Accept bids of $190,280 for new addition

Basic bids totaling $190,280 for construction of another new wing on the Clinton County Courthouse were accepted by the board of supervisors last Wednesday.

At the same time they rejected alternate bids that would have placed a county civil defense emergency operating center in the basement of the new wing.

While the CD phase of the courthouse project seems to be dead, the emergency operating center is not. The board later instructed the civil defense committee, headed by George Moore of Duplain, to make a survey to see where it would be feasible to build the operating center.

IN ADDITION TO accepting the base bids of the low bidders on the various phases of the work, the board approved an alternate bid of $2,380 for excavating the area beneath the present offices of the friends of the court and the driver's license bureau.

That $2,380 was in addition to the basic bid of $131,870 submitted by the B. J. Siwek Construction Co. of Wacousta Road, Lansing, low bidder on the general contract work. Two other general contract bids were received: from Granger Brothers, Inc. for $135,000, and from Clark Construction Co. for $148,484.

Apparent low bidder for the mechanical contract was Hendrickson Plumbing and Heating of near Muir on a bid of $37,727. Other bids were from United Piping and Erection for $40,583, and Holwerda-Huizinga for $43,440. The only electrical contract bidder was Fox Electric of Lansing for $21,683.

THE MOTION TO ACCEPT the low bids without the alternates for the civil defense emergency operating center passed by a 15-5 margin. Voting yes were Supervisors Gerald Shepard of Bath, Raymond Mayers of Bengal, William Hufnagel of Dallas, Oliver Angell of DeWitt, Russell Howe of Eagle, Walter Nobis of Lebanon, Almond Cressman of Olive, George Austin of Ovid, Willard Krebel of Riley, Claude Underhill of Victor, Ernest Carter of Watertown, Charles Coletta, Lorenz Tiedt, and Donald Clark of St. Johns, and Ray Price of DeWitt (city).

Voting against the measure without the CD unit included were Supervisors Maurice Gove of Bingham, George Moore of Duplain, John M. Setterington of Essex, Derrill Shinabery of Greenbush and Walter Thelen of Westphalia.

Supervisors William Buck of DeWitt (city) and Harold Reed of St. Johns were not present for the voting.

CONTRACTS FOR THE work had not been awarded yet early this week pending a report by the architects and engineers concerning the contractors. There has been no word concerning how soon the work will start.

The addition of the civil defense operating center to the new wing would cost another $34,774, if the alternate bids of the low basic bidders was accepted and used. Half of this would have been paid by the county.

In other business during a routine board session last Wednesday, the supervisors decided to further study, in committee, a request by the Burtin Abstract and Title Co. of Detroit that it be allowed to copy or purchase copies of records in the register of deeds office.

Because of the lateness of their meeting in July, the board will not convene in August; the next meeting is scheduled for Sept. 6.

Sidewalk Days return!

St. Johns will be jumping today (Thursday) and Friday as shoppers try to get the jump on each other in grabbing 'up bargain merchandise local merchants display during the annual Sidewalk Days sale.

It's the ninth year St. Johns retail merchants are going to put some of their best merchandise, marked at the best possible sale prices, out on the sidewalks of downtown so shoppers can get the best look at it.

The annual sales event is a project of the Retail Division of the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce. Tables and stands of small items, racks of clothes and clusters of larger items will be on the sidewalks during the store hours today and Friday. There'll even be tables in front of the few empty store buildings where some of the merchants off Clinton Avenue will have their displays.

IN CASE OF RAIN either of the two days, the sale will be continued Saturday. Special Sidewalk Days Sale advertisements throughout this issue of the Clinton County News will clue you in on some of the bargains.

Work on hospital additions starts

Workmen moved in on Clinton Memorial Hospital Monday morning and soon had the front lawn and entrance ripped up as a preliminary to construction on a $1,073,000 additions project at the St. Johns hospital.

Searles Excavating, a subcontractor for Clark Construction Co. of Lansing, the general contractor, removed dirt and broken up concrete most of the day Monday. The initial work is on the front addition to the hospital, which will be a two-story affair extending west toward Oakland Street from the present building. It will house the hospital's obstetrical department and nursery, other patient rooms, lobby and waiting room, administrative offices, central supply room and physicians' conference room.

ANOTHER ONE-STORY addition to the east (rear) of the present building will provide room for a new kitchen, enlarged dining room and food service facilities. Rearrangement of space on the upper floors of the hospital will make possible the addition of 15 new patient beds, increasing the capacity to 92 beds.

A major factor in financing of the current hospital project is a $560,000 grant from federal Hill-Burton funds. Clinton Memorial's $513,000 share is coming from surplus funds available from previous years operations, from endowment funds, from private contributions and from loans negotiated with local banks.

CONTRACTORS for the work on the hospital additions are: Clark Construction Co. of Lansing, general contractor; Holwerda-Huizinga Co., Grand Rapids, mechanical contract; Fox Electric Co., Lansing, electrical contract; Houghton Elevator Co., Toledo, Ohio, elevators; and Douglas Brothers, Grand Rapids, equipment contract.

Architects for the project are St. Clair and Douglas Pardee of St. Johns, who report the work is to be completed in 400 days.

BAKE SALE—Thurs., Aug. 4, sponsored by St. Joseph Altar Society, in front of the former Sears Store, next to Mary Frances Shop. Rain date, Aug. 5, 14-2.

2 supervisors fall in township primaries

Two incumbent supervisors were defeated in Tuesday's primary election, and their opponents will now be on the general election ballot in November.

Supervisors Almond Cressman of Olive Township and Oliver Angell of DeWitt Township were handed the setbacks.

Cressman was defeated by Earl T. Barks by a vote of 228 to 136 in Olive, and Angell lost to Reginald Nelson in DeWitt by an overall vote of 239 to 221.

LESTER J. ALLEN Wins in Close Race

Allen nips Woods in 88th race

Lester J. Allen, the incumbent Republican representative of the 88th district from Ithaca defeated his closest challenger, Thell Woods of Alma, by a small margin of 66 votes. Harmon Cropsy ran third, far behind the pace set by Allen and Woods.

The totals for the three candidates were: Allen, 2305; Woods, 2239; and Cropsy, 1447.

Allen won in Gratiot, Midland and Clinton counties. In Eaton county Woods led Allen but both were outpolled by Cropsy. In totals by counties; in Gratiot: Allen, 1598; Woods, 1544; Cropsy, 589. In Eaton: Allen, 90; Woods, 212; Cropsy, 252. In Midland: Allen, 193; Woods, 138; Cropsy, 271. In Clinton: Allen, 424; Woods, 345; and Cropsy, 345.

Woods said early Wednesday morning that he has no plans for a recount. In the Democratic race in the 88th, Joseph Hanus of Ashley defeated C. N. A. Flegel by a vote of 1287 to 888. This will pit Hanus against Allen in November.

Hanus led his opponent in all 4 counties. In Gratiot, 881 to 437; in Eaton, 180 to 135; in Midland, 158 to 103; and in Clinton 288 to 213.

In the 3rd Congressional district, the Republican race between Merle L. Augustine and Garry Brown was shaping up for a victory for Brown as Clinton, Kalamazoo and Calhoun county reports were complete. In Eaton county, Brown led with 22 of 36 precincts reporting and led in Barry county where 12 of 22 precincts had reported. Brown's overall lead was a comfortable 19,879 to 6,956.

Paul Todd, the Democratic incumbent, was unopposed and totaled a vote of 17,405. Todd will in all probability be meeting Brown for the seat in November.

State Sen. Emil Lockwood had an overwhelming vote of confidence from the voters of St. Johns in Tuesday's primary election. And State Sen. Garry Brown, running for Congress from the third district, and Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh running for U.S. senator, also were favorites of the local voters.

Lockwood piled up a 257-79 margin in the two city precincts in his race against Victor H. Meier. Precinct 1 voters gave him a 104-vote margin.

Sen. Brown had a very narrow edge of 203-198 over Merle L. Augustine for the Republican nomination for the Third District congressional job. He carried Precinct 1 by a 100-72 margin, but it was Augustine who won Precinct 2 by a 126-103 advantage.

CAVANAGH WAS a strong favorite in Precinct 1 where he got a 111-53 margin over Williams for the full term and a 103-36 margin for the

TV winner wins again on anniversary

The odds are highly against it, but for the second straight year Saturday Oscar Stockwell won a television set at Kurt's Appliance Center. Last year during Kurt Becker's grand opening, Stockwell was the winner; Saturday his name was picked again to receive a portable TV set Becker gave away during a first anniversary celebration. Cheryl Amstutz (left) drew the ticket from over a thousand entries and stands with Mr. and Mrs. Stockwell when they came to pick up the lucky-again prize.

Board studies new high school plans

The St. Johns School Board got a look at four possibilities for a general layout of the new St. Johns High School Monday night when the architect, Guido Binda and Associates of Battle Creek, presented them to the board.

After a series of questions from the board and much discussion concerning the advantages of the proposals, the board picked out two plans and asked the architects for further refinements.

THESE WILL reportedly be available for a meeting Aug. 24, at which time the board may make a decision on which general plan to accept.

The board announced that another 2 1/2 acres of land has been purchased for the site of the 13-room elementary school in the southwest neighborhood. The land was bought from Robert Law and Richard Rossow and adjoins 10 acres purchased previously at the corner of Lowell and Pratt Roads.

Two of the four new buses ordered by the schools have been delivered. They are both 60-passenger buses; the other two will be 60-passenger and 36-passenger.

Woman slightly hurt in crash

Mrs. Fern Burgess, 39, of St. Johns was slightly injured early Sunday when a car driven by her husband, Wayne Burgess, 41, collided with a farm tractor and another car on Wright Road a half-mile south of Fowler.

The sheriff's office reported the Burgess car struck a tractor driven by Louis Smith of Fowler and a car driven by Alvin Fox, 38, also of Fowler. Smith was ticketed for driving a vehicle without lights.

AERIAL BROKEN AGAIN

Ken Gladstone of 410 Wight Street told St. Johns police last Thursday someone again snapped off a radio aerial on his car parked on the street in front of his home.

An excellent way to get a new fur coat is to change husbands, it seems.

$45 taken from safe

Forty-five dollars was stolen from a money bag in the safe at Hettler Motor Sales, Inc., 812 E. State Street, St. Johns, Saturday. The money disappeared sometime between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. The safe may not have been locked, police were told.

Architects for Guido Binda and Associates of Battle Creek met with the St. Johns School Board Monday night to look over preliminary plans for the new high school. Looking over the drawings are, left to right, standing Supt. Earl Lancaster, Principal B. Stanley Pocus, board members Bill Richards Jr. and Aiden Livingston, and architects Jim Bauer and Don Sumrill; seated board member Leon Schumaker, architect Guido Binda, and board members Fred Meyer, Ray Parr, Wendell Waggoner and Don Bast.

Granary burns in one of 3 blazes Monday

A granary on the David Harger farm at 2729 Avery Road was destroyed by fire about 4:45 a.m. Monday, with the loss of about 60 bushels of wheat and an extensive collection of hand tools.

St. Johns firemen answered the call and found the building down by the time they arrived. The Harger home and a barn were endangered by flying burning embers, but no damage was sustained by the buildings.

The fire was discovered by Carla Snyder, who is staying with the Hargers and who woke up to find the building on fire. The contents of the small building were covered by insurance. There was no immediate estimate of damage.

ABOUT 12:15 MONDAY afternoon firemen set out to extinguish a grass fire along the railroad right-of-way west of Chandler Road. While both trucks were out, the siren sounded again about 12:30 when another fire was discovered along the railroad a half-mile east of town.

Fire Chief Clare Maier reported later there were about five fires along the tracks between St. Clair Road and St. Johns. They were apparently caused by a "hot box" or the loss of a diesel screen on a train that had just passed the fire area.

An automobile smashed the front of the Jim McKenzie Insurance Agency at 212 N. Clinton Avenue Tuesday afternoon when the driver accidentally hit the gas pedal instead of the brake.

Theodore Ashley, 79, of R-5, Price Road, St. Johns, and his wife were both unhurt. They had entered a parking space in front of the office when the accident occurred about 2:45 p.m.

The window and doorway of the office were extensively damaged, and glass was scattered about the sidewalk and front part of the office. No one in the office was injured. The car hit near the doorway on the south side of the office.

2 cars collide at stoplight

Two cars collided at the stoplight at State and Clinton in St. Johns during the noon hour Monday, but no one was hurt. Beverly Ann Bellant, 26, of 611 S. They were to arrive in Akron Tuesday, getting a police escort to derby headquarters. The rest of the week leading up to Derby Day will be spent in a boys camp area known as Derby Downs. Some 260 boys will compete for the national championship in soap box racing.

THE NINE BOYS who finished second through 10th at the Clinton County race June 5 will also attend, expenses paid. They'll leave Saturday morning at 5:30 from Bee's Chevrolet, with Walter Russell driving. The boys going will be John Bengel, Dave Feldpausch, Gary Haynes, Grant Russell, Dean Kieffer, Bill Jolly, James Conley, Chris Hettler and Donald Pung.

The derby's dealership director, Bernard Feldpausch, said he had learned about 31 persons from Westphalia are planning to drive to Akron to cheer for Pline. That number, plus the boys and adults going from St. Johns will give Clinton area a sizeable delegation.

VIRGIL ZEEB, PRESIDENT OF ZEEB FERTILIZER
IN FRONT OF HIS ST. JOHNS FERTILIZER PLANT

DENNIS FANDEL
St. Johns Plant Manager

Zeeb expands fertilizer business to Ashley area

The expansion of the Zeeb Fertilizers, Inc., of St. Johns to the Ashley area was announced this week by Virgil Zeeb, president of the local firm.

Involved will be three buildings (two of them new) and an investment in facilities and equipment of about $60,000. About four persons will be employed there.

The new Ashley plant, which will open about Sept. 15, is located south across the street from Ashley High School. Zeeb purchased the Crawford Elevator Co. property there. The elevator, closed for a couple of years, burned down several months ago.

A 30 BY 80-FOOT elevator warehouse on the site was not harmed by the fire, however, and Zeeb will renovate and use it. An office building will be constructed on the site of the old elevator on the corner, and a 50 by 160-foot building will be constructed this fall for horizontal bin storage of fertilizers and for a blending plant.

The new building will be able to handle about 1,500 tons of bulk fertilizer storage and 400 tons of bag storage. Machinery and equipment to be utilized eventually in the plant include a two-ton batch scale, two-ton mixer, four-ton bagging hopper, bagger, bag sewing machine, under-car screw, elevator leg and a shuttle belt conveyor to fill the bulk storage bins. All equipment will be supplied by Burton-Mixer of St. Johns.

THE TWO-ACRE site in Ashley include a railroad siding from the Ann Arbor Railroad.

Walter Glanz, an employee of the Zeeb firm for about six years, has been appointed manager of the Ashley operation. Dennis Fandel, formerly assistant manager of the St. Johns plant, will become manager in St. Johns. Zeeb himself will assume overall supervision of the two operations.

The Ashley Zeeb plant will handle a dozen different popular grades of mixed fertilizers, two kinds of direct application nitrogen materials, agricultural limestone and a complete line of agricultural herbicides.

"We picked Ashley for our new plant because of the availability of a site and because it is in the center of an extremely good agricultural region," Zeeb said in announcing the expansion. "The people and businessmen of Ashley have cooperated with us 100 per cent."

THE ASHLEY PLANT is expected to serve farmers within 10 to 12 miles of Ashley. Zeeb Fertilizers has been in operation in St. Johns since 1955. Since then a new warehouse has been built and only this spring was added on to. The business

This old storage building at Ashley will be retained as part of the storage facilities for the new Zeeb Fertilizers Co. business in Ashley. It is located south of Ashley High School.

