

PAT RECK prepares for weekly horse auction.

St. Johns horse auction largest in 7-state area

The mailbox says: St. Johns Horse Auction, Ashley, Michigan.

The telephone book lists a Pompeii telephone number for the St. Johns Horse Auction.

The name of the business, which is the largest of its kind in a seven state area, is the ST. JOHNS Horse Auction.

Confusing? Maybe, but not for the several hundred "cowboys" who frequent the bi-monthly horse auctions held at the St. Johns Horse Auction located just south of the Maple River off US-27 in Gratiot County.

"People come from Canada, New York, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, and Iowa, to mention a few," says Pat Reck who, with her husband, Tom, own and manage the horse auction.

Every first and third Saturdays of the month (excluding the 4th of July), there is a horse auction on the Reck's property. Horse dealers, amateur riders and families looking for a horse for a son or daughter are among the many visitors who can be seen inspecting the horse stalls before the auction early Saturday morning.

"We have between 100 and 200 families at a sale," says Pat who is the spokesman for the Auction, while her husband tends to the horses.

"There are about 125 permanent buyers or licensed dealers and everybody who comes to buy gets a buyer's number."

The horse equipment auction begins at 11 a.m. and the horses' auction begins about 1 p.m. A special barn with bleachers on both sides and an auctioneer's podium on one wall characterize the auction. This area is known as the "sale ring."

Between 250 and 375 horses may be auctioned off during the sale. About 90 per cent of the horses are sold on consignment basis, and according to Pat, spring is the top time for horse trading.

In the spring, 4-H youngsters are looking for a horse they can groom and enter contests with. The adventuresome are looking for contest horses—horses that will compete in barrel racing and run cloverleaf patterns and the like.

Dealers are looking for horses to sell or rent to summer camps such as YMCA camps for children. One exclusive camp in New York travels all the way to the St. Johns Horse Auction to purchase its horses.

Men from the race tracks look for "pony" horses that will "pony" or escort their racers to and from the track. English riding academies and hunt and jump clubs look for horses for their establishment.

Ranches look for horses for children and adults to ride and rodeo representatives want to buy horses for their annual rodeos, bucking horses, or hazing horses.

Of course, some people come to the St. Johns Horse Auction to purchase a work horse. Pat and Tom have sold a couple work horses to the Amish near Stanton.

As Pat puts it more simply, "We have every kind."

INTEREST PICKING UP

Eight years ago, the Reck's took over the St. Johns Horse Auction and they have made it what it is today. When they started the business, about 50 per cent of the horses sold were their horses. Now about 90 per cent of the horses are sold on consignment.

Pat says as interest in horses is picking up, so (See Page 16) fatally injured in a car-pedestrian accident at 5:58 p.m. Monday.

The Clinton County Sheriff's Dept. reports that Sharon Kay Hengesbach, 7, of Westphalia apparently ran in front of a car driven by James L. Rademacher, 29, of Fowler.

The girl was pronounced dead on arrival at Sparrow Hospital in Lansing. The accident investigation is being continued by the Sheriff's Dept.

A South Lyons woman lost her life in a 2-car accident Sunday afternoon at 3:35 at the corner of Scott and Mead Roads.

According to the Sheriff's Dept. a car driven by Floyd LeRoy Spiece, 6643 Scott Rd., St. Johns collided broadside with a car driven by Frank Thomas Polack, 6501 Yale, Westland. The Spiece vehicle was traveling northbound on Scott and the Polack vehicle was eastbound on Mead. There are yield signs for Mead Rd. traffic.

Fatally injured in the accident was Mary Rebecca Brown, 24, 209 S. Elm, South Lyons.

Drivers of the vehicles were admitted to Clinton Memorial and Sparrow Hospital. The accident is under investigation by the Sheriff's Dept.

WHILE OTHERS were busy watching the Elsie Bicentennial costume parade, these youngsters found this cannon more intriguing and a source of expert aim.

Surveys of the local Home Health Service Program are conducted periodically by the Michigan Department of Public Health and Michigan Blue Cross Blue Shield, the intermediary for medicare, to determine whether or not the program meets standards established in such areas as: quality of care and services rendered, administration, and internal review procedures.

Recertification is granted upon satisfactory survey results which enables the local health department to continue to receive third party reimbursement for home health services. These payments account for a majority of the program's financial support. Joseph Latoff, Acting Director commended the Health Department staff. Lillian Swagart retires from the Wickes Corporation

Wickes Buildings, a division of The Wickes Corporation, has announced the retirement of Lillian Swagart as bookkeeper at the company's lumber and supply facility at St. Johns, Michigan. In announcing the retirement, Otto C. Krohn, division general manager, pointed out that Mrs. Swagart joined the firm on July 5, 1966, when the St. Johns yard was opened. Jim Moriarty, nephew of the founder of the company bearing his name, had just been appointed manager of the new St. Johns facility and was responsible for hiring Mrs. Swagart. Three years later, when the Moriarty company was acquired by Wickes, she remained on as staff bookkeeper.

CNB&T issues quarterly report

A pattern of growth reflected in recent years by

Clinton National Bank & Trust Company of St. Johns

has continued into 1976 and the trend was confirmed last week in a second quarter report issued by President Brandon C. White.

According to White, the bank's earnings for the second quarter, ending June 30, amounted to $172,788 representing an increase of $28,652 over the first quarter and $16,444 over the second quarter of 1975.

Total six-month earnings were $315,944. This $13,048 gain reflects a 4.3 per cent increase over the comparable period in 1975. Assets of the bank stood at $72,665,000 as of June 30, a 11.6 per cent increase over 1975's mid year total of $65,092,555.

"Our consistent growth pattern has been encouraging to us," commented White, "and has served as a motivating factor in the opening of new offices in our service area." Clinton National is opening two offices in the north Lansing area. One, located at 2201 E. Grand River, is scheduled for September 13 and a second, in bath, is planned for later this year or early 1977.

