Six seek election to St Johns City Commission

ST JOHNS--The "first cut" for St Johns City Commission candidates will be Aug 7 when city voters go to the polls in a primary election to determine the candidates for the Nov 6 election. Running for city commission office are 2 incumbents, Jeanne Rand and Dr James Grost and 4 challengers, Cecil L Smith, Raymond Kentfield, Gerald Wilcox and John Arehart.

The 4 candidates with the most votes in the primary will be on the ballot Nov 6.

Following are brief background descriptions of each of the candidates:

DR JAMES GROST

Grost, 45, 894 W Park, a St Johns physician, has lived in the community for 20 years.

A graduate of Michigan State University, he obtained his doctor of medicine degree from the University of Michigan.

He has served on the City Commission since 1969, when he was appointed to fill a vacancy on the Commission.

He is a member of the St Johns Chamber of Commerce, Rotary, St Joseph's Parish, American Legion, Knights of Columbus, Michigan Association of Professions, County and State Medical Societies, American Medical Association, American Board of Family Practice and the St Johns Jaycees. While a member of the Jaycees, he received the organization's Distinguished Service Award.

He and his wife, Inger, have 7 children, Kathy, Mike, Lynne, Eric, Mark, Tim and Karen.

Grost cited his reasons and goals for seeking re-election as: "To continue further development of responsible city management policies of the past few years which have brought about a welcome high level of fiscal stability while maintaining overall tax rates at a level which is not excessive.

"To continue to encourage and expand the degree of citizen participation in city government that is exemplified by the achievements of the Park Board and the Parking Lot Board.

"To continue to press for a solution to the long standing problems of storm water and sanitary sewage. For the 1st time, a solution is now available and its implementation depends on voter approval of necessary funds.

"To continue to encourage further development of an attitude in city government which inspires community trust and confidence. With this we can enjoy further orderly growth, meeting the needs of residents and, at the same time, remaining receptive and responsive to the desires of a better informed and increasingly involved citizenry."

JEANNE RAND

Jeanne Rand, 204 Oak St, is a native of St Johns and is part owner of Jeanne's Beans Restaurant at 1000 N Lansing St in St Johns.

She is a graduate of Rodney B. Wilson High School and attended Wayne State University.

She has served 7 years as city commissioner; served 4 years as vice-major, 4 years on the City Planning Commission and is president of the Senior Citizen Housing Project. She also served as executive secretary of the American Red Cross in Clinton County for 4 years.

She is a member of the St Johns Congregational Church.

She and her husband, Robert C. Rand have 2 children Ward Rand and Jim Smith.

Stating her goals as a commissioner she said, "I would like to be re-elected for another term as I'm concerned with the community of St Johns and its citizens. Just recently, when we received Reveue Sharing money, I voted to drop 1 mill from the property taxes. I think my record over the past 7 years speaks for itself and my desire to be fair, but firm when necessary, for the good of the community and beneficial for the majority.

"I am not a joiner of clubs or social functions, but have devoted my time and energies as a public servant. My desire to acquire housing for the need has not waned and I hope to continue working toward that goal. My attendance record would speak of my dedication to city business as I have missed only 9 regular meetings in 7 years.

"Therefore I would like to be re-elected to continue the work I've been involved in and see some of the projects now started carried through to completion.

JOHN AREHART

John Arehart, 31, 410 E Higham, has been a resident of St Johns for 5 years. He is employed as a teacher in the St Johns Public School system, and works on the Michigan Migrant Education Project during the summer months.

He and his wife, Kay, have 4 children, Elizabeth and Margaret, 6; Jim, 3, and Joe, 1. Arehart received a BA from the University of Notre Dame, and an MA from Western Michigan University.

He is a member of the St Johns Education Association, where he has served as association representative, membership secretary, vice president, and chief negotiator of the professional negotiation committee. He is also a Jaycee, and has served on the board of directors and as internal vice president, was general chairman of the Clinton County Soap Box Derby, and is a member of St Joseph Catholic Church.

Arehart said he believes St Johns is a good place to live, but that it could be a better place to live if more people would become involved in public service. He also said that government should be responsive to the wishes of the voters, and said he will listen.

RAYMOND KENTFIELD

Raymond Kentfield, 59, 103 S Traver, previously served 14 years on the City Commission, and 4 years as mayor. A graduate of St Johns High School, he is currently employed as a decorating contractor.

He and his wife, Dorothy, have 2 children, Terry and Sherry, both of whom are married. Kentfield is past president of the Lions Club, past member of the Clinton County Board of Directors, and was on the fire department for 28 years.

He is seeking election to the board because he feels his past experience would be of value to the board. "Problems that could be solved aren't being solved," he said. Kentfield was born in St Johns.

GERALD WILCOX

Gerald V. Wilcox, 36, 405 S Traver, is also seeking election to the City Commission. A resident of St Johns for 7 years, he is employed by the state as a drainage engineer.

His education includes a BS in civil engineering from Michigan Technological University and an MS in hydrology, also from Michigan Tech. He is a registered professional engineer, having passed the state board examination.

Wilcox is currently serving on the Little League board, is a past member of Rotary and the Chamber of Commerce, past City Planning Director, past City Drainage Engineer, was chairman of the board of directors of the United Methodist Church, was on the Red Cross board of directors, and on the Clinton County Country Club board of directors.

Wilcox and his wife, Marjorie, have 3 children, David, 12; Sara, 5; and Mike, 2 months.

He is seeking election because of the pending millage proposal for the sewer and expansion of the sewage treatment plant. "I want to do something for the commission in my vocation," he told the County News. Wilcox noted that "nobody else on the commission has these qualifications.

CECIL SMITH

Cecil Smith, 43, 718 S Lansing, has lived in St Johns for 27 years. A graduate of Rodney B Wilson High School. He served 4 years in the US Navy. He also underwent 4 years of apprenticeship school at General Motors, and is currently employed in skilled trades at Oldsmobile.

He is presently commander of the American Legion, a member of 40 & 8, and St Joseph's Parish. He served on the Olive Twp Planning Commission from 1968-1970.

He and his wife Joan have 4 children, Ann, Lee, Cheryl and Eric.

Smith said he "has no magic formulas," but is qualified to handle the "2 or 3 major problems confronting the present City Commission--water, sewer, and zoning." He said the taxes should not go any higher, and feels the city should learn to live within a budget.

He feels that people should be contacted, and their opinions and desires followed.

One major change Smith proposed is the addition of 2 more members on the commission so a "more representative group" should be elected--"a more representative group, rather than just business or professional people... maybe a housewife or factory worker.

St Johns sewer proposal to be on special election ballot

ED NOTE -- The following news release was furnished by the St Johns City Commission following a special meeting Monday at 12:15 pm to approve the ballot proposal for a special election Sept 11.

ST JOHNS -- At a special meeting Monday July 30, the St Johns City Commission took the final step in authorizing the Sept 11 special election by apportioning sewer and storm sewer General Obligation

Bonding Propositions. The first of 2 questions concerns the Sanitary Proposal and reads as follows: Shall the City of St Johns, County of Clinton, Michigan, borrow the principal sum of not to exceed Nine Hundred Thousand ($900,000) Dollars and issue its general obligation unlimited tax bonds therefor, for the purpose of defraying part of the cost of acquiring and constructing additions and improvements to the existing Sanitary Sewer System of the City consisting of improving the wastewater treatment plant and installing an interceptor and lift station, together with all necessary attachments and appurtenances thereto? The funds derived from this proposal would be used as the city's 20% monetary match in order to secure a federal grant of 75% and a state grant of 5% for the purpose of funding the treatment plant expansion and the south end sewer.

Bath voters approve new high school

BATH--Bath voters turned out Monday in large numbers to approve the construction of a new high school and remodeling of the present facilities to house middle school students. The 3rd time a new high school has been proposed, voters approved its construction at a cost of not to exceed $2,900,000, which includes remodeling and expansion of the present building. The proposal passed, with 522 yes votes and 389 nos.

A 2nd proposal, which called for construction of a swimming pool at a cost of $350,000, was defeated by a margin of 100 votes. The tally for this proposal was 402 yes, 502 no votes.

Superintendent Roger Carlson reported Tuesday that he planned to meet with architects and begin finalization of plans for the new facility. Before actual building can begin, the school district must first get final plans approved by the state and sell bonds to finance the endeavor.

"We hope to begin construction next spring," he said, "As soon as the ground thaws."

Another hearing scheduled for railroad crossing

ST JOHNS -- The railroad crossing situation in St Johns returns again another hearing with the Public Service Commission will be held Aug 23 in Lansing.

The Public Service Commission, in earlier hearings, said several changes had to be made concerning crossings in St Johns but the City Commission objected strongly to the extent and costs of the changes.

Recommendations made to the city included modernization of the signal protection at some of the crossings, the addition of half roadway gates, installation of new crossback signs and blocking off of some street-railroad intersections.

Members of the Commission felt the changes were, not only too costly, but were being recommended in an arbitrary manner by state officials.

In a written report by the Public Service Commission, it was pointed out that St Johns City Commission members were in such strong disagreement with the state agency that they walked out "during the meeting."

Visiting choir to present concert

ST JOHNS -- Kinderkooer Epen, a children's choir visiting St Johns from the Netherlands, will present a free public concert Aug 2 at 8 pm in Pocus Auditorium.

A formal reception will be held following the concert. St Johns High School band director Walter Cole encourages area residents to attend the concert.

"We want to make them feel welcome," he said.

St Johns firemen tested the pumping capacity of all the department's trucks last week. Capt Gary Blidinger (center) noted that these tests are made on an annual basis.

The purpose of the system would be primarily to alleviate the flooding experienced in the city's southern sections and to service those areas of the city not presently served by municipal utilities.

The funding of these two projects combined would be as follows:

Local	$902,00	20%
State	225,500	5%
Federal	3,382,500	75%
	$4,510,000

The second ballot question concerns the storm sewer proposal and reads as follows:

Shall the City of St Johns, County of Clinton, Michigan, borrow the principal sum of Housing may be a problem

The Tri-County region of Clinton, Eaton and Ingham Counties will need more than 37,397 new housing units between 1970 and 1980 according to the regional housing study, "Housing Market Analysis: Tri-County Region of Michigan", recently published by the Tri-County Regional Planning Commission (TCRPC).