To draw blood for heart patient Aug. 18

Sixteen pints of type O-positive blood will be drawn for open heart surgery when the Red Cross Bloodmobile visits St. Johns Aug. 18.

The blood will be collected in special containers during the early hours of the Bloodmobile visit and will be rushed to Lansing Regional Blood Center for processing and then taken to Ann Arbor where the surgery will be conducted the next morning.

Because type O-positive is a common blood, no difficulty in obtaining the necessary 16 pints is expected, according to Mrs. Ken Spicer, St. Johns Bloodmobile chairman. Persons are invited to inquire, however, when they donate blood.

Youngsters between the ages of 18 and 21, and newcomers to the community are being asked to donate blood also. Under-21 persons who are not married must have consent forms signed by their parents or guardians before they can give blood, but those of that age who are married need not have the forms filled in. The forms are available at Boron's in downtown St. Johns and may be picked up and returned there before Aug. 18 or brought with the person when he or she comes to donate blood.

3 youths jailed for having beer

Three youths were fined and jailed Monday on charges of minor in possession of beer. St. Johns Municipal Judge Alba Wert gave each a fine of $25, assessed $11.30 costs and sentenced them to three days in the county jail.

They were Ignacio M. Valdez Jr., 18, Gabriel L. Rocha, 17, and Marcos M. Lopez, 19, all of Ithaca. A fourth man arrested with them, David R. Lopez, 23, of Francisville, Ind., pled not guilty to a charge of furnishing beer to minors and was released on $100 bond.

Rev Harrison to speak Sunday after 3-week vacation

Rev. Roger Harrison of the First Baptist Church will be speaking Sunday, Aug. 7, after being on vacation for three weeks. His message for the 11 a.m. service is entitled, "Deliverance from sin is the greatest of all freedoms."

is located in the 100 and 200 blocks of West Railroad Street between the street and the railroad tracks.

Other corporation officers, in addition to Zeeb as president, are his wife, Irene, as vice president, and Robert Eldridge as secretary-treasurer.

Wakefield now heads state clerks' director board

Clinton County Clerk Paul Wakefield presided at the recent annual meeting of the Michigan State Assn. of County Clerks at the Harbour Inn near Harbor Springs.

More than 135 clerks, guests and families were present. Wakefield served as president of the organization of clerks during the past year and now becomes the chairman of the group's board of directors.

Elected new president of the organization of the clerks was Eugene Bergeron of Muskegon. First vice president is Thomas Rau of West Branch, second vice president is William Butler of Escanaba, treasurer is Harris Newsma of Grand Haven, and secretary is Maxwell Jordan of White Cloud.

Wakefield said the 58th annual convention of the clerks was taken up by routine business of the organization and talks by representatives of the State Health Department, the elections division of the auditor general's office and the education division of the State Association of Supervisors.

Final band camp meeting set Aug. 9

The final meeting of St. Johns music students for Camp Hiawatha will be next Tuesday, Aug. 9, at 7 p.m. in the high school music room. Cabin assignments and bus lists are the most important items on the agenda.

Small game kill above par in '65

LANSING — Although Michigan's 1166 small game harvest slipped below the banner level of the year before, it generally rated better than average, according to final results of the Conservation Department's post-card survey of licensed sportsmen.

GROUSE HUNTERS experienced a 12-percent drop in their shooting success, but even then they shot 566,000 birds for their second highest harvest in more than 10 years.

Last fall's bag of woodcock also dipped, from the 1964 all-time high of 176,000 to about 152,000. In spite of this, it ranks second best in the state's history.

DUCK HUNTERS failed to do as well last season as they did the year before, but their luck held up much better than in the early 1960's. Last year's duck kill totaled 318,000, some 49,000 below 1964.

The state's waterfowl season also produced a harvest of 36,650 coots and 18,000 geese. The coot figure is up slightly from 1964 and the highest since 1958. Goose kill dropped about 22,000 birds to the near-normal level of recent seasons.

THE ONE big season that didn't measure close to par was last year's pheasant hunt which saw ringneck kill slump to about 684,000 birds. This is down 154,000 or 18 per cent from the 1964 figure.

Other take-home totals for small game hunters included 941,000 squirrels, 316,000 snowshoe hares, and 202,000 raccoons. All three categories were down from the year before, but they compare well with averages for the last 10 years.

MEASURED against kill estimates for this period, last season's squirrel take stands third highest; the snowshoe hare and raccoon figures are both fourth best.

Last season's sale of small game licenses approached 632,500, about 2,500 less than in 1964.

There are some mistakes it would be a mistake not to make.

St. Johns' senior recreation boys lost twice Saturday in baseball games, the first one to Grand Rapids Recreation 9-3. Gary Boyce started for St. Johns and hurled good ball for four innings before Grand Rapids got to him for eight hits in the fifth. ### Lions-Cardinals

Applications for tickets to the first annual Michigan Jaycee Football Classic between the Detroit Lions and the St. Louis Cardinals are now being accepted, it was announced today by Rod Brown, football classic chairman for the St. Johns Jaycees.

The two teams will meet in Tiger Stadium at 8 p.m. next Thursday, Aug. 11, to open the 1966 professional gridiron season in Detroit.

A large portion of the game's proceeds will be awarded the Michigan Jaycee Foundation for the purpose of distributing grants for Jaycee community development projects in Michigan. More than $75,000 can be realized from the game for Jaycee community development activity.

According to Brown all seats reserved through the Jaycees are for $4 and $5 and will be sold on a first-come, first-served basis. Tickets can be ordered directly from the Detroit Lions or at the gate on the night of the game.

Roger Hammon, president of the St. Johns Jaycees, said a large delegation of his chapter membership plans to attend the game.

Gov. George Romney has proclaimed Aug. 11 as Michigan Jaycee Football Classic Day and has indicated he will also attend the Lions-Cardinals clash.

Roadhouse 5-3. Love gave up five hits in posting the win. Crosby gave up seven hits and took the loss. This left Roadhouse and Dean's in a tie for the second round lead.

Wednesday night Dean's dropped Bee's 8-1. Pung got the win and Randolph the loss. Jerry Sharrick, Jeff Martin and Jay Hallard all collected two hits for Dean's. Smeltzer got the only hit Pung allowed.

THE SECOND game of the night was won by Davs Cycle Shop 8-4 over Benson's. Jack Kelly was the winner and Sehlke the loser. Dave Hambleton and Gary Boyce had two hits apiece for Benson's while Larry Kelly and Reed had three hits apiece for Davs Cycle Shop.

Swimmers aim at 35 records in swim meet

Winners of next Wednesday's Jaycee City Swim Meet will represent the St. Johns Recreation Department in an invitational meet at Alma Aug. 13.

So far entries for the meet are extremely light in number, but Chairman Ernest Tooker of the Jaycees expects the numbers to increase in the final week. There'll be 36 events in four age-sex divisions.

The local meet, Aug. 10, sponsored each summer by the St. Johns Jaycees, will start at 6:30 p.m. at the city park pool. The winner in each event, according to city Recreation Director Ron Dugas, will be eligible to take part in the invitational meet at Alma, which will involve St. Johns, Alma and two other cities.

THE SWIMMERS will be out to break 36 local meet records next Wednesday, records established over the last three years. Although the swim meet has been held more years than that, actual records have been kept only since 1963. Last year swimmers broke 21 marks.

Only three of the records set in 1963 are still standing. Two belong to Jean Muckle in the junior girls division—the 100-foot breast stroke and the 100-foot back stroke. In the junior boys division, Mike Green's 1963 records in the 100-foot freestyle still stands, though Dan Schueller equaled it in 1964.

Outstanding swimmer trophies will be presented to the boy and girl who accumulate the most points in the various individual events of the meet. Last year's winners were Robert Lundy and Jean Muckle. Lundy swam in eight events and set eight new records in the senior boys division; Miss Muckle swam in nine senior girls events, won eight of them and set seven new records.

WINNERS OF THE Individual events will receive ribbons according to first, second or third finish.

Jaycee swim meet Chairman Tooker said participants will again be divided into four age and sex groups, each of which will have their own records to try to break. The divisions are senior girls and senior boys (ages 18-15) and junior girls and junior boys (ages 10-12).

In addition to the regular swimming events, there'll be diving contests, too, with points from each of four dives by each contestant being totaled to give that person's final score. Divers are required to do a front and back dive of their choice and then two optional dives that can't be repeats of their required dives.

ALL BOYS AND senior girls will be allowed to enter both the high and low dive contests, but junior girls can only enter the low dive.

Here are the swim meet records which this year's contestants will be out to break:

SENIOR BOYS DIVISION—100-foot free style, Robert Lundy, 17.4 seconds; 100-foot breast stroke, Robert Lundy, 19.9; 100-foot back stroke, Robert Lundy, 20.8; 100-foot side stroke, Robert Lundy, 24.2; 200-foot free style, Robert Lundy, 41.4; medley relay, White, Lundy and Berkhausen 1:08.4; individual medley, Robert Lundy, 1:20.2; diving, Scott Bennett, 109.1 points; free style relay, Gregory, Berkhausen, Lundy and White, 1:23.2.

SENIOR GIRLS DIVISION—

100-foot free style, Jean Muckle, 21.3 seconds; 100-foot breast stroke, Jean Muckle, 27.1; 200-foot free style, Jean Muckle, 51.6; 100-foot back stroke, Gail Pautke, 27.0; 100-foot side stroke, Jean Muckle, 28.9; medley relay, Nuser, Muckle, Glazier, 1:58.0; individual medley, Jean Muckle, 1:41.9; diving, Gail Pautke, 122.3 points; free style relay, Muckle, Nuser, Nuser and Glazier, 1:39.5.

Donkey ball game tonight

FOWLER—Donkey ball, the world's craziest sport, comes to Fowler, tonight, (Thursday) at the Fowler Athletic Field. This ballgame, played from the backs of trained donkeys is reputed to be wilder than a rodeo and funnier than a circus. The game will start at 8 p.m.

For the game, the Fowler Jaycees have obtained the services of the nationally known Buckeye Donkey Ball Co., Columbus, Ohio. All local riders will be used for the exhibition and the local boys have gone into serious training for the big event. The Westphalia Jaycees, who will oppose the Fowler Jaycees, announced that its players are on a strict diet of Mothers Oats and raw carrots.

Tickets are on sale from Fowler Jaycees or they can be bought at the gate.

Girls drop 2 softball games

Last Wednesday night St. Johns girls traveled to Portland for a softball game. The outcome was sad for St. Johns as Linda Watkins of Portland hurled a two-hitter. Dorothy Williams and Val Hufnagel got the only hits for St. Johns as they were defeated 15-2. Watkins had 12 strike outs and walked only one.

Val Hufnagel was the loser, tossing a seven-hitter. Eight errors helped the winners, combined with 10 base on balls. Jamie Bargar was outstanding on defense.

St. Johns girls lost their second ball game to Ionia Saturday night 12-10. St. Johns led 8-6 in the fifth, but Ionia got five runs in the last inning to put victory away.

Kathy Stoddard, Dorothy Williams and Shirley Elser each had two hits for the locals, while Jamie Bargar and Jean Muckle had three hits apiece. Bargar had two home runs and a double. Williams was the loser and Wright the winner. Possehn had a three bagger and Helman a round tripper for Ionia.

SHORT WAIT FOR TURKEY, DEER PERMIT APPLICANTS

Michigan hunters planning to apply for antlerless deer and wild turkey shooting permits will have to hold back until early September, the conservation department advises.

That is when the department hopes to complete delivery of hunting licenses and antlerless deer permit applications to some 4,000 dealers throughout the state. Without these licenses and forms, hunters are unable to submit valid applications for special deer and turkey permits.

Sportsmen applying for 143,000 antlerless deer permits which are available for this fall will again be required to first buy their firearm licenses. They must fill out special application forms and mail them to the department's Lansing office.

Post mark deadline for these entries is Sept. 30.

Small game licenses are required of hunters before they apply for 900 turkey shooting permits. Applications for these permits must show each hunter's small game license number. They are to be made on regular postcards and to be mailed to the department's Lansing office. They must be postmarked not later than September 23.

FINAL CHECK MADE ON 66 PHEASANT POPULATION

About 850 rural mail carriers are doing double duty in southern Michigan these summer days to provide sportsmen and state game men with their final, most important preview of this year's pheasant population.

While toting the mail along their regular routes, the carriers are also making day-to-day tallies of the number and size of pheasant broods they see. When their brood counts are completed and turned over to the Conservation Department in early August, they will reflect more than 400,000 miles of record keeping.

From this long-distance survey will come the year's best pre-season picture of pheasant hunting prospects for this fall. Its results will carry more than usual interest for hunters and conservation department game men in view of earlier field studies which indicate the birds are down from a year ago.

The department's pheasant crowing survey late last spring pointed to a 20 per cent drop in the birds' numbers compared with 1965 when hunters took an estimated 684,000 ringnecks.

No. 2 in a series on Complexion Care especially written for teenagers. Special skin care and make-up scoops.

It's the Only Skin you'll Ever Have! TREAT IT RIGHT!

All Clear Medicated Face Wash. The excessive oil secretions of teenage skin require a special SUPERIOR cleanser. Soap and cleansing creams often contain oils or are derived from fatty bases—and more oil, of course, is just what an oily complexion does not need! ALL CLEAR Face Wash is a refreshing, non-oily lotion that helps foam away bacteria and excessive surface oil. Its stimulating cleansing action helps rid your skin of soil and dirt and, at the same time, gives your complexion a delightful glow.

All Clear Medicated Astringent Lotion. A blemished complexion should have special treatment to help retard bacterial growth and ALL CLEAR Medicated Astringent works to this end because of its anti-bacterial properties. It also helps your complexion by reducing surface oil that can build up under make-up. To forestall accumulation of surface oils, always use ALL CLEAR Astringent after ALL CLEAR Face Wash—and as often as possible throughout the day.

All Clear Cleansing Grains. For the removal of superficial blackheads and parched lifeless outer cuticle. ALL CLEAR Cleansing Grains (a dry meal made to be mixed with water) acts as a "primer" for skin... makes it more receptive for use of ALL CLEAR Medicated Face Wash. All Clear Cleansing Grains should be applied to face and neck with gentle massage, then rinsed away. (For more thorough cleansing rub off with dry washcloth.) Cleansing Grains are highly effective for the removal of the dead, hardened outer layer of skin cells and help facilitate the removal of superficial blackheads.

All Clear Medicated Shampoo. In its unbreakable tube, ALL CLEAR Medicated Shampoo is a remarkable scientific discovery that helps reduce bacteria and works to keep hair in this blissful condition for 7 full days! This is important because bacteria are often transferred from hair to face and many blemishes begin at the hairline. The medicated properties of ALL CLEAR Shampoo, therefore, give complexions still one more benefit. And hair that's been shampooed with ALL CLEAR is manageable, lustrous, dancing bright!

Historic old fort dormitory preserves Mackinac Indian lore

When the Chippewa Indians sold the northern two-thirds of Michigan's Lower Peninsula and part of the Upper Peninsula to the U.S. government for $2 million in 1836, they became the first dealers in Michigan's northern resort and vacation land.

The money was not all in cash, and the trade goods offered in lieu of money was to be parcelled out over a 10-year period, according to the Michigan Tourist Council. All of the arrangements were outlined in the Treaty of Washington, considered to be the most important treaty signed by the Chippewas and the United States in terms of land transfer.

The influence of the Indian agent has become the theme of the display, for it was Schoolcraft who recorded the legends of area Indians which were published and later read by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. From this information and through much correspondence between the two men, Longfellow wrote his famed epic, "Hiawatha."

