining the Navy," he said, "but now I'm going on through college which I wasn't planning before."

This summer he is working at Michigan State University and in the fall he plans to attend Lansing Community College and study drafting.

Stoddard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Stoddard, 6200 Cutler Road, Bath and Ward is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Ward, 215 W. Madison, DeWitt.

Duane Ziegler, a councilman and chairman of a water system study group which suggested the rate hike, said there was a necessity to apply the new sewer rates in the city.

He said that his committee had made a thorough study of the rate problem and the water situation and came up with a cost per 1,000 gallons usage rate.

"We have some light businesses such as hardware stores and these have lavatories for personal use only," he said, "So we charge them as a resident."

He indicated that he based the rates for apartments on the state's recommendation of an average amount of flow per resident and produced a formula from these statistics.

The new rates call for a large or two bedroom apartment to be counted as four-fifth a resident and a small apartment counts as one-half a resident.

"What we were charging before caused us to lose revenue," he said, "This plan is based on a per resident charge," he added, "I cannot see our budget being raised much higher," he said.

"Part of the reason for the adjustment in rates is we are still

Hwy. Dept. runs check on U.S. 27

The State Highway Department last week placed traffic counters at three intersections in St. Johns--including U.S. 27 and Sturgis Street, scene of a recent bicycle-into fatality which claimed the life of a 12-year-old boy.

Since that accident, a group from the neighborhood formed an organization called "People Who Care" and they have been pressing for installation of a traffic light at the intersection.

Two weeks ago, three representatives of the group--Jan Bensinger, Sharon Rochon and Carol Maples--presented petitions with 1,700 signatures to the director of the state highway department, Henrik Staseth.

Staseth told the group his department would look into the feasibility of installing a traffic light at the intersection.

"I wouldn't be surprised if this study was a result of that meeting," said a highway department spokesman Monday. "This is customary before any signal is placed anywhere."

The automatic counter was installed around the clock for four days, beginning Monday, June 29.

In addition, a three-man crew from the Electrical Devices Unit of the Traffic and Safety Division made manual checks of auto

After board stops funds

DeWitt prosecutor's office to stay open 'without cost to county,' Kelly tells board

By TIM YOUNKMAN
News Staff Writer

Clinton County Prosecutor Patrick Kelly told the board of commissioners last week that he will continue operation of his DeWitt office for public matters "completely without charge" to the county.

For the last year, Kelly has received $250 a month in supplemental payment to cover expenses at this office which serves Southern Clinton County.

But last month the board said it would refuse to continue funds for operation of the office until Kelly submitted a report on its operation.

Admitting that the primary use of the DeWitt office "is for private work," Kelly noted that at least 369 persons had come to the office regarding public matters. The office also houses the private law practice of Kelly and his two law partners.

He said the figure could be higher since his office "did not, on many occasions, make a record of our conferences."

Kelly added that he and Assistant Prosecutor Daniel Matson had spent "130 hours of our legal time advising those 369 people on the particular subjects of inquiry."

As a result of the board's refusal to support the DeWitt office, Matson, a member of Kelly's law firm, has announced his resignation.

"I personally feel, because of the elective nature of my office, that I am committed to the citizens, law enforcement agencies and this board of commissioners to fulfill my term of office,"

Matson resigns post in prosecutor's office

Prosecuting Attorney Patrick Kelly told the Clinton County Board of Commissioners last week that Daniel C. Matson, assistant prosecutor, will resign.

"My assistant, Daniel C. Matson, has advised me that he feels compelled to tender his resignation as assistant prosecutor, and has done so," Kelly announced. "Mr. Matson's resignation is effective Aug. 31, 1970."

Contacted by telephone Thursday, Matson indicated that Kelly's statement will stand.

The controversy culminating in Matson's resignation stemmed from the refusal of the county commissioners to grant a 30-day extension of supplement payments to the prosecutor's second office in DeWitt.

Kelly and Matson indicated that the office was a private office used by their law firm but had opened the doors on certain days for public business.

DAN MATSON

Matson said he was disturbed by several metropolitan newspaper accounts concerning the DeWitt office.

"I don't think they are accurate," he said.

curate," he said. "They give the impression that the office is a public one."

Kelly told commissioners that Matson's resignation was a matter of professional integrity.

"Mr. Matson advised me, and I agree 100 per cent with him, that professionals have much more at stake than a job," Kelly said.

"They have their professional future, largely built upon the elements of character, integrity and reputation. It is Mr. Matson's decision to continue in the private practice of law, as my law partner in DeWitt," Kelly said.

Matson said he hoped his resignation would not offend anyone and added, "I have friends here, and would like to keep them."

He commented on the duty of every young lawyer who has attended a public university to "get into some kind of public office" to repay the citizens.

Matson was appointed assistant prosecutor effective Sept. 22, 1969.

Matson, who had lived most of his life in the Detroit area, was an associate of the law firm Long, Preston, Evans, and Kinnard. He did his undergraduate work in political science at Wayne State University and holds his Juris Doctor's Degree from WSU Law School.

He lives with his wife Marleen and two sons at 102 W. Webb Road in DeWitt.

Kelly offers office free of charge said Kelly.

"I am going to take the initiative and provide a public service to the residents and citizens of southern Clinton County," Kelly told the board.

"I am going to operate and maintain the DeWitt Office as an official branch of the prosecutor's office," he said. "I am going to do this completely without charge."

"I am going to do this as my contribution, hopefully, to the new direction of county government," Kelly said. "In fact, under no circumstances will I accept any further monetary support from this board toward the operation of the public function of the DeWitt office."

Kelly noted that about one year ago he mentioned the possibility of announcing to Clinton County citizens that he would be available for public matters in his private office at various week-day hours and Saturdays. He said he also suggested that some financial support "would be in order from the county government."

The board ultimately approved the $250 per month supplementary payment to Kelly for his public work in the DeWitt office, on a six-month trial basis. The board extended the payments for another six months after Kelly issued a progress report in January.

Then the commissioners rejected an extension of the program on June 15 by a vote of 7-4.

In his report Kelly said he objected to a Lansing newspaper article which indicated that neither he nor Matson were available when needed.

"The article went on to say that commissioners had the same experience later in the day (June 15) when they needed legal advice, and no one was available in the prosecutor's office, and a local St. Johns attorney had to be called," Kelly said.

"What was not stated was the fact that assistant prosecutor Matson was in the courthouse attending to required court and police business and that the prosecutor was attending a legal seminar out of state," he said.

Immediately after Kelly concluded his remarks, Commissioner Robert M. Montgomery, of Eagle, replied to the prosecutor.

"Mr. Kelly has taken an attitude of petulance and ill-humor," Montgomery said.

PATRICK KELLY

"If Mr. Kelly were on this board... he could reach up and find money," Montgomery added referring to Kelly's comment on the "under staffed and under equipped sheriff's department."

"He certainly didn't make any friends here today," Montgomery said.

Kelly was asked about the specific hours he and his assistant had scheduled for public use in the DeWitt office.

Kelly replied that he had planned to be in the office Tuesdays and Thursdays while Matson planned Wednesdays and Fridays. Both men were to be in the office on Saturdays.

Kelly noted that with court appearances and other duties at the courthouse, he could not always guarantee exact hours in DeWitt, although, he said, he tried to maintain them.

Andy's IGA, Kroger's reduce Sunday hours

Two major food stores in the St. Johns area—Andy's IGA and Kroger's—have announced reduced Sunday hours beginning July 4.

New Sunday hours at both stores will be from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Formerly, Sunday hours at the two stores were from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Both stores will continue to be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Rick Anderson, owner of Andy's IGA and Robert Swenberg, manager of Kroger's, issued a joint statement concerning the reduced Sunday hours at their stores.

Another major market, A&P, has been closed on Sundays and will continue this policy, according to Jim Willette, manager. The A&P is open Friday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. All other days the store is open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Al Smith, manager of Beck's Farm Market, said hours at his store will remain the same. Beck's is open seven days a week from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m.

"Reasons for the move, according to the Food Association, are an attempt to maintain or reduce food costs to consumers," said Anderson.

As in most businesses and industries, manufacturing, construction and insurance costs have been increasing in the food industry, too.

In explaining the reduced Sunday hours, Anderson said that operating costs are reduced through the reduction of the number of hours a store is open each week.

The reduced hours will also give store employees more time to spend with their families, he added.

paying for the treatment plant on a revenue bond," Mayor pro tem Keith Blizzard said.

In a related matter, discussion was started by visitors concerning the Dill Road Sewer project.

Councilmen indicated that nine residents effected by the project have indicated a favorable reaction to the plan with seven residents opposed and one person yet to be contacted.

The project, when underway, will become a new sewer district for the City of DeWitt.

A meeting of Dill Road residents with the councilmen was suggested to explain the detailed advantages and disadvantages of the charges and rates effected to finance the plan.

Residents will be contacted about a meeting by certified mail, Mayor Lawrence Keck said.

In other action, the council endorsed drafting a letter of thanks to Rep. Charles Chamberlain, R-Mich., for sending along a new flag for the city. The flag had been flown over the nation's capitol to lend it special significance.

It was also noted for observers that the city has purchased a new Michigan flag.

