

Coletta, Ebert run for St. Johns City Commission

CHARLES COLETTA

By RON KARLE
Editor

At least two persons have filed petitions for the St. Johns City Commission. They are incumbent Charles Coletta, whose six-year term expires in November, and Roy Ebert, a newcomer to city politics.

Although the filing deadline was more than a week ago, no one at the Municipal Building could say for sure if there were any other candidates.

The News was informed that City Clerk Tom Hundley was on vacation and apparently had taken the key to a locked file cabinet which contained the petitions.

Coletta, seeking his fourth term on the council, has served continuously since 1946 and was elected mayor twice, in 1957-58 and 1967-68.

He has been employed at Sealed Power Corp. since 1942 and is chief manufacturing engineer there.

When asked to comment on the city's tight financial situation, Coletta said he was not opposed to either additional millage or a personal income tax as means of raising revenue.

"My feeling has always been this," he said. "The city needs the money—either the income tax or the millage. "I would be satisfied that either one would put the city on its feet again," he added.

"To say which is best, well, there are arguments both ways," he said.

"I think probably at this point, the most important thing is to unify the voters," said Coletta noting that there are two opposing "camps" in the city—one favoring millage, the other for the income tax.

"When both issues have come up, I have voted affirmatively," he said.

Other areas which need attention, according to Coletta, include a resumption of the city's road program, replacement of equipment for the fire department, reinstitution of a youth program with full use of the city park and its facilities and a program for the replacement of water mains in the city.

Coletta and his wife Velma, live at 111 N. Morton. They have two sons, Richard, a junior at Michigan State University, and Edward, an engineer in Lawrence, Ohio.

Ebert, 38, has been active in a group called "People Who Care," which has been seeking installation of a traffic signal or some other safety device at the intersection of U.S. 27 and Sturgis. The group formed shortly after a 12-year-old boy lost his life in auto-bicycle accident at the corner.

Ebert said he thought the organization "was making good progress, but I think rerouting is the ultimate answer."

He brings to the contest a background in accounting and production control at Federal-Mogul and for the last six years has worked as a loan officer for the Federal-Mogul Credit Union. He is also chairman of the credit union's building committee.

"If elected to the City Commission, I promise to work for the continuing growth and welfare of the city but always keeping in mind that we must operate within our economic bounds," said Ebert.

"I keep hearing the term 'austerity program,'" he said. "But if you live with what you have, that isn't austerity—that's practicality."

"As far as the (idea of an) income tax is concerned, at this point, I'm quite cold towards it," said Ebert.

"I would work toward equalization of property assessments," he added. "So many pay too much, others too little." He said he thought property assessments should be

Commission hears U.S. 27-Sturgis study

By RON KARLE
Editor

After analyzing a traffic study at a special meeting of the St. Johns City Commission last week, Ralph Shoemaker, of the State Highway Department recommended that the city install a pedestrian overpass at the corner of U.S. 27 and Sturgis Street.

The study, prompted by the death of a 12-year-old boy at the intersection earlier this summer showed 3,524 cars traveling north on U.S. 27 through the intersection during an eight-hour period and 2,865 going south.

A total of 1,670 cars traveling east on Sturgis approached the intersection as did 536 traveling west.

"You have a problem," said Shoemaker, "I'm not trying to hide from it, I'm trying to point out the pros and cons."

He said the "best solution" is to install a pedestrian overpass. "There's no way you can mix cars and children," he said. He estimated the cost of an overpass at $20,000.

"A pedestrian overpass is classified as a sidewalk and the State Highway Department can't build sidewalks," he added.

In reply to a suggestion that the speed limits on the highway be lowered in the area, Shoemaker said, "if you lower the speed limit to 35 m.p.h., you're going to have a 'speed trap' reputation within a week."

He also did not encourage the installation of a traffic light at the intersection as urged earlier by the commission and a group of citizens called People Who Care.

Teacher negotiations slow in St. Johns

Contract negotiations between the St. Johns School District and the St. Johns Education Association have met with little movement, after nearly three months, officials report.

At least four meetings have been held since negotiations opened May 18 but with school set to open Sept. 1, several issues remain unsettled.

Representing the school district are Supt. Earl Lancaster, and board members Fred Meyer and William Richards. Representing the teachers are Chuck Agerstrand, association president, and Alice Thrun and John Agerhart.

In addition to the formal meetings, Lancaster and Agerstrand have met informally several times.

Both Lancaster and Agerstrand have agreed to a joint news conference later this week to bring the News up to date on the negotiations.

accelerate to make the green light, thus causing a new safety hazard.

He also forecasts that the installation of a traffic light would result in a considerable jump in traffic accidents at the corner.

Shoemaker recommended that the 45 m.p.h. speed limit be moved further outside of town and that oversized speed limit signs be installed on both sides of the road.

"The only real solution is to get the highway rerouted," said Dr. James Grost, commissioner.

The State Highways Department says it plans to reroute the highway around the city, but limited funds will delay such a project for several years.

As far as more rigid enforcement is concerned, Shoemaker said, "People drive as conditions appear to them. You can't force the American people to do anything."

At this week's regular commission meeting Monday night, the commissioners said they had met with Shoemaker after the previous meeting and had agreed to take no action until he returned with data from additional studies. He was expected back within two weeks.

The commission did decide to install a yellow flashing speed limit sign at the corner of U.S. 27 and Swegles Street for the benefit of school children.

Also at this week's meeting the commission was informed by the General Services Administration that there will be no further effort to purchase the municipal parking lot adjacent to the post office in St. Johns.

In other action Monday, the commission decided to install signs on E. Gibbs Street between U.S. 27 and Clinton Avenue forbidding heavy through trucking.

Three from Clinton killed in weekend traffic accidents

By TIM YOUNKMAN
News Staff Writer

Two Clinton County women and a teenage boy died over the weekend in three separate auto accidents.

Lawrence J. Fedewa, 18, 233 Price Road, Westphalia, was killed Sunday afternoon when he drove his motorcycle onto Grange Road into the path of an oncoming vehicle operated by Gary Lee Bengel, 22, R-1 David Highway, Pewamo.

According to State Police reports, Fedewa started onto the highway without seeing the auto and was struck and killed instantly.

The accident occurred at 6499 S. Grange Road. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roman Fedewa and had attended Pewamo-Westphalia High School where he was to be a senior this year.

Fedewa, a member of the Future Farmers of America, was born May 31, 1952 in Westphalia.

He is survived by three sisters, Jane, Marlene and Linda; his parents, and a grandmother, Dora Schafer of Fowler.

A rosary will be said daily at Geiler Funeral Home from 3 p.m. to 8 p.m., with funeral services Thursday at 10 a.m. at St. Mary's Church in Westphalia. Burial will be at St. Mary's Cemetery.

A 21-year-old woman died in a single-car accident Saturday on Price Road one-half mile east of Wright Road.

Jeanne Dora Schafer, 7311 W. Parks Road, St. Johns, was killed when she apparently went off the roadway on the north side and crossed the road striking the banks on the road's south side.

According to sheriff department reports, she then spun around in the ditch and over-

Mediators to join teacher negotiations

By TIM YOUNKMAN
News Staff Writer

The DeWitt Education Association and the DeWitt Board of Education will go into third-party mediation today (Wednesday) in an attempt to settle the teacher contract dispute that has threatened the opening of the schools in September.

There was an indication that the negotiations would not remain deadlocked Friday when two members of the DEA bargaining committee announced agreements in 18 minor areas, the first such agreement in six weeks of talks.

They said that the agreements came in the areas of board of education rights, non-discrimination, competency of teachers under assignments, receiving teacher editions of textbooks, notification of vacancies within the district, review of files except teachers' confidential ratings and a no strike while under a contract clause.

Chief negotiator for the DEA, Gary Roberts, said the key factor in the agreements was the presence of several school board members at the meetings.

"We negotiated as much with Mrs. (Merry) Sellhorn as we did with Mr. (James) Ritchie," Roberts said.

Ritchie, DeWitt school superintendent, told board of education members Monday night that Mrs. Sellhorn's presence did contribute to the talks.

"As soon as she came into the

Sales tax diversions for Clinton

Clinton County Treasurer Velma Beufore last week mailed checks to county governmental units totaling $111,564.16, representing sales tax diversions for the second quarter of 1970.

The distribution was based on per capita rate of $2.94 from the 1960 federal census.

This is down from the 13 cents per capita of the first quarter ($4,938.11), however, it is the same as received in June of last year.

Sixteen county townships received checks totaling $77,554.26, seven villages received checks totaling $13,844.46, and two cities, St. Johns ($16,525.74) and DeWitt ($8,639.72) received checks totaling $20,165.46.

Here is the breakdown for townships: Bath, $10,972.08; Bengali, $2,625.42; Bingham,

Few leads in fatal stabbing

The Michigan State Police report few leads in the slaying of a St. Johns Wolverine Stockyards employee whose body was found early Wednesday morning, Aug. 4 on Stoll Road.

John Harrington, 749, 1721 Lenore, Lansing, who died of stab wounds, was found slumped in his auto on a lonely stretch of Stoll Road one-third of a mile east of Chandler Road.

Police indicate that the time of death was between 1 a.m. and 2:30 a.m.

Harrington had been working at a Future Farmers of America livestock sale at the stockyards Tuesday and later attended a banquet at Daley's restaurant in St. Johns, where he was last seen alive. He was found by a passer-by, James David of Lansing who informed the State Police.

Detectives indicated that they have received a few tips, but nothing substantial has been released to the press.

They said that Harrington's wife had driven to St. Johns early in the day and joined him at the auction sale.

Reports indicate that Mrs. Harrington had spent part of the evening at the banquet and had left early. Harrington then followed shortly after 1 a.m.

The State Police had been questioning various people who might have recognized Harrington's auto in an effort to retrace his footsteps for the missing one and one-half hours.

OLD GOP HOME WEEK

Among the many prominent Republican party leaders and candidates attending a recent GOP outing in the St. Johns City Park were, from left, Gerald Lankford, county commissioner from DeWitt; Richard Flynn, candidate for the State House of Representatives 87th District; Virginia Zeeb, Vice chairman of Clinton County Republican Women's Club; Rep. William S. Ballenger, candidate for the State Senate; R. Douglas Tresize, candidate for the 87th House seat; Rep. Dick Allen, seeking re-election to his 88th District seat; Weldon Yeager, candidate for secretary of state; Henrietta Prince, Clinton County Republican chairman; Robert Montgomery, county commissioner, Eagle and Watertown, and Betty Sexton, president of Clinton County Republican Women's Club.

Ballenger blasts Dems on ag assessment vote

State Rep. William S. Ballenger, R-Ovid, has blasted House Democrats and the State Tax Commission for "doing a hatchet job" on what he terms "one of the finest agricultural land assessment bills ever brought before the Michigan Legislature."

Two hurt in crash

A tractor-truck collision Monday evening (Aug. 3) resulted in injury to two persons on Island Road, one-half mile east of Watson Road in Duplain Township. Injured were Ruth Brandon, 60, of Elsie, and Steven J. Mead, 7, 7559 Welling Road, St. Johns. Mrs. Brandon was listed in good condition at Clinton Memorial Hospital, while Mead was treated and released. The driver of the tractor, Earl Israel Showers, 40, 5665 Island Road, Elsie, told sheriff's deputies that he had stopped and was waiting for his employer to catch up with him when the collision occurred. The driver of the pick-up truck, Elmer J. Mead Jr., 29, 7559 Welling Road said he did not see the tractor in the darkness.

was referring to a measure (HB 2355) which would have provided for the assessment of farm land on this basis of its use for agriculture and not for any "vague potential market value."

Terming the Democratic Party as "a creature of the big cities, particularly Detroit," Ballenger said its members in the House "couldn't care less about the rural farm areas and small towns of the state."

By a single vote, 38-37, the measure last week was sent to a committee which most likely sounded the death knell for the proposal.

Thirty-four Republicans were joined by three Democrats who voted to keep the bill on the floor, while seven Republicans and 31 Democrats voted to send the bill to committee.

Twelve Republicans were absent for the vote as were 23 Democrats.

Ballenger charged the State Tax Commission with issuing a statement which claimed that the bill would "usurp administrative prerogatives."

"This is truly amazing," said Ballenger, "since I was under the impression that the State Tax Commission got its 'prerogatives' from the Legislature—not the other way around. Evidently, the State Tax Commission, in its Ivory tower, has lost touch with reality."

WILLIAM BALLENGER

...He added that the commission "circulated publicly its distorted analysis of the bill" in response to a private letter of inquiry from State Rep. Roy Spencer, R-Attica, prime sponsor of the measure.

"In my opinion," said Ballenger, "this was an extremely dishonorable action."

Ballenger is concluding his first two-year term in the House representing part of Clinton and all of Shiawassee County.

He is running for the State Senate to fill the 30th District vacancy created by Sen. Emil Lockwood, R-Elm Hall, who is seeking the party's nomination for secretary of state.

Confident of victory

As Secretary of State, Yeager would consider Dem appointments

By RON KARLE
Editor

Rep. Weldon Yeager, who is seeking the Republican nomination to run for secretary of state, hasn't had the widespread press of his opponent, Sen. Emil Lockwood, R-Elm Hall.

But despite this, Yeager believes he has the necessary support to win his party's nod for the post.

Yeager, in St. Johns last week for a potluck meeting of Republican candidates, said he has enough votes to put him over the top at the GOP state convention.

"Making a conservative estimate—and I really think it is conservative—I think at this reading I have 850 votes," said Yeager. "I think we're doing excellent. It only takes 650 votes to win the convention."

Yeager, a 20-year veteran of the party, said his estimate is based on pledges from people who have been delegates to past conventions.

Lockwood recently told the News that he was better known in Yeager's home territory of Detroit. Lockwood, who has represented the 30th District (including Clinton County) since 1962, attributes his popularity to the fact that he has been majority leader for the last four years.

Lockwood said private polls have shown him to be 10 times better known than Yeager in the Detroit area.

"I think he (Lockwood) is completely wrong in that," said Yeager. "He takes a lot of stock in his position with the New Detroit Committee. Few people know it still exists, much less who is on the board of directors."

As an indication of his popularity in Detroit, Yeager said, "I ran ahead of President Nixon in my district in 1968."

When asked if he had taken private polls, Yeager would neither admit or deny it but said, "I don't think we need to."

He said in an outstate survey taken two years ago among 800 people, his name was known by 30 per cent of the people and he said he was better known at that time than U.S. Rep. Gerald Ford, R-Grand Rapids, House minority leader.

When asked who he favored between State Sen. Robert Huber and Lenore Romney in the race for the nomination to run for the U.S. Senate against incumbent Democrat Phil Hart, Yeager said, "I can't take sides in that race."

"I think Lenore's going to win," he added.

Should he win the Republican nomination and the election in November, Yeager indicated he would favor the appointment of Republicans as local branch managers of the secretary of state's office.

But he did not completely rule out the possibility of retaining a Democrat if he had the approval of the local Republican organization.

He also said he thought the present system worked better than it would if, as proposed by some, it were placed under civil service.

"Basically, I would not change the system because I think it works most effectively and with greater control than any other system that has been mentioned."

"You do not have as good control under civil service when you inherit people as you would when you make changes," he said.

Concerning appointments, Yeager said, "Whoever I would appoint must have the clearance of the local (Republican) organization."

"I intend to consult with local people on any appointment," he added. "If a man there has pretty unanimous approval of the organization and if they want to keep him and he plays by my rules, I think there could be the possibility of consideration (of a Democrat)."

WELDON YEAGER

By his "rules," Yeager said he meant providing courteous and efficient service.

"I can't conceive that a Democrat would want to (stay on under a Republican), but if he agrees and the local Republicans do, too, I would consider it," said Yeager. "I wouldn't promise it."

"There would have to be a clear majority," he added. "I would want the organization to ask me to keep him."

"The key word is that there would be consideration given," he said.

Yeager said he is most concerned with the problem of the drinking driver and getting bad drivers off the roads.

Yeager, 48, is a graduate of Wayne State University and a World War II Air Force veteran. He rose from private to the rank of captain.

He has been a precinct and state delegate and in 1964 and 1968 was a delegate to the national Republican convention.

He was appointed director of the Department of Workman's Compensation where he served four years, was a delegate to the Constitutional Convention and was elected to the House in 1968.

Costly

Quality day care for children is a scarce and expensive commodity. It is estimated that the cost of after-school and summer care for school-age children comes at about $400 a child per year. Full-time day care for pre-schoolers runs about $1,600 a year.

DeWitt teachers assn. denies strike threat

By TIM YOUNGMAN
News Staff Writer

The DeWitt Education Association (DEA) disputed charges last week that the group is stalling teacher contract negotiations in an effort to force the DeWitt schools to remain closed in September.

Gary Roberts and Raymond Unger, DEA bargaining committee members, said they have never indicated that they would strike and added that they have not taken a strike vote from the teachers.

"We'll have to decide that on the morning we are to report for work if we don't have a contract," Roberts said.

Negotiators for the DEA announced a general informational meeting for teachers on Monday Aug. 17 at 7:30 p.m. in the DeWitt Memorial Building.

Both indicated that they would not discuss strike possibilities at the meeting.

