Post office wants room to expand

The Post Office Department wants to buy a 39 x 50 foot chunk of city property to provide space for a future expansion of the St. Johns Post Office. The request was made to the city commission last Tuesday evening by St. Johns Postmaster J. D. Robinson. He said the department wants to buy a chunk of land comprising the south one-third of the city parking lot adjacent to the A & P Store off West Walker Street. No immediate expansion of the post office is anticipated, but Robinson told the commission an enlargement of the present postal facilities is seriously needed and is in the planning stages.

IF THE CITY WILL sell the 39 x 52 foot chunk, the post office will also try to purchase the old Cooper property immediately to the west of the city property. This would provide the needed space, Robinson said, for an expansion of the post office on the back side as well as both ends of the building. The post office reportedly already has received an offer on the old Cooper property. It involves two buildings, one in which Dr. Donald R. White, DDS, has offices.

The present post office building was constructed in 1934 and has not been added to since then, even though postal business and receipts have climbed from $20,000 in 1934 to close to $125,000 during the past fiscal year.

"WE KNOW WE WILL have to expand soon," Robinson told the commission, and if we can do it in our present location it would be much better than having to move to another site." More dock space — sorely needed — would be provided in the new additions, which would extend out to the east and west ends of the building as well as to the back. Definite plans have not been announced, nor any specific dates for the new construction. Robinson said it may be several years.

The additional space which the Post Office Department is seeking to buy would be used for employee parking and truck maneuvering area, Robinson said. If and when it is purchased, the property would be improved right away for postal purposes, with a driveway built around the back of the post office and a new retaining wall built for the city parking lot, which would be reduced about one third. It now contains about 20 parking spaces. The commission listened to Robinson's plans and then forwarded the proposal to the city planning commission — as is the policy — for that body's recommendations.

DRIVER GETS TICKET
Charles E. Phillips, 21, of Lansing was ticketed for failing to yield the right-of-way after he reportedly backed out of a parking place on East Railroad Street and struck a west-bound auto driven by James H. Smalley, 19, of 609 W. Walker. The accident happened about 5:40 p.m. Friday.

City may have to assess for street paving to complete blacktop plans

The St. Johns City Commission is considering a special assessment policy for 1967-68 that would apply to the various types of improvements to city facilities. A final decision will affect this summer's street-paving program. They drew up a tentative policy at a recent informal meeting and discussed it some more last Tuesday night. No action was taken, however.

The proposed policy would be this:

*All replacement water mains should be assessed 50 per cent to adjacent benefiting properties and 50 per cent absorbed by the water fund at large.

*ALL NEW WATER mains installed would be assessed 80 per cent to the adjacent benefiting properties and 20 per cent to the water fund at large.

*All sanitary sewers installed should be assessed 80 per cent to the adjacent benefiting properties and 20 per cent to the water fund at large.

*All paving which was installed would be assessed 50 per cent to the benefiting properties and 20 per cent to the general fund at large.

No action to accept this policy has been taken yet, but it probably will at the July 18 meeting because it will affect the amount of street paving which will be done this summer.

The commission has scheduled a hearing of necessity on the street paving program for July 18. If adjacent benefiting property owners are assessed 50 per cent of the cost, the commission said, the city will be able to pave about 30 blocks of city streets this summer; if the city absorbs all the cost of paving, as it has done in past years, some streets will have to be left off the project for this year because of lack of funds.

COSTS FOR THE PAVING are anticipated to be about $4 per running foot, with about $1 being assessable to adjacent properties if an assessment is made.

Streets affected by the proposed paving program this summer include:

OTTAWA between Gibbs and Floral; OAKLAND between Lincoln and Gibbs; MEAD between

Lincoln and Gibbs; SWEGES between Steel and Gibbs; LINCOLN between Mead and Swegles; TRAVELER between Railroad and Higham; TRAVELER between Baldwin and Kibbee (part of which is already done); KIBBEE between Traver and Sturgis; STURGIS from US-27 east to the end of the sewer line about halfway between Baker and Scott; LANSING from Sturgis south to the end of the curb; BAKER between Meadowview and Sturgis; CIRCLE DRIVE between Buchanan and Clark; LINCOLN-SHIRE between Lambert and Oak; HAMPSHIRE between Lambert and Oak; OAK from Swegles to Hampshire; SWEGLES from Lambert south to the end of curb; ELM between Clinton and Wight; CLINTON between Oak and Elm; BALDWIN from Morton west one block; MCCONNELL from Morton west to Sawmill Alley.

Because of the number of persons expected for the necessity hearing on the paving project, the next meeting of the city commission July 18 has been scheduled for the auditorium at the municipal building. The hearing is set for 7:30 p.m.

Water rate hike would affect 4

The city commission is only a step away from adopting new water rates that would affect the four heaviest users of water in St. Johns by an estimated $19,000 more per year.

But passage of the ordinance is not all that certain. Under the proposed new ordinance, all water used in excess of 500,000 gallons per quarter will cost 20 cents per thousand gallons. This is far above what the normal residential or even commercial water customer uses, so most of the 1,936 city water customers won't be affected.

Only four customers will feel the bite of the higher rates, according to City Manager Ken Greer — Federal Mogul Corp., Sealed Power, Clinton Memorial Hospital and Scotchway Laundry in Southgate Shopping Center. They presently use over 1 million gallons of water per quarter.

THE CITY FIGURES the new rate — including a proposed minimum sewer charge of 50 per cent of the water bill instead of 15 per cent for industries — would increase Federal Mogul's water bill about $3,758 per quarter; Sealed Power's bill about $1,046 more per quarter; Clinton Memorial Hospital only $7.06 (See PROPOSED, Page 2-A)

County to borrow $200,000 to meet operational expenses for balance of '67

Clinton County will borrow $200,000 to help tide itself over expected financial hurdles between now and the end of the current fiscal year Dec. 31.

The money will be borrowed in anticipation of the collection of taxes beginning in December. The first tax monies collected will be applied to the loan until the principal and interest are paid off.

The county board of supervisors passed two resolutions at its July session Monday setting the wheels in motion for borrowing the money.

The supervisors' action vividly paints an end to the annual surplus "nest-egg" which the county has had available to cushion the shock of incessantly rising costs of operation.

Supervisor Charles Coletta of St. Johns, chairman of the appropriations and finance committee of the board, wrapped up the reasons for the borrowing with a rough but all-encompassing look at the county's current financial picture.

THE GENERAL FUND balance as of June 30 was $191,338, Coletta told the board. Yet to be paid this year are appropriations of $75,000 to the Clinton County Road Commission; $100,000 to the county welfare department; $15,700 to the Mid-Michigan District Health Department; and $17,000 to the Tri-County Planning Commission.

On top of this is the everyday cost of operating county government — estimated at about $50,000 per month or $300,000 for the rest of the fiscal year.

The general fund balance plus an "estimated guess" of $90,000 which would be collected in various fees the rest of the year will total far short of the expected expenditures and in fact will leave a deficit of somewhere around $236,000.

SO, WITHOUT MUCH debate

Board cuts off money to improvement fund

The county's controversial public improvement fund won't be growing any larger for awhile.

The county board of supervisors Monday passed a resolution rescinding action taken Jan. 9 when they assigned "all fees not assigned for other purposes, and also a sum equal to .25 mills of the state equalization of Clinton County" to the public improvement fund.

The general fund needs the money too badly, the board said in effect in passing the resolution.

The fee money will now remain in the general fund instead of being transferred to the public improvement fund every quarter by the county treasurer at the direction of the board.

Money presently in the public improvement fund is sufficient to pay off the cost of the courthouse construction, the board was told. Prosecutor Roland Duguay told the board an attorney general's opinion would apparently prevent withdrawing of any money already transferred to that fund, but there is nothing that requires the continuation of the fund.

about the necessity of borrowing but with a lot of discussion over the technical wording and tactical steps to be taken, the board passed companion resolutions providing for the borrowing of $200,000.

The two resolutions will be sent to the Municipal Finance Commission in Lansing, which must authorize the borrowing and the issuance of notes. One of the documents specifies the notes can bear interest not to exceed 4 per cent per year, would be dated Sept. 2 and would be due and payable March 1, 1968. That's the estimated "safe" time for the collection of a sufficient amount of operating tax for the next fiscal year in which to pay the notes in full. All the money would be borrowed at one time from the lowest-cost source and used as needed. Money waiting to be used will be invested in short term notes, supervisors said. Board Chairman Ernest Carter, Watertown supervisor, and County Treasurer Velma Beaufore were authorized to negotiate the best terms and conditions possible pertaining to the redemption of the notes prior to maturity.

THE FIRST COLLECTIONS of general fund taxes for the current fiscal year (which normally would be used to operate the county during 1968) will be set aside in a special fund to be used solely for the payment of the principal and interest on the notes. Until the amount in that fund is high enough to pay off the loan, general fund taxes can't be used for any other purpose.

The second of the pair of resolutions calls for the publication of an official notice of sale of municipal bonds and notes.

Both resolutions passed unanimously 20-0 with two supervisors absent.

Before passage, the board discussed briefly whether more than $200,000 might be necessary. Prosecuting Atty. Roland Duguay questioned whether or not setting aside all the first taxes to repay the loan might out the county short of needed operating money during January and February. Reflecting on the timetables of past tax collections Treasurer Mrs. Beaufore and the board surmised there would be

For federal pilot program

Schools get $51,000 grant

A $51,758 federal grant has been awarded St. Johns Public Schools for next year to operate a pilot program in "Team Approach in the Area of Special Services."

The program will involve youngsters at Central and East Essex schools in grades kindergarten through 6. The special services team will include a director, counselor, school nurse, school psychologist and two secretaries.

The program will be financed entirely by the U.S. Office of Education in Washington, which gave final approval last week.

The grant is for one year but will almost automatically be renewed as the program expands into two additional years.

STEVE BAKITA, coordinator of federal programs for the St. Johns Public Schools, said the grant is being made under Title III of the Elementary Secondary Education Act of 1965. Title III of the act involves only exemplary pilot programs.

The new St. Johns program will try out a new team approach at special services. It is unique because it involves both a rural school and a city school. The goal, Bakita said, will be to develop positive self-concepts in youngsters.

Coordinating the efforts of the new special services team will be its director, John Furry. Furry will devote half of his time to the team project and the other half to his normal duties as high school counselor.

The only full-time employee will be Rev. Ralph Conine, pastor at the County Line EUB Church, who has been hired as counselor. Other half-time members of the team will be Mrs. Gertrude Buehler, school nurse, and Pat Clifford, school psychologist, who presently works at the intermediate school district office.

THERE WILL ALSO be a half-time secretary for the director and a full-time secretary for the team.

Bakita pointed out that grades kindergarten through 6 currently have most of the special services available to them — nurse, intermediate social worker, diagnostician, speech correctionist — but heretofore all worked essentially separate.

By adding a counselor and (See SCHOOLS, Page 4-A)

The Bugs are coming! The Bugs are coming!

Have you been wondering what all this "bug" business is about?

Well, they're "Bingo Bugs." Beginning today (Thursday), you can get free bingo cards from merchants participating in this fascinating and profitable game called Newspaper Bingo. The cards for the first week's play — starting July 20 — will be available two weeks.

Now you will be able to play bingo at your convenience and leisure in your home and win money, too. The Clinton County News will give away $650 during a 13-week period beginning next Thursday.

The winner each week will receive $50. If there is more than one winner the prize will be divided. If there are no winners, the prize money will be added to the following week's prize.

RULES OF THE GAME allow you one bingo card, without obligation or purchase, each time you visit one of the participating merchants. You can visit the stores as often as you wish and play as many cards as you wish. The more cards you play the greater is your opportunity to win.

During the next two weeks you can pick up blue colored bingo cards from any merchant displaying the Newspaper Bingo banner. They are located in most of the communities in Clinton County.

A list of all the participating merchants and the rules for playing the game will appear in this week's Clinton County News and again every week for the following 13 weeks. The color of the bingo cards will change each week during the 13-week event; you must have the correct color card to win. The color each week will be announced in the Clinton County News. Matched cards will not be honored.

The object of the game is to watch for a "bug" number that matches one on your card. When the card is completely matched, you're a winner! If you have a winning bingo card, all 24 numbers matched with those that appeared in the Clinton County News advertisements, bring or mail four cards to The Clinton County News at 120 E. Walker Street, St. Johns 48879. Sign your name, address and telephone number on the card.

Games will begin on Thursdays, and winning cards must be turned in at the CCN office by Monday evening.

Only adults will be allowed to play the game. Employees of the Clinton County News and of participating merchants and their families are not eligible.

Bingo numbers will be drawn at random from a cage each week at the Clinton County News. The numbers, appearing on the body of the "bugs," will be placed in advertisements appearing in the paper each week.

City commission divided on this question

Should heavy users pay more for water?

A News Analysis

Adjustment in the present water rates appears to be the only logical way to meet the growing water department budget for St. Johns, according to thinking of the St. Johns City Commission.

The commissioners are pretty much agreed on that, but they disagree on just who should pay the increase.

One line of thought puts the burden on the heavy users of water whom some commissioners feel are the basic cause for the increased costs of operation. Federal Mogul and Sealed Power are the two biggest users, who combined used over 70 per cent of the water pumped by the city last year.

Another line of thought, expressed vocally by Mayor Charles Coletta, is that all water users should share in the increase necessary and that to put all the burden on the few heaviest users of water is unfair.

ST. JOHNS' WATER consumption in the last 20 years has increased roughly 500 per cent and, in fact, increased as much between 1965 and 1966 as was the entire water use in 1946—86,987,500 gallons.

The increase in water use in St. Johns has been steady. From the 1946 figure it jumped to 191,638,200 gallons in 1956; to 275,422,700 in 1962; to 288,551,500 in 1963; to 347,493,000 in 1964; to 391,813,100 gallons in 1965; and to 477,317,700 gallons metered in 1966.

Of the 1966 total, Federal Mogul used 280,296,300 gallons, or 58.7 per cent of all the water metered in the city. Sealed Power used 60,936,500 gallons, or 12.7 per cent of all the water.

City calculations show that in the second quarter of 1966, Federal Mogul used 58.5 per cent of all the water and paid about 25 per cent of all the water bill receipts for that quarter. In the third quarter they used 60 per cent and paid 26 per cent; in the last quarter they used 62 per cent of the water and paid 29 per cent of the total billing.

SEALED POWER, MEANWHILE, was using 13 per cent of all the water in the second quarter of 1966, paying 9 per cent; in the third quarter they used 12.8 per cent and paid 7.4 per cent; in the last quarter they used 10 per cent of the water and paid 6 per cent of the billing.

These are the figures some of the commissioners are watching in proposing and backing the rate increase for the heavy users. Under the current rates all water used per quarter between 500,000 gallons and a million gallons is charged at 20 cents per thousand gallons, and all water used over 1 million is available for 15 cents per gallon.

The proposed ordinance in front of the commission at its next meeting calls for a rate of 20 cents per thousand gallons for all water used over 500,000 gallons. This, roughly, would produce an additional $19,000 per year from four customers who use more than 1 million gallons (based on the last quarter).

Under a 25 cents figure originally proposed for water over 500,000 gallons, those four firms plus Richards Dairy, St. Johns Public Schools, Kroger Co. and Poly Clean Center would be involved, and the total additional revenue to the city would be about $40,000 per year. Those four are presently paying the 20-cent rate for using between 500,000 and 1 million gallons per quarter.

City administrators figure an additional $109,000 is necessary to properly run the water department during the next year. Sixty per cent of the increased cost of about $18,000 last year was to operate the water treatment plant. It is now a 24-hour, 7-day basis, something the engineers in designing the plant told the commission wouldn't be necessary. But the city has found out it has to operate fulltime and with a staff more than twice as big as the engineers told them would be necessary in order to meet the demands of the water system.

THE TOTAL ADJUSTED WATER fund budget for the 1967-68 fiscal year is $347,579.

