

Agencies share in $66,049.71 revenue

District Court operates even for first six months

According to a report submitted to Clinton County Supervisors a total of $66,049.71 has been divided between various governmental agencies after being taken in by the court during its operation from January 1 through June 30, 1969.

District Court Judge Roland J. Duguay submitted the report to the supervisors on the activities of the court for the past six months. According to his information a total of $33,048.68 or approximately one-half the total revenue was returned to the Clinton County general fund and the remainder of income was disseminated to the library fund, the State of Michigan and various municipalities of the county.

(A break-down of expenses and income for the court follows this article.)

THE AMOUNT DISTRIBUTED to the State of Michigan, according to Duguay's report, represented statutory fees collected by state direction for each criminal conviction. Of the municipalities receiving revenue, St. Johns was granted the largest amount, $2,053.24.

DeWitt did not receive a substantial distribution because the city has not established itself to handle violations under its ordinance. The city operates under state law violations and used the County Prosecutor rather than its city attorney to prosecute violation cases.

IN HIS REPORT, Duguay pointed out that general fund revenues of $33,048.68 are all a result of the court's operation and were returned to the various bodies through costs paid by users of the court.

The sources were primarily state law violators, however, a portion of the fees were received through civil cases and in some revenue was obtained from municipal cases.

The report cited that costs generated to the Clinton County General Fund represents money that the county keeps and can be viewed as funds to off-set its expenses of establishing and maintaining court facilities. The

Mrs Jeanette Page stands near the front entrance to the Federal Land Bank where the bandit entered. Floyd Parmelee, office manager, arrived a few minutes later and summoned police. Mrs Page was visibly shaken by the experience and said the time seemed to drag for hours, before help arrived. The new bank opened only two weeks ago. See story Section B.

Board stands firm

State, mid-Michigan health units rapped

Clinton County supervisors stood firm on their former resolution Monday afternoon to drop the Mid-Michigan Health Department if the unit failed to improve in the next few months. Lawrence McLaren acting director of the unit from Ithaca appeared before the board and stated a shortage of help had caused the situation, and it was compounded by inadequate action from the State Health Department and mistakes made by former sanitarian Robert Yager, and former local health director Dr F. W. Smith, now deceased. He further stated that this mismanagement had been something the department was "forced to live with".

He estimated cost of running the department if they go it alone to supervisors at approximately $67,950 per year. With the law stating there must be a doctor on the staff.

McLAREN ALSO FELT that if residents with inadequate water and sewer facilities were displaced a problem would develop as to where people would go. Some residents in the Bath and Park Lake areas are now taking steps to correct situations, but several land owners he felt were taking advantage of renters by charging them $40 to $125 per month without spending a dime to correct hazardous health conditions to the occupants.

Others in attendance accused the State Health Department with "failure to enforce their own laws" and causing further confusion to other agencies. One instance given was a trailer court in Westphalia which was brought under scrutiny of the department over a year ago, with nothing concrete being done to date on correcting the situation. McLaren says he was informed repeatedly in the past by Dr Smith that "everything was under control," and the Mid-Michigan Health Department went along with him.

FORMER APPROVALS issued in the Park Lake area have also been wrong and now have to be corrected. Some homes have been recently posted by Mid-Michigan and where the signs are placed it indicates that the house has either bad water or an inadequate sewer system.

After hearing McLaren defend Mid-Michigan, Supervisor Nobis stated that he felt he was speaking for the other board members and felt the department would still be considered on a probationary status as far as the supervisors were concerned, and he hoped they could get faster and more positive action in the near future.

WILLIAM COFFEY, county zoning administrator, also appeared to voice lack of action taken by both the local and state health departments. He further stated that although it wasn't his job to take legal action he was the only one who did of the combined departments.

"I feel I stand alone because I'm the only one to sign warrants and take action." He further stated that when laws are broken responsible officials fail to act (even under threat of serious health hazards to residents), because "they don't want to get involved and spend a lot of time in court."

Supervisor Nobis then suggested an investigation of the State Health Department might be in order to find out why they were "so weak boned" about taking action. Several instances of raw sewage going into county drains are known to exist, with no progress being visible.

SUPERVISOR SHEPPARD then accused the State Health Department of saying they will back you up, but when it gets down to the nitty-gritty of it not doing it.

The policy of returning seven or eight times to a site by Mid-Michigan was then discussed and McLaren stated that in the future no more than two trips will be made by the department and after that the party would be "on his own".

Duane Smith, supervisor from Bath, then suggested that each of the units should issue its own citations, then stand behind them.

Firemen register complaints

A trio of representatives from the St. Johns fire department appeared before the city commission Monday night to register complaints and seek solutions to operational problems they feel are decreasing the efficiency of the department.

Foremost on their list was the moving of the police department into the former municipal court offices in the basement of city hall and Chief Clare Maier cited this change as the principal cause of concern.

"We weren't notified of the move," Maier said. "We didn't know anything about it until it was all over." He went on to point out the problems of communication created by the move.

Fire calls are accepted in the police department and relayed to the fire department where the volunteers are alerted by an electronic device. Maier, supported by Ray Kentfield and Sonny Cornwell felt the relocation of the police department will lead to a breakdown in the efficiency of the communications and, in Cornwell's words, "is a step backwards."

Another sore spot with the fire department has been a slowly diminishing schedule of maintenance on the equipment. "I've had it right up to here and it's time it straightened out," Maier stated. He pointed out that normal maintenance cycles were every two weeks but he presented the commission with service reports which authenticated only three service inspections so far this year.

"I don't think the firemen are paid to do these things," Maier told the commission and he voiced his desire that "something must be done."

After the brief, but pointed discussion Commissioner Charles Coletta suggested that the operational problems be discussed by Maier and City Manager Harvey Weatherwax and proposals for solutions be presented to the commission.

A brief discussion was also pursued relative to participation by the city in payment of a portion of Blue Cross insurance coverage on city firemen. The item was tabled until further information could be obtained and evaluated.

Death takes Mrs. Feldpausch

Area residents were deeply saddened Tuesday morning by the death of Mrs Marie Feldpausch, of 531 N. Main Street, Fowler.

Citizens throughout the county had contributed to the "Marie Feldpausch Fund" and had succeeded in raising over $5,000 to purchase a kidney machine for her. The machine had been on order for sometime, but had not been delivered. Mrs Feldpausch had suffered with nephritis since last winter and had traveled back and forth to Lansing General Hospital to use their kidney machine.

DeWitt sewer bond okayed

Attorney General Frank J. Kelley, chairman of the Municipal Finance Commission, announced that the commission approved $120,000 of 1969 Special Assessment Sewer Bonds for the City of DeWitt.

Kelley said, "The proceeds will be used to defray part of the cost of constructing sanitary sewers in Special Assessment District 2.

According to Eldon Smith, District 2 is that area south of

Death takes Mrs. Feldpausch

Lookingglass River, extending to Herbison Road, including the area of the new high school.

Bids are being accepted and are due Monday, July 21, for the project, Smith said. Construction will start when all the bonds are sold.

Other members of the commission, besides Kelley, are Allison Green, state treasurer, and Ira Polley, superintendent of public instruction.

Appoint advisory committee

Supervisors discuss air traffic growth

The Clinton County Board of Supervisors gathered for the first time in almost one month Monday morning and were faced with a jammed agenda that kept them in session until late in the day. Highlighting their business was a report from District Judge Roland Duguay on the status of the court after its first six months in operation. Another topic of import which came before the supervisors was the subject of growing air traffic demands in the Clinton County area. The discussion arose after presentation of a resolution adopted by the Grand Ledge Chamber of Commerce regarding the Tri-County Airport Authority noting that improvements are badly needed at Capitol City

Airport in Lansing and the satellite facilities at St. Johns, Charlotte and Grand Ledge.

Roy Andrews pointed out that better air facilities in the county would be needed in the near future because of increasing industrial and commercial demands.

The discussion ended with the appointment of a committee of three to serve for Clinton County as an advisory group on air traffic developments. Appointed to the committee were Andrews, Robert Montgomery and Maurice Gove.

Income tax downed in small, close vote

St. Johns voters dribbled to the polls Tuesday to turn down an advisory proposal for a city income tax 498-589.

Voters in precinct I balloted 302-314 against the proposal while those in precinct II turned back the question 196-275.

While the total ballots cast was far short of the approximately 2,900 registrations in the city, the gap between the pros and since the question was referred to the voters in February 1968.

According to City Clerk Tom Hundley, approximately 30%-33% of the total registered voters participated in the election and workers at the polls near closing time expressed belief that residents with strong feeling either way were the ones who made sure of casting ballots.

Voters began trickling into the polls at the 7 a.m. opening and a steady, but thin stream continued throughout the day. Workers explained that an influx of voting traffic took place the final two hours the polls were open. The election came after a little more than one year of austerity living which has caused city administrators to tighten belts in all departments.

The vote marks the second time in less than two years St. Johns residents have turned down a proposal to provide for new sources of revenue in the city. An income tax plan was defeated in a referendum vote in February 1968.

The income tax went down 1,158-439 and the millage increase lost 1,110-352.

At that time the proposal was presented as part of a package which also, if accepted, would have allowed the city administrative officials to raise the millage assessment limitation from ten to fifteen mills. The issues were voted down by a near 3-1 margin.

Tuesday's vote was not an official or binding vote on the St. John's city commission. The vote was conducted as an advisory election in efforts to determine if public sentiment had changed since the question was last posed.

Unfinished maps expensive to Clinton County supervisors

Earl Haas, Clinton County Extension agent and George McQueen, Clinton County Agricultural agent, appeared before the board of supervisors during the afternoon session on Monday, July 14, with what sounded like an over-dose of inflation.

Three years ago the board approved mapping of all soil conditions in Clinton County to be paid for at a total cost of $2,000 to the county. The next year the maps still weren't complete and they requested an additional $4,000 which the board approved. Monday with the maps still only partially done the request for additional funds jumped to a whopping $56,612 for the Tri-County area or an additional $18,870 for Clinton.

Tri-County was to have originally paid for the soil map printing costs through funds received from HUD, but the HUD agreement fell through when the maps weren't finished at the end of the agreed three year period.

McQueen stated that if supervisors wanted to appropriate the additional funds it would take until April, 1970, before work could resume. Board members have until around Nov. 1, to decide on the matter.

Some supervisors felt with the maps clearly showing the condition of land in Clinton County it could be beneficial to the newly formed Clinton County Planning Commission, which will advise on the over-all development of the county.

Haas further stated that he was only presenting the facts to the supervisors and the decision would be left entirely with them.

Sorry, m'am, but we don't play games.

It's not our bag.

We don't give stamps, either.

We simply play it straight by giving you the highest quality foods at the lowest possible prices.

All those frills, like stamps, matching numbers and designs and give-away events are not only time consuming but cost money. Money that invariably comes from your shopping budget because playing games is not part of our business and the costs of such luxury is passed on to customers. We look to make an honest and reasonable profit on the integrity of our efforts and the quality of our products.

We have long observed the practices of economy-wise homemakers and have based our business policies on their desires and demands. (What better place to get marketing information to help us serve YOU better?) Through the years our observations have continually proven that quality and price are the two attractions which command attention.

This leaves no room for tearing stamps or playing games.

And the money you have saved us through your ideas we have taken to provide you with better shopping conveniences and more pleasant surroundings.

You've shown us that this is important, too.

Something that you can take advantage of each time you visit us . . . not just if you happen to be lucky.

No, we don't give stamps or play games.

When you leave our store you have sacks of groceries filled with assurance of wholesome nourishment and taste enjoyment.

And they're clearly marked, "Andy's IGA?"

. . . that's our bag.

Clerk Carter sees system 'more costly'

New Clinton jury selection procedures under way

In response to new Michigan legislation, Clinton County will begin using voter registration lists for jury selection.

The files for the selection system are presently located in the women's jury room at the court house, but will eventually be housed in a special room when space is available. Ernest Carter, county clerk, says the jury selection committee is looking for a place now and has thought about partitioning off part of the court room as a possible solution.

The committee, named by Leo Corkin, circuit court judge and appointed officially by Gov. William Milliken earlier this year, is composed of three members. Chairman is Kenneth Munger, secretary is Mrs. Roy (Emily) Davis and member William Barber.