Both also disputed statements issued by the DeWitt Board of Education President Willard J. Reed and Supt. James Ritchie concerning press coverage of the negotiations.

Unger said that both sides had established a list of ground rules barring the press from the meetings, which is possible under a state law.

The DEA representatives admitted, however, that Ritchie had crossed out the press ban clause before accepting the ground rules.

"He indicated that he didn't want the press to attend," Roberts said.

Earlier, a reporter from the News attempted to attend one of the negotiating sessions July 16, but the DEA committee stopped the meeting and walked out.

The DEA also disputed Ritchie's account of his preventing the group from inspecting personnel files.

Unger said the DEA went to Ritchie's office June 11 to request the file material but learned that the superintendent was on vacation.

He said that they returned June 23 but were denied access to the files. Their request called for the numbers of teachers on each step scale, salary figures for 1969-70, insurance premiums paid on behalf of the teachers, and amounts of extra duty pay.

"We did not ask for any names or personal reports," Roberts said. "They are in legal trouble now because they haven't opened the files," Unger added.

The DEA has filed unfair labor practice charges with the Michigan Employment Relations Commission which will be heard Aug. 13 in Lansing.

"We've been trying to negotiate and have offered a 41-page agreement," Roberts said. "We have gone through 35 pages." He said very little progress has been made.

MSU honors Munger for 5 years of service

Donald Munger, vocational agriculture teacher from St. Johns was among 29 teachers with a combined total of more than 400 years of service to vocational agriculture honored at Michigan State University last week.

The awards were presented at the teachers' 51st annual conference July 28-31 at MSU's Kellogg Center for Continuing Education.

Honored for 40 years of service was Dr. H. Paul Sweaney of the MSU College of Education. A 35-year award went to Adelbert Huber of St. Louis.

Awards for 30 years went to Duane Dalgleish, Michigan Department of Education; Louis Reuter, Sandusky; Oscar Fisher, Quincy; Edwin St. John, Michigan Department of Education, and Paul Smith, Hamilton. Twenty-year awards were presented to Paul Burns, Tecumseh, and Robert Colestock, Unionville.

Receiving 10-year awards were Glen Ruder, North Adams; Dr. Donald Meaders, MSU College of Education; Walter Weber, Ravenna; Earl French, Reese; Clayton Dalley, Port Hope; Lyle Clarke, Cass City, and Stanley Knopf, Marlette.

Honored for five years of service were Munger, Harold Becker, Fowlerville; David Burns, Almont; Terrance Chesebro, Sault Ste. Marie; James Gibson, MSU Institute of Agricultural Technology; Edward Huls, Pellston; Roger Landsburg, Stevensville, and David Mitchell, Byron.

Liane Whitford wins Legion essay contest

Winners of the Americanism Essay contest, "America, My Home" sponsored by The National American Legion Auxiliary, have been announced in Grand Rapids at the State American Legion Auxiliary Convention July 19, by Mrs. Mildred Wiegand, Department Americanism Chairman.

Winners in the Senior Group are first place, Floy Spencer, of Mio-10th District; second place, Jeanette Riley, of Hart, 9th District; third place, Diane Hendricks, of Stevensville, 4th District.

Winners in the Junior Group are first place, Tom Focklman, of Grand Rapids, 5th District; second place, Lucretia Gerber, of Mio-10th District; third place, Liane Whitford, of St. Johns, 8th District.

Liane, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Whitford of 2523 E. Wildcat Road, St. Johns.

She is an eighth grade student at St. Joseph Catholic School in St. Johns.

Her entry in the contest was sponsored by The Edwin T. Stiles Unit No. 153 American Legion Auxiliary of St. Johns.

Liane's essay placed first in the 8th District, Junior Group contest. This made her eligible for State level competition in the Junior Group.

A road back for troubled youths in Clinton County

By TIM YOUNKMAN
News Staff Writer

Troubled Clinton County youths in need of correctional discipline may find the road back a little easier in the future.

A crime study recently completed for the Tri-County area suggests the coordination and consolidation of treatment facilities for youths "with demonstrated delinquent tendencies." The first annual report of the Tri-County Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice Planning Council indicated that a new facility would "provide an adequate range of educational, counseling work, and recreational opportunities to support youths in developing a responsible social role." The Council recommended that a Youth Service Bureau be established in each of the three counties—Clinton, Eaton and Ingham—to co-ordinate and "provide needed programs short of formal adjudication."

The bureau would stimulate or operate programs for both delinquent and non-delinquent youths, the report added.

In other areas, the Council suggested that local residents "be involved and employed in all stages of new programs and that guidelines be adopted for the participation of local citizens in the Law Enforcement and criminal justice system."

The Council called for activities which prevent and control youth crime and to involve the young in community life.

The local communities and county governments were asked to study the Tri-County comprehensive law enforcement plan and submit applications for action grant funds to fulfill the regional goals.

A HOT ROUND, INDEED

Most golfers enjoy a sizzling round, but when it ends up with a burned out golf-cart they'd surely settle for a higher score. At least that's what Orth Tatroe feels after a recent outing. Members of the Clinton County Country Club called Tatroe after he had left the course to advise him his cart had caught fire. At the time of discovery the machine was parked in a storage garage where other units also were kept. The St. Johns Fire Department was called to extinguish the blaze which was confined to the seats and steering wheel areas. Tatroe is shown examining the results of the fire which was believed to have been caused by a lighted cigarette becoming jammed between the seat and side panel.

examined to see that everyone pays their fair share and see what we've got, then if we can't make it, look for alternate methods of financing.

He said the reason he is cold towards the ideas of an income tax at this time is because he hasn't seen any progress in any towns that have it.

Appealing to voters "who feel the city commission needs new blood," Ebert said, "I will be open-minded on all issues and making decisions from all concerned citizens before making decisions which could affect their welfare."

Ebert and his wife, Mary, live at 602 S. Kibbee St. They have two children, a son, Patrick, six, and a daughter, Lori-Ann, two.

turned. She had been thrown from the vehicle, but was killed when it toppled over on top of her.

Miss Schafer, born April 18, 1949 in Portland, had attended the Fowler Public Schools and had worked at the George Worthington Co. of Lansing.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Schafer, three sisters, Marie, Kathy and Theresa, three brothers, Robert, Jerome and Dennis and two grandmothers, Mrs. Pauline Thelen of Fowler and Mrs. Dora Schafer of Fowler.

Funeral services were to be held Tuesday, Aug. 11 at the Most Holy Trinity Catholic Church in Fowler with burial at Holy Trinity Cemetery.

A Bath woman was killed instantly Sunday evening in a two-car collision on M 78 at Park Lake Road in Ingham County.

Lee Elizabeth Barnes, 45, 15662 Webster Road, Bath, was killed when she apparently failed to notice a stop sign at Park Lake Road.

A six-month-old passenger, Leann Marie Hammer was listed in critical condition at Sparrow Hospital in Lansing Monday following the accident.

Two other passengers in the Barnes auto, Dixie Ann Hammer, 25, and Robert M. Hammer, 8, both of the Webster Road address, were uninjured.

Also uninjured was the driver of the second vehicle, Cllo Weaver, 22, 14261 Clio Road, Clio, and three passengers.

An Ingham County Sheriff's department spokesman said the cause of the accident is still under investigation and no citations have been issued.

room you could see their attitude change," Ritchie said.

Ritchie said that the third-party mediation and the unfair labor charges which are scheduled to be heard Thursday in Lansing are not important to the negotiations.

"Neither of them have a great deal of significance to the negotiations," he said.

Ritchie added that the mediation board would tell them to go back into the talks with the same attitude that brought about the minor agreements.

He told the board that the main issues in the contract talks have not been mentioned.

He pointed to the agency shop question whereby each teacher in the district must contribute to the union, whether a member or not, since the union is the sole bargaining agent with the board.

Other issues that have not been discussed are insurance policies, enforced class size, binding arbitration and minority contributions.

The salary ranges have not been discussed, but Ritchie said that the average settlement in the districts that have contract agreements appeared to be about $7,400.

Although neither party has agreed on joint press releases, both indicate that the negotiation talks will be publicized by each party, on a separate basis.

Working moms

In March 1969, 4.2 million working mothers had children under six years of age. Half of these workers had children under three years of age.

Non-governmental units and groups also were asked to apply for grants under the program.

A little more than one-year old, the Council was established under provisions of the Michigan Commission on Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice.

The Tri-County Council received $30,293 in aid from the commission, the largest share, $20,000, going to the Ingham County Sheriff's department to develop a program to provide tailored education and vocational programs for jail inmates.

The East Lansing Police Department received $3,796 for radio equipment. Court staffs and probation aides' in-service training program for juvenile court personnel received $5,897, according to the report.

The Lansing Police Department received $600 for riot control equipment during the year. Clinton County residents on the Tri-County Council are Luella Canfield, head nurse for the Clinton County Health Department; Everett Glazier, St. Johns chief of police; Patrick Kelly, prosecuting attorney; Percy Patterson, Clinton County sheriff; Gerald E. Shepard, county commissioner; and Elden T. Smith, DeWitt city manager.

Program set for bike safety

Shortly after school re opens this fall, People Who Care will sponsor a bicycle safety program in all St. Johns elementary schools.

The organization, formed after an accident took the life of a young bicycle rider this summer, plans to send people into the schools during the week of Sept. 14 to explain and demonstrate bicycle safety.

Then on Saturday, Sept. 19, the group will have bicycle safety checks at three locations—the East Ward School, Perrin Palmer School and the junior high school.

Registration dates set for Fulton High School

Students at the Fulton High School are requested to register at the high school office during the week of Aug. 17-21.

They will fill out registration cards for classes, pay a book deposit of $2.00, which is refundable at the end of the year, (if books are returned with normal wear) and pay activity fees of $20. This involves the students in grades 9-12.

The following schedule has been set up:
Seniors - Monday, Aug. 17.
Juniors - Tuesday, Aug. 18.
Sophomores - Wednesday, Aug. 19.

Freshman - Thursday, Aug. 20. New students and those unable to come on one of the above days are to register on Friday, Aug. 21.

It is necessary that registration for all high school students be completed before the opening of school because of the new school law which requires 180 actual days of school or 990 hours, said Supt. Waino Pihl.

When school opens on August 31, it will be in session for a full day and it would be difficult to take registrations for only a minor few on that date.

After winning the St. Johns City Tennis tournament the week before, Kent Daley teamed with Tim Durner to take the doubles title in competition with 10 other teams last week.

Daley and Durner defeated Jeff White and Mark Jones in the finals, 6-1, 6-8, 6-4.

In the semi-finals, Daley and Durner defeated Scott Bennett and Tom Warstler, 6-2, 6-3, while White and Jones were downing Jesse Jones and Jim Conley, 6-3, 9-7.

In the quarter finals, Daley and Durner defeated Dave Weed and Edie Jorae, 6-2, 6-1; Bennett and Warstler defeated Chris Richards and Jon Amoyal, 6-1, 6-0; Jones and Conley defeated Dan Mohnke and John Warstler, 7-5, 7-5 and White and Mark Jones defeated Jeff Springer and Clyde Springer, 6-3, 6-1.

Mohnke and Warstler defeated Jim Barnes and Bob Haimo, 6-1, 6-2 in the first round and Conley and Jesse Jones defeated Rick Warren and Bill Morris, 6-4, 6-1.

First team All-America honors have gone to 41 Michigan State football players since 1949.

FOOTBALL TRIP

St. Johns' Head Coach Jeff Smith and other members of the coaching staff took candidates for the Redwing varsity football team to Detroit Saturday night to see the Lions play the Kansas City Chiefs. Checking last minute details before leaving are, from left, Bruce Barber, freshman coach; Mike Young, JV coach; Smith, and Joe Gonzales, assistant varsity coach. Larry Heibeck, head mechanic at the school bus garage, drove the boys to the game.

Lundy fires Phillies' second no-hit game

Greg Lundy fired the second no-hitter of the season last week for the Phillies of the St. Johns Pony League.

Lundy struck out nine and walked five as the Phillies shut-out the Mets, 12-0 in the seven-inning game.

Rick Riley, John Warstler and Fred San Miguel banged across two RBI's apiece and Jim Schumaker and Mike San Miguel added one each. Phillie scoring was aided by five Met errors. Earlier in the season, Schumaker tossed the first no-hitter of the year for the Phillies in tournament play.

Warstler almost got a third no-hitter for the Phils the following night when he shutout the Dodgers on a single hit, 18-0.

The lone hit, a single, came in the third inning off the bat of Ken Randolph.

The Phillies, 8-2 on the season, are managed by Doug Cook and finished first in the St. Johns Pony League standings.

Jack Downing--he's truly a man for all seasons

By RON KARLE
Editor

JACK DOWNING

"He's sort of the Bowle Kuhn of St. Johns."

That's how the manager of one local baseball team describes Jack Downing.

He's that and more. In addition to being a key mover in the establishment of a Little League for St. Johns, Downing has been instrumental in setting up a new Pony League, bringing the Soap Box Derby to town and is active in the Boy's Club which now participates in Golden Gloves competition.

When asked why he does it all, Downing sort of half shrugs his burly shoulders, looks away and a slow grin steals across his face.

He ponders for a moment, as though he had never been asked the question before, and then he clasps those big hands of his before replying in a halting voice searching for the right words.

"I feel if you keep these boys occupied with something worthwhile, they might stay out of trouble," he says. "If you change just one boy and get him on the right track, it's worthwhile."

"My dream is to have some kid come out of this Little League and have him play in the majors some day. That would be great," he says.

Downing in recent years has been active in the St. Johns Jaycees. He is a former president of the organization and has held several other offices, too. Because of the organization's age limit, he is now an "active" associate member.

It all began when he made a pitch for the boys.

He recalls in 1964, Bill Smiley, former St. Johns football coach, showed an interest in forming a Little League. He placed an ad in the paper seeking help and Downing and four others answered. They were Lou Eisler, George Eberhard, Lee Pederson and Lyle French.

"Each one of us took a service club and approached them," says Downing. "I just happened to take the Jaycees and they showed an interest."

Michigan State ranks 11th in the listings of the nation's major college football teams in win-loss percentages the last 25 years. The Spartan record over the period is 158 wins, 70 losses and seven ties for a percentage of .693.

Fedewa leaves for Derby

Roy Fedewa, winner of the Clinton County Soap Box Derby, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Al Fedewa, of Westphalia, left Sunday for Akron, Ohio and the 33rd running of the national Soap Box Derby race.

He will be housed at the All-American camp with 260 other boys from all over the world who will compete Saturday for $30,000 in scholarships.

The 205 acre camp offers swimming, hiking, horseback riding and a host of other activities for the boys.

About 35 people from Clinton County plan to view the race this weekend, including the 10 runners-up in the Clinton Derby.

Accompanying the boys will be Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Feldpausch (owner of Bee's Chevrolet and Oldsmobile and sponsor of the local derby), Mr. and Mrs. Jack Downing, Mr. and Mrs. John Arehart.

The group plans to leave Friday morning. They will attend a parade downtown that evening and Saturday will view the track parade, the Oil Can Derby and the big race itself. That evening they will attend the parade of champions.

IT'S JUST GOOD BUSINESS TO JOIN THE UAW

The Rt. Rev. Bernard J. Sheil Catholic Bishop once said: "If a Non-Union worker in a partially organized industry is receiving a good income, it is quite probably because his Non-Union employer, in order" to keep the Union out, "meets, or nearly meets, the higher wage and hours standard of Union establishments. Clearly such Non-Union employees are eating the fruits of others sacrifices. The workers in the Union shops perhaps risked their jobs to get their Union recognized, and pay monthly dues to keep it going. It is a categorical injustice for Non-Union employees, enjoying the common benefits, to refuse to carry their share of the common burden".

First Nighters to hold tryouts for new play

At a cookout at the home of Ken and Jan Pyle last week, the St. Johns First Nighters announced tryouts will begin for a production set for October.

Howard Gentry, president, said tryouts for a play titled "The Night of January 16" will be Aug. 29-30 at the Central National Bank Community Room. The play, a mystery-comedy, calls for a cast of 24 and newcomers are encouraged to try out for parts in the production which will be presented Oct. 16-17. Those wishing further information may contact Gentry at 224-3751 or Jan Pyle at 224-4655 or write the First Nighters at P.O. Box 2, St. Johns.

Questions & answers on Social Security

By ROGER W. SEAMON
District Manager
Social Security Administration

Editor's Note: Roger Seamon is the Clinton County representative for the Social Security Administration. Each week he will answer questions in this column on Social Security pertinent to this area. He also invites questions of general interest from readers of the News. Send your questions to him in care of the Clinton County News.

QUESTION: My father is 90 years old and never signed up for Medicare. He did not work under social security since he retired from farming before farmers were required to pay. The only income he has is the rent from his farm. I want him to sign up for Medicare since his health has been very poor, but he doesn't feel he is eligible. Can you help him?

ANSWER: Yes, Your father is not only eligible for the Hospital Insurance, but he may also qualify for monthly benefits of $46. This special benefit is payable to persons who attained age 72 before 1968 without ever working under social security. For those who attained age 72 in 1968 and later, some work is required. If a person is receiving public assistance benefits or another government pension, the special age 72 benefit may not be payable.

