Sen. Lockwood defends political patronage

ROY (JACK) ANDREWS

By RON KARLE

State Sen. Emil Lockwood, R-Elm Hall, took a swipe last week at Roy (Jack) Andrews, a Democrat and Clinton County branch manager of the secretary of state's office for the last 15 years.

Lockwood, in St. Johns campaigning for the Republican nomination as secretary of state, also advocated the long-standing policy of political patronage as practiced by Democrat James M. Hare who is retiring after 16 years in the job.

Lockwood said a suit seeking civil service status for branch managers was instigated two years ago and still is unsettled. He said Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, a Democrat, has defended Hare's position, "but I wonder what he'll do if the Republicans should win the office," said Lockwood.

Lockwood argues that it is more economical to run the branches under the present system and that it would be political suicide to oppose it.

Under the present system, branch managers are appointed by the secretary of state and are usually members of his political party. In return, the branch managers in the past have supported the secretary both politically and financially.

In recent years the branch managers have made sizable contributions to Hare's political campaigns, Hare, a leading vote-getter for the Democrats has passed on many of these contributions—up to $100,000 in an election year—to party coffers.

"It's more economical to operate this way," said Lockwood. He said under the present system no overtime is paid and there are no year-around employees, as there would be if the branch managers came under civil service.

"It might be that in some areas you might not find a Republican who would want the job," said Lockwood. "But it is inconceivable that with two equally competent people that the party man wouldn't get the job.

"It's just the way politics works," he added.

When asked if it might be possible for a candidate to rise above political considerations and, in fact, gain much good will and mileage by opposing political patronage, Lockwood replied:

"You'd get such good mileage, you would never get nominated at the convention."

If elected, Lockwood said he would confer with local party leaders concerning their choice for branch managers in their area but that he wouldn't let party people dictate a choice.

"I want to run the shop," he said.

If elected, Lockwood left little doubt that Andrews would no longer be branch manager in Clinton County.

Andrews, a member of the county board of commissioners from DeWitt, runs the branch out of his sporting goods store in St. Johns.

Lockwood produced a copy of a "mistakes report" which he said was issued by Hare's office. It ranked the Clinton Branch 34th among 54 branches grossing between $5,000-$10,000 annually.

The report said the branch made 51 mistakes during the first six months of 1968. The number of mistakes for the period for the 54 branches in this category ranged from three to 123. Lockwood did not indicate what kinds of mistakes these were.

"If that's a 1968 report, it's as outdated as a T-Model Ford," responded Assistant Secretary of State Walter Elliott when informed of Lockwood's figures.

He said errors can range "from not picking up a title to not dotting an 'i'."

Elliott said the latest report on the branch offices, dated July 16, 1970, ranked Andrews' branch No. 25 in the state out of a total of 230 branches.

He said in the period between April 28 of this year and May 12, Andrews' branch handled 371 transactions and nine were returned for an average of 2.43 per cent.

The No. 1 branch in the state, Ferndale, with 1,229 transactions, had 23 returns for an average of 1.87 per cent.

No. 230 in the state was Ahmeek which had 14 transactions and three returns for an average of 21.42 per cent.

Elliott said the system is now computerized and each branch is periodically reviewed by civil service people. He said if there is a problem at a branch, the manager is assisted to work out

Unfair practice suit filed against Ed Board

The DeWitt Education Association (DEA) announced Monday that it had filed unfair labor practice charges against the DeWitt Board of Education over the group's failure to obtain permission from the board to have certain financial reports.

Raymond Unger, spokesman for the DEA, said in a prepared statement that his group was filing charges due to the board's refusal to release school district financial reports and "pertinent faculty salary information."

"We have requested the information on two occasions," Unger said. "Once across the negotiating table and a second time through a registered letter sent to the Supt. of Schools, James Ritchie."

Unger said that Michigan school laws make the request for information open to the public.

"Decisions by the Michigan Employment Relations Commission indicate that boards of education have the statutory duty to release information of this nature to education associations," he said.

He said that teachers had asked for a list of faculty members and their teaching salaries for the 1969-70 school year.

Also under request were the salary schedule step and the insurance paid by the board for each teacher.

Reached by telephone Monday afternoon, Ritchie said that he had not been informed of the charges.

Ritchie said that one day, while he was away from his office, a member of the DEA came in and wanted this information.

Ritchie indicated that the secretary told the teachers she was not authorized to give such information out.

"I later told them that I would have my staff work on gathering this information for them if they would foot the bill," he said. "They said no."

Ritchie commented that he did not feel it to be his responsibility to gather the information for the group.

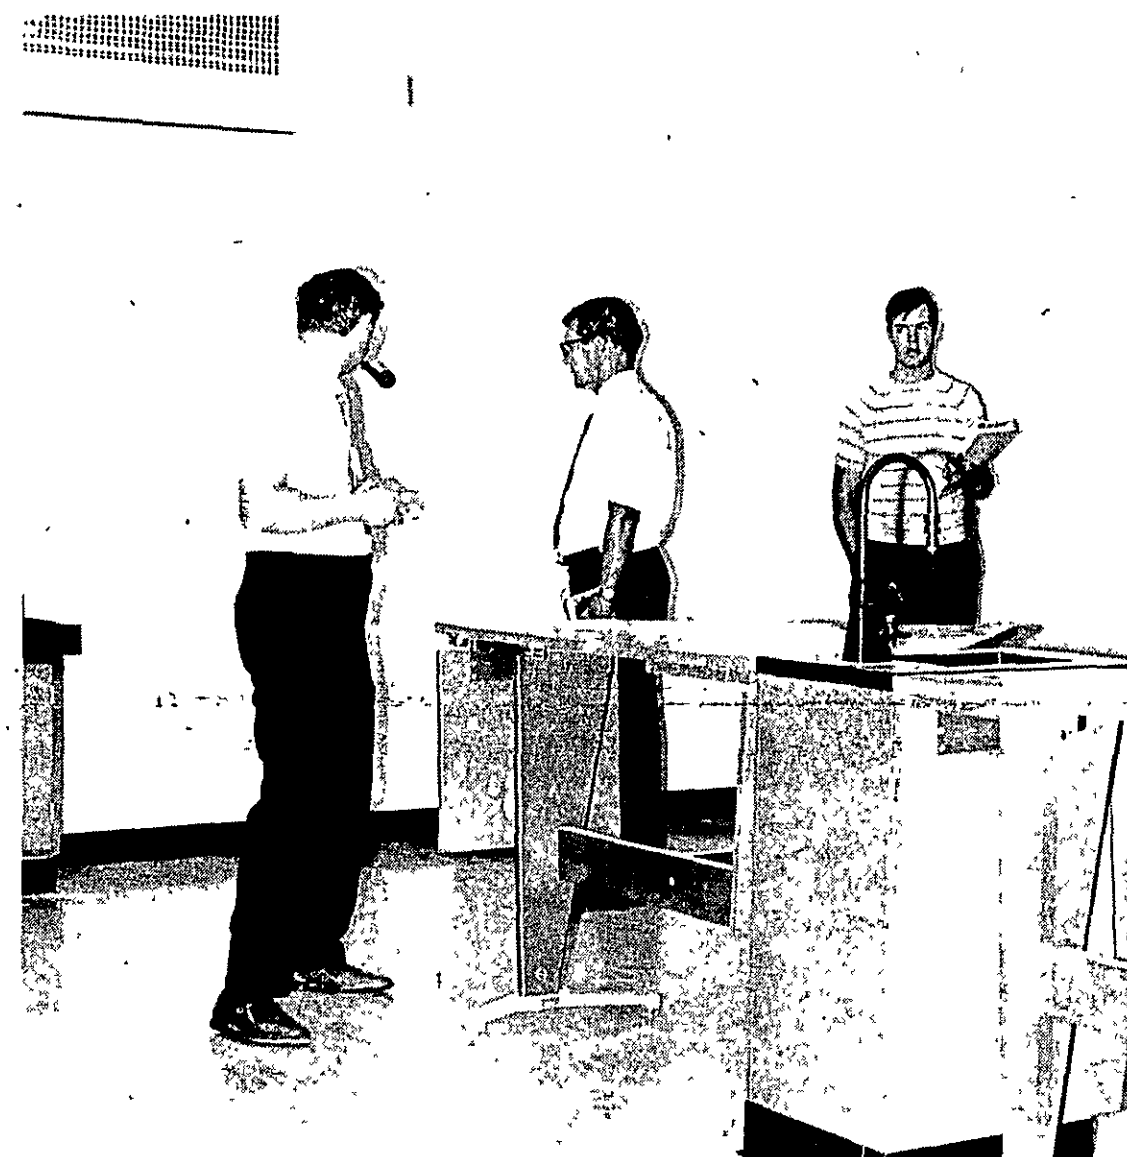

"I suppose that legally they can get it the way they are going about it," he said.

He indicated that if he was presented with a court order demanding the records, he would be obliged to hand them over.

"I think that they know their own members and they should keep their own records," Ritchie said. "It would seem reasonable for them to ask each teacher to fill out a card as to salary, extra pay and the step schedule," he added.

He said that he did give them a "Form B" which contained the gross amounts for the school system. "But they wanted the individual records," he said.

Despite the outcome of the charges, Ritchie said that the current teacher contract negotiations "will go on as normal."

DeWitt School Supt. James Ritchie, center, points out a flaw in the wall paint in the new Middle School science wing. Listening to the complaint are William Kane, left, of Manson-Jackson and Kane architectural firm and the school's principal Jack Enderle, right.

Rodriguez convicted in accident

By TIM YOUNKMAN

Pedro R. Rodriguez, 19, of Ovid and formerly a St. Johns resident, was convicted of involuntary manslaughter Tuesday in Shilawassee County Circuit Court resulting from a triple fatality accident April 26.

Rodriguez, who refused a jury trial, heard the verdict delivered by Judge Michael Carlund at the Corunna courthouse.

Carlund announced that sentencing would take place Aug. 3. In the meantime, Rodriguez was returned to the county jail, although a bond was set at $15,000.

Rodriguez was found guilty in the deaths of Frank L. Worden, 22, and his wife, Beverly, 21, both of Owassee, and Mrs. Gall Johnson, 21, of Ovid. Also injured in the mishap was Gary Luce, 36, of Ovid.

Lockwood, Senate majority leader and a Republican from Elm Hall in Gratiot County, is seeking his party's nomination for secretary of state.

After visiting the courthouse, Lockwood met with local people in the new air-conditioned vehicle which sleeps six, making it an asset in his state-wide campaign.

He has represented the 30th Senatorial District, which includes all of Clinton County for the last eight years—six of them as Republican leader in the senate.

Running unopposed for Lockwood's seat in the August primary election is State Rep. William Ballenger, R-Ovid.

"He's going to be the next senator," said Lockwood, "and I think he'll do an excellent job. He's done a good job in the House." Ballenger will be opposed by Cederic Root, a Democrat from Vermontville, in the November general election.

Lockwood would not indicate his preference in other races where Republicans were in opposition.

In commenting on the race for Ballenger's seat in the 87th House District, Lockwood said he was most familiar with Doug Tresize, of Owassee.

"I have a lot of respect for Doug Tresize," said Lockwood, but he would not endorse any candidate running in the Republican primary. Tresize is opposed by Richard Flynn, of Durand and Terry Bacon of St. Johns.

Likewise, he would not com-

DeWitt wars on junk --autos, trash, weeds

By TIM YOUNKMAN
News Staff Writer

The City of DeWitt may have a new nuisance ordinance next month to eliminate unsightly weeds, trash, abandoned automobiles and dangerous structures.

The ordinance, drafted by Mayor Pro-Tem Keith Blizard, will be studied by council members with final alterations scheduled to be made at the next meeting Aug. 3.

The ordinance will demand the removal of junk or abandoned autos if they do not meet the standards set by the council.

The proposed unacceptable conditions include storing a vehicle outside which is not in running condition, have four inflated tires, a battery and current license plates.

The ordinance excludes such vehicles if they are kept in a garage or building.

The new law will demand the removal of low hanging branches over streets or waterways if they impair the normal use of the transportation networks.

All posting of signs or advertisements upon lamp posts, electric light or telephone poles, trees, hydrants, bridges, pavements, sidewalks, streets or public building will be banned.

The law calls for maintenance of city right of way land in front of private residences, which includes weeds and bushes that detract from the appearance.

According to the law, the city would notify the individual asking him to clean up his property.

If the owner fails to respond, the city crews could do the job and bill the owner.

In other action the council: Heard an announcement from Paul Mulford indicating that the Dill Road Sewer Project was killed by the road's residents at a meeting July 14.

He said that 14 of the 18 property owners along Dill Road met with city officials and decided that they did not want to pay for the

Routine school inspection a 'punch out' in DeWitt

By TIM YOUNKMAN
News Staff Writer

It started out to be a rather routine inspection day at the new DeWitt Middle School for architect William Kane and chief building contractor Robert Britsch.

What actually happened Wednesday (July 15) was anything but boring as the size of the inspection group tripled and quadrupled before the morning was out.

Arriving for the "punch out," or listing of unsatisfactory performance and noting items that remained to be corrected, were James Ritchie, DeWitt school superintendent, four school board members, Kane, Britsch and their aides, the new school's principal Jack Enderle and a representative from the Association of General Contractors.

The new Middle School, located on 40 acres southwest of the high school, was to be completed by July 15 and ready for the school board's approval.

Robert Britsch had told the board earlier that construction delays would force the completion date to be changed to Aug. 1.

It became apparent, after the punch out of the first classroom, that a complete inspection of the building, room by room, would take several days.

After spending 45 minutes pointing out minor faults to the architect and the contractors, the school board members called an impromptu special board meeting in the red-carpeted unfinished library.