The committee, like any special committee, is paid $20 per day of work and 10¢ a mile expenses.

All registered voters of the county are listed alphabetically by precinct. The committee chooses the first jury list by selecting a number at random for the starting point, then selecting jurors at set intervals.

If a name appears on the list of a person who has served on jury duty within the last three years, notation is made and he is ineligible to serve.

Names are listed on small slats of paper held in place on metal sheets in a book-like file. The names are each listed on an individual piece of paper, so it will be relatively easy to keep the file current and in alphabetical order.

After the first list is chosen, confidential questionnaires are sent to all the people who were selected. The sheets are to be returned to the committee within 10 days. At that time, the committee reviews the questionnaires to decide which voters are eligible.

A second questionnaire is sent to the list of eligible voters. When the questionnaires are returned to the committee, they are processed and a final approved list of eligible jurors is compiled.

Under the old system, township clerks submitted lists of eligible voters taken from local assessment lists. The clerk, usually well acquainted with people in his area, was able to remove names from the list of those people he was sure were not eligible by law or had served jury duty within the last three years.

Carter says he feels that "the new system will be more costly. I only want to be honest with people. We all feel the burden of Kenneth Munger, chairman of the recently specified jury selection committee, is shown picking names for the first jury list via the new system.

Conservation needs for County listed

Clinton County's future needs for soil and water conservation treatment are reflected in the updated Conservation Needs Inventory recently completed by the US Department of Agriculture. Figures released today by Lloyd B. Campbell, Soil Conservation Service District Conservationist at St. Johns, show a need for many practices if natural resources in Clinton County are to be wisely used.

"Perhaps the most urgent need is for four rod systems of tile drainage on an additional 20,558 acres," Campbell stated.

There are 265,330 acres of Clinton County being used for crops or hay. 114,266 acres of this needs conservation practices. 151,064 acres are adequately treated.

68,375 acres need annual cover of crop residues, cover crops, or other protection to meet conservation needs.

10,514 acres need some type of sod (grasses, legumes) used in the rotation of crops so that the land is under cover for longer periods.

1,909 acres need the extra protection of terraces, strip cropping, grassed waterways or other outlets, and diversion terraces to properly manage runoff water.

20,558 acres have a problem of too much water and need proper drainage.

360 acres need a change in land use away from crops to either grass or trees to be adequately protected from damage from erosion.

250 acres are not considered feasible to treat because of soil or moisture conditions or other reasons.

875 acres need reestablishment—planting the land, fertilizing and reseeding to adapted grasses and legumes—starting all over.

625 acres need improvement only. By adding a grass or legume to the stand already established, these acres can be brought up to full production and adequate cover for the land.

5,375 acres need brush control to eliminate competition for sunlight, moisture, and fertility.

Of the 45,000 acres of forest land in Clinton County, 30 percent needs conservation treatment.

If used for commercial wood production, 16,875 acres need planting to establish new stands or reinforce present stands of trees.

4,009 acres need some kind of woodland improvement work done—trimming, pruning, crop tree release, weeding, or other practices to improve quality.

2,000 acres of non-commercial forest land need planting or interplanting to enhance tree cover and improve wildlife values.

There's a big job ahead in conservation, and it's everybody's business. The inventory of needs changes nothing in the sound program of land and water management that the Clinton County Soil Conservation District has been doing for years. It points out our needs for the years ahead.

taxes, and this is one more place for that tax money to go."

"But, it will be an efficient and up-to-date list," he continued to say, "and the one man, one vote theory will be more nearly correct. That is, the larger areas will probably have more representation than the smaller areas at times, but eventually it will all even out."

Begin Heart projects

Researchers in Michigan medical schools and hospitals today began work on 62 projects, budgeted at $542,758 by the Michigan Heart Association, which has also awarded $70,000 to the deans of medical schools, for the promotion of research and $21,000 for research by medical students, Dr. Edward W. Green, President of the Association announced today.

Research expenditures, including an earmarked $190,000 to the American Heart Association, will total more than $820,000 during this fiscal year beginning July 1, he added.

Funds were not available however, to finance all the 69 projects found worthy of support by the Association's Research Committee. Seven projects, costing $80,000 more, were listed on a priority basis to be funded if money becomes available, he added.

Dr. Green, director, Cardiology Department of Children's Hospital, attributed increased costs to inflation and to reductions by the Federal Government in its support of research. "Researchers have had to turn to the Association for help," he explained.

About 60% of the Heart Association income comes from the Michigan United Fund, and the remainder from memorial gifts, bequests, and the sale of Christmas Cards. Dr. Green added that at the close of this fiscal year, June 30, 1970, the Association during 21 years of existence will have spent more than $8 million on research.

Of the 62 funded projects 26 are at Wayne State; 21 at the University of Michigan; eight at Michigan State, and seven at hospitals.

Grants range from $12,000 to $2,500 and are used to hire technicians and buy supplies.

Shutt-Hankey vows said in Indiana

Karen Kay Shutt became the bride of Dennis Robert Hankey at the Memorial Baptist Church in Fort Wayne, Ind., on July 4 at 2 p.m.

Rev Richard M. Mitchell united the daughter of Mr and Mrs Carl C. Shutt Jr., of Fort Wayne and the son of Mr and Mrs Robert G. Hankey of N. US-27, St. Johns.

Maid of honor was Janice Lynn Shutt, sister of the bride, Ronald MacLueckie served as best man. Bridesmaids were Diane Altkruse, Nancy Turcotte and Sandra Zmyslowski. Al Anderson, Dennis Becker, and Jack Shutt, brother of the bride seated guests.

The bride approached the altar attired in a white dotted swiss gown trimmed with Venice lace. The lace encircled the empire bodice fashioned with a bateau neckline and edged short sleeves. The A-line skirt was highlighted by a chapel length self train flowing from the back waistline. A crown of Venice lace held her elbow length veil of silk illusion.

Attendants were dressed in cherry pink dotted swiss gowns designed with an empire bodice encircled with a band of satin and Venice lace. A bateau neckline and short sleeves accented the style of the gown. A cluster of daisies secured their short veils.

A bouquet of white daisies and baby's breath accented with pink rosettes completed the bridal ensemble. The bridesmaids carried white daisies and baby's breath. The maid of honor carried pink daisies and baby's breath.

The bride's mother chose a yellow brocade dress for the occasion. She also wore a matching chiffon coat and carried a corsage of daisies. Mrs Hankey selected a turquoise lace dress with matching jacket for her son's wedding. She wore a corsage of turquoise carnations.

The couple will reside at 1316 G. University Village, East Lansing. The groom is attending summer school at MSU where he is a senior.

PRICE (C)—A reception honoring Dr and Mrs Leroy Howe, Jennifer and Allison and Rev and Mrs Karl Ziegler was held at Price United Methodist Church July 8.

Mrs Ben Walker presented a reading for the program which preceded presentation of a gift to Dr and Mrs Howe who are leaving the church and a welcome to Rev and Mrs Ziegler as the new pastor, by Mrs Kenneth Fricke. Dr Howe will assume duties this fall in Dallas, Texas at Perkins Theological Seminar.

Refreshments of molded jellios, cake, punch and coffee were served following the program to about 50 in attendance.

Liver is good health food

By HELEN B. MEACH
Extension Home Economist

How long has it been since you've had a good meal of liver? 'Tis good health insurance to plan such a meal at least once every week. There are some very sound reasons why.

Liver contains more of the necessary nutrients than any other type of meat. It has as much protein value as other meats with unusually high levels of vitamins, particularly vitamin A, riboflavin and niacin. But the large quantity of hard-to-get iron found in liver is the chief reason for including it in the menu at least once each week.

Iron is one of the nutrients absolutely necessary for good health and it's one of the more difficult ones to find in sufficient quantities without conscious effort. Iron is a vital part of the red substance in our blood (hemoglobin) that carries oxygen from our lungs to each cell of the body. Anemia is the general term used to describe a deficiency of iron in the system. It is particularly important that women of child bearing age get the extra iron they need.

Liver is an excellent source. Other sources are heart, kidney, egg yolk, shellfish, dark green leafy vegetables, peas and beans, whole grain cereals, dried fruits (apricots, raisins and prunes) and molasses.

Liver is an economical choice of meat. Beef liver ordinarily costs 39-59 cents per pound—lower in cost than most meats. Pork liver costs even less than beef liver. There is almost no waste in a pound of liver. A very thin skin membrane coating the outside of the liver and a very few veins are the total waste.

LIVER ARRIVES from the packing plants to your retail store whole and frozen. An average beef liver weighs from 10 to 15 pounds. Because liver is "juicy" it is sold in trays or containers. Even though it is drenched with flour before cooking there is some loss of the valuable "juice" usually left in the retail container.

There is an advantage in cooking liver from its frozen state. There is no loss of valuable juice and it is so very easy to handle when cooked from the frozen state. If you are fortunate enough to have available a whole beef or pork liver slice it while it is frozen. Then package in family meal-size packs, making sure to have a double thickness of freezer paper between each slice so the pieces don't freeze together. Allow just a little longer cooking time at a lower temperature when starting from the frozen state.

Liver should be cooked in much the same manner as eggs. It is tender by nature—all that is necessary is to set the meat. High temperatures and overcooking make liver tough.

Bacon, onions and tomatoes all complement the flavor of liver. Casseroles combining liver, potatoes, onions, carrots and tomatoes are popular with folks who use liver frequently.

Liver can be ground satisfactorily if it is cooked or if it is frozen. Grind frozen raw liver and pack it in freezer containers for frozen storage.

You can make most delicious liver cakes by combining the thawed ground liver with cooked rice or potatoes or cracker or bread crumbs and seasoning with onions, salt and pepper. Then cook in much the same manner as pancakes. Ground liver works well in meat loaves when combined with ground beef.

Liver has a different flavor and texture than other meats but this is no reason not to enjoy it. And certainly children should have the opportunity to learn to enjoy this most valuable foodstuff.

Karen Feldpausch weds David Irrer

Miss Karen Feldpausch became the bride of David Irrer in a double ring service performed by the Rev Albert Schmitt at the Most Holy Trinity Catholic Church at 1 p.m. on Saturday, June 28.

The bride is the daughter of Mr and Mrs Norbert R. Feldpausch of 11280 W. 3rd Street, Fowler. The bridegroom is the son of Mr and Mrs Donald Irrer Sr. of R-2, Fowler.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, selected a gown of floor length organza and alencon lace with long sleeves and a natural waist dome skirt. Her long mantilla veil of illusion served as her train. She carried a bouquet of white mums and yellow sweetheart roses.

Mrs Michael Platte served as matron of honor for her cousin and bridesmaids were Mrs Dennis Fandel and Shirley Irrer sisters of the groom and Mrs Lee Duttonhaver, sister of the bride. Debbie Feldpausch, daughter of Mr and Mrs Mark Feldpausch was flower girl.

The attendants wore floor length gowns of yellow chiffon over taffeta with an orange coat effect. They were designed with cloth flowers trimming the neck and line and empire waist. Their shoulder length veils of illusion were held in place by chiffon petals.

The flower girl wore an Identical dress and carried a basket of yellow and white mums.

The bride's mother wore an aqua brocade A-line dress with short sleeves and tan accessories.

The bridegroom's mother wore an aqua A-line dress with a mandarin collar and short sleeves. A seamed pleated effect enhanced the front.

Michael Platte served as best man, and groomsmen were Stan Feldpausch, Glenn Smith, and Donald Irrer Jr. Ushers were Bill Feldpausch, brother of the bride and Dale Irrer, brother of the groom. Bernie Lehmann, son of Mr and Mrs John Lehmann of Westphalia, was ring bearer.

A reception was held in the evening at St. Mary's hall in Westphalia for 400 guests. Mrs Joseph Arens and Mrs Thomas Nurenburg served the wedding cake. Chris Schomisch, Agnes Goerge and Marie Pohl assisted at the bride's table. Elaine Irrer and Mary Lou Wirth opened the wedding gifts.

After a honeymoon in northern Michigan and the western states the couple will reside at 5660 Westphalia Street, Westphalia.

The bride graduated from Fowler High School in 1966 and is employed at McKesson and Robbins in Lansing. The groom graduated from Pewamo-Westphalia High School in 1966 and is employed by Oldsmobile.

