

Mediator called in on St. Johns teacher talks

By RON KARLE
Editor

It appeared early this week that contract talks between the St. Johns Education Association and the Board of Education would resume with the assistance of a state mediator.

Although arrangements for a mediator had been made several days ago, both sides had expressed hope before the weekend that enough progress might be made at a meeting Monday to offset the necessity of outside help.

But after the meeting Monday, Supt. Earl Lancaster said, "It looks like we'll go right to mediation."

Chuck Agerstrand, president of the teacher's association also showed little optimism that a settlement would be reached before next Monday when the mediator is scheduled to meet with both sides.

"I'm not sure how good at this point chances are for settlement before mediation," said Agerstrand. "It looks like we'll probably have to look at mediation.

The State Labor Mediation Board had designated Ed Connors to come into St. Johns at the request of both parties.

Salary is the biggest problem," Agerstrand told the News Friday.

"We are trying to maintain flexibility in order to arrive at a settlement that both sides can live with," he added. "I indicated to Earl that we were going to be as flexible as possible. We're aware of the district's financial condition and we are going to live within the financial limits of the district."

"We weren't very happy at the prospects of going to mediation," said Agerstrand. "We thought we could settle before."

But, he said, if settlement had not been reached, "we faced the possibility of not getting a mediator prior to the opening of school."

School is scheduled to reopen Wednesday, Sept. 2 with half-day sessions set for some grades on the day before that and teacher meetings for Monday, Aug. 31.

Agerstrand said the teachers had proposed a base (starting) salary of $7,600 which "was not our final offer."

But, he added, "we haven't gotten movement from the board. They've hung on to $7,420 as a base and then indicated mediation, so we said ok."

A week ago Agerstrand charged the board with "dragging its feet" and publicly said "the only recourse is submission of our proposals to mediation" as a possible way out of the "impasse."

Agerstrand said Friday there was much feeling, both pro and con, over "whether or not this should be in the press. But when you reach an impasse such as this, the public should know."

Lancaster, who has been meeting with the teachers' group along with school board members William Richards and Fred Meyer, issued a statement Friday in response to the association's charge of foot-dragging.

CITING six major differences, Lancaster said that "the parents and taxpayers have the right to know the reasons for the so-called impasse which could result in a delay in the opening of school."

Lancaster said that the teachers had first sought a base starting salary of $8,000 and that the board had countered with $7,420 before the teachers came back with $7,600.

Last year's starting salary was $7,000.

Five other areas of contention cited by Lancaster were a change in the grievance procedure, class size policy, sabbatical leave, longevity pay and fringe benefits.

Said Lancaster:

"Since the board had already agreed to accept 185 working days, to shorten the work day by 25 minutes, to completely cover the hospitalization insurance program at a cost of $38,000 and had offered to pay a salary schedule comparable to and above some other communities at a cost of $130,000, it was felt by members that this was a fair and equitable settlement."

"However," he added, "because the members of the teachers' committee did not share this view, it was agreed that an impasse had been reached and mediation was agreed upon."

DeWitt teachers, ed board differ on 170 paragraphs

By TIM YOUNKMAN
News Staff Writer

DeWitt teachers and school board representatives agreed Wednesday (Aug. 12) to meet for three more bargaining sessions this week in an effort to draft a workable contract before the Sept. 1 school opening.

The DeWitt Education Association

(DEA) and school Supt. James Ritchie agreed to meet Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, Aug. 18-20 after attending a state mediation board hearing in Lansing.

DEA representatives said the state mediator, Edward Connors, was presented with a list of "over 170 unresolved paragraphs" in the disputed teachers' contract.

Connors indicated that 15 to 20 unresolved items would be a full schedule for mediation.

"He suggested that we begin negotiating there, but Ritchie said he didn't have a lot of time to spend," the DEA spokesman said.

Ritchie was not available for comment Monday.

The formal negotiations for a new teachers' contract began June 4 with the final session ending Aug. 6. At that time the two parties had agreed on only 18 points, none of which were the major issues.

No terms have been reached on salary changes, insurance policies, class size, binding arbitration, minority contributions and agency shop.

If no agreement is reached after the three sessions, the matter will return to the state mediator Aug. 25.

In a related matter Thursday, Ritchie agreed to furnish the school district's financial information to the DEA, after the teachers' group filed charges of unfair labor practices against the DeWitt Board of Education July 30.

The agreement came after a public hearing before the Michigan Employment Relations Commission (MERC) in Lansing.

Raymond Unger, DEA negotiator, said the charges were filed after Ritchie's "refusal to release school district financial reports and faculty salary information pertinent to negotiations."

When presented with the charges, Ritchie "capitulated" and "agreed to provide the finan-

Proposal approved by teachers at O-E

A two-year contract providing for salary increases, full health and hospital insurance and "improved" agency shop clause which requires all teachers to join the education association, was approved by the Ovid-Elsie Education Association last week.

The new pact was ratified at a special meeting Thursday night, according to Robert Lloyd, chief negotiator for the association.

The proposal has not yet received approval of the board of education which is expected to consider it at the next board meeting.

The new pact calls for a $500 annual increase in starting salaries for teachers with a bachelor's degree and $800 hike for teachers at the top of the 11-step scale.

The new range is from $7,500 to $21,000 compared to last year's contract which ranged from $7,000 to $10,300.

Teachers with a bachelor's degree and 20 semester hours completed toward a master's degree will receive salaries ranging from $7,650 to $11,650, compared to $7,250 to $10,550.

Salary range for teachers with a master's degree is from $7,800 to $12,000, compared to $7,500 to $10,800.

Teachers with a master's and 30 hours towards an advanced degree will receive salaries ranging from $8,000 to $13,250, compared to $8,000 to $11,300.

"We do have economic issues which will be reopened next year," said Lloyd. "These are mainly salary, fringe benefits and payable extras."

He said there may be two other issues which either party, the board or the association, may also reopen.

There are 24 articles which either side may designate to be reopened next year.

Police clear suspect in DeWitt Twp. slaying

A man, unnamed by police, has been cleared and released after questioning in the slaying of a Wolverine Stockyard employee, State Police said Monday.

The man passed a polygraph (lie detector) test last week after police learned that he had differences with the victim, John Harrington, 49, 1721 Lenore St., Lansing, who was found stabbed to death Aug. 5 along a deserted stretch of Stoll Road near Chandler Road in DeWitt Township.

Det. Calvin Glassford of the East Lansing Post said the suspect had "no business" relations with Harrington, but did have a "personal dislike" for the victim.

"There was nothing to implicate him," Glassford said, but we decided to conduct a polygraph test "just to clear this area."

With the clearing of the suspect, Glassford said that they have received "no new leads or information."

He added that the state police are still looking for a reason outside the possibility of "a casual hitchhiker" who might have been given a ride by Harrington between 1 a.m. and 2:30 a.m.

"We haven't ruled out anything and will check on anything that comes to light," Glassford said.

He said that any citizen who might have seen Harrington during the one and one-half hour period should contact the East Lansing post at 120-332-2521.

Harrington was found by a passer-by at 2:40 a.m. Aug. 5. He was slumped in his parked auto on Stoll Road, one-third of a mile east of Chandler Road.

He had been working at a Future Farmers of America livestock sale at the St. Johns stockyards Aug. 4 and later attended a banquet with his wife at Daley's Restaurant, where he was last seen alive.

Police reports indicated that Mrs. Harrington had left the dinner party earlier in the evening and the victim followed shortly after 1 a.m.

Revised curfew is proposed for DeWitt

By TIM YOUNKMAN
News Staff Writer

A revised city curfew ordinance proposed by DeWitt city administrator Elden Smith would ban anyone under 21-years of age from congregating in public after 10 p.m.

The proposed amended Ordinance 45 terms those under 17-years of age as juveniles and those between 17 and 21 as minors.

The proposed measure states that "no juvenile under 17 years of age shall loiter, idle or congregate in or on any public street, highway, alley, or park, or on any motor vehicle on any public street, highway, alley, or park, between the hours of 10 p.m. and 6 a.m.," unless accompanied by an adult.

The measure provides that "any person assisting, abetting, aiding, allowing, permitting or encouraging any minor under the age of 21 years to violate the provisions" as guilty of a violation.

Any violation of the proposed ordinance would carry a fine of $100 or 90 days in the county jail, or both.

The actual changes in the present ordinance are in the area of age. The old ordinance age limit for the curfew was 18 years.

The amended ordinance was

Salary formula upsets elementary principals

The St. Johns Board of Education was told last week that five elementary school principals strongly object to responsibility factors assigned them under a new salary formula approved last month.

"We are very dissatisfied with the ratings we have received," said Mrs. Geraldine Whyman of Perrin-Palmer School who was spokesman for the group. "These ratings are really percentage factors to determine our salaries."

"In two of our cases, it was a decrease," she said. "We would like you to do something about it," she added. "We feel something must be done even if we must call in outside help."

She indicated that if satisfaction was not forthcoming from the board, the group would call in the Michigan Civil Rights Commission, state mediators and the Michigan Elementary Principals Association for support.

"I'm sure we'll take this under consideration," replied Raymond Parr, board president.

A meeting was suggested between Steve Bakita, administrative assistant, and the women.

Other women involved are Mrs. Ethel Huot, Swegles School; Mrs. Beverly Baker, East Essex School; Mrs. Vera Bryant, Eureka School, and Mrs. Margaret Puetz, East Ward School.