"Substantial efforts are needed to increase the supply of housing, particularly for persons with low and moderate incomes, and to ensure that housing is located in well-served locations and suitable living environments", said Larry

Schneider, TCRPC housing planner.

One major obstacle to this goal is the rising cost of housing. Owner occupied units valued at more than $15,000 increased from 30 percent in 1960 to 62% in 1970. Just about 4,000 households paid more than $100 rent per month in 1960, but in 1970 the figure increased six times to 24,000 households.

THE STUDY INDICATES that these problems need to be dealt with at various levels. For example, housing should be related to other elements of the region's profile. Employment centers, shopping opportunities, recreational facilities the transportation system, and sewer and water facilities are all important considerations in making sure housing is built in well-served locations.

In addition, new approaches should be sought to keep home-owner and renter expenses from rising faster than incomes. Labor saving devices, financing reforms, zoning ordinance and subdivision regulation modifications, and tax reforms are tools which could be used to provide adequate housing that is designed to fit the pocket-book.

OTHER GOALS, in the housing study include: eliminating existing housing deficiencies and preventing future ones, providing a wide range of housing types within neighborhoods i.e. multiple-unit dwellings, single family, and duplexes, encouraging the implementation of owner-occupied housing programs, and lowering the concentration of poverty level households in the city of Lansing.

The purpose of the study was to analyze regional housing needs for all income levels, and to find ways to meet these needs. An information exchange program was established with builders, building officials, and realtors to obtain the data to analyze the current and future regional housing market in light of past trends.

Auto Club says unfounded gas shortage fear hurts state tourism

Because financing is a primary housing problem, governmental policies should encourage the investment of private funds in residential construction.

An unfounded fear of not being able to buy gasoline is cited as the major reason for at least a 10 percent drop in tourism so far this summer in many northern Michigan resort areas, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"This decline is even more alarming when it is considered that for the past five years tourism has been growing at a 10 to 15 percent rate annually," states Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager.

"A tourism drop in northern Michigan apparently has resulted in many motorists traveling near home to conserve fuel," Ratke points out. "This factor has boosted southern Michigan tourism somewhat, but not enough to offset a general decline across the state."

"Cancelling travel plans to northern resort areas is unfortunate since the biggest problem area for obtaining gas is south of a line from Bay City to Ludington," he adds.

Two-thirds of the northern Lower Peninsula stations are operating normally and 80 percent of the Upper Peninsula stations are open the same as before the shortage developed. Three of four stations limiting operations to conserve fuel are located in southern Lower Michigan.

"Despite the availability of gas, a number of northern motel, campground and tourist attraction managers are reporting business drops ranging from 10 to 15 percent," states Ratke.

An Auto Club travel counter survey shows that many motorists are hesitant to drive to resort areas because they fear running out of gas. One-third of the persons requesting travel information from Auto Club have asked about availability of gasoline for their trip.

An Auto Club survey of tourism operations indicates substantial drops across portions of Michigan as compared with last year:

- o Nearly half the state park campgrounds have an average five percent decrease in attendance.
- o Early summer requests for maps and routings at 57 Auto Club offices across the state are down five percent.
- o Nearly half of 35 East Michigan businesses surveyed from the Saginaw Valley north report tourism down 12 percent.
- o West Michigan barometers include tourism drops of up to 25 percent in the Muskegon, Grand Traverse and Holland areas.
- o Upper Peninsula tourism is down 16 percent for the first half of July. Mackinac Bridge crossings are down 10 percent for the first 25 days of July compared to a year ago.
- o Chamber of Commerce representatives in Gaylord, Muskegon, Standish, Mackinaw City, St Ignace and Sault Ste Marie report a tourism drop ranging from five to 25 percent.

"One Petoskey resort owner says business is off 35 percent through July 15 while a Holland motel operator claims this month has been the poorest in his area in 11 years," states Ratke.

"Tourism is the state's second biggest revenue producer, grossing more than $1.65 billion last year," states Ratke. "Michigan could face a serious economic setback if the tourism decline continues through the summer."

Ratke emphasizes that the tourism outlook is not an entirely bleak one because some tourist attractions in southern Michigan are booming.

This is especially the case in the Metropolitan Detroit area, where 50,000 more persons have attended Dearborn's Greenfield Village, and Henry Ford Museum than the first half of 1972. Bob-Lo boat attendance figures also are up 28 percent over last year, and tourist not to exceed One Million Four Hundred Fifty Thousand ($1,450,000) Dollars, and issue its general obligation unlimited tax bonds therefor, for the purpose of defraying the cost of acquiring and constructing additions and improvements to the Storm Sewer System of the City, together with all necessary attachments and appurtenances thereto?

The fund derived from this proposal would be used to construct and implement the storm sewer system which includes replacement of undersized sewer, new lateral sewers for areas previously unserved or sanitary lines and truck served incorrectly by sewers for the speedy carrying away of water to new holding ponds and outlet ditches.

This project would be locally funded as indicated in the following breakdown:

Truck Sewers	$ 830,126
Lateral Sewers	172,453
Replace Sewers	351,321
Holding Ponds	96,000
	$1,449,900

In the case of the sanitary system the outlet means capacity needed to serve the city and proper treatment as demanded by the State Water Resources Commission and the Federal Environmental Protection Agency.

In the case of the storm system the outlet means a route and method for allowing the water to flow its natural course without overtaxing the County Drainage system

The proposals to be presented to the community September 11, 1973, represents extensive study and planning to provide storm and sanitary systems for the present and future needs of our city.

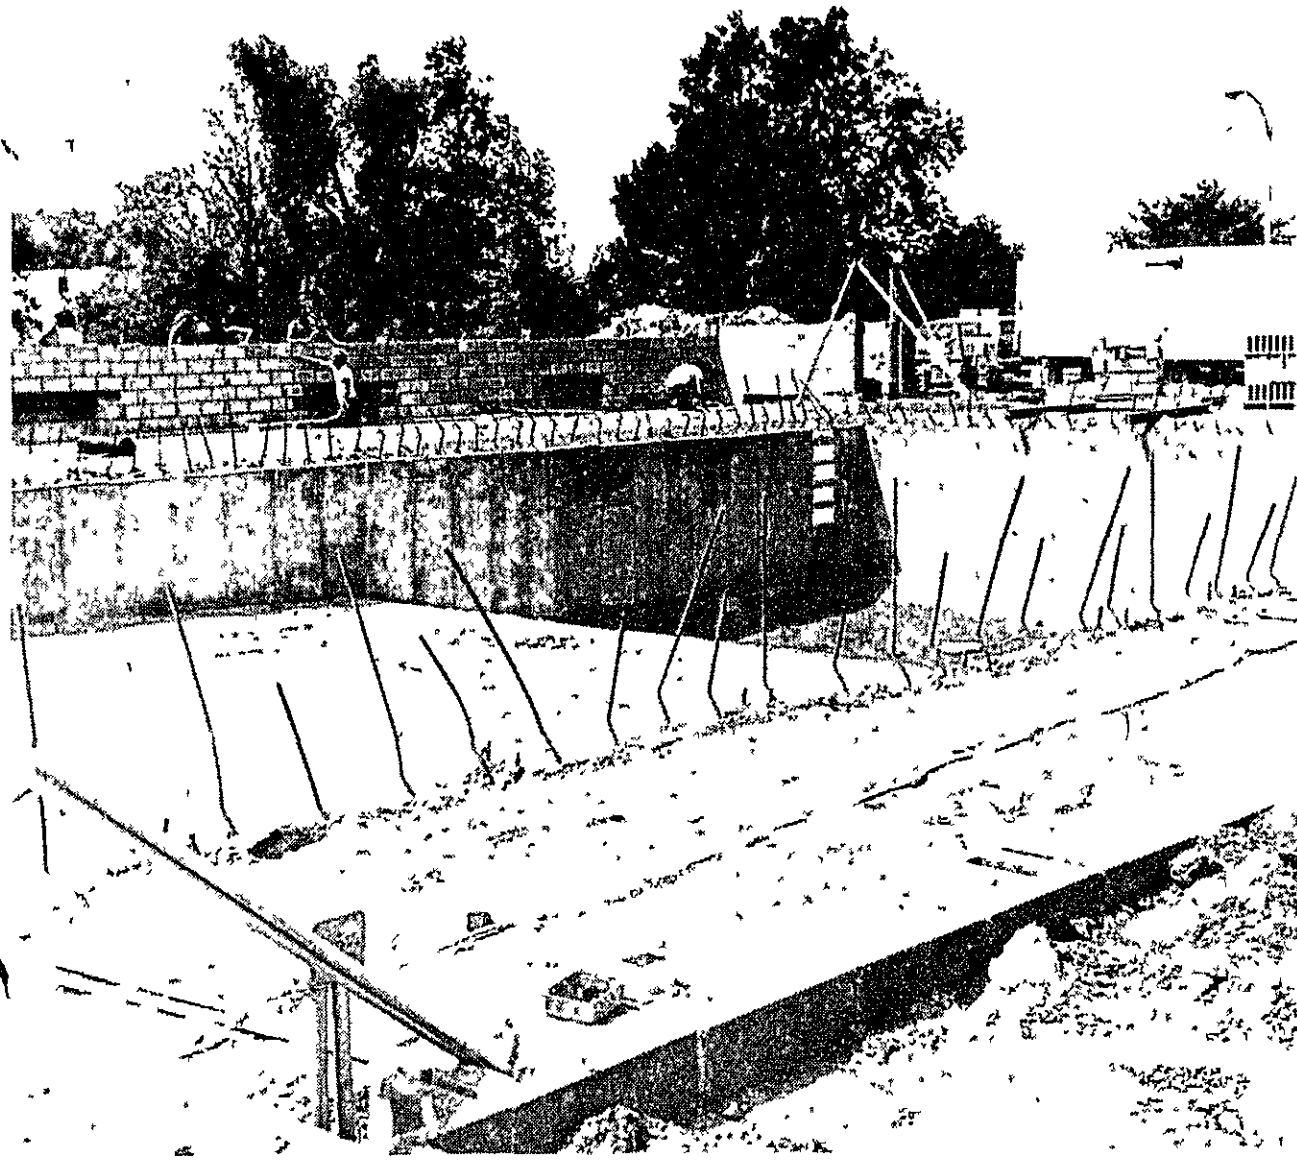

Both systems are similar in that they need proper lines for transportation of flows and adequate outlets.

meet the present and future needs our community faces. The federal and state funding also hangs in the balance.