MR AND MRS JAMES WATTS

Trombley-Watts vows in Colo.

A June 6 wedding united Miss Elizabeth Sue Trombley, daughter of Mr and Mrs Robert Trombley, and James Earl Watts, son of Mr and Mrs Ralph Watts of 1010 N. Delaware, Rosewell, New Mexico.

The ceremony took place on the lawn at the home of the bride in Durango, Colo. Rev Samuel Day of the First United Methodist Church performed the double-ring service. The bride was given in marriage by her father. The house was decorated for the occasion with bouquets of peonies, snowballs, and yellow columbines.

The bride chose a street-length princess style dress of white lace. Her fingertip French illusion veil was accented with white lace applique and held by a crown of sequins and pearls. She wore a corsage of white and yellow rosebuds.

Serving as maid of honor was Peggy Trombley, sister of the bride, of Durango. She was attired in a street length princess style dress of yellow linen, and wore a fan shaped corsage of yellow rosebuds.

Ralph Watts, father of the groom, served as best man at the ceremony.

The bride's mother wore a light blue sheath dress and was presented with a corsage of white carnations. The mother of the groom chose a beige suit and wore a corsage of white carnations also.

A reception was held at 3:00 p.m. at the home of the bride. Assisting with refreshments were Mrs David James and Mrs Danny Williams.

For travel the bride changed to a yellow and white sleeveless dress with pleated skirt.

The bride is a graduate of Durango High School, Durango, Colo. and the groom is a graduate of Rosewell New Mexico High School, and the Southwest Data Institute.

Board retains land

The Clinton County Board of Supervisors Monday turned down a bid by an Eaton County firm interested in installing a 100-bed nursing home in the county.

The site in question, located between the Children's Home and the Social Aid Building on Oakland St. in St. Johns, was felt by the supervisors to be more valuable for future expansion of those facilities and advised Clerk Ernest Carter to notify the firm that land is not available in that area.

In related action, the board did approve a new septic tank drain field for Smith Hall at the City Park. Cost of the project was estimated at $1,000.

Compliments are not always genuine, but fault-finding addicts are always sincere.

STEPHANIE WILSON INJURED
Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Keys have received word that their granddaughter, Stephanie Wilson, 16, has been released from the North Miami General Hospital following an accident in which she sustained a concussion and severe cuts and bruises. She will be on crutches for some time.

Stephanie, who is employed at the North Miami Hospital during the summer, was waiting on a bench along with two other young people for the bus to return home from work, when they were hit by a hit-and-run driver being chased by the police. One boy was killed instantly and the other girl received a broken wrist and fracture of both legs.

Stephanie who visited here last summer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wilson of Miami, Florida.

Mrs. Marguerite Moore of Ovid has returned from a three weeks' trip to the Northwest. She flew from Detroit's Metropolitan to Portland, Ore. where she was met by her uncle, Edwin Moore of Arl, Washington. Outstanding among the points of interest during her stay were the annual Rose Festival Parade in The City of Roses, sightseeing of Mt. Hood, Mt. St. Helen and Mt. Rainier, and her first experience of digging for clams.

David Dunham, James Ade, Jan Blunt, Sue Kadjas and Martha Geiger spent the past week at Wesley Woods Junior Camp, representing their group of the Elsie United Methodist Church.

The United Methodist Vacation Church School has an enrollment of 70 with an average of 66 attendance. Thirteen persons made up the staff.

from VAN W. HOAG

Dear Friends,

The human body was divinely created to house a soul; they are so intertwined during life that the human mind required time to accept the fact of their separation in death.

Therefore, it is natural, proper and wholesome that the bereaved should respect the physical body which remains here on earth, and desire that its disposition be reverently accomplished.

Respectfully,

News notes from the Clinton County business world

Susan Faye Idema, Grand Rapids, Direct Distributor of Amway Products, announced today the awarding of a Personal Sales Award Plaque to Clair and Margaret Thelen of Fowler, Michigan. The plaque can be earned annually by any of the 100,000 Amway Distributors in the United States and Canada by achieving a high personal sales goal.

In presenting the sward, Direct Distributor Mary Susan personally congratulated them on the performance of outstanding distributorship, giving special recognition to high sales achievement record. Amway is an international organization with home offices and manufacturing facilities in Ada, Michigan and offices and warehouse in London, Ontario.

Why should we invest in a new piano until we're sure our child will keep on taking lessons?

The best way to insure your youngster's continuing interest in music is to start him on a new, easy-to-play Kimball that makes practicing more fun—there's nothing more discouraging to the beginner than learning to play on an old, stiff-action piano. Your investment in a new Kimball at the start, is the most important contribution you can make to your child's musical education.

Sox lead St. Johns Little League

The Sox continued their merry romp in St. Johns little league play this past week but received shoves from the Cubs and Tigers. The Sox rumbled over the Indians by a 12-2 count then came back to down the Yanks 12-1. Meanwhile the Cubs whitewashed the Giants 10-0 and halted the Twins 8-4.

The fourth-place Tigers rolled over the Orioles 15-8 and the Spartans beat the Indians 16-3 then won 13-4 from the Yanks.

Standings of the teams as of Monday:

TEAM	WON	LOST
Sox	4	0
Cubs	5	1
Tigers	4	1
Spartans	3	1
Giants	2	2
Cougars	2	2
Twins	2	3
Orioles	0	3
Indians	0	4
Yanks	0	5

Dunham of Elsie. An outstanding 4-H Conservation leader, Mrs Ray Peck of Elsie is also attending the Camp. Highlights of the week include a visit to the Marquette fish hatchery, a boat trip to Pictured Rocks and visits to the Casino Wildlife Experiment Station and the Seney Wildlife Refuge.

The 4-H teen leaders will also take a field trip to the Au Train Lake area and Lake Superior shore to see and discuss ecological succession, water quality of lakes and ponds, ground water and geology and minerals in the Upper Peninsula.

Tours and discussions will be conducted by specialists from Michigan State University, Michigan Department of Natural Resources, Michigan Soil Conservation Committee, Michigan Chapter of the Soil Conservation Society of America, and the US Department of Agriculture Forest Service, Soil Conservation Service and Fish and Wildlife Service.

Discussions at the end of each day's activities will tie the newly learned information into an understanding of the total environment, explains Dr Robert George, camp director and extension specialist in conservation education, Michigan State University. "It's important that these outstanding young people who are tomorrow's leaders understand our natural resources and their interrelationships, especially at a time when man is coming into critical conflict with his natural environment," George says. Mary Woodward, state 4-H youth program leader, says, "the lessons in outdoor life will be new to many camp participants since only about a third of all 4-H members live on a farm."

Middleton, Pompeii, Ashley get wins in pony league action

Middleton, Pompeii and Ashley came through with victories in Gratiot-Clinton Pony League play as pre-holiday action was sparked with a rash of hits and runs.

In June 30 action Middleton topped Ashley in a free-swinging affair, 14-11. The winners garnered 12 hits and were charged with three errors while the losers clobbered 15 hits but suffered five miscues.

Kip Williams and Bobbie Hindal set the pace for Pompeii's win over North Star, gathering two hits each leading their squad to a 9-2 victory. Williams also was credited with 17 strikeouts as winning pitcher.

A 23 hit barrage set the tone for Pompeii-Bannister encounter July 2 with Pompeii coming out on top in the runs department, 8-7. Bannister accounted for ten of the 23 hits.

Middleton eked out a 7-6 win over North Star as each squad tallied seven hits. Meanwhile Ashley dropped Elsie in a 4-2 encounter but lost the hitting duel 7-6. Mickey Carntalied seven hits. men and catcher Bob Harnick were the winning battery.

TO PERFORM AT CHESANING SHOWBOAT

Peggy Merignac, Linda Brya and Cathy Merignac known as the "St. Johns Trio" will be performing at the Chesaning Showboat in competition and as part of the entertainment on Monday evening, July 14. The show begins at 7:30 p.m. and the finalists in each night's competition will be eligible to compete on Saturday, July 19, for the top prize. The popular trio has appeared in several locally sponsored shows, and all of the girls are from St. Johns.

Excitement comes early to new Land Bank office

It didn't take long for excitement to show up at the new building housing the Federal Land Bank.

Less than three weeks had passed since employees first began work in their new quarters when a break in routine came in the form of an attempted robbery. Quick action by local law authorities erased the threat and brought about confinement of Charles J. Seifert, Detroit, in the Clinton County Jail on charges of armed robbery. Bail was set at $10,000 and Circuit Court trial date is July 14.

It all began when Mrs. Jeanette Page arrived at the office July 9 near eight o'clock to begin the day's activities. She unlocked the front door, entered the building and began to open the safe when she suddenly felt a hand on her shoulder and a knife at her throat.

"I need money," the man said and she opened her purse. He grabbed her billfold taking about $25 and a ring of keys he assumed were for her car.

"Don't call the police or I'll come back and kill you," he threatened. He then left the building and attempted to start the car with keys that actually opened the bank door. When this failed he ran to a wooded area in back of the office.

Mrs. Page said she was afraid to call for help because there was no way she could re-lock the office door. The man made no effort to rob the safe and Mrs. Page said she had completed the combination lock except for the last digit when he entered.

Floyd Parmelee, office manager, arrived at this time and summoned police. Actually the bank carries very little money, (usually not more than $50). Most of their banking funds are sent on request from the Federal Land Bank in St. Paul, Minn.

Local police called State Police in Lansing and Trooper Bruce Smith with the unit's tracking dog Tonka arrived. In a few minutes Charles Seifert was captured hiding in a tree. The dog was aided with a sweater left in Mrs. Page's car by the fugitive.

Robert Ott of the local police department was the arresting officer.

Charles Joseph Seifert, of 702 Dickerson, Detroit, is being held in lieu of $10,000 bond at the County jail on a charge of armed robbery.

Seifert was bound over to circuit court and trial date has been set for July 14 at 1:30 p.m.

The Federal Land Bank was formerly located at 108 Brush Street in St. Johns for 33 years.

They do not accept money for savings and in this respect the term "bank" may have been misleading.

Rest areas prove popular among highway travelers

The Department of State Highways has added another freeway rest area to its steadily expanding list of spots designed to aid travelers as they drive through Michigan.

The latest to be added is on M-76 north of Standish in Arenac County. The site was opened June 26.

Five other areas are under construction. They are along US-23 north of Ponton, US-131 north of Grand Rapids, Interstate 69 north of Marshall, and at two sites on Interstate 94 in St. Clair County.

In addition to constructing areas, the department is modernizing existing ones. This includes improving toilet facilities, outdoor lighting and sidewalks.

Two areas being improved are on Interstate 96, one east and one west of Grand Rapids, and one is on Interstate 94 east of Water-vliet.

About 10 percent of the main-line traffic uses the rest areas along freeways, a survey shows. Traffic studies also indicate that a typical rest area along Interstate 75 north of Flint will provide service each year to 310,000 cars carrying about 650,000 passengers—about three times the population of Grand Rapids.

A freeway rest area along Interstate 75 north of Grayling, carrying considerable tourist traffic, will accommodate each year about 165,000 cars carrying 565,000 passengers.

The typical rest area provides parking for over 50 passenger cars and about 24 trucks. Rest areas vary in size from 8 acres to over 30 acres, the average being about 12 to 15 acres.

A roadside park, about 3 to 5 acres in size, provides parking, picnic areas with stoves and tables, drinking water, rustic toilets and general highway information.

Tourism is one of Michigan's largest income producing industries, taking in nearly $1.2 billion last year. Jack Burton, supervisor of roadside development for the Highway Department says the rest areas and roadside parks help draw people to Michigan. The roadside accommodations also are important safety devices, encouraging travelers to rest when they tire of driving.

In the last 3 1/2 years, the Highway Department has constructed 16 freeway rest areas and modernized facilities in 15 existing ones.

Plans are being made for four new rest areas in scattered areas of the state. Final decisions on locations are yet to be made.

REST AREAS ARE RELAXING OASES

Michigan travelers can stop for a travel break at any one of the 56 freeway rest areas, 101 roadside parks and 1,500 picnic table sites along the state's 9,215 miles of state highways. This family is enjoying picnic facilities at the new Coldwater Travel Information Center on Interstate 69, one of nine information centers operated by the Michigan Department of State Highways.