In another matter, the board in a 5-2 vote, agreed to continue a student dress code temporarily approved last year for the balance of the school year.

The code permits male students to grow beards and the girls to wear slacks to school.

Opposed to the code were Wendell Waggoner and Fred Meyer. Speaking in favor of the code was Gordon Vandemark, high school principal, who said that "there has been no change in the behavior of students as far as we are concerned."

"It did work out for us, we feel, very well," he added. "The kids are satisfied with it. They would like to see it continue and so would we."

SO THAT LITTLE LEAGUERS MAY SEE THE LIGHT

Ray Parr, left, presents Rotary Club President Bruce Fowler with a check for $35 to kick off a community fund-raising campaign aimed at getting lights for the St. Johns Little League field. The Lions, Exchange Club and the Jaycees have joined the Rotarians in the drive for $7,000, the estimated cost of the project. The Little League itself is sponsored by the Jaycees.

Fowler Schools set to open August 31

Plans are underway for the opening of Fowler schools on Monday Aug. 31, with staff assembling for orientation.

Students, except for the kindergarten, will attend Tuesday, Sept. 1 in the morning only. On Wednesday, Sept. 2, students will attend all day with the kindergarten in the village and south of M 21 attending the morning session and those north of M 21 outside the village attending the afternoon session.

Buses will operate on the same routes as last year with adjustments made after the first week of school. The daily time schedule will be the same as last year with school taking up at 8:30 a.m. and dismissal at 3:14 p.m.

All ninth graders are reminded to have physicals before the opening of school and turned in at the high school office the first day of school. Kindergarten physicals should be sent with the student or brought by the parent on the first day of Kindergarten attendance.

Because of the confusion that exists concerning textbooks, students are asked to obtain their books from each other and arrangements to pay parents will be made after school starts.

In classes where a change of text has been made, books will be available in the classroom from the teacher of that particular subject. These include Algebra I & II, Geometry, and Journalism. The elementary textbooks will be available in the classrooms.

Porter's response to DeWitt sheds little new light on textbook ruling

By TIM YOUNKMAN
News Staff Writer

School district administrators are still in the dark concerning their obligations in furnishing school materials to students as demanded by a recent state Supreme Court ruling.

The high court, ruling on a suit brought against the Ann Arbor Board of Education, directed the school board to furnish all textbooks, pencils and paper, plus other necessities to the students without charge.

In a letter to Michigan Department of Education, DeWitt High School Principal Donald S. Mueller pointed to the confusing areas not specifically mentioned in the ruling.

He asked John W. Porter, acting superintendent of public instruction, if the schools had to bear the burden of yearbook costs, musical instrument equipment and accessories, school newspapers, athletic events, plays, concerts and art exhibits, without charge to students.

Other areas of concern are the dropping of fees for such items as physical education equipment and uniforms, industrial arts materials and chemicals and workbooks in the science areas.

Mueller displayed a letter written in response to his questions from William F. Pierce, deputy superintendent.

Pierce said that the questions were "being discussed with the attorney general's office, and we hope to have answers to these, as well as any other questions resulting from the Supreme Court decision in the very near future."

"We recognize the problems being faced by local school districts as a result of this decision, and are working as rapidly as we possibly can to provide you with definitive answers," Pierce wrote.

"I am sure you recognize, however, that this can not be accomplished immediately," he added.

Mueller indicated that Pierce's answer did not shed any light on the problem, as far as DeWitt's schools were concerned.

If the athletic fees are dropped, as well as student ticket sales, Mueller said that the athletic program would be in jeopardy.

Other previously necessary items, such as certain workbooks or fees for shop class projects would be halted.

So DeWitt and the other school districts in Michigan will take a wait and see attitude until the ruling is clarified, Mueller said.

DeWitt Council

tabled during Monday night's city council meeting, but Mayor Lawrence Keck indicated that formal action would begin at the next session scheduled for Sept. 8.

In other action the council: —Unanimously voted to accept the "low complete bid" from the Chesaning Farmers Co-op of $6,565 for construction of a new municipal garage to be located on W. Main Street.

It was estimated that once construction begins on the building, it should take the company about one week to build the garage, Smith said.

The council voted to allow the company until Oct. 1 to complete the project.

—Unanimously voted to purchase a 20-amp federal siren for the police cruiser at a total cost of $279.

—Informed the public of a 50-home four-week test on trash pick-up utilizing the new heavy-duty paper bags.

The area to be tested is bordered by Bridge Street, Main Street, the river and the western city limits.

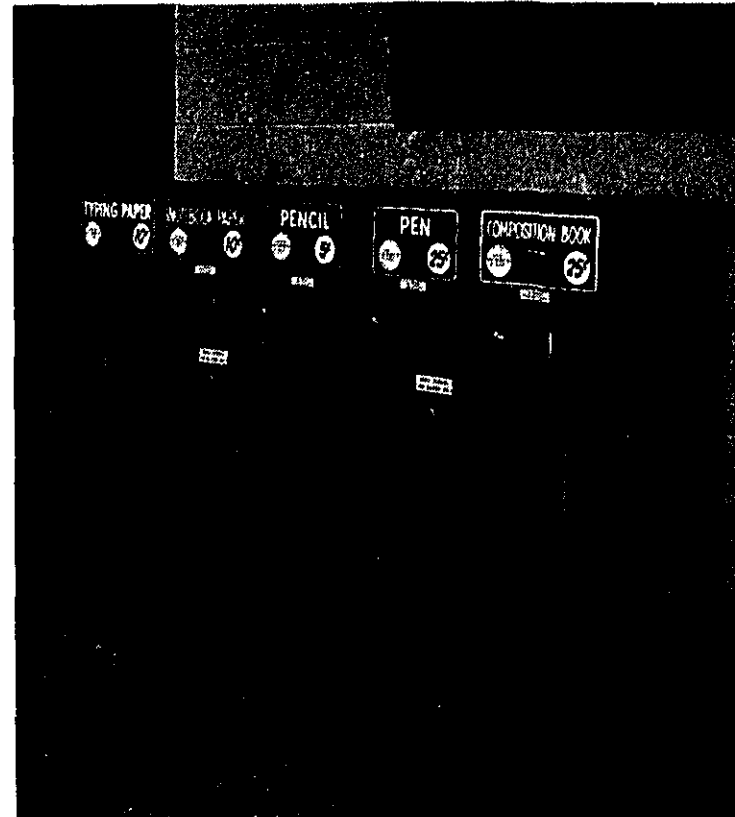

The project, which will be completed in September, will provide pick-up service for all drained and wrapped garbage, cans, papers and other trash.

The city currently picks up only tin cans.

If the program is successful, the councilmen indicated that a city-wide pick-up would be possible.

—Approved a registration fee of $20 per person for those councilmen who wish to attend the annual Michigan Municipal League convention in Detroit Sept. 8-11.

—Approved the purchase of five new police uniform shirts and one raincoat for the police department. $80 was authorized for the purchase.

This row of machines at DeWitt High School will soon disappear from the hallway if the recent State Supreme Court ruling goes into effect. All textbooks, paper and pencils must be supplied by the school district, according to the rule. These vending machines, set up by the school's chapter of the National Honor Society to raise money for awards, would be rendered useless.

Jam Band concert set for Smith Hall

If you're hip to Mike Quatro and his group, you're probably a rock music aficionado because he's pretty new on the scene as a performer.

Quatro and his Jam Band will be in St. Johns Friday night for a concert at Smith Hall.

The group, which includes Terry Mullin and Grant West who appeared briefly with Jimi Hendrix, has been together about a month or so and Quatro says in that time they have played before about 200,000 people in six or seven dates.

Quatro already has a name as a producer and a promoter and has been a key mover in huge rock concerts all over the country until a month ago.

Now as a performer he says he's "using smaller concerts in smaller cities to get it all together," but he admits that he's coming in as "a dead cold artist."

He describes his material as ranging from "adaptations of Rachmaninoff's Prelude in C-Minor to heavy acid rock and liltingly soft melodies in between. Beats vary from thundering to soft and cover all forms of music, blues, jazz, acid, folk and hard rock."

Despite his music, Quatro at one time played classical piano some years ago on the Lawrence Welk television show before he "got tired of that."

Friday night he's scheduled a one-hour set and a second band will play for dancing.

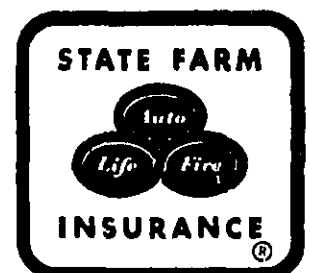

Although his part of the show is billed as a concert, Quatro says if people want to dance while he's on that's up to them.

"I don't encourage anything," he says, "just move like they're feeling."

Tickets for the event, sponsored by Purchase Productions, are $2 each and available at the door. It will run from 8:30 p.m. to midnight.

O-E, Lansing ed boards to appeal boundary changes

By TIM YOUNKMAN
News Staff Writer

Two Clinton County area boards of education—Ovid-Elsie and Lansing—said last week that they would file appeal charges to prevent school district boundary changes in two separate cases.

The reports were issued when all but one of the proposed boundary transfers were approved by the Clinton County Intermediate Board of Education at a special hearing in DeWitt.

The Ovid-Elsie board indicated it would appeal the boundary change that would transfer three parcels of property currently in their district to the St. Johns school district.

