New 7-mile stretch of US-127 to open Aug 27

LANSING — A long-awaited seven-mile section of US-127 Freeway bypassing Lansing will be opened to traffic Tuesday, Aug 27 the State Highway Commission has announced.

The section will connect the present terminus of US-127 between Lansing and East Lansing with US-27 near DeWitt. It will provide US-127 traffic with a direct route through the populous northeast Lansing area, eliminating a traffic bottleneck at the US-127 and M-43 (Saginaw Street) intersection.

A small section of the new freeway near DeWitt will serve as part of the future route of the planned I-69 Freeway from Charlotte to Perry.

Public dedication ceremonies, sponsored by the Lansing Regional Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the Department of State Highways and Transportation, will be held 11 am at the Lake Lansing Road interchange. Details of the ceremony will be announced.

Negotiations successful in St Johns District

ST JOHNS — It has been announced by Earl Lancaster, St Johns School superintendent, that tentative agreement has been reached between the district's negotiating teams.

DeWitt Twp vote opens way for square dancing bar

DEWITT TWP — After about an hour of debate, the DeWitt Township Board approved the granting of a liquor license to Mr and Mrs Eldon Bell to open up a bar on the corner of US 27 and Wieland-Rd. The vote was approved 4-1, with Dale Emerson voting in the negative, saying he wanted 2 more weeks to consider it. Treasurer Oliver Angell and Bill Purvis were absent from the meeting.

The police committee had originally voted 4-1 on Aug 7 in favor of denying Bell the permit. The police committee, headed by Trustee Eileen Corr, felt that there were too many bars within the area, even though the majority existed just south of the county line.

One person at the meeting suggested that since only 2 liquor permits remained until 1980, they should be saved for either a big chain like Holiday Inn or a bar in the northern part of the township.

Emerson agreed with the idea of there being too many bars in the proposed location and questioned the success of such a project.

Bell pointed out that his bar would be different from the others since it would feature something that no other bar in the Lansing area has as of yet — square dancing. The audience attending the meeting were very favorable to the proposal and as one unidentified man said "If you have square dancing, I'll be there every night."

After the approval of the liquor permit, Bell stated to the press after the meeting, "I appreciate the board acting on the proposal on their own merits." Bell hopes to have the place ready in 90 days.

POWELL WANTS RETRACTION

The meeting had opened with Ted Powell, owner of King Arthur's (Mobile Home) Court asking for a letter of retraction to each and every resident of King Arthur's stating that Powell had not lied to the tenants that they were being charged $4 more per family than any other resident of DeWitt Township for the sewer system.

Powell had sent to the residents of the trailer court a letter dated July 15 explaining that each residential unit had to pay $10.50 a month like everyone else in the township for a sewer system plus $4 extra for the building and maintenance of a lift station to create an efficient, non-polluting system. Powell accused the township of forcing the residents of King Arthur's Court to pay more than other taxpayers in the community.

The board, it was reported, replied in an official letter to the residents of the trailer court stating that Powell had lied to his tenants and the $4 extra was his choice, not the board's. Powell presented his complaint to the board last Monday, asking for a letter of retraction. The Board refused.

Powell said that Board should pay for the lift station and Trustee Jack Kzeski would not go along with it since he felt that the board had not received enough data to act upon the matter.

The confrontation between Powell and the board ended with the board not retracting its statement and at the closing of the meeting, looking into what action they should take if Powell decides not to go into the sewer after the lines have already been extended out to his park.

St Johns denies re-zoning for apartments

ST. JOHNS - A proposed ordinance to change 5 areas in an area within the Emmons, Cass, Church and Baldwin Street boundaries of St. Johns to multiple family failed 3-2 at the Monday night meeting of the St. Johns City Commission. The re-zoning was requested to permit addition of apartments to a house now containing 6 apartments owned by Mark Barber. Barber had requested to rezoning to add the apartments, stating the increased revenue from additional rentals would allow him to make extensive renovations to the older home structure. Area residents at the meeting opposed the multiple family rezoning saying they didn't want more apartment structures in the residential areas. Included in the discussions were charges of broken promises concerning work in the apartments and denials by Barber of the charges. Complaints about Barber's management came from surrounding home owners told of the incidents by renters. However, no statements were issued by actual renters in the building, if any were present at the meeting.