QUESTION: I have a summer job at a golf course where I will earn $200.00 a month for about four months. My neighbor told me that I would lose my social security benefits for the months I work since I will be earning over $140.00. I thought if I didn't earn over $1,680.00 in 1970, I would be entitled to all my monthly benefits. Who is right?

ANSWER: You are correct. Since you will not earn more than $1,680 in the calendar year of 1970, you are not limited to a monthly amount.

Q: In late October 1969 I was injured in a farming accident. After the accident, my neighbors and relatives finished picking my corn, and they have been doing all the farm work this year. Last week my doctor told me that I have not sufficiently recovered from the injury to return to work. However, he refuses to give me any idea when I'll be able to work again. Can

A group of First Nighters attended the Theater in the Round at Traverse City July 25 where they saw "Under the Yum-Yum Tree," starring Robert Horton. After the production, members of the First Nighters visited backstage with Horton and Lyle Waggoner, who is on the Carol Burnett Show and was rehearsing for an upcoming production at the theater.

I receive any benefits from Social Security?

A: You may be entitled to disability benefits and you should come into our office as soon as possible to complete the necessary application. Your medical sources will be contacted for information about your disability. If the medical reports indicate that you will be unable to work for a continuous period of at least 12 months from the date of the accident, and you have worked five out of the last ten years, you will receive the disability benefits. You should bring a copy of your 1969 tax return and evidence that the return was filed (canceled check or money order) when you visit our office to file your claim.

Q: I am a college student receiving student benefits from Social Security. Recently, I received a form "Report of Student Beneficiary at End of School Year." I completed a similar request about a year ago. Do I still complete this report?

A: Yes. All students receiving Social Security benefits are required to complete this form to assure continuance of the benefit payments during their vacation. The report must be completed at the end of each school year. Failure to complete the form will cause a delay in the monthly checks.

I am getting ready to send in my doctor bills for my recent illness. I have one bill from my family physician located here in Michigan, and another statement from a specialist in Toledo, Ohio who treated me while I was hospitalized there in May. Where do I send the bills?

ANSWER: You must complete two "Request for Medicare Payment" forms. Send one form and the bill from your family doctor to Medicare, Michigan Medical Service, P.O. Box 2201, Detroit 48231. The bill from the specialist in Ohio must be sent to Medicare, Nationwide Mutual Insurance Co., P.O. Box 57, Columbus, Ohio 43216 along with another "Request for Medicare Payment" form.

I plan to retire in December so I have been trying to locate the required documents to support my claim. When I obtained a copy of my birth certificate, I found my first name was misspelled. Also, my correct date of birth is 12/29/05, but the birth record shows the date as 12/4/05. What should I do?

ANSWER: Three months before you plan to retire take the birth record into your social security office and file for monthly benefits. You do not have to have the record corrected. After you explain the mistakes on the birth record, chances are the matter will be resolved. If additional information should be required, the social security office will help you obtain the evidence.

Key word for children: 'understandable'

By LORRAINE SPRAGUE
Extension Home Economist

Youngsters need consistency in discipline. A "no" today and a "yes" tomorrow for exactly the same circumstance can be terribly confusing to a pre-schooler—and even some early school age youngsters. Of course sometimes a reasonable, understandable explanation of why there is a different answer on one day than on another does help the problem. But the key words are "reasonable" and "understandable".

Lucky is the child who can say "My Mother means what she says." Who can blame a child for being confused when one day he is allowed to throw stones and the next not? But a demand for "an ice cream bar right now" meaning a search for coins, a trip to the store or too near dinner time can be met with an explanatory "no". A child thus learns why there sometimes is a "yes" and sometimes a "no".

Consistent discipline doesn't mean being rigid and unbending. It means training that leads to an orderly and comfortable way of living for the child and for others that live with and near him. Adults make mistakes. Children deserve an apology when one is warranted.

It's not always easy to remain consistent. A child's disappointment and sometimes tears, are hard to disregard. Things of greater importance (to the parent, that is) must be taken care of. Some parents lack confidence in themselves and sad, but true, others simply don't care.

But inconsistency is mighty tough on a child too! In all cases, an inconsistent adult loses sight of his child's future happiness and growth. Growing up in a world of law and regulations is a necessary learning for each individual if he is to achieve any sort of satisfaction and happiness in adulthood. Such learning comes hard to the child not subjected to discipline. Discipline need not be harsh and severe, only honest and consistent.

Talk with any teenager, young adult or older person. Those who learned at home how to get along with their family and friends with constant guidance, understanding and at times necessary punishment—these are the people who readily admit love and respect for their parents.

They are not resentful, but thankful, for those disciplined years. Consideration for others, and respect for both public and private property is the development of self control not easy to learn. However consistency on the part of parents is a valuable teacher.

Parents, Grandparents and yes, even Aunts, must agree to the kind and amount of discipline. A child is quick to learn how to get around divided adults! "Threats" build only insecurity in a child. A firm "yes" or "no" with necessary explanations help build security.

Being firm doesn't mean being cool or indifferent to the child in carrying out the punishment. Don't expect cheerful compliance at once or all the time. The important thing is that he does what he is asked to do. Above all, don't equate firmness with nagging—sometimes we give more commands than are really necessary.

A parent's job (both for Mother and Dad) is a big one. It means mothering, listening, guiding, teaching and helping each child. It means too, setting an example. Being consistent is one of the best things a parent can give a child.

KIDNAP HOAX

St. Johns Police Sgt. Lyle French checks out a vehicle at an M21 roadblock west of St. Johns in search of a kidnapper and a one-month-old baby victim Wednesday Aug. 5. The infant, Amy Foor, was allegedly kidnapped from an auto in Stanton while her mother, Linda, 17, left the car to enter a bank. Montcalm sheriff's deputies later discovered the little girl unharmed in a corn field near Stanton. Mrs. Foor was charged with assault with intent to commit murder following police questioning. WHAT A MESS

Thomas H. Ebersole, 18, of Livonia looks on helplessly as the tow truck hauls his new auto away after a car-truck collision on US-27 south of St. Johns Thursday. Ebersole, traveling north, collided with a cattle truck operated by Harold L. Shoal, 52, of Quincy, who had pulled onto the shoulder of the road to make a U-turn. Although Shoal suffered little damage to his truck, he was ticked for making an improper left turn.

Two from Clinton to attend Western

Two from Clinton County are among the 3,400 students who will make up the class of 1974 at Western Michigan University. They are Judy Koenigsknicht, of Fowler, and Karon Lundy, of St. Johns. Half of the freshman class has completed its orientation program on campus. In groups of 150, they registered for fall classes, took placement tests and generally, became acquainted with the WMU campus and facilities. They were assisted by 51 upperclassmen and graduate students who served as counseling aides, student leaders and residence hall staff members. The visiting freshmen were housed in residence halls in Goldsboro Valley during their two days at the university. First classes for the 1970-71 school year at Western Michigan will be held on Monday, Aug. 31, starting at 8 a.m.

Shepardsville

By LUCILLE SPENCER, Correspondent

The people of the Shepardsville area extend their sympathy to the family of Robert Hebel, Sr. in the loss of their aunt and sister, Mrs. Sue Durward. Mr. and Mrs. John Spencer were in Lansing to attend the funeral of Mr. George Brendel. On the way home they called on Mr. and Mrs. Gene Rounds. This was on the 7th of August. On August 8 Mr. and Mrs. John Spencer accompanied Mrs. Don Craig and children to Williams-ton while Mrs. Craig attended the wedding of one of her neighbors. The Spencers visited with their cousins, Rev. Eugene Spencer and Mrs. Fay Perkins. Mrs. Hene Hettlinger has returned home from the Owosso Memorial Hospital where she had major surgery. She is coming along fine.

Mrs. Margaret Kelly is still in intensive care at the Owosso Memorial Hospital. She is not doing too well at this writing. Verne Hettlinger was removed from Pleasant View to the Owosso Memorial Hospital on August 8 for treatment and observation. He passed away on Sunday morning, August 9. His three children were at his bedside when he passed away. Funeral arrangements are not complete at this writing. Mr. Hettlinger was a long time resident of the Shepardsville area and had been in poor health for a long time. The people of the Shepardsville area extend their sympathy to his family. Miss Helen Squiers and Norman Rustad will be married next Saturday afternoon, August 15, at the Shepardsville United Methodist Church at 3 p.m. They extend an invitation to all their church friends to attend this happy event. Mrs. Dale Squiers, lay speaker, was guest speaker at the Elsie and Colony United Methodist Churches on Sunday, July 30. Dr. and Mrs. John R. Bartlett and children of Rochester, N.Y. are spending some time with his parents while his father is confined to Hurley Hospital in Flint where he is recuperating from a recent heart attack.

DR. WOHLERS HELPS ESTABLISH SCHOLARSHIP FUND

Several hundred dollars have been donated toward the establishment of an agricultural scholarship fund at Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Michigan, by Dr. R. L. Wohlers (second from right), of St. Johns, and his mother, Mrs. William H. Wohlers, of Berrien Springs. The scholarship fund must have at least $5,000 before it may be named for the late William H. Wohlers, farm manager on the AU campus from 1927 to 1944. A scholarship would probably then be given annually to a qualified student, according to Bernard Andersen (right), chairman of the agriculture department. Above, the Wohlers and Andersen talk with Don Prior, vice president for development and public relations at Andrews.

LEGAL NOTICES

ORDINANCE NO. 57

AN ORDINANCE REGULATING THE RUNNING AT LARGE OF DOGS, PROVIDING FOR THE REMOVAL OF SUCH DOGS AND PENALTIES TO THE OWNERS THEREOF.

THE VILLAGE OF OVID ORDAINS:

Section 1. It shall be unlawful for the owner of any female dog to permit said dog to go beyond the premises of the owner when she is in heat, unless such female dog is held properly in leash.

Section 2. It shall be unlawful for the owner of any dog to permit said dog to go beyond the premises of said owner, when said dog is known to be of an ugly disposition or has shown a tendency to destroy property or habitually trespass in a damaging way on the property of others, unless said dog is held properly in leash.

Section 3. It shall be unlawful for any owner to allow any dog to stray beyond his premises unless under reasonable control of some person or accompanied by his owner or custodian.

Section 4. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to own, keep, possess, or have charge of any dog which by loud and frequent barking, howling or yelping becomes a nuisance in the neighborhood in which said dog is kept.

Section 5. It shall be lawful for any person and shall be the duty of each and every police officer of the Village of Ovid or the County of Clinton Dog Warden to seize and deliver unto the County Dog Warden, any dog running at large in violation of Sections 1, 2 or 3 of this ordinance.

Section 6. The Clinton County Dog Warden shall pick up all dogs under the provisions of this Ordinance and shall serve notice in writing upon the owner or owners of such dog, if such owner be known. Any dog so impounded may be redeemed by the owner within five (5) days of the receipt of said dog by the County Dog Warden or the date of said notice upon the payment of $5.00 impounding fee and the further sum of One ($1.00) Dollar for each day or part of day such dog is in the custody of the County Dog Warden. If not so claimed, such dog shall be disposed of as directed by the County Dog Warden.

Section 7. On the written and sworn complaint to any District Judge of the County of Clinton on a violation of this Ordinance, said Judge shall issue a summons to the person, firm or corporation, owning, possessing, harboring or having charge of said dog, to appear and show cause before the District Court why said dog shall not be killed. Said summons and hearing shall follow the procedures of the Dog Law of the State of Michigan concerning dogs found worrying livestock or killing sheep. Upon such hearing, the District Judge may order the dog killed or confined upon the premises of the owner or custodian or otherwise disposed of.

Section 8. Any person violating Sections 1 through 4 of this Ordinance or refusing to comply with the Order of the District Judge, after a hearing under Section 7, shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by a fine not to exceed one hundred ($100.00) Dollars plus costs, or by imprisonment in the County Jail for a period not to exceed ninety (90) days or by both said fine and imprisonment.

Section 9. This Ordinance shall not be construed to conflict with or abridge any effective law or statute of the State of Michigan.

Section 10. This Ordinance shall take effect twenty (20) days after passage.

PASSED, ORDAINED AND ORDERED PUBLISHED BY THE VILLAGE OF OVID COUNCIL AT A REGULAR MEETING HELD AUGUST 3, 1970.

GEORGE CRAIG, Village President.

ATTEST: KATHERINE HUSS, Village Clerk.

I, Katherine Huss, Village Clerk, do hereby certify that the above ordinance was published in the Clinton County News on the 12th day of August, 1970.

KATHERINE HUSS, Village Clerk.

which shall be a reasonable time but not to exceed thirty (30) days from the time the notice is served. Such notice shall be delivered either to the party responsible by certified mail or be delivered directly to the person responsible by the Administrative Director to his agent.

Section 10. EMERGENCY ABATEMENT. In cases where it appears there is immediate danger to the life or safety of any person unless a nuisance is abated, the Mayor shall call a special session of the City Council and if a majority of the members present agree that there is an immediate danger to the life or safety of a person or persons, the Administrative Director shall cause immediate abatement of such nuisance.

Section 11. EXPENSES INCURRED BY CITY TO CONSTITUTE LIEN AGAINST PROPERTY. The cost of such abatement, plus ten per cent (10%) for supervision, administration and overhead shall become a debt to the city from the persons to whom they are assessed, and the amount assessed, together with all charges thereon, if unpaid for a period of sixty (60) days, shall, on the 1st day of May following, become a lien on the property assessed of the same character and effect as the lien created by general law for state and county taxes, until paid.

Section 12. FURTHER ABATEMENT PROCEDURES. Any action by the city to abate a nuisance shall not affect the right of the city to institute proceedings against the person committing, creating or maintaining any nuisance for violation of this ordinance nor affect the imposition of the penalties prescribed in Section 13.

Section 13. PENALTY. Unless another penalty is expressly provided by this ordinance for any particular provision or section, every person convicted of a violation of any provision of this ordinance or any rule or regulation adopted or issued in pursuance thereof, shall be punished by a fine not more than one hundred dollars ($100.00) and costs of prosecution or by imprisonment for not more than ninety (90) days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Each act of violation and each day upon which any violation shall occur, shall constitute a separate offense. The penalty provided by this section, unless another penalty is expressly provided, shall apply to the amendment of any section of this ordinance whether or not such penalty is reenacted in the amendatory ordinance.

Section 14. SEPARABILITY. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause, phrase or portion of this ordinance is for any reason held invalid or unconstitutional by any court of competent jurisdiction, such portion shall be deemed a separate, distinct and independent provision and such holding shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions hereof.

Section 15. ORDINANCES REPEALED. All ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict with the provisions of this ordinance are hereby repealed.

This ordinance shall become effective on the date of publication, August 12, 1970.

DOROTHY KECK, DeWitt City Clerk.

ORDINANCE NO. 58

CITY OF DEWITT CLINTON COUNTY, MICHIGAN NUISANCE ORDINANCE

An Ordinance prohibiting public nuisances in the City of DeWitt; Providing methods of procedure for abatement; Providing a Lien for City collection of nuisance; and Prescribing penalties for violation of its provisions.

THE CITY OF DEWITT ORDAINS:

Section 1. NUISANCE DEFINED AND PROHIBITED. Whatever annoys, injures or endangers the safety, health, comfort or repose of the public; offends public decency; interferes with, obstructs or renders dangerous any street, highway, navigable lake or stream; or in any way renders the public insecure in life or property, is hereby declared to be a public nuisance. Public nuisances shall include, but not be limited to, whatever is forbidden by any provision of this Ordinance. No person shall commit, create, or maintain any public nuisance.

Section 2. DANGEROUS STRUCTURES. No person shall maintain any structure which is unsafe or which is a menace to health, morals or safety of the public.

Section 3. DANGEROUS STRUCTURES—NOTICE AND HEARING. The City Council may, after notice to the owner and after holding a public hearing thereon, condemn such structure by giving notice to the owner of the land upon which said structure is located, specifying in what respects said structure is a public nuisance and requiring said owner to alter, repair, tear down or remove the same within such reasonable time, not exceeding sixty (60) days, as may be necessary to do or have done the work required by said notice. Said notice may also provide a reasonable time within which such work shall be commenced.

Section 4. DANGEROUS STRUCTURES—ABATEMENT. If, at the expiration of any time limit in said notice, the owner has not complied with the requirements thereof, the Administrative Director shall carry out the requirements of said notice. The cost of such abatement shall be charges against the premises and the owner thereof.

Section 5. DANGEROUS STRUCTURE—EMERGENCY ABATEMENT. The Administrative Director may abate any such public nuisance, if the public safety requires immediate action without preliminary order of the City Council. Thereafter the cost of abating such nuisance shall be charges against the premises and the owner thereof.

Section 6. NUISANCES PER SE. The following acts, services, apparatus and structures are hereby declared to be public nuisances:

(a) The maintenance of any pond or pool or vessel holding stagnant water.

(b) The throwing, placing, depositing or leaving in any public place, street, highway, alley or sidewalk, or in any private place of premises where such throwing, placing, depositing or leaving is dangerous or detrimental to public health or likely to cause illness or injury to persons, or to animals, or by any person, firm or corporation of any animal or vegetable substance, refuse, rubbish, dirt, excrement, unclean fluids, garbage, or any other offensive article or substance whatever.