"For years," City officials explained the sight of rain has brought inconvenience, hardship, and even personal property loss to our residents.

The inadequacy of our systems have caused flooded streets, flooded basements, and made it impossible to even provide services to many portions of our community."

The exact millage amount has not been set, but Major Robert Wood said the Commission has decided it will not exceed 4.42 mills.

Darci Easlick weds Kenneth Carpenter

Darci Lynn Easlick, daughter of Mr and Mrs Carl F Easlick, 15340 Upton Rd, East Lansing, and Kenneth Lee Carpenter of Haslett, son of Mr and Mrs Shirley J Gilmore, 310 W Stoll Rd, DeWitt, were united in marriage July 14 at the Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints at Rose Lake.

Elder Earl Premoe performed the double ring ceremony before an altar adorned with white carnations and yellow roses. Mrs Dickie Six, Bath, played the "Wedding March" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride wore a full length white gown featuring an empire waist and long sleeves, with satin covered buttons at the wrists. Her full length train was trimmed with brocade lace, and she wore a shoulder length veil. The bridal bouquet consisted of white carnations, yellow roses, baby's breath, and blue leaves.

Carol Goff of Laingsburg was maid of honor, while Irene LaPratt of Holt was her other attendant. The maid of honor wore a full length lavender crepe gown with an empire waist and long sleeves, and carried a bouquet of white carnations and lavender tinted daisies. Ms LaPratt was attired in a pale pink gown of the same styling and carried a bouquet of white carnations and pink daisies with baby's breath. Each wore a picture hat.

Mrs Easlick selected a blue and aqua street length dress, while Mrs Carpenter chose a pink street length dress. Each had a pink rose corsage.

MRS KENNETH CARPENTER

Elsie

MRS. NEVA KEYS
Ph. 862-4301

Mr and Mrs Cayle Sloat of 6807 Vincent Rd., Elsie have returned from a four day vacation trip to Mansfield, Missouri, located in the heart of the Ozarks near Springfield.

This was the realization of a dream Mrs Sloat has had for years - to visit the Laura Ingalls Wilder Home and Museum.

During Mrs Sloat's more than 20 years of teaching 4th and 5th grade students in the Ovid-Elsie-Owosso area, she used all of the "Little House" books written by the greatly loved and internationally known Laura Ingalls Wilder.

Well known as a writer of children's books, Mrs Wilder's "Little House" series became popular with all ages as well as the parents.

Some of the books have been translated into several languages and read by a half million children since the first one was published in 1932.

The true history of the Ingalls family in their trek by long covered wagon journeys in the early years from New York to homes in Wisconsin, Kansas, Minnesota, South Dakota and Missouri was brought out in the "Little House" books.

The Sloats' trip included Fort Wayne, Bloomington, St Louis and farm lands where some of the soybeans and corn were in their second or third planting because of the floods and excessive rains. However they observed that crops in Indiana and Illinois were in fine shape.

Gasoline was not too plentiful they said and was sold in smaller amounts and in some places not over ten gallons to a customer.

Mr and Mrs Charles Crell and their mother, Mrs Aletha Lipp recently returned from a four day vacation in Northern Michigan and Canada.

Included was one day train tour from Saulte Ste Marie. They returned home through Ontario along the Georgian Bay crossing back to Michigan by way of Port Huron.

Hiram Lipp underwent surgery Tuesday at the Clinton Memorial Hospital in St Johns.

country ever more wonderful.

Mrs Sloat said there were 113 visitors registered on the day previous to her visit to the Home and Museum.

She brought back many items of interest to display in the Elsie Public Library concerning the author. The local library has a complete collection of the "Little House" series.

The home of Laura Ingalls Wilder is now on the National Register of Historic Homes since it was here that she wrote the beloved "Little House" books.

Insurance training offered at MSU

EAST LANSING -- Insurance education programs at Michigan State University provide a brighter future for many a young or middle-aged adult who chooses not to enter college on a full-time basis.

One of many facets of the university's Continuing Education Service, the insurance program, helps to provide insurance agents and office personnel with skills and information to advance them in careers and to help them to provide better insurance service to the people of Michigan.

MSU's insurance program is the most comprehensive university-based insurance training effort in the nation, according to Don Aschom, who has directed the program for the past eight years.

The insurance industry, itself, helps to finance and staff the programs and provides scholarships for its members. Also, some of the most successful insurance men and women help to staff the program.

More than 2,500 are expected to participate in 28 insurance programs already scheduled for 1973-74. Most of the programs are residential courses in MSU's Kellogg Center for Continuing Education, ranging from one to 14 weeks in length. Others meet one evening each week, and still others, only one day.

A total of 2,700 Michigan insurance company or agency employees got basic or advanced training in insurance programs last year.

Although many of the participants in the 1972-73 programs were those who had not had an opportunity to complete college, the number of college graduates participating increased. So did the number of older people who changed careers in midpassage, seeking a more rewarding life.

Information on the insurance program of MSU's Continuing Education Service may be obtained by writing or calling the Insurance Program Office, 56 Kellogg Center for Continuing Education, MSU, East Lansing, Mich, 48823 (telephone (517) 353-7840.

This is last year for homestead tax exemption

Michigan income tax credits.
 A new law, known as Act 20 of the Public Acts of 1973, sets up 4 categories of homestead tax credits: 1 for blind persons, another for qualified veterans or veteran's widows, another for senior citizens, and a credit for all those persons who do not fall in one of these 3 classes.
 Actual computation of the credit is complicated. But, according to Attorney General Frank J. Kelley, will hopefully be simplified by schedules presently being prepared by income tax administrators.
 The new law provides that no person can make a claim in more than 1 capacity. He or she must either elect to claim as a blind person, a veteran or veteran's widow, or a senior citizen. No person is allowed double credit, even though he may be both a veteran and a blind person. The 'tax credits' are designed to benefit persons of low income; ie, the more expensive a homestead, the less the property tax credit.
 The credit is limited to $500 and must be claimed on the income tax return filed within 6 months after the end of the taxable year for which the credit is claimed.
 The homestead tax credit applies also to renter of homesteads. The renter's credit assumes that 17 percent of the gross rent paid is the lieu of property taxes. The credit also applies to rental payments for space in a licensed trailer coach park and to the specific tax paid on trailer coaches. These payments are, for credit purposes, deemed to be property taxes.

County agents to use parasites to control weevils

Bill Lasher, Clinton County agricultural agent, is hoping to use parasites to control the alfalfa weevil and greatly diminish the use of insecticides in Clinton County.
 Lasher teamed with other county extension agents from lower Michigan and Michigan State University scientists at MSU's Gull Lake Experiment Station in June in an effort to capture Microctonus aethiops, a natural parasite of the alfalfa weevil.
 Lasher then took parasitized, adult weevils back to Clinton County where he released them in test fields which had been neither sprayed nor cut. If the program is successful, the parasite will multiply sufficiently to control the alfalfa weevil population and reduce the need for insecticides.

"The alfalfa weevil infests about 800,000 acres in Michigan, costing farmers about $1 million per year in hay losses and control costs," says Lasher.
 "The alfalfa weevil can destroy 20 percent or more of an alfalfa crop," he said. "On the average, this means about a half-a-ton per acre which is a lot of feed."
 The pest can be controlled by insecticide spraying, but this method is undesirable.

"Alfalfa is a low-value crop and pesticide spraying is relatively expensive," said Lasher, "with the aid of the parasite, we can do the job with very little trouble or cost."

Get a health checkup. Find out the lump in your throat is only emotion.

One of the best things you can do to keep in good health is to have a checkup. The reason's simple. Cancer -- if detected early enough -- can often be cured. So even if your checkup does reveal a problem, you've probably caught it early enough to do something about it.
 Your checkup probably won't reveal anything serious. Most people who have checkups discover they're in pretty good health.
 So have a checkup. Regularly. Find out you're in better shape than you think you are.

We want to wipe out cancer in your lifetime. Give to the American Cancer Society.

 Dear friends,
 It deserves emphasis that the time, the place, the character of the funeral service, the merchandise used, the cemetery selected - these are decisions of the family of the deceased. The funeral director acts only as a representative of the family.
 The clergyman should be consulted in matters that concern him before any decisions are made.

"This is Your Music" open house draws crowd of over 350.

Over 350 musicians, square dance callers, friends and relatives attended the "This is Your Music" open house for Arnold Stevens at Club Roma July 22nd. In addition to visitors from throughout Mid-Michigan, the honored guest received phone calls from California and Kentucky. The event was sponsored by "The Musicmakers," a popular mid-Michigan band which has evolved from a group formed by Stevens some 40 years ago. The day's activities included a near 7 hour jam session, with many musicians who played with Stevens through the years sitting in. Aside from the session, old acquaintances were renewed and pictures were exchanged and taken.

Congratulatory calls came from William Allison of Fresno, Calif, Jack Crowner of Louisville, Ky and Dick Swatman of Garden Grove, Calif. All were formerly from this area and played with Stevens. Alva Hartman served as MC of a program which sketched Stevens' musical career from 1928 to the present. Many musicians and friends on hand added their comments during the review.

At the end Stevens was presented with a plaque bearing the following inscription: "For his contribution through music to the enrichment, fulfillment and fellowship of musicians and for the enjoyment he has provided to thousands of listeners and dancers over the past forty years." The plaque was presented to Stevens by his nephew, Gayle Desprez, who now directs the Musicmakers.

Among those on hand for the open house were Margaret Ernest, the first piano player with the original Arnold Stevens group, and her daughter, Molly Bacon, who has also played with the Musicmakers for several years. Special recognition went to Mr and Mrs Gaylord Desprez for being the couple longest married in attendance (42 years) at whose wedding Stevens played

The affair was hosted by Joann Thompson who began playing with Stevens' band when she was 16. Other present members of "The Musicmakers" in attendance were Mr and Mrs Gayle Desprez, Mr and Mrs Alva Hartman and Mr and Mrs Ross Myers.