Clinton National Bank presently serves mid-Michigan's Clinton County and north Lansing from eleven locations. The bank's stock is handled through the offices of Manley, Bennett & McDonald.

An engraved watch in recognition of her outstanding service was presented to Mrs. Swagart by Mr. Ralph Dillon during brief ceremonies at a surprise luncheon in her honor Friday, July 2, 1976, at the "Someplace Else" Restaurant in St. Johns.

Wickes management personnel in attendance at the luncheon were Ralph Dillon, division director administrations, Roger Parker, manager of the St. Johns yard, and Mrs. Swagart's former boss, Jim Moriarty, now working out of Wickes Buildings division headquarters in Argos, Indiana. Also present were several Sales and Construction Center managers from Michigan and Indiana.

On hand to help surprise the honor guest were her son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Robert Swagart from Lansing, Michigan.

The Wickes facility at St. Johns employs 12 other local area people, all of whom attended the luncheon to offer their congratulations. A long time resident, Lillian Swagart says she has no plans to leave St. Johns, and can be reached at her home at 600 S. Clinton Avenue.

Lawn ceremony unites couple

Debra Jean Archer of Chula Vista, Calif. and Jorge Arthur Samanego of San Diego, Calif. were united in marriage June 12 at the bride's parents' home at 7666 Linton Rd., St. Johns.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Archer and the groom is the son of Mrs. Martha Samanego and the late Baldomero Samanego.

Rev. Robert Prange performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The bride and her father came down the railroad tie steps to the patio where they stopped while the bride's father picked a white rose and gave it to her. They proceeded down the aisle under a natural arch of a pine tree to the bride's mother where the bride gave her the white rose and a kiss. They then went to the altar which was a rail fence with baskets of garden flowers on the fence posts.

For her wedding the bride chose a floor length gown of white organza over satin with large ruffles at the bottom of the skirt and a fitted bodice, featuring old fashioned lace trim. The gown was accented by a v-neck and full, long sleeves with fitted cuffs trimmed in the same old lace.

The bride wore a fullbrim white hat trimmed with lace at the crown and edge of the brim. A ring of daisies and pale blue baby's breath circled the hat at the crown. She carried a bouquet of white daisies, white miniature rose buds and light blue baby's breath with a large lace bow.

The bride's attendant was her sister, Dawn Archer, 7666 Linton Rd.

She wore a pale blue knit gown with a square neck line trimmed in white old fashioned lace. The gown featured a fitted bodice with the back at the waist, full bell, half-length sleeves. She wore a ring of daisies and blue baby's breath in her hair and carried a small nosegay of daisies and light blue baby's breath with white ribbon streamers.

The bride's mother wore a pale blue and white flowered print gown with long full sleeves with fitted cuffs and was accented by a v-neck.

Attending the groom was the bride's brother, Dick Archer. Ushers were Dick Buggs and Lee Smith. Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held in the Archers' home, attended by 100 persons.

Serving cake was Doris Ettiger and Kathy Zammaron, Kathy Lynch served punch and coffee and Liza Stormant opened gifts. All are friends of the bride. Joanne Peck, cousin of the bride, attended the guest book.

Special guest was Mrs. Hugh Hafelein, great grandmother of the bride.

The bride chose a blue pant suit as her going away outfit.

Following a wedding trip to Chicago, Colorado, Las Vegas and Los Angeles, the couple will make their home in the San Diego area.

Mr. and Mrs. Jorge Samanego

BILL THELEN

Returning back to the shop this week we get the opportunity to meet Bill Thelen. Bill has been with Bee's for 2 1/2 years and is employed in the body shop. Earlier in his Bee's career, Bill worked in maintenance and worked himself up into body work at the Sports Center where they do most of their used car body repairs. From that point he progressed in to the general body shop where he "does about everything in the line of body work".

Bill is the son of Stan and Rita Thelen of St. Johns and prior to his moving to his own apartment at 224 Clinton Avenue, shared the family residence with 10 other brothers and sisters. They are Renee, Charlie, Pat, who also works at Bee's; Marcia, Marilyn, Shirley, Denise, Jim and John who are twins and the last but not least, Lisa.

Bill graduated from St. Johns High School in 1974 where he spent 3 years in architectural drafting and design and both wood and metal shop. In addition to his studies, he found time to play end for 2 years on the Redwing football team and 3 years as a guard on the basketball squad. He also played 4 years on the golf team.

After graduating from high school, Bill enrolled in Lansing Community College where he spent 1 1/2 years pursuing courses in Auto Body, Chemistry, Physics and Algebra and Trigonometry. His favorite pastimes include playing golf and tinkering with 3 of his cars, which by the way happen to be Chevies. Not to be considered a hobby but nevertheless a very important activity is spending time with a certain little gal named Rene Glowacki. Bill has not indicated any plans of matrimony at this time...

Nancy Lynne Stuendel weds David Rossow

Nancy Lynne Stuendel and David Edwin Rossow were married July 10 in a double ring ceremony at St. Paul Lutheran Church in Flint. Rev. Theodore Zelle was speaker and Rev. Herman Rossow, father of the groom, was officiant.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Stuendel, 6084 Sierra Pass, Flint and the groom is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Herman Rossow, Rt. 2, St. Johns.

The bride was given in marriage by her mother and father before an altar of two spiral candleabra with an arrangement of greens and flowers in the center.

Music during the service was performed by the Savior Singers, accompanied by organist Sue Repp.

For her wedding, the bride chose a white gown with chapel length train with a U-shaped neckline, long sleeves in lace with lace ruffle trimming on the dress and train. Lace applique accented the bodice and skirt.

She wore an elbow-length veil with embroidered edge and carried a bouquet of a cascade of stephanotis and orchids.

Maid of honor was Laura Stuendel and bridesmaids were Barbara Buck, Dee Dee McGuff, Deanna Rossow and Karen Gehres. They all wore lemon yellow gowns with matching ruffle capes over halter tops. A ruffle trim accented the bottom of the gowns. They wore matching yellow hats and carried nosegays of lince and yellow mums and daisies with baby's breath.