Requesting the transfers were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Cardy, 5488 E. Price Road, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Shumaker, 5652 Price Road, and Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin E. Walker, 610 E. Walker Road. All are listed as St. Johns addresses.

The Ovid-Elsie board earlier had expressed displeasure in the application for transfers and noted that appeals would be made within the 10-day limit set by law.

If appeals are not filed within the 10-day time period, the transfers will become effective.

The Lansing Board of Education notified the Clinton board that they would appeal, for the second time, the approved transfer of four parcels from the Lansing district to the DeWitt school district.

The challenged areas include the property of Mr. and Mrs. Bert L. Donaldson, 2647 Clark Road, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wolgamott, 2615 W. Clark Road, and two parcels owned by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sodman, 2697 Clark Road. All three residences are listed as Lansing addresses.

The main objection filed by the Lansing board was that the area in question was annexed to the Lansing district when the Hurd School area was transferred several years ago.

The board said that they did not want to see a parcel by parcel move by residents. They also filed written objections. Intermediate board member Wendell Waggoner of St. Johns told the Lansing group that they could see no harm in the transfer of three parcels at the present time.

The joint session of the Clinton board and the Ingham County Intermediate Board of Education approved the boundary change by a vote of 7-1.

The joint board voted unanimously to deny the transfer of property from the Haslet district to the Bath Community district requested by the Eyde Construction Company of Lansing.

The firm indicated that plans call for construction of a high-rise apartment complex and trailer court in the area of 16606 Park Lake Road.

The joint board indicated that the proper time for petitioning a boundary change would be after the construction is complete and functional to give a better indication as to the number of school children that would be effected.

In a separate joint session of the Eaton County Intermediate Board of Education and the Clinton board, two parcels were approved.

Mr. and Mrs. Julien DeSmith, 5490 Clark Road, Lansing were granted approval of a transfer from the Grand Ledge district to the DeWitt school district.

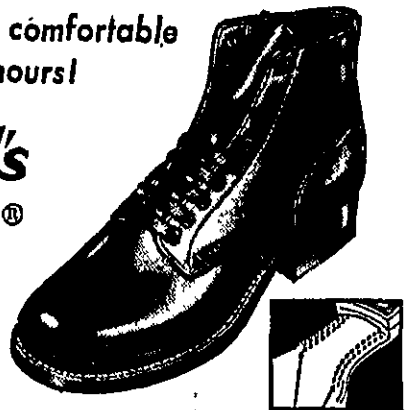

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Thrushman, 16170 Wacousta Road, were granted approval of a transfer from the St. Johns district to Grand Ledge.

Acting alone, the Clinton board approved the transfer of two parcels from the DeWitt district to Bath.

Clinton County 4-H Fair is underway

Arlene Smith of St. Johns lends a hand to the 4-H art and ceramics exhibitors. Here she is arranging and marking several charcoal drawing displays.

With so many displays, this little gal isn't quite sure which one to study first. Most of the 4-H home economics exhibits attracted throngs of opening day browsers at Smith Hall.

The opening day competition in handling and riding attracted dozens of teen and pre-teen equestrians. All of these riders were ribbon winners.

HERO'S WELCOME

Roy Fedewa, of Westphalia, got quite a welcome to Akron, Ohio and the 33rd running of the All-American Soap Box Derby last week. Fedewa, representing Clinton County, ran in one of the fastest heats of the day, but didn't finish in the money. Competing were boys from across the United States and several foreign countries.

HE'S NO. 1

IT'S JUST GOOD BUSINESS TO JOIN THE UAW

The Rt. Rev. Bernard J. Sheil Catholic Bishop once said: "If a Non-Union worker in a partially organized industry is receiving a good income, it is quite probably because his Non-Union employer, in order to keep the Union out, meets, or nearly meets, the higher wage and hours standard of Union establishments. Clearly such Non-Union employees are eating the fruits of others' sacrifices. The workers in the Union shops perhaps risked their jobs to get their Union recognized, and pay monthly dues to keep it going. It is a categorical injustice for Non-Union employees, enjoying the common benefits, to refuse to carry their share of the common burden."

Football physicals at DeWitt

Preparations for DeWitt High School's football season will kick-off officially Friday morning with physical examinations and a general meeting for all prospective players.

Head Coach Gary Roberts announced Monday that the exams will be conducted for all players Aug. 21 at 9 a.m. in the high school locker room.

He said a general meeting concerning the season will be held immediately after the physicals at 10 a.m.

About 60 to 70 students are expected to participate in the football program, but Roberts indicated that more than 100 boys might try-out.

Non-contact drills are set to begin Monday Aug. 24, with rugged contact drills following a week later.

Roberts said he expects his Panthers to repeat the undefeated-untied 1969 season when they swept the Central Michigan Athletic Conference championship with a 9-0 record.

Freshman football practice

Candidates for the St. Johns freshman football team will meet Monday, Aug. 24 at 8 a.m. for the first practice session.

Players are asked to report to the boys locker room at Rodney B. Wilson School.

Those who did not report for an earlier meeting Aug. 17 may come out for the team at this time.

For the first week of practice, candidates will wear gym shorts, t-shirts, helmets and cleats.

Redwings did 'fairly well' in summer basketball

By RON KARLE
Editor

Although only six players are back from last season's conference and district championship team, St. Johns Head Basketball Coach Doug Japinga says he was reasonably pleased with the efforts of the Redwings in six scrimmages during the summer.

"This thing isn't designed on the basis of 'we beat you or you beat us,'" said Japinga, although he admits that summer basketball "is a good place to begin building a winning attitude."

"Overall, considering we lost a number of our outstanding kids from last year, both off our starting and second fives, I was reasonably well pleased with the way the kids jelled, especially in our last scrimmage," Japinga added.

The six returning from last year's squad are Mike Brown, Steve Mead, Fred Root, Randy Atkinson, Dean Eisler and Brian Carpenter.

"In summer basketball you try to mold a new team with its different abilities and attitudes," he said. "Methods have to merge. The kids get a chance to play together as this new team."

"I look forward to a smooth running ballclub," said Japinga. "We got kids who get up the floor and get the ball out a little better. Summer serves as a time for several things," he said. "If you plan to do anything different, it's a good time to introduce new procedures."

St. Johns faced three Class A schools and three Class B in the scrimmages in addition to holding five practice sessions.

Their opponents included Lansing Sexton, Class A, which won about two-thirds of its games last season and another Class A school, Lansing Everett, which played around the .500 mark.

They also scrimmaged Okemos, Class B, which finished "about the middle of the pack" in the Capitol Circuit; St. Louis, the team St. Johns had to beat for the district championship, and Mason, which gave the Wings a good run last season and moved into its district finals against Gabriels.

DOUG JAPINGA

The final scrimmage was against Lansing Catholic Central, a new Class A school formed this year with the merger of Lansing O'Rafferty and Gabriels, the club that knocked St. Johns out of the regionals in the final game.

"We played quite well against Sexton, I felt," said Japinga, "and not quite so well against Everett. We played fairly well against Okemos and not so well against Mason."

"We played well at St. Louis," he added. "They will have a good ballclub next year, even though their big kid (All-Stater John Nametz) is gone."

"Perhaps the best scrimmage of the summer came against Lansing Catholic Central," he said. "We ran better in that ballgame and got the ball out onto the floor."

"Our defense was outstanding due mainly to good guard play and a good co-ordinated team effort," said Japinga.

Scores are not kept in these summer scrimmages and are usually erased at the end of each quarter as the coaches and team are given the opportunity to try out new procedures and techniques each period.

So the roundballs and the gym shoes join the red and white uniforms for the fall hibernation. Because now, football is king. But come December first...

Sports Schumaker fires 2nd no-hitter for Phillies

If it were hockey, they might call it a hat trick.

But in baseball it's so uncommon, they don't know what to call it—except unbelievable. Yet, Jim Schumaker did it.

He pitched his second no-hitter of the season for the Phillies in the St. Johns Pony League, for the third no-hitter thrown by a Phillie pitcher this season. Greg Lundy turned the trick the week before and Schumaker threw his first one during a Pony League tournament in St. Louis.

Schumaker's second no-hitter last week came in another tournament.

That was the final game of the St. Johns Pony League tournament in which the Phillies turned back the Mets 22-1.

Schumaker struck out 11, gave up three walks and hit one batter in the six-inning championship game which had to be called an inning early because of darkness.

The lone Met run came in the fifth inning when K. Lattimer was hit by a pitched ball, stole second, was attempting to steal third and the ball got by the third baseman and he continued on home.

"Naturally, I was pleased when I heard news of Jim's first no-hitter and of the overall fine job he has done for the Phillies all summer," said Doug Japinga, Schumaker's baseball coach at St. Johns High School.

"To give such a performance again, especially in a championship game certainly speaks well for his ability and the potential he will hopefully bring to varsity baseball competition next spring," Japinga added.

Earlier in the week, the Phillies defeated the Astros 6-4 with Lundy on the mound and the Mets' Tom Pung beat the Dodgers, 3-2, to set the stage for the championship game.

The Phillies who finished in first place during the regular season with a 6-2 record, won 12 games overall while losing three.

In the rampage against the Mets, three Phillies—Rich Riley, Lundy and Bruce Cameron—knocked in two runs apiece, while Schumaker, Greg George and Bruce Irish knocked in one each. The Phillies are managed by Dave Cook.