In the end, a motion to reject the zoning request passed 3-2 with Mayor Robert Wood and commissioners Roy Ebert and John Hannah voting to reject the ordinance. Gerald Wilcox and John Archart voted no on the rejection motion. In other business, Clare Maler, fire chief, asked the City Commission for their opinion of the vacant land next to Morton Street near the high school. This year, there were complaints about the celebration from home owners in the area, clinging traffic hazards etc. When asked if the celebration would not be held again if it couldn't be in the same area, Maler said "off the record," it might not be held again if not in the same area. He explained the carnival owner was not receptive to moving the operation into the 4-H grounds, a proposal by area homeowners. The City Commission said they would study the matter and report back to the fire department.

ATTORNEY'S OPINION ON CONFLICT OF INTEREST

Gerald Wilcox read an opinion by Paul Maples, city attorney, stating he did not feel a vote by Roy Ebert to establish an account at Central National Bank was in conflict of interest because Ebert is a stockholder of the bank. Maples said a further opinion would have to be based on receiving information of what percentage of stock was owned, nature of the stock and if a direct or indirect profit was gained from the vote.

Dead raccoons lead to arrest of man

ST. JOHNS - A 32-year-old Jackson man, formerly of St. Johns, has been arrested and charged with destruction of property after 2 dead raccoons were left in a new Ford, ultimately making the car unuseable. During the investigation of that incident, Clinton County Sheriff's Dept officials received information that led to the arrest of another individual in connection with the cattle rustling in the area last year. Gary Hull, 32, was charged with the destruction of a 1974 Ford belonging to Paul Eldridge of St. Johns.

He demanded examination, set for Aug 26. The raccoons were allegedly placed in the car at the Eldridge home at 6342 W. Kinley Rd while the family was away on vacation. A tip during that investigation led to the subsequent arrest of Kim Martin, 19, Rt 2, St. Johns, who was charged with larceny of cattle. He was charged with the theft of 3 Holstein calves from the Hugo Fox farm at 2158 N. Airport Rd. Martin demanded examination, set for Aug 21.

Duster V-8 beat Nova 6 in city driving.

It's true! According to recent U.S. Auto Club tests, our Plymouth Duster, equipped with our standard 318 V-8, got more miles per gallon, in city driving, than 6-cylinder Novas. That might be one of the reasons why America's best-selling compacts come from Plymouth. And right now our 8 great small car buys are even better buys, 'cause it's Clean-Up Time, with great clearance prices. C'mon in. Check out Duster now.

It costs us more to keep 'em than to sell 'em. So c'mon in for a Clean-up Deal.

Explain hunting regulations for pheasant put-take

LANSING - With the start of a new hunter control system at four of Michigan's 17 put take pheasant areas this fall, the Department of Natural Resources is informing license dealers that they will be permitted to sell licenses out of sequence.

New regulations this year for the four areas permit hunters with license numbers ending in even numbers to hunt only on even-numbered days. Those with odd numbers can only hunt on odd-numbered days.

If a father and son or old friends wish to hunt together, they may now ask the license dealer to sell them licenses which have either odd or even similar last numbers.

The odd-even system will be in effect at the Gourdneck State Game Area near Kalamazoo and the Holly and Bald Mountain Recreation Areas and Wetzel State Park north of Detroit.

The DNR put-take pheasant program provides a longer hunting season on state-owned lands. This year's season will run September 16 - November 14 and December 1 - January 5, 1975. This will permit deer hunting in the put-take areas without complicating put-take pheasant regulations.

Shooting hours have been shortened and will be from 10 am to 7 pm but hunters will be allowed to hunt for all seven days of the week during the season with two exceptions. Last year there was no hunting on Thursday and Friday.

The two exceptions to seven-day hunting are Wetzel State Park and Gregory State Game Area the latter not under the odd-even regulation. Local regulations prohibit Sunday hunting in these areas.