FOLLOWING THE "Hiawatha" motif, the museum contains prehistoric Indian artifacts together with lifelike murals of Indian activity to which the "Hiawatha" story refers. Displays contain original Indian material which are keyed to the paintings through the means of lighting. Dioramas are also part of the interpretive exhibit.

Both the basement and first floor of the building have been restored to original plans and are furnished to the period. The basement contains the original fireplace together with a cooking display, and the first floor shows the reconstructed office where Indians met with U. S. government officials. The quarters of the dormitory keeper have also been restored on the first floor.

INCLUDED AS part of the exhibit are trade beads, knives, musket parts, religious items and other pieces which are some of the more than 250,000 artifacts uncovered in the area by archeologists.

The total investment for each of the MSU Extension Service Tel Farm cooperators last year averaged more than $50,000 — as much as most rural businessmen on Main Street.

Meantime, trouble had been brewing between the military at the fort and the students. The youngsters had torn down the fence separating the school grounds from the fort's vegetable garden and caused considerable damage to the crops.

THE MILITARY charged that the building was being used illegally, and after much discussion a platoon of soldiers was dispatched to the school to evict the tenants.

When the officer in charge arrived with his men he found the entire school board sitting adamantly on the front porch. The officer read the edict, but no one would budge. Finally, in desperation, the lieutenant ordered the soldiers inside and brewed the pupils out, practically at bayonet point. The military won the battle, but not the war.

APPEALS WERE made to Senator Thomas M. Ferry who persuaded Congress to accept his bill which authorized permanent transfer of the building to the Mackinac Island school board.

Until 1960 when the city constructed a new school, the old Indian dormitory housed the Thomas M. Ferry school, named in honor of its champion. Now the property of the State of Michigan, the building has been restored, guided by the actual, original plans drawn by Schoolcraft.

THE TREATY ALSO spelled out that the trade goods were to be presented to the Indians at Mackinac Island and, at the urging of Indian agent and author Henry R. Schoolcraft, included housing over the 10-year period for VIP Indians during their visits to the island.

Under these terms a dormitory building was constructed and this became home-away-from-home for some of the 4,000 Chippewas who annually made pilgrimages for blankets, clothing and foodstuffs. Those who couldn't be accommodated at the dormitory camped out and cooked on the beach.

The original dormitory building still stands today, nestled near the foot of old Fort Mackinac.

SINCE THE building was erected in 1838 by Oliver Newberry, a Detroit contractor and one of the state's first millionaires, its original Indian tenants were followed by a U. S. Customs office and a temperance organization.

In 1869 the federal government, upon local request, turned the building over to the village for use as a school. Two years later the village asked for a permanent lease.

City puts salary change amendment on fall ballot

St. Johns voters in the November election will face a proposed amendment to the city charter that would give the city commission the power to prescribe the salary for city commissioners.

The commission Tuesday night passed a resolution placing the proposed change on the November ballot. The amendment, if approved by voters, would allow the commission to prescribe a salary that would take effect with the next commission term.

Thus, the two commissioners elected in November will have to wait at least six years to benefit from a pay raise in pay, if indeed the commission raises their pay. It now stands at only $3 per regular meeting, with no additional pay for special meetings.

The first commissioners that could benefit by any salary change prescribed by the commission would be those elected in November 1968.

In other business Tuesday, the commission approved a permanent traffic control order eliminating parking in front of the post office. It will take effect as soon as no parking signs can be put up and yellow curb markings made. The post office mail box in front of the post office will have to be removed, the city said.

The action was taken with the commission generally feeling as one commissioner put it, "I'd like to see the city take some action before there's a serious accident" in front of the post office. At the present time the block in front of the post office is the only one the length of State Street where parking is allowed.

That parking privilege has been removed.

Which route?

Twenty-six major rural postal routes keep Clinton County's non-urban population supplied with mail. Not included are several other rural routes which touch the county or reach a short distance into it (These include Carson City and Ashley on the north side of the county, Portland R-3 which dashes in and back out on the southwest side, and Haslett, which serves the extreme southeast corner of the county.)

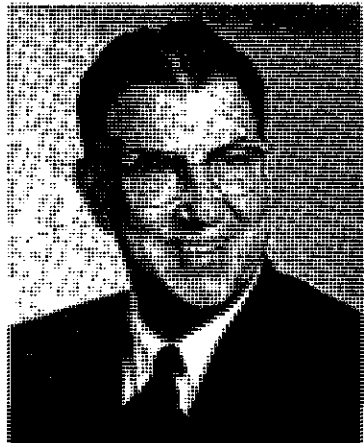

Not all communities in the county with post offices have rural routes working from them. Westphalia, for instance, has no rural routes, and those in the community with roadside boxes, and others in the nearby vicinity, get mail through a Fowler, Pewamo or Portland rural route.

LIKEWISE, MAPLE Rapids is served by St. Johns, Fowler and Ashley. Eureka is served by St. Johns, Elsie and Ashley rural routes.

Post offices in the county which have rural routes include Hubbardston, Fowler, Eagle, DeWitt, St. Johns, Elsie, Ovid, and Bath. Other routes serving parts of the county include Ashley, Carson City, Pewamo, Portland, Grand Ledge, Lansing, East Lansing, Haslett and Laingsburg.

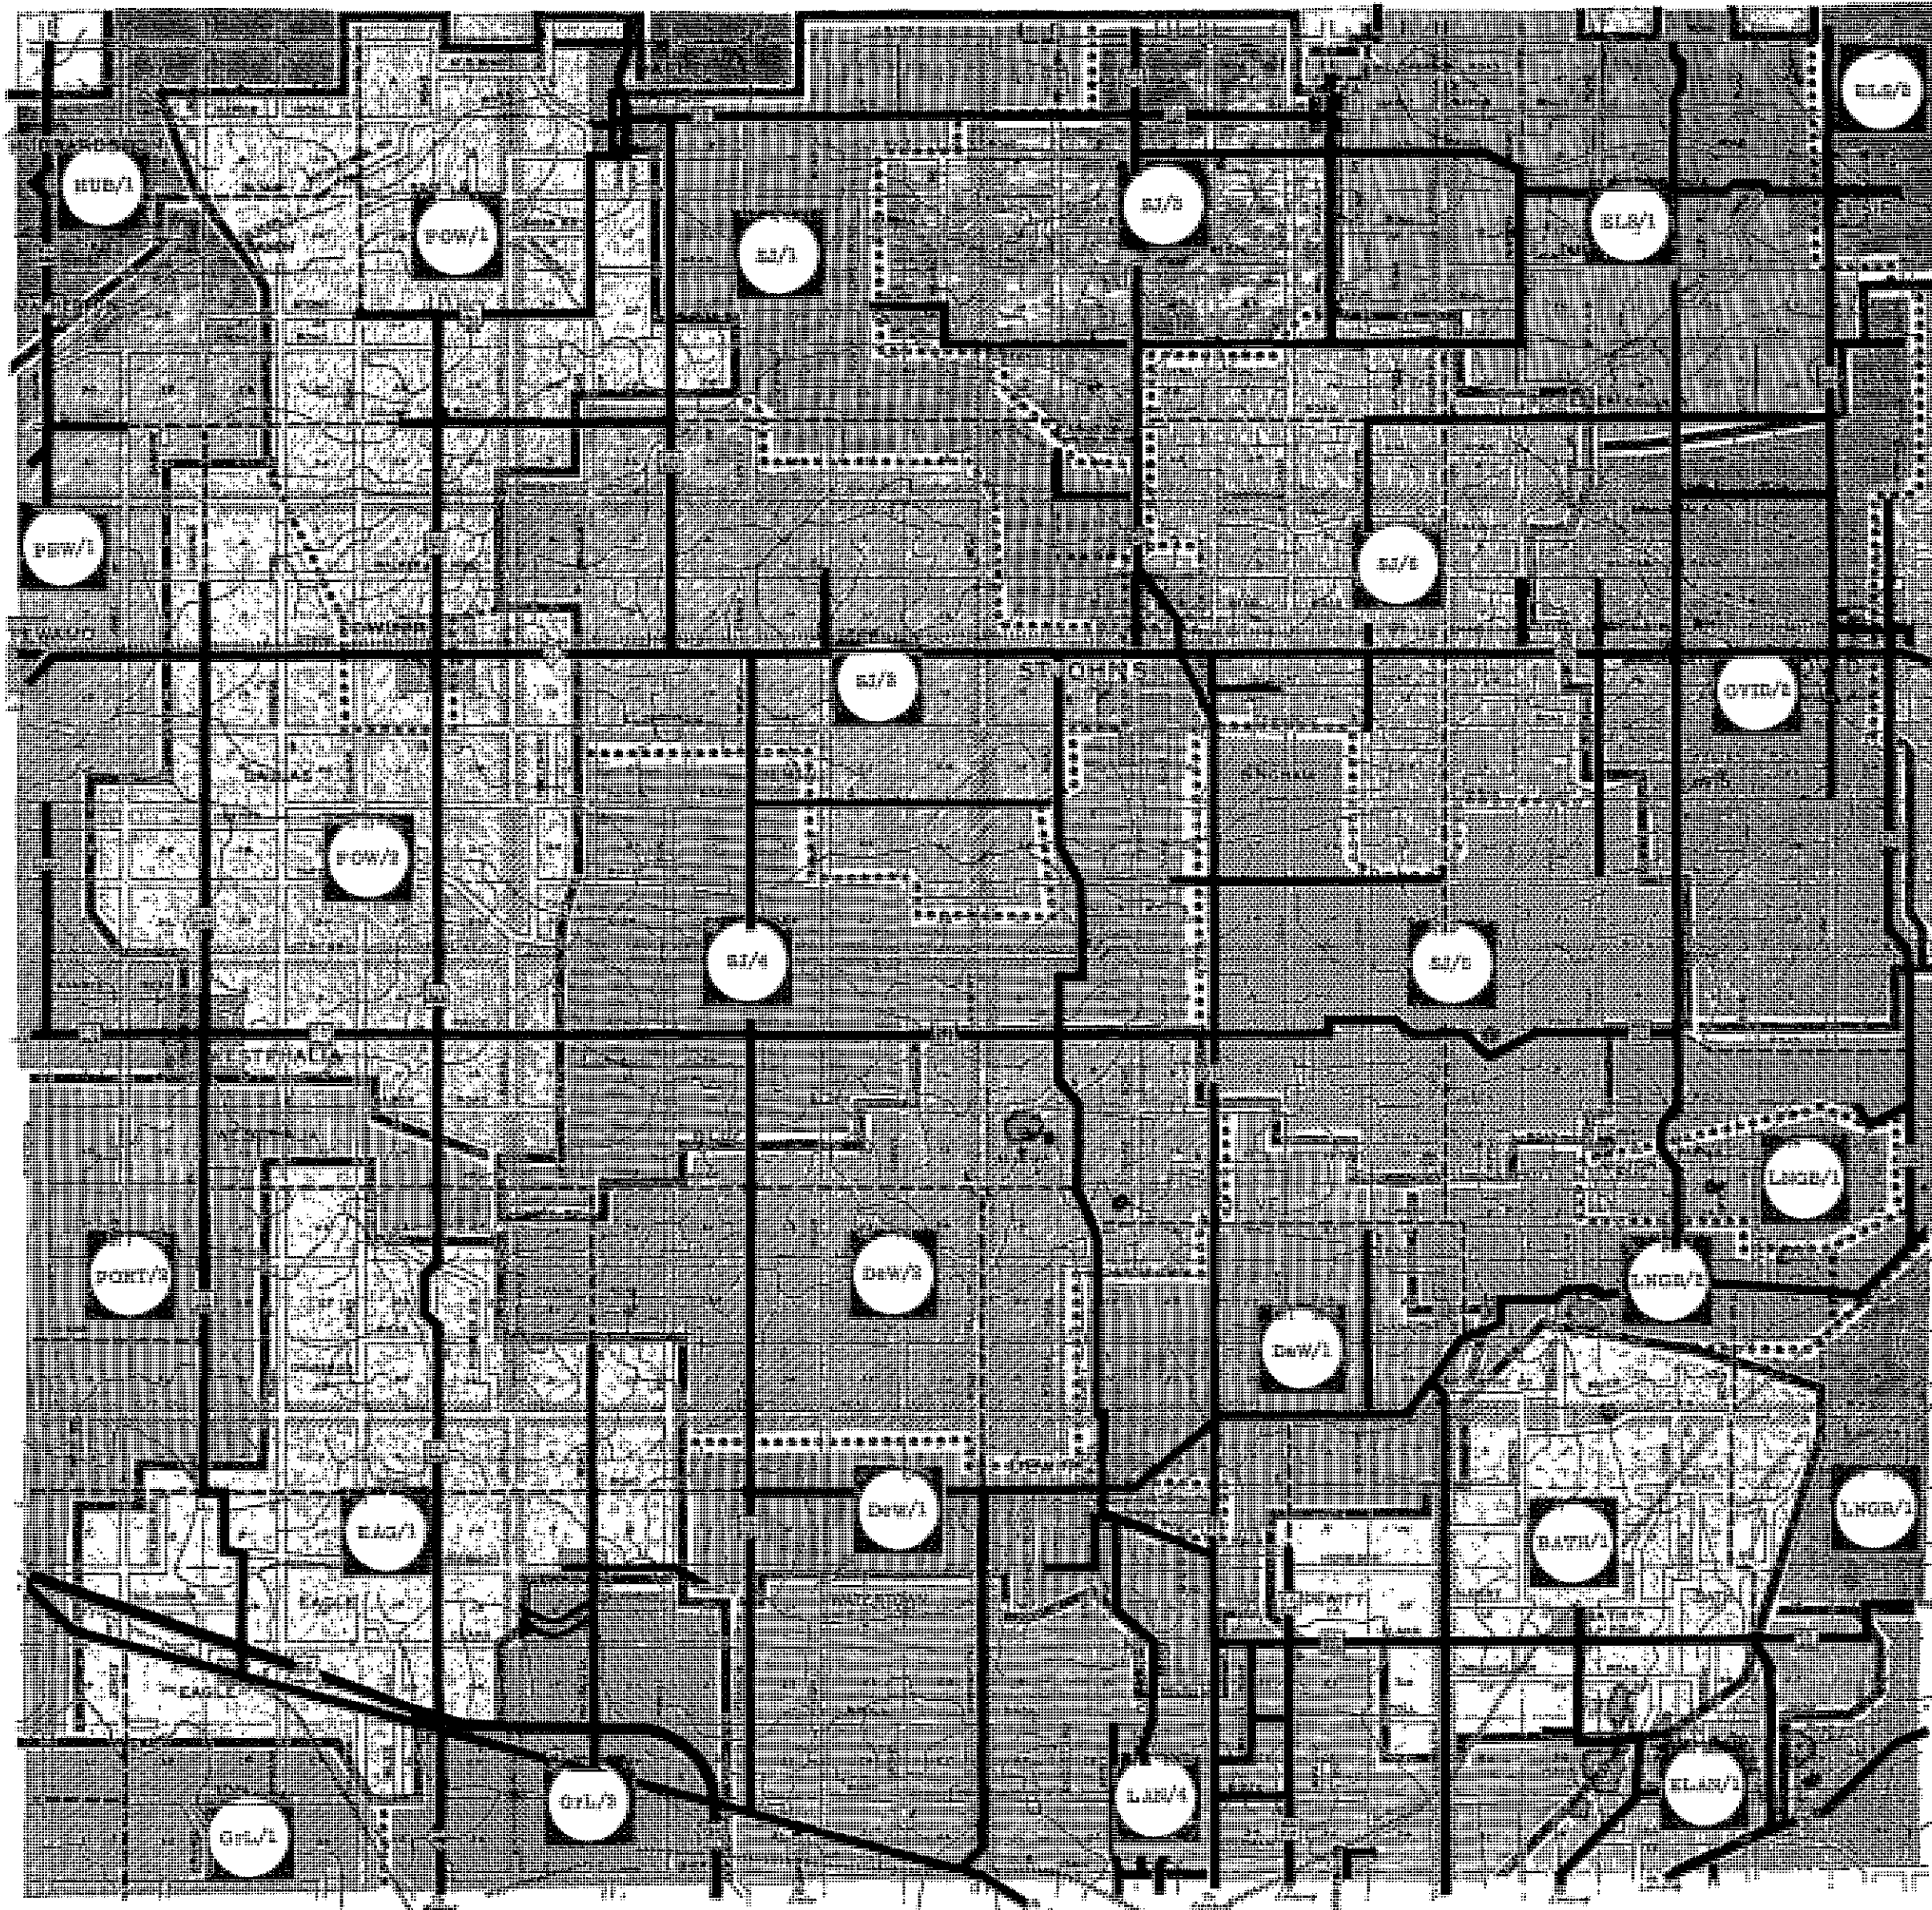

The accompanying map was produced by the Clinton County News as a guide—not a Bible—for rural mail addressing. All post offices with rural routes were contacted and the routes checked as closely as possible so that our reproduction would be accurate. Occasionally there were minor discrepancies where the different routes met, and in some cases routes overlapped and duplicated. On the map, everything inside the heavy red or dotted red lines is covered by the route designated in the circle.