National credit card issued by two area banks

The American Bank and Trust Company and the East Lansing State Bank, today jointly announced plans to issue a nationally accepted credit card. According to officials of the two banks, the new card, bearing the trade name, "Master Charge" over-printed on two interlocking red and orange circles, will be mailed to selected customers of the two banks early in the Fall.

AB & T maintains a branch office in DeWitt.

"We're adding a new dimension to our customer service," Hubert B. Bates, AB&T Board Chairman said of the move. Holders of Master Charge cards will be able to use them at retail establishments and banks in 49 state and 44 foreign countries.

Although it is expected, the card will be honored by most local merchants, its national and international acceptance will prove especially useful to vacationers and businessmen. Local merchants who agree to honor Master Charge cards will also benefit from the card's national character, through sales to non-resident card holders who now total close to twenty million. Experience in other cities indicates that up to 20 per cent of all Master Charge sales arise from purchases by nonresidents.

Arthur Allen, President of the East Lansing State Bank said his bank's decision was triggered by recent organizational developments which resulted in the establishment of a single national charge clearing organization known as "Interbank".

The national character of "Interbank" combines the advantages of a travel and entertainment card and those of the revolving retail credit card in a single all purpose instrument. Noting that the checkless society we hear so much about may yet be a number of years away, Allen stated that Master Charge takes a sizable step in that direction in terms of the convenience offered.

Bates stressed the local orientation of the organization, noting that each Master Charge card user will be mailed a single monthly statement of all charge card purchases by his own bank, which maintains a record of all charges and payments through utilization of a central clearing house.

Fifth annual GOP dinner is Sept. 3

From the placing of the first roadside table on US-16 in Ionia County in 1929 to the rest area near Standish, the program has grown to include 56 freeway rest areas and 101 tourist roadside parks. The accommodations include nine tourist information stations.

Some 1,500 picnic sites also are located along the 9,215 miles of state highways.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew will be the featured speaker at the 5th annual Republican Legislative dinner to be held this year in Flint's IMA Auditorium on Wednesday, September 3.

Announcement of the major fund raising activity comes from general chairman of the event Mr. C. S. Mott of Flint. The appearance of Vice President Agnew marks the first fund raising appearance in Michigan by a Republican Vice President in 11 years. The last appearance, by now President Nixon, was made in Flint in 1958.

The dinner signals the unofficial kickoff of the 1970 campaign. Co-chairmen for the event include US Senator Robert Griffin; Representative Gerald R. Ford, minority leader in the Congress; Michigan Senate Majority Leader Emil Lockwood; Robert E. Wajdron, minority leader in the Michigan House of Representatives; Charles E. Kirsch, State finance chairman; and Albert W. Blackmon, Genesee County Republican finance chairman.

The Republican Legislative dinner program, inaugurated in 1965, has featured such national leaders as current Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, George Romney; former Republican national chairman Thurston Morton of Kentucky; US Senator Robert Griffin, and last year the president, Richard M. Nixon.

Tickets are available from all Republican members of the State Legislature and Congress as well as county and state Republican headquarters.

JC Auxiliary holds clinic

The Westphalia Jaycee Auxiliary recently sponsored a Babysitting Clinic for the young babysitters in the community. The course consisted of four evening sessions.

The first evening, the girls learned about baby and child care. Mrs. Richard Schmitt, a nurse, gave the talk and answered questions.

The second session covered first aid and Mrs. Daniel Martin was the speaker. Mrs. Jerome Smith conducted the next meeting, which was on safety, especially concerning young children.

The last session consisted of a panel of mothers and babysitters.

They were Mrs. Donald Bengel, Mrs. Duane Blatt, Miss Carol Fox and Miss Cindy Rademacher. The panel answered many questions from the class especially concerning babysitting etiquette.

The girls who enrolled in the course are: Gerry Droste (John), Patty Kellen (Herbert), Pamela Pfaff (Carl), Rita Pohl (Bernard), Sandy Riley (Gene), Rhonda Schaar (Robert), Mary Lou Schafer (Jerome), Marilyn Simon (Joe), Ann Marie Smith (James), Jo Lynn Spitzley (Daniel), Jane Spitzley (Daniel), GERALYN Thelen (Greg), Tammy Thelen (Delbert), and Wanda Thelen (Greg).

Local businessmen on moving spree

Moving operations have now been completed for two business operations in St. Johns. Herbert Houghton of Houghton Real Estate and Harold Green and Richard Hawks with State Farm Insurance were formerly located at 200 W. State Street.

Both of the firms have moved to 108 Brush Street, (formerly the Production Credit Office and The Federal Land Bank). Both function in separate offices and use jointly a front entrance and waiting room.

Houghton has been in the real estate business for three years and prior to that was in the lumber business for 16 years.

Green has been in the insurance field for 15 years and also operates a branch in Ovid.

The building at 200 W. State Street has been purchased by the Briggs Company and will be remodeled for their new office location. They plan to move from their present office at 103 E. State Street, around Aug. 1. Lanterman Insurance will also move to the new site from their location at 115 E. Walker Street. They will use office space at the east entrance to the building. New parking facilities will be made available at the new site for customer parking.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF BATH

TOWNSHIP BOARD REPORT
Regular meeting of the Bath township board was held July 7 at the township offices 14480 Webster Road.

Meeting was called to order by the Supervisor at 8 p.m. with all members present except trustee Morrill.

Minutes of the last regular and a special meeting of June 23 were read along with the minutes from the planning commission and the fire-police commission.

Mr. Flower of the Continental Casualty Co. was present and discussed insurance benefits available with the board.

Supervisor advised the board that he had ask for gasoline bids for the gasoline used by the police and fire departments. Underground storage tank was to be enclosed in the bids.

Board approved the preliminary plans of the Eyde development.

Board approved the final plans of the Merrylee Estates.

Board received two bids for drapes for the township offices and approved the bid from J. W. Knapp Co. of $526.67 for fireproof drapes. Bid includes installation of drapes.

Board asked supervisor to check the county road commission for signs on all primary roads showing 50 mile per hour speed limit on said roads which is a county wide base speed on primary roads. Also to check the possibility of having all roads in the township at 50 miles per hour.

Meeting was adjourned at 10:55 p.m.

Mr and Mrs F. R. Murphy of Columbus, Ohio, spent the weekend with their daughter and husband, the Justin Shepards.

A $20,000 prize awaits the inventor of a low-cost gadget to foil car thieves, as part of a unique effort to curb the nation's mounting toll of stolen autos.

The big prize will be awarded to the winner of the Popular Science Anti-Car-Theft Device Competition, sponsored by the Allstate Insurance Company. The device will be made available to all interested auto manufacturers as a public service, free of any licensing fee.

Popular Science Monthly and Allstate teamed up in this effort to do something about what the FBI calls the "costliest crime-involving property today," Donald C. Bolton, Allstate's Michigan regional manager, said in announcing the contest.

"Almost 800,000 cars were stolen last year and it is estimated that nearly a million autos will be illegally taken in the United States during 1969," Bolton said.

The competition seeks a device that could be installed in a car and effectively prevent its being operated or moved by unauthorized persons—yet it requires little or no active effort on the part of the operator.

To be eligible, a working model of the gadget must be submitted by December 31, 1969. Entrants do not have to build the model themselves. They can utilize a builder. Entries cannot infringe any existing patents.

Devices sought must be totally automatic. No type is ruled out except those that would constitute a safety hazard to owners or other motorists. Devices based on new concepts or those which can overcome drawbacks on existing key or combination-lock systems are sought.

For entry forms send stamped, self-addressed, return envelope to: Inventor's Competition, Popular Science Monthly, 355 Lexington Ave., N.Y. 10017.

Centennial 'highly successful'

The last hurrah!

Ovid residents were proud of themselves and their little metropolis last week when they staged what has been termed a "highly successful" centennial celebration.

Harold Beardslee, past bank official, had only praise for the events which the people of Ovid scheduled for the week long celebration. The grand finale parade was, in his words, "the finest event ever in Ovid."

One of the best parades in the entire area, the parade lasted nearly an hour and had a tremendous collection of old cars and horses, as well as the centennial queen and her court along with eight bands.

Beardslee continued to say that the cooperation of townspeople and businessmen is what made the centennial the success that it was.

Among invited participants unable to attend due to previous commitments was the St. Johns High School marching band.

Frost-free Refrigerator WITH Automatic Ice Maker

Willie Imudluk, who recently visited Michigan, really lives on the edge of the Arctic. Even though his family enjoys the convenience of a modern refrigerator, Willie nearly flipped his harpoon when he discovered the new frost-free model with the automatic ice maker. We know you will, too. The convenience of no more ice tray filling and spilling—the luxury of a never-ending supply of ice cubes, every man will appreciate. And what woman wouldn't like to forget that dreaded defrosting chore—the chopping, slopping and mopping—with a refrigerator that defrosts itself automatically? See the new frost-free refrigerator with the automatic ice maker today. You'll agree with Willie—it's fantastic!

Chain Reaction

With great ceremony, the boy gave the lead domino a gentle poke. A rapid series of sharp clicks proceeded down the line, paused briefly at a gap too large, then continued onward. Then, abruptly, everything was still.

He was tickled speechless. He clapped his pudgy hands together and gave me a big, proud smile.

Giving our faith to God is like pushing over that first domino. It starts a chain reaction—one that results in a richer life, greater happiness and a deeper confidence in ourselves and in the future.

Why not come to church this Sunday?

Let God start a chain reaction in your life.

Count the kernels

By GEORGE McQUEEN

Count the kernels of grain found on a square foot of ground to determine how many bushels of grain your combine is leaving in the field, says a Michigan State University Agricultural Engineer.

Professor Robert White explains that for every 18 to 20 kernels of wheat per square foot of ground, you can expect to be losing one bushel of wheat per acre. Losses for other grains can be calculated as follows:

Crop	Kernels Per Square Foot Equal One Bushel
	Loss Per Acre	Kernels Per Square Foot
Oats	10-12

Soybeans	4-5
Barley	13-15
Rye	21-24

To obtain a more accurate indication of the loss, Professor White suggests you take 10 or more samples at various spots across the full width of the swath cut by the combine. Then, he says, average the results. Be sure to include all kernels not shelled out of heads, and all heads lost by the cutter bar. Total results will include cutter bar, cylinder, rack and cleaning shoe losses.

"Average loss," the MSU agricultural engineer explains, "will vary greatly depending upon the type, variety and condition of the crop. Total losses in clean crops of wheat, oats, barley and rye will vary from approximately 1 to 4 percent of the total yield. When harvesting conditions are good, however, total loss should not exceed 1.5 percent."

ANOTHER TROPHY FOR GREEN MEADOWS FARM

Seasonal inspectors hired for Ag Dept.

Staff of the Fruit and Vegetable Inspection Service, Michigan Department of Agriculture, will grow from 30 to more than 130 as temporary inspectors are hired this summer to service Michigan's important fruit and vegetable growing industry.

The combined state-federal consumer protection service inspects Michigan's red tart cherry crop as it is delivered for processing. Apples and pears destined for export and certified seed potatoes are also inspected by law. While inspection of other crops is not legally required, 22 other commodities were checked last year at the request of growers, processors and receivers.

Accurate certification can save farmers money

Farmers who are participating in the wheat and feed grain programs can save money by being very accurate in certifying their crop acreages stated Nicholas Smith, Chairman of the Michigan Stabilization and Conservation State Committee. The deadline date for reporting the feed grain and diverted acreage and certifying to program compliance is July 15 for the southern part of the lower peninsula and August 1 for all counties in the northern part of the southern peninsula and in the upper peninsula.

Feed grain acreage and that they were in compliance with all program requirements. Approximately 12,000 of these farms were spot checked by county offices. These spot checks that less than 2% had reported their acreages incorrectly. Since local county ASCS offices will again be spot checking the participating farms this year, Chairman Smith advises the farmers to discuss any questionable items with the county office prior to certifying.