An ace for Knight

Phil Knight of St. Johns notched a hole-in-one last week at Highland Hills Golf Club.

Using a three-iron on the 170-yard, par three fifth hole, Knight hit a ball which appeared to be heading for a water hazard on the left before it hooked for the pin.

Knight's partner, Don Palmer, said the ball then hit in front of a mound housing the pin, rolled back and they lost sight of it. When they approached the pin they saw that the ball had gone in. Ironically, Knight had played the course six or seven times in the past week and had gone into the water hazard three times.

He finished the round with a 41 on the par 36 course.

Teacher meetings set next week at Fulton

Fulton Schools will welcome its teachers for the school year of 1970-71 for the first teacher orientation meetings on Aug. 27 and 28.

A full schedule of meetings and activities have been planned for these two days beginning at 9 a.m. and continuing until 3 p.m. On Monday, Aug. 31, all students will be in attendance for a full day of school, and hot lunches will be served.

Buses will travel their regular routes at the usual time as in previous years. Kindergarten children who have not previously enrolled are to enroll with their teachers on Monday, Aug. 31, at Middletown as well as at Maple Rapids. Both morning and afternoon sessions will meet on Monday.

All kindergarten children are required by law to have immunization shots by their local physicians previous to entering school or a form verifying, because of religious beliefs, that they are unable to be immunized.

A law was passed five years ago by the State Legislature whereby all children entering school for the first time must undergo a test to determine if they are free from tuberculosis. Parents are mandated to consult their local physicians and have their child tested before entering school.

Maple Rapids elementary school will have two sessions of kindergarten again this year. Rural children in the Middleton-Perrinton area are to attend morning sessions and village kindergarten children are to attend afternoon sessions.

The Ola Elementary school will operate again this year with the kindergarten children being transported from the former Washington Center School district.

cial information," Unger said. Unger described the delay in Ritchie's releasing information as "another in a series of repeated attempts to stall meaningful negotiations and accuse teachers of threatening to delay the opening of schools."

"We knew all along that he had the moral and legal obligation to provide the requested information," Unger said. "It's a shame we have to use these legal avenues to force our superintendent to do what he is required to do by law."

Gary Roberts, DEA negotiator, said he was pleased with the hearing's outcome.

"We've got what we asked for and this makes us stronger," he said. "If he (Ritchie) continues in the same way we'll go back to the courts again," Roberts added. Unger's sentiments were the same.

"If his approach is the same as it was two months ago on negotiating and he's not willing to seriously bargain as a result of the unfair labor charges and mediation and clubs us with such things as legal procedures, then we're prepared to do it," Unger said.

"I believe that he thinks we're serious now and not there to horseplay around," Roberts said. "There are areas where charges are still possible," Roberts said, but added "hopefully we can get something going."

Open Letter from VAN W. HOAG

Dear friends,

Selecting a funeral director should be done on the same basis as you would choose a physician or an attorney. That basis is confidence.

You funeral director is in close contact with the family. Often matters of a confidential nature must be discussed. We assure you that such confidences are never violated.

Respectfully,

Van W. Hoag

Jim O'Conner of O'Conner Dairy Equipment tells us the largest milking parlor in the county is now operating.

Ready to milk 90 to 100 cows per hour, the parlor belonging to Louis Schneider of St. Johns, has a double 10 herringbone design. And we're assured by Jim that it's Surge equipment.

Like noise and lots of it? Like music and lots of it? Music or noise, it's your choice depending on whether or not you like the new "rock" groups. Either way we'll guarantee that it will be loud when Mike Quatro and the Jam Band do their thing at Smith Hall Friday night.

This is it. The first installment of Clinton County's Bazaar of Values. Check Section B for five full pages of values offered by Clinton County businesses. And don't forget to register for cash prizes. We can't, we're ineligible which is the main reason Boss Ron Huard is on vacation. He didn't want to see us cry.

We had a quiet weekend. After four weeks of frustration we finally found a turtle in fairly shallow water, chased him to the bottom and caught him. Big Mama's comment when we proudly waded to shore to show off our prize was a very sarcastic "Whoopee".

We guess she was still mad about Saturday breakfast.

Saturday we cooked breakfast. That came about because, "we insulted her fried eggs". We claim she has been insulting them for 11 years. If chickens knew what she did to eggs they would stop laying. They're that bad. Crusty on the bottom, raw on top. Well, she got mad, questioned our ancestry and plunked herself down to heckle us as we prepared the morning meal. Bacon, toast, coffee and fried eggs that came out PERFECTLY. They looked good, they tasted delicious and even our boys complimented the chef. . .and that made the Big M even madder, so mad she stopped talking to us. We had a quiet weekend.

Dick Parsons of Fowler plumbing is a fisherman. About two weeks ago he listened with a gleam in his eye as we described how the fish jump into the boat at our favorite lake. The more we talked the brighter the gleam. We stopped in a few days later and wife, Barbara, told us he was going to try our lake. Armed with our directions, Dick and two buddies set out with some sweet corn and potatoes, and a skillet to fry the catch we had all but guaranteed in writing. Dick told us the sweet corn and potatoes were good. They didn't have to take the skillet out of the car. . . and when we started bragging up another lake. . .the gleam in his eye just wasn't there.

A couple of years ago we ran a want ad offering to trade either or both of our boys for a 14' boat with a motor and trailer. You see the Coho run was in full swing. We didn't get any takers but we figured to many people knew about our monsters or were using their boats. Well, the run will be starting soon and if you have a 14' boat with a . . .

VOL. 115, NO. 16 ST. JOHNS, MICHIGAN -- WEDNESDAY, August 19, 1970 SECTION B

State Crop Report

By MICHIGAN CROP REPORTING SERVICE

CROP COMMENTS FOR WEEK ENDING AUGUST 8

Thanks to dry sunny weather, field work moved ahead at a fast pace. Most crops made a good excellent growth.

Soil moisture ranged from short in the western Upper Peninsula to short to adequate in the eastern Upper Peninsula and central Lower Peninsula.

Soil moisture was generally adequate elsewhere. The State averaged 5.5 days suitable for field work.

Wheat harvest made rapid progress and is nearing completion in the southern half of the Lower Peninsula.

About one-half of the State's oat acreage has been harvested, more than usual for Aug. 8.

Corn development continues good to excellent. About 85 per cent of the corn acreage has silked or reached a more advanced stage. About one-half of the soybean acreage has started to set pods.

Many dry bean fields have poor stands because of water damage from heavy rains of previous weeks. Dry beans in well drained fields continue to develop well.

Sugar beets have also made a good growth. Potatoes continue to develop well; about 20 per cent have been harvested in Bay County.

A large quantity of hay was made during the week, when the making of second cutting hay passed the half way mark.

Pastures in the Lower Peninsula continue to supply average to above average amounts of feed.

However, pasture feed supplies in much of the western Upper Peninsula are below average. Pastures in the eastern Upper Peninsula ranged from average to above average.

Most vegetables continue to develop well.

More than 30 per cent of the pickle and sweet corn crops have been harvested. Harvest of fresh market tomatoes speeded up in Berrien County and about one-third of the crop has been picked.

Only 10 per cent of the tomato crop has been picked in the Southeast. The celery harvest continues at a moderate pace in the Muskegon-Zeeland area.

The carrot harvest is underway in the Imlay City area and the head lettuce harvest is progressing well in the Imlay City and Jackson areas.

The tart cherry harvest is about finished in the northwestern Lower Peninsula. Picking of late summer apples and peaches continues active in the Southwest. The Red Haven peach harvest has reached its peak in Berrien County.

Red Williams apples are also being picked in this county. The peach harvest has started in the Hart area.

The blueberry harvest is 60 per cent complete in the South Haven area and 50 per cent complete in the Muskegon area. Fall and winter apples continue to size very well.

Production on farms growing

In 1820, each U.S. farmer fed about four persons. Today he feeds 45.

"It took nearly 100 years from 1820 for farmers' productive capacity to double," explains Karl Wright, Michigan State University agricultural economist. "But the productivity of our nation's agricultural industry has been growing at an increasing rate ever since."

It took just 10 years—1960 to 1970—for productive capacity to nearly double again. Each farmer fed 25 persons in 1960, and now he feeds 45.

"This rapid rise in agricultural productivity is due to increased farm size and mechanization, agricultural research, and the information to farmers."

This hi-boy spreading machine was the topic of considerable interest to area farmers attending the cover crop demonstration. The rye cover is spread from the basket at the top. The cover is used to stop soil loss and stream sedimentation plus reduces loss of nitrates and phosphates.

Cover crops really get off the ground

Cover crops really got off the ground last Wednesday. Max Miller of Ovid did the flying and Gordon Tutthill of Lansing rode the hi-boy.

The rye flew. Each pass by plane covered a 40-45 foot swath and the hi-boy 25-30 feet.

The object? To get cover growing in thick planted corn and soybeans for winter protection. Winter cover crops protect, save and improve our soil.

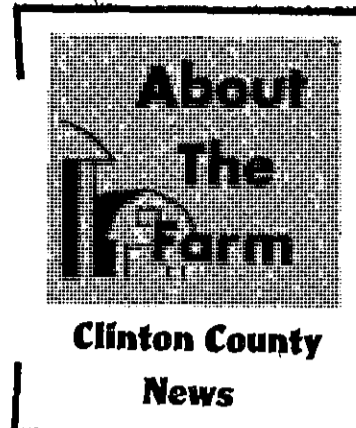

Miller brothers of Ovid planted corn in 30 inch rows at a population of 22 - 23,000 per acre. The field will be harvested for grain too late to establish a cover crop. Therefore earlier seeding was needed. With corn growing tall this year even the hi-boy brushed the tops.