Tempers flared as the superintendent and board members, comprising a quorum, grilled Kane, questioning his performance as their agent in overseeing the building project.

Kane answered that he had "no doubt" that he was the agent for the DeWitt School Board.

"I get the feeling that you are really fly specking the job," he told the board.

"In this case I am essentially an arbitrator," he added.

"When the project is finished, you will have one of the finest schools in the area," Kane said.

Ritchie discussed the performance of General Contractor Britsch and asked Kane about his impression of the job.

"I think Britsch has done a real fine job," Kane answered. The discussion then centered on Kane's intention of certifying the project as being substantially completed.

Such a certification on the part of an architect would require the owners to pay the contractors a minimum of five per cent of the total cost as a retainer.

Kane indicated that he was prepared to offer this certification, which would result in the DeWitt School District's payment of $120,000 to Britsch.

He also indicated that he would not certify the job as being completed until such performance warranted the statement.

There was discussion offered by Kane indicating he would resign if the board did not approve his work.

Board President Willard J. Reed calmed the tempers by suggesting the board members and the architectural firm of Mason-Jackson and Kane try to co-

Andrews, Lockwood at odds on patronage issue

problems.

"No one (from the state) has been at my branch for at least 10 years," said Andrews.

Andrews said that many returns from the secretary of state's office in Lansing are no fault of the branch.

"A lot of people with good intentions have a problem and I feel as a branch manager I want to help them solve their problem," said Andrews. "Sometimes you have to give them the benefit of the doubt."

For example, said Andrews, if someone comes in for their license plates near the deadline and they've lost their title they are required to file for a duplicate title.

"If the information furnished us is erroneous, either intentionally or unintentionally, we can't verify it until it goes through the secretary of state's office in Lansing," he said.

Terming Lockwood "a political animal," when asked if he were opposed to civil service status for branch managers, Andrews said, "No, I'm not opposed to civil service for all branch managers. But I might add that the people in the community would receive less service and it would be a lot more costly."

"I would be for it if some sort of fee system could be built in," he added.

"Civil service would be impersonal," said Andrews. "Why should they care. They're going to get their pay. They close their doors at 4:30 p.m.—and this is the great difference."

"This branch manager's fees system was instituted by the Republicans," he said. "The Democrats inherited this system from them."

Andrews said the present system began under Secretary of State Fred M. Alger, Jr., who held the post from 1947 to 1952.

Andrews said the suit Lockwood referred to was begun five or six years ago.

"The Civil Service Commission is suing the Branch Managers Association and Hare to take the larger branch offices and leave the small branches as is," said Andrews.

He explained the association's endorsement procedure this way: "We formed the Branch Managers Association so that we turn our pledges or political contributions over to the association," he said.

"The association has a board of directors and they make recommendations to the branch managers and a vote is taken of all the branch managers," he said. "Or, if you have somebody's name you would like to run for secretary of state you can put his name in the hat. It's a very democratic organism we have this suit against us which is supposed to come up this summer, we need funds to fight it."

"The State Central Committee passed a resolution against the Branch Managers Association saying that all branch managers who don't contribute to the State Central Committee will, in essence, lose their branch if a Democrat wins the election (for secretary of state)," he said.

"The branch managers are caught in a cross-fire," he added.

"So the branch managers passed their own resolution stating that they would not contribute to the party coffers until the State Central Committee's resolution is rescinded," he said.

"This dispute is being negotiated at this time," he concluded.

Despite all the controversy surrounding the branch managers, Andrews remains loyal to his boss, James Hare.

"This is the second year in a row that Mr. Hare has run his department under the budget appropriation," said Andrews. "And, thanks to Mr. Hare, Michigan was one of the first states to become computerized."

One thing is sure.

Hare will not be Andrews' boss next year.

And neither will Lockwood should he win the election.

project.

Mulford said that at one time there was a sewage problem along the road and three residents were cited by the Mid-Michigan Health Department for having unsanitary ponding on their property.

"Since then, the department helped them get the problem taken care of," he said.

The cost of the new sewer, which would have come under a new sewer district, was prohibitive, Mulford said.

"It is a dead issue now," he said. "This was strictly up to the property owners."

He said that the area is building up and growing, but that it would be a number of years before all of the empty land is settled.

—Heard Eldon Smith, city administrator, explain his attempt to investigate the claims of several unhappy citizens who complained about the new water billing rates.

Smith said that he checked into several of the complaints and discovered some mistakes in the billing rate for several apartment buildings. He added that the problem was corrected.

—Raymond DeWitt told the council that the Lions Club was about to put $400 worth of playground equipment into the city park, bringing the total Lions Club expenditures at the park to over $2,000 in the past two years.

ment on his favorite in the race between State Sen. Robert Huber, R-Troy, and Lenore Romney, wife of former Gov. George Romney, now secretary of Housing and Urban Development. The two Republicans will meet in the primary for the U.S. Senate nomination to run against Democrat incumbent Phil Hart.

"I'd just as soon not comment," said Lockwood. "I'll support who wins, but I feel it is my own personal business how I vote."

Lockwood does not want to risk alienating any Republicans at this time because he faces a battle with State Rep. Weldon Yeager R-Detroit, for the party's nomination for a spot on the ticket in the race for secretary of state.

Delegates to the party's state convention next month in Detroit will decide between Lockwood and Yeager.

"I'm going in strong," said Lockwood of the convention battle.

Lockwood said Yeager is pointing to the fact that he is the only Republican representative from Detroit in the Legislature.

But private polls have shown "that I'm 10 times better known in the tri-county (Detroit) area," said Lockwood. "That's the advantage of the leadership position."

motorcycles during the early morning hours along M 21, West of Ovid, when Rodriguez, returning from a visit at his father's home in Saginaw, apparently did not see the motorcycles.

Sheriff's deputies testified Monday that they had measured the skid marks from the Rodriguez vehicle after the point of impact and they measure approximately 145 feet.

They testified that Rodriguez apparently drove off the road, crashing into a tree and uprooting it before continuing on into a ditch.

They said Rodriguez was found several feet from the auto and that a passenger Joe Guzman, 22, of Owosso, suffered only minor injuries.

The officers testified that Rodriguez told them he had been drinking and an alcohol content blood test was administered several hours after the crash.

Entered into evidence by Shiawassee County Prosecutor Gerald Stevens, the blood test indicated an alcohol content of .12, which he said could be considered "driving while impaired."

Guzman testified that after several beers in Rodriguez's Ovid apartment, they visited several taverns in Owosso.

He said they drove to Saginaw to visit the Rodriguez home and left there at about 12:30 a.m. The crash occurred at about 2 a.m.

Rodriguez's father Pedro Rodriguez Sr. took the stand for the defense and told the Judge that he did not see his son drink while he was at his father's home.

Stevens summed up his case by claiming that the manslaughter charge was a valid one since it included unlawful acts, driving after drinking, speeding and the negligent omission of avoiding the accident.

The meeting was adjourned and the inspection tour resumed.

By late afternoon, it was obvious that the inspection would take at least another day.

Kane suggested that if the board members could not participate, he would continue the punch out project and issue them a report of his findings. He also suggested that the members could return to the school at their convenience and check on his report and offer independent findings.

The two reports would then be combined and turned over to the contractors for completion.

Kane told the board that another punch out for the cabinet work in the building would begin Thursday.

Over sewer tap-in costs

Motel owner threatens suit against DeWitt Twp.

By TIM YOUNKMAN
News Staff Writer

An angry DeWitt Township businessman threatened the township board of trustees with a long and costly court suit due to tap-in costs of the new sanitary sewer.

"We have an alternative in this matter," said Marion Bales, owner of the Rancho Motel, 15749 N. East St.

"This tap-in costs is unconstitutional," he added.

Bales objected to the difference in the tap-in costs between the residential rate and the commercial rate which was suggested to the board earlier this month by their financial consultant.

The proposed schedule calls for a tap-in fee of $2,000 per residence and a higher rate for commercial.

Bales said that his motel, under the proposed schedule, would count as nine and one-half units or approximately $20,000, to tap into the new sewer system.

"If I am charged anything over $2,000, I am going to go to court," he said.

The proposed charges indicate that a motel of 20 units would be charged for five tap-in fees.

Gordon Willyoung, owner of the Green Acres Motel, 15564 N. East St., commented that he didn't know why it should cost me any more than a residence to tap-in.

Trustee Al Johns noted that most of the commercial establishments along the new sewer district would be charged as a unit of one for tap-in purposes.

He said that it appeared that with this proposal the small business owner, in some instances, could be hurt by the charges.

"I have a 200-foot frontage on my business lot and was assessed as two and one-half units, which comes to $5,000 plus another $2,000 on my home," Johns said.

"We will have to review and clarify the ordinance," he added.

He reminded the audience that the board had not adopted any proposal for commercial rates until proper study could be given to the alternative rate schedules.

"You should keep in mind that there is going to be a tremendous growth out here," Johns told the audience, indicating that additional users of the system would lower the overall costs.

Township supervisor Oliver S. Angell said that when a proposal is adopted a notice would be sent to all users in the system which would allow 60 days for payment.

"Of course the total costs could be spread over 20 or 25 years," he said.

In other action, the board heard discussion concerning the progress of the fire department's expansion project.

William Purvis, chairman of the fire committee, told the board members that "it is still our intention that the building project be completed by this winter."

He noted that the project is adjacent to the existing building at 780 E. Wieland Road.

He said there had been $20,000 appropriated for building expansion.

"We have received some raw estimates and it appears that the cost to build would be about $16 per square foot," Purvis said.

A proposal for office expansion calls for splitting of the front office space at the Wieland Road building into two separate offices and cutting windows in the south wall, at a cost of $800.

Approved the purchase of a walkie-talkie set for the fire department valued at $655.

Agreed that the giving of new clerical help would be the responsibility of the supervisor and the clerk, Donna B. Syverson.

Adopted the resolution making DeWitt Township a charter township.

Ordered that a letter be drafted and sent to the Clinton County Zoning Commission and Zoning Administrator William Coffey requesting written rules and regulations regarding permits and zoning procedures.

Teacher negotiations broken off in DeWitt

GARY ROBERTS

When the press walked into the DeWitt teacher contract negotiations Thursday night, the teachers walked out.

Gary Roberts, varsity football coach and head of the teacher's bargaining committee, immediately called a caucus when a representative of the News arrived at the bargaining room in the Fuerstenau building.

The teacher's representatives, Raymond Unger, Lucille Misner and Roberts, left the room for several minutes and returned to announce that the negotiations were to be broken off.

It was expected that negotiations would be resumed within a week but no specific date was indicated.

Unger pointed to an alleged agreement between the teachers and DeWitt School Supt. James Ritchie which called for exclusion of the press from all formal negotiations.

"I never signed the agreement," Ritchie told Unger. "In fact, at the last meeting you said the press would be welcome at future meetings," he added.

Ritchie said that he had invited the press to the meeting with the understanding that there would be no objection by the teachers.

According to state law, the press may be excluded from sitting in on the negotiations at the request of either party.

Ritchie said that he had refused to sign the press exclusion agreement and declined to approve a policy of issuing joint statements to the press after each session.

He said he would be willing to issue a unilateral statement to the press following each meeting.

Thus far, there has been no comment by the teachers' bargaining committee concerning a similar policy from their group.

The teachers did not indicate that they would boycott future meetings with the administration team of Ritchie, Donald Powell, elementary principal; Jack Enderle, Middle School principal, and Donald Mueller, high school principal.

DeWitt schools set new policy on public use of system's facilities

By TIM YOUNKMAN
News Staff Writer

A new policy governing the use of the DeWitt Public Schools facilities including a rate schedule was announced July 13 at the DeWitt Board of Education special meeting.

The new policy requires a charge of $1 plus custodian fees plus the payment of additional fees if deemed necessary by Supt. James Ritchie and approved by the board.

The custodian fee was described as his regular hourly wage plus time and one-half for week nights and Saturdays, double time on Sundays, providing the event is scheduled when the custodian is normally off-duty.

The custodian is considered on duty until 10 p.m. on week nights, according to the board.

A minimum charge of two hours custodian fees will be charged provided the event is scheduled when the custodian is normally off-duty.

A custodian fee of $5 will be charged for the use of facilities while the custodian is on duty.

The new policy states that the use of school facilities will be limited to educational, cultural, recreational and entertainment programs which are wholesome in character and not derogatory, defamatory or immoral.

The use of school facilities by individuals or groups non-school affiliated will not interfere nor conflict with regular school functions, according to the new plan.

Requests for use of any building or room should be made to the building principal who has charge of scheduling.

The new policy bans the use of the school kitchen and equipment unless needed for school functions.

Other bans imposed for non-school functions are the use of school busses and other motorized equipment, vocational, commercial, music, art and laboratory rooms.

The use of school facilities by individuals or groups non-school affiliated who reside outside the DeWitt School District must have requests approved by the superintendent through the school board.

The policy outlined the persons deemed acceptable by the school board.

"The individual requesting use of the facilities shall be a responsible citizen; of good repute and demonstrated responsibility. He shall be held accountable for the building used, the conduct and discipline of the patrons, and payment of rental fees and damages beyond normal wear. Smoking shall be confined to places designated by school authorities."

Several board members expressed concern about the lack of limitations in the policy regarding the number of rooms that an individual could request.

It was agreed that further discussion on limiting the size of requested facilities would be needed, with the possibility of amending the policy to include a limitation clause.

DeWitt middle school nearly complete

By TIM YOUNKMAN
News Staff Writer

Work is nearing completion on the new DeWitt Middle School in preparation for the 400 junior high schoolers enrolled for the September opening.

"With this school, we'll have a well rounded facility," Jack Enderle, Middle School principal, told the News Friday.