The length of season and shooting hours also apply to the other areas not under the odd-even hunting program. These are Barry, Darsville, Deford, Flat River, Gratiot-Saginaw, Gregory, Lapeer, Portland, Rogue River, Sharonville and Three Rivers State Game Areas; Ionia State Recreation Area and Sleepy Hollow State Park.

In another effort to ease hunting pressure in all 17 areas, two pheasant releases are planned for each area each week. These releases will be made on varying days to permit more uniform usage of the areas and better hunting success.

Additional information on the put take pheasant season is available from local DNR conservation officers and in the 1974-75 Michigan Big Game-Small Game Hunting Guide at local license dealers.

It's called privacy

When David Daniels, 17, son of Mr and Mrs Wayne Austin, 107 N. Ottawa, St Johns went camping with his cousin, Mark Clark of Kalkaska, they wanted "privacy" and that's what they got on the Manistee River when they chose this island for a campsite. Both carried their gear, including the tent, to the island by swimming. The pair had originally planned to camp elsewhere, but didn't care for the site and trekked 6 miles to swim out to the campsite.

Seed alfalfa now

By WILLIAM LASHER
Extension Agriculture Agent

Summer seedings of alfalfa made now will yield about as much next year and for several years as spring seedings made in oats.

Summer seeding dates would be between late July and August 30 for south central Michigan. M.S.U. tests at East Lansing from 1969 through 1972 showed that spring seedings of alfalfa in oats yielded seven tons the next year, and summer seedings made on Aug 12 yielded 6.2 tons the next year. In the second harvest year, yields were the same from both seeding dates, in the third and fourth years, the summer seedings outyielded spring seedings.

About one out of four alfalfa seedings is made in summer. Seedings made in July or August are generally successful on fallowed ground or after wheat stubble has been plowed under and prepared by disking, dragging, and cultipacking before seeding. Seedings on wheat stubble properly plowed and prepared have been much more successful than seedings made in the spring on top of winter wheat.

Other summer seedings are generally successful when seeded on fallowed ground to control quackgrass and other weeds or after oat harvest.

If soil pH is below 6.8 it should be corrected by liming to help insure success of summer seedings. Soil tests will indicate the phosphorus and potassium needed. Generally, 400 pounds of a high analysis fertilizer as 0-20-20 is recommended when seedings, if yields of 5 tons or more of hay per acre is expected.

Band seeding is preferred to broadcast seeding because of greater seedling vigor and winter survival. The soil should be cultipacked before seeding. Press wheels or a cultipacker after a seeding are a "must" - they help emergence and almost insure a stand. Seedings without cultipacking are likely to be failures.

Eight to twelve pounds of seed will give maximum yields of alfalfa seeded in spring or summer.

Generally the twelve pound seeding rate should be used so that as the stand is three to four years old, an adequate number of plants will be present for high yields.

Inoculation before planting is always recommended. The inoculated seed purchased this spring should be re-inoculated before seeding.

Saranac, a French-type wilt-resistant alfalfa is one of the best varieties for stands to be left for two to four years because of its wilt resistance, moderate winter hardiness, and high yields.

For long term stands - five years or more - or for pasture, Vernal and other wilt-resistant, winter hardy North American varieties are recommended.

Wilt-susceptible are not recommended for Michigan.

Games for traveling

Chloe Padgett
Clinton County Home Economist

Having the kids along on a vacation is fun, but they often get bored when in the car very long.

Here are a few games to keep them occupied:

LICENSE BINGO:

Each player makes a bingo card with nine boxes. Mark each box with a two-digit number, making sure that no two boxes have the same number.

One player watches the license plates of each car and calls out the first two digits on the plate. When a player hears his number called, he crosses it out.

SCAVENGER HUNT:

Before you leave on the trip, make up a list of different articles that may be seen along the road. For example: a cow, a pig, a barn, a lake, etc.

Each player is given a list and a pencil. The first person to see an item calls it out loud, and then marks it off his list. The first player to see and call all items, wins.

PUZZLES:

Before leaving, cut out a picture from a magazine and glue it to a piece of cardboard. Then cut the picture into different shaped pieces, with size and number of pieces according to child's age. Your child will have a puzzle to put together on the trip.