(c) The pollution of any lake, stream or body of water, either directly or by dumping or permitting to be deposited, on any adjacent public or private property, any refuse, foul or noxious liquid, industrial waste; or Shirleyn Lake, Bernita Sillman, Connie Lundy, Shirley Farrier and Susan Reed, members of the bank's activities committee were in charge of the arrangements.

MRS. DUANE J. AUSTIN

Linda Oberlin bride of Duane Austin

Linda Lea Oberlin became the bride of Duane J. Austin Saturday, July 25 at 2 p.m. in the United Methodist Church of Carland. Rev. Horace Freeman performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with an arrangement of white mums and gladioli.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. J. Allan Oberlin of 4120 Carland Road, Carland and the late Mr. Oberlin. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Austin of 3890 Brown Road, Durand.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, M. B. Singer of Urbana, Ill., and chose a gown of re-embroidered lace featuring a full-length skirt softly gathered to the bodice, a rounded scalloped neckline and long balloon sleeves attached to a deep cuff. A petal cluster edged with seed pearls secured her waist-length French illusion veil and she carried a colonial bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses and white daisies. The bride and her mother designed and made her gown.

Mrs. Robert Cebulski was matron of honor and was assisted by bridesmaid, Carolyn Lindeaur and Angela Howard, flower girl. The attendants wore yellow street-length dresses of dotted swiss featuring a high waistline, accented with matching satin ribbon. Their headpieces were white lace garden hats and they carried colonial bouquets of yellow and white daisies.

Brother of the groom, Gerry Austin was best man and serving as groomsman was Dale Austin, also a brother of the groom. Seating the guests were Jack Lauback and Kenneth Godley.

The couple greeted 200 guests at the reception held on the lawn of the bride's home following the ceremony.

For her wedding trip to Northern Michigan the new Mrs. Austin chose a blue print dress for travel. A corsage of sweetheart roses from her bouquet completed her attire.

Upon return the couple will reside at 6748 Buck Road, Elsie. The bride is a 1969 graduate of Ovid-Elsie High School and the groom attended Ovid schools, graduating while in the service.

Bonita Hallead weds Roger Matthies

The United Methodist Church of Ovid was the scene of the Saturday, Aug. 8 wedding ceremony uniting Bonita Marie Hallead and Roger Alan Matthies in marriage. Rev. Joseph DIT-berio performed the 8 p.m. double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with baskets of blue pompom mums, accented with blue glitter and blue and apricot daisies and carnations.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Hallead of 305 West High Street, Ovid and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Matthies of 300 West First Street, Ovid.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Tiers of ruffles, accented with sequins formed the short train of the bride's all-lace gown. The full-skirted gown featured a square neckline with tiny scallops and a long tapered lace sleeves which came to points at the wrist. A crystal necklace and matching earrings completed her attire. Her chapel-length veil of illusion was secured in place by a two-tier crown trimmed with crystals and pearls and she carried a cascade arrangement of red roses, white carnations, garnished with ivy.

Mrs. Terry Hallead of Oxford, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor and serving as bridesmaids were Jeanne Tody of East Lansing, Jacquelyn Moore of Elsie, and Carol Barthel of Ovid, all friends of the bride. The attendants, each carrying hurricane lamps with blue candles and trimmed with yellow roses and blue carnations, wore floor-length gowns of chiffon over taffeta featuring embroidered flowers trimming the chiffon back panel and bell sleeves. They wore floor-length floral headpieces matching their gowns. The matron of honor was in apricot, while the other bridesmaids wore blue.

William Matthies of Owosso, cousin of the groom, served as best man and was assisted by groomsmen, Terry Hallead of Oxford, brother of the bride, Jerry Yerrick of Lansing, friend of the groom and Michael Thompson, Ithaca, cousin of the groom. Ushers were Lynn Cook of Lansing, cousin of the bride, Jay Hallead of St. Johns, cousin of the bride, Erick Richards of St. Johns, cousin of the groom and Richard Thompson of Perrinton, cousin of the groom.

The couple greeted 400 guests following the ceremony at the reception which was held at Pine's Restaurant in Owosso. Mrs. Richard Thomson and Donald Thayer served as host and hostess.

Special guests at the wedding and reception were Mr. and Mrs. John Hallead of Bannister, grandparents of the bride, and Lawrence Richards of Owosso, grandfather of the groom.

The new Mrs. Matthies chose a light mint green knit dress and beige accessories for travel on their wedding trip to California and the Western States. A corsage of baby pink roses and white carnations, accented her attire.

After Sept. 1 the couple will make their home at 1614 Cambria Drive, East Lansing.

The bride is a 1967 graduate of Ovid-Elsie High School, and a senior at Michigan State University, majoring in special education. The groom is a 1964 graduate of Ovid-Elsie High School and is also a senior at MSU, majoring in social sciences.

MR AND MRS CHARLES LAPEER

Patricia Geller bride of Charles LaPeer

Patricia M. Geller became the bride of Charles F. LaPeer Saturday, July 11 in St. Joseph Catholic Church. Rev. William Hanker performed the double ring 1 p.m. ceremony before an altar decorated with light blue mums.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Theresa Geller of 809 South Clinton Ave., St. Johns and the late Jerome Geller and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David LaPeer of 501 North Lansing Street, St. Johns.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother and chose a princess-style gown of silk organza featuring clipped Chantilly lace over a redingote, long sleeves and high neckline. Her chapel-length mantilla of imported silver illusion was completely edged with Chantilly lace and she carried a bouquet of white mums and red sweetheart roses styled in a cross.

Charlotte Jolly, friend of the bride, was maid of honor and assisting as bridesmaids were Susan Fineout, sister of the bride, and Kristina Denovich, friend of the bride, Debra Geller, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. The attendants wore light blue dotted swiss gowns featuring an empire-style waistline, accented by a large bow in the back. They carried a single red rose.

John Jolly, friend of the groom, was best man and serving as groomsmen were Dale Ladisky, brother-in-law of the groom, William LaPeer, brother of the groom, and Jeff Schaub, cousin of the groom. Ushers were Billy Jolly and Ross Masarik.

The couple greeted 300 guests at the 6 p.m. reception which was held in the VFW Hall in St. Johns.

Special guests at the wedding and reception were Sherman LaPeer, grandfather of the groom, Mrs. Caroline Geller and Mrs. Sylvia Des Roches, both grandmothers of the bride and the bride's aunt, Mrs. Ella Mailhot.

Following their wedding trip to Canada the new Mr. and Mrs. LaPeer will reside at 308 East State Street, St. Johns.

The bride is a 1970 graduate of St. Johns High School and the groom is employed by Oldsmobile.

Neva Keys: unofficial Elsie record keeper

By ANNETTE WHITE, News Society Editor

If you want to know anything that has happened in Elsie for the past 35 years just ask Neva Keys. If she can't remember it she can probably go to one of her many file books and find it for you.

Mrs. Keys is one of the several correspondents for the Clinton County News and covers the Ovid-Elsie areas. She wrote her first copy for the then Republican News on Dec. 12, 1935 and has kept an interesting back log of copy about her town ever since.

"The first write-up that I did for the paper I rewrote several times" says Mrs. Keys "mainly because I hadn't done it before." Now she not only writes for this newspaper but others. In 1961 her works were featured in a six-page article which appeared in an issue of "Folks," a nationally circulated magazine among rural newspaper writers. The editor of "Folks" paid tribute to her for the fine job that she had done to help make her community proud of itself.

Earlier in 1961, another tribute was paid to Mrs. Keys at a dinner given by the Commercial Club in Elsie. At the dinner she was presented a plaque and honored for her outstanding service to the community of Elsie and her promotion of the town through the news media.

Mrs. Keys and her husband, Sidney, own and operate the Keys Gulf Service station in Elsie and even though she works seven days a week with her husband in the office as a book-keeper she still finds time to send in her weekly news items for her area.

"I sure would hate to see a time when I couldn't write something for the paper," says Mrs. Keys.

Mrs. Keys' great-grandfather, William F. Scott, wrote for this paper, then named the Clinton County Republican, back in the 1880's under the heading "Notes from Duplain Hills." Her mother, Mrs. Arthur Mulder, was a correspondent from the Ovid area for many years.

Mrs. Keys is a former rural school teacher and the mother

Red Cross prepares early for Christmas

While Christmas may still be a few months off, the Red Cross is already making preparations for the holiday by coordinating the shop early program. They will provide bulk packing and mailing service to ship 500,000 individual gift bags to American servicemen in South Vietnam. In our own area, the Mid-Michigan Chapter will be preparing 500 bags and they need your help.

According to Mrs. Edward Prowant the annual "Ditty Bag" project needs contributions of gift items. The denim bags are in the process of being sewn by area church groups and service organizations.

Any businesses, private individuals or organizations wishing to provide items for the Christmas bags may contact the Red Cross Center in Lansing or Mrs. Edward Prowant, St. Johns. Mrs. Prowant may be reached by dialing 224-4438.

Suggested contents of gift bags are ballpoint pens, pen-sized flashlights with batteries, small pen knives, windproof cigarette lighters with flints, plastic soap case, small packages of writing paper with self-seal envelopes, small address book, plastic toothbrush holder, terry cloth washcloth (other than red or white), nail clipper, plastic cigarette case, comb, adhesive bandages (1" x 3"), C2 batteries for transistor radios, stainless steel mirrors, can opener (collapsible), mailing-size voice tapes (reels of 3" tape—15' long, small tins of nuts or non-melting candies—vacuum packed, wipe and shine—packet black shoe polish, pocket games such as playing cards, chess, pinochle, yo-yos, pocket calendars, wash and dries, premoistened towels, soap holders (suction type), white cotton socks, skillet popcorn, pencil sharpener, pencils, small plastic snapshot holders.

At least eight of these items or comparable items, should be included in each gift bag. All donors are encouraged to include their name and address in the bags they fill so the servicemen may respond when they receive a gift bag.

Donations of paper and ribbon are also needed. With the hope of making Christmas seem a little more real to our men serving in Vietnam, a part of the gifts will be wrapped in Christmas paper and ribbon before they are put into the bags.

The items donated for filling the bags must be new, but advertising items are most welcome. Do not include gifts in breakable containers, food packed in non-vacuum containers, medications, alcoholic beverages or religious materials.

The ditty bag project is conducted on a nation-wide basis. There are no servicemen's names on the bags, they go to every American in South Vietnam at Christmas time. Clinton County men may receive their gift bag from any of the other 50 states and the bags packed in this area may go to men whose home state is far removed from Michigan.

DORIS PROWANT, American Red Cross,

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our baby and little Sissy, Jana Renee Shay, who passed away one year ago, August 18. Do not stand at my grave and weep. I am not there. I do not sleep. I am a thousand winds that blow, I am the diamond glints of snow, I am the sunlight on ripened grain, I am the gentle autumn rain. When you awake in the morning's hush, I am the swift upflinging rush, Of quiet birds in circling flight, I am the soft star-shine at night. Do not stand at my grave and cry. I am not there. I did not die. Deeply missed by your family - Daddy, Mommy, brother. 15-1p

Business notes

By MIKE PREVILLE
News Advertising Manager

The County News is sponsoring a fall promotion called "Bazaar of Values." You'll read the first edition in next week's paper. Be sure and read it. . . you'll find a section full of special values and bargains. In connection with this promotion the News gave a dinner at the Pines in Owosso for the participating merchants. After the meal (we went off our diet again, Stew) Guy Painter, gave an informative and entertaining talk with emphasis on how merchants can better serve customers and their needs. So as a customer, you'll find exceptional values and a retail sales force that might better be called a service force.

Kurt's is celebrating their fifth anniversary but after looking over their ad, it's their customers who have reason to celebrate. And Kurt's is having a drawing again. And we're going to register again. About 150 times. But don't worry, the last time we won anything was a live chicken at a Bingo parlor in the U.S.

The 12 St. Johns Little League teams are pictured on page A-7. The County News along with a lot of other merchants helped sponsor the league this year. And as our way of saying Thanks to the League and the merchants who helped sponsor the League and the pictures we are setting aside a portion of the revenue from the page for the Little League.

Summer is almost over but we're finally getting into shape. We love to snorkel. . . but until this past weekend we have had trouble holding our breath for any amount of time. We've chased turtles to the bottom of Loon Lake but couldn't stay down long enough to catch them. And when we surface we guess it's a sight to behold, Big Mama calls us Moby Dick, what with the explosion of water from the snorkle.

Anyway, we're back in shape, there's an embarrassed young lady somewhere and Big Mama isn't speaking to us. What happened is this. We were snorkeling. We hyperventilated. We submerged. We chased a turtle. We felt the need to breathe. We started to surface. Now, on the surface directly above us was a bikini clad young lady sitting in an inner-tube. We collided, she screamed, we beat it for the bottom and sat there for at least two hours knowing full well any attempted explanation to the Big M would be futile. And we had cause to worry, for the Big M had taken in the whole scene. So, knowing we were not about to come in, she waded out and poured water down our snorkel. That woman is all heart.

Clinton County bowlers can start practicing soon. Both Redwing Lanes and the Fowler Bowl are open. And, we might add, you'll want to practice lots. . . this year the County News will honor the Clinton County Bowler of the Week. . . and even award a snazzy patch.

Jerry Vincent, IGA supervisor for Central Michigan, presents Rick Anderson of Andy's IGA an award for the IGA Clean-up Campaign Seal of Approval of 1970. This marks the 11th year Andy's IGA has received this award.

Rick Anderson, owner of Andy's IGA, presents Alan Bohil with a scholarship for Food Marketing Management. He will attend Michigan State University.

St. Johns High FFA chapter wins Brown trophy again

By TIM YOUNKMAN
News Staff Writer

The St. Johns High School chapter of the Future Farmers of America (FFA) walked away with the George A. Brown Memorial Trophy for the second straight year Aug. 4 for its first place showing in the FFA Market Livestock Program held at the Wolverine Stockyards.

The St. Johns group topped 34 other chapters in the competition, based on point value of weight and quality, with 631 points, more than double the score of second-place Ovid-Elsie, 265.

The other top spots went to Merrill, 211, Corunna, 203, Ithaca, 84 and Hemlock, 82.

Following the FFA "feed-to-market" style of regular marketing procedure the livestock was sold by market grades.

The 163 beef animals grossed

$44,852.70, with a total weight of 155,435 pounds, averaging 954 pounds per head.

The high beef animals included a 1,010-pound steer consigned by Scott Wing of St. Johns which was purchased by Peet Packing Company of Bay City at $31.50 per hundredweight.

Jim Harie of St. Johns presented a 1,150-pound steer, purchased by Mulder Packing Company of Shepherd at the $31.50 figure.

Jack Woodhams of St. Johns was offered $31.35 per hundredweight for his 975-pound steer by VanAistine Beef of East Lansing.

Top swine prices included a pen of ten averaging 205 pounds consigned by Tod Goetz of Blissfield, purchased by Utica Packing Company at $25 and a pen of ten produced by Joe Varger of Hastings, averaging 204 pounds and bought by Alexander Livestock of Three Rivers.

The total sale's price range averaged, per hundredweight, $30.56 for prime, $28.84 for choice, $28.55 for good and $25.36 for standard.

The 392 swine totaled 83,285 pounds, averaging—$23.57—per hundredweight, and 212 pounds per head. Gross sales amounted to $19,632.99.

The 21 lambs weighed 1,870 pounds and were sold for $544.28.

Two prime lambs averaging 105 pounds were produced by Joy Lee of Laingsburg and purchased by Wolverine Packing Company of Detroit for $30.75.

Over 200 students, parents and teachers attended the event representing 35 FFA districts in Michigan.

The revolving trophy will be displayed at the St. Johns High School.

4-H Chatter

It's 4-H Fair time again

By JOHN AYLSWORTH

Clinton County's Annual 4-H Club Fair will be held on August 17-19 at the city park in St. Johns. There will be 2967 exhibits on display that the 4-H youth have either made, raised or cared for this past year.

The number of project entries by major areas include 437 clothing, 395 foods, 217 knitting, 140 western horse, 60 english horses and ponies, 84 dairy cattle, 225 vegetables, 204 flowers, 61 beef cattle, 145 wood-working, 125 cultural arts, 82 conservation, 60 crops, 74 rabbits, 42 photography, 33 entomology, 57 tractor and many more miscellaneous projects from sheep to litter barrels and floats.

There is something of interest for everyone from the adults to the little children. There is no midway as this is the Fair for the youth to exhibit their accomplishments for all people to see.

The public is invited to see the many exhibits of the 1500 4-H members throughout the county. They will be able to see the accomplishments, compare with others and secure some ideas of items they might make for themselves. There is no charge for admission.

The projects will be judged by qualified adult resource people and given an A, B or C grade according to the standards the judges have set. The top winners in many of the project areas will be selected to represent the County at the State 4-H Youth

Exploration Days program at Michigan State University, Aug. 25-28.

Some changes in the Fair this year include the projects being registered at an earlier time and more judging done on Monday and Wednesday. Physical improvements to the fairgrounds will help a lot including a new wash rack for livestock and horse, dressing rooms and new lighting in the quonset, improved loading dock, concrete slab in the beef barn for hogs and new tie stalls for beef cattle.

Beside the judging the public would enjoy the pony pulling contest on Monday evening, the 4-H horse fun show on Tuesday evening, livestock sale on Wednesday as well as the livestock and float parade, awards program, style revue and talent acts on Wednesday evening.