It is hereby determined to be desirable and necessary, for the public health, safety and welfare of the Village of Westphalia, that the Clinton County Sanitary Sewage Disposal System No. 3 (Village of Westphalia) be operated by said Village and the Clinton County Board of Public Works on a public utility rate basis, in accordance with the provisions of Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended.

Section 2. In addition to the foregoing, the Village shall have the right to shut off sewer service to any premises for which charges for sewer services are more than three (3) months delinquent, and such service shall not be re-established until all delinquent charges and penalties and a turn-on charge, to be specified by the Village Council, have been paid. Such rates shall be fixed and revised from time to time as may be necessary to produce these amounts.

Section 8. The System shall be operated on the basis of a fiscal year corresponding with that of the Village water system.

Section 9. The revenues of the System shall be set aside as collected and deposited in a separate depository account in Maynard Allen State Bank, Westphalia, Michigan, a bank duly qualified to do business in Michigan, in an account to be designated SEWAGE DISPOSAL SYSTEM RECEIVING FUND (hereinafter, for brevity, referred to as the "Receiving Fund"), and said revenues so deposited shall be transferred from the Receiving Fund periodically in the manner and at the times hereinafter specified.

Out of the revenues in the Receiving Fund, there shall be first set aside quarterly into a depository account, designated OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE FUND, a sum sufficient to provide for the payment of the next quarter's current expenses of administration and operation of the System and such current expenses for the maintenance of the System as may be necessary to preserve the same in good repair and working order.

(B) CONTRACT PAYMENT FUND
There shall next be established and maintained a depository account, to be designated CONTRACT PAYMENT FUND, which shall be used solely for the payment of the Village's obligations to the County of Clinton pursuant to the aforesaid contract. There shall be deposited in said fund quarterly, after requirements of the Operation and Maintenance Fund have been met, such sums as shall be necessary to pay said contractual obligations when due. (C) REPLACEMENT FUND
There shall next be established and maintained a depository account, designated REPLACEMENT FUND, which shall be used solely for the purpose of making major repairs and replacements to the System if needed. There shall be set aside into said fund, after provision has been made for the Operation and Maintenance Fund and the Contract Payment Fund, such revenues as the Village Council shall deem necessary for this purpose.

(D) IMPROVEMENT FUND
There shall next be established and maintained an Improvement Fund for the purpose of making improvements, extensions and enlargements to the System. There shall be deposited into said fund, after providing for the foregoing fund, such revenues as the Village Council shall determine.

(E) SURPLUS MONIES
Monies remaining in the Receiving Fund at the end of any operating year, after full satisfaction of the requirements of the foregoing funds, may, at the option of the Village Council, be transferred to the Improvement Fund or used in connection with any other project of the Village reasonably related to purposes of the System. (F) BANK ACCOUNTS

All moneys belonging to any of the foregoing funds or accounts may be kept in one bank account, in which event the moneys shall be allocated on the books and records of the Village within this single bank account, in the manner above set forth.

Section 10. In the event the moneys in the Receiving Fund are insufficient to provide for the current requirements of the Operation and Maintenance Fund, any moneys and/or securities in other funds of the System, except sums in the Contract Payment Fund derived from tax levies, shall be transferred to the Operation and Maintenance Fund to the extent of any deficit therein.

Section 11. Moneys in any fund or account established by the provisions of this ordinance may be invested in obligations of the United States of America, in the manner and subject to the limitations provided in Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended. In the event such investments are made, the securities representing the same shall be kept on deposit with the bank or trust company having on deposit the fund or funds from which such purchase was made. Income received from such investments shall be credited to the fund from which said investments were made.

Section 12. If any section, paragraph, clause or provision of this ordinance shall be held invalid, the invalidity of such section, paragraph, clause or provision shall not affect any of the other provisions of this ordinance.

450 from Clinton County affected by draft lottery

Approximately 450 men born in 1951 from Clinton County week were given their places in line for the 1971 draft.

The positions were assigned by a national lottery matching the birthdays of men turning 19 this year with numbers from one to 385.

The lottery affected some two million men across the nation. Listed below are the birth-dates of men born in 1951 and the order in which they will be summoned for possible military service in 1971.

After the birthdate and the number which determines their order of selection, the number of men in Clinton County born on that date is listed.

All of these men are not necessarily available for the draft, notes Mrs. Nancy Sue Holland, of Clinton County Local Board No. 19.

Some are already serving in the Armed Forces, while others may have been or will be deferred for various reasons.

HURRY!

MY, MY

When you're four years old a carnival is quite an event. This little lass was entranced by it all. She told us her name was Vicki Forback and that's about all she had time for. After all, there was lots to see yet.

AND THE WINNER IS. . .

Richard (Sonny) Cornwell, announces the winner of the 1,100 pound steer at the Fireman's booth following a drawing Saturday night at the city park. Assisting Cornwell was Pam Downing, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Downing, 698 N. Lansing St., St. Johns, who picked the winner's name out of the drum. The steer was raised by Richard Woodhams of rural St. Johns. The winner had a choice of either taking the steer or $250 in cash. He took the steer and told everyone within earshot that he would just have it tethered to a tree in the front yard.

. . . . OF ALL PEOPLE!

Ron Huard, publisher of the Clinton County News, was informed Saturday night by members of the St. Johns Fire Department that his daughter Carol had won a 1,100 pound steer in a drawing sponsored by the Fire Department. Congratulating Huard (in bermuda shorts and slippers) is Fire Chief Clare Maier while Mrs. Alberta Cornwell views the happy moment. To the left of Huard is Assistant Chief Richard (Sonny) Cornwell, and behind him is Terry Kentfield, sitting on the steps is Larry Karber, and standing is Lloyd Bensinger, Jr.

YOU PAY YOUR MONEY. . . .

A carnival wouldn't be a carnival without games of chance. And the festivities at St. Johns city park last weekend were no exception. In this particular "game of skill" you had three chances to pick a string with a teddy bear attached. At last report, the people who ran the game were still in business. And they'll probably be back next year.

IT'S JUST GOOD BUSINESS TO JOIN THE UAW

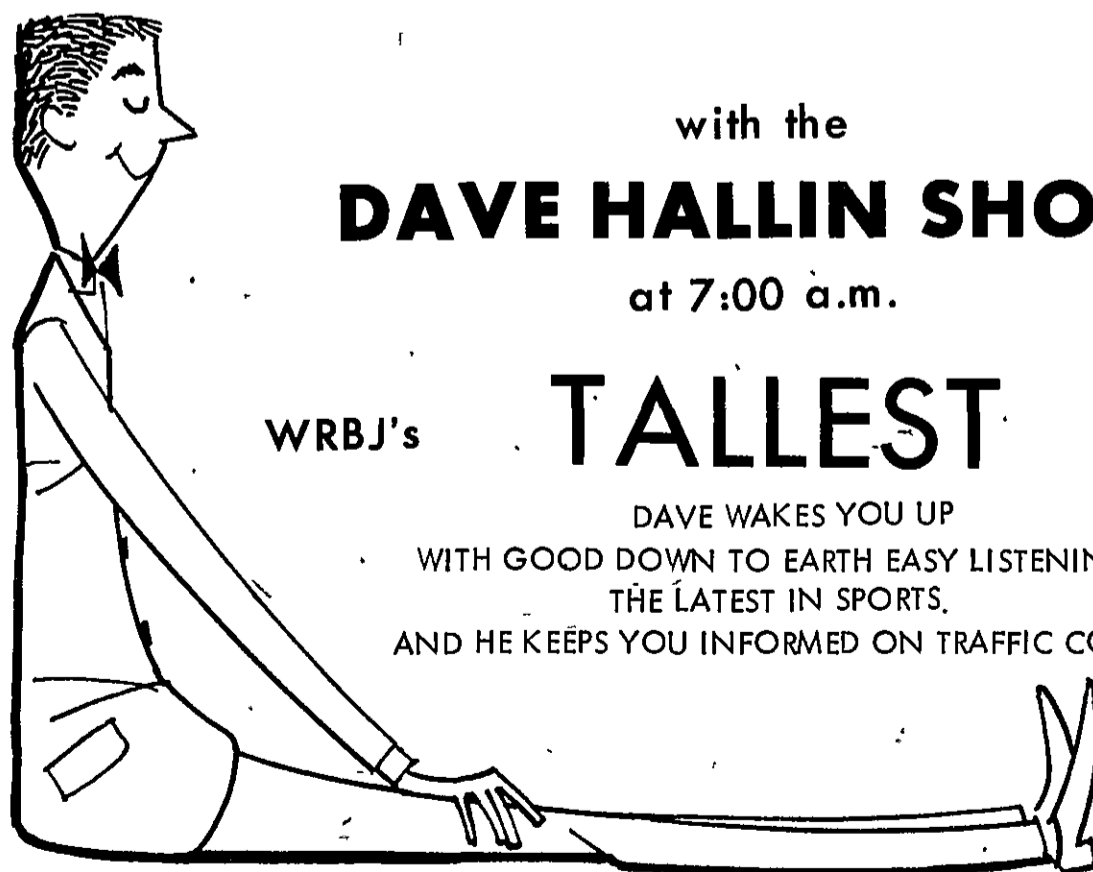

The Rt. Rev. Bernard J. Sheil Catholic Bishop once said: "If a Non-Union worker in a partially organized industry is receiving a good income, it is quite probably because his Non-Union employer, in order to keep the Union out, meets, or nearly meets, the higher wage and hours standard of Union establishments. Clearly such Non-Union employees are eating the fruits of others sacrifices. The workers in the Union shops perhaps risked their jobs to get their Union recognized, and pay monthly dues to keep it going. It is a categorical injustice for Non-Union employees, enjoying the common benefits, to refuse to carry their share of the common burden."