Miller's corn was sprayed with a mix of atrazine and lasso for weed control after planting. Weed control was excellent except for a few velvetleaf.

No problems are expected in getting rye stands in the corn.

Jim Olson's soybeans just across the road also are in 30 inch rows. Soys have grown tall and nearly fill the rows. They were sprayed with lorafor weed control.

Rye seed for cover crop in soys should be seeded later than in corn. Should weather conditions become favorable for rye growth too soon tall green rye could interfere with a late soybean harvest.

Earlier harvested crops allow more methods of seeding winter cover. Fertilizer spreaders, seeders and grain drills may be used where crops have been harvested early. Many choices of seeds are possible where competition is reduced by harvesting or working the field.

The main object of winter cover crops is obtaining sufficient growth in cool weather to prevent loss of topsoil and plant nutrients into streams. Vigorous growth also improves soil structure for easier working.

EXTENSION REPORT

Cover crops

By GEORGE McQUEEN

Cover crops keep soil on the land - out of our streams, rivers and lakes. Any time land is without plait cover rain drops will loosen soil particles and running water will carry them downstream.

Winter cover crops protect our land at the more critical time of year. Early spring rains striking bare, already wet soils - may be thawed an inch deep - often more large quantities of topsoil. That's soil loaded with vital organic matter, nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium.

Growing cover crops or even winterkilled ones intercept raindrops. They keep the soil open allowing more water in. They slow runoff reducing the soil carrying ability of running water. They filter out soil and organic matter suspended in the water.

Cover crops starting to grow in early spring take excess water from the soil. The land then can hold more rain before runoff starts. By taking water from our heavy soils spring plowing and tillage can start earlier.

The extra root penetration and organic matter from cover crops improves soil tilth. This allows faster water intake and increases the water stored for summer plant growth.

Modern farming practices and high crop yields sometimes conflict with use of cover crops. Corn for silage, dry beans and cereal grains present few problems in obtaining satisfactory growth of winter cover crops.

Corn for grain and soybeans can be overseeded in late August or early September by airplane or Hi-Boy. In corn cereal rye appears to be the best winter cover crop. In soybeans several possibilities are available with ryegrass and rye probably holding an edge.

Weed control chemicals sometimes cause problems in establishing a cover crop. Atrazine in particular in corn. However, when applied at rates under three pounds per acre atrazine rarely causes serious injury to rye.

Plan now on winter cover crops on all of your land. Keep the fertile part of your soil to use for crop production. Keep it out of our waters.

These are the winners and runnersup in the Clinton County 4-H Public speaking contest held last week looking over their score sheets. They are, from left, James McQueen and Jane Smith of St. Johns, the winners, and Jane Vittek of St. Johns and William Parker of Ovid, the runnersup.

It's 4-H Fair time again

By JOHN AYLSWORTH

The Clinton County 4-H Fair ends tonight with the livestock parade, 4-H style revue, talent acts and the presentation of awards to the winners of the top exhibits of the Fair. Another award will be made to the Outstanding 4-H boy and girl for 1970 based upon their total record of contributions and accomplishments to the 4-H club program in their local 4-H club as well as the county program.

As the Fair draws to a close it will end another chapter in the lives of the 4-H members this year for many white others will be participating in the State 4-H Youth Exploration Days Programs at Michigan State University, Aug. 25-28. Some will be taking their exhibits while others will be participating in contests and training programs.

Clinton county has 12 district award winners who will be interviewed during the awards banquet at the 4-H Youth Exploration Days Program on Aug. 26. They are competing for the opportunity to be selected as the state winner in that project or activity area and receive a trip to National 4-H Congress in Chicago or National 4-H Conference in Washington, D.C.

The Clinton county delegates are Kathy Nichols, Achievement; James McQueen, National Conference; Kathy Davis, Health;

4-H youth event now open to all at MSU

A golf clinic, an environmental quality teach-in, a discussion of dating and engagements, judo and a horse educational day are highlights of the 1970 4-H Youth Exploration Days at Michigan State University this week.

"The Learning by Discovery" theme of this year's event (formerly State 4-H Youth Show) focuses on providing an opportunity for each person to learn about himself, about others and about the relationship of mankind to his total environment," explains Dr. C. H. Wamhoff, state 4-H youth program leader and coordinator of the event.

"The facilities and resources of Michigan State University will be available to all young persons, not just 4-H members," emphasizes Wamhoff.

A computer aids young persons' car buying decisions; action exhibits will explore health careers; bike riding skills will be tested; and sports such as, karate, weight lifting, paddleball, squash and synchronized swimming are offered.

Young persons can see how a play is staged, explore the sky at the university's planetarium, watch a horse show and view livestock judging.

Also available are tours of the capitol, horticultural areas, entomology projects, a museum, the weather bureau, the MSU Veterinary Clinic and the General Motors Proving Grounds at Milford.

Best time is right now for alfalfa seeding

By GEORGE R. McQUEEN
Extension Agricultural Agent

A prime alfalfa seeding time for farmers in the southern part of the lower peninsula is from now to Aug. 25.

And proper management will increase chances of a successful summer seeding, says Stuart Hildebrand, Michigan State University crop specialist.

Select high quality seed. Six to ten pounds per acre is adequate when seeded alone or in mixture with a grass. Hildebrand says higher seeding rates did not increase yields in MSU tests with Saranac and Vernal.

Seed alfalfa alone. A companion crop competes with the seeding, explains Hildebrand.

If bromegrass is also sown and oats are needed to get the brome into the soil, use the lowest seeding rate possible for oats—as little as half bushel per acre. Mow and remove the oats in October to reduce late season competition.

Use the band method of seeding following cultipacking or band seeding if you have a drill equipped with packer wheels, Hildebrand advises.

If soil test information is available, use it to determine proper application rates for phosphorous and potassium. If you have no guide for application rates, apply about 400 pounds per acre and an 0-25-25 fertilizer in the band below the seed.

If brood-leaved annual weeds become a problem, they may be controlled with 4-(2, 4-DB). Check Extension Bulletin 434, "Weed Control in Field Crops," (Available from county Cooperative Extension Service Offices) for details.

This herbicide is usually more effective if applied in October to kill winter annuals which show up on the first crop the following year, notes Hildebrand.

The annuals, which germinate about the time of the alfalfa seed, will be killed by frost. If frost is delayed and the weeds become a problem mowing high before the weed seed heads are fully developed should be helpful, says Hildebrand.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

Capitulation of 26 major California table grape growers to the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers is not the end of a battle, "but just the beginning," American Farm Bureau president Charles B. Shuman said recently.

"What every citizen must know," said Shuman, "is that a powerful union alliance has been able to destroy markets for farmers and force them to sign over their work force to the union without giving them a choice."

"The device of market intimidation and seizure has temporarily succeeded," Shuman said. "If this device is not broken by legislation and exposure it will dictate the market decisions for every farmer and consumer in America. It will determine farmer access to markets, and decision-making to consumers. It will control an increasing share of the U.S. food market as a lever for vast new bargaining efforts in a dozen directions."

"The price of food will inevitably increase," Shuman said, "even as the price of freedom is foreclosed." Every farmer must now ask himself, "is my commodity next?"

Shuman's response came shortly after 26 large growers in the San Joaquin Valley had agreed to terms with Cesar Chavez and the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, bringing a total of California grape acreage under UFWOC contract to an estimated 75 per cent.

For the growers who signed it was the end of a five-year struggle marked by bitterness that was deceptively absent at a Delano news conference - in UFWOC headquarters - symbolic of growers who had finally "come over."

For Chavez, a prepared victory statement was sabotaged by the news that the Teamsters Union had organized 5,000 lettuce workers in California's Salinas Valley.

Teamster progress in organizing lettuce and citrus workers in the Coachella Valley of California was also reported.

Chavez said a campaign by UFWOC to counter Teamster gains in the Salinas Valley would begin "immediately." He produced a telegram from AFL-CIO president George Meany designating UFWOC as the sole bargaining agent for farm workers in California. The Teamsters do not belong to the AFL-CIO.

"Indications are that the new shape of battle in the fields will be jurisdictional warfare between the Teamsters and UFWOC..."

Six members of the Willing Workers 4-H Club who are taking food and nutrition projects passed their final test Thursday evening with flying colors as they prepared a meal for their parents. The girls were RoseAnn Rossow, Rita Horman, JoAnn Witt, Mary Ann Seihke, Agnes Kirkpatrick and Theresa Martens. The girls prepared a buffet chicken dinner with all the trimmings for their parents, my wife and me. It was an enjoyable evening and I would like to add my congratulations to the six girls and their food leader Mrs. Wayne Rossow for a job well done.

Contributions by Clinton county 4-H members to the National 4-H Center Expansion Drive in Washington, D.C. now total $635.65.

VISITS HOME COUNTRY

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Minarik spent a month this summer in their native country, Czechoslovakia and also Germany, visiting their relatives and former friends. While in Germany they spent one week with their son, Vincent, who is a sergeant in the Army, stationed in Germany. They reported of the hard times and lack of meat and vegetables. Some families not getting any at times, when in line for their turns in the markets. They returned home here on Sunday, July 26.