We hope to see you at the County 4-H Fair Aug. 17-19. This is the time to visit with your neighbors and see nearly 3000 exhibits by the 4-H'ers.

The County 4-H Demonstration Contest was held Wednesday at Smith Hall in St. Johns with nine demonstrations selected to represent the county at the State 4-H Youth Exploration Days program - Aug. 25-28 at Michigan State University. The senior division winners were: Randy Davis, Olive 4-H Projects in electrical; Kathy Davis, Olive 4-H Projects in Arts and Crafts; Ron Whitefield, Olive 4-H Projects in flower arrangement; Harry Moldenhauer, Nimble Fingers in entomology; Lori McQueen, Nimble Fingers in Personal Appearance; Steve VanVleet of Kountry Cousins on Photography and Debbie and Vickie Thelen, Bengal Community in Foods. The Junior division winners were Earl Flegler, Charlie's Gang in Vegetables; and Karen Goetze, Nimble Fingers in Foods. Our congratulations go to these members who gave outstanding demonstrations at the county contest.

O-E FFA chapter represents Michigan

The Ovid-Elsie, Cassopolis and Corunna FFA Chapters represented Michigan in the 1970 National FFA Chapter Award Program, it was announced Tuesday (July 28) by Clifford G. Haslick of the Michigan Department of Education, acting state FFA advisor.

The Michigan Outstanding Chapter Award plaques were presented to top-ranking chapters at the 51st annual Conference for Teachers of Vocational Agriculture July 28-31 at Michigan State University.

Ratings are based on overall activities of chapters and the degree of success they have had in carrying out the objectives of vitalizing the instruction in vocational agriculture and the development of agricultural leadership, citizenship and cooperation. Fifty-five of Michigan's 178 schools received gold or silver awards.

Schools receiving gold awards were Alpena, Bay City Handy, Bellevue, Britton, Brown City, Cassopolis, Chesaning, Clinton, Coopersville, Corunna, Dowagiac, Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port, Hastings, Hemlock, Imlay City, Ionia, Jonesville, Lakeshore (Stevensville), Lakewood (Lake Odessa), Marshall, Montague, Ovid-Elsie, Perry, Ravenna, Rudyard, Sandusky and Williamston.

Silver awards went to Bay City Central, Byron, Centreville, Charlotte, Deckerville, Fulton (Middleton), Goodrich, Homer, Hopkins, Laingsburg, Lakeview, Leslie, Litchfield, Marlette, Mayville, Morenci, Niles, Olivet, Owosso, Port Hope, Reese, Remus (Chippewa Hills), Rockford, Saline, South Lyon, Sparta, Utby and Webberville.

VACATION CHURCH SCHOOL HELD

The Shepardsville United Methodist Church completed a very successful vacation Church School. The school was planned by Mrs. Jerald Davis, Mrs. Marian Walker and Mrs. Allen Personius. It was the first time any of them had planned a school. They had all helped in previous schools as teachers and helpers. There were five different divisions: nursery was in charge of Mrs. Marian Walker, Mrs. John Spencer and Kathy Harmon; kindergarten, Mrs. Jerald Davis and Mrs. Russell Kiosk; first and second grade, Mrs. Charles Swender and Donna Hettinger; third and fourth grades, Mrs. Albert Pellow, Mrs. Victor Higgins and Linda Squiers; fifth and sixth grades, Mrs. Cyril Hibbard and Mrs. Thomas Pollard. Music was in charge of Don Temple and Mrs. Allen Personius.

Other helpers in various capacities were Mrs. Gary Sage, Mrs. Charles Walker, Mrs. Robert Henderson and Mrs. Karl Smith. The average attendance was 40 and many of the youngsters had perfect attendance. The closing program was held on Sunday evening, with an open house from 7 to 8 p.m. Attendance certificates were presented during the evening.

Tired, sunburnt, wet but happy from a weekend of canoeing were 34 Clinton County 4-H Teen Leaders and adults who spent Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 1 and 2 canoeing over 35 miles of the AuSable river near Grayling. The water was warm so all the group tipped their canoes sometime either by accident or others with a little help. The weekend was perfect for the trip and everyone had an enjoyable time. The group is making plans to explore new canoeing rivers for next summer's trip.

The County 4-H Gun Shoot Contest will be held on Saturday, August 15 at the gravel pit on Colony road just east of Hollister road, starting at 1:30 p.m. Each club may send as many members as they wish to send to compete in the contest. The top boy and top girl in the 14-15 year old division and 16 and over division will have the opportunity to represent the county in the State Contest later in August.

The 4-H Wonders members are making final plans for the Fair in checking out time of the project registration and judging. Demonstrations were given by Tim Knaus, John Karlick, Kevin Knaus, Brian Lintemuth, Ann Graham, and Jeff Cox.

The Elsie 4-Corners invited the Green Clover 4-H club from Bannister and the Spring Valley 4-H Club of Ovid to be their guests for a swimming party at the Ovid-Elsie high school followed by recreation and a pot-luck supper at the colony park. During the club's business meeting the litter barrel and float committees reported on their progress and members reported whether their projects were completed for the Fair. The members voted to paint the tables and fence at the park in return for the club using the facilities. The fathers of the members led the group in singing. I understand from the news reporter the youthful song leaders found out how song leading is done right.

Drop in - or out

Men and women students marched through the heart of the Central Michigan University campus at Mt. Pleasant recently. There were nearly 200 of them.

Heading up the march was the American flag. It was upright, of all things. Surprised bystanders smiled. The marchers were high school students.

The rural-urban group, from nearly every county in the state, was adjusting to a last minute classroom change during a week-long Citizenship Seminar on campus in late July and the mini-march seemed like a good idea.

Citizenship for a lot of folks is a vague subject, or has been; something people used to talk about. But young adults are seriously faced with this issue about the rights, privileges and responsibilities they have in the American system. Involved are decisions only they can make; to drop in or drop out. The Seminar presented avenues where youth can get involved and employ its energy.

Top men in their fields talked; a world traveler and philosopher; a natural scientist and biblical expert; a psychologist; an economist; agricultural experts and a college president.

A few thought provokers were: Whoever heard of a riot for peace? If America dies, it will die of silence. The atomic bomb is our greatest guarantee for peace. In our generation 86 countries achieved independence, unmatched in the 6,000 years of man. All people are divided by attitude; the cans and the can'ts. Support your beliefs in the political party of your choice.

Knitting the daily sessions together was student involvement in the American political process; primaries, conventions, campaigning and elections under the two party system. Both parties dueling to win the other's vote and that of the silent majority, a pre-designated group of non-participants. Sound familiar?

Love of country is to be saluted if kept in perspective. History shows the damage extremists can render. To combat any such one-sidedness, the Seminar presented multiple aspects of an issue. Capitalism, socialism and communism were all discussed in relation to the degree of personal freedom and economic well-being available to man.

Our youths are tomorrow's leaders. This seed farmers planted through their county Farm Bureaus, it is hoped, will bear fruit. Let's look for a bountiful harvest.

Co-operate venture

Project Interchange is a cooperative venture between the Job Corps and public schools under which public school teachers spend between two months and a year teaching and learning in Job Corps centers. They then return to their home districts to put into practice the new methods of teaching and dealing with disadvantaged students that they learned while at the Job Corps centers. Nearly 400 teachers from 270 school districts have participated.

4-H'ERS VISIT CONGRESSMAN

These Clinton County 4-H members last month attended the National 4-H citizen short course in Washington, D.C. where they also visited with U.S. Rep. Garry Brown. They are, from left, Kam Washburn, St. Johns; William Parker, Ovid; Patty DeMarco, Eagle; Mrs. George Hazle, chaparrone, St. Johns; JoAnn Kanaski, St. Johns; James McQueen, St. Johns, and Brown.

Green Meadow Farm earns 'E' designation for 9 Holsteins

Duane and Velmar Green, Green Meadow Farm, Elsie, have been notified by Holstein-Friesian Association of America that nine Registered Holstein cows in their herd have received an "E" designation for body type conformation.

On the basis of their again being classified "Excellent", Green Meadow's Memorie 525-8918; Dora Meadowlane 5396810; Alta Elbdon 5813716; Athlone Gracious Amity 5884720; Phelida Hi Hope Pride 5900720; Forest Lily Pond Portia 6388357; Sunny Spruce Shamrock Gayle 6434893 and Laura Rosafé Rag Apple 677-1157 have been awarded 2E designation and Marina Peet Lodge Reflection 5213127 has been awarded 3E designation.

This phase of the Holstein Association's herd improvement service provides special recognition for "Excellent" cows that continue to score "Excellent" as they grow older. A cow may be designated 2, 3, or 4E according to her history of previous "Excellent" classifications within specified age brackets.

"Dora" who has a lifetime production of 118,910 pounds of milk and 4,425 pounds of butterfat in 2,612 days, started her highest production record at the age of eight years, four months. This record totalled 20,610 pounds of milk and 768 pounds of butterfat in 365 days. "Gayle" has a record made as a three-year-old of 20,050 pounds of milk and 722 pounds of butterfat in 305 days, and "Phelida" has a record made as a four-year-old of 20,040 pounds of milk and 804 pounds of butterfat in 365 days. All were in the Dairy Herd Improvement Registry program.

Among the 87,200 Registered Holsteins scored for two type last year, less than two per cent attained "Excellent" status. Thus, the achievement of multiple "E" designation makes the individual cow a more valuable asset for herd improvement purposes in the dairyman's breeding program.

Bean Field Day set for Huron, Aug. 26

Demonstration plots, harvesting machines and herbicide-fertilizer displays highlight State Bean Field Day, Aug. 26 in Huron County.

This year's Bean Field Day will be held at the Orville Gremel Farm, 5 1/2 miles east and two miles south of Sebewaing, at the corner of Risky and McAlpin Roads.

The tour of the demonstration plot area, beginning at 9:30 a.m. will include research on date and rate of planting, weed and disease control, fertilizers, seed treatment and damaged v.s. undamaged seed.

New varieties, including a bush cranberry-colored bean, will also be discussed.

In the afternoon, various makes of pullers, windrowers and harvesters will be used to harvest beans planted May 19 on the Gremel farm. Bean-raising machinery, fertilizers and chemicals will also be displayed.

A noon program will feature Paul McKrell of the H. J. Heinz Co., who will discuss the importance of mechanical damage to the bean industry.

Prices received index up one point in Michigan

The Index of Prices received by Michigan farmers on July 15, was 277 per cent of the 1910-14 average, according to the Michigan Crop Reporting Service.

This was an increase of one point (one third per cent) from the mid-June level.

Higher prices for eggs accounted for most of the increase. The mid-July Index was up seven points (2.6 per cent) from July 15, 1969.

Prices of wholesale milk, calves, corn, wheat, oats and soybeans were higher than a year previous while prices of dry beans, eggs and hogs were lower.

The price of all dry beans averaged $6.70 as of mid-July, the lowest for this month since the $5.90 average for July 1965. Soybean prices advanced sharply from $2.52 in mid-May to $2.73 in mid-July.

This is the highest July price since 1966 when soybeans averaged $3.34 per bushel.

Beef cattle prices averaged $26.30 in mid-July the highest for this month since 1952 when the average was also $26.30. During the month ended July 15, the U.S. Index of Prices received by farmers advanced five points (two per cent) to 286 per cent of its 1910-14 average.

Contributing most to the increase were higher prices for eggs, potatoes, milk, and hogs. Lower prices for commercial vegetables, cattle, and calves were partially offsetting.

The index was one and one half per cent below the five year high in February 1970, but two per cent above July 1969.

The Index of Prices paid by farmers for commodities and services, interest, taxes and farm wage rates at 389 was one point (one-fourth per cent) below the record high 390 of a month earlier.

The index was 15 points (four per cent) above July 1969.

With higher prices received for farm products, but slightly lower prices paid by farmers, both the preliminary Adjusted Parity Ratio, at 79, and the Parity Ratio, at 74, were up two points.

Egg prices advanced for the second consecutive month, leading the poultry and egg index to a 12 per cent increase from June to 148 (1910-14-100). Broiler prices also were higher, but turkey prices declined.

Egg prices averaged 36.7 cents per dozen in mid-July, 20 per cent above a month earlier, but three per cent below mid-July 1969. The average June to July change is an increase of eight per cent. The index was nine per cent below July 1969.

The mid-July index of prices received for commercial vegetables declined eight per cent from a month earlier to 290.

Contributing most to the decline were lower prices for cantaloupes, cabbage, lettuce, and tomatos. Partially offsetting were higher prices for onions and celery.

Compared with July 1969 the index was up four per cent.

State Crop Report

By MICHIGAN CROP REPORTING SERVICE WEEK ENDING AUG. 1

Small grain harvest and other field work was further delayed by rains and wet fields. Most crops continue to make a good growth.

Soil moisture supplies ranged from short to adequate in the Upper Peninsula and Northwestern lower Peninsula to adequate to surplus in the remainder of the Lower Peninsula.

The State averaged 3.7 days suitable for field work.

Rains and wet fields have delayed wheat harvest to the extent that the percent harvested is less than usual, but ahead of the unusually late 1969 harvest. About 70 percent of the crop was harvested by Aug. 1 compared to 30 percent last year and the usual amount of 75 percent.

Considerable sprouting of wheat has occurred in the southeastern and southcentral counties. The progress of oat harvest is also less than normal, but ahead of the unusually late season last year. Less than 10 percent of the oat acreage has been harvested by Aug. 1. The usual amount is 20 percent.

Corn continues to make an excellent growth. About 60 percent of the acreage has silked.

Soybeans continue to develop well on well drained land, but some fields show damage from water standing in low spots. Many dry bean fields have poor stands because of flooding from rains of previous weeks. Locally heavy rains caused some additional damage to beans in the past week.

A few sugar beets have a yellowish color because of excessive soil moisture. However, sugar beets on well drained land have made a good growth. Potato development is generally good to excellent. About 10 percent of the bay county acreage has been dug. Wet fields have slowed digging.

Rains continue to hinder hay making. About one-third of the second cutting has been made. Pastures continue to supply average to above average amounts of feed in most of the Lower Peninsula but pasture feed supplies are less than average in much of the Upper Peninsula.

The growth of most vegetables continues good to excellent. The harvest of an excellent pickle crop is about 20 percent complete.

Over 20 percent of the sweet corn acreage has been harvested. About 10 percent of the Berrien county fresh market tomato crop is harvested. The harvest of fresh market vegetables in the Detroit area is near its peak.

The tart cherry harvest varies from 50 to 75 percent complete in the Northwest Lower Peninsula, but is finished in the west central counties. Fall and winter apples continue to size very well. Picking of summer apples and early peaches continues in the Southwest.

Best cucumbers

Michigan State University has produced five cucumber hybrids for home gardens; Spartan Dawn, Spartan Champion, Spartan Reserve, Spartan Progress, and Spartan Advance.

All are high yielding, disease resistant, tasty, pickling cucumbers especially adapted to Michigan growing conditions. Spartan Dawn and Spartan Champion are now available in garden seed stores.

FFA community action program seeks to better rural life

Making rural communities better places in which to live and work was the objective of a new community action program announced last month by the National Organization of the Future Farmers of America and the Michigan Association of FFA.

Theme of the new program was "Building Our American Communities." C. Coleman Harris, national FFA program specialist and John D. Young, state FFA president, made the announcement at the 51st Annual Conference for Teachers of Vocational Agriculture, meeting at Michigan State University July 28-31.

"This is an opportunity for young people to show their concern for America by getting actively involved in their communities," Harris told the teachers.

"We want to make it clear that students of vocational agriculture and members of the FFA are training for occupations in both farming and agribusiness. Because of our expanded interests and the desire of our members to be associated with agriculture, we feel it is essential to build strong rural communities where they can live and work in agriculturally related jobs.

"This will be possible only if jobs are available and rural communities are desirable places in which to live and work."

The "Building Our American Communities" program is a joint effort of the FFA, the U.S. Office of Education, the Michigan Department of Education and the Farmers Home Administration (FHA), an agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The FHA has prepared a "Guide to Understanding and Developing Communities" for use by 40-49 instructors in the high school vocational agriculture classroom. The guide outlines discussions that can be related to any community and includes such topics as identifying the wants and needs of the local community, analyzing the resources available for community improvement and how to carry out constructive projects for improving the community.

A second phase of the program will involve FFA members in community action projects. Chapters will be encouraged to take on constructive projects that will improve their communities.

Some projects being suggested include surveys of community land, water, manpower and transportation resources, job surveys, environmental clean up and control and community health and safety projects.

"As we view America's future, it becomes more evident that rural America must help find solutions to the problems of congested urban centers," Young said in announcing the program. "The overpopulation of cities can be reduced, provided that sufficient jobs, adequate housing and municipal facilities can be secured to make rural and semi-rural areas more attractive places in which to live and work."

In addition to support from the FHA, several top government officials, including President Nixon, have given their verbal support of the FFA Community Action Program. Lilly Endowment, Inc., of Indianapolis, Ind., is sponsoring the "Building Our American Communities" program through the National FFA Foundation, Inc.

More than 5,000 awards are available to FFA chapters that take an active role in improving their communities.