ROADSIDE ALPHABET:

Have the children look at signs along the road and pick out letters from the alphabet in their proper order. As each child spots a letter he calls it out and gets credit for it. The winner is the child who has spotted the most letters first when the end of the alphabet is reached.

Here are some recipes that might add up to some late summertime fun, when you return from your vacation

"PLAY DOUGH"

1 C. salt, 3 C. flour, 2 Tbsp Oil (if you have it). Enough plain or colored water to make soft dough (about 1 1/2 cups). Mix together (let the kids do it). Will keep if covered in refrigerator for several weeks. Add more flour or water if too sticky or dry.

"HOME MADE PASTE"

3 C. water, 1 C. flour, 1 tsp Alum, 1 C. water. Mix the flour and water (1 Cup each) into a smooth paste. Bring the 3 cups water to boil and slowly add the paste, stirring constantly. Add Alum. Put into jar with cover.

"SOAP SUDS FINGER PAINTING"

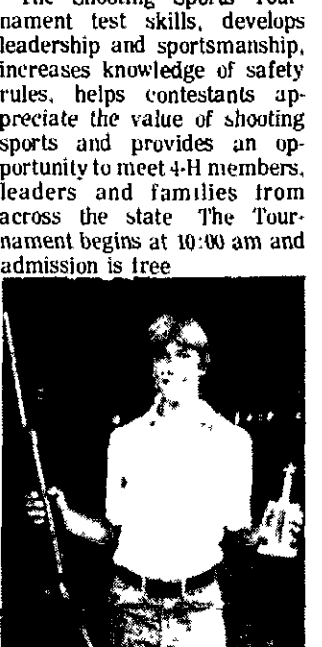

Soap flakes (Lux or Ivory - not a detergent). Water.

Add equal amounts of soap and water together in a bowl. Beat with an egg beater or shake in a jar until stiff like egg whites.

Use for finger paint - put a glob on a tray; or use brown wrapping paper or grocery bags to paint on. Even the kitchen table works fine - and the soap washes right off.

Alive And Well

There's one number the American Cancer Society just loves - 1,500,000. That's the number of Americans alive today who are cured of cancer. And, their ranks could be even greater, says the Society, if everyone understood the importance of an annual physical checkup including cancer tests.

As Michigan's harvesting operations accelerate, danger of farm equipment accidents increase, warns Dr Richard G. Pfister, Michigan State University extension safety engineer.

He says farmers should realize potential hazards of hauling forage and grain loads on roadways and take appropriate precautions.

More than 225 people were injured and 10 killed last year in traffic accidents involving farm equipment. One-third of all tractor accidents occur on the road even though the average farm tractor is used there one of every 25 operating hours.

When farmers are on the road, they should maintain a controllable speed and avoid sharp turns when leaving or entering a roadway, especially when hauling heavy loads. The chances of a tipover increase four times when speed is doubled, and this can fool the operator because he may not be used to hauling a loaded wagon after pulling comparatively light equipment on the road.

Going downhill with a heavy load can be dangerous because of the extra weight combined with the tractor's momentum. Sometimes the operator forgets the tractor's brakes are not adequate to control that extra four or five miles an hour.

The chances of overturning also increase when heavy loads are pulled through hilly areas. Operators should add weights to the front of the tractor for stability on sharp slopes and move cautiously.

Pfister advised that the tractor should be as heavy as the load being pulled. Too often, for reasons of efficiency, farmers use older and smaller tractors which can be quite unstable on the road when the load is heavier than the tractor, the operator is heading for trouble.

Rear wheels should be set out as far as possible. This will help stability, and when duals are used, chance of a tip-over is reduced.

Operators should be particularly cautious when traveling roads where road graders have recently worked. "Quite often they leave clods of dirt along the shoulder. If an operator strikes one of these, he can lose control," Pfister said.

Age is a contributor to farm equipment accidents. Operators under 15 and over 65 are four to five times more likely to have an accident per hour of use on public roads than those between 25 and 44.

It would be well if younger operators completed high school driver education before being allowed on the roads with farm equipment. This would give them a better understanding of what the motorist faces when a tractor and wagon are encountered.