Foods keep longer and stay fresher in a clean refrigerator. That's right. It really pays to keep your refrigerator defrosted because it costs less money to run when the frost accumulation is low. Frost should never be allowed to get more than 1/4" thick. Some refrigerators have an indicator to show when you should defrost. You can help prevent excessive frost from forming if you keep all food and liquids covered. Less frost forms if you learn to remove everything you need in as few trips as possible and leaving the door open as short a time as possible. Frost accumulates much more rapidly on hot humid days than on cool, dry ones. Before cleaning and defrosting the refrigerator collect all the tools and supplies you'll need. These probably will include pans for washing and rinsing, a flat pan to collect the melted frost, (unless your refrigerator is equipped with a special drip pan), cleaning sponge or cloth and a drying cloth, baking soda and a detergent. Hot water speeds up the defrosting time and warm water will be needed for cleaning both the inside and outside. Turn off the refrigerator and remove all contents. Frozen foods can be packed in a cardboard box or a large pan and wrapped with several layers of newspaper or heavy towels or other clean cloth. Such wrapping serves as an insulation to prevent excessive thawing. This is the time to throw out any spoiled food you've forgotten about. Remove shelves and drawers so you can do a good job of cleaning them as well as the refrigerator walls. A pan of hot water under or in the freezer section speeds up the melting process. Never scrape or punch at the frost with a sharp instrument. It's too easy to damage the unit. Two tablespoons of baking soda to one quart of warm water is excellent for cleaning the inside. The soda helps remove any odors also. Soap or detergent should never be used on the inside of a refrigerator. Either tends to leave an odor. After a thorough rinsing and drying of the walls and shelves, foods may be replaced. Take time to clean the surfaces of jars and containers. Then the frost section can be cleaned. Ice cube trays should be washed with warm water each time the refrigerator is defrosted. Hot water and soaps tend to make ice cubes stick. The outside of the refrigerator can be cleaned with warm soapy water, thoroughly rinsed and dried with a soft cloth. Liquid wax on the outside helps a refrigerator stay clean longer.

North Bengal

By Mrs Wm. Ernst

In honor of the 15th wedding anniversary of Mr and Mrs Hilary Schmitt, the members of the Schmitt family gathered at their home for a surprise celebration of the event July 6. Those attending were Mr and Mrs Marvin Feldpausch of N. W. Dallas; Mr and Mrs Donald Schmitt and Mr and Mrs Herman Schmitt of Fowley; Mr and Mrs Richard Van Ellis of East Bengal; and the parents, Mr and Mrs Louis Schmitt. They had a 4 p.m. potluck dinner which featured an anniversary cake baked by Mrs Feldpausch. Music and cards formed the evening's entertainment.

Mr and Mrs William S. Ernst and family of Battle Creek were visitors of their uncle and aunt, Mr and Mrs William F. Ernst and Maxine from July 4 until July 6.

Mr and Mrs Rudolph Tiedt were guests for several days over the July 4 weekend of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr and Mrs Maurice Tiedt and family of Monroe, N.Y. They saw their new grandson, Daniel Dwayne, for the first time.

Bernice Sturgis of Detroit came July 1 to spend several days with her mother, Mrs Edna Watamaker.

Mr and Mrs Clare Moritz of rural Grand Ledge were visitors on July 4 of his parents, Mr and Mrs Louis Moritz and family. On July 6 Mr and Mrs Floyd Foeber and Sandra left on a two day trip to the Upper Peninsula. They visited places of interest at Sault Ste. Marie and Mackinac City where they spent Sunday night. They returned home Monday evening.

Callers at the William Ernst home on July 9 were Herman Noller of rural Hubbardston and his son, Paul Noller of Florida.

Three from Clinton visit Milk producers office

Three Clinton County youths were among 60 4-H leaders and members from throughout Michigan who received close-up looks at the intricacies of milk marketing during a visit last Thursday and Friday to the Michigan Milk Producers Assn. office in Detroit.

Attending the two day event were Larry Borton of Lansing, Dan Hayiland, DeWitt and Matthew Peck, Elsie.

In addition to the tour of MMPA the youth and adult leaders visited the large, ultra-modern Kroger Dairy in Livonia to learn about fluid milk bottling and the manufacture and packaging of other dairy products.

The real strength of our nation's land power lies in all of the dedicated individuals who proudly wear the Army green.

Shepardsville By Lucille Spencer

George Hoeve, a former resident of the Shepardsville area, passed away on June 29. His funeral was on Thursday from the Osgood Funeral Home in St. Johns. He was the brother of Henry Hoeve. He lived in the house now owned by the Dale Squiers family. When he lived in this area he attended the Shepardsville Church.

Mr and Mrs Duane Winelands and children have returned home after spending a few days fishing at Dickerson Lake near Stanton, Wayne Flegel and son, Marc along with his brother and brother-in-law are spending two weeks fishing about 100 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie. To reach their destination they had to travel by car, take a train and finally a boat.

The new minister, Rev Karl L. Ziegler, of the Price and Shepardsville United Methodist Churches, is doing graduate work at MSU, working towards an MA degree in Rehabilitation Counseling. This will also count toward the completion of his Master of Divinity degree from Seminary. He is an Ordained Deacon in the Detroit Conference where he is a probationary member.

Mr and Mrs Frederic Pirwitz and Mrs Robert Berthold and son, Robert and his friend, of Lake Mills Wisconsin were guests over the July 4 weekend of Mr and Mrs Charles Walker, Bill and Charles Jr. They returned home Sunday.

Mr and Mrs Richard Mead have returned to their home in St. Johns. Richard is recovering from an emergency appendectomy, and Mrs Mead spent a few days with her parents, Mr and Mrs Leo Deming, of Carland, while Richard was hospitalized in Owosso.

Give 1969 crop wheat certificate value

The 1969 crop wheat marketing certificate value will be $1.52 per bushel. It was announced by Chairman Nicholas Smith of the Michigan State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. This is 14 cents per bushel more than the value of the 1968 crop certificates. The certificate value is based on the difference between the July 1, 1969 wheat parity price of $2.77 per bushel and the 1969 crop National average loan rate of $1.25 per bushel. Certificate payments to farmers are based on projected production on 43 per cent of 1969 wheat acreage allotments.

Certificate payments totaling about $14 million will be made in the near future to Michigan wheat growers who participated in the 1969 wheat program. Smith said that certificate payments are made on that portion of the wheat expected to be processed for human consumption and pointed out that millers and others are required to purchase, as part of their cost, marketing certificates at 75 cents per bushel to cover the quantities processed for domestic food use. The remainder of the certificate payment is made up by the Government.

Certificate payments add substantially to the income Michigan farmers will receive from marketing their 1969 wheat crop, Smith said. The $14 million certificate payments, when related to the estimated production on the participating farms, reflects an average income of about 62 cents per bushel on each bushel produced by a cooperators as compared to 55 cents on eligible 1968 crop wheat. In determining total return per bushel for wheat, cooperators divide their certificate payment by their total production to get an average per bushel payment. By adding this to the price they receive in the market, participants in the program find their total return per bushel.

Wheat marketing certificates are authorized by the two-price wheat provisions of the Food and Agricultural Act of 1965. Under this law, farmers participating in the wheat program are guaranteed 100 per cent of wheat parity prices for their share of wheat used for domestic food. This substantially bolsters farm income for wheat while permitting support of market prices through loans at levels more competitive in world trade channels.

PVT. STANLEY J. FREUND
FT. GORDON, GA. (AHTNC)—Private Stanley J. Freund, 20, son of Mr and Mrs Clarence Freund, 14146 W. Price St., Westphalia, Mich., completed eight weeks of military police training at the US Army School and Training Center, Ft. Gordon, Ga., June 13.

He was trained in civil and military law, traffic control, map reading, prisoner-of-war control and self-defense.

FT. BENNING, GA. (AHTNC)—Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC) Cadet THOMAS L. ACKLES, 20, son of Mr and Mrs Vincent K. Ackles, 254 East Main Street, Elsie, Mich., is attending ROTC Basic Summer Camp from June 13 to July 24 at Ft. Benning, Ga.

The six-week encampment is a substitute activity for those cadets who did not take the first two years of college ROTC. The cadet will be trained in the principles of military leadership that he will study further in his last two years of military science. These principles will be the foundation of his career as an Army officer after he completes his ROTC requirements and is commissioned.

Cadet Ackles is attending Northern Michigan University.

Marine Lance Corporal WILLIAM D. ELY, of Route 1, Maple Rapids Road, St. Johns, Mich., participated in Operation Oklahoma Hills with the First Marine Division in Vietnam.

The operation was conducted by division units in the mountainous area 17 miles southwest of Danang to find the enemy forces and destroy their capability to strike against the Danang area.

His unit is also engaged in a civic action program designed to assist the Vietnamese people in completing self-help projects, such as the building of wells, culverts, small bridges and schools. Equipment and materials are made available through the Marine Corps Reserve Civic Action Fund.

Rescue vs. speed

In recent weeks comments have been passed our way relative to the merits and disadvantages of emergency vehicles being operated at speeds in excess of legal limits.

It seems only natural that in times of emergency we react quickly but in the case of emergency vehicles this haste does not replace alertness.

But aside from this type of emergency vehicle there are other vehicles which respond to critical situations with less warning equipment and in some cases at even greater speeds.

The danger of speeding emergency vehicles has long been recognized and while we see little hope for removal we support the exemption the vehicles have from posted speed limits.

Selections

A recent trip through the supermarket brought to our attention the enormous variety of breakfast cereals available to consumers and even though one little tyke nearby cried loudly for a specific kind we would have experienced difficulty in selecting if we had been in the cereal buying mood.

But in ambling up and down the aisles we were struck with the thought that this difficulty in selecting items for purchase has grown to be one of the tiny pressures exerted upon those of us who are members of this affluent society.

We can no longer buy a quart of milk, a car or a hat. We must first determine if the milk is homogenized, fat-free, high-protein or just plain pasteurized.

Anybody remember Witchhazel? Now there was a product that did everything from refresh the mouth to soften corns but through the years so many related items have been introduced to the market that Witchhazel is rarely mentioned.

Perhaps we are unable to make quick decisions, and if this be the case, we're in for some tough times. About the only thing they're thinning out these days are the ranks of the saints.

"I can't do the Negroes any good by quitting, said a man last week in explaining why he continues to belong to a Detroit club that limits membership to us pretty white folks.

TAKING FIVE About time

By RON HUARD

A few days ago marked the completion of my first year in St. Johns, a period of time which has passed with almost alarming swiftness.

In the fleeting months since then I have attained the point where faces and names more readily match up and activities, projects and developments throughout the entire Clinton County area are clearer and more vital to me.

I have found myself becoming more and more concerned with directions in which our area is moving and the year has provided several occasions for becoming involved with community activities.

For many years now I have had little time for residents of a community who fail to find areas where their interests and efforts could be put to use.

And that brings us back to the hasty passing of the last twelve months.

Winter was a little different only because it was so long you became bored with wishing and finally began finding something to do.

From those times to now each year seems to gain momentum in its flight into history and I sometimes am confident that, like our dollars, the days are dwindling in their size. They just aren't as long as they used to be.

out at gunpoint and gave his white customers axe handles to use on civil rights demonstrators.

Maddox is a first class example of all that is rotten in this country. His nomination is a horrible indictment of an entire state. It is even more sickening that the nomination of Mrs Wallace in Alabama which I previously thought had cinched the upchuck championship.

Waltner's oath as a candidate required him to support his fellow nominees. But he couldn't stomach Maddox so he quit. Weller admitted that his action probably didn't do the Negroes any immediate good.

I remember a day at a soda fountain in Port Huron, many years ago. I was with a Negro friend. The clerk gave me my ice cream in a dish. The Negro got his ice cream in a paper cup. He dropped the ice cream on the floor and walked out. I threw my ice cream on the clerk's apron and walked out.

It is easy for me to say I won't belong to any organization that restricts membership on the basis of race or religion. In the first place, I hate meetings and am an aggressive non-joiner.

In the second place, there are practically no Negroes in the Lapeer area. If any local organization wants to be the first in its block with Negro members, it will have to bus them in from Flint.

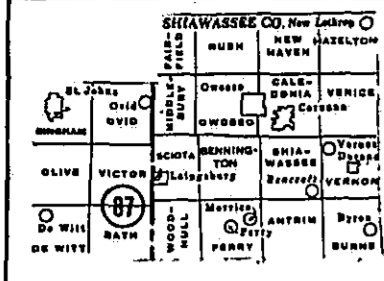

But I do belong to the Lapeer Country Club and a man asked what I'd do if 2 dozen Negro families tried to join. I am a long-time hardhead, dating back to fistfights with rednecks in a segregated army 22 years ago.