Study set for Bath storm sewer system

A special board of determinations to study the feasibility of installing a storm sewer system in Bath was named Wednesday by the Clinton County Board of Commissioners.

Walter Nobis, chairman of the board, announced the names of the three regular members and two alternates.

Those chosen were Daryl Shlaberry, Almond Crossmond and George Austin. Harold Beardslee and Ron Noble were named as alternates.

Dale Chapman, county drain commissioner, made the request after receiving a petition from Bath residents with seven signatures asking for the sewer system. The petition only required five signatures.

"If the board of determinations deems this a necessity, I guarantee that they'll have a drain," Chapman said.

"This is a rather expensive project and they do have both storm water and a sewage problem," Chapman said, "but they're asking for a storm drain."

Petitions had been received by Chapman earlier in the year requesting storm sewers, but the petitions were not signed properly and they were returned to the citizens.

Chapman also asked for approval by commissioners of a Department of Public Works bonding proposal for two county projects.

Approved was a proposal for Westphalia for an 18-year $670,000 bond and another 15-year plan for Maple Rapids costing $415,000.

Also approved was a sanitary sewer-lagoon system for parts of Bath township, bonded at $1,203,450. Chapman said that $528,550 would be for the Bath area and $674,900 for the Park Lake area.

In other action:

—The board questioned the use of a tape recorder in the public meeting.

The question arose when Art Walnwright, a reporter for radio station WRBJ of St. Johns, began recording the session.

Commissioners argued that the reporter was obliged to seek permission from the chairman before taping any of the proceedings.

Nobis asked Prosecuting Attorney Patrick Kelly for a ruling on the legality of recording the meeting. Kelly declined to issue an opinion immediately but indicated that he knew of no policy or law that would prohibit the use of a tape recorder by the press.

Commissioner Gerald L. Lankford moved that Walnwright be allowed to record the meeting, but a determination on policy would be needed before the session. The motion passed on a voice vote.

—Bids were called for recommendations by the property committee calling for sealing all of the surfaced areas around the county buildings parking areas and drives, painting of the courthouse trim and windows and a new four-wheel drive vehicle with a front mounted plow.

Questions & answers on Social Security

He also invites questions of general interest from readers of the News. Send your questions to him in care of the Clinton County News.)

Question: The dairy farm that I own and operate consists of 35 head of milk cows. Early next year I plan to sell the milk cows but continue to farm my 70 acres. On the 70 acres I will not earn more than $1,680 after deducting all my expenses. Will the money I receive from the sale of the dairy cows count in the $1,680 which I am allowed to farm?

Answer: Where the primary purpose for which the livestock is held is for the production of other farm commodities as in the case of work, dairy, or breeding animals the income received from the sale of such animals is not earnings from self-employment. Since the income is not earnings from self-employment, it does not count in the $1,680 which you can earn.

Question: I was hospitalized in January and February 1970 for 37 days. My doctor now tells me that another operation will be necessary and I can expect to be hospitalized for at least 30 days. Will I be required to pay another $52 deductible to the hospital?

Answer: Yes. Any time you are not in a hospital or other facility mainly providing skilled nursing care for 60 days in a row another $52 deductible must be paid. However, all your covered services, except the $52 deductible will be paid in full for 60 days.

Jim Schumaker fires a no-hitter in Pony tourney

When Jim Schumaker faced the first batter in a Pony League tournament Sunday, he uncorked a stray pitch which hit the batter and sent him to first base.

Then Schumaker uncorked something else—a no-hitter.

In facing 24 batters in the seven-inning game, he struck out 17, and walked two.

He was pitching for the St. Johns Phillies against Porter in the St. Louis Recreational Council Invitational Pony League Tournament.

St. Johns won the game, 1-0 when Bruce Irish cracked a fourth-inning double to drive in Fred San Miguel for the lone run.

Schumaker attends St. Johns High School where he is on the varsity baseball team. He did not, however, figure in a decision for the Redwings this season.

As a sophomore pitching in varsity competition, Jim did a credible job for us," said Doug Japnga, Redwing baseball coach. "The added experience he's getting in summer baseball is especially beneficial and profitable.

"Needless to say, I am delighted to hear he threw such a fine ballgame," added Japnga.

The no-hitter was the first of Schumaker's career.

Before the tournament, the St. Johns team had played only one regular season game and lost.

Sunday night's game was the first of the tournament for the Phillies.

When asked when he first began to suspect he was pitching no-hit ball, the 15-year-old pitcher said he asked his manager Dave Cook how many strikeouts he had at the end of four innings. At the time he had 11.

He said he usually threw two fast balls and came back with a curve to achieve the no-hitter.

speeds in both directions plus turning counts. The spokesman said checks were also made at the intersection of M 21 and Oakland. He did not know the location of the other intersection.

The city commission has presented the highway department with a resolution calling for a traffic signal at the intersection of M 21 and Oakland, in addition to U.S. 27 and Sturgis.

"Well, great!" said Mrs. Rochon when informed that the department apparently was acting on the group's project.

"I thought it was only one day that they were out there and I was a little downhearted," she added.

She said the group did receive a letter from the department confirming "a complete review of traffic operation along U.S. 27." "They didn't say when it would end and that has us concerned," she said.

"We're hoping they will conclude it before school starts."

She said the department promised to keep a record of traffic accidents throughout the area and also the amount of time motorists have to wait at the light.

Michigan Woman for Highway Safety wrote Mrs. Rochon and said the organization's next bulletin would ask any users of U.S. 27 to write the highway department urging that the re-routing of U.S. 27 around St. Johns be moved along.

Mrs. Rochon said that today (Wednesday) "People Who Care" was sponsoring a rummage sale in her garage (601 Kibbee) to raise money "so we can keep up with this."

She said the group has incurred costs in letter writing and other activities "which have come out of our own pockets."

She said the group has written letters to the editors of 60 Michigan newspapers calling attention to the situation in St. Johns. If the rummage sale is successful, she said the group plans to write every lawmaker in the Michigan Legislature.

Two receive scholarships from Alma

The members of Alma's new freshman class will arrive on the campus Saturday, Sept. 10, for a four-day orientation program before the start of the college's 1970-71 academic year.

Health board to investigate St. Lawrence as alternative for Clinton's mentally ill

By TIM YOUNKMAN News Staff Writer

The Health Committee of the Clinton County Board of Commissioners was directed Wednesday to investigate the possibility of using St. Lawrence Hospital in Lansing as an alternative to state hospitals for the county's mentally ill.

The committee was asked to study the comparative services, costs and rates of recovery at the St. Lawrence Community Mental Health Center, and the state facilities at Traverse City and Kalamazoo.

The request to form the study committee was made by Dr. Beverly Hunt, president of the Tri-County chapter of the Michigan Society for Mental Health. She is the Director of Counseling at Lansing Community College and a resident of Watertown Township.

She told the commissioners that the Community Health Center "provides much more intense and immediate treatment than a state hospital."

"Services at the Community Mental Health Center are much more readily accessible for emergencies, short term readmissions and out-patient treatment," she said.

"The poor, the uneducated and the unsophisticated are often the patients who are committed to state hospitals. These people should have an equal opportunity for treatment and recovery," Dr. Hunt told the board.

She indicated that services for older persons at both state hospitals are equal and that beds are available for patients from Clinton County at St. Lawrence.

"If we argue quality of service, then we have to reach the conclusion that the Community Mental Health Center is preferable to any state hospital," she said.

The request stemmed from a letter sent to the Clinton County Board of Commissioners and to the Department of Mental Health by the Michigan Society for Mental Health, a private citizens' group.

The letter asked for a change in hospital service areas which would put Clinton County in the Kalamazoo State Hospital service area rather than remain in the Traverse City district.

The letter pointed out that administration and organization of service delivery would be facilitated by the Community Mental Health Board working with a single state hospital, and that as long as Ingham and Eaton counties are served by Kalamazoo, then Clinton County should be also, Dr. Hunt said.

The letter noted the difference in distance and time between St. Johns and Traverse City State Hospital and that of St. Johns and Kalamazoo, she said.

The letter indicated a difference in public transportation between Clinton County and the two state facilities.

Dr. Hunt explained the difference in daily costs to the board of commissioners.

"In round figures, the Community Mental Health Center per diem costs approximately $55," she said. "State hospital costs now are $16.75."

She said the average length of stay at St. Lawrence is about 14 days, while the average stay at Traverse City is 90 to 100 days.

She noted that the cost for the average stay at the state hospital would run $1,507.50, while the St. Lawrence average would be $770.

The concern over the switch from one service area to another, hinges on the quality of service argument presented by Probate Judge Timothy Green and several of the commissioners. As probate judge, Green is responsible for committing the county's mentally ill to state institutions.

"In view of the legitimate concerns of the probate judge and the Community Mental Health Services Board relative to quality of service, and in view of the society's concern that state hospital patients at Traverse City are isolated and out-of-sight because of the distance factor... we request that the board of commissioners name a special study committee," Dr. Hunt said.