The mother of the bride wore a floor length gown of peach voile with embroidered flowers trimming the dress. She wore a wrist corsage of pink rose buds and white carnations. She wore white accessories.

The groom's mother wore a floor length light blue gown with long voile sleeves and ruffled neckline. She wore a corsage of blue rose buds and white carnations and wore white accessories.

Best man was Richard Rossow, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Jerry Penegor of Ontonogan, Neil Thelen of Lake Odessa, Carl McCready of Mackinaw Island and Robert Stuendel, Flint, brother of the bride.

The groom wore an all-white tuxedo and the groomsmen wore lemon yellow tuxedos.

Ushers were Jerome Pohl of Fowler and Phillip Hageman of Flint.

Following the wedding ceremony, 250 people attended the reception held at the Country Squire in Flushing.

Special guests were Mrs. H.F. Rossow of St. Johns, grandmother of the groom, Mrs. R. Stuendel, Redford Township, grandmother of the bride.

For her going away outfit, the bride chose a yellow crinkle cloth pant suit with crocheted lace on the blouse and she wore a camille corsage.

Following a wedding trip to Schuss Mountain in Marcellona, the couple will reside at 1511 Greenleaf, Evanston, Ill.

The bride is a 1976 graduate of Valparaiso University and the groom is a 1975 graduate of Ferris State College.

Johnee kant spel - itts noe bigge thinge

Much is being said these days about the quality of education children are receiving in our public school systems.

Michigan State University has announced special courses will be offered to freshmen students to prepare them for college level courses—because they are not being well enough prepared in high school.

It is almost amazing to us, when interviewing university journalism graduates, to learn many cannot spell and others haven't the ability to construct a readable sentence. To blame colleges and universities would be unfair. Their job is to direct the student in utilizing those basics that should have been learned from kindergarten through high school.

We hear that it is less important for a student to spell and write correctly than it is to "communicate."

If that is true, we will ultimately have a nation of people who "communicate" in their own individual language and we'll just have to guess what the other persons on is trying to say or write.

If our educators feel it is not important for students to have the discipline to learn how to spell and write correctly, how will they approach other subjects?

Is there a "well, that's close enough" in chemistry or physics?

In the past, English teachers would be ashamed to pass onto the next grade students who had no command of spelling or grammar.

Today, it seems to be a matter of little importance.

If the trend continues, today's students will be tomorrow's teachers and there won't be anybody alive capable of teaching a decent English course.

A $1,073,000 project for the construction of two additions to Clinton Memorial Hospital in St. Johns and the updating of existing hospital facilities was approved by the hospital's board of trustees this week.

A total of $12,423.38 has been given by Clinton County residents to the county unit of the American Cancer Society. During the 1966 crusade. Half of the contributions received will be used in Clinton County to help cancer patients and to maintain nine loan closets. A grant of $1,500 will be given to the University of Michigan to support the Clinton County Research Project.

St. Johns and Fowler firemen battled a blaze last Thursday afternoon that severely damaged a home on West Colony Road occupied by the Gordon Eslick family. The fire destroyed a small straw-filled shed near the house.

The long awaited St. Johns Centennial Celebration expected to attract more than 50,000 persons from all parts of the nation, will open here at 1 p.m. next Wednesday and will run through the following Sunday.

Clyde Pittman, 62, was killed instantly about 11 a.m. Sunday in a tractor accident at his farm two miles south of Elsie on the Elsie-Ovid road. There were no witnesses to the mishap but sheriff's officers said Pittman apparently had hauled a load of hay into his barn with the tractor and was starting to back out and get another load when the accident took place.

Damage amounting to several thousand dollars was the toll taken by cyclonic winds that hit the countryside over an 8-mile area near the west county line in the vicinity of Hubbardston Tuesday afternoon. Barns, silos and other farm buildings took the brunt of the blow while orchards also suffered considerably. It was the worst cyclone the community has experienced since 1910.

Heat Prostration caused the death Monday of Miner M. Frink, 81-year-old St. Johns man, who was found dead late that afternoon in his room over the Curroll grocery store on North Clinton avenue where he had lived alone the past few years.

Rain Tuesday ended the longest hot spell ever recorded in Clinton County. For eight blistering days and seven sleepless nights folks hereabouts sweltered through an unprecedented heat wave that took its toll of animal and human life and threatened to seriously damage crops.

A PERSONAL LOOK AT THE NEWS

Between the lines

with Jim Edwards

This may be the era, to paraphrase a popular soft drink commercial, of the "un-politician."

Jimmy Carter says his lack of experience in Washington is actually an advantage because he hasn't been blighted by the D.C. political bureaucracy. He even believes, we are told, in moral decency.

Gov. Brown of California cast aside the governor's mansion in favor of an apartment and admits to being bored by much of the political hoopla.

Michigan's Don Riegle has long been known as a maverick whose actions have stuck in the craw of many veteran politicians. But, to be sure, Carter, Brown, Riegle and a few here and there like them have had to play the political game to achieve their present status.

Yet, they appeal to the clamor of the past few years for leaders who stand outside, or at least are leaning out, of the stereotype political mold.

An off-heard cry is "once he's elected, he'll be just like the rest." In more cases than not, it is a justified cry all too often proven true.

Have we reached an era in which office seekers, if elected, will avoid the push trappings of political prestige and resist participating in the game playing of politics?

It's a refreshing and hopeful thought, but don't hold your breath.

Although the Congressional seniority system took it on the chin a while ago from some young upstarts, don't expect the intricate wheeling and dealing to roll to a halt. There are still those smoke filled rooms.

After so many years of "you scratch my back and I'll scratch your back" government, it will take a remarkable person indeed to buck the system and record accomplishments at the same time.

It would seem logical that our leaders in Washington D.C. would sense the feeling in the hinterlands moaning that government is costing the taxpayer too much.