I would hope the men were lousy golfers and the women all looked like Lena Horne. I would hope they were nice people and I would hope that the directors processed their membership applications exactly the way they processed mine.

If the directors barred the Negroes because they were Negroes, or because it might make other members "uncomfortable," or any such 2-faced nonsense, I would resign and play golf somewhere else.

I see it this way: The vast majority of Country Club members are fine people. But, as in every large group, there are a couple of birds that bug the majority. The type that, maybe, curses the hired help in a loud voice, or tells everyone how rich they are. You know.

These are the guys I am always happy to see sit at another table. And if I can belong to the same club they do, I can darn well belong to one that admits Negroes.

View from the 87th

By WILLIAM S. BALLENGER
State Representative

The hotly-debated bill providing for expenditures from the $100 million recreational bond issue approved by the voters last November finally passed the Legislature last week after months of acrid debate. How does the bill look in its final form?

First, $70 million is to be spent by the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) in the following manner: $25 million for state recreational projects in or near urban areas, to be equally apportioned among seven specified regions of the state on a per capita basis; $24.3 million for parks; $11.7 million for fisheries; $6.3 million for wildlife projects; and $2.7 million for forest projects.

Of the $25 million to be spent on state recreational projects in seven specified regions of the state, I should mention that Shiawassee County is one of eleven counties in the Saginaw Valley and Thumb area in Region 5. Clinton County is one of twenty counties in central and southwestern Michigan in Region 4.

Secondly, $30 million is to be equally apportioned among the same seven regions on a per capita basis for grants, loans and advances to local units of government.

Local governments seeking grants must submit a recreation plan to the DNR and designate an official representative. Except for an initial priority list of local projects which will be submitted for legislative approval by September 10 of this year, no application will be approved until at least sixty days after the publication of guidelines by the Department, which must be made available to the local units no later than November 1, 1969.

(I might mention here that the initial priority list of local projects to be submitted for legislative approval this fall amounts to only $10 million—or 10%—of the state's full $100 million commitment. And on this tentative initial $10 million list is only one project in the 87th House District—Sleepy Hollow State Park in Clinton County. In the initial list, $390,000 in combined federal and state funds are requested for lake bed preparation and road construction in Sleepy Hollow.)

Local governments must bear at least 20% of project costs, whether grants are provided solely by the state or jointly by state and federal governments. However, up to 60% of the local share may be in designated goods and services.

All or part of the local share may be met by a loan or advance from the bond funds, which may be made without interest for one year and with interest equal to that being paid on the bonds thereafter, for a total period of no more than five years. Such loans or advances shall be secured by the local unit's income-tax rebate.

If a local project is not making reasonable progress within one year of approval, the Department may revoke such approval and make the allocated funds available for other local projects. For the 1969-70 and 1970-71 fiscal years, grants to local governments cannot exceed strict per capita allocations. But after June 30, 1971, local grant money not allocated to approved projects will be put into a regional fund for projects anywhere within the region; and after June 30, 1972, grant money still not allocated to approved projects may go to projects anywhere within the state.

For allocations to local units, methods of determining priorities among projects must be approved by resolution of the Legislature. In January and May of each year, the Department will submit priority lists of local projects. If such lists are neither approved nor rejected by resolution of the Legislature within 45 days, they will be considered approved. The Legislature may not add or delete projects, however, or change the priority order.

Residents of the 87th House District are also entitled to know how I voted on the various amendments offered to the $100 million recreational bond issue bill as well as on the bill itself.

The most important amendment offered on the bill was sponsored by Republican State Rep. Joseph Swallow of Alpena. This would have amended the bill to call for all $70 million to be administered by the Department of Natural Resources to go to parks, fisheries, and wildlife and forest projects and none at all to recreational projects in or near urban areas. Rep. Swallow contended that his amendment, if adopted, would "keep faith" with the public and enable the bill to pass in the form in which voters intended it to pass when they approved the recreational bonding referendum last November.

As I have publicly said I would, I supported the Swallow amendment, which narrowly carried and then was reconsidered and defeated.

I also supported another amendment, sponsored by Democratic State Rep. Jelt Sietsema of Kent County, calling for only $20 million (rather than $25 million) to be allocated for urban area recreational projects. Under Sietsema's amendment, $50 million would then be allocated for state parks, fisheries, and wildlife and forest projects (instead of only 45%). But the Sietsema amendment also lost.

I then voted for final passage of the bill—and I voted to give it immediate effect—even though it did not shape up the way I would have liked it to or the way I'm sure most sportsmen thought it would when they voted for it last November. But I'm not an obstructionist, and if 4/5 of a loaf isn't a full loaf, it's still better than no loaf at all! The fact remains that the $100 million for state recreation is needed—and it's needed now, not next year nor two or three years from now. And it just might turn out that both Clinton and Shiawassee Counties could fare better under the bill which passed than they could have under the so-called "pure" 70/30 formula.

Furthermore, the $25 million earmarked by the DNR for projects in or near urban areas was justified if for no other reason than that early department planning now before us shows that more than $20 million was to be spent by the DNR near urban areas, anyway.

But make no mistake about it: The bill that passed is a 70/30 bill, although it's modified in its allocation of the $70 million to the DNR from what most sportsmen and conservationists originally thought the $70 million was going to do.

88th District Representative

The 100 million dollar Recreation Bond bill is in near final form. The legislative fight to decide just how the money will be spent has been even more heated than last year's public fight over whether or not to approve the selling of the bonds.

The final result is a compromise and, as with all compromises, the question is this, "Will everyone be happy or will everyone be mad?"

Basically, the controversy involved last year's November voter approval of the spending and the change in Governors early this year. No doubt there would have been disagreement without the change; spending the public's money is never without controversy. Still you can't discuss the issue without bringing in Romney and Milliken.

Romney in speaking strongly in support of the bond issue had often said that the money should be split with 70% to the Department of Natural Resources and 30% to local governments. During the campaign the Department published pamphlets stating just how they intended to spend the money.

When it became obvious that Romney was leaving for Washington everyone assumed that "nice guy Bill Milliken" would simply follow the same plan. But Governor Milliken turned out to have ideas of his own. And much to the distress of many of us one of these ideas was that the critical situation in our cities was being overlooked in the planning for the distribution of the Recreation Bond money.

The hassle has boiled throughout this session and much of the time I have found myself on the opposite side of the Governor. But I have certainly come to admire his energy and determination. And in the end I think we have to admit that he has shown an admirable willingness to compromise.

The final bill allocates 70% to the Department of Natural Resources and 30% to local governments. But it insists that 25 million of the 70 million be spent for recreation projects "in or near urban areas."

It is not exactly what I wanted or exactly what most conservationists and sportsmen wanted. But it also is a long way from what the cities wanted! And, while I'm as willing as the next legislator to stand for the interests of my own district, I'm willing to admit the cities also have problems that need attention.

I voted for the bill but I won't argue with anyone who says we could have done it better. But I will argue with anyone who says Bill Milliken is not a man of integrity, determination, energy and great political skill. I hope in the future we're always on the same side!

Aims of new county planning group told

What is a county? In Clinton it means 16 townships including Bath, Bengal, Bingham, Dallas, DeWitt, DuPlain, Eagle, Essex, Greenbush, Lebanon, Olive, Ovid, Riley, Victor, Watertown, and Westphalia. St. Johns is located in Bingham Township south of M-21 and Greenbush Township to the north. If one looks at a county map the 16 township areas are divided into almost equal amounts of land, and perhaps this is the reason citizens can no longer consider themselves "removed or unconcerned about their neighbors." What Lebanon and Bath Townships accomplish or have as problems should be the concern of the entire county. All townships will play important parts in the future "over all" development of Clinton County. For this reason and to aid the entire county as a whole, the Clinton County Planning Commission was formed. However with expanded growth and various other commissions formed in the past, it can get a little confusing. Sometimes too many commissions can create too many cogs slowing down the progress of the wheel.

On Wednesday evening, July 9, the first public meeting of the newly formed Clinton County

Interest in the comprehensive plan within the county and regional planning commissions. They will keep the zoning commission and department of public works fully informed as to the county plan and of any changes therein and while this cooperation is essential the planning commission is in no manner expected to function directly on zoning and public works matters. It should be kept in mind that planning is a tool and process for achieving a community structure that affords good living and working conditions; provides adequate community services and utilities; and assures a sound and continuing base for the rendering of public services. The Planning Commission was established on April 15, by the Clinton County Board of Supervisors by ordinance pursuant to, and under the authority of Act 282 of the Public Acts of 1945, as amended.

The members were appointed by the County Board of Supervisors and individually represent important segments of the economic, governmental, social life and development of the county. The term of each appointment and the term of office of members of the commission shall be determined by resolution of a majority of the full membership of the county board of supervisors. Members of the commission will receive the same compensation and mileage, but not to exceed that provided for members of the Board of Supervisors ($20 for all day meetings, $10 for half-day and ten cents per-mile travel expense), except that ex-officio members shall serve without compensation. Those appointed to the board include Gerald V. Wilcox, chairman; Lawrence G. Sexton, vice-chairman; and Jane Smith, secretary-treasurer. Others are Dale Anderson, Almond Cressman, Roman Koenigsnecht, and Stanley Loznak. Ex-officio members are Walter Nobis, chairman of the Board of Supervisors; Paul Nobis, chairman of Road Commission; Dale Chapman, chairman Department of Public Works and Drain Commission; and Alden Livingston, chairman of zoning commission. Ernest Carter will serve as recording secretary. A film was shown to the group by Lloyd Campbell, USDA Soil Conservationist, on watershed management and what can be achieved in a county that makes proper use of topography in planning such items as erosion control and new highways. A question and answer period followed and refreshments were served. (Those attending would like to suggest that the Clinton County Planning Commission bring the cream and sugar next time they serve coffee.)

AREA DEVELOPMENT DISCUSSED

Peace Corps tests Saturday

Clinton County area residents interested in putting their skills to use in developing nations around the world are invited to take the Peace Corps Placement Test at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, July 19 at the Lansing Post Office.

The Peace Corps uses the Placement Test to determine how an applicant can best be utilized overseas. The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language, not education or achievement. The test requires no preparation and is non-competitive; an applicant can neither pass nor fail.

Persons interested in serving with the Peace Corps must fill out an Application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before the test. Application forms are available from post office or from the Peace Corps in Washington, D.C. 20525.

Fifteen thousand volunteers are currently serving in Asia, Africa, Latin America and the Pacific Islands, working with the people of those nations in self-help projects ranging from food production to health to education. More volunteers are needed for programs which will begin training soon.

Giving the ladies a run

Color craze sweeps St. Johns businessmen

Mom isn't the only one who is fashion conscious today. It's getting so she sits in the living room waiting for Pop, who is upstairs putting the final touches on his ensemble.

After talking to clothiers of the city, it seems apparent that the world of men's fashion is big business. No longer is the woman the apple of the fashion world's eye, but her better-half is stealing the show.

The racks of jackets and shelves of shirts are an array of color, not the ordinary black, brown and white as was the case a few years ago. Fashions are taking an about face from the stereotype businessman of the American scene.

Seldom do business firms require that office workers wear white shirts and ties today, but the rule is shirt and tie. The well dressed business man sports a bright green, blue or gold shirt. Plain and window-pane jackets in co-ordinating colors are also very vogue.

A man's clothing store is full of color. According to George Weber of Rehmann's Store, shades of bronze and green are the colors most popular. He also says that the most fashionable dress shirts are featuring an extremely long pointed collar. The button-down collar, he adds, is more the style for sports shirts.

Weber continued to say that knit mock turtle neck shirts are very "in", even worn with tuxedos. The knit shirts are also worn with a variety of sports coats and blazers. Very stylish for the men are the knit shirts worn with a color co-ordinated V-neck cardigan sweater.

Leo Snitgen of Holden-Reid, agrees that the colors are vivid for the man in today's society. A typical sports ensemble consists of a jacket and slacks with a dress shirt, probably colored, a sports shirt or a mock turtle neck. He says that "by the book" a tie is always proper and a must for a dressy occasion, unless the man wears a knit shirt.