He said that with the new building and extensive equipment, "we can have the children explore various areas."

"However, it is one thing to get the equipment and another to use it properly," he added.

The new building, financed through a $2,700,000 bond issue, was part of an expansion program that included additions to the high school and elementary buildings, administration building and a bus garage.

The new school features several exploratory programs including a language laboratory, home economics department, counseling center, cafeteria, and closed circuit television.

The language laboratory will have a large master console which enables the teacher to distribute up to six different programs," Enderle said.

The system has a two-way communication device for discussion with all students or groups of students. The program will include tapes and records to aid the student in learning the languages.

"There are two more panels for student lessons, and 36 individual stations in the room," Enderle said.

The carpeted office facilities include separate rooms for the office and copy machines, a storage room, student book store, teachers' lounge and private rest rooms, and a counseling center.

The library features 12 study booths for private concentration plus a collection of 2,000 volumes at present. Plans call for a 4,000 volume collection by September, with $8,000 set aside for the purchase of the books.

The home economics department has five complete kitchens plus a demonstration area with built-in range oven, washer and dryer.

The sewing room features eight new machines plus a family living area. The home economics room will service 24 students per period.

The cafeteria, a combination cafeteria and auditorium, will be able to accommodate 800 students on a four-shift lunch period, according to Enderle.

The vast kitchen area will operate as a home base for the entire district's hot-lunch program.

"All of the food for all of the students will be prepared in this kitchen for the hot lunch and transported by truck to the other schools," Enderle said.

"In addition, all of our baked goods will be baked by school employees," he said. "We get the federal food surplus and make our own baked goods at little cost."

The cafeteria has a stage complete with overhead spotlights and lighting control console.

"We think that it is highly adequate for the junior high school needs," Enderle said.

The gymnasium was designed for regulation basketball games and will accommodate four physical education classes, a health room, senior high school varsity wrestling, locker room facilities for both the junior high schoolers and high school use.

The gymnasium offers a seating capacity of 900.

"The building is wired and programmed for a closed circuit television," Enderle said.

"We've had the video recorder for about six months now," he added.

The television system will allow the faculty to utilize plays and science programs, physical education programs and other areas which will aid the teacher in reaching the children.

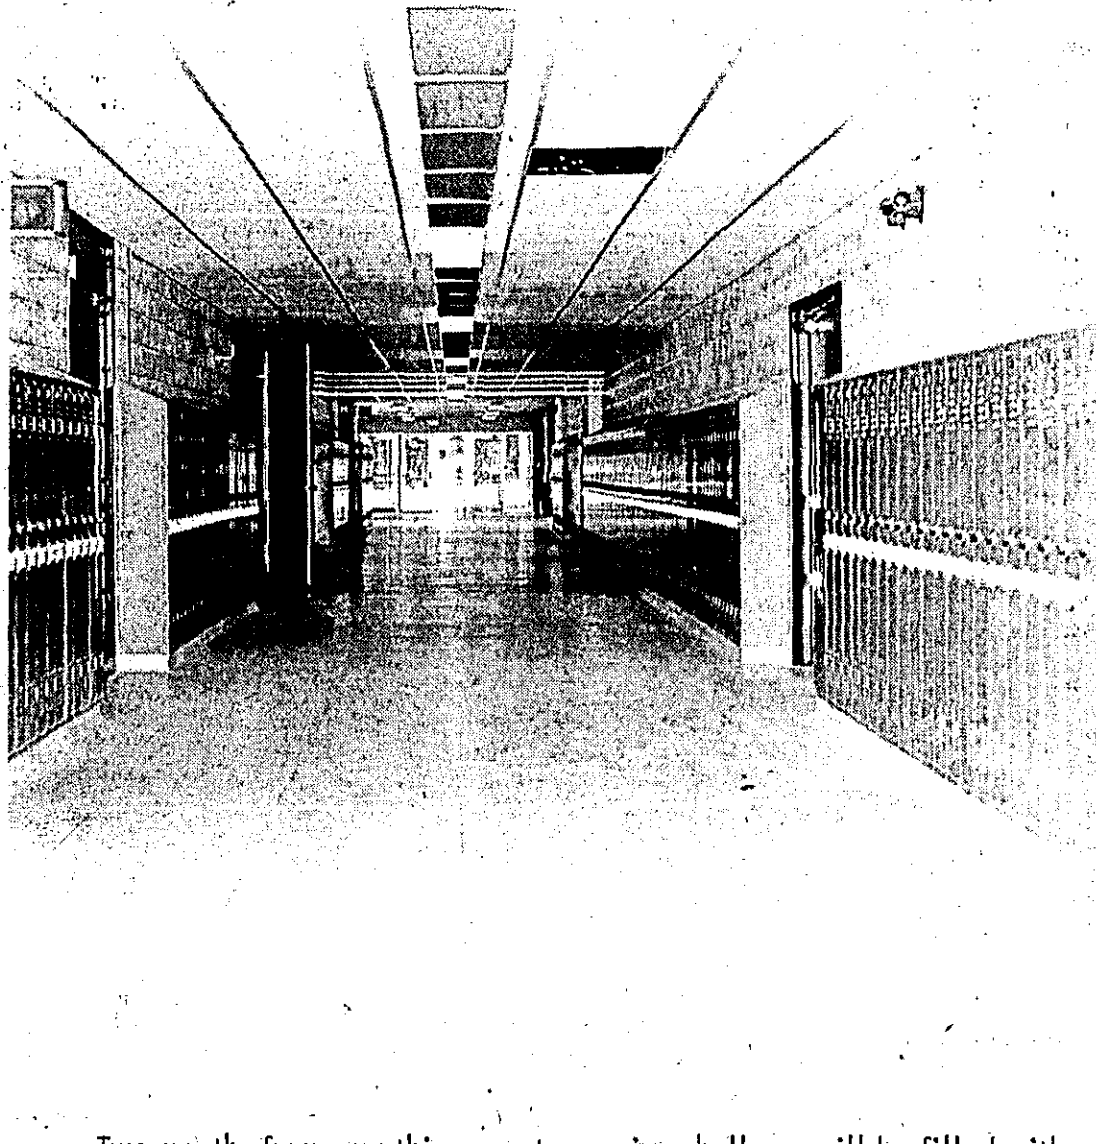

The shop room offers general shop facilities, plus experience for the students and other areas, Enderle noted. "We will have classes in graphics, electricity, wood and metal working, plastics and mechanical," he said.

The total enrollment for fall will be 400 students although the present building is designed for 500 without expansion.

Enderle pointed out that with additions of several rooms the Middle School could grow to about 800, where administrators would try to limit further growth.

The gymnasium, cafeteria and several other specialized areas are already designed for the 800 mark, Enderle said.

Two months from now this vacant, spacious hallway will be filled with junior high school students scurrying to classes or opening lockers, making the passage seem much smaller. Photos by ED CHEENEY

MR AND MRS JOHN ADAM SCHAFER

Janet Harr bride of John Schafer

Janet Gladys Harr became the bride of John Adam Schafer in a 1 p.m. double ring ceremony performed by Rev. Aloysius Miller in St. Mary's Church, Westphalia on Saturday, June 27. Red roses and white mums decorated the altar of the church as the bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose an A-line gown of organza over silk which featured an empire-waistline, stand-up collar and chiffon sleeves with a five inch cuff. Lace trimmed the collar, waist and front of the gown and buttons accented the bodice. Her train-length mantilla veil was accented with ivy leaves and streamers.

assisted by Virginia Kowatch of Pewamo and Brenda Schafer of Westphalia as bridesmaids. Michele Schafer of Westphalia was flower girl. The maid of honor and the bridesmaids were gowned in yellow. Their gowns were made of sheer crepe over rayon and featured an empire waistline of ribbon, accented with flower appliques, a stand-up collar and tiny accordion pleated sleeves. Their headpieces were bows with flower appliques in the center and they carried baskets of assorted colored daisies.

Best man was Roger Schafer, brother of the groom, and groomsmen were Robert and Leroy Harr, brothers of the bride. Kevin Schafer, brother of the groom was ring bearer and seating the guests were David and Ervin Thelen.

The couple greeted 650 guests at the reception which was held at 5 p.m. at St. Mary's Hall in Westphalia.

CHURCH NEWS

Mrs. Robert Eldridge and Mrs. Robert Boetger of St. Paul Lutheran Church Fowler, Michigan, were elected delegates to represent their society at the thirteenth biennial Michigan District convention of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League, held July 14-16 at Concordia Lutheran College, Ann Arbor.

The league is an international auxiliary of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. It has a Michigan membership of 312 societies and 16,481 members. Eleven projects totaling $55,440.70 will be presented for consideration and action.

The convention opened Monday night with a communion service in the Chapel of the Holy Trinity. Rev. Paul J. Foust, Counselor in Stewardship and Evangelism, Michigan District will speak on the topic "Go and Do."

Featured convention speakers were the Rev. Theodore A. Raedecke, director of Evangelism, Lutheran Church Missouri Synod and the Rev. Carl M. Lutz, Jr., St. Paul Lutheran Church, Pontiac.

Mrs. Albert Ruhlig of Dexter, is the district president and served as the presiding convention officer. Mrs. Judson Bancroft was the local chairman.

Weekend vacationers are especially invited to take advantage of this opportunity to worship.

There will be some of the familiar elements of worship with new innovations.

Change in date for Canteen

Due to an unforeseen circumstance there will be a delay of one day in the departure time of the Clinton County dratees for the month of July.

According to the local Selective Service Office, 18 men will board the chartered bus bound for Detroit and induction on Thursday morning, July 23 at 6:30 a.m. There will be two Clinton County men traveling with them to obtain their pre-induction physicals.

A Red Cross Canteen will be held for these men, their families and friends at the Central National Bank, Community Room.

Ruth Barrett, Alberta Brock and Edna Eldred of the Blue Star Mothers will present each of the inductees with a gift supplied by their organization.

Rev. Hugh Banninga of the Episcopal Church will represent the Clinton County Ministerial Association at this July Canteen.

Doris Provant of the Red Cross will conduct the Canteen, and will be assisted by Mary Newhouse, a Red Cross volunteer. A Red Cross representative from the Mid-Michigan Chapter at Lansing will also attend to inform the men of services to them. Additional help may be obtained by servicemen's families by dialing operator and asking for Enterprise 6926. There is no toll charge by using this Red Cross number.

The Double N Extension Club will provide homemade cookies to enjoy with a cup of coffee supplied by the Red Cross.

All interested persons are welcome to join us as we wait at the bank with these young men for the bus which will transport them to Detroit.

The Senior Citizens will hold the next meeting in the Episcopal Church Undercroft on July 28. A potluck dinner will be served at noon. All senior citizens are invited to attend.

Margie Adair weds William Zuckschwerdt

ELSIE (C)—Margie Iola Adair and William Zuckschwerdt of Elsie spoke their wedding vows at the Zion Lutheran Church, Chesaning with the Rev. Hans Schultz performing the double ring ceremony Saturday afternoon.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Adair of 127 W. Pine Street and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Zuckschwerdt of 156 W. Pine Street, all of Elsie.

The altar was decorated with arrangements of white gladiolus and red carnations while Roger Mathies provided organ music and John Craig served as vocalist.

Escorted by her father, the bride approached the altar wearing a gown of Chantilly lace over white taffeta. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a round neck outlined in tiny pearls and sequins and long sleeves. The lace-trimmed skirt with train also featured a V waistline at the back and front. She wore a shoulder length veil secured by a crown of pearls and sequins and carried a sweetheart rose cascade with a white orchid.

Mrs. Judy Sodman of St. Johns was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a light blue dotted swiss with long see-through sleeves and high neck collar. The floor-length empire-styled gown with an inverted pleat at the back was accented by a large bow of the same material. A matching bow secured the short nylon head veil.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Duane Zuckschwerdt of Owosso, sister-in-law of the groom, Janice Levey of Lansing, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Allen Adair, sister-in-law of the bride and Annette Zuckschwerdt of Elsie, sister of the groom. They wore identically styled gowns as Mrs. Sodman and all carried colonial bouquets of white pom poms and red sweetheart roses in a cross design.

Duane Zuckschwerdt of Owosso joined his brother at the altar as best man and groomsmen were Craig Walker of Lansing, Galen Thornton and Allan Adair, brother of the bride of Elsie and Charles Fuller of Lansing. Herman Brockman and Fred Belsner of Chesaning, uncles of the groom and Keith Tiedt of St. Johns and Dale C. Levey of Elsie, uncles of the bride were ushers.

Honored guests present were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dale A. Levey and Mrs. Raymond Adair and the groom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Zuckschwerdt and Mrs. Ed Belsner.

A reception followed in the church parlors. The bride's color scheme of blue and white was used in decorations along with red roses.

Following the reception, the new Mr. and Mrs. Zuckschwerdt left for a honeymoon trip to Minneapolis, Minn., after which they will live in Owosso. Both are graduates of the Ovid-Elsie High School and the groom also graduated from the Gale Institute. He is employed as a draftsman at the Diamond Reo in Lansing while the bride is employed at the Strawsine Manufacturing Co. in Corunna.

The Blue Star Mothers will have a potluck supper Tuesday, July 28 at 6:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Charles Ziegler, corner of Scott and Maple Rapids Road.

The regular business meeting will follow the meal.

MRS. WILLIAM ZUCKSCHWERDT

Diane Vining becomes Mrs. Loren Huss

Rev. Harold Homer performed the Saturday, July 11 double ring ceremony uniting in marriage Diane Marie Vining and Loren D. Huss. The service took place in the United Methodist Church at 7 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Vining of 2976 North U.S. 27, St. Johns and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Huss of R-1, Coleman.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and chose a white organza over taffeta gown featuring a scoop neckline, long puff sleeves, a fitted bodice and full skirt. The bodice and sleeves of the gown were trimmed with Venice lace daisies and a large bow accented the waistline of the gown. A crown of daisies and pearls secured her floor-length imported silk illusion veil, which was bordered with Venice lace daisies and she carried a cascade of yellow carnations and white baby roses.