"We realize this project is quite an undertaking," said Young. "However, we anticipate that many other organizations will become actively involved in community projects as a result of FFA efforts to help coordinate rural development."

ASCS REPORT

Program payments

By WILLIAM M. SMITH, Executive Director, ASCS Clinton County

Most of the farmers who participated in the 1970 Wheat and Feed Grain Programs in Clinton County have now received their program payments, according to L. J. Hart, chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

"Farmers earn program payments by diverting portions of their cropland to conservation uses, and complying with other program requirements," Hart explained. "Diverting unneeded cropland helps maintain a balance between supply and demand, preserves the excess acres for future use when they are needed, provides a more orderly supply of farm products to consumers, and helps to assure equitable prices to farmers."

"Throughout the nation, over three million farmers earned the farm program payments,"

Hart said. "Payments were disbursed during a six-week period beginning July 1. In past years the payment period was extended over a three-month period from July through September," Hart said.

"Compressing the payment period into half the normal time required close cooperation between farmers and ASCS personnel," Hart said, adding: "Speaking for the entire farmer-elected committee, I am proud of the way everyone has cooperated to get the payments out early as we had promised farmers that we would do."

"Because of budget restraints, partial payments could not be made this year during the spring sign-up period for the Feed Grain Program," Hart explained. "When this decision was made, the Department told farmers that full payments would be made as early as possible. That commitment has now been largely fulfilled," Hart said.

Pollution is low from fertilization

Results from Michigan State University research indicate that only very small amounts of fertilizer move from farm fields into other parts of the environment.

Soil scientists who conducted the research measured drainage system flow and surface runoff in order to determine the potential hazards of polluting the environment with fertilizers. Testing took place on seven plots that contained all the major soil types found in Michigan.

The MSU scientists examined drainage and runoff samples for nitrogen, phosphorus, calcium, magnesium and potassium content. Nitrogen passed out of the soil more than any other chemical—at a rate of less than 10 pounds per acre per year. Phosphorus was next with a rate of less than 1/10 pound per acre per year.

This experiment indicates that agricultural fertilizers make little or no contribution to water pollution problems in Michigan.

Miller joins Shorthorn Association

Jay G. Miller, of St. Johns, recently purchased a junior membership in the American Shorthorn Association, nationwide registry for Shorthorn and Polled Shorthorn beef cattle, according to Sherman Berg, Junior Activities Director of the Association.

Berg explains that a Junior Member is entitled to all member-breeder registration privileges except voting.

By joining the Association, Jay has become a participant in promotion of the breed and a Junior Shorthorn program, designed for education and participation in Junior beef events.

Shorthorns are the oldest beef breed in the United States.

4-H'ers explain about their county fair projects

Wood Working

By DANIEL BARZ
Charles Gang 4-H Club

At the 4-H fair this year will be many fine articles built by the many boys in our county enrolled in woodworking. Since it would be rather difficult to show my actual product, I will have a poster instead.

This year I built a project that I had been wanting to build for a couple years, a cabinet and bookshelves in my room. This helped clean up my desk for work on my studies and hobby and got the encyclopedias out of the closet.

Although this is my sixth year in woodworking, I still found new problems to tackle. Among the new problems were cutting out baseboard, fitting and hanging doors, and putting in adjustable shelves.

The poster I will have prepared for the fair will show what the corner in my room looked like before I built the corner unit, some different steps in the construction, and what it is now.

I would urge any boy, who would like to join 4-H to take woodworking. In woodworking he can learn the use of tools, both hand and power, and that the old saying "Haste makes waste" is indeed true. Woodworking can also develop a sense of pride in one's work that will hopefully be carried throughout one's life. He can also develop into a general handy man that is always useful around the house. This is a good activity for boys anywhere whether they live in town or country.

The members enrolled in woodworking will be proudly showing their workmanship and labor as their various projects go on display at the 4-H Fair. They are there for public display so if you can, go to the fair grounds and see these and the other projects in the many different fields offered in 4-H.

Crafts

By JANE VITEK
Bengal Community

This category includes many different types of things. Most of you probably have some type of hobby, whether it be making a purse, plaques, ceramics or any other of the many creative things that can be done. This is mostly what crafts is; creativity.

What I am going to enter in crafts is a plaque which I have made through a process called decoupage. This is done by sanding down a piece of wood and placing a picture on it. Then you put about 30 coats of varnish on and sand between each coat. In this way you can get that very special picture and make a plaque out of it to hang on the wall.

Even though there are many different projects 4-H members can enter into this crafts category, I think everyone will agree it is a lot of fun. You can be creative and come up with something that you know there aren't any like and you also know what work went into making it what it was.

So try crafts and create a little.

On the county level, the Clinton County Teen Leaders have banded together to form the Teen Leader Club. This club has a dual purpose—one functional and the other recreational. For recreation and learning experiences, the club has monthly meetings all year round, it has a softball team during the summer, and sponsors an annual canoe trip weekend.

On the functional side, teen leaders assist the county extension agent in organizing and carrying out many county-wide activities. They help at Spring Achievement by setting up, checking in exhibits, and cleaning up. At the County Fair, they serve as exhibit superintendents, food stand volunteers, and night guards as well as assisting in set up and clean up duties.

On the state level, teen leaders are kept busy during State Show doing many of the jobs necessary to make the event a success. They also help plan and direct such activities as State 4-H Youth Week and the Michigan Dairy Foods Conference.

Next time you see a teenager busy working at a 4-H event, smile, for you know that he is giving his time and energy to help make that event a success for all people involved.

ROGER BROOK
Teen Leaders

By ROGER BROOK
Bath All Purpose 4-H Club

They are busy—at Spring Achievement, at county-wide project meetings, at the Fair, and in their individual clubs. They are the members of the Clinton County Teen Leader Club. These teen leaders are 4-H members 14 years old and over who are currently enrolled in the Junior Leadership project. Their purpose is to assist the adult leaders in making the 4-H program a success. These teen leaders are actively engaged on the local, county, and state levels learning leadership skills and responsibilities.

Within their local clubs, teen leaders assist their club leaders in planning, organizing, and carrying out many club functions. Teen leaders are also called upon to use their knowledge and experience in helping younger members gain more through their projects.

Horses

By LORI McQUEEN
Double 4-H Club

never miss if I could help it. However, to strangers it may seem that all that is going on is a bunch of people are gathered, running around seemingly without a purpose.

It is those strangers that I feel sorry for. 4-H is activity but everything has a purpose—especially the livestock projects. More in particular—horses. These four footed fleet animals are the pride and joy of every 4-H member and owner and are rather spectacular to watch while showing.

I'm enrolled in this project for the third time this 4-H year, Summer 1970. It hasn't been easy, let me tell you that. My father was dead set against getting a horse, thinking that he would be doing all the work that goes along with the horse. I promised him that he did not have to worry, that my kids would do the work, and my brother and I are still keeping our word.

It hasn't been all work though. The training can be fun if you have patience, and the reward comes at Fair when you do your best in showing that horse and maybe placing with it. That's not all that is fun though. It's fun to talk with fellow horsemen and compare notes on training, riding, showing and various other things having to do with horses.

The training part of the project can be fun too. Work meetings at our club ring with the other kids in our club is also fun, as well as being a learning experience. One can benefit from other's mistakes. Our club also takes trips like to the Key-Wah-Din Apaloosa Farm, Block and Bridle shows at MSU, Trail Rides overnight, Horse Clinics in the county and at MSU. With all these, you learn more than just how to ride.

No matter how much fun one has, the effort and training is at its peak at the 4-H Fair. To a stranger, it's just activity but to anyone that knows, it's fun.

People with keen wits often sharpen them on other's sensibilities.

PASSPORT TO UNDERSTANDING

Did you ever think you would like to take a trip to a foreign country? Would you like to know people in that country? Well you can if you join 4-H and take "Passport to Understanding" as a project. Passport is for kids as members, and adults as leaders.

Passport can be a ticket to a new world of excitement, fun, and understanding, new friendships around the world.

In passport you write to people, collect information, go to libraries, and make new friends. I know it sounds like a lot of work, believe me it is, but it is all worthwhile, fun, and interesting.

Passport could be called "Country Studies"; you get to pick the country and things you want to study.

Making new friends is the most fun. Kids and adults in other countries like to know how we live here in the small towns and rural areas of America. By getting pen-pals, people will know and understand you.

Join "Passport to Understanding" and get to know other people, think about other people's problems, draw people into your circle.

Flowers

BY DEBBIE THELEN
Bengal Community 4-H Club

This past summer I have taken flower gardening and learned much from it. Although I've taken flowers before, you always learn something new by taking this project. A good knowledge of flowers and flower arranging can help you in later life because flowers are so widely used. A few flowers can turn a dull room bright or make a dress or suit look fancier.

As with everything else there are things you have to learn for a good arrangement of flowers. The flowers must coordinate in color, texture, and balance, and the arrangement should be 1 1/2 times as high as the container. You should always use an uneven number of flowers and put the darker colors on the bottom and the lighter ones at the top. You should put roses in silver or crystal and zinnias in pottery, and never use fresh and dried plant materials together.

All flower arrangements fall into three classes of designs. Design is the plan of a composition in color, of various shapes and sizes, arranged in an orderly and rhythmic manner to achieve a balanced, stable and harmonious picture. The three classes of design are: 1. Line—where it depends on strong lines for major interest. 2. Mass—where you use a greater quantity of materials to create a "full" picture. 3. Line-Mass—which is a strong linear pattern decorated with a light mass.

If you prefer just a plain simple flower arrangement, there are different rules such as for cutting, conditioning and hardening. When you cut any flower you should choose flowers that aren't fully developed so they will continue to open after they're out. You should cut the flowers several hours before they are supposed to be used and you should use a sharp knife or pruning scissors. You should make a clean cut and be careful that you don't mash the ends. It doesn't matter if it is a slanted or straight cut. The flower will last just as long if cut either way. You should cut the stems longer than you need them and strip off the lower leaves in the garden. This helps to fertilize the soil. When you want to harden the flower you should cut off the lower inch of the stem and then place in hot water, around 110 degrees. Put the stem in almost to the flower head but don't let the petals touch the water. It will take one to 10 hours for hardening depending on the type of flower. To make the flower last longer you have to use some special care to help reduce bacteria. You should wash the vases with soap and water before putting them away and clean the flowers and foliage before using. Changing water daily and a small amount of plant food after hardening will lengthen the life of the flower. Of course there are many rules to follow for arranging but these are just the basics and help make your arrangement look healthier and prettier. I've gained much knowledge from this project and had fun while doing it. I would heartily recommend anyone else to take it.

Rabbits

By RANDY DAVIS
Olive 4-H Projects

A project that has increased rapidly in popularity is the rabbit project. There is something in this project for most everyone. For those who would like to show an animal but can not afford or have the room for a large one, rabbits make an ideal choice. They are relatively easy to care for, yet there are things that must be considered, learned, and practiced if one is to have a good rabbit exhibit. As odd as it may seem, rabbits do require an amount of training before the show. They must be handled and set in the proper positions often so when they come to be placed on the judging table they can do their "thing" promptly and without fuss. The rabbit has to be groomed by brushing him several times to remove loose hair. His pen has to be clean so he does not get stains or diseases such as ear mites.

Rabbits make a good project for experimenting in such things as feed rations, diseases, or breeding. They multiply rapidly which makes some results easier to observe. Of course if a person went into rabbits to make money, several colleges and laboratories will buy young rabbits in large quantities and at a good price. One can sell rabbits also for marketing or breeding, if pedigreed, and for fur value to make a profit.

If a person is in rabbits just for show, it is best to choose just one breed type so you can become expertly acquainted with the ideal characteristics and showmanship of that breed. There are certain standards that must be met with in each breed that the judge will be looking for at exhibit time.

Rabbits do require a definite amount of care for those who are trying to make a good exhibit. People in the rabbit business are usually extremely helpful with hints and tricks of the trade for those just starting out. Whether you go into rabbits in a big way or just have a couple, they can be fun and profitable.

Scattered Southeast 4-H Club

Big or small 4-H Dairy can be for you. It doesn't matter what kind of barn you have, for instance the first animal in our herd started out in an old chicken coop.

A lot of people think it takes a lot of money and big equipment, but this is not necessarily true. In 4-H dairy almost everyone starts small and then gets bigger. You show at different shows and Learn by Doing. You also learn much by going to shows and watching how other people do things.

There are also many rewards to 4-H dairy. You meet a lot of new friends, you have many chances to meet leaders in the dairy industry and you get chances to go many places to observe and learn. You also have a chance to win many awards and trophies through a continuing interest in 4-H dairy.

It is not always whether you win or not, but the satisfaction of knowing that you showed your animal to the very best of your ability. Sometimes you feel downhearted, but never give up. Just stick in there and keep trying. Competition is the key word. Showing dairy cattle would not be half the fun it is, without competition. Whether you win in a big class or stand down the line, you have a lot more satisfaction than when you are the only one in the class.

Dairy can be a full time job or a hobby, but you are never too small, one calf or many, for a 4-H dairy project.

Dairy Science is a comparatively new 4-H project. It gives the 4-H'er a chance to study in depth the dairy animal.

Dairy Science allows any interested 4-H'er with a dairy animal to look further than the outside appearance and the proper care of his animal, he learns in the dairy project. Dairy Science is

Making hay

Clinton County farmers harvested 35,000 acres of hay in 1969, according to Phil Doctor of the Michigan Crop Reporting Service. Production amounted to 84,000 tons, an average of 2.40 tons per acre.

Bee Keeping

By JIM McQUEEN
Nimble Fingers 4-H Club

What does the word 'bee mean? To some it means a stinger to keep away from. To some it's a way of life or a second income. To others, myself included, it is a 4-H project, and a good one at that.

Beekeeping is a part of the Entomology project and is quite an experience. You not only learn some of the habits of bees, how honey is produced and other technical things about the bee and the bee colony, but you will also learn some little things that may prove helpful at some other job, like how to lift heavy things, in this case, a full hive body above your head without too much effort or without hurting yourself.

To start in the beekeeping project, you don't even have to know what a bee looks like, but it does help. You can collect honey plants and mount and identify them for an exhibit. After that you can start or buy your first colony and learn the fundamentals of working with them. After you have mastered these you can expand to as many hives as you want. You should have some experienced help close at

Continued from Page 7B hand for the first few times that you work the bees to give you moral support and aid if necessary.

Possible exhibits for this project range from honey plants to an observation hive. The demonstrations that can be done on this project are almost impossible to name them all. They are also very good to give because so few people know very much about them.

The beekeeping project is very exciting and is quite a learning experience. You learn from the bees and from the stings. Every time you get stung, its because of a mistake on your part, so you remember not to make that mistake the next time. There are many different magazines that you can get to aid you in getting started but the best way is trial and error.

4-H Camp

By MARCIA L. TAIT Jolly Knitters 4-H Club Camp is a place to learn, to have fun, meet new people and also to experience new feelings. I was a counselor for one week last year, one week this year, and I'm looking forward to next year.

There are opportunities to learn many crafts. A few of which are basket weaving, mosaics, braiding (you should have seen the expression on the boys' faces as they used their ten thumbs to braid something), leather craft, swimming and this year conservation and homemade games. I had the honor of teaching leathercraft. I was very careful to explain everything. I even had one student do everything right but—he cut the pattern out in the middle of a brand new piece of leather (Groat).

The campers have fun swimming, playing new games, talking to new and strange (so it seems to them) people, also throwing this counselor (with the life guard's help) into the swimming pool. Continued on Page 9B lected recipes for large groups on a low income budget. This new angle gave me knowledge about planning parties and the meals that go with them. It also showed me that nonfat dry milk can be used in everything you have for a meal and still have the meal look appetizing, and be delicious. It also adds nutrition but not fat.

This year I am working with dairy sour cream and cottage cheese. Did you know that cottage cheese was invented by Arabs while they were crossing the deserts? This interesting fact is only one of the very fascinating histories connected with dairy foods.

I've also found that the recipes that you collect in your project can offer variety and splendor to an otherwise run-of-the-mill meal. My family likes it.

I'm sure that anyone who wishes to take Dairy Foods project would find, as I have, that any time spent exploring Dairy Foods was well spent.

Recreation

By JANE SMITH Kountry Cousins

RECREATION

Executing the latest dance step; breathlessly pursuing a companion in a good, old-fashioned game of tag; attempting to subdue the floundering trout at the end of your line which is struggling to regain its freedom. Surprisingly enough, the three preceding activities all possess something in common—they are a form of recreation.

Recreation. It is doubtful whether any other ten letter word summons such a diversified collection of responses at its mere mention. To a number of people, the term conjures up horrifying visions of boredom while others relish the pleasant memories associated with it.

Still others—representing the ever present group of in-betweens—side with neither of the opposing views. Why is there such a split in opinions? To discover the answer, let us take a more detailed look at recreation both as a 4-H project and as a program.

Generally, recreation is considered to encompass four specific fields: games, dance, drama, and music. (This is for program purposes only.) Planning an evening of entertainment by utilizing activities from one or more of these groups is often easier said than done.

Many factors must be taken into consideration: how much time will be allotted to you, the amount of space in which you will be working, and—perhaps most important—the people involved.