The mid-Michigan area was well represented at the open house as guests came from Corunna, Owosso, Davison, Brighton, Gladwin, Crystal Lake, Ithaca, Minden City, Grand Ledge, Birmingham, Lansing, DeWitt, Maple Rapids, St Johns, and Ovid.

Stevens and his wife, Betty (Moinet), reside on south DeWitt Road, and will celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary this fall. They have a daughter, Linda, who is a 1973 graduate of St Johns High School. Stevens' father, Clair who is 95, also lives with them.

Put-take pheasant permit good for all areas

LANSING -- A put-take pheasant permit (along with a 1973 Michigan small game or sportsman's license) will enable a hunter to take 2 birds a day -- of either sex -- from any of the 15 state game and recreation areas where the first extensive Department of Natural Resources put-take season goes into effect September 29 and extends through March 1, 1974.

A free permit is required of all persons before hunting pheasants on the designated and posted put-take pheasant hunting areas. There is no limit to the number of permits that will be issued. One permit entitles the hunter to hunt on any or all of the designated put-take pheasant areas for the entire season.

State game areas where put-take hunting will be allowed include designated portions of Barry, Dansville, Bedford, Flat River, Gourdneck, Gregory, Lapeer, Lowell, Portland, Sharonville and Shiawassee River.

Sunday hunting will be banned in the Gregory State Game Area, and the put-take season will not begin until December 1 in the Shiawassee River area.

State recreation areas involved in the program include Sleepy Hollow, Bald Mountain, 2 segments of the Holly area and Ionia. Although the season will begin September 29 in the Ionia and Sleepy Hollow areas, it will end December 16. It may be extended by the DNR, however, on a weekly review basis, if the snow is not deep enough for snowmobiling.

Thursday and Friday pheasant hunting will be prohibited on all the put-take areas throughout the 5-month season, except during the October 20-November 10 regular pheasant season.

Special put-take signs will be placed along the boundaries of those portions of state game and recreation areas designated for put-take hunting. Parking areas will be provided, where possible, on put-take area perimeters.

Additional information about the put-take program may be obtained at DNR regional and district offices, at DNR headquarters in Lansing and at the DNR's Detroit Information Office.

All permit applications must be made individually on a government postal card. To apply, address the card to yourself, type your name and address on the postage side of the card. Then mail the card in an envelope addressed to: Put-Take Pheasant Program, P.O. Drawer M, Lansing, Mich 48926. Applications by mail only -- must be postmarked before February 16, 1974.

ST. JOHNS WELCOMES

The Kinderkoor Epen

Children's Choir From Holland

SPONSORED BY BLUE LAKE FINE ARTS CAMP

Hosted by the Music Dept. of St. Johns High School

WALTER P. COLE

Mr. Cole, Director of Music at St. Johns Public Schools, is the local chairman for the Kinderkoor Epen. Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp sponsors this International Program. Mr. Cole indicated a hope that area residents would turn out in good numbers for the Thursday night concert at 8 p.m. in Pocius Auditorium.

JOOST MEIJER

Joost Meijer is the founder and director of the Kinderkoor Epen Choir group which will perform for area St. Johns and Clinton residents Thursday night, Aug. 2 at 8 p.m. in Pocius Auditorium at St. Johns High School. A formal reception will follow the concert.

The "Children's Choir Epen" was founded in 1965 with the original intention of adorning divine services. Their repertoire has expanded to include both liturgical and secular music. Presently the choir has 52 girls and boys between the ages of 8 and 18. Many concerts were given in South-Limburg, a tourist area which includes the town of Epen. As the reputation of the choir began to spread, invitations were forthcoming from several European countries. This has culminated in a tour of Canada and the United States in 1973. The repertoire now consists of international songs, many of which have been arranged for the choir by Jean Lambrechts. However, the greater part of the compositions are in Latin. Rob Van Wilgenburg is the organist and Joost Meijer is the founder and director of the Kinderkoor Epen.

Epen, by nature a blessed spot in Limburg, is situated quite close to the Belgium border, an ideal place for tourists in all seasons. Hilly country and vast woods makes this an excellent vacation spot for all of Holland and Europe. The people of Epen say, "Lucky are the people who visit it and lucky are the people who may live there."

Kelley says oil firms "enjoying spiraling profits"

Attorney General Kelley, in testifying before a special committee appointed by the Michigan Legislature to study the fuel shortage, said that "in the midst of this crisis, the major oil companies continue to enjoy spiraling profits." He explained that "Exxon, the largest oil company in the United States, experienced a startling 43% increase in profits during the first quarter of 1973, com-

Kelley says profits soar for major oil companies as supply slows to drip pared to the comparable period in 1972. In only one quarter, 3 short months, Exxon reaped profits in excess of half a billion dollars."

"Exxon has not been the only oil company to benefit from this shortage. The 5 largest oil companies' first quarter earnings were up 26% over last year. In fact, the increase in first quarter profits was 28%," Kelley added.

The Attorney General reminded the committee that "these profits were gained during a time of price controls, spiraling inflation, and disappointed gas purchasers. These profits were made when many businesses were forced to close or limit their activities because of fuel shortages."

"These profits were made at a time when state and local governments found themselves without bidders for gasoline and fuel oil contracts. These profits were made at a time when farmers were finding their fuel suppliers warning them that there would be no fuel available to harvest their crops. These profits were made at a time when businesses were having to lay off employees or curtail working hours because of lack of fuel," Kelley said. While Kelley said he would not draw conclusions about the fuel shortage until the committee had completed its investigation, he said that he is convinced that the fuel shortage "has caused some very real, pressing problems for the people of Michigan." He reminded the committee that, in his opinion, the Michigan Legislature has the power to enact comprehensive legislation aimed at regulating the industry with regard to anti-competitive, destructive and discriminatory business practices.

Gas shortage

attractions in the nearby Irish Hills have increased 15 percent.

"These increases show that many motorists still are traveling, but they are taking trips closer to home," says Ratke.

Chamber of Commerce spokesmen at Clare and Mt Pleasant report tourism is up throughout their areas because many travelers are stopping instead of heading farther north as in previous years.

Other areas reporting increases in tourism so far this summer, according to Chamber of Commerce figures, include: Ludington, Frankfort, West Branch, Alma, Three River, Hastings, Benton Harbor and Owosso.

"However, some of these tourism rises were caused by special community attractions, such as Ludington's Centennial and Frankfort's Glider Festival," explains Ratke.

Auto Club points out that motorists can be assured of gasoline wherever they travel in Michigan if these simple precautions are followed:

- o Drive on the top half tank, especially after 6 pm.
- o Fill tanks before 6 pm, especially in southern Michigan. By 9 pm, six of 10 gas stations are closed and nine of 10 close by midnight.
- o Fill tanks Saturday to avoid looking for an open station Sunday. Half of the state's gas stations are now closed Sunday, double the number before the gas shortage developed.

Diane is a fine example of leadership for she has spent her summer a way from college in organizing and coordinating a softball program for young girls in the sub-to-early teen ages. Her efforts have resulted in an excellent response to the two-league program which has included nearly 20 teams. While Diane has received help from mothers and other interested ladies, the concept and organization of the program has been her responsibility and her efforts have been rewarded with a fine group of happy girls with smiling faces. Outdated statutes Michigan's law books are a patchwork affair. They have been pasted together and amended a year at a time since statehood was achieved.

The result is that numerous laws become outdated or no longer necessary, but they remain on the books because no one notices they are there or worries about removing them.

That is the reason for efforts like those of House Judiciary Chairman J Bob Traxler, D-Bay City, to write a revised criminal code.

Now comes some up-to-date evidence of that antiquity of some of our laws from State Rep William R Bryant, Jr, R-Grosse Pointe.

Bryant put together the study and says he found "a hodge podge of laws enacted over scores of years with no attention paid to systematic review and updating.

"If we want people to respect our laws, and we do, and to obey them, those laws must be rational and acceptable to a great majority of people," he says. "Without this, our system of laws cannot survive."

For instance, Bryant found a law providing a prison term for anyone who "willfully blasphemes" or profanely curses or damns. At another point he found a 90 day jail sentence for anyone convicted of using "indecent, immoral, obscene, vulgar or insulting language in the presence or hearing of any woman or child."

That's sort of a double standard in reverse, since it appears okay to swear in front of men.

Another old time law conceivably could be used to ban the sale of cigarets in the state.

It forbids the sale or giving away to anyone "any cigaret containing any ingredient deleterious to health." And yet, every pack of cigarets sold in Michigan carries a warning that the Surgeon General has found cigaret smoking dangerous to health.

Movie posters and television ads involving violence appear to be banned by a statute which forbids any "representation of murder, assassination, stabbing, fighting or of any personal violence, or of the commission of any crime."

There are still laws on the books, put there in 1952, requiring all Communists to register, keeping Communists or the Communist Party off the ballot and precluding Communists from any public job, even though all those have been struck down by the Supreme Court.

Hot air balloons are banned by a law making illegal the possession or use of any "balloon which requires fire underneath to propel it."

Another law makes it a crime to advertise liquor using any reference to or the picture of "any deceased ex-president of the United States."

It is illegal for a man to seduce a woman, unless she is married, but it is legal for a woman to seduce a man.

It is illegal, but only in the Upper Peninsula, to drive a sleigh faster than a walk "without having bells on at least one of the animals" pulling the sleigh.

Some of these examples are ludicrous and most are humorous, but Bryant thinks the situation is also serious.

"It is not in the interest of freedom that laws exist which reasonable and moral men cannot help but violate in a daily routine which most of us would view as productive and untainted by any action adversely affecting society," he says. "Respect for law demands rational and limited laws which are widely known, understood and accepted and which are vigorously, fairly and impartially enforced."

Back Through the Years

From the Clinton County News files of 1971, 1962, 1947

ONE YEAR AGO

August 2, 1972
Clinton County 4-H Leader John Aylsworth announces over 1,470 youngsters will present exhibits at the annual 4-H Fair set for August 14-16 in St Johns.

The presidential race has captured the bulk of headline space most of the summer but Tuesday in Clinton County the big political news focuses on a four-man race for sheriff and several commissioner contests.

Rapid population growth in Clinton County is making the problem of sewage disposal increasingly complex and personnel at the Mid-Michigan District Health Department report the areas soil composition is a critical factor.

An investigation by Shiawassee County Sheriff's Deputies has revealed youngsters playing with a lighter were responsible for touching off a blaze Sunday which completely destroyed a barn near Elsie.