Mrs. Robert DeJongh of Coleman, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and was assisted by bridesmaids, Mrs. Murry Florence of Coleman, Carol Vining of Alma, cousin of the bride and Cindy Huss of Coleman, sister of the groom. Christine DeJongh of Coleman, niece of the bride, and Debbie Grimes of Gladwin, niece of the groom were flower girls. The matron of honor was gowned in a green dotted swiss over taffeta gown with fitted sheer sleeves and an empire-waistline. The bridesmaids were in identical yellow gowns and the flower girls were in yellow dotted swiss gowns featuring empire waistlines, full skirts and sheer sleeves fitted to elbow. They all carried baskets of white carnations and yellow roses arranged by Mrs. Dewey Vining of Middleton.

Best man was Jack Randall of Coleman and serving as groomsmen were Bob Staley of Coleman, cousin of the groom, Peter Hasenratz of Coleman and Tom Horner of Warren. Jack Baldwin seated the guests.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple greeted 175 guests at the reception held at The Bingham Township Grange Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Vining served as host and hostess. Cindy Vining assisted.

Special guests at the wedding and reception were grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Minor Vining Sr., and the grandmother of the groom, Mrs. Alice Huss.

Following their wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the couple will reside at Moon Mobile Home

MRS. PAUL GELLER

Sue Simmon becomes Mrs. Paul Geller

Sue Simmon became the bride of Paul Geller Saturday, July 18 in a 1 p.m. ceremony performed in Holy Trinity Church, Fowler. Rev. Albert Schmitt performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with yellow and mint green glads.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clare Simmon of Route 2, Fowler and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Geller of Route 4, St. Johns.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and chose an A-line gown of silk organza which featured long sheer sleeves, a high neckline and a bow at the waistline. Seed pearls and embroidered roses accented the neckline, sleeves, bodice and skirt of the gown. Her shoulder-length veil was secured in place by a headpiece of embroidered roses, accented with a bow and she carried a bouquet of pink and white sweetheart roses, accented with long streamers.

Janice Simmon of Fowler served as maid of honor and was assisted by bridesmaids, Kris Simmon of Carson City, Janet Geller of St. Johns and Alice Wheeler of Lansing. Patty Geller of St. Johns was junior bridesmaid. The attendants wore pastel colored A-line gowns, accented with seed pearls around the neckline and waistline. Their shoulder-length veils were secured in place by a headpiece of daisies and they carried bouquets of daisies and baby breath. Charles Geller of St. Johns was best man and serving as groomsmen were Doug Witt and Roy Pine of St. Johns and Sam Simmon of Fowler.

The couple greeted 400 guests at the 5 p.m. reception held at the Bingham Grange Hall in St. Johns. Special guests were the grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thelen.

Following their wedding trip to Colorado the new Mr. and Mrs. Geller will reside at 4908 Wright Road, Fowler.

The bride is a 1967 graduate of Fowler High School and the groom is a 1966 graduate of Rodney B. Wilson High School.

Married

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meyer announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Katherine to Thomas Wayne Cady on Friday, July 10 in Lansing.

Attending the couple were Mrs. Ross Masarik of St. Johns, sister of the bride, and Dennis Warfle of Laingsburg.

The bride is a 1965 graduate of Rodney B. Wilson High School and is employed at Michigan Millers Mutual in Lansing.

The groom is a 1963 graduate of Perry High School and is employed by Tri-Par Homes. Following a northern honeymoon the couple will reside in Perry.

Open house

Mrs. Aril Underwood will host an open house in her home in honor of the July 18 marriage of her son, A. J. to Carolyn Sasse of Sacramento.

The event will be held Sunday July 26 from 2 to 5 p.m. Friends are invited to attend.

Social events

A birthday party was given in honor of Lloyd Cook Jr. of rural Elsie on Sunday, July 12 by his wife, Barbara.

Guests present for the occasion were his mother, Mrs. Ruth Cook of Perrinton; his sisters and their families, Mrs. Alberta Rehm, David and Gary of Fowler and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Langdon of Lansing; his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Cook and their daughters, Rebecca, Debra, Marcia, Betty and Sandra all of rural Perrinton.

Donna Gee was recently feted with miscellaneous bridal showers given by Mrs. Gwen Lyons of Ovid and Mrs. Leonard Mitchell of Shepardsville.

Miss Gee will become the bride of Gale Henning on Saturday, July 25.

At the shower given by Mrs. Lyons prizes were won by Mrs. Pat Wade, Mrs. Theodore Moore and Linda Cornell. Door prize was won by Mrs. Lawrence Henning, mother of the prospective groom.

Prizes at the shower given by Mrs. Mitchell went to Mrs. John Hall, Bea Rodriguez, Loula Mae Wieber and Mrs. Aaron Ordway. Door prize was won by Mrs. John Hall.

JOAN SIMON

Engaged

Pewamo(c)—Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Simon of Route 1, Pewamo announce the engagement of their daughter, Joan to Richard Capel, son of Mrs. Grace Covert of Vassar.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Pewamo-Westphalia High School and is employed by the State Department.

The prospective groom is a graduate of West Scranton High School in Scranton, Pa. and is employed by North Central Airlines in Lansing.

An October 24 wedding is being planned by the couple.

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL FLEISCHER

Brenda Chadwell weds Michael Fleischer

United Methodist Church in St. Johns was the scene of the double ring ceremony uniting in marriage Brenda Jean Chadwell and Michael Fleischer on Saturday June 27. Rev. Harold Homer performed the 10 a.m. service before an altar decorated with white carnations and tinted mums.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jewell Chadwell of 1008 Cornell Road, Owosso and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Fleischer of Scott Road, St. Johns.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and approached the altar in a long white gown of net over chiffon which featured long lace sleeves, a square lace neckline and a fitted bodice, frosted with jewels. Chantilly lace accented the tiered skirt and a large panel of Chantilly wrapped around the top of the waistline. She wore a long mantilla veil accented with the same Chantilly lace and carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and tinted mums.

Matron of honor was Valoria-jean Weile and flower girl was Cindy Fleischer. The matron of honor was gowned in a hot pink empire-style gown with a matching veil headpiece. The flower girl wore a pink dotted swiss gown with an empire waistline.

Ronald Weile served as best man and was assisted by junior groomsmen, Victor Chadwell. Serving as ushers were Richard Chadwell and Fred Cook.

The couple greeted guests at the reception which was held for members of the immediate families at Niles Hall. Special guest at the wedding and reception was the grandmother of the groom, Mrs. Norah Fleischer.

The new Mrs. Fleischer chose a turquoise ensemble with white accessories and a pink corsage for travel on their wedding trip to New York and Canada. Upon return the couple will reside in St. Johns.

The bride is a 1965 graduate of Green County High School in Alabama and the groom is a 1965 graduate of Rodney B. Wilson High School. Both attended Lansing Community College.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Brenda and Mike were the featured couple in the Special Bridal Section in the June 24 issue of the Clinton County News.

Diana McQueen weds Jerry D. Pitts

Diana Lynn McQueen became the bride of Jerry D. Pitts in a 6 p.m. ceremony performed by Dr. Wallace Robertson in People's Church, East Lansing. The double ring service was held Saturday, June 20 before an altar decorated with large Indianapolis yellow mums, white gladiolus and white snowdrift mums.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George McQueen of 1802 Maple Rapids Road, St. Johns and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pitts of Barryton.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and approached the altar wearing a white net over orlon gown which featured sheer leg-o-mutton sleeves, an empire waistline and an A-line skirt. Rows of Venice lace accented the sleeves, neckline and bodice of the gown and the flowing back formed a train. Simulated lilies of the valley, petals and a crystal tear drop secured her bouffant elbow-length veil and she carried a triangular cascade bouquet of yellow and white mums, white carnations, stephanotis and ivy accented with a lavender orchid centered in the arrangement.

Sandra VanOstran of Lansing served her sister as matron of mother while Lori McQueen of St. Johns, sister of the bride and Mrs. Barbara Ray of Rodney, sister of the groom assisted as bridesmaids. The attendants wore net over taffeta aqua gowns with a round scoop neckline, short sleeves, straight skirts and an empire waistline, accented with white lace trim. The flowing floor-length train was also accented with the lace trim. Aqua bow clusters with lily of the valley sprigs secured their shoulder-length veils and they carried bouquets similar in style to the bridal bouquet.

Best man was William Ryan of Lansing and serving as groomsmen were Andy Ray of Rodney, brother-in-law of the groom and Jim McQueen of St. Johns, brother of the bride.

The couple greeted 200 guests at the reception which was held at St. Joseph's Social Hall at 8 p.m. Special guests at the wedding and reception were the grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. James McQueen.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Pitts are both 1970 graduates of Michigan State University and the couple will reside at 1342 Old Canton Lane, Apt. 6, East Lansing.

Johnson wins art prize

Gerald Johnson of St. Johns has been awarded the first place purchase prize of $300 in the Stone Village National Art Show for his pencil and acrylic work "Girl."

The show, held in Jackson, drew more than 400 entries from a four-state area including Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. Eliminated in the pre-judging were 170 entries and the winners were selected from the remaining entries.

Johnson, 23, lives at 6721 West Townsend Road.

Leland B. D. Beaman, a Jackson artist and promoter for the national art show judged the entries and the art work representing all media, styles and a wide range of subject matter.

George Coffman honored

A man born in Clinton County was honored by a feature story in the Petoskey News-Review last week, heralding his 70 years as a druggist in the northern Michigan town of Mackinaw City.

George Coffman, still active at 92, was born in Pewamo in 1877 and moved to Mackinaw City with his parents when he was three.

The story in the Petoskey newspaper related how Coffman grew up with Indian youths in northern Michigan and how, in later years, he spearheaded searches for Indian artifacts in the area.

Coffman, whose parents were Mr. and Mrs. John H. Coffman, received his degree in pharmacy from Ferris Institute in 1900 and continues to operate his store in Mackinaw City six days each week.

Coffman's wife also is in business in the community, operating an "open on request" museum a block from her husband's store.

It is an old adage that the shoemaker's children go barefoot. You know what we mean. . . the mechanic's car looks like demolition derby. . . and even our wife complains we never bring home a paper. Larry Karber has bucked the system. Drive down Church Street past Karber Block Co. and see what we mean. The building now boasts a very attractive new front of Miami Stone.

Found any big "9's" lately? There are more than 7,000 missing. Would you believe the price of Fame pop (9¢) in Andy's IGA ad fell off of every copy of the County News printed last week. Whoops!

Back Home Dept.—Our two sons are in the U.P. with their Granny Goodwitch for three weeks. We're not saying our handsome darlings misbehave but we have never had the same sitters twice and around the neighborhood they're known as Godzilla and "The Animal." They must be outdoing themselves.
For the first time in ten years cousin Barb and John Akkenan deserted the fair climes of Racoo to visit us. Our cousins, and we hate to admit this, drink. And the Big M can't. We didn't eat a meal at home all weekend. She couldn't find the kitchen. And when hungover, well, she has all charm and good will of a rabid grizzly. But, no more about Big Mama for a while. She didn't appreciate our candid honesty about her. Our physician says we'll stop limping about the time our bruises fade. We didn't even know she could read.

Michigan vegetable growers off to a good start this year

JULY COMMERCIAL VEGETABLE REPORT MICHIGAN

Ideal spring weather got Michigan vegetable growers off to a good start. Most vegetables were planted on or ahead of normal schedule. Soil moisture and weather conditions have been conducive to excellent crop development.

Acres forecasts show increases in the acres for harvest of head lettuce and cucumbers. Decreases in acreage for harvest are indicated for carrots, tomatoes, onions and strawberries.

Yield forecasts show increases for sweet corn and cucumbers. Lower yields are expected for celery and strawberries. Snap bean and head lettuce yields remain unchanged from last year. Yield forecasts for cabbage, cantaloupe, carrots, green peppers, tomatoes and onions will be released Aug. 7.

Increases in production are forecast for sweet corn, cucumbers and head lettuce. Decreases in production are expected for celery and strawberries.

UNITED STATES

The summer snap bean crop is forecast at 980,000 hundredweight, up seven per cent from 1969.

The 1970 late summer cantaloupe crop is expected to be harvested from 6,800 acres, compared with 6,700 acres harvested in 1969. Early fall carrot acreage for harvest is expected to be 24,130 acres this year compared with 24,730 acres harvested last year.

The summer celery crop production is forecast at 1,556,000 hundredweight, one per cent below 1969.

In New York, growth has been very good. Good volume from Orange County is expected after mid-month.

Wayne County harvest should start after mid-July, with volume supplies by Aug. 1.

Harvest in Ohio started the last full week in June. Sizing is good.

Growth in Washington has been slow, due to continued cool nights. The first forecast of 5,372,000 hundredweight for late summer sweet corn production is two per cent above the 1969 output.

Production for the late summer cucumber crop is forecast at 398,000 hundredweight, slightly more than the 393,000 hundredweight produced last year.

Summer lettuce production is forecast at 11,985,000 hundredweight, up one per cent from last year.

The late summer onion crop is expected to be harvested from 61,300 acres this year, compared with 59,300 acres harvested in 1969.

The late summer green pepper crop is expected to total 19,050 acres for harvest, compared with 19,950 acres harvested in 1969. The acreage of late summer tomatoes for harvest is placed at 20,550 acres, compared with 21,450 acres harvested last year.