Complaining about the high cost of government has gone on for years, but the private citizen complained about it in a "pain in the neck" sense.

It has surpassed the "pain in the neck" stage and no end is in sight. The present political system perpetuates itself and increases annually the cost of government.

If un-politicians are the way to buck the system that unloads our wallets, let's let them have a go at it.

But, keep in mind, that's a big "if."

Actually, there are 2 "ifs". The first being "if" the unpolitician is the answer to buck the system and second being "if" the unpolitician will fulfill and is capable of fulfilling his un-politician promises.

Regardless if our office-seekers and office-holders take on new images and operate in different styles, come election campaign time, we'll still have the "he didn't do this - yes I did" rhetoric.

And, whom do you believe? Frustrating isn't it?

dear editor

Dear Editor:

Now that our glorious 4th of July is past and we are now starting our third century, I thought it interesting to recall other celebrations of yesteryear.

As a child, I lived a mile from Bannister, Mich. and always celebrated the 4th of July. Some years, we also went to Elsie where they had an organized band. For a few cents we could buy all the fire crackers we wished. The men cranked the ice cream freezers.

Ice came from the Maple River. Lemonade was our only soft drink. It could also be cooled with a chunk of ice as it was crystal clear. They said it was all right to use as the germs were frozen out.

I always remember one 4th that was about 1903. The evening before "Ike" Smith's boys and their hired man went out to the old swimming hole in the Maple River which flowed past the back of their farm. The hired man drowned. That did not dampen the 4th so his body was put in Dr. Patton's office until after the celebration. Of course, being a child, I was not very interested so never did hear the particulars.

At the break of day, 4th of July, the celebration began. No one could sleep with so much noise, of course. Everyone could have a flag, it cost only pennies anyway. There was a horse race and ball game. Some merchants set up stands outside. I imagine Joe Baird, the saloon keeper had lots of customers. I did not see anyone drunk. Women never visited saloons so I don't know.

No celebration was complete without a balloon ascension and perhaps a turkey shoot for the men. One year, a pig complete with harness and his own parachute went up with the balloon.

I have always remembered how the poor pig cried as he left the ground. One remarked "That's all a pig is worth." A local boy by the name of Charles Kalor made several successful flights with his balloon. In another city, his balloon caught in a high line and he was killed instantly. If there ever was a program with prayers, singing the Star Spangled Banner or America, I never did hear of it. Of course, I did not at the time miss such patriotism. There were a few boys in blue living then so it seemed we should all have been more patriotic.

All had lots of noise and fun. Do I hear someone say "the good old days are gone" I think its good they are gone. We all learned patriotism and the July 4th is more than a lot of noise.

May I add Bannister was a much larger town in those days.

Editor:

I think we, as citizens of Clinton County, should be very proud of our local 4th of July celebration.

The parade, as witnessed, by very many, was the best yet.

The ceremony at the courthouse was very meaningful and the fireworks were just spectacular.

Thanks to the firemen and everyone connected with the event.

Letter to the editor

Editor:

On Friday night (July 2) I took 9 children to see 2 PG rated movies at The Family Drive-In. One was "To The Earth's Core" and the other was "The Old Dracula".

The movies weren't bad, but the previews of upcoming movies were disgusting.

Why is it necessary to show such junk when the management knows that for that particular movie, the audience is primarily children?

The parents in the 2 cars next to us were as disgusted as I.

I remember a year or 2 ago when some people wrote some letters to the editor suggesting the theatre change its name.

I urge it to do the same thing. I won't take my children again unless I know the movies for the next 4 weeks after will be "G" or "PG" so the previews will be fit to be seen.

By Richard L. Milliman

Has Carter freed the South?

Theft is the underlying theme of this week's Almanack...meaning the presentation herewith of various quotations from various sources which to me have been stimulating, provocative, or just plain interesting for various reasons.

For instance.... Columnist Joseph Kraft a few weeks back described the primary victories of that unlikely national candidate, the Hon. Jimmy Carter, in these terms:

"Beyond announcing that the stigma of race is off Southern leaders, these victories may promise the end of another Southern specialty. I have in mind the tendency to be uncritical boosters of American armed strength, hawks in all military engagements, see-ers of subversives under every bed.

"To me, anyway the great hope of the new regional balance is that, much as the Kennedy presidency pulled the Catholics away from hysterical anti-communism, so a Carter presidency, and the final end of the Civil War, would relieve the South of the need to be super-American."

Hmmmm. He might have something there, you know. But what if Carter loses? Does that mean Southerners are military hawks, super-patriots, etc.?

Reporter Dennis Farney of the Wall Street Journal took a recent look at the primary scene from the Republican side of the fence, and came up with these thoughts:

"About all the Republican primaries accomplished was to hurt Republican chances to retain the White House next fall.

"President Ford and Ronald Reagan, still locked in an extremely tight race, have staggered out of the primary season looking like two over-the-hill prizefighters. Each has battered the other nearly senseless while bungling opportunities to land a knockout blow. Now, while the Democrats unite around Jimmy Carter, the Republicans face an increasingly bitter struggle."

Seeing Mr. Ford slightly ahead—at least, at that particular moment—Reporter Farney continues:

"Still, the erratic Ford campaign has blown leads before. It had Mr. Reagan on the canvas early in the race, but let him up again in North Carolina. And in calculation and strategy the Reagan campaign hasn't proved any better. So, calculations notwithstanding, the nomination ultimately may go to the man who avoids making the last mistake."

Mr. Farney has put his finger on the entire art of elective politics as I perceive it. And that is not necessarily to score positively, but rather to avoid error. Of course, with the mood of the country being what the pollsters tell us it is, perhaps the biggest Republican mistake this year will be to win the right to run against Mr. Carter.

U.S. Rep. Wayne Hays, who now needs no further identification, faces an election challenge from an independent candidate the mayor of Steubenville, Ohio, who is William Crabbe. Mr. Crabbe recently commented on the political situation in their eastern Ohio district:

"This is church and family oriented area, the heartland of America. The people here believe in the Ten Commandments and, they prove it at the polls.