THIS IS THE THIRD in a series of public service maps designed to orient Clinton County News readers with their county's various subdivisions. Other maps have included "School Districts of Clinton County" and "St. Johns Rural Postal Routes," which led to the production of this third map.

Mock battle in Korea for local man

Field exercise keeps soldier war-ready

By PVT. TRENT TAYLOR
in Korea

We spent two days getting ready for the ORT (Organized Rated Test). In preparing for our field problem we had to make sure all equipment was clean and useable.

This included all field gear and weapons. They were all inspected by a platoon sergeant and platoon leader. Then came the vehicles which were topped off with gas and all oil levels checked.

The day of our mission we got up at 3:30 a.m., went to chow at 4. After completing chow we fill out on the trucks and set up our 50-caliber machine guns and our M-60 (7.62) machine guns, and loaded them with blank ammo.

AROUND 6 we started all engines and were prepared to take off in a 5-minute notice from squadron command.

We turned on all radios and opened our radio net. Each platoon has their own frequency.

Around 7 a.m. word came down to us to move out. We started our movement towards Mos-Suu where the enemy (1st-9th armor unit were the aggressors) were.

We set up our delay position around 8:30. We kept close contact with our squad leader. Keeping ammo is one of the most important duties that any outfit has to do.

WE HAD TO TELL our platoon leader at all times our location by check points. With given check points the enemy can not tell where we are unless he gets hold of one of our maps with check points on it. If we gave our coordinants to the platoon leader the enemy may have us on radio and locate our position.

6th in a series of articles

Around 1200 hours we had our first glimpse of the enemy moving in a northern route. Our position was sitting in a river behind some bushes and trees well hidden.

We radioed into the platoon leader to get permission to move. We had three enemy tanks moving in first at 1200 meters. Our platoon leader gave us permission to move out. We had to go 300 meters to the road by check point 32. The enemy saw our truck moving out of our position. They backed and loaded one 90mm round and fired. The umpires marked it as a miss because we were on a side of a slope.

WE GOT TO THE road and the enemy was still 500 meters away. We were hidden by a curve. Platoon leader gave the sign for our platoon to move out to next position. (one platoon is made up of 2 tanks, 1 mortar truck, 1 infantry truck and 5 scout vehicles).

There was clear road ahead of us and we had no way to be clear of the enemy by the time they got to the curve where we were. At that point they would have an open shot at one of our trucks.

So at that point we dropped three smoke grenades which put up a sheet of dense green smoke. This way the enemy would have to slow down or even stop till the smoke cleared. This takes a good three minutes. In that time we radioed in a fire mission to our mortar truck which sent in 14 rounds of 4.2 mortar rounds (These rounds were not really fired but were radioed in. We really can't blow up our own tanks).

Our man at war!

we radioed in a fire mission to our mortar truck which sent in 14 rounds of 4.2 mortar rounds (These rounds were not really fired but were radioed in. We really can't blow up our own tanks).

WE WENT UP THE road at full speed to our next delay position. Here we waited for the enemy. But we received orders from squadron to move out to our assembly for the night.

Our night assembly area was two miles from the Imjun River near Shanperec. We set up our defensive perimeter around 1900 hours. This area was about 25 to 30 acres.

We set up our radar in a southern position to detect any enemy movement if they should happen to try a night attack. We also placed guards on all trucks and had our infrared periscopers operating.

Around 10:30 they came over to my truck and told me I had to lead a patrol of six men out to check point 17. This was 2 1/2 miles from our position. I thought since I was in a car unit I wouldn't have to walk, but this changed my thinking.

WE GOT TO CP 17 around 11:15. We set up defensive position there and set up our infrared. We had a A.N.P.R.C. 6, which is a radio to send all messages of any enemy movements.

We sat there till 0030 hours and there was no sign of enemy vehicles. So we started our movements back to our defensive position. We got back around 0130 hours.

We reported back to our troop commanders of our mission. At that time he tried to get other reports from other platoons to check if there was any enemy movement.

AFTER THAT HE told us to hit the sack. But it was about impossible to sleep with the monsoon rains and cold and bugs.

Each vehicle has three people, three duffle bags, three rifles, ammo and the rest of your equipment. And all this took place in a truck five feet wide and ten feet long. But there are your seats in the middle so there was very little sleep.

We got up at 4 a.m. and ate chow. Around 4:30 we started all engines and let them warm up to move out. At 0600 hours we had a briefing from the old man on our mission moving the enemy back.

AT THIS TIME we changed all our phase times and check points. This was because if the enemy captured one of our maps they would set up an ambush for us on the way back. We moved to our trucks and all changed our radio frequency. Then at 0700 hours we moved out.

We got to check point 11 and stayed there till we got word from squadron to move out. We went about two miles when we first got contact with the enemy. We opened up with 70mm, mortars, and small arms fire from our 50-cal. and M-60 machine guns.

We kept contact with the enemy about five minutes when the enemy took off. After chasing them six miles to get contact again, we got word the problem was over.

THEN WE STARTED our 12-mile road march back. It was one of the most beautiful sights to see. Over 115 armored trucks moving through the winding roads and hills back to the compound.

Around the time we started back the rain stopped. It just happens to when the field problem was over. But it was a new experience for me, and I really enjoyed it.

After arriving back at the compound we had to do after operation maintenance. We checked oil levels and topped of the tanks and cleaned weapons. Almost every weapon was dirty and rusty from the rain. After doing this, which was 1400 hours, we had permission to go to bed. At 1430 I was in bed and woke up at 0930 Saturday morning, which was an 18 1/2 hour sleep.

MONDAY MORNING we took our vehicles down to our wash point where Koreans wash our trucks for us. The second truck to get washed was from B troop, it rolled off the bank and smashed the water pump. There were 50 trucks waiting to get washed and no pump. So we headed for the hills to go gully wumping.

Our trucks are still dirty now, but we'll make it down there someday.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Pvt. Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Landon E. Taylor of 6252 W. Walker Road, St. Johns, will continue to send back reports from time to time on his military experiences.)

Mrs Bancroft elected to state office

Clair L. Hill of Burlington, president of the National League of Postmasters, Michigan Branch, closed the 1966 State Convention at the Bancroft Hotel Wednesday following a tour of the Saginaw Steering Gear Plant for the men and through the Bonner's Christmas Display Plant at Frankenmuth. The state board meeting was held in the afternoon.

At the banquet Tuesday evening the "Postmaster of the Year" award was given to Victor Haughey of Camden. This award is based on the work done by the postmaster in his office, community, church and in the League.

Immediate past president of the Indiana branch, C. Benson Hufford, was the toastmaster, and introduced the speaker, the national president of the League, Henry Womack of Washington, D. C. and Canton, Mo., who spoke on the merger studies of the two postmasters.

He complimented the Michigan branch for the membership gain in the past year and on the enthusiasm of the state officers and members.

"WE ARE dedicated in helping and assisting the postmasters of the United States in any way. Our group started to help the small postmaster but now our organization has grown and we realize there can be no 'small' postmaster," he said to the 120 postmasters, wives and guests.

The new state officers were installed by Henry Heyl, executive vice president of Wooster, Ohio, and are as follows: president, Clair Hill of Burlington; executive vice president, Harry Dransfield of Channing; secretary, Bonnie Smith of St. Johns.

Helen; treasurer, Velma L. Bancroft of Maple Rapids; vice-presidents, Harry Smith of Pickford, Melvin Mann of Smyrna, Robert Doud of Comstock and John Kilde of Midland; regional coordinator and labor management, Leo Ealy of Stanton and state membership director, Vic Haughey of Camden.

OTHER NATIONAL and regional officers present who spoke to the assembly were Regional Director Donald L. Swanson, Chief Training Branch, L. W. Erpenback and from delivery services, J. Evans all of Chicago; National Vice President William Baker of Lake Geneva, Fla., P.S.O. Sam Coffee, Postal Inspector WF. Bird of Saginaw and host postmaster, Melvin Mullenbeck of Saginaw.

Mrs Inez Schulze and Mr and Mrs Jim Sowles received word Thursday morning that their aunt, Mrs Lillian Hartsell of Detroit had passed away. Services were to be held at Osgoods Funeral Home, St. Johns, Saturday.

Mrs Thad Kidder suffered a stroke Wednesday and was taken to Carson City Hospital. There was no change in her condition at this writing.

Mr and Mrs Virgil Halsted moved to their farm south of town, which they have been remodeling. The farm was formerly owned by Mrs Flora Wood.

Mrs Hazel Tyler is a patient at the Blodgett Hospital in Grand Rapids.

Floyd Britten is still at Carson City Hospital and is expected to have surgery soon.

Mrs Nellie Blemaster and grandson, Karl Blemaster, spent Sunday through Wednesday as guests of Miss Evelyn Conners and Reva Borrows at Remus.

In Clinton County 1,503 people are employed by Michigan's trucking industry. Their annual payroll is $9,186,336, according to the Michigan Trucking Assn.'s new industry fact book . . .

Big conservation plans lack funds

Bold plans of the Conservation Department to promote more than $800 million worth of recreational improvements during the next 10 years were unveiled recently at the annual convention of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs in Marquette.

They point out that expansion of recreational facilities would include an important by-product in the continued growth of this state's tourist industry which already is approaching a billion-dollar-a-year revenue.

tenaw, Livingston, and Macomb counties.

In an effort to keep pace with the tremendous boating boom, the department hopes to channel about $55 million into developing more public launching and docking facilities.

DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS stress that they will be stuck with largely a paper program unless new financing is found to support their plans. Of the more than $300 million proposed for state and local spending, only $99.9 million is available through present revenue sources, including legislative appropriations and federal aid.

The department hopes to route an additional $59 million into the over-all program by drawing from proposed increases in hunting and fishing licenses, state park motor vehicle permits, and a larger share of gasoline tax receipts.

Even then, the total program will be faced with a net deficiency of $170 million for which new financing will be needed.

The world-famous Cranbrook Academy of Art, the Institute of Science and other components, are located on the north edge of Detroit. Ellet Saarinen was its creator.

The program calls for earmarking nearly $448 million to expand state projects covering fish, game, forests, parks, and waterways. Another $61 million would be pumped into local outdoor programs to open a new era in state cost-sharing of community recreation.

STATE PARKS have been singled out in the department's plans to get $110.3 million for additional lands and capital improvements. That figure, representing nearly half of the money recommended for all state projects, reflects the pressing need to sharply step up state park space and facilities, particularly in southern Michigan.

OF THIS, SOME $25 million would be spent to add and improve refuge harbors for pleasure craft on the Great Lakes. With hopes high for the revival of Great Lakes sportfishing, another $20 million would be spent for docks on these big waters.

ANOTHER BIG ITEM here centers on stream improvement work which calls for nearly $12 million. The bulk of this would be used to buy water frontage on northern streams.

Under the department's game program, some $26.3 million is slated to buy and develop lands for public hunting. Part of this figure includes money to acquire scarce wetlands for waterfowl.

Also figuring prominently is the department's fisheries program, with particular emphasis on boosting sport and commercial fishing in the Great Lakes.

THESE LOCALLY-DIRECTED funds would round out a statewide recreation system which conservation officials say would be second to none in the nation.

About three-quarters of the $110.3 million would be spent on state recreation areas in that part of the state where there is the greatest gap between facilities and public outdoor demands. More than $32 million would go for state parks in the heavily populated area of Oakland, Wayne, Monroe, St. Clair, Washing new hatcheries and other multiple-use facilities.

Taste, smell new learning device

Slow learners may soon be tasting and smelling their vocabulary lessons, predicts a Chicago audiovisual expert.

Speaking at a Michigan State University workshop for elementary and secondary school educational media specialists, Dr. Philip Lewis said taste-smell vocabulary kits are being developed that could revolutionize classroom instruction.

Dr. Lewis, vice president of the National Education Assn's Department of Audiovisual Instruction, said the kits contain IBM-size cards stripped along one edge with magnetic tape on which a word or sentence is recorded.

The space above the tape, he explained, contains the picture, printed word and taste sample of the object. Thus, when a student feeds the card for "sour" into a magnetic tape reading machine, he sees, hears and tastes "the word" at the same instant. Some experimenters, he added, have even developed cards that give off appropriate odors.

Baby Hen and Buster play in the back yard.

A chicken for a pet!

By SANDI RATHBUN

Mrs Elmira Morrison, of R-1, County Line Road, St. Johns, raises laying hens. She usually keeps about 125.

About 14 months ago when she got her chicks she noticed that one was quite a bit smaller than the others. The hen was not able to get enough to eat and eventually ended up low hen on the totem pole.

Last fall when it was time to put the chickens in the laying house Mrs Morrison kept the little one named "Baby Hen," in the brooder alone.

THIS PAST SPRING when she got a new batch of baby chicks she took "Baby Hen" out of the brooder and let her stay in the yard. At night because the coons are so thick she would bring Baby Hen in the house and let her sleep in the back storage room on a newspaper and under a wooden crate.

The hen has come to know when it is time for her to come in for the night. She comes up on the porch and pecks on the backdoor. When Mrs Morrison opens the screen door Baby Hen crosses the kitchen floor and heads for her newspaper in the back room. In the morning she goes out and joins the dog, "Buster," in the yard.

"She was so much smaller than the others that I never thought she would lay any eggs," Mrs Morrison said.

June 22, Baby Hen changed her routine. During the day she came up the stairs of the back porch and pecked on the door.

"She acted like she wanted to come in," Mrs Morrison said. "So I opened the door and she headed for the back room."

BABY HEN got on her newspaper and Mrs Morrison put the crate over her and a short while she laid her first egg.

Mrs Morrison has kept track of the hen's egg production and has found that she takes one day off out of every five.

And that, I was told by the advertising manager of the Clinton County News, Rod Brown, is pretty good production.

WHEN I WENT out to see Mrs Morrison and her unusual hen last week, Baby Hen did not disappoint me. She got busy and produced the freshest egg I have ever come in contact with.

Baby Hen is quite reserved about her egg laying. She doesn't cackle about it the way other hens do. Rather than cackling, Mrs Morrison says Baby Hen does a little singing.