An alternative to increasing the rates for just the heavy users would be to increase them for all water customers. A doubling of the minimum bill from $9 to $18 per quarter would produce about $70,000 additional (about 1,800 of the total 1,936 water customers use the minimum or less each quarter).

Most of the commissioners seem to be against any increase for residential users.

Out of the four commissioners present last week (Commissioner Gerald Irer was on vacation), only Mayor Coletta expressed opposition to placing the increased cost with the heavy users.

The commissioners said they didn't feel this was being unfair because the heavy users made the additional costs necessary. They said they didn't want to overburden the industries, particularly Federal Mogul and Sealed Power, but they felt if new rates cost more than alternative measures (new wells or recirculation of water by the plants), then the alternative measures might be the best for everyone.

By recirculating more water, they said, Federal Mogul would cut their bill, use less water and at the same time cut the city's cost by requiring less treatment of water.

F-M PLANT MANAGER Ed Idzkowski said Federal Mogul recirculates "a tremendous amount of our water now, and we will do more." But he said any massive recirculation of water is not economically feasible because it would require a cooling tower to reduce water temperature in subsequent cycles.

Most of Federal Mogul's water is used for cooling machinery, and so the temperature of it goes up tremendously after it passes through the cycle once.

The anticipated debate next Tuesday night leading up to a decision on the proposed water rate ordinance could raise some temperature, too.

Proposed water rate hike would affect 4

Edward Idzkowski, plant manager at Federal-Mogul in St. Johns, expressed "serious concern" over the effect the new water rates would have on the operation of the F-M plant. He said F-M paid a $51,000 water and sewer bill to the city last year and if the new rates were to be applied the bill would jump 30 per cent to about $66,300.

"This extra money comes out of our operating funds, and as such it affects our ability to be competitive," Idzkowski said. "We have 600 employees depending on us being a competitive company."

SEALED POWER Plant Manager Lawrence Sexton said the proposed new rates would increase Sealed Power's water bill maybe 20 to 25 per cent. "It does one thing," he pointed out. "It forces us to investigate the possibilities of getting water elsewhere if we can get it cheaper. We don't feel compelled to support the St. Johns water system. It is just a matter of economics."

The cheaper source of water could be a well of their own, he said, something which Federal Mogul hinted at, too.

Federal Mogul sent letters protesting the proposed new rates this week to Mayor Charles Coletta and all of the city commissioners. Idzkowski said he expects to be present at the city commission meeting next Tuesday night when the commission likely will take action on the ordinance.

MAYOR COLETTA, as a matter of fact, opposed the rate of 25 cents per thousand gallons over 500,000 as proposed when the ordinance was first introduced last Tuesday night.

"It's not fair to put all the extra cost on those few people," he told the three other commissioners present. He favored increases at both ends of the water use scale in order to be more fair.

"But those are the customers who are using the most water and causing the problem," Commissioner John Furry told Coletta.

Commissioner Mrs. Jean Rand said she didn't want to see any water rate increase at the low (minimum use) end of the scale because of the adverse effect it would have on what she said was a large number of residents here who live on a fixed income.

The water rates problem arises from the budget for the water department for the next fiscal year. City Manager Ken Greer pointed out to the commission the water department fund "must have more than $100,000 in new revenue this year if it is to continue to operate properly."

THE ORIGINALLY proposed rate of 25 cents per thousand gallons over 100,000 gallons—coupled with a higher sewer rate of 50 per cent of the water bill—would have produced about $40,000 in additional revenue, the city manager figured.

The 25 cent figure was amended to 20 cents before the discussion was over, however, mainly because of Coletta's opposition. He reluctantly settled for 20 cents for the first reading of the ordinance, and the other commissioners present did, too, saying they would try it and see what effect it had.

Greer pointed out this would not bring in nearly the additional funds needed, but the water budget could be reduced by cutting out such items as new mains, revitalizing of several existing wells and the search for several new wells which he said will be needed in the not-too-distant future. "But by doing this you're only postponing the inevitable."

"Sometimes that is necessary," Coletta commented. If the new rates are adopted, they would go into effect with the current quarter ending in September.

Deputies aid in capture of 2

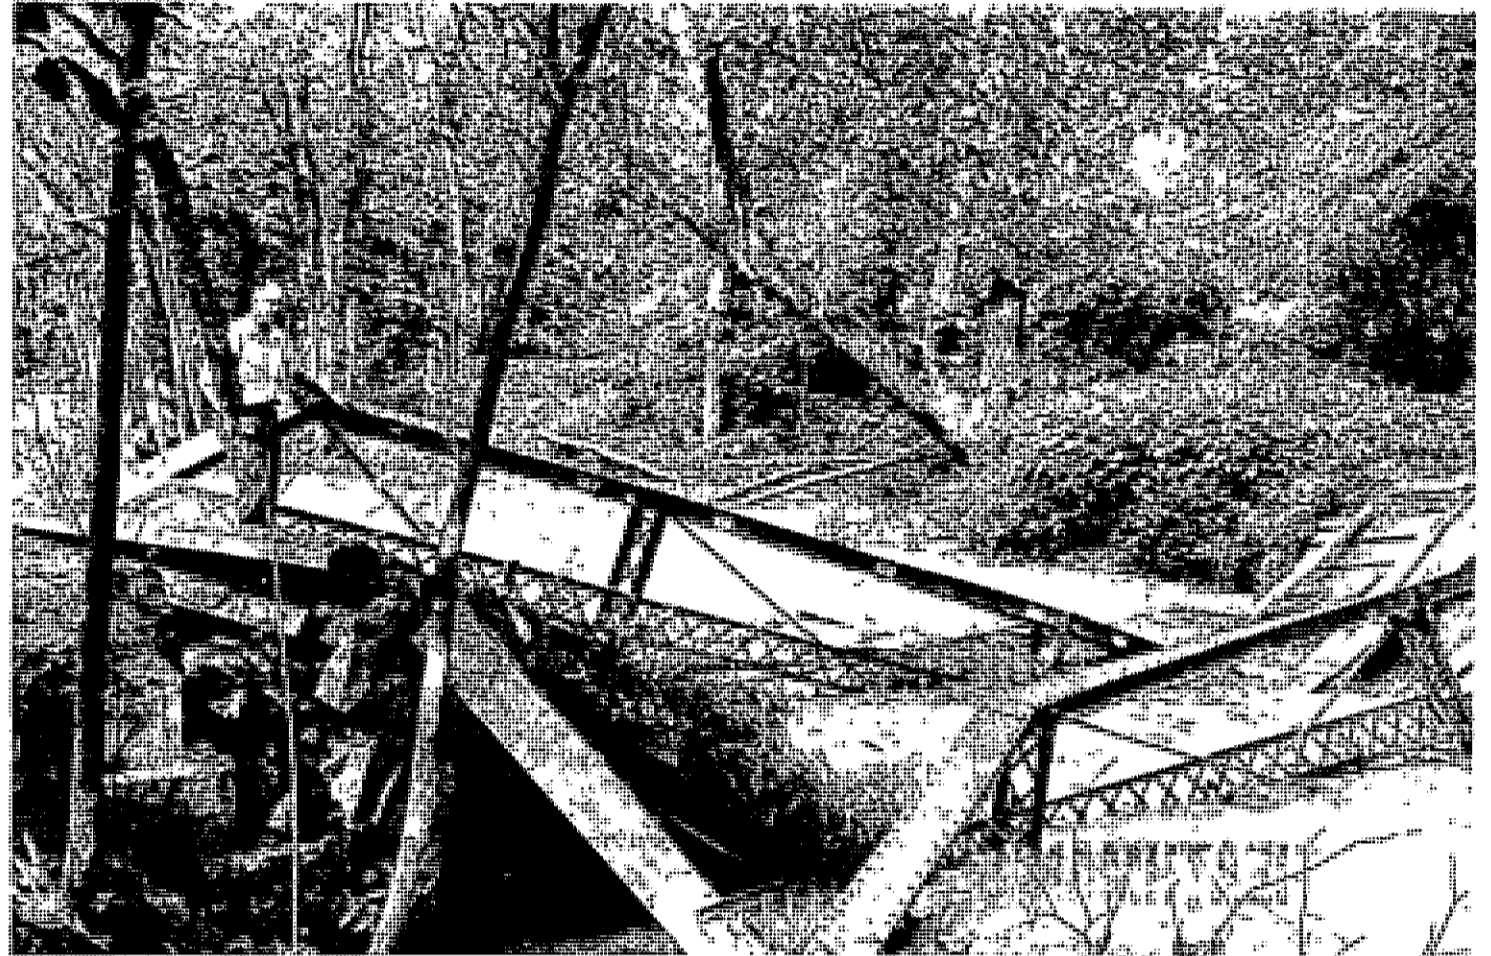

Clinton County deputy sheriffs aided in the capture of two Ionia Reformatory escapees Monday at Westphalia.

The two, Jerald D. Hall, 19, of Calhoun County serving time on a bad checks charge, and James M. Timmons, 17, of Allegan County in prison for breaking and entering and car theft, did not resist officers.

Two Ionia county deputies fired warning shots in the air when the two escapees were seen running behind the lumber company at Westphalia. One of the escapees stopped and the other hid in bushes but did not further resist.

Clinton County deputies, Hilary Hafner and Dick May, were dispatched to Westphalia when a resident reported seeing a car that matched the description of one stolen in Ionia following the escape of the two youths.

The deputies were just receiving copies of pictures of the two escapees when they were spotted running

The Board of Clinton County Road Commissioners will hold their next regular meeting Tuesday, July 18. They expect to discuss applicants for the engineers position, repairs and rebuilding of bridges and sale of gravel pit property to DeWitt Township.

Another bridge was lost last week Friday when a trailer carrying a bulldozer broke down a bridge on Maple Rapids Road west of Maple Rapids. Plans to replace this structure are in progress.

The repairs to the Centerline Road Bridge were completed last week.

One interview has been held and three others are scheduled for this month with applicants for the engineer's position.

Bridge falls under bulldozer

Clinton County road officials are hopeful they can have a bridge on Maple Rapids Road west of Maple Rapids back in use within a short time in the aftermath of the collapse of the old bridge last Friday afternoon.

A truck hauling a D-7 Caterpillar tractor bulldozer crashed through the bridge around 3 p.m. Friday. County officials estimated the weight of the dozer and truck at about 20 tons; the bridge has a load limit of only four tons.

The bulldozer was being hauled by Hinkels and McCoy, contractors who are doing telephone construction work in the Maple Rapids area.

The bridge, a 42-foot span, is over the old channel of Hayworth Creek and is now a scum-covered overflow of the Maple River. The bridge was estimated at about 60 years old.

Road commission officials anticipate replacing the bridge with a large metal culvert pipe and then making dirt approaches. If this method can be used, traffic should be able to use the road again within a few weeks.

Here's a tip from our physical education department: The road to less weight is just around the bend when you exercise.

RAILROAD OVERPASS GETTING A NEW FLOOR

Northbound lanes of US-27 over the Grand Trunk Railroad overpass have been blocked off the past week as repairs are made to the deck of the bridge. Northbound traffic is routed over the normal inside southbound lane with the help of barricades, resulting in one lane of traffic each way across the bridge. When the northbound lanes are repaired, work will switch to the southbound lanes.

New landfill hours loom on St. Johns horizon

No particular open hours have been set, but St. Johns city commissioners agreed tentatively last Tuesday night that it isn't feasible to keep the city sanitary landfill north of town open to the public 5 1/2 days a week. An average of only 64 vehicles use the dump per day, City Manager Ken Greer told the commission, and of those, he said, 60 bring so little material to dump that it could just as easily be put at curb-side for the weekly trash pickup.

"Our experience this past year has shown that this (sanitary landfill operation) is an expensive operation and one, in our opinion, that could be operated just as efficiently on three half-days a week," Greer said. "Our experiences have shown that if we were open on Monday afternoon, Thursday afternoon and Saturday mornings we would be offering service that meets our needs and is still very satisfactory for all concerned."

"Ninety per cent of the persons driving in and utilizing this landfill do so because they merely fall to put their material in containers on the proper days. There are some firms that utilize the land fill every day but only bring about a half-barrel of material and could easily store this for three days on their own site before bringing it to the landfill."

Commissioners decided they couldn't set a definite schedule yet—more investigation—but they agreed a 5 1/2-day schedule such as is presently in effect is too expensive for the amount of use the landfill gets. Operating it requires, by state law, a man to be at the site all the time. By cutting down the hours at the landfill, that man could be used more efficiently in some other job, the commission theorized.

An effort to work out an agreement for sharing the cost of sewer, water and street improvements along Sikes Street near the new high school construction area. The city has already taken bids on the work, which will cost $67,489.85 by the bid of the lowest bidder, Smith Engineers and Excavators. The bid price is good only until July 13. "Nine residents of the city, other than members of the press corps covering the commission, were present for various phases of the meeting."

July 21 deadline for making phone directory changes

The new General Telephone directory for Fowler, Maple Rapids, Mulr, Pewamo, and St. Johns will "go to press" July 21, General Telephone District Manager William Graef said this week. Customers who wish to make corrections or additions to the directory are urged to call their General Telephone business office before July 21. Graef pointed out that because of the emphasis on a firm cutoff date for entries, the General Telephone Directory Co in Des Plaines, Ill., can assemble, print, bind and return the new St. Johns directory in a relatively short period of time.

"Our directory company, which prints millions of telephone books each year, operates on a deadline basis much like a newspaper," Graef said. "For this reason we cannot accept any changes July 21, the date the directory is 'locked-up' and sent immediately to the directory company for printing." The distribution date for the new directory will be announced later, Graef said.

Immunization clinic July 19

The monthly immunization clinic sponsored by the Mid-Michigan District Health Department in Clinton County will be held next Wednesday, July 19, at the basement of the St. Joseph Catholic Church in St. Johns.

An extra clinic was to be held July 12 at DeWitt.

The clinic in St. Johns next

Wednesday will be from 1:30 to 4 p.m. There is no charge made to persons receiving immunizations, which include measles vaccine, vaccinations and tuberculin skin tests. Adults and children are welcome, but children must be accompanied by parents because signed permission to receive the vaccines is mandatory for each child.

BUT SUPERVISORS were quietly acknowledging the fact that repayment of this year's loan early next year will only result in an eventual shortage of money again this time next year unless measures are taken to cut down costs in the future and do a "tighter" job of budgeting.

There has been discussion at the last two meetings concerning the $75,000 appropriation to the county road commission. It is used for matching funds on bridge construction, and although supervisors consider it money well spent because it produces another $75,000 in matching funds, many thought it should be chopped out of next year's budget because of the county's general fund situation.

A public vote for additional road funds might be the answer to providing replacement for the loss of such an appropriation, it was suggested.

County Board Notes

Most of the supervisor's time was taken up with financial problems Monday, but the county board took a number of miscellaneous actions to fill out its legislative day that ran from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Howard Hoover was appointed as county dog warden for the south eight townships of the county. He'll get a basic salary of $3,000 a year.

The annual report of the county Extension office was presented to the board by F. Earl Haas, Extension agent. He said the past year's agricultural activities of the Extension Service here have been separate approaches to help dairy farmers, cash crop farmers and other such specific farming groups.

The area program in home economics is working "very acceptably," Haas said, as is the 4-H program with three agents for the three counties. He praised 4-H Agent John Aylsworth's work and noted that Aylsworth will be taking on additional responsibility in Gratiot County for at least the time being because of the resignation of the 4-H agent there.

HOPEFULLY, HAAS said, Michigan State University will pick up 100 per cent of the cost for the 4-H agent next year. Clinton and the other two counties in this area (Gratiot and Shawassee) presently share the agent's salary.

A request from the Grand River Watershed Council for an appropriation of $1,330.91 from the county for its work during the next year was referred by Chairman Ernest Carter to the finance committee for its recommendation. The fund request was at the rate of 4.4 cents per capita for residents outside incorporated villages and cities, which will be assessed separately.