Farmer's public image

Visiting over the back fence with your neighbor is a time honored tradition in the city for the development of understanding and friendships.

But in the farmer's situation, he's got to talk pretty loud to be heard. For the farm family, about all the back fence can bring them is a scenic view of the countryside.

It's a sure bet that talking to oneself doesn't build understanding for the farm industry with the urban folks. In fact, rural-urban relations, it has long been believed, have needed more cultivation than the distance of miles from country to town can provide.

Agriculture has long been in action on this point.

There are farm tours with city families, rural-urban dinners throughout the counties of the state, and again there are the fairs, about 85 of them this year in Michigan, plus there are many, many community club activities that work to pique the curiosity of urbanites of the fact that there really is a thriving agriculture working to improve the quality of our living through healthy food and active participation in community events.

Trouble is . . . in telling the story of farming, the degree of progress in promoting understanding has been near impossible to measure.

In other words, folks didn't know if anyone was listening and such things as public relations programs usually were coined with the distinction of the hard to answer question, how did we do?

However, on the positive side, according to a recent Gallup International survey of non-farm residents over in New Jersey, farmers do have a good public image. We like to believe the same is true here at home. The survey showed that non-farmers look upon farm people as hard-working, friendly, honest and contributing more than their share to the state's economy.

A pleasing surprise is that the "Garden Staters" seemed to be well informed about the problems facing the farmers; financial, weather, labor shortage, high production costs, high taxes, encroachment of development land and didn't blame them for rising food prices.

Yes sir, evidence shows agriculture is gaining understanding from his city cousin. If it sounds as if farmers are tooting their horn a little bit, perhaps it's true, but after all, from the farmer's side of the fence it's been a long dry spell.

4-H Chatter

4-H horse show

By JOHN AYLSWORTH

Throughout the summer 4-H horse clubs throughout the county held horse shows providing their members and other interested youth the opportunity to compete and demonstrate their skills in handling their horses.

The Riverside Riders 4-H Club near Wacousta held a very successful show on July 12 with over 100 riders participating from Williamston, Okemos, Lansing, Kalamazoo, Battle Creek, Leansburg, Carson City and throughout Clinton county.

They had 28 entries in fitting and Showmanship class, 40 entries in Pleasure and Horsemanship and about 20 entries in each of the other classes. The top winner out of the 17 entries in the Pony Pleasure and pony Horsemanship was Carla Bergans of Grand Lodge. Debbie Pflester of Potterville was second in those events.

The Saddlemates 4-H Horse Club will hold the next 4-H Show for 4-H and open on Sunday, Aug. 2. For more information on this show people should contact Mrs. Rex Hoover on Chadwick Road near DeWitt.

attended a meeting Thursday evening at Smith Hall. Several films on Hunting Safety, Muzzle Shy and Gun Safety were shown. The details for the County 4-H Gun Shoot were discussed which will be held on Saturday, Aug. 15, 1:30 p.m. at the gravel pit on Colony Road just east of the Ovid Elsie High School. Four members will be selected to represent the county at the State Contest later in August.

vin Baxter a dental hygienist from East Lansing presented the program. The members selected the design and slogan for the litter barrel and the fair float. The scarecrow judging and garden tour will be held on Thursday, July 30. The club handled the food concession stand for the Riverside Riders 4-H Horse Club Show and made about $70 profit. The club plans to use part of the profit to pay their fair share to the National 4-H Center Expansion Drive in Washington, D.C.

The Nimble Fingers 4-H members answered roll call with a vacation they would like to take. A float committee of Lori McQueen, JoAnn Kanaski and Terri Roberts and a litter barrel committee of Harry Moldenhauer, Phyllis Dershem and Laurie Lounds will meet Monday, July 28 to work out the design and theme for their entries in the fair exhibit contest. Demonstrations were given by Crystal Foster on "How to Make a Lettuce and Tomato Salad" and Lori Foster on "How to Make a Relish Plate". Illustrated talks were given by Becky Barnesona "Well Balanced Meal" and Kathy Howell on "Ideas for Making a Good Poster".

A full bus load of older 4-H members and leaders attended the 4-H food tour to Gerber Food Processing Plant near Fremont. The members were able to see the plant facilities on just how baby food is processed, learned about careers in foods and had an interesting tour.

The Green Clover Community Club 4-H members learned about the proper methods to clean teeth at their last meeting. Mrs. Mel-

The Saddlemates 4-H Horse Club will be sponsoring a 4-H and open horse show on Sunday, Aug. 2 at the Corner of Clark and Wacousta Roads. The show will start at 9 a.m. There will be a high point trophy and seven regular trophies given to the various winners and six place rosettes in each class. The members completed their fair entries and fun night class forms.

The Pioneer Trail Riders 4-H members toured the new arena that Dave and Dan Ketchum had erected from Dan. The members completed their fair entries and fun show entries. The members made a list of ones who would like to have their horses to stay at the fair grounds. The group broke up into work sessions to iron out some of their techniques used in showing and riding their horses.

State fruit production should be up by 4 pct.

JULY 1, 1970

It'll be 4-H Day at Tiger Stadium on Saturday, July 25 when the Detroit Tigers play the Chicago White Sox. More than 3,500 4-H's and friends from throughout Michigan are expected to attend; Clinton county will be represented by 182 4-H's, parents and leaders. Tickets purchased earlier have been mailed to their leaders.

Congratulations go to the Kountry Kousins 4-H Softball team in the Green League as they pulled off the first triple play in several years of 4-H softball. The play went from Charles Falvor who was pitching to Jerry Smith at first to Bruce Irish who was catching. The Kountry Kousins had the triple play but lost the game to Charlie's Gang 24-9. On Thursday evening the Kountry Kousins softball team will play a game at the County Infirmary for the people staying at the County Home. I'm sure the people there will appreciate the spirit of the 4-H's.

Production of the seven major fruits for 1970 in Michigan is estimated at four per cent above last year and the largest since 1965, according to the Michigan Crop Reporting Service.

Except for scattered frost on May 5 and 6 most of the Michigan fruit area escaped serious damage.

Poor pollinating weather cut the potential fruit crop, especially in the West Central area. As of July 1, soil moisture was adequate in all areas except the Northwest.

Our current forecasts are based on a grower survey that was mailed to the growers on June 25.

The average return date of the questionnaires tabulated was about June 30. Our July-1 forecasts, therefore, are based on conditions as of the end of June and assumes that normal conditions prevail through harvest.

The indicated apple crop of 750 million pounds is four per cent above 1969.

If realized, this would be the second largest crop on record. The 750 million pounds harvested in 1964 is the largest crop on record. Final utilization and production of the 1967-1969 apple crops are shown in the table below.

Michigan's tart cherry crop is forecast at 95,000 tons as of July 1-10 per cent below last year. Estimated production is 10,000 tons below the June 15 estimate. As of July 10, harvest was in full swing in the Southwest and started in West Central.

Harvest will start in the Northwest about July 20. Some heavy rains on July 8 brought much needed moisture to many areas of the Northwest.

Production of peaches is estimated at 100 million pounds, up three million pounds from 1969. The grape crop of 65,000 tons, indicated by July 1 reports would be 71 per cent larger than the 1969 tonnage.

Indicated pear production at 19,000 tons is 4,000 tons below the crop of one year ago.

The sweet cherry production forecast is 20,000 tons, 1,500 tons lower than 1969. The first prune-plums estimate of 9,000 tons is 5,500 tons below the crop harvested last year.

The Elsie 4-Corners 4-H members are planning a swimming party on August 4th at the Ovid-Elsie High School Pool and invite several of the other Elsie Clubs to join them. Following the swimming they will go to the Friendship Park for recreation, a picnic and their meeting. At their last meeting trip reports on the Detroit Youth Week, North Carolina and the National 4-H Citizenship Short Course were given to the members. Fair books were passed out to the members.

Carland News

By Mrs Archie Moore Phone 834-2383

Rev. Henry Schneider of Merriel passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Carl Ulry in Springfield, Ohio at the age of 92. He had been a resident of the Carland area for many years. His funeral was held July 6 at the Brethren in Christ Church near Merriel. Place of interment was at Ridge Lawn Cemetery at Breckenridge. He was survived by three daughters and two sons and one brother.

Amy Gould, Register of Deeds in Shiawassee County and resident of Carland, was taken to Owosso Memorial Hospital Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Gilbert and family spent July Fourth at a National Forest near Gladwin but came home a day sooner than had been planned due to the cold weather and heavy rains.

The Eagles 4-H members discussed possible programs for their meetings and progress of their projects. It seems the members are quite recreation conscious.

The Spats and Spurs held their Horse Show for their members only last Saturday at the corner of Taft and Lowell Road. The members participated in Fitting and Showing, Western Horsemanship and Equitation. Mrs. Robert Emig of Lake's Jewellery provided a trophy for the top rider. The Spats and Spurs 4-H members have been quite busy with meetings each week. David Palmer and Janet Bashore demonstrated teaching a horse to take the correct lead. A fun day was held for members and parents with a picnic following. Several work outs have been scheduled in preparation for the County Fair. A trail ride is being scheduled for July 25 for members and friends.

Plans are being made for the 4-H Livestock Sale at the County Fair on Wednesday, Aug. 19 at 2 p.m. To be sure the buyers are cool and out of the sun the committee has secured a tent courtesy of Lee Rummell funeral home in DeWitt. Contacts are being made to line up buyers for the beef, sheep and swine market exhibits that business people or home owners might purchase for their own freezers or sell on the market later. Plans are being made to have a supper on September 1 for buyers and their wives plus the sale exhibitors so they can get better acquainted. Anyone is invited to attend the auction and participate in the sale.

ASCS REPORT

1971 wheat referendum announced next month

By WILLIAM M. SMITH, Executive Director, ASCS, Clinton County

Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin announced 1971-crop wheat price-support loan levels and other program details necessary for producer participation in a July 27-31 mail referendum on marketing quotas proclaimed earlier. The referendum is mandatory under current law in the absence of new legislation for the 1971 wheat crop.

All persons who have a legal interest in the approximately 1.6 million wheat allotments of record will be eligible to participate in the referendum.

If two-thirds or more of the producers voting in the referendum indicate "yes" to marketing quotas (based on a National quota of 1,210 million bushels resulting in a National allotment of 43.5 million acres), the national average price-support loan rate will be $1.15 per bushel and the domestic marketing certificates will have a value of $1.39 per bushel making the total price support on that portion of the crop $2.54 per bushel or 90 per cent of parity as of July 1, 1970.

Domestic certificates will be issued on about 535 million bushels. Production in excess of quotas will be subject to penalty. Individual farm allotments, in addition to program information leaflets, ballots and voting instructions, will be mailed to producers prior to the start of the referendum.

Signed ballots need to be mailed or delivered to the county offices by July 31, 1970.

Preliminary results of the referendum will be compiled and announced by USDA on or shortly after Aug. 5.

If the referendum fails to carry, the loan rate is mandatory at 50 per cent of July, 1971 parity. This would be $1.41 per bushel based on current parity.

Following are other applicable conditions under a "yes" or a "no" vote in the referendum under existing law:

If marketing quotas for the 1971 crop are approved by a "yes" vote:

1. Domestic wheat marketing per cent of the projected production on the allotted acres of participating producers.

2. Required diversion will be 36.5 per cent of the producer's 1971 allotment (it is 30.0 per cent for 1970). This diversion of land to non-crop use is required by applicable law.

3. Substitution between wheat and feed grain acreages, which has been in effect under the 1970 and earlier programs, will not be in effect for 1971 since there is no legislation making this possible.

4. Marketing quota penalties will be applicable on wheat produced on acreage in excess of the farm allotment, amounting to 65 per cent of May 1, 1971 wheat parity plus a seven per cent loss of allotment in 1973 and subsequent years.

However, if excess wheat is delivered to the Government, or is stored for release in a subsequent year by underplanting or underproduction, the producer can avoid the monetary and acreage penalties and qualify for price support on production from the allotment, as well as for certificate payments, provided other program requirements are met. Additionally, under some circumstances, a land use penalty may also be assessed if a crop is harvested on acreage required to be diverted.

5. Export marketing certificate payments will be made to producers if the total value of export certificates collected by Commodity Credit Corporation from the exporters exceeds the total export subsidies paid by CCC to exporters.

Any such excess will be made available pro rata to participating producers at the end of the 1971 marketing year.

If marketing quotas for the 1971 crop are not approved:

1. The National wheat allotment of 43.5 million acres will remain in effect.

2. Price-support loans at 50 per cent of parity will be available to producers who stay within their allotments and comply with applicable terms and conditions.

3. There will be no marketing quota or land use monetary penalties.

4. Wheat acreage harvested in excess of 1971 farm allotments will result in a seven per cent loss of allotment in 1973 and subsequent years.

Corn continues to make a good growth in well drained fields. Standing water has hurt corn in some poorly drained fields.

Potatoes are developing well in all areas. Early planted fields are being dug in Bay and Monroe counties. Sugar beets continue to develop well.

The making of first cutting hay is nearly complete in Southern Michigan, about 80 per cent complete in the northern Lower Peninsula and about two-thirds finished in the Upper Peninsula.

Pastures are furnishing average to above average amounts of feed in most of the Lower Peninsula but many Upper Peninsula pastures are furnishing less than average quantities of feed.

Vegetables generally continue to make a good growth. The celery crop is excellent and harvest is active in all areas.

The harvest of early sweet corn has started in Monroe county. The head lettuce harvest is active in the Bay City, Jackson and Imlay City areas. The harvest of peas is underway in the Saginaw area.

The tart cherry harvest continues in full swing in the Southwest and has started in West Central Michigan. Some heavy thunderstorms on July 8 brought much needed moisture to cherry orchards in the Traverse City area.