Mrs Morrison lives on a Centennial farm and has lived in the same neighborhood all of her life.

Baby Hen comes in the back door.

Vanilla ice cream is national favorite

Twenty-one quarts of ice cream... that's how much the average American consumes each year in cones and bars, sodas, sundaes and banana splits. It averages out at better than a pint a week and as every ice cream parlor operator knows, our national flavor favorites are vanilla, chocolate and strawberry.

There are more than 200 ice cream flavors to choose from including such off-beat features as "Batman" and "peanut-butter 'n' jelly". There are also a number of variations on ice cream as defined by law.

Using ice cream as the standard, we can consider French or New York ice cream, frozen custard, ice cream and sherbet. They're all different with the distinction, in the eyes of the law, being the butterfat content.

ICE CREAM, in all its 200 or more flavors, must contain from 10 to 15 per cent butterfat. French or New York ice cream and frozen custard must also contain eggs or egg yolks.

Ice milk must contain butterfat at the 2 to 7 per cent level. It also usually contains extra sugar and milk solids to develop an acceptable flavor - a fact that brings the calorie total very close to that of ice cream.

SHERBET IS essentially a water mix containing fruit juices, sweeteners, flavoring and stabilizing agents. The butterfat content is a small 1 to 2 per cent and the calorie count is less than that for either ice cream or ice milk.

Ice cream, like diamonds, comes in a wide range of prices and for both it's the interior quality that determines the price. Ice cream can be bought for 49¢ a half gallon or it can cost well over $1. The price is determined by three things: 1. The amount of butterfat (1 per cent in sherbets - 15 per cent in the finest ice creams.) 2. Added products - nuts, fruits, flavorings. 3. Overrun - This refers to the amount of air whipped into ice cream. Air is necessary to make ice cream light and smooth, but too much air can make ice cream a poor bargain. Compare by holding and weighing in your hands various priced packages of ice cream.

FOR BEST FLAVOR and texture, wrap opened cartons of ice cream in an air tight plastic bag. This helps prevent the formation of crystals and maintains a smooth, non-grainy texture.

In recent years there's been a real vogue for "make-it-yourself" ice cream. Sales of home-style ice cream freezers are on the rise and many families find that making ice cream is one of their most enjoyable family experiences.

HERE IS A RECIPE for home made ice cream that can be done in an electric or hand-crank freezer or - if this equipment is not available - will freeze up nicely in ice cube trays in the family freezer.

APPLE PROVINCIAL SPICE ICE CREAM - 1/4 cup butter or margarine, at room temperature.

3/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar. 2 eggs at room temperature. 1/2 cup canned sliced apples, finely chopped.

1/2 cup ice water. 1/2 cup instant nonfat dry milk crystals.

2 tablespoons lemon juice. 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla. 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon.

Using electric mixer, cream butter or margarine and sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Beat at high speed five minutes. Stir in chopped apples. Mix ice water and instant crystals in bowl; whip until soft peaks form (3 to 4 minutes). Add lemon juice, vanilla and cinnamon; continue whipping until stiff peaks form (3 to 4 minutes longer). Fold into apple mixture. Freeze. Makes 1 quart.

Laurine Edinger, wife, mother, teacher, coed

Mayor's wife, mother, business woman, "college girl" are all adjectives that describe Mrs Laurine Edinger, wife of Mayor Martin Edinger of Fowler.

When Mrs Edinger, a student at Lansing Community College, is questioned about her "A" average, she modestly points out that she does not carry a full schedule of courses and that she is wife and mother first, a business woman and teacher second, and a college student last.

WHAT ARE her objectives for going to Lansing Community College? Mrs Edinger answers: by saying that her objectives are not specific. She is interested in education, theology and political science, but even if she never majors in any one of these areas, she says the mental stimulation imparted by her professors is objective enough.

After her 1933 graduation from Fowler High School, Mrs Edinger graduated from the Lansing School of Comptometry in 1936.

FOR APPROXIMATELY eighteen years Mayor Martin and Laurine Edinger have resided in Fowler where they have established a frozen food and wholesale meat business, and a self serve laundry.

The Edingers have four children: a son, Fred, now graduated from Michigan State University; three daughters, Mrs Ray Hamilton, who resides in Fowler, Sarah, a junior at Fowler High School and Rachel, an eighth Grader at Holy Trinity.

MRS EDINGER has taught in the St. Mary's Elementary School in Westphalia and currently teaches a weekly Confraternity of Christian Doctrine class for Catholic students of Fowler High School. She also serves as a moderator of a bi-weekly, inter-denominational Young Christian Students Group.

Mrs Edinger adds that her experience at the Community College is giving new dimensions to her rolls as wife, mother, business woman and teacher.

Story hours for kids begin

A summer story hour that will run weekly through Aug. 30 began Tuesday afternoon at the Bement Public Library in St. Johns. The weekly sessions are at 1:30 p.m. on Tuesdays.

Children who attended kindergarten this past school year, and those who were in the first, second, and third Grades are urged to attend. The library staff regrets the story hours will not be open to any pre-schoolers because of lack of appropriate facilities.

THE PROGRAM is under direction of the librarian, Mrs Manning Bross, assisted by Mrs Maurice Barbour, Mrs Mark DeBoer, Mrs Robert Merrill, Mrs Raymond Torpey, and Mrs Marlon Walling, all retired elementary teachers.

Mrs Walling had charge of the first session, Tuesday to be held in the municipal auditorium. The following story hours will be conducted in the children's library in the basement of the municipal building.

There is no charge for the program, and all children of the announced age groups are welcome to attend.

Michigan established its state Department of Health in 1873, and it is one of the oldest and best recognized public health agencies in the world.

NO ONE has to like Traffic Cops or auto insurance underwriters... but everyone should know this:
In Michigan, one or more moving traffic law violations are involved in 3 out of 4 accidents.
Studies in California and Texas show that a driver's chances of having an accident increase as his moving traffic law violations increase.
These are the odds: After 1 conviction—2 to 3 times the accident probability of a driver with no violations; after 2 convictions—3 to 5 times; after 3 convictions—4 to 6 times; after 4 convictions—5 to 7 times; after 5 convictions—7 to 8 times; after 6 or more convictions—8 to 9 times.
Behind most convictions, police say, there is a pattern of violation before a traffic officer spots it and issues a ticket.
These are the reasons why automobile insurers consider moving traffic law violations in their classification and rating of motorists according to their accident risk.
No one likes to be ticketed, or to be classified as an extra risk, but those who are can profit by it—if they realize that both are warnings of much worse consequences.

Work to start soon on new annex to Shepardsville church

SHEPARDVILLE — Work is expected to start next Wednesday, Aug. 10, on a new six-room addition to the Shepardsville Methodist Episcopal Church. Completion of the structure is expected in the fall.

Ground breaking ceremonies for the addition were held Sunday, July 24, at the 9:30 a.m. worship service, with about 100 persons on hand as witnesses. All members of the building committee had a hand at turning a shovel full of earth. Prayer was offered by Dale Squiers, and Clare Alderman gave the benediction.

Members of the building committee are Karl Smith, the Rev. John Huhtala, Robert Tait, Mrs. Charles Swender, Mrs. Ronald Miller, Clarence Mead, Mrs. Chandler Gleason and Mrs. Ralph Baker.

THE EDUCATIONAL facility for all members of the church — young people, young adults and adults — will provide adequate educational rooms, lavatory facilities and much needed floor space. Sunday school membership now totals 74. Church attendance averages about 65.

The six-room addition will be constructed on the south side of the building and will have a painted block exterior finish.

The Shepardsville Methodist Episcopal class was organized in 1856 with a membership of 30 gathered in a store building moved by William Shepard from Rochester Colony. The building became the first Methodist Episcopal Church building in Shepardsville.

IN 1883 A NEW Methodist Church building was constructed by James Longcor on the west side of the road facing east. Thirty-eight years later with a need for additional room, the LeRoy brothers were engaged as masons and a Mr Reynolds as carpenter for a new church. A collection of pretty stones began; the present building as it now stands is the result of the united effort.

"It has been said that the church is not its walls or its architecture, but the faith of the people in their living Lord," the Rev. Huhtala, present pastor of the church, said. "It is therefore by this faith that we, the congregation of the Shepardsville Methodist Church, go forth to serve our Lord — and serve we must."

The contractor for the construction of the new addition is the Perrin Construction Co. of Durand. Harmsten of Grand Rapids is the architect.

Painter's wares topic of next Ledges comedy

A charming comedy about a simple New England doctor and his family comes to the Ledges Playhouse stage Aug. 9 through Aug. 13. The play "The Late Christopher Bean," by Sidney Howard, was a Broadway success in the '30's.

Christopher Bean was a painter who boarded with Dr. Haggitt several years before the play begins. Having never considered Bean's artistic endeavours of any value, the Haggitt family is mystified by the unexpected arrival of three art dealers all vying for any of the late Bean's paintings that might be around.

SUDDENLY THE ordinary unsophisticated life of the family is disrupted and thrown into a world of high finance and art. Money becomes the ruling factor and avrives the primary emotion.

Abby, the maid, played by Ann Schultz, is the only one who remains calm and unchanged in the face of all this temptation. She is simply not surprised at so much interest in Bean's old canvases.

Jerry Walker leads the production as Dr. Haggitt, a hard-working honest sort of fellow, who reveals some less desirable facets of his personality during the progress of the play.

SAUNDRA KOUREY will play Mrs. Haggitt, the doctor's fuss-budget wife whose main concern before the arrival of the art dealers was marrying off her two daughters. She too becomes caught up in the greed and hunger for undeserved wealth.

Softening the harshness of the family's frenzied attempts to get their hands on Bean's paintings is the love growing between the youngest Haggitt daughter, Susan, and a local boy who aspires to be an artist himself.

The final resolution of the play is reassuring. Greed does not conquer and the Haggitt family is restored to its enjoyment of country life, grateful for a lesson learned.

While Clarence Mead handles the shovel, other members of the building committee of the Shepardsville Methodist Episcopal Church look on at recent ground-breaking ceremonies for a new six-room addition to the church. Left to right are the Rev. John Huhtala, Karl Smith, Robert Tait, Mrs. Charles Swender, Mrs. Ronald Miller, Mrs. Ralph Baker and Mrs. Chandler Gleason.

ON TARGET

with the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce

By BETTY MINSKY
Secretary-Manager

Last week On Target concerned itself with excerpts and interesting little tid-bits of information, economic in nature. Today, lets continue with more of the same.

The 73rd Michigan Legislature introduced 1,225 bills in the Senate and 2,025 in the House, of these 2,807 are eligible for consideration in the 1966 session; 474 were dropped into the hopper on the last deadline day, March 7. (from Michigan Challenge)

"It takes a corps of 231 professional and clerical staff members to keep the machinery running and maintain the fast pace of Michigan's 1965-66 Legislature." (again from Michigan Challenge)

BEGINNING Jan. 1, 1967, the post office will refuse to accept mail in which zip number is not included in the address. Ian Fraser, a Toronto invest-gains of 8 per cent and 6 per cent respectively are anticipated.

MICHIGAN RESIDENTS are being asked by the U.S. Treasury to invest $299 million in series E & H savings bonds during 1966. The new interest rate on these bonds, 4.15 per cent annually, applies from Dec. 1, 1965, to all savings bonds, old and new, and means that between 30 and 40 million Americans who now hold more than $49 billion worth of series E & H bonds automatically will increase their earnings.

Tourism became nearly a billion-dollar annual business in Michigan in 1965. More than 12 million people spent some $960 million on recreational travel during the year, an increase of more than 12 per cent over 1964 when a comprehensive study by Central Michigan University placed primary tourist expenditures at $897 million. The state treasury benefited from this level of tourist spending in the amount of more than $65 million—an increase of about $6 million—in sales and use taxes, hunting and fishing license fees, camping fees, and cigarette, liquor and gasoline taxes.

IN 1965 NEARLY two thirds of the 50 states adopted new state taxes or increased rates of existing taxes. In Michigan no new state taxes were enacted and no rates of existing taxes were changed. Total taxes in Michigan for 1965 at all three levels of government amounted to $12.3 billion. Federal taxes were $9,945.7 million; state taxes, $1,296.3 million and local taxes, $1,039.1 million.

Michigan ended the year with an operating surplus for the year of $78,844,628 in the general fund—over a million dollars less than last year's operating surplus. The $78,844,628 amount added to the previous year's accumulated surplus results in a new accumulated surplus which totaled nearly $136 million as of June 30, 1965.

FROM JUNE 30, 1955, through June 30, 1965, the state's general fund has shown an operating deficit at the close of six consecutive years (1957-1962) and an accumulated deficit for six consecutive years (1958-1965). This year for only the second time since 1957 the general fund shows an accumulated surplus.

Michigan's retail sales tax still continues to break collection records with a new high reached in 1965. Total sales tax collections amounted to $537,188,789.84, an increase of 10.21 per cent over 1964. By type of business, the largest dollar increase was in the automotive category.

Dollar wise and percentage-wise the best quarter of the year was the fourth (April through June 1965) with an increase of 11.92 per cent.

TOTAL MOTOR fuel taxes in Michigan rank second only to the state's 4 per cent retail sales tax as a source of state tax revenue.

In Michigan statewide per capita sales tax collections were $68.46 in 1965. Collection costs were 54 cents for each $100 of revenue collected in 1965.

"The Dutch elm disease arrived in Michigan about 1950 and was first seen in Wayne County. The spread and development of Dutch elm disease is a story with parallels to the spread of smallpox in humans . . .

"The disease itself is a fungus which enters the sapstream of the tree. As the fungus grows, it causes the tree to form gums which plug the water conducting tissues. This causes the tree to wilt and die within a short time . . .

"The fungus is spread in two ways. It may be carried from diseased trees to healthy trees by the elm bark beetle or it may spread from a diseased tree to a nearby tree through interlacing root systems . . . (excerpts from article in Michigan Conservation, March - April 1966)

Bill Spellmans help out Smoky the bear

Mr and Mrs Bill Spellman have returned to their home on Walker Road after spending a week at Millicocquins Lake in Michigan's Upper Peninsula. During the week, they detected and were responsible for squelching a fire, believed to be started by fire crackers in a wooded area. Conservation officers were reportedly grateful for their help in stopping what could have been a disastrous fire in the dry timber area.

Rita Washburn, only girl drummer at Chicago meet

Rita Washburn, daughter of Mr and Mrs J. D. Washburn of the Colony, 9 "fellow" bandmembers and Mr Thayer, band director of the Ovid-Elsie High School were in Chicago Wednesday, July 27, where they attended the Ludwig Drum Conference, a nationwide percussion convention. Being the only girl drummer in the group, Rita felt quite at ease with her schoolmates. But when they joined the nationwide group of young people and she still remained the only girl drummer in the more than 250 in the auditorium. She admittedly reports the "percussion" was greater than she had anticipated.

The group was impressed as they viewed Mitch Mirroco, a world award drummer, beat out a number on the drums, in the darkened auditorium, using fluorescent drum sticks. They also toured a Naval Training ship in dock at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center.

Children need fairness, not just equality

Parents and teachers should learn to treat all their children fairly though not necessarily equally, counsels William H. Mills, University of Michigan associate professor of education. He stresses the fact that children are very conscious of justice and fairness. "Some parents try to treat all their children exactly the same," he says. "They are careful to buy identical presents. Actually no two children are the same, so we should try to treat each one with love and fairness, not exact equality."

"ONE OF THE very important factors for parents and teachers to remember is that children follow not so much what is told to them but the actual example of how elders live before them."

"If children see adults being dishonest and unfair, they will eventually use the same tactics. If youngsters learn to respect their parents, they will carry this same attitude over into their contacts with other adults."