The board approved the continuation of Gerald Wilcox as county engineer. Wilcox's six-month period ended last month.

to overturn action by the planning commission of a charter township, which Watertown is. Both Watertown and Bath townships agreed to operate under county zoning, their supervisors told the board.

Referred back to the zoning committee with a recommendation that they meet with the zoning commission and county prosecutor was a request for the killing of a part of the county's trailer coach ordinance. Residents on Ann Drive south of Bath complained that an amendment passed last December won't allow them to sell their trailer and property as a unit to someone else—a situation they say is in violation of their property rights. The zoning committee had recommended to the board that no change be made in the ordinance at this time; no action was taken, however, and the matter was referred back to them, the zoning commission and prosecutor.

SUPERVISOR Gerald Shepard, chairman of the health, education and welfare committee, said a meeting with Shawassee County officials was to be held Wednesday night as the two counties continue exploration of a possible joint mental health board. Shepard said that so far Shawassee officials are enthusiastic about such a joint effort.

William C. Roman, executive director of the Tri-County Regional Planning Commission, reported briefly to the board on several of the current projects of the planners.

Supervisors Carter, John Setterington of Essex Township and Reginald Nelson of DeWitt Township were named county delegates to the National Association of Counties convention in Detroit July 30-Aug. 2.

Schools get $51,000 federal grant

(Continued from Page 1-A) combining all the services into a team approach, it is felt it will be easier to meet the goal of the teams project, the development of positive self-concepts in youngsters.

Past studies, Bakita said, have pointed out the needs of the pupils as personal adjustment, social adjustment, physical factors and home factors. "The general needs of students were determined by a survey conducted by the planning committee," reads a data form submitted to the U.S. Office of Education by the St. Johns Schools. "The planning committee consisted of teachers, nurses, administrators, social worker counselors, county special education personnel and State Department of Education personnel.

"IT IS THE FEELING of the teachers who performed the task of evaluating the students that the overall need of the students is the development of an adequate self-concept by using a service team approach.

"There certainly is a close relationship between students with poor self-concept and students who are withdrawn, fearful, aggressive, unhappy, untruthful, irresponsible, unpopular, undernourished; who have poor attitudes; who don't practice good cleanliness habits; who are lacking in home supervision; who come from broken homes or have working parents, etc."

The school district's application quoted Dr Arthur Combs, in an address to the Michigan State Department of Education staff in May 1966, as saying:

"Whatever tends to derogate the self reduces learning. Any experience or situation which makes a person feel less liked, less wanted, less acceptable, less able, less dignified, less worthy - interferes with the process of learning.

JOHN FURRY ... to direct project

"THOSE who succeed in school subjects do so largely because of their positive self-concepts. Those who fail do so largely because of their negative self-concepts. The self is learned. What a person thinks about himself is based on what he has experienced. People learn that they are able or unable. They learn that they are liked or unliked. They learn they are wanted or unwanted. A negative self is destructive to learning."

The team approach of this pilot project will be aimed at reversing the negative self to the positive self, Bakita said. There will be a continuous evaluation of youngsters throughout the year, he said, and at the end of three years an evaluation of program will determine whether or not this is the direction the school district wants to take.

The pilot program is a test program for the whole nation. No other school has one quite like it, although there are some similar. The St. Johns team would visit some, including programs at Flint, Muskegon, Kalamazoo, Detroit, Paintsville, Ky., and New Brunswick, N.J.

AT THE END of the first year, St. Johns will resubmit its application to run the program another two years, would expand it and at the same time would "phase it out" of federal funds. After the first year, all personnel on the team would become full time. The federal grant would remain about the same, however, with the additional cost of going full-time being picked up at the local or county intermediate level.

Outside consultants in all phases of special services will be used to work with the team and sometimes directly with the students, Bakita said.

At the start the program will involve only K-6 in Central and East Essex Schools. It may eventually become a system-wide program, involving also St. Joseph students, but that won't be the case right away.

St. Johns school officials have been working on the team project since last fall and the application under Title III was filed Jan 14. Planning of the program will start the last of this month and the program itself will begin in September.

The new building that will house members of the Duplain Church of Christ at Rochester Colony is taking shape rapidly now on a site across from the old church. Fatal collisions rim county line

A series of fatal traffic accidents rimmed the northern and western edges of Clinton County over the weekend, but none occurred inside the county.

The first victim was Mary Ellen Herald, 18, of Matheron, who died when the car she was riding in ran off a Hubbardston Road north of Pewamo and struck a pole. The accident happened at Hubbardston and Nickel Plate roads in Ionia County about 6:30 p.m. Saturday.

Miss Herald was riding in a car driven by Roger Colby, 19, of Grand Ledge. Colby and another passenger, Becky Campbell, 15 of Matheron escaped injury. A fourth passenger, James McConnell, 23, of Grand Ledge, suffered a shoulder injury.

SUNDAY afternoon Mrs. Ethel M. Coon, 63, of Flint and Sarah Frances Sheldon, 70, of Davison were killed in a two-car crash at US-27 and M-57 in southern Gratiot County.

Both women were riding with Otis Coon, 65, of Flint, who was driving east on M-57. His car was struck broadside as he crossed the northbound lanes of US-27 by an auto driven by Richard Weber, 18, of St. Johns. Weber suffered only a minor cut in the collision, and Virginia McWilliams, 15, of Ithaca, who was riding with him, was released from Carson City Hospital after observation.

Mr and Mrs Richard Scott of Flint who were riding with Coon were taken to Carson City Hospital for treatment of injuries, as was Coon.

The fatalities were the sixth and seventh in Gratiot County this year.

THREE PERSONS were injured seriously Monday night in a spectacular one-car crash just north of the Gratiot County Line on Luce Road north of Maple Rapids.

Reported in "fair" condition at Carson City Hospital Tuesday was Connie Westbrook, 24,

JOIN THE TEAM

You've heard lots of talk about the "medical team"—doctors, nurses, pharmacists, scientists, all the professionally and technically trained men and women trying to keep well people healthy and to help cure the infirm.

But, there's one important member of the team who's hardly ever mentioned—the patient.

All the years of training and experience waiting to serve you count for nothing unless you use it. The prescription you don't have filled, the last few pills you don't bother to take, the advice you ignore, can turn victory over disease into defeat.

Should you become ill, join the team—do your share for your own good health.

Our places of worship

MAPLE RAPIDS METHODIST CHURCH

The Maple Rapids Methodist Church at South Maple and Union streets in Maple Rapids is the subject of this week's feature on "Our Places of Worship". The church, with 86 members now, is pastored by the Rev William Tate, who is also minister of the Lowe and Greenbush Methodist churches. At Maple Rapids, Dr Dee N. Allen is church school superintendent. Trustees are Dr Allen, Wendell Blemaster, Dr Don Kendall, Harold Annis, Don Wiseman, Mary Cole and Nellie Blemaster.

Rev Tate replaces Rev Wittenbach

Rev William R. Tate, formerly of Jackson, has replaced Rev Rudy Wittenbach as the pastor of the Maple Rapids, Lowe and Greenbush Methodist churches.

He previously served the Fulton Methodist Church, south of Battle Creek. This assignment is, however, his first full-time charge.

A GRADUATE of Vandercook High School, Rev W. Tate attended Jackson Junior College for one year and hopes to attend either Michigan State University or Central Michigan University this fall.

He received his preacher's license this year and is assigned to the Central District of the Michigan Conference. He will be at Garrett Theological Seminary of Evanston, Ill., for one month beginning July 17.

WILLIAM R. TATE and the former Betty Fox of Jackson were married May 18, 1957. They have three children Tamara 9, Melissa 6 and Billie 3.

Rev Rudy Wittenbach, former pastor, has moved to Centerville. He had been at Maple Rapids for two years.

St Stephen's mission has 'mobile' home

Sunday services at St. Stephen's Episcopal Mission of Maple Rapids have been held in the homes of the members for the past year and a half.

For the last few weeks the Sunday morning services have been held in a mobile church, on loan to the mission from the Diocese of Michigan for as long as it is needed in Maple Rapids.

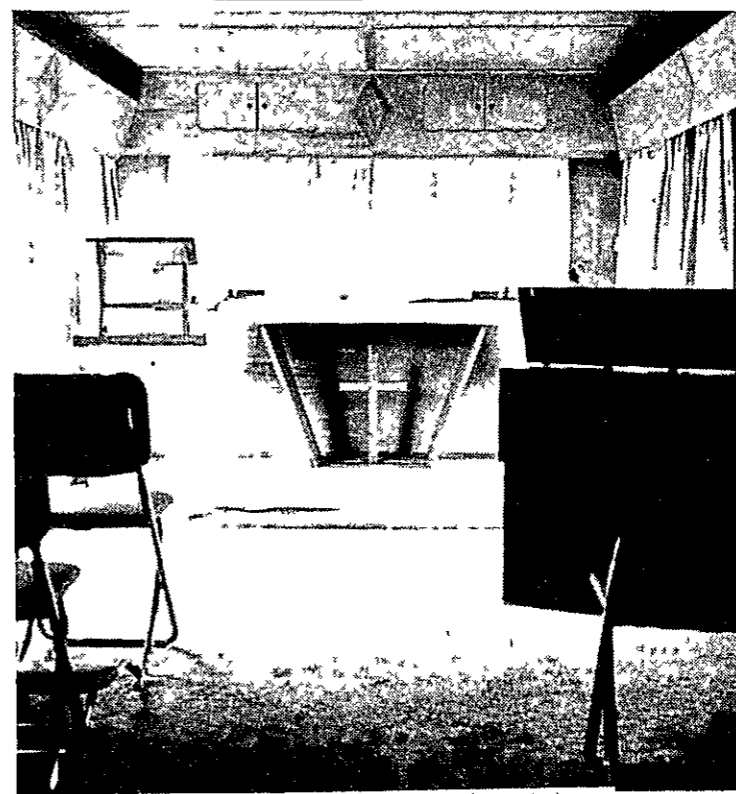

The 10' by 40' trailer which will seat 33 is located just south of the four corners in Maple Rapids. The trailer has been used by other missions, most recently by Indian River's Episcopal Mission. It is complete with air conditioning, carpeting and a portable organ but no organist at the present time.

THE TRAILER is situated on two lots, one donated for the mission's use by the village and the other by Albert Abshagen.

Sunday morning services are held at 9 a.m. and future plans include a Sunday School.

Organizers of St. Stephen's include the Jack Schnepps, Norman Partees, Terry Speers, Mrs Beverly Anderson and Albert Abshagen.

AT THE present time, it is the Interior of mobile church only Episcopal church between St. Johns and Alma and Greenville and Chesaning. When a permanent building is erected it is expected that it will be near Rainbow Lake.

The average attendance at the present time is about 15.

St. Stephen's was so named because the first service was held on St. Stephen's Day and also because there are few Episcopal churches by that name.

REV RICHARD R. Anderson has served St. Stephen's Mission since its inception. He served St. John's of Chesaning from July of 1953 until September of 1954 and St. John's of Alma since then.

Rev Mr Anderson was ordained a deacon in July of 1953 and a priest in January of 1954. He served with the US Air Force following his graduation from Port Huron High School in 1943 until January of 1946.

HE received his A.B. in 1950 from Wayne State University and E.D. in 1953 from Kenyon College of Gambier, Ohio. Anderson has done post graduate work at Alma College, Central Michigan University and Yale School of Alcohol Studies.

Positions he has held include a graduate assistant in sociology at Central Michigan University, assistant professor of Greek and sociology at Alma College, instructor in New Testament of the School of Theology of the Diocese of Michigan and Episcopal chaplain to Alma College and the Michigan Masonic Home.

The former Carolyn Weigold and he were married June 19, 1948, and have six children Teresa Lynn, Janet Carolyn, Matthew Dale, Michael Richard, Paul Stephen and Judith Grace.

Mrs Feeman, who lives at 207 S. Prospect Street, was appointed last Tuesday evening to fill a vacancy created by the resignation some weeks ago of Mrs Beulah Ballantine. Mrs Feeman's appointment is effective until November 1968.

The commission is expected to make another appointment to the library board next week to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Basil Delbert. His term would have expired this coming November.

Mrs Allison's resignation as assistant librarian was "accepted with regret" by the library board at its last meeting and will become effective July 30. Mrs Allison has held that position since July 1950.

She is also employed in the libraries at the local elementary schools and plans to continue her work there.

Grange elects officers

Bingham Grange will meet with Horton Grange Friday evening, July 14, at their hall.

Officers elected at the June meeting are Lloyd Atkinson, master; Clarence Hill, overseer; Bessie Hill, lecturer; Ben Gillson, steward; Mildred Atkinson, chaplain; Thelma French, secretary; Don Devereaux, treasurer; Jack Hilley, gate keeper; Russell Morrison, assistant steward; Ina Morrison, lady assistant steward; Helen Baumgartner, Flora; Maralyse Brooks, Ceres and Alma Hilley, Pomona.

Bingham Grange's annual picnic will be held July 16 at Bingham Grange Hall.

At its last meeting, the library board voted to send letters of regret and of appreciation for past service to resigned members Mrs Ballantine and Mr Delbert. Mrs Ballantine had served on the board since January 1949. Delbert had been a member of the board since 1962.

Prosecutor gets space in new east addition

Clinton County Prosecutor Roland Duguay probably will be the first occupant in the new west wing of the courthouse in St. Johns.

The county board Monday approved the relocation of Duguay's suite of offices from the lower floor of the west wing to the main floor of the east wing as soon as completion of construction work there allows. Just how soon that will be is something Supervisor Derrill Shinabery, chairman of the building and grounds committee, couldn't answer even Monday.

The new wing is essentially complete, but there's a lot of finishing work taking place now. It appears the upper floor will be done first, and Duguay was granted three office spaces on the west side of the hallway on the main floor.

used as a waiting room, which would allow his secretary to do her work in the comparative privacy of an outer office instead of in the same room with the persons who are waiting to see the prosecutor.

Charlie Frost's civil defense office will occupy some of the space in the ground floor of the east wing, which is designed as an emergency operating center for civil defense in time of natural or nuclear disaster. Construction in that part of the building is reportedly a little farther behind the top floor.

Just which offices will occupy the spaces in the east wing—or the vacated places in the west wing—isn't known yet. Some of the supervisors wanted to see a "master plan of offices" before deciding on Duguay's request, but Shinabery said one hasn't been drawn up yet.

HE REFERRED to the board's prior agreement that, once completed, the new wing would be left unoccupied until funds became available to furnish the rooms. Since most all of the prosecutor's furniture would merely be moved to the new location, Shinabery felt that move would be good. Besides, he said, it would be putting the prosecutor closer to the courtroom where he would do much of his work.

When the civil defense office moves out of the west wing, the addressograph department will move into that spot. The addressograph department is presently holding forth in the hallway between the west wing and the old part of the courthouse.

THIS IS ONE more office space than what he has now in the west wing. Shinabery said Duguay requested the extra space to be

St. Clair Pardee, 71, of 400 E. Buchanan Street suffered cuts and bruises when his car went through this side wall at the Earl Hustin garage at 106 W. Higham Street, Friday afternoon. Pardee was driving south in the alley between West Railroad and West Higham when he lost control of the auto and it hit the wall. He was taken to Clinton Memorial Hospital for treatment of cuts and bruises and released Saturday morning. Inspecting the damage are Earl Hustin (left), the owner, and Sonny Cornwell.

Here's an offering from our good advice department:

One way to be popular is to listen to a lot of things you already know.

Have you checked your boat trailer lately? Be sure the wheel lugs are tight, especially the smaller one which experiences the most vibration. Also maintain proper tire pressure for a smooth ride.

