Bath supervisor to resign?

Students involved in the Job-O-Youth recently tackled quite a project for themselves. In order to save the city of St Johns some money as well as make a little for themselves, 10 area youths have taken down 85 street signs for sanding, straightening and repainting. About 40 of the signs have been put back up so far. Pictured here (from left) working on the signs are Randy Bellant, Rick Bellant and Bob Warr.

BATH--It looks like Township Supervisor Roy VanSickle is going to have to resign. After much prodding from a few Park Lake residents at Monday night's township meeting, the board voted to go along with the recently circulated petitions requesting a public apology or resignation from VanSickle.

The petitions were circulated by angry residents who took issue to VanSickle's statement to the State Journal in June that Park Lake is polluted.

Richard Whited, a township resident, first wanted to know how the board felt about the story, and then inquired what they were doing with the petitions which were presented at the last meeting.

Whited was told that nothing is being done with them since they were only received as a matter of record.

Clerk June Burnett explained the "run around" she received from both the Department of Natural Resources and the State Health Department when she tried to follow through with the board's request that Park Lake be retested.

"I called the State Health Dept," she said, "and they told me it was the responsibility of the county." She noted that when she called the county, they said it was the responsibility of the state.

Burnett declared that the DNR and both Health Departments "won't touch it (pollution testing) because it's too hot an issue."

Treasurer Thomas Woodruff contacted the sanitarium for the Mid-Michigan Health Dept, and was told they would come out to the lake last week to begin testing. Woodruff reported that the sanitarium said testing would take at least a month.

Again Whited demanded action from the board on the petitions. Trustee Daniel Carleton said he felt VanSickle should apologize.

Woodruff said, "I kinda feel the same way," and moved that the board concur with the petitions.

When VanSickle asked what he meant, Woodruff stated, "You should apologize or resign."

Park Lake resident Melvin Fisk expressed his disgust with the lack of action from the Health Dept.

"If we can't get the county or state in there," he declared, "Let's get the federal."

County Commissioner, Gerald Shepard, noted that the township board cannot direct the county Board of Health to test the lake, but it may "ask" them.

Norman Woolfe, who instigated the petitions, requested statements from the rest of the trustees. "The people want to know how you feel," he stated.

Trustee Richard Bragdon told Woolfe "you're pretty hard to get a hold of," and added that he had also been unable to reach the Park Lake committee's co-chairman.

Woolfe retorted that his phone number is in the book, and that the co-chairman is on vacation. Once again he pushed for a decision from the board.

Clerk Burnett said she was waiting for test results, and would call for an apology if verification is received that the lake is not polluted.

"I feel his statement was wrong," she added. "It wasn't in good taste" and "of the top of his head" type of thing."

Fisk interjected that the lake passed a Michigan Health Dept test that he told the board about at their last meeting.

VanSickle replied he wouldn't accept the test because it was not done professionally.

The test in question consisted of 1 water sample drawn from a swimming area in the lake, which was pictured in the State Journal.

An angered Fisk retorted, "There was just as much truth in that as your statement, Buster."

VanSickle told him the board has tried their best to get authorities to test Park Lake, and that the Mid-Michigan Health Department has begun testing, but require a period of weeks to get an accurate finding.

Virginia Zeeb, who serves on the health department board, offered to "try to expedite things." She also suggested the township send the department a letter instead of calling, stating exactly what they want done so the department will know why they are requesting a series of tests.

Mrs Zeeb will report her findings to Clerk Burnett and Treasurer Woodruff.

Another resident spoke up and wanted to know why VanSickle had not "done anything" if he knew of 2 homes dumping sewage in the lake.

VanSickle replied, "I don't have the power to do anything. The sewer is blamed on VanSickle. The state ordered it, not VanSickle."

Trustee John Snider commented, "I've stuck both feet in my mouth several times... and I've had to backwater a lot of times. I don't know how Roy feels about it. I can't do it for him."

Treasurer Woodruff's motion was then seconded by Carleton VanSickle requested a roll call vote.

Trustee Snider abstained from voting. Carleton voted to agree with the petitions' request, as did Woodruff and Burnett. Trustee Richard Bragdon voiced the only no vote. Trustee Richard Morrill was absent from the meeting.

In response, VanSickle told the board, "I will not be apologizing. By virtue of those papers (the DNR's report of 1970) Bath was ordered to put in a sewer. If sewage and disease don't have an association, I will apologize."

Following a recess Gerald Shepard told those present, "Don't put all the blame on Roy. There have been changes in sanitarians (since Shepard was Township Supervisor). The State leaves the Health Dept hanging."

Fisk told VanSickle, "You're going at it the wrong way." He went on to say VanSickle's statement to the press is the reason "everybody's so worked up--not the sewer."

VanSickle replied, "They're one in the same."

Major chains claim

Beef shortage critical

By Laurie Kipp
County News Writer

Supermarkets in this area are facing a drastic shortage of beef which could soon lead to the disappearance of some cuts from store meat, and in some cases, no beef at all.

David Burt, vice president of the Grand Rapids-Fort Wayne division of Kroger food Stores, confirmed that so far as the supermarket is concerned, the shortage is real and is critical.

"The cattle simply are not being brought to market," he said. He added that Kroger is doing everything humanly possible to obtain an adequate supply of beef for customers. Kroger's supply of other meats, he said, is adequate.

But noted that last week the company was only able to purchase about half its normal requirements, and blamed the shortage on economic controls which continued ceiling prices on beef until Sept 12. Ceiling prices on other meats were removed July 18.

Kroger has been forced to lay off approximately 400 workers in its 13 meat fabricating plants. But hinted that further layoffs may become necessary.

On July 30, Kroger was notified of the closing of 30 large packing plants which normally supply its beef needs. Those which remain open, Burt said, are operating on a part-time basis.

Burt sees no immediate relief in sight "since the entire marketing system has been disrupted by economic controls." He further speculated that the longer ceiling prices remain on beef, the greater the price hike will be.

Frank Malott, vice president and general manager of Michigan's IGA stores, also blamed high prices and chronic shortages of beef on economic controls.

He noted that IGA is experiencing a shortage of all cuts of beef since they receive meat directly from packers and distribute it themselves to the stores.

"Packers simply aren't slaughtering and shipping to us," he stated. IGA is currently receiving 40 percent of their normal shipments, and is importing beef from Canada in an effort to keep customers happy.

Malott predicts the shortage will end as soon as the federal government ends price ceilings.

At their Vassar plant, Malott anticipates actual elimination of a total shift of workers.

Fiery crash claims life

An early morning automobile accident on M-21, near Carland Rd, claimed the life of an Ovid man Aug 3. Dead at the scene was Robert R. Good, 23, 220 W Oak St, Ovid. Good was reportedly returning home from his job at Olinkraft, Inc, in Owosso, when his car ran off the road, struck a tree and caught fire. The accident occurred at 3:30 am.

An autopsy to determine the exact cause of death was not possible because of extensive burns received in the crash, according to Owosso State Police reports.

Q--I am interested in taking a first aid course so I may be better able to handle emergency situations. Can you find out if the Red Cross or some other organizations have classes and what the cost is? I am interested in an evening class, and also having it in the immediate area. -- ML, ST JOHNS

A--We contacted the Mid-Michigan Chapter of the American Red Cross in Lansing and were told that all their evening courses in August are filled. However, the Red Cross will probably offer evening courses in September, which will be filled this month. Mollie Burnett is the person to call at 484-7461. She says she will take your name and phone number, and will contact you about these classes. No cost was mentioned.

Q--The week of July 26 I purchased a set of spark plugs from the College Bike Shop in East Lansing for my motorcycle. I put them in my motorcycle and it wouldn't run properly. It ran better with my old plugs. So I tried to return them and they wouldn't give me my money back as I had placed them in my cycle. If I would have known that they were bad, I wouldn't have bought them. It seems like I should be able to get my money back since the plugs were bad. Can the Fact Finder please help me get my money back, because they were very expensive plugs? -- RC, St Johns

A--We called the College Bike Shop and explained the situation to one of their managers. She told Fact Finder that the best thing for you to do is to bring your bike and all the plugs, old and new, into their shop. Doug Sears is their service manager, and he'll take a look at them to see if they're defective. If they are bad, he will replace them for you.

Clinton to have 82,506 by 2000

Population rate slows in Tri-County

If population trends continue at the same rate the Tri-County region (Clinton, Ingham, Eaton) will contain 584,639 people by the year 2000, according to "Population Projections" just published by the Tri-

County Regional Planning Commission (TCRPC). "That means 206,216 more people will be living in the area than in 1970", said Paul Freel, senior data systems coordinator. The region is still growing but at a much slower rate than between 1960 and 1970. The 1960 population was 298,949, but it jumped to 378,423 in 1970.

Freel explained that, "death rates are stable, but birth rates have dropped."

POSSIBLE CAUSES could be attributed to the creation of family planning organizations, wider use of birth control methods, more women working leaving less time for family responsibilities, increased demand for leisure time, and the movement for women's rights. "The regional situation is not typical, it just reflects what's happening on the national level", said Freel.

Regional projections are based on the 1960 and 1970 census, and are available to the year 2,000 in five year spans.

Information on sex ratios for the newborn, fertility rates, and migration and survival rates by sex and age groups were applied to the 1969 and 1970 census figures to arrive at the expected population changes.

Population predictions for the year 2,000 are 82,506 for Clinton County; 138,945 for Eaton County; and 363,787 for Ingham County.

In 1970 Ingham County contained 69% of the regional population; Eaton County represented 18.2%; and Clinton County 12.8%. By the year 2,000 Ingham County is expected to be 62.2%; Eaton County 23.7%; and Clinton County 14.1% of the Tri-County population total.

EATON COUNTY shows the best signs of growth in population. Between 1970 and 2,000 it is expected to increase its share of the regional population by one percent every five years.

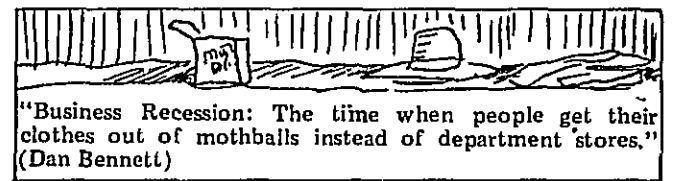

Projection areas include the City of Lansing, Clinton, Eaton, and Ingham counties, the five township area (DeWitt Township, and the charter townships of Lansing, Delhi, Delta, and Meridian), and the nine township area (five township area plus Alameda, Windsor, Watertown, and Bath townships).

Freel added that the TCRPC has also published the "Community Profile and Data Book." The book summarizes regional information from the 1970 census. It also contains data on political units over 1,000 in population for the three counties.

This includes 1970 census statistics on housing, population, labor force, income, and transportation.