"We hope such a study committee would establish conversations with the Department of Mental Health, the Community Mental Health Services Board, the Mental Health Society, the probate court, St. Lawrence Hospital and the state hospitals," he said.

In a question and answer session, Commissioner Gerald L. Lankford indicated he did not think the county should be responsible for all expenses.

"I'm not a socialist," he said. "I think we should give good care, but if I could afford to pay $10,000 the county should not have to pay," he added.

"I want the people back in the community working rather than sitting around," Dr. Hunt replied. Lankford then questioned Bruce Ambrose, director of the society, about alcoholism and mental health.

"Experts consider alcoholism a mental problem," Ambrose said. "I am not saying we put all people with an alcohol problem in a state institution," he added.

Ambrose also noted that there is a failure rate in curing the individuals who are mentally ill, and these should be sent to the Kalamazoo State Hospital. He indicated that most of the patients could be properly cared for at St. Lawrence.

Protection

The Federal Wage Garnishment law, effective July 1, 1970, limits the amount of an employee's disposable earnings which may be made subject to garnishment, and it protects him from discharge because of garnishment for any one indebtedness. The Department of Labor's Wage and Hour Division is responsible for the enforcement of this law.

St. Johns wins safety citation

The City of St. Johns has been awarded an AAA Pedestrian Safety Citation for its outstanding record of eight years without a pedestrian fatality.

The award will be symbolized by a plaque to be received by Mayor Robert Wood on behalf of the City of St. Johns.

A total of 2,082 cities took part in the competition, which surveyed pedestrian safety accomplishments during the calendar year 1969. Cities compete in one of eight categories, according to population size. All told, 45 Michigan cities won awards this year.

Whoops! Dept.—Last week the Julie K Shop ran a summer clearance ad featuring women's and children's dresses and skirts at . . . are you ready? . . . 0% off. The goof was ours. Somewhere along the line we lost a 2. It should have been 20% off. Whoops!

Stu Watt at St. Johns Co-op has it in for us. Everytime we go in we head for the scales to see how our diet is coming. He always checks to make sure we have both feet on the scales.

We hope you had a pleasant Fourth, we did. Took the family to Westphalia for the annual Parish Festival, stopped by the city park so the boys could go on the rides and watched the fireworks in Alma. We understand now that we should have stayed in St. Johns for the fireworks.

Talk about controlling the news. We had to lock Boss Ron Huard out of the office Tuesday morning. Ron wop the steer at the 4th of July drawing and if we hadn't locked him out, the front page this week would have been an eight column, four color picture of his prize.

Our wife is . . . well, she looks like . . . she'd remind you of . . . well, the best way to describe her is to say she answers to the name of "Big Mama." We've got to keep "Big Mama" out of St. Johns this week. She'd drive Pat Kitts crazy, but make him a rich man. Pat is the manager at Economy Shoes . . . and he's having a sale . . . and the Big M has a thing about sales . . . and shoes . . . and especially about shoe sales. The stores where she grew up didn't stock her size. She wore hose and men's galoshes for years. Nowadays more women must have big feet because they're making her size. (We'd tell the size but we have to live with her and her name isn't Big Mama for nothing). Anyway, when she hits a shoe sale two things happen. She tries on EVERY pair in the store and buys everything that she can wear without pain.

It's that time of year again. Cliff Loesch of G&L Sales is celebrating his 39th birthday . . . again. Happy Birthday, Cliff. But this is definitely the last time we say you're 39.

DeWitt Township, the most populated area of Clinton County, will have almost three times as many people in 20 years, according to the Tri-County Regional Planning Commission last week.

The commission's report, issued for the regional conference of 1970 data census users in Lansing June 30, estimated that DeWitt Township's population would jump from its current 9,946 to 27,700 by 1990.

The township would remain the most populated area of the county, accounting for 35.59 per cent of Clinton's population. By 1990, the commission estimates, St. Johns will have a population of 6,015 to rank second in the county and will account for 10.30 per cent of the county residents.

Bath will rank third with 8.4 per cent of the population, an estimated 6,540 people. The next two spots should belong to Watertown Township with 4,900 people and the City of DeWitt with 4,300. According to the commission figures, the combined population of DeWitt Township, Bath Township and Watertown Township will have over half of the county residents with 50.29 per cent or 39,140 people.

The total population of Clinton County by 1990 is estimated at 77,825 with the Tri-County total at 590,650.

Bath's Von Drasek at MSU ag workshop

William Von Drasek, of Bath High School, is among eight central Michigan teachers of vocational agriculture who were given an opportunity last week to keep up to date with the rapidly changing agricultural occupation field. They enrolled in a two-week program at Michigan State University designed to acquaint teachers with agricultural supply, farm mechanics, forestry and rural recreation.

With the cooperation of eight local agricultural firms, the teachers are spending five half-days with the companies at the management level, learning what is needed to make young men and women employable in non-farm agricultural occupations. They are also learning what experiences their students will face in the business world.

By actually working with the local companies, they are learning about products, as well as the characteristics of potential customers.

There may be nothing new under the sun, but the imitations often surpass the original.

Back in 1952 Andy's IGA didn't have a stockroom so when the week's stock arrived "we had to put it up that night," says Rick Anderson, owner. From left, above are Rick's father, the late Dorr (Andy) Anderson; Larry Moore, former butcher; and two cashiers, the late Fern Bacon and Wilma Bensinger who has been with the store for 23 years.

Andy's IGA - - a family tradition for 34 years

Rick Anderson is keeping a family tradition going—he's tending the store.

These days the 27-year-old Anderson, son of the late Dorr (Andy) Anderson, is busily involved in the store's 34th anniversary celebration.

The store, Andy's IGA, was founded by his father in 1937 when he purchased the former Burk Food Market on Clinton Avenue.

The elder Anderson had worked for Kroger's for 10 years before going into business on his own. Ironically, there was a Kroger's market right across the street from his first store.

In 1942 he bought the Smith Shopping Basket, located where Paul's Automotive is today.

And six years later Anderson opened a fruit stand on North U.S. 27, site of the present store. "Our back room today is bigger than that original building," says the younger Anderson.

Then in 1950 the downtown location was closed and a 40 x 60-foot addition was made to the store on U.S. 27.

In 1953 there was another addition (50 x 60) and "that gave us a back room finally," says Anderson.

"Before that," he says, "every Wednesday we'd get our stock in and it would be piled on the sidewalk and we would have to put it up that night."

In 1959 another store was opened in Ithaca and last fall there was an addition of 2,000 square feet to the St. Johns store which made a total of 14,000 square feet. Rick's brother-in-law, Gerald Tiedt, supervises the Ithaca operation.

Meanwhile, Rick had been working in his father's store ever since he was a youngster.

"I think I always wanted to get into the business," he says. "And I still do everything one time or another—baker and if we had candles, I'd probably do that, too," he adds with a chuckle.

He's been running the business since 1967, after a two-year stint with Hamady Brothers in Flint following his graduation from Michigan State University.

Since that fruit stand was opened—"the front wasn't even closed in," says Anderson—Andy's IGA has become computerized to serve up to three million customers a year.

The store orders 2,000 cases of merchandise each week, and has such modern aids as a computerized meat scale that measures within 100th of an ounce, and computerized ordering and inventory control.

He says that industry has even produced computerized cashiers and automatic bagging machines. "But our cashiers will never be eliminated," he says, "because of the personal touch."

"And we still send new kids down to Kroger's to borrow the shelf stretchers," he adds with a grin.

When he earned two degrees. "I went there to get experience working with somebody else in a bigger operation, since I planned on this growing bigger," he says.

When he returned to St. Johns, his father was still at the store but less active. He died in June of last year.

Congratulations! it's a weed

This spring scientists dug up a bottle of seeds which had been buried on the Michigan State University campus for 90 years. After careful preparation the seeds were planted and MSU botanists are now the proud parents of 90-year-old weeds.

This experiment, begun by Dr. W. J. Beal in 1879, is now the granddaddy of American seed vitality studies. In his own words, Dr. Beal said that he wished "to learn something more in regard to the length of time the seeds of some of our most common plants would remain dormant in the soil and yet germinate when exposed to favorable conditions."

To accomplish this, Dr. Beal, professor of botany at what was then called Michigan Agricultural College, selected 50 seeds of 20 different kinds of plants.

Twenty such lots were prepared and were mixed with sandy soil and placed in pint bottles. The bottles were then buried at a depth of 19 inches with the mouths slanting downward so that water could not collect in them.

According to Dr. Aleksander (sic) Kivilaan, MSU botanist now conducting the experiment, "The original plan was to dig up a bottle every five years and germinate the seeds. However, in 1920, it was decided to change the interval to 10 years to prolong the study."

The Beal experiment represents the oldest continuing experiment at the nation's oldest college of agriculture.

The bottle of seeds dug up in April of this year has yielded only one species of plant—Verbasum blattaria, a weed commonly called moth mullein.

"In 1960 there were three species which germinated," says Kivilaan. However, the fact that moth mullein is the only one to survive the test of 90 years is not unexpected. "There weren't very many plants of the other two species in 1960, which indicated that they might be nearing the end of their longevity," he says.

Dr. Beal's farsighted experiment has not only yielded important information on seed vitality and longevity, but it also has implications that Dr. Beal never dreamed of.