Have you heard about the "Uncertain T"? It's a wildly customized Model T Ford hand-built from an equally wild cartoon. Only three original "T" parts are left—the radiator shell, headlights and steering wheel. Monogram Models, Inc. has copied the uncertain one in a 1/24-scale kit. Details include the 1957 Buick engine block with 1965 Buick heads, Harley Davidson cycle front wheels and metal axle and retainers.

Have you made a seed necklace? You can get a variety of colors by using black watermelon, cream pumpkin, black and white sunflower seeds, for example. Add some red kidney beans which have been softened by soaking briefly in water. String on double thread or dental floss.

Another building and grounds project—renovation of the basement as the social welfare building on South Oakland Street—is nearly complete. The county Extension office will be moving there, hopefully yet this week, according to Extension Agent F. Earl Haas. Haas said if the move isn't made this week it may have to be delayed until after the 4-H Fair in August because of work the staff must do on that fair and the state farm management in the county Aug. 1.

New floor tile was authorized for the old part of the county treasurer's office. It would match the tile in the part of the treasurer's office that's in the new wing.

4-H Club Chatter

By JOHN AYLSWORTH
Extension 4-H Youth Agent

Sixty 4-H dairy club members and leaders participated in the county 4-H dairy training and judging meeting last Friday, July 7, at Green Meadow Farm near Elsie and the Lee Ormston farm near St. Johns. The members judged three classes of Holsteins and two classes of Guernseys. The members were asked to give oral reasons on one class. The judging experience was new to many of them as this was their first year in dairy.

Beside the judging the members watched Stan Marks, herdsman at Green Meadows, demonstrate how to clip a dairy cow for showing at the fair. Rex Ballentine, a local dairy leader, showed the members how to show their animal in showmanship classes as well as their judging classes. George Hazle and Leon Miller, local 4-H dairy leaders, and Earl Haas, county Extension agricultural agent, worked with the members giving reasons and served as the official judges for the different classes.

Eight members indicated they would like to participate in more judging in preparation for the State Show dairy judging contest. They are: Douglas Brook, Roger Brook, Bryon Green, Dana Hazle, Yvonne Rivest, James Miller, Russ Hicks, and Dan Haviland. These eight members will work with George Hazle and Leon Miller in dairy judging with four members to be selected to represent Clinton County at the State Show.

Last Saturday, July 8, over 100 4-H members and parents from Clinton County attended the 4-H Day at Tiger Stadium in Detroit. I'm sure they had a wonderful time watching Detroit win over Boston.

Letters have been sent out to the 4-H award winners to the Barry County weekend trip July 22 and 23 at Hastings. The reservations of members who plan to attend should be returned to the Extension office by Monday, July 17. Last year about 70 members and adults attended this weekend trip.

The seven district award winners are completing their forms in preparation for the final competition to see if they will be selected to represent Michigan as the state winner in their selected project area. They are finding out why it is important to keep good records of their 4-H club work each year as they fill out the national 4-H form. I would like to stress again to all 4-H members to be sure to keep good records each year on your 4-H club activities, committee responsibilities, demonstrations or action exhibits, project exhibits, etc.

The 4-H Council will meet Monday, July 17, at 8 p.m. at the home of Russ Libey on Maple River Road near Elsie. If any one has some items of business they feel the council should discuss, please contact one of the council members in your district or contact me at the Extension office by the 17th.

The new 1967 county plat books are now available at the Extension office and a number of other places in the county. Profit from the sale of these plat books will be used in sponsoring some of the 4-H activities. The cost of the book is $3.

I see the members of the Riverside Riders will have to do more studying about horses for their next quiz. No one received a perfect score on the last quiz over some reading they were required to do. Carolyn Bennett gave a report on "The diseases of horses" and showed some diagrams of horses with various diseases. The club hopes to have a work day each week until the county fair. The members made over $20 on their bake sale.

The members of the Scatter Southeast 4-H club learned about dairy cattle as Dana Sue Hazle gave a demonstration on fitting, caring, showing and feeding a dairy animal. The members also learned about the various awards they could earn in the county.

The Victor Pathfinders 4-H members sold various saddle horse items they had outgrown to other members. Following the business meeting the members held a workout with their horses.

The Olive-DeWitt 4-H club members heard reports from the junior leaders on plans and activities for the club year. The forestry boys under the leadership of Ed Johnson had planted 1,000 trees. The girls carrying the wild flower project under Susan Sibley's leadership had been on a hike learning the difference in flowers. Other reports included Allen Sibley on the plans for the soil members, plans for a float for the fair and a taffy pull. A committee of Barbara Smith, Sue Koski and Diane Sibley will look into a taffy pull activity.

The Nimble Fingers 4-H members heard Mrs. Doyle, a registered nurse, give a talk on safety. The club project of a fair float was tabled until the July 19 meeting.

The members taking flowers and vegetable projects in the Stoney Creek club met with leader Helen Cornell. A lesson on buying flowers was given by Kathy Randolph. Members were given some questions on vegetable exhibits by Mrs. Cornell. Following the meeting the members and parents motored to the city market in Lansing. The members found the market tour to be enjoyable and very educational. They also found the city market a good place to purchase fruits and vegetables as well as flowers.

Recreation Notes

PERRIN-PALMER (Supervisors Marilyn Motz and Jim McCauley) — The children at Perrin-Palmer School enjoyed many sit-down games such as checkers, uncle wiggly, chinese checkers, and chutes and ladders last week. About 15 children went on a hike and picnic at the park Friday afternoon under the supervision of Marilyn Motz.

GIRLS SOFTBALL (Supervisor George Spicer) — The St. Johns girls softball team began a new season when they traveled to Elsie to take on a talented Eureka team. Eureka came out on top, 19-10, but the game was an exciting one to the end. The undoing of the St. Johns team was their lack of experience, as this was their first game and Eureka had already played two. Kathy Stoddard led the losers with two hits in four times at bat while Jamie Bargar went the distance on the mound.

Cheryl Weber and Linda Phinney—Due to the shortened week the playground activities were few. Children played educational games and kickball as usual. The children also had a checker playing contest and Danny Salazar was the champion.

PARK (Supervisor Jane Taylor)—Due to the July 4 carnival, and the number of tourists using the park, the recreational program at the City Park was cancelled last week.

SWEGLER (Supervisors Ginny Bertram and Sue Durner)—Playground recreation at Swegles School has continued to keep up all good spirits. The kids are enjoying the summer program and are anxious to see what's next in their activities.

Manager: "You're 30 minutes late. Don't you know what time we start work here?"
New office boy: "No sir. They're always working when I get here."

BASEBALL—Supervisor Gary Boyce) — The action this past week in the baseball program was very limited and there was no league action at all.

The St. Johns All-Star team traveled to Fowler Thursday night, July 5, to take on the Fowler All-Stars. Fowler batted around in the first inning and in the process scored four runs, which proved to be a sufficient number to defeat the St. Johns team. But St. Johns never gave up and after the first inning John Warstler settled down and only allowed three hits and struck out eight in going the route. Behind 4-0 in the sixth inning, St. Johns unleashed its batting attack and scored two runs, provided by two triples by Boyce and Pung and a pair of singles by Doty and Jorae, and threatened to pull the game out of the fire in championship style. Then in the bottom of the sixth inning, Warstler bore down and struck out the side.

In the top of the seventh, St. Johns again threatened to pull the game out, being aided by three walks, but couldn't push across the needed two runs.

For their first game the team played very well and except for the first inning jitters they played exceptionally well and even pulled off a double play in a crucial situation. More games are being scheduled.

Stan Marks, herdsmen at Green Meadows Farm, demonstrates to 4-H members how to clip a dairy cow for showing. That's Mary Rosner and Brian Brooks with their backs to the camera; George Hazle, local 4-H dairy leader, holds the cow. The picture was taken during the 4-H dairy meeting Friday at Green Meadows Farm.

The Clinton County 4-H Junior leaders heard Norman Brown, coordinator of student programs at Michigan State University, talk about possible careers available in agriculture and home economics as well as scholarships available and requirements for college. Brown said the average starting salary for graduates in the college of agriculture was approximately $7,500 and was second only to the college of engineering graduates. The members learned that if they could qualify for financial need either partial or total and were interested in going to college, there were funds available to them. Illustrated talks were given by Kathy Randolph on flower arranging and Chris Cornell on selecting vegetables for exhibit.

'Safety' on playgrounds

"Safety" is the word in the St. Johns recreation program. Recreation Director Blaine Douglas announced that supervisors on the city playgrounds will be providing some instruction on safety throughout the week, in addition to leading normal playground activities.

This Friday's special events will include talks on safety by city police and fire officials. Throughout the week, Douglas said, youngsters participating in the playground activities will learn about these topics:

Safety crossing streets: 1) Always cross at corners; 2) how to cross at a traffic light; 3) how to cross at an unmarked intersection; 4) why not to walk between parked cars; 5) why not to jay walk; and 6) how to ride bikes on streets.

Fire rules: 1) Never play with matches; 2) never leave oily rags lying around; 3) never put gas on a burning fire.

General rules: 1) Never accept rides from strangers; 2) always obey policemen; 3) never play in the street; 4) never play around with machinery; 5) pick up toys at home; and 6) never play with medicines.

A wish, determination and musical ability ingredients of the city's first high school band

By Stanley Weber

The first St. Johns High School Band was a high school band in name only.

Following his attendance at the State YMCA Band concert in the Capitol, Lansing, in 1916, O. B. Moore, one of the principal organizers of the first St. Johns musical troupe, was plagued with one idea—that of establishing a band in the city.

Moore, a clarinet player, was so enthralled with the performance by the YMCA Band that "I never did get over the thrill I got from hearing it," he said.

"I SAT RIGHT next to the band," Moore stated, "and they played 'On Wisconsin!' The clarinet part in 'On Wisconsin!' is a real dinger; it's a real good one, and I sat right there next to this clarinet player and listened to him play the clarinet part."

"After I came home, about the only thing I could think of was to get a high school band organized," Moore recounted.

"You get excited about something; you go home," Moore said. "Well, that's what I brought home—the idea of a high school band."

SO IN 1916, through the initiative of a few school chums, particularly Lawrence Gilson and William Schanck, Moore began forming a St. Johns band.

Moore was a high school junior at that time, but recruitment for band membership was not restricted to high school fellows. In fact, guys from the seventh through the twelfth grade were numbered among the members of the first band.

After the membership had been established, the boys organized themselves and adopted a name—the St. Johns Liberty Band.

HOPING TO ENLIST the sponsorship and financial support of the high school authorities, Moore, Gilson and Schanck approached Frank Buck, superintendent of schools.

"I can remember going into Frank Buck's office," Moore related. "Back in those days, you'd look at the superintendent, and he never smiled much."

"I really had my hat in my hand because I wanted to sell this idea (of a band) to Mr. Buck," Moore said.

BUCK WAS sympathetic to the intention of the boys, but had nothing else to offer. The school treasury didn't have money enough to allow the superintendent to financially back the project for one thing, and secondly, Buck thought it was only a fly-by-night idea anyway.

He did make one concession though. Buck gave the fellows his permission to name the band the St. Johns High School Band. The guys accepted his offer, and unofficially, the first band became the St. Johns High School Band, while officially, it was called the St. Johns Liberty Band.

ESSENTIALLY, THE band still lacked the money necessary to maintain itself—not a very envious position for a young organization.

The individual members were obliged to dig deep in their pockets and provide the money needed for sheet music and instructor's wages.

Payment of all debts incurred by the band fell upon the shoulders of the first treasurer, Fred Lewis.

In spite of the difficulties and problems encountered, "I always liked it—I guess we all did—or I wouldn't have been in it," Lewis said of the band. "I remember that I never missed any practice."

EVEN THOUGH support was not overwhelming or enthusiastic during the band's infancy, it did have a few backers.

One of them was Nick Pappas, whose wife and son still operate the Sugar Bowl on Clinton Avenue. Through the efforts of Pappas, other businessmen were persuaded to support the new venture.

That was not the only role Pappas played in the birth and growth of the band. His store provided a convenient place for the boys to congregate for ice cream, cokes and candy (after all, these too help make a band) after a hard practice session in Carl Weller's Music Store.

WELLER, WHOSE son Lavern was a clarinetist in the band, was also a principal backer of the musical group.

Many of the fellows bought their first instruments from him. Moore purchased a secondhand Albert System clarinet, no longer used today, from Weller for $15. In addition to providing many of the instruments, Weller permitted his store, which was located where Pierce Bakery is today, to be used as the first practice "room" for the band—after hours of course.

LATER, THE BAND was able to use the city hall above the fire station as its headquarters. Not the most ideal surrounding in which to practice, the hall did provide the band one thing though—an E flat bass which had been stored there by the then defunct city band.

The first band instructor was George Sumner, who was paid the grand sum of $1.50 to $2 for one night's instruction.

Under Sumner's guidance, and after long hours of practice, the band acquired a musical maturity that was to later prove profitable as well as enjoyable.

The band had a name; the members had instruments; they had an instructor. Yet, it was something less than a true band—it lacked uniforms.

This was quickly rectified however. IN 1917, THE BAND sponsored a lyceum at the Methodist Church and earned $800. National figures were attracted to the function, among them, William Jennings Bryan, three-time Democratic presidential nominee.

With the money they secured, the band members purchased the old city band uniforms and more sheet music.

Now the band, complete in every way, was launched on the high road of success and fame.

IT BECAME A TOP attraction in the mid-Michigan area, providing top entertainment at such places as Round and Crystal Lakes.

The usual fee the band charged was from $30 to $50 a day—a price well worth the listening pleasure the musicians provided their audiences.

The band also had two and three-day engagements stands at the St. Johns County Fair when it was still in existence. It also played for the Knights Templar when they went to the conclave.

During the summer, every member of the troupe would be borne up and down Clinton Avenue upon a wagon; playing delightful tunes as they rolled along.

LATER, THE BAND members built a bandstand on the courthouse lawn from which to perform their concerts.

"It was a lively bunch," Lavern Weller said of the band members. "Not rowdy, we were out for a good time."

They were not the only ones who had a good time. The St. Johns residents and those of the neighboring communities received much enjoyment and satisfaction when listening to the band. The attendance at events sponsored by the band proved this fact.

Along with the good times must come the bad times.

IN 1918, SEVENTEEN band members enlisted to fight with this country's armed forces in World War I. Moore didn't stray far from the musical circles however, for he became a clarinet player in the Army Band.

After the "war to end all wars" ceased, Moore and his friends returned to St. Johns to reorganize and revitalize the band.

The men hired the conductor of the Lansing Reo Motor Band, Jenkins, as their instructor. Under his directorship and the musical expertise of the members, the band once more flourished.

After Jenkins departed, Louis Washburn was hired as conductor. He was succeeded by Blaine SOMETIME IN THE decade from 1925 to 1935, the high school formally assumed responsibility for the band.

So many years ago, a young man had a wish. The wish became reality and a band was born. The band prospered and grew, making it a hallmark of St. Johns.

Lifting too many glasses can make a spectacle of you.

Bloodmobile draws record 243 pints of blood

Though the Fourth of July had been gone only 18 hours, Red Cross officials in St. Johns were ready to send up another salvo of fireworks last Wednesday evening in celebration of a new record number of blood donations received that afternoon at the bloodmobile.

A record 243 pints of blood were accepted in the semi-annual visit by the bloodmobile, bettering the old mark of 236 pints of blood received in July 1965. It was 11 more pints of blood than were donated in January of this year.

Many more persons offered to give blood. Thirty-seven were rejected for medical reasons, and a number of others who started through the long lines of donors in the middle and late afternoon had to leave before giving in order to get to work on time.

ST. JOHNS Bloodmobile chairman Mrs. James Crosby said a major factor in the record number of pints contributed was a contest between the three major industries of St. Johns.

Actually, nobody had yet won the contest. Saylor Beall, Federal Mogul and Sealed Power were racing—under a challenge by Federal Mogul—to see which industry could first donate enough pints of blood equal to 20 per cent its work force.