ANOTHER SECTION takes community by community look at selected information items from the 1940-1970 census and sums up the trends.

Cindy Lou Searles bride of Joseph Geller

Wedding vows uniting Cindy Lou Searles, daughter of Mr and Mrs Willard D Searles of St Johns to Joseph Carl Geller son of Mr and Mrs Carl Geller of Lansing, were spoken June 30 at Ovid Free Methodist Church. The Rev Richard Gleason performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white mums and blue carnations.

The brides gown, made by her mother, was made of white satin with an embroidered net over the skirt. It featured an empire waist decorated with blue and white lace flowers. She also wore a crowned floor length veil, and carried a bouquet of white sweetheart roses and baby blue carnations.

Cherie Johnson of St Johns served as matron of honor. Bridesmaid were Kim Gleason, Ovid; Debbie Burns of St Johns; Marcia Matthews of Laingsburg; and Joyce Huff, sister of the bride, of St Johns. Niece of the bride, Melody Smith, served as junior bridesmaid, and was dressed identical to the matron of honor. Ronda Preston cousin of the bride was flower girl and was dressed identical to the bride.

Attendants were attired in empire waist floor length gowns of pastel, blue, yellow, green, pink, and lavender crepe trimmed with white lace and velvet ribbon to match each dress. Each carried a bouquet of white daisies, roses and carnations the color of their dresses. The bouquets of wood fiber flowers were made by Marilyn Searles, sister-in-law of the bride.

Von Simpson of St Johns served as best man. Gilbert Martinez of St Johns, Leon Searles, brother of the bride, St Johns; Jim Geller brother of the groom, from Lansing and Steve Price of St Johns served as groomsmen. Chip Washburn, nephew of the bride, served as junior groomsmen while Pat Sibley, nephew of the groom, was ringbearer and was dressed like the groom. Ushers were Allen Geller brother of the groom, and William Searles, brother of the bride.

A buffet supper reception was held at Bingham Grange with about 250 guests attending. Debbie and Brenda Searles nieces of the bride, attended the guest book.

Following their weekend honeymoon the newlyweds are residing at 805 N Scott Road, St Johns.

The Rev Fr William Hanked performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with baskets of white glads and orange mums.

The bride chose an a-line peau'd'ange lace gown featuring a fitted bodice, high ruffled neckline and chapel train. She wore a white picture hat accented with white flowers and covered with an elbow length veil. Her bouquet was a cascade arrangement of orange mums, roses, baby's breath and white streamers.

Debbie Bauer was her sister's maid of honor. Sandy Bailey, Dolores Phiney, sister of the bride, and Diane Daher, also a sister, were bridesmaids. Petra Daher, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

The attendants wore floor length empire gowns of flowered orange chiffon over taffeta and orange picture hats. The flower girl's dress matched the bridesmaids'. Each carried a basket of flowers with baby's breath and streamers.

Mrs Bauer selected a mint green dress with white accessories and had a corsage of melon and white roses. The groom's mother wore a flowered pink and white dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink and white roses.

Bill Stoy served as best man. Groomsmen included Charles Geller, Jim Dershem and Roy Sehke. Dale Bauer, brother of the bride, and Tom Bullard, cousin of the groom, seated the guests. Eddie Ballinger, cousin of the groom, was ring bearer.

A dinner reception for approximately 400 guests was held later in the afternoon at the St Joseph School gymnasium. Hosts and hostesses for the event were Mr and Mrs Dennis Bauer, and Mr and Mrs Joseph Armbrustmacher. Assisting with the serving were Sandy Bauer, Marcia Motz, Cindy LaChappelle, Deb Weiber and Phyllis Oehis.

Special guest present was Mrs Neva Bullard, grandmother of the groom.

Holy Family Catholic Church breaks ground for building

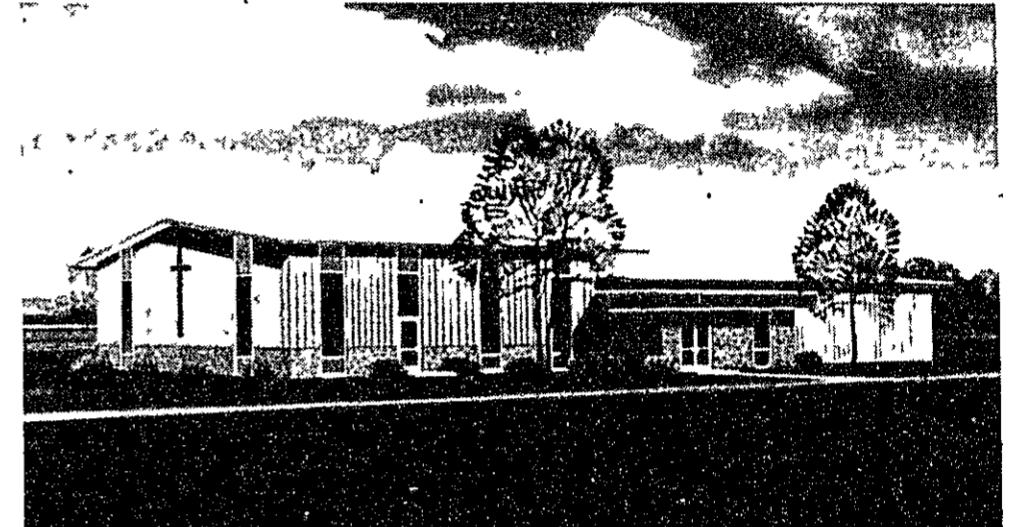

Participating in the ground breaking ceremonies Sunday for the Ovid Holy Family Church are Julius Keush, John A. Surik, Robert Hubbard, Larry Byrnes, Robert VanSice, Hugh Wadsworth, Mrs Florence Wadsworth, Robert Shinabery, Father Joseph Aubin, Chester Borton, Frank Kirinovic, Mrs Dorothy Hawley, Earl Brown, Bernice Mitchell, August Dunay, Robert Flynn, and John Flynn (builders).

A groundbreaking ceremony was held on Sunday, August 5, 1973, at noon for the new Holy Family Catholic Church in Ovid. The new church will be built on a 12 acre site at 410 Mabbitt road on the east edge of the village.

The Holy Family Parish was founded in the autumn of 1966. The first mass was held Sunday Nov 25, 1966, at the Veterans Hall in Ovid. Since that time, mass has been held every Wednesday evening and Sunday at the Veterans Hall. Holy Family is operated as a mission church, with services conducted by Father Joseph Aubin from St Isidore's in Laingsburg. Holy Family mission serves about 90 families in the Ovid area.

The new church will be a 60 foot by 120 foot pre-engineered building of steel and conventional building materials. The church interior is designed with two distinct areas: a church proper and an all-purpose area for catechism classes, weddings, dinner parties and other social events.

Holy Family Church is believed to be the first church in Michigan to use a pre-engineered steel building. The parish hopes to celebrate their first mass in the new church on Easter Sunday, 1974.

Cake decorating

by Esther Smith

Hi, my name is Esther Smith, and I'd like to tell you a little bit about cake decorating.

Cake decorating is fun and takes practice. The first year you usually practice on a cake pan while your leader shows you how to do different things. After you practice you look in books or get your own ideas on what kind of cake you want to make, and how you want to make it after you have decided, you practice the different edging and flowers, or whatever is on the cake you're going to decorate.

The second year, you still use a cake pan to practice, but you learn new and harder things to make. You learn to use royal icing. Royal icing is the icing that gets real hard when it's dry and it is what the decorations are made of when you buy them in a store. Then you learn how to decorate with color flow.

Color flow is a thin icing that you pipe around a stencil or pattern. You then fill in with the icing and it flows together and fills in to make a smooth design. This you do on wax or parchment paper. It has to dry up to 48 hours then you have your hardened design for your cake.

You can take a cake or dummy decorated for the fair. Cake decorating is lots of fun and you learn new things all the time. It's fun to let your imagination go and dream up different things to do. You can decorate lots of things besides cakes and baked goods.

Gun safety

by Jeff Hazle
Gun safety; one of the most popular project areas in 4-H, is available to all boys and girls who are over ten years of age. As the project name implies, gun safety teaches members to treat guns with respect and handle them safely. The members are taught the courtesies and responsibilities of being safe hunters. They also learn to recognize the rights of others and treat the environment as though it were owned by a rich uncle. The basis for this education comes in a classroom type situation where members view movies and slides which demonstrate good gun safety practices. Leaders and visiting conservation officers tell you anything you want to know, from where you can hunt, to the proper way to clean a gun after you're done hunting. However, the most valuable lessons are learned from actual experience on the rifle range.

One of the most pleasing aspects of gun safety is that each member learns by doing. Everyone gets a chance to shoot while learning the fundamentals of gun handling. Every member is taught to shoot his gun standing, sitting, and lying down. Even as important as safe gun handling is the need for accuracy. To encourage accuracy a county shooting match is offered each year. There is a match for a junior division and a separate one for senior members. Both age groups receive a written test along with the actual shooting contest. The two persons in each division who have the highest total score for the shooting match and written test advance to the state gun meet.

The state gun meet is a very severe test for a young person's self-confidence and poise. I enjoyed going to compete, but I was a little shook by the accuracy of the other shooters. (Many of them could stand up a quarter, fifty feet away and shoot the pigtail off George Washington). Not only did their accuracy amaze me, but I also notice the respect with which every person handled their gun. But that's the real reason they are in the state finals.

Anyone with a good eye, a steady hand, and an interest in shooting should not deny themselves the pleasure and privilege of keeping, caring for, and shooting a gun. When the reward is as great as being in the state gun meet, no one can turn down a chance to participate in the project of gun safety.

County Commissioners ponder status of Civil Defense director

ST JOHNS -- Facing a cut in matching Civil Defense funds, the Clinton County Board of Commissioners moved to comply with state level requirements, but indicated the program will be studied to determine if the county will continue a full-time director.

In their all-day Tuesday meeting, Commissioners were told by Don Gilson that a new state Civil Service director was "critical of the Clinton County Board of Commissioners and was not satisfied with Charley's (County director, Charley Frost) performance" and if the county did not comply with the state agency's request funds would be "cut off."

Maurice Gove told the board Frost had not participated in some action areas now required by the state because of the board's earlier opinion that he should run the county program without expanding the program to a large extent.

The state requires an up-dated emergency plan, a line of succession for officials, a public officials conference and personnel trained in radiological monitoring.

The board moved to have Frost comply with those requirements, but said they would study the program through the remainder of the year, to determine the need for a full-time director.

Derrill Shinabery said he felt the county could possibly appoint, an existing employee to handle the Civil Defense duties in addition to the regular job.

He distributed a brochure to members of the board showing Clinton County has the highest salary budget for directors in counties of a similar population.

Clinton County pays $8190 with Isabella next highest at $7350.