Andy and Marge Minarik, their son, also spent two weeks in Czechoslovakia and Germany, and also visited his brother Vincent, while there in Germany. They returned home here on Monday, August 3.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kirby are the new parents of a first son, born July 30, named John Andrew, weighing eight pounds and six ounces. They have two daughters, Kathy and Diane. She was the former Betty Minarik.

The Bannister Methodist Church held their annual summer picnic at the Randolph Pool Sunday afternoon August 9.

The latest contributions include $0 from the Kountry Cousins 4-H Club and $31 from the Green Clover Community Club. These two clubs have reached their 100 per cent contribution per $1 per member goal based upon the 1969 enrollments.

The We-Hah-Kay-Asa 4-H members watched David Mack demonstrate how to groom and prepare a horse for show, work the horse at halter and setting it up squarely. The members are working hard on their float and litter barrel entries for their fair entries.

The Happy Hustlers 4-H members held their final meeting before the Fair. The members reported on their trip awards this summer. Margaret Riley, Lori Smith, Melody Vining and Paula Henning told about the Barry County 4-H Camp; Debbie Bauer and Nancy Zuker told about Yankee Springs; Diane Henning and Pat Fox told about camp counselors training and the weeks of counselor and Pat Fox told about teen camp. Demonstrations were given by Paula Henning on cutting flowers; Suzy Hopke on Transplanting Flowers; Beth Henning on Baseball, and Dawn Vining on Conditioning of Flowers. Mrs. Albert Schaefer and Mrs. Peter Kurnez demonstrated how to select and condition flowers for exhibiting at the Fair.

The Riverside Riders 4-H members are working hard on the club float entry and litter barrel entries for the county fair. They made partial plans for their next horse show on Sept. 13 but will work out final details after the Fair.

Think mink

The first litter from artificially inseminated mink has been produced by researchers in Michigan State University's poultry science department.

This artificial insemination technique would enable mink ranchers to breed six to seven times more females with the best males, thus increasing pelt quality.

TRADITIONALLY NEW... FIELD TO FEEDLOT

GEHL

NOW... A CYLINDER CHOPPER that merits the Gehl name!

A cylinder cutterhead is the heart of this new Gehl "300" chopper. Nine knives whirl at 1000 RPM to cut and throw material with each razor-sharp slice. Standard tungsten-carbide faced knives and outerbar built-in knife sharpener. No feeder apron. Crop attachments pivot with the feed-in mechanism - the opening is always perfectly aligned with feed rolls, providing steady, even bites to the knives. Three attachments available: hay pick-up, one-row, and a two-row that handles both wide and narrow rows.

TWO-ROW

- Chops 28-40" rows
- Forward-neutral-reverse
- Stalk bumper bar for butt-first feeding

Speed trap

We're told that a lowering of speed limits along U.S. 27 would result in St. Johns becoming a "speed trap." As far as we're concerned this is a fine recognition. It seems to be common knowledge that drivers heed areas they know to be "speed traps."

A representative of the State Highway department told the St. Johns city commission last week that "there's no way you can mix cars and children." We disagree. There may be no way to assure the ultimate safety of children but diminished speed limits is a definite step in the right direction. Whether the big shots in Lansing realize it or not, there is a definite difference between fifty miles per hour and thirty five miles per hour.

We're not sure who prompted some of the explanations made at last week's city commission meeting, but whoever it was strikes us as fanning the breeze. While we may not feel a traffic light would solve the difficulties, we don't like the thought that such a control would cause traffic to accelerate and cause new traffic hazards.

We have no doubt that the state highway department is playing it cool, hoping that current concern will diminish.

It is nice that travellers have a straight path from Lansing to the straits on U.S. 27 without a stoplight but as far as we're concerned these travelers can stop in St. Johns. Once at Sturgis and U.S. 27 and once at State St. and U.S. 27.

It may not be too handy to motorists, but it'll be a big consolation to us parents.

Student smokers appear to increase

A three-year study of 23,724 pupils in 62 Illinois junior and senior high schools indicates that the percentage of students who smoke has probably increased in the last 10 years.

Yet the director of the research project, Prof. William H. Creswell of the University of Illinois at Urbana - Champaign, believes that public opinion against smoking will grow and eventually influence more youngsters to quit. His research indicates that well-planned anti-smoking educational programs reach many pupils.

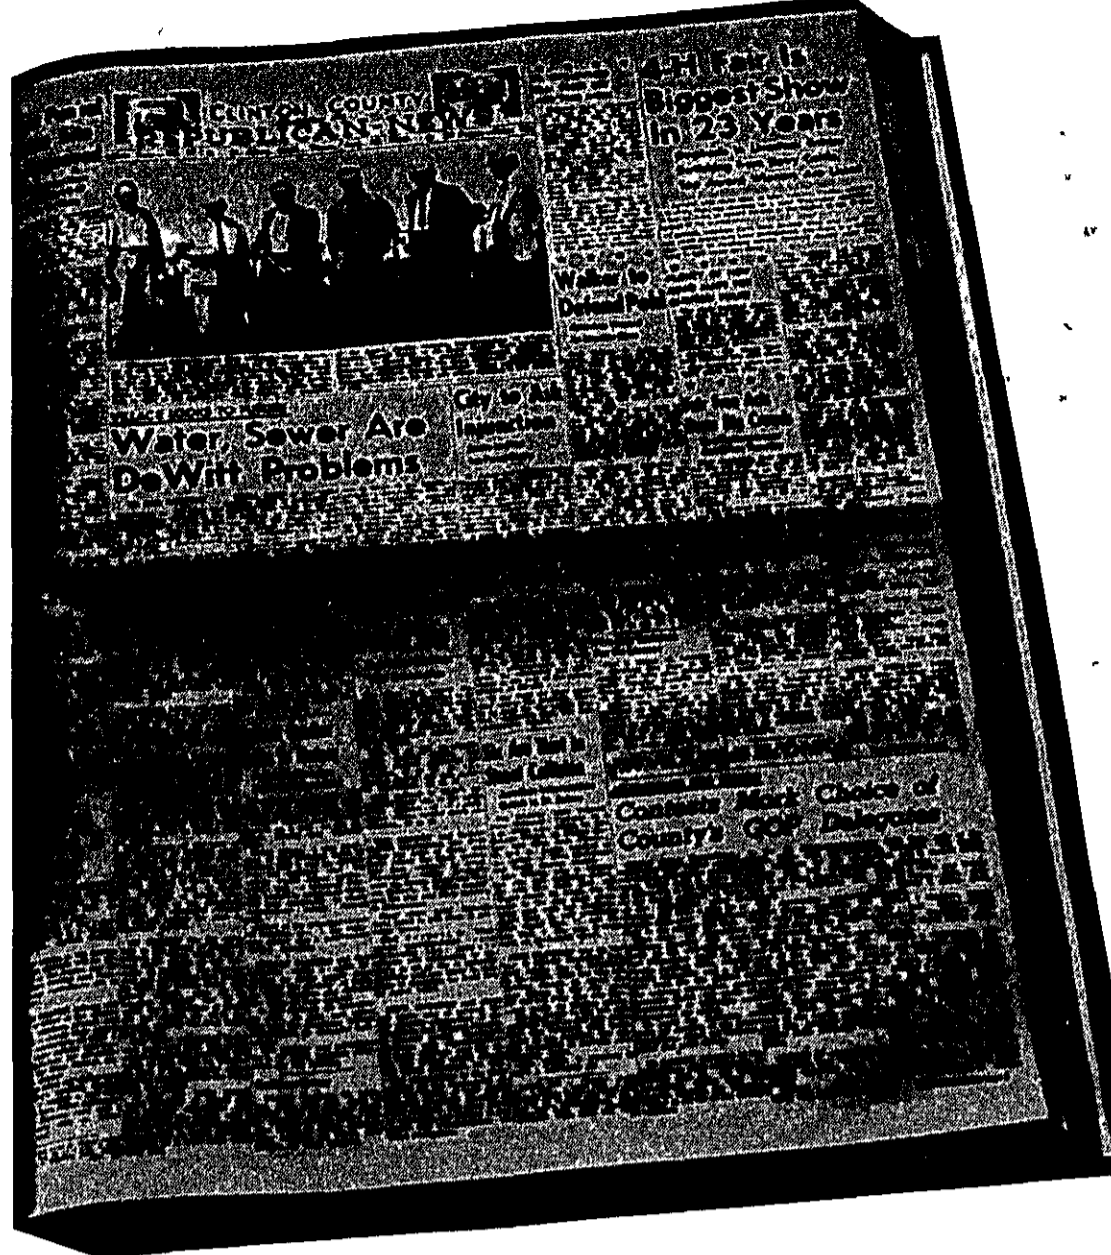

Compared to other surveys in the last 10 years, Creswell also determined that more girls than ever before are smoking and are starting earlier. Seven per cent of seventh-grade girls admitted they smoked regularly. By ninth grade 16.4 per cent were smoking. (Boys who smoked in the seventh grade were 14.4 per cent of enrollment; by grade nine, the percentage reached 19.3).

There is a connection between the fact that absentee pupils smoke more and the fact that they are often not as socially or academically successful, Creswell found. Thus he recommended that an approach schools might take in trying to lower the rate of smoking would be to stimulate the interest of students who smoked and provide them with the experience of success in school.