Mills remarks, "Some parents are afraid to tackle problems without applying complicated college psychology where they might better use the simple and obvious fundamentals of child rearing. "We cannot ignore changed conditions," he says.

"OUR CHILDREN are growing up in a different world from that which we knew as youngsters and this must be accepted by adults."

"We must work in the present with an eye to the probable future. We can't hold on to the past. We need to prepare children for the demands that will be made on them in their society."

We are all despondent occasionally, but we ought not to make it a habit.

Driving Licenses Revoked in County

(As reported by Secretary of State)

Ronald Larry Becker of 206 N. Prospect, St. Johns, for driving while license suspended, in effect through Sept. 14.

Medi-label could save your life

Do you have your medi-label now?

What is it? A small, gummed sticker about the size of three trading stamps put together. It sticks to the new plastic Michigan driver's license and contains a brief medical history of the driver.

Things like blood type, allergy sensitivity, tetanus immunization and other information which would be helpful to a physician called in during an emergency situation are indicated on the medi-label by the family physician.

The MEDI-LABEL, developed by the Michigan State Medical Society, is designed for the new plastic drivers license. There is no space on the old license for it.

Medi-labels are free. They can be obtained only from a physician. If he is out he can get more from Michigan State Medical Society headquarters in East Lansing.

One of the nurses who checks in patients in the emergency room at William Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak says, "The medi-label is helpful because we know better who they are and how to treat them."

Officers of the medical society are promoting the medi-label because they point out, "If you get into an accident it's possible your family doctor will not be the one to treat you. Medi-label is his way of telling the attending physician about you, telling him anything which might help him give you better and more efficient treatment."

Summer reading program ends

The remedial reading program at Perrin-Palmer School ended last Thursday on a happy note! Students were treated with cookies and ice cream during their last one-hour class.

Many outstanding improvements were made by the students attending, teachers reported. Eyes of youngsters were popping the last days when they listened to taped recordings of themselves reading at the beginning of the program and then at the end. One child commented, "My goodness, who is that reading? It can't be me!"

The group's Rhythm Band is preparing for its appearance at the Michigan State Fair in Detroit on Aug. 29 when it will be part of the program on Old Timers' Day.

THE GROUP SAYS any senior citizen is eligible to go on the Owosso trip, but only dues-paying members will be eligible for the Detroit trip. The journey to Owosso will be by individual cars, the trip to Detroit by bus.

Persons desiring to go on either trip should contact Carmen Tranchell.

The group's next meeting will be another picnic at the city park Aug. 9.

DeWitt Township, Ovid sewage facilities urged

The Village of Ovid and township of DeWitt have been advised to plan and construct adequate sewers and sewage treatment facilities.

The recommendation was made by the Michigan Water Resources Commission at the start of a two-day hearing by the commission at Saginaw last Thursday.

Both Clinton County governmental units are already moving to solve their sewage difficulties. Ovid has received a federal grant and has building plans scheduled for the fall. DeWitt Township has applied for an FHA grant to help build sewage facilities there. Voters last year turned down a proposal to build a sewage system in DeWitt Township.

Church Chuckles by CARTWRIGHT

"It's just too hot to write a sermon! D'you suppose I could get by delivering a rerun?"

Zinc: $4 million bean booster

Research on the most effective use of zinc can be worth as much as $4 million a year to Michigan bean growers. Michigan State University soil scientists estimate that just four pounds of this nutrient per acre can increase yields up to 25 bushels. They calculate that addition of zinc to all those Michigan soils which are deficient would mean another 1,100,000 bushels of beans.

Figuring $3.50 a bushel, this would represent a return of nearly $4 million to the bean growers of the state.

Michigan has some of the best water supplies in the nation. Eighty per cent of the population drinks water from supplies approved by public health agencies. Not one case of typhoid fever has been traced to the public water supply in Michigan since 1934.

Such an influence, with what it means to those who open their hearts to truth, is worthy of a second thought. It merits acceptance as a refuge. It commands confidence as a port in time of storm.

The Church deserves your support — your membership — because it affords real protection for the family whose welfare it is your duty to defend and whose proper upbringing is your solemn obligation.

You never mistake the meaning of a Church spire.

Even to those who are cold to the ideals for which the Church stands, that finger of faith always points to something that is comforting, reassuring, safe.

The very presence of a Church, whether in a crowded city street or on a quiet country road, is a benediction to all, including those who are not conscious of worship.

Such an influence, with what it means to those who open their hearts to truth, is worthy of a second thought. It merits acceptance as a refuge. It commands confidence as a port in time of storm.

The Church deserves your support — your membership — because it affords real protection for the family whose welfare it is your duty to defend and whose proper upbringing is your solemn obligation.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and read your Bible daily.

1) For his own sake. 2) For his children's sake. 3) For the sake of his community and nation. 4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

See keen competition in state plow contest

Springport has dominated Free Fair event

In the world of sports, there used to be three sure things—Joe Louis, Notre Dame and the New York Yankees. To others, it has been and still is, death and taxes.

In recent years there has been a sure thing at the Ionia Free Fair—the domination of the State Championship Plowing Contest by entries from Springport.

Glen Steward captured the title laurels at the 1964 Free Fair competition, and then brought back 5th place honors to the northwestern Jackson County Community from the national championships at Fargo, N. D.

FELLOW TOWNSMAN George Lininger plowed his way to the title in 1965 and then distinguished himself as one of the finest plowmen in the country by placing second in the nationals at Waseca, Minn.

Lininger, at the last report, will not return to Ionia to defend his title, since his second place finish at the nationals automatically qualified him for the national competition this year. Lininger, however, plans to lend his plow to Steward's 16-year-old nephew, George Steward, who has already distinguished himself in 4-H competition.

With Lininger planning to wait for the nationals, Steward or another Springport plowman stands a good chance of annexing the title and earn the right to join Lininger in the nationals.

STEWART, THE 1964 winner, is a prime threat. But the competition becomes keener with each passing year, and there is a possibility that someone will break the Springport domination in the state meet. That someone could be Earl Benedict, the youthful Saranac farmer who finished third in 1965, second in 1964, and eighth in the 1964 nationals at Fargo.

Guided by Supt. Jay Laarman, Michigan Reformatory Farm Manager, the Michigan State Championship Plowing Contest has grown in stature and size.

In 1964, there were only four entries in the contest, but the figure swelled to 13 for the 1965 meet, which was a resounding success. Laarman expects even more entries for this year's competition to be held next Thursday, Aug. 11, on the state property at the west end of the fairgrounds. The growth of entries and large number of spectators was one of the highlights of the 1965 Free Fair, according to fair officials.

straightness of furrows, uniformity, depth, pulverization, neatness, trash coverage, and general appearance.

SPRINGPORT, because of its domination of the State Plowing Championships at the Free Fair, is without dispute the "Plowing Capital of Michigan." Its representation in the nationals also presents a good argument for the small Michigan community to own the title of "Plowing Capital of American."

The stiff competition expected next week may bring an end to Springport's domination. But regardless who comes out on top, the first two place finishers will advance to the nationals at Iowa. Considering what Lininger, Steward, and Benedict have accomplished against nation-wide competition thus far, the Ionia Free Fair State Plowing Championships could very likely be the springboard to the national championship.

ALTHOUGH PLOWING to most farmers means hard work and long hours, it is also a hobby and sport to the plowmen who test their skills at Ionia.

The competition will begin at 9:30 a.m. Aug. 11. Contestants not finished by 11:30 a.m. will be disqualified. Any attachment which facilitates trash coverage will be allowed on moldboards and beams. Attachments which destroy furrow slice identity will not be allowed.

A maximum of 100 points will be used in judging the competition, which covers back furrow, dead furrow, evenness of crowns, straightness of furrows, uni-

Consumer 'rates' at state fair

Livestock and crop exhibits at the 117th annual Michigan State Fair will be set up with more attention to the consumer in mind, it was announced by Walter A. Goodman, general manager.

The State Fair opens Friday, Aug. 26, and runs through Monday, Sept. 5. Deadline for farm entries is August 5.

Goodman said the consumer will get a complete picture of how the meat reaches his table. Besides the classes for cattle, swine, and sheep on the hoof, there will be judging of beef, pork, and lamb carcasses. And at an exhibit in the Agriculture Building, the meat will be packaged as it is in the supermarket.

THE VEGETABLE and fruit classes at the fair will emphasize those grown commercially in Michigan to help point up the impact of agriculture on the state's economy. Retail value of Michigan farm products was more than $2 billion last year.

In the small animals departments at the fair—rabbits, chicks, pigeons—facilities are being expanded and developed to appeal more to children. Fair visitors will find some of these exhibits scattered around the fairgrounds this year to give the kids a pleasant surprise at every turn.

RECORD ENTRIES are expected in many classes, said Robert McLachlan, director of agriculture exhibits. Farmers will be competing for $140,000 in premium money. In addition, championship animals will be sold at auction—at top prices—during the fair.

As in the past, the state's farm youngsters will have their own Junior Show at the fair. Their cattle, sheep, and swine will be in competition for $7,500 in prize money.

Farm wives, of course, will compete in various Home Arts classes—needlework, cooking, baking, canning, etc.

Each of the days of the State Fair will have a special theme, but all emphasize agriculture, with a special Salute to Agriculture on Thursday, Sept. 1.

Deep plowing increases yields

Deep plowing—as deep as 22 to 30 inches—is being used to substantially boost crop yields in several areas in Michigan.

Michigan State University soil scientists explain that deep plowing works best where soils would otherwise be too compact for good root growth. The technique also increases soil aeration and water holding capacity which hastens the decomposition of organic matter and liberates more nitrogen, phosphorus and sulphur for use by crops.

In experiments using a giant disc plow specially designed by MSU agricultural engineers, corn yields have been increased 15 bushels per acre and similar yield increases have been seen on beans, wheat and other farm crops.

The first low cost incubator for premature infants, now in use in every state of the nation and in 44 foreign lands, was developed in the Michigan Department of Health.

20 candidates speak in DeWitt

The Bath-DeWitt Republican Organization held a "Meet the Candidate" meeting at the DeWitt Township Hall on Brook Street July 26.

Chairman Don Ewing called on 25 candidates to introduce themselves to the near-capacity crowd. Twenty were present and all spoke briefly to the group.

Blair Woodman, state representative from the 87th District, and Emil Lockwood, state senator from the 30th District, answered questions on legislation. Senator Lockwood spoke on bills passed in the last session, and with Supervisor Shepard of Bath Township discussed the one-man-one vote principal in county government.

Messages were received from Senator Robert P. Griffin, Rep. Charles Chamberlain and Lt. Gov. Milliken and Gov. Romney.

Michigan holds the national record for milk production by one cow, with 42,605 pounds of milk in 365 days, a record still unequalled after a decade.

MMPA unit supports bottling milk price hike

Dairy farmers representing Michigan's Grade A milk producers have announced their full support for action of the Great Lakes Marketing Federation in raising prices for bottling (class 1) milk sold to dairies.

The 60 member Michigan Milk Producers Asso. market committee, all dairy farmers representing geographic areas of the state, voted to approve the action and put it into effect.

MMPA notified Southern Michigan dairies which buy milk from Michigan's largest milk marketing cooperative that the bottling milk price will be $6.10 per hundred-weight (46 1/2 quarts) from Aug. 1, 1966, through March 31, 1967. The price will be slightly lower in some outstate "zones."

IF MARKET conditions remain about the same, the pay price to farmers would be about $5.17 to $5.20 per hundredweight on the major portion of milk produced in August compared with a (base) price of $4.75 per hundredweight on milk produced during June.

This is because milk is "pooled" and farmer payments reflect a lower price dairies pay for nearly 40 per cent of their milk that is processed into dairy product (class 1) use.

"The price increase announced by the Great Lakes Federation is needed to encourage dairy farmers to continue producing milk to meet the needs of Michigan consumers," said MMPA President Glenn Lake, who is also president of the Great Lakes Federation.

THERE WERE 1,350 fewer dairy farmers serving Southern Michigan federal order markets in June compared with June of last year, an total "dropoff" of dairy farmer members in the last year and a half has been about 1,500.

Most of the dairy farmers who discontinued milk production did so because of economic conditions.

Financial return on dairy farms for investment and labor has been hard to find and too costly when available. Farmers have been able to make more money in other lines of farming, or by leaving the farm for higher paying jobs. Relatively high prices for dairy cattle to be slaughtered for beef have encouraged the exodus.

September's draft call for Clinton County is for 10 men for induction and 87 for physical examinations . . . The August meeting of the Retail Division of the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce will be held Wednesday, Aug. 10, at Walker's Cafe. This is one week later than normal due to the Sidewalk Days sales promotion this week . . .

Local man appointed Badger dealership

Rex Redman of St. Johns has been appointed as a dealer for Badger farmstead and field mechanization equipment. The appointment was made by Lester Anna of Vestaburg, a territory manager for Badger Northland, Inc., manufacturers of farm materials handling equipment.

As a specialist for Badger Northland, Redman will offer sales for the complete Badger "field to feedlot" mechanization line including barn cleaners, silo unloaders, forage wagons, and other barn equipment.

The 1966 Moriarty Farm Building

...got any Questions?

Is it different from the ordinary farm building? Sure is. Roof trusses, doors, pillar beams, skirting boards, purlin spacing, roof lapping, just to name a few. Important differences that add up to a stronger, longer lasting building. Tell me about the hydro-nail roof truss system. Big breakthrough in roof construction. Adds years of extra life to the building. Truss members fabricated in single plane—joined by Hydro-Nail connector plates in steel-to-wood "triangle of strength". Roof loads equalized, not transmitted to shear at bolts or nails like ordinary truss system. Stronger roof, straighter eaves, better building. How costly? Relax. Moriarty Buildings cost no more than ordinary farm buildings, often less. Answer is volume. Big volume production brings volume savings in materials, construction costs, overhead, too. Savings are passed along to You. Hard deal to beat. Will buildings fit my specialized needs? We think so. Moriarty offers more than 70 models. Plus variations. Moriarty fieldmen are experienced farmstead planners . . . will help you work out well planned, well designed buildings that cut down your time and effort; help step up farm income. If we don't have your building, you can help us design our 71st model.

Severe drought hits upper Michigan

The State Disaster Committee met Thursday, July 14, 1966 and recommended to Secretary Freeman that the following counties be allowed to cut hay and graze land that is now diverted from production because of the severe drought throughout the northern part of the State.

The counties included are Arenac, Charlevoix, Emmet, Gladwin, Grand Traverse, Iosco, Kalamazoo, Missaukee, Ogemaw, Ontonagon, Oshtemo, Otsego, and Wexford.

BEFORE SUCH programs can be put into effect, it is required that the Governor forward a certification to the Secretary that the drought exists. The State Disaster Committee has requested the Governor to make this certification.

Once the Governor has certified that a drought exists, the Michigan USDA State Disaster Committee determines the types of programs which will be recommended to the Secretary of Agriculture.

Upper Peninsula, the rainfall of the last three months has been from one-tenth to one-half of normal. In addition to this year's drought, the situation is additionally severe because last year's rainfall was below normal.

There was no surplus of feed carried over and the 1965 new seedlings failed. Many farmers have had to partially or totally dispose of their beef and dairy herds because of lack of roughage.

THE RELEASE of acreage diverted under USDA programs will permit land owners to harvest hay, graze such acreages, or rent their land out for grazing or the harvesting of hay.

In the past when such a program was in effect, producers' payments have been reduced accordingly to the value of the crop harvested or grazed. Secretary Freeman may authorize this program as soon as the Governor's certification that a drought exists is received.

High school ag teachers get mandate to look ahead

Whatever happened to the milk can, the three-bottom plow and pasture management?