In other board business, a request to table a zoning question for a proposed Upton Farms Mobile Home Park in Bath Township was approved to allow developers to meet again with the township.

The Township Planning Board had recommended denial because of "adverse soil conditions, the land does not conform to the future land use plan and insufficient data."

The County Planning Commission recommended denial for the same reasons as listed by the township unit. The County Zoning Commission also recommended denial of a special use permit and re-zoning to allow the development of the Mobile Home Park.

Hearings announced on controversial bill

Public hearings on a bill which State Representative R. Douglas Trezise (R-Owosso) says may be "one of the most controversial in recent years" are scheduled for this summer by the Michigan House Towns and Counties Committee. The bill, referred to as "the State Land Use Act", calls for the creation of a State Land Use Commission within the Department of Natural Resources with the responsibility of preparing a State Land Use Plan.

Under the present form of the bill, the Commission itself would consist of seven members. A 40-member advisory council would also be established, consisting of members representing a broad cross-section of groups, including business, labor, agriculture, land developers and other units of government. Working with local units of government, the commission would identify areas where (1) intensive development is to be encouraged, (2) where rural densities or open spaces are to be encouraged, (3) where agricultural uses should be maintained, (4) where land should be reserved for public purposes, and (5) areas of future urban development.

"Those are pretty broad powers," said Rep Trezise, who is a member of the Towns and Counties Committee, and warns that there must be adequate safeguards to prevent "absolute state control over growth of all areas of the state." "That is why 12 separate hearings have been scheduled in all parts of the state. We need a more general recognition of the problem and input from a lot of people as to how it can best be solved. I'm hopeful that many citizens will make the effort to attend one of these hearings and present their views and suggestions on this problem."

John O French (left) and John A Simy of the state Transportation Dept stationed themselves near the railroad crossing at Lansing St in St Johns last week. Their job was to count vehicle and pedestrian traffic over the crossing. The survey is being made in connection with upcoming hearings regarding the city of St Johns' reluctance to comply with public service recommendations.

Fisk then told VanSickle, "You haven't got guts enough to come over to the lake."

Another resident thanked the board for their action, and for "bringing the issue to a head." He then asked VanSickle to see the DNR reports after the meeting.

VanSickle's comment was, "All of a sudden you want to look at the documents, at this late date."

The meeting was adjourned without any formal statement from the board as a whole requesting the supervisor's resignation.

Trustee Bragdon, VanSickle's sole supporter when the petitions were voted upon, expressed his dismay after the meeting.

"Some people just fail to appreciate Roy. He's done a very conscientious job," he declared, "and would continue to do so if he's given a chance, and the cooperation of the board."

"This sewer issue has dragged on long enough," he added.

Open Letter

from VAN W. HOAG

Dear friends,

It deserves emphasis that the time, the place, the character of the funeral service, the merchandise used, the cemetery selected - these are decisions of the family of the deceased. The funeral director acts only as a representative of the family.

The clergyman should be consulted in matters that concern him before any decisions are made.

Respectfully,

Entomology--more than raising insects

by Harry Moldenhauer
Nimble Fingers 4-H Club
"What are you doing this summer?"
"Working on my Entomology project."

"Entomology! What's that?" This is a typical conversation between a non 4-H'er and 4-H Entomology member.
According to Webster,

Entomology is "the branch of Zoology that deals with insects." But Entomology is much more than that. To some people it is rearing insect pests to find the best way of destroying them. To others it is rearing insect predators to find out what pests they can help control. Still other people think of an Entomologist as a pesticide research scientist. To some it is collecting beautiful and rare insects and to others, determining population of insects in fields.
4-H Entomology projects mean many things to many different people also. To many members young and old it means collecting insects to display. To some it means rearing caterpillars that turn into beautiful moths and butterflies. These butterflies and moths can then be put in collections.

Other members experiment with imbedding insects in plastic for a permanent display.
The 4-H entomology project has meant all of these things and many more to me. Last winter I started rearing crickets and used them for an Entomology project. This summer I am using the crickets for a different project. I am rearing 2 tarantulas and using the crickets for food. These spiders are very interesting to watch and handle and provide for an excellent attention getter. I am also rearing meal worms to feed the spiders and to use for fish bait.

So, what is Entomology? That, you must decide for yourself.

HARRY

Eggplant anyone?

by Kathy Valentine
If you ever want to know what's new in feeding the world's millions, visit a 4-H vegetable garden. Great things are growing there! There are things like peppers, tomatoes, beans and watermelon. Other things too, like friendship, pride and fun. Even a beginner can harvest a big crop of fun.
To keep things growing, takes planning, preparation and work. Each gardening year is an opportunity to try new things. I have discovered that newspaper, three or four sheets thick, can be used as a mulch around established plants. The newspaper keeps weeds down and holds moisture in. Leave the papers on after harvest and they will disappear into the soil by plowing time in the spring. This year I'm trying a compost pit to make my own fertilizer. Weeds, grass clippings, leaves and horse manure should combine into a great plant booster. Whatever a person wants to experiment with there is usually someone around to compare notes with or to ask questions of. The annual garden tours give the green thumbs a chance to see who is raising the best plants or perhaps who is raising the most weeds.

For the competitive minded, fair time is the best time of the year. Along with the judging of exhibits, there will be a Horticulture Identification Contest to enter. There is sure to be lots of competition for those cash prizes!

For the less competitive 4-H'ers, the fair isn't the best part of all. The best part is sitting down at a dinner table with steaming sweet corn or squash and perhaps a home grown salad with lettuce, tomato and pepper slices.

For all 4-H vegetable gardeners there is definitely fun. Even if we don't feed the world's hungry millions at least our families get fresh vegetables that taste great and cost little.

Eggplant anyone?

This Is John Williams Week

As a leader in boy scouting for 16 years and scoutmaster of Troop 71 for 12 years, John Williams has given countless hours to the boys in the community. He has contributed unselfishly of his time, losing many hours of work so that boys might attend weekend or summer camps. In addition, he spent many hours each year helping scouts earn money to pay scouting dues, camp expenses or costs of equipment. John has been active in the development of the spring and fall "Camporee" outings at the District Round Table meetings and these deep involvement in scouting activities led to his receipt four years ago of the Silver Beaver Award, one of the most coveted scouting honors. In addition, John has also been active in the Masonic Lodge and Eastern Star and presently he is an associate patron in the Order of Eastern Star. He is also a member of the St. Johns Commandery. For this exceptional participation in community activities, we are pleased to honor John Williams as our citizen of the week.

It's a Pleasure for Us to

A PERSONAL LOOK AT THE NEWS

Between the lines

with Jim Edwards

Something's wrong

Several years ago when Michigan legislators were bidding for salary increases, they argued that legislating had become a fulltime job and merited pay that was in line with what other fulltime vocations commanded.

Another contention was that higher salaries would lure talented individuals from high paying private enterprise jobs to legislative service, thus upgrading overall quality of the legislative branch.

Chapter One is increasingly difficult to swallow. There is only one reason legislating in this state has become an alleged fulltime job. That's because inefficiency and less than dedicated leadership have caused maddening delays on nearly every critical issue to come along.

When it takes more than 6 months to determine what the budget's going to be, something's wrong, and the good of the citizenry is not being served. This is the political process at its worst.

As for Chapter 2, as long as bull-headed leadership insists on causing delay after delay, all for the sake we suspect of politics, then ultimately no salary will be high enough to keep gifted individuals around Lansing.

(As a sidelight, we also should point out that legislating isn't the "fulltime" job originally claimed, since the original recess date was July 1. Lawmakers weren't planning to reconvene until Oct 1.)

Election officials were predicting a slightly higher than average turnout Tuesday as Clinton County residents visited the ballot boxes to cast their vote in the August primary.

Several Clinton County officials motored to Ithaca last week and learned a fact they have suspected - it'll be at least eight to ten years before a new US-27 freeway is constructed between Lansing and Ithaca.

Charges by local Republican office seekers that the party acted improperly when placing an ad in the County News will be discussed during a meeting of the executive board of the Clinton County GOP Committee August 16. The discussion is planned immediately after the regular county convention which convenes at 6 pm.

Clinton County Commissioners have approved the purchase of a new police radio communications after acceptance of a bid on the second go around.

Jon Tatroe, winner of the Clinton County Soap Box Derby held here June 16, found the going a lot tougher in the 26th annual All-American Derby at Akron, Ohio, last Saturday when he was eliminated in the first round.

Twenty people, including seven from Clinton County were injured Wednesday night when a speeding race car went out of control at the Owosso Motor Speedway, four miles east of Ovid on M-21, and hurdled into the crowded grandstand.

Painters are busy this week covering up the dirty gray exterior of Clinton County's Courthouse with a fresh coat of cream-colored paint. It's the first time the exterior of the brick building has been painted since 1936.

Two more Clinton County soldiers returned from overseas graves this week. They are Lt. Leonard Bond, whose casket arrived Tuesday and Pvt Alvin E. Bast scheduled to arrive this afternoon.

All roads in Clinton County will lead to the St Johns City park fairgrounds Monday when some 1200 Clinton 4-H youngsters will set up over 3,000 exhibits for the 26th annual three-day county 4-H Fair.

The past week has been a bloody one in Clinton County with 11 persons injured, none critically, in four accidents since last Thursday. Three other accidents, in which no one was injured were reported to the Clinton County Sheriff's Department.

Work was started last week on the new building being constructed for Vaughan's Seed Co. The building will be 100 ft on William Street and will be deep.

Irving L. Rose, 21, Laingsburg, and Ronald Smith, 21, Hastings were injured yesterday when Rose's car was struck at the intersection of Round Lake Road and Meridian Road just west of Laingsburg by a car driven by Harmand Guenther, R2, Laingsburg.

In a hearing at Ithaca Tuesday, a board of practicability composed of three supervisors each from Clinton, Shiawassee and Gratiot counties decided unanimously that dredging of the Maple River was both necessary and practical.

Food prices in St Johns this week are running generally from 60 to 120 per cent above OPA levels, a Republican News survey showed Tuesday. With occasional minor slumps, prices have edged upward for the past 30 months.

After learning of the use of all the listening devices revealed by the Watergate hearings, I've informed friends and family that "we can't be too careful."

So far my caution has fallen on deaf ears and, at times, has been met by downright disrespect.

Take for instance, when my wife called recently:

"Horst Fibleswipe speaking," I answered.

"Jim, what in the world are you doing? What's the idea of calling yourself Horst Whaddya callit?"

"Shhhhhh, you can't be too careful. Somebody might be listening, you know."

"Well, so what," she said, "all they'll hear is what I want you to bring home for supper."

Cautioning her to keep a civil tongue in her mouth, I said, "Look, you may joke about this, but it could be a very serious matter. What if I happened to mention something that wasn't meant for the ears of the public?"