MSU scientists will grow the moth mullein plants which came from the 90-year-old seeds and then study them to determine if exposure to 90 years of natural soil radiation has had any effect on their genetic structure.

Since current theories indicate that the DNA molecules of the seeds had undoubtedly sustained damage from natural radiation, the study will provide insight to the ability of genetic material to repair itself.

Only seven of the original 20 seed-containing bottles that Dr. Beal buried remain in their hidden location on the MSU campus. The slumber of the seeds will remain undisturbed for another 10 years until 1980—the 100th anniversary of Dr. Beal's experiment.

Farm payments earlier than usual

Farmers who have contributed to stabilizing markets for food and fiber and to the conservation of soil and water resources by taking part in the 1970 wheat and feed grain programs are receiving their program payments earlier this year than ever before, according to Nick Smith, Chairman of the Michigan Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee.

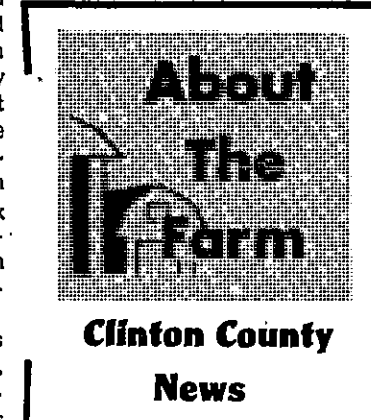

The first batch of payments was made beginning July 1, 1970. Additional payments will continue to be made as rapidly as farmers certify compliance with program requirements and as fast as individual farm records can be processed and checks returned to ASCS county offices for distribution to farmers.

"Because of the excellent cooperation between farmers and their local ASCS offices, 50 per cent of the participating producers in Michigan will receive their payments on or about July 1, 1970," Smith said.

Hybrid pine

A new hybrid cross between Austrian pine and Japanese red pine shows promise for use as pulpwood and in roadside plantings.

Discovered by Michigan State University foresters in 1961, the hybrid trees have excellent growth, early reproduction, good recovery from transplanting shock, and the possibility of salt tolerance (important for roadside trees because of salt used in snow removal).

Most payments should be completed by mid-August, if farmers who signed up will complete the necessary certification indicating that they have complied with all of the program provisions.

Farm program payments help maintain a balance between supply and demand, the chairman explained. He pointed out that both farmers and consumers benefit from this balance.

Organic matter affects pesticides

Soil scientists at Michigan State University have found that plants, animals, insects and microorganisms influence the movement and activity of pesticides in the soil. Knowing how this organic fraction of the soil reacts may allow man to take advantage of these natural systems to make the most effective use of pesticides while minimizing the chances of harmful residual effects.

3,000 acres a day

Abandoned silos in almost any Michigan city stick above the rooftops of suburbia, as if they were dinosaurs above the foliage, telling a story of a farm that was pushed aside by a growing population.

But farm land which sprouts seeds for food must not disappear. Like the air and water, you land cannot be assumed to be an everlasting commodity.

The need to control land growth is great. Many officials estimate the land development is traveling a racer's pace of about 3,000 acres a day, 21,000 acres a week—more than one million acres annually!

The pushing growth of the metropolis is smothering the land. This has always been true, from the first settlers in this country.

First was a camp, then a settlement, then villages and towns, then cities—always bigger, bigger is the pattern. The slogan became "Go West Young Man," seek your future in the wilderness. And west went the mass; growing, building, living and pushing outward, rolling back the land from the forest, it was the natural pattern of young America.

If life became too crowded there was always the wilderness to turn to, to forge a new life from.

But we've long ago reached the Pacific, people can't turn to the new frontier, pack up and leave like before.

Today the unmanageable masses are growing in suburbia, eating up farm land for new complexes and in the process America's food supply is placed in jeopardy—there is nowhere else to move, subsequently, as farms bite the dust, less farmers are pressured to grow higher yields.

The challenge to residents should be how they are going to control the growth in a way that it becomes constructive, not destructive. It should contribute to the well being of the community.

How to do it? Other than current land use legislation the only legal tool that citizens have is through zoning (reserving the land for desirable growth).

In Michigan less than half of the 1247 townships are zoned while our state's 114,162 miles of roads have paved open the gateway for growth everywhere. Communities should be preparing for the new decade, to build positive progress from the maze of a growing state.

North Carolina exchange

By JOHN AYLWORTH

Thirteen Clinton County 4-H'ers and leaders returned home Sunday from their 4-H Exchange Trip to Davidson County, North Carolina. While in North Carolina they lived with different host families and participated in family experiences.

During the week the group visited the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. where they saw the making of cigarettes from beginning to end. Also they saw the tobacco plants growing to where some of the tobacco is stored for several years before being used. The group visited the furniture factory in Thomasville where they saw the largest chair in the world. They were able to see how furniture was made via the assembly line.

On Friday they attended a district 4-H Activities Day where the entries for the state contest were selected in the areas of public speaking, demonstrations, talent show, tractor driving and others.

Many of the members learned to eat different kinds of food and ways of preparing it other than the way mom cooks it. They agreed it was a good experience and they are looking forward to having the North Carolina 4-H group here in 1971.

One hundred eighty-two Clinton County 4-H members and parents and leaders have obtained tickets to attend the 4-H day at Tiger Stadium, July 25 at Detroit. More than 3,500 4-H'ers from throughout Michigan are expected to attend.

The 4-H Food Frolic held last Tuesday was successful for the 105 food members and leaders who attended. Thirteen clubs had their members giving action exhibits, demonstrations and skits in the show and tell time. Also they learned about foods through having fun and games.

The 4-H teen leaders viewed slides taken on the North Carolina 4-H Exchange trip by members and saw a film "Without Warning" pointing out different health careers available and possible health activities for local 4-H clubs. The teen leaders have completed final plans for their canoe trip on Aug. 1-2 near Grayling. Teen leaders wishing to go must turn in their reservation and $7 by July 15 if they wish to attend. More details will be sent later to those attending.

More than 50 4-H'ers have returned cards indicating they will participate in the 4-H Award Trip to Barry County, July 18-19. Adult drivers are needed to drive either way and help transport the group to camp and back. Any adults interested should contact the Extension Office right away.

Lawrence Moore and family of St. Johns, Mr. and Mrs. John Ball and daughters of North Lansing, Mrs. Virginia Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Martin, Dan Haviland and Jerry Brocker.

Mrs. Ardis Sibley, Diane Sibley and Randy Davis of this area were among the group attending the 4-H Exchange trip to North Carolina this past week.

The Friendly Farmers community farm bureau group held their annual picnic at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Greenfield on Airport Road on June 7. The group had a good attendance. They are not having any meetings until September.

Mrs. Goldie Moore visited Mrs. Mayme Gibson on Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Gibson and family attended the 40th wedding anniversary on Saturday afternoon of their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Knight of Detroit.

The Glackmore Riders 4-H members will be spending a two-day holiday, July 14-15 at Cedar Point in Sandusky, Ohio. They have chartered a bus for this holiday venture at the amusement center and beach area. Throughout the year the members have been raising funds for this trip. The club has set the date of July 26 for their first horse show held at the Dan Gorman farm west of DeWitt. Five members participated in the County Horse Show on June 21.

The Stoney Creek 4-H Club members have appointed the litter barrel and float committees for their entries at the fair. The committees met on June 29 but their themes or topics have not been let out yet. The members discussed the Gerber Food Tour on July 14 and the 4-H Day at Tiger Stadium on July 25.

The Brush and Halter 4-H Dairy members learned how to make rope halters for their animals at their last meeting. The club will meet on July 13 at the home of Charles Green where they will get some practice in dairy judging.

The Willing Workers 4-H members discussed the 4-H Food Frolic held on June 30 and the upcoming Gerber Food Tour on July 14. The members received their fair books and discussed the fair exhibits and the changes in the judging schedule. Mary Lou Bergdoll gave a demonstration on how to make a banana nut salad.

The Prairie 4-H Club members will be holding a potluck on Sunday, July 12, 1 p.m. at the Sleepy Hollow Conservation Club for all the members and their families. At their last meeting Pam Smith told about their food training meeting and Jeff Plozman told about the bicycle safety meeting. The garden and flower members met Monday evening for their meeting.

The 4-H Wonders 4-H Club members learned that the 347 returnable bottles they had picked up during the clean up had all been returned for deposit. Demonstrations were given by Glenn Pung on "Rules of Gun Safety," Jan and Jack Woodhams on "Beef Showmanship," Jeff Brasington on "Planting Your Vegetable Garden," Linda Schomisch on "Measuring Dry Ingredients," Gary Andrews on "Feeding Rabbits" and Ken Andrews on "10 Commandments of Gun Safety." The members were reminded of the Food Frolic program and Gerber Food Tour. Susan Woodhams and Linda Schomisch gave demonstrations at the Food Frolic.

Farm output per man-hour is now 60 percent higher than at the start of the '60's, according to New Holland, the farm equipment division of Sperry Rand.

Randy Davis, left, of the Olive 4-H Projects Club in Clinton County presents a gavel from his club to Doug Owen of the North Denton 4-H Club in North Carolina. Randy was a delegate from Clinton County, to Davidson County, North Carolina 4-H Exchange June 20-28.

Hog, pig crop is up in Michigan

The number of hogs and pigs on Michigan farms was up 22 per cent from a year ago, according to the Michigan-Crop Reporting Service.