The recreation leader should possess at least a slight idea as to the age of the participants, the type of apparel that they will be wearing, the purpose of the gathering, and any special limitations which may have to be observed. Armed with this knowledge, the games, dances, etc., should be triggered to suit the conditions.

If this is rightfully accomplished, the number of complaints and wallflowers will be diminished and an enjoyable evening is assured.

Although this process is vital in achieving a favorable outcome, it is by no means an instant and effortless formula for success. A mixture of time, energy, and patience is also required.

Once you have mastered these fundamentals, 4-H offers you a number of opportunities to exercise and improve this newly discovered ability. For example, recreation should be present at every meeting to add an element of fun and enjoyment; camp counselors are continuously asked to plan and lead recreation; teenleaders are given the responsibility of assisting at officers' training and workshops.

These are only a few of the various activities associated with recreation that you can participate in.

Sweet tooth

Cows, like humans, have a "sweet tooth," report Michigan State University dairy scientists. Molasses and beet pulp are common sweeteners for dairy cattle rations.

JANE SMITH

And now that you are more fully acquainted with this particular project and have been given a small glimpse of the opportunities available, I urge you to become a leader and promoter of recreation.

Foods and Nutrition

By SHARON WOOD Olive 4-H Projects

Have you ever wondered what it is that interests so many young people to the 4-H Foods and Nutrition project? Or where the ideas come from that are seen on the table exhibits at the county fair? I might be able to help you find the answers to these and others you might have, because I'm a teen-leader and I've been in the Foods project for five years.

Who can be in the project? Any boy or girl who is interested in cooking and who is between the ages of nine and eighteen. Any adult can be a leader who is interested in young people and the Foods project.

What do the food members do in the Foods and Nutrition project? The boys and girls who are in the Foods project learn the hows and whys of cooking. They try recipes. They give demonstrations showing how to measure or how a food dish is prepared. The Food members also can give action exhibits in which the members do not demonstrate how to make something, instead they tell how something is made or done.

The Food members I have told you about so far are the Young and Junior divisions in the Foods project. I haven't told you about the Senior division. The table exhibits that you see at the fair in Smith Hall are done by the Food members in the Senior division. Where do all the ideas come from that are exhibited at the county fair? Everyone is different, most people are interested in things that others are not. The Seniors usually center their ideas on one of two basic things: foods of a country or group of countries and different foods that are classified as one type of food. A country could be any country; England, Switzerland, Japan, Hungary, Italy, etc. A type of food could be pastries, cakes, cookies, breads, main dishes, beverages, etc.

The county fair is the grand finale for every project. At the fair you can see rows and rows of baked items. The fair is the judge to see how well the food members have done during the summer.

The Foods project doesn't end at the fair. The things that are learned in the project can be used all year-round.

Dairy Foods Project

By LOIS MILLER Fowler Eager Eagles

I have been in the Dairy Foods project for four years now. I have found it to be the most interesting project that I have ever taken. It is called "Exploring Dairy Foods." It is the advanced course in Foods and Nutrition but is open to anyone 14 years or older.

This project has many opportunities to create, and really explore the many fields of dairy foods. You set your goals. You fulfill them. You get the glory or failure. It is all up to your own initiative.

Some of the things you can do in this project are like what I have done. My first year I explored the area of evaporated milk. I obtained booklets and leaflets from the extension office and other resource places and I collected recipes. I organized a booklet for my own benefit. I presented my project in an action exhibit as well as a fair exhibit and won State Show on it.

My second year I chose the eminent problem of imitation milk versus whole milk. My decision to choose that topic was spurred on when I ran across an imitation product in my own kitchen that I didn't know that I had. I said that if I didn't know the difference after five years in Foods that I may not be the only one fooled. I set out to show the differences of the two "Milks". If I reached at least one person I would have attained my goal for that project.

Last year I worked with nonfat dry milk. That proved to be interesting because it is so low costing yet so versatile. I collected

Home Design

By PATTY FOX Happy Hustlers 4-H Club

Home design helps people to create a more satisfying home environment by developing a judgment for evaluating design, learning ways of applying knowledge of design to home environment and develop skills for selecting well-designed objects.

Home design is divided into three divisions. The first is the 8-12 year olds. During the year they learn and experiment with design in nature and in their home for their completed project to be shown at the fair they might arrange a scrapbook with pictures that are expressive of the art elements or experiment with color by using paints. They may start a collection of color swatches from the twelve basic hues. Collecting samples of man-made and natural objects and evaluating the design of each is another project.

In the second division, 12-14 year olds, they learn to develop their judgment of design and learn basic principles of creating color harmony and of space arrangement and begin to apply their knowledge. They begin to learn skills in handling tools. For their project they may illustrate pleasing color harmonies, select, or make suitable designs for mounting, framing, and hanging.

For the third division, 14-18 year olds, they will increase their skills in handling tools and evaluating design. They should begin applying knowledge of design to improve their home. They will learn to select and buy furniture based on family needs and values. For projects they can refinish a piece of furniture or wooden accessory, design and make the family's holiday decorations, or study the design of cultures foreign to North America.

I have been enrolled in home design two years and find this project interesting. During my first year I refinished an old trunk and started to redecorate my bedroom. During my second year I refinished my grandmother's commode and a hat tree. I plan to enroll for a third year and learn how to apply wood stains.

I think home design is a good project for girls because they learn to use design and beautify their home.

Entomology

By HARRY MOLDENHAUER Nimble Fingers 4-H Club

Entomology is a very interesting project. As a first year member you will collect insects and must get at least 25 insects and four different orders.

The first year a large insect display case is not necessary. Second year members collect 50 insects and at least six orders. Also a wooden display case is called for. In my second year I tried to raise some moth larvae but they died after a few days.

Third year members must have 100 insects and get maximum credit for 14 orders.

In my third year I took my net and killing jar to scout camp and caught a male and female monarch butterfly in one sweep. I also participated in the State Junior Identification Contest and tied for first place.

In my fourth year I could have collected insects but decided to do a scientific project. During the month of June I took old empty coffee cans and buried them so that the open end was level with the ground. Then loosely covered the top with a piece of board, leaves, or grass. The insects would crawl under

Weather

By COLLEEN WOOD Olive 4-H Projects

Have you ever wanted to predict the future? Well, that's one of the major parts of the 4-H Weather Project. You read instruments or the sky, interpret what you see, and, with a little practice, give an accurate weather forecast for the next day or two.

Although giving short-range forecasts is a large part of the weather project, you also learn by experimenting and observing about the four basic elements—air, sun, earth, and water—that influence weather.

After you have mastered these you go on and learn how to build weather instruments and learn how to use them and build the proper shelter for them to help give accurate readings. When you have it all set up you can make recordings of the readings and use them to make up a weather map with the information from other stations and then make a forecast from the map.

4-H activities

Youth Week

By STEVE THELEN
Bengal Community 4-H Club

What is Youth Week? Youth Week is an event that happens every year that is concerned with making the youth in 4-H think more about the world around them and how they pertain to it. It has a number of objectives, some of which are:

1. To provide experiences for developing self-confidence and leadership.
2. To provide a worthwhile learning experience and exchange of ideas.
3. To develop a better understanding of self.
4. To understand others and be concerned for them.
5. To develop a sense of individual worth.
6. To learn and assume the role of an active citizen.
7. To provide opportunities to develop individual values and goals.
8. To learn to work effectively in a group.
9. To have fun.

As you can see these objectives are not a strict program run off year after year, they are developed each year by a separate group of former youth week delegates that are elected to the Official Youth Week Planning Committee.

Youth Week is held yearly at Michigan State University. The delegates stay in the Shaw Hall dormitory complex and use the adjoining facilities of the MSU auditorium and the classrooms of Ernest W. Bessey Hall. Youth Week is not a thing that pops up every year. It is a project that requires time and effort by a lot of determined youth and people in the State 4-H Youth office. The theme for this year: Youth Week was "What the World Needs Now".

The session then took off on a different topic each day. The different topics were "Concern", "Understanding", "Action", and "Love". These topics sound very broad but they are not really when you get started on them.

Addressing us on "Concern" were two very good speakers, Dr. Russel Wentworth from MSU and The Most Rev. Msgr. Hugh Beahan of Grand Rapids.

Dr. Wentworth's talk was mainly centered around a tape that he had containing the different sounds and things that happen around us. He brought in ideas and then told how they pertain to us. He had the space launch, drugs, the deaths of John F. Kennedy, Robert Kennedy, Martin Luther King, all of them having muffled drum sounds, war, guns, bombs, wedding bells being a peal of Man's joy, peace and solitude, and the Tigers winning the pennant. He had all these ideas on tape and reflected on the different things that have changed the course of history. The final thing that he brought in was "that no noise will be the future sound unless we change and learn to get along with our fellow man". The title of his talk was entitled "Sounds of Prologues".

Msgr. Beahan gave a talk on "Concern: What the World Needs Now". He said, "We are an upset people, we are getting angry so easy, that we have hangups and problems (riots, poverty, segregation), we have an identity problem, that we have reached a point where war is not effective anymore and that it does no good at all except cause worldwide confusion". He brought in the fact that the older that something gets the harder it is for it to change, he used the example of the Catholic Church. He said, "Anything a live is constantly changing. We are afraid of love. We do not want to be on a committee because we do not love each other. There needs to be more sharing of one's self because in this age of renewal and upheaval we need to come up with love and understanding so that we can reach out and explain by understanding".

We received an official welcome from Dr. Lawrence Boger, Dean of the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources, Michigan State University. We heard a talk from Dr. Darell B. Thomas, Associate Professor of Western Michigan University. His talk centered around "Morals of Today's Teens". He brought out many ideas about morals that are not readily thought of by today's people.

Two other speakers that deserve special mention because they are continually being asked up for Youth Week are Mr. Joe Wise of Louisville, Kentucky and Mr. Dale Robinson of the National Education Association in Washington, D.C.

Joe Wise is a folk singer and philosopher. He is called on to speak so often because of his honest no-nonsense approach to everything that happens to him or near to him. He has a message that never changes, to be yourself as long as no one minds and you don't hurt anyone. He is very much against anything that infringes upon anyone's rights as an individual.

Dale Robinson appeared on the day devoted to Action. He spoke on any subject that was raised from the floor. He comes up to the podium and says something to the effect that he has reviewed our program and decided not to give a talk at all but to let the people in the audience raise questions from the floor.

He will write them down to answer after a number of questions have been raised. He traditionally runs out of time to answer all of the questions that come up, for one reason, he puts a lot of himself into the answer. He leaves the person who asks the question with a feeling of complete satisfaction that their question has been answered to the fullest extent.

Now that I have told you about some speakers and their thoughts, I will tell you some of the other highlights that happen. Youth Week involves approximately 800 4-H youth along with about 100 chaperons. The one thing that is constantly changing is the fact that you are continually meeting new friends that you will meet at other 4-H activities throughout the year.

You are constantly coming in contact with other opinions that you find challenging and you slowly become friends in one way or another. To further stimulate discussions, following a talk you and a designated group go over to Bessey Hall to talk over the speech.

You are a delegate for the first time that you are at Youth Week. While there you fill out a card if you wish to become a leader developer.

I was chosen to be a leader-developer this year. A leader-developer is a person who keeps the conversation moving along at a good pace and helps settle arguments that may result from challenging opinions. I enjoyed the opportunity to serve as Leader-Developer. It was a rewarding experience and I appreciated the privilege of representing Clinton County.

4-H Exchange with North Carolina

By ANN ARENS
Fowler Busy Bees

A bright sun and a crowd of families were on hand as 33 4-H members and eight adults left for Lexington, North Carolina. Our bus took us through Ohio, Virginia and to a Gateway Inn in Huntington, West Virginia, on our first day of travel. Sunday we continued our journey and at 5:30 p.m. we pulled up to a smiling crowd of host families.

Once inside we were introduced to our host families and had a southern style potluck supper. After supper and meeting everyone we each went home with our host families.

I stayed with the Charles Fritts family. Cathy, 16, was my host sister. They also had a girl, Martha, who was 13 and a boy, Henry, 8 years old. I lived on a 200-acre farm which was located two miles north of Lexington. Mr. Fritts raised both dairy and beef cattle. Cathy had seven horses which had won many ribbons and trophies.

Monday and Tuesday I was acquainted with the general area and some of North Carolina's attractions. We visited a flagstone mine, an Indian mound, and a couple of little pottery and candle shops in the mountains. My family made sure I not only saw the big things but the small everyday bits if the way of life in North Carolina. We also had our chance to just relax by going swimming in a near-by lake on Wednesday.

Thursday all of the Michigan

delegates got together and visited two of North Carolina's major industries. At R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. we saw how much work is put into making just one little cigarette. Thomasville Furniture Industries was our second stop. We visited the factory and then the show room. After refreshments and a movie about Thomasville furniture we headed for home.

Friday we got a chance to see what type of 4-H program they have in North Carolina. We attended district 4-H Activity Day where members gave demonstrations on their projects. I was very proud to see my host sister take state in her project area. A talents show was also part of the day's activities. That evening we returned home and started packing for our return trip.

At 6 a.m. we left Lexington and traveled through North Carolina, Tennessee, and into Kentucky to spend the night. Sunday we visited one of Kentucky's famous horse farms before departing. Coming back through Ohio we arrived in St. Johns, Michigan at 5:30. We were all tired but very happy and filled with memories of a different life and of many new friends.

pool during their water carnival when I had just set my hair the night before and had all my clothes packed. So I had the fun of unpacking and changing my clothes before I went home that day. Squish!! Camp helps them learn how to associate with people and, for many, to feel at ease in our group.

Children who go to camp usually, sometime during their stay get a feeling of pride, accomplishment, feeling of responsibility and loyalty. Loyalty for their cabin and loyalty for the group in which they are placed.

As a counselor the best (and only, no complaints mind you) pay is seeing the smiles of these campers when they accomplish something or are trying to impress a counselor. Also when they think, "Geel I must really be important the counselor remembered my name."

At camp counselors' training camp we are taught how to get the campers involved, make them feel important, let them have fun and to notice and try to find out the real reason they do something; not just punish and forget. The very best thing we are taught is trying to understand and to add our love, imagination and enthusiasm to everything (including doing the dishes).

Camp has been a meaningful and worthwhile experience for me and has helped me to grow up just a little bit more. So the next time you hear a child singing about a little green frog, a fuu fuu rabbit or throwing a counselor in the swimming pool (I hope it isn't me, again) they probably went to 4-H camp where there is plenty of good clean fun.

Health

By KATHY DAVIS
Olive 4 H Projects

The fourth H, health, occurs in most 4-H projects. Members can become involved with their own health and the health of others without taking the project as such. In the foods project 4-H'ers learn the importance of nutrition and well balanced meals. They can point out to each other what makes a good meal or snack without being nutrition experts.

The clothing project also crosses over into the health field as members become concerned with their appearance and their posture. A person naturally feels better when they know they are looking their best. Of course the weeks that are spent in preparing for a style revue not only show on that special day but any other day when a girl walks, stands, or sits with good posture and keeps that big smile on her face.

Many 4-H'ers have an animal project and thus automatically become involved in health as they look after their animals' needs. A member soon learns that if his animal is to make the gains and performance required of him he has to be fed a well rounded diet. The animal needs to be kept clean, content, and have enough exercise or their deficiency is clearly visible. A member becomes concerned with health hazards and diseases that his project may come up against. Preventive measures become important. All things can be turned around and made applicable to one's self and can encourage good health habits.

Not only can an individual be involved with health but the whole club can play a part as well. An example could be the annual roadside clean-up activity, or the many other projects taken over by a 4-H club in its community.

Camp counselor's, teen leaders, and leaders all involve others in the health area and themselves as they try to set good examples.

All 4-H'ers pledge their health to better living and there are many opportunities to carry this pledge out in the many facets of 4-H.

Whether a joke is good or bad seems to be the direction in which it is pointed.

It's a Pleasure for Us to

Dairy Foods Conference

By VICKIE THELEN
Bengal Community 4-H Center

On April 26, 27, and 28, 1970 I attended a Dairy Foods Conference at Kellogg Center at Michigan State University. This program was conducted by the 4-H Youth Programs of the Cooperative Extension Service of Michigan State University with the Department of Dairy Foods and Nutrition, Food, Science, and Continuing Education. The program was full of talks and interesting information on different types of dairy products.

My chaperone was Mrs. John Krovosky. She drove Joy Mayler, Mary Ann Krovosky and me to Michigan State University. We registered when we got there and were assigned to our rooms. We were welcomed to the session after dinner by Don Carlson, Secretary of the American Dairy Association of Michigan. Dr. Malcolm Trout was the next speaker, his topic - cheese. Many people think of the different kinds of cheese as just those in their favorite store's cheese section. Most stores have a small variety such as cheddar, colby, blue cheese, cottage cheese and cream cheese.

Dr. Trout gave us many types of cheeses that most of the girls had never even heard about. We sampled cheeses from Finland, Switzerland and other countries. We tried gorgonzola, Limburger, provolone and yogurt. It is always a good suggestion to have cheese on hand for a quick dish or snack. Cheese is a nutritious food and good to eat.