Giggling, she answered, "The only case that would come up would involve your golf score."

Realizing she didn't understand the seriousness of the whole situation, I said, "Goodbye, Storm Warning (that's her code name in case the phone is really bugged) and I hung up."

I then went home by a circuitous route. Entering the door, I was met with, "Ok, smart guy, the next time you call me something like Storm Warning, I'm going to put a hailstorm right in your left ear."

"Now, settle down," I said, "that's just a little code name - to throw whoever's listening off track."

Shaking her head, Storm Warning, replied, "You've been out in the sun too long. Maybe you better stop playing bad-milton with Ken next door - he must have clobbered you in the brain with the birdie. Now what are you doing?"

I explained that I was checking the sofa for bugs.

"With as much sleeping as you do on it," she snapped, "the only bugs you'll find are bed bugs."

Again warning her of the gravity of the situation, I recounted how the president had taped conversations of people who had no idea they were being recorded.

"See here, goofball and that's not a code name. In the first place, who would want to record what you're saying? And, another thing, the president just recorded things said by important people who had important things to say. Why in the world would anybody want to record you saying, 'Uhhh, is there anything good on television tonight?'"

Knowing I wasn't going to convince her of the error in her thinking, I decided to change the conversation to more pleasant matters...

"Uhhh, is there anything good on television tonight?"

The fertile alumni

Editor, Lapeer County Press

You can't go home again. Home has been sold and Mother has moved into an apartment with no room for freeloaders.

But you can visit the Holiday Inn recently built on the edge of your hometown. And from there, after dark, you can sneak into the city to see if anyone except bartenders remembers you.

That's what I did the other weekend. Back to Port Huron. And one of my big-little sisters sid the St Stephen Alumni Assc was having a dance at the Legion building that night and we all should go. My wife immediately began to whimper. The last time I'd taken her to an alumni party I'd somehow checked her at the cloakroom and danced with a raincoat all night.

"YOU CAN go without me," she said. "I am not a member of the St Stephen Alumni. I do not enjoy hanging around the cloakroom all night while you get mad at old classmates because they don't read your column."

"Forget the alumni," I said "There is much more meaningful nostalgia involved this time. The dance is at the Legion post. You've never been there. If you were interested in seeing the hospital where I was born, and the school where I was educated, you certainly want to see Charles A. Hammond Post 8 of the American Legion. That's where I reaped the benefits of winning World War 2. That's where I learned how to play euchre and how to drink a bottle of beer with a lit cigarette under my tongue without putting the cigarette out."

"I want to go home," my wife whimpered.

But she went to the alumni dance. I can be very persuasive. I simply reminded her of the time she entertained her old classmates and 2 of them had a fistfight in our rose bushes. I also promised faithfully to never take her to a reunion of my old draft board.

THE FIRST similar face at the dance belonged to Helen. I hadn't seen her in 22 years. What had she been doing? She'd been having 9 children.

Then came Suzanne. She was a couple of grades behind me. She'd had 8 kids.

So I began to keep score. I interviewed 56 old friends and the least-fertile guy I could find was Dick. He admitted to having only children.

"But I was a Trappist monk for 18 years," he explained.

I BUMPED into my wife who had been having the same type of conversations. "Every couple in this place must own their own school bus," she said. "I never heard of so many kids. I feel barren with only 3."

"St Stephen was not the chaplain for the Planned Parenthood League." I explained. "These are good Catholic people and he would have been proud of them."

"Aren't they worried about over-population?" she said.

"That's what I just asked Helen. And she said there couldn't be too many people. Otherwise, I wouldn't be dancing with a raincoat."

It's personal

It finally happened. I guess I've known for a long time that someday some dumb driver would make me mad enough to call the police and complain, and sure enough it happened.

On my way from St Johns to Lansing down US-27, someone in a red pickup truck and camper "sat" on my bumper at 60 miles an hour. I tried touching my brakes, thinking the light would give him the idea. Nope. I couldn't go any faster either because traffic was so heavy.

Well, said driver finally careened around me and roared around the sharp turn near Clark Rd, nearly side-swiping another car. On into Lansing the truck went, zigzagging around other cars and taking chances that were hard to believe.

That did it. I wrote down the license number and promptly called the State Police, who said they would pay the driver a visit. (I also discovered a person can prosecute for something like this.)

Now, I don't like to cause problems for anyone, but in this case I really felt an obligation to do something. I wonder how the driver would have felt if his carelessness killed some innocent people.

Or those cute little kids in his camper. It seems many times that the driver at fault in an accident is uninjured, while innocent parties are seriously injured or killed. In an effort to scare other drivers into being more careful, I've compiled a few Michigan traffic accident facts, courtesy of the State Police.

"Last year in Michigan a total of 2258 persons were killed in traffic accidents, and 178,929 injured.

"In 2 out of 3 fatal accidents, one of the drivers was a local resident, generally living within 25 miles of the accident location.

"Driver error is by far the greatest cause of accidents in this state.

"Clinton County had a total of 1690 accidents last year. Ten persons were killed, and 784 injured.

"Ninety-six persons have been killed in this county over the past 5 years.

"Drinking was a factor in 46.4 percent of all fatal accidents.

"A total of 353,893 vehicles were inspected for safety last year by the State Police. Only 37.8 percent passed.

Plenty has been written on this subject, but it seems much of it doesn't sink in. I wish I could think of some novel approach to make drivers realize the responsibility they're undertaking driving a car.

Maybe a skull and crossbones should be standard equipment on the dashboard of every car. Or maybe drivers should be shown gory movies every time they renew their licenses. Who knows?

I guess what I want to get across is this--no one ever has the right to risk the lives of other persons. An irresponsible driver is a potential killer.

Give blood into others. As you would have them give unto you and yours.

View from the Senate

By SEN. WILLIAM S. BALLENGER

It hasn't shown up yet on tax returns to any appreciable degree - either on sales or gasoline levies - but some legislative financial experts are taking a look at reports from Detroit about what appears to be happening to car sales around the country.

If the trend toward greater sales of compacts and

MSU extension courses reach every county

When Ed McAleer, assistant director of University Extension at Michigan State University, says that the "whole state of Michigan is the university's campus," he literally means it.

What's more, he has the facts to back it up.

UNIVERSITY STATISTICS show that every Michigan county had one or more students enrolled in extension courses offered by the university's Continuing Education Service (CES) during the past year.

The CES offered 854 extension courses in 85 cities - 801 of them for university credit and 53 without credit. Enrollment totalled more than 16,000.

The courses represented 39 different departments from 10 different colleges of the university.

foreign cars continues to skyrocket at the same time as sales of standard and luxury cars dwindle, Michigan government's financial situation could suffer before long.

Indirectly, the situation stems from the strong campaign beginning two or three years ago by environmentalists who insisted that the nation must rid itself of polluted air.

No one - or at least, not many - took issue with the aims of that drive, but maybe we've overlooked the long-range effects of such an effort.

Orders came down from Washington that automobiles had to be equipped with devices to virtually eliminate polluting fumes. The auto industry complained - and is still complaining - that Washington's order for a crash program didn't give the industry sufficient time to provide effective devices.

Nevertheless, the industry went ahead and started installing equipment and, much to the regret of motorists, gas mileage has been drastically reduced by the devices.

With cars getting fewer miles to the gallon of gasoline (not to mention stalling in the middle of heavy traffic), gasoline consumption has risen all over the country. That, combined with some other international economic factors, apparently has caused a gasoline shortage - be it actual or artificial.

Now many auto dealers throughout the nation report that the first thing most prospective buyers ask is: "How many miles to the gallon?"

Dealers tell of running short of compact cars and foreign-made cars while the larger cars, are starting to accumulate faster than has been expected.

One report has it that Detroit's sales of compact and subcompact cars last month increased 28 percent from last year as deliveries of standard models dropped 13 percent. At the same time, sales of foreign economy cars increased 14 percent last month over those of a year earlier. This followed a 24 percent increase in May.

To counteract the trend, some dealers say they are offering more than usual discounts on larger cars and refusing to compromise on the price of smaller ones.

What has all this to do with Michigan's financial situation?

Simply this: If the trend continues to increase, sales and gasoline taxes could drop.

The cut in gasoline tax income would ultimately affect road construction and road maintenance operations. On the other hand, the cut in the sales tax income could cut into most other state services - primarily education, which gets about one-half of all sales tax money.

Even further down the road - and no one even likes to think about it - is the possible layoff of auto workers that could lead to a drop in income taxes.

I've heard about computers
'N, the great part they play,
In easln' figger problems
We meet from day to day.

They almost had me thinkin'
They were the only clue
To findin' all the answers
To make my dreams come true.

Of course there were some mix-ups
Some irksome little slips
Requirin quick correction
When the profit level dips.

Of late we've had some rumors
They can be made to lie,
If the folks who do the feedin'
Have malice in their eye!

Time comes when I am payin'
A little debt I owe
And I ask what is the figure
As I've a right to know.

The principal is just so much
The teller sez to me,
Says I'll pay the interest too

while I am spendin' free!"

The answer if I heard it right
(I wouldn't dare dispute her)
"We can't give you the interest now
'Twould foul up our computer!"

My checkbook isn't balanced
Until the day I know
From further computations
Exactly what I owe.

"What good's a figurin' machine
Says I, alas alack!
If every little detail serves
To throw it out of whack."

Are we so all fired helpless
That we can't even figger
Without we press the buttons
On the magic thing-a-ma-jigger?

I'll take a rain check on it all
Some day they may come back
With a way to figger interest
'Wout throwin' it off the track!

Photography is a valuable learning experience

by Brian Brook
Bath All Purpose 4-H Club

What is a 4-H photography project? It is a valuable learning experience. A person in photography learns what it takes to make a good picture. He or she learns composition, what effect different lighting has, and how to set up and take a good picture.

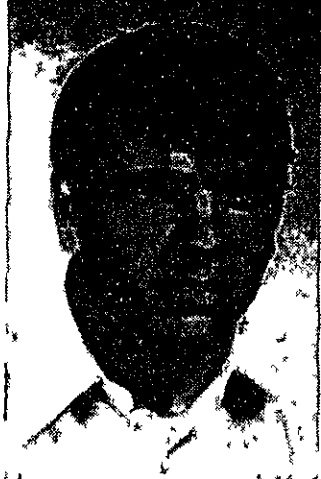

Photography is a means for expression. Feelings and thoughts can be shown through a good picture. If composed and taken carefully a photograph can show the authors feelings without using words. The photo speaks for itself.

One of the best ways to record events is through photography. For recording events pictures could be taken on a vacation, a series showing the steps involved in making a cake, or even in your own back yard.