A crew of "tower toppers" were in St Johns this week to bring a 325 foot metal structure to the ground.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) recently certified the Tri-County Regional Planning Commission 535 N Clippert, Lansing as an active agency satisfactorily carrying out comprehensive planning for Clinton, Eaton and Ingham counties.

Forbes admitted in a signed statement that he brutally beat Mrs Ethel Haan, 37, of Lansing, the night of July 22 and left her on a country road.

A dispute between Central Realty Co of Lansing developers of Lake Geneva near DeWitt and the Looking Glass River Valley Improvement Association was settled out of court Friday when Circuit Judge Paul R Cash issued a court order on the amount of water to be pumped from the river into the lake.

Barry Dean and Doug Hankey, both of St Johns, fired a six-under-par 33-31-38 102 last Saturday morning to become the first local golfers to win the Clinton County Country Club best ball tournament in its eight-year history.

25 YEARS AGO

July 29, 1948
Advisability of a four county health department for Clinton, Gratiot, Ionia and Montcalm counties was discussed Monday at an open meeting of county representatives at Carson City.

Clinton county townships and villages and the city of St Johns are sharing in another generous portion of the sales tax diversion fund this week. County Treasurer Lee Bissell is issuing vouchers to the local units that will total $40,806.63.

TEN YEARS AGO

August 1, 1963
Despite adverse weather conditions which have prevailed almost continuously since it was planted last fall, Clinton County's wheat crop is shaping up to be one of the best ever.

A warrant charging Orvin Dale Forbes, 25, of 411 1/2 N Ottawa Street with assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than the crime of murder was authorized by the Clinton County prosecutor's office Wednesday morning after Golden wheat from what may prove to be the largest harvest of winter wheat in Clinton County history is rolling into local elevators in a steady stream this week. Farmers are anxious to get their wheat to market before they are delayed by more summer showers.

The four-year-old Maple River drainage injunction case will be reopened next Tuesday when Circuit Judge Archie D MacDonald of Hastings, sitting in thetaea for Judge Paul R Cash, begins a hearing on a new petition to set up a drainage district in the river basin.

Taxpayers ask IRS

Q. If, after a tax audit, the IRS finds out that it owes me money, will it pay interest on the refund?

A. Yes. If an IRS audit examination results in a refund, you will ordinarily receive interest at the rate of six percent a year on the amount of the refund.

Q. I use the den of my home exclusively in my insurance business. I just repaired the floor of the den. Can I deduct the cost of this repair?

A. Yes. The cost of repairs to a room used exclusively for business purposes is fully deductible. If a part of the room is used for business purposes a proportionate amount is deductible. In addition, a portion of the cost of any repairs you make to the outside of your home can be deducted. However, you may not deduct the cost of painting and repairs of other rooms in your house.

Q. I am working in the United States this summer and plan to return to my home in Europe in the fall. When should I obtain my "sailing permit" from the IRS?

A. The permit, or tax clearance, should be gotten at least two weeks, but not earlier than 30 days, before your departure. The permit is part of the income tax form that must be filed by most aliens before their departure from the United States. For more information on obtaining a permit, write the nearest Internal Revenue district office and ask for a copy of IRS Publication 513, "Tax Information for Visitors to the United States." It's available free.

A PERSONAL LOOK AT THE NEWS

Between the lines

with Jim Edwards

Is it "lessons in history" time for Clinton County?

I'm not speaking of the history of years ago when St Johns was considered a "journey" to or from Lansing or when the village of DeWitt was being considered (for 1 day) as the prospective location of the capitol.

The "history" I am discussing is that being made now in the southern regions of our county.

Consider what's going on in the south part of our county. One township is trying, with the strong prodding of a state agency to build a sewer system. At the same time, others in the state and in the courts have done their bit to prevent a sewer from being built.

Again, at the same time, 1 or 2 state agencies tell the township they face court action if the sewer isn't built. Steps are taken to proceed with the sewer and a citizen action lands the whole situation in court.

Subsequent action lands the township government and the citizens in a bitter controversy about the reports of pollution in a lake surrounded by a heavily populated area. The action causes a severe strife in the population of the area.

In a nearby township, the local government at 1 time could not obtain legal records from the county agency necessary to evaluate costs of a sewer system. The township, also, found itself at 1 time and will be again, in a legal dispute over a metropolitan airport.

Meanwhile, a small city near the 2 townships finds it harder to keep administrators than the Tigers do winning pennants. The same city also seems to have the same misfortune with city councils. If they aren't pressured into resigning, recall votes serve the same purpose, a situation experienced by 1 of the above mentioned townships.

All of the above have a common denominator - they're on the perimeter of the outpush of population and growth from the Lansing area.

With that growth come the problems: sewer, water, streets, housing, law enforcement, fire protection, emergency medical service, education, retail shopping facilities, equitable taxation with local government and more we won't know about until they suddenly face us.

Growth is progress and whose against progress? Certainly not me. But growth and progress can be compared to owning a new car with old tires. The new car can be the growth and progress but without adequate tires, the car will only go so far and then the problems begin.

Without the tires to carry the progress surely coming to Clinton County, there are going to be problems.

A farsighted way to foresee growth problems for the county as a whole is to keep an eye on the south.

It's a shame to use the south part of our county as a guinea pig (but, it's already happened). However, as the push comes north from Lansing, our areas in the south are forced to meet the problems head-on and are obligated to deal many times without the sage advice of those who have already met and solved them.

The exasperating problems of those in south Clinton County are more than infinite noises which some of the rest of the county snicker at - they're problems which are going to face all our county in the next 5-10-20 years.

Snicker if you must-but as those units quiet their embarrassing intimate noises, keep an eye out for their cures because we all may be sitting in the same pew before the next few years pass.

"If It Fitz . . . Touring with the military

Editor, Lapeer County Press

By Jim Fitzgerald

And then I wrote . . .

When I read what US Senator William Proxmire (D-Wis) said about me, I felt too important to empty the garbage, ever. Proxmire obviously had me in mind when he complained loudly about the military spending $700,000 a year to "fly" leading businessmen and community leaders around the country on free guided tours."

I went on one of those tours in 1968. I was a last minute substitution when the manager of a dime store got sick.

Proxmire charged the Pentagon was using taxpayers' money to brainwash Rotary-type citizens "to back its huge budget and to lobby for its weapon systems."

My flying tour included missile bases in Texas, New Mexico and Colorado. "This," said Proxmire, "was a thinly disguised attempt to sell influential citizens on the ABM," (anti-ballistic missile).

So that's what it was. I thought the purpose of the whole trip was to see the dog races in Juarez, Mexico.

There were 12 businessmen on our 6-day tour. We sat through countless lectures and demonstrations concerning the ability of the North American Air Defense Command to push buttons and thus blow an enemy, miles away, into small bits of metal and flesh.

"They use radar and tracking and computers to destroy targets thousands of miles away," I explained to the boys at the poolroom in my most sophisticated manner. With my usual modesty, I tried hard to cloak the aura of worldliness and importance which clung to me after my VIP tour (I always wear a sticker from the White Sands Proving Grounds on my forehead).

"Yeah," asked a stranger, obviously a spy, "but exactly how do they make the missiles hit the targets?"

"I'm sorry," I said, "that's classified information." But let me tell you about Juarez."

This is a marvelous town for pudgy businessmen whose wives don't appreciate them. All of a sudden, an ugly newswoman becomes Robert Goulet. The girls just won't leave you alone. Frankenstein could get 12 propositions in half a block. Every little boy has a lonely sister and every cab driver knows where there's the greatest party in the world and you're invited.

To make out like Errol Flynn in Juarez, all you must do is smile, make charming conversation, and bring your wallet. If there's money in the wallet, you can leave your teeth home and never open your mouth.

You can see what I remember most vividly, 2 years later, from my tour with the military. I can thank you taxpayers for my introduction to Sin City No 1. But I can also assure Sen Proxmire I wasn't converted into a Pentagon puppet.

I asked many of our military guides and lecturers the same question: "Does it bother you, maybe late in night, that your sole occupation is to perfect and manipulate machinery which has one ultimate purpose - to kill people?"

The usual answer was no surprise: "Yes, it bothers me but the Russians are doing it so we have to do it too."

Yeah, man. That's our world and who is going to change it? Only in such a world would the Very Important People flock for fun to a cruddy town like Juarez, with or without a military escort.

I think I'll empty the garbage.

Thinking out loud

It's personal

Never thought it would happen - Jim Edwards, CN editor and self-styled air hockey expert, was defeated 8-1 by Ron Karle, editor of the MSU Alumni Magazine, at a local eating and drinking establishment. With all the practice Jim gets, it seems hard to believe he went down to such a humiliating defeat.

A special thanks - to Gordie H, who works at a St Johns gas station, for being so honest fixing my car. What a relief.

Sunday was a trying day. After planning a really nice outdoor barbecue complete with strawberry shortcake for dessert a few things went wrong.

"Did you ever have 'Napalm' spareribs? Terrific. All you have to do is make sure the charcoal is too hot and the rack on the grill is too close to the coals. Add plenty of homemade barbecue sauce (forgetting the tabasco sauce) and cook for a short time until they're pitch black all over and dry inside.

The strawberry shortcake flopped too. My "hand wrought" (as Mom calls it) shortcake wasn't quite done in the middle, but was tolerable. The clincher was the whipped cream. The only stuff the store had was real whipped cream in an aerosol can. The directions said to shake well before serving, which I did. For about 10 minutes.

It refused to whip. So I gave up and tried it anyway. Hand and can poised over the shortcake, I pushed the button. Phfffff.

I can't tell you how gross it was. There, on top of a glorious mound of fresh strawberries and golden shortcake, was this runny white junk. Yeccech. And the shortcake immediately absorbed it and turned to mush. In addition I've developed a arm that feels like it'll never go away.

I've always kind of laughed at people who take their pet poodles to special places for manicures and cutsey-poo haircuts with pink or blue ribbons. Something else that might be humorous, if taxpayers weren't footing the bill, is President Nixon and his Irish setter. I understand the presidential pooch has his own limousine to transport him between Camp David and the White House while the rest of Nixon's crew flies. Absolutely amazing. I wonder how much these little treks cost the rest of us who can't even afford a trip to Podunk.