The sweet cherry harvest is about complete in the Southwest and underway in the Northwest. The red raspberry harvest is nearing completion in Barrien county. The strawberry harvest is about finished in the Alpena area but is near a peak in Houghton County. Apples and peaches continue to develop well.

The farm value for all the ingredients in a loaf of bread is exactly today as it was in 1960—3.3 cents.

State Crop Report

By MICHIGAN CROP REPORTING SERVICE, WEEK ENDING JULY 11

Rains and wet fields slowed field work in many areas of the state but furnished much needed moisture to parts of the northwestern Lower Peninsula and Upper Peninsula.

Most crops continue to make a good to excellent growth.

Heavy rains halted field work in the east central counties and caused some damage to dry bean fields. Soil moisture supplies are mostly surplus in the East Central, adequate to surplus South Central and Southeast, short to adequate in Upper Peninsula and Northwest Lower Peninsula and mostly adequate elsewhere.

The State averaged 3.6 days suitable for field work.

About 20 per cent of the state's wheat crop is ripe and combining has started in the southern counties.

Many farmers are waiting for wheat fields to dry out before starting harvest.

Early oats have turned color in the southern counties and a few fields are ripe.

Later planted oats in the northern Lower Peninsula have not yet headed. About one-third of the Upper Peninsula oats have headed.

Corn continues to make a good growth in well drained fields. Standing water has hurt corn in some poorly drained fields.

Potatoes are developing well in all areas. Early planted fields are being dug in Bay and Monroe counties. Sugar beets continue to develop well.

The making of first cutting hay is nearly complete in Southern Michigan, about 80 per cent complete in the northern Lower Peninsula and about two-thirds finished in the Upper Peninsula.

Mite specialists recommend frequent leaf inspection for the prompt spray treatment to control European red mites this season.

State apple growers warned about mites

Heavy infestations of European red mites pose a serious threat to apple growers here this season.

Crop experts advise that even growers who got by with a single pre-bloom spray last year should be ready to include a miticide in cover sprays this season.

They recommend looking at your trees frequently and spraying mites promptly as required.

Mite specialists explain it this way: considerable late season mite build-up last year in many areas, then a relatively mild winter, add up to a high egg carryover.

Then even a 98 per cent kill in April or May doesn't always prevent another mite build-up in July and August, especially if there are prolonged periods of hot weather.

With even higher egg populations to start out with this year, that two per cent survival adds up to a lot more mites. And that means trouble when you consider that mites can produce as many as seven or eight generations over a single season.

Another factor contributing to the mite problem here is increased tree nutrition. Added nitrogen and other nutrients produce more succulent growth. This helps support higher mite populations and increase egg production.

What's more, apple growers report a consistent trend in recent years for mite infestations to 'peak out' later in the season. The early outbreak pattern remains the same, but maximum mite activity occurs later and continues at high levels well into August. This further underscores the need for careful orchard inspection through the season and prompt treatment with an approved miticide such as Acaralata.

Without good control, mites can literally take over an orchard. Orchard studies show that by injuring foliage, sapping tree vigor, and encouraging fruit drop, mites can cut production as much as 75 per cent in a two year period.

It stands to reason, then, that a good mite control program now will really pay off at picking time.

Accident rates are much higher on rural highways than they are on freeways, reports Richard Pfister, Michigan State University extension safety engineer.

"Defensive driving is a key to traffic safety on both kinds of roads, but it is especially important on rural highways," he claims.

"Look for hazards, know the proper defense and act in time. Adjust your speed to highway and weather conditions."

Pfister also suggests landowners cut high weed, crop, brush and tree growth at driveways and corners.

Farm mechanization means more danger

Modern farm equipment is much more dangerous than traditional "horse power," points out Richard Pfister, Michigan State University extension safety engineer.

Farm Safety becomes more important each year with increased mechanization and automation of farm operations, reminds Pfister.

He suggests that all farm workers start practicing safety by reading—and heeding—instruction manuals. Keep guards and safety devices in place, he warns. Stop machines before unclogging or adjusting. Stay clear of moving parts. Keep children off and away.

Avoid tractor upsets by going slowly on turns, on slopes or rough or muddy ground, Pfister cautions. Slow down near ditches and embankments and watch for hidden hazards, holes or other obstacles. Equip tractors with safety belts, plus protective frames or crush-resistant cabs.

Have proper lighting and SMV (slow-moving vehicle) emblems for safer road travel. Keep the SMV emblems clean, in good repair and correctly mounted. Have a first aid kit and fire extinguisher on each tractor.

Always train young or inexperienced workers to operate machinery safely.

Farm safety week - - check home hazards

Safety begins at home for National Farm Safety Week—July 19-25—and should be continued throughout the year, notes Richard Pfister, Michigan State University Extension engineer.

Neat orderly houses are safer and more pleasant homes, adds Pfister. Have storage place for everything, keep everything in its place when not in use.

Periodically check appliances, wiring, power tools, and other equipment for defects, recommends Pfister. Inspect heating systems, fuses, portable heaters and other home equipment to cut fire risk. Prepare a home fire escape plan.

Remove clutter and rubbish which could cause fire and/or falls. Keep household products and medicine in safe storage places out of children's reach. Lock up poisons. Avoid unnecessarily hazardous products.

Make extra efforts to safeguard small children and senior citizens.

Practice safety with ag chemicals

Modern farmers probably have less concern about crop and animal losses from insects than their forefathers did, but they should be seriously concerned about safety with the varied agricultural chemicals they now use, reminds a Michigan State University extension safety engineer.

Pesticides and other chemicals are important tools in agriculture but some of these compounds can kill or injure if safety isn't practiced, says Richard Pfister.

Always read container labels and follow directions, he advises. Use recommended protective equipment as gloves and respirators.

Store chemicals in original containers and in suitable places inaccessible to children and animals. Don't put pesticides in food or drink containers. Dispose of empty containers according to recommendations of Manufacturers or extension publications.

Crop wheat certificate value, $1.57 per bushel

The 1970-crop wheat certificate value will be $1.57 per bushel. It was announced last Wednesday by Chairman Nick Smith of the Michigan Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee.

This is five cents per bushel more than for the 1969 certificate value and nineteen cents per bushel more than for 1968. The certificates are based on wheat parity as of July 1 each year.

Payments, totaling about $13.5 million, are expected to be made over the next two weeks to Michigan farmers who participated in the program and who grew wheat.

Smith stated that certificate payments are made on the projected production of 48 per cent of the 1970 wheat acreage allotments which is the amount of wheat expected to be processed for human consumption.

He pointed out also that millers and others are required to purchase, as part of their cost, marketing certificates at 75 cents per bushel to cover the quantities processed for domestic food use. The remainder of the certificate payment is made up by the government.

Certificate payments add substantially to the income Michigan farmers will receive from marketing their 1970 wheat crop, Smith said. In determining total return per bushel for wheat, participants divide their certificate payment by their total production to get an average per bushel payment.

By adding this to the price they receive in the market, participants in the program find their total return per bushel.

Wheat marketing certificates are authorized by the two-price wheat provisions of the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965. Under this law, farmers participating in the Wheat Program are guaranteed 100 per cent of wheat parity price for their share of wheat used for domestic food.

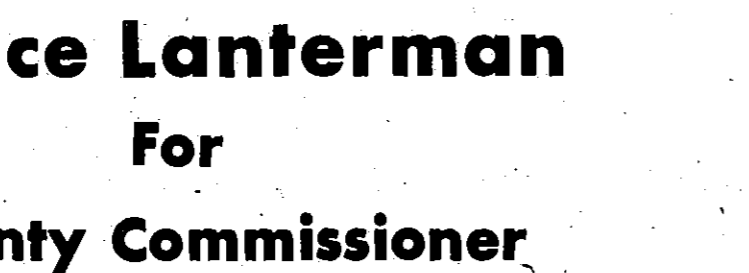

This substantially bolsters farm income for wheat while permitting support of market prices through loans at levels more competitive in world trade channels.

The farm value for all the ingredients in a loaf of bread is exactly today as it was in 1960—3.3 cents.

The Rt. Rev. Bernard J. Sheil Catholic Bishop once said: "If a Non-Union worker in a partially organized industry is receiving a good income, it is quite probably because his Non-Union employer, in order to keep the Union out, meets, or nearly meets, the higher wage and hours standard of Union establishments. Clearly such Non-Union employees are eating the fruits of others sacrifices. The workers in the Union shops perhaps risked their jobs to get their Union recognized, and pay monthly dues to keep it going. It is a categorical injustice for Non-Union employees, enjoying the common benefits, to refuse to carry their share of the common burden".

West Elsie

By Mrs Wayne Mead
Phone 882-5447

spent Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Billings and family at their cottage at Higgins Lake. Mr. and Mrs. James Boomer and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Skinner joined them on Sunday for dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Krouse and family spent the July Fourth weekend camping near Muskegon. Harvey Allen is to be congratulated on having served our community as postmaster for 25 years on June 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Donahue and family of Grand Rapids and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford O'Grady were July Fourth dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Cusack.

Mr. and Mrs. James Blashak and girls of Detroit spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Burns.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Langdon and family spent the past week vacationing at Crystal Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Shinarbarger spent from Thursday until Sunday camping on the Muskegon River near Stanwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Mitchell and family of Carson City spent the Fourth of July with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Allen.

Mrs. Catherine Burke was very happily surprised Sunday evening by her friends bringing a beautiful birthday cake, ice cream and other cakes, to help her celebrate her birthday. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. James Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Schaefer, Mindy, Mike, Colleen, Cathy, Todd and Tony. Mr. and Mrs. Roman Pung, Carman and Collette, Miss Josephine Drayton, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McKenna, Kathleen, Tim, Mike, and Keena and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Shively and Katrina.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McGinn and family spent the past week camping in Northern Michigan. Mrs. Sue Balash, and daughter, Nancy of Ailbon spent several days this past week with her sister and family Mr. and Mrs. Joe McAninch. Joe McAninch returned home with them to spend the weekend at Cedar Point in Sandusky, Ohio.

Debbie Pokorny, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pokorny spent July 18 and 19 at Barry County 4-H Camp near known as Algonquin 4-H Youth Center, near Hastings. Debbie was one of several from the Four Corners 4-H group to be awarded this trip for achievements in 4-H.

Joey Fabus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe G. Fabus of Shepardsville Road has returned home after undergoing an emergency appendectomy in Owosso Memorial Hospital.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Rozen of Watson Road on the birth of their twin daughters born June 21 at St. Lawrence Hospital in Lansing. Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Betzer and granddaughter, Laurie Mead left Friday June 26 to spend several weeks at their cabin west of Manistiquie in Upper Michigan. They stopped in Cheboygan to call on Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Scanlon who formerly lived near Elsie. They report Mr. Scanlon in very poor health. On Saturday they attended the wedding of their nephew, Bruce Swagart. Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Mead and Mrs. Karla Cebulski spent the July 4 week-end visiting the Betzers and Laurie.

Miss Helen Lowell, Mrs. Bess Pearson and Miss Marian Pearson were Tuesday breakfast guests of Mrs. Leah Armstrong of Lansing.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hodges and Mrs. Myron Humphrey were mid-week guests of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Hansen at their Higgins Lake cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Romuald Lonter entertained at a family dinner Thursday evening honoring their daughter, Jeanette on her 21st birthday.

Leonard Eno of Miami, Fla. is spending some time with his father, Claud Eno.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Garlock called on Rex Hadley at Ionia Manor Sunday.

Bruce McMyler of Newaygo was a Wednesday overnight guest of his sister, Mrs. Bess Pearson.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Langdon, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Langdon and baby, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Lattimer, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Skinner and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tabor, all of this area.

The day was enjoyed with games for the children, boating, visiting and a picnic dinner. Janice O'Grady returned home Monday after spending a week camping in the Upper Peninsula with Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Stoult and family of Carson City.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen, Jacqueline, Nancy and Roberta of Detroit were Fourth of July weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Allen. Sunday guests were Mr. and Mrs. Butch Mahoney (Kathy Allen) and family also of Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Webber of Lansing and Mrs. Mary Tait

Traffic means use

The arrest of a youth and the confiscation of drugs and injection equipment by DeWitt police recently is but one open incident supporting the fact that drug traffic in Clinton County exists. And where there is traffic there is use.

Perhaps few groups outside law enforcement agencies, school officials and social workers really know the depth of the problem but even an isolated case, as the one mentioned here, provides sufficient base for concern.

It is sometimes difficult to accept the fact that change is ever present and the way we see ourselves is not always the way we really are. The rural serenity that has marked Clinton County's past is being fast replaced by a number of social forces and while we view ourselves yet as quiet, conservative and conscientious, elements of a less virtuous nature are, nevertheless, gaining a firm foothold.

We do not see the county becoming a hotbed of outlaw activity, but an awareness on the part of residents that a danger exists will go far in assuring against such a chance. And, along with recognition of the existence of undesirable activities, a willingness to cooperate with officials can bring about effective law enforcement.

The DeWitt incident probably is only a scratch on the surface of a deep-seated and growing difficulty—a difficulty that can erode away much of the wholesomeness which has marked the identity of Clinton County. We urge every county family—with children or without—to conduct a private campaign to keep Clinton County Clean from Dope.

It took many years to build the healthy attitudes associated with Clinton County people. We don't want them destroyed by any element—least of all dope.

A fair pair

A note of recognition goes to Ray Parr this week for his re-election to the presidency of St. Johns Board of Education. It's Ray's 13th year on the board and his fifth consecutive term as president.

To take this kind of punishment one must be dedicated, as we know Ray is. Functioning as a public administrator does not always provide the most pleasant of encounters, but, obviously, personal satisfaction from lending to the success of an operation overshadows less gratifying incidents.