In 4-H there are many different types of photography to correspond to the members level of skill. Some of these different types are: black and white prints, color prints or color slides. If you want to be a little more daring or are more advanced you can exhibit an enlargement of your best photograph or a color slide show with commentary.

But, a 4-H photography project isn't just exhibiting the finished product. Great emphasis is placed on learning how a camera operates, how to take a good picture, how to make the camera work for you in making the different effects you want, and other skills so you and others can enjoy the end result. You don't have to have a fancy camera either. Many good pictures are taken by a simple instamatic camera.

So you see, a 4-H photography project doesn't really limit you at all. You can start from the beginning with a simple camera and black and white prints. Then, work your way up to color slides and enlargements. Unlike some projects, photography doesn't have to end with 4-H. It merely opens the doors to a fascinating hobby and who knows, maybe even a worthwhile career.

4-H award trips

by Jeannine Seeger
Bath All Purpose 4-H Club

4-H award trips are one of the many things that make 4-H work worth doing. The Toronto trip for older 4-H members is an extra-special one. It offers many things to see and do, and also gives a chance for 4-H'ers to become better acquainted with each other.

About 35 members and 4 chaperones packed aboard the chartered bus last winter when it headed out for Toronto. While many 4-H'ers on a bus makes for plenty of excitement, even an enjoyable bus trip couldn't compare with the excitement of Toronto itself. The group had several opportunities for Christmas shopping in the large department stores, or smaller specialty stores, and spent a lot of time touring the city's downtown sections, university, and residential areas. Casa Loma, a small-scale castle, the Santa Claus Parade, and the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair and Horse Show were special attractions which were enjoyed by everyone and kept cameras flashing.

Through the Royal Winter Fair, Michigan 4-H'ers were able to meet with their Canadian counterparts to discuss likenesses and differences in program, and see some of the fruits of Canadian labors.

As for eating—wonderful! A visit to a Chinese restaurant provided a more foreign flair, while the regular fare could still be obtained.

When it was time to go home, everyone was a little sad to say goodbye to Toronto, but every person agreed that the four day trip had been loads of fun. Both the 4-H'ers from Clinton County and Shiawassee County, who shared the trip with us, had made many new friends and collected many happy memories.

Dairy science Youth Week

by Sarah Seeger
Bath All Purpose

If you are interested in dairy and want a project that's different from most others, yet is fun and interesting and still has different areas to study, I suggest dairy science. I have really enjoyed working on this project.

Some areas that could be studied relating to this project, might be the different dairy products, the different types of milk, the parts of a dairy animal or the diseases a cow could get, or other things along this line.

From the pamphlets I received, I chose the different types of milk (there are about ten) and what makes them different. Some may have something extra added or subtracted. Usually the difference is in the amounts of fat, liquid or the flavoring. The Extension pamphlet, "Today's Dairy Foods", even tells the importance of minerals found in milk, and answers questions one may have about milk.

The group of Dairy Products is one of the four basic food groups. This fact makes it an important area. Studying about it can inform one of the things in it which make it important.

If one is really interested in this project and does well, there are awards which one could win. The McDonald Dairy in Flint gives a yearly award trip to visit their plant. This goes to the best Dairy Science Exhibit or Demonstration. The Carnation Company also awards a Dairy Foods pin.

Indoor gardening

by Rosie Miller
Green Acres 4-H

Indoor gardening is all together different from vegetable or flower gardening. You don't have to plant a lot of seeds or keep a garden free from weeds. It's mostly using plants, seeds and dried flowers in different unusual ways. Seeds are used for seed plaques and starting unusual plants to be hung or put in an odd container for decorative use.

A room always looks better with a few plants in it, and scientists say it is better for your health because plants take in carbon dioxide. If you don't have a lot of room but would like some plants in a room, you can hang them in pots called "hanging pots."

If you want a garden but don't have a lot of room baskets and pails, work nicely to grow vegetables such as cherry tomatoes which are small and convenient and can add a little interest to a patio or porch. Lettuce and radishes do nicely and look pleasant in a window box. Both lettuce and radishes have an early harvest so you probably will have time for a second planting.

Cactus and other small plants do well in a dish garden for decorative use and don't need much care. All you need to make one is some small cactus or plants and a low dish.

A terrarium also does fine with very little care. For those who don't know what a terrarium is its just some small plants put into a large glass jar with a few figurines in it to look really nice like a nature picture.

Old weeds and flowers can be hung upside down (and dried) and be made into some beautiful dried arrangements.

If you are interested in indoor gardening you might want to find out when some of the MSU workshops are and learn some of the things talked about here.

State Land Use Act

REP DOUGLAS TREZISE
87th District

A bill which promises to be one of the most controversial in recent years is scheduled for extensive hearings this summer by our House Towns and Counties Committee. The bill is called the "State Land Use Act" and I'm looking forward to those hearings.

In this bill we have a direct confrontation between private and public rights in property and that's a boundary which has to be defined. It's not a new one. We've had it in local zoning for many years. But the realization that the total amount of land in this state, or in the world for that matter is limited and that we need to plan its use more wisely if we are going to feed all our people or have recreation areas and other public needs met in a relatively new concept.

The bill is identified as House Bill 5055 and was introduced by more than 50 of us in the House. Of its sponsors, probably no one is completely pleased with it in its present form. Most of us—I know I am one—joined in sponsoring it in recognition of a serious problem and in the hope that, by getting the subject before us in the form of proposed legislation, we can develop a workable bill which will meet the general approval of a majority of the state's citizens.

And, that's why 12 separate hearings have been scheduled in all parts of the state. We need a more general recognition of the problem and the input from a lot of people as to how it can best be solved.

The bill, as proposed, is some 35 pages long and is difficult to summarize. Basically, it calls for the creation of State Land Use Commission within the Department of Natural Resources in a somewhat parallel position with the Water Resources Commission and the Air Pollution Control Commission. The commission itself would consist of seven members but a 40-member advisory council would be established, consisting of members representing a broad cross-section of groups concerned with land use planning.

Business, labor, agriculture, land developers and other units of government would all be part of this council, which would meet with the commission at least three times a year.

The State Land Use Commission would be responsible for preparing a State Land Use Plan. It would do so in conjunction with local units of government and would identify areas where (1) intensive development is to be encouraged, (2) where rural densities or open spaces are to be encouraged, (3) where agricultural uses should be maintained, (4) where land should be reserved for public purposes, and (5) areas of future urban development.

Those are pretty broad powers to be given to a state agency and frankly, I find this kind of governmental control over private property decisions kind of scary. In this kind of legislation, unless there are adequate safeguards, there is the potential for absolute state control over growth of all areas of the state.

For instance, if Shiawassee County were designated as primarily agricultural, the local chambers of commerce might just as well get out of the industrial development business. If all the available land were used only to produce food, obviously, none would be available for residences and population growth in the area would drop to zero. Young people would be forced to farm or leave the area to seek employment at places where industrial growth was allowed.

I realize I have probably overstated the situation. But, I did it to stress my concern that, in the development of this legislation, we assure that local input in the development of the plan is weighed carefully and that appeal procedures are sufficient to protect, not only the individual property owner, but also the right of our rural communities to a share in the growth of the years ahead.

The first hearing in the series on HB 5055 will be held in Lansing on Aug 15th at 10:00 am. I hope there is a good representation from our area at that session and I will be glad to supply anyone interested with some background materials.

Passport project

by Diane Vitek
Bengal Community

Passport—the key to understanding, appreciating, accepting and carrying out citizenship responsibilities in today's international world. Passport offers opportunities to help us be more open-minded, tolerant, understanding and have a personal interest in people.

Through this project a 4-H member can see his/her way of life as compared to the way others live - in other countries, other states and other communities. There really are no foreigners just people with different ways of doing things, different cultures and different habits.

The methods of learning about other countries include pen pal letter exchange, studying books available, talking with people who have traveled to other countries, taking advantage of opportunities available to us everyday by keeping our eyes and ears open to such things as TV programs, speakers and magazines. Have you ever wondered about life in cities you hear about all the time in the news? Passport is the project in 4-H that encourages 4-H members to learn about our world today.

Although the number of members enrolled in Passport may make the project seem unimportant, this is misleading. Learning about people is very important to me. Closing the gap and bringing myself closer to people half way around the world is something I may have not done had it not been offered to me through 4-H.

For me the rewards of this project are unlimited. Such results as lasting friendships with Parisian girls, etc. are things that cannot be measured.

I used to think that foreign girls

Lived far across the sea
Until there came a letter
From a Chinese girl to me.
"Dear Foreign Friend"
the note began
"As plain as it could be I'm wondering now who's foreign -
The Chinese girl or me."
-Anonymous

This poem really expresses what Passport hopes to do for 4-H members, leaders and parents.

State 4-H dog show winners

By JOHN AYLSWORTH

Nine members of the Tail Waggers 4-H Dog Club participated in the State 4-H Dog Obedience Show, July 28 at Michigan State University and brought home their share of honors. In the Leader Dog Puppy Class, Dan Cable was First in the 13-18 month age bracket; Ann Graham was Second in the 7-12 month age bracket and Julie Feeman was Second in the 3-6 month age bracket. Each of the three members received trophies and ribbons for their honors.

In the 4-H Dog Obedience Class, Ann Graham with her dog, "Patches" placed First with 195 points out of a possible 200 in the sub- novice A bracket. Ann received a trophy and ribbon for this honor. Other members of the Tail Waggers 4-H Club that participated in the show, but did not place in the top of their classes included Debbie Webster, Sandy Webster, Lori Webster, Chris Cole, Kathy Feeman and Jeannine Seeger. Our congratulations go to all these members who participated in this statewide 4-H Dog Show.

The 4-H Teen Leaders Glass recycling project topped the 500,000 pound mark in July with a load of 1248# bringing the total glass recycled to date of 501,280 pounds. This glass recycling project was started in October 1970. Each month the glass containers on the first Saturday, are sorted and smashed for recycling into new products instead of going to the landfill or being dumped along the road. The July monthly collection was handled by the Green Acres 4-H Club. The cooperation of everyone who has helped with this project is greatly appreciated by the 4-H teen leaders. With the 4-H Fair, Aug 13-15, people are asked not to bring any glass to the fairgrounds until after the fair as there is no place to store it.

Fifty-one Clinton County 4-H members enjoyed their weekend award trip at Barry County July 28 & 29. Although Saturday was cool, Sunday was warm and the campers enjoyed going canoeing and swimming. For many of the members this was their first time at camp. Also, the campers got to know youth from throughout the County.

Charles Green of the Brush & Halter 4-H Club was one of the 14 4-H Dairy members selected to be interviewed at the State 4-H Dairy Show, Aug 22 at Michigan State University. These 14 dairy members scored the highest on the quiz given as part of the 4-H Milk Marketing Tour July 12-13 at Detroit. Seven of the 14 members will have the opportunity to participate in the National Dairy Congress, October 4-6 at Madison, Wisconsin.