An ounce of prevention troubled teen-agers

By Jose J. Llinas, MD
Director of Community
Mental Health Clinton,
Eaton and Ingham

Many people see adolescence as an entirely happy period of life, and look upon teen-agers as people who have everything to live for.

Unfortunately, some aspects of this picture are based on adult wishful thinking, and the challenges the young person faces in our society appear to be a lot harder to deal with than we may like to accept. One very sad facet of teen-age adjustment today is the increasing number of older children whose life situation is so troublesome, they turn to suicide as the only way out.

"Teen-age suicides," says Dr. Joseph D. Teicher, a psychiatrist from the University of Southern California, "have increased by nearly 100 per cent in Los Angeles County during the last year."

He calls it "an alarming trend", as indeed it is. It has been known for a long time, according to national statistics, that 12 per cent of all suicidal threats or attempts are made by teen-agers, 90 per cent of whom are girls. Many of these attempts are relatively mild; experienced, but some times not very sensitive emergency room staff, refers derisively to this type of patients as "the pill taker" or "the wrist cutter". "They do it to get at-ention", is the usual comment. Follow up studies of such patients, however, show that approach to be foolhardy and unjustified, since about 10 per cent of those patients eventually do destroy themselves.

Why would a young person attempt suicide, then?

The suicidal adolescent, according to Dr. Teicher, concludes that this is her only way out after all other avenues to cope with her problems have failed.

"Although a first suicide attempt always comes as a surprise to parents and friends of the attempter", he concludes, "it should never be dismissed as just an impulsive act, the result of a temporary upset, or an in-sincere gesture".

He finds that, in the majority of cases, the suicide attempt is considered in advance, and weighed against other alternatives. These children have, at some level, a feeling that nobody cares about them, especially the parents. If then, as it is not unusual, the parents react by getting very angry at the "attention-getting" gesture, what other possible alternative can the teen-ager turn to?

"At this point", Dr. Teicher explains tersely, "the adolescent becomes convinced that death is the only solution to the chronic problem of living".

His study shows that the five years preceding the suicide attempt are colored by personal, medical, social and family difficulties - a fact well known from research on adults who destroy themselves.

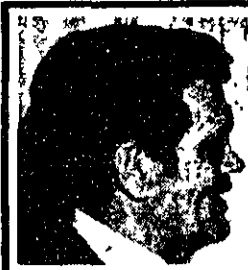

What kinds of difficulties? The list is truly endless: a previous suicidal person in the family; one or both parents absent from the home; poor relationships with stepparents; both parents working; extreme family conflicts; severe poverty; alcoholism in one or both parents.

There is, in addition among these unhappy youngsters, a high incidence of abrupt changes in their environment, most often not for the better, such as remarrying of parents or transfer to a new school.

"These children", Dr. Teicher ends, "seem overwhelmed by a sense of helplessness."

In trying to aid them, their parents, teachers, and all of us, if we touch their lives at all, should remember that the best, if not the only antidote against helplessness and despair is hope.

An attentive ear, an encouraging smile, a word of praise or acceptance, can make all the difference in the world. For these troubled young people, perhaps the difference between life and death.

We've got a budget!

REP DOUGLAS TREZISE
87th District

Well, we made it!! After too many weeks of haggling and bickering, the State of Michigan finally has a budget for the fiscal year which began a month ago. And it actually came out better than I thought it would.

The final spending figures total about $45 million above the recommendations of the governor, although it appeared that margin was going to be closer to $150 million at one time during the deliberations. The final figure was almost $2.7 billion and that's a lot of money in anyone's business.

The budget contains a little something for everyone. As usual, the two largest items are education and social services. These two items - if you include colleges and universities as part of the education budget - account for $1.9 billion of the total amount.

For the first time in recent years, we have seen a leveling off in demands on social service expenditures. At least the number of cases being experienced in the often-criticized ADC program is not rising at the same rate as in the past. While the increase over last year's appropriation is still significant, we are experiencing a slight shift in costs from the ADC program to adult care, nursing home and other services which probably have been underfunded in the past.

By far the largest appropriation is for education. A new concept in local school aid was adopted which we hope will meet the Supreme Court's requirement that equal tax effort in the various districts will produce an equal amount of money to educate each child. In doing this, we have provided an increase of from $30 per child to $115 per child in the schools of the 87th House district. The actual amount is directly proportional to the amount of taxes local people are willing to place on themselves.

As a result of this new approach, it is completely within the realm of possibility that some of the school districts in our area could actually reduce their millages this coming year and still absorb normal cost increases while expanding their educational programs. I earnestly hope these districts will take advantage of this opportunity. In any consideration of a budget of the magnitude of what we adopted, a legislator always has reservations. Mine are generally along the line of looking to the future and trying to determine where we are going.

We have just enacted the largest tax reduction in the history of the state. My concern is that we are still on a course of increased spending which will negate all the benefits of that program.

The economy of the State of Michigan has been growing at an annual rate of 7 to 8 percent. Given any fixed tax program, we can only expect our governmental income to increase at this same rate.

But we persist in adopting budgets which increase spending by 12 to 18 percent each year. The increase of this year over last was a whopping $370 million, or 16 percent which is double revenue growth. We can't do this very long without having to boost taxes to meet our spending.

So, this is the challenge that faces us in the years ahead. We must radically change our spending habits if we're going to avoid the pitfalls of the future.

Consumer Council bulletin explains new law

LANSING - Consumers may not have to continue payment for a new refrigerator that doesn't refrigerate or a shoddy home improvement job if their installment payment contract has been sold to a bank or finance company.

With the abolition of an old Michigan law known as the Holder-in-Due Course Doctrine, consumers may have the right to withhold payment if their merchandise is not delivered or arrives damaged or defective. The law also applies to home improvement contracts.

Before the law was changed at the beginning of this year, banks and finance companies had the right to demand payment on contracts they had purchased even if the consumer had a valid complaint against the original seller. Now banks and finance companies can be held legally responsible in court for all promises made by the original seller.

The Michigan Consumers Council has published a bulletin explaining this change in the law entitled "You Can Stand Up to Unfair Businesses." The bulletin also explains the Home Solicitation Sales Law, commonly known as the "three-day cooling off law," which allows consumers to cancel contracts signed in their homes within 30 business days.

To obtain a free copy of the bulletin, send a stamped, self-addressed 4x9-1/2 inch envelope to the Michigan Consumers Council, 525 Hollister Building, Lansing, Michigan 48933.

View from the Senate

By SEN. WILLIAM S. BALLENGER

By the time you read this, the Michigan House and Senate finally should have finished putting last touches on the state's 1973-74 general fund budget of approximately $2.7 billion, thus terminating a legislative session highlighted by passage of the largest tax cut in state history.

When the Legislature returns in October after the summer recess it may pass other important pieces of legislation, but the main work of the session for this year has been done.

In addition to the tax cuts, which become effective next year, other bills among the 80-plus already signed by the Governor touch on such widely diverse areas as Detroit school financing, stepped-up alcoholism and drug programs, the union agency shop, increased state scholarships, littering penalties, increased fees for sportsmen's licenses, tent fireproofing, and Veteran's Day.

The $380 million tax reduction to be spread out over two years will benefit many Michigan residents, especially senior citizens, blind persons and veterans, although a small percentage may pay more depending on their income.

Two laws were enacted to permit a school district (Detroit) to borrow money if it promised to levy 2.25 mills to retire its operating debt or levy an excise tax equal to three-tenths of one percent. The borrowing limit was set at $75 million, to be covered by notes or bonds.

A bill was passed creating a state agency within the Department of Public Health to coordinate and step up alcoholism and drug programs, and an appropriation of $8.6 million was made to finance the program.

Another measure would require public employees to pay fees equal to union dues where "agency shop" contracts are in force if they do not wish to join the union.

The value of state scholarships for the first year was raised from $800 to $1,200, and penalties for littering were stiffened. Under the latter new law, the owner of a car or boat is presumed to be the litterer if material is thrown from his vehicle. The cost of a sportsman's license was increased from $18 to $22.50 to help provide for improving deer habitat, and the cost of a senior citizen's license rose from $5 to $5.50.

Several bills were passed to enable local and state agencies to meet the rising costs of floating bonds.

Veteran's Day observance was returned to its original November 11 instead of joining it with a Saturday and Sunday to make a three-day weekend (as the Federal government has decreed) and the effective date for fire-resistant camping tents was delayed until October 1, 1975, to enable manufacturers to meet the new specifications.

Michigan's water pollution control act was made to conform with the Federal act and civil penalties were added to criminal penalties in the earlier law for violating Water Resource Commission regulations. Municipalities were made subject to the law.

Out of the more than 80 bills signed into law by the Governor this year, I was the prime sponsor of four - the largest annual number I've sponsored successfully since I became a legislator in 1969. My bills dealt with giving the State Fair Authority clear title to the State Fairgrounds; the voluntary commitment of persons to state mental institutions without the necessity of obtaining a court order; the examination of mentally-ill persons at community mental health center out-patient facilities; and the transfer of mentally-ill criminal prisoners from Ionia to other state mental facilities. Three other bills of which I'm the prime sponsor have passed the Senate and are awaiting action either in the House or in House-Senate conference.