We toured the Dairy Barn and the Food Science Building. Dr. Larry Johnson of the Dairy Department was our guide. We divided into three groups with each group going to a different section. The sections were:

1. "Your Dairy Dollar" - Miss Mary Zehner, Consumer Marketing Information.
  2. "Dairy Products in Your Future" - T. L. Hedrick, Professor, Department of Food Science.
  3. "A Visit to the Dairy Barn" - Conducted by Dr. Larry Johnson, Michigan State University Dairy Department.
- The most interesting session I attended was "Dairy Products in Your Future", conducted by

VICKIE THELEN

Professor T. L. Hedrick. This was a field I was unaware of. We learned about different kinds of new dairy products and received some samples of freeze dried and regular chocolate cheese, cherry dairy spread, flavored buttermilk and spray-dried blue cheese. Professor Hedrick tried to obtain some freeze-dried ice cream but was unable to get any.

On Tuesday morning there was a mass media workshop. The workshop I attended was with Dean Bork and Roger Brown from Information Services at Michigan State University as Chairmen. They picked out two girls after hearing us talk to do a radio program on the Dairy Foods Conference.

At the close of the conference we each received a cookbook, "Modern Approach to Everyday Cooking" published by the American Dairy Association.

It was a very enjoyable, informative conference. I appreciated the opportunity to represent Clinton County.

Washington, D.C. Trip

By BILL PARKER
Parker's Workers

Educational, exciting, and fun are a few ways of describing a few of the benefits received from the short course trip to Washington D.C. Every second, there seemed to be something new and different to see or venture into. The most fun seemed to come in the meeting of new friends, not only from our own state, but also from several other states. The exchanging of ideas and discussions helped us to learn that the common goal of all 4-Hers is about the same.

The high point of the trip was our venture to the federal offices to see the American system in action. It seemed to be so much more real than any history book had ever described it.

Seeing the Vice-President and several other leaders of our government was the real high point of the whole trip for the Michigan delegation. As individual county groups, we saw and spoke to our congressman. The Clinton county delegation had about a 45-minute talk with our congressman, Honorable Garry Brown.

We had fairly good weather for sight-seeing in our nation's Capitol. "Boy was there a lot to see." Some of the well known places that we visited during the week were the Washington Monument, President and Senator Kennedy's graves, Mount Vernon, Smithsonian Institute, Capitol, New Senate Office Building and the White House.

Citizenship—What is it? Freedom—What does it mean? These two questions were probably the hardest questions we were asked. And, for every person on the trip there seemed to be a different, but similar answer.

What does this nation stand for? Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness? What does this mean to a loyal American? Rioting, burning or disturbing of our legal system is this liberty? The I don't care attitude or I'M TOO BUSY TO VOTE FEELING is this what made our country great?

To us, the 4-H members, that week at Washington D.C. will be one that will not be forgotten in a long time. After returning now, we hope to stress the importance of being a good citizen of this country and to better implant in all minds of all citizens, old and young alike, the idea of a country with a government "Of the people, for the people and by the people."

LANDMARK TO DISAPPEAR

This old barn along Upton Road will disappear soon as workmen begin demolition chores to make room for a new picnic area on the Sleepy Hollow State Park grounds. Plans call for establishing several temporary picnic sites throughout the park area until final land purchases can permit the full scale construction of the 410-acre lake and state park camping area.

Our Living Investment in the Future of Clinton County and America

The youth of America is the future of America, and the aims and activities of the 4-H Clubs in developing initiative and character in the lives of our future leaders are truly commendable.

You bet we banks are for the 4-H Clubs. We can't think of a better project to lend our support. It is with pride that we do what we can to help further the worthwhile work of the 4-H Clubs. We feel this is the kind of encouragement these young folks need and we urge you all to lend your support to the future of America. It's the best investment we know of.

The labor market

Undercurrents of displeasure have rippled through St. Johns in recent days brought on by the shortsighted observation that "no labor market exists" for industrial growth in this area.

We may be dense but our experience has proved that solid industrial growth providing stable opportunities for workers will attract its own market. Workers, like industry itself, will seek the areas of greatest opportunity and once discovered will establish themselves.

Cause of the concern is the announcement of a new industry for the city which ultimately should employ upwards of 180 persons. It is ironic that this firm requires the category of labor which, according to Michigan Department of Commerce figures, has the greatest surplus of personnel of any group in the Lansing metropolitan area.

The new industry, Stylemaster Homes Corp. will need employees skilled in construction and related woodworking fields. There is most assuredly the possibility that they will draw from the existing labor market, perhaps cause some workers to change places of employment, but in the period of time it takes Stylemaster to reach their ultimate production capacity here they will have generated sufficient interest to attract capable and experienced workers into this market.

Interest groups in St. Johns should be appreciative that some firm selected this site for location. Hundreds, perhaps thousands, of other cities across the country have striven for years to attract large activities to their communities to strengthen the ever diminishing tax base. It's a long and difficult battle to win and few communities comparable to St. Johns have enjoyed the sweet taste of victory.

The addition of the new firm will not only create jobs and attract workers, but it will also enhance the business climate of the area, providing potential for shops and services which complement expansion. This, too, encourages an influx of labor.

Despite the whispers of dissent, Stylemaster has selected St. Johns, which to some extent suggests a more positive attitude than some which currently prevail here. We sometimes become fearful of outsiders, but outsiders who propose investments whose dollar signs are followed by a half dozen or more numbers obviously appreciate something about our area that we've failed to recognize. While that something may have been latent for a period of time there were others in earlier times who quite apparently spotted the same attraction.

There is great propensity for human nature to cull negativity but those of stature who overcome this motivation are those who become recognized as leaders. Clinton County grew because of ideas which transcend mundane concerns. If management of the incoming firm did not operate on the same level they would not have inquired into the possibilities of expansion into Clinton County. And what's more, they would not have been asked.

Little men talk about people; big men talk about things, but great men talk about ideas and ideas spring from enthusiasm over what can be.

One Year Ago

Aug. 13, 1969

United Fund President Bill Patton made official appointments and work assignments for the campaign drive set for Oct. 16 to Nov. 11. Initial assignments went to Lawrence Merignac and Jim Leon, who served as co-chairman for industrial solicitations.

A float parade was to be among the highlights as the annual Clinton County 4-H Club Fair drew to a close.

St. Johns High School Vocational Director Ken Lashaway announced that the building trades class would start construction of a $25,000 three-bedroom modern house and two-car garage. The course was part of the industrial education curriculum under Lashaway's direction including business education and home making. The house is located at 606 S. Lansing St.

The Pedestrian Safety Citation was presented to Harvey Weatherwax, city manager and Police Chief Everett Glazier by Jerry Basch, safety education consultant with the Automobile Association of America. St. Johns was cited for its record of no pedestrian deaths and meeting AAA standards of program performance. 1969 was the seventh consecutive year the city had received the award.

Firemen from St. Johns, Westphalia, Fowler and DeWitt battled desperately for several hours trying to save a barn owned by Mrs. Henry Witt. The barn, located on Jason Road, a half-mile east of Francis Road, was the second barn on Jason to be destroyed by lightning within a week. Losses were estimated at $15,000.

Michigan members of the Future Farmers of America (FFA) were converting their livestock raising experience into cash at the 13th annual hog and steer sales at the Wolverine Stockyards in St. Johns.

Clinton County 4-H members - 1,150 of them - descended on city park for the three day 23rd annual 4-H Fair. Don Walker, county 4-H agent, expected 2,150 entries and exhibits making another record year for the event.

BANNER HEADLINES: WORLD WAR II IS OVER! President Truman announced the capitulation of the vanquished Japanese Empire at 6 p.m. Tuesday Aug. 14. His announcement marked the beginning of a truce that would last a few days until Gen. Douglas MacArthur, supreme allied commander, could accept formal Japanese surrender on the basis of the Potsdam declaration.

That Tuesday night's victory celebration in the streets of St. Johns brought back memories to those who recalled the wild jubilee that existed on Nov. 11, 1918 when Germany surrendered to end the first World War.

The coin's edge

By RON HUARD

It's a strange, strange world we live in, Master Jack. And getting stranger all the time. It used to be so simple. Everything had its place. There were two sides to every coin and if the thing did land on its edge it was a joke. The gray areas between black and white used to bring wrinkles not blows to the brow and the word fairness seemed to have some sort of meaning.

But, Jack, those days are gone. There's little use in worrying about the sides of the coin or the black or white areas of a question cuz it's the edge and middle that count these days. But one fact still remains: the best way to find fairness is to convince yourself you must take a few raps along with the swinging deals.

So now the boys on the bench have thrown another curve at us. They've decided that just about everything except the students' sweatsox and hairspray must be repaying some graying guy with a hanging gut. But the coin has been tossed the white and black has been painted, but once again its the edge, the gray area, that adds complexity to the situation.

It wouldn't be too surprising to see the boys in the robes faced with another question soon. One that will come from the man in the middle, the little guy on the edge of the coin.

This middle area seemed to provide a lotta laughs in the past. I don't think we'll be so tickled as time passes.

Gasoline rationing ended following the announcement of the Japanese surrender. So did the rationing of fuel oil, oil stoves and all blue point foods, including canned goods, fruits and vegetables. But rationing of meats, fats and oils, butter, sugar, shoes and tires would continue until lowered military requirements and increased production would bring civilian supplies more nearly in balance with civilian demands.

Biggest movie attraction of the week: "Hangover Square," starring Laird Cregar, Linda Darnell and George Sanders.

Editorial comment: "Of course no one knows just how fast reconversion will take place, but transportation seems to be number one in the situation. Planes overhead; railroads keeping the tracks hot; the automobile industry raring to go..."

'IF IT FITZ ...

Bullies become heroes if they're on our side

By JIM FITZGERALD

The movie "Patton" was ok and the star, George Scott, was magnificent. But I'm worried about the audience. They kept laughing in the wrong places. It reminded me uncomfortably of those 1940 war movies which always contained the same cliches:

John Wayne was a Marine on typewriter duty in San Diego, working alongside 16 well-stacked broads. And he hated it. He wanted action. He wanted to kill Japs and Germans. He begged his commanding officer for a transfer "to the front." But the officer refused, saying John was too valuable in the typing pool and couldn't be spared and besides, didn't he realize they also serve who only sit and beat off women. John finally got to the front and won the war but it wasn't easy. He had to knock a friendly platoon unconscious and take its place aboard a landing craft at Okinawa. And he had to make a wisecrack every time he socked a buddy, or bayoneted a Jap.

People stamped their feet and whistled when Big John showed those dirty Japs what was what, by God. From the safety of a theatre in Michigan, war appeared to be a glorious endeavor indeed.

It isn't. Not at the front. It's blood and misery and stink and weariness. It's degrading and stupid and cold and hot and lonely and the total loss of your best friend. And any man who says he WANTS to fight, rather than help girls change typewriter ribbons, is automatically suspect. He's never been shot at. Or he's a phony. Or he's a little bit nuts.

General George Patton was part maniac. A pompous, posturing martinet who admitted he loved leading men into battle. He was worried sick that World War II would end before he killed enough Germans to become a national hero. When the Germans quit, he wanted to kill Russians. He was angered by any assignment that didn't pit him against the enemy, nose to nose, blood gushing. He thought he really was John Wayne.

That's exactly the way George Scott portrayed Patton in the movie. To me, it was an anti-war film. When Patton slapped a frightened soldier, or bragged about how many men he had killed, I cringed. I wondered how many more like him are left in the Pentagon. But all around me, people were laughing. To much of the audience, Patton was a lovable hero. Oh, a little eccentric, of course. But gee, what a man! Look at him terrorize people. Listen to him curse! He's not scared of anyone, by golly.

There was a scene where Patton comforted wounded American boys by telling them he'd just seen some German boys in worse shape—their heads were blown off. It made my eyeballs sting. But the man next to me slapped his knee and snorted in delight and admiration.

I shouldn't be surprised that a 1970 audience can be delighted by General Patton, the brute of World War II. Nothing important has changed much in 25 years. We're still a civilization that punches, rather than reasons, and we still admire the guy who punches hardest. When bullies fight on our side, they become heroes.

Washington insiders say President Nixon was much impressed with the movie "Patton." He saw it a second time, just before ordering the invasion of Cambodia.

Good Lord, did Nixon laugh in the wrong places?

The lesson of Goose Lake

By TIM YOUNKMAN

Well, more than 200,000 citizens of the Woodstock Nation are back in their homes or heading across country for another festival.

Some of the Jackson County residents are glad to see them go. Others are not as happy.

The New World, or Woodstock Nation, or Hippies, or if you prefer the Goose Lake Generation brought a lot of bread into that area.

Contrary to what has been said by unsympathetic critics of these young people, most of them have jobs, buy gasoline for their cars, fancy fringed and beaded clothes, food for their stomachs, and more beer and wine (than pot) for their minds.

Guitar, drums, tamborine and recording equipment sales are out of sight—and guess who purchases the majority of these?

At Goose Lake, there were thousands of tents and tens of thousands of sleeping bags and even some fancy camping trucks.

If even half of the people there paid to get in (the estimate is actually 75 per cent) at $15 per ticket, that amounts to $1.5 million—hardly chicken feed.

The whole idea of Goose Lake or Woodstock is to have a place relatively free from what many view an overly organized and regimented society, just for a day or two. Some may stay a week or a year, knowing all the while that they will return to the normal life of earning a dollar and conforming to most of the societal rules.

Now comes the main objection most "straights" use to condemn the young—drugs. It's true. Drug traffic at Woodstock or Goose Lake or any rock concert is open. In a carnival atmosphere the barkers shout their wares. Hash, dope, Mexican grass, THC, Mesc.

It is a shame that some of the kids end up in hospitals or graveyards—or worse, hooked for life. Does it make sense that banning a rock concert or festival, insulting and degrading youth in general or depending on a reactionary movement to stomp out non-conformity will end the traffic?

If the kids want the stuff, they'll get it and probably just as easily over a period of time. The real villains are the big-time pushers. The organized crime network people who make a living at ruining other people's lives.

Goose Lake was no exception. Walking across a parking lot drive, I noticed a large white Cadillac, with air conditioning, a bit unusual even for kids with money.

Four men were seated inside the car and they were not there to see the show. Just their profits.

Who's going to stop them? You, me or maybe President Nixon? The point is, people will experiment no matter how expensive it is or legally risky.

Instead of busting kids with an official, nab the pusher or importer. Put him away for 10 to 20 years instead of your son or daughter who has no other motive than to have a good time.

It's amazing to see a new generation or breed of people develop a new moral code with subtle rules and limits, and actually put it to use.

Religious and racial bias is almost non-existent. Lack of bread and no job for a while doesn't draw sneers and bars. Free love is exactly that. The music is not degraded by musicians but encouraged and used as a basis of experimentation.

Promoters may tag the Goose Lake Generation with such attractions as "Peace, Love and Music." Almost 2,000 years ago the "Man" in Palestine preached two-thirds of that philosophy—the music is just a bonus.

Another look

By REP. WILLIAM S. BALLENGER

Although the lion's share of both publicity and citizen concern, in the area of environmental protection and preservation, was dominated by HB 3055, several other anti-pollution measures passed into law this year should not be overlooked.

For instance, HB 2545, which permits the use of state prisoners for work on county public projects, could be a significant anti-litter vehicle, if properly utilized.

HB 2734 requires holding tanks on commercial and certain pleasure watercraft and should combat the addition of raw sewage to the Great Lakes from this source. Likewise, HB 3767, regulating campgrounds, can certainly be termed an environmental gain.

House Bills 3991 and 4052 and Senate Bill 1173 all serve to implement further the anti-pollution bond issue approved by the people at the last general election. SB 1205 adds to the flexibility of this program by permitting land acquisition with the matching funds.

SB 1472 should serve to preserve the landscape of scenic roads.

The widely-publicized HB 3055, which was written by U-M law professor Joseph Sax and refined substantially by Gov. Milliken's staff, permits an individual citizen to take court action against polluters without proving he has personally suffered damages. Its real value remains to be seen. A strong argument could be made that the individual citizen has fulfilled his responsibilities when he brings a source of pollution to the attention of the proper authorities and should not be expected to bear the burden of court action—particularly when such action could be taken by the Attorney General of Michigan, in a few highly-publicized instances, and should have been taken long ago in numerous well-known instances of glaring abuses.

Although little publicized, the most serious setback to anti-pollution progress was the failure, in the Democrat-controlled House, of HB 4158 to be reported out of committee. This bill would have established a new bonding authority, at little or no cost to the taxpayers, to make long-term, low-interest loans to industries otherwise unable to afford needed pollution-control equipment and facilities. All too often, a present, such industries are faced with a choice of closing down or moving out of the state—and neither choice is desirable in light of the present unemployment picture.

Turning to recreation and tourism measures enacted in 1970, I should probably mention first HB 2160, the Omnibus Sportsman's License bill giving outdoorsmen the option of purchasing a single, cheaper multi-purpose license in lieu of many different single-purpose tags.

HB 2103 requires that weapons being carried to and from deer-hunting camps by car be locked in the trunk. This should curb illegal shooting but not hinder sportsmen in any way.

HB 3026 brings tourist and resort facilities under the provision of the industrial development bond act and should assist communities where tourism is the sole or most logical industry in attracting such facilities in the same manner as this act has assisted other communities in attracting industrial plants.

SB 757 and 761 improve the laws governing game preserves and should assist in expanding these recreation facilities.