Although the reaction by the men of this city seems to be somewhat hesitant, both merchants are sure that the color craze will soon be big business for businessmen. They agree, the biggest buying sect of the area are the young men from high school age up.

Bob Rehmann, St. Johns senior, says he thinks the older men will find the colors very attractive once they give them a try.

He says both of his grandfathers, about 70 years old, refused to accept the colored shirts concept. Then occasions arose that both men needed new dress shirts and clerks at Rehmann's convinced the gentlemen to purchase colored shirts which they did. Now reports are that the older gentlemen do like their bright shirts.

Weber claims that St. Johns businessmen seem to prefer light colored shirts. He says the local male citizens wear yellow, egg-shell (off white), or pale blue shirts more frequently than the vivid hued shirts.

Another fashion idea to brighten the shirt scene is matching shirts and ties. Colored shirts with ties in the same color or a shade darker or lighter are fashionable. Print or plaid shirts with identically matched ties are also very vogue.

Weber informs us that wide ties are a possible fall fashion hit with the youth clientele. Ties about three inches wide have been the accepted vogue with the men for some time now, but fall will see ties five and six inches wide. He said that they will be worn with large loose knots unlike the traditional Windsor knot. A new fashion highlight at Holden-Reid will be the fur coat. Predicted to be an exciting touch to the fall line of attire, the coat will be either synthetic or authentic fabric ranging in price from $30 to $500. Snitgen predicts that the younger set of men from this area will be the most interested in this fashion trend.

Both the clothes dealers agree that today, men's fashions are comfortable. In the past, tight fitting suits were the fashion. Now men much prefer loose fitting jackets, ties, shirt collars and even the sporty knit shirt for all occasions.

Weber indicated that wide tie clasps in style with the wide ties will be appearing in men's fashions. Due to the French and convertible cuffs on more shirts, manufacturers will be producing an enticing array of cuff links. The newest innovation in the links will be wrap-around style. A mesh-like cuff link clips over the edge of the cuff will be the style.

Although Mom has always been the fashion setter in the family, with the vivid colors and rampant imaginations of American Manufacturers, it seems evident that her better-half will be stiff competition from now on.

How do you react to various colors?

The primary function of the commission is to make a plan for the development of the county and help and advise farmers, developers, industry, and commercial enterprises. They will make use of maps, plats, charts, and all other pertinent and descriptive explanatory matter which shall show the commissions recommendations for the county. The commission will make careful and comprehensive studies of the existing conditions and the probable growth within the boundaries of the county. They will also make studies, investigations, and surveys relative to the economic, social and physical development of the county and form plans and make recommendations relative to this development. They will coordinate the plans of the federal, state and local agencies involved in the economic, social and physical development of the county.

What is your favorite color? If your answer is yellow or yellow-orange then we have a beginning for communication, for yellow is a favorite of mine. Like-sunshine is yellow, for bright days and happy happenings.

You and I may not be always aware of it but we do have a continuing emotional reaction to color. A grey day depresses us, a rosy glowing sunset fills us with delight. Often we use names of colors to express our emotions. Haven't you noticed?

We "see red" - "feel blue", often we are "green with envy" or "purple with rage". We also experience "black despair" - "get bogged down with red tape" - "see the world through rose colored glasses". A "doer" type will be attracted to the excitement of red and warm colors, the quieter, more calm person will respond to blues and the cooler shades. "The homemaker who selects neutrals", one color authority explained, "is probably calm and self contained and enjoys a quiet, well ordered background."

But blue, red and green are at the top of the consumer color preference list - and in that order! Explanation? Well according to the experts, red is positive, blue is tranquil and green provides a balance between the two.

How about you? Want to inject more color drama in your home? Here is a color personality outline which can help you make choices which will be the true reflection of you.

PERSONALITY COLOR OUTLINE
Blues: Usually takes top place in color preferences in general. The blue personality is apt to be very sensitive, a responsible person with a conservative nature.

Greens: A color of wide appeal, cool, fresh and comforting in its beauty; the "green" personality is usually a respectable neighbor, home builder, parent and good citizen.

Blue - Greens: (Aqua, turquoise) Usually indicated an exacting and discriminating personality, likely to have wit and flair.

Reds: The most positive color and shows a warm, aggressive and vigorous personality.

Pinks: A color that tells of love and affection. As a color preference among women it often relates to wealth, social advantage and a sheltered life.

Oranges: (Melon) The orange personality is very social by nature and able to get along with all types of people.

Brown range: (Tobacco, rust) These relate to the earth colors and those to whom it appeals are usually sound, substantial people.

Warranties Put More Responsibility on Car Owners

Keith Shafley, salesman for Hettler's Motor Sales located on E. State St., invites you to come out and look over the '69 Demos they have on Special. Great cars to look at—great to drive, too. Hettler's has one waiting for YOU!

While some controversy rages over new car warranty provisions for 1969 cars, there is one area in which there is agreement. The motorist will bear more responsibility for keeping his car in condition.

Actually, even with the more liberal warranties of previous years, routine yet important maintenance was always the responsibility of the new car owner. However, in many instances the owner lulled himself into believing the warranty was a pay-all in case of trouble. This is not the case.

The major difference in 1969 new car warranties lies in the length of time most parts (excluding tires and tubes) are covered. New provisions call for 12-month or 12,000 mile coverage. In 1968, the warranty called for two-year or 24,000 miles.

Still intact is the five-year or 50,000-mile protection on components generally referred to as the drive train. (Items like internal engine parts, transmission, rear axle and differential.)

To protect their warranties, motorists must do the following:

1. Change engine oil and oil filter and clean the filler cap at periods specified by the manufacturer. (Typically, every six months or 6,000 miles.)
 2. Clean the carburetor air filter and replace it at specified intervals. (Usually, six months or 6,000 miles for cleaning; 24 months or 24,000 miles for replacing an eight-cylinder engine — 12 months or 12,000 miles for six-cylinder engines.)
 3. Service the crankcase emission control system every six months or 6,000 miles and replacing the emission control valve every 12 months or 12,000 miles. Parts must be cleaned or replaced when needed.
 4. Replace the engine coolant at recommended intervals. (Typically, every two years.)
- Other owner responsibilities for service are vital to good operation but no time periods are specified.

One such item is tune-up including replacing spark plugs, points and condenser. Common recommended tune-up procedure is every 10,000 miles. Other typical services that are the motorists' responsibility, include the following:

Wiper blades, brake servicing including linings, lubrication, aligning of lights and front wheels, wheel balancing and other car components which are subject to normal wear.

Sports Car Roar From Sedan May Signal Trouble

Has your family sedan started to develop a sports car "rap"? Instead of taking it to Watkins Glen or Lemans, better check your exhaust system. That deep-throated roar under the chassis undoubtedly means your exhaust system is defective.

Not only might it earn you a traffic ticket for making too much noise but it could mean a death sentence for you and your family. A leaky exhaust is a potential source of lethal carbon monoxide.

When you hear a noisy exhaust, head straight for your favorite service outlet. Better yet, have a mechanic check your exhaust system next time your car is on the hoist.

Helpful Tips on . . .

How to Get More Miles Per Gallon

Two drivers of the same automobile may get different gas mileage due to the differences in driving habits. Other factors include driving conditions and mechanical condition of the automobile.

It costs almost 50% more to drive 80 mph than it does to drive 50 mph. Cost of driving 60 mph is 25% higher than cost of driving 30 mph.

- Wet driving conditions: Slowing down under wet or snowy conditions conserves fuel. Wet pavement can reduce mileage by 1 mile per gallon.
- When parked, turn off engine. One minute of idling uses more fuel than restarting the engine.
- Starting and stopping. Avoid "jack rabbit" starts, sudden stopping and racing on the green light.
- Windy conditions. Drive slower if you're interested in better fuel economy.

Here are some suggestions on care and mechanical condition of your car for better fuel economy:

- Use good grade of gasoline recommended by the manufacturer of your automobile.
- Be sure the thermostat isn't stuck in the open position. A warm-running engine is more efficient (uses less fuel) than a cold-running engine.
- Be sure tires are inflated properly.
- Balance and align tires.

Beware! Slippery Roads

Summer showers, especially after a long dry spell, can make road surfaces as slippery as winter ice, a special safety bulletin issued by the Rubber Manufacturers Association warns.

The danger of skidding is greatest, says the trade group, during the first 15 to 30 minutes after it starts to rain; up to an hour or more in a light drizzle.

This is due to the little-known fact that rain tends to float up onto the road surface a greasy film of oil, gasoline and rubber residue which becomes a treacherous ice-like lubricant between the tires and the road until enough rain falls to wash it away.

The possibility of an accident on a wet road, says the Association, is between 5 and 10 times as great as on a dry road, in terms of the likelihood of a skid and loss of control of a car. In terms of stopping distance, it may take up to four times as far to stop on a wet road as a dry road.

TIMING VITAL

Have you ever wondered why proper timing is so important to good performance? According to Champion Spark Plug Company, being only five degrees overadvanced in timing can cut 35 horses off a 200 horsepower engine.

Also, for every three degrees of overadvance, engine octane requirements can rise four units.

Hold It, Mister, Your Battery May Be Okay

Blaming starting trouble on the battery can be like blaming a broken leg on bone failure. In both cases, something is wrong but something other than the affected part is causing the problem.

A well-maintained battery that hasn't outlived its usefulness should not cause starting problems. More likely some other electrical component is at fault and is draining the battery power. For example, faulty wiring, worn spark plugs or malfunctioning distributor may be overworking the battery during starting.

As a result the battery wears down to a point that it may seem dead. The alert service man will look beyond the battery as the cause of the starting failure, especially when he is reminded to do so by the customer.

To keep your battery in top operating condition, here are some pointers: A quick visual inspection every time you gas up and a voltage test every six months should assure you maximum efficiency battery life.

It's a simple job for the service attendant to check battery water level and condition of cables and terminals. This should be done at least once a week to guard against premature deterioration.

Get your car ready for vacation time with tires and a checkup at St. Johns Automotive and Tire Discount Center. Owner-operator Dean Fosmoe will personally see to it that you're ready for the highway. Stop in soon. You'll go away pleased.

Finger Tip Service is Available As Good Car Care Comes In Cans

Last year the U.S. Motor Vehicle Bureau registered over 80 million passenger cars, and that number is increasing every year with a total of 114½ million predicted for 1985.

Cars need care, and the Aerosol Division, Chemical Specialties Manufacturers Association, lists dozens of products now packaged in spray form to do the various jobs needed to keep your auto in the best possible running order.

The place to start your car care is under the hood, with an aerosol engine cleaner. A de-rusting spray will loosen nuts and bolts and remove any rust, and a carburetor and choke cleaner will spray away the carbon buildup.

You can stop here if you wish, or go on with some of the protective items that help keep the motor and other working parts in condition.

A high-heat engine enamel, specially made for cars, will make the oldest engine look factory-fresh, and also provide protection against rust and weathering.

You can also buy aerosol coating for your battery terminal, fan belt and ignition system which will cut the wear and tear on these parts, saving you some costly repairs and a lot of annoyance.

Now you can turn your attention to protecting and prettifying the outside of the car. Your de-ruster is handy here too, for loosening nuts on the wheels. Has the paint been marred or scraped? You can buy touch-up paint to match almost any U.S.-made car, a lot cheaper than a body-shop paint job.

A combination cleaner/wax will save you the time and trouble of scrubbing the car, and for a really high sheen, use your cleaner/wax first and spray over it with plain auto wax. Then spray a chrome protector on your fenders and all your car care, except perhaps to drive to the service station and fill up the tank.

Aerosols can handle almost station and fill up the tank.

Campers Stretch Vacation Budget For Families

Budget stretching savings for the family figure high in the rising popularity of vacation by campers.

Figure it out, say those who know. Motel rooms might average $18 a day, meals $20. That's $532 for two weeks.

Vacationing in a camper, the family has brought along its own comfortable sleeping facilities, its own efficient kitchen, as well as a daytime living room and unlimited mobility.

Versatility of Design Paves Way for Tailoring Outfit to Your PleasureBoating Riding Crest of Recreational Wave

Pleasure boating is riding wave — both in quantity and joying better equipment more the crest of the recreational quality. More people are en- often than ever.