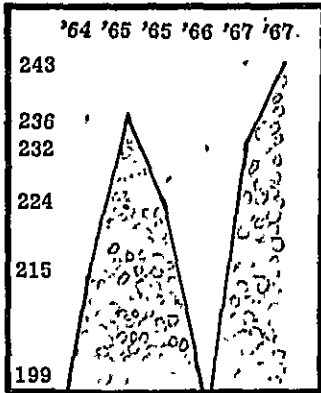

Sealed Power had 25 of its 200 employees donate blood—12 1/2 per cent—while Saylor Beall had 11 donors from 91 employees (12 per cent), and Federal Mogul had 48 donors out of 600 employees (8 per cent).

Because all the firms fell short of the 20 per cent goal, the contest will carry over to the next bloodmobile visit next winter.

A LOT OF the success of the bloodmobile was due to the patience of donors, Mrs. Crosby said. "We certainly appreciate this patience," she commented afterward, "and can assure donors that at next winter's bloodmobile there won't be such long waits."

The bloodmobile staff began the afternoon collecting blood bottles, as has been done in past years. Because a lot of publicity had been given to using plastic bags to collect the blood in, however, a switch was made to the bags. These are relatively new to the bloodmobile staff nurses, and some slow-down was noted. When the supply of bags was depleted, the final pints collected during the day were taken again in bottles.

The Lansing regional blood center is one of the last areas in the nation to switch over to the use of the plastic bags in the collection of blood. This will be done on a regular basis now, and Mrs. Crosby said that by the time the bloodmobile returns to St. Johns in about six months the nurses should be as familiar with the plastic bags as they have been with the bottles.

ADDING TO the excitement of the record donation of blood was the part St. Johns donors played in replenishing the supply of blood at the Lansing Regional Blood Center. The first 70 pints of blood taken were rushed to Lansing to replenish a refrigerator that was down to only 30 pints on hand.

Later in the day there was an emergency call for B-positive blood. The local bloodmobile committee of Mrs. Crosby, Mrs. Leonard Puetz, Mrs. John Paradise and Mrs. Edward Idzkowski put in some telephone calls and were able to provide three pints of the needed blood.

Response at the bloodmobile unit was overwhelming, so much so, in fact, that an extra bloodmobile unit was sent to St. Johns.

MRS. CROSBY said there was an encouraging number of teenage donors this time, as well as many first-time donors and a lot who gave blood for someone else.

Several persons achieved milestones as blood donors. Alan Kramer reached four gallons of blood donated when he gave a pint last Wednesday. Barbara Robinson and William Gallagher reached the two-gallon mark. Finishing up their first gallon of donated blood were Bobby Spicer, Lowell Rinker, Margaret Hart, Elton Hufnagel, Kenneth Wilson, Eldon Baese, Robert Wood, Edward Moore, Jerome Geller and Donna Frestick.

Slovak Day 30 Clinton families show America to foreign students over "4th" weekend

The 10th annual Michigan Slovak Day, sponsored by the Michigan District Slovak League of America, will be held at the ZCBJ Park in Owosso this Sunday.

This year's event will be a triple celebration—the 60th jubilee of the Slovak League of America, the 10th anniversary of its Michigan District, and the 10th anniversary of Michigan Slovak Day.

The religious phase of the program will center around Mass for the intention of persecuted Slovakia at a number of churches throughout the state, including St. Cyril at Bannister at 6 a.m.

THE CIVIC program at the park in Owosso—located at 1771 Corunna Avenue—begins at noon with a Slovak-style dinner. At a 3 p.m. program there will be speeches and musical entertainment, including American and Slovak hymns and Slovak songs by the Cornell Sisters, accordion duet by the Gregoricka Brothers, and Slovak songs by the Litavec Brothers.

Charles Chamberlain, congressman from the Sixth District, will extend greetings, as will Victor Wallo, president of the Michigan District Slovak League. The welcome will be given by Joseph Hanus for the Michigan District Slovak League and by William P. Hinburg, mayor of the City of Owosso. John J. Businek, legal counsel for the league, will have remarks to make.

The guest speaker will be John A. Sabol, member of the executive committee of the Slovak League of America. He will be introduced by Joseph Palus, secretary of the Michigan district.

There will be a dance at 6:30 p.m., featuring the Czech Notes band.

None hurt in 5 accidents

Clinton County sheriff's officers investigated a number of minor automobile collisions during last week, none of which involved injuries.

Last Wednesday morning Linda James, 17, of Haslett lost control of her auto when she hit a bad bump on Coleman Road in Bath Township and the car went off the road and hit a tree. At 1:30 p.m. last Thursday, Carl Joe Brzak, 21, of 120 Herring, Ashley, was going north on Shepardsville Road and tried to turn onto Maple River Road. He couldn't make it and the car went into a ditch on the northeast corner of the intersection.

Gary K. VanVelsor, 16, of R-2, Laingsburg hit the west side of the Hollister Road bridge over the Looking Glass River in Victor Township. That happened about 4:20 p.m. last Thursday as VanVelsor was driving north on Hollister.

An auto driven by Theodore E. Slocum, 37, of 13480 Wacousta Road, Grand Ledge, hit the rear of a Clinton County Road Commission truck scraping on Jason Road east of Grange in Westphalia Township about 3:30 p.m. last Thursday. The truck was driven by Joseph A.

Witgen, 41, of Westphalia. Slocum said he was blinded by dust of the scraper and got too close to the truck before he realized it.

Richard Wolthues, 30, of Haslett, struck a deer being chased by two dogs as he was driving at Chandler and Stoll roads in Bath Township at 9:30 a.m. Friday.

Fifteen foreign college students and about 60 people in all gathered on the lawn at the Russell Morrison farm late in the afternoon of July 4 for a picnic get-together climaxing a weekend stay by the students with the rural families.

"BY TUESDAY NIGHT, we had practically adopted another boy . . ."

In all cases, the foreign students seemed to enjoy their stay and to have learned a great deal about rural America. Typical here, too, was Tito Duran of Maracaibo, Venezuela, who was the weekend guest of Mr and Mrs Mahlon Nichols and family of R-2, DeWitt.

"Tito spoke and wrote very little English," the Nicholises said later, "but when we were ready to leave he handed us a note written in English thanking us for the marvelous time he had had."

Here are the foreign students and their host families who got to know a lot more about each other last weekend; they represented 17 countries.

Guillermo Raven of Venezuela, staying with Mr and Mrs Lloyd Campbell; Giralda Zeto of Colombia with Mrs Erna Sperry and family; Manuel Rodriguez of Venezuela with Rev and Mrs Gordon Spalenka; Sven Borgstrom of Sweden and George Kallifidas of Greece with Mr and Mrs Russell Morrison; Jorge Lozano of Mexico with Mr and Mrs Jack Hilley; Euch Nishizawa of Japan and Yong Lee Jr. of Korea with Mr and Mrs Russell Ormsby;

SEZGIN OZDEN of Turkey with the Don Devereaux family; Mr and Mrs Gustaod Pena of Colombia with Mr and Mrs Howard Walker; Hasseln Saleh Naser of Kuwait with Mr and Mrs Roland Sleight; Carol Kupper of Switzerland with Mr and Mrs Eugene Lamb; Ubol Banhansupawat of Thailand with Rev and Mrs Brian Sheen;

Atilla Gorgulu of Turkey with Mr and Mrs Dale Coffman; Telo Hotta of Japan with Mr and Mrs Ed Barks; Tito Duran Morales of Venezuela with Mr and Mrs Mahlon Nichols; Jamali Abbas Ali of Iran with Mr and Mrs Dana Parker; Jose Arellano of Venezuela with Mr and Mrs Byron Kissame;

Robinson Cruz of El Salvador with Mrs Ella Kehr and sons; Arturo Montemayor of Mexico with Mr and Mrs Richard Fung; Thomas So of Hong Kong with Mr and Mrs Keith Rosekrans; Nuvas Ramiri Navea of Venezuela with Mr and Mrs Andrew Cobb; Victor S. Pastor of Peru with Mr and Mrs Raymond Peck; Horacio Gonzalez of Venezuela with Mr and Mrs Jerry Pulliam; Gomez Argens of Venezuela with Mr and Mrs Gordon Vandemark; Paik Boo Bong of Korea with Mr and Mrs Larry Sturgis; Anahussan Ostegzadah of Iran and Kujozhi Ohwapa of Japan with Mr and Mrs Thomas Peacock; Arul Vargas of Panama with Mr and Mrs Glen Kramer; Valaire-Ansuechote of Thailand with Mr and Mrs Ed Sulka; Dr and Mrs Nordmann of Switzerland with Dr and Mrs R. L. Wohlers; Abdelillah Alkhalaf and Carlos Perez, both of Venezuela with Mr and Mrs Marvin Barclay; and Jusna Albornel of Venezuela with Mr and Mrs Raymond Doyle.

ALL OF THE STUDENTS visiting the Clinton County families are attending Michigan State University, although the Christian Rural Hospitality Council also works through the international centers at the University of Michigan and Wayne State University.

Rev Lutz's program started in 1961 and has grown so that keeping track of the interested students and families has become a full-time job. His rules for hosting a foreign student are relatively simple, yet explicit.

Any family wishing to host students should contact their minister or priest, who in turn will notify the council or nearest university. To cover administrative costs, a family is charged $5 when it joins the council, but never any more than that.

Volunteer families are carefully screened, since they must agree to take any foreigner who may be assigned to them. No preference is allowed, except in the case of sex. Families must accept guests without prejudice as to race, creed, color or political view—and they must accept their religions.

The families are not allowed to try to "convert" a student to their religion, and the families which have a tendency to talk about their faith are automatically ruled out. Hosts may invite their guests to accompany them to church but should not insist on it.

Navy films shown

The U.S. Navy recruiting office in Owosso has announced it has a regularly scheduled program of Navy films that are shown free to the public. All mothers and other interested parties are invited to attend the films and meetings in the basement of the Owosso City Building at 3 p.m. on the first Saturday of each month. Refreshments will be served and a period will be available to ask questions and get answers about the Naval service.

HOW DO THE HOSTS entertain their foreign guests? "They feed them at meal time, show them their room and go about their business," Lutz said. He pointed out that this method is just what the foreign students appreciate. They want to see a community, home and family as they live their daily lives.

"To stop everything to entertain them would be cheating the students," Lutz commented. "They may never again have the opportunity to see a farm in operation or an American family as they go about their daily chores."

THE NEWS IN BRIEF

St. John fireman interrupted their Fourth of July work at the park last Tuesday afternoon to answer a fire alarm sent from the "Joy" Damon home near the intersection of US-27 and Jason Road in Olive Township. An oil space heater overheated, but there was no damage reported. . . .

Nancy, MacLueckie, daughter of Mr and Mrs Edwin MacLueckie of R-3, St. Johns, was among more than 700 young men and women who visited the University of Wisconsin campus in Madison last week to register for university studies that will start in September. Orientation will resume Sept. 18

Miss Wendy Waldron of R-1 Eagle won a $25 seventh prize in an essay contest on "Respect for Law Enforcement" sponsored by the Fraternal Order of Police, State Lodge of Michigan

Rosemarie Rademacher and Jane L. Morriss are new telephone operators in St. Johns

OUTDOOR PARTY TIP

It's curtains for mosquitoes if you use carbon dioxide to keep the pesky insects from crashing your next patio party. Chunks of dry ice suspended around a patio will screen off your party, because they give off heavier-than-air carbon dioxide gas which floats downward, forming an invisible barrier containing less oxygen than the surrounding area. There's no danger to people, but uninvited insects will have their party elsewhere.

Open Letter from VAN W. HOAG

Dear friends,

The average person is faced with funeral arrangements only once each 12 to 15 years. Hence, bereavement finds most people inexperienced and unprepared . . . funeral decisions hastily made often lead to regrets.

We hope these 'open letters' will inform our readers about funeral matters so they may be better prepared to handle funeral arrangements wisely.

Respectfully,
Van W. Hoag

3 more start as hospital volunteers

Three new Red Cross volunteers started to work at Clinton Memorial Hospital last month. They are Mrs Alvin (Jane) Willett, Mrs Harold (Elizabeth) Millman, and Mrs Gertrude Criner, all of St. Johns.

The three ladies received their Red Cross training at the blood center in Lansing June 7 and 8. The class consisted of 20 adults and five youth; instructors were Mrs Lillian Kumata and Mrs Geneva Whiteside. Volunteers at the training session were from all three counties in the Mid-Michigan Chapter Area.

The St. Johns women met with Mrs Patricia Simmit, director of nurses at Clinton Memorial, to complete their volunteers course. They were taken on a tour of the hospital and they were accompanied at the three meetings by Mrs Edward Prowant, unit chairman of the Red Cross Volunteers for Clinton County.

There are 27 regular volunteers and three part-time women currently working at the local hospital. The work schedule is divided into four three-hour shifts a day. Many shifts have only one volunteer to help the professional on all three floors. When the new addition is put into use the Red Cross group will be completely inadequate, Mrs Prowant said.

Three hours of time a week are required of a volunteer. Anyone wishing to apply for Red Cross work is asked to contact Mrs Edward Prowant of St. Johns.

Peace Corps test Saturday

Clinton area residents interested in helping the people of developing nations to help themselves are invited to take the Peace Corps placement test being administered again this Saturday.

Testing station locations in this area of Michigan include: in Flint in Room 206 of the federal building at Church and West 2nd streets; in Grand Rapids in Room 205 of the post office building at 225 Michigan Street NW; in Lansing at Room 217 of the post office building; and in Saginaw in Room 11 of the U.S. Post Office at 1233 S. Washington Avenue.

All tests will start at 1:30 p.m.

The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a foreign language, not education or achievement. It is given to determine where and how an applicant will be happiest and best utilized overseas. The test requires no preparation and is non-competitive; an applicant can neither pass nor fail. The test takes about one hour and a half.

THE APPLICATION form, available from local post offices or from the Peace Corps in Washington, D.C., 20525, is the most important factor in the selection of volunteers. Persons interested in serving in the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before taking the test.

Over 15,000 Peace Corps Volunteers are now at work in 53 developing nations. They come from every conceivable background, but are united in their efforts to improve the food production, health, education and life of the millions whose governments have asked the Peace Corps to help.

Burglary toll hard on U.S. homeowners

Burglary, long the bane of businessmen, is beginning to take an even sharper toll on the homeowner—and the trend goes on the upswing during the vacation season.

Liberty Mutual Insurance Companies cites a report which says that residential burglaries have risen from 43 per cent of the total in 1962 to 48.5 per cent in 1965.

What's more, stolen property value in each home burglary now averages $263, compared to $227 taken in average commercial burglary.

WHAT IS causing this trend? "Carelessness by the homeowner and the growing number of portable valuables in the home," said Alan Stevens, in charge of crime loss prevention at Liberty Mutual.

"Business and industry have taken action to prevent burglaries," he said, "while the homeowner—when you look at the overall picture—really hasn't yet."

Carrying the idea a step further, Stevens said "Watchmen, watchdogs, 'highly-intricate alarm devices have been employed by business, while many homeowners don't even bother locking their doors when they go out."

THE RECORD indicates, according to Stevens, that most home burglaries are performed by amateurs—and usually in daytime when no one is at home.

"People unwittingly have a tendency to broadcast the fact that they are not home," he said.

They leave the garage door open, showing that the family car is gone; they forget to tell the newsboy or milk delivery man to stop deliveries while the family is on vacation; they don't bother to tell the next-door neighbor to keep an eye on the house.

"The list is endless." The key to preventing home burglaries, Stevens said, is "inconvenience."

"Because the burglar is usually an amateur," he said, "he can be deterred if all the doors and windows are locked or if the family has a dog. It simply must be inconvenient and even difficult for him to enter and leave the home undetected."