The June 1 inventory was estimated at 773,000 head compared with 634,000 head a year earlier.

Hogs kept for breeding purposes at 135,000 head were up 24 per cent while market hogs at 638,000 head were up 22 per cent.

The breakdown of market hogs by weight groups indicates that those under 60 pounds were up 15 per cent from a year earlier, those weighing 60 to 119 pounds were up nine per cent and those weighing over 120 pounds were up 50 per cent.

The December-May pig crop in Michigan totaled 594,000 head, up 16 per cent from a year earlier.

A total of 82,000 sows farrowed during this period, up 21 per cent from the same period a year earlier. Michigan hog producers reported intention to farrow 86,000 sows during the June-November 1970 period, if realized this would be 9,000 head or 12 per cent more than farrowed during the same period in 1969.

Hogs and pigs on U.S. farms on June 1 are estimated at 64.7 million head—a 10 per cent increase from a year earlier.

Hogs and pigs kept for breeding are estimated at 10.7 million, up 18 per cent from a year earlier. Market hogs and pigs, at 54.0 million, are up nine per cent.

The December-May 1970 pig crop is estimated at 52.6 million head, 12 per cent above the same period in 1969.

A total of 7.2 million sows farrowed during December-May 1970, 13 per cent more than a year earlier. Pigs per litter averaged 7.33 compared with 7.36 last year.

Hog producers intend to farrow 6.7 million sows during June-November 1970, 17 per cent more than in the year earlier period.

Intended farrowings and average pigs per litter adjusted for trend, if realized, would produce a June-November pig crop of 49.2 million head, 17 per cent more than last year.

The 1970 pig crop (December 1969 through November 1970) would then be 101.8 million head, 14 per cent above 1969—largest since 1943.

ASCS REPORT

Program payments

By BILL SMITH
County Executive Director

Farmers who have contributed to stabilizing markets for food and fiber and to the conservation of soil and water resources by taking part in the 1970 wheat and feed grain programs are receiving their program payments earlier this year than ever before, according to L. J. Hart, Chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The first batch of payments was made beginning July 2.

Additional payments will continue to be made as rapidly as farmers certify compliance with program requirements and as fast as individual farm records can be processed and checks returned to ASCS County Offices for distribution to farmers.

Only one check will be issued when producers are participating in both feed grain and wheat. In the past, separate checks were issued on the same farm.

Most payments should be completed by mid-August, if farmers who signed up will complete the necessary certification that they have complied with all of the program provisions.

Farm program payments help maintain a balance between supply and demand, the chairman explained. He pointed out that both farmers and consumers benefit from this balance.

"Agricultural productivity almost doubled in the past 20 years, but farmers' markets take only about a third of this increase," said Hart.

This means we need new markets. Farm programs help us hold down farm production and maintain farm income until new markets are developed and old ones expanded.

"Huge surpluses must be avoided. They are costly in tax dollars and are wasteful of food and fiber.

"Farm programs help farmers make adjustments in their individual farming operations that in the long run will result in more farm income from the marketplace and less from the public treasury.

"Since farmers are $50-billion-a-year purchasers of goods and services produced in our cities and rural towns, the workers and business firms in the cities and towns benefit from farm programs, too."

"Farm programs also make important contributions to conservation of natural resources and help fight pollution," Hart said.

"Acres that are diverted out of crop production under farm programs are put to conserving uses such as the growing of grass and trees. Such practices conserve soil and water, provide habitat for wildlife and small game, help prevent pollution of our streams from sediment and agricultural chemicals or waste products, and reduce air pollution caused by blowing dust," the chairman explained.

"When a farmer takes land out of production and puts it to a soil and water conserving use, he gives up the value of the production he normally would have received as income. At the same time, the farmer pays taxes on land removed from production even though that land produces no crops. Program payments are designed to compensate him for these voluntary contributions toward a more stable farm economy and a better environment," Hart said.

"In recent years, the U.S. Department of Agriculture had advanced partial payments to farmers during the spring sign-up period for the feed grain program only. The balance of the feed grain payment, and wheat payments were generally made starting in late July and continuing through August and September, or later," the chairman explained.

"Because of budget restraints, partial payments could not be made this year. However, the department made a commitment to farmers that full payments would be made as early as possible. That commitment is now being fulfilled."

Shepardsville

By Lucille Spencer

Mr. and Mrs. John Spencer were involved in an automobile accident in Midland County at the intersection of M 20 and N. Meridan Road on Wednesday, June 24. They had stopped for a caution light and were just starting north when a car approaching from the west struck the Spencer car broadside. The other car had the radiator damaged and also the right fender. The Spencer car was damaged beyond repair. The occupants were not injured.

The new minister of the Shepardsville and Price United Methodist Churches is Rev. Roger Wittup. He is doing post graduate work at Michigan State University. He was married just a short while ago and is now on his honeymoon and is expected to preach his first sermon in this area next Sunday.

William Schaar of DeWitt brought the message of the morning on June 28 at both the Shepardsville and Price Churches. His topic was "The Question Mark." He is connected with the Lansing Community College.

Insecticides can boost pest numbers

Pesticides used to control insects and save agricultural crops work well, but the same bad bugs are often back worse than ever the next year to provide more headaches for the farmer.

According to Dr. Dean L. Haynes, entomologist at Michigan State University, "This phenomenon points out the difference between controlling the damage that an insect can do and eliminating the threat of the same damage.

"Getting a high level of insect pest mortality at one stage of the insect's life cycle isn't always the answer to permanent or long-lasting control," says Haynes. "For example, you can destroy 90 per cent of the insect eggs, but when the adults finally emerge, you may have more of them than there were in the previous generation."

This is because the spray kills predators and parasites of the insect pest, too. It also reduces the total number of pests, thus easing the stress of self-competition. As a result, those insects which do survive are healthier, they have more and better food, and they lay more eggs.

"Under such conditions the total pest population can actually build up more rapidly," Haynes says.

Haynes is conducting research to find out why and how insect pests die, because the answers to these two questions hold the key to the size and fate of the next generation of insects.

State Crop Report

By MICHIGAN CROP REPORTING SERVICE

CROP COMMENTS FOR WEEK ENDING JUNE 27

Wet, humid weather continued to hinder hay making and other field work.

Cool temperatures slowed crop development.

Soil moisture varied from adequate to surplus in the southeastern and south central counties to short in the Northwest Lower Peninsula and much of the Upper Peninsula. Soil moisture mostly adequate elsewhere.

The State averaged 4.6 days suitable for field work.

Soybean planting is about finished and dry beans are more than 90 per cent planted. Wet weather prevented the completion of corn and soybean planting in the southeastern counties.

Earlier rains at planting time also resulted in poor emergence in some corn and soybean fields. Corn on well drained land has made a good growth, but some fields are spotty because of water standing in low spots.

Wheat, oats and other small grains continue to develop well. Cereal leaf beetles have caused locally serious damage to oat and to some wheat fields. Considerable spraying has prevented serious damage in other areas.

Wheat is mostly in the milk to dough stage; about one-third has turned yellow. More than 40 per cent of the State's oat acreage has headed.

Wet weather slowed hay making, but, thanks to an early start this year, over 70 per cent of the first cutting is now made. This compares with only 55 per cent made a year ago. Pastures continue to supply average to above average amounts of feed in most areas.

Potato vines have developed well in most areas. Spraying of vines is active in Bay County. Sugar beet blocking and thinning is about finished. Sugar beet plants are developing well.

Strawberry picking ranges from finished in the Southwest to about half complete in the Manistee area and just starting in the Alpena area. The celery harvest is active in the Muskegon area.

The harvest of peas for canning has started in the Lake Odessa area with excellent yields. Heavy rains and flooding damaged lettuce in Ingham County and some growers are replanting lettuce. Onions are developing well in the west central counties. The early cabbage harvest is underway in Monroe county.

Tart cherries are ripening in the Southwest and picking for processing is expected to start June 29. Sweet cherry harvest expected to start this week in the West Central counties. Other tree fruits continue to develop well.

A boon for "wash outs."

Erosion control structures a boon for 'wash outs'

Erosion control structures are a boon for troublesome "wash outs" along open drainage ditches, says Lloyd B. Campbell, of the U.S. Soil Conservation office in St. Johns.

It is a safe method of lowering surface water into an open drainage ditch, thus eliminating ditch bank erosion and reducing sedimentation into ditches, he adds. These structures catch water in the adjacent fields and lower it in a corrugated metal pipe through the ditch back into the open ditch.

Surface water tends to concentrate next to the drainage ditches and the water may build up and pour over the bank cutting gullies back into the fields, he says. Modern machinery used on large scale farming makes it difficult to farm around these gullies.

The soil washed into ditches causes small dams. This raises the water level in the channels and they do not operate efficiently. It is expensive to clean the "wash in" soil from the drainage ditch.

"Much erosion occurs from these "wash outs," says Robert Moore of the Clinton County Soil Conservation District.

"This is why good conservation programs, including disposal of surplus water, are needed on all farms," says Moore.

Campbell says there are three types of inlets for these corrugated metal pipe structures.

1. A vertical section of corrugated metal pipe of proper height with a horizontal piece of corrugated metal welded to it. These are easy to handle and install.