"The people here will pray for him (Mr. Hays) and so will I...but I don't think they will vote for him."

Mr. Crabbe may be right. But the unsettling thing is he probably isn't.

Electronic journalist Daniel Schorr, sidelined by his network in the squabble over leaking a congressional report on the CIA, was asked how he felt to be "at the center of a controversy in which some are calling you a martyr."

Replied Mr. Schorr:

"The joys of Martyrdom are vastly overrated. The publicity has turned my world upside down. I'm working harder than ever and enjoying it less....

"Worst of all, I guess, is that I have lost my free speech and can't even say anything without checking it out with my lawyer."

The penalty for principle is high. So is the penalty for misplaced arrogance. Mr. Schorr is paying one or the other.

Elsie

By NEVA KEYS
Elsie Correspondent

A special meeting of Elsie Chapter No. 69 O.E.S. was held Thursday evening at the Masonic Temple with Mr. and Mrs. Dale C. Levey presiding in the East.

The occasion was the exemplification of initiatory degrees for two young couples, Dawn and Bruce Levey of Bannister, son and daughter-in-law of the Worthy Matron and Patron, and Patricia and Neil White of Elsie.

The opening prayer, song and flag ceremony preceded the initiation. The gavel of Mrs. C. White was used during the initiation of her son, Neil and daughter-in-law Patricia.

Mrs. Levey presented the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wise, worthy patron and matron of Williamston Chapter; Mrs. Daune Chamberlain, Worthy Matron of Morningstar Chapter of Ovid; Mrs. Norm Cladfelder of Reed City, aunt of candidate, Dawn Levey; Clinton County Ass'n officers, Mrs. Geraldine Workman, of St. Johns, 1st vice-president, and Mrs. Jeanne Temple, marshal of Elsie; and Mrs. Geraldine Davies of Falls Church, Virginia, a member of the Elsie Chapter and visiting her parents, John and Mae Hall for several days, and many on the sidelines from St. Johns, Ovid and Elsie.

The Worthy Matron presented Mrs. Dawn Levey and Mrs. Pat White each a white Bible on behalf of the Chapter and the Worthy Patron presented the ritual and By-Laws to the young men.

Mrs. Levey announced a Bake Sale to be held in front of Baker's Foodland on Friday, July 16 with sale beginning at 10:00 a.m.

The local Chapter and the Masonic Lodge will enter their float in the parade scheduled for Saturday morning 10:00 a.m., July 10 to open the Elsie Bicentennial Week of activities.

A letter of appreciation was read by Mrs. Anne Praay from the Grand Secretary acknowledging the sizable collection from the Clinton County Chapters for the Ray of Gold project of the Worthy Grand Matron Beatrice Dole for OES Relief.

When the Clinton County Ass'n officers and Worthy Matrons of the County were invited to Mrs. Praay's home in Elsie at Christmas time, they each brought gifts for a silent auction and netted $38.00 which was also sent to the Grand Chapter for the Heart and Cancer Research Fund.

After the summer recess, the Chapter will resume regular meetings on the first Thursday of each month, Sept. 2. A social hour was enjoyed around the dining room tables decorated in a patriotic theme with large Uncle Sam hats, red, white and blue ribbon streamers and were served red and white gelatin fruit salad, home made cookies and coffee. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Titton, Mrs. and Mrs. Archie Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Al Mitchell were the refreshment committee and were assisted by the Dunays, Wanda Litomisky, and Jeanne Temple and the Moores.

After the initiatory ceremonies, the four candidates signed the By-Laws of the Chapter, they were greeted by the members singing the Welcome Song while congratulating them.

A whopper

Kevin Howard, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Howard was a proud fisherman after hauling in an 18-inch large mouth bass, Thursday while fishing at the Maple River west of Elsie.

Tim O'Donnell was fishing with him and helped bring it in. Kevin and his friends often fish at the river since he lives on Island Road just west of the new bridge. Two years ago he caught a 14-inch bass.

Recreation Round-up

With Dick Buggs

St. Johns City Recreation Director

It was a slow-paced week for the recreation department last week, with much of the time being spent catching up on events and games rained out from the previous weeks. It was an opportune time for relaxing, re-organizing, and gathering steam for the second half of the summer. It's hard to believe only eight weeks until Labor Day. There's lots to be done between now and then!

The breakdown of the week's activities follows:

CHILDREN'S RECREATION

I smile every week when it comes time to write this part of my column. Each week more and more children are coming out on Wednesdays and Thursdays and we are all having a lot of fun playing games and making friends. We held the twice rained-out treasure hunt on Wednesday and the kids really enjoyed scrambling for the candy that was "mysteriously" scattered through-out the park by elves the night before. We also held a "peanut hunt" and the seven children who found the most peanuts and won twenty-five cents worth of candy were: Jeff Grant, Jeff Penix, Michelle Russell, Ireena Garapetian, Jim Randall and Brian and Kurt Ziegler.

This week, July 15, we are having a "hobo hike" from the courthouse lawn to the city park. All children are invited to attend and are asked to bring a sack lunch. We will meet at 10:00 a.m. and the program will finish approximately 12:15 p.m.

Events coming up include bicycle safety clinic and rodeo swim meet, pet show, talent show and more!

SOFTBALL LEAGUES

We are now about half way through our summer softball schedule. It looks like the teams to be in the Championship League are Sillman's, and Dry Dock'd with Hub Tire, McKenzies, and the Roadhouse all at the top of the pack. The race in the Recreational League isn't clear presently due to three nights of rained out games. In the Women's League, Rehmann's, Community Dodge and Clinton National Bank are currently tops. Below are the week's scores and standings as of July 8:

MONDAY NIGHT WILL BE A SPECIAL STORE OPENING TILL 9 P.M. TO CELEBRATE THE ANNIVERSARY... Read all about it in this week's Ad on page 2... YOU WON'T WANT TO MISS OUT ON THE GIGANTIC SAVINGS ALL THE PEOPLE AT KURT'S HAVE WAITING FOR YOU!