Thirty-eight livestock members, parents and leaders participated in a Livestock Marketing Tour to St. Louis Stockyards and nearby feed lots July 30. The group was able to see how a stockyard operates, how livestock is sold and the prices paid for different quality livestock. The group visited several nearby feed lots where they saw young feeder calves and finished fat cattle. The tour helped the members to better understand the prices they might receive at the 4-H Fair Livestock Sale, August 15, 2 pm in St. Johns.

A number of 4-H Dairy project members held their first dairy practice judging session July 28 at the Green Meadow Farm near Elsie. George Hazle of St. Johns is working as coach of the two teams. The group judged several classes of animals and did very well according to Mr Hazle.

4-H Youth Day, September 1, at Tiger Stadium will find about 70 youth and adults in attendance. The Detroit Tigers will be playing the Cleveland Indians with the game starting at 2:15 pm. Most of the group will be going via the St. Johns Community Bus with Mr Bruce Irish driving. The Tigers are battling for the lead and Cleveland gives Detroit a rough time each game this year.

The State 4-H Meat's Judging Contest will be held on Saturday, Sept 22, 8:30 am to 12 noon at Michigan State University. The contest will consist of judging some beef and pork carcasses, some wholesale cuts and identify 25 retail cuts of beef, pork, lamb and veal. A practice session will be held on Sept 8, but no definite location set yet.

4-H members who have expressed interest so far include Charles Green of Elsie; Mike Rummel of Ovid and Jay Miller of St. Johns. Any 4-H member who would like to participate in the meat judging work sessions are welcome. From the state contest, five members will be selected to represent Michigan at the National Contest in Kansas City in October. For more information members should contact the County Extension Office in St. Johns.

The Westphalia 4-H

members met last week to discuss the 4-H Fair, review the classes they would participate in and the judging schedule. Also, several members plan to participate in the 4-H Youth Day at Tiger Stadium, Sept 1. The members are looking forward to the Clinton County 4-H Fair, Aug 13-15 in St. Johns.

Seed alfalfa now

Summer seedings of alfalfa made now will yield about as much next year and for a period of several years as spring seedings made in oats, according to M.B. Tesar, Michigan State University crop scientist.

Summer seeding dates should be between late July and Aug 20 for southern Michigan and up to Aug 10 in northern Michigan.

MSU tests at East Lansing from 1969 through 1972 showed that spring seedings of alfalfa in oats yielded 7 tons the next year, and summer seedings made on Aug 12 yielded 6.2 tons the next year, says Tesar. In the second harvest year, yields were the same from both seeding dates; in the third and fourth years the summer seedings outyielded spring seedings.

THE YIELD for the 4-year period was similar for spring or summer seedings -- 5.5 tons of hay per acre per year.

About one out of 4 alfalfa seedings in lower Michigan is made in summer. Seedings made in late July or early August are generally successful on fallowed ground or after wheat stubble has been plowed under and prepared by disking, dragging, and cultipacking before seeding. Seedings on wheat stubble, properly plowed and prepared, have been much more successful than seedings made in the spring on top of winter wheat.

Other summer seedings are generally successful when seeded on fallowed grounds to control quackgrass and other weeds or after oat harvest.

If soil pH is below 6.8, it should be corrected by liming to help insure success of summer seedings. Soil tests will indicate phosphorous and potassium needed. Generally, 400 pounds per acre of a high analysis fertilizer such as 0-26-26 is recommended when seeding, if yields of 5 tons or more of hay per acre are expected.

BAND SEEDING is preferred to broadcast seeding because of greater seedling vigor and winter survival, according to Tesar. The soil should be cultipacked before seeding. Press wheels or a cultipacker after seeding are a "must" - they help emergence and almost insure a stand. Seedings without cultipacking are likely to be failures.

Tesar suggests that oats should not be used for summer seedings. They compete for water and nutrients and severely reduce the following year's alfalfa yield. If bromegrass is seeded with the alfalfa, it can be mixed with the fertilizer if seeded with a fertilizer-grain drill and seeded no deeper than 1/2 to 3/4 inch. The seed should be covered by a cultipacker or press wheels.

Eight to 12 pounds of seed will give maximum yields of alfalfa seeded in spring or summer, says the MSU crop scientist. Generally, the higher seed rate should be used so that as the stand is 3 to 4 years old, an adequate number of plants will be present for high yields.

Inoculation before planting is always recommended. The inoculated seed purchased this spring should be re-inoculated before seeding.

TESAR RECOMMENDS Saranac, a French-type wilt-resistant alfalfa, as one of the best varieties for stands to be left for 2 to 4 years because of its wilt resistance, moderate winterhardness, and high yield in all of Michigan. Commercial varieties with similar characteristics have also performed well in MSU tests. Wilt-susceptible varieties are not recommended in Michigan.

For long-term stands -- 5 years or more -- or for pasture, Vernal and other wilt-resistant, winterhardy North American varieties are recommended.

If over-wintering fall-annual weeds such as shepherd's purse, pennycress, peppergrass, yellow rocket, and chickweed are present about a month after seeding, Tesar recommends spraying with 3/4 pound of 2,4-D-B per acre. The herbicide will control the broad-leaf weeds and improve the stand for high yields the next year. Annual weeds such as lambs-quarters, pigweed and ragweed do not require spraying; they will be killed by frost.

Discover wildflowers

by Lisa Foy
Olive 4-H Projects Club
Wildflowers is an interesting project for 4-H members of all ages. Walking through the woods, along the river, or through the fields you can discover many things about nature. One of the prettiest discoveries are all the beautiful wildflowers that you never noticed before. It also gives you a sense of accomplishment to be able to say, "I know what kind of flower that is."

Did you know that there are more than 500 different wildflowers in Michigan? Studying wildflowers is a lot of fun! We learn to identify some of the common wildflowers in our state. We learn more about them through the study of their structure, characteristics, and habitat. Some flowers are very scarce in Michigan and so it is against the law to pick them. Some of the protected ones are Trillium, Trailing Arbutus, Lady Slippers, and Pitcher Plant. All wildflowers should be picked sparingly to preserve the beauty of our community.

Early in the spring our club goes on a hike into the woods to find different wildflowers. During the summer we find many flowers along the roadside, riversides, and in fields. We use shears to pick our flowers so that they will not be uprooted. When we find a different wildflower we pick it and press it in a flower press. If you don't have a flower press you can use a catalog or magazine and weigh it down after you get home to make it press flat. We learn to identify the flowers from the shapes of their leaves and petals and by their color and sometimes their smell. We have a form to fill out about each new flower that we find. Did you know that the American Indians used wildflowers in many ways? They used a great many of these flowers for food, medicines, and dyes. They also thought some flowers had magical properties. For instance, they carried the tubers of the American Lotus to protect themselves from witches and they hung the Common St. Johnswort over their door to keep evil away.

The first-year wildflower student needs to find and identify at least 20 flowers. They also have to make a poster showing mounted flowers from three different habitats and write a story about their project.

The second year student must find at least 25 more wildflowers and mount them on the forms in their notebook. They also write a story and draw a complete flower identifying its parts.

At the 4-H Fair this year all the wildflower members will bring their notebooks full of mounted flowers; their posters; and their stories to be displayed and judged. This year for the first time, there will be a Wildflower Identification Contest. Anyone can enter this contest and there will be five cash prizes awarded to the winners.

There are several decorating ideas I have learned to do with wildflowers. I have made flower arrangements with sprayed oyster plants; framed pressed flower pictures; and decoupages plaques.

I really enjoy this project because it gives me a chance to pay more attention to the beautiful things of nature. See you at the fair!

Learning about food through 4-H

Louis J Martin, a life long citizen of Clinton County celebrated his 90th birthday anniversary on July 29. A dinner was served in his honor at Jeanne's Beans in St. Johns. His sons, Gregory of Lansing, Sylvester and Clement of Fowler and their wives and his daughters, Sister Geraldine Martin of Detroit and Sister Rita Martin, Portage Mich were present and also in attendance were Mr and Mrs William Spitzley of Portland, Mr and Mrs Oscar Cook of Pewamo, Mr and Mrs Joseph Pung of Westphalia, Mrs Marie Martin and Mrs Lena Pung of Fowler. In the evening a reception and a supper in his honor was held at his home. His grandchildren, great grandchildren, relatives and friends joined in wishing Mr Martin continued life and happiness.

Mr and Mrs Hilary Miller and family of Lansing and Mr and Mrs Lester Miller were Sunday evening visitors of Mr and Mrs Arnold Miller.

Mr and Mrs James Magruder and his parents were visitors of Mrs Lula Boak on Friday.

by Kathy Spitzley
Learning about foods through 4-H is a very enjoyable way to do it. You learn not only to cook and prepare foods but also why you do some of the things you do. This gives you more than knowledge about foods, it gives you an understanding of them.

This understanding usually begins with Food for Fun. In this category the 4-H'er learns about the basic four groups - the meat group, the milk group, the bread and cereal group, and the fruit and vegetable group. She learns why these foods are important and how to prepare them properly and attractively with the wide variety of recipes included in the Food for Fun booklet.

After the 10-12 year old has learned about Food for Fun, she may continue in the 4-H program in the category Today's Girl, Tomorrow's Homemaker. Here she learns more about the basic four food groups. Plus she learns how to prepare tasty and nutritional meals. She learns the different ways of preparing meat, and all that she learns is more detailed than what she learned in Food for Fun. This course is also sprinkled with recipes and Science Whys.

After the 4-H'er learns all the basic food preparations, she does more intensified study through Exploring Foods and Nutrition. In this course she may take one area and learn about it for her remaining years in 4-H. For instance, she may study breads. The first year might be directed towards the nutritional aspect of bread or about different kinds sold in stores. She might then go on to foreign breads or holiday bread or quick breads learning more and more about one section of breadmaking each year.

The 14-18 year old may wish to learn about a different food such as milk or eggs, or she may choose a country and study its foods, or she may wish to study in more general terms. If she chooses the more general category, she would learn about food management and preparation, how to buy foods to get the most for your money and what happens to food after you eat it. If a more scientific approach is desired she can take Food Science and You and do many different experiments with food.

During each of the years in foods the member will have the opportunity to participate in a foods event with the entire Clinton County Foods Group. This year, for the older girls, it was a Hawaiian Luau. Smith Hall was decorated to resemble Hawaii and Hawaiian foods were served to those who attended it. Last year each local club selected a state and made an assortment of foods from that state. All the clubs then got together and sampled each others food. Another year we were able to attend a demonstration of a microwave oven and other interesting equipment designed for the preparation of food. Another activity that is especially enjoyed by the mothers is the Mother-Daughter Dinner that some clubs have. At these dinners, the girls do all the cooking, serving, and cleaning up; and the mothers are honored guests. Learning about food can be fun and through 4-H it will be. Food, the preparation, preservation and nutritional value of it, is important because food is something that everyone needs. And to get the best out of food it's best to learn all you can about it and what better way to do it than through 4-H.