2. A concrete box, open at the top, serves as an inlet to convey water into the corrugated metal pipe. These can be made by building forms or obtaining pre-constructed boxes from a ready-mix concrete company.

3. A concrete block riser. Constructed by hand labor.

A corrugated metal outlet pipe is used on all structures. (size depends on acres in watershed)

"If "wash outs" are a problem in your district stop at your local Soil Conservation office for more information, Campbell advises.

Cherry crop is down

Michigan's tart cherry crop for 1970 is forecast at 105,000 tons according to the Michigan Crop Reporting Service.

If realized, this year's tonnage will be 1,000 tons less than harvested in 1969, but 5,000 tons more than produced in 1968.

Last year, 5,000 tons of mature cherries were not harvested and a much larger tonnage was lost due to heavy infestation of leaf spot.

Cold, wet weather during bloom was very unfavorable for pollination especially in the central and northern counties. Spring frost damage was mostly limited to Oceana and Mason counties.

Some trees that were not harvested in 1969 due to heavy infestation of shot hole had weakened buds and suffered some winter injury. A few of these trees have died. The best crops this year are on the more vigorous and younger trees.

Prospects are down one-fifth in the west central fruit area. Nearly all of this decrease is in Oceana and Mason counties. The important northwestern area is expected to harvest only slightly less tonnage than last year.

Many cherries in this area were not harvested due to shot hole infestation last year. In the southwestern counties more cherries are expected to be harvested than a year ago when a tenth of the mature cherries were left on the trees. Harvest will start in this area in early July.

Farm loan program has some changes

Recent changes in loan programs on 1970-crop wheat, barley and rye will help keep locally produced grains in the area of production until marketed, according to Nick Smith, Chairman of the Michigan State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. This, he says, should encourage more orderly marketing and better returns to the producers.

Today's farmer who can store his grain close at hand, he stated, generally is in a better position to sell where he can get the best price. Keeping his options open affords the producer an opportunity to move his grain in the direction of greatest demand.

Effective with the 1970 crops, he stated, a more realistic and equitable system will be used to establish county price support loan rates for wheat, barley and rye. Loan rates, he added, are used to accomplish the two basic objectives of the Price Support Program, namely, promotion of orderly marketing and setting a minimum price if the crop is an eligible quality.

The 1970 county loan rates for wheat, barley and rye are individually set based on factors of domestic and rail freight patterns, market price relationships, prices received by farmers, export market movements and the national average support level of $1.25 per bushel for wheat, $.83 per bushel for barley and $1.02 per bushel for rye.

The new county loan rate structure, he added, will permit more normal movement into domestic and export channels, lessening the quantities delivered to the Government. Chairman Smith emphasized that crops sold in the market place instead of being acquired by the Government are good business for the farmer and all other taxpayers.

Growing

The U.S. total labor force is expected to exceed 100 million by 1980, growing at an annual rate of 1.7 per cent.

July in Michigan - - take your pick of things to do

Vacation travelers with an eye for the unusual—that something different which makes a trip memorable—will find it in Michigan in July. Then the uncommon becomes commonplace in the Great Lake State, according to listings in the Michigan Calendar of Events. These events, along with an historical pageant, a steam rodeo, water carnivals, numerous county fairs and more than 15 festivals are among some 70 community activities and events listed for July in the summer edition of the Events Calendar, compiled and distributed by the Michigan Tourist Council. Indian culture, tribal dances, the arrival of the missionaries—all combine to bring history to life during the Baraga County Historical Pageant in L'Anse, July 24-26. Members of the local Ojibway Tribe portray the Indian characters in this drama typifying the era when the Indian owned and inhabited the forests. Authentic Indian Pow-Wows, log birling, canoe races and a sunset boat parade on Keveenaw Bay also will be featured during the three-day event. Steam spewing from giant boilers signals the coming of the parade of engines at the annual Steam Rodeo to be held July 31 - Aug. 2 in Hastings. Hurling relics of a bygone era will engage in races, pulling contests, a tug-of-war and ramp climbing. Operated by both men and women, the antique engines also will be used to demonstrate threshing, baling and sawing as it was done in the early days of mechanized farming. Water-oriented sports enthusiasts can look forward to the Sunfish-Sailfish Regatta, Tawas Bay, July 11-12; the annual Troutarama, Baldwin, July 23-25; and Regatta Ypsilanti, Ypsilanti, July 24-26. Art lovers and antique collectors have several Michigan shows to choose from, including those offered by the communities of St. Joseph, July 12, Grand Haven, July 17-18, Cadillac, July 18, Lapeer, July 18, Alpena, July 24-26, and Wyandotte, July 31 - August 2. Other events in store for Michigan travelers in July include a Water Festival in White Cloud, July 8 - 11, the Upper Peninsula Soap Box Derby at Hancock, July 11-12, the Munger Potato Festival, Munger, July 23-26 and a Venetian Festival in Charlevoix, July 25-26. Fairs, fruit festivals, centennial celebrations, an old time riverboat show, a championship rodeo and a gem and mineral show round out the listing of warm-weather events in the calendar. The June-October edition of the Michigan Calendar of Events and other Michigan vacation planning information are available free from the Michigan Tourist Council, Stevens T. Our reps

The fires of democracy are beginning to kindle and by the time the Aug. 4 primaries roll around political sparks will be flying in all directions.

There is an excitement about election years that is sensed not only by active candidates, but by anyone who is aware that foundations of our country undergo reinforcement with each campaign.

It is unfortunate that political boundaries have caused Clinton County to be a part of two districts but a major consolation can be found in the persons of Representatives Bill Ballenger and Dick Allen.

Our election year assessment finds the pair to be in good stead. Each has had several occasions to display interest in their districts and voters who have contacted them personally or by mail know they truly have been concerned with Clinton County problems.

Each has his own style but some traits which they share in common include the desire to be abreast of the legislative process and to be articulate with constituents on where they stand. Another is their knowledge of "the ball game" which is impressive. Couple these with their keen wit, which seems to be the core of any successful politician, and it is difficult to see anything but a favorable future for either.

Reps. Ballenger and Allen obviously will not serve Clinton County in their present capacity indefinitely, but as they go on to other challenges they'll leave one challenge behind. If it's met in their manner, Clinton County will continue to be well represented.

Hey, wife!

Young people who complain that the "Establishment" doesn't listen to them have nothing on your average newly married housewife.

A survey of about 300 young couples in Peoria and Decatur, Ill., by the Survey Research Laboratory of the University of Illinois, found that while nine out of 10 wives reported discussing the purchase of a new car with their husbands, only eight of 10 husbands said they discussed the subject with their wives.

In other words, 30 out of 150 husbands just weren't listening when they were addressed by their better halves. Either that or men and women have different definitions of "discussion."

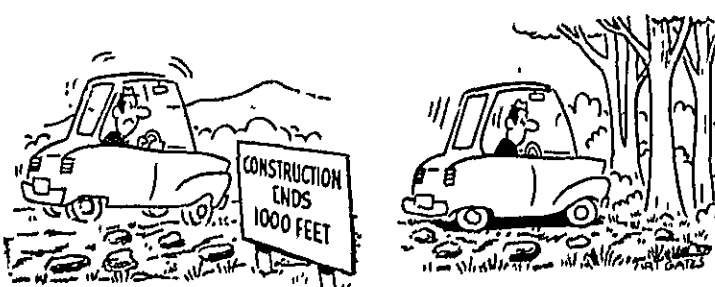

The survey was conducted last fall as part of a continuing study of consumer decisions.

Family size and the wife's working are the two decisions discussed most frequently by young couples. Nine out of 10 couples in the sample group discussed these subjects.

Weekly food expenditures and where to go on vacation are decisions discussed least often.

Another significant finding reported by the laboratory: "It is interesting to note that more wives than husbands believe that you can feel both love and hate for the same person."

Letters to the editor

'It should not have to be a matter of luck to safely cross U.S. 27'

To the Editor:

I feel compelled to write you once again in reference to our campaign for safety on U.S. 27. A recent letter opposing a stoplight was printed. We welcome dissent but hope to give a few more reasons for such a light.

If such a light irritates travelers we feel they might write their representative and urge rerouting around St. Johns, Too, I would rather have safety at such a corner even if it meant irritation. However, we feel for holiday weekends the light could be geared to the traffic situation thus allowing a free flow of traffic. Such a light during the week would be beneficial to everyone around here.

Since the recent fatal accident there have been three additional accidents at the corner of U.S. 27 and Sturgis Street. People must realize that the traffic flow is much heavier now than it was 10 years or so ago when the child was killed at U.S. 27 and McConnell Street.

Soon I 69 will be dumped on to U.S. 27 and that will mean that much more traffic going through here. Because we care about the safety of everyone who goes through that corner, we have petitioned for the light.

If we can get a light at the corner of U.S. 27 and Sturgis Street, the people will have more of a chance to cross the highway at every corner between there and U.S. 27 and M 21.

It is agreed that the threat of death is ever present to everyone, however, it should not have to be a matter of "luck" to cross U.S. 27 or any other street. If this is a matter of "luck" then we hope to help it along with the proposed stoplight.

We realize the ultimate solution is rerouting but that is in the far distant future (10 years or so) so for the present we want the chance to cross the highway safely. We want our children to have that chance and we want the people who travel through here to be able to do it without a bit of trouble.