Good frame and cab design are as important to the operator's safety as are his driving habits.

Any driver on the roadway should be sure to have bright and clean SMV signs on their equipment. When signs become faded, accident chances may increase. We have evidence that collision frequency decreases when they are properly used.

1974 SEASON
ST. JOHNS LITTLE LEAGUE WRAPUP

Special Issue

Clinton County News

AUGUST 15, 1974

3D ANNUAL

Barb and Becky Downing, 2 of the Mr and Mrs Jack Downing children, show the pride in their dad that the whole community feels for his unselfish efforts to make the St Johns Little League a success since 1963.

Jack is also the prime "mover and shaker" in the Pony League Program in St Johns.

But, to tell the truth, we think Jack's getting a little embarrassed with us paying him a little tribute each year in thanks for his many hours of work in the youth programs.

So, Jack, this year we won't say anything about your dedication to the youth of St Johns, the many hours you devote to insure a successful program year after year, not to mention also the hours spent in helping the Jaycees in their Soapbox Derby.

We'll just say "thank-you, Jack."

casey at the bat

by Ernest Lawrence Thayer

(1863 - 1940)

The outlook wasn't brilliant for the Mudville nine that day;
The score stood four to two, with but one inning more to play;
And so, when Cooney died at first, and Barrows did the same,
A sickly silence fell upon the patrons of the game.

A straggling few got up to go in deep despair. The rest
Clung to the hope which springs eternal in the human breast:
They thought, if only Casey could but get a whack, at that,
They'd put even money now, with Casey at the bat.

But Flynn preceded Casey, as did also Jimmy Blake,
And the former was a pudding and the latter was a fake.
So upon that stricken multitude grim melancholy sat,
For there seemed but little chance of Casey's getting to the bat.

But Flynn let drive a single, to the wonderment of all,
And Blake, the much despised, tore the cover off the ball.
And when the dust had lifted, and they saw what had occurred,
There was Jimmy safe on second, and Flynn a-hugging third.

Then from the gladdened multitude went up a joyous yell,
It bounded from the mountain-top and rattled in the dell.
It struck upon the hillside, and recoiled upon the flat,
For Casey, mighty Casey, was advancing to the bat.

There was ease in Casey's manner as he stepped into his place,
There was pride in Casey's bearing and a smile on Casey's face.
And when, responding to the cheers, he lightly doffed his hat,
No stranger in the crowd could doubt 'twas Casey at the bat.

Ten thousand eyes were on him as he rubbed his hands with dirt,
Five thousand tongues applauded when he wiped them on his shirt.
Then while the writhing pitcher ground the ball into his hip,
Defiance gleamed in Casey's eye, a sneer curled Casey's lip.

And now the leather covered sphere came hurtling through the air,
And Casey stood a-watching it in haughty grandeur there;
Close by the sturdy batsman the ball unheeded sped.
"That ain't my style," said Casey. "Strike one," the umpire said.

From the benches, black with people, there went up a muffled roar,
Like the beating of the storm-waves on a stern and distant shore.
"Kill him! Kill the umpire!" shouted someone on the stand.
And it's likely they'd have killed him had not Casey raised his hand.

With a smile of Christian charity great Casey's visage shone,
He stilled the rising tumult; he bade the game go on;
He signaled to the pitcher, and once more the spheroid flew,
But Casey still ignored it and the umpire said, "Strike two!"

"Fraud!" cried the maddened thousands, and the echo answered, "Fraud!"
But a scornful look from Casey, and the audience was awed.
They saw his face grow stern and cold, they saw his muscles strain,
And they knew that Casey wouldn't let that ball go by again.

The sneer is gone from Casey's lips, his teeth are clenched in hate,
He pounds with cruel violence his bat upon the plate;
And now the pitcher holds the ball, and now he lets it go,
And now the air is shattered by the force of Casey's blow.

Oh! somewhere in this favored land the sun is shining bright,
The band is playing somewhere, and somewhere hearts are light;
And somewhere men are laughing, and somewhere children shout,
But there is no joy in Mudville — mighty Casey has struck out.

The wide-awake bank makes it all so easy.