Ceramics-an enjoyable craft

by Susan Woodhams
Ceramics is an enjoyable craft for boys and girls, the young and not so young.

In beginning ceramics, it is wise to start with something simple and then go on to the more complicated pieces.

I buy my pieces in the greenware stage and go from there. These pieces have already been poured in a mold and shaped.

The greenware pieces are very breakable, so great care must be taken not to squeeze the piece too hard or break a big piece out of it. With a cleaning tool, you carefully smooth down the seam lines (this is made when the two pieces of mold are put together). A little water on your finger and sometimes a damp sponge help a lot.

After your piece is cleaned, it must be fired in a kiln at a very high temperature. Your greenware piece is now known as bisque. It is hard now and can be handled easier.

If your piece is a figurine, it is usually painted with a stain. After being sprayed with a fixative, your piece is finished.

Dishes are done in a glaze, as are many other articles. Three or four coats of glaze must be applied and the piece fired again.

Ceramics is a simple and relaxing hobby. Birthday, wedding, Christmas gifts or something for your home can be made and at a much lower cost than what you could find in a store.

Our club is looking forward to our next project and the new ways we can do things.

LCC purchases urban renewal land

LANSING - At 3:30 pm July 31 Lansing Community College purchased 12 acres of urban renewal #2 property from the city of Lansing. The land, for which LCC paid $662,248, extends from Shiawassee on the south to Saginaw on the north, and from Washington on the west to Grand on the east. The additional property, required to complete the campus master plan, gives LCC a total of 28 acres in downtown Lansing. Construction of the new Applied Arts and Sciences building will begin in September, and immediate planning for additional campus building is now under way.

Those present at the title transfer transaction were Phillip J. Gannon, president of LCC; Richard Zimmerman, director of Lansing Redevelopment Department; Bruce Newman, business manager of LCC; and Douglas McKinstry, coordinator of planning at LCC.

National 4-H Citizenship Short Course

by Vickie Thelen
Last summer from August 20 to August 26 six kids from Clinton County attended the Citizenship Short Course at the National 4-H Center in Washington, D.C. Attending were Pat Fox, Alan Cobb, Kathy Hazle, Bruce Levey, Colleen Wood, and myself. We were six of the ninety-two 4-H members from Michigan attending the week long session. We were among more than 6,000 4-H members from throughout the United States selected to take part in these teen leadership training sessions conducted by the National 4-H Foundation in behalf of the Cooperative Extension Service of the State Land-Grant Universities and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The major purpose of the course is to provide insight into individual responsibility for citizenship and to develop skills and knowledge that help young people relate to others in their community, their nation and their world. Discussion and seminar sessions feature contemporary topics of interest to youth and methods of dealing with problems through positive action. We had a chance to see the federal government in action by spending a day on Capitol Hill. Our delegation had a chance to visit with Congressman Cederberg of the 10th District of Michigan. We also had a chance every day for some field trips. We visited the White House, Mount Vernon, Washington Cathedral, Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Smithsonian Institute, Arlington Cemetery, Jefferson Memorial, Lincoln Memorial and the Washington Monument. You can see that we were very busy all the time either in sessions or touring. One of the most interesting parts of the course was working together with 4-H members from other states. We learned how other states programs differ from Michigan's. There were 4-H members from California, Maine, New York, Pennsylvania, and Vermont. There were three busloads of kids from all over Michigan. You can apply for this trip by contacting the Extension Office and they will send you a form to fill out. This year Virginia Cordes, Bonnie Schafer, Kathy Spitzley, Debbie Thelen, Harry Moldenhaur, and Dan Washburn will be attending this year's session.

Raising rabbits

by Jerry Price

Olive 4-H Projects Club Rabbits are long-eared fluffy tailed little animals that make nice pets as a hobby or can be a profitable business if a person works at it. The rabbit is an animal that is easily raised by anyone under any climatic conditions in the US. The rabbit can be used for meat, fur, wool, show, as well as experimental purposes, and their demand is greater than the supply. Getting a rabbit ready for show takes a lot of work. You have to have them so they will set, and be in the right weight range by the time of the fair. If you have a market pen which is three of the same breed, they have to weigh the same or as close to it as you can get.

Some things to look for in a good show rabbit is that it is filled out and not 'skinny', as well as the fur should be clean and smooth. Some people if their rabbit was dirty they would give it a bath. But you should not do it, because it takes the oil out and you can tell because the texture of the fur is different. The diseases and defects you have to watch for are Ear Mites, Buck teeth, Sore Hock's and Cow Hock's. Ear mites are sores in the rabbit's ear and if they get bad enough they can kill the rabbit. Buck teeth is where the rabbit's teeth are crooked and it can go from litter to litter so you should not keep them. Sore Hock's is sores on their feet caused by the wire in the pen. Cow Hock's is when the feet go out from the rabbit's body, it also goes from litter to litter.

Beef cattle

by Leslie Ann Kuenzll
Stoney Creek 4-H Club
Lately beef cattle have become one of the most talked about issues in America. No one seems to know if they are going to have meat next week or not. For that reason, we need many more beef cattle. No one in America can just stand by and let his farmer friend worry about supplying meat.

There are many different breeds of beef cattle available today. Besides Hereford and Angus, there are Charolais, Red Angus, Beefmaster and many crosses. The type of cross in most demand is the Charolais cross. The beef picture has just recently changed and now instead of a short, fat

MMPA 4-H milk tour

by Charles Green
Brush and Halter 4-H Club

The MMPA 4-H Milk Marketing Tour is a two-day event in mid-July sponsored by the Michigan Milk Producers Association. This tour is attended annually by some sixty 4-H members and leaders. The first day of the tour starts with a tour of the MMPA offices on Seven Mile Rd. in Detroit. Here we saw the computer used by MMPA and were told of the many jobs it performs. Also located at the offices here was the quality control department where all milk samples are tested. We learned even very minute amounts of a foreign substance are detectable. After a box lunch the tour proceeded to the huge Kroger Dairy in Detroit. This plant processes much of the dairy products for Kroger stores in the Eastern part of the United States.

That evening we enjoyed our banquet meal at the Pick-Fort Shelby Hotel and a Tiger ballgame where Detroit defeated the California Angels.

The next morning we were served breakfast at the Fort Shelby Hotel where we stayed the previous night.

Following breakfast, Glenn Lake, MMPA President, spoke to us on the topic "New Programs of MMPA to Maintain Food Prices." Jack W. Barnes, MMPA General Manager continued with the topic, "Role of MMPA in Bargaining for Prices." We then continued with another very interesting part of the tour. We broke into small groups and each group was given a problem to solve as though they were the MMPA Board of Directors. The groups then presented the solutions to the entire group.

Before leaving for home a test was given testing what the participants had learned. Those fourteen with the highest scores will be interviewed at the State 4-H Dairy Show and from these seven will be chosen to attend the National 4-H Dairy Conference in Madison, Wisconsin. This tour was very educational as well as being a lot of fun for myself and others. Much of this was due to the friendliness and courtesy of the MMPA staff.

About 15 million people suffer from tuberculosis. For 25¢, UNICEF can provide the BCG vaccine to protect 25 children from that disease.

Knitting beats boredom

by Lorene J. Tait
Jolly Knitters

Are you bored? Isn't there anything you can do besides mow the lawn or do the dishes and clean the house? Want to do something besides sit? The answer to your problem is knitting. In 4-H Knitting, you can learn to make various things. When you are just learning to knit, for a 4-H project you can make anything from a headband to slippers or mittens. After one learns the basics, you can make sweaters, dresses, afghans, etc. Everyone knows how expensive the newer fashions can be. You can make them yourself and usually it lasts longer and wears better. It's a great feeling to walk into school and have your friends ask you where you bought the sweater or outfit you're wearing. Then you surprise them and tell them proudly that you make it yourself. Your friends will probably be envious because you can make something they have to buy. In 4-H knitting, one can learn more than just how to knit. One learns parliamentary procedures, how to get along with others, how to model the project which was made by that person, and how to correct the mistakes you make. After becoming pretty good at knitting, you can use your knowledge and skills to make Christmas presents. You can make slippers, sweaters, mittens, neckscarves, barbie doll clothes, pot holders, wash cloths, etc. If you become quite good at knitting, you might sell some of the things listed above to aunts, uncles, or friends. Hand knitted gifts are always nice to receive. Guys, you can knit, too! Some guys make better knitters than girls. At our county 4-H Fair two years ago, a young fellow won the top prize in knitting. You can make vests, ties, ear warmers, etc. to wear. They will look really sharp in today's world of fashions. Knitting is a very interesting 4-H project. It doesn't cost anything for lessons. The only costs are for the materials you use, which will be well worth the money after you finish a project. There is a great reward in finishing something that you made yourself. You start with a piece of yarn and end with a project of your desire. It is an achievement that a lot of people wish they could do, but can't. So, don't you be a wisher. Be a doer.

With the increasing number of housewives working during the day, "babysitters", have become more and more in demand. More often than not, these sitters are teenaged girls and occasionally boys, who are always anxious to earn a couple of extra dollars during the long school holiday.

Child care

by Debra Burnham

Whether you have been sitting a very long time or have only started, everyone, even the most expert, can use a little help now and then. The 4-H people understand this and that's why they've developed the "4-H Child Care" program.

The slides, films, and discussions, you learn to understand the child from ages one through nine. The ages are broken up into sections and you go into the needs and understandings of the baby to the toddler to the pre-adolescent. With each stage you go into four different ways in which he grows; his body, his relations with others, his feelings, and his mind. You learn his fears and his insecurities, all which can be very frightening to both you and him.

Whether as a sitter or a mother, there are times when entertainment is badly needed. With the smaller children the attention span is very short, at the most twenty minutes. With the 4-H program you are given pamphlets and songbooks which come in very handy for finger plays and creative activities. In the program you learn what to do in emergencies and first aid for the falling down and the cut fingers.

The 4-H Child Care program is open for everyone, boys and girls. Not only will it help you right now with your babysitting but help you understand when you have children of your own.

4-H Share-the-fun

by Denise Cerny
Nimble Fingers 4-H Club

The date: Tuesday morning, July 10, 1973. The place: St. Johns High School auditorium. The time: 8:53 a.m. Nine o'clock was zero hour. In the minutes that followed, the air was bustling with excitement and anxiety. It became 9:00... 9:06... Finally at 9:45 and 1/2, the voice of MC Steve Thelen blared through the loud speaker, 1... 2... 3... The District Share-The-Fun competition was on!