KURT'S WILL BE HAVING A SPECIAL GUEST all day Friday in the person of Ms. Kathleen Metaxas from White Sewing Machine Company who will be on hand to demonstrate the White machine. Considered a sewing expert and graduate home economist, Ms. Metaxas will be demonstrating the newest and very latest techniques in sewing. She has been trained in both basic and advanced aspects of sewing and is also a specialist in clothing design and textiles. As a Home Economist for the White Sewing Machine Co., Ms. Metaxas will be traveling throughout the United States working with dealers and the general public at fairs, home shows and department stores, giving them tips on new techniques in sewing. LET'S ALL GIVE HER A REAL ST. JOHNS WELCOME!

CAMERAS HAVE BEEN SNAPPING AND GLUE BOTTLES HAVE BEEN EMPTYING rapidly around the Ad Department as we've been working feverishly on getting out the Bicentennial tabloids scheduled for July 23th. Be sure and tell your friends about what's coming so they'll be sure and stop by and get their copies. THIS IS A ONCE-IN-A-LIFETIME EVENT and you'll surely not want to miss getting your copies...!

EVERYBODY REMEMBERS RICHARD BOONE, you know the guy who played "Paladin"... Well, he comes to the Clinton Theatre starting this Friday in the film, "Against A Crooked Sky". Haven't seen the old boy just lately in anything on screen, so he should be well rested up to do the good job in acting he's always done. Writer Eleanor S. Lamb and Douglas C. Stewart had an idea... they wanted to write about love, human love, and the greatest sacrifice anyone can make, to give his life for someone he loves. That idea became a short story which in turn became a movie... Sounds like another action-packed winner for the Clinton. MAKE PLANS TO SEE IT!

Strange structures will be erected

LANSING - Fifteen portable steel structures, some more than 10 stories high, are being erected in 7 counties including Clinton County for a geodetic survey of a 1,000-square-mile area of south-central Michigan.

The 5-month survey will establish geographic positions with minute precision along the route of proposed Interstate 69 Freeway and other major transportation routes in the area. It is a cooperative program between the Department of State Highways and Transportation and the National Ocean Survey (NOS) of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

The 15 structures will be erected at intervals of from 3 to 8 miles, close enough so that NOS surveyors can see from one structure to the next. The three-legged structures consist of an inner and outer tower. The inner tower holds survey instruments precisely aligned over a bronze marker, while the outer tower serves as a platform for the surveyors.

The surveys, which take into account the curvature of the earth, are conducted at night when atmospheric distortion is at a minimum. A laser instrument, employing the speed of light, measures the distance between points and enables surveyors to hold error to less than 1 inch in 10 miles.

Distances are determined by computing the time it takes a laser light pulse to travel, from the instrument to a set of mirrors at another site and return. Temperature and pressure measurements are included in the computations to correct for atmospheric distortion.

NOS surveyors will determine approximately 50 geographic positions of latitude and longitude from sites in Ingham, Eaton, Clinton, Ionia, Calhoun, Jackson and Shiawassee counties. Employees of the Department of State Highways and Transportation will establish subsidiary points in the immediate vicinity of planned I-69, extending from the existing freeway at Charlotte north to Lansing and east to near Perry, and along other transportation routes.

Measurements of elevation, computed during daylight hours, will be made both by federal and state personnel. A side benefit of the program will be on-the-job training for state employees in geodetic survey methods and procedures.

Geodetic surveys provide basic data not only for transportation facilities but also for other public and private utilities and construction projects, such as pipelines and water and sewage facilities, and for determining land boundaries and planning land development.

Clothes and feelings

Sidewalk sale and end-of-season clearance time is here. Many families will be thinking about taking advantage of bargains especially in children's clothes.

The way we feel about ourselves depends to a great extent on how we think others feel about us. Clothing helps build this self confidence.

Young babies aren't interested in what they are wearing as long as they are dry and dressed comfortably. But children of two or three are becoming interested in their clothes. For the first time, they begin to notice what they have on. Wearing clothes they like and feel comfortable in becomes important to them. Important to them.

Children want clothes similar to the clothes their friends wear. This is important when a young child is discovering, "Who am I?" and "What do others think of me?" Clothes help develop a feeling of "belonging" and of being part of a group.

A child explores the world around him in many ways—through touch, sight, smell and the other sense. The color of clothes and their feel help this learning process. Color is most important to a child, probably more important than the style of the garment. Capitalize on this color interest as a chance to help your child with color selection. Give the child a real choice between two appropriate colors. If your child likes a color very much that you think is less becoming to him, consider it for night clothes.

In their exploring, children like to touch different textures. Children like the soft "feel" of velvet, fur and other napped fabrics. You can help your child distinguish textures by encouraging him to tell you how fabrics "feel"...."soft", "fun", etc.

Children want some of their clothes to be new or at least new to them. Changing buttons, adding trim, or making other changes may help meet this need. Decoration on clothes such as buttons, lace, a monogram, or buckle can give the garment a special personalized touch for a child. And don't forget that children need pockets in which to store their "valuables" and "treasures".

Because children are so active, proper fit and correct sizing are important for best appearance, more freedom of movement, and acceptance by playmates. No child likes to wear clothes that are too big and large. Loose fitting clothing could be a safety hazard. If you buy ahead during sales, keep it stored until it fits your child or buy garments that have built-in growth features. Some of these features include: adjustable shoulder straps; raglan, kimono or sleeveless styles; elastic inserts; stretch or knit fabrics, undefined waistlines in one piece inserts; stretch or knit fabrics, undefined waistlines in one piece garments; tuck, pleats and yokes that extend wearable life of the garment; and seams wide enough to withstand strain and permit alterations.