"Do as I say"

Jimmie is three. He bites people. His parents have tried everything they can think of to try to talk him out of it. As a last resort they have begun to bite him back -- "just to show him what it feels like." This is not a very wise course of action. It leaves the child confused by the contradiction of what his parents say and what they do. They say it is not nice to bite people -- but then they bite him. They punish him for his aggressive behavior while setting an example of aggressive behavior and then expect him to know which to follow. Because children learn by watching and imitate the behavior of adults, especially their parents, it is important that parents provide a consistent model of the social values they would like their children to assume. They should also see that children are not exposed to models of undesirable aggression. The parents who plunk her two preschoolers down in front of the television without monitoring the programs they are viewing may be providing just such undesirable models. Studies show that television programs, especially those during the hours after dinner when the young audience is the largest, may be full of violent acts and aggressive behavior. Children see both the heroes and the villains using violent means to solve their problems and achieve their goals. They see that the good guy wins in the end, and so the impression grows that violent acts are an acceptable means to an end. This impression is encouraged by the parent's passive viewing of the violence. Children assume this lack of disapproval means approval of the acts they see on the screen. Parents of young children are advised to monitor the programs the children watch and to be the "old Meanies" who take and retain control for the TV controls. The behavior they see modeled and approved is what they are most likely to incorporate into the social values they will carry with them all their lives. P-W student attends National FHA meeting Future Homemakers of America will hold their national meeting at the Fairmont Hotel in Dallas, Texas, July 9-12. Fourteen hundred youth delegates, representing a national membership of half-a-million from all fifty states, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, will be accompanied by some four hundred home economics educators who serve as their state and chapter advisers. Sheri Wood, a junior this fall at Pewamo-Westphalia High School, will be among the fourteen hundred youth delegates attending the 1973 national meeting of Future Homemakers of America, July 9-12, in Dallas, Texas. She is the daughter of Mr and Mrs Murdo J. Wood, of 5777 Hubbardston Road, in Matherton. She is active in FHA and is going into her third year this fall. She was chapter treasurer for 1972-73 and is chapter reporter for 1973-74. Recently, at FHA State Convention, in Kalamazoo, she was elected state treasurer for 1973-74. Also, at FHA Leadership Workshop, in Mt Pleasant, Miss Wood was awarded her state degree, the highest individual achievement awarded in FHA. This year's meeting is designed to promote active involvement through the new Program Action Impact. The four-day program will revolve around the theme IMPACT '73. Michigan will be represented by nineteen delegates and five adult advisers. Mrs Fran Ladlie, FHA Projects Consultant, will head the delegation which leaves for Dallas on July 8, 1973. Presiding at the opening session on Monday evening, July 9, will be the FHA National President, Nancy Hodgkinson, a high school senior from Garden City, Kansas. During the four-day meeting, officers and delegates will conduct and participate in "talk-in" sessions and "action labs", exploring ways to use the Program Action Impact Kit in planning and carrying out in-depth projects that relate to their home economics classroom work. Each state delegation has a particular assignment to carry out at the national meeting. Michigan's delegation will be in charge of Election of National Officers from the Central Region. Miss Louise Roy of New York, National Director of Youth Activities for the National Foundation, will set the tone for the meeting in her keynote address at the Monday night opening session when she speaks on "Change-Coping or Copping Out." A major piece of business to come before the assembly is the election of twelve national officers to serve during the 1973-74 year. Election results will be announced at the Wednesday morning session, July 11. There will also be time for sight-seeing and attendance at a real Texas barbecue and rodeo. Lou Ann Muir, National Vice President of the Central Region, from Brown City, Michigan, has been a key person in planning the Convention. Future Homemakers of America is the national organization for students in home economics and home economics related occupations courses in the secondary schools. A self-supporting, non-profit organization, it is sponsored by the Division of Vocational and Technical Education, US Office of Education and the American Home Economics Association.

4-H Chatter State 4-H Dairy Show

By JOHN AYLSWORTH

The State 4-H Dairy Days will be August 21-23 held at the Michigan State University campus in East Lansing. The program is planned to give Michigan 4-H dairy project members the opportunity to learn through experience and competition activities. It is not necessary for a member to exhibit an animal to attend and participate in this 3 day dairy program.

The judging of dairy animals will be on Thursday, August 23 with Guernsey, Holstein and Jersey Breed classes to start at 9:00 am and other breeds at 1:00 pm. Several changes this year will include: a member may be able to exhibit up to 4 animals and an individual may exhibit 3 animals, of which 1 animal must be 2 years or older in the individual herd class.

A mock sale of 4-H dairy animals will be held on Tuesday, August 21 at 7 pm at the Stadium. This "mock sale" will give the participating 4-H'ers the experience of bidding on and buying cattle at an auction sale.

A county may form a syndicate to participate in the sale. Each syndicate will have a maximum of 3000 4-H dollars available to purchase cattle. Before the sale the 4-H'ers will estimate the value of the first 5 animals in the sale catalog against the value placed on these animals by an expert.

Members may enter a dairy science exhibit or demonstration on Tuesday, August 21 by 3 pm in Shaw Hall. Premiums of $10.00, $5.00, and $3.00 will be given to exhibits with A, B, or C grades respectively.

The top overall demonstration or science exhibit will receive a trip to the 19th annual 4-H Dairy Conference in Madison, Wis. October 4-6. The top individual or team must be 15 years of age or older as of January 1, 1973.

The 4-H Dairy Judging Contest will be held on Wednesday, August 22 at the MSU Stadium. Counties may enter as a team of 4 contestants in each Junior and Senior Division. The Junior division will be for members less than 14 years of age as of January 1, 1973, and the Senior division will be for members 14-18 years of age.

The judging contest will consist of judging 8 to 10 classes of cows and heifers. Scoring of the Junior division members include class scores, one set of written reasons and cow part identification of 25 key parts with points for correct identification and correct spelling. The senior division members will be scored on placing scores, two sets of written reasons and three sets of oral reasons.

Awards will be presented to the top individuals and teams, and they will have an opportunity to try out for further dairy judging for National Dairy Events.

Those 4-H'ers who wish to stay at MSU during the State 4-H Dairy Days will be housed at Shaw Hall. The cost for meals and lodging from Tuesday evening to Thursday lunch will be $20.00. Entries by members should be made with the County Extension Office before August 14th.

New coverage with Medicare

Medicare will now pay for limited chiropractor's services under medical insurance, according to Roger W Seamon, Social Security District Manager in Lansing.

Seamon pointed out that the chiropractor must be licensed or legally authorized to furnish chiropractic services by the State, as well as meet federal standards in order to qualify for payment by Medicare. A list of eligible chiropractic physicians in Michigan is available from social security offices.

"It is important for beneficiaries to know that Medicare can help pay only for manual manipulation of the spine for the purpose of correcting a subluxation which can be demonstrated by x-ray," he noted.

A subluxation is defined as an incomplete dislocation, off-centering, misalignment, fixation or abnormal spacing of the vertebrae.

Seamon asked that beneficiaries with any question about chiropractic coverage get in touch with their social security office.

Set line costs

Mrs Loyster will be one of the County 4-H Fair judges. She is a member of the Michigan Branch of the National Farm and Garden Association.

Bread prices reflect processor's costs

Change in the retail price of wheat products more often reflects costs and productivity at other levels of the market process than at the farm, according to George Dike, Michigan State University agricultural economist.

The price consumers pay for wheat products has gone steadily upward since the 1940s. Last year, a one-pound loaf of bread sold for 24.8 cents, nearly double 1947-49's 13.5 cent average cost.

The farmer's share of the consumer's cost, however, hasn't increased in 20 years. He received 3.5 cents on a 24.8-cent loaf last year. That's slightly more than the 3.2 cent average of the 1960s, but slightly less than he received in 1947.

Last year from a 24.8-cent loaf, the flour miller received .6 cents. Bakers and wholesalers took 13.6 cents; retailers, 5.4 cents; farmers, 3.5 cents. The remaining 1.7 cents went for transporting, handling and storing of ingredients.

Newman elected to PAAM board

The Association has nearly 400 members, which include Michigan's 83 elected county prosecuting attorneys and members of their staff. The 1973 annual convention was held at the Grand Hotel, July 25-28.

Newman was elected to serve a one-year term beginning immediately.

Past Presidents hold meeting

On July 26 the Past Presidents Club of District 2, Blue Star Mothers held a meeting followed by a picnic at Fitzgerald Park in Grand Ledge. There were 42 attendees.

Those present from St Johns were Grace Shipley, Myrtle Telles, Nora Heibeck, Bertha Henning, Sara Ross, Edna Eldred, Eloise Pease and Rose Wilkie.

The date of the General Past Presidents was set for September 18th at Flint.

Carland News

Walter Kusnier, son of Mr and Mrs Mike Kusnier of rural Carland, has just returned from Arizona by bus. He drove his grandfather Krienbrink there to make his home in Tucson. An aunt and uncle of Walter's took them into Old Mexico, where they saw many strange sights and strange customs of bargaining for merchandise as Walter said, "They have something to sell, they tell you what they want for it then you tell them what you'll give them for it"; and this is the way you purchase all items.

When Walter left Tucson, Arizona, on the bus a trip itinerary was planned. They spent a full day at the Grand Canyon. Walter walked to the bottom of the canyon, which is 8 miles down and 8 miles back, to see the beautiful Colorado River that formed the gorge in northwestern Arizona that extends 217 miles westward from the mouth of the little Colorado River to Lake Mead. It averages from 4 to 18 miles in width. He visited Grand Canyon.

National Park which is an area of 1,009 square miles and the Grand Canyon Monument which is the inner gorge of the Grand Canyon occupying an area of 306 square miles. Walter says that there is a beautiful sandy beach at the bottom of the canyon along the Colorado River, unspoiled by man, perhaps because not many have braved the walk there and back.

Walter described the rocks near and at the bottom as being very black and dark molten lava, formed by the cooling and solidifying of this volcanic substance. The nearer the top of the canyon, the redder the rock becomes. It was too cloudy in Colorado to get a good view of Pikes Peak, and very hot in Texas, but after just getting out of college, he quoted it all as very interesting and exciting.

Walter will be returning to Houghton, Upper Michigan again in the Fall to resume his studies in Electrical Engineering, after spending the rest of the summer with his parents and sisters here.

"Tax Facts" available free for older Americans

With inflation creating serious financial problems for millions of older Americans, state tax regulations should be an important consideration both in basic financial planning and in selecting a retirement home, according to the booklet "1973 Tax Facts for Older Americans", published by the American Association of Retired Persons and National Retired Teachers Association.

Designed as a handy reference for those interested in tax regulations in their present state and for those contemplating a new retirement home, "Tax Facts" provides a brief summary of Federal tax provisions and a state-by-state analysis of retirement income credits and tax concessions available to older persons.

The 57-page booklet also provides a comparison of each state's income taxes as well as property, sales, estate and other taxes of concern to older taxpayers.

Prepared by AARP-NRTA legal experts, "Tax Facts" is offered free to all interested older persons as a service of the 2 Associations. With a combined membership of 5.5 million, AARP-NRTA is the nation's largest organization of older citizens. The Associations conduct a vigorous legislative program at both federal and state levels and offer many services designed to help older Americans stretch retirement incomes and maintain active involvement in community and national affairs.