During the first few minutes, Mrs. Machtel, director of the competition, introduced the judges to everyone and explained the judging procedure. She said that the reasons behind Share-The-Fun are to improve entertainment and to teach basic skills needed by performers. An act is judged: 30% on talent, 30% on showmanship, 15% on originality, 15% audience reaction, and 10% on costumes. In county competition, the judging procedure is relatively the same.

Some rules of the contest are: Time should not exceed five or six minutes, only one song in each act except for medleys, and costumes and acts should be appropriate. To be eligible for entry, you must be entered in 4-H Club work. If a person has won the contest, he cannot compete the following year unless he is in a different category. Vocal music, instrumental, acrobatic, tap, ballet, and skits are a few different categories.

There is no State Contest to go on to, as there is in Public Speaking and some other activities. This is mainly because nobody wants to sponsor the event.

State 4-H Youth week

by Bonnie Schafer
Fowler Busy Bees

When the sunny month of July comes rolling around, all the active 4-H'ers know it's time to start packing for Youth Week. Youth Week is the 4-day event which happens once a year at Michigan State University. It is attended by 300 to 400 youths from all over the state.

The entire program is planned by youths who have attended Youth Week in previous years. The planning committee selects the speakers and other guests. They also conduct discussion groups with the help of leader developers.

Leader developers are also youth who have attended Youth Week in previous years. There are a few leader developers in every discussion group. They aid the planning committee member in breaking down his or hers discussion group into groups of about 6 to 8 kids. This helps the Youth Week delegates to express their views on subjects more freely and to get to know other kids better.

After the speakers and discussions there is a lot of recreation time too. Delegates have a choice of swimming, tennis, volleyball, softball, and many other activities. Of course they don't have to do any of these. They can take a walk to the campus bookstore or just sit around and rap with some new friends.

The theme for Youth Week is also an interesting aspect of this event. The theme picked is chosen in the hope of promoting more concern for people in today's youth. For example, last year's theme was "Reach Out and Touch", this year's was "You've Got A Friend." And just as the themes may suggest, everyone is encouraged to make at least one new friend.

Youth Week may seem slow to start, but as things get well underway, the end is fast to come. Everybody enjoys Youth Week and are often disappointed when they find out they can only go once as a delegate, but things brighten up when they realize they can come back next year as a leader developer.

"Farmers from other counties are welcome to attend," Erdmann says, "but it may be more convenient for them to take an afternoon tour."

The research farm is west of Saginaw at the corner of Swan Creek and Thomas Roads, 2-1/2 miles south of M48 and 1 mile east of M52.

Plot tours will include viewing and discussion of sugar beet breeding and research on breeding disease control and cultural practices; and weed control disease resistance; soils research on crop sequence, tillage methods and fertility; research with various herbicides and their combinations.

Over 1,600 delegates are expected to attend the 51st National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov 26-30. The 4-H winners from all over the country will be accompanied by some 250 4-H leaders and greeted by some 300 representatives of 4-H donor organizations and over 200 members of the press. Total attendance at this year's Congress is expected to exceed 2,400.

Field crops

by Dan Washburn
Elsie, 4 Corners 4-H Club
I have been in the 4-H Field Crop project for six years. In this project you exhibit a sample of your commodity at the county fair. Some of the commodities you can exhibit are corn, soybeans, white beans, mint, wheat and most any kind of crop. During most of my 4-H years, I have exhibited dark red kidney beans at the fair.

You can learn many different things in this project such as knowing what your soil is made up of and taking soil tests to determine what your soil is weak in. You also can learn what kind of weed controllers to use on your soil to help produce better weed-free crops. You can learn about different insecticides to help take care of any insect problems. You can also study the markets and try to determine when to hold or when to sell your crops.

You can win some very interesting and educational trips, such as the 4-H Commodity Marketing Trip to Chicago put on by the Chicago Board of Trade. This trip is to help promote interest in the field of Commodity Marketing. In January I went on this trip and learned a lot about the Chicago Board of Trade and of Chicago. The highlight of the trip was when we went out on the trading floor and listened to the many different brokers trade various commodities. This is what determines the market price at which we sell our crops. We also listened to many interesting lectures and toured the city.

All in all, this 4-H project works in very well for me since I do a lot of this kind of work on our farm.

Ukranian egg decoration

by Cheryl Baneroff
Nimble Fingers

About 10 years ago, my Aunt visited the world market in Lansing, Michigan, and saw a Ukrainian lady demonstrating this craft. She was interested, so she took some notes on how to do it and what is needed. She brought them back to a coffee clutch that she, my mother, and some other ladies have every Wednesday. She showed them how to do it and I was interested. My mother showed me how and now we do it every Easter!

CHERYL

This craft has been handed down for generations. It is called pysanka, which comes from the work "isac", meaning to write or design.

To do a pysanka, you will need some materials. A candle, beeswax, vegetable dyes, an egg, a picture or design and a stylus are things you need. The stylus is called a "kistka" by the Ukrainians and is shaped like a pencil with a point at the end. It is used to put the black is the color of remembrance. An old custom of the Ukrainian girls was to give their boy friends a pysanka at Easter time, to express special feelings.

My six years of 4-H has given me many opportunities. Although I am not Ukrainian, I have enjoyed learning some of their customs.

Weather forecasting

by Sharon Wood
Olive 4-H Projects Club

Didn't the weatherman say "No rain today?" It sure doesn't look like it now! Forecasting is just one of the ways that 4-H members can be involved in the 4-H Weather project. Or, if clouds are your thing, then a study of them cannot only be educational but also exciting. Atmospheric phenomenon, such as rainbows and the Northern Lights, are also project availabilities.

I have been involved with this project for five years and each year it becomes more exciting. Any 4-H'er can take this project, during either the summer or winter. A group project or individual projects can be made. This project can help you understand how we have the weather we do and how to use this knowledge later on.

Many learning by doing opportunities are open to those who take the Weather project. A visit to a Weather Station, such as the one at Capital City airport in Lansing, can be exciting when you see all the modern equipment involved in forecasting. Sending up weather balloons, as was done during Exploration Days, is another way members can be involved in learning about the atmosphere. Building a weather station of your own and such instruments as a barometer or anemometer or psychrometer can help in learning how to measure wind velocity, humidity or air pressure. Cloud watching, storm watching and sky watching are all ways a group or the individual can see the sky in action. Using the Farmers' Almanac and other similar books can bring out some of the old-time sayings and give a laugh or two.

There are many opportunities available to learn, but presently there are few who are using them in Weather. Weather is a fairly new project about an old subject. Learning by doing is our 4-H motto, so why not learn about something which is as common as the sky above us?

Painting and drawing

by Sherri Desprez
Green Acres

Have you ever seen a quiet, colorful sunset and wished that you had the talent to paint it? Or, maybe while traveling you've passed a scenic cottage and tried to catch its peacefulness in a quick sketch but it never seemed to look the same.

You don't need to give up painting or drawing just because you don't think you have the talent. In 4-H there is no such thing as talent! All that is needed is some enthusiasm, practice and effort. Mix them together and the world has another great artist.

4-H offers kids a chance to learn the beginning steps of painting and/or drawing such as: beginning strokes, blending methods and coloring methods, no matter if you are 10 or 18! Then after practicing and mastering the beginning steps members are shown more advanced techniques such as; shading and more advanced strokes.

Each year, members have a chance to have their paintings and/or drawings evaluated and judges with paintings and drawings from other 4-H clubs all over the county. There is a chance to win ribbons, money and to go on to state and national judgments. Plus you have the chance to learn what you can do to better your skills.

Every time that you complete a year of 4-H you'll have the satisfaction of knowing that you have improved your skills. So join 4-H and get in on the action and then, go paint that sunset.

Learn to crochet

by Sue Mitchell
Prairie 4-H Club

4-H gives you a great opportunity to learn a lot of things. Right now I would like to share with you what crocheting is like.

Do you know how to hold a pen or pencil? If so, you know how to hold a crocheting hook. You hold it like you were going to write. Now lets go a little deeper in what you learn in your first year. Besides learning how to hold your hook you learn abbreviations for crocheting, such as SC means single crochet.

Then you graduate to learning different kinds of yarn. By this I mean what kinds you can wash by hand, machine, or that which must be dry cleaned. You also learn to buy all the yarn that it takes to make your project for the fear that you might not match colors even by the dye number.

Then you go into how to hold the yarn. This may seem funny but it's not!

Some girls have trouble holding the yarn. Some wrap it too many times around their fingers and some not enough.

Now you start to get down to business by learning different stitches such as single crochet, double crochet, slip stitch, shell stitch, etc. You may think this would take a long time, but girls that were having trouble caught on fast. Then we all had a choice what we would like to do for a practice item. Some girls made scarves, handbags, and others just practiced on different stitches.

Then it was time to start thinking about what we were going to make for the fair. Most of the girls made mittens, but one girl made a cute baby outfit.

This is my second year in crocheting and to my surprise all the girls from the first year but one signed up again. I and some other girls got their friends interested in it so they joined. We went over some of the stitches we learned last year and went on learning more stitches, more variations of shells, broom stitches, etc. Then we started getting around to our fair projects because we were making bigger projects such as dresses, baby outfits, hot pants, and afghan, pillow sets.

So, in just two years of crocheting you can see what all you learn. Don't say "I can't do it" because you can learn anything if you try. I hope to see a lot more girls even boys in crocheting next year and don't forget, "Tell a friend".

4-H sheep project

by Beverly Hoew
Eagletes 4-H Club

I am a member of the Eagletes 4-H Club of Eagle. I have worked with many projects in my six years of 4-H, but my main interest is sheep.

From the time I was three or four years old, I have helped my dad with his sheep. I could hardly wait until I would be old enough to have my own 4-H ewe and lamb.

When I finally was old enough to purchase that ewe, I decided on the Suffolk breed because I liked the looks of them. I have since decided that because the Suffolks are large and meaty and have a good growth rate, I will stick with them.

In the past six years I have owned thirty-five sheep. Of these I have shown eight and received seven blue ribbons (A) and one red ribbon (B). At this time, I own thirteen Suffolks and three market lambs, and I plan to show five at this year's 4-H Fair. I am also showing one ram at the Ionia Free Fair and three lambs at the State Sheep Show.

Since I have been in the 4-H sheep club, I have attended many programs sponsored by 4-H. At these meetings, I have learned a lot about selecting and judging the quality of sheep and how to trim and groom my animals. I have used this information to select the best animals at fairs and at sheep sales.

I have sold several of my sheep and used the money to buy better ewes to improve my flock. I have found that I like working with animals so much that I would like to become a veterinarian. I am hoping that the profits from my sheep will help me pay for my college education.

I plan to continue in 4-H for as long as possible and to raise sheep for many years. I am sure that the knowledge I have gained through the 4-H program will help me in the future.