Children want clothes they can put on themselves, or with very little help. Each new experience in learning to dress himself makes your child more independent, self-confident, and helps him develop judgement. His personality is being developed as he masters these physical skills.

Sometimes children have strong clothing preferences and become upset if they can't "wear what they want to wear". You can guide child by setting limits and by offering positive choices that would be acceptable to both of you. Begin by letting him make the final decisions on smaller items. Planning and guiding at home are necessary before your child is ready to help with a decision at the store.

In selecting children's clothing, remember to keep in mind that emotional security as well as physical comfort, contribute to your child's personality development.

Jim's Column

Jim Pelham
Clinton County Extension Director

Percentage of total state revenues gained through property taxes in Michigan ranks among half a dozen or so of the highest paying states, according to a recent study. Farmers feel they carry an unfair share of taxes since real estate represents a major portion of their investment. Non-farm businesses pay high property taxes too, but a much smaller portion of their assets are in the form of real estate; so many farmers and farm organizations feel they are being unjustly penalized on their capital assets.

Farm real estate values in Michigan have been increasing by 12 to 18 percent annually during the past few years with the lower figure representing Michigan's 1975 gain. However, there is every indication land price increases have accelerated in 1976 and may post the biggest percentage gain ever in 1976! This is great for the speculator or farmer who wants to sell his farm, but for the farmer who must hold his land to stay in business, taxes on the land represent another rapidly escalating expense and narrower profit margins. Township Assessors find themselves in hot water with the State Tax Commission when they don't change their assessments to reflect increases in value.

Last year a number of Michigan farmers gained tax relief through participation in the new "Farmland and Open Space Act", P.A. 116. In fact their average tax savings amounted to about two thousand dollars. Many farmers were reluctant to enter their farms into the agreement, but on the average, Clinton County farmers were more receptive to the plan and have entered more than 13,000 acres at this date. Only Lenawee County of the 83 in the state has greater participation.

The Cooperative Extension Service takes no official stand on the merits of the act, but most counties, including Clinton, have provided information and helped with educational meetings on the act.

The act isn't for everyone, but it's hard to see how participation could harm most farmers. Exceptions to the rule would be those planning to develop their land in the next ten years, and one major farm credit agency has an unfortunate policy which doesn't permit participation on land for which it is holding a mortgage.

The act provides a state tax refund for all property tax in excess of 7 percent of the landholder's income providing the land is entered into the agreement. Landholders who pay less than 7 percent of their household income (net farm income plus income from essentially any other source) will not benefit from the act unless, of course, taxes get higher or their income gets lower.

One group that has been slow in signing into the act and could benefit substantially is older farmers who have tapered off their operation with resulting lower income. In situations like this, taxes take an ever increasing bite. Other landholders may benefit by the provision in the act that excludes their land from special assessments for improvements that are being made primarily to serve developers or subdivisions that have been developed.

To get tax relief in 1976, the landholder should have his application completed and on file with the County Clerk's Office not later than September 1. This is because it must be processed through a large number of agencies including the County Planning Commission, the Soil Conservation District, local government and State Tax Commission before the end of the year and this all takes an indefinite amount of time.

A recent change in the law provides for the local assessor sending his most recent appraisal to the State Tax Commission rather than having a representative of the commission making an on-site appraisal.

Application forms can be obtained from the County Clerk, Township Clerk, any Village Clerk or the Clinton County Farm Bureau Office in St. Johns

More cable for DeWitt

General Telephone will soon begin placing additional cable facilities in the DeWitt area, according to Norm Krievins, Owosso division manager for the company.

The facilities will be used for new growth as well as upgrading from party lines to private lines. The project which will cost approximately $130,884 will place 13.3 miles of cable.

Buried cable will be used for the majority of this project because it is less susceptible to damage by natural elements such as rain, wind and lightning in addition to restoring the natural beauty of the environment.

Shepardsville News

The Shepardsville church is observing the Bicentennial the entire month of July. Each Sunday will feature something different. The AMEN corner started Sunday, July 4 and will continue throughout the month. Morpheus was on the job to keep the people awake.

During the service, the choir sang a medley of patriotic songs.

At the close of the service the minister called all the couples who had been married thirty or more years to come forward and renew their wedding vows. Those who came forward were Mr. and Mrs. Dale Suters, Mr. and Mrs. Don Dietrich, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Clare Alderman, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Swender, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Nicholas and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Johnson.

These couples represented 270 years of wedded bliss. While the couples were standing at the altar Linda Kusinger and Helen Rustad sang O Perfect Love.

July 11 there will be an Antique show, and also an Ice Cream Social from 2-5 with a free will offering going toward the repairs of the church. The public is invited. Vesper services will begin at 5 p.m. and will last approximately one hour. All are invited to come and enjoy the good fellowship with your neighbors. Oh yes, the ice cream is home-made.

July 18 is Pew Sunday. All the pews will be marked with a price.

July 25 there will be an Outdoor Church at the Ovid Park with the entire parish participating. The service will be followed by a potluck picnic dinner with a sing-along and games following. Bob Henderson has promised the favor of the Old Brown Pants and other folk songs with all who attend.

Japanese youth visits

BY JOHN AYLSWORTH

Michigan will play host to 68 youth and 6 chaperones from Japan who are participating in the Japan Labo-Michigan 4-H Exchange July 23-August 23. The Japanese group will be scattered throughout the state living with different host families. Clinton County will have five families who will be hosting a Japanese youth or chaperone. They are Marvin Fongers, St. Johns; Dale Kuenzli, St. Johns; John Aylsworth, St. Johns; Frank Rivest, Elsie; and Mahlon Nichols, DeWitt. John Aylsworth, Extension 4-H Youth Agent, will be coordinating the statewide program this year.

The purpose of these exchange visits is to help establish a better understanding between people of the world. The feeling is that this can best be accomplished by having young people live as members of a family. The greater the understanding between people of the world, the feeling is that this can best be accomplished by having young people live as members of a family. The greater the understanding between host and exchange, the greater the contribution toward a more peaceful world. Being a two-way cultural exchange program, next year the Michigan families will have the opportunity to visit in Japan on an invitation from a host family.