In just ten years, reports Johnson Motors, the world's largest manufacturer of outboard motors, the number of recreational boaters has mushroomed from 27 million to more than 42 million.

Last year, boaters from Northern Maine to Southern California, from Anchorage to Key West, all through Canada, spent $3-billion on everything from powerful high-horsepower outboard motors to rope ("line" in marine jargon) and fuel.

They got their money's worth. The modern outboard is no last-minute brainchild of a backyard inventor, glued together in a garage as a sort of semi-vocation.

20th Century Technology

It is, instead, an intricate piece of Twentieth Century technology, often designed with the help of computers, always years in development.

Take Johnson's new 115-h.p. outboard for 1969. Engineers with college degrees on their office walls and grease under their fingernails designed and tested prototypes for years, eventually settling on a design

Periodic Brake Checks Easy

Brakes, like all-day suckers, have a habit of wearing away slowly. So, it's a good practice to test your brakes periodically to make sure they can stop your car safely.

Every week, test the hydraulic system by firmly pressing your foot against the pedal. If the pedal moves gradually towards the floorboard, you are losing vital pressure. Have the problem corrected immediately.

Periodically, test stopping ability in a flat, open area where no other cars or obstruction are present. Accelerate to 30 miles per hour, then apply the brakes with your hands off the steering wheel. If the car pulls to one side, you may have brake trouble.

Overheating Can Be Forestalled By These Checks

While most cars made today have cooling systems that are "sealed" in the factory, a wise motorist still takes precautions against engine overheating. Here are some basic precautions to take to make sure your car keeps its cool.

Test the anti-freeze to make sure it hasn't lost its rust-inhibiting elements. If it has, drain and flush the cooling system before installing new anti-freeze.

Test the condition and tension of all drive belts as well as radiator hoses. Check the radiator and hoses for leaks. Also check pump gaskets and tightness of the pulley hub on the water pump.

Check to see that there is no foreign matter on the cooling fins and that the overflow tube is not obstructed.

In cleaning your windshield, don't forget the inside. Tobacco smoke can put a film of residue on the glass and distort vision. So, if you smoke, periodically clean the windshield with a window washing solvent.

Car Care Cuts Air Pollution

What Helps Here Also Saves Money for Auto Owner

Good car care takes on added importance these days — to you, your pocketbook, and the air you breathe. This is especially so if you own a car built during the past seven years, according to the American Petroleum Institute.

If your car is a 1963 or later model, it is equipped with a device to control pollutants that would otherwise come from the engine crankcase. If you own a 1968 or 1969 model, it also has a system for reducing tailpipe emissions.

These devices and systems, however, will continue to work properly — and, what's more, allow the engine to perform satisfactorily — only if you have your car checked regularly. A periodic tune-up will save you money in fuel and repair costs, give you a smoother running car, and help cut down on air pollution.

1963: Crankcase Controls

The first device to control automotive pollution was installed nationally in all 1963 cars. The device — called the "positive crankcase ventilation," or PCV valve — was designed to recirculate unburned hydrocarbons back to the engine where they have another chance to burn.

Formerly, these unburned gases (called blowby gases) escaped past the piston rings into the crankcase, where they were vented into the air. Installation of the PCV device cut total hydrocarbon emissions from the typical car by 24 per cent, compared with cars without the device.

The PCV valve will continue to do its job in controlling hydrocarbon emissions if it's periodically inspected and serviced as required under your car warranty. Otherwise, you may be in for trouble. Over a period of time, crankcase fumes tend to build up gums or varnishes. These could cause the valve to stick and not function.

1968: Exhaust Controls

The second significant step in automotive pollution control occurred, nationally, with the installation of exhaust control systems, beginning with 1968 cars. These systems are designed to control both hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide emissions.

In most 1968 and 1969 cars, the exhaust control system is based on modification of the engine to achieve a lean fuel mixture and retarded ignition to produce higher combustion temperatures.

Cuts Carbon Monoxide

These exhaust control systems, together with the PCV valve, reduce total hydrocarbon emissions about two-thirds.

These systems are thus very effective in reducing tailpipe emissions but they make regular maintenance all the more essential. Here's why:

- Your spark plugs run hotter and may have to be replaced more often.
- Only periodic tune-ups can keep the pollution control system and its parts (air pumps, pump drive belts, air hoses, and other hardware) working at top efficiency — both to insure satisfactory and economical engine operation and to minimize exhaust emissions.

The auto and oil industries are continuing to work to further reduce auto pollution. The 1970 models will have improved exhaust controls to reduce hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide emissions by some 30 per cent below the levels of the 1968 and 1969 models.

Whether your car is old or new, it will perform better, last longer, cause less air pollution, and — most important — save you money in the long run, if you make sure it receives proper, regular care.

An untuned car is horns in your ears.

Horns in your ears . . . a missed appointment . . . a tow-truck ride . . . a pounding head and a lot of other things to spoil your driving. That's what an untuned car is.

Untuned car trouble results from old worn spark plugs in an untuned engine. The cure is quick and effective. It's a Champion Tune-Up: a new set of Champion spark plugs plus other basic tune-up items you may need.

You'll feel the difference pronto. Trouble-free starting. Quicker acceleration for safer highway passing. More power. Dependable performance. And an average saving of over a gallon of gas per tankful—proved in United States Auto Club certified tests.

For trouble-free driving, get a Champion Tune-Up now—and every 10,000 miles. Because an untuned car is trouble!

The heart of a tune-up

Tune Up for More Fun Before Starting on Vacation

Lloyd Harris owner of Harris Oil Co. and Roger Moore take good care of their customers when they come in for Zephyr gasoline the performer. When vacation driving it's important to have the best gasoline in your automobile. So stop in and be sure of your mileage with Zephyr.

Put More Trouble-Free 'GO' into Your Trip into the Great Outdoors

Look at your vacation snapshots from last year. How many show your family stopping at a filling station to get gas?

If the answer is none, then it would appear that buying gasoline is not one of your most memorable vacation memories. Necessary, yes; fun, no.

Champion Spark Plug Company has come up with a way to put more fun and less funds in your summer outing. An engine that is expertly tuned before the trip can mean gasoline savings that assure you fewer stops for fuel and more money saved to spend in your vacation enjoyment.

As an extra bonus, a tune-up will give your car more power to pass and surer starting on cool or damp mornings.

To measure the value of a well-tuned engine, Champion conducted a three-nation, six month study of car performance last year. Using a portable dynamometer on cars in the U.S., Mexico and Canada, the tests revealed the following:

Average fuel savings between cars in need of tune-up and a tuned car were 8.2 percent for the tuned car. With a change in spark plugs alone average savings were 6.2 percent. Translated into motorist benefits, that's considerably better than a free gallon of gas per tankful. Or being able to drive an extra distance between fuel stops.

Improvement in passing power was also dramatic. A tuned car passes in 9.8 percent less distance than a car in need of tune, the tests showed. With new plugs alone, passing efficiency increased by 6.6 percent.

Engine power output increased 10.4 percent after the engine was tuned and 6.6 percent when new spark plugs were installed without other tune-up services.

Tune-up is just one service that will make your vacation trip trouble-free and enjoyable.

Camping-Boating for Outdoor Fun

You won't have any traffic problems this summer when you go over the waves for a boat camping vacation. Throughout the country, increasing numbers of families are discovering there's more fun to be had by land and by sea.

"Camping by boat can bring much pleasure to the whole family who will enjoy seeing their campsite and its environs from this new vantage point," comments Jack Hamilton, boating and camping expert at the Thermos Division of King-Seeley Thermos Co., the company whose outdoor living products are so familiar to those who take to the woods and to the waterways.

"It's a life that comes easy once you know the ropes," adds Hamilton. "For instance, how do you pick a campsite? There are thousands of public campgrounds dotting the United States and many of them are located along boating waterways.

Choose Spot First
"First decide what your family likes best. Do they fancy mountains, deep woods or beaches? You can be certain there's a campground to suit their preference whether it's public or the family's own discovery in virgin country.

"By day, they'll delight in the pleasures of boating — water travel, fishing, swimming and snorkeling. At night, they'll have the fun of camping ashore. Many boat buyers purchase trailers that carry their craft anywhere a car will go.

"Launching ramps are a common sight throughout the country these days. All you have to do is trailer your boat to a waterway, launch her from the ramp, lock your car and away you go on your cruise."

For information on public camps, write the State Conservation Department in whatever state you're planning to camp. It will probably be the best six-cent investment you'll ever make. They'll send you maps, lists of lakes and rivers with campsites and information on the facilities at the camps. The National Parks will provide you with valuable information, too.

Snapshots Add New Dimension To Boating Fun

Snapshots add a new dimension to boating fun, but there are a few photographic bugs that should be guarded against — overexposure — water reflects far more light than ground surfaces.

Use fast shutter speeds — 1/100th or 1/200th of a second — and don't brace against the boat because it's moving all the time. Watch out for water on the lens, too; even one drop can spoil the picture.

Finally, warns the Johnson Motors News Bureau, protect that camera from the jarring it'll probably get in the boat. Be sure to secure the camera, and not to leave it loose and unprotected on the boat seat.

RANDOLPH'S SPEEDY CAR WASH

Randolph's Speedy Car Wash, owned by Mr & Mrs Dale Randolph, is located on South US-27 and is open 24 hours a day to serve you. Always room for everyone-12 bays in all, including one automatic car wash. The automatic washes, rinses, and waxes your car in only two minutes for just $1.00. There's also a machine to give you change and a chamois machine for your convenience. Anytime you need a carwash, Randolph's Speedy Car Wash is the answer to your problem.

EGANS ENLARGED SERVICE DEPARTMENT

At Egan's they can take even better care of your car when you bring it in to be serviced because of their newly enlarged service department. They have come a long way since the fire in January, so stop in and see for yourself. They still have the same friendly service you have been enjoying all these years.

Race Drivers Point Up Importance of 'Belts'

Young people, supposedly at odds with the older generation, have at least one area of agreement with their parents. Both are ignoring the life-saving use of car seat belts.

Champion Spark Plug Company, through its Highway Safety Program, queried nearly 12,000 high school seniors on seat belt wearing habits. In cars equipped with belts, well under 50 percent use the restraining devices.

Only 14.8 percent said they always use belts. Another 29.8 percent said they used them most of the time. The biggest percentage, 37.5, said they seldom used belts. Some 17.7 percent said they never used seat belts.

There was little difference in use between boys and girls, with less than a percentage point difference in their answers.

In addition to youngsters driving cars equipped with seat belts but not using them, large percentages are driving cars which have no seat belts. Of those driving their own cars, less than half of the vehicles are equipped with belts. Over 63.6% of all cars, including those belonging to parents, were equipped with belts.

The students' failure to wear seat belts was not because of their failure to recognize the consequences, the survey found. Almost two-thirds of them identified not wearing belts as a major contributing cause to traffic fatalities.

Estimates by the National Safety Council show that about one out of five fatalities could have been avoided if seat belts were being worn.

According to J. R. McGeorge, Champion's Public Relations Manager and Director of the Highway Safety Program, "In our presentation to school groups we have Indianapolis race drivers stress the responsibilities as well as the skills of operating a car.

"A race driver would no more think of operating a car without a seat belt than he would without a steering wheel," McGeorge said.

First Test Track LANGUAGE LESSON Built in 1915

Proving grounds were introduced by the industry in 1924. But what probably was the first test track designed specifically to test and evaluate production vehicles was built by a Detroit auto maker back in 1915. A half-mile planked track circled a steel-fabricated "hill" more than 40 feet high, which cars had to climb prior to leaving the factory.

If your travels take you to French Canada or Mexico this summer, Champion Spark Plug Company offers a few automotive phrases that may come in handy.

Spark plugs are "bougie" in French and "bujias" in Spanish. Gasoline is "essence" and "gasolina," tires are "pneu" and "pneumatico," brakes are "frein" and "freno," respectively in French and Spanish.

We see warning signals every day of our lives, whether at work, at home or on the road. How many do YOU take heed to?

To be a safe driver you must take heed to warnings when you are faced with them. If you don't your family might be having supper alone tonight because you won't be able to make it. You might just have an accident and have to spend the evening elsewhere.