The professor also found that student-led discussion groups were more effective in influencing students to quit smoking than were mass media slogans. Peer group influence is great among both smoking and non-smoking pupils, he noted.

It is disturbing to learn from his study that 29.2 per cent of senior class boys and 27.3 per cent of senior girls smoke regularly. These percentages are far too high, considering the awareness we now have of the disadvantages of smoking. Parents and educators alike might make use of the findings by Creswell that pupils' influence on other pupils is the strongest means to reduce smoking and encourage the kind of peer discussion he found to be successful.

DeWitt Ox Roast, an injunction, WW II victory celebration

One Year Ago

Aug. 20, 1969

Delicious ox-roast sandwiches, rides, games, parachute jumps, a teen dance, and an old fashioned square dance were to be highlights of the 21st annual DeWitt Ox-Roast.

The Village of Ovid was looking for a new police chief, their sixth in 10 years, after the firing of Edward Robinson. Robinson was fired for allegedly "shining homes" with his spotlight, although he denied the charge and noted that he was on official business at the time.

Further appointments to the United Fund posts were made by President Bill Patton as preparations progressed toward the annual solicitation period set for Oct. 16 to Nov. 11. Chosen by Patton to spearhead the drive for the Commercial division were J. Herman Pohl and Barry Dean.

In a 7-4 vote, the Clinton County Board of Supervisors approved a resolution favoring the voting franchise for 19-year-olds.

The St. Johns School Board decided to "sit" on a plan which called for the school to assist the city in funding a sewer project for the new high school. To provide for immediate funds for the $45,000 project, a plan was being considered in which the school would lease athletic facilities from the city at a cost of $1,250 per year, or $31,150 over the next 20 years.

Voters in the Pevamo-Westphalia School District defeated a proposed $950,000 school bond issue by 96 votes. A total of 592 votes were cast, including four spoiled votes. Unofficial returns showed 342 opposed and 246 in favor.

The St. Johns city commissioners authorized City Atty. Leo Corkin to seek an injunction halting further progress on the Ice Pond drain, a county sponsored project designed to improve drainage in the eastern section of the city and parts of Bingham Township adjoining the city to the east. The reason for the action was the contention by council members that some drain projects in the city already under construction would have relieved the drain situation.

The Elsie High School district's valuation mounted to an excess of $7.5 million as the Colony district in Duplain Township and the Sawyer district in Fairfield Township of Shiawassee County voted to annex.

the main outlines.

"Kennedy-Stevenson and Lodge-Herter conferences last week have underscored foreign affairs as the key issue. The Democratic nominee of 1962 and 1968 agrees with the nominee of 1960 that the campaign must center on America's relations with the world. Vice-president Nixon has advised Republicans that their best chance is to fight on foreign policy, and his party's leaders tailored its ticket with that kind of campaign in view."

Thousands of residents milled around Clinton Avenue in enthusiastic celebration of America's victory in World War II. It was St. Johns' wildest, noisiest night and the streets were filled with uproarious peace celebrants from 6 p.m. into the early morning hours.

Rationing restrictions were removed on tires for farm implements except those sizes which are the same as passenger car tires. When the tires were the same size as auto tires, the purchaser had to secure a tire certificate from the ration board, the OPA office announcement indicated.

Announcement was made of the sale of the Spaulding and Company hardware to Alan R. Dean, well-known local businessman, who was associated with E. C. Smith and Son in elevator and farm operations for nine years.

This week at the movies: Oscar Wilde's "The Picture of Dorian Gray," starring George Sanders, Hurd Hatfield and Donna Reed. In minor roles one could spot Angela Lansbury, Peter Lawford and Lowell Gilmore.

Deadlines

Because we haven't heard of a newspaper that suddenly materializes with all news, advertising copy and pictures in place and in A-1 condition, it becomes necessary for the Clinton County News to impose deadlines to insure a smooth flow of copy so that as much material as possible may be printed in proper form. Toward this end, these deadlines are now in effect:

- Display advertising.....Monday noon.
- Classified advertising.....Monday noon.
- Letters to the editor.....Thursday, 5p.m.
- News for farm pages.....Thursday noon.
- Wedding stories, pictures.....Thursday noon.

- Regular columns.....Friday, 5p.m.
- Sports page items.....Monday, 5p.m.

Requests for pictures to be taken by the County News staff should be made as soon as possible and never less than 24 hours before the picture time.

Memories of Doc

By RON KARLE, Editor

I remember Doc Greene from a distance.

I never knew him personally during my newspapering days in Detroit, but we occasionally were on the same scene for a story and more often patronized the same bar, the Anchor, located in the basement of a warehouse a block from The News.

The Anchor was considered his favorite and the offbeatness of the place seemed to typify his way of life.

You don't happen upon the Anchor, you have to know it's there, because there is no sign, just a stairway going down into the sidewalk in front of a deserted warehouse on a desolate street.

If you read the Detroit News, then you've seen his columns and perhaps understand why the competition last week called him a living legend when reporting his death.

The paper said his friends looked at him almost in awe, and as an observer, there's no question that I did.

I remember one night while sitting in a booth at the Anchor with a couple of friends of his, Doc slid over and joined us. I wasn't formally introduced or anything, he just nodded my way.

I can't recall what the conversation was about; I just sat there and listened, pleased to be there and feeling like a kid who suddenly was in the presence of his favorite baseball hero.

It was his custom to sleep days and work nights which involved a considerable amount of imbibing. Those nights were often spent with the greats in any field, sports figures, jazz musicians, politicians.

They all knew Doc. It was his custom many nights to conclude the evening's work by stopping at the Anchor where the clientele ranged from pressmen, printers and reporters to the presidents of the auto companies, the mayor and occasionally the clean-up squad.

Later a nap would be in order and the facilities of the Anchor were available, a cot, known to many newsmen sleeping it off in the back room. Or maybe one of the leather couches in The News conference room.

And, of course, the column had to be written by sun up in time for the next day's paper.

My dad, who was a printer at the News for 45 years, tells the story about the night Doc was almost put to work as a printer.

They had a show-up time for tramp printers about five or six o'clock in the morning. Many of these fellows coming in off the road weren't in the best condition.

This one morning, the boss said anybody who showed up could go to work. The fellow that did the hiring went over to a guy sleeping on a bench and said, "OK, buddy, you can go to work."

The guy rolled over and, of course, it was Doc recuperating from the activities of the night before.

During the riots in Detroit in 1967, Doc was practically going 24 hours a day and getting into situations and places nobody else could. But this time, he finally met his match, Jimmy Breslin flew in from New York to cover it for one of the papers there. Their life-styles and offbeat writing had certain similarities.

So the pair of them went out and got their columns for the next day and despite the official decree calling for parched throats they managed to find a watering place early in the morning.

From there they went up to the News city room to write their stuff at a couple of desks where they literally typed head to head with the entire city room for an audience. In between bursts of typing, one then the other, would glower across the machine and warn against reading his copy.

He was married to Miss Florida 1954 and sometimes she would join him on his rounds. They were quite something, Doc the impeccable dresser with this beautifully garbed blonde; "the woman I life with," is how he referred to her in his column.

He had done it all and was never on the outside anywhere. I remember covering the "Love-In" on Belle Isle which drew the hip and their flowers and the greasers on their bikes. And right in the middle, digging the scene, was Doc casually dressed in a turtleneck and shades grooving with the brothers from both camps.

As I said, I only knew him from a distance.

But it hurts like hell to know he's gone.

He was some fine human being.

'IF IT FITZ . . .'

5 a.m. love letters

By JIM FITZGERALD

Every morning at 5 o'clock, comedian Red Skelton gets out of bed and writes a letter to his wife.

They live in the same house. They probably even sleep together, just like us common folks. But Red still writes her a mushy letter every day. He probably has his own mailman and a stamp machine beside the bed.

Skelton calls the daily messages "Letters to Little Red." (He's Big Red, get it?) He says the letters are "his thoughts and ideas." They can include a short story or a musical selection.

Cynics may laugh at Big Red. Or sympathize with Little Red who is probably way behind in answering her mail.

But there is no denying that Big Red is a romantic guy. And there is no denying that women like to be romanced. Don't knock it if you haven't tried it. So I sat up on the edge of the bed at 5 a.m. the other day and wrote:

Dear Little Fitz:

Yawn. Red Skelton must go to bed earlier than I do. And I'll bet he doesn't have the trouble finding a pencil that I did. I finally found this stub in a paste jar which will be my excuse if this letter turns out sticky (ha ha, Honey). And I hope you don't mind me writing on this pillow case. The only paper in the house is in the bathroom but I couldn't use that because there's a funny little man in there, squeezing it (ha, ha, Honey).

Well anyway, Honey, you're probably surprised to be hearing from me like this. But I wanted to give you my thoughts and ideas. I'd even write a musical selection but I don't know how to write music. I'd hum it but that would probably wake you up and you would think I was just getting home, instead of getting up to write you a love letter, and I don't need anyone of that kind of trouble (ha, ha, Honey).

The weather outside is nice. You can hear the birds chirp at 5 a.m. which is probably because no one is mowing his lawn yet. There are three socks and one shoe on the floor on my side of the bed. I just looked in the dresser mirror to see how I look at 5 a.m. But all I saw was that I don't wear pajama bottoms. I forgot that a husband can never see his face in his bedroom mirror unless he is a midget or is married to a basketball player.