All but the most casual observers know the answers to these questions, and they realize the changes that have taken place in agriculture over the past 15 years. But how many people today have attempted to look ahead to agriculture in 1980?

MICHIGAN'S teachers of vocational agriculture did just that at Michigan State University July 25-29. More than 200 teachers and administrators participated in their 47th annual conference at The Kellogg Center for Continuing Education.

In the keynote address on July 25, the teachers were challenged to look ahead—to make use of the information currently available and to prepare for the future in agriculture and agricultural education. Among those attending was Donald Munger, St. Johns vocational agriculture instructor.

Speaking was Michigan's new chief of agricultural education, Edwin W. St. John.

"WE MUST MAKE changes in agricultural education, just as the farmer has had to make changes in his way of operation," said St. John. "This is not to say that we have not already made progress, but there is much more to be done in the months and years to come."

Electronic brains may manage future farms

Electronic computers might well perform a large share of the farm management chores in the future.

In fact, computers are already being used extensively to analyze Michigan farm information. About 1,350 of the state's farmers are enrolled in TelFarm, Michigan State University's computerized mail-in farm records system.

John Doneth, MSU agricultural economist in charge of TelFarm, says the great future of this program lies in advanced farm planning, allowing the farmers to make effective business and management decisions.

"IT'S POSSIBLE that a farmer might use a computer to test out a proposed change in his farm operation before actually making the change on his farm," contends Doneth. "This would be a great improvement over present-day trial and error methods."

He predicts that it's only a matter of time before computers will be geared to do this job of "forward planning" for farmers.

The speaker said one of the goals was to make more clear "our philosophy of agricultural education in the public schools."

In looking at Michigan agriculture in the next 15 years, as described in MSU's Project 80, St. John outlined a 10-point plan for vocational agriculture.

First, he said we must expand our training programs for off-farm agricultural occupations at both the high school and post-high school levels.

"A multitude of off-farm agricultural businesses and services has emerged to aid farmers," he said. "The rural-urban complex also has undergone phenomenal changes which have implications for employees in ornamental horticulture and agricultural resources requiring knowledge and skills in plant, soil and animal science."

SECOND, HE SAID agricultural education will definitely have a place in area vocational schools, although development will be slow. Third, he predicted that vocational-technical courses will develop in community colleges, which will number about 50 in Michigan by 1980.

He also called for a continual updating of the agricultural curriculum, perhaps through the use of advisory committees, and said we must give more attention to training for employment, pointing out that the effectiveness of vocational education will be measured by its ability to prepare people for jobs.

STILL OTHER recommendations included a continuation of and emphasis on farmer training programs for high school students, young and adult farmers; facing up to our greatest problem—lack of teachers; expansion of technical programs at MSU; continuing to improve vocational agriculture standards; a consideration of how vocational agriculture relates to the predictions of Project 80.

"We have the opportunity, the challenge and the responsibility

Home loans for elderly 'coming'

By 1980, 10 million persons over 62 are expected to be living in rural areas of the United States. But they won't have to live in sub-standard housing.

Carlton Edwards, Michigan State University housing specialist, predicts that elderly people will be able to get housing loans through the Farmers Home Administration (F.H.A.). Edwards, who is with MSU's Cooperative Extension Service, made his prediction as part of Project '80, a study of Michigan's rural potential by 1980.

Edwards says that direct loans at 4 per cent may be made to the elderly in order to buy previously occupied housing as well as to build or improve their homes. This loan can also be used to finance the cost of a new building and site.

CO-SIGNERS MAY be used by the elderly person to assume responsibility for loan payments when he doesn't have enough ability to repay, Edwards adds.

Individuals, corporations and partnerships who want to provide rental housing in rural areas for elderly people may also obtain insured loans up to $100,000 at 5-3/4 per cent interest.

to initiate dynamic programs of vocational agriculture," St. John emphasized. "Let's proceed with caution, but proceed."

Wool, lamb referendum

Sept. 12-23

A referendum for wool and lamb producers will be held Sept. 12-23 to determine their approval or disapproval of a new agreement with the American Sheep Producers Council, Inc., Frank Light, chairman of the Michigan State ASC Committee, has announced.

The agreement provides for the secretary of agriculture to withhold a part of producers' wool payments on 1966-69 marketings. The payment deductions would be used by the council to finance advertising and promotion programs for wool and lamb.

THE NEW AGREEMENT is similar to the last one. By approving it, producers would authorize payment deductions of up to 1 1/2 cents a pound on shorn wool and 7 1/2 cents a hundredweight on unshorn lambs, compared with 1 cent and 5 cents in the past. The higher deductions, recommended by most of the state and regional sheep organizations which are members of ASPC, would be necessary to finance ASPC's proposed programs.

The referendum will be conducted through the county offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. The county offices will distribute copies of the agreement and ballots to sheep producers in early September. Producers may cast their ballots by mailing or delivering them in person to ASCS county offices by the close of the referendum.

THE AGREEMENT requires approval by two-thirds of the total number of producers, or two-thirds of the total volume of production, represented in the referendum. If the agreement is not approved by producers, no deductions will be withheld from payments on 1966 marketings. In this event, ASPC programs will be continued only as long as the present reserve fund permits, or until such time as some other agreement may be approved by producers.

"Sheep producers have approved the wool and lamb promotion program in three referendums since 1954," Secretary Freeman said. "In the most recent referendum 87.6 per cent of the producers voting, who owned 91 per cent of the sheep, approved the program."

LIGHT REPORTS wool and lamb promotion expenditures in the past year were about $2.9 million. Because of the decrease in wool production, deductions from payments declined to $2.4 million. ASPC has been able to maintain its promotion activities by reducing its reserve funds. The higher deductions provided by the new agreement would total about $3.6 million a year, it is expected. This would finance moderately expanded promotion programs for both wool and lamb.

ASC PROGRAM

Wheat and feed grain payments being computed

W. M. SMITH
County ASC Manager

We are computing wheat and feed grain payments. Our farm reporters are spot checking compliance on 25 per cent of the farms participating in the programs. As soon as this work is substantially completed, payments will be made.

Producers participating in just the wheat program will be receiving their payments first, then those in both wheat and feed grain. Those just in feed grain will be last.

There seems to be a lot of voluntary wheat in some areas this year. Producers participating in the 1966 wheat program have been calling our office asking if this can be harvested as grain. It cannot be harvested if it is not counted in your permitted acres for harvest. This wheat must have been reported when you certified to your wheat acreage, and the total acres planted and voluntary could not exceed the farm allotment.

WHEAT producers who participated in the 1966 wheat program and are storing their wheat on the farm are eligible for price support loans. Anyone interested in a loan must make a request at the county office. Our commodity inspector will visit the farm and determine the amount of wheat and check the storage to see if it is adequate. The interest on loans is 30 cents per hundred dollars per month. Wheat loans mature April 30, 1967.

Rye and oat loans are available. The loan rate for rye is $1.05 per bushel, and for oats it is 63 cents per bushel. Rye can be redeemed anytime through April 30, 1967, and oats anytime through May 31, 1967. These maturity dates give the producer maximum opportunity to take advantage of seasonal price increases and encourages redemption of loans, thereby reducing price support program costs.

binsite located at the corner of McKeighan and Baldwin roads one mile north of Chesaning. The grain storage structures will be sold completely dismantled "as is" at 1:30 p.m. Thursday, August 4.

There will be fifty-one 3,250-bushel rated capacity steel bins, 18 feet diameter by 16 feet high. These bins were manufactured by the Steel Co. of Ohio. Each bin will be sold separately.

The sale includes 51 aeration units. These units consist of two 3-foot by 8-inch solid sections, two 3-foot by 8-inch perforated sections, and one 8-inch 110-volt electric fan.

WE HAD CORN offered for sale from our Elsie binsite July 21 and all bids were rejected. The market price of corn went up that week and many bidders were unaware of the increase. A bid of $1.33 per bushel was too low to get corn.

We will be offering corn for sale from our Elsie binsite Aug. 4. Interested bidders must have bids in our office by 3:30 p.m. on that date.

Milking unbred heifers now in research

As part of the research aimed at combating problems of sterility, Michigan State University dairy scientists are currently milking castrated, unbred heifers. They turn the trick by injecting the animals with a hormone, 9-Fluorendisone acetate (trade name, "Predit").

And while this basic research is still in its infancy, it has some important implications for the dairy industry. By stimulating lactation in infertile heifers and cows, farmers could be able to get high milk production from animals which might otherwise be slaughtered.

It takes more than money to keep 'em in school

Federal spending in the field of education has surged 5 or 6 times in the last 4 years. The federal education budget for 1963 called for expenditures of $660,000,000. The expenditure for the 1967 fiscal year will hit $3.4 billion.

The labor department has another interesting figure when it is placed next to the education cost. Not only is the figure interesting—it is appalling. The labor department claims that high school drop-outs rose last year by 75,000. The report shows that 680,000 boys and girls dropped out of high school before finishing. This was more than half the number who graduated in the same period.

The increase in federal education participation in tax dollars and the increase in high school dropouts are not cause and effect—but it should prove the point that the tough dropout problems of education can't be solved by doling out tax dollars in increasing quantities.

Dedicated teachers, responsive school boards and most important, concerned parents, still hold the key to the dropout problem.

Money from Washington is not going to work any miracles in keeping the nation's youth walking the education trail. The front line in the battle to keep the pupil in high school is the home front, particularly the home. No amount of money tree is going to keep pupils in school.

The old wolf replies to the young wolf

John Steinbeck gave as good as he got, and better, in that exchange with the young Russian poet, Yevgeny Yevtushenko.

When the young wolf showed his teeth with a poetic challenge to the American novelist to speak out against America's part in the Viet Nam war, the old wolf shrewdly replied: "You ask me to denounce half a war, our half. I appeal to you to join me in denouncing the whole war."

In his challenge, published in Moscow's Literary Gazette, Yevtushenko reminded Steinbeck that on a visit to Russia in 1963 he had exhorted young Soviet writers: "Young wolves, show me your teeth"—that is, speak your true minds. Now, said Yevtushenko, it was Steinbeck's turn—the old wolf's turn—to show his teeth by not withholding condemnation of the war.

But, as Steinbeck pointed out in his reply, Yevtushenko was asking for denunciation of only "half a war, our half." The author of "Grapes of Wrath" and other searching works asked Yevtushenko to use his influence "on your people, your government and on those who look to the Soviet Union for direction to stop sending the murderous merchandise through North Viet Nam to be used against the South."

Steinbeck said more than that: "For my part, I will devote every resource I have to persuade my government to withdraw troops and weapons from the south, leaving only money and help for rebuilding. And, do you know, Genya, if you could accomplish your part, my part would follow immediately and automatically."

Those were sharp-toothed words from an old American wolf to a young Soviet wolf.

Let us hope that Yevtushenko and his fellow young wolves will heed them.

Automation Not Bad

Recently there was quite a bit of concern expressed over the effect that automation would have on a number of jobs. It was feared that machinery would take over man's work and that as a result, people would be jobless.

Automation, in actuality appears to work quite the opposite way. In a recent magazine article we read these rather interesting facts that certainly seem to indicate automation has not detracted but has added to the well-being of the economy.

If Detroit had not been automating since the 1920's the modern car would cost $65,000, a national authority believes. There would be precious few of them and hundreds of thousands of jobs in auto plants, tire factories, steel mills, gasoline refineries and road construction simply would not exist.

—LOW PRICED Japanese transistor radios threatened to close American plants and throw thousands out of jobs. An American manufacturer automated his plant and so improved his product's value and salability that he employs a third more workers.

—An American company developed the automatic pin setter for bowling alleys in home neighborhoods, made bowling increasingly popular. Yes, the pin setters are gone, but the number of jobs in the industry was increased 700 per cent.

—Washing machines, dryers, ironers, dishwashers and a dozen more items have automated our kitchens. That turned the lady of the house from a drudge to a partner and may have done away with the "servant class" but created a half million jobs in stores and automated appliance stores.

AUTOMATION IS simply a means of doing things better with less effort and at lower cost. And lower costs increase markets which means more markets which means more workers are needed to fill the new and greater demand.

I stopped in for a chat with John Pierson at Pierson's Shoe Shop the other day. John was showing me a card that he had received from Vern and Louise Mosher, who live out on Avery Road.

The card was postmarked from "North Pole, Alaska." Vern and Louise had driven up the Alcan highway and are spending some time touring our 49th state.

THE CARD stated that the Alcan highway was bumpy and dirty, but they had arrived and enjoying themselves. They had flown from Fairbanks to Fort Yukon, which is located 8 miles above (north) of the arctic circle, for a few days. North Pole, Alaska is located near Ft. Yukon, from where their card was mailed.

SPEAKING of stopping in. The other day I dropped into the L & L for a cup of coffee with the morning crew and received a complaint from two local fellows. In fact, you might say I was threatened.

When the threatening actions and talk finally ended, it all boiled down to the fact that, well, one fellow put it this way, "We don't mind being written up in your paper as prognosticators, he said, but we resent being referred to as "long timers."

NOW I don't like to mention names on something like this, but in case you missed it, it was mentioned in a front page story of last week's Clinton County News. Their initials are: O. B. Moore and G. R. Danley.

THIS WEEK has been pretty quiet around the Hopko homestead. In fact, it's been so quiet that its rough just trying to sit around and read.

Normally our "home sweet home" is jumping and quite noisy, what with four kids who usually sound like twice that many. Well, this week when I think about it, it seems they were that noisy.

WHAT THIS ALL boils down to is that this past week I have been a bachelor. Joan is spending a few days at Grandpa's cabin which is located on the Manistee River, about half way between Grayling and Kalkaska.

Besides our three Steffie, Tammi and Doug, our niece Linda Hopko from over Westphalia way, and Peg Hilley are with Joan.

I WAS UNDER the assumption that they would be home this past weekend, but Joan called last Friday and asked if I was coming up Saturday. I told her that I would be there.

She then rattled off a list of items which she would like to have me bring along. I couldn't understand this for the slightest fraction of a second, until I said why? I thought you were coming home Sunday! Then is when she informed me that they were going to stay another week.

IT SORT OF numbs you at first to think that your family can leave "Ole Dad" for a couple of weeks and still enjoy themselves. Especially, when "Ole Dad" thought that at home he

Olive review board replies

THE "FAIR Treatment Committee of Olive Township" has made charges against the board of review and Mr Earl Barks. We will do our best to answer the charges as they appeared in last week's paper.

The charges were that Mr Barks and the board are a little on the shady side. Look at the complete record and then judge how good a job the board of review has done.

The second charge is that Earl Barks was appointed by the members of the township board. This is completely false. Mr Barks was elected by 413 voters. He has served on the board with Walt March for three years.

THE NEXT CHARGE is that Earl Barks' appraised valuation was lowered in excess of $9,000. This statement is true. But now let's look at the records and see who lowered his valuation. The supervisor, in checking over Mr Barks' farm of 275 acres of which 100 acres is muck, changed the classification and lowered it in excess of $7,000. This adjustment was in accordance to the policy agreed upon by the Clinton County Board of Supervisors in regards to muck ground.

This leaves the board of review to account for approximately $2,000 of an $88,000 assessment. They found the second house on this farm not to be as the Yoh Co. represented it. In checking over the house, the board lowered it roughly $2,000, or down to an approximate $8,600 valuation. This leaves a total valuation of $78,500 on this 275 acre farm on Pratt Road.