In our time of observing Mr. Parr he has displayed objectivity, sincerity and fairness and these are qualities which can never be challenged. The new president has hinted at retirement after his current term and if he does we see the move as one having been well earned by repeated success. If he doesn't retire we'll know his dedication was just a bit too strong even for him.

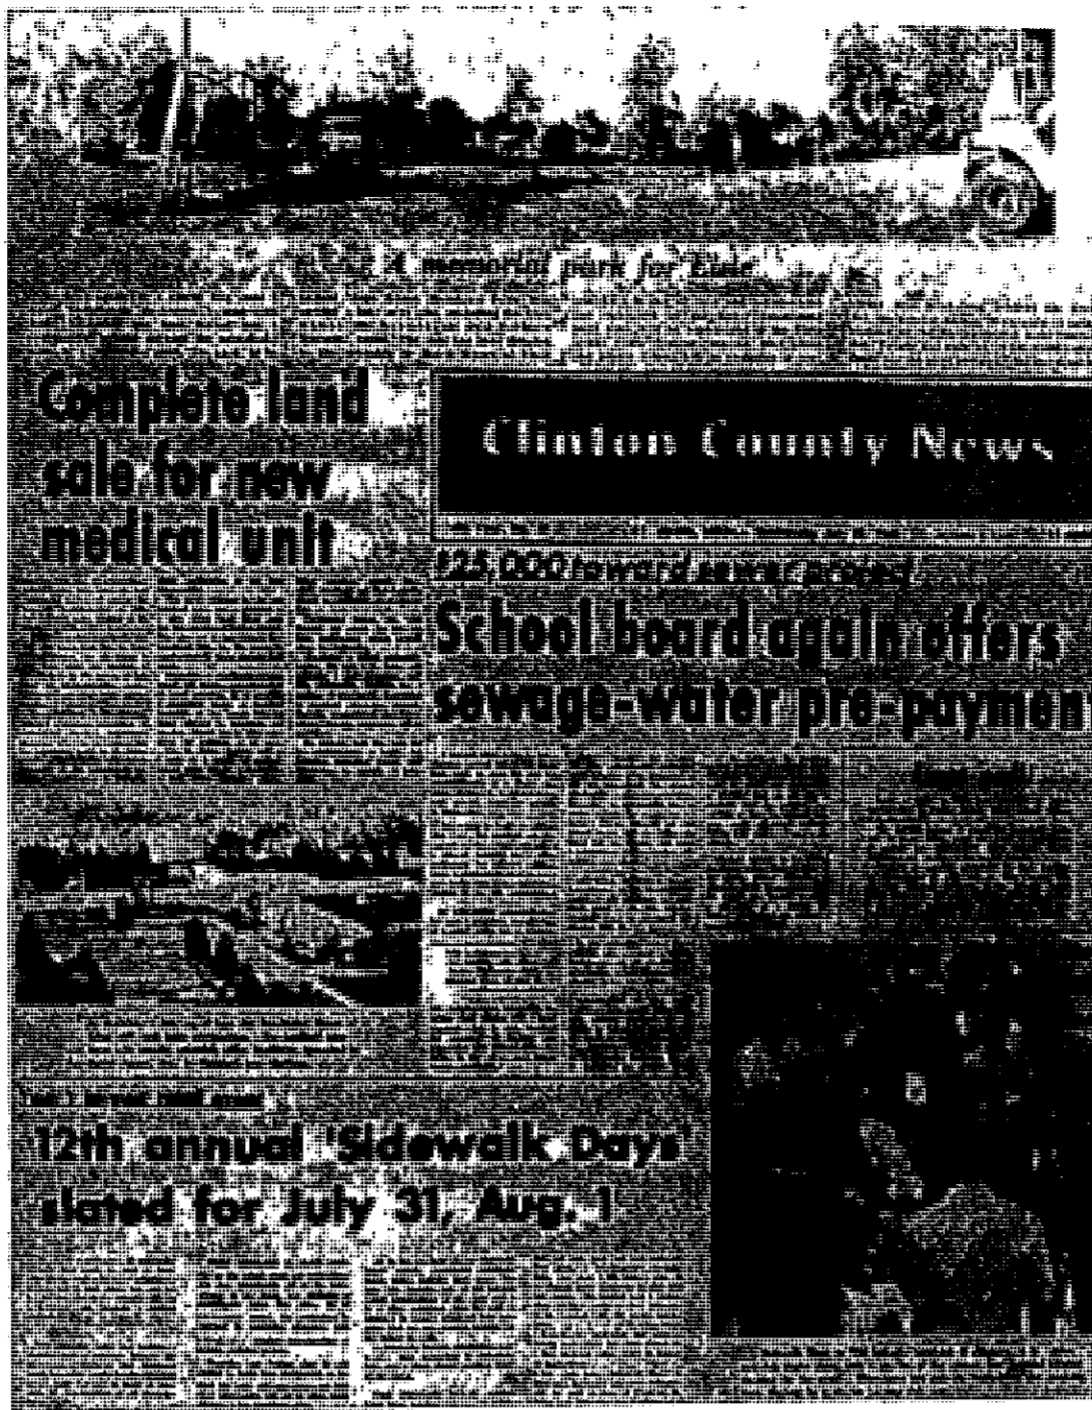

Then, too, he might be looking over his shoulder at another long time board member who could be shooting for the baker's dozen mark. Fred Meyer has served the board for ten years with half that time as secretary. Not too bad a mark in itself, we'd say.

They make a fair pair.

A second effort by the St. Johns District School Board was made to open the way for the establishment of a sewer line along Sicksle Street to serve the new high school which was scheduled to open in September. The board had offered to pre-pay $25,000 on sewer and water bills to provide cash for the city to proceed with the project.

St. Johns merchants were ready to take to the streets for the annual sidewalk sale days. Shoppers from throughout Clinton County were expected to jam streets for the two-day sale fest. After one year of preliminary preparations, final land sale was completed to pave the way for construction of the 100-bed medical care facility to be located along Scott Road near Walker Street.

A costly fire in June that destroyed the Ovid Farmers Elevator was turned into a positive project for Elsie citizens. The site was turned into a community benefit through the establishment of a city memorial park, called Hope Green Memorial Park.

Lightning was blamed for the barn fire which caused $10,000 damage to the Smith Shuster farm on Colony and Chandler roads. About 2:30 July 17, lightning struck the barn with no ill-effects reported but a second bolt shattered the barn about three hours later.

With contributions totaling $8,900, the annual fund drive conducted by the Clinton County unit of the American Cancer Society again topped its quota.

Clinton County's board of education was to meet to canvass officially the vote cast on Special Education by the county's 68 school districts at elections on June 18 and July 11. Unofficial returns indicated the proposal passed by a vote of 2,061 to 1,180.

Barry Dean ended a 30-year drought for the Clinton County Country Club by bringing home the Central Michigan golf championship. The slight St. Johns high school junior beat John Hopko, of St. Johns, by one stroke in the championship round.

'IF IT FITZ...

Poor Joe Single

By JIM FITZGERALD

And then I wrote...

Out of the Jimmy Hoffa trial, of all places, came another sneaky jab at my hero, the bachelor. A news item lamented the lonely time the 12 jurors had, locked away from the rest of the world for six weeks. With which I will not argue. But then this insidious propagandist added:

"Juror Patrick Haverty had the easiest time of it. He was the LONE BACHELOR in the group." (The caps are mine; so is the neck pain).

There is a one-sided war going on in the world. All the married people are fighting to get all the single men down the middle aisle in a rented suit. For some reason I don't understand, the bachelors are not fighting back with vigor. As a result, Joe Single is easy prey for the nice couple around the corner who know this lovely girl who Joe should meet, he really should.

So Joe meets her, under the influence of free steaks and booze. His married friends show off their pretty children, well-bribed to behave for the first time since Christmas eve. Mr. and Mrs. talk glowingly about delicious dinners, Sunday papers read in bed, and a light in the window. No mention is made of mortgages, dirty diapers or chocolate fingerprints on favorite books. The usual sighing remarks are made about "How do you stand it all alone in that tiny apartment over the poolroom, Joe?" In no time, the guy is hooked.

And then Joe can say: "I never knew what living was until I got married, but then it was too late."

I am not here to knock marriage per se. It is an ok type of life and I wouldn't sell my family for any amount of swinging freedom. Lease or rent, maybe, but I would always insist on retaining ownership. God, in his almighty wisdom, invented Love, a formless substance which somehow cements the most unlikely relationships and can make a husband forget any number of undies soaking in the bathroom sink or sticky candy in his favorite chair.

But it is time that some married man told Joe Single that he is not necessarily an unfortunate slob, merely treading water until some doll comes along to show him what swimming really is. As a man always interested in seeing a pat on every back, and a kick in every seat, I am volunteering to answer such "poor bachelor" nonsense as planted in the Hoffa trial story.

Why was it easier for Patrick Haverty, rather than the married jurors, to be isolated for six weeks? The average reader, well brainwashed by the unfair climate which prevails, would answer: "Well heck, those married people were lonesome for their spouses and children. Patrick didn't have anyone to be lonesome for, so he didn't mind being cooped up."

Such an attitude assumes that there is a little in this world to interest Joe Single. Despite being married 132 years, I can remember slamming my front door carelessly at 3 a.m.; I know that Joe doesn't have to go home when the library closes. I could, in fact, list a countless number of goodies available to Joe but I won't, as I hate to make myself cry.

It is not my intention to tell Joe Single what he should do; only what he shouldn't. And the biggest thing he shouldn't do is fall for the malarkey his married friends pass out with the dinner invitations. Keep eating in restaurants, Joe. You may think it costs more but you don't know what costs are until you push an overflowing cart up to the A&P checkout counter.

Joe shouldn't be rushed. A nice age to get married is 30; almost as nice as 40. And Joe shouldn't worry about the beach being swept clean of pebbles. New ones come in with every tide.

There is much to be said for living alone, making your own decisions, and watching the clock for no one except yourself. Such a life affords a peace and solitude; a time for quiet thinking and reading; a type of quiet contentment rarely available to the married man.

Unless he gets jury duty.

What a life

By RON KARLE, Editor

Good old Jim Fitzgerald. He's the only married guy I know who understands us bachelors.

His column this week verifies that deep down he's still one of us. Perhaps it would be fitting if he were inducted into our growing ranks (the birth rate is going up every day, isn't it?) as an honorary member.

How else are we going to discover the secrets of this life of "peace and solitude; a time for quiet thinking and reading; a type of quiet contentment rarely available to the married man."

See, Jim, by Monday morning I'm so whipped from a weekend of doing my laundry, shopping for my week's supply of TV dinners and doing the last week's dishes, that I sure could use some of that peace and solitude.

Especially tonight. I gotta rest up for a little pool game Thursday night.

To fellow bachelors who are continually asked, (usually by their married tie friends), "Say, when you going to get married?" I might offer a line that usually quiets them: "Can't this weekend. I gotta get a haircut."

About that pool game, by the way. This encounter is going to be the highlight of my career. My worthy opponent (I have to say that just to be polite) is Dick Miller, another product of a mis-spent youth.

Dick masquerades as a printer here at the paper but in reality printing is just a front. He's really a hustler.

(That's why occasionally I have to explain all about Gutenberg and movable type and stuff like that.)

Anyway, Miller has really been smiling a lot for the past week; ever since he "set me up."

You see Miller is not just another pool player—he's a champion. That's right a bona fide member of the HAH Lounge pool team which won the Clinton County Pool League Championship this year for the third straight time.

Miller doesn't just shoot pool... he stalks each ball as if it were a hated enemy and the cue stick his loving weapon. So after cleverly baiting me for several weeks ("Nice column you wrote last week, how about a little stick at the Roadhouse Thursday?") I finally succumbed.

Monday morning I naturally asked about my handicap.

He just laughed quietly and knocked over some tops.

Which is quite an honor for someone like myself, a rank amateur, to be taken so seriously.

In fact, I understand the commissioner of pool has taken quite an interest in this match and it's been officially sanctioned.

Therefore, in the remote possibility that Miller should lose, it will be a difficult pill for him to swallow what with all this national attention.

If he wins, of course, it's really no victory because of the credentials he's bringing into the match.

But that's what happens when you set up someone like me.

Knowing Miller and his devious ways, however, he'll probably come up to me at the last minute with some excuse like these married friends of his have invited him to dinner and there's this nice girl who is just dying to learn all about the fine points of pool...

Strange antics

By RON HUARD

WALTERBORO, S.C., PRESS & STANDARD: "There has never been a party in power which was not criticized by the press, which was not questioned by the press, nor challenged by the press. This is the duty of the press. If governmental edicts were not questioned, nor challenged, it would not be long before the government was in complete control of the people, and their thoughts."

RUSSELL SPRINGS, Ky., TIMES JOURNAL: "A drug addict taken into custody told police his habit had... been costing him $200 a day. This fact underscores something which is not sufficiently understood: Use of narcotics is a direct cause of many kinds of crime. A person turns to criminal activity to meet the ever-increasing expense of his drug addiction. This is why it is imperative for authorities to concentrate on stemming the flow of narcotics into the country and curtailing their sale. A successful war on narcotics could result in important reductions in many categories of crime."

Man is the only animal endowed with the ability to laugh, but if he keeps going at the rate he is, the rest of the creatures on this old earth will be forced into learning how the trick is done.

When was the last time you enjoyed a good laugh one that almost choked off your breath and left your eyes filled with tears? Seems this kind is fast fading from the scene. It's being replaced by the forced guffaws of worn out jokes and the shallow humor of idle chit chat. There just doesn't seem to be much to laugh about anymore unless we take a look at ourselves.