Church mergers - - a loss of identity?

By REV. HUGH BANNINGA

What is the plan of merger for a number of Christian churches all about?

To answer this question completely would take up the space of this column for many weeks to come. Instead of doing that let me quote from a document entitled, "A Plan of Union for the Church of Christ Uniting."

This document has been commended to the churches involved for study and response by the Consultation on Church Union, a group of clergymen who have been meeting together for a number of years trying to work out a plan of union.

Chapter I of this document reads, "To begin anew we The African Methodist Episcopal Church, The African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church, The Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), The Christian Methodist Episcopal Church, The Presbyterian Church in the U.S., The United Church of Christ, The United Methodist Church, The United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. a company of the people of God celebrating the one God, Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, moving toward his coming Kingdom and seeking in faithfulness to unite under the Gospel for Christ's mission and service in the world, open ourselves individually and corporately to renewal from the Holy Spirit, struggle against racism, poverty, environmental blight, war, and other problems of the family of man, minister to the deep yearning of the human spirit for fullness of life, provide for the common use of the resources and gifts of many traditions, in a church catholic, evangelical, and reformed, do covenant together in this Plan of Union for The Church of Christ Uniting (C.C.U.)."

Chapter I of this Plan of Union is the first of ten chapters which spell out the details for merger. This document outlines what it means to be God's people, what it would mean to be a member of this proposed new church, what the faith would be, what the various areas of ministry would be, and how the merger would be completed.

Doesn't each of these nine churches run the risk of sacrificing some of the richness of their own particular heritage in this Plan of Union?

This is one of the basic fears of everyone to whom I have talked about this plan of merger. People are worried that the Church of Christ Uniting will require a standard form of worship which will be entirely different from the way they are used to worshipping.

The writers of the Plan of Union realize this fear of the people and have responded to it in paragraph 18 of Chapter 11.

They write, "We recognize the presence and reality of the one universal church within each of the uniting churches. God in his mercy has blessed each and used it for his redemptive work. We agree that the fullness of the whole body requires the heritage of each, as it does every part of the universal church."

"We hold that none of the uniting churches will lose the continuity and richness of its own life, but each will find its life marvelously renewed by union with the other uniting churches. Visible unity should take away from us nothing essential; we will lose only our separateness."

In This Union, No One Church Absorbs The Other Churches."

I must admit that I have had this same fear of losing the richness of my own church's heritage, but this statement now eases that fear. As I read it, each church will lose nothing of its heritage but that which is nonessential.

The stumbling block here, however, is that many churchmen think that so many of the nonessentials in their particular church are really essentials. I can foresee many churchmen being "hung-up" on their non-essentials and refusing to "buy into" this Plan of Union.

Does this plan of Union provide for minority thinking and decision making?

Yes, it does. There are always those independent thinkers who challenge the so-called "establishment." The majority thinking is not always the right thinking, and so the independent thinker provides the necessary alternate viewpoint which, in many cases, is the right one, or at least contributes to the right thinking.

Again, the writers of the Plan of Union have considered the usefulness of minority thinking. In paragraphs 20 and 21 they write, "We seek not to diminish freedom under the Gospel but to enhance it. Some authoritative structures are necessary, but under Christ's Lordship every appropriate channel of responsible freedom in decision-making should be left open."

"Our concern is for the church and its mission. It must not be immobilized by a majority which ignores or otherwise coerces a minority, nor by a minority which is divisive and finally obstructs conscientious action. The rights of each are to be respected.

"Clearly, the church requires norms of ordered life, but we realize that these may sometimes impede rather than assist the work of the Spirit. Therefore, we affirm the essential place of the non-conformist in the church as in society everywhere. Any conception of church order or administration which unjustly smother or minimizes the contributions of such persons deprives the church of indispensable guides through a time of rapid change and revolutionary upheaval such as our own."

Two important bills

By REP. WILLIAM S. BALLENGER

As the first phase of the 1970 session draws near an end, gubernatorial signings of bills approved by the Legislature are becoming more frequent. Two of the most important measures in the "newly enacted" category are those raising the Michigan minimum wage (HB 3397) and granting autonomy to Oakland University (HB 3896).

Under terms of the minimum wage bill, many Michigan workers not already covered by federal minimums, saw their base pay increase to $1.45 per hour on July 1. Another boost to $1.60 per hour is scheduled to take effect one year later.

Oakland University, located at Rochester in Oakland County, becomes the newest independent higher education institution in Michigan. Governor Milliken's signature capped legislative efforts to grant the expanding school autonomy from Michigan State University. Supporters of the autonomy move see Oakland University developing into another "major" state university. Conditions are favorable for growth to accommodate many more students.

There is considerable open land around the existing facilities, which are located near the developing population center of the southeastern Michigan metropolitan area.

In another, unrelated, development, the first fragmentary results were reported last week from the state-wide evaluation and testing of students and the Michigan education system. The tests and evaluations were made last January. Some 320,000 fourth and seventh grade students were tested.

It should be stressed that these preliminary results are only a small beginning step toward a comprehensive and ongoing evaluation of education in Michigan. The initial results were for geographical regions, and were not broken down into individual districts. A more detailed analysis of the assessment is expected within a few weeks. Department of Education officials warned against drawing too-hasty conclusions from these first results, and said more study and analysis is planned.

One thing to keep in mind, of course, is that this was something of an experimental assessment procedure. There may be flaws in the testing procedure which will have to be corrected in future evaluation programs. The important thing is that we have started a critical appraisal of the educational system provided for the young people of this state. The results of this ongoing appraisal, we hope, will prove helpful to the students and the overall educational program.

The first reports from the testing indicate that our larger school districts in the southern part of the state rank high in education expenditures and advanced training for teachers. On the other hand, student achievement did not reflect the same superiority. The Upper Peninsula showed a reverse situation, with average student achievement tending to be higher and educational expense lower.

I can only guess at the apparent discrepancy in this picture. The forthcoming detailed analysis will undoubtedly shed some light on the reasons. One thought that comes to mind is that we may be seeing, in the southern Michigan results, a balancing of the "top" and "bottom" in Michigan education. Other regions, with less economic and cultural variation, may reflect a more stable overall situation.

But following the warning about drawing too-hasty conclusions, I'll defer further comment on this until all the data is available.

On the new right By TIM YOUNKMAN

Several weeks ago I reported in this column a visionary experience of a riot scene between young leftist and liberal students versus the Nazi brown-shirt storm troopers and Berlin workers.

Yes, you may say, it was a long time ago.

It came about in a land plagued with poverty, corruption, inadequate administrators and lost pride.

It was a horrible time in the history of an ancient people and the Third Reich that followed was indescribable in its perverted and twisted reign of terror.

The politics of that pre-war Germany was a lesson in chaos with major parties torn apart by dissension spinning faction upon faction, setting one against father until a small insignificant radical group called the national socialists formed under a youthful fanatic.

The national socialists or Nazis galvanized several splinter groups to gain strength and promoted violent street fighting to tear apart the moderates and leftists.

At first, the left and right extremists had one thing in common. They distrusted the middle-of-the-road government, the post-World War I Weimar Republic. They set out to over-throw it.

The extreme right-wing won. In comparison, America today is being torn apart in much the same way.

Oh yes, Main Street still looks the same and in smaller towns a person can still walk down the street unmolested. There is still a movie to see, a house to pay for and birthdays, anniversaries and holidays to celebrate.

But the stirring is evident. The big cities are crumbling before our eyes, we must go out looking for wars to fight and we must accept starvation in our own nation.

A significant minority, if not a majority, find dissatisfaction with the slow process of government and want something done soon.

Racial hatreds are turning violent again. One-time moderates are slipping into more extremist roles and polarization is now a reality.

Marxist ideologically, but hardly advocates of the state capitalism of Russia and China we tend to call communist.

Other groups are not communist, but socialist—and there is a difference, a rather large one.

Be that as it may for now, what I find curious is the fact that little attention is placed on the so-called right-wing extremist groups.

They are no less a threat to our national security than leftists, since they advocate taking hold of the government by force if necessary to achieve their goals.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation appears to aid in the arrest of many more leftists than rightists. It may be the failure of the press to report right-wing arrests, but it could be that they aren't arrested as much.

A new group appeared on the scene in Detroit recently complete with pamphlets and a campaign of sorts.

They are called Statecraft. This neo-Nazi group, with headquarters in Alexandria, Va., plans on stirring up racial violence through street confrontations, an old German Nazi tactic.

They wear brown Eisenhower jackets over brown shirts with two arm insignias—an American flag and a jagged 'S' or half-swastika, similar to the 'SS' signs of the Nazi storm troopers.

What is more frightening is their list of goals.

They want to sterilize all women on welfare, seize the property and possibly exterminate all liberal whites, Jews and blacks, halt integration and give complete control of the government to conservative whites.

They have several thousand members in Michigan, with support from some motorcycle gangs, Livonia's Patriotic Party and the Minutemen, another national Nazi group.

It has the support of the Pontiac Ku Klux Klan and that area's American Independent Party.

This group, or all of the extremist groups combined, may not be able to do anything to this country. They might just fade away, impotent from lack of interest.

Or they may not. Can we take the chance? Could we live with the consequences?

INFLATED TIMES It's possible to get a dollar's worth of value today, but sometimes you have to spend at least two dollars to do it.