This exchange is sponsored by the Japan Labo Foundation and the Michigan 4-H program. The Labo program is administered through the Labo-teaching Center in Tokyo and emphasizes the importance of integrating language acquisition with knowledge of its people and culture. Thus, an integral part of the program is the international exchange designed to provide opportunities for young people of two different cultures to establish a close relationship.

Each child has been paired with a Michigan 4-H member of the same sex and age. During the month's stay in Michigan they will experience American home life while both working and playing with their host family. The 4-H host families are instructed not to change the daily life in their home because experiencing daily life as it truly exists within the American culture is the heart of the program.

Thus, many of the Japanese children may experience such tasks as taking out the garbage, dishwashing or mowing the lawn for the first time. Most of their time at home in Japan is spent in school or on studies and they rarely help with household chores.

In order to financially guarantee that their child can participate, many Japanese families buy insurance from the foundation for their child over a 12 year period. The Japanese group will depart on August 23 from Lansing because they have only a 40-day school vacation. But, hopefully, in 1977 several of Michigan 4-H members will visit their Labo friends' homes in Japan. Michigan families are looking forward to hosting their new friends from across the sea.

DAIRY FIELD DAY
Clinton County will host a Four County 4-H Dairy Field day on Monday, July 19, at the Green Meadow Farm near Elsie from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. Approximately 100 4-H members, leaders and parents will be attending from Clinton, Gratiot, Shiawassee and Saginaw Counties. The program will include a Dairy quiz bowl contest between counties, demonstrations on fitting an animal for show, clipping a dairy animal and showmanship. The group will judge several classes of dairy cows. Participants are asked to bring their lunch but a beverage will be furnished.

BEEF MEETING
Over 50 4-H beef project members and leaders attended the beef meeting on fitting a steer for show, showmanship and judging Tuesday, July 6, at the Jack Enderle home west of DeWitt. Dan Eversole, from Michigan State University, did an excellent job in his presentations and demonstrations. Members are working on promoting the fair livestock sale on

North Bengal

On Sunday, July 4th Mr. and Mrs. Louis Moritz honored their aunt, Emma Moritz on her 90th birthday by hosting an open house at their home. Relatives and friends called on her extending their best wishes on the happy occasion. The hostess served birthday cake, punch and coffee to the guests. Mrs. Moritz received many birthday cards and gifts. Among her special congratulations were letters from both President Ford and Governor Milliken.

Mr. and Mrs. William S. Ernst and Ron of Battle Creek spent July 4th and 5th with Mrs. William Ernst and Maxine Ernst. Rudolph Tiedt entered Clinton Memorial Hospital on Saturday, July 3rd as a medical patient following a heart attack. His son, Maurice Tiedt, flew out here from Monroe, New York, this week to visit his parents, brother, and grandmother.

On July 4th Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Forch returned home from a two weeks vacation visiting relatives and friends in North and South Carolina.

Mrs. William Ernst and Maxine Ernst visited Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Mohnke of South Bengal on Monday evening, July 5. Other guests of the Mohnke's were their daughter, Mrs. Robert Finkbeiner and family of McHenry, Illinois. Mr. Finkbeiner came on Tuesday and all returned to their home on Wednesday.

August 18 getting potential buyers to attend the sale.

INIOWA

Seventeen Clinton County 4-H'ers and leaders joined 4-H'ers from Gratiot and Shiawassee Counties in their interstate trip to Iowa. The group left Saturday, July 10, and will return on Sunday, July 18. The group will be staying in Shelby County, Iowa, with each person staying with a different 4-H host family.

FLOWER WORKSHOP
4-H members taking flower projects are encouraged to attend the Flower Arranging Workshop Wednesday, July 21, at Smith Hall from 10 a.m. - 3 p.m. Mrs. R. Lee Gilbert and Mrs. Elmer Braun of Saginaw will be the instructors. They will discuss selection, conditioning, transporting and exhibiting a flower specimen plus demonstrations in the morning and in the afternoon. Members and leaders will be working in making actual flower arrangements. Members should check with their leaders on what material they are to bring to the workshop. There is no cost to attend. These two ladies will be the fair judges so members are urged to attend this meeting.

Horse auction

too, is the price of horses also increasing. A horse at the auction may go for $3 to $1,500. However, sales have gone as high as $3,000.

The PBB scare has influenced some northern Michigan men to raise horses instead of cattle, and some of these men have come to the St. Johns Horse Auction.

Horse meat is also shipped to France and other parts of Europe where it feeds many hungry people. "I've been told horse meat is lower in fat and calcium and higher in protein and vitamins than beef," says Pat.

EVERYBODY WELCOME

"Everybody is invited to come, as long as they keep the kids out of the back of the barn," says Pat who says many families as well as licensed horse traders come to the auctions.

Two regular auctioneers put on a "show" for the audience as well as sell the horse equipment and horses. Equipment sometimes includes such novelties as sleighs and buggies from Quebec, Canada. The Reeks once had a covered wagon, but that has since been sold.

Commenting on the people who come to the auctions, Pat said, "You meet more of a variety of people than in any other business."

She recalls people riding 15-20 miles on their horses to the auction, people purchasing small ponies and loading them into their Volkswagen buses, and people riding their horses home. "Sometimes we wonder if they ever make it home," she says.

She particularly remembers one old man who drove up in a rickety old truck pulling an old horse trailer. When the trailer hit a bump in the Horse Auction driveway, the sides gave way. Much to the by-standers' expectations, there stood an old horse in the fallen trailer. Pat says everyone got quite a chuckle that day.

Yes, it takes all kinds—both people and horses—to make this old world tick.

Differences of Opinion

They arise in any matter, and funeral service is no exception.

Each time we serve, the family's opinions are more important to us than our own or anyone else's.