A few samples. We scratch our finger and immediately run to the doctor's for treatment, but when the medical profession, almost unanimously tells us we can die from cigarettes we increase our smoking budget.

Joining clubs and social groups for pleasure and enjoyment is big with us, but we become so bogged down in rules and regulations that patronizing them is like visiting Stalin 13.

We really like new automobiles, but after spending a few thousand on one we drive it with the abandon of a bumper car in a carnival—then smile when the insurance company pays us a claim check—then frown when our next premium increases. Dieting is also a real grabber. We run around gathering notes on diet after plan and diet after diet when, in most cases, a little muscle between us and the table would provide a much more effective program.

The list could go on and on. Maybe these don't strike you as being funny and I guess I must admit they don't produce deep belly laughs. You gotta admit, tho, there's a bit of humor in our strange antics—the kind that may help our zoo friends to learn the trick even if we can't.

They don't take us quite as seriously as we do.

Bessie Smith of St. Johns, a long-time reader of the Clinton County News, says she got the reading habit from her father, the late Watson E. Benton, who lived in Riley. And she's got proof. While rummaging around the house the other day she came across this receipt for a paid subscription dated March 16, 1872--98 years ago. The newspaper was only 16 years old then. The receipt, made out to her father, says a year's subscription was $1.50.

Traffic light opposed at U.S. 27-Sturgis

To The Editor,

There is no question that the death of Richard Springer at the intersection of U.S. 27 at Sturgis St. was a tragic loss and as a parent my sympathies are with his family.

I have, however, serious doubts as to the wisdom and desirability of the current attempt to have a traffic signal installed at this intersection for traffic studies indicate that accidents more often increase, rather than decrease, at intersections following installation of a signal.

Since the crossing in question has sufficient median width for vehicle storage, both traffic lanes need not be crossed at once. For the very few persons who are so inexperienced or otherwise feel unable to cope with crossing at this intersection, not more than four or five minutes would be required to drive up to the traffic signal at the M 21 and U.S. 27 intersection.

According to the newspaper account of the Springer accident, the boy rode into the side of the moving automobile, which presumably had its headlights on. Apparently he was unaware of the meaning of the stop sign and who can say whether he failed to see the oncoming auto or expected it to be able to stop as quickly as his bicycle?

Whatever the case, mechanical devices are a poor and inadequate substitute for education and training.

Richard's death leaves a void and sorrow in our community but it would be regrettable to let misguided emotions use this for an excuse to cause a traffic signal to be erected that would, at best, benefit only a few people and while quite likely increasing the accident rate at the intersection will, of a certainty, inconvenience many thousands of motorists every week on this major state trunkline.

DAVID L. SMITH, DeWitt

What's wrong with this procedure?

To the Editor:

I read in the Lansing State Journal (Thursday, July 16) that the Treasury Department Chief planned no discipline for agents who sought to compel librarians in several cities to give them unlimited access to files, to identify readers of books on explosives and militant and subversive material. But if these techniques are used again punishment will follow.

I would like to ask what is wrong with this procedure. If they can get any information on who is doing these bombings etc., it would save a lot of lives and property damage.

It seems today that a good share of our laws are made to protect the criminal instead of the innocent. I think we should all write to our legislators and get a few laws made that will help our country. Instead of destroying it.

ALDEN G. BUNGE, DeWitt

Banninga's column relevant

To the Editor:

I am writing to commend you for the added new feature which was printed in the Clinton County News this week.

I refer to the very excellent sermon written by the Rev. Hugh Banninga. Not only was it relevant to the condition of America today but it also contained a message of hope which was heartening to the reader.

It is my earnest hope that these sermons will be a continuing feature of our Clinton County News.

Building and Grounds Committee

An answer

By TIM YOUNKMAN

The Founding Fathers of this Republic would have a definite answer for those self-righteous citizens of society who balk at the idea of needing a fair and unbiased press in our society.

During their lifetimes such revered patriarchs of our heritage as George Washington, Samuel Adams, John Adams and Alexander Hamilton never lived under a system of a truly free press in America.

The newspapers of their day, before the Revolution, were shackled by the British Crown, forced to pay tribute and print only government propaganda. After all, that is why the Committees of Correspondence were formed—to disseminate the views of the more radical continental people.

After the successful break with England, the newspapers, generally, were part of the political party network. Each spouting the views of several governmental heads paying little heed to the needs of the new nation.

Today, the need for news is greater—and with it the responsibility for bringing in-depth reporting to the citizens is even more awesome.

It is only common sense to realize that in our political power would like nothing better than the endorsement of a free press, to support their own image as doing the best for their nation.

However, when justice and sincerity and the welfare of humanity are the issues, it is the definite duty of a free press to point out excessive abuse.

For example, in the past year, the free press in America has come under attack by the Administration, the military and some of the citizens, all of whom know or care little about the process of newsgathering.

To these individuals and groups, the press has been attacking the issue of their competency to handle the affairs of this nation. To the press, criticizing the people in authority is a necessity to a democratic society.

A fair example is the news reporting from Vietnam. It was revealed last week by a special House investigating group, that the alleged massacre at My Lai was covered up by the Army.

The reporter who originally uncovered the facts surrounding that bloody day in March, 1968, has been under attack for more than two years.

The usual argument against his reporting the incident centers on the fact that this is war, and if civilians or suspected enemies are killed, it's just too bad.

That type of logic can be found, not only in this community, but right on up to the highest levels of our government.

This reporter had discovered something that the Army was trying to keep secret.

His first question was "Why?" Why didn't the Army report the dead people as enemy agents or sympathizers, and let it go at that?

Why were all official records of that operation missing from any military, or government file in the United States or foreign base?

Why were sinister remarks uttered by soldiers who were ordered to go back to My Lai dealt with severely by U.S. officials?

There were other questions undertaken by the subcommittee from the House Armed Services Committee. None of which would be asked had not the reporter followed up his questions.

This nation must have some sort of check on governmental and military power, or it could easily fall into the grasp of unthinking or diabolical forces bent on world domination. And believe me, this nation has the resources necessary for such an attempt.

The free press is one of the reasons we remain a free society.

To call for strict controls and licensing of the newsmen would put us back to the days of King George and the stamp act.

To stifle news because it doesn't agree with your politics is a sign of a weak society. I am inclined to believe that we are not a weak people nor are we afraid of justice wherever and whenever necessary.

To do otherwise would be admitting that Mr. Stalin and Mr. Hitler were right when they said that the masses are stupid and are happiest when ignorant.

There was no free press around for their subordinates to know otherwise.

Too many men from our land have died defending the right of free expression to allow their descendants or contemporaries to overthrow that ideal from inside with the scratching of a pen.

Abortion reform: a priest's view

By REV. HUGH BANNINGA

The Christian outlook on proposed abortion laws in Michigan is varied, to put it mildly.

The abortion law reform issue is a "touchy" one within the Christian churches all over the country. In Michigan it is as touchy as in other states.

There are many people who strongly oppose the proposed legislation for a variety of reasons, and there are many who support the proposed legislation for a different set of reasons.

I'm sure you are aware of the fact that the proposed legislation went down to defeat this spring. If you followed the daily debate through the news media, you were made aware of the arguments for and against.

The difficulty in arriving at a Christian outlook on the abortion issue is that there are many valid arguments on both sides of the issue.

And when all the arguments have been made "pro" and "con," we still end up with a "tie" ball game.

So where do we go from there? There's not space enough in this article to go into the full debate of the issue, so to start the ball rolling, let me state my thinking as a Christian and as a priest of the Church.

The first thing I want to say is that the human fetus—the unborn child at any stage of development (from conception to full term) is a human life.

And I emphasize the word "human." The fetus is not that of a cow, or a bird, or an elephant, or a dog. It is a living human fetus.

The next thing I want to say is that any attempt to abort a human fetus by human hands has to be considered as murder. To willfully take the life of a "human" organism is, by definition, murder.

Any attempt to come to grips with the issue of abortion must include this realization. Instead of rationalizing in order to ease our consciences, let us admit that abortion by human hands is murder.

Now, having said that, I believe there are certain conditions under which I would approve of what we are talking about—legal abortion.

In all honesty I cannot bring myself to the position that abortion should never, under any circumstances, be performed by competent hands. There are too many extraordinary circumstances to be considered. I believe there are situations in which the best answer would be for the unborn fetus not to be born into this world.

Let me list them. These are the situations in which I would approve the termination of pregnancy by competent physician.

- 1. A clear cut situation of incest.
 - 2. A clear-cut situation of rape.
 - 3. Definite proof that giving birth would seriously damage the mother's physical and/or mental health.
- I disagree with the thinking that the only person who has the right to decide whether she wants to go through with an abortion is the woman who is pregnant.

This kind of thinking can only lead to the further moral decay of our society. Many young women on college campuses have discovered they were pregnant, had an abortion and said they had no guilt feelings about it later.

Well, I predict that such a cheap attitude toward human life will eventually have an adverse effect on these young women.

Besides, with the technological advances of contraceptive devices and the "pill" today, there is no good reason for any woman, married or not, finding herself in the position of an unwanted pregnancy.

Prevention of conception is the way to plan a family, not the inhuman way of abortion.

It seems that I have contradicted myself in this article. I have said that abortion is murder. Then I say that I approve of abortion in certain cases.

Does this mean I approve of murder? By no means.

It means that I am faced with a moral dilemma.

I have to determine for myself what is the most loving decision when faced with the morally ambiguous situations of incest, rape, health of the mother, and grossly abnormal child.

So in these situations I have decided that it would be better for the unborn human fetus not to be born. I have decided that the human suffering that would result from the decision against abortion would be too painful and ought to be avoided.

This article certainly is not a complete discussion of the abortion issue. It is only my personal viewpoint and a sketchy one at that.

Also it is not definitive; I am constantly evaluating my position, and am open to constructive criticism.

So I appeal to you the reader to think about this issue and send your reactions to me directly or to the Clinton County News. With your response we can discuss the issue further in future articles.

View from the 87th

More survey findings

By REP. WILLIAM S. BALLENGER

As I reported last week, my 1970 legislative questionnaire, mailed out about the middle of March, was so lengthy that I will have to report the results in installments. This week, I will report the results of the questions on snowmobiles, litter, environment and recreation, and traffic safety.

In general, citizens of the 87th House District seem to feel that snowmobiling must be recognized as one of Michigan's fastest growing activities—an activity which public facilities should be opened to but which licensing and certain restrictions should be imposed upon.

For example, when asked if they felt public facilities, such as parks, should be opened to snowmobiles in hopes of easing abuse of private property, the 1,981 respondents answered: 53.7 per cent Yes; 32.9 per cent No; and 13.4 per cent Undecided.

Should snowmobile operators be licensed? 79 per cent of my respondents felt they should; 15 per cent felt they shouldn't; six per cent were undecided.

Should an operating code restricting use of snowmobiles, especially during hunting seasons, be enforced? 82 per cent said Yes; 10.6 per cent said No; and 7.4 per cent were Undecided.

There seems to be nearly unanimous dissatisfaction with mounting litter in Clinton and Shiawassee Counties. When asked if they felt penalties for those convicted of littering should be made more severe, 86.7 per cent of my respondents said Yes; only 9.1 per cent said No; and 4.2 per cent were Undecided.

In addition, 89.4 per cent expressed approval of a bill (HB 2775) which would allow courts to impose a sentence of three days of litter gathering, in addition to any other sentence, on persons who violate anti-litter laws. Only 6.8 per cent opposed this idea, while 3.8 per cent were undecided.

The answers were fairly clear-cut to six widely different questions I posed on the subject of "Environment and Recreation."

When asked if they felt the Legislature should spend more state funds to combat water pollution, 85.2 per cent said Yes; 19.9 per cent said No; and 14.9 per cent were Undecided.

Enthusiasm was not so strong, however, in regards to curbing air pollution. When asked if they felt the Legislature should spend a higher percentage of the state budget to combat this problem, 48 per cent said Yes; 33.3 per cent said No; and 18.7 per cent were Undecided.

Should repairs to substandard housing be exempted from increased property assessment as a means of encouraging such improvements? 87.3 per cent said Yes; 23.1 per cent said No; and 9.8 per cent were Undecided.

Should the granting of licenses to kill antlerless deer during the regular hunting season be drastically reduced or eliminated? A strong 57.2 per cent said Yes; 21.4 per cent said No; and 21.4 per cent were Undecided.

Should Michigan citizens of more than 70 years of age be allowed to fish and hunt in the state at no cost to them? 78 per cent said Yes; 15.6 per cent said No; and 6.4 per cent were Undecided.

When asked if they felt the State Department of Natural Resources should be granted complete discretionary powers over fishing, hunting, etc., without interference from the Legislature, only 34.9 per cent said Yes; 48.3 per cent said No; and 16.8 per cent were Undecided.

In the field of traffic safety, citizens of Clinton and Shiawassee counties generally agreed that lowering speed limits is not really the answer to combating highway accidents but that cracking down on the drinking driver is. Area residents also expressed reasonable satisfaction with their county road system and a reluctance to pay more taxes in order to upgrade it.

When asked if they would be willing to pay more taxes to improve and expand their county road system, only 12.9 per cent of my Shiawassee respondents said Yes (apparently because most of them were satisfied with the road system in the first place); 56.4 per cent said No; and 30.7 per cent were Undecided.

Despite their lukewarm support of their county road system, only 28.2 per cent of my Clinton respondents expressed willingness to pay more taxes to upgrade their roads, while 36.7 per cent said No; and 35.1 per cent were Undecided.

When asked if they would be willing to pay more taxes to improve and expand their county road system, only 12.9 per cent of my Shiawassee respondents said Yes (apparently because most of them were satisfied with the road system in the first place); 56.4 per cent said No; and 30.7 per cent were Undecided.