Free copies of "Tax Facts" can be obtained by writing: "Tax Facts for Older Americans," AARP-NRTA, P.O. Box 199, Long Beach California, 90801.

Agriculture in Action

Telling it like it is

The image of the farmer has changed. Cartoonists, who for years have depended upon a sketch of a bib-overalled, straw-hatted, monosyllabic individual with pitchfork in hand, are faced with a challenge. It's much harder to depict a businessman, community leader, educated and articulate—and almost overnight a VIP in the public eye.

One characteristic of the farmer hasn't changed; he still "tells it like it is," even when he makes front-page news. When the lifting of the price freeze was announced and banner headlines predicted higher food prices, the farmer simply said: "I will not work harder and produce more for less income. I must have a fair return for my labor, risk and investment."

He could have followed the lead of General Motors when they made the announcement that 1974 automobiles would cost more. "Strong upward pressure on our costs is expected to continue... new safety belt and bumper systems will add to the cost of new cars... profit margin control must be considered as only a short-term expedient. Extended for any period of time, this principle would undermine investment incentives, impairing the expansion of output essential to both the long-term price stability and to improve living standards."

Farmers could have used the same flowery language regarding higher food prices. They also had "strong upward pressure" on their costs and it is "expected to continue" in the new crop year. Also, new safety rules and chemical regulations will add to the cost of producing new crops. As for controls undermining incentives and impairing expansion—in common language that consumers readily understand, the farmer says, "We cannot produce food if we can't make a living at it. There has to be a profit returned on our investment of time and materials, or else we can't stay in business."

Stated simply—but it is simple, and you can't fool the American consumer with high-flown diction. He knows he can get along without an automobile, but he can't live without food. He can't force the farmer to produce this food, but he can provide the incentive to make him want to do so.

That's telling it like it is...

Pewamo-Westphalia varsity cheerleaders recently attended Smith-Walbridge cheerleading camp held in Syracuse, Ind., and participated in a week of activity under the direction of the National Cheerleaders Association staff. They also received a ribbon for an exceptional mount and another for an outstanding pom-pom routine. Harvest outlook for fruits and vegetables

What's the current scoop on Michigan fruits and vegetables? Many potato growers are suffering a severe crop shortage. Peaches in parts of the state are abundant; in others, scarce. The blueberry crop looks good and onion acreage is increasing.

Following is a summary of the Michigan fruit and vegetable harvest situation as of July 23, according to Michigan State University horticultural, agricultural and marketing agents:

WET SPRING AND FROST PROBLEMS

According to the Michigan Crop Reporting Service, this year's acreage of 12 major vegetable crops is 2 percent less than 1972. Wet spring weather hampered planting of many crops and made early development difficult. Frost in May killed early tomatoes, while flooding from heavy rains damaged lettuce, onions and cantaloupes.

LESS SWEET CORN, MORE ONIONS

Among vegetables sold for the fresh market, sweet corn, the largest crop, is down 5 percent. On the other hand, the acreage of onions, Michigan's most valuable vegetable crop, is up 5 percent. Other increases: summer carrots, up 7 percent; slicing cucumbers, up 5 percent; cantaloupes, up 4 percent. Tomato, celery and green pepper acreage is expected to remain equal to last season.

The three major vegetables sold for processing - snap beans, tomatoes and cucumbers for pickles - cover about the same acreage as last year.

PLUMS

In the west central Michigan counties of Mason, Oceana and Newaygo, the Stanley (purple) plum crop is in good shape, reports MSU Horticulture Agent Bill MacLean.

Most of the plums grown in this area are sold to 12 major fruit processors, although some are marketed for fresh eating.

Blu-Free plums, a large dark purple variety, are also grown in the west central area, and this year's crop looks good.

In southwestern Michigan, the Stanley (purple) plum crop was seriously reduced by frost damage this spring, reports Horticulture Agent Jordan Tatter.

Considering spring frost problems, the plum harvest in northwestern Michigan looks good, says Grand Traverse Area Horticultural Agent Charles Kesner.

Many young trees are coming into production in the northwestern Michigan counties of Benzie, Manistee, Grand Traverse, Leelanau and Charlevoix.

If the weather is hot and humid, a fungus called brown rot could be a hazard to plums. Many growers are spraying to inhibit growth of the fungus.

Almost all plums in northwestern Michigan are sold for processing. Some are sold fresh locally.

PEACHES

West central Michigan is one of the few areas with a promising peach crop this year, says Horticulture Agent Bill MacLean.

Peach trees in Illinois, southern Michigan and in the South suffered severe frost damage in early spring.

The trees in west central Michigan, however, were not at a vulnerable stage when the unexpected freeze hit.

So, unlike most years, some of the peaches from Mason, Oceana and Newaygo counties will be sold for fresh rather than processing. (Another reason is that a major Michigan peach processor is no longer in business.)

West central Michigan produces about 70 percent of the state's cling peaches.

In southwestern Michigan, peach trees were affected this spring by a cold snap that cut the peach volume almost in half from a potential full crop, reports Horticultural Agent Jordan Tatter. Last year the peach supply was one-tenth of a full crop.

Tatter says "The situation varies among growers; some have a full crop, others almost none."

Most southwestern Michigan growers raise freestone peaches and sell them for eating fresh.

PEARS
The Bartlett pear crop in west central Michigan is light this year, although the supply is larger than in southwest Michigan, according to Horticulture Agent Bill MacLean.

Unlike most years, much of the 1973 west central pear harvest will be sold to the fresh market, rather than for processing. This is due to shortages elsewhere.

If good weather continues, Bartlett pear quality and size will be very good.

BLUEBERRIES

Last year, Michigan's blueberry crop suffered a serious freeze. Not only were blossoms damaged, but also some branches, according to Van Buren County Extension Director A. Robert Earl.

This year, the crop of blueberries is up to about 2/3 the full production, says Horticultural Agent Jordan Tatter. The volume varies among blueberry plantations.

Demand for blueberries by pie manufacturers will be strong, due to shortage of cherries for pies.

Concerning fruit quality, the major problem in southwestern Michigan is due to spring cold weather damage. Growers will probably sell to processors, where peeling removes fruit defects without major loss.

bers are in good supply nationwide, so prices will be lower.

TOMATOES

Michigan ranks 7th in the nation in production of fresh market tomatoes; 6th in tomatoes for processing.

According to Agricultural Agent James Niebauer, tomatoes in southwestern Michigan are just now coming into roadside stands and will be available in large volume in other markets in about a week. He anticipates a good crop this season.

Most of the southwestern Michigan crop is sold for processing.

Since there have been no severe weather problems in tomato-growing regions nationwide, Niebauer says prices to both growers and consumers will be moderate.

CELERY

"This is one of the better years as far as Michigan celery quality is concerned," reports Bob VanKlompberg, agricultural agent. He says the celery crop outlook is good.

ONIONS

The major onion-producing area in the state will harvest about 80 percent of its usual crop this year, says VanKlompberg.

Prices to both growers and consumers should be moderate. VanKlompberg points out that the weather could still affect the onion harvest.

POTATOES

Fewer potatoes will be dug from Bay County fields this year, reports District Extension Marketing Agent Quentin Ostrander. Many growers in the area report as little as 25 percent of their normal yield.

Extensive flooding this spring is the major cause of the shortage. Overall, Ostrander says the Bay area potato harvest will be about half as large as in 1972.

Many growers will have difficulty filling contracts to processors. Potato chip manufacturers who buy on the open market, rather than through previous contracts, will pay higher prices. This could mean higher-priced potato chips at the retail store.

Consumers will pay about the same for potatoes when the summer harvest begins in late July as they paid for pre-season potatoes.

About half of the state's potato harvest is sold for the fresh market; the rest is sold primarily to potato chip or frozen potato product manufacturers.

SUPERSTORE VILLAGE WINE SHOP

Stop in and browse around. Here you will find one of the state's better wine selections. You don't have to be a connoisseur of fine wines to appreciate the enticing selection of quality imported and domestic wines and beers and accessories. Prices won't scare you as they do in so many wine shops. For unique and exotic foods to go with your fine wines, see the appetizing selections from far and near at your Kroger Superstore.

Sparkling Wines

Serve well chilled with any foods: appetizer, main course or dessert. Especially good for festive party punches.

Red Table Wines

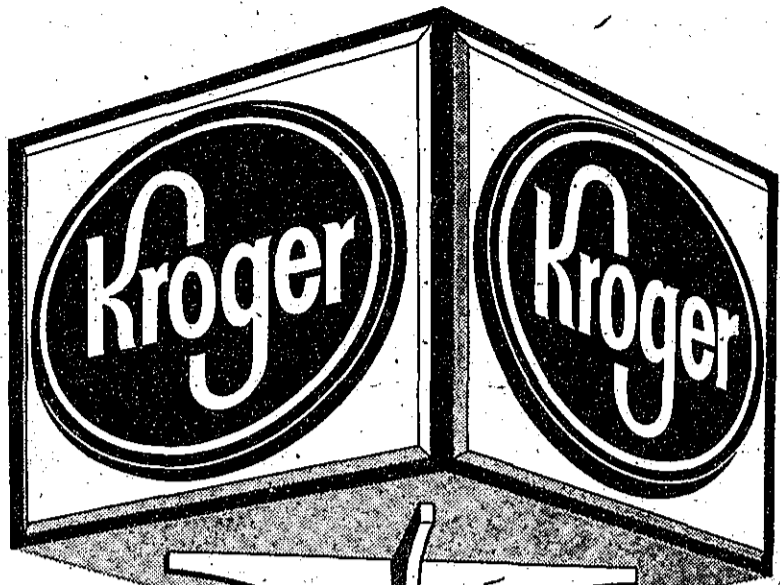

Serve at cool room temperature with hearty goods like steaks, chops, roasts, game, goose, cheese, spaghetti or macaroni dishes, etc.

White Table Wine

Served well chilled with lighter dishes like chicken, fish, omelets, white meats, etc.

Cooking With Wine

Wine adds zest to cooking, giving foods a new flavor dimension. Experiment cautiously, as you would with unfamiliar herbs and spices, using low cooking heats. Or follow a recipe. If you enjoy drinking a wine, chances are you'll like using it as a flavoring. To "step up" the good taste of a dish cooked with wine, serve the same type of wine to drink with it.