NEW CENTENNIAL FARM IN WATERTOWN TOWNSHIP

This farm owned by Glenn and Ruth Oliver of 6300 Clark Road, R-4, Lansing, has been designated a "centennial farm" by the Michigan Historical Commission. Located in Watertown Township, the farm has been in the possession of the family since 1864. It was originally purchased on Dec. 31, 1864, by George Oliver, grandfather of the present owners, from an Oliver L. Adams.

Roadside hazards target of new safety program

The State Highway Commission reports it will focus safety efforts during the next year on eliminating such installations as signs and guard rail that create hazards for motorists.

The commission said a safety improvement program now being drafted coincides with new standards proposed by the American Association of State Highway Officials and approved by the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads.

Although Michigan Highway Department design engineers are joining with officials from other states to ask for a short delay in implementing a few of the new standards, work will be started within weeks on those economically feasible, Acting State Highway Director Henrik E. Stafseth said.

These include:
—MOVING SIGN posts and light posts, wherever possible, to 30 feet from the edge of the pavement.
—Installing breakaway signs or light posts wherever it is not possible to attain the 30-foot distance.
—Eliminating all concrete post-bases projecting above ground level.
—Changing guard rail installations wherever necessary to make certain these are securely attached to abutting structures and the approach end of the guard rail is flared away from the road and anchored into the ground.

—Removing trees within 30 feet of the edge of the pavement in rural areas—an important part of the safety program by the Highway Department last year when nearly 10,000 trees were removed from hazardous locations.

STAFSETH SAID the new standards further call for placing of large roadway signs on bridges over freeways in lieu of separate sign structures whenever possible, and for flattening slopes adjacent to the shoulders of all state highways to provide a clear recovery area for an out-of-control vehicle.

Most of these standards have been included in projects put under contract for the last two years in Michigan, he said.

Minutes of the City Commission Meeting

ST. JOHNS, MICHIGAN

JUNE 20, 1967

The regular meeting of the St. Johns City Commission was called to order by Mayor Coletta at 7:30 p.m. Commissioners present: Coletta, Furry, Irerer, Rand and Sistrine. Commissioners absent: none. Staff present: City Manager Greer, City Atty. Reed, City Clerk Clark.

Motion by Commissioner Sistrine, supported by Commissioner Rand, the minutes of the regular city commission meeting of June 6, 1967, be approved as presented. YEA: Commissioners Coletta, Furry, Rand and Sistrine. NAY: none. Motion carried. Motion by Commissioner Sistrine, supported by Commissioner Furry, the City Clerk be authorized to draw checks in payment of general fund voucher numbers 638 through 657 inclusive and water fund voucher 1185 through 1192 inclusive. YEA: Commissioners Coletta, Furry, Rand and Sistrine. NAY: none. Motion carried. Motion by Commissioner Sistrine, supported by Commissioner Furry, the agenda be approved with additions. YEA: Commissioners Coletta, Furry, Rand and Sistrine. NAY: none. Motion carried. The application-petition from Mr. Lyle Huntoon to amend the zoning ordinance No. 187 to re-zone the property at 610 W. State Street, Roll No. 1336, from single family to neighborhood service, was presented to the city commission. Mr. Huntoon was present at this meeting and offered additional information to the city commission. Motion by Commissioner Sistrine, supported by Commissioner Rand, to refer to the planning commission the request to re-zone 610 W. State Street. YEA: Commissioners Coletta, Furry, Rand and Sistrine. NAY: none. Motion carried.

A LETTER from Ayres, Lewis, Norris & May, consulting engineers, with reference to a rusty water complaint received from Paul Stoller, 1210 S. US-27, was presented to the city commission.

Commissioner Irerer was seated at 8 p.m. Mr. Ron Joslyn and a group of Lansing Street property owners appeared before the city commission requesting information on the paving of South Lansing Street. Mayor Coletta explained that the June 21, 1967, special election will assist the city commission in determining the city improvement program policy. The maintenance of dust control on gravel streets will continue.

Commissioner Furry presented a preliminary report from civil defense committee. The final report will be made at the next commission meeting. Motion by Commissioner Irerer, supported by Commissioner Sistrine, to accept the civil defense preliminary report and that it be made a part of the minutes of this meeting.

PRELIMINARY REPORT OF THE CIVIL DEFENSE COMMITTEE

Physical Facilities

Members of the committee checked out the facilities (horns) either personally or had some responsible person check out the same. It was found that the horns located at the Clinton Memorial Hospital, Sealed-Power, and the Federal-Mogul plant are in excellent operation order and the maintenance of these was being taken care of by some designated person in the employ of these plants and the hospital.

The horn at Hettler's was not in working order at the time but has since been taken care of and is operable.

The courthouse horn is still not operable and the need of a compressor is foremost in order to put it in operation. Contracts have been made with Saylor-Bell about a compressor. It is possible that one suitable for the purpose will be donated by that company.

Maintenance

It is recommended by the committee that periodic checks be made of the Physical Facilities at least four times a year by the civil defense officer of the city on the working conditions of these horns and that on a designated day of each quarter the horns be sounded for testing purposes.

Signals

It was recommended that the tornado warning horns be sounded for a period of 3 minutes duration to signal the tornado warning.

It was further recommended that since the firemen were presently gathering at the fire hall when a tornado was threatening, that the fire siren be used (one long blast of 3 minutes) to signal the all-clear.

The committee realizes that there is always the possibility of misunderstanding in this arrangement, but that a limited educational program would prevent much of the misunderstanding.

RESPONSIBILITY for Sounding Alarm—1) Chief of Police-civil defense officer; 2) Lyle French-Russell Doty.

It was felt by the committee that the civil defense officer should have the sole responsibility as to when the alarm should be sounded and that in his absence the designated officer be next in assuming the responsibility.

Education and Dissemination of Material

It is recommended by the committee that in order to educate the people to the warning system and what to do when the warning is sounded that:

1) The pamphlet, "Tornado Safety Rules" (obtained through the county civil defense officer) be distributed to the people. The Jayettes have already agreed to take on this job on a door-to-door basis to see that every home has a copy.

2) An information card be printed by the city suitable for hanging in the basement of homes or other shelters. This card would contain an illustration of the signals used in our local system, what they mean and again, what to do when they are heard. Also on this card would be information about the testing of horns on a designated day of each quarter.

YEA: Commissioners Coletta, Furry, Irerer, Rand and Sistrine. NAY: none. Motion carried.

THE CITY MANAGER read a letter to the City Commission from the Grand River Watershed Council including a request for the city of St. Johns to share in the cost of operations in the amount of $247.68. Commissioner Sistrine, the delegate from the city commission representing St. Johns on the council, reported on the progress of the Grand River Watershed Council. Motion by Commissioner Rand, supported by Commissioner Furry, to authorize payment of the per-capita share of the City of St. Johns to the Grand River Watershed Council in the amount of $247.68. YEA: Commissioners Coletta, Furry, Irerer, Rand and Sistrine. NAY: none. Motion carried.

City Manager Greer presented the Sikes Street project report to the city commission, including the Williams & Works, engineering consultants, bid analysis, recommending the contract be awarded to Smith Engineers and Excavators with a total bid of $87,489.85 for the complete project.

City Attorney, Harold Reed, read to the city commission proposed Ordinance No. 206. Commissioner Irerer offered the following ordinance and moved the adoption, which was supported by Commissioner Sistrine.

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND ORDINANCE NO. 192 PROHIBITING THE CARELESS OPERATION OF MOTOR VEHICLES WITHIN THE CITY OF ST. JOHNS.

Camping out best way to get outdoor foods

You can't replace a campout with any more of an ideal setting to learn about outdoor foods and forestry.

Eleven members and two leaders of the Colony Lad and Lassies 4-H Club spent last Wednesday and most of Thursday camped atop Bradshaw Hill, a curious, rounded glacial formation just off the corner of French and Upton roads northeast of Shepardsville.

The 10 girls and one boy cooked four outdoor meals during their two-day stay and spent the rest of the time learning about things of an outdoor nature.

THE VISITORS included Mr and Mrs David Peabody who showed and explained their rock collection; Mr and Mrs Louis Mrazek with an arrowhead collection; Ruth Acre and Iva Risley who told about pioneering; Charles Harmon who talked on Indians and Indian relics; and Extension Agent George McQueen who had the group searching out different types of leaves as part of their forestry project.

The 4-H'ers were under the general supervision of 4-H leaders Mrs Ray (Eleanor) Thornton and Mrs Rex (Dorothy) Ballantine and junior leader Miss Margaret Thornton.

For the fourth straight year, Michigan's pace-setting pulpwood industry boomed to a record output in 1966, the Conservation Department reports.

Last year's pulpwood output climbed to 1,570,635 cords, continuing a bullish trend in which Michigan's pulpwood consumption has nearly tripled in the last 16 years to outdistance a nationwide gain of about 114 per cent for this same period.

Keyed to expanding mill operations and growing market demands, pulpwood records fell last year in both major regions of the state.

Pulpwood loggers harvested 871,500 cords in the Upper Peninsula to top that region's 1965 total by about 100,000 cords.

Michigan's top ten counties for pulpwood are: Menominee, 92,525 cords; Iron, 88,560; Delta, 84,500; Baraga, 73,650; Marquette, 71,750; Dickinson, 71,000; Houghton, 68,650; Gogebic, 61,835; Alcona, 58,675 and Ontonagon, 56,850.

Take care, prevent food poisoning

By HELEN B. MEACH Extension Home Economist

Our red, white and blue month of July calls for picnics in the yard. It calls for potato salad, cold meat, watermelon, iced tea. The one thing it doesn't call for is a case of food poisoning.

The great majority of food poisoning outbreaks are traceable to mis-handled food. Given the proper environment, troublesome bacteria can multiply with astonishing speed; and while they are seldom fatal, they can make the victim feel that the end is certainly near.

MOST OF THE bacteria responsible for food poisoning are commonly found in the air, on the skin, in the earth of our own back yard or the chosen picnic site. They can scarcely be avoided. The trick is to keep these unwelcome creatures from doing any damage by keeping growth conditions unsuitable for them. This means keeping hot foods hot and cold foods cold. It means obtaining and using insulated containers for foods that must be transported or stored for a period of time before serving. There are 6 basic rules everyone should follow in preparing picnic foods.

1. Keep processed foods such as custards, meat salads, egg or potato salads and moist sandwiches chilled or piping hot to prevent growth of bacteria. Don't allow these foods to remain in the 50 degree to 120 degree range more than four hours.

2. CHILL THOROUGHLY such cooked foods as fried chicken, baked ham, meat loaf and fried fish before putting them in the picnic hamper, or better yet, into a cooler if the food will not be eaten for several hours. For hot service, heat over the grill at the picnic grounds.

3. Don't handle foods if you have any gastric upset. 4. Wash your hands thoroughly and often. This is particularly important if you are handling raw foods that receive no further cooking before being served.

5. REMOVE COOKED chicken from broth immediately to cool before using in salads, sandwiches and creamed dishes. 6. Keep insects and animals away from foods during preparation.

THE PRESENCE OF an acid ingredient such as vinegar, while not a deterrent to bacterial growth, will slow such activity somewhat. The following potato salad done up in attractive Fourth of July picnic style, does have a sharp, vinegary dressing that compliments the bland flavor of the potatoes and provides an ounce of prevention to possible food spoilage. The vinegar alone will not save the day. Keep the six rules of food safety firmly in mind when preparing:

AFTER THE 4TH POTATO SALAD FIRECRACKERS

Yield: 8 servings

- 5 cups cooked diced potatoes
- 1 tablespoon finely diced onion
- 1/2 cup finely diced cucumber
- 1 teaspoon celery seed
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 2 tablespoons snipped parsley

- 6 hard-cooked eggs
 - 3/4 cup dairy sour cream
 - 3/4 cup salad dressing
 - 2 tablespoons vinegar
 - 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- Toss together lightly the potatoes, cucumber, onion, and seasonings. Chop eggs and add to mixture. Combine sour cream, salad dressing, vinegar and mustard. Fold dressing mixture into potatoes. Chill well. Roll up in slices of cooked ham. Tuck pieces of green pepper or ripe olives into one end to form the fuses.

St. Johns, P-W FHA gets special award

The St. Johns and Pewamo-Westphalia chapters of the Future Homemakers of America (FHA) were among 20 state chapters, out of 307 represented, who were recognized with "Red Rose Honor Certificates" in the Michigan Assn. of FHA's Leadership Workshop, June 27-29, in East Lansing.

Those attending from St. Johns were delegates Jean Fieischer and Donna Thelen and Mrs. Martha Foust, their advisor. The P-W participants were Jane Stump, State Historian for the Michigan FHA; Theresa Thelen and Diane Huhn, delegates and their advisor, Mrs. Audrey Casari.

The theme of this year's workshop, "FHA Taps You," was in keeping with the goal of the meeting—to help FHA delegates understand how to become better FHA members and leaders.

The P-W delegation arrived early to allow Miss Stump to meet with other state officers and plan their trip to the National FHA Convention in San Francisco, July 8-14.

West Shaw Hall, on the campus of Michigan State University, was also the place of residence for the girls and their advisors.

After registering Tuesday, June 27, at 1 p.m., the delegates and their advisors were welcomed by Jeannette Lee, dean of the College of Home Economics, MSU.

Following this, the FHA state officers officially began the proceedings with a general meeting entitled, "FHA Taps You on the Shoulder," a review of the basis and plan of operation for the workshop.

"Program Planning" followed Wednesday morning, June 28. Its purpose was to aim toward building and understanding the state FHA work program.

A work calendar, to guide FHA chapters throughout the state, was developed at this time through group meetings.

Greenspan funds ASC PROGRAM OK'd for park

The Michigan Conservation Department has received federal "Greenspan" grants totaling $28,000 from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, part of which will be used to buy land for the Sleepy Hollow State Park in Clinton County.

Part of the grant will underwrite part of the land-buying costs for 117 acres at Sleepy Hollow. An additional $2,400 will be made available under the Greenspan program for development work at Sleepy Hollow.

Wheat producers participating in the 1967 wheat program are eligible for price support loans. To obtain a price support loan or to offer their wheat to the Commodity Credit Corp, later, producers must understand the following requirements:

For a warehouse-stored loan, wheat must be stored in an approved warehouse. Information on approved warehouses may be obtained from the county ASCS Office. All 1967-crop wheat warehouse receipts offered for price support must be supported by an official licensed inspector's certificate. You must make sure at the time your wheat is delivered to the warehouse that it is properly sampled and that arrangement is made with the warehouseman for submission of the sample to a licensed inspector. You must pay for the official grade certificate through arrangement with the warehouseman. If you obtain a CCC warehouse-stored loan you will be reimbursed $2 for each certificate used with the warehouse receipts.

Others get quick results with Clinton County News classified ads—you will, too!

Wednesday afternoon, "Ways of Working for a Better Chapter" was presented by Professors Twyla Shear and Jean Page, MSU. Next, the delegates saw a film entitled, "Bulldozed America," in connection with the Natural Beauty and Conservation project the Michigan FHA and other youth groups are undertaking.

Dancing and a movie followed a cookout on the terrace of West Shaw Hall Wednesday evening.

The closing general session Thursday, June 29, featured presentation of degrees and chapter awards, plus a program entitled, "Challenge for Strengthening the Family Life Through Future Homemakers Activities."

Wheat program producers are eligible for loans cause some delay this year. However, the county ASCS office can process the loan as rapidly as in the past, once the warehouse receipt and official grade certificate are furnished.

If your wheat is stored at the warehouse at harvest and later offered for price support loan or purchase, it still must have an official grade certificate based on a sample taken at the time of delivery to the warehouse.

The warehouse receipt when submitted to the county ASCS office must be supported by an official grade certificate.