IN FURTHER, they charge that it takes a majority of three members to change the assessment figures. It does, so let's take a look at some of the changes that were made by the board of review in Olive Township. In Section 1, the Yoh Co. completely missed a silo; it was added. In Section 2, a major ground adjustment; this was lowered. In Section 8, a house was added and the tax rolls. In Section 5, part of a pole barn and a silo was misfigured; the board corrected the mistake made by the Yoh Co. Section 21 had a major ground adjustment lowered. In Section 23, the assessment on a pole barn was lowered. A number of pole barns were lowered throughout the township. In Section 28 a small acreage was lowered $5,000. In Section 27, a major adjustment downward in excess of $2,000 on a two acre lot. In Section 34, a commercial farm operation, a whole plant was missed and was added to the tax rolls. These are only a few changes made by the Board of Review. It shows that Mr Barks and Mr Boron were not the only property owners in the township who had their tax assessments changed.

The last charge of upgrading this "E" swamp land to Class "A" cannot be explained because we know of no class "E" land in this vicinity.

The "Fair Treatment Committee," which consists of six people, has asked for this expansion. We have gladly given the information. We hope this sheds a little light on the subject and shows that the board has tried to do a fair job.

Sincerely, OLIVE TOWNSHIP BOARD OF REVIEW Don Seyfried, Chairman David Conklin Earl Barks

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The letter to the editor which appeared last week, and to which the board of review refers to, was received in good faith, and was published after a superficial checking of the "Fair Treatment Committee" name. Because of the number of letters that are received for publication, a thorough check of everything that is said cannot be made. Publication of the letter last week, just prior to the election, was regrettable, though certainly not intentional on the part of the Clinton County News. But it has led the present management of this newspaper to formulate this policy: no letters originating charges of a political nature, will be published in the issue immediately preceding an election, thus insuring that no one will be caught without an opportunity to reply. RAMBLIN' with Rink

By LOWELL G. RINKER

The car and camper trailer careened down the winding mountain road, its brakes smoking and slowly giving out. The trailer swayed, forcing oncoming cars onto the shoulder and keeping cars following at a distant, safe distance.

Suddenly the brakes gave out entirely, and the car lurched forward. After a sickening, screeching sweep around a hairpin turn at a speed that will likely never again be equaled, the driver bounced along the side of the mountain next to the road, finally slowed and came to a stop with one wheel hanging out in mid-air at the edge of a sharp precipice.

I WOKE UP WITH a start and in a sweat from my nightmare. But I was resolutely steadfast. Neither rain nor sleet nor snow nor nightmares would keep us from our vacation trip to the mountains.

The nightmare didn't, and we certainly weren't bothered by sleet or snow in the mountains of Tennessee in the middle of July. Rain did cause a few problems, but none that weren't overcome by the scenic Smoky Mountains.

Fortunately, we had no frightening moments in our mountain driving. It was our first time in the mountains, and I found driving conditions somewhat better than I had expected; US-441 through the Smokies, in fact, was as good as the best Michigan two-lane roads except that they have a terrific problem keeping it straightened out.

IT WAS ALSO our first experience at camping out and turned out rather well. But because we were always on the go, we were always putting up and taking down the tent, which in the case of our particular camper involved between 15 minutes and 30 minutes, depending on your temper/"cool" ratio.

It was a memorable trip, with some specific memories: "In two weeks we drove 3,094 miles, which included nearly a week on the Smoky Mountains trip, a weekend at home, a trip to Farmington and Grand Ridge, Ill., and three days of rambling around in the Hart-Walkerville area in Western Michigan.

We wisely paced ourselves, with frequent stops of varying time lengths along the way on both legs of the trip. We never did get seat-sore. Kathy was along on both trips and behaved herself remarkably well for a five-year-old penna up in an automobile most of the time.

"IT WAS WET or hot practically every day of the two weeks. During the first week temperatures were never below 90 degrees except in the mountains themselves, and on at least two consecutive days it was 100 degrees. When we came back through Cincinnati we were only a day behind a tornado that killed four people. When we stopped for gas there it was 94 degrees, extremely muggy and brewing up a storm that looked like it could be a repeat performance of the tornado of the day before, so we got out of there fast.

We had so much rain on so many occasions, and it was so damp at night that the canvas portion of our camper actually shrunk. This was due in part to the fact we were on the road most of the time and had to fold the canvas up early each morning before it had a chance to dry out.

"IT WAS A SICKENING two weeks, in a way. Ann was ill nearly two days during the trip home. Kathy was feverish and more solemn than normal one day but did maintain a fairly good disposition. I managed to stay healthy until the two-week vacation ended, and then I proceeded to get sick the first day back.

But now vacation is over.

New rehabilitation plan set for young criminals

Handling of juvenile delinquents is constantly undergoing change as the philosophy turns from punishment to rehabilitation and, hopefully, prevention.

A juvenile convicted of felony 10 years ago would probably serve a prison term, frequently amidst adult criminals. Today he might be involved in a training school, conservation camp or half-way house program.

Starting next year, still other choices will be available to juvenile authorities in dealing with delinquents.

LAWS, ENACTED THIS year provide for the courts to designate errant youngsters as "youthful trainees" before trial on a criminal charge, and permit the establishment of regional detention facilities for juveniles.

Under the first program, the state corrections department would have jurisdiction over the trainees for up to three years. Deviation from the training program established by the department could send the youth back to the court for trial on the criminal charge.

Gus Harrison, acting department director, said the trainee program would probably be used primarily with first offenders. The hope is that the youths would be encouraged to cooperate in their rehabilitation with the knowledge they would not have the stigma of a felony conviction on their record.

CREATION OF regional detention centers will be part of the long range goal of keeping juveniles away from adult prisoners at all stages of incarceration.

These will be operated by the state social services department. Construction of three facilities is planned initially, with the locations to be decided on the basis of need.

While it has long been deemed desirable to have entirely separate facilities for young prisoners, many Michigan counties are financially unable to provide them and the juveniles are put in jail. Under this new program, the committing counties will pay half the cost of the short-term care provided at the regional centers.

PART OF THE major revision of state government initiated by the 1963 constitution was the creation of a state court of appeals.

It was designed to relieve the State Supreme Court of part of its work load. Its primary purpose was to handle a mass of criminal appeals which arose because the new constitution also guaranteed the right of appeal to anyone convicted of a crime.

The nine-member tribunal was elected on the on-partisan ballot in 1964 in three state districts.

MAIN OFFICES of the state's No. 2 court are in Lansing, but cases are also heard in Detroit, Grand Rapids and Marquette.

Although elected from specific districts, the judges on the appellate court bench rotate from month to month among the three divisions. Three judges hear each case which comes before the court.

MICHIGAN, WHICH LED the states in construction of high speed, limited access, toll-free highways, reverted to an ancient system to guide the traveler on these roadways.

Almost three years ago, the highway department started the erection of mileposts on its freeways to give drivers a point of reference. The freeways have few distinctive landmarks otherwise.

The milepost, history shows, was used to guide travelers in biblical times and railroads have used them for many years. They were used on many rural roads in America until the 1920's, when highway maps became popular and other forms of route markings replaced the mile markers.

Initially the mileposts were erected along Interstate 94, I-96 and I-75 only. Later the interchanges on I-94 were numbered according to the mile system, and mileposts were added to the other freeway routes in the state.

Food inspection division helps protect consumer

The telephone rings often at the six regional offices of the Michigan Department of Agriculture's Food Inspection Division. While many of the inquiries are easily answered, some pose knotty problems. Recent consumer inquiries included these:

"HOW CAN I tell if someone stole a loin out of a quarter of beef that I paid for?" A butcher this time.

"Is there any way to tell if what I bought really was pure maple syrup?" telephoned a man like glass in some canned tuna." This call from a housewife.

who didn't like the taste of his sweetening.

THEN A TEENAGER'S voice: "I bought a spool of tape for my tape recorder, but while I paid for 150 feet, I only got 143 feet! What do I do now?"

As all such complaints are within the realm of responsibility of the Food Inspection Division, each was checked out by one of the inspectors who serve every community in the state. Here's what they found:

"GLASS" In canned Tuna turned out to be harmless phosphate crystals which commonly occur in canned seafood. They dissolve in vinegar, food inspectors advise.

Stolen loin? Through painstakingly working a jigsaw puzzle in meat, the butchered portions of the beef quarter were reconstructed to prove to the butcher's satisfaction that he had not been gypped.

Adulterated maple syrup? Yes, there's a test for this at the Michigan Department of Agriculture's laboratory in East Lansing, where inspectors send samples. The syrup in question proved to be pure maple, but low on sugar content, probably due to insufficient evaporation.

Following through on the magnetic tape complaint, the inspector found the purchased spool to contain more than advertised. The fault lay with the footage recorder on the teenager's set; it gave an incorrect reading.

The "Low Down"

From the Congressional Record

By Joe Crump

Proof that Cambodia neutrality is 'phony'

Rep. C. E. Chamberlain (Mich.) . . . "Let me . . . refer my colleagues to information which I have previously inserted in the Record on May 4, May 17, and May 23 . . .

"At this time I would only reiterate that while in South Viet Nam I was specifically told by a special forces officer of the existence of three airstrips on Cambodian soil which received daily flights with supplies for Viet Cong and of the existence of a training area as well . . .

"I am impressed that by sending me this personal cable the Cambodian Prime Minister is admitting that a very sensitive nerve has been hit . . ." (The condensed cable follows)

Mr Charles Chamberlain, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C., U.S. A.

We have just learned of your astonishing statements about Cambodia from the Congressional Record of May 23, 1966. They show us that a representative of the American people is free to advocate an aggressive policy against a peaceful and neutral country on the basis of reports that he knows very well are false.

However, you may rest assured that Cambodia would be able to cope with that situation just as it is coping with the constant acts of aggression perpetrated by your forces and your mercenaries, and above all do not imagine that such a measure can destroy our independence.

Norodom Kantel President of the Council of Ministers and Minister of Foreign Affairs.

(CONSENSED from the New York Times, May 1, 1966, by C. L. Sulzberger)

Recently I was persuaded in Pnom Penh (capitol of Cambodia) that Cambodia was trying to be truly neutral in the Viet name conflict. I wrote: "Those who are paid to know such things insist Cambodia is not willingly allowing the Viet Cong to use this country's territory as a sanctuary or supply route and that any violations are of relatively minor importance."

I was wrong. I have satisfied myself on this on a trip by plane and helicopter along the Cambodian border right up to its junction with Laos. I visited military positions and remote Special Forces outposts at Song Be, Duo Co, Dak To, and Jeh, Sedang and Hiang. I heard Americans, South Vietnamese and Montagnard accounts of what was happening inside Cambodia, a few miles away.

I have reversed my previous impression and concluded that Cambodia is indeed a sanctuary and supply source for the Viet Cong on such a scale that the Pehn government must know it. From the extreme south to Laos in the north, Cambodia is violating its proclaimed neutrality.

New 4 year college at Soo approved

The State Board of Education has approved expansion of the Sault Branch of Michigan Technological University (MTU) as a four-year degree-granting institution. At the same time, the State Board announced that MTU's Board of Control has agreed to "undertake a course of action" that will lead to the Sault Branch becoming an independent college within six years.

State Board President Thomas J. Brennan said the MTU Board of Control will ask the State Legislature for authorization and funds that will enable the Sault Branch to become autonomous sometime between 1968 and 1972.

IN THE MEANTIME, Brennan said, both the State Board and MTU's Board "shall review annually the progress and status of the Sault Branch" until it achieves independence.

When it becomes independent, it will be Michigan's twelfth state-supported institution of higher education.

COUNTRY FLAVOR Eighth month—now comes the time of maturity

HAYDN PEARSON

Summer is getting a little tired. Along country roadsides grasses and ferns are covered with gray dust, and tree leaves no longer show the rich, glowing green of the earlier season. Hillsides and pastures have a soft faded hue as ripeness spreads amber and tan color on the countryside.

Dry stubble of wheat and rye resembles a brown carpet. In the high heat of an August moon while the sun blazes in a pale blue sky, the leaves of corn curl as if in protest. Lassitude lies like a blanket over the land and the occasional chirp of a cricket beneath the kitchen window is loud in quiet air.

DAWNS ARE MOIST with dew. Cobwebs on the lawn are jeweled patterns for a brief interlude as slanting rays strike the drops of water. Mists hover in the lowlands and wooden shingles on barn and ice house are dark with the night's dampness. This is the waiting time of year - the interlude when time seems to stand still.

The countryman hears the cries of the katydids one evening and thinks "Six more weeks until frost." He looks to the sky for signs of rain, for he knows that in spite of the quiet brooding on the land, plants are pushing toward maturity. Apples are beginning to hang heavy on the boughs and tomatoes are reddening in the garden. Pollen grains are dropping to corn silks and the ears are beginning to fill.

AUGUST IS not the most pleasant month, but it is an integral part of Nature's plan. The first flush of growth is over; now comes the time of maturity. Thus it is with plants and with man, for Time never stands still.

Over 15,000 boys in Clinton, Ingham and Eaton counties are in Scouting.

Appreciates Cropsey's help on schools

The state has for a number of years been trying to destroy the Ashley School District. When the big guns of the Department of Education, the fire marshal and the Intermediate school office had us zeroed in for the kill—we got no help from our state representative.

But we did get help and encouragement from Harmon Cropsey. He made several trips from DeWitt to meet with individuals and our citizens committee to help save our school district.

He is a candidate on the Republican ticket for state representative for the 88th district.

It's good to know that at least one candidate gives more than just lip service to the needs of the "little people" and will go to bat for them when they desperately need help. That's why we think he deserves the support Aug. 2 of all the people who believe in local government.

Thanks paper for Legion help

Past Department Commander George S. Frederick has requested that I write and thank you for your splendid cooperation during the Legion Year 1965-66 which ended July 17.

I'm sure that the Department of Michigan will go down in the books as having one of the finest American Legion public relations programs in the United States this past year... thanks to your efforts.

THE FOUR basic programs of the Legion... child welfare, service and rehabilitation, Americanism and national security... thrive on publicity. People must know about them in order to take advantage of the services they offer... not only to Legionnaires but to citizens at large. You have helped us "get the word out," and we appreciate it. We hope that this fine relationship can continue under our new department commander, Edwin J. Schultema of Holland. Commander Schultema has indicated he intends to give his fullest cooperation to the news media. Let us know of any special needs you may have which we can satisfy.

Sincerely,
DON DAVENPORT
Director of Public Relations

Olive supervisor replies to letter

In reply to a letter "purposely written for the people in Olive Township" which appeared in last week's issue of the Clinton County News, I will at least attempt to answer it.

Public Acts of 1964, No. 275, changed the make-up of boards of review. In the past the supervisor, along with two qualified property owners of the township, comprised the board of review, but now the board of review is made up of three tax-paying electors of the township, who shall be owners of land in said township, appointed by the township board, and the supervisor acts as secretary.

When the report by the H. L. Yoh Co. appraisal firm was accepted, with adjustments to be made by the individual assessors, by the Clinton County Board of Supervisors (incidentally, on roll call vote I voted nay), property owners were mailed notices by the H. L. Yoh Co. informing them of their valuation and also when and where a public hearing would be held.

AN APPRAISAL card for each description in the township was furnished me. After we supervisors checked our cards we knew there were places where we should make minus adjustments. In some instances plus adjustments were also made.

Before the board of review met I checked every card not once but twice and some many more times. I did a lot of minus adjusting before the board of review met.

When the board of review met they reexamined each card again and made some personal inspections of properties and then made final adjustments according to their findings.

I hope this will give you a better understanding of how your assessments are arrived at.

Sincerely,
ALMOND B. CRESSMAN
Olive Township Supervisor

Michigan pioneered free chest x-rays for the detection of tuberculosis. The state Department of Health started use of a mobile x-ray unit in 1940, the first of its kind in the nation and probably the first in the world.