Do you know I've killed 18 mosquitoes in this bedroom this summer? I just counted the spots where I smashed them against the walls. And did you know you have 42 shoe boxes and 38 of them are on my side of the closet? I'll bet I'm the only man in town who has to hang his pants on a tie rack (ha, ha, Honey).

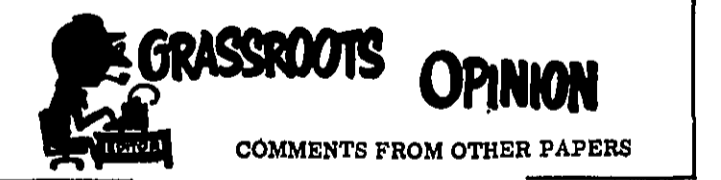

I just went to take a peek at the children. They aren't home. Every night that man on TV says "It's 11 p.m., do you know where your children are?" I don't even know at 5 a.m.

The weather outside is . . . I guess I already said that. I'd certainly like to know what Big Red Skelton finds to write about every morning. Maybe he tells what he dreamed about that night.

Last night I dreamed I loved you. Now I'm awake at 5 a.m., and I still do. And I can reach out and touch you. Let Big Red Skelton write letters. He is a big clown.

Odds and ends

By REP. WILLIAM S. BALLENGER

With the Primary Election out of the way and the Legislature in recess for more than five weeks, things may slow down a bit in the Capitol from the speedy turn of events of the last few days.

The Legislature is scheduled to return Sept. 15 in another effort to wind up odds and ends left hanging fire after the brief, two-day session of Aug. 6-7.

Notable events that have had Capitol observers talking included: 1. Knowledge that there will be at least a 20 per cent turnover in the make-up of the next Senate, with at least eight of the 38 senators not returning for varying reasons.

tion for secretary of state; Republican Thomas F. Schweigert of Petoskey, who is reportedly in line for a federal job in Washington; Senator Levin, who is seeking the governorship on the Democratic ticket; and Democrat Roger Craig of Dearborn, who was defeated for renomination as senator.

2. Putting on the November ballot a proposed constitutional amendment to lower the Michigan voting age from 21 to 18. This stop was taken so that Michigan youngsters might have a chance to vote if a federal action is declared unconstitutional. The amendment would still have to be approved this Nov. 3 by Michigan voters, all of whom must be 21 or older.

3. The granting of $5 million, without strings attached, to the City of Detroit, which is financially strapped. This action appears certain to bring a flood of demands from other equally distressed Michigan cities in the future.

4. Passage of a bill to require industries to report their pollution and pay surveillance fees for state monitoring of water pollutants. The amount of the assessment varies from $50 to $9,000, depending upon the volume, content, and number of pollutants.

5. Passage of a bill tightening provisions for the sale of explosives, not including black and d smokeless powder, which was removed from the measure in deference to muzzleloaders and other sportsmen.

6. Failure to put on the November ballot a proposed statewide ceiling on school property taxes that was designed to shift a major share of the burden of financing education in Michigan from property owners to wage earners.

7. Failure to pass a Governor-endorsed State Crime Commission proposal in the House of Representatives, where the Democrat caucus turned thumbs down on the proposal. The crime investigating commission was aimed at major organized crime which unquestionably flourishes in Michigan at present.

8. Failure of the Legislature to take action on several bills vetoed earlier by the Governor. These measures can still be considered when the Legislature returns to session on Sept. 15-16.

9. Call for a legislative investigation of Detroit's election-reporting fiasco under which the supposedly speedy computer system of punchcard voting completely broke down.

10. Announcement of the impending retirement of Col. Frederick Davids, Michigan State Police Director, who will join the University of Michigan security staff.

Choice of his successor is left to Governor Milliken. Prominently mentioned are Deputy Directors Melvin G. Kaufman and John Brown and Capt. John R. Plans.

Normally directors have been promoted from within the department but there have been some suggestions for selecting an outsider because of reported "cliques."

11. A strong move by the Michigan Education Association and other groups to interest the Legislature in providing funds for schools to purchase textbooks and supplies.

This has become a serious problem for many school districts since the State Supreme Court ruled local schools must provide such items. Most school districts of the state already are in bad financial straits and the additional burden of buying books and supplies for thousands of children may be the straw that breaks the camel's back.

Elsie

By Mrs. Neva Keys

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wilson and their children, Stephanie, Mark and Jeffrey have returned to their home in Miami, Florida after spending several days with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Keys and Jack. They also planned to stop overnight in Cincinnati to visit their brother and family, Bud Keys.

This was the Wilson's first visit to Michigan in eight years so they met many of their relatives, friends, and former school and college classmates.

Mrs. Wilson, the former Joanne Keys, had just closed a six months engagement at the new Everglades Hotel in Miami where she entertained with vocal and piano stylings.

The oldest son, Brant, who recently graduated from high school was unable to accompany his parents because of his summer work.

The Wilsons had motored along the Atlantic coastline vacationing at Savannah Beach, Ga., and Little Switzerland, N. C. exploring an emerald mine and crossing the Smokies.

Picnics, hikes along the Maple River, picture albums and reminiscing, rummaging through the attic for old keepsakes and antiques and several evening sing-alongs provided plenty of recreation during their stay here.

Jeff Wilson, who had been visiting his grandparents and his Uncle Jack Keys for the past six weeks returned to Miami with his parents.

There were many "firsts" during Jeff's vacation in Michigan. His flight to Detroit's Metropolitan Airport on a large jetliner and a smaller plane to Lansing were his first air travels.

Fields of grain, small wire corncribs on the farms, which he called cages, drives through tree-lined highways, swimming in a gravel pit, picking blackberries and eating first trout were all new experiences to him.

Then there were several golf lessons and practice with his Grandpa Keys which opened up a new source of pleasure and activity for nearly 16 year old Jeff.

Just prior to his parents' arrival, Jeff accompanied the Keys family to the Upper Peninsula by way of Big Mack, climbed Castle Rock, descended Cut River Bridge and went by ferry to Mackinac Island where they enjoyed a horse and surrey tour of historic points of interest.

On their return to Elsie along Lake Michigan's scenic drive, they made stops at Interloch where Jeff's mother attended the National Music Camp during the summer of 1947, Big Rock Point Atomic Plant near Charlevoix and the "Shrine of the Pines" at Baldwin.

Puritan Ethic

By TIM YOUNKMAN

No more rock festivals for Michigan seems to have been the rallying point for the politicians last week.

Not a bad political move, at that, since most Michiganders in the "over-30" category have applauded the move.

Not so fast, Governor Bill. It seems as though you may be walking on unconstitutional waters.

Some of the conservative elements of the state legislature have combined their drafting talents to suggest a law banning rock-fest gatherings to a "controllable number" with a possible curfew clause attached.

Governor Bill made it clear that action was absolutely necessary, although he endorsed the idea of rock festivals without drugs.

The point is, most of us feel the same way—drug abuse is a bad scene. We differ greatly in the methodology of the problem.

If the measure is passed, which is likely, all of you Michigan State-Michigan ticket holders had better get your money back.

Don't bother buying tickets for the 1971 All-Star Baseball game in Detroit or any of the upcoming Lion games.

The law will apply to you. Banning public assembly beyond a certain number of individuals because a crime is "likely" to be committed, even with evidence to back it up, must certainly be turned toward "any" gathering of a similar size.

Tiger Stadium, with standing room tickets, could hold approximately 58,000 fans. The U-M stadium capacity is about 100,000 and MSU's capacity is 76,000.

Illegal gambling, a major crime problem in America according to J. Edgar Hoover, could net the pro's hundreds of thousands of dollars just from these three fields.

The state's attorney general's crime commission must be aware of this problem and undoubtedly could produce enough evidence to close all three forever.

Minor violations will take place, such as the consumption of alcoholic beverages on state-owned property. There goes your trunk party for this year.

Others have argued that the rock festivals have cost taxpayers money in policing and traffic control.

What amount do taxpayers spend on traffic control each Saturday and Sunday during the fall, just for football games?

The proposed law is certainly pinpointing a segment of society exclaiming in so many words: "You will commit crimes if we allow you to assemble."

The British Crown, during the 1770's, told the colonists the same thing. Our ancestors overturned that law, among others, through revolution. Had they not fought against such reactionary violations to free assembly, the British Empire would still be intact.

The law is a further affront on your integrity and competency as parents or young adults.

The bill indicates that the morals and judgments which the parents have instilled in their children for 18 or 19 years could be overturned in two days at Goose Lake.

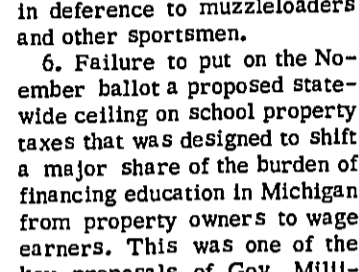

If a 21-year-old wishes to attend a large gathering of people his own age to listen to music and drink some beer in the open air, the proposed law is telling him that he is sure to buy some grass.

Illegal gambling will not end with the banning of all large sporting events in the country. People would start betting on little league games, or high school forensics.

In a like manner, banning the festivals because drugs would be available wouldn't put a dent in the problem.

Drugs are as readily available, right here in River City, as soda pop and hamburgers, and probably takes less of a chunk of the weekly allowance.