On farm-stored loans there is no change from previous years. Loans can be processed rapidly by the county ASCS office if the wheat is in acceptable storage. "Acceptable farm storage" is storage that will safely store the wheat during the loan period. The new system offers the following advantages: it assures farmers of accurate grades for price support purposes; it satisfies warehousemen's requests to CCC for cash settlements on future deliveries; it reduces the incentive to downgrade deliveries

THIS NEW REQUIREMENT for warehouse-stored loans may to CCC; and settlements between CCC and warehousemen will be easy to administer.

YOU ARE RESPONSIBLE for arranging with the warehouseman for an official grade certificate for each warehouse receipt offered to CCC for loan or purchase on 1967-crop wheat.

You should talk to your warehouseman ahead of harvest if you expect to apply for a loan. This will help him plan for better service.

If you deliver more than one truckload of wheat of similar quality, samples from the individual truckloads may be commingled and used as one sample to send to the licensed inspector for a grade certificate. Separate grade certificates are not required for separate truckloads, except where there are wide variances in quality on dates of delivery.

If you have any questions regarding the loan program please contact our office.

New county plat books available

The new edition of the Clinton County plat book, sponsored by the 4-H clubs of the county, arrived last week and is on sale at a number of places around the area.

The 52-page book, bearing a green cover with a montage of farm pictures on the front, contains detailed maps of each township in the county showing property boundaries, descriptions and owners.

While the maps are the core of the book, it also contains facts pertaining to land descriptions, a rural postal route map of the county, an alphabetized business directory and advertisements from over 100 Clinton County businesses.

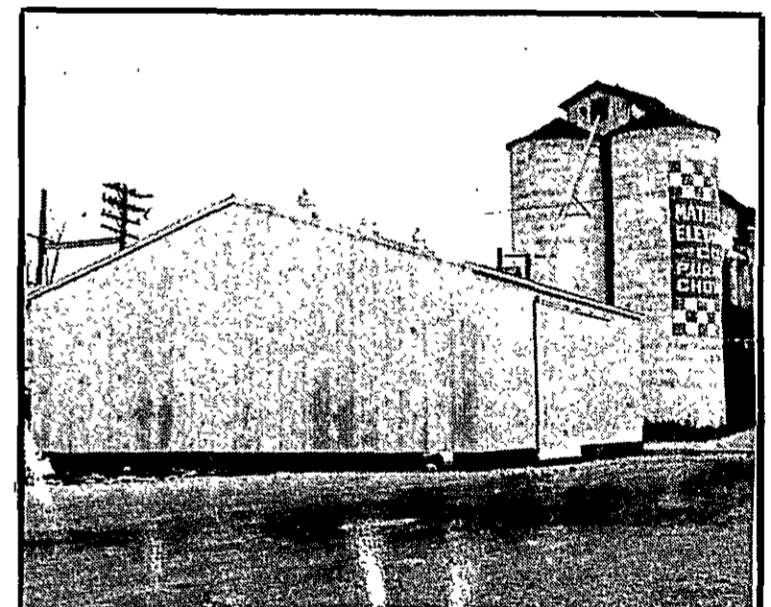

A NEW FEATURE of the plat book this year—the first plat book to be published in three years—is an owner's and resident's directory which lists alphabetically the names of owners or renters of rural property, their post office and route number, the page on which their property is shown on the map, and the section number of the township in which it is located.

The plat books are on sale for $3 each, with the proceeds to be used by Clinton County 4-H clubs. The books are available at the Clinton County Extension office, Central National Bank, Clinton National Bank and Trust Co., Burton Abstract, St. John's Cooperative, Zeeb Fertilizers, ASC office, office of the county treasurer, office of the county drain commission, and the DeWitt Township office.

It's here!

New Holland's Model 975—a medium-size combine with harvest power to spare!

Check it out. Here's harvest power. Plenty of it. Whether you're planting narrow-row or wide-row.

Driving it is a big, brawny 85-hp engine, for example. Its got the heft to handle the heavy crops, the "push" for the tough conditions. Keeps you right on rolling till the crop's in.

And there's separating ability to match. The "975" measures in bigger than some of the "big" price combines. Extra-big strawwalkers and cleaning area are fed by an almost-40-inch-wide cylinder. The result is more corn—and cleaner corn!

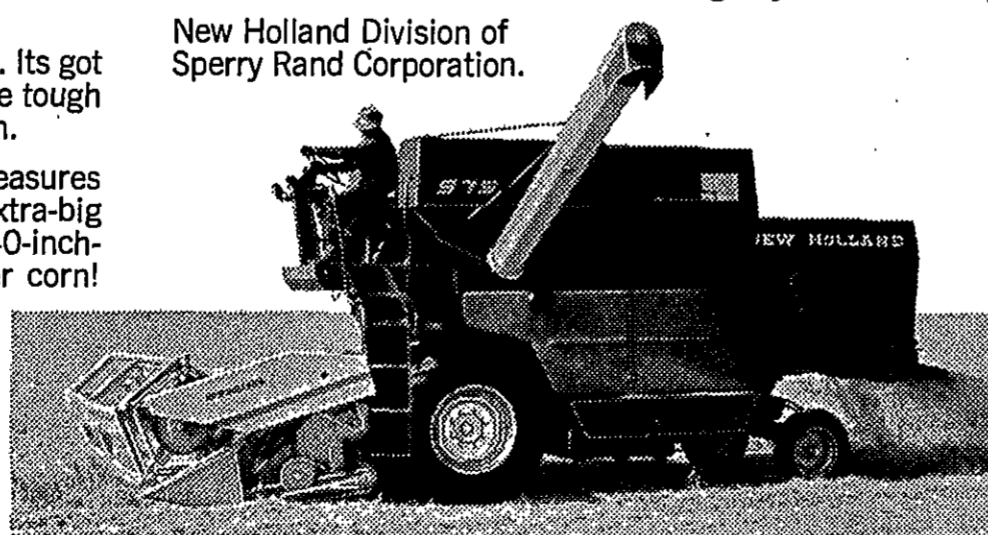

And you'll get the job done in comfort with full on-the-go control of reel speed, cylinder speed, header height, reel height. Right from the cushioned contour seat. It's all standard equipment, too!

But best of all is the way the "975" is built to stay on the job till it's done. It's truly a powerful combine, built to do a powerful lot of work!

Choice of headers. Select either 2-row 40-inch or 3-row 30-inch corn heads. 13-foot or 15-foot direct-cut headers. There's a lot more you'll like about the Model 975. But let

Moore Seed Farm 'different' ag tour stopover

Afternoon stop on Aug. 1 trip

ELSIE—The Moore Seed Farm represents a different but important part of Michigan agriculture which will be soon on the State Farm Management Tour in Clinton County Tuesday, Aug. 1.

A father-son partnership runs the farm, which has been in the family nearly 100 years. It will be the afternoon stop for the tour.

Production of foundation and certified seed requires meticulous farming and disease-, rodent- and insect-free storage. George and Robert Moore enjoy the detail work required in growing quality seeds which are made available to growers of Michigan and nearby states.

IN 1966 THE 240-ACRES of seed crops planted included: 68 to corn, 95 to beans, 46 to wheat and 45 to oats. Thirteen acres of the farm is in woodland.

This year the Moores have 126 acres in seed corn, 39 acres in seed beans, 39 in seed wheat and 49 in seed oats. In addition, they have contracted to grow foundation seed beans on 15 acres and wheat on 27 acres.

The Moore farm, one mile west and two miles north of Elsie on the Gratiot-Clinton line, was a dairy farm in the 1930's, producing some beans as a cash crop. George Moore was operating the farm at that time in partnership with his father.

His son Robert, who was active in 4-H Club and FFA work, attended Michigan State University for five terms before entering the Army in 1943. When he returned from the Army in 1946 he married and decided to farm.

Then the 50-50 father-son farm partnership was formed between George Moore and Robert L. Moore.

GEORGE MOORE HAD quit the dairy operation because of the labor shortage during World War II and had started the seed production business. With only 120 acres in 1946, they soon found the farm was not big enough to provide income for two families. They returned to milking cows.

Robert and his wife bought 80 acres of land and the seed business kept expanding. Attention required by the seed business soon forced them out of the dairy business again in 1955.

An extensive cleaning and seed treating area was installed so seed could be bagged ready for distribution.

The Moores are associated with the Michigan Certified Seed Growers' Assn. and market through Great Lakes Hybrids

Robert Moore and his father, George, operate the Moore Seed Farm which devotes between 250 and 300 acres to the production of foundation or certified seed for corn, beans, oats and wheat. Their seed growing and processing operation will be the afternoon stop on the State Farm Management Tour in Clinton County Aug. 1.

Cooperative, an affiliated marketing agency which began operation last year. Robert is a member of the board of directors of this group.

BOTH OF THE MEN are active in community affairs. George is supervisor of Duplain Township and Robert is a director of the Clinton County Soil Conservation District, a member of the Elsie Lions Club, the Farm Bureau and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Robert's wife, Doris, graduated from Lansing Business University and worked in Lansing for five years before being married. She keeps records for the family farm business and is vice president of the Elsie PTA and leads 4-H club activities in the area.

All six of their children have been active in 4-H club work. The oldest is a crop science major at Michigan State University and at present is on a six-month assignment in the U.S. Army Reserve. Calvin, 17, is president of the Elsie FFA chapter and a high school senior. The older boys, Carl and Calvin, rent 80 acres on their own. They produce seed beans, oats and wheat on contract for the Moore Seed Farm, using their father's equipment by paying the cash costs.

In sorting the seed so that only quality kernels are sold for planting they found there remained some odd-sized or broken grain. The boys then decided to go into hog feeding. They buy feeder pigs at about 40 pounds in September and feed them with self-feeders. They market the hogs at about 200 pounds.

THE $187 CROP VALUE per tillable acre is high compared with the average Michigan farmer. Most of the crop production is sold as seed and commands a higher price, but production costs were also higher.

A feature of interest to women at the Moore farm will be a visit to the home of Mr and Mrs Robert Moore and their six children. Mrs Moore will have "open house" to show the home they planned. Most of the wall paneling throughout the house is made from trees which were grown on the farm. Walnut, oak, maple and sycamore are used throughout the house and each room is paneled and trimmed in a different way with native lumber.

Farm profit increases

Combination dairy-general farms in southern Michigan were more profitable in 1966 than in either 1964 or 1965, according to an analysis of nearly 100 farms in the Michigan State University TelFarm program.

Ralph E. Hepp, MSU Extension agricultural economist, says higher milk prices and better yields of crops, combined with more stable costs, improved the income picture.

Return for investment and operator's labor and management for the average farm was $9,412 in 1966. TelFarm reports, compared to $5,398 in 1965 and $6,237 in 1964.

Total investment in all 3 years was around $155,000, with each farm employing the equivalent of about 2.5 men annually.

In each year, an average of about 41 cows were milked. With the average price of milk up about 50 cents a hundred-weight, income in 1966 over 1965 increased by about $3,000 per farm, the records show.

While these were not identical farms in the three-year period, Hepp believes the report gives a good indication of the trend in earning on farms of this size.

Research indicates that of men who suffer heart attacks, those with a history of vigorous exercise have more than twice the chance of surviving than those who are physically inactive. The apparent reason is that regular exercise develops the arterial system serving the heart so that if a blockage does come, the patient's heart can get enough blood from "collateral" arteries to survive.

AGRICULTURE in ACTION

by M. L. Woell
MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

"America is filled with unrest and unease. It has reached into rural areas and for the first time, farmers are openly talking about the 'credibility gap.'"

Speaking was Bill Blair, well-known New York Times writer. His audience included farm writers from all parts of the nation, including Michigan. The reference to the credibility gap stemmed from a statement attributed to President Johnson in which he said that "we have a serious problem of maintaining our credibility with our own people."

Blair echoes that sentiment, reporting that the nation is in the throes of a huge national gripe session with the voice of dissent raised everywhere, including on the farm. "In effect, the farmers told Agricultural Secretary Freeman during his recent farm tour, 'Mr Secretary, you are very brave and it was nice of you to come. All your figures may be correct, but we just don't believe you.'"

BLAIR THINKS that most everyone is rather well off at the moment, but that they also are upset and worried. Farmers are worried about higher costs, tighter labor restrictions, and falling incomes. They are over-extended in many cases. As only 5.6 per cent of the population, and one of the least vocal minority groups, they are aware of their vulnerability and have evidence that politicians feel them to be easy marks.

They remember Freeman's press conference of about a year ago in which he talked of the need for the Department of Agriculture to serve consumers more, and farmers less. They remember President Johnson's anti-inflation efforts in which they felt farmers were unfairly blamed for higher food prices.

Underlying everything is the war in Vietnam, and although farmers are joining the voice of dissent in other areas, they reserve judgement on this, for farm boys serve there, too, and their parents are concerned when some citizens give them less than full support.

Farm leaders attending the policy making sessions of the American Farm Bureau Federation wrote: "We support Americans throughout the world who are working and fighting for freedom. Those in Vietnam have our special commendation and gratitude . . ."

Give the average husband a few tools and in no time at all a dripping faucet will become a running stream.

et will become a running stream.

Drench sheep now

Damage from internal sheep parasites can be prevented by drenching all sheep and lambs during early July.

George McQueen, Clinton County Extension agricultural agent, says ewes and lambs have been on pasture long enough to have become infected, if species of the worms are in the soil and grass.

While small numbers of parasites will reduce gains and delay marketing, heavy infection can cause death losses, the county agent warned.

HE ADVISES A combination drench of phenothiazine and lead arsenate is very effective and most commonly used at this time of year. Other preparations containing diphenanthone 70 and phenothiazine are also available from veterinarians and are effective. Both of these drenches contain material aimed at controlling tapeworms, often a problem at this season of the year.

Sheep owners should check the drenching gun carefully to make sure it delivers the correct dosage and that the end of the nozzle has no sharp edges that would injure the animals' throat or mouth.

The agricultural authority suggests herd owners keep phenothiazine and salt mixture before the flock at all times. The use of this mixture helps to keep parasite numbers from building up following drenching.

Extension Bulletin 479, "Controlling Internal Parasites of Sheep" is available at the county Cooperative Extension office or may be obtained by writing the Bulletin Office, Michigan State University, East Lansing, Mich. 48823.

Fertilization can extend grazing

Forages for grazing usually provide the most feed at least cost for beef cows, because there are no harvest or storage costs. This is the opinion of Frank Schaller, Iowa State University agronomist. For this reason, he adds, it pays to make the grazing season as long as possible.

You can stretch the grazing season and double the productivity of bluegrass pastures by controlling weeds, fertilizing and grazing properly, says the specialist.

In Iowa tests, he says, nitrogen and phosphate fertilization boosted the carrying capacity of bluegrass from 50 to 125 pasture days per acre.

Spring nitrogen fertilization can bring bluegrass to grazing height as much as seven to 10 days earlier, notes the agronomist, and the cool-season grasses respond well to nitrogen. Tall grasses, such as brome, orchard, tall fescue, and in the Midwest, reed canarygrass, also respond well to fertilization, he adds.

Have soil tested and follow recommendations for fertilization.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Summer Recreation

Those attending the summer recreation program at Looking Glass Valley Park each morning from 9 to 11:30 a.m. report a very interesting program. Mrs. John MacDougall is in charge of arts and crafts. This program is sponsored by Watertown Charter Township. There are three weeks of fun yet to be enjoyed by all children from kindergarten through sixth grade.

Former Resident Dies

Mrs. Florence (Pat) Ingalls, 86, of Grand Ledge and a former Wacousta resident, passed away at a convalescent home in Lansing. She is survived by two sons, Charles (Joe) Ingalls of Grand Ledge and Lewis of Lansing and several grandchildren.

Returns to Wacousta

Two weeks ago Rev Tom Peters and his family moved to their new circuit and home in Potteryville, taking with them their dog and her two month old pup. Sunday morning the residents of Wacousta found the mother and her pup had come back to Wacousta, crossing the Grand River as well as Looking Glass River. It has not been learned as yet how long she had been on the road, with her pup. Must have taken quite a while as mother was having quite a time to get him down the street the last one-half block.

Pre-trial gossip or pre-trial publicity?

Little attention has been given in all of the talks and treatises on fair trial and free press to the ever-present danger of prejudicial pre-trial rumors and gossip.

It happened in South Bend, Ind., just the other day, and it couldn't be more timely—only a few weeks ahead of the time when the American Bar Assn. meeting in Honolulu, will consider for adoption, rejection or amendment the Reardon Committee report's recommendations for controlling the release of information before trial.

The trial of a South Bend policeman, charged with slaying an 18-year-old man, became so infested with word-of-mouth notoriety that Superior Court Judge Norman Kopec granted a change of venue to a county 50 miles distant.

The trial judge absolved the news media, the prosecutor and the police of responsibility for the situation. All had been extra careful to avoid contributing to a prejudicial atmosphere.

and fairness in printing the news appears to be the logical answer.

We view with alarm the proposal which is before the New York State Constitutional Convention. There may be some solace in the fact that little open support has built up for Delegate Joseph L. Galiber's call for a section in the Constitution which would rigidly restrict the publication of information relating to a crime.

At last—a civil defense plan for city

At long last it appears St. Johns will have a definite, spelled-out plan to follow in the event of a natural disaster or one of man-made proportions.

A city civil defense committee appointed May 16 has already made a preliminary report to the city commission and is ready to iron out final details.

Their full report appears in the minutes of the June 20 commission meeting which are printed elsewhere in this issue of the Clinton County News.

The committee said it felt the responsibility should be that of the civil defense officer—the chief of police—or someone designated by him in his absence.

Four of the five sirens are now in working order, the committee reported, and they recommended obtaining a compressor to operate the siren at the courthouse.

A three-minute blast on the civil defense horns, they recommended, should be the signal for a tornado warning—the actual approach of a twister—that means to take cover.

The civil defense committee members are to be commended for their work in straightening out a serious problem. The members are City Commissioner John Furry, Dr. R. L. Wohlers, Police Chief Everett Glazier and Fire Chief Clare Maier.

We hope their recommendations will be fully acceptable to the city commission and that they will be implemented immediately.

ST. JOHNS FIREMEN are to be commended for the excellent display of fireworks which they put on the evening of the Fourth of July.

Interesting Items from the Files of the Clinton County News

10 YEARS AGO From the Files of July 18, 1957 Rains caused a once-in-a-century catastrophe in Fowler last Thursday afternoon.

U.S. Coast Guard 3/c Richard E. Haas arrived in London, England, July 9 with the Coast Guard Cadet Practice Squadron which is making the annual Cadet training cruise.

25 YEARS AGO From the Files of July 23, 1942 Clement M. Pung, 39, a life-long resident of Clinton county, and an attorney at St. Johns for nearly 12 years, announced this week that he is a candidate for nomination for the office of county prosecuting attorney on the Republican ticket.

50 YEARS AGO From the Files of July 19, 1917 A black eagle is rather a rare bird in this community now—days, but nevertheless William Cox succeeded in shooting one at his home on Greenbush last week, after having been bothered for some time with losing his chickens.

The Wm. J. Moss Auto Co., who have handled the Studebaker and Maxwell cars for several years, have now made their line practically complete by adding the Dodge car.

Juvenile authorities say it's gospel truth that teen woe abideth in autos, alcohol and a pathy. And the greatest of these is apathy.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

BROOMFIELD, COLO., STAR-BUILDER: "The union has come a long ways since its inception as a means to make employers recognize their workers as human beings and not as animals who could be used however they wished for the price of a loaf of bread."

BROWNSVILLE, PA., TELEGRAPH: "It is with sorrow one views the death of General Francisco Franco's experiment in liberalization in Spain. Five years ago, Franco set in motion a relaxation of controls, and he brought to his government more democratic, far less authoritarian, men to build the new Spain."

RAMBLIN' with Rink

By LOWELL G. RINKER

Hall the never-flubbing photographer, for they are a rare breed.

I certainly have never considered myself a never-flubber, but there are others I know in whom my confidence is now shaken.

While on vacation recently, I stopped in at the Muskegon Chronicle to visit with friends I had made there while working on that paper during the summer of 1958.

SIX MINUTES LATER he discovered it hadn't been the developing tank after all but instead was the acid fix—hence, six rolls of negatives were as clear as windows. Ruined. Needless to say—with not only his editor but also the Associated Press wirephoto network waiting—he was red-faced.

I certainly did not laugh at his plight, but before my vacation was over I was feeling a good deal the way he must have felt—like he'd been kicked in the stomach.

I seldom put color film in my camera anymore, because I use it all the time for black and white pictures for the paper.

MY EXPOSURE gauge showed I was getting 38 pictures off the 36-exposure roll when I finally decided I'd better not press my luck and started to rewind the film.

When I did this, however, all the film was in the cassette as it should be, and it quickly became apparent what had happened.

With sinking heart, I sent the film in to be developed. It sank even further when it came back—in one, long, dark, unmounted roll. What I had feared was true; there wasn't one picture on the roll.

All hall the never-flubbing photographer, for they are a rare breed.

By HILA BROSS Librarian Bement Public Library

Of the 10 books of fiction on this week's New York Times Best-Seller list, Bement Public Library has the following seven: THE ARRANGEMENT by Ella Kazan; THE EIGHTH DAY by Thornton Wilder; WASHINGTON, D.C. by Gore Vidal; THE PLOT by Irving Wallace; TALES OF MANHATTAN by Louis Auchincloss; THE SECRET OF SANTA VITTORIA by Robert Crichton; and CAPABLE OF HONOR by Alan Drury.

THE ARRANGEMENT was way down on the list until it was banned in a small college town in Iowa, after which it rocketed to Number One place. THE EIGHTH DAY is proof that a man who is successful in one medium can be equally successful in another.

THE PLOT is advertised by its publishers as Irving Wallace's longest book, and it is that certainly, but perhaps not his greatest. But an author who can produce two such masterpieces as THE PRIZE and THE MAN is really entitled to let down a little once in a while.

THE PLOT deals with (yes, you guessed it) a plot to kill President Kennedy. It is pure fiction, however, and not in any way does it resemble one of the many documentaries that have hit the printing presses since that tragic day in November 1962.

THE BROKEN SEAL (recently received at Bement Library) is a sort of spy story, dealing with that branch of American Intelligence which seeks to break the secret codes of other nations, in this case Japan in the period just prior to the outbreak of World War I.

Jan Yoors, a Belgian by birth, spent much of his youth traveling throughout Europe as the adopted son of a Gypsy family. During the war he worked in the resistance movement, narrowly escaping capture by the Gestapo several times. In his recently published book, THE GYPSIES, Mr. Yoors depicts the life of these nomadic peoples in a manner which could be done only by one who had actually lived that life.

The air conditioner at Bement Public Library is in full operation and makes the library a pleasant place to spend an afternoon. Why not try it?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Bloodmobile committee says 'thanks'

Editor:

I would like to express my gratitude to the staff of the Clinton County News and WRBJ for the wonderful publicity given to the bloodmobile on July 5.

Also, I think a special thanks should go to Mr. Gilson at Federal Mogul, Mr. Gill at Sealed Power and Mr. Morton at Saylor Beal and to all of their employees for their fine cooperation.

The doctors, volunteers, Father Labiak and the ladies of St. Joseph parish did an excellent job.

We are especially proud of the citizens of St. Johns and the surrounding area who came through and made this a tremendous success. At this time, the need was great and we are able to do our share.

Sincerely, MARY CROSBY, NANCY FUETZ, CORKY PARADISE, JANE IDZKOWSKI, Bloodmobile Committee

New education prompts new shapes in schools

Changes in education prompt changes in school architecture. Accompanying new math, instructional television and teaching machines are new concepts in school design, flexibility and function.

Sliding classroom walls provide enclosures for small groups or individual instruction. They open to accommodate larger audiences.

School libraries are equipped with tape recorders and teaching machines. They serve as general instructional and material centers.

Even school grounds, once divided neatly into shrubbed approaches to building and playground areas, give way to landscaped outdoor classrooms. Ponds aid in the study of wild life. A wide variety of trees and plants are used by botany enthusiasts.

PIE-SHAPED CLASSROOMS, leading to a central core which houses an electronic learning center and TV facilities, are examples of today's school construction. Such classrooms are found in the circular Douglas MacArthur Elementary School in Southfield. With the exception of kindergartens and first-grade rooms, all classrooms are open at the center tip to provide free access to the learning center.

Jackson's Parkside High School features a combination of a dozen buildings connected by corridors. Each building holds classrooms and equipment for specific subject area study. The school can be expanded by adding new wings, yet the architectural image is not impaired.

Eastern High School in Detroit uses the same pattern but for a different purpose. Called the house-type plan, each building is a school in itself and accommodates 800 students. Youths in the inner-city can enjoy the familiarity and friendliness of a smaller school, while the concentrated population of the area is served on a single-school-site and shares common facilities.

DISADVANTAGED youngsters in Grand Rapids begin their school experiences when four or five in a building separate from the regular school. While exposed to the broadening experiences of school learning, they are sheltered from the initial bewilderment of regular classrooms.

A new, multi-story junior high school in Mt. Pleasant has installed v-shaped projecting window bays which give students a panoramic view but cut down blackboard glare and interference with artificial lighting caused by conventional flat windows.

Tree groves, pond and bog areas are part of the "outdoor classroom" landscaping of schools in Coldwater and Ann Arbor. In addition to science ventures, the areas are used by art classes for sketching, applications of mathematics for measurements and surveying, astronomy and for creative approaches to teaching many other subjects.

THE OLD CORNER hardware is quickly disappearing from the American scene. In its place, according to a recent study by the Hardware Retailer magazine and the National Retail Hardware Assn., is emerging a larger structure with better lighting, better parking and professional management.

The advent of discount stores brought new competition to the hardware retailers. They are warned that this most severe competitor must be faced with new methods of merchandising and management if hardware are to survive.

Two types of retailing seem to be developing from the hardware industry; the well-kept, well-designed store which offers customer service and convenience and the "junk" merchandising store. The latter heaps goods in baskets and on counters and operates on the "low-margin," discount-selling psychology.

Too many hardware stores will try to operate on the "middle-ground," NRHA maintains, and there's no middle-ground left. A store must either be neat and attractive or a cut-rate, low-price operation.

While some hardware owners are reluctant to change, many operators are improving their stores and modes of operations.

New lines, mass displays, better in-training of personnel, larger stores, sharper merchandising and advertising attempt to bring a new image to the hardware.

BY ELMER E. WHITE Michigan Press Assn.

MANY OF THE 1,250 hardware stores in Michigan purchase merchandise from "buying groups" in order to keep prices competitive. Membership in a group usually allows owners to retain independent control of stores but benefit from mass buying. Six major groups operate in the state and help supply some 30,000 items to the average store. Gross sales for hardware retailers in Michigan average $150,000 to $200,000 annually.

Overall, hardware retailing has become big business and hardware associations are trying to "professionalize" it.

Hardware magazines, wholesalers and dealer associations constantly offer tips on streamlining operations and promote ideas for professional management. Clinics and trade meetings point out advantages of adopting the "new look in retailing."

Harold Schumacher, manager-treasurer of the MRHA, stresses that today's hardware dealer must constantly analyze his competition, his own operation and his customers in order to effectively evaluate future plans.

"Every year there is less hope for the hardware store which refuses to change with the times," Schumacher said.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

HARTLAND, WISC., REPORTER: "There's a big investigation in Washington, D. C. concerning the purchase of drugs under brand names or generic names. It has been indicated that generic name buying is often cheaper. We wonder how the prescriptions for some of those people causing the fuss are ordered; by well known reputable brand names or by a generic name?"

WARRENSBURG, MO., STAR-JOURNAL: "The Constitution forbids cruel and unusual punishment. Well, the punishment meted out by Municipal Judge John B. Lawrence of San Bernardino, Calif., to a couple of teen-age girls who pleaded guilty to shoplifting was certainly unusual. Some might even say it was downright cruel. . . . What Judge Lawrence did was to order the two girls, both overweight, to whack off 10 and 15 pounds respectively within six months or spend another 29 days in pok-ey."

The "Low Down"

From the Congressional Record By Joe Crump

Prison farms get Soil Bank cash

Senator John J. Williams (Del.) . . . For the past several years the administration has been giving lip service to a revision of our farm program whereby it would curtail the large subsidy payments which are being made to the corporate type of farmers.

"Notwithstanding these fine phrases, however, each time that the proposal has been before the Congress to limit these subsidy payments not only was the administration silent but it actually opposed the amendment which would place a limitation on the amount which could be paid to any one individual and which would therefore limit these programs to the benefit of the bona fide farmers . . ."

"These subsidy payments to which we are referring represent payments under the soil bank and acreage diversion programs, and so forth; that is, they are direct cash payments and are in addition to, and not a part of, the subsidy which the government may be making under the price-support program to these same individuals.

"In 1966 there were five farming operations which received a direct government subsidy in excess of $1 million each. In 1966 there were 11 farming operations which received direct cash subsidies in excess of $500,000 but less than $1 million.

"In 1966 there were 936 so-called farming operations which received direct cash payments of between $50,000 and $100,000.

"In 1966 there were 3,939 individuals who received between $25,000 and $50,000 each.

"A complete listing of all those who received in excess of $50,000 will be incorporated in the Record (Vol. 113, No. 96) as part of my remarks; however, I call attention to just a few of the more interesting situations.

"The Department of Agriculture has classified two state penitentiaries as farmers, thereby making them eligible for direct subsidy payments. The Louisiana State Penitentiary collected a cash subsidy of $92,135 while the Arkansas State Penitentiary collected $122,090 as incentives to curtail their farming operations.

"THE STATE OF MONTANA is classified as a farmer, and it collected $337,345 to curtail its farming operations.

"The Texas Department of Correction is classified as a farmer needing government assistance, and it was declared eligible for direct cash payments totaling $288,911.

"The State of Washington is another 'western farmer' which collected $125,582 to curtail its farming operations.

"Based upon these large payments it is obvious that the small family-type farmer is not the real beneficiary of our present farm program, but rather the government, through these large payments, is in reality subsidizing an expansion of the corporate type of farming operation. "The time is long past due when these programs should be curtailed and these payments restricted to an amount not to exceed $10,000 for any one farming operation . . ."

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT

It's not nipping to disclose that federal subsidy cash is being paid to State penitentiaries. The largest payment on the senator's list was Griffen, Inc., Fresno County, Calif., $2,387,073.

Senator John J. Williams (Del.) is to be congratulated for "watching the store." -J. C.

COUNTRY FLAVOR

Keeping your nose to the grindstone

HAYDN PEARSON

You do not see them very often in this age of power driven machinery, but half a century ago an old grindstone sat behind the woodshed. A 12 year-old did not anticipate the job. It was hard, monotonous work to turn the crank while father bore down hard to take a nick from the scythe.

Scythes had to be kept razor sharp for efficient work and the cutter bar on the mowing machine had many small triangular blades that needed sharpening. Sometimes as a lad sat on an old box and turned, he wondered which was the worse - turning the grindstone or cranking the old cedar churn when the cream was obstinate and would not change to butter.

The New England Farmer July 1860, put it succinctly. "Who will venture to compute the number of sea voyages that have been planned by farmers' sons at the crank of some old grindstone, or of resolutions made to be merchant, mechanic, anything so long as they shall not be obliged to grind dull axes on a miserable grindstone."

A lad knew, of course, that tools had to be sharp to do good work. He had been told that fact many times. But that didn't lessen his feelings as his arm went round and round with the crank. He knew that scythes received nicks and that mower blades dug into hummocks and were dulled. The work had to be done, and he had to turn the grindstone. But when Uncle Ben smiled as he watched and said, "Good for you, my boy. It builds character," a boy thought that he could build his character in other and less monotonous ways.
